37 Virginia Miners Die In Gas Blast

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—A rumbling gas explosion trapped and killed 37 miners today in the cavernous Bishop coal mine that straddles the mountainous Virginia-West Virginia line.

Rescue teams said this number of bodies had been counted below ground. Apparently the entire crew working in a section of the sprawling tunnels fell victims to the whistling, dusty blast.

The blast jammed the elevator that had carried the men in on the Virginia side and rescue work had to be routed through another entrance 2 1/2 miles away on the West Virginia side.

The grimy, masked workers who pushed through to the explosion site had abandoned hope for any survivors by the time the first nine bodies were found.

Identification went on below ground before any bodies were brought to the surface. The last site was described as "about a five-minute walk" from the bottom of a 337-foot shaft.

A spokesman for Pocahontas Fuel Co. owner of the mine, said he thought the explosion occurred in one of the mine's three sections where 42 men were at work. At the time the blast sent dust laden air whistling through the tunnels, 184 men were underground.

No bodies had been taken from the mine eight hours after the blast.

First aid and temporary morgue facilities were set up at the West Virginia entrance.

Anxious friends and relatives crowded near the mine entrance near Bishop, a community of 900.

An employee of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. said the bodies were found by rescue teams who pushed to the disaster spot in the 6-mile-long underground mine.

Dispatcher R. P. Meade said the rescuers had heard no cries from any of the missing nor had they been able to make any contact with the men seven hours after the blast reverberated through this mining community of 700.

Martin said the shift consisted of some 170 men and that all 36 of these were accounted for.

Daniel Asks Hike In State Spending

No New Taxes In Governor's Plea

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel recommended today an increase of 32 million dollars for state spending in the next two years and said he thought it could be done without new taxes.

But if it should be found that new taxes are necessary, the governor said, he favors a levy of three-fourths of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas from reserves "dedicated by contract."

Such a tax would be paid by the "beneficial owner of the gas so dedicated and for whom such gas is withdrawn," Daniel figured this tax would bring in 35 million dollars in the next two years.

Daniel recommended appropriations of $38,422,075 from the general revenue fund for the two-year period beginning Sept. 1.

He estimated general revenue income at $26,249,998, an excess of $32,172,077 of spending over estimated income.

He said he thought the bill for extensions and improvements necessary to the growth of the state if it could be paid for by taxes from an expected increase in oil production.

"In fact, it is my opinion that we would be able to pay every dollar of recommended expenditures out of actual receipts which will be made under existing law and recommended changes in existing law," the governor told a joint session of the House and Senate.

Total state spending from all sources during the next two fiscal years will be well above 2 billion dollars. That includes income from the general revenue fund, the federal government, and numerous other sources. Daniel's budget message was based primarily on general fund figures—the yardstick for spending and taxing from state sources.

Daniel said the comptroller's Dec. 12 estimate of general revenue fund income anticipated a surplus of 34 million dollars.

"There are circumstances which could occur which would enable the possibility of increased production of oil," Daniel said.

"Existing circumstances justify his calculations. However, it will be a sad day for our state if the circumstances which held our oil production to 15 and 16 days per month during 1956 should prevail for the next biennium," the governor said. He said he had faith in the country and oil refining industry to alleviate "these restrictive circumstances."

Low production allowances he blamed on "excessive oil imports, excessive gasoline stocks, and failure of major refiners and pipeline companies to provide pipeline connections for independent producers."

Daniel said it would be impossible to know for sure whether there would be a tax bill until the large refiners "solve these problems and permit a fair production of oil in this state."

He thus laid the problem of whether to tax or not flatly in the lap of the big oil companies.

The largest single item recommended was $67,818,400 as the state's share in giving teachers an increase to $3,204 a year in starting salaries.

For the two-year period, Daniel submitted appropriation bills in essence as follows:

Judiciary, $5,583,333, substantially the same as that offered by the Budget Board.

Hospitals and special schools, $7,950,037 or $9,399,492 over the current appropriation and $3,672,644 over the Budget Board's figure. Daniel wants six million dollars for buildings rather than two million suggested by the Budget Board.

State departments: $48,946,034 or $5,074,023 over the Budget Board.

Junior colleges, $9,501,530, same as the Budget Board's and $1,761,530 over current spending.

Higher education: $117,858,241, including the Budget Board's increase plus $7,370,530 for teaching salary raises.

Employees' retirement: $6,180,000, same as Budget Board.

To put the drought relief program into effect: $2,241,500, including financing for bonds and $1,024,000 for a new survey agency to be known as the State Board for Water Development.

