Junior High Canned Goods Collection Tabulated

Canned goods, collected by Junior High School pupils as a Christmas good turn, are tabulated and delivered to Capt. Dexter Breazale of the Salvation Army. Here, Patsy Coe, member of the Future Homemakers of America, hands one package to Capt. Breazale while Judy Foster, secretary, and Bobby Evans, president of the student council, look on. Part of the 728 units collected are shown in the background. Topping the 43 homerooms participating was that of C. W. Tanner, whose members gave a number of cans. 260

Sea Of Fog Hits Midwest

A sea of fog 1,000 miles wide tied up most air traffic in the central section of the nation today. The Weather Bureau at Chicago said the pall extended from western Iowa on the west to Pittsburgh on the east. It closed in while Christmas travel was building toward a peak. Chicago's Midway Airport, normally the busiest commercial field in the world, reported only a few planes were moving. O'Hare Field northwest of the city had a similar slowdown. Meigs Field on the lakefront was closed. The Des Moines, Iowa, airport, shut down at 3 p. m. Thursday, had a visibility of only a sixteenth of a mile this morning. Most air traffic in the state was halted. Flights at Detroit were canceled this morning. Several chartered buses brought grounded air travelers to Detroit from Cleveland and Buffalo.

FIREMEN'S STORE Parents Select Children's Gifts

Christmas started this morning, and Santa Claus was present at the old Tidwell Chevrolet Building. There he was present in spirit as needy families started selecting gifts for their children which were donated through the Salvation Army. Some 300 families registered for toys, and the first ones came through the building at 9 a. m. today. The room was soon full, and the stocks of toys repaired by firemen and donated by Big Spring citizens dwindled as each family made its choices. The Salvation Army leaders gave a card to each family which entitled them to toys, with the amount determined by the number of children in the family. Many asked for more than they were allowed, but had to be

Trailer Found, Serum Missing

NEW YORK (AP)—Police found a stolen tractor-trailer which had been loaded with damaged vaccines and antitoxins yesterday but practically all the drugs were missing. The truck was found on a Manhattan street, about 12 hours after it was stolen from a loading platform in the city. All but 15 of the 730-carton cargo were gone. The drugs were part of a shipment from Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y., to a Chicago branch office. The truck carrying them caught fire in Ohio and 730 cartons out of 2,700 were damaged. They were being returned to Pearl River when the truck disappeared. A Lederle spokesman has denied a police warning that the drugs could have fatal effects if administered improperly. The spokesman said the heat of the fire had destroyed their potency. The drugs included diphtheria antitoxin, tetanus toxoid, and vaccine for mumps and typhoid.

Widow's Body Exhumed In Probe Of Women's Deaths

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—By the ghostly light of flickering storm lanterns, grave-diggers early today exhumed the body of an aged, wealthy widow from a cemetery in this seaside resort town apart by gossip of mass murder. As the first pale light sifted through the mist, the grave-diggers lifted out the coffin of Mrs. Julia Bradburn, 85-year-old widow who died May 27, 1952. At almost the same moment across Eastbourne, in another cemetery plot, grave-diggers were exhuming the body of Miss Clara Neil Miller, who died at the age of 86 in February 1955. The exhumations were ordered in connection with an investigation of Dr. John Bodkin Adams. The natty, 57-year-old bachelor physician is charged with murdering an 81-year-old widow, Mrs.

New Rise Reported In Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today reported another slight rise in living costs—one-tenth of one per cent—during November. This took its cost index to the fifth peak reached in a 1956 climb. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said that net spendable earnings of factory workers and their buying power moved to an all-time high, more than offsetting the rise in retail prices.

Nehru Still Not Convinced Security Pacts Mean Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru ends his six-day American visit today as he began it—still convinced that collective security pacts will not preserve world peace. Tonight a Royal Canadian Air Force plane will fly Nehru to Ottawa for weekend conferences with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. Nehru made the most of his brief New York visit yesterday with a triple-barreled round of speeches. All of them were woven around the theme that a positive but peaceful approach could solve the problems of Hungary and the Middle East hostilities "without too great difficulties." In a speech last night at an informal gathering of United Nations General Assembly delegates and in a speech before the private, nonpartisan American Assn. for the United Nations, Nehru lashed out at the concept of military pacts and alliances. It was an indication that any effort President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles may have made to convince Nehru of the need for such pacts had failed. Nehru told a distinguished audience at the Carnegie Endowment Center, near the U. N., that the prestige of the United States had shot up all over the world because of "certain attitudes" it had taken in regard to the military intervention of Britain and France in Egypt. "It shows that when a nation acts according to principle and perhaps not caring for the consequences there, it gains tremendous strength," he said. His audience included Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. Earlier at the U. N., Nehru called bluntly for an end to military alliances and challenged nations to settle their quarrels openly before the international body. Nehru has been an unremitting foe of the Baghdad Pact and Southeast Asia Treaty Organization which he claimed increased instead of eliminating tension because they aroused fear and hostility. Nehru said good has resulted

HOLIDAY DEATH COUNT BEGINS

Texas Calls Out Traffic Patrols

By The Associated Press
The count of persons killed in Texas in highway accidents from 12:01 a. m. Friday until the end of the New Year's holiday has started. The chief statistician for the State Department of Public Safety, N. K. Woerner, estimated that 115 persons would die in street and highway accidents in a 12-day period ending Jan. 1. Last year 106 persons died during this period. Woerner had forecast 112 deaths. Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the safety department, has ordered all available members of the State Highway Patrol, the motor vehicle inspection and license and weight divisions into service for "dangerous drivers who threaten the safety of the motoring public." The officer asked Texas drivers to "be patient, obey traffic laws, and consider that more dangers than usual await you at each turn of the wheel." At Fort Worth, police were in the midst of a special campaign to cut down traffic deaths. Special signs have been put up throughout the city. Police in Houston have circulated thousands of leaflets urging sane driving during the holidays. Dallas police made special radio and television appeals urging citizens to take special precautions. Extra forces will be on duty Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. In the lower Rio Grande Valley Cameron County ordered criminal deputies to patrol in unmarked cars to trap speeders and other violators.

Commuting Races In Alabama Mix

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Racial segregation ended on city buses in Montgomery today, bringing to a dramatic close a pattern in public transportation dating back for many years. Two Negroes were seated in front seats on a Highland Avenue bus when it pulled into the Court Square stop downtown. A middle-aged white man in working clothes boarded the bus and took a seat by himself behind the Negroes. Previously, Negroes sat to the rear. The white man made no comment as he boarded the bus. Later in the morning, a well-dressed Negro boarded a bus at the Court Square stop and sat in front of a white man. There was no visible reaction. On a third bus as it pulled into the stop, a white man and a white woman were seated behind a young Negro. The white man got off and five white women boarded the bus, all taking seats behind the Negro. The Rev. M. L. King Jr., a Negro minister who led the bus boycott, alighted from a bus along with the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, another boycott leader. They said the bus they rode was "pretty thoroughly integrated." The Negro clergymen said the bus driver, whose name was not available, was "courteous" to them. A similar report came from still another Negro minister, the Rev. W. F. Powell. He said drivers he saw were "exceptionally nice." Powell said a comparatively few Negroes rode the buses this morning but that the number probably will increase. There were no reports of violence as the integration began but four carloads of white men and others in a pickup truck kept close watch on the downtown bus stop. One or two at a time, the cars left but returned shortly afterward. The riders got out once and conferred on a street corner and returned to the cars. A fifth car bearing three white men drove by and one of the riders signaled with his arm. One of the parked cars drove away. In another automobile, a white man shouted to photographers, "Go ahead and get that black — — — picture," referring to a Negro aboard a bus. None of the Record 660 U.S. Deaths Seen

By The Associated Press
American motorists wheeled into the long, perilous Christmas weekend today. The National Safety Council figured that 45 million automobiles will be on the streets and roads at one time or another during the four-day holiday period, and that they will roll up a total of seven billion miles of travel. The council has estimated that traffic accidents will cost a record 660 lives unless drivers and pedestrians employ "unprecedented" caution. The holiday period, for fatality counting purposes, begins at 6 p. m. (local time) tonight and ends at midnight Tuesday. Heavy home-for-Christmas travel, winter driving conditions, holiday drinking and a minimum of daylight add up to a maximum exposure to danger. Police were ready for their challenging task. Many states marshaled all available troopers for highway patrol duty. Some of them have shifted officers from desk jobs to road assignments. The prime targets are speeders and drunks.

Nixon In Parley On Refugee Problem

By CARL HARTMAN
VIENNA (AP)—U. S. President Nixon met with Chancellor Julius Raab and most of the Austrian Cabinet for an hour and a half today, discussing hard facts and figures of the problem created by 140,000 Hungarian refugees. Nixon is seeking first-hand information to guide President Eisenhower and Congress in dealing with the aftermath of the Hungarian revolution. Although Nixon and members of his small party declined to discuss the meeting with the Austrian leaders, authoritative sources have disclosed that the Australian government will have spent more than seven million dollars caring for refugees by Jan. 1. This does not include spending by provincial and local governments or private donations. The Austrians hope the United States will help pay the bill, as well as take more of the refugees off their hands. As Nixon started the second day of his study, newly arrived refugees reported they had experienced "great difficulties" in reaching the border area. Only 688 Hungarians crossed into Austria during the night, compared with 1,000 or more nightly earlier this week. The refugees said that strict checks were being made on Hungarian trains and that most of those who sought to quit the country had to hitchhike or walk to the border. The Hungarian government of Soviet-supported Premier Janos Kadar announced yesterday that entry into the frontier zone would be limited to persons with special identity cards. Nixon hurried from his meeting with government officials to makeshift home for 424 refugees in a four-story Vienna schoolhouse. After shaking hands all around and chatting with many of the refugees, he visited Interior Minister Oskar Helmer, recuperating from a minor operation in a hospital; watched U. S. immigration officers interview a Hungarian family preparing to go to the United States; and visited the office of the International Committee for European Migration where refugees are processed and assigned to planes and trains for transportation to the United States and other countries. Nixon was to leave for Salzburg tonight for a look at refugee camps in that area and then proceed to Munich tomorrow. There he will visit the "Safe Haven" operations base from which the U. S. Air Force is flying refugees to the United States. The vice president is expected to start his own flight back to the United States Sunday morning.

