Navy's New Missile

Israeli Withdrawal From Egypt Begins

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel began moving out of the Gaza Strip and the Aqaba Gulf area today. Premier David Ben-Gurion crushed parliamentary opposition to the pullout, winning overwhelming votes of confidence. He said there will be peace "if the United States and other powers will keep their promises to us."

Arab disturbances and an Israeli suspicion that the U.N. Emergency Force planned to restore Egyptian administrators in Gaza interrupted the flow of material from the strategic area for a few hours.

Active reports said the pullout resumed this afternoon.

The Israeli army announced an Arab civilian and an Israeli soldier were killed and two Israeli soldiers were wounded during an outbreak of sniping and attempted looting.

Ben-Gurion slashed at Egypt's President Nasser in his speech before Parliament preliminary to the votes that overwhelmed his foes — the Nationalist Herut, the Communists and the conservative General Zionists.

"If the United States and other powers will keep their word to us, there will be peace," Ben-Gurion said. "If they will not keep their promise and if they shrink before the Egyptian dictator's threats that he will not allow Israeli shipping in the Aqaba Gulf, there will be no peace."

Parliament batted down a series of antigovernment motions. A Herut nonconfidence motion lost 84-25. A Communist motion went down 114-6.

A third motion condemning "the government's withdrawal from the Gaza and Aqaba decision" was defeated 85-24.

Ben-Gurion had reiterated that Israel rejects the Egyptian-Israeli armistice of 1949 as the basis for the future status of the Gaza Strip. He held the armistice is null and void on the ground Egypt violated it by continued belligerency.

The Premier referred to a statement to the United Nations last Friday by U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge which was a factor in Israeli hesitation last weekend over whether to go through with the withdrawal.

Probe Pushed Into Acid Attack On Cox Witness

Tentative Budget For City Okayed

City commissioners Tuesday night gave tentative approval to the new fiscal budget which calls for about $34,000 in new equipment to be purchased during the year.

The group felt it could not give any salary raises at this time, but promised to try to do so during the year.

A special session was held by the commission to discuss the proposed budget which will take effect April 1. It must be approved at a public hearing before it can function, however. The public hearing will probably be held March 26, and to enable the city to prepare the document by then, the extra session was needed.

The commission made few changes in the budget proposed by city manager H. W. Whitney. Whitney prepared the document inserting only the necessary expenses, and then he submitted a list of equipment amounting to $34,010 which he felt that the city needed. This included a street sweeper ($11,500), street trash cans ($1,200), a small street roller ($2,500), a billiard table ($2,500), and accounting equipment ($4,500).

With estimated expenditures making only $15,151 in unappropriated funds available, the commission decided to enlarge the transfer from the water and sewer fund from $120,000 to $160,000. This additional $40,000 would make the equipment purchases possible.

Mayor G. W. Dabney urged a blanket raise for all employees, but the commission could not see the money was available. Dabney first proposed a five per cent raise and then mentioned three per cent.

Dr. Leo Rogers said, any felt that key men and department heads should be increased, but Ward Hall said he could see no place to draw the line without discrimination.

The matter of increasing longevity from $1 per month per year of service to $2 was mentioned as an incentive for persons to stay with the city but was not approved.

Whitney asked the commissioners to increase the salary of the city engineer, Clifton Bellamy. At the present, Bellamy receives $6,600. This, said Whitney, was out of line for city engineers and other engineers in the area. The commission, however, felt that it could not increase his salary, if no one else on the payroll were given a raise.

Hall said that the city did not have to purchase the requested equipment during the year if the money was not available. On the other hand, the commission could look at salary increases during the fiscal year when they saw a chance of surplus finances.

Whitney said that he would prepare a tentative copy of the budget for presentation at the regular meeting of the commission next Tuesday. At that time, any changes or corrections can be made so as to have the document in perfect order for the public hearing.

Court Martial

The Army announced it had ordered trial by court martial of Col. John Nickerson Jr., on charges that he failed to safeguard secret defense information. Nickerson, an expert on missiles, is stationed at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Victim Believes Sight Undamaged

CONROE (AP)—A back door sneak assailant last night threw searing acid in an eye of a prominent chiropractor who testified in a bribery charge probe involving former State Rep. James E. Cox.

Today the victim, Dr. Robert E. McMeans Jr., 32, said there was no indication of permanent damage to the eye, his left.

Cox said he thought the acid attack was connected with the investigation of the bribe charges against him.

Dr. McMeans said he knew of no direct connection. He was in his office today. Last night he showed reporters the injured eye, which was almost closed. Part of the skin around the eye was blue.

Officers were almost without direct clues. The bottle which had contained the acid was so badly shattered and covered with acid that officers ruled out fingerprints.

Police and Texas Rangers were questioning persons who might have been in the vicinity of Dr. McMeans' office back door, where the attack occurred, in hopes they might have seen the assailant.

Ex-Rep. Cox, charged with agreeing to accept a bribe from a San Antonio naturopathic physician in connection with a bill before the Legislature, today said, "Of course, we're very sorry it happened."

"Dr. McMeans is a very fine person," he added. "This has us disturbed. We're worried more about our families than ourselves."

Texas Ranger Johnnie Klevenhagen, assigned to the case, said, "If the acid had hit him in the face full force, he would not have had much face left. He got only the splatter."

McMeans said he was leaving his clinic when the buzzer on the back door sounded. He said when he opened the door, someone threw a jar of liquid at him.

"... It felt like fire hitting me," he said. "I ran into the flower shop next door. They have a sink with a faucet high in the air. I turned the faucet on full force. I believe that is what saved me from permanent injury."

Klevenhagen said florist Floyd Steward, 46, told him when McMeans ran in his shop, acid was still bubbling on his face.

McMeans, a Boy Scout leader and church deacon in this South-east Texas town, said he could see "some" through the damaged eye, "but it is very blurred."

"It may be the effects of the medication," however, he said.

In Austin, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the State Department of Public Safety, said a preliminary report from Klevenhagen said the acid apparently was thrown from a fruit jar which smashed against a wall and spilled part of its contents in Dr. McMeans' face.

Conroe Chief of Police Eddie Stephan said a pharmacist identified the liquid as muriatic acid, the commercial name for hydrochloric acid.

Cox, 36, resigned as a member of the Texas House of Representatives after being indicted on a charge of accepting to accept a $5,000 bribe to withdraw a bill he introduced that would outlaw the practice of naturopathic medicine in Texas. In testimony before the House Investigating Committee, Cox said he introduced the bill after discussing naturopaths with a chiropractor whom he identified as McMeans.

McMeans testified he had once discussed naturopaths with Cox.

The charge against Cox was originated by Dr. Howard Harmon of San Antonio, president of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn., a group who stress natural therapy in healing rather than the use of drugs or surgery.

Harmon said he recorded a conversation he had with Cox in which he alleged the legislator agreed to accept $5,000 to withdraw his bill and use his influence against it.

Mid-East Plan Ready To Sign

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders today decided to speed the Senate version of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution right on to the White House tomorrow.

Speaker Rayburn of Texas announced he had notice from the White House and State Department that the resolution is "satisfactory" despite Senate changes. The Senate passed the measure last night, 72-19.

Rayburn said Democratic and Republican leaders have agreed to seek the normal procedure of seeking a compromise with senators over the resolution aimed against Russian aggression in the Middle East. The House passed the bill Jan. 30 in the form requested by the administration. Eisenhower asked for the measure on an urgent basis two months ago. The legislators have already taken twice as long to act as Secretary of State Dulles originally hoped for.

Earlier, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) said he would ask the House tomorrow to accept the Senate version.

Should the House agree to McCormack's proposal, the measure would go immediately to the White House without need for a Senate-House conference to adjust differences.

McCormack told newsmen he believed the House would agree to his proposal since the Senate changes in the original House-passed measure were not of a major nature.

Simultaneously with McCormack's announcement, the White House described President Eisenhower as "very pleased" by the size of the 72-19 bipartisan vote by which the resolution went through the Senate last night.

There was a broad indication that the Senate's rewritten version of the Eisenhower plan is acceptable to the President.

Senate OKs Water Development Fund

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate today approved, 28-2, the 200 million dollar water development fund to provide financial aid for long range drought relief.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which has already passed the House, is the major legislation in the administration's water program.

The amendment authorizes issuance and sale of bonds by the state to provide financial assistance for the conservation and development of the state's water resources.

The Senate amended the House version, which means that it must return to the House for concurrence before it can be finally approved and submitted to the people for a vote.

Under the Senate version, the Texas Water Development Board would have authority to issue and sell state bonds totalling 100 million dollars. The Legislature could authorize the board to issue an additional 100 million dollars in bonds.

The House-passed resolution allowed the board to issue 200 million dollars in bonds without further legislative approval.

The measure (HJR) was introduced in the Senate by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas.

The House passed by a vote of 134-1 a Senate bill setting stiffer penalties for the sale of alcoholic beverages, narcotics, or other stimulants to inmates of the Texas Prison System.

The bill was backed by O. B. Ellis, general manager of the prison system. It provides a minimum five year sentence and a maximum of 10 years on conviction. The measure goes to the governor.

The House also passed a bill requiring military personnel to live in Texas a minimum of 12 months before filing divorce actions. The bill was approved, 119-20.

Union Official Denies Plot To Control Profits From Vice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack of investigators recalled Nathan Zuzman, today to testify in the probe of an alleged plot of Teamsters' Union officials to control Oregon's vice profits.

Zuzman heatedly denied allegations made yesterday by Mrs. Helen Hardy, a bawdy house madam, concerning prostitution and share of the profits.

Mrs. Hardy had testified that she had received assurances she could operate in Portland without fear of arrest from Dist. Atty. William Langley of Multnomah County.

Other witnesses have said Langley was linked with Teamsters' Union officials and underworld characters in seeking to control Portland vice profits.

"Are you an expert on prostitution?" Zuzman was asked this morning by committee counsel Robert Kennedy.

"I wouldn't be married 16 years to the same woman if I was," the Desert Room proprietor replied.

"Could you answer the question?" Kennedy asked.

"No, I'm not," Zuzman said.

Zuzman's voice pitched higher and higher as he denied other allegations that she could operate without fear of raids from Langley.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC) observed that, to quote Shakespeare, "He thinks thou protesteth too much."

