THIEF TRUSTS OLDER THIEF, LOSES LOOT

A well laid plot by a 14-year-old boy and his 17-year-old companion to swipe checks and cash from the YMCA to finance a trip fell apart at the seams Tuesday.
The trouble arose from a fast doublecross by one of the young conspirators. According to Shorly Long, juvenile officer, the 14-year-old admitted he took the money and checks and turned the last over to his companion. His partner was supposed to buy two tickets for the projected trip.

Ike Slaps Wilson Error, Saud Snub

President 'Deplores' Discourtesy

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrived in Washington today and was greeted by President Eisenhower to the booming of a 21-gun military salute.
Eisenhower, who made his first trip to the airport to welcome a visiting head of state, had said barely an hour earlier that he deplores any discourtesy shown to an official visitor to this country.
Eisenhower's news conference remarks were an obvious reference to the snub of King Saud by New York City officials on his arrival there yesterday.

Wilson Called 'Unwise' For Guard Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today Secretary Wilson made a very unwise statement in saying that draft dodging developed in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.
But Eisenhower told a news conference he is sure that Wilson's main intent — just as it is his — is to try to assure that the Guard is a well-trained military unit in event of any emergency.
Eisenhower also said he is standing by his statement of several months ago that Secretary of State Dulles is the greatest secretary in that field in history.

BEDWELL

Contradictions In Confession Told

CHICAGO (AP) — Contradictions in a Skid Row derelict's confession that he and a companion killed the Grimes sisters were disclosed yesterday at an inquest into the girls' deaths.
Medical evidence was reported by authorities to indicate the girls may have died within hours after their disappearance from home Dec. 28.
Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, illiterate 21-year-old Skid Row dishwasher, has confessed he and a man he knew only as Frank killed the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, on Jan. 13.
In the confession reported by Sheriff Joseph Lohman, Bedwell said he and Frank stripped the girls and dumped them in a snowbank southwest of Chicago after they resisted their advances.
The sisters' nude, frozen bodies were found Jan. 22 near suburban Willow Springs.
Bedwell's confession related he and Frank had been with the sisters a week, drinking with them in Skid Row bars and living with them in cheap hotels.
Coroner Walter E. McCarron said a preliminary report by Dr. Walter Camp, state toxicologist, said tests of the girls' tissues showed no evidence that they had consumed alcohol.
He said the tests also disclosed Barbara's stomach contents matched food eaten at home Dec. 28, the night she and Patricia left home to go to a movie, and disappeared. The stomach of the younger girl was empty, McCarron said.
Dr. Camp was asked if the stomach contents indicated that the girls died shortly after they disappeared.
"The only alternative would be that they ate the same food again just before they died — and that is very unlikely," he said.
Bedwell's confession related that he and Frank killed the girls had eaten hot dogs shortly before they drove into a wooded area where the girls were knocked unconscious and thrown into a snowbank.
Pathologists have reported they did not find marks of violence on the girls' faces.
Bedwell's confession said he met the girls Jan. 7 and that they were with Frank. However, police have not been able to determine the girls' whereabouts from Dec. 28 to Jan. 7, although they had searched throughout the city for them.
The girls' mother Mrs. Loretta Grimes, 48, testified at the inquest that the girls had eaten fish, potatoes and chocolate chip cookies before leaving for the movies. McCarron said the toxicologist's report showed that the chocolate and nuts had been identified from the stomach contents of Barbara.

MOTHERS SLATE POLIO 'MARCH'

About 150 local women will stage their annual "Mothers' March on Polio" Thursday evening. They will be assisted by the National Guard.
The group will canvass the town for a two-fold purpose: To accept contributions to the March of Dimes and to distribute permanent record cards on which families may keep records of their Salk polio vaccine inoculations.
Every home in the city will be visited, said Mrs. E. P. Driver, general chairman. Residents who won't be at home are asked to leave their contributions with neighbors.
The "mothers' march" last year raised more than $700 for the local polio chapter. Workers hope to exceed that sum this year.
Team captains who will be working with Mrs. Driver are Mrs. A. James C. Jones, Mrs. Cecil Earp, Mrs. Elwood Carlie, Mrs. W. A. Cobb, Mrs. Mary Vasquez, Mrs. E. L. Fanjin, Mrs. Lillian Reed, Mrs. Bennett Brooke, Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, Mrs. R. L. Heith and Mrs. James Abbe.

Day Enrollment Down At HCJC

Although the number of full time day students declined somewhat, total number of enrollment at Howard County Junior College jumped through the first two days of spring semester registration.
Head count at the end of the first two days was 621, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC. This was 21 more than for the first semester, thanks to a surge in adult registration.
The first day brought 281 registrations and the first evening 60 more. The second one produced 90 more, which, with 175 in the special adult classes such as electronics, etc. boosted the total to 621.
Dr. Hunt said that 205 fulltime day students had registered as against 281 for the fall semester, but transfers from other colleges were expected. Before deadline falls on Feb. 8, he anticipated that the margin will be cut to negligible proportions. Almost as noticeably there is a second semester 100% in full time students.

Grief-stricken Mrs. Loretta Grimes, mother of two teen-age girls found nude and dead by a roadside, passes the man accused of complicity in their deaths at a coroner's inquest in Chicago. The accused, Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, left, 21, illiterate dishwasher, stares ahead. Mrs. Grimes termed statement by Bedwell "a lie" and said she doesn't think "he ever saw my girls."

Youth Program Given For Methodist WSCS

"Youth in a Responsible Society" was the topic discussed Tuesday for the First Methodist WSCS meeting.

Principal speaker for the all-day session was Judge R. H. Weaver, whose topic was titled "Juvenile Delinquency." He told the group that 3 per cent of the youth of the nation is delinquent. Reading from the district attorney's report Judge Weaver said that juvenile crimes in Howard County were on the increase in ages between 17-21.

"Although there are more boys appearing in court for criminal activities, the girls' problems, which deal primarily with moral problems, are harder to handle," he said. Judge Weaver said to help the local situation the community needed to have a sincere interest in the problem. He said most of the juvenile delinquents are handsome and intelligent people. A recommendation that Judge Weaver made to the group was a small home for the rehabilitation of these youths.

Preceding Judge Weaver's talk, Mrs. Knox Chadd gave the welcoming address and told the purpose of the study.

Bennett Pierson, high school guidance teacher, spoke on the subject "Problems of Teen-Agers." The Rev. Richard Deats, associate pastor of the First Methodist Church, took as his topic: "The Church's Obligation For Tomorrow's Maturity."

Afternoon speakers included Mrs. W. A. Hunt speaking on "Youth Climate in Our Community." G. B. White, youth director of the First Christian Church, spoke on "The Appeal of Communism For The Youth."

"Education For a Changing World" was the subject discussed by Lucille Hester. Mrs. J. W. Dickens spoke on the subject, "Responsible To The World." A special offering was taken to be given for local work with delinquents.

The meditation for the study was presented by Mrs. R. W. Romans. Her subject was "No Child, An Island Unto Himself."

Jean King read a poem, and gifts were presented to the Roberts by Miss King and Sammie Sue McComb. Mrs. Roberts is the retiring mother advisor.

The address was given by Mrs. Charles Weeg, following the chosen theme of "This Is My Father's World." The Frazier Ensemble sang, "The Green Cathedral" and "This Is My Father's World."

The chosen colors of blue and green, representing Nature, decorated markers of an entrance aisle through which the officers were introduced to the assembly. Each officer carried a white Bible with a corsage of fern and ribbon.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth, and interest was centered on a floral background with dolls dressed to represent the new worthy advisor and a doll dressed to represent the new mother advisor, holding a white Bible. Refreshments were served to guests by members of the advisory board.

It is the custom of Big Spring Assembly to attend church in a group following each installation. Sunday morning, the girls will attend the First Baptist Church.

