

En Route To Bermuda

Ike Feeling Better As Destination Near

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (AP)—President Eisenhower described as feeling much better after three days of warm sunshine, steamed toward Bermuda today for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Traveling aboard the Navy guided missile cruiser Canberra, Eisenhower is to arrive at Hamilton, Bermuda, late tomorrow. His session with Macmillan will commence Thursday and end Sunday. The President sailed from Norfolk, Va., last Thursday evening on a meandering six-day voyage to Bermuda in a move to shake a persistent cough, a head cold and an ear inflammation. From Saturday morning until last night the Canberra cruised leisurely in the quiet, sunlit waters of Exuma Bay in the Bahamas Islands area. Then the warship moved around the southern tip of Cat Island and headed for Bermuda, 850 miles northeast. Just before the Canberra moved out of Exuma Bay last night the President told the crew he was having "a most enjoyable trip." His informal remarks from an impromptu stage on the floodlit forecastle deck came at the end of a "happy hour" program of entertainment put on for him by the crew. Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, White House physician, aboard the Canberra, reported to newsmen on escorting destroyers that Eisenhower was doing fine in building up his health. Snyder said the President's ear ailment has cleared up and that he now is coughing only occasionally. A head cold from which he had suffered has about disappeared. Eisenhower smiled broadly and waved a greeting to crew members at the rails of the destroyers Wood and Barton yesterday afternoon as he circled the ships in a 35-foot motor launch. The President, wearing a bright red cap and a tan windbreaker, was returning to the Canberra after trolling for fish off nearby Little San Salvador Island. Eisenhower was out about two hours but had no luck. His naval aide, Capt. E. P. Auran, landed a big barracuda. Eisenhower continued to receive reports from Secretary of State Dulles in Washington on the Middle East situation.

Bermuda Dons Best Togs For President

TUCKERSTOWN, Bermuda (AP)—Bermuda today completed paint and polish preparation for playing host to history a second time in four years. President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrive tomorrow to tackle the task of rebuilding the badly strained British-American partnership. The President is coming to Bermuda — instead of having urged Macmillan to visit Washington — in the hope his journey to British territory will be understood as a gesture of American good will toward better British-American relations. The keynote of preparations for this second Bermuda conference is "same as last time." But there will be significant differences. One is the absence of France. Another the immediate purpose of the meeting — the effort to restore the British-American partnership after last autumn's break over Egypt. Eisenhower and Macmillan will hold their formal negotiations at the same big circular conference table at which the President met with Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel in December 1953. Eisenhower has already conferred in Washington with the present French Premier, Guy Mollet, in an effort to patch up French-American cooperation. The French and British leaders also have been in close contact. The pattern of "Big Two" meetings — rather than 1953's "Big Three" approach — suggests that Eisenhower and Dulles still do not want the United States identified in Asia and Africa with a grouping of what Dulles once described as so-called colonial powers. British and American diplomats agree that the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks cannot achieve a range of agreements capable of creating complete harmony. That never has existed, however, as witness the long split over relations with Red China. These experts hope for a better understanding of the reasons for such differences and an agreement not to let them block cooperation where it is possible, as in NATO.

Sheriff, Ranger Take Appeal For Extradition To Capital

Miller Harris, Howard County sheriff, and John Wood, Texas Ranger, left early Tuesday morning on a journey they hope will result in return to Big Spring of two men who broke out of the Howard County jail on March 11. Harris and Wood will go first to Austin where they will press for a request by Gov. Price Daniel to the governor of Missouri for the right to extradite Kenneth Neel and Harmon Neel. The two Neels are now held in jail at Columbia, Mo. When the two officers have completed their work in Austin they will go to Jefferson City, Mo., to petition the governor of that state to issue an extradition order. If they secure the order, they go to Columbia to take custody of the two fugitives.

Porter Urges Demo Hutcheson Support

By The Associated Press Republican National Committee man Jack Porter says it's time for conservative Democrats to return past favors and join in giving solid support to GOP candidate Thad Hutcheson in the Senate election April 2.

Porter told a Houston rally Monday night such consolidated support was the only way to defeat the leading liberal candidate, whom he did not identify. The question of who may have received financial support from the collapsed ICT Insurance Co. stirred more debate among candidates.

The other Republican candidate, Herbert Antoine Sr. of Bastrop, put some questions to Agriculture Commissioner John White, who first brought up the question. "No, Mr. White, I did not accept any money from the insurance companies—did you?" Antoine asked. He also said he thought White should resign. "You are out campaigning on taxpayer's time and money and using your large staff of employees to help in your campaign. You are using the prestige and influence of your high office to further your campaign," Antoine said. White was touring Central and West Texas.

