Hong Kong Riots Enter Second Day

HONG KONG (AP)—British troops and police battled with riot guns, bayonets and tear gas today against frenzied mobs of Chinese rioting and pillaging for the second straight day on Hong Kong's mainland Kowloon Peninsula. At least eight Chinese were reported dead in the century's worst outbreak of violence in the British crown colony packed to the explosion point with refugees from Communist China. Foreigners, leftists and their property, and police stations were the chief targets of the mob. But there was also considerable indiscriminate looting and pillaging. Hundreds of persons were injured, including a Swiss couple badly burned when a mob set fire to their taxi. The taxi driver died. Some of the mobs stopped cars and extorted money from the occupants. At dusk, the troops and police appeared to be bringing the mobs under control. Acting Gov. E. B. David ordered a curfew for Kowloon's 1 1/2 million people from 7:30 p.m. to 10 a.m. The order did not apply to the island of Hong Kong, where a million persons live. The island remained free of trouble. Spotter planes hovered overhead as the British Tommies charged with fixed bayonets against the furious thousands trying to overrun the building. The rioting began yesterday, finally died down at dawn, and then erupted again about noon in the Sham Shui Po sector of northwest Kowloon. Eight Britons were hospitalized and dozens of others were given first aid. No Americans were listed among the casualties. The U.S. consulate announced that an earlier report an American lieutenant had been stoned was incorrect. Some 1,750 Americans live in the colony, and it is a favorite leave spot for U.S. military forces in the Pacific. At the renewal of violence, leaves for all U.S. military personnel were canceled. The crews of the three American Navy ships in the harbor — the destroyers Calvert and Quappaw and the station ship Gardiner's Bay — were kept aboard. Property damage from burning and looting was estimated in the millions of dollars.

Reports Due In UF Drive By Friday

First significant reports in the 1956 United Fund campaign are due late this afternoon and Friday. Second report of the Advance Gifts Division was scheduled for this afternoon. Workers in that phase of the campaign already have reported more than one-third of their $45,000 objective. First reports from workers in the Special, General and Employee Divisions are due Friday. The three groups started their canvass Tuesday and thus far only a few small reports have trickled into UF headquarters at the Settles. Workers are urged to make their reports to Sheila Egan for Special Gifts Division; Betty Pitts, General; Harolene Elvstone, Advance; and Myronne Thomas, Employee Division. The UF drive is for $87,550 for 10 welfare and youth agencies.

Prostitution Is Ruled Subject To Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Tax Court has ruled that earnings from prostitution are subject to federal income tax. Upholding Internal Revenue Service claims totaling $27,430 against Blanche E. Lane of Chicago, described by the court as a prostitute, the opinion said of the contest action brought by Miss Lane. "From the petition filed herein, we gather that petitioner's contention is that 'the wages of sin' are exempt from taxation. No citation of authority is necessary for the proposition that this contention is not tenable. 'Petitioner, who ignored other laws, disregarded the provisions of the federal taxing statutes.' The internal revenue claims covered the years 1940 through 1951, when the court said Miss Lane operated a house of prostitution and derived other income from rental property, but failed to file any returns. The tax claims totaled $4,680, plus $12,750 in fraud and other penalties, all upheld by the court. Miss Lane's suit contended that 'sums derived by the petitioner do not constitute income subject to tax, to the best of her information, belief and knowledge.'

Girl, 8, Heir To Fortune Because Of Kin's Kindness

BEAUMONT (AP)—An 8-year-old girl fell heir to $1,800,000 yesterday because her grandfather gave a job to a young woman 44 years ago. The girl, Edith Diane Brown, is the granddaughter of R. L. Brown Sr., Beaumont insurance man. Brown said he employed the late Mrs. Edith Marshall when she first came to Beaumont in 1912. The bequest was revealed when an inventory of Mrs. Marshall's estate was filed. She was the widow of Courtney Marshall, Magnolia Petroleum Co. executive. (See feature story on Page 4)

Officials Called In Salk Price Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators summoned federal health officials today for an inquiry into the profits and pricing practices of polio vaccine manufacturers supplying the government. To date, the government has purchased approximately 27 million dollars worth of vaccine from five licensed drug firms for free public distribution. In advance of the hearing, investigators said government supply contracts had been let on virtually identical price bids. Rep. Fountain (D-NC), chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the situation, said, "Certainly an antitrust question is involved." "We want to know if there is any violation of the antitrust laws through price fixing," he said in an interview. "And primarily we are interested in knowing whether the government has taken adequate precautions against paying too much for the vaccine." After the Salk vaccine was proved effective, Congress voted $53,600,000 for the purchase through June 1957 of vaccine for distribution to the states in furnishing free inoculations. Of this amount, $44,600,000 was exclusively for vaccine purchases and approximately nine millions was for both purchases and defraying costs of administering the program. The government's actual purchases thus far total 27 millions. The licensed suppliers are Eli Lilly & Co., Weyth Laboratories, Sharp & Dohme, Pitman & Moore and Parke-Davis. Committee investigators said a study of government purchase contracts showed unit prices for nine-shot vials of the vaccine ranged from $7.13 in October 1955 to $5.70 in June of this year.

Ike Fires Back At Adlai Over H-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, firing back at Adlai Stevenson, said today his administration has done everything humanly possible to bring the H-bomb threat under international control and use atomic power for peaceful purposes. Eisenhower also told a news conference he regards management of America's internal affairs as the paramount issue of the presidential campaign. A reporter told Eisenhower that Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address at Seattle Tuesday night that "Republican politicians, including the President, have little understanding or sympathy with attempts to save man from the greatest horror his ingenuity has ever devised." Stevenson was talking about the H-bomb and defending his proposal that H-bomb tests be ended, under certain conditions. Stevenson's suggestions that H-bomb testing be ended and that the possibility of halting the military draft be explored have turned into two of the hottest issues of the campaign. Eisenhower said today he has uttered his last words on those two subjects. Most of today's news conference, like others of the past few weeks, was devoted to politics. Eisenhower did say, in response to a question, that he is willing to go anywhere and do anything to help bring about a peaceful solution of the Suez crisis. He said, however, it must be a peace with justice. As for his re-election prospects, Eisenhower said in response to another question that the only thing he has to go on in trying to evaluate his chances for a second term are the campaign crowds and receptions he encounters in traveling around the country. Eisenhower's attention was called to a magazine article by Paul Hoffman, former automobile industry executive and head of the foreign aid program during the Truman administration. A reporter told the President Hoffman had written that such Republican senators as George Malone of Nevada, William Jenner of Indiana and Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin have no place in the "new" Republican party. The newsmen further quoted Hoffman as having written that senators who are not with Eisenhower are against him. "The President drew a laugh at that point by asking: Well, what about it?" The reporter said he wanted to know whether Eisenhower agreed with Hoffman. The President replied that actually in this country there are 48 state parties, and no national party, and that there is nothing he can do to change that situation. As for McCarthy, Jenner and Malone, Eisenhower said that in many things those senators do not agree with him and that in looking for support of a program for the good of the country, he cannot look to them. All three are hold-over senators who are not up for re-election this year. A reporter recalled that some weeks ago Eisenhower said he would have another full scale physical examination prior to the Nov. 6 election. The reporter asked when it would take place. Eisenhower replied that he has not been set but that he probably will have the examination some time before the end of this month. On the Suez situation, Eisenhower was told that news dispatches from London and Paris reflect a feeling of anti-Americanism abroad, and suggest that a factor in it is the United States election campaign. Eisenhower replied that he sees no basis for any contention that election year politics may be coloring this country's foreign policy. As for Suez, the President called it an error for anyone to feel that American policy on that matter has not been clear and firm from the start. The questioning veered to the Supreme Court ruling against racial segregation in public schools. A reporter recalled that the President told a news conference several weeks ago that it was not important whether he endorsed that ruling or not. At the time the President added that the important thing is that he is sworn to uphold the Constitution and high court decisions. Today he repeated that we must stand by the Constitution and the fact that he is sworn to uphold it. He said he does not ask himself on each issue, whether he agrees with all the provisions and rulings. The President was told, in connection with his earlier remarks, that some members of the opposition party have contended in the campaign that it is important whether Eisenhower endorses the Supreme Court ruling. Stevenson, for one has made such a statement.

Still Some Juice In The Cane
An East Texas scene transplanted to Mitchell County—Amos and Andy furnish the power for a cane mill which Johnson Biggers is using to prove that there's still a little juice in West Texas cane. Booker Mays is in the background. Biggers, center, and Otis Mays, feeding cane to the mill.

Cane's Dry Now, But C-City Man Looks For Future In Syrup Press

By TOM JAY GOSS II
COLORADO CITY — After selling 20 gallons of syrup before the cane juice could hardly cool, Johnson Biggers, 69-year-old Colorado City Negro, thinks there may be a future in syrup making. To settle an argument, Biggers went back to Milam County about three weeks ago and borrowed a cane mill to see whether dry land Mitchell County cane had any juice in it. "You wouldn't get enough juice to wet the press," a Colorado Citian told Biggers. "It'll bet you $10 to two that you can't make syrup with it." The cane was pretty dry but Biggers won his $10 and has two gallons of syrup left. "I had to hide that," he chuckled, "one man came up here and threw down three dollars and picked up a bucket of syrup, saying 'that's all right, ain't it?'" Biggers says that one fall in Milam County he made up 1,200 gallons of cane syrup. Based on his current experience he said that he plans to get a mill and process more cane next year. Landowners have promised to plant a few acres of sugar cane on irrigated land, and Biggers reckons that it will have plenty of "juice." Biggers, who lost his wife several years ago, does yard work and hauls trash at Colorado City. "Anything to make a livin'," he says, "I won't steal." At his place, on Dead Man's Creek south of Colorado City, he has a pair of young steers trained to accept a yoke and pull his wagon. They are Amos and Andy and are sometimes spelled at the wagon by a lop-eared mule named Ike.

School Officials Ready To Go With Revaluation Of Property

Property revaluation and school construction were the main items on a three-hour agenda for school trustees Wednesday. The school board decided it is ready to proceed immediately with a general re-appraisal of taxable property of the school district. This action came after Supt. Floyd Parsons reported that the school district "was given considerable encouragement" concerning eligibility for additional federal funds under Public Law 815. Parsons said he conferred with representatives of the U. S. Office of Education and the Texas Education Agency on the subject recently. Two teacher resignations were accepted, and election of three staff members was approved. Resignations were received from Mrs. Lois Burleson Twitt, who has been teaching sixth graders at North Ward, and Twilla Lomax, who taught the fourth grade at Washington School. Elected were S. M. Anderson, director of elementary education; Mrs. R. M. Williams, assigned to sixth grade at North Ward, and Mrs. Barbara Curry, assigned to second grade at North Ward. Anderson succeeds Dr. Loyal V. Norman who resigned early in September to accept superintendency of schools at Elko, Nev. He has been employed at $7,500 per year, the same salary Norman received. Anderson, from Hebronville, has 24 years of teaching experience and holds an M.S. degree from Texas A&I College. Don Crockett, special services director for the school system, was appointed textbook custodian to replace W. C. Blankenship, who resigned. Trustees gave approval to a joint-use agreement for the new athletic stadium on the HCCJ campus. HCCJ trustees already had approved the pact. Board members requested that the local association of insurance agents initiate a study aimed at equalizing the annual insurance premiums of the school district. Supt. Parsons reported that enrollment in city schools Oct. 5 was 5,397, a drop of four students from the year's peak thus far. Wednesday's meeting started out as a luncheon affair at the Wagon Wheel restaurant. It lasted until after 3 p.m. Plunk, Plunk, Plunk
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Plunk went a little into the mouth of a 2 1/2-year-old girl. Plunk into the family car and to the hospital. Plunk onto the table and plunk, off the table and onto her feet went Trudy May Plunk. Doctors suggested that little Trudy was doing fine but should plunk her nickles down for ice cream in the future.

BUT DRUGS COULD STOP IT Half Of All Women Turn To Witches Once A Month

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—At least half of all women are regularly transformed into tense, irritable "witches" raising hob with their husbands, children, bosses and friends, a gynecologist said today. And if they only knew why, they could all take drugs to avoid it and make life happier all around, said Dr. Erle Henriksen of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. Their trouble is physical, caused by hormonal changes coming every month, and the witch spells last a few to six days. It is known as pre-menstrual tension. The spells end when menstruation begins. The hormonal changes make their bodies swell with stored water. That apparently produces pressures on nerve centers in the brain. Symptoms include irritability, tension, easy anger, quarrelsomeness, insomnia, headache, depression, nervousness, vague discomforts, swelling of the feet so that shoes feel tight. Dr. Henriksen, speaking to the American College of Surgeons, said the upsets can be mild or severe. He said "they can be classified as witch one types, witch two, or witch triple A. You can list the symptoms for each category, and the women will tell you which they become." At all other times, these same women are usually very pleasant with likeable personalities. Victims are usually the more intelligent women, usually the perfectionist type who never relaxes. Dr. Henriksen said the best drug he had found for the condition is neohydrin, a mercurial compound which speeds elimination of excess water.

