Weaver and Landers met with the CAA officials in Fort Worth relative to the agency's financial participation in the construction of the Howard County airport. They met in Austin with the State Highway Commission in connection with a plea for the state to build 4.2 miles of highway as an extension of FM 700.

The two representatives were well pleased with their reception by both of these bodies. They are

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Critical Of Claims That Clothes Determine Grade

To the Editor: "Elvis, Ducktails, Jeans Under Fire" on page 3 columns 1 and 2 of February 25, 1957, both amazed and irked me.

I was amazed that a teacher of a high school, especially in the midwest, was so narrow and weak minded that he would make a statement like Mr. Norman made. "You can't put a kid into a monkey suit like one of these blue jean outfits and expect him to make any kind of good record for himself."

I know boys, and girls too, that wore blue jeans all the time and won scholarships. I also know men that are MEN that never wear anything except western clothes, either jeans or western suits, that have made a lot more out of themselves than a principal in high school.

I was irked that a person of fair intelligence thought that a hair cut or clothing could make the child or man. We read it all the time that clothes make the man but do you believe it, I don't. A thug can put on anything in the line of clothes and he is still a thug. Take it or leave it, most real things are well dressers. Regardless of the clothes or haircut that a person wears, he still has the same heart, the same brain, the same soul, and the same de-

Nixon Thinks U. S. Bases Can Be Maintained In Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco, March 2 (AP)—Vice President Nixon handshook his way through tens of thousands of cheering Moroccans today, the second day of his good will tour of Africa.

Almost a quarter of a million inhabitants of this Atlantic port city turned out to hail Nixon and his wife, who rode with him in an open car through jam-packed streets decorated with Moroccan and American flags. Three times he stopped the car and got out to mingle with the throng, shaking hands, patting babies and answering with a grin cries of "Long Live America" and "Long Live Eisenhower."

For "Pat" Nixon—Mrs. Vice President—it was the first taste of Moroccan enthusiasm. Yesterday, in the capital city of Rabat, she was banished to a closed car because of Moslem prejudices against women. Casablanca is more sophisticated than Rabat.

Before motoring here this morning, Nixon told a news conference in Rabat that after lengthy conferences with Sultan Mohammed V he was convinced satisfactory arrangements would be made for continuance of American air bases in Morocco.

stressed he considered the economic phase of the program even more important than the military. Nixon said the Sultan made clear his view that communism flourishes amid economic misery.

The vice president mentioned no specific sums for American aid but negotiations are under way on a sum of about 20 million dollars.

Nixon said he told the Sultan various countries should share in the burden and suggested it was natural for Morocco to look to France, with which it has traditional economic ties.

Nixon sidestepped getting involved in the problem of Morocco's support for Algerian rebels, who are fighting French forces.

Rocket To Moon Due For Trial Soon

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Brig. Gen. H. F. (Frank) Gregory, director of the Air Force Office of Scientific Research, said today the Air Force may shoot a rocket around the moon within five years.

Gregory confirmed an article in Missiles and Rockets magazine which quoted him as saying: "Several moon rocket study contracts are in the works, and it is imperative that we carry out these scientific research projects to stay ahead of the Russians.

"When I say that we will have a moon rocket in less than five years, it is a conservative estimate."

Bergaust said that according to some of America's top rocket engineers, three different moon rocket projects will be attempted within the next few years, the first of them possibly as early as 1959.

Autoists Buy Timing Device

When stock-car racing enthusiasts compete in the semi-monthly runs of the Big Spring Timing Association, there won't be any doubts about results.

The timing association has secured a Chrondek Company electronic timing device which will compute speed to .1 of a mile per hour and the elapsed time from start to finish to 1-1000 of a second.

It is so designed that the start electronically activates the machines and so that the first car across the finish line automatically activates a computation of elapsed time and maximum speed.

'Shakedown' Bills Get On The Calendar Of Texas Legislature

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, March 2 (AP)—Often whispered about and rumored but seldom dragged out into the open is a legislative practice commonly known as introduction of shake-down bills.

A shakedown bill is one introduced by a legislator for the sole purpose of holding it out as bait for sucker groups which would be hurt by its final passage.

A more polite term for this abuse of the lawmaking function is "nuisance legislation."

Is it a common practice? How many of the average of 1,500 bills introduced each session are designed for the personal profit of the lawmaker? How many legislators are guilty of it in one form or another?

Those questions are easier to ask than to answer.

To find even an approximately correct answer, you would have to wire every capital hotel room where legislators and lobbyists meet with a recording device, you would have to eavesdrop every restaurant and night spot conversation, and listen in on every capitol corridor conversation before and during a session.

To be absolutely accurate, you would have to build a pipeline into the consciences of every lawmaker and the necessary other parties—from the public to such transactions.

In the final analysis the law as it now governs the conduct of legislators makes them responsible for such criminal violations as the acceptance of bribes or bribe offers. It leaves everything else to the individual's concept of honesty and integrity. By law, legislators are required to declare their personal interest, if any, in proposed legislation, and refrain from voting on it.

"That's a tough one to enforce, even for the lawmakers who are honest. It poses such questions as this: Should every farmer-legislator abstain from voting on agriculture bills? Should every lawyer-legislator keep clear of bills dealing with the regulation of his profession?"

This correspondent has observed so few instances of legislators' declaring their private interest in the past 20 years that he can count them on the fingers of one hand.

How does an unscrupulous legislator handle a shakedown bill?

It works something like this: He finds a trade or profession or business not under state regulation. He writes or has somebody write a bill that would bring it under state controls in a manner that would hurt the particular group at which it is aimed.

The inevitable follows. The group affected sends a representative to Austin to oppose the bill. If this lobbyist is not honest and the legislator is not honest, some form of pay off might well prompt the legislator to knock his bill down.

Are all such bills in the shakedown category? Certainly not, nor are all the groups fighting proposed legislation crooked. Once again the answer lies in the integrity of both the legislator and the segment of the public with which he is dealing. They share the responsibility.

The question remains of how many shakedown bills show up each session and how many legislators are guilty of the practice.

An accurate answer would be impossible because the people involved in such matters work darkly and in secret.

People long experienced in understanding the legal language of legislation have great difficulty in determining exactly what a bill's effect will be. The public is at an even greater disadvantage. Hidden meanings and effects in bills often get by in the Legislature and often escape the scrutiny of the governor who signs them.

10,000 Acres In 'Soil Bank,' Sign-Up Closes

Sign-up period for the 1957 Federal Soil Bank program on cotton acreage came to a colorless close on Friday afternoon.

No rush of late signers showed up at the ASC office in the Howard County Courthouse. A few landowners who had signed applications previously appeared and asked that their names be withdrawn.

A check of the lists after the deadline had passed showed 314 were still on record as participating in the program. These farms represent a total acreage of 36,049 of which 10,514.9 acres are in the Soil Bank reserve.

The owners of the 314 farms stand to receive $306,067.50 in federal funds for their cooperation in the program.

Of the 314 farms in the program, 251 have signed up for 30 per cent of allotment.

The number of participants this year is only a few more than half as many as were in the program in 1956. In that year, payments to the 600 farms was more than half a million dollars.

This year's program got off to a fast start soon after the first day for filing arrived. This continued for several days. Then a series of showers and light rains began to fall. A sharp drop in interest developed and did not reappear for the remainder of the month.

Art Bug Bites Big Springers, 'Learn-How' Books In Demand

If advance signs carry through, you will probably have trouble walking along the streets this spring and summer because sprawling easels and busy amateur artists will take up all of the sidewalk.

At least that is the impression Mrs. Opal McDaniel of Howard County Free library and her assistants are getting these days.

They report that from two to 10 patrons of the library come in every day to inquire about books on how to paint, draw and cartoon.

To meet the demand, Mrs. McDaniel sent in a rush order for additional books on these subjects—the titles being those which applicants had specifically requested.

These new books are now on hand and while they have not as yet been quite readied for the stacks, Mrs. McDaniel said that any eager would-be artists who want to borrow the books can do so.

The inquirers run the gamut, she said. Youngsters want texts on oil painting, water color painting, pencil drawing. Older folk want books on the same subjects.

What has stirred all of the sudden interest in art and its production is not certain. The library staff thinks that part of the enthusiasm developed from the recent local art show sponsored by Las Artistas Club. A number of the canvasses shown at this show, it was revealed, were by folk who only began their art work a year or less ago.

Sign, it would seem, everyone is bitten by the painting bug. Everyone wants to be an artist.

Big Spring has a great number of artists both amateur and professional. Men, women and children in this community are great hands at dabbling with paint, brush and canvas.

Several stores here carry complete stocks of paints, brushes, easels and all other equipment an artist requires to pursue his hobby or his profession. A check of some of these establishments revealed that they had noted no marked increase in demand for such goods but, said that business was, as usual, brisk in the departments.

Most of the establishments also carry a supply of "learn-how-yourself" books and there are usually shoppers looking these over.

The new books on art augment some 39 titles in that category which are on the shelves of the library. Most of the titles which were already on hand, however, are not of the type classified as self-instructors. They deal with the history of painting, biographies of noted artists and treatises on famous masterpieces.

The new books which have just been received are in the other category—they are books that the beginner can use to teach himself the rudiments of the profession.

Titles of some of the new books are: "Painting Trees and Landscapes," by Ted Kautzky; "Pencil Pictures," by Ted Kautzky; "Pencil Broadslides," by Ted Kautzky;

Driver Unhurt When Big Truck Overtakes

A truck driver from Hattiesburg, Miss., who went to sleep at the wheel, turned over a big trailer truck in U.S. 80, 16.5 miles west at 6:30 a.m. Thursday, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Oliver D. Carter Jr., the driver, was not injured. The truck was heavily damaged. The patrol said that Carter lost control of his vehicle and that it plowed through a culvert and overturned.

CONCERN UNFOUNDED

No Bill Proposed On School Consolidation, Bristow Says

People who have been concerned about state legislation to require rural school district consolidations have come to conclusions not founded on current facts, it was pointed out Saturday by State Rep. Obie Bristow.

Bristow, House member from the 101st District, is at home over the weekend while the Legislature is in recess.

He told the Herald that he had received considerable mail and many inquiries on the school consolidation matter, and emphasized for clarification that "there is no bill before the Legislature that has anything to do with school consolidation."

Bristow said he believed some people had been confused after publication some weeks ago of a recommendation from the State Board of Education. The Board submitted some suggested plans for reorganization of the Texas school system, and among these plans was one to bring about improvement of some school districts or require consolidation.

of Education recommendations to final enactment of legislation," the state representative said. "I want to stress that there is not even a bill before the Legislature to bring about consolidations, and it is extremely doubtful that one will even be offered."

He explained that there is a pending measure—the so-called "superintendents' bill"—which would eliminate ex-officio county school superintendents' offices in some counties only. There is doubt that this measure will go through for final passage, Bristow said, and even if it were enacted he said Howard County is not affected in any way.

The "superintendents bill," Bristow said, would apply only to those counties that have not more than one common school district, and where the superintendency is an ex-officio job—that is, held in conjunction with other duties by a county judge. Even if the ex-officio superintendencies were abolished, county common school districts then would have an opportu-ity of voting to annex with adjoining counties for administrative purposes only, and not for school operation.

Hungry Residents Feast On Pancakes

Hungry Big Springers turned out in droves for the fifth annual Kiwanis Club Pancake Supper at the High School cafeteria on Friday night.

Horace Reagan, president of the club, said that 900 persons were served from 5 to 8:30 p.m. These diners disposed of more than 3,600 pancakes. They consumed 194 pounds of choice bacon, melted down 41 pounds of butter and absorbed 25 gallons of syrup. They washed the meal down with 40 gallons of coffee and 59 gallons of milk.

Reagan said that the supper was one of the most successful in the five years the event has been featured. Ideal weather prevailed and the patrons were most cooperative, he said.

Harve Clay was general chairman in charge of the event. Jasper Atkins, the Kiwanis Club authority on pancakes, mixed up the 185 pounds of flour, five pounds of baking powder and the requisite other elements to prepare the tubs of batter needed for the pancakes.

Reagan said that he was most appreciative of the cooperation of the club members. Nearly every Kiwanian was at the high school engaged in assigned duties.

No estimate of the financial side of the supper is yet available. There are ticket sales to be reported and a compilation of expenses to be drawn.

Profits this year will probably be slightly under those of 1956 because this year fewer donations of materials were made.

Reagan expressed his thanks to the donors of 125 pounds of the bacon consumed. There were also donations and special price concessions on other items.

Don Newsom, Bugg Packing Company, Casey Packing Company, Big Spring Locker, Stripling Supply Company and Gandy's Milk Company all made contributions to the success of the event.

A number of quartets, vocalists, pianists and other entertainers donated their services for the evening. These provided music for the enjoyment of the patrons while waiting an opportunity to get into the dining room.

Courtesy Balloting Ends Wednesday

Wednesday, March 6 is the last day for you to cast a ballot for the "friendliest, most courteous" woman employee, and the "friendliest, most courteous" man employee in Big Spring.

Votes which are deposited in special boxes at The Herald office or the Chamber of Commerce must be deposited Wednesday. Those sent in by mail to The Herald must be postmarked not later than midnight of March 6.

The winners in these honor events later in the month will be publicly honored with presentation of special certificates, and each will receive a $50 U. S. savings bond. The recognition will be a part of the special "Let's Get Acquainted Week" which will feature hundreds of Big Spring employees in novel fashion, and which in turn will develop a new contest for cash.

Hundreds of workers in stores, offices and public services institutions have received nominations, and many of these have rolled up big blocks of votes. Every person nominated for the friendliest, most courteous award is receiving a special "Courtesy Club" card, signed by The Herald and the person's own employer.

It is pointed out again that only employees in Big Spring—those currently working in a Big Spring business firm, office or institution—are eligible for the award. Owners, proprietors and managers do not count. Neither do those who are not definitely on a payroll in the city.

All nominations must be made on the official ballot printed in The Herald and the entire ballot must be completed.

Stripling Named On Savings, Loan Investment Panel

Robert Stripling, secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Big Spring, has been appointed to the 1957 Committee on Savings Association Investment and Mortgage Lending of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced Saturday by Roy M. Marr, Memphis, Tenn., president of the League, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 4,300 savings associations and co-operative banks.

The Committee on Savings Association Investment and Mortgage Lending makes recommendations regarding the possible broadening of investment powers of savings and loan associations. It is also concerned with the development of new procedures and techniques designed to improve home financing, services of savings and loan institutions.

12 Criminal Cases Set In District Court

Guilford Jones, district attorney, said that his present plans are to try L. E. McPherson, charged with forgery, as the first case on the docket. Twelve defendants are booked to face the court at the week's session.

There were reports that some of the trials would be shortened by pleas of guilty on the part of defendants.

Cases set for trial include George Krusley, burglary; Morris Harold, theft; Manuel Chidez, assault with intent to murder; Manuel Marquez, theft; Albino Ranteria, DWI second; T. A. Milton, DWI second; Elizabeth Davis Anderson, DWI second; Jack Bryant, child desertion; Allen Eugene Caraway, DWI second; W. H. McDaniel, worthless check; and Keit. E. Hankins, burglary.

Most of these defendants were indicted by the recent Howard County grand jury.

Mrs. Bradley Of Wingate Dies

Funeral was conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Winters for Mrs. Martha Virginia Bradley, mother of three Big Spring women.

