British Ship Finds Part Of U. S. Plane

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force spokesman said today a British ship has picked up the wheels and part of the undercarriage from the U. S. Military Air Transport plane missing since Wednesday in the Atlantic with 59 U. S. servicemen.

"It gives us new hope that there might be a dinghy or dinghies in the area with survivors," the RAF officer said in Cornwall. "A new search is now being gradually built up around the area in which the wreckage was found."

A U. S. Air Force spokesman in London said he could not confirm the wreckage was from the missing plane, a C118 Liftmaster.

The debris was picked up by the British tanker Navicella about 250 miles southwest of Land's End, the most southwesterly point of Britain.

U. S. Air Force authorities here said the serial numbers of the wheels still had to be checked with the numbers of the wheels of the missing aircraft before it could be definitely established they were the same.

A high-speed British launch was dispatched to the tanker to pick up the wreckage.

The Air Force said today its search for survivors from the plane would continue "indefinitely."

"We cannot see any curtailment at this time, and the search is continuing on schedule," an Air Force spokesman said.

The big military transport version of the DC6 disappeared last Wednesday night on a flight from England to the United States by way of the Azores. It carried 50 Air Force men returning home after duty in Britain and nine Navy crewmen. Four were Mexicans.

U. N. Leader In New Effort For Suez Pact

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today prepared to make a new effort to bring Britain, France and Egypt to agreement in the Suez Canal dispute.

The task of mediation was kicked back to the secretary general after Security Council endorsement of six principles for a settlement — worked out in private talks with Hammarskjöld last week — and a Soviet veto of a British-French demand for international operation of the waterway.

A French spokesman said it had not yet been settled when the mediation talks with Hammarskjöld would be held.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, before his return to Washington, conferred with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd early yesterday. A British spokesman said it was possible Dulles and Lloyd discussed the 15-nation Suez Canal Users' Assn. (SCUA), which Britain is anxious to get operating.

The New York Times reported that Lloyd asked the United States to join in getting SCUA operating this week, without waiting for completion of organizational details. The British reportedly want SCUA to start collecting the canal tolls for the ships of the 15 nations, and to withhold any portion from Egypt unless the Egyptians "cooperate" with SCUA.

Dulles, according to the Times, promised to answer Lloyd's request through diplomatic channels.

The six principles, agreed on by Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi in their talks with Hammarskjöld last week, were unanimously endorsed by the Security Council as requirements "that any settlement of the Suez question should meet."

(1) Passage through the canal should be free, open and without discrimination; (2) Egypt's sovereignty should be respected; (3) "operation of the canal should be insulated from the politics of any country;" (4) tolls should be fixed by agreement between Egypt and the users; (5) a fair part of the tolls should go for canal improvements; and (6) arbitration should settle disputes between Egypt and the management of the Suez Canal Co., which operated the canal before Egyptian President Nasser took it over July 26.

The 78th Russian veto in U. N. history killed the balance of the British-French resolution, which would have endorsed the 18-nation London proposals for international control of the canal and would also have called on Egypt to cooperate with the canal users' association.

The Communist premier-foreign minister already had protested officially to Britain about the riots. He called in the British charge d'affaires in Peking Saturday to complain of the "failure so far of British authorities to adopt effective measures to stop the violence."

Chou expressed indignation over "cold-blooded murders and looting perpetrated by Kuomintang (Chinese Nationalist) agents."

Hong Kong authorities blame the three-day riots on secret Chinese societies and underground criminal organizations who took advantage of animosity between Chinese residents loyal to Red China and those loyal to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

Tension Rises Along Border With Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel, in a statement apparently aimed at Britain, warned today against support for any move by Iraqi troops into Arab Jordan.

Tension was sharp on both sides of the Israel-Jordan border and there was talk in Israel of renewed danger of war as the result of reported plans by Iraq to send troops to bolster young King Hussein's shaky Jordan regime.

"Whoever encourages and abets actively or passively, Iraq in the realization of its schemes takes upon himself grave responsibility," said an Israeli Foreign Ministry statement.

The statement did not mention Britain by name.

In London, however, the British Foreign Office spokesman said the government of Prime Minister Eden has advised Israel that the dispatch of Iraqi troops to Jordan would "contribute to stability in a troubled area."

The British purpose was represented as an effort to calm the fears of the Israeli government that the existing balance in the Middle East would be upset by an Iraqi move.

The British are reported to fear that King Hussein's Jordan regime is in danger of collapse from pressures from extreme Arab Nationalist elements backed by Egypt. Jordan is holding nationwide elections next Sunday.

The U. S. government is reported backing the British view.

In Cairo, Salah Salem, former Egyptian propaganda minister, declared Iraqi Premier Nuri Said was engineering a "plot" to occupy Jordan.

Iraq is a member of the British-sponsored Baghdad Pact which has been assailed by President Nasser as an "imperialist" agency undermining Arab unity. King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal II of Iraq are cousins. Both are of the Hashemite family.

Britain and Jordan have an alliance, and Jordan last week formally called on Britain for Royal Air Force support during an alleged attack by Israeli planes in a border clash.

The Israeli government has publicly declared its "anxiety and astonishment" at the British position. It called home its ambassadors to London, Washington, Paris and Moscow as the crisis sharpened.

There was speculation here that Israel might counter any Iraqi move by a big military push eastward to the Jordan River to straighten out her border. There is a big Jordan-held bulge reaching within about 10 miles of Tel Aviv on the coast. This speculation was wholly lacking of confirmation in official quarters, but such an operation would push Israel's eastern frontier to a straight line running north and south between the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea.

In Amman, Jordan's capital, an official statement was expected on the conference between young King Hussein and the Iraqi delegation headed by Crown Prince Abdul Ilah. The talks opened yesterday. A Jordanian source described them as "of a purely military nature."

Word that Iraq planned to send about 3,000 troops to strengthen Jordan's government against collapse circulated in Washington last Wednesday. The United States and Britain reportedly approved the idea, believing the Iraqis would act as a stabilizing influence during the elections.

Rains Up To Inch General In County

Rains which seem to have been general but of varying volume fell on parched Howard County Sunday night.

The quantity ranged from an inch and better in the north to a sprinkle in the extreme west and southwest portions.

Big Spring's share of the moisture showed variations from .67 inch in the northwest to as low as .21 in other parts of town.

Farmers looked on the rain with mixed views. It's value in general was recognized but those growers who still have some cotton to gather pointed out that the staple

U. S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station measured 45 inch precipitation. This brought Big Spring's official total rain for 1956 to 5.26 inches — as compared with 15.24 inches to the same date in 1955.

The rains began not too long after dark Sunday and continued steadily for over an hour. Showers fell intermittently on into Monday morning. Heavy clouds were on

Rains Bring Relief To State

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms of near-cloudburst proportions Sunday and Monday brought drought-relieving rains to north and central Texas and parts of the Hill Country.

The heaviest downpour was at Gainesville, where about three inches of rain fell within an hour. Electra had 2.25 inches.

Sidell had .66 inch; Ennis .80; Hamilton, Rankin and Pottsville 1.50; Mineral Wells 1.44; Walnut Springs 1.30; Killeen 1.25; Wichita Falls 1.17; Valley View 1.16; Jonesboro 1.10; Belton 1.02; Childress .84; Gatesville .66; Junction .76; and Corsicana .64.

Sweetwater had .66 inch. Big Spring 21; Wink 13; Palacios 54; Lubbock 15 and Alpine 63. Light rains were also reported Sunday at Fort Worth, Dallas and Junction and in several West Texas counties including Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Martin, Howard and Mitchell.

Early Monday showers were falling at Junction, Fort Worth, Dallas and Mineral Wells. Skies were cloudy over all the state except in the extreme west and along the coast.

Temperatures Sunday afternoon ranged from 79 at Wichita Falls to 94 at Alice. Monday readings at dawn ran from 46 at Dalhart to 75 at Galveston.

The forecast calls for continued cloudy to partly cloudy weather and scattered thundershowers over most of the state with little change in temperatures Monday and Tuesday.

Scattered showers doused Florida, a few snow flurries fell in the mountains of Idaho and up to half an inch of rain was recorded early today in northwest Oregon and western Washington.

Oklahoma City had about 2½ inches of rain in the past 24 hours.

Temperature changes were minor over the past 24 hours except in the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes, where chill air dropped the mercury 10 to 30 degrees lower than yesterday.

