Twice Ike Looked At Death, Stared It Down

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—A year ago day after tomorrow President Eisenhower looked death in the face and stared it down. Just 258 days later, he rubbed elbows with death once more.

First it was a heart attack that struck in the midst of a work and play vacation in Denver. Then it was leitis, a disease that blocked the intestine and required a major emergency operation June 9.

Drama, suspense and political uncertainty packed the period between the heart seizure and the operation, and the months since.

But today, almost unbelievably to some of those who wanted it most, President Eisenhower is turning for a second term. And you have his own word for it that he's "feeling fine."

Still, the Chief Executive's health is a matter of concern and controversy, even among doctors. It also is a campaign issue, any way you look at it.

That much is clear a year after the heart attack. But there still are medical questions about the President for which there are no fully satisfactory, conclusive answers.

Has he recovered completely from two major illnesses within a year? Is he as well as he was before? If he is re-elected, can the 65-year-old Eisenhower — he'll be 66 next month — carry the great burdens of the presidency through another four years?

Unquestionably, he has bounced back a long way. He looks better now than he has in months — ruddier, not so scrawny and drawn. He's equal to 18 holes of golf a day once more.

His weight is creeping upward again to the point that his doctors are thinking of a caloric hold-down. Just before the heart attack he weighed 176½ pounds. He hit a low of 157½ after his operation. Now he is back to 171.

He still has a scar on his heart and always will have. He still has a surgical scar cut in the intestine. And he still receives an anti-coagulant to keep his blood thin and lessen the possibility of another clot forming in a heart artery.

While he had said he would never get back to as robust health as he once enjoyed, he called himself a "recovered heart patient."

Pen From President

Some of the 29 children of sponsors of the National Field Days near Newton, Iowa, inspect fountain pens bearing President Eisenhower's signature which he passed out to them at the big farm event where he spoke. The President also put one of the pens in use in signing an autograph for the little girl at center.

NO NOMINEES Wide Open Race For District Clerk

Wade Choate, interim appointee as Howard County district clerk, and any others interested in the position will have to start all over.

Between now and Monday night, anyone who may desire to seek the office of district clerk must file at least 104 qualified electors who will sign a petition asserting they want him as an independent candidate for the office.

Such petitions, the law specifies, must have the signatures of at least five per cent of the qualified voters who balloted in the last general election. The petitions, to be valid, must be filed with the county judge within 30 days after the last primary. According to officials at the court house, this period expires at midnight Monday.

Such candidates as may qualify and file their petitions ahead of the deadline will have their names printed on the general election ballot as independent candidates for the office of district clerk.

Since there will be no official Democratic candidate on the ballot, the candidate listed as an independent who is given the plurality of votes in the general election will be declared elected as district clerk for the next two years.

The two years will be the unexpired portion of the four-year term to which the late George Choate was elected.

Most observers had believed that the issue of who was to succeed Choate had been settled. When the veteran court clerk died a few weeks ago, District Judge Charlie Sullivan 118th District Court, as provided by statute appointed

Shafer Bomb Case Expected To Go To Jury This Week

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 22 (AP)—The bombing conspiracy case against San Antonio labor leader Raymond C. Shafer is expected to go to the jury early next week.

Defense Atty. John Peace today told Judge Joe F. Brown he may rest his case Monday, depending on whether he can obtain two additional witnesses.

Judge Brown told Peace and chief prosecutor Anthony Nicholas he would prepare his charge to the jury over the weekend.

The trial goes into its third week, after nine days of testimony from 23 state and 19 defense witnesses.

Nicholas has said he will ask the maximum penalty of 25 years imprisonment and $10,000 in fines for Shafer.

Judge Brown overruled a motion by Peace to have Jack Holcomb of Houston, whom Peace described as an electronics expert, listen to a tape recording state witness Bill Duncan said he made of a motel room conversation between Shafer and Buck Owens, 27-year-old truck driver.

Defense witnesses testifying today were L.C. Holloway, room clerk at the Travis Hotel, Dallas, and W.L. Pylon, secretary and business manager of the teamsters' union Dallas local, and John McCully, public relations director for the Texas Federation of Labor.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Ours has been a busy and rather significant week. On the economic front, the economic scene was dominated by the announcement of its acquisition of Col-Tex Refining Company, including its plant at Colorado City, its pipelines and production; the purchase of Onyx Refining Company at Abilene. On top of that, Coston showed off its $2½ million Reformer to approximately four score industry and trade journal representatives.

Also of considerable import to the community was the announcement that Wayne B. (Red) Smith has been chosen to be the new Chamber of Commerce manager. He will succeed the veteran dean of them all, Jimmie Greene, reporting around Oct. 15, although Greene will not retire until next February. Smith has been Chamber manager at Plainview.

Stanton had an important development, too, in the groundbreaking for its new high school plant. This handsome, functional series of

Dulles Reports 'Solid Gains' In Canal Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles returned from London today to report to President Eisenhower that "solid gains" have been made toward a peaceful solution of the Suez Canal crisis.

U. S. officials said chances of Middle East war had receded as a result of agreements reached at an 18-nation meeting in London this week to set up a Suez Canal Users Assn.

Dulles said members of the new group are in favor of referring the dispute to the U. N.

In a statement on arriving at National Airport, Dulles said the London conferees, representing over 90 per cent of Suez Canal shipping had "kept widely open" the door to a "peaceful and fair solution" of the problem.

He said it is up to Egypt to decide whether to "choose that way."

Dulles' plane landed at 3:04 p.m. Two hours later he was in the White House, reporting on his third emergency trip to London in recent weeks. He remained there about 35 minutes and left without comment.

His main purpose, since Egyptian President Nasser nationalized the canal July 26, has been to deter Britain and France from using force to restore international operation of the canal, and to try for a peaceful settlement with Nasser.

A previous London conference produced a proposition for an international authority to run the canal. Nasser rejected that Sept. 10. This week's meeting resulted in the plan to set up a users association.

Dulles is known to hope that all 18 countries will join, with others possibly coming in later. But he understands that Ethiopia, Iran and Pakistan are under various pressures from Egypt not to join, so that initial membership in the association may total 15 countries.

Dulles emphasized four functions for the new organization:

1. It will "help the vessels of members to get through the canal."
2. The organization will "serve the U. N. in helping it work out a provisional solution."
3. The association is an instrument for "dealing with the serious economic problems that may arise for some of the member nations" if the canal is blocked.
4. The association "will study alternatives which might reduce dependence on the canal." This is a reference to such possibilities as building super-tankers for economical shipment of Middle East oil around Africa, for construction of more pipelines to the Mediterranean shores, and for substituting atomic power for petroleum where possible in Europe.

Nicaragua Chief Is Victim Of Attack

Guard Leaves 2 Towns, Sites Of School Riots

STURGIS, Ky., Sept. 22 (AP)—All National Guard troops were withdrawn today from the two western Kentucky mining-farming communities of Clay and Sturgis, scenes of racial friction the past two weeks.

Adj. Gen. J. J. B. Williams announced the withdrawal. He said no troops would be on a stand-by basis.

Williams said his recommendation for the troop withdrawal was approved by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

"Governor Chandler has reviewed the situation and has approved my recommendation that troops be withdrawn from Clay and Sturgis. The National Guard is now on its way home," Williams said.

The two towns settled down to await federal court action over attempts of Negro students to attend the previously all-white Sturgis High School and Clay Consolidated School.

At the height of demonstrations, 950 guardsmen and 60 state policemen were called to maintain order.

Both schools were boycotted by white students.

Enrollment returned to near normal at the two schools after the boards of education in Union and Webster counties ruled on the basis of an opinion from Atty. Gen. Jo M. Ferguson that the Negro students couldn't attend the white schools.

Somoza Survives 3 Bullet Wounds

GUATEMALA, Sept. 22 (AP)—A gunman tried to kill President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua early today at a reception in Leon, second city of Nicaragua, diplomats here reported. They said the 60-year-old strongman was wounded at least three times but survived the assassination attempt.

The gunman was beaten to death on the spot.

Nicaragua was placed under a state of siege—a modified form of martial law. Save for official messages all communications with Managua, the country's capital, was cut off.

There was no indication that a revolution was under way.

Nicaraguan embassies in Guatemala and other capitals said calm prevailed in the country, where elections are scheduled in November. Somoza's current 6-year presidential term expires in 1957. He is a candidate for re-election. He has been in power in Nicaragua for the past 29 years.

Somoza was in a hospital in Managua. Reports on his condition varied from "serious" to "recovering." Most reports agreed he was wounded in the chest, abdomen and leg.

The man who tried to kill Somoza was identified as Rigoberto Lopez Calero, a Nicaraguan. It was the second reported attempt on Somoza's life within the past two years.

Somoza announced in April 1954 that three persons had been killed in an abortive revolutionary attempt. He said revolutionaries sought to slay him as he was leaving a reception in Managua given by the U. S. Embassy in honor of a visiting American general.

Since then Somoza has been in a feud with President Jose Figueres of Costa Rica, who accused Somoza of giving refuge to rebels who tried to overthrow Figueres last year.

This appeared to be the sequence of events in the shooting as assembled from reports received in capitals of Central America and Latin American republics, as well as Washington.

Somoza and his wife were attending a party at Casa del Obrero, a workers' club in Leon. It is the center of Somoza's Liberal party and the scene of recent meetings at which Somoza's candidacy for re-election was launched.

Some time after midnight the gunman approached Somoza as he was chatting. The President was seated in a chair while others in the party were dancing.

The assailant pulled out his gun and fired. Some reports said he emptied his gun. Others said a lesser number of shots were fired.

Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa said in Washington he was informed from Managua that Somoza was shot at probably four times. One shot broke Somoza's arm, another hit him in the leg and a third pierced his stomach.

HCJC Enrollment Deadline Monday

Final deadline for registration at Howard County Junior College for the autumn semester falls Monday morning.

After that no students can be accepted for credit courses.

Dr. W. A. Hunt said that several students enrolled toward the end of the week, boosting the total registration past 550. More than 250 of these are full-time day students.

The total figure he announced includes only the credit courses, and does not embrace any of the adult non-credit offerings which will shape up by the middle of October with completion of the new industrial arts building.

Tropical Storm Heads For Texas

The Weather Bureau ordered a hurricane watch Saturday night for the upper Texas and Louisiana coasts as tropical storm Flossie grew in intensity.

A 5 p.m. advisory located the sixth tropical storm of the season 450 miles south of New Orleans in the Gulf of Mexico. The advisory said the storm is expected to be a full hurricane by early Sunday.

The advisory by the Weather Bureau at New Orleans said:

"A hurricane watch is advised for the upper Texas and Louisiana coasts, and small craft from Corpus Christi to Appalachicola, Fla., should remain in port."

The report said the storm appears to be intensifying. At 5 p.m. it was reported to be moving northwest about 12 miles per hour with winds from 45-55 miles per hour in heavier squalls extending 350 miles to the east and north of the center.

Continued northwest movement at about 12 miles per hour is expected to continue for the next 18 hours, the Weather Bureau said.

Increasing winds and squalls and rising tides are expected from Galveston to the Appalachicola areas Saturday and Sunday, the report said.

A Houston volunteer radio network was standing by Saturday, ready to go into operation the moment a hurricane warning is received.

Babe Zaharias Losing Strength

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 22 (AP)—Hospital officials today said golfer Babe Zaharias is losing strength in her battle against cancer, but her condition generally remained unchanged.

The daily report on her condition issued by John Sealy Hospital said the famous woman athlete is in "good spirits when awake, but losing ground in strength. She is comfortable and no complications have arisen."

NAACP Pledges 'Fight To Finish'

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Southern leaders of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today pledged a fight to the finish against school segregation in the South.

Ray Wilkins of New York, executive secretary of the NAACP, said a plan "was worked out at the meeting" of 14 state presidents of the association, but he declined to elaborate.

Wilkins also declared the NAACP expects "to continue" its campaign aimed at putting the organization out of business in Texas and said "we will not know what specific action to take until we see the text of the judge's order."

In a prepared statement, Wilkins said:

"They reported unabated support for the program in their respective states."

Wilkins said the actions in Texas, Louisiana and Alabama rest on the assumption that the campaign for public school desegregation will disappear if the NAACP is put out of business.

"This is erroneous," the NAACP official declared. "Negro parents and their children who were threatened by mobs during the past three weeks proved such action will not frighten them in seeking to enjoy that which the law says they are entitled to."

"In the same way injunctions will not deter us. The issue is not one between Texas and the NAACP but between Texas and the United States Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

Representatives at the one-day meeting were from Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware and Missouri.

Reds 'Pledge' Allegiance To U.S., Eschew Violence

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—American Communist leaders today pledged allegiance to the United States and eschewed violence on the road to political and economic change.

They proclaimed internal democracy for their party—provided dissenters limit themselves to talking—and rejected as "liquidationist" the thought that the party be turned into an educational league.

The leaders' views were set forth in a "draft resolution" to be submitted to the Communist 16th National Convention scheduled for next February.

Prepared in the name of the party's 23-man National Committee, the document was said to be the first such statement since 1950. It concededly contained "far-reaching changes" in the party line.

But these changes did not affect the ultimate Communist goal: "Replacement of the system of profits for the few with a system of production owned by the people and operated for the use of all."

Nor were there any changes among the familiar Communist whipping boys: The "giant trusts," "pro-Fascist reaction," "Wall St. forces," "American imperialism," and the "powerful enemies of freedom—the Brownells and Nixons, the Eastlands and McCarthys."

The references were to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.) and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Since 1950 Communists the world over have been shaken by the death and downgrading of Premier Stalin. In the United States, many high-ranking Communists have been jailed as advocates of the forcible overthrow of the U. S. government.

Against this background, the U. S. Communist leaders, as depicted as agents of a foreign government, declared:

"We are American Communists, patriots. Our allegiance is to our own country, the United States. In representing and advancing the fundamental welfare of the working class, we aim always to serve our country's true national interest."

They described their organization as "an American working class political party" seeking ultimate "Socialist reorganization of society in a peaceful, constitutional manner by the majority choice of the American people."

British Diplomacy Urged To Turn Blind Eye To Nina

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—British diplomacy was urged today to turn a blind eye to formally and get rid of the case of Nina Ponomareva and the five hats. At stake was around $182,000 in cash as well as a threat to Soviet-British relations.

Nina is the Russian discus thrower who was accused last month of shoplifting five hats from a London store. The millinery was valued at less than $5. The store has dropped the charges but an arrest warrant was issued for Nina when she failed to show up in court. She is believed to be in residence in the Soviet Embassy.

The Soviet Union has demanded that the charges against Nina be dropped. The government has told the Russians it has no power to order a magistrate to cancel charges.

London newspapers were almost unanimous today in demanding that the government devise some clever even though irregular scheme to get Nina out of the country before additional damage is done to Soviet-British relations.

There was the economic aspect of the case to consider. While the hats cost less than $5, the incident stands to cost British sponsors around $182,000.

Because of Nina Ponomareva, the Soviet Bolshoi Theater ballet company of about 120 artists has said it will not come for a month's season at the Covent Garden Opera House scheduled to open Oct. 3. The opera house estimates a cancellation would cost about $112,000 because there is not time to arrange another suitable attraction.

Promoters of the athletic meet from which Nina withdrew said they lost $70,000.

West Puts Economic Squeeze On Nasser Over Suez Dispute

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Western economic squeeze is forcing President Nasser into a tight corner within two months of his return to the Suez Canal.

The government is putting up its economic storm shutters.

The full impact of U. S., British and French restrictions on Egyptian foreign assets with which the country buys most of its imports is still to come. But already businessmen are flinching at the prospect of full economic sanctions should the dispute over the waterway drag on indefinitely. Nasser's action came so suddenly they had no chance to build up stocks.

Economic observers say that far from filling his treasury coffers with foreign exchange for canal tolls as he expected, Nasser probably is just about breaking even on the operation. Egypt has confirmed it is receiving only about 40 per cent of the canal tolls, the rest being paid into blocked accounts in Paris and London.

This is the picture, according to Western economic experts and as reflected in the Egyptian press:

1. Egypt's unblocked foreign assets have dwindled from a sound nest egg of 226 million Egyptian pounds—$651,203,000—at the end of May to $268,200,000. Economists say this is a slim margin for a long economic haul. The Egyptian government is scrambling to arrange credits in other currencies, especially the Soviet bloc, and to open new markets for her exports, 80 to 85 per cent of which is cotton.
2. Egypt's machinery is Western-made, and Communist countries are unable to meet the need for spare parts.
3. A shortage of pharmaceuticals is developing and an Egyptian mission plans to visit Holland to see what can be done. The supply of insecticides, with which villages are normally sprayed twice annually to help keep down epidemics, is also growing short. The press said locally made insecticides proved successful.
4. Cement is in short supply.
5. Commerce Minister Mehemmed Abu Nossair has announced restriction of luxury imports.
6. Imports in August were valued at $34,440,000 against $43,050,000 the same month last year.

One diplomat commented, "Nasser won't be able to go ahead with his development projects in the present situation without Western capital which is not forthcoming. The upper crust will be getting along without their luxuries and the masses will survive because they are used to a low living standard."

Responsible informants foresaw no food shortages. Egypt is self-sufficient in this respect with the exception of wheat.

One effect has been to accelerate a shift in Egypt's trade pattern to the Soviet bloc.

"The effect is to suck Egypt into the Soviet economic bloc," said one economist. "Prospects of Egypt obtaining consumer goods from the Soviet bloc are not good."

Craftsmen Set For UF Drive

Construction craftsmen of Big Spring have set up plans for conducting the annual United Fund campaign among union locals next month. Representatives of the various crafts met with D. M. McKinney, UF general chairman, and J. B. Wigninton, employees division, to map their program. Left to right are Robert Pearson, Bricklayers Local 35; V. E. J. M. O'Donald and J. H. Lemons, Carpenters Local 1634; W. E. Royall, Painters Local 1431; and Floyd R. (Jack) Jones, Carpenters Local 1634. Kickoff date for employees, general, special and area phases of the UF campaign is Oct. 3. The advance gifts drive starts a week earlier. This year's goal is the same as last year, $77,550 for 19 welfare and youth agencies.

AF Doctors To Medical Meeting

Col. Robert D. Whittington, Base Hospital commander, and Capt. Samuel Gardner, hospital executive officer will attend the third annual Hospital Commander's Conference at James Connally AFB, Waco, Wednesday and Thursday. The conference will follow the annual U. S. Air Force Medical Conference, which is being held at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, this year.

