'It Doesn't Hurt'

Nine-year-old Jimmy Rains kept repeating to his father that the arrow in his head didn't hurt, although it penetrated his skull one-half inch. The home-made arrow was removed by surgery at an Oklahoma City hospital where Jimmy is reported in serious condition. He told his father he and another boy were shooting the arrow in the air when the accident occurred.

2 Senators Threaten Segregation Filibuster

AUSTIN (AP)—Two senators said today they would fight any and all of the segregation bills "even if it means a filibuster."
Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo and Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio spoke out against any law to slow up integration of schools. "I intend to filibuster if I can," Gonzalez said.
Five bills backed by the segregation bloc tentatively were approved yesterday by the House. One was questioned as a threat to curtail freedom of speech and press. "All five will have to come up for final action in the House, before going to the Senate."
The bill would require groups advocating integration or segregation in schools to register with the secretary of state.
It was one of the segregation bills tentatively approved yesterday by the House, which will have to act on the measures again before they can go to the Senate.
Rep. James Cotton of Weatherford asserted the bill by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs "would curtail the freedom of speech and freedom of press."
"Don't you think it does even with your amendment?" Cotton asked Rep. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston.
Schwartz said he did. His amendment would require pro-segregation groups to register as well as integration groups.
"This bill is aimed only at the NAACP and such organizations," said Chapman.
Other bills tentatively approved by the House would:
Exempt pupils from compulsory attendance at integrated schools without allowing local school boards any leeway. The bill would conflict with another tentatively approved by the House, leaving the final say up to the local school board.

'Mad Major' Flies Aunt, 93

LONDON (AP)—"Mad Major" Christopher Draper celebrated his 65th birthday yesterday by piloting his 93-year-old aunt on a 270-mile plane ride.
A World War I hero, Draper won his nickname in 1953 by flying a light plane under 15 Thames River bridges to convince reluctant employers a man wasn't finished at 61. The government lifted his pilot's license temporarily for that caper and put him on probation for a year.
Draper said his hop in a hired twin-engine plane yesterday also was designed to show how ridiculous it is that people are thrown on the scrap heap because of their age." He explained that he's presently out of a job.

Mayor Faces New Charge As Tapes Embroid Vice Figures

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A third charge was filed against Mayor Terry Schunk last night as five spools of tape recordings embroidered men on both sides of a vice controversy in Portland.
The 44-year-old mayor, previously accused of taking a bribe and of lying when he denied receiving the bribe, was charged with making copies of the tape recordings after seizing them in a raid last night.
That was when he was sheriff. He said earlier he had made the copies in case the originals were destroyed or stolen.
A grand jury said the recordings contained conversations obtained through illegal wiretaps, and that making copies of them was illegal as making the originals.
The same spools have the mayor's enemy, Gambler Big Jim Elkins, 55, under indictment. He is accused in federal court of making the originals.
Selection of a jury for the Elkins trial is scheduled to start today.
Also scheduled to go into court today is Dist. Atty. William Langley, 41, who was convicted last weekend of failing to prosecute gamblers. He will move for a new trial.
Langley and the mayor assert they are victims of a frameup by Elkins.
All three earlier were witnesses in Washington, D.C., before the Senate Rackets Committee.
The grand jury yesterday also indicted three Teamsters Union officials — Clyde C. Crosby, 46, International representative in

Beck Meets Privately With Teamsters Union Executives

GALVESTON (AP)—Dave Beck and his Teamsters Union executive committee held today a crucial conference that may determine whether Beck remains president and whether the union will appear at an AFL-CIO trial.
Beck, accused of misusing $320,000 of union funds, asserted last night he would "blow the lid right off the Senate" if he told what happened to some union money. He claimed he paid the money back.
Five labor attorneys stood by as Beck and the 11 committeemen began their parley shortly after 10 a.m.
"No, no statement," Beck, 62, said as he made his way to the small penthouse suite of the Galveston Hotel.
The teamster chief said yesterday "a lot of fine people would be embarrassed" if he told what he was doing. He claimed he was "taking the rap while refusing to answer questions at the recent Senate hearings in Washington."
Beck was asked today if he could predict how long the meeting would last.
"No, we do not know that," he replied.
Sitting at Beck's right was his

Senate Approves Fund Hike For Post Office

Second Jailbreaker Is Found Guilty

HARMON HAROLD NEEL, charged with robbery by assault and cited in a "repeater" indictment, was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court at 11:30 a. m. today.
The verdict left the penalty to the court but the law specifies when a defendant is convicted on a repeater charge the maximum penalty assessable in the offense alleged must apply.
Judge Charlie Sullivan told Neel his punishment would be life in prison. Asked if he wanted to be sentenced at once, the defendant chose to request the 10-day delay granted in such cases.
Trial of Neel was completed in two hours. A jury was impaneled at 9:30 a. m. Testimony of the state was finished an hour later. The defendant offered no evidence in his own behalf. The jurors deliberated the matter about 15 minutes.
Neel and his brother, Kenneth, who pleaded guilty to a like indictment a few days ago and was sentenced to life imprisonment, were charged with having assaulted Joe Pierce, Howard County jailer, on March 11.
The attack was in connection with a break from the jail staged by the two men. They were accused of taking money, keys, pocket knife and other property from the jailer whom they knocked down and tied up with strips of mattress ticking.
In the indictment citing the repeater clause, it was related that in 1950, Harmon Neel had been convicted of burglary with intent to commit theft in Tom Green County and sentenced to two years in the state prison.
Cecil Turner, sheriff of Tom Green County, was a state witness. He was a deputy sheriff at the time of the previous conviction, he testified, and he was the officer who returned Harmon Neel from Edinburg to San Angelo to stand trial. He identified the Harmon Neel in the court room as the same man in the Tom Green incident.
Joe Pierce was the only other state witness. He related details of the jail break by the two Neels and told of the property taken from him.
Neel offered no testimony in his own behalf and did not take the witness stand.
The two Neels will be taken from Howard County to Houston. They are under indictment there on other charges and it was from that county they were brought to Big Spring on March 9, just two days before the jail break. They were wanted here for an indictment charging car theft.

Student Sues On Charges Of Cheating

GALVESTON (AP)—A suit by a Beaumont sophomore to prevent the University of Texas Medical Branch from expelling him on charges of cheating during an exam was in recess today while defense attorneys conferred.
Bernard Rogers, 20, brought the injunction proceedings against Dr. John Truslow, executive director of the branch, in 56th District Court.
Rogers' attorney, Quentin Keith, rested his case yesterday after showing that no written charge was brought against Rogers.
Truslow testified that the ouster was recommended by the Student Honor Council and the sophomore committee of faculty members which investigated after Rogers scored a 98 per cent grade on an exam paper.
The doctor said he had never seen a written copy of charges but that he had received a written report of the Honor Council recommending the expulsion. He said Rogers was advised orally of the charges.
Dr. Raymond Blunt testified he was surprised at the answers on Rogers' examination paper and suggested that the matter be brought before the Honor Council.
Asked if he could produce papers of other students who took the examination, Blunt said he would ask some students to bring their papers back to him.
At one point, Keith asked whether a student facing accusation was considered guilty until proved innocent. Defense attorney Preston Shirley objected and Judge W. E. Stone sustained it.

