Emergency Aid Sped Into Flooded Region

Emergency aid was rushed into the Appalachian Mountain coal mining region today where thousands of persons in four states are homeless and whole towns stricken from a devastating winter flood. High waters that left at least 11 dead in two states and damages running into untold millions of dollars raced downstream today, threatening havoc on still more communities.

destroying three buildings. All firemen could do was let it burn itself out and prevent it from spreading. The Army at Ft. Knox sent soldiers, medical corps men and supplies to stricken areas with the help of the National Guard, Red Cross and Civil Defense.

took the worst licking. Evacuees in these places began the grim task of digging out the mud and clearing ruins. Weather forecasters warned of new rains today or tomorrow, and again Saturday or Sunday. Leaden skies stretched from the Kentucky and West Virginia border to Tennessee.

The flood that swept suddenly out of the mountains into southeastern Kentucky, West Virginia, southern Virginia and east Tennessee already was recorded as the region's worst in this century if not in history. Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia last night joined Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler in petitioning President Eisenhower for immediate help.

Army helicopters dropped through overcast skies to take typhoid serum, medicine, blankets and foods to isolated communities. Upstream towns such as Barboursville and Hazard in Kentucky, Pound, Va., and Logan, W. Va.,

Wet weather prevailed over broad areas of the country, with snow, rain and freezing rain. Wide areas of precipitation were reported east of the Rockies extending over the southern plains and the lower Mississippi Valley and from Kansas eastward through Missouri, the southern half of the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and the East Central States.

I. F. - - The Big Question

If we had done this, our town might have had a certain business. If we had done that, our town might have had a group of offices. If we had responded to this offer . . . And so it goes . . . if, if, if! I. F. is the big question today. Only now it stands for something concrete . . . for an instrument of action . . . for faith . . . and finally for our funds. I. F. is Industrial Foundation. Ever since the end of the war there has been talk about "they ought to do this" or even stronger, "we ought to do something."

Reed Steps Down After 19 Years

He has served on the highest judicial tribunal 19 years. The naming of his successor will be Eisenhower's fourth appointee on the Supreme Court. Eisenhower's other appointees are Chief Justice Warren and Associate Justices Harlan and Brennan. The White House said it had nothing to announce at this time regarding a successor. Reed turned in a letter of resignation, dated today, saying he wished to retire from active service. He is taking advantage of a provision of law which allows him to retire at full pay and subject to call for occasional service on the court if this is desired.

Senate Slows Down On Mid-East Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution faces extensive revision and at least another week of hearings.

The House made only minor changes in passing the measure yesterday by a 355-61 vote.

The resolution would enable Eisenhower to make up to 200 million dollars available for military and economic aid to the Middle East, and give advance approval for use of U.S. troops to halt overt Communist aggression there.

Contrasting House action with that in the Senate, Chairman Gordon (D-III) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said in a statement that the House's "overwhelming vote, within little more than three weeks after receiving the President's request, is another proof that the so-called lower body of the Congress can act expeditiously and with statesmanship to meet an urgent situation."

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees have been holding joint hearings off and on for the last three weeks. Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the latter group said today the hearings will continue at least until the end of next week and possibly into the week following. The committee then must consider amendments before acting on the resolution itself.

The senators heard Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, yesterday and recessed until Friday, when Secretary of State Dulles will return for more questioning.

More than 20 witnesses are expected at a public hearing on Monday.

Several senators reported that Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is working on an extensive rewriting of the resolution designed to meet objections from Democrats.

High Gas Price Pushes Sale Of Mileage Autos

LONDON (AP)—Britons are convinced that everything that goes up may not come down — the cost of gasoline for example.

That is the basic reason thousands are buying motor cars which get 44 to 100 miles on an Imperial (roughly five U.S. quarts) gallon of gasoline.

A London dealer handling the Italian Fiat 600 says: "There is nothing like a gallon of six shilling (84 cents) petrol to convert a man from a car which gets 17 miles to the gallon to one which gets 50 to 100 miles."

Gasoline rationing struck Britain Dec. 17 as the aftermath of the Suez Canal's blocking. With shortages the price and tax per gallon went up. Part of the tax may come off when the canal is cleared, but few people expect prices to drop back to the 62 cent range of pre-Suez days.

A "baby car" usually seats three. A "small" car seats four to six, has four wheels, a four cylinder engine and gets 44 to 50 miles per Imperial gallon.

Production of baby cars has been a continental specialty but now several British companies are coming out with models. British dealers sell about 800 Heinkel Cabin Cruisers a month. A three or four wheeler, the Cruiser will carry two adults and two children 100 miles on an Imperial gallon. It costs $1,144 in Britain.

The British-made Austin "small" car is in heavy demand. It costs $1,514 and gets 40 to 50 miles per Imperial gallon.

Things were never much quieter on the farm labor front, according to the Texas Employment Commission. Roscoe Gilean who handles agricultural labor says farmers have got much of their land put up and laborers won't be needed for some time yet.

A few ranch hands have been placed, but not many of them are needed. Some of the largest ranches hire only one bracer. With livestock so reduced in number, running a ranch is hardly more than a one-man job.

Local feed dealers are already stocking orders for baby chicks. Elbert Long says he looks for a good year on chickens. Several farmers intend to raise enough hens so they can sell eggs and help out on the income.