ONLY 2 GIFTS TO HUNGARIANS

Only two additional gifts were received today for the community fund which goes to help relieve the hardships that Hungarian refugees are suffering. The community has been asked to raise $832 as its allotment on a national basis, to date has contributed only $442. Sponsors are hoping that Big Spring can fulfill its obligation in this world humanitarian cause by the end of the year. Assistance is solicited. Just make a check to the RED CROSS, and send it to The Herald for acknowledgment. About 2,500 persons attended the two meetings. The crowds were instructed how to conduct themselves in riding integrated buses. But King emphasized that "no matter how much instruction is given, this is an area in which you will have to make the decision." Soft cries of "Yes, Lord" greeted his recommendation to pray for success. The Rev. S. S. Seay urged one of the crowds to be sure to ride buses today. "If you've been riding with your neighbor, thank him and get on the bus," he said. The boycott began Dec. 5, 1955, in protest against the firing of a Negro seaman for refusing to move to the rear of a bus. Montgomery's population of about 120,000 includes about 50,000 Negroes.

Mild Weather Seen For State

By The Associated Press
Drizzle and fog covered parts of Texas Friday on the first day of winter, but the Weather Bureau promised mild weather for most of the state. Fog cut visibility to one-eighth mile at College Station and heavy fog was reported at Corpus Christi and Austin. A light rain and drizzle fell on Corpus Christi. Skies were clear over West Texas, partly cloudy in the central section of the state and cloudy in the east portions. A thundershower drenched the drought stricken area around Kennedy in South Texas early Friday. More than 1 1/2 inches of rain fell. Other rainfall reported to the U. S. Weather Bureau in the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a. m. Friday included 1.8 of an inch at Cotulla, .01 at Laredo and a trace at Corpus Christi, Lufkin, Palacios and Gainesville.

Four Hospitalized Following Collision

Four persons were hospitalized with painful injuries, one other was less seriously hurt and four young children escaped without injury in the collision of two automobiles on the Lamesa Highway nine miles north of Big Spring Thursday afternoon. In Big Spring Hospital, undergoing extensive X-ray examination today are Hardy Morgan, 86, prominent Dawson County resident; Manuel Lopez, 27; and Tom Schuman, 27, all residents of Lamesa. Treated for cuts on the head and dismissed from the hospital was Manuel Lopez Jr., 6. Uninjured in the accident were Arterio Lopez, 4; Ruben Lopez, 4; Roberta Lopez, 1 1/2 months old and Geneva Lopez, 3. Ben Walker, State Highway patrolman, investigated the accident. He said that from what he could discover both cars were traveling toward Big Spring. The car in which the Spanish-Americans were riding was following that of Morgan. The second car rammed into the rear end of the Morgan auto-

Refugees Learn Most Basic Word

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—It didn't take six Hungarian refugees long to learn a basic word in their new vocabulary after they arrived in this East Texas town yesterday. A newsman had their interpreter, Dr. George Kehler of Kilgore Junior College, teach them what he considered the most important word they would need to know. They were soon able to say "Texas" perfectly.

Fatal Odds Grow As Speed Mounts

Three will get you eight that you're a corpse if you collide at high speeds on hurrying home for Christmas.

While you multiply your speed three times as between 20 and 60 miles per hour, you increase your chances of being killed (if you collide) by eight fold.

Hence, the Citizens' Traffic Commission warns that speed could be the one factor that would prevent many Americans from reaching home or other destinations.

In fact, the National Safety Commission predicts that 660 persons will die in traffic accidents during the holiday season beginning tonight at 6 p. m. and ending Tuesday night at midnight.

Speed was a large factor last year in the 600 Christmas traffic deaths, the CTC said. Driving too fast for conditions or in excess of the speed limit was a factor in 85 per cent of the fatal accidents, compared with an annual average of 35 per cent.

MORE VULNERABLE
At high speeds, the human body becomes increasingly vulnerable, the CTC added. James Eubanks, CTC executive secretary, reported that if an accident occurs at 60 miles an hour or more the victim is eight times more likely to die than if he had been injured in an accident at 20 mph.

To determine a safe speed, Eubanks said drivers must take into consideration five items:

1. Weather and visibility. Fog, rain, snow, bright sunlight, or darkness are caution signs that should be heeded.

2. Mechanical factors. Engine power, ability to hold the road, and efficiency of all mechanical parts have a definite bearing on selection of a safe speed.

3. Physical factors. Whether a road is rough, smooth, hilly, flat curving, or straight are considerations that should influence speed.

4. Personal factors. The driver's physical and mental condition and the speed at which he can safely control his car are important factors.

5. Traffic conditions. Drivers should adapt their speed to the traffic they meet. A safe speed on a country road can be unsafe on a city street.

"It sounds trite, but that extra few minutes lost by slowing down slightly might mean the difference in a happy and a tragic holiday," Eubanks added.

Examining A Witness

Sen. Olin Johnson (D-SC) makes a closer examination than usual of a witness before a Senate committee hearing in Washington. He's looking into Lajos Ruff's mouth to see for himself that Ruff, a Hungarian refugee, has two teeth missing. Ruff told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, with Johnson presiding, that while he was held a captive by Communists one of his captors threw a metal ashtray at him, knocking out the teeth. Ruff also told of Communists burning his hands.

It's A Big Tree That Grows In America

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff

It is a tree of matchless splendor, wreathed in garlands of love and devotion.

Bright Christmas colors gleam in the branches, symbols of warmth and compassion, courage and hope. That silver bell is a child's laugh, the holly a kindly act. The shimmering ornaments were put there by happiness, and the candles speak of faith.

Where is this tree?

It is everywhere in America today.

Who brings these precious gifts? Uncounted numbers of people, known and unknown, of many faiths and races, from every station in life.

One was a man in Philadelphia, a delicatessen owner. He bought a big tree, set it up outdoors, decorated and lighted it, and put a sign on it.

"This tree is for all people who are homeless or who have no Christmas tree of their own."

And one was Judge John J. Walsh in Utica, N.Y., who was about to jail a chronic alcoholic when the prisoner showed him a letter from his daughter. It said she thought the man was dead.

The judge, withholding sentence, gave him some money and said: "Merry Christmas and God bless you. I hope you get to her."

Surely a bright strand was placed on the tree this week by Dr. Laurence Jones, 72-year-old Negro educator. He is president of the Piney Woods School in Mississippi where 500 underprivileged youngsters work their way from grammar school to college.

He came to Camp Kilmer, N.J., bringing Christmas trees and 10 bushels of pecans grown by his students, to the Hungarian child refugees there.

"We have very little at Piney Woods to share with you," he said, "but my students are deeply grateful to America. We know it will be equally good to you."

And surely a television program in the Veterans Administration Hospital in San Fernando, Calif., will throw a bright gleam on the tree.

There, on Christmas Day, veterans suffering from tuberculosis will talk to their families over a closed-circuit TV hookup. It has been years since some of the men saw their children. Those under 15 are not admitted to the tuberculosis wards.

A group of volunteers in California raised the money and arranged for the program.

Who knows how many Americans connected with the armed forces have helped trim the big tree? Even a partial list runs long.

In New York, Jewish War Veterans are sending 50 hospitalized servicemen to their homes in 13 states for Christmas, giving them roundtrip tickets and pocket money. Jewish USO volunteers are taking over from their Christian coworkers in veterans hospitals.

Convict Painter Of Smiling Christ Dying Of Cancer

SANTA FE, N.M. — Ralph Dubose Pekor, the life term convict famed for his painting of a smiling Christ, today was given a conditional release from State Prison because he is dying from cancer.

Gov. John F. Simms signed the documents for Pekor's release today.

Pekor is serving life as a habitual criminal.

Pekor, 54, was returned to prison here last June after being picked up at Chattanooga, Tenn., on a new charge. He had dropped out of sight as far as New Mexico was concerned after having been released from prison in October 1955 in Florida. That state had refused to honor New Mexico extradition requests, officials there expressing belief that he had been rehabilitated.

It was while he was serving time in Florida prison that he became known as the convict artist who painted the smiling Christ. The prison received thousands of requests for copies of the painting.

Ike Sets Greetings For Staff Members

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, who wished a "truly merry Christmas to everyone . . . throughout the world" last night, arranged to extend more personal greetings today to White House staff members.

In keeping with an annual custom, he and Mrs. Eisenhower planned to greet some 600 employees and staff members in the East Room of the White House.

In previous years, they have presented each one with a reproduction of a painting done by Eisenhower.

The President's merry Christmas wish, in which he said Mrs. Eisenhower shared, was extended at the annual tree-lighting ceremony "to everyone here, in the nation, and throughout the world."

His brief talk was carried to the nation by radio and television and beamed around the world by the Voice of America.

About 7,500 persons, some of them notables and many of them children, were on hand as the President said that "we see the vision of a better world." In the light of Christmas, he said, the "dark curtains of the world are drawn aside."

He said the American people are rallying in true Christmas spirit to meet the needs of the people in revolt-torn Hungary, and he continued:

"Even more important, there are particularly manifested during this season those spiritual qualities of freedom and honor and neighborliness and good will — great virtues that make all peoples one."

Salvation Army's Fund Said Lower

DALLAS — Lt. Col. John A. Morrison, state commander of the Salvation Army, said yesterday contributions to its Christmas Fund this year are down about 10 per cent while requests for assistance are about eight per cent higher than a year ago.

Morrison said the Salvation Army helped more than 92,000 of the less fortunate Texans through its Christmas Fund last year.

Uncle Ray:
Some English Children
Hang Up Pillow Cases

The Christmas pudding which is served at most tables in England may contain little surprises. Usually these are in the form of tiny bells, thimbles and silver coins. Those who eat the pudding must be careful to bite gently, or else there may be damage to a tooth.

Q. Do the people in England have Christmas trees?

A. Most of them do. They are evergreen trees, small or large, and are decorated with care. A young Englishwoman recently replied to a question by saying: "About a week before the 25th of December, we decorate our homes with paper chains, mistletoe and holly. The Christmas tree has fairy lights (colored lights which flash on and off) and always on the top is a bright star or the image of a fairy."

Quaint picture of "kissing under the mistletoe" 350 years ago.

Q. Is the custom of giving Christmas presents popular in England?

A. Very popular! It is the general custom for stockings to be hung on Christmas Eve. Sometimes a child hangs up a pillow case instead of a stocking. Dolls remain common as presents for English girls, and a dollhouse may be given. Boys often receive mechanical and electrical toys, including toy automobiles and electric trains.

Egg Grading Bill Praised

WACO (U)—Gene Leach, a legislative representative of the Texas Farm Bureau, said yesterday that Texas housewives can expect to benefit from a proposed egg grading and labeling law if it is approved by the next Legislature.