For state highway right-of-way purchases: $8,000,000 to be paid for with a 10 per cent boost in auto registration fees.

Daniel also recommended $548,000 for anticipated $3,000 annual salaries for legislators; $3,000,000 for the physically and mentally handicapped; $150,000 for the proposed law enforcement commission; $25,000 for a tax study commission; and $1,340,000 for increased salaries for judges. He suggested new state buildings in Austin now under construction not

Guard Won't Be Destroyed Or Reduced, Officials Quote Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—National Guard officials quoted President Eisenhower as saying today he will "not permit the Guard to be destroyed or materially reduced in strength."

Serving as spokesman for four representatives of the National Guard Assn. who met with the President, Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord told newsmen Eisenhower "realizes the value of the Guard and will see that it is maintained."

The delegation called at the White House in the wake of a controversy touched off last week when Secretary of Defense Wilson contended some Guard enlistments during the Korean War were "a sort of scandal," a "draft guarding business."

The Guard group protested to Eisenhower against a Pentagon decision to make enlistees take six months of basic training. The Guard wants training held to 11 weeks for enlistees below the minimum draft age of 18 1/2.

This dispute got still another airing today when a House Armed Services subcommittee began public hearings on the various reserve programs and ways to strengthen them.

It became quickly apparent the Army-Guard row would dominate the sessions.

The first witness, Asst. Secretary of Defense Stephen S. Jackson, testified the Army considered and rejected a plan to draft men into the reserves before issuing its order affecting the Guard.

"We do not believe that we would be justified in submitting such legislation until all other available methods have been tried and proved unsuccessful," he said.

In an obvious reference to Wilson's controversial statement, Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) said "I for one will proceed" on the assumption that "members of the reserve components are loyal and able men and women."

"I do not think it necessary that the subcommittee be furnished any evidence which questions the loyalty of any member of a reserve component, including the National Guard," Brooks said.

Eisenhower last week called Wilson's remark "very unwise." But the President backed the defense chief in saying enlistees should get six months of active training instead of the present 11 weeks.

The six-month program is scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Reckord, who is adjutant general of Maryland, said in reply to questions that there was no mention of Wilson's remark at the White House meeting.

"His name wasn't mentioned," Reckord said.

A bit later Reckord went before newsreel and television microphones and cameras where a reporter asked him:

"Who is trying to destroy the Guard?"

"There are a number of men in the Pentagon who would destroy the Guard if they could," Reckord replied. "Some of them are in high places."

He did not elaborate on that.

"The Guard wants to continue its 11-week training program, contending a longer period would discourage enlistments."

Asked whether Eisenhower promised to reconsider the plan for six months of active duty, Reckord replied:

"The President was very gracious and gave us his assurance that he will not permit the Guard to be destroyed. That satisfied me."

Reckord also pictured the President as "very receptive" and as having promised that the Guard will not be "materially reduced in strength."

"The net result from meeting with the President was most satisfactory from our point of view," the general added.

Reckord and his colleagues spent 40 minutes with the President. Other members of the group were Maj. Gen. Edward D. Sirols, former commander of the 26th Infantry Division; Maj. Gen. Ronald C. Brock, commander of the 27th Armed Division and commander-designate of the New York National Guard; and Maj. Gen. Earle Jones, adjutant general of California.

Israel Defies U. N. Withdrawal Order, Asks Suez Guarantees

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Israel stood fast in the Gaza Strip and along Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba coast today, defying the U.N. Assembly's sixth resolution calling on her to withdraw her troops behind the 1949 armistice line.

The Israeli Cabinet in Jerusalem announced it would still keep occupation forces for the time being in the Gaza Strip and in the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Red Sea Gulf of Aqaba.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said, "No guarantees have been obtained yet for definite stoppage of Egypt's belligerence and sea blockade of Israel."

The 80-nation Assembly late Saturday night adopted a resolution calling again for Israel's withdrawal "without delay." It approved a second resolution authorizing deployment of the U.N. Emergency Force on the armistice line plus "other measures" to keep peace.

Israel had been seeking guarantees against renewal of Arab commando raids from the Gaza Strip and resumption of Egypt's artillery blockade of Israel-bound shipping through the Gulf of Aqaba.

The UNEF resolution plainly did not satisfy the Israeli government. The spokesman said Egypt's "continuing maintenance of a state of war against Israel was the root of tension to the area."

The Israeli refusal was expected to spur a revival of Arab demands for economic sanctions against Israel.

