Cabinet Member To Testify In Oil Price Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today that Secretary of the Interior Seaton will be asked by Senate investigators to say what recommendations he has for dealing with recent price increases in oil and gasoline.

Seaton has been asked to testify Thursday before a combined Senate Antimonopoly and Public Lands subcommittee headed by O'Mahoney.

The subcommittee is inquiring into the emergency oil-for-Europe program and the recent widespread price increases in this country of 35 cents a barrel for crude oil and one cent a gallon for gasoline and fuel oil.

A separate probe of the price increases has been scheduled by a Senate Commerce subcommittee.

Some members of Congress have accused the oil industry of taking advantage of the Suez Canal crisis to gouge American consumers, while others have suggested that the higher prices may be justified by rising steel wage costs.

The oil companies cite higher production costs as the reason for the price increases.

Seaton, whose Interior Department supervises the emergency oil lift set up last November after most of Europe's supply was cut off by the Suez blockade, had been scheduled to be the first witness when O'Mahoney's subcommittee began hearings last Tuesday.

His appearance was delayed by uncertainty over when he would return from an Alaskan trip.

O'Mahoney said Seaton will be questioned about the price situation "since the record shows that the government had been warned that the plan (for increased oil shipments to Europe) would inevitably result in price increases."

The senator also said that now that Secretary of Commerce Weeks has declared the administration has no thought of reestablishing price controls, he has no doubt Seaton will be asked "his views and recommendations for alternative action."

Weeks' remarks were made after President Eisenhower, at his news conference Wednesday, said that if business and labor ignored his appeals to curb price and wage increases the government might have to move in with some kind of controls.

Seaton will appear on the ballot in the order in which they are received. Thus the first three names on the ballot will be Hall, Grice, and Dabney.

Dabney, though being mayor, is actually a commissioner and is elected as such. The mayor is then elected from the five-man commission at the first meeting of the new

Three Candidates File For Commission Posts

Within the space of a 24-hour period Friday and Saturday, three persons filed for the city commission election in April.

The election will be held April 2, with two commissioners to be named.

First to sign Friday about 3 p.m. was Commissioner Ward Hall. About 30 minutes later, Doyal Grice filed, and then Saturday morning, Mayor G. W. Dabney entered his name.

Statements by Dabney and Hall are printed in today's edition of The Herald, but Grice could not be reached for his statement Saturday.

The election is slated each year for the first Tuesday of April. Two commissioners are elected on odd-numbered years, and three on even years. Terms are for two years.

Any person in the city may enter the campaign by applying at the office of the city secretary. The person does not have to be a taxpayer. Also, there is no charge to sign.

Deadline for applications is midnight, March 2, or 30 days prior to election.

Names will appear on the ballot in the order in which they are received. Thus the first three names on the ballot will be Hall, Grice, and Dabney.

Ward Hall

Ward Hall, member of the Big Spring City Commission for one term, Saturday announced he is submitting his name for re-election. Hall has filed officially for a place on the ballot which comes before municipal voters on April 2. During his first term, Hall has spent considerable time in working with other commissioners in updating the city's street machinery and other working vehicles.

He was assigned direct responsibility in clearing the tract near Birdwell Lake, which is contemplated as a future civic area.

Hall said Saturday: "It has been a real privilege to have served as a city commissioner for the past two years, and I am most grateful."

Officials saw a possibility that some new blowup may result from the present tensions over Israel's refusal to withdraw its forces unconditionally. If that happens, it could cut heavily into the gains which Eisenhower registered this week in his Middle East diplomacy by reaching successful agreement with King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Israel's Defiance Puts New Pressure On The U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—A bad squeeze some time next week over the issue of sanctions against Israel. This could happen unless Israel pulls its forces immediately out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba region, as demanded by the United Nations.

Tied into the problem are the questions of getting the Suez Canal reopened to world shipping, obtaining an arrangement with Egyptian President Nasser concerning the canal's operation, and the whole U. S. policy of wooing the Arab bloc.

Officials saw a possibility that some new blowup may result from the present tensions over Israel's refusal to withdraw its forces unconditionally. If that happens, it could cut heavily into the gains which Eisenhower registered this week in his Middle East diplomacy by reaching successful agreement with King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

The squeeze which the administration now sees developing is that between the Arab-Asian bloc of 27 nations in the United Nations, which object to imposing sanctions, or at least object to imposing them on Israel alone.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said this week it would be immoral to clamp down on Israel without acting also against Russia, which failed to comply with the U. N. resolution to get its troops out of Hungary.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said today he did not believe it would be either fair or effective to impose sanctions on Israel.

Wiley said he felt the United States "rightfully insisted that Israel forces withdraw promptly from Egypt." But he said Israel "definitely is entitled to reasonable guarantees of security and access to the Suez Canal" in exchange for withdrawal.

Dulles met at his home with President would make any statement but they were absolutely certain he would not break the cease-fire with a military attack on Israel.

Israel, meanwhile, is holding fast to the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh sector of the Gulf of Aqaba until she is certain her rights will be protected against any Egyptian attack. Some delegates said a statement from Nasser disavowing belligerent actions could be used to meet the Israeli demands for guarantees. They were pessimistic on getting this statement, however.

There was, moreover, no hint of a break in Israel's adamant position. The Israelis have said repeatedly that some arrangement must be worked out so that Egyptian guns cannot once more blockade Israeli shipping at the Sharm el Sheikh entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba and that Arab commandos no longer can spring from the Gaza Strip into Israel in destructive raids.

The Gaza Strip and the coast of the Sinai peninsula along the Gulf of Aqaba are all that are left to Israel of the Egyptian territory seized when Israeli soldiers invaded Egypt last October.

Rate On Cotton Cut $6 A Bale

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today slashed about 200 million dollars out of government price support commitments under farm aid programs.

Benson announced lower price supports this year for cotton, oats, rye, barley, sorghum grain, soy beans, flaxseed and cottonseed. However, he continued the present rates for dairy products.

Rates are yet to be set for corn, dry beans, and a few minor products. All of these are expected to be lower, too.

The reduction in cotton was nearly $6 a bale or a total of about 72 million dollars on an average size crop. The government's price support obligations would be reduced roughly these amounts on other average size crops: oats 70 million dollars; rye 2 1/2 million; barley 21 million; sorghum grains 11 million; soy beans 15 million; flaxseed $4,600,000, and cottonseed 10 million.

This does not necessarily mean that grower returns from these crops will be reduced accordingly. It is possible that market prices themselves will average above the support rates—as they do now.

Of the supports announced by Benson so far, only those for dairy products, wheat, wool and mohair have not been lowered from last year.

The reductions are in line with the administration policy that price floors should be reduced in times of surpluses to discourage overproduction and increased in times of shortage to encourage greater production.

Benson held out a possibility that the cotton support rate might be raised. He said that if market prospects improve or supplies dwindle more than now expected by harvest time, he would make an upward adjustment.

After Benson's action was announced, Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) said he was urging reconsideration of the cut for cotton. He said he previously had suggested to Benson an increase in the support price.

Thurmond said, "This reduction makes clear the great need for fixed price support levels on the basic farm crops." The South Carolinian said in a statement he would introduce legislation to fix supports "rather than to leave that important matter to the discretion of the secretary."

As in the past, the support program—if needed—will be carried out through government loans to farmers on stored supplies or government purchases.

The rates announced today, compared with last year's and the average price farmers received for them in mid-January, included:

Cotton—28.15 cents a pound for the middling 1/8 inch base grade compared with 29.34 cents last year and the average producer price of 30.21 cents in mid-January.

Oats—60 cents a bushel compared with 65 cents last year and the grower average of 75 cents in mid-January.

Barley—94 cents a bushel compared with $1.02 and the mid-January average of $1.05.

Rye—$1.15 a bushel compared with $1.27 and the mid-January average of $1.22.

Sorghum grain—$1.53 a hundred pounds compared with $1.57 and the mid-January average of $2.13.

Soy beans—$2.09 a bushel compared with $2.15 and the mid-January average of $2.31.

Flaxseed—$2.92 compared with $3.09 and the mid-January average of $3.04.

Cottonseed—$46 a ton for cottonseed stored under loan compared with $48.60 last year, and $42 a ton for cottonseed bought from producers compared with $44 last year. Grower prices averaged $60.40 in mid-January.

Milk used for manufacturing purposes—$3.25 a hundred pounds, the same as last season. The mid-January producer average was $3.36.

Butterfat—58.6 cents a pound, the same as last year. The mid-January price average was 59.1 cents.

A support rate for cotton was designed to reflect 77 per cent of parity compared with 82.5 per cent last year. The rates for the small grains were designed to reflect 70 per cent of parity compared with 76 per cent last year.

Sees A Two-Billion Cut In The Budget

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California predicted today Congress will help along the fight against inflation by cutting President Eisenhower's money requests by two billion dollars.

The President proposed actual spending of $71,800,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1 but asked an additional 1 1/2 billion dollars be appropriated for later outlays.

Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have expressed hope that Congress can find places to cut their budget.

The President proposed actual spending of $71,800,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1 but asked an additional 1 1/2 billion dollars be appropriated for later outlays.

Knowland acknowledged that Congress can't control directly the amount the administration actually will spend, but he said a 2 billion dollar slash in authorizations would be bound to cut these outlays.

"Such a reduction would set off a chain reaction and force department heads to look around to see where they can save some money currently," he said. "It certainly

The front was poised just north of Dallas Saturday night and extended west to Big Spring, Wink and El Paso. Temperatures in north portions were expected to be 15-20 degrees lower Sunday.

The Weather Bureau said the front probably would set off more showers in the southern part of the state.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Seven persons, including six in one family, drowned tonight in an automobile that plunged into the Miami River.

The dead were identified as Teresa Evans, 22; George Evans, 5; Henry Evans, 4; Raymond Evans, 2; Louis and Anthony Evans, 6-months-old twins; and Charles Wright, 12.

Ralph Evans, 50, father of five of the children, and Edwin McDonough, 50, a friend, struggled to safety from the submerged machine.

Commissioners Will Have Little To Do Monday

Howard County Commissioners Court will convene Monday at 10 a. m. for its regular February meeting, but there seems to be no special business in sight for the board to consider.

A few belated bills not previously presented by Lee Porter, county auditor, will be handed to the commission for action.

There may be some further discussion of ways and means to speed up acquisition of the land needed for the Howard County airport.

Deals have been made with the three landowners for their acreage and only the routine preparation of deeds and approval of the abstracts remains to be done.

The commissioners will designate official depositories for county funds, it was said. However, this is a formality only.

ingly, was sent to the President at Thomasville, Ga., where he is vacationing. It said in part: "Your rejection of a request of outstanding southern Negro leaders that you speak in the South against the immorality of racist violence has shocked millions of Americans, Negro and white . . ."

"We, over 350 delegates to the 16th national convention of the Communist party, believe we express the wishes of the majority of the American people in urging you to issue in the South a new Eisenhower doctrine for enforcement of the Supreme Court desegregation decisions and against the racist advocates and practitioners of force and violence."

The telegram was presented to the convention by Carl Winter, of Detroit, the Michigan Communist chairman.

The convention for the first time in history, admitted nonparty observers. The observers have been identified with non-Communist liberal and civil rights causes.

The four-day convention is being held in the Chateau Gardens, a red and white stone structure which formerly was a Protestant church. Located about a block from the Bowery on the lower East Side, it is now used largely as a hall for wedding receptions and other social and club affairs.

More than 60 other places had refused to house the convention.

The singing of the Star Spangled Banner opened the convention, the spokesman said. He told reporters, who were admitted to a small press room but not to the meeting hall itself, that an American flag hung over the podium. He said there was no other flag. Nor were there any photographs of Communist leaders.

South American Girls Look For Money To Visit Texas

Two young ladies from South America would like to sample Texas ranch life in this area. Currently at the University of Massachusetts where they are working toward their M. A. degrees in English, they have but one big obstacle in their ambition to visit the Lone Star State. It is money.

"We are here on scholarships granted to us through the Institute of International Education," they wrote in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce here. . . . As things are, we definitely cannot afford this visit to Texas because all the money we have is the $25 a week we get in return for our (part-time) teaching of Spanish . . . That is why we have dared appeal to you."

They are Flesia Munoz, a native of Chile, and Ana Maria Cordones from Argentina.

"Both of us have read a lot about the State and to be honest with you we are dying to see some of it . . . We decided to be so bold as to ask you whether you see any possibility of finding some Texas family who would be willing to have us as guests some time—no matter how short a time—during our summer vacations."

The Chamber doesn't have any funds to finance such a trip, but if anyone does, invitations could be addressed to Miss Flesia Munoz and Miss Ana Maria Cordones, Machmer Hall, Room No. 208, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass.

Five Accidents In City Friday

After a week only slightly dotted by accidents, five occurred here Friday.

Two of the days last week the city went without a mishap. Friday, however, at Eighth and Runnels, Hazel Allen, 1008 1/2 Runnels, and Wesley Hendricks, 1103 Pennsylvania, were in collision.

Tessie Hooper, Gail Rt., and Mrs. Elsie Steagald, 901 E. 16th, collided at Eleventh and Goliad.

The impact of the collision threw the Steagald car into a brick retaining wall at the Doyle Thomas residence at 511 Eleventh. The wall was on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Joe Tom Draper, 1011 Scurry, and Fern Smith, 306 Abilene, were drivers of cars colliding at Scurry and Fourth. At Sixth and Gregg, Jimmie White, 809 1/2 Runnels, and Adren Westbrook, 600 Main, were involved in an accident.

Floyd Boles, 1600 Sycamore, and Ted Groebi Jr., collided in the 100 block of Main Street Friday night.

Habeas Corpus Hearing Is Set

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, has scheduled a hearing for Tuesday on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The petition was filed in the court by counsel for Harry Sonnier, now held in the Howard County jail.

Sonnier, according to his petition, is wanted in Louisiana for simple assault. He contends his extradition to Louisiana is not justified and he asks for a writ to avert his removal from this county to that state.

Sheiff Miller Harris said the records showed Sonnier, whose home address here is listed on the jail blotter as 204 Benton, was first arrested on Nov. 17, 1956, on a request from Louisiana. Three days later he posted $2,000 bond and was released pending action on Louisiana's plea to extradite him.

Early this month, the papers were received and Sonnier was arrested on Feb. 4. He is still in the jail.

Pound Fees Take Effect

The dogcatcher will travel in a different direction on the way to the city pound Monday with animals picked up, and it won't be quite as easy for the owner to redeem the animal either.

The dogcatcher will take all animals to the new pound pens built at the city warehouse, 911 E. 2nd. Heretofore, the pound was located at Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach's veterinary hospital.

Also Monday, the city will start collecting pound fees for all dogs redeemed. Before, the owner could claim the dog by showing it had been vaccinated and registered.

Now, however, in addition to these two requirements, the owner must pay a pound fee of $1 plus 50 cents for every day that the dog is kept. Where a dog is registered, the owner will be immediately notified that the dog has been impounded.

The pound fees were approved as part of the city dog ordinance passed in January.

Eight Aliens Complete Junior College Course In Citizenship

Eight individuals who hope soon to become a part of the United States of America have completed a basic citizenship class at Howard County Junior College.

The class was arranged especially to prepare them for citizenship examinations in United States district court. Virtually all plan to try for their citizenship at Abilene or San Angelo and are eagerly awaiting the next term of court.

In the course, Miss Ina Mae McCollum grounded them in the basic concepts of democratic government in this country, together with fundamental historical highlights. A major portion of the course was devoted to the U. S. constitution and its amendments, as well as to the responsibility of citizenship in America.

Those who satisfactorily completed the course were:

Mrs. Nobuk Shimahuku Adams, whose husband, Hulan Adams, works for Webb-Davis Produce Company at Terminal. She is a native of Japan and her home was on Okinawa. The Adams have a boy and a girl, Curtis and Dianne.

Fareno Severio, a native of Southern Italy and who entered the Air Force four years ago at Sufferin, N. Y. He currently is stationed at Webb AFB.

Mrs. Mary Miriam Nanez, a native of Lancashire, England. She and T. Sgt. Saverio Nanez met in London 14 years ago. He now is stationed at Webb and they make their home at 504 Presidio.

Mrs. Dorothy Bierschawie, who came from Suffolk, England. She met M. Sgt. Fred Bierschawie, now at Webb, during World War II and they were married 11 years ago. They have two children, Jeanette and Irene and reside in building 19, apartment 3, Ellis Homes.

Mrs. Anna McMahon is a native of Poland, but the town is not listed because she still has relatives behind the Iron Curtain. She met S. Sgt. Max L. McMahon five years ago in Germany. They have been in the States for the past four years and they make their home at 803 Gregg.

Mrs. Anita Mokes was reared in Munich, Germany, and she met M. Sgt. William T. Mokes three years ago. A bold girl, she made

Women Voters Tackle State Water Issues

BELTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—With some 200 women smiling approval, the Texas League of Women Voters' president told them tonight they are "the ones to solve Texas' water problems."

"It is the job of each of us," said Mrs. Horton Smith of Austin. She was the final speaker during a day-long Texas Women's Forum on Water, sponsored by the Brazos River Authority and Mary Hardin-Baylor College.

Federal and state water experts told the women "Texas' biggest stumbling block is not having a state agency which has as its main duty to develop and coordinate a state water plan.

Mrs. Smith said each woman should spread the word in her community on solving the water problem.

Harry Burleigh, Texas engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, said Texas needs "a voice to speak for the state on an informed basis."

Other panel members agreed the proposed Texas water development board could furnish the answer. The board would be created under pending legislation.

The women applauded Mrs. Marguerite Neundorf of Kerrville, who said a woman should be on the board.

"If you want to get the job done," Mrs. Neundorf said, "put a woman on the board."

New Leader Calls On GOP To 'Solidify'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 9 (AP)—Meade Alcorn called on fellow Republicans tonight to seize the opportunity in the 1957 and 1958 elections to "solidify the new alignments now taking place" in the Republican party.

Bulgarian Asks M'Millan To Visit Moscow

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin has invited Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to visit Moscow and has asked the British leader to suggest a convenient date.

The text of letters between the two, broadcast tonight by Moscow radio, made it evident Bulganin did not intend to take "no" for an answer. Macmillan, in shunting aside an earlier invitation to his predecessor, Sir Anthony Eden, to visit Moscow in May, left open the possibility of some future visit.

Moscow radio broadcast the letters a day after Washington sources said Macmillan and President Eisenhower were working on plans for a meeting in Bermuda March 21.

In his letter last week Macmillan expressed hope that a situation might develop when a visit to Moscow might be welcome to Bulganin "and timely from the world point of view."

Replying, Bulganin said if Macmillan was unable to undertake the May visit "we would like to know your opinion about another more acceptable time of the visit for you, which could be additionally agreed upon."

"We do not doubt that a meeting with you in Moscow could afford the possibility for a fruitful exchange of views on questions of direct Anglo-Soviet relations, as well as on other questions which are of interest to both sides."

Tech Acquires 'Rare' Bible

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's library has acquired a rare Doves Press Bible.

The Bible was printed in Great Britain at the turn of the Century. Purchase was made possible by a gift from Alpha Chi, Tech honorary scholastic fraternity which has been replaced with a chapter of the national honor society Phi Kappa Phi.

Tech Librarian, Ray Janeway, bought the old Bible, published in five volumes, in a Chicago bookstore.

"We settled on the Doves Press Bible because of the fine typography and simple beauty of the book. A Doves Press Bible is considered one of the most nearly perfect examples of the typographical art," he said.

Work on the Bible was all done by hand. The large, readable type was especially designed by T. J. Cobden-Sanderson, owner of the now extinct English Doves Press and one of the early practitioners of the modern school of bookbinding. It is a variation of Jensen Book Type.

Covers of the five volumes are of white vellum, calf skin prepared as parchment. They are gold embossed. The books have decorative red capital letters at the beginning of each book of the Bible. It is a Scrivener's Paragraph Bible rather than a King James Version.

Guard, Pentagon Get Down To Figuring A Compromise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Shouting has given way to talk of compromise in the row between the Army and the National Guard as to whether new Guardsmen should be ordered to six months active duty.

This is the argument that reached deafening pitch after Secretary of Defense Wilson dropped his now celebrated remark about a "sort of scandal" during the Korean War. The scandal, Wilson said and Guard spokesmen furiously denied, was the enlistment of some young men in the Guard to avoid being drafted for combat.

A House Armed Services subcommittee which has been considering the issue is now in a week's recess. Some of its members, however, talked about two ways in which the issue might be resolved:

1. Split the six months training in two, so that it would fit into two summertime school vacations.
2. Let the Army agree to the Guard's preference — compulsory training for 11 weeks only — with the understanding that if it doesn't work the whole question will be reconsidered in a year.

Two Fires Cause Slight Damages

No damage was reported at the Lee Nuckles residence at 809 E. 12th after a washing machine shorted out. Firemen from the Eleventh and Birdwell stations answered the call.

A short in wiring caused a blaze at 2006 Gregg and brought slight damage to the roof of the structure, occupied by Marvin R. Smith. The blaze was extinguished by firemen from the 18th and Main substations.

Philmont Or Bust

This was the slogan employed by Post No. 9, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church, last summer. The post made a trip to Philmont Boy Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N.M., and spent most of two weeks on the rugged wilderness trails of the mountains. In charge was Marshall Day, right. Others making this senior camp were Turner Ferguson, Allen McElrath, A. C. Rawlins, Cliff Epps, Bill Owens, Richard Long and Austin Ferguson.

Practicing For The Round Up

The biggest single event of the Buffalo Trail Council is the Round Up, held in March of each year at the special grounds south of Big Spring. Members of Troop No. 9 brush up on their skills for string burning—an event entailing fire by friction and building a fire that will burn the string. The boys are Leahmon Bryant, Dannie Wright, Nelson Cremon, Ray Alexander, Ronnie Cox, Kenneth Bentley, Charles Rathmel is Scoutmaster and the assistant Scoutmaster is Ralph Titus.

