Israel Offers To Accept Cease Fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said tonight his government had authorized him to announce that it would accept the U. N. cease-fire if Egypt would do so. Eban made no mention of the General Assembly's demand that the attacking forces withdraw from Egyptian territory.

He told the Assembly: "My country has given priority consideration to the resolution and has empowered me to announce that Israel accepts an immediate cease-fire, provided that Egypt does so."

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld previously had received a message from Egypt accepting the cease-fire resolution on the condition that Israel, Britain and France agreed to end their attacks.

Britain and France rejected the cease-fire.

LONDON, Sunday, Nov. 4 (AP)—The lateful leap of British and French forces into Egypt appeared ever more imminent today. Appeals from the U. N. for a softer course were brushed aside and the die was cast for force by Britain and France.

Egyptian reports circulated by roundabout means claimed the British and French tried to land on the Suez Canal Saturday but were repulsed, with losses, by shore guns. Egypt said enemy troop carriers were sunk and captured.

The British and French denied any such losses.

The final statements through Saturday midnight from the British and French said their warplanes still were preparing the

59 Survivors Escape Trap In Canada Mine

SPRINGHILL, Nova Scotia, Nov. 3 (AP)—More than half of the 113 men trapped in a coal mine explosion here since Thursday struggled out of their tomb alive today.

These 59 survivors brought with them hope that almost all would be saved. That is, all except one miner—Charles Burton, the first man to reach sunlight. He said he thought about 40 were dead deep in the rock-filled shafts. More optimistic mine officials and workers disputed his estimate.

One rescue worker said he was willing to bet that most of the miners still underground were alive. But an official said several hours later a rescued miner reported leaving eight miners behind dead.

Fourteen known dead were counted—13 who were killed by the gas and coal dust blast in the mine's upper levels and one miner brought out with the first survivors today and pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

When announcement was made that the first survivors had been reached, anxious relatives keeping vigil at the pithead shouted with joy. Automobiles, with horns blaring, raced through this mining town of 8,000. Nearly every family in the community was involved in the disaster.

There was delay in bringing some of the men to the surface. Many were checked for injuries. Hot soup was sent down to those weakened by hunger as they waited for rescue nearly a mile underground.

Most of those reaching the surface walked out without assistance.

Burton said the men in his section of the mine began walking and crawling to the surface Thursday night. Today they met rescue crews on the way down.

Hungary Betrayed As Russians Begin Assault

Weary Rescue Workers
 Rescue workers, weary after a long day of trying to reach 113 miners trapped in a mine at Springhill, Nova Scotia, resume their search efforts. Thirteen men were known to be dead in the disaster which was caused by a fire and explosion below ground and 59 of the 113 men trapped in the mine were reported safe.

Premier Pleads For World Aid

VIENNA, Sunday, Nov. 4 (AP)— Powerful Russian forces launched a general attack on Hungary and its capital today without warning.

"Russian gangsters have betrayed us," said a Hungarian news agency (MTI) message from Budapest to the Associated Press in Vienna.

"The Russian troops suddenly attacked Budapest and the whole country. They opened fire on everybody in Hungary. It is a general attack."

MTI said Janos Kadar, Hungarian Communist party secretary, formed a new government, sided with the Russians and has begun to "annihilate the counter-revolution."

Imre Nagy, the nationalist Communist who was elevated to the premiership by the anti-Russian revolution, appealed to the world for help.

Only a few hours earlier Nagy's government had announced an "encouraging start" in negotiations to get all Russian troops to leave Hungary.

But while Hungarian and Soviet military negotiators talked, Russian troops and tanks fanned out across Hungary.

The border with Austria on the west was firmly sealed off. The Russians seized railway stations at key points throughout the country.

Hungarian revolutionary headquarters estimated more than 1,000 Russian tanks encircled the Hungarian capital. Then the Russians struck.

The Hungarian news agency said several hundred tanks battered their way into Budapest against Hungarian forces.

Fierce fighting broke out for control of the bridges over the Danube between Buda and Pest.

The Hungarian news agency said the Parliament building, not far from the U.S. and British embassies was under heavy Soviet fire.

The agency sent an appeal to the Associated Press in behalf of Nagy. The message said:

"I speak in the name of Imre Nagy, the government and the whole people ask for help."

"If you have anything from the Austrian government, tell me," MTI said. "Urgent, urgent, urgent."

MTI said the entire Hungarian military leadership headed by Maj. Gen. Pal Maleter was captured by the Russians.

Maleter, hero of the revolution and the new defense minister, was negotiating with the Russians for withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Nagy on the Budapest radio repeated his call for help every five minutes in various languages.

MTI reported Russian tanks were reinforced by Russian infantry and that a heavy fight was going on on the top of Gellert Hill overlooking Budapest.

MTI said the Russians tried to get the Parliament building, which is defended by tanks of the na-

TO CLOSE DRIVE Meeting Set To Reorganize UF

Executive committee and division chairman of the United Fund will meet at 4:30 p.m. Monday to reorganize the funds campaign and lay plans to close out the drive this week.

D. M. McKinney, general chairman of the drive, called the meeting for the UF offices in the Settles Hotel. He urged all executive committee members and the division chairman to be on hand.

At week's end, the drive for $87,350 to finance operations of 10 youth and welfare agencies apparently had bogged down with only 80 per cent of its objective in sight. Leaders hope to get the drive rolling again by reassigning prospect cards which haven't been

'Want Nixon?' Stevenson Asks

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight that President Eisenhower "now lacks the energy for full-time work at the world's toughest job." And he asked whether this nation wanted Vice President Nixon as its commander in chief.

This was Stevenson's last major speech of the campaign. And in his prepared remarks for a nationally televised talk in Chicago's Stadium he hit out again at a "part-time" president, and then, referring to Nixon, he asked:

"Do you want this man as commander in chief to exercise power over war and peace?"

Stevenson said the Republicans have only one thing to offer, President Eisenhower.

Stevenson also proposed tonight a program to develop all the country's natural resources to replace what he called the Eisenhower administration's "sorry record of give-aways."

Dulles Undergoes Intestinal Surgery

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)— In an emergency operation on Secretary of State Dulles, surgeons today removed a perforated section of his large intestine. He was reported to have emerged from the operation "in good condition."

Lincoln White, the State Department's press officer, said a team of four doctors performed the 2½-hour surgery at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

Nearly five hours after Dulles left the operating room, a State Department spokesman reported in a second bulletin that "in the immediate postoperative period" his condition is "good" and that he is now "fully conscious" and has talked with his wife and doctors.

The next medical bulletin on Dulles' condition will be released tomorrow at 3 p.m., EST, White said.

Dulles at first had been thought to be suffering from acute appendicitis, but White said the operation "involved the removal of a portion of the large intestine which had perforated." He said that to his knowledge, there was no indication of malignancy. He reported also that Dulles' appendix was not involved and was not removed during the operation.

White said Dulles "is resting comfortably and is in good condition," but will be unable to return to his desk for about six weeks. Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. took over as acting secretary when Dulles was taken to the hospital early today.

The operation removes Dulles from active direction of U. S. foreign policy at a time of crisis both in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East.

He was stricken only a day after he personally had sought and received U. N. General Assembly approval of a United States resolution seeking a halt to hostilities in Egypt. British, French and Israeli forces are engaged in what they call "police actions" there.

Even as Dulles was undergoing surgery, the United States sought further U. N. action on that matter and on Hungary's continuing effort to clear itself of Russian domination.

The operation was performed by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Walter Reed commandant and the same surgeon who operated on President Eisenhower last June 9 to relieve a blockage of the President's small intestine caused by ileitis.

Working with Heaton were Col. Robert Gants and Col. Max Smith, who also were on the Eisenhower operating team, and Dr. John H. Lyon, a civilian surgeon.

U.S. Asks U.N. Mid-East Study

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—The United States tonight called on the U. N. Assembly to create two separate negotiating committees to work out a long-range settlement of the Israeli-Arab problem and the Suez Canal question. The U. S. did not propose concrete steps for halting the fighting now.

The resolutions were put before the General Assembly, set to meet at 8 p.m. tonight, by U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., on instructions of President Eisenhower.

The White House announced, in disclosing the American move, that the resolutions were aimed at establishing "permanent peace" between Israel and its Arab neighbors and working out "permanent arrangements" for continued operation of the Suez Canal.

As the U. S. moved here, fighting continued in Egypt. Britain, France and Israel disregarded a cease-fire appeal from the Assembly and carried on their activities against Egypt.

Eden Excuses British Action

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP)— Prime Minister Eden told the nation tonight Britain and France acted to prevent the entire Middle East from becoming inflamed. He declared he was confident the United States will come around to this thinking.

"All my life I have been a man of peace, working for peace, striving for peace, negotiating for peace," Eden said in solemn tones. "And I am still the same. I couldn't be other."

Eden appeared in a nationwide TV program which was broadcast to Europe to enlist support for his policy that has rocked Britain even with threats of strikes for "no war."

Eden was stoutly supported by Sir Winston Churchill.

U.S. Calls For U.N. Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (Sunday) Nov. 4 (AP)—The United States early today asked for a special Sunday meeting of the U. N. Security Council to take up the new Soviet attacks in Hungary.

The request was made by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. within less than an hour after news dispatches told of widespread attacks by Soviet forces throughout Hungary.

The Security Council last night had debated the Hungarian question for more than three hours and had adjourned its debate until Monday morning. Lodge, however, told the council president that he would ask for an earlier meeting if the situation worsened.

At the council meeting Lodge had submitted a resolution calling on the U. N. to "order an immediate end to Soviet intervention in the internal affairs of Hungary."

Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

Winter appeared to be trying to rush the season on us. Twice the thermometer got down to 39 degrees during the week and we had light frost in the low places. Tuesday's front brought half an inch of moisture. Friday's norther was of the distressing dry variety with its quota of dust. Hayfever sufferers can keep an eye on the calendar, for if things are normal, we could have a killing frost within about another week.

The United Fund needs your help if you have not yet given, or if you are a worker who has not yet reported in with his cards. Although the drive stalled out momentarily, the objective of $87,350 is in sight if all cards will be turned in — and then contacts made. D. M. McKinney, Angie Glenn, et al have done a fine job — but they need your help to break the log jam and finish the job.

News of the resignation of Jewel Barton may not have been a surprise to all, but it was regretfully received. Press of private affairs dictated her retirement after an unselfish and illustrious career as city-county health nurse — and friend of those in need. Her successor is Miss Bo Bowen, and we hope everyone will help her achieve an equally distinguished record.

Friday was the 37th anniversary of Cunningham & Phillips, and Shine Phillips kept a record intact. Now convalescing from a stroke. (See THE WEEK, Pg. 4-A, Col. 3)

Texas Gets Further Drought Relief; Western Storm Ends

By The Associated Press

Steady, soaking rains—in some areas the most rain in months—fell on the eastern half of Texas Saturday.

Thunderstorms, dust and hail accompanied the rain as warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico rolled over a cold front moving across the state.

Darkened skies and slick highways and streets caused a rash of traffic accidents. However, no fatalities were reported.

Dallas city police reported 32 minor and three major accidents Saturday. One major accident and a number of minor accidents were reported in the Palestine area.

More than three inches of rain fell in southern Dewitt County causing Coletto Creek to leave its banks. Two farm roads in neighboring Victoria County were under water.

Palestine recorded 2.63 inches of rain fell Friday and Saturday. Gregg County agent O. D. Taylor said, "This rain is soaking in and will give a lot of relief to farmers in this area."

The heaviest rains Saturday were in North Texas from Fort Worth and Dallas to the Red River.

Dallas had an even inch of rain. Salina 1.50, Gunter 1.60, McKinney 1.17, Sherman 1.05 and Greenville 1.10 inches.

Fort Worth reported rains ranging from .58 to 1.30 of an inch.

Kilgore received 1.72 inches of rain. At Cleburne 10 inches of rain fell in 10 minutes. The rain was mixed with sleet and hail.

Glenrose, near Cleburne, also reported some sleet and hail mixed with a light rain.

Possible frosts were forecast for parts of the Panhandle Saturday night. Temperatures were expected to drop to 22-32 degrees overnight.

Other rainfall reports Saturday included Texarkana 2.20 inches, Malakoff 1.50, College Station 1.03, Austin .67, Waco .54, Beeville .50, Llano and Beaumont .36, Brownsville .22, San Angelo .21, San Antonio .20, Victoria .17, Fort Worth and Palacios .10, Dallas .08, Corpus Christi and Sherman .07, Houston .03, Wichita Falls .02 and Mineral Wells .01.

The worst blizzard since 1949 was dying out today in the Western plains states, leaving at least five persons dead and mountains of snow clogging transportation arteries.

Snow plow crews, forced to stay off Nebraska highways until winds died down and snow abated, turned their attention first to motorists who had ridden out the storm, trapped in their cars. Some had become "lost" for as long as 36 hours.

At least four western Nebraska communities were isolated by snow drifts ranging in depth to 12 feet. Telephone service to some areas remained on an "emergency only" basis and power was a touch and go proposition.

Although hundreds of cars and trucks were abandoned in eastern areas of Colorado and Wyoming, state patrols reported all motorists accounted for at farm home

Barrel Racers To Meet Next Weekend In C-City

The Texas Barrel Racing Association will hold its second annual Round-Up next weekend in Colorado City, under the sponsorship of Colorado City's 3R Club.

The association was organized with headquarters in Fort Worth in January, 1955, and has a membership of seventy-five active barrel racers in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

The Round-Up will get under way at 5:30 p.m. Saturday with a parade through downtown Colorado City, followed by the opening performance at 7 p.m. in the rodeo arena. Highlights of the evening will be an open call-roping, barrel race and ribbon-roping, and a dance in the Civic House at 9 p.m.

Sunday opens with a TBRA meeting, luncheon, and a final performance at 2 p.m., consisting of a matched call-roping, TBRA barrel race, TBRA goat tie-down, followed by presentation of awards to the top 15 high-point barrel racers for 1956.

The 1955 championship saddle for the TBRA was won by Mrs. Mildred Farris, Iowa Park, who again leads the 1956 season.

Officers of the association are president, Mrs. Velda (Charlie) Smith, Fort Worth; vice president, Mrs. Mildred (John) Farris, Iowa Park; and secretary-treasurer, NaRay F. McHood, Fort Worth.

TBRA Director of the West Texas area is Mrs. Frances Motley of Colorado City.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Appreciates New Pool

To The Editor:

Through your good paper, The Big Spring Herald, to which I am a subscriber, I would like to thank for my part, the well thinking citizens, those in the leading positions, who planned and approved the swimming pool and fire station on the north side. It is a wonderful development my family and I are very proud of. I say that we here on the north side, especially those in the immediate area surrounding the station and swimming pool, should strive to keep the property, such as yards and houses, as clean and neat as we possibly can.

This would be a good way of showing our appreciation and at the same time, an appropriate welcome to such a well planned project.

Yours Truly,
Roy Salame

Southerners Stand To Lose Top Posts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Southerners stand to lose chairmanships of 21 Senate and House committees if Democrats lose control of Congress in Tuesday's elections.

The traditional seniority rule of advancement, plus repeated reelection, have boosted Southern Democrats to the top of 10 Senate and 13 House committees in the present Congress.

But even if Democrats retain control of the new Congress, the South loses two major chairmanships, Foreign Affairs in the House and Foreign Relations in the Senate. The present chairman, Rep. James P. Richards of South Carolina and Sen. Walter George of Georgia, are not seeking reelection. Slated to succeed them if the Democrats win are two Northerners, Rep. Thomas B. Gordon of Illinois and Sen. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island.

Here are the names of the Southern Democrats slated to continue as chairman if Democrats retain control, and, in parentheses, the Republicans in line to take over in event of a GOP victory:

SENATE

of Louisiana (George D. Aiken of Vermont).
Armed Services: Richard B. Russell of Georgia (Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts).

Court To Meet, But No Business

The Howard County Commissioners Court will probably meet on a more or less informal footing Monday, but officials said that nothing of special importance is expected at the meeting.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, is out of the county and Arthur Stallings, commissioner, said Saturday that he knew of nothing to be discussed by the court.

G. E. Gilliam, another commissioner, has recently undergone surgery on one of his eyes. He was not at the last meeting of the commission. It was not known whether he would be able to be present Monday or not.

Concert Unit To Close Member Rolls

Having marked time to avoid conflict with the big push of the United Fund, the Big Spring Concert Association this week is resuming its final membership effort of the season.

Mrs. Clyde Angel, president, and Mrs. Floyd Mays, membership chairman, urged all who have delayed until now to secure their memberships this week.

"The board has voted to call Nov. 10 — or Saturday — said Mrs. Angel. "We know of scores of people who said they intended to secure their memberships, but the time is now short."

Memberships ($6 adults and $3 students) may be mailed to 815 W. 18th.

Scheduled for this season is what the board feels is the strongest series ever presented here, including Mantovani and his 45-piece "new music" orchestra; the Chicago Opera Ballet, featuring Marjorie Talchier and George Skibine; and the fabulous First Piano Quartet, recorded by many critics as the nation's outstanding ensemble.

Mantovani, incidentally, will be here Nov. 15 on his current tour, which started only recently, though the story has been the same everywhere — capacity and highly en-

NEW SYSTEM Parking Fines May Be Paid By Mail

Residents who overstay their welcome at parking meters in Big Spring Monday will find a new type of overtime parking ticket attached to their windshields.

As a result, the city owners will have only to drop their $1 fine in the mailbox instead of making a trip to the city hall.

Under the old system, Mrs. Vivian Rascoe and Mrs. Lucille Thomas, the city's two parking meter policemen, left tickets on the windshields, and owners were instructed to bring their $1 and the ticket to the police station to pay the fine.

Now, however, the ticket itself is an envelope — stamped and addressed to the city hall — which has a place to insert a dollar. The envelope then can be left in the mailbox and the resident can forget it.

The ticket books have three sheets separated by carbon, plus the envelope. The person issuing the ticket fills in license number, date, general location of the meter and leaves the envelope on the car.

Two of the copies are filed with the police clerk and the third is sent to the city secretary's office for permanent filing. When the envelope returns to the city hall with the $1, the copies are marked paid.

If at the end of 10 days, the fine has not been received, one of the two copies kept by the police clerk will be sent to the car owner advising him that he has not paid the fine. If further action is needed, a warrant will be issued.

City Manager H. W. Whitney said that many residents resented having to come to the police station to pay their overtime parking tickets.

For this reason, the city commission authorized using the new type of ticket at a meeting May 15. Reason for the delay in putting the forms into use was the number of tickets on hand.

The supply has thinned, and city officials thought Monday would be a good time to start the tickets. The police department still has some of the older type tickets, but they can be used for other parking violations — parking near a fire plug, in an alley, etc.

The forms are costing the city $29.32 per 1,000. Of course, the postage is added when and if the envelopes are mailed in.

The city's supply will dwindle in a hurry if the present trend continues. Friday, the two policemen issued 79 tickets.

Pair Injured In 3-Auto Wreck

Two persons were slightly injured in a three-car collision here Friday.

Both were given treatment at Big Spring Hospital, but were released.

Ramon Franco, 202 N.E. 3th, was driver of one of the cars involved and was taken by River ambulance to the hospital. He was not admitted, however. Police did not have the name of the other person treated, but they said he was just bruised.

Drivers of the other cars involved were Garland Sanders, 1701 Johnson, and Ruby Patterson, 807 W. 6th.

Samuel Copelin, 1005 Sycamore, and Gladys Fartenberry, 207 Benton, were drivers of cars colliding at 18th and Goliad Friday afternoon. No one was injured and neither car was seriously damaged.

At N. Main and Eighth, Frank Hinkley and R. V. Foresyth were involved in an accident. Foresyth, city street superintendent, was driving a city maintainer which backed into Hinkley's 1948 Chevrolet.

William Randolph Leonard, Webb AFB, and Van Allen Parmlay of Snyder collided at Second and Benton also Friday. Leonard was in a 1956 Ford, and Parmlay had a 1956 Mercury.

C-C Directors To Meet Monday

Chamber of Commerce directors will meet at noon Monday at the Permian Building.

Reports from the military affairs and highway committees are due to be heard, and the group also may discuss steps to provide additional downtown parking space. Report on plans for the pre-Christmas observance here also may be presented.

Attend Funeral

Several relatives and friends from Big Spring attended funeral services in Strawn Saturday for Mrs. W. A. Wyatt who died Thursday in Fort Worth. She had been ill for several months.

Dawson, Martin Due To Get Cotton Acreage Hikes In '57

Martin County and Dawson County are in line to gain some 3,000 acres each in cotton acreage allotments for 1957, according to news reports Saturday.

These increases are over the acreage allotments made to the counties in 1956.

At College Station, Grover Carothers, executive secretary for the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee said that the committee has sent a county breakdown of the 1957 Texas cotton acreage allotments to Washington.

There it will await the approval of the Department of Agriculture. ASC officials have also received the acreage quotas, but may not disclose these until the information has been published in the Federal Register, probably next week.

The new allotment program was drawing criticism from West Texas growers who were irritated by the state ASC policy decision for the 1956 crop year that reduced allotments in this region and increased them in Central and East Texas.

In College Station it was said that the 1957 acreage allotments would provide a decline of not more than one per cent in almost every cotton county in the state.

However, it was reported that reasonably substantial increases are in store for West Texas counties.

he left his bed to go down to the No. 1 store for a few minutes Friday afternoon. That made it official — and happy.

Tuesday is the big day — general election day. While you're busy naming a president for the United States, don't forget you are to also name a district clerk... and decide the fate of nine proposed state constitutional amendments. You'll find an explanation of these in today's Herald. So bone up.

Ralph White of Coahoma and Floyd Smith of Stanton testified last week in federal court that the formula used this year by the state ASC committee in distributing cotton allotments was discriminatory. They, and a host of other West Texans, feel that we got the hot end of the poker on this deal. If the suit doesn't stop it, perhaps the inequality will be dramatized.

Hats off to the young people who turned Halloween trick-or-treat visits into a constructive, noble project. They knocked on doors Thursday night, but instead of candy, they asked donations for CROP (Christian Overseas Relief Program) and raised $349.

Although this is a trifle late in the year to be mentioning it, final figures on 1955 oil production in Howard County are now in. You can find them (about 14 1/2 million barrels) on the oil page of this section. Gross value of this is nearly $36 1/2 million.

Building permits amounted to $235,000 for October, which was off the pace for this month last year but boosted our total to $3.7 million so far this year. Postal receipts, however, spurred, and amounted to $24,147 for the month, making the gain for the year an easy 15 per cent.

Don't forget to mail your membership in for the Concert Association series which includes Mantovani (Nov. 15), the Chicago Opera Ballet and First Piano Quartet, Mail yours ($6 adult and $3 student) to 815 W. 18th, or call this column. We'll be glad to deliver your membership to you.

Friday will be the last home game of the football season when Midland comes to town. If we don't fumble and if we play as hard as we know how, we could make it an enjoyable night for the home folks. How about turning out for an upset?

City Woman Has Painting On Display

Mrs. Dalton Conway of Big Spring and Mrs. Bismarck Schafer of Garden City have paintings on display at the Texas Fine Arts Show in Austin today.

Prizes totaling $1,400 already have been presented for the top winners in the TFAA exhibit. They went to Michael Frary, Everett Spruce and David Adickes of Austin for their oil paintings. Entries also were reported from Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Abilene and other points.

Sessing Baby's Rites Are Held

Rites were said at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Nalley-Pickle Chapel for Dewayne Herman Sessing, the 7 1/2-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sessing. The baby died Thursday night in a hospital here.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, the burial was in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Carpenter Says Republican Leader Wrong On Howard

Paul C. Ledrick, Eisenhower-Nixon campaign manager in Texas, "needs to talk to the voters" in the Big Spring area, according to Ed Carpenter of Vincent, chairman of the Howard County Stevenson-Kefauver Committee.

Ledrick was quoted Friday as listing Howard County among those he expected to switch from the Democratic to the Republican column in next Tuesday's general election.

Martin's Cotton Wage Is Unchanged

Cotton-picking wages are the same now as before in Martin County.

The Regional Bureau of Employment in Dallas informed the local Texas Employment Commission that the prices for picking cotton in Martin would remain at $2.65 per hundredweight for irrigated crops and $1.55 for pulling.

Ex-Forsan Man Dies At Pampa

Funeral services for A. A. McElrath, 63, will be held at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Pampa.

Mr. McElrath, brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thames of Big Spring, died Friday evening of a coronary occlusion. He had been ill for several months.

An employee of Magnolia Petroleum Company, Mr. McElrath lived in Forsan until he moved to Pampa several years ago. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Norman and Joel, all of Pampa.

Voting Place Set

FORSAN, Nov. 3 (SC)—Voting Box No. 10 (Forsan) will be operated in the driver education building at the Forsan High School Tuesday, Mrs. J. P. Kubacka, election judge, has announced. The building is just north of the school gymnasium.

Jess Talkin by Jess Blair

There wasn't much in yesterday's trip to delight a lover of mother nature. The old lady never looked more like a scare crow than right now. The only greenery found is on the mesquites, and many of them are dying.

South and west of Garden City much of the top growth has died, though the lower limbs are still alive. There has been no green grass come out since the rain, and now that winter is just down the road a short way, none can be expected until spring.

At Garden City the county agent, Oliver West, says the last rains were too light to be of much benefit. He doubted if enough winter weeds would come out to do any good.

West said ranchers are still gradually selling off cattle and sheep as another heavy feeding winter lies ahead. He is helping with the drought feeding program and says ranchers with livestock are buying rather heavily. Sheep men are buying corn, while cattle owners were using range cubes.

Rains were much heavier down from two to four inches north of Big Lake. The country is in about the same condition as counties up this way.

South of Garden City the St. Lawrence community came up with a good cotton crop, though it didn't make as much as was expected. The hot, dry weeks in August caught the farmers short of irrigation water, and much of the cotton wilted.

The gin had turned out 3,235 bales yesterday at noon, and W. E. Bednar, bookkeeper, figures the crop is from 75 to 80 per cent gathered.

He said the farmers had been getting good grades and staple length because of the dry, warm fall. The rain may have damaged the grade a little but not much.

Farmers in that area planted the blight resistant cotton this year and were well satisfied with it. The staple has been averaging about one and three-thirty seconds of an inch, and had very little leaf spot damage.