A usually well-informed Arab source told a reporter he thought Egypt would consent to the presence of the U.N. troops along the Gulf of Aqaba and also would refrain from a blockade on the gulf, at least temporarily.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi sounded less cooperative in the windup of the Assembly debate. He said the police force should remain "exclusively on both sides" of the armistice line and not settle any question of "freedom of passage in territorial waters."

One of the Assembly resolutions asked U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, "in consultation with the parties concerned, to take steps to carry out measures" proposed in his Jan. 24 report to the Assembly on Israeli troops in Egypt.

Mrs. H. M. Neel Dies Here Today

Mrs. H. M. Neel, 601 E. 17th St., died in a hospital here at 2:45 a.m. Monday.

She had been in failing health for a long time but had entered the hospital only Sunday when her condition took a sudden and definite turn for the worse.

I. F. - - The Big Question

IF you think you aren't a part of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, then "who" is the organization?

Well, say foundation leaders, "you" are the institution. The foundation, they explain, is the first community-wide effort ever made to attract industry to Big Spring. There's a part in the program for every citizen of the city, and every resident will be a part of the organization whether he plans it that way or not.

There are two ways to look at the question of "Who is the Big Spring Industrial Foundation?"

First, the organization's boosters point out, everyone who invests his money and time in the foundation program is certainly a part of the institution.

Also, everyone who earns his living here, either as a business operator, professional man or employed worker, is a part of the foundation. For by giving, or through failure to give, each contributes to success or failure of the undertaking.

If the program is carried through successfully, all will share in the increased prosperity that will result, either as more business or more opportunity.

If efforts at industrial development have to be abandoned, the growth that doesn't materialize will be a blot upon all faces of the local economy.

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation has been since its beginning a product of Big Spring people. Backed by the Chamber of Commerce, the foundation was established last year with but one objective—to contribute to the economic life of the city.

The organization has a corporate charter, and its "stockholders" are the Big Spring people who invest their money in the foundation program. Those who contribute as much as $100 are voting members in the association. They, of course, determine the course the foundation will follow.

Members have placed execution of the program in the hands of a 15-member board of directors who serve for three-year terms. Directors choose the foundation officers. The president names the executive board.

Present officers are Leroy Tidwell, president; Marvin Miller, vice president; and J. H. Greene, secretary-treasurer.

Directors are Tidwell, Miller, Greene, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Truman Jones, Elmer Tarbox, R. L. Beale, Clyde McMahon, Vance Lebkowsky, Roy Reeder, R. T. Finer, Dr. P. W. Malone, Larson Lloyd, R. W. Currie and Raymond River.

On the executive board are Tidwell, Miller, Cowper, Reeder, Tarbox and Greene. One other executive board member is authorized, but has not been appointed.

Sheriff Gets Extra Deputy

Sheriff Miller Harris' request for an extra deputy in his office was approved by the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday morning, but his plea that two of his deputies be given increases in pay and that the increases allotted to others be set aside was rejected.

Harris expressed satisfaction that the commissioners had reversed their original stand on his request and had allowed him to retain the services of Mrs. Rachel Shaffer, office deputy. He has one more full time deputy than his predecessor.

The matter came up on Monday before the court when consideration of a motion at last week's session on which no vote was taken resumed. That motion was to leave the deputy situation in the office of the sheriff as it had been in the past—in other words to reject in toto the request Harris had made.

Earl Hull then moved that an extra deputy be allowed the sheriff at $250 per month but that no pay raises other than the scheduled raises for deputies adopted some weeks ago be allowed.

On a vote Hull, Hudson Landers and R. H. Weaver voted for the motion. P. O. Hughes voted against it and G. E. Gilliam abstained from voting.

Death Ends Plans To Enlist In Navy

One hour and eleven minutes before he was to have boarded a bus on his way to induction in the Navy, Charles Elton Brown met death on a highway Sunday.

Charles, 20, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Graham, Ackery, was killed instantly in a head-on collision in dense fog that shrouded U. S. 87 16.9 miles south of Lamesa.

The crash occurred at 7:59 a.m. He was to have boarded a Greyhound bus at Ackery at 9:10 a.m. to go to Albuquerque, N.M., where he was to begin induction into the U. S. Navy. A companion, Robert Taylor, who was driving the Graham family car at the time, as well as Patricio Hernandez, Lamesa, driver of the other car, and Elias Narais Jr., Lamesa, were taken in a River ambulance to a Lamesa hospital. They were not hurt seriously.

Services have been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Ackery with the Rev. Roy Haynes, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. D. Mabry. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park, Big Spring, under the direction of River Funeral Home.

