BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1956

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Plainview Man New Chamber Manager

New manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will be Wayne B. Smith, now in a similar post at Plainview.

President Ira L. Thurman of the C-C announced today that Smith had accepted the post to succeed Jimmie Greene, who has announced his retirement the first of next year.

WAYNE B. SMITH

Smith was appointed upon recommendation of the C-C executive committee, which had considered more than a score of applications and conducted several personal interviews.

Smith, 39, and familiarly known as "Red," has been in Chamber of Commerce work for seven years, first at Brownfield, then at Plainview.

He is a member of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association, and a former member of the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions. He has had experience in private business and in public relations.

Smith is a Scottish Rite Mason, a Shriner, and a past president of the Lions Club. He and his wife are members of the Baptist Church, and both are Sunday School teachers. They have two daughters, 14 and 11, and a son, 8.

Smith is a graduate of Clovis, N. M., High School and attended Southeastern Oklahoma State at Durant. He is a graduate of the Southwestern Chamber of Commerce Institute.

During World War II, he served in the Navy for four years, entering as an apprentice seaman and being discharged as a chief petty officer. He served in the Pacific area.

Smith was engaged here on the basis of $9,000 per year, including salary and personal and auto expense accounts.

Greene, who will have completed 20 years' service with the local Chamber, is retiring officially in February. He will, however, yield direction of the office to Smith next month, and be available as a counselor. Directors have voted him an honorary remuneration of $100 per month during next year following his retirement. This is in recognition of contributions to the community through his period of greatest development.

Racial Tension Eases In Two Kentucky Towns

By The Associated Press A general easing of tension was reported today in two western Kentucky mining-farming towns where National Guardsmen stood ready to prevent further anti-integration disorders.

White pupils were returning in increasing numbers to the consolidated school at Clay after four Negroes abandoned efforts to attend classes there.

Mrs. James Gordon, Negro mother of two of the children and a leader in the integration attempt, said no further effort would be made to enter the pupils at Clay this year "even if we got an injunction." She explained that "we want to give our white friends time to work this out."

The four Negro children were barred from the combined high and elementary school after a county school board order banning them was read on the school steps. They will attend a Negro school at nearby Providence.

The four had been escorted to school by National Guardsmen. Adj. Gen. J. B. Williams, commander, said the troops would remain at Clay and Sturgis, 11 miles away, indefinitely.

At Sturgis High School, where eight Negroes are enrolled with 275 white pupils, there were signs of a growing boycott on the part of the white pupils. Only 73 were in class yesterday, and W. W. Waller Jr., president of the Union County White Citizens Council, predicted the boycott would increase.

At Washington, Presidential Assn. Howard Pyle said he believed the South's desegregation problem would be solved eventually but it was not up to the White House to manage it. Appearing on a transcribed radio program, he said the Supreme Court "made it very plain the whole issue" is to be handled by local federal courts.

Registration began quietly at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, scene of rioting last February when Autherine Lucy Foster enrolled as the first Negro student at the all-white university. She later was expelled for her unproved charges that school authorities conspired in the rioting that drove her from the campus Feb. 6.

No Negro applicants appeared on the campus yesterday. At Montgomery, Ala., James E. Folsom told newsmen that two Negro students expected to enroll apparently had gone to some other school. The Alabama highway patrol had been alerted "as a precautionary measure."

A Negro ex-soldier, John O. Lyon, 25, yesterday became the first of his race to enroll at the Gaston (N.C.) Technical Institute, a branch of the University of North Carolina. A few white students complained, James I. Mason, director of the school, said it was the last part of the Consolidated University of North Carolina to accept Negroes.

At Mobile, Ala., a cross was burned last night in the driveway of the home of Mrs. Dorothy D. Daponte, socially prominent white woman who is seeking to have her Negro 12-year-old foster daughter enrolled in a white school.

Radio Waves From Mars Are Detected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today announced the first detection of radio waves from the planet Mars.

They were picked up with a 600-inch radio telescope at the Naval Research Laboratory here by the same team that earlier this year detected radio radiation from the planet Venus.

The Navy scientists said the recorded radio emissions from Mars indicated the planet's average temperature to be slightly lower than the freezing point of water, which is 32 degrees Fahrenheit. Additional efforts are being made to obtain more accurate measures of Mars' temperatures.

The signals, picked up on two clear nights during the week of Sept. 9, when Mars was at its nearest point to the earth, were measured at a wave length of three centimeters.

The signals were so weak, the Navy researchers said, that more than 30 measurements were necessary to establish the certainty that the radio emissions came from Mars.

Radio waves in the low centimeter range are adversely affected by water vapor in the form of clouds, and an earlier attempt to detect waves from the planet was frustrated by persistently cloudy weather.

Ship Search Off

BODOE, Norway (AP)—Norwegian rescue officials today abandoned the search for 30 missing crew members of the American freighter Pelagia. Five survivors and two bodies were recovered.

18 - Nation Parley On Suez Launched

Plan For Users Group Under Study

LONDON (AP)—Envoys from 18 nations today began intensive talks on the Western Big Three's latest plans for dealing with Egyptian President Nasser's nationalization of the Suez Canal.

The foreign ministers and ambassadors open formal sessions tomorrow to take up a Big Three proposal for a users' association to handle the passage of their ships through the waterway. Secretary of State Dulles arrived by plane from Washington after a last-minute conference with President Eisenhower.

Secretary of State Dulles arrived by plane from Washington after a last-minute conference with President Eisenhower.

The second London Suez conference was assured of 100 per cent attendance by Ethiopia's acceptance of the invitation. The 18 nations are those which, at last month's 22-nation London conference, supported the Big Three's plan for international control and operation of the canal.

Nasser, who nationalized the old Suez Canal Co. July 26, rejected the earlier plan and has denounced the proposal for a users' association as a "declaration of war."

As previously outlined, the association would employ veteran Suez pilots to take its own convoys through the canal, collect tolls and from them reimburse Egypt. Nasser has warned that any move to force a convoy through the channel would mean war, an outcome most of the 18 nations are pledged to avoid.

One suggestion is that a guinea pig convoy should steam up to one entrance to the canal and request permission to pass through. If Nasser refused, the Big Three consider he could be accused in the United Nations of failing to observe the 1888 canal convention's promise of freedom of passage to all nations at all times.

Egypt, meanwhile, sent the Security Council a note asking it to keep a vigilant eye on the Suez situation. The Egyptians demanded an end to what they called pressure from Britain and France, and accused them of "shocking acts" in violation of the U.N. Charter. Egypt did not, however, ask for formal council action.

Some members of the 18-nation group, led by Sweden, Norway and Denmark, have said they want the matter referred to the U.N. before going ahead with the users' association scheme. Others indicated they favor a boycott of the canal now, sending ships around Africa and putting an economic squeeze on Egypt.

On The Loose

Alfred the Alligator was having the time of his life. He escaped from the Lincoln Park Zoo in Oklahoma City, Okla., and crawled into a nearby lake. Efforts to get him back into his usual habitat have failed because he's hard to see in the murky water. Curator Bob Jenni says he plans to shoot an arrow into his tail to serve as a marker so attendants can spot him in their efforts to capture Alfred.

Alfred The Alligator Still Free, Pursuers Perplexed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Alfred the alligator was still free today in Lincoln Park Zoo's lake but he's making his pursuers mad.

Armed with a bow and a harpoon-like arrow, Zoo Curator Bob Jenni has promised to corral the elusive Albert, who slipped out of the reptile house early Sunday.

It was the same zoo from which a leopard escaped in 1950 for three days.

Jenni, who weighs 145 pounds, and his assistant Mike Williams spent most of yesterday splashing about in the muddy lake trying to spot Alfred.

Jenni said the fugitive needs to surface for air only about every four hours and can go a week without food. But he said he hopes to wrestle 250-pound Alfred into a noose soon.

The slightly built curator got off two shots with his arrow but one missed and the second arrow was knocked loose by Alfred.

Jenni hopes to stick the arrow in Alfred and pull him to shallow water with a cord attached to the missile. There, he says, he will tie him up.

"We'll get a noose around his neck, and then hitched around his mouth to keep it closed," Jenni explained. "Then a sort of girdle effect up under his front legs to keep them still."

Jenni said Alfred poses no danger to anyone. Swimming is not allowed in the lake.

Four Men Charged In Gold Smuggling

EL PASO (AP)—Four men were arraigned yesterday on charges of taking part in an international conspiracy to smuggle in two million dollars in gold from Mexico.

Thomas Anderson, 33, a Denver geologist and former Air Force pilot, was released on $3,000 bond after being arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Henry Clifton.

Arraigned at Pecos before Commissioner Richard Toll were Dr. J. D. Cox, 33, Odessa chiropractor and owner of the Cox clinic and loan companies; Don Jordan, 30, Odessa water well driller, and Robert Wilson, 30, Crane, oil field roustabout.

The men waived preliminary hearing and were held in jail. Bond was set at $15,000 each.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Holvey Williams said Anderson told him a story of having been taken in by a fake gold brick that involved him in the alleged conspiracy.

Officials said no gold was actually brought into this country as negotiations broke down on the method of paying for the first shipment.

Customs agent Smith Griffin, working undercover, was brought into the alleged conspiracy as a gold buyer. He was supposed to be in California Friday during a purported meeting here of the four defendants on methods of setting up payments.

Officials said a second undercover man relayed a proposal that the gold be paid for at $50 an ounce, a total of $250,000 for the first lot, when the precious metal was delivered in El Paso.

Investigators said the alleged sellers insisted a bank credit be set up and the money drawn out on delivery.

Investigators said the gold was supposed to belong to the Mexican government and that one of the alleged conspirators was a

FB Convention Set For Oct. 2

The annual convention of the Howard County Farm Bureau has been announced for Oct. 2.

Ralph White, president, said that the program committee is at work on details for the parley which will be held at the Howard County Fair Barns. There will be a barbecue supper, followed by a program. Eight directors will be named at the meeting.

4-POUND PAYLOAD

Moon Rocket Now Possible, Navy Scientists Believe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Navy scientists said today it may be possible to send a rocket to the moon.

The rocket probably would deliver no more than a "four-pound payload" to the moon, said Kurt R. Stehling, chief of propulsion at the Naval Research Laboratory here, and Richard Foster, a member of the laboratory propulsion staff.

For that reason, they said, the initial payload might consist of nothing but a charge of metallic dust. They said that if it were fired at a new moon and if it landed on the darkened surface, the impact might be witnessed from the earth as a large bright flash.

Stehling and Foster expressed their views in an article prepared for a new magazine, Missiles and Rockets. The article is based on a paper scheduled to be read tomorrow at the International Astronautical Federation Congress in Rome.

They stressed that the opinions expressed were not to be construed as reflecting the views of the Navy Department.

Stehling and Foster said that "when carried aloft to 70,000 feet by a huge four-million-cubic-foot skyhook balloon, a solid-propellant step rocket will be capable of bringing a four-pound payload to the moon."

They noted that small rockets frequently have been carried aloft and launched from balloons, but added that a lunar rocket might require a cluster of smaller balloons for greater stability. The rocket would be launched straight up, through the balloon or balloons they said.

The Navy scientists proposed a three-stage rocket vehicle which they said should hurl the payload toward the moon. The distance between the moon and the earth varies from 221,463 to 252,710 miles as the moon moves around its orbit.

SATELLITE CARRIER ROCKET TO BE TESTED THIS FALL

ROME, Italy (AP)—The world's first earth satellite carrier rocket will be fired 300 miles into space from Cocoa Beach, Fla., this fall — and may well turn into an orbital satellite itself, American scientists reported today.

First trials of the rocket will be made "some time in the late fall, probably November."

The complete rocket, which will be used to launch an earth satellite during the International Geophysical Year 1957-58, will be a three-stage device.

The completed carrier will be 72 feet long and 45 inches in diameter, reaching a maximum speed of nearly five miles a second. The total weight of the three-stage rocket will be 22,000 pounds. That of the satellite itself will be in the region of 21 pounds.

Full-Scale Model Of Satellite Shown

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy has unveiled a full-scale model of the gleaming metal ball that will whiz into outer space as the world's first man-made satellite.

The tiny globe will circle the earth in a search for the secrets of space.

The model was exhibited yesterday at a conference of the Instrument Society of America in the New York Coliseum.

The shiny sphere is 20 inches across and weighs about 21 pounds when packed with its miniature instruments. Several small discs — the eyes, ears and fingers of its metal brain — peek the smooth surface of the ball.

Four radio aerials about a yard long stick out from the satellite. Radios inside will relay data back to earth.

Present plans call for launching the satellite during the International Geophysical Year starting July 1, 1957.

Rockets will shoot the satellite skyward on the first two stages of its flight. After that a solid fuel propulsion unit inside will take over and push the satellite to 300 miles into space.

The satellite will orbit the planet at 18,000 miles per hour.

One Navy expert said collisions with meteors will slow it down and start it dropping back to earth in about two weeks.

The miniature equipment that will fit inside the metal ball was also displayed at the exhibit. The devices included:

1. A 13-ounce radio transmitter with a 4,000-mile range.

2. A microphone to detect collisions between the satellite and tiny particles of matter, including "meteoritic dust."

3. A pressure gauge to show if the sphere's shell is punctured.

Cop Claims Publicity Led To Death Of Weinberger Infant

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—The police officer in charge of the Weinberger kidnap case says premature publicity in a New York City newspaper led to the death of the 32-day-old baby, Peter.

Nassau County Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell did not name the newspaper in his statement yesterday. But he said it refused to withhold the story and help maintain secrecy in police efforts to recover the child alive.

"I would not want such a decision on my conscience," he said. The New York Daily News was first on the street with the story several hours after the July 4 kidnaping.