Atlantic Scoured In Wide Search

LAKENHEATH, England (AP)—A U.S. military transport plane with 59 aboard vanished over the eastern Atlantic today. Scores of planes and ships started a far-flung search. The missing craft, a giant C118 Liftmaster of the Military Air Transport Service, was carrying two Air Force officers and 48 Air Force enlisted men back to the United States after duty in England. Also aboard was a nine-man Navy crew of three officers and six enlisted men. The four-engine plane, military version of the civilian DC6, left this American base, 60 miles north of London, at 6:26 p.m. (1:26 p.m., EST) yesterday on a 1,200-mile leg to Lajes Air Force Base in the Azores. It was last heard from at 8:36 p.m. (3:36 p.m., EST) when it was approximately 180 miles southwest of Land's End, Britain's most westerly point. The U.S. 7th Air Division in London said a signal, reported to be an SOS, that was picked up by search planes and relayed to Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland as possibly coming from the Liftmaster, was a garbled version of a message between freighters discussing the search operation. The transport was due at Lajes at 12:21 a.m. today (7:21 p.m., EST Wednesday). When it last reported back to base here it still had enough fuel to keep it airborne until 5:30 a.m. today (12:30 a.m. EST). At 4 a.m., however, American and British military authorities ordered a gigantic search of the entire ocean area from England to the Azores on the presumption that the plane was down. Normally planes of MATS have three or more life rafts, each capable of carrying 20 men. Passengers aboard also are required to wear lifejackets to sustain them in the water in case of a crash at sea. An Air Force spokesman said only military personnel was aboard the Liftmaster, which was believed to have arrived in Britain from its U.S. base two days ago. By noon today the planes engaged in the search had swelled to 20, including three six-engine U.S. B47 jet bombers flying at high altitude and using radar in an effort to pick up some clue. Other British American and Portuguese air force planes from Germany, France, North Africa and the Azores scoured the eastern Atlantic, and all shipping in the area was asked to be on the alert for signs of wreckage or survivors. The search was aided by excellent weather and visibility up to 18 miles. Rescue operations were being directed from St. Magwans, Wales.

Farm Chief Benson Tells Views In Book

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson set forth his agricultural philosophy in a new book, "Farmers at the Crossroads," published today. The 107-page book was based on the secretary's speeches and released at a time when his policies are a major campaign issue. The cover jacket describes the book as "The agricultural testament of a man who learned about farming by farming, and whom President Eisenhower considers one of the greatest secretaries of agriculture in the history of the country." The principle of flexible price supports for farm products—Eisenhower administration policy—is strongly backed by Benson in the book as against the higher rigid supports backed by the Democrats for basic crops. "1956-57 is a time of decision," Benson wrote. "The battle against ruinous high rigid price supports was won in 1954 and successfully defended in 1955. But the attack will continue. We must safeguard and extend our gains. Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom. We must stand and be counted for what we know is right." Here are some excerpts from the book: "The most important method of promoting the long-time welfare of farm people and the nation is the support of adequate programs of research and education in the producing, processing, marketing and utilization of farm products and in problems of rural living." "Inefficiency should not be subsidized in agriculture or any other segment of our economy. Relief programs should be operated as such—not as an aid to the entire agricultural industry. Emergency programs should be terminated as soon as the emergency is over."

Elvis-Crosby Battle

LODI, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Nancy Adams, 40, testified her husband struck her because she's an Elvis Presley fan and he likes Bing Crosby. Her husband Anthony said she struck him. Magistrate Frank Carbonetti found both innocent of assault charges. There were four other air deaths of service personnel in July, 43 in September, and 13 thus far this month. Last month, 16 men tracing a typhoon over the Sea of Japan were lost, and 11 persons in another plane were killed off Alaska.

NAACP Officials Fight State Charges

TYLER (AP)—Two high national NAACP officials came to court today to fight state charges that could seriously affect efforts to break the color line. "We're finally getting our chance," said Thurgood Marshall, nationally prominent Negro attorney. Roy Wilkins, national executive director of the NAACP, flew in yesterday. The state attorney general has presented almost 400 exhibits to support arguments that a temporary restraining order against the NAACP in Texas should be made permanent. Yesterday, state's attorneys said they had about three hours of testimony remaining. The NAACP has objected to almost every exhibit, contending principally that the state has no right to gather the material. Atty. Gen. Shepperd has tried to prove the NAACP was guilty of soliciting integration suits and that, as a charitable organization, it had engaged in politics and showed a profit in violation of its state charter. The NAACP charged that Shepperd's investigators violated constitutional rights in their statewide investigation. In cross examination, NAACP attorneys have indicated they may hold that at least some of Shepperd's evidence was obtained because the investigators were accompanied by armed state patrolmen or Texas Rangers. Yesterday Marshall closely cross-examined Fred Jones, head of the state affairs division of the attorney general's office. Jones said investigations of barratry (solicitation of lawsuits) would be in his department "if directed by the attorney general." "Did you investigate the picketing and riots at Mansfield? Did you investigate the picketing at Texarkana Junior College?" Marshall asked, mentioning two recent racial disturbances in Texas. "No," said Jones, adding that he did not have such orders from the attorney general. First Asst. Atty. Gen. Grant drew from Jones answers that the attorney general's department often cooperated with investigations made by the secretary of state and other agencies.

Vet Land Program Faces Strong Test

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—Just how much confidence the public has in the veterans land program will be crystal clear after Nov. 6.

The Legislature has asked the people to vote then whether they want to double the size of the present 100 million dollar GI aid program.

The amendment also would shake up the composition of the three-man board, with the governor and attorney general replaced by two appointed members, one familiar with veterans affairs, the other with finances. The land commissioner still would be at the helm.

In approving the amendment, Texas lawmakers gave the program a big vote of confidence last year and declared that maladministration had caused the scandals which rocked the state and sent former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles to jail.

Before the Constitution can be patched, an amendment must get two-thirds approval of both houses and a simple majority at the polls.

Opponents claim no further expansion should take place until the administration of the program is in good order and the confidence of the people restored.

They also say that the first 100 million dollars helped less than two per cent of the eligible veterans. They argue that land values have so increased that the $7,500 maximum per veteran will not buy enough land to make a living on and pay for it too.

Proponents claim the administration has now been put in order and the vets program is the only concrete help the state has given its veterans.

Those favoring approval say that more veterans will be able to participate if more money is made available. It would put private citizens on the board for four year terms who have the necessary experience and time for their duties.

Commissioner Earl Rudder was appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers to the land office after Giles refused to qualify for his term in January, 1955. Rudder won the Democratic nomination for a two-year term this summer.

Of the amendment, Rudder said "if the people approve it, we'll try our best to give the program the finest possible management."

Despite the irregularities, Asst. Atty. Gen. D. S. Meredith said recently that the attorney general's office was confident that a profit for the state would be the ultimate result. He reasoned that the state would make money because of the interest involved in court judgments against land owners whose sales to the Veterans Land Board are being voided. Through lawsuits, the state has recovered $2,004,976 so far in illegal transactions.

The amendment provides that the money will be used only to buy land within the state. The portion not immediately committed thusly could be invested in short term U.S. bonds.

After Dec. 1, 1959, sufficient monies from the sale of lands and interest on deferred payments would be set aside for retirement of bonds and to pay interest thereon. After Dec. 1, 1965, money not needed to retire the bonds or to pay interest thereon would be credited to the general revenue fund of the state.

Adlai Opens Major California Effort

By The Associated Press

Adlai E. Stevenson opened a major campaign effort in California today after renewing his charge that President Eisenhower has been "indifferent" to unemployment, school overcrowding and Social Security problems.

Cheered on by an overflow audience in Portland, Ore., Stevenson said last night that Eisenhower, in his Pittsburgh speech Tuesday night, "set up a lot of straw men and then proceeded to slay them gallantly — while righteously denouncing political irresponsibility."

The Democratic standard bearer planned to stump today in the heavily populated San Francisco Bay area and make a nationwide radio-television speech tonight.

Before leaving Oregon, Stevenson was assured by Democratic leaders there that he would win the state's six electoral votes which went to Eisenhower four years ago.

Vice President Nixon, a native Californian, ended a swing in his home state yesterday and headed for Elko, Nev., and Boulder, Colo.

In a speech in San Francisco's Chinese section, Nixon said Eisenhower's foreign policy has been aimed at identifying "explosive danger spots in advance" and that it sought through what he called "careful, constant effort . . . to remove irritants which would lead to armed conflict."

Nixon was the target of shafts aimed by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice presidential nominee. In Buffalo, N.Y., last night, Kefauver said that "Richard Nixon represents the triumph of the Old Guard in the Republican party. He is their man, heart and soul."

Kefauver said that if Eisenhower is elected, he would be a "lame duck president" and that Nixon would be the "man of the future in the Republican party."

Turning westward today, Kefauver was due to barnstorm in Iowa, with scheduled stops at Des Moines and several other places.

Former President Truman was out campaigning for the Democratic ticket. In Moundsville, W. Va., he said last night that the Eisenhower administration is characterized by what he termed a "great indifference to the growing needs of our country."

In addition to echoing Stevenson's sentiments on this score, Truman said that under the Republicans "we've lost a great many close international friends on account of the bungling in the State Department . . ."

Home Training Lack Gets Blame In Brainwash Cases

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—An Army psychiatrist says many U. S. prisoners of war yielded to Communist brainwashing because they did not receive proper training at home.

Maj. William E. Mayer, attached to Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio, Tex., said American parents are failing to teach their children "they can't surrender to what they believe wrong, they can't always 'make a deal.'"

Mayer, who has interrogated U.S. soldiers held prisoner during the Korean War, spoke at a Phoenix Press Club forum last night. He said the Army cannot be expected to provide soldiers with a new set of ethical standards. These standards, he said, must be established by home training.

Mayer said fewer than 1 per cent of the U. S. soldiers held prisoner in Korea were tortured or brutally treated. But about 30 per cent made propaganda tape recordings for the Communists, he said.

Ten per cent informed on other American prisoners, he said, without having been threatened.

"And 40 per cent of the prisoners died before they were released. They were not starved or physically mistreated. At least half died of 'give-up-itis,'" he said.

No Plans Here For Historical Society

There are no plans for Howard County to join with more than 200 other Texas counties in a project to preserve historical heritages and set up permanent plans for the perpetuation of landmarks and mementoes of the past.

An act of the legislature in 1953 created what was known as the Texas State Historical survey committee and 18 interested citizens were appointed by the governor to study the subject of the preservation and dissemination of the records of Texas and Texans.

The study embraces six major areas including houses, sites and landmarks, arts and crafts, archives, papers and documents, parks, museums and schools. Several hundred Texas organizations participated in the study.

Out of this work came what is known as the Texas Historical Foundation and the 18 members of the Survey Committee constitute the first board of directors. This foundation is a non-profit state wide foundation designated to act as coordinating agency and to supply leadership in the encouragement and stimulation of activities designed to increased interest in Texas history and Texas historical material.

George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, has announced that 200 counties have named county historical survey committees and he has sent an invitation to Howard County to R. H. Weaver, county judge—suggesting that such a committee be created in this county. No action has been taken on this suggestion.

On Oct. 27, Hill said, a state-wide meeting is scheduled in Austin and each county is being asked to send a representative to the meeting.

Headquarters for the State Historical Survey group have been established at 202 First Federal Building in Austin.

Texas Demo Push Gaining Momentum

By The Associated Press
The push to return Texas to the Democratic column gained momentum Wednesday as Senate Majority Leader Johnson announced seven U.S. senators would stump for the party.
From the Democrats for Eisenhower Headquarters coordinator Weldon Hart quipped ("We are highly complimented at the attention we are receiving from the Stevenson-Kefauver forces. It verifies our own conclusion that we are making a great deal of headway."
W. R. Smith, chairman of the Eisenhower group, made his second statewide radio speech Thursday. He said President Eisenhower kept his promise to return the tidelands to Texas, and pointed out in 1952 Stevenson said he would veto such a bill. This year Stevenson said the tidelands was a closed issue.
Gov. Shivers had his office release Wednesday a proclamation designating Saturday as Ike Day. The President's birthday is Sunday. Shivers has again pledged to support Eisenhower.
Sen. Symington (D-Mo) will lead off the Democrats who will speak at special dinners and rallies. Symington will speak at a $100-a-plate dinner at Abilene Oct. 16. Other senators include Kennedy (Mass), Gore (Tenn), Mansfield (Mont), Long (La), Kerr (Okla), and Monroney (Okla).

Johnson said Speaker Rayburn and Democratic gubernatorial nominee Daniel will be in some of the tours.
Johnson said the Democrats "do not underestimate the effectiveness of leadership by Shivers, Porter and Hart." H. J. Porter is the state Republican national committeeman.
He said they were "adroit and aggressive" but carrying on "a Nixon smear and fear campaign in Texas." Johnson said the group won't say they are Republicans and are trying to "prejudice Texans with advertisements of Walter Reuther while in the East they say labor is the Republicans' friend."
Referring to the Democrats for Eisenhower, Johnson said the seven senators "are coming under the official auspices of the Democratic party, something the Republicans won't do."
The visiting senators, Johnson said, "would stress the importance of getting out the farm vote. We can hold our own in the cities, and I think we will get the majority from the farm areas."

Mother, 4 Children Die When Fire Sweeps Home

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—A 60-year-old mother and four of her children perished early today when fire swept their six-room home in this Bridgeport suburb. The mother, a daughter and two sons were only 15 feet from the front door when they were felled by dense smoke. Another son was found in an upstairs bedroom, a short distance from the window.
They were Mrs. Florence Talbot, whose husband died six months ago; her 13-year-old daughter Patty, and three sons, Thomas, 21, Robert, 23, and Jack, 22. Jack's body was found up stairs.
All had been in bed when the blaze broke out, apparently in a kitchen oil burner, about 12:45 a.m. Fire Chief Theodore Lockwood said.

He said the four who came down the stairs almost made it to safety. But, he added, "They apparently piled up coming down the stairs in the dense smoke. Fifteen feet more and they would have made it."
"They must have been awakened by the smoke and started down the stairs. The first one down must have stopped and the others just piled up behind. We found them there near the door."
A daughter and two other sons live away from home.

Blind Woman To Secure Guide Dog

Elons are sending Mrs. C. F. Boland to San Rafael, Calif. on Sunday so that she may qualify for a guide dog.
She has been accepted for the six-week course at the Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., a non-profit institution sustained solely by contributions.
At the outset she will be assigned a dog which will become her constant companion henceforth. For the next six weeks she will learn how to respond to the pulls and tugs of her dog and to trust her movements to his guidance.
After this course is completed, Mrs. Boland will spend another two weeks in occupational guidance to equip her for special work when she returns home.
Dr. Marshall Cawley, president, announced Wednesday that the club had provided transportation to and from the California school, together with some incidental expense.
The school which she is attending was established in 1952 to serve the blind in 22 western states. So far, some 500 blind people have completed their training (there is no charge to them during training) and have been given dogs.
At the Wednesday meeting, formalities were waived so that members could relax and enjoy what was left of the World Series. TV sets were provided through the courtesy of L. M. Brooks Appliance Co.

