Getting Ready For Exposition

Scout, Cub and Explorer leaders this morning were putting the finishing touches to arrangements for the annual Scouting Skills Exposition which opens at 7:30 p.m. today in the old Safeway building in the 200 block of Ruessels. Scores of cubbing, scouting and explorer skills will be on display in individual pack, troop and post exhibits. Completing one of the booths are, left to right, M-Sgt. Cecil Bruton, Mrs. Sophie Poreda and Mrs. Cecil Bruton.

More Hungarian Bloodshed Looms

Hungary Reds Admit Strikes Hurting Nation

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Communist Budapest radio admitted today that strikes in coal mines still are plaguing Hungary and called them a "blow against the nation."
The radio broadcast a protest by the government trade union organ Nopakarat against "daily strikes and stoppages" in key coal mining areas. It said most of the walkouts had taken place in the Borsod, Tatabánya and Pecs areas, which are Hungary's main sources of coal.
Previous reports have said Hungary's coal mines have been producing only about 30 per cent of their prerevolution output.
The union paper hit especially at the Tatabánya miners, charging their "irresponsible" behavior was endangering the "vital interests of the Hungarian people."
Up to midday there were no reports of new anti-Communist demonstrations in Budapest like those that have erupted over the last three days.
An earlier Budapest radio broadcast said, however, a meeting of Communists supporting Premier Janos Kadar had demanded quick action by the government against "terrorist onslaughts by counterrevolutionary elements," the term the Red regime customarily applies to the opponents of Kadar's Russian-controlled regime.
At least two persons were killed and several wounded yesterday in the Hungarian capital when rebellious residents clashed with a band of Kadar supporters. Radio Budapest said 50 persons were arrested and blamed the slayings on "provocateurs."
Radio Budapest also estimated that the revolt so far had cost the Hungarian economy 16 billion forints (about $1,360,000,000).
But while relief supplies built up for Hungary's needy, the Communist regime began exporting livestock. Sixteen railway freight cars carrying 465 pigs arrived in Austria for the Christmas market. More shipments were expected.

HELP FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Will you help people who fight for freedom? The Hungarians need your help, mostly by the women and children who have been caught up in this maelstrom of tragedy.
The Red Cross and the Pastors Association join in an appeal for this community to do its share in the U. S. program to help the Hungarians.
Make your check to the RED CROSS, and mail it to The Herald for acknowledgment. It is urgent that this appeal be met promptly.

Workers Council Threatens Strike

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—A new general strike and bloodshed in Hungary were threatened today.
The Central Workers Council issued a proclamation warning the Soviet-imposed government of Premier Janos Kadar that continuation of its tactics against elected worker representatives would result in "a general strike, bloodshed and a new national tragedy."
The Central Workers Council has gradually emerged as the leadership of Hungarian anti-Kadar, anti-Soviet feeling. Kadar so far has turned down every demand of the council on behalf of the people and workers, but his own popular support has been so shaky that he has not dared openly to withdraw his recognition of the body as the negotiating agency for Budapest workers.
The Hungarian people appeared to have recovered from the first shock of the smashing onslaught by Russian tanks of Nov. 4, and to be coming back strongly.
The council's warning was voiced as a result of the arrest of many members of factory worker councils. Several more members were arrested last night.
Yesterday, after about 50 members had been arrested, workers at several plants went on spontaneous strike. At one factory, 600 workers successfully defied Soviet tanks and Hungarian militia and police and prevented the arrest of three more council members.
The central council yesterday advised against sporadic strikes in the plants. It said such strikes would serve the interest of the government because they would indicate the council was not the master of the situation in the factories.
Today it sent a three-member delegation to Kadar "to protest against the violation of the law and to warn that if such arrests continue the anger of the world would be roused against it (the government)."
Two of the delegates were nationally known writers, Peter Veres and Aron Tammassy.
Later, the central council said in a proclamation: "It appears that an organized hunt has been started against the workers councils throughout the country."

"If this continues, we lose the only possibility to restore order and create a normal life."
"If this continues, the confidence of workers will be lost completely and those who direct provocations will reach their goal turning the workers' class definitely against the government."
"The end will be a general strike, bloodshed and a new national tragedy."
The proclamation was made public today in every Budapest factory. It is to be handed to the government later.
"Our negotiations with the government did not bring the required results," it said. "It appears that (Premier) Janos Kadar does not have the power to oust certain persons who are still around him and who are hated by the workers."
"These persons misinform him about the will and the mood of the Hungarian people. These hinder from above the purge of the state apparatus."
The proclamation was issued as the city was reported quiet—at least on the surface—after three days of turmoil.
Some sporadic strikes were reported. The Kadar government apparently is determined to break every resistance. Police last night threatened to take "severe measures against counterrevolutionary elements"—a brand that can be used apparently against anybody.
"As we see it, the government does not build its power on the workers councils in spite of the promises by Kadar. The workers councils presidents and members who circulate our publications are often arrested."
"The situation is that police drag away presidents or members of workers councils during the night, without investigation or hearing, from their homes often on the ground of baseless denunciations. It also happens that the entire workers council of a factory had been arrested."

Kidnaping Trial Due Jury Action

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—The fate of Angelo LaMarca, on trial for his life in the kidnap death of little Peter Weinberger, goes into the hands of an all-male jury today following summations by prosecution and defense.
Testimony ended yesterday in the trial which began Nov. 5.
LaMarca, 31, has admitted kidnaping the 32-day-old child from his home in Westbury, N.Y., last July 4 and abandoning it to die the next day in a thicket near a Long Island parkway.
LaMarca presented a defense based on the claim he was driven to insanity at the time by the pressure of debts. A ransom note sent the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger, demanded $2,000. The money was never collected.
The defendant is charged both with kidnaping and murder, each of which could bring the death penalty upon conviction.

Senators End Hawaii Probe

HONOLULU (AP)—Senate probes ended their hearings on communism in Hawaii yesterday with at least one subcommittee member concluding that a "Communist conspiracy exists in the islands."
"The over-all picture here has convinced me there is still a continuing Communist conspiracy in the islands," said Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah).
The Senate Internal Security subcommittee heard 30 witnesses in six days. Twenty witnesses pleaded the Fifth Amendment when asked about Communist activity.
Among those refusing to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination were officials of Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.
Atty. William Stephenson, chairman of the Territorial Subversive Activities Commission, was the last witness. He said ILWU leaders "are still following a continuous course of action against the government."
A secret witness told the subcommittee that some men he knew as Communists "are running" the ILWU.
Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) headed the hearings.

16 Make Bond In Clinton Race Case

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Sixteen persons made bond pending trial and a 17th went to jail yesterday as federal court wound up the first phase of its action to halt racial disorders which closed Clinton High School.
The Anderson County School Board scheduled a meeting with faculty members and law enforcement officers today to plan reopening of the school Monday. It was closed after a flareup of violence Tuesday.
Fourteen men and two women from Anderson County have been before Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor in nearby Knoxville in the last two days on charges of criminal contempt of court in the incidents.
The 17th, Joe Diehl, a farmer, was arrested and convicted of contempt for handing out "inflammatory literature" which compared the roundup of the other 16 with Communist action in Hungary. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail.
"He may not know as much as

Rites Set For Crash Victims

A military funeral will be conducted in Akron, Ohio, Saturday for Lt. Robert E. Kuhens, 25, one of the Webb AFB flight instructors killed in a T-33 crash near Mansfield, Ohio, Wednesday.
Rites for Lt. Jack T. Estabrook, 25, the other crash victim, will be held in Lakeland, Fla., Sunday or Monday. His remains were being sent from Mansfield to Lakeland today.
Mrs. Kuhens called friends here from Akron this morning to report funeral plans. With her at the Mayflower Hotel in Akron are her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Dillon of Big Spring.
The Earhart Funeral Home of Akron is in charge of funeral arrangements for Lt. Kuhens. He also is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Kuhens of Uniontown, Ohio.
The Morrison Funeral Home of Lakeland will be in charge of arrangements for services for Lt. Estabrook. Mrs. Estabrook has established his parents, Col. and Mrs. F. W. Gustites, in Lakeland.

Rain Totals .12, Snow Is Forecast

Big Spring had its first rain of December Thursday when a total of .12 inch fell during the forenoon. It was the first rain in 21 days — last measurable precipitation occurring on Nov. 4. At that time .13 inch of moisture was measured — the only rain recorded in the month of November.
On the heels of the shower came prediction that Big Spring was to get its first snow flurries of the winter season tonight or Saturday. A low of 24 is forecast for Saturday morning.
Weather prediction for Big Spring and vicinity schedules partly cloudy and mild weather for the remainder of today. It will begin to get much colder tonight and continue frigid through Saturday. The weather bureau reported snow flurries are listed as a possibility for Saturday.
Thursday night was generally clear — the sun having returned to the scene at noon Thursday — and the temperature was mild. A heavy fog swept into town early Friday and slowed down traffic for more than an hour.
The shower Thursday brought the total rain for the year, as recorded at the U. S. Experiment Station, to 7.18 inches. This is approximately half of the total precipitation recorded in 1955.
Colder weather was reported en route to West Texas for later today. Two cold fronts joined over North Texas, the Associated Press reported, and began pushing south. Temperatures toppled as the fronts advanced and showers were triggered.
The effect of the advance of the cold fronts already made itself evident in Dalhart where the minimum reading overnight was 14 degrees. Amarillo reported 20 degrees early today.
Big Spring had a minimum reading of 43 for Thursday night.
Below freezing temperatures were the rule throughout the Texas Panhandle and along the Red River Valley. The Weather Bureau said that the cold air mass was moving steadily southward and driving the warmer air out of its path. It was stirring up rains in the process.
The Bureau said that one of the two fronts extended from Sherman in North Texas along the northern border of the state to New Mexico. The second front was along a line from Sherman southwestward to the El Paso area before the two cold air masses were united.
Light rain fell at Lufkin and Childress and at Ardmore, Okla., near the Texas border.
Skies were clear over most of West Texas and cloudy elsewhere. The front is expected to kick off showers in East Texas Friday and in South Central Texas Saturday. Rain and colder weather is forecast for North Central Texas Friday and Saturday and freezing drizzle is expected in West Texas Friday.
Temperatures Thursday ranged from 88 degrees at Alice to a low maximum of 66 at El Paso and Alpine.

Sentencing Due In Acid Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Three convicted men were called into federal court today to be sentenced for conspiracy in the acid blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel.
Up for sentencing were: Leo Telvi, 26, brother of the slain Abe Telvi, 22, who allegedly hurled sulphuric acid in Riesel's face in the early morning dark on a street just off Broadway last April 5.
Gondolfo (Sheikie) Miranti, 37, the alleged "finger man" in the attack.
Demenico (Nick) Bando, 47, one of the intermediaries.
Guilty verdicts against the three were returned late yesterday by a jury of eight men and four women after 88 minutes of deliberation.
The three could draw sentences of up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000 each from Judge William B. Herlands.

Plane Is Stranded At South Pole

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Engine trouble stranded the 10-man crew of a U. S. Navy plane at the South Pole today.
The crew had flown to the two-mile-high polar plateau with supplies for a 23-member Seabee task force building a base there for International Geophysical Year observation.
The fliers took their polar delay philosophically. Before starting their repair job, they broke out sleeping bags from their survival kits and turned in at one of the three shelter huts the Seabees have built in the last two weeks.
Crew members include Sgt. David Sullivan of San Benito, Tex., navigator; and Minor McDaniel of Pharr, Tex., aviation electrician.

San Angelo Billed For Meter Change

SAN ANGELO (AP)—A San Angelo merchant, M. E. Bolding, has billed San Angelo for nine years of supplying change for parking meters.
His bill totals $123.75. He figured it at 5 cents a day for 275 days a year for nine years.
Bolding, owner of Bolding Jewelers, says he has been forced to keep change not otherwise required to satisfy people seeking nickels and to listen to their complaints about the meters.

