Thick Fingers For A Tiny Task

Fire Lt. R. T. (Pappy) Hale finds tedious going as he attempts to put the shoes on one of the nearly 300 dolls which firemen are helping prepare for Christmas distribution. Despite the conflict between big fingers and little shoes, firemen had more than half the dolls "shod" this morning. The gleaming dolls will help make Christmas a lot brighter for nearly 300 little girls. (Keith McMillin Photo.)

Airliner Carrying 62 Vanishes In Windstorm

Potentially Worst Canadian Disaster

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A Trans-Canada Air Lines plane carrying 62 persons vanished during a violent windstorm over mountainous south-central British Columbia last night and was believed to have crashed. Potentially it was the worst commercial aviation disaster in Canadian history. Although Trans-Canada still listed the four-engine North Star as only "overdue," the airline's public relations director here, Al Carlson, said there was "absolutely no hope" the plane was still in the air.

According to the Royal Canadian Air Force, which planned to send "every available plane" into a massive search for the missing aircraft at dawn, the North Star would have exhausted its fuel supply at 1 a.m., PST. In addition to the aerial search, a ground party was set to start out from Chilliwack, 65 miles east of Vancouver.

Four RCAF planes crisscrossed the North Star's route during the night without sighting a trace of the missing plane. The airline listed the plane as "overdue" at 11:15 p.m. It carried 59 passengers and 3 crew members.

The worst commercial air disaster in Canada occurred on April 8, 1954, when an RCAF training plane crashed into a TCA airliner in flight over Moose Jaw, Sask., killing 37 persons. Among the passengers which boarded TCA's flight 85, at Vancouver last night were four members of the Saskatchewan team of the Western Interprovincial Football Union who were here for Saturday's East-West Shrine game.

The missing aircraft, a Canadian version of the DC4, left Vancouver at 6 p.m. PST last night on a flight to eastern Canada but turned back at Hope, 125 miles east of here, when one engine failed. At approximately 7 p.m. the pilot, Capt. Allan Clarke, 35, of Montreal, asked the Air Traffic Control Center here for permission to descend from 8,000 feet to a lower altitude.

That was the last radio contact with the plane, a tourist flight to Montreal with scheduled stops at Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg and Toronto. The Saskatchewan players on the plane were Mel Becket, Gordy Sturtridge, Mario DeMarco and Ray Syrnys. Sturtridge was accompanied by his wife, Mildred.

Becket came to Saskatchewan from Indiana University. DeMarco played pro football with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League before moving to Canada. The names of the other passengers aboard the plane were not released immediately by the airline.

Besides Clarke, the plane's crew consisted of stewardess Dorothy Bjornsson, 24, of Swan River, Man.; and First Officer John Boon, 26, of North Vancouver, B. C.

Capitol Lady Has Had Her Joints Caulked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lady atop the Capitol dome has had her joints caulked. The Capitol has been washed and painted.

The "Battle of Lake Erie" is back on its wall inside the Senate wing of the Capitol, the big painting having been cleaned and restored. Things are taking shape for the Jan. 21 inauguration ceremony on the east steps of the Capitol.

Congress appropriated $215,000 for the necessary accoutrements to the Capitol and its grounds for the second inauguration of President Eisenhower. That includes a special roofed platform with wooden Grecian columns, and 15,700 seats in front.

The 150-year-old center part of the Capitol was given a 31st coat of paint this fall. Its regular painting every four years has been timed to coincide with the inauguration.

The younger, 100-year-old Senate and House wings of harder stone are washed every two years. The District of Columbia Fire Department did the job last month.

Congress appropriated $65,000 for the painting. That money also face-lifted the lady atop the dome—the 194-foot high bronze statue of freedom. She was recalcitrant, repainted and given new platinum tips.

Freezing Rain Hits West Texas

Freezing rain and snow flurries fell in Far West Texas early Monday, as a mass of arctic air chilled the state and spread high winds deep into the Gulf of Mexico.

Fears of a frost in the lush lower Rio Grande Valley, however, subsided as temperatures fell no lower than the 40's during the night. Mission was the coldest point in the semi-tropical area with a minimum of 40 degrees.

A prediction of possible frost in the lower Valley Monday night was cancelled by the U. S. Weather Bureau. Snow was reported at El Paso, Salt Flat, Wink and Midland.

North winds estimated at up to 62 miles an hour swept the northern Mexican Gulf Coast Sunday and paralyzed maritime activities. Port authorities banned all vessel departures.

Air Force Gets Transports To Carry 400 Men

ARDMORE AIR FORCE BASE, Okla. (AP) — The Air Force has received the first of 10 huge new transport planes capable of carrying 400 troops each, and is studying — with some doubts and reservations — plans for an aerial monster twice as big, designed to carry 800 persons.

This was disclosed here as the Air Force received its first jet-and-propeller transport, the Lockheed C130 Hercules, a plane of comparatively modest size.

Powered by four Allison T56 jet engines harnessed to propellers, the C130 will carry up to 92 infantry troops — more than twice as many as the Fairchild C119 Flying Boxcar, which the C130 will replace. The C130 also will fly about twice as fast as the C119 or, for that matter, as the 200-passenger-capacity C124, now the world's largest operational transport.

An Air Force crew flew the C130 here from the Lockheed plant at Marietta, Ga., yesterday. Robert E. Gross of Burbank, Calif., Lockheed board chairman, formally presented the Hercules to Gen. O. P. Wyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, at an airfield ceremony and air show witnessed by a Sunday afternoon crowd of more than 5,000.

Weiland told a news conference that the new Lockheed transport would do twice as much work per unit, as the C119 which it replaces. He said the Hercules would supplement the much larger, heavier C124 Globemaster until the latter, in turn, is replaced by the propeller-jet Douglas C133.

A TAC spokesman said the C133 C124 and will carry 400 passengers. He said the first of 10 in order currently is being tested at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. The spokesman added that Douglas has in the design stage an even larger plane, the C132, which would carry up to 800 troops.

Cross Trial Opens, 3 Jurors Picked

Three jurors had been tentatively approved to serve in the trial of O. R. (Bud) Cross, charged with murder, before noon Monday.

Out of a special venire of 90 drawn to serve in the case, only 48 were on hand when the case began. Thirty had been excused during the past week by agreement of their two attorneys in the case. Five veniremen had failed to report. The others were excused by the court when they asked to be relieved of serving.

One venireman, Eston Barbee, who reported to the third floor of the courthouse, became ill just before court opened. He was made comfortable as possible in the office of the district judge and was able to leave the building later in the morning.

It was estimated that selecting the jury to try the young Big Spring tavern operator would probably take all of Monday and that it was even possible the 48 special veniremen left on hand would not be enough to fill the box. If this situation arises, the court will order the sheriff to summon sufficient talemans to complete the jury.

The grand jury room, the witness room and the corridor were teeming with veniremen as the questioning of the prospective jurors opened. Each venireman on the panel is being called into the courtroom separately and questioned by the state and defense.

George Thomas, attorney for Cross, gave notice that he was filing an application for a suspended sentence for his client. In questioning veniremen, he queried each on his attitude toward suspended sentences — particularly in cases where murder is charged.

It was taking about 15 to 20 minutes to deal with each venireman. Cross is charged with having shot Hugh Emmett George, an employe of the Cabot Carbon Company, to death on the night of Oct. 3. The shooting allegedly occurred in the tavern owned and operated by Cross and located two miles west of Big Spring on U. S. Highway 20.

Thomas indicated that his case would be based on self-defense. He queried prospective jurors on their attitude toward self-defense. Twenty or more witnesses are to testify in the case. That many were named when the lists were called at the opening formalities of the trial. Many of the defense witnesses are airmen from Webb Air Force Base.

Cross has been at liberty on $5,000 bail since the day after the fatal affray. His case was set down in 118th District court for today on special assignment and a special venire was drawn 10 days ago to serve as jurors.

Owen Kelly has been named general superintendent for the show. The event is sponsored by the Agriculture Committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce.

Cuban Federals Claim 23 Dead

STANTON (SC) — Martin County's "Gold Star" boy and girl will be honored tonight at the annual county-wide 4-H Clubs Achievement Banquet.

The banquet will start at 7 p.m. in the American Legion hall. County Agent Gerald Hansen announced.

Nearly a score of awards will be presented, in addition to the Gold Star medals which will go to the outstanding 4-H boy and girl of the county.

One Martin County youngster has won the J. T. Rutherford award which is given for the outstanding record of the Odessa lawmaker's congressional district. On hand to present the Rutherford award will be District Farm Agent Ray Sigman and District HD Agent Vida Holt.

The other presentations will be made by Hansen and Mrs. James Eiland. Martin County home demonstration agent.

Boys' awards will be for field crops, meat animals, recreation, leadership, poultry, and soil and water conservation projects.

Awards for the girls will be for foods, dress review, clothing and frozen foods accomplishments.

The awards will be made following a barbecue dinner. Hansen said 125 pounds of beef and between 50 and 60 pounds of chicken are being prepared.

Bobby Sale, chairman of the county 4-H council, will be master of ceremonies and a program of games will be staged under direction of a committee which includes Glenn Reid, Sandra and Sharon Sale, Jennie Miller, Bobby Kelly, Fred Houston, Sandra Mott and Pam Oglesby.

10 Stranded Fliers Back At Pole Base

By DON GUY

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica — Ten airmen — stranded at the South Pole by engine trouble — have repaired their plane and returned to this antarctic coast base.

They brought back word that the 24 U. S. Seabees building a scientific station at the pole were happy, warm and well fed "but they naturally will be glad to get the job done and get home again."

Capt. Douglas L. Cordner, one of the airmen who spent two days at the pole after their Navy Neptune bomber developed trouble in a jet engine, said the Seabees have put up three of the six buildings they are to erect. He said major construction should be finished by the end of the month.

The station is being built for American scientists who will make observations during the sunless antarctic winter beginning in mid-March. The project is part of America's participation in the International Geophysical Year.

The Navy Neptune's two jet and two propeller engines were not powerful enough to take off unaided from the two-mile high icecap, as the crew had hoped.

After a 7,000-foot run and the extra blast of 16 jet assisted take-off bottles, the plane stalled so low its skis nicked up one of the red flags marking the polar runway and brought it all 300 miles back to McMurdo Sound.

for the 16 within 10 days. A Tennessee pro-segregation group has lined up nine lawyers, including attorneys general of two states, to defend them.

In U.S. District Court at Birmingham, Ala., today is the deadline for University of Alabama trustees to answer contempt charges for refusing to readmit to classes a Negro student.

Judge H. Hobart Grooms has ordered the trustees to show cause why Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foster should not be allowed to return to the school. She was admitted to classes Feb. 6 under court order but was driven from the campus by a mob Feb. 6. The trustees suspended her for her own safety.

Later, she sought readmission but was expelled for making unproved charges against school officials. She said the officials conspired in the rioting. Mrs. Foster's attorneys later asked Grooms to find the trustees in contempt for failing to readmit her.

weeklong Institute on Non-Violence and Social Change ended at Montgomery yesterday. The institute was held to mark the first anniversary of the bus boycott and to spread the doctrine of united opposition to segregation among Southern Negroes.