Elvis Wows 'Em In Texas, But Fan Chief Is Unhappy

By The Associated Press

Elvis Presley wowed Texas bobby-soxers this weekend with his crooning singing and contortions but the national president of his fan club wasn't entirely satisfied with his reception in the state.

Kay Wheeler, Dallas girl who has been so busy running the Elvis Presley Fan Club since she graduated from high school in June that she hasn't gone to college or gotten a job, said she is fighting mad over the way Waco treated the rock 'n' roll singer.

"You know that place Elvis sang in holds 11,000 people and only 5,000 showed up to hear him sing," Kay, 17, said. "Why, they ought to be flattered he came to town. Waco is the squarest town in America. Why, those people just sat on their hands while he sang. I'm going to do something about that town."

"Elvis was obviously affected by the way they treated him there."

Presley drew a crowd of more than 26,000 when he appeared in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas last week. He played to two performances Saturday at Houston that drew more than 8,000 each. He sang to 10,000 or 12,000 Sunday, mostly girls between 12 and 20, at San Antonio.

The limber-limbed and hip-swinging singer was met with screams of anguished delight by both his Houston and San Antonio audiences. He kissed 50 girls who had waited in his dressing room for two hours before he went on stage at Houston. At San Antonio he made eight attempts to sing "Heartbreak Hotel" before the yelling, screaming girls would let him continue.

Explaining his success, the youthful Presley said "I believe in God. I advise young singers to have faith like I had. Everything happened so blame fast I don't know where I was yesterday or where I will be tomorrow."

China Angry Over Riots In Hong Kong

LONDON (AP)—Red China declared last night it cannot tolerate further disorders on its doorstep in British Hong Kong.

Premier Chou En-lai told a group of foreign correspondents in Peking last week's riots, in which 47 persons were killed, could be traced to "the policy of the British of keeping large numbers of anti-Communist elements in Hong Kong."

"If the British authorities continue the policy any longer," Chou said, "then such disorders can arise in the future and on an even greater scale. The Chinese government cannot ignore such disorders on the doorstep of China."

Chou's comments were reported in a Tass dispatch broadcast by Moscow radio.

The Communist premier-foreign minister already had protested officially to Britain about the riots. He called in the British charge d'affaires in Peking Saturday to complain of the "failure so far of British authorities to adopt effective measures to stop the violence."

Chou expressed indignation over "cold-blooded murders and looting perpetrated by Kuomintang (Chinese Nationalist) agents."

ANONYMOUS TIP Burglars' Loot, Marijuana Found

Acting on an anonymous tip, Fred Taylor and Joe Draper, deputy sheriffs, Sunday found an estimated $834 worth of loot stolen Saturday night from Jim's Pawn Shop, 106 Main Street.

The deputies also found, some 10 feet from the cache where the stolen merchandise had been hidden, a plastic bag which contained at least $500 worth of what officers described as refined marijuana.

Taylor and Draper, receiving the lead Sunday, went north of town to a spot where the tipster had told them the stolen articles had been hidden.

They found the goods under a heavy growth of weeds. The articles had been thrust deep in the patch and had been rained on sometime since their concealment. The recovered merchandise included seven rifles, three pistols, and a quantity of watches, rings, jewelry, cigarette lighters and other articles. The rain and sand had caused some damage.

Searching the area the two officers found the plastic bag of marijuana under another weed clump about 10 feet from the rifles and jewelry.

The stolen articles were returned to the owner today.

Entry was gained to the pawnshop through a skylight and 10 pistols and rifles, including two new 30-30 Winchester rifles and a new 30-30 Marlin, were stolen. Three cigarette lighters were missing, as well as one man's Masonic ring, seven women's wrist watches, nine men's wrist watches, four boxes of rifle ammunition, three cameras, and a pair of binoculars. The owner estimated the value at $834.

The burglary was reported to city police at 9 a.m. Sunday. No arrests have been made in connection with the burglary.

Prompt UF Reports Urged

United Fund campaign leaders this morning stressed the importance of workers turning in their cards as quickly as they have received commitments from firms and individuals on which they called.

It was pointed out that prompt reporting will help to hold down expenses of the campaign which is being conducted this year on a streamlined volunteer basis without a professional fund-raiser on the payroll. If reports are made promptly, clerks and auditors can proceed with their work without idly awaiting the mountain of work that will result if everyone delays until the last moment to turn in a report.

So far, the campaign has brought in about one-third of the $87,500 which is needed to finance the programs of 19 youth and welfare organizations for another year.

Ike Gives Green Light For Design, Building Of A-Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today ordered government agencies "to proceed as rapidly as possible" with design and construction of America's first atomic-powered merchant ship.

"I am confident the ship will be the forerunner of atomic merchant and passenger fleets which one day will unite the nations of the world in peaceful trade," Eisenhower said.

His statement was issued in connection with a White House ceremony at which a go-ahead construction was authorized.

The ship will be a combination vessel designed to carry approximately 100 passengers and have a deadweight cargo capacity of 12,000 tons.

Construction was authorized by Congress during the last session. The ship will have a service speed of 21 knots and will be about 595 feet long and 78 feet across the beam. The spending limit set by Congress is 46½ million dollars.

Eisenhower's original proposal was for the construction of an atomic-powered "peace ship" to visit harbors around the world with exhibits of the peaceful uses of the atom.

Congressional Democrats opposed the peace ship as a "showboat" and pressed instead for a working merchant ship. Eisenhower signed the bill for a vessel of the latter type July 30.

America has had a nuclear-powered warship since the launching of the submarine "Nautilus" in January, 1954.

"Merchant ship propulsion, however, is as yet unrealized — although it is one of the most promising applications of nuclear energy," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower said he wanted to emphasize that the ship's atomic reactor design will not be secret.

"It will be possible for engineers not only of our own country, but of other nations, to view the nuclear power plant and see at first hand this demonstration of the great promise of atomic energy for human betterment," he said.

mission and Secretary of Commerce Weeks said the time of delivery of the revolutionary vessel "depends on the time necessary for completion of the power plant, which is now estimated at 39 months from the time of a contractual commitment, although efforts are continuing to reduce this time."

The Atomic Energy Commission will furnish the reactor and be responsible for its installation. The Maritime Administration in the Commerce Department will be responsible for design and construction of the ship.

At the White House ceremony Eisenhower inspected a drawing of the sleek vessel, unusual in the absence of any smoke stacks.

What- An Admiral?

Fred Pelka, left, of Depew, N. Y., a sailor stationed at the Bureau of Naval Personnel in Washington, brings a smile to the face of President Eisenhower with his remarks as the Chief Executive is quizzed on a nationally televised show by a "cross-section of Americans." Pelka said that he had heard rumors that "instead of being a General of the Army there was a chance at one time that you may have become an Admiral of the Navy." # Adlai Takes To Airwaves As Ike Prepares Western Tour

By The Associated Press
Democrat Adlai Stevenson takes to the airwaves tonight to press his proposal for a halt to hydrogen bomb tests, while President Eisenhower prepared for a flying, four-day campaign trip to the West Coast and back.
Stevenson scheduled a nationwide radio-TV defense of his hotly debated suggestion that the United States take the lead in halting H-bomb tests—a suggestion Eisenhower has called a "theatrical national gesture."
Eisenhower steps up his own presidential campaign this week with speeches—either recorded or in person—five days in a row, starting tonight with two filmed five-minute talks.
Eisenhower leaves tomorrow for the Pacific Northwest, with stops en route in Minnesota and on the way back in Colorado—his longest campaign foray since the fight for votes began.

