No one was injured when little Judy Lynn Shepherd backed the family car across the street and into the front room of the V. W. Kemper residence at 1314 Tucson Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Roy Shepherd had driven the Pontiac into their driveway at 1315 Tucson and got out to open the garage door. Judy Lynn stepped on the accelerator, and the car jumped out of the drive, across the street.

through a narrow gap in a retaining wall in front of the Kemper's house and into their living room. The four-year-old girl was uninjured, and there was no one at home at the Kemper's. Kemper met Mrs. Shepherd about two blocks from the house, however, as she was going to work only minutes before.

City, Air Force Reach Agreement On Utilities

The city and Air Force reached an agreement — overlaid with ifs — Tuesday night on financing water and sewer lines. Meeting with the city commission were nine officers and civilians from various Air Force headquarters to work out where the lines would be laid and who would pay for them. The lines will be needed when Webb's housing unit is ready.

The Air Force told the city Tuesday afternoon that it would need additional water and sewage facilities by Oct. 1, 1957. After the discussions — with both groups meeting together and separately — the city proposed (with two big ifs) to pay for laying water and sewer lines to Webb at its own expense if water rates to city customers could be increased. This the Air Force group quickly accepted.

C. F. Browning, chief utility engineer for the Air Force, headed the government delegation and told the city following the proposal that he thought it would be acceptable to the Air Force and that he would recommend it. The proposal boils down to the city paying for $200,000 out of $220,000 worth of water and sewer lines, and possibly the entire amount. Construction of the water line would be from the new reservoir around Farm Road 700 to the Air Base, and the cost would be about $100,000, the city estimated. Cost of laying a sewer line from the housing area around the south part of Big Spring to the disposal plant would be $132,000, which would bring total cost to $232,000. The Air Force is willing to loan the city money against future water bills for the water line or whatever portion of the line is needed to serve Webb in case the city lays a line bigger than 12 inches. Thus the city would be out about $50,000 or half of the water line cost at the present. Also, the Air Force had in mind to lay a sewer line to the base from the housing unit to Webb's sewer line. This cost was figured to be about $32,000 and probably would be paid to the city in the case of the city building a line to serve the housing area. Browning

U. S. Takes Dock Strike Into Court

NEW YORK (AP) — The government will go into federal court here today in an effort to eliminate one major issue in the 20 million-dollar-a-day Atlantic and Gulf Coast dock strike.

Officials said in Washington the National Labor Relations Board will seek a temporary restraining order to bar the strikers from insisting on a coastwide or multiple contract.

The strikers could obey such an injunction and still continue the walkout on economic issues.

The NLRB attorneys will seek the restraining order against the International Longshoremen Assn. Independent, and its president, William Bradley.

The New York Shipping Assn., the employer group representing 170 shipping and stevedoring firms, has insisted on bargaining solely for a contract limited to longshoremen in the Port of New York.

The union has modified its original demand that the employer group negotiate a contract for all Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports, but is asking a New York accord that would cover branch operations of New York employers in other ports.

The estimate that the strike is costing 20 million dollars a day is based on all ramifications of the cargo tie-up.

In Galveston, Tex., Ralph A. Massey, IILA president of the South Atlantic and Gulf district, said striking West Gulf longshoremen are "ready to resume negotiations," but gave no indication this would break the deadlock.

Massey returned to Galveston last night after attending a union strategy meeting in New York. He declined to indicate whether West Gulf dock workers would try to settle their phase of the strike before workers in other areas return to their jobs.

West Coast longshoremen were working but there were indications they had voted overwhelmingly to go out in support of the six-day-old IILA strike.

The West Coast strike vote was by Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union.

Stalinists Gain As Molotov Steps Up

Blue Norther Drops Mercury Across Texas

A blue norther engulfed most of Texas Wednesday, plunging temperatures to 15 degrees in West Texas. The Weather Bureau predicted even colder weather Wednesday night.

The front covered all the state except the extreme southern tip around Brownsville. Skies were generally clear. Temperatures hit 15 degrees at Salt Flat in West Texas, Dalhart, in the Panhandle, had 17.

The freezing zone was confined largely to the Panhandle, South Plains and upper Red River Valley. The Weather Bureau said temperatures should fall to freezing or lower Wednesday night as deep into the state as upper South Central and deep East Texas.

The cold wave was not as severe as the Weather Bureau had predicted. A low of 10 degrees in the Panhandle had been forecast.

Snow flurries fell Tuesday in the Panhandle and a few showers fell along the edge of the front.

It was cloudy along the coast where a few showers fell early Wednesday.

Overnight showers were reported at Corpus Christi, Kingsville and Alice. A number of points received showers Tuesday as the front moved across the state.

Temperatures Tuesday ranged from 30 degrees at Dalhart to 83 at Alice.

Small craft warnings for Wednesday along the coast were issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau. Southerly winds 20 to 30 miles an hour were predicted to shift to northerly 25 to 35 miles an hour late Wednesday and early Thursday.

London Truck Drivers Strike

LONDON (AP)—A thousand truck drivers struck today to protest a decision taking 10 per cent of the government's industrial vehicles off the road because of the nation's fuel crisis.

The drivers are employees of the nationalized British Road Service. They haul general goods, and foodstuffs other than meat.

Several hundred meat transport workers struck briefly ago but returned to their jobs after BRS withdrew the order for their particular field.

Even before the first gas ration book was ready for issuance tomorrow, other Britons were feeling the chilling effect of the rationing order.

Most Britons had expected it since the closing of the Suez Canal sharply reduced the supply of oil from the Middle East.

MOSQUITOES TAKE MUSIC LITERALLY

BEAUMONT (AP) — San Antonio's Symphony Orchestra played "Mosquito Dance" so realistically here yesterday that even the mosquitoes were fooled.

In the midst of the buzzing music, a horde of mosquitoes descended upon the musicians in the Beaumont auditorium.

Director Victor Alessandro had to call a halt to the music while a property man sprayed the area with mosquito repellent.

Then as the property man stood by, spray gun in hand, the orchestra completed the number.

India Leads Try To Open Red Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India's V. K. Krishna Menon led a concerted drive by neutral Asia today to get Hungary to throw open its borders to U.N. observers.

Menon appealed directly to Hungarian authorities to invite Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to Budapest and discuss with him the question of admitting on-the-spot investigators.

He called on all nations, "with-out a dissenting vote," to support a resolution insisting on immediate entry of an observer team.

A high Russian source indicated yesterday the resolution was unacceptable.

Representatives of Ceylon and Indonesia also voiced the same demand. They were part of a rising tide of indignation over deportation of Hungarian patriots.

The 79-nation General Assembly was scheduled to wind up debate on two major resolutions and a number of amendments. Heavy majorities were expected for anti-Soviet resolutions.

Brush Fire Still Rages

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Hopes for bringing a vast brush fire in the San Bernardino Mountains under control rested today with the winds that have been whistling over southern California for the past two days.

More than 1,000 men and a huge supply of equipment have been thrown into the battle against the fire.

The fire, now burning into its third day, has taken the life of one fire fighter, injured seven others and destroyed five homes, numerous garages and barns, and an abandoned powder storage plant from which the explosives had been removed.

No other dwellings or inhabited areas are threatened by the fire, which is now burning at the 4,000-foot level in the mountains 10 miles east of San Bernardino and 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

Automobile traffic was thinner during the rush hour. Thousands left their cars at home. Buses and trains were more crowded.

Takes Over Post Of State Control

LONDON (AP)— Soviet Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov was appointed minister of state control tonight in what appeared to be a victory for the Stalinists in the Kremlin power struggle.

Moscow radio indicated Molotov, an oldtime Stalinist, retained his office as a first deputy premier. He is a former foreign minister. His new post gives him extensive control over a wide range of Soviet activities.

The new job, though ambiguously titled, may give Molotov a powerful hand in steering Russia back toward Stalin's concepts of communism. He is a leader of the old guard.

The appointment as minister of state control was made by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet. In the new office he succeeds V. G. Zhavoronkov.

The minister of state control normally supervises the work of other ministries, insuring that government decrees and instructions are carried out.

Molotov returned yesterday to the Soviet ideological stage, apparently for the first time since he got into ideological trouble himself and had to publicly confess errors more than a year ago.

He called for a greater output of Red propaganda. In a speech to Russian creative artists broadcast by the Moscow radio, Molotov's instructions sounded like the same sort of orders issued by Stalin's chief executive on the artistic front, party secretary Andrei Zhdanov.

Molotov was forced out as foreign minister last June just before Yugoslav President Tito visited the U.S.S.R. They have never liked each other, and the Kremlin's policy at that time was to woo Tito and play down Stalinism.

Chessman Loses Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Convict author Caryl Chessman has lost his twelfth appeal in his eight-year battle to stay out of San Quentin's gas chamber. His attorney says he'll carry it again to the Supreme Court.

Chessman, 35, was sentenced to death under California's Little Lindbergh Law. He was convicted of kidnapping, attempted rape, sex perversion and grand theft.

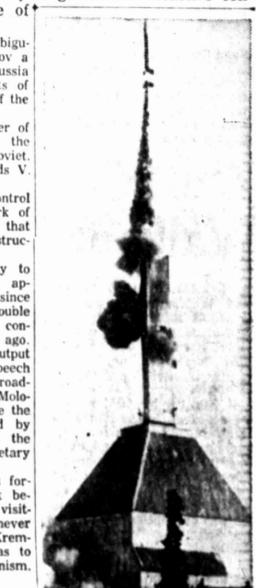

He has written two best sellers on his life in death row. The Court of Appeals denied yesterday Chessman's petition for a rehearing of its Oct. 18 refusal to grant him a writ of habeas corpus that would lead to a new trial.

Boys Invent New 'Chicken' Game

WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—Police took into custody three 14-year-olds who said were playing a life-and-death game on tracks where New Haven railroad trains go 75 miles an hour. Police said object of the game was to stand in front of an oncoming train and the first to run for safety was called "chicken."

The youngsters were turned over to their parents for discipline.

Marlowe told Mrs. Tucker that Bosco was the culprit who had broken every light bulb in the shop, stuffed himself on pet candy and dog food and disconnected the air pump to the aquarium.

Rocket Away

The fifth in a series of rockets fired from the new launching tower on the tundra near the sub-Arctic military base at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, 610 miles north of Winnipeg, an Aerobee-HI rocket streaks into a clear sky for a journey 130 miles into space. Officials said the firing was "perfect." The test is part of the preparation for the International Geophysical Year.

Cop Catches Ape Culprit

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Alice Tucker told the sheriff's office that someone had ransacked her pet shop and stolen her $700 South American monkey, Bosco.

But when Inspector Frank Marlowe found and captured Bosco in a residential back yard he tried out an idea. He put Bosco on a leash, set him back in his cage, hid out and watched. Bosco promptly unlatched the cage and headed for the front door.

Marlowe told Mrs. Tucker that Bosco was the culprit who had broken every light bulb in the shop, stuffed himself on pet candy and dog food and disconnected the air pump to the aquarium.

Russian Soldiers Shooting Down Hungarian Refugees

VIENNA, Austria (AP)— Russian soldiers are shooting down Hungarian refugees in efforts to prevent them from escaping into Austria, a U.N. agency reported today.

A statement issued in Geneva by a spokesman for the office of U.N. high commissioner for refugees reported that nearly 52,000 Hungarians have fled to Austria since the rebellion began, including 8,000 who arrived in the Eisenstadt area during the past few days.

"Among these latest arrivals, there are many wounded, because Soviet infantry has arrived at the border and has opened fire on the refugees," the spokesman said. "Nevertheless, the refugees are continuing to cross the border in great numbers."

The U.N. report was borne out by a U.S. congressman who said he saw Russian soldiers shoot down a refugee on Hungarian soil near the Austrian frontier today.

Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.) here to survey the U.S. aid program for Hungarian refugees, told newsmen he witnessed the incident while on a trip to the Hungarian-Austrian frontier with Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing, U.S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization, and John V. Lindsay, executive assistant to the U.S. attorney general.

