This old citizen had seen the United States postal system through some of its greatest trials and greatest moments. Never before Monday had the post office department been without this great old fighter.

Opening Enrollment At College Is 310

An unprecedented first day registration left Howard County Junior College enrollment at 310, and the sign-up continued Tuesday. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that one of the most gratifying results of the first day registration was the substantially larger number of full time students. There was no accurate count, but the number likely was above 200.

U. S. Throws Cold Water On Egyptian Bid For Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States in effect today threw cold water on Egypt's proposal that a new international conference be called to settle the Suez Canal dispute. A State Department spokesman, commenting on Egypt's proposal, said flatly "it is doubtful that a further conference would serve a useful purpose."

Convention Applauds Plea For Demo Unity

Airport Site Wins Approval Of CAA Panel

Air Space Sub-committee of the Civil Aeronautics Authority has unanimously approved the proposed site selected for the Howard County Airport. R. H. Weaver, county judge, telephoned the Big Spring Herald from Dallas this morning that the sub-committee had approved the site. He said that he and Jack Cook, member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, were given a cordial reception at Fort Worth by the sub-committee and that after they had presented their case, the committee endorsed the location as completely satisfactory.

Woman's Body Found In Ditch

FORT WORTH (AP)—The body of a woman, identified through fingerprints as Clara Powell, 34, a waitress, was found in a drainage ditch on a county road north of Saginaw early today. Tarrant County prisoners working on a road gang cleaning out weeds in the road's bar ditch found the body. The woman, apparently between 28 and 32, was lying doubled up, face down. She was badly beaten about the face, shoulders and arms. The woman had been dead about 36 hours, Peace Justice Whit Boyd said.

'B-E Day' Planning Set

Observance of "Business-Education Day" in Big Spring this fall will be planned at a meeting of the Education Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday. Dr. W. A. Hunt, committee chairman, has called a meeting of the group for 5 p.m. Thursday in the Chamber offices at the Permian Building. He announced that the B-E Day observance will be scheduled for American Education Week, Nov. 11-17. Last year, public school and junior college teachers were guests of businessmen in the city's stores and shops and some similar observance probably will be staged this year. In the spring, the roles are reversed with teachers serving as hosts for citizen visits to the classrooms. The spring program occurs during Texas Education Week early in March.

Homes Destroyed

UOZU, JAPAN (AP)—More than 1,700 homes were destroyed today by a fire that virtually wiped out the center of this city of 47,000 persons 150 miles west of Tokyo. A typhoon wind of 30 m.p.h. fanned the flames. Just before the communique was issued a British political informant said the Eden government had definitely decided to place the Suez dispute before the United Nations, but was still considering in what form this should be done. The communique referred to the U. N. only in this statement: "The ministers recalled that from the outset their governments acted in full conformity with the purposes and principles of the United Nations. They expressed their determination to develop their cooperation and to resist by all appropriate means any arbitrary interference with rights established under international agreements and any action incompatible with justice and respect for the obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law."

COMMISSIONERS

Pay Increase Dies By Vote Of 3 To 2

There will be no provision in Howard County's 1957 budget for increasing the pay of commissioners. By a vote of three to two, a motion to approve an allocation in the 1957 budget sufficient to provide annual pay of $4,500 to the commissioners was killed Monday afternoon.

Indian Tribal Factions Split

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—There's another Indian uprising but this time it's red man against red man, while the palefaces watch nervously. Exactly 100 Kansans gathered here last night and signed a tribal roll as Wyandotte Indians. This locks them in combat with their blood brothers, the Wyandottes of Oklahoma. Back in 1855 the Wyandotte tribe assigned its Kansas lands to the United States and moved to a reservation in Oklahoma. A scattered few stayed here. Some cherished a burying ground that eventually was surrounded by this city's main business district. Recently the Oklahoma Wyandottes disclosed they had slipped a bill through Congress giving them authority to sell the burying ground. They estimated the land would bring 1 1/2 million dollars. The Oklahoma Wyandottes said last week the Kansas Wyandottes weren't on the tribal roll so they couldn't share in the money. The Kansas group last night named as its "temporary chief" George D. Zane, 56, a hoisting engineer. He says he is a first cousin of the Oklahoma tribe's chief, Lawrence Zane, janitor at the Miami, Okla., post office. "Back in 1937 the Wyandottes in Oklahoma made up their rolls and we didn't know anything about it," the Kansas Zane said. "The government said they were the official tribe of the Wyandottes and that's not exactly true."