No Time Spent On Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate quickly passed and sent back to the House today a money bill carrying 41 million dollars to restore normal postal services.
The Senate took up the measure as soon as it met today and passed it by voice vote without any debate. The Senate Appropriations Committee had approved it unanimously at a 10-minute session shortly before.
The senators did not take the opportunity either to lambast or defend Postmaster General Summerfield. The House spent several hours doing so yesterday afternoon before passing the measure.
The administration had asked for 47 million to carry the department through the remaining 2½ months of this bookkeeping year, but Republican congressional leaders said President Eisenhower is willing to settle for the 41 million voted by the House yesterday.
However, the bill will have to go back to the House because the Senate Appropriations Committee added to it $800,000 for Senate investigations and other house-keeping items.
That is all but certain to be only a formality, however, since neither branch questions such allotments for the other. The $800,000 for Senate activities was the only change made by the Senate committee.
Eisenhower's attitude was outlined to newsmen by Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California and House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts after their regular Tuesday morning conference with Eisenhower.
The call for emergency money to restore normal mail operations was discussed as the Senate made ready to act.
Knowland told a news conference at the White House that he looks for the Senate to get the bill to Eisenhower's desk either tonight or tomorrow morning.
In addition to the postal money, the bill passed by the House provides 481 million dollars for other purposes.
Both Knowland and Martin expressed belief that the bitterness stirred up in Congress over the post office request for additional money and curtailment of mail deliveries last weekend won't jeopardize the administration's chance for winning congressional approval of an increase in postal rates. However, prospects for such a rate hike this year appear dim.

The House sent the bill to the Senate by voice vote late yesterday after several hours of debate during which some of the lawmakers criticized Postmaster General Summerfield for ordering service curtailed.
No effort was made in the House to increase the postal money to the 47 million dollars Summerfield has said he must have for the next 2½ months. Two efforts to reduce it to 19 millions were defeated decisively, one by a 121-12 standing vote and one by voice vote.
Several senators said they assumed that if the bill goes to Eisenhower today or tomorrow, the major postal service cuts already put into effect will be restored this Saturday.
These cuts were elimination of Saturday home deliveries and the closing to the public of all but fourth class post offices on that day.
In the House debate on the bill, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee accused Summerfield of "a public be damned attitude" in closing post offices last Saturday.
He said that if Congress bowed to the postmaster general's demand for more money, it would encourage other departments to resist cuts made in their budgets.
Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) said Summerfield had showed "a contemptuous attitude toward Congress" and that the administration was to blame for the postal situation.
However, Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) charged that Cannon had caused the cutback in service, asserting that the Appropriations Committee should have acted more promptly.

Witness Claims Political Gag Try

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul Bradshaw, former Scranton, Pa., Teamsters official, testified today that he had been gagged by James T. Hanlon, Scranton Mayor, who said he now does odd jobs "hold off" disclosures about other union officials until after an election.
Bradshaw gave the testimony to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee under questioning by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz).
It was not immediately clear what election he referred to, whether the city or some other election.
"Has it been general knowledge in Scranton that the mayor approached you?" Goldwater asked.
"No Sir," Bradshaw said. He said he told of the incident to Senate committee investigators and to J. Harold Brislin of the Scranton Tribune.

Bradshaw, 36, a former boxer who said he now does odd jobs around Scranton, was convicted some time ago of implication in the dynamiting of a home being built by nonunion craftsmen.
Since his conviction, he has been ousted as a steward of the Teamsters Union and has implicated other union officials in the dynamiting.
Before his references to the mayor, Bradshaw told a story of beatings and rigged elections in the Scranton Local No. 229 of the Teamsters.
Bradshaw said he and other stewards of the local were instructed to cast their votes for J. C. (Pinkie) Hart as the local's president and Bob Malloy, as business agent.
"We had quite a bit of extra receipts," Bradshaw testified. The receipts represented dues payments and eligibility to cast ballots.
"They were passed around among the boys. We voted six or seven times and we were supposed to vote for Pinkie Hart and Bob Malloy. They were both elected."
"We expect to develop in these hearings what may be a classic example of the use of force and violence in labor-management relations," said Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) in a statement prepared for the start of the hearings before a special Senate committee which he heads.
He predicted the testimony will show "terror tactics" by some labor union officials against members of their own unions as well as against employers in the Scranton area.
Committee sources said one phase of the hearings will deal with conversations recorded secretly by Helen Canfield, 27, a pretty dark-haired divorcee, and her friend, Bradshaw, in an effort to show that Bradshaw is innocent of dynamiting charges.
The recordings were made after Bradshaw was convicted on charges that in 1954 he dynamited a house under construction by a nonunion contractor. He still is awaiting sentence on the charge.

Tom Hickey, right, of New York, a vice president of the Teamsters Union and member of the executive council, an early arrival for the Teamsters meeting in Galveston, is interviewed as he waits for other members to arrive.

Ramsey, Carr Keep Silent On Capitol Eviction Lawsuits

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and House Speaker Waggoner Carr kept their own counsel today while they prepared to study two lawsuits that seek to evict them from their plush second floor apartments in the State Capitol building.

The legal battle over the bedrooms and living quarters traditionally provided for the speaker and lieutenant governor was launched yesterday by former State Sen. Joe Hill. His two suits in 98th District Court, which he said he filed as a taxpayer, claim in effect that it is illegal for the speaker and lieutenant governor to live with their families in the apartments behind the House and Senate chambers.

Specifically, the suits seek temporary restraining orders to stop payment of state money for furniture, upholstery and other furnishings for the apartments. The temporary restraining order was denied by Judge Charles O. Betts and a hearing was tentatively scheduled for Friday on the injunction.

Ramsey and Carr declined comment until they study the petition. Hill's suit alleges that furnishing the living quarters constitutes an "illegal compensatory advantage" for the presiding officer of the Senate and the speaker because under the State Constitution, they are entitled only to the same salaries as other lawmakers.

He claims one item paid for by the state was a television set in Ramsey's apartment. Another, his suit said, was to replace drapes

Daily Oil Average Down

TULSA (AP)—Daily average oil production during the week ended April 13 declined 157,175 barrels to 7,474,225, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

A big drop in Oklahoma, 93,800 to 602,900 barrels, was the main factor. The Journal explained this was due more to a "very high and very unusual total" in its figures for the state the previous week rather than to a reduced allowable.

Texas production also fell, 36,275 barrels to 3,205,250. This was because, the Journal said, the total of the week ended April 6 "was made up from two days under the higher March allowable and five days under the reduced allowable for April." The Texas average for last week was for a full week under the lower allowable.

Louisiana had a decline of 17,375 barrels to 952,550. The Journal estimated 1957 production at 781,380,850 barrels compared to 750,952,508 a year ago. Colorado was down 5,350 to 153,400. Increases were reported for New Mexico, up 1,725 to 274,400; and Arkansas, 50 to 83,550.

in Carr's quarters. The suit alleges $6,338.40 was contracted by the State Board of Control for furnishings in the lieutenant governor's apartment, but only $591 has been paid pending delivery of some items.

He seeks to restrain the state comptroller from issuing warrants to pay the bills. The suits also allege warrants totalling $1,409.19 have been issued to purchase items for the speaker's apartment. Hill seeks to restrain the state treasurer from honoring these.

No one knows just when the custom started of furnishing Capitol quarters for the speaker and lieutenant governor.