Conservatives Take New Hold On British Government Reins

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Conservative party took a new hold on the reins of government today after weathering a parliamentary squall over the Suez invasion. Whether Sir Anthony Eden would remain in the driver's seat was still in doubt.
In quick succession in the House of Commons last night the government beat down a Socialist motion censuring the Suez military intervention 327-260, then won a vote of confidence in its Middle East policy 312-260.
Defeat on either motion would have forced Eden and his Cabinet to resign and make way for new national elections which might have put the opposition Labor party in power.
The first 67-vote majority proved that the Conservatives, despite internal dissension over the abortive British-French strike into Egypt, still could close their ranks against any Socialist bid for national power. Actually the Conservatives have only 60 more members than all other parties in the House.
The government's majority was reduced on the second vote by 15 Conservatives who abstained. This was a direct slap at Eden by Conservative backers of a tougher line in the Middle East, who think withdrawal now constitutes a humiliating reverse leaving Britain and France without any gains from the invasion.
But the small number of abstentions in itself was a Conservative victory, since more than 100 members of the party a week ago had signed a petition deploring the U.N. and U.S. demands for withdrawal to which the government bowed.
The votes came after a two-day foreign policy debate during which the Conservative party's determination to ride out the storm and hang on to government control was set forth by Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler, heading the government while Eden is resting in Jamaica and regarded by many as Eden's heir apparent.
"This government," said Butler "has a long life before it."
Many political observers insisted Eden would resign soon and let the government form again around another leader not burdened with the blame for the consequences of the Suez fiasco. Others claiming to know Eden's way of thinking said he is a stubborn man who is convinced he was right in ordering the action in Egypt and that he will not bow out.
It was officially announced that the Prime Minister would return from Jamaica on schedule, next Friday. He flew to the Atlantic island Nov. 24, at the height of the Suez crisis, after his doctors had benched him because of "acute overstrain."
If Eden does not resign soon after returning, his future — and his party's — probably will be decided by the government's handling of the acute economic and financial crisis facing it as a result of the reduction in Middle East oil supplies which power much of British and West European industry.
One question widely asked was whether Eden had sealed his political fate by leaving the country at a time of crisis. The Spectator, a Conservative magazine of political opinion, expressed a common view: "Unquestionably, Jamaica has done more damage than Suez to Sir Anthony Eden."

Committee Backs Plea For More Braceros In Martin

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Farm Labor Committee this morning voted to recommend to the Texas Employment Commission in Austin that capping on the number of Mexican nationals that can be employed on farms in this area be raised.
Farm operators and their labor associations had requested authority to employ more braceros during the irrigation season prior to establishment of next year's crops.
The farm labor committee, meeting with Leon Kinney, manager of the Big Spring TEC office, endorsed the requests for additional help. However, committee members made the reservation that if the supply of domestic farm labor becomes more abundant, a "farm labor day" will be held in Stanton early next year in an effort to get farmers and local workers together.
Kinney pointed out that Public Law 78 requires farmers to use domestic workers in preference to imported labor if the local help is available. He said a domestic worker may even replace a bracero on a job if no other employment is available and he desires the work.
The law specifies that workers are to receive 50 cents per hour or the prevailing wage, whichever is higher.
Members of the Martin County Farm Labor Committee are Rev. Louis Moeller, Leo Turner and G. J. Chapman.

Liquor Chain Protests 'Spies'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Berbiglia, Inc., a Kansas City, Mo. liquor chain, asked the Jackson County Circuit Court to issue an injunction today prohibiting Kansas revenue agents from spying on its customers.
Kansas recently announced plans to stem the heavy flow of liquor across the line from Missouri during the holiday season.
It assigned revenue agents to watch Missouri liquor stores for customers who emerged with large packages and got into cars with Kansas license plates. Officers on the Kansas side, tipped off by radio, try to intercept the buyers.
In its petition for an injunction, Berbiglia contended Kansas officers have no police powers in Missouri where liquor is cheaper.

Honor Guest Dies At His Testimonial

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP)—The guest of honor at a testimonial dinner dropped dead last night as friends were giving him his finest hour.
Theodore Whelton, 65, of Teaneck had just taken his seat after acknowledging gifts from his employer and fellow employees when he collapsed and died from a cause not yet determined.
He was retiring after 42 years with the Alco Gravage Co. of Hoboken, which he served last as superintendent of research.

Westerner Driving Through Hungary Needs Free Hand

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
BUDAPEST (AP) — A Westerner motoring from Vienna to Budapest through multiple Russian checkpoints must be a good one-hand driver.

He has to keep the other hand free to wave back at the thousands of Hungarians, children and adults, who rush to the highway to hail any foreign car that comes along.

At each of the many checkpoints, the children come out along with the armed Soviet soldiers when a Westerner's auto halts.

The soldier with his tommygun on the shoulder asks for the passport. The children ask for cigarettes.

When the motorist says "You kids are too young to smoke cigarettes," the kids come back fast with, "This is for pappi."

The Soviet soldiers let the kids have the cigarettes.

Then the kids wave the traveler on with a typical Austrian greeting "Danke schoen." "Kuess die

Pearl Harbor Now Mecca For Tourists

By JIM BECKER
PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Where once the battleships were moored row on row—inviting targets for the Japanese planes which smashed them 15 years ago today—a trim little motor launch ties up every morning.

Some 100 tourists walk slowly aboard, subdued, chatting in whispers, awestruck by the scene where history was made and the United States plunged into World War II, on the day that "will live in infamy."

They wear bright aloha shirts and cotton print dresses. Many have cameras slung around their necks. The children are along, almost unnaturally silent and reserved.

The day is brilliant. The trade winds rustle quietly, much as on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941.

The launch passes a well-scrubbed Navy transport, one of only half a dozen or so ships in the giant harbor.

The transport's radar scope whirrs steadily, scanning the skies. (Only a handful of ships in Pearl had radar in 1941, and a radar warning from an Army outpost never reached the fleet.)

"There were 94 ships in Pearl Harbor on Sunday, Dec. 7," the sailor on the launch says, rattling through his prepared patter.

The launch makes a wide swing and stops at the beginning of the now-deserted one-mile stretch of docks and buoys known as "Battleship Row."

There, in the space of about a mile, seven American battleships were moored when the Japanese struck. Four were sunk. Those afloat were damaged.

Some 2,000 men died, torn to bits in the explosions of bombs, burned to death in the flaming waters of the harbor as oil spilled from stricken ships and caught fire from incendiary bombs, trapped below decks of ships on their way to the bottom.

Huge columns of black smoke poured up and the harbor burned.

throughout the night of America's first hectic 24 hours at war.

Some of the battleships were floated to fight on during the Pacific war, but the Japanese attack, with one blow, made obsolete the battleship concept of warfare.

Never again will Pearl Harbor present such a juicy target.

The Pacific commander, Adm. Felix B. Stump, whose headquarters are atop a hill overlooking the sprawling harbor, says: "There have been so many changes in warfare in the 15 years since the attack."

"The aircraft carrier has taken over from the battleship. The guided missile vessel may some day take the role of the aircraft carrier."

"Also, we don't concentrate our ships in the harbor like we did then. We keep better dispersed, out to sea. You never see anything like it (Dec. 7) any more."

The launch pulls alongside the sunken battleship Utah. Some six feet of the ship's deck sticks from the water at a crazy angle.

The deck is concrete covered. The Utah was taken out of service in 1937 and used by the Navy as a bombing target.

"You may take photographs here," the sailor says, "but keep the cameras pointed at the part of the Utah you see out of the water."

The cameras click steadily.

One man asks another: "How about F11 at 100?" The other says, "That should do it."

"I have color and I don't want to be overexposed," the first man says.

To the right, where the channel narrows, the carrier Philippine Sea—named for an American victory—rides at anchor, her deck massed with planes, their folded wings pointed toward the sky.

To the left, near the end of Battleship Row, an American flag flies from a platform some 50 feet from shore. It marks the sunken battleship Arizona, where 1,102 men from apprentice seamen to a rear admiral—are still entombed.

A white post sticks up from the water. It bears the sign: "Bow." Six hundred feet away is another: "Stern."

Between them, only a couple of rusted mushroom shapes and the tip of the Arizona's bridges rides above water. Its main deck is 12 feet under. Oil still oozes slowly from the bowels of the ship.

It is because of the oil the sailor explains, that the Arizona was never raised to the surface. Divers who attempted the job were killed when their torches set fire to oil pockets.

The Navy still lists the Arizona as an active ship. Every morning an honor guard raises her flag. At dusk, it comes down, along with those of the other ships at Pearl.

The band of the Arizona was playing for the raising of the colors at 8 a.m. when the Japanese planes swept in from the north.

A bomb plunged down her main smokestack—a "one in a million" hit—and eight minutes later she was on the bottom.

Many of the men below never knew what hit them.

The visitors watch the oil-darkened water lap quietly against the Arizona. The chatter of a rivet gun in the shipyard comes clearly across the water.

"Daddy," asks a little girl, "why did they bomb Pearl Harbor?"

"I don't know, honey," the father says, "but it was a terrible mistake."

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II rode back to Buckingham Palace early today chuckling over a naughty French bedroom farce that her grandfather once called "the hottest show in town."

The play was "Occupe-Toi d'Amelie" ("Occupy Yourself With Amelie"), a between-the-sheets classic from across the channel which has kept Continental audiences laughing for years.

The Queen and her party of 20 smiled, giggled and laughed out loud for 3½ hours. Then she went backstage at the Palace Theater and congratulated the members of the visiting French repertoire company that Jean-Louis Barrault and his wife Madeleine Renaud had brought over from Paris.

The farce is about a Parisian coquette with no morals but a great many boy friends, including one visiting royal prince.

The British press said this character was based on King Edward VII, Queen Elizabeth's fun-loving great-grandfather.

Santa Claus In Action

Santa's observing open house these days at North Pole (Colorado, that is). He maintains his station there the year around and had 10 buildings all devoted to toy making. Baby animals roam the grounds of North Pole, which is located near Cascade, Colo., about 14 miles from Colorado Springs. For parents who would like letters post-marked North Pole from Santa to their children, Continental Air Lines has a supply of special Santa Claus stationery which may be obtained from Bill Cheek, station manager.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Band To Compete In Marching Events

By ROBI ANNE ROBINSON
Thanksgiving holidays ended Monday and the third 6-weeks of school began. Let's buckle down and have more on the honor roll. During the 6-weeks ended there were 41 kids on the honor roll in the seventh grade, 45 in the eighth and only 15 in the ninth.
Saturday members of the Big Spring Junior High School band will attend the Interscholastic Region No. 8 Marching Contest to be held in Odessa. There are 33 bands entered in this contest and those which are in class double C to compete with Big Spring are Cowden Junior High (Midland), San Jacinto Junior High (Midland), Bowie Junior High (Odessa), Crockett Junior High (Odessa). Besides marching, the contests include twirling, a twirling trio and solos.
Two large boxes of clothing have been sent to Hungary by the Junior High FHA chapter. Also a large box of toys has been wrapped and tagged to give to the needy at Christmas time. The FHA girls also are collecting stamped Christmas cards to give to the patients at the Big Spring State Hospital so that the patients can send them to their friends. Thursday the chapter members attended their annual FHA Beau Night.

A new club organized Wednesday. It is the Junior High Speech Club. Officers who were elected were Arlen Bryant, president; Ma-linda Crocker, vice president; Jean Hammond, secretary-treasurer; and Jackie Richbourg, reporter.
A surprise birthday dinner was held for Pat Johnson on Sunday. Attending were Luan Lawson, Lana Wren, Betty Lou Jones, Celia Grant, Mary Bain, Carol Phillips and Gloria Coker.
The seventh grade Tri-Hi-Y girls livened the Thanksgiving holidays with a dinner dance on Saturday. It was held at the YMCA building. Among couples seen were Bob Moore, Telie Grooms, Jimmie Hinds, Kathy Johnson, Deane Mansfield, Johnny Freeman, Jerry Dunlap, Katie Bess Morgan, Joan Jordan, Bill Pate, Diane Baker, Dick Ebling, Rachael Phelan, Emmett Kent Morgan, Linda Kay Bell, Jim Bruke, Carol Ann Tatum, Dannie Manceles.
Another dance was given by Jimmy Hinds and Skipper Driver to start the holidays off with a bang. Twelve couples attended and everyone had fun.
C. Thomas Magrum is to be presented on Dec. 11 as one in the series of Southern School assembly programs.
Here is the calendar for the week:
Monday—Ball game; Kappa Xi Tri-Hi-Y auditions for talent show.
Tuesday—P-TA meeting. Eighth and ninth grade Hi-Y meetings; seventh grade assembly for harvest queen.
Thursday—Eighth grade assembly for harvest queen.
Friday—Ninth grade assembly for harvest queen.
Saturday—Open.
Sunday—Attend church!
Last Saturday morning Marilyn Mann gave a coke party at her house. Attending were Gloria Coker, Carolyn Sewell, Carolyn Washington, Mary Bain, Betty Lou Jones, Kay McGibbon, Dolores Howard, Lana Wren, Sherry Loring, Jerilyn McPherson and many other girls.