More than 3,000 persons attended the final session. The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, chairman of the institute, estimated total attendance at the sessions at 20,000.

No Disorder As Clinton Negroes Return To Class

Negro pupils at the integrated Clinton, Tenn., high school returned to classes today, a few hours before U.S. attorneys from Dixie and border states met in Washington to discuss what action they should take regarding state laws requiring racial segregation on buses.

The Clinton school was closed Tuesday after a white minister had his nose bloodied by a group when he escorted six Negro pupils into the building. There was no disorder.

The meeting in Washington was called by Atty. Gen. Brownell after the U.S. Supreme Court-ruled last month that Alabama state and city of Montgomery laws requiring racial segregation on buses was in violation of the 14th Amendment.

Brownell said that the meeting of federal prosecutors from 14 states was called to consider and decide "upon measures most appropriate to secure observance of the Constitution and laws by carriers and all others who may hereafter require segregation of white and colored passengers on common carriers."

At Knoxville, Tenn., 16 white persons were ordered to appear before U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Taylor for arraignment on charges of criminal contempt of court. They are charged with violating a court order issued by Taylor restraining anyone from interfering with peaceful desegregation at the Clinton school.

Taylor said he will order trials

U. S. Plans To Aid Indians

DALLAS (AP)—The Bureau of Indian Affairs plans to make the Indian a self-sufficient and integrated American citizen. Glenn Emmons, commissioner, said yesterday at the close of a conference with several chiefs.

Emmons, a Gallup, N.M., bank president, said the government plans eventually to stop paying the Indians' way. He said the conference here was part of a program designed to make Indians want to be self-sufficient and to help them be so. Emmons said attempts are being made to raise the health and educational standards and to relocate Indians away from the reservations.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

All those friends who got art-book Christmas gifts from you last year were so delightfully happy that of course you expect to re-member them the same way again this time; and as always there are excellent selections. Would you be willing to go as high as $25? Then there's "Dutch Painting," with text and more than 100 color reproductions on large pages (Skira).

Have you got $25 more? I recommend "Illustrations for the Bible," 135 of them, with 16 in color, by Marc Chagall. Published in France by Verve, and here by Harcourt, Brace, it has an introduction by Meyer Schapiro and a text consisting of a long poem by Jean Wahl. This too is on large-size pages and, like "Dutch Painting," is bound handsomely. A second Chagall, this one for the budget buyer, comes in the popular Skira "Taste of our Time" series, with text by Lionello Venturi.

There are several other books in a higher than usual price bracket. "G. Braque," by Maurice Geurre Pierre Tisne, Paris-Universer Books, N. Y., has 164 reproductions, 36 in color, and a scholarly text and chronology. "Matisse: 30 Years of his Graphic Art" (Brazilier, $10) has a text by William S. Lieberman and about 130 reproductions, mostly black-and-white, and mostly nudes, plus a few in color, no nudes.

From Macmillan comes timely volume called "A Cycle of Goya's Drawings: the Expression of Truth and Liberty," the emphasis here lies in the text by Jose Lopez Rey, but there are 135 black-and-whites.

Walt Disney's LIVING DESERT, and Walt Disney's AFRICAN LION. Simon & Schuster. Having conquered the worlds of the animated cartoon, the comic strip, moving picture and TV, Walt Disney moves in confidently on books.

These two slick volumes with their lavish, tipped-in color photograph illustrations, unleashed simultaneously for the Christmas book trade, are an impressive, even a flamboyant, first step. They're not merely publishing ventures—they are "productions."

certain details that help to bring the pages alive for you—the pajamas, the lock on the whisky bottle, the absurd Scotch way of calling porridge "them" and not "it." But in the large view this is a brilliantly told story of the thunderously clashing worlds of free spirit and dull matter. "I was... be liked," says Richard Quin. "I want to be famous," says Cordelia. Rosamund is content to be pretty. But Clare, Mary, Rose and Piers must be different. Mother knows better about bills, and father knows madly about stock market. But these are foibles; these are their concessions to our pedestrian world. These characters soar. Bahemians, we call them, or social rebels, or geniuses. They are our chief pride, our sorest problem: we find it hard to get along with them yet without them we are nothing. There is nothing so hard to fix upon the page as the volatile, intangible creative spirit; Miss West does it beautifully.

The merits of the books are considerable, aside from any feeling you may have about the Hollywood touch. The photographs are really arresting and far better than an amateur would think possible to obtain from movie clips. The type is large, as to be easily scanned even by the younger TV set. The text ties in generally with the pictures on the same pages.

A sampling of the Desert book indicates it is very good text indeed—dramatic, informative and easy to read, even though Louis Bromfield forgets to explain in his piece about the peeps wasp just what the killing of the tarantula had to do with her uncontrollable sex urge.

Author of the African Lion volume is James Algar, writer-director of the Disney film by that name.

THE FOUNTAIN OVERFLOWS. By Rebecca West. Viking. Little Rose Aubrey tells this story of her family half a century ago—Piers the dependable-undependable father; Clare the mother who had been a concert pianist; and Rose's young brother Richard Quin and her two sisters Mary and Cordelia.

These curious people inhabit a limbo, an unsure land where they never have quite enough money, never keep quite the right kind of friends, never cater to the social notions of the neighbors among whom their lot thrusts them.

There is a poltergeist, or so Rose and Rosamund think, a secret panel, some portraits that may or may not be priceless masters; a murder and a trial. There are

Clear Skies Hurt Texas Agriculture

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 10 (AP)—Clear skies have caused further ruination of much of Texas agriculture. The Agricultural Extension Service said the promises made by early and mid-November rains for good winter crops and pastures now have faded.

"No moisture during the past few weeks, aided by high winds and frost in many areas, has retarded growth and brought damage to small grain, pastures and winter vegetables," director G. G. Gibson said.

Only in the north and parts of Central Texas has moisture been adequate for small grain and winter pasture growth, but they, too, need moisture, he added. Livestock all over the state is being fed, and hay often is scarce.

The vegetable harvest is well under way in the Rio Grande Valley and Winter Garden area as the harvest of cotton in the Plains and West Texas, peanuts in Central Texas and pecans have come to an end.

In the Panhandle, Knox Parr said "Another week of pretty weather has meant further ruination in the Panhandle."

Similar conditions were reported for far West Texas. Moisture is inadequate and ranges remain extremely poor with livestock all being fed.

A brighter outlook was seen for North Texas. Small grains made good growth and furnished some grazing. Heavy feeding of roughage continued.

Mite damage was reported in Collin, Cook, Denton and Ellis counties.

A record cotton crop in the South Plains, estimated at 1,700,000 bales, is about harvested. The quality is unusually good. Most of the crop was irrigated, but a good general rain is needed.

A light freeze Nov. 30 killed corn and grain sorghum in South Texas and damaged tender vegetable growth in the Rio Grande Valley, but did not damage citrus. Lack of moisture damaged winter pasture.

Field operations in the Gulf Coast area were mostly at a standstill. Farmers and ranchers were waiting for rain as moisture is inadequate for plowing and planting. Cattle are in fair to poor condition with feeding general and hay scarce. Tank water is low. Vegetable crops remain in fair condition.

South Central Texas remains in critical condition with ranges bare and loss of small grain pasture in some areas due to a lack of moisture. Heavy feeding of livestock continues.

In Central Texas, surface moisture is fair but high dry winds and frosty temperatures are retarding growth of small grain, winter pasture grass, clover and weeds needed for grazing. The large acreage of oats is up to a good stand but moisture is needed for growth. Grazing and stockwater is short and demand is high for feed.

Surface moisture is almost all gone in the Edwards Plateau. Small grain growth is at a standstill and grain mite damage has appeared in Kendall County. Frost finished tomatoes in Gillespie County. San Saba County reports half the peanuts being used for grazing or baled for hay.

In Northeast and deep East Texas, surface moisture is depleted and retarding growth of oats and vetch and other plants which earlier promised grazing by Christmas. A hard frost also slowed growth. Cattle are being fed and marketed in large numbers.

The entire rolling plains needs a rain very badly. Small grain growth is slow, requiring much more feeding of cattle.

Bishop Attacks 'Discrimination' In U.S. School Aid

DALLAS (AP)—James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles, dedicated yesterday the University of Dallas. "The liberty of our children is still a fundamental freedom," he said in dedicating the new Catholic school. Cardinal McIntyre hit at federal aid to schools as "discriminatory against a large segment of the population that sends its children to religious schools."

He referred to a provision that such funds can be distributed only to state-controlled schools. He suggested government aid could be given to the individual student, who would then be free to choose his own school. He said that would follow the principle of the veterans educational program, which he said had been called "an outstanding success."

The university is located on 1,000 acres northwest of Dallas. It offers a liberal arts curriculum.

Natalia School Hurt By Fire

NATALIA, Tex. (AP)—Fire did an estimated $125,000 to $150,000 damage to the combined elementary and high school here early today.

Supt. Cecil Willis and Bexar County Fire Chief Cliff Holcomb said the blaze apparently started in the wiring in the roof of the gym. Willis made the damage estimate.

The gym, two class rooms, a concession room attached to the gym and the school offices were destroyed.

A water shortage hampered the firefighters. Water had to be brought by tank truck from Devine, about five miles away. Natalia is about 30 miles south of San Antonio.

Firemen from several surrounding communities fought the blaze. It was discovered at 10:30 p.m. last night and brought under control early today.

Farmers Set Vote On Referendums

WASHINGTON (AP)—Corn, cotton, rice and peanut farmers in 34 states vote tomorrow in five separate referendums on the type of program and controls they want for their 1957 crops.

The Agriculture Department estimated nearly 3 1/2 million farmers are eligible to vote on the questions which will materially affect the number of acres to be planted and the income likely to come from them.

There are two cotton referendums. Farmers in 21 states will vote on the control program for regular or upland cotton. Those in six states, as well as Puerto Rico, will vote on the program for extra long staple cotton.

Cotton, rice and peanut farmers will vote whether to accept marketing quotas. At last two-thirds of those voting must approve quotas to continue them in effect.

But if quotas are approved or not, acreage allotments will remain in effect to make a farmer eligible for price support and acreage reserve participation in the soil bank.

If quotas are disapproved, price supports will drop to 50 per cent of parity to those producers who comply with their farm acreage allotments. There will be no penalties. But if a farmer exceeds his acreage allotment, he will not be eligible for any payment under the soil bank.

Cotton farmers will vote on whether to approve a national marketing quota of 11,014,493 bales on 17,585,463 acres. In 1954, 1955 and 1956 the marketing quota was 10 million bales, but production was well above that figure on the acreage allotments. Cotton supplies have been at record highs but government-financed export programs are expected to cut sharply into these supplies.

Farmers in the extra long staple cotton area will vote on whether to approve a marketing quota of 76,585 bales and a national acreage allotment of 89,357 acres. The quota for 1956 was 35,300 bales and the acreage allotment was 45,305 acres.