Fairy Godmother Was Real Enough

By JERRY LYNAS
Beaumont Journal Staff
Written for The Associated Press
BEAUMONT (AP)—"Cinderella is just a fairy tale!"

With these words, a pretty little brown-haired girl with an impish grin and dancing brown eyes let the world know today that she doesn't believe in fairies or in fairy godmothers.

This is strange, considering that a real fairy godmother—in this case it was a cousin, twice removed—had waved a magic wand over this little girl's head.

The magic wand didn't change pumpkins into stage coaches nor mice into footmen. Instead, it bestowed the fantastic sum of $1,800,000 upon this little girl, who still doesn't have the slightest idea of how much a million dollars is.

The little girl is Edith Diane Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brown of Beaumont.

Diane, who will be 9 on Oct. 28, first learned the news Tuesday night, a full month after her parents had been told that she had been willed the money by Mrs. Edith Axline Marshall, who died Aug. 2.

Her brother, Ralph Brown III, 7, better known as "Bubba," was told at the same time.

"I just sat the two of them down and told them," Brown said.

"Diane became hysterical at first."

"Her excitement was short-lived, however. Wednesday night as she was being photographed, she wasn't concerned about money. She was worrying about how her dog would look, how her hair would look and just how many of the pictures would be published.

Bubba didn't have his mind on money either. He was coaxing his father to play a game of marbles with him."

The news astounded Diane's classmates in the third grade at Field Elementary School.

Diane's teacher, Mrs. Clayton Brackin, said Diane appeared to be the least excited about the news of any of the students.

"I was worried about what the other students might say to Diane," Mrs. Brackin said. "I counseled them a little on the subject before class started."

Mrs. Brackin said Diane said she was surprised to find out that she was being willed the money.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Alvin Moore, Big Spring, and Mrs. C. W. Sample, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Opal Grant, Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Oma Rest, Brooklyn, N. Y.; one brother, Oran Constant, address unknown; and three grandchildren.

Mr. Mason's father of A-1 C. Grady Mason of Coahoma, died about 6 p. m. Wednesday in Guntersville, Ala., his home.

Mr. Mason had been ill for many months. His son had just returned from an extended leave in Guntersville.

Airman Mason and his wife, the former Deanna Lou Hunter of Coahoma, went back to Alabama today for funeral services which will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday. The Carr Funeral Home, Guntersville, is in charge of arrangements.

Dee Constant Dies Of Attack

DeWitt S. (Dee) Constant, 51, died, suddenly of heart attack at his home at 811 W. 3rd Street Wednesday evening.

He had come off of a job with a crew of his Big Spring N. O. Company, complaining he had been unable to get relief from indigestion. He went upstairs to the bathroom to get a glass of warm water when he collapsed and died.

Funeral arrangements are pending word from relatives. The remains are in state at River Funeral Home.

For the past 20 years Mr. Constant had made his home in Big Spring, operating the neon sign company most of that time. He was a Baptist and a member of the Elks and Eagles lodges.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Alvin Moore, Big Spring, and Mrs. C. W. Sample, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Opal Grant, Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Oma Rest, Brooklyn, N. Y.; one brother, Oran Constant, address unknown; and three grandchildren.

Invitations were mailed to 275 families employed in the oil industry here to attend the barbecue. The first three winners of the essay contest will receive, in order, $35, $20 and $10 prizes, said Woodrum.

In addition, they will be submitted to the Permian Basin Contest where they will be considered in the $500, $300 and $200 Scholarship Contest.

A report of the Christmas Activities Committee was given by Barbee, the panel's chairman. They have planned the usual Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn, the Santa Claus parade, the increased decorations in the downtown area and at North Fourth and Dallas Streets.

The chairman of the Program of Work committee, Richard Crawley, reported that questionnaires to determine the course of activities during the ensuing year will be in the mail in the near future.

right through her studies Wednesday, the day after she had been told the news.

What will the $1,800,000 bequest mean to Diane in the immediate future?

Actually very little.

Under the will, the money will be held in trust. Diane will receive one-third of the entire income from the trust estate when she is 21.

She will receive the principal of the estate in installments: a fourth, when she reaches 25; a third of the remainder when she reaches 33, and the balance when she reaches 37.

Diane was willed the bulk of Mrs. Marshall's estate which consisted of $2,121,079 in personal property and $116,427 in real estate.

Diane's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brown Sr., also of Beaumont, were left 1,250 shares of oil company stock, and Nettie Plumb, a friend of Mrs. Marshall, was left the contents of the Marshall home in Beaumont.

The will provides that if Diane dies without children the residue of the estate will be divided seven ways among Robert Bromley, of Stamford, Conn.; Mary Ann Brown of Massillon, Ohio; Malcolm, Martha, Gilbert and Gloria Baker of Dallas; and Diane's brother, Ralph.

Diane's father is a mechanical engineer at the Magnolia refinery here, an amateur photographer, a dabbler in oil painting, and a do-it-yourself enthusiast.

Friends say he practically built the interior of the handsome 3-bedroom home in which he and his family live.

Police checked almost 200 cars and trucks by radar this morning and issued only two tickets.

This, said Chief C. L. Rogers, indicated that motorists are either more speed conscious or they are heading toward the signs.

Sergeant Alvin Hilbrunner reported that the radar was used on W. Third from 5 until 6 a. m. and it checked 69 cars. Of that number, only 13 were traveling over 30 and these were only slightly over the limit—not enough to issue a ticket.

The unit was then used on W. Fourth from 6 a. m. to 6:45 and 110 vehicles were checked. Two tickets were issued here and a total of 26 were driving over the authorized 30 miles per hour.

The other 24 were driving so close to 30 the policemen did not issue tickets.

New Policeman To Start Work

A former policeman at Odessa will go to work with the local police department Friday.

He is William Riddle, whose appointment was approved by the city commission Tuesday. Police Chief C. L. Rogers said he would be on one of the two night shifts.

Riddle will fill the vacancy created when Paul Eslinger resigned two weeks ago. Eslinger joined the police department last March. Riddle has nine years police department experience, six of which was with the Odessa force.

While in Odessa, he was a shift captain for a time, Rogers said.

West Huddles Again On Suez Problem

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The foreign ministers of Britain, France and Egypt went into a third private meeting with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today in another effort to settle the Suez problem.

They scheduled another conference for this afternoon after a closed door session of the 11-nation Security Council. But there was no sign any progress had been made toward a solution.

For the first time since the private talks began Hammarskjöld met with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov for a Suez conference. Shepilov would not comment as he left the U.N. building afterwards. Hammarskjöld also talked with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic.

Hammarskjöld discussed the Suez dispute for 90 minutes Tuesday and for nearly three hours yesterday with the British, French and Egyptian ministers. French Foreign Minister Christian Pincau said the talks had been "pure exploration."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd continued to insist that there was no basis for published reports that Britain had modified her insistence on international control of the 103-mile waterway Egyptian President Nasser took over July 26.

"There is no new British plan," Lloyd told newsmen. "There has been no switch in British policy."

Whooping Cranes Seen In Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Game Commission Director Mel Steen said yesterday 13 whooping cranes were sighted in north-central Nebraska.

The rare, giant white birds migrate from summer haunts in Alberta, Canada, at this season to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas for the winter.

Steen said he expects the birds may spend a few days in Nebraska before moving south-southeast into Kansas.

Only 27 known whooping cranes are left in the world.

Details Of Pig Show Being Wrapped Up

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, and his office staff are busy winding up details of the annual pig show.

He said that the show was a success in general and that the sale which was the closing feature was satisfactory. Final check of records is being completed and statements have been sent to the bidders who bought animals at the auction.

Tile Work Starts In City Auditorium

Crews were laying tile on the aisles of the city auditorium today. Pioneer Builders received contract for the work and are laying a cork shade of asphalt tile on the aisles, the stairways, and the lobby behind the balcony. The work is costing $1,347.

Work started Monday, but initial procedure was removal of the old tile. Work today however was laying the tile.

Local 'Mssionaries' To Take Part In Revivals In Alaska

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the church's board of deacons, left today for a two-week mission assignment in Alaska.

Dr. O'Brien will spend 14 days in Kenai, on the tip of Kenai peninsula and southwest of Seward and Anchorage. Dr. Malone, meantime, will be moving from city to city, projecting the pictures which he and Dr. O'Brien took during their tour of the Holy Land in 1951.

Their schedule calls for transfer from Continental Air Lines at Denver to United and arrival at 12:30 a. m. Friday in Seattle, Wash. They will spend the day in Seattle, where all the other 20 Southern Baptist ministers will gather for a briefing to coordinate their efforts in a two-weeks simultaneous revival over the length and breadth of Alaska.

Kenai is a town of about 3,500 people and has an United States Army base of several thousand plus an U. S. weather station. The main industry is commercial fishing.

One service a day will be held in the new church, organized last year and served by a former Texas minister, the Rev. James Lawson. There are about 100 members, and the city furnishes a potential of 300 to 400 members.

Once a week all the visiting ministers will come into Anchorage for a general meeting and report session.

Dr. Malone's itinerary calls for one of his stops above the Arctic circle.

Dr. O'Brien said he had been

AT LAMESA C Of C Banquet Tickets On Sale

LAMESA — Tickets to the annual Lamesa Chamber of Commerce banquet went on sale Wednesday.

Members of the Round-Up Club and the board of directors of the chamber will attempt to sell 250 tickets at $2 each, according to Walter Buckel, chamber president.

The banquet has been set for Monday, Oct. 29, at the high school cafeteria. The Lamesa High School Chorus, under the direction of Everett McAuley, will furnish the program. Louis E. Throgmorton, vice president of the Republican National Life Insurance Company of Dallas, is to be the special speaker.

Treasurer Fred Barbee told C. C. directors Wednesday that the income for the fiscal year ending September 30 was $33,702. Expenses for the year were $21,833.17, leaving a balance of $11,868.83.

The chamber's oil committee chairman, Bobby Woodrum, reported that several activities are being planned in observance of Oil Progress Week. Among them are the Oil Appreciation barbecue, slated for Thursday, 7-9 p. m., at the high school cafeteria; bumper strips for autos; and an essay contest at the schools.

Invitations were mailed to 275 families employed in the oil industry here to attend the barbecue. The first three winners of the essay contest will receive, in order, $35, $20 and $10 prizes, said Woodrum.

In addition, they will be submitted to the Permian Basin Contest where they will be considered in the $500, $300 and $200 Scholarship Contest.

A report of the Christmas Activities Committee was given by Barbee, the panel's chairman. They have planned the usual Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn, the Santa Claus parade, the increased decorations in the downtown area and at North Fourth and Dallas Streets.

The chairman of the Program of Work committee, Richard Crawley, reported that questionnaires to determine the course of activities during the ensuing year will be in the mail in the near future.

W. H. Mason, father of A-1 C. Grady Mason of Coahoma, died about 6 p. m. Wednesday in Guntersville, Ala., his home.

Mr. Mason had been ill for many months. His son had just returned from an extended leave in Guntersville.

Airman Mason and his wife, the former Deanna Lou Hunter of Coahoma, went back to Alabama today for funeral services which will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday. The Carr Funeral Home, Guntersville, is in charge of arrangements.

Whitney Set For Army Duty

City Manger Herbert Whitney will become Lt. Col. Whitney this weekend when he reports for duty at Fort Belvoir, Va., for 12 days of active military duty.

Whitney is in the Army reserve and has been called back for the period of active duty. He will leave here Friday morning and report at Fort Belvoir before 6 p. m. Sunday. The training will end Oct. 25.

He will attend a field-grade of officers' engineering school there. Until Sept. 1, members of the reserve unit which Whitney commanded did not have a period of active duty unless requested. But the unit became an Army School on Sept. 1 and the assigned members now face two weeks active work each year.

Mermaid Back In Basement

DETROIT (AP)—Poor "Sunglitter." She's back in the basement of the Detroit Art Institute again because she's a mermaid and mermaids don't wear clothes. "Sunglitter" is a statue of a mermaid and her dolphin by the late sculptor Carl Milles. Twice the art institute has offered it to the Detroit City Council to beautify the new civic center. For the second time, Councilman Eugene Van Antwerp killed the idea. Van Antwerp said he objects to the impression the statue might make on the city's youth.

Shooter Of Noisy Train Convicted

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A 36-year-old Tulsan, who tried to quiet a "noisy" Midland Valley freight train by firing his shotgun, was found guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon. The jury convicted Alfred A. Diffee but failed to agree on punishment—which could range up to five years. Sentencing was set for Oct. 19. A 51-year-old railroad car inspector, H. Hopper, was injured by the shotgun blast while standing on one of the freights last June 8. Diffee admitted he fired the weapon, but said he had no intention of hitting anyone, just wanting to "scare them" from making noise while switching trains close to his back yard.

Jury Trial Ends With Dismissal

Because two state witnesses twice violated orders of the court and discussed evidence in the case in which they were to testify, Judge R. H. Weaver, county court, ordered charges against Mildred Dean Plummer, charging DWI, dismissed. The court acted shortly after the session had resumed its Wednesday afternoon session. Mrs. Plummer had been on trial for the charge against her and the state had completed its testimony. George Thomas, attorney for the defendant, had informed the court that the state witnesses had violated the instructions of the court in invoking the rule. This first motion for a mistrial was quashed. It was presented at the morning session. In the afternoon, Thomas renewed his motion and alleged a second offense against the court rules by state witnesses. Judge Weaver inquired into the circumstances and upheld the defense motion. The case was dismissed. Alvin Dickson, charged with aggravated assault Oct. 6 on Anna Baker, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 by the court.