Registration Increases 10 Pct. In Council During Past Year

Registration increased by approximately 10 per cent in the Buffalo Trail Council during the past year. Reports heard at the annual meeting in Midland on Jan. 15, showed the total number of boys enrolled as Cubs, Scouts and Explorers had reached 7,734 at the end of the year. This compared with 7,069 the previous year, 5,651 at the end of 1954 and 3,214 at the close of 1947. Thus, in 10 years the membership of the council has substantially more than doubled. The percentage factor was 149 with a net gain of 4,520, according to reports by Dr. Glen E. Stone, Midland, chairman of organization and extension. In the number of new units during the decade, the gain was 200 per cent, or a jump from 115 up to 345. During the year immediately past, there was a net gain of 39 units. There were 44 new units (a pack, troop or post) which were organized, and seven other units were dropped from enrollment. This reflects one of the patterns toward which the council has been striving—organizing new units and reducing the number of dropped units. This has been responsible for the big gains in membership during the past two years. Statistically, here is the picture of boy membership for several years:

	1947	1954	1955	1956
Cubs	1,312	2,778	3,734	4,186
Scouts	1,760	2,088	2,387	2,547
Explorers	142	785	939	1,001
Total	3,214	5,651	7,069	7,734

The new unit picture is as follows:

	1947	1954	1955	1956
Pack	72	105	123	123
Troops	115	140	161	161

FOR PARTICIPATION

Council Adopts 'Together Plan'

"Together" is the way that the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council hopes to build boy participation in Scouting this year. Maurice R. Koger, district chairman, announced that W. C. Blankenship, former superintendent of schools and a holder of the Silver Beaver award (highest honor the council can bestow on an adult leader), had accepted the chairmanship of this project.

Under the "together plan," representatives of some 15 or 20 institutions, which lend themselves to the possibility of sponsorship of units (packs, troops or explorer posts), will be invited to a dinner at the Settles ballroom on Feb. 26. There the details of a Scouting unit, how the sponsoring institution determines the policies of the unit and how the unit becomes a part of the youth program of the sponsoring institution, will be explained.

Members of the executive committee as well as the organization and extension committee will assist in the program.

Those attending will break into smaller groups according to the types of units they think their institution might sponsor. There are more detailed information will be furnished and initial steps taken

Publishing People Reject Unionizing

DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP)—Workers at Taylor Publishing Co., rejected unionization today 320 to 83. Company officials said the vote represented the largest election in the commercial printing industry in Texas history. The company is considered the nation's largest college and high school yearbook printing plant. The election, conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, was sought by the Paper Products and Specialties Workers Union.

Scouts Advance More In Work During 1956

Boys in the Scouting program showed a disposition to advance more in their work during 1956, according to reports of the year's work by W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring, council advancement chairman.

The only exception to the rule in the Buffalo Trail Council was in the Explorer division where advancement sagged slightly.

Over all, there were 8,066 advancements in rank during the past year, compared with 7,252 in 1955. In addition, there were 3,168 merit badges earned as against 2,649 the previous year.

There was a significant increase in the number getting the Eagle rank, highest in Scouting. There were 28 who earned this coveted award, and there were 16 others who earned the Silver awards in Explorer scouting. The year before there had been 23 Eagles and 28 Silver awards.

Comparative figures for advancement on a council basis showed:

WHAT'LL IT BE . . . CHICKEN OR CHILI

The Herald Newsboys— (And Their Fathers!) Will Know By February 26

"Busy Boys Are Better Boys"
Encourage Your Own Herald Carrier To Stay On The Winning Side!

Yes, the annual "CHICKEN OR CHILI" contest between Herald Newsboys is here again! And this year it will be even bigger as it will be a Father and Son contest. The boys—more than 50 of them—are now competing in a two week friendly game of business and they'll get together for one big party. At that party, the winning team will sit down to a plate heaped with golden brown fried chicken and all the trimmings, while the losers must be satisfied with a bowl of chili and crackers. But it'll be fun, for the boys and their dads and the contest will be a worthwhile enterprise for every one of them!

Herald Newsboys during the "Chicken or Chili" contest will be testing their mettle as little businessmen. Two teams will be in friendly competition, each out to best the other in such practices as signing up new subscribers, in making prompt delivery of papers, in giving good delivery service to all customers, in making prompt collections, so that they can be prompt in paying their own bills, and in taking active part in The Herald Newsboys' meetings and activities. It all means that the most energetic boys, and the best business boys, will get to eat good old fried chicken.

IF YOU ARE NOT NOW A SUBSCRIBER, SIGN UP DURING THIS CONTEST!

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CAN BE FUN
Boys' classes engage in basketball game

Physical Education Is Vital Part Of High School Program

He — or she — may not get any bodily exercise elsewhere, but virtually every student in high school or junior high gets a couple of years of physical education.

The exceptions are the few who aren't physically able to participate in the games and exercises that make up the physical education programs for boys and girls in both junior high and high schools.

Recent tests — here and across the nation — indicate that American youngsters are far behind European young people in muscular fitness.

Physical education instructors don't think school PE programs should get the credit for the poor American showing, though. They blame other factors.

Johnny Johnson, head of the PE program at Big Spring High School, pointed to a schoolground full of automobiles.

"Nobody walks to school anymore," he said.

Johnson also said that "sandlot athletics have largely disappeared and pointed out the tendency of young people to sit at home and watch television or spend their time in other non-physical activities.

An alarming number of Big Spring boys also can be seen smoking, drinking, staying up late and engaging in similar forms of dissipation, according to the high school instructor.

Johnson believes the high school physical education program could be intensified, but he thinks the program is a good one as it now stands.

Four semesters, or two school years of physical training are required for graduation from high school. The programs are varied to fit the interests of as many students as possible.

Johnson handles the boys' PE program in high school, and Anna Smith is in charge of the training for girls. At the present, there are 160 boys and 310 girls in the PE classes. The boys' total doesn't include football and basketball players who get credit for their sports activities and who engage in separate physical education programs "out-of-season."

Approximately a fourth of the student's PE time is devoted to health education. This includes regular eye, ear and dental inspections by the school nurses, plus classroom work in health studies, lectures and motion pictures.

Actual physical training is divided into six phases for both boys and girls.

The boys started last fall with touch football, moved into gymnastics, tumbling and boxing, then basketball. This is followed by volleyball, track and field, and softball, with at least three weeks of health instruction integrated with the track and field program.

Playoffs, or tournaments, are held for all of the sports in the boys' program. For the girls' program, there is intramural competition conducted before school and during the noon hour.

Girls who participate in the interscholastic volleyball program get the remainder of their PE training in an athletics class similar to those conducted after-season for football and basketball boys.

The junior high and high school PE apparently pays off in improved physical condition for the youngsters.

Eighty per cent of local high school girls passed the Kraus-Weber "minimum muscular fitness tests" recently, and 74 per cent of the high school boys passed.

That is in sharp contrast to the results of the same tests given to practically all of the pupils in Big Spring schools. City-wide, 47 per cent of the boys and 51 per cent of the girls were found to be deficient in at least one of the six muscle groups tested.

The value of regular and intensive physical activity was demonstrated by the Kraus-Weber tests. Of the 58 football players who took the tests, 56 passed in every category.

The tests are designed to gauge the fitness of abdomen, back, thigh and hip muscles and aren't "physical fitness" tests in the strict sense. Too, they were given pupils without benefit of a "warm-up."

However the same tests given on a mass scale in several European countries showed that only eight per cent of European students were deficient in at least one phase. In this country, the survey found 57 per cent failing at least one of the six measurements.

In Europe there are more bicycles, fewer automobiles and fewer television receivers. So America may be producing "a nation of weaklings," as charged by John B. Kelly, U. S. Director of physical fitness during World War II.

Y's Member Campaign Is In Progress

The Big Spring YMCA moves toward the second report meeting of its annual membership campaign on Tuesday with prospects that goals may be reached by then.

The initial report on Thursday showed 64 per cent of the membership goal attained. This compared with 43 per cent for the first report on last year's drive which eventually went over the top and proved the most successful in the history of the association.

Both divisions reported an aggregate of 202 members enrolled. George Oldham's division, with 113 memberships, was well ahead of that led by J. B. Apple with 89 members.

Arnold Marshall's team, in the top division, was the leading group with Grover Good, former general secretary of the Y, setting the pace with 37 members. Dan Krausse, with 11, was second high individual, and Mrs. Bill Neal and Mrs. J. D. Cagle, with nine, each, were tied for third.

Mrs. Neal's team, also in the top division, had 33 members, barely ahead of the 32 for Tom Guin's team in Apple's division.

H. W. Smith's team was third with 26 members and Mrs. Lee Rogers was fourth with 20.

The 202 memberships added an aggregate of $1,925 to the YMCA budget, which depends upon members for 50 per cent of its total.

Couple Sits Out Search For Pup

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Until Sugar Ray is found, Mrs. A. L. Newcomer is making the Los Angeles Union Passenger Terminal her home.

"We're staying here until they find my dog," she said last night. The "we" includes her husband, a boilerman in the Navy; their other dog, a young cocker spaniel named Peanut; and their parakeet, Baby.

"I've got 30 days leave," said her husband, "and if the dog doesn't show up, we'll spend it right here."

Sugar Ray is a 4-year-old female sheltie and Mrs. Newcomer, 29, said the dog is insured for $1,000. Sugar Ray was in a box, with Peanut in a train bringing the family from Oakland to Los Angeles Tuesday night.

"When the train slowed down at Berkeley to take on mail," said Mrs. Newcomer, "Sugar Ray got out of the box and jumped out the door."

She says she is going to wait at the station — not to spite the railroad — but because "when they find her, this is where they'll bring her."

When the train reached Los Angeles Wednesday morning, and she found that Sugar Ray was missing Mrs. Newcomer fainted.

A Tribute to Our School Teachers!

Today, as no time before in history, the school teacher is recognized as the builder of tomorrow's America! With juvenile delinquency increasing apace and foreign ideologies creeping into our school books, it is high time that glowing tribute was paid to these patient men and women who instruct our young. Let's remember that teachers are human beings, not machines. Let's give them the support and confidence they so richly deserve. Let's attend P-T-A meetings and contribute something more than children. This community is fortunate in having such fine schools and outstanding educators. We applaud their work and their good American achievements!

Prison Sentences Set At Garden City

Three pleas of guilty were heard in 118th District Court in Garden City last week and one criminal case was dismissed. Guilford Jones, district attorney, stated Saturday.

Froylan Lopez, charged with theft, was sentenced to three years in state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty. Lopez had been sentenced to three years earlier in the week at Big Spring on another indictment.

Joe F. Flores, charged with theft, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years but the sentence was probated. He was indicted jointly with Lopez in the Glasscock County theft case involving batteries.

Martin Fyiling, charged with DWI first offense, was sentenced to five days in Glasscock County jail and a fine of $150 was assessed.

Trial of Robert Jean Walker and Leroy C. Wilkinson, charged with car theft, was called in the district court. A jury was empanelled and the evidence begun.

Jones then moved that the case against the defendants be dismissed. He told the court he was not satisfied with the evidence that his witnesses were providing for the prosecution.

Judge Charlie Sullivan agreed with the district attorney and the case was dismissed.

Stanton, Midland Burglary Suspects Are Transferred

John Paul Harris and Charles Read, held here in connection with an investigation into a burglary at Midland and a second at Stanton, have been turned over to the Midland authorities, Miller Harris, sheriff, said Saturday.

The two men were picked up Thursday night by deputy sheriffs on night patrol west of Big Spring on U.S. Highway 80.

Their actions led the deputies to stop the car in which the two men were riding and question them. In the car, the officers found a quantity of tools — hammers, axes, nail bars and assorted chisels.

These tools were later identified by the City Lumber Company of Midland as tools taken from their establishment earlier Thursday night by burglars.

Further search Friday by officers on the roadside and on the Lomax cut-off brought to light a quantity of small change, a money box and other items which were identified as having been taken Thursday night from the Billington Motor Company of Stanton.

The money recovered had been strewn along the road for some distance — officers speculated that it had been thrown out of a car. Harris said he did not know what disposition of the two men would be made in connection with the Stanton break-in.

Sheriff Dan Saunders was in Big Spring Friday after the arrest of the two men and talked with officers about the Martin County case.

Harris said both men were known to officers in this county. Harris said he had no charge more serious than operating a motor vehicle without a license that he could file against either of the men.

Policemen In New Uniforms Saturday

Policemen blossomed out in their new brown and tan uniforms Saturday morning — two days before previously planned.

Chief of Police C. L. Rogers told The Herald Friday that the department would not change to the new colored uniforms until Monday morning.

But when the day shift reported for duty Saturday at 7 a.m., they were sporting the new suits. Members of the day shift had left Friday thinking they would wear the old uniforms but were notified later of the change in plans.

The hot weather Saturday forced the men to discard their waist-length jackets, which are about the same shade of brown as the shirts.

Lamesa Highway Patrolman Quits

LAMESA, Feb. 9 — Henry Crump, a member of the Texas Highway Patrol for the past 5 1/2 years, tendered his resignation as a patrolman Thursday.

Stationed at Lamesa for the past 3 1/2 years, Crump has become well known throughout the area. He declined to give his reasons for resigning his position, but said he was thinking about applying for the position of chief of police here.

That office was also vacated Thursday by Sam H. Floyd, chief here for the past six years.

Floyd's letter of resignation charged interference in the police department by the city administration, a situation he termed "intolerable." His resignation followed the dismissal of three members of the department, Crump's wife, and Patrolman Harold Parsons and Herman Hamilton, and the resignation in protest of Patrolman David Hughes.

City Manager Carroll Taylor has named Captain Emmett Crecellus as acting chief.

Cotton Ginnings Increase In '56

ABILENE—J. C. Porter, Wichita Falls, chairman of the agriculture committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, reported that preliminary figures of the U. S. Department of Commerce indicated that West Texas cotton ginned from the 1956 cotton crop tops the 1955 ginnings.

Porter said that approximately 2.24 million bales of cotton were ginned in the 152-county region served by the WTCC, about 11,000 above the total in 1955. He estimated the total value of the cotton crop, including both the value of the cotton and cotton seed, would be nearly $400 million. Only 28 counties in the WTCC region ginned less cotton in 1956 than was ginned in 1955.

Demand For Car Tags Is Heavy

Rush to buy 1957 motor car tags is continuing at an unabated pace, Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax collector, reported Saturday.

Saturday when the car tag office closed down for the weekend, 1,160 new tags had been issued.

Current tags are in the CX-800 bracket. All of the 399 CW series vanished two days after the sale began. The CX numbers run to high totals and will be standard "stock" for some time to come.

Number of truck, tractor, trailer and other special tags issued in the past week was not known. The total released by Mrs. Robinson is for passenger cars only.

The shipment of tags to the county included 14,980 passenger tags, 2,290 truck plates, 625 farm truck plates and 1,200 trailer tags. Other special tags ran the shipment's total to 20,200 for the county.

$15 For Polio Protection, But Majority Don't Buy

Virtual immunity to polio is available to Big Springers for $15, but many are not taking advantage of it.

The record shows it. This immunity is through the three-shot Salk polio vaccine series which is now available to persons of all ages.

The records of hospitals here reveal that very few people are taking advantage of the vaccine. The number of indigents who are getting the shots is increasing, however.

Only two of the city's hospitals would estimate the number of shots given since the vaccine was placed on the market. That was April of 1955 in Big Spring. At that time, however, it was earmarked only for elementary school children.

Malone-Hogan Hospital estimated that about 3,600 shots had been given to citizens. This includes first, second, and third inoculations. Big Spring Hospital officials said they had given between 2,500 and 3,000 injections.

The other two hospitals here, Medical Arts and Cowper, reported they could give no totals, because such records are not maintained.

However, if each's total was between 3,000 and 3,500, the total in Big Spring would be only about 13,000 or about a maximum of 4,300 persons with all three shots.

At Webb, officials could not give the total number of injections given, but the amount of money spent on polio vaccine since it became available totaled $19,000.

Dr. R. B. G. Cowper reported that although records were not kept at his clinic, the number has increased during the past two or three weeks. He said many of the shots were given to adults.

At Medical Arts, officials said that many parents would take the shots at the same time their children or babies had them.

Malone-Hogan estimated that a very small percentage of shots given there went to adults.

The hospitals here charge $5 per shot for the serum, and the three-shot series is required to receive complete immunity to the disease.

Records compiled by the State Department of Health reveal that no person in Texas who has received all three Salk polio shots has contracted the disease.

The number of indigents receiving free serum at the city-county health unit is increasing.

During 1956, a total of 1,737 shots were given, and during the two past weeks alone, 211 have been given. This is about one-eighth of the entire 1956 total. Twenty-one shots were given last Friday.

The health unit gives the shots to indigent families, and the vaccine is furnished by the state.

Air Force personnel and their families can obtain the shots at Webb free. This serum is given on a voluntary basis, however, and is not a required governmental shot.

The series of injections is given over an eight-month period.

After the first is taken, the person must wait 30 days before having the second. A seven-month waiting period is then prescribed before the final injection is given.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation provided the vaccine free for its employees and their families recently at one of the local hospitals. The first inoculations were given during a specified period, and employees who had their shots at other times had to pay for them.

Rains Cause Foot Rise In Lake Thomas

Lake J. B. Thomas, the reservoir for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, had leveled off at elevation 2,249.30 Saturday, accounting for a gain of slightly more than a foot.

In terms of water, this was more than 6,000 acre feet, or two billion gallons.

The rise, occasioned by heavy thundershowers which moved across from west of Lamesa to ward Fisher County, where floods occurred, left the lake with roughly 145,000 acre feet. This figures out 71.1 per cent of the capacity. Maximum elevation of the lake at service spillway level would be 2,258.

Level of the lake now is the highest it has been since Nov. 22, 1956. The volume of water caught during the past week was more than a fourth as much as was impounded during all of 1956 when the inflow amounted to only 22,750 acre feet. The gain was the first since Oct. 19, 1956, when 2,000 acre feet were added and the largest since June 16, 1956, when showers put in 7,000 acre feet. A year ago at this same time the lake level was 2,253.30 feet.

Most of the increase this time came from Bull Creek, which is diverted into the lake basin. Bull Creek drains much of east and northeast portions of Borden County. There was some runoff from the Colorado River, particularly from heavy downpours on the upper reaches in Dawson County near the Lynn County line.

Junior High Bond Issue Is Proposed

A recommendation that the Chamber of Commerce sponsor a petition of a junior high school bond issue election was adopted Friday by the C-C Education Committee.

The panel proposes that an election be called on a bond issue "sufficient to build an adequate junior high school, including such auxiliary facilities as will permit operation of a well-rounded junior high program."

The group also urges that "careful study be given to projected high school enrollments with a view to incorporating within the issue sufficient funds to solve this impending housing problem."

The recommendations, which will go before the Chamber's board of directors Feb. 18, were approved after Floyd W. Parsons, a member of the committee and superintendent of Big Spring schools, outlined the present junior high situation.

Parsons told the group that the existing junior high is badly overcrowded by more than 1,150 students, with a plant capable of properly accommodating only about 750 pupils. While the school district has on hand some $550,000 for junior high construction, some $800,000 will be required to provide a second junior high for the city, he said.

The superintendent also explained that expansion of the present junior high facilities is impractical because of lack of sufficient ground area and an unfavorable traffic situation. Too, he said, educators have determined that first-class junior high programs cannot be provided for student groups numbering more than 750.

The Education Committee recommended that the Chamber initi-

LETTER TO EDITOR

Writer Disagrees With Herald, City In General

To the Editor:

I see by your paper of Feb. 6 that you are not in favor of the Texas Legislature butting into local city affairs. What I am interested in is the work hours of the Big Spring firemen who work on an average of 72 hours per week at slave wages.

In the first place Big Spring is not a city in the sense of the word. A city is a large and important town with civil affairs pertaining to a city within a nation.

I am 60 years of age and have lived in Big Spring for the last four years due to the fact my son-in-law is stationed at Webb AFB. I fully realize that you as a newspaper owner have a large "heart," that is in regards to newspaper "adds" and a few other local interests. As to your city commissioners and their duties to find money to pay local bills, I noticed the first thing the commissioners did was to raise their own pay (the writer has confused the county commissioners with the city commissioners—Ed.) and forgot about the poor firemen. I also fully realize that 12 hours a day, six days a week is only half a day; the other 12 hours can be spent by fishing, washing dishes, and a few hours in bed.

What I really want to know is what is going on in Texas. I have to purchase out-of-town papers in order to keep up with the times or what is going on the State of Texas. No one wants to be a hero in this state for the wars are all over.

Why not come down to earth and see what is going on around this great city you brag about?

Lack of sidewalks on most side streets; Chamber of Commerce as dead as the local cemetery; I am 60 years of age and have lived in Big Spring for the last four years due to the fact my son-in-law is stationed at Webb AFB. I fully realize that you as a newspaper owner have a large "heart," that is in regards to newspaper "adds" and a few other local interests. As to your city commissioners and their duties to find money to pay local bills, I noticed the first thing the commissioners did was to raise their own pay (the writer has confused the county commissioners with the city commissioners—Ed.) and forgot about the poor firemen. I also fully realize that 12 hours a day, six days a week is only half a day; the other 12 hours can be spent by fishing, washing dishes, and a few hours in bed.

I could go on and on but I am positive you would not dare print this letter in your paper. Enclose please find some of the junk we have to read by Joe Pickle. It is a good article and represents, "Juggling Smells"; also Inez Robb "To Be or Not to Be"; Hal Boyle "Political Odd Jobs Man."

Sir, the best thing in your paper is the comic sheet and Mr. Bregor.

Sincerely,
James J. Monroe

Cupid Idle In February

What's with Cupid in this county anyhow?

Here it is February — month of Valentines and romance.

Yet, somehow, the love-and-kisses theme just isn't jelling.

Records of the Howard County Court Clerk's office show that only two marriage licenses have been issued during the first eight days of the traditional month of hearts and flowers.

