Captured U.S. Shrimper

A Mexican Coast Guard cutter stands at dock in Tampico, Mexico, as the American trawler "Pescador" heads toward the wharf after the trawler was fired on. Skipper Tom Wilson of the shrimp boat was wounded. Mexicans claim Wilson was fishing in Mexican territorial waters.

Two Children Die In Kerosene Stove Blast At Flower Grove

FLOWER GROVE—Two young children perished, a third child is dangerously burned and two other persons were less seriously burned at 9 a.m. today when a kerosene stove exploded in the Simone Herrera residence here.

The father was not at home at the time of the explosion. He was working in Odessa. Mrs. Simone Herrera, mother of the family, was given emergency treatment at Lamesa hospital and released.

The house was located on the north of Stanton and about 12 miles west of Ackerly. Sheriff's officers from Stanton are investigating the tragedy.

Hungary's Puppet Chief Bans Neutrality For Shaken Nation

VIENNA (AP)—Russia's puppet Premier of Hungary, Janos Kadar, today rejected neutrality as a future policy for the nation and refused any negotiations with former Premier Imre Nagy as long as he remains in the asylum of the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest.

Kadar set the policy of his regime in a statement to a workers' delegation, broadcast by Budapest radio, which showed clearly he has no intention of walking out of the Soviet-dominated Warsaw Pact or giving up the close ties with Moscow which set off the three-week revolution.

Kadar said that a neutral Hungary — which Nagy had proposed during his brief tenure as premier — would be "exploited by the imperialists and lead to war." The internal situation, he added, does not favor a policy of neutrality.

As for the man the revolt had made premier briefly, Kadar said an agreement with Nagy "could be possible only if he changes his attitude and comes out of the (Yugoslav) Embassy to negotiate." Nagy took refuge with the Yugoslavs when the Russians poured troops into Hungary and Budapest to suppress the revolution.

In a desperate attempt to end the general strike paralyzing the regime announced a mass purge of former top Communists and the Premier expressed approval of limited "free" elections "at a later date."

Budapest radio said Kadar told the workers' delegation, however, that the only parties which would be allowed to participate in elections would be those which "stand for Socialist principles and serve the interests of the workers."

Kadar claimed he had reached an agreement with Soviet military authorities in Hungary that "no one may be deported," and declared the government would "hold no one responsible for participating in the uprising of the past three weeks."

This contradicted a Budapest radio broadcast yesterday which admitted the Soviet army is deporting Hungarians to the East in sealed railway cars in a desperate effort to stamp out revolutionary elements. The radio told of the deportations in explaining why the general strike had not ended.

Kadar declared in today's statement only persons arrested during commission of "acts of terror" and crimes would be prosecuted.

Another broadcast said the Hungarian army would get new uniforms and recruits wouldn't have to shave their heads. It promised lighter penalties for infractions of military law, bigger pensions for officers and noncoms, and more passes and furloughs.

The flood of refugees from the battered country continued. More than 4,000 crossed into Austria yesterday, bringing the total since the anti-Soviet revolt began Oct. 23 to nearly 30,000.

Budapest radio said approximately 8,000 of the city's apartments had been destroyed by gunfire and explosives during the rebellion and the Soviet blitz which followed. The Red radio claimed that some 160 restaurants and bars had reopened in the capital.

But the general strike continued, apparently unabated. The only stores open were selling food mostly.

Even Budapest radio admitted

Cold Wave Hits City, Low Of 28 Predicted

A cold wave which has brought sub-zero weather and snows to Colorado and Wyoming, hovers to some parts of Texas and chilly temperatures to most of the state, invaded Big Spring early Thursday morning.

However, the low reading for this city was only 39 degrees — as compared with a cold 24 in Dalhart and 28 in Amarillo.

Nearly clear skies were on hand Thursday for Big Spring. Pedestrians were shivering in the chill of the morning but some of this discomfort probably stemmed from the fact that high temperature of Wednesday was 40 degrees higher than the 39 recorded just before daybreak on Thursday. It was still 39 at 8 a.m. and the chilly north wind was still in operation.

Big Spring was warned by the weather observer at noon today that tonight will see the temperature drop to 28 degrees. High for today is predicted at 48. Fair and cold weather is order of the day through Friday. No moisture is foreseen.

The cold front which brought in the lower temperatures and the biting winter weather to many sections of the west was of Pacific origin.

It was moving rapidly through Texas, plummeting the mercury low in the tubes and in some parts of the state setting off welcome showers. Dust was also a part of the weather picture locally and in many other sections.

Houston had 2.68 inches of rain overnight. Heavy showers flooded some streets and underpasses and contributed to 94 traffic accidents, but no serious injuries or damage were reported.

A low of 18 to 28 degrees was forecast for the Panhandle and North Plains Thursday night, 23 to 38 elsewhere in West Texas and North Central Texas and 38 to 41 in East and South Central Texas.

The lowest reading in the state Thursday morning was 24 degrees at Dalhart. Amarillo had 28 degrees, Lubbock 33, El Paso 39, Wichita Falls 45, Abilene and Alpine 46, Dallas 57, Del Rio 61, San Antonio 62, Lufkin 66, Houston 70, Beaumont 71 and Corpus Christi 72.

First Contingents Of U.N. Unit Land

Police Rush In To Forestall Reds

LONDON (AP)—The first 92 men of the blue-helmeted U.N. police force landed near Ismailia in the Suez Canal zone today to keep Middle East peace.

The thin, lightly-armed force was rushed in 15 hours after Moscow reports had said Egyptian President Nasser had requested that Soviet volunteers be sent to Egypt immediately. The U.N. policemen, it was hoped, would forestall Egyptian reliance on Soviet help to eject British, French and Israeli forces.

After the arrival of the U.N. vanguard, an Egyptian Embassy spokesman in Moscow denied that a formal request for Soviet volunteers had been made. An Arab diplomatic source in Moscow said yesterday such a request had been made.

The Egyptian Embassy spokesman said such a request would be made only if Israeli and French-British forces failed to withdraw from Egyptian territory promptly. He said he knew of no deadline. The French and British have already said they would pull out when they decide the U.N. police force is adequate to take over peace preservation duties. But Israel has indicated determination to stay on in the Gaza Strip of Palestine.

An Arab "summit" conference of kings, presidents and high officials, meeting in Beirut, Lebanon, declared they would use force if Britain, France and Israel do not evacuate their troops "immediately and unconditionally."

The U.N. vanguard landed in Egypt on the orders of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold who himself hastened to Italy en route to Cairo.

The first Swiss airliner loaded with 45 Danish troops touched down at Abu Suweir. A second plane carrying 47 Norwegians landed soon afterward. Abu Suweir is on the west side of the canal near Ismailia.

A third plane carrying equipment for the international police force also landed. The Swiss planes were chartered by the U.N. to move the police units and supplies to Egypt.

Arrival word of the planes' was radioed to the U.N. staging area at Capodichino, Italy, near Naples.

Before the vanguard's takeoff, the international force at Capodichino swelled to 467 men of four nations — Denmark, Norway, Colombia and Canada. More are to come, with the force finally totaling perhaps 10,000.

There still was no word of a clear-cut agreement on the exact task of the police force in Egypt. This apparently remained to be worked out by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who left New York last night for Rome and Cairo.

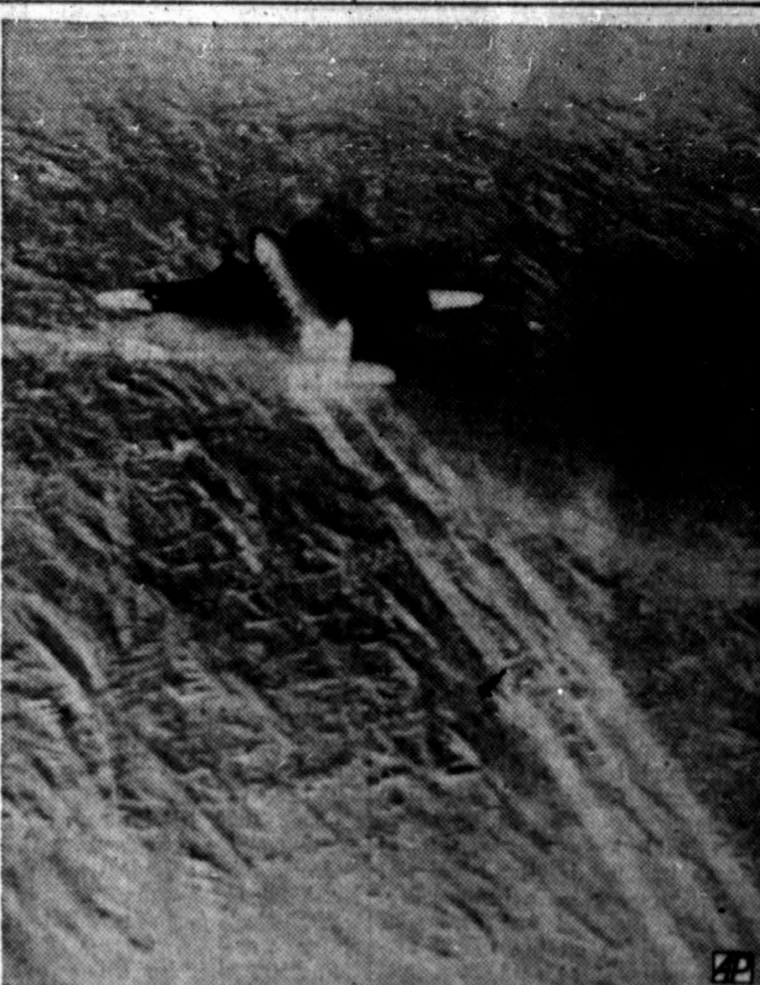

Takeoff of the first units had been stalled two days by technical and political difficulties.

Before leaving New York, Hammarskjold said his mission was "to do what I can to assist setting up and getting going a United Nations emergency force in Egypt."

"It is the first experience of its kind," he told reporters. "It is the first truly international force. Let us hope it will succeed. Let us hope we will succeed in establishing peace and order."

Squarely confronting the U. N. operation were the conflicting stands of Egypt and Britain, France and Israel on the role of the police force.

Egypt demands that the British, French and Israeli invasion forces withdraw immediately, that the U. N. force take up positions along the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice lines, and that Egypt resume full control of the Suez Canal.

First Plane At Pole

The U.S. Navy distributed this photo in Washington and said it shows the first airplane landing ever to be made at the South Pole. The landing was made by a two-engine Navy plane on Oct. 31. The Navy said this picture was made from an accompanying plane flying at an altitude of 500 feet.

Texas Oil Flow Upped For Month

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said the permissive oil flow from Texas wells in December today at 3,442,952 barrels daily, an increase of 75,503 barrels a day.

This was based on a production pattern of 16 days for 31 day December compared with 15 days for November.

Several major oil companies recommended a producing pattern up to 18 and 19 days. Many independent producers told the commission the Middle East crisis could bring about a cleaning up of the excess stocks of crude.

Commission Chairman William Murray told the packed statewide production hearing that the commission could issue an emergency order without a hearing for a half a month if necessary.

Humble, one of the biggest oil companies, recommended 17 producing days for West Texas and 19 for the rest of the state.

Magnolia made the same recommendation. "We face an unusual and significant increase in demand for crude oil in Texas incident to the disturbances in the Middle East which have stopped movements through the Suez Canal and limited movements through pipelines to the Mediterranean," said Herman Pressler for Humble.

Marine Pleads Guilty To Two Beating Charges

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—Marine Pfc. Frederick A. Renton, accused of more than a dozen cases of striking and mistreating recruits at this sprawling Marine base, pleaded guilty to two specifications of the charges against him.

Renton admitted forcing privates Robert A. Palaisa and Clement R. Ploof Jr. to suspend themselves on their elbows and toes while the point of a bayonet was held under their stomachs.

Renton was accused of holding the bayonet himself in the case of Palaisa while another recruit, Edward R. Juneau Jr., allegedly was forced to do it in the case of Ploof.

Another trainee, Joseph W. Anderson, testified that he beat another recruit on the instigation of Renton.

Pvt. Harry Dunevant told the court that he was beaten up in a shower room. He testified that he was "dazed and bleeding." Renton, who was the non-commissioned officer on duty at the time refused to see to it he got medical aid.

Pvt. B. C. Howe of Northampton, Mass., testified that he was hit twice in the stomach for being slow in taking his mattress out of a barracks to air.

ACID BLINDING

Ex-Con Relates Attack On Reisel

NEW YORK (AP)—An ex-convict, confessed conspirator in the acid attack on Victor Reisel, has detailed his version of a slain hoodlum's story of how the labor columnist was blinded for a $500 fee.

Joseph Peter Carlino, who pleaded guilty to helping plot the acid attack on Reisel last April 5, testified yesterday for the prosecution before a federal jury of eight men and four women.

The trial resumes today. Carlino was the first witness in the trial of Domenico Bando, Leo Telvi and Gondolfo (Sheikie) Miranti. Four others, including labor racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, will be tried later in the case.

Carlino testified that the acid hurler was Abe Telvi, Leo's brother, who later was found slain on a lower East Side street.

Carlino said he met Bando one night last March and Bando told him: "I got a contract to beat up somebody. Do you know any one who will take the job? The job's worth $500."

The next day, Carlino said, he met Abe Telvi, who agreed to do it. "I said it was a love affair and this guy was annoying someone else's wife," Carlino said he told Telvi.

Several days later, the witness continued, Abe Telvi was taken to a midtown restaurant where Reisel was making a radio broadcast.

Carlino said Telvi later told him, "He (Reisel) was a little guy and I told Miranti I could take him."

On April 4, the witness said, Telvi — taken uptown for the attack — related that "the time wasn't ripe. They told me to stand by."

The attack took place early the next day as Reisel left Lindy's Restaurant at 51st Street and Broadway.

Major Shakeup Of U.S. Envoys Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is reported planning a major shakeup of ambassadors in at least eight countries during the next few months.

The reshuffle will send a new lineup of American envoys to the four most important Western European countries—Britain, France, Italy and West Germany.

In the Asiatic area, new ambassadors are to be appointed to India, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. Three of these posts are now vacant.

Nearly all the diplomatic changes have been planned for a long time, especially those involving the Western European posts. But they also come at a time when top State Department officials, including Secretary Dulles, are known to be dissatisfied with the caliber of some diplomatic reports immediately before the outbreak of Middle East hostilities.