Tax Discount Is Reduced

Howard County taxpayers who neglected to pay their current tax bill by Saturday have forfeited one per cent deduction from the total.

If they pay up between Nov. 2 and Dec. 2, they will be given a 2 per cent discount.

Those who wait to pay their taxes until after Dec. 2 will get a one per cent deduction through Dec. 31.

After that date, according to Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax collector, there is no deduction—and no penalty—until Feb. 1. On that date, unpaid taxes on the rolls become delinquent.

Mrs. Robinson said that all tax bills which have been paid to Nov. 2—including those which were sent by mail and bear postmarks prior to the deadline—will be credited with the full 3 per cent.

Glasscock 4-H Elects Officers

The Glasscock County 4-H Club has elected officers for 1957, and are hoping the coming year will be more profitable than this one has been.

The club plans to meet the second Tuesday of each month. Officers elected were Doug Parker, president; Jack Asbill, vice president; and Joe Carter, secretary. All the new officers, have made outstanding records in club work this year, according to County Agent Oliver West.

The club members have been specializing in lambs the last few years, and now have 102 on feed. They have only one steer, but are feeding out 35 capons.

One reason for the emphasis on lambs, says West, is that the boys want to specialize in the kind of livestock and crops commonly grown in the county.

One of the members, Gary Seidenberger of the St. Lawrence community, grew an acre of cotton as his project this year, and expects to harvest two bales from it. This is about twice as much as the community average, West said.

The best of the animals now on feed will be taken to the Odessa livestock show, which is scheduled for the first week in January.

As soon fight as starve to death, and four more years under the Republicans would put all the laboring people on soup lines.

Howard County Agent James Taylor has just returned from a week's meeting at College Station. He said the country was just as dry down there as in this area. The pastures have hardly any grass at all and cattle are thin. However, ranchers and farmers down there haven't sold off as many livestock as owners out here. Mostly they're just feeding and thinking every day that the rains will start in again.

The Extension service has managed to fill most of the county agent and assistant county agent jobs thus far, said Taylor, but there is never a surplus. The college-trained boys in agriculture are being lured away by high-priced jobs in private industry, so the Extension Service is always on the lookout for outstanding young men.

The water table has dropped very little in Dawson County, according to Jimmy Lusby, a water well contractor. He said some of the older wells had decreased a little but not enough to become alarmed about.

"Maybe we'll get some wet years before long," he said, "and farmers won't have to pump their wells so much. It would certainly help a lot."

Aside from boll pulling, farm work has almost come to a standstill. A few farmers are plowing, but very few of them need work. Just after the first rain a few weeks ago tractor hands were needed, but there are few vacancies now.

Leon Kinney at the Texas Employment office said he had one opening for a ranch hand and that was about all. He said a few more Mexican Nationals might be brought in to finish the cotton. He hadn't issued any permits lately except one for 19 workers, which came from the Howard County Farm Association.

"A good many workers are going back home," Kinney said, "so it's likely that Martin County will need a few more for the irrigated fields."

The Stanton poultrymen have their hens in full production now, according to C. J. Chapman, who helped promote the project. There are seven caged-houses at present, representing a total of 7,000 hens. Most of the hens started laying late in the summer and are now in 75 to 80 per cent production.

Chapman says most of the producers are using Dekalb and H, and N, chicks. These are a light-weight kind and eat less feed than the heavier birds. Another reason for using them is that more can be put into a house.

The producers are using only an eight-inch cage, which enables them to put about 200 more cages in the 24 by 160 feet houses. No one is using double cages except for replacements. These young pullets can be kept two to a cage until they begin to lay regularly.

Chapman says at least one other farmer intends to put in a caged house, and several other people are interested.

T&P 'Old Timers' To Take Excursion

The "Seniority Specials" — Texas & Pacific Railway Company's annual excursion trains operated for its two veteran and retired employee groups — will start rolling again on Wednesday — from Marshall to New Orleans.

Unique in the realm of railroading, some 450 T&P oldtimers once more will be traveling as guests of their railroad on these all-expenses-paid rolling reunions. They will be coming from cities and towns along the line from deep West Texas into Southern Louisiana. Some of the oldsters will come from such distant "off-line" cities as Pasadena, Calif., Hugo, Okla., Brookhaven, Miss., and Houston.

First group to go on the holiday journey this season will be an estimated 235 members of T&P's 40-Year Veteran and Retired Employees Association, making their ninth annual trip on Nov. 7-9. One week later — Nov. 14-16 — some 165 members of the railroad's 40-year Veterans and Retired Colored Employees Association will make exactly the same trip, their seventh annual outing. Both parties will travel in air-conditioned Pullman trains with private dining cars. Parked at New Orleans' modern union passenger terminal, the trains will be used as "hotels on wheels" during their stay in the Crescent City.

Leaving Marshall at 11 a.m. on Nov. 7 and Nov. 14, each train will arrive in New Orleans at 7:45 p.m. the same evenings. Departure from New Orleans will be made at 3 a.m. on Nov. 9 and Nov. 16, with return to Marshall scheduled for 11:45 a.m. the same mornings.

Morning sightseeing trips of the storied old French city by chartered buses have been planned for both groups, the first of these — Nov. 8 — to be followed with a special luncheon at New Orleans' Roosevelt Hotel. This affair, which will honor ten veteran Texas & Pacific railroaders who have completed 50 years of continuous service with the company this year, will have as its principal speaker T&P President W. G. Vollmer, of Dallas. Marvin Daniel Davis, 407 Lancaster, is among those to be honored.

Paying tribute to these half-century members of the Texas & Pacific family, Vollmer will personally present each of the honorees with diamond-studded buttons emblematic of their lengthy, consecutive service. Musical entertainment on this occasion will be provided by the Texas & Pacific Chorales, mixed vocal group from the railroad's offices in Dallas.

Among the veterans from this area scheduled to make the trip are D. Bailey, William Delinger, J. P. Dodge, Charles Eberley, R. A. Eubank, Joe Flock, A. C. Hart, V. W. Heard, E. O. Hicks, W. H. Johnson, C. S. Kyle, R. H. Miller, W. H. Power, A. M. Ripps, E. J. Smith, H. H. Squires, W. T. Steward and W. G. Wilson.

Others in this area include E. E. Alexander, J. T. Carter, T. P. Lasater and V. Z. Periman, Sweetwater; Bennie Cleveland, Toyah; G. J. Ankele, Monahans; J. L. Robinson, Snyder; R. L. Rogers, Colorado City; O. G. Baxter, C. T. Bolvidson and W. E. Wallace, Abilene; Joe C. Alphin, M. A. Cline, H. N. Enert and W. A. Johnson, Baird; and A. F. Davis, F. E. Majors, H. O. Parry, F. V. Patton, A. T. Stephens, H. M. Victory, M. B. White, El Paso.

Insurance Commission Sets Requirements For Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 3—The Texas Fire Insurance Commission has told the City of Lamesa it must have additional water storage, lines and supply, additional fire hydrants, a new fire truck immediately and one in the near future; the establishment of a secondary fire zone; and the passing of a building code regulating building in the fire zone and secondary fire zone. The city council discussed the report, but took no action.

The council passed the new traffic code on second and final reading. It will be in force after publication which, according to City Manager Carroll Taylor, will probably be within the next couple of days.

In other action in the regular meeting Thursday, the council accepted the report of the arbitration board appointed to settle the dispute between the city and Lucian Wilson in regard to water damages. The board's report called for total damages for land surface, a tractor tire, crop and three test holes, of $275.00. The city had offered Wilson $275. Wilson had asked for $415.00. Both parties accepted the compromise sum as set by the board.

The council set the second annual employes banquet for sometime during the first week of December. No action was taken in a general discussion of water, said Taylor. The council granted the city manager two weeks military leave Taylor, a captain in the Marine Corps reserve was to report Saturday at the Dallas Naval Air Station.

1952 Casts Shadow As Texas Voters Prepare For Election

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff

Shades of 1952. That's the situation in Texas as the biggest two-party election effort in the history of the state comes to a close.

Tuesday balloting will decide whether Republicans, aided by sympathetic Democrats, can hang on to the state's 24 electoral votes — like 1952.

More than two million votes will be cast to decide the issue—about the same as the 2,072,106 votes in 1952.

Polls open and close at 7 o'clock.

Weather prophets called for mild temperatures and dry roads for voters to travel.

In addition to deciding their state's part in the presidential race, Texas voters also will settle contested campaigns involving six state administrative officials, six representatives to Congress, two state senators, and eight state representatives.

At the bottom of the blanket-sized ballot—where voting machines are not used—Texans can approve or disapprove eight amendments to the state Constitution.

A ninth amendment will be voted on Nov. 13.

The presidential issue follows a heated summer-long struggle between Texas Democratic factions to control the state party and to name a probable successor to Gov. Shivers, an Eisenhower supporter now and in 1952.

Sen. Price Daniel has had little opposition as Democratic nominee for governor from the GOP candidate William Bryant. Daniel said he would support the national Democratic nominees but has taken no active part in Texas presidential campaigning.

Shivers, as he did in 1952, led the well-organized and apparently well-financed drive by the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, with Speaker Sam Rayburn in the background, directed the regular Democratic campaign.

Both vice presidential candidates, Richard Nixon and Estes Kefauver, visited the state. The Middle East crisis cancelled a flying, one-speech trip by President Eisenhower.

The Eisenhower campaign claimed that the GOP and Democratic platforms were about the same and the difference was in the candidates.

Adlai Stevenson's supporters saw it the other way—a battle of party policies, not individual candidates. Vote the ticket Democratic "from president to constable," Johnson urged.

As election day neared both parties claimed they held the winning hand. Eisenhower's backers said he would sweep the state by a greater majority than the 133,650 votes in 1952. Stevenson's supporters predicted the Democrats would sweep the state as they have every four years since the Civil War except the Herbert Hoover campaign in 1928 and Eisenhower in 1952.

The third party on the Texas ballot, the Constitution party, is expected to poll only a few thousand votes as it has in the past.

The only independent candidate expected to poll any appreciable vote is former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, who ran third in the first Democratic primary and was refused permission to appear on the Constitution ballot.

Although 14 Republicans and 12 Constitution candidates are listed for congressional and state offices, only a few have campaigned actively.

Texas' sole Republican congressman, Bruce Alger of the 5th District in Dallas, faces a tough battle with Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade. Wade was nominated without opposition by the Democrats and has the backing of the local Democrats for Eisenhower organization.

In far West Texas, GOP candidate Charles Gibson has campaigned extensively but is considered the underdog in a race with Rep. J. T. Rutherford, whose wife conducted his first primary camaign while he was in Washington for the close of Congress. The 16th District covers the vast area from Odessa and Midland west to El Paso.

Congressman-at-large Martin Dies is an overwhelming choice for re-election over Constitution candidate Fred Spangler.

Former Rep. Lindley Beekworth, a Democrat, is expected to win in the 3rd District over Republican R. E. Kennedy, who has conducted a relatively quiet campaign. The winner will succeed Rep. Brady Gentry who did not ask reelection.

In the 8th District Rep. Albert Thomas, Democrat, is favored over Republican Tony Friloux and Constitutionist W. C. Miller.

John Young, who defeated Rep. John Bell in the Democratic primaries, is favored to win easily over Mrs. Olive Stichter, Corpus Christi Republican.

All other congressmen are unopposed.

There was no race for the U.S. Senate. A special election probably will be called soon to fill the place of Gov. nominee Daniel.

Two state senate seats are at stake.

In the Valley's 27th District, political newcomer Hubert Hudson, who defeated veteran state Sen. Rogers Kelley for the Democratic nomination, meets Republican C. W. Davis, former mayor of McAllen. Davis has been campaigning actively while Hudson has not campaigned since the primaries.

Democrat Henry Gonzalez is expected to win the Senate seat in the 26th District from Jesse Oppenheimer, a Republican. Gonzalez defeated the incumbent O. E. Latimer in the primaries.

Howard County Oil Output 200 Million

The Lone Star State produced its first barrel of oil in 1889, and since 1889, that barrel has been joined by over 18 billion more.

Over one billion came during 1955, too.

The survey compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association showed that 1,025,925,660 barrels of crude oil were produced in 1955 for a daily average of 2,810,758 barrels.

This total included 14,554,926 barrels from Howard County which placed Howard in eighth place in the Permian Basin. Over the years since oil was discovered in the county in 1925, a total of 196,204,295 barrels have been produced.

The 14.5 million ranked the county 20th in the state for 1955 production.

Largest single county output in '55 was in Andrews, where 55,398,782 barrels originated. Ector County followed with 54,256,961 barrels.

Through the years, however, Andrews ranks only ninth. Leader is Gregg County with 1,725,635,099 barrels.

Howard County's total was about three million barrels above 1954, the survey showed. Production in 1954 aggregated 12,536,313 barrels. Daily average for the county in 1955 was 39,877 barrels.

Oldest fields date back to 1889, the survey showed. That year, oil was found in Bexar and Nacogdoches counties. The Nacogdoches production since has failed to top 400,000 barrels, but the Bexar crude output has grown to over 15 million.

Four counties found oil during 1955 for the first time. They were Cottle, Crosby, Hemphill, and Rains. Cottle produced 4,109 barrels in its first year, and Crosby wells brought 7,339. In Hemphill the output was 4,641 barrels and Rains' 1955 total was 4,688.

Yoakum	1936	18,920,457	51,837	284,063,078

The survey showed that 204 of the state's 254 counties are either producing oil or gas. Brazoria, Terrell, Trinity, and Val Verde have produced no oil — only gas.

Having produced in former years but not reporting any oil production in 1955 were Cameron, Culberson, Fannin, Hill, Menard, Potter and San Augustine.

Since 1950 production in Howard County has more than doubled. Part of this is due to discovery of new pools, together with their subsequent development. The record of flush production also stems from the successful water flooding projects in the Howard-Glasscock fields where some wells have been making more than they did in the flush discovery days of 1926-27.

Here is the way the county has climbed in production by the years since 1950:

In 1950 there were 6,987,596 barrels; in 1951 there were 9,212,789 barrels; in 1952 there were 9,686,463 barrels; in 1953 there were 10,965,291 barrels; in 1954 there were 12,536,313 barrels.

Dawson Jo-Mill Prospector Is Near Pay Zone

A Humble Oil and Refining venture in the Jo-Mill field of Dawson County this weekend was nearing production depth.

The venture is the No. 2 J. A. Lane and is 20 miles southeast of Lamesa. Operator Saturday deepened to 6,880 feet in shale. It is trying for Spabrerry pay above 7,500 feet.

Plotted location is 3,100 feet from north and 1,800 feet from west lines, 45-33-5N, T&P Survey. It is one of two projects in the Jo-Mill field of Dawson. Largest part of the pool lies in Borden.

Humble's No. 1 Lanelle Hemphill, which is in the Mungerville Southeast field, projected a 3,627 feet in anhydrite and lime.

It is trying for pay to 9,400 feet. Location is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 31, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey, and about nine miles west of Lamesa.

A wildcard venture, Texas Company's No. 1 W. J. Beckham, was still waiting on cement to set 5 1/2-inch casing Saturday. The venture anchored the casing at 9,525 feet Thursday.

It is located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 17-35-5N, T&P Survey, a mile and a half south of Lamesa. It is also six and a half miles northwest of the Spabrerry field but just a mile north of a dry hole.

Drilling depth is 10,000 feet.

UNION DRILLS STERLING PAIR

Union Oil Company of California is drilling two new locations in the Parochial Bada field of Sterling County.

The No. 12-B W. L. Foster is 330 feet from north and 1,269 feet from west lines, 27-22, H&TC Survey, on a 640-acre lease. The location is about 10 miles southwest of Sterling City.

It will project to 2,400 feet with rotary tools.

Union No. 11-B W. L. Foster is 330 feet from north and east lines of the west half, 27-22, H&TC Survey and is also to drill to 2,400 feet looking for Clear Fork pay.

It is about 10 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Drilling Holds At Static Pace

Drilling in the United States and Western Canada continued to hang at a static pace during the week ended Oct. 29.

The actual number of rigs operative dropped off by eight, the same number of the decline in Oklahoma.

At the end of the previous week, there were 2,771 rigs turning in the two countries as against 2,778 the week before. This was well under 2,956 in the comparable week of 1955.

Texas had 996 rigs going, according to the report of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors. The week before the total had been 985. West Texas showed 381 rigs turning as against 369.

In Louisiana there were 443 rigs going as compared with 445 one week before. Oklahoma had 250 rigs in action as against 238. The Rocky Mountain area had 101 operations as against 102 the week before.

California dropped from 114 the previous week to 105 as of Oct. 29, and Illinois declined from 73 to 61.

Western Canada showed some increase, topping the week at 234, an increase of nine.

Glasscock Test Is Completed

Producing 407 barrels of oil through a partial choke, a Slade Oil and Gas venture finished in the Spabrerry Trend Area of Glasscock County.

The well is the Slade No. 2 William Howard and is 1,323.22 feet from south and 1,324.54 feet from east lines, 29-35-5S, T&P Survey. The oil flow was through a 20-64 inch choke, and no water came on the potential test. Gravity of the oil is 38.6 degrees. Gas-oil ratio is 1,350-1.

Total depth is 7,515 feet, and 5 1/2-inch string extends to 7,476 feet. Top of the Spabrerry pay zone is 7,231 feet, and perforations are between 7,212-28 feet.

Before testing, operator treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Middle East Crisis Eases Struggle On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—One possible result of the Middle East crisis is a quieting, at least temporarily, of the oil import controversy.

This could happen if the flow of Middle East oil, either by pipeline or the Suez Canal or both, is interrupted enough.

U. S. refineries now using Middle East oil would have to turn to domestic supplies for at least part of their needs. That would mean stepping up U. S. production especially if the Western Hemisphere should have to make up to Western Europe the oil that it might lose from the Middle East.

Industry spokesmen are making no predictions.

"Everything is still in a fuzzy stage as far as the Middle East situation is concerned and I am making no predictions about what may happen," said Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) and spokesman for forces which long have sought reduction of oil imports.

Brown conceded developments could bring disappearance, for a time, of the oil import question.

He said the situation in the Middle East "emphasizes the necessity of the domestic industry's being ready to meet the requirements that might be thrown on the United States in meeting our demands and European demands."

U. S. imports of oil and oil products now are running about 1 1/2 million barrels daily with 400,000 barrels a day from the Middle East, the IPAA estimates. The rest comes chiefly from Venezuela and Canada.

Ellenburger Pair Staked

Two new wildcats have been staked as Ellenburger tests in Nolan County.

Youngblood, Youngblood, a d Texas Gas Exploration of Dallas has staked the No. 1 Evelyn Daniel about nine miles south of Roscoe. It is two miles southwest of the one-well Highland (Mississippi) field. Plotted location is 660 feet from south and 1,990 feet from west lines, 92-23, T&P Survey.

Operator will project to 7,100 feet with rotary tools.

British American Oil No. 1 A. G. Compton is a 7,600-foot Ellenburger test about 16 miles southwest of Marylene. The venture is 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines, 50-1A, H&TC Survey.

Borden Spraberry Fields Add Two More Substantial Wells

Two new wells in the Arthur field and one in the Jo-Mill pool of Borden County were reported this weekend.

Seaboard brought in the Arthur wells, and Texaco finished the Jo-Mill completion.

Seaboard No. 1-27 T. J. Good, about seven and a half miles north of Vealmoor, flowed 404.92 barrels of oil through a 28-64-inch choke in 24 hours. Ten per cent water accompanied the flow.

The well is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 27-33-4N, T&P Survey.

Gravity of the oil is 38.1 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 470-1.

Operator treated with 7,500 gallons fractured fluid before taking the potential.

The hole bottoms at 8,010 feet, and five and a half-inch casing is anchored at 7,983 feet. Top of the Spraberry zone is 7,318 feet, and perforation intervals are 7,318-40 and 7,379-437 feet.

The other Seaboard producer, No. 3-40 T. J. Good, flowed 241.29 barrels of 38.6-degree oil on potential for 24 hours. It employed a 28-64-inch choke, and the flow was accompanied by 16 per cent water. Gas-oil ratio is 494-1.

The venture is seven and a half miles north of Vealmoor, 660 feet from north and 1,990 feet from west lines, 40-33-4N, T&P Survey.

Perforations in the Spraberry are between 7,442-74, 7,297-307, and 7,311-27 feet. Top of the pay zone is 7,297 feet. Total depth is 8,070 feet, and five and a half-inch casing is cemented at 8,054 feet.

Operator fractured with 7,500 gallons.

The Texas Company No. 2-A NCT-6 W. L. Miller, in the Jo-Mill, flowed 878.55 barrels of oil through a 24-64-inch choke in 24 hours. No water accompanied the flow. The test was after treatment with 500 gallons acid.

Perforations are between 7,125-225 feet, and top of the Spraberry pay zone is 7,125 feet. The well is plugged back to 7,577 feet from 7,625, and five and a half-inch casing is set at 7,611 feet.

Gravity of the oil is 39 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 217-1. Casing pressure is from 350-325 pounds.

The well is 1,900 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines, 13-33-4N, T&P Survey, and 15 miles southwest of Gail.

Meanwhile, Lone Star No. 1 J. L. Higginbotham, a wildcard 14 miles south of Gail, deepened to 5,273 feet in shale and lime. It is trying for production to 8,200 feet.

Location is 660 feet from southwest and southeast lines, 7-31-3N, T&P Survey.

A Cosden venture, No. 1 M. E. Dyer, drilled Saturday through lime at 6,873 feet. The project is two and a half miles northeast of Ackery in the Ackery (Pennsylvanian) field. Location is 660 feet from south and east lines, 43-33-4N, T&P Survey.

Oil Plays Lesser Role In Campaign

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—In sharp contrast with 1952, oil has not figured prominently in the election campaign.

Tidelands ownership was a major issue four years ago. This or other oil industry problems have received little attention this year.

Driving Habit Study Is Due

A three-year research project to find what personal traits lead drivers to have auto accidents and a study to develop better tests for driver licensing have been launched by New York University's Center for Safety Education.

The driver safety research has been made possible by a $50,000 grant to the New York University Center by Shell Oil Company, Dr. Herbert J. Stack, director of the NYU Center, said today.

Tests to be developed include personality and attitude tests that can be used in driver licensing or in driver rehabilitation programs.

"A great deal of research has been conducted on safety problems pertaining to vehicles and highways," Dr. Stack said, "but far too little research has been directed toward the driver. Relatively few studies have explored drivers' personal characteristics and their possible relationship to accidents. Also, too little is known about accident repeaters and chronic violators."

J. E. Clark, Shell's vice president of the Midland Area, said the company hopes that new knowledge of factors causing accidents will help reduce accident rates and thus make highways safer.

Shell Oil has been active in highway safety for many years and just recently has conducted a national safety advertising program in some 300 newspapers, including the Herald.

Cosden Well Drills Ahead

Cosden Petroleum's lone wildcard venture in the Panhandle reported deepening to 6,432 feet in lime Saturday.

The project, Cosden No. 1 V. E. Ellis, is located in Hansford County about five miles south of the Oklahoma border. It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines, 21-1, WCRS Survey, and two miles east of the Hitchland field.

It is an abandoned site. Humble drilled it to 4,765 feet previously and gave up.

Operator is testing to 7,200 feet to try the Morrow sand.

Recent tests in the area have brought distillate and gas in large quantities.

World Production Hits New High

TULSA, Nov. 3 (AP)—Free world crude production rose to a high of 15,130,100 barrels daily in August, largely on an increase to 7,195,000 barrels daily in the U. S. The Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Gray Sand Strike Seen For Runnels

Humble Oil & Refining Company will attempt to complete No. 1 Mrs. Grace T. Harber, Central Runnels County wildcard, as a gas discovery from the Gray.

On a 35-minute drillstem test from 4,453 to 4,472 feet, the wildcard flowed gas at rate of 10,100,000 cubic feet daily. Recovery was five feet of salt water.

A 75-minute test of the Capps lime returned 46 feet of mud. A 44-minute test in the same formation, from 3,992 to 4,061 feet, the project recovered 780 feet of gas, 60 feet of slightly oil-cut mud and 270 feet of salt water.

Location is 1,840 feet from west and 2,180 feet from north lines of section 170, KTRR survey, 47 miles west of Hatchell.

Andrews Stepout Seeks San Andres

Chambers & Kennedy of Midland No. 1 University is to be drilled as a 4,700-foot project 3/4 mile northeast of the Fuhrman-Mescho (San Andres) area of South Andrews County.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 14, block 10, University Lands survey.

McMurry Meet On Logging Slated

ABILENE — A Petroleum Conference on Electrical and Radioactivity Logging, expected to draw hundreds of participants from six Southwestern states, will be held here at McMurry College Nov. 14 and 15.

Sponsoring the two-day meeting of oilmen are the Abilene Geological Society, the West Central Texas Section of the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, and the Oil Institute of McMurry College.

Dr. Andrew Rockover-Cecil, dean of McMurry's school of business administration, said that 12,000 letters of invitation to the conference have gone out to petroleum industry personnel in Colorado, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas.

"We are expecting a large turnout for the petroleum conference," Dr. Rockover-Cecil said. "We have secured eight top-level men of the oil industry as speakers."

French M. Robertson, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, will address a dinner meeting of the conference at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 14 at Abilene's Wooten Hotel.

Robertson's topic will be "The Present Domestic Economy of the Oil Industry and the Outlook for the Immediate Future."

Lecturers for the conference, and their topics, will be:

A. J. Kerr of Wichita Falls, district sales geologist for Lane-

Deepest Test In New Mexico Finals

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 6 Lea-Mex, Lea County wildcard, and the deepest oil test ever drilled in New Mexico—it went to total depth of 16,342 feet in a pre-Gambrian formation—has been completed as a discovery.

However, it is not the deepest producer ever completed in the state. The production is from the Pennsylvanian at 11,316-352 feet.

From that zone the well produced 264 barrels of 37-gravity oil on the 24-hour completion test, plus six barrels of water. Flowing through a 3 1/2-inch choke, naturally. Gas-oil ratio was 1,061-1. Tubing pressure was 150 pounds.

The strike is 25 miles southwest of Lovington and two miles east of the shallow Maljamar pool. It is 1,910 feet from south and 730 feet from west lines of section 23-17-38S.