Walter's account coincided with statements by refugees of trainloads of countrymen being deported to Russia. This was made in the face of protestations from the Soviet-controlled Budapest radio that there have been no deportations, and promises that Russian troops will turn over all arrested Hungarians to the regime of Premier János Kadar for trial.

Walter said he was actually walking on Hungarian territory some distance from the first Hungarian checkpoint when he heard shooting and saw a man running. The man was running beside a small canal about 100 yards from the border. Soldiers were firing at him.

Widow Is Ax Victim

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 41-year-old widow of a year, who supported her 8-year-old son by working as a domestic, was bludgeoned to death with an axe last night.

The son, Charles Zubryd, found the body of his mother, Mrs. Helen Zubryd, in the basement of their home about 20 miles northwest of Pittsburgh. He had just returned from a brief visit to a neighbor's home.

Homicide Detective Ted Botula said Mrs. Zubryd apparently resisted the slayer. An autopsy was ordered to determine if she had been criminally assaulted.

Shortly after the slaying, Elmer Skiles, a 63-year-old neighbor, died of a heart attack while guiding newsmen to the slaying scene.

City To Honor Veteran Pastor

By JOE PICKLE

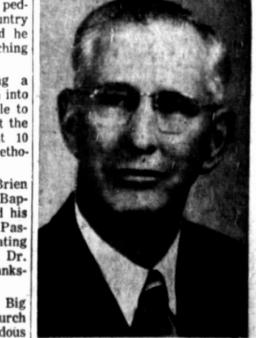

A gangling student preacher peddling his way down a country lane in the early '20s figured he was on the way to fill a preaching engagement.

Actually, he was beginning a journey which has carried him into the hearts of Big Spring people to the point he will be honored at the union Thanksgiving service at 10 a.m. Thursday in the First Methodist sanctuary.

For 15 years now Dr. O'Brien has been pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, and his colleagues in the Big Spring Pastors' Association are dedicating Thursday's service to him. Dr. O'Brien is to bring the Thanksgiving message.

During his ministry in Big Spring, the First Baptist Church has been blessed with tremendous growth. Its budget has grown sevenfold and contributions to missions has gone up equally.

But this has by no means been the extent of Dr. O'Brien's influence. Practically every major community effort has had his participation or support. He has been a key figure in the Rotary Club, having a record of 25 years membership. He is a Mason and a Shriner; has twice served the Big Spring Pastors Association as president and is regarded as the cement which has held it together on occasions; he has been a member of the Malone & Hogan Hospital Foundation board since it was established; has been active in support of Boy Scout work; has

Gunning For A Porter

Faye Brash, 18, of Honolulu, who has just completed an adventure series of TV films in the Hawaiian Islands and is en route to New York for the premiere showing, finds porters as elusive as wild goats on the crags of Oahu due to stop-work meetings of dockworkers in San Francisco. She arrived on the luxury liner Lurline and, like other passengers, found the movement of baggage at almost a standstill.

West Coast Docker Walkout Threatens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Coast longshoremen worked today amid indications they had voted overwhelmingly to strike in support of an East Coast walkout.

Ben McDonald, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union Local 13 at Los Angeles, said a strike was approved by more than 95 per cent of the ballots there.

Harry Bridges' ILWU has 16,000 West Coast members. Union officials in San Francisco said the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.

McDonald said, "The vote here in Los Angeles means our members are in favor of going along with whatever the negotiating committee decides to do, including a sympathy strike with members in Eastern and Gulf ports."

The West Coast longshoremen had returned to work Tuesday after 24-hour stop-work meetings called to discuss the East and Gulf Coast strike by the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the ILWU's own demands for more pay.

Contract negotiations on the Pacific Coast are with the Pacific Maritime Assn. and involve a wage reopening clause. PMA contends negotiations are subject to arbitration and that a strike would violate the present contract. It also contends the ILWU cannot strike here legally in support of the I.L.A.

In New York I.L.A. President William E. Bradley declared his organization did not want help from Bridges' West Coast union.

In reply Bridges telegraphed to Bradley "You should bear in mind that West Coast action regarding East Coast ships is the kind of basic and automatic trade union support our union is accustomed to give any union in a strike."

"Your speedy and complete success will certainly be welcome news to us as well as to the West Coast maritime industry as a whole."

Meanwhile, Christmas decorations are being installed around the courthouse square in preparation for the program which will formally open the Yule season here.

The big parade, in which Santa Claus will make his first 1956 appearance in Big Spring, is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Monday. The procession will include 11 floats which will be competing for $150 in cash prizes, three commercial floats and two non-competitive, non-commercial entries. Also in the parade will be four bands—from Big Spring, Coahoma and Webb Air Force Base.

Latest float entries were made by Las Artistas, Desk and Derrick Club, Four O'Clock Garden Club, Seba Tr-H-B and the Girls Auxiliary of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

More Entries In Yule Parade

Four more organizations have entered floats in the Christmas parade to be staged Monday afternoon, bringing to 21 the number of units to participate in the procession.

$1,200 Check Lost Here By Midland Man

A Midland resident reported losing a leather folder containing a check for $1,200 in the Big Spring vicinity.

The man, William C. Blanks, called the police department that the leather folder contained a post-dated check from an Abilene man for $1,200.

Blanks said that as he started to get into his car in front of Carlos' Restaurant on the Northside, two Negro women bumped into him. He could not be positive that he lost the folder at that time, however.

In addition to the check, Blanks said the folder contained papers, licenses, and a credit card.

Bob Whitaker, 611 Rumlens, reported he lost a billfold containing $171. He did not know where he lost the wallet.

He reported the loss Tuesday afternoon.

CTC Meets On Thursday

Monthly meeting of the Citizens Traffic Commission will be held Thursday night, with the group to discuss the "Back the Attack" traffic campaign starting Dec. 1.

The meeting will be held in the county court room at 7:30 p.m. with Larson Lloyd, chairman, in charge.

The "Back the Attack" campaign will need plenty of publicity. James Kubank, executive secretary, said, and he planned to report on the advertising already under way and on all that will come in the next few weeks.

In addition, several traffic safety suggestions will be discussed and possibly passed on for further consideration by the city commission.

UTILITIES

The city proposes only to drop the 25 cent rate and make all above 103,000 gallons 30 cents per 1,000.

This, the city felt, would only affect the large water users, and principally Webb.

Of course, all these problems would take time to dissolve, Whitney said. The Air Force officials said, however, that they could hook lines onto existing tie-ins on the base as late as May and still not be cramped.

Before the meeting started Tuesday, the city had it in mind for the government to pay for the entire project, with the city only to pay for enlarging the lines for its own use.

However, Browning said that the Air Force could and would not do this. He said that before the Air Force spent money on such projects, an advantage to the group must be shown, and Browning said he could cite no advantage.

The Air Force paying the entire cost. The city felt that it was not required to furnish the housing with water and sewage under the contract between the government and the city concerning Webb.

However, Browning said government attorneys could show that the contract did cover the matter.

Basis for the argument was a clause in the contract about expansion on "leased premises."

Browning said this applied to the housing unit.

Browning said before he left Tuesday night that he could not definitely say that the proposals would be acceptable to the Air Force, but he reported he favored them and would actively recommend them.

Naturally, the final decision would have to come from higher levels, he said.

City Plans Honors For Veteran Pastor

(Continued from Page 1) supported such agencies as the Red Cross and Salvation Army; has been on the Golden Gate Seminary (at Berkeley, Calif.) board since the school was founded by Southern Baptists seven years ago; has been a member of the Hardin-Simmons University board for the past 25 years; a member of the Baptist General convention board for 20 years; a member of the Baptist Stanzas board for 15 years; a past director of the Chamber of Commerce; past board member of the Community Chest and a staunch supporter of the United Fund.

There are, of course, too many other activities to mention. Since 1929 he has made 963 after-dinner speeches, and these do not include the hundreds upon hundreds of routine or impromptu addresses to service and civic clubs.

Dr. O'Brien has no record of the number of baptisms, marriages, funerals, etc. which have occurred in his ministry here, let alone in all his ministry. He has been pastor for several major camp meetings and only recently spent two weeks in Alaska on a simultaneous revival campaign. Hardin-Simmons University honored him for his work by conferring a Doctor of Divinity degree upon him. Once he was elected president of Grand Canyon College in Phoenix, Ariz. Several calls to churches in larger cities have come to him, but each time he felt a compulsion to stay here.

That sense of compulsion upon which he relies so completely once led him into his four stormiest years of the ministry. He was at Colorado City enjoying a fruitful pastorate when he got a call to be pastor of the strife-torn First Baptist Church in Stamford. Within a month his desk had a big stack of mean, anonymous letters, and he had cultivated a habit of shedding ugly phone calls and personal abuse. Patiently he rode out the storm while the breach was healed. It was when the travail had passed that he was called here on Pearl Harbor Day—Dec. 7, 1941. He actually began his ministry Jan. 2, 1942.

Total budget of the church then was $12,500, which $5,199 was for all mission causes. Last year the church, and its Chapel and Hillcrest Mission branches, raised $140,744, of which $35,000 was for conventional mission purposes. This did not include the amount invested in the two mission branches.

Resident membership approximates 1,800 for the mother church and 25 for the chapel. During the 15-year period approximately 1,000 have been added by baptism; many times that number by letter. The First Church also is a former mission. West Side Baptist, the Mexican and Negro Baptist churches; Wayland Baptist and Grand Canyon Colleges and many rural churches are among the 300 annexes to the main plant.

P. D. O'Brien was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. O'Brien, a devout farm couple, at Gorman. It was in Eastland County that he was to grow up and to graduate from the Scranton Academy. At 19, he and his bride, Miss Johnnie Catherine West eloped, and that same year he heeded the call to preach—a double surrender, he observed.

He already had a year in Britain College (forerunner of Cisco Junior College) and continued for another while serving rural charges. They then went on to Hardin-Simmons University on the basis of "the Lord will provide"—and He did. Each Sunday when he preached a free will offering was taken, and always it—along with the marvelous outpouring of eggs, butter, canned goods, chickens, etc.—was enough to keep the young couple going. Their eldest daughter, Doris Wayne was born during this period.

Each Sunday morning the young preacher pumped his bicycle to the depot in Abilene, put it aboard the baggage car and got off in Cisco to pedal eight miles to one church one Sunday and 12 miles to another the next. The lanes were so sandy he pushed more than he rode.

For one year after he obtained his BA degree, he served the church at Carbon. That was during the boom days and one landowner turned a big lease deal and gave the young couple a $500 check. This, together with a "push" salary of $125 a month as pastor, saw them through seminary at Fort Worth. Another daughter, Marie, was born there. After another year at Carbon to build a church, he heard a call to Moran. There a baby daughter succumbed to measles, whooping cough and pneumonia.

After a year he began a 2-year ministry at Munday and there his twin sons (Robert and Richard) were born there. Then came four years at Floydada, five at Colorado City and four at Stamford.

Once he led a 74-year-old man to Christ and baptized him; this man was the last survivor of the theatre party at Ford's theatre when President Lincoln was assassinated.

Since he has been here, some interesting traditions have evolved, none quite so fascinating as his "red rose." If the rose from the "unknown friend" is faithful this Sunday, it will mark 14 years that one has been in the pulpit as he starts to preach.

But Dr. O'Brien has come to be something of a community institution himself, and that's what the Pastors Association will be recognizing in the services Thursday morning.

Teachers Slate Convention While Schools Are Closed

Rural schools of the county which selected the Nov. 29 Thanksgiving as official and will also be closed on Nov. 30, Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, said Wednesday.

Occasion will be the shutdown of the schools to enable teachers to attend the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers Association in Houston. The convention will continue through Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1. Bailey said he did not know how many teachers in the county schools plan to attend but added that he would be present. He was selected as an official delegate at the district convention earlier in the year.