YMCA Pushing Service Drive

The YMCA is pressing its World Service campaign at this season of the year under the direction of Arnold Marshall, chairman of this committee.
World Service is in reality a "missionary" fund of the YMCA, but most of it is utilized to help YMCAs in foreign countries help themselves.
Goal of the Y associations in the United States and Canada is $1,563,610 this year. Eight of the youth clubs of the local Y have pledged support of the campaign. Marshall reported. He invited others who want to have a part to send contributions to the YMCA and designated as World Service.
One-third of the funds raised go to sustain YMCA secretaries serving on foreign fields. There are 56 of these in 30 countries, and all of them are trying to work themselves out of a job by training native workers to take over. Another third is used as financial grants in supplementing local building efforts and especially in training leadership. The remainder is used chiefly to meet dire emergencies such as refugee problems, disasters, etc.
The clubs here which have pledged funds for the World Service program are Feta Tri-Hi-Y, Sophomore Hi-Y, Seba Tri-Hi-Y, Senior Hi-Y, eighth grade Junior Tri-Hi-Y, ninth grade Junior Tri-Hi-Y, ninth grade Hi-Y and 7th grade Junior Tri-Hi-Y.
Rep Vorys, who was on the House committee passing on foreign aid appropriations, said that "I think you get more for your dollars in World Service by contributing to the YMCA than any other way I know."

Indians Protest

DALLAS (AP)—Two Indian leaders charged yesterday that a lack of understanding of the problems of Oklahoma Indians by the Bureau of Indian Affairs is causing hardships for tribes in that state. Perry LeClair of Ponca City and William Sauppity spoke out for their tribes.

Who Is Getting Whose Clouds

They have been having quite a hassle out in New Mexico over the activities of professional rainmakers. The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau at its annual convention last week asked Governor John F. Simms to obtain a federal court injunction against the practice of commercial cloud-seeding in Pacific Coast states.

The rainmakers, if they feel the need of bolstering their claims of success. The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau obviously believes there is something to this business of rainmaking.

Still An Uneasy World

This 15th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor disaster which plunged us into a world conflagration finds a world with great uneasiness. This is typified perhaps by the withdrawal of British and French troops from Egypt with some monumental problems in their wake.

and get out of there, at the cost of much face and heavy economic responsibilities. The involuntary and reluctant withdrawal of Anglo-French forces from the area solves little or nothing of the basic problems involved. These basic problems are: How to keep the canal open to the commerce of all nations in a way not subject to Nasser's whims; how to keep the well-advanced Communist infiltrations in the Middle East from becoming total and permanent.

First off, she asks this country in effect to share the cost of the Anglo-French invasion in two particulars: 1. That the U.S. forget the $82 million in interest on her debt to us, due this month; 2. That the United Nations pay the cost of cleaning out the Suez Canal, which means the U.S. would put up most of the estimated $40 million required for that enterprise.

Both of these Western goals have been compromised, perhaps fatally, as a result of U.N. action, led by the United States. For while U.N. was able to effect withdrawal of Anglo-French forces, as well as that of the Israeli, the U.N. does not itself possess the military means or the unanimity of action essential to blocking Nasser out of absolute control of the canal or Russia out of Middle East domination.

The easy way for Uncle Sam to do would be to back away and take no part in solving Western Europe's economic problems, but there are two very good reasons why we can't. In the first place, the collapse of Western Europe would leave us confronting a triumphant Communist world almost alone. In the second place our government virtually underwrote the partial solution of the Suez problem by insisting that Britain and France give up their initial advantage

Needed: Unity Among The Big Three

WASHINGTON — "More barbarism in Hungary" — that's the headline. But it's not novel.

approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of that disease."

It makes one shudder today to re-read the pages of world history between 1933 and 1939. It produces the uneasy feeling that history is repeating itself now and that a third world war is coming, maybe in a year or two, maybe before 1960.

Mr. Roosevelt did not spell out what he meant by "quarantine," but it was interpreted generally as meaning an economic embargo.

The record shows that in the 1930's the failure of Great Britain, France and the United States to work closely together made it easier for the enemy to carry on its aggression.

But the plan was frustrated because Great Britain, France and the United States didn't follow through with the "quarantine." Isolationism in America and pussyfoot policies abroad were responsible. Britain, France and the United States were either unwilling or unable for financial reasons to impose an embargo.

The record shows also that a "concert of power" was always being extolled as an ideal, but when it came down to brass tacks, Great Britain, France and the United States did not cooperate as allies. The aggressor went on the assumption that there would be no effective alliance. It took a world war and the sacrifice of many innocent lives to convince the enemy of that mistaken assumption.

It was a repetition of the tragedy of two years before when Mussolini in 1935 invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations ordered an embargo and arms to Italy and particularly banned shipments of oil. But the principal nations — the United States, Great Britain and France — couldn't agree on who would pay the bill growing out of Ethiopia was completed.

The cry in the 1920's was for moral force — even as it is today. An example was the famous "quarantine" speech made in Chicago on October 5, 1937, by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It attracted worldwide attention.

Also in 1932 when America, under Secretary of State Stimson, took the lead in urging a denunciation of Japan as an aggressor in Manchuria, Britain stood aloof. The record of the next few years is replete with instances in which one act of aggression after another by Hitler failed to bring about united action by Britain, France and America against the Nazi government. Treaties were torn to shreds by the aggressors in the Far East and in Europe. International law was flagrantly disregarded.

"If we are to have a world in which we can breathe freely and live in amity without fear, the peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort to uphold laws and principles on which alone peace can rest securely.

Today in the Middle East, Dictator Nasser has torn up the treaty of 1888 in the Far East Britain pursues one policy and America another with respect to Formosa. Also, the British still want to appease Communist China and give her a seat in the Security Council of the U. N. The Moscow-Peking Axis needs only to play on that division to further its propaganda efforts in Asia.

"It seems to be unfortunately true that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading. When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community

Hungary is suffering, but Great Britain, France and the United States exhibit the same irresoluteness that was manifest in the 1930's.

What is lacking today in London, Paris and Washington is the determination to work together on a common front against a common enemy.

The United Nations would be stronger today if Great Britain, France and the United States were united instead of divided.

The most important step which can be taken toward the prevention of the next war, therefore, is to bring about unity between Britain, France and the United States. A personal meeting of heads of states might accomplish this, but first there must be a clear understanding in each country of the increasing danger of a third world war and a proclamation embodying the moral principles of the alliance for freedom. The unit must be economic as well as political. Military this time, or else the world will go the way of the 1930's. It is better for America to spend dollars now than to be compelled later on to spend human lives.

Fascists, Reds Same Breed Of Cats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen years ago today the United States went to war against fascism. It is a war which has never really ended although today the enemy is called communism.

There is a theoretical economic difference between communism and fascism, but no basic difference. Here is part of the definition of fascism, given by the American College Dictionary, which could apply equally to communism: "A governmental system with strong centralized power permitting no opposition or criticism, controlling all affairs of the nation, emphasizing a strong nationalism."

Both systems had their roots in absolutism. For the German Nazis and the Russian Communists this meant they were so right they owned the government and it became everything and the individual nothing.

The Real Santa Claus

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody worries about Santa Claus—but he has his problems.

calendar, greeting cards, in newspaper and magazine ads, beauty pageants, auto shows, radio, television."

Right now he's playing the stock market in an effort to pile up enough cash to tide him over from one Christmas to another.

"Each move I made I bettered myself," said Squire, who is a stout 222 pounds—advocate of the free enterprise system.

"Even a jolly old saint likes to eat regularly," said Santa. "I sure wish I could get on a steady payroll. As it is, my work is highly seasonal, only about two months out of the year."

He starts fattening up in October, is ready to go by November. His art of his beard he had to give up cigar smoking—"stained it yellow"—he has to avoid spaghetti and he finds it difficult to drink from a water cooler.

"I can't get enough consecutive weeks of work to draw unemployment insurance. I had to go into the stock market. This year I hope to top the $3,000-a-year bracket."

It is ironic that the leaders of both systems, which claimed to be opposites while actually being so similar, sought to justify their ambitions by explanations which looked like opposites but wound up being twins.

Santa is Lucky S. Squire, a portly gentleman in his 50s with a genuine foot-long white beard. It's the real beard, he feels, that sets him apart from the phonies in the ho-ho-and-red-stocking-cap industry.

The Fascists were, and the Communists are, mystics. It was pure mysticism for Hitler to claim for his Germans an innate superiority of blood. The Communists are no less mystical while believing themselves utterly realistic. They base the claimed rightness of communism on what they call Marxist science. One claim is as much nonsense as the other.

"I gave up two other careers to take this one," said Squire, who is top man in his field and wants it clearly understood he is no bowery, type Kris Kringle.

And when their house became too small an addition was built to make room for the 3,000 beer steins that the father collected.

"I decided I would be Santa Claus," recalled Squire. "It took me two years to grow the beard."

Bill Schwartz, who operates a farm nursery, started his beer stein collection 10 years ago. It got so big he built a wing on his home where the collection now resides. One piece, a hand-carved mug from an elephant's tusk, is worth more than $3,000.

"Since then at least a million children have sat on my lap and told me what they wanted for Christmas. During the season I work sometimes from 7 a.m. to midnight. I've worked for a dozen department stores. I've been on

Mrs. Schwartz collects star-pattern cut glass. Her 17-year-old son, William Jr., has two collections — antique automobiles and curious looking pipes.

"I'm licensed to sell real estate or stocks myself. Do you know of anyone who would like to hire a good dynamic salesman, and wouldn't mind if he had a white beard?"

Carol Schwartz, 16, collects antique dolls. Nancy, 13, antique miniature tea sets, and Robert, 7, mechanical toy banks.

Krick Tells Dallas Leaders Of New Forecasting System

DALLAS — Dr. Irving P. Krick, meteorologist of Denver, Colo., yesterday told city officials of what he called a radical new weather forecasting system which he said will soon permit accurate daily weather forecasts "for several years in advance."

The city of Dallas recently canceled a weather modification contract with Dr. Krick. He met with city officials to discuss the new system. He said his visit with city officials was purely informative and that he made no definite proposal or price offer. City officials would not comment on the plan. "By spring," Dr. Krick said, "we will be able to tell you when and where it will rain in Texas next year, and about how much."

Nixon Urges Aid To Britain In Dinner Talk

NEW YORK — Vice President Nixon urged financial aid to Britain as a result of the Suez crisis. Nixon, speaking last night at the 42nd annual National Automobile Show Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, also said Russia's savagery in Hungary means a major defeat for world communism, while the United States stands in the Middle East has saved the United Nations.

Referring to the monetary plight of "our friends in Britain," Nixon said: "I believe it is in our interest as well as theirs to assist them in this hour of difficulty, and I am confident that there will be strong bipartisan support in the Congress for granting such assistance."

At Augusta, Ga., President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, White House press secretary James Hagerty said the President did not see or clear Nixon's address in advance but "we knew he was going to make a speech."

Concerning the President's approval or disapproval of Nixon's talk regarding financial aid for Britain, Hagerty said: "If there were anything in the speech the President disapproves of, I don't believe the vice president would make it. The vice president knows the policies of the President."

Hagerty also said that Secretary of State Dulles was "conversant" with the Nixon speech in advance. Nixon's address, made before 1,500 leaders of the automobile industry, was his first major one since the election. The vice president made no direct reference in his talk to Britain's request last Tuesday that the United States forget about an $2-million-dollar interest payment due later this month in lend-lease settlement.