Appeals Court To Study Case

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday announced that Everett Melton Reynolds had submitted an appeal from his conviction in 118th District Court. The appeal was submitted on the record of the trial in the lower court. Reynolds, who pleaded guilty some months ago to forgery of a check for $422.10 cashed at White's Auto Store, was sentenced to two years in prison. He asked for time to pay off the check and arrange his affairs and a motion for an appeal was filed in his behalf. This motion is now before the appellate court. He has been at liberty on appeal bond. Gil Jones, district attorney, said that in most appeal cases where such actions are submitted on the record, action is generally taken by the court in around two weeks from the time the motion is filed.

Court Overrules Plea By Slayer For Execution

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Supreme Court has rejected, without comment, the plea of Gilbert F. Collie, 76, convicted "Gorilla Man" slayer, that he be executed to end "this living death" in prison. The court turned down yesterday Collie's self-composed habeas corpus petition asking that he be hanged or set free after serving 24 years of a life term. Collie, a muscular San Bernardino blacksmith, was convicted in 1932 of murdering two men. He was called "Gorilla Man" because of his great strength. "I am old, infirm, ready for death, and tired of this mockery of justice," Collie wrote in his plea. "I want freedom from this living death."

New Deadline On Part Of Soil Bank

Deadline for filing applications under the conservation reserve section of the soil bank plan has been extended to Nov. 30. Gabe Hammack, in charge of the county ASC office, said that producers, still under the impression that the deadline was Oct. 25, had been swamping the office. Under revised regulations those eligible may file before Nov. 30 for participation in 1956 and up to March 15 for participation in 1957. There are two parts to the soil bank plan, the better known one being the acreage reserve which is tied to allotments. This is a program for which the producer signs year by year. The other is the conservation reserve, which is a five-year program based on total cropland treatment and operation. This is the section now involved in the sign-up before Nov. 30.

Turning Handicaps To Your Advantage

There was once a time when employers may have thought people with physical handicaps were in need of sympathy; now they are fast becoming aware that what they need is a chance.

Therefore, it helps to have a special week at this season of the year to serve as a reminder that individuals should be rated on the basis of what they can do as individuals, and not on what may have happened to them.

Skill is the thing that counts, and what difference should it make if one person is as skilled or more so with one hand than someone with two? When it comes to keeping records, what is there that a man with two legs can do more effectively than the man with one or none?

Actually, few of us devote more than a fraction of our physical capacities toward any given task. Hence, by adjustment and concentration, those with some sort of physical impairment can bring their efforts up to par—and frequently to above par.

This is no accident or exception. Accomplishment is the product of persistence and dedication. This is why so many physically handicapped persons make better-than-average employees—they devote themselves wholeheartedly to their job. In consequence of this, they are loyal to their employers; they have a wholesome attitude which radiates to others and brightens the organization.

Most employers know this and don't need an Employ the Handicapped Week to tell them. One experience generally opens the door wide.

Taken By The Token

Alaska went through the motions, on Tuesday of this week, of "electing" two token U. S. senators and one token "representative," while electing the regular territorial legislators.

This action in "electing" token members of both branches of the federal Congress has quite a story behind it.

In common with Hawaii, Alaska has long sought recognition as one of the sisterhood of states. This is a matter of the utmost importance to the two territories, though in both cases a questionable step in many people's minds from the standpoint of politics and economics, not to mention administration.

The two major parties have made statehood a political football for years. The GOP, leaning toward Hawaii, would admit that territory, but the Democrats would not stand for it unless Alaska got the nod at the same time.

As for the "token" congressional delegation gimmick, Tennessee and some half dozen other states employed this tactic successfully in the past to gain statehood. The "token" delegation would go to Washington, demand to be recognized, and upon being refused, stay around anyhow as a living rebuke to the recalcitrance of a stubborn Congress.

Of the two, Alaska has the better case, not only because it is a part of continental United States, but because its wealth in natural resources is enormous.

One solution would be to admit the more developed parts of Alaska as a state now, and hold the undeveloped wilderness in territorial status until some later day.

A New Revelation On Desegregation

WASHINGTON—Much praise has been heaped recently on the way the schools in Louisville, Kentucky, have been "voluntarily" integrated. But very little attention has been drawn to the startling revelations there concerning the comparative experience with white vs. Negro teachers. Nor have the effects of "permissive" segregation as practiced in Louisville—voluntary transfers in certain instances to all-white or all-Negro schools—been analyzed in the light of the Supreme Court's requirements that segregation be ended in the public schools.

Dr. Omer Carmichael, superintendent of Louisville schools, discussed the inferior quality of the Negro teaching in a copyrighted interview a week ago in "U. S. News & World Report," but what he said on this point has not been carried to the press generally by the national wire services. It seems to have a significant relationship to the very things that influenced the Supreme Court of the United States in its famous decision in 1954 calling for desegregation, and it could some day afford the basis for re-argument of the case itself.

Dr. Carmichael said flatly that "the average Negro teacher is not as good as the average white teacher."

"Now, you ask," said Dr. Carmichael, "about the quality of instruction. To me, that goes back more than anything else to the competence of the teacher. Degrees and hours of credit are not the sole measure of competence. That question has come up, I'll bet, in 40 meetings in Louisville. I have replied unhesitatingly in Negro, white, or mixed groups that the average white teacher is considerably superior to the average Negro teacher in competence as a person to teach children."

"Why is that?" he was asked.

"It's just—it's culture. It's social, economic, environmental. How can a person come out of a slummy, crime-ridden area of the city, with poor churches and few of the things that go to enrich life—how can a person come out of such background the equal of one who comes out of a more cultured home in a more cultured community?"

"I don't know—the anthropologists and the psychologists will probably jump right square down my back on it, but you just don't have as high a degree of competence among your Negro teachers as you have among your white teachers."

Dr. Carmichael's attention was drawn then to a recent article in a Negro weekly publication which claimed that in Kentucky, 85 per cent of all the Negro teachers in elementary schools had bachelors' degrees from colleges, while the corresponding figure for white teachers was 58 per cent, and he was asked how he accounted for that difference. He replied: "Degrees don't make teachers."

What effect will all this have on the quality of education given in the mixed schools—the very point stressed by the Supreme Court's decision? Dr. Carmichael was asked if the mingling of the students in mixed schools would help the Negro student to get better scores. He answered: "Yes, but not rapidly. It will be very gradual. You won't get the homes changed much. That will be slow. You won't get the community changed. The Negro children taught by white teachers will have a little advantage over the Negro children taught by Negro teachers, in my judgment."

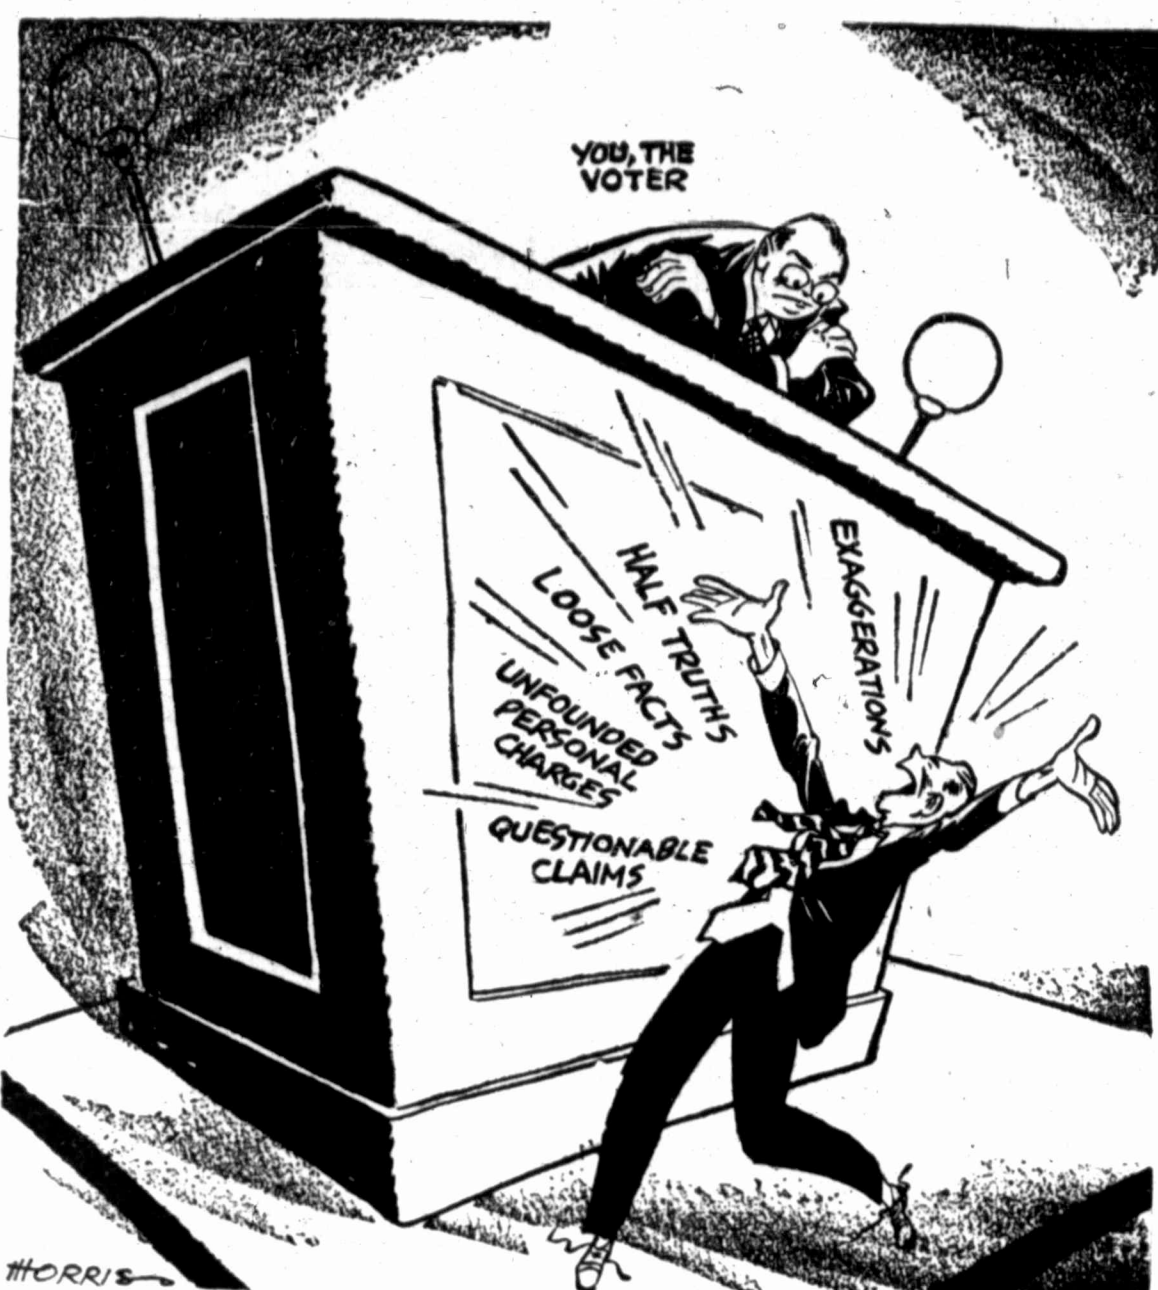

"What about the Negro teachers teaching white children—will those students recede?" Dr. Carmichael was asked.

"Theoretically, yes. There will be a little difference in the quality of work done by the average Negro teacher as compared with the quality of work done by the average white teacher; so whatever group of children a Negro teacher teaches, that group of children, in my judgment, will suffer a little."

Yet the words of the Supreme Court decision say explicitly that the nine justices decided to order the abandonment of segregation because "even though the physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal," the separation of children in public schools "solely on the basis of race" has been responsible for depriving "the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities."

Now the issue that can be raised before the Supreme Court is whether, based on such experiences as in Louisville, the children of the majority group—the whites in that case—aren't being deprived of equal educational opportunities solely because of enforced integration of students and teachers. When the court departed from legal grounds and entered the realm of psychology and sociology as a basis for overturning a historic decision, it was inevitable that more controversy would arise over what is or is not a good quality of education in America's public schools.

Running A Double Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is running a kind of double political campaign. Part of it he talks, part of it he writes.

He makes speeches almost every day, attacking the Republicans and sometimes talking about what he'd do if elected. But, except for the farm problem to which he devoted a whole speech, he almost never goes into detail on programs he has in mind.

Every once in a while he issues a policy statement, setting forth his program if elected. He has issued three such statements so far: on health, education and old people.

Each statement goes into much more detail on each program than he has attempted to explain in his speeches. These written policy statements, handed to newsmen, run to thousands of words. Most people never see them in full because few newspapers have room to run the full text of speeches or statements which take up a whole page, as these do.

Stevenson doesn't work up these programs by himself. He has the help of specialists in each field. But they are not—from the standpoint of getting across ideas that can be easily understood—well written. They're overwritten.

I spent hours going through his three policy statements—equivalent to three pages in a newspaper—and made meticulous notes on each point, or promise, Stevenson mentioned.

In all three statements—so far as I could learn—Stevenson has proposed nothing that could be considered brand new with him unless perhaps it was this: He proposed a general federal aid-to-education program for the states to be used to meet each state's particular need. For example: one might need more schoolrooms, one might need more teachers, one might need more books.

This could be considered a new approach in the sense that it spreads itself across a wider field than what has generally been talked about in Congress so far. That has been federal aid to states for building schoolrooms only.

This is what Stevenson's policy statements do: they call for expanding federal programs already in existence or taking action on proposals previously made in Congress but passed over, or they merely suggest studying some phase of a problem to decide what could be done.

Italian Medals

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—A collection of 45 Italian awards and decorations has been presented to the U. S. Military Academy.