Marriage licenses issued to Feb. 8 were for:

Robert Wayne Myers and Maxine Rosson and for William Clinton Bedwell and Sandra Lynn Vaughn.

The proposed plan of Western Hatcheries to place 5,000 laying hens in the county may be an opportunity for some farmers to add a good sideline income.

Details will be worked out tomorrow night in a meeting at the Davis Feed Store. The hens will be the heavy meat type and the eggs will be bought by Western Hatcheries. They will be hatched and the baby chicks then sold to broiler producers.

Under the proposed plan, the producer will keep the hens on the floor, but will also have a net-wire pen extended from the side of the poultry house so the hens can stay either inside or outside.

The heavy breed chickens won't lay as many eggs as the smaller types and may require a little more feed, but that 20 cents a dozen extra for eggs will more than offset the added expense.

The biggest advantage with this project is when the farmer can furnish his own milo. Davis and Cunningham fed 15,684 pounds of milo in the experiment. If a farmer had done this and made the same profit, he would have been getting $4.34 per hundred for his maize.

Star Line.

The head of a loan agency says farmers are essentially honest.

"We didn't get good returns this year," he said, "but nearly every man who made a few bales of cotton came in and paid what he could."

The main trouble, he said, is that so many are in so deep that only three or four good years in a row will ever get them in the clear again.

Farmers in Dawson County are already getting a head start on the 1957 cotton crop by putting down fertilizer. Van Dell Ball, Lamesa dealer, says he has two tractors working regularly spreading anhydrous ammonia and 9-45-0. He furnishes the fertilizer, spreads both kinds on at a single application, and charges so much per acre. The farmer also pays for the fertilizer at retail prices.

Ball said farmers are using more fertilizer every year to get higher and higher yields. The average amount for each acre is about 60 pounds of anhydrous ammonia and 133 pounds of the phosphate. Later some owners will sidestress with more nitrogen.

"There are several advantages to putting down fertilizer now," he said. "It helps rot the stalks and the nitrogen changes to a form that will last longer. Instead of a fast, lush growth early in the season, the stalks will grow more evenly and fruit out heavier."

Another advantage of winter fertilization, Ball says, is that farmers have the time to do it now. Later during the rush of cultivation, they sometimes neglect this important part of cotton farming.

Clyde Burns, living west of Ackery, says raising dogs is an interesting hobby. That's about all it is now, he said, because the high price of dog food takes out all the profit. He feeds them a special dog meal. It is much cheaper than canned food, and those dogs are so big they could eat two or three cans every meal.

Burns owns the Silver Kennels and keeps a dozen or so purebred German Shepherds, sometimes called German Police Dogs. He keeps them in large pens, but often lets them out to exercise.

Contrary to popular belief, the German Shepherd is not a vicious dog unless trained to be. He is intelligent, loyal to his charges, but will battle anything when aroused.

Burns said the government is using no other kind for watch dogs and in combat. A lot of them are being used to guard military installations.

Marvin Sewell thinks one way a livestock farmer can beat the high price of feed is to grow bundle feed, providing of course he gets rain enough for a crop.

"It seems that back when every farmer had a big stack of bundles, he never worried much about feed," Sewell said. "The price of protein doesn't break anyone. It's having to buy roughage that hurts."

Sewell put up a lot of silage back in 1955 and made it last until about a week ago. If he gets a seasonable year, he'll be trying to fill the silos again.

Howard County's only pig parlor has raised its first batch of pigs at a modest profit of $2.93 per animal. Jay Cunningham and John Davis put 41 pigs in the pen. They weighed about 90 pounds apiece and were fed an average of 61 days, gaining 1.8 pounds per day.

Cunningham said they might have done better, but tried to use some homemade feeders which allowed the pigs to waste some feed. They have remedied this by installing a factory built feeder.

They figured the feed at retail prices and kept an accurate account of expenses, though no labor costs were counted.

What happens to old cowboys when they can no longer ride the range? Some may fade away, but Bob Asbury is busier now than he ever was managing a ranch.

A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Asbury moved away from the Elbow community where he had been foreman of a ranch for nearly a quarter of a century. They bought two acres of land between the Cosden Refinery and Sand Springs and meant to take it easy. They built a house and service station, drilled a small irrigation well and intended to raise a big garden.

Now, however, they are having to manage the station and don't have time to think of retirement. They also irrigate a small tract. They say the water is only about 50 feet from the surface, and several good wells have been found along the highway.

"People come out every week looking for acreage to buy," Mrs. Asbury said, "but there's not much left for sale. A lot of town people would like to move out here if they could find a place."

Parents' Liability For Damage Done By Kids Is 'Voluntary'

By SAM BLACKBURN
If your youngster is one of that special breed of kids categorically classified as "delinquent" and if he goes on a rampage and wrecks some other citizen's house or business establishment—don't worry about it.

You don't have to pay for the damage the brat did—if it happens you don't want to.

Big Spring attorneys say there is no law in the books by which parents of juveniles who damage other people can be held liable for the damages.

There is only one exception—if a parent is present at the time the vandalism is being perpetrated or if the parent encourages his offspring to do whatever it is being done—then it is possible to make the parent responsible and force him to make reparation.

This is the rule, attorneys say, which applies in the case where a parent permits a youngster with no driver's license to operate the family car. The youngster, perhaps, has a wreck or runs into someone. The law holds the parent is to blame in this case and he can be made to pay the bill for damages resulting.

Recently, a pair of Big Spring youngsters broke into a business establishment. They stole nothing but they used their time to wreck the premises. Stock in the establishment was ruined—to the point where it had to be thrown away. The boys were captured. They admitted the offense. They were sternly admonished by the juvenile court and remanded to their parents.

The proprietor of the raided establishment can get whatever consolation and benefit hearing the judge scold the kids may offer for him.

He can make such repairs and restock his ravaged store as best he can—out of his own pocket that is. The parents of the youngsters who staged the raid and who committed the vandalism, have no responsibility to recompense the injured party under the law. If they choose to do so voluntarily that is their business.

And, as a matter of record, this is often done in cases where juvenile delinquents are involved. The parents voluntarily make good the loss sustained by the victim. Lawyers insist that such action is strictly a decision by the parents—there is no legal liability against them. Their children are free agents.

Things, however, seem to be a little different in the case of a man who owns a pet dog. If the dog goes on a rampage and destroys or damages property of a neighbor, the owner can get socked for the damage his pet has done.

The dog is property of the man, presumably—and as property, destruction perpetrated by him is chargeable to his owner.

Children are not chattels and if they go on raids and destroy or steal, that's an entirely different matter.

Study of the records of the juvenile court here reveals that many of the offenders who are brought before R. H. Weaver, juvenile judge, are involved in cases of vandalism.

These are instances where for no known reason, kids destroy property. They may break into houses and cut up furniture, break dishes or mar walls. Or they can destroy and damage property outside of buildings. They do not gain any material thing from the deed—the whole object seems to be to destroy and damage.

It is frequently related that the owner of the property is not even known to the young vandals.

Occasionally such youngsters are ordered committed to Gatesville Training School or to the Gainesville Training School.

However, in a great many instances, the only penalty imposed on such kids is a lecture, a warning not to repeat their offense. Then they are probated either to their parents or to some other person.

Youngsters who steal, deprive the owners of the property stolen of its value. The amount may be just a few cents or it may run into a sizable sum. This, generally, is merely the result of how little the raiders find they want to steal, and not by any planned intention on their part not to take more.

These offenders are generally accorded the same treatment in the court. No one—unless it so happens the parent of the thief chooses to voluntarily do so—pays the victim for his loss.

'Chicken-Chili' Contest Set For Herald Carriers

Herald carrier boys today are launching one of the major contests of the year — a contest to improve service to their customers and to increase their routes.

This is the annual "chicken or chili" event, which has been held for many years.

The Herald carriers are divided into two teams — "East" and "West" — for the competition. The contest runs through Feb. 23, and three nights later, the lads will sit down to dinner. And, the winning team will be eating fried chicken and all the trimmings, while the losers will have to be content with a bowl of chili.

At the chicken-chili event this year, the Little Merchants will have their Dads as guests, and the Dads will be sharing the same menu as their sons. Winning team is not announced until time for the meal.

In the contest, Herald carriers will be awarded points for signing new subscribers, for handling their routes without a customer complaint, for paying bills promptly, and for attending route meetings.

At Top Of His Game, Casper Builds Lead

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP) — Shooting the best golf of his life, Billy Casper of Bonita, Calif., today took a four-stroke lead in the $15,000 Tucson Open with a 66-65-66-197. "There were the three best rounds I've ever shot," Casper said. "The golf I played today was the best of the week."

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., were tied in second place with 64-hole scores of 201. Newcomers Don Whit of Alameda, Calif., and John Cleary of Hartford, Conn., were a stroke behind at 202.

HOGS, TEXAS WIN Tech Upsets SMU, Rice Bops Frogs

LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP) — Church Key looped in a field goal with only five seconds to play tonight to give Texas Tech an upset 68-67 victory over Southern Methodist, the nation's fourth ranking team.

The game ended in confusion as Jim Krebs, the SMU star, stood under the goal and waded wildly, claiming he was calling for a timeout. But the officials said they never heard the call.

The SMU bench emptied onto the floor and stormed the officials but there were no blows struck. Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference leader with a 15-2 record, was ahead 67-56 with only five minutes to go. Then the Mustangs went into a stall but Tech kept stealing the ball and sinking free throws on SMU fouls until it had drawn within a point at 2:32 on Logan Cummings' crisp shot.

Shortly afterward Rick Herrescher of SMU was fouled by Rod Hill of Tech but missed the free throw. However, the Methodists got possession of the ball again. Then Tech's Ned Underwood tied up Herrescher and got the tip, the ball going to Sterling Gibson.

Tech then tried to run out the time for one last shot but lost the ball out of bounds. However, Key intercepted Bobby Mills' pass in and speeding to the keyhole landed a jump shot for the winning points. A crowd of more than 6,000 saw Tech win the game to bring its season record to 8-9.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 9 (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks coasted to a 63-46 basketball victory over Texas A&M here tonight before 3,500 fans, keeping alive their Southwest Conference championship hopes.

Coach Glen Rose's Porkers had little trouble in chalking up the important league victory. They took command early in the first half and never slacked off until sure of the outcome.

Houston, Feb. 9 (AP) — Texas Christian got more rebounds and more shots, but the Rice Owls, thanks to superior marksmanship from the field, took a 90-79 decision from the Horned Frogs tonight.

The Houston school connected on 31 of its 73 attempts for 42.4 per cent, while TCU, shooting 15 times more, hit only once for 34.1. The Frogs grabbed 24 more rebounds.

Gerry Thomas and Ronnie Stevenson were the game's offensive stars with 22 points each for their teams. The guarding of Temple Tucker, Tom Robitaille and Gary Griffin held TCU's Dick O'Neal to one field goal in nine tries, his lowest mark in three varsity seasons. He added 10 free throws for 12 points.

Rice led consistently after the opening minutes, carrying leads of between five and 10 points throughout the game until the Frogs narrowed it to five points, 62-57, with 7:40 remaining.

At this point, however, Rice regained its poise and opened a 13-point gap.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP) — The Texas Longhorns tonight shot Baylor out of its zone defense and then roared to an easy 95-68 conquest of the Bears before a partisan crowd of 7,300.

The hot-shooting Longhorns, led by Kenneth Cleveland who netted 20 points, hit 44 per cent of their shots in the first half as they broke the game wide open 10 minutes deep in the period and coasted to a 47-34 halftime margin.

The Steers, after building up a nine point lead, 22-13, with nine minutes gone, loafed the rest of the way. Baylor managed to pull up to within five points, but thereafter was never closer than the halftime margin.

Clarendon Rips HC Quint In West Zone Go, 69 - 65

CLARENDON (Sp.) — Howard County Junior College couldn't close a four-point gap here tonight and dropped a close one to Clarendon Junior College, 69-65.

Three of the taller HCJC men, Bobby Wardell, Stan Williams and Johnnie Watson, all fouled out in the first half and left the Jayhawks seriously handicapped. However, they knotted the count at 40-40 soon after the second half opened. Clarendon pulled ahead quickly by four points and maintained that margin practically all the way to the wire.

Mike Powell kept HCJC in the running with some sharp shooting, hitting eight field goals and the same number of free throws for 24 points and the evening's honors. William (Buz) Bailey was high for Clarendon with 18.

Charles Clark, the Jayhawk high-scoring forward, didn't suit out Saturday night. His feet had been giving trouble and it was doubtful before the team left on the road trip that he would play.

The defeat was the second in two nights for HCJC, both in West Zone play, and left them with a 2-2 record within the conference. The Big Springers play Frank Phillips in Borger on Tuesday night.

The Jayhawks' overall record now shows 17 wins and five defeats.

Ponies Defeat Yearling Five In Meet Finals

Undefeated Midland San Jacinto rallied in the final half to bowl over the Big Spring Yearlings in the finals of the third annual Big Spring Junior High School basketball tournament here Saturday night, 63-30.

The provincials led at the end of the second quarter, 25-24, and led by as much as four points in the third round but, in the end, the Mustangs' superior height swung the issue Midland's way.

Bill Brown led the Cayuses in scoring with 18 points. Dick Campbell had 12 and Mike Humphrey ten for the visitors.

Members of the all-tournament team included Larry Shoemaker, Andrews; Jerry Tyson, Odessa Bonham; James Ingram, Odessa Crockett; Bill Pruitt, Midland Cowden; Everett; Zay LeFevre, San Jacinto; Marsh, San Jacinto; and Larry Herring, Midland Austin.

Big Spring advanced to the finals with a 67-42 win over Andrews Saturday afternoon, leading all the way. Later, San Jacinto vanquished Crockett of Odessa, 56-42, after trailing for a half.

Zay LeFevre and Donnie Everett played well for Big Spring in the semi-windup. Zay bucketed 16 points while Everett had 13.

Crockett did a fairly good job of containing Mike Marsh, Jacinto's top threat, but Mike Humphrey and Bobby Brown broke loose for 15 and 17 points, respectively.

Odessa Bowie won seventh place in the meet by defeating Midland Cowden, 44-39. Homer Mills, formerly of Big Spring, scored 16 points for Bowie.

Big Spring belted out Midland Austin, 58-22, in first round play Friday as Everett tossed in ten points and Rex Appleton nine for the Yearlings. Charles Caraway gave his subs a liberal workout in that one.

ODESSA, Feb. 9 (SC) — Monahans won the 1957 Permian Basin girls' volleyball tournament by turning back the Big Spring Steerettes, 15-9, 15-9, 10-7, in the finals here Saturday evening.

Anna Smith's Steerettes had advanced to the finals by flogging Kermit in the semi-finals, 15-6, 17-15. Monahans qualified by sidelining the Big Spring reserves, 15-6, 12-7.

Kermit won third place by bouncing the Big Spring B team, 8-6, 13-4. Big Spring A opened up Friday by clipping Percs, 15-10, 15-12, then hurled Andrews in the second round, 15-9, 13-3.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Quite probably, were it not for athletic relationships, communities no more than a few miles apart would exist as islands in quarantine, each remote and strange to the other. . . . Athletics perform mankind a service by forming a great and popular medium for conversation, camaraderie and endeavor. . . . Regrettably, over-enthusiasm can all too often lead to excesses and abuses of the original idea behind intra-city and intra-school rivalry, however. . . . No where in relationships between schools and communities is there a place for the kind of rowdiness that went on during and after the basketball game between Big Spring and Odessa in Odessa the other night. . . . Fights broke out, rocks were thrown, school buses were tampered with and the Big Spring team was showered with garbage during the heat of competition. . . . Quite probably, an element not in school detested the trouble. . . . Big Spring, of course, is certainly not without blame in the incident. . . . Fact is, the reception the Odessa delegation received on a trip here earlier in the season inspired the demonstration in Odessa. . . . A hostile air blanketed the local gym all evening. . . . Visiting cheering sections were drowned out by local boos and insults. . . . Such demeanor always reflects on a school and a city, even though the great majority of onlookers might be wholly innocent of blame. . . . It should be the responsibility of everyone to see that good sportsmanship and infectious hospitality is practiced here in all instances where contacts are made with out-of-town delegations. . . . Let some other community serve as a bad example for sportsmanship. . . . The local Chamber of Commerce was sounded out recently on the possibility of staging the NATA baseball tournament here this year. . . . Such a meet would cost in the neighborhood of $10,000. . . . No favorable action was taken on the matter. . . . Archie Moore, the lightweight boxing champion, has been fighting professionally 22 years.

Answer Due From John Ford Shortly

John (Model-T) Ford may be able to give Big Spring a definite answer about taking the first assistant's coaching job here, now that Ed Doherty has landed the head job at the University of Arizona. . . . Ford was very much in contention for the position for a while. . . . The job would have paid him $10,000 yearly. . . . Jimmy Beeme, the McCamey aide, is out of the local picture. . . . He got a raise there and elected to stay on. . . . Selbo, Midland High School's basketball mentor, at about $6,500 yearly, is the second highest paid coach on the Midland staff, although he doesn't tutor in football. . . . Though he has dedicated himself to a career in medicine, TCU's Jimmy Swink will very probably play pro football a season or two, according to Davey O'Brien, the Frog guard who visited here not long ago. . . . Swink needs money to continue his schooling, according to Davey. . . . Though Randy Hart will be the only regular back at Abilene and Johnny Malaise loses eight of his first 12 boys at Odessa. Coach Johnny Johnson of Big Spring expects those two schools to figure largely in the District 2-AAAA basketball race again in 1958. . . . A new basketball rule proposal which makes some sense would require, when a shot is taken at the basket and is missed but touches any part of the backboard or rim, the retriever (if he is a teammate of the shooter) must bounce the ball at least once before shooting again. . . . He could, of course, pass off to another teammate. . . . Sacramento Junior College in California recently suspended two pole vaulters for kidnapping two alligators. . . . The creatures were taken from the city zoo and placed in the college swimming pool. . . . Hank Watkins, who recently quit the Abilene coaching staff to become a University of Houston assistant coach, played his high school ball at Corpus Christi under Harry Stiteler and Bill DuBose.

Blossingame Not Eligible At Denton

Al Milch says one of his big objectives this year will be to get adequate dressing and equipment rooms built for the football team here and adds Supt. of Schools Floyd R. Parsons, among others, have pledged their support toward such a project. . . . Right now, the Steers' dressing room ranks with the poorest in the state and there isn't such a thing as an equipment room. . . . Al plans now to start spring training here Monday, April 22. . . . The new coach has already started a new home here south of H.C.C. . . . Milch is of German extraction. . . . When the family first arrived in the states, the family name was Von Milch. . . . As long as Ed Price was head football coach at the University of Texas, his teams never had a punt blocked. . . . Ray (Shorty) Snyder recalls the time that Breckenridge hired Eck Curtis away from Ranger by offering him an annual raise of no more than $100. . . . The transfer gave Eck a big boost on his way to coaching greatness. . . . It turned out that the former Hawk, Jim Blossingame now at N. Texas, won't be eligible this year due to the fact that the Missouri Valley Conference has a hard, fast rule that athletes who fail to graduate from junior colleges will not be eligible their first year in a senior college. . . . Jim is a brilliant student but he attended the college here only one year. . . . It's possible Blossingame may run in an open event in the ABC Relays here March 15-16. . . . Tommy Black, who quit the H.C.J.C. cage squad here in mid-season to concentrate on track and field, recently scored 66 points for Elliott's Drug in a practice basketball game against Nabors Paint Store at Midway. . . . Despite Black's wholesale point-getting, the Drugists got beat, 113-111. . . . Ted Kroll, who played a golf exhibition in Odessa the past week, tours the country in a chauffeured Cadillac with his name emblazoned on the doors. . . . The vehicle and driver are supplied by Kroll's sponsor, George S. May, of Chicago.

Faculty Cage Teams Tangle In HS Gym At 2:50 Friday

Faculty teams representing the high school and junior high will come to grips in their annual basketball tussle at 2:50 p.m. Friday in Steer Gym. . . . A crowd approaching capacity is nearly always assured for the imbroglio. . . . For one thing, the students are presented with the possibility of departing classes at that time. . . . For another, the battle often is a lot of games rolled into one—soccer, perhaps; polo, more than seldom; musical chairs, could be; bull fighting, likely as not; and Greco-American wrestling, it has come down to such. . . . Keeping a wary eye for all infractions will be "Seeing Eye" Worley and "Blind Tom" Ernest. They may not be the best in the business but they're due to give both teams the business. . . . The names of some of the so-called athletes will use are probably longer than their endurance. . . . For instance, there are "Round-Ball" Baird, "Tiny" Bell, "Jim Dandy" Yates, "40-point" Johnson, "Half-Court" Milch, "Thump Thump" Bentley, "Clinging" Vines, "Tom Gola" Green, "Eely" Manely, "Jive" Shive, "Pot Shot" Pierson, "Free Throw" McDonald, "Dead Eye" Davis, "Wee Willie" Williams, "Crow" Ball, "Farrar," "Dauntless" Dawes, "Worry" West,

Summer Tan Wins McLennan Stake

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Summer Tan whipped Bardston today in the $60,000 McLennan Handicap at Hialeah Park with a blazing strength drive that carried him across the finish line three and a half lengths in front. . . . Switch On was another three and a half lengths away in third and Mr. First was a length and three quarters back to take fourth money. These four were all left in the race after three late scratches. . . . Summer Tan, given a great ride by jockey Dave Erb, ran the mile and an eighth in 1:44.4 over a track that was called "fast" but had dried out only during the afternoon and was not at its peak for speed.

Officers Named By Softballers

COAHOMA, Feb. 9 (SC)—New officers were elected recently at a meeting of the Coahoma women's softball team, held at the Hi-Way Cafe. . . . Irene Harding will serve as president and captain for the approaching season. Other officers will be Pauline Dodson, secretary; Winnie Dodson, treasurer; and Bobbie Nell Parrish, reporter and co-captain. . . . In all, 16 persons attended the meeting.