Mrs. Bradley lived at Wingate. She had been in failing health and was hospitalized here, but had recovered sufficiently to be returned home recently. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

R. V. Hamilton, Church of Christ minister, officiated at rites in the Memorial Chapel of Spill Funeral Home. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Bradley was born in Mississippi May 8, 1876. She died Thursday.

She and her husband, the late Burl C. Bradley, lived in the Winters area since 1906. He died in 1941.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Yelva Sweeney, Mrs. Aletha Devine and Mrs. Billy Ray Sanford, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Ruth Guin of Wingate; two sons, J. B. Bradley of Abernathy and Calvin Bradley of Tulsa; nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

February Building At $75,000 In Lamesa

LAMESA, March 2 — Building in the city of Lamesa dropped off slightly during February.

Four new homes, a new service station and six permits for repairs or additions to existing buildings brought a total of $75,850 in building permits at the office of City Secretary Jack Goodloe.

Senate Candidates Up To 22; Another Republican In Race

More Democrats dashed into U.S. Senate election race Saturday, joined by a second Republican before the midnight filing deadline.

The secretary of state's office said 22 candidates had filed by noon for the April 2 election.

The winner would replace interim Sen. William Blakley of Dallas, appointed by former Gov. Allan Shivers to the post vacated by Gov. Price Daniel. About two years remain on the unexpired term.

Herbert Antoine Sr., 63, of Bastrop was the second Republican to enter. Thad Hutcheson of Houston was the first. Hutcheson was endorsed by the state Republican executive committee and backed by President Eisenhower.

Asked the attitude of the Republican party leadership toward his candidacy, Antoine replied he did not know or care. He said:

"They didn't ask me and I didn't ask them. I'm a rugged individualist."

Antoine, a real estate dealer, formerly lived in Houston.

Others filing near the deadline date were:

Cal Courtney, 41, Dallas public relations man, who said he was a conservative "but not an arch-conservative." Courtney resigned as industrial consultant for Texas Power and Light Co., Thursday.

Ralph Hammonds, 50, Houston auditor and accountant, who said he has been in the insurance business 37 years. He said he would advocate putting insurance under federal control "with every policy guaranteed by the federal government."

Hammonds said he was attorney in fact for Lloyds of North America in Houston which "was forced into receivership June 15, 1954."

Jacob Bergolofsky, of Wichita Falls, who told the secretary of state's office he was educated to be a teacher. Asked his age, he said "31 plus." He gave his address as 508 Burnett.

Other candidates were campaigning.

These candidates also have paid their $50 election filing fee:

Rep-at-large Martin Dies of Lufkin; Elmer Adams, 65, Dallas insurance executive; W. R. Curran, 55, of Sulphur Springs, president of the Northeast Texas Livestock Assn.; the Rev. M. T. Banks of Beaumont; Hugh Wilson, Port Arthur refinery technician; Walter McNitt, Jefferson educator and author; Clyde Orma, Dallas warehouse man and manufacturer.

Curtis Ford, former state representative from Corpus Christi; state Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston; Charles Hill, Fort Worth lumber yard operator; Perrin Willis of Rusk; John C. Burns Sr. of Deer Park; C. O. Foerster Jr., El Paso horticulturist; and Dr. Frank Connally Jr., Waco physician.

IF To Choose Officers Monday

Election of officers and directors for the Big Spring Industrial Foundation is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Monday in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

In connection with the membership meeting, the board of directors is expected to take some action regarding the foundation's current campaign to raise $50,000 for acquisition of an industrial tract near the city. Some statement may be issued as to what will be done with funds raised in event the drive fails to secure enough money to purchase the land.

So far, only about $21,000 has been pledged, and at least $38,600 in cash must be raised by March 29 if the property is to be bought.

Leroy Tidwell has served as president of the foundation for the past year. Other officers are Marvin Miller, vice-president; and J. H. Greene, secretary-treasurer.

Kiwanians To Dine In School Cafeteria

Big Spring Kiwanians will dine at the Big Spring High School Cafeteria on next Thursday noon. Horace Reagan, president, said Saturday.

The club will make use of its luncheon meeting to join in the observance of Texas Public School Week which is being celebrated in the state this week.

Reagan said that all Kiwanians should be at the high school cafeteria at 12:10 p.m. Thursday. This is the time suggested by Floyd Parsons, school superintendent. He explained that it would be more to the advantage of the cafeteria operators to have the club members report at that time than at noon—regular meeting time of the group.

Divorce Cases Most Numerous

Divorce actions dominated the February scene in the records of Wade Choate, 118th District Court clerk.

There were 14 new divorce petitions filed. Ten divorce decrees were granted during the month. To counteract these totals, 22 divorce suits were dismissed by the court.

Thirteen civil suits were filed in the court and there were petitions for six adoptions listed. Judge Charlie Sullivan disposed of 30 civil cases which were on the docket. One civil suit was appealed during the month.

Twelve criminal matters were tried without jury.

Three adoptions were granted.

Passport business in the office of the district clerk was brisk—passports were prepared for seven dependents of military personnel assigned over seas. One passport was provided for a Big Spring resident who plans a vacation in Europe.

Coahoma Cubs Hold Blue, Gold Banquet

COAHOMA — Cub Scout Pack 45 met Thursday at the Coahoma school cafeteria for the annual blue and gold banquet. Following the dinner Joe Gregory led the group in a sing song and Lein Menser introduced the guest speaker, Harvey Hooser of Big Spring.

Bloodletting

For centuries the practice of bloodletting was an accepted method for treating many diseases. It was thought that the offending agent within the body could be drawn off and allowed to escape in this manner.

Today, your physician's advice and treatment are based upon scientific facts instead of superstition. Have confidence in your physician. When he writes your prescription, bring it to us for compounding.

Farm Bureau Sets Legislative Talks

Representatives of Farm Bureaus from all of the 17 counties which make up District 6 of the Texas Farm Bureau will be in Big Spring on Tuesday for a conference on legislative questions. The meeting is to be at the Settles Hotel from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Ralph White, president of the Howard County farm Bureau, said he did not know exactly how many would attend the meeting but that delegations from each of the 17 counties would be on hand.

C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, a director for District 6, will preside at the meeting. Ed Cumbie, field man for the Farm Bureau, who lives in Bronte will also attend.

State and national issues affecting agriculture will be discussed. The meeting is being held to muster support for the Farm Bureau's legislative program in both Austin and Washington.

Among the more important items to be discussed is the TFB's recommendation for the state to appropriate $10.5 million for agricultural research over the next two years and some $2.1 million for extension service work next year.

Other state issues include the pending egg grading and labeling bill, water legislation, farm licenses for pickups, labeling of household insecticides, redistricting of county commissioner precincts, and the proposed competitive insurance law.

Issues on the national level to be analyzed include federal aid to education and the federal budget. All of these issues will be discussed in the light of Farm Bureau policies and plans will be made for securing the active support of the membership for enactment of the state and national legislative programs.

Jess Talkin' by Jess Blair

This column will be mostly about Borden County, on account of I haven't been anywhere else. Almost everyone in the county turns out for the Borden County Junior Livestock Show which is held annually in the new barn erected just east of the school building.

Though lacking in numbers, the animals at this show are of high quality, especially the pigs. Many of those yesterday had won prizes at the Lamesa Show. The boys come in from every community, though most of the sheep are raised north and east of Gall.

The country south of Gall missed out on the heavy rains, with it averaging from two to three inches since the first of the year. Along the road a few weeds are showing, and some of the tobosa grass is greening up. But the drought is definitely not broken, and a month of sunshine and wind will make the area almost as dry as ever.

The wettest part is along the Colorado River bottomland, which is now turning green. Farther north things look in fair condition until nearly to Gall, when it is again dry.

S. C. Keene, ranching about three miles southwest of Gall, said he had only two inches of rain this year. Keene has been in Borden County since 1901 and thinks they might be coming out of the drought. He said ranchers had been feeding for five years now, and would keep on unless they got more moisture.

Keene says the mesquite has come in thick the last 20 years, but doesn't think it a serious menace as some ranchers believe. He has a theory that mesquite actually helps grass.

"I've noticed over the years that the best grass always grows close to the bushes," he said. "It may be that the mesquite does something for the soil, or perhaps the grass out in the sunshine cures better and the cattle eat it."

Keene says the country isn't hurt permanently, and once the rains return there will be plenty of grass.

North of Gall the rains were heavier and at the John Dennis Ranch more than three inches were recorded. Dennis said it fell slow and was bringing up a lot of new grass and weeds. He had some runoff, but it went into the stock tanks which were almost dry.

George Sealey, former county agent of Borden County, is now a cotton farmer near Tahoka. He said they had less than an inch of rain where he lives.

Farmers are still putting down wells in Lynn County, though most of the good water is drilled out. He said the biggest wells filled no more than a five-inch pump, while some were much smaller than this.

Irrigation wells continue to go down in Dawson County also. Assistant County Agent Don Fields said 50 or 60 had been drilled since last fall and drillers were still being kept busy. He said the county was wetter than it had been in a long time. Rains were heavy in most communities, ranging from three to four inches.

G. L. Isaacs who farms in the old Berry Flat community northeast of Lamesa says farmers have drilled from 40 to 50 wells in his area, and at least 20 of them were put down the last 12 months.

Isaacs put down a five-inch well this last spring, started watering the middle of April and made 48 bales of cotton. The dryland fields around him made almost nothing.

Isaacs says the wells are all small. The biggest are only six-inches, while some pump only a three-inch stream.

"They have been life-savers for us, though," he said. "The water is only from 30 to 90 feet deep and it doesn't cost much to run them. My well is only 35 feet to water, and the pumping bill for the entire season amounted to only $126.00."

Isaacs also has a smaller three-inch well. Most farmers in that area water down the row. He said the land was very tight and level, and the only pipe needed was a main pipe from the well to the head of the row.

Isaacs has been in the community for 34 years and swears that long ago there was no water there. He says one old well driller told him farmers would never find water around Berry Flat. This contractor drilled out the community about 40 years ago trying to find water without success.

"It may sound crazy," Isaacs said, "but I believe this water moves down here from the Lubbock area. As we drill wells here, it causes the underground water from higher on the Plains to flow in a south-southeast direction."

Howard County trapper Earl Brownrigg is still making life rough for coyotes and bobcats. Shortly after the first of the year the Herald published a picture of about fifteen cats and coyotes which Brownrigg had hung on a fence between here and Gall.

Yesterday I noticed the total had grown to 31, with most of them being bobcats.

The Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring reports that a few farm jobs have opened up since the rains. There is no big rush for farm hands though. Workers have hit a low mark, with only nine placings being made during February. This is the lowest figure in several years, according to Leon Kinney.

Farmers didn't waste much time getting started on the egg-broilers project. Gus Martin and Leonard Thornton have already ordered 1,100 each of the 10-week old pullets. Martin will place the pullets in a house he already has on the place northeast of Big Spring.

MEN IN SERVICE

Second Lt. Thomas Alvin Thigpen Jr. will fly Monday from Oakland, Calif., to Korea where he will be stationed with the Army engineers for the next 18 months.

Young Thigpen has been in the Army since last August when he received a commission after four years in the ROTC at Texas University. Since September he has been stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va. He arrived at Oakland last Wednesday.

He enlisted in the Army for two years and is due to get his discharge on completion of the Korean tour. He will return to the University of Texas to complete a five-year course in chemical engineering. He has finished four years of the study.

Lt. Thigpen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thigpen, 1209 Pennsylvania.

Pfc. Raymond Gilstrap, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gilstrap, 2102 Nolan, arrived at Alameda, Calif., Wednesday aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard, a transport from the Far East.

Gilstrap had been stationed with the U. S. Marines in Japan for seven months.

His wife, Glenda, and the couple's young son whom Gilstrap had never seen left Post by plane Friday to meet the Marine in California. Gilstrap probably will receive a furlough in about 30 days and expects to visit in Big Spring.

'Public School Week' Program Opens In Big Spring Monday

A teacher-appreciation banquet Tuesday evening and a dinner at which businessmen will be guests of teachers Thursday are two of the highlights of Texas Public School Week opening Monday.

Parents and others interested in the local schools are being urged to visit in the classrooms throughout the week. Also in observance of the special "week," several service clubs will hold their luncheon meetings in the high school cafeteria.

The Herald, in recognition of the occasion, Monday will start a series of articles and pictures outlining the complex functions of the Big Spring school system and showing some of the costs, facilities, "extra" services and benefits involved in the program.

Fifty-three teachers who have been teaching in local schools for 10 years or longer will be honored during the teacher appreciation banquet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria. They will be guests of local business and professional men. Each will receive an award. Other teachers also will participate, but they will have no special hosts.

At the same hour Thursday, teachers who were entertained in local business places last fall during American Education Week, will return the favor. They will have as guests at a banquet the men and women who served as their hosts last fall.

Jaycees are to dine at the high school cafeteria Monday, Rotary Club on Tuesday, Lions on Wednesday and Kiwanians on Thursday. Schools will be dismissed Friday so that teachers may participate in the annual West Texas Teachers Association meeting in Lubbock.

Posters prepared by pupils in the various schools have been heralding the approach of the Texas Public School Week.

Winners of a school poster contest were announced Saturday. They include Gordon Marchant in the division for grades one through three; Billy Varnadore for grades four through six; Linda Baitly in junior high; and Tommy Pickle in high school division.

Other place winners were Karen Sue Larsen, second, and Ricky Hamby, third, in grades one to three; Doug Rountree and James F. Rogers, second and third in grades four to six; Ophelia Parra and Robert Heard, second and third in junior high; and Billy Bob Satterwhite and Jimmy Johnson, second and third in high school.

Labor-Racket Tie-up Shown, Says McClellan

WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today first week disclosures in his Senate rackets investigation "show rather conclusively" a tie-up between gambling lords, public officials and Teamsters Union bosses in Oregon.

McClellan told reporters he based this conclusion on evidence that the union paid travel costs to bring gamblers to Oregon, set them up in business by picketing rival gambling places, and mixed heavily in Oregon politics.

All this, he said, plus "other evidence yet to be presented" when hearings resume next Tuesday, "pretty well establishes the pattern being followed and the objectives these labor leaders sought to achieve."

McClellan heads a special Senate committee set up to probe alleged racketeering in labor and industry. Its first target has been gamblers and vice operations in Portland, Ore.

Dave Beck, Teamsters Union national president, and Frank W. Brewster, head of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters, are expected to be called as the probe progresses. Brewster possibly toward the end of next week.

Beck is in Europe, on his third trip abroad in many months, but he has said he will be back March 26.

Testimony already in the record has dealt with alleged attempted bribes and efforts of some union bosses to capture tight control over Oregon law enforcement "right up to the governor's office."

Charges have been made that Teamsters officials, with the help of imported racketeers, tried to take over and expand prostitution, pinball machine and punch-board operations in Portland.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said next week's hearings would open with further testimony from James B. Elkins, Portland gambler who has been a key witness in "spilling" a story of the Portland underworld.

AFL Throng Swarms Indiana Capitol Against 'Rights' Bill

INDIANAPOLIS, March 2 (AP)—Ten thousand AFL workers swarmed through the Indiana statehouse today but couldn't persuade Republican Gov. Harold W. Handley to veto a "right to work" bill.

They hammered on his office door but got only a second-hand announcement that he will let the bill become law without his signature, even though he doesn't like it.