Mrs. Hardy had testified she and Mrs. Helen Smalley ran a place of prostitution in Portland in July 1955.

"Did you ever talk about prostitution to Helen Hardy or to Helen Smalley?" Kennedy asked.

"About prostitution?" Zuzman asked.

"Yes, about prostitution," Kennedy pressed.

"No, I didn't," Zuzman said.

He again demanded that lie detector tests be given to both him and Mrs. Hardy.

The special committee is seeking for evidence of racketeering influences in the ranks of unions or management. Its hearings so far have centered on the teamsters' Union in the Pacific Northwest.

Outside the hearing room, Frank Brewster, president of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters, announced his client "is going to answer all questions" when he gets on the witness stand.

CRMWD Agrees To Waive Water Rights In Mitchell

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District this morning offered to waive district rights to Champion Creek waters in favor of the City of Colorado City and Texas Electric Service Company.

District rights will be waived, directors decided, in event Colorado City and TESCO request the State Board of Water Engineers for a permit to explore possibilities for construction of a dam on Champion Creek.

The CRMWD now holds the rights under a permit issued for study of the feasibility of constructing a new reservoir in south-east Mitchell County. TESCO and Colorado City have discussed the possibility of building a dam on the creek southeast of Colorado City, with water impounded to be pumped into the Morgan Creek lake to bolster supplies there.

The CRMWD board took under advisement a proposed contract with TESCO, under which the power company would take an option on Lake J. E. Thomas water for possible future power development. The option, if granted, would provide for annual payments from the company over a base period of 10 years.

Ramsour Found Guilty Of Murder

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—J. Loy Ramsour, 59, former Edinburg peace justice, was convicted on a charge of murder with malice last night. The jury sentenced him to 10 years in prison.

Ramsour, a prominent attorney here for more than 30 years, was convicted of the fatal shooting of his son-in-law, Walter Benson, 41, of nearby Pharr. The shooting occurred April 29, 1956.

The white-haired attorney stood impassively as Jury Foreman Bobby Gaston read the verdict, returned after seven hours and 20 minutes deliberation.

Defense Atty. J. C. Looney said it would be a few days before he decides whether an appeal will be made.

Break Seen In Grisly Murder

MAHWAH, N. J. (AP)—Bergen County Prosecutor Guy W. Calissi announced today police have a definite suspect in the rock slaying of 15-year-old Victoria Zielski.

Calissi said detectives expect to break the murder case "in a very short time." The suspect, he said, is one of the persons police have questioned. No identification was given.

A pair of khaki pants found today, became the latest in a series of possible clues to the slayer of the pretty high school girl.

Victoria was bludgeoned to death with rocks Monday night in a deserted gravel pit here, within a mile of her home in Ramsey.

Other clues include impressions of car tracks near the scene, a man's size nine shoe print and a few strands of hair found in the slain girl's gloves.

Nation Of Ghana Comes Into Being

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—The Negro nation of Ghana came into being today against a background of African pageantry and a call from its Prime Minister for total liberation of colonial Africa.

The red, gold and green flag of Ghana was run up in midnight ceremonies, replacing the British Union Jack and signifying formally the establishment of the first Negro nation in the British Commonwealth.

Mighty roars of "Freedom! Freedom!" rose from thousands of throats. Brilliant fireworks exploded against the sky and talking drums carried along the word of independence.

"We are no more slaves," Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah told a throng of 50,000 assembled at Accra's polo grounds. "Move about with your chest out."

The new nation — the size of Minnesota with nearly five million Africans — supplies half the world's cocoa and has rich resources of gold, diamonds, bauxite and timber.

The 43-year-old Prime Minister said independence for Ghana would mean nothing if it was not linked with total liberation of other colonial areas on the African continent.

U.S. Vice President Nixon and representatives of countries around the world attended the transfer ceremonies. The Duchess of Kent, Queen Elizabeth's aunt, and Lord Privy Seal Richard A. Butler represented Britain.

In Washington, President Eisenhower congratulated the government and people of Ghana and the State Department announced U.S. recognition of the new African state.

The new country takes in the self-governing colony of the Gold Coast and that part of Togoland formerly administered by Britain under U.N. trusteeship. The name Ghana was chosen by Nkrumah after a rich African kingdom that flourished in the area between the 8th and 10th centuries.

In a speech to the Legislative Assembly, Nkrumah said Ghana wanted to stay in the British Commonwealth because its members were "dedicated to seeking a solution of their problems by democratic and peaceful means."

"So long as that policy stands," he declared, "our association with the commonwealth is assured."

Nkrumah, a bachelor who was educated at schools in England and the United States, describes himself as a Marxist Socialist.

His foreign policy, he said, will be based on "dignity, peace and friendship."

"The government feels," he said, "that at this stage the country should not be committed in any aspect of its foreign policy and it should not be aligned with any particular group of powers or political bloc."

He said Ghana does not intend to follow a neutralist policy but intends to preserve its independence to act as it deems best at any given time.

It was the third marriage for the 33-year-old actress and the first for Robertson, who is 39.

Crop, Pasture Prospects Continue Upward In State

AUSTIN (AP)—Crop and pasture prospects for the 1957 season are still on the upgrade over practically all of Texas, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported yesterday.

In a weekly bulletin complete through Monday the USDA said weekend showers ranging from light sprinkles to downpours have further brightened the outlook.

The showers are expected to continue development of the crop for a while on the high plains, where a substantial acreage of fall sown wheat was just coming up, the USDA said.

Very good development was noted in the low rolling plains and eastward, with some fields already jointing, the report said. Most farmers in the low rolling and high plains rushed to plant barley and oats while moisture was still available. The USDA added that fall planted oats and barley showed good color and made rapid growth.

On the west side of the state ranges were greening but grass was still short and supplemental feeding was continuing.

Calls For Cuts Greet Report On Foreign Aid Spending Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional calls for foreign aid cuts greeted today a presidential commission's recommendation that the assistance program be continued at its current spending rate.

The seven-member commission headed by steel executive Benjamin F. Fairless proposed that the program be changed, however, to include more loans and fewer direct grants, to spur more private development, and to permit longer range planning of projects.

It expressed hope spending eventually can be cut, but added, "The United States must resolve to stay the course, and must abandon the false hope that collective security costs are temporary."

The report was made public at the White House yesterday. President Eisenhower, who named the citizens' advisory group five months ago to make the study, will consider the recommendations in drawing up his own foreign aid message to Congress.

Initial comment from Congress members praised some sections of the report and criticized others.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said he thought the commission "set its sights on the yearly level of aid too high," but expressed satisfaction at the "emphasis on loans, rather than grants."

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said he was disappointed the group "apparently feels that foreign aid, in sizable amounts, must be continued into the indefinite future," Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-WVa) agreed.

But Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said, "The report shows that when intelligent, practical men who are used to responsibility take time to study our foreign assistance programs, they realize the vital necessity of maintaining our collective security."

Mansfield and Bridges were joined by Senators Sparkman (D-Ala.), Carlson (R-Kan.), and Young (R-ND) in expressing hope the spending figures can be cut.

The commission's report proposed:

1. Separation of foreign aid appropriations requests to Congress, so that military projects are presented within the Defense Department's budget and economic projects within the State Department budget.

2. Integration of the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid, into the State Department "as soon as practicable."

3. Congressional appropriation of foreign aid funds on a two-year basis, spanning the life of a Congress, rather than once a year as at present.

4. Tighter coordination of aid projects within the administration to allow a cutback in personnel and more efficient operation.

With Private Bath

Actress May Wynn, bride of six months, is enthusiastic about the companionship of marriage. But she recommends a private bathroom as a solution to morning make-up problems. She is featured in NBC's "Noah's Ark."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Takes Plenty Of Time In Complexion Care

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — The last time I lunched with May Wynn she announced that she was giving up her own name, Donna Lee Hickey, which was well-known on the night club circuit, to assume that of the character she portrayed in "The Caine Mutiny."

The other day when I lunched with May in her dressing room on NBC's "Noah's Ark" set she had another name change. This time to Mrs. Jack Kelly.

"This is the first marriage for both of us," May announced, "and when you have been living alone for so long, it requires a lot of adjustment."

"Like what?" I asked. "In my book, having your own bathroom is essential to a happy marriage. I am accustomed to begin my day with a shower and afterwards to take care of my complexion and put on make-up. This takes a great deal of time and I couldn't do this with someone waiting to get in. But I have my best face on early in the morning so I can have no bad habits there."

May has lovely skin so I wanted to know how she cared for it. "You wouldn't have thought it was lovely a few years ago," she explained. "I have been in show business since I was a little girl. At four I made my debut in my Dad's vaudeville act. All these years of make-up caught up with me and I discovered little bumps under my skin and that the soap and water routine was too drying to my skin. I knew there must be something that would help my skin and I was determined to find it."

"I bought an awful lot of creams and things before I discovered something that brought results. This routine takes about fifteen minutes. First I cream my face and wipe this off with a Turkish towel, not a tissue.

"Then I use a fresher that smells like lemon and smooth on a cream that smells like camphor. This makes my skin tingle and then on top of this I put on a light dry-cream and over that a pack that smells like peppermint and has honey, almonds and kelp in it.

"This may sound complicated but when you think of the hours we spend on our hair it isn't too much time to spend in order to have a clear skin and one that doesn't feel dry."

"You are so wise," I agreed. Remembering that May had been a redhead when I'd last seen her I asked what she had done to her hair.

"It was just too much trouble keeping it dyed," she confessed. "And besides they never seemed to get it exactly the same shade twice. Fussing around with hair coloring can get you in a lot of trouble."

As May spread a roll with a generous amount of butter I remarked that it was rare to see someone so extravagant with calories. "I am five-five," May explained, "and I have trouble staying at 104. When most people have a problem they overeat but I react by losing my appetite. I've discovered that I can gain my weight back by taking hot chocolate just before I go to sleep."

"Before I was married I was very lonely, but then when I look back on those years I realize that I had built a wall around myself and expected others to come more than half way to be friendly. This extreme type of shyness is a form of egotism that springs from being too self-centered," May admitted.

"My heart goes out to all lonely people. I know what a heartache this can be but I also know it is unnecessary. It can be worked out if you focus your attention on things other than yourself," May said with finality.