Leach said that Texas is the only state that does not have an egg grading and labeling law. He made the remarks at a meeting of poultry representatives, Farm Bureau officials and Texas A&M College specialists who met to work out final details of a proposed bill.

Because Texas does not have a law, Leach said, "Texas has become a dumping ground for low quality, culled eggs from other states."

He said that the proposed law would establish a set of standards. "Housewives will know by the label whether or not they are buying a high quality egg."

Small children are told that Santa Claus or Father Christmas brings their gifts. Father Christmas was the name used in England for the gift-giver during the past century, but Santa Claus has gained popular favor, especially during the past 30 years.

Q. What about Christmas in Scotland?

A. The old Scottish custom is to make New Year's Day the chief holiday of the Yuletide with football games (soccer or Rugby) on the first day of the New Year.

In recent years, the Scots have been adorning more and more Christmas trees, and have increased the number of presents given on Christmas Day.

UNTO US A CHILD IS BORN

Small Town, Parental Love Helped Mould Young Jesus

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of eight studies of the birth and times of Christ. It deals with the Holy Family, and the growing up of the boy Jesus.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Newfeatures Writer

A child is an enigma. He is a private place, like a never-traveled road whose course ahead is unknown.

Into the household of Mary and Joseph came such a charge—a robust, little Son—to open the sealed pages of a life.

Its beginning was marked by striking omens.

But Mary and Joseph were unassuming country folk, and in that manner, they reared the Boy, giving a plain, small-town upbringing to the Youngster who later would be called.

The Light of the world... The Bread of Life... The Alpha and the Omega... The Beginning and the End... That Which is and was, Which was and is to Come.

He did not have a select—or even safe—introduction to this earthly existence. He first drew breath in a crib of hay. Herod wanted Him killed. But He had the staunch, undaunted care of Mary and Joseph.

They nurtured Him in affection, courage against danger, discipline and hard manual work.

It was an amazing thing at His birth when the shepherds came with their breath-taking account of a heavenly celebration. Almost overwhelming, Mary didn't even speak of it afterward, but pondered it in her heart.

Certainly, it didn't ease their responsibilities.

They lacked means to give the Child any social advantages. Joseph was a worker with wood. And laboring men earned only about a drachma (20 cents) a day. But they gave full devotion to the Lad of Whom it would be said:

"In Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge."

He grew up in a tiny village, Nazareth, with its dirt streets and mud-brick houses, where ox-drawn carts lumbered into town with melons and lentils, where herds of goats grazed on the hillsides.

The circumcision of the Child at eight days old denoted, in Jewish law, the putting off of fleshly sin. He shared the ordinary obedience of others.

"He... Who did no sin... made Himself of no reputation and took upon Him the form of a servant... He humbled Himself and became obedient unto death..."

There were simple joys, and good air and soil in the Child's home village. Youngsters played in the fields of fox-gear wheat and romped in the orchards, while their mothers shook down olives with wands.

When they took the Boy to

STORY OF THE BIRTH
A personality study by Guy Rowe

Jerusalem to dedicate Him to the Lord at 40 days old, they had only the sacrifice of the poor to give, and Joseph paid the five-shekel temple tax for a first-born—$3.60—to redeem Him Who would be called:

"The Lord of Glory... the only Begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth... In Whom also we have obtained an inheritance..."

But there remained the workaday duties of providing for Him, the hours at the loom and millstone, the leeks, mustard, citrons and pears to gather and preserve, the water to be carried from the one well in Nazareth.

The family settled in this sleepy town to stay when the Child was about 1. He had been several months old when the Eastern wise men came with their gifts and homage to Bethlehem. Afterward, came the brief stay in Egypt to avoid the knives of Herod's soldiers. Now, Herod was dead.

The Child grew and waxed strong. He was a perceptive Boy. His keen interests sometimes puzzling Mary and Joseph, but He was likable, and found favor with people, long before it was said that through this Boy:

"God... made known unto us the mystery of His will..."

The Boy was nourished in scripture. The young of all devout families were taken regularly to the synagogue for "hearing of the law." They memorized the words, studied with them inscribed on leather bands about their head and arms.

The Boy also learned carpentry, like Joseph. It was a trade of sweat and calluses, of the shearing rhythm of the adz, the fine eye of measuring line and rod, the stroke of saw and bit-hammer, the cut of wedge and chisel.

There was abundant fishing in the lake of Galilee, an hour's walk away, and the Boy was free to grow in the clear outdoors, to stroll the vineyards and groves of cedar, to learn to make a burro's pack, this Lad of Whom it would be said:

"He was in the world and the world was made by Him... In Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily..."

Not until He was 12 did He accompany His family on the yearly trip to Jerusalem for the Passover feast, and there He saw the great temple. More than 5,000 priests served it in bimonthly rotation.

There, in the city, was the turmoil of cluttered cultures, the traffic in slaves, with their felt caps and aprons, the Roman soldiers in laced boots, the beggars and outcast sick, the chariot races, the pipers to snakes, the shaven men and ornamented togas.

Starting back to Nazareth, Joseph and Mary missed the Boy. For three harassed days they searched, finally finding Him in the temple in a discussion with scholars, staggering them with His deft questions.

"Never spake a man like this man," many would say of Him later.

But then, His worried mother had rushed to Him, "Son, why hast Thou thus dealt with us? Thy father and I sought Thee sorrowing."

He said: "Knew ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"

It perplexed them. They could not fathom His meaning. But He was an obedient Boy, and returned home.

So the Boy was molded into Manhood in the wide spaces of Galilee, there in those calm, fertile valleys, 600 feet below sea level, with the feeding flocks, the wild gazelle on a distant hill and the lilies on the marsh.

This was the stage from which stepped forth this observant, sturdy Youth of Whom these words resound:

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son so that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Dallas Judge Once Target Of Bar Criticism

NEW YORK (AP)—The conduct of Judge William Hawley Atwell, who ruled Wednesday against integration of whites and Negroes in Dallas public schools "at the present time," was criticized 27 years ago by the Brooklyn Bar Assn.

It accused him of having made "improper and intolerant" statements to F. R. Serri, an attorney before his bench.

Serri charged separately that Atwell had shown racial prejudice. Atwell served as a "guest judge" here each summer in the late 1920s and early 1930s.

A woman defended by Serri was convicted by Atwell of having sold liquor. There was testimony she had served whites and Negroes in her place.

Then Atwell turned to the defendant's daughter and said:

"White folks and colored folks cannot live together. You should go somewhere else to live among different people. Get your inspiration from American girls who are what American girls ought to be."

Serri had asserted during the trial that he knew positively his client had not sold whisky to a prohibition agent. Atwell also told Serri:

"In my section of the country, had you made any such accusation against an officer of the law he would have smashed you before you got out of the courtroom, or if he had sufficient self-control to wait until he got outside he would have taken personal vengeance upon you regardless of consequences."

The Brooklyn Bar Assn. criticized Atwell "in unmeasured terms" as having subjected the Brooklyn attorney to "insults."

Court Annuls Contempt Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals today struck down the contempt of Congress conviction of author Harvey O'Connor, who refused to tell Senate investigators whether he was a "member of the Communist conspiracy."

O'Connor was asked the question before the Senate Investigations subcommittee when it was headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). The question which O'Connor refused to answer was "whether he was a member of the Communist conspiracy" when he wrote certain books which had been purchased by the State Department for distribution to U.S. information centers overseas.

In reversing the conviction, the court said the question asked of O'Connor was "so imprecise and ambiguous" that his refusal to answer was not a crime.

O'Connor, in refusing to answer, relied on the First Amendment which guarantees freedom of speech, press and assembly.

In Winnetka, Ill., O'Connor said in a statement that "I'm delighted that it is now possible for an American citizen to have contempt for Joe McCarthy without having to go to jail."

Menjou Lists Best Dressed

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Adolphe Menjou, a fairly standard fixture on lists of best dressed men, today came up with his own list.

Menjou, confining his selections to California, released this list of sartorial standouts:

Young Bride Is Reunited With Parents

DENVER (AP)—A pretty teen-ager whose freckled face and arms are swathed in bandages was reunited in her hospital room last night with the parents she last saw held at gunpoint and trussed by her wild-eyed husband and a companion.

The tearful meeting was the first between Mr. and Mrs. John Mowatt and their 17-year-old daughter since they saw her taken from their Daly City, Calif., home last Monday night.

Across the hall from young Mrs. Cleo Ann Wiegner in Denver General Hospital lay her husband, surly Mike Weigner, 16, a California mental hospital escapee.

Both in serious condition, they relayed vows of love to each other through detectives who sought to question them.

A wide search for Mrs. Wiegner ended before dawn yesterday when she and her husband were pulled from the wreckage of a stolen car in which Weigner tried to elude a Denver police cordon.

Wiegner's companion Jesse Eastman, 34, was arrested late yesterday in another stolen car by state patrolmen in suburban Brighton.

Both escaped from the Rapa, Calif., state hospital last Monday before taking the girl from her home 50 miles away and starting their stolen car jaunt over four states.

No charges have been filed here against either man. Webb W. Burke, FBI agent in charge, said he awaited a reply to a query to San Francisco concerning a "kidnapping angle." Burke said he would present a stolen car complaint to the U. S. attorney here.

In San Francisco, Wiegner and a "John Doe" are accused of assaulting the Mowatts with a deadly weapon, auto theft and burglary. A warrant also issued there charges Eastman with unlawful flight.

Questioned by detectives, Wiegner and Eastman, a Sioux Indian also known as Red Cloud, contended Mrs. Wiegner accompanied them voluntarily after they crept into her parents' home four days ago.

The girl's mother disputed this. "If someone put a gun at your head and said 'Come on,' you'd go."

Suffering from a possible skull fracture, broken ribs and a broken left arm, Mrs. Wiegner said flatly she accompanied her husband voluntarily "because I love him."

The harvest festival came to a close last Friday with the big harvest dance where Sherry Lutting was crowned Harvest Queen. Other candidates were Judy Foster, eighth grade, and Gail Potter, eighth grade, and each would have made a wonderful queen, too. Sherry was crowned by Mr. Thomas E. Ernest, our principal, and she was escorted by Jake Coleman. Judy was escorted by Carey King and Gail by Bill Pate.

There was also a harvest carnival where booths were set up to make money for the queen contest, and altogether they took in $115.80 which will be used by the student council for student activities.