The bill, banning compulsory union membership, is "the responsibility of the Legislature," Handley said in a statement he gave to nine labor leaders and later to a news conference. Handley had some AFL support in winning election as governor Nov. 6.

The workers shouted down their own leaders who tried to read the governor's 120-word statement and chanted, "We want Handley."

One cluster of workers pounded on the governor's door and would not go away until state police let two of them inside. In a moment, William Christian, an Indianapolis patternmaker, reappeared and told the crowd:

"He's not in there. He got out the back door."

Martin Barner, a New Albany

carpenter who went in with Christian to try to find Handley, complained:

"He told us he was for us, and now he's against us."

Several demonstrators tossed their protest placards through a transom into the offices of the governor's press secretary, Herbert R. Hill.

"You're doing exactly what they want you to do," protested Hobert Autterson of Terre Haute, secretary-treasurer of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. "You are creating a disturbance."

The three-hour demonstration didn't begin to break up until a prayer for repeal of the bill was offered by Ralph Little, Kokomo, of the Electrical workers.

Autterson had told the crowd that the governor had refused to veto the bill, but he couldn't interrupt their angry shouts long enough to read Handley's explanation:

"This bill, in my opinion, does not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended... is not consistent with the stand of most Hoosiers that there should be only a bare minimum of government interference in labor-management relations."

Although the CIO, which represents workers in Indiana's biggest industries, did not join in the mass demonstration, Dallas Sells of Anderson, state CIO president, tried to speak to the crowd. He was shouted down, the same as Autterson.

Carl Mullen of Hammond, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, who called for the march on the statehouse, tried to send the demonstrators home after getting the governor's decision in a 65-minute conference.

"The purpose for which we came is over," he announced. "We want no trouble. We are going to leave here in an orderly way."

"Are we hooted some of the demonstrators, and the shouting went on."

Record Entry List For Borden Show

By JESS BLAIR
GAIL.—The Borden County Junior Livestock Show, which is held annually in the county livestock barn, attracted a record number of animals, with 46 sheep and 65 goats being judged. Winners in the various divisions received both ribbons and cash prizes, and even the boys who did not have winning animals each received a $2 check for their efforts.

The pigs were of high quality and judging was somewhat slow, lasting from about 10 a. m. until shortly after the noon hour. All animals were judged by Carl Williams, graduate student at Texas Tech and a frequent judge at area livestock shows.

It was a banner day for the Stewart boys, as both Bobby and Phillip came in with blue ribbons. Phillip's Chester White barrow was judged to be the grand champion of the show, while Bobby took down reserve championship honors with his barrow.

The results in the various swine classes were as follows: Heavy Poland China Barrows: First, Phillip Stewart; second, Steve Stephens; third, Larry Reader; fourth, Phillip Stewart. Lightweight Poland China Barrows: First, Ronald Martin; second, Steve Stephens; third, Raymond Walton; fourth, Steve Stephens. Chester White Gilts: Norman Ledbetter, first; and Lloyd Ramsey, second.

Duroc Gilts: David Walker, first. There were two second animals shown in this division. Bill Vaughn also showed only one in the Berkshire Barrow class.

Chester White Barrows: Phillip Stewart won first and second places, while Norman Ledbetter took third. Hampshire Barrows (open of three): First place to Larry Reader, second, Bill Vaughn.

Hampshire Barrows (heavy): The first four places were all won by Jerry Stages. Hampshire Barrows (light): Terry Smith, Bobo Gray, second, third and fourth places. Wayne Cooley.

Baptists To Vote On Encampment

Baptists of district No. 8 will vote on March 15 whether to re-establish the encampment now located immediately south of Big Spring.

A committee, which will report at the parley at the First Baptist Church in Lamesa at 7:30 p. m. on the meeting date, is recommending relocating the encampment six miles north of Stanton on the Stanton-Lamesa highway.

No detail planning has been done, but tentative estimates peg the cost of the project at $150,000.

The committee proposed that each church in the district give one per cent of its budget for 10 years to the encampment development.

D. E. Richards, Stanton, has offered 30 acres of land as a gift and priced 50 more acres at $50 per acre. He also extended an option on 20 more acres which would bring the potential land area to 100 acres.

For the past decade the district camp has been located near Big Spring where more than a score of cabins have been erected together with a tabernacle, dining room and caretaker's cottage. Presumably the camp would be operating here until a new one could be developed, granted messengers from the various churches vote for the change.

J. F. Selcraig, Colorado City, is president of the encampment. Members of the committee are Travis LaDuke for the Permian Basin Association; A. R. Posey for Big Spring; Carl J. Grissom for G. A. Y.; Jesse Cassel, Lamesa; Mr. Selcraig, Mitchell-Scurry.

At Abilene Ralph Schafer and Butch Cook each entered crossed-breed lambs, with Cook taking 23rd in this class.

At the San Antonio show, 13 wether lambs were entered in the boys' division. Lambs placing in this contest from the chapter were owned by Butch Cook, who placed 10th in the crossed-breed class, and Milton May, who took 29th in the fine-wool class.

Other boys who participated in the San Antonio show were Loyd Van Jones, Marion O'Bannon, Frank Murphy and Billy Fisher. The final show of the year will be in San Angelo, beginning Thursday. The FFA chapter will take about 20 lambs and one calf to it.

The members recently set the date of the annual Father-Son Banquet for April 5, and are now working out the arrangements. They also voted to take a summer camping trip, with the date and place to be decided later.

The chapter is preparing judging teams for the spring contests. Probably the teams will judge at the San Angelo Livestock Show, San Angelo College, Sul Ross College and at the Texas Tech contest.

Burglars hit four establishments and tried another here Friday night. In one of the attempts, they took four guns.

The firearms were taken in burglary at Dibrell's Sporting Goods, 304½ Gregg.

The burglars entered from the roof, officers said.

On the Northside, about 20 cartons of cigarettes, four cases of beer, and about $10 in change was taken by burglars at one stop. The

The show is to be staged at the show barns on March 12, 13 and 14.

It is sponsored jointly by the Howard County Junior Livestock Association, the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, is general superintendent of the show.

Program calls for judging of capons to begin March 13 at 8 a. m. At the same hour judging of lambs will be started. Steer judging is to be on March 14 at 8 a. m.

Highlight of the show will be the big auction sale on the last night. The sale starts at 7:30 p. m. at the barn west of town and Walter Britten, College Station, will be auctioneer.

Slight damage was caused to a refrigerator when its motor developed an electrical short Friday.

The fire occurred at the 815 E. 3rd residence of L. H. Little. Firemen from the main station extinguished the blaze before it spread from the refrigerator.

Speeding Tickets Are Given To 23

Officers worked the unit on East Fourth near the city limits. Thursday, the department issued 13 tickets while working near the Airport School.

say. That happened four or five or maybe six times.

"I suppose to satisfy him and my conscience I called Cox and told him I wanted to discuss House Bill 274," Harmon said.

"He said he would come to my hotel. I thought that strange instead of seeing me at the capitol."

Tom Harris, employe of a local electronics shop, told earlier of installing a tape recording machine under the bed in Harmon's hotel room. "All he had to do was twist a button," he said.

"Cox came in a few minutes after Harris left," Harmon testified. The two men introduced themselves and began talking about Cox's bill and the amendment to the present law wanted by the naturopaths.

"I believe the tape says the chiropractors prompted him to introduce the bill," Harmon said. "He did not say who specifically."

The two then talked about the possibility of Cox sponsoring the amendment.

"Finally he said, 'Aw, hell, let's throw the cards on the table and get down to brass tacks.'"

"I said, 'How much will it cost?'" Harmon said. Cox hesitated "and I said $5,000."

"He said, 'Well, yes.'"

"I said, 'How will you do it?'" Harmon said. "Well, I will keep some secrets."

Harmon said the two discussed the offer a while, then Cox said: "Don't you know I'm a power in the House and I've got 12 men on my committee right with me?"

"I finally said $3,500 and he said $5,000 and it was that way when he left."

NOBODY HAD MONEY
Harmon told how a plan was drawn with Col. Garrison, Speaker Carr and others to get $5,000 to pay Cox.

"We discussed on carrying the thing further, but nobody had $5,000," Harmon said.

"Cox said, 'I've couldn't raise $5,000 I'll have to drop it,'" Harmon said. He said he was referring to Rep. Carl C. Conley of Raymondville, who was at the meeting in Col. Garrison's office.

Harmon said they finally decided to use the $2,000 he had taken from his account and that of his wife. Rooms were wired in a hotel to get what conversation would pass between Cox and himself, Harmon said.

Later he was informed "there was a leak somewhere. Mr. Cox is gone. We can't find him," Harmon said. Bill L. Kavanaugh of the Department of Public Safety told him.

Fast Thief Takes TV

L. M. Brooks of the L. M. Brooks Appliance store, ran into a fast working thief with a bent for opportunism at 7:30 last night.

Brooks placed a new portable television receiver in his pickup truck and stepped around the building to lock the store door at 112 W. 2nd. When he returned, a few seconds later, the TV had been taken from the pickup.

He said he saw no one in the vicinity when he placed the set in the pickup and no one was in sight when he found the receiver gone.

He reported the matter to city police.

The successor will be named by the State Department of Public Health with approval of the city and county commissioners of the participating areas.

HAROLD E. TALBOTT

Ex-Secretary Of Air Force Talbott Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Harold E. Talbott, 69-year-old aviation pioneer and former secretary of the Air Force, died suddenly early today, only a few hours after he arrived in Florida for a vacation.

His death in bed at 3:30 a. m. was attributed by his nephew, Dr. George E. Talbott of Dayton, Ohio, to a stroke.

Talbott was a house guest in the Palm Beach home of Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham. Her late husband, a pioneer Florida real estate man, was a long-time friend of the Talbotts.

After cremation in Miami, memorial services will be held for Talbott in the St. James Episcopal church in New York at 4 p. m. Monday. Other services are planned for Tuesday in Dayton, Ohio.

A probe into Talbott's connection with a New York business engineering firm led to his resignation from his Air Force post in August 1955. A Senate subcommittee reported this connection brought him $12,032 in his 2½ years as secretary.

His offer to resign rather than "embarrass" the administration was accepted promptly by President Eisenhower, who told Talbott "your decision was the right one."

the schools and the teachers. "I have worked in the field of education since 1934 and feel that I am qualified to be of service to the community. I realize the drastic need for facilities, teaching personnel and the many other problems involved, and desire to offer my services toward meeting these needs," he said.

Neely graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1934, taught for a time at Abilene, and served as education, information and special services officer for the Air Force in the Pacific Theatre during World War II. In 1946 he joined the Veterans Administration as training officer, later working in the fields of vocational rehabilitation and education.

After three years with the VA he became coordinator of diversified occupations training in Big Spring High School, then served as area D-O supervisor for the Texas Education Agency until resigning in July, 1953, to accept his present job.

He is a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, is married and has one daughter, Sharon Kay, 5.

Building permits amounted to $235,450 in February, which brought the construction total to $359,000 for the year, which is pretty slack. On the other hand, postal receipts in February amounted to $17,265, up $6,553 over the same month of 1956.

Lamesa gave approval last week to bond issues totalling $300,000 to finance water development and line extensions, a new fire station with equipment, and new sewer lines. Here, school trustees considered the possibility of submitting a bond issue. One proposal was for $800,000; another for $400,000. Trustees are taking another look before setting a figure.

County commissioners appeared encouraged enough by their audience with the state highway commission in Austin that they are preparing to start immediately to secure right-of-way assessments on a proposed extension of FM 700 from U. S. 87 east to U. S. 80.

By the way, boys from 11-15 still have one more week in which to sign for the Soap Box Derby. So far 56 have entered the annual July 4 races, and several more have indicated — but not yet acted — they intend to sign Saturday is the last day.

March came in like that proverbial lamb, and we hope it remains that way. If the ABC club wants a balmy spring weather March 15-16 like we had Saturday for its track meet, just get the weather bureau to predict rain. That's the way it turned out.

Big Spring Man Charged With Tickets Theft

Thomas J. Bolton, who says his address is 303 E. 9th in Big Spring, was arrested Friday night in Midland by John Wood, Texas ranger. He was returned to Big Spring where he was being held Saturday pending arrival of U. S. Marshal Red Williams.

Williams is to take custody of Bolton on a federal warrant charging the man with theft of interstate shipments.

The charge grows out of the prolonged investigation into the disappearance on Feb. 19 of a bundle of railroad tickets from a T&P passenger train as it travelled from Midland to Big Spring.

The tickets later were found discarded in a rest room at the Settles Hotel.

An audit was made of the recovered tickets and apparently all of those which the conductor reported missing have been recovered.

Bolton was subjected to lengthy interrogation by local officers, railroad investigators and Wood early last week. He made a statement in which he admitted having had the missing tickets in his possession at one time. He never admitted that he took them although he confessed he rode the train that night from Midland to Big Spring.

Later, he said, he took the tickets to the Settles Hotel. He abandoned the envelope in which they were contained, on a table in the lobby, he insisted. He said he had not seen them after that time.

Investigation into the case disclosed that certain military transportation certificates were included in the list of missing papers. This injected the FBI into the case and placed the matter in federal jurisdiction.

A warrant was issued against Bolton in Abilene on Friday by the federal court. Wood arrested him in Midland. Williams planned to take the prisoner to Abilene late Saturday or early Monday.

Pedestrian Hit By Car

A pedestrian was slightly injured in an accident here Saturday, but he was released from Cowper Hospital after receiving first aid.

Earl Bryant, 1513 Scurry, was hit by a car driven by Robert Mason, 1607 Stadium, police said.

In another accident Saturday morning, Vonita Prater, Hamlin, and Benjamin Giles, Rt. 1, were drivers colliding at Fourth and San Jacinto.

Three accidents occurred in the space of an hour here Friday. Mrs. Vola Middleton, Monahans, collided with Johnny Marsalis, 101 W. 17th, in the 200 block of Main.

Ronnie Sigmon, 200 W. 3rd, and Carlos Gamble, 210 1/2 Mobile, were drivers involved in an accident in the block of West Fourth. Mae Carrie, 1609 Stadium, and Peter Pering, 400 Harding, collided at 200 Runnels.

Merle Hodnett, 1001 E. 16th, and Charles Porter, Webb AFB, were involved in an accident at 113 E. 18th, also Friday.

At Fourth and Birdwell, Audrey Pugh of Sweetwater, driving a 1955 International truck, was hit by a 1956 Ford. The Ford did not stop.

CREW EVEN HAS TIME FOR HUNTING Guns, chuck wagon at Glasscock rabbit drive

Serving Crowd Easy Task For Odessa 'Chuck Wagon Gang'

By JESS BLAIR Feeding 200 people at the rabbit drive last week was no trick at all for the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang.

At the Odessa Oil Show this same group fed 15,000 in only 50 minutes. And in a few days they may make arrangements to go to Pasadena, Calif., to cook for a group of 13,000.

It's all in a day's work to these men, or rather a day and night, since the meat is often put on the fire the night before.

The Chuck Wagon Gang is a part of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and is probably unique in the Southwest. It was organized back in the 1940's in order to feed the graduating classes at the air base between Midland and Odessa. Since then it has become a fun-loving, hard-working gang, with a willingness to travel long distance and feed hungry gatherings.

The members are Chamber of Commerce men, but they must be voted into the Chuck Wagon Gang, according to Jay Alvey, business manager.