A pretty picture postcard came from Mrs. W. L. MEAD who with her husband is enjoying a vacation in Miami Beach. She says her vacation would be complete if she had the Herald to read (bless her) and if she could see her grandbabies.

Those Big Spring women who have some time they can spare each week will do well to attend the meeting on Feb. 7, at 7:30 in the county court room. This will be the time when Mrs. Guy Neas of Odessa will attempt to organize a hospital auxiliary here. This has been a very important thing in Midland. Women who register for the work do a service similar to that of the Gray Ladies in the Red Cross. Organization is sponsored by the Jaycee-Eltes who have sent up a trial balloon, so to speak, in a local hospital. It has been successful but there are not enough members to carry out a full program. Other hospitals have voiced approval of the program.

MRS. BILL DYKES of Ballinger spent a short time here over the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Vernon Smith, and other relatives.

New Bouffant Hairdos Must Get Loving Care
By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
Some hairdressers predict that the bouffant hairstyle will fade out before long. Why? It seems the average girl doesn't know how to arrange one to suit her own type. She is likely to choose a style that is too wide, a fat face or too high for a thin face.
Bouffant hairdos should be governed by the shape of the face as to whether an extreme or modified style is selected. If you have a long, thin face, brush the hair back smoothly on top, puffing it out on the sides. If your face is round it will need height above the brow to taper the line. The girl with an oval face, considered the ideal, may wear a bouffant hairdo in any style that pleases her.
The bouffant hairdo needs attention to keep it looking smooth. You'll need more than a casual run-through with a comb to keep your hair line chic. It must be groomed with the least possible effort to keep it in line.
Most hairdressers advise that a permanent wave is essential to maintaining a good bouffant coiffure. It lends body and curl, basic to these new type coils to avoid the droopy, dreary appearance that comes after you've slept on your curls one night.
The best basis for a bouffant hair style is the 40-curler permanent that waves the hair gently from the scalp, giving it plenty of body. -It is soft and natural, and may be sleeked down if you prefer, yet is full-bodied enough to withstand several haircuts.
After you permanently wave your hair into a bouffant hairdo, work with your hairbrush, using long sweeping strokes and lifting the top layer at the temples. Pick up a strand at the sides, slipping your left hand under it, and brush the top hair smoothly over it.
The hair in back may be brushed down and folded in an easy unfringed arrangement if it is unfringed properly, and you wield the brush in the right manner.
There is no doubt that there is nothing to beat a permanent wave if you are interested in a coiffure that needs body such as the bouffant hairstyle, bangs or the page boy.
If you have decided that you are against permanent waves for the hair, then other hairdos that require less body and curl for their arrangement must be chosen if a chic coiffure is desired.

1957 Soil Bank Plan To Be Explained At Meeting Here

All Howard County farmers and landowners who are interested in the 1957 Federal Soil Bank program are urged to be present at a meeting set for 7 p.m. Friday in the district courtroom.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, has sent personal letters to every farmer in the county calling attention to the meeting and recommending that the landowner make a special effort to attend.

Taylor points out that the date for filing of applications for participation in the 1957 Soil Bank program opens on Feb. 4 and that deadline expires on March 1. He said the 1957 program is different from the 1956 edition in a number of ways — some of which are highly pertinent to farmers and landowners.

State Ends Nixon Case

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The state yesterday wound up its case against former policeman Dan Nixon, charged with killing his 28-year-old wife.

The case was expected to go to the jury today. Nixon, 34, has testified he emptied his .38 caliber service revolver into his wife's body after he told her he had learned she was having unnatural sex relations with another man.

Witnesses yesterday told of Nixon's troubled home life. Mrs. Inez Lucas, a neighbor, said Mrs. Nixon ran to the Lucas' home one night, clad only in panties and bra, after a quarrel with her husband. Mrs. Lucas said Nixon's wife had been drinking.

On another occasion, she said Nixon's wife returned home clad only in a slip, waking the neighbors up.

Lucas also told of hearing frequent domestic arguments between the Nixons and said she saw Nixon fight with his brother, Frank, in October, 1955. She said she saw Nixon and one of his two young sons on the lawn of their home after the shooting Oct. 5, 1956 and Nixon "appeared shocked...and looked like he didn't know what was going on."

Nixon said he took 16 anti-histamine tablets the night before the shooting. But David T. McMahon Jr. told the jury yesterday the effects should have worn off by the time of the shooting. Dr. R. R. Casso said Nixon appeared normal when he examined him two hours after the shooting. The state has indicated it will seek the death penalty.

Corpus Youth Shot Fatally At Odessa

ODESSA (AP) — A 20-year-old Corpus Christi youth, Allen Joel Lilyholm, was shot to death yesterday afternoon when a .22 caliber pistol discharged as he was taking it from another youth.

Police said Lilyholm was going south of town with three other employees of Western Electric to fire the gun when it discharged and a bullet struck him in the heart.

Odessans Approve Issue, Down Another

ODESSA (AP) — Ector County voters yesterday approved a $600,000 hospital bond issue to erect the Ector County Medical Center. The vote was 2,061 to 1,234.

A $630,000 road bond issue was turned down, 2,992 for and 1,504 against in an issue requiring a two-thirds majority to pass.

Which Wife Is Legal, Astor Wants To Know

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire John Jacob Astor wishes the Manhattan State Supreme Court would hurry up and tell him which of his two wives is his legal spouse.

Through his attorney Barent Ten Eyck, the pudgy society sportsman told Justice Sappul Gold yesterday that he wants to know pretty soon because income tax filing time is rolling around.

Astor said he was paying a total of $3,250 monthly alimony to his two wives, the former Gertrude Gretsch of Brooklyn (Wife No. 2) and the former Dolores (Dolly) Fullman of Miami Beach, Fla. (Wife No. 3).

Astor has asked the court to decide which of the two is his legal wife. Ten Eyck appeared in court yesterday to argue against dismissal of Astor's petition.

The dismissal was sought in a motion filed by Louis Nizer, attorney for Mrs. Fullman. Nizer let it be known that his client is well satisfied with the way matters now stand, including the $250 monthly alimony. Astor married Miss Fullman in 1954, a week after he received a Mexican decree ending his 10-year marriage to Miss Gretsch.

Astor and Miss Fullman separated after 41 days and she won a separate maintenance suit in Florida in 1955 which provided alimony payments.

Miss Gretsch appeared in a New York court in 1956 and got the Mexican decree invalidated. A judge said he believed she was Astor's legal wife. He continued the $3,000 alimony and support payment to her and her child.

Astor's lawyer said it left his client in a dilemma. One of his wives was considered legal in New York and the other in Florida.

Gold reserved decision.

Heiress Elopes With Decorator

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican authorities have refused a marriage license to an eloping 17-year-old British heiress and a New York interior decorator. But later the decorator said they had been married.

The couple are Frederica Sigrist of Nassau and Gregg Juarez, 34, of New York. Her father, the late Frederick Sigrist, was an industrialist, yachtsman, friend of nobility and plane designer. He founded the Hawker Aircraft Co., builder of jet planes. Miss Sigrist is to inherit a reputed 20-million-dollar fortune when she is 21.

VD Eradication Possible, Health Department Says

Texas is slowly reaching a day of enlightenment in regard to control of venereal diseases, according to the State Department of Health.

As a result of mass education and the evolution of treatment of venereal diseases with modern drugs, the state is now in a position to plan for eradication — and not merely control — of these infections.

To halt the spread of these diseases, the Department of Health, through its Venereal Disease Control Division, aims its activities primarily toward a program of investigation of contacts of all venereal disease cases.

Working in the state are 24 trained interviewer-investigators, as well as public health nurses, who interview patients. One of these is J. A. Moon, who lives here. Moon's territory consists of 37 counties surrounding Big Spring.

These interviews will show chains of infection. They are traced and all persons involved are referred to their private physicians or public clinics for proper examination and possible treatment.

With simple treatment methods, many patients are now cared for by private physicians, the Health Department reported. There was a time when physicians were very reluctant to make venereal disease patients available for contact investigation.