Dulles is understood to have been particularly upset that Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich in London and Douglas Dillon in Paris were unable to break through what is regarded as a deliberate blackout of news by the British and French foreign offices in the week before the invasion of Egypt.

Daniel Offers More Data To Prove Resignation Legal

AUSTIN (AP)—More reasons in support of his claim that his advance resignation is legal have been offered by Sen. Price Daniel.

The governor-elect and Gov. Shivers are in an argument over the date of holding of a special election to fill the Senate vacancy that will be created when Daniel becomes governor Jan. 15.

Shivers says Daniel's resignation effective Jan. 15 is of questionable legality. Daniel said yesterday 18 other U.S. senators have submitted future resignations, setting some precedent.

Others who are or may become candidates include Democrats James Hart of Austin, Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin, Ralph Yarborough of Austin and Hugh Wilson of Port Arthur.

In a special election, the high ers himself might run for the office if the election is held after he retires as governor Jan. 15. Shivers has not indicated he is a candidate.

One Republican, Thad Hutcheson, is an announced candidate. State Sen. Searcy Bracewell, a Democrat, is running on a pro-Eisenhower platform.

Both Shivers and Daniel have accused each other of trying to swing the balance of power in the Senate.

Final Reports Urged For UF

The United Fund office is being closed, and workers who haven't completed their assignments were urged this morning to turn in reports.

Campaign Chairman D. M. McKinney asked all workers to turn in their cards and contributions to their team captains or division chairman not later than Friday morning. It may be necessary to organize a "clean-up crew" next week to complete the campaign, McKinney said he wants as many of the reports in as possible by tomorrow.

"There's still a lot of cards and money out, but we're in sight of our goal," he said.

Voluntary Basis Urged For Soil Bank

HOUSTON (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau recommended yesterday that the soil bank plan be continued a volunteer program. Delegates to the concluding convention session said incentive payments should start at the same per cent of parity for all basic commodities.

Such a program, the resolution said, would help stabilize agriculture income and cut surplus. It also said harvesting or grazing of soil bank land should be allowed only in case of extreme emergencies, such as drought.

The convention recommended increased funds to promote exports of surplus farm goods. Others suggested that no state, county, or farm be penalized on acreage allotments because of failure to plant due to bad weather, and that grain sorghums remain a non-basic crop.

Additional requests were for increased foreign sales of rough rice and that rice yields be based on the individual's production instead of that of the state, county or farm average.

A recommendation was made that the American Farm Bureau Federation ask for legislation reducing the state cotton acreage reserve to two per cent. It was also recommended that no cotton producer receive a smaller acreage allotment than he received in 1956.

The convention also recommended that the number of State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee members be increased to 12, with each committeeman to be elected for two years.

Walter Hammond of Tye was reelected president. J. H. West of Bishop was chosen vice president, and Loys Barbour of Iowa Park, secretary-treasurer.

Voting delegates to the American Farm Bureau Convention will be Hammond, Edwin Sanders of Paris, S. W. McClaren of Cameron, C. H. Dewdney of Coahoma, Glenn White of Donna and R. A. Fuchs of Brenham.

Paul Campbell To Rejoin TCU Staff: FORT WORTH (AP)—Paul Campbell of Savannah, Ga., international director of education and extension of the Knights of Pythias lodge, will return to Texas Christian University in January in the division of development.

President M. E. Sadler said Campbell will serve as director of Fort Worth development. Campbell was pastor of the Central Christian Church in Weatherford for more than 14 years and minister of the First Christian Church of Bonham for five years.

The Business-Education Day yesterday was a success from the standpoint of teachers and business men alike. I was with a group that visited Texas Electric and thoroughly enjoyed it. They showed us through the local plants then took us via Greyhound Bus to the big power plant at Lake Colorado.

There is a lot more to getting electricity than just pressing a switch. The amount of money those people have invested runs into millions of dollars. For every employe there is an investment of around $30,000, and they are building and planning new structures all the time.

In talking with O. W. Hildebrand, I learned that instead of planning two weeks ahead like some of us, the company plans 10 years ahead. Right now we are in one of the biggest industrial booms in the world's history, according to Hildebrand.

Gas Leaks In Schools Corrected

Ninety-one gas leaks, discovered this fall in the city's school buildings, have been corrected, Pat Murphy, school business manager, reported to school board members this week.

Thirty-five of the leaks occurred at the new Lakewood High School where a joint sealing compound apparently was defective, Murphy said.

The leaks showed up under 20 pounds per square inch of air pressure applied during routine checks. Natural gas fills the pipes under a pressure of only about six ounces. All of the plumbing withstood the 20-pound test following repairs.

Murphy said the high pressure tests are conducted as a precautionary measure each fall. Cost of the project this year was $311.

Free Calendar Offers Valuable Aid In Disasters: A 1957 calendar that puts emphasis on useful information on "what to do in time of disaster" is that which is being distributed by Plough Inc., manufacturers of St. Joseph drug products.

These calendars are designed to perform a helpful public service by featuring proven safeguards for protection of life and property, with such information furnished through cooperation of the American Red Cross, the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the U. S. Forest Service.

Sound advice on what to do in event of floods, hurricanes, tornadoes and fires is listed and illustrated, along with important Civil Defense information. The St. Joseph calendar also carries a storehouse of information on homemaking, child care and other information of value in any household.

The calendars are available from drug dealers, or may be had by writing Plough Inc., Memphis, Tenn.

Death Calls Early: MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Death tapped R. W. Vollmer as he sat in the stands rooting for his 14-year-old son, a junior high halfback, to make a touchdown. Vollmer, 49, an avid football fan, was stricken seconds before halfback Russell Vollmer plunged over for the score.

60 Pct. Of School's Taxes Are Collected: About 60 per cent of the Big Spring Independent School District taxes have been paid for 1956, J. O. Hagood, assessor-collector, reported.

ment Commission. There have been calls for two general farm hands and one tractor driver within recent days, and that's about all. The general farm jobs will be permanent, with the men furnished houses and the opportunity of working through the 1957 crop year. The tractor hand wanted is for only a few weeks. Work in general is slack right now. Construction work is fairly slow, and the job hunters have been through the employment office. Most applicants are not particular, but want anything that will help them make a living. There has been a downward trend in the number of farmers wanting outside work. A spokesman at the employment office said it was possible that most farmers seeking jobs a few weeks ago had already found work. And many of them are busy trying to get out their crops. Little irrigation wells are being put down at a steady rate. Farmers don't necessarily want little wells; they want big ones. However, not much water has been found in this area, where a 300-gallon well is considered above average. Roscoe Gillean of Big Spring has drilled a 250-gallon well on the farm he and his brother, W. O. Gillean, own west of Lee's Store. He doesn't know yet just what kind of system they will use. It may be a sprinkler type, but if the soil is tight enough, they may water down the row this first year. With a scant supply of water, they are now looking for some kind of special crop to grow—one that will pay bigger returns than cotton. The area south of Lamesa probably has less crop cover than at any time since 1952 and 1953. This means that along next March the sandstorms may rake the area from one end to the other and be the topsoil clear to the Mississippi River. W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, says we are ripe for a record number of sandstorms. Crops were very short in eastern Dawson County, in Howard, Martin and Midland counties. Dryland crops made little or nothing at all, and the fields lie fallow and unprotected. A few winter cover crops were planted, but lack of moisture and funds held the acreage down. Goodlett says two things could happen to keep down wind erosion, and both would be acts of providence. We could get some winter rains, which would enable farmers to plow the land. This would help some but wouldn't stop the blowing altogether. And we could also have less wind than usual. Judging by present conditions, however, we can look for high winds, red skies and stinging sand. The biggest part of the irrigated cotton at Lomax has been gathered, says Lawrence Adkins. His crop did fairly well but was very spotted. Some of it made a half bale per acre and some made two bales. Adkins is looking for a crop to grow along with cotton next year, and has been considering some type of grass such as perennial sudan. I WONDER WHY... It never rains anymore. Is the country gradually changing into a scorching desert as some scientists think, or is this just one of those long, dry cycles? Farmers who haven't made a crop in five years can still remain cheerful. Some farmers succeed where others just as smart fail? I am thinking of a boy who came out of World War II with $3,000 and bought a dryland 160-acre farm. He has parlayed this into 480 acres of irrigated land which is nearly paid out. He hasn't had any special luck. He has a large family of small children, mostly girls, and has had his share of sickness. Every year he makes money, while his neighbors go further in debt. When a boy is eight he wants his dad to play ball with him, and at 11 he wants the two of them to go fishing and camping; but at 14 all he wants from the old man is a bigger allowance and the family car. Dairying is the poorest pay of all farm enterprises. Won't people pay any more for milk or is the milk company taking out the profit? Some people think the family-sized farm will come back. Mechanization is taking over, and the 160-acre place will soon become as extinct as the mule and one-row turning plow.

Warns Soviets

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, outgoing NATO commander, at a news conference at SHAPE headquarters near Paris, France, warns Soviet Russia that any attack on the West would be met with instant retaliation and that Russia would be destroyed. The general is retiring Dec. 31, and will take over as the new president of the American Red Cross on Jan. 1.

270 Failing Grades Listed In High School

Of the 700 students in Big Spring High School, 270 made at least one "F" or "D" during the first six weeks of the current semester. This is shown in a report from Principal Roy Worley, submitted to the school board this week. Sophomores made more than half—140—of the failures. Sixty-two juniors made one or more failing grades and 68 seniors failed in one or more subjects. Nearly half the 284 sophomores made the failures. Only a fourth of the junior class contributed to that group's record, while nearly 37 per cent of the seniors had at least one failing grade each. Making D's or F's in three or more subjects were 40 high school students. Seventy-seven made two or more failures and another 153 made but one failure each.

Texas Hunters Discover Wolves Stick Together

By EARL GOLDING
Waco News-Tribune Staff
Written for The Associated Press
ATXTEL, Tex. (AP)—The back yards of rancher-hunters E. V. Sutherland, Jack Walling and A. C. Hurst sometimes look like a refuge for hounds. They're literally full of 'em!
That's because these three fellows are wolf hunters who thrill to the sound of a pack of crossed Walker hounds baying after a fleeing old he-wolf. And believe them, when you run down a wolf with dogs, you better be sure you have plenty of dogs!
"We always keep a combined pack of around 25 hounds," says Hunter Walling, "because we found out a long time ago that it'll take that many."
Why so many hounds?
Because, Walling and his partners say, the wolf is such a cagy old opponent once you jump his trail and the hounds take out after him.
A wolf is smart, tough, durable and extremely loyal to its own kind. The latter quality is what makes catching them such a tough job.
When the hounds get on the trail of one wolf, or a couple of them, hunters say it is not uncommon for another wolf to come barking into their paths, deliberately switching the chase and making themselves the object of the hounds' killing intentions.
"We've seen that happen many times," Walling says, "particularly when the hounds are after really young wolves."

City Expenditures Below Estimates

Expenditures for the first six months of the city's fiscal year are about $25,000 less than the city anticipated.
A report by the city secretary showed that expenses for April through September were $27,161.58 less than what was allotted.
Only in five categories did the expenses exceed what the city had predicted for the period. The city allotted $328,988 for the first six months, and expenditures were $301,826.42.
Expenditures for the city commission, the city hall and auditorium, the inspection department, the parks, and the warehouse topped what had been anticipated.
The city commission was over its part by $704.37, but city officials said that the debit came with the annual audit and would be absorbed during the next six months. The park department naturally spends more money during the summer than in the winter. That department was over its estimate by $136.63.
Biggest item on the "under" column was the streets and alleys category. The city manager, Herbert Whitney, said that reason for this was the lack of rains which would have washed the streets. During the first six months, $35,613.73 was spent in the category, and $48,697.50 was allotted for the first six months of the year.
Garbage collection expense was $3,678.25 less than was expected. In the police department, $3,277.51 was the total under what was allotted.
Revenue in the general fund for the first half of the fiscal year is well below half of what is called for, but this is because there were very few current tax collections during the period. Current tax collections began Oct. 1.
The city estimated that $529,552 would come into the general fund during the year. Of this $348,243 should come from current taxes. During the first half of year, current tax collections totaled $2,960.77.
The revenue from the general fund for the half-year was $124,390.18. Half of the year's estimate would be $246,776.
Fines and court costs have contributed more than half of their expected total, however. The figure for six months was $24,364, and the estimate for the year is $36,000. Fishing permits—estimated to bring in $3,600 during the year—have already aggregated $3,150. Naturally this is a seasonal item, the city said, which will not indicate equal amount during the last six months of the year.
Estimate of money from gas franchises was $40,000, and with the heavy gas-using season still ahead, the total was $19,465.17 for the six months.
With the heavy water-using period behind, the city has already collected two-thirds of the amount expected from water. The city estimated $600,000 would be water revenue, and the first six-month total was $419,361.24. Sewer revenue was estimated $60,000, and the total for six months was $31,581.14.
On the sale of effluent, the city is well below its estimate. The expected revenue was $16,000, and it was only $4,653.99 for the period under consideration.
The entire expected revenue from the water and sewer department was $683,100, and six-month total was $461,661.96.

Expenditures in the department are $41,819.05 over half of the year's total. Distribution costs are $10,273.23 above what was expected, and cost of water from CRMWD is $25,812.14 over the half of the year's total—$256,860.
Even with the heavy expenditure, the city has already transferred to the general fund $110,000. The city predicted it would transfer only $120,000 during the entire year.

Finds Dog, But Refuses 'Reward'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sculptress Jeanne Owens has her basset hound back, but the man who found the pooch isn't interested in collecting his reward.
The hound, named Tuesday, disappeared Monday. Miss Owens said she would sculpture a head of whoever found him.
Patrolman George Bryant found Tuesday lolling on a street corner. He returned the droopy-eared dog to its owner but politely declined the acquisition of another head.

Refugee Entry

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—The Colombian government said last night it will admit up to 10,000 Hungarian refugees.
This was announced yesterday by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, who said they will be housed temporarily at the Army's Camp Kilmer, N. J.
Last week, President Eisenhower ordered this country's doors opened for up to 5,000 Hungarians who have fled Soviet oppression. Hagerty said officials who run the refugee relief law have been "just snowed under" by offers from Americans to provide the Hungarians with homes, jobs and other aid.
He said Camp Kilmer has enough barracks and other facilities to handle about 500 refugees in the immediate future. In another month, Hagerty added, the camp will be able to accommodate "several thousand" others. Hagerty said the refugees would be flown from Europe to McGuire Air Force Base, near Camp Kilmer.