Aides said Stevenson will continue to make Vice President Nixon a "prime issue."
Nixon's own campaign schedule put him in Ohio today, while his Democratic opponent, Sen. Estes Kefauver, hit Vermont, New York City and Long Island.
In remarks prepared for a delivery in Burlington, Vt., today, Kefauver launched his strongest attack to date against Nixon, saying the vice president "is trying to get into the White House on false premises, a false front and a false face."
Kefauver said Nixon is a "man who has voted against everything liberal" and "would inevitably become the center of power" if Republicans win because the Constitution bars Eisenhower from seeking a third term.
The Tennesseean said Nixon won election to both the House and Senate on "false premises" by trying to identify his opponents with the Communist party.
The controversy over Stevenson's H-bomb proposals continued to rage over the weekend. His suggestion that the military draft might be ended in the foreseeable future, when national security permits, also drew replies from administration spokesmen.
Nixon, speaking in Alexandria, Minn., accused Stevenson of "playing politics with America's national security on the draft issue."
Then, referring also to the H-bomb proposal, he said Stevenson "could not have made two statements . . . which would have been more harmful in discouraging our allies or in encouraging our potential enemies."
Secretary of Defense Wilson said "it isn't feasible" for this nation to stop the tests without an ironclad agreement with other nations.
Harold Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aide, said Stevenson "has been misinformed and misled and (is) thus mistaken" on the H-bomb issue.
Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), appearing in the same television session with Stassen, said he thought the tests are a proper campaign issue. Sparkman also defended Stevenson's position on the draft, saying:

"Gov. Stevenson did not propose the immediate discontinuation of the draft. He said we ought to study other programs to make it possible to end the peacetime draft. I see no reason why everyone could not agree to that."
Ten nuclear scientists from the California Institute of Technology issued a joint statement yesterday supporting Stevenson's stand on the H-bomb and calling for "free and open discussion" of such proposals.
A University of California physicist, Dr. Luis Alvarez, called the statement "irresponsible."
Nixon, at midpoint in his current 10,000-mile campaign tour, said in Dayton, Ohio, he is confident the Republican ticket will sweep the farm belt.
Kefauver said in Nashville, Tenn., he is "very satisfied" after 27,000 miles of campaigning that enough independent voters are swinging toward the Democrats to make a Democratic victory Nov. 6 a certainty.
In Washington, former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said Nixon would be handicapped as a vice president, rather than helped, in realizing any presidential ambitions.
Dewey, twice an unsuccessful GOP presidential candidate himself, said other Republican hopefuls would be in better positions than Nixon because Nixon's position wouldn't allow him to compete with Eisenhower's leadership.
So long as Eisenhower is president, Dewey said, "he's going to be running this country, and he'll run the Republican party . . ."
Dewey also said Nixon has been the best vice president in history.

Candidates Bar Prejudice Issues

NEW YORK (AP)—Both President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson have barred campaign appeals based on religious or racial prejudice.
The two candidates also pledged to work for full civil rights for all citizens.
Eisenhower and Stevenson set forth their views in statements yesterday to the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the American Civil Liberties Union.
The President said "unity of our people" demands "the keeneast guard against divisive propaganda, the sternest watch against divisive prejudice."
"There is no such thing as a little bigotry, just a little hate," he said.
Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, told the conference:
"In a political campaign, the exercise of our cherished right of free speech is put to its severest test. Intolerance, prejudice and false accusation have no place at any time in our national life."

As for civil rights, Eisenhower said he will continue to work for the four-point program he unsuccessfully sought from Congress this year.
That program calls for a bipartisan civil rights commission, a civil rights section in the Justice Department, new laws to aid in enforcement of voting rights and "greater freedom for the federal government to seek relief in civil rights cases."
The President said there has been "great progress in the last four years" in desegregation, non-discriminatory government contracts and "law enforcement."
Stevenson said the "achievement of full rights for minorities is the greatest unfinished business before the United States."
He said the President is "surely bound to use his moral as well as legal authority" in meeting problems created by the Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools.
He also said there is a pressing need "to assure the right to vote to all American citizens."

Bugler Plans Trip To France

DENISON (AP)—Hartley Edwards, who on Nov. 11, 1918, stood under the Arch of Triumph in Paris and blew taps on his bugle, is going back to France for a repeat performance.
The railroad oiler, 61, was a sergeant and top bugler in the 50-man drum and bugle corps for Gen. John J. Pershing on the first Armistice Day.
When the last notes of taps had died away, Marshal Foch, commander of the Allied Forces, said, "I hope that some day you men can return here and once again play taps for all of the soldiers who have been killed."
"I don't know whether any of the others ever got back or not. But my life's ambition has been to go back and play taps like Marshal Foch asked us to," Edwards said.
Edwards and his wife will leave Oct. 31. Their daughter and son-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. Kenneth Klein are now in Paris.
Edwards raised money for the trip by keeping chickens and cows on his small farm. He has not made arrangements to sound taps under the Arch of Triumph once again. He has written the Veterans' Assn., seeking help.

Complaint Due In Woman's Death

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Police said they will ask the district attorney's office today to issue a complaint against Walter Borchers, 45, in the gunshot death last week of his part-time secretary, Mary McCully, 31.
The Pasadena insurance broker, a one-time minister, surrendered Thursday with the body of the red-haired, former Texas beauty in the trunk of his car.
He has been in jail since.
Borchers told investigators he accidentally shot Miss McCully and then drove around for more than 24 hours with her body in his car.
The McCully family said Borchers and Miss McCully had planned to marry next Christmas.
Borchers' attorney, C. E. Millikan, described his client as a very devout man who was an assistant pastor of a Congregational church in Washington from 1939 to 1943.

Gunmen Hold 11 Hostage, Rob Store

FORT WORTH (AP)—Two gunmen, who held 11 persons for nearly two hours and then left them bound and locked inside a meat vault, robbed a Safeway grocery store of about $4,000 yesterday.
The thugs apparently entered the store through the roof during the night. As 11 employees entered, they came under the guns of the pair.
Before leaving, the robbers bound and put the victims, including a woman, into a meat vault in which the freezing unit had been turned off.

A Bible Thought For Today

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. (St. Matthew 2:11)

The Tempo Is Picking Up

The tempo and excitement of the presidential race is rising visibly and audibly. The tone of the speeches of the four principals is sharpening, and crowd responses are more manifest everywhere.

This is in contrast to what most people, including the managers of both parties, expected up to the time and even for a while after the national conventions.

Possibly the "new Adlai Stevenson" is mainly responsible for this turn of events. He made no secret of his hope to get Mr. Eisenhower off his pedestal as the dignified, aloof President of the United States who was too proud to carry on a "wristle-stop" type of campaign.

In this Stevenson has succeeded so well that Mr. Eisenhower has redoubled his efforts and is vigorously waging a speaking campaign that is reminiscent of his most vigorous efforts in 1952, when he was on the outside looking in, and therefore under greater pressure.

Even so, as press reports indicate, GOP candidates on the state and congressional levels are pleading for more and more effort from the President in their respective behalf. These lesser aspirants remember Maine all too vividly, and what happened in Alaska this week did nothing to calm their uneasiness.

Richard Nixon has made his second swing through Texas, indicating the party managers, here still have hopes of capturing the Lone Star State again.

And there is the possibility that Texas-born Ike himself may be persuaded to make an appearance before the campaign closes.

Regardless of how one intends to vote on November 6, the rising tempo of this campaign, the increasing efforts of both sides, the give-and-take of charge and countercharge is preferable to an easy-going type of campaign in which everybody, and especially the voter, is bored and indifferent.

The chips are down. Both sides are laying it on the line. What seemed a few short weeks ago a one-sided victory for the Republican presidential ticket has quite obviously become a contest.

Issues are getting discussed on both sides, and while as usual personalities may be the determining factor, the people can't complain that it has been a dull or namby-pamby type of campaign. Both sides are in there swinging.

Patriarch Of The Open Range

The longhorn steer is a museum piece now, but until about 50 years ago the breed dominated the cattle industry of the country. In the closing decades of the last century he was undisputed king.

He survives in small herds here and there, usually the property of public parks or sentimental gentlemen with a sense of history.

We Texans who have accumulated more than sixty pearls on the necklace of time remember the longhorn well. He was as wild as a March hare, able to whip his weight in black wildcats. It usually took trail drivers three or four weeks to break him to the trail, and even so he was as apt to go berserk on the holding grounds outside Kansas, Abilene or Dodge City as in the early stages of the drive.

One of our most unforgettable boyhood memories revolves around a herd of longhorns in the late 1890s. One of the steers tangled with a tree and broke off a horn at the roots. A five or six-year-old steer sniffed the few drops of blood, hoisted his tail, lowered his huge spread of horns, ran his tongue out eight or nine inches, and gave out with the wildest, most unearthly howl we ever heard. Instantly the whole herd gave an answering cry and rushed to the scene of the mishap, ready to give battle to their common enemy—whatever it might be.

The incident is as fresh in memory as the day it happened. From that day to this we have wondered at the total unanimity of that herd of Longhorns in its reaction to the scent of a few drops of tribal blood.

Pretty much like human beings.

Sanctity Of Treaty Governing Suez

WASHINGTON — The sanctity of a treaty — whether the promises men live by will be kept — is the only real issue in the Suez Canal controversy.

Time was, just a few decades ago, when world opinion centered on ways and means of arbitrating or settling — by an international commission of jurists — all questions of a "justiciable" nature. The idea was that, if it was a "legal" question and not that involved "national honor" nations should be prepared to let impartial judges settle it.