Col. W. H. Lawton, the FTAF Command Surgeon, will represent FTAF at the USAF conference. The new civilian medical care bill, which has been approved by Congress and will become effective Dec. 8 is expected to be the main topic for discussion at this year's conference. Past and future activities of the base hospitals personnel strength, and distribution are a few of the other problems the surgeons will discuss.

Driver Training Course Is Being Planned At Air Base

A Driver Education Course, for Webb airmen, their dependents, and civilian personnel, is being planned for the next two or three months, base ground safety officials announced Saturday.

Tentative plans are to conduct the course during and after duty hours for military personnel and during off-duty hours for dependents and civilian employees. The two-hour classes will be conducted two or three days each week and will last approximately six weeks; the maximum number for each class will be 20 persons.

At present, there is no instructor to conduct such classes, and arrangements are being made by ground safety officials to send a Webb airman to college to complete a 40-academic-hour driver-instructor course.

When the course materializes, regulations require that Webb follow the outline developed by the American Automobile Association to parallel similar high school courses and meet requirements for high school accreditation.

The 38-hour course will consist of 30 hours of proper driving ethics, attitudes and techniques and eight hours of driving instruction and observation in a dual control car.

In addition to receiving a "Trained Driver" car, upon completion of the course, all personnel under the age of 25 may receive 10 per cent automobile insurance discounts. The amount of premium reduction varies according to com-

City To Open Bids, Study Tax Problem

City commissioners will let contracts Tuesday night for police department uniforms and for reflooring the city auditorium floor. Fourth Street tax valuations also will be discussed.

The commission will meet for its regular bi-weekly session at the city hall at 8:15 p.m. The new police uniforms will be brown waist-type jackets and shirts, with tan trousers. Bids for the uniforms will be accepted until Monday afternoon, and then the commission will let the contract at its Tuesday meeting.

Local clothiers and the J. B. Battle Uniform Company of Oklahoma City are expected to submit estimates.

Reflooring of the auditorium will also be up to bidders. The work was requested by the Concert Association at the last meeting of the commission Sept. 11.

To be refloored are the aisles, stairways and the lobby behind the balcony. The Concert Association asked that this work be done before its opening performance Nov. 15.

Two property owners on Fourth Street confronted the commission Sept. 11 about increases in their taxes. The city group then authorized Perry Johnson, tax assessor, to make a study of increases on the street and report Tuesday night.

The board of equalization earlier hiked valuations almost to a level with Third Street, the other part of Hwy. 80 through Big Spring.

Commissioners will officially set the tax rate for this year's assessments. This will be in the form of an ordinance. The city charter requires that the rate be set by ordinance.

The rate will be the same as last year, $2.05. At their Sept. 11 meeting, commissioners voted informally on that figure in calling for the ordinance to be presented this week.

Real Estate Dealers Meet

Big Spring real estate dealers at a meeting Friday drafted plans for regular meetings of their association. Initial meeting is set for Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The group at its Friday session also discussed at length the question of multiple real estate listings, but did not reach an agreement on what is to be done with this proposal.

The meeting was at noon in the Howard House. It was called primarily to pay honor to Grover Tunnell, Tyler, state president of the Texas Real Estate Association of which the local organization is an affiliate. Also present was Ervin Luetke, Austin, who is executive secretary of the state association.

Jack Cook, president of the Big Spring association, presided at the luncheon. Tunnell and Luetke spoke briefly. The meeting was informal and no program was presented.

It was the first official visit of the state president with the local association. Six of the local group's 12 members were in attendance. There were two visiting realtors from Lubbock — Joe Chapman and A. R. Osborn.

First Street was opened from San Antonio to Presidio as a flood channel to move water from low land in that area to the railroad trestle recently built. City crews cut down First Street about two feet. The street was dedicated but is not used.

Arrival Of Autumn Sets Off Scattered Rain Prophecies

You may have missed noticing it, but be advised that fall, 1956 model, officially bowed into Big Spring at exactly 7:36 p.m. Saturday. This is news because a spot check here and there around town on Saturday indicated considerable confusion over the matter prevailed. Some amateur weather observers and sidewalk experts who insisted they knew where they spoke, insisted for the most part that autumn made its debut on Friday. The sample sandstorm which swept in was regarded by a goodly number of these prognosticators as the official announcement fall made of her entrance. According to the Texas Almanac, however, the correct time for the welcoming of the harvest season of the year was, as stated, 7:36 p.m. (Texas time) Saturday. A personal investigation of prevailing conditions as of that hour failed to disclose any unusual phenomena to make the occasion outstanding. On the contrary, it was very much like 7:36 p.m. has been every evening for some time. Amateurs, and a few who pretend to be semi-professional, in the field of meteorology were frank to predict that with the beginning of fall, there will be marked changes in the weather conditions. Some even made wild predictions of rain — which prophecies were for the most part charged off as mere wishful thinking.

James H. Meek Gets Release From Navy

James Hollis Meek, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Meek, 707 Washington, has arrived home after completing a four-year hitch in the Navy. He was discharged from the Navy at Norfolk, Va., after serving on the destroyer Haysworth. Meek was a Big Spring High School senior when he enlisted in the Navy and completed his high school work while in the service.

Suspect Arrested In Oregon Town

Sheriff Jess Slaughter's office said Saturday that a search for Henry W. Storms, wanted here to answer charges of child desertion, has come to an end. The office has been advised that Storms is being held in the jail at Roseburg, Ore. The sheriff's office file shows a sizable sheaf of copies of letters and telegrams to a number of communities on the West Coast where efforts to apprehend the fugitive were carried out. It is planned, it was said, to seek extradition of Storms and return him to Big Spring to face trial.

Pope Puts Blessing On Space Travel

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII gave his blessing today to mankind's efforts to conquer outer space. "The more we explore into outer space, the nearer we come to the great idea of one family under the Mother-Father God," the Roman Catholic pontiff told delegates to the 7th International Astronautical Federation meeting. "God has no intention of setting a limit to the efforts of man to conquer space." The 400 delegates to the 22-nation meeting were received by the Pope at his summer residence here.

Flood Control Waterway

The T&P opened a trestle beneath its tracks in the west part of Big Spring as part of a flood-control plan. The water is carried through the trestle to Beal's Creek.

WEST BIG SPRING

Drainage Project Needs Rain Test

The city, with the help of T&P, has completed an unusual project for this dry area — a flood-control lane.

Now all the city needs is a hard rain to prove or spoil its work. Previously, when the city had a flash flood or large, fast-falling rain, water from the west part of town flowed down north-south streets across Third and into the low area south of the railroad.

There was only one small culvert beneath the railroad tracks, about where Benton would intersect. After the water got north of the railroad, it was carried away at a good rate in Beal's Creek. But with only the one water outlet under the tracks, the water stacked up in the low area south of the railroad and even backed up into houses in the area.

In an effort to alter the situation, the city asked T&P to construct a trestle in the low area. Discussion with the railroad has been under way for about a year, Herbert Whitney, city manager, said. Recently the trestle was built, and the city started its work.

The trestle is slightly east of where San Antonio would cross the track. The city ditched what would be First Street from San Antonio to Presidio and on to the trestle. The street was already dedicated but had not been opened because there was no need of it.

The channel was cut about two feet deep — about all that was possible because of level of the creek bed on the other side of the railroad.

The four streets connecting, San Antonio, San Jacinto, Galveston, and Presidio, were graded downward to First to create a better drain into the channel.

Peaks Of Atlantis May Jut Over Ocean

By RAMON COFFMAN
Now and then I receive a letter which refers to Atlantis. The latest of these came from Mr. J. B. Hood, who writes:

Was there ever such a continent as Atlantis, or is it just a fable? If there was such a body of land, where was it located? At the western end of the Mediterranean Sea is Mount Atlas, which was named for the giant Atlas in Greek mythology. "Atlas" was used in forming "Atlantis," the name of an ocean, also "Atlantis," a large island in an ancient legend.

Plato, a Greek thinker, spoke of Atlantis as the place where an ideal government had existed. Atlantis is supposed to have sunk below the ocean surface. All of it (we are told) went under water except for the tips of a few mountain peaks.

The tale was believed by some persons during the Middle Ages in Europe. To this day there are persons who declare that Atlantis really existed.

A big island in the Atlantic Ocean may have sunk, but we are without proof of such an event. No great objects of art or architecture have been brought up from the bottom of the Atlantic, or from any other ocean.

Scholars, in general, regard the story of Atlantis as a myth. It is believed that Plato used Atlantis simply as a convenient name for his ideal country.

The Canary Islands and the Azores have been suggested as peaks of mountains which were left above the ocean surface after the sinking of Atlantis.

Kids' Day Arrangements To Be Completed By Thursday

Bob Heine, general chairman of the committee on arrangements for the observation in Big Spring of National Kids' Day on Sept. 29, said Saturday that all details will be out of the way by Thursday. Thursday noon, a complete report on the program planned for the day will be announced to the Kiwanis Club, sponsor, in cooperation with Webb Air Force Base, of the day.

He said that postponement from Sept. 22 to Sept. 29 has given his committee badly needed time to round out their plans. As a result, he expects the celebration to be even bigger and better than would have been the case had the original date been kept.

Webb Air Force Base is cooperating 100 per cent, he reported, in its part of the activities. Youngsters of the city will be taken to the base and be provided opportunities to visit many of its installations. Static displays of jet equipment will be on hand. A helicopter is to give a special flight demonstration for the youngsters. There will be movies screened in one of the hangars and other special features.

The Webb Air Force Base visit is the afternoon portion of the full day's program.

During the forenoon, plans for a free movie for all youngsters are being worked out. In the evening, a big rally will be staged at the football stadium. There will be speeches, music, special features, selection and coronation of a Kids' Day Queen. A football game will conclude the evening's activities.

Kids' Day is a national event sponsored by Kiwanis International and the U. S. Air Force.

Its object is to pay tribute to the nation's youngsters. Kiwanis clubs across the nation join in its celebration.

SKETCH OF NEW HEALTH CENTER $5,000,000 project starts Wednesday

Groundbreaking Set For State Health Dept. Plant

AUSTIN—Groundbreaking ceremonies signaling the beginning of the first of two phases of construction on the new $5 million State Health Department laboratory and administration buildings will be held here at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle predicted the ceremonies would "inaugurate a bright new era of public health in Texas."

Eight complete buildings and one partially completed building are included in the first phase of construction. Contracts totaling $3,006,655.95 were awarded Aug. 29. Included are building costs, architects fees, equipment and improvements. Of that amount, $1,134,000 is federal funds; the balance represents state appropriations.

Completion of the second phase, construction of which will begin at an unspecified date, will call for state appropriations totaling $2,000,000, Dr. Hole said.

Building improvements on the 31.11 acre site, located directly behind the State School for the Blind, will cover approximately 15 acres. Space will be provided for parking approximately 650 cars. The remaining ground will be devoted to sheep enclosures and animal houses, used for research and laboratory testing procedures.

Construction on the first phase is scheduled for completion by August of 1956. When finished, the health agency "will be housed in one of the most modern and best equipped facilities of its type in the nation," Dr. Hole said.

Housed within the first phase structures will be complete laboratory facilities, including areas devoted to biologicals production, virus and rickettsial studies, medical bacteriology, sanitary bacteriology, chemistry, parasitology, serology, entomology, tetanus toxoid production, general services, shipping and receiving, animal quarters, and laboratory administration. Initial construction will also include an auditorium, offices for the Merit System Council and the central administration portion of the health agency, a first aid station, public health museum, and offices of the Food and Drug, Bedding and Dental Health Divisions, representing a total of 144,556 square feet.

Barracks Work Nearly Complete

The $94,000 barracks renovation project, which started at Webb AFB early in June, is nearing completion.

Workers of the Branch Roofing Co., Midland, are working on the last three of the 32 barracks, which were re-faced with asbestos shingles. In several pastel colors as well as white, the new surfaces break the monotonous appearance of old style color schemes.

The interior painting and asphalt flooring of building T-48 (the wing personnel office) by T. E. Shelburne and Sons Inc., Snyder, also is scheduled for completion soon. This project is costing $7,646.

MOTIVE IS REVENGE

O'Keefe Tells Fascinating Tale Of Fantastic Robbery

BOSTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—This is the story of the million-dollar Brink's robbery of 1950 as told by an admitted participant.

This week, on the seventh floor of the Suffolk County courthouse in downtown Boston, Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe has been telling Superior Court Judge Felix Forte and a 14-man jury what he swears is the true story of how the nation's biggest cash holdup—$1,219,000—was conceived, planned and carried out.

O'Keefe, who has been arrested some 70 times in his 48 years, speaks softly, possesses a surprising vocabulary, most of the time shows complete self-possession. Even when labeled "blief" and "robber" he lets the epithets drop without protest.

If the jury believes O'Keefe, his testimony could send the eight defendants to prison for life. For O'Keefe, to this point, appears to be the prosecution's key witness, although other state witnesses are still to be heard. His motivation is revenge. He says he was entitled to $100,000 of the loot but was cheated of all but five thousand.

These eight men, all from Boston or surrounding communities, are the men who sit in the dock leveling cold stares at O'Keefe: Joseph F. McGinnis, 53; Henry Baker, 50; Thomas F. Richardson, 49; Anthony Pino, 48; Michael V. Geagan, 47; James I. Faherty, 45; John Adolph Maffie, 45, and Vincent J. Costa, 42. Pino and Costa are brothers-in-law.

In addition, two other men besides O'Keefe were indicted for the crime but died before trial. Their names, Joseph Banfield, 45, and Stanley Gusciora, 36, figure in the story.

Here now, in O'Keefe's own words on the witness stand, is his story of the robbery, omitting questions and leaving out extraneous, repetitious matter:

The beginning of the story is in November or December of 1947—more than two years before the masked band invaded Brink's North End office on Jan. 17, 1950.

Pino, he said, "called me and asked me would I come to meet him. He asked me would I be interested in a score, a robbery. He said it was a big robbery, 'probably 30 or 40 payrolls at one time.' So I told him I'd have to know more about it."

"I met him (in early 1948) in South Boston. We talked in his car. He told me that Vinnie (Geagan), Sandy (Richardson), Jimmy (Faherty) and Jazz (Maffie) would be on the score. So he asked me would I do a little work on it, and I said I would. I'd go along with those people."

"I met with Pino and a couple of the others (within a week or so) at his house and we discussed the proposal. Pino asked me and Gus would we go into the (Chamber of Commerce) building at Federal Street (where Brink's office then was) in the early morning to observe the actions of Brink's men."

"In company with Gusciora, I went to the building several times, familiarized myself with the building in daytime... also the early morning to see the movements of Brink's men."

In early 1948, O'Keefe said, he went to Pino's home with Gusciora and Costa present.

"I told Pino I more or less knew the layout of the ground floor, and Gusciora also knew it. I asked Tony what we were going to wear there, and he said he had some Army discards, foul weather gear, and you could cover your whole torso with it, just part of your face showing."

"Eventually (in the fall) I went to Prince Street (Brink's new location) with Gus, Costa and Pino. We looked around to determine how we could get into the Brink's area. (O'Keefe said with an ice-pick and a piece of celluloid, they unlocked two doors and roamed Brink's.)"

"We found where the vault was. We went all over the vault room and also into what turned out to be the dispatcher's office or the turret room. And subsequently we went to the other parts of the building. We looked at everything. We looked at papers and we went through desks."

That was the first of many explorations of Brink's, all undetected. O'Keefe estimated he prowled there at night "at least" 27 times.

At a meeting of all 11 at Pino's house in November, 1948, O'Keefe said, roles were assigned. Banfield was to drive the truck; Costa would drive a passenger car to impede pursuit, McGinnis would be responsible for destruction of everything used in the holdup, including truck and guns.

"He was to remain strictly away from us. In the event anybody got in trouble because of this thing he would be able to help them."

"Then came the 'dry runs'—four preceding the robbery night. Only they were not dry runs at all, as O'Keefe told the story. He said the gang was fully prepared on each occasion to commit the robbery if conditions were right. They were not until Jan. 17."

"Costa was to go to the roof (the roof of a tenement behind Brink's) and observe whether or not the vault was open and relay a signal to us. Costa was told he was to flash a hand flashlight. That meant the vault would be open."

"I was to go ahead with the keys. Gusciora was to be next to me and then Maffie, Geagan,

Richardson, Baker and Faherty." Banfield was to drive the truck and Pino was to stay with him, O'Keefe said. And Costa was to come down from the roof and go to the passenger car to be ready to impede any traffic on the street. McGinnis was to stay out of it."

O'Keefe said the canvas-covered truck hiding the gunmen made its first run during the first week of January, 1950. There was a second run. And a third on Thursday night, Jan. 12. A fourth on Monday night, Jan. 16.

On the following night, said O'Keefe dispassionately, "We were almost directly across the playground when we received the signal from Costa on the roof, and we went in."

That was it.

Not five months after the robbery, O'Keefe was arrested in Bradford County, Pa., on a gun carrying charge. He besought his old associates to post bail for him and provide funds for his defense. Pino gave him $2,500 but the others were deaf, he said.

Expansion Of Pipeline Planned

HOUSTON (AP)—A proposed 166 million dollar expansion program which would boost the Texas-to-New England natural gas line's capacity to nearly 2 1/2 billion cubic feet daily was announced yesterday by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co.

The firm filed an application in Washington seeking Federal Power Commission approval of a construction program which would link Louisiana tidelands gas reserves with the 2,200-mile transmission system.

Included would be 1,085 miles of new pipeline, six new compressor stations, expansion of seven existing stations, and a new triple-pipeline underwater crossing of the Mississippi.

Gardiner Symonds, president of Tennessee Gas Transmission, said a 557-mile, 30-inch line would begin in the Mississippi Delta area south of New Orleans and extend through Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee to the company's main system at Portland, Tenn.

Ever thought of the convenience of a BEDROOM TELEPHONE?

You've probably wished dozens of times that you had a telephone in the bedroom. Many people have felt the same need at one time or another. That's why so many of them are having an extension telephone installed in the bedroom... where it's handy for those late-at-night calls, stops those "blind" telephone answering trips in the dead of night.

You'll be surprised at how extension service adds up in terms of convenience and pleasure. You'll be surprised, too, at how little it costs. And you can put in an extension telephone anywhere in the house, wherever it serves your family best.

Ike Survives 2 Bouts With Death

by the time he announced last Feb. 29 that he would try for a second term. By May 31 he was saying the only way he knew he had had a heart seizure was "because the doctors keep reminding me of it."

But then almost immediately there was that intestinal obstruction and the emergency operation at Walter Reed Hospital here. Again he made a comeback.