First Hungary Refugees Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first of some 5,000 Hungarian refugees may arrive in this country by late next week.
This was announced yesterday by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, who said they will be housed temporarily at the Army's Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Improvements For Ward School Program Suggested

Eleven "general recommendations" for improvement of the Big Spring elementary school program have been submitted to Supt. Floyd W. Parsons by S. M. Anderson, director of elementary instruction. Anderson offered his suggestions for "thought and study," basing the proposals on recommendations of elementary principals and his own observations.
He recommended:
1. Improvement of "a virtually non-existent art program," possibly with an art supervisor to work with elementary teachers at the outset.
2. Beautification of at least a part of the elementary school campuses.
3. Provision of playground teachers for elementary schools as an aid to the health and physical education programs.
4. Provision of protected play areas in the school plant.
5. Arrangements for meetings or assemblies in all schools.
6. Provision of cafeteria facilities in all elementary schools, taking advantage of the federally subsidized food program where it is needed.
7. Acquisition of more and better teaching equipment.
8. Provision of better supervision and enforcement of attendance, particularly in Lakewood, Kait Morrison and North Ward areas.
9. Provision in the school budget for in-service training, curriculum planning, etc.
10. Improvement of elementary school libraries.
11. Emphasis on special education units, including special teachers, special facilities and transportation.

State Capitol Vet Writes Guidebook

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—The man who has guided more than 60,000 Texas school children through the state Capitol on educational tours since 1952 has published a book giving a stone-by-stone history of the building.
He is Walter Andrus, Capitol guard and educational tour director. He has packed into the book the drama of the high points of Texas history plus a wide variety of information of the state, its government and its ideals.
"Behind This Cornerstone" is the title. Perhaps the most striking feature of the book is its sharp reproductions of old photographs showing progress on the building.
Pictures show convict laborers in striped prison suits painfully chopping out the tough rock from granite mountain. The whiskered guards, their long rifles and the prison dogs stand watch.
Andrus is a small, kindly man often seen leading a long line of youngsters up and down the capitol steps, explaining what goes on in each spot such as the Supreme Court chambers, and reciting many of the dramatic historical incidents that are included in his book.
Andrus, who sometimes guides hundreds of children a day, figures the average tour takes 932 walking steps. If you lined up all the youngsters he has guided single file, three feet apart, they would stretch out for 31 miles.
His book is primarily for youngsters. Texans of any age interested in their state's history and its unique capitol building will find the book worth reading.

Ft. Hood Workers Prove Handicapped Good Job Risks

FT. HOOD (AP)—Forty civil service workers at Ft. Hood are proving daily that physically handicapped persons make good job risks.
Dean Franks, 45, stock clerk in the property warehouse, has been deaf and mute since birth and has been blind in one eye since 1944. Despite these handicaps, Franks owns 100 acres of pasture land in Maxdale, a car and is working toward civil service retirement. His son, Richard, is a freshman at Texas Tech; another son, Gerald, is a Gatesville High School sophomore and a daughter, Judy, attends first grade in Gatesville.
In 1955 he took his present position as clerk in the signal property warehouse.
Harold Gardner, warehouse supervisor, considers Franks "one of the best employes I have ever supervised."
Rolla O'Hair, clerk-typist in the Ft. Hood engineer troop supply office, is another success story.
At 30, O'Hair was paralyzed from the waist down from polio. He was then a mechanic for an implement company in Lampasas.
In 1950 he began a long siege in the hospital. During 1951 and 1952, O'Hair attended the Veterans' School in Lampasas and worked part time repairing magnets for his former employer there.
O'Hair qualified for a civil service position and went to work in his present position at Ft. Hood. His attendance record is near perfect and his efficiency is excellent in every way.

Capitol Book

M. Walter Andrus, veteran capitol guard, has guided Texas school children through the state capitol in Austin on educational tours for a long time and has now published a book giving a stone-by-stone history of the building. "Behind This Cornerstone," designed primarily for school children, is interesting for Texans of any age interested in the state's history. The most striking feature of the book is its reproductions of old photographs showing progress of the building of the structure.

45,000 Owners Of One Acre

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—The Oklahoma Highway Department may have to get signatures of 45,000 persons who own a portion of one acre of land needed a highway right-of-way near Anadarko. Sold in two-square inch lots at $1 per lot, the land was used to raise funds to construct an amphitheater.
Wes Wyatt, president of the Redman Land Co. which sold the tiny lots, quoted highway representatives as saying a quit claim deed signed by him and a "dedication deed" by the former owner might clear the property for the state purchase.

Town Gets Laws, Fires Policeman

EAU CLAIRE, Mich. (AP)—This southwestern Michigan town of about 500 persons which for five months had a policeman but no laws to enforce, now has laws—but no policeman.
For two years city elders worked on a new set of ordinances to replace the old set which unexplainably "disappeared."
At the same time they approved the ordinances, the village councilmen fired the town's only full-time policeman, James Alford. They said they couldn't afford his $3,900-a-year salary.
Alford had no comment.

Wins Recount

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—A recount requested by his opponent, aviatrix Jacqueline Cochran Odum, today left Democratic Judge Dalip Singh Sandh unofficial winner in the race for California's 29th Congressional District. He still had a margin of nearly 4,000 votes.

Mrs. Benson Gives Tips To Garden Club For Growing Pot Plants

Mrs. J. D. Benson gave tips on growing house plants for the Four O'Clock Garden Club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sam Thurman. Cohostess was Mrs. M. C. Griffin.

New Type Blankets Pleasing

At long last you can buy blankets that have a new type of carefree comfort. . . luxury blankets made of 100 per cent acrylic fiber. Such blankets are remarkably soft — astonishingly light — yet independent laboratory tests have proven they're actually warmer, ounce for ounce, than natural-fiber blankets.

Today these remarkable blankets are available in a wide range of colorfast shades — beautifully styled to fit in with every decorative scheme — you'll find them in crib, twin or double bed sizes.

and they do not like direct sunshine. They should be placed in an east or north window and should not be fed too often. Because of the heat of the modern homes, the air is often dry, and a pan of water, placed in the plant box, will help the humidity required by the plants.

Mrs. Benson told the club that an attractive plant can be grown from an avocado seed. Stick three toothpicks into the seed at sides in such a way that they will support the seed at the top of a small glass of water. Allow the seed to touch the water. Soon, roots will form and the seed will sprout. This may then be placed in dirt for growth.

The speaker advised members to have vines as well as pot plants at their windows. Ivy, she said, should be wiped off with a soft damp cloth and should be fed every two months.

Refreshments were served to 19, including four new members, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Fort Jr., Mrs. William Shropshire and Mrs. Gerald Cockrell.

Wednesday morning. The group met in the home of Mrs. W. F. Taylor. Mrs. J. L. Milner described the planting of daffodils; she told where and when to plant them and how to treat the bulbs for the best blooms.

Mrs. C. O. Hitt dealt with the planting of tulips. Mrs. F. H. Talbot, yearbook chairman, introduced the two members on the program, and she also gave a report on the work being done on the yearbooks.

Members voted to use the pyracantha as the club flower. Mrs. M. C. Stulting was appointed representative on the committee for the Christmas lighting contest.

At the next meeting, scheduled for Dec. 12, Mrs. Floyd Parsons will be hostess. Members will bring an arrangement for study.

Uses 'Spot' Method
Actress Jane Howard will soon be seen in Universal-International's "Written on the Wind." Jane explains in today's Hollywood Beauty a new spot-reducing method she discovered when she was a teenager.

Kitchen Space Is Topic Of Elbow HD Club Meeting

Organizing kitchen space was the topic of the program presented Wednesday at the Elbow Home Demonstration Club meeting.

Speaking to the group, Elizabeth Pace, county agent, told the group that kitchen space should be divided into three areas. She said the areas should be mixing space, sink space and cooking space.

A card party scheduled for Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the school was announced. The benefit party is open to the public. Proceeds will go toward the charity project of the club.

Members will send a box of Christmas gifts to the McKnight Sanatorium.

Mrs. Carl Barnes, hostess, gave the devotion from Psalms 66. The next meeting will be Nov. 28 in the home of Mrs. L. L. Johnson.

Soil Preparation Is Garden Club Topic

GARDEN CITY — Soil preparation was the topic for discussion Tuesday at the Spaders Garden Club. Mrs. Ronnell McDaniel was in charge of the program.

Mrs. Vera Lawson, club members voted to postpone meetings until after the first of the year.

Eager Beavers Meet

Members of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club will meet for an all day session Friday starting at 9 a.m. in the home of Mrs. H. D. Burton, 610 Douglas. Members will make clothes and dress dolls for the Fire Department. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

Miss Pinson Honored

Nancy Pinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Pinson, 422 Ryan, has been chosen as a member of the Orange Jackets of Texas University. This is a girls' service organization. Miss Pinson is a freshman advisor at Littlefield Hall, girls' dormitory, and a pledge of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Knott HD Club Has Thanksgiving Party

A family Thanksgiving party was held Monday by members of the Knott HD Club. The social was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGaskins.

Party Fare

Arrange cubes of pineapple and mild white cheese alternately on small skewers. Serve as an appetizer.

Deep Fat Fry

Have your deep fat at 360 to 375 degrees when you are frying doughnuts, fritters or batter-covered shrimp.

Children's Support

Make certain that children have firm, level bedding so that their still growing skeletal structures will have the support needed for proper growth.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

There's Always That Good Old Rolling Pin!

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Jane Howard used to be a secretary until Rod Skelton mentioned her name to a studio talent scout. Jane firmly believes that God helps those who make an effort to help themselves.

"I never stop trying to improve myself," she told me sincerely, as we lunched at Universal-International's "Written on the Wind" set.

"When you say yourself on the screen for the first time, what was your reaction?" I asked. "I was very flattered but I wanted to change my hair," she replied. "It was darker than it is now and with my blue eyes and rather fair skin I wasn't too photogenic so I lightened it slightly. It was a great improvement. Hair is so important. It's a frame for the face and should be styled to flatter one."

"Do you find bleaching your hair is hard on it?" I queried. "Not really because I never leave the bleach on long enough to dry it out. I am very careful about rubbing in a cream pack afterward to condition it."

I told Jane that Frankie Van, who was the head of the gym, had rated her figure as one of the best on the lot. "When I was in my teens I was chubby and my legs were too fat. I began using a rolling pin to roll them and it really worked. Now if I notice that I am gaining on any part of my body and I want to get rid of it in a hurry I get out the old rolling pin and give it a work out. My girl friend has one of the fancy rubber kind but I tried using it and still feel that the kitchen variety is my favorite," Jane continued.

Jane's eyelashes make a dark fringe for her blue eyes and when I admired them she was very pleased.

"I've been massaging them with a special cream which really makes them grow. They seem to come in thicker all the time," she smiled.

Someone stopped at our table and invited Jane for dinner. She declined explaining she had a singing lesson and a dramatic class that evening. "I love learning and I have such wonderful teachers. I hope to be able to get better roles as time goes on and constant coaching is the need of all young stars. I'm working very hard so that I will be prepared when the opportunity does arrive," Jane told me in parting.

Music Study Club To Present Jack Hendrix In Piano Concert

The Music Study Club will present Jack Hendrix, instructor of music at Howard County Junior College, in a piano recital at the college on Dec. 11 at the college.

The club made plans for this at the meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bill Bonner. Cohostesses were Mrs. Bill Griese and Mrs. Chester Barnes.

Mrs. Griese played the hymn of the month, "O, Worship The King." Mrs. G. T. Hall, leader for the program, discussed the early life of Aaron Copland and told of his life from 1921 to 1924.

Roberta Gay played "Bagatelle, Op. 5, No. 1," by Tcherenpin; Mrs. Jack Ware, "The Faithful Heart" by Vidal; Mrs. Omar Pitman and Mrs. Leslie Green played "Finlandia" by Sibelius.

Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "Echo" by Hindemith, followed by "Bear Dance," by Bartok, played by Mrs. Fred Beckham.

"Let Us Sleep, Dear Love" by Debussy was sung by Joyce Howard, with Mrs. Bonner and Mrs. Griese at the piano.

Mrs. J. E. Hardesty was elected delegate to the convention of District Nine, which will be held in Andrews Dec. 7-8. Also planning to attend are Mrs. Beckham, Mrs. C. A. Boyd, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Griese, Mrs. Ruth Burman, Mrs. Norman Furlong, Miss Gay and Mrs. Hall.

The election of Mrs. Floyd Parsons as a new member was announced. Refreshments were served to 23.

Two Are Hostesses For Club

Mrs. Charles Sweeney and Mrs. Bruce Wright Jr. were hostesses for the Child Study Club Wednesday afternoon when the group met in the Sweeney home.

Members gave a description of their families, including names and ages of children.

For the program of the afternoon, each member told of some problem she faced with the rearing of her children. Others of the group told of their solution of such problem when they were confronted with it.

The club voted to send a check to the McKnight Sanatorium to be used for the patients at Christmas.

Fourteen attended the meeting, with Mrs. Edward Slater, a guest.

Girl Scout Workers To End Conference

The third largest delegation attending the regional conference of the Girl Scouts of the USA in Oklahoma City, Wednesday, today and Friday is from the West Texas Girl Scout Council, Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma made up the Cactus Region.

Mrs. J. D. Thomas is a delegate from Big Spring.

The conference was called to acquaint all Girl Scout adults with new developments, to discuss needs and to share points of view, to discuss matters referred by the national board of directors and to provide the stimulation and inspiration of meeting with representatives of other local units dedicated to the ideals of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "Echo" by Hindemith, followed by "Bear Dance," by Bartok, played by Mrs. Fred Beckham.

"Let Us Sleep, Dear Love" by Debussy was sung by Joyce Howard, with Mrs. Bonner and Mrs. Griese at the piano.

Mrs. J. E. Hardesty was elected delegate to the convention of District Nine, which will be held in Andrews Dec. 7-8. Also planning to attend are Mrs. Beckham, Mrs. C. A. Boyd, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Griese, Mrs. Ruth Burman, Mrs. Norman Furlong, Miss Gay and Mrs. Hall.

The election of Mrs. Floyd Parsons as a new member was announced. Refreshments were served to 23.

Beta Sigma Phi Aids State Hospital

Aid to the State Hospital has been given by the Xi Mu Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. At the Tuesday evening meeting the sorority voted to give a cash donation for purchase of articles for the Fashion Shop.