"We have 200 in the gang," he said, "and always have a waiting list of at least 100. These new applicants must be voted upon, but unless someone dies or moves away, there is hardly ever a vacancy."

The group is composed mostly of oil executives, store owners, professional men, and others whose business is such that they can leave it for several days at a time.

During the last few years they claim to have fed 100,000 people annually. They have put on feeds for the boys' ranches at Amarillo and San Angelo, journeyed to an oil show at Casper, Wyoming, where 6,000 sampled their barbecue and potato salad, and are now making arrangements to drive up to Rapid City, S. D., for another big turn-out.

Dressed in colorful Western regalia, including boots and big hats, they attract attention everywhere they go. And since there are no shrinking violets in the organization, they are not hesitant to advertise the advantages of Odessa and West Texas.

During the dinner, they keep up a loud chatter, teasing one another and urging the crowd to come on up and eat. Sometimes they start razzing one of the members who, as it often happens, is working harder than anyone else.

Since they first started several years ago, they have learned several things about cooking food in volume and handling large crowds. They have portable grills which can be carried along in the trailer. These are often set up the night before and the meat is barbecued over a hickory fire.

One of their latest pieces of equipment is a huge pot that will cook 1,500 pounds of beans at one time. They also use the latest gadgets for slicing vegetables, carry regular percolators with them, and have their own benches to hold the food.

"We have learned to do everything in assembly line order," said Alvey. "Each man has become a specialist. One dishes out the meat, another piles on the potato salad, a third tosses on the olives. Then there is an onion man, a bread man, while out to one side is the coffee man who can fill those cups like a sleight-of-hand artist. Serving a large crowd calls for speed and smoothness, with every man knowing his job."

The head of the organization is Pete Holt, a butane dealer. He holds the title of boss. Alvey is business manager and handles much of the publicity and planning arrangements.

The Chuck Wagon Gang doesn't make a profit from any meal. They lose money by it, because they furnish their own transportation and pay all traveling expenses. The only charge they make for serving a meal is the price of the food.

One thing they insist upon is having plenty of food, so everyone can have second helpings. Their efficiency was proved at the rabbit drive last Saturday. Once the cry of "Come and Git It" was sounded by some frog-voiced member, the long line of hunters started moving at a half-walk.

Within 15 minutes they had served over 200 people, and even the little man bringing up the tail-end of the line was squatting in front of the fire eating his barbecue.

Students At Colorado City 'Condemn' Cross Burning

COLORADO CITY, March 2—Colorado High School's student council has issued a statement condemning recent pranks in which a cross was burned near the home of Supt. Ed Williams Monday night.

The statement, released by Bob Carpenter, president of the Student Council, read: "We, the student council of Colorado High School would like to express our regret to the general public for the unfortunate burning of the cross near Supt. Williams' home and the burning of another object on the flagpole at the high school building."

"This incident is not endorsed by the students of Colorado High School nor is any such incident condoned by us."

"We do not want this incident to reflect on the good name of the student body which we feel that we have developed in our athletics and other events, both in town and out."

The cross burning, a brief student strike and other minor incidents developed following the announcement by several members of school personnel that they would not return to Colorado City schools next fall.

Harvesters Spill Abilene, 68-53

ABILENE, March 2 (SC) — Hot-shot Glen Gregory was cold as ice and Sam Condo couldn't miss tonight, so the Abilene Eagles lost to the Pampa Harvesters in a AAAA regional basketball playoff.

Gregory of the Eagles was held to four points in the game. Condo racked up 23 points as the Harvesters won 68-53.

It was a fast game, with both teams shining defensively. The score was 52-47 with Pampa leading, going into the fourth quarter.

The Eagles' Ralph Bruner then fouled out, and the Harvesters won going away.

Pampa led practically all the way, after breaking a 6-6 tie early in the game. Score at the half was 38-20.

Harless Cone Is All-Loop Repeater

Harless Cone, high-scoring forward of champion East Texas Baptist College, was the only repeater on the All-Big State Conference basketball team announced Saturday.

Cone was one of three unanimous choices of the coaches. Center Bill Mundy of Texas Wesleyan and Guard John Kloss of St. Mary's were others receiving all votes.

Others on the team were forward Cecil Gormley of Southwestern and guard Joe Beck of St. Edward's.

24 TEAMS Brackets Filled For State Meet

Twenty-four teams won their way to the Texas schoolboy basketball tournament Saturday with Pampa, Dallas Highland Park, Fort Arthur and Austin making up the Class AAAA division.

Pampa beat Abilene 68-53, Highland Park nosed Lufkin 61-60, Austin walloped San Antonio Burbank 88-44 and Fort Arthur edged Gama Park 38-37 to make the trip to the state tournament at Austin next weekend.

There was one resounding upset over the state as five classes decided their representatives for the big tournament. Central Pollok, class B-champion last year but in Class A this season, was knocked out by McGregor 70-51 in the regional tournament at College Station. McGregor went on to the regional title by whipping East Chambers 63-43.

Buna, Class A champion last year but in Class AA this time, lashed Marlin 53-26 to win its regional tournament. Buna brought its victory string to 63 straight.

Pecos, Nacogdoches, Smiley and San Antonio Edison pushed into the state tournament from Class AAA.

Pecos beat Vernon 62-53, Nacogdoches downed Garland 55-50, Smiley licked Bay City 68-47 and San Antonio Edison slammed Mission 62-50.

In Class AA it will be Seminole, Bowie, Buna and Clear Creek. Seminole won its way to the tournament with a 72-59 victory over Muleshoe. Bowie smashed DeKalb 75-45, Buna won over Marlin 53-26 and Clear Creek sped by Devine 78-72.

In Class A it will be Ropesville, White Oak, McGregor and Three Rivers. Ropesville beat Big Lake 43-32, White Oak downed Holiday 51-41, McGregor whipped East Chambers 63-43 and Three Rivers walloped Bishop 79-49.

Classes AAAA, AAA, AA and A each will have four teams in the state tournament but Class B will have eight. The teams winning their way to the tournament from Class B were Meadow, Burkett, Everman, East Mountain, Big Sandy, Dollarsville, Kyle, Bruni and Van Horn.

Trio Of Coaches Quit At Kermit

Mitchell Malouf, who has accepted an offer to become an assistant football coach here, is one of three football aides departing the Kermit system.

The others are Jack Haack, who will accompany his former boss, Max Jones, to Comroe; and Curtis Davenport.

Center Point Boys Capture County Basketball Title

CENTER POINT, March 2 (SC) — Center Point's boys emerged as basketball champions of the Howard County Common School District conference by beating Midway at Midway Friday night, 32-23.

'Bold Ruler' Nips Kentucky Derby Hopfuls

MIAMI, Fla., March 2 (AP) — Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, standing off a desperate challenge in the stretch by Calumet Farms' Gen. Duke, flashed to a victory over six other Kentucky Derby nominees today in the $131,400 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah.

Eddie Arcaro guided Bold Ruler masterfully to a neck victory over Willie Hartack on Gen. Duke in track record time of 1:47 for the mile and one eighth. Another Calumet horse, Iron Liege, was third in the select field of Triple Crown hopefuls.

The old record of 1:47 2-5 was set by Spartan Valor in 1952. The Flamingo record previously was shared at 1:48 1-5 by Brevity and Oil Capitol.

'Sir William' Is Surprise Victor In Santa Anita Derby

ARCADIA, Calif., March 2 (AP) — Sir William, a virtually unknown colt, won the $143,000 Santa Anita Derby today after the favorite, Prince Khaleed, was declared out of this 20th running of the winter classic for 3-year-olds.

Jockey Henry Moreno came up in the stretch and held off a determined challenge to beat the Swirling Abbey and Round Table.

The time on a slow track was 1:54 1-5 for the mile and one eighth.

Sir William, winner of one stake at the Santa Anita meeting, won the $95,900 net purse by a head over the California-bred colt, Swirling Abbey, Round Table, the favorite with the defection of Prince Khaleed at noon, was a short step farther behind.

Sir William, owned and bred by Mr. and Mrs. Herb Armstrong of Herrington, Wash., paid $14,800, $7,700 and $3,100. Swirling Abbey paid $11,700 and $3,900. Round Table paid $2,200.

No points were kept in Friday's meet here. Midland and Odessa would have scored well, however, and Colorado City is going to field a strong team in Class AAA. Coahoma, the fifth team entered here, is looking up in track and Coaches Dub Behrens and G. W. Walker intend to emphasize it in the future.

Janak was timed in 10.2 in the 100 and 21.8 in the 220. He never really opened up in either race. His anchor race in the 440 relay was something to see. He took the baton about six or seven yards off the pace and won by fully that margin.

Midland fielded a very promising miler in Bob Barrett. Barrett nipped Bobby Fuller, an HCCJ boy, at the tape and was caught in the very respectable time in 4:44.5. Third in the race and second in the high school division was Big Spring's Goose Russell, a sophomore.

Goose is a brother to one of Big Spring's better half milers in recent years, Cleonne Russell. Goose was clocked in 5:08.0.

Robert Orr, Odessa, won both the high jump with a leap of six feet and the high hurdles in the time 15:2.5.

Big Spring's winning time in the sprint relay was 46.4.

Davis of Midland and Kennedy of Odessa both cleared 12 feet in the pole vault. Big Spring's Mike Smith went out at 11'6".

Orr went over the bar in the high jump at six feet. Smith stopped after reaching 5'10". Bobby Wallace and Frosty Forrester, both of Big Spring, stopped after jumping 5'4".

Jack Tavrien of Odessa tossed the discus 159'6", beating the second place entry (Vowell of Colorado City) by more than 20 feet.

Jim Windham of Colorado City put the shot 51'11", a very respectable distance.

Paul Thorpe of Odessa finished all by himself in the broad jump, with a leap of 20'6".

Sweetwater Back Shines With SMU

DALLAS, March 2 (AP) — Two spectacular punt returns by Sweetwater sophomore Frank Smith highlighted a third quarter comeback that boosted the Reds to a 27-20 victory over the Whites in a Southern Methodist University full-dress intrasquad scrimmage today.

Smith's returns of 43 and 47 yards set up the Red's first two touchdowns after the Whites had scored three times in the second quarter behind the quarterbacking of Don Meredith of Mount Vernon.

A fourth period blocked punt and an 88-yard drive sealed the Red's victory.

Kilgore Rangers Are Longhorn Champions

Kilgore is the Longhorn Conference basketball champion.

The Rangers ended the season with a 1-1 record by downing Wharton 109-77 to become champion for the second straight year.

Wharton wound up second with 5-3 while Tyler and Victoria tied for third with 3-5 and Del Mar of Corpus Christi was last with 2-8.

Kelly Chapman of Tyler was high point man of the season with 286 points in 8 conference games.

Pop Boone, Famous Columnist, Dies

FORT WORTH, March 2 (AP) — Harry Holmes Boone, known as "Pop" to the Texans who followed his sport columns for about half a century, died today.

Boone, 78, sports editor emeritus of the Fort Worth Press, had been hospitalized only since Thursday but his health had been failing for months.

He had lived in Fort Worth since 1919 when he became a feature writer for the old Fort Worth Record. The story goes that he took over the city desk after a week and later was sports editor of the Record.

Boone became a sports writer and dramatic critic for the old San Antonio Gazette in 1904 and three years later joined the staff with the San Antonio Light.

Tigers And Cards Clubs To Watch This Season

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2 (AP) — Even as the major league clubs were approaching full-scale training operations, the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals were being tabbed as the most improved clubs in the American and National Leagues.

None other than Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, has joined the bandwagon for last year's fifth-place Tigers while at least two National Leaguers, Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts and Milwaukee southpaw ace Warren Spahn have issued warnings to watch out for the Cardinals.

"All I've been hearing lately is 'watch out for the Tigers,'" Casey said. "Not only in Detroit, but everywhere I go, even back home in California. But they're not telling me anything. I know all about Detroit. I know they've improved considerably since last year. They'll have a real shot at it."

Tebbetts was not that ecstatic about the Cardinals but he predicted they would be in the thick of a four-team race all the way. "If they get the pitching," he said, "the rest of us better watch out."

Spahn, while picking his own team to win the pennant, said he would be surprised if the Redbirds didn't improve on their fourth-place finish of a year ago. "St. Louis has helped itself by its winter deals and should climb," he said.

The Tigers, in the minds of many baseball observers in Florida, already have replaced Cleveland, Chicago and Boston as the chief Yankees' threat.

"I don't see how any club can beat the Yankees," said Frank Lane, the show-bird American League alumnus. "But if anybody does, it will be the Tigers. In fact, Detroit probably is the only team that can upset the idea that the American League has three divisions—the Yankees in a class by themselves, followed by Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and Boston, with the other three clubs in a third division."

The Tigers have the potential to make trouble for the Yankees. If they can come up with another sound hitter to join 300 hitters Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Charlie Maxwell, and another big winner to go along with 20-game winner Frank Lary and Billy Hoelt, they should make things very interesting for the Yankees.

The best way to analyze the chances of the top contenders for the Yankees' and Dodgers' laurels is possibly to cite their most pressing problems.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland: Full of question marks. The Indians need a replacement for the retired Al Rosen. They're relying on a rookie, Roger Maris, to play left field. They don't know whether Bobby Avila can make a comeback at second. They're uncertain about shortstop. They must come up with some punch at the plate and speed on the bases.

Chicago: The White Sox need consistent hitting first and third basemen, but more important they must come up with a cleanup hitter if they are to be considered a serious challenger. Right now, Fred Hatfield and Sammy Espinoza are the third base share-holders while Walter Dropo, Jim Marshall, Ronnie Jackson and Norman Larker are contending for the regular first base job.

Boston: The Red Sox are in dire need of a shortstop and lefthanded pitching. At first base, both Norm Zauchin and Mickey Vernon are slow. Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan are the club's only dependable pitchers. Gene Mauch, a 31-year-old National League castoff, is their best shortstop hope.

Detroit: The Tigers may have a problem at first where they are experimenting with Ray Boone. There's also a question at third where Jim Finigan may hold forth. The catching, consisting of Frank House and Red Wilson, is insecure. The club may also be short of pitching depth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Milwaukee: The Braves' biggest problem may be trying to forget last year's September slump. Materially, second base and left field present the same old problems. Can Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson regain their pre-Milwaukee form? Thomson hit .235 last season and O'Connell .239. Also, is Gene Conley's pitching shoulder sound again? A latening relief pitcher is sadly needed, too.

Cincinnati: The Redlegs can score runs but they must depend upon their home run power to do it.

St. Louis: The big problem lies in center field. Alvin Dark did a fine job at shortstop after St. Louis acquired him from the Giants last June but he may not be able to stand the wear and tear of daily play. The Redbirds also lack a proven fourth starter and need a catcher to back up Hal Smith.

Shriners To Open Bowling Tournament

FORT WORTH, March 2 (AP) — A 32-team squad of Shriners from Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri will take a first shot at the prize fund of $27,652 in the 54th American Bowling Congress tournaments at Will Rogers Coliseum.

They will start at 1 p.m. Saturday on the spanking new 32-lane half million dollar installation which has the first automatic pin spotters and the first under-lane ball returns ever used in the ABC tournament.

Opening ceremonies are scheduled for the 7 p.m. squad. The official party will include Mayor Jack Garrison; a representative of Governor Daniel; Clarence Leonard of Houston, president of the ABC; Earle Johnson, president of the Fort Worth Bowling Assn.