Is the world today devoid of jurists who can examine the Treaty of 1888 which provides for management of the Suez Canal? Why should there be talk of war or exaggerated claims about "sovereignty" which have little to do with the matter when the words of a treaty, duly signed by the principal nations using the canal, cover that subject and provide what shall be done in various contingencies?

The Suez Canal Treaty of 1888 itself, which is of indefinite duration and has never been abrogated by the nations that signed it, says:

"Article I. The Suez maritime canal shall always be free and open, in time of war as in time of peace to every vessel of commerce or of war, without distinction of flag. Consequently, the high contracting parties agree not in any way to interfere with the free use of the canal, in time of war as in time of peace. The canal shall never be subjected to the exercise of the right of blockade.

"Article II. The high contracting parties, recognizing that the fresh-water canal is indispensable to the maritime canal, take note of the engagements of his highness the Khedive (of Egypt) towards the Universal Suez Canal Company as regards the fresh-water canal; which engagements are stipulated in a convention bearing date the 18th March, 1863 . . .

"They (the signatories) undertake not to interfere in any way with the security of that canal and its branches, the working of which shall not be exposed to any attempt at obstruction . . .

"Article VIII. The agents in Egypt of the signatory powers of the present treaty shall be charged to watch over its execution . . .

"Article IX. The Egyptian government shall, within the limits of its powers resulting from the firmans (decrees of the Turkish government), and under the conditions provided for in the present treaty, take the necessary measures for insuring the execution of the said treaty.

"In the case of Egyptian government should not have sufficient means at its disposal, it shall call upon the imperial Ottoman government (Turkey), which shall take the necessary measures to respond to such appeal; shall give notice thereof to the signatory powers of the Declaration of London of the 17th March, 1885; and shall, if necessary, concert with them on the subject . . .

"Article XIII. With the exception of the obligations expressly provided by the clauses of the present treaty, the sovereign rights of his Imperial Majesty and Sultan (of Turkey), and the rights and immunities of his highness the Khedive (of Egypt) . . . are in no way affected."

The nations signing this were Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Russia and Turkey. Since those days, the form of government in some of these countries has changed but, unless a treaty is specifically repudiated, it remains in force as an obligation of the government that has succeeded the regime that signed the document.

There is and has been no question, therefore, about the "sovereign" rights of Egypt in reference to the canal and surrounding territory. The only limitation on Egyptian "sovereignty" is the one Egypt herself accepted when she undertook to keep in operation the 1888 treaty. She continued to function under it until the recent seizure of the canal property itself. This act apparently was a violation of the specific obligations of the treaty, but it did not render the treaty null and void.

How long does the treaty run? The Canal Company contract has until 1968 to go, but the Treaty of 1888 says: "The high contracting parties agree that the engagements resulting from the present treaty shall not be limited by the duration of the acts of concession of the Universal Suez Canal Company."

So the legal questions are clearly evident from a reading of the treaty. Can a nation go back on its word and yet claim it is observing the treaty? Why should the parties to the 1888 treaty agree to a mutual abrogation unless a new treaty benefits them? Cannot the dispute be resolved by an agreement among the users of the canal negotiated now with the Egyptian government but retaining the overall protection of the 1888 treaty? This is a problem for lawyers — not for soldiers. Surely in the United Nations, or outside of it, a juridical commission can be formed to render a legal opinion — even if advisory — on the obligations of the present Egyptian government and the other parties to the 1888 treaty. If contracts can be broken at will, international order will be disrupted and wars will result.

Are Voters Interested In H-Bomb?

WASHINGTON — One of the campaign puzzles is how much political hay Adlai Stevenson is making with his repeated speeches on ending H-bomb tests.

He seems to think he's found a major campaign issue here. He arranged to talk about it again tonight in a nationwide television speech.

He's intensely interested himself. What isn't known is how many voters are interested. Stevenson is said to be convinced, on the basis of crowd reaction, that the subject is one that voters are vitally concerned about.

If it has little voter interest, then Stevenson is using up a lot of valuable campaign time that could be devoted to issues which concern voters more immediately — an H-bomb explosion in the Pacific.

Only a handful of people in the United States have enough information on the H-bomb to form an intelligent opinion on whether the tests should be ended with or without prior Russian agreement to do the same.

That handful is composed of nuclear scientists, a few military leaders, and key civilians in the Eisenhower administration.

President Eisenhower, after saying several times the tests must be continued for national defense reasons, reached a point last week where he said he will not discuss it any more.

But he has never told the public the full story. He can't, he said, for reasons of national security; too much secret information is involved.

Thus shut out from a full knowledge of the problem, the voters cannot reach an informed opinion on the rightness or wrongness of Eisenhower or Stevenson.

The most they can do is choose up sides for political or emotional reasons.

In this argument Eisenhower, by invoking secrecy, has in effect asked the public to trust him when he says he's right and Stevenson is wrong.

Ten days ago, before promising to say no more on the bomb tests, Eisenhower issued an explanatory statement from the White House.

In it he emphasized he was not talking — when he said the tests must go on — as a political candidate but as President and therefore as the one most responsible for national safety.

He did it in this one sentence after saying government leaders make their decisions on the bomb after much thought on what is necessary for national defense.

"This specific matter (the H-bomb) is manifestly not a subject for detailed public discussion — for obvious security reasons."

With that he pulled down the curtain on full public knowledge and asked the voters to believe that he was in a better position than Stevenson to know what is needed.

Worm Turns

SAVANNAH, Tenn. — Visitors to this Tennessee river town sometimes are startled when they tune in on the local radio station and the announcer says "this is station W-O-R-M."

He's not kidding and there's a reason for the call letters. This little city of 4,200 calls itself the "Fishing" worm capital of the world. Its three big worm ranches and many smaller ones ship literally billions of wigglers all over the United States and to numerous foreign countries annually. One firm mails about a million and a half worms daily.

It's Papa Who Pays

MOSCOW — "Young Communist" organ of Communist youth, urged that fathers of children born out of wedlock should contribute to their support.

An article on Soviet law also said such children should bear their fathers' names. Under present Soviet law children born out of wedlock have no right to use their father's name.

"The marriage laws of our country are the most advanced and progressive in the world," the article said, "but it must be admitted under present conditions some of the rules have become obsolete."

Unwelcome Visitors

DETROIT — You can get used to anything if you put up with it long enough, but Ethel Smith is glad the city decided to widen the street in front of her corner house.

Six vehicles — one a loaded truck — have crashed into her house thus far this year. They all knocked bricks loose, damaged furniture and shattered nerves. Miss Smith says four years ago a fire engine joined the procession of unwelcome visitors.

Traffic officials hope the widened street will stop the unwelcome guests.

Dog On Die

ATLANTA — Rusty, the airport fire dog, was a sucker for ice cream bars and ate up to 15 a day, provided by travelers, firemen and field personnel.

Then he had to go to the veterinarian's to have a growth removed from beneath his tongue. And the doctor cut him down to three ice cream bars a day.

Bold Burglar

DALLAS — Some fearless car prowler lifted a shotgun from a police patrol car while the officers were making an arrest.

Around The Rim

A Few Things Could Be Changed—

Why— Don't they put scratch pads in church pews for the benefit of small children, who like to pass the time by writing and drawing while their parents are listening to sermons? It would save the wear and tear on song books and check books.

Do some people dip into their choicest invective in criticizing an individual by calling him "shiftless and lazy?" Charles Darwin spent most of his life on the sofa. He wrote or experimented only two hours a day and invariably considered himself finished for the day at 12 noon. In his old age, he found it too tiring even to look out of the window.

Is it an outsider can spot an American tourist, even before he gestures or speaks a word?

Is it all of us talk about owning an automobile which "gets 40 miles to the gallon" yet those ads boasting of increased horsepower appeal to us most?

Are we critical of a system (the Chinese) in which parents matched their children for marriage and the bridegroom never saw his bride before marriage? Most of their marriages proved successful, whereas the divorce rate in America is astonishing.

Hollywood and TV comedians still make jokes about the immense wealth of Texans? There are more millionaires in Chicago alone than in our whole state. New York leads all the states, with 2,500 millionaires. Illinois has 600, California 400 and Texas just fewer than 350.

Is it the populace isn't frightened by prophets of doom like they used to be? Time was when predictions that the end of time would shortly arrive would be followed by a wave of suicides.

Aren't small boys taught to protect and respect the rights of such creatures as horned toads and lizards? Such things do service to humanity by eating insects, and the youngsters attack them as if they are lethal.