The idea for the presentation came when Paolo Emilio Taviani, Italian minister of defense, made a tour of the Academy's historical museum last year and noted none of the Italian medals was on display.

The gift includes the highest military award, as well as decorations recognizing the contribution of citizens in peacetime.

Vega came here after hearing that his brother, Rafael, was working in San Diego or Tijuana, Mexico. Felix searched for three weeks with no success. Then Felix and his wife walked into a hotel coffee shop. Rafael was working there as a busboy.

If they stay put, they'll be safe during the fall hunting season. Kimsey's ranch is in an area closed to big-horn shooting.

Air Travel Insurance May Go Up

Those who travel by air can look for an increase in air passenger insurance rates.

"Experience" of the concerns which insure air travelers has received some severe jolts in the past 12 months, and as a result their experts are taking a new look at the rate tables. Also, plans of the air lines to start switching to jets in the next few years has caused the insurers to pause for thought.

But the biggest factor in the study of possibilities for overhauling the structure of insurance for air line passengers has been the insurance companies' experience of the past year.

Four major crashes, which took 238 lives, have occurred in that period. Not to mention some lesser tragedies which resulted in millions of dollars in insurance claims.

First of the big crashes occurred about a year ago, when a United Air Lines air coach blew up on the side of the Medicine

Bow Mountains. That killed 66 persons. Less than a month later, another UAL plane exploded in the air near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. That was the tragedy in which a former Texan was charged with sabotage to collect $37,500 in insurance on his mother's life.

The peak occurred early this summer when the Trans World and United planes collided and then fell into the Grand Canyon, killing 128 persons. Insurance claims in that one totaled $5,500,000.

Also hitting the insurance companies a hard blow was the crash of a private plane near Louisville, Ky., in which eight passengers were insured for $200,000 each.

The insurance rates probably can be adjusted without causing any undue hardship on persons who can afford air travel. At present, trip insurance is available through the vending machines at about 50 cents per $12,500. Those're pretty good odds for the air passenger.

GM's Awesome Power In Auto Industry

DETROIT — "Any time G. M. wanted to, it could run us out of business."

That statement, made by an official of a major automobile company, reveals the awesome power of General Motors Corp.

It controls more than 55 per cent of the sales of the automobile industry — twice that of Ford; more than three times that of Chrysler. This volume offers cost-savings advantages. How much, nobody outside of the G. M. top management knows.

G. M. lumps sales of locomotives, trucks, buses, aircraft engines, electrical appliances, air conditioners, earth-moving equipment, and passenger cars. So you can't estimate profit per car.

That's why we know G. M. could cut its prices, wipe out Chrysler's profits, and threaten Ford's. In 1955, G. M.'s net income before federal taxes was 20 per cent on sales; Ford's was 17 per cent; Chrysler's 6.5 per cent. And in the first nine months of this year, General Motors undoubtedly widened its profit lead by enlarging its proportion of passenger-car volume from 51.5 per cent last year to 55.2 per cent.

In 1955, Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) didn't get far asking Harlow H. Curtis, G. M. president, about G. M.'s power over its competitors. This was at the stock market inquiry.

Fulbright: Do you ever cut prices in order to obtain sales (to expand your market)?

Curtis: In effect, we lowered prices (in 1954) because we did not increase the price with the greatly enhanced value that was built into the cars.

Fulbright: If you add more value in the sense of more gadgets and more mirrors and more chrome in order to maintain the price, of course, maybe that is one way. But if you were really desirous of expanding your market and doing 60 per cent instead of 45 per cent of the business, or something of that nature . . .

Curtis: We had 50.7 per cent.

Fulbright: Do you think you could have devoted (part of your profits) to lowering prices?

Curtis: Our products represented very outstanding products for the dollars . . . Fulbright: I do not think the (answer) is quite responsive. Do you really desire 60 per cent of the market?

Curtis: We have to keep aggressively competitive to maintain our position.

Fulbright: That is not what I asked. I asked if you would like to have 60 per cent of the motor car market?

Curtis: We have no control over the public's approval of the products we offer.

Fulbright: Regardless of what it has to do with the public, would you like 60 per cent?

Curtis: I would answer it this way: We would hope to continue to be a successful corporation.

Fulbright: Would you like 55 per cent of the total sales?

Curtis: We might very well get 55 per cent, but it would be very difficult to achieve.

Fulbright: But it will be against your will and your better judgment?

Curtis: No. You are putting words in my mouth on that one.

Curtis's dilemma then and now is to be successful, yet not so successful as to be considered a mastodon menace. G. M. must win votes of approval from the public — through sales — but not too many votes. Its very success subjects it to Congressional investigations, anti-trust suits, and criticism.

To be big, yet beloved, and wanted — that is Curtis's problem, G. M.'s problem. It's the greatest problem in corporate public relations in America today.

Everybody's In Hock Up To His Homberg

What unparalleled national prosperity is doing to this country is a caution! Never have so many owed so much to such multitudes of installment collectors. Never have so many had partial title to such a vast array of goods and furnishings.

And never before, says a keen observer, have so many Americans been so uneasy about the situation. A crack newspaperman and an old friend, who has been rocketing up and down the land with both Presidential candidates, came into town the other day long enough to change his shirt and say that the most surprising phenomenon of this election year is a basic uneasiness or restlessness throughout the U. S. A.

This restlessness, as he diagnoses it, stems directly from the fact that almost every citizen in the country is in hock up to his homberg, on which he owes three more payments.

John Doe is head-over-heels in debt on the installment plan to doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, the butcher, baker, and candlestick maker have him over the barrel, too, on time payments.

Richard Roe has paid a dollar down, says my friend, on such a clutch of goods and gadgets that he is now frantically scrounging around for the dollar a month that will keep the furnace in the basement, the clothes washer in the utility room, the storm windows in place, the teevee in the living room, the stove in the kitchen, the power mower in the woodshed, the car in the garage and the very shirt on his back.

Such is the current consumer caper, or installment buying spree, my friend finds, that men earning seven and eight thousand dollars a year scarcely have eating money left for themselves and their respective families at the beginning of the month, after the collectors have taken their toll.

Men and women are suddenly awakening to the paradox that while they are everything, they own nothing if they are unable to keep up the payments on the color teevee and the two-tone power saw.

This realization, my friend believes, is responsible for the restlessness he detects everywhere he has traveled with President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson. The uneasiness is tangible, he insists, but darned if he knows which party it will benefit—or penalize.

The voter may figure that he'll have time enough under the GOP to pay off all the installments, or he may feel that somehow the Democrats will see to it that he has all the time he needs to pay up. I don't know. I only know my fellow citizen isn't as happy in Mortgage Manor as he was four years ago," my friend concludes.

Maybe one reason he ain't so happy is because the mortgage is so much bigger i.e., he has acquired four more years worth of possessions and installments.

The nation's time-payment obligations at the moment stand at $29.4 billion or $3.2 billion more than at this time a year ago. It's enough to make any nation nervous in the service of that fine flower of civilization, the installment man.

Casey Jones—Asleep Or Dead?

By GEORGE CONNOR

TYLER (AP)—One of the last men to talk with Casey Jones before he made the famous ride that erupted into a wreck, a legend and the famous song says he believes Casey was asleep, or dead of a heart attack.

A. M. Brown, 77, is a Tyler insurance man now but at the time of the wreck he was a dispatcher for the Illinois Central Railroad and an across-the-street neighbor of Casey Jones.

The conversation was at Jackson, Tenn., in late April of 1900. Brown passed briefly when Jones walked into his office.

Casey was a favorite with the dispatchers because, as Brown says, "they could depend on his doing what he was supposed to do."

That is one thing that leads Brown to believe Casey was dead or asleep before he hit a freight only partly pulled off onto a siding April 30, 1900 near Vaughn, Miss. Brown said actual history shows that "a flagman went back the required distance and set up torpedoes and a man with a red lantern was stationed beyond the torpedoes as a final warning.

"The investigation disclosed that Casey didn't honor any of the danger signals."

The conversation between Brown and Jones just before the fateful ride was not particularly historic.

Brown asked Jones where he was going.

"They've put me on the Cannon Ball," Jones replied, Brown relates.

"Think you can make the (Cannon Ball) time?" Brown asked.

"I can, or else," Casey replied.

That was about all of the conversation. Casey, the type of character which Brown described as a "do-or-die" personality, just didn't do much talking.

Brown says the part of the song which says that the switchman knew Casey was at the throttle because of the whistle's moan certainly is historically correct.

Brown says each engineer operated the same engine all the time

The Little Things Add Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The quickest way to wealth is to improve some simple object millions of people buy or use every day.

Example: The man who first thought of putting a crinkle in the old-fashioned wire hairpin — so it would stay in better — made a million dollars.

"When you think of the hundreds of millions of human beings who lived and died trying to have an original idea, it seems odd that none thought of improving the ordinary comb, isn't it?" asked Eric L. H. Cosby.

"But no one really had a new idea in combs for at least 6,000 years."

No one, that is, until Cosby bent his brow to the task.

Cosby is managing director of Kent, Inc., a firm whose fine brushes have served the crowned heads of Europe since 1777, when George III was trying to give his American colonies a quick military brushoff.

An inventor since boyhood, Cosby became interested in combs during a visit to the British Museum. He noted that combs found in ancient Egyptian pyramids varied hardly at all from combs in present day use. Although the human skull — even among teenagers with crew cuts — is ordinarily rounded, the combs appeared designed for flat-heads.

"Why should they be?" Cosby brooded.

So he designed a new type comb. It is a flexible comb, fitted into a plastic shell, and bends to fit the shape of the head.

"With each stroke it covers five times the area of the old-type comb," said Cosby, "and it gives the scalp a gentle massage."

"It is particularly helpful to men with thinning hair as it glides over the bald spot without scratching. Balding men are physically as well as emotionally sensitive."

Cosby has a free beauty tip for American women. Use more water, fewer glamor skin creams, on their faces.

"There is no substitute for water," he said. "Many men have better complexions than women because they don't cover their faces with makeup. They use a shaving brush and soap and water to stimulate the skin."

"Why do Irish girls have the most beautiful complexions in the world? Simply because there is so much soft rain in their country."

Supersonic

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Delvina Wheelon, Cincinnati radio broadcaster and former Powers model, became the first woman ever to be given the Air Force Assn. Citation of Honor.

She was named "Supersonic Sweetheart" of the AFA. The honor was the result of her having flown faster than the speed of sound as a jet plane passenger last May 12. Mrs. Wheelon made the flight with the permission of the Air Force over Lake Erie in a Lockheed F-94C "Starfire."

She is known to midwest listeners over Radio Station WKCY, as "Delvina" and conducts a program called "Woman's World."

Tubes For Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A new factory is expected to be turning out radio tubes for the first time in Mexico sometime in the latter half of 1957.

After the building is completed, equipment must be installed and Mexican workers trained by expert crews from the United States.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Let's all tell our children about the Litterbug Campaign and explain its finer points. Then, perhaps when we adults forget, the little ones will remind us not to throw papers and other bits of unsightly materials about our streets. The garden clubs are trying to help make our city more attractive by keeping it clean. All of the cleanup men in town can't do it for us as citizens don't have enough pride to take an interest in it ourselves. Let's get with the garden clubs.

Houseguests of MR. AND MRS. CLYDE ANGELO are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tate of Lubbock, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Ford of Montgomery, Ala. Mr. Angelo's mother, Mrs. J. R. Angel of Rising Star, has been their guest recently but has returned to her home.

Now that the World Series is over the women can enjoy their mornings out more. Tuesday morning at the coffee for Louise Ann Bennett, many terminated the party visiting early in order to get in on the first pitch. Three attractive young matrons who came together were Mrs. B. Broadrick and her twin, Mrs. Jerry Currie, and Mrs. John Currie. Fortunately, the twins were not dressed alike or everyone would have been most confused.

We were happy to meet MRS. ROY WORTHY, whose son is the bridegroom-to-be of Miss Bennett. We have a lot in common — that is, she just knows about boys, too.

Garden Club Told To Plan Landscaping

Big Spring Garden Club members were told, by Mrs. J. P. Dodge, at a meeting on Wednesday morning, that a gardener should follow a definite plan for landscaping the grounds of his home.

Meeting in the home of Mrs. Loyd Branon, members learned that a plan is much more economical than "hit-or-miss" planting. Know your soil, the speaker advised, and try to visualize the way the landscaping will look.

Another economy in landscaping, Mrs. Dodge told the club, is to use small plants at first, filling in with annuals and vines for cover until the plants grow larger. Choose plants that are adapted to your soil and climate conditions. Mrs. Della K. Agnell, discussing the garden as a background for living, pointed out that the landscaping should be such that the house and grounds make a unit. Careful planting will increase the value of the property, she said.

Mrs. Agnell stressed the fact that all members of the family should be considered in the landscaping in order that a proper setting may be made for the home.

Mrs. Allen Hamilton reviewed Chapters Three and Five from the club's study book, "Complete Home Landscaping and Garden Guide" by Ramond P. Korbohn. She told her listeners that the good garden is the result of good planning, which is as necessary as a good blueprint of a house. She gave suggestions for planning the landscaping of the three main areas of the home grounds, the public, private and the service yards.

Mrs. Robert Stripling, representative to the City Federation, announced that more women are needed to help with the work at the State Hospital.

The meeting of the Southern Zone of District One was announced. The meeting will be held at Wesley Methodist Church Tuesday beginning at 9:30 a.m. All clubs in the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will serve as hostesses.

Also announced was the Fall Flower Show, sponsored by the council, which is slated for Oct. 23 at Cosden Country Club. Hours will be from 3 to 8 p.m.

Mrs. J. E. Hogan and Mrs. J. I. Balch distributed Litterbug pins and sacks. Members will be fined 10 cents for not wearing the pins to meetings.

Mrs. J. B. Knox was appointed council chairman of the proposed Garden Center. Mrs. Cliff Wiley is club chairman of the center.