Rice farmers will vote on whether to accept a marketing quota of 41,325,000 hundredweight on an acreage allotment of 1,652,596 acres. This is the minimum fixed by law and is the same as the 1956 acreage.

Talk On Defense Budget

President Eisenhower begins discussion of the new Defense Department budget with top administration officials at his golf club office in Augusta, Ga. Left to right: William J. O'Neill, assistant secretary of defense; Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson; President Eisenhower; Percival Brundage, director of the budget, and Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President.

Ike Points Up Red Brutality In Europe

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower called on free people everywhere today — Human Rights Day — to take fresh note of Russian ruthlessness and never forget "what tyranny has done to our fellow man in Hungary."

Soviet brutality there is cause for "worldwide mourning," for reactions of "horror and revulsion," the President said. He added that it almost completely repudiates the United Nations human rights declaration.

Noting this is the eighth anniversary of the declaration's adoption by the U.N. General Assembly, Eisenhower said in a statement put out at his vacation headquarters at Augusta last night:

"This year the free world has the most compelling reasons for observing Human Rights Day with renewed awareness and resolution, but it has little cause to 'celebrate' that day.

"The recent outbreak of brutality in Hungary has moved free peoples everywhere to reactions of horror and revulsion. Our hearts are filled with sorrow. Our deepest sympathy goes out to the courageous, liberty-loving people of Hungary."

In observance of the day, there were plans for midday tolling of church bells all over America — and for prayers for the victims of Soviet oppression.

"The terror imposed upon Hungary," Eisenhower said in his statement, "repudiates and negates almost every article in the declaration of human rights."

The President said of the Russian terrorism:

"It denies that men are born free and equal in dignity and rights, and that all should act in the spirit of brotherhood.

"It denies the right to life, liberty and security of person.

"It denies the principle that no one shall be subjected to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment.

"It denies that no person shall be arbitrarily arrested, detained or exiled.

"It denies that all are equal before the law and entitled to its equal protection.

"It denies the right to fair and public hearings by an independent and impartial tribunal.

"It denies the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion.

"It denies the right to freedom of opinion and expression.

"It denies the right to freedom of peaceful assembly.

"It denies that the individual may not be held in slavery or servitude."

Guerrillas Hit British Patrol, Wound Soldier

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian guerrillas attacked a British patrol from a rooftop in Port Said's Arab quarter with a burst of machine-gun fire and a hail of hand grenades.

One soldier of the eight-man Royal Scots regiment patrol was wounded slightly. The British-French command sent off an urgent protest to headquarters of the U.N. emergency police force, accusing Egypt of violating the cease-fire.

The patrol called reinforcements and cordoned off the area. An undisclosed number of Egyptians were arrested.

The ambush was the first such attack in Port Said by the Egyptian underground since the cease-fire became effective Nov. 8. Previously there have been scattered shots fired occasionally.

The aim apparently was to harass the diminishing British-French force as it rushed its withdrawal order by the U.N. General Assembly. The bulk of British and French troops are expected to be gone from Egypt within three days.

The Egyptian underground has been growing more openly hostile as the day of the final British-French pullout nears. The occupation commanders have put their men on the alert for a final Egyptian show of defiance.

A barbed wire barricade was stretched around the Port Said dock area in preparation for the final withdrawal. Patrols have been strengthened. Troops were barred from streets except on essential duties. British tanks took positions around the harbor.

Fearful of possible reprisals, most foreigners in Port Said were also evacuating. More than 400 British civilians sail today on the troopship Asturias. The French will take 50 of their nationals and an undecided number of other nationalities.

Accuses Committee

Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, retired U.S. Army officer now living in Sherman Oaks, Calif., rises to accuse the House Un-American Activities Committee of "treason, cowardice and subversion of the Constitution" during a committee hearing in Los Angeles, Calif. He had risen to tell the committee members he wanted to address them. Subcommittee chairman Clyde Doyle (D-Calif.) told Holdridge, 64, he was "a disgrace to the United States Army and to your country," and had him removed by marshals.

Chemical To Slow Loss Of Water Is Reported Helpful

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Southwest Research Institute says a chemical first used by an Australian scientist has proven helpful in cutting down evaporation from water reservoirs.

Project workers said in a report Saturday, however, more effective ways of spreading the film to counter destruction from wind, bacteria and algae must be found. Australian scientist W. W. Mansfield said in his country evaporation had been reduced as much as 45 per cent. He said there was no change due in bacteria, algae or wind on the chemical film, which measures one ten-millionth of an inch.

Institute scientists said however, the film was damaged in a test on a four-acre lake, although water savings averaging 45 per cent had been made in tests on 10-foot stock tanks.

6 Women Die In Auto Crash

PATTERSON, N.Y. (AP)—Six young student nurses were killed last night when their car skidded out of control and smashed into a milk tank truck. The truck driver escaped injury.

The nurses, aged 19 and 20, were bound for the Harlem Valley State (Mental) Hospital at Wingdale, N.Y., near this Putnam County community, when their auto crashed on Route 22.

Frank Bollin of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the truck driver, told authorities the nurses' car skidded out of control and veered toward his truck. He turned his vehicle up an embankment but the car smashed into the trailer.

The Issue Isn't Solved

Mr. Eden has his vote of confidence, good for one free ride on the merry-go-round, but leading more than likely to the car-barn where his government will undergo a face-lifting, with another Conservative at the controls at least until that party is turned out of office by another Labor government — the next one, perhaps, with Nye Bevan, the old Moscow-lining bit-chamber, in charge.

If Americans have been a bit put out with the Middle East adventures of the Eden government, our discomfiture isn't patching to what it will be if the Socialists under Nye Bevan come to power in Britain.

But hold; all is not lost. In a New York speech Vice President Nixon calls for the U. S. to give financial aid to help Britain out of the difficulties stemming from the Suez deal.

That is to state the obvious, but when do we start using something besides a money approach to the world's agonies? Money and morality have their places, to be sure; but in this topsyturvy world a little pragmatism would come in handy.

Britain and France, old allies of ours, practically crawled out of Egypt with their tails between their legs. The prestige and power they lost there isn't just dissipated into thin air; it was transferred to a large extent to Egypt and Egypt's sponsors in the Kremlin.

For our part in these proceedings we got loud and fervent applause — from Asia and Africa, particularly from Egypt's Nasser and India's Nehru.

Of course Britain and France were in the wrong; but in the general U.N. condemnation of them little was heard of Egypt's role in the events leading up to the tragedy, and even less was heard of Russia's role in egging Egypt on. And for all anybody knows subsequent developments will leave the Suez in full and absolute control of Nasser, a role he will play to the hilt to compel the West to dance his tune.

This can be said of the practical aspects of the Anglo-British approach to the Middle East problem:

If they had not been stopped, Nasser's shaky position and his boasted military power and his pretended solidarity with all other Arab nations would have been exposed for what they were — mostly bluff. The West could have imposed international controls on Suez, rendering Nasser's one-man rule high and dry.

Instead, the West's power and influence in the Middle East went ka-floey — militarily, politically and economically.

Western Europe cannot live with Nasser running the Suez to suit his own whims. He can choke it to death by degrees — and fast degrees at that. In the end, to avert total and unrelieved calamity, Western Europe may have to attempt what Britain and France might have brought off successfully if left alone — military reconquest of the Middle East.

Another Approach To Problem

In Austin Thursday Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock told the Texas chapter of the Associated General Contractors that Texas' water problem must be financed on a watershed basis because no statewide tax has been found which would "be fair to all parts of Texas."

He argued that the state could aid local areas with credit to sell bonds. "It is high time we realize the futility of trying to finance such a program from the state capital," he said.

A proposal in the Texas House last year to issue state bonds for local water developments was defeated. It was based on the levy of an ad valorem tax, statewide. One objection was that water districts which were ready and rearing to go would quickly absorb the money made available by this proposal, leaving nothing for anybody else. At best it would be only a drop in the bucket.

Another objection was that a statewide ad valorem tax would be discriminatory against large sections of the state where no really serious water problem existed — in areas of normal heavy rainfall as contrasted to the semi-arid sections. Why should the people of well-watered areas, with no pressing water problem, be taxed to pay for water developments in less-favored areas? Why should one area, which has spent millions of its own money developing water resources, be taxed to help less enterprising areas to finance their own projects?

Development projects, based on watersheds, with the state and perhaps the federal government helping may offer some possibilities to finance them. Help from state and federal agencies might go no further than lending assistance in disposing of the bonds, making surveys and other types of aid.

This approach leaves the people of different sections of the state the opportunity of doing their own developing, without being dictated to by some state or federal agency.

Meeting Europe's Economic Crisis

WASHINGTON — America recognizes the plight that faces Europe today. In the next few months sympathetic consideration will be given here to various measures of a constructive nature to help bolster the economy not only of Britain and France but of other nations related to them in the world's commercial and financial structure.

The results of the Suez adventure undoubtedly have shaken confidence in the pound as well as the franc. When that happens, industry begins to feel the pinch. Information received from Britain and France indicates that gas rationing has produced a crisis the proportions of which cannot yet be estimated. It certainly will curtail automobile production in various countries abroad, and this in turn can produce unemployment.

There is no disposition here to rehash the question of responsibility for the recent action of the British and French in bringing about the situation that has had such widespread repercussions. The tendency here is to be realistic and examine all the facts and see what can be done.

First of all, it is unlikely that the United States would endeavor to assist individual countries directly. Instead, it is more plausible for the European countries to coordinate their plans and appraise their needs in very much the way they now are doing with respect to oil and then submit their ideas for coordination to the international economic organization they have set up in Europe for that purpose.

There are lots of things that can be done to give strength on the currency side. One method has been mentioned — for America to waive interest on postwar loans made to the British by the United States. Another that has been suggested by London is to draw down a portion of the British subscription now in the International Monetary Fund. Just how many hundreds of millions of dollars may be needed to strengthen the pound and prevent a run on the franc is difficult to predict at this time because the mere fact that America is ready to help will in itself bring a measure of renewed confidence in the financial world.

The important thing is that the authorities here do see the picture clearly and are ready to do whatever can be done without reason. Congress, of course, must approve some of the steps to be taken.

There has been an expectation of a tax reduction and certainly a surplus in the federal budget. Whether the new requirements in the world picture will affect all these matters is something that can hardly be foretold at this time.

It was the economic plight of Europe which led to Hitler's accession to power in 1933. It came shortly after the British asked for a moratorium on their payment of World War I debts to the United States.

The American government saw immediately after World War II that there was need for some kind of way to bolster the European economy. General Marshall mentioned it in a speech early in 1947, and what was originally just an abstract idea developed into a full-fledged plan several months later.

It is hoped here that no such comprehensive remedies will be needed this time. Everything depends for the moment on how much confidence can be instilled by the measures being taken now in London and by the spread of the knowledge that the United States stands sympathetically ready to give a helping hand to Europe.