The Nov. 29th holiday does not apply, he explained, in the case of Elbow. This stems from the fact that Elbow students in high school attend Forsan High School. Forsan is observing the Nov. 22 Thanksgiving. Hence, Elbow schools will be closed on Nov. 22.

Bailey said that he had not been advised on the program planned at Vealmoor school. Here the same situation prevails as at Elbow. Vealmoor High School students go to Ackerly and the Ackerly school calendar is employed by Vealmoor school.

Burks Waives Extradition In Slaying Case

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—John Burks, 32, of San Angelo, Tex., waived extradition today and will be returned to his home town to face a murder charge in the death of a friend.

Burks was arrested here yesterday by an FBI agent and Sheriff Bob McDonnell when he stopped his car at a traffic signal.

Burks also waived preliminary hearing on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on a murder charge and bond was set at $10,000 by U. S. Commissioner Lon Kile.

Sheriff Cecil Turner of San Angelo and Texas Ranger Ralph Rotsch came here for the hearing and said they would take Burks back this afternoon.

At the hearing, it was disclosed Burks had in his possession Parsons' billfold and personal papers. He told a reporter "I don't mind owning up to what I've done but I didn't do this. I had no better friend than Parsons. I had known him six months."

Authorities shifted their search to southern Oklahoma Monday after Burks' wife and a car belonging to the victim were located at Lawton, Okla.

The 1952 Oldsmobile owned by Edgar Parsons of Los Angeles, whose body was discovered in an old abandoned well near San Angelo, Oct. 27.

Cecil Turner, San Angelo sheriff, said Parsons worked for the Western Airlines. No motive for his death has been found.

California Will Seek Extradition

City police arrested James Josey, driving a 1949 car, because of minor traffic violations. They discovered the car was from California and mortgaged. A check with California disclosed the man is wanted there to answer two charges.

A fugitive warrant was issued against the man and he is being held in county jail. Bond was set at $2,000. He had not posted bail at noon.

California has indicated it will seek extradition for the man.

Dag Asks Powers To Oversee Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today asked the General Assembly to give him broad powers to work out with Egypt agreements on the deployment of the Middle East police force.

He told the Assembly he and President Nasser had worked out certain broad principles on the use of the force, but his report left unanswered the big question any of the U.N. troops would police the Suez Canal area after the withdrawal of British and French forces.

Hammarskjöld said he and Nasser had agreed to proceed immediately, if the Assembly approves, "to explore jointly concrete aspects of the functioning of UNEF (the U.N. Emergency Forces), including its stationing and the question of the lines of communication and supplies."

The negotiations, Hammarskjöld said, would be based on two major principles: 1. Egypt's sovereignty will be recognized in matters concerning the presence and functioning of the U.N. force.

2. The U.N. will maintain the force in Egypt until it has completed its task of supervising the cease-fire and the withdrawal of troops.

Hammarskjöld told the Assembly the functioning of the force had been hampered by the fact that "as yet no withdrawals have taken place in compliance with the resolutions of the General Assembly" adopted Nov. 2 and 7.

Troops Arrive

CAIRO (AP)—A unit of 190 battle-dread Norwegian troops moved into the northern sector of the Suez Canal zone today to tackle the U.N. police force's first active Middle East peacekeeping mission.

A U.N. spokesman said the contingent would try to ease tension between Egyptians and British-French forces holding Port Said, at the north end of the canal.

The operation had a go-ahead from both Egypt and the British-French military authorities, but it was announced that it was not connected with any withdrawal of British or French troops from the canal zone.

The British-French commander at Port Said announced he was not pulling out any of his men.

Wearing U.N. blue helmets, the Norwegian soldiers moved north by train from the U.N. police force assembly area at Abu Sweir, behind Egyptian lines near the canal's halfway point. They were part of an international force of some 700 airlifted into the canal zone and standing by in barracks for further orders.

Port Said has been a center of tension since a cease-fire halted the fighting in the canal area. Egypt has charged the occupying forces with atrocities against Egyptian civilians. British and French authorities have complained of cease-fire violations and have charged a calculated campaign is being conducted to prevent the city's civilian population from cooperating with their occupation.

He indicated he had asked Britain, France and Israel for information about their plans to withdraw and told the Assembly he would report again "as soon as I receive clarifications from the governments concerned."

He said that, if the Assembly gave him go-ahead his initial talks with Nasser would form a foundation "on which the cooperation could be developed and necessary agreements on various details be elaborated."

There was no immediate comment from the British, French or Israeli delegations. There also was no word when they would reply to Hammarskjöld's request for a statement on their withdrawal plans.

The secretary general, in a separate report, asked the Assembly to give him authority to make arrangements with private salvage firms to clear the wreckage of vessels and bridges from the Suez Canal.

He said he was unable now to estimate how much the clearance operations would cost, but he requested authority to make initial financial commitments in the name of the U.N. with the understanding he would report back later with detailed cost estimates. Some experts have said the operations might cost as much as 40 million dollars.

Hammarskjöld told the Assembly he had already approached some Danish and Dutch firms on the clearance problem and was ready to go ahead as soon as he got the Assembly's approval.

He agreed with Egypt, however, that the work will not "begin until after the withdrawal of non-Egyptian forces from the Port Said and the canal area." The clearance operation is expected to take about five months.

A spokesman for the secretary general said the question of security in the canal area was included among the arrangements to be negotiated between the U.N. and Egypt.

Egyptian Foreign Secretary Mahmoud Fawzi, arriving to attend the Assembly session, warned that the continued presence of invasion troops in the canal zone was "dynamiting" peace. Egypt forwarded a statement to Hammarskjöld charging that the invasion forces were committing atrocities on Egyptian civilians and asking a U.N. committee to be named to investigate.

Diplomats said Hammarskjöld—just back from a trouble-shooting trip to the Middle East—has voiced satisfaction with the U.N. force's entry into Egypt and its deployment so far.

Make Gift List With 'Unexpected' Names

By ANNE LeFEVER Started making your Christmas gift list yet?

"Time's awastin'" and you'd better get with it, girls, if you want to avoid that last-minute twist. Of course, the family knows that gifts are sure for them, and there's nothing to expect but "thanks," a few "ohs and ahs," or maybe a request for a change of size or color.

Ever think how much fun it would be to present a small gift to someone who's not expecting it? Then you'll be likely to see a real sparkle of appreciation!

There's the postman, the garbage man and the milk man—if you can afford it, add them to the list. Just a small remembrance will do, and of course, don't forget the paper boy.

Then, how about the checker at your favorite food store and the boy who staggers out under the huge load of groceries you buy? Cookies, homemade candy, a small cake or shaving aids would please any man on the list.

A list made by your husband for gifts at the office will probably include the receptionist, switchboard operators, elevator girls and secretaries. An addition might be the cleaning force of the office, be they men or women.

Cologne is always welcome, as is a box of toiletries, a manicure kit, stationery, hand lotion, or those small purses for carrying accessories. Compacts or various kinds of sachet make rather inexpensive gifts.

Useful gifts can be found for those friends who garden, either indoors or out.

A certificate, to be honored by a local nurseryman, could bring forth a hymn in your praise; try a credit with a seed house, or some new varieties of seeds to be planted later.

Then there are kinds of equipment, ranging from a power mower down to stakes for flower stems or those labels, which are so necessary for identifying bulbs. And remember, it's usually the smaller articles that gardeners sometimes forget until they are ready to plant or sow.

Wrap each gift attractively and present it in person, if that is possible; then a part of yourself goes with it—and that's really the main idea, isn't it!

U. S. Congressman Sees Red Atrocity

made the trip to the border with Western newsmen. They motored from Vienna to the swamp region near Lake Neusiedlersee, where the border seemed still open. Many of the refugees came across a narrow bridge spanning a canal which forms the border there. Machine-gun and rifle shots and the rattling of tanks were heard. For 30 minutes, Hungarian soldiers stopped refugees on the bridge and checked their papers. They told youngsters among them to "go back to Budapest." But after 30 minutes the soldiers gave up and the stream across the border resumed.

Last night, refugees — men, women and children — jumped into the icy water of the canal when passage over the bridge seemed too slow. They were sped on to warm shelter by helpful Austrians. Radio Budapest held to the Soviet line in its broadcasts. The broadcasting station of Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-installed regime, which told of the deportations Nov. 13, has maintained in recent days that no Hungarian citizens were shipped out of the country by the Red army.

Soviet and Hungarian representatives at the United Nations also deny the deportations, while the United States says it knows of at least 16,000 persons shipped from Hungary to the East.

Today Budapest radio announced that all Hungarian citizens arrested by Russian troops during Hungary's anti-Communist revolt will be turned over to Hungarian police.

The broadcast was regarded here as another attempt of the Kadar government to quiet the Hungarian public, infuriated by the mass deportations to the Soviet Union. It did not say how many persons were held by the Russians.

Refugees streaming into Austria in ever-increasing numbers added their testimony to earlier accounts of deportations. Many said they fled their homeland to escape a similar fate.

One group of railwaymen said they blew up a railway bridge near the town of Zombathely last week when they learned the Russians were readying a trainload of prisoners for the trip to Russia. The railwaymen said many of the prisoners then escaped through machine-gun fire of Russian guards.

Budapest radio said "armed bandits" are still hidden in the capital, and appealed for the people's help in digging out dihard rebels.

A dispatch from Budapest said that some of the huge Soviet T54 tanks that spearheaded the Nov. 4 crackdown on the Hungarian revolt-for-freedom have disappeared from the capital. They apparently have been replaced by World War II models.

Major industrial areas remained paralyzed by a sitdown strike. Police in Austria's border of the province of Burgenland said the flow of refugees is threatening to get out of hand. Of nearly 50,000 who have crossed the frontier since Oct. 30, only about 8,000 have been moved out of Austria.

Burgenland now has about 6,500 refugees in uncomfortable, temporary camps. Police said five or six 1,000-man convoys were urgently needed to clear out the surplus and make way for newcomers.

At some points Hungarian soldiers were still letting their countrymen into Austria with no more interference than an occasional volley of machinegun fire—into the air.

On Way To New Land

Hungarian children and their parents, refugees from Soviet terror in their homeland, wait at Schwechat Airport in Vienna, Austria, for their plane taking off to carry them to new homes in the United States. The first plane load landed at McGuire Air Force Base near Trenton, N. J., Wednesday morning.

Health Center Not Healthy

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The city's health and safety center was not exactly safe or healthy to be around for a time yesterday. William Vanderson, maintenance man, said the fuel oil "just didn't look right" as 6,000 gallons was pumped from an oil company truck into the center's heating unit.

He sniffed the fluid, then dashed around the center, turning off valves. The oil company later admitted it made a mistake in the delivery. That wasn't fuel oil being pumped into the building. It was gasoline.

Army Welcomes Hungary Refugees

CAMP KILMER, N. J. — This sprawling Army camp extended a warm welcome on this eve of Thanksgiving to 82 Hungarian refugees from Soviet terror. Posted over its gates is a huge sign in Hungarian reading "God has brought you."

The refugees arrived at McGuire Air Force Base today aboard a four-engine DC4 chartered from the Flying Tiger Airlines by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration.

They are the first of 5,000 to come here for permanent resettlement under orders of President Eisenhower. Four other plane-loads are expected Thanksgiving Day and Friday.

Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa.), co-author of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, said in an interview in Vienna yesterday that America should admit 17,000 Hungarians, not just 5,000.

"I don't know where that 5,000 figure came from," he said. "My information is that as many as 17,000 could legally be admitted as 'escapees' — and they should be."

In Austria, meanwhile, the flight of refugees across the border from Hungary continued at the rate of more than 3,500 a day — three or four times as fast as they can be resettled.

Thirteen nations have offered to receive 27,500 in Canada, he said. It will take as many as want to come. But more than 40,000 Hungarians were already in Austria last night, most of them living in uncomfortable transit camps.

In Washington, the White House announced that the American people have responded to the relief of the refugees with more than five million dollars of food, blankets and medical and other supplies.

