Outlook Better For Teachers Pay Raise

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas school teachers' chances for a pay raise this year looked better today after the House passed a bill aimed at furnishing 11 million dollars. The amount will not be enough to pay the projected $399 million increase, but another measure is pending in the Senate and a surplus from the major spending bill may be enough. The House spent most of the morning on 45 local and uncontested bills that included a generous scattering of bills of general interest. All passed by a joint 121-0 vote. Measures sent to the governor overnight; and another authorizing establishment of a state mentally retarded school some time in the future at a site not yet selected. The Senate quit yesterday until Monday after a near-filibuster by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas. Parkhouse talked for about three hours in an attempt to take Dallas out of a bill expanding civil service for firemen and policemen before the senators gave up and voted to go home. Rep. Louis Dugas of Orange whipped up a 37-41 vote to send his bill (HB 103) from the House to the Senate. It would take 1 percent of the permanent school fund and place it in the available school fund for use by the Legislature as it sees fit. Dugas says the 11 million dollars to be transferred during the next three years would go to the teachers.

Representatives fighting the bill said the teachers could get their raise but not from "dipping into the kiddies' piggy bank." Several said they would vote for new taxes if necessary to raise the 50 million dollars for the increase. "I think we should have the courage to vote a tax if we want to give our teachers a raise," said Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland. "This is not the time or place to start dipping into the kiddies' piggy bank," said Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs. "I worked as a school teacher for $75 a month and was considered one of the best paid men in town. I'll vote for any reasonable tax bill."

Action Due In 3 Oregon Vice Cases

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Legal action stemming from grand jury investigations of vice and corruption here is scheduled in three courts today. The trial of Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins on charges of violation of federal wiretap laws resumes in U.S. District court. Portland Dist. Atty. William Langley, convicted on a state charge of deliberate failure to prosecute gambling, is to appear in State Circuit Court in connection with his appeal for a new trial. Finally, Doug Baker, a reporter for the Oregon Journal, is to appear in another State Circuit Court in connection with his refusal yesterday to testify before the vice-probing County grand jury.

of the late John Sweeney, secretary-treasurer of the Western Conference of Teamsters, but denied that he ever had been an employee of the Teamsters Union. That he was employed by Langley as an "undercover agent" and received a total of $1,200 to $1,500 in small payments in the latter part of 1955 for "closing up houses of prostitution."

Both Maloney and Elkins are under indictment on a number of state charges. Both men appeared before the Senate committee investigating labor racketeering last month. Elkins answered questions freely. Maloney refused to answer many questions, citing the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination. State Circuit Judge Frank J. Lonergan has ordered Langley to appear in court today for possible sentencing. Langley is subject to a fine and removal from office because of his conviction on the non-prosecution of gambling charges. Reporter Baker, under subpoena to testify before the county grand jury, was taken before State Circuit Judge Charles W. Redding yesterday when he refused to answer the jury's questions.

Barber Who Shaved Outlaw Frank James Dies In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Barber Johnny Dickson, 89, who used to number outlaw Frank James among his regular customers, died yesterday. Dickson, who worked at his trade until late last year, said in April 1956 he had cut his smoking down to nine cigars a day and hadn't had a fist fight in eight years. The colorful old man started barbering at Paris, Tex., at 14, standing on a box to reach the tops of the customers' heads. He came to Dallas in 1887, when the town was far from tame. He started working at the Bird Cage Barber Shop, so called because two canaries suspended from gilded cages sang for the customers. One of the regular clients was a slim blond man with blue-gray eyes, Dickson often related. He would ride up to the shop on a handsome sorrel horse and simply drop the reins. The animal always waited for its owner, Frank James, brother of train robber Jesse. James was quiet and didn't have much to say, Dickson remembered. Barber shops have tamed down some, Dickson used to say. Then he'd relate how he won a horse and buggy in a barbershop crap game just before the turn of the century. "Couldn't get away with that sort of thing now," he'd say, with just a suspicion of regret.