Whatever will be done is still nebulous, but Europeans who lately have been giving vent to deep anti-American sentiments — blaming America for failing to get oil to them quickly — will not find the United States unaware of the problems they face or reluctant in any way to help meet them effectively.

The alliance between America and the free world needs mending, but before political questions can be satisfactorily solved, there has to be a firm economic foundation. The objective at the moment is to make the economic structure secure, and it is important to know that London, Paris and Washington are close together in their approach to the measures that have to be taken to meet the economic emergency abroad.

Handy Supply

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Leroy Johnson figured his cabin next door to the Rabbit Creek Inn was a good place to keep his liquor supply.

It was. It made a handy place for burglars to break in and steal three cases of gin, three cases of whisky and an uncounted supply of wine, Johnson reported to territorial police.

Herter Played Cards Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Christian A. Herter handled himself just right to become secretary of state and, if the Republicans want him, their presidential candidate in 1960.

It seems unlikely, if only because of age and health, that Secretary of State Dulles will stay, or want to stay for the next four years of President Eisenhower's second term.

Dulles, almost 69, is the oldest man in Eisenhower's Cabinet. He has just recovered from an operation for removal of a cancerous section of intestine. His first four years as secretary were rough World conditions are getting even rougher.

And Eisenhower on Saturday put Herter in the perfect spot to succeed Dulles.

Eisenhower named the Massachusetts governor undersecretary of state — the State Department's No. 2 position — in place of Herbert Hoover Jr., who resigned and will leave office around Feb. 1.

Herter is one of the most respected Republican politicians and fits into what Eisenhower likes to call his "new Republicanism."

He had worked for the State Department during and right after World War I. But his stature and views on foreign policy were established when he served in the House of Representatives and on its foreign affairs committee before becoming governor.

Eisenhower now could hardly slight Herter — after honoring him with this appointment — by leaving him in the No. 2 spot and naming someone else as secretary if Dulles steps aside.

Herter was largely unknown to the public outside Massachusetts until this past summer when Harold Stassen, one of Eisenhower's aides, urged Republicans to dump Richard Nixon and make Herter their vice-presidential nominee.

If Herter had gone along with Stassen, the result could have been a party split. Instead, he quickly supported Stassen's support, insisting he did not want the nomination and in the end nominated Nixon himself. Republicans no doubt were grateful, since this preserved party harmony.

Ohio's Stern Fishing Laws

NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail—or old magazines in his dentist's office.

That it is illegal to catch whales in Ohio on Sundays — but in easygoing Tennessee there is no law against shooting them from moving automobiles.

That 96.5 per cent of the farms in Japan have electricity, as compared to only 91 per cent in America.

That politics has an extra hazard in Sumatra, where, in 1954, three election officials and 55 voters were eaten by tigers.

That Queen Isabella of Spain — who backed Christopher Columbus on his wong-way voyage to India — is said to have boasted she took only two baths in her life — when she was born and when she was married.

That about 10 million volunteer workers raise some five billion dollars in the United States every year for charitable and philanthropic causes.

That 55 per cent of the prisoners released by state and federal prisons are back behind the bars within five years.

That Thomas Jefferson was one of eight U.S. presidents who never vetoed an act of Congress.

That Franklin D. Roosevelt used the veto most—631 times.

That Europeans who sneer at the United States as musically illiterate probably don't realize this country has 938 symphony orchestras... and that its radio stations carry an average of 69 hours a week of classical music.

That one-half of American men today wear knit shorts — or so an underwear company claims — but did you ever hear of a wife who knitted her husband shorts?

That the late bandleader Tommy Dorsey, whose recordings sold in the millions, earned 68 cents for his first public appearance with a band called "The Shenandoah Wild Canaries."

That beer has fewer calories than orange juice but, on the other hand, tapwater has fewer than either.

That the word "Lord" appears 8,000 times in the Bible.

That the Hotel New Yorker here has an interfaith meditation chapel, open 24 hours a day.

That Lucy Monroe says she has sung "The Star Spangled Banner" more than 3,000 times. Has anybody else even hummed it that often?

That deaf children spell better than children with unimpaired hearing.

That 26 jet planes, warming up, make as much sound as a full symphony orchestra multiplied 1,000 times.

Prophets Can't Always Be Right

It's a good thing sports writers reconcile themselves to their shortcomings as prognosticators better than do, say, weathermen, political seers and the prophets who keep an eye on the economic pulse beat of the nation.

The fellow who said "I'd rather be right than be president" couldn't have been a member of the sports writing fraternity. The poor working stiff on the athletic beat, who let sentiment rule their forecasting all too often, are invariably informed of their weaknesses to read the tea leaves by their readers, but just as regularly they are let down easy.

If the writer picks the old home town to knock off the champs and misses, then the reader interprets it as a sign he's willing to yield some prestige in fighting for a cause he knows is lost.

But, if the game happens to come out the way he predicted it, he's given credit for being a wizard of the trade, a man who could see things shaping up in their true light long before even the coaches or players could.

I feel for the forecasters in other lines of endeavor who are inclined to take their pursuit too seriously.

The political pollsters haven't yet recovered from the boneheads they pulled when Harry Truman knocked off Tom Dewey in the presidential race several years ago. Furthermore, Mr. Truman is not going to let them forget it as long as he lives.

The pollsters, I noticed, were cautioned right up until the last election. After it was all over, I also noted where some of the real brains "confessed" they saw the landslide shaping up all the time. Still, they acted like boxers who wouldn't come out of their shells.

The financial and economic prophets can afford to be bold as long as times are good but let the stock market do a few flips and they take to running into walls and start trying to read the future by what has gone on in the past, which sometimes is hard to do.

I'm most sympathetic with the plight of the weatherman, however, who is more often right than wrong but who suffers whether he's right or wrong.

With the public, he can never win. He's supposed to conjure up some kind of rain, if it's dry. If it's windy, he's expected to wave a magic wand and still the breeze.

They tell me some meteorologists go without sleep at night if they "blow" two or three forecasts in a row.

My heart goes out to them. They should join our lodge. You take a lot of lumps in this business but they leave in a hurry. There's always something up ahead to take the mind of the readers off what has happened in the past.

Maharanes And Union Upholsters

PALM BEACH, Fla. — "You must have money, yes, but it is no longer essential to be a millionaire to dwell in Palm Beach" is the good word contained in the latest brochure issued by the Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce.

I don't know of any American community where it would be more of a help — to be a millionaire, that is — unless —

Well, unless one is a retired member of the Upholsters International Union. But before I go into that, let me say that I arrived here by accident as two magnificent new institutions were being opened on this segment of Florida's solid Gold Coast.

First, there is the Palm Beach Towers, the most lavish apartment hotel this lush community has ever seen and one ready to challenge in pure plush any of those Miami Beach latter-day Taj Mahals.

And second, there is Salhaven, the nonsectarian retirement village of the Upholsters International Union. Old Kubla Khan never decreed a fancier pleasure dome.

If only I had learned to upholster and joined the union in my youth. Then, in retirement, I could live the life of Riley in a deluxe air-conditioned, radiant-heated one or two bedroom cottage on Salhaven's 700 landscaped acres north of Palm Beach for a maximum monthly rental of $50.

But that avenue seems closed to me now and so does the possibility that I can ever become Maharanes and afford one of the penthouses at the Palm Beach Towers.

For what it is worth in the field of international relations, it is now obvious that under its new government, all the princely states of India are not broke or even bent. The Maharanes of Baroda has leased the tower's largest penthouse for five years at an annual rental of $18,000.

This is an 11-room apartment with seven baths and two enormous loggias or outdoor living rooms.

Although from its beginning Palm Beach has been accustomed to all sorts of titled guests and free-loaders, the Maharanes of Baroda is the first resident Maharane in its history. She has spent several winters here since World War II, spending up the local scene with her slacks and or saris, her cigars, her jewels and her huge American bodyguard.

In a community where a diamond of less than 10 carats is beneath contempt, the Maharane, who will arrive here after the holidays, commands real respect. She can rattle up a million to a million-and-a-half dollars worth of either diamonds, emeralds, rubies or sapphires, as the mood strikes her, to wear on formal occasions. Pearls come by the bucket.

Hence the bodyguard. Hence also the Indian maid who sleeps at the foot of her bed and the Indian servant who sleeps outside her door.

When the Maharane lived at the Colony Hotel, other guests used to object to stepping over and around the guard sleeping outside her door. But the big apartment at Palm Beach Towers ought to provide sleeping room for all within its walls.

The Maharane will have use of a gorgeous swimming pool at the Towers — as will all its other guests. But retired upholsters at Salhaven will have the use of a pool just as large. The Towers has been landscaped at tremendous cost, but the 20 acres of turf that will be installed soon at Salhaven will cost approximately $250,000, nurserymen estimate.

There is a moral here, I guess, to wit: Life can be beautiful if you are a Maharane or pay your union dues.

Plans For Strengthening NATO

WASHINGTON — While the memory of the shock of recent events is still fresh, there is an opportunity to take certain steps that have long needed taking.

They will not restore overnight the Western alliance to full health, for these steps, if taken, will constitute only a small beginning on an effort that must be pushed resolutely and persistently in the months and years ahead.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be transformed from a loose military partnership into a confederation of 15 states, determined by every possible means to achieve a common policy. This is the goal contained in the recommendations of the report of the so-called "three wise men committee" to be presented to the NATO Council.

The report of the committee, made up of Halvard Lange, Foreign Minister of Norway, Gaetano Martino, Foreign Minister of Italy, and Lester Pearson, Minister of External Affairs for Canada, is said to include a foreword written since the British-French invasion of Egypt, warning in the strongest terms that the alliance will not survive unless the whole structure of NATO is fundamentally revised.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is said to have indicated his support for the committee recommendations. He is prepared, according to those close to him, to go even further in advocating the kind of coordination which could prevent in the future the internal quarrels that have so gravely weakened NATO.

Here, from authoritative sources in the capitals of the three principal allies, are some of the steps the council will be asked to take:

1. The office of Secretary General to be greatly strengthened. Up until now the Secretary General has been rather like the manager of a properly ordered club. His task has been largely that of house-keeping; his goal, to keep each member as happy as possible. He has had little or no authority.

Under the proposed revision, the office of Secretary General would be more nearly like that of Secretary General of the United Nations. He would be a troubleshooter who could be empowered by the permanent representatives of the NATO Council to go to trouble centers for purposes of mediation and arbitration.

2. An efficient and informed secretariat covering both the economic and political side of a revised NATO would be available to the Secretary General.

3. The permanent representatives of the NATO countries in Paris would be upgraded. It will be proposed that they have cabinet rank so that each representative would be a functioning member of his own government, taking part at frequent intervals in cabinet discussion of the problems before NATO.

Until now they have had the rank of ambassador and in many instances they have been career diplomats with no political roots in their respective countries. Their function has been to discuss and pass on recommendations when they could agree — recommendations, more often than not, ignored.

4. Lord Ismay would be succeeded as Secretary General by Canada's Lester Pearson or, more probably, by Paul Henri Spaak, Foreign Minister of Belgium.