A 1954 graduate of Ackery High School, Charles had been a student at Howard County Junior College until mid-term, when he withdrew to start his military service.

A couple of days ago he bought his bus ticket here and at 7 a.m. Sunday he left the family home in a 1952 model Ford. He drove by to pick up his friend, Robert Taylor, who then got under the wheel as they started out to the Sparenberg community. Charles wanted to say goodbye to his girl friend, Ester Reithmeyer, before returning to Ackery and the bus stop. He already had said his goodbyes to the family.

A dense fog which covered the countryside from about 18 miles north of Big Spring to 13 miles south of Lamesa made driving almost a matter of guesswork. Suddenly, out of the curtain loomed Hernandez's 1957 Ford. The impact killed Charles instantly. The two cars bounced apart, but the fog was so heavy that observers said wreckage of one could hardly be seen.

Brownell Opens New Battle On Civil Rights At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell, urging enactment of the administration's civil rights program, said today it would not enlarge the federal government's jurisdiction in this field.

The program is designed solely, he said, to empower the government to proceed through civil action to protect rights guaranteed by the Constitution, instead of having to resort to criminal prosecution, as the law now requires.

Brownell was the first witness at hearings by the House Judiciary Committee on one of the major legislative requests President Eisenhower has made to the new Congress.

A sizable list of Southern foes of the President's proposals was waiting to be heard.

The administration's program calls for:

1. Creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate reported violations of civil rights.
2. Setting up a civil rights division in the Justice Department under an assistant attorney general.
3. New laws to protect voting rights and permit the government to use injunctive power to prevent violations.
4. Provision for civil damage suits where civil rights have been adjudged to have been violated.

The injunctive power would permit the government to seek court orders, in advance of an election, to halt any illegal interference with voting rights. As it is now, the government can only prosecute after actual denial of the voter's rights.

Brownell, alluding to this, said, "criminal prosecution of course cannot be instituted until after the harm has been actually done."

The attorney general said there were numerous statutes authorizing private persons to seek civil remedies, adding:

"I mention this because of the concern expressed in some quarters that enactment of these proposals might enlarge the federal government's jurisdiction and encroach upon the constitutional authority of the states. Such is not the case."

Cool Front Crosses State

A mild cold front, accompanied by fog and misting rain, dropped temperatures 10 to 12 degrees as it pushed across West and North Central Texas Monday.

The mercury dropped to 31 degrees at Dalhart, the only freezing temperature reported in Texas by the Weather Bureau. By contrast, the minimum was 72 degrees at Corpus Christi.

The front entered the Fort Worth area early Monday and extended southwest into the Big Bend Country.

Skies were partly cloudy except for clear patches in extreme South and West Texas.

Wrecks Place 3 In Hospitals

Two car accidents near Big Spring Sunday sent three persons to the hospital and caused heavy damage to four cars, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Joe Fisher, 69, 707 Scurry, widely-known Howard County rancher, and Mrs. Fisher are in Big Spring hospital as result of one of the accidents. Mrs. Elizabeth Lauderdale, 58, Lamesa, driver of the second car in this collision suffered a lacerated knee and bruises.

The patrol officer said that the mishap occurred 5 miles north on U. S. 87 at 6:05 p.m. Mrs. Lauderdale, driving a 1947 Ford, was attempting to make a left turn into the State Hospital grounds. The Fisher car crashed into the first automobile.

The Fishers were travelling south.

Damage to the 1957 Buick in which the Fishers were riding will run around $500. The Ford was demolished.

Ike, Saud Solve Mutual Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and King Saud set their aides working out details today after reaching general accord on such Middle East problems as Red infiltration, reopening the Suez Canal and military-economic support.

The two leaders scheduled one more meeting, probably next Friday, to be followed by a communique summing up their talks.

The New York Herald Tribune quoted King Saud today as saying that the Arab world would find the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine acceptable if "the points I raised here (in Washington) could be clarified to them as they have been to me."

(A Washington dispatch to the newspaper, by Marguerite Higgins, was the first of two articles based on an interview with the King with the aid of a translator.

The King was quoted as saying he would attempt personally to help correct misunderstandings of the past and relay the correct impression of the doctrine to the Mideast nations.)

The 55-year-old monarch was understood to have assured Eisenhower he has no intention of buying arms from the Soviet bloc as his Arab neighbors Egypt and Syria have done.

Officials said Saud told Eisenhower he still looks to the United States for arms and training for Saudi Arabian troops. He is said to want possibly to double his 15, 000-man force, plus more tanks and jet planes.