Iraq's Nuri Has His Back To Wall

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst BEIRUT, Lebanon — Iraq's aged strong man is weakening under mounting pressure.

Nuri Said, 68-year-old premier of the nation which is an important key to the future of the whole Middle East, appears today to have his back to the wall. Like a man preparing for an impending storm, Nuri has arrested and confined a number of opposition leaders. He has kept all secondary schools and colleges closed since the outbreak of fighting in Egypt to prevent student rioting.

He has clamped down a rigid martial law, stemming Iraq into what the literate population considers a total and often harsh police state.

He has imposed the strictest of military and civilian censorship on the local press and on foreign correspondents.

This writer has just returned from Baghdad. He has talked to dozens of Iraqis, all the way from government leaders to Arab Nationalist extremists. He has talked to diplomats, journalists, businessmen and members of Iraq's small class of professional people.

The conclusion is inescapable. At least 90 per cent of the literate population of Iraq—perhaps more—oppose Nuri.

Sensational observers of the Middle East say this: It may not be tomorrow. It may not even be next month. But it is inevitable that Nuri will fall. When that comes, just anything can happen—because only the strength of Iraq's strong man has kept the country from hurtling toward chaos.

The Iraqi army is on the alert—against Iraqis. It is obviously prepared to move into any trouble spot at a moment's notice. Iraqi Foreign Minister Burhan Eddin Bashaian told this correspondent a few days ago he considers the crisis in Iraq passed with the decision of Britain and France to withdraw from Egypt. But even the foreign minister admitted that it would be weeks before the schools would be reopened. And other observers in Baghdad express the belief that Iraq's crisis is only beginning. The crisis could be a reflection of rising public pressure on the government, stemming from Egyptian events and the vague Arab dream of a united empire under a hero leader. This has been fanned by all sorts of agents—Syrian, Egyptian, Communist and home-grown Nationalist extremists. All oppose Nuri's determination to keep Iraq in the Baghdad Pact, the only Arab member of that pro-Western, anti-Soviet alliance.

There have been a number of outbreaks of violence in Iraqi cities, notably Mosul, the oil center, and Najaf, the holy Moslem shrine city. As I left Iraq, both cities were quiet but visitors reported a tense atmosphere. Young Iraqis are restless and frustrated, demanding that Nuri and his Baghdad Pact government must go. There have even been cries of "Down with the King."

It is difficult to separate rumor from fact in such a situation, but here is as close a picture as can be gleaned from innumerable sources of information.

Arrested and confined under army guard on a government farm at Abu Krabe, 30 miles from Baghdad, are the following leaders:

party, an extreme Nationalist group; Sadik Shanshal, general secretary of the Istiqlal party; and Abdul Rahman Bazzaz, dean of the law college.

Lamesa Church Being Enlarged

LAMESA — Construction has begun here on a $25,000 addition to the Lamesa Church of Christ, North First and Avenue "F."

The project will furnish nine additional classrooms to be used in the church school. Garner Jones Construction Company was awarded the general contract for $22,740. The remainder of the funds will be used in furnishing the building.

W. T. Hamilton, minister, said the architecture will be similar to the existing part of the church, two-story cream brick. Hamilton said the church basement is also being renovated and modernized. The classrooms are being constructed at the southeast corner of the present building.

Unwed Mother Held On Possible Desertion Charge

AMARILLO — A 27-year-old unwed mother today was being held by police on possible child-desertion charges.

A 14-day-old baby was found yesterday tucked away in a dresser drawer in his mother's apartment where he had been born early Tuesday.

Attendants at the hospital where the 6-pound, 8-ounce baby was taken said he is "very healthy." The mother told officers this story: She had worn loose-fitting clothes and had not missed a day of work until she stayed home Monday with labor pains. The baby was born between 1 a. m. and 2 a. m. Tuesday. She said she wrapped the baby in a towel, laid it on her bed and went to sleep. She arrived at work at 8 a. m. on time.

She left the baby in the bed through Tuesday night. Yesterday at noon she came home and put the child in a dresser drawer, still wrapped in the same towel and still unfiled since birth.

Later that evening as she and a male companion, whom she said was not the father of the child, sat in the living room, they heard the child crying from the bedroom. As the couple went into the bedroom, the mother said it must have been abandoned there. They called neighbors who rushed the child to the hospital where attendants called police. Under police questioning, the mother broke down in tears and related her story, saying she "just didn't know what to do."

Ike Complains To Wilson On Military Leaks, Calls A Halt

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower complained to Secretary of Defense Wilson today that "leakage" of military budget figures and manpower plans to the public "is something that's got to stop."

The President remarked about the matter as he and Wilson were about to start a conference on "Pentagon plans reportedly calling for $3 billion dollars in defense expenditure during the fiscal year starting next July 1."

The informal discussion about "leakage" of Pentagon data in advance of any official release for publication was in the presence of two pool reporters representing newsmen assigned to cover the President.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the conference quarters at the Augusta National Golf Club were too small to permit all newsmen to be on hand for the start of the budget parley. So the rest were represented by Charles Roberts of Newsweek magazine and John Edwards of the American Broadcasting Co.

They later reported that Wilson first brought the matter of "leakage" of budget data and manpower plans, taking in general terms. He obviously was referring to information obtained by newsmen and later published.

Alluding to budget and manpower planning, Wilson said: "We got started last June, and then things began to leak."

It was at that point the President said—and both Roberts and Edwards reported he showed irritation—that "this leakage is something that has got to stop."

Wilson then talked specifically about "leakage" regarding possibility of a reduction in armed services manpower. He provided no detail but said:

"Look at the trouble it gave us."

Wilson said that when he started work on the military spending budget he did not know there was going to be trouble in the Middle East or that there would be the steel strike which occurred last summer.

"That certainly complicated things for me," the Cabinet officer remarked without elaboration.

During the informal discussion photographers had been getting pictures of the conferees with the two reporters looking on. The newsmen were not permitted to stay on beyond the preliminaries.

Eisenhower and Wilson met in a small sitting room at the Augusta National Club. With them were Budget Director Percival Brundage, Assistant Secretary of Defense Wilfred J. McNeil, Pentagon fiscal expert, Sherman Adams, chief aide to the President; and Wilson's personal, chief of White House liaison with Congress.

Before the talk turned to "leakage" of Pentagon data, Wilson informed Eisenhower that he and his aides completed work only late last night on the Pentagon budget, which today was put before the President for study.

The military appropriation for the current year is $34,556,727,000 but spending is generally estimated around 36 billion. The figures never come out even. Some of any year's outlays come out of old money set up for projects running past year-end.

In a jocular manner, Eisenhower recalled his days in the Army and told Wilson:

"I've been briefed so many times by the military. I get tired of military briefings. I hear things I have been through a million times."

"One of the troubles with briefings," Wilson chimed in, "is that they try to do your thinking for you."

"You know," said the President with a smile, "I've been working on this budget one way or another since 1928, and I'll be darned if I've ever seen it fail—in the last 10 days everyone goes into a flap."

Through Hagerty, newsmen sent word to Wilson asking him to hold a news conference before returning to Washington later in the day.

Few Paying Poll Taxes

Demand for poll tax receipts in Howard County continues to lag badly, Viola Robinson, tax assessor, reported Friday.

Only 988 receipts have been issued so far, she said.

There have been 477 certificates of exemption issued by the office. The assessor reiterated that such certificates are required only by residents of Big Spring who are past the age of 60 years. In the rural precincts and the small cities, over-age voters are eligible to ballot without possession of certificates. The law specifies that such certificates be issued to electors who are past 60 only in those towns which have a population of 10,000 or greater.

Mrs. Robinson said that she anticipates a pickup in poll tax receipts after the first of the new year but that because of the probability of few elections in 1957, she did not expect as many receipts to be issued as in this year.

Yule Decorations Contest Slated By Lions At Coahoma

COAHOMA (SC)—A Christmas decorations contest is being sponsored here by the Coahoma Lions Club.

Fred Salling, president, urged all residents to enter into the spirit of the contest in order to make the town as attractive as possible during the Yuletide.

Three prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be offered and the winning decorations. The only requirement is that the decorations be visible from the street, hence they may be either inside the home or outside.

A committee of out-of-town judges will pass on the decorations the week before Christmas. Participants should sign up at the Coahoma Drug.

One Car Leaves Scene Of Wreck

One of two accidents reported Thursday afternoon was a hit-and-run.

Someone struck a City Cab driven by Bert Cate. Cate said he was hit by a 1954 Chevrolet at 200 S. Broadway. The rear end of the car that did not stop was damaged, he said.

At 300 E. 3rd, Truman Allen Douglas, 1504 Main, and Mrs. Opal Lee Smith, 807 W. 4th, were in collision Douglas was in a 1950 GMC pickup and Mrs. Smith was driving a 1956 Chevrolet.

Tate Holds Chess Lead

Beset by problems arising from its mushroom growth and facing the Christmas holidays, the Howard County Chess Association last night left to its council and committee the job of arranging the annual meeting in January and spent its time and energy in grim battles on the chessboard.

Roger Tate, Knott High School student with 15 victories in 16 games and a percentage of .938, continued to bowl over his opponents while his father, A. H. Tate, held second place with 750 in the charter members' tournament. E. R. Moren by a double victory took third place away from Grover Cunningham Jr., secretary of the association.

In the Center Chess Club tournament, S. Sgt. D. W. Cain nailed down first place with his father, Charles Cain, a close second. Airman Brian Vickers, previously tied for second, dropped to fourth after two defeats by Jack Horn, who now stands third.

New entries are being listed for the second round in both tournaments and a place will be found for any player, who wishes to compete. Tournament play will continue tonight and tomorrow at the Big Spring Servicemen's Center, 113 E. 2nd, and Monday night at the Service Club at Webb Air Force Base.

Wildcatters Stake Locations In Borden, Mitchell Counties

New drilling locations include wildcats in Mitchell and Borden counties.

Continental Oil located the No. 1 W. D. Johnson about 16 miles north of Vealmore. The prospector will explore to 10,500 feet in the Ellenburger.

In Mitchell County, EPCO Drilling Corporation of Texas No. 1 F. N. Sweatt is staked about seven miles northwest of Westbrook. It will test to 3,000 feet. The site is between the Turner-Gregory and Westbrook West fields.

Sohio Petroleum announced it would plug back three old Spraberry Trend ventures to test the Clear Fork in Glasscock County.

Borden

Continental No. 1 W. D. Johnson will be 660 feet from south and west lines, 31-32.5N, T&P Survey, and 16 miles north of Vealmore. Drilling depth is 10,500 feet to try the Ellenburger.

Phillips No. 1-B Clayton swabbed 12 hours and recovered eight barrels of load oil and 45 barrels of salt water. Perforations are between 6,400-40 feet. Drilling is 662 feet from north and 672 feet from west lines of the southeast quarter. Drilling depth is 10,500 feet to try the Ellenburger.

Standard No. 16-6-B T. L. Griffin, six miles northwest of Vincent, drilled to 1,055 feet in anhydrite. The wildcat is in the Hobo (Canyon) field but trying for Spraberry. It is 1,420 feet from north and 1,120 feet from east lines, 39-25, H&T Survey.

Seaboard No. 1-4 T. Good is located in the Arthur field four miles east of Ackery on a 12-757-acre tract. Drilling is 660 feet from north and west lines, 4-33-3N, T&P Survey. It will test the Spraberry to 8,400 feet.

Dawson

Standard No. 1-1 Blue drilled to 3,420 feet and prepared to set 8 1/2-inch casing at that immediate depth. Location is 467 feet from north and east lines of the west half, 24-34-4N, T&P Survey.

Texas No. 1 W. J. Beckham continued to swab load oil and load water from Dean perforations between 8,046-90 feet. The wildcat is a mile and a half south of Lamesa, C. N. W. SW, 17-35-5N, T&P Survey.

Humble No. 1 Hemphill, in the Mungerville field, deepened to 7,465 feet in lime and shale. Drilling site is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 31, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 M. R. Stewart penetrated to 6,741 feet in shale. It is in the Jo-Mill field, 550 feet from north and east lines, 5-33-4N, T&P Survey, and 19 miles southeast of Lamesa.