In an editor's note in today's editions, the News said:

"John MacDonald, Nassau police secretary, officially asked the News to withhold the kidnaping story in a telephone call to the city desk at approximately 9:15 p.m. At that time, the edition carrying the story had been on the street for about 45 minutes. MacDonald, in making the call, remarked that he had already phoned two other New York City morning newspapers and one afternoon paper."

The News' Nassau County correspondent, Ben White, said MacDonald first asked him to suppress the kidnap story at 8:15 p.m. White said he told MacDonald he had no such authority and advised him to ask Pinnell to make a formal request to the News "as quickly as possible."

Peter Weinberger was kidnaped from the patio of his Westbury home. His body was found Aug. 24 in a honeysuckle thicket not far from the house.

Angelo J. LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic and cabbie, was indicted on kidnap and murder charges. He has said he abandoned the baby. He pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. He said he became panic stricken the day after the kidnaping when he discovered news of the case had been made public. His trial is set for Oct. 1.

Pinnell said in his statement that secrecy in the early stages of the crime was vital to the police investigation because the kidnaper had demanded it. He added:

"The secrecy we had sought... was denied us by one metropolitan newspaper. When that paper refused to cooperate in withholding the news — to help us get the baby back unharmed and possibly apprehend the kidnaper — we were duty bound to release other papers from commitments of cooperation they had given us. . . .

"On learning that several newspapers were working on the story, the Nassau County Police Department sought their cooperation to hold up publication until the moon the next day to give us a chance to get the baby back unharmed."

"Telephone company toll records prove the time of our requests."

"One newspaper, which had been contacted one half hour before its second edition, notified me that despite an urgent plea from its Nassau reporter, it was going ahead anyway and print the full story."

Two days after the kidnaping, News Managing Editor Robert G. Shand said the newspaper got an early tip on the kidnaping and printed the story in its 8:30 p.m. (second) edition unaware of any police request to hold up the news. Shand added at the time:

"We definitely did not break an engagement."

Wedding Toast

Baron Henrich Thyssen and his bride, 24-year-old Fiona, Campbell-Waller, a London model, toast each other after their marriage at Lugano, Switzerland. Thyssen, 35, inherited 47 million dollars and control of the Thyssen industrial empire, in 1951. It was the third marriage for the Baron in 18 years. His second wife, from whom he was divorced last June, was a London model also.

6 Apply For Nomination To Clerk Job

Six men have applied for the Democratic nomination for district clerk, Frank Hardesty, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, reported today.

The party's nominee will be selected at a meeting of the executive committee tonight. Hardesty said the 17-member committee will meet at 8 p.m. in the county courtroom.

Although rules of the meeting remain to be established, Hardesty said each of the applicants probably will be invited to appear before the committee to state his qualifications for the post which became vacant on the death of George C. Choate Sept. 9.

Wade Choate, nephew of George Choate, has been appointed by District Judge Charlie Sullivan to serve as clerk until after the general election in November. The Democratic nominee is almost certain of election.

Applicants for the nomination are Wade Choate, R. C. Thomas, James Horton, Walter Grice, J. B. Apple and Denver Dunn.

28 Tough Cons Slash Selves In Food Protest

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Twenty-eight of the toughest prisoners in the Texas Prison System slashed themselves with razor blades last night in a protest against what they said was poor food.

The men were among the 76 involved in a strike in the maximum security unit last week in another protest against the food, Prison General Manager O. B. Ellis said.

Ellis said 10 of the men severed their heel tendons and 18 inflicted superficial wounds on their arms and legs. Medical equipment was brought to the maximum security unit, Ellis said.

Ellis said the prison is making no apology for the food and that it compares favorably with the food in the best prisons of America. Don Reid, Huntsville newsman, said he has eaten in the prison cafeteria and that the food was good.

Ellis said four razor blades were found and that he thought all the cutting was done within 20 to 30 minutes.

The men are kept in separate cells, but are allowed limited visiting.

Men in the maximum security unit do not work and are served two meals a day with a snack at night.

Ellis said the men involved have never been able to adjust, either in prison or out, and all have long criminal records.

He said they would lose movie and exercise privileges.

Last week, 76 men struck from Thursday night to Saturday night against what they called poor food. They rolled blankets and used them as wedges to prevent locking of their cells. They gave up when they ran out of food and water.

Gov. Clement Speaker At Texas Fund-Raising Fete

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Clement of Tennessee will be the featured speaker tonight at a Democratic fund-raising rally and barbecue.

An estimated 10,000 are expected. Other noted Democratic leaders will be on hand for the $5 a person barbecue which will mark the beginning of Texas' efforts to raise $200,000 as its quota of the national campaign fund.

Dressmaking Exec Sought In Acid Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI and the Manhattan district attorney's staff are conducting a nationwide search for a dressmaking firm executive in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

The wanted man, Theodore Rij, 43, is described by authorities as a "close associate" of racketeer John (Johnny Dio) DiGuardi, 42, alleged ringleader of six men under indictment with him in the Riesel case.

Officials indicated that Rij may have been one of Dio's bodyguards.

U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said his men have been seeking Rij since shortly after the blinding acid was thrown into Riesel's face on a street just off Broadway early April 5.

"Rij is believed to have been the driver of an auto which figured in the transportation of one or more men involved in the acid hurling," Williams said.

The FBI said Rij is wanted on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice through the attack on Riesel.

The FBI said Rij recently has been an executive of the Acme Dress Co., Midvale, N.J.

Better Go Back And Try Again

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Miss Ingar Eliason, 35, a waitress who recently took up flying, set out to fly here from San Antonio, a distance of about 150 miles. Six and one-half hours later she set her light plane down at West Fort Airfield between Eagle Pass and Laredo—some 90 degrees off course and 150 miles from here. Asked if her compass went haywire she replied—"No, I did."

Speaker Rayburn of Bonham will introduce the Tennessee governor, Senate Majority Leader Johnson, as well as Ralph Yarborough, a leader of the Texas loyalist faction, will be on hand. Democratic leaders from six states will help launch the campaign which they hope will carry Texas for the party.

Behavior Of Particles Inside Nucleus Similar To The Stars

SEATTLE (AP)—Some new findings about the inside of an atomic nucleus, which will take scientists another step forward in their efforts to understand the nature of matter, were reported today to the International Congress on Theoretical Physics.

The new details relate to what has been determined about the behavior of protons and neutrons, the basic particles of nuclei, while they are still within the atomic core.

Heretofore research has centered mainly on what these particles do when they come out of the nucleus. By themselves, they act as atom-smashing bullets if they are traveling at high speed and if they hit an atomic nucleus head-on.

One report on their sharply different behavior while they are still inside the nucleus was made by Dr. B. R. Mottelson of the European Nuclear Research Center at Geneva, Switzerland. This center was set up with a reactor supplied by the United States after the "atoms for peace" conference there last year.

Dr. Mottelson's report, along with another by Dr. Victor F. Weisskopf of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, throws light on what holds the nucleus together. This has been a long-standing scientific mystery.

Reason for the mystery is that

All Troops Asked To Get Jamboree Reservations In

Scout officials are urging each troop in the Lone Star District to make a "John Doe" reservation for the national jamboree to be held next summer at Valley Forge, Pa.

Each unit can gain at least one reservation by paying a $10 registration fee by Oct. 1. After that date, reservations will be received on a first come-first served basis.

Wm. T. McRee, Scout executive, said that emphasis was being placed on the greatest possible representation of the 50,000 troops and posts throughout the country. National scouting authorities have urged contests to select jamboree delegates, taking into account attendance, advancement, dues payment, hike and civic service participation, church attendance, etc.

Boy Scouts of America also is urging each post or troop to begin money raising projects to send the winner to the jamboree. The cost will approximate $250.

protons carry a positive electrical charge, and because of this they repel each other strongly when outside the nucleus. But they do not repel each other while inside the nucleus; otherwise the nucleus would fly into many pieces. Instead, it is a tightly knit particle of matter.

Inside the atomic core, said Dr. Mottelson and Dr. Weisskopf, protons and neutrons apparently are held together by clouds of other particles called mesons. Mesons are highly energetic particles of matter and energy which are observed outside the nucleus during atomic explosions.

The meson cloud inside a nucleus apparently is something like the dust clouds that fill space between stars in a galaxy or milky way. Protons and neutrons within the nucleus not only rotate on their own little axes like stars but also move through the nucleus in circular or elliptical paths, another phase of stellar motion. This movement produces a nuclear field, a form of energy that is neither magnetic nor electrical but something which controls the behavior of the particles.

Political Campaigns Occupational Hazard

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Line-men of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. have decided political campaigns are an occupational hazard. In a letter to candidates in this area the linemen have asked office-seekers to help "in stamping out the dangerous practice of tacking and stapling placards and posters to service poles." Tacks and staples often give way under a lineman's spurs, making him liable to sudden falls.

Ready To Make Trial Runs

Erection of the 22-page Hoe press (double present press capacity) in the new Herald building is about complete, and the press is being turned for some "dry runs." Date has not yet been set for removal of the newspaper to the plant at 8th and Scurry, but is expected within a few weeks.

Gas Price Hike Probe To Resume

WACO (AP)—An investigation of a recent boost in gasoline prices to farmers and ranchers was to resume today as a top farm leader charged some major oil companies with collusion.

The House Agriculture Committee, composed of seven Democrats, is investigating a half-cent price hike per gallon for gasoline delivered to farmers.

Walter Hammond of Waco, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said yesterday "It seems to us there is collusion on the part of some oil companies to raise the price of gasoline."

Hammond said he suspected that the companies raised their prices earlier this year to take advantage of the fact that Congress had passed an act exempting farm-used gasoline from the federal tax.

The tax was increased from two cents to three cents, effective July 1, to finance the Highway Revenue Bill of 1956. The bill exempted farmers also from the extra penny.

The inquiry was requested by Hammond in June. Reps. Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the committee, arranged the meeting. The committee held a hearing in Washington in July.

"Our beef," said Hammond, "is that for all these years we've been treated the same as other bulk users, such as the filling stations. Now they have singled us out as one group to pay extra money."

Hammond said the "price hike blankets Texas" but added that the increase was not in effect in all states.

"All companies have not increased their prices but what companies have and what have not, I do not know," he said.

Committee members expected for the hearing include Poage; Rep. Harold C. Cooley (D-NC); Clark Thompson (D-Tex) of Galveston; E. C. Gathings (D-Ark); John McMillan (D-SC); Carl Albert (D-Okla); and Paul Jones (D-Mo).

Tomorrow the hearing shifts to Greenville for cotton talks on cotton classification and loans on spotted cotton. A dinner was scheduled in Greenville tonight honoring House Speaker Rayburn. House committee members were expected to attend.

Theft Of Dummy Spikes Effigy Plan

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—A freshman class plan to hang the upperclassmen in effigy fell through at Idaho State College here when somebody stole the dummy. The students' demonstration was planned as a protest against hazing, which begins in earnest later this month.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

Daniel 'Glad' To Hear Adlai Thinks Tidelands Issue Closed

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel said last night he was glad to hear that Adlai Stevenson felt that the tidelands issue was closed, but the Texas Democratic gubernatorial nominee said he still was not ready to say flatly that he will support the Democratic presidential nominee.

Stevenson was asked at a Washington news conference about his stand on the tidelands. In 1952, Stevenson favored federal ownership of the oil-rich offshore areas and Texas supported Republican Eisenhower.

"I believe that Congress has acted on the tidelands and in addition to that, the Supreme Court has sustained the constitutionality. I believe, on the act of Congress, and I would have thought that it was an end to the matter," Stevenson said.

Daniel, informed of Stevenson's statement, replied: "I am glad to hear of his statement."

Daniel said he was not ready to say definitely whether he would support the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket, but said he expected to have a statement in "a very short time."

Daniel supported Eisenhower in 1952.

The state convention which Daniel controlled went on record last week as endorsing Stevenson and Kefauver, and Daniel urged support of the party on the state and national levels.

Texas' Democratic national committeeman, Byron Skelton, said yesterday he is confident Daniel will support the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. Skelton made the statement to supporters after announcing plans for a top-to-bottom Texas drive for the Democratic state in the November general election.

Plans for the national ticket drive in Texas were made here yesterday by Skelton, James Blundell, chairman of the new State Executive Committee; Mrs. Max Brooks, vice chairman; and National Committeewoman Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston.

Blundell, at a news conference with Skelton, said he would support the national ticket as long as he was chairman of the executive committee.

Blundell said the new State Executive Committee would meet in Austin, probably in early October.

One top item will be a study of holding a primary to select just one candidate for the special election to fill Daniel's Senate job. Republicans are calling for a quick resignation by Daniel and a special election soon, but Daniel has said he would pick his own time to resign.

Rep. Martin Dies announced for Daniel's Senate seat last night at Dallas. Dies promised not to be the mouthpiece of any special interest and to "serve the greatest good to the greatest numbers."

The head of the World War II committee on Un-American Activities outlined his platform at a political rally.

Lawyers Told Of Service Goal

AUSTIN (AP)—The chief aim of the young lawyer should be public service, Evans Attwell of Houston told a class of 100 young men and women who entered the legal profession yesterday.

Attwell and Stuart Johnson Jr. of San Antonio finished as runners-up for the top grade in recent bar examinations.

The new lawyers were granted licenses and sworn in by Chief Justice J. E. Hickman in Supreme Court ceremonies yesterday.

Almost 200 took the June examinations and 156 passed. About 50 did not attend the ceremonies and will have to take the oath elsewhere.

Attwell said "unless our chief aim is public service we will injure ourselves and our profession if we undertake the practice of law."

"If we wholeheartedly devote ourselves to the cause of public welfare we will find that performance of our duty is self-rewarding for whoever does justice to the law, to him, in the end, will the law do justice," he said.