His first news conference after the operation, on Aug. 1, brought word that he was feeling good, though not as well as before the heart attack, and was improving daily. To a question whether he had any reservations or doubts as to his ability to carry on as Chief Executive another four years, he replied: "Well, so far as I know, my answer is I have no doubts."

And then there was the big campaign kickoff rally at his Gettysburg farm Sept. 12, where Eisenhower said he wanted to answer a question many people had been putting to him. The answer: "Ladies and gentlemen, I feel fine."

He took the opportunity in his first nationwide TV-radio address of the re-election campaign last Wednesday night to say:

"I am confident of my own physical strength to meet all the responsibilities of the presidency, today and in the years just ahead. If I were not convinced, I would never have accepted renomination to this office."

"I hope this conviction — this peace of mind — may bring assurance to many others, as I stand ready to serve as your president for another four years, if this be your will."

The President also plans another physical check up, probably next month, in advance of the election. And he has said and repeated that if it ever developed that he could not perform the duties of the presidency, he would let the people know.

That's the President's own story of his condition, as related on public occasions.

Right from the start, the doctors who attended him in both illnesses, stepped forward with optimistic statements. A day after the heart attack, the chief consultant on the case, Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, was saying a second term for the Chief Executive was "quite conceivable." Two weeks before Eisenhower announced his decision to try for one, White and the other physicians reported that "hazards and uncertainties" lay ahead but they believed the medical chances were that the President "should be able to carry on an active life satisfactorily for another 5 to 10 years."

Only hours after performing the ileitis operation, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton declared the attending doctors felt the surgery had improved the President's life expectancy. The president of the American Medical Assn., Dr. Elmer Hess, said the operation should bring about "rapid and complete recovery."

Eight days later, the discoverer of ileitis, Dr. Beryl C. Crohn of Philadelphia, said such operations "are usually immediately successful" and there "should not be any recurrence" in Eisenhower's case.

But then there are doctors who say they doubt Eisenhower will live through another term. And some of them contend ileitis recurs frequently, regardless of operations and regardless of age.

Take Dr. David B. Rutstein, a vice president of the American Heart Assn. and head of Harvard Medical School's department of preventive medicine.

Writing in Atlantic Monthly magazine, Rutstein said that whereas news bulletins and news conferences "gave the appearance of a full disclosure of all pertinent medical information," actually "the public was not informed of the published scientific evidence" about survival prospects of heart patients. He said the public wasn't told of three researchers he said showed only 50 per cent of heart attack victims lived five more years.

Rutstein disclaimed too that persons of 65 "do not normally have recurrences of ileitis." Eisenhower had told reporters his doctors said there were only four other known cases of ileitis among persons of 65 and there was no recurrence in any of them.

Rutstein said that "at all ages where enough cases have been collected for analysis . . . age has had no effect on the recurrence rate." Speaking of Eisenhower's physicians, he said:

"At no time, did they give any indication that ileitis is a chronic disease with a rate of recurrence varying between one-third and two-thirds of those on whom operation is performed, depending on the state of the disease, the type of surgery and the duration of the follow-up. Neither did they indicate that the majority of recurrences comes within the first year after operation. Nor was there any mention of the medical fact that difficulty might be anticipated in maintaining the president's nutrition and weight, or the further likelihood of future periods of disability . . ."

Oscar T. Blagrove, 52, former Ackery resident, died Friday at 5 p.m. in Brownwood. He had been ill for the past six years.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. today at the Nalley-Pickel Chapel with Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Blagrove was born Jan. 14, 1904, in Leon County and until ill health prevented he worked with a dredging concern out of Galveston. He held membership in the Rocky Creek Baptist Church near Brownwood.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. O. T. Blagrove; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Blagrove, Ackery; three sisters, Mrs. C. C. Shortes, Big Spring, Mrs. W. G. Froman, Ackery, Miss Velma Blagrove, Big Spring; and two brothers, Arthur Blagrove and Floyd Blagrove, both of Ackery.

Funeralbearers will be Tom Castle, meepkemp, J. T. Cook, Joe Joel Kemper, J. T. Cook, Joe Froman, Owell Shortes, Velah Kemper.

Big Spring Youths Join Fraternities

Three young people from Big Spring are among those pledging sororities and fraternities at Texas Christian University.

Carolyn Miller pledged Zeta Tau Alpha; Elizabeth A. Jones pledged Kappa Alpha Theta; and Wade B. Simpson pledged Kappa Sigma.

Among other West Texas pledgers were George F. (Sittie) Harrell, Snyder, Chi Omega; Esther Ann Bird, Sterling City, Zeta Tau Alpha; Carolyn Reed, Andrews, Phi Beta Phi; Mary Alice Dammann, Sweetwater, Alpha Delta Phi; Joyce Nell Bishop, Sweetwater, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Bruce Monroe and Buddy Whitley, Midland, and James Kenneth White, Odessa, Sigma Chi; J. Taylor Evans, Sunny Henderson, Odessa, Phi Delta Theta; Tommy Cariker, Odessa, and Tommy McClatchy, Snyder, Kappa Sigma; Sandy McSpadden, Colorado City, Delta Tau Delta.

187,000 Acres Of Range Surveyed

Range surveys on the Kirby Miller ranch nine miles north of Big Spring have brought to 187,000 acres the range surveys in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District this year.

Among new farmer cooperators with the district are Bob Flowers, Big Spring; Joe Hill, Odell Buchanan, Howard Reid, Coahoma, and H. A. Hayes, whose ranch is near Moss Creek south of Midway school.

One other soil development program reported by the district is a 40-acre pea crop on the F. R. Stamps farm three miles north of Coahoma.

Phone Call Brings Cops As Airmen Leave Theft Scene

City policemen, with the aid of a citizen, caught three Webb airmen as they attempted to burglarize a service station early Saturday morning.

Later Saturday, one of the three gave police and district attorney officials a statement admitting the attempted breakin. The trio, one 18 and the other two 21 years old, tried to enter Pope Magnolia Service Station, 1061 W. 3rd.

J. C. Armistead saw the three get out of their car at the station about 2 a.m. so he called the police. Police officials said one of the boys, wearing a glove, broke a window pane and planned to reach in and open the window.

But in knocking out the pane,

NROTC Tests Slated Dec. 8 At High School

The 11th annual national competitive examinations for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps will be given to interested high school seniors on Dec. 8, Chief R. E. LaFon, Navy recruiter in Big Spring, announced Saturday.

Application forms are available now and must be completed before Nov. 17 for consideration.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for young men to earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $60 for four years.

During summer he goes on training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four-year college course, he is commissioned in the regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the Navy's fleet. Those who apply and can qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

High school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may apply for the aptitude tests. Those who qualify will be given a rigid physical exam early in 1957. From the pool of those passing, 200 will be selected to begin training next September. Application forms are available at all high schools and colleges or at the recruiting station in the post office here.

Lengthy Criminal Docket Is Slated For County Court

Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, is drawing up a lengthy docket of criminal cases which he hopes to try at the pending criminal jury docket scheduled tentatively to open on Oct. 1 in Howard County Court.

Hooser said that there are many cases on his docket and that he has hopes of reducing the number materially at the proposed jury session.

Judge R. H. Weaver has said he will try at least two weeks of continuous jury trials of criminal cases and that the time might be extended to an extra week if such an extension is needed.

75 Respiratory Infections Listed

Upper respiratory trouble bothered the largest group of persons in the county last week, with 75 cases being reported.

The weekly report from the city-county health unit showed that 51 persons were affected with gastroenteritis, and 23 with diarrhea. Twenty persons reported cases of influenza and 18 had pneumonia. Streptococcal cases numbered 17.

Nine cases of trenchmouth, five each of roseola and impetigo, two of scabies, and one each of measles and chickenpox completed the report.

Malone Services Set Here Today

Last rites will be said at 3 p.m. today for Tom Malone, 73, retired T&P engineer who died here Thursday after a long illness. Services were delayed pending the arrival of one of his sons, Mack Austin, pilot for an airline company.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, his pastor, will officiate and burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Cemetery. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Phillip Smith, Los Angeles; three sons, Walter Malone, Albuquerque, N. M.; Louis Malone, El Paso, and Mack Austin, Dallas.

ABC Learns Of Logistics Problems

Lt. Col. A. R. Holman newly assigned officer at Webb Air Force Base, gave members of the American Business Club an insight on the financial and logistics problems of a facility such as Webb.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Phillip Smith, Los Angeles; three sons, Walter Malone, Albuquerque, N. M.; Louis Malone, El Paso, and Mack Austin, Dallas.

The county Democratic committee interviewed applicants on Tuesday and then came up with a nomination for Wade Choate, who had been appointed by the commissioners court to fill out the unexpired term of his late uncle, George Choate. But an unofficial opinion from the attorney general's office indicated that this was open to question, so now one or more candidates may be seeking places on the ballot via the petition route.

Response to Appeals for Civil Defense Volunteers

Response to appeals for Civil Defense volunteers were fair with nearly 400 people on the dotted line. This lacked a lot of being 2,000, the goal set up in the original announcement, although no one expected that many really. But 400 persons, if well trained, would do a whole of a good job.

At Austin the Texas Highway Commission took under advisement a proposal by a delegation from Big Spring that the state spend half a million dollars or so on improvement of FM 700 as a loop from U.S. 80 to U.S. 87 south of town. Howard County representatives also asked that the road from the Big Spring-Snyder highway past Lake J. B. Thomas be paved.

Camp Oil Company No. 1 Emma Blue completed as a Canyon Reef discovery in southeastern Dawson County, and immediately another location was staked in the area. Meanwhile, leasing has become active across northern Howard County, possibly in connection with some recent Spraberry showings.

Tax Conference Leaders

Planners for the fourth annual Texas Tech Tax Conference, to be held Oct. 15-17, are Nell G. Hilliard, Big Spring, conference vice president; Haskell G. Taylor, Lubbock, secretary-treasurer; and J. B. Cassel, Lubbock, president. Fourteen tax specialists will interpret latest regulations in the U. S. Internal Revenue Code.

Much Of Martin Cotton Harvested

STANTON — Cotton picking is from 30 to 40 per cent finished in south Martin County, according to ginners at Stanton and Courtney.

Yesterday at noon the total ginnings at the two places had reached 3,548 bales.

Since the cotton was irrigated, since the dryland crops were made in this area. About the only dryland cotton worth gathering is in the extreme northern part of the county near Three Leagues.

Most of the cotton is grading higher than expected. At one gin where 205 grade cards had just been received, 65 bales had been placed as good middling, 133 strict middling and two as middling. Worm damage was much lighter than expected, as very few bales have been graded down because of worm spotting.

The staple has been normal for this type of cotton, and has been averaging about one and one-sixteenth inches in length. One ginner said this was just a little shorter than the cotton grown last year.

Several farmers were a little disappointed with the new blight resistant cotton until they started picking it. It makes a much shorter stalk than the variety grown last year, but now seems to be yielding about the same as last year. One advantage to it is that very little annual leaf spot was found this season, whereas the 1955 crop was cut short by as much as a quarter bale to the acre.

The area's total will be under that of last year, said one of the ginners, Earl Douglas.

"The irrigated cotton will make about the same as in 1955," he said, "but there won't be any dryland bales. Last year we ginned quite a lot of dryland cotton."

Both farmers and ginners say that if fair weather continues, the cotton harvest will be finished much earlier than last year.

J. A. Wimberly Dies At Friona

Funeral will be held at 2:30 p.m. today in Friona for J. Alfred Wimberly, father of Mrs. Opal Adair of Big Spring.

Mrs. Adair, who had been at her father's bedside before returning here for her daughter, Sally, was en route to Friona at the time of his death. Mr. Wimberly had been ill for several months.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Carlisle, N.M.; Mrs. Carl Reece, Amarillo, Mrs. George Brock, Friona and Mrs. Adair.

Bavaria Begins Big Beer Binge

MUNICH, Germany, Sept. 22 (AP)—Bavaria started a 15-day beer-drinking binge at noon today. As a 12-gun salute boomed over the city, they rolled out the beer barrel for Mayor Thomas Wimmer to open and start the traditional welcome to the harvest season. Before the celebration is over, thousands of barrels will be drained.

Five million visitors are expected in the Bavarian capital to drink beer, dance, drink beer, eat bratwurst and drink beer.

In Temple Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henson left Big Spring Saturday for Temple where her mother, Mrs. J. A. Wright, of Van Horn, is in the Scott & White Hospital. Mrs. Wright, a former resident of Big Spring, is to undergo surgery Monday morning.

FHA Will Close

The Farmers Home Administration office, Room 25 in the basement of the post office building will be closed all day Tuesday for an area work organization meeting which all employees will attend.

CLERK

Wade Choate, 24-year-old Howard County Junior College student, to serve as interim clerk until the general election.

It was assumed that in such a situation, the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee was empowered to select a man as the party candidate and have his name certified on the general election ballot. This was done and young Choate was selected from a field of seven applicants who appealed to the committee for endorsement.

On Thursday of last week, while Choate was filling out required papers relative to his candidacy, he found some inquiries which puzzled him. He conferred with Harvey Hooser, county attorney.

They decided that there was confusion indicated and decided to refer the matter to the attorney general. On the telephone, the attorney general said that the procedure which had been followed in the nomination of Choate was not proper. A written opinion was promised.

Hooser received the written "unofficial" opinion from the attorney general's office Saturday morning. While this was not an official ruling by that office, it set forth, as the personal views of the compiler, the essential conditions specified above.

It was the impression of the attorney general's office that the county Democratic committee was not empowered to make a nomination for an office under the peculiar conditions which were involved in the Howard County case.

Apparently, this is the first instance where such a question has arisen. George Choate was elected at the last general election to a four-year term — a change from the old two-year schedule. There were provisions established dealing with other vacancies which might arise due to a lack of a candidate for an office or because the chosen candidate had resigned or had died, but not in the case of an official serving a four-year term.

It was understood that several of the candidates who had made a bid before the executive committee Tuesday night were circulating petitions Saturday in a desperate effort to obtain the required signatures ahead of the deadline Monday midnight.

Whoever is elected as an independent will serve out the balance of the present term which was said to be around two years and two months.

Hooser said that in the absence of an official opinion from the attorney general but because of the fundamental facts set up in the letter he received, he had advised all who are interested in the matter of the award and the accompanying ribbon in the near future.

Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman, said Saturday that members of the committee preferred originally that the district clerk be chosen at the polls by voters of Howard County. He said the committee met to choose a party nominee because members believed that was their responsibility under the law. The committee acted on the basis of the best legal advice available locally, he said.

No Agenda Ready For Commissioners

R. H. Weaver, county judge, was out of town Saturday and no other official was able to say what business might be brought before the Commissioners Court when it meets on Monday.

Weaver has been in Austin with a group of Big Spring residents, petitioning the State Highway Commission to develop FM 700 as a road to serve heavy traffic to and from the Webb Air Force Base.

The state commission promised to take the proposal under advisement and to announce its decision later.

Weaver will probably report to the commissioners on the road project at the Monday meeting.

Apparently what business will be presented will be routine.

Plato's Republic To Be Discussed

Plato's Republic (Books VI-VII) is the subject for the Great Books discussion at 8 p.m. Monday, in Room 211 of the Ferriman Building.

The Plato series is the second of 16 scheduled by the Great Books Foundation, Chicago, and sponsored by Howard County Junior College for the fourth year in Big Spring.

Works of Aristophanes, Aristotle, Euclid, Marcus Aurelius and Seneca Empiricus are listed for discussion this fall.

Cub Pack Meet Set For Monday

Cub Pack No. 29, sponsored by Couden Petroleum Corp., will hold its monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

According to Jack Alexander, Cub master, the program is to consist of skits by various dens, and the presentation of awards. Several new Bobcats will be inducted into the pack. Alexander said all parents are urged to attend the pack meeting.

Drill Tower Plans Receive Approval

Puckett and French, architects, went to work Friday on final drawings of the proposed fire department drill tower.

The city announced that preliminary plans for the structure received approval by the State Fire Insurance Commission, with only minor changes recommended.

The principal change was on location of openings to the basement, as water outlets and inlets. All plans must be sanctioned by the Commission before the tower can be built.

When final plans are drawn up by Puckett and French, the city commission before the tower can be built.

The concrete and steel structure will be four stories and have a basement. Only the first story will be brick enclosed; the remainder will be a skeleton. Both outside and inside stairs will be added.

It will be constructed on city property in Birdwell Park. Of the fire department's bonds, $15,000 was slated for construction of the tower. Three per cent credit on the city's key rate is given for having a tower.

On Planning Panel

Dr. T. C. Tinkham, Big Spring, has been named on the planning committee of the Texas State Chiropatric Association. His appointment was announced by Dr. G. M. Brassard, Beaumont, state president.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

I got over into Midland County yesterday and saw a real doer. It is even drier and more barren than Howard, if that is possible. Midland County does have some good irrigated cotton, though the yield is somewhat lighter than last year.

Most farmers overstretched their irrigation water and got caught in wet weather of July and August to burn the crops. There are practically no dryland crops, and some of the fields were not even planted.

Ranching has been at standstill for the last year. Not long ago County Agent Charley Green estimated that the county had only 10 per cent as many cattle as normal.

Grass is almost completely gone in most sections; however, there is some left in the north part of the county. Ranchers, including Marion Flynn and George Glass, still have small herds on their pastures.

The little irrigation wells, such as the ones being drilled in Howard County, may be more trouble than they are worth, says Ted Fields. He has a small one on his farm southwest of Big Spring, but says it won't water enough ground to offset the labor and expense of operating it.

He was fortunate in selling some water to oil drilling companies, but cropwise it hasn't proved a profitable investment.

Fields made a little dryland cotton, but the pickers are having to go over a lot of acres to get a bale. He had gathered nine bales Friday, and says it is averaging about a bale to every 10 to 12 acres.

Cotton in the Vincent community won't make as much as farmers thought it would a month or so ago. Some of it looked good at that time, but has been burning ever since.

Elbert Long did all right with a three-acre irrigation patch, which he watered from a pasture tank. He ran out of water too quick, but says he will make around four bales anyway.

Since 1951 this area has had a desert climate. If the weather stays dry like this for several more years, just what kind of vegetation would come in to cover the pastures?

One Soil Conservation Service man said that some of our vegetation would die, and then desert shrubs like greasewood and other thorny bushes would start growing. There would be very little grass, because most desert vegetation consists of scrubby bushes.

The transition might be very slow, however, and could cover a period of 20 or 30 years. Also there might be a change in wildlife. Instead of crows and raccoons and skunks, we might get gila monsters and sidewinder rattlesnakes. A lot of our wildlife, such as jack rabbits, coyotes and badgers, thrive in both wet and dry lands.

