Hungarian Rebels Hold Western Part Of Nation

Civil War Spreads As Thousands Die

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Hungary's anti-Communist civil war spread over much of the country today despite orders from the government for an all-out military effort to crush the rebels. Three Belgian diplomats who arrived at the Austrian border after leaving Budapest at 11 a.m. said: "The whole of western Hungary is in the hands of the rebels." Heavy fighting raged throughout last night and also today in Budapest, with scores of Russian tanks taking part. "The dead and dying were lying about everywhere in the streets," the diplomats reported. Rebels controlled the highway to Vienna, from Budapest to the border. Rebel civilians and Hungarian soldiers who had deserted to the revolution stopped the Belgians six times en route to the Austrian frontier. Several thousand persons were believed dead or wounded in fighting that had flamed for three days in the Danube capital and spread to the western countryside and such major cities as Győr, Szeged, Szolnok and Pécs. Three radio stations apparently were in the hands of rebel forces. All were heard faintly here, calling themselves "The Freedom Radio." Two identified themselves as being at Pécs, near the Yugoslav frontier, and Miskolc, near the Czech border. Leaflets proclaiming establishment of a "revolutionary government" were being distributed. Reports at the Austrian border indicated Hungarian workers had gone out on a general strike, paralyzing railways, transport and other industry. The pledges of the new government of Premier Imre Nagy, for a new deal with eventual withdrawal of Soviet troops from the country, apparently had not gotten anywhere. The Budapest radio broadcast repeated urgent appeals to the rebels to give up their arms and cause the bloodshed. These broadcasts pledged reforms of all kinds, an amnesty for rebels, better living conditions, independence from Moscow, and a new popular front government "today or tomorrow." The radio appeals were addressed especially to "young soldiers" who apparently had deserted the government, to workers, youths and even "old Communists." The general strike apparently had stopped all rail movement except military traffic. Some of the dead in Budapest had been shot down by Russian tanks when demonstrators advanced with only Hungarian flags and no weapons. Budapest, a city of 1 1/4 million, was a capital of gaping and blackened wounds in its buildings. Debris littered its streets. Pécs and Miskolc are cities of 86,000 and 136,000. Győr and Szeged, where other anti-Soviet disorders were reported, are places of 66,000 and 88,000. The news that Russian and Hungarian troops had launched the all-out attack was the last report received from inside the embattled city from Associated Press correspondent Endre Marton before his temporary telegraphic communications were broken early today. The capital on the Danu without telephone connections to the outside world. An Austrian coming across the border at Nickelsdorf said he saw Russian soldiers fire on about 100 Hungarian demonstrators at the small town of Magyarorvar, about 10 miles from the border, when

Midland Crash Scene

Firemen spray the wreckage of one of the planes which collided and fell, damaging this home in Midland. Seven occupants of the two planes — a jet trainer and a private plane — died in the crash. The owners of the house were not at home at the time of the crash.

OPERATIONS PROTESTED

AF Officials Express Sorrow, Promise Aid For Midland

Webb Air Force Base and Air Training Command officials today expressed regret over the mid-air collision of two planes which took seven lives at Midland Wednesday. Meanwhile, two private pilots and a West Texas congressman protested the Air Force's use of civil-training purposes. Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa urged the Air Force to move training operations away from the Midland Air Park. Webb planes have been using the small airport for practicing instrument landing approaches. Two private pilots protested the Air Force's use of civilian airfields and airways for training. West Texas Rep. J. T. Rutherford urged the Air Force to move jet training operations from Big Spring away from the Midland Air terminal. Col. Cleon Freeman, executive officer at Webb AFB at Big Spring and Brig. Gen. James Roberts, inspector general of the Air Training Command, expressed sorrow over the Midland crash which killed seven persons. Rutherford said he is asking Air Force Sec. Quarrels to investigate the possibility of moving the jet training operations at Webb away from the Midland terminal. "I know you are as grieved as I am over the tragedy of Oct. 24th which claimed seven lives in a Midland air crash involving a T33 jet trainer and a private aircraft," Rutherford said in a letter. "We have in West Texas so much wide open space away from populated areas and away from the airlines that there seems to be no excuse for not moving the instrument landing operation to the existing Air Force landing strips at places such as Marfa and Pecos." Rutherford said. Webb officials said they were temporarily discontinuing the instrument landings at Midland. Freeman told the people of Midland: "I wish to express the sorrow which we in the Air Force feel in regard to the crash at Midland which claimed the lives of five civilians and two of our officers."

See Space Ships Replacing Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top Army specialists predicted today that present military airplanes will be replaced by rocket-driven space ships designed to carry nuclear bombs or fighting men and their equipment. The forecasts were made in papers prepared for the convention of the Association of the United States Army, a private group, by Dr. Werner von Braun and Maj. Gen. J. B. Medaris, chief scientist and commander respectively of the Army ballistic missile agency at Huntsville, Ala. Von Braun, chief developer of the German V2 rockets of World War II who since 1945 has been working for the U.S. Army, predicted the launching within four or five years of unmanned space stations. He said they could "obtain a vast amount of information" through the use of electronic devices and relay it back to the earth. The original version of his speech distributed before deletions were made at the Pentagon carried a prediction by Von Braun that rockets carrying a dozen men could be launched "in less than six to eight years" to an altitude of 1,075 miles. At that height, he said, the men could erect a space station that would orbit around the earth and from which "bombing could be carried out with unprecedented accuracy." Medaris said in his prepared talk that "the time has arrived" to consider space missiles as "the most efficient delivery system which can be predicted."

African Violence Strains French-Tunisian Relations

TUNIS (AP)—New violence rocked North Africa as border incidents strained French-Tunisian relations another notch today. Premier Habib Bourguiba's government claimed many Tunisians were wounded when a French military convoy from Algeria tried to smash through a roadblock the Arabs had set up to prevent such crossings. The French denied breaching any barricade and said there had been no casualties. Elsewhere in Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, French troops and Arabs clashed in fresh flareups sparked by resentment over French seizure of five top Algerian rebels Monday while en route to a conference in Tunis. In Casablanca, two Moroccan policemen were killed and two wounded last night in the European quarter. A jeep carrying the four was sprayed by machine-gun fire from an American-made car. In Algiers, six Europeans were wounded when extremists fired into a cafe. In Oran, where four Europeans were killed by rebels yesterday, French forces shot down five rebels. The French lost one dead and four wounded. At Ain Mokrane near Oran, 14 rebels were killed. Seventeen others fell elsewhere in Algeria. The French have been patrolling the Tunisian border to prevent supplies of arms from passing over to the rebels. The French have granted Tunisia independence, but thousands of troops still remain in the country pending final negotiations.

Aide Denies Pearson Claim That Ike Had 'Relapse'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Press secretary James C. Hagerty today described as "the most amazing document of falsehood that I have ever seen" a report by columnist Drew Pearson that President Eisenhower suffered a "mild relapse" on his Western campaign trip. Hagerty said it is "absolutely and categorically untrue that Eisenhower suffered a relapse at any time on the trip. Hagerty told reporters there has been no relapse on that or any other occasion. Opening the discussion on his own, without waiting for questions at his news conference, Hagerty said he obtained a copy of the Pearson column from newspapers which queried him about it. The column was distributed for publication tomorrow. Hagerty said that on one page alone there were 10 misstatements of fact — three in one sentence. Hagerty went over what he called the misstatements one by one. At the end, he remarked: "I am trying not to get mad on this one, but—" he shook his head vigorously from side to side. Then he went on, "well, I think this is about the worst job of reporting I have ever seen." Hagerty said he wanted to recom-

West Considers U.N. Action On Hungary Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has started consultation with Britain, France and other friendly governments on "the feasibility and advisability" of taking the Hungarian situation into the United Nations. This was announced today by State Department press officer Lincoln White. He said consultations are being conducted in various capitals and that one question under discussion "is whether Soviet troops are in Hungary legitimately under the Warsaw Pact."