It is possible that more far-reaching revisions will be put forward. But advance soundings reflect the general view that if these steps can be taken, a fair start will have been made toward saving NATO from continuing decay, if not from swift dissolution.

They are, of course, the steps that should have been taken two, three, four years ago when it first began to be apparent that NATO could not continue merely as a military partnership.

It is not the time for clarion calls but for grim, patient, determined, quiet effort. After the small beginning that can be made in Paris, so much will remain to be done.

NATO can hardly ignore any longer the fact that the West German contribution of 12 divisions is an illusion on an ever-receding horizon. It is now highly unlikely that German conscripts — even the few for whom barracks are available — will be called up before the elections of the fall of '57.

The French divisions in NATO have been largely stripped for Algeria and more recently for Egypt. The British divisions in Germany also have suffered as battalions were removed for the Egyptian adventure. This leaves only the American force of approximately five divisions intact.

Apart from a bargaining position with Soviet Russia on a neutralized Germany, the question arises as to whether NATO members can, at will, remove contingents from the divisions they have pledged to NATO objectives.

Another question almost equally important is whether they can employ the arms provided by NATO — that is to say, largely by the United States — in ventures such as in Algeria and Egypt which may have no relation to NATO and, in fact, may be contrary to the expressed common goal.

Questions such as these are at the heart of the divisions threatening NATO's very existence.

Short Division

FORT WORTH (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ohlhauer couldn't get together on a division of their community property, the divorce court judge ordered it all brought before him — one ironing board, four tea glasses, a lamp and a meat grinder.

Ohlhauer got the ironing board and meat grinder and his wife got the tea glasses and lamp.

Holiday Tablecloth Has New Influence

Even the Christmas tablecloth is in for an Edwardian revival. Long tablecloths on small round tables are back in the parlor and even on the bedroom breakfast table.

Carole Stupell of New York, famous for table designs, has applied enchanting red Christmas trees on green felt, and festooned the cloth with Christmas ornaments to spell the difference between Then and Now designs.

She uses white milk glass dishes, white porcelain-handled flatware and white linen napkins and suggests pinning little Santa faces to each napkin, so that guests may wear them and take them home as souvenirs of a charming occasion.

'ROUND TOWN With Lucille Pickle

It's getting so I'm a stranger in my own home town! Never have I seen so many women that I didn't know at a function here as I saw at the tea Sunday afternoon. Perhaps it was because most of them are business and professional women whose paths don't often cross mine. However we did manage to meet some of them and find out who others were.

MRS. ARA CUNNINGHAM was one of those I met for the first time although she has been here 18 months as a recreational worker at the Veterans Hospital.

LUCILLE COLTHARP was here from Lubbock for the affair and was most attractive in a blue afternoon dress brightened with silver metallic thread. She is a sister to Mrs. M. T. Kuykendall, one of the hostesses. Also here from Lubbock was MARY GILMOUR, an ex-Big Spring who manages to return here often to visit.

MRS. JIM BOB POOL of Midland, the former Eloise Kuykendall, was having a wonderful time seeing old friends while serving in the houseparty. She wore an aqua velvet that was festive looking.

While I've never managed to get close enough to speak to MRS. HI WALKER (Nina Rose Webb) I have seen her at several functions this season. She is still most attractive and her pretty red hat was a fine topping for her beige suit.

BO BOWEN combined a green velvet dress and bright red slippers to make a pretty Christmas outfit while she assisted the hostesses in the houseparty. MRS. LOYD WOOTEN and ALMA GOLLNICK both wore frocks of gold taffeta.

The dresses with the metallic thread are most popular this season. MRS. TRAVIS READ wore one yesterday in black that is very pretty. We have seen several in different colors and they are all very dressy in appearance.

Teas are fine places to see your next door neighbor that you miss seeing all other times. MRS. D. M. MCKINNEY and HATTIE EVERETT who live next door to each other were practicing renewing acquaintances yesterday.

MRS. A. D. WEBB was happy over the visit from her son, Jimmy, who with his family makes his home in Amarillo. He only stayed four hours but he called ahead for her to wait lunch for him.

MRS. HAYES STRIPLING had just returned from Dallas where she has attended a meeting of the American Cancer Society and was very enthusiastic over all she had learned and the nice people that were present for the meeting.

Hungary Red Chiefs Open Rebel Drive

VIENNA (AP)—Police and troops imposed rigid new controls on rebellious Hungarians today to enforce martial law proclaimed by Premier János Kádár's desperate government. It seemed apparent the regime had embarked on a campaign to wipe out the last vestiges of resistance.

U. S., Allies Ask U.N. Slap For Soviets

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and 15 other nations asked the U. N. General Assembly today to condemn the Soviet government for violating the U. N. Charter by depriving Hungary of independence and the Hungarians of their rights.

The resolution being introduced in the Assembly today would call on the Russians "to make immediate arrangements for the withdrawal of their troops from Hungary and to permit the re-establishment of the political independence of Hungary."

One outspoken opponent of the Soviet action in Hungary, Cuban Delegate Emilio Nunez-Fortuondo, said he would introduce a resolution in a few days to put the Assembly on record in favor of Russia's suspension of expulsion from the U. N. if it continued to disregard Assembly resolutions on Hungary. He said he also would call for ouster of the Hungarian delegation.

There was no chance that the Assembly would suspend or expel Russia even if it should adopt such a Cuban resolution.

The Soviet Union and puppet Hungarian Premier János Kádár have ignored or rejected four previous Assembly resolutions adopted since Nov. 4, when Soviet troops returned to Budapest, installed Kádár and began a bloody repression of the widespread revolt against communism.

The new resolution is sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Chile, Denmark, El Salvador, Ireland, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Pakistan, Peru, the Philippines, Sweden, Thailand and the United States.

Wildcat Will Be Perforated, New Bond Venture Staked

Paul DeCleva of Fort Worth has staked a project in the Bond (Spraberry) field northwest of Big Spring.

Meanwhile, operators prepared to perforate about 9,000 feet of the Ashmun-Hillard-US Smelting No. 1 Grantham wildcat northwest of Big Spring.

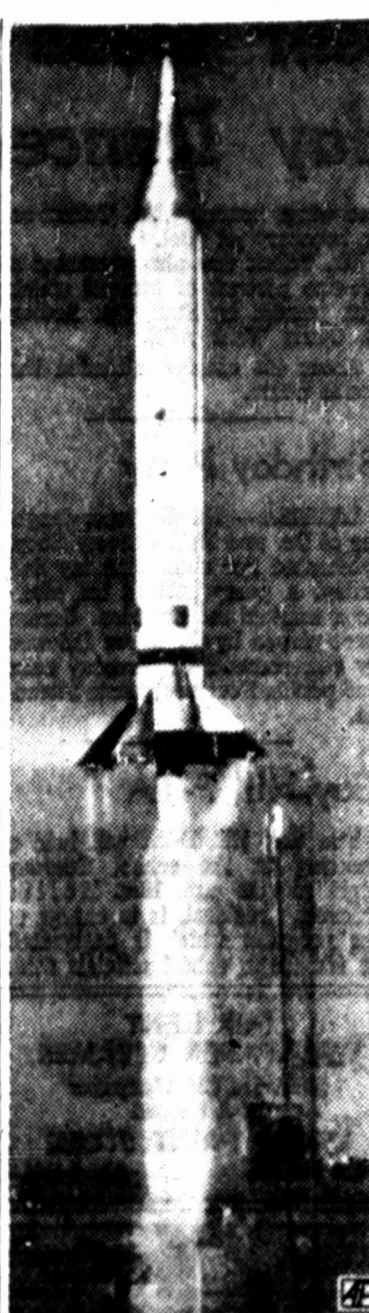

The DeCleva project is the No. 1 John Weber and is about 10 miles northwest of here. Rotary tools will explore to 9,500 feet.

At the Ashmun No. 1 Grantham, operator treated perforations between 9,010-16 feet with mud acid and fracture fluid and later recovered 45 barrels of new oil. Latest report said that operator planned to perforate higher.

Borden
Standard No. 1-A Griffin pumped 30 barrels of water in 24 hours. No oil came with the test. The venture is C NW NW, 35-25, H&C Survey, six miles northwest of Vincent.

Standard No. 16-6-B Griffin waited on cement to set 8 1/2-inch casing at 2,479 feet. The wildcat venture is 1,620 feet from north and 1,120 feet from east lines, 39-25, H&C Survey, six miles northwest of Vincent.

Ada No. 1 R. S. Davenport is a new location in the West Myrtle (Strawn) field. Site is 1,900 feet from south and 600 feet from east lines, 41-47, H&C Survey, 13 miles northeast of Gall. Rotary tools will carry to 8,500 feet.

Upward Climb

This is an earlier model of the Viking rocket which was blasted 125 miles into the air — "the first test rocket on the earth satellite program." The rocket shown taking off from New Mexico's White Sands Proving ground was 42 feet long, reached a height of 135 miles and a speed of 3,900 miles per hour. The latest model fired was 45 feet long and reached a peak velocity of 4,000 miles an hour before it plunged into the Atlantic Ocean about 180 miles from the launching base at Cape Canaveral, Florida.

Fires Consume House, Pickup

A house and a truck burned Saturday, but both were outside the city.

About noon Saturday, firemen called about a pickup adrift northwest of here. When they arrived, the vehicle was destroyed.

It belonged to the Varel Manufacturing Company. Firemen said that gas had been spilled in the bed of the pickup and it ignited.

The house burned on the Frazier property west of here about three miles. No immediate cause of the blaze was noted, policemen said. It was completely demolished by the time firemen arrived.

DeCleva No. 1 John Weber is located 660 feet from north and west lines, 35-33-2n, T&P Survey, 10 miles northwest of Big Spring. Drilling depth is 9,500 feet. It is in the Bond (Spraberry) field.

Dulles, Lloyd In Accord On Canal

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had their first meeting today since the rift over Suez and were reported to have made "real progress" in reaching an agreed policy on the Middle East waterway.

An American spokesman said the two diplomats discussed methods of clearing the canal and putting it into operation quickly, as well as a program for its future control and operation.

The 90-minute meeting was regarded widely here as a quick effort to close ranks in the 15-nation NATO alliance. Dulles docketed a meeting with French Foreign Minister Pineau later today.

The Dulles-Lloyd meeting at the American Embassy was the curtain raiser in a week of intensive Western diplomatic activity here.

Foreign, finance and defense ministers of the NATO council will meet tomorrow to review the position of the alliance and set new goals of preparedness. The seven-nation Western European Union, the regulating alliance that governs the level of West German armaments, met this morning.

The talks by Dulles and Lloyd emphasized the feeling on all sides that NATO members must henceforth work in greater harmony. The United States opposed the British-French policy in the Middle East which led to the attack on Egypt.

Whether Dulles, Lloyd and Pineau again would get together in a Big Three session, resuming the practice of NATO sessions before Suez, was an open question. Dulles also talked today with U. S. Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, who would have a big finger in any aid programs.