One other change would take place if this becomes a permanent desert. There wouldn't be any dryland farmers left. Just one or two more dry years will take care of that part of it.

Yesterday there were more Latin-Americans in Stanton than regular residents. Also a good part are natives of the state, who have come up from South Texas to help pick the cotton.

The Basin Growers Association at Stanton reports that not many braceros are being brought into the county at present. The pickers are staying up with the work fairly well, and if all stay there won't be much need for extra workers.

The Valley View community in Martin County rang up nearly a 100 per cent crop failure this year, says Ed Lawson, who farms, works at the Webb Air Force Base and runs the Weathers' Store out on the Andrews Highway.

He said there was about 400 acres of cotton in the community. Most of this is young cotton and is back southeast of the store near the county line. Farmers in that area got a rain to plant about the first of July. Some of the cotton will make a fair crop if frost holds off long enough.

Lawson said at one time Valley View was one of the best farming communities in West Texas. They used to plant 40 to 50 thousand acres of cotton, with yields ranging up to a bale per acre. He said his big crop was in 1950 when the cotton made over a bale to the acre.

Hardly anyone has left the community, but practically everyone is holding down an outside job. One or two families have left the community in order to be nearer their work, but they intend to move back as there is enough rain to start a crop next spring.

A few weeks ago I stopped by a well-drilling rig and found the workers fishing for a short two-by-four piece of lumber that had been dropped into the hole. Evidently they had been trying to hook it with a long wire for quite some time.

They had just about decided to move over and drill another hole when a kid about fourteen walked up and looked down into the sixty-foot hole.

"Why don't you fill it full of water and float it out?" he asked the contractor.

The men looked at the boy and then at each other. Twenty minutes later they had the hole full of water and the piece of lumber came floating to the top.

"They say these kids are smarter than their dads nowadays," the owner commented, "and doggone, if this don't prove it."

Webb's OSI Is Commended

An "outstanding unit award" was presented recently by Secretary of the Air Force Donald A. Quarles to the 100th Special Investigations Group of which the Webb AFB OSI Detachment is a part.

The Office of Special Investigations is the Air Force investigative agency. The Webb Detachment is headed by Special Agent Harry R. Lane. Assisting him are Special Agents John H. Blystone and Charles D. Weil, and Secretary Joyce G. Crooker.

All detachments under the 100th Special Investigations Group, including Webb, will receive a duplicate of the award and the accompanying ribbon in the near future.

The award was presented for outstanding investigative work from November 20, 1951, to June 15, 1956, particularly in the security field.

The 100th, comprised primarily of personnel on duty with OSI, provides a centrally directed investigative service to commanders of all Air Force activities and supplies trained specialists to perform all types of investigations. OSI also provides staff guidance and technical assistance to five overseas Special Investigations Directorates.

The citation accompanying the award emphasized the professional competence of all members of this organization and the contribution made by it in maintaining the integrity and security of the United States Air Force.

School Budget Nearly Ready

Last work was being done on the 1957 school district budget Saturday, and the fiscal schedule will be ready for printing early Monday, officials reported Saturday.

Public hearing on the budget is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. J. O. Hagood, school tax assessor-collector, said the tax roll also will be submitted to trustees Tuesday afternoon. Approval of the roll is necessary before 1956 tax statements can be mailed to property owners.

Hagood said the statements will be ready for mailing prior to Oct. 1, when taxes become payable.

Sets Record

Capt. Iven Kinchalo, a Korean jet ace, reportedly flew the Bell X2 rocket plane—world's fastest aircraft—to unprecedented altitude of 126,000 feet (almost 24 miles) at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., flight test research center.

Juvenile Drivers' Committee To Meet

Regular meeting of the Traffic Commission Juvenile Drivers Licensing committee is scheduled Wednesday at 3:30 p.m.

All juveniles who have made their formal application for permission to try for a drivers license should be on hand for interviews with the committee.

The committee will meet in the offices of the county judge in the Howard County Court House.

Polio Chairman

Maj. Gen. Kenzie L. Berry, Assn. Adjutant General of Texas, has accepted the Texas chairmanship for the 1956-57 March of Dimes campaign. Gen. Berry served in this capacity for the past two drives. Under his leadership, Texas raised a total of $5,625,000 for the March of Dimes during the past two years.

Applications For CD Posts Exceed 500

Applications for Civil Defense work in the county climbed Saturday past the 500 mark.

Saturday morning, 527 applications had been turned in to the city hall receptionist. This included 53 from Coahoma and two from Vealmoor. Seventy-three applications came in one group Saturday.

The drive for members Sept. 14 had as its goal 2,000 persons over the county. W. D. Berry is Civil Defense coordinator for Howard County.

Most of the organizations have not made their reports, and Berry hoped that at least another 600 persons were enlisted by them.

Berry asked that all reports be turned in to the city hall by last Tuesday, but at that time, only four groups of applications had arrived.

A partial tabulation by Pat Kinder, city receptionist, showed that citizens indicated 25 of the 31 categories of work listed on the applications.

The categories and how many indicated them are administrative seven, block wardens three, communications engineers three, radio broadcasting one, commercial radio one, amateur radio three, telephone 11, mobile radio two, and building and housing one.

Also finance three, engineer one, food-clothing-shelter 11, medical four, nursing and hospital care 10, personal information one, identification two, rescue 12, supply seven, traffic control four, transportation 22, firemen four, Red Cross one, ground observer 10, first aid 14, and public health one.

After all applications have been classified, the local CD unit plans to set up training courses for separate groups. This will lead to dividing the city and county up into complete units for operation in case of attack.

Applications from communities outside of Big Spring will be handled individually.

Theatre Group Picks New Play

The Big Spring Civic Theatre has selected a new play for its next major production.

LT. Bob Grew, president of the dramatic group, said that the play chosen was "Blind Alley."

Tryouts will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Western Warehouse, 1st and Austin Streets. LT. Grew urged all persons interested in dramatics to read for one of the parts. He emphasized that everyone, regardless of affiliation with the Civic Theatre, will be welcomed for the tryouts.

T-Sgt. Dewey Magee will be director for "Blind Alley."

Previously the Civic Theatre had announced plans for "The Moon Is Blue," but these plans did not materialize.

DWI Defendant Released On Bond

A. G. Eitzen, identified by police as the driver of a car which slashed down a power line pole and rammed into a Big Spring residence at 625 State Street Thursday night, was released from county jail on $500 bond Friday afternoon.

He has been charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Management Organization Discusses Personnel Work

Personnel recruitment and selection was discussed by members of the Big Spring Personnel and Management Association at their meeting last week.

After the regular business meeting, a panel forum was presented by Joe B. Neely, Webb Air Force Base training coordinator. Panel members and the phase of the problem they discussed were: Ted Vinson, Texas Employment Commission interviewer, functions of outside employment services; Paul McBurney, personnel officer at the Big Spring State Hospital, recruitment sources from within business organizations; Dr. W. A. Hunt, Howard County Junior College president, recruitment from schools and colleges; Oliver Cofer, guest panelist from The Big Spring Herald, employment advertising; Charles A. Weeg, Howard County Hospital Foundation administrator, in-service training and J. K. Mikel, assistant personnel director at Co-den, recruitment from within or-

Elbow Goodwill Program Set

Program has been completed for the Chamber of Commerce goodwill dinner to be staged at Elbow Thursday evening.

J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, also reported that about 75 tickets for the event have been placed. Around 75 more must be sold if all Elbow residents planning to attend are to have a Big Spring host. The tickets are available at the C-C offices at $1.25 each.

Sam Blackburn will emcee the program, which will include songs by a barbershop quartet, and piano selections by Mrs. Curtis Boyd and Mrs. Robert Mason. The meal will be prepared by the Elbow P-TA, and 4-H girls of the community will serve.

Greene said persons needing rides to Elbow for the event should report to the Chamber of Commerce office at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Provost Marshals Meet At Webb

The monthly meeting of the Texas Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board was held at the Webb AFB Officers' Club Friday to discuss the mutual military law enforcement problems of this area.

The meeting, which is held at a different base each month, was headed by Lt. Col. Rodrick Darelus, provost marshal at Carswell AFB and president of the board.

Other provost marshals and bases represented were Lt. Col. Gerald A. Bergin, Camp Wolters; Maj. Robert G. Baker, Webb AFB; and Maj. L. H. Rolson, Sheppard AFB.

Finance Agents Slate Meeting

Representatives of several of the finance companies in Big Spring plan to attend the annual convention of the Texas Consumer Finance Association in Dallas Oct. 19-20, but a check of local offices Saturday indicated that who is to attend had not been decided.

The annual convention will feature a panel on public relations, supervised by the state banking department. There will also be an evening social hour and a luncheon.

David D. Steere of Dallas is president. All companies who are members of the association are in the Commercial Building in Dallas.

Four New Wells In Jo-Mill Pool Final

Four new wells in the Jo-Mill field of Borden County were reported this weekend. Meanwhile, Cosden Petroleum Corporation announced it had plugged its venture in the Reinecke pool. Phillips No. 1-B Spray, 13 miles southwest of Gail, flowed a 290 barrels of 37.5-degree oil on a 24-hour potential. Flow was through a 20-64-inch choke and was accom-

BETTER PRODUCTS?

Conoco Plans Atom Radiation Research

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Oil men hope atomic radiation can be used to find new and improved petroleum products and processes today.

Continental Oil Co. told today of plans to build a $500,000 atomic radiation laboratory at Ponca City, Okla.

Uranium cylinders from the Arco, Idaho, atomic energy plant will be available under plans of the Atomic Energy Commission to release materials for industrial experiments.

L. F. McCollum, Continental president, said the laboratory will use atomic radiation as a source of energy in conducting chemical experiments to help develop new products and improve refining processes and petrochemical manufacturing methods.

Construction will begin within a few weeks. Completion is expected in March. McCollum said Continental has been supporting an exploratory program in radiation at the University of Michigan for two years but that the use of atomic radiation is one of the latest advancements in oil. He said the new facility will be among the first in the nation to use atomic radiation.

The laboratory will use a closed-circuit television camera, robotic mechanical hands, and two periscopes. Radiation research will be conducted by remote controls in a "hot cell" within the concrete laboratory. The cell's walls will be five and a half feet thick and will be built of specially prepared concrete.

Chem-Process Plans Merger

Borg-Warner Corporation has proposed an exchange of stock for the assets of Chemical Process Co. of Breckenridge. It has been announced by R. C. Ingersoll, chairman of the board of Borg-Warner.

The proposal has been unanimously approved by the boards of directors of both companies and now awaits only the approval of Chemical Process shareholders at a special meeting called for Thursday.

Under the proposed arrangement Chemical Process operations would be combined with BJ Service, Inc., the oil well service organization in the Byron Jackson Division of Borg-Warner.

Borg-Warner is a versatile concern with 1955 sales of $555 million. It makes 185 products which are manufactured and marketed by some 40 different divisions and subsidiaries, and employs more than 20,000 persons.

WIN INDUSTRY HONOR

Belt And Anderson Slated To Receive Mid-Continent's DSA

DALLAS — A colorful, "retired" oil company geologist, Ben C. Belt of Houston, and a former Texas oil industry leader, Robert B. Anderson of New York, have been selected to receive the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards at Houston, Oct. 2 and 3.

A feature of the Association's Annual Meeting at the Rice Hotel, the presentation is made annually; one to a representative from a major company and one to an independent.

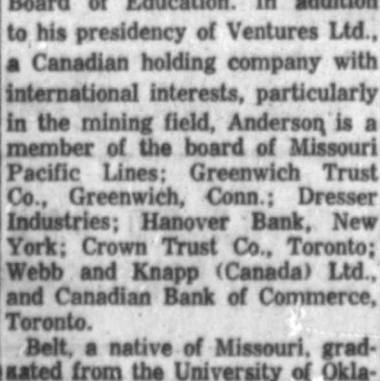

Famous in oil circles as one of the nation's best known oil hunters, Belt is now president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Texas Research League. He retired in 1955 from Gulf Oil Corp. as vice president in charge of production for the Houston division.

Anderson, who is president of Ventures Ltd., served four years, from 1947-51, as president of Texas Mid-Continent while manager of the vast W. T. Waggoner cattle and oil estate at Vernon. He was named Secretary of the Navy by President Eisenhower in 1953 and became Deputy Secretary of Defense in 1954, resigning in 1955 to return to private business.

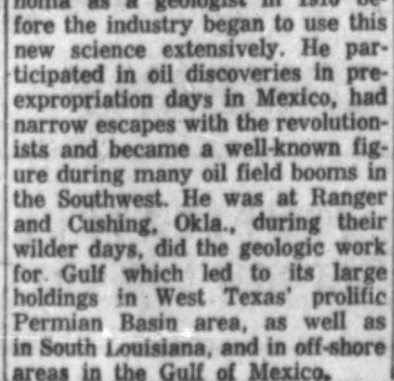

Board of Education. In addition to his presidency of Ventures Ltd., a Canadian holding company with international interests, particularly in the mining field, Anderson is a member of the board of Missouri Pacific Lines; Greenwich Trust Co., Greenwich, Conn.; Dresser Industries; Hanover Bank, New York; Crown Trust Co., Toronto; and Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto.

field. Gravity is 38.5. Pay is reached at 7,411 feet, and total depth is 7,575 feet.

Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons before taking potential.

Location is 14 1/2 miles southwest of Gail, 690 feet from north and 3,731 feet from east lines, 46-33-5n, T&P Survey.

In the same field, Humble No. 6 Miller flowed 213.83 barrels in 24 hours, through a 3/4-inch choke. It had 30 per cent water with it. Gas-oil ratio is 501-1, and gravity is 37.2 degrees.

Operator used 20,000 gallons oil and 30,000 pounds sand in preparing for the potential.

Flow was from perforations between 7,490-534 feet, and top of the pay zone is 7,490 feet. Total depth is 7,549 feet, and 5 1/4-inch string extends to 7,535 feet.

The well is 1,990 feet from south and west lines, 21-33-4n, T&P Survey, and eight miles northeast of Ackery.

The fourth new producer in the pool is Blanco Oil Company's No. 3-26 C. C. Canon 16 miles southwest of Gail. It produced 232.16 barrels of oil on a potential test, through a 19-64-inch choke. No water was reported.

Gravity is 39.5 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 750-1.

Perforation interval is 7,130-334 feet, and top of the pay area is 7,128 feet.

The well is 1,850 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines, 26-33-5n, T&P Survey.

The Cosden and Tri-Service No. 2 E. Y. Murphy plugged and abandoned at 6,932 feet.

Operator ran a test with the tool open for five hours and recovered 5,000 feet of gas, 150 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, and 630 feet of salt water. The test ran about 26 feet low to top of the reef of the No. 1 Murphy, a quarter of a mile to the west.

Location is 19 1/4 miles southwest of Snyder, 660 feet from north and east lines, 66-25, H&T C Survey.

In the Arthur (Spraberry) field, Blanco No. 1 P. L. Motley finished, bringing 212.24 barrels of oil in 24 hours through a 22-64-inch choke. Twenty five per cent water accompanied the flow. Gravity is 37 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 750-1.

The hole bottoms at 7,705 feet, and top of Spraberry production is 7,578 feet. Flow was from perforations between 7,578-626 feet. Five and a half-inch casing is set at 7,694 feet.

Location is 850 feet from north and west lines, 5-33-3n, T&P Survey, and five miles northeast of Ackery.

The Western district covers a 200-mile area, extending from Backeye, N. M., to the Shiles Field near Big Lake, and includes 11 natural gasoline plants and nine compressor booster stations.

An active safety program has been in effect throughout the district for many years. R. C. Mason is district superintendent and J. E. Anderson is safety director for the district.

DRESSER RECEIVES RUSSIAN DRILLS

DALLAS — Dresser Industries, Inc., one of the country's largest suppliers of equipment and technical services for the oil, gas and chemical industries, has received 40 Russian turbo drills of various sizes.

Announcing their arrival, John B. O'Connor, executive vice president of Dresser, today revealed that the drills were purchased under an agreement that is entirely monetary, and no exchange of technical personnel is involved.

French turbo drills manufactured by Neyptic in Grenoble, France, have been purchased also.

"We cannot keep reserves and productive capacity in any proper relation to wartime demands if imports remain excessive to the point of forcing curtailment of allowances in Texas to from 15 to 17 days (of production) per month"

Various groups, including Interior Department oil and gas officials, the Middle East Emergency Petroleum Advisory Board and the Office of Defense Mobilization are studying the situation.

Dan Jones, assistant general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, told a House Ways and Means subcommittee:

"The nationalization and shut-down of oil production in Iran several years ago, and the present threat of interrupted oil supplies resulting from the Suez crisis, demonstrate the danger of dependency on foreign sources and the vital importance of ample oil supplies within the United States.

"If we continue the policy of increasing imports and thereby become dependent upon foreign sources, then in time of war our energy could render us helpless by instigating another Iranian shut-down or Suez crisis."

Jones said "adverse effects of excessive imports" of oil on the domestic industry already are in evidence and "the outlook is for increasing imports unless action is taken as provided by law."

Standard Broadens

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) has acquired two more Midwest independent petroleum marketing outfits involving nearly ten million dollars. The big oil firm will acquire the South Side Petroleum Co. and the Perfect Power Corp., both operating service stations in Chicago.

Makes Rexformer Point

R. L. Tollett, second from left, Cosden's president, makes a point about the new Rexformer when it was shown formally last week to industry and press representatives. With him are Dan M. Krause, vice president in charge of refining, C. E. Whyte, Chicago, president of Procon, Inc., which built the plant, and M. P. Venema, Des Plaines, Ill., president of Universal Oil Products, designer and licensor of the process.

Dawson Reef Test Recovers New Oil

Dawson County's Seaboard No. 1-A Weaver wildcat continued to test in the Pennsylvanian reef.

The venture is two miles southeast of the Mungerville field and a mile and a half northeast of the Humble No. 1 Weaver, an abandoned wildcat. Site is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 27, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

Operator took a drillstem test in the Pennsylvanian from 8,963-9,009 feet, with the tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in 17 minutes, and it reversed out 25-30 barrels of oil. Operator recovered 130 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and no water below the circulating sub.

Flowing pressure was 105-995, and 15-minute shutin pressure was 3,490.

Operator is now reaming core hole and plans to cut another 25-foot core and test again.

Texas Company's No. 1 W. J. Beckham, a mile and a half south of Lamesa, drilled to 4,632 feet in lime this weekend. The project is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 17-35-5n, T&P Survey, and about six and a half miles northwest of the Sparenburg field.