This would be in exchange for a five-year extension of the agreement permitting the U. S. Air Force to use the Dhahran base 1,000 miles from Russia's Middle East border.

Officials said the three-day Eisenhower-Saud talks were "satisfactory" on these other points as well:

1. Eisenhower's Middle East proposal, now before Congress, to block Communist expansion in the Middle East with broad U. S. military and economic support. Saud was said to feel his own misunderstandings of the plan were cleared up.
2. Reopening the Suez Canal so as to ensure Egypt's sovereignty and to guarantee free access and fair tolls under principles approved by the United Nations Security Council.
3. Economic aid, with some immediate revenue-producing projects being targeted for commercial and World Bank loans, and any grant aid being delayed until after the new fiscal year starts July 1.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, said he believes "a basis for more realistic relations" with Saudi Arabia has been established by Saud's visit.

"Other visits by Middle Eastern leaders are scheduled and I believe that nothing could be healthier for our country," he said.

New Bracero Rules Will Be Discussed

ABILENE — A meeting of West Texas agriculture associations, producer and user groups will be held in Abilene, Feb. 6 to discuss the new regulations imposed by the U. S. Department of Labor regarding Mexican National workers.

J. C. Porter, chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, announced today.

Porter said that approximately 100 persons are expected to attend the meeting starting at 10 a.m. at the Woolen Hotel in Abilene. The discussion will be designed to work out an agreement among users to be presented to Labor Department officials for their consideration concerning the new minimum acceptable standards for the housing of Mexican National workers.

Splitting Mid-East Plan Called Error

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today it would be "a mistake Russia would exploit to the hilt" for Congress to separate the military and economic phases of President Eisenhower's Middle East program.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he opposes a move by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) and others to split apart the House-approved Middle East resolution.

The resolution would authorize Eisenhower to use troops, if necessary, to counter overt Communist aggression in the area. It also would authorize military and economic assistance to combat Communist infiltration.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said he thinks "an area of agreement" is near on the resolution.

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have opposed such a split.

Sparkman said in an interview that a split "would be seized upon by the Russians as proof of their contention that we are a war-mongering nation, interested only in building up military strength against them."

"They would exploit the action to the hilt in their propaganda," he said.

Johnson said that under amendments proposed by Byrd and accepted by Dulles, Congress will have "full opportunity" in building up military strength against them.

Johnson predicted Senate approval of the resolution "before the end of the month."

HOW MUCH IS A USED CAR WORTH?

Depends on the make, the model, and the year, of course. Every dealer tries to tell you his make is worth the most.

Here are the facts! The resale value of every make, model, and year is listed in the NADA Used Car Guide, the official "bible" of the industry. And here's what the NADA Guide shows:

A used Studebaker is worth more than other cars in the low price field, model for model, year for year. For example, the 1956 Studebaker 4-door President has the highest average resale value of all comparable V8's in its price class—both in percentage and in actual dollars and cents.

AFL-CIO Charges 3 Of Its Own Unions In Rare Ouster Move

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO charged three of its own unions today with corruption and failure to reform in a precedent-making ouster move.

Leaders of the merged AFL-CIO pushed for a showdown on charges against the Laundry Workers, Distillery Workers and Allied Industrial Workers unions. The latter union has been the target of recent Senate investigations.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee accused the three unions, claiming a combined membership of 170,000, of looting welfare funds of millions of dollars. The committee's reports were placed before the AFL-CIO Executive Council for action.

The council was reported divided between those disposed to give the three unions another chance to correct matters, and another council group, believed dominant, determined to make an example of the trio for other AFL-CIO unions.

The three unions were roundly condemned in a 1955 Senate Labor subcommittee investigation. The secret reports of the Ethical Practices Committee, summing up findings of the 1955 Senate investigation as well as private union probes, said the unions have done nothing to insure honest welfare fund handling and were guilty of associating with gangster influences.

The reports, it was learned in advance, said this of the three unions: Distillery Workers — The committee said an insurance broker, Louis B. Saperstein, Newark, N. J., kicked back about $647,000 to an indicted union official, Sol Cilento. It said gangsters George Sealise and Anthony (Little Augie) Carfano shared the loot.

Dixie Lowlands Due Flooding As Cleanup Follows In Wake

By The Associated Press

Flooding of lowlands along rivers in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi is expected to increase Monday while spectacular but vital cleanup operations surge ahead in flood-ravaged areas of West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Death of a lineman electrocuted while making repairs on a utility pole in Kentucky brought to 15 the number of lives claimed by the devastating floods.