The only recent legislative action was a bill passed in 1943 which said it would be "desirable" to amend to comply with the custom and earlier law that prohibited the use of any room, apartment or office in the State Capitol "as a bedroom or for any private purpose whatever."

Medicines Give Protection Against Effects Of H-Bombs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP)—Medicines taken either before or after H-bomb attacks show promise of saving lives from deadly radiation, scientists said today.

Such medicines now are saving animals from otherwise fatal doses of X-rays. The animals include monkeys, a close relative of man.

The before-attack treatment could be easy-to-get pills. The after-attack treatment could be injections of bone marrow. It might even be animal bone marrow, perhaps someday stocked in marrow banks.

Animal experiments giving the basis for some protective medicines were described today to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Abundant chemicals known as sulfhydryl compounds are known to save mice from exposure to X-rays which normally would kill all of them. One such chemical is Cysteine, a building block of proteins. These chemicals work only if taken before exposure to radiation.

Girls Caught On Navy Vessel

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—Two Massachusetts girls were back home today after failing to spend the night aboard a Navy vessel.

The girls, a 17-year-old from Cambridge and a 16-year-old from Somerville, went to see a sailor friend Saturday but found he had ship duty.

They wandered around Newport until their cash ran out and they were unable to return home.

When they came to a sailor keeping a lonely vigil on a Navy tugboat they asked if they could spend the remainder of the night aboard.

He permitted them to do so, but an inspecting officer found them a short while later and took them to Newport police station.

The girls' parents returned them home. The girls' names were not divulged.

monkeys, a much higher form of life, said a new report by Dr. B. G. Crouch and Dr. Richard H. Overman of the University of Tennessee College of Medicine, Memphis.

Monkeys fed one of these drugs and then exposed to killing amounts of X-rays are still alive six months later, and are apparently normal, they said.

One of the bad and early effects of radiation is damage to the bone marrow and organs which form blood cells and blood. Within seven weeks time, the monkeys' blood appeared quite normal with the pretreatment.

Injections of bone marrow are one hope for rescuing the blood-forming machinery after radiation has done its damage. Such injections help mice — given nothing before the lethal X-rays — and they also apparently work in monkeys, the new findings show.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A policeman fought off the attack of a 30-pound leopard cub yesterday after the animal clawed a 4-year-old boy and severely scratched his back and arms at the Audubon Park Zoo.

Earl Bowen Jr. was treated at Charity Hospital for a gash under his right arm and scratches on the back, head and abdomen.

The leopard cub, crippled in the hind legs, was kept in a special sunning cage for convalescent animals.

Park Director George Douglass said Raymond Cuccio, a policeman assigned to the park, and J. W. Fabre, 27, who brought the child to the zoo, led him into the pen to see a sick chimpanzee.

Fabre said Cuccio did not know the leopard was in the pen. The cub jumped from a corner as they were looking at the chimp and first tried to attack Cuccio.

Fabre said he kicked the animal away and reached for the child, but the cub leaped on the boy's back.

Cuccio beat the leopard off with a stick.

Douglass said the leopard would be examined for rabies. He said there was a "no admittance" sign on the cage.

Fireman's Unit Pays Honor To Texas City Dead

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—A familiar scene will take place today in a neatly kept cemetery at the north outskirts of this bustling Texas Gulf Coast port.

A group of volunteer firemen will gather for a simple memorial service to honor 27 of their comrades who died when a series of explosions rocked this chemical manufacturing center 10 years ago today.

The final toll of some 512 killed, 3,000 injured and two-thirds of the city virtually destroyed stamped the Texas City explosions as one of the worst disasters in the nation's history. Property damage exceeded 51 million dollars.

The tragedy began unfolding at 8:25 a.m. April 16, 1947, when a ship's carpenter discovered a small fire in the No. 4 hold of the French freighter Grandcamp. The excitement drew many spectators as volunteer firemen fought unsuccessfully to keep the blaze from spreading.

Thirty-seven minutes later, the flames reached ammonium nitrate loaded in the holds and set off a series of explosions that lasted some 16 hours, during which most of the city was virtually leveled.

The decade since the blasts has seen tremendous growth for Texas City. It has tripled in area and nearly doubled in population to an estimated 30,000.

Most of the dockside rubble and homes destroyed in the blast were cleared by 1950 and claims for injuries and property damage amounting to 16½ million dollars have been settled.

Rebuilding has removed the visible scars of that fateful day, except those in the memory of survivors.

Elaborate memorial services were abandoned because it stirred up too much anguish. The firemen's ceremony is the only one planned.

Most survivors prefer to let the memory of that terror-filled day remain buried with the dead, which include 63 victims whose identity is marked only by numbers chiseled in the simple granite headstones which adorn their well-kept graves.

Myers' half-frozen body, riddled by a shotgun blast, was found 30 yards from where Whiteard was captured.

Whiteard was also indicted for murder in his death. Officers said Whiteard told them he fired at Myers by mistake when they got separated during the manhunt, but he later retracted the statement.

Death Hits Sooner Than Was Expected

DETROIT (AP)—Leonard Kerschke kept his rendezvous with death sooner than he expected.

There were many things he planned to do.

He had written one article for The Associated Press on what his reactions were when the doctor told him Jan. 31 he couldn't expect to live much longer than six months.

He thought there was plenty of time to write several more.

But time ran out for the 27-year-old Kerschke. He died last night of the inoperable cancer that had spread from his groin to his lungs.

Kerschke was working on a second article when his condition worsened. Saturday night his breathing became labored. He was taken to the Brent General Hospital.

Kerschke was stricken just as he was starting a new career as a gymnasium instructor with the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation.

He had always enjoyed health until last fall when he first noted symptoms of a backache. At Christmas time he developed symptoms of pleurisy and pneumonia. In January he entered a hospital for observation.

An exploratory operation disclosed the malignant cancer that was to take his life.

He would bundle his wife Athelene and their baby daughters Darlene and Valerie into a car and they would be off to Washington.

But his energy gradually gave out. The pains grew sharper. He did not complain.

Leonard Kerschke was happy to be home with his wife and 1-year-old daughter Darlene. His wife's parents had taken some of the burden off Mrs. Kerschke by caring for the little Valerie, who was born Feb. 2.

Early in life Kerschke had an ambition to be a concert pianist. It was their mutual love for music that brought them together. Smiling, Leonard Kerschke recalled their romance.

"I was 14," he said. "She was six months younger. I first saw her at the Bethesda Missionary Temple on Nevada Street near Van Dyke. That was my family's church and Athelene was there, as a visitor. I admired her from a distance and I knew she was for me."

Both Leonard and Athelene studied music at the Detroit Institute of Musical Art. She played the violin. He took piano lessons. Later, through their interest in church activities, they met again and they were married in her church — the Immanuel Bible Church — on the East Side of Detroit June 30, 1951.

Leonard Kerschke gave you the impression of being a religious man, but he did not encourage questioning about his beliefs.

On a stand at the head of his bed was a Bible.

"It was a shock to me when I was told that I had only six months to live," he said. "My first thought was of my family and then the thought flashed through my mind of Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane and what he said, 'Thy will be done, not mine.'"

Hits Buffalo, Sets A 'First'

RUIDOSO, N. M. (AP)—Paul Adam Cooter has a rare distinction in the traffic annals of the State of New Mexico.

He's probably the only man in the history of automobile travel in the state who has ever run over a buffalo.