Most of these supplies already are in Austria with more on the way, a White House statement said. It said all such help will continue to be channeled to Hungary through the International Red Cross.

The refugee group flying here today consists of 40 men and 22 women comprising 28 families.

Whisenhunt Services Set

LAMESA — Funeral services for H. R. Whisenhunt Jr., 25-year-old Lamesa oil field worker and butcher, are to be at 2 p.m. Friday at the North Side Baptist Church with the Rev. Giles Hankins officiating.

Higginbotham Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Whisenhunt had lived in Lamesa for four years. He died Tuesday morning at a Houston hospital where he had been ill for two months.

His former home was Levelland. Survivors include his wife, two sons, Larry, seven, and Robert, one; his father, H. R. Whisenhunt Sr., Levelland; his mother, Mrs. Gladys Cleveland, McCamey; one sister, Linda Cleveland, McCamey; two brothers, Rayford Whisenhunt, Seminole, and Raymond Whisenhunt, Lovington, N.M.

Cold Halts Road Work

Cold weather has brought a temporary halt to the surfacing of the Moore road, Walter Parks, county engineer, said Wednesday.

Half of the five-mile strip has been finished and the contractor was working against time to get the job finished before winter blocked operations. The invasion of the current cold spell halted the work on Tuesday. Parks said that when the temperature gets back to where it holds at 65 to 70 during the day, it will be possible to complete the surfacing.

Actually, he explained, the hotter the weather, the better the results for paving work. All of the five-mile strip of county road has been primed and ready for the surface coat and Jones Brothers, Odessa contracting firm, was moving ahead with the finishing touches when the cold weather intervened.

Gay Hill Wins 3 Of 4 Contests

GAY HILL (SC) — Gay Hill basketball teams won three of four games from Midway clubs here Tuesday night, including a forfeit in the PeeWee Girls' contest.

The Gay Hill "big" boys lost, 34-21. Gay Hill now has a 6-3 won-loss record.

McEachern led Gay Hill in scoring with nine points. Lilly and Nickles each had ten for Midway. Gay Hill's "big" girls prevailed, 34-27. Proctor had 14 for Gay Hill, Nickles ten for Midway. Gay Hill girls now boast an 8-1 record.

Gay Hill's PeeWee boys won, 4-2, as Clanton scored all the points for his team.

Gay Hill plays Vealmoor here next Tuesday.

Joint Services Set

FORSAN — Joint services will be conducted tonight for members of the Baptist and Methodist churches here. Rev. Allen Forbis, Methodist pastor, will be in charge of the program in the Baptist Church. Refreshments will be served in the Sunday school annex following the services.

these, 16 are under 12 years of age and four are over 54. There are no unaccompanied children in this first group. Today's arrivals will be housed in three temporary barracks. They will stay in these buildings for 72 hours, by which time Army authorities expect many of them to have left the reception center. Those who remain past the three-day period will be transferred to semipermanent quarters elsewhere in the camp.

District FFA Contests Held

Stanton, Odessa and Big Spring teams won most of the honors at the El Rancho District FFA contests here Tuesday.

An Odessa girl also won the title of district sweetheart.

Future Farmers from Big Spring, Knott, Coahoma, Garden City, Stanton, Odessa and Midland participated in the contests and the district banquet last night. Attending were 105 FFA members, six sweetheart candidates and about 35 guests. The Big Spring FFA was host for the gathering.

Janice Ross of Odessa was chosen as district sweetheart. Second place went to Becky Smith of Midland and Luan Lawson of Big Spring third.

Stanton boys placed first in both junior and senior boys' farm skill contests. Second places in both events went to Midland. Big Spring boys won first in the radio contest, Odessa placing second. The Odessa group also placed first in both junior and senior chapter conducting with Big Spring ranking second in both events. Odessa won the FFA quiz, and Stanton boys placed second.

Yule Contest Set At C-City

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce Christmas window committee met Tuesday afternoon to make plans for Christmas decorations in the windows of unoccupied downtown buildings.

The Ministerial Alliance of Colorado City had met the previous week and requested that the Chamber of Commerce sponsor a window contest with the theme "Keep Christ in Christmas."

Rev. Jack Eltzy is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which is sponsoring the event, according to Bill Quimby, Chamber manager. Five prizes totaling $175 will be offered, with the judging on the basis of theme, ingenuity, and "seeability" by pedestrian and motorist. The displays will be prepared prior to Dec. 11 with the unveiling set for that day.

Chess Players Set Contests On Holiday

Chess players will meet Thursday as usual, regardless of the holiday. The Big Spring Servicemen's Center will be open Thursday and Friday from 5 to 10:30 p.m. Saturday from 2 to 11 p.m. and Sunday from 2 to 7 p.m. and members of the Howard County Chess Association, the Center Chess Club and the High and Junior High clubs may meet there for casual games or to compete in their various tournaments. Some games will be played off at members' homes.

Members of the HCCA council are busy with plans for further organization in town and country and especially at Cosden and at Webb Air Force Base.

Ant Colony Is Yule Gift Suggestion

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff

Do you know how to please a little boy come Christmas? Give him something different — an ant-box for instance. The popular hobby of a generation ago dimmed for awhile so that only a handful of manufacturers now make boxes and supply ant colonies. But don't let that stop you. The American Museum of Natural History in New York has compiled how-to-do-it directions for home craftsmen. I found that out recently when cast in the dilemma of finding an ant box for a small boy.

The museum is accustomed to answering the ant-box question, having several hundred inquiries every year. Here are directions as compiled by Alice Gray of the Department of Insects and Spiders: Prepare to house your ants before you catch them. You may build a horizontal or vertical cage, earth filled or earth free. The important thing is high humidity such as one part of the cage wet, one part dry, with intermediate conditions in between. Thus the ants will be happy, whatever their requirements.

An earth filled nest permits watching ants in conditions near to nature, although the earth should be no more than an ant's length thick, so that tunnels may be open to inspection.

One type of nest may be made with two panes of glass, the smallest standard size carried by hardware stores. The panes may be separated by a wooden frame about 1/4 inch thick. At one side, near the top, the pane is pierced by a hole admitting a tube which leads to a feeding box. On the other side, near the bottom, a similar tube contains a wick. One end of the wick is buried in the earth, the other hangs in a dish of water. The nest is bound together with adhesive tape. It stands on feet made by notching two blocks of wood to fit the bottom edge. This nest is filled with earth before being taped shut. It is never again opened during the life of the colony.

A good feeding chamber may be made of a small ice-box container, such as the plastic kind. The hole for the tube may be bored with a heated nail.

The easiest way to get the ants to move into the box of their own accord is this: Attach a large airy, brightly lighted ant-tight box to the nest in place of the feeding chamber. Collect ants in a wide-mouthed jar. Dump them into the arena, dirt and all. When the earth dries out the ants will become uncomfortable and start looking for a way out. They'll all move into the damp dark nest. The migration is supposed to take place overnight.

After the ants move in to their permanent home, take the arena away and attach the feeding chamber. If a few ants remain in the arena they may be picked out with the fingers and dropped into the feeding box.

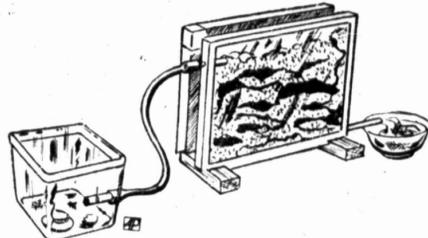

Choose a small nest of rather large ants in an open place where ground is soft and digging not too difficult. Pale yellow ants are sensitive to light so cannot be watched and huge black carpenter ants need moated cages.

When collecting ants insert a spade about a foot away from the nest opening, push it well down, lifting out the earth cleanly so that a tunnel is not lost. Ants, their wax-white grubs and puffed-rice cocoons will be found clustered in small chambers so you may spoon up a great many at once and drop them into your jar. You won't be able to catch them all, but try to get some of each.

A queenless colony will live a long time. Some workers will lay eggs, but being infertile, these will produce males only. Ants require little care but their food preferences vary. Some like honey or sugar syrup, candy gum drop, bread, hard-boiled egg, cheese and dead insects. Give them a little yeast occasionally.

The ants will clean their cage. Dead ants, surplus earth and other debris will be brought into the feeding box and dumped where you can remove them.

Ant nests should be covered when not being watched. An ordinary piece of cardboard or dark cloth will do. They like to do their work in the dark.

Cop Places Defendant Near Scene Of Attack On Riesel

NEW YORK — A policeman testifying in the Victor Riesel acid-blasting case has placed Goldolfo Maranti, one of the defendants, near the scene of the attack.

Pulchman Edward F. Grant testified for the government yesterday that Maranti drove a car the wrong way on a one-way mid-Manhattan street just before Riesel was blinded.

Grant said he flagged the car down and started to write a summons. The officer said the driver pleaded, "I'm married and have children. I'm in a hurry to get home."

Grant testified he let the driver go although he offered the patrolman a $5 tip. Grant quoted himself as saying, "Put that away before you get into trouble."

To identify Maranti as the driver, Grant stepped from the stand in federal court, walked up to Maranti and squeezed his left shoulder hard.

The government alleges Maranti drove Abe Telvi, later found slain on a lower East Side street, to the scene and that Abe Telvi threw the acid. Maranti, Domenico Bando and Leo Telvi, Abe Telvi's brother, are on trial. The government says it is trying to prove the three acted as go-betweens and harbored Abe Telvi after the attack last April 5 on the syndicated labor columnist.

Also indicted in the alleged attack conspiracy are labor racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Diugnardi and four others.

Little Woman Notes Her 101st Birthday

ROY, Utah — A five-foot, 80-pound woman who baked her own birthday cake and still keeps abreast of world events marked her 101st birthday yesterday.

Mrs. Liza Drake McManus' husband died 40 years ago, but she didn't decide to move in with relatives until a year ago. Up to then, she preferred to live alone.

She pooh-poohs her advanced age. "I saw a fellow in the newspaper who is 103," she said. "Well, I think I can make it if he can."

Eden Is Reported To Be 'Critically Exhausted'

LONDON — An associate says Prime Minister Eden has not suffered a recurrence of his critical illness but is "utterly exhausted."

Eden, who canceled some public duties Monday night to rest from "severe overstrain," underwent three operations in 1953 after being stricken by a liver complaint.

His parliamentary private secretary, Cmdr. Robert Allan, said the Prime Minister had experienced "no recurrence, discomfort or pain from the abdominal trouble from which he suffered three years ago."

There is nothing wrong with her husband which a rest won't cure.

"He is just tired," she said. "During these past few weeks I have felt as though the Suez Canal was flowing through our drawing room."

Eden turned his official engagements over to R. A. (Rab) Butler, lord privy seal, who has been mentioned as his possible successor when he retires.

Sir Winston Churchill, Eden's predecessor, was reported by his secretary to be "quite well" after suffering from a cold.

Dogs, Blind People Brought Together

By MICHAEL G. CRISSAN
MORRISTOWN, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP)

— You have seen the familiar pair on the streets: the blind man in his last night and the alert dog guiding him through busy traffic.

This strange cooperation between sightless human and speechless animal is promoted here, in the quiet, green, rolling countryside outside of Morristown.

Dogs and blind people are brought together and taught by a few devoted workers of the Seeing Eye, Inc., to care for each other. The entire Seeing Eye movement and hopes of thousands of men and women condemned to a life of darkness depend on this annual operation.

Blindness itself is not the only handicap for a sightless person. He is faced also with psychological problems as frightening as the loss of eyesight—fear, loneliness, perpetual dependence upon others and pity from other people.

The Seeing Eye movement has met successfully these emotional problems and guide dogs have helped rebuild the morale of their masters and re-established their independence and usefulness.

The Seeing Eye school has no classrooms or textbooks. Here, on the busy streets of Morristown, you will see the blind master and his dog walking together, followed by a watchful instructor ready to correct their mistakes.