Seaboard No. 7 Herman Petteway flowed 286.58 barrels of oil through a 24-1/4-inch choke in 24 hours, plus three per cent water. The well is in the Spraberry. West Deep, about 15 miles southeast of Lamesa. Gravity is 34 degrees, and gas-oil ratio is 202-1. Top up the pay zone is 7,047 feet, 047-76, 7,219-26, 7,241-58, 7,264-73, 7,288-95, 7,345-65, 7,399-90, 7,468-82 and 7,504-48. Total depth is 7,573 feet. Location of the well is 2,003 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines, 40-34-5N, T&P Survey.

Glasscock

Sohio Petroleum No. 2-B W. B. Atkinson will be plugged back to 6,400 feet to try the Clear Fork. Location is 25 miles southwest of Garden City, 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 28-36-5S, T&P Survey.

Sohio No. 1-B Atkinson is located 1,980 feet from north and east lines, 28-36-5S, T&P Survey, 25 miles southwest of Garden City. It will plug back to 6,400 feet.

Sohio No. 1-C Atkinson will plug back to 6,300 feet. It is 667 feet from south and west lines, 22-36-5E, T&P Survey, and 25 miles southwest of Garden City.

No. 3-C Atkinson is 1,900 feet from south and east lines, 22-36-5E, T&P Survey. It is to plug back to 6,300 feet for Clear Fork tests.

Howard

Williamson - Altrin - Southwest No. 1 Anderson, C. S. E. NE, 24-31 in, T&P Survey, projected to 7,271 feet in lime and shale. It is a Big Spring field venture eight miles northeast of Big Spring.

A location in the Albaugh (Yates) field is the Guthrie No. 1-B Sarah Hyman. It is 330 feet from north and east lines of the lines of the southeast quarter, 39-29, W&N Survey, and 11 miles southeast of Coahoma Drilling depth is 1,400 feet.

Guthrie No. 5 Chalk is located in the Howard-Glasscock field 330 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of the south half of the southeast quarter, 114-29, W&N Survey, and eight miles east of Fort San. Drilling depth is 2,500 feet.

Mitchell

EPCO Drilling Corporation No. 1 F. N. Sweatt is a wildcat located 1,650 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines, 23-29-1N, T&P Survey, and seven miles west of Westbrook. Location is between the Westbrook West and Turner-Gregory fields. It will explore to 3,000 feet.

Cosden No. 2 Chaik, in the Albaugh field, pumped 45 barrels of 30.1-degree oil on a 24-hour potential. It produced from perforations in the Yates between 1,235-60 feet. It had been treated with 3,000 gallons acid. Location is 12 miles southeast of Coahoma, 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines, 99-29, W&N Survey.

Shell No. 1 Barber reached 2,900 feet in anhydrite and dolomite. The wildcat is 1,980 feet from north and west lines, 18-28-1S, T&P Survey, and five miles southwest of Westbrook.

Burglars Hit Two Places

Burglars hit two places on the Northside Thursday night.

Approximately $7,500 was taken from a Coke machine at the Kate Morrison School. Burglars entered a window on the north side of the building.

At a Phillips service station at 404 N. Nolan, burglars took three boxes of candy, 125 pennies, a used flashlight and a pair of gloves. They left a set of assorted wrenches and car tools outside the building.

Police officers said the burglars also tried to break into a cigarette machine but were unsuccessful. They had entered through a window on the north side.

A Mrs. Hockenhill, 904 W. 2nd, reported that a Latin American tried to break into her house Thursday night. She said the man was armed with a rifle and broke out a window.

When she returned from across the street, the man ran.

First Performance Of Play A Success

Drama Workshop of the Big Spring High School presented the first of what is proposed as a series of major play productions Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

"Dear Ruth" by Norman Krasna was the play. Mack Godwin, speech instructor at the school, was director. An audience which nearly filled the auditorium was on hand for the presentation.

"Dear Ruth" will be presented again tonight at 8 o'clock.

The play, in two acts and six scenes, is a sprightly comedy of errors—the errors resulting largely from the overvigilance of a 15-year-old girl in a great many far flung fields of endeavor not generally of concern to a youngster of that age.

Principal difficulty arises from her activity in writing some 60 love letters to a young Air Force officer overseas in Korea. To these letters she signed the name of her sister Ruth. When the airman comes home to meet his "sweetheart" difficulties develop rapidly.

Koila Grant played the trouble-making youngster. Carol Rogers is the harassed Ruth. Tommy Pickle is the father and Carol Rogers the mother of the two girls. Dennis Jones is the befuddled and betrayed Air Force officer. Bobby Melan is the equally befuddled fiancée of Ruth who is considerably putout by all the unexpected doings.

Others in the cast are Prissy Pond as the maid; Jimmy Simmons as a sailor. Double-casting is made in the roles of the Air Force officer's sister, Valjean LaCroix and Linda Nichols are both cast in the role. The same applies in the case of an Air Force sergeant from the crew of the Air Force officer, Doyle Phillips and Julius Glickman play the role.

The play abounds in fast and funny lines. There are many "situations." The young actors were highly successful in their initial performance in selling their play to the audience. They rated plenty laughs and applause was generous.

Setting was attractive and lighting was well handled.

Library Has Busy Month

November was a busier month than October for the Howard County Library, Mrs. Opal McDaniel librarian, reported Friday.

Check of the records showed that patrons of the library checked out 4,551 books during the month. This was some 200 more books than were issued in October.

Thirteen books were donated to the library during the month.

One hundred and two new books were placed on the shelves in November. These covered all fields—fiction, both for adults and juveniles, non-fiction and special books for reference.

Fines for the month totaled $169.91.

As usual demand for adult fiction led the list with 2,171 such books checked out. In second place was juvenile fiction with 997 books. Non-fiction for adults totaled 546 and juvenile non-fiction 546. There were 583 volumes issued in what is identified as the pre-school age classification.

Agency Approves Junior High School

Big Spring Junior High School has been accepted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Floyd W. Parsons, superintendent, said he had received notice that the initial application of the school had been approved by the accrediting association which serves 11 Southern states. Together with Sam W. Anderson, curriculum director, and Roy Worley, high school principal, Parsons and Dallas during the past week to attend the Southern Association meeting.

For many years the high school has been a member of the Southern Association, but this is the first time that application had been made on behalf of the junior high school.

W. Shockley, Kansas City, Mo.; and Mrs. Lloyd Haynes and Mrs. Alva Ray, both of Moberly, Mo.; and Mrs. Lloyd Haynes and Mrs. Alva Ray, both of Moberly, Mo.; along with nine grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Walter Braves, Lynn White, J. T. Mims, Sam Wilkerson, Morris Zimmerman, Edmond Morrow, Jim Holder and Euel Ferguson.

Kiwanians See Yule Tableau

Park Hill's fifth graders, under the direction of their teacher, Betty Joyce Gray, reenacted the Christmas story in tableau and song Thursday night.

Costumed with excellent accuracy, young pupils played the roles of Joseph, Mary, the three wise men and the shepherds. A chorus of their schoolmates in white robes sang the appropriate Christmas carols as the principals enacted the scenes of the Nativity.

A reader read the Scriptural verses which tell the story.

Jack Alexander was chairman of the program.

Announcement was made by Horace Reagan that all committee chairmen of the Kiwanis Club for the new year were to meet at 7 a. m. Friday to consider plans for the year.

The club will be guests of the Big Spring Coca Cola Company on next Thursday, at the plant west of Big Spring.

Kiwanians voted to make the Salvation Army kettle for their part in helping that agency raise funds for the annual Christmas program for needy families.

Jury To Ponder Damages Claim

A jury in 118th District Court was scheduled to begin deliberation around noon today in the damage suit brought by Robert Alvarado et al against Roy Phillips.

Argument in the case being completed shortly before noon.

The case opened in court on Wednesday. It continued through Thursday until midafternoon with the completion of the testimony, a recess was taken until Friday morning. This morning the jury heard the court's charge and the argument by the counsel.

The suit originated as result of a motor truck collision which occurred Feb. 1, 1955. The plaintiffs sued for $128,200.

A consolidation of causes was effected in the case ahead of its start in court.

Judge Charles Sullivan said this would terminate the current jury civil docket in the 118th District Court.

The jurors were convened last Monday to serve in the trial of the week's docket.

Supreme Court Rejects Petition On Phillip Slusser

A petition filed in the Texas Supreme Court by Phillip Slusser, former Big Spring man, now serving 15 years in state penitentiary for sodomy, to mandamus Judge Charlie Sullivan to hear the convict's plea for a writ of habeas corpus, has been returned to Slusser unfiled.

Guilford Jones, district attorney who filed an answer with the Supreme Court in connection with the Slusser plea for a writ of mandamus, was notified today by the Supreme Court clerk of the action taken.

The letter thanked Jones for his answer and said that the court had ordered the petition for mandamus writ returned to Slusser "unfiled."

Earlier, Slusser had failed in an attempt to have the Court of Civil Appeals act on his motion.

The writ of habeas corpus petition was sent to the 118th District Court last July. Judge Sullivan declined to act upon it.

Arkansas Man Succumbs Here

An Arkansas man who became ill while spending the night in a local motel died this morning in a hospital here.

Joy Clifford Hall, 68, of Hot Springs was stricken while spending Wednesday night here. He was taken to the hospital Thursday morning.

He and Mrs. Hall were en route to Monahans to visit a niece, Mrs. F. H. Sutherland.

Mr. Hall was born May 27, 1888, in Hot Springs, Arkansas. He was a member of the World War I Marine Corps.

Funeral arrangements are complete at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

W. H. Till, chairman of Clinton, Tennessee's White Citizens Council, left, is led from the Federal Court room in Knoxville, Tenn., by U.S. Marshal Frank Quarles. Till, along with others, was hauled into court on a contempt charge growing out of integration disturbances at Clinton High School. Till's bond was set at $12,000.

Mail Fraud Trial Nears Jury Stage

HOUSTON (AP)—Closing arguments in the George Parr mail fraud trial began yesterday as Asst. U.S. Atty. Edgar O. Botler charged that Parr and his associates used Benavides Independent School District money as a "fund for their own use."

Botler spoke for 1 hour and 46 minutes before Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay recessed the trial until this morning. Each side has been allotted six hours for final arguments. The case is not expected to go to the jury until Monday unless the judge orders a session for tomorrow.

Parr and eight of his Duval County associates and two banks now being liquidated and formerly headed by Parr, were indicted for diverting Benavides Independent School District funds to personal use through use of a mail fraud scheme. The banks are the Texas State Bank of Alice and the San Diego State Bank of San Diego.

Botler told the all-male jury that the defendants entered into a scheme "to take over the management of the school district and did this by assuming control of the school board and the bank (Texas State Bank of Alice) which was the district's depository."

Botler said Parr was the mastermind of the scheme and prepared lists of fictitious names and work for which more than $200,000 in fraudulent checks were prepared.

Speaking of D. C. Chapp, former tax assessor-collector of the school district, Botler said, "He is the man who together with Mr. Parr showed domination and control over this school district."

The attorney told the jury that Oscar Carrillo Sr., a son of Chapa and a former secretary of the school board, used a school district credit card in obtaining gasoline for privately owned cars.

Botler said a number of school district checks were deposited to a bank account in Hebbronville in the name of Octavio Saenz, former school board president.

Botler said that Jesus Oliviera participated in the scheme by accepting checks as night watchman at the school although never performing such services.

Botler said that two daughters of a former school board member, Santiago Garcia and Jesus G. Garza, got checks from the school district although they attended schools in Delton, San Antonio and Austin.

Botler referred to B. F. (Tom) Donald Jr., captain of the Texas State Bank as the man on the inside of the bank. He said Donald cashed numerous fraudulent school district checks.

Botler said O. P. Carillo, another son of Chapa and a former attorney for the school board, participated in the scheme in that furniture and other materials for his law office were paid for by the school district.

Botler said lists of checks recorded in the annual school district report were "full of misrepresentations and false pretenses as to what the checks were issued for."

"They were issued for the benefit of the defendants," he said.

The defense objected to the state's use of a large placard with strips of brown paper covering certain words. The state said it intended to use the placard to help sum up its case in front of the jury.

Judge Hannay sustained the defense objection and the placard was not used by the state.