Long has a farm in the Vincent community, where he is feeding out 11 steers. He intends to hold them another 30 days then sell. He says they will probably average about 600 pounds by then.

"I won't make much money, but I'll probably come out a little ahead," he said. "I had some homegrown feed and also used some waste feed."

Ed Seay, agricultural teacher at Big Spring Junior High, and Carl Maddox of Odessa made a trip to Whitney last weekend to buy two Hereford club calves. The calves were purchased from the Shannon Hereford Ranch and will be fed out by Esco Hamlin, FFA Club member from the Luther community.

Seay said there was some moisture all the way to Austin and that things looked better than usual in that area.

Fat cattle are getting hard to find, says Marvin Sewell, Howard County rancher and co-owner of a local locker plant. He says they have been able to find enough cattle for the locker, but he thinks every week will be the last one.

Sewell says there just aren't many fat cattle in this area. The meat basket of West Texas right now is in the Panhandle where thousands of cattle are being fed out.

Last year many feeders were in operation west of the Pecos, but they lost money by it, and not many filled the feed lots this time.

Sewell says it is almost impossible to make money feeding at present. The only way it can be done at all, he thinks, is where the livestock farmer has some homegrown feed of his own.

He says the market for fat cattle doesn't look good for the next 40 to 60 days. After that it is anybody's guess. There is no scarcity of cattle nationwide, as the U. S. has three per cent more than this time last year.

Feeders who use molasses can expect to pay a lot more for them in the future. Most of the molasses used in this country comes from Cuba, where the president allows one man to do all the selling. A large firm in London is in the process of buying the island's entire molasses output. This will raise the price to about 28 cents a gallon at the U. S. port of entry.

When the subject of rodeos comes up, some oldtimer is likely to mention the champion bucking horse of all time — the original Midnight. I remember seeing this horse at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and Rodeo when I was a kid. I had never heard of Midnight, but when his name was announced, a hush fell over the large crowd, much like that when any great champion is to appear.

Then the chute was opened: a big black horse, heavily muscled and snorting fire, catapulted out, while the poor rider started bouncing up and down like a fishing cork. The bounces came so fast and furious one could scarcely count them. However, the count didn't go far, because at the fourth or fifth leap, the rider was thrown high into the air and crashed face first to the arena dust.

Recently J. Frank Dobbie, the Texas folklorist, dug up some of Midnight's history. The horse was foaled about 1915 on the Jim McNab Ranch in Western Canada. McNab was away during World War I, and when he returned he undertook to break Midnight.

It was a long, painful process but finally the big horse became gentle enough to let McNab ride him. No one else could ever touch him. Even McNab could never break his spirit and always had to be careful when he was in the saddle.

Finally Midnight was entered in local rodeos and attracted so much attention that rodeo people offered McNab big prices for him. After he was sold, Midnight toured the whole country and gained the reputation of never having been ridden. In fact, he was ridden two or three times but the riders considered themselves lucky that there was a 10-second whistle.

For 13 years Midnight remained the champ, but finally he grew older and slower, as all champions do, so the owners retired him to a ranch near Johnstown, Colorado, where he died in 1938.

Clique Threatens To Break Up Union

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A building trades union clique apparently spearheaded by the embattled Teamsters Union threatened today to break up the AFL-CIO merger.

The building trades group, claiming about 3 million of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members, suddenly stirred up a long-quiet revolt into a red hot fight against former CIO unions for job rights.

The Teamsters Union — largest AFL-CIO affiliate currently in dutch with Congress for advising its officers they would lose nothing avoiding testimony in labor racket probes — seems to be stirring up the building trades into action.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, the union's midwest boss, has been a major figure in most building trades meetings planning the revolt.

The latest development came in a statement by the building trades group that it will seek to "regain work now being performed by other organizations." This spells "war" to most former CIO unions.

Unions of both the former AFL and former CIO have conflicting jurisdictional authority in their charters power to assign members to work.

As Hoffa put it to reporters, "We are out to recapture members the CIO crowd got that we ought to have."

Hoffa went on to say the teamsters hope to reorganize the building trades along Teamsters Union lines where power is concentrated regionally and by areas rather than in locals.

This idea was seconded by a building trades announcement from Peter Schoemann, president of the Plumbers Union, who said the trades group has "adopted plans to strengthen and enlarge" its organization "in order to protect and enlarge its rightful charter jurisdiction."

There were some suggestions the teamsters' organization was stirring up the building trades fight as a diversionary tactic to the criticism attached to teamsters' officials refusing to testify before congressional labor racket investigators.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, acted in a peace-makers role in refusing to docket the jurisdictional squabble on the winter meeting schedule of the AFL-CIO executive council.

But the feud between the former AFL building trades unions and former CIO factory workers unions was steaming toward an expected showdown.

David J. McDonald, president of the million-member former CIO Steelworker Union, pressed the council to stop a nationwide boycott by Sheet Metal Workers, former AFL, on products made by steelworkers and which are being installed in construction projects.

Similarly, the Auto Workers, formerly CIO, asked continued AFL-CIO opposition to construction of a private utility firm's atomic power plant in Michigan. Building trades unions want the 43 million dollar plant completed.

After Icy Landing

Thirteen men survived the emergency crash-landing of this Air Force C124 Globemaster on ice-choked Cook Inlet near Anchorage, Alaska, after one engine caught fire and a second failed. There were only a few minor injuries. The Air Force has hopes of salvaging the big plane. Note rubber life raft afloat near tail and wing tips protruding through the water and ice.