WHY THE FUSS? 13 Children In Family—All Boys

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP)—Mathew and Julitta Wagner can't understand why anyone should make a "fuss" over the fact that their new baby is the 13th son in an all-boy family. News items which called their big, two-story farm house southwest of the city limit since the birth of 11 1/2-pound Paul Amos last Saturday have come away without much information about the family. The Wagners have let it be known that publicity is distasteful to them. After the birth of their 12th son, Raymond, a little over two years ago, the family came in for quite a bit of attention in the press and radio. Wagner said it brought a few "crank" letters and some "ribbing" which he said was particularly unpleasant to the two oldest boys who are in high school. "Anyway," Wagner said, "this isn't important. But if it had been a girl—" he didn't finish the sentence. Mrs. Wagner, 41, came home from the hospital when the baby was 5 days old. She began at once to help the older children with the cooking and other household chores which they handled in her absence. The parents insisted they had seen a family of 13 sons, no girls, on a television program recently. They couldn't remember the family name or other details. "So you see," said Wagner, "all we've probably done is tie the record."

Presley Opponent Loses Station Job

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The man who got an Elvis Presley fist in the face was looking for a new job today — fired because his battle with the teen-agers' rock 'n' roll idol hurt business. The first fight with Presley also cost 42-year-old Ed Hopper a black eye, a $25 fine and left him with a slight ringing in his ears — the aftermath of telephone calls from a horde of irate Presley fans. Clarence Harwell, owner of the service station where Hopper was manager, said he fired Hopper yesterday but let him "stay on a few days until he can line up another job."

More Planes In Trouble

By The Associated Press Two more planes got in trouble over Texas Thursday. Nine persons died Wednesday in crashes. Three Air Force officers escaped injury when a B25 crashed while trying to land at an auxiliary air strip at McGregor. The plane was based at Connally AFB at Waco. It attempted the landing after the left landing gear froze in flight. The ship skidded and the gear collapsed on landing.

Lamesa Has First Fatality

LAMESA (AP)—The city's first traffic fatality of the year was registered last night when Angel Rios Pagan, 30, of Brush, Colo., died after his car was in collision with a truck at N. 2nd and Lynn. Pagan, a cotton picker working in this area, was thrown from his car. The truck then ran over him and overturned. Driver of the truck, which was loaded with cottonseed, was Walter E. Quilian of Seminole. He was not hurt. The fatality was the 12th in Dawson County this year.

UF Workers Told To Turn In Cards

All United Fund workers were asked today to turn in all prospect cards — worked and unworked — to UF headquarters in the Settles Hotel by Monday. D. M. McKinney, general campaign chairman, said drive leaders hope all of the cards will be worked by the solicitors who now have them. "It's apparent, though, that many of them will have to be reassigned," he said. Latest audit of campaign reports showed Thursday that the fund-raising campaign for 10 welfare and character development agencies has attained only 61 percent of its objective. Total contributed and pledged is $53,970. The goal is $87,550. The audit also showed that fewer than half of the prospect cards have been turned in to UF headquarters. Slow reporting on the part of workers prompted McKinney and other UF leaders to request that all cards be turned in by Monday afternoon. The ones not worked by that time will be assigned to other workers, the chairman said. The only exception made in the case of workers who have been unable to contact prospective donors who have been out of town during the first part of the campaign, McKinney said. He asked that workers with cards in that category make their contacts as quickly as possible. Otherwise, the chairman asked that all cards be turned in. "We have an obligation — individually as well as community — to serve these 10 agencies," McKinney said. "If the cards are worked, we'll get the money."

Hudson Hornet For '57

The Hornet four-door sedan, above, is two inches lower in height this year. It is powered by a 255-horsepower V-8 engine with a compression ratio of 9 to 1 and 327 cubic inches displacement. Styling refinements also are noticeable.

New Hudson Cars On Display Today

The 1957 models of the Hudson Hornet are on display today at the local agency, Lockhart-Collins, 1011 Gregg Street.

The Hornet this year has a 255-horsepower V-8 engine and a number of styling refinements. The cars are lower by two inches and are available in super and custom four door sedan models, as well as the "Hollywood" hardtop.

The new Hornet 255-horsepower V-8 engine, designed and developed by American Motors engineers, has a compression ratio of 9.0 to 1 and a 327 cubic inch displacement. Its bore and stroke are 4 inches by 3 1/4 inches. The V-8 engine is equipped with a four-barrel carburetor and dual exhausts as standard equipment.

The V-8 engine is available with three transmissions: standard synchromesh, optional automatic overdrive, and the improved optional "Flashaway" Hydra-Matic.

Graceful, modern rear fender fins highlight the new Hudson's styling refinements for 1957. Dual fin front fender ornaments complement the flowing lines of the new models.

A new silver textured aluminum panel on all custom models extends from the front fenders into the front door panel on both sides of the car, lending a sweeping effect to the car's lines.

The massive V-shaped, die-cast grille highlighted by a modern inner-mesh pattern rounds out Hudson's exterior styling. Built on a 121 3/4-inch wheelbase, the Hornet is two inches lower for 1957, giving it an overall height of 60 1/2 inches. The new models are equipped with new 14-inch wheels, and the roof panel has been lowered 1 1/4 inches at the centerline.

Balloon Aerial Isn't For Kids

BALTIMORE (AP) — A balloon shaped like a lollipop is the latest thing in radar antennas.

But it's nothing for the kids to play with. It weighs 1,690 pounds and is three stories high. Yet, that is small compared to the 10,000 pounds for metal antennas which will do the same job.

The Westinghouse Co. announced that engineers at plants here in Landsdowne, Md., developed the collapsible and portable antenna for the Air Research and Development Command.

The idea was supplied by Coleman J. Miller, a Westinghouse engineer from Pasadena, Md. It netted him a special award of $5,000.

Much Goes Into Can Of Salmon

This is one of a series of stories Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Pastor, Baptist minister, has written on his impressions of Alaska. Together with Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of his board here, he is on a two-week mission assignment to Alaska. Dr. O'Brien writes from Kenai, southwest of Anchorage.

I hope these accounts of our experiences in Alaska do not leave the impression that we are just sight-seeing. I assure you we are deeply interested and involved in the revival as our major objective in Alaska. But one can hardly come this far from where he has lived all his life and into such thrilling environments without giving a little time to his surroundings.

Today I visited a salmon cannery. People who open a can of salmon at home cannot imagine all the work behind what the can cutter reveals. The huge fishing fleet of greasy, creaking, smelly boats... nets nearly a mile long, cranes, windlasses, drums of cable... chugging engines and sweating men... the processing procedure, classifying, sorting, rejecting, finally following the fish to the can and the crate. It is a bewildering process. Libby's, one of the largest canners, has hundreds of fishing boats here and a huge cannery sending forth boatloads of vitamin-loaded salmon. There are three processing plants here, all of them undergoing enlargement.