Motorman Dies, 40 Hurt In Chicago El Train Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A flash fire on a moving four-car wooden coach elevated train today killed the Big motorman and injured an estimated 40 passengers.

The Chicago Transit Authority train was bound from suburban Evanston to downtown Chicago. The fire burst forth as the crowded rush-hour train neared the Howard Street station, just inside the north city limits.

Russell Lane, Associated Press reporter who was riding in the second car, said the sudden blaze confined to the first two cars threw passengers into a panic.

Lane said the first car, where the blaze started, "went up like a torch." He said some passengers in the forward car fought their way to other cars, while many riders leaped through closed windows to the elevated right of way.

Most of the injured, taken to a half dozen hospitals on the North Side, were reported suffering from burns, smoke inhalation and cuts. One rider was reported suffering from a fractured arm.

Lane said the fire apparently broke out in the motorman's cab as the train neared the Howard Street station. He said the train, scheduled to stop there, continued on without slowing down.

A CTA spokesman said the dead motorman, whose body was badly burned, was Daniel Cullen, 47, whose home is less than half a mile from the scene of the accident.

Lane said many passengers in the second car excitedly opened windows and dropped to the ground. Others, including himself, walked to the rear of the train and jumped to the ground.

Runaway Guided Missile Lands In Brazilian Jungle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said today a runaway guided missile is presumed to have landed somewhere in the Brazilian jungle, possibly in the area of the Amazon River.

The missile, understood to have been a Snark, was launched from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., Wednesday and was set for a total flight distance of about 3,000 miles.

The course was supposed to have been a closed circuit over the Atlantic but the missile failed to go into the intended turn.

The missile was under radar surveillance as far as the coast of South America.

The Snark, manufactured by Northrop Aircraft Inc., is a winged jetless bomber powered by an Allison J47 jet engine. Thus it is an air-breathing missile of subsonic speed. It weighs about seven or eight tons.

Jap Child Erases Memory Of Attack

By JACK SAMSON
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — John Burke is 6 and has just started school. For him there never was a Pearl Harbor.

But the memory still is clear for his father. News of the attack against George J. Burke, then 33, at his Peoria, Ill., home that Sunday.

Like most Americans, George Burke's reaction was disbelief, shock, anger.

He enlisted in the Army Air Corps. His wife Myrtle, to whom he had been married eight years, began the long wait.

Sgt. Burke received the news of the dropping of the first atomic bomb on Hiroshima with the mixed emotions of most Americans. It was wartime, and a bomb was a bomb. The Japanese had merely been repaid.

Then he got a chance to know the people who dealt the deadly opening blow. Burke stayed in the service. In 1947 he was sent to Japan on his first overseas tour of duty.

In 1952, he sent for his wife. He was stationed at Tachikawa air base near Tokyo when he first heard about an orphanage close by. It was run by a Catholic nun, Sister Odella. There were several hundred children there. Sister Odella needed help to feed and clothe them.

Burke began helping support the orphanage and spent more and more time with the children.

Sgt. and Mrs. Burke had no children of their own, and it wasn't long before Burke brought up the subject of adoption to his wife.

"I just didn't know," Mrs. Burke said. "It was such a new idea. We were both sort of old for children, and, well, I just didn't know."

Today M. Sgt. and Mrs. George J. Burke are stationed at Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque. With them is their son John.

"He was 2 years old when we got him," Sgt. Burke recalled. "It was pretty rough for a while. He couldn't speak a word of English and we couldn't speak any Japanese. He finally began to pick up a few words, and about a year later he suddenly said his first sentence in his new language. 'Pearl Harbor!' Mrs. Burke said. 'I suppose if it happened again we might feel the same way, but you forget as time goes on. And after all, it isn't the children's fault that wars begin.'"

U. S. Begins Major Review Of Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is beginning a major policy review from which it is possible there may emerge recommendations for a new program of dollar aid to U.S. allies in Western Europe.

Top officials are deeply worried both by the split with Britain and France following the Egyptian crisis and by the impact on their economies of the closing of the Suez Canal and the loss of Middle Eastern oil.

Some authorities believe this country may be confronted with a need to develop a new program in the pattern of the Marshall Plan to restore the unity and strengthen the economic base of the North Atlantic Alliance. None contemplates now any such spending for European aid as the four billion dollars a year which the Marshall Plan cost.

Vice President Nixon may have had the possibility of some new program in mind when, in a New York speech last night, he referred to Great Britain's financial troubles and declared: "I believe it is in our interest as well as theirs to assist them in this hour of difficulty, and I am confident that there will be strong bipartisan support in the Congress for granting such assistance."

While Nixon did not say so, a recommendation for such aid also would be certain to encounter strong opposition in Congress, which has been increasingly reluctant to vote purely economic aid to Europe.

At Augusta, Ga., where President Eisenhower is vacationing, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Eisenhower had not seen Nixon's speech in advance, but he added: "The vice president knows the policies of the President."

The current policy review, however, covers a wider field than possible new economic aid. It embraces the possibilities of bearing a greater share of the cost of free world defenses and of liberalized trade with such countries as Britain and France. It includes also the concept of a more sympathetic U.S. attitude toward Allied actions not in line with American desires, as in the case of the French-British attack on Egypt.

Secretary of State Dulles may give Allied foreign ministers some indication of the trend of U.S. policy thinking in Paris next week. He leaves Saturday for the regular session of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Presumably the whole problem was discussed by Dulles and Eisenhower when they met at Augusta last Sunday.

Initial guesses suggest that no new taxes would be required to meet any additional foreign aid outlay but that tax reductions would not be possible in the immediate future. There have been official indications that defense spending will increase next year.

If the administration asks Congress for a new aid program its central argument may be that Allied unity and strength are needed now as never before because of pressures for disintegration within the Soviet satellite system.

Some authorities feel the Soviets may turn to external adventures to relieve the internal pressure.

The financial impact of the Middle East crisis on Western Europe, including higher costs for oil, is illustrated by the problem of Britain. She is said to need urgently more than a billion dollars to bolster her sagging financial position and stabilize the pound sterling.

Britain is expected to get 561 million dollars in a few days from the International Monetary Fund and probably also a loan of several hundred million dollars from the U. S. Export-Import Bank.

Also, the administration next month will ask Congress to excuse Britain from making a payment due Dec. 31 on money owed to the United States. The interest payment alone would save Britain $81,600,000.

The effect of the new policy review on next year's total foreign aid request is not precisely predictable. If officials decide a European aid program is essential, the request to Congress might be around five billion dollars rather than the four billions tentatively agreed upon about two weeks ago.

The United States does not now give economic aid to the countries of Western Europe. Such funds go only to underdeveloped lands, chiefly in Asia and the Middle East. Aid to Europe for several years has been designed to build or maintain military power.

Worst, Best Found In Garment District

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Whether it's fashionable or functional, custom made or ready-to-wear, unionism at its best or labor racketeering at its worst, they can get it for you wholesale in New York's bustling, boisterous garment industry.

Many of the world's great dress designers have done business here. So has Murder Inc. designers of another sort.

The garment district has often been called the fashion capital of the world, but more often the most uneconomical place in the world to do business. As beating a fashion center, it deals in contrasts by the yard and in a variety of colors.

This is the business—and it's New York's largest—where fashion is queen, where the whim of a woman can mean an overnight fortune, or a Monday morning bankruptcy.

Annually, it's a six-billion-dollar industry, but it has yet to produce one 25-million-dollar corporation. There's no General Motors or Westinghouse in the garment district, and there probably never will be.

Competition is cutthroat and the margin of profit slim, sometimes less than one per cent. Since much of the work, particularly in the low-priced lines, is contracted to "outside" plants in the suburbs, the truckers can make or break you. So can an unreasonable change in the weather, a sudden drop in prices or a radically new style change.

Crime investigators have known for a long time that fickle fashion, tight profit margins, loose credit and all around dependency on the trucking industry can make a fertile field for extortion, intimidation and shakedown.

The racketeers have known it even longer — Arnold Rothstein and Jack (Legs) Diamond in the 20s, Louis (Leopke) Buchalter — later executed for the murder of Joseph Rosen, a trucker who refused to cooperate — and Murder, Inc. in the 30s. Thomas (Three Finger Brown) Luchessa and Louis (Scarface) Lieberman in the 40s and John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi — now awaiting trial in the acid binding of labor columnist Victor Riesel — and Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo in the 50s.

Though subject to certain refinements and now limited mostly to the lower-price dress lines, the old shakedown has not changed appreciably through the tumultuous years. It still retains the classic outlines of influence peddlers offering unscrupulous or intimidated manufacturers an "edge" over their competition by having their work done for less for a price in nonunion shops. Racketeer truckers act as the go-between and often solicit business.

The theory behind the system is simple arithmetic — a dress manufacturer might prefer paying $100 a week to a racketeer to burdening his payroll with non-union scale wages. Since it is not against the law to operate a nonunion shop, this type of connivance is hard to prove.

Hoodlums entered the dress industry in the bloody organizing wars of the early 20s when the manufacturers hired Legs Diamond to keep their shops non-union and the unions hired Little Augie Organ for picket line services. Gals to discover later that both were in the employ of Arnold Rothstein, the Prohibition kingpin who masterminded the "Black Sox" scandal in the 1919 World Series.

By playing both ends against the middle, the gangsters soon rose to positions of affluence and influence in the industry, often hiding behind legitimate fronts. The wonder is that any of this could exist in the bailiwick of David Dubinsky, an outspoken foe of racketeers, and his International Ladies Garment Workers Union, one of the richest and most powerful unions in the country. With its 450,000 members and its multimillion-dollar treasury, the ILGWU has blazed many new labor trails, eliminated sweatshop conditions, fought for an Ethical Practices Committee in the combined AFL-CIO, built hospitals, apartment houses and a summer resort for its members.

Nationally, the women's dress business has been 90 per cent organized by the ILGWU. In New York's garment district, the figure is closer to 98 per cent. When it cracks the whip, Dubinsky's union can force manufacturers to pay "neutralizing" money for importing cheaper foreign goods, having work done in an area of cheap labor or failing to operate efficiently.

Why then has it been unable to cope with racketeers operating in nonunion shops and sometimes in violation of union contracts?

One answer is that an industry of many small shops, with subcontractors scattered through the suburbs, is hard to police.

Beautiful, But It Can Be Dangerous!

Christmas trees are making their appearance in great numbers in Big Spring homes. They are adding a lovely touch to the season's scene. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker likes Christmas trees as well as the next man but he has sounded a stern warning to all householders that such trees are a definite fire hazard and should be rigged with every precaution to lessen that danger.

CAUTION URGED

Christmas Trees Can Become Torches That Kill, Destroy

Christmas trees, bedecked with glistening decorations and adorned with twinkling multicolored lights, are lovely to see. What too many folk forget, according to H. V. Crocker, chief of the Big Spring Fire Department, is that Christmas trees can be transformed only too easily into dreadful devices which can snuff out human lives and destroy homes and property.

"Each Christmas season," the chief said, "we know that we will have to make several runs to homes in Big Spring where Christmas trees or Christmas decorations have caused fires."

"There have been such fires in other Christmas seasons here which have turned the happiness of the holiday into stark tragedy. We hope that this Christmas we will be able to get by without such incidents."

Generally, the chief said, the reason such fires occur is "due to the carelessness of the householder in rigging his yule tree. Sometimes, the chief points out, the person decorating the tree just doesn't realize the potential of disaster that he is posing by his careless disregard for common caution in preparing his Christmas decoration."

Christmas trees are highly flammable. Crocker points out that a Christmas tree can be completely burned in 60 seconds. During that single minute, a blazing tree can set a house afire or can so badly burn some unfortunate member of the family as to cause his death.

By all means, the chief says, have your Christmas trees, but he pleads with everyone to make certain that every hazard is removed.

Most Christmas trees, he points out, are already beginning to dry out by the time they are sold. This means they are already dangerously prone to catch fire easily. When they are placed in modern houses where furnaces or other heating devices keep the air dry, this tendency toward quick combustion increases daily.

He suggests that a Christmas tree be placed in a bucket or a tub containing wet sand. This will delay the drying out process and make the tree less likely to burn.