Soviets Exceed Economic Plan But Admit Some 'Shortcomings'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviets say they exceeded their 1956 economic plan by nearly 1 per cent, but they admit some "serious shortcomings." The grain harvest was the biggest in Russian history. The report was issued by the Central Statistics Department of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers (Cabinet). Covering the first year of the current five-year plan, it was one of the rare Soviet announcements containing actual production figures. In Stalin's time, only percentages of quota fulfillment or ratios to the previous year's output were reported. The report said production in heavy industry was 11.4 per cent above the target figure, while output of consumer goods was 9.4 per cent over the quota. Except for these broad categories, however, the report compared production last year on a percentage basis only with that in 1955, not with the quota set for 1956. Since the 1956 quotas have never been published, it was impossible to tell how much above or below the goal production in individual fields had been. Soviet national income last year was reported up 12 per cent over 1955. No actual figures were given but the statistics department implied an increase in living standards. It said average wages and salaries were up three per cent. Among the industries cited for shortcomings were coal, ferrous metallurgy (iron products) and building materials. Iron production for 1956 was put at 35,800,000 tons, or 107 per cent of the 1955 figure. In 1955 the United States turned out nearly 80 million tons of pig iron and ferroalloys. Soviet steel production last year was 48,600,000, also 107 per cent of 1955. Iron ore was 78 million tons, 109 per cent. Cotton goods production — crucial for the Soviet Union — fell eight per cent below the goal. The output was 100,648,000,000 yards. The bad cotton crop in 1955 was blamed: Although criticized in the report, coal production totaled 429 million tons, 116 per cent of 1955. This is less than 100 million tons below the output of bituminous and anthracite coal in the United States in 1955. Grain production showed a jump of about 20 per cent over 1955. Industries praised for their production included oil, gas, aluminum, electric power, turbines and diesel engine factories, and plants turning out prefabricated houses. Oil totaled 83,800,000 tons, 118 per cent of the previous year. Gas output was 17,919,600,000 cubic yards, —132 per cent— and electricity, 192 billion kilowatt hours —113 per cent. Other industries showing substantial increases include automobile tires, 11,300,000 units, 111 per cent; electric motors, 1,714,000 units, 111 per cent; metal lathes, 1,213,000 units, 104 per cent; mineral fertilizer, 10,900,000 tons, 125 per cent and sugar, 4,354,000 tons, 127 per cent. The report noted that while 465,000 motor vehicles were produced, or 104 per cent of the 1955 output, the production of 38,000 passenger cars was only 91 per cent of last year's figure. Trucks totaled 358,000 and buses 9,000. The United States turned out 7,905,000 passenger cars alone in 1955. The report criticized production of consumer goods, saying "the demand for some of them is not being fully satisfied." Shoe production totaled 314 million pairs — 1 1/4 pairs per person and 108 per cent of the 1955 figure. Radio and television receivers totaled 4,300,000 units, or 198 per cent; electric refrigerators 224,000 units, or 106 per cent, and watches, 22,600,000 units, 115 per cent. Cigarette production totaled 203 billion, 103 per cent of 1955. The United States produces about 500 billion cigarettes a year.

Wilson Faces Quiz On Guard Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson faces stiff questioning in Congress on his charge that some of those who enlisted in the National Guard during the Korean War were dodging the draft. President Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday the secretary had made a "very... unwise statement." But Eisenhower backed Wilson's contention that all new Guard recruits should take six months of active basic training. Meantime, Wilson was invited to appear as the opening witness Monday at a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing on all reserve programs, including the Guard. Chairman Brooks (D-La.) said Wilson was invited to "give the subcommittee an elaboration on your views concerning the National Guard, the role the members of that organization have played in the past and what may be expected of them in the future." A furor developed after Wilson told the full Armed Services Committee last Monday that "a sort of scandal... a draft dodging business" developed during the Korean War when youths below the minimum draft age of 18 1/2 "could enlist in the National Guard and not be drafted to fight." Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard Assn., got out a statement after the President's news conference, saying Eisenhower's statement "was very gratifying with respect to his positive affirmation that national guardsmen serving in accordance with the provision of law cannot be described as slackers." The Guard organization, representing units in the states and territories, opposes the six-month active duty requirement which becomes effective April 1 under a Defense Department order. It favors an 11-week training course that can be fitted into school vacations.

First Day Of School

Prince Charles, 8-year-old son of Britain's Queen Elizabeth, leaves Hill House School in Knightsbridge, London, after his first day of classes. Accompanying him, right, is the school headmaster, and in the background in his governess. Attendance of the prince at the public school—equivalent to a private school in the U.S.—marks the first time an heir to Britain's throne attended a regular civilian school.