Not try this spelling bee on your sewing circle: "Beside a cemetery near a seminary sat an embarrassed peddler and a harassed cobbler, gnawing on a desiccated potato and gazing at the symmetry of a lady's ankle with unparalleled ecstasy?" A college professor dictated that to 208 students and not a one scored perfect. The average was five misses.

Don't they have a law I can use to prosecute people who insist on dumping cats near my house after I have tried to rid myself of the animals in the same manner?

Ike Getting His Troops On The March

PITTSBURGH — Those coattails had better be long and strong if they are to carry big Jim Duff to re-election. The Senator is hanging on like grim death, but whether it will be enough to pull him through is questionable.

His present plight, in the closest of races with an able younger Democrat, former Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., of Philadelphia, is partly explained by the Republican failure to put life and leadership in the Eisenhower wing of the party during the past four years. It is one of those might have been, a lost opportunity which cannot be compensated for in the home stretch of the campaign.

Duff, an early Eisenhower supporter, complained that the White House never consulted him. But those close to the President feel that, on the contrary, there was nothing to prevent him from becoming the spokesman of the Eisenhower party in Congress if he had wanted to. And in that role he would have had all the backing that he necessary.

But this is spilled milk and the general agreement here is that the President must carry Pennsylvania by a majority of at least 150,000 if he is to pull Duff through. His majority four years ago was 269,520, and neither Democrats nor Republicans, when the latter speak candidly, expect him to do that well this November.

In Pennsylvania as in so many other states, the President's team counts on him to be a Don Larsen and pitch a perfect game every game. He is doing his best, and, as exhibited in one quick foray after another, it is a very creditable best. The performance is designed to stress the symbol value of the President as father of his country. Duff, in introducing him, actually used the words — first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen — customarily reserved for George Washington.

Robert Montgomery, one of the ablest producer-directors in television, is always at hand to make sure that the last-minute arrangements are just as he planned them.

At Pittsburgh, a special entrance was put up for Mr. Eisenhower in the Hunt Armory so that he would not be seen by anyone in the audience until he stepped onto the platform to touch off a wild demonstration.

But stage management would not be enough in itself if President Eisenhower did not give such generous evidence of his relish of the battle. He is the old warrior rallying his troops. And if one can take the word of close associates, he planned the strategy of the campaign just as it is unfolding.

Far from responding to the Democratic attack, the President, his associates are saying, decided from the beginning that he would hold his fire until the last four or five weeks. In short, in that classic American phrase, until he could see the whites of their eyes.

Let's not have one of these long campaigns; let's keep it short, he is reported to have said just after the convention in San Francisco.

In his pep talks to party workers, which are a feature of his campaign sorties, the President is above all the commander on the eve of D-Day or, more accurately, E-Day. He talks, as he did here, of the simplest elements involved in the appeal for victory, of timing and tactics. Stress the elementary difference that you are happier today than you were four years ago, he tells them.

Four years ago with the great surge of the Eisenhower victory Pennsylvania Republicans were happier. But two years ago a Democrat, George M. Leader, was elected Governor. And with little or no civil service, this meant a shift in allegiance in some 60,000 jobholders.

That is a formidable nucleus of money and manpower, particularly when it is added to the Democratic organizations in Philadelphia and here in Pittsburgh where Mayor David Lawrence has contributed much to the extraordinary transformation this city has undergone.

Duff, in his wrath, called Leader a jack-ass. But in the past he has used much more sulphurous language against his chief foe in the Republican party, former Governor John S. Fine. And now Fine, sulking in his lair in the western part of the state, is reported planning to knife his old enemy.

But the Commander-in-Chief has spoken the word. The Republicans have raised in the past 10 days more money than they have ever hoped to raise. The troops are on the march to touch off a wild demonstration.

Who Says Our Cooking Ain't Good?

For more than a century, ever-lovin' critics of the United States both at home and abroad have insisted that we are at once both the most — and the worst-fed nation in the world.

This critique strongly implied that while we live higher on the hog than any other people, we haven't the foggiest idea of how to cook the porker to make it really palatable.

We have been written off scornfully as a meat-and-potatoes nation (is that bad?) with no talent or appreciation for haute cuisine, although God has blessed us with an unparalleled variety and profusion of foods.

As one in whose family master cooks abound, I have always felt this was — nonsense, buncombe and tripe a la our grapes under European glass. Or else why is every American over the age of 10 always on a diet?

But now our confounded critics can mix themselves a beaker of bicarb and go stand in a corner, for basic American cuisine — vittles, if you please — has been crowned with laurel and has carried off the gold cup, the highest award, in the International Cooking Olympics in Frankfurt, Germany.

While teams of chefs from 10 other nations were stirring up Etoufee de Ve-u au Vin Rouge, Pies de Fore a la Sainte-Menehould, Caille sous la Cendre, Fastnacht Krappfen, Gebackenes Kalbsbrinn mit Gemischtem Salat, Pollo Cacciatori and Risotto Milanese, the American chefs were astounding their rivals and assorted gourmets with such typical American dishes as roast turkey and fixin's, soft-shelled crab, roast beef, baked Idaho spuds and avocados stuffed with Maryland lump crab meat.

Any U. S. citizen who has ever had trouble rassling with fettuccine in Rome or a slippery boiled pudding in London can now rejoice in the knowledge that the provincial international gourmets gathered from all over Europe didn't know how to eat that great American delicacy, 'e soft-shelled crab.

Once the waiters were instructed in the art, they passed on their skill to the gourmets, who then fell upon the crab and begged for more.

That emerald jewel, the avocado, was a stranger to the cultivated European palate, too. But after wrapping an experimental lip around it, the bon vivants pleaded to be permitted to buy one at any price to take back to the home folks (Alas, the American team had none to spare).

If gourmets came to scoff at thick, juicy American roast beef and Idaho bakers, they remained to pray for more. Nor could they get enough of two-All-American entrees, turkey (Which came first on these shores, the Indian or the turkey?) and candied sweet potatoes, glazed with a soupcon of pineapple.

Anyway, the American cuisine won the gold cup walking away, based on dishes just like mother used to make. Most of us always would have backed Mon against Escoffier, any time, any place. But it's nice to have our judgment backed by a gold cup that says "Winnah and Still Champ."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Davidson and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kennemer, Comco. The Rev. L. J. Power, pastor of the church, performed the double ring rites. The couple stood before an altar decorated with wedding bells in the center and flanked by burning white tapers. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin which she had made. The gown was made on princess lines and featured a sweetheart neckline. The yoke of the dress was of lace, trimmed with lace flowers and pearls.

The long sleeves, which tapered to points over her hands, were outlined at the points with small lace flowers and seed pearls. The floor-length skirt swept into a chapel train.

The illusion veil fell from a hat of white satin covered with lace and trimmed with white flowers. For something old, the bride wore wedding bands belonging to her mother and grandmother. Mrs. N. B. Davidson Her dress was new, and her blue garter was borrowed from Mrs. Richard Nance.

The bridal bouquet was a white orchid showered with white breath. This was carried on a white Bible. Geraldine Webb, Monahans, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of eggshell colored brocade taffeta. It featured princess lines and was trimmed with white velvet ribbon. She carried a colonial bouquet of Frenched carnations.

Mrs. Rainwater Is Hammond Organ Agent

You will wonder why you waited so long. All these years of listening to music... and never, never was it quite like this. You begin a lovely melody and feel it come alive on your Hammond organ. As though you had 20 fingers — as though you were leading an orchestra. You never get over the thrill of it... how much a Hammond organ can do with your simplest music. For this is the instrument with the variety of tones, the most expressive shadings. Surely it lives up to its title of music's most glorious voice.

It is a joy just to listen to the tone of a Hammond organ. Hear it and see it today at the local agent, Mrs. Champ Rainwater. Mrs. Rainwater is local agent for the Shield Company of Fort Worth, which handles Hammond organs.

You can view and hear one of these Hammond models at Mrs. Rainwater's studio at 716 Hillside. Five models are on display there: the home, church, concert, Spinnet, and Chord organs. These instruments are slightly more expensive than other brands of organs, but the difference in price is easily seen and heard. This additional price will not be noted when handling the finances through Shield's three-year plan. The firm will also take old pianos and organs as trade-ins.

A demonstration will convince anyone of the superiority of Hammond models and make a believer of life. For a personal demonstration, call Mrs. Rainwater—her number is AM 4-5732 — and arrange to see one. Mrs. Rainwater is glad to play for church, civic, and private groups either in concert, for a banquet, or just for a private meeting.