Tuesday, special recognition was given to the most beautifully decorated rooms and doors. First place was won by Mrs. Roberta Wiley's room. Mrs. F. C. Gambill's room received second place. In the prettiest room decoration event, first place went to Miss Rayetta Walzel's room; second to Mrs. Margaret McMillin's room. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Bessie Dick's window decorations.

Since Christmas holidays are so near and many of the teachers and students will be enjoying the holidays with their relatives, we would like to tell of some of the places they will be. Mrs. Margaret McMillin will make a trip to Lubbock and to Wellington; Mr. Earnest will be with his sister and brother in Oklahoma City and then will attend the all-college basketball tournament in Dallas.

Students received a pleasant surprise when the choir marched up and down the halls singing Christmas carols Friday. The choir has been having early morning rehearsals to get ready for the Christmas assemblies held this morning and this afternoon.

Don't get alarmed if you smell something burning while walking down the corridors. The home-making class has been getting the Christmas spirit by baking candies, etc.

Lana Wren gave a Christmas party Thursday night in her home. Those attending the party were Gloria Coker, Betty Lou Jones, Carol Ann Phillips, Pat Johnson, Cecilia Grant, Iva Nell Cole.

Among those at a party given last Saturday in the home of Betty Boykin were Jane Guin, Tommy Rutledge, Gary Pickle, Ross Reagan, Freddie Bonfield, Joe Ewing, Bobby Bennett, Robert Carr, Jodell Hutchins, Jane Harrington, Jerry Dunlap, Jimmy Engle, Tommy Whitley, Buddy Newell, Gary Graham, Kerry Kesterson, Jo Ann Durham, Emmett Kent Morgan, Judy Foster, Carey King.

The eighth grade basketball boys played Monday, winning 21-20, when Robert Carr sank a free shot after the game had ended.

Thursday teachers received free coffee, cookies and Cokes in the teachers lounge at a social arranged by the social committee.

During the student council meeting Tuesday, it was that we suggested that the teachers instruct pupils about the etiquette of applauding during assembly programs. There seems to be some confusion as to when and how to applaud and to bring on an encore.

Our school closed down after classes this afternoon for the holidays, and I would like to say just one more thing — have fun but be careful!

Christmas Stocking Is Made Quickly Despite Busy Time

For extra-joyous cries of pleasure from youngsters on Christmas morn, decorate the mantelpiece with gay stockings of your own design and making. They're so easy to make, and fun, too, because of the many do-it-yourself decorating items on the market today. The simplicity trick is in the use of a new clear drying glue which can make any decoration stick perfectly to the Christmas stocking.

To make the extra-gay Christmas stocking, buy ready-made white, red or green felt stockings, or make your own, in a jiffy.

Here's how: Draw a simple stocking pattern on brown wrapping paper. For each stocking, use two thicknesses of felt, one on top of the other, and pin the pattern to them. Cut out the felt with pinkish shears. Stitch the two thicknesses together to make the stocking.

Then take the stocking and glue a two-inch piece of contrasting felt around the top. Glue a striped piping to the bottom edge of this for extra decor.

Draw your own simple design on felt of various colors. Such decorative designs as Christmas trees, snow men, candy canes, holly leaves, Santas, bells, and reindeer are easy to make. Use holly braid, ribbon, cord, tiny bells and Christmas tree ornaments for added decoration. Make each stocking sparkle with originality.

Reds Fighting Wide Iron Curtain Unrest

To Russia

Orest S. Makar, 47, former St. Louis University professor, has renounced his U. S. citizenship to work in Russia. Tass, the Soviet news agency reported.

7 People Die In 5 Air Crashes

Seven persons perished yesterday in five air crashes from California to Pennsylvania. A sixth plane carrying two men disappeared.

A U. S. Steel Corp. twin-engine plane exploded and smashed to bits on a bleak mountainside near Tyrone, Pa., killing a steel executive and two crewmen. U. S. Steel identified the executive as Alden Roach, 55, of San Francisco, president of the Columbia-Geneva Steel Division of U. S. Steel.

The corporation identified the dead crewmen as pilot Ray Rollo of Los Angeles and copilot L. T. Williams of Sunland, Calif. The plane had taken off at Greater Pittsburgh, Pa., Airport for Idlewild Airport, N. Y.

In San Francisco, Robert Walker, 27, of San Leandro, Calif., drowned when his helicopter turned upside down as it was making a turn and plunged into San Francisco Bay.

At Mays Landing, N. J., an F8U Crusader, one of the Navy's fastest new supersonic jet fighters, crashed within five minutes after takeoff from the Atlantic City Naval Air Station.

The Navy said the pilot, Lt. Robert D. Roth, 28, Linwood, N. J., perished in the crash.

In Monterey, Calif., Navy pilot Lt. (jg) William Otis Herring, of Santa Clara, Calif., was killed when his F9F Cougar jet plane crashed and exploded 20 miles east of the city.

In Orosco, Mich., Thomas Warren, 40, a used car dealer from Columbus, Ohio, was killed when his small plane crashed moments after he had taken off from the Orosco airport.

A T33 jet trainer disappeared somewhere between Shaw Air Force Base, S. C., and Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., causing a four-state search.

A Shaw Air Force spokesman identified the pilot as Lt. Cornelius D. VanVlymen, 25, Parma, Ohio, and the passenger as W. O. William L. Rae, 42, Los Altos, Calif.

WASHINGTON — Communist leaders in Russia and her satellites are described in reports collected here as fighting widespread Iron Curtain unrest with a combination of economic handouts and police state tyranny.

These reports, most of them published although some are unconfirmed, have been appearing ever since the October revolt in Hungary.

Mostly they are about student opposition to Communist doctrine and restrictions. Some tell of demonstrations and strikes by workers.

What they all add up to is a matter of speculation, American and other diplomats studying them with caution against laying too much emphasis on their meaning.

Perhaps, they say, cracks are showing up in the once-monolithic Soviet system. But they add that does not mean the Soviet system is collapsing from Moscow to East Germany.

Such reports presumably lie behind two statements this month by dissimilar figures.

1. Allen Dulles, chief of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, told a Princeton, N. J., audience Dec. 12 that "we have well-substantiated reports that the students are becoming restive" inside Russia.

2. India's Prime Minister Nehru said here Wednesday that education of the Soviet people is a big factor in curiosity and questioning which he said are causing a "fundamental" change and leading to eventual "liberalization and democratization" of the Soviet government.

The satellite regimes, apparently on cue from Moscow, attacked unrest by precautionary moves and concessions, according to the reports.

This was said to have brought tighter security, more patrols and arrests, stepped-up propaganda about "spies" and, in the case of restive Rumanian students, more homework to keep them out of mischief.

The concessions reported included improved pensions in all the satellites, price cuts in Albania and Czechoslovakia and wage increases in Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

In most cases of reports of unrest, the Communist papers provided a tipoff by publishing stories condemning the incidents. These reports, country-by-country, include:

Russia — Demands by students at Moscow University that a second political party be created. An outcry among political students at Moscow conservatory when a professor refused to discuss Soviet military intervention in Hungary. A walkout of 200 students from a Moscow lecture when the lecturer refused to discuss Soviet policy toward Hungary.

Romania — Arrests of students failed to explain mass absence from classes. Homework piled on students. A market place demonstration against the food shortages.

Poland — Demonstrations at a half-dozen cities. Banning of Polish newspapers for export to other satellite countries.

East Germany — A near riot of Dresden youths. Demonstrations by East Berlin and Leipzig students.

Bulgaria — Regime warned of "secret enemies" in the country, and of "dissident elements." Students refused to attend political classes.

Albania — Strikes and demonstrations in a number of places.

Lithuania — Signs demanding "Russians go home."

Czechoslovakia — Some panic buying reported at the end of October. Party leaders talked about "reactionaries and enemies" in the country.

Western officials recalled that in the three big satellite outbreaks — East Germany in mid-1953 and Poland and Hungary this year — patterns were similar. In each case, demonstrations permitted by the regime apparently to permit some letting off of steam got out of hand and jittery local police fired on the demonstrators.

Officials said they doubted the Communists would make the same mistake again. They said demonstrations probably would no longer be allowed.

Gay Yuletide Packages Make Happy Kids

Some of the 80 boys and girls who were guests of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club on Thursday at the club's annual Christmas party at the playground on West 5th Street, inspect their gift packages which they have just received from Santa Claus.

Early Christmas For 80 Youngsters As Kiwanis Club Stages Annual Party

Christmas came a few days early for some 80 boys and girls from local families Thursday.

Occasion was the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Big Spring Kiwanis club for the youngsters who make use of the playground on West Fifth street.

The Kiwanians and their young guests dined on ham sandwiches, cold soda and cookies. Santa Claus, replete in white beard and red suit, made his appearance. Gifts which had been bought by the Kiwanis members and addressed to the boys and girls were distributed.

Rev. Clyde Nichols was in charge of the program. He told the story of the first Christmas and the children and the club members sang Christmas carols.

Kiwanians have made it an annual custom to provide Christmas toys and gifts for the children who utilize the facilities of this particular playground.

Names of the children were carefully selected in advance and each Kiwanian was advised of the name, age, size and general character of the little guest he was to provide with presents.

Wives of the Kiwanis committee made the sandwiches which were served.

STAGE SCENES OF NATIVITY

The First Methodist Church started a series of Christmas Nativity scenes Thursday night that will continue through Christmas Eve.

The lighted scene will be presented on the lawn between the two buildings facing Scurry and will be in place from 8:30 until 9:30 each night.

A different class will be responsible for the scene each night. It will be a still scene and not a moving portrayal of the Christmas Story.

New Device To Track Satellite

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy Department announced yesterday selection of a high-speed electronic device designed to calculate and predict the orbit of the first man-made satellite.

The department said the computer, to be provided by the International Business Machine Corp., will be used to keep track of the satellite as it whirrs through space in an orbit 200 to 300 miles above the earth.

CRMWD Contracts Approved, Recreation Problems Studied

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District dealt with routine business and wrestled with recreational matters in a session here Thursday at the Howard House.

Contracts which will lead to improvements at Lake Thomas Lodge and at Lem's Place on the north side of the lake were approved on recommendation of the recreation committee. Directors discussed at length but delayed action on a request that riffs be permitted to anchor permanently further into Lake J. B. Thomas.

Commissions were set up for sale of all daily and annual recreation and boat launching permits.

The board authorized reception of bids and letting of contracts in January for laying of a pipeline and installation of booster pumps under the contract executed with Monsanto Chemical Company. The concern (of which Lion is a subsidiary) plans a parallel line to insure an ample supply of raw water to the SACROC repressing plant from which it takes treated water for repressing. It will shortly advance $159,000 to the district for the work.