Keynoter Opens Texas Party Meet

FORT WORTH (AP)—Keynoter Joe Kilgore urged Texas Democrats today to support the party nominees from president to constable and his call for loyalty and unity drew warm applause. No boos sounded for Kilgore, congressman from McAllen, when he told the state Democratic convention: "We want the word to go out from this convention today that the Democrats of Texas are working Democrats, responsible in their actions, liberal in the support of their party, conservative in their devotion to its principle, and above all united to work with each other." Temporary chairman Jack Black had drawn mixed boos and applause earlier in his references to Sen. Daniel, the Democratic nominee for governor whose leadership was at stake. Kilgore's speech was a definite concession to the liberals who have been urging that Daniel and all party officers come out strongly and at once for the national ticket. It was apparently designed to woo wavering delegates who might need to be convinced of Daniel's plans in the presidential campaign in Texas, which went GOP in 1952 partly with Daniel's help. More cheers than boos sounded when Kilgore first mentioned Daniel's name. The Democrats were called on early to unite and elect party officers who will work with Daniel "through the November election" then help him carry out his program. The convention then broke up into floor caucuses by senatorial districts. In these, each district will nominate the executive committee members and women for processing later by the convention committee on party officers. One of the demands of the loyalist-liberals has been that caucus nominees be accepted without screening by Daniel. They say if that process is followed, a majority of the executive committee will turn out to be strong supporters of the national ticket. Daniel has agreed, with the reservation that he thought the convention should override any caucus that put up a nominee who would try to sabotage his program. Up to noon, the convention ran smoothly and with none of the uproar that had been anticipated. Even the boos were relatively restrained. References to Daniel were met each time with quick pro and con reaction as the crowd closely followed every word. Blalock hit at those who have "uncompromisingly committed themselves to a position of determined and destructive opposition" to Daniel's program as well as his personal reputation. It was apparently a direct reference to the close race for governor in which Daniel narrowly defeated Ralph Yarborough. The nervous and jittery convention was gavelled to order at 11 a.m. by Executive Committee Chairman George Sandlin. Daniel's leadership was on the line. The opening was one hour late. Daniel's force said they would press for the "earliest possible" test vote to determine where the Democratic nominee for governor stands. Both he and his liberal opponents have claimed they will prevail. Will Rogers Auditorium was jammed with seated and milling delegates and hundreds were outside unable to get in. Some politicians predicted the vote would be close between the liberal-loyalists who want Daniel to take a firm, immediate stand for the national party ticket, and his backers, the moderate-conservatives. There were so many conflicting factions and factions-within-factions that the picture remained one of great confusion. Only the first test vote could clear that up. The loyalist-liberals also want a louder voice in party affairs because of the narrow margin by which Daniel defeated their favorite, Ralph Yarborough. The liberals are demanding an executive committee made up of 100 per cent loyal Democrats who will publicly promise to support the Stevenson ticket. Admission tickets were checked by cowboy-hatted and booted door guards to insure against forgeries. The hall seats 3,000 persons and at least 5,000 want to get in. The test vote is expected to come on an attempt by Daniel's opposition to amend the executive committee's report on organization of the convention. Jim Blundell of Dallas, one of Daniel's floor leaders, said his side would press for an early indication of how the two sides stand. Sen. Lyndon Johnson was an early arrival on the convention floor. He said his chief interest was in making sure that the executive committee would support the national ticket in November. Johnson said he, Daniel and Speaker Sam Rayburn agreed that point. Rayburn took his seat as chairman of the Fannin County delegation. He had no comment. "The convention will be a victory for the moderate Democrats if that is achieved," Johnson said.

U. S. Sends Formal Protest On Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has sent a formal note to Red China which "strongly protests" the shooting down of an American Navy patrol plane off China Aug. 23. The American note, sent through the British Embassy in Peking, served notice that Red China will be asked to "pay all damages" including compensation for the loss of the 16 crewmen as well as the aircraft.

Billy Bishop, Ace Of World War I, Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—W. A. "Billy" Bishop, 62, Canadian air ace of World War I, died at his home today. Bishop was credited officially with destruction of 72 enemy aircraft in two comparatively short stretches at the front in 1917 and 1918.