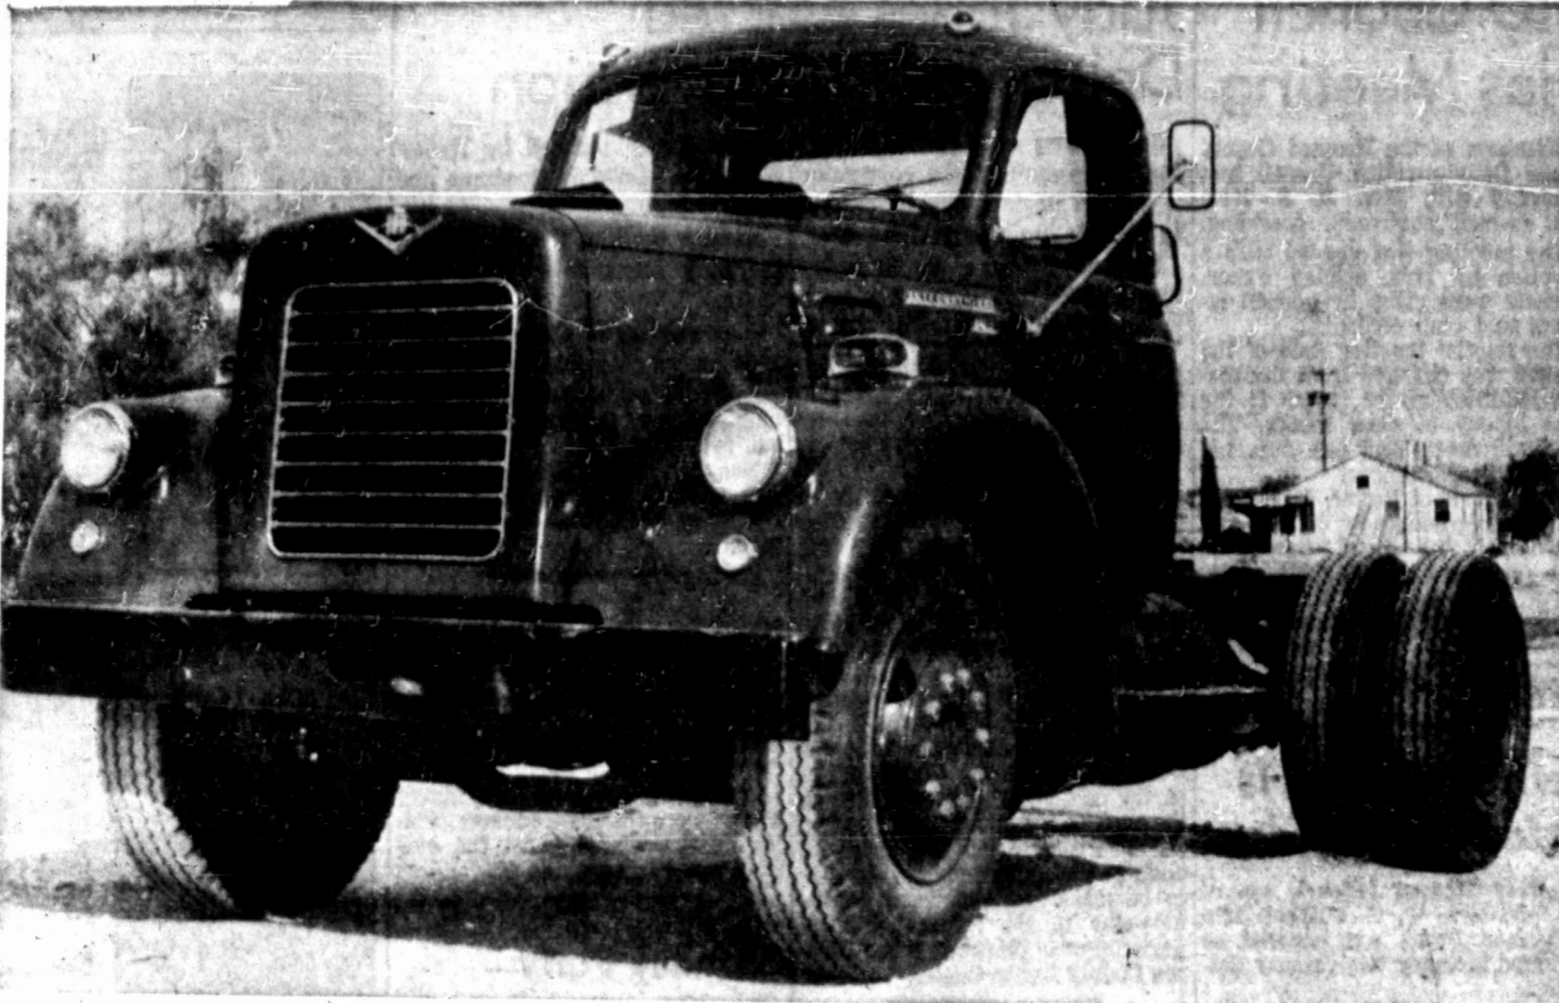

After hearing these clear-toned, multiple variety organs, you will wonder why you waited so long. Check with Mrs. Rainwater today.

Red Consul's Wife Faces Theft Count

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wife of a Yugoslavian vice consul may have to appear in Municipal Court to answer a complaint if Dist. Atty. Thomas C. Lynch files one in connection with a shoplifting arrest.

Mrs. Sonje Juznic, pretty, 26-year-old citizen of Yugoslavia, was arrested Saturday and held for five hours while police consulted with a State Department official.

Her husband Stanislaw insisted that his wife had gone Christmas shopping for her family in Yugoslavia and had thrown away her sales slips. Mrs. Juznic said only it was a "terrible mistake." She spoke little else in English.

Big International V-8

This is one of the new International V-8 trucks now available through Driver Truck and Implement Company, Lamesa Highway. The V-8, Y-block engine powering Internationals of 24,000 to 45,000 pounds

GVW were seven years in the making. The years of development are paying off with a host of satisfied users, said Curtis Driver, local distributor.

International V-8 Trucks Are Proving Popular In This Area

Powerful V-8 engines, under development and rigorous testing for seven long years, are now available in America's leading truck, the International.

Curtis Driver, owner of Driver Truck and Implement Company, local International distributor, said the V-8 engine is available in all International truck sizes from 24,000 to 65,000 pounds gross vehicle weight.

There are three sizes of the International V-8 engine, each with the Y-block construction which provides longer, more efficient service without the addition of a lot of load-reducing, power-killing weight. The engines are the 206-horsepower model with 400.9 cubic inches of displacement, the 226-horsepower engine with 461 cubic inch displacement, and the 257-horsepower which displaces 548.7 cubic inches.

All are short-stroke, low friction engines combining the short-stroke and low engine r.p.m. in an efficiency package with reduced piston speed, lower power loss and great economy.

Large engine displacement permits the use of low numerical rear axle ratios which enhances performance and increases operating economy and truck life. The powerful engines are equipped with in-head valves, of course. Valves are hydraulically operated and are self-adjusting. "Wet" re-placeable valve guides allow direct water contact to take heat away more rapidly, assuring cooler operation. The largest of the V-8's also has sodium-filled valve-stems for additional heat dispersal.

International V-8's which local truckers have already put in operation here are proving to be exceptionally economical to operate.

Driver said also that purchasers have had nothing but praise for the big trucks. In addition to the heavy-duty trucks, Driver and International are offering a complete line of smaller vehicles powered by the famous "Red Diamond" six-cylinder engine which helped to make International Harvester Company

Harland Has Anti-Freeze, Lighter Oils

Falling leaves and shorter days are a good indication that winter and colder weather are on the way.

If you tarry until the first freezing spell to have your car winterized, you probably will have waited too long. At that time, garages and service stations may be too pressed with demands to give anything but emergency services to your automobile.

A good place to place your order for anti-freeze is the Harland Magnolia Service Station, located at 1000 Lamesa Highway in Big Spring.

Large anti-freeze makers recommend that the car's cooling system should be flushed with a chemical cleaner before anti-freeze is put in.

Personnel of the Harland station are prepared and trained to do such a chore for you. Flushing the radiator serves to rid it of accumulated rust, sludge and grease, which can clog narrow water passages in the radiator.