During the tournaments' 51-day run, ending on Sunday, April 28, a total of 3,056 teams will bowl, 1,552 in the booster division and 1,504 in the open class.

The outstanding names in bowling—top professionals like Bill Lillard, Don Carter, Steve Nagy, Buzz Fazio—and the low average shooters who play for fun—all will take their turns on the coliseum lanes.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

If Abe Martin of TCU hadn't been available, the ABC Relays committee probably would have brought Coach Darrell Royal of Texas here as referee of their March 15-16 meet . . . Royal agreed to come if transportation could be found for him to fill a speaking engagement in Waco the evening of March 16 . . . Dick Simpson, incidentally, talked Martin into coming here . . . Royal, by the way, spoke to ex-students of the University of Texas in Midland last night . . . Present plans call for Supt. of Schools Floyd R. Parsons to handle the loud speaker during the ABC Relays . . . Lt. Robert Behr of Goodfellow AFB in San Angelo wanted to enter a team in the ABC meet . . . Odessa High School will probably have the largest team on hand here . . . The Broncho mentor has entered 43 boys . . . The first four high schools to enter teams here enrolled a total of 100 boys, giving rise to the belief the total entry list will exceed 600 in the three divisions . . . Jimmy Marcus and Hugh Hamm, the junior high mentors here, refer to their ABC Relays assignments as "working in the boondocks" . . . They'll run off some of the field events . . . C. R. Roberts, the big Negro athlete for USC, who'll probably compete here, is going to ask the Pacific Coast Conference to okeh another season of football and track eligibility for him . . . If the answer is no, he'll probably play pro football in Canada . . . A club up there has offered him a lucrative contract . . . Chuck Taylor, the basketball authority, says Texas Southern probably could win the NCAA basketball championship, were it eligible . . . It must have been the principle of the thing. The Detroit Lions paid out $14,000 to win that $6,000 verdict from Tom Dublinski, who bolted the Lions to play in Canada . . . Monterey of the Class AA Mexican baseball league has obtained Jeff Williams, the Negro outfielder, who performed for the San Angelo Colts against Big Spring a couple of seasons back.

Andrews To Pose A Real, Big Problem

Big Spring has a big order in its opening football game next fall . . . The Steers open here with Andrews and the gang that administered a 39-13 defeat to the locals, Tommy Jackson, Robert Burk, Ronnie Ellis, Jay Sherrars, Billy Carruth, Doyle Hamilton and Jerry McPherson will all be back . . . Forsan school in South Howard County has a unique problem . . . An all well has been drilled in the middle of its track and the racing oval is going to have to be re-located . . . Danny Ace, the fourth of four brothers to play football (Charley played with distinction at USC and Detroit), is supposed to be the best of them all . . . All played their prep ball in Hawaii . . . Danny, a fullback, is supposed to enroll at Ohio State . . . Tabor, the former Big Spring High School half-back, recently was appointed the golf coach at Wink High School . . . Dunsmit's school system, in California, which lost that $25,000 damage suit in an injured footballer recently, is going to appeal . . . The decision could cause all insurance companies throughout the nation to increase rates or cease writing such policies entirely . . . One agent insists his company couldn't afford to peddle policies on the Coast, in view of the unprecedented award . . . Frank Secory, the big league arbiter who used to call balls and strikes in the old WT-NM League, is a part time teacher in the Port Huron, Mich., school system during the off-season . . . Dusty Boggess, another league arbiter, is a good will and contact man for the Coach Motor Lines in Dallas . . . He and his wife entertain customers at a 750-acre hunting lodge located on the shores of a 140-acre fishing lake . . . The San Angelo school board has reduced the price of season football tickets there to $7, in efforts to boost home attendance . . . The fee for district games (set by the conference) remains at $1.50 but the buyer will pay $1 for admission to each non-conference game under the plan — the Bobcats play six home contests.

Longhorn Fund For Trip Is Up $100

The paid turnout at the recent Merkel-Rossville basketball play-off game here amounted to 369 . . . The cash intake was $482.25 . . . Each team took home $108.57, after expenses . . . The officials cost $67 and another $21.50 was spent on the game ball, which Rossville got as a reward for winning the game . . . The total crowd for the game was well over 1,000 . . . The Big Spring High School basketball team now has $223 to make the trip to the State Meet next weekend, about $100 more than it had last year . . . The Steer cagers worked the concessions at the Merkel-Rossville game and earned $33.60 on sandwiches and cake, alone . . . Four of the five boys who were regulars on last year's Palo Duro (Amarillo) team, the District 1-AAA champion, are now starters on college freshman quintets and the fifth is still in high school . . . Robert Echols and Gene Arrington are at Texas Tech, Bob Hoover at the University of Texas and Jim Reid at West Texas State . . . Paul Hyatt, another 1955-56 starter for the Dons, is now a Palo Duro senior . . . Dale Dodrill, an all-NFL guard for the Pittsburgh Steelers, is spending his off-season as a Lutheran lay missionary . . . A. L. Shipman, one of Webb Air Force Base's leading Bowling enthusiasts, is shipping out to Hawaii, where he says he'll live following retirement from the service . . . After seeing Robert McLeod of Merkel play basketball, I'm more convinced than ever that Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring is one of the two or three finest basketball players in the state . . . McLeod is, no doubt, good in his own league but he's not in Jan's class, either as a rebounder or a defensive player . . . Is Gene Sarazen a better golfer now than when he was recognized as one of the finest touring pros? . . . The veteran Gene fired a 212 in the recent PGA Senior tournament in Florida . . . In the 1922 National Open, he had a 220.

IN MAY 4 DERBY

Nip And Tuck Is Entered By King

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 2 (AP)—A number of racing's most promising speedsters were included today among the 123 colts and geldings nominated for the 53rd Kentucky Derby on May 4 . . . No fillies were among the select group nominated for the $125,000-added race. The entry list is smaller than last year's 169 nominees and 63 short of the record number named in 1922 . . . It takes $100 to nominate a Derby hopeful, another $25 to enter and $1,250 to start in the 1 1/4-mile classic . . . Track observers expect this year's running to be a wide open affair, with Barhizon, Bold Ruler, Federal Hill, Lucky Mel, Golden One and Gallant Man heading the list . . . Florida is pinning its hopes for a second consecutive victory in the grueling test on King Hairan, foaled at the same farm as 1956 Derby champion, Needles. King

Hairan was nominated by H. B. Massey and Leo Edwards . . . Heading the entry list with six each are Calumet Farms, a five-time Derby winner, and Maine Chance Farm, owner of 1947 winner Jet Pilot . . . Calumet, in addition to Barhizon, named Boone Glaze, Gen. SMU'S DON STEWART . . . Shooting for seven feet

Don Stewart, ABC Meet Entry, Now Concentrating On Jump

Don Stewart, Southern Methodist University's sensational high jumper, who will be one of SMU's representatives in the ABC Relays here March 15-16, first became interested in the event when he was a young country boy at Montalpa, deep in East Texas. He and a few neighboring boys put a pair of 2x4 pieces of lumber in the ground, drove a few nails in them, hung an old fishing pole on the nails, dug up part of the sandy yard to make a soft landing pit—and they were track men . . . Soon Don became the envy of the other boys. His uncle, Clinton Price of Springfield, gave him a pair of track shoes that Price had used when he was in high school. This gift made Don the No. 1 track man of the neighborhood . . . Before long Don read that the Rotary Club at Palestine, about 8 miles from Montalpa, was sponsoring a track meet for the youngsters of the county. He hopped a ride into Palestine and his track career had officially started when he took second in the high jump. Don attended the Montalpa school until he completed eight grades and then entered Palestine junior high in 1951. He played on the school football and basketball teams and entered the 120-yard low hurdles, the broad jump, and the high jump during the track season . . . Entering Palestine senior high, Don continued earning letters in three sports. He never got excited over his high jumping as the best he ever did in scholastic competition was 6 feet 2 1/2 inches. He appeared to be stymied at that height, but he was encouraged over his broad jumping prospects as he was improving steadily in that event. He had jumped 18 feet as a sophomore, had increased the distance to 20 feet during his junior year, and had negotiated 22 feet 3 inches as a senior . . . When time came to decide where he would go to college, Don had no problem. His older brother, Charles, had been on the football squad at SMU. Don had visited him frequently and had learned to know the other athletes and to like the school very much. When he was offered a scholarship at SMU, he accepted without hesitation . . . Weighing 185 pounds and standing 6 feet 4 inches high, Don had little difficulty in making the freshman football team, which went through a five-game season undefeated. He did most of the punting for the Colts and was regarded as a fine prospect for the varsity . . . As soon as the football season was over, Don reported for freshman basketball and made the starting center position without trouble. When spring football drills started on Feb. 5, Stewart was out with the grid candidates . . . On March 3, Stewart participated in the annual spring football game at SMU, and then was laid up with the flu for five days. When he reported for track practice, the opening meet was only 10 days away . . . When the SMU Freshmen participated in the Southwestern Recreational meet at Fort Worth on March 17, Stewart was among the unheralded entrants. Because of rainy weather the week of the meet, Stewart had not jumped for height so he went to Fort Worth wondering if he would be able to jump as high in his first meet as a freshman as he had in his last meet as a high school senior . . . Soon he had broken the meet record for the freshmen and he kept clearing the bar. Finally he went over at 6 feet 8 inches but missed at the next highest mark . . . As Stewart's leap was the highest cleared by any collegiate performer during the 1956 season, it attracted considerable attention. But it was not until several days after the meet that Tom Dean, assistant track coach at SMU at that time, thought about checking the guide book to see how much Stewart lacked of setting a new national collegiate record for freshmen. When it was found that the Colt had broken the record, more recognition was accorded to Stewart . . . There was considerable argument among track critics and fans as to whether Stewart would be a one-time record jumper or if he would be able to clear the bar at 6 feet 8 inches consistently. No fan could recall any other high jumper who had increased the high jump by more than five inches between seasons—especially when he was playing football and basketball and paying no attention to track . . . Stewart had two weeks to get ready for his next public appearance—which was to be at the Texas Relays in Austin. He soon found in practice that he was having trouble—inability to relax. On the SMU varsity was another top high jumper, Clarence Miller, a sophomore who was co-holder of the state high jump record in the high jump . . . Clarence helped me immensely during those two weeks," said Don. "His encouragement and advice and example helped me to relax." . . . Stewart was not too hopeful about his showing at the Texas Relays. "Any way it will be a great opportunity for me to learn something more about high jumping as Ernie Shelton, former USC star, will be there to give an exhibition," he said. "I know I can get some points by observing him." . . . What the Relay events were held, Shelton cleared the bar at 6 feet 7 inches and Stewart was credited with 6 feet 8 inches. The SMU star returned to Dallas singing the praises of Shelton. He minimized the fact that he had jumped higher than the California star, saying that Shelton was pacing himself to be ready for the Olympic tryouts . . . Then came the opportunity for Stewart to show some real team spirit. The freshmen had a triangular meet scheduled with the Texas Aggie and Rice Institute first-year teams at College Station, and it looked as if the Colts would need every point they could get. Whereas some trackstars would prefer to concentrate on their specialty and forget the team score, Don began working on the hurdles and the broad jump in order to work toward a team victory . . . The high jump was the first of the three events on the schedule. All other freshmen were eliminated by the time Stewart cleared 6 feet 1 inch, so instead of trying for height and a new record, he raced over to the broad jump pit and took a first in that event with a leap of 22 feet 5 1/2 inches. After placing in the high hurdles, Stewart was tired but when Coach Andy Anderson of the host Aggies suggested that he continue with his high jump, he cleared the bar at 6 feet 9 1/4 inches . . . These came Stewart's big day. Before a Dallas crowd that included his widowed mother, Don took part in a triangular meet with the Baylor Cubs and the TCU Horned Frogs. Running events were ignored by the spectators as they watched Stewart clear the bar at 6-4, then 6-6, then 6-8, and finally at 6 feet 10 1/4 inches, the highest any collegian had jumped in 1956. He then tried for a new world record but knocked the crossbar off . . . Stewart failed to make the U. S. Olympic team but he hopes to be included on the squad in 1960 . . . Returning to SMU last fall, Stewart reported for the football team and won his varsity letter as an end. He passed up grid drills this spring to concentrate upon track and followers of the cinder path are watching to see how he performs as a varsity track man . . . Marciano said his wife likes the

"Jimmy said 'I'll make an actor out of you' but I'll probably make a fighter out of him," Marciano declared . . . He said no contract had been signed and no agreement made as to terms . . . "I want to break in and see how it works out first," the bronzed boxer said. "Boxing has been a serious business and this looks like a lot of fun. If I like it, I'll get right into it. The engagement there will last three weeks, he said, but no plans have been made beyond the Chicago date . . . "Jimmy is going to teach me some dance steps and we'll do a song or two—no popular songs—something he is working up. I won't be a crooner," the Brockton, Mass., boxer promised . . . ### Imports Said Tool Against Competitors

By CHARLES HASLET WASHINGTON, March 2 (AP)—Oil importing companies are able to escape state conservation laws and "to turn such regulations against the domestic industry," a Senate investigating committee was told this week.

This view came from Lester Clark of Breckenridge, Tex., an independent oil operator, in his testimony before a subcommittee which is looking into the oil-for-Europe program and recent increases in the price of petroleum.

Clark's statement continued: "Companies which control the independent working capital have, as they have turned more and more to imports, exercised that critical control to slow down and gradually reduce the independent search for more oil and the nation is suffering because of it."

"SPRING IN BIG SPRING"

KEEPING IN PRINT is Mrs. S. H. Osborne, whose black shantung sheath is a combination of black skirt and print blouse in black and burnt sugar. A bolero transforms the dress into a suit. With it, Mrs. Osborne will wear a large black satin-straw hat Thursday when she models for the Officers' Wives' Club at the annual style show and luncheon to be held at the Officers' Club.

(Photos by Keith McMillin)

THE EMPIRE LINE is most noticeable in the sheath which will be one of the fashions displayed by Mrs. Dean Fling for the Officers' Wives' Club and their guests Thursday. The style show will follow a luncheon planned for 1:30 p.m. at the Officers' Club. Of lace over taffeta, both in pinafore pink, the dress is trimmed with only a ribbon and bow of taffeta. A stole of the same shade and fabric can be worn to cover the bateau neckline.

RUFFLE ON RUFFLE of black net makes this dancing frock to be worn by Mrs. Clyde Johnson in the style show which will highlight the luncheon of the Officers' Wives' Club Thursday. Wider ruffles of blue taffeta are caught at engaging angles with red roses. Mrs. Johnson, who will serve as commentator for the revue, is in charge of general arrangements.

WORN FOR FUN are the Bermuda shorts and the swim suit to be shown by Mrs. C. D. Peters, at left, and Mrs. Dennis Mitchell, when they appear in the style show for the Officers' Wives' Club. The affair will be a luncheon-show at the Officers' Wives' Club Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Calypso cloth in lemon peel shade makes Mrs. Peters' shorts and the fingertip jacket of the suit, with a blouse and lining in stripes of red, black and lemon peel. Daisies outline the low neck of Mrs. Mitchell's suit of brown faille. If she were standing, you could see the side drapery of the abbreviated "skirt."

CHECKER - BOARD SIZE CHECKS in absinthe green and white line the long duster in the same shade of green, which Mrs. A. R. Holman will wear in the style show Thursday afternoon. Models will parade for the Officers' Wives' Club and guests at the regular luncheon. A white all-silk sheath, worn under the linen duster, has as its sole trim, a wide band of green and white check at the empire line. A white hat, crown-like, tops the ensemble to add a crisp touch.