Simmons And Phils Agree To Terms

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9 (AP)—Curt Simmons, who had to prove he could reach the plate, let alone pitch, before the Philadelphia Phillies would sign him last spring, has signed his 1957 contract at an increase in salary. He was the 17th Phil to sign. . . . The Phillies refused to hint at Simmons' 1957 pay, but it is estimated the left hander will receive $20,000 for his efforts next summer.

Trojans' Ace Sprinter

One of the nation's speediest track men is Dick Dorsey (above) of the University of Southern California, who will appear here in the 12th running of the ABC Relays March 15-16. Dorsey has done the hundred in 9.6 and the 220 in 20.7. Dick and the other Trojans will see action for the first time this year March 2 in the UCLA Relays in Los Angeles. The Trojans will also run in the SPA AAU Relays at East Los Angeles JC before flying to Big Spring. Coach Jess Mortensen has arranged for his athletes to enter 19 meets, including two in Texas, this year. (SC Photo.)

Six More Schools Enter Teams In ABC Relays

Six more schools have entered teams in the high school division of the March 15-16 American Business Club Relays. . . . They are Canyon, Garden City, Borger, Big Lake, Hawley and Winters. They bring the total in that division to 34. More entries are expected this weekend. Deadline for entries was Saturday. Entries postmarked not later than midnight last night will be accepted. George McAllister of the sponsoring organization has stated. . . . An ABC committee headed by Bill Frank and R. H. Weaver tackles the job of selling advertising space for the Relays program this week. . . . Frank stated he hopes the club can clear $1,500 on the program, which will go toward club expenses for the big meet. . . . The club budgeted $5,000 for the 1957 Relays. . . . Visiting coaches will be given a breakfast on the morning of March 15. . . . Club members voted at their regular luncheon Friday to forego the regular luncheon on March 15 and meet instead with the coaches the next morning. . . . Each attending ABC club member will have as his guest at least one visiting coach. . . . The mile relay race in the university division could produce more fierce competition than any other event on the program. . . . All four competing teams—USC, Oklahoma A&M, the University of Houston and SMU—have splendid mile relay teams. . . . Houston's mile relay quartet ran a splendid 3:17.7 while placing third in the Sugar Bowl meet at New Orleans Christmas week, despite the fact that three of Coach Johnny Morris' regular quartermilers didn't even make the trip. . . . McAdoo Keaton, SMU coach, stated emphatically that the Pionies will have one of the finest mile relay teams in history. Oklahoma A&M and USC are both famous for their strength in the relay events. . . . Houston also ran a 41.7 in the sprint relay, while placing third. The Cougars probably would have done better in that particular event, had it not been for a bad exchange, the first man on the team ran past the second man and had to hand the baton backwards. At that, the Cougars were beaten only three or four yards. . . . Three sophomores and a senior made up the Cougar sprint relay team at the time. Coach Morris said his best runners were on vacation at the time and didn't make the trip. . . . Miss Berg, a freckled redhead, was runner-up to Miss Crocker last year.

Local Women Gain Share Of Prizes In Tourney

Pinkie's won second place and Cosden fifth in the Midland City Women's bowling tournament, concluded recently. Both teams are of Big Spring. . . . I. W. Hynds of Midland won the top spot with a score of 2494. Pinkie's had a 2474. Basin Electric was third with 2473. . . . Big Spring entries shared in the awards. . . . Dot Hood of Big Spring won first in singles with a 631. Edith Hall of Midland had a 575 for second. Rose Runyan of Midland was third, with 569. Big Spring's Vera Dozier finished fourth, with 547. . . . Jean Barton and Betty Collier, both of Midland, won doubles with 1100. Tied for second were Elsie Sieloff and Gladys Moore, both of Midland; and Thelma Geers later. . . . Macy ran on an unbanked track at Washington. The Philly track was banked. . . . In the Philly race, Macy was clocked in 2:09.5 for the half and 4:22.6 for the first mile. He and Morris changed their strategy for the Washington show. There, Macy ran a 2:14 half and a 4:30 mile while on his way to the fastest two-mile ever run by a college freshman. . . . In the Philadelphia race, Horace Ashenfelter, the winner; Macy and team-mate Jerry Smart, who finished third, lapped everyone else in the race. . . . Houston's outdoor season will open March 2. . . . Morris informed local officials he expected to bring from 20 to 22 boys here.

Joe Brown Choice In Miami Scrap

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Joe Brown, who has been shelved by a broken hand since he won the world lightweight title from Wallace "Bud" Smith of Cincinnati in August, is a solid 13-4 favorite to retain the crown in a 15-round rematch Wednesday night at the Miami Beach Auditorium. . . . Brown, 30-year-old New Orleans boxer, reported his hand completely healed when he broke camp at Houston. . . . The match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EST) will be carried on network (ABC) radio and television with Miami and surrounding area blacked out on TV. Scoring by two judges and a referee will be on the 10-point system in which the winner of a round gets 10 points and the loser 9-8 and so on. Total points determine the winner. . . . This will be the third meeting of the two lightweights within a year. Brown beat Smith in an over the weight bout, May 2 at Houston when he weighed 139 and Smith 143½ pounds. . . . In their Aug. 24 bout at New Orleans for the championship, Brown dropped Smith for seven games at Center Point in the 14th round when Smith was saved by the bell. . . . Brown claimed he had broken his right hand as early as the second round and confined his efforts to a flicking left jab and a defensive fight most of the way, except for the 14th. . . . Both Brown and Smith virtually are strangers to a national audience.

Birds Routed By Longhorns

By TOMMY HART

The Big Spring Steers hit the floor and exploded like shrapnel against Abilene here Friday night.

When the smoke of battle had cleared, the proud Eagles had been decked for the first time in seven District 2-AAAA starts. The final tab was 77-59. It could have been worse.

Playing like a team possessed, the Longhorns never gave the War Birds a look-in. Abilene made it close for a quarter, thanks to a succession of free throws. After that, it was no contest.

The win left the door open for the Odessa Bronchos. The Red Hosses can the Nat Gleeber's team for first place by winning their all-important game Monday night in Abilene. Big Spring now has a 4-3 record in conference play.

Partisan rooters descended upon the floor following the contest and lifted the Steers to their shoulders and carried them to the steps leading to their dressing rooms.

It was a night long to remember for local rooters. Sensing that the Bovines were about to make a shambles of the Abilene defense, the near-capacity crowd lived it up big all the way. The din was so terrific most of the time, the players had trouble hearing the officials' whistles.

Mike Musgrove ignited the Big Spring rally with a variety of daring spots in the first and second periods. Little Miguel, Jan Loudermilk and the others kept the pyrotechnics going without a let-up until they checked the job to the reserves a half minute before the end of the game.

Musgrove, slipping in time after time for layup shots, wound up as the Steers' top scorer with 24 points — 12 of which he got in each half.

Loudermilk tabbed 22 points — which is about his game average for the year — and was death on rebounds.

In his individual scoring battle with Abilene's Ted Lucas, Big Spring counted 15 points and now needs nine to arrest Loudermilk in the conference scoring derby. The Big Spring ace has 143 in league play and a record breaking 511 for the year, with one game yet to play.

Donald Lovelady and Jimmy Evans were others who hit in the double figures for Big Spring. Lovelady, who did a respectable job of guarding Lucas, had 12 points, Evans ten.

Abilene would have taken a worse drubbing had it not been for Glenn Gregory. The quicksilver center scored 25 points.

Big Spring's B team also prevailed, 48-47, to remain unbeaten in conference play. The Dogies' record is now a sensational 25-3.

Harold Wilde again set the pace for Big Spring, scoring 18 points — somewhat below his quota. Walter King had the same number for Abilene.

4 LETTERMEN BACK

Stuart And Black Head HCJC Track And Field Contingent

Howard County Junior College's 1957 track and field team will be built around four returning lettermen.

The holdover veterans are Freddy Stuart, sprinter; pole-vaulter Tommy Black; Max McCulloch, hurdler and discus thrower; and Billy McLvaine, sprinter.

Harold Davis will assume the duties of track coach at the college. Red Lewis will assist him until baseball season, when he will switch over to that sport.

Stuart, who hails from Roby, is one of the most sprinted competitors ever to represent the local school.

Although small in stature and boasting not an over-abundance in physical ability, Freddy never makes up for that with a great fighting heart.

Stuart was high point man in the district track and field meet last year in Austin in 1955. He set a record in the district meet in the low hurdles. He represented Roby in the broad jump in the state meet.

Stuart and Black are the only returning monogram winners who were HCJC athletes in the National Juco Meet at Hutchinson, Kansas.

Black is a stellar pole vaulter who hails from Lovington, N. M. He lettered two years in high school and holds the school's pole vault record. He'll pole vault, high jump, broad jump and run in the sprint relays.

He and Stuart won first places in the State JC meet last year.

McCulloch won his high school track letter at Coleman. He went to the Regional meet in the high jump. He'll run the hurdles and throw the discus for HCJC.

McLvaine is another boy long on desire. He'll run the sprints.

Des Moines Minister Is New NCAA President

By SKIPPER PATRICK

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 9 (AP)—A sports-loving, pipe-smoking minister who had a leading role in putting teeth into the National Collegiate Athletic Ass.'s enforcement program is the athletic body's 13th president.

He is the Rev. Frank N. Gardner, a square-jawed and strapping former football star who is professor of Christian Thought and head of the Divinity school at Drake University. Gardner was named NCAA president at the association's recent convention in St. Louis.

Gardner is a veteran in NCAA affairs. He was vice president of the organization from 1952 until being elevated to the presidency. He served on the important infractions committee from its inception six years ago and was chairman of that group for three years. He's been a member of the powerful 18-man council and has managed numerous other key assignments.

The health of the NCAA today is excellent, Gardner insists.

Pointing out the NCAA has a record membership of 490 colleges, universities and allied members, such as conferences, Gardner said: "The stature and prestige throughout the nation among the colleges and universities is at an all-time high. It has received increasing support from all segments of the country."

The enforcement program, he said, is proving highly successful. "It has received the hearty and increasing support of NCAA members and of the conferences," he said. "It is vigorous in finding the facts and imposing penalties where such are necessary to all institutions in equal measure regardless of the size, location or athletic prestige (or lack of it) for any member guilty of rules infractions."

Gardner has strong convictions about the enforcement program. At the 1952 convention he was named to the subcommittee on infractions charged with the duty of developing procedure and programs for the new enforcement setup.

He says he felt even before 1952 that unless the NCAA enforced its rules intercollegiate athletics would "not only not realize the potential

Oil Program Strikes Fire

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The emergency program to supply oil to Western Europe drew fire from many sources this week.

Independent oil operators called for an investigation of why imports of Venezuelan crude into the United States have increased sharply since the Suez Canal was closed Oct. 31.

President Eisenhower implied he might act if state production allowances fail to supply sufficient oil to relieve European shortages.

Gov. Price Daniel said the President first should take action to reduce excessive imports of domestic gasoline stocks.

Secretary of State Dulles and Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming said shipments to Europe are lagging. Both placed part of the blame on Texas' failure to boost its crude production allowances. Dulles said no presidential appeal is needed at present.

Texas Railroad Commissioners replied that the nation's largest oil producing state will make oil available for Europe if the crude can be produced on an across-the-board basis and without waste.

REFINERY CUT
Ernest Thompson of the commission said available oil for shipment to Europe could be increased 325,000 barrels a day if United States refineries would reduce operations 4 per cent across the board.

Such action would help reduce the gasoline shortage that last week exceeded 196 million barrels, just short of an all-time record and over 14 million barrels above year earlier levels.

Several major refiners already have reduced February crude runs at least four per cent below January. Included are Humble, Sinclair, Esso Standard, Skelly and Soco-Mob.

Flemming said crude and products shipments to Western Europe between Nov. 1 and Jan. 23 averaged 475,000 barrels a day. He said this was only 25,000 below the government's goal but that crude shipments were far too low while averaging 248,000 barrels a day.

The Independent Petroleum Assn. of America asked Interior Secretary Seaton to investigate the failure of the government's Middle East emergency committee to divert Caribbean oil from the U.S. East Coast to Western Europe.

Robert Wood, IPAA president from Midland, said the tanker run to Europe from the Caribbean area is substantially shorter than from the United States Gulf Coast.

Leonard Strike Indicated For Irion County

Murray Petroleum Company of San Angelo No. 9 H. M. Noelle has indicated discovery production from the Leonard. The project is in the south part of Irion County about 12 miles west of Mertzon.

The project was swabbing new oil to tanks on last report at the rate of five barrels per hour. The fluid was being recovered from perforations from 5,047-49 and 5,063-67 feet, after operator added 300 gallons of acid.

The location is 660 feet from north and 1,301.1 feet from east lines, M. Chamberlain Survey No. 2.

In Motley County, Pan American (formerly Stanolind) No. 1 Fred Brandon developed a show of oil on a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp. It is a rank wildcat about five and a half miles east of Roaring Springs, 660 feet from south and east lines, 7-0-4, WT Survey.

Operator tested the interval from 4,078-150 feet, with the tool open one hour. Recovery was 90 feet of oil-cut mud and 810 feet of slightly oil-cut salt water.

Shows of oil came on a drillstem test in the Spraberry at the Williamson No. 1 Green in western Terry County. The section from 9,175-235 feet was tested for an hour and 30 minutes.

Gas surfaced in an hour and 30 minutes, and operator recovered 360 feet of oil and 90 feet of mud and sulphur water-cut mud, plus 270 feet of sulphur water.

The location is 2,310 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines, 93-C11, C&M Survey.

Discovery Offset Due In Scurry

Smith and Brayer of Dallas staked location for No. 2 M. A. Fuller one location east of the discovery well of the Rough Creek (San Andres) field in northwest Scurry County.

The new test, scheduled for a 2,200-foot bottom, is 14 miles northwest of Snyder, 330 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines, 606-97, H&T Survey.

New Slot Perforation Seen As Big Aid In Well Completions

By MAX B. SKELTON
WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 9 (AP)—A former aeronautical engineer has developed a gadget he believes will make oil well completions easier and prolong the lives of many wells.

David Edwards already has three of his new slot perforating units in operation in North Texas and southern Oklahoma. He plans to have three more by Dec. 31.

Edwards is confident his new perforating gun simplifies well completions, reduces overhauls and aids in getting production from troublesome or non-commercial wells. He believes the gun also can be adapted for other purposes inside and outside the oil industry.

The new gun punctures well pipe with slots three inches wide and one inch deep. Each slot is 28 times the size of conventional bullet or jet perforations one-half inch in diameter.

OPENINGS FOR OIL
Perforating guns are lowered into the wells and discharged at depths opposite oil sands. The charges perforate the pipe to permit oil to enter the casing to flow or to be pumped to the surface.

On the average, only two slot perforations are used for each foot of oil sand. The jet method averages 15 four openings per foot.

The smaller perforations, Edwards says are not always large enough to permit successful or commercial production from a new well and require cleaning or overhauls after becoming clogged with mud, oil, sand and other reservoir materials.

Under the slot method, he said,

Runnels, Lamb Add Discoveries

New discoveries came in Lamb and Runnels counties this weekend, plus a find in New Mexico. Deffern Oil Company of Lubbock No. 1 Young has been completed as a San Andres discovery in the south part of Lamb County. The strike, finished for a 24-hour flowing potential of 170 barrels of oil, through a variety of chokes.

It produced from 4,116-31 feet, after treatment with 1,500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio and oil gravity were not reported.

The location is 660 feet from the south and west lines, Labor 634, CSL Survey, and about five miles southeast of Littlefield.

Five miles northeast of Ballinger in Runnels County, Barnwell Oil Corporation of San Angelo finished the No. 1 Cora Byers as a new Camps lime discovery.

The well pumped 24 hours and produced 44 barrels of 43-degree oil. Gas-oil ratio is 236-1.

Production is through perforations from 3,504-08 feet. The pay section was acidized with 4,500 gallons. Location is in Section 156, J. K. Thompson Survey.

The New Mexico Strike is the Texas Crude of Fort Worth No. 2-36 State. It has been completed as a Yates sand discovery on the west side of the Eunice (San Andres) field of Lea County.

On 24-hour potential test, it flowed 43 barrels of oil through a quarter-inch choke. Gravity is 30 degrees. Perforations are between 3,722-38 feet. The hole was treated with 20,000 gallons of fracture fluid before testing. Location is in Section 36-21-35E.

ANOTHER INCREASE IN DAILY OIL ALLOWABLE

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported today a 26,162-barrel increase in the average calendar day oil allowable this week.

It said the average daily allowable today was 3,522,153 barrels, compared to 3,495,991 a week ago.

The commission said 226 oil wells were completed in the past seven days. This brings the year's total to 1,932 compared to last year's 1,923.

Gas well completions this week were 30, bringing the year's total to 203, compared to 213.

The commission reported 185 dry holes, which upped the year's total to 1,063, compared to 956.

Ten oil and two gas wells were completed in unproven territory. There were 104 dry holes.

A total of 296 wells were plugged.

Natural Gasoline Plant Includes Plant Operation

Gasoline plant operating problems are due for broad discussion in papers to be presented at the Permian Basin Regional Meeting of the Natural Gasoline Association of America, scheduled for Feb. 22nd, in the Scarbauer Hotel, Midland.

Details of the program have just been announced by E. T. Cochran, Atlantic Refining Company, Midland.

A feature of the technical presentations will be a demonstration and display of equipment used in gas analysis by chromatographic methods which will accompany the paper on "Chromatography" by A. D. Larrison, Phillips Petroleum Company, Phillips.

Other technical papers on the morning session will be "Control and Maintenance of Direct Fired Heaters" by Paul H. Trout, E. F. Paso Natural Gas Company, Jalisco, N. M., and "Formation Strength Considerations in Salt Cavern Construction and Operation," by Danny Jahns, Shell Oil Company, Midland. The meeting will be opened by NGA Vice President George Tennison, Shell Oil Company, Houston, who will be introduced by R. C. Mason, Phillips Petroleum Company, Odessa, chairman of the morning session.

Bert Huffman, director of the New Mexico Economic Development Commission, Santa Fe, will give the opening address on the afternoon session. Dr. Dennis Murphy, Service Pipe Line Company, Tulsa, author of a series of articles on use of words in report writing, will talk on "Communication." Closing the afternoon program will be a flammable board talk on "Disaster and Emergency Procedures" by C. S. Russ, E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company, Houston. E. R. Wagner, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, North Cowden, will be chairman of the afternoon session.

Early in the evening the Natural Gasoline Supply Men's Association will be held at a social hour under the direction of Jack Williams, Industrial Scientist, Inc., Odessa, chairman of the NSGMA Cooling Tower Committee. This function will be followed by dinner and entertainment at which J. M. Sappington, vice president, Barnhart Hydrocarbon Corporation, Big Lake, will be toastmaster.

Two Counties Gain Wildcats

New wildcat locations were reported Saturday in Brewster and Fisher counties. The Brewster try is a re-entry.

Sewell Heads OIC Group

DALLAS—The big job of keeping Texans informed about the state's largest industry—petroleum—will be under the direction of Dallas oilman, James L. Sewell, during 1957.

Sewell's appointment as chairman of the Texas Oil Information Committee was announced here today at a luncheon meeting of oil industry executives by Southwest District Chairman Joe T. Dickerson, Shell Pipe Line Corporation, president, Houston.

Sewell, president of Delhi-Taylor Oil Corp., succeeds E. A. Willford of Houston as the head of the Texas oil information and service program sponsored by the American Petroleum Institute.

Magnolia vice president, G. L. Tate, former district OIC chairman, was host for the luncheon meeting.

As Texas OIC chairman, Sewell will direct more than 2,000 volunteer local oil men and women working in every part of the state to tell oil's story.

Initial Movement Against Oil Depletion Allowance Is Made

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The first move in the new Congress against the oil industry's tax depletion allowance came this week.

Rep. Heselton (R-Mass) put in a bill to reduce the present 27 1/2 per cent allowance to 15. He has offered similar proposals before.

"It is not my intention," Heselton said, "to wipe out the oil depletion allowance but rather to place it in line with other similar allowances in the tax laws."

The present allowance, in effect many years, permits an oil producer to charge off each year, for income tax purposes, 27 1/2 per cent of the gross income derived from a well, or a group of wells, excluding rents and royalties paid by the producer.

The tax laws recognize, Heselton said, that a reasonable allowance should be granted in situations in which there is depletion of capital assets.

"But," he added, "this is the largest, and without justification, if we are going to recognize the propriety of depletion allowances," Heselton said some attacks on

OUTLOOK GOOD Investors Digest Current Article Features Cosden

The operations and prospects of Cosden Petroleum Corporation get considerable play in the current issue of Investor's Digest, a publication of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, one of the nation's largest investment firms.

Recounting the rise of the company since 1940 under the leadership of R. L. Tollett, president, Investor's Digest quotes the management prediction that gross sales will exceed $80 million for this year. Last year the total was more than $55 million, but since then Cosden has acquired Onyx and Coltex.

"Ray Tollett's current goal is to double his gross operating revenues to $110,000,000," noted ID, then added Tollett's own prediction of "I think we can do it in two years easily, and all goes well, maybe in 15 months."

SALES ROCKET
Cosden has, since 1940, multiplied its sales nine times and has jumped net profits from 15 cents to $2.12 per share.

Recalling that Cosden has paid for new refinery (Onyx and Coltex) acquisitions through issuance of additional stock in order to maintain a low funded debt (only $8,500,000), the ID article reported that the stock stood firm at 20 plus on the NYSE board last week. Despite a 2-1 split last September, the management has continued a 25 cents per share quarterly dividend.

"While eager to use stock in acquisition payments, oilman Tollett is also firm: 'Any deal we make will be without dilution of the earnings of the outstanding shares.' So far he has managed to do just that. For the six months ended last Oct. 31, Cosden earned $2,200,000 or $1.28 a share (including the stock issued for Onyx but not for Col-Tex) as compared with $2,200,000 or $1.05 on fewer shares the year before," said ID.