Heading the club committee for the Christmas lighting plans is Mrs. Branon. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Branon and Mrs. Norman Read, cohostess, to 23 members and one guest, Mrs. P. W. Malone.

Airport Baptist WMU Installs New Officers

"Hands United in Kingdom Service" was the theme for the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Airport Baptist WMU.

The group met at the church for Bible study and installation of officers.

The program was opened by a duet, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," sung by Mrs. George Franklin and Mrs. Lloyd Stout.

The watchword was given by Mrs. Bill Shepard and the prayer calendar read by Mrs. Sam Wells.

The following officers were installed: Mrs. E. J. Hodo, president; Mrs. Shepard, vice president; Mrs. Stout, young people's director; Mrs. James Findley, recording secretary; Mrs. R. I. Findley, treasurer; Mrs. Pershing Morton, second vice president; Mrs. W. H. Patterson, missionary study chairman and Mrs. Elijah Henderson, stewardship chairman.

Mrs. W. A. James is prayer chairman; Mrs. Wells and Mrs. H. D. Brown, circle chairmen; Mrs. George Franklin, community missions; Mrs. Brown, Sunbeam Band leader; Mrs. R. M. Bain, junior GA leader and Mrs. J. D. Buchanan, intermediate GA leader.

On the other hand, another guest at the party I had not met before was MRS. EARL FINNELL who just knows about girls. MRS. BERNIE COUGHLIN was carrying the prettiest deep blue velvet bag, one side of which was decorated with beaded gold butterflies. She was with MRS. TED GROEBL who wore a black suit and the most becoming white hat. White seems to be a favorite with Big Spring women this fall.

MR. AND MRS. SHERMAN SMITH are planning to weekend in Dallas with the Phil Berrys of Stanton. They will be the O.U.-Texas game if everything works out as planned.

The Kiwanians are conventioning again — this time in Corpus Christi. Planning to leave Friday are MR. AND MRS. HORACE REAGAN, MR. AND MRS. JACK ALEXANDER and HARVE CLAY. The Alexanders will take advantage of the deep sea fishing party, slated for Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Alexander has never been on such a party before, so she is going to fortify herself with pills to ward off seasickness.

Appropo the item about the football boys being out of town Saturday: Yes, I know the football game was played in Big Spring, also that Big Spring won. No, I didn't say they played out of town my reference was to Saturday only, concerning the homecoming. Excuse: Poor phrasing in my writing... I'm sorry... but thank you for your interest.

A Plan For Ensembles

Buying accessories as a family is one of Sherry O'Neil's secrets of matched ensembles. While touring the country in "Damn Yankee" Sherry has developed an insight to better buying.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY Build Your Wardrobe Around Basic Colors

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — Sherry O'Neil is gathering fans across the country as the Lola, who "gets what Lola wants," in the musical "Damn Yankees."

"I've signed to tour with the play until the fall of 1957," Sherry told me, as we sat by the pool of Hollywood's Chateau Marmont.

"One thing about traveling," I commented, "when you keep seeing different people you don't need a large wardrobe."

"But clothes are my weakness," Sherry exclaimed. "It all began when I was a high fashion model in New York. For the first time in my life I wore designer clothes and I fell in love with them. They fit so perfectly, and a good fabric holds its shape and is made so well that it's almost impossible to wear one out. I am grateful that I learned this because what seems like an expensive dress is really economical."

"The way to build a wardrobe is to buy good clothes a piece at a time. If you buy regularly, that is a garment each payday, you can in time have a beautiful wardrobe of really good clothes. You have to choose carefully though and build around one color until you can add a secondary and even a third basic color. Black, blue or beige are neutral colors and make good basics. My accessories I buy as a family — hat, handbag and gloves to match. I wear them as a family and discard them together. This way you never have odd pairs of gloves and shoes that can't be worn with anything.

"The other night I went to a party after the theater in an old favorite of mine, a simple black sheath with back emphasis. I bought it five years ago but the hostess of the party said, 'We knew we'd find you in the latest style.'"

Though Sherry has studied dancing most of her life she attributes her good carriage to her experience in modeling.

"Dancing makes you graceful but it doesn't teach you how to walk. They tell all models to pull in and up on their stomachs. Standing correctly can become a habit. I remember one of the leading photographers told me in the beginning, 'When you walk, lead with your hip bones.' It takes practice but if you keep your spine straight and your back side tucked under you'll look so much better in your clothes," Sherry concluded.

'Biennials' Discussed For Club

Mrs. Duval Wiley discussed the planting and care of biennials for members of the Four O'Clock Garden Club Wednesday afternoon. The group met in the home of Mrs. L. D. Grice with Mrs. Bill Tubb as cohostess.

Mrs. Wiley told the club that biennials, when started from seed, take two years to mature—hence the name. Plants may be used for transplanting, however, and the blooms will appear the first year.

Seed should be planted in June or July in pots and then transplanted in the fall in a protected place. Included in Mrs. Wiley's list of biennials were pansies, Canterbury bells, foxglove, candytuft and hollyhocks.

A demonstration and discussion of flower arranging was presented by Mrs. John B. Knox, a member of the Big Spring Garden Club.

The arranger named the types of arrangements the Japanese adaptation; the triangular and the free-standing; she showed examples of the arrangements.

The group met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Raymond Moore with Mrs. Zack Gray as cohostess.

Mrs. Simpson's topic for the discussion was "What Should I Tell My Children About Alcohol?" Members were told that parents should not create an air of mystery about alcohol; they should talk about it with the children as questions.

The speaker reminded the club that there is no special attention given to the problem in the schools; it ranks high as a public health menace.

Mrs. Jim Scrimshire was introduced as a new member. Refreshments were served to 13.

End Came Quick And Clean For Bums In Seventh Game

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP) — At least the end came quick and clean and decisive.

That's the best that can be said for Brooklyn today after its crushing 9-0 defeat by the new world champion New York Yankees in the seventh and final game of the 1956 World Series.

The worst that can be said about the Dodgers' worst humiliation in 44 series games with the Yankees is that it gave further evidence of a possible change in Brooklyn personnel next year.

In sharp contrast, the Yankees demonstrated in the series that they will be stronger than ever—a frightful thought for the rest of the American League. The splendid work of such young pitchers as Johnny Kucks, Tom Sturdivant, Bob Turley, Don Larsen and, of course, Whitey Ford, practically assures the Yankees of a powerful pitching staff to go along with the team's solid hitting and tight defense. Pitching was the one chink in the Yankees' mighty armor this year.

Young Kucks' brilliant three-hit shutout yesterday climaxed an astounding skein of pitching performances by Yankee hurlers in one of the most amazing turn-about in series history. Unable to turn in four consecutive complete games at any time during the regular season, the Yankee staff which had used up 11 hurlers in the first two games, suddenly came through with five completions by five different pitchers.

In the last three games, Yankee pitching limited the National League champions to seven hits and a grand total of one run. Among them was Larsen's historic perfect performance in game No. 5. It's something the once feared Dodger sluggers will never be able to explain to the pitchers in their own league.

Brooklyn's once powerhouse array was held to a .195 batting mark in the seven games.

E. J. (Buzie) Bavasi, the club's general manager, said:

"You can bet some changes will be made. But we're not going to become panicky. We've got a whole winter to think things out. Fortunately, we've got a fine crop of promising youngsters coming up, some of whom appear ready to step into fast company."

Bavasi didn't single out any individuals but there was no doubt he was referring to such slidders as Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Carl Furillo, Sal Maglie and Gil Hodges. The latter, at 32, is the youngest of the sextet.

Only Duke Snider, with two singles, and Furillo, with one were able to fathom the curves, sliders and fast balls hurled at the Dodgers by the 23-year-old Kucks. In the meantime, Don Newcombe and Roger Craig, two of the five Dodger hurlers, were pulverized by a ferocious Yankee attack that included four home runs, two by Yogi Berra, another by Elston Howard and a final bludgeoning grand slammer by Bill Skowron.

Newcombe, a 27-game winner, lasted a bit longer than he did in the second game of the series when he was driven from the mound with a barrage of base hits that gave the Yankees a 6-0 lead in less than two innings.

This time big Don lasted three innings. Until he was lifted with nobody out in the fourth, he had been clubbed for five runs on as many hits. Four of them came as a result of Berra's pair of two-run homers. The other was Howard's home run.

Skowron's base-clearing walkoff came off Craig in the seventh after the tall right-hander had filled the bags with two bases on balls and a single to Billy Martin.

Berra's four runs batted in gave the sturdy receiver a total of 10 RBIs for the series, bettering the record of nine set previously by Lou Gehrig, another Yankee powerhouse, in 1928.

Kucks struck out only one and ironically, the victim was Robinson to end the game, the same Robinson whose clutch hit broke up a scoreless duel the previous day. Kucks, however, had the Brooks beating the ball weakly into the dirt all afternoon. Only two balls, both caught by Howard in left field, reached the outfield besides the three singles.

Young Kucks' brilliant three-hit shutout yesterday climaxed an astounding skein of pitching performances by Yankee hurlers in one of the most amazing turn-about in series history. Unable to turn in four consecutive complete games at any time during the regular season, the Yankee staff which had used up 11 hurlers in the first two games, suddenly came through with five completions by five different pitchers.

In the last three games, Yankee pitching limited the National League champions to seven hits and a grand total of one run. Among them was Larsen's historic perfect performance in game No. 5. It's something the once feared Dodger sluggers will never

SW Cage Fives To Open Drills

By The Associated Press
The Southwest Conference starts basketball Monday.

For a month and a half the squads will practice for the opening of the campaign Dec. 1. The early start comes because spring training has been eliminated, allowing practice to begin 15 days ahead of last year.

Prospects are for a three-cornered championship fight. SMU, defending champion, has another strong team but its losses were heavier than Rice or Texas.

Coach Hayes thinks Rice and Texas should be favored over him although he says "We'll have a fine basketball team."

Texas has eight lettermen, including every 1956 starter—Ray Downs, the conference's leading scorer; Norman Hooten, Ellis Olmstead, Kermit Decker and Ken Cleveland.

Rice lost only Joe Durrenberger and has some of the brightest sophomores, including Tommy Robitaille of Graham, a 6-foot-8 youngster. Temple Tucker, 6-10½, will be playing his second varsity season. Letterman Dale Ball, however, won't be eligible until mid-term.

Buster Brannon, TCU coach, thinks SMU should be the favorite with Rice and Texas offering the sternest resistance. He will have only four lettermen back, including the great Dick O'Neal, but he had a great freshman team last season.

SWC Teams Polish Plays In Rehearsals

By The Associated Press
Southwest Conference teams spent Wednesday polishing rough spots with little contact.

Virgil Miller alternated with Ken Wineburg at first string right half as TCU emphasized blocking in a semi-tough drill.

The Frogs play Alabama Saturday.

Arizona Back Top Attacker

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Hunsaker, sophomore quarterback at the University of Arizona, retained the leadership in total offense with 628 yards in four football games, the NCAA service bureau reported today.

Hunsaker is the only individual leader to survive last week's major college action, as he added 120 yards against Utah State. He has passed for 554 yards and rushed 74 more, to lead Stanford's John Brodie, who has a total of 541 in the three games.

Jack Hill of Utah State is the rushing leader with 381 yards in 4 games, is the top scorer with 51 points, and has intercepted 5 passes to lead in that department.

Brodie, who bombed Ohio State with 21 completed passes in 35 attempts, has found the mark 48 times in 78 attempts for the 3 games. All but six of his 541 yards have come via the airwaves.

Norm Becker of California is the No. 1 pass receiver, with 15 catches in 3 games for 193 yards. North Carolina's Wally Vale tops the punters with 8 boots in 3 games for an average of 45 yards.

The five leaders in total offense, rushing and passing:

Church Pledges To Fill Lack In Public Schools

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—America's largest Lutheran church today was pledged to help establish parochial schools — wherever it believes public schools are falling down on the job.

Delegates to the United Lutheran Convention gave resounding approval to the broad-scale program last night, after a scrappy two-hour floor debate over the merits of public versus church education.

The "total educational experience of the child should be a Christian one," declared the Rev. Herbert N. Gibney of Hempstead, N.Y. Public schools, he said, can't provide that approach.

Dr. Armin G. Weng, president of the Chicago Lutheran Seminary, shot back that it's erroneous to hold that mathematics, reading, chemistry or physics can be taught in any "particular Christian context."

That's a "false basis to a false thesis," he said. He added that judging from the church's record in Sunday schools and other educational efforts, he doubted it could do as well as public schools.

In the windup, the convention took a middle-road course, recognizing public schools as "a basic institution for general education," but favoring church schools in special circumstances.

As formally worded, this would be "where local conditions make such action advisable." There was no indication how many communities this might involve.

The Rev. John W. Killing of Minneapolis, president of the Parish Education Board, explained that the conditions would include:

A community atmosphere antagonistic to moral and spiritual beliefs; a predominately non-Christian attitude in schools; overcrowded and understaffed classes; or where the church can provide better educational standards.

The convention re-elected Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, a leading voice in world Lutheranism and top executive officer of the World Council of Churches, to his seventh term as church president.

Investment Target

DALLAS (AP)—U.S. Treasurer Ivy Priest said yesterday the nation's women are the investment banker's best potential target. "Women own 70 per cent of the national private wealth and they make 84 per cent of the purchases, including men's clothing," she told a convention panel of the Financial Public Relations Assn.

Demo Spurns Sure Thing To Make Campaign For Senate

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—U.S. Rep. Thomas J. Dodd (D) has tossed aside an apparently sure thing — re-election to the House — to gamble for a Senate seat in a race with Republican incumbent Prescott Bush.

The outcome of what both parties call one of the pivotal contests in the struggle for control of the next Congress has everybody guessing.

In two previous campaigns for the Senate, Bush suffered one defeat, by an extremely narrow margin, and scored one victory. He had a comfortable margin in the latter, but still ran 100,000 votes behind President Eisenhower.