Upon request, the Division of Venereal Disease Control offers medical, nursing, interviewing-investigating and other consultant services to the local level. During the past two years, these services have been in constant demand throughout Texas.

Locally, the program of investigation and trying to trace the thread of infection has shown a drop in venereal diseases. The city-county health unit reported that during 1956 there were 82 cases of venereal disease — 11 cases of syphilis and 71 cases of gonorrhea.

During 1955, however, the total was 163 — 108 cases of syphilis, and 55 of gonorrhea.

It's low for MORE than looks alone

As you can plainly see, the gorgeous new 1957 Buicks are low—low to match the sleek silhouette of their modern sports-car styling—Lower than any Buick in history—by as much as nearly four inches—and, mind you, with more interior room and without sacrificing an inch in road clearance.

But you'll soon learn that this sleek new lowness does more than add beauty to the Buick look. It brings new greatness to the Buick ride.

First time you twist 'round a corner or snake into an "S" curve, you'll learn how this new Buick's new lowness tames the turns. How it snugs the car to the road. How it cuts down the sidesway. How it gives you the safe-and-sure-footed steadiness of four wheels always on the road.

That's because these sweet-handling, sweet-riding beauties give you the lowest center of gravity in Buick annals—born of a brilliantly engineered new chassis that "nests" your ride low and steady as you go.

But the core of this new Buick's story is the action you get. You get action that stems from the instant response of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo™ so able and obedient and full-range in "Drive," even without a notch of the pitch, that the need for "Low" is virtually eliminated.

And it's action that's sparked by a brilliant new V8 engine of 364-cubic-inch capacity, of record-high horsepower and compression, and of almost complete freedom from vibration.

Smooth and easy. Only car in the world with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

So come in to see and sample all that's new in these newest Buicks yet—all that's new in styling—new in ride and handling—new in power and performance—new in roominess, safety, luxury and fun. Do that—before another sun set!

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

HOLLYWOOD DIVORCES

Stars Unstable; Marriage Suffers

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — What's the matter with movie marriages? You hear that question each time a new Hollywood divorce hits the news. The issue is raised more in other localities rather than here. Divorce is so much a part of Hollywood that it is taken as a matter of course.

"There appears to be more divorce because the spotlight is on people here," said a leading citizen. "I imagine there is no more divorce than there would be among any other group of persons of like income and living conditions."

There is no practical way to make a comparison. Certainly the nation's divorce rate is alarming. And certainly there are many more marriage stars — James Stewart, Bob Hope, Burt Lancaster, Joel McCrea, Rosalind Russell, Ann Blyth, etc.

But take a look at the multiple marriages of some others: Five — Hedy Lamarr, Clark Gable (once a widower), Gloria Swanson.

Four — Rita Hayworth, Mickey Rooney, Lana Turner, Myrna Loy, Jackie Coogan, Ginger Rogers, Bette Davis (once a widow), William Boyd, Constance Bennett.

Three — Ava Gardner, Cary Grant, Judy Garland, Greer Garson, Marilyn Monroe, Ida Lupino, Joan Fontaine, Dick Powell, Joan Bennett, Victor Mature, Betty Hutton, Henry Fonda, Errol Flynn, John Wayne, Orson Welles, Janet Leigh, Mary Pickford.

Two — Frank Sinatra, Jennifer Jones, Betty Grable, Eleanor Parker, Tyrone Power, Loretta Young, Ingrid Bergman, Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Jack Webb, Olivia DeHavilland, Terry Moore, Esther Williams, Jane Powell, Doris Day, Linda Darnell, Elizabeth Taylor (the latter two expecting to try again shortly).

One fact is evident from even an incomplete list such as the above: female stars face more jeopardy in marriage than male stars. A leading filmland lawyer, who has handled many a top divorce, explained, "A working wife places a strain on any marriage; most husbands hold to the tradition that a woman's place is in the home. Living with a movie actress is extremely difficult for a man to adjust to. He must accustom himself to having his wife absent from home a great deal of the time, to having the house managed and their children reared by hired help and to seeing his wife the center of interest whenever they go out.

The situation is even more difficult when the wife earns more than the husband. It takes an unusual man to adjust to that situation.

Psychologists, lawyers and other observers of Hollywood mores suggest other reasons why more strains are placed on filmland marriages than normal ones: 1. Actors are emotional people. Their work consists of dealing with emotions, and this often does not provide the stability for dealing with marriage. They may seek divorce in a light of temperament, regret it later.

2. Actors are attractive people. No other class of workers has so much opportunity for extramarital dalliance. 3. When an actor and actress marry, they are inevitably in conflict with each other's career. If the husband achieves more success, the wife often resents it. If the wife becomes more famous, it is usually fatal for the marriage.

4. The advent of fame and fortune places strains on a marriage. Many film couples married during their struggling days, then found themselves thrust into the spotlight. Often stardom makes them different people, and they grow apart. 5. Stars live in a goldfish bowl. A cross word spoken in public can become a headline. Gossips are alert to reported rifts, often before they happen. This can create an atmosphere of doubt and suspicion, which can be deadly for a marriage.

Research Key To Progress, Speaker Says

An annual birth rate of more than four million poses problems which can be solved only by greater industrial productivity resulting from increased research, said James Adshad Jr., public relations representative of the Du Pont Company in a talk at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

Citing improvements in the past 30 years, Adshad credited research with much of the progress. He pointed out ways in which research has contributed in such fields as agriculture, clothing, housing, medicine, and transportation. "We have been living in an age of progress unmatched in recorded history," he said. "And research has been the instigator of much of our progress."

Laboratory successes must be translated into terms of consumer goods in order to be of wide benefit, he said. And then the decision on whether or not the product is successful is made by the customer.

Program chairman was Dan Krause. Guests were E. W. Spencer of Wilmington, Calif., R. A. Schooling of Snyder, and David Dibrell of Big Spring.

President Meets With Hutcheson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met Thad Hutcheson, Texas Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, for the second straight day yesterday.

Hutcheson is here for a round of talks with GOP leaders as part of his campaign. He was introduced at a Senate Republican luncheon as a possible colleague who may enable the GOP to capture control of the Senate.

If Hutcheson wins in the April 2 special election, he will serve out the remaining two years of the term of Texas Gov. Price Daniel who resigned from the Senate Jan. 15. His victory would make the Senate lineup 48 Democrats and 48 Republicans, with Vice President Nixon able to cast the tie-breaking vote to give the Republicans control.

Hutcheson was due to go to New York today.

Stapp Hints Fast Driving Foolish

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Air Force Lt. Col. John P. Stapp, famed for his human guinea pig testing of high-speed escape mechanisms from jet aircraft, said yesterday a sudden stop in a car could cause a fatally fatal injury.

Stapp, speaking before the International Medical Assembly of Southwest Texas, said a sudden stop in a car traveling only 35 miles per hour could cause an impact with the steering wheel that could so injure the liver as to cause almost instant death.

But he said people seem to take physical laws as lightly as man-made laws. In his talk on the subject of human tolerance to abrupt forces, Stapp said a force of 100 times gravity, applied in one-tenth of a second, invariably will cause death.

Rev. Richard Deats, associate minister of the First Methodist Church, will take part in Southern Methodist University's 22nd annual "Ministers Week" on the SMU campus next week.

About 3,000 ministers from throughout the nation are expected to attend.

Three churches — one of them SMU Chancellor Umphrey Lee — will deliver a series of lectures during the four-day theological get-together, which is designed to help produce a better trained ministry.

Other two speakers are Dr. James Mullenburg, professor of Hebrew and Cognate languages at Union Theological seminary in New York City, and Dr. Theodore F. Adams, pastor of First Baptist church in Richmond, Va., and president of the Baptist World Alliance.

Lectures — 13 in all — will be given in McFarlin Memorial auditorium and will be open to the public. Besides the lectures, two other events are to be featured during the week.