Baptist WMU Circles Continue Week Of Prayer Observance

The Evan Holmes Circle of Temple Baptist was in charge of the second meeting in the Annie Armstrong Week of Prayer. Circles met at the church Tuesday morning for a program on "Indians of the Homeland."

Mrs. James Holmes was in charge of the meeting, which was opened with a prayer offered by Mrs. A. W. Page.

Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Alvin Boren were first and second readers of the responsive Scripture selections. Mrs. Holmes discussed the topic, "What Is The Indian Like?"

"The Indians' search for God" was discussed by Mrs. W. L. Sandridge. Mrs. Raymond LaFon told of Teresita, Indian artist, and Sam Tommie, Indian hunter.

"An Old Apartment House," the description of life in an Indian pueblo; and "We Can Help" were topics of talks made by Mrs. Page. Mrs. Holmes read a version of the Lord's Prayer as the Indians repeat it.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. Tom Buckner. All members are urged to attend the service Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., when tentative plans call for slides to be shown. These will deal with the life of the Indians.

COLLEGE BAPTIST WMU Opening the Tuesday session of the Annie Armstrong Week of Prayer at the College Baptist Church was the group singing of "Sweet Hour of Prayer," led by Mrs. O. L. Stewart.

Mrs. Bob Swift and Mrs. H. W. Bartlett were in charge of the devotion period followed with prayer by Mrs. W. L. Mead.

The introduction to the study, "Indians in the Homeland," was presented by Mrs. Jimmy Howard. Others taking part on the program were Mrs. J. C. Gross, Mrs. Robert Izard, Mrs. James Choate, Mrs. Gene Cariker, Mrs. Leonard Coker, Mrs. Jimmy Howard and Mrs. Swift.

Special prayers were offered by Mrs. Bruce Wright Jr., Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Zack Gray, and Mrs. Ben Caldwell.

It was announced that the WMU would be in charge of the Wednesday evening services at the church. Other meetings planned are Thursday and Friday at 9:30 a.m. at the church.

The World Day of Prayer planned for Friday was announced. Sixteen members were present.

AIRPORT BAPTIST WMU Tuesday was observed as the Annie Armstrong Week of Prayer for Home Missions at the Airport Baptist WMU meeting.

The general theme of the meeting was "Our Mission in Home Missions." Mrs. W. A. James was in charge.

First speaker was Mrs. Dewey Brown who discussed "Nations at Our Doorstep." Assisting her was Mrs. James Findley.

"Indians in the Homeland" was Mrs. Bob Kimzey's subject with Mrs. E. J. Hodo, Mrs. W. H. Patterson, Mr. Lloyd Stout, Mrs. R. I. Findley, Mrs. Elijah Henderson and Mrs. James assisting.

Mrs. Henderson discussed for the group "Brotherhood Through Love." Taking parts were Mrs. Hodo, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Stout and Mrs. Brown.

The conclusion of the Week of Prayer program will be presented this evening at 7:30 at the church. "Annie Armstrong — Daughter of Destiny" will be the title of the program. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. James Findley will be assisted by the Sunbeams and Junior and Intermediate GAs.

Mrs. Gressett Named As Leader For Study Club

FORSAN — Mrs. Walter Gressett will be leader for the program of the Forsan Study Club, when the group meets Thursday at 4 p.m. at the school. A film will be shown.

Mrs. T. R. Camp was hostess for the Pioneer Sewing Club Tuesday afternoon, with ten members present.

Mrs. Darden Honored At Bridal Party

A bridal shower in Westbrook recently honored Mrs. Joe Darden, the former Bobbie Parrish. The couple was married Feb. 16 in the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien.

Parents of Mrs. Darden are Mr. and Mrs. Charley Parrish; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Darden, Coahoma. The couple is making a home in Coahoma.

At the shower in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church, the former table was laid with a lace cloth and featured a centerpiece of a miniature bridal doll standing on a reflector.

Guests were registered by Mrs. A. G. Anderson, and Mrs. D. R. Anderson served.

Other hostesses were Mrs. A. C. Moody, Mrs. D. L. Matlock, Mrs. Oren Moore, Mrs. E. C. Whitehead, Mrs. C. J. Miller, Mrs. Leroy Miller and Mrs. W. N. Bacon.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Jack Darden, Mrs. Bruce Lindsey, Mrs. E. L. Echols, Mrs. H. R. Johnston and Mrs. Curtis Thomas, all of Coahoma. Mrs. Hoyle Nix, Mrs. Tommy New, Mrs. Seaburn McComas, and Mrs. G. A. Darden, all of Big Spring.

Mrs. Obie Bristow will be one of the speakers at the third area conference of garden clubs to be held Monday in Midland.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs. All garden club members are invited; there is no fee.

Iris is the topic to be discussed by Mrs. Bristow at the afternoon session, which will be held in the Midland Woman's Club. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Monday with the general assembly at 9:45.

Mrs. Butler Hurley will be in charge of a group studying The New President's Problems and Planning; a group discussing Programs and Yearbooks will be led by Mrs. L. C. Link and Mrs. E. W. Cowden, both of Midland.

Scrapbooks and Publicity will be discussed by Mrs. J. L. Ikard and Tess Martin, both of Midland. All group meetings will be held from 10 to 11 a.m.

From 11 to 12:30, Andy Truden of the Soil Conservation Service, Odessa, will speak on Soil Conservation. Luncheon will follow his discussion; reservations for lunch may be made at the time of registration.

Opening the afternoon meetings will be a talk on chrysanthemums, accompanied by slides. This will be given by E. W. Zukauskas of Texas Tech. Mrs. John Castner of Midland will bring information on Flower Show Practice.

Mrs. O. R. Littell of Odessa will discuss roses, and Mrs. S. M. Sibley of Midland will give pointers on growing house plants.

John A. Kee Lodge To Have Benefit Dinner

A benefit dinner and entertainment will be given by the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge during the latter part of this month. This was decided at the meeting held at Carpenters Hall Tuesday evening.

Proceeds from the dinner will go into the building fund of the lodge.

Mrs. Morgan Martin, noble grand presided for the meeting, during which Mrs. W. H. Smith was introduced as a new member. She joined by reinstatement.

Mrs. J. R. Record, a member of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge, was present as a guest. Numerous visits to the sick were reported.

The group presented a check to the IOOF Lodge to be applied to the building fund.

From the sale of a figurine, made by Mrs. J. C. Pye and awarded to Mrs. Charlie Boland, the lodge made $10.75. Thirty-four attended the meeting.

World Day Of Prayer Set Friday

The theme for this year's observance of World Day of Prayer is "Who Shall Separate Us . . ." based on the quotation from Romans 8:35. Women of Big Spring will join with those in 20,000 communities Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the observance of the event at Wesley Memorial Church.

The order of service, was written by Serena Vassady, a refugee from Hungary. It will be followed in the global prayer chain, scheduled to begin at day break in the Fiji and Tonga Islands just west of the International Date Line.

Twenty-four hours later, it will end with sunset on the St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea, midway between Alaska and Samoa.

Local services are under the direction of the Council of Church Women, with the public urged to attend the meeting.

Saturday morning from 9 to 10, a meeting for children will be held at the church in observance of the prayer chain.

Paul's Letters Study For Methodist Circles

An all-day study of Paul's Letters was presented Tuesday for three circles of the First Methodist WSCS.

The purpose and feeling of Paul's life was presented by Mrs. Herbert Keaton. She discussed the need to study his letters for instruction and inspiration for today's living. She also told of Paul's idea of the church as a body of Christ and the mission of the church.

"I Am A Church" was the devotion topic discussed by Mrs. Royce Satterwhite.

A dialogue discussion by Mrs. Clyde Johnston was given as a church member of Colosseae. Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh acted as a church member of Ephesus.

A modern version of a letter from Paul to churches today was presented by Mrs. Arnold Marshall.

Opening the afternoon session was the call to worship by Mrs. Ralph Gossett. "Spirit of the Lord"

God," was a solo by Mrs. Norman Furlong accompanied by Mrs. Telford Durham.

Dr. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms, and the Rev. Richard Deats led the afternoon panel discussion with their topic being the Church and Its Future.

Group discussion was centered around "Our Church Needs."

MAUDIE MORRIS and MARY ZINN CIRCLES Hostess for the Maudie Morris and Mary Zinn circles Tuesday was Mrs. W. A. Miller assisted by Mrs. E. R. Kessie.

"The Early Church" was Mrs. T. G. Adams' topic with Mrs. Jake Bishop discussing "Paul's Conception of the Church."

Mrs. W. L. Vaughn led the presentation of the mission of the church as taught by Paul's letter to Colossians and Ephesians.

Twenty attended the meeting. Mrs. Clyde Thomas Sr. was announced as the next hostess. Mrs. M. S. Wade will be cohostess.

"A chain, we know, is no stronger than its weakest link. A road is likewise no safer than its worst driver."

Thus sums up to Julius Glickman the problem of reckless driving on streets and highways. Julius was first place winner in the senior high division. Other excerpts from his essay which won him a top trophy from the Citizens Traffic Commission, are:

"Careless driving cannot be eliminated overnight. Americans, through perseverance, must continually emphasize safety on the road, not only one week in the year, but every day in every week. We must remember that accidents are not acts of God, but of man."

WAYNE DITTLUFF, second place senior high—"You would not consider operating a stationary machine in a factory until it was proven mechanically safe. Isn't it equally important that your car be well conditioned? Accidents seldom happen when we expect trouble. They happen when we are unprepared. Consideration for others demands good sportsmanship. Cold Front Hits Texas

A cold front swept into the Texas Panhandle Wednesday, plunging temperatures to freezing levels and touching off snow flurries mixed with light rain.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the front would push southward across West Texas Wednesday and would envelop most of the state by Thursday. Freezing temperatures were predicted Wednesday night for most of the state. Up to four inches of snow was forecast in the Oklahoma Panhandle Wednesday.

Light rain fell early Wednesday at Abilene, Lubbock and Childress. Fog was reported at Amarillo. Light snow, fog and drizzle covered Dalhart where the temperature dropped to 32 degrees. Visibility was down to a half mile.

The Weather Bureau said the cold air mass would reach the South Plains by early afternoon and move on to Abilene later Wednesday.

Scattered rain showers were forecast for most areas of the state. Skies over the state were cloudy to partly cloudy south of the front.