Ralph Yarborough again scoffed at attempts to link him with the ICT. He said he had done business with an Austin publicly firm that also handled an account of the collapsed insurance firm.

But, he said, the association was strictly above board. Rep. Martin Dies said in Lubbock the United States "should not compromise with evil" in its negotiations with Russia and Red China.

"We give legality and respectability to their ruthless regimens when we recognize them," Dies said.

Candidate James Hart spoke before a hometown audience in Austin.

He said one of the most important functions of the new senator will be "to help formulate and carry out a wise and farsighted foreign policy."

could be filed because one of the pair threatened Mrs. Joe Pierce, wife of the county jailer, with a knife during the escape incident. The robbery by assault charge also stemmed from the jail break.

The Neels took $34, a pocket knife and two sets of keys from Jailer Pierce when they had overpowered him and tied him up in a jail cell. Harris said Monday that he was taking the application for an extradition order to Austin in person in an effort to speed up action. Officers here were confident that Gov. Daniel would grant the request of the local officers.

Johnson Bill Asks Deportation Halt Of Noted Princess

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson introduced yesterday a bill to save from deportation a Romanian princess who befriended American airmen shot down over Romania during the war. Four Houston residents had appealed in behalf of Princess Catherine Caradja. She entered the United States in 1955 under a French passport after fleeing Communist-held Romania in 1951. Her visitor's permit has expired and she faces deportation proceedings. Richard Britt, N. B. Walters, Mrs. William Hedrick and Roland Heyne of Houston spoke out for the princess. She is credited with protecting 116 United States flyers downed on and near her estate, some while on raids on the Ploesti oil fields.

Takes Oath

Carlos P. Garcia (right, holding paper), raises his hand as he takes oath of President of the Philippines during ceremony at Manila, P. I., following plane crash death of President Ramon Magsaysay on Cebu Island Saturday night. Garcia flew into Manila from the SEATO conference in Australia. News-men and well wishers gather around the table as Garcia takes oath.

Charred Body Of Philippines President Returns To Capital

MANILA (AP)—The charred body of Ramon Magsaysay, third president of the Philippine Republic, returned to this grieving capital today. The flag-draped coffin of the popular 49-year-old chief executive, who crashed to his death with 25 others on a Cebu Island mountainside early Sunday, was flown here in the presidential plane Pagasa. Weeping crowds followed the bier as it was driven slowly through the sun-baked streets to Malacanang Palace. It will lie in state there for three days until the funeral Friday. Nearly half a million persons swarmed around the palace. As the nation mourned, a six-man investigating team dug into the likely causes of the fatal plane crash — including the possibility of sabotage. Less emphasis was being placed on the sabotage angle than others because of the close security precautions that always accompanied the President, one of Asia's most determined foes of communism. But Col. Pedro Q. Moline, acting air force chief, said sabotage could not be ruled out. Air force officials listed three other possible causes—pilot-eror engine trouble and air pockets. Mustangs of the Philippine air force shepherded the white presidential funeral plane as it neared the capital. Cries of grief welled up from a throng of some 50,000 when the plane landed. The crowd surged towards the craft as a 21-gun salute thundered over the field. Carlos P. Garcia, Magsaysay's vice president who was sworn in as president yesterday, headed waiting officials and diplomats. Arriving at Malacanang, the coffin was borne by khaki-clad soldiers into the great lobby. The beautiful widow, Mrs. Luz Banzon Magsaysay, who last saw her husband alive Saturday, met the sealed coffin at the entrance to the maroon-and-gray ceremonial hall. Weeping softly, she and her three children followed the bier to the center of the room, where it was installed in state before an altar.