With representatives present from some ten institutions she has aided, a testimonial dinner for Mrs. W. W. Foudren, Houston churchwoman and philanthropist, will be held Feb. 4.

On Feb. 6, the Methodist Historical Library, given to the university by retired Bishop Frederick B. Latta, will be formally dedicated.

This library, valued conservatively at $150,000 and containing 2,000 items, is one of the most comprehensive collections in existence about Methodism and its founder, John Wesley, say insiders.

Junior Rifle Club Maps Busy Season

With its program in high gear, the Western Sportsmen's Junior Rifle Club is pointing toward a busy season.

Firing schedules have been set up for February and a 12-hour, basic rifle instruction course is set up for early March.

During February, boys of 12 and 14 years of age will fire at the Western Sportsmen's range northwest of the city at 2:30 p.m. on Feb. 2 and 16; these 13 to 18 will fire on Feb. 10 and 24.

The next monthly meeting is set for Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in S-8 at Howard County Junior College. New members will be accepted, films from Remington and Winchester on rifle shooting will be projected, and qualification awards will be made.

Membership, which is open to any boy from 12 to 19, has now grown to 39, according to Leslie Snow, National Rifle Association instructor. The club started with 17 members and has offered 12 hours of basic rifle instruction. Now 18 members have completed three hours of a six-hour safe hunters course which is due to be completed early in February.

So far, 25 members have completed pro-marksmanship qualifications; 11 have completed marksmanship first class; two have completed sharpshooter. Jerry Newton has completed requirements for one additional bar and Raymond Hogie has completed those for two additional bars. Coy Thomas has been awarded the NRA medal for service to the organization during the past year.

The club has received information from the director of civilian marksmanship, department of the Army, Washington, D.C., that it has been placed on the approved list and is now eligible to receive additional rifles upon proper request.

Any boy within the age brackets who is interested in learning to use a rifle properly is invited to join the organization. There are no dues and the only requirement is parental consent.

Uncle Ray: Scipio Won Victory Over Carthaginians

By RAMON COFFMAN

Many Gauls in northern Italy joined Hannibal, and he also received the help of thousands of men who had been slaves of the Romans.

Instead of attacking Rome, Hannibal passed to the east of the capital city, then to southern Italy. He led his troops against a large Roman army 2,163 years ago. The fighting took place near the town of Cannae, and the conflict is known in history as the Battle of Cannae.

HANNIBAL

Scholars differ in regard to the size of the armies which took part in the battle, but all accounts agree that the Romans were in greater number. Probably the Romans had about 85 thousand to 90 thousand. Hannibal soon put the Roman cavalry to flight, and then trapped the Roman infantry. The result was a victory for the Carthaginians, but it failed to end the war.

In view of his skill as a leader, and his victories in various battles, it seems strange that Hannibal failed to attack Rome. The reason usually given is that he was without the engines of war which, at that time, were employed to capture walled cities.

Hannibal spent 16 years in Italy, and had plenty of time to build such engines of war. Probably the trouble lay in the fact that the men of Carthage were less skillful in engineering than the Romans.

Scipio, a young Roman, showed the way to free Italy from the Carthaginians. Roman soldiers were transported to a point near Carthage, and Hannibal was called back to his native land. For the first time in his life he lost an important battle. After being defeated by Scipio, he escaped to the eastern end of the Mediterranean, where he was given protection. He lived to the age of 64.

City Kennels Not Ready Yet

About another week's work remains before the city will be ready to start impounding dogs at the city warehouse.

The city, when it passed the new dog ordinance, elected to build kennels and an extermination pen at the city warehouse. At the present time, Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach cares for the dogs at his business on West Fourth.

The pens at the warehouse are partially constructed, but the city reported that another week's work remained before they will be completed. The new pens will provide space for each day's collection of dogs, plus some additional pens.

The additional pens will be for housing suspected rabid cases for observation and holding registered dogs more than the required 72 hours where the owner cannot be contacted.

Any dog not registered will be killed 72 hours after it has been picked up.

The city is now having copies of the ordinance printed in booklet form for distribution to all who register their dog. Also the 156 persons who have already registered their dog will be mailed a copy of it.

Most School Taxes Paid

Deadline time finds the Big Spring Independent School District with nearly 90 per cent of its current tax roll paid.

J. O. Hagood, tax collector-assessor, said he anticipated the percentage would climb before Thursday midnight, the last time for payment without penalty and interest. After that time, a one and a half per cent charge goes on tax payments, and the rate will go up each month after that.

So far, collections have totaled $347,713.65. Of this, $332,338.82 is on the $498,990.23 current roll, or 66.4 per cent. The breakdown shows $392,825.81 to local maintenance (operation) and $124,941.33 to interest and sinking fund (debt service) and $14,771.48 in discounts allowed for early payments. The other part of the total includes $15,000.93 in delinquent taxes and $93.50 in miscellaneous fees.

Cards Not Conceding Flag To Anyone, Says Skipper

By FRED HUTCHINSON
Manager St. Louis Cardinals
BRADENTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—This is the time of the year when every club wins the pennant, or, at worst, finishes in the first division. But it is a fact that we haven't lost a game yet and we're not conceding a thing to anyone.

with Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier. They improved our pitching tremendously after we obtained them from Philadelphia last May. I look for Vinegar Bend Mizell and Willard Schmidt to round out our starting staff with Davis on a spot basis... and our bonus boy Lindy McDaniel is coming along nicely.

and Don Blasingame at second will have added experience. Stan Musial will start the season at first base, where he belongs, and that will put Wally Moon in the outfield where he belongs. Right now Alvin Dark has the edge at shortstop on the basis of his experience, but don't be surprised if either of the two youngsters, Dick Schofield or Eddie Kasko, give Alvin a tough battle for the job.

Behind the plate, young Hal Smith did a fine job for us last year, his first in the majors, and he should improve in all departments. Landrith gives us a good second catcher.

Interest alone on Joe Louis' income tax debt to the government amounts to $278 a day. Al Milch, new football coach at Big Spring High School, has expressed some doubt that he can bring John (Model-T) Ford here as his backfield coach. He says Ford is still in contention for the head job out at the University of Arizona.

The Hospital and 3561st FIM battled to a 2-2 stand-off.

A Bible Thought For Today

Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous. (1 John 3:12)

Get That Poll Tax Now!

After today, you have one more day left in which to pay your state-city property taxes without incurring a penalty, and to pay your polltax to become a qualified voter.

A polltax costs $1.75, and one dollar of that goes to help keep our public schools going. If you live in a city of more than 10,000 population you must renew your exemption certificate every year in order to vote, but this costs nothing.

So this is to remind you again that in order to vote you have about 36 hours more in which to qualify by paying your polltax or taking out an exemption certificate, if needed.

Nobody can make you qualify yourself to vote, though actually if not in practice you can be made to pay the polltax even if the period for payment has expired — though you can't use it for voting purposes unless it is dated on or before January 21.

If you don't qualify, you may regret it. There is a U. S. senatorial election coming up April 2, and on that same day most of the incorporated places in Texas, including our own town, must elect part of all their governing bodies.

There may be some bond issues and other important matters coming up in what's left of 1957 and the first month of 1958, for all of which a polltax receipt is necessary.

As a good citizen, one who likes to exercise the most precious and inviolable right an American citizen can have, you'll want to have a say in what's being done.

So pay your polltax, even if you have to go to a great deal of trouble to do so. Be a participating citizen.

Purely A Practical Matter

The American people, the best informed in the world, are well aware that Tito of Yugoslavia is a thorough-going Communist, as ruthless in rising to power as any of his Russian advisers, helpers and pals after World War II.

They know he operates a dictatorship, that he shot down U. S. planes after the war as savagely as any Russian ever did. They know he jalled Christian leaders and in general indulged in all the repressive practices of communism the world over.