Suez Pinch Wouldn't Bring Rationing To U.S. Users

By CHARLES HASLET WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—A government official setting up plans to ship more oil from the United States to West Europe, if Middle East oil supplies are interrupted, foresees no rationing of gasoline or other oil supplies in this country.

The government plans to ship from 500,000 to 1,100,000 more barrels of petroleum or its products daily to Western Europe if Middle-east shipments are halted because of the Suez Canal controversy.

Should the plan be put into effect, one official said, it might become necessary for West Europe to ration due to transport problems.

But he added that oil production in this country could be stepped up sharply and domestic transportation facilities including pipelines, tank cars and tankers would be adequate to prevent any shortage or rationing to U. S. consumers.

Various groups, including Interior Department oil and gas officials, the Middle East Emergency Petroleum Advisory Board and the Office of Defense Mobilization are studying the situation.

Dan Jones, assistant general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, told a House Ways and Means subcommittee:

"The nationalization and shut-down of oil production in Iran several years ago, and the present threat of interrupted oil supplies resulting from the Suez crisis, demonstrate the danger of dependency on foreign sources and the vital importance of ample oil supplies within the United States.

Five Completions Reported In Various Howard County Areas

Completions in Howard County this weekend came in the Moore, Snyder, Howard-Glasscock, and Iatan pools. Two were completed in the Moore field.

Cosden No. 2-D L. S. Patterson pumped 72 barrels of 30.4 gravity oil in 24 hours. No water was produced. Top of the pay zone is 3,064 feet, and total depth is 3,092 feet. Operator acidized with 6,000 gallons.

The well is in the Moore field five miles southwest of Big Spring, 350 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines, 27-33-1s, T&P Survey.

Also in the Moore, Cosden No. 1 Barnett-Connally completed for a daily pumping potential of 66 barrels of oil. Gravity is 30.4. The well is five miles west of Big Spring, 2,310 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines, 21-33-1s, T&P Survey.

Pay is reached at 3,069 feet, and total depth is 3,105 feet. Seven-inch casing is cemented at 3,068 feet. Operator treated with 6,000 gallons acid.

Sunray-Mid Continent No. 46-B Dora Roberts, in the Howard-Glasscock field, pumped 33.80 barrels of oil, and no water, in 24 hours. Gravity is 30.4 degrees. It had been treated with 15,000 gallons oil and 30,000 pounds of sand before taking potential.

Perforations are between 1,744-888 feet, and top of the pay zone is 1,744 feet. The hole bottoms at 1,925 feet, and seven-inch casing is set at 1,924 feet.

Drill site is a mile and a half east of Forsan, 756 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of the northwest quarter, 137-29, W&N Survey.

Sun No. 7 D. H. Snyder finished, bringing 99.36 barrels of oil and seven per cent water, in 24 hours. The well is in the Snyder field. Gravity is 29.4 degrees.

Perforations are between 2,808-

20, 2,762-92', 2,760-72', 2,714-28', 2,690-72', and 2,662-82' feet. Total depth is 2,850 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and 996 feet from east line, 2830-1s, T&P Survey, and 14 miles east of Big Spring.

Theiss Drilling Company brought in the No. 1 W. R. Reed in the Iatan, East Howard, pool. It pumped 71.98 barrels of 28-degree oil in a 24-hour test. Fifteen per cent water surfaced with the oil.

Commercial pay is reached at 2,646 feet and perforations are between 2,646-70 feet. The hole bottoms at 2,750 feet, and 4 1/4-inch string extends to that depth.

Located four and a half miles east of Coahoma, it is 330 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter, 47-30-1n, T&P Survey.

In the Moore field, Cosden No. 6-B Patterson set casing at 2,054 feet and Saturday drilled through the plug. Total depth is 3,077 feet. The location is five miles west of Big Spring, 1,650 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines, 22-33-1s, T&P Survey.

C. W. Guthrie No. 2 J. V. Cherry, in the same field, was swabbing Saturday and was preparing to run tubing. It is four miles southwest of Big Spring, 330 feet from south and east lines, of the northwest quarter, 23-33-1s, T&P Survey.

Pair Of Mitchell County Locations Abandoned

A wildcat and an Albaugh field location were abandoned, and new wells numbered three in Mitchell County.

The wildcat is Miami Operating Company No. 1-A K. C. Adams, 10 miles south of Loraine. Operator plugged and abandoned at 7,428 feet in the Ellenburger. Contract depth was 7,500 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines, 56-12, H&T C Survey. Also plugged was Cosden's No. 1 Bowen, in the Albaugh (Yates) field. It is 330 feet from south and west lines of the east half of the northwest quarter, 10-17, SPRR Survey. Operator gave up at a depth of 2,932 feet.

Fred Shield No. 5 Nettie Hale finished for 81.67 barrels of 24 degree oil in 24 hours, plus 'three per cent water. The well is in the Westbrook field three miles south of Culbert.

Total depth is 3,170 feet, and top of the pay zone is 3,053 feet. Five and a half-inch string extends to the bottom of the hole.

Operator fractured with 20,000 gallons. Location is 2,011 feet from north and 3,680 feet from west lines, 2-29-1n, T&P Survey.

In the same field, Paul DeCleva No. 7-D Strain brought 77.44 barrels of oil and 12 per cent water, in 24 hours. Gravity is 26 degrees.

Top of the pay zone is 3,100 feet, and total depth is 3,131 feet. Four and a half-inch casing is set at the top of the pay zone.

The well is 1,650 feet from east and 990 feet from south lines, 1-29-1n, T&P Survey, and nine miles north of Westbrook.

A Sharon Ridge 1700 field completion is Simms and Wagoner of Amarillo No. 5 J. D. Fuller, eight and a half miles northwest of Colorado City. It finished for 63 barrels of oil daily, plus 12 per cent water. Gravity is 28.8, and gas-oil ratio was too small to measure.

Perforation intervals are 1,701-09 and 1,710-14 feet. Top of the pay zone is 1,621 feet. Total depth is 1,725 feet, and 4 1/4-inch string drops to 1,722.

Drill site is 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east line. Sub-division 9, Sections 8 and 9, Reiger Survey 1 and 2.

Simms and Wagoner located the No. 6 J. D. Fuller 330 feet from north and east lines, Section 8 and 9, Reiger Survey No. 1 and 2. It is four miles east of Ira, and rotary tools will penetrate to 1,735 feet.

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY... W. T. ABBOTT

This is the seventh in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years to the success of the Company.

A man who started work for Cosden as a truck driver is now the company's transportation superintendent.

He is W. T. Abbott, 46, who is one of the 15-year "seniors" of the Cosden family.

Abbott started with Cosden on June 7, 1941, at Graham. He was a truck driver then. Later he worked in the bulk sales department, and served as the territorial representative in the Graham area for about two years. From that position, he was promoted to bulk plant manager at Sweetwater.

The Cosden senior held the Sweetwater post from 1947 until November, 1952, when he was transferred to Big Spring to become local bulk plant manager and superintendent of transportation.

In a reorganization program brought about by growth of the company, Abbott was assigned the full-time duties of transportation superintendent. His offices are at the Big Spring refinery.

Abbott was born Jan. 6, 1910, at Mallard in Montague County. He attended school there until he was in the seventh grade. At the age of 12 he moved with his family to Throckmorton where he completed high school in 1925.

The young high school graduate—he was 15 years of age—then went to Arizona where he lived in various places, holding odd jobs, for two years. He returned to Texas and worked in various positions at Graham until he joined the staff of the Shamrock Motor Company in that city in 1932. Abbott stayed with Shamrock for about eight and a half years, until he accepted employment with Cosden in 1941.

He and Miss Louise Mitchell of Graham were married on Dec. 24, 1932. They have a daughter, Barbara, who works at the State National Bank in Big Spring. The family resides at 1207 Sycamore.

The Abbotts are members of the First Baptist Church, which they joined on moving to Big Spring. He lists his hobbies as "following the football team," hunting, fishing and "all kinds of sports."

BE ALERT! YOUR CHILDREN ARE

BACK IN SCHOOL

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

School Time Is Safe Driving Time—
 The Child You Save May Be Your Own!

STOP AND WAIT
 when school buses are taking on or discharging passengers.

KEEP ALERT for children walking to school in the city or on country roads.

GIVE RIGHT-OF-WAY to children at cross-walks. Be sure they arrive safely.

More and more children are on the streets again — some of them going to school for the first time. Children will be crossing the streets, walking along country roads, waiting for school buses. Children are sometimes unpredictable, and it is up to drivers to stay alert and in full command of their vehicles in case an emergency arises. PLEASE drive extra carefully. Watch for children at crossings and on the streets. Give the right of way to school buses. Be alert. The children may not see you — be sure you see them!

FOLLOW THESE RULES FOR SAFE DRIVING

- Be doubly careful near schools or where children play. Children don't realize the danger and may take chances. That's why you, the driver, must take extra care.
- Keep your car in top mechanical condition. Use chains when roads are slippery.
- Obey traffic laws. Know the traffic laws wherever you travel and don't break them.
- Slow down. Speed is dangerous at any time — doubly dangerous when visibility is cut by rain, fog or darkness.
- If you drive, don't drink—if you drink, don't drive. Remember, death takes no holiday.
- Keep lights and windshield wipers in good condition during rainy or snowy weather. You have to see danger to avoid it.
- Be a courteous driver. Yield right-of-way, even when it should be yours. It's better to stay alive than to be dead right.

Move Could Put Schoolmen On Spot

DALLAS, Sept. 22 (AP)—An anti-segregation maneuver that could put school officials who are against integration on a hot spot goes into a courtroom Thursday. It could mean this to local authorities: Integrate your schools or go to jail.

What federal judges will finally rule is speculation. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is asking a Federal Court to cite two school officials for contempt of court. Contempt citations in other types of cases have resulted in jail terms and fines.

The man who brought the action is directly under the gun in one of the hottest integration trouble areas in the South.

He is Simpson Tate, regional NAACP lawyer. He is calm at most times amid the uproar over seating Negro and white students side-by-side in the same schools.

Developments yesterday on a state court level will not affect the federal court hearing, Tate said.

The State District Court at Tyler issued a temporary restraining order yesterday in effect putting the NAACP out of business in Texas. A hearing Friday — one day after the contempt hearing — will be held on the order.

The state court action will be handled for the NAACP by W. J. Durham, Texas attorney for the organization.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said the restraining order was asked because, he alleged, "The NAACP has exceeded the bounds of propriety and law."

Tate, a tall middle-aged Negro, has filed a motion seeking to intervene in the Texarkana Junior College segregation case. If he's given permission, his pleading says, he will seek to cite the college president and a trustee for contempt. At Texarkana, Tex., angry demonstrators blocked Negroes from entering the junior college. Cross burnings and angry outcries by white Citizens Councils are almost a daily occurrence in Tate's region.

The intervention plea is in the case of Wilma Whitmore vs. H. W. Stilwell, the college president. This federal case resulted in a ruling that the college cannot bar Negroes.

Tate is acting for Steve Poster, 17, and Jessalyn Gray, 18, the Negroes prevented by demonstrators from attending Texarkana Junior College this fall.

Stilwell says he was "not in contempt of court at any time and did not advocate violence at any time."

"I said the South should resist integration, and I still think it should," he said.

The proposed plea in the segregation suit seeks to cite Stilwell for advocating resistance. Bill Williams, a college trustee, is accused of being a member of the crowd that barred the two Negroes.

Whether contempt charges will be filed against other school officials in segregation cases, such as Mansfield, has not been determined, Tate says.

But he adds there could be grounds if any school official took part in any movement to bar Negro school children from attending a school which had been ordered integrated.

In the Mansfield case, he says, "there is a court order...declaring that these (Negro) children have the right to go to that school. I think that anybody who interferes with that right is in contempt of court, whether he is a school official or not."

"Our position is simply this: We are going to use every legal device at our disposal. We are not prepared to say what we will do in any particular case."

Texas Colleges Back To Record Enrollments

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff

Texas colleges and universities, suffering slumps in registration for a time after the World War II GI's graduated, snapped back to record enrollments this fall, a survey by The Associated Press shows.

Many institutions said registrations were at all-time highs. Almost all reported increases over last fall.

The teacher shortage was hurting Texas Western at El Paso, originally estimated an enrollment of 4,199. Some night classes were cancelled because teachers couldn't be found. The estimate now is 3,900, with 2,949 enrolled by the weekend. The 3,900 figure will be above last year's.

An important increase in evening college enrollment at TCU — estimated up 30 per cent — is expected to give the Fort Worth school a record registration of 5,200 to 5,400.

Texas Tech at Lubbock has registered 7,610 and expects 8,000. It is a record. The previous high was 7,156 last fall.

The University of Texas, largest school in the state, expects a record 18,000 compared with 17,500 last year. Registration Friday was 16,967.

Finding classrooms at the Austin school was a problem. The university, in addition to the new students, has 120 new faculty members and 20 new courses—but no new classrooms.

The huge University of Houston Saturday had 13,200 registered and more were due.

At Rice at Houston, 1,802 students had registered, 250 of them in graduate classes.

Some larger colleges were expecting increases in enrollment but no records.

At Baylor, enrollment at the weekend was 5,361, about the same as last year, and no overcrowding was expected at Waco.

SMU at Dallas had close to 5,400 enrolled. It was better than last year's 5,073.

Texas A&M at College Station had a huge Freshman class of 2,007 and Freshmen facilities were slightly crowded. The Fresh class last year was 1,849. Total enrollment was 7,113 through Saturday, well above last year's 6,800 but far below post-World War II totals of 9,000.

North Texas State College was up somewhat at 5,702 through Saturday. Enrollment at Texas State College for Women, also at Denton, also had increased, standing at 2,108.

Midwestern University enrollment is expected to go above last year's 1,440, but still would not be a record. As of Saturday the total at Wichita Falls was 1,407 with registration continuing.

Texas Wesleyan College expects a total of 1,150 students, about the same as last year. There is no overcrowding but the school plans to build new dormitories next fall.

Registration at East Texas Baptist College is expected to exceed last year's 703. Through Saturday, enrollment at the Marshall college was 643. The men's dormitory capacity was exceeded and two old dormitories have been pressed into use for 50 or more men.

PanAmerican, only senior college in the Rio Grande Valley, estimates that 1,300 will enroll—about the same as last year. The registrar said there will be some overcrowding.

Exes Being Signed Up For Parts On Homecoming Card

Sue Boykin, chairman of the assembly program for the Big Spring High School homecoming Oct. 6, is now signing up BSHS exes who wish to participate.

She said that representatives of any former high school class are welcome to present skits, musical selections or any other features at the assembly. The program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 6 in the high school auditorium.

Actually, the 1956 homecoming is scheduled for three days, Oct. 4-6. A bonfire the evening of Oct. 4 will be the opening activity. The next evening, exes will be honored at the Big Spring-Sweetwater football game.

Most of the program is slated for Saturday. Included in that day's activities are a parade at 10 a.m., the assembly program at 7:30 p.m., class meetings following the assembly, a reception from 9 to 12 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Groups desiring to enter floats in the parade should contact Gerald Lackey at the high school.

CARD OF THANKS
THANK YOU so much for the flowers, food, cards, and all the other nice things you did for us while Carl was in the hospital. May the Lord bless each one of you.
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gum and Family.

ANTICIPATING THE CONCERT SERIES, Mrs. Truman Jones, at left, and Mrs. Ralph Gossett discuss the music of Mantovani and prepare to listen to one of his recordings. He and his orchestra are one of the entrancing groups of artists scheduled for presentation by the Big Spring Concert Association during the coming season. Mantovani's 45-piece orchestra is slated for an appearance on Nov. 15; the Chicago Opera Ballet will appear Feb. 19, 1957, and the First Piano Quartet is to be presented during the first week in March.

CHECKING THE SEATING ARRANGEMENT of the city auditorium are Dr. P. W. Malone, Mrs. Clyde Angel and Jack Hendrix. That is just part of the preliminary work called for in preparing for the coming concert season, made possible by the Big Spring Concert Association. Admission to each program will be by membership card only, with no single performance tickets sold.

Concert Association Opens Drive

Reflecting a growth in stature as well as in numbers, the Big Spring Concert Association this season has announced a sparkling series for its membership. This week the invitation for memberships is open to the public. The association has as its sales talk the names of Mantovani and his orchestra, the First Piano Quartet, and the Chicago Opera Ballet.

Mrs. Clyde Angel, president, has expressed confidence that the roll will be quickly subscribed, especially since the association did not advance its membership fee to cover this high budget outlay.

Directing the membership invitation will be Mrs. Floyd Mays, assisted by Mrs. Toots Mansfield and a large number of other volunteers.

Opening the series will be Mantovani, the Englishman who was born in Venice and who has achieved such tremendous fame through his recordings.

The Minneapolis Star noted that "he might well be called the Andre Kostelanetz of England, for he specializes in lush sound and the sweet-and swooning treatment applied to familiar melodies. His orchestra of 45 is a well-drilled unit filled with technically expert musicians — a better outfit, man for man, than the traveling Boston Pops Orchestra." Many people

WOMEN OF CLUBS are expected to help promote the series of artists to be sponsored by the Big Spring Concert Association, by assisting in ticket sales and attendance at the concerts. Mrs. Nell Frazier, at left, in picture at right, member of the Music Study Club, and Mrs. W. A. Hunt, 1905 Hyperion Club member, busy themselves with lists of workers and prospective buyers of tickets.

A NEW DIRECTOR, Mrs. Lee O. Rogers, at right, in picture at right, is initiated into the set-up of ticket sales for the Big Spring Concert Association. Mrs. Floyd Mays, a hold-over director, briefs her on the method of packaging tickets for easy distribution to workers who will be selling memberships during the drive, which starts Monday.

COFFEE FOR A VOLUNTEER was served to Mrs. Jack Cook, at left, in picture at left, by Mrs. Ike Robb when the workers for the Big Spring Concert Association met Wednesday in her home. Combining fun with a planning session, the board of directors and other workers gathered for coffee and made final plans for the drive which has its beginning on Monday.

Miss Webb Is Wed To Howard L. Thames

The chapel at the First Methodist Church was the setting Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when Sandra Jean Webb and Howard Lynn Thames repeated wedding vows. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb, 1804 Eleventh Place and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thames, 608 East 12th.

The Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli and console candles. The chancel rails were lined with emerald fern and cathedral candles. In front of the rails stood fern trees. Pewes were marked with white satin ribbons.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Champ Rainwater, organist. Eunice Freeman sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace over cotton satin. It was fashioned in princess style with an empire waistline. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline outlined with the design of the lace. Short sleeves also were formed from the lace pattern. Her bouffant skirt was waist length.