It is also suggested that the tree be kept outside the house until time to actually start trimming it arrives. No Christmas tree should ever be placed near any type of heating unit.

Above all, Crocker urges, make certain that all decorations are nonflammable. There are plenty of beautiful devices for tree decoration on the market which are virtually fireproof. When you buy, the chief says, inquire into the danger of fire from the ornaments.

Never place candles near a Christmas tree. More Christmas tree fires have been caused by the use of candles than probably any other cause. Candles, it is admitted, create a lovely effect but the hazard they create is too great to justify their use.

Make sure that the electric lights, sockets, wiring and plugs you use to bedeck the tree are all in first class shape. Don't resort to makeshift patch jobs if the lines are worn or broken.

Anchor the tree firmly, the chief suggests. Fasten it at the top and at the bottom.

When bedtime comes, turn off the lights on the tree. The danger of accident increases when there is less possibility of someone being close at hand to deal with an emergency.

When the season has ended, make certain the disposition of the tree is carefully and safely carried out. Don't burn it in the family fireplace. There have been fires in homes from just that specific practice, he said.

Forgery Suspect Held At Lamesa

LAMESA — A Houston Negro, Albert J. Paddio, was arrested Tuesday at his home on a forgery warrant issued here.

He was brought to Dawson County Wednesday night by Sheriff Henry Mayfield and Deputy Shorby Hancock.

He was expected to go before the grand jury Friday. He is charged with forging two $25 checks on the Arvana Grain Company. One of the checks was cashed in Los Angeles, Calif., and the other in Houston.

Lamesa Bands To Compete Saturday In District Marching Contests At Odessa

LAMESA — The Golden Tornado Band under the leadership of Edward Burt and the Green Warrior Band under the direction of Bill Green will be in Odessa Saturday to compete in the District 8 Interscholastic League marching contests.

Thirty-six schools in the District will enter the contest, however they will not be competing against each other. Their performance will be graded superior, excellent or good.

The 90-piece Green Warrior Band of the Lamesa Junior High School will appear in Bronco stadium in Class C at 1:30 p.m. Class C group includes 7th and 8th grade students of the junior high school of which there is less than 500 enrollment. Dorice Humes is the drum major.

The Golden Tornado Band with its 70 members will be the first of the Class AAA bands to perform Saturday afternoon. The performance is scheduled for 4 p.m. The grading announcement and awards to the Division I bands will be made at the conclusion of the marching contest.

Saturday morning drum majors and twirlers of both bands will compete in twirling events. Junior soloists are Dorice Humes, Norma Miller, Kay Campbell, Sherri Addison, Donna O'Neil and Jan Marshall. Two trio ensembles will also be presented.

The high school majorettes and drum major will be entered in one ensemble featuring all five. Dorene Phillips, Jennene Pieper, Lucille Agee, Linda Peterson, and Carol Lee. They will be entered in solo competition as well.

Dawson Community Chest Nears Goal

LAMESA — The Dawson County Community Chest total reached $20,991 Thursday.

President Doyle Hankins told the directors that if the goal of $21,860.10 is to be reached, they must get out and bring in more than they had per day during the past several days. The chest office will close Saturday, and directors predicted they will reach the goal.

'Bible Sunday' Will Be Noted In Local Churches

Many Big Spring churches will be observing Universal Bible Sunday with special messages Sunday. The second Sunday in December is set aside by the American Bible Society as the date of the observance. The slogan of the Sunday this year is "The Bible Speaks."

From Thanksgiving through Christmas is regarded by the society as the worldwide Bible reading month. The purpose of the program, which is now in its 13th year, is to circulate the Bible as widely as possible throughout the world.

The Bible reading month has a history that dates back to World War II when a lonely Marine stationed overseas wrote his parents to join him in reading identical Scriptures from the Bible each day. This feeling promoted a bond between families away from relatives and church members away from their home church.

Baptist

"Life" will be the Sunday morning topic at the Baptist Temple Church. The Rev. A. R. Posey, pastor of the church will be speaking at both services. At the morning worship hour a quartet composed of Martha Winans, Mrs. Paul Vagt, Nelson Howard and David Whittaker will present special music. The evening message will be "Missions." A film on missions will be shown and the special Little Moon Christmas offering will be taken. A duet will be sung by Mrs. Curtis Reynolds and Joe Dunn. The Sunbeams will also present special music.

Holy Communion at 8 a.m.; the family service at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship and sermon by the pastor, Rev. William D. Boyd, at 11 a.m.

Latter-Day Saints

Methodist

Observing Universal Bible Sunday, the Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will speak on "God Hath Spoken" at Services Sunday morning. His evening message will be "Something Beyond."

"Jesus, the Light of the World." John 8:12, will be the message delivered Sunday morning by the Rev. Wayne Parmenter at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. The Rev. Parmenter's evening topic will be "They Went Another Way." Matthew 2:12.

The Rev. Jesse Young, pastor of the Park Methodist Church, will speak on "The Bible Speaks Today" at services Sunday morning at the church. "Come Before Winter" will be the topic discussed Sunday evening.

Presbyterian

The Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will speak on "The Hidden Bible" at services Sunday morning at the church. Mrs. Don Newsom will sing "Jesus, Bamb!" The evening message will be a study of the parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus, Luke 16.

"The Bible Speaks Today" will be the subject for the morning worship Sunday at the St. Paul Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Jack Ware will be speaking at both services Sunday. His evening message will be "The Church and the Sacrament."

Webb AFB

Chaplain Henry C. Wolk Jr. will speak on "The Holy Christian Church" at services Sunday at Webb AFB Chapel.

The Christian Science Reading Room in your community is maintained in simple gratitude by your Christian Science neighbors.

It stands as an outward sign of their appreciation of benefits received through Christian Science—benefits equally available for you.

Release from disease, from fear and limitation, has come for multitudes as they have quietly pondered the Bible teachings in this great new light.

You are welcome at the public Reading Room near you. Here the Bible and the Christian Science textbook may be read, borrowed, or purchased. You may here investigate for yourself its healing message.

SCIENCE AND HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

More Than Conquerors

SHOWING HOW THE HOLY SPIRIT HELPS TO FREE US FROM SIN

Scripture—Romans 8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

I FEAR that this lesson is going to be a somewhat difficult one to interpret to young children. The older ones will gain much in studying Paul's words to the Romans and applying his teachings to their own personal lives.

Dr. Wilbur Smith, editor of the Sunday School Notes suggests that the teacher might tell of an experience of his, when he was taken by a friend to visit a man of wealth who lived in a house that had not been painted or repaired for years; whose garden had not been tended, fruit trees were uncared for, fine furniture was unused, beautiful books had been put away and never read, and the man himself, past 80 years of age, was living frugally though his wealth totalled $2 million!

He had been liberal in giving to the Christian cause, but how much more good would he have done if he had made his home a comfortable place for himself to Jesus. The example set by Christ when He was on earth will help us just think, "What would Jesus do?" when we are about to utter a falsehood, say something cruel about another, pick a quarrel, or do any one of the unkind things that we all do occasionally, and we will not give way to these temptations.

Paul wrote to the Romans that, "There is no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

True sons of God are led by the Holy Spirit. You will remember that this Spirit led Christ into the wilderness; this same Spirit led Andrew to bring his brother Simon to Jesus. If we are led by this same Holy Spirit, we too may become true sons of the Father, God, and temptations will not be allowed to make us fall into sin.

"Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities; for we know

MEMORY VERSE

"We know that all things work together for good to them that love God."—Romans 8:28.

live in, and a hospitable meeting place for the people of the church and for visiting missionaries, preachers and Christian people, generally, who needed such hospitality.

With all that wealth how much good he could have done with it, if he had helped the poor and unfortunate. And how much happier he would have been if he had let the Spirit of Christ of which Paul writes, guide him!

We all know that from early childhood through our entire lives we are fighting divers temptations. When we are young we are trained in ethical conduct by our parents. For most of us the pattern of our lives, whether for good or evil, is set by our training in the home and by the examples of parents.

Even so, we may, and often are tempted to do wrong—not to commit crimes possibly, but to be selfish, inconsiderate of others, quarrelsome, etc.

How do we overcome these urges? God always helps us if we pray to Him or to His Son, based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

WHEN I GROW UP . . .

Magical words these, "when I grow up", full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a flier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tribe Would Trade Garcia And Rosen

By JOE REICHLER
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have offered pitcher Mike Garcia to Detroit and slugger Al Rosen to Boston for a much-needed first-string catcher and the Cincinnati Redlegs have made a concrete offer to Brooklyn for third baseman Randy Jackson.

This information was among a few choice items learned at the minor league convention which ended today and the baseball folks unpacked their winter clothes for the major league meetings in Chicago starting Monday.

A Tiger official revealed that Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Indians, had offered them Garcia and second-string catcher Hal Aragon for Frank (Pig) House, the left-handed-hitting bonus catcher.

"It's an interesting offer and we're considering its possibilities," said the Detroit official. "We could use another starting pitcher and Garcia, if right, could help us."

The same source also said he was aware that Greenberg has made a man-for-man offer of Rosen, the hard-hitting third baseman, to the Red Sox for catcher Sammy White.

"It is believed the Redlegs, seeking to solve their third base problem, have offered Smokey Burgess, their second-string catcher, to the Dodgers for Jackson after having been rebuffed by the Chicago Cubs in an attempt to land infielder Gene Baker and pitcher Sam Jones.

It also was learned that the proposed multiple trade between Philadelphia and Brooklyn has simmered down to a pitcher-for-shortstop deal between the two clubs. As it stands now, the Phillies, admittedly searching for a shortstop, are mulling over an offer by the Dodgers that would give them shortstop Bill Lillis and centerfielder Gino Cimoli for any one of three pitchers—southpaw Harvey Haddix and Curt Simmons or right-hander Jack Meyer.

"We have two deals on the fire," said Vice President E. J. (Buzzie) Ravasi of the Dodgers. "One is with Philadelphia, the other with Cincinnati. Either one would improve our club because the we have a chance to get a catcher, a pitcher or an outfielder without giving up anyone that would wreck our club."

The outfielder in question may be Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Ravasi admitted an interest in Thomas, who can be used either in left field or at third base.

The minors wound up their affairs a day earlier than expected. They took up 29 proposed amendments.

The same source also said he was aware that Greenberg has made a man-for-man offer of Rosen, the hard-hitting third baseman, to the Red Sox for catcher Sammy White.

"It is believed the Redlegs, seeking to solve their third base problem, have offered Smokey Burgess, their second-string catcher, to the Dodgers for Jackson after having been rebuffed by the Chicago Cubs in an attempt to land infielder Gene Baker and pitcher Sam Jones.

It also was learned that the proposed multiple trade between Philadelphia and Brooklyn has simmered down to a pitcher-for-shortstop deal between the two clubs. As it stands now, the Phillies, admittedly searching for a shortstop, are mulling over an offer by the Dodgers that would give them shortstop Bill Lillis and centerfielder Gino Cimoli for any one of three pitchers—southpaw Harvey Haddix and Curt Simmons or right-hander Jack Meyer.

Either one would improve our club because the we have a chance to get a catcher, a pitcher or an outfielder without giving up anyone that would wreck our club."

ments, adopting 16, rejecting 11 and withdrawing 2.

Among those adopted was a proposal to trim the major league player limit to 28 by opening day. The minors rejected four proposals to change the bonus rule.

The minor league body also agreed to drop the name "minors" by voting to be known in the future solely as "The National Assn."

The drive into the four-way Texas schoolboy football race begins Friday with a dozen unbeaten teams preparing to put their records on the line.

While most of the action in AAA and AAA comes Saturday, there still are some attractive games as Stamford and Deer Park seek further conquests on the way to a finals clash in AA and Stinnett tries to ward off high-riding Merkel.

Ahliene, twice champion of AAA, meets Fort Worth Paschal at Fort Worth Saturday. The big clash in this division is between Wichita Falls and Highland Park in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

A crowd of upwards of 20,000 is expected to watch these powers meet, with the winner to furnish Ahliene opposition in the semifinals, provided Ahliene isn't upset by Paschal.

In other AAAA games, unbeaten but twice-tied Houston Lamar travels to Baytown and undefeated Corpus Christi Ray will be at Alice.