TECHNICAL ADVANCE
The item touches on the technical advance of Cosden and observed that "Cosden's Big Spring refinery is like an oasis in the usually drab, colorless oil country. The (sparkling paint scheme) cloaks some of the most modern refining units in inland Texas."

Details are also listed on the new Refinerizer which enables Cosden to produce 104 Octane (lead) fuel for blending of the highest automotive fuels obtainable today. This is but one example of how Cosden has moved into the role of a custom refiner. Tollett was quoted in the article to the effect that Cosden's position of purchasing 90 per cent of its crude reserves was of no particular concern because of an abundance of supplies in the basin area. The versatility of production through manufacture of petrochemicals (the ITX and now the new styrene plant) was cited.

There also was mention of Cosden's 125-mile gathering system, now supplemented by 156 miles of line in the Col-Tex system; and of the 108-mile products line to Abilene (plus some eight miles of spur) to Webb AFB and Abilene Air Base) and of its potential extension to Wichita Falls this summer.

Phillips Gets Devonian Pay

The first Devonian oil production in the Azalea field approximately 5 miles west of the Spraberry field in Midland County has been found in a Phillips Petroleum Company 75 per cent interest discovery well, according to K. S. Adams, chairman, and Paul Endacott, president of Phillips. The field had previously produced only gas and distillate. Phillips has 24,421 net acres in the area in trend with the new discovery.

The well, Phillips No. 1 Crespi, flowed at the rate of 133 barrels of oil and 1,620,000 cubic feet of gas daily through a one-inch choke from a portion of 110 feet of Devonian pay beginning at 11,460 feet. It had previously yielded substantial flows of gas and distillate from 122 feet of Strawn limestone beginning at 10,320 feet. The well will be dually completed for these formations.

The new well is one-half mile north of the Phillips one-half interest Azalea field discovery well which was completed last year in 68 feet of Strawn pay beginning at 10,320 feet for an initial potential of 1,460 barrels of distillate and 11,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Devonian shows were not tested at the time. Strawn production has been extended four miles south of this well where another operator has recently completed a gas and distillate well.

Gas from the Azalea field is being processed in the nearby Phillips plant in the 37th end of the Spraberry field.

It is a wildcat location 2,310 feet from south and west lines, 27-30, W&N Survey. It is about 19 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Conoco Buys 99-Mi. Line

PONCA CITY, Okla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Continental Pipe Line Co. said today it has bought a 99-mile, 6-inch crude oil pipeline from the Wichita Falls area to Saginaw, a Fort Worth suburb.

The company plans to extend the line to the Grapevine area. W. L. Kygar, company president, said.

Continental said it will construct a petroleum products terminal, costing about $20,000, some two miles southwest of Grapevine on Highway 121.

The pipeline, formerly owned by Gulf Oil Corp., is being converted to refined products service. Continental recently started moving gasoline from its Wichita Falls refinery through the line to temporary terminal facilities at Saginaw.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—The first move in the new Congress against the oil industry's tax depletion allowance came this week.

Rep. Heselton (R-Mass) put in a bill to reduce the present 27 1/2 per cent allowance to 15. He has offered similar proposals before.

"It is not my intention," Heselton said, "to wipe out the oil depletion allowance but rather to place it in line with other similar allowances in the tax laws."

The present allowance, in effect many years, permits an oil producer to charge off each year, for income tax purposes, 27 1/2 per cent of the gross income derived from a well, or a group of wells, excluding rents and royalties paid by the producer.

The tax laws recognize, Heselton said, that a reasonable allowance should be granted in situations in which there is depletion of capital assets.

"But," he added, "this is the largest, and without justification, if we are going to recognize the propriety of depletion allowances," Heselton said some attacks on

OUTLOOK GOOD Investors Digest Current Article Features Cosden

The operations and prospects of Cosden Petroleum Corporation get considerable play in the current issue of Investor's Digest, a publication of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, one of the nation's largest investment firms.

Recounting the rise of the company since 1940 under the leadership of R. L. Tollett, president, Investor's Digest quotes the management prediction that gross sales will exceed $80 million for this year. Last year the total was more than $55 million, but since then Cosden has acquired Onyx and Coltex.

"Ray Tollett's current goal is to double his gross operating revenues to $110,000,000," noted ID, then added Tollett's own prediction of "I think we can do it in two years easily, and all goes well, maybe in 15 months."

SALES ROCKET
Cosden has, since 1940, multiplied its sales nine times and has jumped net profits from 15 cents to $2.12 per share.

Recalling that Cosden has paid for new refinery (Onyx and Coltex) acquisitions through issuance of additional stock in order to maintain a low funded debt (only $8,500,000), the ID article reported that the stock stood firm at 20 plus on the NYSE board last week. Despite a 2-1 split last September, the management has continued a 25 cents per share quarterly dividend.

"While eager to use stock in acquisition payments, oilman Tollett is also firm: 'Any deal we make will be without dilution of the earnings of the outstanding shares.' So far he has managed to do just that. For the six months ended last Oct. 31, Cosden earned $2,200,000 or $1.28 a share (including the stock issued for Onyx but not for Col-Tex) as compared with $2,200,000 or $1.05 on fewer shares the year before," said ID.

TECHNICAL ADVANCE
The item touches on the technical advance of Cosden and observed that "Cosden's Big Spring refinery is like an oasis in the usually drab, colorless oil country. The (sparkling paint scheme) cloaks some of the most modern refining units in inland Texas."

Details are also listed on the new Refinerizer which enables Cosden to produce 104 Octane (lead) fuel for blending of the highest automotive fuels obtainable today. This is but one example of how Cosden has moved into the role of a custom refiner. Tollett was quoted in the article to the effect that Cosden's position of purchasing 90 per cent of its crude reserves was of no particular concern because of an abundance of supplies in the basin area. The versatility of production through manufacture of petrochemicals (the ITX and now the new styrene plant) was cited.

There also was mention of Cosden's 125-mile gathering system, now supplemented by 156 miles of line in the Col-Tex system; and of the 108-mile products line to Abilene (plus some

Annexation of property to the city, plus purchase of cars and furniture, will be principal topics of business on the city commission's agenda Tuesday night.

The regular meeting will be held in the city hall at 5:15 p.m.

Two cars will be purchased at the session, one for the police department and one for the city engineer.

The furniture will be for the new police building. Bids have been asked for Monday at noon which will give officials time to tabulate the bids for presentation to the commission Tuesday.

Approximately $6,000 is the estimate of the furniture bids. It includes desks, cabinets, and filing equipment.

SCS Assisting In Soil Bank Conservation

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District office is lending a hand to landowners and farmers who are signing cropland in the Conservation Reserve Program.

Such persons are being assisted in selection of cover to plant and the grass species to seed the land involved.

Landowners who have signed cotton land to the program are being urged to plan soil improving crops on the acreage. The ACP program provides assistance in cost-share of the seed, the office advises.

There are two important matters which a landowner should bear in mind in what crops he should plant on Acreage Reserve land, the office pointed out. A crop which will provide a high residue such as sweet sorghums, sudan or grain sorghum is needed to protect soil from wind erosion.

Another need is the replacement of fertility removed by the cotton which has been grown on the land. Cool season crops such as drilled small grains, rye, vetch, and winter peas, are crops which will do both jobs.

For summer, cowpeas and mung beans interplanted with sorghums are recommended. Special planting attachments are available from some implement dealers which will seed to different sized seeds at the same time. Mung beans can thus be mixed with sorghum seed and no special equipment will be needed to do the job.

Rights-Of-Way Cleared Saturday For U.S. 80 Work

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said the final property owner of 12 whose land is involved in the planned improvement program on U.S. 80 west of Big Spring, has signed right-of-way deeds.

Last man signed Saturday and the county has now complied with the request of the State Highway Commission that right-of-way be cleared for the program by Feb. 11.

Contracts are scheduled to be let in March for an estimated million-dollar overpass and intersection road project between Big Spring and the Martin County line.

The state will build overpasses at points where other roads intersect the four-lane highway and develop safety factors to lessen traffic hazards at such points.

Safe Driving Essay Contests Open Monday

The Citizens' Traffic Commission announced a junior high and high school safe driving essay contest to start Monday.

The group plans to make the contest an annual affair here.

Prizes will be given to the first and second place essays in both schools. Only ninth graders will be eligible to compete for the competition in that category.

James Eubanks, CTC executive secretary, said that students may write on any phase of driving that affects them. The papers are to be from 200 to 400 words in length.

Students have until Feb. 22 to turn in their essays, and the winners will be announced on Mar. 1. The first and second place winners in both classes will receive trophies. The awards will be given by the Security State Bank, Eubanks said.

Preliminary judging will be done by English teachers in the two schools, with this judging to be for grammar and general writing standards. In junior high, the driver education teachers will help with the judging.

Final judging will be made by CTC officers, Eubanks said.

All papers will be turned in to English teachers in the schools.

The CTC plans to make the contest an annual affair if there is interest in it this year, Eubanks said. Also, it will probably be enlarged to take in all schools in the county, Eubanks said, next year.

Uncle Ray: 'O.K.' Term Credited To New York Club

By RAMON COFFMAN

A question about two initials has come from Mr. W. A. Sparks, who asks:

"How, when and where did the expression 'O.K.' come from?"

That expression, which means "Yes" or "Correct" or "It's all right with me" arose in the United States. It seems to have originated about the middle of the past century.

The origin was in doubt until about 15 years ago, when scholarly work seemed to give a clear, true history. Research showed that people started saying "O.K." at the time of the presidential election in which Van Buren was elected. Van Buren was running for president. He was supported by the Old Kinderhook Club, commonly called the "O.K. Club."

Kinderhook, N. Y., was Van Buren's birthplace. Probably he had little idea that the "O.K." expression would become more widely known than any fact about the life of himself or his opponent in the election.

As it has turned out, people in almost every country in Europe now know the meaning of "O.K."

The expression has been spread by American talking pictures shown abroad. In Holland, Germany, France or Italy, it appears that there are few persons who fail to understand a visitor who says, "O.K."

An effort to trace "O.K." to a Choctaw Indian word ("oke") was made before the research of which I have spoken. In this case the origin seems to have been quite different, but some common English words are known to have come from American Indians.

One Indian word is "hammock" and another is "moccasin." The first swinging couch on record was the type used by Arawakan Indians of South America. It was observed by Spanish explorers within a few years after Columbus crossed the Atlantic.

The word "moccasin" was contributed by Algonquian tribesmen who lived in New England. The Narragansett Indians spoke of a shoe, such as was worn by them and other Indians, as a "moccasin."

Artists Who Help Sponsor Special Show Here Today

RASCAL, shown by Mrs. D. W. Conway, and SIGNAL MOUNTAIN, displayed by Mrs. E. A. Jones won honorable mention awards for their respective painters at the Texas State Fair in Dallas in October, 1956. Mrs. Conway has won places in the Lamesa show and in the exhibit at Eldorado, while Mrs. Jones has been a winner in the Lamesa show and in shows held by Las Artistas locally. Her latest triumph is the winning of an award and $75 in the Ralph Bradley Art Contest, sponsored by the Cabot Carbon Company of Boston.

COSDEN CAT CRACKER has won two places for its creator, Mrs. Ira Raley; first place in the Spring Art Show of 1956 and second place in the Panhandle South Plains Art Show in Lubbock in 1956. Done in a deep blue, with smoky blue and greenish gray tones, the water color was completed in a most unusual way. After painting the picture, Mrs. Raley scratched the surface with a razor blade to get the right effect of light, shade and reflections.

FISH DINNER, which Marjorie Havins displays, has won three places for the artist in various art shows. It was awarded fourth place in the exhibit at the Texas State Fair, held in Dallas in October, 1956. Third place went to the picture in the show held by the Sonora Art Club in Eldorado, and it was a third place winner in the show sponsored by Las Artistas at Howard County Junior College. Miss Havins is chairman of arrangements for the art show being held this afternoon at HCJC from 1 to 5 p.m.

DESERTED HOUSE was painted by Mrs. Don Bohannon from a scene which she knew well, having grown up close to the place. It has taken the four ribbons shown in the picture. A first place was awarded at the Panhandle-South Plains Art Show in Lubbock last year; another first place was awarded by the judges of the February, 1956, show held by Las Artistas; a second place was awarded by popular vote in the same show, and a third place was awarded in the sidewalk show of that group. Tones of the weathered boards shade into the brown of the earth, with accents of green in the foliage and grass.

PORTRAIT OF CHLOE, painted by Mrs. Jess Blair, (photo at left) was done at a meeting of Las Artistas, using a live model. Mrs. Blair, who has been painting just a little over a year, has 17 ribbons to show for places won by her paintings in Midland, Lamesa, Lubbock, Abilene, Eldorado and local exhibits held by Las Artistas. Mrs. Blair is one of the committee responsible for the art show at Howard County Junior College this afternoon.

CHILDREN OF THE ARENA seems to be in for a touch-up by Mrs. Bismarck Schafer of Garden City, (pictured at right) who painted the picture when she was in V. Acuna. On it, she has won a citation in the Texas Fine Arts exhibit in Austin. Mrs. Schafer is one of the members of Las Artistas, an organization which is sponsoring the art fiesta at Howard County Junior College this afternoon.

Las Artistas Holding Art Fiesta At Junior College Gymnasium

By ANNE LEFEVER
This afternoon at 5 o'clock, citations will be made to winners in the Art Fiesta at Howard County Junior College gymnasium. Sponsored by Las Artistas, the exhibit is the preliminary elimination for the Texas Fine Arts Association showing.

Hours of the show, to which the public is invited, are from 1 to 5 p.m.
In charge of arrangements for the exhibit are Majorie Havins, chairman, with Mrs. Richard Patterson, Mrs. E. A. Jones, and Mrs. Jess Blair assisting her.
The club boasts several winners in various shows during 1956.
Mrs. Bismarck Schafer, who won a citation in the TFAA for her painting, "Children of the Arena," won first place with "The Boss," a portrait of her husband, at a show staged in the HCJC library.
Mrs. Schafer won second place in the sidewalk show held by the club when she entered her painting of "The Frey," "Sheep on the Draw" won a medal for her in a show in Lamesa.

Born and reared in ranch country, Mrs. Schafer, mother of four children and grandmother of six, finds her subjects "just around home." In December, 1956, she gave a one-man show at the Woman's Club in Midland.
Mrs. RALEY painted her first picture at the age of 14, and her first art instruction was from Mrs. Alma West Parker at the University of Texas.
She has won two cups for her work; one for "This Old House" and one for "Red Roses." The latter, after appearing in Austin at the show sponsored by TFAA, was sent on tour.
Mrs. Raley, who is a teacher of art, has painted baptistries in various churches, among them, one at Ballinger and one at Winters.

MRS. BOHANNON
Mrs. Don Bohannon had never painted until 1951, when her sister, Mrs. R. E. Dolliver, who lives on the Gail Road, persuaded her to try it.
Since that time, she has done a bit of portrait work and has worked with various mediums in the art field. She has won awards in the Panhandle-South Plains Art Show, which is held in Lubbock, and has won in an art exhibit sponsored by the Sonora Art Club and held in Eldorado in May, 1956.
Locally, Mrs. Bohannon received the judges' decision for her painting of "Deserted House," when she showed it in the February, 1956, exhibit given by Las Artistas at Howard County Junior College. On the same painting, she won second place by popular vote. It received third place in the sidewalk show in November, which was sponsored by Las Artistas.

The painting has a special interest to the artist as she grew up near the house, which is located northeast of Big Spring close to the Snyder Highway.

MRS. BLAIR
A life-time ambition to paint was realized a little over a year ago, when Mrs. Jess Blair finally decided that she had the time to devote to that activity. In that period, she has collected about 17 ribbons.
In the Midland Art Show, held in November, 1956, Mrs. Blair's painting, "Kiss of the Bees," was named most outstanding.
Entering the Lamesa show in September, 1956, she took four places with her pictures, a first, second, third and fourth. In the Panhandle-South Plains Art Show, held in Lubbock the same fall, Mrs. Blair was a second place winner.
An October show in Abilene brought her an honorable mention; and last May, she was awarded two firsts, a second and a third in Eldorado, when she entered the show given by the Sonora Art Club.

MRS. CONWAY
A streak of stubbornness is responsible for the art work of Mrs. D. W. Conway, who signs her paintings "Dalmar." Just because some one told her that she would never make a painter, she has gone on to try her hand at various kinds of pictures and the use of different mediums.
She has maintained about three years, and during that time, she has placed in Eldorado and Lamesa; in the latter show, she was awarded second place.
She was especially pleased when she learned that her painting, "Rascal," had won honorable mention at the art exhibit at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October, 1956. It is a picture of a Siamese cat.

MRS. JONES
Another honorable mention at the State Fair went to Mrs. E. A. Jones for her painting, "Signal Mountain." It had been awarded first place in the first art show held by Las Artistas and had placed third in the Lamesa show.
Mrs. Jones, who has painted for about five years, has had "maybe a dozen" lessons.
At the present time, she is quite excited about an award which she has just received from a picture entered in the Ralph Bardley Art Contest, sponsored by the Cabot Carbon Company of Boston.
The entry, "Posted," is a black and white study and won for the artist a prize of $75.

MISS HAVINS
Another local artist with a reason for feeling pleased over her accomplishment is Marjorie Havins. She was featured in February edition of the magazine of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.
Shown with several of her paintings, Miss Havins was photographed with her French poodle, Gigi Bon Ami, ("Good Friend Gigi," to you).
Miss Havins has been drawing all her life, but just since 1951 has she been painting. The State Fair in Dallas brought her an honorable mention for her entry, "Fish Dinner," and a second place for a pastel, "The Billiard Game." The former won for her a third in Eldorado and a fourth in a show given by Las Artistas at HCJC.
In a membership show held by Las Artistas, Miss Havins received third place for her painting, "Chicken Fight," along with a citation for it to be entered in the exhibit of TFAA entries in Austin.
In the judging of the present show, any division may be selected for an appearance in the TFAA exhibit. In Austin, the paintings will be judged as a group, and any prize awarded will go to the club as a whole.

After that judging, individual pictures may be selected to make up an art exhibition to be sent on a tour of various cities.

Homemakers Class Gives Memorial

Members of the East Fourth Baptist Homemakers Sunday School class, meeting Friday evening in the home of Mrs. T. B. Clifton, made a memorial gift for the late Mrs. J. W. Fryar. She was the sister of a member of the class, Mrs. Ina Montleth.
The gift will go to the Gideon Society for the purchase of Bibles. Mrs. N. O. Decker was cohostess for the affair, which was a social and business meeting combined.
Mrs. W. O. McClendon gave the devotion on "Exhortation to Steadfastness." Mrs. Rufus Davidson offered a prayer to open the meeting, and Mrs. H. Reaves dismissed with a prayer.
Games were played and refreshments were served to 12.

Guard That Liquid Line Of Perfume

If Santa brought perfume, or if you spent your Christmas check for a fabulous bottle, ways to keep the liquid line high should come in handy.
Be on guard against three petty thieves, waiting to pilfer perfume; they are light, heat and air.
Light is the easiest to foil. After using, return your perfume bottle to the deluxe packaging it came in, which will keep it in the dark. Keeping perfume in a cool closet or some other spot where room heat doesn't reach it will outwit the second thief.
But evaporation commits the worst larceny; one that begins the moment you unstopper your bottle. To make it impossible for air to sneak in, lock the stopper after you return it to the bottle. Screw it tight, and don't stop until the ground surfaces or "threads" of the stopper are lined up with the grooves in the bottle.
To loosen this grip, tap the stopper lightly against glass. The vibration will release the stubbornest grip, which is your best burglary insurance against the most aggressive of the three thieves.

Tea Time At The Smiths

Nothing could be more charming than having tea served from an antique tea service. Antique collecting is a hobby enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith and their daughter, Teresa. Their collection includes some 100 articles. Tea is being served from an antique

"Gene With The Wind" wick lamp, which has been modernized by wiring by Mr. Smith. Teresa holds the family pet, "Puff," which might also be referred to as an antique because of her 11 years of life and the fact that she boasts just one tooth!

J. E. Smiths' Antique Collection Boasts More Than 100 Articles

Have you ever thought how exciting it would be to ramble through an old house and look for antiques?

For the newcomers this week, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith and Teresa, this experience actually has existed and has led them into a hobby enjoyed and participated in by the entire family.

The majority of the antiques collected by the Smiths came from the New England states, Vermont in particular. On visits to Mrs. Smith's sister, who lives in Vermont, the family takes in auctions of household articles.

"To settle an estate or property that has been turned over to the state, public auctions are held of all the articles belonging in the house, and that's how most of our antiques are acquired," Mrs. Smith explained.

One particular item which Mrs. Smith prizes is a china plate of Royal Broyth Rose Tapestry design. This was obtained at an auction in Vermont and is a very rare piece, Mrs. Smith said.

A grandfather clock, about 75 years old, was found by Mrs. Smith and Teresa on Mrs. Smith's old family homestead in East Texas.

Other antique pieces which the Smiths have collected include numerous old-fashioned wick-lamps, many odd pieces of china, marble top tables, wash stand sets and chairs. Mr. Smith has wired some of the lamps and today they attractively decorate the Smith living room.

Of great interest to Mr. Smith is his collection of antique foreign and domestic coins. Teresa is especially proud of her antique post-card collection and has cards that date back to the early 1800's.

This past fall Mrs. Smith entered some of her antiques in the West Texas State Fair in Abilene and walked away with 13 blue ribbons. At one time, Mrs. Smith, her mother and sister, opened an antique shop and did quite well in the business, but Mrs. Smith said they sold some antiques which they later found couldn't be replaced, "so we just quit the business."

Until their recent move to Big Spring, the Smiths lived in Abilene for 13 years. "And you can't be from Abilene and not enjoy sports," Mrs. Smith laughed.