But on the basis of his performance after Stalin tried to throw him out for non-cooperation, they also know that unlike Communist leaders everywhere else, Tito is a Yugoslav patriot and that he doesn't take orders from Khrushchev and Bulganin any more than he did from Stalin.

By refusing to bow to the Moscow line Tito set a good example to the other world leaders. Since our best bet to halt the spread of Russian imperialism is to back and buck up satellite peoples and encourage them to do as Tito did and break away from Russian domination, we have been aiding Tito economically and with arms for a number of years.

That was a "calculated risk," and since Tito is still on his feet and still refusing to buckle under to the Kremlin, and since his others have encouraged the Poles and the Czechs to talk back to Moscow, we can conclude that the risk has paid off, or at least not backfired.

Just now there are stirrings in Congress as a result of the expressed wish of President Eisenhower to help Tito more and to have him visit this country. A lot of people outside Congress recoil at the thought of welcoming Tito to these shores, and it may become a real hassle before the question is settled.

But the uses of diplomacy are many and varied. The administration is inviting Tito not to render homage to him, not to forgive him for shooting down American planes, not to approve his communism, but for the same reason we made peace with West Germany and with Japan — because he can be useful to us.

After all, an endless parade of Russian bigwigs have been in this country since the war, mostly in connection with the United Nations. Some of them were subsequently exposed as spies and saboteurs, but they did get in under diplomatic usages, and it hardly seems realistic to swallow the Soviet camels and strain at the Tito gnats.

We need not "do him honor." We should not pull any parades for him. Certainly we should not make fools of ourselves, as some of our people did when the Russian farmers visited our country.

The question seems to be, would a visit from Tito be of more value to us in wearing satellites away from Russia than a refusal to receive would damage that same cause?

England Sets Pace On New Aircraft

LONDON — Well, sir, things are tough all over. But it is one woman's opinion that any obsequies held over England at the moment would be premature and a flagrant waste of flowers.

As of now, England strongly reminds me of Broadway, long-since christened "The Fabulous Inland." Year after year ever since I can remember the pessimists have declared Broadway, i. e., the theatre, to be dying. Yet every time they arrange a memorial service, Broadway turns out to be the liveliest corpse in the country.

In war or peace, there is no power that can lick a people who persist in rejecting central heating and in perpetrating the myth that the Brussels sprout is an edible vegetable.

Only the other day, this nation broke ground for its second atomic-power station. Her first atomic-power plant — indeed, the world's first functioning atomic-power station — has been pumping juice into power lines since last autumn.

On an almost equally pumped level, this nation is rejecting in the volume of her aircraft export business, which is expected to earn between $7 and 8.5 billion dollars for this dollar-hungry country in the coming decade. Both United States and Canadian airlines continue to buy her turbo-prop and jet passenger planes.

At a time when the nation can stand a shot in the arm, the announcement of substantial U. S. airline investments in the new "Whispering Giant," i. e., the new turbo-prop, long-range Bristol-Britannia, the smaller turbo-prop Viscount and the new jet Comet IV, has provided it.

In turn, British airlines continue to buy American planes. At the moment, the two industries complement each other. British Overseas Airways Corporation is a classic example of mixing the two products in global operations.

BOAC has just put into service her first (Douglas) DC-7C's, one of which hit 480 miles per hour the night it — and I — flew nonstop between New York and London in nine hours.

Within the next 12 months, BOAC hopes the huge Bristol-Britannia will be in the trans-Atlantic service and bettering the record of the new Douglas. But for fast jet service across the Atlantic, BOAC will not depend upon the short-range jet Comet IV, but upon Boeing's new long-range jet 707. The British line hopes to have the American jet in operation early in 1960, while the Comet IV goes into the South African, Australian and Far East routes, where refueling is feasible.

The Boeing jet is expected to cross the Atlantic to London in seven hours and return to New York, thanks to prevailing head winds, in an extra 60 to 90 minutes. Interesting enough, the faster planes fly, the more certain they are to be put in the tourist service.

This isn't hard to figure out after my experience on BOAC's nine-hour hop to London in the new Douglas. After a long and leisurely cocktail and dinner hour, I was almost half-way across the Atlantic before I climbed into my berth. It hardly seemed worth the effort (ever fought with a two-way stretch in an aerial upper berth).

British plane research has already produced an experimental five-engine jet that takes off and lands vertically. And the industry is confident that by 1970, at the latest, it will have in service a passenger plane that will carry globe-trotters safely and comfortably through the sound barrier.

Postal Snafu

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Myron S. Baker recently received a postal card her uncle sent her from England 48 years ago.

In the summer of 1908 her uncle, now dead, took a trip to England. He sent a picture postcard back to her at Fort Thomas, Ky., where she lived then.

The card arrived with a batch of Christmas cards recently without a word of explanation about the delay.

The message wasn't too urgent, however. The card said merely: "Greetings."

Bolt From The Blue

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Henry A. Nichols Sr. won a $1,000 damage judgment in Federal Court for injuries received in an accident involving a train and a Navy plane. Neither hit the other, but an antenna weight hanging from the plane like a spent yo-yo as it came in for a landing, smashed into the cab of the Nichols' locomotive. Nichols suffered a leg injury and sued the government for $25,000.

Adjustment To Hydrogen Age

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will be making one more adjustment to the hydrogen age when it gives President Eisenhower advance approval to use American armed forces in the Middle East if a Communist attack occurs there.

On the surface this expected congressional approval — with no attack in sight — will hardly be more than a psychological effort by this government to discourage communism from open aggression by warning it ahead of time. But it goes deeper.

It hits the heart of these two questions: 1. How can a democracy, with its slow and open processes, protect itself against a dictatorship which can make sudden, secret decisions to begin a war with hydrogen bombs big enough to bring quick victory? 2. How can a democracy, with its slow and open processes, protect itself against a dictatorship which can make sudden, secret decisions to begin a war with hydrogen bombs big enough to

'Baby Doll' Isn't Wealthy Yet

NEW YORK (AP) — Carroll Baker, star of "Baby Doll," had just come in from shopping.

She unloaded two huge bags of groceries on the kitchen table, cast a tired glance over the scattered evidences of baby formula, sighed, brushed back a loose hair, moved into the living room, collapsed in a chair and reached for a cigarette when the baby cried.

"I'm sorry," said the brown-haired, blue-eyed actress, returning to the living room. "It's the baby nurse's day off. Maid? I have one in for only eight hours a week. But now, maybe we can talk. That is if the phone doesn't ring."

"It's been ringing like mad since the premiere and all the fuss. I need a secretary but can't afford one. People call all the time suggesting this; asking that; wondering if I'd be interested in many things. Most of the time I don't know what they're talking about or I don't know who they're nice to. So I just pretend I'm Miss Baker's secretary and promise to call back. Then I talk it over with my agent."

By SAUL PETT (For Hal Boyle)

No butlers, no swimming pools, no hanging gardens or garages crammed with long cars? "No, just this apartment which we're only beginning to be able to pay for. I'm afraid most people have the wrong idea of what it's like to become a movie star these days. The money I now make impresses all my relatives. It is, of course, staggering compared to the days just two or three years ago when Jack (Jack Garfin, husband and stage director) and I were living on macaroni and cheese.

"But the money quickly becomes too little. For example, I'm going to the Coast this spring for another picture. We'll have to have a house, nurse, cook and car to get to the studio. I don't know how we'll pay for it."

Miss Baker has learned to live with the controversy surrounding her movie. As a star, she enjoys the billing and the opportunity stardom presents for future roles. But as a live, she has not yet learned to live with publicity.

By SAUL PETT (For Hal Boyle)

Communist aggression which, if not stopped promptly, might mean quick Red victory and erosion of other people's will to resist.

It is in this area of the unknown that the democratic problems lie the sharpest.

How can Congress retain its control over the ability of one man, the President, to pull a trigger which puts this country into war while yet, for the nation's sake, leaving him free to make such a decision if he thinks necessary in an emergency?