Powerful Support Comes In For Senate Election Runoff

By JERRY MARTIN Associated Press Staff Democrats favoring a runoff for the special U.S. Senate election in Texas were able to point Thursday to some powerful support for the proposal. House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said Wednesday he would like to see a runoff to get a lone Democrat to face Republican Thad Hutcheson in the April 2 election. And Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson was quoted as saying he also supported the idea. A bill requiring a runoff by State Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas came up on the calendar in the Texas House of Representatives Thursday, but Pool said a vote on it probably won't be taken until Monday. He said too many representatives would be gone. Rayburn was asked in Washington which candidate he favored in the Texas senatorial race, but he declined to say. He did say he would like to see a runoff held prior to the April 2 election. Sen. Johnson also endorsed the runoff proposal. In a Washington dispatch, the Dallas Morning News quoted Johnson as saying he did not want to be telling the state Legislature what to do about the Pool bill. "But I have been asked what I would do if a member, and my answer is that I certainly would vote for a majority rather than a minority rule," Johnson told the News. Some Democrats fear that under present law which gives the office

NO RESPECT FOR IN-LAWS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In obtaining a divorce on grounds of cruelty, Mrs. Virginia Templeton didn't show the proper respect for his in-laws. There was a party for her relatives, she testified yesterday, and her husband showed up wearing no shoes and "stripped to the waist." Templeton, 27, is a juvenile hall counselor.

Parr's Brother Indicted On School Election Charge

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—The Duval County grand jury yesterday indicted Altee Parr and five others on charges growing out of the Benavides Independent School District election last April. Altee Parr is the brother of George Parr, convicted and sentenced to five years in prison this week for conspiring to steal more than $1,000 from the school district. The charges against Altee Parr and the others allege diversion of funds from a special school district fund, conspiracy to misapply public funds, and bribery of electors in a primary election. Altee Parr and R. W. Milligan, 48, Benavides superintendent since 1938, were named in all three indictments. The latter was relieved of his post as school superintendent Jan. 14, effective Feb. 1. Listed with them in the indictments alleging diversion of a special school district fund and conspiracy to misapply public funds were D. C. Chapa, Jesus Garza, Jesus Olivera and Oscar Carrillo. Named in the indictment charging bribery of electors were Altee Parr, Milligan, Tocho Canales, Anacleto Valerio and Jesus Garza. Asst. Gen. Sydney P. Chandler said the state alleges that more than $2,000 was spent in giving jobs to 30 to 50 persons on the Benavides school grounds if they would promise to vote for the candidates of the Old Party, the local political organization long dominated by George Parr.

1,428 'Drunks' In City Court

Drunks slightly outdistanced the errant motorists in Big Spring in 1956, according to corporation court records. The yearly report showed that a total of 1,428 pleaded or were found guilty of drunkenness, while 1,337 persons drew fines for moving violations. In all, city policemen issued 18,023 tickets during 1956, and a great number of these were overtime parking tickets. In all, 10,967 persons found overtime parking tickets on their windshields during the year and paid them. January was the heaviest month from the number of tickets issued by patrols. A total of 1,814 went for all types of offenses during the month. The next month, February, had the lowest total, 1,220. March was the big month for drunks, with 161 being fined during the time. There were only 85 fined during December. April found the most persons trying to beat the speed limit, run red lights, and other types of moving violations. During that month, 198 persons were found guilty in corporation court and fined $1,886. During the year, 365 persons were fined for vagrancy and 112 drew fines for disturbance. There were also 286 persons caught driving without an operator's license. The total amount of fines assessed for drunkenness during the year was $29,337, and the moving violators were fined a total of $13,736.50. A large part of the drunkenness fines were paid out in jail however at a rate of $3 per day.

'Bomber' Faces Life In Prison

NEW YORK (AP)—A threat of a lifetime in prison hangs over the Mad Bomber—in the event that he is adjudged sane and is convicted on a mass indictment against him. The bomber, George Metesky, faces 47 counts which include seven counts of attempted murder. A grand jury returned the indictment yesterday. He was ordered into court today for pleading to the charges. In addition to the attempted murder charges, the indictment alleges damaging a building by explosion, endangering life by the malicious placing of an explosive in a building, and violation of the Sullivan anti-weapons law. No one was killed, but 15 persons were injured during Metesky's 16-year bomb activity in New York City. The 54-year-old bachelor is undergoing psychiatric examination at Bellevue Hospital. If the specialists pronounce him insane, he will be sent to a mental hospital instead of being placed on trial. Metesky, arrested at his Waterbury, Conn., home Jan. 21, confessed he went on the bomb rampage because of a grudge against the Consolidated Edison Co. He claimed he was not compensated sufficiently for an injury.

'New Look' Back Again

PARIS (AP)—Christian Dior brought back the New Look today. The Paris style dictator dropped skirts by a good four inches on an average, or to more than mid-calf, in his "Liberty Line" show. Many of the afternoon dresses came to the bottom of the calf and some almost to the ankle. Allowing for very high heels, Dior's new length seems to vary between 14 and perhaps 8 inches from the floor. It was another break with other Paris designers who are featuring hemlines 16 inches or so above the floor. But across the Channel Dior already has support in British designers who've lowered their hems to 13 inches from the ground. However, Dior's new length is not a fashion revolution of the proportions of his New Look of just 10 years ago. He paved the way with a dozen long dresses last season—now he lets the ladies choose between longer and longest.

EXTRAVAGANZA

Senior Follies Of '57 Slated For Friday, Saturday Nights

The Senior Follies of 1957, "A Travelogue Extravaganza," will be presented in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

The production, to take the audience on an international tour aboard the "SS La Musica," is a project of the high school student council and drama workshop. Some 100 students will participate.