My intimate experience of the day was to go aboard one of these fishing vessels and watch men prepare it for winter. It has to be almost airtight and covered with snow cannot penetrate. If I knew nautical terms well enough I would like to describe this boat. Its holds, its cabin, its steering mechanism, its engines, propellers, compass, lights, bunks and a score of other things a land lubber doesn't know about. The owner, an old man, but as salty as they come, took great pains to answer questions and discuss things I didn't even know to ask about. He related many interesting experiences in his life as a fisherman and spoke of his plans for the future as if he expected to live and fish forever.

His sea-seasoned wife, of rather hefty proportions, picked me up in their jeep and said the old man wanted me to be the guest of the "Real Big Fisherman." After we had looked over the boat and had coffee in her cabin, looked out to where the Kenai River converges with the Cook Inlet, literally where the river and the Pacific meet, he invited me to a salmon dinner at his house.

I have eaten fish in Port Arthur, Houston, Galveston and London; but I have never eaten fish that was as good as that 12-pound salmon baked by this man's wife. Besides she had three kinds of jelly, potatoes, English peas and lettuce salad, all of their own providing. There was only one "bought" item

Rain Spatters Parts Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Showers spattered parts of Texas Friday and more were forecast for the south.

Beaumont, Houston, Palacios and Beeville had showers early Friday. Lufkin had .29 inch.

A cool front had crossed the state, leaving chill temperatures. Predawn readings Friday ran from 35 degrees at Salt Flat to 71 at Corpus Christi, Beeville, Laredo and Brownsville.

Delhart had 32 early Thursday. High temperatures Thursday ranged from 91 at Alice to 59 at Amarillo.

Rain Thursday was reported at Houston, .16, Waco .01 and College Station a trace.

Wet weather was the outlook today for broad areas in the northern part of the country from the Pacific Coast to the upper Ohio Valley.

More rain fell in the Far Northwest, with heaviest amounts measuring more than 3/4 inches, along the Oregon coast.

The storm which moved from the Rockies and across the plains weakened as it advanced across the Mississippi Valley to the western Great Lakes region. However, moderate rainfall was reported in many areas, with heaviest falls from southern Illinois southward into Arkansas and northern Mississippi. Strong winds were reported in many areas, and had pelleted some sections of the storm belt.

Some cooling occurred in the Eastern Plains. Little temperature change was reported in other sections of the country.

tucky and Wisconsin. I knew there was a base here, and of course hoped to meet the personnel and invite them to the meeting, but that is out. In fact Alaska is honey-combed with military bases, most of which we know nothing about.

But to know they are here, and to see radar towers every few miles gives us a feeling that we are well protected.

Had a letter from Dr. Malone today. He had just taken an automobile tour of the famous Matanuska Valley. I am anxious to see him, and later to see his pictures.

We have not seen each other since we landed in Anchorage a week ago. We didn't come up here to enjoy each other, but to do a job for the Lord. So I better get at it as of now.

A wide selection of new exterior colors are offered on the 1957 Hudson V-8. There are 15 solid, 12 two-tone and five three-tone combinations available. Several new "super enamel" paints, said to be more durable, also are offered on the new cars.

Entirely new interior upholstery and trim selections are available on both Hornet models. Cloth, vinyl and metallic fabric combinations are offered, as well as optional leather trim on custom cars.

Padded instrument panels are standard on both super and custom Hornet models, and new padded sun visors are standard on custom and optional on super models.

Atom Fall - Out Becomes Radioactive Election Issue

Editor's Note: Continued tests of the H-bomb have become a critical issue in the presidential campaign. This is the first of three daily articles exploring the problem.

ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK (AP) — Fall-out — scary stepchild of our new atomic age — has become a hotly radioactive election issue.

Human dangers from fall-out underlie proposals to end H-bomb tests, and the differences of view on how and when to do it.

In this debate voters must decide concerning scientific matters, on some of which prominent scientists are divided. Fall-out and H-bombs also involve, of course, moral, political, diplomatic and military security questions.

Here are some of the main scientific facts and points of view:

Q. What is fall-out?
A. Radioactive atoms created from pieces of the exploding nuclear weapon itself, and from dirt, debris or water sucked up by the blasts. Radioactive means atoms which are "excited." That is, at some later time they emit X-rays or other radiation and then become harmless, stable atoms. The rays they emit can be harmful to living tissues.

Q. How can fall-out harm humans?
A. In three ways: (1) a huge amount, as from a war, can cause generalized radiation sickness and death; (2) even very tiny amounts might affect human heredity (tomorrow's subject in these articles); (3) even very small amounts might damage humans living now if they were hit by or ate or breathed enough of certain kinds of these atoms.

Q. How can a single H-bomb test in the Pacific, or in Siberia, or somewhere else equally remote, affect me in the United States?
A. In time, a tiny sprinkle of which you live. How much is adding a bit to the radiation in its fall-out depends on your city, and depends on the number, type and timing of the tests. A slow enough rate of tests conceivably would add no more radiation than was disappearing by decay of an earlier fall-out. The more tests, the more fall-out.

Q. Are we exposed now to dangerous amounts from A-bomb and H-bomb tests conducted so far by all nations?
A. The Atomic Energy Commission says no. It says fall-out has exposed us to only about 1/100th of the amount of radiation to which we are inevitably exposed by natural radiation, which has always surrounded us. It says fall-out exposure so far is about equal to having one chest X-ray.

Other scientists aren't so sure it's all been safe so far, or are worried about certain types of fall-out, especially strontium-90 which Adlai Stevenson called "the worst poison."

Q. What is strontium-90 and why is it especially dangerous?
A. Strontium is a natural chemical element, an alkaline earth metal. Radioactive strontium (strontium-90) is dangerous because, like ordinary calcium, it can go to the bones. And it stays active for an average of 40 years, emitting rays in declining amounts. If animals are given big enough doses, it produces cancers of the bone.

Q. Have dangerous amounts of strontium been created and distributed so far?
A. The AEC says the amount falling from all tests to date would have to be increased "many thousand times" before any effect on humans would be noticeable. Dr. Willard Libby of the AEC estimates that even if 110,000 bombs were exploded—each one of them equal to a one-megaton H-bomb—"it would be hard to prove statistically that any of the strontium had caused bone tumors in anyone." (A megaton is equal to one million tons of TNT.)

The National Academy of Sciences, an independent scientific agency, says some children now have detectable amounts in their bones but that it is only 1/100 of what is considered a permissible or very safe dose.

Other scientists say there is no question but that strontium is dangerous, and that the critical question is exactly how much is bad, and how close we are now to that point, or will be in the future.

Q. Can strontium-90 be absorbed by plants and animals and thus enter human bodies through vegetables, meats and milk?
A. Yes.

Q. What's the hazard from this so far?
A. Dr. Libby's studies indicate that cow's milk contains only about one sixth of the strontium content in the cow's feed. Plants absorb only some of the fall-out strontium, he says, and animals don't retain all that they might get from contaminated plants.

Q. Is strontium-90 formed only in H-bombs?
A. No. It is created by atom bombs when uranium or plutonium atoms split.

Q. Would halting H-bomb tests halt production of strontium-90?
A. No. A-bomb weapons would have to be banned also.

Q. Can fall-out from H-bombs be reduced?
A. The AEC says last spring's tests in the Pacific helped show how to localize fall-out. It has not explained how this was done, and to what extent. Height of detonation and engineering of the weapon could be factors.

Q. Is strontium the only dangerous fall-out?
A. Many different kinds of radioactive atoms and dust are created. Some die out fast, others linger. The concern is over those which can add to general radiation.