The bride's silk illusion veil fell from a close fitted hat of seed pearls.

WEDDING TRADITION

With tradition, the bride wore an old penny in her shoe; her dress was new; she wore a blue garter, and the strand of pearls she wore was borrowed from Mrs. R. H. Blasingame.

The bridal bouquet featured white carnations and satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Randy Hickman served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Horne and Julie Rainwater. They wore dresses of pink and carried pink carnation bouquets.

Best man was Tommy Hammond. Ushers were Gene Mitchell, Randy Hickman and Kenneth Honeycutt.

Kathy Webb, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a blue dress and a pink rosebud halo with matching flowers in a basket.

The reception was held in the church parlor, with the bridal couple, their parents, and members of the wedding party receiving guests.

The bride's table was decorated with a white organdy over pink satin cloth. Arrangements of pink carnations were featured, flanked by crystal candelabra holding pink candles.

The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink rosebuds.

CONCERT

will place Mantovani through his highly popular recording of "Moulin Rouge."

"Four master pianists... ushering in a new field of keyboard mystery to the musical world," is the way critics from two papers described the First Piano Quartet. "Counterpoint carried to the fourth dimension," and "the most outstanding musical treat of this and many other seasons, breathtaking beauty and matchless precision" said other reviewers of the performances of Adam Garner, Edward Hausman, Frank Miltler, and Edward Edson.

Critics also have declared Ruth Page's Chicago Opera Ballet as "one of the newest and most exciting ballet companies in the country today." In addition to lavish costumes, complete and exquisite scenery, and a full fledged orchestra, Miss Page has secured two international personalities in Marjorie Tallichief and George Skibine. They are leading dancers from Marquis de Cuevas Ballet of Paris, on leave of absence for the current season.

Their selections are to be the "Merry Widow" set to the Lehar score, and "Revenge" adapted from Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

Active in many school affairs, Janet Hogan, devotes much of her time to Student Council work. This senior-of-the-week is now serving as recording secretary after being a representative her junior year.

Janet was selected by the members of the band as Band Queen for 1956-57. She is also chaplain of her Tri-Hi-Y club for the second year. Janet has been a member of Tri-Hi-Y, the Spanish Club, and the Order of Rainbow for Girls. She is also a member of the First Baptist Church where she is an active worker.

Janet's future plans include finishing her education at Baylor University which she will enter next fall as a freshman.

In the run-off elections held Wednesday, class officers were elected. The senior class chose Jerry McMahan as president; Nancy King as vice president; and Annette Boykin as secretary-treasurer.

Barbara Coffee is president of the junior class. The other officers are Brenda Gordon, vice president, and Sue Arrick, secretary-treasurer. Bobby McAdams, Punky Boyd, and Jo Ann Ebling are chosen as president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the sophomore class.

What's the good word? BEAT SNYDER!!! Yes, and that's what students believe will happen Friday night when the Steers play their first game in our new stadium. Let's be there to back the Steers all the way in our first home game of the year.

Officers for the Homemaking Club, Chapter I, were elected last week. Chosen officers were Merlene McDonald, president; Toni Thomas, vice president; Jo Ann Ebling, secretary; Peggy Isaacs, treasurer; Billie Turner, reporter; Kay Kirby, historian; Janet Carpenter, song leader; Dorene Bledsoe, parliamentarian, and Tommie Evans, sergeant-at-arms.

A pep rally was held Friday morning in the gymnasium. The cheerleaders presented a new skit and led a new yell. The co-captains Johnny Janak and Lewis Porter were introduced and made short talks.

Kathleen Thomas's home was the scene of a bridal shower given Thursday in honor of Martha Fay Cobb Holsager. Some of those attending were Jo Ann Ebling, Judy Reagan, Mary Ann Nugent, Jean Johnston, Sharron Creighton, Karen Montgomery, Judy Shields, Peggy Isaacs, Beverly Martin, Pat Rogers, Toni Thomas, Edith Freeman and the honoree, Martha Fay Cobb Holsager. The shower was given by Edith, Toni, and Kathleen.

Time was taken out from the hurry of classes and studies Monday evening to give thought to our flag and nation. The drill team from Webb Air Force Base raised the flag in front of the school. The students gave the Pledge of Allegiance and sang "The Star Spangled Banner." The ceremony was a part of Citizenship Day.

If you see someone diligently reading a book or pamphlet on the oil industry, you may be sure he or she is working on the annual oil progress theme. The title this year is "Optimism and Freedom—Major Contributions to Oil Progress" Area scholarships available to seniors are $500, $300, and $200. Three essays from BSHS will be submitted to the area judging. Local prizes will also be given to all classes.

Linda Heflin gave a party in her home Saturday afternoon. Barbara Coffee, Brenda Gordon, Brenda Barr, Lynn McMahan, Susan Landers, Sammie McComb, Lucy Thompson, and Prissy Pond were some of the girls attending.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y club started the year off Monday night with a picnic at the park. The girls went to the Y afterwards for a social with the other clubs. Some of those attending were Mary Lane Edwards, Sandra Sloan, Carolyn Everett, Diana Dawson, Judy Hawkins, Virginia Cain, Carlene Coleman and Opal Hancock.

Subscriptions for the Corral will be on sale Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week. You may buy your subscription from a journalism student or at the table in the foyer. The Corral will come out twice a week and the price will be $1 for the year. Special editions will come out on occasions such as Homecoming, etc. These will be included in the subscription, but not the Senior Magazine which will come out in May. See ya at the game Friday night.

Miss Nichols Repeats Wedding Vows With Jimmie Lee Sundy

In a semi-formal, candlelight ceremony Friday at 8 p.m., Beverly Rae Nichols exchanged wedding vows with Jimmie Lee Sundy.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nichols, 1819 Nolan, and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Sundy, 1509 West 5th.

Double ring rites were read by the Rev. Cecil Rhodes at the Westside Baptist Church.

The altar was decorated with white wedding bells and flanked by fern and baskets of white gladioli. The archway was covered with flowers and on each side of the arch, candelabra with white burning candles were used.

Delores Howard, pianist, accompanied Joyce Howard as she sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

BRIDAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon Chantilly lace designed with a molded bodice with tiny points of the lace edging the tulle yoke and mandarin neckline.

Small lace-covered buttons ex-skirts. Their colonial bouquets were of matching carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nichols chose a dress of black velvet with black accessories and white hat and gloves. Mrs. Sundy wore a dress of navy with white accessories.

Arthur Monroe Sundy served his brother as best man. Ushers were Elmo Jones, Delano Shay, Carl Bankston and Jack Johnson.

Gerry Carol Sanderson and Patty Jane Sudberry were flower girls. Taper lighters were Tommy Allen and Tommy Ellsworth, Fort Worth.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony. Assisting the bridal couple in the receiving line were their parents.

The bride's table was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and the bouquets of the feminine attendants. It was covered with white lace cloth and held crystal and silver appointments. The wedding cake was three tiered, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Serving was done by Polly Sundy and Ida Bell Bankston.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a fitted silk suit of cinnamon color and with this, brown lizard accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of Debutantes, FHA, Tri-Hi-Y and the choir.

The groom was graduated from BSHS and attended Oceanside, Calif., College. In BSHS he was a member of the Latin Club, DE and DO Clubs and FFA. He has recently completed three years in the Marine Corps.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allen, Fort Worth, Mrs. T. C. Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duke and Dianne, Tommy Allen, Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Fount Tillman, Lubbock.

Scout Troop Six Has First Meeting

Girl Scout Troop Six met at the home of Mrs. R. O. Smith Friday at 2 p.m. for their first meeting of the year.

Officers were elected as follows: Edith Roll, president; Rheadine Smith, vice president; Janice Rowden, secretary and Yvette Gonzales, treasurer.

The next meeting will be Sept. 28 at the Fount Little House.

Sewing Club Makes Cancer Bandages

Six dozen cancer bandages were made for the Red Cross by members of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club Friday afternoon. The group met in the home of Mrs. W. O. Washington.

Mrs. Denver Yates, Rt. 2, was announced as the next hostess. Refreshments were served to nine members.

Thomas Ernest left Friday evening for Fort Worth and Dallas to visit relatives and friends. He planned to attend the SMU-Notre Dame football game Saturday evening in Dallas.

While Daddy's Away

During the times that R. E. Gray is away from home, Mrs. Gray keeps busy doing various things. One of the most enjoyable activities is that of making doll clothes for "the family" of her daughter, Ann. They are more tedious to make than larger garments, Mrs.

Gray thinks, but, with such an admiring audience as son, Ricky, and Ann, the result is worth the effort. She also likes painting and card games.

H. Greeley's Advice Taken By R. E. Grays

The R. E. Gray family at 2400 S. Monticello really took seriously the advice of Horace Greeley about going west! Consequently, they are continuing the westward trek started so long ago by their ancestors. Both were born and reared in Texarkana, where his father has been a peace officer for 30 years, and has served as chief of police for most of that time. Mrs. Gray's forbears were early settlers of Texas, and her grandmother, Mrs. J. F. Rochelle Sr. is a charter member of the First Baptist Church of Texarkana. Another source of justifiable pride to the Texas and Pacific transportation inspector and his family is the fact that his great-grandfather, Hardin Richard Runnels, was the fourth governor of Texas. "He was the only man who ever defeated Sam Houston for any public office," Mrs. Gray explained. During his term of office as Texas governor, his brother, Harmon Runnels, was governor of Tennessee. Gray is away from home quite a bit, but Mrs. Gray has very few - if any - dull moments. Their daughter, Ann, who is almost 10, and Ricky, who is three, see to that! Painting is one of the hobbies this busy homemaker enjoys, and sewing is another. She makes frocks for herself and her lovely brunette daughter, as well as dainty attire for the various dolls which help complete the family. Ricky, asked his age, holds up three fingers and immediately informs you that he "will be five on my next birthday." (Must be planning to embark upon a fast and furious life! Other activities enjoyed by this family are swimming and square dancing. Ann is a member of the pep squad at Washington Place School; she is also a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. and Mrs. Gray are members of the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star, respectively, and she is a member of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. In the month and a half that they have lived in Big Spring, Gray has not had time to work with two of his favorite projects, the Boy Scouts and Little League Baseball, but he hopes to have time for both later.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, observing National B&PW Week, Sept. 23-29, will honor the members of the Indoor Sports and Good Sports clubs at a tea. Claudia Arrick, at left, president of the Indoor Sports, Adele Cole, and Mrs. Joe Roberts, chairman of the tea committee, make plans for the affair, scheduled at Howard County Junior College at 3 p.m. Sept. 30. Mrs. Roberts was president of the B&PW Club when the Indoor Sports Club was organized with the assistance of the former club.

Observance Of B&PW Week To Begin With Breakfast Today

A breakfast, scheduled for this morning at the Settles Hotel, will mark the beginning of the observance of Business and Professional Women's Week.

Arrangements, with Mrs. Fred McGowan as general chairman of the week's activities, call for the teaching of the Sunday School lesson by Mrs. George O'Brien. Members were to attend the First Baptist Church in a body.

Special music was to be a song by Sue Boykin, accompanied by Mrs. Neil Frazier.

Slated for Tuesday evening is a public relations dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the Settles. Joyce Howard accompanied by Mrs. Frazier, will sing at the affair.

SPEAKER FROM MIDLAND
Guest speaker for the banquet will be Daphne Tabor of Midland, who has returned from Turkey, where she was sent as "goodwill ambassador." Her sponsors were the civic clubs of Midland.

Friday evening, a panel will be presented on the program, "Channel Four Calling," on station KBST-TV. Appearing on the panel will be Mrs. Robert Smith, president of the club, Mrs. Jewel Kuykendall, Mary Cantrell and Bessie Love.

The group will discuss the history of B&PW and will explain the aims and projects of the local club.

TEA SCHEDULED

Plans are under way for a tea honoring members of the Indoor Sports Club on the seventh anniversary of the club's founding. Slated for Oct. 30 at 3 p.m., the affair will be held at Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Chairman of the tea committee is Mrs. Joe Roberts, who was president at the time the Indoor Sports Club was organized by the B&PW. The woman's club has sponsored the group since the start as one of its projects.

Other members working with Mrs. Roberts include Adele Cole, Miss Love, Mrs. Myrtle Timms, Mrs. Elzie Johnston, Mrs. Iva Hale, Mrs. Neil Frazier, and Mrs.

Amour Long.
B&PW Clubs and Indoor and Good Sports Clubs in neighboring towns will be invited to the tea as will members of local residents.

CLUB PROJECTS
Current projects of the club are the assistance given to a girl in the school for the deaf at Austin; the awarding of a scholarship for Howard County Junior College to a local student; help with the establishment of a park for colored, and the purchase of shoes for needy children.

Money for the projects is made from the beauty pageant, which the club sponsors each year on the Fourth of July.

Surprise Party

LAMESA — Mrs. Elmer Cope was surprised with a birthday coffee Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. L. D. Echols. Assisting with the hostess duties was Mrs. Bill Britt. A red carnation corsage was presented to the honoree by the hostesses, with gifts being presented from the 18 ladies who attended.

Forum Has Social For First Meet

The first meeting of the Women's Forum was strictly social when the group gathered Friday morning in the home of Mrs. Omar Jones. Mrs. W. H. Bain and Mrs. Charles Compton were co-hostesses.

A brown linen cloth was used on the serving table. A piece of driftwood, brought from Corpus Christi by Mrs. Jones, formed the base of an arrangement of pompon chrysanthemums in autumn shades with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Copper accessories were used by the hostesses in serving refreshments. The next meeting will be Oct. 19, with the hostess to be announced.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Rex Baggett, Mrs. Ed Shive, Mrs. Jarrell Jones, Mrs. Charles Harwell, Mrs. Elton Gilliland, Mrs. George S. Thomas, Mrs. W. L. Gage, Mrs. Boyd Bryans, Mrs. Elmo Phillips, Mrs. J. O. McCrary, Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. Jack Alexander, Mrs. Walter Moore, Mrs. Buel Fox, Mrs. J. G. Lewis, Mrs. Jim Line, Mrs. D. W. Yater and Mrs. Floyd Parsons.

Mother's Club Is Organized By Choir

LAMESA — A Junior High Choir Mother's Club was organized Thursday morning to assist with the work of the choir. Mrs. L. L. Burkhardt was elected president; Mrs. Robert Dunn, vice president; Mrs. Jake Lippard, treasurer; and Mrs. Mae Austin, secretary.

For their first project the group will conduct a bake sale Sept. 29, with the proceeds going to purchase more robes for the 60-voice choir which is under the direction of Mrs. Tracy Campbell. Their next meeting will be on Sept. 27 at 9 a.m.

Local Women Go To Annual HD Meetings

Several local women plan to attend the 20th annual Home Demonstration Council, scheduled for the next three days in San Antonio. The annual Texas Home Demonstration Association will convene Thursday, Friday and Saturday, immediately following the national convention.

Attending from Howard County, which is in District Two, will be Mrs. John Sutherland of the Fairview HD Club; Mrs. B. J. Petty of the Elbow Club and Mrs. Sam Armstrong of the Coahoma Club.

One Home Demonstration agent from each of the 12 districts will be present. Attending for District Two will be Mrs. Robin Taylor of Swisher County.

Delegates from 39 states, Puerto Rico and Hawaii will participate in the national meeting.

Homemakers at the meeting will hear, among others on the program, Frances Scudder, director of the division of home economics, Federal Extension Service; Governor Allan Shivers of Texas; and Mrs. Greta Culp Hobby, former secretary of health, welfare and education.

Highlights of the state meeting will be election of officers, program planning and workshop sessions. These will cover the six main areas of activity: citizenship, education, health and safety, recreation, civil defense and 4-H Club work.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Prospects of a general election for class officers, student council officers, and student council representatives will meet H.C.J.C. students Monday morning. Voting will be held between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., with run-offs scheduled for Tuesday.

Nominations for the above positions took place Tuesday, during activity period, when time was set aside for both classes to meet. Billy McIlvain, head of the judicial nominations for student council officers;

Nominees for president of the student council are Billy McIlvain and John Richardson; vice president nominees are Don Isham, Jerry Hodges and Neldon Milstead. LaVerne Cooper, Mary Lou Staggs and Betty Earley are nominees for secretary of the student council, and treasurer nominees are Billy Ray Moore, Bettie Anderson, China Carroll and Al Kloven.

Running for president of the sophomore class will be six candidates: Mike Powell, Chubby Cloud, George Clark, Max McCulloch, Harold Hicks, and Bob Jones. To fill the office of sophomore vice president, a selection will be made from Freddy Stewart, Frank Dunlap, Doug Warren and Charley Brown. Secretary-treasurer nominees are Pat Dunn, Ann Green, Betty Hester, Shirley Ward and Yvonne Peterson.

Three sophomore representatives to the student council will be chosen from the candidates including Mary Lou Staggs, Wilella Hanks, Lloyd Hampton, Tommy Black, Dorothy Baker, Betty Earley, Freddie Stewart, James Sken and Louise Burchett.

Nominees for the offices held by members of the freshman class were chosen in a slightly different way. After all nominations had been made, the group then eliminated all candidates except the top two. A choice between Rodney Sheppard and Bobby Fuller will serve as president of this class will be made in tomorrow's election.

Vice president nominees from the freshman class are Jim Smith and Richard Engle, while Eunice Freeman and Mary Sue Hale are nominees for secretary. LaVelle Wasson and Marlene Mann are running for the office of treasurer.

Three freshman representatives to the student council will be chosen from the nominees, Stan Williams, Ann Porterfield, David Dibrell, Buddy Colvin, Julie Rainwater and Carolyn Dietz.

Serving as sponsors of the freshman class this year will be Mr. Robert Dyer and Miss Arah Phillips.

A social honoring the nominees was held in the SUB Tuesday night. A few of the couples and young people taking advantage of the opportunity were Max McCulloch, LaVerne Cooper; Buddy Mayes, Shirley Ward; Frances Booker, Clarence Taylor; Tommy Hammond, Lois Spivey; Julie Rainwater, Riss Roberts; Pat Dunn, Richard Hood; George Clark, Margie Keaton; Billy McIlvain, Janette Hunt; Billy Ray and Delores Moore; Glenn Jenkins, Sharron Creighton; Calvin Daniels, Anita Gardner; Lady Frances Jones, Bettie Anderson, Sandra Flowers, Tommy Black, Doug Warren and James Sken.