Damage was estimated at more than 75 million dollars. At least 15,000 were homeless. Many thousands more were idle. Washed out roads and bridges, piled up debris and just plain mud made it difficult and often impossible for workers to get to their jobs.

Virginia authorities were preparing to send doctors and nurses into hard-hit southwest Virginia. Plans also were being made to open typhoid clinics at a number of places. Water systems were being checked for purity as rapidly as possible.

The Coosa River passed flood stage at Gadsden, Ala., while other rain-soaked north and central Alabama streams remained over their banks. The Tennessee River inundated many miles of lowlands along its winding course. Extensive flooding of low sections was expected to continue for several days. But no danger to commercial buildings and residences was seen.

Seven families were driven from their homes in low sections of Resaca, a northwest Georgia town of 325 persons, Sunday night as the Oostanula River rose slightly above flood stage.

The river stood at 30.2 feet and was still rising, Police Chief R. C. Hayes reported. Flood stage is 29 feet.

The Tombigbee River was expected to crest at Columbus, Miss., at 8 p.m. Tuesday at a height of 34 feet.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, estimated the homeless at 15,000. He also said "the worst appears to be over" in West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Gruenther, former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, said the Red Cross had set up southeastern flood relief headquarters in Bristol, Tenn., with regional offices at Logan, W. Va., and Bristol, Va. More than 200 Red Cross disaster experts were in the affected areas, he said.

Joseph H. Wise, Virginia Civil Defense coordinator, made a survey of the flood area and reported it was "a terrible sight."

"You find houses up and down the creeks," he said. Lots of people have lost all their possessions—homes, furnishings. Farmers have lost their outbuildings, their barns and all their tools."

Coal mining, the major industry in southwest Virginia, was disrupted. "So far as I could find," he said, "the mines are all right. But there's no way to get the men in to work and the coal out."

Wise explained that most of the mines "are on the sides of the mountains and usually you have to cross a stream to get to them. Bridges were washed out and the roads going up to the mines were just gullies."

Judge Takes Pity On Elderly Widow

BALTIMORE (AP)—The little old woman stood before the bench in the courtroom, apparently a little bewildered by the proceedings.

Emma Canoles was 82. Her knobby fingers stroked the brass bar in front of her. The charge was larceny: stealing 69 cents worth of meat from a northwest Baltimore food market.

A policeman stood on either side of her. They seemed to be supporting her — with more than physical support. Behind the officers stood four policemen who had offered to pay the 69 cents.

The prosecuting witness — the meat shop proprietor — was saying shoplifting had reached "huge proportions," had become so bad that he had hired two private detectives. Theodore Edlow said he made up his mind the next case would be prosecuted, "no matter who it was."

Magistrate Milton Talkin interrupted: "Usually, when you make a hard and fast rule, the wrong cases come along."

The storekeeper replied:

"We decided we had to draw a line, whether it was a 12-year-old or an 82-year-old."

He recited the facts calmly. A package of meat was taken. He was suspicious of the little old woman. He followed her outside and asked her if she had taken it. He saw her drop the package from under her overcoat. He called police and ordered her arrest.

"Forgive me for being so cold blooded, but something has to be done."

With difficulty, the magistrate tried to get the old woman's side of the story. Mrs. Canoles broke down. She admitted taking the meat. She said she didn't know why, that she didn't even eat meat. She was a widow living alone, she said, and wanted to pay a fine and go home.

"I treat an old youngster the same as I do a young youngster," said Magistrate Talkin. His ruling: probation before a verdict, which meant that the woman would not have a conviction on her record.

Truck Traps Meter Reader

MARSHALLVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Frank Hester, 49, spent 21 hours trapped between a tree and the door of a truck.

Doctors at Peach County Hospital in nearby Fort Valley said Hester suffered a badly mangled left arm, shock and exposure, but was getting along "satisfactorily."

Hester was reading meters for the Flint Electric Membership Corp. Saturday. He stopped his two-way radio-equipped truck and got out to look at a meter. The truck began to roll and an open door pinned him to a tree.

Three hours later he heard a broadcast of his disappearance on the truck radio but couldn't reach the microphone. He blew the truck's horn until the battery went dead. Then he waited.

Two men found him about noon yesterday after an all-night search in four counties.

Say 'Be My Valentine' With His - Her Shirts

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
The going-steady crowd has a new way to tell the world they are meant for each other. They wear matching shirts, made from colored cotton broadcloth in unusual tones such as gold, pale green or olive.

Her shirt may be dressed up with some feminine frills such as rows of narrow ruffles stitched on either side of the front closing and a single row of ruffling around the French cuffs. His shirt is a standard male style.