Q. How is fall-out broadcast?
A. Heavy particles soon drop to earth, near the test site. Lighter ones float in the lower atmosphere, can go around the world in a belt of latitude several times in a few weeks before drifting to earth, or being carried down by rain. Some is thrust into the stratosphere by powerful weapons, and may stay there for 10 years before descending. While airborne, the radioactivity decreases, the extent depending upon how long-lived are the particular types of atoms.

Q. How are nuclear tests in a foreign country detected?
A. By air sampling at government stations and other means, not described for security reasons. Fall-out gives clues to the type and strength of the weapon tested.

Q. Can a foreign nation's tests be detected accurately enough to learn whether it was violating an agreement not to test?
A. Many atomic scientists say yes, at least for all but the smallest-power ones, and that the advantages gained by a single test cannot be very great.

The AEC says detection systems cannot ensure picking up every test, and that learning the size and nature of the test takes time, particularly with the larger, more complicated weapons.

Q. Have we learned enough from our tests, or built up our nuclear arsenal enough, to stop testing?
A. This is another hard nubbin of disagreement. Some very prominent and leading scientists say we can stop because we have enough destructive power stockpiled; that if we continue, and other nations begin testing, we will add dangerous amounts of radioactivity to our world.

The AEC and President Eisenhower say tests are developing new weapons for defense, with less fall-out hazard, and providing civil defense knowledge to help save our own skins from radiation and blasts if war did come.

Bender In Fight Of Political Life

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican George H. Bender, a consistent Eisenhower backer, is waging the fight of his political life to retain his seat in the United States Senate. He was elected to the Senate in 1954 to fill the unexpired term of the late Robert A. Taft.

The man trying to unseat him is Democrat Frank J. Lausche, whose five terms as governor is unprecedented.

Lausche left a private law practice in 1932 to become first a judge and then the mayor of his home city of Cleveland before moving to the governor's office.

His unpretentious campaign technique consists of little speech-making, few appearances at formal political gatherings. But he shakes thousands of hands at county fairs, civic functions, dedications and private organization gatherings.

Bender, conducting a strenuous campaign, is a veteran of 40 years in public life. He served five terms in the State Senate and seven as U.S. representative-at-large before beating Thomas A. Burke, Lausche's interim appointee for the Taft Senate seat, in 1954. Bender's margin over Burke was only 3,000 votes.

He has keyed his drive for reelection to a record of unvarying support of President Eisenhower. President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, along with other top GOP brass, have visited Ohio in his behalf.

Bender repeats over and over that Eisenhower needs a Republican Congress. He fumes over Lausche's failure to meet him face to face to debate campaign issues.

But falling in that, Bender has turned to an energetic program of trying to meet personally as many voters as possible in addition to almost daily speeches at political rallies.

Driving into small towns, he makes a practice of visiting a barber shop, bank and tavern, where he says he gets a cross section of public opinion.

But he continues to need Lausche about "silence on the issues," calls his opponent "a part-time Republican, a part-time Democrat, and, where it serves his purpose, a part-time independent."

Lausche replies that he will "not engage in a shouting contest" with Bender and adds: "My conviction is deep that nothing either I or my opponent can say or do in the brief period of a month will change the reality of the good or bad which we have done."

Politicians say Lausche has been able to remain in office in a nominally Republican state by attracting GOP votes without losing too much Democratic support despite almost constant feuding with party chairmen.

Lausche has criticized the Eisenhower administration's soil bank program as beneficial to big farmers but of little or no help to small family farms of about 100 acres. He complains of what he calls "federal encroachment" on functions of state and local governments.

Most political observers, looking back at Lausche's vote-getting prowess, can't predict a Bender victory.

But Bender is fighting back. The decision may be closer than many anticipated when the campaign opened.

Adlai Vetoes Pension Raise

Senator Kefauver, commenting on Stevenson's veto in Illinois of a 10 per cent increase in old age benefits, said:

"Mr. Stevenson says he vetoed the bill because the Legislature did not provide funds to finance it. But the fact is that Mr. Stevenson also vetoed an amendment which would have provided $14 million to pay for the increased cost of old age pensions."

—WASHINGTON STAR, May 26, 1956.

The Eisenhower Administration has increased old age benefits. Texas Democrats for Eisenhower, 412 Bolm Building, Austin, think Texas will go for Ike again on Nov. 6.

Nostalgic Memories On Halloween Season

By LUCILLE PICKLE
Those dry leaves are rustling, the wind is beginning to sound like fall—in fact Halloween is here again!
Come next Wednesday all the ghosts and goblins should be pretty well worked down with what all the school carnivals in progress previous to the spook night.
While some youngsters get too enthusiastic with their pranks, most moderns have their fun by going on trick or treat parties and ending up at someone's house to enjoy their loot.
Many things have changed in Big Spring during the past 30 years and methods of pulling pranks have changed too.
In early day Big Spring nearly every home had a fenced in front yard as well as the one in the rear. A favorite stunt of many children, as well as their older relatives, was to run down the side of a picket fence with a stick. The noise it made was a horror to kids who were already scared to death.
"Picket Night" was the night before Halloween and to most residents, a night to remember. In fact, most older people are prone to think that "trick or treats" idea originated because of the destruction brought on by such a night. Bands of young people would tear down all the pickets that could be pulled from the bars.
One year, though it does seem impossible, some enterprising boys managed to get a cow into the second floor auditorium of the high school building. How they got the bovine up the fire escape and through the window is hard to figure out.
Of course the piece of resistance was the out house that graced the back of most resident's rear yard. Came the dawn following Hallow-

Fancy Tricks For Spooks

By DOROTHY ROE
Even Halloween costumes are up to new tricks.
Mothers accustomed to raiding the ragbag for materials to stitch up outfits for junior spooks and witches now get an unexpected assist from the medicine cabinet. The new colorful star-studded plastic strip bandages make gay trimmings for small-fry costumes.
Local sewing center experts suggest making a witch costume by stitching up a basic smock out of inexpensive black cotton fabric. Use a commercial pattern or cut the front and back of the dress in a T-shape and sew side seams together. Use a drawstring to shape the neck.
Make a triangular orange shawl and edge the shawl with the new decorative plastic bandages. Cut between the bandages to make a scalloped effect. trim the belt with more bandages, baste patches on the skirt and use the plastic strips to hold down the edges.
Make a witch's hat from heavy black paper and trim it with bandages.

Mrs. Billings also urged all members to encourage people of the city to use their right to vote.
A new member, Mrs. Hart Phillips, was introduced to the 20 members present.

Carmel Apple Tricks For Halloween Party

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Delicious candy apples for Halloween result from the following recipe. We've dipped many an apple in sweet mixtures for other All-hallows Eves, but this particular coating is the one that, to date, has been the most popular.
The apples are coated with a light caramel that is soft enough for easy small-fry eating. If oldersters try the apples, they'll find the caramel isn't so chewy that it will endanger tooth feelings!
The bottoms of these caramel apples are rolled in crushed peanut brittle — a fine taste combination. If you buy the peanut brittle, make sure it is fresh. Either

Mrs. Ralph Gossett, spiritual life chairman, was in charge of the program.
During the quiet time in the early evening, Mrs. H. H. Stephens and Mrs. J. W. Dickens brought meditations. Michael Jar-

Baked Pork Chops For Fast Planning

Time to do extra chores while these pork chops are baking!
HARVEST PORK CHOPS
Ingredients:
Four loin pork chops (about 3/4-inch thick), salt, pepper, 2 medium-sized red apples, 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar.
Method:
Brown pork chops rapidly on both sides in hot iron skillet; arrange chops in one layer in shallow baking dish — a deep pie dish is fine. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. Peel onions and cut into 1/4-inch slices; separate into rings. Core apples without peeling; cut into 1/4-inch rings. Arrange onion rings over chops, then apple rings over onions; sprinkle lightly with salt. Sprinkle apples with brown sugar. Bake uncovered in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 60 minutes or until chops are cooked through and onions and apples are tender; baste several times with small amount of juices in bottom of dish. Makes 4 servings.