What is happening now — a grant of standby authority from Congress to Eisenhower to use as he thinks best — is the most recent example of the attempt to solve the new democratic dilemma by making Congress and the President partners to a decision before it is made or even found necessary.

Champion Wolf Killer Tells Of Call Technique

HUBBARD, Tex., Jan. 30 (AP) — The champion wolf killer of the Texas Wild Animal Callers Assn. says you don't have to wait long after making a call before the wolf answers you if he is going to answer.

"In 95 per cent of the cases," says Billy Powell, "a wolf will come into sight within a minute after you've called . . . if he's going to come at all."

Powell, 30, a letter carrier, is an expert on using the calls which sound like the injured cry of a rabbit. These bring a wolf into gun range.

During the animal callers' year-long 1956 contest, he killed 22 wolves to win the club's first prize of a two-week expense-free hunting trip to Mexico with the Lee brothers expedition of Arizona.

Billy has had as many as six wolves burst into the opening right after he's made his first call. He killed two of them. His biggest hunt came when he shot four in one day, and his biggest thrill when a wolf bolted to within six feet of him before hunter and animal saw each other.

The champion wolf killer of Texas didn't wait long in switching from rank newcomer to expert caller. He didn't know a thing about calling wolves until Ernie Roach, another Hubbard man, introduced him to the sport back in the spring.

In addition to the trip to Mexico late in February, Bill collected bounty money to over $400 for his kills. Most of his wolves were downed in his home territory of Hill County, which gives $25 per wolf.

DETROIT (AP) — Students at the University of Detroit will be able to take up to two-thirds of their college work from an easy chair at home beginning next September.

The college plans to start an educational TV program designed to help solve a classroom shortage and enable short-staffed facilities to reach more students. Even the college tuition may be adjusted to offset the price of a TV set.

'Your Dependable Electric Servant'

I should like to pay my respects to some unsung heroes who gain the public eye only every five or 10 years, and then perhaps not under the most favorable of circumstances.

These are the men who make up line crews for power and communication companies. Day after day they perform routine services such as repairs, tie-ins on new service, line maintenance. We get an abstract picture of a man, his hooks dig into the wood, leaning back on his belt while he tinkers with an insulator or a piece of a wire. Maybe we get the idea that it would be fun to climb poles and pretty soft to lean back and wait for a grunt to hoist or toss up supplies from the ground.

Actually, climbing poles isn't fun; it's hard work and it's dangerous. Hit a soft or rotten spot with that spike and you're liable to skin down the pole, either peeling off your hide or breaking half your bones. Lean back to work and you're instead can get as tortured as if you were perched on a piker. So under the best of conditions, line work isn't a picnic.

But come an ice or glaze storm such as we have just experienced, and the line man must leave his warm fireside to work in weather not fit for man or beast. If you get cold just standing around on the ice-crusted ground, just figure how numbing the wind must be to the man on top of a 30-foot pole. If your fingers hurt when you scrape the glaze off your windshield, just imagine how painful it gets for men who have to be pulling and tugging—hours on end—on wires which are covered over with ice.

And if you grumble, as we all do, about the lights being off and the automatic controls of your heating units going on a power strike, remember the lineman is having to fight the battle against the elements out in the dark of night with such illumination as he may get from a spot or a flashlight. He not only has to bundle against low temperatures, but he has to steel himself against the cutting wind.

Of course there is always the prospect that some wire he touches might be inexplicably crossed with one that is energized, or that there could be—in spite of all the iron-clad regulations and rules—some element of human failure which could snuff out a man's life in a twinkling. If the trouble happens to be a violent thunderstorm instead of a plague of ice, then there is always the possibility that lightning might peel a man off the pole.

About the most that a lineman can look forward to when he has finished with one miserable job, when a major storm is on, is to crawl back into the car and bounce over rough roads and cow trails to another tangled mess. Sleep? Not while the emergency exists—not until the line crew is near exhaustion. You paid for your telephone or you expect the power you must have for lights or heat—and it's his job to see that you get service.

Chilled or soaked to the bone, weary, numb, he and his crew keep pecking doggedly away until the worst is over. For this he gets no medals of honor, no special citations; maybe a little overtime in his next check. But in my book, he's a noble, tough and brave fellow.

Work And Wealth—And Still A Strain

"In our nation work and wealth abound. Our population grows. Commerce crowds our rivers and rails, our skies, harbors and highways. Our soil is fertile, our agriculture productive. The air rings with the song of industry — rolling mills and blast furnaces, dynamos, dams and assembly lines — the chorus of America the bountiful.

"Now this is our home — yet this is not the whole of our world. For our world is where our full destiny lies — with men, of all peoples and all nations, who are or would be free. And for them — and so for us — there is no time of ease or of rest."

Thus spoke President Eisenhower in his moving and frequently poetic inaugural address. Thus he outlined the external and internal conflict of our time. America's rich in resources, prosperous in accomplishments. Yet its riches, are stretched thin.

Even now, this country's lofty responsibilities touch the pocketbook nerves of all of us. Prices have been rising — always an indication of demand outpacing supply, of insufficient goods, of business men and consumers bidding for what there isn't enough of.

Wage rates have been slowly pushing up, always a manifestation of shortage. As purchasing agents clamor for delivery, manufacturers push for production. A strike would stop the flow of profits. So it has been easier to settle disputes with higher wages, than take a shutdown.

Interest rates have been climbing, again a sign of market congestion. So many a young person, companies, and institutions, including state, local, and federal agencies, want credit for so many things that there's not enough money to go around.

These lofty responsibilities can be reckoned in dollars. In President Eisenhower's budget $43,335,000,000 is ticketed for national security and $2,444,000,000 for international affairs and finance. But dollars don't measure the real problem.

We can afford increased foreign aid. We can afford more for large-scale construction. We have the men, the materials, the machinery.

But we're very much like the well-off household which can pay for either a new automobile or a renovated kitchen or a swimming pool, but not all three. Our resources are abundant, but not unlimited. We can do many things, but not all things within imagination's compass.

Thus, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has suggested cuts in government spending. And General Motors Corp. recently decided it would postpone building two plants. General Electric Co. has determined to put off work on four plants. Thereby, both companies forego demands for cement, steel, labor — for reasons of their own.

In economics, the approach to over-exertion is the same as in medicine: To do less. But where and how do you cut? The Defense Department and the State Department resist cuts in defense or foreign aid. States and local governments resist delays in building roads which motorists want, hospitals to care for the sick, schools to educate children. Most corporations proceed with construction plans. You and I want what we want when we want it. So it goes.

Ideally, the government could cut down personal consumption — by you and me — and thus free steel, cement, manpower and money for public needs. It could do this by raising taxes, by taking buying power away from corporations, businesses, and you and me. But what a howl that would net! Taxes are already high enough, if not too high. Higher levies would only encourage tax-dodging.

So the President, in his Economic Report, properly stresses the need for self-restraint. He urges business men not to boost prices; labor unions not to demand wages above increases in productivity. Inference: The public is to be the third man at the bargaining table!

The Russians must look with glee on the overstrain on America's abundance. By whipping up fear of war, they've whipped up an inflationary brew for us here. But, as they sow, so the Russians reap. They're also getting a renewed dose of inflation and discontent themselves — as recent changes in the Soviet Industrial High Command indicate.

The Gallup Poll

Sentiment Grows For Desegregation

PRINCETON, N.J. — The number of Americans who approve of the Supreme Court's historic decision on segregation has increased in the last year.

As of today, 63 per cent of all adults in a nationwide survey by the Institute are in favor of the action taken by the Supreme Court nearly three years ago. Three adults in 10 oppose the measure.

In February of last year, 57 per cent of all adults in an Institute survey approved of the decision and 38 per cent disapproved.

Sentiment in the 13 Southern states—where the problems of integrating public transportation are presently plaguing local officials—continues to run strongly against the outlawing of segregated public schools. Two out of three Southern adults today disapprove of the Court's decision.