The show starts with Donnie Bryant, a prospective tourist, inquiring at a travel agency operated by Bobby McMillan about some interesting places to visit. These are the previews to be given:

New Orleans, the "Moulin Rouge" — Robert Stripling explaining the "Birth of the Blues"; Sue Barnes, Valjean LaCroix and Cecilia McDonald performing the "Tennessee Wigwag"; the Sportsman (Ronnie King, Walter Dickinson, Frosty Forrester and Johnny Janak) singing; plus songs by Sandra Havens and Sandra Sloan, Buddy Barnes and Bill French, Melva Turner, Cecilia McDonald and Sue Barnes, Barbara Coffey, Darlene Agee, Eddie Swinney, and Diana Dawson.

Longevity Pay Bill Protested By Cities' Unit

A League of Texas Municipalities survey showed that a single bill relating to increases in firemen and policemen's longevity pay would increase the budgets of 34 cities in Texas over $1.3 million annually.

The LTM is protesting the proposed legislation. The measure is now under consideration by the state Legislature. Sponsor of the bill is Doyle Willis of Fort Worth.

It would require a longevity pay allowance of minimum of $4 per month for each year of service, thus enabling a man of 25 years of service to draw $1,200 longevity each year. The bill applies to cities over 10,000 population according to the 1950 census.

The LTM conducted a survey last week and found that 34 cities throughout the state would have an increased budget of $1,365,934 annually.

Big Spring, one of the cities counted, would have to increase its yearly budget about $7,390 to carry the additional load. At the present time, the city pays $1 per month for every year.

Executive director of the League, E. E. McAdams, said that legislation to force cities to increase expenditures "would hady cripple the financial programs of many local governments."

If the bill is passed, the survey showed that Midland's increase would be about $10,000, it would be $7,680 at Odessa, $8,022 in San Angelo, $3,628 in Snyder, and $6,936 in Sweetwater.

Voter List Grows

HOUSTON (AP)—The list of qualified voters in Harris County for 1957 had grown to 192,193 yesterday, 37,100 more than on the same date last year.

Acreage Reserve Program Is Explained By ASC Manager

There are certain important specifications effective in the 1957 Cotton (Soil Bank) Acreage Reserve Program which can gravely affect participating farmers and landowners and which should be carefully studied, Gabe Hammack, ASC office manager, said Thursday morning.

Hammack, who explained that sign-up date for the new Soil Bank Program will begin on Feb. 4 and expire on March 1, said he is sending detailed letters to all landowners and farmers emphasizing the changes in the program and stressing those provisions which are most likely to get the farmer into difficulty if he ignores them.

Violation of an agreement, Hammack stated, falls into three general headings.

Minor violation could result in a reduction of payment to the participant.

Major violation could result in termination of the agreement by the USDA and forfeiture of rights to payments or refund of payments already made by the signer of the agreement.

After an agreement is signed, a farmer who knowingly and willfully harvests any crop from the designated acreage reserve or who grazes the designated acreage or who harvests any acreage in excess of the acreage permitted for harvest will be subject to a civil penalty equal to half the payment which would have been made for compliance with the agreement. In addition, the farmer forfeits his right to the acreage reserve payment which would have been made.

Hammack also revealed several other facts about the program which are important to the farmer.

Acreage designated in the agreement may be inspected by the county ASC committee to determine whether it is suitable for the eligible Acreage Reserve Crop and whether productivity is as represented by the farmer.

"New farm" allotments for any crop established in 1957 are not eligible for the acreage reserve.

Acreage put into the Acreage Reserve for any crop will be considered as having produced that crop for purposes of establishing future allotments for that crop for the farm.

A farm may have cropland in the Acreage Reserve and in the Conservation Reserve but the same acres cannot be in both programs at the same time.

For any acreage designated in the Acreage Reserve for 1957 and redesignated in 1958 and 1959, the per-acre payment for those years will be increased by 10 per cent.

Acreage Reserve agreements covering the period from the date of signing by the producer through Dec. 31, 1957.

An assignment of part or all of the payment due a signer may be made for any purpose but only one assignment can be made for each agreement.

Designated acreage is eligible for Agriculture Conservation cost-sharing practices. Farmers signing acreage reserve agreements should plant some type of adapted cover crop on the designated acreage. Agriculture Conservation payments are available to help establish the cover.

Every farmer signing an agreement can indicate on the agreement any acreage in addition to the regular sign-up period maximum which he wishes to put in the Acreage Reserve if and when more money for payments is allocated to the county.

Maximum cotton acreage is the larger of 10 acres or 30 per cent of the allotment.

Both landlord and tenant must sign by the closing date unless the landlord lives out of the county. The office urges that where such conditions prevail, the landlord and the tenant come to the office together.

Hammack emphasized that acreage to be put in agreement must be designated at the time the agreement is signed. This land, he said, cannot be planted to cotton. If cotton is planted on the area, not only will the farmer have to plow up the cotton but he will not be paid for the acreage.

Hammack joined with James Taylor, county farm agent, in recommending that all landowners and farmers attend the meeting set for Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the District Courtroom. Complete details of the new program will be reviewed at this meeting and Hammack will be on hand to answer special questions that landowners may desire to ask about phases of the program.

Secrets Vanish With Briefcase

CHICAGO (AP)—The FBI and police today investigated the disappearance of a brief case owned by a physicist and which he said contained government secrets.

Fletcher C. Paddison of Bethesda, Md., told police the brief case vanished yesterday while he was making a telephone call from an Illinois Central Railroad station.

Paddison told police he was en route from Washington, D.C., to the Bendix Corp. guided missile plant in South Bend, Ind. Police said he referred to the contents of the missing case as "dynamite," but they said he did not elaborate.