Five years ago he had his last fist fight. He said a youngster of about 40 spoke disrespectfully to him. They say at the barber shop Dickson knocked his opponent down three times and won the fight. He concluded by calling for "free and nondiscriminatory use of the canal at all times by the ships of all nations."

U. S. Accepts Egypt's Suez Plan On Conditional Basis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States agreed today to accept Egypt's Suez plan on a provisional basis, but reserved its final acceptance until the plan has been put to trial. The U.S. position was laid before the U.N. Security Council by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who said the plan announced by the Egyptian government earlier this week left much to be desired. Lodge announced that, pending a final settlement, U.S. vessels will be authorized to pay tolls to Egypt only under protest, as has been the case since President Nasser nationalized the 103-mile waterway last July. The U.S. delegate said the Egyptian plan, set forth in a memorandum to the U.N., falls short of the six requirements adopted by the Security Council last October 13 as a basis for a settlement. He noted especially the lack of any provision for "organized cooperation" in the operation and control of the canal, which Egypt had promised last November in a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. "In view of this lack of provision for organized and systematic cooperation between Egypt and the users," Lodge said, "there is no assurance that the six require-

Upholds Right Of Opinion In Talk To GOP Workers

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, target of some criticism by fellow Republicans lately, said today, "There are differences of opinion within our party and I hope there always will be." Without specifically noting any criticism of himself, the President predicted GOP success, but said: "Under our two-party system, a national party must contain within it divergent points of view reflecting the varying opinions on national issues from state to state, region to region. "This is a healthy condition as long as the fundamental beliefs within that party provide a common nucleus of thought, a common ground. We have that in the Republican party—a set of unalterable truths that bind us together into an inseparable whole, dedicated to conducting the government of the United States in the best interests of its people." Eisenhower expressed his views in a talk prepared for delivery by telephone from his vacation headquarters here to party workers attending a New England regional conference sponsored by the Republican National Committee at Providence, R.I.

Masons Slate Big Fete Here

Some 1,500 Masons from throughout Texas are expected here May 11 for a program honoring Paul Turney of Sonora, top official for Masonic lodges in Texas. The program is to be staged by the 80th Masonic District with Big Spring Lodge No. 1340 as host lodge. Activities also are being planned for the wives of Masons, with the Laura B. Hart Chapter No. 1019 of the Order of Eastern Star to be in charge. Turney, of the Dee Orr lodge in Sonora, is most worshipful grand master for Texas Masons. Activities honoring the state leader will include a barbecue to be served in the football stadium on the Howard County Junior College campus. It will be followed by a party in the college gymnasium. Masons are due to gather here throughout the day, and there will be tours of H.C.J.C. facilities and the Cosden refinery during the afternoon, said Dr. T. C. Tinkham, worshipful master of the local lodge.

Third Life Term Is Due

Millard Hassell, charged with forgery under a habitual criminal indictment, was found guilty as charged by a jury in 118th District Court on Thursday afternoon. The jury deliberated only half an hour before returning its verdict to Judge Charlie Sullivan. Hassell, under such a conviction, will be sentenced by Judge Sullivan to life imprisonment. He will probably not be sentenced until 10 days have expired. He is the third defendant to draw a life sentence at the current criminal jury sessions in district court. Harmon Neal and Kenneth Neal, convicted of robbery by assault, were the other two men to be sentenced to life. Hassell, according to the state's evidence, had been previously convicted on two occasions for forgery and sentenced to penitentiary terms. Whether an appeal is to be taken in the case was not known at the courthouse on Friday.