Both radiator hoses and water pumps should be checked for signs of present or likely leakage. A check of the battery and the motor is always advisable before the onslaught of cold weather and the place to accomplish such a mission is the Harland station. Lighter grade oils are recommended for motors when the temperatures begin to skid.

The lighter oil serves to lighten the starting load that the battery will have to carry. Harland's, of course, is the headquarters for premium Magnolia gasolines and motor oils. The complete servicing jobs, from firm is situated on the Lamesa Highway in north Big Spring, accomplished at the concern.

R&H Has Winter Yard Equipment

Big Spring homeowners who have the most attractive lawns and yards insist that achieving this enviable goal is a job that goes on year around.

End of summer means nothing to the home gardener who wants his yard to look beautiful. There are a thousand jobs that can only be done in the fall and winter.

Most of these jobs require tools and supplies. The home-owners who are the proud owners of these lovely yards know the importance of good tools and proper equipment.

That's why nearly all of them buy their supplies and their tools from the R&H Hardware. The stock that R&H has is complete. The gardener knows that he can find what he needs at R&H and that what he finds will be the very best merchandise in its field.

Furthermore, it is so handy to shop at R&H. Located as it is 504 Johnson, it is out of the congested traffic of the downtown area. There is always plenty of parking space and no parking meters to pay. It is readily accessible from all parts of town.

R&H is a friendly store, too. They welcome you and they have trained personnel to advise with you on any purchase you may have in mind in the hardware line. Furthermore, every purchase you make at R&H brings you those valuable S&H Green Stamps.

LOOKING EM OVER

With Tammy Hart

The game with Big Spring last weekend was most important for O. W. Pollis of Lamesa because the Tornado coach is on the grid.

Some go so far as to say that this is the year of decision for him. Of course, four defeats in a row administered by Big Spring over the years haven't helped his cause.

Lamesa perhaps can do better than Pollis with the money it pays, but I doubt it. Pollis, in my estimation, is doing a more than creditable job. He usually gets the ultimate performances out of his teams.

His teams usually operate at about 110 per cent of efficiency against Big Spring.

How about doffing the fedora to two men who are doing a splendid coaching job, Roy Baird and Harold Bentley?

Along about now, the Big Spring Steers were supposed to have an 0-5 won-lost record. But they've won their last two starts and don't look anything like the same club that started the season against Andrews.

The Steers have won two more games this year than they were supposed to, and they're not through yet. Kermit is just ahead. The boys apparently feel they can measure the Yellow Jackets and enter their conference play with a .500 won and lost record.

More than a few people have asked this writer where the officials who called the game here the other night are from.

Two, including the referee, reside in Abilene. The other two are Odessans.

The head-liner man called that controversial pass - interference play in the fourth quarter, the one which gave Lamesa a glorious scoring opportunity.

His reasoning was hard to figure, since the would-be receiver was far removed at the time, no where near when the pass was intercepted by Jimmy Evans of Big Spring.

Walter Dickinson, who was down in the area with Evans, saw that Jimmy was going to intercept, and immediately made a try at blocking the downfield receiver, an act which probably prompted the call on the part of the official.

It would be easy for officials to call a penalty on every play. Something amiss is usually going to happen where 22 boys come in contact with each other.

A good official blends into the scheme of things as much as possible and tries to make things run as smoothly as he can. That certainly wasn't being done Friday night.

Coaches can ill afford to be open to critical of anything West Texas officials do, however, since the arbiters are so hard to hire out here.

For a while earlier this year, it appeared there was none to be had to work home games here. Officials are getting to be about as rare as the dodo bird.

It's just as well for Big Spring the Steers have seen the last of John Middleton, Lamesa's great back.

The Tornadoes never beat Big Spring with a record in uniform but the specter posed the eternal threat in each game he appeared against the locals.

Newcomers Vie In New York

Garnett "Sugar" Hart of Philadelphia and Earl Dennis of New York, a couple of young, eager welterweights who have walled that the stars won't fight them, collide tonight in a television 10-rounder, DuMont, TV, 9:30 p.m., EST, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Hart, a solid swinging 21-year-old with a record of 14 knockouts in 17 pro fights, is an 8-5 favorite over the dangerous 24-year-old Dennis, naturally known as "the menace" in New York gyms. Sugar's complete record is 16-1, the loss coming on a one-round knockout by one Fred Terry. Since then Hart has won eight straight.

Dennis has a mediocre 30-13-5 record, including 11 kayos, but he has won 20 of his last 23 scraps.

Hart's manager, Marty Stein of Philadelphia, had to guarantee he would sell $1,000 worth of tickets to get his big opportunity. So far he has sold more than $1,500.

Cuba's Ike Logart, one of the welterweight contenders Hart and Dennis would like to meet, faces Gaspar "Indian" Ortega, a free-swinging, tall Mexican youngster in the Wednesday night radio-TV feature, ABC, 9 p.m., EST, at Boston's Mechanics Building. The 23-year-old Logart, winner of nine straight including six this year, is favored to make it 10 straight. His record is 45-5-5. Ortega's record is 34-7.

Joey Giambra, another handsome gladiator with titular ambitions, guns for his fifth straight victory Friday night, NBC, TV, 9 p.m., at New York's Madison Square Garden. The 25-year-old Buffalo, N.Y., middleweight, ranked tenth contender, takes on fast-punching, aggressive Gil Turner of Philadelphia. Giambra's record is 45-4-1, Turner's 50-13-1.

DELTON CHESSER Scored One TD For Stanton

Bisons Record First Victory

LORAIN (SC) — The Stanton Buffaloes won their first football game in four starts by topping the Loraine Bulldogs, 21-20, in a real thriller here Saturday night.

Delbert Donelson's three kicks from placement provided the difference between the two clubs.

With 2 1/2 minutes to go, Donelson raced 80 yards with the touchdown that enabled Stanton to go out in front. In the first period, Delbert had broken loose on a 60-yard scoring jaunt.

Delton Chesser scored Stanton's second TD on a pass from Dwayne Thompson in the second period. The play covered 60 yards.

Bill Blair scored twice for Loraine, each time on a run of two yards. Gary Parnall accounted for the third from 11 yards away.

The Bulldogs made both their extra points on plunges into the line.

Nolan Sorrells, Stanton guard who missed several games due to injuries, returned to action and gave a good account of himself.

Loie Badgett, linebacker; and halfback Merle Miller played outstanding defensive ball for the Buffaloes.

Stamford Plays Anson Friday In Loop Debut

By The Associated Press

Stamford opens the race for the district championship in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football this week but it appears only a formality. No team looks capable of halting the mighty Bulldogs, who have a winning streak of 23 straight games.

Stamford plays Anson Friday in the first game of the District 4 conference race. Anson has lost three out of six in the non-conference campaign.

Stamford last week clipped its second Class AAA foe of the season when the Bulldogs whipped Brownwood 19-7.

Seymour had been figured as strong competition for Stamford inside the district, as this team won its first five games handily, but last week Seymour took a 40-6 thumping from Dumas.

Comanche, Bonham, DeKalb, Deer Park and West Columbia appear the other standout teams of the state and somewhere within the class of Stamford's opponents.

Comanche has numbered three Class AAA outfits—Stephenville, Killeen and Graham—among its victims in a 6-game winning surge. Bonham hasn't played the kind of opposition that has marked Comanche's schedule and neither have any of the others but Bonham has scored 198 points in five games, which indicates it could go against the tougher ones if given a chance.

Only 12 undefeated, untied teams remain in Class AA as the teams move virtually en masse into conference play. Lockney, Stamford, Comanche, Hamilton, Grapevine, Lewisville, Bonham, DeKalb, West, Deer Park, Sweeny and West Columbia have that distinction.

Stanton, Hebbronville and San Antonio Sam Houston are unbeaten but have been tied.

Feature games this week are conference affairs. Lockney and Post clash to send two of three unbeaten teams in the District 2 championship race together. In District 9 Burk Burnett and Jacksonville battle in a similar game.

Only the Chicago Bears, living up to their rave notices, provided a touch of sanity, rolling almost at will through the San Francisco 49ers, for 397 ground yards, 85 air yards, 22 first downs and a 31-7 victory. A capacity crowd of 49,714 sat in on this one.

In other games, the upstart Chicago Cardinals retained their spot through the season unscored upon.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's national champs, with the remaining schedule giving little evidence they'll be unrocked, now have rolled over three 1956 foes with their goal line still virgin territory. They snubbed North Carolina 36-0, humiliated Kansas State 66-0. Then they made themselves at home on the range with a 45-0 decision over Texas last weekend.