All games are Saturday in AAA where there is no defending champion. Unbeaten, untied Nederland, the favorite, plays Bryan at Nederland in the feature. Undefeated but twice-tied Littlefield gets Graham at Snyder. Undefeated Cleburne goes to Garland in the other Saturday afternoon game. Saturday night San Antonio Edison and Robstown will complete the semifinal bracket at Robstown.

Stamford does not appear to be in for much trouble in its quarter-final game at San Angelo Friday against Crane while Deer Park is expected to take Sinton at Sinton. In other AA games Terrell will meet Gilmer at Tyler while Brady and Giddings get together at Killean.

In A, all games are Friday night with Stinnett meeting Merkel at Childress, Eastland and Linden clashing at Denton, Mart and Humble scrapping at Huntsville and Hondo meeting Hallettsville at Hallettsville.

Turner and Sifer paced Amarillo's attack, with 27 and 19 points, respectively.

Steers Invade Andrews Gym

Coach Johnny Johnson takes his Big Spring Steers to Andrews tonight for a practice game with the resident Mustangs, at which time the Steers will be seeking their third straight victory. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Teams of the two schools clash at 6:30 p.m.

Andrews, which scrambled into the playoffs in football, will be making its first start and is of unknown strength. The two teams didn't meet on the court last year.

Vernon Johnson is the Andrews coach. He informed Coach Johnson of Big Spring his teams had to cancel out games with Crane and Wink because of the football game with Littlefield last week.

Andrews' tallest boy stands 6-foot-2, which means he must give away height to Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk, who stands 6-5 1/2.

The Mustangs have four squad-men back from last season, two of whom were starters in 1955-56. The regulars back are Roger Glover, 5-11; and Curtis Hart, 5-10. Both are seniors.

Andrews' 6-2 player is Leon McClure. Ronnie Brice, 6-0; Jay Sherrard, 6-1; Richard Brewer, 5-11; and Robert Burk, 6-0, are other Andrews players.

Andrews will play host in a big tournament Dec. 13-14-15, in which Big Spring is entered.

Steer starters tonight will probably be Jimmy Evans and Billy Blum or Donald Lovelady at the forward spots, Jan Loudermilk at center and Jesse McElreath and Capt. Mike Musgrove at guards.

Big Spring has beaten Lamesa and Sweetwater in that order.

Pat McCormick Diving Winner

MELBOURNE (AP)—Mrs. Pat McCormick completed an unprecedented "double" by leading an American sweep in the women's Olympic platform diving tonight after young Murray Rose and Lorraine Crapp climaxed Australia's brilliant swimming performance.

The final swimming events just about wrapped up the 1956 games. All that remains is a playoff between Russia and Yugoslavia for the soccer gold medal and a brief closing ceremony late tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. McCormick, the 26-year-old diving queen from Lakewood, Calif., thus duplicated her 1952 gold medal in the platform event, after an earlier successful defense of her 1952 Springboard title. No one ever had won both events in successive Olympics.

Mrs. Juno Irwin, Glendale, Calif., was second and Paula Jean Myers, Glendale, Calif., third as the United States gained its 32nd gold medal of the games, but lone title of the day.

Russia, having already handed the Americans their first defeat for the unofficial all-over Olympic team title, added its 36th gold medal with a team championship in women's gymnastics. Hungary won the only gymnastic event of the day, however, taking the team drill with portable apparatus.

The Russians, winning a bronze medal in water polo while Hungary defeated Yugoslavia for the championship, now have a total of 712 points and a 119-point lead over the United States. The Yanks completed their Olympic competition with 593.

We'll Have One Of Best Teams In '57: Brennan

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—"Next year we'll put out one of the best teams in the United States," Coach Terry Brennan told the annual Notre Dame football banquet last night.

There was a note of confidence at the banquet attended by some 700 followers, that Brennan will remain as head football coach although his 1956 Irish had the university's worst record ever, 2-7.

Our sophomores and juniors have received their battle scars," he said, "and next year we'll be out one of the best teams in the United States."

In the main address given by the Rev. Edmund Joyce, executive vice president of the univer-

Smiling, hand-holding couple are Bobby Morrow of San Benito, Tex., and Australia's Betty Cuthbert whose feats on the track at the Olympics in Melbourne have caused a stir in the sports world. They each poured it on in the sprint events and in the 400-meter relays for men and women in the early stages of the XVI Olympiad. Each copped gold medals in the 100-meter and 400-meter relay events in Olympic competition. Bobby and Betty are shown at the stadium in Melbourne. (AP Wirephoto).

Yearling Quints Sweep 3 Games

Local Junior High School cage quintets swept three games from Andrews contingents in a reversal of form here Thursday evening. All three teams had lost their opening starts to Sweetwater.

The Ninth Graders prevailed, 45-22, at which time Zay LeFevre and J. B. Davis set the pace with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Eighth Graders won in an overtime, 27-23. In the extra period, Jerry Dunlap scored all four points for Big Spring after Robert Carr had tied it up in the last ten seconds with a two-pointer.

Big Spring's Seventh Graders won by a score of 31-29. Jimmy Madry scored 11 points and Skipper Driver ten for the locals.

The Ninth Grade Yearlings play Cowden of Midland in Midland Saturday evening.

Gay Hill Fems Sew Up Crown

MIDWAY (SC)—Gay Hill's girls clinched first place in the Howard County Common School basketball conference by defeating Midway, 44-33, here Thursday evening.

Gay Hill is now undefeated in six games. Mary Jo Rawlings tossed in 17 points for Gay Hill. Claudie Self had 16 and Gwen Proctor 11 for Gay Hill while Midway was paced by Virginia Richter, who counted 11.

Elbow, Vealmoor, Midway and Center Point are other members of the conference.

Midway's boys defeated Gay Hill, 49-36. Larry Franklin scored 11 points for Gay Hill. Doug Nichols tallied ten for Midway. Gay Hill's boys have now lost four games, compared to three wins, in league competition.

Midway's PeeWee boys prevailed, 5-1, while the Gayhill PeeWee girls forfeited to Midway.

Wilkinson Named Spudder Manager

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Jack Wilkinson, a shortstop, was named yesterday as playing manager of the Wichita Falls Spudders of the Big State Baseball League for the 1957 season.

Wilkinson played for Corpus Christi last season. Prior to that he was with Shreveport of the Texas League.

Rebels Poised For Tartars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A high-scoring football game seems inevitable when Arlington State of Texas and Compton College of California meet tomorrow in the 11th annual Junior Rose Bowl game.

The Compton Tartars during the regular season piled up 293 points for an average of 39.3 a game as they licked 10 opponents without a defeat or tie.

Arlington's Rebels scored 276 points for an average of 27.6 in 10 games but they suffered one loss and had one tie. The loss to Tarleton, 30-7, in Arlington's last game, came at a time when seven Arlington first stringers had been in bed with the flu two days before the game.

Compton and Arlington had one common opponent, Cameron of Oklahoma. The Tartars had their closest shave in this one, edging Cameron 15-12. Arlington State, on the other hand, whipped Cameron 27-13.

Coach Leroy Montgomery of Cameron said after the Junior Rose Bowl selections were made: "Arlington's the best (junior college) team in Texas. Compton's the best in California. They'll have a bangup battle in the bowl."

Buffs To Make 1st Long Trip East

CANYON (AP)—One thing about West Texas State's appearance in the Tangerine Bowl Jan. 1: It will get the Buffs east of the Mississippi River.

The sprinter, who won three gold medals in Olympic competition to become the greatest individual winner since Jesse Owens in 1936, was expected to return to his home town for Christmas vacation.

Morrow and other members of the Olympic team are expected to arrive in Los Angeles Tuesday. He will fly to Abilene, where he and his wife, Jo Ann, are students at Abilene Christian College.

The college has planned an appreciation dinner for him that night.

Morrow Will Get Party At Home

SAN BENITO (AP)—A "Welcome Home Bobby Morrow" barbecue for the track star when he returns to San Benito Dec. 18 is being planned by a citizens committee.

The sprinter, who won three gold medals in Olympic competition to become the greatest individual winner since Jesse Owens in 1936, was expected to return to his home town for Christmas vacation.

Morrow and other members of the Olympic team are expected to arrive in Los Angeles Tuesday. He will fly to Abilene, where he and his wife, Jo Ann, are students at Abilene Christian College.

The college has planned an appreciation dinner for him that night.

School Superintendent John Barron, a spokesman for the citizens group, said "San Benito is extending a Valley-wide invitation to the reception of our world-famous hometown boy."

Tickets will be distributed by school officials in all Valley communities, and a special invitation has been issued for all young athletes in the Valley to attend.

Uncle Ray: Enormous Antlers Crown Bull Moose

By RAMON CEFEMAN

The American elk deserves to be called "king of the red deer," but the moose (that is, the bull moose) seems to merit the name of "lord of the forest." It exceeds the American elk in size and is, in fact, the largest member of the entire deer family.

Q. How large is a bull moose?
A. A good-sized one is eight and a half feet long, and measures six feet at the shoulders. The weight is likely to be half a ton.

That falls short of a moose of record size. A gigantic Alaska moose was seven feet high at the shoulders, and nine feet and seven inches long. The skull was more than three quarters of a ton.

Q. Do the females have antlers, as well as the males?
A. Only the male moose has antlers. The same is true of all deer except the reindeer. The caribou, which lives in northern parts of North America, is in the reindeer group.

The bull moose has enormous antlers. Often they measure four feet from side to side, and an extra-large moose has a spread of more than five feet.

A pair of huge moose antlers may be seen in the Chicago Museum of Natural History. They have a spread of 78 inches, or six and a half feet. Their weight, counting the skull, was given by the museum as 93 pounds.

Moose are found in several Canadian provinces (especially Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia). Alaska has them, and so do a few American states, including Maine, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.

Q. What do moose eat?
A. They consume the twigs and foliage of various trees and shrubs. They like to eat lily pads and pond weeds.

PREHISTORIC ANIMALS is the name of a new leader by Uncle Ray which tells the facts about dinosaurs and contains 12 illustrations of these great animals. To get a copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Uncle Ray in care of this newspaper.

Meeting Of Girl Scout Council Set At Lamesa Jan. 8

LAMESA — Plans are being made for the West Texas Council Girl Scouts of America meeting here Jan. 8.

The Senior Planning Board and the council directors will meet at 10:00 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices and the entire Council will meet at noon for a luncheon at the Lamar Forrest Community Center in Forrest Park.

The Lamesa District Council, host for the meeting, voted to award the neighborhood with the most representatives, percentage-wise, a set of International Friendship Flags. In addition to reports on the annual Girl Scout Roundup and the Oklahoma City convention, the group will view the new Girl Scout film, "The Wider World."

Committee chairman named for the meeting are Leonard Scott, program; Mrs. John Palmore, awards; and Mrs. Hershell Curry, decorations. Miss Margaret McAdams and Miss Ila Beth Hester, Girl Scout Field Representatives, both of Abilene, were present for the meeting with the Lamesa District Council.

T&P Promotes Veteran Worker

DALLAS — Harry C. Remington, T&P Dallas railroader for 40 years, has been appointed general superintendent of transportation with headquarters in Dallas, for the Texas and Pacific Railway Company. He succeeds the late W. T. Long Jr., it was announced today by L. C. Porter, T&P vice president for operations.

Remington, a native of Vinton, Iowa, started his T&P career as a car service clerk in New Orleans, La., on Nov. 1, 1916. The following year he was transferred to Dallas and became chief clerk of T&P car records. In 1920, he was made car accountant and in 1948 was appointed assistant to the general superintendent of transportation.

Lamesa Employees Have Yule Party

LAMESA—Lamar Forrest Community Center was the scene for the annual Christmas dinner Tuesday evening held for the city employees.

The program included the welcome by Councilman Fred Flankert, with the response from Chief of Police Sam F. Byrd. Mayor Bob Crawley paid a tribute to the different departments of the city and presented a 20-year pin to Walter Byrd. Ten-year pins went to Mrs. Joe Spikes, Jack Mooreland and Marvin Sutton.

The invocation was given by Ray Evans; Councilman J. D. Dyer Jr. acted as master of ceremonies, Ed Noret and his string band furnished music during the evening.