Asked whether Dulles had promised Britain up to a billion dollars in aid, a current Paris rumor, Lloyd replied, "If he did, you wouldn't expect me to tell you, would you?"

The apparent American willingness to help out its NATO allies financially, plans to increase oil shipments to Western Europe and Washington's strong declarations of support for the Baghdad Pact powers in the Middle East are actions which have aroused the most enthusiasm here.

American sources declined to go into details on the Suez discussions with Lloyd but said "emphasis was on the six points agreed to by the United Nations Security Council." Lloyd himself called it "a highly satisfactory meeting."

Of chief interest to Britain and the West among these six points was a provision that the canal must be insulated from the politics of any one country. This would mean that Egyptian President Nasser would not be allowed to discriminate against any nation using the canal.

The American informants did not say whether Dulles had agreed to support British and French demands that British and French salvage equipment be used to speed up the removal of blocks from the canal. Egypt has opposed the use of such equipment. The informants did say, however, that an official announcement on this subject probably would be forthcoming "elsewhere."

Students Witness Opening Of Trial
Big Spring High School students enrolled in government classes were spectators at the opening activities in the O. R. (Bud) Cross murder trial Monday morning in 118th District Court.

The students, some 30 or so in number, filed into the courtroom, took seats in the rear of the room. They heard the examination by state and defense of one special venireman and then left. They were also guests of Wade Choate, district court clerk, on a tour of his offices.

Other groups were due to be in the courtroom Monday afternoon.

Wildcat Will Be Perforated, New Bond Venture Staked
Paul DeCleva of Fort Worth has staked a project in the Bond (Spraberry) field northwest of Big Spring.

Meanwhile, operators prepared to perforate about 9,000 feet of the Ashmun-Hillard-US Smelting No. 1 Grantham wildcat northwest of Big Spring.

The DeCleva project is the No. 1 John Weber and is about 10 miles northwest of here. Rotary tools will explore to 9,500 feet.

At the Ashmun No. 1 Grantham, operator treated perforations between 9,010-16 feet with mud acid and fracture fluid and later recovered 45 barrels of new oil. Latest report said that operator planned to perforate higher.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A visiting player strolled by little Jesse McElreath shortly before the Big Spring-Sweetwater basketball game here the other night and remarked:

"Say, boy, shouldn't you be down with the juniors high team? He should have used another approach," McElreath and the Steers proceeded to bury the Pones under a 75-33 score. Jesse himself wound up as the high point man of the game with 20 points.

The boy who popped off could call only one field goal.

Jesse has come along fast since he was a sophomore. At that time, he stood only 5-foot-2. Since then, he's grown five inches.

As a B teamer two years ago, he made only nine points all season. His highest in one game was three points. In the intra-squad game the following spring, he saw no action.

Last year, he paced the B team in scoring with a 10-point average.

McElreath shows a remarkable talent for popping the ball through the hoop from far out. Most of the field goals he scored against Sweetwater came from quarter court.

The University of Texas perhaps got a break in not hiring Frank Leahy as its athletic director.

Leahy has a weakness most of us are saddled with — he talks too much some time. For that reason, he is being roasted by writers close to the scene.

Oliver E. Kuechle of the Milwaukee Journal had this to say of the Leahy statement concerning Notre Dame football in a recent column:

"Frank Leahy's criticism of Notre Dame's football team on the eve of the Southern California game, and of Terry Brennan as coach, was a completely disgraceful thing — embarrassing to the school, insulting to Brennan and certainly unfair to the boys who have gone out Saturday after Saturday this season and taken their lumps. And it achieved nothing."

"Leahy accused the Irish of laying down — in effect, dubbed them the 'unfighting Irish.'" He suggested that Brennan did not know what the Split T (Notre Dame's offense) was all about and "transmitted this unfamiliarity to the players."

And worst of all, he subtly let it be known that he might be had again next spring, if Notre Dame wanted him, as an "advisory coach."

"What manner of man is this, anyway? What ego consumes him? The guy is going to burn himself even if he can't burn others."

"It is a cinder Leahy who a few years ago conceived the 'sucker shift' which so patently violated the spirit of the rules. The rules were changed the following year."

"It was Leahy who resurrected the old practice of faking an injury in order to stop the clock, and while he was not the first to do this, he drew national attention when he used it to squeeze out a tie with Iowa. The practice was immediately deplored and the rule governing injuries rewritten."

"It was Leahy who cried out absurdly each autumn that he didn't have anything in the way of material, predicting dire things for his team — and then won them all or almost all."

"Leahy, if the truth were known, did not 'resign' at Notre Dame solely because of ill health. He was pushed. A long suffering Notre Dame had become fed up with some of the things he did."

"As much as a month before his 'resignation,' he was ordered by Father Theodore Hesburgh, president of the university, to have himself removed from the speakers' program at the NCAA convention in Cincinnati. There was no telling what he might say. He didn't speak."

"And at a press conference at South Bend the day after his 'resignation' and Brennan's appointment, he made as poor an impression, perhaps, considering the occasion, as Notre Dame men, including Father Hesburgh, have ever had to squirm through."

"Leahy was always a master of 'corn' and on this occasion he uttered a masterpiece. He thanked everybody in sight and out of sight, living or dead, boy and man, for everything good that had ever happened to him and he slapped it on so thick you almost felt sorry for him. Only briefly did he have a word for Brennan. Father Hesburgh almost glowered."

"Brennan came next and Father Hesburgh beamed. And Brennan with exceptional poise and good taste said more in three or four minutes than Leahy had in 20."

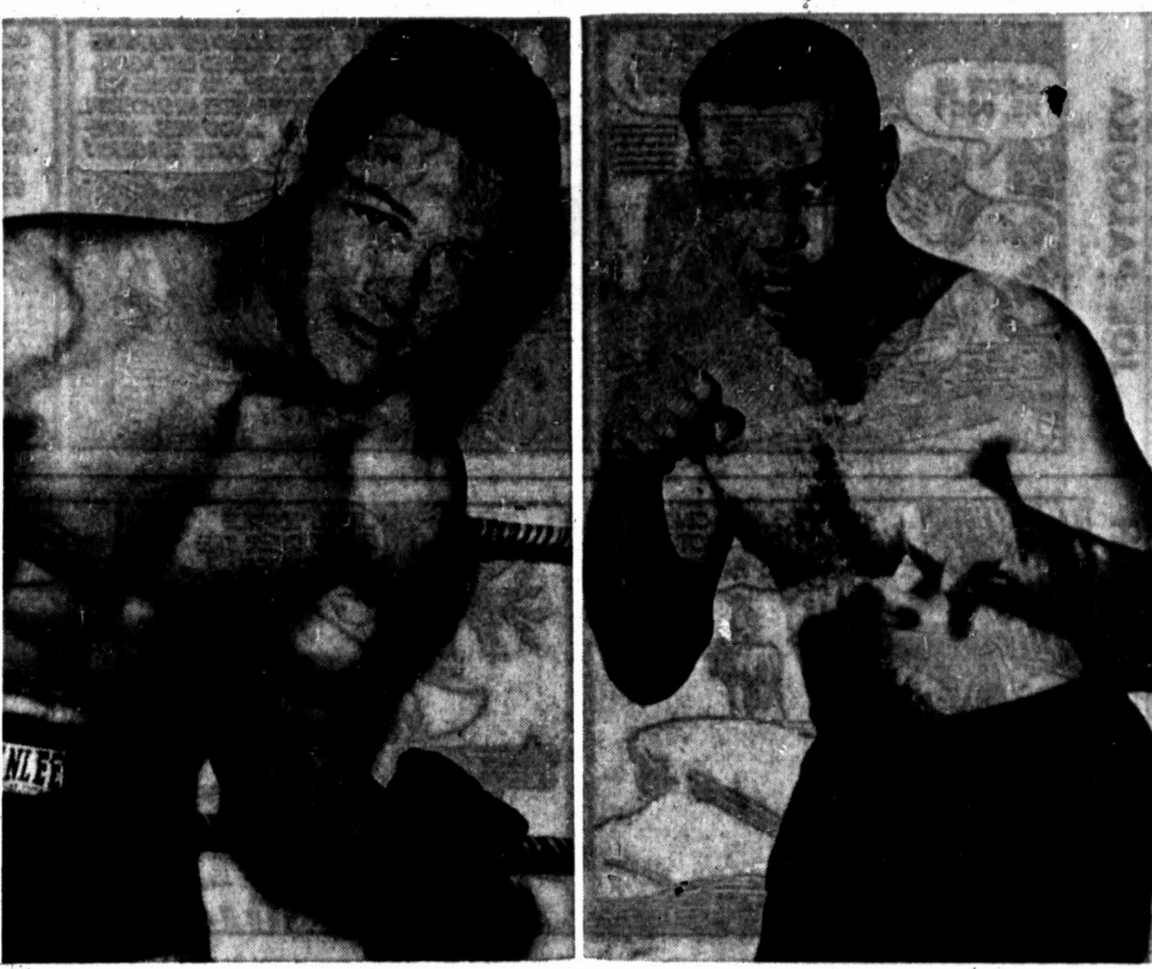

"It has always been my feeling, whatever may have been uttered publicly notwithstanding that relations between Brennan and Leahy were strained from the beginning, not because of anything Brennan had done but because of Leahy's own pique over the push he got."

"Only last year, Leahy offered his coaching help to Brennan, charging that Brennan's assistants weren't doing a job. He was turned down, and he left in the next thing to a huff."

"Leahy's blast was an almost unforfeitable thing."

Orangemen Are Big And Good, Says Abe

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian has just returned from a trip to New York where he heard some wondrous stories about the Syracuse team his Frogs will play in the Cotton Bowl.

The drawing headman of TCU's football forces was unawed. "I have a real good football team and I want to show it to everybody," he said. "I think we'll give Syracuse a real ball game."

Martin sends his team back into practice today to prepare for the Jan. 1 game in Dallas. He finds the squad in the best shape it has been since the season started. What delighted him most was to know that Jim Cooper, the ace Frog tackle, has fully recovered from a foot injury that hampered him all season.

"Cooper is the man who can help Jim Swink go," said Martin. "Swink has needed the kind of blocking Cooper can give."

With Cooper back at right tackle, Martin will shift his captain, Joe Williams, back to center and move powerful John Groom into Williams' vacated guard spot.

"This Syracuse team is a good one and it's bigger than we are," said Martin. "Jim Brown, the left halfback who does 100 yards in 10.1, is one of the most powerful runners I've heard about. But, I'll match him with Swink. Jim is a good football player as Brown, perhaps not as strong a runner, but Swink is a real all-around man."

Martin said the victory by Pittsburgh over Miami last week had given Syracuse a big boost. Miami defeated Texas Christian 14-0 on its home lot and Pitt beat Syracuse by only one touchdown in a game that could have gone either way.

TCU has been in the Cotton Bowl all right but they haven't won there. They want to do it to make up for a lot of things that happened to them this season. The Holy Cross and Penn State games, won by Syracuse.