Odessa Is Scene Of Williams-Tate Nuptials

The Parkview Church of Christ in Odessa was the scene of the Saturday evening wedding of Dawn Williams and Billy Wayne Tate. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Williams, Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Tate of Dallas.

The double ring ceremony was read by Bobby Hoover of Lubbock. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length dress of white tulle. Harriet Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pink dress trimmed in white lace. Best man was Marvin G. Tate, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Tate attended Odessa High School and Odessa College. Tate graduated from Odessa High School and Elkins Radio School of Dallas. He is employed as chief engineer and staff announcer at KTXC radio station. He was formerly employed in Dallas by KGKO.

The couple will make a home at 107 East 18th.

Girl Scout Troop Has Nature Study

Girl Scout Troop Six gathered in the home of Mrs. R. O. Smith Friday afternoon for a nature study lesson.

After a trip to Hamilton Airport, where they collected specimens, they returned to the Smith home for examination and identification of their collection.

Games were played; the group sang songs and refreshments were served. Eight members and a guest, Bobbinette Standard, were dismissed with the friendship circle.

The annual Tri-Hi-Y—Hi-Y Spring Conference was held this weekend in Abilene. The Big Spring group was in charge of the vespers service Friday night and led several discussion groups. The Big Spring delegation entered the Talent Contest, Scrapbook Contest and Sports Festival. Members of the six high school Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs attended the conference.

After a very successful outcome in their own tournament last week, the Steerettes journeyed to Lamesa for the Lamesa Tournament. Tuesday, they are to be host to San Angelo here, so let's all turn out and give them our support.

A huge sigh of relief was expressed by the members of the 1957 El Rodeo staff Thursday as they reached their last deadline. The final shipment of the annual was sent to Steck Company last week, and the books will be received during May.

A lot of midnight oil was burned this week as six weeks tests were taken Wednesday and Thursday. The end of this six weeks bring only 12 more weeks of school.

Students around BSHS were glad to hear that Assistant Principal Bennie Pierson and his wife were recovering nicely from injuries suffered in an automobile accident last week near Abilene. Mr. Pierson is in Hendrick Memorial Hospital, while his wife was dismissed earlier.

The annual Lions Club football banquet was held at Cosden Country Club Monday night. The Rev. Gage Lloyd—emceed the affair, while entertainment was provided by the Sportsmen, a quartet of BSHS boys. Coaches Roy Baird and Harold Bentley were presented with wrist watches and gift certificates for sport coats, compliments of Zale's Jewelry Store and the Men's Store, respectively. Some of the football players and their dates enjoying the banquet were Jan Laudermilk, Lynn Porter; Dick Jackson, Kathy McRee; Ed Slate, Carlene Coleman; Donnie Bryant, Jacqueline Smith; Lewis Porter, Sandy Hale; Hershel Stocks, and Freda Donica.

A person from Big Spring might feel right at home on the A&M campus this weekend. Several prospective Aggies of Big Spring journeyed to College Station to see how they like A&M life. Those attending Senior Day there were Donnie Bryant, Lewis Bluhm, Glenn Whittington, Donald Lovelady and Pat Fisher.

Other students made the trip to Aggieland Friday, but for entirely different reasons. Karen Montgomery, Ann Richbourg, Mary Lane Edwards, and Carol Rogers attended the Freshman Ball with their Aggies, Roy Hughes, John Davenport, Lefty Reynolds, and Stormy Edwards. Nancy King and Lucy Thompson are also in College Station visiting Joe Liberty and Paschall Odum.

Two very successful performances of "Harvey" were given by the cast, under the direction of James Mack Godwin, last week. The play, presented on Friday and Saturday nights in the auditorium, was sponsored by the Drama Workshop. "Harvey," a three-act comedy, was the first given which required two sets.

Well-known around the campus of BSHS is Senior of the Week Cecilia McDonald. Having the reputation of a good worker has given Cecilia many responsibilities in the various clubs of which she is a member and also in her class. These organizations include the Spanish Club, FHA and Tri Hi Y. Cecilia now serves as historian of the latter club.

Known for her talent in tap dancing and jitter-bugging, the redhead has performed in many BSHS productions, including the Follies of 1956 and 1957, and Y entertainments. Having taken art lessons for several years, Cecilia has produced many nice paintings.

An active member of the First Methodist Church, Cecilia plans to enter Christian College in Missouri as a freshman next fall.

OWC To See Style Revue Thursday

Members of the Officers' Wives' Club and their guests will get a peek into the spring fashion mirror Thursday.

At the regular luncheon meeting of the group, models will show what's new in dresses, suits, hats, formals and casual fun clothes. Styles will be displayed from The Little Shop, Tot N' Teen Shop and Pelletier's.

Preceding the luncheon, set for 1:30 p.m., an informal hour of visiting is scheduled.

Theme of the affair will be "Spring in Big Spring" with decorations featuring hat boxes and other accessories.

Mrs. Clyde Johnson, general chairman, will serve as commentator for the revue.

Junior SS Class Has Parent Night

A dinner and program was given Friday evening by the Junior Two Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church. Special guests were members' parents.

Two pre-Easter films, "Crucifixion," and "He Has Risen," were shown. Mrs. Ira Thurman was narrator.

Valjean LaCroix sang two solos "Did You Think To Pray?" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

A panel discussion by the parents was given. Subjects dealt with the way the home and church can work together to help children grow spiritually.

Taking part on the discussion were Rex Browning, Mrs. L. M. Gary, Noel Marsalis, Mrs. Charles Tyler, Dr. F. D. O'Brien, G. G. Morehead, Mrs. Charles Clay, Dr. P. W. Malone, Mrs. J. T. Gordon, Mrs. F. C. Gambill, and Leroy Hollingshead.

Sue Baker Is New Member Of Scouts

Mrs. L. C. Alston was in charge of the recent meeting of the GA's. She presented the program on Home Missions. Refreshments were served to the group.

Baptist WMS To Begin Week Of Prayer For Missions

The Annie Armstrong Week of Prayer for Home Missions will begin Monday at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. Other meetings, scheduled at the same time, will be Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Maybelle Taylor Circle will be in charge of the Friday session when a play, "Annie Armstrong — A Life of Destiny" will be given by the circle. Programs will deal with the missionaries of the home missions.

All women of the church are urged to attend. The nursery will be open each afternoon.

Forsan Folks Are Honored At Parties

FORSAN — Claudia Sue Seward was honored Friday with a party on her sixth birthday. Miniature parachutes were given as favors. Twenty-four guests were served refreshments.

A pink and blue shower Friday was a compliment for Mrs. Johnny Park. Hostesses included Mrs. C. C. Suttles, Mrs. Jesse Overton, Mrs. D. W. Day, Mrs. C. V. Wash, Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. W. J. White, Mrs. O. W. Fletcher, and Mrs. John Kubeka.

The serving table featured a centerpiece of a white satin miniature bassinet sitting in a nest of blue ruffled net. This was centered with pink and white flowers.

Junior High P-TA

There will be a called meeting of the Junior High P-TA Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 at the school. Members are urged to attend.

Gifts Presented In Doll Buggy At Party

Gifts were presented in a doll's buggy when Mrs. J. W. Franklin was honored at a shower Friday afternoon. Three-year-old Teresa Mundell pushed the buggy at the party, given in the home of Mrs. Hershel Johnson in South Haven Addition.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Ira Norrell, Mrs. Jack Jones and Mrs. W. F. Harrell. Games were played by the guests, and refreshments were served.

A lace cloth covered the table, which was centered with a decorated cake flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders. About 30 were included on the guest list.

Do-It-Together Project For Family

Next time a home improvement project never seems to get out of the planning stage at your house, stop nagging your reluctant home handyman to do it himself. Instead, smile sweetly and say: "Let's do it together."

Or, if your "do-it-himself" is the eager type who has so many projects going he never seems to relax at home, you can make life easier for him by offering to help. The two of you will get a lot more done, too.

Most housewives can be valuable assistants to their husbands in painting, papering walls, laying floor tile, installing insulation, and dozens of other projects.

DOUBLE TAKE

Soft Materials Suit This Pattern Nicely

Double chiffon is double fashion, and in this season of soft drapery it is the perfect medium to achieve the look of subtle fullness.

Brigance, who masterminded this one, shirrs the shoulders, camouflages seam allowances with a strip of grosgrain which also is used for the button placket. The under layer of the bodice is fitted so that contours are not completely eliminated.

Effective in any feathery fabric such as voile, georgette, dotted swiss, it is important to remember that if you choose a material that is printed, the under one should be plain.

However you decide, you'll discover this fashion first is easy to make, thanks to the precisely perforated, designer retail-sized pattern hand cut for custom fit, and with a step-by-step instruction sheet.

Select the size best for you:
Size 10 bust 34, waist 24, hips 35, length from nape of neck to waist 16 1/4 inches; size 12 bust 35, waist 25, hips 36, length from nape of neck to waist 16 3/4 inches; size 14 bust 36 1/2, waist 26 1/2, hips 37 1/2, length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches; size 16 bust 38, waist 28, hips 39, length from nape of neck to waist 17 1/2 inches; size 18 bust 40, waist 30, hips 41, length from nape of neck to waist 17 3/4 inches.

Size 12 requires 4 1/2 yards of 50-inch material for dress, bodice stay and double skirt. To order Pattern No. 1303, state size, enclosure.

Alice Ann Martin Is Wed To Wiley Delmar Brown Saturday

Standing before an altar formed of white classic columns and arrangement of stock, Alice Ann Martin became the bride of Wiley Delmar Brown Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church.

The chancel rail was decorated with cathedral tapers twined with fern and candytuft, while the pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Martin, 800 E. 18th; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, 111 E. 18th.

The Rev. Doug Rhore of Throckmorton read the vows in the double ring semi-formal ceremony. Betty Earley, organist, presented a prelude of nuptial music, including "Always," "O, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "To A Wild Rose." She accompanied Max Goodgin as he sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "Because."

Marches were the traditional "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." During the ceremony, Miss Earley played "Claire Di Lune" and "Traumerel."

RECEPTION

At the reception which followed the wedding, the bride and bridegroom received guests assisted by their parents, Mrs. Swinney, Miss Bond and Miss Patton.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length white cutwork cloth of linen and lace over a white satin skirt. A candelabrum festooned with fern and white carnations centered the table, which held crystal appointments. Serving was done by Mrs. Hodnett and Mrs. Al Weese of Throckmorton, sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Gene Blodsoe registered guests; others in the house party were Mrs. George Bond Jr., of San Angelo; Mrs. Shirley Fryar, Mrs. Frank Martin and Mrs. R. C. Thomas.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. F. C. Neidermeyer of El Paso, aunt of the bride; George A. Bond Jr. and Howard and Mrs. George Bond Sr., all of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin and Michele of Odessa and Al Weese, Vernon and Van of Throckmorton.

WEDDING GOWN

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was attired in a formal Edwardian gown of magnolia white all-over embroidered silk taffeta.

The scooped neckline of the molded bodice was edged with seed pearls; a straight front panel extended the full length of the skirt. Fullness from each side of the panel was caught in pouffs and held by pearl-encrusted tabs. From these, the skirt swept into a court train.

Long sleeves tapered to points over the hands, and a three-tiered veil of silk illusion was caught to a jeweled shell-headress.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolus, tied with picotee satin ribbon. She wore a blue garter, which was old, and had been borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Y. B. Hodnett. A penny was worn in her shoe; her bridal gown was new.

Mrs. Don Swinney, who served as matron of honor, wore a ballerina length dress of aqua polished cotton, fashioned with fitted bodice and V-neckline. A sash ended in skirt-length streamers.

Her flowers were white carnations formed into a nosegay with white tulle.

Identically attired were the two candle-lighters, Carolyn Ann Bond of San Angelo, cousin of the bride, and Brenda Patton. Their dresses were of white polished cotton and their sashes were aqua. They wore wristlets of white carnations, and all the feminine attendants wore headbands of aqua satin ribbon.

The flower girl, dressed in the same fashion, was Vandra Kay Weese of Throckmorton, niece of the bridegroom.

At the reception which followed the wedding, the bride and bridegroom received guests assisted by their parents, Mrs. Swinney, Miss Bond and Miss Patton.

which entertained at the Kiwanis pancake supper, the bridal party attended the supper before the wedding rehearsal. Afterward, the group gathered in the home of the bridegroom's parents for refreshments.

Spring Is Bustin' Out In Clothes And Aches

By LUCILLE PICKLE

These warm springlike days are getting worse and worse on the women... first they have to resist that impulse to buy new clothes, and then the gardening fever hits them. It seems to have hit most of them squarely in the back which has caused much moaning and groaning lately as each one tries to get the yard ready for the warm season.

ROBERT ANGEL will return to Baylor University tomorrow after spending the weekend here with their parents. This is Baylor's semester break.

In College Station this weekend are MR. AND MRS. HUBERT STIPP, who are visiting their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stipp.

MR. AND MRS. J. P. GORDON are in Seagraves today to visit Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gordon. The visit will be a double pleasure to them as the women are sisters and the men are brothers.

Also in College Station for the Senior High Day at A&M are MR. AND MRS. LORIN McDOWELL, who took their son, Lorin III, a senior in Garden City High School, for a tour of the college.

Bethania Hospital, Wichita Falls, Room 331 is the address of MRS. JAMES TAAFFE who is hospitalized there following surgery.

Four enthusiastic delegates to the meeting of the United Council of Church Women have returned here. The meeting, which was held in Dallas, was attended by MRS. M. C. BOYD, MRS. W. A. LASWELL, MRS. G. C. GRAVES and MRS. W. G. WILSON, JR.

The annual Phillips meeting scheduled for Monday and Tuesday in Bartlesville, Okla., will have several Big Spring employees in attendance. They are CARL BENSON, CHALMER BOLES and ROBERT NATHAN. Mrs. Benson accompanied her husband to Bartlesville Saturday; Sunday, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gage of Emporia, Kan., will come over to spend the day.

MACK GODWIN, high school speech teacher, is to be commended for his work with the Drama Workshop. Not only did the "Harvey" cast do a good job with the weekend show but the sets were attractive and the scene-shifting went off without a noticeable hitch. The audiences were nice, too.

MR. AND MRS. L. D. HARRIS have as their guest his mother Mrs. T. T. Harris of Abilene. She plans to spend several weeks here.

Nursery Stock Is Now Sold In Cans

MR. AND MRS. R. W. THOMPSON and family plan to return here this evening after spending the weekend in Childress with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Haymes.

"Canned," or container-grown nursery stock, which has been tested in the Midwest and East for several years is now found at numerous nurseries throughout the country.

MRS. DEE DAVIS is in Baylor Hospital in Dallas where she is undergoing tests. Her room number is 428.

Advantages listed are: Extension of planting season. Plants grown in containers can more easily be transferred to home properties at any time of the year. Ease of handling. All the customer has to do is remove the plant from the container and plant it.

Take A Tip From Granny's Plants

The Rex and Wax begonias have been favorites in the home for over 100 years, though some of the smaller, bushier types of begonias are more apt to be seen today. However you look at it, the Begonia family produces excellent plants for both indoors and outdoors. They require plenty of light to bloom well and should be close to windows facing in a southerly direction.