New Floods Pose Threats To Texas

Heavy Shower Hits Southeast Part Of City

Another mid-morning rain, second in two days, brought additional welcome moisture to Big Spring Friday. Measurements varied sharply but in certain parts of the town, particularly in the southeast section, it was reported unofficially that as much as an inch and possibly more fell in the hard down-pour which lasted from about 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Over town, the several gauges checked showed from .5 inch on the extreme southwest edge of town to .3 inch in the Washington Place area. U. S. Experiment Station had only a faint shower. It was barely measurable, the station reported. The total was only .05. Some light hail fell in parts of town. There were no reports of serious damage although it was said the rains caused some washing of yards in the Monticello Addition where the downpour was particularly heavy. The area in the central part of City Park looked like a small lake at noon as run-off water swept down the draw past the picnic area. The stream spilled into the Cosden lake which has risen four feet at noon. A torrent was still pouring into the lake at 1 p.m. Lighting played an important part in the storm. A bolt struck the vent pipe from the kitchen range at the David Waldo Jones residence, 1700 Virginia, played down the pipe and raced across the top of the range. The light bulbs on the stove were burned out. Mr. and Mrs. Jones were in the kitchen when the bolt struck but neither was hurt. Jones stepped out on the porch a few minutes later and a second bolt struck in the yard. Washing of yards was rather extensive in the 1900 block of Morrison Drive. Water ran high over the curbs in the Monticello Addition. The rains of Thursday and Friday have provided most sections of the city with more than three-quarters of an inch of rain and in some sections the total is well above an inch. Officially, the U.S. Experiment Station measurements to 11:30 for the two days stands at .51 inch. As on Thursday, the rains this morning developed rapidly when the elements were ready to loose their deluge. Cloudy skies greeted early risers and the sun was unable to push through the blanket. Rolling in from the south and southwest the storm lashed into activity around 10:30 a.m. and continued for the best part of an hour. Low hanging clouds and occasional sprinkles were still prevailing at noon. The Texas Electric Service Company switching plant reported an additional 60 inch Friday, bringing its two-day total to 1.6 inches. The TESCO said it had no new reports on the rainfall in the area at noon. Police reported that lightning smashed a tree at the entrance to the City Park at U.S. Highway 87. The tree was shattered and bark and branches scattered widely over the area. Reports from Auburn Street said (See CITY, Page 8, Col. 3)

LAKE GAINS SUBSTANTIALLY

Two major lakes in the area picked up substantial amounts of run-off in the wake of Thursday and Friday showers. Lake Colorado City, four miles southwest of Colorado City on Morgan Creek, gained 2 1/2 feet and it is possible still more will be received. This accounted for 1 1/4 billion gallons of water. The new elevation is 2,062.90 at the Texas Electric Service lake. Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir, gained from elevation 2,247.99 to 2,248.20, or little better than 1,000 acre feet. The volume of water caught was about the same, however, as at Lake Colorado City.

5 People Hurt In Tyler Tornado

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tornadoes struck East Texas injuring five persons at Tyler Friday as cloudbursts loosed more than 5 inches of rain. New floods were posed in many sections of the state. Nearly 300 children escaped injury when a twister ripped into two elementary schools and destroyed or damaged 25 homes at Tyler. Tornadoes were also sighted around Kilgore and Longview. Another twister did minor damage near New Braunfels in Central Texas. Hundreds left their homes when floodwaters swirled over sections of San Antonio, Abilene, Dallas and Fort Worth. Flash flood warnings were issued for the Trinity River. New tornado and violent thunderstorm warnings were issued for West Texas for between noon and 6 p.m. Friday. The area is bounded by a line from Wichita Falls to Colorado City, San Angelo, Brady, Denison and back to Wichita Falls. The danger zone included several other states, running 60 miles on either side of a line running from San Angelo to Springfield, Mo. Another tornado alert, also to end at 6 p.m., was set for a North and Central Texas area bounded by Bonham, Stephenville, Bryan, Carthage, north to the Red River and back to Bonham. It included the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The warning also predicted hailstorms during the alert period. At least three deaths were attributed to the flood. An unidentified man was swept into the surging waters of Rock Creek at Mineral Wells. Sammy Jones, 22, of Richmond drowned while trying to herd cattle out of the Brazos lowlands. Howard Lewis, 20, of Hillsboro was killed when his car ran into a washed out bridge at West.