Johnson said that "disregard of legal ethics by the older lawyer engenders the same disregard in the younger lawyer. On the other hand, a strict adherence to both the letter and spirit of the canons of ethics by the partner in the established law firm begets the same adherence by the law graduate just hired."

Johnson asked the State Bar for a "helping hand along the formative years of our career, so that we may never be guilty of lowering the standards of professional ability and ethical conduct to which the profession aspires."

Chaplain Fix Gets Transfer To Korea

Another Webb AFB oldtimer leaves Friday for duty with a Fighter-Bomber wing in Korea. Chaplain (Ma.) Charles J. Fix, who arrived here on May 16, 1954, after his second tour in England, will begin his first Far Eastern tour as soon as he has settled his wife, Patricia, and son Roger, 7, with his parents-in-law in Miami, Fla.

CHARLES J. FIX

The chaplain said that his family shared his appreciation for friendships made in Big Spring and at Webb AFB during his first assignment in Texas and the Air Training Command.

"I never saw better community relations between any other town and air base," he says. "The churches go out of their way to welcome new Webb families and make them feel at home. Big Spring folks seem to get to know their new Webb neighbors and are interested in how they get along. At ball games and other athletic events, I have constantly noted a spirit of good sportsmanship. The town is growing and progressive. In short, this is the kind of town I like to live in."

"I have especially enjoyed associations and fellowship with the Big Spring Ministerial Association," the major said. Besides taking part in almost all of the meetings of that organization, the chaplain also delivered the community-wide Thanksgiving Day address which the group sponsored at the First Methodist Church in November, 1954.

Spence On Water Panel In Meeting At A&M College

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, will take part on a panel today at the Texas water conference at A&M College.

The conference is continuing the theme "Water for Texas." The panel on which Spence serves deals with the question of "How Should Texas Be Organized?" In this respect it will raise the questions of whether it is better to proceed on the basis of watersheds, large or small, or both; whether underground districts would be better separately or combined with surface districts; what methods of financing are best, and what are the probabilities of state aid.

Another West Texan on the panel is Frank E. Kelley, Colorado City.

A car belonging to Clara B. Wallace, 1104 NW 7th, rolled across the Lamesa highway Monday morning and hit a car parked at 611 Lamesa. The car, a 1947 Chevrolet belonged to Hill and Phillips Grocers, police reported.

Oil Shows Found On Wildcat Test In Southern Dawson

Drillstem tests and cores produced shows of oil at a Dawson County wildcat, Camp Oil No. 1, Emma Blue, Monday.

Operator prepared to deepen however.

The venture is five miles north of Ackery. On a core in the reef, operator found dolomite with good oil stains, and from a drillstem test also in the reef, 7,500 feet of free oil was recovered.

In Martin County, BBM No. 1 Cowden deepened after finding nothing of consequence in a Wolfcamp test.

A Borden well completed from the Dean Sand as a pumper after finaling from the Spraberry in August.

Borden

Brennand No. 1 Roper rigged up pumping unit for testing perforations between 6,475-6,540 feet in the Spraberry. The venture is C NE SW, 9-31-4n, T&P Survey, and five miles southwest of Gail.

Anderson-Fritchard No. 1 Keen, a wildcat, three and a half miles west of Gail, ran rods to pump and is now hooking up tank battery. It is C SE SW, 46-31-5n, T&P Survey.

Seaboard No. 2 Brown pumped 90.8 barrels of oil in 24 hours plus 31.3 per cent water. The well is in the Arthur field seven and a half miles north of Vealmoor, 1,980 feet from north and 2,375 feet from east lines, 41-33-4n, T&P Survey. Perforations in the Spraberry are between 7,546-70 and 7,614-65 feet; top of the pay zone is 7,546 feet. Total depth is 8,260 feet. Gravity is 28 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 813-1.

Continental No. 2-33 Gump completed for a daily pumping potential of 37 barrels of oil from the Dean Sand. The well seven and a half miles north of Vealmoor previously completed from the Spraberry. Location is C SE SE, 33-33-4n, T&P Survey. Total depth is 8,072 feet and drilled-out depth is 8,039 feet. Top of the Dean pay zone is 7,368 feet, and perforations in that zone are between 7,854-906 and 7,980-8,000 feet. The well completed from the Spraberry Aug. 18.

Superior No. 1-535 Jones will be located 600 feet from north and east lines, 535-57, H&T&C Survey, and three miles northwest of Fluanna in the field by that name.

of them. He was also on the program for both of the past two Easter sunrise services in the amphitheater in City Park and has encouraged Webb AFB individuals and organizations to take part in those worship services.

Activities of the base church have expanded greatly during Chaplain Fix's tour of duty here. When he arrived at Webb, the new chapel was far from finished, and services were being held in the academic auditorium and the base theater. The chapel annex was a condemned building which was being used for Sunday school.

Under the chaplain's direction, the new chapel was painted, decorated, and furnished. It was dedicated on Oct. 24, 1954, in a ceremony attended by officials of Air Training Command. The chapel annex has been renovated and remodeled and now contains 10 air conditioned classrooms. Sunday school attendance, once averaging 25 youngsters, has jumped to an average of 81 per Sunday; chapel attendance has grown from an average of 18 — in the old days of church in the theater — to an average of 100. This is impressive when one considers the large number of Webb personnel who belong to, and regularly attend, churches in Big Spring.

Three successful Protestant preaching missions have been conducted at Webb under Fix's guidance.

During his 18-month overseas tour, the chaplain's family will reside at 3500 Southwest 7th Street, Miami, Fla.

Hub Caps, Check Book Are Stolen

A Continental Oil Company check book was taken from Marvin Lamb's car Friday night. He reported it Monday.

Lamb resides at 105 E. 19th.

Also reported stolen was a set of hubcaps.

O. L. Snow, 605 W. 3rd, reported the loss from his 1954 Ford. He said they were taken Monday.

Prison Terms Against Pair Are Probated

Antonio Sandate and Pat Menchaca, charged with theft from an automobile, pleaded guilty to the charges against them when their cases were called for trial before the 118th District Court Monday.

Each was sentenced to three years in prison and the sentences were then probated. They were indicted for theft from a car owned by Tommy Pool, Big Spring early this year.

Charges of driving while intoxicated, a second offense, against Joe Phippen, Ernest Wilkinson and Merrell D. Adams, returned by Howard County grand juries, were dismissed.

Guilford Jones, district attorney, said the dismissals stemmed from technical errors in connection with the recording of first convictions charged against the men.

Jones said that his list of cases still untried has now dwindled to less than half a dozen and that none of these few remaining matters are ready for trial.

The jury was dismissed by Judge Charlie Sullivan and what had been scheduled as a week of jury criminal cases was abruptly terminated at noon Monday.

K Of P Lodges Slate Contest

Top officials in Knights of Pythias activities in Texas will be here today for a contest between Big Spring and Odessa lodges.

Among them will be Sam Heavilin, Nacogdoches, grand chancellor commander, who will be making an official visit. In addition, John Haygood, Cameron, director of extension, is to be present for the gathering.

J. D. Jones, chancellor commander of the local lodge, said that three past grand chancellor commanders will take part. They are Jack Needham, Brownwood, Russell Hardin, Lubbock, and H. M. Rainbolt, Big Spring.

Jones said that barbecue supper would be served at the Castle Hall, 1407 Lancaster, at 7 p.m. Afterward, teams from Big Spring and Odessa will meet in a contest on work in the rank of knight. He urged all members of the Big Spring lodge to be present.

Holding Bicycle

A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, is holding a 26-inch English-type bicycle which was found abandoned near the Big Spring Country Club south of town. He said the bike was turned over to him several days ago and that check of police records and other sources had not revealed the owner. Whoever owns the bike can identify it and regain possession by contacting Long at his office in the courthouse.

383 Register For Civil Defense Unit

Although only five agencies have turned in their reports, list of persons signing for Civil Defense work has climbed above 375.

Through noon today, the five groups had turned in 383 completed forms. The forms were filled out by Howard County citizens who wish to take part in organizing a county Civil Defense unit.

Groups were asked to turn in their application blanks and literature at the receptionist's desk at the City Hall, chairman of the Howard County CD work, W. D. Berry, urged all organizations to turn in their literature by today, if possible.

In all, 42 booths were set up last Friday to sign citizens for the work, with 24 agencies handling the booths.

Five of these groups turned in their results Monday and this morning. One of them signed 234 persons.

Monday afternoon, Pat Kinder, city receptionist, sorted 96 applications, and in this group, persons indicated interest in 16 different categories. Some did not specify any classification.

When all applications have been screened, Berry plans to set up training courses for workers to mold them into a county-wide unit.

One of the five groups reporting was Coahoma, which turned in 53 applications.

In its drive last Friday, the Civil Defense leaders looked for 3,000 persons to register. Berry said Saturday that he felt that the goal could not be reached but he felt that a group large enough to organize properly could be signed.

Highway Delegation Slates Departure

Four Big Spring men will leave Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning for Austin and a meeting with the State Highway Commission on Thursday.

The Big Spring group will press the state to build FM 700 eastward from its present termination to intersect Highway 80. They will also ask that roads to Lake J. B. Thomas be hard surfaced. Other programs for the county for 1957 will be outlined.

The local group will join with other delegations to the Austin conference in a request that the state improve highways into the Big Bend Park area.

If the group is successful in its plea for extension of FM 700, it will also seek to have the present section of the road widened and improved. The road serves some 5,000 vehicles per day, a traffic survey has shown.

The Howard County group will include R. H. Weaver, county judge; R. L. Cook, chairman of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, highway committee; Jimmie Greene, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Curtis Driver, city commissioner. It is possible that others may be added to the group.

The conference on the county proposals with the state highway officials has been scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Five Draw $100 Fines In Court

Eborista Torrez, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded guilty in county court Tuesday morning. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve 10 days in jail. Torrez's car, it was disclosed, was involved in a collision with a truck west of Big Spring. Torrez listed Lubbock as his home.

Three cases were presented to the court by the Texas Liquor Control Board alleging transportation of liquor in dry areas.

C. B. Beckham, one of the defendants, pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Raymond Noel Long, charged with transporting liquor and with carrying a pistol, pleaded guilty to the first charge but, at first, wanted to plead not guilty to the second.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, fined him $100 for the transporting charge and set his bond at $500 in the second. A few minutes later, Long returned to court and asked to plead guilty to the pistol carrying count. He was fined $100.

Jessie Manuel Garcia, charged with transporting liquor, pleaded guilty and received a fine of $100.

Voting Under Way For Class Officers

High school students were starting the selection of class officers today.

Balloting was in progress throughout the day. Voting was expected to narrow the fields of candidates down to two each today, with the run-off voting to take place Wednesday.

Each class was to choose a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation and gratitude to all our friends and neighbors for their help and consolation given in our time of bereavement.

Rev. Thiele Takes New Jersey Post

The Rev. Clarence Thiele, who has served as the first full time chaplain of the Big Spring State Hospital, leaves Thursday for a new assignment.

He has accepted an offer to institute the development of a chaplaincy program for Burgen County, New Jersey. He and Mrs. Thiele and their three children, Barrett, a sophomore, Barbara, a ninth grader, and Pamela, a third grader, will reside in Midland Park, N. J., across from New York.

Burgen County has several institutions which will be subject to chaplaincy service. One of the chief objectives of Chaplain Thiele's new assignment will be to set up clinics for training ministers for volunteer and part time help, and as soon as possible to arrange for chaplains in the various hospitals, homes, etc.

The Thieles will leave Wednesday and plan to do some visiting on route.

Before coming to Big Spring he had been assistant chaplain of the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia, and prior to that he had served as a minister for 15 years.

Chaplain Thiele came here at the end of August 1955 and set up the chaplaincy program at the state hospital. Among other things, a regular schedule of religious activities was organized with the help of a council composed of patients at the hospital.

One of his chief contributions,

No Bids Made On Floor Work In Auditorium

No firms have bid on reflooring the city auditorium, but two have checked it and indicated they planned to submit bids.

The city commission authorized the work at its meeting last Tuesday, after hearing a request from a Concert Association representative for reflooring, repainting, and for adding draperies and acoustical tile.

The acoustical tile work has already been done, and the city has decided to delay repainting until after something is decided on air conditioning and building.

However, City Manager Herbert Whitney asked local firms to bid on reflooring the aisles, the stairways, and the lobby behind the balcony. Whitney said it would take about 4,000 square feet of tile.

City commissioners will let contract for the work at their meeting next Tuesday.

Whitney said today that he had received no complaints or comments on the auditorium acoustics since installing the sound tile. Only time the building was used since adding the tile was Saturday night's Roundup of Harmony.

One person who attended the program said he sat for a while in the balcony and a while on the lower floor and had no trouble hearing from either place.

The sound equipment purchased from Dr. P. W. Malone improved the building too, members of the local musical group sponsoring the program reported.

Commissioners Tuesday night purchased over $1,400 worth of high-fidelity sound equipment from Dr. Malone. It had been in the auditorium since January, however.

13 Charges Filed

Thirteen misdemeanor cases were lodged in the court of Walter Grice, justice of peace over the weekend. Nine of the complaints allege traffic violations and four were for drunkenness and disturbance, Grice said. He added that this was one of the heaviest crops of offenses to be filed for many weekends.

Kids' Day Program Put Off For Week

Kids' Day, sponsored by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club and the Webb Air Force Base, has been postponed for one week, Bob Heine, general chairman on arrangements, has announced.

The big day will be on Saturday, Sept. 29.

Change in dates were made to avoid a serious conflict which would have occurred had the original date been kept. A football game, featuring the Negro high school eleven, is slated for that night and the plans for Kids' Day called for use of the stadium for the evening portion of the show.

Heine said that all details for the day will be announced at the Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday. Details of plans for the Webb Air Force Base participation are completed. This is the afternoon feature of the all-day observance.