Since the organization was established in 1929, some 2,300 blind men and women have been trained at the school. Now they earn their livelihoods in over a hundred different fields. Among them you will find legislators, farmers, newspapermen, lawyers and secretaries.

A recent survey made by the Seeing Eye school showed that more than 90 per cent of its graduates would not give up their dog for a sighted guide.

The school is equipped with a teaching staff and facilities to train at least 200 blind persons and dogs a year. While it takes four years to train one of the sighted instructors, it takes only three months to teach a dog and one month to train a blind person.

George De Betaz, vice president of the organization and supervisor of the school, says best dogs for the blind are German shepherds and boxers, but individual dogs of other breeds are also used by the school.

"As a rule," he says, "we prefer female dogs. They're less stubborn and aggressive."

It costs $1,200 to train a dog and a blind person but each applicant is asked to pay only $150 as his share toward the cost and training of the dog, his adjustment to the animal and room and board during the training period.

Although Seeing Eye dogs are not given away, no applicant has ever been denied one for lack of funds. Those who haven't the money can pay as little as $1 a month. The philanthropic organization is supported by voluntary gifts.

When their first dog dies and they come back to school for a month's training with a new animal, blind persons are charged only $50.

These contributions, De Betaz says, are required by the organization to help blind persons maintain their self-respect. To give the student a dog as an out-and-out charity it would defeat the school's purpose at the very outset.

Some dogs are given to the school and others are purchased, but the organization maintains its own breeding farm, 13 miles from the school.

Colonial Soldiers Skeletons Found

PHILADELPHIA — Archaeologists have found near Independence Hall the skeletons of four men believed to have been colonial soldiers in the American Revolution.

One will be placed in the National Memorial to the Unknown Soldiers of the American Revolution to be erected in the center of Washington Square near Independence Hall.

Pennsylvania archaeologist Duncan Campbell said the search for the skeletons was based on records which said mass burials had been made in shallow pits in the area.

Let Us Give Thanks...

We live in a land of surpluses. It is a unique and unparalleled experience never before enjoyed by any nation, or people, since the dawn of civilization. Shortages, not surpluses, are the ever-present and ever-pressing problem facing a vast proportion of the world's two and one-half billion people today — just as it has for centuries past. Our bulging surpluses of cotton and corn, of wheat and rice, of butter and cheese are stored in ships and oil tanks — in bins, in caves and in giant warehouses. These surpluses have created a complex problem which neither the political economists, the politicians nor the students of government have been able to solve successfully. Through greater efficiency in agriculture, these surpluses have grown in volume in spite of a steady decline in farm population and a decrease in farm acreage. If our mills, mines and factories were to open wide the floodgates of productivity, vast surpluses of goods and services also could be created. Without freedom of opportunity — without the freedom to explore and to create — without the freedom to use the God-given talents of ingenuity and resourcefulness — there would be no such thing as crop surpluses or an ever-increasing volume and variety of goods and services. We spend millions of dollars annually to influence the farmers to take productive land out of cultivation, we spend several billion dollars annually to buy up the crop surpluses and a million dollars a day just to store them. As we strive to find a solution to the problem of crop surpluses, millions upon millions of people the world over are striving desperately to find a solution to their problems of privation and impoverishment. Thus, as we look out upon the world this THANKSGIVING day from the vantage point of our rich material blessings, with the wave of prosperity rolling high about us, we should lift up our hearts in grateful thanks. We should give thanks not only for our rich material blessings, but for the personal freedom which has made them possible. We are a privileged people because we live in a land where personal freedom is recognized as a God-given right, not a state-granted privilege. As we bow our head in gratitude this THANKSGIVING day, let us reaffirm our faith in, and our decision to, the principles of human dignity and personal liberty — the source and the foundation of our many blessings.

Launching Savings Stamp Sales In Schools

Revival Of Interest In Latin, Mythology Seen

Latin isn't as "dead" as some people think. Actually, there's a revival of interest here in the language from which the English alphabet descended and in Roman traditions in general. Interest is shown in addition of two Latin classes to the Big Spring High School curriculum, and in the manner in which 37 students are applying themselves to the subject. Their teacher, Mrs. Charles Weeg, said all 37 are "good beginner students" and are doing a creditable job with the course. This is the first year Latin has been taught in the local schools since 1949-50 when Lillian Shick

(now Mrs. Granville Duncan) was instructor. It has been "offered" every year since, but there were no "takers" until this year, Principal Roy Worley explained. Worley and Mrs. Weeg credit the revival of interest in the language to the trip of several local students to Europe in the summer of 1955. Before going to Paris, France, they started a movement to get a French class started. In preparing for and during their trip, they became interested in Latin as well as French and subsequently drummed up enough interest to make the two classes possible this fall.

Christmas Cards Hitting Post Office

Despite the fact that Christmas day is still a month away, a sprinkling of the inevitable Christmas greeting cards is already beginning to show up in the pouches of Big Spring mail men. Strange to relate, the mail carriers do not resent the presence of these cards at all—they only wish that the bulk of the people who will be sending such Christmas cards would get the same idea and mail their greetings early. They admit, however, that it may be just a bit too soon to be receiving season's greetings—it would be more appropriate to wait at least until after the Thanksgiving holiday period is over. E. C. Boatler, postmaster, pointing out that this year there are 167 millions of Americans and that as a result it is inevitable there will be more Christmas mail than ever before, believes that his men will have to handle more letters and packages this December than ever before in the history of the Big Spring post office. In 1955, which was a record year, the post office here had 67,331 pieces of Christmas mail to distribute. It is possible this total will be exceeded this year, Boatler believes, and he has geared the local post office to work accordingly. If the well-laid plans of the post office to deal with the Christmas mail rush are to function smoothly, the patrons of the office must cooperate, Boatler said. He has already launched a local "Mail early for Christmas" campaign here. This campaign will be continued from now until the Christmas rush ends. He has angled his appeal this year primarily to the "lady of the house." She, as is well-known, is the person who usually selects the Christmas cards, buys most of the gifts, and sees to it that Christmas mailing lists are up-to-date. Boatler suggests that all persons who plan to send Christmas mail take the following steps: Check your Christmas card lists very carefully—make sure that each address includes the full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Then, secure Pamphlet No. 2 at the Post Office, telling you all about packaging and wrapping parcels for mailing, and pamphlet No. 3, giving full details on domestic postage rates and fees. Stock up on stamps at the same time. Also, ask for free labels reading "All For Local Delivery" and "All for Out-of-Town Delivery," so that you can speed arrival of your Christmas cards by sorting and tying them in two separate "bundles with the addresses all facing one way. A modest investment in heavy wrapping paper, sturdy empty cartons, strong cord and craft paper adhesive tape will pay big dividends in safe deliveries of your cherished Christmas gifts.

Special Venire To Be Called In Murder Case

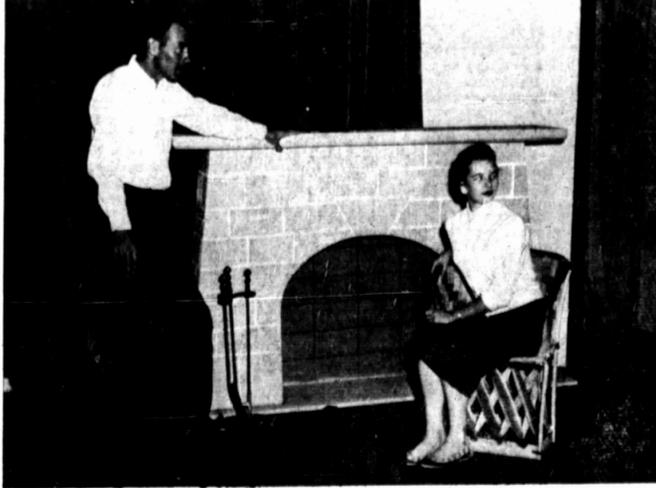

A special jury venire will be summoned to report on Dec. 10 to try the murder case against O. R. Milligan, who was arrested in Big Spring on the morning following the tragic two-car collision which took the life of Cordes, has been unable to post $25,000 bail which had been set in his case. Jones said that criminal jury cases will be tried before Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Other criminal matters which Jones said would be called for trial: W. A. Williams, DWI second offense; Harold Thomas Gibson, DWI second offense; Albino Rantaria, DWI second offense; A. D. Kennedy, theft; W. H. McDaniel, worthless check; Billy E. Davis, theft; and Clyde Myles, burglary.

Jaycees Honor Past Presidents

COLORADO CITY—The Colorado City Jaycees paid tribute to past presidents of their organization in their tenth anniversary celebration in Civic House at Colorado City Tuesday night and honored Jaycee Jeff Taylor with the title of "Workingist Jaycee." Emcee Walter Grubbs pointed out that although Taylor had been past active Jaycee age—35—during most of his years in the club, he had been one of the leaders in all civic projects undertaken. Past presidents included Pete Warren, Eldon Mahon, Ray Noble, Charles Godwin, Goodwin Simpson and Max Caddell, all of Colorado City. Ernest Griffith of Lubbock, Harold Bennett of Snyder, Beemon Dockrey of South Dakota, George Leonard of Sweetwater, Sam Coker of Midland and Royce Mahon of Lorraine. Bob Kirschbaum, present president, introduced new members enrolled in a membership drive closed by the banquet. Kirschbaum said that 16 new members had been secured in the drive led by Bill Quimby, membership chairman. Quimby presented highway patrolman H. B. Slaughter with a table radio as an award for obtaining the largest number of memberships. Kirschbaum also received an award. Buddy Gray of Ballinger, regional Jaycee vice president, introduced Texas Jaycee president, F. E. Hightower of San Angelo. Hightower tabbed the Junior Chamber of Commerce as the outstanding civic organization in the nation, and pointed out that the future industrial growth of Texas would create many civic problems and that more than ever before the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce would need young men who would devote a portion of their time to work for the welfare of the community. Hightower explained the two present statewide projects of the Junior Chamber of Commerce: mental health and annual sessions of the state Legislature.

What Happened To Democracy?

That was an extraordinary resolution which whooped through to adoption at the convention of the County Judges and Commissioners Assn. of Texas at San Antonio last week.

It was natural that officials would oppose anything that might disturb them in the peaceable possession of their offices, but what this resolution demanded was that the Legislature refuse the people the right to vote on any change in the present set-up under which as little as three per cent of the population of four counties can place three of the four county commissioners in office without let or hindrance from the other 97 per cent of the population.

"It is not desirable," said the resolution, "that control of the county government be placed in the hands of voters of one city and at the same time ignore all the other factors relative to county government."

This is democracy, where the majority prevails? To show how ridiculous that quoted argument is, let's revise the phrasing. Suppose we put it this way:

"It is desirable that control of the county government should be placed in the hands of three per cent — or eight or fifteen per cent — of the population and at the same time ignore all of the other factors relative to county government." And for "population" you can also read taxable wealth.

Last year the Texas Legislature, by six votes, refused to submit to the people a constitutional amendment under which county commissioners would be compelled to alter precinct boundary lines when any precinct has less than ten per cent of the population of the county or more than forty per cent of the population.

The county judges and commissioners, fresh from their success in promoting for themselves four-year instead of two-year terms, lobbied that bill to death.

They will try to repeat that performance next session, and again they will succeed — unless the counties where the present inequitable and outrageous gerrymander type precinct exists, build a fire under their senators and representatives and demand the right to vote on the issue, at least.

Perhaps the geographical division of counties into precincts isn't the best way to end the longtime inequity of having the tail wag the dog in county affairs. A quicker and easier way would be to require that all commissioners be voted on by all the residents of the county, though each commissioner would be required to live and represent his own precinct.

That is the way the people of the cities manage it.

Our own county has no particular problem in this respect, but several of our neighbors do. They are entitled to justice under law if self-centered commissioners will not grant it.