Guacamole Salad For Mexican Menu

If you love avocados this recipe will surely tempt you to put aside all worries of calories.
GUACAMOLE WITH CORN CHIPS
Ingredients:
One medium-sized avocado, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 very small onion, 1 small package corn chips.
Method:
Make sure avocado is ripe. Cut into halves lengthwise; twist slightly to pull halves apart; remove seed. Scoop out avocado from skin with teaspoon; mash fine; there should be 3/4 cup. Add lemon juice and salt. Peel onion, grate fine; add 1 tablespoon onion (pulp and juice). Spoon mixture back into one of the avocado shells; there should be enough of the mixture to just fill it. Arrange on a plate and surround with corn chips for dunking into the avocado mixture. Makes 4 first-course servings.

Poultry Seasoning

A little poultry seasoning may be added to give flavor to stew-

Dinner Cocktail

Diced avocado, strips of drained canned pimiento and French dressing make a fine before-dinner cocktail.

Cranberry Loaf Is Good For Holidays

This loaf is nice toasted after it's stored over night.
QUICK CRANBERRY LOAF
Ingredients:
Two cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup commercially prepared whole cranberry sauce, grated rind of 1 orange, 2 tablespoons shortening (melted).
Method:
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into a mixing bowl. Stir in rolled oats. Beat eggs until thick and ivory colored; beat in milk enough to combine. Stir egg mixture into dry ingredients only enough to moisten them. Lightly stir in cranberry sauce, grated orange rind and melted shortening all at one time. Grease the bottom of a loaf pan

(8 1/2 by 4 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches); line bottom with waxed paper; grease paper. Turn batter into pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until cake-tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out of pan; strip off paper; turn right side up on cake rack. If loaf is to be served warm right away it will have to be cut in rather thick slices. If loaf is cooled and stored over night in a tightly covered container it will slice well and taste good toasted.

Use Horseradish

Horseradish is a natural for roast beef; serve grated fresh horseradish in a lettuce cup if you can get it or use the commercially prepared bottled variety.

Pancake Topping

Make a brown-sugar syrup and add maple flavoring. Nice for pancakes.

Crushing Garlic

Don't peel that clove of garlic before you put it into a garlic crusher. The pulp will come out as usual and the press will be easier to clean than it is when the garlic is peeled before crushing.

To Add Flavor

Add a little monosodium glutamate to the water in which you simmer a stewing chicken. You'll find this vegetable protein derivative will heighten the broth's flavor.

Queen Candidates

Irish Posed With Problem

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Defense against Oklahoma's speedy calling of plays and the running pass exploited by halfback Tommy McDonald is posing plenty of concern for Notre Dame Football Coach Terry Brennan.

Bonham Defeats Locals, 20-0

ODESSA (SC)—Bonham of Odessa turned back the Big Spring Eighth Grade footballers, 20-0, here Thursday afternoon.

The Yearlings scored one touchdown that was called back due to a penalty, Jerry Dunlap going over from the eight-yard line in the third period.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Chief hope of the Big Spring Steers in their game with Abilene are tonight rests in the fact that (1) the Eagles, after having reviewed Big Spring's record, won't be able to get "up" for this one, and (2) a super-human effort might well be made on the part of the red but willing Steers.

No matter how the Longhorns and Eagles perform, the eyes of the state will be focused on Memorial Stadium. History will be made here this evening, one way or another.

Sid Ziff, a Los Angeles scribe, says the offensive guard is the forgotten man of football, in this day of the Split T.

Offensive guards for Big Spring are Maxie Carey and Donnie Bryant on one side and Lewis Porter, Knox Pitzer and Jerry White on the other.

Abilene's guards will be the well-known Stuart Peake and Guy Wells. Your efforts will be rewarded if you concentrate on their efforts for a white tonight.

Carl Coleman, the former Big Spring coach, is one of those who is gratified with the development of Billy Johnson as a Steer quarterback.

Carl never got to work with Billy, other than in spring training, because Johnson had to confine his play to the B team last year.

Roy Scudday, the Sweetwater scribe, recalls that the Ponies' miseries this year all started when it was learned that Charles Andrews couldn't be able to play due to trouble with both his knees.

Bob Snider, a West Virginia back returned from the service, proved he was ready to play again in a unique manner, after suffering an injured knee.

After hearing about the incident, Coach Art Lewis of West Virginia remarked: "Bob simply doesn't like to have anyone run past him."

ARNETT IN FAREWELL

Little Gets Last Chance At Army

Lou Little gets his last chance to upset an Army football team tomorrow, Jon Arnett plays his first game for Southern California and there may be a few other "lasts" on the middle Saturday of this odd football season.

The season may have ended for south Carolina yesterday, in fact, Clemson, unbeaten but tied by Florida in five games, now is 3-0 in the ACC, thanks to busy Charlie ussey. The Tiger quarterback lunged for a first down that set up his first-period touchdown lunge, then converted and finally scooped an end zone fumble at the final 3 minutes.

Little, Columbia's veteran back, has made a specialty of getting undermanned teams ready to score upsets and his special team has been Army and Coach Carl Blank. Columbia did it in '47, ending a 32-game Army winning streak and pulled out a 14-14 tie five years later.

Little is retiring at the end of the 27th season as Columbia coach and because of Ivy League scheduling commitments, the Columbia series ends with Saturday's game. So it's Lou's last chance.

Arnett is one of the principal victims of the Pacific Coast Conference eligibility ruling which limited certain seniors to five games this season. The ruling drew out of disclosures that some players had received more than legal financial aid and the refusal of the colleges to give names.

The swift, skilled Southern California back has been a standout in four victories that have earned USC the No. 6 national ranking.

After playing against Stanford, he'll have to hang up his uniform. It's an important last game, since the teams are tied in the Pacific Coast Conference with 2-0 records, just behind UCLA.

Another of the season's oddities comes today when Oklahoma A&M and Kansas clash. Originally scheduled for Saturday, the game was shoved up when fans began to show too much interest in the nationally televised Saturday struggle between Oklahoma and Notre Dame.

Casey Stengel Is Selected As Loop's Manager Of Year

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Casey Stengel, a wonderful man who has perfected the oratorical double reverse with a split infinitive and flunker adjective, is duly grateful and honored to be voted the American League Manager of the Year.

He said so today at his home in Glendale, where he is resting up after leading the New York Yankees to their sixth World Series triumph and seventh pennant in his eight years with the club.

Casey scored a lopsided victory in the annual Associated Press poll of members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America—164 of the 207 votes. This was 150 more than his

Juniors Seek 5th Victory

The Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings seek their fifth victory of the 1956 season here at 7:30 o'clock Saturday, clashing with Colorado City at Steer Stadium.

The Ninth Graders, coached by Charles Caraway and Dan Lewis, have defeated Snyder, 26-14; Lamesa, 25-13; Stanton, 34-0; and Cowden of Midland, 14-2.