No Letup In Sight For Plains States

By The Associated Press
A week of violent weather in Texas and other sections of the plains states showed no letup today as damaging wind and rain struck many of the storm-battered areas. More tornadoes and severe thunderstorms were indicated for southwest Missouri, extreme eastern Oklahoma, most of northwestern Arkansas, western parts of southwestern Arkansas and extreme Northeast Texas. Tornadoes ripped across areas again yesterday in Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska. At least four tornadoes struck water-soaked Texas, causing considerable property damage. Floods threatened in southeast and central parts of the state. Gov. Price Daniel was to ask President Eisenhower to designate the hardest hit areas for federal disaster relief. A 76-year-old man was killed and 18 other persons injured, none seriously, and from 75 to 100 homes were damaged in a tornado that hit Milford, Neb., a town of 950 population some 20 miles west of Lincoln in the eastern part of the state. Tornado winds swept the prairie lands in southeast Nebraska but no injuries were reported. Heavy rain and hail hit some areas. A tornado also smashed through three blocks of the business district of Holdenville, Okla. last night as violent weather erupted throughout the entire southern and northeastern section of Oklahoma. The rains came from a line of thunderstorms that rumbled from the San Antonio area northward to the upper Red River valley. Rising rivers and creeks in Southeast and Central Texas surged at flood stages following the seventh day of torrential rains, hail and thunderstorms. Creeks and streams spilled out of their banks in West Texas in a new flood area. Some 125 persons were evacuated when flood waters of Elm Creek and Cat's Claw Creek swirled into the Henson addition in Northwest Abilene. The water ran waist deep into some homes. The Red Cross took over arrangements for finding temporary shelter for those who fled their homes. A heavy thunderstorm lashed San Antonio early Friday, overflowing already swollen creeks within the city. The Police Department said between 50 and 100 families on the north and west side of San Antonio had to be evacuated from their homes. The surging flood waters spilled into streets that already were impassable by the flash flood that covered the city two days ago. (See STATE, Page 8, Col. 3)

3 Inches Fall Near Coahoma

COAHOMA (SC)—Rain measuring up to three inches has fallen in the section since Thursday morning. Total at the Coahoma High School was only .59 for the two days, but Gordon Creel said the rainfall has been heavier in all directions from the school. Amounts range from the .59 to three inches on the Gulf lease three miles southeast of Coahoma. Rainfall at the school included 4.4 inches on Thursday and 19 up to 12:30 p.m. today, when it was still showering. A heavy thunderstorm lashed San Antonio early Friday, overflowing already swollen creeks within the city. The Police Department said between 50 and 100 families on the north and west side of San Antonio had to be evacuated from their homes. The surging flood waters spilled into streets that already were impassable by the flash flood that covered the city two days ago. (See STATE, Page 8, Col. 3)

U. S. Seeks To Halt Mid-East Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported using every resource of its diplomacy today to prevent the Jordanian crisis from exploding into a new Middle East war.

The possibility of American forces becoming directly involved under present circumstances was generally discounted here.

But no official could say when circumstances might change radically.

It was understood that American representatives in Middle East capitals were under instructions to emphasize to all the governments there the extreme seriousness of the situation and to urge that they do nothing to "rock the boat."

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California and Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) conferred for 40 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles yesterday. It was disclosed also that Dulles and his aides had conferred by telephone with other Senate and House leaders.

Knowland told newsmen that "everyone in that area of the world would be well advised not to rock the boat."

"The situation is serious from the point of view of developments," Knowland said. Up until this moment there is no armed insurrection, no involvement of forces outside of the country, in a military sense. We will have to wait and see what happens."

Asked whether the President's Middle Eastern policy of using American forces if necessary to protect nations in that area against open Communist aggression would apply in the case of Jordan, Knowland said, "It depends on what conditions arise."

"If there should be outside intervention by the Soviet Union it most certainly would apply," he said. "It might apply under other circumstances too."