At the next meeting members will bring cosmetics to be given to the shop.

Mrs. Ruth Currie, hostess, displayed for members various items which she has collected from her travels in many countries in Europe.

Eighteen were present with Mrs. Paul Darrow winning the special prize. Darrow will be the next hostess in her home at 609 W. 17th.

Omer Williams' Start For Florida Vacation

By LUCILLE PICKLE
MR. AND MRS. OMER WILLIAMS are leaving by car Friday for a two weeks vacation in Washington, D. C. They will visit her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Wolfington, there.

En route they plan to visit in Tennessee, their former home, and in Georgia with friends and relatives. They also plan to spend some time in Norfolk, Va. with relatives.

For a couple of dry land West Texans, CURTIS AND E. P. DRIVER are getting their share of weather in the northwest. En route to Great Falls, Mont., where they were to headquarter for a hunting trip, they got caught in the big blizzard that hit Colorado. When they called their wives recently they expected to leave Great Falls Thursday afternoon. There was a heavy snowfall when they were calling. They both have bagged an elk, each has two deer and they have also shot their limit of pheasant. They expect to be here late Saturday if the weather does not get too bad.

MR. AND MRS. D. E. JACOBS visited recently in Artesia, N. M., with his two brothers, R. O. and Truman Jacobs and their families. The Big Spring couple had accompanied their daughter, Lacie, and her husband-to-be, Robert Robertson, to Lovington, where they were married.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. LEONARD are expecting their son, L. Robert Leonard, to arrive here Friday night for a visit between changes of stations. He has been at Lackland in San Antonio but has now been transferred to Bartow AFB at Winter Haven, Fla. Now that her son is being transferred to Florida, Mrs. Leonard will have a double barreled reason for going to Florida for the winter as her sister, Mrs. E. G. Ashbaugh, lives in Winter Haven, only ten miles from the Bartow field.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL RIX were here from Odessa Wednesday for a brief visit with us. With them came MRS. GEORGE KESTERSON, whose husband is the present manager of the local Crawford Hotel. The Kesterons have recently been with the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa.

MRS. DOUGLAS CARTWRIGHT, who lives at 1306 Coggin Ave., in Brownwood has written for information on how to decorate a Christmas tree like the one Nat Shick fixed in his yard last Christmas. The one Nat had was a shimmering silver, and the silver came from hundreds of lids cut from tin cans. But he saved more than six weeks before he started on the decorating. I don't know how long it took him and Holly to eat that many cans of food but it must have been a long time. He probably called on the friends and relatives, too. It certainly is an unusual way of dressing up the yard for the holiday season. We wish Mrs. Cartwright success if she decides she can start her tree this year. Maybe she'll make just a little one to begin with.

Word comes from MRS. MAYME REID, who has recently moved to Rockport to make her home near her son and his family, that she is under medical care at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. She formerly lived at 704 Rumsfeld St. here. While she is in the hospital her address will be 1014 Strand, Medical Dept., Galveston.

Knott HD Club Has Thanksgiving Party

A family Thanksgiving party was held Monday by members of the Knott HD Club. The social was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGaskins.

Kitchen storage space was discussed at the Tuesday evening of the club. In charge of the program was Elizabeth Pace, county agent. A box of Christmas gifts will be sent by the club to McKnight Sanatorium.

Mrs. Joe McGaskins will be hostess on Nov. 27.

Party Fare

Arrange cubes of pineapple and mild white cheese alternately on small skewers. Serve as an appetizer.

Kramer Heads List Of Star Terminals

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Staff

When three ends like Ron Kramer, Frank Gilliam and Lamar Lundy show up in the same conference it is bound to cause headaches for the All-America football selectors.

The Big Ten conference wingmen are mentioned prominently in the latest recommendations by The Associated Press Regional A-A boards. But what of the other areas?

Joe Walton of Pittsburgh; Walt Brodie of William and Mary; South Carolina's Buddy Frick; Stanford's Carl Isaacs and Bill Steiger of Washington State are just a few of the other names who deserve top consideration according to the reports.

Kramer, the rough, tough flanker who does everything well for Michigan, provided the margin of victory over Iowa with a field goal which may still boot the Wolverines into the Rose bowl.

The Midwest board reports that Gilliam of Iowa continues to be a "money player." The first of his two fumble recoveries led to the lone touchdown that upset Minnesota last week.

Lundy? The 6-6 Purdue giant is not only an exception pass receiver but didn't allow powerful Michigan State more than 10 yards total on all plays run anywhere near him. He was a major reason the Spartans had trouble managing a 12-9 decision.

Bill Glass of Baylor, Allen Ecker of Georgia Tech, Esker Harris of UCLA and Sam Valente of Penn State also are in the front ranks.

From the Southwest, Texas Christian's Norm Hamilton, Texas A&M's Charles Krueger, Arkansas' Billy Ray Smith and Houston's Dalva are well supported.

TCU Freshmen Await Texas

FORT WORTH (SC) — Texas Christian's undefeated freshman football team will be shooting for its fourth victory of the season against a powerful Texas Short-horn squad at Austin Friday afternoon.

Coad Fred Taylor's Wogs, considered the finest first-year team in many seasons, have moved down Texas A&M Fish (26-14), Arkansas Shoats (20-0) and the Baylor Cubs (41-13). The Short-horns were tripped by the Rice Owls, 13-7, but sidelined Baylor, 22-6, and the SMU Colts, 13-7.

Taylor will send his usual lineup: Jimmy Gilmore, Ennis, a n d Paul Peebles, Killen at ends; Donald Floyd, Midlothian and William Roach, Fort Worth, at tackle; Sherrill Headrick, Fort Worth, and Ramon Armstrong, Ennis, at guards; and Arvie Martin of Dallas at center.

In the fast-striking Wog backfield will be the all-state foursome of Jack Sledge of New London, quarterback; Marvin Lassater of San Angelo, left half; Jack Spikes, right half; and the hard running Merlin Priddy of Hillsboro at fullback.

Gilmore, the speedy end, Armstrong and the 242-pound Roach, have been magnificent up front. Gilmore is the leading pass receiver with 9 grabs for 120 yards and two touchdowns.

The 170-pound Sledge has hit 16 of 27 passes for 251 yards while the 188-pound Lassater tops all ball carriers with 139 yards in 20 carries, 6-9 yards per trip. Priddy is second with 121 yards in 27 tries while the 200-pound Spikes is the leading scorer with 23 points.

Taylor also said he would alternate his second unit. In the No. 2 backfield is John Bonnet of Corpus Christi at the up-post; Jack Redding of Killen and Marshall Harris of Jacksonville at halves and Gatville's John Fulton in the deep slot.

Big Joe Moffett of Corpus Christi at center and tackle Marvin Maestro of Greenville lead the second-team line.

Texas will field one of its largest fresh teams in its history. The line, with all-state ends Larry Stephens of Angleton and Wiley Feagin of Conroe at 200 pounds each, as the sparks, will average 218 pounds per man.

In the Short-horn backfield, Quarterback Bob Lackey of Westaco and Mike Dowdle of Graham are stout performers.

The Wogs will close their season here Nov. 23 in the traditional battle with the SMU Colts.

Swaps' Future Is Still Uncertain

CHINO, Calif. (AP)—Rex Ellsworth says Swaps' broken leg is healing satisfactorily but that it is too soon to tell whether he'll ever race again.

Swaps, holder of four world records and co-holder of a fifth, was injured during a workout Oct. 9 at Garden State Park, N.J. He is still confined there but co-owner Ellsworth says he plans to bring the 4-year-old California colt home "as soon as possible."

All In Hunting Party Succeed

A Big Spring party, composed of Bill Caldwell, Ben Jerkin, D. A. Thurman and Jack Horne, has returned from a hunting trip into New Mexico.

Each member of the foursome bagged a deer.

Frogs, Ponies Have A Chance

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Hard drills were the rule in the Southwest Conference Wednesday as the NCAA ban on Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl put new life into the league's other members.

With the Aggies out, TCU and SMU, each showing a single conference loss, have the best chance for the Southwest's big Jan. 1.

Either could win the title outright A&M loses its final two games to Rice and Texas.

The Aggies went through a short, snappy workout for their game with Rice Saturday. Quarterback Roddy Osborne missed practice with a crick in his neck and may not be ready for the Owls. Coaches said Bobby Conrad probably will start.

The Aggies worked mostly on pass defense under the critical eye of Coach Bear Bryant. "We didn't look good on pass defense," he said. "We looked like it was something new to us."

Asked if he thought the continuation of the NCAA probation for alleged recruiting abuses would hurt the team's playing, Bryant said: "Some people expect the boys to fold. Others think they have more in them than to do that. I belong to the latter category. At any rate, we'll find our Saturday."

Rice, the team the Aggies "find out" against, worked on defense through a heavy rain at Houston.

Coach Jess Neely kept his squad running until dark, the varsity scrimmaging against Aggie plays run by reserves.

SMU drilled in earnest on stopping Arkansas' powerful split-T running. Ends Leighton Stewart and Don Stewart, powerful defensive men, watched from the sidelines. Both suffered knee injuries in the A&M game and are doubtful for the Razorbacks.

The Mustangs also worked on the offensive plays coaches thought most likely to work at Little Rock. Arkansas spent most of its time trying to set up a defense against Charlie Arnold's passing. Coach Jack Mitchell sounded hopeful, saying, "We had a pretty good practice and I think we'll do all right."

The Porkers ran through a brief scrimmage and watched movies of the Mustang's defeat by A&M. TCU spent most of the workout on defense against Texas' multiple offense. Coach Abe Martin expressed approval of the snap and precision shown by the number two unit.

Texas elected as multiple captain four seniors: Mike Trant, Allan Ernest, Joe Losack and Don Maroney.

The team worked on dummy offense and defense plays to avoid further injuries.

Coaches at Waco said Baylor will be in its best physical condition in weeks when the Bears try Nebraska at Lincoln. All hands took part in a long defensive dummy scrimmage and timing drill. The Bears also worked on their kicking game, but passed up contact.

We'd Pick Up Ground On The Kremlin: OU

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Tennessee gained 106 yards against Georgia Tech. Oklahoma could gain more than that against the Kremlin.

This was the bitter boost today of an Oklahoma football fan—one of the thousands here because their high-flying Sooners aren't tabbed the nation's best.

Tennessee, on the strength of a 6-0 victory over Georgia Tech, pushed Oklahoma from atop the Associated Press poll this week.

The furor here has grown daily. State fans feel they were evicted from the top spot without cause following a 44-0 shellacking of Iowa State last Saturday.

The Sooner players, who have won seven straight games this season to stretch Oklahoma's victory string to 37, aren't as vociferous as the fans. But there's no doubt they are unhappy.

"We'll get back," promised quarterback Jimmy Harris, "if we can just keep playing like we have been."

The only person who doesn't seem to mind the Sooners' demotion is Coach Bud Wilkinson, who remembers that Oklahoma beat Notre Dame 40-0 after losing the No. 1 berth temporarily to Michigan State. He might logically feel his players "up" for the Missouri game that the latest jolt will help get game at Norman Saturday.

Witte Named To AP Honor

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—John Witte, a budding wrestler who at 232 pounds can run faster than some ball-carriers, is The Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

If you haven't yet seen Witte in action, you may on New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl game.

For it was Witte's play in the crucial game against Stanford last week that gave Oregon State the inside track to a Rose Bowl appearance and won him the line-man award.

A 6-2 tackle from Klamath Falls, Ore., he opened the holes that made it possible for Oregon State to overcome a two-touchdown deficit and nose out Stanford, 20-19.

Now Oregon State needs only a victory over Idaho or Oregon in its remaining Pacific Coast Conference games to sew up the Rose Bowl bid.

Witte took his selection with his usual quiet. He said he was "very proud," and that it was "recognition that every lineman in the country hopes for."

But Coach Tommy Prothro was less restrained.

Three Junior Teams Active

Snyder sends two of its football teams here this evening for engagements at Steer Stadium with local Junior High elevens.

Both local teams will be gunning for revenge. In a previous meeting with Snyder, Big Spring Eighth Grade contingent lost a 34-0 decision.

The same night, the Big Spring Seventh Graders yielded a 14-7 verdict. Local coaches thought they should have won that one and will be out to even matters tonight.

Seventh Grade teams of the two schools play at 6:30 p.m. The Eighth Grade contingents take the field at the conclusion of the first game.

The local Seventh Graders will carry a record of six wins and two losses onto the field. In addition to the game with Snyder, they dropped a 13-7 verdict to Stanton last week.

Yanks Hailed At Melbourne

MELBOURNE (AP)—The tars and Stripes were raised in a brisk breeze today as 370 U.S. athletes, coaches, trainers and officials of the U.S. Olympic team checked into the Olympic Village.

Australia's 1st Armored Regiment served as a color guard while more than 150 athletes and officials from other nations viewed the ceremony.

Philip Miskin, camp commandant, extended the official welcome and received return greetings from Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, chief de mission and president of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The U.S. women athletes, most of them teenagers, were striking and fetching in their grey-blue jackets and navy blue skirts. They also wore gray-blue hats and white gloves. The men wore navy-blue "Ike" jackets, light-grey slacks and navy blue baseball caps bearing the Olympic emblem.

In his welcome, Miskin said "we hope you'll have warm memories of your stay here."

"At this moment the world needs such an oasis in which men can compete peacefully in sports," Wilson answered that the U.S. delegation "admires your preparations and we are glad to be entered in the type of competition where the only rewards are symbols."

"We have found our accommodations comfortable and the food excellent. Australia has provided everything for comfort. The facilities are outstanding and we are sure the Games will be a tremendous success."

Game In Childress

CHILDRESS, Tex. (AP)—The Class AA bi-district game between defending state champion Stamford and Perryton will be played here Nov. 23, school officials said yesterday.

In a previous meeting with Snyder, Big Spring won, 26-14. In all, the Yearlings have won five, lost three and tied two games.

The Ninth Graders also play next week, opposing Odessa. Bowie there on Thursday afternoon.

The Cause Is Not Lost

An Associate Press correspondent who covered the Hungarian Revolution and managed to escape after the Russians looted 4,600 tanks and from 180,000 to 200,000 Russian troops on the rebels summed up the results in a single sentence: "The war has been lost. But the revolution has not been defeated."

The Hungarian people had been under totalitarian rule for 15 years, first under the Nazis, then under the communists. These two systems differed mainly in nomenclature and outward trappings; inside they were one in the same, and the results they achieved were the same: Total degradation of the human species, the domination of all human and economic affairs by the all-powerful state.