Cooter, of Roswell, N. M., told state policeman R. W. Driggers he was driving east of here last night on U. S. 70-280.

He said he passed a car and saw, standing in the middle of the highway, a genuine American bison.

Unable to stop, he struck the animal broadside, killing it instantly.

He will pay for the distinction though; although he was uninjured, damage to the front of his car was estimated at $500. Driggers said the buffalo was owned by E. N. Hill, Riverside, N. M., and had escaped from a pen where it was being exhibited.

Feather Duster's Kin

Collectors' items like pretty china, framed prints or bright brass, are a popular accent in today's more formal rooms. These welcome the clever cleaning technique of a fluffy pink duster in washable nylon, treated weekly with a spray that gathers every fleck of dust, converts it to lint for neat disposal. A flexible wire frame shapes the duster to follow furniture contours and flick through blind slats, while a sturdy plastic handle extends its reach from floor to ceiling. Try the spray on facial tissues for a practical, disposable cloth.

Program On Art Is Given Sorority Chapter

A tour of the Texas Art Show display at HCJC, was taken Monday by the MU Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi preceding their regular meeting. After the tour the group met at the home of Mrs. Bill Priebe with Mrs. Darel Highley presenting a program on painting and sculptor work. Mrs. Highley told the group the idea of the program was to give them a clear and general idea of art objects; to improve one's judgment upon them and the possible motives behind the work. An experiment was conducted by all members when they felt, smelled, touched and viewed an object and then sketched their own impression of the object. The speaker said that art is the putting forth of purpose, feeling or thought into media where they can be experienced again and communicated to others. She told of different paintings and styles and showed copies to represent the various styles. Some of the modern sculptor works shown were Drancucci's "Mother and Child," Alexander Calder's "Mobiles" and Malvina Hoffman's "Representation of the Races of Mankind." These are all in the Chicago National History Museum. Mrs. Highley gave notes to the members on how to select art objects for their individual homes and said they should keep in mind the composition, form, design, lines, shape and color. It was announced that the spring rituals would be held preceding the Founder's Day banquet April 23. The banquet is scheduled for the Howard House. Mrs. R. L. Morris will be the speaker. Two guests were present Monday: Mrs. Joe Block, Silver City, N. M., and Mrs. Glenn Clark. Mrs. E. C. Smith was announced as the May 6 hostess.

DODGE "as attended them all; MRS. DELLA K. AGNELL returned too late from Washington one year and missed. MRS. Big League Teams Settle Down To Real Business

The sparring over the champion New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers settled down to the serious business of defending their laurels as the 1956 major league baseball season opened on all fronts today. Weather permitting, all 16 teams, including Baltimore and Washington, which staged a sneak preview yesterday in a traditional opener in the nation's capital, were to see action. One game will be played at night, between the Dodgers and Phillies in Philadelphia.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart
Sports dialogue:
RIP SEWELL, former big league hurler.
"You know, the tragic part about pitching is that just about the time you become a finished pitcher you're finished as a pitcher."
EARL TORGESEN, Detroit first sacker.
"They told me the first base job was mine. Not to worry. But they wanted to experiment with Ray Boone. It looks like the situation has gotten out of hand."
SUNNY JIM FITZSIMMONS, noted horse trainer.
"Nashua had to be urged, I don't believe he ever did his best. He was just satisfied to win. He had the greatest endurance of any horse I ever saw. But I guess we'll never know how fast he could really run."
"A good football player is a boy with a smile on his lips and murder in his heart. Psychologists may say you can't help boys gain courage. I say you can't treat them as individuals... develop their will to succeed. Get them thinking and saying 'I can, I will, I must'—and they will, believe me, they will."
JACK DEMPSEY, former heavyweight boxing champion.
"The crown doesn't fit Floyd Patterson. He's too young and he moved to the title without sufficient time to develop his full potential in monthly competition. However, he punches faster than any heavyweight I've ever seen."
TED WILLIAMS.
"I may not be the best hitter in baseball but I'm the best fisherman in the United States."
JOE LOUIS.
"Eddie Machen punches straight and hard. He can knock you out with one punch and that's dangerous. He's got one advantage over Floyd Patterson. He doesn't have to worry about getting hooked up in another of their many duels."
Milwaukee, favored to dethrone the Dodgers, opens with the Cubs in Chicago and leads off with its ace, Warren Spahn (20-11), opposed by Bob Rush (13-10).
The Cincinnati Redlegs take on the St. Louis Cardinals. Johnny Klippstein (12-11) is slated to take the mound against Herman Wehmeier (12-11).
SCOOP HUDGENS, football publicist at Vanderbilt University.
"Our new offense is a sort of variegated T formation which combines the more effective features of the single-wing and double-wing systems with those of the split T and standard T in a singular offense."
BIRDIE TEBBETTS, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.
"Someone asked me for my definition of a good catcher and I told him, 'An intelligent roughneck.'"
CASEY STENGEL, New York Yankee manager.
"As a pitcher Don Larsen has everything, including a fast ball that's faster than I looks. He can outrun any pitcher I've got and plenty of the other fellows. He can field his position and he can win five more games with his ball."
RALPH KINER, former big league outfielder.
"The easiest thing in the world, in my estimation, would be to play baseball on a winning team."
JOHNNY JOHNSON, Big Spring High School basketball coach.
"Harold Wilde must have his appendix taken out. We know that. It may surprise you how he'll grow after the operation."

Bluebonnets Blooming For Easter Sunday

ENNIS, Tex. (AP)—This is a vintage year for the state flower of Texas, the co-chairmen of the Ennis Garden Club's Bluebonnet Trails, which will open Easter Sunday, reported today.

The bluebonnets should be at their peak of bloom, Mrs. Walter C. Stout and Mrs. Crawford A. McMurray said.

The annual celebration was canceled last year after the blossoms failed to develop because of the drought. Encouraged by abundant spring rains the plants seem to be putting forth an extra effort to cooperate with the Garden Club this year. Ennis is 33 miles south of Dallas.

At first it was thought that the season's lush growth of grass might hide the bluebonnets, but the plants are sending up long spikes of blossoms which will be well above the grass against the emerald green background.

The townspeople have planned a 10-day festival using a pioneer days theme for the celebration.

The men are growing beards and wearing derbies. The women are wearing sunbonnets and long dresses reminiscent of early days in Ennis.

The festival program includes an Easter egg hunt for children at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The main event on Monday will be a livestock show and sale for Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, and 4-H Club boys and girls. A teen-age Road-E-O will be staged Tuesday.

An industrial show will open April 23 and on April 24, 25 and 26, there will be conducted tours of industrial plants.

Friday night, women and children will wear their costumes and participate in a pioneer days promenade and a street dance.

There will be a homecoming celebration Saturday, April 27.

A parade at 10 a.m. Saturday will be led by Secretary of State Zollicoffer. Steakley will speak at a noon barbecue on the Ennis Community Center grounds.

The bluebonnet queen will be crowned at the Community Center Saturday night. There will also be a judging of beards.

Air Business Leads In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Makers of missiles, aircraft and their power plants still do the biggest military business with the government.

A list of the 100 largest defense contractors for the 18 months ending last June 30 was published today by the Defense Department, which has put out such compilations at irregular intervals since July 1950.