Moore Ventures Being Launched

A Howard County venture set surface casing and this weekend waited for cement to harden.

Cosden No. 2 Barnett-Connally, in the Moore field, set 9 1/2-inch casing at 140 feet with 90 sacks and was waiting on the cement to anchor it.

The project is four miles southwest of Big Spring, 990 feet from north and east lines, 28-33-1S, T&P Survey. It is drilling to 3,250 feet.

In the same field, Duncan Drilling Company's No. 4-B Patterson planned to start operations this week. The venture will be 2,310 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines, 27-33-1S, T&P Survey. It is about three miles southwest of Big Spring.

Drilling depth is 2,500 feet.

RICHARD M. JOHNSON

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

This is the twelfth in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Cosden's top salesman started out to be a rancher. At least Richard M. Johnson had every opportunity to follow in his father's footsteps but a couple of summers' sales work marked him for another career.

Born in Brown County March 15, 1915, Richard Johnson was reared there and was graduated from Brownwood High School. He attended Texas Military Institute at San Antonio and Howard Payne College at Brownwood, leaving to help out on his father's ranch 10 miles south of town.

In the meantime he had worked a couple of summers for Walker-Smith wholesale grocery company, one of them as a city salesman at Midland. In 1937 he got a chance to open a Chevrolet agency at Sonora. That was in April and on June 20 of that same year he was married to his childhood sweetheart, Miss Elbertine Corbin.

Later he took a sales assignment from the Autocraft Oil Company and joined the Cosden staff Oct. 10, 1941, as salesman. Johnson entered the Navy in 1943 and upon separation from service resumed his position in October of 1945 and was made assistant sales manager in 1946. Two years later he became credit manager; in 1951 coordinator of sales; and in 1953 director of sales, the position he now holds.

He is a member of a number of professional and trade organizations, including the Southwest Credit Association, the Asphalt Institute, the American Petroleum Institute, American Credit Institute. He has been a director of the Permian Basin Oil Show for five years and is a past director of the Henry Ford Memorial Highway Association.

His only hobby is golf; he hasn't found time to do anything else. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson own their home at 600 Dallas Street, where they have lived a number of years.

Nine NCO Academy Grads Get Diplomas

Honor Graduate

A-1C Raulfe B. Zache, honor graduate of NCO Academy Class 56-17, shows his diploma to Maj. Malcolm Nurnberg, his squadron commander (center) and Maj. Marvin E. Lindemann, guest speaker. Zache and eight other graduates received diplomas during the graduation ceremony held in the NCO Academy classroom at Webb Air Force Base Saturday morning.

The attitude of an Air Force non-commissioned officer is one of the most important factors in the development of his service abilities. Maj. Marvin E. Lindemann, executive officer of M&S Group, told graduates of NCO Academy Class 56-17 Saturday.

Major Lindemann was the guest speaker during graduation ceremonies. If the potential leader does not have the proper attitude, his technical knowledge cannot be effectively utilized, he said, adding that those who have the wrong attitudes should do something about it immediately.

The major pointed out that such attitudes, as self importance, selfishness, over confidence, hostility, exhibitionism and others, will bring nothing but trouble.

"As future NCOs who are the backbone of the Air Force, you will be charged with performing more and more supervisory duties."

The graduates were reminded that their service training has only begun, because in the Air Force technical and other training is a continuous project. Toward the end of his brief address, Lindemann congratulated the class and repeated that success will come only when proper attitudes are developed.

A-1C Raulfe B. Zache, 3500th Field Maintenance Squadron and honor graduate of Class 56-17 was recognized for his outstanding performance by both Lindemann and his squadron commander, Maj. Malcolm Nurnberg.

Other members of the class were A-1C's Virgil P. Clark, William O. Bernard, Frederico R. Rojas, Teddy B. Boggs, Clarence J. Johannes, Ted B. Hughes, Vernon P. Ezell Jr. and Cliff Brumfield.

Lumber Firm Loses $8 In Stamps, Radio

Burglars made off with about $8 in stamps and a radio from a lumber yard Friday night. Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, 300 E. 2nd, said about $2 in three-cent stamps and about $6 in sixes were taken, plus the radio. Police said that entry was made through a rear door. Nothing else was bothered.

Not As Cold As It Seemed

It was probably not as cold on Friday night and early Saturday morning as most folk believed it to be.

Officially, the low reading for the Friday night period was 39 degrees. There were no signs of frost, according to the U. S. Experiment Station.

It was reported that humidity on Friday night was 7 per cent—one of the lowest readings for many weeks.

A sharp wind, whipping the chill, made the night seem even colder than the mercury officially showed it to be.

Insists On Cream, Lands In Hospital

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—A 43-year-old woman was in a hospital with 76 stitches today because, police said, she insisted that a man friend drink coffee with milk in it. He wanted it black.

Police said Joseph Prowell, 39, became so enraged he grabbed a jagged piece of metal and attacked Mrs. Ann Banks. When she was taken to a hospital later, her wounds required 76 stitches, 36 of them about her head, officers said.

1956 Political Drama Rushing To Close Amid World Tension

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—In an atmosphere of somber uncertainty over war or peace, the great American political drama of 1956 is rushing toward its close.

Some 61 million people and their votes determine Tuesday whether it is to be President Eisenhower and four more years of the GOP or Adlai E. Stevenson and the Democrats racking up a comeback victory.

Most polls and prognosticators figure Eisenhower as the favorite. But there still is a question whether—if he wins—he can carry his party into control of Congress. A Stevenson victory, in contrast, is almost certain to mean the Democrats will keep their grasp on Congress.

In the final, climactic days of the campaign, Republicans are openly confident, Democrats hopeful.

These are the stakes Tuesday: The presidency of the nation. It takes 266 of the 531 electoral votes to win. Four years ago Eisenhower overpowered Stevenson by capturing 39 states with 442 electoral votes to 9 states with 89 votes for his Democratic rival. Eisenhower ran up a popular vote of 33,927,441 to 27,314,992, with the nation casting a record 61,551,918 ballots—a few of them for splinter party candidates. State election officials estimated the total vote this year would be down a bit, to around 61,400,000.

Tuesday's balloting will fill 432 House and 35 Senate seats. Maine's election in September elected two Republicans and one Democrat to the House.

Only four times in the last 27 elections has the party that won the presidency failed to win Congress. Elements at work this time could make 1956 another exception. Both sides say they expect to take Congress.

Right now the Senate line-up is 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans; the House margin, 232 Democrats to 203 Republicans. Governorships in 29 states. Sixteen of these seats are held now by Republicans, 13 by Democrats. Maine already has re-elected its Democratic governor. At the moment, Democrats have a 27 to 21 edge in the nation's statehouses, as a result of having turned out eight Republican governors in 1954.

When it comes to the showdown on the presidency, Republicans are counting on undecided voters, and some who once had decided for Stevenson, to go for Eisenhower now on the basis that his experience as president and former general provide pre-eminent qualifications for handling the present international crisis. Eisenhower has given his word that there will be no "United States involvement in these present hostilities" which have embroiled Israel, Britain and France against Egypt.

Democrats are crying out that the peace the Republicans have been trumpeting through the land is no peace at all and that GOP foreign policy thus has been what Stevenson called a "catastrophic failure" which will swing votes to the Democrats.

With the GOP, it was that chant of "peace, prosperity and progress." They rode it hard all the way—Eisenhower on more than 18,000 miles of campaign travel, Vice President Nixon on some 42,000 miles of talking tours.

For the Democrats, Stevenson marked up around 36,000 miles along highways, highways and railroads. His vice presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, rolled up 50,000 miles, largely along byways where the party figured his folksy, hand-shaking technique would work to best advantage.

Until the explosion in the Middle East, with its incalculable impact, the Democrats figured their most dependable vote-getting issue was the economic squeeze on farmers. Eisenhower was a far more active candidate than most people expected of a man who had a heart attack last fall and a major intestinal operation last spring.

At first there were going to be only five or six major speeches by Eisenhower, on radio and TV. That schedule didn't hold up long, and some of the presidential campaign jaunts had a mighty close resemblance to the barnstorming trips Eisenhower had said he wouldn't undertake.

Whatever the outcome of the presidential race, the tussle for the whip hand in Congress has

FBI Quizzes Missing Negro

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced today that it was questioning Jesse Woods, missing from the Wildwood jail since Sunday.

C. Weeks, agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, said the 39-year-old Negro farm hand was located in Andalusia, Ala.

Later the federal authorities will talk with the U. S. attorney and Florida authorities as to further action in the case, Weeks said. Woods disappeared from a jail cell Sunday, allegedly taken by a group of white men, and then taken to a lake near Wildwood and flogged.

He was accused of calling a white schoolteacher "baby" and had been jailed on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Wildwood is in west-central Florida.

Andalusia is a few miles across the Alabama line from Florida.

Long On Job With Aid Of Crutches

A. E. (Shorty) Long, county juvenile officer, getting around pretty smoothly on crutches, made his first appearance at the courthouse Saturday morning since the night of Oct. 24 when he was injured in a car accident.

The juvenile officer said that press of official duties forced him to come down to the courthouse several days ahead of his planned return.

"I had to get a jail report filled out," he explained. "It was already overdue and couldn't wait any longer."

Long was cut across the nose and suffered an injury to his legs when the car in which he was riding with Sheriff Jess Slaughter collided with another automobile on Oct. 24. He was hospitalized for several days and then was removed to his residence to recuperate.

Control of the House may spin around 60 key, close districts in 24 states—districts now split almost equally between the parties. Senate control may hinge on results in a dozen states.

Democrats are hopeful of dumping Republicans out of Senate seats in California, Colorado, Illinois, Maryland, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The GOP figures its best chances of toppling Democrats are in Kentucky, where two Senate seats are to be filled, and in Nevada, New York, Oregon, Washington and West Virginia.

In New York, the administration's warnings to Israel against igniting a war in the Middle East, and the shutting off of all military shipments to Israel, may have some effect in both the presidential and senatorial contests. The Republican candidate for senator is the state attorney general, Jacob K. Javits, who is Jewish. His Democratic opponent is Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City.

The Oregon Senate race pits Eisenhower's former secretary of the interior, Douglas McKay, against Wayne Morse, who was elected to the Senate as a Republican but then turned independent and finally Democratic.

In Pennsylvania, Democrat Joseph S. Clark Jr., who ended a Republican dynasty in the Philadelphia city hall, is trying to elbow Republican James H. Duff from his Senate seat.

Frank J. Lausche, five-time Democratic governor of Ohio, is trying for the Senate this time against the Republican incumbent George H. Bender, a disciple of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Kentucky has a double-header senatorial election because of the death of the late Alben W. Barkley, a Democrat. With the blessing of Eisenhower, former Republican senator John Sherman Cooper is backing former Democratic governor Lawrence W. Wetherby for the four remaining years of the Barkley term.

In the other Kentucky scrap, Democrat Earle C. Clements is trying to hold his seat against the challenge of Thurston B. Morton, former Republican congressman and assistant secretary of state.

In Stevenson's home state of Illinois, Democrat Richard Stengel is trying to unhorse Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Uncle Ray: Jumping Beans When Warmed By Sunshine

By RAMON COFFMAN

A girl who may have the makings of a scientist has sent me a letter about some peculiar beans. Her name is Kathleen Ackerman, and she writes:

"I have just received some jumping beans which were sent to me by a friend. Out of curiosity I broke one open and found a worm inside."

"Could you please inform me as to where these beans originate and what will eventually happen to the worm inside the bean? I am 12 years old."

About 20 years ago I saw jumping beans for the first time, and made little tests with them. My jumping beans (like others) moved when they were warm, but stopped moving when they became cool.

Jumping beans (often called Mexican jumping beans) are the seeds of shrubs which are native to Mexico.

What a sight to see beans hopping about! Commonly they cover a little space (moving a part of an inch in one direction or another) when a hop or jump is made.

In each jumping bean is a worm, the larva of a moth. Moths of a special kind lay their eggs in the forming buds, and the eggs hatch into worms.

The larva eats the inside of the bean or seed which, in due course, falls to the ground. While the bean is in shade, it will stay there. Sunshine, however, will change the situation. Wanting to get back to the shade, the worm will arch its back and bump the shell, causing motion. Within a short time the jumping bean is likely to reach the shade and become quiet again.

The worm, at length, will enter the cocoon stage, and later will come out of a hole or crack in the shell. This happens when the time arrives for the young one to turn into a moth.

Contests are held, from time to time, with jumping beans. They are marked and placed inside circles in the sunshine. The first one to jump (or bump) its way outside the circle is the winner.

King Hill Hot As Rice Owls Kayo Utah

HOUSTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Buddy Dial, 175-pound sophomore, and Texas Christian smashed and drove its way to a 7-6 football victory over Baylor today to keep its hopes climbing for a repeat victory as Southwest Conference champions.

Dial ran his touchdown receptions total for the season to five by taking a 47-yard toss in the first quarter and another for three yards in the third. Halfback Ken Williams, followed minutes later with an eight-yard scoring run, and quarterback Frank Ryan climaxed a 73-yard fourth quarter drive by passing five yards to end David Mantor for the final score.

Fullback Jerry Hill kicked the first two extra points and Hill converted after the third touchdown. A crowd of 22,000 saw Dial receive five passes for 113 yards and saw the Owls field three teams that on defense prevented the Skyline Conference team from moving inside the Rice 26-yard line.

Rice threats failed on the Utah 35 in the first period and a field goal attempt by Hill from the 11 in the second was wide. A fumble in the end zone ended a 4-yard Owl threat in the third.

The Rice defense was particularly rough on Utah passes. The Owls intercepted four Utah passes, two of them by halfback Bobby Williams. In five previous games this season the Owls had intercepted only one pass.

Dial's three previous touchdown passes had been thrown by Ryan. In six games Dial has received 15 passes for 268 yards. Utah's most serious threats came in the second quarter. Rice held for downs on its 26 and a fumble stopped the Utah minutes later after they had reached the 27 following recovery of a Rice fumble.

The Rice touchdown drives were good for 73, 28, 29 and 73 yards. The second followed recovery of Utah's fumble of the second half kickoff and the third drive began with a pass interception by Ken Williams.

Halfback G. F. Alsbrook led Rice in rushing with 83 yards in eight carries. Fullback Garry Knudson led Utah with 35 in seven tries. Hill completed seven of nine passes for 127 yards.

Mertzon Outlasts Garden City Bearcats, 36 To 34

GARDEN CITY, Nov. 3 (SC)—A cascade of scoring resulted in the final four minutes of play here Friday night, as Mertzon hung on to nose out Garden City in a District 8 six-man football battle, 36-34.

The tally was 21-20, Garden City, going into the final four minutes. Then, with fourth down and nine to go, Mertzon's sensational Maxie Tankersley dashed 55 yards to put Mertzon ahead, 26-21. Brooks lacked two more points on the scoreboard by booting the conversion try right up the uprights.

Garden City tied the score shortly thereafter when Lloyd Jones hit Milton Mow with a pass that carried six yards to a touchdown and Jones ran across the extra point. Tankersley ran the kickoff back 50 yards to a tally and Brooks again made good on the extra point try with a kick to run the tally to 36-28.

On the first play from scrimmage, Mow hit Bobby Fisher with a 55-yard scoring pass. The pass itself traveled about 50 yards in the air. Jones tried kicking the try for point but failed.

The game was costly to Garden City, since Jerry Fuller broke a leg above the knee and was carried to a Big Spring hospital. He was told he'll have to leave the leg in a cast for eight weeks.

In the first period, Garden City went ahead when Loris McDowell passed 15 yards to Fisher for a score and Jimmy Davee added the PAT.

Pollard's Toe Gives TCU 7-6 Victory Over Bears

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 3 (AP)—Texas Christian smashed and drove its way to a 7-6 football victory over Baylor today to keep its hopes climbing for a repeat victory as Southwest Conference champions.

Harold Pollard kicked the crucial extra point shortly after the fourth quarter began in drizzle-drenched Amon Carter Stadium. The touchdown that evened the score 6-6 before Pollard's kick was made by Chuck Curtis on a 6-inch quarterback sneak.

The six points climaxed a 10-play drive that covered 67 yards and spanned the third and fourth quarters. Baylor struck like lightning with only 55 seconds remaining in the first half a 32-yard pass and run play from Bobby Jones to Jerry Marcellot to pay dirt. Arthur (Junior) Beall's conversion attempt was wide.

Purdue, Illini In Deadlock

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 3 (AP)—Purdue and Illinois tied 7-7 today in a standoff of crisp tackling and stunning blocks. Abe Woodson, running star in the Illini upset of Michigan State last week, saved his team from defeat by grabbing a Purdue fumble out of the air in his end zone and sprinting out of danger.

Fullback Ray Nitschke plunged a yard for the Illinois touchdown in the last two minutes of the third quarter. Lennie Dawson of Purdue threw the 27th touchdown pass of his college career in the final period, to halfback Erich Barnes, from the Illinois 9.

Dawson and Dick Miller of Illinois kicked the extra points that left the score in a knot. Miller missed a fourth-quarter field goal attempt from the Purdue 19.

Eke Out Victory

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 3 (AP)—Kansas, harassed by its own mistakes in the first half, came from behind twice today to defeat aroused Kansas State 20-15.

Trinity, North Texas Play Tie

DENTON, Tex., Nov. 3 (AP)—North Texas State and Trinity battled to a 7-7 draw here this afternoon in a rainy homecoming game that left the two teams tied for the Gulf Coast conference lead.

Trinity scored in the first quarter after John Campbell grabbed a fumble by the Eagle's Don Smith on the North Texas 30. Nine plays put the Tigers on the seven with fourth down. George Jatem took a reverse play wide around left end to score with eight seconds left in the first quarter, then kicked the extra point.

Lions Win For Lou

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Clare Benham took personal charge of the ceremonies as the Columbia football team presented Lou Little with a 25-19 victory over Cornell today in the final home game of Little's 27-year career as Columbia coach.

Navy's Pent-Up Scoring Punch Decks Notre Dame

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP)—Navy's pent-up scoring punch burst its bounds for three touchdowns in the third quarter and, with timely passing by quarterback Tom Forrestal, beat Notre Dame today, 33-7, for the first time since 1944.

The fourth straight loss and fifth this season is the poorest Notre Dame football record since 1933. Navy, eager and ready to kick the Irish while they were down after beating them only four times in 29 past games, held the upper hand after the first few minutes.

Navy got a touchdown near the end of the first half to take a 7-0 lead. The crowd of 57,773 was treated to an explosive third quarter with Notre Dame getting its only touchdown on a 27-yard run by halfback Bob Ward.

They swapped touchdowns in the first four minutes after the second half started on the damp Memorial Stadium gridiron and Navy then pulled away for its fifth victory in six games this season. Forrestal, completing 10 of 15 passes, hit Ned Oldham on a 31-yard scoring play for Navy's second touchdown and took the ball over himself for the fourth on a 4-yard keep play after his tosses set it up. In between, Navy ran the ball 65 yards in 11 plays with Oldham going the last 6 yards.

Navy wound up the game with its third team playing, and Don Jahn ran 8 yards for the final touchdown. The second-string halfback, Harry Hurst, bucked for the first touchdown in the second quarter.

Only General War Would Stop Games

MELBOURNE, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Olympic Games walked a tight rope today in an atmosphere of outward calm but growing concern over the bloody struggles in Hungary and Egypt and an aura of mystery surrounding part of the giant Russian team.

The games definitely will go on unless there is a general world war. Sir William Bridgford, chief executive officer, reiterated strongly in an interview with The Associated Press.

Lions Put Five-Game Win Skein On Line Out West

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions, only undefeated team in the National Football League, put their five-game winning streak on the line Sunday against the San Francisco Forty Niners as the professional circuit concludes the first half of the 1956 season.

Four other games are listed. The Chicago Bears face the Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum, the Cleveland Browns move to Milwaukee to play Green Bay, the New York Giants travel to Pittsburgh to meet the Steelers and the Chicago Cardinals take on the Philadelphia Eagles at Comiskey Park.

The 49ers figure to put up stiffer opposition against the Lions than their record of one victory in five games would seem to indicate. It took a fourth period field goal by Bobby Layne to give the Lions a 20-17 triumph in their first meeting with San Francisco earlier this season in Detroit.

The Bears, trailing the Lions by one game in the Western Conference, will be after their fifth straight victory and their fourth in a row against the Rams. Since losing to Baltimore in the opening game, the Bears have beaten everybody in sight by convincing margins.

The results of the Cardinals-Eagles and Steelers-Giants clashes may settle the first place battle in the Eastern Conference. The Cards, beaten for the first time this season last week when they lost to Washington 17-14, are tied with the Giants at four victories and one defeat apiece.

The Eagles will be seeking revenge for the 20-6 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Cardinals in Philadelphia several weeks ago. They are tied with Pittsburgh for third place, two games out of first place with two victories and three defeats.

The Giants, on a three-game winning streak, tackle the Steelers for the second time within two weeks. They thrashed Pittsburgh 38-10 at Yankee Stadium in their first meeting. Pittsburgh bounced back from that defeat by beating the Browns last week.

Reaves Boots Field Goal That Sinks Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Nov. 3. (SC)—Center Joe Reaves booted a fourth period field goal that enabled the Sweetwater's most serious threat.

Earlier, the Ponies had driven to Snyder's 16, only to lose the ball on downs.

In the third period, Snyder advanced as far as Sweetwater's six, but Sammy Glass of Sweetwater recovered a fumble at that point.

In the fourth, Snyder advanced as far as the Pony five but again lost possession on a fumble.

Sweetwater advanced as far as Snyder's 22 and 21 on two different series but could go no farther.

Snyder outgained the Ponies on the ground, 194 yards to 101, while Sweetwater had a bare edge in the air, 54 to 43.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Cy Reid, the one-time Big Spring athletic hero who later ran a 4:24 mile for Texas A&M, recalled on a visit here last week a trip the Steer track and field team made to Barnhart when he was active. . . . Obie Bristow was in charge of the team. . . . Midland brought the only javelin (the depression was heavy upon the land then) and was reluctant to let any other team use it. . . . Somehow, Obie got his hands on the spear and threatened to break it in front of the Midland coach if Big Spring wasn't permitted use of it. . . . The Steers proceeded to win the first three places in the event. . . . Obie was also in charge of weighing in the discuses at the gate. . . . Snyder tried bringing one in which was about half the size and weight of the regulation saucer. . . . Obie ruled that it couldn't be used but dropped the discus in his overcoat pocket. . . . Somehow, it wound up in the hands of the Big Spring weight tossers, who proceeded to pick up a blue ribbon with it. . . . The Snyder people probably didn't know until this day that their own discus was used to earn Big Spring five points. . . . Woody Windham, a professional fisticuff who some say would have gone farther in the fight game than Lew Jenkins had been properly managed, is now living in the Sand Springs area, where he has some property. . . . Woody used to fight out of Abilene and few lightweights or welters dared tangle with him. . . . Tulane may come up with one of the finest basketball teams in Dixie. . . . It's nice to note (from our standpoint) in Don Oliver's Abilene sports column that only 13 members of the 1956 Eagle football squad will be back in 1957. . . . Only one of that number, fullback Bill Sides, is a starter. . . . Second stringers back include Jimmy Perry, an end; Gerald Galbraith, center; Gervis Galbraith, quarterback; and Chuck McKinnis, tackle. Mike Bryson and Joe Ward, guards John Young and Johnny Garner, center Ronnie Aldredge and backs Bob Swafford and Eddie Woods. . . . Coach Chuck Moser had 19 lettermen with whom to work this year.

Bobby Maines One Of 125 Out At BYU

The baseball troupe which Clint Courtney led into San Angelo recently and which later wound up a ten-game exhibition tour in Hobbs, N. M., paid $450 to each of its players. . . . The big leaguers drew a turnout of 682 paid in Hobbs, considerably lower than they drew in San Angelo. . . . Jack Hurley, one of the light game's best known managers, says Mike Gibbons is the greatest boxer ever to lace on a pair of gloves. . . . According to Hurley, Gibbons was in a class by himself as far as science and boxing are concerned. . . . Bobby Maines, the 6-foot-1 former Big Spring, was one of 125 varsity and freshman basketball players who reported for basketball drills at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, recently. . . . BYU will have height problems this season, since the Cougars have only one player who goes over 6-foot-6 and he may not be a regular. . . . Mike Fornieles, the one-time Big Spring hurler, tossed a four-hitter in his first start for Mariano in the Cuban Winter League. . . . M. L. LaGarde, coach of the New Orleans American Legion Junior baseball team, has already predicted that his club, the Bluejays, will win the national championship next year. . . . Before their overwhelming defeat by Georgia Tech, New Orleans people were booming the Tulane Greenies for a spot in the 1957 Sugar Bowl game. . . . Eddie Morgan, one-time Big Spring golfing star, now resides in Tulsa, Okla. . . . He was a resident of Los Angeles for many years. . . . Marvin Saunders, who has seen both teams play, says Wichita Falls is apt to give Abilene more trouble than any other schoolboy outfit in the state this year. . . . Pasadena and Dallas Jefferson are the two new teams added to Odessa's football schedule for 1957. . . . The Bronchos meet Lubbock High, Port Arthur, Dallas Jefferson, San Angelo and Abilene at home next fall. . . . Incidentally, Odessa's new school, called Ector High, will compete in District 2-AAA, the Andrews-Kennett alignment, next year. . . . Athletic Director Cooper Robbins is trying to book non-conference games with Sweetwater, Lamesa and Colorado City for Ector High, among others, next year.