Mr. Smith is employed as an accountant for Cosden Petroleum Corporation. Teresa is 15 years old and is in the ninth grade.

Other interests of Mr. Smith include chess and golf and active participation in the Kiwanis Club. Interior decorating is a second "love" of Mrs. Smith. While they lived in Abilene, she worked with her two brothers, who are builders. Her job was interior decorating and as Mrs. Smith says "there's nothing more fun than starting on the outside and working the decorations through the complete house." She also enjoys garden club work and arranging flowers and dried material. Other hobbies include sewing, handwork and playing the piano.

The Smiths are making a home at 1306 Ridgeroad.

The Easy Way

It's easy to remove the seeds and white membrane inside a green pepper if you cut the pepper into quarters first.

Tips On Leather Treatment

Those fine suitcases, billfolds and briefcases that arrived via Christmas may have already been put to good use, but it's not too late to be sure that they keep their good looks for a long time. The following tips from the Luggage and Leather Goods Institute apply to conditioning of both old and new accessories:

Before using leather items lightly rub the entire surface with a dry cake of toilet soap, or work in a fine film of undiluted saddle soap; buff lightly.

For smooth leather (brown or tan) use saddle soap, permit thorough drying, apply paste wax or neutral shoe cream. Lighten travel-wear leather with the juice of half a lemon in a cup of water; darken to match up stains with several coats of lemon oil.

On colored leathers use mild soap suds; gently rub on paste wax when dry. Alligator leather requires saddle soap and paste wax. Soap rawhide leather and use fine steel wool for deep stains. Reseal leather with clear shellac, then wax.

Coated fabrics require soap and water or two tablespoons of ammonia in a pint of water removes heavy soil. Use liquid linoleum wax as a polish.

For plastic use soap and water or liquid linoleum wax as a polish if desired.

Miscellaneous items call for steel wool for scratches in fiberglass; special metal cleaners for aluminum and metal. Combinations can be tested separately as outlined.

On hardware avoid oil as it may seep through to the lining. Steel wool is used for rust or scratches and to reseal use lacquer or clear nail polish.

Tips on storage. Avoid extremes of temperature and humidity; allow water to circulate; dry wet items away from heat; clean each piece before putting it away.

Sightseeing Spot

One of Bermuda's popular sightseeing spots is Bolling Hole Grotto, located on the shore of the Great Sound in Somerset Parish. It's a small cavern with a subterranean entrance opening on the Sound. The sea flowing into the grotto makes a loud gurgling noise, thus giving the place its name.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

With several entertainments scheduled for this week it begins to appear that this will be a busy spring, socially speaking. Not only does the Valentine season offer a good time for entertaining, hostesses can pin their decorations around hearts as well as flowers.

The Y. C. GRAYS are grandparents! A daughter was born Friday morning at 8:45 to LT. and MRS. JAMES GATTS who live at 10 Garden Dr., Tampa, Fla. She weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces. Mrs. Gatts is the former Anne Mary Gray.

Gray left Friday evening for Tampa and should be there now to give a hand in taking care of the little one.

Guests in the home of MR. AND MRS. A. J. CONTRAD JR. are her parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Stamps and Mark Stamps Jr. of Fort Worth.

When the men of the families had to be away from home on business four wives took a little trip to Ruidoso for several days. Expected back home today are MRS. DAN KRAUSSE, MRS. JAMES DUNCAN, MRS. IKE ROBB and MRS. R. H. WEAVER. Judge Weaver was the only one of the four husbands who was in town, and he shared baby-sitting with the little Weavers' grandparents.

MRS. ABE BAILEY is in San Angelo where she is visiting her sister, Mrs. Todd Crain. She will return here Tuesday. Mrs. Crain has visited here recently with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Nall, and other relatives.

When members of the H.C.J.C. board took off to Austin to a meeting, some of the wives accompanied them. Among the women going were MRS. W. A. HUNT, MRS. PAUL ADAMS, MRS. TOM BARBER, MRS. C. W. DEATS, MRS. JOHN A. COFFEE and MRS. J. H. MCGIBBON.

This is something that maybe you haven't tried: the chopped cranberries and orange mixture that can be bought at the frozen food counters. We like it mixed into congealed salad. . . . Another little helpful hint gleaned from one of my more resourceful friends: when your hands have been stained with something and only bleach will remove the discoloration, don't fret about the stinky bleach odor just rub the hands with tooth paste that has chlorophyll in it! Isn't that simple?

MR. AND MRS. J. T. BAIRD are expected to return today from Dallas where they have visited Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Baird and other relatives.

Hayhursts Entertain San Antonio Guests

FORSAN — Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayhurst and Denise, San Antonio, have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hayhurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Oglesby and Gordon, will make a new home in Andrews. Mrs. Paul Lancaster and children were in Dublin recently to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Young. The Youngs returned to Forsan and are now guests in the Lancaster home.

Crane visitors with the J. H. Cardwells are Mr. and Mrs. Gay Miller. Visiting in Vealmoor recently with the G. L. Monroneys have been Mrs. Bob Cowley and Brenda, Mrs. Amy Reed and Mrs. S. C. Cowley.

Mrs. George Gray entertained the Girl Scout troop recently. Thirteen attended. Guests with the R. A. Chambers have been Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Chambers and children, Snyder. Mrs. T. R. Camp is hospitalized in Malone-Hogan Hospital.

District Deputy Visits Lamesa Pythians

LAMESA — The Pythian Sisters met at their regular meeting Thursday evening with Mrs. LeAlda Wilson of Odessa, District Deputy of District XII making her official visit. Mrs. Ira Ashley conducted a quiz on the constitution and by-laws of the temple. A reception was held with hostesses Mrs. Jim Ferguson, Mrs. Slim Reynolds, Mrs. Vic Middleton and Mrs. Frank Love. Twelve visitors from Odessa and three from Big Spring attended the meeting.

Chas. Weeg Speaker For Credit Club

Charles Weeg, business manager at the Big Spring Hospital, was speaker for the Credit Women's Club Thursday at the Howard House.

Using as his topic, "You and People," he advised the group on methods of dealing with people in business relations. He recommended that the credit personnel be natural, understanding and diplomatic.

In a do and don't session, he said personnel should leave personal feelings at home each morning; never be antagonistic or have an air of superiority and never be difficult to deal with.

Members were told to make the other person feel at home and have the idea that the credit worker wants to be of assistance. Twenty-one attended, with five guests. Mrs. E. E. Brindley, Elmo Wasson, Boone Horne, Don Burk and Weeg.

Eager Beavers Spend Afternoon Quilting

Quilting was the afternoon handwork of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club Friday. Mrs. J. E. Freeman's home was the scene of the gathering.

Nine members and one guest, Mrs. Alvin Vieregge, were present. Mrs. R. I. Findley will be the next hostess at which time members will make cancer bandages.

Legion Auxiliary Hear R. H. Weaver

R. H. Weaver, Howard County judge, will speak on "Americanism" at a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening, Mrs. Raymond Andrews, president, has announced.

The auxiliary will meet in the Legion clubhouse at 7:30 p.m. Monday. A business session will precede the talk, which is scheduled for 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the program. "Americanism" is one of the major projects of the Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Andrews. The program includes annual essay contests for students, distribution of leaflets on flag etiquette, and studies of local government.

MRS. ROBERT WAYNE MYERS

Maxine Rosson, Robert Myers Repeat Wedding Vows Saturday

Before a heart fashioned of white stock, plumose and emerald fern, Maxine Rosson became the bride of Robert Wayne Myers Saturday evening in the First Christian Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rosson, 106 Lincoln; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Myers of Miami town, Ohio.

A seven-branched candelabrum stood on each side of the background heart and featured a sunburst arrangement of white stock and majestic daisies. Fern trees and white altar markers outlined the sanctuary.

The couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu as they exchanged double ring vows before the Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the church.

Preceding the semi-formal rites, Betty Earley, organist, played wedding selections, "Because," "O, Promise Me," "With This Ring" and "Always." She accompanied Joyce Howard as she sang "No Other Love" and "Give Me Thy Hand," and, in benediction, "The Wedding Prayer." Traditional wedding marches were used as the processional and recession.

BRIDAL GOWN

Gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was an empire sheath of Chantilly lace and white bridal satin, with an overskirt of tulle. The scalloped yoke extended into an oriental neckline, which was outlined with seed pearls. Long sleeves of the lace ended in points over the hands.

A crown of queen's lace, encrusted with iridescent sequins and pearls held a veil of imported French illusion.

An orchid, carried on a white Bible, formed the center of the bridal bouquet, which was cascaded with French white carnations and showered in white satin ribbon.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Andy Arcand of Sacramento, Calif. Her frock was a waltz-length pink crystal-ette over taffeta. Designed with a molded bodice, it featured a draped boat neck and full, shirred skirt. Mitts and a headband matched the shade of her dress. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses combined with yellow satin ribbon.

WEDDING RECEPTION

At the reception, the bride's parents and the couple's attendants assisted in receiving.

A deep-ruffled cloth of white organza and lace covered the bride's table, which was centered with an arrangement of orchid stock, majestic daisies and plumose fern.

The bridal cake, white, and decorated with white roses and white and silver leaves was placed at the end of the table. At the opposite end was the crystal punch bowl.

Serving was done by Mrs. Glenn Tepley and Mrs. Kelley Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. Wayman Clark registered the guests.

Other members of the house party were Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. Noel Hull, Mrs. Melvin McFall, Mrs. Bill Earley, Mrs. Lee Porter, Mrs. Boone Horne, Mrs. Ben Hawkins and Mrs. Preach Martin.

Piano music was played during the reception by Sharon Lewis.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a black suit and wore white accessories; she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet as a corsage.

Upon their return, the couple will be at home at 907 Scurry.

WEDDING TRIP

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was a member of Tri-Hi-Y, the Journalism Club and the Rainbow Girls. She is presently employed at Webb Air Force Base.

Myers, who was graduated from Harrison High School, Harrison, Ohio, is stationed at Webb AFB.

Out-of-town guests were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rosson of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ross of Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Mozelle Roggenstein and Mr. and Mrs. Oren Sturdivant, all of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Safa Rosson of Monahan; and the brother-in-law of the bride, Andy Arcand, Tommy and Teresa.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

Doyle Phillips, senior-of-the-week, is a participant in many activities of BSHS. Having lived and attended school in Mexico City one year, Spanish is a special interest of the Spanish Club, he was selected to serve as president of the organization last year.

Doyle is now vice president of the Forum and holds the same office in the Drama Workshop. Interested in dramatics, Doyle is now directing and acting in a one-act play to be presented before the workshop at their next meeting. Doyle also appeared in the fall play, "Dear Ruth." He is now in training for the track season.

The last basketball pep rally of the year was held Tuesday afternoon in the gym. Pep talks made by Billy Bluhm and Billy Bob Satterwhite received an enthusiastic greeting from the students.

DOYLE PHILLIPS

After an eventful trip, the students attending the Odessa-Big Spring basketball game returned late Tuesday night. Even though, mechanical difficulties hampered the return trip, the kids had a lot of fun and did a very commendable job of backing the Steers.

The 1956-57 Steer Basketball team completed the season Friday night by crowning their sweetheart, Kathleen Thomas received this honor from Captain Michael Musgrove. Other nominees included Frances Davis and Gay Bownds.

Following the Abilene game Friday, the Junior class sponsored a dance at Tarbox-Gossett Motor Company. Some of those celebrating the end of a very successful season were Jo Ann Ebling, Bobby Fuller; Kathleen Thomas, Michael Musgrove; Jacqueline Smith, Donnie Bryant; Edith Freeman, George Peacock; Frances Davis, and Jesse McElreath.

The senior honor roll was announced last week. Those whose names appeared on the roll were Lynn Anderson, Pat Bradford, Kay Chadd, Sherry Coats, Wilma Cole, Walter Dickenson, Rosemary Donica, Janice Downing, Vincent Friedwald, Bobby Grant, Barton Grooms, Mike Hull, Hester Hollis, Paula Hon, Denise Honey, Michael Jarrett, Nita Jones, Eddie Kenny, Nancy King, Janice Kirby, Kay Loveland, Patsy Potter, Genie Smith, and Billy Evans.

Have you noticed some of the FHA members selling candy and carrying signs reading "So and So for Dreamboy"? Well, the homemaking classes are holding their annual contest to choose the dreamboy. Those nominated by the various classes are Johnny Janak, Frosty Forrester, Jackie Touchstone, Michael Musgrove, and Lewie Porter. The results of the contest will be announced Monday.

Tickets for the Drama Workshop production, "Harvey," were distributed to the members at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. Students may obtain their tickets to the play, to be presented Feb. 22 and 23, from workshop members for 30 cents. Adult tickets are priced at 25 cents.

A treat is in store for workshop members next Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting. "Suppressed Desire," a play directed by Doyle Phillips, will be presented. Those appearing in the one-act play are Dianne Green, Nita Jones and Doyle.

"The Roamin' Romans" sold homemade candy last week in order to make enough money to buy the dye for the Forum pins. The project was successful and pins will be ordered for the group next week. Each Latin student should order his pin for $1.25 before Friday. Guards will cost $1.10.

March 14 has been set as a tentative date for the Roman Banquet, a project of the Forum. This date is especially suitable, as it immediately precedes the Ides of March, a time familiar to all Latin students.

Those attending the Ted Smullivan Show Thursday or Friday nights saw quite a different side of many Big Spring teachers. The comedy featured various acts by the faculty of the local schools.

Congratulations to Paula Hon, Annette Boykin, Bunky Grimes, Homer Lee Wilkerson, Dean Horton, Carol Letcher, Pat Fisher, Nancy McCullough, Sue Boykin, Lou Ann White, Kay Wilcox, Nancy King, Joyce Kennedy, Kathy McRee, Bob Wallace, Doyle Phillips, Lane Edwards, Vickie Fitzgeralds, Avanel Greenwood, George Lowke, Janet Dietz, Dave Montgomery, June Vaughn, Billy

Bob Lewallen, and Charles Morris on their fine essays.

These essays were printed in a book entitled Young America Speaks, after being judged as among the highest sent in from schools in the United States. The National Essay Association is the sponsor of this contest.

The tennis teams began workouts last week. Those beginning practice Monday were Ronnie Buie, Allan Glazer, Julius Glickman, Robert Stripling, Billy Evans, Frank Williamson, and Jerry Buie. The seven boys and their coaches are looking forward to a successful season.

Don't forget the basketball game Friday afternoon featuring the Senior High School Faculty versus the Junior High School Faculty. The roster includes the names of such players as "Jim Dandy" Yates, "Thump Thump" Bentley, "40 Point" Johnson, "Pot Shot" Pierson, and "Clinging" Vines. The game will be refereed by "Seeing Eye" Worley and "Blind Tom" Ernest. The fun starts at 2:50 Friday afternoon in the high school gym.

Jimmy Greene, retired manager of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the students in assembly Wednesday. The subject of the speech was the Industrial Foundation movement in Big Spring. After Mr. Greene spoke, questions were asked by the students concerning the Foundation and its uses.

And Now's The Time To Go To Work

Land needed for the new Howard County airport now has been secured. It has been secured, we might add, through the process of negotiation — the spirit of give and take — without resort to condemnation proceedings.

The court is due commendation for staying on this matter patiently until it was resolved. Obviously, there could be no development of the airport until there was a place to put it.

Time To Return To: "Penny Saved Is Penny Earned"

"I, too, have my prediction for 1957," writes William K. (Bill) Davis, of the Penn Fibre and Specialty Co. Inc., Philadelphia manufacturer of vulcanized fiber and laminated plastic products.

— was $412,000,000 last year — a record. That yielded corporate profits before taxes of $43,400,000, also a record. Yet the profits came to only 10.5 per cent of the G. N. P. In the years from 1946 to 1951, that proportion was considerably higher — 12 per cent (See chart).

1951, such profits averaged 7 per cent of G. N. P. But last year, long as the government is a heavy spender on national defense, high-ways and so on; so long as state and local governments are spending record sums on hospitals, schools, streets; so long as industry is spending record sums on plant and equipment, labor and materials will be tight.

But if inventories are high, if profits are down, corporations will take strikes. They won't meet labor's demands. And when that's the "steepest" labor leaders, being smart fellows, too, are less likely to make demands which won't be met. It could be that we're going through a mild adjustment now — getting it out of the way early in 1957, rather than later. Which would be all to the good.

- 1. Reduce the need for a tight money policy.
2. Reduce the upward pressure on consumer prices.
3. And, most important, reduce sure on consumer prices.

President Eisenhower's threat to impose controls doesn't alter the economic compulsion to get while the getting's good. So long as the government is a heavy spender on national defense, high-ways and so on; so long as state and local governments are spending record sums on hospitals, schools, streets; so long as industry is spending record sums on plant and equipment, labor and materials will be tight.

Valentines, For Sentiment And Insults

So who started this business of the valentines, anyway? Memory gets a little hazy, you know, so it took some research.

Anyway, the romance of Valentine seemed to have gotten off the track somewhere. Perhaps because boys — they must have been the worst offenders — at a certain age certainly would shy from anything so silly as sending a real lovin' valentine to a little girl, even if he was sweet on her, and "claimed" her. If he sent it, you can be sure it was done anonymously.

The Balance Of Power In The U.N.

The American position in the United Nations has become very difficult, especially during the past year. We find ourselves relying more than at any time in the past on the competence and the capacity of the United Nations to deal with great issues — as in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East.

alist China. But, as we have seen, we need eleven votes to get a majority. So we are still short seven votes. These we have to obtain by bargaining with India, in plain fact by working out compromises with Mr. Krishna Menon.

From this fundamental weakness come the confusions, the equivocations, the double standards of the U. N.'s dealings with the Soviet Union over Hungary, with India over Kashmir, with Britain, France an Israel over Suez and Gaza and the Gulf of Agaba.

This situation means that on the hard issues the General Assembly can vote resolutions only on one of two conditions. One is that the United States induces the Western bloc to vote with the Arab, Soviet and Afro-Asian blocs.

The mathematics of our problems are worth fixing in mind. The General Assembly has eighty members. But since South Africa and Hungary are absent, there are now in fact seventy-eight members. On any important question a two-thirds majority is needed, which means fifty-two votes.

What goes on behind this equivocation? What goes on in secret diplomacy — the only kind of diplomacy that has the remotest chance of working in the conflicts of the Middle East. The General Assembly is a place where nobody can afford to stand up in public and be reasonable. He will be regarded at home as a traitor.

Where is Mr. Lodge, who is the official who has to struggle with the situation for the United States, to find the necessary eleven votes? There are ten Soviet votes and there are eleven Arab votes that he cannot get. That makes twenty-one votes — one more than one-third of all votes — to veto any proposal the United States makes.

WASHINGTON — There seems to be a revived interest in "hair curlers." The Secretary of the Treasury, George Humphrey, said the other day that, unless federal spending is cut down, we "will have a depression that will curl your hair."

free economy unless we curb inflation on its way up, old man economic law will return with a full equipment of hair curlers."

Expenditures have grown to a dizzy height — Mr. Hoover thinks the federal spending really amounts to about 100 billions — but there isn't a group, a faction, or a party in Congress which dares to go on record in favor of cutting expenses by the billions. The danger is that Congress will actually increase the budget submitted by the President.

Rises in prices have in recent years revealed the dollar to have steadily depreciated since 1945. The Korean War was an inflationary factor and then there came a slight recession or "readjustment" in 1948, when attempts were made to correct the inflation.

But the curtailment of public spending is only one phase. The Federal Reserve system has tightened up the supply of credit. Arbitrarily the Federal Reserve has been saying that borrowing must be cut down. Many big projects have been abandoned or postponed and interest rates have gone up — thus adding to the expense of doing business.

Some economic doctors are needed to tell the American people the unpleasant truths — but some bold and outspoken citizens back in the states and districts must arise to tell Congress the time has come to cut the budget. For when "guns" are needed, "butter" — the luxury of a welfare state — has to be sacrificed. Unless Congress is willing to take that lesson to heart, depression and unemployment become inevitable over a period of time as confidence in the future soundness of the dollar declines correspondingly.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 7:15 — "For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate." (RSV)

A man invited into the control room of a large modern airplane was amazed at dozens of dials, indicators and delicate instruments provided for the safety and control of the great ship of the air.

But surprisingly enough, there was also an old-fashioned magnetic compass. It was explained that the gyro-compass, though not affected by its environment, is controlled by a power within itself which gradually changes and has to be corrected occasionally by the magnetic compass. The latter, though temporarily affected by surrounding magnetic influences, is subject to the earth's unchanging, far away pole.

Everyone needs that power within himself, called will, to guide his life. But one's will alone is not a safe guide. We all need the constant guidance of the divine power outside and beyond ourselves. Daily prayer and meditation serve to correct our wills by the will of God and to keep us on the true course.

Busy Hunter

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Somewhere around here there's a setter who's working overtime.

The big question now is whether a depression is near at hand or on the way or remote. Mr. Hoover says the economists are again optimistic, and he refers with some bitter recollection to the assurances they gave him in 1929. He says: "The obvious sign of inflation is the advance of prices, wages and the cost of living. But another sign is the temperance of some of our economists. Again you hear the same expressions as in the inflation period of 20 years ago — that 'we are in a new economic era' and that 'the old economic laws are outmoded.' I just suggest to you that, even in a partially

Buffalo Trail Scout Council Takes In Much Of West Texas

The Buffalo Trail Council, through which the Scouting movement for a large area of West Texas is administered, is one of the largest in the nation from the point of area.

It stretches from the Colorado River to the Rio Grande and takes in much of the celebrated Big Bend area as well as a good part of the Permian Basin.

Brewster, Presidio and Culberson, three of the largest counties (in area) in the state are in the council. There are 18 counties in all.

The council is broken into seven separate districts, the Black Gold, serviced by S. G. Painter, Odessa; Scout executive; the Big Bend, serviced by Bob Read, Alpine; the El Centro, serviced by Lowell Langley, Midland; the Lone Buffalo, serviced by Joe T. Bohannon, Snyder; the Lone Star, serviced by Wm. T. McRee, B1 Spring; the Pecos Valley, Monty Stokes, Pecos; the Sandhills, serviced by Joe Harvell, Kermit.