Heading the list for the entire six-year period is General Motors Corp., but the big automotive concern dropped to No. 14 in the tabulation for the 18 months ending last June. In the 18-month period, GM received or held military contracts with a net value of $266 million dollars, or a little more than 2 per cent of the total defense contracts awarded in that time.

The leading company on the new 18-month list was North American Aviation. It was followed closely by General Dynamics Corp., which builds planes, submarines and missiles. The two

Job For Ex-Con Fulfillment Of Prayer In Jail

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—A classified advertisement in Sunday's Lawton Constitution - Press has behind it the fulfillment of a prayer by Noel Phillips, 23-year-old masonry contractor.

The ad said:

"Man or boy 18 to 23 years old. Must have court record. Prefer man who is on parole. Bring paper and apply in person..."

Phillips said the ad was part of a promise he made at the Englewood, Colo., federal reformatory eight years ago. Kneeling in his cell, he prayed:

"If I get out of here, I promise to help others like myself."

The following day he was paroled.

Phillips, head of a rapidly growing company he started here five years ago, hires only former prison inmates like himself. He estimates he has employed 400 to 500 parolees or former convicts. He has helped many others by finding them jobs.

Phillips, married and the father of two young sons, is an active member of the Westside Baptist Church.

The young contractor said more than a third of his life has been spent in state and federal reformatories.

After his parents separated, he ran away from home at Duncan, Okla., when he was 7. Picked up in Albuquerque, N.M., he was sent to a training school in Oklahoma.

While at the Stringtown Training School, he said, he learned his mother was ill and when prison officials refused permission for him to visit her, he escaped. His mother persuaded him to return voluntarily.

After his return, he was sent to the federal reformatory at Englewood, He was 12.

He was paroled in 1949 at 15 and returned to Duncan, where he went to work for an electrical company.

Later he became an apprentice with the Bricklayers Union at Lawton and in 1952 founded his own company.

Phillips said he hopes to show prison inmates they can return to "outside" life and become useful citizens. And he has a further dream.

"I'd like to start something like Boys' Town," he said. "The center could be a clearing house for former convicts and parolees desirous of work. Most men just out of prison are eager to work, to do anything to get back on their feet — but too often they don't get a chance."

Odessa Withdraws TV Application

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. L. Trigg, majority owner of stations KOSA-AM-TV at Odessa, Tex., has withdrawn his application for TV Channel 5 at Lubbock, Tex., the Communications Commission said yesterday.

The commission said the withdrawal left Texas Tech College as unopposed for the facility. Trigg said he would withdraw at Lubbock in order to expedite establishment of a Channel 5 service there.

Jordan To Press Cleanup Of Reds

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's new moderate Cabinet is expected to press a swift, thorough cleanup of pro-Communist elements in the government and school system.

Observers also looked for King Hussein — flushed with his military victory over leftist leaders — to invite James P. Richards, President Eisenhower's special envoy, to Amman to explain the President's Middle East doctrine.

There was no clear indication, however, that Jordan would subscribe to the American plan aimed at halting Communist penetration of the Middle East.

With the formation of a regime purged of Communists and extremists, Hussein emerged from the six-day crisis with new strength and stature. A dramatic display of loyalty by tough Bedouin troops of the Arab Legion turned the tide.

The Bedouins swarmed into the capital yesterday from strategic positions surrounding Amman. Security police loyal to the young monarch also were out in force with riot equipment.

Bolstered by this support, Hussein summoned all former prime ministers, senators and some deputies to the palace. They emerged after three hours with a seven-man government headed by Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, 61-year-old former foreign minister who Mild, Wet In Eastern U. S.

By The Associated Press

It was mild and a little wet in the eastern half of the country today and some cooling occurred in the western half.

Southerly winds pushed warm air northward into all the eastern half except along the Atlantic Coast where temperatures showed little change in the last 24 hours. But readings were about 12 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier in most other areas.

The southerly winds also brought wet weather from the Gulf, with scattered showers from the Great Lakes region west and southwestward through Texas and Oklahoma.

Scattered thundershowers also broke out from southern Missouri and western Tennessee through western Louisiana and Texas. Strong winds were reported in some areas.

Release Due For U.S. Ships In Suez

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is now about ready to allow American ships to pass through the Suez Canal under Egyptian terms—provided they do so under protest against Egypt's operating arrangements.

Top officials who disclosed this today predicted such a go-ahead to pay tolls direct to the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority.

The government move would void earlier State Department "advice" that American ships keep away from the canal until physical and negotiating hazards involved in reopening the waterway had been overcome.

Some American commercial ships are reported already approaching the canal, anticipating that the government will lift the ban within a few days even though Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser has refused to meet Western terms for operating the waterway.

The new American government attitude, officials said, would be made known about the time the Eisenhower administration officially informs the United Nations its confidential talks with Egypt have failed to yield a satisfactory settlement.

Such a report is expected to be made to the Security Council sometime this week. It will make clear the United States hope that further talks with Egypt will be held on the nine-month dispute which touched off fighting last October.

Although they have yielded little the private U.S.-Egyptian talks have continued in Cairo. U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare met for half an hour yesterday with Egypt Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

Responsible authorities said the American report to the U. N. Security Council would contend that Egypt has failed to live up to the six principles it pledged to follow last September in negotiating differences with Western shipping nations.

They said Nasser has refused to agree to an arrangement which would insulate the operation of the canal from the politics of any single nation. This was one of the six principles Nasser agreed to follow.

Hurry Up!

Miss Fancy, a two-week-old for Manchester pup, can hardly wait for feeding bottle offered by Susan Gaye, a secretary at station KTRK-TV, Houston. Feeding the pup, whose mother couldn't handle the chore, posed a problem for owner Nita Renfro, switchboard operator at the station. So, Miss Renfro bundled up the pup and took her to work where members of the station staff take turns every three hours handling the bottle detail.

C-C Brochure Available At $2 Per Copy

The new industrial brochure published by the Chamber of Commerce has become so popular that it is being made available — for a fee.

For those who wish to send it out to prospects or to industrial clients, there is no charge. Jimmie Beale, Chamber of Commerce president, emphasized. But directors Monday decided to put a $2 tag on copies of the brochure where it is wanted purely for private or personal use. Reason for this was the cost involved in production of the pictorial-statistical piece.

Wayne Smith, chamber manager, said that it had been mailed to several firms requesting industrial information about Big Spring. Other matters occupying the attention of the board at its Monday meeting included: Approval of an appropriation for "I Have Voted" tags to be handed out near the polls in Saturday's school bond election.

Heavy Penalties Start Piling Up On Unpaid Income Taxes

So you didn't get your 1956 income tax report in on April 15 — what can happen to you?

Ben Hawkins, in charge of the local USIRS office, says that it can be unpleasant and pretty costly.

For the first 30 days after the deadline, the government expects you to pay 5 per cent on any unpaid taxes you owe. This also reads "for any fraction of 30 days." If you run down today, for example, and your unpaid tax bills is $100 you could be clipped for an extra five bucks for the day's delay.

If you were real stubborn and didn't file the report until May 16 for example, the extra payment would be $10 — provided, for the sake of illustration, that your unpaid tax bill is $100. This can keep right on growing until 150 days have passed after April 15.

When that deadline arrives, your unpaid taxes will be upped by 25 per cent of their face.

"Does anyone ever get whacked the full 25 per cent?" was asked.

"They certainly do," said Hawkins. "Sometimes the interest runs into the thousands of dollars."