The high predawn temperature was 50 degrees at Corpus Christi. A low pressure system Tuesday pushed cold air across the state. Thundershowers were reported in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Light rain fell along the Red River Valley in North Texas.

Excise Tax Cost Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—That federal excise or sales tax you pay on such things as cigarettes, phonograph records, luggage and whisky brought the government $5,325,393,000 during the last six months of 1956.

The Internal Revenue Service gave the figure today in a report covering the first half of the 1957 fiscal year which began last July 1. It said excise collections for the similar period in 1956 were $5,075,016,000.

Collections on automobiles and motorcycles declined from $690,193,000 in 1955 to $465,497,000 last year. This was more than offset by an increase in alcohol and tobacco collections and almost all categories of manufacturers', retailers', and miscellaneous excise tax.

Newsmen Ousted For Interview Try With Cuban Rebel

HAVANA (AP)—Two U.S. newsmen arrested twice in four days after they tried to interview rebel leader Fidel Castro Luz planned to leave for Florida today. They said they had been ordered out of Cuba.

Reporter George Prentice, 32, and photographer Tony Faletta, 35, were released last night after the U. S. Embassy intervened. The men were on leave from the Birmingham (Ala.) News and were doing free-lance reporting for the National Broadcasting Co. They recently had sent articles to the Birmingham paper predicting an uprising in Cuba. Cuban authorities have insisted there is no revolt and said Castro's rebel group is being hunted down in the Sierra Maestra Mountains of southeast Cuba.

Cuban officials have been considerably irked by a recent series of New York Times articles reporting an interview with Castro by correspondent Herbert L. Matthews. Prentice said they were first arrested by government troops Friday night in the Sierra Maestras,

"about two days march from where we hoped to make contact with Castro." He said a Cuban military plane took them to Santiago and they were told to take a plane to Havana. On arrival in the Cuban capital Sunday night they were arrested again, held for two days and "not allowed to call the embassy or contact friends." The reporter said their notes and films were confiscated but their cameras were returned. He said the police and military intelligence officers accused them of (1) releasing information detrimental to the government of President Fulgencio Batista, (2) of having Communist tendencies, and (3) of bringing money into Cuba to support the anti-Batista movement.

Suicide Attempt Fails As Convict Is Led To Chair

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A condemned convict on his way to the chair cut both wrists with a razor blade and attacked one of five guards before he was electrocuted at the Georgia State Prison today.

Jennings E. Fields, 32, cut himself severely on both arms with a blade he said he took from a refuse bucket. He inflicted the injuries while he was talking and praying with a priest shortly after being led from his cell.

A doctor sewed up both wounds. Warden R. P. Balkcom said five guards were needed to place Fields in the electric chair. He hit one of the guards in the mouth and a physician had to take stitches in the guard's lacerated lip. Fields finally was placed in the chair at 10:28 a.m., and was pronounced dead a few minutes later.

Big Clue: New cars—all cars—need the Oil-Plating protection of... CONOCO all-season Super Motor Oil

Conoco all-season Super ensures full-time protection against both friction and corrosion. Oil-Plating® "plates" a tough film of lubricant onto the entire engine. It never drains down . . . even overnight! Result? Faster, friction-free starts, as much as 80% less engine wear.

Automatic Warm-Up!

Even a good premium oil stays "thick" for the first 5-8 minutes, causing engine "drag", carbon formation, and extra fuel consumption.

But—with Conoco all-season Super, warm-up's automatic the second you start. You save up to 3¢ a gallon, get Oil-Plating protection 24 hours a day!

New cars deserve . . . all cars need . . . Conoco all-season Super! Ask your friendly Conoco Dealer for the oil in the can with the Gold Band! Quiz Answers: (a) The Continental Mark II (b) Packard Clipper Sedan (c) Chrysler New Yorker 2-Door Hardtop (d) Oldsmobile "98" 2-Door Hardtop.

Makes a powerful difference in your car's performance

... regardless of make or year!

Discussion On 'The Tempest' Led By Mrs. Carson

Mrs. Arch Carson led the Big Spring Great Books through a good-humored but vigorous debate in the Tuesday discussion of "The Tempest." Is the play a comedy or a tragedy, or does such classification have any importance? How many of the meanings extracted from the play were put there by the author intentionally, how many unintentionally and how many have been injected into it by imaginative commentators? Was Shakespeare trying to be so profound, subtle and cryptic that his audience could not work out his meaning without prolonged study, or was he simply putting on a good show, which was subtle and profound because its author was a great dramatist and a great poet?

Jayhawks Will Take Part In Regional

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, idle since completing West Zone play against Odessa last week, have accepted an invitation to take part in the annual Region V basketball tournament in Amarillo next week.

The Hawks, who boast a 20-7 won-lost record, were the eighth and last team to be invited to the meet. The Regional champion qualified for the National Junior College tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas, later this month.

Other teams which will compete for the trip to Hutchinson include Clarendon, Frank Phillips of Borger and Amarillo College, all of the West Zone; San Angelo, Weatherford, Schreiner and Navarro.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The biggest surprise in the Rice Institute football camp, according to Coach Jess Neely, was Big Spring's own Jerry Graves.

No one who saw the great center play out here had a doubt but that Graves would be a standout college player some day but, in Neely's words, "we knew he was a good football player but we hadn't expected quite this much so soon."

The 205-pound sophomore-to-be, son of Mrs. Tom Phillips of Big Spring, was the talk of the spring drills at Rice, which terminated recently.

His feats probably would have been more widely heralded in that part of Texas, according to scribe Bob Rule of the Houston Press, had not the gridgers had to share headlines with golfers in the $36,000 Houston Open, which took place in February.

Graves was a member of last fall's freshman team at Rice that gave the varsity a fit every time the two elevens tussled in scrimmages.

Rule describes him as "one of the ringleaders of Coach Charley Moore's gaily freshman team that surprised the conference by winning most of its games despite the smallest squad in the SWC."

"Right now," Rule continued, "he is the No. 1 center — the most pleasant surprise of the spring drills — and if Big Don Gillis, who returns in September after a year of ineffectuality, wants that No. 1 center job, he's going to have to take it away from Graves."

Jerry's attitude always stood him in good stead. He went to Rice convinced that he couldn't stand on his press clippings. He had been an all-state performer, true, but he realized it was a big jump between high school and college ball.

He reported in good shape and stays that way. I'm convinced Gillis nor anyone else is going to beat him out.

The Owls are going to surprise a lot of folks on the greensward next season, mainly because the sopho-to-be has developed so fast. In addition to Graves, Larry Duetit, Billy Bucek and Gordon Spear are 1956 freshmen who are candidates for starting positions on the 1957 varsity team.

Duetit, who hails from Corpus Christi, will likely share the quarterback position with Frank Ryan. Spear and Bucek are in contention with each other for the No. 2 left halfback spot and either could beat out Bobby Williams for the regular position.

Gene Miller, a 210-pound Vernon boy who played against Graves and Big Spring three years ago, is being heavily counted upon to fill in at end for Rice.

Miller was a sophomore at the Houston school last season but he was held out of action in all ten games, so he'll have three seasons of eligibility remaining. Right now, he's the No. 1 right end at Rice. He's been particularly impressive on defense.

Cliff McGraw and Claud White, a couple of last year's reserves, also demanded a lot of attention in the spring work at Rice. McGraw has ousted Charles Thompson as a first string guard. White has moved out both J. D. Smith and Don Phillips and is teaming with Larry Whitmore as the first string tackle.

Phil Dunn, a converted tackle, finished as the No. 2 center, right behind Graves.

Baylor is an early favorite to win the Southwest Conference championship next fall.

Down at Texas A&M, Coach Bear Bryant warns, "Don't count us out." The Texas Longhorns, under Darrell Royal, are billed to improve. Abe Martin warns there's trouble brewing at TCU. Bill Meek has the SMU Mustangs perking. Arkansas, our spies insist, will field the real "sleeper" in the race.

All of which would indicate that the wildest Southwest Conference race in history will develop. The team that beats Rice could well win the title, and none of them may be able to make that claim.

Southwestern basketball fans who are expecting the area teams to be represented on this year's All-America teams are going to be disappointed with the Associated Press' selections, which appear tomorrow. The SWC teams still haven't convinced observers in other sections they can play championship ball.

Knott Decided In Bi-District

STERLING CITY (SC) — The Mertzon Green Hornets advanced to the second round of the girls' Regional basketball playoffs by defeating the Knott Hill Billies, 72-63, here Tuesday night.

Mertzon is champion of District 20-B. Knott ruled as titlist in 19-B. The Hornets are now undefeated in 25 games.

Bill Bolin's team led early in the game, 8-4, but ran into a cold streak and was never able to recover. By the end of the first period, the Billies were behind 12 points.

The Howard County team had cut that to nine points at the half but Mertzon spurred again in the third to salt away the decision.

Two of Knott's guards—Shirley Paige and Alice Day—fouled out in the third. Charlene Hunt, another guard and a part-time regular for Knott, didn't make the trip.

Ann Williams played outstanding defense for Knott while Jean Sample, with 34 points, and Ann Rogers, with 21, paced the Billie attack.

Knott outshot the Hornets from the field, 23-22, but committed 29 fouls to only 15 for Mertzon.

The Billies thus ended the season with a record 22 wins against ten defeats.

The individual scoring: KNOTT (63)—Jean Sample 13-8-34; Ann Rogers 6-9-21; Sue Paige 4-0-8. Totals 23-17-45. MERTZON (72)—Wullinger 3-15-21; Wainwright 15-3-31; Brooks 4-5-13. Totals 22-20-72. Score by quarters: Knott 11 20 27 63; Mertzon 22 20 31 72.

BS Girls Win Over Angelo

Anna Smith's Big Spring Steerettes easily thrashed San Angelo, 56-11, in a district girls' volleyball game played here Tuesday night. The win was the second within conference play in as many as starts for Big Spring. The locals need only to defeat Abilene here Thursday night to nail down first place in District 2-AAAA. San Angelo has now lost to both Abilene and Big Spring within district.

Peggy Isacs and Elaine Russell were standout servers for the local club in the varsity game. Peggy had 18 points, Elaine 14. Lanette Schroeder and Yolanda Bastrodon each counted three times for San Angelo.