JESSE C. DRAPER

MEN IN SERVICE

Jesse C. Draper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Draper of Forsan, is en route to Europe where he will serve with the Army Signal Corps.

Young Draper graduated from signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and left there Monday for Fort Dix where he was to embark for Europe. He expects to spend 14 months in Europe.

Attending his graduation at Fort Monmouth were his parents, his sister, Verna, and brother, C. L. Draper.

King's Action Stirs Dickering Among Allies

CAIRO (AP)—King Hussein's crackdown on his enemies in Jordan spurred intense dickering today among his nominal Arab allies.

While Hussein's army apparently kept Jordan under tight check, neighboring Syria and Egypt were reported faced with the King's demand that Syria pull back the 5,000 troops it has in northern Jordan, ostensibly for protection against Israel.

Hussein already had accused his "brothers in Egypt" of stirring up the riots which brought on his declaration of martial law and total curfew yesterday. Withdrawal of the Syrian forces would further threaten Egyptian President Nasser's leadership of the four-nation Arab alliance of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia. But failure to pull out the Syrians risked a clash with Iraqi troops and perhaps the soldiers of Saudi Arabia's King Saud.

Syria's President Shukri Kuwattiyah and an Egyptian delegation were flying to see Saud today after an urgent conference in Cairo with President Nasser. Where Saud stands still was not clear, but both he and Hussein have taken a strong anti-Communist line and he has been reported backing Hussein in his crackdown on Jordanian extremist elements.

Meanwhile, the U. S. 6th Fleet sped toward the tense eastern Mediterranean in a show of strength, and the U. S. government accepted Hussein's avowal that "international communism" also was to blame for his troubles — an assessment that could bring American forces to the young monarch's aid if he asks for them. As yet he has not.

American diplomats in the Middle East were reported quietly trying to prevail on all Jordan's neighbors to act with restraint.

Radio Moscow trumpeted that the United States was trying to "set up a Jordan government which would adopt the aggressive Eisenhower Doctrine."

Britain joined the United States in declaring that Jordan's independence is essential to Middle East peace, in effect an invitation to Hussein to call for help to save his crown.

But before declaring martial law yesterday Hussein said he did not need outside help.

The 21-year-old King then made a radio broadcast to his people calling for their support.

Although he had participated less than two months ago in an Arab "summit" conference with Nasser, he told Egypt to leave his country alone. The Arab mobs used as a tool to bring down Jordan governments regard Nasser as their hero, and the leaders of the Jordanian government the King ousted two weeks ago favor Egypt and Syria. In the past, Hussein has refrained from criticizing Egypt and Nasser, but now he said Egypt's propaganda machine must stop attacking the Jordan throne.

The new government named by the King, under 69-year-old Ibrahim Hashem, placed a curfew on Jordan's five major cities and outlawed all 10 of the country's political parties. Though active, the Communists already were outlawed.

Bedouin troops — the hard core of the army that is loyal to the King — guarded city streets and were given control over the police. Barbed wire entanglements were strewn across roadways.

No one dared to leave his home without official permission. The curfew was lifted for two hours in midafternoon to give people a chance to buy food and go on necessary errands. Through loud-speakers the people were reminded constantly that they had to be home at the deadline. They hurried home as soon as they completed their purchases.

Yul's Okay, But Not Boy Next Door

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City's teen-age girls "just love Yul Brynner" but the nudge of the boy next door leaves them cold.

That was the majority opinion expressed at a symposium on youth problems sponsored by the Oklahoma County Assn. of Mental Health.

"Boys, cut off your curls and drake tails and drop your boogies. Mohawks and Yul Brynners," Donna Moreland, 17, a high school senior, declared.

"Regular flat tops and standard haircuts are our choice."

Donna was selected by a panel of psychology students from various high schools to discuss the problem of teen-age habits.

Miss Moreland said she was convinced that Brynner's popularity was contained in his acting ability and not his hair dress.

"He's different and his bald head is a trade mark," she emphasized. "He's being paid for it and teen-age boys are not."