Heine said that other plans for the evening will also be completed, including the announcement of the football game scheduled as a feature of that portion of the day's observance.

All boys and girls of Big Spring are invited to take part in the Kid's Day celebration.

Heine pointed out that by changing the date to Sept. 29, an additional week will be afforded the committees to improve and expand special entertainment events which are being planned.

Dates Set For Scout Show

Dates for the Scout Exposition, which replaces the Scout Circus as a major district project, have been set for Nov. 30-Dec. 1.

Sam McComb, district camping and activities chairman, met Tuesday with Maurice Koger, general chairman of the exposition, and his sub-committee chairmen. These included Elmer Tarbox, financial arrangements; Sammie Mellinger, program; and Bill McTee, Scout executive.

Mellinger will assign subject matter to the various units at the next Round Table meeting Oct. 4 at the Wesley Methodist Church. Each unit will develop some phase of Scouting for the exposition.

call for four stories and a basement. Only the first floor will be enclosed, however; the other three will be only a frame with outside fire escapes and indoor stairs.

Money for the project was provided in the bond election passed in August of 1955. Set aside for the tower was $15,000, and Whitney said that architects reported it could be constructed well within the money.

When the city receives sanction from the Insurance Commission, it can proceed with final plans and specifications and let the contract.

Herbert Whitney, city manager, said the plans were dispatched to Austin last Friday.

All fire drill buildings must have the commission's approval. After the tower is finished, the city will receive three per cent credit on its key fire insurance rates.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Is it just because I haven't stopped long enough to look lately or have the morning glories just begun to be so beautiful? My neighbors have some blue ones that are a delight to see. I guess one is just too busy when he can't see the beauty closest to him.

Welcome home to MR. AND MRS. R. E. McCLURE JR. and their two children. The McClures have spent the past year or so living in New Mexico and more recently in Odessa. They are with his parents until they get settled in a place of their own.

PAULINE SULLIVAN had a nice visit in Dallas this past week with MR. AND MRS. C. H. MINNICK. Mrs. Minnick is the former EDITH SHIVE of this city. They have just moved into a new home at 2233 Hillglenn. While she was there, the three went to the Cinerama and according to Pauline, the plane ride was so realistic that when it banked she felt she would have fallen had she tried to stand. I must get to Dallas before this becomes obsolete.

Mrs. Minnick is a receptionist at Westinghouse Electric Supply, and her husband is an inspector in charge of Navy materiel.

When MR. AND MRS. A. L. HERRING of Lindsey, Calif., were here the past week it was for the first time, although his brother, C. D. HERRING SR., has made his home here for many years. His wife was born in East Texas but her family moved when she was two years of age and this is her first trip back since then. During their visit here, the local family entertained with a real old-fashioned Texas barbecue and there were 14 members of the family present. The guests made the trip by air.

The sympathetic note from MRS. HERBIE SMITH was greatly appreciated. She has undergone and survived the rigors of homebuilding but her problem has been greater than mine. She has a swimming pool with osmosis!

HURRICANE Diana nearly completely fouled up the deep-sea fishing trip of MR. AND MRS. KYLE CAUBLE at Port Isabel. The couple went down last week.

Pythian Group Has Draping Of Charter

At a meeting of the Pythian Sisters at Castle Hall, Monday evening, the charter was draped in memory of George Choate. Members voted to change the meeting time to 7:30 p.m. beginning with the meeting in October. At this meeting, a donation will be taken for the Pythian Home in Weatherford.

Mrs. Penn Speaks To Episcopal Guild

Members of the St. Mary's Episcopal Guild met Monday at 1:30 p.m. in the parish house and heard Mrs. D. M. Penn give the devotion. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. H. M. Compton. Mrs. Penn also started the review of the book, "Exposition of the Creed."

Pledges Sorority

Nita Hedleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Hedleston, 201 Jefferson, is pledging Pi Beta Phi, national women's sorority, at Texas Tech. Miss Hedleston is a sophomore journalism major. She is a member of the Press Club and on the staff of the Toreador, school paper.

and were all ready to set out Monday, but they had to stay ashore because of the hurricane warnings. They didn't get to go out until Friday and while they had good luck the water was very rough.

Saturday they had a better catch. They went fishing for red snapper and the best water for this is about 40 miles out. They left the dock at 8 in the morning and returned about 6 in the evening. This was the first time to fish in the deep sea for both of them. Not only did they get to fish but they got to see rain! Coming from this part of the state you can plainly see what a novelty that was.

During the time they waited for the weather to clear they visited in Matamoros, Mexico. They returned home late Sunday.

Presbyterian Groups Have Meetings

Mrs. J. D. Leonard and Mrs. W. C. Henley were hostesses for a luncheon given Monday for members of the Elizabeth Sunday School Class of the First Presbyterian Church.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Gage Lloyd. Arrangements of roses, zinnias and sweet peas decorated the luncheon tables.

Fifteen attended the meeting, including a guest, Mrs. E. B. Jewell of Chester, Neb.

Following the McDowell class luncheon, the Women of the Church met for a general session at the church. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Robert Piner.

Mrs. Charles Harwell gave the devotion based on the topic, "Forward in Family Life." She discussed the various ideas in presenting God to children and adults. One is to recognize the inward need; another, to supply outward help, and another, to provide outward expression of God's help.

About 20 attended the meeting, which was closed with the repeating of Mizpah.

The next meeting will be a general gathering at the church.

Junior High P-TA Holds First Meet

The Junior High P-TA met for the initial session in the school gym Monday evening. Mrs. G. H. Briden had charge of the program.

Bobby Evans, president of the student council, gave the P-TA prayer. Thomas Earnest, principal of the school, introduced the teachers, who were presented with corsages.

A membership drive was begun, with registrations by Mrs. A. A. Cobb and Mrs. W. H. Ball.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent of schools, spoke to the group on "What Parents Can Do to Improve Schools."

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a pink linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of Peace roses and queen's wreath. Hostesses were Mrs. J. T. Trantham, Mrs. J. C. Reynolds and Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

Presbyterians Have Study Of Missions

Mrs. Irby Fleming was hostess for the Monday afternoon meeting of the Ruth Evans Circle of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Rube McNew gave the Bible study titled "Home of Mary and Martha in Biblical Times." The opening prayer was by Mrs. Eugene Peters. The mission topic "Friendship Circle," was given by Mrs. David Evans.

Mrs. Jim Layman was a guest. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John Huffstetler, 1219 East 16th, on Oct. 15.

Frank Griffith Wed To Balmorhea Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Griffith Jr. are at home in San Antonio after their marriage Sept. 15. They were married in the First Baptist Church in Balmorhea.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cumby, Balmorhea, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Griffith Sr., Big Spring.

The bride wore a gray sheath dress with matching jacket trimmed in pink linen. She wore a pink velvet hat and gray accessories. Her bouquet was a white orchid atop a white Bible.

The reception was held in the church annex following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink roses flanked by white candles. A three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom completed the decorations.

Mrs. Carl Madison and Mrs. Jimmy Weber attended a seminar of the World Gift Company in Odessa Monday.

An Active Gal

Ina Ray Hutton, star of her own show on NBC-TV, builds energy by being in the fresh air at every opportunity. She enjoys swimming, horseback riding and fishing.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Fresh Air Builds Energy For Ina Ray

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD -- If you have seen Ina Ray Hutton directing her all-girl orchestra on NBC-TV each week, you've probably wondered where she gets all that pep and vitality.

When I visited her on the set this was the first question I asked her. "Some people are naturally leathargic," she told me, "while others are energetic. Every since I was a kid I've loved exercise, especially horseback riding. When I was touring the country with a band, the first thing I asked on hitting a town was, 'Where is the nearest riding stable?'"

"I started in show business when I was very young and have never worked at anything else. I love it. It's my life. And when I am on a job I think of nothing else. But people must have outside interests or they become dull and boring. That is why, even though I constantly think of my work, I relax and get away from it by swimming, riding and, believe it or not, flying a plane."

"My work is strenuous and I have to be on my toes. I build up energy by being in the fresh air every moment I can spare. I love the ocean, and another one of my hobbies is deep-sea fishing."

"People have seen me round for so many years that some of them think I'm older than my mother. It used to irk me but now I know that age doesn't matter. The important factor to remember is how you look and feel."

"Worry will get you down easier than anything I know. I try to overcome this by weighing everything as carefully as I can, to look

Ackerly People Enjoy Late Summer Vacations

ACKERLY--Visiting in Plains recently were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Belew and children and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cozart and boys. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rushing. The three women are sisters.

Mrs. Billy Ray Carter and David, Big Spring, visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Womack.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weaver are the parents of a son, Tony Ray, born Sept. 6. Grandparents are Mrs. Ella Weaver, Lamesa, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook, Ackerly.

After Sunday services, a group from the Ackerly Church of Christ met at the Big Spring park for lunch. They then attended a singing session in Forsan. About 40 attended.

Visiting in Monahans recently were Mrs. Buck Baker, Delbert and Dorothy. They visited Mrs. Baker's sister, Mrs. J. E. Shaun.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gregg and family have been her mother, Mrs. George Cathey, Lenora, and Mrs. J. E. Barrington and children, Midland. Garry Rhea visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rhea, over the weekend.

Visiting with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Higgins, Saragosa, has been Mrs. Leslie Higgins.

New Members Join Baptist Circle

Four new members were introduced at the Monday meeting of the Kate Morrison Circle of the East Fourth Baptist Church. They are Mrs. Melvin Ray, Mrs. R. C. Stocks, Mrs. J. R. Berry, and Mrs. J. D. Kendrick.

The group met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Clayton. Mrs. Gilbert Webb presented the mission study from the book "Rainbow South."

New officers were elected as follows: Mrs. D. W. Adkins, chairman; Mrs. Webb, mission study; Mrs. Arthur Leonard, benevolence; Mrs. Billy Rood, community service; Mrs. H. Reaves, program, and Mrs. L. R. Helms, secretary.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. Ira Raley, and Mrs. T. F. Hill. Twelve were present.

Mrs. Wilma Webb gave the mission study from the book, "Jesp Tracks," when the Lucy Belle Circle met Monday at the church.

Plans were discussed to provide needy families with food and to take clothing to the State Hospital. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Annie Thomas and Mrs. Elmer Dickens. Seven members were present with one new member, Karen Gross.

Complexion Cures

You'll find much more valuable advice on complexion cures and care in Leaflet M-41. There is a special treatment for an occasional pimple. Mrs. Squires Hosts Mary Willis Circle

Members of the Mary Willis Circle of the First Baptist Church were entertained Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. H. Squires.

The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. G. J. Couch gave the devotion titled "Secret Prayer," based on Matthew 6:6-8.

Mrs. Roy Odom, mission study leader, gave a talk from the book, "Good Stewards," by J. E. Dilard. She stressed the opportunity of time and stewardship and the talents and services of stewardship.

After the closing prayer by Mrs. Odom, the hostess served a refreshment plate to the seven members present.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. O. N. Green, 2165 Johnson.

Northside WMU Has Royal Service

Members of the Northside Baptist Church WMU met at the church Monday afternoon for a Royal Service program.

Mrs. Arnold Tonn was in charge of the meeting, with the subject, "Lead On, O King Eternal." She gave the devotion from Matthew and Isaiah.

Mrs. Calvia White offered the opening prayer. Special music was given by Mrs. White, Mrs. Tonn and Mrs. Billy Scott. A tape recording was made of the meeting and played back to the group.

Others participating were Mrs. Thomas Bowden, Mrs. Fate Johnson, Mrs. W. R. Weatherford Jr., Mrs. Horace Bowden, Mrs. L. D. Herrington and Mrs. Charles Simmons.

Announcement was made that the group will not meet Monday because of the revival in the church.

Guests were Byron Hartin, Mrs. Billy Howell and Mrs. Ruth Gibson.

Daughter Born

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Leland, former residents of Big Spring, now living in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, are the parents of a daughter, Linda Marie, born Sept. 12 and weighing 6 pounds 4 ounces.

Local Women To Midland Meeting Of Flower Judges

Mrs. Oble Bristow and Mrs. John Knox, members of the Big Spring Garden Club, went to Midland Monday to attend a meeting of the Flower Show Judges Association. The group is of the southern zone of District One of state garden clubs.

The meeting, attended by about 26 from various parts of the zone, was held at the Woman's Club Building. Discussions centered around the importance of flower show schedules.

Mrs. Bristow was appointed as a member of the nominating committee. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Frank Wood of Midland.

Announcement was made to the group of an antique show to be given at the Woman's Club Building on Sept. 28, 29 and 30. Admission will be 20 cents, with proceeds going into the improvement fund of the club.

Local Girl Is Married

George J. Ayoub and his bride, the former Mary Jabor, are at home in El Paso following their marriage Aug. 26.

Vows were repeated in El Paso at the Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel A. Jabor, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ayoub, El Paso.

The bride's gown was of white nylon tulle and lace over satin, with pearls accenting the collar and lace bodice front. She carried a white orchid with tuberoses atop a prayer book.

Her attendants wore pastel tulle and lace frocks with headbands of flowers. Their bouquets were of fall flowers.

About 500 guests attended a reception in the Phoenixian Club after the wedding.

Week Of Prayer Is Started By WMU

The WMU of the College Baptist Chapel began the observance of Week of Prayer Monday morning at the church. The Melvina Roberts Circle was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Ben Caldwell was leader, and she gave the devotion from the book of Genesis. Subject for the week is "Building Altars in Texas."

Mrs. H. W. Bartlett opened the meeting with prayer. Others participating were Mrs. Ethel Bartlett and Mrs. G. H. Hayward. Mrs. Caldwell dismissed with prayer the nine who attended.

The delicious flavor difference in Folger's is Mountain Grown Coffee!