This week it's Kansas. The Jayhawkers, who have beaten only Iowa State in four games to date, figure to give the Sooners a modern record of 34 consecutive victories.

After Kansas all that stands between Oklahoma and another perfect season is Notre Dame, Colorado, Iowa State, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma A&M and Indiana.

Notre Dame, only a name for a change, may prove a stumbling, but it's unlikely. After a 28-14 thrashing by Purdue for a 1-2 record, the Irish now hold only the uncertain hope of upsetting one of the big guys. And if an upset to Notre Dame's claim to fame it almost has to come this weekend against Michigan State.

Michigan State, hard on Oklahoma's heels for the national title, took a 53-6 Hoosier holiday against Indiana — leaving MSU atop the Big Ten with also unbeaten Ohio State (26-6 over Illinois) and Iowa (18-7 over Wisconsin). Iowa may make it to the Rose Bowl what with Michigan State ineligible to return and Ohio State on probation.

In the race for national honors, Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and long-absent Tennessee are ready to move in should either Oklahoma, Michigan State or Ohio State falter. All six are 2-0.

And on the fringe, there's Mississippi (4-0), already primed for a Southeastern Conference battle with Tech and Tennessee Southern Cal (3-0) and perhaps Michigan (2-1). Michigan, beaten only by Michigan State, made an impressive comeback with a 48-14 crush against once proud and potent Army.

Georgia Tech, after trimming Louisiana State 39-7, meets Auburn Saturday. TCU is involved in one of those Southwest Conference toughies, battling Texas A&M, unbeaten but tied by Houston.

Tennessee, giving an example of Southern tradecraft by permitting Chattanooga 20 points while scoring 42 last weekend, faces Alabama, still winless after a 23-6 lesson from TCU.

Southern Cal, idle last week, now tries Washington (3-1) for size. Michigan goes against Pennwestern, Ohio State against Penn State.

Four Linksters Vie Today For Top Cash

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four tournament golf professionals battled it out today in a playoff for $3,000 top money in the Western Open after usually steady Doug Ford blew his chance to take it all.

Ford, one of the finest short game players in the business, came apart on the last three holes of yesterday's climactic round to finish in a 284 dead heat with Don January, flashy Lampasas, Texas, youngster; Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., and Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N. Y.

Coming off The Presidio's breezy 15th hole, Ford was sailing along four under par and nothing apparently stood in his way of grabbing the big prize. Then, as shocked spectators watched in amazement, his play around the greens went completely haywire.

The 33-year-old winner of the 1955 PGA championship 3-putted the 16th for a bogey, carded another bogey by taking three to get down from the edge of 17 and, as the gallery watched open-mouthed, blew himself into the playoff on the 18th.

On this decisive hole, where he still had a chance to recoup, his second shot landed in thick grass about 25 feet to the left of the pin. He carefully chipped toward the cup and the ball skidded 10 feet past on the lightning fast surface. From there he barely missed his putt and went down in 5, another bogey.

In the playoff starting at 12:30 p.m., today the Yonkers, N.Y., tournament, who hasn't won a tournament this year, is up against three tough competitors who did considerable scrambling to reach the payoff. Anyone of them could take it.

The lanky Texan, January, 26, has won just one major tournament, the Dallas Centennial last May. He was leading the Western Open midway. He came in today even par, one stroke higher than Ford.

Hebert, who at 33 has never won a major tournament, came right out of the dark, for he had had not been putting too well. But his 69 in yesterday's final round shot him up to the top for a chance at the $5,000.

Three sub-par rounds, including a final 70 yesterday, earned the steady Fetchick, who celebrated his 34th birthday Saturday, his spot in the unprecedented playoff.

This is the first time such a thing has happened in the Western Open, although other tournaments have had four-way ties.

The four will play together and, if they haven't broken the tie at 18, the issue will be settled by sudden death playoff.

The money normally would be split $5,000 to the winner, $2,500 to the second man, $2,000 for third and $1,500 for fourth. Now the winner still gets $5,000, but the next three get $2,000 apiece.

Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Texas, finished with 285 apiece to collect $1,125 each.

Schoolman Faces Assault Charges

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Charges of assault and battery confronted school superintendent Harry Flower of nearby Palo today in the wake of an alleged spanking incident involving a 7-year-old boy.

Flower, 31, was fired and landed in jail after Mrs. Vice Wollington complained that her son Robert suffered bruises she said were inflicted by Flower.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Johnson said Flower admitted spanking the boy Friday, saying he caught him and other youngsters throwing stones at a teacher's car. The deputy said Flower told him he had not struck the boy hard enough to cause injury.

Uncle Ray: Most U.S. Presidents Have Been Lawyers

By RAMON COFFMAN

All over the United States, people are thinking and speaking about the coming presidential election. This interest stretches across national borders.

Aside from the present election, there is a strong interest in past elections. Judging by questions which have been asked, people want the facts about many points.

Q. What states have provided the most presidents?

A. Virginia and Ohio. Eight presidents were born in Virginia and seven in Ohio. New York was the native state of four presidents and North Carolina of three.

Q. What were the professions of the 33 presidents before they took office?

A. Twenty-one were lawyers, four were planters or farmers, and three were soldiers. There was one tailor, also a publicist, an educator, an engineer and an editor (Thomas Jefferson was a lawyer as well as a planter, but I have listed him in the planter-farmer group.)

Q. Of the 33 men who have been president, how many attended college?

A. Twenty-four attended college. Four of them went to Harvard, three to William and Mary and two each to West Point and Princeton. One each attended Yale, Hampden-Sydney, University of North Carolina, Bowdoin, Dickinson, Kenyon, Williams, Union, Miami of Ohio, Allegheny College, Amherst and Stanford.

Q. Nine of the presidents have been without college training, but some of these became lawyers nevertheless. They studied in law offices before starting to practice law. This was a common way to become an attorney during the past century.

Students Give Out On Pedal Journey

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"I'll never do that again," said George Potter of Jackson, Miss.

Jackson was echoing the sentiments of three Sigma Chi fraternity brothers at Oklahoma University who pedaled a specially built three-man "tricycle" from here to Dallas—about 200 miles.

The students left Thursday and arrived at 3 a.m. Saturday—in time for their goal, the Oklahoma-Texas football game. They decided to return by automobile.

Conservative Rally Slated

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A rally touching off the campaign of an independent conservative presidential ticket will be held here tonight.

The candidates on the states rights-tax reform ticket, backed by a loose organization of small conservative parties in 14 states, are T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond for president and Thomas H. Werdell of Bakersfield, Calif., for vice president.

Andrews, foe of the federal income tax, is a former director of the Internal Revenue Service in the Eisenhower administration. Werdell is a former Republican congressman from California.

Both men will be notified tonight of their selection as candidates and will make their acceptance speeches.

The Andrews-Werdell ticket is backed in this state by the newly formed States Rights party of Virginia.

Keynote speaker will be Clarence Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School and a national cochairman of the Andrews-for-president committee.

Congress Was Never Like This

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy had a little difficulty here last night before delivering the address at a nonpartisan dinner sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

The dinner had to be held up until Kennedy could locate his suitcase—and the tuxedo it contained. It had been misplaced at the airport.

One of the K. of C. officials then referred to him as "Sen. Wagner" of New York.

Then it came the turn of Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh to formally introduce Kennedy. With a big smile, he introduced him as "Sen. John Fitzgerald!"

By this time the crowd was roaring with laughter. Hurling Lawrence said he had been thinking of Kennedy's grandfather, former Boston Mayor John Fitzgerald.

Ike Expected To Restate Policy On Yugoslav Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is expected to issue tomorrow a policy decision to continue limited economic and military assistance to Communist Yugoslavia.

How long the aid would continue would depend on results of frequent reviews of Yugoslavia's relations with Russia.

Officials said the administration is determined to avoid any action which might push Yugoslavia into closer association with Russia. At the same time there is considerable concern over how rapidly Yugoslav President Tito may be rebuilding tight links with Moscow on his own initiative.

Those in decisive positions say privately they do not believe that Tito wants to alienate the support of Western nations which enabled him to survive and establish his independence after his break with the Soviet bloc under Stalin in 1948.

Tito's urgent need right now is for an estimated 200,000 tons of wheat from the United States to meet a severe food shortage.

It was understood that Eisenhower's decision would emphasize the importance of the wheat shipment. Yugoslavia would have to turn to Russia for this if it was not forthcoming from the United States.

Furthermore, agricultural interests in this country are anxious to reduce grain surpluses.