Guardsmen Ready For Sturgis Riots

By The Associated Press National Guardsmen, strengthened by reinforcements, were ready today to move — if needed — into Sturgis, Ky., scene of noisy racial disorders at the town's integrated high school. A National Guard detachment of 650 men, backed by tanks and 40 state patrolmen, were on hand yesterday to see that seven Negroes were allowed to enter classes for which 310 white pupils were enrolled. A crowd of between 600 and 1,000 persons jeered and catcalled the guardsmen, spaced three feet apart on the high school lawn. Only 45 of the school's white pupils were at their desks when the final assembly bell rang. Members of the crowd cried out that the white pupils would "never come back" and turbulent anti-integrationists declared they would keep their children "out of Sturgis High School forever if necessary." When the Negroes left the building, rocks were hurled. The Negroes sped home in automobiles. At Clay, Ky., a coal-mining community of 2,000 not so very far from Sturgis, a crowd of about 100 men turned away a Negro mother and her two children at the elementary school. A newsman was told by members of the group that no pictures could be taken but that "if they bring niggers here, you can take pictures of people dying." The jeers and scuffings at Sturgis found an echo in Texas, where a crowd of 300 three young and aimed a kick at two Negroes who sought to enter the Texas Junior College. The crowd blocked the school's doorway and turned back Steve Poster, 17, and Jessalyn Gray, Four Texas Rangers and two Texas officers refused to escort the two Negroes into the school. Someone shouted, "Go home, Niggers." At Morganfield, Ky., a crowd of 500 attending a states rights meeting in the courthouse stamped and cheered their approval of a resolution proposing to assume Gov. A. B. Chandler for imposing "dictatorial powers" in the Sturgis disturbances.

Church Membership In U.S. Now In Excess Of 100 Million

NEW YORK — For the first time in the nation's history church members in the United States number more than 100,000,000.

Continuing an upsurge that goes back to World War II, church membership gains in the past year again outstripped population gains. There are 2.8 per cent more church members as against 1.8 per cent more people.

The figures covering all faiths in the continental U. S. were released today by the National Council of Churches.

Other notable gains shown in new annual statistics on America's religious life include: Sunday School enrollments, up 3.4 per cent for a new total of nearly 39,000,000.

Local churches, 305,449, representing an increase of 5,393 or 1.8 per cent.

Pastors with charges, 22,018, a substantial gain of 9,051. Per capita contributions, $48.81 annually, up seven per cent.

The latest annual compilation of the Yearbook of American Churches to be published Sept. 15 by the National Council of Churches, shows there are now 100,162,529 church members of all faiths in the United States. In the previous year the total was 97,482,811.

Of the 100,000,000-plus with religious affiliation, 58,448,000 are Protestant, 33,396,000 are Roman Catholic, and 5,500,000 are Jewish.

In addition, there are 2,386,000 members of Eastern Orthodox churches in this country.

Translated into percentages, the grand total shows that 60.9 per cent of Americans belong to churches, the highest percentage on record. By comparison, it was 57 per cent in 1950, 49 per cent in 1940, and 36 per cent in 1900. One hundred years ago, in an age popularly considered to be devout, less than 30 per cent of Americans belonged to a church.

To complete the membership picture, a record total of 38,921,033 Americans, mostly children and youths, are enrolled in Sunday or Sabbath Schools. Slightly more than 3,000,000 of the total are teachers and officers who work on a voluntary basis. The new complete enrollment figure represents a gain of 1,297,503, or 3.4 over the previous year.

Protestant churches, which traditionally have emphasized Sunday Schools in their program, report about 93 per cent of the total enrollment.

Churches to accommodate the mounting number of worshippers now number 305,449 — up from 300,056 the year before. While 5,393 new churches are reported, many of the established ones have been enlarged for greater accommodations. This accounts for the $736,000,000 spent during the year for new construction — an all-time record.

And to provide financial support to the religious enterprise, members of 41 church bodies reporting contributed $48.81 each over the year ($45.63 the previous year) for an increase of seven per cent.

Forty-nine denominations — all Protestant — reported receipts of $1,697,921,729, which is 9.3 per cent more than the year before. Other church bodies do not make stewardship and benevolence figures available, but informed estimates indicate the total for all faiths to be well above $2,000,000,000 annually.