Escape Of 6 Peronistas Deals Blow To Argentina's Regime

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The escape of six top Peronistas from their Argentine prison to asylum in Chile has dealt a strong blow to the prestige of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu's regime. Anger swept the capital as word spread that six lieutenants of deposed Juan D. Peron bribed their way out of supposedly escape-proof Rio Gallegos Prison, 1,200 miles south of Buenos Aires in bleak Patagonia, and effortlessly crossed the Chilean border 50 miles away. In a belated show of action, the government arrested the prison staff for questioning and replaced them with frontier guards. Diehard Peronistas openly deridged the government. Anti-Peronistas expressed fear the dramatic escape might inspire a drive to restore Peron, now in Venezuelan exile. Shaken government officials said the escapees bribed their way out with the help of the chief of the prison guard. "Several million pesos changed hands for this thing," said one official. The six who fled were: Jorge Antonio, former hospital orderly who became a multimillionaire as financial adviser to Peron. Hector J. Campora, Peronista president of the Chamber of Deputies. Jose Gomez, former deputy in Congress and secretary of the Argentine Oil Workers' Federation. Jose Espejo, secretary of the Argentine Labor confederation, backbone of the Peron regime. Guillermo Kelly, secretary general of the Argentine Liberation Alliance, Peron's Brownshirt gang. John William Cooke, ex-governor of Buenos Aires province and president of the Peronista party. Walking through the gates with passes reportedly issued by the chief guard, identified as Juan de la Cruz Ocampo, the six climbed into a waiting station wagon and sped off to Punta Arenas, south Chilean port city 150 miles away. The Chilean government granted them political asylum in accordance with Latin-American tradition. The escape car was driven by Manuel Araujo, a relative of Antonio. Government sources said De la Cruz Ocampo drove off with the group, but he did not arrive with them at Punta Arenas. The six men had been imprisoned for a year and a half, since Peron's overthrow, charged with various crimes.

Says W. Germany Needs No More Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A business executive who made an on-the-spot survey said today West Germany can get along without further U. S. economic and military aid. The views of William R. Hearst Jr. were contained in a report made public by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The study was made as part of that group's inquiry into the operations of foreign assistance programs. Hearst said West Germany intends to buy all its military equipment in the future. No economic assistance is being given West Germany now, and none is planned, he added. Hearst, president of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., and editor in chief of the Hearst newspapers, also surveyed Norway and Denmark. For Norway, he recommended a missile development program which he said "would undoubtedly increase its military capabilities." He also said the Norwegian navy is in need of modernization and expansion. He recommended continued military aid for both Norway and Denmark, calling those countries vital links in Western defenses. "No military assistance is recommended for Germany, barring unexpected reverses in the country's economic growth," he said. "Sufficient reserves now exist to purchase military equipment and the nation has indicated its willingness to pay for equipment to undertake military obligations as requested by NATO. "It is recommended that increased efforts be made to encourage the federal republic to accelerate its defense mobilization processes." Hearst found some fault with the administration of U. S. programs in West Germany, adding: "There is reason to believe that an excessive duplication in activities in connection with aid programs exists among United States offices in the country. It is recommended that the responsibility of United States Information Service employees in this field be better coordinated with United States Embassy activities."

Bank Robber Slays Cop, Then Dies In Duel With Minister

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A fleeing bank robber killed a veteran state police officer at a roadblock yesterday and then died in a gun duel with the officer's friend, a Methodist minister. Sgt. Marvin E. Walts, 49, a veteran of 19 years' state police service, was killed by a bullet that entered his forehead while William Hassett, 25, of Louisville, was dropped by two shot gun charges fired by the minister through the rear window of the trooper's car. The Rev. Robert Gingery, 37, minister of Trinity Methodist Church in nearby New Albany, gave this account of the incident although he was in a near state of shock: He and Walts were returning from looking at fishing sites in the area of Sellersburg, a community north of here, when state police radio broadcasted that the Sellersburg State Bank had been robbed of $1,655 by a gunman. Although it was his day off, Walts was directed to a roadblock four miles north of here and Gingery accompanied him. Hassett, stopped by Walts, got out of his 1947 car and said: "I hope this thing won't take too long." The trooper searched Hassett and found nothing significant but when he looked in the car, he spotted a brown leather jacket, a key item in the description of the bank robber. "I've got a subject here that answers the description," Walts radioed his post. "Give me that description again." Gingery said that Walts then returned to the bandit's car with the suspect. "I could see Walts bending down as if looking under the front seat," said Gingery. "Then I saw the man jerking around in the seat as if he was after something. I could see them scuffling and I heard some shots. I didn't see Walts after the shooting but the other man got out of the car and ran around the other side. "Then I saw him crossing the road toward me with a gun . . ." Gingery said he then picked up the pump-action riot gun from the police car seat and leveled it out the side window. "He saw it and ducked," Gin-

Bill Would Cost Dawson Farmers

LAMESA — Dawson County farm leaders are urging cotton raisers of this area to contact Texas senators and Rep. George Mahon in opposition to the "Poage bill" now before Congress. They say portions of the proposed legislation would be detrimental to West Texas cotton producers. If the bill is passed as is, Dawson County cotton growers can expect a cut in cotton acreage history, used for allotments, of about 67,000 acres. The bill would allow only the previous three years, excluding the immediate year preceding the allotment announcement, to be used as a base for figuring allotments. Presently, the allotments are based on a five-year history. The bill would exclude 1952 and 1953, two of the biggest years in Dawson County's acreage history, from allotment basis. In 1952 and 1953, the county averaged more than 379,000 acres per year. In 1954, the county's history is 213,001; '55, 217,886, and in '56, 203,565.