One of the most encouraging features of the Hungarian Revolution—and it seems to us the uprising deserves the dignity of a capital "R"—was that it started among college students and many of its most determined and ferocious warriors were youngsters of both sexes still in their teens.

These kids had never known anything but Communist indoctrination from infancy. They got it in the nursery, in the kindergarten, in the elementary and high schools and in college. And they developed a hate and detestation of the system so consuming that they willingly, almost eagerly, threw their lives into the scales. Moreover, whole regiments and divisions of the Russian-trained, thoroughly indoctrinated Hungarian state army, who presumably had fared better than ordinary citizens, went over with the youths. Only the hated secret police, what few of them survived, lent any help to the Russian hordes who crushed the rebels but did not kill the Revolution.

This was communism's most glaring failure. In stands indicted before the world as not only a ruthless "system" of government, but one that failed to convert the youth of Hungary to its way of thinking and acting.

Communist doctrinaires had argued for decades that, given control of the children and the opportunity to "educate" them in Leninism-Marxism, they would remain ever faithful to the Kremlin.

The Communist masters stand convicted of self-delusion. Written in the blood of God only knows how many thousands of youthful Hungarian boys and girls stands the ineradicable refutation of the wordy pretenses of Communist propagandists.

To paraphrase Tertullian, the blood of these martyrs is the seed of democratic survival among all the races of mankind.

Incidentally, there is a lesson here for those of our citizens who are momentarily worried about our "reckless youth." The overwhelming majority of them have the stuff of heroes.

Item For Next Legislature

Not for the first time in its history Texas had to hold a special election on a constitutional amendment this week because a clerical error of some sort submitted the last of nine amendments meant to be voted on the first Tuesday in November for decision on the second Tuesday instead.

The special election forced by this error cost the taxpayers an estimated $250,000, and of course a relative handful of people went to the polls.

One thing the upcoming Legislature should see to is setting up some sort of legal machinery whereby such errors may be corrected, thus avoiding the expense and trouble of a special election. It shouldn't take too much ingenuity or place too great a strain on the members to devise a simple method of guarding against a recurrence of such an egregious blunder. In cases of an obvious error like the misdating of this particular amendment some special or existing election body should be authorized to correct the mistake and let the election proceed.

What amounts to throwing away a quarter of a million dollars of the taxpayers' money isn't a matter to be lightly disregarded. Human errors are likely to creep in, especially during the rush of ending a legislative session, and simple inadvertencies like putting the wrong election date on one of a group of amendments should be guarded against in the interest of the taxpayers who must foot the bill for needless special elections to correct an obvious blunder.

Mr. Lodge And Diplomatic Double-Talk

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., once a handsome anchor man in the U. S. Senate, is now a skillful and devoted mouthpiece for the United States as her ambassador and chief of the American delegation to the United Nations.

It is not his fault that double-talk has long been the language of diplomacy since long before the invention of the wing collar. But he took refuge in a good bit of such talk the other night during "Press Conference of the Air," on which he was starved, and, in all fairness, he probably had no other recourse.

It is also probable that Lodge's double-dip diplomatic language laid bare, as nothing else could, the blunt fact that the United Nations is powerless in the face of the ruthless suppression of the Hungarian people.

As the conference opened, Lodge was asked by a dozen reporters, myself included, to explain why the United Nations is sending its troops into the Middle East to save Egypt from aggression and none into Hungary to save that small nation from a cruel and brutal aggression that has bathed a whole nation in blood.

Why, said the ambassador, the answer was relatively simple. The two cases, that of Egypt and Hungary, were entirely different and bore no relation to each other. The United Nations could send its first task force into Egypt because Israel, England and France had complied with the request of the U. N. to withdraw their troops from the Sinai Peninsula and the Suez area once the U. N. troops arrive to take over.

But the Russians refused to get out of Hungary, smoothly continued Ambassador Lodge, although his forehead was beginning to glisten with perspiration. (It is unthinkable that an ambassador could do anything as ordinary as sweat even under hot teevee lighting and hot teevee questioning.)

So, since the Russians refused to get out of Hungary in favor of a United Nations force, it would be impossible for the United Nations to send such a force, Lodge said. And that was that.

The ambassador added hopefully that the U. N. was petitioning the Russians to allow a team of U. N. investigators into Hungary. And if Russia refused, Mr. Ambassador? Well, something else would be tried.

But there, stripped of its verbiage and plain for all to see, was the old principle, in or out of the United Nations, that naked might makes right. Add the ambassadorial statement in any of a hundred ways and it produces the same answer. There is no effective challenge to Russian power in the United Nations as of now.

At the conclusion of the news conference, most of the reporters involved were in general agreement that Ambassador Lodge was in a tough spot, that he had stuck his neck way out in agreeing to such a conference, that he had done the best he could and that, for his own sake, he shoulda stood in bed.

For Men Only

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Eileen Quigley, home economics department chairman, has launched a new class for men only.

It teaches future husbands and fathers the finer points of food selection, table etiquette, grooming, clothing selection and family relations.

Auto Suggestion?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two Little Rock motorists driving black 1951 and 1952 model cars of the same make were involved in a minor collision here.

Police said that in the excitement that followed Mike Wright drove off in the car belonging to Leon Huey. Later both returned to the wreck scene to swap cars.

Vets Buy Homes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California veterans were buying 58,894 homes and farms in mid-1956 under the Cal-Vet plan — the state's own GI home loan program.

The Department of Veterans Affairs said the low-interest loans represented almost one-half billion dollars in property transactions. Men and women who entered the service from California are eligible for loans.

Now That The Party Is Over

James Marlow Ike Stands At A Crossroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The kind of world leadership President Eisenhower asserts now may mean the difference between a new war and none and between the retention of Western influence in the Middle East or the loss of it to Russia.

Two main choices confronted him:

- 1. He could have taken a strong, individual position for the United States — even outside the United Nations — and even to the extent of warning the Russians of direct American intervention if they send their "volunteers" into Egypt.
 - 2. Or he could — as he did — throw the weight of the United States behind the U. N. without any explicit warnings beyond saying this country would back up the world organization to keep peace in the Middle East by opposing "volunteers" in Egypt.
- Only time will show whether this choice was the wiser one or whether, since Eisenhower left open how this country would back up the U. N., the Russians may interpret it as weakness and send in their "volunteers."

Anita Dislikes Beauty Contests

NEW YORK (AP) — "Beauty contests," said Anita Ekberg, "are a terrible evil. I don't like them. I never have."

This sounded almost as heretical as if the late J. P. Morgan were to denounce gold. After all Miss Ekberg's own stepping-stone to Hollywood stardom had been the winning of a contest to pick a "Miss Sweden."

"Yes," she admitted, "but it was the only one I ever entered, and I did so only because my mother urged me to. I already was a top model."

What's so evil about beauty contests?

"Everything," said Miss Ekberg. "Many are such nonsense. They pick a 'Miss Fender of 1955' or a 'Miss Washing Machine of 1956.' But what does it mean?"

"Usually they always look for the wrong kind of girl in beauty contests. They want the pretty next-door girl, the sweet, innocent, nothing-at-all girls.

"This kind of a girl is ruined by winning a beauty contest. She doesn't have the drive, ambition, talent or courage to make a career."

"But her head has been turned. She is afraid she will drop out of notice, so she is willing to do anything rather than go back home and live as she did before.

"She listens to men who tell her they can help her get ahead in show business. Often these men have no connection with show business at all. You know what they really want."

Anita said even beauty contest winners who land starlet contracts are little better off.

Miss Ekberg, who is known as "the blonde iceberg" and has a bigger silhouette than Marilyn Monroe, is a graduate of the starlet system.

Her seventh and latest film, "Zarak," co-starring Victor Mature and Michael Wilding, gives her the first real opportunity to unveil her statuesque charm.

Mr. Breger

"Kin I please have my arrow back — the one stuck in your husband...?"

Around The Rim Where On Earth Are We?

Did it ever occur to you that you might be living in Heaven or Hell — as well as this material vale of tears — all at the same time?

I hadn't thought of it either, until I saw a movie put out by the Moody Institute of Science which I understand to be a subsidiary of the Moody Bible Institute, set up to substantiate by accepted scientific facts the truth of the Bible's teachings.

The film demonstrated pretty convincingly that three — or even more — "worlds" could exist in the same place at the same time. It did so by pointing out that the things we consider to be "solid" really aren't solid at all.

Things like brick walls, anvils, baseball bats and human skulls are mostly just empty space. They, and everything we know, are made up of atoms which are largely empty.

Take an anvil, that hard, steel block the blacksmith uses to beat his iron work out on, for instance. If there was some way you could reduce the atoms to the really solid material they contain, and then push all that material together, it wouldn't make a lump big enough to be seen by the naked eye.

Actually, those millions of tiny particles are separated by gaps of space many thousands of times as large as the particles. The same thing applies to the human skull and the brick wall.

Neither is solid, and when you ram your head against a wall, you don't create a collision of one solid against another. What crashes together are the forces which hold the atoms and their particles together in the relationship that makes one substance different from another.

So, the Moody movie concluded, it is possible for two or more "worlds" to co-exist. One could occupy the relatively enormous amount of space not filled by the others.

The difference in the various worlds would have to be in the forces that make up each. I think everyone already agrees that there's a great dissimilarity in physical and spiritual forces. We could be in Heaven and not even know it. And we could be someplace else, depending on the nature of the forces we're lined up with. The preachers can take over here.

David Lawrence Fallacies In Post-Election Comment

WASHINGTON — There are lots of fallacies being spread now about the trends in American politics, based on a superficial glance at last week's election returns.

One is that there is something inherently "weak" about the Republican party and that the Democratic party, with its irreconcilable divisions and control of certain committee chairmanships by Southern leaders, is to be regarded somehow as a "stronger" party.

Another is that a President, when elected to a second term, loses his influence with his party.

A third is that Vice President Nixon and Senator Kefauver are sure bets for the 1960 presidential nominations.

The available evidence on each and a realistic examination of the customs of American politics refutes every one of these assumptions.

Thus, the Republican party evidently was not the "weaker" party in the Eastern states, where old-line Republicans decisively beat Democrats for Congress who had been elected in the recession of 1954. Likewise, Mr. Eisenhower himself dropped several points from his 1952 majority of 70 per cent and 65 per cent in some of the farm districts of Western states. In some instances he was in the minority himself in congressional districts where the Republican candidates for Congress lost in many areas.

All this clearly proves that, when the Republicans are in power, they must have good economic conditions — uniformly good throughout the country — and must capture at least two-thirds of the seats in the North in order to get even a working majority of 25 seats in the House. This is because the Democrats start out each time with 65 to 70 seats unopposed in the South.

Actually, according to the latest returns, the Republicans last Tuesday won 200 seats in the House as against 169 by the Democrats apart from the uncontested districts in the South. The final figures show that the Republicans won 17 Senate contests and the Democrats 12. There were six uncontested Senate seats in the South.

The next fallacy — about the supposed decline of presidential influence in a second term — is one that Adlai Stevenson tried to use as a campaign argument. If accepted, it would logically mean that no President on either ticket ought ever to be elected for a second term.

Marquis Childs Bipartisanship In Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — In foreign policy, where the order of the day has been too little and too late, a new Eisenhower administration with an overwhelming personal mandate must move quickly to try to formulate a long-term policy and the means to carry out such a policy.

The position in which the United States finds itself today is one of almost-desperate uncertainty. In the Middle East against a mountain of evidence, including the fact of successful Russian intrusion in that region through the arms deal with Egypt, this government kept on pretending that everything would turn out all right.

But the deterioration in America's position had begun long before it became frighteningly evident in the present crisis. The comfortable assumption of almost everyone in the administration has been that the temporary, uneasy settlements which had checked the fighting in various parts of the world could be labeled "peace" and put out of mind. In the Presidential campaign peace was a final and patented claim that the Republicans advertised at every crossroads.

The goal of the most influential men in the administration has been to balance the budget and return to normalcy. And that coincided with the desire of most Americans who were happy to accept the twin promises of peace and prosperity. But it did not coincide with the real facts underlying the surface calm.

The armed forces have been cut by about 700,000 men over the past three and a half years. But the reduction from 3,500,000 men to 2,800,000 does not reflect the relatively far deeper cuts in the defense structure. Those cuts in transportation and the other means for bringing a force to bear on a given situation have meant greater and greater reliance on bigger and bigger nuclear bombs.

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has not merely gone along with this policy. At times, as in the recent instance of the memorandum suggesting a further cut of 800,000 in military manpower, he has seemed to lead the way.

But, as the Russian threat to Britain and France of atomic retaliation showed — it was almost an ultimatum — a directorial power can exploit the nuclear stalemate with greater ruthlessness than the democracies. This is the weakness of resting on an alleged nuclear stalemate.

With the new Congress in control of the Democratic opposition and Democrats increasingly critical of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, it would seem that the first move would be an effort to restore meaningful bipartisanship in the conduct of foreign policy.

Dulles, under President Truman, held a succession of offices on American delegations to the United Nations and at international conferences. He was recognized as the representative of the loyal opposition in the difficult process of framing and executing American foreign policy in the cold war period.

With one exception, and that a position below the policy level, Dulles as Secretary of State has failed to give similar recognition to the Democratic opposition. David Bruce, who had been Ambassador to France, was named Ambassador to the NATO powers; but he resigned because he felt this was a more or less meaningless office.

President Eisenhower named Senator Walter George of Georgia to be his special representative to NATO. But George is old and infirm and his appointment was intended in part at least as a consolation prize for the fact that he was being forced out of the Senate by Herman Talmadge who wanted the Senate seat himself.

It is vital that bipartisanship be restored and it cannot be done by occasional White House conferences which are hardly more than briefings to pass on the facts of a given situation. The appointment of a real Democrat with stature in the field would help. Dulles, in the view of Democratic Senators most concerned with foreign policy, can no longer carry that policy in his hat.

Military News Policies Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Government Information subcommittee kept military information policies under scrutiny today.

Chairman Moss (D-Calif.) said there are some signs these are getting tighter. He referred specifically to a new set of Army information regulations issued last week.

"At first blush," Moss said, "these look more restrictive than their present practices."

The subcommittee spent hours yesterday discussing with Defense Department and service lawyers a White House letter on policy to be followed by government employees called on to testify or provide documents to congressional committees.