The new church membership figures are based on official reports furnished by 258 religious bodies of the 268 listed in the Yearbook — the nation's only authoritative source of religious statistics of all faiths.

"There is no doubt that the latest information offers fresh statistical evidence of increased interest in religion in the United States," declared Dr. Benson Y. Landis, editor of the Yearbook of American Churches. "But figures alone cannot tell how deep this Interest goes or whether the nation is actually undergoing a spiritual reawakening. More members, new churches, gains in contributions — these are all good signs. But they are not conclusive," he said.

As for years past the largest Protestant group are the Baptists, with 18,793,097 members in 27 Baptist church bodies. Next come the Methodists with 11,784,000 members in 22 church groups. There are 7,059,593 Lutherans in 19 Lutheran church bodies.

The relative strength of Protestant and Roman Catholic church bodies remains virtually the same this year as it has over past generations. Today 35.5 per cent of Americans are members of Protestant churches; 20.3 per cent are Roman Catholic.

Statistical analyses in the new Church Yearbook indicate that the house of Protestantism is far from as divided as it may seem. More than 85 per cent of the nation's 58,000,000 Protestants are on the church rolls of nine general denominational families and large denominations. These are: the Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, Episcopalians, Congregational Christian, Disciples of Christ, Churches of Christ and Christ Unity Society.

The largest single Protestant church body is the Methodist Church with 9,292,046 members. The Southern Baptist Convention is next with 3,467,499; and the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. is third with 4,557,416 members.

The latest tabulations also show that a majority of American Protestants belong to church bodies that are constituent members of the National Council of Churches. The National Council is the co-operative agency of 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox church bodies which have 144,362 local churches and 36,719,786 members.

HAL ELDER

Versatile Entertainer To Emcee Harmony Show Here

A fellow of talent and versatility will add spice as master of ceremonies to the "Round Up Of Harmony" show slated here Saturday night.

He's Hal Elder of El Paso, with a background in top entertainment circles.

The Round Up of Harmony is the annual song fest staged by the Big Spring chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, with joint sponsorship by the Kiwanis Club. All proceeds from the show go to the Kiwanis underprivileged children's fund.

The show will be at 8 p.m. at the municipal auditorium, and a full house is anticipated. Top quartets from the Southwest are to appear, along with the local chorus.

Elder's connection with show business dates back to 1936, when he worked with entertainment in the Texas Centennial. He has been on the Fanchon-Marco vaudeville circuit on the West Coast, has worked with Ark Linkletter of radio fame, with Herbie Kay, Tommy Tucker and Ben Bernie. He appeared as headline act with Bennie Meroff's band in the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans.

In other lines he has been announcer of the Golden Gloves tournament at El Paso for two years, was auctioneer for El Paso's KRHD in its first auction benefit, was disc jockey on KELP as "Rawhide Hal," was instrumental in establishing the first Easter Sunrise program at Clovis, N. M., was talent director for El Paso's first county fair and exposition, and MC'd the Mountain Glow program at Ruidoso.

Elder describes himself as an ardent Barber Shopper, and "will sing lead with anybody, anywhere, at any time."

Truce Reached In Hog Invasion

WRIGHT CITY, Okla. (AP) — A temporary truce has been reached in McCurtain County's open range dispute, involving hogs and their invasion of ranches, highways, gardens, flower beds—even stores and the Methodist church.

Ranchers objected to the porkers scrambling over their property but squatters, who own little farm land but lots of swine, declared the southeasted Oklahoma drought has burned up all pastures and only the little patches of grass along the roads stand between the animals and starvation.

The county commissioners voted yesterday to delay until Oct. 1 any action on a petition calling for a special election to decide whether hogs shall be allowed to run free. The petition seeks to halt the practice in two precincts around Wright City.

Louis Monroe, a rancher, estimated there are 700 to 800 hogs running loose in and around Wright City, a lumber mill town of about 1,200.

Suez Points Up Lesson For U.S. Diplomats: Be Yourself

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

A procession of crises, culminating in the current Suez Canal imbroglio, points up a sharp lesson to the United States and illuminates the breaking dawn of a new day of diplomacy. Its basic theme might well be described by the injunction: be yourself.