In the reserve game, the teams played toward 15 points and Big Spring won on each occasion, 15-1 and 15-2.

Case's Oratory Fascinates All Who Listen

By JACK HAND
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Casey Stengel Oratorical Society meets nightly in the second floor press room of the hotel where his New York Yankees stay during spring training.

The society is strictly Stengelsean, prodded by questions he seldom bothers to answer. The monologues are punctuated with gestures.

Now he is Casey Stengel the outfielder, gliding across the carpet to catch a fly ball. Next he will be Jerry Coleman making the casual flip for a double play. Later he will imitate Lou Skeez of Kansas City at bat. Never missing a word.

Old Case nonchalantly switches subject and names. Usually his characters are "that fella" or "my man", switching from one to the other so quickly that his listeners never are sure who he's talking about.

Stengel was talking about the recent deal with Kansas City that prompted criticism from other clubs in the American League and talk of the A's being a farm club.

"Tell me, who did I ever get from Kansas City that helped me?" he asked. "Except for Slaughter (Enos) and I gave him to them first and then had to give up Cery (Bob) to get him back. Outside of these two pitchers (Art Dittmar and Bobby Shantz) who haven't played for me yet, what did I get from them."

"Let me ask you something. Do you swap your house to your best buddy just because he has four kids and you have only two?"

Casey let it hang there with the implication that baseball was no charitable institution and he wasn't making any buddy-buddy deals. For no good reason the subject shifted to the old days when Case was a lefthanded second baseman.

"The only guy I could beat out on our high school team was the second baseman. So I played it lefthanded. Supporting I should take some lefthander like Shantz and put him on shortstop. Everybody would throw their hands in the air and say 'oh my, the old man is going out of his head.' But how do you know he couldn't do it. Just because it isn't done, doesn't make it impossible. I know one thing he can play that infield pretty good around the pitching mound."

Before anybody could catch his breath Old Case was swinging into the old days of the "croquet ball" and night ball. If you missed the end, come back tomorrow. It will be more of the same.

Two Tie Games Occur In Loop

Webb Intramural bowling league featured two tie games last week when the pace-setting Wing Squadron team outlasted the Training Group 2-1 1/2, and the 3561st FLM beat 3560 FLM, 3 1/2-2.

The second and third place teams gained a half point on the leader when Field Maintenance stopped Weather 3-1, and the Hospital beat the NCO Club 3-1. In other games Wing Officers topped Air Base Group 3-1, and M & S Group won over AACS 3-1.

Lt. Becker, hospital, rolled a new high series by spilling the maples for a 191-224-629 series, and Pardee of Weather shot a 253 with handicap to tie for high individual game for the season. Other highs for the night were bowled by Shipman 219-573, Varano 224-566, Nicholson 527, Ambrose 523, Best 522, and Payne 522.

Cosden Blanks Pinkie's Club

In a battle of Big Spring teams, Cosden all but knocked Pinkie's of contention for first place in Midland Women's Bowling league play Tuesday night by racking up four perfects.

The sweep enabled the local team to solidify its hold on second place in the standings and gain a point on first place West Texas Reproduktion, which now leads Cosden by four.

Dot Hood and Sugar Brown played major roles in Cosden's win. Dot came up 182-482 while Brown responded with 173-485.

Cosden posted games of 696-766 for a 2240 aggregate. Pinkie's countered with 687-753-762-2208.

Mary Ruth Robertson again led Pinkie's, with 167-168-474. Frances Glenn posted the second best aggregate, 451.

Next week, Cosden bowls Pearl Beer while Pinkie's tries Lone Star Beer.

In other matches last night, West Texas Brick and Tile was tied by Pearl Beer, 2-2; Honolulu Oil blanked Fashion Beauty, 4-0; West Texas Reproduktion nudged I. W. Hynds, 3-1; while Basin Electric and Midland National Bank tied, 2-2; as did Ray's Rendezvous and Lone Star.

The schedule extends through 10 more weeks.

Avoca Ace Leads All-State Team

A team averaging 6 feet 2.4 inches and led by the mighty Milton Martin of Avoca is the All-State Class B basketball aggregation of Texas.

Martin, who did such fabulous things as scoring 62 points in a single game and who averaged 30.1, got 30 of a possible 5 points and landed at a forward post on the All-State team picked by the Texas Sports Writers Assn.

Big Sandy Indian Team Bids For State Crown

DOLLARDVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Big Sandy's basketball team, a group of Indian boys from the Alabama-Coushatta reservation, is going to Austin to try for the state Class B schoolboy championship.

It's nothing new, because Big Sandy won it in 1952 and was in the finals on five other occasions. But this effort isn't ordinary—it's more inspiring than any of the others.

There are two reasons why Big Sandy would like to win that championship: Coach Ford King and his late wife, Mrs. Gladys Parish King.

Big Sandy made a dramatic drive to get into the state tournament. It has the worst record of any team in the little school's history. It had to bounce back from early season defeats that would have been more than most any team could have overcome.

But in the regional finals Saturday night the boys of Big Sandy came from behind in a great stretch drive to beat Bedias 62-58 in an overtime. That set the stage for a mighty fight for victory in the state tournament in the memory of "Mrs. Gladys" and to give Ford King a going-away present.

King has decided to retire from coaching after this season—his eighteenth at Big Sandy. During his career here his teams have won 900 games and lost only 140. The team has pledged that it will win this one for the coach.

Then there was Mrs. King. She died of cancer after a six weeks battle. During the time King and his son, Ford Jr., who plays on the team, were at her bedside. The team had to shift for itself.

The shock and the absence of the coach and one of the top scorers caused the team to lose game after game.

But finally, the coach and his son returned and the team pulled itself together for its great drive to the regional championship.

"My wife was a rabid basketball fan," says Ford. "She used to go on all the trips with me. She followed the team and loved every one of the boys. Her death was a great shock to me and also to Ford Jr. and my daughter. They were so devoted to their mother."

The daughter, Sherry, 11, is present to witness the victory over Bedias. And Ford Jr. was the key to Big Sandy's rally that overcame the Bedias lead. He pumped in four consecutive shots from the outside, the last one tying the score.

King said the record of this year's team could not be what it is were there not tremendous desire and spirit—by Ford Jr., Oscar Williams, Eddie Celestine, Edwin Battise, Freeman Kropick and the others.

GIL MAY QUIT

Burdette And Coan Balk At Offers

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press
When Lew Burdette of the Milwaukee Braves and Gil Coan of the Detroit Tigers set a price on their services, man, they mean it.

Burdette, a 19-game winner for the Braves last season, has packed up his family, left camp at Bradenton, Fla., and today was vacationing with friends waiting for the club to make the next move.

Coan was even more emphatic. He has decided to ask Commissioner Ford Frick to place him on the voluntary retired list after failing to reach an agreement with the Tigers after being drafted from Minneapolis of the American Assn.

The Boston Red Sox, too, are having their troubles bringing outfielder Jim Piersall into the fold. But his case isn't quite so serious. He has reported to the Sox camp in Sarasota, Fla., and is in top shape.

Burdette and Coan both appeared bitter over their treatment. "They can't starve me out," snapped Burdette, the last of the Braves' holdouts. "I don't have to worry about living expenses. . . I'm doing all right selling lots here."

"I had a good season last year and that's the time to strike — when the iron is hot. I'm not going to budge from the figure I want."

Said General Manager Bob Quinn cryptically: "We have exchanged ideas."

Coan, a 32-year-old outfielder who toiled for the Washington Senators for several years, said he was holding up his letter to Frick until he hears from Johnny McHale, Tiger personnel director.

"If they pay what I asked," he bristled, "I'll play. If they don't, I'm through."

Piersall reportedly is seeking a $7,500 raise for his 293 batting average of last season.

The Chicago White Sox had good news from their holdout front. Ellis Kinder, 42, of the pitching corps agreed to a contract by phone and is heading for camp at Tampa, Fla.

Podres Shows To Advantage In Workouts

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Roy Campanella banged his bat in the dust and watched his pop fly float down behind shortstop. He walked out of the batting cage, shaking his head as he announced:

"Man, he's got good motion! Doggone if it don't look like he's throwin' harder than he is."

The pitcher who set off Campy's high-pitched pitch about his change-up was Johnny Podres, the roundish six-foot southpaw hero of Brooklyn's 1955 world championship. He's back after a year with the Navy.

Podres finished his turn on the mound during batting practice, stretched into his jacket and started the long stroll back to the dressing room. "It's hot. I really worked up a sweat," he said, brushing his forehead with his arm. Then he began answering questions.

It was a slow curve that had Campy jumping. "Maybe you could call that a new pitch for me," said the 24-year-old blond.

"I'm working on a change-up off my curve. The rest is the same as before — fast ball, change-up off the fast one and a curve. Maybe my curve is better now than it was."

How does it feel, coming back? "I feel fine. My back (a cause of much concern when he went into the Navy, due to an injury at Montreal in 1952) feels good. I don't wear a brace. They're too bulky. I may have a bit of trouble with my control, but I've never been bothered by it before."

"I don't know whether my fast ball has stuff. I haven't lost yet. But I feel good. I've worked every other day in batting practice. My weight is pretty good too. I'm 187, I weighed 184 in the '55 series."

Federal Aid Asked In Higher Education

CHICAGO (AP) — The Association for Higher Education, representing some 16,000 college and university presidents and faculty members, took up today a resolution proposing that the federal government take part in a program of scholarships for able and needy college students. Little opposition was expected at the association's national conference, but another proposal affecting American parents' pocketbooks was considered likely to produce some hot floor debate. The controversial resolution called on the association to reaffirm its stand of previous years in favor of a federal income tax credit for payment of tuition and educational fees to tax-exempt accredited colleges. The credit, to be subtracted from the final tax, would be limited to 30 per cent of the tax or a maximum of $450. Opponents of the credit plan

28 Farmers Add Acreage To Soil Bank

A short announcement in the newspaper Monday to the effect that the expansion phase of the Federal Soil Bank program had been authorized led to 28 farmers reporting to the ASC office Tuesday to sign up additional acreage on their farms. Letters from the ASC to the landowners who had signed for the first phase of the program had not had time to reach the persons addressed and the office said the first 28 who reported acted in response to the published announcement.