Khrushchev Shows His Stripe

On the Russian equivalent of the fried chicken and green peas banqueting circuit Nikita Khrushchev has been having himself a high old time. On Saturday night, honoring visiting Poles, Western diplomats got up and got out of the hall when Khrushchev launched a tirade against Western "imperialism." On Sunday night when the results of the Polish-Soviet parley on the new set up for Poland were announced, the Communist Party boss returned to the attack with even more violent anti-Western billings-gate.

This time the Western diplomats, including U. S. Ambassador Chip Bohlen, merely stepped out of the hall onto a balcony to get some fresh air.

The "understanding" between the Soviet Union and Poland reputedly gives the Poles a little more of independence than they have ever enjoyed under the Russian heel, and the intense bitterness of Khrushchev's jibes at Western "imperialism" may stem from that very circumstance. The Kremlin never likes to give up anything, no matter how trivial, and the party boss' bad manners might well have been touched off by the necessity of giving in even a little to Polish demands.

Seemingly addressing his remarks to the Western diplomats, Khrushchev snarled:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come to see you. Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

Part of this tirade probably stemmed from the retreat, however trivial, enforced upon the Kremlin by the Poles, and part from the necessity of justifying Russia's ruthless slaughter of freedom fighters in Hungary. Khrushchev sought to cover up the Communist failure in Hungary — for it was a fall, re thought the rebellion was squelched, for all the world knew it was a revolt against communism — by making loud talk about the Franco-British action in Egypt.

Khrushchev closed by addressing the U. S. direct, saying:

"If you withdraw your troops from Germany, France and Britain — I'm speaking of American troops — we will not stay one day in Poland, Hungary and Romania."

There are no U. S. troops in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and the Baltic States, but Khrushchev did not mention them while promising to get out of the others if we'd move first.

How To Handle A Pompous Ass

Under the prodding of Dr. William C. Menninger, one of the world's most distinguished psychiatrists, I have been analyzing my boiling point. And, truth to tell, at the moment it's lower than a snake's abdomen.

In a recent speech, Dr. Menninger adjured us citizens who wish to get ahead in life to examine our hostility quotient and likewise our ability to handle "hostile feelings" toward others.

"How well do you handle hostile feelings toward others?" is a question Dr. Menninger asks us to ask ourselves.

Well, sir, it all depends. Never have I suffered fools (i.e., people who disagree with me) less gladly. It's a blessing I'm a flyweight, or I would be cracking heads all over the place in these tense times.

To be honest about it, Doc, I blew my stack at a dinner party the other night, and 30 years of Emily Post went out the window in a wink. And if I had only had my Atomic Ray Disintegrator gun with me — well, there would be one less pompous ass in this troubled world.

There he was across the table from me, and telling everyone at the top of his leather head and lungs what was the matter with the world in general and American foreign policy in particular. And what he said, Dr. Menninger, is that we are in a pretty pickle at the moment because Communists have been running the government, and particularly the State Department — ever since Herbert Hoover left the White House.

Pres Eisenhower hasn't gotten fid of them, cried this Loud Mouth, and there were dark hints of treasonous deeds all over Washington. Never mind the millions of Communists in Russia, China, etc., he went on. Let us have a blood bath at home!

I don't know how you would have handled your hostility quotient at this point, Dr. Menninger. But come to think of it, you do have the advantage of a rest of us — you could have ordered up a straw jacket.

But give me credit, Doc. I counted to 10. And then to 100. And then to 1,000. And then I let him have it. I asked this clown to fish or cut bait. Give us facts, figures and some soupçon of proof, I demanded, that our government is rotten with treason.

My, my, Dr. Menninger, I sure wish you had been present. You could have made a fine, first-hand study of the American hostility quotient! Because by that time, the general hostility quotient of that dinner party was at least 90 proof. Other guests, to a man and woman, were asking him to put up or shut up.

Since it was impossible for his character to do either, he continued his babble. And now, Dr. Menninger, your other question is pertinent, to wit: "When the going gets rough, how do you behave?"

This is, indeed, an interesting problem. But the American answer is even more interesting. Here were a number of persons whose hostility quotient was going right through the thermometer, when the old American sense of humor reasserted itself. Suddenly everyone was laughing at the wild man. And you know what, Dr. Menninger? It murdered the bum! He got up and went home.

Officials Forecast No War

WASHINGTON (U) — Are we going to war?

That's the big question in people's minds, of course, in the ebb and flow of world events from Hungary to the Gaza Strip.

In the opinion of top level officials of the Eisenhower administration: probably not.

Of course, the campaign isn't over. No political campaign really is over, ever.

But the people in key positions will tell you — as long as you don't use their names — that in their view the outlook is for peace. Or at least for no big-scale war. Here's the outlook, as it's given out on an off-the-record basis:

The Soviet Union is off-base. Recent events in Poland and Hungary have rattled the skeleton of the Soviet empire even though "measures have been taken," as a Russian commentator might put it, to quell revolt in both countries.

Tanks, Guns. The usual story. "Measures have been taken." But the feeling in higher official quarters here is that the Russians are scared, if not panicky.

The feeling too is that some of the biggest Russians are scared they'll be booted out of their jobs.

Some say this is behind the recent tough, tall talk of Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, who has been sounding off at parties to the tune of top headlines in the Western world.

Some of this country's chief peacemakers through the Iron Curtain suspect — hopefully, perhaps — that Khrushchev's attitude reflects desperation.

They don't expect war, however. They don't think Russia is ready. They don't think the Soviets have enough long-range bombers. They are convinced the Soviets don't have — yet — the ocean-spanning guided missiles that probably will decide the next war, if there is one.

They can and will get a hot argument from the Democrats here. Sen. Stuart W. Symington, among others in his party, has been contending the Russians are ahead of us, or are about to be.

The Russians haven't carried out their threat to send "volunteers" into the Middle East mess.

Why? They have Syria, in the candid opinion of our policymakers, about ready to reel into their orbit.

Why haven't they given the necessary push? Is it the feeling, which any Communist will voice at the faintest provocation, that history is on the Reds' side and they can afford to wait?

Is it that they're groggy from the smouldering revolts in the satellite countries? Anybody who knows the answers should get in touch with his government.

Here in Washington, nobody seems entirely sure.

Scientist Sees Iceberg Use In Weather Control

FREEPORT, Tex., Nov. 21 (U) — Could an iceberg be towed south, anchored offshore and thus change the rainfall pattern?

Dr. D. F. Leipper of Texas A&M mentioned that as a possibility. He said he doesn't know what the answer would be.

In a speech on possible weather modification, he said the day may come when oceanography and meteorology, used together, can do something about hurricanes.

"We know the start of a hurricane has something to do with ratiations from the ocean's surface," the head of the Oceanography Department said. "In fact, a hurricane releases as much energy as hundreds of atomic bombs."

"Now, if we could find a way to coat the surface of the ocean, we might be able to stop hurricanes before they can start. Once we can modify the weather, almost anything can happen."

Experts in oceanography, Leipper said, are working on a number of projects that might affect the world's future for the better. Among these, he said, are waste disposal experiments at sea, highly important in ridding the land and sea of unwanted atomic materials.

State Revenues Said Lagging

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 (U) — State Comptroller Robert Calvert said today state revenues are about 5 million dollars behind last year, while spending is up about 10 million dollars.

He said the state spent $73,394,025 during October while receiving $72,810,103.

Total expenditures through the fiscal year total $143,444,265, as compared to $133,873,275 last year. Revenues this year total $132,198,185, compared to $137,221,536.

Around The Rim

How To Spend A Sunday Afternoon

When I was a little boy, the picnic was an honored institution.

My father did his best to embellish and perpetuate it not only as an institution but as a family adventure. He missed few opportunities for an outing, and he certainly didn't confine these to holidays. Frequently, when we got out of church on Sunday, it was to pile into the car and take off to some picnic spot.

A favorite was Moss Springs, in those days most people were considerate enough that ranchers had no objection to the public enjoying beauty spots on their lands, and so we were free to come and go as we wished. The roads were trails and wound in and out of the mesquite thickets, around the brow of hills and across low water points in the creek. (Honest, there was water in Beal's Creek and its branches in those days.)

When we came to a fence (some people called them gaps) we halted the car and someone would run up front and take the wire loop off a stake so we could go through. Then we waited until the gate or gap was closed. You just didn't go off and leave a man's gate open so his cattle might get out.

Occasionally we got to ride on a model T truck. Either a pallet was spread or straw was used to soften the austere bottom, and we dangled our feet over the side — and sang and sang and played the same old games until I wonder why our elders didn't go mad. Our enthusiasm seemed to rise by the mile.

My what a thrill when we piled out of the car or out of the truck to dash down to the spring and drink its cooling waters! Then came the pleasant task of carrying heavy laden boxes or baskets of food and maybe a couple of big watermelons or a freezer of ice cream to the spring, or up under the conglomerate escarpment.

The children scampered over the big boulders like mountain sheep while the adults spread their quilts and blankets under the cool shade of the rock overhang. They laid back to look up at lacy fern dangling from the rock and between the prongs of the spring. Or perhaps they looked down into the drapes of water moss where little fingerlings darted in and out. And all the while the pleasant sound of water falling over the rocks and running down the broken creek bed issued like a lullaby.

After gorging (why can you always eat twice as much in the open?) there was a period of relaxation — welcome for the old folks and an almost endless period of restraint for youngsters. Finally, the children would go down around the bend to some holes which were deep enough for swimming. We would dive and splash and marvel how clear and cool the water was.

Wonderfully weary, we would make our way back to the spring to rest, and eat a snack left over from dinner. And then, while the sun laid his cloak of light gently aside across the hills, we rode slowly back home. Maybe we stopped to fix a flat or get a haul of water from the creek to soothe the boiling engine; maybe we saw the stars come out and felt the evening breezes. Maybe an unconscious hum or a meditative song swelled gently into unspoiled close harmony. Maybe we didn't know it, but we were close to God and to each other.

Always Right To Resist Lawfully

WASHINGTON — Less than a month ago an important statement was issued by 100 prominent lawyers from 31 states but, due to the preoccupation of almost everybody with the presidential campaign, its significance was overlooked.

The statement was an obvious attempt to answer the "Southern Manifesto" — the document previously issued by 100 or more members of Congress who expressed criticism of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the segregation question.

But the 100 lawyers, while disclaiming any such purpose, struck a blow to freedom of discussion and the right of citizens to express dissent from the opinions of the Supreme Court.

Thus, the statement of the 100 lawyers said:

"To accuse the court of usurping authority when it reviews legislative acts, or of exercising 'naked power' is to jeopardize the very institution of judicial review. To appeal for 'resistance' to decisions of the court by any lawful means is to utter a self-contradiction, whose ambiguity can only be calculated to promote disrespect for our fundamental law. The privilege of criticizing a decision of the Supreme Court carries with it a corresponding obligation — a duty to recognize the decision as the supreme law of the land as long as it remains in force."

Abraham Lincoln, however, it will be recalled, said in a speech in 1858:

"We propose so resisting it (the Dred Scott decision) as to have it reversed if we can, and a new judicial rule established upon this subject."

The 100 lawyers, on the other hand, seem to be trying to convey the impression that there is no such thing as "resistance by lawful means." Yet every decision of the Supreme Court is "resisted" in a lawful sense when a new case is brought that challenges the first decision and seeks to have it overruled. No case could be brought before the court unless some citizen takes the chance of "disobeying" or "resisting" the first decision. This is done in order to get clarification of the court's first decision or to make sure it covers the additional facts or circumstances that may be cited in a new case.

This is in line with what has happened again and again in American history. Perhaps the most notable example is the vigorous campaign carried on in the court of public opinion by prominent churchmen against the famous decision in the "McCullum Case" by the Supreme Court in 1948. It was on the subject of religious instruction conducted after regular school hours by private teachers in public school buildings. This was unanimously ruled by the court to be a violation of the First Amendment, which forbids Congress to pass any law with respect to "the establishment of any religion."