Britain has long enjoyed a reputation as the producer of the world's greatest diplomats. The reverence paid British diplomacy by the chancelleries of other nations was almost mystical. With an empire at its command, Britain could make and break kings and stud the British crown with glittering imperial gems. But since the end of World War II, British diplomacy has suffered a decline commensurate with the melting away of Britain's empire.

In respectful imitation of the British, Americans put top hats and striped pants on their ambassadors and bowler hats on their undersecretaries. In British fashion, U.S. diplomats have curtsied and grinnaced their way through the polite mazes of double talk. The United States, a new and vigorous nation of blunt speakers given to calling a spade a blankety-blank shovel, was hardly suited to this way of diplomatic life.

Since the end of the war, the Russians, of all people, have served as catalysts in the formation of a new brand of diplomacy. In a sense, they blazed a new trail.

The Russians, having little respect for niceties, blasted their way into the polite, double-talking circle with stubborn disregard for the amenities. They donned their bell-bottom pants, slouch hats and preknotted bow ties and went about the chancelleries acting like Russians. The career diplomats were shocked, but the Russians rolled up one diplomatic success after another. In short, they were being themselves.

Noisy and beaming, Comrade Khrushchev lurched his way through a series of diplomatic journeys which paid Moscow big dividends in spreading word of Russia's devotion to "peaceful co-existence." Leaders of backward nations blinked with puzzlement and accepted Soviet offers of arms and technical aid. Khrushchev was a new and modern Disraeli in

Methodists Think Humanity Getting Better

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP)—Is mankind getting any closer toward building a paradise on earth?

Methodist leaders here from around the globe said today the objective still is a long way off, but some headway is being made.

"The world gradually is getting better," said the Rev. Christa Charan Pande of Calcutta, India.

"The prayer, Thy Kingdom Come, is not a wishful prayer, but one that is found every morning in a world that is better than it was yesterday."

A broad geographical cross section of Methodism offered various comments on the question and occasionally somewhat less optimism in interviews at the World Methodist Conference here.

Generally, they took the view that at least in some ways, and even though falteringly, life on this planet slowly was improving down through the years.

"Despite all the setbacks, we are progressing," said the Rev. Raymond George of Leeds, England. "But we're still in no danger of hitting the top."

"One of the driving concepts in Methodism is that the believer has a practical responsibility on earth to share in the building of God's perfect order."

"In some ways, we are doing much more now to try to build an ideal world," said the Rev. Dr. Ernest Scholtz of Berlin.

"But we can't bring heaven to earth as long as there is sin here. God may do it. And by his grace and power, we must do what we can in building his kingdom."

He and others pointed to specific gains in growing international helpfulness and social conscience, women's rights, widespread ending of slavery and child labor and more racial justice.

"There is more kindness and consideration, and more sense of responsibility for our brother's welfare," said Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston.

"I don't go along with the Pollyanna idea that every day in every way we're getting better and better, but on the whole, there is more cause for encouragement than discouragement."

Along with the improvements, leaders cited the record of wars, tyrannies, modern persecution, and the terrible danger posed by the atomic bomb.

"In many ways, we're better," said the Rev. R. Ernest Kerr of Belfast, Ireland. "But the possibilities of evil are greater and more destructive than before. The real ground for optimism is the increasing spread of the church in the world today."

"I don't go along with the Pollyanna idea that every day in every way we're getting better and better, but on the whole, there is more cause for encouragement than discouragement."

Along with the improvements, leaders cited the record of wars, tyrannies, modern persecution, and the terrible danger posed by the atomic bomb.

"In many ways, we're better," said the Rev. R. Ernest Kerr of Belfast, Ireland. "But the possibilities of evil are greater and more destructive than before. The real ground for optimism is the increasing spread of the church in the world today."

Wind Tunnel Tests Models At Temperatures Hotter Than Sun

BALTIMORE (AP)—A wind tunnel capable of simulating missile flights of 11,000 m.p.h. at temperatures hotter than the surface of the sun has been put into operation by the Air Research and Development Command.

The tunnel, dubbed "Hotshot" by the engineers and technicians who developed it, has been placed in operation at the command's Arnold Engineering Development Center, Tullahoma, Tenn., the ARDC announced today.

More than 100 successful test runs already have been made in Hotshot using scale models of long-range missiles and subjecting them to speeds up to 11,000 m.p.h. and temperatures of 15,000 degrees Fahrenheit, about 5,000 degrees hotter than temperatures on the surface of the sun.