Rockdale Tournament Is Cancelled

The HCJC Jayhawks had a basketball tournament at Rockdale cancelled on them recently. . . . Rockdale officials thought they had 16 teams lined up for a Dec. 7-8 tourney but found they couldn't even line up eight clubs. . . . As a result, the Hawks will probably book

HSU and ACC on those days. . . . They say John Conley, the Snyder mentor, is so unsure of his offense this year he likes for his Tigers to kick off in every game. . . . Against Breckenridge, the Bengals kicked off into the wind to open the game. . . . James J. Braddock, the former Heavyweight boxing champion, probably would have been named referee for the upcoming Archie Moore-Floyd Patterson fight, had it been scheduled in New York City. . . . Jackie Barron, one-time Big Spring quarterback and later a backfield coach at Artesia, N. M., is now a PE teacher in the Amarillo school system. . . . Far West Texas writers are booming a 170-pound quarterback named Glen Adams for all-state honors. . . . Adams, an excellent passer, may wind up at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs next year. . . . He's also an excellent basketball player. . . . Buddy Cosby, the one-time linebacking great of the Big Spring Steers (1953) who passed up his senior year to enlist in the Army, is still set on attending ENMU, incidentally, where a former Big Spring, B. B. Lees, is an assistant mentor. . . . ENMU won its first five games this season, then dropped decisions to Howard Payne and the Air Force Academy. . . . Miami earned its spot in AAA baseball, paying out $43,750 to visiting teams the past season. . . . Bobo Hardy, the local YMCA general secretary, who played in the game, says Gerald Campbell and not J. W. Thompson was a member of the 1946 Odessa Broncho backfield that performed here and went on to the state championship in 1946. . . . Thompson had graduated the previous year, it seems, and was a freshman in Texas Tech at the time.

Christoval Rips Past Wildcats

CHRISTOVAL, Nov. 3. (SC)—Christoval bombed Water Valley 47-20, in a District 8 six-man football game here Friday night.

Curtis Vaughn scored four touchdowns and booted two extra points for a total of 26 points.

Wayne Solomon counted 13 points and Clyde Wilkinson one touchdown and two points on an extra point kick for the Cougars.

Jodie Weeks kept Water Valley in the game on two touchdowns runs. Jack Kirkpatrick made the other for the Wildcats and Foster Ditmore and Carl Williams accounted for an extra point apiece.

Forsan Juniors To Play Eagles

FORSAN, Nov. 3. (SC)—Junior High School teams of Forsan and Sterling City will play a return game here Tuesday evening starting at 7:30 p.m.

In the previous meeting, Forsan won, 24-18. Forsan is undefeated in two games.

Angelo Shades Midland, 20-6

MIDLAND, Nov. 3. (SC)—San Angelo had things going its own way in belting Midland, 21-6, in a District 2-AAA football game here Friday night.

Jerry Martin scored first for Angelo, on a 55-yard scamper in the opening period. Norman Marshall converted.

Midland climbed back in the game in the second when tackle John Starnes recovered a San Angelo fumble in the end zone but Fred Heddes missed the try for point and Angelo still led, 7-6.

Phil Lane put the Bobcats farther ahead in the third on a 33-yard run and Marshall again converted.

San Angelo made 247 yards rushing to 147 for Midland. Midland had the edge in the air, however, picking up 51 yards on three completions to only six on one completion for the Cats.

San Angelo still remains undefeated. The Cats will be idle next week, then tangle with top-rated Abilene the following week.

Green Indians Are Beaten By Bulldogs

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 3. (SC)—Crippled Dartmouth gambled by coaxing Yale into wide-open football today and while it lost 19-0, the Indians tossed a big second-half scare at the Eli in an exciting battle.

EAGLES IN LEAD

Buffaloes Nudged By Sterling City

FORSAN, Nov. 3. (SC)—The Forsan Buffaloes lost their first District 8 six-man game in three starts by yielding to a power-laden Sterling City outfit, 51-34, here Friday night.

The win gave the Eagles the inside track for the conference crown. They have only Christoval and Merton now to play to qualify for bi-district competition.

Bill Young, son of the Sterling coach, scored 24 points for the Eagles.

Failure to hold onto passes cost the Buffaloes dearly, although fine running by Pat Brunton and Ronnie Howard kept them in the game.

A Forsan fumble on the four set Sterling's first tally in the opening period. Three plays later, Young passed to Wilbur Stone for the TD, then flipped an aerial to Jimmy McWhorter for the extra point.

In the second, Travis Schaffer scored for Forsan from the four after Brunton and Howard had rushed the ball to that point. Brunton added the PAT and it was 7-7.

A pass from young to Lynn Glass, good for 38 yards, provided the visitors with their second tally in the second round.

Tornadoes Edge Past Lake View

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 3. (SC)—John Middleton led the Lamesa Tornadoes to a 13-6 District 3-AAA victory over Lake View of San Angelo here Friday night.

The triumph was the Tornadoes' second in two conference starts and left them tied for the lead with Snyder, which they play in Lamesa Sept. 16.

Middleton averaged better than seven yards a carry with the ball, picking up 123 yards in 16 attempts. He scored what proved to be the winning TD with 37 seconds remaining in the first half, scoring from the six.

Frankie McKinney, Lamesa's quarterback, flipped a pass to Bobby Clement for Lamesa's first touchdown in the opening period. The play covered seven yards. Sam Jones added the extra point after Middleton's tally.

Lake View got its six points in the second period when Rex Wilson went over from the four on a keeper play.

Lamesa made 294 yards rushing to 101 for Lake View. Lake View picked up 64 through the air to 45 for Lamesa. First downs favored Lamesa, 14-11.

Wreck Rambles Past Devils

DURHAM, N.C., Nov. 3. (AP)—Powerful Georgia Tech finally broke the shackles against a stout Duke defense today with a fourth-period touchdown to defeat the inspired Blue Devils, 7-0, and maintain its undefeated record before a cheering crowd of 38,000.

Fullback Dickie Mattison of Atlanta plunged over from the 17 early in the fourth quarter to provide the winning margin in a 10-minute game. Quarterback Wade Mitchell converted.

It was the ninth consecutive victory for Coach Bobby Dodd's team, ranked second in the nation in the current Associated Press football poll. It was Duke's fourth loss in seven starts.

Duke, playing an inspired performance, missed a good scoring chance in the second quarter when a drive stopped on the Tech 5.

The Blue Devils had moved from their 33 to Tech's 3. Tackle Sid DeLoatch, a senior of Roanoke Rapids, led the big Duke line that more than matched Georgia Tech and stopped everything Tech could muster until the payoff touchdown.

That drive began late in the third quarter when halfback Paul Rutenberry intercepted a pass by quarterback Bob Brodhead on Georgia Tech's 38.

Georgia Tech was threatening at the end of the game and had possession on Duke's 7.

Fumbles Prove Costly As Steers Lose, 13-0

By TOMMY HART
ODESSA, Nov. 3 (SC) — Inability to hold onto the ball cost the Big Spring Steers dearly as they dropped a 13-0 District 2-AAAA verdict to the Odessa Bronchos before some 8,000 fans here Friday night.

The Bronchos yielded the ball five times on fumbles and had three of their passes intercepted by alert Odessa backs.

Big Spring drove all the way to Odessa's nine from the Broncho 48 the second time it got its hands on the ball only to lose the pigskin following a mixup in signals out on the 22.

From that point, the Hosses drove to their first touchdown. A pass from Ray Stoker to W. A. Kennedy ate up 43 yards in that particular drive. Finally, James Arner plunged over from the one with just 31 seconds remaining on the first quarter clock.

Again in the second quarter, the Steers maneuvered to Odessa's nine but the Cayuses' Jack Frost fell on a bobble there to end the threat.

The Steers more than held their own the remainder of the half but couldn't muster enough power to promote a touchdown. The Bronchos, however, were deprived of a TD by the clock. They had churned down to Big Spring's 24 on a series of end sweeps and passing plays when the whistle sounded ending play.

Odessa scored again with 6:57 to go in the third when Stoker hit Dick Stice with a 29-yard pass that was a nifty. Stice took the ball over his shoulder well behind the nearest Steer. A Big Spring fumble had put the Odessans in Big Spring's 36 but Jan Loudermilk fell on an Odessa bobble a couple of plays later on the Steer 32.

Four minutes before the end, the Steers advanced as far as Odessa's 22 but Odessa dug in and took the ball on downs.

Jerry Pratt took a pass down to Big Spring's five but fumbled into the end zone and Big Spring gained possession and Johnson knifed out to the 24 just as the game ended.

The lack of downfield blocking hurt the Steers' chances. Wayne Fields and Buddy Banes, both of whom missed the game due to injuries, would, no doubt, have helped.

Janak played far and away his finest game of the season. On at least four occasions, a key block would have sprung him all the way.

Ronnie Phillips looked to advantage until he re-injured his toe. Johnson performed admirably at quarterback and Herschel Sticks was a big help.

Up front, Walter Dickinson, Donnie Bryant, Lewis Porter, Maxie Carey, Jan Loudermilk, Ricky Terry and Bobby Suggs all played well.

Bobby Lowdermilk, Jerry White, George Peacock, Gerald Davidson, and Glenn Whittington were others who contributed noteworthy performances.

James Ratliff was Odessa's leading ground gainer — on one else was close.

There was little to choose between the teams on the ground, but Odessa showed more finesse when taking to the air.

Regents Slated To Act Quickly At Texas Univ.

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
AUSTIN, Nov. 3 (AP)—Quick action to hire a new coach who can rebuild the University of Texas faded football prestige was asked today.

University Regents Chairman Tom Sealy of Midland asked the Athletic Council to have recommendations ready by December so the new coach can begin recruiting top athletes at once.

Ed Price, 47, resigned Wednesday, saying no official pressure had been brought on him during his sixth and worst year of coaching the Longhorns. He said he resigned for "good of the team and the university." Alumni pressure was regarded as one of the big factors in the resignation.

The Longhorns had lost five of six games this year and may be headed for their worst season since 1938, when they lost eight of nine.

In an opening meeting with the council, the regents said "No one has been officially contacted" to replace Price, whose resignation becomes effective Dec. 31. They said names of possible candidates or applicants "will not be made public" to protect those seeking jobs "from possible misunderstanding."

"We wouldn't want anyone who would wink at the recruiting rules of the Southwest Conference," Sealy said. "However, we would want a coach who some day can help us beat Oklahoma." Texas lost to Oklahoma 45-0 this year.

Dr. O. B. Williams, faculty member and chairman of the Athletic Council, said his group would meet Monday to decide whether it would hire one man to replace Price and Athletic Director Dana X. Bible, or continue having two men. Bible will leave his post in September 1957.

Sealy said, "Should Price be interested in continuing his association with the university, we can find a position for him in teaching, possibly physical education, where his 20 years experience can be utilized."

"We're not interested in the win-at-any-cost type of coach," university President Logan Wilson told the regents. "It is extremely important to keep a balance in the athletic program we get a man who realizes they are students first and athletes second."

One of those who has been mentioned as athletic director is one of the former top coaches, Frank Leahy, long at Notre Dame since his resignation.

Other ex-students and J. Aubrey Gooch of Fort Worth, member of the alumni advisory committee, met with Leahy in Fort Worth this week. Leahy assured the group he was interested in becoming athletic director and "football supervisor" at Texas.

Poor Blocking Hurt, Says Steer Coach Roy Baird

"We didn't block like we can, and when part of our boys 'went,' the others didn't," Coach Roy Baird of the Big Spring Steers said, following the local club's 13-0 loss to Odessa in Odessa Friday night.

"We lost the ball too many times on fumbles, which has been our trouble the past three games," he added.

"Odessa was faster on outside stuff than we had thought they'd be. We never could stop them there," he added.

Baird thinks Odessa's chances to win another game are poor. The Red Hosses play Abilene and Midland in that order while Big Spring winds up with Midland and San Angelo.

More injuries cropped out for Big Spring in the contest. Jan Loudermilk, big end, was to have his hand X-rayed for possible fracture.

Ronnie Phillips re-injured his toe, which was broken earlier in the season. The extent of the damage was not known as press time.

Wayne Fields, star running back of the Steers, spent his time during the game on the telephone talking with scouts in the press box.

Buddy Barnes, another Steer back who has been injured, was sent into the contest but never saw action. A time out resulted and the coaches subbed for him before action was resumed.

Ray Stoker, Odessa back, injured his back in trying to defend against a Big Spring pass and may be lost to his team for some time.

The coaching staffs on both benches were impressed with the play of Johnny Janak, Big Spring halfback.

Hayden Fry, the Odessa mentor, said he thought both Janak and Jan Loudermilk of the Steers did good work.

Fry said he was pleased with the win, but added:

"I don't think either team played as well as it could. I know we were way down after that game against San Angelo last week."

The smallest crowd of Odessa's home season—numbered at about 8,000—watched the contest. However, it was the biggest turnout to see a Big Spring team play. Only 250 adult tickets for the game were sold in Big Spring. Many more than that went, however, purchasing tickets at the gate. T. H.

Harvard Stunned By Penn Quakers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3 (AP)—Pennsylvania shook off years of frustration to stun Harvard 28-14 today with Frank Riepl and Rich Ross engineering the Quakers' deceptive multiple offense.

Penn built up a 14-0 first-period lead in gaining its initial road triumph since 1952. It also marked the first time the Quakers have managed four touchdowns in a game in two seasons.

Syracuse Rallies To Defeat Lions

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—Syracuse's alert defense gobbled up three Penn State fumbles and intercepted three passes to come from behind with a 13-9 victory today in a rib-rattling battle between two of the best teams in the East.

Moving a step nearer a possible Cotton or Gator Bowl bid, Syracuse punched over the winning touchdown with Chuck Zimmerman smashing over from the 1 in the final quarter after Dick Aloise had recovered a fumbled handoff by Al Jacks to Bruce Gilmore. As usual, Jimmy Brown was the workhorse for the Orange, carrying 28 times for 104 yards and a season total of 687 yards.

Colonials And Heights Win

Washington Place and College Heights kept pace with each other in Ward School football league competition here Saturday morning.

Washington turned back West Ward, 13-0, while College Heights was outlasting Airport, 12-6.

Rick Peters and Chick Houston scored touchdowns for the Colonials. Peters' TD came after a run of 30 yards in the third period. Houston counted from the ten in the same round.

Jimmy Horton played a fine defensive game for Washington, which now has won two and lost four.

Left halfback Robert Mahoney counted for College Heights on a 15-yard end sweep in the second while Jeff Brown went across with the other in the third from 40 yards out.

Airport scored on a pass in the second.

Heights now has won five while losing one.

In other games, Kate Morrison upended Park Hill, 13-0, while East Ward shaded North Ward, 7-6.

Tony Carrillo scored for Morrison on a pass from Tony Dutchover in the second. The play covered 20 yards. Dutchover converted.

Humberto Hernandez went across from the 40 in the third for the Maroons, who now have won three, lost one and tied two.

NAIA Bowl Game Set For Dec. 22

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—The National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics and Columbia Broadcasting System television officials announced tonight the first annual NAIA Bowl football game in Little Rock, Ark., has been rescheduled for Dec. 22 and will be nationally televised and broadcast.

The game, originally set for Dec. 8, will be known as the Aluminum Bowl. The teams will be chosen from the 450-member association of the nation's smaller colleges and universities.

A four-man committee was named to select the two opponents on the basis of recommendations of chairmen of the 32 national districts and Hawaii which comprise the NAIA.

The game will start at 12 noon, EST, in War Memorial Stadium. It has a capacity of 38,000.

The NAIA listed teams with good records going into this weekend's play included West Texas State.

CRAPPIE FISHING GOOD AT LAKE J. B. THOMAS

Crappie fishing has been the hottest of all at Lake J. B. Thomas during the past week.

Now there are signs that fishermen may have to divide attention with the waterfowl hunters at the lake. Duck and geese season opened Friday and will be in effect to Jan. 15. On Lake Thomas as it takes a recreation permit as well as hunting license and duck stamp to qualify.

So far only a relatively few ducks have shown up, but nippy weather is expected to bring them in volume. Duck limit is five birds per day with a possession limit of 10. No shot larger than No. 4 may be used at the lake. The geese (and brandt) limit is five per day, and the possession limit is one day's kill.

Duck may be hunted from land or water and with dogs, from a blind or boat or floating craft. Slink boxes may not be used nor can power boats, sail boats or any object towed by power craft. However, hunters may hunt from boats with outboard motors provided the motors have been detached at the time of the hunting.

H. C. Reid, lake patrolman, reported excellent crappie fishing from the dam to the old bridge on the former Vincent-Murphy School road. The Rev. Roy Fish, Buster Brough-

Spartans Blow Past Badgers

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 3 (AP)—Michigan State's resourceful Spartans took out a full measure of revenge upon Wisconsin's inept Badgers today, hauling out their once-in-a-while passing strength for a 33-0 Big Ten football triumph before 53,647 fans.

Striking back with a furious five-touchdown assault after last week's 20-13 upset at Illinois that sent them spinning off the top of the collegiate heap, the Spartans combined a crisp offense and a never-yielding defense and nearly ran the ragged Badgers out of Macklin Field.

Michigan State marched 68 yards in seven plays to score after the opening kickoff, stopped a brief Wisconsin flurry and then went 65 yards for a second touchdown.

The loss of their top runner, Clarence Peaks, sent the fourth-ranked Spartans into an early passing game and it paid off handsomely. Peaks underwent surgery after a knee injury sustained last week and is out for the season.

More than half the yardage in four first-half touchdowns spurts came from the passing of quarterback Pat Wilson and Jim Ninowski.

Jim Mottley Leads Tigers Past Brown

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3 (AP)—Little Jim Mottley, a refugee from last year's 150-pound squad, pulled Princeton's stuttering offense together and led the Tigers to a hard-won 21-7 victory over Brown today.

The victory was Princeton's sixth straight and kept the Tigers at the top of the Ivy League as the only undefeated major team in the East.

Leading 7-0 after a frustrating, penalty-riddled first half in which they wasted nearly a half-dozen scoring opportunities, the Tigers came back strongly when the 165-pound Mottley replaced Tom Morris at tailback. Running and passing expertly and with daring, Mottley led touchdown drives of 94 and 76 yards. He passed to end Charlie Disbrow, 33 yards, for Princeton's second touchdown, then scored the last himself on a 1-yard back after Brown had cashed in on Tiger displays to get its only touchdown.

Mustangs Hold On To Nip Longhorns

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN, Nov. 3 (AP)—Trailing 20-0 at the half, a fired up Texas football team roared back in the second half to come within an eyelash of upsetting Southern Methodist, before falling 20-19.

The Mustangs' fine quarterback, Charlie Arnold and Larry Click shot three first half touchdowns while the hapless Longhorns were held to only three first downs.

one of three placement tries was the difference in the hard fought Southwest Conference game. It was the second SWC victory for the Ponies, undefeated in league play and kept SMU hard on the heels of Texas A&M in the fight for the football championship. The defeat pushed Texas further into the SWC cellar.

Still Undefeated

OVER BULLDOGS

Merkel Badgers Triumph, 48 To 7

By DON HENRY
COAHOMA, Nov. 3 (SC)—Merkel grabbed a lead on the first play from scrimmage here Friday night and stormed to a 48-7 victory over the bulldogs.

Phinney started wide, cut through his own left tackle, and outran the opposition all the way. He cleared his last potential tackler at the 25-yard line and was by himself the remainder of the way.

Halfback Kermit Rutledge took a handoff and raced 62 yards on the initial play following the kickoff to start the Badgers rolling. And they didn't stop until the end. The game was victory number eight for the Merkel eleven and left them in the driver's seat for the District 6-A conference title.

End Joe Hill added the extra point, kicking the ball left-footed, as it stormed down the field to a tally in seven plays.

The Badgers scored 14 points in each of the first two periods and added more in the last 12 minutes. Coahoma meanwhile could muster only one touchdown—and that in the final stanza, when the Merkel lineup was padded with reserves.

Coahoma journeys to Rotan for its next conference try next Friday night. In conference, the Bulldogs have now lost two and tied one.

After the 62-yard scamper by Rutledge, Coahoma moved from its own 29 to the Merkel 30 before losing the ball on downs. The Badgers then started a drive that consumed 10 plays and ended with Rutledge scoring again. His TD lunge this time went for six yards. He then kicked his second of five points after touchdown. Manley Danton converted on another.

Merkel was not through, however, as it stormed down the field to a tally in seven plays.

Russell scored the final TD on an 11-yard reverse, but the big gain of the drive was a 28-yard pass play from McLeod to Danton.

Coahoma was on the move when the game ended, having raced from its 29 to the Merkel 33 before the run. On the last play, White carried for 18 yards around his left end.

McLeod, playing like a Coahoma 32 before being stopped. Five plays were needed from that point to count, with McLeod scoring from the 17, on a keeper.

Coahoma's journey to Rotan for its next conference try next Friday night. In conference, the Bulldogs have now lost two and tied one.

The third quarter was scoreless, but both clubs threatened. Coahoma drove from its own 38 to the Merkel 27 only to miss a first down at that point by a yard.

Coahoma fumbled aided by giving the Badgers the ball. Merkel fell on the ball on the 40, and McLeod fired a pass incomplete from that point.

He dropped back as if to pass on the next play and pulled the Coahoma line toward him. He elected to run however and cut to his left sideline. At about the 25, he moved back toward the middle and scored standing up.

Coahoma took the following kickoff and scored in three plays. An outside kick gave the Bulldogs the ball on the Coahoma 47. Harold Harrington made five around right end and then added two up the middle.

On the next down, Rickey

CECIL SMITH, DAVEY O'BRIEN TO BE INDUCTED INTO 'HALL'

DALLAS, Nov. 3 (AP)— Cecil Smith, the fabulous "Mo Peio," and Davey O'Brien, the little man of Texas Christian's finest football moments, will be inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame Dec. 31.

Smith, the Texas cowboy who became a 10-goal polo star and held this rating for 20 years, and O'Brien, the all-America quarterback of TCU in 1938 and a star in pro football, became the seventh and eighth living athletes to make the honor conferred by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

They will join such illustrious names as Tris Speaker, Bron Hogan, Sam Baugh, Babe Zaharias, Rogers Hornsby and Byron Nelson in the Hall of Fame, a niche eagerly sought by the great and near great of Texas Athletics.

Next Weekend District Leaders In Crucial Tests

By The Associated Press
Only seven undefeated, untied teams remain in the upper classes of Texas school football as the field moves into the stretch this week. One of those—Nederland—figures in the biggest game.

Port Neches, defending champion of Class AAA, will get its chance to return to the playoffs but it will have to beat Nederland to do it. This seems quite a task.

Nederland has taken seven straight games and been most impressive. Port Neches has floundered around until the past few weeks. It showed promise of returning to its 1955 brilliance last week with a 61-6 conquest of Silsbee.

Defending champion Abilene of AAAA goes into conference play and wouldn't appear in any danger. The mighty Eagles engage Odessa at Abilene in a game counting in the District 2 standings. It now appears the only test of any proportions facing the Eagles in another sweep to the playoffs is San Angelo. The latter beat Midland 21-6 last week to remain with Abilene as the only unbeaten teams in district as well as season play.

Crucial games are on from top to bottom this week. The feature of Class AAAA is Denison vs. Wichita Falls for the undisputed lead in District 7.

Class AAA is filled with headline games. Breckenridge clashes with Graham for the lead in District 4. Kilgore meets Nacogdoches in a similar game in District 2, and LaMarque and Bay City decide the top spot in District 12.

Abilene, San Angelo, Amarillo Palo Duro, Dallas Highland Park and Wichita Falls are the last undefeated, untied teams in AAAA. Houston Lamar, Galveston and Corpus Christi Ray are unbeaten but tied.

Class AAA has only two teams left with perfect records—Snyder and Nederland. Those two teams might meet in the finals. Littlefield, Phillips and Cleburne are undefeated but tied.

Pecos, Cleburne, El Campo and San Marcos fell out of the un-

EISENHOWER

IS A BETTER DEMOCRAT THAN STEVENSON!

THIS IS A LEGAL BALLOT!

You are a free Texan... You can vote any way you like. Regardless of what you may have heard, it is perfectly legal to split your ticket if you want to, just as it is legal to vote the Democratic ticket straight, or the Republican ticket straight. The purpose of the ballot is to determine what the people want. And if you want to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon—then cast the rest of your ballot for the Democratic nominees—that is your privilege. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise! BY LAW YOUR VOTE MUST BE COUNTED.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS FOR EISENHOWER

Gossett, Stripling Homes Among Newest In City Residence Areas

By ANNE LEFEVER

A homemaker's dream of spacious cabinets, built-in features and walk-in closets is the new home of the Robert Striplings at 903 Mountain Park.

In the hospitable kitchen, a cabinet lazy susan turns to deliver desired ingredients while a busy cook uses the mixer placed on a hide-away stand in an adjoining cabinet.

Done in sunlight yellow tile and wallpaper of brown, yellow and green, the kitchen is completed with woodwork of natural ash, shellacked for easy care. Louvred doors enclose a pantry reminiscent of the one in Granny's home in which she did much of the meal preparation.

Convenient to the back entrance is a half-bath, where hands dirty from garden chores or car tinkering may be washed. Kitchen and breakfast area windows look out over a back yard planned on two

The Gossetts Live Here" is the attractive and cordial marker greeting guests visiting the Ralph Gossett family in their new home at 545 Hillside Drive.

The semi-modern styled home of "used brick" sits at the base of a sloped hill in the Edwards Heights Addition.

A fenced-in backyard features a three-level patio. The lower level, directly off the kitchen, has been laid with brick. This will be used for patio suppers and barbecues, Mrs. Gossett explained. Grass covers the second and third levels, with brick steps leading to each.

The third level will be turned over to the three Gossett children for pit cooking their own specialties.

Journeying to the interior of the house the visitor views shades of green and blue-green used in decorating the entire home.

GOSSETT SPECIAL is the finish for the walls of the den in the home of the Ralph Gossetts. At least, that's what they call the result of their work in varnish removal, paint-and-wipe, and waxing. Beauty of the walls is well worth the effort, too. At left, Gregg plays chess with his father, as Robin kibitzes. Not even refreshments, prepared by Mrs. Gossett, will interfere with the game or with Ellen's reading.

ADVICE WANTED—Mrs. Robert Stripling, an experienced flower arranger, interrupts the reading of her husband to ask his opinion of an arrangement she is making for the living room of their new home. Done in shades of dusty pink, deeper pink and green, the room is a lovely setting for the auburn-haired homemaker.

LIKE AN EXTRA MAID is the electric dishwasher installed in the new home of the Ralph Gossetts at 545 Hillside Drive. Blue-green, aqua and just plain blue combine in the Pennsylvania Dutch wallpaper, which meets the cabinets of knotty pine. Brass pulls add a bright touch to the wood.

A MAN'S DOMAIN is the room set aside for Robert Stripling, Junior, in the Striplings' new home, 903 Mountain Park Drive. There's plenty of space for books, musical instruments and other treasures; he can enjoy his favorite records as he works at the study area which is incorporated in the cabinet built across the north wall of the room.