The moral is simply that the deadline is April 15 and if you want to save yourself money and annoyance, the thing to do is make that deadline. It's too late for this year but remember to be prompt in 1958.

Of course, — some folk won't. And they'll pay for their delinquency.

Scout First Aid Tourney Scheduled May 9 At HCJC

The Lone Star District Scout first aid meet has been set for the evening of May 9, according to Maurice R. Koger, district chairman.

He said that Dr. Clyde Thomas Jr. and Otto Peters Sr. will be in charge of this event scheduled for the Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

Each troop will send its winning patrol (or rather a team of four from the patrol) to the district meet. Each Explorer post also will send its winning team. Explorers attached to troops also may send teams to compete in the Explorer division.

Ribbons will be given according to the degree of proficiency attained rather than on a purely competitive placing.

To Protest Young Dems Meeting

ABILENE (AP)—A. L. Rhodes, former vice president of the Young Democrats of Texas, says he will "protest formally" the group's convention held in Dallas over the weekend.

Rhodes charged the "liberalist" element of the Young Democrats who controlled the convention "refused to have a recorded vote on any issue that came before it."

SEWAGE DISPOSAL

More Cities Now Turning Waste Products Into Cash

With Big Spring and Amarillo leading the way, some 200 Texas cities are currently turning sewage wastes into dollars by different processes.

And the idea is spreading to other states. Not all the cities are using the same methods, but all are deriving revenue from sewage disposal.

Big Spring and Amarillo use the process of selling sewage effluent for industrial use, while most of the cities sell the disposal for fertilizer.

As an example of the sewage's worth, Big Spring, during January, February, and March of this year, sold effluent to Cosden worth $2,142.18. This effluent is completely treated and is chemically pure when taken by Cosden.

In addition to selling the fluid, the city finds a ready market for all solids not used by the city as fertilizer. Among the city's customers are farmers and the country club.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, said that the city used most of the solids at the golf course, at the cemetery, and on lawns around city buildings.

Amarillo is using the same process as Big Spring. The two cities are the only ones in Texas using the process — and possibly the only ones in the United States. However, a group of officials from Greenville, S. C., came to Big Spring last summer and looked over the system here with the idea of copying it.

In Texas, however, most of the 200 cities making money from sewage disposal are selling it for irrigating feed crops, using the oxidation pond system. Regardless of the method, the idea is a partial answer to Texas' perennial water shortage, claim State Health Department water pollution control engineers.

Probably the easiest method from the standpoint of financial outlay is the oxidation pond. These ponds also create favorable environments for biological treatment of city wastes.

These ponds are among the most recent developments in the science of domestic waste disposal. Not to be confused with haphazard sewage lagoons, oxidation ponds conform to regular shapes and uniform depths.

Oxidation ponds work on this principle: when partially treated domestic sewage is discharged into shallow ponds, algae — a type of tiny vegetable growth — will flourish in the water, aided by sunlight. In the presence of sunshine, the algae releases oxygen into the water. The oxygen acts to convert organic matter in the sewage to carbon dioxide, which in turn is used by the algae in its growth processes. The algae is then harvested and used as fertilizer in most cities and also as feed for baby chicks in California.

Most of the 200 cities in Texas are using this method. Lubbock is irrigating 1,860 acres of grass and pastureland, and Brady grazes 100 head of cattle on 35 acres irrigated with reclaimed water.

Arizona, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, and Missouri are other states becoming increasingly interested in this method of sewage treatment and use, according to the Health Department.

While further research will be necessary before use of effluent can be recommended for irrigating crops for human consumption, its value for feed crop irrigation is indisputable.

Besides their usefulness for waste disposal and irrigation, a move is afoot to see if the ponds can be used for fish culture. Since effluent can readily be made to support fish in limited numbers, State Health Department engineers and Fish and Game Commission biologists believe there may be a possibility of cultivating fish in sufficient quantities for commercial sale as dog and cat food and fertilizer. If so, the ponds could become an additionally important source of city revenue.

Burglary Suspect Is Found Guilty

It took a jury in 118th District Court less than 15 minutes Monday afternoon to find Moses Viera guilty of burglary and assess his punishment in the state penitentiary at two years.

Viera was the first defendant to face a jury at the current criminal jury docket before Judge Charlie Sullivan. His trial opened at 11 a. m. The court read his charge to the jurors at 1:30 and the state and defense attorneys limited their arguments to brief summations.

The jury marched out shortly before 3 p. m. and was back with its verdict at 3:15 p. m.

Viera was charged with burglary in connection with a break-in at the National Supply Company store. The break-in occurred on Feb. 9 of this year. A cold-drink vending machine was looted and offices were prowled.

Viera did not take the stand in the defense of his case. A fingerprint expert from Austin identified prints taken from the desk in the store as being those of Viera. A statement in which Viera admitted the break-in was admitted. Plaster cast of a footprint found at the store and a pair of shoes identified as being Viera's, which the state insisted matched the cast, were introduced.

A second indictment against Viera is still on the docket. Viera had reported to court on Friday of last week with a group of prisoners who wished to enter pleas of guilty. Just before his case was called, he retracted his wish to plead and was taken back to his cell. His case was docketed as No. 1 when the criminal jury docket opened on Monday by Guilford Jones, district attorney.

Attorney For AF Hero Says Client Wasn't Rational

ABILENE (AP)—Davis Scarborough, attorney for a former Air Force hero of the world's first atom bomb raids, says he feels his client is rational now but was not rational at the time he is accused of breaking into West Texas post offices.

The former officer, Claude Eatherly, 38, of Van Alstyne, was charged along with another man of breaking into post offices at View and Avoca.

Eatherly was committed to the Waco Veterans' Hospital April 6 for an examination to determine if he was mentally capable of helping in his own defense.

The former major holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and other decorations. He flew reconnaissance on the atomic bomb raids against Japan.

Modern Jerusalem To Jericho

The story of the man who went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves, was beaten up and stripped of his raiment, and lay there groaning while various people passed him by until the good Samaritan came along, was almost duplicated in Charleston, the capital of West Virginia, one night last week.

For 12 hours Slater lay there in agony, but no good Samaritan came along until 8 o'clock the next morning, when a man opening a garage nearby noticed the victim and phoned the police.

Now For The Follow Up Work

This 55th Texas Legislature has been one of the "investigatingest" in modern history. It has turned up a vast amount of shady conduct and questionable practices. In this work it has been diligent, responsible and effective.

Two bodies will work together or in close liaison isn't clear yet. It is comforting to know that the subject of skulduggery in public office isn't going to be put into mothballs between sessions.

Spot Where John Baptized Christ

EDITOR'S NOTE: By American definition, the River Jordan is the river at all — in most parts of this country it would be called creek. In the Jordan a muddy water occurred one of the major events of Christ's life. His baptism by John, here's a report on how the baptismal site looks today.

This is the Jordan River at the spot where Christ was baptized by John. The desert (Biblical "wilderness") can be seen beyond the strip of vegetation at the water's edge.

By WILTON WYNN
JERICHO, Jordan (AP) — Water is exported to the ends of the earth from a muddy creek near here where John baptized Christ.

verdant spots, the valley is the domain of jackals, hyenas, and wild pigs roaming over rocky soil among desert shrubs. Rising on either side of the Jordan plain are the semi-desert hills of Judea to the west and Moab to the east.