Still higher speeds and temperatures are anticipated for the tunnel which is part of the gas dynamics facility at the Arnold wind tunnel test center.

The test runs last only about one-hundredth of a second. Longer runs at such temperatures and with pressures of about 20,000 pounds per square inch, are impossible, Air Force scientists say. Handling air at these temperatures and pressures for any periods longer than a fraction of a second would melt portions of the tunnel.

As it is, portions of the nose of some of the models tested are melted. And the air-passing around the model is at such high pressure and temperatures that it becomes luminous.

The ARDC is using Hotshot to explore possible methods for cooling the surface of missiles or aircraft as they encounter speeds in the so-called "thermal barrier area" or for investigating various methods to withstand these pressures and temperatures.

Although not all details of the tunnel were made public, the ARDC explained its operation like this:

Air is pumped into a storage chamber and sealed off from the downstream portion of the tunnel by a light plastic diaphragm. The downstream section is pumped down to a vacuum condition, about one-millionth of an atmosphere. This serves to accelerate the airflow once the diaphragm is broken.

A powerful electrical explosion is then set off in the air storage chamber, instantly heating the stored air to temperatures of about 15,000 degrees and increasing the pressure to about 20,000 pounds per square inch.

This heated air under tremendous pressure breaks through the thin plastic seal and flashes through a conical nozzle which increases the velocity of the airstream to the desired speed just before it strikes the model mounted in the test section.

Extremely sensitive instruments measure the temperature, flow and flight effects experienced by the model, and high-speed cameras photograph it for further study. Tunnel Hotshot was designed and built by ARO, Inc., operating contractor for the engineering development center at Tullahoma.

Princess Grace Home For Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—Grace Kelly came home today for the first time as Princess of Monaco. She disclosed that she and her princely husband have the same kind of problem that has beset many another husband and wife:

What to name the baby they are expecting.

She and Prince Rainier III, arriving on the liner United States told reporters that they've had a disagreement "on the name of the baby."

She also reiterated that her movie career is "definitely over" and added: "I haven't the time to miss the life of an actress."

George C. Choate

George C. Choate, clerk of the 118th District Court in Howard County, was one of the most popular public officials ever to serve here. There were at least two fundamental contributing factors to this — personality and efficiency.

In short time he mastered the duties and mechanics of the office, kept his records in order, developed his typing skill to the point that he transcribed volumes of material. He promptly issued vouchers for veniemen and maintained his office in such a manner that it was possible to find information quickly.

The Flavors Of Southern Accent

The Southern accent is inimitable because there are at least a dozen separate and distinct Southern accents, and the actors and announcers who try to put across that old threadbare, moth-eaten "honey chile" talk are licked before they start.

The speech of the Gullahs of the South Carolina-Georgia coastal area is as much Greek to other colored people in the South as the accent of Alabama and Georgia are to Southwesterners.

Wedding Vows Read Monday For Miss Hayes, W. C. Blankenship Jr.

A sunburst arrangement of white, pink and blue gladioli made a background for the wedding rites of Mary Ellen Hayes and W. C. Blankenship Jr. Monday evening at the First Baptist Church. This was complemented with commo-dore and jade ferns and was surrounded by cathedral tapers.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hayes, 1808 South Monticello, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Blankenship, 701 East 17th. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church, read the vows for the semi-formal double ring ceremony. Jack Hendrix, organist, accompanied Martha Lou Winans who sang "O, Promise Me" and "Walk Hand in Hand With Me." As the couple knelt at the altar following the exchange of vows, Miss Winans sang "Wedding Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

WEDDING GOWN

Pure silk brocade in ivory shade was imported from Japan for the gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Lined throughout with taffeta, the dress was fashioned along princess lines, with short sleeves and very full ballerina length skirt. The bride wore three-quarter mitts. Seed pearls and rhinestones outlined the sweetheart neckline.

A tiara of rhinestones and iridescent sequins held a pleated veil of illusion, edged with tiny seed pearls. A white Eastern Star Bible was carried underneath an orchid showered with lilies of the valley. In the wedding tradition, the Bible had been borrowed from the bride's mother; something old was a ring belonging to her great-grandmother, worn attached to a blue sarter. A double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, was something new. The bride wore an English fourpence, dated 1846, in her shoe.