They've lost to Andrews, 41-14; and Bonham of Odessa, 6-6.

Back James Drake and center Donald Dorsey have been named permanent co-captains of the Yearlings.

The local team will suit out in the uniforms used last year by the varsity Steers tomorrow night.

Bobby Evans, end and quarterback, is favoring a pulled muscle and may see limited action Saturday.

Probably starters for the locals include Billy Engle and Benny Edwards at ends, Roy Deel and Mackie Alexander at tackles, Alvin Utley and Bud Bridges at guards, Dorsey at center, Donnie Everett at quarterback, Mike Zabiate and Drake at halfbacks and Douglass McEvers at fullback.

7th Grade 11 Wins, 26-7

Dennis Lee ran wild as the Big Spring Seventh Graders walloped Stanton, 26-7, here Thursday night.

Lee scored all four touchdowns for the Yearlings and rolled up better than 250 yards rushing. He counted on dashes of 30, 70, 60 and 50 yards, spacing his rallies to a touchdown a quarter.

Stanton banged across for its lone score on a sustained drive in the third period, moving 50 yards. The Buffaloes went across from one yard out on fourth down.

Jimmy Madry counted the extra points for Big Spring after the first and last touchdowns.

Dexter Pate performed ably as the Big Spring quarterback while Ernie Samples, Jack Irons and Bobby Miers looked to advantage in the Yearling line.

The Yearlings, who now boast a 5-1 won-lost record, play Lamesa here next Thursday.

Eagles Dominate Longhorn Series

The Big Spring Steers have defeated the Abilene Eagles in football only twice in the last 25 years.

The 1939 Longhorn club broke the spell with a 27-20 victory and the 1939 club followed suit by defeating the War Birds, 25-6.

The two teams haven't met since 1949, when Abilene clobbered the locals, 72-7.

The score since 1930:

POLICE SAY

Motor Bike, Scooter Riders Must Have Driving Licenses

The police department expresses the opinion that Big Spring is full of unlicensed drivers — from the volume of motor scooters and motorcycles parked around city schools.

State laws require anyone operating a self-propelled vehicle to have a driver's license. And listed in the self-propelled category are motor scooters, motorcycles, and motor bicycles, as well as automobiles.

The regulations also state that a person cannot obtain a license until he has reached the age of 14. Between the ages of 14 and 16, the juvenile must have his parents' consent and also the county judge's sanction.

To gain consent of the county judge, the juvenile must show a definite need of the license; this does not mean to have a good time.

From the number of motor scooters parked around schools here, the police department thinks students are operating these vehicles without obtaining a license. The practice is a direct violation of the state regulations, the police department asserted.

The requirement about having a license is not aimed at getting revenue, but it is to thoroughly show that the person is capable of handling a motor vehicle and knows its safety features.

The number of motor scooter riders and the way many drive indicates that the majority do not know how to handle the machines, officers said.

Chief of Police C. L. Rogers said that the age limit was set by the state as a safety measure and not to discriminate against the youngsters. Anyone below that age should not be driving anyway, Rogers said. Only after he has shown a definite need for the license and that he is responsible should the youth be granted a license.

Rogers called on parents of youngsters owning motor scooters to help the police department with the problem. If a child is not old enough to have a license, the department asked that the child not be allowed to drive the vehicle on streets and highways.

Even after a license has been obtained, parents should make the juveniles safety conscious, Rogers added. The chief reminded parents that they are still liable for the children when they drive a motor vehicle.

Juveniles who have a license should not forget to keep their vehicle in good condition and free from mechanical defects. Driving around the schools is hazardous enough without having a number of motor scooters dashing in front of cars and into intersections, the chief explained. Driving safely and knowing completely how to handle a vehicle will make conditions safe around the city's schools.

Integration Data Given At Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Board more reports in a study of desegregation.

The reports were issued by School Supt. W. T. White at a meeting of the board. They said:

1. That integrated schools will result in much frustration among pupils and teachers and of disappointment among parents.
2. That in an integrated system there will be a large number of schools containing "relatively" large numbers of both white and Negro children.
3. That a greater percentage of white students are capable of doing the work of the grade they are in or of achieving even more than are Negro students.

The first report, read by White to the board and to an audience of both Negroes and whites, concerned the over-all impact scholastically on individual pupils after all previous reports were considered.

Preventing War Use Of Bombs Cited

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower said last night "the compelling challenge before the world is not the matter of testing nuclear weapons—but of making impossible their use in nuclear war."

Thus, in a speech to a cheering crowd packed into New York's Madison Square Garden, did Eisenhower reply once again to Adlai E. Stevenson's oft-repeated proposal that the United States take the lead in seeking world agreement to end hydrogen bomb tests.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, set aside his H-bomb proposal for the time being last night as he pounded at Eisenhower for what he said is "a record of calloused political perfidy" on farm promises.

Speaking in Springfield, Ill., Stevenson leveled criticism at Eisenhower personally, saying the President has compounded "deceit with self-righteous hypocrisy."

Immediately after his speech in New York, Eisenhower flew back to Washington, where he planned to devote his day to White House tasks.

Eisenhower got heavy applause when he said the United States stands in "instant readiness to lay aside all nuclear weapons—including their testing—when, but only when, we have safeguards that others will do the same."

The President also undertook to reply to Stevenson's contention that the GOP administration has been sterile of new ideas.

Rotting Of Surplus Wheat Is Described

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Sen. Scott (D-N.C.) says about 35 million bushels of government-owned surplus wheat rotted after a Texas firm stored it in tents. He says the government "may have to pay a pretty price to bail out the banks that are involved."

Scott told a Democratic rally yesterday the situation involves "millions of dollars." He named the storing firm as Burrus Mills, Inc., of Texas.

The senator also said Arthur Eisenhower, President Eisenhower's brother, is the head of one of the 13 banks involved in the storage deal and a director of another.

In Washington, D. C., Robert L. Farrington, Agriculture Department solicitor, said that agency has suffered no losses and "does not expect to do so."

In Dallas, Jack P. Burrus, president of the milling company, said, "The government is stuck with nothing," adding that "any loss suffered is a loss to Burrus, Inc., not to the government or anyone else."

One of the banks which extended credit to the Burrus firm was identified as the Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City, Arthur Eisenhower is an official of that institution.

But Farrington said Arthur Eisenhower had no part in the negotiation of agreements involving the company, the banks and the department.

Billboard Confusion At Chamber Meeting
PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — There was a bit of billboard confusion at a state chamber of commerce luncheon. Development commissioner Louis Shapel suggested Maine needs more billboards, but was reminded that tourists object to such signs because they hide the state's natural beauty. "Oh, not more billboards in Maine," said Shapel. "I mean more billboards in other states to advertise the state of Maine."

$1.5 Million Budget For CRMWD Ok'd

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District in a meeting here Thursday approved a $1,579,959 budget for 1957. This was little less than $400,000 over the budget for the current year. The approved budget now goes to the trustees for consideration of bondholders. In the absence of formal protests, it would stand as adopted by the board. While the new budget envisions $131,000 more expenses, it also anticipates $389,000 more revenues. All of the gain (and more because recreational revenues are pegged down) is forecast in water sales.

In submitting the document, E. V. Spence, general manager, said that estimates of income had been held at probably less than the actual totals will be, and that expenditures had been adequately covered. Barring any emergency situations, the CRMWD could operate well within it during next year, he said. The budget anticipates $1,548,209 in prime (water) revenues. This would include $611,400 from Odessa, $387,750 from Big Spring, $79,119 from Snyder, $492,750 from SACROC repressing unit, $82,800 from the Sharon Ridge repressing unit, $10,800 from Texas Gulf Producing Company and $3,500 from rural users. The additional $31,750 would be from recreational facilities, including $13,500 from lease of cabin sites, $11,000 in recreational permits, $3,250 from boat launching permits and $4,000 from concessions.