Dodd, his popularity never before tested on a statewide basis, has won two easy victories for representative from the 1st (Hartford County) Dist., strongly Democratic since the end of World War II. His margins in the county alone were about the same as Bush enjoyed in the entire state when he won his Senate seat four years ago.

No less a Republican than Vice President Nixon said on a recent campaign visit in Hartford that Connecticut is a "swing state," one where "we usually win all or lose all by a close margin."

The Bush-Dodd outcome, most observers say, is linked to how President Eisenhower fares this year in Connecticut. He won the state's eight electoral votes four years ago by 129,000 while Bush was defeating Abraham A. Ribicoff, now governor, by 29,000.

Ribicoff himself said last June that Eisenhower was "ahead" then in Connecticut. Today he predicts Stevenson will carry the state in a nip-and-tuck race.

Republicans, exuding confidence in their public statements, say Eisenhower will run at least as well here this year as he did in 1952. But they have been urging the President to make Connecticut one of his campaign stops.

Bush, a Greenwich resident and a New York investment banker in private life, is running for a full, six-year Senate term for the first time. In 1950, he sought to succeed Republican Raymond E. Baldwin, who resigned from the Senate two years before his term expired, William A. Benton (D) beat Bush by 1,102 votes.

The Bush-Ribicoff race four years ago was for the balance of the term of Sen. Brien McMahon (D), who died in office.

Observers generally agree that the fact that Bush ran 100,000 votes behind the President in that election is not so much a reflection on his popularity as a tribute to the popularity of Ribicoff.

Dodd was reluctant to run for re-election to Congress two years ago, but party leaders persuaded him to do so. He appears to be going all-out, however, in his effort to become a senator.

He is conducting his campaign by counties, spending several days at a time in each of the state's eight counties with evening side jaunts into New Haven or Hartford, where there are television outlets. Bush hasn't laid out his campaign journeys in such a systematic fashion. Nevertheless, he's covering every corner of the state.

He concentrated the early part of his campaign on praise of the Eisenhower administration and defense of its record, before switching to talk about his own record.

In this connection, he bears down heavily on his cosponsorship, with Democrats, of flood prevention and insurance legislation in flood-conscious Connecticut, and his work on bills providing federal aid for highways and for urban redevelopment.

To a considerable extent, while not changing his position on the issue, he has soft-pedaled his arguments of previous campaigns when he stood for a sound money program and a cut in government spending, but he stands with other GOP candidates in contentions that the Eisenhower administration has headed the nation down the road to prosperity.

Dodd, a lawyer, onetime FBI agent and a former special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, has not attempted to make campaign capital out of the fact that he was one of the Nazi prosecutors at the Nuremberg war crimes trials after World War II, although while in Congress he frequently discussed his trial experiences in his speeches.

He voices frequent warnings about the dangers posed by communism, and is a sharp critic of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy.

Democrats Hold Leads In Alaska Weathervane Vote

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Democratic candidates held their leads over Republican opponents in all but a few contests today as returns from Tuesday's territorial election trickled slowly in from the hinterlands.

With most of the big populated areas tabulated and 161 of the 271 precincts reported, the Democrats were ahead in 30 of the 39 races. Some still were close enough they could go Republican but not enough to upset Democratic control of the Legislature and dominance in top territorial elective positions.

The Republicans were strongest in races for the Territorial Senate, apparently capturing five seats and possibly six to the Democrats three. Seven holdover Democrats kept the party in control. In the House race, Democrats led for 21 seats and the Republicans 3.

Easily re-elected was E. L. Bartlett, delegate to Congress, who had piled up a 13,617 to 6,727 lead over Byron Gillam, his Republican opponent.

Alaskans also apparently will be represented by two Democratic U.S. senators and one "representative" who will go to Congress to work for statehood. If it is granted during their terms they will take their places in the Senate and House. Ahead and gaining in the six-year Senate race was former Gov. Ernest Gruening. A four-year term will be filled by William Egan. Ralph Rivers was elected "representative."

U. N. Truce Brings End To Flare-Up On Israel Border

JERUSALEM (AP)—A U.N. cease-fire brought an end today to a six-hour border flare-up in which Israeli troops destroyed a Jordan police station as reprisal for the recent slaying of two Israeli farm hands.

An Israeli communique said Jordan suffered "heavy losses" in the attack on the Kalkiyeh station. It said nine Israelis were killed and 12 wounded during the fighting, which centered in the Judean Hills northeast of Tel Aviv.

A Jordan military source said Israel suffered more severe losses than the Arab side but did not give exact Jordanian casualties. The informant said Israeli forces attacked under plane cover with armored cars, bazookas and heavy artillery. Earlier Jordan accused Israeli planes of bombing targets in Jordan.

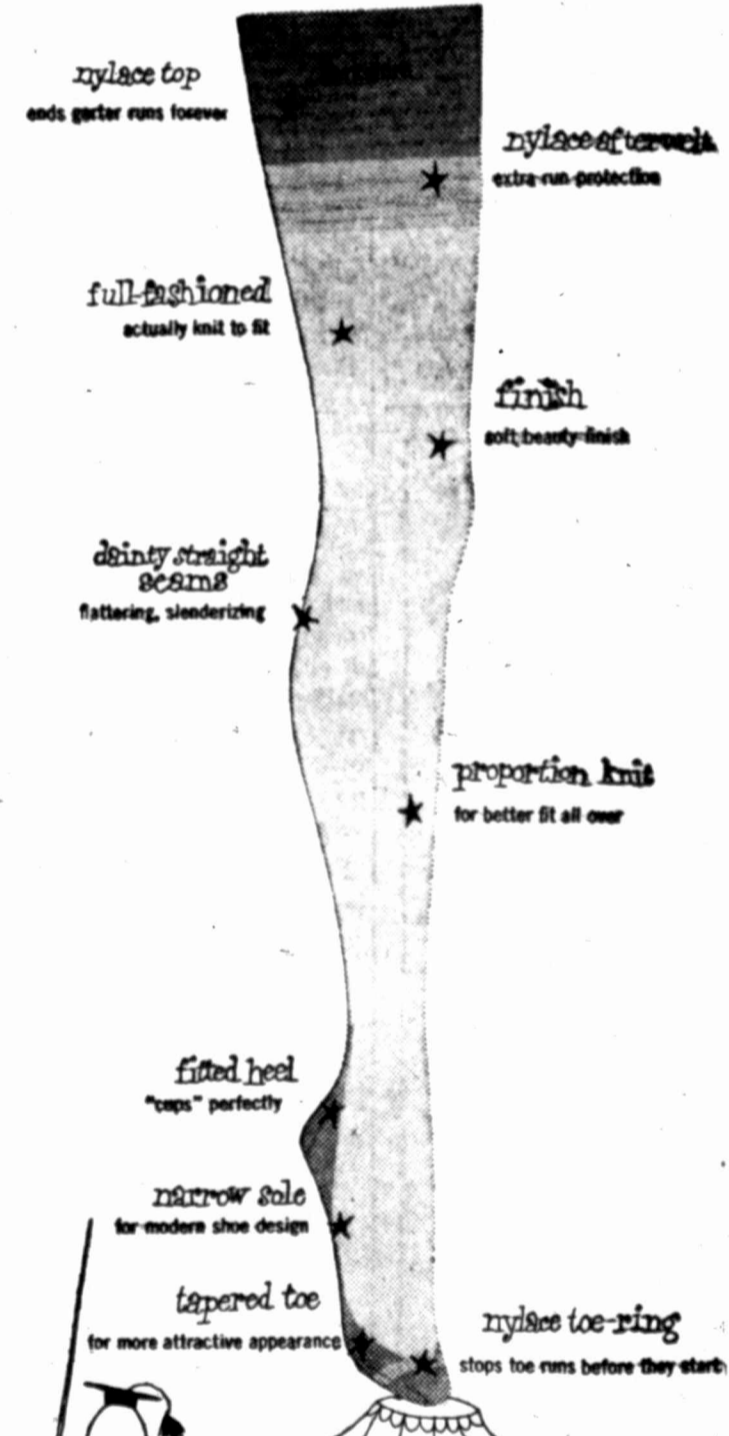

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief U.N. truce supervisor, finally prevailed on both sides to heed his cease-fire call after the Israeli force withdrew.

Israeli sources said that Jordan sent a regiment to Kalkiyeh after Israel attacked, but that it ran into an Israeli blocking force and failed to reach its goal. Sources in Jerusalem reported the Israelis penetrated up 16 1/2 miles inside Jordan to prevent the arrival of Arab reinforcements.

The Kalkiyeh station was the fourth Jordan police fortress wrecked by the Israelis in the past few weeks. In the biggest attack, on Sept. 25 at Husan, near Jerusalem, 39 Arabs and 5 Israelis were killed. Israel said it acted then in reprisal for the slaying of four members of an archaeological party outside Jerusalem on Sept. 23.

Explaining last night's attack, the Israeli communique said: "The Jordan gang which murdered two Israeli citizens during their work in an orange grove Tuesday had entered Israeli territory near Kalkiyeh."

BIG LOUD-MOUTH

Hop-Head Crow Is Traitor, Lures Own Kind To Death

By TOM STONE
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Sam is a scoundrel. There is no doubt about that.

He used to get hopped on dope he stole from the U. S. Air Force. Being a hop head was bad enough. But when Sam got caught he turned traitor. Now, in exchange for a soft life, he lures his own flesh and blood to mass slaughter.

Sam is a crow, a loud-mouthed, heartless black crow.

He used to settle on the U. S. Air Force base here each afternoon around dusk with hundreds of other crows with the same thought—to knock themselves silly with dope.

The birds found out that the "dope" used on the fabric of tail assemblies on Uncle Sam's planes would give them a jolt. They clambered all over the planes, pecking away at the stuff like crazy. Sometimes they punched holes in the fabric with their beaks.

That made the Air Force sore—crows pecking off the dope and punching holes all over the place. Airmen tried to shoot them off. But the crows just came back. That didn't work either.

The Air Force was stumped—

SAM, THE TRAITOR

shoot them once in a while. They knocked off a few, but not enough to discourage the birds from the dope habit.

Then Sam became a casualty. Airmen say he ground-looped and broke a wing. He was captured.

Brought back to the base, the 7,167th Air Transport Squadron made a deal with Sam. Sam agreed to put the finger on fellow crows—for a price. The Air Force came through with free quarters and rations.

Now when the gun and rod boys got to Zeppelin woods for a shoot Sam goes along.

He wears a strong cord tied to one of his legs. The other end is fastened to a bush. While the hunters get into position Sam starts screaming. Sam is a big loud-mouth.

The crows getting hopped up over on the base hear Sam raising Cain. They fly over to the woods to find out what's up with Sam.

The gunmen open up and drop 30 to 40 and scare the rest away. The procedure is repeated as often as necessary.

Sam seems to love it. Sam is a born scoundrel.

'Nixon Republicans' Present Problem To Ike In Missouri

By QUID A. MARTIN
ST. LOUIS (AP)—The spirit of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft hovers over Missouri Republicanism. It makes more difficult President Eisenhower's task of trying to win the state in November.

The battle which Taft lost to Eisenhower at the party's 1952 national convention still rangles among many who class themselves as "old-line" Republicans. Some say they have no enthusiasm for their party's ticket because they regard Eisenhower as "something of a Fair Dealer."

In traveling over the state to get views on the election outlook, this reporter encountered a number of party members who classed themselves as "Nixon Republicans."

They said they consider Vice President Nixon, again Eisenhower's running mate, to be closer to their political beliefs than is Eisenhower. None of those expressing such views wanted to be quoted by name.

One such GOP member—once an unsuccessful candidate for a major state office—said what he termed the "old-line boys" have only a "picture acquaintance" with the President. He said they have been largely ignored in patronage and in party councils.

Without doubt, this situation is contributing to a belief among political observers that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, has climbed ahead of Eisenhower for this border state's electoral votes.

Four years ago, Eisenhower—with the help of an estimated 105,000 Democratic votes—defeated Stevenson by a narrow margin of 29,000. In that same election the Democrats won all other statewide races.

Only an Eisenhower visit to the state, plus a redoubled GOP effort to win votes from Missouri's estimated 125,000 Negro voters, could change the outlook, both Republicans and Democrats agreed.

Perry Compton, patronage-troubled GOP state chairman, conceded that intraparty differences exist, but he insisted there is no justification for it.

"As far as patronage goes, there are dozens of jobs available for Missouri Republicans," he said.

"But the trouble is, few of those wanting jobs meet the qualifications laid down by the Civil Service Commission."

Faced with the possibility of losses in farm votes in rural Missouri because of distressed economic conditions and a return of some "Eisenhower Democrats" to their party's fold, the Republicans look to the heavy Negro vote in St. Louis and Kansas City for offsetting ballots.

Democratic State Chairman Wilbur F. Daniels of Fayette said his "only concern" is the Negro vote. He predicted a last-minute GOP drive to capture this bloc, apparently largely Democratic in the past.

Questioning of a number of Negroes brought no firm indication as to how this group may vote.

It is taken for granted by most observers that the labor vote will go heavily for Stevenson.

W. T. Hoggard, a farmer of near Everton who has taken up railroad work at Springfield to augment his income, said "quite a few workers" in his shop who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 now plan to support Stevenson.

On the other hand, out of five members of a railroad track section crew working near Aurora, two said they were for Eisenhower and three did not express their views.

Except in a few areas, farm prices themselves do not show up as a paramount issue among farmers. Those exceptions are in parts of north Missouri, where agriculture is highly dependent—like that of Iowa to the north—on prices of hogs and cattle. Many north Missouri farmers said they lost money on hogs last year when hogs were plentiful and prices tumbled sharply.

Mentioned more frequently were crop losses due to drought—four and five years long in some southwestern areas, but of shorter duration in the northwest.