Mrs. Luther B. McDaniel was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of pale pink satin brocade. Styled on princess lines, the dress featured six inverted pleats. The V-neckline went into drop shoulder sleeves, which were completed with three-quarter mitts. A small headpiece of pink was trimmed with a veil and seed pearls. She carried a fan of white tulle and tiny button chrysanthemums in pink and blue, showered with lilies of the valley.

Mary Ella Bigony of Big Spring and Mrs. Wayne Medlin of Lubbock were bridesmaids. They wore blue costumes identical to that of the matron of honor.

Pfc. Robert L. Hayes Jr., brother of the bride, attended as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Hayes, a brother of the bride, and Jimmy Smith of Abilene. Guests were seated by Jerry Choate and Wendell Stasey, both of Big Spring, who also served as candle lighters. Cupids on a base of pink and blue tulle decorated the register table, where Ann White presided during the wedding reception. This was held in the church parlor.

Receiving guests were the bridal couple, their parents and the bride's attendants.

BRIDE'S TABLE
Covered with a pink satin cloth the table was overlaid with a ruffled white nylon cloth trimmed with bows of blue satin. The centerpiece was made by dolls dressed in the same fashion as members of the wedding party. These marched down a white satin aisle leading from a miniature arch of pink and blue flowers and wedding bells.

A three-tiered cake was frosted in white and decorated with pink roses. Mrs. D. L. Snider and Mrs. Jimmy Smith served. Other members of the house party were Mrs. F. L. Eaker, Mrs. J. H. Fryar, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. B. M. Keese, Mrs. W. A. Hunt, Mrs. R. H. Blessingame and Mrs. H. L. Gahman.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, the bride chose a Dalemor blue and gray suit of cotton, with white pique forming a collar with the under collar of self material. Her hat was of white velvet and feathers, trimmed in rhinestones and pearls and she wore white gloves; her pumps and bag were blue; an orchid corsage completed the traveling ensemble.

The couple will be at home at 1922 West Sycamore Street, Denton, where both will continue their studies at North Texas State College. Both are graduates of Big Spring High School and both attended Howard County Junior College.

Mrs. Blankenship has been employed at Webb Air Force Base for the past year; the bridegroom has spent four years in the Navy. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. E. A. Hayes, the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. J. W. Henderson, an aunt of the bride and Mrs. E. M. Heater, all of Alexandria, La., and Mrs. Tom Ball of Boyce, La. great aunt of the bride.

Southern Governors Urged To Set Up Atom Research Center

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Southern governors were urged today to set up a Southern center for atomic research.

The recommendation came from a special committee, headed by Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, and was based on a year-long study. Collins appealed to his colleagues at the 22nd annual Governors' Conference to "do something creative" and "bring dreams into reality."

Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama, in a paper on industrial uses of atomic power, urged the South to "move in now on the ground floor of the atomic industry."

Eleven of the 16 Southern governors—the others sent word they couldn't make it—last night heard Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, call for more thorough education of American youth in what democracy is all about lest the Communists achieve world domination because of an ignorance of liberty.

strate publicly before the world the fundamental, basic fact of liberty," Radford declared.

His speech sounded this key point: "We cannot write communism off the books simply by saying: 'Oh, it can't happen here.' Because it can—if we allow ourselves to lower our guard or diminish our active patriotism."

The governors last year set in motion a special study to look into "the feasibility of united action" in the atomic energy field.

Weathermen Eye Disturbance In Gulf

By The Associated Press
 Skies were clear all over Texas Tuesday while weathermen kept an eye on an ill-defined area dotted with squalls in the Gulf.
 The New Orleans Weather Bureau said the disturbance was in an ill-defined area dotted with squalls. It was moving toward the Yucatan Peninsula from about 250 miles east of Tampico at about 7 to 10 miles an hour.
 A Navy plane flew into the area Monday and further air study was planned. The squalls had 30 to 40 mile winds. Signs were that the disturbance would intensify some.
 Small craft from Corpus Christi south were cautioned to remain in port because of rough seas and tides two to four feet above normal.
 Temperatures at dawn ranged from Lubbock's 52 and Dalhart's 50 up to 77 at Galveston and Corpus Christi.
 Showers sprinkled broad areas in the northern tier of states today but mostly fair weather prevailed in other sections of the country.
 Shower activity during the night extended from northern Nevada and southern Idaho eastward through most of South Dakota and Nebraska. Showers also fell in the Northeast, extending from the lower Great Lakes region northeastward into northern New England, and in the Pacific Northwest.
 Skies were clear over most of the southern part of the country with the exception of Florida,