The Star Begonia is a beauty, the name being derived from the starlike foliage. Long stems with delicate pink flowers bunched at the ends make a very decorative plant at blooming time. The newer B. diadema, of which there are many varieties, will prove satisfactory most anywhere there is sufficient light.

Begonias require a light, rich soil, and they should neither be allowed to dry out, nor be kept wet, since they grow best with moderate moisture in the soil. Practically everyone is familiar with the pink flowers and shiny green foliage. They grow best in the modern country home with plenty of light.

Chinese Tapestry

Elizabeth Daniel, left, and her twin sister, Mrs. K. A. Pitt admire Mrs. Pitt's Chinese tapestry, which is one of her favorite antiques. Mrs. Pitt has just recently moved to Big Spring from Knoxville, Tenn. Collecting antiques is her favorite hobby and the tapestry has a very interesting background. It is embroidered in the forbidden stitch which was literally forbidden. The Emperor of China forbade the women to continue this minute stitch because the workers were going blind. Mrs. Pitt is making her home at 203 Princeton.

Mrs. K. A. Pitt Has Collection Of Many Interesting, Valuable Antiques

Do you ever imagine what romantic stories antiquities could tell if only they could talk? Just looking at them makes the viewer wonder about the past years when the present antiques were then prized new possessions. One antique that holds personal memories for Mrs. K. A. Pitt, a newcomer to Big Spring, is a hand-made, Haneton worked lace and linen handkerchief made by her grandmother in 1907. "I can remember seeing my grandmother working on this handkerchief," Mrs. Pitt said. The very dainty and intricate design is proof of the many months work that went into the making of such an object. To make it even more attractive, Mrs. Pitt has had it placed (to help preserve it) in a handsome frame; at the base is a plate inscribed with her grandmother's name and the date. Mrs. Pitt said she began her hobby of collecting antiques about 15 years ago. "My husband and I had just moved into a house; I found some lovely old pieces of china, and just started my collection from there," she explained. From that collection has grown a very large and varied hobby. Mrs. Pitt can't help beaming when she shows visitors her prized collection of pewter and cranberry glass. Mrs. Pitt believes one of her rarest pieces is a pewter and cranberry glass casket set. "I've looked and asked in many places, but have never found another one," she said. Another very attractive item, which also has an intriguing history, is a Chinese hand-embroidered tapestry. The design, which goes from bottom to top, tells a story of the life of a Chinese couple. A most interesting story concerns the type of embroidery used which is the forbidden stitch. The stitch received its name because it was forbidden by the emperor of China. Chinese women who worked at this type of embroidery went blind because the minute details caused a terrible strain on the eyes.

To have such a piece of handwork in her possession is a very exciting thing for Mrs. Pitt. She said she paid under five dollars for the piece and has since been offered many times that amount.

Mrs. Pitt has come to Big Spring from Nashville, Tenn. She is making a home with her twin sister, Elizabeth Daniel. These twins share the same enthusiasm for the hobby of collecting antiques, and their home offers the visitor a very pleasurable afternoon.

Mrs. Pitt has three daughters, Mrs. John C. Esch, Chicago, Mrs. A. G. Sherrill, Carpentersville, Ill., and Mrs. I. A. Foster, Albuquerque, N. M. She has eight grandchildren.

Color Magic Can Improve Appearances

Houses, like women, come in many shapes and sizes. That's why color is so important to the appearance of both. Just as the colors a woman wears make her appear slimmer or broader, taller or shorter, the colors worn by a house can make it higher or lower, wider or narrower, smaller or larger. The magic of color not only changes shapes and sizes, but can work "personality changes" in women and houses. The right colors can make a woman look fresh and young, gay and exciting, or cool and crisp. Similarly, correct colors can change a grim, foreboding-looking house into a warm, inviting home. Small homes look larger when they are painted in light colors and roofed with asphalt shingles in one of the many light, pastel shades available. This "highlights" the roof, increasing the illusion of height and at the same time making the house more colorful. Tall, boxy houses can be made to appear lower and longer by painting the siding in muted tones and emphasizing horizontal lines with lighter, harmonizing colors on window boxes, horizontal trim on windows and doors. Several feet are "cut" from the height of the house with a roof of asphalt shingles in a rich, deep tone which tends to keep the gaze downward.

World Day Of Prayer The Council of Church Women has made plans for the World Day of Prayer, set for Friday at the Wesley Methodist Church. Time for the meeting is 3 p.m. The day of prayer for children has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the church.

Golf Group Has Spring Luncheon

Traces of spring were denoted in the ballroom of the Big Spring Country Club at the Friday noon luncheon of the Ladies Golf Association.

Foursome tables were laid with green linen cloths and held individual arrangements of daffodils and forsythia branches.

Copper appointments were accented by the green linen cloth on the buffet table. The center arrangement was of white and yellow gladioli and daffodils with two large green shamrocks the point of interest. Mrs. Truman Jones was awarded the arrangement.

Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin, chairman of the newly organized Hospital Auxiliary, reported on the work and explained the duties of the members. She asked any volunteers to contact her.

It was announced that Tuesday would be women's golf day at the club. By-laws of the constitution were read and approved.

Mrs. J. Zick was introduced as a new member. Guests included Mrs. Dewey Edwards, Snyder, Mrs. John Pinion, and Mrs. Bill Thornhill.

Hostesses were Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach, Mrs. Hank Gwyn, Mrs. Tom South, Mrs. Elmer Tarbox and Mrs. Charles Tompkins.

Mrs. Wadkins Wins At Three-Six Club

Mrs. J. R. Wadkins was high score winner at the bunco party given Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Harry Heise. Guests were members of the Three-Six Club.

Second high was awarded to Mrs. Cletus Piper; third to Mrs. Wallace Welmer, and consolation to Mrs. Vincent Best.

Two prizes, the floating and low, went to Mrs. Robert Bishop. The next meeting date was tentatively set for March 12, with Mrs. Welmer as hostess.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Eudis Gregg and Mrs. Thomas McGreevy.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Marilou Staggs will be presiding as ABC Relay Queen during the track event here March 15-16. Elected by popular ballot of HCJC students Wednesday, Marilou's court will consist of Laverne Cooper and Dorothy Baker, who were elected on the same ballot. The three girls will be on hand during the two days of the sport event to make awards to the winning entries.

Dorothy Baker was elected sophomore student council representative Wednesday.

A key figure in the Texas Junior College Convention in Dallas Friday was Mr. Bill Holbert, science instructor at HCJC. In discussing the place of the junior college in training future teachers, Mr. Holbert was co-chairman of the education-psychology panel.

The Camera Clique, HCJC's newest club, was organized Thursday with Jack Alderton as president. Max McCollough was selected vice president, and Mary Sue Hale, secretary-treasurer. Meeting time was set at noon each first and third Wednesday, in the Practical Arts Building.

If your interests are shadowed in the direction of photography, join the group and take advantage of the excellent photography studio in the PA Building. No fancy or complicated camera equipment need be yours. Many of the members will be taking prize shots with simple Brownies.

The public, as well as members of the HCJC student body, are invited to join members of the FTA

Club Monday night for a special program. Dr. Preston Harrison, who is associated with the State Hospital and who teaches a course in psychology of adjustment at HCJC, will be featured in a demonstrative type lecture on hypnosis, is one of the most sought-after speakers by various clubs on campus.

The FTA meeting is scheduled to get under way Monday night at 7:30 in the college Music Building.

Last Saturday Dean Ben Johnson returned from Portales, N. M., where he participated for several days in a personnel conference on the campus of Eastern New Mexico College.

Returning to conduct classes as usual on Monday, Fred E. Short, head of Speech and Drama department, has been recuperating this week at his home in Amarillo from a severe attack of ulcers.

Nineteen students successfully completed a Red Cross standard first aid course and were awarded three-year certificates this week. Under the instruction of Miss Arab Phillips, the students receiving certificates are Bobby Wardell, Esther Bueno, Frances Bueno, Lydia Corrales, Lovelle Fletcher, Jerry Forsyth, Johnny Fuglar, Larry Glore, Jerry Hodges, Isabel Holguin, Sharon Limer, Buddy Mayes, Yvonne Paterson, James Pickett, Julie Rainwater, Marilou Staggs, Johnny Watson and Stan Williams.

Joining with the public schools of Big Spring, HCJC is extending ing a special invitation to citizens of this area to visit the campus during Texas Public Schools Week, March 4-9. Faculty of HCJC is also joining with the public schools faculty in the dinner Thursday night in the BSEIS cafeteria. At this time, teachers will be hosts to those businessmen who invited them into their establishments for B-E Day last fall.

In contrast to the annual Senior Day that has been sponsored by HCJC to entertain seniors from this area, Career Day will be held on Campus March 22. Elaborate plans are currently being laid for the event, at which more than five hundred high school seniors are expected. Counsel and information covering twelve major career areas make up the guidance project.

The last zone basketball game in which HCJC played this season went off without slip up Tuesday.

Caught In A Rare Moment

Linda Hall seems to have made peace between two friendly feeders, Taffy, the cocker spaniel, and Baby, the cocker rooster. Great company for each other, the two can often be seen in a race or perhaps curled up together asleep. There's a bit of jealousy on each side if one receives more attention than the other, and sometimes this brings on a spurring for Taffy or a shove for Baby.

Cock Of The Walk At The Hall Home Takes The Name Seriously

By ANNE LEFEVER
A crazy mixed-up chick is Baby, alias Goodie, who is literally cock of the walk at the Ward Hall home, 1600 Runnels.
He really doesn't know whether he is a dog, a rooster or a person, but kinda thinks he's the latter. Baby will soon celebrate his first birthday anniversary, since he was a little bit of pink fluff when he was bought last Easter for the Halls' daughter, Linda. Now, he is a magnificent white with a bright red comb.
At first, anyone could pick him up, stroke and cuddle him—now, only Linda dares do that—but she is quite successful.
To see Baby cross the street at Runnels and 18th is a treat, since he walks with all the dignity at his command and seems to say, "Just a minute, folks, until I'm across the street!" So far, all cars have stopped for him.

One of the delights of Baby is to follow Linda to school—at least part of the way—and another is to chase other pupils as they go to school. Whatever he does, Baby constantly talks to himself, and the family can tell by the tone of his voice whether his temper is calm. (He's not above a few cuss words — rooster language, of course!)
Like the proverbial gossip, Baby makes daily visits to homes in the neighborhood, and when he goes to bed at night, he sleeps on a limb high in a tree. From here, he can survey the street and surrounding homes and yards. In the summer, when the leaves are thick, he chooses the one dead limb on the tree because there are no leaves to obstruct his view.

One cause of Baby's confusion as to what he is stems from Taffy, a cocker spaniel appropriately named for his color. The two are bedfellows in cold weather, sleeping huddled together in a warm, protected spot in the Halls' back yard.
When they are fed, it is usually Taffy who eats the corn, while Baby dines on dog food. Once in a while, when there is disagreement between them, Taffy chases Baby around the yard. Suddenly, when the rooster tires of being the victim, he'll turn on his pursuer, and the chase goes in the other direction.
One of the most surprised persons not long ago was Nora Trink, who works for the Hall family and rides to work each day on the bus. Imagine how she felt, when she got off the bus a block from the Halls' home, to be met by Taffy and Baby, who very sedately accompanied her to work!
Of all the people whom Baby has buffeted, Mrs. Hall is about the most outstanding victim. And she is the one that feeds him most of the time!
Linda and her dad can walk into the back yard and Baby takes no notice—other than just a little extra strutting and talking. But let Mrs. Hall try to get to the garbage can or work in the yard, and the rooster ruffles up, runs at her and tries all his antics to intimidate her. Succeeds, too! He even had the audacity to peck her on the heel one time when he was feeling especially wicked.
Inquiries about any birthday celebration for Baby brought forth the opinion from Mrs. Hall, "Ah, he should live so long!"

Shirley Averitt Says Vows With Mr. Hurst

Shirley June Averitt and Newton Leonard Hurst exchanged double ring wedding vows Saturday at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Delbert Simpson, 1705 Kentucky.
Mrs. Alma Averitt is the mother of the bride, and the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Rhoda Hurst.

The Rev. Cecil Rhodes, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church, officiated. Candelabra and baskets of white gladioli were used for decorations.
The bride wore a gown of blue crystalettes fashioned with a rounded neckline and bouffant walk-length skirt. Her accessories were white. For something old, she carried a lace and linen handkerchief, which was a gift to her from her grandfather, the late John L. Danford. Something new and blue was her dress and pearl earrings were borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Simpson. In her shoe she wore a penny with her birth date on it.

The bridal bouquet of gardenias and feathered carnations was carried on a white Bible, presented to her by the YWA of the West Side Baptist.
Mrs. Simpson attended as matron of honor. She wore a two piece beige dress with a white carnation corsage. Best man was Delbert Simpson.
The bride's table at the reception featured a white cutwork cloth and a centerpiece of white carnations. The tiered wedding cake was decorated in pink and topped with a miniature bridal couple.
Mrs. Bryan Averitt and Mrs. George Matthews served.
For a wedding trip, Mrs. Hurst wore a beige suit with brown accessories.
The couple will make a home at 219 Wright. Mrs. Hurst is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by the Ritz Theatre.

Mr. Hurst attended Big Spring High School and is employed at the VA Hospital.

MEET A REAL WEST TEXAN Porcupine, Native To County, Is Approaching Extinction

By GORDON CREEL
The "Yellow-Haired Porcupine," Erethizon epixanthum, is a native to Howard County.
It is a rather large and robust rodent weighing from 15 to 40 pounds. Its average length is 30 to 40 inches including the tail which is only six or seven inches long. As a source of food, this animal prefers non-woody plants growing near the ground. When a scarcity of this food forces him to do so, he will climb trees and peel off the bark for food or eat mistletoe and the foliage of the tree.

Mating takes place in the fall of the year, usually in September or October. After a gestation period of six to seven months the young are born, usually in April or May. Ordinarily there is only one young born, although occasionally two will appear.
CANT THROW QUILLS
Contrary to popular belief these animals cannot throw their dreaded quills, which are one to five inches long and have barbs on the end. On rare occasions a loose one may be slung out of the tail. These quills are the only means of defense our porcupine has, but good defense they are. Usually only one scrap is enough to convince another animal that it should leave the porcupine alone. Most animals show the greatest respect for this quill-bearing animal.

The porcupine is active all year round but does not have a definite home. It will bed down wherever it can find a good ready-made hole, either in the ground or in rocks.
Due to the very secretive habits of this animal, and because there are only a few in the county, very few people have seen this animal in the wild here in Howard County. On at least four occasions in the last few months this animal has been reported to me as having been killed here in the county. One, which I saw, was killed on the front lawn of a Coahoma residence.

RESERVOIR IN DUAL ROLE

The big surface storage reservoir of the Colorado River Municipal Water District just north of Big Spring has been serving a sort of dual role.
Besides giving Big Spring a 15,000,000-gallon cushion on supply, the big basin apparently has been doing well as a settling basin.
During the past week O. H. Ivie, production superintendent, has been directing operations to clean out silt which settled out in the basin. He and E. V. Spence, general manager, estimated that something like 200 cubic yards had settled out in approximately a year's time.