Lots Of Paper Work

Being bookkeeper for the Brotherhood of the Railroad Trainmen is only one of the many jobs Mrs. Albert Smith does. She is an active member and officer of various clubs in Big Spring. Despite these obligations, which she happens to enjoy, Mrs. Smith is still considered a "wonderful cook" around the Smith home. Today she contributes two recipes for the food page, and gives her success secret in preparing them.

Busy Club Worker Still Finds Time To Prepare Good Recipes

Serving as an officer and an enthusiastic member of several clubs in Big Spring keeps Mrs. Albert Smith very busy, but happy with all her work. Mrs. Smith is an active member of the First Methodist Church having served as an officer of the Sylvia Luncheon Circle and the Philathea Sunday School class. She is also past president of the Jubilee Hyperion Club, an active member of the Zenobia Club, Eastern Star, T&P Safety Council, Federated Council and the Trainmen Ladies.

turn oven off and let pie stand in oven until cool. Mrs. Smith says there are some secrets to making this pie which includes letting the lemon mixture cool before pouring into the shell. She says this keeps the pie crust from getting soggy. Another secret is letting the pie cool in the oven.

Besides this list of activities Mrs. Smith is also bookkeeper and secretary of the Brotherhood of "Railroad Trainmen." This activity includes keeping books, collecting dues and other jobs for the 240 members of the local Brotherhood. With all these duties to keep her busy Mrs. Smith still finds time to prepare delicious recipes, two of which she shares with us today. This Lemon Pie recipe is "husband-tested" because Mr. Smith claims "she bakes the best lemon pie I've ever tasted."

Old Favorites Found In Surprise Dish

Here's a kraut and frankfurter casserole that will thrill the youngsters. It's garnished so it looks just like a game of ticktacktoe. Frankfurter slices and pimiento strips make the zeros and crosses. Hearty and completely satisfying, kraut and frankfurters add up to a most enjoyable meal for small fry.

LEMON PIE
Ingredients:
One 10-inch pie shell
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 egg yolks
5 tablespoons flour or corn starch
1/4 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons lemon juice
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1/4 pound butter
Method:
Mix sugar and flour; add boiling water. Cook over slow flame (or in double boiler) until thickened. Add salt, lemon juice, rind, yolks and butter. Cook again until thick. Let cool and then pour in shell.
Beat egg whites and add 1 tablespoon of sugar at a time until six have been added. Add one teaspoon of lemon juice and beat until stiff. Spread over pie and bake for 5 minutes in 400 degree oven. When meringue is brown

KRAUT AND FRANKFURTERS
Ingredients:
4 frankfurters
1 1/2-pound 3-ounce can sauerkraut, drained
1 canned pimiento, chopped
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Pimiento strips
Method:
Slice 2 frankfurters; reserve 3 slices for garnish. Combine remaining sliced frankfurters, kraut, chopped pimiento, mustard, and butter or margarine; toss lightly and turn into lightly greased 8-inch square baking dish. Cut remaining 2 frankfurters in half lengthwise; slash lengthwise without cutting through bottom. Arrange over kraut mixture in lattice fashion. Place remaining 3 frankfurter slices and pimiento strips in ticktacktoe fashion over kraut mixture. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 servings.

Gaelic Combination Is New Treat For Guests

Colcannon, an Irish and Scottish way of preparing potatoes and green cabbage, has won popularity wherever we have served it. Our family and friends receive this simple combination with the same enthusiasm accorded some of our more complicated recipes. We sometimes offer Colcannon on a buffet-supper menu of which the main course is roast turkey and baked ham. It's a perfect complement to the poultry and a meat. For just-the-family service, you may want to follow a traditional practice: the Irish place a piece of butter over the middle of the top of each piping-hot serving and eat Colcannon with a spoon, from the outside in, dipping each bite into the little lake of melting gold.

COLCANNON
Ingredients:
Two pounds (6 medium-size) potatoes, boiling water, salt, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, milk, 3 cups shredded green cabbage (use coarse grater and pack cabbage down in measuring), about 1/4 cup minced onion (1 small), 1/4 teaspoon pepper.
Method:
Peel potatoes, halve or quarter if necessary, and place in a saucepan. Add boiling water to the depth of about 1 inch, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cover; bring to a boil. Cook rapidly until potatoes are soft; drain if necessary. Put through ricer or food mill or mash until smooth. Beat in 2 tablespoons of the butter and 2 tablespoons milk. In the meantime, place cabbage in saucepan. Add 2 cups boiling water and 1/4 teaspoon salt;

Yams, Ham Combine For Tasty Dish

No matter how your family enjoys yams, it's almost a sure bet a favorite dish is yams prepared with ham. There are almost limitless ways you can team these two tasty foods easily and economically. Try sliced ham topped with yams and broiled... then served with a canned pea sauce; or ham and yam patties baked with canned pineapple and a pineapple sauce.

YAM AND HAM SUPREME
Ingredients:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 can (1-pound) peas, drained
2 tablespoons sherry (optional)
4 slices ham, cut 1/4-inch thick
4 medium-sized Louisiana yams, cooked, peeled and sliced lengthwise
Method:
Melt butter or margarine. Blend in flour. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add peas and sherry and heat to serving temperature, stirring frequently. Season to taste with salt and pepper, as desired. Meanwhile, broil ham 3-4 inches from source of heat 3-4 minutes, or until lightly browned. Turn ham and top with yams. Broil about 5 minutes, or until yams are heated. Serve with pea sauce. Garnish with broiled mushrooms, as desired. Makes 4 servings.