A FIRESIDE CHAT is held by the Robert Striplings over after-dinner coffee. Since they moved into their home just this fall, there has been no opportunity for a fire in the log-burning fireplace, but "one can always practice, can't one?" The warm red of the bricks makes a pleasing contrast to the walls which are of ash in natural finish. (Photos by Keith McMillin)

Stays Active—And Youthful

Myrna Loy, who stars in "The Ambassador's Daughter" for United Artists release, feels the secret of staying young lies in being active and interested in what is going on around you.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keep Up Interests To Remain Youthful

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Myrna Loy has led such a full and active life since she left Hollywood that she is always amused to read that she is "coming out of retirement."
 "What retirement?" she exclaimed when we visited on her recent trip to the Coast.
 "Retirement is absurd! I represent the motion picture industry in UNESCO, which is concerned with all fields of communication. I have always been interested in doing a picture when I thought the script and the part are right for me. Such as the senator's wife in 'The Ambassador's Daughter,'" she added.
 I told Myrna what a pleasure it was to find her so little changed from her "Thin Man" movie days. "Do you have a formula for staying so young?" I asked.
 "Being interested in what's going on today and keeping active in contemporary life, if you call this a formula. Regardless of age, when we cease to be aware of the present we grow old. The past has never interested me," she added, "except what I could learn from it."
 "But you couldn't be in such great physical shape," I insisted, "without taking good care of yourself."
 "I am a great believer in nutritional foods," Miss Loy explained. "I live on meat, tomatoes and steamed vegetables. I try to have my food prepared to preserve the vitamins. I have friends who consider this a fad, but I am sure it has a great deal to do with our well being. And I take my vitamin pills daily."
 "When I don't overeat I have no problem with my weight," Myrna confessed. "Sometimes this requires severe discipline, especially when I am in Paris, for I love French cooking. But I try to keep my weight the same, because I don't think it is good for the body to diet strenuously. It's dangerous and a great mistake to go on a severe diet without first consulting your doctor. Just because it's worked on someone else does not mean that this the approach best for you."
 The talk returned to Paris, where "The Ambassador's Daughter" was filmed. "It was great fun," Myrna said with enthusiasm. "Dior made all the clothes. I arrived the day of his opening and was told to select the dresses I wanted to wear in the picture from his collection. I'm good at knowing what is right on me," she smiled. "I should be—I've had to face enough mistakes. And fortunately there were no objections to my choices."
 "Seeing yourself on film is a great teacher—even a still phograph gives objectivity." Miss Loy suggested that if you want to know how your clothes look on you, a series of snapshots will tell the story. "It's like a wardrobe test for a picture," she explained.

 Miss Loy has great admiration for the French designers. "They are such perfectionists, and this attitude pervades throughout their whole establishments—even to the fitters and the girls in the work rooms—with the result that everything is so beautifully made it never wears out."
 "I am a fanatic about beauty," she confided. "I like it in and out of my home, and I like it in people—inside and out. But it doesn't have to be obvious beauty."
 As an example Miss Loy named Eleanor Roosevelt. "She is one of my special friends. I have known her for years, and the unselfish and inspiring life she leads makes her face increasingly beautiful. And her charm is matchless!"
 We chatted about charm. "Charm is an elusive quality," Myrna commented. "In Eleanor it is humility in high places. Most charm, I think, stems from confidence. You may have great qualities of human kindness and understanding, but if you are shy and unsure they will not project."
FOR THE MATURE WOMAN
 So you have a double chin; maybe you feel your hands are unattractive and beginning to show their age. You'll find it a breeze correcting these two problems with Leaflet M-6, "For the Mature Woman." With the aid of corrective cosmetics and exercises, fully explained in M-6, you'll be on the way to a more youthful you. Send for your copy today. Forward 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Puppet Show Will Teach Dental Tips

LAMESA—A dental puppet show, sponsored by the South Plains Health Unit, will be staged in all the Dawson County schools during the coming week. Presenting the show will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sargeant of Austin who are with the Department of Public Health.
 The schedule calls for the show to be presented at the Dawson School Wednesday morning; Wednesday afternoon, Union School; Thursday, North Elementary; Friday morning, Lamesa Junior High School and Blacksher; in the afternoon, Central Elementary.
 Concluding the series Nov. 12, the show will be presented to the Klondike School in the morning and the Ackery School in the afternoon. Purpose of the show is to teach dental hygiene to the elementary school age students.

Lamesa Women In Fall Presbyterial

LAMESA—The Fall Presbyterial was held Friday in Post with five women from the Lamesa First Presbyterian Church attending. Business and briefing sessions were held in the morning, followed by a luncheon at noon.
 Guest speaker for the afternoon sessions was Mrs. LeRoy Denton, member of the Board of National Missions from Omaha, Neb.; also featured on the program was Mrs. Tom Wood, Lamesa, who is synodical secretary. She spoke on her recent visit to Portugal. Attending from Lamesa were Mrs. John Palmer, Mrs. Ed Burkhead, Mrs. B. B. Baylor, Erma Sprawls and Mrs. Tom Wood.

Past Noble Grands

Members of the Past Noble Grand Club of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Leslie Bonner, 1608 Jennings.

Holiday Decoration Demonstrated For Lamesa Club

LAMESA—Members of the Green Thumb Garden Club and their guests met Friday for an all day meeting at the Delphian Clubhouse for a program on "Holiday Decorations."
 Beginning the program at 9:30 Mrs. Floy Barfoot displayed table settings both formal and informal using various cloths, china, crystal, silver and pottery. Following a pot luck dinner, Mrs. Bob Brown demonstrated the making of door decorations, Christmas corsages, and wrapping of Christmas gifts.
 Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. L. E. Robinson, Mrs. W. S. Satterwhite, Mrs. D. L. Adcock, Mrs. A. W. Partain, and Mrs. O. H. Sires.

Lamesa FTA Gets Task Of Teaching

LAMESA—Future Teachers of the Lamesa School system were given a real taste of teaching Thursday and Friday as teachers of the first and second grades attended a work shop conducted by Mrs. Margaret Monk of Austin, arithmetic consultant for Steck Company.
 The workshop was conducted in the offices of the North Elementary School.

Nolen, Sunny Palmore, Linda Peterson, Nancy Powell, Janice Shepherd, Charlene Short, Jo Ann Stringer, Leta Swope, Mary Lee Taylor and Linda Warren.

Mrs. Stone Honored

Mrs. Paul Munden was hostess Friday evening for a shower honoring Mrs. Paul Stone. Yellow and purple chrysanthemums decorated the entertaining rooms, where guests visited and presented gifts to the honoree. Mrs. Clarence Mason assisted in receiving and serving refreshments to the 14 who attended.

Vacation In Jamaica

Enjoying the sunshine and ocean breezes are Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Burnett, 1603 East Third, as they have a holiday in Jamaica, British West Indies. This is the first visit of the Burnetts to the island.

Gossett

At the west end of the den, a three foot snack bar separates the family room from the kitchen. A light, gay room, the kitchen sparkles with wallpaper in a Pennsylvania Dutch pattern emphasizing blue-green, blue and deeper aqua.

White cafe curtains, trimmed in rows of blue and green tape, cover the lower part of the windows. The spacious cabinets in the kitchen are of pine with brass handles. Covering the snack bar and kitchen cabinets is a deep aqua shade of plastic tile.

In the southeast corner of the home is the bedroom which 11-year-old Greg and Robin, eight, occupy. The walls are painted light blue with their twin beds in a deeper shade of blue. On their west wall is a "boy size" bulletin board that is a neat resting place for model airplanes, baseball bats and is equipped with brackets that hold baseballs and football.

Between the boys' room and four-year-old Ellen's room, which also features blue shades, is the sparkling bath. The entire area is finished with a subdued shade of aqua.

Walls are of aqua tile and fixtures of a deeper shade of blue. At the windows are attractive blue shutter blinds. The brilliant tile was imported from Spain.

Facing the east, with a delightful night view of twinkling Big Spring, is the master bedroom. Shades of blue are again featured here.

The adjoining bath emphasizes oatmeal color and touches of blue. A glassed-in shower makes for drier floors.

Designed with the family in mind, this beautiful new home will be the shelter for many happy Gossett family memories.

levels and on a patio where informal entertaining can be an almost year round occasion.

Rich tones of brown and red mark the inviting den, where a built-in cabinet and shelves add convenience as well as beauty to the room. Here is a telephone corner and a place for family treasures, games, or, as Mrs. Stripling so aptly put it "just junk."

Walls of ash combine delightfully with the bricks of the fireplace, and green draperies add a pleasing accent. Comfortable chairs are upholstered in fabric bearing tiny figures, which repeat the colors.

Carpet in a tawny rose shade, used in the remainder of the house, makes a lovely background for the walls of varying shades in the living and dining rooms and the bedrooms.

Draw drapes in bluish pink hang in the living and dining rooms where wide windows disclose a view of the lawn. Embroidered all over in a deeper pink, the side draperies are complemented with glass curtains of fortizan.

Shell pink walls are a good foil for the chairs and divan in green and rose, with a love seat upholstered in a figured tapestry of accent colors.

In the guest room, a walk-in closet rivals the closet in the hallway in regards to spaciousness and convenience. A colonial print forms a dust ruffle for the bed; it also makes the draperies and covers a rocker, with which the Striplings began their housekeeping.

A bath done in a combination of pink and wine does duty for the occupant of this room and for the junior Robert Stripling.

One wall in the boy's room is devoted to study space or shelves and cabinets for books, collections, records and a record player. A diamond print in green, blue, brown and beige is used at the windows, with the colors repeated in the spreads on the twin beds.

A master bedroom with more than "enough room to turn 'round in'" uses a blue decor for walls and draperies. The latter are fashioned of figured cotton satin with a blue and grayish brown design. A ruffled valance varies the window treatment from the cornices used in the other rooms. Here, too, is another walk-in closet.

'Spouse There's A Chestnut Tree?

POTTER, Neb. (AP)—Blacksmithing is a woman's business in this western Nebraska wheat country town.

Mrs. Doreen Harmsen, a 51-year-old grandmother, is busy at the anvil and hearth of one of the town's two shops.

The other is run by Mrs. Lola Nelson, though she leaves the shop work to others.

Mrs. Harmsen was pressed into service in her husband's shop when help was short during the war. When he died in 1952, she took over. She has a man to help her with the heaviest work.

They keep the smith busy in these parts. Mrs. Harmsen works six long days most of the year. "During the harvest season in late July and early August, the hours are from 7 to 7 and sometimes even longer, seven days a week," she says.

The shop averages sharpening 2,500 plow blades a year, turns out a few horseshoes, and repairs farm equipment.

Mrs. Harmsen is on the board of directors of the Nebraska Blacksmiths, Welders and Machinists' Assn.

Ready For Flight

Displaying the finished Piper Cub airplane model are Lt. and Mrs. Darrel Hirsch. Lt. Hirsch, a test pilot at Webb AFB, enjoys working with aircraft on off-duty hours. He recently completed this model that has a six-foot wing span and is radio controlled. It is not the first model that Lt. Hirsch has constructed, but is definitely the largest and the one he prizes most. The Hirschs think the clear blue skies of West Texas will be good proving grounds for the first flight of the Piper Cub. A bride of four months, Mrs. Hirsch calls Los Angeles, Calif., home while Lt. Hirsch is from Colorado Springs, Colo.

Darrel Hirschs Share Enthusiasm Of Flying

Being a test pilot of jet trainers and constructing model airplanes appears as a sharp contrast to many, but to 1st Lt. Darrel Hirsch they are both ways of expressing his love of aircraft.

Lt. Hirsch has been stationed at Webb AFB for nearly a year, but just four months ago, he journeyed to Los Angeles, Calif., to bring back a charming wife, Dew, which is short for Delores.

This is one couple that shares the joys of flying. Mrs. Hirsch always enjoys her Sunday afternoon flying lessons at Hamilton Field-natch, because her instructor happens to be Lt. Hirsch.

"Until I learned more about the operation of aircrafts, I use to be frightened at the thought of flying, too," Mrs. Hirsch remarked, "but since I've learned so much about the construction of a plane, I just love it!"

A large yellow Piper Cub airplane which Lt. Hirsch constructed is his pride and joy. The radio-controlled plane has a wing span of six feet and the body measures about three and a half feet long. The tedious work put in on the plane is well worth it, Lt. Hirsch thinks. The plane is covered in yellow silk.

Mrs. Hirsch calls Los Angeles her home. She attended UCLA and worked as a mathematical analyst in the rocket motor division of Hughes Aircraft Plant prior to her marriage in June. Any work dealing with mathematical calculations interests Mrs. Hirsch.

Prior to being assigned as test pilot here at Webb, Lt. Hirsch served as wing adjutant for several months.

Lt. Hirsch entered the Air-Force in September of 1954. His primary training was at Bartow, Fla. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado where he majored in aeronautical engineering. His home is Colorado Springs, Colo.

A most interesting hobby which Mrs. Hirsch enjoys is fencing. Someone once told her that a good fencer had long legs, and since she felt she qualified, Mrs. Hirsch said, that's how she started fencing.

Her instructor at the Salle in Los Angeles was Aldo Neri, an Italian. Mr. Neri was a three-sword champion in Italy. A three-sword champion, Mrs. Hirsch explained, is one who wins contests with the use of a foil, saber and epee, all used in different divisions.

Both the Hirschs also share an enthusiasm for sport cars. As a matter of fact they are the delight-ter qualities. Bridge for Mrs. Hirsch is another recreation. Lt. Hirsch likes to work with their handsome transcontinental radio. Although, Lt. Hirsch misses the beautiful countryside of his native Colorado, both the Hirschs are "liking their new home just fine." Mrs. Hirsch quickly replies that what she likes most about Texas is "no smog!" Darrel and Dew Hirsch make a home at 1508A Wood.

Good Chance Missed In Kitten Placement?

Halloween on our street was not so bad. We were credited with presenting SUSAN ZACK with a black kitten. As far as I know, we didn't, but it's only because the head of the house didn't think of the possibility of using kittens for treats soon enough. Come to think of it, we do have only one black kitten where there were two.

With all the holidays at such a stepped up pace, we barely get one over and we hustle into another. While I'm sure there is a very good reason for the merchants setting their Thanksgiving observance for Nov. 22, it is throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery as far as the school holiday is concerned. It's too bad with only one day a year set aside to be thankful, it couldn't be worked out where families could all be together.

Guests of MR. AND MRS. TROY RAY are his sister and her husband, MR. AND MRS. JAMES WEBB of Houston. The Webbs stopped here for the weekend after a deer-hunting trip around Douglass Pass in Colorado. They encountered heavy snow, which they found quite difficult to get through.

CLIFF HURT has been entertaining his sister and her husband, MR. AND MRS. M. R. SHELTON of Shreveport, La. They arrived Friday morning and have spent the weekend in Midland with other relatives. They plan to return here later for a more extended visit. Mrs. Hurt and Helen spent the weekend in Dallas.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. BAIRD spent Saturday in Lovington, N. M., with her sister, Mrs. B. A. Craumpton, and Mrs. Craumpton.

The outstanding programs offered at Lubbock this year have attracted many Big Spring people. The Victor Borge appearance was seen by MR. AND MRS. DOUG ORME. Orme also attended the Tech Board meeting and the football game. They returned last night.

MRS. AUDREY JOHNSON had as her guest over the weekend Mrs.

O. E. Headland of Fort Worth.

MRS. PETE TALLEY and MRS. CARLOS CLOVER were here from Odessa Friday visiting friends and relatives. Mrs. Clover who is the former Anita Musgrove, was with her sister, MRS. LESTER WISE, whom I had not met before. And I thought I knew all of her family!

This is a big weekend for MRS. JEFFIE GARRETT. She has joined her seven sisters for a get-together at Robert Lee and in San Angelo. In Robert Lee the women and their husbands will be in the homes of Mrs. F. C. Clark and Mrs. Allie Bilbo.

MR. AND MRS. R. E. MCKINNEY saw the SMU game in Austin Saturday afternoon and then went to see the Aggie game at College Station in the evening.

MRS. ROBERT S. WHEELER (Jan Masters) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Masters left by plane Friday for Panama, where she will join her husband. He is stationed with the army at Fort Amador in the Canal Zone. They are to live in Panama City.

Wheeler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Wheeler of Stanton and is in the personnel section of headquarters of the United States Army in the Caribbean. They will be in Panama for at least 18 months.

GUY T. KNOWLES, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Knowles, has a right to be proud of the response of Mercedes people to his MHS band supper. Guy, in his first year as director of the high school band, was able to report that the supper raised $2,900 toward new band uniforms! He was an outstanding member of the Big Spring High School band before his graduation in 1951. He went two years to Texas Tech and then completed his degree and Masters of Arts work at North Texas State College. Last year he instructed at San Benito and this year has his own band at Mercedes.

LT. HOWARD NUCKELS won't have to worry about a white Christmas! He's stationed in Thule, Greenland, and the days are almost four hours long. He has been in the cold, cold, country since Sept. 23. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nuckels.

More Room

If you're planning to build a utility closet or cabinet to hold household cleaning equipment, consider peg-board. Walls constructed of it have a maze of little holes to hold many things in limited space.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

Taking her place as senior-of-the-week this week is Lou Ann White. Serving as cheerleader for the third year, Lou Ann is also holding the offices of vice president of both the Feta Tri Hi Y Club and the Spanish Club. She has previously served as Spanish Club treasurer, Tri Hi Y treasurer, and Tri Hi Y historian. Lou Ann was also a member of the FHA Club during her sophomore year.

An active member of the student council, Lou Ann attended the TASC convention in Midland last year. She has served as sophomore, junior and senior representative on the student council.

The 1956 Halloween Carnival Tuesday night was a huge success. It is sponsored by the student council annually.

Kathleen Thomas, sophomore, was crowned Halloween Queen by Ronnie King, student body president, at the sock hop following. Kathleen was escorted by Bobby McAdams. Sue Barnes, escorted by Ricky Terry, and Sammie Sue McComb, escorted by Bobby Lauderdale, were the other nominees for the honor.

Getting away from the regular routine of book and tests, the students in Coach John Yates Texas history and American history classes made semester projects typical of the period in history that they are studying. The projects are on display in the classroom.

A group in BSBS last Thursday night have thought that he was in Chicago or San Francisco last August at the national political conventions. The government classes, held both Democratic and Republican conventions, complete with speeches, posters, and colorful and noisy demonstrations.

Halloween is not all mischief. A large group of BSBS students went "trick or treating" Wednesday night. Their objective was not to get food but money to buy food for needy children abroad. This was in connection with the Christian Rural Overseas Program, sponsored by our local churches. The group met at the First Christian Church to begin the worthwhile task and met there later for refreshments.

The Senior Tri Hi Y and Hi Y clubs enjoyed a program "Christian Standards of Love and Marriage" at their regular meeting Monday night. It was given by the Rev. Richard Deats, associate pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Be sure your name has been checked off the list in the foyer before the deadline. It is a list of all BSBS students, and names are checked off as each student buys his annual. You may purchase your El Rodeo from any of the staff members for $5.

The cast of "Dear Ruth" by Norman Krasna, was announced Monday morning by Mack Godwin, director. It includes Frisby Ford as Dora; Danne Green as Mrs. Edith Wilkins; Kiola Grant as Miriam Wilkins; Tommy Pickle as Judge Harry Wilkins; Carol Rogers as Ruth Wilkins; Dennis Jones as Lt. Bill Seawright; Bobby MacMillan as Albert Kummer; Valjean LaCroix and Linda Nichols as Martha Seawright, and Doyle Phillips and Julius Glickman as Sgt. Chuck Vincent. Nita Jones is serving as student director.

Rehearsals began Monday night and will continue until the play is presented, Dec. 6 and 7. Several new members of the

LOU ANN WHITE

Majors Club were initiated Thursday afternoon. The group decided to accept new members. The girls also discussed "The Sportsman" contest for which three boys were nominated. They are Jesse McElreath, Michael Musgrove, and Herschel Stocks. The next meeting will be a Christmas party at Carl Self's home Dec. 17.

The Club is planning a trip to Odessa Nov. 10 to attend the Ice Capades. They will be accompanied by the WRA's from the junior college.

The Drama Workshop will meet in the auditorium Tuesday afternoon. All members are urged to attend. Two of the BSBS students attending college football games this weekend were Nita Jones and Virginia Johnson. These girls went to Lubbock to see the Texas Tech Homecoming game with Oklahoma A&M.

Opal Hancock presided over the District FHA meeting Oct. 27 in Sweetwater. Some of those attending the meeting were Pat Smelser and Pudgie Gray, voting delegates; Beverly Vaughn, Sue Arrick, Eleanor Price, Patsy Hancock, Arline Griffith, Rosalie Ebersole, and Betty Joe Fincher. The girls were accompanied by their sponsors, Mrs. Nancy Annen and Miss Edna McGregor.

A skit, "What Did They Say," was presented in the pep rally Friday afternoon in preparation for the Odessa-Big Spring game. Pep talks were given by Herschel Stocks and Ricky Terry.

All BSBS students were invited to a dance held in the Odessa High School Gymnasium after the game Friday night. Some of those accepting the invitation were Jo Ann Ebling, Bobby Fuller; Janet Hogan, Phil Gore; Lou Ann White, Judy Reagan, Riss Roberts, Sue Boykin, Gerald Lackey, Sandy Hale, and Donald Hewitt.

Iotta Kappa Chapter

LAMESA - The Iotta Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Tom Wade. Mrs. Lindell Sharp presented the program on "Personality." Following a short business meeting and exchange of gifts between secret pals, refreshments were served to ten members.

Making Of Copper Jewelry Shown For Vealmoor HD Club

A demonstration on making copper enameled jewelry was given for the Vealmoor Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon. The group met in the home of Mrs. Ellis Iden with Mrs. C. R. Porter as instructor.

Mrs. Dwane Williams gave a report on the HD council meeting which was held Friday morning in the extension office in Big Spring. The hostess brought the devotion; members answered roll call with a good driving hint.

Mrs. J. S. Jackson will be hostess for the meeting on Nov. 16 at 2:30 p.m.

Head Start

Children's heads are getting bigger says a Texas designer of headwear who has been making children's hats for the past 15 years. He bases his averages on 10,000 hats sold since 1941 and attributes the increase in head and hat size to the fact that boys and girls are healthier, taller and bigger.

Susan Heideman Is Feted On Birthday

FORSAN - A party on her eighth birthday honored Susan Heideman recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heideman. Favors were balloons and candy. Assisting in entertaining was Mrs. Ossie Shreve of Big Spring.

A large group from Forsan attended the lectureship in Sterling City recently. O. W. Fletcher led the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowley were recent visitors in Lamesa. His father, W. A. Cowley, who has been their guest, returned to his home in Lamesa.

Mrs. Bob Cowley and Brenda have been in Vealmoor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Monroey.

Mrs. Jewell White and George and Mary Ann Fairchild were in Brownwood recently to visit Arlen White, student in Howard Payne College.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Five officers and members of the HCJC student council, Billy McVain, Neldon Milstead, Laverne Cooper, Max McCulloch, and David Dibrell, accompanied by Marlene Mann and sponsor, Mr. Ray Broussard, attended a conference of West Texas State Junior College Association this weekend. Leaving Friday noon for Borger and the Frank Phillips College located there, the group convened with student council delegates from the colleges of Odessa, San Angelo, Amarillo, and Frank Phillips.

The purpose was to ratify a regional junior college constitution for West Texas. After a day filled with voting and time spent gaining information in discussion groups, the group returned to Big Spring equipped with more and better ideas about the running of a student council.

Dancing under billowing orange and black cutouts of pumpkins, witches and masks, around 30 masked college students celebrated Halloween Tuesday evening in the SUB.

The suspended construction cutouts patterned the moods of Laverne Cooper and Max McCulloch; Frank Dunlap and Carolyn Dietz; Pat and Mike Powell; Shirley Ward and Johnny Berry; Wilella Hanks and Billy McVain; Buddy Mayes and Freda Donica; Julie Rainwater, Mary Lou Staggs, Lady Frances Jones, Richard Hood, Freddy Stuart, and Tommy Black.

A highlight of the evening was a contest in which Mr. Fred Short, Mr. George McAllister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and Dr. Marvin Baker selected Marlene Mann and David Dibrell as having the most unusual masks. The winners were awarded two books of movie passes.

Know anyone who happens to have a woman's costume styled along lines accepted in the roaring '20's? In order to give an even more realistic portrayal to George M. Cohan's farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," Director Fred E. Short has decided to costume the cast in garb worn about that era. In case you do have this type of woman's apparel, and wouldn't mind the cast using it, please contact Mr. Short at the college.

Incidentally, some changes have been made in the cast. Myra Thornhill will be played by Ann Porterfield and Hayden will be portrayed by Bill McVain. Charlie McCarty has taken the role of the owner of Baldpate. Production dates are Nov. 21, 22 and 23 in the HCJC auditorium.

Gerry Feaster and Rayma Sweet, another couple fulfilling the old assertion that many people meet their mates in college, will become Mr. and Mrs. on Dec. 17. The wedding will take place at Gerry's home in Beauford.

Two General Motors films, "Lest We Forget" and "American Crossroads," were presented in the auditorium during activity period, Thursday.

Meanwhile in the small auditorium of Coston, lectured to students on the topic, "The Importance of Continuing Your College Education."

Bettie Anderson was the guest of Bobby Blum at A&M this weekend, when she attended both the A&M-Arkansas game and a formal dance before returning to Big Spring Sunday.

The art of trickin' and treatin' isn't entirely practiced by younger brothers and sisters. This was proved by a number of Jayhawkers who turned out for the event Wednesday night. Mixing and mingling with the other ghosts and goblins were Julie Rainwater, Mary Lou Staggs, Ann Green, Billy McVain, Billie Ruth Freeman, Jo Ann Watkins, Frank Dunlap, Richard Hood, Johnny Watkins, Laverne Cooper, Max McCulloch, Marlene Mann, David Dibrell and Richard Engle.

Tryouts for the girls' vocal group were held Tuesday afternoon in the Music Building under the direction of Orland Johnson. After an audition for all voices, Mr. Johnson selected Frances Booker to sing first soprano, Lovelle Fletcher and Wilda Carruth, second sopranos, and Georgia Bratton and Mary Ann Fairchild to sing alto.