"He really has a little advantage over me," joked Martin. "I saw our game with Arkansas on television."

TCU ran over Arkansas 41-6, however, and Schwartzwalder couldn't have found out much about the Frogs.

Martin is exchanging films with coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse because neither scouted the other. He's sending Schwartzwalder pictures of the Southern Methodist and Rice games, both of which TCU won, and the Syracuse coach is sending pictures of the Holy Cross and Penn State games, won by Syracuse.

"The Bears are the lone conference team not able to at least break even for the season. Both losses, however, have been to Oklahoma A&M. Baylor won its first game last week, beating Texas A&I 71-61."

TCU, undefeated, goes on a trip that will send the Horned Frogs against St. Louis and Wichita.

Rice, which lost its first game Saturday when it fell before Auburn, 86-68, plays Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Monday, then goes to the West Coast to engage Stanford Saturday.

But Crow didn't concede victory to Tennessee. "It can go either way," he declared. "We could beat them. We have a good ball club, too."

Baylor resumes practice, however, with two of the boys who played against Arkansas in 1954 out of action via the scholastic route. They are Bill Parsley, who was a starting tackle this season until injured in the Texas A&M game, and James Amyett, reserve right end.

That leaves 20 lettermen—and Floyd Traylor, the hard-luck quarterback who is just recovering from a broken leg suffered in mid-season. Doyle is able to run on the leg now and is doing a lot of passing.

Bell will probably go with a starting lineup composed of Goose Russell, Roger Flowers, Preston Hollis, Benny McGary and Bill Thompson against Stanford.

Perry is apt to use Danny Birdwell, Wesley Phillips, Bernard McMahon, Jerry Brooks and Eston Hollis as starters.

The teams play return games in Stanton Dec. 17.

Schoolboy, Jaycee Alliance Announced

CHICAGO — An alliance joining 20,000 high schools and 300 junior colleges to insure united action in athletic projects was announced today.

The alliance is between the National Junior College Athletic Assn. and the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations.

B And C Teams Play Buffs In BS Gymnasium Tonight

B and C basketball teams of Big Spring High School return to court action here tonight, at which time they host Stanton.

B teamers see action against the Stanton regulars at 8 p.m. C teamers meet the Stanton reserves at 6:30 p.m.

The B team, coached by Sam Bell, has won three of four starts. Their only loss has been at the hands of Lorraine's A team.

The C team, masterminded by John Perry Yates, trounced Lorraine's reserves in their only start.

Kansas Appears Ready To Give Dons Trouble

By DON WEISS

The Associated Press

It looks as if those San Francisco Dons had better push that winning streak for all they're worth. With the Stilt and his Kansas company seem determined to establish a similar run through the college basketball world.

With Chamberlain, probably one of the most sought after high school players in athletic annals, has been in two varsity games for the Jayhawks. And it becomes more and more evident why Phog Allen was so reluctant to accept mandatory retirement at Kansas.

In beatings Northwestern 87-69 and Marquette 78-61, Chamberlain has scored 91 points and, just as important, has been getting points at a 3-1 ratio over his opposing center, indicating he has more than a passing knowledge of defense.

The big sophomore will get his first road test this week. Coach Dick Harp takes the Jayhawks to the West Coast for a series of games with the Washington Huskies Friday and Saturday and with California Dec. 18.

Elsewhere in college basketball with few exceptions, the early weeks of the new season have indicated the old refrain of "next verse, same as the first."

The Dons, still winning but not with the ease when Bill Russell and K. C. Jones were around, spilled Seattle Saturday night 57-52 to run their all-time streak to 59.

Bama, a 103-88 victor over Eastern Kentucky Saturday, has topped the century mark in each of its three games, led by a sharpshooter named Jack Kubiszyk. Jack had 35 Saturday.

Kentucky made it three in a row, 73-58 over Temple, as did SMU, which defeated Minnesota 91-84. A 68-58 decision over Oklahoma at Norman made it two straight for Illinois, and North Carolina State is 3-0 with its 66-60 decision over Penn State.

It was left to a couple of Eastern teams to furnish the major eye-openers in the weekend program.

Niagara stopped a touted Seton Hall club 83-63, and Canisius stopped Louisville's three-way game streak 76-74.

Louisville, Iowa and Dayton are the only teams from last season's final top 10 to stumble so far.

The two teams were to have played again Saturday night in San Angelo but that contest has been cancelled.

Bears Return To Drill Field

WACO, Tex. — Baylor returns to practice Wednesday to get ready for the Sugar Bowl with the warning from scout Jim Crow the Bears will be playing a deeper and stronger Arkansas when they clash with Tennessee Jan. 1.

Many on the Baylor squad remember Arkansas all right. They tried to beat the Razorbacks in 1954 when Bowden Wyatt was coaching them. That was the team that let you have the ball and then licked you.

So Wyatt now is at Tennessee and Crow, who saw the Vols in their season finale against Vanderbilt, says it's just another Arkansas team. Only this one is better than the 1954 outfit that won the Southwest Conference championship.

But Crow didn't concede victory to Tennessee. "It can go either way," he declared. "We could beat them. We have a good ball club, too."

Baylor resumes practice, however, with two of the boys who played against Arkansas in 1954 out of action via the scholastic route. They are Bill Parsley, who was a starting tackle this season until injured in the Texas A&M game, and James Amyett, reserve right end.

That leaves 20 lettermen—and Floyd Traylor, the hard-luck quarterback who is just recovering from a broken leg suffered in mid-season. Doyle is able to run on the leg now and is doing a lot of passing.

Archie McBride And Alex Miteff Vie At St. Nick's

Alex Miteff, the handsome Argentine heavyweight who has won seven straight prelim bouts, steps to the main event class tonight at St. Nicholas Arena against Archie McBride of Trenton, N.J.

Although Miteff has stopped four of his seven opponents he hasn't been tested. McBride has been in with some of the best, including Floyd Patterson, the new heavyweight champion, and has a 20-11 record. However, McBride has not been active recently.

DuMont will telecast to some sections.

Rory Calhoun, the White Plains N. Y. youngster who has been making a big noise in the middleweight class, comes up against a real test Friday at Cleveland in his bout with Joey Giardello of Philadelphia.

Giardello has been making a strong move to regain his former lofty status in the class, surprising every body by knocking out Bobby Boyd at Cleveland Sept.

Cleveland Browns Upset New York Giants, 24-7

By JIM KENSIL

This is one year — the only one in the last seven — that the Cleveland Browns won't have the final say-so about the championship of the National Football League's Eastern Conference, but yesterday they got in their two cents worth.

The six-time champions of the conference have been beaten and battered this 1956 season like never before. Yesterday, however, they battered the New York Giants 24-7. Tommy O'Connell and Curly Morrison did most of the hacking.

Now the Giants have to win or tie their finale in Philadelphia Saturday to capture their first division championship in 10 years. If they lose, the Washington Redskins, 19-17 last-minute victors over the Eagles yesterday, could grab the prize with victories in both their remaining games.

The Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions meet in the Western Conference showdown next Sunday at Beartown. This was set up when the Bears grabbed a desperate 10-3 victory over the rival Chicago Cardinals and held onto second place while the Lions were breathing easy in a 45-7 Briggs Stadium romp over Pittsburgh.

All other teams in both conferences are eliminated.

The Far West teams came through with triumphs in other weekend games. The Los Angeles Rams stopped the Baltimore Colts 31-7 and the San Francisco 49ers defeated Green Bay 38-20.

The Browns-Giant game ended before the tilts in Chicago and Washington and since the Eagles led up until the last 28 seconds, it was thought that the Chicago Cardinals had a 10-3 first half deficit to 17-16 in the final quarter.

HCJC JAYHAWKS AND RANGER VIE IN 8 O'CLOCK CONTEST TONIGHT

Fresh from an 83-73 victory over the ACC reserves in their first road game of the season, the HCJC Jayhawks take on the Ranger Junior College eagles in an 8 o'clock engagement here this evening.

The Hawks have now won four straight games. Previously, they had knocked off Webb AFB, 97-68; Decatur Baptist College, 68-56; and HSU's Buttons, 86-73 in that order.

Ranger is the first of three tough opponents the Hawks face this week. The locals visit San Angelo Thursday night and come home Saturday to meet Schreiner Institute.

Probable starters for HCJC tonight will be Bobby Wardell, Stan Williams, Mike Powell, Al Klover and Charlie Clark. Larry Glore, Johnny Watson and Tommy Black are others who can be expected to see a lot of action for the Hawks tonight.

Next week, the local collegians take on McMurry's Papposes and Cisco JC before quitting for the Christmas holidays.

ON GRIDIRON Only 16 Elevens Are Still Active

The Texas schoolboy football season is over for all but 16 teams. They're a classy lot, eight with unbeaten records. They're headed into the four-way semi-finals by Abilene, Nederland, Stamford and Stinnett.

Abilene's clash with Wichita Falls is the headliner. It matches undefeated, untied teams—the last two in Class AAA—and will determine if Abilene is to return to the finals for the third straight year.

The winner of this one, scheduled for Wichita Falls Saturday, will need the power of the South—the winner of a Baytown-Corpus Christi Ray battle—for the championship. Ray is undefeated but has been tied. Baytown lost one game during the season and was tied in two others.

Nederland is the only undefeated, untied team in Class AAA and is favored to win the championship. It hasn't been pressed all season except in games with the stronger teams in Louisiana.

Nederland plays once-beaten San Antonio Edison that loss was to Abilene in nonconference play at Nederland Saturday. At the same time the finalist from the upper bracket will be decided in a game between undefeated but twice-tied Littlefield and tough Garland at San Angelo.

Stamford also stands alone as the undefeated, untied team of Class AA where the mighty Bulldogs seek their second straight state championship.

Terrell, which bounced back from two mid-season defeats to finish like a whirlwind will test Stamford with its great Mike McClellan at Dallas Friday. It's the only Friday game. All others are Saturday.

Stamford is winner of 30 straight but the Bulldogs could find the going rough against this swinging-from-the-floor Tiger eleven.

Brady, another outfit that was terrific in the stretch, plays Sinton, killer of giants, in the Class AA semi-final at Austin. Last week took out the team that was supposed to reach the finals against Stamford—Deer Park.

Teams of great contrast clash in the Class A semi-finals. Stinnett and Hondo, both undefeated and undefeated through 13 games, take on Eastland (10-3) and Humble (11-2) respectively. Stinnett plays Eastland at Childress while Hondo and Humble get together at Luling.

U. S. Distance Runners Can Do Better: Igloi

MELBOURNE — The track coach who has produced 20 world record holders in the past five years, including the likes of Sandor Iharos and Laszlo Tabori, is job hunting.

"But," said 48-year-old Mihaly Igloi, "I've got to find a job where the conditions are as ideal as possible. I'm interested in developing champions not juniors."

Igloi is the coach of the Hungarian track and field team, the same group that has developed some of the greatest distance runners in the world.