Apples Featured In Quick Oven Dish

Apples have been called nature's most versatile fruit and in this 30-minute, oven-baked dinner you'll find the apples impart a delicious, fresh-tasting flavor that transforms this jiffy meal into a satisfying, sumptuous repast.

HURRY-UP OVEN DINNER
Ingredients:
2 12-ounce cans luncheon meat
2 apples, cored
1/4 cup currant jelly
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
2 large cans julienne green beans, to measure 3 cups
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Method:
Cut each loaf of luncheon meat crosswise into 3 equal portions. Cut apples into 1/4-inch slices. Arrange apple and meat slices alternately down the center of an 8x12-inch baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Mix jelly and horseradish together. Spoon half over meat and apples. Heap green beans around the loaf, and dot with butter or margarine. Replace in oven and continue baking for 10 minutes. Spoon remaining jelly-horseradish sauce over loaf to serve. Serves 6.

Italian Salad

A favorite salad at a New York Italian coffee shop is one made from salad greens, tomato, hard-cooked egg, tuna fish; the dressing, of olive oil and wine vinegar, salt and pepper, is flavored with garlic.

Filling Makes Sponge Cake A Special Treat

One of the delights of our Canadian childhood was to watch our mother baking a jelly roll. Lolling in a chair at one side of the large kitchen table, chin cupped in palms, we watched in fascinated silence while she smoothed sugar over a freshly laundered tea towel. After lifting the big flat pan from the oven, she turned out the cake over the sugar and spread it with gleaming red jelly. With her deft right hand she guided the cake, and with her left hand she lifted high the snowy towel as she rolled the dessert to a finish. It was all done, with the sureness of a practiced cook, in a matter of seconds. But to our young and wondering eyes it was a miracle. Wrapped in its towel, the cake was left sitting until a precise moment—four o'clock tea—when it was gently removed, sliced, served and eaten blissfully. We were started the other day when, after describing this jelly roll rite, a friend asked us what sort of jelly our mother used. It never occurred to us that anything but homemade red currant jelly could go into a "real" jelly roll. Modern sponge-cake rolls do not always use jelly and despite nostalgic memories, we admit that some of the present-day fillings are delectable. One of our own is a custardy concoction with crushed pineapple. Recently, to please both children and older guests, we made this two-way filling. Maraschino cherries were folded into one half of the pineapple custard and spread over one half of the cake; rum flavoring went into the other half of the filling and it in turn was spread over the remaining half of the cake. Then the sponge layer was rolled as usual. When we served the roll, the youngsters were happy with the cherry part and a few of our older guests asked for a slice from each!

BUTTER-SPONGE CAKE ROLL
Ingredients:
1 cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 large eggs, vanilla, 1 cup sugar, 1-3 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, confectioners' sugar, Two-

Easy Cheesy Bun Is Bride's Prize Winner

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor. Curious to taste a batch of buns that won a young woman a prize of $3,000? Then make up this recipe for Easy Cheesy Buns that placed Mrs. Raymond E. Myers of Milan, Ill., first in the bride's category of the recent Pillsbury bake-off. This recipe will not be available elsewhere for some time, so note it now!

Mrs. Myers has a preschool stepdaughter to help keep her busy and so she worked out a roll that uses yeast but needs no kneading. We tried her buns in our own kitchen and found they were delicious on a luncheon menu whose main course was shrimp salad or baked ham with a cooked vegetable salad.

EASY CHEESY BUNS
Ingredients:
One envelope active dry yeast, 1/4 cup warm water, 2-3 cup soft yellow cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg (unbeaten), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 cups sifted flour.
Method:
Sprinkle yeast over warm (around 105 degrees) water in mixing bowl. Let stand 5 minutes. Add cheese, sugar, salt, unbeaten egg, melted butter and 1 cup of the flour. Beat 2 minutes. (With electric mixer, use low speed.) Gradually add remaining flour to form a dough; mix well. Fill well-greased muffin cups about half full of dough. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in size — 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until a deep golden brown. Serve hot. Makes 12 buns if muffin wells are

Big

Is the number of people in the Big Spring area who buy . . . and
READ The Herald every day!

Yes, nearly 10,000 homes in the Big Spring retail trade zone have The Herald sent to their homes daily . . . and for this they spend MORE THAN $475.00 EVERY DAY!

AND BIG is the value they get for the small amount each home has to pay . . . For aside from the thousands of words of interesting news and features from near and far, there are the ads which are read more closely by many, than any other part of the newspaper.

With such a receptive audience, it is no wonder that newspapers the country over, continue to be the number one medium with advertisers both large and small!

Regardless of the size of your business there is a profitable program of advertising in The Herald for you, and one that will fit into every budget . . .

Don't overlook this vast audience just waiting and looking for your invitation for their patronage.

Derby Champs Of Prior Years On TV Program

Boys planning to enter the 1957 Soap Box Derby can learn Friday night how it feels to be a winner in this great amateur racing event.

The champions of Big Spring's three prior Derby races—Lefty Morris in 1954, Jerry Bill Hutchins in 1955 and Henry Hendricks in 1956—are to appear on a TV program, "Channel Four Calling" at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hendricks and Pete Cook, all of whom accompanied the local champs in various years to the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, also will appear on the program, to be interviewed by Joan Forrest, hostess on Channel Four calling.