Members of the boys' quartet, selected at an earlier date, are Don Lovelace, first tenor; Carl Morris, second tenor; Hubert Murphey, baritone, and Ray Weathers, bass.

The first music presentation by the college choir will be Nov. 18. A televised program composed of numbers to be announced at a later date will be given.

Last weekend, Julie Rainwater and Lavelle Wasson were on hand in Waco for the Baylor-A&M football game. Although they were guests of Joyce Horne and Frances Reagan, they were Aggie fans during the game, having met several Big Spring Aggies there.

Retirement Party Given At Forsan

FORSAN — S. J. Huestis was honored recently at a retirement party given by employees of Phillips Petroleum Company. A gift was presented to Huestis, who has worked for the company for 25 years. The affair, attended by company employees and their families from the area, was held at the Forsan Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moore and children of Midland were visitors here recently.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peacock have been the children, Mr. and Mrs. Darnell Peacock and children of Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Draper and Verna are in Midland today.

Vacationing in West Texas spots are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Day and Denny.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gressett have been her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McCaslin of Borger.

Paprika For Color

Paprika, added to the seasoned flour in which chicken pieces are rolled before frying, helps give attractive brown color.

Golf Association To Buy Serving Pieces

Members of the Ladies Golf Association of the Big Spring Country Club will buy copper serving dishes for the club. This was decided at a luncheon meeting of the group Friday in the clubhouse.

Mrs. Elmo Wasson was asked to serve with the house committee in arranging for the purchase of the articles.

Mrs. Fred Lurting, president, announced that Mrs. Roy Townsend will be chairman of the Christmas decoration committee. The president also announced the party, scheduled Dec. 8 for the children of club members.

A Scotch foursome is slated for this afternoon; members were told, with dinner to be served at 7 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Lurting appointed Mrs. Marvin Saunders as chairman of the nominating committee, with other members, Mrs. T. L. South, Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, Mrs. Gus Barr and Mrs. Kent Morgan.

Hostesses Mrs. John Turner, Mrs. Sunny Edwards, Mrs. Ed Swift and Mrs. Lurting, centered foursome tables with red pyracantha sprigs. A brown linen cloth covered the buffet table, which held an arrangement of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. W. E. Ramsey.

About 35 attended, with two guests, Mrs. Lowell Baird and Mrs. Vance Leuthold.

Boy Wanted

A recent survey showed that boys are preferred as the first child. Of 84 per cent of women less than 45 who had children, 28 per cent interviewed said they wanted their first child to be a boy, 20 per cent wanted a girl, 52 per cent said it did not make any difference.

Blanket Washing

It's a good idea after washing a blanket in soap or detergent suds to hang it to dry over parallel lines set two to three feet apart.

San Marcos Visitors

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean, 1514 Vines, are his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dean of San Marcos. The two couples attended Homecoming activities of Texas Tech in Lubbock Saturday.

Floor Plan

When shopping for new furniture it's a good idea to take along a pencil sketch of room dimensions, windows, wall area, stairs, doors, etc. that break up the room. That way you may be able to fit the pieces in more easily.

Storing Fruit Cake

Fruit cakes, made far ahead of the holidays, may be brushed with apple cider from time to time.

Peppermint Treat

Melt chocolate-covered peppermints over a double boiler—wonderful flavors over vanilla ice cream.

Tangy Flavor

Add a bouillon cube to water in which you're boiling rice — for tangy flavor.

Decorate Pies

Dessert treat for children: use red cinnamon candies or tiny chocolate pieces to make a face on a baked apple.

NOVEMBER 8 IS PENNY DAY!

1 CENT

America's food chains are... "FEEDING MILLIONS FOR A PENNY"

The average food chain store profit is just one cent on the sales dollar. After paying for merchandise, salaries, taxes, rent, utilities, equipment, etc., one penny is left over for the stockholders who provide the capital to make the service possible. Constant vigilance over costs permits the food chains industry to make its contributions to the strength of a great America—"Feeding Millions for a Penny".

Here's Dish To Try On The Crowd

NEW YORK—Let's have another cup of coffee, and let's have another Pizza Pie!

That's the song they'll sing at your next record party when you serve up a sizzling platter of pizza pie you made yourself, says the November issue of Seventeen Magazine, which suggests this authentic Italian-style recipe for "Hi-Fi Pizza Pie."

HI-FI PIZZA PIE
 Measure into bowl:
 2 cups warm (not hot) water
 Sprinkle or crumble in:
 2 packages or cakes of yeast, active, dry or compressed.
 Stir until dissolved. Stir in:
 2 teaspoons sugar
 2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 cup olive oil

Add:
 4 cups sifted flour
 Beat until smooth. Stir in three more cups sifted flour. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in large greased bowl; turn dough so it is lightly greased all over. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk (about 45 minutes).

Mix together:
 1 1/3 cups (2 cans, 6 oz. each) tomato paste
 1 cup water
 2 teaspoons salt
 2 teaspoons crushed oregano
 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Have ready:
 1 pound Mozzarella cheese, sliced 1/4 inch thick
 1/2 cup olive oil
 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

When dough has risen, punch down and turn out on board. Divide into quarters. Form each into ball, placing on greased baking sheets or 12-inch pizza pans. Press and gently pull with fingers into circles 12 inches in diameter and very thin, with edges one-quarter-inch thick. On each circle of dough arrange one-fourth of tomato mixture, two tablespoons of olive oil and grated cheese. (Or spread dough with tomato sauce first, then top with other ingredients.) Bake at 400 degree F. (hot oven) 25 minutes. Makes four.

Engagement Announced

Bill Bennett is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of his sister, Patsy, to James Baird. The wedding will take place Nov. 24 at the Eleventh Place and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. Miss Bennett is a graduate of Coahoma High School and is now employed by the local Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The prospective bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Baird of Iran, is an employee of Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

COSDEN CHATTER

Y. S. Chen Of Formosa Is Visitor At Cosden

Y. S. Chen, chemical engineer with the Chinese (Nationalist) Petroleum Corporation of Kaoshiung, Formosa, visited the refinery Monday and Tuesday. He is connected with his company's general offices located in Taipei. He was returning a visit paid by R. L. Tollett to the Kaoshiung refinery during their tenth anniversary celebration last May 30.

Johnny Hill spent the weekend in Granbury. He will be accompanied back to Big Spring by his wife and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Baten McChristian of San Diego visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Harvell during the week.

Sympathy is expressed to R. B. Covington on the death of his mother, Mrs. Carl Johnson of Carrizo Springs.

Hollis Grifford returned Thursday from Marionette, Wis., where he attended a special experimental fire school at Ansil chemical plant.

The following visitors were reported in the engineering department during the week:

Bill Spers of Vinson Supply Company, Odessa; John L. Reynolds of Industrial Instrument Corp., Odessa; Francis M. Stimmel of American Pampor, Inc., Dallas; T. H. Reynolds of Graybar Electric Company, Midland; F. D. Krusemark of Bailey Meter Company, Dallas; E. R. Sullivan of General Electric Supplies, Abilene; C. W. Reinecke of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Fort Worth; A. D. Payne of The Tennant Company, Houston; Rod Balendonck of Bridgeport Brass Company, Dallas; Lewis C. Streater of Crouse-Hinds Company, Dallas; Lloyd Bell, Jr. of Taylor Instrument Company, Amarillo.

A. F. Nugent, Bill Gibson, Jake Johnson and E. B. McCormick spent Thursday in Abilene on company business.

Richard Ford of McGraw-Hill Company visited the refinery Tuesday.

John Dingman of Jefferson Chemical Company, Houston, visited the refinery Wednesday.

Mrs. Mignonne Thomas is a new employee in the customer accounting department.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hester spent the weekend in Fort Worth visiting Mrs. Hester's mother.

A surprise birthday party was given Joe Gregory and Mrs. Harmon Smith at Eugene Deaver's residence Saturday night.

Mrs. S. Gorman and Carolyn Ingram visited in Brady over the weekend.

The following refinery employees are on vacation:

R. M. White, F. H. Smart, T. H. Greenfield, R. E. Ray, G. N. Marchant, P. Gressett, B. J. Campbell, J. R. Bennett, W. C. Stovall, R. G. Weaver, Kenneth Howell, C.

Fourteen Lamesans Take Examinations

LAMESA — Merit scholarship examinations were given to 14 seniors at Lamesa High School this week. The National Merit Scholarship is sponsored by a number of large corporations with scholarships ranging from $100 to $2,000. Semi-finalists will be given aptitude tests prepared by college entrance examinations board in January.

Taking the tests this week were David Phillips, Bob Hankins, Sandra Esmond, Janice Shepherd, Letha Swope, John Middleton, Roy Ed Hatch, Richard Evans, James Barr, John Lee Bryant, Linda Warren, Doyle Goolsby, Kenneth Hubbard, and Don Graves.

Mrs. Angel Slates' Two Book Reviews

Mrs. Clyde Angel will go to Sweetwater Thursday where she will be guest reviewer for the Thursday Review Club. She plans to review "Merry Christmas, Mr. Baxter" by Edward Streeter.

She will be honored at a luncheon by Mrs. Ray Boethe in Sweetwater.

On Nov. 14, Mrs. Angel will review for a brunch at the Midland Woman's Club. She has not announced the title of the book chosen for this event. Mrs. Olie Brislow will accompany her to Midland.

Scars On New Office Will 'Hurt For A Little While'

By ANNE LEFEVER

Remember when the first scuffed place on your new shoes nearly broke your heart? Or later, when you found the first scratch on your brand new car.

Wasn't it nice when you got accustomed to the feel of the shoes or to the sight of the car? Then you could feel comfortable in one and not stand in awe of the other.

We at the Herald can sympathize with you! A new office building was enough to delight our hearts, but we have cabinets, desks, tables, chairs — everything fresh and new.

But alas and alack! Yesterday, we came to earth with a thud! We discovered that someone had carelessly made a small hole in the ceiling as the result of a job of what might have been a ladder.

Circles have resulted on the cabinets and tables from some of the pol-plants and flower arrangements placed there during open house. Those sent several of us scurrying around with spot remover, soap and oil in an attempt to remove the disfigurements.

Probably harder to get accustomed to than anything is the phone system. "In the old days," a person answered the telephone and could shout from her desk to the one who was wanted on the phone.

Now, the phone is answered at a central spot. Upholding the "dignity" of the surroundings, there is no shouting — for one thing, the desks are too far apart! (We have so much more work space than we did that we almost rattle around!)

The new-fangled phones are most confusing, too. Instead of simply saying, "Will you take line one, please," to a fellow worker, there's a "hold" button to be pushed, and "inter-com" button that needs the same attention and an outside button that comes in somewhere in the shuffle.

The sequence in which the buttons are worked decides whether or not the person at the other end is cut off, which has happened more than once in the women's department.

And as for finding different sections of the staff, that is a matter that is still a matter of secrecy in some instances. Just give us a little time, though, and we'll relax in this building as one does in old shoes. Ah, for that comfortable day!

Shoulder Pads

It's best to wash foam rubber shoulder pads in thick soap or detergent suds. Rinse and press out excess moisture. Let them dry before sewing them back into place.

Value Of Bargain Grows With Years

Would you like to get $85 worth of annuals, biennials and perennials for about $15 next spring—and for less than $5 in the springs after that? It's not difficult at all — it's even fun.

Just build yourself a coldframe in which you can start plants from seeds very early in the season. The coldframe will cost you about $10 if you follow the plans in the current issue of Popular Gardening Magazine. In it, Margaret Hoare gives precise directions for building what she calls "The Solid Gold Coldframe."

Such experts as Paul F. Freese, Hazel Ward Adcock and Dorothy Holland tell you how to raise a profusion of annuals (petunias, asters, zinnias, marigolds,); biennials (Canterbury bells, sweet william, wallflowers, cupid's dart), and perennials (delphinium, foxgloves, dianthus and the scabiosas.)

american designer pattern

by Anne Klein
JUNIOR SOPHISTICATES

BORROWED FASHION

Adaptation Of Oriental Style Suitable For All

Anne Klein of Junior Sophisticates borrows a page from the Orient and turns out a wonderfully Americanized version of the costume of the East. With a semi-fitted waistline, it is simplicity itself.

It is a style that takes its purpose from your choice of fabric, thus in rich brocade or printed satin, it is ideal for parties; in wool with a novelty knit to band the sleeves and set in the neckline, it's a working-woman's dress whether at home or office; in cotton, linen, pique, it will travel to sunny places.

Accurately sized in Designer's proportions, an exclusive feature of these patterns, it is easy to make and marvelous to wear.

From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size 9 bust 33½, waist 23½, hips 34½, length from nape of neck to waist 16 inches; size 11 bust 34½, waist 24½, hips 35½, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 13 bust 36, waist 26, hips 37, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 15 bust 37½, waist 27½, hips 38½, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 17 bust 39, waist 29, hips 40, length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches.

Size 13 requires 2 yards of 54-inch material for dress. To order Pattern No. 1286, state size, enclose $1.00.

Address American Designer Patterns, Box 535, G. P. O. Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. Classic Pattern Booklet No. 12 and all New Pattern Booklet 13-X available for 50 cents each. If paid by check add 4 cents.

Paraffin Trick

Are you constantly wearing out your stockings at the heel? Then rubbing paraffin on the top insides of your shoes may help.

Ladies' Lunch

For that ladies' lunch: chicken salad with cashew nuts added along with the regular ingredients. Serve shortly after the nuts have been mixed in or they are likely to get soggy.

Lard Tip

Lard has a greater shortening ability than most fats. Remember this when you are following a pastry recipe calling for some other kind of fat.

Tasty Pear Dish

Broil fresh pear halves with a little butter and sugar; put a bit of mint jelly in each pear cavity and serve with lamb chops or roast lamb.

BIG SPRING HERALD

Sec. D Big Spring, Texas, Sunday, Nov. 4, 1956 Sec. D

Vote Number Anyone's Guess

How many Howard County voters will ballot on Tuesday? That's the $64 question. Most observers who have watched many elections in this county are reluctant to make a guess. The fact that the nation is electing a president makes it highly probable the total vote could be reasonably high. However, voters are a canny lot in this part of the country—they go their way quietly and silently until election day; then they either vote in droves or they stay away in droves. Consider the 1952 general election when President Eisenhower was elected. That year, Howard County voters turned out en masse. A total of 8,212 votes were polled. The absentee ballots in that election totaled 827.

Whether absentee voting is a straw in the wind in guessing at a total vote is a debatable issue. A great many factors can enter into the employment of this method of voting. Howard County electors have long been prone, observers say, to vote heavily by absentee ballot but it does not always follow, they observe, that because a sizable absentee ballot list is compiled that the total election vote will be unusually large.

Far less absentee ballots have been cast this fall than was the case in 1952. It is a highly speculative position to assume, from this factor, that the total vote on Tuesday will be proportionately smaller than it was four years ago.

An ordinary general election in which the presidential office is not at stake can find the Howard County voters extremely apathetic.

Consider the general election of two years ago. Only about 2,000 voters bothered to express their wishes at that balloting. The most votes any candidate was able to muster was 2,026. The polls were dull and inactive places throughout that Tuesday—a far cry indeed from the hurly burly of two years prior to 1954.

The county officials have anticipated all possibilities for next Tuesday. They have had 12,000 ballots printed and placed these in the boxes for the convenience of the voters. No one believes that any such total vote will be polled but it is the desire of those in charge that any contingency be met.

Meantime, the only way to know how many votes Howard County will turn out on Nov. 6 is to wait until Nov. 7.

The answer will be available then.

Water Use Up 50 Pct.

Big Spring used over 50 million more gallons of water last month than in the comparable period of 1955.

Water figures released by the city showed that 156,016,600 gallons were consumed by city users, and Cabot and Cosden plants. The city alone consumed 116,757,000 gallons.

The city's estimate of usage for October when setting up the budget last March was 120,000,000 gallons.

Maximum consumption for a 24-hour period during the month was 6,219,000 gallons used Oct. 8. The low for the month was Oct. 21, when only 2,031,000 gallons went through meters.

'Open House' Is Being Planned At New Fire Station

The city has tentatively set Nov. 11 as date for open house at the new fire station at N. Main and Eighth.

The building has not been turned over to the city yet, but all the contractor, G. A. Jones of Lamesa, is waiting on are metal doors for the apparatus room and between that room and the dormitory.

Although the work will not be completed by Nov. 11, the city plans to stabilize N. Main southward and Eighth west to paved streets to give the fire trucks all-weather outlets.

Eight men will be employed at the station—four on each 24-hour shift.

Tiny Ballot Printed For Amendment Vote Nov. 13

Thursday or Friday of next week, with the general election of Nov. 6 just out of the way, the deputies in the office of the county clerk will begin preparing the 16 ballot boxes of Howard County for another election.

This election will be on Tuesday, Nov. 13—just one week to a day after the big day itself—and the voters of the county will be asked to go back to the polls again.

This time they will express their views on one question only. The issue at stake is the approval or disapproval of a Ninth Amendment to the state Constitution. This is a proposal which would widen the base of the State Department of Public Welfare laws to permit payment of benefits to Texans who become permanently disabled due to illness or accident. It is a companion amendment to the eight on which the voters will decide Nov. 6.

Eight thousand ballots for this election have been printed and are in the hands of the county clerk. This ballot, unlike its predecessor to be used next Tuesday, is a tiny flyleaf, smaller than a handbill. A simple "for" or "against" vote is all that is required of the elector.

It had been the intent of the Legislature to include this Ninth Amendment with its fellows on the ballot for the general election Tuesday. An error resulted in the law reading "to be voted on the second Tuesday in November." It was too late to do anything about it when the mistake was discovered and the second election had to be scheduled.

It has been estimated that the cost to Howard County caused by this special election will run close to $700. The same expense will be assessed against each of the 254 counties in Texas—the amounts, of course, varying in the several counties.

It was regarded as very doubtful if any representative turnout of voters will ballot on Nov. 13 on this one lone question. Coming, as it does, just one week after the big election, the second event promises to be rather anti-climatic. It is also notorious that elections where amendments or other state questions alone are at stake seldom draw heavy vote turnouts.

Turkeys May Be Glut On Thanksgiving Dinner Market

By JESS BLAIR

Families can serve turkey and dressing this Thanksgiving without seriously disrupting the grocery budget, according to Lee Burkelow, Big Spring produce dealer. The big birds will be so cheap the wife can throw away the leftovers and not feel compelled to make croquettes, hash and turkey bone soup the days following the big meal.

At this time last year large toms were selling for 26 to 28 cents per pound on foot, but right now they are down to 22 to 23 cents. Hens are likewise much cheaper, dropping from two to four cents below last fall's market.

One reason for the lower prices, says Burkelow, is the bumper crop raised downstate. All the older turkey raising sections put out record flocks, while many new areas turned to turkey raising.

The drought had something to do with it in West and Central Texas. As grass disappeared and ranchers sold off cattle and sheep, they had to turn to something to make a living. Many of them already had the range and shade, so they went into the turkey business. This tipped the production scales just enough to glut the holiday market and give housewives a break in a rising food market, the produce man said.

Burkelow doesn't know what the price will be by Thanksgiving, but doesn't expect much change. Several large producers have been in the Big Spring area trying to line up holiday markets. "There will be plenty of turkeys for everyone who wants them," said Burkelow. "I imagine if you went down there hunting turkeys, they would cover you up with birds."

Texas raises two main kinds of turkeys — the large bronze-breasted ones that often weigh over 30 pounds, and the smaller white turkeys. Ordinarily the small turkeys sell better for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, since they can be eaten in one or two meals.

Drill Tower Plans Nearly Completed

Plans and specifications for the proposed fire drill tower are practically completed, but the city currently is waiting until a site can be secured before proceeding. Puckett and French, architects, are working on the plans, and they reported final drawing practically finished. However bids cannot be called for until the city obtains a spot for the tower.

City commissioners plan to build it on the property north of Tenth Street and east of Birdwell Park, but until a layout can be firm with YMCA officials—who plan to use a tract in the area—no further work can be accomplished. The problem will probably be discussed at the next meeting of the commissioners on Nov. 13.

The large bronze-breasted birds are more popular with cafe and hotel owners because they are usually a little cheaper per pound. But whatever kind you prefer, there will be more than enough to go around. In fact, there may be thousands left over. That is why turkey growers are willing to sell for such low prices.

131 Tickets Are Issued In October

During the month of October, city policemen issued 131 traffic tickets.

The total included speeding, wrong turns, running red lights, and other types of car violations. Many of the speeding tickets were given by patrolmen who used the city's radar unit.

Anti-Nehru Leader Seeks Party Alliance

NEW DELHI India, Nov. 3 (AP)—An Indian political leader vowed this week to try to mobilize all opposition parties with the sole aim of defeating Prime Minister Nehru in next March's national elections. The leader, V. G. Deshpande of the ultra-orthodox Hindu Mahasabha party, conceded it won't be an easy job.

QUALITY THE PRESCRIPTION PHARMACY SERVICE

IT NEVER WAS NECESSARY TO "Enjoy" POOR HEALTH...

Many people seem to "enjoy" poor health. They would not care to be without a cupboardful of odd medicines for self-treatment—some of which may not be in keeping with competent medical advice.

The better way is to enjoy good health—by careful planning. Consult your Doctor at regular intervals, more often if required. He will prescribe only the preparations that you need—preparations of the highest quality, such as those from the laboratories of Parke, Davis & Company—prescriptions which we will be pleased to compound for you. The necessity for medication will pass, and life with abundant health can become a pleasure indeed.

Only One Local Race On Tuesday Ballot

History in Howard County has seen few, if any, elections at this season of the year, where there was any fanfare or excitement over county offices. Generally, the outcome of the second Democratic primary has settled to all practical purposes the county's choice of the men and women who were to serve in any of the county offices up for election.

This election is an exception. On Nov. 6, voters of Howard County will have one contest on a county level to determine.

Decision of the voters on next Tuesday will decide which of the four candidates is to serve as clerk of the district court for the next two years. The candidates, incidentally, are all avowed Democrats; yet, on the ballot they are listed in the column allotted to independent office seekers.

Method being followed to fill this particular office in Howard County combines in the general election the ordinary result of primary and runoff primary with the final selection itself.

NEW EXPERIENCE
It is a new experiment in county political operation and was injected into the picture by a series of circumstances which are not likely to repeat themselves ever again.

Two years ago, George Choate was re-elected as clerk of the district court for the 118th Judicial District. He was to have served a four-year term. His health began to fail sharply and he died a little over a month ago. This created a vacancy in the official county family.

The law was clear on what should be done to deal with the immediate situation — the selection of a clerk pro tem to serve the court. The district judge, the law said, was empowered to appoint a clerk on a temporary basis to serve in the office.

Judge Charlie Sullivan selected Wade Choate, nephew of the late court clerk, appointing him to be district clerk until the Nov. 6 election. Choate immediately set about to have himself named as the Democratic party choice for the two years remaining of his uncle's term. A number of other candidates also appeared and the group of contenders were all heard by the County Democratic Committee. The committee voted to have Choate designated as the official party candidate.

Then it was discovered that such a procedure was not properly authorized by any existing law. Indeed, there is no law on the Texas books dealing with this sort of situation. The attorney general was consulted and ruled (1) the county committee was without authority to make such a designation and (2) the proper method was for any person who wished to be a candidate for the post to circulate petitions and when these petitions had been signed by the proper number of voters, present them to the county court.

INDEPENDENTS
Such candidates as qualified under this method would be placed on the Nov. 6 ballot as seekers after the office at stake. But, the attorney general ruled, such candidates would not be political party choices and, hence, in order to conform to the law, must be listed as independents.

Choate, Denver Dunn, former deputy sheriff; J. R. Horton, newspaper employee; and R. C. Thomas, widely known Howard County resident, all circulated petitions and filed them ahead of the deadline set by the attorney general's ruling.

Hence, when voters go to the polls on Nov. 6, they will find the four men listed under the "independent" column.

Voters will vote for the man of their choice from the four. The candidate who receives the greatest number of votes in the Nov. 6 voting will be elected as district court clerk to serve out the two unexpired years of George Choate's term.

All of the candidates have been waging a vigorous campaign since the situation precipitated them into the political arena.

Meantime, Wade Choate, serving under his temporary appointment, continues in office. In the event he is elected on Nov. 6 he will continue his duties as clerk uninterrupted. In the event that one of his opponents is elected, it is presumed that such elected clerk will immediately take over the duties of the office and Choate will immediately be removed.

All other county offices are filled insofar as contests are concerned. There is no Republican or independent opposition to the Democratic nominees for state representative, district attorney, county, attorney, tax assessor-collector, sheriff, county commissioner for Precincts 1 and 3; or for the justice of peace Precinct 1; or the constables for Precincts 1 and 2.

Officially, all of these were selected at the runoff primary in July. Their names appear on the ballots, naturally, but there is no competition. They are to all intents and purposes already "elected."

Only the district court clerk race offers any element of competition politically on a county level next Tuesday.

Inform Yourself—And Vote

In Texas there is a misconception that the election comes off in July (and the runoff in August). For many years the summer primaries, which have been by the Democratic party, have been equivalent to election. The Republicans have never gotten around to a primary, which has heightened the illusion of the Democratic primary being the election.

Although the primary's nominees are generally as good as elected in Texas, this is not an infallible rule, as witness the presidential results four years ago. Observers are rating the results of the current general election a nip-and-tuck affair on the presidential level.

This emphasizes that the general election on Tuesday is in truth and in fact THE election. No one is officially voted into office unless and until they have won this election (except for special elections, of course).

Hence, your vote is extremely important. Over and over we are witnessing examples of how important a single vote can be. We have to look no further back than last summer's Democratic primary runoff to know that a mere handful of voters staying away or going to the polls or changing their position would have altered or increased the results.

So let no one stay home because they feel their vote is not important. And let no one stay home because they have no preference or because they may be piqued at the general tenor of a campaign, or because they feel an indifference to politics. The strength of a Democracy depends first of all upon the exercise of franchise by the people, and secondly similarly upon the wise exercise of this precious right.

Tuesday brings the opportunity also of passing upon eight proposed amendments to the Texas constitution. While these may come as a surprise to numerous voters on Tuesday, we hope that those who read editorials will also take time today to turn to the section which contains a sample ballot and which contains a summary of the proposed amendments. By reading they can be advised of their content and perhaps have reached a conclusion before going to the ballot box.