You taste it in every steaming cup—the unusually rich, tangy flavor of nature's choicest coffee. For that's what Folger's is... a unique and individual blend of naturally more flavorful Mountain-Grown coffees!

Experts agree that these rare mountain coffees, grown in remote regions where there is an abundance of fertile volcanic soil, warm tropic rain, and year-round sunlight, have the most satisfying tang and flavor of any coffee known today.

And you will agree that the rewarding flavor and fragrance you discover in Folger's is the finest you have ever enjoyed. Distinctively rich. Unusually tangy. Unmistakably Folger's—the Mountain-Grown coffee!

Forsan's Offensive Starters

Tackle Weaknesses Worry To Bryant

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Before opening fall practice, coaches felt Texas A&M would field a good first team. They were worried about depth from the sophomores. But with the loss of right tackle Jack Powell to the school books and several injuries to key players along with general loss of spirit that prevailed last fall when the surprising Aggies finished second in the Southwest Conference, the optimism has changed. The injuries are minor but to the extent that they have kept a dozen boys sidelined for a week, and with the opener with Villanova just ahead the squad has failed to please Coach Paul Bryant.

DEFENSIVE BACK

McCrary Returned To Steer A Team

Ronnie Phillips, alling halfback of the Big Spring Steers, went to the doctor again Monday and was told that he would have to leave the cast on his foot for at least another week. Phillips, who broke his toe in a scrimmage a couple of weeks ago, had hopes of removing the cast and returning to the drill field Monday. Coaches took a look at movies of the Big Spring-Andrews game and their suspicions that the Steers played a sub-par defensive game were confirmed.

Benny McCrary has been moved back to the A team from the B squad and will probably see quite a bit of action Friday night against Levelland as a defensive halfback. McCrary contributed a fine performance against the Sweetwater reserves last Saturday night. In promoting him back to the A squad, the mentors took into consideration his speed and his ability to get off the ground. Levelland, which has an expert passer in Jimmy Johnson, is apt to fill the air with passes against Big Spring.

ROSEN, FELLER IN LAST YEAR

CLEVELAND (AP)—General Manager Hank Greenberg has counted third baseman Al Rosen and pitcher Bob Feller out of the Cleveland Indians' plans for next season. At a luncheon speech yesterday Greenberg said that he would offer Feller a non-playing job with the Tribe before this season ends. Rosen, Hank declared, might "be better off playing somewhere else" because he has "completely lost his confidence."

El Pasoans Even Angelo Series

By The Associated Press Mike Gazella turned in a fine pitching performance last night, yielding three hits and blanking the San Angelo Colts 6-0 as the El Paso Texans evened up the final series of the Southwestern League playoffs at one game each. The teams move to San Angelo tonight for the next three games in the finals.

Game Called Off

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A scheduled football game between Arkansas City Junior College and Tyler Junior College was cancelled "by mutual agreement" because the Kansas school has four Negroes on its squad, it was announced yesterday.

Clyde Jones Lost To Mustang Team

SWEETWATER (SC) — Clyde Jones, starting center of the Sweetwater Mustangs, may be lost to the team for the season. The 180-pounder injured his knee on the fourth play of the game against Breckenridge. Sam Glass, 180-pound senior, has been moved to center from tackle to back up Don Burns, 160, at the position.

Meet Cancelled

FORT WORTH (AP)—Mrs. Robert Records, president of the Fort Worth Golf Assn., said yesterday the Women's Texas Open Golf Tournament will be dropped this year.

Little Expects To Hunt A Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Little of Columbia, one of the few coaches in this area of high pressure football who didn't HAVE to win, indicated today that he was open to job offers after he retires Dec. 8, his 68th birthday. "But," added the scholarly pilot, who guided Lion football teams since 1930, "I haven't received any yet."

Buff's Take Lead In Dallas Set

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston headed for tonight's Texas League Shaughnessy playoff match with Dallas with a one-game lead, thanks mostly to Dallas errors. The Buffs whipped the Eagles 8-4 last night in the first game of the best-of-seven finals. Bobby Gene Smith got his fifth and sixth home runs of the playoffs. His first came in the third inning off Eagle starter Murray Wall. His second went over the fence in the eighth off reliever Joe Kotrany.

Abilene Leading In Football Poll

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas News' AAAA high school football poll this week placed Abilene on top. Sportswriters named the Eagles to the spot they held every week last season. The top ten teams in point totals:

1. Abilene
2. San Angelo
3. Corpus Christi Bay
4. Baytown
5. Highland Park
6. Houston Lamar
7. Wichita Falls

Purses Must Be Raised In Fem Meets: McKinnon

DENISON (AP)—Betty McKinnon, who quit the women's golf trail after four years of campaigning, says they'll have to raise the ante on the purses if they keep the top flight golfers. Miss McKinnon, who now is in the oil business in Longview with a partner, Peggy Nehls, says there's too much difference between the size of the purses paid women and men golfers. "There are a couple of stops on the tournament trail where the women actually outdraw the men," she said.

SW 11's Open Final Drills For Openers

By The Associated Press Light workouts with little contact were the rule Monday as the Southwest Conference headed for its first weekend of games. TCU emphasized the pass attack, with special attention paid to protection for the passer. There was very little contact work. Coach Martin said the Frogs would start work Tuesday on defenses for the opener with Kansas Saturday. Texas A&M went through a light workout stressing offensive and defensive patterns. Coach Bryant said his main worry was spirit. "We haven't been particularly impressive at any time yet this fall," he said. "And if we don't get rid of this sluggishness we're in for a good licking Saturday."

Purses Must Be Raised In Fem Meets: McKinnon

DENISON (AP)—Betty McKinnon, who quit the women's golf trail after four years of campaigning, says they'll have to raise the ante on the purses if they keep the top flight golfers. Miss McKinnon, who now is in the oil business in Longview with a partner, Peggy Nehls, says there's too much difference between the size of the purses paid women and men golfers. "There are a couple of stops on the tournament trail where the women actually outdraw the men," she said.

Brook's Old Pros Add To Nat'l League Lead

By ED WILKS The Associated Press Carl Furillo, tagged for a quick swap if a good pitcher had been available in June, is King Carl again in Brooklyn today, spearheading the Dodgers' September drive for the National League pennant. Game after game it's been one of Brooklyn's old pros (and there's a flock of 'em) getting the job done. But more often than not, it's been Furillo swinging the bat in the close ones.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: BLANTON COLLIER, University of Kentucky football coach: "It is silly for anyone who knows football to say the Big Ten is tougher than the Southeastern Conference. The SEC is, without any doubt on earth, as strong and as tough as any league in America. We have the best coaches and the highest calibre of play you'll find anywhere." BRUISER KINARD, assistant coach at Ole Miss: "The high school coaching in the state of Mississippi has improved about 900 per cent in the last decade. Although we're a small school and most of our kids are from within the state, we're able to make the most of our material because the kids who came to us out of high school now know what they're doing."

Membership Drive Reports Due At QBC 7:30 Conclave

All persons who have been soliciting members for the Big Spring Quarterback Club are being asked to attend tonight's session of that organization, which will be held in the library at the high school, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Final reports on the barbecue held recently for members of the high school football team are also due in, according to Jack Johnson, a co-captain of the QBC. Plans for the booster organization's trip to Levelland this weekend will be worked out in detail. Johnson said the club was well represented at the Andrews game and he hoped as many fans would see all the Steers' road games this season.

LARVAE CLAIM ACKERLY FIELD

ACKERLY (SC) — For the first time in history, Ackerly High School has grass on its football field. However, the Eagles are conducting their workouts this week on hard ground near the turf. Reason: June bugs decided the grass looked attractive as a nesting place and moved in to deposit their larvae there. The grass had to be poisoned and Coach Cliff Fraher was advised to keep his players away from the field for a few days. Ackerly plays Forsan here Friday night.

Play Casting Set Tonight

Final casting for the next play of the Big Spring Civic Theatre will be undertaken at 7 p.m. today at the Westox Oil Company Warehouse at First and Goliad.

Lt. Bob Grew, president, urged anyone who is interested in dramatics to come and read for the lead and other part. He emphasized that it is immaterial whether an individual is a member of the Civic Theatre so long as he or she would like to take part in the next play, "The Moon Is Blue." John Davis is to direct this comedy by F. Hugh Herbert.

C-C To Support Campaign For HCJC Student Union Building

Endorsement and support of a public subscription campaign to finance a student union building at Howard County Junior College was voted by the Chamber of Commerce directors Monday.

The board heard a spirited appeal from J.C. President W. A. Hunt, who painted a bright future of growth for the college. But he also pointed out that this growth is stymied if some action for a student union building is not taken soon.

He said that HCJC's growth can continue in a strong way only by provision of dormitory space for out-of-town students; that a federal loan would be possible for such dormitories; but that a necessary adjunct for the quarters would be a student building which would house a cafeteria to provide student meals. On this unit, a loan is not feasible. Only other method, said Dr. Hunt, is for the community to provide it.

With this facility, the president said, the college would be in position to plan for dormitories—and then he believed its future growth is practically unbounded. He cited the fact that during the past three years, HCJC enrollment growth each year has gained from 60 to 45 per cent over the preceding year.

He also bore down on the economic return to the community that comes from boarding students. A national average is $1,000 per student, he said, and he felt that Big Spring, in providing for the college's expansion, would be building itself stronger, in population and in business volume.

"I say that this city and county can raise the $200,000, if people see the opportunity for growth, and if we work together on the project," said Dr. Hunt.

Chamber directors had a proposal to table the move for two weeks' study, but voted to give endorsement now, when it was explained that some contributions to the college now being considered will have to be effected within a few days.

Dr. Hunt's proposal highlighted a meeting which saw these other developments:

Warmly applauded were members of Webb Air Force Base's world champion jet engine change team. The lads who won the title at the National Aircraft Show in Oklahoma City were guests of the directorate, and each received merchandise certificates as congratulatory gifts. Also present to praise the engine-change team were Col. C. M. Young and Col. C. E. Freeman of Webb.

John Taylor reported ticket sales starting for the C-C sponsored goodwill dinner, to be held in the Elbow community Sept. 27. Some 75 residents of Elbow are expected to attend, he said, so there should be that many Big Spring business-

'Y' Club To Sell Steer Stickers

Mary Ann Jones is the new leader of the Ninth Grade Tri-H-Y. At a meeting on Monday night, the group announced the new leader and discussed its plans for the year. There were 33 members present.

The club will sell Steer stickers and Quarterback Club pins, it was voted.

Officers of the club are Carol Phillips, president; Pat Johnson, vice president; Carolyn Sewell, secretary; Lana Wren, treasurer; Marilyn Mann, historian; Carolyn Washington, parliamentarian; Barbara Thiele, chaplain and Miss Jones, sponsor.

Wilkerson Services Set In Garden City

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Funeral services were to be held at 2 p.m. today in the Methodist Church for Jewel Wilkerson, 54, Glascock and Comanche county rancher. Mr. Wilkerson died Sunday in Comanche.

A long-time resident of Glascock County, he moved to Comanche where he held ranching interests about six years ago. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, his mother, Mrs. Belle Wilkerson of Garden City; two brothers, Cecil and Joy Wilkerson of Garden City; and two sisters, Mrs. Vena Lawson of Garden City and Mrs. H. W. Brunson of Midland.

Seba Club Plans Year's Activities

Seba Sophomore Tri-HIV Club will participate in the youth in government movement during the current year, it was voted at a meeting of the group Monday night.

The session was a candlelight ceremony held at YMCA with Toni Thomas leading the devotion.

Kathleen Thomas presided at the business meeting which followed the devotional portion of the program.

A general discussion of the year's activities was outlined and accepted.

It is planned for the club to have a concession stand at all B football games and all games in which junior high participates.

A float is to be entered in the homecoming day parade by the group. Date of the parade is Oct. 6.

All funds raised by the group will be donated to the Y building fund, it was voted.

Bible Course Is Still Open

There is still time to register for the Bible course at Howard County Junior College, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, the instructor, reminded Tuesday.

The class, which carries regular three-hour college credit for those who desire, meets on Tuesday and Thursday of each week, 8 a.m. to 9:25 a.m. It is listed as a "Survey of the Old Testament" and is presented in a non-sectarian manner. Registration is possible through this week, but Dr. Lloyd said it would be helpful in organizing the class to know as soon as possible about the number to be enrolled.

LEGAL NOTICE
NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals, addressed to the Board of Trustees, Howard County Junior College, Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, for the moving and alterations to a Field House for Howard County Junior College will be received at the office of the Architect, 505 Permian Building, Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, until 5:00 p.m. on the 3 day of October 1956 and then publicly opened and read. Bids must be plainly marked with titles of projects proposed. The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the Board of Trustees, Howard County Junior College, Howard County, Big Spring, Texas. However, the Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

A bidder's check, certified check, or acceptable bidder's bond, payable without recourse to the order of Board of Trustees, Howard County Junior College, Big Spring, Texas, in an amount not less than five percent (5%) of the largest possible total bid, including consideration of alternate, must accompany each bid as a guarantee that, if awarded the contract, the bidder will promptly enter into contract and execute bonds as outlined in the specifications and instructions to bidders.

A performance bond in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price will be required.

No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for at least thirty days.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum rates prevailing in the locality in which the work is performed for work of a similar character, and not less than the general prevailing rate of pay then in effect for similar work, shall be paid to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed in the construction of public works.

The minimum wages to be paid laborers and mechanics on this project, as determined by the owner are listed in the instructions to bidders.

Plans and specifications may be examined without charge in the office of the Architect, 505 Permian Building, Big Spring, Texas.

Rites Pending For Mrs. Eason

LAMESA (SC) — Funeral arrangements are incomplete for Mrs. Claude Eason, 35, who died last night in a Lamesa hospital.