The champs of former years—no longer eligible to race locally—can give some important tips to youngsters who will be aiming for fame and fortune in this year's race.

The Soap Box Derby is open to boys between 11 and 15, and Official Rules Books giving all information on how to build coasters, are now available, either at the Herald office or at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. Sponsors of the event announced that dates will be set soon for official registration of entries.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Ex-Teacher Backs Stand Against Consolidation

To the Editor:
I have read and re-read Mr. Fenn's letter, "Schoolman Hits Consolidation," as I hope other citizens have done. Having visited the Gay Hill School building recently, I am not in favor of doing away with it, building a similar one in Big Spring, buying a fleet of buses in order to transport the Gay Hill pupils to Big Spring, and repeating this process many times. I had just read an editorial in the Star Telegram which stated that the teachers of New York City had conducted a survey of their schools in which they found 600,000 who had no knowledge of the Bible and knew nothing of the difference between right and wrong. It seems apparent that the need of local control for both little and big schools is paramount. In both cases, local management could solve their difficulties overnight. In one case this will require election. The other will require an act of Congress or the Supreme Court. Fortunately, we have the privilege of studying this matter and of voting on it. After having had some experience with experts, as who has not, it is my belief that a good deal of their demand for constant change is brought about by the necessity of holding their jobs. They are aided in this by many citizens who make these demands of the experts. Thus, the good soon must be changed to the bad. It was my fortune to teach five years with a member of the present State Board of Education. He was a conscientious and reasonable man until he met up with some experts. Immediately, various reforms got under way, perhaps the most unreasonable being the grading of pupils by graph rather than by individual. Since then I have seen experts take up the seats from the floors; wall out the south breeze; in effect, remove the Bible and other valuable educational material from the schools; remove many much needed teachers and now they will do away with many modern buildings, requiring the erection of others. Of course, it is the children who are vitally concerned and as they can see through most of these falacies, I suggest that they be given more voice in these matters. They surely cannot do worse. Sincerely yours, Mrs. Leighton Mundt, 607 West 9th, Street

U.S. Discovers Method For Better H-Bombs

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States indicated today it has found a way to develop more efficient hydrogen bombs.
The Atomic Energy Commission, in its 21st semiannual report to Congress, disclosed that last year's tests at Eniwetok "gave important information relating to new design principles which will lead to more efficient weapons that can be more effectively employed."
The commission declined to amplify but presumably it meant that ways had been found to get more explosive wallop from a given amount of bomb material than herefore—by making more of the bomb's ingredients take part in the explosion before the bomb flies apart.
Outside AEC there has been scientific speculation in the past that changes in the geometry of design—that is, the arrangement of bomb ingredients—might lead to more efficient use of materials. Obviously, such an achievement would mean smaller-sized bombs for a given amount of energy release.
The AEC report said "substantial progress" was made in the last six months of 1956 "in expanding the peaceful uses of atomic energy as well as in the basic production of nuclear materials and the development of essential applications for defense purposes."
The report contained a special six-chapter section on "Radiation Safety in Atomic Energy Activities" in which the AEC detailed the procedures that are designed to protect atomic workers and the general public from over-exposure to radiation resulting from work in atomic plants or from testing bombs.
A highlight of this phase of the report was the statement that: "Exposure records of more than nine years of routine operations by 32 principal commission contractors of the Atomic Energy Commission show that 99.4 per cent of nearly 200,000 workers monitored received less than one third of the amount of radiation exposure deemed acceptable."
The report also said that estimates of genetic hazards to man from radiation have been revised upwards as a result of studies with mice. But it said most of the data available were reported last June by the National Academy of Sciences and the National Research Council. Various studies are continuing.

Early Teutons Were Crushed By Romans

By RAMON COFFMAN
More than two thousand years have passed since throngs of men and women made their way southward in Europe. They were known as the Cimbric and Teutones (TWO-TONE-ees) and belonged to the great race of Germanic, or Teutonic, people.
Seeking new homes, these tribesmen made their way toward southern Europe. Many of them entered Gaul (modern France) and some ventured into northern Spain.
Meeting with too much trouble in the area of the Pyrenees, the tribesmen turned about and traveled northeastward. Through passes in the Alps they entered northern Italy.
Several victories were won against Roman armies, but the general named Marius at length defeated them. The Cimbric and Teutones were the first of the Germanic, or Teutonic, tribes to enter Italy. They were crushed, but the time was to come when more tribesmen of the same stock would drive into Italy, and win lasting victories.
After the defeat of the first great wave, other "barbarians" entered the Danube valley, which was inside the Roman Empire.
Several grants of land were made to them by Roman emperors. Some of the Teutones were hired to serve in the Roman army.
The Teutons were behind the Romans in some respects, but they knew how to make tools and weapons out of copper and iron. In their northern homes they had lived in villages, and had taken care of herds and flocks. As they moved southward, they took with them many of their cattle and sheep.
Most of the Teutons had hair which was flaxen or light brown, and the majority had blue eyes. In those respects they differed from the dark-haired, brown-eyed Romans.
The Teutons believed in Wotan, or Woden, as god of the Wind, and in Thunor as the lord of thunder. The Teutons also honored goddesses, including the beautiful Freya.