Two clubs meeting Thursday with the intentions of getting started for the year were Lass-O and the college YMCA group. The Lass-O's, adding other officers to the list of the previously elected president, Jo Ann Watkins, selected Louise Burchett as vice president; Gladys Oliver as secretary-treasurer and Dorothy Baker as reporter. Mrs. Harold Vail will join Mrs. Marshall Box as co-sponsor of the organization.

Rodney Sheppard was selected to serve as chairman of the temporary committee set up to prepare basic operations for the college Y group. Assisting on this committee will be Clara Freeman, Marlene Mann, Richard Engle, and Max McCulloch. Bo Hardy, general secretary of the local YMCA, was on hand during this first meeting to lead the group in a question and answer period, explaining any questions the group wished to ask about Y work.

A new member, Richard Engle, has been added to the faculty as administrative assistant, night school director, and head of the adult education department. Mr. Robert Dyer, who was formerly associated with Big Spring High School as head of the science department, fills the position of science instructor on our campus for the first time this year.

Arah Phillips, who was also a member of the BSHS faculty last year, has joined the administrative staff on this campus as head of the women's physical training department and as dean of women.

Miss Phillips, who filled the position of physical education instructor at the local high school and was coach to a champion girls' volleyball team there, will continue to coach a volleyball squad this year at H.C.J.C.

Mr. Fred E. Short fills the post of the college's first speech and drama department head. He is pioneering this type of development here and as expressed his delight at working with "raw material." (Shouldn't be too hard to find.) Mr. W. L. Walker joins the faculty as business administrator.

Announcement is being made of the marriage, on Sept. 5, of Ralph W. Winterrowd Jr. and Anne Burns. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Herman Hasey of Big Spring and R. W. Winterrowd of Pecos. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Winterrowd, 805 Rummels. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Burns of Springfield, Tenn.

LAMESA — Mrs. Polly Lee announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Sandy Sue, to Billy Eugene Cox. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox of Lamesa. The couple will be married Oct. 29 in the West Side Baptist Church. The Rev. Auther Thomas will read the ceremony.

Spadea's American designer pattern

by Donald Brooks

1280

FOR YOUNG AT HEART Coat Dress Is Simply Tailored, Easy To Make

Donald Brooks has a young way with his designs, as well he should. He is one of the bright new and young designers that are contributing a freshness to fashion.

This coat-dress of his, which will surely become your uniform this fall and winter, is tailored with utmost simplicity. Top stitching marks the broad collar and front double-breasted panel that opens on one side down to the last button.

It's as easy to make as it is to step into because the pattern is cut by hand and so carefully perforated that matching is accurate and precise. The sewing guide is simply written with step-by-step instructions for making the bound buttonholes with professional finish.

Make it in corduroy, velveteen, winter cotton, tweed, sheer wool or flannel. From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size 10, bust 34, waist 24 hips 35 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/2 inches; size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/2 inches; size 14, bust 36 1/2, waist 26 1/2, hips 37 1/2 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 17 1/4 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches, length from nape of neck to waist 17 3/4 inches.

Size 12 requires 3/4 yards of 54-inch material for coat-dress.

To order Pattern No. 1280, state size, enclose $1.00. Airmail handling requires 25 cents extra. Address American Designer Patterns, P. O. Box 535, G. P. O. Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. 144-page Pattern Booklet XII — 50 cents. If paid by check add 4 cents.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Glamour Definitions From Glamour Girls

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—No studio in Hollywood could boast the glamour I found on "The Opposite Sex" set at MGM, where "The Women" is being re-made into a musical. A star-studded row of dressing rooms greeted me with the names June Allyson, Joan Collins, Ann Miller, Ann Sheridan, Agnes Moorehead, Dolores Gray and Joan Blondell.

ways to win compliments and it is to wear a color which complements me. I adore Parma violets and I always wear something mauve, even if it is confined to my petticoat.
Joan Blondell admits that she has revised her definition of glamour. "In the beginning I was handicapped by a lack of security, and I expressed this by overdressing. I felt it would be smart to attract attention by what I wore rather than my own self. But now I know it is impossible, regardless of your choice of make-up and clothes, to be both insecure and attractive. You must FEEL attractive to BE attractive," she confided. "The illusion of beauty is created from within."

"When I first came to Hollywood it was the fashion for the studios to pluck out your eyebrows, bleach your hair and paint exaggerated lips. But you can't be beautiful if your outside doesn't match your inside," June exclaimed. "More than anything else, sex-appeal to me is never being artificial about anything. I prefer a clean, fresh skin to one smothered in make-up, and I feel it begins with immaculate cleanliness."
Joan Collins, who had just finished her famous bathtub scene, was wrapped in a terry cloth robe.

"An important part of being attractive," Joan said thoughtfully, "has to do with moderation and keeping away from extremes. Your figure stays in line if you don't overeat, and you can't burn the candle at both ends and look well. I have been told my eyes are my best feature. Joan's eyes are blue and heavily fringed with black lashes. But unless I have enough sleep, all the make-up tricks in the book won't conceal that lack of sparkle that comes with fatigue."
"Allowing enough time to dress means glamour to me," confided Ann Miller, who is one of the best-groomed stars in Hollywood. "It takes time to apply make-up subtly, and if I hurry I don't feel comfortable."

Ann believes that you can spot a real beauty by the way she has applied her lipstick.
"Your mouth has to be perfect, and you can't get a neat outline without using a brush." Once Ann leaves her dressing table she doesn't touch her mouth, even when she eats. "At night I like to use a darker shade for an outline," Ann believes in changing your colors with the clock.
"The same lipstick looks very different in artificial light than it does in the sun. And you must be sure your mouth is shaped correctly," she added. "Whatever change you make should not be obvious. That's why I like a full hour to brush. You can't look attractive if you rush."

To Dolores Gray, glamour means a lovely complexion. "I never appreciated how much depends on a good skin until mine became blotchy. When I was in London with 'Annie Get your Gun' I did eight shows a week. In three years this added up to 1,304 performances. My skin broke out from a combination of too much make-up and too little rest.
"I had to work long and hard to bring it back to normal," Dolores confessed. "I learned the painful way how incompatible are a bad complexion and beauty."

Ann Sheridan, who was the original "oomph girl," feels that glamour is closely allied with attracting the opposite sex. "I think there is nothing that will gather admiring glances like a fitted sheath. And it doesn't need a plunging neckline which shows cleavage. I think men like something left to the imagination. If you want to stand out in a crowd," Ann advises, "keep your figure in perfect shape, but clothe it in mystery. The most striking thing about Agnes Moorehead is her red hair, so it is not surprising that she defined glamour in terms of color. "There is more attraction and power in color than is generally recognized," Agnes told me. "Hospitals appreciate the value of color therapy. I have one of the surest

Sandra Klahr Is Honored

FORSAN — Sandra Klahr was honored on her tenth birthday with a weiner roast at the home of Mrs. Jesse Overton recently. Other hostesses were members of the junior GA of the Baptist Church.
Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones were recent visitors to Snyder with Mr. and Mrs. Hood Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Don Reed.
Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wiggins, Ardmore, Okla., are visiting their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bardwell. They are also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Price Stroud and family.
Harley Grant and Ray Prater were business visitors to Colorado City Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Seward are in Crane for a week's visit with their daughter, Sue.
J. R. Park is a patient in a

Big Spring Hospital. He is the father of Henry Park, Forsan. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lancaster have returned from a two weeks vacation in San Antonio.
Home from a visit in DeLeon is Mrs. J. W. Griffith.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swiger were recent business visitors in Andrews and Seminole.
Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Howard from Big Lake have been Mrs. Charles Ray Howard and Brenda.

MRS. CLAYTON SWEENEY must have a green thumb. She brought the most beautiful roses to the hospital. She tells me her little six-year-old neighbor volunteered to teach her how to grow dahlias.
DR. AND MRS. P. D. O'BRIEN returned Friday from Ruidoso, N. M., where they have been vacationing for the past two weeks. They were guests in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Douglass Sr.
That patch on MRS. JAMES A. ETHERIDGE'S eye isn't there because of what you might think. She knocked the "bark" off the corner of her eye. She accomplished this original development with the ear piece of her eye glasses. By the way, did you know Mrs. Etheridge taught history and government in Oklahoma schools for 17 years. Ted Wegmon, who resides here, is one of her former pupils. Speaking of Oklahoma, MRS. EVA PYEATT has returned from a visit in that state.
ROSS BOYKIN is back from Ahlens where he spent the week with his mother, MRS. FRANK HUGHES. Like many other people who depend on private wells for their water, the Hughes ran into trouble with the supply. Ross was helping get another well.
MRS. W. T. DYER of Fort Worth, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. D. Dyer, and Mr. Dyer. She plans to be here about a week.

Exercise Classes To Begin Monday Morn

Spencer-Wallace Rites Are Read

In a Saturday morning ceremony in Carlsbad, N. M., Ruby Spencer, 1000 Rummels, and W. L. Wallace, 200 Nolan, exchanged double ring wedding vows.
Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Prevost, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wallace, Monroe, La.
The bride wore a blue knit suit with white accessories.
The couple will make a home at 1500 Settles.
Mrs. Wallace was formerly employed at the Cactus Grill and Wallace is employed by Hayworth's Service Station.

4-H Club Officers

New officers for the Center Point 4-H Club are as follows: Jennie McKee, president; Joanne Neill, vice president; Camella Ryan, secretary; Elaine Langley, reporter; Cathy Cantrell, council delegate, and Connie Shaffer, recreation leader. The group is under the leadership of Elizabeth Pace, home demonstration agent.

Coffee Given

LAMESA — Mrs. Chuck Keithley was the hostess Thursday morning for a coffee honoring Lois Comiskey and Mrs. Russell Post of Kansas City, Mo. They are visiting here with Father James Comiskey.

Today's gleanings might be called "Round the Room." It's not so bad being in the hospital. I can talk all I want to . . . I have a nice room, a telephone and television if I want it. When I look out my window, the decorative features on the front of the building are in view and if I do a lot of imagining they can look like a poor man's "Taj Mahal." Of course days like Friday bring me right back to earth. That I mean literally. A great deal of it blew by my window.

MR. AND MRS. JACK DOUGLAS and their son, Jack, of Fort Worth, and MR. AND MRS. JESSE DOUGLAS, Albany, parents of Jack Douglas, stopped here briefly Friday. Jack is a former sports editor of the Herald and now is on the staff of the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

While on the Herald staff some 15 years ago, Jack's big story was covering the lost naval transport plane (which lost a couple of men when parachutes failed to open near Ackerly). The transport itself landed safely in South Texas, but when another transport came here to pick up the surviving crew members who had bailed out, it crashed into the side of a mountain not far from base in San Diego.

MRS. CLAYTON SWEENEY must have a green thumb. She brought the most beautiful roses to the hospital. She tells me her little six-year-old neighbor volunteered to teach her how to grow dahlias.

DR. AND MRS. P. D. O'BRIEN returned Friday from Ruidoso, N. M., where they have been vacationing for the past two weeks. They were guests in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Douglass Sr.

That patch on MRS. JAMES A. ETHERIDGE'S eye isn't there

Lamesa Women To Work In Migrant Kindergarten

LAMESA — Beginning Monday, women from all over Lamesa will again go to the Recreation Hall of the Labor Camp to assist with the migrant kindergarten. Last fall, the United Council of Church Women in Lamesa provided a kindergarten for the pre-school age children of migrant workers. The success of the venture was so great that again this year the women will have the school for six weeks.
More than 50 women gave volunteer hours to helping with the nursery, which had a total enrollment of 80 Latin-American children, and an average daily attendance of 28 children.

Hyperions Have Annual Luncheon

A luncheon was given at the Settles Hotel Saturday with all the Hyperion clubs of the city participating.
The program, arranged by members of the 1953 Hyperion Club, was in charge of Mrs. Harold Davis. Floyd Parsons, superintendent of schools, was presented to the group as guest speaker.
Special music was given by Eunice Freeman, who sang, accompanied by Julie Rainwater. Tables were decorated under the supervision of Mrs. Herbert Keaton of the 1930 club. On the speakers' table, owl bookends held several volumes; fall flowers were used, and a golden runner on the tables formed the background for a collection of compasses, books, notebooks, apples and graduates' mortarboards.
This meeting is the annual affair, which is held preceding the beginning of the club season. Mrs. R. W. Thompson is president of the federation.

When you give your heart to a boy—

You're in for some trouble — when your heart belongs to a boy. Boys don't like soap. Boys scuff up their shoes. Boys make too much noise when they're home — and when they go off to school, leave a house that is far too still.
You're in for a world of happiness, too — when your heart belongs to a boy. The kind of happiness that erases tears, shuts out loneliness, rubs away all kinds of aches and pains.
Small wonder mothers love their little boys so very, very much.

One of these days your boy will be starting off to school in his shiny new shoes and fresh clean shirt. And he'll start learning all the things he needs to know to make him the kind of man you want him to grow up to be.
One of the most important lessons for your son to learn is the meaning of thrift and the value of a regular savings program. And that's what the U. S. Treasury's School Savings Program will teach him.
By the purchase of 10¢ and 25¢ Savings

Stamps in their schools, children are investing in U. S. Savings Bonds on the installment plan. And, as you know, Savings Bonds are one of the best investments that any of us can make.
Is your child's school participating in this important program? Why not speak to your principal, school superintendent or P.T.A. group about it?
Encourage your child to buy Savings Stamps regularly. Start the U. S. School Savings Program in your town today!

The Big Spring Concert Association Proudly Announces Its 1956-57 Series

Mantovani and his 45-pc. Orchestra
The First Piano Quartet
The Chicago Civic Opera Ballet

In booking Mantovani with his tremendously popular "New Music", the incomparable First Piano Quartet, with its exciting and superb interpretations; the exquisitely lovely Chicago Opera Ballet with its own orchestra and lavish scenery — the Big Spring Concert Association has booked the most outstanding series ever offered here. If at all possible, a fourth program will be added.

No more important names or talented artists will be on the concert stage anywhere in the nation this season. The series here is second to none, and at the price of $6 per season membership ($3 for students), it is an astounding bargain in the best of entertainment.

The seating capacity of the City Auditorium, where these programs will be presented, is limited. Already the association has been besieged with requests. Act promptly to make sure that you secure your membership — now.

MANTOVANI

FIRST PIANO QUARTET
 MARCH 28, 1957

No Single Admissions For Any Performance.

ONLY MEMBERS
 May Attend The Program

Mantovani, a name of musical magic, has been booked as the opening program of the current Civic Concert series. Many have said that this presentation alone is worth the price of the entire series. Mantovani has America spellbound with his new music. Until now millions have known him only through his fabulous recordings, and now this Venetian-born Londoner is making his first tour of the United States. With his 45-piece orchestra, he employs sweeping melody, combined with orchestral ingenuity. Familiar melodies of many lands are transformed into thrilling new patterns of sound. Whether it is a serenade by Tschaiakowsky or an invocation by Handel, a waltz by Strauss or a tango by Lecuona, Mantovani brings "New Music" that will be long remembered.

One of the newest and most exciting ballet companies in the country today is Ruth Page's Chicago Opera Ballet. It combines rare beauty with lavish costumes and handsome decor, and has its own orchestra under the direction of Isaas van Grove.

Miss Page has scored a major coup in securing the incomparable Marjorie Tallchief and George Skibine, leading dancers who have secured a leave of absence from the Marquis de Cuevas Ballet of Paris in order to fill this engagement.

The Big Spring Concert audience will be privileged to see Miss Page's widely acclaimed ballets, "The Merry Widow", set to an arrangement of the gay and tuneful Lehar score, and "Revenge", adapted from the great Verdi opera, "Il Traviatore".

What is the ultimate in piano combination? You'll find only one answer the nation over to this — the First Piano Quartet. Everywhere — without exception — the Quartet has received glowing tributes from critics.

All members of the First Piano Quartet belong to that rare genus of musical child prodigy that has made good. Adam Garner gave his first public performance at the age of six as guest artist with the famous Warsaw Philharmonic Orchestra, and has gone on to establish his place as a composer and virtuoso. Edward Hausman played the Mendelssohn G Minor Concerto with the Pennsylvania State Music Association Symphony at 12 and has achieved distinction as teacher and artist. Frank Mittler was first on the concert platform at age nine in his native Vienna. He has been composer, opera director, teacher, arranger. When Edward Edson was only eight, his concert playing left a Chicago critic explaining "He represents an older generation, for few . . . can play Chopin with such a degree of comprehension".

CTC'S SECRETARY James Eubanks starts in new job.

Eubanks To Be On Job In CTC Secretaryship Monday

James Eubanks starts his first week here as secretary of the Citizens' Traffic Commission Monday. He spent part of last week in Lubbock studying the CTC's methods and was on the payroll at the time. He was appointed to the position by the city commission at its meeting Sept. 11.

College, 1947-49. While with Stanolind, Eubanks was a personnel clerk. Mr. and Mrs. Eubanks live at 1200 Marjio and have two children, Patricia, 8, and Rebecca Lynn, 4. Mrs. Eubanks is secretary to Larson Lloyd, at the Security State Bank.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

You may be hearing a lot about Jo Stafford's newest record release, "Love Me Good." She has been a pretty long time between hit records, but this one seems to have hit the bull's eye.

Kay Starr, superb on "The Things I Never Had," seems to have recorded a natural. Although this record hasn't been long on the market, it is causing some comment.

Sea Saga At 2 Theatres

"Away All Boats," a saga of Pacific Ocean amphibious war during World War II, shows at two Big Spring theatres this week. The film plays at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre Thursday through Saturday on a double bill with "The Lone Hand," starring Joel McCrea and Barbara Hale.

TOPS ON TEE-VEE

New Shows, Football On The Screen

Football and some of the season's new programs are on tap for KBST-TV this week. Today at noon, the Washington Redskins-Detroit Lions pro game will be shown from Buffalo, N. Y.

Another game of interest will be the Baylor-Texas Tech grid tilt in Waco, which will be televised at 1:45 p.m. next Saturday. The game will be followed at 4:30 by Pick The Victor, a 15-minute local program devoted to a football scoreboard with scores given as they are received.

Some other shows of interest this week are as follows (all times are p.m.):

- SUNDAY
7:00-General Electric Theatre: Greer Garson stars in "The Glorious Gift of Molly Malloy."
9:00-Ed Sullivan Show: Guests include Helen Traubel, Edith Piaf, Jean Carroll and Janos Plof, Jean Carroll and Janos Plof, Jean Carroll and Janos Plof.

The Week's Playbill

- RITZ
Sunday through Tuesday "AMBASSADOR'S DAUGHTER," with Olivia de Havilland and John Forsythe.
Wednesday through Saturday "LAST WAGON."
STATE
Sunday through Tuesday "DALLAS," with Gary Cooper and Ruth Roman; also, "DISTANT DRUMS," with Gary Cooper and Mary Alden.