Breakdown on expenditures shows $7,000 for operation of city production systems, $43,200 for royalties on water, $103,425 in maintenance, $65,860 in operating expense for labor and $172,630 for electric power, $25,000 for repairs and supplies, $81,400 for administrative and general and $31,750 for recreation. Also included are some minor lease items aggregating $2,271 and $6,000 capital expenditures for automotive equipment.

Of the $1,040,423 excess of income over operating expenses, $264,756 will be required for interest and $190,000 for repayment of bonds, leaving $585,667 for application to other funds in keeping with the bond indenture. This sum will have $175,700 to the contingency fund, $136,656.63 to improvement and extension fund, and $273,311.27 to the bond retirement fund.

Charles Perry, Odessa, chairman of a budget committee composed also of Willard Sullivan, Big Spring, and Lyle Deffebach, Snyder, explained that the CRMWD likely will have met its requirement of a million dollar reserve in keeping with the indenture.

WASHINGTON — The Navy disclosed today that it has developed — and has available for use — a powerful new automatic anti-submarine weapon, the Lulu. Vice Adm. William V. Davis, deputy chief of Naval operations for air, told the Aviation Writers Assn. that the Lulu "can kill submarines within miles of the point of the explosion." Although he did not say so, Davis apparently was identifying the weapon to which Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas referred in an Oct. 4 speech in Los Angeles. Thomas said that the Navy had a secret weapon which might revolutionize submarine warfare. Davis said the atomic weapon Lulu could be set to explode at a considerable depth under the water as an anti-submarine weapon. He added that he was speaking in terms of miles rather than the feet of range of the common depth charge.

Asked who makes the Lulu, Davis replied, "You had better say it's assembled."

Therefore, a larger amount will be available for distribution to the contingency, improvement and reconstruction funds. The contingency fund was set up for a larger cut to avoid it because heavy dam maintenance expenditures this year depleted it. Only change in the document made at the board meeting was in transferring $2,600 from an administrative contingency to administrative salary. In so doing the general manager's salary was pegged at $12,000 and the secretary-treasurer at $1,800.

Although no formal action was taken, the board inclined to a policy of private development of recreational facilities and asked the recreational committee, headed by R. J. Cook, Big Spring, to continue negotiation with its lease holders.

New Chaplain On Duty At WAFB

Chaplain (Major) Henry C. Wolk Jr., staff chaplain at Bitburg Air Base, Germany, since January of 1954, has reported to Webb AFB for duty as wing chaplain. Chaplain Wolk replaces Chaplain (Major) Charles Fix who was at Webb prior to his recent assignment to Korea. A veteran of 13 years of military service, Chaplain Wolk has had overseas duty on Iwo Jima, Guam and Hawaii as well as in Germany. During his three-year tour in Germany with the 36th Fighter Day Wing, Chaplain Wolk was responsible for five bases in Germany and Holland and had 19 military and civilian auxiliary chaplains working under his supervision.

The new chaplain, who hails from Long Island, New York, is the son of Mrs. Lorna M. Wolk, of Evanston, Ill. His father is the late Rev. H. C. Wolk. While serving at Nellis AFB, Nev., in 1951, Chaplain Wolk taught a course in ground school entitled "Combat Morality." He conducted this course during the Korean conflict. Although the chaplain is not a rated pilot, he logged many passenger hours in the T-33 jet aircraft, while stationed at Nellis. Chaplain Wolk is a 1934 graduate of Concordia Pres., Bronxville, N. Y. and is a 1936 graduate of the Concordia College, with a major in liberal arts and pre-theology. In 1940, three years prior to entering the service, the chaplain received a B. A. C. R. M. degree from Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

A contract in the amount of $240,621 to Allis-Chalmers Co. for pumps and transformers on the Big Spring-Odessa supply line was approved. This sets the district in position to furnish raw lake water to Odessa possibly late in 1957. In his report to the board, Spence said that 1957 plans called for the addition of four to six wells, but that after next year well production would likely be tapered as lake water reached Odessa. He also said the governor's state mapping committee had given a top priority, with an emergency clause, to the basin area above a new proposed lake for the upper Colorado River in southern Mitchell County. This opens the way for a direct request to the United States Geological Survey in Washington for topographical maps of the area this winter.

HENRY WOLK JR.

At present, the chaplain is a member of the Lutheran Academy of Scholars, the Lutheran Chaplain Association, the Military Chaplain Association and the Luteralurgical Society of St. James. Chaplain Wolk is a graduate of the Air Chaplain Training School, Harvard University, and the Army and Air Force Chaplain School, and has served three short tours as an instructor at the AF school. Married to the former Paula Polack of St. Louis, Chaplain Wolk is the father of four children, Chuck, 14, Paul, 12, Jimmy, 8, and Gloria, 2. Their temporary residence in Big Spring is at 1605 Settles.

Mercury Hits Season's Low At 39 Degrees

Shivering Big Springers huddled about lighting stoves and floor furnaces on Friday morning. They had been up during the night, too-hunting extra blankets for their beds.

Big Spring had its first real sample of chilly fall weather in the early hours of Friday. The temperature fell to a cool 39 degrees—lowest reading of the fall. High reading at the U. S. Experiment Station Thursday was 69. This provided a differential of 30 degrees for the 24-hour interval in the maximum and minimum temperatures.

Although 39 was definitely chilly to the local residents, it was still warm compared to the all-time low for this date scored on Oct. 26, 1913. It was 26 degrees that night.

Kiwanians See Film, Hear Talk On Narcotics Threat

Big Spring Kiwanis Club members were told Thursday of the steady advance that narcotics addiction is making in this nation and particularly the devastating impact that use of drugs is having on the juveniles of the nation. R. J. (Bob) Weaver, with the Narcotics Education Inc., was the speaker. His home is in Fort Worth.

Weaver then screened a film exposing the danger of marijuana on youth. The film depicted a number of individuals who had become heroin addicts but who started their "careers" as marijuana users. The speaker appealed to the parents of the nation to do all in their power to help all of the agencies of law enforcement to bring a halt to the increasing use of drugs by adolescents. Honorary Reorgan was program chairman for the day. Jack Alexander called attention of the club to the plans of the Big Spring Band Boosters Club to sponsor a city-wide sale of fruitcake to raise funds for the organization. The money, he reported, would be expended for uniforms and for other equipment and activities of benefit to the high school band.

Thomas Visits Lake Directors

The man who conceived the idea of a multi-city water project paid his respects to Colorado River Municipal Water District directors here Thursday.

J. B. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Service Company, had warm words of praise for the manner in which Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa had solved their water problem. He insisted that "water is still the most important asset in West Texas."

Commenting on the district's new studies for more water, Thomas observed that TESCO was making heavy expenditures in new generating facilities. "That ought to show how we feel about the future of West Texas," he said. Thomas was here in connection with his company's Quarter Century Club honoring veteran TESCO employees and paid the CRMWD directors an impromptu call. It was he who conceived the plan for West Texas cities to band together in impounding a lake on the Colorado to supply them. His company advanced the funds for initial engineering and financial studies before the cities formally banded together.