Furthermore, Southerners are looking for the situation in Dixie between the races to get worse during the coming year.

Nationwide the weight of sentiment is that things will get better in the South. Even a majority of those adults who approve in principle of the Supreme Court decision adopt the viewpoint of "gradualism" when it comes to setting a schedule for putting integration into effect.

Institute reporters in all parts of the country, from Boston to Los Angeles and from Minneapolis to Mobile, put the following three questions to adults from coast to coast:

"The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that racial segregation in the public school is illegal. This means that all children, no matter what their race, must be allowed to go to the same schools. Do you approve or disapprove of this decision?"

Here is the trend of the vote since the first survey on the subject, following the Court's decision in 1954:

Year	Approve	Disapprove
July, '54	54	41
May, '55	58	38

Feb., '56	57	38
TODAY	63	31

The second question was asked only of those who approved of the Court's decision:

"Do you think integration—that is, bringing Negro and white children together in the schools—should be brought about gradually, or do you think every means should be used to bring it about in the near future?"

The vote of those who approved of integration in principle:

Response	Per cent
Gradually	69
Near future	26
No opinion	5

The third question, asked of everyone in the survey:

"Do you think the situation in the South between the races will get better or worse during the coming year?"

The vote of all adults:

Response	Per cent
Better	41
Worse	35
No difference	11
Don't know	13

Here is the vote in the South today on the Supreme Court's decision and on the outlook for the race situation during the next year:

Response	Per cent
Approve	27
Disapprove	67
No opinion	6

Situation	Per cent
Will get better	33
Will get worse	46
No difference	10
Don't know	11

Wilma's Father Says Victim Was 'Good Girl'

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Wilma Montesi's father, a humble carpenter, testified today that his daughter's death was an accident and "it is absurd" to think of it as a crime.

Rodolfo Montesi testified as the trial resumed in the scandal-packed case that began after Wilma's scantily clad body was found nearly four years ago on Ostia beach, near Rome.

"Wilma was a really good girl," her father testified. "She was too loyal, too honest to lead a double life, as has been said. All these horrible lies said against her have made her die twice."

The father said he believed the 20-year-old girl had gone to Ostia to wash her feet in sea water to try to cure an inflammation she had.

He added that he had found a nurse who had been on the beach and who told him she saw Wilma arrive there alone. He said the nurse identified Wilma from photographs.

A verdict of accidental drowning was given after Wilma's body was found. The prosecution now contends she became unconscious at a drug orgy in a game preserve lodge owned by Rome playboy Ugo Montagna and that Gianpietro Ficcoli, 35-year-old son of a former foreign minister, led her at the water's edge to drown.

Montesi also testified Wilma had fainted several times between the ages of 15 and 20.

House Okays Water Bills But No Drought Measure Action

AUSTIN (AP)—The House today passed two water bills but did not take any action on a more important drought solution measure.

Required members of water district boards to be residents of the district and authorizing state departments to use certified mail instead of registered mail except where required by state or federal law. The bill was requested by the State Board of Water Engineers to expedite its work.

In the Senate, a bill (SB) which would aid in the construction of 600 million dollars worth of reservoirs had not been brought to the floor for action.

Rep. Leroy Saul said a bill (HB145) which would cancel water permits not used for 10 years was being amended. He said it was expected to be ready for vote Monday.

The House sent to committee for study a resolution asking President Eisenhower to entertain but not loan any money to visiting King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Another resolution—which had 77 supporting signatures—asking the repeal of the 16th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution was also referred to the State Affairs Committee. Submitted by Reps. Frank Mann and Carlton Moore to be House-keepers, the resolution asked that in-ter-

LEADER SAYS

Christianity Gets Emphasis In YMCA

The "Y" in YMCA emphasizes the movement's bent toward youth, but the "C" is a key letter because it represents the roots of the entire program, according to Bobo Hardy, general secretary.

Hardy, discussing the Y's program during National YMCA Week, pointed to the Christian emphasis which distinguishes the organization from so many with purely a secular approach.

"The YMCA recognizes the importance of faith in individual development," he said, "but it realizes the necessity for making faith a living, dynamic force in our civilization."

tian influence in the YMCA is through the World Service program. Here young people are encouraged to engage in a missionary endeavor by raising funds which will send dollars to the most needy parts of the world so that natives in other lands can be helped to help themselves. The Y's youth clubs here have taken the lead in recent years in raising the association's World Service quota.

Grand Jury Hopes To End Investigation, Report Today

Attendants said that the Howard County Grand Jury was working at top speed Wednesday in a desperate drive to wind up its duties and make its report by quitting time.

A great many cases still remained on the list to be considered by the jurors and a long line of witnesses was still in the hall waiting call Wednesday morning.

The grand jury was organized on Monday morning. It has worked long hours on both Monday and Tuesday in its effort to complete the investigations and submit a report Wednesday afternoon.

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, was in his office Wednesday and said he would be available at any time the grand jurors were ready to make their report.

More than 40 criminal matters will have been laid before the grand jury by the time it completes its task.

Most of the cases handled have been routine matters—forgery, DWI second offense, minor thefts and similar felonies. No major crimes were docketed for investigation by the body.

Gulfarvey Jones, district attorney, and Harvey Houser Jr., county attorney, have been closed with the grand jury almost continuously since the jurors marched into their rooms to begin their work.

Road Employees Pay Hike Due Study Monday

Walter Parks, county engineer, is expected to submit a recommendation to the Howard County Commissioners Court on Monday relative to pay increases for the members of the county road and highway department regular workers.

An attempt was made Monday afternoon to have their pay increased a flat 10 per cent, but the motion failed to carry.

F. Hughes made the motion and it was seconded by R. G. Gilliam.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, told the court that he felt the motion was not at the right time—that Parks was preparing a schedule of pay boosts for his crew and this report should be before the court before any action was taken.

Parks was queried on the status of this report and informed that he was preparing such a recommendation and that it would be available Monday.

On a vote on Hughes' motion, it was defeated three to two. Hughes and Gilliam voted aye; Hull and Landers voted no. Weaver joined with Hull and Landers and cast the tie-breaking vote.

Beaumont Tension Up After Bombings

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Tension mounted in this race-conscious city today after warnings of possible violence over integration were issued following a series of bombings.

Three bombs exploded in separate sections of Beaumont Monday night, one damaging St. Michael's Orthodox Church, but there were no injuries.

The Rev. Mr. Eugene Dickey, pastor of the Highland Avenue Baptist Church, said the bombings are "just a little preview of things to come if the racial question gets any worse."

Dickey, who declined to disclose his own views on integration, yesterday urged the City Council to take a stand.

Beaumont was the scene of anti-integration picketing last September when Lamar State College of Technology opened its doors to Negroes after a federal judge ordered the school integrated. All other schools in the city are segregated.

Lamesa Purchases Water Well Tract

LAMESA — The City of Lamesa Tuesday exercised its option to purchase 160 acres of land from W. E. Bartlett.

Located directly west of the Walls tract on which the city recently took a water production option, the property is undeveloped insofar as water is concerned, but a test hole has been drilled and looked good, according to City Manager Carroll Taylor. There is water on three sides of the tract. The land is two miles north and one-half mile east of the Woodwater tract on which the city has produced most of its water for the past several years.

The action has been pending since January 9 when the city took an option to purchase the property. Bartlett accepted the option on January 19. Yesterday the council voted to exercise the option and purchase the land, at $300 per acre, for a total cost of $48,000.

Development of the tract, except for service lines to the various wells, and the drilling of the wells themselves, will cost little. The pipeline which the city proposes to build this spring to the Walls tract will serve both fields.

However, before the pipeline to the twin fields can be constructed, the voters of Lamesa must approve a $250,000 bond issue on which the council is expected to set a voting date at their next regular meeting.

Stanton Honors Veteran City Employee At Banquet

STANTON — It's Judge George Shelburne of Stanton, now.

Mayor Stanley W. Wheeler has announced that the veteran city employee will serve in the future as city judge and treasurer.