Every Jan. 6 the anniversary of Christ's baptism is observed in a special service on the water. Bearded priests in their vestments stand in a flat-bottomed boat to say mass over the exact spot where they believe Christ was baptized. In the early centuries of the Christian era the site was marked by a cross standing in the river bed.

Modern economic planning may affect the site of the sacred baptism in the next few years. A vast irrigation scheme for the Jordan Valley calls for diverting the waters of the Jordan's main tributary, the Yarmuk, into irrigation canals. This probably will lower the level of the narrow Jordan below the baptismal site.

That tree growth is affected by the length of the day. Most trees stop growing within a month of they are limited to eight hours of natural light a day.

Around The Rim

He Didn't Shoot The Editor

Subscribers to newspapers want the news—all of the news. They will tell you so, if you are a newspaperman. They will also tell you just how they would run the newspaper and what they would print if they had control.

I had some rather important appointments for the next day. But, I asked myself, how am I to know when this gentleman makes his entrance into the office? I had never seen him. What preparations should I make for his reception? Get me a gun to tote? Take a train out of town?

Some subscribers also get sore sometimes when something about them appears in the paper which is undeniably true but which they had much rather had not seen the light of print. They get very angry about such items sometimes.

Well, the upshot was that he didn't reach. He fumed, fretted, cursed and argued but he didn't make a play for his gun. Finally he stalked out, still mad, muttering what he would ultimately do to me. (He never did, incidentally.)

Once upon a time when I was an editor, one of my reporters wrote a story about a divorce suit which had been filed in the local courts. It was a juicy story—the man's wife had accused him of nearly every crime but treason, mayhem and murder and had even hinted at the second of these. She named names in her petition listing in neat alphabetical order the names and addresses of his several lady friends whom the wife named as correspondents. It was a quite readable story if you care for that sort of thing.

Under the long, hot sheds, all is automation, swift and efficient, but purely human and purely wonderful. From the moment a truckload of bananas backs up to one of the sheds, the human assembly line goes into marvelous action.

It was only a seven-mile drive from Tower Isle to the port, but all Jamaican roads were obviously laid out by a snake with a skin full of the local rum. The Jamaican roads specialize in the sharpness of hairpin turns, every hundred feet and anyone subject to motion sickness ought to have a seasick remedy handy.

By this time, with so much handling, the bananas should have been reduced to mush, if not oil. But they were still firm as rocks. So they are picked green in order to ease the transportation problem? Not a tree-ripened banana is inedible. It is equally ruinous to leave 'em on the tree or in the refrigerator!

ROME — Returning to Rome, where I have not been for over three years, I have been struck by how much less dramatic and momentous is the atmosphere of public life. Always before this there has been great anxiety in which it was felt that Italy was one of the main theaters of the cold war. The times have changed. Though there is in fact a parliamentary crisis which may have important consequences, there is nothing like the tension of the post-war years.

There is a parliamentary crisis which will have to be resolved after the deputies return in May from their Easter holidays. The present government is a coalition, of which the predominant and central part is made up of the Christian Democrats. Although the Christian Democrats are the largest party, they do not command a majority. Only in coalition with two much smaller parties, the right-wing Social Democrats and the Liberals, can they form an effective government.

That if Friday the 13th worries you, you can relax until next September. That Viscount Soulbury, recalling a Chinese proverb that "He who goes to bed early to save candles begets twins," sought while he was governor general of Ceylon to reduce population increase by introducing electric lighting.

The present crisis is, I am told, due at bottom to the fact that there are to be elections next year. The party leaders are maneuvering for position. This raises the question of whether the existing coalition is to stand together or is to fall apart.

House Isn't Home, It's A Showplace

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — On the living room wall his current girl friend's picture was framed by an object oval in shape and designed for a more utilitarian purpose. The chandelier was an inverted baptismal font, admittedly stolen from a church being renovated. You entered the house through a tunnel and a shaft, which was topped by a regular manhole cover in the center of the living room. He served highballs in soup bowls.

This partially describes the craziest house I ever visited in Hollywood. It was built by Jack McDermott, a scenarist, whose passing a few years ago ended an era. Strain of competition didn't keep the man in an ulcerous condition the whole time. Jack had tamed some white pigeons, but he went further: he dyed them pastel shades.

A house is a sign of success in movieland. Big success, big house. Harold Lloyd, who made it before high taxes, still maintains a mansion in Beverly Hills, the taxes on which, last time I checked, were $18,000 a year. Not far from him is an older, and larger house, which Thomas H. Ince built in the Twenties. Its scores of doors were fitted with gold plated door knobs.

When Norma Shearer and the late Irving Thalberg lived on the ocean front at Santa Monica, they had the usual appurtenances of Hollywood success — six-car garage, oversized swimming pool, projection machine recessed in the living room and the only sound-proofed, light-proofed bedroom I ever heard of. When Norma told me about that on a visit, I used the old gee whiz approach that I'd learned in South Dakota and said I couldn't believe it. So she took me upstairs, pressed a button that rolled up some windows and slid heavy drapes over them. Then you couldn't hear the surf booming 50 yards away and you couldn't see your hand in front of you at mid-day.

When Ralph Bellamy and Frank Conroy came here in the 30s, they weren't making enough money to buy a house so they rented one in the hills. It had been built for some scholarly character by Frank Lloyd Wright. In the living room were, by measurement, 268 feet of book shelves. I remarked that the place looked pretty bare with no books. Ralph and Frank went immediately to a second hand book store and bought 268 feet of books. In assorted colors, naturally.

The most fabled of all movieland homes was Marion Davies' beach "cottage." It had 24 bedrooms and the same number of baths. But there also were living quarters for servants, who numbered 32. Some of these servants spent their time keeping the 37 fireplaces clean. The cottage is reputed to have cost a mere 1 1/4 million dollars when built in the 20s, and the furnishings, imported from all over the world, four million.

Still a show place — we always

Bishop Escorted To Wrong Church

LIBERTY, Mo. — Someone forgot to tell the police escort that the Bishop was Methodist. The escort was arranged for the 15-mile trip from Kansas City to Liberty when Bishop Eugene M. Frank's plane landed at Kansas City behind schedule. The escorting patrolman, told only that Frank was a bishop, led the caravan to St. James Catholic Church, seven blocks from Liberty Methodist.

The wrong turn was soon righted and the St. Louis bishop pulled up in time for the service in his honor.

Washday Chore Leaves Clean Floor

COLUMBIA, S.C., April 16 — Gary Tidwell, who is 3, took over the Monday morning chores. In the absence of his mother, he dumped the entire contents of a large package of washing powder into the washing machine. When Mrs. Buford Tidwell returned to her kitchen, she was confronted with a sea of suds her son had caused. "The suds were up to my knees in the kitchen; then ran out onto the back porch. I washed them off the porch with the hose and now they're all over the back yard," she said. "But the kitchen floor is very, very clean."

Escapeses May Get Dose Of Own Work

PHILADELPHIA — Inmates at Honesburg Prison are going to manufacture slugs for policemen's bullets. Edward J. Hendrick, superintendent of Philadelphia prisons, says the foundry will keep prisoners busy and at the same time save the city "considerable money each year." He emphasized that the bullets would be completed with powder and jackets outside the prison.

That Would Be Seventh Heaven

NEW YORK — How would you like to get a week off, with full pay, every seventh week of the year?