Scientists Set Ride In Balloon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy says two of its scientists will ride a pressurized balloon "as high as they can" later this month to search out secrets of the stratosphere.

The ascension will be made in a pressurized gondola attached to a giant plastic balloon, to be launched in the Minneapolis area on a date not yet set.

The same two aerologists who earlier this year rode an open gondola to 40,000 feet—Malcolm D. Ross and Lt. Cmdr. Morton L. Lewis—will make the Minnesota ascension. Both live in Alexandria, Va.

The purpose of the attempt is to "provide a laboratory in the stratosphere for observers to conduct research that cannot be done by any other means."

Public Servant

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP)—A little girl walked up to M. T. Stark at the parcel post counter.

"Would you please wrap this for me?" she asked.

Stark wrapped it.

"Will you address it for me?" the girl asked.

"Okay, little lady," Stark replied.

"What's the address?"

"It's on a slip of paper inside."

Stark unwrapped the package, removed the slip of paper, re-wrapped and addressed the bundle.

"That will be 10 cents for mailing, please," he said as he finished tying the knot.

"The money is in the package, mister."

Soy Adds Zest To Chinese Fried Chicken

The Chinese have a way of using ginger and soy sauce to make ordinary food something special. Chicken fixed this Chinese way is wonderful!

In this recipe, frying chicken is marinated in soy sauce, and then dipped in flour. After browning in hot fat, ginger and chopped onion are sprinkled over the chicken. Water is added and the chicken cooks until tender.

GINGER-SOY FRIED CHICKEN

Ingredients:
 1 ready-to-cook young chicken, 2½ to 3½ lbs., cut up
 2 teaspoons salt
 ½ teaspoon black pepper
 ¼ cup soy sauce
 ½ cup cooking fat
 About 1-3 cup all-purpose flour
 2 tablespoons minced onion (green onion, if available)
 ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger
 1 cup warm water
 1 cup uncooked white rice
 2 cups water
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
 1½ cups water
 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 ¼ cup slivered, toasted almonds
 12 ripe olives cut from the seed (leave whole if desired)

Method:
 Sprinkle chicken with the salt and pepper. Dip in soy sauce. Rub the sauce well into the chicken. Let chicken stand five minutes to marinate.

Melt the fat in a skillet. Dredge chicken with the flour. Add the chicken to the fat and brown on all sides. Sprinkle the onion and ginger over the chicken. Slowly pour in the warm water. Cover and simmer over a low heat 45 minutes or until tender. Turn as necessary to brown evenly. Uncover the last 10 minutes for a crispier crust.

About 25 minutes before the chicken is done, put the rice, water and 1 teaspoon of salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on until ready to serve or at least 10 minutes.

After the chicken cooks, remove it from the skillet and keep hot. Put the two tablespoons of flour in one corner of the skillet. Blend in the gravy. Cook several minutes, stirring. Gradually add 1 cup of the water and additional water until the gravy is the desired degree of thickness. Stir in the soy sauce. Taste and add salt and pepper if desired.

Place the rice on a hot platter. Arrange the chicken over the rice. Pour on some of the gravy and serve the rest of the gravy in a separate dish. Garnish with the toasted almonds and olives. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Piquant Stuffing For Butterfly Baked Shrimp

Here's a luxurious way to serve shrimp! Stuff butterfly-style shrimp with a piquant mixture of rice, chopped mushrooms, green pepper and pimiento. By stuffing the shrimp, one pound serves five to six generously!

The stuffing for the shrimp is made of a well-seasoned mixture of cooked rice, onion, pimiento and succulent mushrooms. This stuffing is placed between the halves of split shrimp. Dry bread crumbs sprinkled over the top turns a glorious golden brown in the oven. Shrimp prepared this way is an elegant main dish:

STUFFED SHRIMP

Ingredients:
 1-3 cups water
 1 teaspoon salt
 2-3 cup uncooked white rice
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
 3 tablespoons chopped canned mushrooms
 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento (thawed) jumbo shrimp or 15-18 frozen breaded butterfly shrimp (thawed)
 2 tablespoons milk
 About 1 cup dry white bread crumbs (1-3 cup if bought breaded shrimp are used)
 ¼ cup milk
 ¼ teaspoon black pepper
 ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Method:
 Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat and leave the lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, melt the 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Add the onion and green pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, until almost tender. Stir in the mushrooms and cook until the onion and green pepper are tender. Stir in the pimiento.

Prepare the shrimp if breaded shrimp are not used. Shell and de-vein the fresh or frozen (thawed) shrimp, but leave the tail piece on. Split the shrimp in half lengthwise, butterfly fashion. Dip first in the 2 tablespoons of milk, then in the bread crumbs. Save the remaining crumbs. Arrange breaded shrimp on a piece of greased aluminum foil placed on a large baking sheet. Press each half of split shrimp flat.

After the rice cooks, stir in the ¼ cup of milk. Cook, stirring, over a low heat until the milk is absorbed. Stir in the black pepper, garlic salt, Worcestershire sauce and the green pepper mixture.

Stuff each shrimp with the rice mixture placing it over and between the split shrimp. Cover with the rest of the bread crumbs. Pour the 3 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine over each stuffed shrimp. Place baking sheet in a pre-heated 400 degree F. oven for 18 to 20 minutes. This recipe makes 5 to 6 servings allowing 3 shrimp to a serving.

Wrap Green Beans In Boiled Ham

Here's a tasty luncheon surprise for the family or for that club meeting.

1 ten-ounce package frozen green beans
 2 hearts lettuce
 8 thin slices boiled ham
 2 hard cooked eggs
 Lettuce leaves
 Radishes
 Cucumbers

Cook green beans as directed on package. Drain and mix with ¼ cup Spanish olive oil dressing made by combining ½ cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 clove mashed garlic, and 1¼ cups olive oil. Chill.

To serve: Cut hearts of lettuce into quarters and spoon a little of the olive oil dressing over each. Wrap a slice of ham around each lettuce heart and arrange down the center of an oblong platter. Make 4 lettuce cups and fill with marinated green beans. Arrange on platter. Garnish with sliced, hard cooked eggs, radishes and cucumbers.

Spanish Squash Is Good With Pork

It's always fun to prepare the old stand-bys in a new and enriched way. For that late summer squash try this recipe!

Ingredients:
 One and one-half pounds soft-shelled summer-type squash, 1 onion, 2 medium-sized tomatoes, 1 medium-sized green pepper, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 to 2 teaspoons sugar, tomato or other seasoning powder.

METHOD:
 Pare squash; cut into thin uniform bite-size pieces; there should be about 3 cups. Peel onion; quarter and slice thin; separate slices into thin strips.

Peel tomatoes and remove stem ends; cut into eighths. Remove seeds and membranes from pepper; cut into thin strips. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a 12-inch skillet; add onion; cook slowly until partly wilted—about 5 minutes. Add remaining 2 tablespoons butter, squash, tomatoes, salt, pepper, sugar and seasoning powder to taste; mix well. Cover and cook over moderately low heat just until squash is tender—about 10 minutes; stir a few times.

Add green pepper several minutes before squash has finished cooking so it will stay crisp. Makes 8 servings.

Curried Eggs Are Good

If you have trouble getting your family to eat the required number of eggs they should, why not liven up the menu with these curried eggs?

Ingredients:
Four eggs, 1/2 cup converted-type rice, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed clear beef consommé, 1/4 cup water, 1/4 to 1/2 cup canned moist shredded coconut.

Method:
Hard-cook eggs and shell. Cook rice according to package directions; grains should be dry and separate.

Melt butter in saucepan (1 quart) over low heat; blend in flour; remove from heat. Stir in curry powder, gradually add consommé and 1/4 cup water, stirring until smooth after each addition. Return to moderately low heat; cook and stir or whisk constantly until thickened and bubbly.

Reserve 1/2 cup of the sauce; mix remaining sauce with cooked rice. Spread a thin layer of the rice in a greased small shallow baking dish — an 8 1/2 by 1 1/2 inch heat-resistant glass plate is a good size and can be brought to the table.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise and arrange, yolks up, over the rice. Spread remaining rice over the eggs. Sprinkle with coconut. Place in a hot (425 degrees) oven to re-heat and toast coconut — about 10 minutes; if coconut does not toast evenly, place under broiler for a few minutes but watch so as not to scorch.

Heat remaining 1/2 cup curry sauce and pass separately with rice and eggs.

Happy Hunting

Is the man in your life off on a hunting trip? Be the wife of his dreams and slip two or three cans of sardines in his knapsack. He'll find them oh, so good as a snack just as they come from their easy-to-open flat cans.

"Do You Think It Does Me Justice?"

So questions Happy, of Mrs. Eugene Reese, as he looks at a picture of himself. The exceedingly well-trained dog shares Lt. and Mrs. Reese with a parakeet, Chipper, but it's against his will. Perhaps one reason for the feud between the pets is that Chipper speaks so clearly in calling Happy. "It's just downright confusion," the dog thinks, to have your name called by a bundle of feathers!

Calorie Counters! Beware This Spaghetti

"This is a tasty dish, inexpensive to serve a crowd, but not recommended for 'calorie counters', said Mrs. E. A. Reese, 1303 Marijo, of her Spaghetti Casserole.

The one-dish meal, which was a favorite in her family before she married, was given to her by her mother — described by Mrs. Reese as "a good southern cook."

And the couple should be well-versed in the taste of southern cookery. She lived in Raleigh, N. C., where she met Lt. Reese, whose home is in Florida. They have lived in Big Spring about a year.

Mrs. Reese has been serving as assistant editor of the Tiger Rag, the publication of the Officers' Wives' Club at Webb Air Force Base. She is quite active in the other work of that club, too.

One of her hobbies is sewing, but more fun than that is teaching their parakeet, "Chipper," to talk and helping Happy, their dog, to collect a repertoire of tricks. These:

Peas And Tomatoes

Add drained canned small green peas to stewed tomatoes; saves heating vegetables separately. Only one pan to wash!

Happy goes into when he feels the need of attention.

Try this recipe for spaghetti for your next party — it serves about eight.

SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

Ingredients:
1/2 lb. lean ground beef
1 large green pepper (diced fine)
1 large onion (diced fine)
1 small bottle stuffed olives (sliced)
1 can tomato soup
1/2 lb. medium sharp cheese (diced)
1 box spaghetti
1 clove garlic (may be omitted)

Method:

Saute onion and green pepper in small amount of bacon drippings. Add ground beef, and season with salt and pepper to taste. If garlic is used, chop fine and add. After all red is cooked out of meat, add can of tomato soup. Stir in diced cheese and continue stirring until cheese is melted. Remove from fire and add sliced olives.

Cook box of spaghetti and drain. Make layers in 2 quart casserole dish: a layer of spaghetti, a layer of sauce mixture until all is used. Top with buttered bread crumbs and brown in oven.

CORN MEAL BISCUITS

Yield: 12 biscuits

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup yellow corn meal
1/4 cup shortening
2/3 cup milk

Sift together flour, Baking Powder, and salt into a mixing bowl. Blend in corn meal. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk all at once. Stir lightly with a fork, just enough to moisten all the flour. Knead gently about 1/2 minute on lightly floured board. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut with 2-inch cutter. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a 450° F (very hot) oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Peeping Crow Haled Into Court

BERKLEY (AP)—Elmer, a friendly crow, has been ordered to appear in court Friday—as a public nuisance.
Deputy Dist. Atty. David Dutton said a woman complained that Elmer had peeped into her bedroom recently.
Dutton said he ordered the bird's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Kooz, to bring him into court for a hearing.

Spanish Explorers Saw Grand Canyon

By RAMON COFFMAN
There are deep canyons in the Rocky Mountains and elsewhere, but none is equal to the Grand Canyon. For length, width and depth, the Grand Canyon stands above every other chasm.

Small suspension bridge which crosses Colorado River inside Grand Canyon.

Q. Is the bed of the Colorado River, at the bottom of the Grand Canyon, as low as sea level?
A. No, it is more than one third of a mile above sea level. The rims of the canyon, in some places, are more than a mile and a half above sea level.

Q. How long has the Grand Canyon been known?
A. It became known to Indians in the Arizona area at some time in the distant past. Remains of adobe huts have been found in the Canyon, and they suggest that Pueblo Indians lived there before Columbus sailed to the New World.

Q. Which white man first entered the Grand Canyon?
A. Garcia Lopez de Cardenas, a Spaniard, is honored for the discovery. He led a small group of white men sent by Coronado to locate "a river far to the west."

The Grand Canyon was explored to only a small extent by the Spaniards. Several American Army officers learned important facts about the great chasm during the third quarter of the past century. One of them, Major John Powell, made "the first voyage through the depths of the canyon."

If tourists obey directions of guides, the present sight-seeing trips in the Grand Canyon are safe enough.

Q. Do plants grow inside the Grand Canyon?
A. Yes, there is a plentiful growth of trees and shrubs in some parts of the chasm. Down near the level of the river there are several kinds of cacti. Higher up the slopes are poppies and white thistles. The blue spruce and the

Snakes Take Over House

MUSCLE SHOALS, Ala. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Thigpen are recovering from the shock of finding 13 snakes in their home.

Thigpen found the first one while he was mowing the lawn. Then he found one in the bathroom. When he shot another one in the basement, he telephoned for the exterminators.
The exterminating company applied a place to stay. More snakes came out of hiding to die in the basement.

The snakes were identified as red corn rat snakes, but it does little good to tell the Thigpens they were harmless.

Ready For Their Own Tombstones

DETROIT (AP)—Police and a pastor didn't take kindly to the method dreamed up by two hotrod drivers for giving their cars that low-slung, dragged-down silhouette.

Officers stopped the young drivers and had them open the trunks. Inside one was a tombstone. The other car had two inside.
"It gives the car a low-slung look," one 17-year-old driver explained.
Police said the stones were taken from a church cemetery. The youths were released after the pastor declined to press charges.