As for Elvis Presley, she insists:

"We like his singing but none of us would want to go out with him."

She said Marlon Brando was fine on the screen but "leave him there."

"Boys who try to imitate him by wearing motorcycle jackets and try to act tough are just acting like children," she explained. She said boys with odd haircuts will just have to date girls with the "extremely extreme" hairdos, saying the majority of girls won't date them.

"After all, how would they like it if we dressed and acted like Marilyn Monroe or Gina Lollobrigida on a date?" she asked.

Right at the moment, there were no psychology students on hand to answer the question.

Manikin To Test High-Altitude Jump

BALTIMORE (AP)—A preview of the Air Force's next high altitude bailout attempt will be staged next week at New Brighton, Minn. with a balloon flight to 22,000 feet.

But instead of men, the gondola will carry a manikin whose joints are made to simulate the joints of the human skeleton.

If next week's test is successful, the gondola will be manned for actual bailout experiments this summer at the Air Research and Development Command's Alameda, N.M., development center. The current bailout record is 45,200 feet.

For the unmanned test, a giant plastic balloon will raise the gondola to the test altitude—more than 16 miles up.

At 22,000 feet, the balloon will be cut loose and a 14-foot stabilization chute will open on the gondola. This will not slow its descent to any appreciable extent at that high altitude and the gondola will fall free together to 20,000 feet. At that altitude, the strapped-down passenger will cut loose the small chute and a 64-foot cargo parachute will open on the gondola. Since the dummy can't do it, these two actions will be performed automatically by present mechanisms in next week's tests.

After the New Brighton test flight, the gondola will be transported to the Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio, where four volunteers for the summer tests will simulate the ascent and subsequent descent in an altitude chamber. They will try for a maximum altitude of 22,000 feet.

The four volunteers are Capt. Harry P. Nielson, project officer; Capt. Harry Collins, 1st Lt. Austin W. Kibler and M.Sgt. George A. Post, all members of WADC's Aero Medical Laboratory.

Zachariah Attends TSCCA Meeting

George Zachariah, president of the Howard County unit of the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults, attended the state organization's board meeting in Austin Wednesday and Thursday. Zachariah is a member of the TSCCA board.

Martin Ricker, executive director, said the 1957 Easter Seal appeal attained its goal of $300,000 this year. Although the appeal ended officially on Easter Sunday, he said contributions are still being received and "are welcome at any time of the year."

Fine Arts Fiesta Postponed A Week

Word has been received here that the state-wide meeting in Austin of the Texas Fine Arts Association fiesta has been postponed a week.

The meeting was originally slated for today, Saturday, and Sunday, but it has been delayed because of floods and bad weather conditions.

It will be held in Austin next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday (May 3, 4 and 5). The program will be unchanged.

Wins Soil Award

P. B. (Jack) Garrett, president of Texas Bank & Trust Company of Dallas, has been presented a plaque for "unselfish service by a Non-Farmer" in the 1957 Save the Soil and Save Texas campaign by the Fort Worth Press.

Active in many civic affairs in Dallas and surrounding area, he has majored in conservation activities. For the past eight years he has directed a conservation program sponsored by his bank.

Director Of Pageant Gets Praise From Col. Young

Sgt. Dewey Magee Jr., new president of the Big Spring Civic Theatre Inc. and on the staff of the Office of Information Services at Webb AFB, has been congratulated by Col. C. M. Young, base commander, for his direction of the Easter pageant last Sunday.

"It gives me pleasure to congratulate you on your masterful direction of the Easter pageant last Sunday morning," Col. Young wrote Magee. "The good will generated between the people of Big Spring and the personnel of Webb Air Force Base is vital to both and a source of great satisfaction to me."

The fact that neither the presentation nor the long and trying rehearsals, in which so many Webb personnel participated, was permitted to interfere with your duties at the base is but an added indication of your loyalty and devotion.

"Your outstanding contribution to the cause of good community relations between Webb Air Force Base and Big Spring reflects great credit, not only on you, but upon the United States Air Force as well."