This particular district has four counties — Howard, Martin, Glasscock and Sterling — and is equalled in number only by the Big Bend district. It is second in area only to the Sand Hills area of Andrews, Kermit and Ward runs a close second.

The council has two major operations, one the 6,000-acre Boy Scout ranch in the Davis Mountains and the other Camp Ed Murphy at Lake J. B. Thomas in southeastern Borden County. The latter is slated for development this year as a capital funds campaign moves into high gear. Also on tap is the construction of a council headquarters building at Midland. The council has a barracks building in downtown Midland on a site donated by the City of Midland.

Responsible for the administration of council activities is P. V. Thorson, Midland, the area executive. He is assisted by Joe Niedermayer, director of field service. Others on the office force are Alyce Tarver, Gracie Frazier, Rosa Lee Yates, Mary Lou Waeckerle and Rosalene Dennis.

Affairs of the council are shaped by the executive board which is composed of the officers, including Emmett Beauchamp, Pecos.

the president, and 56 members from the various districts of the council. Among Big Spring men on the council board are W. C. Blankenship, Dr. W. B. Hardy (a past council president) John Taylor and Charles A. Week. Others are Maurice Koger, district chairman, and Champ Rainwater. All institutional representatives from the sponsoring institutions are council members, too.

God And Country Award

When a boy earns his God and Country award, usually after a year of hard work, its presentation becomes an important event in his church. This was the case for Ross Reagan, who is having his badge pinned on by his mother, Mrs. Horace Reagan. At the left is his pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, under whose direction the award was earned. Ross, a member of Troop No. 5, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, recently completed his work for the Eagle badge.

They Soared High

Here are two of the three boys who soared to the peak in Scouting last year by attaining the Eagle rank. They are Arlen Bryant and Cliff Epps, members of Troop and Post No. 9, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church. To attain this rank, a boy must not only earn 21 merit badges, half of them stringent required ones, but he also must have exemplified qualities of leadership in Scouting. Other recipient in this district, not pictured here, was Richard Long.

6,000-Acre Scout Ranch Serves Boys Of This Area

Six thousand acres of mountain country to explore, swimming in natural pools, hiking, horseback riding, burro pack trips, rifle marksmanship, archery, nature lore, ceremonials and treasure hunts — these await some 200 Howard County boys who will attend camp sessions of Buffalo Scout Ranch near Toyahvale, reports W. T. McRee, district executive, Boy Scouts of America.

Four camp periods, each of six days duration, will be held during June, McRee said: June 23; 9:15; 16-22; 23-29. Total attendance during the month is expected to reach 1,000.

During the current month and throughout March, Sam McComb, Big Spring, Camping and Activities chairman, will meet with each troop of Scouts and their parents; he or a member of his committee will show camp pictures and explain opportunities and advantages afforded by camp sessions.

Lone Star district — Howard, Martin, Sterling and Glasscock counties — now has 1,244 boy members, Howard alone having 1,034 Scouts, McRee said. The district also has some 300 registered Scouters — voluntary leaders such as commissioners, unit leaders, Den Mothers, members of the district committee and unit committeemen.

Every Scout attending the June camp sessions will be afforded the opportunity to advance one degree in rank, McRee pointed out, and "adventure trails" will be established to assist boys to achieve that goal.

Different programs will mark each night at camp — campfires, various ceremonials, night games, treasure hunts, amateur performances, music-making and handicraft activities being among them.

Scoutmaster

It's hard to tell who gets the greater thrill out of Scouting — the Scoutmaster or the Scouts. One of the veterans who has an outstanding troop year after year demonstrates how the Scout leader gets with it on camp. Clad in regular Scouting regalia and ready for a rugged mountain hike is Bob Deavenport, Stanton.

Application for camp reservations should be made to Scoutmasters as early as possible, officials recommend, as troop leaders must turn reservations in to the council office not later than two weeks before the period in camp specified by the applicant.

Fee for the six-day camping session is $14, the $2 reservation payment being credited to the total cost. Boys expecting to attend may obtain medical examination forms from their Scoutmasters, be examined by their family physician within the two weeks before they go to camp, and take the completed form to camp with them.

Thirty Scouts, whose reservations reach the council office by May 1, may attend a camp session for $13, officials said. As a pioneer in low-cost camping, Boy Scouting confines its charge to the cost of food, cooking, and kitchen help, they observed. Arrangements have been made for one adult leader to attend Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch camp free of charge with each ten Scouts present, it was announced. For other leaders, to cover the cost of meals, a charge of $6.00 per week will be made.

Transportation to and from camp will be the responsibility of the troop committee and parents of boys attending, officials made known.

The camp fee includes services of the camp medical officer, as well as insurance coverage in the event of accident or sickness while in camp, it was explained.

Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch is reached by Highway No. 17 out of Pecos, proceeding about 12 miles beyond Balmorhea to a sign on the right side of the highway which points toward the ranch, thence following the green arrows.

Scouting Depends Upon Volunteers

The Boy Scout movement is still essentially operated by volunteer leadership.

There are nine executives (or professional men) who devote themselves exclusively to the Scouting program for more than 7,700 boys scattered throughout 18 counties.

The program is dependent, therefore, upon the adult volunteers who serve as Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, Explorer Advisors, institutional representatives, committeemen, and Den Mothers. Exact figures for 1956 are not available, but the total number of adult volunteers, in one capacity or another, far exceeded 2,000 in the Buffalo Trail Council.

Scouting Is Wonderful Training For Life

Scouting in all phases is good training for the job of living. It affords adventure, character building, teaching for citizenship, training in skills, educational helps and instruction for community life. We are proud to salute the Boy Scouts for the wonderful training job they are doing to mold today's boys into tomorrow's men.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK IN BIG SPRING

Skill Demonstration At Exposition

In The Senior Program

Part of the program for senior boys are the Air Explorers, which in turn are part of the Explorer program. One of the units here is the 146th Air Explorer Squadron. Advisor is S-Sgt. Chester L. Abernathy with 1st Lt. Bill Waymard and 1st Lt. M. C. Henkels Jr. as assistants. The squadron, which is sponsored by and meets at Webb AFB, is shown studying aircraft bailout procedures and survival practices on the water.

Council Opens Campaign For Capital Funds

The Buffalo Trail Council, of which Big Spring and surrounding area are a part, currently is undertaking a $297,000 capital funds expansion project.

The initial phase of the campaign has been launched and council leaders hope that it can be pressed to completion during this year.

Among improvements contemplated out of the funds are those to Ed Murphy Aquatic Camp on the northwest shores of Lake J. B. Thomas, in Borden County. Included are a camp entrance, road and fence; a water system, sanitation; dining hall; central lodge and caretakers quarters; archery and rifle range, board dock and piers, at least 10 boats and canoes, two sail boats, land expansion, equipment and camp sites.

Extensive improvements are projected for the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains, where the council now owns and operates a 4,000-acre spread for camping purposes. Officials would like to set up 20 new troop camp sites with necessary roads; expand the water system, enlarge the mess hall together with the kitchen and equipment, and provide a cook's quarters. Also on the list are a caretaker's home, commissary building, chapel, guest cottage, adding to trees, grass, trails, outpost camps, power lines and equipment, communication facilities.

If funds permit, the council also would like to provide new trails and improve existing ones, enlarge the rifle range; build an activities shelter, add to the horses, burros, riding gear saddles; construct a swimming pool.

One of the heavy expenditures of funds would go to a new two-story office building to house the council offices on the downtown site donated to the council by the City of Midland.

One Way To Travel

Members of Troop No. 4, sponsored by the East Fourth Baptist Church, board their bus for a trip to the Boy Scout Ranch. This troop, led by Garrett Patton and Billy Mims, was the first unit in Big Spring to get a bus for its exclusive use. Recently, Troop No. 136 of Midway, headed by Harvey Hooser, has acquired a newer and much larger bus for troop purposes.

AT VALLEY FORGE

Council To Send 148 To Jamboree

One hundred forty-eight members of Buffalo Trail Council — 23 from the Big Spring area — will attend the Fourth National Jamboree, Boy Scouts of America, at Valley Forge, Pa., July 12-18, according to W. T. McTea, district Scout executive.

In one of the biggest organized peacetime migrations in America, West Texas boys will join some 50,000 others at "the camp where Washington camped," converted into a vast "tent city" with its own police and fire departments, water system, hospitals, rail stations, bus and truck lines. One thing will be missing: schools.

The jamboree also will have its own radio and television studios for transmission of daily doings of the encampment; its own newspaper, bank, post office, telephone exchange, supermarkets, theaters, and places of worship. A short-wave radio station will transmit personal messages to the home-folks.

Transportation of Scouts from every section of the national will require almost a hundred special trains, hundreds of buses and many thousand automobiles.

Two gigantic arena shows, including patriotic pageantry and fireworks, will be among spectacular events of the week-long convulse. Five thousand Scouts will form the cast for these presentations.

Health and protective agencies — national, state and local units — will cooperate to insure records superior to those of the average city of 50,000 in the U. S.; physicians from home areas will travel and live with each section of those in attendance. A physical checkup of each camper will be made before departure from home and upon arrival at the jamboree.

High-quality food, bought by the carload, will provide well-balanced menus; fresh dairy products, vegetables, meats and fruits will be distributed each night by radio-controlled trucks to commissary refrigerators. Since the jamboree fee of $30 includes food and expenses for the camp period, troops will obtain their food and cooking supplies at section "supermarkets" — lacking only cash registers.

Members of each patrol or crew will share "housekeeping" tasks — fire-building, cooking and cleaning work; paper plates will minimize dishwashing.

Teams of national, section, and troop Scout leaders will administer the camp; government of the "tent city" will be guided by the Scout Oath and Law; jamboree troop leadership will be by specially-selected Scoutmasters and assistants named locally, and three days of pre-jamboree camp training will be given to each troop.

Eagle Scout Richard Lee Chapell represents the Boy Scouts of America in the current United States Anarctic Expedition as a junior scientific aide.

Three thousand four hundred and seventy-five awards have been made for heroism by the Scouts' National Court of Honor since 1911. The Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico, comprising 127,000 acres is the largest Scout camp in the world.

Lamesa Scout Leader Honored

Twenty-eight years of volunteer leadership in the Boy Scout movement — for which organization officials conferred upon him the title of "Dean of Scoutmasters in the South Plains" — recently was recognized by citizens of Lamesa in paying tribute to Joe Spikes, holder of Scouting's highest award for distinguished adult service.

Business and civic leaders, Scout officers, former and present members of Lamesa Boy Scout Troop 22 and plain citizens joined in celebration of Spikes' birthday and acknowledgment of his varied contributions to Scout ideals and accomplishments.

Spikes' career of leadership originated with a letter, bearing the signatures of each boy in Lamesa Troop 22, asking that he become the troop's scoutmaster. He accepted.

Today, the "boys" who came under his influence and guidance back in 1928, include the city's mayor, heads of civic and classification clubs, business and professional leaders, notable athletes and others who have achieved distinction.

Among the awards earned by Spikes for his attainments in behalf of Scouting are the Silver Beaver — highest honor which can be won by an adult; the Scouter's Key, the Scoutmaster's Key, and membership in the National honor camper's organization.

Off To The Races For These Cubs

An absorbing race attracts the attention of members of Den No. 3, Cub Pack No. 109, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church. Supervising this pinewood derby, a club project, is Lester Goswick, right, the Cubmaster. In the picture are Donald Nance, Danny Reagan, Bill Purser, Johnny Goswick, Jimmy Wighton, Joe Aulds, Curtis Saunders, Billy Bauer, Bobby Baker and Leahmon Bryant. The den mother, not shown, is Mrs. Herman Bauer.

Here's How It's Done

Members of Den No. 1, Cub Pack No. 25, sponsored by the North Ward P-TA, learn to do by doing when it comes to kite-making. Taking in this seasonal bit of instruction are (back row) Henry Rosler, Benjamin Montanez, Timothy Knox, Jerry Cryer; (front row) Mike Smith, Pat Blunt, Andrew Ortega, Edgar Coates and Robert Mendosa. Mrs. Vernon Smith is the den mother.

District Chief Has 20 Aides In Scout Work

Malcolm Patterson, commissioner of the Lone Star District, has lined up 20 men to aid him as assistant and neighborhood commissioners.

Neighborhood commissioners work with unit leaders (the Cubmasters, Scoutmasters and Explorer advisors) to assure that the program is being offered to the boys. Since the program is the means by which Scouting attains its end of character building and citizenship training, this puts the commissioner's role in sharp focus.

In another sense, the commissioner and his staff are responsible for the quality of the program reaching the boys. They are not super-sleuths or checkers who look over the unit leader's shoulder, but rather helpers who assist unit leaders in overcoming obstacles.

Assistant district commissioners under Patterson are Allen R. Orr, a former district commissioner; Chester Cathey; Richard Deats; Walker Bailey, all of Big Spring; and Sammie Houston, Stanton.

M. R. Koger Heads District Committee

Charged with the responsibility of administering the Scouting program in the Lone Star District is the district committee, headed by Maurice R. Koger.

Koger convenes his committee, which consists of seven operating committee heads, plus the district commissioner and two vice commissioners, the last Friday noon of each month. He receives reports on accomplishments of the past month, and plans are made for activities for the next month or for special events further ahead. Most of the program of Scouting shapes up through one or more of the operating committees of the district, and thus this becomes the instrument for providing new units to serve boys or to see that existing units provide a program that will be beneficial and interesting to the boys.

In addition to the executive committee meetings, which are held at the Howard House, the district committee members take part in the 10-1 meetings held the first Thursday evening of each month. This is the meeting where representatives from all the units come together to get program details and helps for the next month's work.

Vice chairmen of the district are Lee Porter and Dr. Marshall Cauley, and the district commissioner is Malcolm L. Patterson. Heads of the operating committees are Sam McComb, camping and activities; Dr. W. A. Hunt, leadership training; Sammy Melinger, advancement; Joe Pickle, public relations; Grover C. Cunningham Jr., finance; Dr. Clyde E. Thomas Jr., health and safety; Charles A. Weeg, organization and extension.

28 Qualify For Eagle

Three Big Spring boys were among the 28 in the Buffalo Trail Council who qualified for the highest awards in Scouting — the Eagle — last year.

They are Arlen Bryant, Richard Long and Cliff Epps Jr. Other boys in the council attaining this honor are Melvin Bertram, Garvin Harkins, Lonnie Taylor, James A. Barron, Lester R. Fisher, Fred C. Homeyer, Stephen Haines Jr., Jerry Richmond, Bobby Weir, William Roland Wagon, Bobby Owen, James A. Ulmer, Charles F. Mecanich, Emmett Champion, Todd W. Pearson, Henry Meadows Jr., Brock Alberts, Gary Hendrick, Larry Cochran, Dwayne Cochran, Joe Dale Crumble, Jim Lester, Dannie Bradshaw, Ralph Cook and Rodney Stephenson.

Philmont Scout Ranch Trip Goal Of Explorers, Leaders

Philmont Scout Ranch is the goal of many Explorer Scouts and leaders annually. This fabulous spread in the rugged mountains near Cimarron, N. M., has become a mecca for special training and wilderness camping because of its vastness, its virgin timber, its intricate trails which still put boys on their own like pioneers of old.

It is the gift of Waite Phillips, one of the Phillips Petroleum founders, to the Boy Scouts of America.

Last summer Post No. 9, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church in Big Spring, made a trek to Philmont and spent more than a week on the trail. The members carried what they ate on their backs along with bedding, and they picked up supplies on the primeval trail at rendezvous points.

Among those making the trip were Turner Ferguson, Allen McElrath, A. C. Rawlins, Cliff Epps, Bill Owens, Richard Long, Austin Ferguson and Marshall V. Day, the leader.

Not only has this picturesque ranch in the Kit Carson country been used constantly by Scouts themselves, but increasingly for leadership training purposes. Some of them set up for this year are: Cub Scout Leaders, July 31-Aug. 6; Aug. 7-13; Boy Scout Leaders, June 19-25; July 3-9; July 24-30;

Explorer Leaders, July 10-16; July 24-30; Commissioners, June 12-18; July 17-23; Finance, June 26-July 2; District Administration, Aug. 14-20; Operating Committee Chairmen, Aug. 21-27; Camping and Activities, Health and Safety, Aug. 28-Sept. 3.

Wood Badge courses for Boy

Scout Leader will be held May 18-26; for Explorer Leader, Aug. 13-21; Professional Fellowship Conferences June 2-8, Aug. 21-27; Professional Advanced Intermediate Courses, May 26-June 1; Aug. 14-20; Professional Intermediate Courses, May 26-June 8; Aug. 14-27.

February, 1957, is the 47th anniversary of the 'Boy Scouts of America.' Its growth and popularity could only be due to the basic Christian standards upon which it was founded... loyalty, helpfulness, courtesy, kindness, obedience and above all, reverence. We salute this organization for its splendid job in making better citizens of us and of our children.

CUBS HOLD BANQUETS

Several Churches Today Will Recognize Boys In Scouting

Boys in Scouting — the younger ones in the Cubs, the intermediates in the Boy Scouts, and the seniors in the Explorers — will be observing the 47th anniversary of the movement in America this week.

In several churches of the city today, pastors will recognize the boys in Scouting, and in a number of instances the church-sponsored units will be attending in a body or helping with the services as ushers, etc.

Some troops will take special outings to commemorate the occasion, and all have experienced the traditional rededication to the Scout Oath and Law: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and to my country; to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

(The law, referred to in the oath, requires a boy to do his best to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.)

Cubs — the boys eight, nine and 10 years of age — are holding their traditional Blue and Gold banquets on a pack basis. In most instances, the potluck or covered dish plan is being employed for the food. The occasion will offer an opportunity for special awards to be made to the boys who have advanced.

The counterpart of this for some troops will be Courts of Honor at which their advancement awards will be made.

Explorers also will have their special meetings with a rededication to the objectives of the program high on the list of business.

Mayor G. W. Dabney, as has been his custom for years, has proclaimed Boy Scout Week, and called upon the community to reaffirm its interest in its youth as the only sure means of securing the perpetuation of our democratic society.

District Chairman Maurice R. Koger expressed thanks to all institutions in the community which have undertaken the sponsorship of Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts. They are making singular contributions to the welfare of the community and are deserving of highest praise, he said.

55 Men Win Silver Beaver

Fifty-five men have had the highest honor of the Buffalo Trail Council — that of the Silver Beaver — conferred upon them in the nearly three decades that the council has been active.

In addition, there are three others who now reside in the council who earned the award at the hands of other councils. Thirteen men who were accorded the honor by this council now reside in other councils.

Six of the total have been from Big Spring and they were C. S. Holmes, deceased, regarded as the father of Scouting in Big Spring; Dr. W. B. Hardy (1943), Carl S. Blomshield (1944), W. C. Blankenship (1945), Nat Shick (1946), Joe Pickle (1951) and George Melear (1952).

'Hope We Brought Bacon'

This is the thought of Jimmy Greenwall, left, as Jesse (Sonny) Hitt, center, looks into the Scout pack for the grub. At right, Explorer Dewayne Richters prepares more firewood. The three are members of the Screaming Eagle Patrol of Troop No. 136, which was on an overnight camping trip at the time. Cooking and building fires are two of the most important skills taught in the Boy Scout organization. Harvey Hooser is Scoutmaster of Troop 136.

Apache Tent

The pup tent houses three Apaches (patrol, that is) of Troop No. 136 who had an overnight camp recently. The three Scouts in the pup tent are, left to right, David Lewis, Jimmy Flint and Troy Wilhite. The three have ditched the tent (dug a furrow around it to drain off any possible rain) and then pulled the dirt around the base of the tent to keep out the wind. The troop takes at least two overnight trips every month to give the Scouts a chance to pass their outdoor advancement work.

Scouts Mark 47th Year Of Organization

The nation's 4,500,000 Cub Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders will mark the 47th anniversary of their organization during Boy Scout Week.

The observance has as its theme, "Onward for God and My Country" with a special emphasis on "Duty to Country."

Today is Boy Scout Sunday. Scouts and leaders will attend religious services in uniform in countless churches of all denominations. Those of Jewish faith held their observances in synagogues and temples on Friday evening and Saturday. Many sermons, addressed to Scouts, will touch on some aspect of the Boy Scout Week theme.

In hundreds of communities, Scouts, their parents, and institutions sponsoring Scout units, will unite in paying their respects to the volunteer adult leaders whose contributions of time and effort in behalf of youth make these units possible.

National Scout officials say that 48.7 per cent of all Scout units — and there are 111,000 of them — are made possible by the sponsorship of churches and synagogues of all faiths. Civic groups make possible 30.8 per cent, while schools sponsor 19.9 per cent of Scout units in all three age levels.

Many store windows will be given over to Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers for displays of their handicraft and to demonstrate some of the useful skills they acquire through their programs. In countless elementary, junior high, and high schools, Boy Scout Week will be recognized in school assemblies through flag ceremonies, acts, and stunts by Cub Scouts, exhibits of handicrafts by Scouts, motion pictures of Scouting activities, demonstration of Scouting skills and talks by boys of some of their adventuresome activities. Traditionally on Feb. 8, the actual birthday date of the organization, Scouts and leaders recited themselves to the Scout Oath or Promise at 8:15 p.m., in each of the four time zones.

ONWARD For God and My Country

47th ANNIVERSARY BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA 1957

OFFICIAL BOY SCOUT WEEK POSTER

More than 4,500,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders throughout the nation will observe Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, marking the 47th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Since 1910, Scouting has served over 26,000,000 boys and adult leaders. Through its Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," the organization seeks to train more boys in patriotism and character so that they will become intelligent citizens with an appreciation of the free way of life and a dedication to high spiritual ideals.