We make no attempt to tell anyone how to vote, but there are at least two or three of the amendments which seem to us to possess special merit. One is Amendment No. 4, which will liberalize the teacher retirement system, and we favor it. Amendment No. 7 would permit patients or relatives to waive jury trial for those who might be committed to the state hospital for mentally ill. We think anyone who has witnessed the spectacle of the present arrangement, as required by Texas law, would be in favor of changing this archaic system. And while there is considerable debate, we believe that No. 3, which would give greater latitude for investment of University funds, would be to the public's advantage. Would be to the state's advantage, we believe that in the long run it would return the state more money from the University funds and hence provide millions more for higher education without necessity of additional taxes.

Disaster In The Middle East

Although this government was not consulted, it knew toward the end of last week that Israel was mobilizing, it believed that this meant a serious military action, and it had at least an informed guess that this would not be happening without Paris and London knowing about it. When the Israeli Army struck on Monday, the President and his advisors decided, quite rightly, to take the affair to the U. N. But there were two ways of taking it to the U. N. and they chose the wrong one.

One was to seize the whole border problem, to recognize that it is a two-sided problem, and to call for measures to restrain the Egyptian raids as well as the Israeli reprisals. The other way was the one which the President and Secretary Dulles took. This was to ignore the Egyptian raids, to treat Israel as the aggressor and Egypt as the innocent victim.

This was a grave mistake of policy, indefensible in principle and in fact entirely unrealistic and impracticable.

It was indefensible to ignore, and thus to condone, the extreme provocation of the Egyptian raids. The resolution which Mr. Lodge submitted to the U. N. would, had it been adopted, have guaranteed the Egyptians behind their frontier but not the Israelis behind theirs. It would have made Egyptian territory a United Nations sanctuary from which the feckless raiders could operate without fear of reprisal.

Almost certainly the explanation of this policy decision is that those in authority did not realize what it meant, that there was a little panic in Washington and that there was no cool deliberation.

Had there been, how could the makers of this policy have failed to see that Britain and France, which are in a bitter cold war with Nasser, could never conceivably support a policy so one-sidedly favorable to Nasser? I would have supposed that anyone could have foreseen what happened—that if we forced the issue we would get a veto by our allies and support from the Soviet Union.

What caused the explosion? The sequence of events shows, I think, that Col. Nasser, convinced that he had won his fight over Suez, moved on promptly to work out another step in his grandiose plans to become the master of the Arab world. While the Suez crisis was hot, Nasser suspended his war against Israel and there were no raids. When the Suez crisis had passed, the raids began again, accompanied by military measures to bring Jordan, Syria, and Lebanon within Nasser's orbit.

His behavior convinced the Israelis that they could not live with him. It convinced the British and the French that they could not live with him in a Suez negotiation but that he was their implacable enemy throughout North Africa and the Middle East. Had Nasser been reasonable, moderate, and statesmanlike after his victory in the Suez affair, this explosion would probably not have occurred. But he is the typical aggressor-dictator who will not stop until he is stopped. That is why once again a policy of appeasement has failed to preserve the peace.

For the time being this country has no policy in the Middle East. The policy on which it operated is in ruins. It was to restrain Britain, France, and Israel from using force—which was a most desirable objective. But what this policy has lacked was any constructive plan—such as might have been developed out of the Indian proposals—which looked towards a settlement in the Middle East. The result was that we restrained the British, the French and the Israelis, but not Nasser. This led to the explosion which has blown our Middle Eastern policy to bits.

President Eisenhower's formula as a peace-maker has been to stop the shooting and, without working out a settlement, have both sides accept the status quo. Why has the formula not worked this time? Because this time there was Nasser who does not and will not accept the status quo, who is so great a disturber of the peace that those who are hurt by him cannot take it forever.

Raked It In

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP)—A youngster sent outside to rake leaves returned a short time later and handed her older sister a stack of currency she had picked up in the yard. The find was reported to police.

A bit later, the housewife called the police and said it was her own money. In her absence, she said, the older daughter had washed some draperies and had hung them on the line to dry. The money, about $120, sewed into the hem of the drapes, dislodged and was blown about in the breeze. The younger daughter picked up most of it.

Shift To GOP In 14 States, To Demos In Ten

PRINCETON, N. J.—The election returns from the different states next Tuesday evening will provide some clues to the political strategists of both parties as to their gains and losses of strength. But most important will be the survey facts about how major population groups voted this year in comparison to the presidential election four years ago.

From semi-final survey figures—subject to change on the basis of interviewing done in the very final days of the campaign—the Institute has prepared an analysis of how these major groups in the population can be expected to vote next Tuesday.

Today's figures are based on the major-party vote—that is, the percent of the Eisenhower-Stevenson vote that President Eisenhower will get: States' Rights and other party candidates are not included.

What over-all effect the Israeli attack on Egypt has had on the political climate in America will be reflected in the Institute's final survey figures to be published in tomorrow's Herald.

Analysis shows that out of 25 major population groups, there has been a shift of one percentage point or more in the direction of the Republicans in 14 groups, a shift in the direction of the Democrats in 10 groups, with no shift either way indicated in one—the college-trained voter group.

Major shifts in the voting preference of these population groups can be summarized as follows:

MAJOR GOP GAINS
1—The Negro vote, which in 1952 followed the heavily Democratic pattern of New Deal days, shows more of an inclination to vote Republican this year than at any time in the last 20 years.

The GOP proportion of the vote in this group will likely be twice as large as it was in 1952. Today's figures show 42 per cent of the Negro vote in the Eisenhower-Nixon camp, compared to 21 per cent four years ago.

2—The big cities of America and their suburbs show a larger shift to the Republicans this year than any other city-size group. This is in direct contrast with their Democratic voting pattern of the past. Whereas big cities and their suburbs gave General Eisenhower 47 per cent in 1952, today's results show 52 per cent of big city residents supporting the GOP candidates.

3—Young voters across the country will give a slight majority of their vote to the Republican ticket for the first time in the Institute's 21-year history.

Survey figures show 54 per cent of voters in the 21 to 29 age group planning to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon, compared to 49 per cent four years ago.

4—The many members of the union labor force who jumped the party fence to vote for General Eisenhower in 1952 will be joined by others this year, although the majority of the union vote will go to the Democratic ticket.

Survey figures show 43 per cent of persons in union member families will vote Republican this year, compared to 39 per cent four years ago.

Gains for the Democratic party since 1952 will come chiefly from these population groups:

DEMOCRATIC GAINS
1—Farmers show the biggest break away from the GOP ticket, although a majority of the farm vote will go to Eisenhower a farm Nixon. The drop-off in the farm vote has been greatest in the Midwest.

Today's figures show 57 per cent of farmers in the Republican camp, compared to 67 per cent in 1952. Among Midwest farmers only, 57 per cent plan to vote for the GOP ticket today, compared with 72 per cent in 1952.

2—Many Democrats who voted for General Eisenhower four years ago have returned to their own party.

Whereas Institute election surveys in 1952 showed 23 per cent of Democrats voting for the Republican candidate, that figure is down to 14 per cent today.

3—A majority of voters in the middle-age group, from 30 to 49 years, will cast their ballots for the Democratic ticket.

Four years ago, this age group voted 53 per cent for General Eisenhower, whereas the Republican candidate this year will get 49 per cent.

The following tables show the shifts that have occurred in the major population groups between the last presidential election and today's semi-final figures on the 1956 race:

No Need For Men

BENSON, N. C. (AP)—Four sisters run a 27-acre farm near here with no need for "a man around the house."

Bessie Ellen, Leslie Elizabeth, Addie Mae, and Lilly Jane Tarr have been operating the farm alone since a younger brother married and moved away 13 years ago. The women use mules and a tractor for planting, plowing and harvesting tobacco, cotton and corn. They built a concrete block garage themselves to house their car.

The Tarr sisters admit they sometimes call on male help in the summer tobacco harvesting season, but they hasten to explain that's just a temporary thing.

B52 Story Told

The story of the B-52 is told in "Vision," a new book on aviation by Harold Mansfield. He claims it was only after the Korean War pointed up the need for a long range bomber with speed that the Air Force approved quantity production of the plane.

Around The Rim

The Lord Is Smiling, The Angels Are Gleeful

When I was a tiny fellow wondering if a stork brought me, my older sisters kidded me by claiming that Mama came home from the Ladies' Aid one day and found me right there in the bed.

This was not just to tease me, but to chide Mama a bit for her utter dedication to the proposition that if the doors of the Baptist Church were opened, she had to be on hand.

Well, she was on hand just about every time, for as long as I can remember; until a few months ago, when feebleness prevented her getting about. It must have been 70 years or more that she devoted her interests, her talents, her heart and her soul to simple, faithful religion.

No sanctimony about it, mind you. With her warmth and the activities of her church were a bright and pleasant thing. Faithfulness was the same as happiness. There never was any dour attitude about her religion, or indeed about any other facet of her life.

Her church came first, but so many other things came second! If she was one of the busiest persons I have ever known, she also was one of the gayest. No trouble of yesterday could match the new blessings of today; if things seemed a bit rough today, think how smooth they would be tomorrow!

This was an infectious sort of philosophy that seemed to affect everybody with whom she came in contact. She poured her resources into so many civic undertakings that I could not begin to list them. The remarkable thing about it was that she had so many people working along with her, with all the enthusiasm of children at a birthday party. She was the spark that touched off a cheery flame. She was able to take on all these projects with the attitude that they were a passing chore, rather than an arduous task. This civic interest, like her religion, never carried the air of the busybody. To her, there were simply things that ought to be done and she was eager to help do them.

Her philosophy worked wonders with other people. Even when she was well up in years, by the calendar, hers was a blithe spirit. Little children were always visiting her, and they felt companionship rather than seniority. I have been amazed at the number of women—young ones, middle-aged ones and elderly ones—who would come to my Mother with their little vexations, their serious troubles, their heavy burdens. She must have performed in a virtually a pastoral sense, and certainly with uncommon grace, because I think without exception these people left her with lighter hearts.

Yes, this was my Mother. A little lady, full of zip and perkiness, and laughter and little jokes. And also full of thoughtfulness and understanding for other people, modestly devoted to labors of love, and sufficient of grace for herself.

This may be the selfishness of a son, but I have felt that Mama had the deepest intimacy with her God, and that it was because of this that she remained always so sublime.

And I believe that, since He called her to the Throne a few days ago, she has Him smiling. And has the angels busy and positively gleeful.

Facts Behind The Mid-East Trouble

WASHINGTON—Who really is the aggressor in the Middle East?

The average person who reads only the headlines can easily be misled if he doesn't acquaint himself with the full record.

Here is the chronological story: On May 14, 1948, the British "mandate" or "trusteeship" over certain Middle Eastern areas was ended. The state of Israel had been created as a result of action taken by the United Nations in December 1947. But Arab forces invaded Israel to prevent the Israeli state from functioning.

Guerrilla action was constant and on May 15, 1948, Egypt began her blockade of all Israeli ships, and particularly ordered that none should go through the Suez Canal.

The Arab-Israeli war went on till the armistice, concluded on Feb. 23, 1949. The blockade nevertheless continued, notwithstanding protests from the United Nations.

On August 16, 1951, Great Britain, France and the United States sponsored a resolution in the Security Council of the United Nations asking Egypt to lift the blockade.

On Sept. 1, 1951, this resolution was adopted by a vote of 8 to 0, with Russia, India and China not voting.

The blockade was not lifted, and in March 1954 the Security Council again asked Egypt to abandon the blockade. Russia voted against the resolution. Egypt disregarded it.

On Sept. 28, 1954, the first Israeli ship attempting to run the blockade was confiscated by Egypt, notwithstanding a protest by the U. N.

On Nov. 16, 1955, Egypt extended her blockade of Israel to a point within a mile and a half of the Israeli port of Eilat, cutting off shipments to and from the East.

Border raids have been continuous despite the armistice. Both Arab and Israeli forces have crossed the lines and disregarded armistice provisions, each usually citing provocations or reprisals.

On March 17, 1954, after an attack by Jordan forces on an Israeli bus, the mixed armistice commission didn't censure Jordan and Israel thereupon boycotted the commission.

On March 1, 1955, an Israeli raid on Egypt in the Gaza Strip was condemned by the Security Council of the U. N.

On Dec. 11, 1955, Israeli forces raided fortifications in Syria and were again condemned by the U. N., on Jan. 19, 1956.

On April 19, 1956, a cease-fire was agreed to under the auspices of the U. N.

But an armistice or a cease-fire still means that a "state of war" exists. When Nasser of Egypt seized the Suez Canal on July 26, 1956, Israel was further endangered because even shipments in the other vessels destined for Israel could be kept from her if Egypt decided at any moment to refuse passage of such goods through the Suez Canal.

But the biggest danger to Israel has been in the refusal of Egypt to recognize the little republic and in continuously threatening her existence. So Israeli forces find it necessary today to safeguard their interests.

The British and French demand now that both Israel and Egypt withdraw their forces from the canal and that the waterway be "temporarily" occupied by the British and French forces.

The Israeli government is willing. But Egypt is not. Nasser's position in violating the 1888 treaty, which guaranteed the canal against seizure by any power, is still something that must be reviewed by some competent tribunal—either the United Nations or a commission set up by that organization.

So, all in all, it's more than a matter of who is or is not the aggressor. It's a question of whether Israel, which depends for its life on shipments to and from the rest of the world, can be strangled by Egypt just because the latter has arbitrarily seized the Suez Canal. Israel's decision to wipe out military units inside Egypt that threaten her territory from points near the border is much more a case of self-defense than it is an act of aggression.

How To Get Out Of A Slump

A few years ago, I was in Hollywood helping to make a motion picture called "One Foot in Heaven." As the technical adviser for this film I had a fine opportunity to meet a good many Hollywood people. One of them was a famous old character actor. I came to know him well.

He said to me once, "You and I are in the same business. We both serve the public. And, sometimes, anyone who appears publicly will get into slumps. Do you know how to get out of a slump?"

"How?" I asked, for I have experienced the problem of the slump, and that isn't limited to those who appear publicly either.

"Well, first," he explained, "you must get humble. Don't ever get to thinking you are too good, because the minute you get to thinking you are too good, you are no good. The minute you get to thinking too well of yourself, people will sense your lack of humility and they will stop thinking well of you. Besides you have to keep on learning, and only humble people learn."

"Now, take me," he continued, "I had a successful career. But I got to thinking so well of myself that, when I walked on stage, I was mentally congratulating people because they had the privilege of seeing me. I felt they should be paying $10.50 instead of $4.50. I got so that I was looking them over coldly, indifferently, from an upper level of superiority, and I knew so much that no one could tell me anything."

"Then, presently, I began to notice that people weren't as interested in me as they had been. Producers noticed it too. They stopped offering me big parts. Things got tough and then I began hating my unenthusiastic audiences."

"Then it came to me that the fault might be in myself. I started praying, asking the Lord to tell me why things were going badly. And, He did. It came to me that I was too self-centered, too interested in myself and without love for other people."

"But one night, on stage, I came to myself. My part that night didn't amount to much. I looked out at the audience from the wings as I waited to go on. This happened to be a dejected and tired looking fellow in a front row. He looked like a business man with a lot of worries who had come to the theater to get away from himself for an evening. Seated beside him was a woman with a lovely but unhappy face; I felt they both should have been happy, and I studied them. All of a sudden I realized that I was feeling interest in these people. Suddenly I wanted to help them. And all I could do was to put everything I had into the part I was playing. I saw the man laugh a happy laugh, and when he did that his wife brightened up. They were happy, and I was happy.

"That was how I was able to make my comeback, by forgetting myself and by liking people."

"When I knew him, he had indeed made his comeback. He was a great actor and, more important, he was a great person because he loved people and had the spirit of humility."

You and I can learn from the experience of that actor. Anyone, in any line of work is likely to go into a slump. That condition can be caused by becoming tense. And a basic cause of tension is too much concern about how you are doing, or a hectic sense of competition with others. A calm effort to do the best you can and to compete primarily with yourself is the corrective. As a well known baseball player told me once, "When I get tense and self-conscious and go into a slump, I just pray to get my thinking straightened out. That is my cure for a slump."

And it's a good cure for any of us.

Aerial Fences

RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP)—The Mesalero Apaches took to the air to build a fence high in the White Mountains. They solved the problem of getting steel fence posts into place by hiring the pilot of a light plane to fly them in and drop them at correct intervals along the strip the fence was to be built.

Texas Voters To Decide On Eight Changes In Constitution

John Doe, a Texan, is arrested and charged with a felony. Although in actuality John Doe is an innocent man, circumstances are such that when he goes to trial he is convicted. Ultimately, he goes to prison.

After some years elapse, it is discovered that another person committed the crime for which John Doe is imprisoned. John is released.

But under the Constitution of the state of Texas there is no method by which John can be compensated for the injustice that he has suffered. He cannot be paid damages for the years he has been locked up—if he paid a fine in connection with his false conviction there is no way that this fine can be repaid to him. Freedom is all the state offers to the individual who is illegally imprisoned for conviction erroneously of some crime.

On Nov. 6, the people of Texas are given an opportunity to change this situation. One of eight amendments to the Constitution on which the voters express their approval or disapproval covers the specific case of our mythical John Doe. If the amendment is approved—it is No. 1 on the Nov. 6 ballot—the Legislature will be empowered to grant aid and compensation to persons who are forced to pay fines or to serve prison sentences for crimes which they did not commit.

The average voter, seemingly, has paid very little attention to the amendment proposals on the Nov. 6 ballot. Interest in the election of a president, new governor and other national and state officers has so absorbed attention that the proposals for changes in the Constitution have drawn little study.

In Howard County about the only campaigning that has been done for any of the amendments is in behalf of No. 4. This suggested change in the Constitution proposes that the Legislature be empowered to revise the existing teacher retirement system and broaden the benefits to employees of the public schools, colleges and universities supported wholly or in part by the state. Such revision would authorize the state to make contributions to such purpose equal to the contributions of such employees providing such contributions do not exceed six per cent of the compensation paid each employee by the state or school district and do not exceed the sum of $504 for each year.

School teachers locally have made some effort to publicize this proposed amendment and urge its approval. Posters advocating its passage have been posted and educators have spoken in behalf.

As to the other amendments to be determined at Tuesday's voting, little comment, either for or against, has been heard. Voters will go to the polls on Tuesday and find that the lower half of the oversized ballot they are handed by the precinct officials will be taken up entirely by summations of the eight amendment questions.

Sponsors of each of the proposed amendments are anxious over the outcome—they are doubtful if the average voter will take the time on election day to read the fine type and acquaint himself with the gist of the amendments.

A vote of "for" will be a vote in approval of the questions. "Against" votes will be for disapproval of the proposals.

On Nov. 13, one week from the general election, voters will go back to the polls for another election. This time only one question will be before them—approval or disapproval of a ninth suggested amendment to the Texas Constitution.

The special election is the result of an error in dates made by the Legislature in slating the day of decision for this ninth question. It had been the intention of the legislators to have all of the proposed amendments settled on Nov. 6. In enacting the law to put the ninth on the ballot it was inadvertently written that the vote should be taken on the second Tuesday (instead of the first Tuesday as was intended).

The ninth amendment suggests compensation and benefits to be paid to the persons who are permanently disabled by accident or illness.

The eight proposed amendments on which the voters will decide Tuesday are:

No. 1: A proposal to empower the Legislature to make amendments to persons who are unjustly convicted of crimes they did not commit, where such persons serve prison terms or pay fines for the alleged offenses.

No. 2: A proposal to empower the commissioners court in each county to levy whatever sums may be necessary for general fund, permanent improvement fund, road and bridge fund and jury fund purposes so long as the total of these funds does not exceed a maximum tax rate of 80 cents on the $100 valuation in any one year and so long as the court does not impair any outstanding bonds or other obligations.

No. 3: An amendment to Article VII of the Constitution by amending Sections 17 and 18 to provide a method of payment for the construction and equipment of buildings and other permanent improvements at state institutions of higher learning and providing for improved support of the University of Texas and the Texas A&M College by authorizing investment of the permanent university fund in corporate bonds and stocks under certain conditions and limitations.

No. 4: The amendment which will broaden the base and benefits of the teacher retirement act and which was discussed earlier.

No. 5: An amendment to change the membership of the Veterans Land Board and increase the Veterans Land Fund by $100,000,000—the money to be for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to Texas veterans of World War II and to Texas veterans if service in the Armed Forces of the U. S. subsequent to 1945.

No. 6: An amendment providing the form of oaths of office for elective and appointive officers of the state.

No. 7: An amendment which would make it required that medical testimony be provided for the commitment of persons of unsound mind and authorizing the Legislature to provide for trial and commitment of such persons and for waiver of right of trial by a person alleged to be of unsound mind or by his next of kin.

No. 8: An amendment to the Constitution providing that a court judge or magistrate may deny bail to a person who has been convicted of two previous felonies.

Belgium Gives Webb Plaque Of Appreciation

Webb AFB has received a bronze plaque from the Belgian Ministry of National Defense for services rendered to the Belgian government in training student pilots for that member country of the Mutual Defense Assistance Pact.

The plaque, which was accompanied by a letter from Maj. Gen. A. E. L. Bigwood, military naval and air attache at the Belgian Embassy in Washington, is now on permanent display in the base academic building.

In part, the letter from the Belgian Air Attache says: "Belgium and its Armed Forces are thankful for the help you have extended to them in such fields as the formation and perfection of instructors, the efficient use of the most modern materials and weapons, the collaboration of the Army, Navy and Air Force, the training of pilots and specialists, the training of officers, midshipman and technicians, and the formation of staff officers."

Inscription on the plaque, in the languages of Belgium, French and Flemish, reads: "In remembrance of services rendered in teaching Belgian military personnel."

Similar plaques and letters also have been sent to other American military installations, where Belgian students receive flight training.

Mrs. Boland Falls In Love With Guide Dog, Topsy

Mrs. Hattie Belle Boland, who is being sponsored by the Big Spring Lions Club in securing a guide dog, has fallen in love with Topsy.

From Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., San Rafael, Calif., she wrote (Mrs. Boland types) that Topsy is the dog given to her.

"She is a beautiful black Labrador. I know Charles (her husband) has already told you her name, but it is Topsy. If you can remember the story of old, she certainly lives up to her name. She is a real 'cutie', full of frisky capers and adores people. She is easily carried and already is a joy to walk with."

Mrs. Boland wrote Dr. Marshall Cauley, Lions president, that she is anxious for the Lions to get acquainted with her guide dog. She said that in her class, which will graduate in about two weeks, there are three Texans, one of them a man sponsored by the Fort Worth Lions Club.

She said she was enjoying her experience tremendously and that "staff and students have such a closeness that you seldom find anywhere. I have never tasted such wonderful cooking in all my life."

While at San Rafael, Mrs. Boland is taking a course in operation of a telephone switchboard by Braille. She expects to return here around Nov. 10.

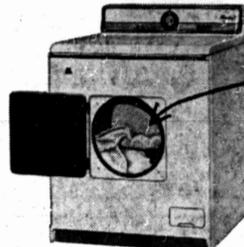

Mrs. Farley Dean Dies At Houston

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Dean and Mrs. C. D. Herring have returned from Houston where they attended funeral services for Mrs. Farley Dean. Mrs. Dean died of a heart attack suffered as she and her husband were riding in the car to town on Saturday.

The Deans are former residents of Big Spring, he having been one of the owners of D and C Electric Co. They moved to Houston six years ago.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Christian Church in Houston. Three children and two grandchildren survive in addition to her husband.

TCU Slates Homecoming

FORT WORTH — Hundreds of graduates and former students of Texas Christian University will return to campus Nov. 16-17 for their annual homecoming.

Highlight of the two-day celebration will be the football game with the University of Texas in Amon Carter Stadium. At 2:30 p.m. Nov. 16, the homecoming parade will move through the streets of Fort Worth. The theme this year will be "Fairytale" and more than 30 floats by campus organizations will be entered. Judges, on the reviewing stand at Seventh and Main, will select the winning floats.

That evening, ex-student groups will hold special dinners. The Ex-Letters' Association will meet at Hotel Texas; the Journalism Exes at the Worth Hotel and the Business Exes on campus with Congressman Jim Wright as the speaker.

A giant pep rally and bonfire will follow at 8:30 p.m. inside the grounds of Carter Stadium. The "Coming Home Queen" will be Mrs. Robert Milner (Johnnie Mae Donoho) of the Class of '36. Homecoming Queen will be announced at the bonfire. The homecoming dance is at the student center at 9:30 p.m., and breakfasts will be held Saturday morning, an ex-students association at 10 a.m. and buffets at 11:15 a.m.

Barbers May Soon Forget Art Of Shaving, Except On Selves

DEAR BOSS: I got a haircut Thursday afternoon and had a most enlightening conversation with the tonsorial artist who was doing the job. Something he said roused a sense of worry in my mind. Boss, I am afraid that another 10 years will see one of America's greatest male institutions pass completely out of the scene. It's already practically out of the picture here in Big Spring. I suspect that the same situation prevails all over the country. You're old enough, Boss, to remember. Some of our colleagues here are still too short on years to be competent witnesses in this case but you're plenty qualified.