Four years later that decision was reversed by a 6-to-3 vote of the court in another case in which certain children, whose parents had willed it, were "released" to go to other parts of the city for religious instruction while the other students were required to stay in school. The three justices said they saw no difference — school facilities were still being used to make sure certain children did go to religious schools and certain records on the subject were kept by public school authorities.

But during that four-year interval what had been happening? Professor Edward S. Corwin, eminent constitutional authority, said the Supreme Court "has the right to make history, as it has often done in the past, but it has no right to remake it."

Also, Henry P. Van Dusen, now president of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary of New York and prominent in the World Council of Churches, spoke of Mr. Corwin's views as a "sweeping indictment" and made several lectures and speeches on the subject criticizing the court. He quoted approvingly the statement of Dean Luther Allan Weigle, another prominent churchman, past president of the Federal Council of Churches and dean emeritus of Yale Divinity School, who called the court's interpretation of the First Amendment "untrue" and which would shame any competent graduate student." Mr. Weigle said:

"In its declaration of what the First Amendment means today, the court is making the law. That may be one of its functions, but the falsification of history with which it attempts to support the new interpretation cannot command respect."

Certainly these churchmen had a right to utter their dissent. Justice Black, in referring to the public campaign against the first decision, said in the 1952 opinion of the Supreme Court:

"With equal conviction and certainty, others have thought the McCullum decision fundamentally wrong and have pledged continuous warfare against it. The opinions in the court below and the briefs here reflect these diverse viewpoints."

Doubtless Justice Black used the term "warfare" only in the metaphorical sense, which is also the way the "Southern Manifesto" presumably used the word "resist."

The Gallup Poll

Public Believes Prices Will Rise

By GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 21 — One of the major questions coming up early in the new Congress is what to do about the high cost of living and inflation.

To a great extent, inflationary cycles are the result of public psychology, in the sense that if enough people think prices are going up this fact alone may help them up.

Conversely, if enough people delay purchasing because they feel prices will go down later on, this may have the effect of pushing them down.

There is evidence today that many Americans do think prices are going still higher.

A survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion finds four out of every 10 persons across the country believing that the prices of most of the things they buy will be higher six months from now.

In fact, the number who foresee higher prices is at the highest point it has been in the last four years.

Field reporters for the Institute talked to people during the last week in October. These representative voters, located in all sections of the country, gave their answers to this question:

"Do you think the prices of most of the things you buy will be higher, lower, or about the same six months from now?"

40 per cent foresee higher prices.
43 per cent foresee lower prices.
43 per cent foresee little change.
14 per cent have no opinion.

This is a question which the Institute has put to typical cross-sections of the population from time to time. The answers tend to shift markedly over the period of a year and, therefore, the results reflect prevailing sentiment only at the time the question was asked.

In the past, the Institute has found sharp fluctuations in the poll results depending on news developments in the price field.

A review of the results over the last four years shows the following trend:

	High-Low	er	Same	No
				Per cent
Nov. 1952	30	11	48	11
Mar. 1953	27	22	43	8
Feb. 1954	23	20	49	8
May 1954	18	19	55	8
Dec. 1954	20	12	58	10
July 1955	21	11	60	8
Feb. 1956	26	5	62	7
May 1956	32	6	48	8
TODAY	40	3	43	14

It is interesting to note in today's survey results that the views of professional and business people — the group that could be expected to be most sensitive to economic trends — are not substantially different from the views of the general buying public.

On the other hand, skilled workers interviewed in today's survey show the widest belief that prices will go higher.

Here is the vote by occupation groups:

	High-Low	er	Same	No
				Per cent

Molotov Lays Down Line For Creative Artists

LONDON (AP)—Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov laid down the Communist party line to Russian creative artists in a speech reported today by Moscow radio.

This apparently signaled the return of Molotov to the Soviet ideological stage from which he has been absent for many months—ever since he got into ideological trouble and had to publicly confess his errors more than a year ago.

Molotov's instructions to the Soviet creative artists sounded like the same sort of instructions issued in Stalin's lifetime by Stalin's right-hand man on the artistic front, party secretary Andrei Zhdanov.

Molotov told the artists to stick right to the Soviet Communist party line in their work.

He declared: "We advocate a high level of Bolshevik idea content in the creative work of our artists."

Translated from Communist jargon this means: "we want propaganda."

Molotov was forced out of his post as minister of foreign affairs last June just before Yugoslav President Tito visited the U.S.S.R. Tito and Molotov are bitter foes.

Uncle Ray: Japanese Captured Large Blue Whale

By RAMON COFFMAN

We hear people say that whales are "gigantic" or "the largest of all animals." Such words are true, but they fail to provide a vivid idea of the size. It is well, at times, to obtain detailed facts about one huge member of the whale family.

Facts of that kind have been gathered in a few cases, and perhaps never more clearly than by the members of a Japanese whaling expedition.

The start was made nine years ago. There were 12 vessels, including six catcher boats, an oil tanker and four refrigerating and cold storage boats.

It was a 6,000-mile trip to the whaling waters. New Year's Day arrived and then, in the month of January, came an important event.

Sailors on one of the catcher boats caught sight of a blue whale.

Among all the whales, the blue whale ranks first in size. This one put up a fierce fight. The gunner shot harpoons into it and worked for two hours before winning the struggle.

That vessel was built to hold a monster of the kind. The blue whale was hauled up a skidway, and scores of men set to work cut-

"They looked like furnace men and seemed to know their business," Miss Robinson told police.

She said she became dubious when the men didn't return with a substitute model. Her worst fears were confirmed by her dealer who said he'd installed the right furnace in the first place.

Net Farm Income Reported In Its First Major Rise Since 1951

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today net income of farm operators this year is up slightly from 1955, the first increase since 1951.

The key to the income outlook for 1957 as the department sees it: Strong demand from consumers, increasing shipments of farm products abroad, the soil bank designed to cut planted acreage, and reduced hog marketing.

The department said economic activity is expected to continue to extend into 1957.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has made it plain he intends to rely primarily on existing farm laws in seeking to increase farm income. He said last week he expected to recommend no major farm law changes.

The department gave no specific net income estimates for the year.

Consumers next year are likely to boost food expenditures at about the same rate as their income increases, the department said.

Prospects are estimated as good for a strong foreign market for American farm goods. Farm exports have increased steadily for four years.

The department said 40 to 45 million acres might go into the soil bank in 1957 and thus be taken out of production in return for federal subsidy payments.

Meanwhile, the department said, farmers will have plenty to sell. Farm production this year set a new record and stocks of wheat, cotton, corn and rice were at new highs as the 1957 crop year began.

Reduced hog production this fall is expected to cut meat production in 1957, halting a five-year increase. Beef production probably will stay near the 1956 volume while output of dairy and poultry products is likely to set records.

Farm costs are expected to continue slowly upward. The department said with fewer acres being farmed, total production expenses of farmers probably will be about the same as in 1956.

Cattle production is stable and prices may average slightly higher next year. A sharp rise in exports is expected to reduce the cotton carryover during 1956-57 for the first time since 1950-51.

Del Shofner Is Headed Back To Cotton Bowl

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Dangerous Del Shofner is going back to the Cotton Bowl where he first won fame as Baylor's great sophomore.

Saturday Shofner rolls against Southern Methodist for the last time and if he repeats what he did in 1954 Baylor will be riding the victory lanes.

In that memorable game, which lost Southern Methodist the Southwest Conference championship, Shofner made the first six tackles, brought the Bears from behind with two pass interceptions, one of which he ran back 89 yards to a touchdown, and scored another touchdown as Baylor rallied for a 33-21 victory.

The lanky speedster, who has a 3-year varsity career average of 6 yards per carry, hadn't been used much this season until the last two Saturdays. He carried the ball only 13 times through the first four games, yet scored three touchdowns and caught two scoring passes. Against Texas Tech he never carried the ball a single time yet made two touchdowns.

Shofner's total for the year is 48 points.

Baylor finally turned him loose against Texas and Shofner responded with one 55-yard touchdown run, another scamper of 46 yards that set up the winning field goal, and caught three passes for 48 yards.

Last Saturday against Nebraska Del averaged 7.2 yards rushing; scored two touchdowns, one on a 91-yard punt return and the other on a 17-yard jaunt, and set up a touchdown with a 14-yard sprint.

Shofner, a 9.8 sprinter in track and who anchored Baylor's 890-yard relay team to triumphs in the Texas, Kansas and Drake relays, is the Baylor leader in pass-receiving with 13 catches for 219 yards, kickoff returns and pass interceptions, and he leads the conference in punting with a 41.0 yards average. He averaged 43 yards in the rain and mud at Maryland, 48 under similar conditions against Texas Christian and 49.5 against Texas A&M.

If Southern Methodist is harboring any hopes of staying in the race for the Cotton Bowl host spot, it better watch Dangerous Del mighty close Saturday.

Members of the 1956 Big Spring High School football team, who have played both clubs, are picking Abilene almost solidly to protect its spotless record at the expense of San Angelo in the District 2-AAAA championship football game Thursday afternoon in Abilene.

Johnson, who played quarterback against Abilene and moved over to halfback for the joust with San Angelo, predicted the contest would be hard-fought all the way but the Bobcats would finish on top and go on to represent the conference in the playoffs.

Ronnie Phillips, who missed the San Angelo game due to a toe injury, was of the opinion that Abilene would win "about as it pleased." That, he added, could be as much as 40 points.

Big Alex Karras, Iowa tackle, was named Associated Press lineman of the week today for his superb play against Ohio State that helped put the Hawkeyes in the Rose Bowl.

The performance of the Gary, Ind. youth in Iowa's 40 triumph over the Buckeyes was "outstanding" according to his coach, Forest Evashevski. Alex was shifted to play head on with the OSU center.

"This made him doubly effective," Evashevski said. "He could penetrate from that position and take both sides of the line. He just licked the man playing opposite him. He has exceptional quickness for a 230-pounder."

Alex played 58 minutes against Ohio State. He led the blocking on Iowa's third period scoring drive when he cleared the way for a first down on the OSU 36. Probably his most spectacular play came on the last play of the game. He broke through and smeared OSU's Jim Roseboro for a nine-yard loss on the Buckeye three.

Jerry Kramer and Dick Foster, Idaho guard and tackle, respectively, came in for high praise in the weekly voting by sportswriters and broadcasters. Their play was terrific as Idaho almost upset Oregon State.

Others who were given high praise included Don Stephenson, Georgia Tech center; Jerry Tubbs, Oklahoma center; Eugene Stallings, Texas A&M end; Brad Bomba, Indiana end; George Strugar, Washington tackle and Ben Hammond, Washington center.

Oliver Out Front In TV Golf Set

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ed ("Porky") Oliver, $2,000 ahead after one day's work, was due to go against Mike Souchak today in the second of an unusual series of golf matches being played before TV cameras for $39,000 in prize money.

Oliver picked up the $2,000 by firing a 9-under-par 32-30-62 to win over Julius Boros in the first match at Phoenix Country Club yesterday. Boros shot a 35-35-68 on the par 36-35-71 course and collected $1,000.

The 13-match series is being filmed for presentation next spring on TV.

Yesterday's match took more than six hours to play. The players were followed by two trucks, three station wagons and a fleet of caddy carts loaded with TV equipment. It took considerable time to set up the equipment at each hole, so the players used their spare time to shoot practice shots.

Knott savaged the boys' B contest, 43-26, as Doyle Railsback hit 20 points for Knott and Carsten-son 16 for Flower Grove.

In the girls' game, Jean Sample counted 24 for Knott. Sue Paige had ten and Ann Rogers six.

Lynn Waldorf Out As Bear Mentor

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Lynn O. (Pappy) Waldorf, 54, dean of Pacific Coast Conference football coaches, announced his resignation to his California squad last night, emphasizing "it was my own idea."

Waldorf, head man at California since 1947, said there was "no pressure on me to quit and this was merely the step I've contemplated for quite a while."

He announced the resignation before Cal's big game against Stanford Saturday "to avoid speculation about my future and to prevent pressure on the university."