Former Aide To FDR Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homer S. Cummings, who fought many of the New Deal's legal battles, is dead at the age of 86.
 The death yesterday of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first attorney general was attributed to heart failure. He left only a grandson, Schuyler Cummings of Miami, Fla.
 For about 40 years Cummings was active in Democratic party affairs, serving for a quarter century as national committeeman from Connecticut. Last night, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler praised him for serving "his country notably throughout his illustrious career."

Demo Leaders See New Hope In Maine Election Victory

By The Associated Press
 Democratic leaders were optimistic presidential-year smiles today in the wake of yesterday's surprising Republican setbacks in a Maine election.
 Maine voters gave Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie an almost unprecedented second term by the biggest margin ever given a governor. They also put a Democrat in at least one of the three seats long held by Republican congressmen.
 The margin in a second congressional race was so close — the Democrat trailing by 72 votes out of 116,000 cast — that the results may not be known until the official tabulation is completed.
 Even before the congressional outcomes were known last night, Adlai Stevenson hailed the re-election of Muskie as a sign that "the national trend to the Democrats is still gaining momentum."
 Stevenson's presidential campaign manager, James Finnegan, said the Maine vote was "all the more remarkable in view of the way the Republicans made this a test of President Eisenhower's popularity and influence with the voters."
 Eight primary elections also are on tap for today in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado, Utah, Washington and New Hampshire. All seemed certain to draw conflicting interpretations of the 1956 political trends.
 Eisenhower opens his own re-election campaign tomorrow with a rally for campaign leaders at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm. Vice President Nixon announced an intense campaign schedule of his own yesterday.
 Nixon said he will embark Sept. 18 on a backbreaking 15,000-mile campaign tour of 32 states to place "the constructive achievements" of the Eisenhower administration before the voters.
 The vice president said he and aides accompanying him will be on the lookout for "weak spots" and "strong spots" so the party may concentrate its efforts most effectively "in the last four crucial weeks" of the campaign.
 Stevenson, already deep in his own campaign, attacked the Eisenhower administration last night as "a government without a heart," dedicated to undermining New Deal and "Fair Deal" programs.
 His vice presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, told the same gathering in Albany, N. Y., that Eisenhower is "an aggressive fighter for special interests" and has "personally used the power of his office to throttle measures for the welfare of all the people."
 Stevenson listed a number of presidential appointees as evidence of what he called an "independence and ruthless" effort to weaken programs of the preceding Roosevelt and Truman administrations.
 In Washington, both parties got notice that a watchdog Senate Elections subcommittee will demand a weekly accounting of campaign expenditures between now and election day.
 Chairman Gore (D-Tenn.) made the announcement as the subcommittee opened its investigation of financing and other practices of the presidential-year campaigns.
 Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall told the group the GOP has $64,000 in the bank. His Democratic counterpart, Paul M. Butler, said the Democrats have $35,600—and unpaid bills exceeding that amount by about $14,000.
 Butler said there are reports Republicans plan to spend a record 50 million dollars in the campaign. He contended most of the money will come from representatives of "big corporations."
 Hall, rejecting the "big money" label by implication, said GOP policy is "to constantly work at broadening the base of financial support and we have been especially active and successful . . . over the past few years."
 In Jefferson City, Mo., former Democratic President Harry S. Truman said Republican farm policies are leading to a collective farm system just like the Soviet Union's. Republicans "believe there are too many small farms," Truman said.
 Uncertainty over New York's senatorial situation ended yesterday, with selection of State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits as the Republican nominee and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City as the Democratic hopeful.

Heavy Texas Loss Lowers Oil Average

TULSA (AP) — A heavy loss in Texas contributed to a drop in daily average oil production by 70,725 barrels during the week ended Sept. 6, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.
 The overall daily average slipped to 7,045,400 barrels. The Journal estimate of 1956 output climbed to 1,801,047,450 compared with 1,822,661,706 a year ago.
 The major portion of the decrease was in Texas where the cutback to a 15-day producing schedule for September resulted in a drop of 63,000 barrels to 2,965,300.