E. V. Spence, general manager, reported on progress of efforts to secure authorization by the United States Geological Survey for mapping of areas in the proposed basin area of a projected lake in southern Mitchell County. This work has gained endorsement of the Governor's Mapping Committee and of the regional USGS office in Denver, said Spence. He said he hoped federal appropriations will be included this year for the work.

Two wells, with an aggregate potential of approximately 1,000 gallons per minute, have been completed in the well field, he said. Wells were being added as a safeguard for next summer before Odessa is able to receive lake water.

With George Thomas, Big Spring

attorney, as spokesmen, a delegation asked that permission be granted to anchor riffs permanently as far out as 700 or 800 feet from shore, or to a depth of 25 feet of water, whichever is the lesser.

In the group were H. M. Rainbolt and Jess Thornton, Big Spring, T. L. Carter, Charles Musselwhite, and Ray Emmons, Snyder, and Clyde Payne, Odessa. Directors spent nearly two hours debating the matter and in the end referred it back to the recreation committee for further study.

Contracts which would permit Ned Sanders to do $17,500 in basin improvements and be repaid out of his rental obligations, and which would permit the district to construct permanent facilities at the Lem Gresham place and amortize these through lease charges, were approved. H. W. Wright, who has repeatedly protested district operation in the recreational field, voted against the contracts.

Retrospective to Dec. 1, 1956, when new permits went on sale, all authorized sellers of daily permits will receive five cents commission on each daily and 25 cents commission on each annual permit.

The board approved transfers to the improvement and extension fund in 1957 to finance well developments; approved transfers from the net revenue fund to the various indebted funds; and the retirement of such bonds to longest maturities as surplus funds will permit.

Christmas Cards At Record Level

Christmas cards and letters mailed in the Big Spring post office this December stand an excellent chance to top the three-quarter million mark, a check of the cancellation records revealed Thursday.

To that date, 673,070 pieces of mail — preponderantly made up of greeting cards and yuletide letters — have been cancelled at the local post office. This represents an increase of 110,000 pieces of mail over the total for the same 19 days of December last year.

Peak of the Christmas mail rush has already passed at the post office and the astronomical number of cancellations which have been recorded daily for the past two weeks has already begun to drop sharply.

THREE QUARTER MILLION
E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that while the big rush has passed there will be thousands of letters dropped into the mail slots in the remaining days of the month. There is a good possibility the aggregate total for the month would reach 750,000 — an all time record month for the Big Spring post office.

The same record breaking total has been racked up for packages sent out of the local post office, the postmaster reported. Biggest single day was Dec. 17 when 435 pouches of packages — more than a mail car load — were dispatched from the office here.

If all the Christmas letters were sent first class, with three-cent stamps, the postage bill would run $20,192.10. It is quite possible the average postal cost will run 3 cents, it was said, since some of the mail went airmail rates and a heavy bulk of it was in the first class category. The airmail rating would tend to bring up the average to absorb the difference due to the letters and cards which were mailed with two cent stamps.

A Bible Thought For Today

Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him. (Acts 10:34-35)

Editorial

How Much Do We Really Care?

We place great store in our system of voluntary action under democracy and it is a virtue we never tire of advertising to the world. Well, it is a mighty fine and characteristic trait of Americans, and we do not believe that it is over-rated. However, at the moment it is on trial before the world. Believing as we do that the individual is the important thing, our agencies and our church groups have volunteered to lend a helping hand to the Hungarians who have been dispossessed by tyrannical masters who do not believe that the individual counts for anything. The Communist rulers have said in effect: "Submit, flee or die" for having dared to rise for freedom or to protest enslavement. We have said in effect, "We care; we will help."

sources are rapidly being depleted. The three major religious faiths of this nation are also carrying out their programs of aid within in human and financial limitations. But so fast, bold relief is needed. A minimum goal of $5,000,000 has been set up by the Red Cross, and it has not yet been subscribed. In Howard and Glasscock counties our quota of $850 has not been more than half subscribed. Our people responded well to appeals for serviceable used clothing, but getting those across the ocean and on to the backs of the oppressed is slow at best. But money can be put to work instantly. Last year when thousands were evacuated in the wake of New England floods, our citizens responded with $10 million in 10 days. So far we've raised only a little more than $1 million to help the Hungarians who probably can never go home. Do we really care?

Passing Of Two 'Institutions'

Many of the older generations, when they were young, cut their literary teeth on the American Magazine, Collier's or the Woman's Home Companion. When the Crowell-Collier Company decided last week to chloroform the latter two, as it had done some months ago with the American, a lot of people felt more than a few nostalgic twinges. It isn't often that long-standing publications like this trio, with millions of circulation on the books, can find no other answer than extinction as a way out of their financial difficulties. But so it was. Collier's in particular had experienced several years of difficulties, had undergone several shakeups in its editorial staff and management, had changed its format and varied its contents, yet the rising cost of printing and production eventually brought them all down. At one time Collier's was a great, crusading magazine whose influence was felt in many ways, and the other two had a large and faithful following. But the time came when circulation and advertising could not absorb the rising production costs. This is a malady suffered by many newspapers in the daily field as well as the weekly, and many have hit the wall in the last several years. While bigness is no assurance of good management, the demise of major publications because no way can be found to make income equal costs is disconcerting — not because it is in the publishing field but because it might be symptomatic of others. It is still possible to be priced out of a market.

No Disarmament Deals With Moscow

WASHINGTON — The United States does not intend to take chances with the Soviet Union. There will be no withdrawal of troops from Europe or weakening of allied armed strength. There will be no "negotiating" with the potential enemies of mankind for any kind of an "agreement" or disarmament plan which puts the people of the United States or its Allies at the mercy of attack by the Communist forces. These points are merely common sense, but so often rumors and reports are circulated and given emphasis in news dispatches or articles here and abroad that it becomes necessary for the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, to reiterate specifically the nature of America's plans with respect to the maintenance of effective armament to keep the peace. While Mr. Dulles was attending the meetings in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Council, various reports were current in Washington and elsewhere giving the impression that some sort of "deal" was being cooked up by America with Moscow. In fact, from London came dispatches saying: British members of Parliament and other "spokesmen" were worried about these reported plans for "disarmament" which, it was being said, were about to be conveyed to the Soviet government.

Mr. Dulles cannot carry on conferences abroad and explain to the press at the same time every detail of his discussions. But when he gets back here, he usually calls a press conference and talks frankly and in detail. The press conference he held this week was a model of clarity and comprehensiveness. Not since the days when the late Charles Evans Hughes was Secretary of State, and day in and day out gave the press a clear-cut summary of what he was doing in foreign negotiations, has there been such a masterful presentation as Mr. Dulles gave the newsmen on Tuesday. The Secretary of State is able to deal so effectively with these complicated subjects primarily because he knows them thoroughly. He has had a larger experience with the various fine points of international relations than any other man in public life today. Mr. Dulles, in his latest analysis, has upset a number of fancy theories as to what American policy is supposed to have been or ought to be. He has knocked in the head the idea that the United States is ready to negotiate for the withdrawal of allied troops from West Germany and Europe generally if the Soviets would agree to withdraw their troops from the satellite states. The basic fact to be borne in mind is that there is a closely knit alliance, known as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and that practical, alert-minded, vigilant military men are back of it. They are not naive persons who accept disarmament the moment somebody in Moscow applauds the idea and writes a note about it. What sometimes confuses the picture is the talk about reducing troops in certain areas due to budget problems. Undoubtedly some ground forces are being reduced by the Allies, but not because of any new trust in Moscow's intentions. It is rather because the new guided missiles and atomic weapons make it possible to secure an even greater defense against attack with fewer troops than before.

The Top Ten Stories

NEW YORK — Business this year has managed to grab a sizeable share of front-page space. While the dying year could still spawn the top story in some one of the world's trouble spots, here—just one man's opinion—are the candidates for the best business stories of 1956:

1. Inflation and tight money—two sides of the same problem. The rise in the cost of living after a few years of stability jolted many consumers. The rise in the cost of doing business hit manufacturers and merchants even harder.
2. The Eisenhower story. His decision to run, early in the spring, and his illness early in the summer were reflected quickly in the stock market and his re-election in November along with about the same Congress bolstered the confidence of many businessmen in continuing good times.
3. The Suez Canal. At first the shock of coming so close to the brink of war rocked the stock and commodity markets. Later the launching of a plan for the United States to make up much of Europe's lost oil supplies boomed a number of industries, notably petroleum, steel and shipping.
4. The stock market. Its backing and filling over the year puzzled traders and public and made some way of the future.
5. The steel strike. Its effect on all but closely allied industries was largely in its backlash—a wage and price increase that whipped up inflationary trends and set an example for other management and labor groups.
6. The Detroit story. Layoffs in the spring and summer and revival of auto production and sales in the fall affected the general economy and were credited with shaping public as well as business psychology.
7. Business spending on capital goods. Record outlays—and, even more, record plans for building additional plants and buying equipment—bolstered good times.
8. The change in consumer spending habits. Fewer cars, tractors, appliances; more apparel, food, medical care, entertainment and recreation.
9. Leveling off of profits. The big increase month after month in business profits ground to a halt under rising wage and material costs for many companies. But the total of dividend payments held well above last year to set a record.
10. Farm income. The mild bounce back from the post-Korean lows was due partly to government spending on support schemes but also to better prices on many farm products. The farmer's take is still well below the Korean high point.

Nehru Learns The Hard Way

WASHINGTON — India's Prime Minister Nehru is an intellectual but, nevertheless, there are some things he has to learn the hard way and it seems to take him a long time. His visit to the United States and his talks with President Eisenhower may have persuaded him at last that American foreign policy is neither rigid nor aggressive and that the U. S. government's intentions are good. If that has been the effect on Nehru—and he has given some indication it may be—the results will have to show up later. Neither he nor Eisenhower has revealed what they talked about. It may seem strange to think that Nehru would have to talk to Eisenhower to develop a better feeling toward the United States, especially after he had dealt first-hand for years with fine American ambassadors, Chester Bowles and John Sherman Cooper, both men of good will. But the record shows it took Nehru a long time to learn the facts of Indian life. He had led a sheltered life until he was 16 his wealthy father hired tutors for him. Then he was sent to Harrow and Cambridge in England. He stayed there until he was 23. While there he became conscious of world affairs and made up his mind India should win its independence from Britain. But he was 31 before he made his first visit to an Indian village. When he saw what life was really like among his people, he had a practical and earnest reason for wanting independence and fighting for it. Still, it was not until he was 36 and made a second visit to Europe that he realized that independence without a social, political and economic program was an invitation to chaos. He returned from that trip a convinced Socialist. It is Nehru who, when India won independence, took the country down the road to socialism which it is following now. It wasn't until he was about 37 that he became conscious of labor unions and saw a need for them in India's developing industry. All that may seem pretty slow on the uptake for an intellectual.