Churches To Observe 'Reformation Sunday'

Sunday will mark the 400th anniversary of Martin Luther's death. Thousands of Protestant pulpits in America Sunday will hear the long neglected story of the rescue of essential Christianity from its corruption in the medieval Church. Sunday is the day that Protestants will remember Luther, the leader of the Protestant Reformation, and will remind themselves of their fundamental beliefs.

On Oct. 31, 1517, a young Augustinian monk named Martin Luther posted on the doors of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany, 95 arguments against the sale of indulgences by the church of his day. This Sunday is the anniversary of this event.

Dallas Church Plans Segregated School
DALLAS (AP)—The First Baptist Church of West Dallas has offered the use of its three buildings for an all-white private school in case the public schools of Dallas are integrated.
The announcement said teachers would condemn the United Nations and "one world ideology."
The Rev. Carey Daniel, pastor of the church, is vice president of the Texas Citizens Council of Dallas. He said the school also will teach evolution "as a damnable heresy and not as a scientific fact."

Car Follows Its Master Into Cafe
DALLAS (AP)—Travis Mayberry went into a barbecue stand for sandwiches, and his wife and auto followed him.
Mrs. Mayberry said her husband left the car parked with the motor running. It started to roll and she jammed her foot down on what she thought was the brake.
With the throttle wide open, the car's automatic transmission took over and it roared across the sidewalk and smashed through the plate glass window into the cafe.

The Shepherd Psalm

GOD'S PROTECTING CARE REVEALED IN DAVID'S WORDS

Scripture—Psalm 23.
By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THIS LOVELIEST of all the psalms reveals to us how in his life King David experienced God's protecting care. His restoration of soul, guidance in living, and joy in companionship with his Maker.
David had not led an easy existence. His life had been in danger when King Saul grew jealous of him and tried first to kill him, and then drove him into hiding because of his wrath. He had met temptation and had yielded, but, repentant, had gained the Lord's forgiveness. He had experienced great grief, as when his son Absalom rebelled against him and was slain.
So David knew the heartaches of life as well as its joys, but through it all he could still rely on his God and trust in Him.
"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." King David had been a shepherd boy and knew

MEMORY VERSE
"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."—Psalm 23:6.
how the sheep must be cared for, led to pasture, and to streams for water; how the shepherd must stay with the flocks day and night and guard them in case of attacks by predatory beasts. The sheep must be taught to listen for his voice and to follow him. It is said to be true that sheep learn to recognize their master's voice and will follow no other voice that may call to them.
There are a number of passages in both the Old and the New Testament referring to God as our shepherd: "He shall feed His flock like a shepherd; He shall gather the lambs with His arms, and shall carry them in His bosom, and shall gently lead those which are with young."—Isaiah 40:11.
Jesus saw all humanity as sheep without a shepherd, and "was filled with compassion for them because they were distressed and scattered as sheep not having a shepherd."
"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake."
Little children love beautiful green pastures and still water in which they can see their faces, as well as reflections of the trees, bushes and plants growing on the shore. If very young they may not appreciate the beauties of such a scene as older persons, but they do feel it, and old and young experience the rest and restoration of soul they bring.
Then when illness strikes a member of our family, a dear friend, or ourselves, and we seem to be near to walking "through the valley of the shadow of death," we should "fear no evil," because God is near us in our grief or panic. He will take us safely across the door of death that may await us, or comfort us in our grief if a dear one goes.

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

LET'S GO TO CHURCH TOGETHER

The good thing about this is that Dan and Betty and those other youngsters too are here, in Church, because they want to be!

No one made them come. No one told them that they had to. No one threatened punishment if they didn't.

Though outside it is a bright sunny day and the woods and fields and streams beckon, they are here, in God's house, at prayer.

They'd like the country and the world to know that despite all this alarming "juvenile delinquency" there are good teen-agers too.

There are teen-agers who have been instructed in the Christian way of life, and who have discovered what the Church can mean to them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Truck Dumps Acid Into River

DURANGO, Colo. (AP)—A trailer truck carrying 3,000 gallons of sulphuric acid missed a turn and broke through the railing of a bridge south of Durango last night, dumping the acid into the Animas River.

Northern New Mexico towns which use the river's water were notified of the danger.

Only the trailer tank section of the truck fell into the river. The driver was not hurt.

At Farmington, N.M., about 50 miles downstream, inlets to the city reservoir were closed. Aztec shut off all water lines from the river.

Diversion canals for irrigation water south of Durango also were closed.

Admiral Says Navy Carriers Stocked With A-Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice Adm. William V. avis, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said Thursday the Navy's aircraft carriers are "stocked with atomic weapons."

Davis also said in a speech to the Aviation Writers Assn. that all the Navy's carrier planes and crews "to the last degree" are trained and equipped to carry and handle atomic bombs.

Davis declared the Navy has under development a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile capable of being launched from submarines and surface vessels.

"The Navy will have an IRBM in the very near future," he said.

Tears In The Ring

Handkerchief in hand, 9-year-old Dean Freed weeps as he stands beside his prize steer in the auction ring at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show at Kansas City. The grand championship steer, raised by Dean and his 13-year-old brother Dennis of Paullina, Iowa, was sold for $7.30 a pound. Allowing for 3 per cent weight shrinkage, the boys are expected to receive about $6,900, but even that much money failed to stem the flow of tears as the animal was sold.

Babies Coming In Small Sizes

RESEDA, Calif. (AP)—Babies are coming in small sizes these days in California.

A couple of Crescent City had a son last Sunday weight 1 pound 13 1/2 ounces. The day before a boy checked in at Glendale at 1 pound 15 ounces.

Now Mrs. Donald Jaeger, 32, of Reseda reports her daughter, also born last weekend, weighed 1 pound 8 ounces. She said the new arrival, named Alicia Kay, is doing nicely in an incubator.

Anti-Negro Ballot Drive Claim Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern leaders have challenged a Justice Department official's statement that a mass campaign to deny Negroes the right to vote is under way in the South.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney said yesterday investigations already are under way in sections of five states, and criminal charges will be filed where Negroes are deprived of voting privileges because of their race.

"Disfranchisement of colored voters is going forward on a mass basis," Olney said, in some areas of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and North Carolina. This is being accomplished, he said, by what he called "systematic" revisions of registration rolls, frequently on the basis of challenges by White Citizens Councils.

Mississippi's Gov. J. P. Coleman replied that "on its face this is a political move designed to get votes from the Northern Negro." He said he personally will join in defending any Mississippiian indicted on what he called "these trumped-up charges."

Earl Harris, chairman of the Pierce County (Ga.) board of registration, said 150 Negro voters were removed from rolls there after failing to appear to meet the challenge of their eligibility at a board hearing. Of others who did appear, he added, "only three, four or five" were removed, two of them because of felony convictions. Olney had said Pierce County was one of those under investigation.

Denials came from several officials in Alabama.

State Sen. Sam Englehardt, head of the Alabama Assn. of Citizens Councils, said that organization "hasn't done a thing" about trying to get Negroes off voting lists.

Asa Carter, executive secretary of the separate Alabama Citizens Councils, said his group has made no effort to "intimidate or threaten board registrars to disfranchise Negroes."

The Justice Department official said wholesale removals were reported also in Ouachita, Rapides and Grant parishes in Louisiana, and in "some other" counties he could not name at this time.

Olney told newsmen he intends to bring criminal prosecutions "in every instance where we can show a qualified person was denied the right to vote simply because of his color" in the forthcoming general elections.

Catches Dogs To Get An Education