Under the present regulations, Dawson County's history would average 278,395 acres for the 1958 allotment. Under the proposed Poage plan, Dawson's history would be only 211,696 acres for 1958. It would give the county somewhere in the neighborhood of 165,000 acres of cotton in 1958. Growers, individually, and as groups, feel that the "Old Cotton Belt Association" is behind the plan.

Snowman Hunt Gets Under Way

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Texas oil millionaire Tom Slick's expedition in search of the abominable snowman reached eastern Nepal's Barun Valley today.

The party made a six-day journey from Biratnagar, near the Indian frontier. It plans to push on to Iswa Khela tomorrow and set up a base camp.

Slick, accompanied by 7 Sherpa guides and 65 porters, said this was only a reconnaissance expedition for a more thorough search next fall. He said he hopes to photograph or capture the legendary snowman alive.

Nepalese living in the Himalayan range believe the snowman is a huge, hairy, two-footed monster that inhabits the slopes of the world's highest mountains. The only purported evidence of its existence ever found has been bear-like footprints in the snow.

Strip Act Saved

BALTIMORE (AP) — The striptease act in Baltimore has won a reprieve from the City Council. A bill to ban such acts died in committee yesterday after failing to arouse any support.

Committee Reports Approved By C-C

Chamber of Commerce directors backed up its legislative committee on several matters pending before the state Legislature, lauded the ABClub for a successful report, and heard a variety of reports and announcements Monday.

Directors also approved the recommendations of the membership committee, presented by Chairman George Zachariah, for a membership contest. Top men in two divisions headed by Rad Ware and Jim Lewis will be eligible to receive a plane trip to Dallas next New Year's Day, armed with Cotton Bowl tickets. The board also approved granting of a life membership to any individual who secured 50 members within the compass of a calendar year. The life membership, however, is largely an honorary affair.

The board also followed the legislative committee recommendation that it back the egg grading bill, the constitutional amendment which would permit the state to advertise, and the bill which would compel county redistricting under certain conditions. In a separate action, the board also approved the principle of the Pool bill, which would call for run-offs in a special election (such as the current senatorial contest).

Floyd Parsons reported the teacher appreciation dinner last week was "deeply appreciated" by the teachers and that he had received many letters and messages of thanks. Dr. W. A. Hunt, education chairman, and President R. L. Beale said they also had received such communications. Beale said that the education-business dinner was a successful event for which businessmen were grateful.

Dr. Hunt announced the Career Day which will attract scores of high school seniors to HCJC for vocational guidance on Friday. He said that HCJC apparently was assured of $83,000 per annum in state aid for the next biennium, and he lauded Rep. Obie Bristow for having handled the floor work on the bill in the House. HCJC is to be included in a national study of the showing of its graduates, he added, and also in a University of Texas survey of community services.

Directors approved acceptance of an invitation to have a Friendship Dinner at Sterling City on April 8. Red Smith, manager, said that around 45 to 50 businessmen would be signed to have a Sterling man as his guest at the affair.

The special committee on tax valuations had decided that it was not ready to make any recommendation at the particular time, said Jack Cook. It was Cook who moved commendation to the ABClub for its outstanding relay event.

Lewis said that merchants had been generous in their support of the affair.

SALES CLINIC

Jack Wallace announced a retail sales school Wednesday (with two sessions) with Fred Palmer, General Motors sales consultant, as the lecturer. Parsons urged Chamber directors to be at the high school auditorium at 3 p.m. Wednesday to hear Dr. A. J. Stoddard, former Los Angeles school superintendent and now a Ford Foundation consultant.

Parsons also said he concurred in the United States Chamber of Commerce stand against federal aid to education, but he scored the USCC's reasons for opposition. The USCC had contended that construction had kept up with population increase the last five years and no more building emergency existed, but, contended Parsons, this ignored a backlog of school housing needs created for 10 years prior to the last five.