At the moment he is undecided on just what course to follow. He has a family in Budapest but has asked the government for permission to stay out of Hungary. So far it has not been granted. He remained in Australia, assuming that no word is an affirmative.

"But," he told The Associated Press today, "I don't think it makes much difference what the answer is."

Igloi was asked if he would care to head for the United States. "I am a track coach," he said, "and I would like to go anywhere the conditions for coaching are best. I want to produce fine runners. But at my age I believe I have only about 10 years of coaching left. Therefore I could not afford to begin a building program."

"I'll tell you one thing about American runners, I don't think they try hard enough. Everyone wonders why the United States has not produced great distance stars like the Hungarians. There is no excuse for it. The Americans probably have more native speed than the Hungarians."

The final count of noses of the Hungarian team revealed that of the 175 athletes 46 decided not to go back to their embattled homeland to face the Russians.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William Perry of San Francisco says he probably is the oldest horseplayer in the United States. He celebrated his 104th birthday Thursday. He jests that he started following the horses in 1880—as a horse car motorman. Now he enjoys the races at the three Bay area tracks.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that give temporary relief will not remove the cause of your troubles. Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility, and incurable malignancy.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at the Excelsior Institute. They have found soothing relief and a new zest in life. The Excelsior Institute, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men by NON-SURGICAL Methods has a New FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven Non-Surgical treatments. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation. Address Excelsior Institute, Dept. H584, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

'Books' Group Meets Tonight

Skeptical philosophy, which has exerted a profound influence on the thought of the Western World and has been of immense importance to science, will be the subject at the meeting of the Big Spring Great Books group at 8 p.m. today in the Music Building of Howard County Junior College. The book to be discussed is Sextus Empiricus' "Outline of Pyrrhonism," exposition of the doctrines of the Greek Pyrrho, who, born about 360 B. C., held that man cannot know the truth. All organic life, Pyrrho argued, changes continually, and man himself is deluded by his senses; therefore man cannot know reality, he can know only appearances. The discussion, which will be led by the Rev. Richard Deats, is open to anyone who wishes to attend. The Great Books group, sponsored by Howard County Junior College, exacts no dues or other charges and has no membership requirements.

Firemen Probe Wreckage

Firemen search through the charred wreckage of an elevated train after a flash fire in a wooden coach killed the motorman and injured an estimated 40 passengers. The fire burst forth as the crowded rush-hour string of cars neared the station just outside the north city limits of Chicago, Ill.

F. S. Hofeus Dies Sunday

Frank S. Hofeus, who had varied interests here in past years and who was well known in West Texas, died Sunday afternoon in Santa Monica, Calif. He had been ill for only a week. His home was in Dallas, but since Mrs. Hofeus's death in March a year ago he had been residing in California. He had extensive holdings in that area. Among other transactions in which he was involved here was the purchase and sale of the Settles Hotel. He also teamed with Big Spring people to acquire hotel properties at Glenwood Springs, Colo. Arrangements are pending.

Funeral Held For Former Resident

Funeral for Mrs. W. Clifton, former resident of Big Spring, was held in Coleman Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Clifton, the widow of a veteran T&P conductor, died Friday evening at Coleman. For many years she lived in Big Spring at 1114 Main Street. Surviving her are two children, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Coleman, and Evan Murdock, Houston. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Minnie Morton, with whom she lived in recent years. Interment was in the Coleman cemetery.

2,000 View Scout Exhibits

Upwards of 2,000 people viewed the B. Scout Exposition, the first of its kind ever held here, in two showings Friday and Saturday. District officials declared the event, which shaped up under the direction of Maurice R. Koger, a real success. Twenty-seven local units, including one from Sterling City and one from Lenora, were entered in the exhibition at 211 Rundles Street. They varied from handicraft to camp craft, from first aid to merit badge work. Blue ribbons went to Troop No. 8, Troop No. 49, Troop No. 136, Pack No. 1, Pack No. 12, Pack No. 25, Pack No. 29, Pack No. 40, Pack No. 46, Pack No. 63 and Post No. 110. Red ribbons were won by Post No. 9, Air Explorer Post No. 146, Troop No. 1, Troop No. 4, Troop No. 9, Troop No. 17, Troop No. 19, Post No. 100, Post No. 109. Gold ribbons went to Troop No. 2, Troop No. 3, Troop No. 5, Troop No. 6, Pack No. 11, Pack No. 14, and Pack No. 138.

Giant Boeing 707, a 600-mile-an-hour jet transport, will soon be available for commercial aviation.

It takes a GIANT to move people

In the world of flying it takes a giant to move masses of people fast. In the world of selling, too, it takes a giant to move the people... a giant who lives in every town, the daily newspaper. This giant not only lives in every town, but in practically every home—every day. And in the home the newspaper remains to be read, put down, picked up and read again, so that it's no trouble at all for a newspaper advertiser to make a local call every day. Daily newspaper circulation is at a new high—over 56,000,000.

Many of the ads in the paper will end up in a purse or a pocket because people habitually use the newspaper as a shopping guide. That's why advertisers—local, regional and national—spend more money in daily newspapers than they do in radio, television, magazines and outdoor combined. To move a multitude of goods, you must move multitudes of people to action. Use "action" advertising. Use the daily newspaper. All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

Uncle Ray:

Paraguay Wildcat

Weighs Three Pounds

The cat family includes lions, tigers and leopards. All of these fierce beasts have been captured in their infant stage, and have been kept for a time as pets. When they come close to the adult stage, however, it has been found that they grow dangerous. They may even destroy the lives of their owners.

Wildcats also are dangerous, but much less so than the large cats I have mentioned. A wildcat will hide from a hunter who is passing through the woods, and never (in its right mind) will start a fight with a man.

There is a wide difference in the size of wildcats. One kind which lives in Paraguay weighs about three pounds after it becomes an adult.

Next to dogs, tame cats are the most popular domestic pets in many countries. Often they go under the name of "house cats," but we may speak of them simply as cats.

Q. Where did house cats come from?
A. It is believed that they are descended from certain kinds of wildcats, especially those of small size. They were domesticated in ancient Egypt, also in Asia and Europe.

Most domestic cats have been mixed a great deal, and some have ancestors from three continents. Stripes on a modern cat strongly suggest that their ancestors include the striped wildcats of Europe.

Crater Lake in Oregon!

I regret to say that Crater Lake was mistakenly placed in the state of Washington in an article a few weeks ago. How this error crept in I am at a loss to say, but it was printed in some editions. Oregon is the home of Crater Lake. Please look up the article if you have saved it for a scrapbook, and make sure that Oregon is given credit for being the home of this famous lake.

Byrd To Support Delay In Payment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today he will support emergency postponement — but not outright cancellation — of interest payments Great Britain owes to the United States.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said he is willing to help the British in the financial crisis brought about by the Suez Canal military venture.

"But I am opposed to cancellation of interest payments or any waiving of principal payments on money the British owe us," he said in an interview.

"We have poured billions of dollars in gifts into Europe. We have given billions to Britain. They ought to stand by their agreement on loans. A contract is a contract and it should be fulfilled."

Byrd said he would be willing to agree to a postponement of the nearly $2 billion dollar interest payment due Dec. 31 on Britain's postwar loan of 2 1/2 billion dollars from this country and on the 600 million dollars agreed upon in settlement of her lend-lease account.

The Eisenhower administration has indicated it will put the matter up to Congress.

Byrd said he was glad to see that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey had publicly discounted reports there might be in the making a new program of economic aid for Europe patterned after the Marshall Plan.

"I am opposed to any further continuation of foreign economic aid," Byrd said. "I will support a reasonable amount of military aid to our allies but I think the time has passed when economic assistance is necessary."

Humphrey said in New York Saturday that reports of a large-scale program of economic assistance for Europe had been "greatly exaggerated."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he hopes the British interest question won't be used as a starting point for a broad-scale investigation of administration foreign policy actions and statements he has proposed. He said the financial plight of Britain ought to be considered on a bipartisan basis.

He described as "excellent" the selection of Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts to replace Herbert Hoover Jr. as undersecretary of state. Herter's selection and Hoover's resignation to go back to private business, effective about Feb. 1, were announced by Eisenhower Saturday.

Another suggestion for a congressional inquiry came today from Sen. Neuberger who said in a speech prepared for a Hermiton, Ore., audience that a study should be made "of the role of American propaganda in feeding false hopes to Hungary's fight for freedom from Soviet rule."

Committee Sets Up Radiation Exposure Limits For Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommendations for what would be the first radiation exposure limits ever set up for the population as a whole have been drafted by a quasiofficial watchdog committee.

The same group, the National Committee on Radiation Protection, has also drafted recommendations for what would amount to new and sharply reduced limits on radiation exposure for the nation's half million workers in atomic and similar plants.

This was reported today by Dr. Lauriston S. Taylor, chairman of the committee and a National Bureau of Standards scientist, in a report prepared for delivery later this week to a meeting of the American Nuclear Society. He amplified in an interview.

Taylor said the intent of both actions is to assure that exposure to radiation from all sources — including atomic bomb fall-out, products of atomic energy plants, and medical and dental uses of X-rays — does not go beyond a point of "acceptable risk" from the genetic or hereditary standpoint.

The committee he heads is sponsored by the Bureau of Standards. It is made up of representatives of the Atomic Energy Commission, the Public Health Service, American Medical Assn. and other professional and industry groups. It has no regulatory power but its recommendations in the past have been widely followed.

The unit by which radiation is measured is the roentgen. Taylor said the new recommendations are:

1. For the population as a whole — a limitation of 10 million roentgens of man-made radiation — delivered to the reproductive organs — for every one million persons in the population from conception up to age 30. That would mean an average limit of 10 per person. But Taylor stressed that individuals who might receive an amount in excess of that would not necessarily be exposed to any "significant" genetic hazard. Moreover, he said, not all radiation received by the body necessarily goes to the reproductive system — for example, in an X-ray examination of the teeth, less than one thousandth of the radiation used reaches the reproductive organs.

He added that the dose delivered to the reproductive organs may range from none at all for a few types of radiation exposure to virtually 100 per cent for some other types.

2. For workers in atomic and other radiation-producing plants — a formula under which at no age would the total accumulated radiation dose to the reproductive organs be allowed to exceed the person's age, minus 18 multiplied by 5. Age 18 is the minimum for starting work in such plants. Under the formula, for example, a worker would be allowed no more than 60 roentgens up to age 30.

Taylor told a reporter, "There is reason to believe that the new recommendations will be incorporated into safety regulations of the AEC, individual states and industries, and that any changes or limitations of operations deemed necessary to keep exposure of the population as a whole within the limits recommended will be made."

Taylor said his committee believes that "reasonable testing of atomic weapons—that is, at the present rate of testing—could continue indefinitely" without exceeding the radiation limit recommended for the population as a whole.

Hole Is Fatal

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A tiny hole in a rubber glove spelled death for Frank Bennett, 54. He saw an ice storm had knocked down an electric wire. He put on a pair of rubber gloves, not noticing a hole in the right forefinger, and was electrocuted when he tried to move the wire.