Starting May 1, top executives of Bart Schwartz International Textiles Ltd. are going to get just that. They'll have to take the vacations whether they want to or not.

Announced aim of the mandatory program is to cut down the number of heart attacks, strokes and ulcers among executives in key textile jobs.

Nonexecutive employes will continue to get the regular paid two-week vacation once a year.

Tall Tornado Tales Told By Texas College Teacher

DENTON, Tex., April 16 — A professor who gathers tall tornado tales told today about a piano, airborne with its owner, that played "Nearer My God To Thee" on a merry twister ride.

Dr. Howard C. Key said it happened to Col. William Porter at Cisco, Tex., in 1893.

"He found himself waving his arms and legs somewhere in mid-air. Seconds later he slammed into some object. Then he heard music and decided he was either dead or dying," Dr. Key related.

"It was their new player piano, the kind that had to be pumped with foot pedals. The suction of the wind had somehow started it going and it was appropriately playing "Nearer My God To Thee." Both Mr. Porter and the piano were lodged in a big pecan tree 50 yards away. Neither was much damaged."

Dr. Key, professor of English at North Texas State College, has been gathering tornado folklore for 30 years.

Here are some of them: The wind that yanked a farmer and his mule aloft, seated the farmer on the mule and landed them both right side up a half-mile away.

The Kansas twister that some 50 years ago gathered a baby out of its cradle and deposited it unscathed in a haystack a mile away.

The one that tore an eastbound Northern Pacific locomotive from its freight cars and set it down full steam ahead on a parallel westbound track.

And one that turned iron washpots inside out in East Texas and Kansas.

"Tornadoes are pretty much like people," Dr. Key said in an interview. "They have their whims and ambitions, their impulses good and bad."

"The worst mistake they made was to venture into New England in 1954. Until then they'd been running wild and people in the rest of the country accepted them, like measles.

"But New Englanders set up a public howl. So now through the U.S. Weather Bureau, the awful eye of science has been turned upon these murderous intruders.

And justice is about to be done." Dr. Key seems optimistic about the results. He doesn't own a storm cellar.

STUDENTS TOLD Business Needs Young 'Builders'

Business needs a steady stream of bright young men and women who are builders and not wreckers, Bill McCurdy, Dallas, told the annual Distributive Education Education-Employer banquet.

McCurdy, who is public relations director for Sears, Roebuck Company in the Southwest, spoke to the gathering at the Wagon Wheel. The day of "let the buyer beware" is over in business, he declared, and now the public demands businessmen with social consciences as well as business acumen.

Today's customers expect business people to belong to, work in and financially support their churches, he continued. They demand business people who are friendly and who avoid malicious gossip. They are insisting on business strength comes from the strength of the community and who, therefore, give as much as they receive. Moreover, said McCurdy, they want business people who are progressive enough to belong to service and civic organizations and who will qualify themselves for leadership.

"We can tighten our hearts and purses and die," he declared, "or we can give and have prosperous lives."

Kirby Brown presided as toastmaster. Invocation was by Irene Billings, the welcome by Jane Robeson, president, and the response by J. B. Wington, who expressed appreciation to the DE students for their actual day-day contribution to business. Frank Farar, co-ordinator, introduced guests and the employers, and Yvonne Spence introduced club officers and members. The Distributive Education Creed was given by Paula Hon.

Liquor Trial Begins Today

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Twenty police officials and a newspaperman go on trial in U. S. District Court today on charges they plotted to break federal liquor laws.

Selection of a jury was expected to be a swift process under an agreement reached last week by prosecution and defense lawyers.

Defendants include Tulsa Police Commissioner Jay L. Jones; his suspended police chief, Paul Livingston; and Tulsa Tribune reporter Nolan Bulloch, a veteran specialist in crime and political news.

The others are six police officers, all suspended; seven bond-ladders; a billiard parlor operator; a grocery-political worker; a professional bondsman and a Joplin, Mo., liquor store operator.

They are charged with conspiring since Jan. 1, 1948, to import liquor into constitutionally dry Oklahoma and sell it without paying government taxes.

The importation count, a misdemeanor, carries on conviction a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. The tax evasion charge is a felony, punishable on conviction by a prison term up to five years and a $2,000 fine.

Two Kinds Of Boats
Made By Eskimos

By RAMON COFFMAN
Spending much of their time on the shores of the sea, Eskimos have special need for boats. There are times when they hunt seals on the ice, but they often need to venture into the water to obtain their game.

The best known Eskimo boat is the Kayak (pronounced JY-ack). This is a sort of canoe, about 15 feet long, but the man who paddles it steps into an opening and laces his clothing to the gunwale. Seated there, he is in a snug position. Even when the kayak turns over, he suffers little trouble. The boat is proof against the entry of water, and his clothing is much the same. Usually he can get the boat right side up in a hurry, with nothing worse happening to him than ice-cold water on his face.

Q. Does only one person ride in a kayak?
A. That is the usual thing. Sometimes however, a kayak is made to hold two persons.

Q. Is there a larger kind of Eskimo boat?

The oomiak (also spelled "umiak") may measure 30 feet in length and eight feet in width. It has a wooden framework, with skins stretched over the frame. Eskimos think of the oomiak as "the woman's boat." Women (a dozen or more of them) may use it for a trip, paddling along safely enough.

Q. What is the meaning of the name "Eskimo?"
A. It means "eater of raw flesh." This name was applied by Indian tribesmen in Canada, after they observed that Eskimos seldom, if ever, cooked their meat.

It was hard to obtain wood in far northern areas, and that prevented early Eskimos from cooking. Most modern Eskimos prefer cooked meat when they have fuel. "AFRICA'S PEOPLE AND CUSTOMS" is another leader Uncle Ray offers free to his readers. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Uncle Ray in care of this newspaper for your copy.

Thank Rival,
Don't Hit Him

BOSTON (AP) — Superior Court Judge Felix Forte had this bit of advice yesterday for a college student who lost his girl to a rival: Thank him, don't beat him up.

The advice was offered when Ronald Willey, 20, of West Hartford, Conn., a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, pleaded no contest to a charge of assault and battery.

He said he found Dean Haerer, a Boston University student, in a parked car with pretty Barbara Rockliffe, a BU coed who was Willey's childhood sweetheart in West Hartford.

Haerer had to be treated in City Hospital for a black eye and bloody nose.

Eugene McCabe, Willey's counsel, told the court Miss Rockliffe broke her engagement with Willey five days before the fight.

Judge Forte commented: "This man is not a criminal. This is a disappointment in love."

"He shouldn't have hit the other man though — he should have thanked him."
He placed the case on file.

your eyes and ears
for the WHOLE Story

BOB SMITH keeps a watch for you on the important state, national and international news.

HE EDITS the Associated Press wire for the Herald. This wire is connected with the Dallas Bureau, where all the state news is intermingled with the national and world report—day by day, minute by minute.

WHEN RIOTS break out in Hungary—when the Suez canal crisis reaches explosive proportions—when Kruchschew blurts out some tirade against the West, Bob Smith's job is to see that the essence of the news, with its background and its up-to-the-minute developments, reaches you.

ONCE he has sifted through the volume of news and edits for your particular interests, he writes headlines and displays the stories so that you may find and read them easily.

BOB SMITH is one of a team the Herald has organized to be your eyes and ears for the WHOLE story of the passing scene.