Extent of the expansion permitted to a landowner is governed largely by the stipulation he made in his first application. If he agreed he would add all possible acreage on his place in the event the expansion was authorized, that will be the basis on which his new application will be made. If he pledged to add only 50 per cent of the unpledged land to the program that will be the governing factor. Quite a number of farmers who signed the basic 30 per cent of their eligible acreage under the first phase of the program indicated they had no desire to add to the area. There will be no interval in this sign-up period, which ends on March 14, for a participant to change his mind and withdraw from the program. When he signs the contract during this period he is expected to go through with his part of the bargain.

Defendant Is Found Guilty

It took a 118th District Court jury just 30 minutes Tuesday afternoon to find Harold Morris, charged with theft by bailee, guilty as charged and assess his punishment at 10 years in state penitentiary.

The case was the only one tried before a jury in the district court at Tuesday's session. It was begun Tuesday morning and the state rested its case at 11 a.m. The arguments ended and the case was given to the jury by Judge Charlie Sullivan at 3:00 p.m. Half an hour later the jury notified the court it was ready to report. The case grew out of the theft of an automobile. Morris was indicted by the recent grand jury. Carroll Smith, his attorney, said that Morris would take advantage of a 10-day period allowed before formal sentence to decide on his next step in the matter. He was remanded to the sheriff's custody by the court.

Special Services Vital Part Of Public Schools' Program

As he progresses through Big Spring schools, Freddy Fielder will discover a lot more than books, buildings and teachers.

Even as a first grader he will come in contact with part of these special services. The number will increase as he ascends to the high school level.

For instance, Freddy this year has been screened by one of the two public school nurses assigned to elementary schools. They have given tests for hearing and vision and some precursory tests for obvious dental defects. Their object has been not to treat but to call attention of parents to any defects and urge that the child be taken to the family physician. This same service might touch him in other ways, for health nurses talk regularly with teachers about health problems and school them in basic first aid. They call at Freddy's school to project films bearing on good health habits. There will be another health nurse when he reaches junior and senior high schools.

In some schools (though not in Freddy's) special services include cafeteria operation. This is true at the senior high and junior high and at the Park Hill schools, all of them served out of the central

CAB Grounds Stanton Flier

Raymond Lee Straub, 23-year-old student pilot of Stanton, was grounded for six months by a decision of F. K. Cogswell, CAB examiner, here on Tuesday afternoon.

Straub had been ruled in violation of CAA flying rules on two counts—flying at low altitude over a highway and operating an airplane not properly registered in his name.

Cogswell advised the Stanton flier that he can appeal from the ruling but it was said that Straub announced he would not do so.

He has a student's flying license which is made inoperative for six months by the ruling of the examiner.

The airplane, which is owned by Straub and two other men, has since been properly registered, it was related.

Straub was cited to appear before the CAB after Gerald Bell, Big Spring truck driver, reported to the CAA officials that he had been driven off the Andrews Highway on Nov. 18 by a low-flying airplane. He recorded the number on the plane and reported it to the officials. It was identified as the one in which Straub had been flying off the Hamilton airport here.

John Griffin, CAA officer at Midland, who was a witness in the hearing conducted in the county commissioners' courtroom at the courthouse, told the examiner that he investigated the case and that he found the plane was not properly registered. He relates that Straub told him first that he did not own it but that later in the conversation, he admitted that he and two other Stanton men had bought it.

Bell related that he was proceeding toward Big Spring with a truck load of oil when an airplane swooped across the highway immediately in front of his truck at an altitude he described as being just "a few feet higher than the fence posts." He said he applied his brakes and headed for the ditch.

Straub acted as his own attorney at the hearing. William E. McMahon, with the CAA regional attorney's office in Fort Worth, represented the complainant and the CAA in the hearing.

kitchen at senior high. In time this service may be extended.

Freddy has been tested and will undergo other tests as part of the guidance program. His teachers and administrators will come to know, before the year is out, how he and every other child in the system stands in relation to each other, and to state and national averages. From this administrators hope to spot and correct weaknesses. Efforts also will be made to give exceptional pupils a measure of exceptional instruction.

Later, in junior and senior high, guidance and counseling will be more than testing and spotting for vocational aptitudes. It will be on a personal basis and will help him make social and emotional adjustments, if needs be. It may unobtrusively help him and others participate in and thus share school honors over a broader base.

If Freddy were to be absent from his first grade classroom for a prolonged length of time, checks would be made by the teacher and principal. If they could not ascertain the cause, the visiting teacher would be called in. The visiting teacher frequently is able to help families solve problems which have been keeping children from school.

Being a youngster who lives in town, Freddy does not normally ride the bus. But something like 200 in the outlying sections of the district do daily ride the district's four buses.

Not only will the special services of the district enrich Freddy's school experience during the regular school term, but it may touch him during summer months. Big Spring schools participate in the Citywide Summer Recreational program as part of their community services.

Even after graduation, Freddy may feel the touch of special services of his school for he may want to participate in one of the many meetings which goes on practically every week day of the year at some school plants. He may even use school facilities for special adult education programs.

All of these are but some of the things which today's plus program of education offers to the children and the community.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to s-t-r-e-t-c-h s-t-i-m-u-l-a-t-e it to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only COLONAD, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAD's great moisturiz-ing capacity, plus COLONAD's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAD is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAD neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAD exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAD, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

A Bible Thought For Today

For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come. Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 8:38-39)

Take Time To See What You Buy?

This is Public School Week in Texas, and the keynote of the observance—which is now in its seventh year—is to visit for yourself what goes on in school and what are the needs of the schools.

An airline executive once observed that the trouble with the air passenger business was that there were too many amateur weather prophets.

Well, much the same observation might be made about the business of criticizing schools. Too many amateur experts are content to level suggestions in the direction of schools without ever having darkened a door of any of the schools. They are too free with their advice without having really considered what are the problems and limitations and at the same time what actually has been accomplished.

We know of no better place to start in gaining a fuller understanding of the objectives, the capabilities, the execution of our educational program than to go into the schools themselves.

You will be specially welcomed this week (or any week for that matter). You may ask all the questions you like. Administrators will be happy to have you call at their offices and will furnish you with any facts and figures that they may have or may obtain for you.

And this hold good not only in the elementary classrooms, but in junior high, senior high and in Howard County Junior College. You are supporting these with your money; take time to see what you are buying?

The Famous Dred Scott Decision

One hundred years ago—March 6, 1857—the U. S. Supreme Court handed down its momentous Dred Scott decision which had much to do with touching off the War Between the States.

Dred Scott was a Negro slave who had been taken from Missouri to Illinois by his master where he was on soil made free by the Missouri Compromise of 1820. Later he was returned by his master to Missouri where he sued for his release and freedom on the ground that his residence for a time in Illinois had emancipated him.

The Missouri Compromise act had prohibited slavery in the northern part of the Louisiana Purchase.

The only issue at stake when Dred Scott's suit reached the Supreme Court was whether Scott could bring his suit in a federal court. The court answered "No" to that question, but went on for the first time in almost half a century to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional—that is, the Missouri Compromise act. The effect, of course, was to open the northern part of the Louisiana Purchase to slavery. This touched off a controversy which paved the way for the great fratricidal strife that raged from 1861-65.

Gist of the high court's decision was that Dred Scott, as a slave under Missouri law, was not a "citizen" and therefore not entitled to rights afforded citizens by the U. S. Constitution. This contention was overturned in 1868 by adoption of the 14th Amendment holding that "all persons or naturalized citizens in the United States . . . are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside."

Echoes of all these issues—the Missouri Compromise, the overthrow of the court's Dred Scott decision by the 14th Amendment, and the applicability of the amendment itself to modern race relations, have been revived and elaborated by the high court's desegregation ruling, and by legislation in Congress to insure the ballot to Negroes in some Southern states.

These and many other issues are embodied in civil rights legislation now pending in Congress, reviving in particular an issue as old as the Republic itself—the rights of the states and the impingement of the federal authority thereon.

At stake in particular is that provision of the Constitution which gives the state authority to fix qualifications for its voters.

David Lawrence

Strange Trick Affecting Civil Rights

WASHINGTON—Maybe there is no need for "civil rights" legislation after all. Congress will certainly be interested to discover how the Department of Justice just a few days ago in a move that has gone unmentioned, simply substituted the words "The United States" for the names of a local school board as a party to a law suit in federal court. By that device the 18 defendants arrested for allegedly hindering the federal injunction at Clinton, Tenn., can be deprived of a trial by jury and put in jail as unfairly as if they were living in some totalitarian country.

While the laws of the land under the Constitution of the United States do permit federal judges to punish for contempt certain offenses committed in a courtroom, or even outside, when the principals to a controversy refuse to obey a court order, a jury trial can usually be obtained on request. But it is something novel when a lawsuit has been started by private parties to find the Department of Justice petitioning the federal court to amend the original petition and substitute the words "United States" for those of the complainant. This automatically bars a jury trial.

If the federal judge in Knoxville, Tenn., approves this request and it is sustained on appeal by the courts it will not be necessary for the Congress to legislate on "civil rights." All that will be needed is for the Department of Justice to write out the orders and the courts will uphold them.

This is a flagrant abuse of power—much worse than any cited in the recent hearings before the House Judiciary Committee by the critics of the proposed "civil rights" legislation.

It is ironical that the American Civil Liberties Union—which on February 26th made a commendable statement criticizing the federal court injunction issued at Clinton, Tenn., as being too broad—didn't know that on February 25th the same federal judge was being asked by the Department of Justice to deprive citizens of a chance for jury trial. The Civil Liberties Union statement had rightly criticized the injunction as too broad and had said that "to the extent that it enjoins speech in opposition to or advocating ignoring of the order, or peaceful picketing for these purposes, it is invalid."

In that same statement, moreover, the right to jury trial was vigorously upheld by the ACLU even for those defendants who had been charged with actually "hindering" or "obstructing" the operations of a court order. The ACLU said:

"Under the federal law a person in contempt of a federal court order enjoining acts which are also in violation of the federal or state law is entitled, if he requests it, to a trial by jury. This protection of individual rights was originally written into the law to guard against possible biased judicial decisions in labor injunction cases and now covers all contempt issues. . . ."