Magee, formerly vice president, became president of the theatre group following the resignation of Lt. Bob Grew Sunday morning. Grew is being transferred from Webb.

In addition to serving as director, Sgt. Magee was narrator for the pantomime, sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Association. The Big Spring Civic Theatre is made up largely of Air Force personnel.

Lions Map Big Program For Bi-District Meeting

LUBBOCK—The second day of the bi-district convention of Lions Clubs will be the biggest of the three-day convention which opens here next Thursday.

Ted Weems and his orchestra, one of the nation's top favorites for years, will play for dancing at the Governor's Ball in the Caprock Hotel. The dance climaxes the second day's activities, which begin at 6:30 a.m. and keep going until early in the morning.

The Governor's Ball is the social highlight of the convention, which brings together District 27-1 and District 27-2. It will be the first bi-district convention in five years.

Friday's program will open with joint key members gathering for

Negro, White Man In Pistol Duel

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—An argument over a used car erupted into a pistol duel between a white segregation leader and a Negro here yesterday, police said.

Hurschel Mericle, 45, a used car dealer and member of the Beaumont Taxpayers for Segregation and Clean Government, was wounded in the right leg.

City detective George Cole said David Broussard, 21, a Negro was wounded four times, twice under the right arm, in the left chest and in the lower back. Both men were hospitalized, but their condition was not considered serious.

Cole said "six or seven" white witnesses told officers Broussard drew his pistol and shot first during an argument over the alleged mechanical failure of a car he purchased from Mericle.

Ex-Official Denies Jury Limit Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Horace L. Flurry has denounced as "false" a charge that he favored a "more limited" grand jury investigation of oil price boosts.

Flurry has quit his post as a lawyer with the Justice Department's antitrust division, alleging that his superiors impeded the grand jury probe which he was conducting.

Yesterday, Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the antitrust division, accepted Flurry's resignation.

Hansen said Flurry was removed from the case some time ago because he refused to cooperate with two superiors, W. Wallace Kirkpatrick, No. 3 man in the division, and Worth Rowley, chief of its trial section.

Flurry, who had been a trust-busting government lawyer for 16 years, said this charge of non-cooperation was "untrue."

He also challenged Hansen's statement that Flurry's superiors "believed that Flurry's superiors complete investigation should be made of the oil companies involved, whereas you believed a more limited investigation was desirable."

Flurry said he has "always stood up for an all-out investigation on a national basis."

"We have some timid souls in the antitrust division who are afraid of big investigations and big lawsuits," Flurry said.

He did not specify who he meant by "timid souls," beyond saying the term applied to most of those in authority in the antitrust division.

Flurry said they may have "substantially jeopardized" the grand jury investigation of price increases ordered by major oil shippers in Western Europe. The inquiry is aimed at finding out whether there was any illegal conspiracy to fix prices.

The grand jury was convened in early March, and still is at work at Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac River from the capital.

In a letter to Flurry, Hansen said the department had no choice but to accept Flurry's resignation after he said Flurry had carried his "complaint to the press."

The first report of Flurry's resignation, and the controversy involved, was published in the Washington Post and Times Herald.

Resigns

Horace L. Flurry, who has been conducting the government's sweeping grand jury investigation of oil price increases, has resigned his $12,690-a-year job, the Justice Department announced. Flurry has been with the department's antitrust division for 15 years.

Williams Not Dealing With Chicken Feed In His Probes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — To some folks in the United States Treasury who read their figures in the billions, $1,508.26 could hardly be regarded as more than chicken feed.

But to a tall, bashful ex-farm boy who made a successful business career out of selling sure-enough chicken feed, the $1,508.26 he wants the Treasury to take back from him represents a matter of solid principle.

And when he makes up his mind there is a principle involved, Sen. John J. Williams (R-De) can be all-fired persistent — as folks in the government have learned.

He scented something wrong in the Internal Revenue Bureau some years ago, with the end result that more than 60 employees either resigned, were suspended or indicted as a result of his campaign against tax collection graft.