Waldorf, whose three-year contract expires July 1, has been under fire by alumni groups two years. His salary has been estimated at $15,000 a year.

Pappy, one of the best-known figures in football during 29 years of coaching at five colleges, told The Associated Press: "I have seven months to make up my mind what I want to do. Maybe I'll stay in coaching, maybe I'll do something else. I just don't know."

Waldorf said he had not discussed the resignation with anyone connected with the Associated Students of the University of California, which operates Cal's athletic program.

Waldorf piloted the Golden Bears to 66 victories, 32 defeats and 4 ties in 10 years. He took California to the Rose Bowl in 1949, 1950 and 1951, losing all three times.

Smith Solves Fuel Problems

Getting tired of hauling in fuel and smelling gas fumes every time you try to heat the house on these cold nights?

You can solve such problems the easy, safe way by having a butane fuel tank outside your house.

Butane fuel systems big enough to warm any size home — and versatile enough to take care of a lot of other household chores, as well — are installed and maintained by the S. M. Smith Butane Company, main offices of which are situated just within the city limits on U. S. Highway 87 in the north part of town.

Butane not only provides warmth, but is especially valuable in rural areas where no other type of fuel can be obtained without hauling it a long way.

It can be used to heat chick incubators, provide warm water for baths and dish washing and serve as tractor-fuel, as well.

If you own a tractor, the most economical fuel you can use is butane. Not only does it offer a great saving to the user over a period of time, it is safer and insures the engine longer life, as well.

Any number of household appliances, including the famous Wedgewood kitchen range, hot water heaters and front room heaters — all especially designed for the use of butane — can be purchased at the S. M. Smith Butane Company.

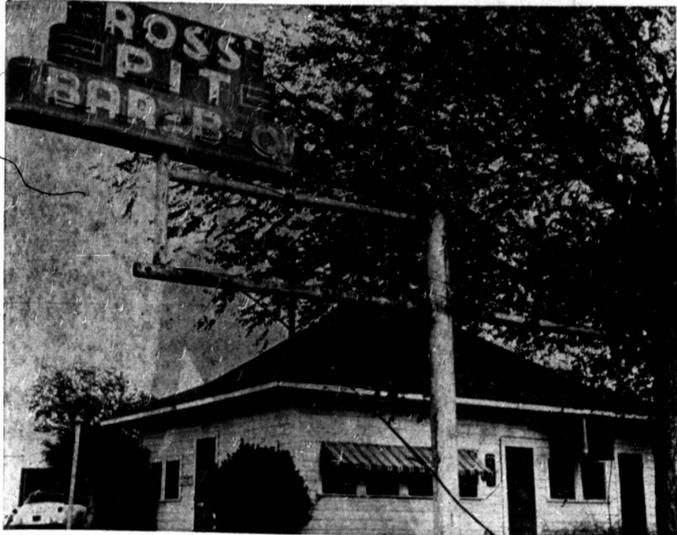

A fleet of trucks operated by the local concern also runs a special check on butane plants, to make certain that your supply is not exhausted before you call for more.

Dial AM 4-5981 to have a butane system installed in your home or to arrange an appointment to have a room heater, kitchen range or water heater demonstrated for you.

Ready For Instant Service

Home Of Ross' Barbecue

Here is a Big Spring landmark, home of the famous Ross barbecue. The Ross Barbecue Stand, at 904 E. 3rd, is operated by L. M. Ross and has been in the Ross family for more than a quarter of a century. It is on the west-bound branch of U.S. 80 through Big Spring and may be reached from the downtown area by way of Fourth Street.

IN FAMILY FOR YEARS

Exclusive Recipe Gives Ross Barbecue Distinctive Flavor

An exclusive recipe that has been in the Ross family for two generations accounts for the tangy goodness of meat prepared at Ross Barbecue Stand, 904 E. 3rd. The recipe and its masterful application by L. M. Ross, present owner of the business, also accounts for the widespread popularity of the establishment which has become a "landmark" in Big Spring.

Using the famous recipe which was handed down to him by his parents, Ross prepares real West Texas barbecue over old-fashioned wood fires. He uses only the choicest cuts of meats, assuring his many patrons of mouth-watering goodness with every bite. The meat is prepared in such a manner that none of its natural flavor is lost. It is cooked slowly and evenly over wood fires which impart that distinctive "hickory flavor" prized by so many barbecue lovers.

The Ross Barbecue Stand is situated on the west-bound segment of U. S. 80 in the eastern part of Big Spring. The address, 904 E. 3rd, is easily reached from the east, but a more involved route must be followed from other directions.

Promise Is Promise Even To Thieves

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A promise is a promise — even among thieves. When two gunmen held up supermarket owner Ross Cobbs as he left with the day's receipts of about $400, Cobbs asked if he could at least keep the checks. The men refused, but promised to mail them to him. Yesterday Cobbs was called to a rural home and the owner gave him the checks. He had found them in his mailbox.

R&H Fertilizer In Fall Good For Lawns In Spring

Would you like to have a beautiful lawn, the grass luxuriantly green, even-textured and flourishing? Of course you would.

R&H Hardware Company, recognizing the desire that most residents of Big Spring have for prettier lawns, believe that they have the answer.

They have stocked a tremendous quantity of a new fertilizer which in tests here this summer brought amazing results, the proprietors assert. This new lawn special is Gold-walthe's Texas Toro, a marvelous new chemical combination which seems to provide exactly what Big Spring lawns need to be all they should be.

The fall is the proper time to apply the initial coat of this fertilizer. Another should be added in the spring. That's the whole job for a full year. Experiments here showed that using the material in this order made lawns which had looked brown and drab turn into bright green tracts which caught the eye of every passerby.

R&H has an abundant supply of this new Turf Special Gold-walthe's Texas Toro. It comes in 80-pound bags and a bag is adequate to fertilize 3,000 square feet of lawn for one treatment.

Texas' 2 Thanksgivings Came About By Jurisdictional Mixup

By ROBERT E. FORD
DALLAS (AP) — Texas is blessed with two Thanksgivings this year. No other state can make that claim.

Texans can take their pick — Nov. 22 or Nov. 29.

For this they can thank Franklin D. Roosevelt, the U.S. Congress, the Texas Legislature and a rugged states rights outlook.

FDR started the ball bouncing in 1939. November had five Thursdays that year. He announced that the third Thursday would be Thanksgiving.

He hoped to make merchants especially thankful. His plan was to allow a greater spread between Christmas and Thanksgiving so shoppers would have more time for yule buying.

People who wanted their traditions to stay put cried out. Texans called it federal intervention.

Congress got around to making the "fourth Thursday" official in 1941.

Texas governors picked the state's Thanksgiving after that. The Legislature took it out of the governors' hands in 1951 by naming the "last Thursday."

So until someone rewrites the calendar or Congress or the Legislature backs down, Texas will have two Thanksgivings on years when November has five Thursdays.

What do Texans think about it? Wick Fowler of Dallas said he is violently opposed.

"I'm a sentimental fool about Thanksgiving," he said, "but two Thanksgivings just cut the pleasure in half."

"I think having two Thanksgivings is just plain dumb," Mrs. Carl Ryan of Dallas exploded.

Vick Lindley of the Bryan Daily Eagle, almost next door to Texas A&M College, said: "Two Thanksgivings? In this place there's only one Thanksgiving — the day the Aggies play Texas U."

The banks and post offices may be closed Nov. 22, but everybody will wonder why.

Waco's Mayor D. T. Hicks proclaimed what he called a "States Rights Thanksgiving" for Nov. 29. The conflict strikes into the home. Many fathers will observe the 22nd because that's the day the boss liked. Their school-age children will observe the 29th in most places.

Generally speaking, federal agencies, the armed services and many retail stores will observe the first holiday.

Segregationist Freed Of Charges

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — Segregationist John Kasper has been freed of charges growing out of rioting over racial integration of Clinton High School.

Kasper, 27-year-old executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens Council at Washington, D.C., broke into a broad smile when the jury announced the verdict. The all-male jury deliberated 45 minutes.

Kasper had been charged by the state with sedition and inciting to riot because of his activities against the admission of 12 Negroes to Clinton High School under a federal court order Aug. 27.

He had pleaded innocent, and denied the charges. Had he been convicted, the top sentence would have been a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Sixty-eight witnesses — 58 of them for the defense — paraded to the witness stand during the six-day trial.

Oil For France

Wallace, dockman for the Texas Co., sets the flow of oil for the tanker SS Caltex London, first of eight tankers which will carry some one million barrels of Texas oil to France to replace the supply cut off in the Middle East. Adlai Says Southerners Should 'Make Up Minds'

RIDGELAND, S.C. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says, "It's about time that a lot of people in the South decided whether they are Democrats or Republicans."

The defeated Democratic presidential candidate interrupted a hunting vacation here yesterday to attack Republican foreign policy.

He charged that the GOP has no effective policy for handling Soviet expansion in the Middle East.

"I have warned for three years," Stevenson told newsmen,

"that the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy was headed for disaster and I wish I thought the administration had, even at this late date, some policy for restoring Allied unity in the Middle East."

Stevenson noted the strong backing given the Republicans in the South in the recent election and said the people of the South must decide to which party they belong.

"If they are Republicans," Stevenson declared, "they should candidly say so and work for that party. If they are Democrats, then they should return to that party and be a part of it."

Stevenson is visiting a plantation near here owned by the Marshall Field family of Chicago.

Martin Co. Plans For Atom Market

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Glenn L. Martin Co. has formed a subsidiary company to explore and develop world markets for nuclear-powered electrical generating systems.

The new company, entirely owned by the aircraft company, is called Martin International. George B. Shaw, vice president in charge of procurement for the parent firm, was named president of the subsidiary.

The company announced that preliminary discussions have been held with both private and government sources in the Dominican Republic, Cuba and Brazil.

He faces a penalty of up to five years in prison and $500 fine.

World Indignation Rising Over Russian Deportations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A rising tide of indignation over deportation of Hungarian patriots appeared today to assure overwhelming U.N. support for renewed pressure on the Soviet Union to change its policy in Hungary.

But a high Russian source indicated the Soviets were not planning to back down on their stand that events in Hungary are none of the U.N.'s business.

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon was scheduled to take the General Assembly floor on behalf of the proposal by neutral Asians seeking to break down Hungary's rejection of a U.N. observer team. A high Soviet source said this resolution was not acceptable.

Anti-Communist voices in the Assembly grew louder, and cau-

New Comet Is Reported

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP) — Two Belgian astronomers have reported a new comet, eighth discovered this year, Harvard Observatory said today.

Word was received in a cable from University Observatory, Copenhagen, clearing house for astronomical information.

The new comet, named Arend-Roland for its discoverers and otherwise identified as 1956-H, was discovered Nov. 6.

Its position on that date, at 22 hours 31.2 minutes universal time, was given as right ascension 2 hours 0 minutes 57.9 seconds, and declination plus 29 degrees 23 minutes 3 seconds.

Daily motion is right ascension west 2 minutes 18 seconds, declination south 18 minutes.

Salesman Guilty Of Co-Habitation

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — David B. Darger, 50-year-old insurance salesman accused of having three wives, was convicted of unlawful cohabitation yesterday.

He faces a penalty of up to five years in prison and $500 fine.

An Early Yule For Lucky Stockholders

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas is coming early for some lucky stockholders.

A cheery flow of year-end and extra dividend payments has started from the board rooms where directors of a sizable number of corporations are tallying up the year's business and the prospects for 1957.

The tide is expected to increase after Thanksgiving.

Many directors like to wait until they have a good idea of the entire year's record before handing out largesse to the shareholders — and some boards wait until January.

Many boards are finding plenty for which to be thankful tomorrow. In just three days directors have declared dividends on 188 issues of stocks.

Ten voted year end payments and 16 voted extra dividends. In 11 other cases, without mentioning the approaching yule season, they increased the payment above that previously paid. Holders of five