The Memory Millionaires

MIAMI, Fla. — Leaves from a sunburned notebook: Florida today is one of the states enjoying a boomlet on top of the general American boom. It is growing so fast they may soon have to pave the Everglades and turn them into a parking lot. You can always tell when times are good here where every other resident seems to be in the real estate business, at least on a part-time basis. However, they seem to go through the tortures of the damned when they do finally part with a parcel of property they have held for any length of time. As one man put it: "You hate to let go of something when you feel that if you just hold it for another 5 or 10 years you will get maybe triple the present price." Tourists are now streaming in at the rate of 10,000 a day, and various sources estimate that between 3,000 and 4,000 new families are settling permanently in the state each month. The phrase you hear most often is "If I only had..." It expresses someone's regret over being asleep when opportunity hammered on the door like thunder, then passed on, perhaps never to return. This is the usual version: "I came here 20 years ago and wasteland in the Florida Keys was selling for two bits an acre. If I'd only had $5,000 then and bought up some of that acreage, I'd be worth better than a million bucks today." Florida is full of millionaires, some retired, many still active. But for every real millionaire, it has a dozen "memory millionaires," the men who mourn "if I only had..." Many of them court opportunity now by buying a $2 ticket on the daily double at the racetracks where, if they'd been right smart 20 years ago, they'd now be running their own horses.

Yuletide Candle-Lighting Services Set For Sunday

The fourth annual Christmas candle-lighting service will be held at the First Methodist Church Sunday evening. A large candle is in place on the altar and will be lighted by college students at the beginning of the service.

This candle burns throughout the week until the following Sunday. Sunday evening, ushers will light smaller candles from the altar candle and start them down individual pews where the entire congregation will in turn light candles. At the conclusion of lighting all the candles, the congregation will leave the church and gather around the manger scene at the front of the church. Here they will sing Christmas carols.

Other churches participating in candlelighting services include the First Presbyterian Church, Webb AFB Chapel, and St. Paul Lutheran Church.

This Isn't The Arctic Circle

CHICAGO — Winter arrives at 4 p.m. EST today and the weatherman has compiled some facts to set people straight about the day. For example, you're wrong if you think the sun rises later and sets earlier in the United States today than on any other day of the year.

That happens only at the Arctic Circle. The time of sunrise and sunset varies with the latitude.

For cities stretching in a belt from New York westward through Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Denver and Portland, Ore., the earliest sunset occurs about Dec. 8 and the latest sunrise about Jan. 4. In Miami, Fla., the earliest sunset occurs about Dec. 1 and the latest sunrise about Jan. 12.

However, when both sunrise and sunset are taken into account the least amount of daylight does occur about Dec. 21. But the least amount of daylight doesn't mean that a seasonal warmup is ahead. For the central United States, the average coldest weather doesn't come until late January.

It seems that the amount of heat lost through radiation at night stays ahead of the amount of heat received from the sun in the daytime until a balance is attained by the longer days in late January. So keep the overcoat handy.

Son Pleads For Mother's Return

LONGVIEW — Mrs. Idell Frances Crouch, 39, missing since Oct. 27 from her home here, is being sought by law officers, Sheriff Noble Crawford said yesterday.

He said her son, Ronald, 12, is dependent about her disappearance and wants her home for Christmas.

Mrs. Crouch has been disturbed for several years since the death of her father, and has been under care of doctors, the sheriff said.

The Word Became Flesh

JOHN THE BAPTIST FORETELLS THE COMING OF JESUS CHRIST, THE SAVIOR.

Scripture—John 1:1-18; Luke 2:1-20.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE FIRST part of today's lesson may not be made quite clear to the younger members of a Sunday school, but the older ones may be led to see that John the Baptist came to prophesy the coming of Christ, and to explain Him as the bringer of light to the world, and to discuss the words of St. John the Apostle.

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

"The same was in the beginning with God."

"All things were made by Him; and without Him was not anything made that was made."

"In Him was life; and the life was the light of men, and the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not."

"There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through Him might believe."

John the Baptist was not the place where prophets had foretold that the Messiah would be born, lived a carpenter by the name of Joseph whose wife was Mary.

The two made the toilsome journey to the "city of David," the line from which Joseph came, to pay their tax. The inn was full, and the only place they could find to spend the night was a stable, a crude place. There, in that humble place, Mary gave birth to a beautiful Baby Boy, and "she wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger."

Now there were shepherds in fields that night keeping watch over their sheep. Suddenly a great light shone upon them, coming from heaven, and it frightened them. "And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them."

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

MEMORY VERSE

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."—Luke 2:11.

Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light—Jesus, who was the true Light, "which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. He was in the world, and the world was made by Him, and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own, and His own received Him not."

There is enough material in those words of St. John's to give material for questions and discussion with the older young people, and for the teacher.

The lovely Christmas story of the birth of Christ, is always one of the joys of the season. St. Luke is the only one who tells of the annunciation. Mary's visit after it to her cousin Elizabeth, mother of John the Baptist, and the circumstances of John's birth, childhood and emergence from the wilderness to proclaim the coming of Christ.

Caesar Augustus, the Roman emperor, declared a tax to be collected in the city of one's lineage. Now at the town of Nazareth, 90 miles north of Bethlehem, the

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord." They would know the Babe because they would find Him wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger. Then a heavenly host was with the angel praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men."

Isn't it sad that after all these centuries since our Lord was on earth, there should still be no peace? That man is still warring on man, and the whole world, so much larger than the one known in Jesus' time, should still be in a state of turmoil and suffering? When the angels went away, the shepherds left their flocks and went to Bethlehem, where they found the Heavenly Babe, and knelt in worship. Then they told everyone they met about the wonders they had witnessed, and all wondered. The shepherds returned to their flocks, glorifying and praising God for all the things they had heard and seen."

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

Boy—I can hardly wait!
I've got my stocking hung by the chimney with plenty of care, and Christmas morning it'll be bursting full of all sorts of good things. There'll be a candy cane sticking out of the top . . . there always is . . . and a walnut stuffed way down in the tip of the toe.

And then . . . the tree! I don't think there's a prettier sight on earth than a Christmas tree. And all those presents underneath it, wrapped up in bright colors and tied with ribbons.

Then Mom and Dad and my sister Ellen and I will get dressed, and we'll go to Church. That's one of the best parts of Christmas. For Mom and Dad always say that Christmas is the celebration of Christ's birthday. I love the music in our Church at Christmas—"Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and all the other carols. When I hear them, I feel all filled up with joy, and I know why our minister says that Christmas is the happiest day of the whole year.

Boy—I can hardly wait! And I just hope that your Christmas is going to be as merry as ours!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reach Troop Accord

Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, left, chats with smiling Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov of Russia in Warsaw after they signed a new agreement governing operations of Soviet troops in Poland. The pact stipulates that Russian troops are in Poland "temporarily" and will not interfere in Poland's domestic affairs.

More Reports Due On Dallas Race Problem

DALLAS (AP)—Two more reports on the problems of integration in Dallas schools will be released next spring, School Supt. W. T. White said yesterday.

He said the reports are part of a 12-point study ordered by the school board in 1955. Six of the reports have been issued.

White said the studies will probably be on the "over-all impact on the individual pupil" and the "social life of the children within the school" in an integrated system.

He said the two problems have been studied very carefully because the over-all impact of the pupils in school "is a most critical problem because there the child becomes an individual person."

White said the second report will study the school integration problem from the recreational standpoint and from a "broader concept of the social relationship—understanding, fellowship and good will."

The 12-point study was an issue in the suit brought by the parents of 19 Negro children to gain admission of their children to all white schools in Dallas.

The suit was dismissed Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judge William H. Atwell who said he wanted to give the school district ample time to work out its integration problem.

C. B. Bunkley Jr., attorney for the parents, said the decision would be appealed.

School Superintendent White said "The court recognized the seriousness of the purpose which has motivated the board of education and the school administrative staff."

"We shall find ways to put into effect decrees of the Supreme Court, as well as any decrees that may follow, to maintain a good climate for school work."

Members of the Beaumont Citizens Council sent a telegram to Judge Atwell commending him for his decision in the case.

The message, sent last night, said: "Words of a telegram cannot express the honor and esteem we wish to offer on your ruling in the Dallas integration case. We thank God that a gentleman and a jurist of your stature may still be found on a federal bench."

Nixon Belies Refugee Fears That They Are Being Forgotten

By CARL HARTMAN

VIENNA (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's visit to Austria is boosting the morale of Hungarian refugees afraid they are about to be forgotten.

Austria and the refugees have watched with concern as the flow of Hungarians to asylums elsewhere in the free world has slowed leaving in this little country more than 70,000 of the 150,000 who have entered since the anti-Soviet Hungarian revolt flared.

Most Western countries have halted their refugee immigration programs for the present as their original quotas were filled. A leading Austrian refugee official said there is growing uneasiness among the Hungarians over their future and a hope that Nixon's visit will be followed by substantial changes in American immigration policies.

Many Hungarians, the official added are glad to put up with difficult camp conditions for a short period if they know they will leave soon. But some of the camps have taken on a semipermanent character, leading to low morale.

"The Nixon visit has given the refugees here renewed hope and confidence that the United States takes a very definite interest in their fate and that their hazardous flight to liberty was not in vain."

Nixon promised Austrian officials at a state banquet last night that the United States would help as much as possible to relieve them of their disproportionate share of the refugee burden.

This was in the spirit of letters he delivered from President Eisenhower to Austrian President Theodor Koerner and Chancellor Julius Raab declaring that aid by the United States and other countries thus far proves the "ardent desire of the family of free nations to do all they can to help in meeting this problem."

Nixon praised Austria for "giving the refugees something money cannot buy—love, understanding and help, which are so important to them."

Responding, Raab said his government still does not know the scope of the help it will need, since the refugees are still pouring in.

Acting under emergency legislation, Eisenhofer has directed that 21,500 Hungarians be admitted to the United States by the end of this year. But Nixon has made it clear that neither he nor the President considers this adequate.

The vice president's schedule today included talks with Austrian officials to learn from them details of the strain the unexpected human flood has put on Austria's economy.