Boy Scout Week observances will feature preparation for the Fourth National Jamboree, which will find 50,000 Scouts and leaders camping where Washington camped at historic Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, next July 12 to 18. The nation's 111,000 Scout units will feature rededication ceremonies on February 8, the actual birthday of Scouting in America.

Mrs. B. Reagan Founded First Scout Troop Here

Big Spring itself shares a role of significance in Scouting. For here was established in 1911 — soon after the movement got under way in the U. S. — Big Spring Troop No. 1, oldest in West Texas. And, some Scout historians insist, the oldest in the entire state.

To a woman, Mrs. B. Reagan, must go the honor of having been responsible for the founding of that troop. In 1910, reading an issue of the Ladies Home Journal, she encountered an article written by Lord Baden-Powell, describing the Scout movement in England.

Wanting her two sons to have the advantages of Scouting, she prevailed on C. S. Holmes to organize a troop. He became Scoutmaster of the pioneer Troop No. 1, holding its first meeting in the Holmes front yard. Reagan, who shared his wife's enthusiasm, gave substantial help in financing this embryo group.

SCOUTING builds better men

A boy learns many lessons from Scouting. He absorbs countless new skills, develops self-reliance and a keen sense of justice and fair play. He learns to cooperate with others and becomes a good competitor. His lessons come not from a book, but through a long, adventuresome trail of experience. And through it all, he develops a deep reverence for his Creator.

Scouting is for all boys—and no boy has entered wholly into its program without becoming a better man for it. Right now, during Boy Scout Week, pledge your support to this giant movement:

Encourage your boy to join a troop or cub pack. Give him your assistance in learning Scouting's lessons.

Join yourself. Scouting needs men and women willing to help. No experience is necessary. For information, call W. T. McRee, District Scout Executive, at AM 4-7720.

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

ARE YOU PUZZLED TOO?

Here is a young lady who's puzzled. She has all the pieces at her fingertips but how to make them fit into the finished pattern—that's her problem.

And it's your problem, too! Life is full of odd pieces which just don't seem to fit into any kind of sensible pattern. There are the odd pieces of sorrow and joy, of suffering and health, of doubt and faith, of evil and good, of death and life, and it sometimes seems as if we never could make them fit into a pattern which makes sense.

And yet there is a pattern for your life—and every life. God knows the pattern and wants to help you find it.

The key to the puzzle of life is a Cross. And the Church, with its message of the Cross of Christ, can help make the odd pieces in the puzzle of your life fall into the finished pattern: a life of confidence and courage and serenity.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Treading In Dark Nothing To Actors

By MARSHALL COMERER
Associated Press Staff

It's a neat trick, but how do you do it?

That question was asked most frequently of stage managers who use the blackout of house lights to get their actors on the stage instead of a curtain.

It's a matter of timing and sound clues scheduled with split second timing, explained stage manager Fred Hoskins of the Margo Jones Theater '57 in Dallas.

In its early days the Dallas theater relied on an actor's cough or a rap on a table and many theaters still do.

Getting on stage in the dark can be nerve-racking for the uninitiated actor.

"I had jitters like all the others when I came here last fall," said John O'Leary of Theater '57. "I was certain I'd stumble into a patron's lap. But after a few performances, you develop cat eyes and can see with your fingers in the dark."

Paul Horgan's Pulitzer Prize book about the Rio Grande has become the basis of a musical work, "The Great River: The Rio Grande for Symphony Orchestra and Narrator." Horgan wrote the narrative and Ernest Bacon, professor of music at Syracuse, N.Y., the music.

The music will receive its world premiere by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra Monday evening. The narration will be by Mack Harrell, former Metropolitan Opera baritone now artist in residence at SMU.

Houston's Theater Inc. has broken off negotiations to present "Waiting for Godot." The plan called for the company of the Dallas Little Theater, which had a success with the play last December, to appear in Houston. Budgeting problems, it is reported, could not be ironed out for the present.

Theater Inc. this weekend opened its children's play, "Evelokam." It will also be given Feb. 16-17.

Also opening Saturday in Houston was a revival of the Greek Farce "Lysistrata" at the Music Hall.

The 1957 Big Spring art fiesta and Texas Fine Arts Assn. preliminaries were held this weekend with a large number of West Texas artists represented.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

A colorful photograph of Broadway done the latest LP recording by Guy Lombardo. In honor of the past 10 years of circulating Lombardo music, the album is appropriately titled "Decade on Broadway - 46-56." Numbers plucked from past years as done in the style of Lombardo and his Royal Canadians include "I Love Paris," "Hello Young Lover," "Getting to Know You," "On the Street Where You Live," and "If I Loved You."

Also recalling memories from the past are the two volumes of LP music, "Tribute to Dorsey," which is a collection of original recordings for which Tommy Dorsey will be remembered. Beginning with November, 1936 and "Keeping Out of Mischief Now," one of the latter listed tunes is "Come Rain or Come Shine," recorded by Dorsey January, 1946. Some outstanding in-betweeners are "Shine on Harvest Moon," which was placed on wax by Dorsey in '38; "Tea for Two," a hit in '39; and "Street of Dreams" tops in '42.

Don't suppose that any amount of dressin' up could change Tex Ritter from a country and western singer to a pop crooner, but his single from a coming movie, "The Big Land," might prove to be high rating with popular music fans. The big side seems to be "Children and Fools." A choral background almost classifies this one as "pretty music."

Sony James, another C&W singer, has a wide range of appeal for "Lonesome" from his latest album, "Country Gentleman." The flip is "I Leaned on a Man."

Sweethearts of the blues, Shirley and Lee are currently using "When I Saw You" and "That's What I Wanna Do" to charm hosts of fans.

The unlikely title of "Lucky Lips" is stuck to one side of the new Gale Storm disc for Dot. "On Treasure Island" makes up the accompanying side.

We've been hearing a great deal about Johnny Maddox lately. Also recording for Dot, he has a brand new one that has shaped up pretty well, considering the short length of time it has been available to fans. This guy with the comfortable voice uses "Mood Indigo" to make up one side, and "Rock and Roll Medley" the other.

Ralph Marterie has a new single really knockin' 'em dead in other portions of the country, though its effects haven't been felt in the Big Spring area as yet. Be listening for this one: "It's Tricky."

Just to keep up with the long caravan of vocalists who have gone Calypso, Rusty Draper's latest for Mercury is none other than "Let's Go Calypso." Flip is "Should I Ever Love Again."

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

Want something to read? Try the Howard County Free Library in the court house.

Forty-two new books have been bought and added to the stacks in the library and 19 other books have been donated in the past four weeks.

The new books offer a pretty wide choice of reading material. They include a sizable group of the latest fiction, a handful of new mystery novels and a considerable number of non-fiction volumes for those who want a little meat in their reading diet.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said there were 4,495 books checked out of the library in January which is a fair to average turnover of books for the first month of the year.

Adult books accounted for 2,944 of the books read and juvenile volumes for the remainder. As usual fiction was most in demand and patrons of the library borrowed 2,287 volumes of adult fiction during the month. Six hundred and 57 non-fiction books were issued. Juvenile fiction readers checked out 934 volumes and the children's non-fiction total was 193. The final category — classified in the report as "easy" and meaning books for very young readers — totaled 424.

Forgetful borrowers who didn't get their books back in time kicked in $156.71 in fines during the month.

New books in the fiction line on the shelves are:

"Autumn Comes Early," by Howard Breslin.

"The Doves of Venus," by Olivia Manning.

"The Guns of Navarone," by Alistair Maclean.

"Company Q," by Richard O'Connor.

"These Thousand Hills," by A. B. Guthrie.

"The Fountain Overflows," by Rebecca West.

"The Priest," by Joseph Caruso.

"Seize the Day," by Saul Bellow.

"The Lighthearted Guest," by Ann Bridge.

"Son of the Dust," by H. M. F. Prescott.

"Seats of the Mighty," by Alice Harwood.

"Aimee," by Margaret Lathrop Low.

"Marry Me—Carry Me," by Ardyth Kennelly.

New books in the non-fiction group:

"A Child's Christmas in Wales," by Thomas Dylan.

"The Story of Jazz," by Stearns Marshall.

"The Ladies Home Journal Treasury," edited by John Mason Brown.

"George Bernard Shaw," by Henderson.

"The Man Who Made the Nation," by John Dos Passos.

"Textbook of Psychoanalysis," by Charles Brenner.

"When Boy Dates Girl," by Aurelia Stowe.

"Twenty Million Tons Under the Sea," by Rear Adm. Gallery.

some time makes an excellent impression on the rhythm and blues fans with "Walking After Midnight." The artist, Patsy Cline, does a convincing job on Decca.

Hi-m-m more "pretty" music emerges from a former rock and roll warbler, Diana Washington offers a commendable performance with a current local number, "I Know."

Look for things to warm up for the newest of new numbers by Frankie Lyman and the Teen-agers. They have excelled with "Teenage Love" and "Paper Castles." It is rock and roll to the nth of the letter.

Jaye P. Morgan uses customary style for a pleasing rendition of "I Thought It Was Over." The songstress, although experiencing a slow start on this one from Big Spring fans, is receiving fanfare from some quarters. "I Pledge Allegiance to Your Heart" was chosen for coupling number.

Here's a new one by an artist not too well-known, but with great potential. Roy Brown is graced with excellent orchestra backing for a run-through of "Party Doll."

"Bride's Reference Book," "Standard Cyclopaedia of Horticulture," by L. H. Bailey.

"Bookkeeping Made Simple," by Louis Fields.

"Astronomy Made Simple," by Mel H. Degan.

"Business Letter Writing Made Simple," by Irving Rosenthal.

"Out of This World," by Lowell Thomas.

"The High Fidelity Reader," by Roy Hoops Jr.

"Doctors, Drums and Dances," by Andrus Laszlo, M.D.

Mystery books on hand include: "Beware the Curves," by A. A. Fair.

"The Door into Summer," by R. A. Neale.

"The Strange Case of Mr. Phelan," by Anthony Armstrong.

"Bite the Hand," by Ruth Fenning.

NATIONAL COMMUNISM AND POPULAR REVOLT IN EASTERN EUROPE. Edited by Paul E. Zinner. Published by Columbia University and the Ford Foundation.

Here is a ponderous volume, bound in bright yellow cardboard, which reprints comments and articles by competent authorities the world over relative to their recent inner disturbances which have been seething behind the Iron Curtain.

For the student who wants to dig deeper into the story of the revolt in the Communist lands than the front page of the paper, here is a treasure trove. It is primarily for the person who is making a concentrated study of the situation abroad and not, as one might easily realize, a volume for the casual lay reader.

Collecting, editing and assembling this book — it has 563 pages — has undoubtedly been a monumental task. Paul E. Zinner, the editor, must have read mountains of material before he was able to sift out and choose the 105 articles which he has compiled in this volume.

The book, according to an attached card, is being distributed with the assistance of the Ford Foundation.

THE WILD COUNTRY by Louis Bromfield, Popular Library Reprint.

Louis Bromfield readers, and they number in the millions, will be happy to find this little volume on the newsstands. I think.

It is not as well-known — at least to this reviewer — as most of Bromfield's books and it has a different style and character.

It is an interesting and somewhat gloomy story of life in a Missouri backwoods country as told by a young boy.

But don't let that fool you — it is told by a boy, supposedly around 14 years old — but it is not a child's book.

THE SILVER DESERT by Ernest Haycox, Popular Library Reprint.

Western story fans who like Haycox will want this store "The Silver Desert." Haycox is one of the top men in the western action novel field and "The Silver Desert" is typical Haycox from start to finish.

Ex-Cameraman Remembers Rita

Rudolph Mate, former movie cameraman and now a director, came up with some old memories while filming "Port Afrique" on location in Morocco.

Some of the raven-haired local beauties reminded him of a shy little 14-year-old Spanish girl he once photographed for a film test. Her name then was Rita Cansino, now better known as Rita Hayworth.

"She was just a slip of a girl," Mate remembers, "with long black hair and huge scared eyes." Mate later was photographer in many of Miss Hayworth's most successful films.

He's Had It—Almost

Actor John Bromfield takes a hefty swing at a movie monster in this scene from "Curucu, Beast of the Amazon," which appears on a double-bill horror show with "The Mole People."

LIFE WITH MUSIC

Publicity Angles Can Fool Sponsors

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

Witnesses in court are required to solemnly swear that they will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. Yet on many occasions, the whole truth may not be elicited, or may be carefully avoided through legal manipulations.

When a concert manager issues a brochure or a leaflet regarding an artist, it is tacitly understood in musical circles that when quoting newspaper reviews, the brochure tells only that part of the truth that glorifies the artist and magnifies his achievements. Only very occasionally, on those rare times when all the newspaper reviews are altogether favorable, are the reviews reproduced or quoted in entirety.

For example, the critic may have written: "Joe Doaks displayed a magnificent technique," but he was regrettably lacking in musical insight, emotion and interpretation." But the brochure quotes only, over the critic's name: "Joe Doaks displayed a magnificent technique."

This may be the truth, but certainly it is not the whole truth.

COMMITTEE ON SPOT

Armed with a wealth of similar carefully culled material, the management's representatives proceed to sell Joe Doaks in a series of concerts throughout the country. The committee members who buy artists for various towns are greatly impressed, for they are sincerely striving to acquire the best musical talent available. But when Joe appears, and the local critics point out musical shortcomings—and rare indeed is the artist without faults — the committee members may feel that their judgment in selecting the artist has been questioned.

In a legal case, the judge decides upon the basis of the evidence presented to him. If that evidence is incomplete, or faulty, the judgment may be inadequate, and then may be overruled by another court possessing either more experience or more complete information. Certainly the first judge does not resent the later findings. He knows he has given his verdict according to the data furnished to him, and has endeavored to be fair in all respects.

NEED MORE INFORMATION

Concert selection committees might have an easier task if all pertinent information were supplied to them. Under the circumstances, and with the data available, they deserve great credit for performing a valuable civic function well, usually at some cost of time to themselves.

New music by Miklos Rozsa, Ernest Gold, Robert Linn, Lowndes Maruy and Eric Zeisl was played at the first public concert given by the newly organized Los Angeles Chapter of the National Association of American Composers and Conductors . . . Pianist Helena Lewyn already has made her itinerary for a European tour on which she will shepherd a flock . . . Violinist Victor de Veritch is giving a series of world travel lectures . . . Soprano Nan Merriman is taking off for Europe for performances at La Scala and a presentation of Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" in Germany under the baton of Otto Klemperer . . . The Schoenfeld Duo played with the Oakland Symphony and continued with violin-and-cello concerts in Northern California.

"First" Is Claimed

"Curucu, Beast of the Amazon," is the first American film to be filmed in its entirety in Brazil, studio publicity men claim.

Hitchcock Films True Crime Story

Director Alfred Hitchcock's latest film, "The Wrong Man," shows Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre, with Henry Fonda and Vera Miles in the lead roles. This marks the first non-fiction film for Hitchcock. With his usual aplomb, he took his cameras and crews to the actual locales of the story in New York: cafes, offices, apartments, clubs, streets and subways.

Papa Should've Come Along

A young mother, visiting the studio during filming of "The Girl Can't Help It," was about to be escorted onto the set when she was told no one under 10 could be admitted onto the stages. With no one to watch the baby she had carried in with her, the mother started to turn away. But then a voice from a nearby trailer-dressing room called:

"You go on in, I'll watch your baby."
Gratefully, the young mother handed over the baby to the beautiful blonde standing in the doorway of the trailer and went inside, where she noted actor Tom Ewell at work. She asked her guide: "Where's Jayne Mansfield?" "She'll be here in a few minutes," said the guide, "right now she's watching your baby."

Notables Appear In Thriller Film

Notables of the entertainment world appear in a Stork Club scene in "The Wrong Man." Among them are comedian Bert Lahr, humorist Bennett Cerf, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy. Also present are Davis Cup captain Billy Talbot and shot put ace Jim Fuchs.

Director Alfred Hitchcock used the sprinkling of cafe society for authentic atmosphere.

Gang Violence In Jet Film

Rival mobs fight it out for control of America's loot-laden pleasure coast in "Miami Exposé," starring Lee J. Cobb, Patricia Medina and the late Edward Arnold. The show is featured at the Jet Drive-In Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The melodrama traces a vice syndicate's attempt to introduce gambling to Florida to cash in on tourist dollars. Miss Medina portrays a gangster's widow who knows too much about a double murder; Cobb is a Miami police lieutenant; and Arnold is seen as a blackmailing lobbyist hired by the vice syndicate to pressure legislators and other leading citizens into supporting the move for legalized gambling. When his suave persuasion fails, the syndicate's hoodlums take over.

Hitchcock Plays Walk-On Roles

Director Alfred Hitchcock gives many reasons — all of them jocular — why he plays a walk-on bit in each of his pictures.

"Perhaps it's a whim. Or the 'ham' in him. Or maybe it's a good luck superstition."
"At least, it's a celluloid signature," he says. "And, who knows, maybe some director will 'discover' me some day. One thing is sure — it gives me an excuse to see my own pictures."

'Break' Preceded Movie Career

Actor Lee J. Cobb got his first "break" before he ever thought of entering movies. When he broke his arm, Cobb was forced to abandon his childhood dream of becoming a concert pianist, and turned to aeronautics instead. Studying at New York's City College, his interest in class plays kindled a further interest in acting. He left for Hollywood and a new career.

Can't Help It

Texas' own Jayne Mansfield bends dangerously close to a pot of hot coffee as she serves breakfast to comedian Tom Ewell in this scene from "The Girl Can't Help It." Miss Mansfield, during her successful performance on Broadway in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" became known among New York stage critics as "Broadway's smartest dumb blonde." In her first Hollywood movie, Miss Mansfield proves a serious contender to similar titles now held by Judy Holliday and Mrs. Arthur Miller.

Jayne Mansfield In First Film Role

"The Girl Can't Help It," long-heralded first movie for Jayne Mansfield, plays Wednesday through Friday at the Ritz Theatre. Also starring are Tom Ewell and Edmond O'Brien. Miss Mansfield, who hails from Dallas, comes fresh from her successful Broadway performance in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

The story revolves around a gangster (O'Brien) with a penchant for rock-n-roll music who attempts to build up a nightclub singer (Miss Mansfield) through the jukebox circuit by typical gangster methods.

Tom Ewell is a droll press agent given the job of giving Miss Mansfield (40-18-35) a big buildup to the big time.

Giving musical meat to the story is the presence of some of the top artists in the rock-n-roll field: Fats Domino; Julie London; The Platters; Little Richard and his band; Gene Vincent and his Blue Caps; The Treniers; Eddie Fontaine; The Chuckles; Abbey Lincoln; Johnny Oken; Nine Tones; Eddie Cochran; Barry Gordon; and Ray Anthony and his orchestra.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

Alfred Hitchcock's latest suspense thriller is short on both thrills and suspense, but the drama of "The Wrong Man" more than makes up for the lack, when you consider that the story is true.

Hitchcock dug through New York's police files for days before coming up with the story of Manny Balestrero who almost went to prison for a holdup he did not commit. Balestrero's predicament was that of a man who had a criminal "look-alike" and who was thus wrongly identified by several eye witnesses. Henry Fonda and Vera Miles carry off the story with deftness.

What is represented as a double horror show is on tap this week. "Curucu" actually is more of a jungle film, since the monster turns out not to be something on the order of a certain reptilian monster who also came from the Amazon a few years ago to chill horror movie fans. "Curucu" has some fairly good jungle scenes and all the customary danger situations.

"The Mole People" is another matter, and the monsters are real enough to the story's characters. This film marks a reversal in the Hollywood science fiction trend, in that the scientists, this time, go down into the earth instead of up into space.

There are a lot of men (and possibly some women) who have been waiting for this day. After becoming the most-photographed woman in history — Marilyn Monroe to the contrary — and following her highly rated performance in the Broadway play, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter," a blonde beauty from Texas stars in her first movie, titled "The Girl Can't Help It."

The star of this opus is Jayne Mansfield, with a supporting cast (if anybody cares) of Tom Ewell and Edmond O'Brien. "The Girl Can't Help It," story-wise, is about up to par with similar rock-n-roll films. The presence of Ewell, O'Brien and Miss Mansfield make the film something a bit more interesting for adults. The film is said to be humorous, as it might well be.

The film also features as much rock-n-roll music as Hollywood was able to crowd in, with such name bands as Fats Domino. It also marks one of the few times a Hollywood title song has been anywhere near general jukebox popularity, as witness the noise one may hear at any time in our local dives.

'Spoilers' At State

"The Spoilers," new version of Rex Beach's Alaskan saga, plays Sunday through Tuesday at the State Theatre. Jeff Chandler, Rory Calhoun and Anne Baxter are stars.

The story is based during the historical epoch of Alaskan history when Americans first moved into the territory. The plot has Chandler, the hero, and Calhoun, the villain, fighting for leadership of a large chunk of the country; one of the highlights of the film, as well as in the original version in 1914, is the fight between the two protagonists, starting in an upstairs room, moving down a flight of stairs, through a saloon and into the muddy street outside.

Teen Violence In Sahara Film

"Rumble On The Docks," a tale of teen-age violence on the waterfront, plays Sunday through Tuesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre. Prominent in the plot are the wars, girls and crime schools of the teen-age gangs.

James Darren stars as the mixed-up young leader of a waterfront street gang who admires the violent tactics used by co-star Michael Granger in his corrupt but ironclad rule of a waterfront union. The crime chief's high living tempts the boy to consider joining Granger's hoodlums.

When a crusading longshoreman is killed in a hit-run murder, Darren gives false testimony to clear the killer. But Laurie Carol who plays Darren's girl friend, threatens to reveal his perjured testimony. Granger comes to fear Darren might tell the truth, and goes gunning for the lad.

Pier Angeli In Sultry Role

Pier Angeli, who up till now has had the sweet, girl-next-door types of roles, turns sultry and seductive for her role in "Port Afrique," playing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Her co-star is Phil Carey.

Filmed in Morocco, the film features a plot along the lines of international intrigue and murder.