15 Car Inspection Stations In County

The State Department of Public Safety this week urged motorists to have their cars inspected now instead of waiting until the April 16 deadline.
All vehicles must be inspected by authorized mechanics by April 15 or the owners will be liable for court action.
Last year, most motorists waited until the final week before having their vehicles inspected, which caused a delay. But persons wishing to have their cars checked now will not have to wait.
The inspection is for all safety devices, including headlights, brakes, windshield wipers, and tail lights.
Many local mechanics are suggesting to motorists that they have the inspection made while a car is in their shops for other repairs, but garages here report very few drivers have had their inspection.

According to the Public Safety Department, there are 15 authorized inspection stations in Howard County. All are in Big Spring except one, Fowler's Texaco Service Station at Coahoma.
The Big Spring stations are Cosden No. 2, Driver Truck and Implement, Fred Eaker Motor Company, Eason Brothers Garage, Jones Motor, Truman Jones Motor, Lone Star Motor, McDonald Motor, McEwen Motor, S&S Wheel Alignment, Shroyer Motor, Tarbox-Gossett, Tidwell Chevrolet, and Marvin Wood Pontiac.

Teachers To Play Host For 'Education-Business Day'

Big Spring professional and business men who entertained teachers last fall will be given a look at school problems and instructional techniques next Thursday evening.
Teachers will be the hosts this time, in a program set for 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.
The business people showed members of the teaching profession some of their problems and the ways they conduct their operations during the Business-Education Day program of American Education Week last fall.

Texas Public School Week opens Monday, and teachers decided it is a good occasion to return the favor. So 110 business and professional men have been invited to attend the Thursday dinner.
A panel composed of S. M. Anderson, curriculum director for elementary schools; Tom Earnest, junior high principal; Roy Worley, high school principal; and Dr. Marvin Baker of Howard County Junior College will explain teaching programs and problems. Supt. Floyd W. Parsons of Big Spring schools will serve as moderator.
Mrs. H. H. Rutherford, West Ward principal, is in charge of arrangements for the program.

District Water Production Up As Year Begins

Despite a calmer and more moist January, water production was reported up slightly during the month by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.
Sales totalled 555,882,000 gallons as compared with 524,907,000 for January of 1956. During the same period the district produced 555,597,000 gallons as compared with 527,466,000.
SACROC repressuring unit took most water, or 240,006,000 gallons, followed by Odessa with 133,196,000 and Big Spring with 107,187,000. Others were Snyder, 56,475,000; Sharon Ridge Unit 46,831,000; and Texas Gulf Producing 2,987,000.
Preponderance of the water came from Lake Thomas, or 407,066,000. The district well field and city wells supplied the balance.
Revenues amounted to $110,577.14 of which $96,029.60 was from water sales. Recreation revenues, bulkmarked by annual lease renewals, aggregated $14,547.14. Of the total water revenues Odessa paid in $28,111.76, Big Spring $19,871.22, Snyder $9,358.50, SACROC $30,916.77, Sharon Ridge $5,523.78, Texas Gulf Producing $522.65, rural users $1,647.40.
Expenses for the month amounted to $30,595.65 of which $1,336.54 was for operating city systems, $2,562.96 for water royalties, $7,362.97 for maintenance, $13,185.08 for operational expense, $472.50 for lease rentals, $4,557.44 for administration and general expense, and $1,098.09 for recreational operations.

CRMWD Board Will Meet Here

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet here Wednesday morning for the first session of the year.
E. V. Spence, general manager, said that J. B. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Service Company, will be on hand and will discuss water matters.
The meeting will be held in the Howard House Colonial room starting at 10 a.m.

Earth Satellite May Be Visible In Big Spring; Observations Planned

By SAM BLACKBURN
Sometime during this year, scientists will launch a number of man-made satellites. These objects are relatively small — about the dimensions of a basketball. They are highly scientific devices, crammed to the utmost with electronic gadgets for detecting and reporting complex and important information to the earth about the thin upper atmosphere in which they will be travelling.

These satellites, science believes, will attain an altitude averaging 500 miles above the earth's surface. There will be times when they are as far as 800 miles up and other times when their altitude will be only half that figure.

The satellites are expected to attain necessary elevation and then to begin speedy circular journeys around and around the earth. How long they will continue to make these circular journeys is problematical. It is now believed they will travel their orbital paths for several months.

This Scene May Be Duplicated In Big Spring

Shown above is a picture of how volunteer groups will be arranged and equipped to search the heavens this fall or winter for passage overhead of the much publicized man-made satellites. Steps are under way for the organization of volunteer groups to be set in operation in Big Spring. The Smithsonian Institution, charged with obtaining visual data on the passage of the man-produced moons, says the pathway of the satellites will take them across the skies in this area.

team of observers must operate as a unit. Observation of the passage of one of the "moons" by a lone individual will provide little or no help to the scientists who are compiling vitally needed data on its behavior. A team of observers should consist of anywhere from 10 to twice that many members. The method of observation is carefully worked out and for accurate results to be provided, no deviation from the plan is possible.

An appeal will soon be sounded for volunteers to serve as observers in this program. Officially, the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., has been charged with the responsibility of keeping tab on the behavior of the man-made moons once they have been sent scurrying on their fantastic journeys.

The Smithsonian has sounded an appeal to the communities over which the estimated path of the satellites will pass to set up compact and businesslike organizations to conduct observations at the time and during the intervals when the satellites are on their journey. The activity has been entitled "Moonwatch."

TO SEEK VOLUNTEERS
Details on local organization of observation teams are now being studied. When these have been properly determined, a call will be sounded for serious-minded citizens to volunteer for observation duty. A great many preliminaries must be worked out far ahead of the as yet unannounced day the satellites are to be launched. Training sessions, at which the procedure adopted by Moonwatch to assure collection of the accurate and thorough information required, will have to be conducted for each observer group. Actually, the greater the number of truly interested observers the greater the service the groups will be able to render to the experiment and the lighter the duties to be imposed on each individual member.

Scientists believe that these tiny globes, once they are travelling their orbits, will be visible. It is expected, however, they will have to be watched with either binoculars or monoculars.

When the satellites are at the point where they are only 400 miles above the earth, they will have the astronomical magnitude rating of 7.

TO RESEMBLE STAR
This means they will be similar in appearance to one of the smaller stars vaguely seen nightly. The identifying difference, of course, between a man-made satellite and a seventh magnitude star will rest in the fact that the satellite will rapidly move across the heavens; the stars remain fixed in their positions.

When the satellite is at its most distant point — 800 miles — it will appear still smaller. Its astronomical rating would be as a 9th or 10th magnitude star. Such stars are not visible to the average eye unaided by optical equipment.

These satellites will move at such speed as to send them scurrying across the entire United States in 10 minutes.

Thus, it is possible, scientists say, an observer could see a satellite pass his point of observation two times in 100 minutes. This means that the tiny ball will have completely circled the earth — at an altitude of some average 500 miles above the surface — in an hour and a half.

Additional information relative to local participation in this exciting "Moonwatch" experiment will be published as rapidly as it is provided by the agencies directing the experiment.

Celebration Opens With Cannon Blast

AUSTIN, March 2 (AP)—Cannon blasts on the University of Texas campus today opened the traditional celebration of the state's Independence Day by the university and its alumni.

Still Some 'Blocks' Of Stamps Available

The Big Spring Post Office has not sold out of all of the "blocks" of commemorative stamps in honor of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the American Institute of Architects.

Orbin Daily, stamp clerk, at the Big Spring Post Office, says he has approximately 200 sheets of these commemorative stamps on hand. There is a "block" (four stamps in a group with a margin on which appears the "plate" number) on each sheet, hence, there are still 200 blocks in stock.

He said that the report the office had sold out probably stemmed from the unanticipated grand rush of customers who showed up wanting to buy blocks of the new stamps. Many new recruits to the ranks of the stamp collecting clan have bobbed up.

The regulars—the old hands who buy blocks of each commemorative issue—were on the job early and grabbed off sizable quantities of the available blocks. The newcomers asked for blocks and had to be told there were none available.

This did not mean there were no more blocks left in stock.

As explained there is only one block in each sheet of stamps. Postal regulations forbid the clerks stripping the reserve stock of blocks. These blocks can only be torn out as a sheet of stamps goes into the till for sale. There were no blocks available for the simple reason that enough sheets of the stamps had been put in the stamp drawer to serve demands for a while. When the supply has been decreased, new sheets will be drawn out of the reserve and additional blocks will become available.

Daily indicated that he would be happy to sell the blocks to all comers as rapidly as they are available.

It is even possible—although no such promise was made—that if a collector or would-be collector will advise Daily of his desire to buy,

IRS Again To Aid Taxpayers

With just five weeks remaining before deadline, agents in the office of the Internal Revenue Service here anticipate a marked increase in the number of taxpayers who will be seeking help in filling out 1957 income tax reports.

Each Monday from now on the office will allot members of its staff to the role advisers for income taxpayers. This is a part of the "self-help" project of the service. The agents will not fill out the reports for the taxpayer but will answer knotty questions and clarify confusion over just what is meant in the instruction booklet.

Ben Hawkins, officer in charge of the Internal Revenue Service here, said that more taxpayers were on hand last Monday than on the preceding Monday and he anticipates an even larger turnout this week and next.

Deadline for payment of federal income taxes is April 15.

the clerk might make a note of the matter and lay aside a block when one is available.

However, since veteran collectors frequently buy 25 or 50 blocks at a time, there is no estimate on just how soon the demands can all be filled.

Joan Crawford Singing In English Movie At Jet

Veteran actress Joan Crawford takes a new romantic lead in "Autumn Leaves," showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre.

She portrays a woman watching her youth disappear in loneliness, suddenly awakened to romance by a handsome young stranger. She has misgivings about their affair but marries him anyway, when she sees his need for her. But the romance moves from warmth and excitement to terror, suspicion and fear.

The film also poses a question in human relationships, and the dilemma is not resolved till the last few minutes of the story.

Cliff Robertson is starred as the young lover; Vera Miles as his ex-wife; Laraine Greene as Robertson's father, who prefers the company of his son's ex-wife; and Ruth Donnelly, famed character actress, as Miss Crawford's landlady.

Joan Crawford had to pare her screen trademark for a role in "Autumn Leaves." Her long, mandarin-type fingernails have always been a part of the actress' makeup, but she sheared them to fit the role of a working girl.

Miss A's program was sung entirely in Italian, French and Spanish, although she is an American, born and trained, in Italy, France or Spain, she would have been clearly understood (proportionately, of course). But it was quite plain that few of her auditors grasped the meaning of the words she sang. They enjoyed the music, but the songs and arias meant nothing to them except a succession of pleasant musical sounds, delightfully uttered.

Miss B sang most of her varied program in well-ennunciated English, and the response of her auditors was obvious and dynamic. She even had both the courage and the skill to sing some character songs, to which the audience response was greatest of all. Miss B, too, is American born and trained. She sang for Americans.

A song, or an aria, has two principal ingredients — the music and the words. If you omit the words, or fail to make them understood, you leave out half the reason for that song's existence. It is rather as if your dinner guest were to say: "I forgot to put flour in the cake, but I cooked the rest of it in this dish. Help yourself!"

Herschel Burke Gilbert, who has many notable scores to his credit, including the fine treatment of Bizet's music in "Carmen Jones," is leaving the musical field to become a film producer. He has six pictures scheduled, all of which will involve music in their plots.

Ethel Leginska, well-known former pianist, virtuoso and less well-known as a conductor and composer, directed the premiere of her opera, "The Rose and the Ring" . . . Virginia Mayo will introduce a new song in David Lupatkin's score for "The Big Land" . . . Leonard Roseman has started scoring "Lafayette Escadrille" . . . The 11-year-old blind pianist, Michael Yale, will give a series of April programs . . . Herbert Gray has composed a new "Choral Prelude" for orchestra . . . Jan Popper is back from an extended tour of Europe to resume his opera workshop at UCLA . . . Tenor Charles Schurbach is on concert tour with the Roger Wagner Choral and reports that their travels have taken them into 15-below-zero weather, but always with warm receptions in the concert halls.

Residents of California's Malibu Beach area were puzzled at the sight of a man cavorting at the ocean side.

Besides early morning sprints, the mysterious muscle man was given to leaping high into the air, then hurling himself onto the ground.

The mystery was cleared up when he was identified as Tom Ewell, star of "The Great American Pastime," a comedy about Little Leaguers. Ewell, it seems, was practicing catching flies and sliding into home base.

When Joan Crawford turns on the tears, they're for real, but no one knows how or why. Actresses playing roles calling for tears generally have to depend on onion juice being sprayed into their eyes from a hidden source at just the right moment. But Miss Crawford can turn the tears on and off several hours a day.

Singing In English Gets Good Results

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

During the last few weeks, I had the pleasure of hearing two excellent mezzo-sopranos. Both performed with exceptional artistry and displayed voices of beautiful timbre and appealing quality. From the basis of fine singing, there was little to choose between them.

But there was a remarkable difference in the audiences they attracted. Miss A brought out a large audience, but most of those present were gray-haired and elderly. They applauded politely, but at the intermission they started drifting away. Not over a third of the original attendants remained to the end, to request two encores.

By contrast, Miss B attracted a packed house that included a great many young folk. Applause was hearty and long, and nobody moved to leave the auditorium until after the second encore. The singer gave two (and could have given ten) more, wisely refraining from giving too much.

Miss A's program was sung entirely in Italian, French and Spanish, although she is an American, born and trained, in Italy, France or Spain, she would have been clearly understood (proportionately, of course). But it was quite plain that few of her auditors grasped the meaning of the words she sang. They enjoyed the music, but the songs and arias meant nothing to them except a succession of pleasant musical sounds, delightfully uttered.

Baseball Not U. S. Pastime

Actor Tom Ewell files in the face of tradition by declaring that baseball is not the great American pastime. He reached this conclusion after a survey of friends and co-workers on the set of "The Great American Pastime."

"I realize this is heresy," he said. "It's like denouncing Mom's blueberry pie."

His co-stars provided diversified viewpoints. Anne Francis thought the great American pastime was "keeping up with the Joneses." Anne Miller allowed as how it was "the opposite sex."

But Ewell decided the great American pastime depended upon geography.

"In Alaska, for example, it is fishing. In Florida the natives worship the sun. And on Western ranches the great pastime seems to be reminiscing on how Old Paint threw Slim in the corral and broke his leg. Slim's leg, that is, not Old Paint's."

But the most universal pastime, Ewell learned, was Sunday morning quarterbacking, "airing your views on politicians, coaches, Uncle Herbert or the woes of your friends and whatever-did-she-see-in-him-in-the-first-place. Very satisfying and a distinct improvement over the Colonial pastime of witch burning."

Duke Snider, Roy Campanella, Pee Wee Reese and Sandy Amoros of the Brooklyn Dodgers okayed use of their names in the script of "The Great American Pastime."

The household names are spoken in the picture by screen writer Nathaniel Benchley, (son of the famed humorist Robert Benchley), who also played a small role in the film.

The names of the Dodgers are used in a laugh sequence in which Little Leaguers are compared to the big shots.

Alan Ladd Once Was A Stagehand

The typical Hollywood star is not concerned with the work that goes on backstage or the problems of technicians. But crewmen working for producer-star Alan Ladd considered him one of the gang.

Before his acting days, Ladd was a "grip," moving scenery and getting a laborer's pay. Ladd's stagehands still regard him as one of their group because "he was a good grip. He knew his job and did it well. He didn't dog it, just because he had ambitions. If he had to he could get a grip job again."

Ladd's only comment about his rise to success-centers on the big convertible he drives onto the studio grounds each morning: "It's better to drive in than to punch in."