When you were younger, Boss, do you remember the barbershops? And how every morning, when business hours began, the more prominent citizens of the town would solemnly parade to the barbershop, take off their coats, their ties and the celluloid collars and park themselves in the barber chair. "Give me a shave, Joe," they would say to the barber. "Don't make it too close." Then the barber would pull a lever and the customer would relax and the barber would fix a little leather pillow under his head. The barber would go to one of the cabinets and hunt out a shaving mug. It may be you can remember when there were individual mugs for each important citizen—they had cabinets filled with them. Each occupied its personal niche and was inscribed (generally in Old English script) with the name of the owner. Each mug had its own bar of barber soap and its own brush. That's a little before my time. I do remember a few die-hards of the old school who clung to the custom, but most those I knew were willing to settle for the common mug that the barber used for all of his shaving customers. Anyway, the morning shave before the leading citizen went to work was a tradition. The old gent would make it to the barber shops so punctually that was possible to set the office clock by their appearance. Had you noticed, Boss, how this has changed? I asked the barber who was clipping away at my auburn locks: "Do you shave many men these days?" He shook his head. "Some weeks I don't have a single customer for a shave. Then, mebbe, I'll have a week when I get two or three," he said. "How many do all the barbers in this shop shave a month?" I asked. The barber wasn't certain. Perhaps a score; probably less. Electric razors, safety razors—Boss, they've practically ruined one of the minor luxuries that the males used to enjoy. There was something sort of relaxing and big-shotty in going to the barber shop, climbing into the big leather chair and calling for a shave. We're in too big a hurry, these days. We've forgotten that business can wait a few extra minutes. We jump out of bed, glance at the alarm clock, rush to the bathroom and buzz off our whiskers. We slurp down a cuppacafé and we're half-running to the car. We gotta get to the office. Well, there's really no reason. When we get there, usually it's half an hour to an hour before anyone we have to see is available. If we followed the leisurely and pompous practices of our granddads—particularly in this matter of a morning visit to the barber—we'd probably live longer. Oh, yes—there's just one man left in Big Spring who still depends on the barber for his morning shave. He doesn't show every day like the president of the bank used to appear in my home town. But he does make it fairly often. I am told by barber. "Ted Groehl," said my barber. "is just about the only fairly 'regular' shaving customer I know of in Big Spring." Boss, we're gonna have to be explaining to tomorrow's kids what we mean when that old jingle about "shave 'n a haircut—bay-rum" when we say shave! Your nostalgic reporter. —SAM BLACKBURN

U.S. Flag Flies Over South Pole

Editor's Note—This account of an American landing at the South Pole has been cabled by AP staff writer Don Guy, who is with the U.S. Deep-sea expedition of the Antarctic. BY DON GUY OVER THE SOUTH POLE (Delayed) —I saw the flag of the United States raised over the South Pole Wednesday for the first time in history. A Navy pilot from North Carolina with a Confederate flag in his pocket made the world's first landing on the frigid bottom of the earth. Lt. Cmdr. Conrad S. Shinn, from Spray, N.C., brought his 25-ton C47 down on the rough, wind-blown snow to a safe landing on aluminum skis. Circling overhead in a Globemaster, I saw Rear Adm. George Dufek, Operation Deepfreeze commander, step out in his fur-hooded parka, walk away from the plane's slipstream and plant the U.S. flag in the snow. Not since Robert Falcon Scott of Great Britain and his four companions struggled here man-hauling their sledges on Jan. 17, 1912, has human foot been placed on the polar surface. All five died on the return trip. Roald Amundsen of Norway had reached the spot a few weeks earlier than they. The C47 took off with a blaze of fire from 15 jet-assisted take-off bottles and raised a long plume of snow after the party had spent an hour making observations. The temperature here is 58 degrees below zero. Vapor trails from our four engines have traced a madman's painting in the still air of the polar plateau. Now we have turned away for the last time, having heard all is well from the admiral's plane.

Candidates File Expense Reports

All four of the candidates seeking election to the post of district court clerk have filed their official campaign expense accounts with the county clerk, said Mrs. Pauline Petty Friday. R. C. Thomas, last of the quartet to send in his report, reached the office just ahead of the deadline. He said he had spent $90 in his campaign. James Horton, Wade Coate and Denver Dunn, the others seeking the post left vacant by the recent death of George Choate, had their reports on hand the last day allowed under the law. The four men will be listed on the general election ballot on Tuesday Nov. 6 as independent candidates for the office. The one who receives the most votes will be district court clerk for the two years remaining of the unexpired term of George Choate.

One Wallet Lost, Another Found

Different residents reported losing a billfold and finding one, but there was no connection between the two reports.

Mrs. James Choate, 1708 Young, told the police department Friday that she lost a billfold during the day.

Then Friday night, a Mrs. White at 900 Lancaster found a billfold on her front porch. It contained no identification but the Italian-made wallet did have the initials JMS inscribed on it.

At noon Saturday, no one had called the police station reporting the loss of a wallet meeting the description of the one found. Neither had Mrs. Choate reported finding hers nor had anyone turned it in.

Bicycle Missing

The bicycle-stealing craze continued Friday, as George Layman, 811 Lancaster, reported to the police that he had lost one. Layman's bike was taken from the Junior High School sometime during the afternoon.

Rebels' Find Red Torture Chamber

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A mysterious house on a wooded hill in Buda was opened today by rebel partisans. They said they found it equipped with a "torture chamber" operated by the secret police. It is located on what is called "Freedom Hill." Often neighbors had seen closed automobiles driving to the villa and disappearing into the garage.

Today it was discovered that a door from the garage led directly to three cells. One was plain, evidently for detaining captives; the second was equipped with a powerful electric light beamed on a chair apparently for interrogation; and the third was padded and soundproof.

The Nationalist rebels said it was believed the villa was used for the brainwashing of important political prisoners such as Josef Cardinal Mindszenty. It is only a five-minute walk from the group of plush former residences of Matyas Rakosi, Ernoe Geroy and other leading members of the Red regime.

Red Victims Cremated

GYOER, Hungary (AP)—Western newsmen were shown today a secret crematory, said by anti-Communist rebels to have been used by the state police for victims who did not survive their interrogation methods.

The crematory was discovered by insurgents after Gyoer, capital of this western province, had fallen into the hands of the rebels. It was set up behind the central heating installations of the state police headquarters in the city's most modern building and was equipped with technical facilities Hitler's gestapo would have admired.

Besides a shortwave transmitter, the building housed listening installations which enabled the state police to overhear any phone call in west Hungary and to record conversations. In the cellar of the building newsmen were shown tiny cells—three steps long and two steps wide—where prisoners apparently had been held before their bodies were carried to the crematory.

'Bad Day At Black Rock' Is Unusual Mystery Film

"Bad Day At Black Rock," playing Sunday through Wednesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre, is one of the year's most unusual pictures. Besides an excellent off-beat story, the film sports a cast including four Academy Award winners. They are Spencer Tracy, Dean Jagger, Walter Brennan and Ernest Borgnine.

The story is a drama of a lonely desert town grown decadent through guilty fear. It is the story of what happens when a man arrives unannounced and finds himself thrust into a murderous crisis not of his own making.

Tracy is cast as a veteran with a paralyzed arm, seeking out a Japanese-American farmer to give him a medal awarded the farmer's son, killed during the war in Italy. He cannot find the farmer, and meets with hostility and organized silence on the part of the citizens. Then he finds that the farmer had been murdered and his life in danger as a result of his discovery. Alone in a hostile and remote town, he must pit his wits against organized terror.

Robert Ryan co-stars as the leader of the conspiracy. Anne Francis as the girl who put her trust in the wrong man; Jagger as the cowardly sheriff; Brennan as the local undertaker, and the only man in town brave enough to stand up to Ryan; John Ericson as a coward and weakling who becomes a pivotal point in the plot; Borgnine and Lee Marvin as the town bullies; and Russell Collins as the frightened telegraph operator.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

Big Spring movie houses are bringing back several good films this week. The new ones are adequate.

"Two Years Before the Mast" is an Alan Ladd epic based on history. He portrays a shipping magnate's son who is signed up for a voyage back in the days when sailors were harshly treated. It was this youth's experiences which led to revision of the ancient captain's privilege of hanging whom he pleased from the mizzenmast.

all her life, she is able neither to defend herself against her predicament nor a later charge of murder.

One of the best movies of its kind we have ever seen was "Bad Day At Black Rock." It is a suspense mystery of an unusual sort. None of the cops 'n' robbers melodrama. The hero (Spencer Tracy) is cast as a one-armed man who finds himself in the midst of a deepening mystery with his life at stake, and with no other resources than his wit. Worth seeing twice.

"The King and I" is up, and we'll probably see it again. The Broadway version ran for several successful years, and was one of the best musicals we have seen. Both film and play were based on the biography. "Anna and the King of Siam" which told the adventures of an English schoolmarm who emigrated to Siam in the employ of an Asian king.

If it's stark drama you want, don't miss "Johnny Belinda." Jane Wyman stars as a deaf-mute who is criminally assaulted and bears a child as a result. Because of her disability and the fact she has been shut off from the world

Youngsters might be passably interested in knowing how their folks cut up back in the 1920's.

"The Best Things in Life Are Free" doesn't, of course, show the entire vista of the Roaring Twenties, but the music and dancing are representative. Older folks may get a slight case of nostalgia.

"I Lived Before" will be intensely interesting to those few who believe in spirits, leprechauns and re-incarnation, and should be familiar to some people. The plot is based on the Bridie Murphy theory, and has an airline pilot suddenly discovering he's a dead air hero of World War I, just as he flies over the spot where he died in his previous life. The reason he knows this is that, in such familiar territory, his former self takes over and he noses the airliner down along the path his former self took to its death. Psychiatric sessions follow.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

Dunk of whatever knowledge I may possess of history did not come from the textbooks used in schools nor from the reference works which loom large and awesome on the shelves of libraries.

Most textbooks on history are dry as dust and dull as dishwater. In their desperate struggle for the facts and the facts alone, the writers have wrung dry the items with which they deal. What color, what extraneous atmosphere, the events and the people in them may once have possessed has been removed.

In it, Prokosch uses the "historical" novel form to retell the old story of the notorious Censur family murder. This crime occurred hundreds of years ago in Italy in the days of the domination of that land by the Inquisition. The story, from a true historian's point of view, could be told in two short paragraphs. There was a man murdered; his daughter, his second wife and several other persons perpetrated the crime. The slayers were caught and put to death. That's the meat of the tale.

Read the accepted "historical" records of the greater moments of drama in the life of man on this planet. What do you find? Dull recital of fundamental facts; words which may relate the highlights of the event but which do not create a mental picture of the occasion in the reader's mind.

No, whatever knowledge of history I may have that remains with me, I have gleaned mostly from reading that fascinating branch of literature classified broadly as "historical" fiction.

But Prokosch has done what every good teller of a historical tale does—embroidered his story with a mass of detail concerning the life, the habits, working customs, the way people lived 500 years ago.

When you have finished "A Tale For Midnight" you have absorbed a great deal of information about civilization and its tedious climb. And the brutal days of the middle ages are clearer to you; the reasons for their barbarity are more readily understandable.

The charge may be made that by accepting the versions of history as related in the historical novel, I may be being erroneously misled; that the fiction writer, for the sake of effect or color, may have warped the "truth."

It may well be so.

But what reply can you make if I ask you "What is the truth? And what assurance do you give me that the accepted authorities on history have themselves been free of this possibility of 'warping' as well?"

I have read there are hundreds of famous battle paintings hanging on the walls of the Versailles. There is no painting to be seen on those walls of a French defeat. Are we to conclude there has never been an occasion when France has met with disaster?

Historians, when all is said and done, are but men. The history of the Napoleonic Wars written by a Frenchman reads vastly different from the history of the same war written by an Englishman or a Russian. Yet in a general way of speaking the historians may all be "accepted" as authorities.

What got me off on this subject is a little book which reached this desk last week. It is a paperback reprint edition of "A Tale for Midnight" by Frederic Prokosch.

In other words, you have absorbed some history even though you were not actually in pursuit of this knowledge.

And at the same time, you have been entertained by a gripping tale of murder and violence.

What was it the poet wrote—"Better a flash in the tavern caught than lost forever in the temple?"

'Dakota Incident' Is Frontier Story

"Dakota Incident," playing Sunday and Monday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre, is backgrounded by an Indian uprising and a romantic triangle.

Linda Darnell is cast as a woman seeking to regain a fortune stolen by a faithless lover; Dale Robertson as leader of a gang of bank robbers; John Lund as a cashier secretly searching out the robbers; and Ward Bond as a loud-mouthed senator.

Circumstances bring the four together in a stagecoach journey, and an accident forces them to halt at a water hole. There the Indians attack in the following scenes, with practically everyone dead, Miss Darnell and a regenerated Robertson ride away to a new life.

Rock 'N' Roll Not New Or Corruptin'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — From a fellow who should know comes the proposition that rock 'n' roll is neither corrupting nor new.

The source is Fats Domino, whose free-rolling, hard-bouncing records have sold in the millions. He has also made news by having riots at his concerts.

"But it wasn't the kids that did it," he said. "We've only had two incidents, and both were caused by adults who were drinking. One was in San Jose, where they packed too many people into the hall. The kids were okay, but a lot of the grownups were boozing. Somebody threw a bottle on the floor and then some others did. Somebody called the cops."

"The same thing happened at the naval base in Newport, R. I. Somebody threw a bottle and the trouble started. The music had nothing to do with it."

"When we play to an audience of kids, they don't go wild. They just clap their hands to the beat and bounce a little and enjoy themselves."

He added that rock 'n' roll had gotten a bad name with adults because some entertainers employ

Borgnine Stars In First Musical Role

"The Best Things in Life Are Free," showing Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, is a journey back to the days when the "Black Bottom" was the rage and jazz was the forerunner of modern rock 'n' roll.

Gordon MacRae, Dan Dailey, Ernest Borgnine and Sheree North star in this strictly song-and-dance show hailing back to the days of bathtub gin and wild, wild women in the days after World War I.

The plot was assembled around the career of a noted song-writing team, two of whom are still around. The names of De Sylva, Brown and Henderson dominated Tin Pan Alley for many years. MacRae sings his way through the role of Buddy De Sylva (now deceased); Dailey plays Ray Henderson, a family man turned song writer; Borgnine is Russian born and recalcitrant Lew Brown; and Miss North portrays De Sylva's girlfriend.

The film marks Borgnine's first attempt at a song-and-dance role. The audience is given an inside peek into song writing methods, problems in producing musicals, and the effects of introducing "talkies" into silent pictures.

The Situation Was Well Nailed Down

James Cagney scored an impossible bowling shot during filming of a recent movie. The scene called for a million to one shot in which all but the two outside pins are knocked down. He made the shot three times in a row, and left the set rather dazed.

What he didn't know was that the director had had the two outside pins nailed to the floor.

Wyman Stars In 'Johnny Belinda'

"Johnny Belinda," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Jet Theatre, is a simply-told tale of love and betrayal. Filmed in black and white against a stark coastline, the film catches fleeting glances of natural beauty and provides a somber mood for the story.

Jane Wyman stars as a pathetic country girl, both deaf and dumb, and Lew Ayres as the doctor who came to love her. Charles Bickford is Miss Wyman's gruff father, later slain, and Stephen McNally portrays the villain.

The drama relates the plight of Belinda, isolated on her father's farm, unnoticed and bereft of kindness, until the doctor tries to give her an education. Then one night the town bully rapes her, and she becomes even more ostracized when she bears his child. She had been unable to tell anyone what had happened. Then, the bully tries to take the child and Belinda kills him. The doctor, Robert Tracy, who is her murderer, and the story moves to an unusual climax.

British Beauty, Mate Separate

HOLLYWOOD — The five-year marriage of British actress Diana Dors, 24, and Dennis Hamilton, 32, is on the rocks.

Miss Dors, often billed as England's version of Marilyn Monroe, issued this statement through her studio yesterday:

"There has been much speculation in the past week about our marital situation and I feel that a statement of fact should be made to clarify it. Dennis and I are separating."

Hamilton returned to England nine days ago, Miss Dors said, but he will continue to manage her career. They have no immediate plans for a divorce, she added.

Bare Midriff Was Accident

Film stylist Charles LeMaire, interviewed on the set of "The Best Things in Life Are Free," revealed the story of how the first bare midriff came into being back in 1933.

LeMaire recounted having designed a three-piece costume for Lupe Velez. The night of the opening, the bodice top and skirt were delivered from the tailor's, but the wide belt for the middle was missing.

While LeMaire looked frantically for something with which to cover the actress, Lupe decided she liked it the way it was, and wore it. Lupe was something of a sensation, and the bare midriff became overnight an indispensable part of Hollywood musical costumes.

O'Connor Writes Symphony, Will Conduct Orchestra

LOS ANGELES — Actor Donald O'Connor plans to conduct a full symphony orchestra Jan. 12 through part of a 2½-hour classical composition which he wrote.

The actor-dancer-comedian said about a year ago he attended a performance of the Los Angeles Doctors' Symphony Orchestra, composed entirely of M.D.s and workers in allied fields.

"I was impressed and I asked my own doctor, Irving Lasky, if I could be of any help to the group," O'Connor said. "When I offered to write something they took me up on it."

The three-movement symphony, still untitled, will be performed by the doctors at Philharmonic Auditorium.

Lamesa Policeman Gets Promotion

LAMESA—Lloyd Martin, a member of the Lamesa Police Department for the past five years, took off his sergeant's stripes and put on captain's bars Thursday. His promotion came as the result of J. P. Lowery's resignation from the force to enter the radio and television repair business in Pecos.

Hollywood Goes All-Out For Realism

Hollywood technicians are going all-out for realism these days.

A scene in "Bad Day At Black Rock," for which an entire town was built and furnished to the last detail, required a modern streamliner to roll into the town on a specially-built track.

The technicians didn't have far to go. Southern Pacific Railroad officials were glad to give a hand, and on the day the scene was to be shot, a streamliner left its regular course to stop at the studio-built town.

'These Wilder Years' Story Of Search For A Lost Son

"These Wilder Years," showing Sunday through Wednesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre, tells the story of a self-made millionaire who, having deserted a son born out of wedlock twenty years before, attempts to rectify his mistake.

James Cagney stars as the tortured and repentant father, and Barbara Stanwyck as the hard-headed and honest head of the adoption agency to which the child was given.

Cagney finds Miss Stanwyck standing firmly against revealing the present whereabouts of his son. She fears his action would jeopardize the happiness and security of other adopted children of their foster parents. Cagney risks scandal to bring the case to court, hiring a famed lawyer played by Walter Pidgeon.

As a counter-drama, Cagney meets a young girl, played by Betty Lou Keim, and her fatherless child, who change his life for the better.

Crazy Mixed-Up King

King Mongkut, of Siam, circa 1864, shows his confusion regarding Western ways in this scene from "The King and I" in which the king offers to send war elephants to help "Mr. Ling Kung" win the U. S. Civil War to free the slaves, then orders his European visitor to obey him like his other subjects. Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr star.

'King And I' Makes Return Engagement

Yul Brynner is qualified in more ways than one for his part as the king in "The King and I" — he's half Mongol. His other qualifications include a five-year starring role in the Broadway version of the film epic, and many long years on the stage.

The film plays Thursday through Saturday at the Sahara and Terrace Drive-In Theatres. Co-starred is Deborah Kerr.

Both the film and the play were based on "Anna and the King of Siam," best-selling biography of Anna Leonowens who brought Western culture to the Siamese court in the 19th Century. Brynner portrays King Mongkut, who ruled from 1851 to 1868, a brash young ruler who strove desperately to understand the West, so that he might know how to deal with Europe's colonial expansion. At the same time, he could not quite break away from the ways of his people, a conflict which some historians claim hastened his death.

The king finally sent for Miss Leonowens, played by Miss Kerr, in an attempt to bring Western culture to his people. The king's inner turmoil is well illustrated in the scene in which he dictates a letter to President Lincoln offering war elephants to help free the slaves, and then informs Miss Leonowens she must obey him like his other subjects.

One of the highlights of the film is the presentation of a Siamese version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," or, as translated into the Siamese, "The Small House of Uncle Thomas."

Egghead Yaks Bore Brynner

Yul Brynner, who had to shave his head for the stage and film roles as an Oriental despot in "The King and I," had to put up with jokes about baldies for five years. Most of the jokes bored him, but there were three he appreciated. Actor Jackie Leonard, a baldie himself, once stopped Brynner, pointed at his own head, and cracked: "Look, Yul, I'm wearing your headpiece." Another time, a comedian (and another baldie) introduced himself as "the Yul Brynner of the Catskill Circuit."

But Brynner's favorite was dreamed up by his own wife: "I'll bet you're the only actor who gets five o'clock shadow on his head."

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

A name famous with music-lovers is Harry Belafonte. This male vocalist, who has several popular record albums on the market, gets perhaps the greatest acclaim from the LP "Harry Belafonte Sings Calypso." Calypso, a cross section of songs based on the traditional melodies of the English speaking islands of the Caribbean, is prominently recognized in the selections of this album including "Day O," "I Do Adore Her," and "Hosanna."

Twelve new Elvis Presley tunes are contained in his latest album, entitled merely "Elvis." Two of the best featured are "Love Me" and "So Glad You Are Mine." Elvis also tries his hand at "Long Tall Sally" and "Rip It Up."

Some of the best classical music ever written and recorded can be yours at a bargain price. Westminster Recording Co. has on the market a special LP hi-fi album containing such outstanding classical selections as "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2" by Liszt, "Russian Soldier's Dance" by Glier, and "William Tell Overture" by Rossini. Hermann Scherchen conducts the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of London.

"A Tribute To James Dean" containing music from the soundtracks of "Giant," "East of Eden," and "Rebel Without a Cause" is released by Columbia.

If progressive jazz is more in your line, give a listen to the Dave Brubeck Quartet as the four do justice to their latest album re-

72 Attend Scout Meet

Seventy-two attended the regular monthly scout leaders round table meeting Thursday night at the First Baptist Church. Those present represented the four district scout groups of the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council. Eight thousand door-knocker hangers, urging citizens to get out and vote, were distributed to the leaders and will be put in the hands of the scouts, cubs and explorers for distribution in Howard, Martin, Glasscock and Sterling Counties, Saturday. This part of a national Boy Scout activity in connection with the general election.

At the same meeting, tickets for the annual Boy Scout exposition were turned over to scout leaders for launching of the sales campaign for this event. The exposition will be Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

Judge M. D. Elston checked with police and found a new fireplug had been installed behind Heron's car after he parked. The charge was filed away.

Cinematic Revenge

Vincent Price finally got his revenge in "While The City Sleeps." Several years ago, in the filming of "Laura," the script called for Dana Andrews to slug Price in the stomach. In their latest epic, Price is a newspaper publisher who has the satisfaction of firing a columnist, played by Andrews.

'ANASTASIA' Fort Worth Play Receives Praise

By MARSHALL COMERER

Associated Press Staff

Two women and a man won the most plaudits in the Greater Fort Worth Community Theater's production of the one-time Broadway hit "Anastasia."

The play is about a Russian peasant recruited by three enterprising men to pass herself off as the slain granddaughter of the Russian empress.

Critics praised Lou Moore, a blond ballet dancer from Denton who deftly handled the title role; young Betty Fitzpatrick as the empress and director Mavis Mitchell.

Houston's Alley Theater will open its production of "Anastasia" Nov. 8.

Ethel Shutta will star in its production of "Royale Family" opening Nov. 15. It is a comedy about a theatrical family that resembles the Barrymores.

The Houston Civic Theater is seeking a new building and location. Its playhouse on the University of Houston campus, the little red schoolhouse, was heavily damaged in a fire Oct. 19.

Amateur actors gave Abilene choice entertainment last week. The Abilene Christian College Dramatics Department presented the Kaufman-Hart play "George Washington Slept Here."

The Assn. of Childhood Education presented its version of "The Greatest Show on Earth." Mrs. Bill Scott wrote the script and directed. The cast of 75 was drawn from teachers in public schools and Abilene's two colleges and university. The musical circus featured animals—really elementary school teachers in costume—chorus girls, soloists and fortune tellers.

The Sherman Little Theater opened Thursday with a three-night run of "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

"Being cast or in rehearsal...The Carousel Theater of Longview is casting for "The Solid Gold Cadillac"...Artists' Supper Club of El Paso is rehearsing its next one-act play, "No Exit"...The Beaumont Community Players are holding tryouts for "The Voice of the Turtle." Church Official

New educational director for the First Baptist Church at Lamesa is Ed Wittner, who assumes duties today. He moved to Lamesa from Monahans where he held a similar position. Mr. and Mrs. Wittner have two children, and the family will reside at 1705 N. 13th.

446 Absentee Ballots Cast For Tuesday

Four hundred and forty-six absentee ballots have been distributed for Tuesday's general election by the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk.

Three hundred and nineteen of these have been voted in the office and are already in the ballot box awaiting the official count which begins at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The others—127 in all—are ballots sent by mail on request from county electors who cannot be at the polls on election day. Many of these have already been voted and returned for deposit in the box. Some have not been returned. Officials estimate that the actual absentee vote will total around 425—the belief prevailing that not all of the mail request ballots will be used.

Observers point out that 446 absentee ballots in a relatively small number for Howard County in a general election. In the 1952 general election, 827 voters balloted absentee.

Through a coincidence, the absentee vote polled in that election was almost exactly 10 per cent of the total number of votes in the election. While this rule is not regarded as applicable in all instances, if the same ratio holds for Nov. 6, the total vote would not be much over 4,200 in this county.

There were 8,202 votes cast in the general election of 1952.

Deadline for absentee voting expired at 5 p.m. Friday.

Only mild interest is being displayed in absentee balloting for the special election to be conducted on Nov. 13. Only a handful of ballots have been polled. On that date, Texans will vote on the proposal of a ninth new amendment to the state constitution—a proposal to broaden the base of the state public welfare laws to permit benefits being paid to disabled citizens.

Question: Will Offices Close?

Offices in the Howard County courthouse may be closed on Tuesday—general election day.

On the other hand, they may not be closed.

No one seems to be certain. Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, said the law says that all days on which elections are held across the state "may" be observed as holidays.

The rub seems to be in the disagreement on whether such days have been observed as holidays in the past.

Some officials recall that election days have been holidays; others are just as sure that never in the past have offices been closed on election day.

Old timers assert that in other days before the new courthouse was built, elections were conducted in the old building. On election days, offices required for the voting were officially shut down. The others, according to many of the veterans in the building, did not close.

The same disagreement seems to prevail about the next holiday on the list. This will be Nov. 12, in observance of Armistic Day—now Veterans Day—which falls on Sunday this year.

If Nov. 12 is a holiday, what about Nov. 13?

On Nov. 13, the state as a whole will be voting on an election issue. And the law says that all days such statewide elections are held "may" be observed as holidays.

City Tax Payments Above $275,000

Over $21,000 in current city taxes were collected in the half day Saturday by the tax department and it raised the tax revenue past the $275,000 mark.

Saturday's tabulation was $21,743.89 and $15,537.68 was collected Friday. These totals brought the collections to $276,250.22. The figure is net; 3 per cent credit was given for payments in October and 2 per cent comes this month.

Through Nov. 3, 1955, the collection was $273,768.03.