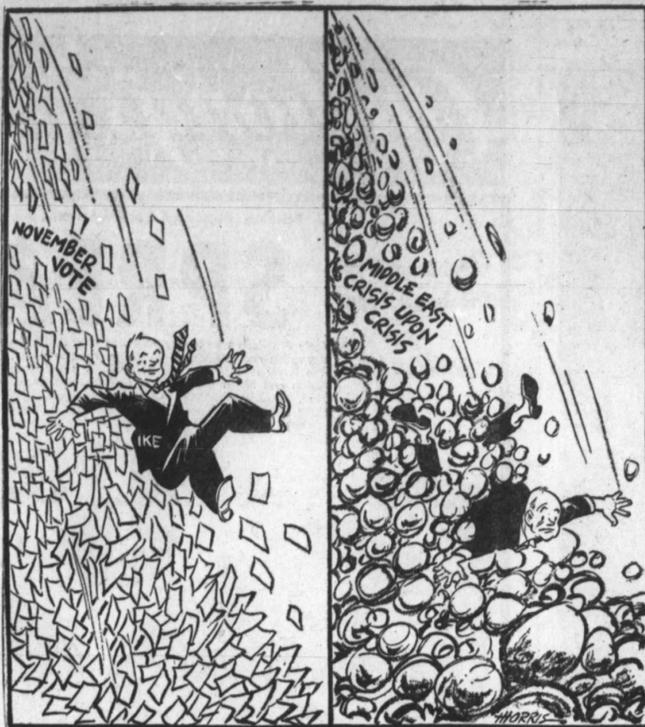

"Similarly, as the acts charged against the 16 persons now facing trial allege violations of federal and state laws, these defendants can ask for a jury trial. Therefore no civil liberties issue is raised unless the jury trial is denied, which is unlikely in view of the clear instruction of the law."

But what the ACLU didn't know when it issued that statement and what most people throughout the United States didn't know because it wasn't reported in the press generally, was that the Department of Justice had resorted to a stratagem by seeking to make the "United States" a party to the suit, which—according to a law of Congress governing contempt cases—eliminates trial by jury.

Some critics not long ago pointed to the case of John L. Lewis as a precedent because he was fined once for contempt by a judge and was not given a jury trial. But those same critics failed to notice that the United States itself was a party to the suit. This was because the government, acting in accordance with a wartime statute, had seized the coal mines and hence any action taken by a union or its leaders to defy a court order was a defiance of the United States government itself.

There is no such parallel here. The school board officials at Clinton were wholeheartedly complying with the desegregation order of the federal court when they found certain persons in the town were "organizing a movement" to discourage attendance at an integrated school. Hence these school officials asked the court to enjoin anyone attempting to "interfere" with the school board's operations. But a local school board is not a part of the government of the United States and it is difficult to imagine any federal court judge consenting to the substitution of "The United States" for a local school board.

Even, however, if this strange petition does not win the approval of the court, the amazing thing is that anyone in the Department of Justice would try such a trick of circumvention in the very week when prominent lawyers from various states were warning Congress that to pass the "civil rights" legislation now being proposed would lead to grave abuses of power. Lots Of Ideas On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's raining ideas on what to do about foreign aid. When the rain's over, you can be sure Congress will go right on voting money for foreign aid.

Congress had voted more than 50 billion dollars in economic and military assistance to other countries since the Marshall Plan began in 1948. But this year, as in years past, the two main points are still these:

1. How much money will Congress approve?
2. Will it still vote it on a year-by-year basis only? Or will it this time change and agree to long-term commitments to permit long-range planning—like water development—among nations getting American money?

There has been growing hostility in Congress to continuing foreign aid at all. This shows it: Only seven senators voted against start of the Marshall Plan nine years ago; last year 30 senators voted against foreign aid.

And last year Congress cut a billion dollars off President Eisenhower's foreign aid request. He got $3,800,000,000. This year he has asked for $4,363,000,000. That will probably be trimmed too.

Already some members of Congress—particularly Eisenhower's own Republicans—are talking of lopping up to seven billion dollars off his total budget request for $71,800,000,000.

Because of the criticism of the foreign aid program—the opposition to it and the questions raised about it—at least 23 separate studies of foreign aid problems have been made in this capital since last summer.

All should be finished and made public by the end of March. Not one study so far released has suggested ending foreign aid. Some suggested it be put on a long-range basis.

Those 23 studies fall into three main groups:

1. The House Foreign Affairs Committee, after months of examination, issued last December a report which said foreign aid should be continued, but cut, and that the economic part of it should be in loans, not gifts, even though some of the loans are never paid back.

The idea was that countries which had to pay back the money, or thought they would be expected to, would be more careful how they spent it.

2. Last summer the Senate voted $293,000 for a special committee to make a study. It hired 11 research organizations to study separate problems of foreign aid and sent 10 prominent Americans to various areas receiving American help.

One of the Senate committee's study groups—the Center for International Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology—said development-assistance programs, if they are to have good results, should cover at least 5 to 10 years.

New Antibiotic From Yeast Is Promising Find

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW HAVEN, March 6 (AP)—A new antibiotic from yeast is showing amazing power against all kinds of germs and fungi, and even holds promise of knocking out some allergies.

So widespread is its action that it's been named malucidin—meaning in Latin "destroyer of evil."

Human studies with it are just beginning. It will take time to learn its ultimate value in treating human afflictions.

But in animals, malucidin has knocked out many kinds of germ and fungus infections. A tiny dose has kept mice resistant or immune to certain infections for one to four months.

In animals too it shows promise of overcoming or suppressing allergic reactions. It might become a treatment for controlling hay fever and other allergies.

Malucidin was discovered by Dr. Ivan A. Parfentjev, research associate in microbiology, Yale University Medical School. Many of the animal tests have been carried out by Dr. Leon F. Whitney, veterinarian and clinical instructor in pathology, and Dr. Rosty Arch, bacteriologist.

The antibiotic is obtained from brewer's yeast after it has been fermented.

Dr. Parfentjev found it while seeking an antiallergic drug. There are no known allergies caused by yeast, he explained in an interview. And for 2,000 years, since the time of Hippocrates, yeast has been thought to contain some anti-infectious agent.

Numerous yeast extracts have been tried as drugs in the past, but with equivocal results. Dr. Parfentjev recently isolated a yeast protein which may be the answer.

It kills or stops the growth of all kinds of bacteria and fungi, he said.

Around The Rim

Ability Improved, Right Away

Katy Davidson didn't need any proclamation to set up a Public School Week, such as we are now observing.

She was a great believer in the doctrine that every week was school week, and that if patrons did not come to visit, then the scriptural admonition of going into the highways and hedges and compelling them to come in was applicable.

Miss Davidson, a woman blessed with more than an average amount of strength, ruled with a rather stern hand. She maintained a private board of education in the classroom, and when she conjured a meeting of the board with the seat of learning, the recipient was literally lifted to great heights.

I had seen her drawn to the point of exasperation by Bill Brown, and I must say that the awesome result of that experience was that Master Brown resembled the man on the flying trapeze. Thereafter, I lived in fear and trembling of an encounter with this physically potent pedagogue.

Now strangely, this did not improve my mathematical proclivities, as Miss K. undoubtedly had assumed. It might have, but I fell into such notable companions as Mrs. Griffith, Pete Jenkins, et al, that I was as prone—as were they—to devote more attention to sly visitation and un-scheduled meditation behind the geography book than was prudent.

Well, there came a time of reckoning when Miss Davidson tallied our scores. She was more polished in the mathematical art of making sums than were we, and what she tabulated didn't add up to what had been prescribed as a passing grade. Accordingly she announced in a voice as firm as God pronouncing judgment that I was to remain after class. She had something, she indicated, which she wished to do for or to me.

I don't know what reaction she got out of Pete, Mev and the others, but she spoiled my day. I considered the old dodge of a book in my breeches and tossed it out on account of I considered Miss Kay capable of discerning its presence. Moreover, I figured that the power of her blow would be so sizzling that it would likely ignite the volume and only add burns to my misery. I considered getting sick, but I concluded she would be ready and waiting the moment and day that I returned. I thought about starting out for China, but my shoes needed new half-soles as it was.

And so, with great trepidation and trembling, I waited in agony while the last of my classmates fled out of the room. I didn't look at her, but rather where she kept the board. I heard her speak but scarcely what she said about my not measuring up to expectations, capabilities, etc. and then came the fateful moment.

"Stand up and come here," she said. My knees were rubbery. Sweat came to my brow and tension to my bottom.

"Here," she snapped, "take this home with you."

It was a note addressed to my mother. I could have begged that she beat me instead, but on second thought, I took that note home. And Mama came and talked with Katy Davidson, and made me come along, and thereafter I somehow seemed to get along decidedly better in my arithmetic.

Hungarians Find A New Home In Idaho

Even as the crow flies, it's a far piece from Budapest to the Boise Valley. They are worlds apart in language, landscape, atmosphere, customs and political practices.

But four young Hungarians, refugees, with the help of the people in Boise Valley, are happily bridging the gap despite the fact the quartet is a trifle disappointed in the lack of authentic Indians. However, there are still cowboys in the valley, and that is some recompense.

"Since you have recently been in Austria and are familiar with the plight of the Hungarians, especially those crossing into Austria," writes a friend from home (Idaho), "I think you might like to know about a young Hungarian living with my brother and his family."

"He is one of four young Hungarian men who came to the valley through the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee."

"About two weeks ago my sister-in-law called and invited us out to their farm to meet the newest member of the family. The new member turned out to be Karl, who was employed in the Budapest railroad station at the time of the revolution."

"When the Russians started herding young Hungarian prisoners into the railroad station to be loaded on cattle cars for shipment, presumably to Siberia, Karl helped other rebels free hundreds of such prisoners. It may have been an impulsive act, but it was also mighty brave."

"Eventually, he had to flee to safety and Austria. Now he is going to help my brother and learn to farm. He is rapidly learning to speak English. His spare moment he pines over his pamphlet of Hungarian-English phrases. He loves to have us read to him so he can repeat key phrases.

"And the next time you come home, everyone in the valley will be able to make real Hungarian goulash and chicken paprika. Karl and the other three young men are teaching us. They're good cooks. As a matter of fact, they're all popular. With the aid of an interpreter, they have spoken at a number of church and civic gatherings."