Afterward Moss told newsmen he thinks the letter is a move toward easing restrictions by specifying that the information be given unless there is a specific order to the contrary from the President. But he said defense officials apparently take the opposite view and are "building a fence to protect their practices."

The letter was written by Gerald D. Morgan, special counsel to President Eisenhower, to Clark R. Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, following up a question Mollenhoff raised at a presidential news conference.

A key section of Morgan's letter said: "An employee is not free merely to exercise his own discretion but in the final analysis information will be withheld only when the President or agency heads acting under the President's authority or instruction determine it is contrary to the public interest to disclose it."

The subcommittee has complained that Asst. Secretary of Defense Robert Tripp Ross refused to give it the recommendations of a Pentagon group studying restrictions on scientific information.

Sheriff Seeking Daring Forger

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Maricopa County Sheriff L. C. Boies is looking for a daring forger who cashed a $84 check in a Phoenix supermarket. Here's how the man signed the bogus check:

"L. C. Boies, Maricopa County Sheriff."

Although the Rev. J. W. Shuler, 96, retired in 1935 as a Methodist minister, he still preaches. Because of failing sight he can't read his Bible so well — but still likes to hold it in his hands as he meditates over the past years.

The Hillsboro minister preached at the First Methodist Church in Paris the day before he celebrated his 96th birthday.

Invasion Of Suez Termed A 'Blunder'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The British-French invasion of the Suez Canal zone was a "monumental blunder" that increased the prestige of Egyptian Premier Nasser among the Arab and Asian nations, the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn. was told today.

Max Harrelson, AP chief correspondent at the United Nations, told the second session of the four-day 23rd annual APME conference that the British-French move "seriously damaged their relations with the United States and undermined their positions as Western champions of international law and order. It increased the prestige of Nasser among the Arab and Asian nations. It left a vacuum into which the Russians were quickly moving."

The explosion in the Middle East, Harrelson said, "was bound to occur."

"If Israel hadn't started it," he said, "Nasser would have. Everything pointed in that direction since September 1955 when the Russians made an arms deal with Egypt."

The determining factor, Harrelson added, "was the Soviet difficulties in Poland and Hungary."

And, he said, "the principal factor in the cease-fire and the agreement of Britain, France and Israel to withdraw was not public pressure or U.N. action but threats of Soviet intervention."

"All three invaders," he said, "were firmly convinced that Russia would move in and start a third world war."

The Egyptian situation, Harrelson said, is still "highly explosive."

"So much so," he said, "that it could touch off a real war. When will the U.N. be able to get the police units out? And, if so, what happens then?"

Also on the schedule were panels conducted by Randolph Norton of the Charlotte Observer, chairman of the APME Newsfeatures Committee, and Charles Henry Hamilton of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader, chairman of the APME Foreign News Committee.

Taking part in the Newsfeature discussion were A. Vernon Croop, Rochester (N.Y.) Times-Union, and Philip W. Porter, Cleveland Plain Dealer.

On the foreign news panel were Alfred Friendly, Washington Post and Times Herald, and George Beebe, Miami Herald.

Wiggle Ban Put On Elvis Show

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A no-wiggle restriction has been placed on Elvis Presley's appearance here Nov. 25.

Police Chief Carl Heustis said he won't permit "any lewd, lascivious contortions" on the part of the entertainer.

"As you can surmise," the chief said, "I just don't happen to be one of his admirers."

Pastor Still Active At 96

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—At 96, the Rev. J. W. Shuler of Hillsboro retains the simple faith that inspired him when he roamed the hills of Tennessee and Virginia as a Methodist circuit rider 60 years ago.

"I believe in progress and am willing to accept changes except in the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ which is the same yesterday, today and forever," he says.

Although he suffers from failing eyesight, he still takes a daily walk and serves as a substitute pastor.

He preached at the First Methodist Church here the day before he was 96. His grandson, the Rev. John Shuler, is pastor of the church. His son, Bob, was pastor before John.

'Memory' Lingers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maldonado heard something move in their bedroom. They called Maldonado's brother Manuel. After inspecting a portable closet, Manuel said:

"It must be a badger. Badgers bite. We'll have to kill it."

The brothers pressed against the closet door to squeeze the animal to death. But the badger turned out to be a skunk. The skunk died. But the memory lingered on.

Drought, Technology To Show In Christmas Toy Sales Here

By DON HENRY
The drought and the mechanical age will influence the sale of toys here this Christmas. Merchants here agree that the drought will affect the quantity of toys purchased, and the mechanical influence will be felt on the type of toys purchased. A survey of toy dealers here this week showed that most felt that the drought in this area would keep the Christmas sales about on a level with 1955, although the nation is looking for a bigger year. Also, the dealers looked for mechanical toys to spark the sales list this season. Of course the old standby dolls and cars will keep the cash registers rattling, but the new mechanical models — principally battery-operated items — are expected to sell heavily. Stores here started filling their stock rooms with toys as early as the first part of July, and they are still getting in orders. Most of the stocks are complete though. Many of the merchants have already placed their toys on the counters, while other stores are waiting until after Thanksgiving. People are buying earlier this year also, the check revealed. One store manager said that layaways were running about 50 per cent higher this year than in 1955. The regular sales on toys, however, have not been any better than in the past at this time. Another listed several reasons why he felt the people are buying earlier. "People are getting to the place where they do their shopping in October and November to avoid late rushes and so they can get better selections. "This also gives them an opportunity to shop around and pick what they want instead of having to take what they can get," he added. To a great extent, the average parent or toy buyer is getting away from the same toys he purchased last year, the merchants agree. He is turning to mechanical and educational toys. Of course, he probably will never forsake the doll, drum, and cowboy guns, but more and more he is turning to active toys. Among the biggest sellers are battery-operated models. These include cars, tractors, army tanks, trains, and robot-men. These electric vehicles can be steered, have gears, and they will back up when they hit another object. Little fire trucks are made that will actually pump water when hooked to a lawn hose. Electrically operated cannons will shoot toy shells and can be aimed; the trucks have lifts that will pick up other toys. The battery-operation also extends to the train line. The number of innovations to dolls is limitless, the merchants say. Dolls now will cry, walk, wink, talk, can have their hair curled, and even wet a diaper.

Lunar Eclipse To Occur On Saturday

Eclipses of the moon are old hat to professional astronomers and rate only cursory interest. To the amateur star gazer and to the people in general who seldom bother to even look at the skies, such an event is a colorful and exciting thing. Saturday night, if the skies are clear, Big Spring residents and the country at large will be treated to such a celestial show. A total eclipse of the moon will occur that night. The spectacle will be all the more dramatic because the moon will be full and the obscuring shadow of the earth will sweep across its silver surface and block out the orb completely. Scientists say that such an eclipse will not occur again in this country until 1960. The first dusty brown edge of the earth's shadow will begin to block out the brilliance of the moon at 10 o'clock. Two hours and eight minutes later the moon's disc will be completely covered. It will be an ideal opportunity to watch the spectacle since the moon will be high in the sky at that hour and no blocking objects nor horizon distortion will mar the view. The relative positions of the sun and the moon in relation to the sun create the illusion that the shadow of the earth's disc is just about the same apparent dimensions as the moon. The same relative positions of the three bodies is responsible for the impression that the moon, when it crosses the path of the sun and causes a solar eclipse, is of the same size as the sun.

Elvis Gets Vote For Lt. Governor

DALLAS (AP) — Officially canvassed Dallas County election returns showed yesterday singer Elvis Presley received one written vote for lieutenant governor and one for attorney general last week. Among the written candidates for governor were Princess Grace of Monaco, labor leader Walter Reuther, and "anyone." Gen. Douglas McArthur and evangelist Billy Graham both received written votes for president and vice president.

Methodists Schedule Area Conference In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH — Two thousand Methodist adult leaders are expected here Thursday, Nov. 29-Dec. 2, for a Dallas-Fort Worth area convocation. The First Methodist Church will be host to the adult leaders who will come from three Methodist conferences, North Texas, Northwest Texas and Central Texas, which include approximately one-half of the state. Featured speakers for the convocation will be Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, who is the presiding officer of the area and will address the conference on Thursday night; Dr. Gaston Footo, host pastor, will speak Sunday morning; Dr. Dwight E. Loder, president of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., speaks Friday; and Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indianapolis, Ind., presiding officer for the Indiana Area. Leaders say that basic personal helps from the convocation will come from 60 discussion groups on "responsibilities" and from 60 discussion groups on "skills." Each person will have an opportunity to participate in two "responsibility" groups and two "skill" groups, each time under a different leader. Each adult Sunday School class is being urged to send a representative.

Legal Papers Weigh 150 Pounds

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—An attorney came into court pulling his youngster's coaster wagon—on it 150 pounds of papers in a suit the attorney filed. Atty. Roy Seagrave had to have one copy for each of 438 defendants in an action to establish a right of way through a new subdivision.

JOYCE GOUND
"Who's Who"

REBECCA AFFLECK
Beauty nominee

McMurry Honors Big Spring Girls

ABILENE — Two Big Spring students have received high honors at McMurry College. They are Joyce Gound, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Gound of 802 W. 18th Street, and Rebecca Affleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Affleck of 1001 Howell Ave. Miss Gound was one of 15 McMurrans elected by her fellow students to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Miss Affleck has been nominated as one of the 15 most beautiful girls at McMurry in a campus-wide yearbook beauty contest. Dr. Joe C. Humphrey, McMurry dean, said that nominations for the "Who's Who" honor were made by the McMurry faculty, from total membership of the senior and junior classes. Thirty students receiving the most nominations from the faculty were placed on a ballot sheet, and the student body narrowed it down to the top 15. Qualifications by which the faculty made its nominations were character, leadership, scholarship and potential of future usefulness to society. Miss Gound, a 1953 graduate of Big Spring High School, holds the offices of chaplain in the Delta Beta Social Club, artist of Wah Wahlysee hostess club, and treasurer of Christian Foundation. She was a member of the McMurry Chanters in 1954-55. Joyce is noted for designing the stage setting and painting the centerpiece for the 1956 Homecoming ceremony. Miss Affleck, the beauty contest nominee, is a freshman English major, and is a 1956 graduate of McCamey High School. While at McCamey High, she was a member of the band, cheerleader one year, majorette three years, worked on the school paper. Also, she was freshman, sophomore, and junior class favorite; and was secretary of the junior class. Miss Affleck also sang in the choir. At McMurry, she is a program area officer in the Christian Foundation, and is a member of the McMurry Chanters, mixed choral group. The eight top beauties at McMurry will be chosen from the 15 nominees in a "live" judging contest on November 20. The contest is sponsored by the 1957 Totem, college annual. They will be judged on beauty of face and figure, smile, walk, graciousness, charm, poise and personality. The 15 girls in the run-off election will appear together and individually, in evening dress, before the panel of seven judges. Students from McMurry, Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University, and Abilene business and professional men will make up the judging panel.

Boy Is Handcuffed To Garage Door

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Okay, so you find a pair of handcuffs on the sidewalk. If you are 7 years old, like Sammy Garcia, and on your way home from school, you snap one end around one wrist. Along comes Ronald Davis, 12, who snaps the other end around a garage door handle. Sammy yelled for help. His mother Mrs. Frances Garcia arrived, took one look and called police. They unlocked Sammy and the garage door, checked the serial number on the handcuffs and found that officer Richard Cullinan had lost them while on patrol.

Charges Dropped In Biting Case

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (AP)—Authorities have dropped battery charges against Mrs. Margie Gomes, 26, who was accused of biting the dogcatcher. Her trial last week ended in a hung jury and charges were dismissed yesterday in Municipal Court for lack of further evidence. County dogcatcher Donald A. Baird, 28, said Mrs. Gomes bit him after he locked her boogie in his wagon Sept. 26.

Three Chess Tournaments To Be Drawn Up Tonight

Three chess tournaments and possibly others will be set up at the meeting of the Howard County Chess Association Thursday. The meeting is at the Servicemen's Center, 113 E. 2nd. The tournaments to be set up are in addition to the county association tournament. Training of teams for the matches is to be initiated at the session Thursday. The center is to be open for play from 5 p.m. to midnight on Thursday, from 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Friday, 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and from 2 to 7 p.m. Sunday. It was emphasized that the association does not limit activities to players who wish to participate in tournaments. Any person who desires is invited to drop in at the center at any time for a casual game or to be a spectator at any play in progress. Free instruction to beginners is also provided by the association. Beginners are not required to sign up to play in tournaments nor to be members of teams. Matches will be arranged so that amateurs just learning the rudiments of the game will play others with no more experience. Nearly 100 persons have already signed up as members of the association through its affiliate organizations. A report is due Thursday on new organizational activities at the Webb Air Force Base.

Cabbie Takes $64,000 Prize

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas J. Kane, an Irish-born cab driver with a scholar's knowledge of the English language, won $64,000 last night on a television quiz show.

Kane, 49, of Lockport, N.Y., was the sixth contestant to cop the top prize on CBS-TV's The $64,000

Question in the show's history. Competing in "The English Language" category, Kane was given eight definitions of words that could be formed from the letters in the name Eisenhower. He was asked to give the words.

The definitions and answers: 1. Smallest of the mammals (shrew). 2. An evening party (soiree). 3. A willow whose flexible twigs are used for furniture (osier). 4. The short title of a utopian novel (Erewhon). 5. A generic term for any important Greek temple (temple). 6. Plural for a wide-mouthed pitcher (ewers). 7. A large net for fishing (seine). 8. A frame on which skins are dried as for parchment (herse).

Spanish Hero Dies

PARIS (AP)—The death of Dr. Juan Negrin, last premier of the Spanish Republic before the Franco forces overwhelmed it in the civil war, was revealed here today. Dr. Negrin, 64, died Monday. He was buried today in a private ceremony.

Louisiana Kicking Over Dixie Traces

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—President Eisenhower's victory in Louisiana, the first for a Republican in 30 years, may signal an end to this Deep South state's die-hard devotion to the Democratic party. Republicans, however, are not much closer to organizing state politics into a two-party battleground because the vote was a show of independence rather than a switch in party preference.

That's the meaning of last Tuesday's vote, according to the state's newspapers and veteran political observers. In 1952, Democrat Adlai Stevenson held Louisiana by 38,000 votes despite then Gov. Robert Kennon's active opposition.