Higginbotham Funeral Home will be in charge of services. Mrs. Eason died shortly after being taken to the hospital. Two of her small daughters summoned aid after she became ill.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Nelda Snowden, Janice Eason and Claudette Eason; her father, J. M. Broome of Lamesa; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Dupree of Houston, Mrs. Virginia Eakin of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Grace Jenkins of California; and three brothers, Wayne Broome of Fort Worth and John R. and Billy Broome of Houston.

Jim Lewis Heads Round Up Group

Round Up Club members this morning elected Jim Lewis to succeed Cecil Bowles as foreman of the "Rough Riders" division of the Chamber of Commerce membership solicitation agency.

Bowles has moved from Big Spring to Lubbock where he is affiliated with an insurance agency.

Election of Lewis occurred at the monthly membership breakfast of the Round Up Club and other Chamber of Commerce members. The session was held in the Settles Hotel with Roy Reeder speaking on "Acceptance of Individual Responsibility." George Zachariah, Round Up Club chairman, presided.

Rad Ware is foreman of the "Bulldoggers," the other division of the Round Up Club. The two divisions compete in the enlistment of new Chamber of Commerce members.

GIVE YOUR KITCHEN THE Light Touch

For good general lighting, the average kitchen needs an enclosed incandescent fixture with a 150-watt bulb or a shielded fluorescent fixture with the two 40-watt tubes.

A fluorescent or incandescent fixture over your sink keeps you from working in your own shadow, helps you see that dishes--or vegetables--are really clean.

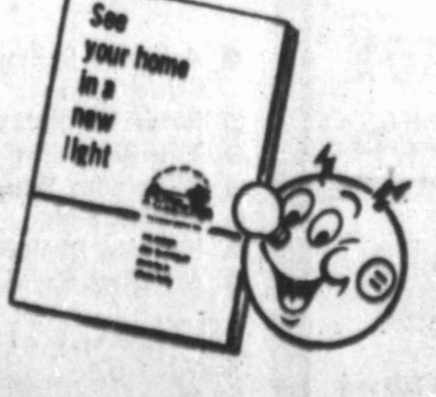

Good light on your work counters makes it easy to read recipes or measure ingredients. Use fluorescent or slimline incandescent tubes mounted under cabinets.

for easier seeing while you work

Bright, cheerful lighting makes kitchen chores less tiresome and time-consuming! With good kitchen lighting, it's easier to read recipes... measure ingredients... check details of food preparation... find things in drawers and cabinets... and see that fruits, vegetables and dishes are washed clean. With good general lighting from a central ceiling fixture plus "local" lighting at sink, range top and work counters... you, too, can add the light touch... and enjoy lighter work in a brighter kitchen!

FREE BOOKLET! For helpful, easy-to-follow lighting recipes that will make seeing easier and every room in your home more attractive, phone, write or come by our office for this free booklet, "See Your Home in a New Light."

Fast-Weakening Cool Front Hangs Over Part Of Texas

By The Associated Press
A cool front that weakened fast hung over Texas about as far south as Waco Tuesday. The front, which brought winds of up to 50 miles an hour into North Texas Monday, cooled the northern part of the state but brought no rain of consequence.

Temperatures at dawn Tuesday ranged from 78 at Galveston to 58 at Dalhart. Skies were clear. Palacios reported .06 of an inch of rain and Houston .04 Monday. Temperatures Monday ranged from 81 at Dalhart to 100 at Presidio.

Nixon Calls Ike Regime 'Best' Hope For Peace

By The Associated Press
Vice President Nixon said today the Eisenhower administration "offers the best hope for peace without surrender" and "deserves a vote of confidence" for its accomplishments in the past four years.

Nixon addressed a meeting in Indianapolis, Ind., the first stop in his 15,000-mile campaign trip through 32 states. It was the beginning of an intensified Republican presidential campaign.

On the Democratic side, presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson used a Washington news conference yesterday to disassociate himself from a couple of statements by former President Harry S. Truman. Then he went on to praise Truman as an asset to the Democratic campaign.

He said he "never doubted" the jury verdict that convicted Alger Hiss. If this puts him at odds with Truman, he went on, "that is where the record must lie, must rest."

Truman said recently he did not believe Hiss, a former State Department official, was a Communist spy. Hiss served a federal prison term for perjury in denying that he passed government secrets to a Soviet spy ring.

Asked if he felt Truman's speeches on behalf of the Democrats have helped or hurt Stevenson's candidacy, the former Illinois governor replied:

"Well, I have no doubt that they have helped . . . My impression is that the President (Truman) is a help, not a hindrance."

Stevenson's running mate Sen. Estes Kefauver also fielded the Hiss question in a news conference in Madison, Wis. His reply:

"I agree the verdict in the Hiss case is justified by the evidence. It showed that Hiss was not loyal to his country," Kefauver added that "this is an old chestnut and I don't believe it has anything to do with Mr. Stevenson's or my campaign."

Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall, Nixon and other GOP speakers have been prodding Stevenson for a comment on Truman's stand on the Hiss case.

Nixon, in his prepared remarks at Indianapolis, said Eisenhower has "cleaned up the mess he found, has not allowed another to be made, and will continue to maintain standards that will make every American proud of his government."

Nixon pounded the "peace, progress and prosperity" theme of the Republican campaign, declaring: "The great majority of the American people have enjoyed the best four years of their lives under the Eisenhower administration."

He told the Farm Belt audience that Agriculture Department statistics show farm prices "are finally on the way up and we intend to keep them on that path."

Nixon's opposite number, Sen. Kefauver, said in Milwaukee today the Eisenhower administration is "trying to sabotage" the Rural Electrification Administration by cutting its funds and power sources.

Kefauver said, "it was White House pressure which put over the Dixon-Yates deal," and added that he intends to discuss the subject more fully tonight.

He called the Dixon-Yates contract, cancelled by the administration after congressional investigators charged a conflict of interest by a Budget Bureau consultant, "an attempt to destroy" the Tennessee Valley Authority.

FHA Loan Program To Be Outlined For Other Lenders

Representatives of all agencies which supply credit to farmers and ranchers are being invited to hear an explanation of the new loan program of the Farmers Home Administration.

Fred Ross, FHA supervisor for Howard and Glasscock counties, said the agency's loan programs will be outlined at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce conference room, Permian Building, at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Invited to attend are all local bankers, representatives of Production Credit Association, Federal Land Bank, farm machinery and supply dealers and representatives of all other agricultural credit agencies.

Purpose of the meeting will be to give the various groups information on the FHA programs and to establish a "working relationship" with them, Ross said. He explained that the FHA lending activities are designed to supplement but not replace other sources of agricultural credit.

The supervisor said that recent legislation broadened the FHA lending program, making it possible for the agency to serve the credit needs of a larger number of farmers and ranchers.

W. E. Hanson of Big Spring left Monday for Seattle, Wash., where he is to meet his son, Billy Hanson, who will return with him to Big Spring for a 30-day visit with his parents.

Young Hanson, a Navy airman, has been stationed at the Oak Harbor, Wash., Naval Air Station since June, 1955. After spending his leave with his parents, he will report to San Francisco for assignment to the aircraft carrier Hancock.

The airman has been in the Navy about 18 months and at Oak Harbor most of the time. He and his father are to arrive in Big Spring late this week.

Ship To Record Cosmic Ray Data For Map

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Swedish motorship Lommeran, out of Göteborg, will leave for South Africa this week, her ear cocked to catch and measure cosmic rays from space.

The National Geographic Society world's largest scientific organization of laymen and learned, will be able to note with quiet pride its sponsorship of another voyage of discovery.

For nearly 89 years the society has been examining the earth and its oceans, skies, insects, animals, plants and people "for the wider diffusion of geographic knowledge."

The Lommeran's voyage is part of that examination. Her mission will be to collect information for the International Geophysical year (IGY), an 18-month study of the globe by the scientists of 40 nations.

Ultimately the data collected by the Lommeran's ears will be incorporated into a cosmic ray map of the world. For the frontiersmen of science such a chart will be a wind, weather and water map for voyages into unknown space.

There is a hope too that the scientists may find clues to the possible sources of the rays themselves. Before man can don his space suit and reach for the stars, he must know much more about these rays.

LETTERS

Believes Texas Needs The GOP

To the Editor: I am a Texan by adoption having lived there for nearly 13 years. We have just returned from a vacation in Fort Worth and I was amazed at the partiality shown Stevenson in the newspapers there. How can people be given honest and reliable presentation of the facts, when only one side, that of the Democrats, is given. As Texas gets more highly industrialized and develops greater technological skills, she must also broaden herself politically and have a two-party system. One party split and fighting amongst itself cannot give people the good government they should have.

Have you read Merle Pusey's book "Eisenhower the President?" It is an objective study of his time in office. It tells how many of his Cabinet were poor as boys, but through hard work climbed to success. They gave up their chairmanships and their company stock to work at a much lower salary to help President Eisenhower build a better, more efficient and honest government in Washington. Mr. Averill Harriman of New York is a multi-millionaire who could buy out all the Cabinet twice over but nothing is said against him.

I realize that Texas is suffering from a drought but on the other hand, she has more little businesses prospering than any other part of our country. Mr. Stevenson is trying hard to find some issues and he is attacking Richard Nixon as Drew Pearson and Harry Truman have done. I think Nixon has been a good vice president. He is capable and honest and he has worked hard at his job. I hope some day to come back to Texas to live. I love Texas as I am sure you do, too. Texas is good country and there is a great future ahead for her. Texas newspapers have a task to perform and a challenge to meet: give the people both sides and let them judge for themselves. I don't know if you will print this letter but I do want to say thank you for reading it. Very sincerely, Mrs. Roger Casebolt 10335 South Wood Street Chicago 43, Illinois

Thanks Cosden For The Paper

To the Editor: I had just awakened after being brought out of the operating room and was just lying there trying to figure where I hurt the most. (Found I didn't hurt anywhere since the doctor and nurses saw to that.)

Someone put a Big Spring Herald on my bed. I started feeling for my pants, which I couldn't find to get a nickel I probably didn't have when I saw sticking on the front page "Compliments Cosden Petroleum Corp."

Now my wife, my son and I planned about a week on this trip of mine to the hospital. But we all forgot the newspaper.

I want you to know I am sure the people of Big Spring are mighty proud of a company so big, taking time out to think of someone so little. That means so much. I do thank them (Cosden) very much.

Indonesian Mob Storms Court In Dutchman's Trial

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A mob stormed a courthouse today where a Dutch army officer was being tried on subversion charges. A newsman was injured and the defendant's attorney, an attractive Dutch woman, climbed a 6-foot garden wall to escape.

The yelling mob surged forward as the accused, Maj. H. Schmidt, was led out of the courthouse.

Willem Mooyman, correspondent for the Dutch-language paper Nieuwsgr, suffered head injuries when he tried to stop persons in the crowd trying to get at the woman lawyer, Mrs. Mieke Bouman.

The mob had stoned her car parked outside, smashing all the windows and damaging the body. The Dutchman, accused of subversion and armed rebellion, maintained his innocence with a 30-page plea he read at today's court session.

Uncle Ray:

Raleigh Won Favor Of Queen Elizabeth

Raleigh giving last instructions to one of his sea captains.

By RAMON COFFMAN

An old story was built around a mud puddle, a queen, a coat and a young man with a ready wit.

The queen was Elizabeth I of England. The young man was Walter Raleigh (later Sir Walter) and the coat belonged to him. The puddle just happened to be there.

To save the feet of the queen from being soiled, Raleigh took off his coat and laid it over the puddle. This famous story has been used to explain Raleigh's rise to royal favor.

During recent years, the present Queen Elizabeth visited an island in the British Empire. While she was walking along, a man acted out the same story, putting his coat across a bad spot in her path. Instead of winning fame and fortune, he was placed under arrest! In this modern age, there seems to be less favor for a romantic deed of that sort.

Before settling in London, Raleigh spent his boyhood in Devonshire, studied at Oxford University and took part in warfare in Ireland. At the age of 29, he became the queen's favorite. He was described at the time as "tall and handsome, with dark hair, high forehead, manly bearing and spirited wit."

The queen gave him the honor of knighthood, also the export license for wool. The license was worth $30,000 a year! Now he was able to buy the finest clothes, and jewels as well. He had a weakness for personal adornment. More important was a project which he formed to go to the New World. He sent vessels to an area which he called Virginia.

Something To Remember In Maine

As for Maine, those Republicans who would comment at all felt very sure nothing resembling a cyclone had happened there. The sensational Democratic showing did not seem to Mr. Eisenhower to indicate a trend in the country as a whole.

To House minority leader Joe Martin it was a sheer case of the personal popularity of the Democratic Governor, Edmund S. Muskie, whose smashing triumph set several records. Mr. Martin readily explained away the fact that in deep-dish Republican Maine one of its three House seats was captured by a Democrat while a second was still in doubt.

"When an exceedingly popular governor is elected to office in any state there is invariably a change of at least one seat in the House," said Joe.

The Republicans are entitled to all the consolation they can find in the loss of Maine, which had been a symbol of Republican strength for a century, but it was the nature of the Muskie triumph that elated the Democrats throughout the nation and must perforce give Republican leaders prayerful thought.

For Muskie was the first Democrat in a hundred years to win re-election in Maine in a presidential election year. He not only won, but he received 59 per cent of the total vote, as against only 34 per cent in 1954. And there was no sit-down strike among Republican voters, for the total figure was within 5,000 votes of the all-time record, and with only 100,000 Democrats registered in the state and Muskie commanding 179,000 votes, it is obvious few Republicans sat down; they crossed over and voted for the Democratic governor.

And Muskie did not slip up on the opposition, either. The GOP campaigners made it a straight issue of supporting Eisenhower or not supporting Eisenhower. The issue went deep, for the Democrats picked up several in the State Legislature as well. Not for 22 years had the Democrats won a single congressional seat in Maine, until this week.