"The thing that impresses me most about all of them is their thoughtfulness and their excellent manners. No woman can open a door when Karl is around. He never smokes without asking permission! To Karl, everything pleasant is 'beautiful.' My sister-in-law says she ought to correct him, but it's so nice to hear that everything is 'beautiful' that she's going to wait a while."

"Karl will do anything to be helpful. When he came to visit us one afternoon, he pitched right in with a potato-sorting job. My husband says he learned immediately how to operate the small machine. Karl has never driven a car and he has fallen madly in love with any American automobile, just so it goes."

"It is good for us in the valley to have these four young men here to remind us of our endless blessings. We have so much of everything, including liberty, that we begin to take everything for granted."

"Now I have written enough. But I thought you would like to know how Hungarian refugees are adapting out here in the sagebrush. The answer is 'fine.' Or the shoe could be on the other foot. Leastwise, we're having goulash for supper tonight."

Vigilantes Of Stockholder Meetings

Lewis D. Gilbert and his brother, John J., are men with an infinite capacity for doing what other people won't do. And they do it year after year. Therein lies their claim to newspaper space.

Lewis and John are their own personal gift to American shareholders. They constitute a Two-Man Vigilante Committee, watching over, correcting, infuriating, and praising the chairmen, presidents, and other officers of leading corporations by attending annual stockholders' meetings.

They are again making their self-appointed rounds in the 1957 meeting season. John, who is married and the father of a seven-year-old daughter, will vigilante 34 meetings; Lewis, who is a bachelor, will attend 93. And John Campbell Henry, a fellow-New Yorker and kindred spirit in q-and-a-g corporation presidents, will mind stockholders' p's and q's at ten meetings.

The Gilberts have again published an annual report, "Stockholder Activities at Corporation Meetings During 1956." It's not found in book stores. The price is $1.25 and it's obtainable direct from the Gilberts, 1125 Park Avenue, New York. It's an authoritative document because the Gilberts are the country's outstanding authorities on stockholder meetings. They attend so many of them. And they're free with their praise and blame.

Gilbertian observations: "Motion picture company meetings easily won the dubious honor of being among the most disorderly."

"Once again the honors for conducting an annual meeting go to President Cleo F. Craig, now chairman of the board of American Telephone & Telegraph."

"Bouquets to General David Sarnoff and the top brass of Radio Corp. of America for a well conducted meeting despite discussion of a controversial option plan; also, for the . . . box lunch which helps keep people in better humor after several hours of debate."

Philip D. Reed, chairman of General Electric, got a black mark. A stockholder wanted to know why Ralph Cordner, president, had sold some of his stock. Mr. Reed said it was none of his business.

In contrast, Gilbert awarded a merit badge to William C. Stolk, president of American Can. "Before anyone could ask why the proxy statement showed a decrease in his holdings, Stolk told shareholders that he wanted them to know the reason—a transfer in a divorce settlement. Full disclosure having been made, not a question was asked on the subject."

One of the unrecognized contributions of the Gilberts to stockholdership is their bird-doggedness. Let Pen-Texas have its meeting in out-of-the-way Cresson, Pa., p. 3,000, let International Salt meet at Flemington, N. J., or Woolworth at Watertown, N. Y., a Gilbert, if he owns stock in the company, will get there, proxies in hand, questions on his tongue.

Rather than try to escape the Gilberts, more and more managements are coming closer to them—and other stockholders. The report notes that "General Douglas MacArthur has kept his word . . . and the board of directors of Sperry Rand has voted that annual meetings will be held in New York, and not in Wilmington, beginning 1957." Columbia Broadcasting has changed the time of its meeting to avoid a conflict with American Tel. & Tel.

After such triumphs, the Gilberts are vexed that Pepsi-Cola, Bethlehem Steel, Burlington Industries, and Kelsey-Hayes meet in out-of-the-way Wilmington. Why shouldn't Burlington rotate its sessions between Greensboro, N. C. and New York, two of its stockholder centers? the Gilberts ask. Or why shouldn't Kelsey-Hayes, an automobile equipment company, hold meetings in Detroit or New York?

The report notes that Pen-Texas directors "meet at 111 Broadway, New York, where its executive offices are. Yet, its stockholder meetings continue in a place the fast trains pass by."

The Gilberts have a real point. There's a reason why United States Steel should persist in holding annual meetings at Hoboken, N. J.; Southern Pacific at Wilmington, Calif.; and Los Angeles or San Francisco, officers, and many western shareholders; General Dynamics at Dover, Del. When corporations want to sell new common stock, they purvey the gospel that the stockholder is the real owner, the boss. But for annual meetings, does the hiring go to the boss? No, sir. The boss must go to the hiring. And often to such inconvenient places!

Greets Turncoat

Pilot Brings In Plane After Propeller Flies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — When Capt. L. T. Hansard finished his performance his audience cheered, whistled, applauded and some threw kisses.

But Hansard, 43, of Smithfield, Tex., will never want an encore.

The captain had just finished a neat emergency landing of a big four-engine DC7 whose left outboard engine had thrown a slashing propeller across the cabin top.

It occurred yesterday while the DC7, pride of American Airlines, was cruising at 14,000 feet at 355 m.p.h. with 41 passengers aboard.

The heavy four-bladed prop. "like a bolt of lightning," sliced a six-foot hole in the cabin roof, instantly opening the pressurized luxury liner to the screaming slipstream.

Most of the passengers already had buckled their seat belts. The plane was about 30 miles east of Memphis and the air was turbulent.

The blasting wind, pouring through the roof, set off a blizzard of insulating material, feathers from ripped pillows, and loose clothing and blankets, all soft material. No one was seriously hurt.

Seven minutes later the plane was on a Memphis airport apron and Hansard, veteran of 17,000 hours in the air, was receiving the ovation.

Device Converts Plane To Tanker

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP)—Douglas Aircraft Co. today announced the development of a refueling device which can quickly convert a Navy fighter or attack bomber into an aerial tanker.

The announcement said the unit is a compact package just short of 17 feet long, constructed of aluminum, and which can be jettisoned in an emergency.

The company said the unit is carried under the fuselage and "will greatly increase the combat range and safety margin of attack and fighter aircraft."

A plane functioning as a tanker can be quickly restored to its normal combat function, the company reported, simply by removing the refueling unit.

Plot Seen Against Agriculture Dept.

By The Associated Press

A meeting of agriculture leaders in San Antonio set for Wednesday drew a charge from Agriculture Commissioner John C. White that it was part of a "plot to abolish the Texas Department of Agriculture."

White, a candidate in the April 2 special U.S. Senate election, said he would postpone an East Texas campaign tour to attend the meeting which he said was set up by Austin Anson, of Harlingen, executive director of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Assn.

In Harlingen, Anson said the meeting was aimed at putting the State Agriculture Department "into the hands of agriculture."

"With the agriculture commissioner electing to run for the U.S. Senate," Anson said, "the agriculture interests of the state are meeting to determine what are the best steps to take for the future with reference to the Agriculture Department."

White blamed the alleged plot on U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

"I'm the only state official that's ever fought that guy," he said. Anson denied any outside influence caused the meeting.

White said he was informed the plans "call for a legislative bill to abolish" the Agriculture Department.

Republican Thad Hutcheson of Houston continued to call for an effective two-party system in Texas. But he blasted another candidate who said he is running under a Republican label, Herbert J. Antoine Jr. of Bastrop.

"I have no Republican opponent and you can quote me on that," Hutcheson said.

Rep. Martin Dies, another candidate, said his campaign would be based on legislative experience, preservation of states rights, economy in government and continued opposition to Communists. Dies formerly headed the U.S. House Un-American Activities Committee.

Hutcheson was campaigning in South Texas Tuesday.

In an interview with the Alice Daily Echo, he was quoted as saying the indictment of State Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe on a charge of consenting to accept a bribe was the last warning signal to the people of Texas.

"Survival of good government depends on an immediate confirmation of an effective two-party system," he said.

Hutcheson and Antoine are the only Republicans in the race. They face 21 Democrats.

Hutcheson predicted the Senate race would be a contest between Ralph Yarborough of Austin, White, former Supreme Court Justice James Hart, State Sen. Searcy Bracewell, Dies and himself.

Hart pledged his support to efforts to assure full employment, good wages and good working conditions in a televised speech at Corpus Christi.

"The basic interests of labor and management are the same," he said. "A prosperous economy means full employment and good wages and working conditions. That is what we should all work for."

Hart also renewed his plea for research to convert sea water to fresh water.

"Some day water from the Gulf will supply Texas industries and irrigate Texas farms," he said. "The federal government should help to make that day come as soon as possible."

White also reasserted his support of the petroleum depletion allowance. A bill now in Congress would reduce the allowance.

Research Shows Evaporation Control Chemical Is Harmless

By ROBERT E. FORD
SAN ANTONIO, March 6 (AP)—Southwest Research Institute has new findings which show the hexachlorocyclopentadiene chemical hexadecanol is harmless—which means a new breakthrough in international efforts to keep water from disappearing into thin air.

The chemical, floated on water, stops up to 45 per cent of the evaporation in 10-foot experimental tanks.

The privately operated non-profit institute said the U.S. Department of Public Health's engineering center at Cincinnati has given the chemical a classification of harmless to humans, animals, fish and plants.

British Gas Supplies Up

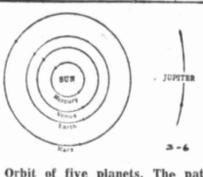

LONDON (AP)—The Financial Times said today that gasoline supplies in Britain are now so high extra storage tanks had to be found.

The newspaper said its survey showed that gasoline is coming into the country at over 90 per cent of the normal pre-Suez rate but that the tightly rationed supplies are being used up at only 60 to 65 per cent of normal.

Officials of the Organization of European Economic Cooperation said in Paris that 95 per cent of Europe's normal oil needs would be available for the next three months even if the Suez Canal and the pipeline through Syria were not reopened.

Uncle Ray:
Universe May Have Many Solar Systems

By RAMON COFFMAN
A school pupil, Lucille Bongiorno, has a question about solar systems. She writes:
"A booklet says there are about 100 million solar systems besides our own. My class and I would like to know if this is true. We are making astronomy notebooks."
The world's leading astronomers are without any clear knowledge of the facts regarding outside solar systems. The best they can do is to make "guesstimates" or "guess estimates."

Orbit of five planets. The path of Jupiter is merely suggested.