This year, the state went to Eisenhower by more than 75,000 votes although on the surface the Democratic party was united. A number of reasons are possible: 1. A poorly financed Democratic campaign, hampered by squabbling between backers of Gov. Earl Long and the anti-Long factions. 2. A heavy anti-Long vote, possibly reaction to Long's high-pressure tactics in the 1956 Legislature that extended into the presidential election. Long was slapped down hard on several state issues at the same time. 3. A switch of as much as 50 per cent in the Negro vote, which went about 96 per cent for Stevenson in 1952. Negro leaders termed it a "protest vote" against white supremacy tactics of Southern Democrats. 4. The Suez crisis. States Rights leaders say it cost them many votes. "The people were afraid to hurt Mr. Eisenhower's chances."

5. A well-organized, heavily financed Republican campaign. A top Stevenson leader said after the votes were counted: "We could have held Louisiana for Stevenson. But we'd have had to put on a lot stronger campaign, spent a lot more money. We didn't have that kind of money. Even so, I thought Stevenson would carry the state by a narrow margin."

The Baton Rouge Morning Advocate said the election gave two-party hopes "another shot in the arm. But the basic problem facing the Republicans remains the same that it was in 1952."

"The Republican problem is how to convert more of those who voted Republican in the last two presidential elections into Republicans at the state politics level. The experience of the past four years has shown it isn't too easy."

Leg Breaking Reported Again

BUFORD, Ga. (AP)—Five Rock Quarry Prison convicts involved in a fresh outbreak of self-mutilation did not claim they were protesting alleged brutal treatment or oppressive working conditions, the state prison director said.

Jack Forrester, director of the State Department of Corrections, said the two smashed their legs Monday with 20-pound sledgehammers. Three others, he said, were prevented from smashing theirs by foremen.

He quoted one as saying he "thought it was the nearest way out of here." The five Negro convicts broke away from a work force while returning to the quarry from a rest period, Forrester reported. He said they hid behind a rock from tower guards and grabbed sledgehammers to smash their legs.

Convicts have been separated from their hammers during rest periods since last July, when 41 inmates mutilated themselves in a two-day outbreak of leg smashing.

Reds Refused Film Evidence

LONDON (AP)—A British newsreel editor reported today the Soviet Embassy had tried—and failed—to get hold of films that could be used to identify Hungarian freedom fighters.

G. T. Cummings, London editor of Pathe News, told newsmen, "The films could incriminate thousands." Cummings said the newsreels, taken by Hungarian cameramen at the height of the fighting in Budapest, show Hungarians shooting at the secret police in the streets of Budapest and setting fire to buildings and Russian tanks. Some reels also show Russian troops fraternizing with Hungarians.

He said the Soviet Embassy asked Pathe for copies of the reels. The company turned down the Russians. "At the public cinema the film moves too quickly for people to be identified," Cummings explained. "But anyone with the reels in their possession could enlarge photographs of individuals."

Russian Troops Sided With Rebels

WASHINGTON (AP)—An escaped leader of the Hungarian revolution testified today that many Russian troops in Hungary "were on the side of the rebels." He said some even turned guns on their own comrades.

The witness, however, said the Soviets threw fresh and tougher troops into the fighting later who "terrorized" dissidents and compelled them to help crush the revolt.

The testimony came from a young Hungarian refugee, concealing his identity behind a mask of white surgical gauze and an assumed name lest he be recognized and reprisals taken on relatives he left behind.

Smoker Endurance Test Slated Again

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Smokers and nonsmokers will match endurance again in the second annual Pike's Peak or Bust Marathon next July 27.

The foot race up and down the 14,110-foot peak was inaugurated last Aug. 10 with sad results for the cigarette addicts. Of 14 smokers who entered, not one finished the round trip.

Monte Wolford, 28, a local gymnasium operator, won in the time of 5 hours 39 minutes 58 seconds. Rudy Fahl, a physical culturist who sponsored the inaugural race, said he will accept entries until one week before the race is run.

Tasty Sesame Dressing For Stuffing Turkey

By CECILY BROWNS ONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Feel adventurous this Thanksgiving? Then here's a new turkey stuffing recipe you may wish to try. It includes sesame seeds—an ingredient that has become popular of late.

Frosted grapes make a garnish that tastes delicious with this turkey and stuffing. At serving time, surround the roasted turkey with the grape clusters and present it to the carver; remove the grapes to a small serving dish before the carving is done. Then as each person is served, a cluster may be added to the plate along with slices of the bird and spoonfuls of its stuffing.

SESAME STUFFING

Ingredients:
Eight pound ready-to-cook turkey, 1 teaspoon minced garlic, 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 2 1/2 quarts soft 1/2-inch bread cubes, 1-3 cup minced parsley, 2 tablespoons sesame seeds, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup white grape juice.

Method:
Rinse turkey in cold water and pat dry. Refrigerate turkey while stuffing is prepared. Add garlic to butter and melt butter. Mix soft bread cubes, parsley, sesame seeds, salt and pepper. Add garlic butter and grape juice to bread mixture; mix well. Rub neck and body cavities with salt. Spoon stuffing into neck cavity, using enough to fill the skin so that turkey will look plump when served. Fold neck skin over and skewer it to back. Twist wing tips and fasten them "akimbo" style, bringing tips onto back. Complete stuffing body. Close body cavity by skewering skin together and lacing it closed with heavy cord. Tie drumsticks to tail. Brush skin thoroughly with melted butter or shortening. Place turkey, breast up, on a rack in a shallow open pan. Insert a meat thermometer through the membrane between the first and second ribs, so that bulb end reaches into center of stuffing. Roast uncovered in a slow (325 degrees) oven for 3 hours or longer—until stuffing temperature reaches 165 degrees and turkey meat is cooked through. Do not sear and do not add water during roasting period.

Note:
To test turkey for doneness, press fleshy part of drumstick between fingers; if meat is very soft, it is done. Move the drumstick up and down; if the bone moves easily or twists out of joint, the bird is done.

FROSTED GRAPES

Ingredients:
Purple and green grapes, 1/4 cup water, 1/4 cup white corn syrup, granulated sugar.

Method:
Wash bunches of grapes in cold running water; cut in small wafled clusters; drain well. Mix 1/4 cup water and corn syrup together well. Dip grape clusters in mixture; drain; sprinkle with granulated sugar. Arrange frosted grapes on grape or ivy leaves around turkey platter.

Turkey Gravy Adds Perfect Touch To Thanksgiving Feast

The typical menu at Thanksgiving dinners means different favorites for all members of the family. Probably the most popular thought remains the tantalizing turkey gravy.

TURKEY PAN GRAVY

1/4 cup turkey drippings, 1/2 cup flour, 6 cups milk, finely chopped cooked giblets (if desired), 1 tablespoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Method:
Pour drippings from pan in which turkey was roasted. Put 1/4 cup drippings in a skillet. Add flour, mix well and brown slightly. Put 2 cups milk in roasting pan and cook up browned bits. Gradually add this and remaining milk to mixture in skillet, stirring constantly with pancake turner to make smooth gravy. Add giblets, salt, pepper, and other seasoning, if desired, for a well-flavored gravy. Cook 10 minutes. If a thinner gravy is desired, reduce flour to 1/2 cup.

Broth from cooked giblets may be substituted for half of the milk.

Some families like their Thanksgiving dressing to be at the same time stuffing, while others would not think of putting it inside the bird and toss all together with stuffing or made with regular bread, but whatever the method and the recipe it is predestined to be a Thanksgiving favorite.

Cornbread Dressing Is Still Holiday Favorite

Savory old-fashioned tuffing for that Thanksgiving bird is made with a cornbread base. Try this dressing for a tasty feast.

CORN BREAD STUFFING

4 cups broken corn bread, 4 cups boiling water, 1 onion, grated, 1 cup diced celery, 2 eggs, beaten, 1/2 cup butter, melted or salt pork fat, Salt and pepper to taste, 1/2 teaspoon sage.

Combine bread and boiling water and squeeze out fairly dry while still hot. Add remaining ingredients, mix well and stuff fowl. This amount is sufficient for a duck or a 4-pound chicken. Double or triple recipe for turkey.

Chocolate Chiffon Pie For Holidays

Chocolate chiffon pie with Brazil nut crust will be the perfect ending to that Thanksgiving feast. If the family is too stuffed for after-dinner dessert, it will be delicious for a later snack served with hot coffee.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolates, 2-3 cup icy cold evaporated milk, whipped, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 9-inch Brazil nut crust.

Mix together gelatin, sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in milk; add semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring occasionally until gelatin dissolves and chocolate is melted. Remove from heat; beat with rotary beater until chocolate is blended. Chill until mixture is chilled and mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped evaporated milk and vanilla. Turn into prepared crust; chill until firm. When ready to serve, garnish with whipped cream and Brazil nut curls. (To whip evaporated milk, chill milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edge. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or on high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff.)

BRAZIL NUT CRUST

1 cup ground Brazil nuts, 2 tablespoons sugar.

Mix the Brazil nuts with sugar in a 9-inch pie plate. Press this mixture with back of tablespoon against the bottom and sides up to rim of the pie plate. If toasted flavor is desired, bake in a moderately hot oven, (400 degrees F.) 8 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Add Apples

You can give your favorite coleslaw a Cinderella touch by adding fresh, spicy red apples to the dressing. Grate tender red Washington Delicious apples, skin and all, into mayonnaise or sour cream dressing. Season with salt and pepper and pour over coleslaw.

Cranberry Cups

Save orange halves from which the juice has been extracted and cut away any protruding membrane with a kitchen scissors. Notch edge of orange halves with scissors. Use orange cups to hold cranberry relish or cranberry sauce.

Freezing Note

Raw cranberries freeze well, with or without added sugar or syrup. If you have a freezer, you may wish to store some of the berries in it. Cranberries lose only a little weight and volume through freezing.

Use Packaged Shortcuts For Turkey Day Menu

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

How easy can the cook make kitchen life this Thanksgiving holiday? One answer: it depends on how she takes advantage of market shortcuts in preparing that big dinner.

As to the stuffing itself. We find the 8-ounce packages of prepared herb-seasoned bread stuffing excellent. For a quick and delicious dressing, melt half a cup of butter or margarine in a cup of hot stock; stir in the stuffing and a cup of chopped cooked chestnuts. (The chestnuts, ready-prepared in jars, are available in some markets.) Or if you do want to start from scratch, you can use the following recipe for Chestnut Dressing.

We usually bake some white potatoes in their skins along with the turkey. Then we use canned sweet potatoes for those eaters who must have this variety of spuds at holiday time.

Another vegetable? Canned cooked small white onions are a great boon. We serve them in a well-seasoned white sauce with green peas or snap beans (canned or frozen) and some strips of canned drained pimiento. Or we offer a vegetable medley—onions, sauce the peas or snap beans (or both) and also canned drained whole-kernel corn. If you do not use the gay strips of pimiento, sprinkle a little paprika over the vegetable pot-pourri before serving.

We are likely to omit a salad after a big holiday main course of turkey and fixings and instead serve a relish tray. Celery, carrot strips, radishes, olives and gherkins often go on this. A bowl of whole cranberry sauce and a plate of sliced jellied cranberry sauce are on the tray, too.

For dessert, you will probably want to buy or bake your own pumpkin pie.

CHESTNUT DRESSING

Ingredients:
One-third cup butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups finely chopped onion, 1 1/2 cups finely chopped celery, 8 cups dry bread cubes (1/2-inch), 1 cup chopped cooked chestnuts, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon sage (if desired), 1 egg, 1/4 cup water.

Method:
Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet over low heat; cook onion and celery in butter, stirring often, until wilted and partly tender. Put bread cubes into a large pan; spoon butter mixture over bread. Add chestnuts and mix well. Stir salt, pepper, poultry seasoning and sage (if used) together; sprinkle over bread. Beat egg thoroughly; beat in water. Add egg mixture to bread and toss all together with two forks. Stuff turkey with dressing at once and roast. Makes 9 cups dressing, enough to stuff a 12-pound bird.

Duckling Is Different Holiday Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

If roast duck is your choice for Thanksgiving dinner, you can give it festive accompaniments. Wild rice and frozen green asparagus tips, for instance, will help make an elegant menu. So will candied whole cranberries arranged in scalloped orange shells. To ladle over the fine rich duck meat, serve an orange-flavored brown sauce.

For your salad, we suggest a simple one of crisp greens. Garnish the salad, if you like, with half-moon slices of avocado. Over the greens pour a good dressing.

Some cooks like a low temperature of 325 degrees for roasting the duck; others like at least 350 degrees. If you use the low temperature, you may wish to brush the duckling with a mixture of honey and vegetable bouquet sauce a half hour or so before the bird is tender. Or you may want to omit the brushing, and raise the temperature during the last half hour of roasting in order to brown and crisp the skin.

ORANGE BROWN SAUCE

Ingredients:
One orange, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 can (6 ounces) concentrated quick-frozen orange juice, 1 1/2 cups water, 1/2 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 2 tablespoons cold water or cooking sherry, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Method:
With sharp knife peel rind (without white membrane) from orange and lemon. Cut rind into thin julienne strips about the size of toothpicks. (Cut orange into membrane-free sections and reserve; squeeze enough juice from lemon to make 1 tablespoon and reserve.) Cover strips of rind with boiling water and let stand for 5 minutes and then drain. Meanwhile melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and cook 2 minutes, stirring often. Add undiluted concentrated orange juice, lemon juice, 1/2 cups water and kitchen bouquet. Bring to boil over moderate heat. Combine and add cold water, cornstarch and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and boils. Stir in orange sections and drained strips of peel. Serve with two roasted Long Island duckling. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Celery Salad Is Delightful Surprise

Looking for a new salad? Here's a delightful one.

STUFFED CELERY SALAD

Ingredients:
One package (3 ounces) cream cheese, 3 tablespoons finely chopped chutney (without syrup), 24 pieces celery (cut them in 1-inch lengths), 1/2 cup chopped pecans, Bibb lettuce or romaine, French dressing.

Method:
Have the cream cheese at room temperature; mix well with the chutney. Fill celery pieces with cheese mixture and sprinkle with chopped pecans; do not try to fill celery wedges full if there is not enough cheese to go around. Arrange stuffed celery pieces on Bibb lettuce or romaine. Serve with a French dressing made from olive oil, wine vinegar, prepared mustard, salt and pepper. Makes 6 servings.

Frozen Salad Delight
... served by Mrs. Milner

Holidays Add Thoughts Of Delectable Menus

Holiday times bring thoughts of the gay parties, entertainment and loads of tantalizing food. Even though turkey and dressing is the main course of Thanksgiving day, Mrs. J. L. Milner has contributed a frozen salad recipe that will add the perfect touch to that holiday menu.