Charles Laughton Almost Overlooked Latest Venture

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Charles Laughton, one of the theater's most dynamic spirits, nearly overlooked his latest bold Broadway venture. A half-hour nap woke him up. "I simply didn't understand until that day—then I was bitten hard," says the rotund star.

Boxing Film Is Jet Attraction

Audie Murphy and Barbara Rush star in "World in My Corner," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Murphy portrays a youth, reared in poverty in the slums of Jersey City, who makes a play for the big time by entering the fight racket.

Borgnine Asks Contract End

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Ernest Borgnine has asked Superior Court to end his contract with the company which produced the picture that skyrocketed him to film fame. He also wants $142,500 damages.

New Plot Idea In State Film

A plot idea that hasn't come up for a long time is used in "I Cover the Underworld," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre. The plot involves identical twins, one a gang leader about to be released from prison, the other a divinity student.

Legate To Legate

Olivia DeHavilland plays the ambassador's daughter in the film of that same name showing at the Ritz Theatre Sunday through Tuesday. She dances with co-star John Forsythe in this scene from the film.

Long Line Of Suits

Joe Clark, co-manager of Prager's, displays one of the Mayfield suits from the store's big new stock. Scores of suits by "name" manufacturers are on display in the enlarged Prager's. Air conditioned dressing rooms are adjacent to the display area.

Prager's Features Well-Known Brands

Nationally advertised brands of men's and boys' clothing are featured exclusively in the new Prager's, in line with a policy adopted by Morris Prager on establishment of his first Big Spring store many years ago.

In the hat department, for instance, you'll find Resistol, "the self conforming" hats, along with Texas Miller, Borsalino and Bradford lines. Incidentally, Prager's new hat display is the largest you'll find anywhere in West Texas. More than 1,000 hats will be on display in the store at all times.

Prager's features Mayfield Four-Star suits, as well as suits by Hampton Heath, and Hollymode. Sport coats by Mayfield, Berkbray, Hardwick and Cresco are offered, along with jackets fashioned by Berkbray, Cresco, Buckskin Joe and Palomino.

Van Heusen shirts are prominent at Prager's. The store also features Jockey, Hanes and Cooper underwear, Dickie's khakis, and Levi's bluejeans. Other western wear is styled by the popular H-Bar-C designers and manufacturers.

In the shoe department at Prager's you'll see such well-known

Designers Used Head

Designers at Prager's Men and Boys Store turned an awkward structural problem into a unique display window.

When the new owners started thinking of how they were going to change the front of the building, they were temporarily stumped on what to do with reinforcement steel on either side of the stairway in the center of the store front.

The steel could not be removed without weakening the building, but it must be changed to allow the show windows to be slanted back.

The owners decided to enclose the opening with tile and make it into a small show window.

For the opening of their new store, Prager's is modeling boys' wear in the window.

Men's Store Has A Ladies Lounge For Wives, Moms

You might expect a men and boys store to be a sort of a woman's land.

Actually, this is not the case, for Prager's is delighted to have the ladies shop for their husbands, sons and friends.

There are many ways in which the store management and personnel attempt to add the comfort and convenience of women shoppers. One is through the provision of a ladies lounge — in a men's store.

Temperatures To Be Pleasant

Temperatures will always be pleasant at Prager's Men and Boys Store at 102-04 E. Third.

The big store has a 15-ton refrigerative air conditioner. The central heating unit also works off the same duct system, which is smuggled between the lowered ceiling and the roof. Air pleasantly cooled or warmed will not only be circulated over the store proper, but it will be vented into the four men's dressing rooms and the two boys' dressing rooms upstairs, as well as in the restrooms, the lounge, and the office.

Much Of Activity Is Out Of Sight

A large part of the Prager's operation in the store's new location will be out of sight and sound of patrons.

That's because of the open display and "back-up" storage policies of the firm.

Prager's will have goods on display only on open shelves and racks, permitting customers to make a close examination of the various products. Sales personnel expect their customers to make use of their senses of touch as well as sight.

Such a policy necessitates a ready supply of replacement goods, for when an item is sold, it must be replaced on the display counters by a similar product immediately.

This might sound like a considerable chore, but Prager's has solved the problem by providing ample "back-up" storage. The entire perimeter of the store is utilized for this purpose.

For example, behind the shirt shelves is a storage area filled with hundreds of additional shirts. When one is sold from the shelves, Prager personnel have only to step into the nearby storage area to secure a replacement.

Similar reserve stocks are in storage immediately in back of the shelves of western wear, work clothing, shoes, suits, coats, hats, etc.

The system also adds to the attractiveness of the new store. Customers will see no stock boxes or packages; they're all in the storage area and will never clutter the spacious sales portions of the store.

Display Windows Easily Entered

Display windows at Prager's store are large and easily accessible for dressing.

Side windows have a single door access and the center windows have two doors which will permit dressing of one half of the window at a time without any awkwardness or difficulty. The windows all have a plush brown carpet and are backed by brown to beige drapes. In the center of the exterior of the store is a shadow box display for items to be accentuated.

Western Wear Is Big Department

Western wear — for both men and women — continues to be one of the big departments after Prager's move to their new quarters. With the exception of hats and boots, all western clothing is gathered in one area — the right corner of the store underneath the balcony. Naturally, the hats and boots are in their respective areas with other foot and head wear.

Sailors Won't Have To Think

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Naval Electronics Laboratory here is working, along with private research organizations, on electronic computers for shipboard operation on all combatant ships. The "thinking machines" would be used to process the amount of data which are required for accurate fire control, guided-missile control, and anti-aircraft defense in the atom-jet missile age at sea.

Trial Due On Punch Charge

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — The Marine Corps will put an Erie, Pa., corporal on trial before a special court-martial on a charge of maltreating a recruit who says he was slugged in the stomach. No date has been set for the trial of Richard J. Billie, 21. The former supply corporal was transferred to a cleaning job after Pvt. Donald Hamisfar of Norwalk, Ohio, complained he was attacked for failing to say "sir" to him.

Hamisfar, 20, confronted Billie at a hearing yesterday before Lt. Col. Oscar Peatross, commander of the 5th Recruit Training Battalion here. Hamisfar said he was punched and pushed backward Aug. 23, his second day at this recruit training depot, while his platoon was drawing training equipment. Unlike Sgt. Matthew C. McKoon, convicted of negligent homicide by a general court-martial here last month in the drowning of six recruits, Cpl. Billie was not in command of any troops. Billie was charged with maltreating a person subject to his orders.

The hearing was closed, but the special court-martial will be open to the public. Conviction could result in a bad conduct discharge, confinement at hard labor for six months, forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay, and reduction to private.

Shirts and pants will be displayed on separate tables, and a separate counter will feature ladies wear. Also on racks in the department will be western sport coats, heavy coats, and western-style suits.

Levi Strauss and H-Bar-C brands are handled by Prager's in men's wear, and for women, they have Painted Desert. Every color of the rainbow is mixed in their shirt assortment, plus a large range of solids. To remove the need of walking to another department, two dressing rooms are provided in the western department. A large mirror is also mounted on the wall between two clothes racks for convenience. Prager's is not short of stocks of Levi jeans, shirts, and jackets. A space approximately three by 12 feet houses jeans alone, and other large areas are given over to shirts and jackets. These are men's sizes; in the boys' sizes, Prager's has Dickie's and Levi's. Lined oak counters, used throughout the new store, are installed in the western department, and the wall color scheme is tan and pink.

Methodists, But Wrong Wedding

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP) — It was the right denomination but the wrong church. An out-of-town couple arrived by car and asked for the Methodist Church, where they were to attend a wedding.

They were directed to First Methodist Church. The wedding started before they realized it was the wrong couple. They couldn't leave without disturbing the services so they sat through the ceremony.

Then they left hurriedly for Trinity Methodist Church, but no one learned whether they got there on time.

Maybe Thief Fired The Bolt

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Lightning struck a ground wire and set James Waldron's rural store afire. The fire burned out the store's stock.

And while the fire was burning, somebody stole more than $100 from the cash drawer and a brand new $15 hat.

The "SELF-CONFORMING" leather adjusts instantly to your headshape!

The "Self-Conforming" leather is measured exactly to head size — then suspended by a rubberized fabric into a slightly larger hat. PEVELY, Mo. (AP) — Farmers in this area won't believe their eyes if they happen to spot a couple of critters on the loose in these parts.

Modern Front For An Up-To-Date Store

Aluminum, glass, tile, cut stone and neon all went into the front design at the modern, new Prager's store for men and boys at 102-104 E. 3rd Street. Formal opening is set for Monday. A unique feature of the establishment is the small showcase (center) which permits both front and back views of clothing which will be on display there. The window serves a dual purpose. The tiled columns provide support for the second story of the Prager Building. Doorway to the offices upstairs may be seen at the left of the big display windows.

Expansive Front, Big Show Windows Make Impressive Addition To City's Businesses

The broad front of the big new Prager's store for men and boys is an impressive addition to the business face of Big Spring's Third Street.

Situated just east of the Main Street corner, the Prager building has been given a complete face lifting, to give the structure an outside appearance in keeping with the modern interior design of the store.

For persons familiar with the arrangement and appearance of the building prior to the remodeling, the most striking change probably is the relocation of the stairway which leads to second floor offices. The stairway formerly bisected the building. It has been moved to the eastern wall of the building. At the point where it formerly struck the sidewalk, Prager's has installed a walk-around showcase.

This tiled show area serves a dual purpose. It permits display of merchandise in a position where Big Springers can get both a front and back view and it encases second floor supports which engineers found could not be disturbed in the remodeling project.

The outside showcase occupies the center of the tiled, triangle-shaped entranceway in the front of the new Prager's. Flanking it on two legs of the triangle (the third is in the sidewalk) are two larger display windows, featuring gleaming glass and bright aluminum framing. In these will be displayed a wide assortment of Prager's suits, shoes and other items of clothing for men and boys.

Wide doorway to the store is located in the corner of the entrance triangle, near the west edge of the store. As the customer enters, he will be flanked on the left by the largest display of hats in West Texas and on the right by an impressive array of shirts and men's accessories.

The hat display occupies the entire front wall of the store. More than 1,000 hats can be exhibited at one time. And there won't be a hat box in sight.

The "no-boxes-in-sight" idea is a characteristic of the entire store. Whether it be hats, shirts, socks, handkerchiefs, or any other line of goods, all will be shown on open shelves with all the boxes and wrappings removed.

Down the east wall of the store

are hung the hundreds of men's suits which make up the Prager stocks. The display fixtures are broken at convenient intervals by entrances to the dressing rooms where customers may retire in air conditioned comfort to try on their selections.

Adjacent to the display of suits and toward the center of the store are the colorful racks of sport coats and jackets and the circular, revolving displays of slacks and other trousers. There are so many of these that, with the suits and coats, they take up the entire east side of the store.

In the rear of the store and under the balcony boys' department is Prager's shoe department. Comfortably furnished and carpeted, the arrangement permits the fitting of shoes in a semi-secluded area.

West wall of the store is taken up at the front by the display of shirts (there are hundreds of these showing at once, also) and much of Prager's western wear and work clothing. The latter is in a section toward the rear of the store.

Down the center of the building are the low cases of socks, underwear, ties, men's jewelry, billfolds and similar articles.

All of the fixtures and display racks are fashioned of limed oak with chrome metal fittings. Their exclusive design permits easy vision across the entire store, so that the customer can spot the department he wishes to visit in one sweeping glance across the interior.

Except in the shoe department, the display windows and on the stairway, the floor is covered with vinyl tile of a recently-developed texture, resilient, as well as durable. The tile and carpeting are in beige-to-brown tones blending with the buff ceiling and "toast" color of the upper portion of the walls. Lower sections of the walls are textured in a light green, backing up the limed oak fixtures and trim. Fluorescent lighting is used, assuring even, a delectable light throughout the store, revealing merchandise in its true colors.

Prager's spared no expense in assuring customer comfort in the new establishment. A 15-ton Westinghouse air conditioner provides an even, pleasant temperature in the summer, and during the cold months a central heating plant will take over, distributing precisely warmed air through the same extensive duct systems that serves for air conditioning in the summer.

The new Prager's store has approximately two and a half times the floor space occupied in the old building. Merchandise has been expanded to take full advantage of the enlarged facilities and to provide Big Springers with an even greater array of items to choose from.

Modern Design Employed In Store's Front

Modern design is completely employed in Prager's front show cases.

Following the modern trend, the cases are off the street and set at an angle away from the sidewalks. This gives prospective customers a change to view window displays without being bothered by other persons hurrying along the sidewalk.

Also with the counters sweeping back at a slight angle, more window space is provided.

Their displays also feature sand-colored tinted glass, cutting down on the amount of sunlight shining through which could fade merchandise. The tinted glass also removes the need of shades over the displays in certain times of the day.

One of the windows cuts back sharply from the street and roughly faces east and slightly north. The other longer window to the left of the store entrance is viewable more from the street and faces almost north and slightly west.

In addition to the large displays, a small window was created out of the old upstairs entrance. It too has tinted glass.

All are well lighted with spots and are carpeted. The longer display can be entered by two doors, making it possible to divide the window on occasion for two displays and not have to bother partitions in working on them.

Boy Was Doing All The Good!

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Culppeper checked to see how their eight-year-old son Jimmy was faring in the adjoining hotel room — his first experience with his own private room. It was 11 p.m.

They heard the click of the telephone receiver and Jimmy's authoritative voice: "Room service? I'll have a double chocolate milk shake. Rush that, please."

'Amber Juice' Seized By LCB

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A local man asked the Erie County Court to return his car and "four gallons of amber colored grape juice, commonly known as wine." The car and wine were seized by state police at nearby Lawrence Park under orders of the State Liquor Control Board. The man was charged with violating state liquor laws.

Is 'Ghost Town' Easy To Move?

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — T. E. Smith has bought himself a ghost town for $551.25.

For that figure he got 36 buildings in Husted, a hamlet that has to be removed because it is on land that is part of the grounds of the U. S. Air Force Academy, under construction north of Colorado Springs.

Smith, a real estate dealer, said he is confident he can sell all the buildings before the Oct. 1 removal deadline.

Plastic Profession Fluid In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican Supreme Court says it is no crime to practice a profession as long as you do not claim to be something you are not.

The opinion was given in the case of Mario del Rio, a well-known plastic surgeon. He appealed from a fine imposed by the Ministry of Health on a charge of usurpation of the profession of a medical surgeon.

The court ruled in his favor, saying he had not claimed to be a licensed doctor or medical surgeon.

Burglar Should A'Stood In Bed

OMAHA (AP) — The burglar who broke into a packing company here must have had butter-fingers.

Police investigation disclosed a trail of blood indicating the burglar slashed his hands on broken glass; jimmied a door only to find it led to an outside loading dock; tried again and laboriously pried two padlocks free to find they guarded a cooler door; found a quarter of beef too heavy to carry and settled for a small piece of beef cut from the quarter. The stolen meat was of the poorest grade.

'Nerve Center' Is Over Front

Not everyone will see the nerve center of Prager's Men and Boys Store, but the office is a key unit nevertheless. It is located upstairs over the front of the store.

Air conditioning and ample illumination make it a pleasant place. The area has been redecorated and is spacious for its purposes.

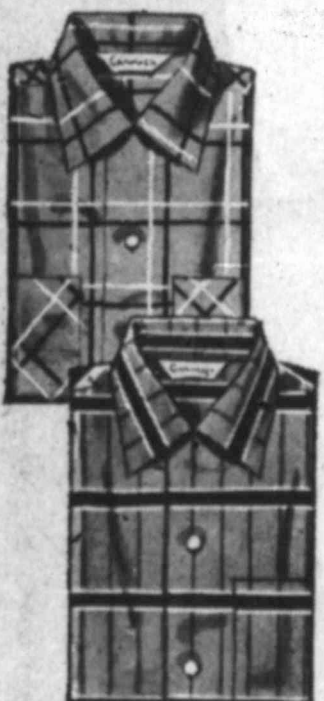

Adjoining the office is another large room which may be used alternately for a variety of purposes such as auxiliary storage, sample display room for salesmen, and in rush seasons as the gift wrapping department. It will be connected with a downstairs storage room by a chute so that packages may be delivered promptly when completed.

Hats, Hats And More Hats

A. J. Prager, co-manager of Prager's, stands in one section of the hat department at the new store. The hat display is planned as the largest in West Texas. More than 1,000 hats can be put on display at one time.

Sportswear

Ray Russell, one of the Prager's staff, displays one of the scores of sport coats which are on view in the new store. Sport coats, jackets and shirts, along with a wide array of slacks, may be seen in the new store during its formal opening Monday. "Name brands" are featured throughout the store.

Prager Building Stairway Moved

Big Springers wanting to go to offices above the new Prager's Store on East Third will find a show case where the stairway used to be.

The new access to the second floor of the building is to the east of the show windows and not facing the street. The door of solid glass faces the west. The show windows on the east side of the entrance to store are cut back the width of the upstairs access.

Balcony In New Prager's Is Home For Boys' Department

The upstairs section of Prager's new store on Third Street is given over to boys' wear and shoes.

Only one room at the head of the stairs is not used in displaying and fitting boys' wear; that room is the store's alteration and lay-away area.

The large balcony is painted blue, and the shoe store is entered on the way to the main boys' shopping area there.

Prager's features Hallmark Shoes for Boys, products made by the Brown Shoe Company.

Their shoe stock is mounted in three racks, one against the north and south walls, and one in the center of the area. A planter box adorns the top of the center shoe rack. Fitting chairs are installed in the section.

Moving into the main boys' clothing area, all types of boys' wear, from suits to socks, are situated on racks and counters.

Shirt racks are mounted on the south and east walls of the balcony, from the floor up. On the west wall will be suit and coat racks. In the center will be a slack-spinner rack and also a sock bar.

Accessories are mounted on the lined-oak counter towards the south where the wrapping and sales are made.

Two separate dressing rooms are constructed on the floor and also a ladies lounge.

Esskay slacks, suits, sport coats, and slack suit sets are featured in boys' wear, and also Palomino sport jackets. In boys' sports shirts, Prager's carries Carnegie models. Carnegie manufactures sports shirts alone.

Welon and Bal-Tuck pajamas are carried, and Dickie and Levi jeans. In the western type of clothing, Prager's has H-Bar-C brand items. Socks are by Bur-Mil, and they carry Jockey and Hanes underwear.

Their belts are by Tex-Tan, and they have Paucker knit shirts and sweaters.