The weight of evidence is on the side of the Democrats who claim the national trend is toward their side. It was first manifest in 1954 when the Democrats swept both houses of Congress. It was manifest when the Democrats gained several gubernatorial posts in all parts of the country. And it was manifest when they won between 400 and 500 seats in state legislatures in the 48 states.

Biggest break the Democrats could get would be for the Republican managers to go on believing and saying there is no "trend." Mr. Eisenhower, however, doesn't intend for the GOP to sleep through the campaign.

Is It Time To Talk Or To Act?

December 12, 1937, the Japanese shelled the U. S. gunboat Panay to the bottom of the Yangtze River above Nanking; the captain and one crew man died. Several lives were lost when the Japs also shelled a number of British ships.

The Japs were "oh, so sorry," apologized and paid off. They had won their point. They could shove the U. S. and Britain around without getting anything more of a retaliation than some hot notes of protest. U. S. and British citizens, men and women, were face-slapped with impunity all over the Far East.

Had the U. S. and Britain sent in the ships and planes necessary to have wiped the Japs off the Yangtze at the moment the Panay incident occurred, it is entirely possible there might not have been a Pacific war by late 1941, or any later time.

But the Japs had tried our mettle, and found it to their order. From then on it was one insult and outrage after another. These insults and outrages continue all around the world today. Russia and Red China blast our planes out of the sky over international waters. Instead of taking action we jet fighters loose with freedom to retaliate on Red China war planes every time they commit one of these outrages, it might make a big difference.

Today another dictator is growing big in his own mind, Nasser of Egypt. He is employing the familiar tactic of bluster and rant. He talks big and threatens dire things, but actually he couldn't fight his way out of a paper sack. But he knows Russia will back him up to a certain point, and he knows the well-established Anglo-Saxon habit of note-writing.

Take what happened last week for example. Britain and France, acting in the firm belief they had the backing of the U. S., proposed a sensible plan for settling the Suez issue in a manner fair to all. But Nasser blustered and ranted, said it meant war. Washington, which has going a presidential campaign based on peace and prosperity, began to tread water. Both Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles hastily said there would be no war as far as we're concerned. We won't shoot our way through, said Mr. Dulles; if Nasser really closes down the canal we'll send our shipping around the Cape of Good Hope, by golly.

One good sound concerted blast against Nasser would blow his house of cards down. Trouble is the West is not presenting a solid, or even a firm, front.

What the Egyptian ambassador in Washington said to Dulles was a shining example of insulting arrogance. He said: "If the United States desires war, then she may support the scheme (to have a users' association operate Suez) but if her desire is to work for a peaceable solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

Thus the mightiest nation in the world is told exactly where to head in.

Walter Lippmann A Trend Toward Demo Majority

Having had some opportunity to watch the Maine election campaign, I have a few notions about the results. One is that the President was almost surely mistaken at his press conference last week when he spoke as if the whole results could be attributed to the personal popularity of the Democratic candidate for governor. For that is to beg the question of why this Democratic Governor was first elected in 1954—in the middle of the Eisenhower administration and in this normally Republican state—and has thus had a chance to make himself so popular.

Since the election, there has been a good deal of plain speaking by Republicans, as for example by State Sen. Seth Low, of Rockland: "The Republican party must change its thinking before the next election and give the youngsters more of a chance in the political field." There, I think, is the crux of the matter, that as regards the state of Maine the Democrats have become the party of the rising generation while the Republican party is dominated by the passing generation. Muskie's first election in 1954 reflected a popular reaction against Old Guard Republicanism, and his re-election this week by a spectacularly increased majority is manifestly due to his personal charms, though they are very considerable, but to his having convinced masses of voters that the Democratic party works effectively in the present and for the future.

The results, particularly in the congressional districts, must reflect, it seems to me, a marked increase in the strength of the Democratic party. Four years ago the Democrats polled 33 per cent of the vote in the congressional election. In 1954 they polled about 45 per cent of the congressional vote. Now they have polled nearly 49 per cent. All this cannot be attributed to Gov. Muskie's personal popularity alone. It must mean that there has been a movement of voters toward the Democratic party, that there is what is called a trend.

What is the nature of this trend? Judging by the campaigning in Maine, I would say that the real matters which have affected the voting are not the pros and the cons of specific issues but an over-all feeling about being modern or behind-the-times. A new political generation is arriving at the posts of political and economic and social power. It is the post-war generation, and a significant number among them have turned to the Democratic party. They have turned, I would suppose, to the Democrats in those states where, as in Maine under Muskie's leadership, the Democrats are manifestly the more modern party.

The outcome in Maine does much to confirm the view that the Democrats are the majority party, and that Gov. Stevenson's problem is how to rally all the Democrats to the national ticket. It indicates that he and his managers are right in their policy of placing such great emphasis on party organization. For if not too many Democrats split their ticket in favor of President Eisenhower, the Democrats have a chance to win not only Congress but the Presidency.

The obverse of all this, at least as shown in Maine, is that President Eisenhower has a long way to go in his efforts to modernize the Republican party and to make it the agent of the future. There is no doubt at all that in Maine the Democrats under Muskie have done with their party what the President dreams of doing with the Republican party. They have brought it abreast of the times.

James Marlow Background To Suez Crisis

WASHINGTON (U)—Diplomats of 18 nations, including Secretary of State Dulles, are converging on London for a conference on the Suez crisis.

This is the background of that crisis which rests, in large measure, on the international convention of 1883 "respecting the free navigation of the Suez Maritime Canal."

This convention was signed at Constantinople Oct. 29, 1883. Parties to it were Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Russia and Turkey.

At the time the Ottoman Empire, which radiated from Turkey, was Egypt's nominal ruler, but in truth Britain held the canal, and for all practical purposes, Egypt itself through agreements with Egypt's all-but-independent Khedive.

England began to enter Egypt commercially in 1848 when the Pasha Abbas I granted permission to build a railroad between Alexandria and Cairo.

After Abbas' death his uncle Said Pasha became khedive and it was he who gave his good friend, the Frenchman Ferdinand de Les-

NEW YORK (U)—Odd facts and fancies a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Who's To Blame For Crime?

There was a period in the late 1920's, when the gangsters were in their peak of power, that kidnaping was a commonplace and frequent crime.

It is now known that for each kidnaping which came to the notice of the police and the public in those days there were perhaps a hundred others never reported. Scores of kidnap victims paid off their abductors and chose to keep quiet about it. I have read that kidnaping as a major crime business developed with the return of legalized liquor and the collapse of the bootlegging era. Gangsters who had been making a prosperous thing out of contraband booze found pickings slim. The kidnap racket — "snatch" they called it — was invented.

Most of the victims of these gang abductions were men. Frequently they were other gangsters who had money or could get money. Many times they were businessmen of wealth.

It was the courage of a few of the victims in reporting the matter to the authorities which ultimately led to the breaking down of the operation from its wholesale character to isolated instances.

The kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby; with all the attendant publicity and all of the sorry and tragic side issues, finally aroused the public to the point that demand for drastic action arose.

Kidnaping is a capital crime on the law books. Under federal law, a kidnaper convicted of his offense, can be put to death. Most states, where the death penalty is still in force, have similar statutes.

Bruno Hauptmann, the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, was electrocuted. There have been other executions for the crime.

As a result of the sterner penalties and the sudden vigor of the law enforcement agencies, kidnaping was changed from the commonplace to the rare crime.

Recently we have had several tragic instances in which kidnapers have been involved. Sad to report, these kidnapers have seized young children as their captives. There have been too many instances recently where the victim was either murdered or allowed to perish from neglect or mistreatment.

Most recent was the recovery from a Connecticut lake of the body of a six weeks old infant a few days after it had been taken from its carriage.

Such crimes shock and sicken all decent law abiding persons. Kidnapers are the lowest of all felons. Their deed is dastardly enough when their victim is an adult; it becomes even more reprehensible when the victim is a child and it is a ghastly offense utterly beyond the pale when murder is coupled with the abduction.

Laxity in the enforcement of law against criminals in general is breaking down the whole fabric of American justice. Penalties are set up in the laws which are commensurate with the crime. Jurors and courts refuse to apply these penalties. Legal loopholes frustrate the best efforts of society to protect itself against law breakers.

Corrupt officials and soft-headed sentimentalists often bring about the release of criminals even in rare instances where the courts and the jurors have decreed that they be punished.

Enforcement of the laws against kidnaping have been slackened in harmony with the general trend toward coddling lawbreakers in general.

The electric chairs and the gallows and the gas chambers are covered with dust. Maybe it is time for a change in attitude.

Maybe a few examples need to be made of these sadistic misfits who kidnap children and murder them.

Maybe we are partly to blame ourselves for this sudden reappearance of this particular crime in our midst.

David Lawrence Economic Negotiation Of Suez

WASHINGTON — There isn't the slightest need to use military force to win the "battle of Suez." It isn't necessary to risk human lives. If the governments of Great Britain, France and the United States choose to take a lesson from the labor unions and adopt one of their favorite techniques, Colonel Nasser will find himself compelled to yield to reason and a sensible settlement of the controversy.

In a sense, the British, French and American statement is a start in that direction. For what the three governments have done is to form an organization of "users." In the vocabulary of the industrial world, these are analogous to the "buyers." Now, buyers can be persuaded to employ the boycott, and they can refuse to cross a picket line.

The "picket lines" in this case are at the entrance and the exit to the Suez Canal — international waters. Egypt remains the owner of only the water inside the canal. She is as "sovereign" as are the "stockholders" of a company in an industrial strike and probably just as helpless. For the "users" can be persuaded not to use the canal — that is, not to cross "picket lines" — until satisfactory terms are obtained.

It would not be necessary to station warships on the "picket lines" to prevent any commercial ships from using the canal because enough of the "users" would themselves respect the "picket lines." With a strike of the pilots going on, traffic would not be as safe as before, anyhow.

The "users" of the canal are really the private shipping companies. They can be organized for their own protection. They can stipulate the conditions under which the Suez canal will or will not be used. It doesn't need to be a governmental body.

Thus, the power of decision would pass into the hands of those who really can wield economic pressure.

If it turns out that the Egyptian government, which claims "sovereignty" over the canal, will not agree to let the operation become a private affair — between the shipping companies and the canal company, which is to be entirely owned by the Egyptian government and to receive all profits — then other means of handling the traffic between the Indian Ocean and the Atlantic Ocean will have to be devised.

For one thing, if the Suez canal isn't to be efficiently operated, there's not much use in investors lending money to Egypt to have it widened so as to accommodate larger tankers. It would be better to put the money into the building of huge tankers to carry the oil around the Cape of Good Hope. The American government is considering a plan to finance such a tanker-construction program. After figuring the savings in tolls and the time saved in putting so much more in a single cargo than ever before, the net result might be such as to render the Suez canal superfluous.

But before such a program is embarked upon, a "strike" has to be carried on and decided one way or the other. Faced by the facts of life, Colonel Nasser will have to cease quibbling about "sovereignty" and turn his mind to the practical problem of operation. This is what the British, French and American governments now have done, and they have invited "users" from other countries to join them.

Hence, the whole problem ceases to be an issue for war or for military threats and becomes a business proposition which Nasser is free to accept or reject. Like many an employer, he can shut down his operation and refuse to grant the demands of the "strikers," or he can bargain and come to an agreement.

The presence of allied warships and a paratroopers and mobile forces may have been a wise precaution in case Nasser should threaten any harm to foreign citizens resident in Egypt, but military action is wholly unnecessary as a means of settling the dispute over how the canal shall be operated.

This controversy is today, and has all along been basically an economic matter. It is solvable by economic pressure. Nasser needs the canal to get revenue. The "users" need the canal for economy's sake. But they want a showdown as to whether they are to be subjected to extortion on tolls or confiscation of their property without a satisfactory plan of compensation. The "strike" of Suez pilots will accelerate the transfer of the issue from the intangibles of political nationalism to the tangibles of economic negotiation.

See This Wonderful Land Of Ours

Whatever the other distinguishing traits with which we North Americans have been endowed by the "melting pot," one sticks up on the landscape like a sore thumb. That is the wide streak of gypsy in us, one and all.

We take to the open road like Romanies. And if the national thumb is sore, it can be traced to overwork in either thumbing directions or a lift along the way.

There is so much to see in this lovely land with its all but limitless horizon and variety that a lifetime is scarcely enough to encompass all of it. But no critic can say that we Americans aren't trying! The traffic jams caused by American tourists enjoying their birthright may be exasperating, but they are also heartwarming.

As one of the gypsies that took to the road on vacation, I was constantly entertained, challenged, amazed and amused at our peripatetic population. Whole industries have sprung up to cater to its needs.

These tourist-inspired enterprises vary from that distinctly American phenomenon, the motel with wall-to-wall carpeting, tepee in every room and a swimming pool just outside the door, to ever-multiplying roadside Coney Islands for the kids.

Just 22 years ago, in the trough of the depression, the head of Clan Robb and I drove across the nation. The contrast between that trip and our current one was that between night and day. The cars we met along the way in 1934 were largely old, decrepit and held together by bailing wire.

Tied to the old rambling wrecks, particularly those headed West, were all the family possessions including dogs, crates of chickens, mattresses and cooking utensils. It was an exodus of desperation and despair.

Twenty-two years later, the nation's extraordinary prosperity fills the highways with sleek new cars whose occupants are not in search of Golconda because, obviously, they have found it at home. In 1956, we Americans are going for the ride (1) for the fun of it and (2) for the pleasure of looking at our own country.

Endless statistics are published annually on the vast sums spent by touring Americans in Europe, South America and the off-shore islands. But it is my guess that those who tour at home, who fill the roads, the motels, the national parks, the souvenir and postcard stands, the roadside rests, the hamburger bars and the gasoline stations spend so much more that it would make the sum spent by the passport tourist look like peanuts.