"The nice thing about this salad is that it can be prepared several days prior to serving it," Mrs. Milner said. Mrs. Milner thinks this salad will delight the cook of the family because it will enable her to have a few minutes rest before the last minute preparations of the big dinner.

FROZEN SALAD DELIGHT

Ingredients:
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1 large can fruit cocktail
1 number two can pineapple chunks
1 cup nuts
16 marshmallows.

Method:
Place marshmallows in sauce pan with two tablespoons of pineapple juice. Place on low burner. Mash cheese until smooth and pour into marshmallow mixture. Pour this mixture over well-drained fruit, add nuts and stir well but do not beat. Place in square dish and place in refrigerator to chill. When ready to serve, cut in squares, place on lettuce leaf and top with teaspoon of salad dressing. Serves eight.

Serving a bridge party this salad will be a delightful surprise for guests. It is also handy to use for buffet serving.

Gardening at her beautiful home at 505 Hillside is one pastime that Mrs. Milner thoroughly enjoys. Various types of handwork also occupy leisure time for Mrs. Milner.

Mr. Milner is an employee of the

Try Mushrooms In Turkey Dressing

Mushroom-rice stuffing for that Turkey Day menu will add great enthusiasm at the dinner table.

MUSHROOM RICE STUFFING

(For 11 to 12 pound turkey)
4 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
4 1/2 cups water
2 cups chopped celery
3/4 cups chopped celery leaves
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup butter
1 1/2 pounds fresh mushrooms, chopped

1-3 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped parsley
Combine rice, water, celery and leaves, salt, and pepper in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir.) Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter in skillet. Add chopped mushrooms and onion and saute 5 minutes, or until tender. Add to the cooked rice with the parsley. Mix lightly with fork. Stuff lightly in turkey. Make a fork. Stuff lightly in turkey. Makes about 14 cups stuffing or enough for an 11 or 12 pound turkey. Turkey should be roasted at once after stuffing. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 4 to 4 1/2 hours.

Modern Thanksgiving Dinner Is Easily Prepared Without Fuss

By DEIDRA HINTON

The mere mention of Thanksgiving brings visions of a tasty turkey feast to most people. Serving turkey at this time of the year is a ritual that goes with the holiday as it did centuries ago when our pilgrim fathers started the celebration.

Years ago the preparation for such a feast took weeks of planning and days of preparation. The hostess of 1956 is indeed lucky, for today she has at her finger tips hundreds of short cuts in meal planning.

The homemaker of today has no greater problem for preparing for a host of guests than she does just for the family.

The answer to the time-saving problem today is the frozen turkey which appears at Big Spring food markets. Local merchants agree that women of today are approving and most often preferring this frozen bird to the fresh dressed ones.

One reason for this, of course, is that the turkey comes completely ready for the oven. There's no need for the homemaker to doubt that these birds are not wholesome for they have been prepared under the most scientifically controlled conditions.

The newest news yet in frozen turkeys is awaiting the grocery shopper. Now, the turkeys are not only frozen, but this year they are already stuffed with your favorite family dressing.

Once the frozen stuffed turkey has been purchased it can be placed in the freezer and stored until time for roasting.

The main point to remember about frozen stuffed turkeys is that they are roasted without pre-heating. They should be placed in the oven while still frozen.

The method for roasting depends on the family's favorite of course. The uncovered method will produce a turkey that holds together well for carving and looks more attractive while the covered method saves time. Cooking methods will appear on the wrapper which the turkey comes in.

Another very new product on the market this season is the delicious canned giblet gravy. For accompaniments to this ready-to-serve dinner there are a variety of easy-to-fix foods at the market.

Big Spring women will be free hostesses this season with the many convenient and quality foods that are the result of the modern age of scientific research.

Many compliments will be given to the cook who prepares these brussels sprouts for the holiday menu.

BRUSSEL SPROUTS

Ingredients:
One quart basket (about 2 pounds) Brussels sprouts, boiling water, salt; 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons slivered blanched almonds.

Method:
Wash Brussels sprouts in cold water; remove wilted leaves and soak in salted water about 20 minutes. Rinse and place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling point; boil 3 minutes without cover. Cover and boil until tender—10 to 20 minutes. Drain, if necessary. Melt butter in a small skillet (6 or 7 inches); add almonds; broil almonds slowly, stirring often. Sprinkle almonds with salt to taste. Pour over Brussels sprouts; toss lightly. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

To blanch almonds, put the nuts in a small saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil, remove from heat immediately and drain. Press each almond between thumb and forefinger to slip off skin. Dry nuts on paper towel. Immediately cut nuts into slivers (for Brussels sprouts recipe); nuts cut easily when still soft.

More and more homemakers are finding turkey an economical and tasty year 'round food. This recipe is for a delicious turkey or chicken salad. The rice makes the salad more hearty and enhances the turkey flavor.

Salad Uses Rice To Enhance Dish

Ingredients:
1 1/3 cups water
2-3 cup uncooked white rice
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup French dressing
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 to 2 cups diced or shredded turkey (or chicken)
1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 cup diced celery

1 4-ounce can or jar whole canned pimientos, finely chopped
Salad greens

Use Deft Hand For Stuffing Turkeys

Be sure to use a light hand when you are adding a fluffy bread stuffing for your turkey because the dressing will expand during the roasting period. If you pack stuffing in tightly, it will lose its fluffy texture and the bird may burst!

Test kitchens usually recommend that a cup of stuffing be allowed for every pound (ready-to-cook weight) of turkey. A very large turkey will probably need no more stuffing than a medium-sized bird because the difference in weight is due to the amount of meat on the carcass and not to the size of the bird's cavity.

Try Adding Pecans To Stuffing

Traditional bread stuffing for the turkey will be better than ever with the addition of pecans to the recipe.

PECAN STUFFING

1 1/2 lb. loaf bread (2 to 4 days old)
3/4 to 1 lb. butter or margarine
3/4 cup minced onion
2 cups broken pecan nutmeats
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning.

Cut bread into 3/4-inch cubes and drop into a large mixing bowl. Meanwhile cook onion in 2 tablespoons of butter until softened but not browned. Cut remaining butter into 3/4-inch dice. Toss together bread, onion, diced butter, pecans, salt pepper and poultry seasoning. Taste, and if desired, add additional salt, pepper and poultry seasoning.

To stuff bird: place bird breast end down in a large bowl. Drop dressing into cavity shaking bird to settle dressing, but do not pack it in. Close opening with skewers and lacing string. Turn turkey and stuff neck cavity; fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Truss. Makes enough stuffing for a 16 to 20 lb. (market dressed) turkey.

Regardless of what kind of stuffing fills the turkey, a good roast turkey gravy is necessary to add the final touch. This recipe makes about 4 cups.

ASPARAGUS SALAD IS DELICIOUS SERVED IN TOMATO ASPIC RING

Even though the turkey is the main attraction at holiday times, tempting vegetables add color and sparkle to a festive table. This recipe combines asparagus with that old favorite tomato aspic.

ASPARAGUS SALAD

1 recipe tomato aspic
6 heads lettuce
2 cans (4 lbs. 1 oz. each) asparagus spears
8 lbs. cottage cheese
1-3 cup chives or chopped onion
2 1/2 cans (9 oz. each) ripe olives
3 cups salad dressing

Prepare tomato aspic. Pour into individual ring molds and chill until firm. Unmold rings on lettuce cups and arrange three chilled, drained asparagus spears by the side of each. Mix the cottage cheese and chives (add a small amount of mayonnaise if the mixture seems dry). Fill the center of each aspic ring with cottage cheese mixture.

Garnish each serving with 2 olives. Serve with any desired salad dressing. Makes 50 servings.

TOMATO ASPIC

1/2 cup unflavored gelatin
2 1/2 cans (4 1/2 oz.) tomato juice
2 small sliced onions
4 cut celery stalks
2 bay leaves
8 whole cloves
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 pint sugar
1 1/2 cups vinegar

Soften gelatin for 5 minutes in 3 cups cold tomato juice. Boil remainder of tomato juice 10 minutes with onion, celery, seasonings, sugar and salt. Strain and add while hot to softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add vinegar; pour into individual ring molds or in sheet pans. Chill until firm.

CRANBERRY RELISH

Four cups fresh cranberries, 2 unpeeled oranges (quartered and seeded), 2 cups sugar, salt.

Method:
Put cranberries and quartered unpeeled oranges through the food chopper, using coarse blade. Stir in sugar and a dash of salt. Chill until ready to serve, then prepare the following variations. Makes 1 quart.

Variations:

To 1 cup of the above relish, add 1/4 cup shredded thinly flaked moist coconut. Garnish with coconut.

To 1 cup of the above relish add 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 1/2 cup thinly sliced crisp celery. Garnish with thinly sliced celery.

To 1 cup of the above relish, add 2 tablespoons finely chopped seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained) and 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnut meats. Garnish with chopped walnuts.

To 1 cup of the above relish, add 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger and 1 tablespoon finely slivered lemon or orange rind. (Remove white membrane from rind before slivering.) Garnish with slivered fruit rind.

Note:
Drained canned mandarin oranges and slivered preserved ginger may be added to the basic relish to substitute for the variations given, if desired.

Cranberry Sauce

Ingredients:
One-half cup tart cider, 1/4 cup water, 2-3 cup sugar, whole cloves, 2 cups fresh cranberries.

Method:
Mix cider, water, sugar and a few whole cloves together in a saucepan. Bring to a rapid boil. Add cranberries and continue cooking over moderate heat for about 5 minutes, or until all the berries pop. Remove from heat and allow to cool in saucepan; do not stir. Remove foamy top with a spoon. Chill before serving. Makes about 1 pint.

Dress Up Peaches

Broiled canned peaches, to be served with meat or poultry, look especially pretty when their cavities are garnished with sprigs of parsley or watercress. Add the garnish, of course, when the peaches come out of the broiler.

Pickets Smear Pro-Red Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Jeering anti-Soviet pickets hurled ammonia-filled bottles, tomatoes, eggs and sticks last night at the entrance to a rally of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. No one was injured.

Negro singer Paul Robeson and controversial Brooklyn rector William Howard Melish were special targets of the pickets.

About 200 demonstrators, most of them Hungarians and Hungarian-Americans, banded together outside the Pythian Temple, where the rally was held.

They shouted "Freedom for Hungary!" and "America will never be friends with murderers!" as hundreds of persons entered the building.

More than 250 patrolmen, mounted police and detectives kept the placard-waving demonstrators in check.

Policemen flanked Robeson when he arrived. A bottle of ammonia was flung toward him but splattered harmlessly on the pavement close by.

Robeson, who sang and made a speech at the rally, was booed as he left.

The rally was called to mark the 39th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet Union and the 23rd anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Russia.

Puffins Waddle When They Walk

By RAMON COFFMAN
One of the quaint birds of the world is the puffin. It nests in northern parts, sometimes above the Arctic Circle.

The coasts of Greenland and Spitzbergen have puffin nests (in early summer) and so do the Bird Rocks of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Other nesting places include Labrador, Nova Scotia and the state of Maine.

Q. What is "quaint" about these birds?
A. Chiefly their looks. They have big red, blue and yellow bills. Their legs and feet are red, changing to orange in winter. When they walk, they waddle.

Q. Can puffins sing?
A. What could we expect from such a bird? It croaks instead of singing.

Q. How big is a puffin?
A. Only about 14 inches long. It is a bulky bird, and seems larger than its length suggests. The female puffin follows an old rule of her family, and lays only one egg in a season. The nest is in a shallow hole in the ground, and is lined with grass.

Neither of these puffins could expect a prize at a beauty show.

The parents take turns in warming the egg. More than a month passes before the young one comes out of the shell.

The adults go to the sea to obtain food for themselves and the offspring. They have a strange skill — they can keep on catching fish without dropping the ones first caught. On a single trip a puffin may take home from five to 10 smelts!

Q. Where do puffins spend the winter?
A. Some fly to the coast of New Jersey, or even to Delaware Bay. Others winter on the Canary Islands.

Q. Do some puffins live around the Pacific Ocean?
A. Yes, there are Pacific puffins. They make their nests on the Kamchatka Peninsula, which belongs to Russia, and on the Aleutian Islands. A Pacific puffin has a feathery tuft above and behind each eye.

Europe Sends Shirt Off Back To Aid Hungary

By WATSON SIMS
LONDON (AP) — A veteran welfare worker looked at the small mountain of Hungarian relief supplies blocking the Red Cross office in London and shook her head in wonder.

"It has been a long time since England saw anything like this," she said. "Certainly not since the east coast floods of 1953."

Throughout Western Europe, welfare workers are telling the same story. The free world, they say, is sending the shirt off its back and the ring off its finger to help Hungarian refugees and other victims of last week's Russian repression.

More than 10 million dollars in money has been given or pledged in voluntary contributions, and the amount is rising by the hour. Thousands of tons of medicine, food, clothing and other supplies have already been sent to Budapest or points along the Hungarian border. A vast backlog of additional supplies is clogging relief depots throughout West Europe.

Dozens of organizations, ranging from state governments to elementary school classes, have pledged assistance to the wounded and homeless in the revolt-torn nation and to the refugees fleeing across her borders.

Twelve nations have promised asylum to more than 28,000 refugees. In Belgium alone, welfare workers say the number of offers to adopt Hungarian children exceeds the total number of those who have escaped the country.

Contributions have been received from prime minister and pensioner alike. In England, Sir Winston Churchill gave $2,800. French Premier Mollet set next Sunday as nationwide collection day. Street collectors in London told of old women throwing wedding rings into the brimming baskets.

Germs Given Bad Breath

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Germs are being given a tell-tale radioactive breath to show quickly whether water is safe to drink.

In an hour or less, this test could show whether drinking water had been contaminated by floods, accidents or even germ warfare by an enemy.

The usual tests to detect contamination take two to three days. A form of radioactive sugar is used in the test. Germs present in the sample of the water lap up the sugar to use in their growth. In doing so they give off radioactive carbon dioxide or "breath" which can be detected and measured.

This test promises to become practical and sufficiently economical to stand guard over drinking water supplies, a team of researchers reported today to the American Public Health Assn.

The team members are Gilbert V. Levin, civil defense representative of the District of Columbia Health Department, and Venon B. Harrison, Dr. Walter C. Hess and Harry G. Gurney of Georgetown University Medical School, Washington.