Nixon has been careful not to specify what the United States will do, either in taking additional refugees or in giving financial aid to Austria. That will be up to Eisenhower and the incoming Congress.

Nixon has discussed the refugee problem with a wide variety of people, from 83-year-old Austrian President Theodor Koerner to the homeless Hungarians themselves.

To the astonishment of the Hungarians, the vice president circulates freely in their midst to shake hands, chat, and speak the Hungarian phrases he has learned for "Hello" and "Merry Christmas."

One refugee commented: "If Kadar did anything like that, the people would tear him to pieces."

Kadar is the Communist Hungarian premier whose Soviet-imposed regime the refugees are escaping from.

Legislative Group Pledges Support To Segregation Bills

MARSHALL (AP)—About 20 state senators and representatives yesterday pledged their unanimous support of proposed legislation to keep Texas schools segregated.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd addressed the lawmakers, who were invited to the meeting by Rep. Reagan Huffman of Marshall.

Taking part in the discussions were three members of the legal and legislative subcommittee appointed by Gov. Allan Shivers to study the segregation issue.

Proposed bills dealing with segregation were explained by Shepperd who said their purpose was to "put our public schools back on the same basis as the 1953-54 term."

The bills were drawn up by Shepperd's department.

In general the laws would: Require that all schools be designated by the local trustees as white, Negro or integrated units; Permit transfers to be made on the basis of health, capability or scholastic competence;

Continue segregated systems in all school districts unless abolished by a popular vote of the electorate;

Exempt any child from compulsory attendance at any integrated school upon application by the parent;

Withhold state funds from any school that fails to comply with the proposed legislation;

Prohibit any local or state agency from employing a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People;

Require all organizations aimed at promoting or opposing integration to register with the secretary of state and open their records to the public.

Shepperd said a few Texas school districts with a negligible percentage of Negro students should be allowed to work out their own solution. Under such circumstances integration would be approved by popular vote.

Prohibit any local or state agency from employing a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People;

Require all organizations aimed at promoting or opposing integration to register with the secretary of state and open their records to the public.

Bail Granted In Treason Trials

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Bail has been granted for the 153 defendants in South Africa's mass treason inquiry after disclosure that they are accused of trying to establish a Communist-type regime.

Most of the defendants are known opponents of the government's white supremacy policy. Bail ranges from $140 for Africans to $670 for whites in the group.

Arguing for bail, defense attorneys quoted part of the crown counsel's opening address, which hasn't been made public. The statement accused the defendants of incitement and preparation for the overthrow of the existing order and establishment of a "people's democracy" on the lines of Russian satellites.

The defendants, most of them seized in a nationwide roundup two weeks ago, include a member of Parliament, clergymen and newspapermen, among others. All racial groups are represented.

Rioting broke out outside the hall while the hearing was being held. Police opened fire to disperse a crowd of several hundred Africans. Four white civilians, 10 non-whites and two policemen were injured.

After Fifth Win In Row

Loudermilk Hits 30 As Herd Rips Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Tornadoes found they could do little about defending Jan Loudermilk and blew a 62-48 basketball decision to the Big Spring Steers here Friday night. The game marked the first time in over ten years the Longhorns have been able to measure Lamesa at home.

Loudermilk tossed in 30 points, the second straight game in which he has counted 30 or more in eight starts. The big junior has now scored 194 points.

The Longhorns were in command all the way. They held an 18-8 advantage after eight minutes of play; led 26-18 at half time and blistered the nets for 20 points in the third period to lead at that time, 46-30.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Grouping for the winners in this weekend's football playoff games ABILENE 28 Corpus Christi Ray 13 Corpus may be a dedicated team but there'll be no stopping this Abilene club. Coach Chuck Moser has sold the Eagles on the fact that they're the class of Texas school-boy football and it's hard to convince them otherwise. Paschal and Wichita Falls probably played the War Birds a closer game than will Ray, which surprised more than a few observers by knocking off Baytown last week.

NEDERLAND 14 Garland 6, Nederland lost some prestige in being held to one touchdown by San Antonio Edison last week. However, the Bulldogs will probably be 'up' for this one as they haven't been since entering the playoffs. Too, they catch Garland at home, which could mean a lot. It's hard to convince the people out here the teams around Nederland and Fort Neches don't have web feet. If it rains down that way, and it has been doing that in recent weeks, then the score probably won't be that close.

STAMFORD 27 Brady 6. This one figure to be very decisive. Brady has been turning in one surprise after another but Stamford has been handling every AA opponent with remarkable ease. Stamford could go on ruling this division for years. It isn't growing much but will, from all indications, be a football power.

STINNETT 21 Hondo 6. Hondo will come to realize the impact of the buzz-saw Merkel got hold of in their meeting at Sweetwater this week. Stinnett is quite probably the one team among the lower classification clubs Stamford would have trouble with, were they to meet.

Tommy Black, the HCJC athlete, quit basketball in order to concentrate on track and field, but is back in harness now.

Black figures to get a scholarship off his performance in the pole vault next spring. Barring an injury the Lovington, N. M. sophomore should have a wide choice of schools. He's one of the finest vaulters in the state.

A Texas team has never been beaten in the Sugar Bowl game and Baylor will be the fifth club from the Lone Star State to compete there.

Andrews could and should be tough on the football greensward again next season, with three fine backs—Tommy Jackson, Ronnie Brien and Ray Ham—returning.

Brian looked better against Big Spring than did Jackson in this year's game.

They say Bill Russell turned down a $32,000 per annum offer from the Harlem Globetrotters to play with the Boston Celtics.

He said he doesn't like to barnstorm.

Jay Fikes, who departed West Texas several years ago to coach at Temple High School, recently was named the District 13-AAAA "coach of the year" by a Waco newspaper.

There will be no concerted effort on the part of Jan Loudermilk of the Big Spring basketball team to set a new school scoring record this year, but Jan might turn the trick without working at it.

The big junior has been scoring at better than a 24-point clip a game. Should he maintain that average, he'll get well over 500 points. The present record is 439 points, set by Charles Clark three seasons back.

Buddy Parker Keeps Lions Guessing About His Plans

By DAVE DILES
DETROIT (AP) — Raymond K. (Buddy) Parker, a likable 43-year-old Texas who once made less money coaching the Detroit Lions than Bo McMillin did in not coaching them, has ev none guessing whether he'll return as the football team's head coach in 1957.

After a whirlwind of activities yesterday, including a closed-door meeting of the Lions' board of directors, a huddle among the club's president, his general manager and Parker, and a confusing news conference—in that order—these questions remain unanswered:

1. How badly, if at all, does Parker want to stay on as head coach?

2. How much are the Lions willing to pay to keep the man who has guided them to three division titles in six years in the National Football League?

3. What prompted Parker to announce that he would not ask the board for a contract renewal? Parker's one-year contract expires Dec. 31. After six seasons as head coach of the club, he said he did not ask the directors to renew his contract. He gave no reason.

It appeared unlikely, however, that Parker would let his Lions' contract lapse unless he had something definite in mind. Several attractive college jobs, such as Southern Methodist, are open and several pro vacancies are in prospect, such as Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

Parker said Sunday after the Lions lost the Western Division title game to the Chicago Bears that he was "fed up with the trend toward dirty football" in the NFL and confessed he had been thinking of "getting out of pro football" for quite some time.

The injury to Detroit quarterback Bobby Layne after a bruising tackle by the Bears' Ed Meadows inspired the accusations that Meadows deliberately tried to put Layne out of the game. Meadows denied it.

Stinnett-Hondo Battle Opens Football Finals In State

The big showdown in Texas schoolboy football starts Friday as Stamford's 31-game winners meet the challenge of Brady at Abilene.

This clash for the AA championship is a prelude to the biggest Saturday in schoolboy football history, a day that will see three titles decided and with Abilene battling to keep a fantastic winning streak going.

The big one will be played in Memorial Stadium at Austin where Abilene seeks to repel Corpus Christi Ray, a team that's in the state finals for the first time. Abilene, twice champion of AAAA and with 36 straight victories behind it, is a heavy favorite to make it three and take over as the winningest school in Texas high school football.

Abilene has won five championships to rank second behind Waco with five and a tie. If the Eagles win over Ray they will take over first place with six championships.

Class AAA's final will be at Nederland where a newcomer to title play—Nederland—meets Garland.

Class A will be the last division to crown a champion. Stinnett and Hondo will play their final Saturday night at Sweetwater.

Stamford won the AA title last season and has been even more impressive this campaign. The only close game was a 7-6 affair with AAA Sweetwater. In whirling through 14 games this season the Bulldogs have rolled up 517 points—second only to undefeated, untied Stinnett, which has put 517 points on the scoreboard in 14 games.

Brady, Stamford's foe, has one loss on its record and several close victories. But the Bulldogs from Brady have been most impressive in the playoffs.

A top defensive team has been Abilene, which has allowed 13 opponents only 64 points. Write the Eagles have a strong offense featuring the great Glenn Gregory, their long suit is defense. Ray may have a hard time moving the mighty Abilene forward wall. The best defense in Texas, however, has been that of Nederland. The Bulldogs have permitted 13 foes only 63 points. Garland, loser of one game during the season, has given up 79.

The Stinnett-Hondo game is the only one in the state matching undefeated, untied teams. It also is between veterans to the playoffs. Stinnett was in the finals last year, losing to Deer Park. Hondo has been in the playoffs four of the last five seasons.

B And C Teams Play Loraine

The Howard County Junior College gym will be the scene of action this evening of two basketball games involving Loraine and local high school reserve teams.

John Yates sends his Steer C team against the Loraine reserves in a 6:15 o'clock engagement.

At 8 o'clock, Sam Bell's B team takes the floor against the Loraine varsity corps.

The two teams have made fine contributions to the 22-3 won-lost record posted by high school teams this season. The Bees have lost only twice in nine assignments and only once to another B team. The Cees are undefeated in four starts.

The Bees will seek to avenge a 60-48 loss suffered at the hands of Loraine the night of Dec. 6th in Loraine.

The Cees beat Loraine in the previous game, 52-23, in one of their most impressive showings of the season.

After tonight the local quintets call it quits until Jan. 2, at which time they visit Sterling City.

The C team is Big Spring's only undefeated quintet in high school or junior high competition.

Classy Picadors Rout Wranglers

LUBBOCK (SC) — The classy Texas Tech freshmen burned up the nets at the expense of Odessa Junior College here Thursday night winning a 96-34 decision.

The Wranglers were never in the game. They trailed, 46-19, at half time.