Judge Shelburne was honored by fellow city workers and members of the Stanton Rotary Club Monday evening for 30 years as an employee of the City of Stanton.

Mayor Wheeler presented him with a wrist watch from the club, the city council and city employees. The mayor also outlined Shelburne's years of service to the city.

Mrs. Shelburne also was honored and other city employees were introduced.

The banquet was held in the Belvue Restaurant, Ralph Caton, county attorney and Rotary leader, led a session of songs, including "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" in honor of Judge Shelburne. Invocation was by Rev. W. C. Wright.

Slight Damage In Two Fires

Damage was not great at two fires here Tuesday night.

Firemen from the 18th and Main substations answered a call at the H. L. Derrick residence, 1208 Pennsylvania. A gas line had broken. Firemen extinguished the blaze after it had slightly damaged the kitchen wall behind the stove.

That was the only damage reported.

The 1957 Ford belonging to J. W. Rascoe caught on fire at the Roy Bruce station at Third and Johnson. Firemen said the carburetor became flooded, and the fire started from it. The wires were burned, but that was all the damage reported.

Gulf Reduces Crude Prices

Gulf Oil Corporation announced a revised price schedule Wednesday, reducing West Texas and New Mexico crude postings by five cents a barrel.

Complete details of the schedule were not available, but the area changes was to bring Gulf's postings in line with those of most competing purchasers. Gulf had raised West Texas and New Mexico crudes by 30 cents, whereas other major purchasers raised them only by 25 cents as of Jan. 8.

These schedules were effective at 7 a.m. today.

Area Road Conditions

The State Highway Department at Austin issued this report on road conditions by districts about noon:

Amarillo: Snowing, trace to one inch; pavements slick and icing over.

Lubbock: Temperature 30; foggy with freezing rain but not sticking to roads over entire district.

Childress: Freezing rain causing ice to form on all highways in district; temperature 28; forecast continued light rain with temperatures rising to above freezing later in day.

Wichita Falls: All highways clear; some ice on bridges and overpasses; forecast rising temperatures and rain.

Abilene: All roads open; some ice on bridges but these have been sanded.

Services At Miles

LAMESA — Funeral services were to be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church at Miles for Mrs. Mancel Tyler, 80, who died Monday morning at Memorial Hospital in San Angelo.

Among survivors is a daughter, Mrs. Glenn Edmond of Lamesa. Other survivors include four sons and four daughters, 16 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Giles Is Reported Ready For Parole

AUSTIN (AP)—Ken Towery, Pulitzer Prize winning reporter credited with breaking the state Veterans Land Board scandal, reports that Bascom Giles thinks he is ready for a parole.

Towery, former managing editor of the Cuero Record and now a member of the capital bureau of the Austin American-Statesman, interviewed Giles in the state penitentiary at Huntsville last week.

"I didn't think he would see me but he did," Towery said. "The newsman first met the former state land commissioner when preparing the series of stories that won Towery the Pulitzer Prize last year. After the stories appeared there was a statewide investigation that ended in Giles' conviction and sentence to six years in prison for bribery and swindling."

Towery was a witness in several land scandal cases but never testified in a trial directly affecting Giles.

In the Huntsville interview, Giles told the Austin writer that he figured his time for parole was up in January. The State Board of Pardons and Paroles has set a routine hearing for April of this year. Towery quoted Pardons Board Chairman Jack Ross as saying, "It is quite possible that Giles is now eligible because of additional 'good time' granted for such things as blood donations."

Giles told Towery that he had instructed his family and attorneys "under no circumstances" to ask for favor in his behalf.

"I've been in these walls ever since I got here," he told Towery, "and I have a record of 'excellent' which is plenty hard to come by in a place like this. I would have been an outside trusty a long time ago if it hadn't been for politics."

Teacher Salary Action Is Urged

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas schools are suffering from a teacher shortage "because they are lured away to better paying jobs before they ever reach the classrooms," Rep. James A. Turman said today.

"The teacher salary question facing Texas citizens and their elected representatives in the House and Senate is not whether we can afford to spend 33 million dollars in state funds to increase teacher pay, but whether we can afford not to," the legislator from Gober, Tex., said in a statement.

Turman is author of a measure, along with Sen. A. M. Alkin of Paris, that would give teachers a $399 basic pay raise. In addition, it would provide an incentive raise of $90 each year for the first five years of a starting teacher's career.

Series Of C-C Meetings Opens

A series of committee meetings opened today at the Chamber of Commerce as the organization sought to implement its 1957 program of work.

Meeting today was the Chamber's Agriculture Committee. Members were to go over plans for their activities this year.

The Military Affairs Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday, and one of its first undertakings will be the establishment of an Air Force-Business Day, similar to the Business-Education Days which have been observed here for the past two years.

The Established Industries Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Friday, and the Merchants Committee will meet in the next few days.

Dulles Faces Quiz On Foreign Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today Secretary of State Dulles will be asked to give detailed reports on his talks with heads of other nations.

Fulbright said the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees must have this "pertinent" information as part of the inquiry they ordered yesterday into American policies in the Middle East in the last 11 years.

Fulbright spoke out in an interview after Sen. Knowland of California, the "Republican" leader, said that disclosure of this kind of information "is not customary." Knowland said it will not be furnished to the committees.

Other senators said Knowland's statement reflected opposition which President Eisenhower expressed at a White House meeting with them to revealing confidential conversations and correspondence. Democrats conceded that if Eisenhower clamps down the lid on such communications and memoranda, there wouldn't be much they could do about it.

In the Army-McCarthy hearings three years ago, Eisenhower ruled that congressional committees were not to be given information about conversations between policy-making officials of the executive department.

However, Fulbright contended that the nature of Dulles' personal diplomacy, which has taken the secretary of state around the world several times, makes it imperative that the committees receive at least a paraphrase of his conversations with heads of other states.

"I think Congress is entitled to know, for instance, something about the conversations the secretary had with heads of states in his visit to the Middle East in 1953," Fulbright added. He said this information need not be publicized, but should be available to senators.

In May, 1953, Dulles conferred with then Premier Mohamed Naguib of Egypt, Israel's David Ben-Gurion, King Hussein I of Jordan, King Faisal II of Iraq, Gen. Adib Shisheky of Syria and other Middle East leaders.

Dulles said in accepting the provisions of the Fulbright resolution yesterday it was his understanding the inquiry "will not seek to breach the confidence of other friendly nations."

Fulbright said he saw no point in publication of any information that might disturb relations with U.S. allies. He said this too, could be given the committees on a confidential basis.

4-County Farm Council Proposed

Agricultural agency representatives from four counties are to meet in Big Spring Feb. 18 to attempt to set up an Agricultural Workers Council similar to one established here on a one-county basis recently.

County agricultural agents and workers in federal, state and local farm organizations have been invited from Martin, Glascock, Midland and Howard counties. If the area council is formed, the group will meet regularly to exchange information and coordinate programs for the benefit of farmers.

Short Course Set On Retail Sales

A short course for retail sales workers and store managers will be held here Feb. 18-21 by the University of Texas Extension Service.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Distributive Education Department of Big Spring High School will sponsor the training. Classes will be held for two-hour periods on four nights. There will be a small registration fee.

Meeting Planned On 'Urban Renewal'

A Federal Housing Administration official has been invited to meet with the Chamber of Commerce Housing Committee for talks on the government's newest urban renewal program. The meeting will be scheduled as quickly as a reply is received.

Under the federal urban renewal plan, financial assistance is provided to private developers for improving slum areas. Improved property is sold to residents, according to Wayne B. Smith, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Union Plans Dixie Organization Drive

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO is reportedly considering spending seven million dollars over a three-year period to convince Southern workers they should join labor unions.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has spoken favorably of the plan. He maintains labor organizations will continue to have troubles organizing in Dixie until workers learn, he said, that unions can help improve pay and work standards and that they have no other motive.