Local sewing center experts suggest that you whip up a couple of "go-together" shirts in time for Valentine's Day. Less than five yards of fabric will do for both shirts. For his shirt you'll need some interfacing to stiffen the collar and cuffs. For hers you'll need about five yards of ruffling—be sure to get the kind that's already ruffled.

For a young seamstress who thinks a man's shirt requires some pretty expert tailoring, the experts have some reassuring advice. Follow pattern directions exactly, and you'll have little trouble. Those flat felled seams aren't as hard as they sound. Just remember to press the seams as you go, trim carefully and stitch slowly.

Johnson Says Congress Dems To Push Own Drought Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today the Democratic-controlled Congress will push its own drought relief program.

"The program sponsored by the administration thus far has been inadequate," Johnson said in a statement, "and unless we act soon the whole nation will lose priceless riches in soil fertility."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said he had asked the Senate Agriculture Committee "to schedule hearings as soon as possible on my drought relief bill."

President Eisenhower, who recently made a flying tour of drought areas, asked Congress for an additional 76 million dollars to aid hard-pressed farmers and ranchers between now and June 30.

The House Appropriations Committee cut this to 50 million and the House will consider the bill tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Texas House members, led by Rep. Poage (D), hoped to win passage there today of legislation to authorize part of the emergency program Johnson is pushing in the Senate.

The House bill, as approved by its Agriculture Committee, would permit ranchers and farmers in drought stricken regions to get special payments by keeping livestock from seared pasture land.

Johnson's bill also would direct the Agriculture Department to provide "protein-food concentrates—that is, cottonseed cake," as part of the emergency relief program.

Some members of Congress contend that Secretary of Agriculture Benson now has authority to do this, but has limited such drought aid to hay, grains and similar products.

The House Agriculture Committee knocked out this part of the program in an effort to speed action on the "deferred grazing" payments plan.

Johnson said "an immediate supply of protein cake is absolutely essential to the maintenance of the range herds in drought-stricken pasture areas."

Coupled with the deferred grazing program, Johnson's plan aims at letting grass and other forage crops catch hold on drought-stricken lands before they are grazed.

Johnson has wide support from other Western senators. He said some sections now are in their eighth year of drought.

Pilot Doesn't Know Cause Of Disaster

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Alva R. Marsh says he doesn't know what caused his airliner to crash 12 seconds after takeoff. The crash claimed 20 lives.

Marsh's account of the crash was relayed to newsmen yesterday by Alfred A. Lane, vice president of Northeast Airlines. The 48-year-old veteran pilot is being kept "in seclusion" by the airline at an undisclosed location.

"I didn't know anything was wrong," Marsh said, until copilot Basil Dixwell "informed me the ground was coming up at us."

"I was looking at the instruments at the time. They were all working properly," he added.

Marsh's Northeast Airlines plane, a giant DC-6A with 102 persons aboard, crashed and burned Friday night on Rikers Island in the East River after taking off from LaGuardia Field.

More than half of the survivors were injured. Thirty-six remain in three hospitals, 14 of them on the critical list. Five victims were identified yesterday, bringing to 13 the number identified thus far.

The Marsh account contrasted with earlier remarks attributed to him that he experienced a "loss of power" immediately after taking off for Miami, the plane's destination.

Marsh also had been quoted after the crash as saying he thought the airplane had struck a pole on the island.

Asked yesterday if he had been attempting to turn back to LaGuardia Field after the takeoff,

Marsh replied: "I was making no attempt to turn."

Marsh, who has more than a million air miles to his credit in a 19-year career with the airline, replied "No" when asked if he was attempting a forced landing.

Lane asked Marsh, "What in your opinion caused the crash?"

"I don't know," the pilot replied.

Mystery Cloaks Moscow Patient

MOSCOW (AP)—Mystery today still cloaked the identity of a Moscow hospital patient, presumably a high Soviet official, being treated by Russian and German doctors for a blood ailment. His condition was described as critical.

The opening tomorrow of the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, may give an opportunity to find out who he is.

Not even the German blood specialist summoned on the case, Dr. Hans Joachim Schulten of Cologne, knew the patient's name.

When Schulten was summoned, there was speculation the patient might be Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, ailing for nearly two weeks. High Soviet officials said the sick man was not Shepilov or any member of the Communist party's powerful Presidium, successor to the old Politburo.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Shepilov had recovered and was resting near Moscow.