Four of Tech's players hit in the double figures. Bert Williams led the way with 20 points.

James Dobbins tossed in 11 for Odessa. Wayne Evans ten.

TEXAS TECH 96 — Armstrong 8-16; Fields 3-6; Nooker 4-9; White 8-10; McKeegan 4-10; Hart 2-2; Williams 10-20; Selbridge 1-5; Boyce 1-2; Davis 2-7. Total 42-12-96.

ODESSA 34 — Dobbins 5-11; Stuekel 1-2; Louis 0-11; Greenhorn 2-6; F. Evans 0-2-2; W. Evans 4-10; Bennett 1-3. Total 13-34. Half time score—Texas Tech 49, Odessa 19.

Knott Billies And Klondike Tangle

KNOTT (SC)—The Knott Hill Billies visit Klondike tonight for their final pre-Christmas basketball game. The Billies will carry a 4-4 won-lost record to Klondike.

The Knott girls will also see court action. Their game starts at 7 p.m.

Hawks Register 8th Win In Cisco, 99-86

CISCO (SC) — The HCJC Jayhawks humbled the Cisco JC Wranglers, 99-86, for their eighth basketball success in nine starts here Thursday night.

Cisco, two points ahead at the half, now has a 1-2 win-loss record. The game winds up pre-Christmas play for the Big Spring club, which has been disbanded until Jan. 1, at which time it will reassemble to begin practice for the Howard College tournament.

The two teams practically abandoned defense for all-out offenses. The HCJC aggregate quite probably would have gone well past the 100 mark had not Coach Harold Davis seen fit to play his reserves in the latter stages of the contest.

Charles Clark enjoyed one of his better games for HCJC, scoring 20 points. Little Jerry Hodges, with an unerring eye for the basket from the foul, was even hotter — he scored 24 points to pace the Hawks.

George Calerman kept Cisco in contention with 25 points. Robert Ryan had 15 for Cisco.

Mike Powell, hitting on 50 per cent of his shots, scored 18 points for the Big Springers while Bobby Wardell had 17.

Stan Williams was saddled with four fouls early in the contest and had to watch much of the action from the bench.

The Hawks hit 38 per cent of their shots in the first half and 42 in the final 20 minutes for an even 40 per cent. They out-rebounded Cisco, 53-33.

Painters Shade Insurance Five

Nabors Paint Store surged past the Tate-Bristow-Parks team, 73-63, in the feature game in the YMCA Industrial basketball league here Thursday night.

Ray Crooks set a hot pace for the winners, scoring 27 points. Wiley Brown had 16 and Bill Bennett 13 for the Painters while Bobby Maines hooped 23 for the losers.

Tate-Bristow-Parks was very warm in the first half and led at the intermission, 35-29.

In other games, Mort Denton's Pharmacy buried Corden under a 68-29 score as D. A. Miller scored 22 points.

In the final game, McGibbon Phillips 66 rallied after a slow first half to topple Elliott's Drug, 33-31. Pat Gaskin scored 14 for McGibbon. Gerald Scott led Elliott's with ten.

New Coach And New Director Meet

Darrell Royal (left), the new head football coach at the University of Texas, meets the new athletic director, Ed Oile, in Austin, after they were appointed by the Board of Regents. Royal was coach at the University of Washington and Oile was business manager of athletics at the University of Texas.

Continuing the trend of a week that began with San Francisco's first loss in two years, 10th-rated Kansas State was spilled last night by Minnesota, two members of the Associated Press poll's second 10 were beaten, and even North Carolina, No. 3, had the scare of its life before finally struggling to its sixth straight victory.

Honored Place Kiss Of Death?

It's beginning to look as if a place of honor in the national college basketball rankings is more a kiss of death than a pat on the back.

Continuing the trend of a week that began with San Francisco's first loss in two years, 10th-rated Kansas State was spilled last night by Minnesota, two members of the Associated Press poll's second 10 were beaten, and even North Carolina, No. 3, had the scare of its life before finally struggling to its sixth straight victory.

News Says SMU To Hire Meek

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Morning News said today that it appears that Bill Meek, football coach at the University of Houston, will take over the head coaching job at Southern Methodist University.

The News said no announcement has come from either Meek or SMU, but that it appears that only negotiations remain to be taken care of.

"We're pretty close together," Meek told The News. Meek visited the SMU campus Wednesday and Athletic Director Matty Bell said that no other coach has been contacted.

Meek said he would like to bring his present coaching staff to SMU with him.

I feel that they have had as much to do with it (his successful tenure at the University of Houston) as anybody, and I'd want to take care of them."

"I think I have one of the finest staffs in the country; I don't think any staff in the country is as clean physically and morally as mine," he said.

His assistants are John Cudmore, Jim LaRue, Royal (Shark-ey) Price, Clyde Van Sickle, Marvin Franklin and Lovette Hill.

Meek said, "I don't expect any action for a few days."

Ortega To Seek Second Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—If Gaspar Ortega repeats his upset victory over Tony DeMarco in tonight's rematch at Madison Square Garden, it will be time to take seriously the challenger of the lanky Mexican welterweight.

Ortega's split decision over the former champion in their Nov. 23 bout resulted in a revision of the 147-pound ratings. Both Ring and the National Boxing Assn. promptly awarded Ortega the No. 4 post among Carmen Basilio's challengers. DeMarco remained No. 1 with the NBA but slipped to second in the Ring.

Rote Says He May Not Play

HOUSTON (AP)—Tobin Rote, quarterback of the Green Bay Packers, announced yesterday that he plans to retire from professional football.

Rote, who has played pro football for seven years, said "As far as I am concerned I'm through. Salary will have something to do with whether I return, of course. I wouldn't take a cut and I wouldn't go back for what I got last year. Seven years is enough of pro football for me."

He said he plans to return to work in the sales department of a local transportation company.

Rote said the decision was "up to Betsy," his wife.

"We have three children and another on the way. Two will be in school next year, and my wife definitely says she will not return to Green Bay. She just doesn't want to move every year."

Speaking of the controversial tackle end Ed Meadows of the Chicago Bears made on quarterback Bobby Layne of the Detroit Lions last Sunday, Rote said:

"This Layne-Meadows thing is a lot of sorry publicity for pro football over something that happens every day."

"There have been cases where Detroit players used questionable tactics. Last year in the Thanksgiving game at Detroit Lou Creekmur of the Lions put me out cold for 10 minutes. I had thrown a pass, had it intercepted and was jogging off the field. Creekmur caught me on the back of the head with his forearm."

"In my opinion the Bears this year just had a good, rough team. They were the best team in the league as far as I was concerned, but they weren't dirty."

"There isn't a dirty team in pro football. You might find one or two individuals who get in an illegal lick now and then, but pro football isn't any dirtier than college football."

"Meadows had a right to bust Layne. The lineman can't see where the ball is going. Layne is liable to have been faking, then wound up and tossed a touchdown pass if Meadows hadn't carried out his assignment."

"Layne has been playing long enough to know not to turn his back to the line of scrimmage after handing off. That's murder."

"Layne isn't the first one that sort of thing happened to."

Fans Turning Out For Tech Games

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Tech fans are flocking to see the Red Raiders play basketball as they never have before.

The Raiders have pulled in 24,000 fans for the five home games this season. That's 8,000 more than saw them play all last year.

The main reason for the increase is that the Raiders are playing in the huge Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. The Coliseum has 7,500 permanent theater-type seats and room for 2,500 folding chairs. The Tech gym, where they used to play, had room for 2,100 persons.

BERRA'S PAY 'ABOUT' $58,000 FOR YANKS

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra expects to see several pitchers following the lead of Don Larsen and Bob Turley, his New York Yankee teammates, by trying to pitch without a windup next season.

Berra was at Yankee Stadium yesterday with Whitey Ford, leading American League pitcher, to sign their 1957 contracts.

It was reported — or maybe guessed is the better word — that Berra will be paid $58,000 and Ford about $35,000.

"A pitcher has got to be a big fellow to get away with that no windup," said Berra. "He's got to have good natural stuff like Larsen or Turley."

"And a sinker ball pitcher couldn't get by without his windup. I should think a fellow might hurt his arm that way. But they know more than I do about it."

league along with his 2.47 earned run average, will have no part of the no-windup school.

"Not for me," he said. "That's for those big guys."

Berra and Ford were the first two Yanks to sign, accepting what General Manager George Weiss called "good raises."

Weiss said Yankee contracts had not been sent out but would go into the mail between Christmas and New Year's. He said Berra and Ford live nearby and "happened to drop in."

Although Weiss ducked the question, it is apparent that Berra is the highest priced Yankee since Joe DiMaggio's $100,000 days, unless Mickey Mantle suddenly spurts into the upper regions.

Secrecy Still Shrouds Missile Center, Though Beach Is Open

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Military officials continue to cloak their missile test operations in official secrecy, although the test center on Florida's populous east coast is open to public view from the sea. Secrecy obscures even nonsecret work at Patrick Air Force Base, site of the armed forces missile test center.

It is known that three months ago technicians fired a test type of the projected Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM). This Army missile appears to have shot up more than 600 miles and to have flown more than 3,000 miles into the South Atlantic.

The Pentagon still declines to acknowledge such a test was conducted. The Defense Department refused to permit advance notice of the recent test firing of a standard Viking rocket similar to the first-stage engine planned for launching the projected earth satellites. Newsmen, in requesting permission to go to the base for such a test firing, cited an earlier government statement that the satellite project, a purely scientific effort, would not be encumbered by military security. The explanation for the refusal was that other military test equipment was on the base.

The missile test center is heavily protected on land by fences and armed guards. But most of its area is in plain sight from a beach across a narrow strip of water. And civilian-operated boats are free to sail close to shore, where launching equipment and missiles are in easy camera range.

Security officials say the test firings are supposed to be conducted without preliminary publicity. But for safety reasons, boats and aircraft are warned away from the launching area and down-range path several hours before firings. This is an unintended invitation to sightseers.

One reason for locating the test center in this heavily populated area is the fact that the Caribbean Islands, over which the outgoing missiles pass, provide ideal sites for instrument recording stations.

"petite poupee"—a little doll for Christmas.
D. W. Jacot, 77, the department store "Pere Noel" says, "The smile she gave me at that moment was the crowning reward for my years of playing Santa Claus. It brought tears to my eyes."
Jacot explained that his parents, who were born in Switzerland, taught him to speak French and that although his command of the language isn't perfect it was good enough for Marilyn.
It also seemed like a good bet that Marilyn would get her "petite poupee."