I have a few friends in the East who have never been West of Buffalo, and some friends in the West who have never crossed the Rockies. A pox on both of them, I cry. They owe it to themselves, but they owe it particularly to their children, to see this — gorgeous, incredible, wonderful land that God has given us.

Convicts Break Legs In Protest Of 'Indignities'

By THOMAS CHASE

BUFORD, Ga., Sept. 18 (AP)—The guard in the tarpaper tower on the cliff overlooking the sweltering rock quarry lifts his rifle, sights carefully and fires into the quarry floor 100 yards below.

The bullet splatters the granite dust near the feet of a convict, abruptly halting his shuffling walk. The prisoner looks up, waves a weary arm at the tower, receives an answering wave and continues his way to a wooden latrine at the side of the quarry.

The prisoner forgot to obtain permission. If he doesn't return promptly, another shot may whine across the broiling rock pit.

This is Rock Quarry prison, 40 miles east of Atlanta, where recently 41 convicts smashed their legs with sledge hammers.

Why? Two investigations were held to find the answers, one by a joint legislative committee, the other by top Georgia Board of Corrections officials acting under orders of Gov. Marvin Griffin.

The prisoners claimed their leg-breaking was a protest against unbearably hard work in the hot sun and brutalities and indignities at the hands of guards.

Guards and prison officials termed the incidents a play for public sympathy in an effort to have the prison for incorrigibles abolished.

The prison itself is a modern white sprawling structure, neat and clean, with flowers planted by the entrance. Here the prisoners sleep and eat two of their daily meals, unless confined to solitary cells in "the hole," where they get bread and water and, for extra tough cases, a regular meal only once every three days.

Most of the complaints originate in the rock quarry half a mile away, a vast excavation ringed by an eight-foot barbed wire fence and patrolled by rifle-toting guards in the tower and guards carrying five-foot, inch-thick clubs on the quarry floor.

The prisoners are in the quarry from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., 5 1/2 days a week. They have two hours off for lunch, served in the quarry, and a half-hour rest period in the morning and another in the afternoon.

It was during one of these rest periods that the 20-pound sledge hammers were employed on the legs of 41 convicts. The men were taken to the Georgia State Prison Hospital at Reidsville, where doctors found that 34 had broken legs and the rest cuts and bruises. Two more shattered their legs when told they would be returned to the prison.

Radar Has Come Long Way Since Discovery In 1922

By FRANK CARY

Associated Press Science Reporter

Radar, the world's most efficient peeping Tom, has come a long way in war and peace since man first stumbled on its basic principle 34 years ago.

Top government scientists have not lost faith, even though radar-equipped ships and airplanes sometimes collide.

They believe that collisions at sea, like the recent Andrea Doria disaster, need never have occurred as far as radar itself is concerned. And they predict that a relatively simple anticollision radar device will be in use on commercial airliners within three years.

The range of radar extends literally from the moon — where it has made a round trip — to kitchens in swank hotels where its heat is used to broil steaks in record time.

It can hunt a battleship on the darkest night, explore the heart of a hurricane or spot a school of tuna. It can detect airplanes at great distances, find a surfaced submarine through clouds and fog, give warning of a plague of locusts and give seven-league boots to surveyors, who can measure great distances in a fraction of the time required with conventional instruments.

It's a seagoing traffic cop, enabling ships to avoid collisions in dirty weather. Ashore, it's the bane of speedsters, whom it can seek out by remote control.

Radar's versatile career began one day in 1922 when scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory on the banks of the Potomac, near Washington, found that certain radio waves would bounce back from intervening obstacles.

Mid-Canada Picket Line Nearly Ready

By ELTON C. FAY

AP Military Affairs Reporter

CRANBERRY PORTAGE, Manitoba (AP)—The Mid-Canada Line, a "fence" to flash alarm if invading aircraft trigger its electronic nerve system at any point, is almost ready to join the North American sky watch.

The 2,700-mile row of hundreds of stations—stretching over mountains and through muskeg from Labrador to the border of British Columbia, along the 55th Parallel—will start up on New Year's Day, officials say.

It will be the second of three continent-spanning aircraft warning lines to go into operation. To the south is the Pinetree Line, now operating. Farther north, along the polar rim of the continent, is the still-building Distant Early Warning Line (DEW Line.)

The Mid-Canada Line, using its present equipment, will be useful as long as manned bombers are used by the military powers, estimated to be "until the late '60s," Air Vice Marshal C. R. Dunlap, vice chief of the Royal Canadian Air Force, told newsmen in Ottawa as they began a journey along the line.

No one claims that the Mid-Canada Line (MCL) will work against intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) fired at fantastic speeds and heights. But continent-to-continent rocket weapons are not expected to be operational for several years. And for some years after their advent, manned bombers will continue in use.

DEW Line will provide a minimum of two hours warning for the closest North American targets (southern Canada and the industrial and defense complexes for a couple of hundred miles south of the U.S.-Canada border).

MCL will provide one hour warning and confirm preliminary information from DEW Line.

Pinetree will provide information relating to control of interceptor forces of jet fighters.

Together, the three lines will allow the United States' Strategic Air Command bombers time to get into the air, away from threatened bases, and headed out on retaliatory strikes; alert interceptor and anti-aircraft forces; give civil populations warning of impending attack.

The cost of the Mid-Canada Line is estimated at 170 million dollars, borne entirely by the Canadian government.

Construction is by the Trans-Canada Telephone System, comprised of the seven major telephone companies of Canada.

One of the companies, Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, which like its American counterpart maintains large laboratories, is the management contractor. Bell's Alexander G. Lester directs the huge Mid-Canada Line construction project.

The 170-million-dollar estimate for MCL compares with a construction cost for DEW Line of at least 468 millions.

The electronic equipment of MCL will be "much more economical than the scanning radar on DEW Line and Pinetree," but at the same time "will be the most advanced equipment possible," a spokesman said.

A substantial part of MCL will operate automatically and unattended except for occasional inspection and maintenance visits from adjacent main stations. Intricate tell-tale systems are built in to indicate immediate by bell and red light when any piece of machinery at an unmanned station fails. For the first months of operation, however, Bell company technicians will man all stations to check on equipment.

Later, teams of civilians, with two or three military personnel to supervise, will man each main station of the line.

The intermediate stations will transmit data by several radio channels to the main stations. From those points the warning information will be flashed southward to U.S. and Canadian headquarters, including the Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs.

The presence of an airborne enemy over MCL will be shown only as a variation in a line traced automatically with a pen recording on a roll of graph paper—much like the seismograph which records earthquakes of the meteorological instruments used by weather men. This is the essential difference from the manned radar systems, which track the flight of a plane for considerable distances, giving data on height, direction and speed.

Ike's Grandson Angles For Votes

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—There was some speculation today—none of it serious—that 8-year-old David Eisenhower may be angling for Southern support in his grandfather's presidential campaign.

David set off the flurry of political analysis yesterday by appearing at President Eisenhower's nearby farm in a jaunty Confederate forage cap.

But David's grandmother dampened the political significance of the rakish headpiece with a casual remark: "We never know whether he's Confederate or Union. Today he's Confederate."

Brownell Seeks Race Fairness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell says his department will try to see that there is "no partisan aspect" to ending racial segregation in the schools.

He said during a filmed television interview Sunday that "great progress is being made" in integrating the schools. He noted that the Justice Department is now involved in only one such court case—that affecting an appeal from what he called "the courageous action" of the Hoxie, Ark., Board of Education in ordering integration of its schools.

No-Roach Kills Insects Which Resist Poisons

No-Roach, deadly foe of crawling insects, is now the international answer to a housewife's prayer. This modern roach and ant killer is sold in South America, Asia, and Africa, as well as all over the North American continent.

No-Roach is a transparent liquid that is brushed at strategic points around the kitchen and other places where roaches and ants are seen. Crawling insects which cross over the colorless coating become paralyzed and die. There's no need to move dishes and food, or to breathe harmful sprays.

Gaston Johnston, president of the manufacturing company in New York, was recently in Texas and visited in Big Spring. He had just circled the world, and told of his travels through New Zealand, Australia, Bangkok, Singapore, Ceylon, Bombay, Kenya, Johannesburg, and other far away lands. No-Roach is now on sale in these countries and offers certain relief from roaches and ants to those distant homes.

Johnston said that the cockroaches in Asia and Africa are considerably more destructive, more voracious, and larger than those encountered in Texas and the rest of the states. He told of Asiatic housewives having to keep their clothes locked in tin lined containers to protect them from being eaten by roaches.

He said that it was customary for kitchen and dining table legs to be placed in small containers filled with kerosene to blockade roaches and ants, which climb up the legs and prey on the edibles above.

No-Roach renders a simple answer to this problem. Merely brush it around table legs and the insects will not cross the invisible band. Brush No-Roach on door and window sill entries, and the pests become stymied. If they trespass, they pay the penalty of death.

Johnston said that Johannesburg, well planned and modern city of millions, in the Union of South Africa, was the most booming city he visited on his round-the-world trip. He declared Hong Kong was the most beautiful he saw.

No-Roach is on sale at Safeway, Piggy Wiggy, Hull & Phillips, Newsom's, Bud Green's, Cunningham & Phillips, Big Spring Drugs, and your local drug or grocery store in Big Spring.

She Kills The Tough Ones!

Super No-Roach, that is, does the killing. The new product of the Gaston Johnston Corporation is compounded to kill the resistant type of insects, the roaches and other household pests that no longer succumb to conventional insecticides. Super No-Roach is safe to use, easy to apply and forms no messy residue around the house. You merely use a small paint brush to paint it on baseboards and around drains, etc. It forms a colorless coating that kills insects the instant they walk across it.

swept, the tires, battery, and oil checked, and a smile, whether you are just driving through Big Spring or one of their regular customers.

Phillips Firm Is Staging Sale On Seat Covers

Phillips Tire Company, home of the famous US Royal tire in Big Spring, is now in the midst of a sale on seat covers.

Savings of 40 per cent can be realized on all seat covers, which are carefully tailored to fit any make or model car.

Phillips Tire Company has many designs from which to choose. If your car is in need of new covers or you are displeased with the type of covers it now has, contact Ted Phillips or Truett Thomas Phillips Tire Company located at Fourth and Johnson Streets, and ask about prices.

Chances are your orders will be turned out without undue delay. Men long experienced at the trade use the professional approach but turn them out in short order.

The US Royal tires are selling now as they never have before in history, a fact which should reflect that the manufacturers of the world famous casing are now turning out their best tire in history.

The latest US Royal is guaranteed against blowout because it has a built-in safety steel shield, which has been proved against such obstacles as the sharp edges of axes, broken bottles, railroad spikes, etc.

US Royal tires are now made to blend into the color scheme of any car, another reason why designers employed by the makers of the US Royal tire are years ahead in their field.

Phillips Tire Company also maintains a recap department, in which thousands of miles can be added to the life of casings through proper treatment.

Call AM 4-8271 to discuss terms offered by the Phillip Tire Company or, better still, contact personnel at the concern in person.

Ideal, City Laundry And Dry Cleaners Top The List

There are many kinds of laundry and dry cleaning services but there is only one kind that tops the list. That is the very best.

Ideal Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 401 Runnels, and City Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 121 West First, have only one kind of laundry and dry cleaning service for their customers.

If it isn't the best it is not available at these two establishments.

Both feature the unequalled Sanitone service recognized nationally as unbeatable in dry cleaning operations. The Sanitone system means all spots will be removed, all dirt removed, and perspiration gone and no cleaning odor left. Your clothing comes back to you clean and fresh, looking like new.

Another popular feature of the City and the Ideal Dry Cleaners and Laundry organizations is their excellent pickup and delivery service.

Either of these fine establishments is as near to your home as your telephone.

Hundreds of Big Spring residents have discovered the fine work that

TWO GREAT NEW GASOLENES

The Two Best Buys
in the Whole Midwest!

New Milemaster

(highest octane standard compression cars can effectively use)

A new grade of high octane gasolene that will break records for you in power and economy. The most miles for your dollar. The newest and finest fuel for standard compression cars. It outperforms many so-called premium fuels—but priced the same as regular gas.

Choose the grade you need from these two great new gasolenes

If you drive a standard compression car...

... Cities Service "MILEMASTER" ... an important new gasolene grade that replaces our former regular gasolene ... will break records for you in economy and performance.

Cities Service "MILEMASTER" will make your gasolene dollar buy far more power, much more pick-up ... much higher octane for knock-free hill climbing!

This new gasolene is stepped up in everything but price. It's still regular price.

With Cities Service "MILEMASTER," owners of standard compression cars—and that's the big majority—will enjoy the most and smoothest miles per dollar of any gasolene on the market.

If you drive a high compression car...

... and most recent model cars are of this type ... then you'll enjoy a new high in performance by filling the tank with Cities Service New "SUPER 5-D." It is outstanding in the premium class ... the only gasolene that combines all five of these modern features in a single fuel:

1. Extra-high octane.
2. Anti-carbon.
3. Anti-stalling.
4. Anti-rust.
5. Upper-cylinder lubricant.

Cities Service New "SUPER 5-D" tops its field ... in performance and scientific engine protection. For many cars it is far-and-away the most powerful gasolene they can possibly need or effectively use.

New Super 5-D

(extra-high octane... for extra-high compression cars)

A great new gasolene that sets new standards in the premium class. Stepped-up power! Extra-high octane for extra-high compression motors. AND... the only gasolene with all these motor-saving, mileage-stretching features:

1. Extra-High Octane
2. Anti-Carbon
3. Anti-Stalling
4. Anti-Rust
5. Upper-Cylinder Lubricant

Two best gasolene buys in the whole Midwest ... soon at Cities Service Stations