It was the second time in less than two months the post was vacated. Pierre-Louis' resignation followed radio broadcasts by two of the seven candidates for the presidency in this spring's elections threatening a general strike today if the Provisional President did not step down.

There was no immediate indication who would succeed Pierre-Louis as head of the Negro republic in the Caribbean.

It was a general strike — by all signs a spontaneous movement — that forced the resignation of strongman President Gen. Paul Magloire Dec. 12. Magloire went into exile and Pierre-Louis, chief of the Supreme Court, was made acting president to prepare for general elections.

The army, which played the chief role in Magloire's attempt to remain in office beyond his six-year term and then insisted on his resignation, stepped into the current political crisis in an evident attempt to bring order.

Haiti Chief Steps Down

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Bowling to demands of politicians, Joseph Nemours Pierre-Louis reportedly quit as provisional president last night in the midst of Haiti's colorful pre-Lenten carnival.

It was the second time in less than two months the post was vacated. Pierre-Louis' resignation followed radio broadcasts by two of the seven candidates for the presidency in this spring's elections threatening a general strike today if the Provisional President did not step down.

Gore To Seek Bill To Limit Individual Campaign Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is drafting legislation to limit the amount any single individual can contribute to political campaigns in any year.

Without direct reference to Gore's announcement, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, predicted Congress will act on "a comprehensive revision of the election laws."

Gore headed a Senate Elections subcommittee which reported during the weekend that the 1956 general election cost at least $33,187,725.

That was the total only of "direct expenditures" the subcommittee said it could trace down. The actual outlay, it added, "far surpasses that figure."

Total contributions from individual persons ran as high as the $73,164 reported by Lansdell K. Christie of New York.

Gore said in an interview Congress ought to move swiftly into this field.

"My bill will propose that the amount any person can contribute to political campaigns — and that would include all political committees — be limited each year and that each contribution be reported to Congress," he said.

Gore indicated he is thinking in terms of a $5,000 yearly limitation, although he personally would prefer to lower this to $1,000. He said criminal penalties would be provided for failure to report any contribution.

Under present laws, an individual can contribute up to $5,000 each to as many committees as he chooses.

Gore and Sen. Mansfield of Montana, a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, joined in a formal report which contended that Republicans outspent Democrats about 2-1 last year.

They said that on the basis of figures reported to the subcommittee, Republicans laid out $20,685,357 to $10,977,790 spent by the Democrats. Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.), third member of the subcommittee, challenged these figures.

The expenditures of labor's political action committees, totaling $941,271, the subcommittee said, were spent almost entirely on behalf of candidates of the Democratic party. On the other hand, 12 selected wealthy families contributed $1,940,526 to Republican candidates and committees and only $107,109 to Democratic candidates.

The families named were the DuPonts, Fields, Fords, Harrimans, Lehmans, Mellons, Ollins, Pews, Reynolds, Rockefeller, Vanderbilts and Whitneys.

The report said 73 members of the DuPont family gave $248,423, all the Republicans.

Of Christie's $73,164 contribution, the report said, $70,564 went to the Democrats and the remainder to miscellaneous committees. Second largest among the individual contributors was Mrs. Charles S. (Joan Whitney) Payson, who gave the Republicans $65,050.

Old-Time Fighter Dies In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Harry H. Halsell, 96, trail driver, Indian fighter and author who credited his long life to numerous guns and the ability to use them, died quietly in his home here yesterday.

Halsell, who said he got his first six-shooter when he was 7, was born Oct. 1, 1860, in Clarksville, Tex., and ranged in Texas and New Mexico many years.

Later he became an author and wrote nine books, including an autobiography, about life on the cattle trails in the 19th century.

"I realize now," he wrote in 1941, "that for three decades, from 1870 to 1900, the habit of being well armed saved my life on several occasions."

By the age of 11, he was a regular hand helping his father drive cattle north from Texas. He once helped drive a herd down Commerce Street here when Fort Worth was a frontier town.

On several occasions, he used his six-guns and rifle to fight off Indians. His wife helped.

Halsell said one of his closest scrapes came on Christmas Eve, 1880, in southwestern New Mexico.

He had driven his stock into a small valley with only one entrance and bedded them down. Near midnight he spotted a group of Apaches riding toward him in the moonlight.

Halsell said he mounted his horse, held the reins in his teeth and fired a six-gun in each hand as he charged the group. The Indians, believing a large band was attacking them, scattered and Halsell escaped. He said he later learned the famous Geronimo had been in the lead and the band had just ambushed a stage coach.

Halsell, who moved here from Lubbock in 1945, turned to writing when his trail days were over. He had nine books on Western lore published.