A mild-mannered, 52-year-old soft-spoken six-footer who grins easily, Williams has none of the storied characteristics of muck-rack-ers of the past.

Yet no government agency is too big, and none too small, for his relentless, pecking investigation if he feels there is something amiss.

In his more than 10 years in the Senate, Williams has aimed his sharpened shafts at the sprawling Commodity Credit Corp., the Maritime Commission, the Reconstruction Finance Corp., the defunct Rent Stabilization Office and other units of government.

With the grim attitude he adopts in such matters, Williams announced last week that the Treasury had refused to take back $1,508.26 left over out of the annual $1,800 stationery allowance for his Senate office.

He had no need for the full quota of office stationery, and the Treasury should keep the unspent money, he contended, but the Treasury said no.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey announced he would personally accept Williams' check. That was not the point, Williams replied. He added there is a 1956 ruling that the allowance belongs to the senators, and that under it he would have to pay income tax on the amount he had saved.

He said Treasury officials told him he could keep the money if he paid the tax.

To the horrified Williams this brought up visions of the mink coats and food freezers involved in earlier probes, and of senators pocketing similar allowances to spend in their re-election campaigns.

Williams talks in a dry, whispery monotone that has a carrying power of about six feet. What he says seems highly unexciting at the time. But the next day's Congressional Record is likely to point a well-documented finger at graft, corruption or incompetency in government.

And it will be no chicken feed in which he is dealing.

Miss Gillis Named Student Nurse Of Year; Dr. Driscoll Luncheon Speaker

At a tea, held Thursday from 3 to 5 p. m. at the Officers' Club at Webb AFB, Nancy Jo Gillis was named the outstanding Texas Student Nurse of the Year.

NANCY JO GILLIS
Student Nurse of the Year

Miss Gillis is in nurses training at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Beaumont and is a native of Welch, La. She was chosen from a field of eight candidates from Texas. Texas is divided into 10 regions and one candidate from each region is nominated. Only eight regions are represented at the state meeting being held here this week.

Other candidates included Mary Lynn Haugh, Wichita General Hospital; Jessie Lou Bellard, Parkland Hospital in Dallas; Hermine Sabagum, St. Anthony's Hospital, Amarillo; Ruth Ann Canterbury, Shannon Hospital in San Angelo; Maria Thresa De La Garza, Hotel Dieu in El Paso; Barbara Housler, Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio, and Shirley Marie Dierschke, Sacred Heart Hospital in Houston.

Nominees were judged on personal, school records, and performance of their duties. A local board composed of Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Bessie Love, R. L. Miller, Doug Orme, and Mrs. Robert Smith, chose the nurse after personal interviews.

More than 200 student nurses were present for the uniform tea Thursday. The nurses representing the various hospitals of Texas were attired in the uniform of that hospital. There were about 12 different types of uniforms represented.

Officers of the Texas Student Nurses Association are Weta Weir Wilson, president, University of Texas School of Nursing, Galveston; Marie Gauthier, first vice president, Dominican College, Houston; Claudia Sydow, second vice president, University of Houston; Weba Coward, recording secretary, Baylor, Dallas; Sue Scarborough, corresponding secretary, Baylor, Dallas; Onita Rampey, treasurer, Northwestern, Amarillo; Jean Jamero, parliamentarian, Baptist Memorial, San Antonio and student advisor, Becky Clark, Baylor, Dallas.

A breakfast Thursday morning opened activities for the Texas Graduate Nurses Association. Section executive and business meetings followed the breakfast.

At noon a joint luncheon of TGNA and TSNA was held at the Settles. Dr. Edward Driscoll, Midland, was the guest speaker.

His subject dealt with What Can Be Done in Rehabilitation for All Age Groups. Dr. Driscoll pointed out that rehabilitation is not only medical, but also a nursing job.

"Early recognition is essential to successful early treatment of congenital deformities. With early treatment, many such deformities can be completely corrected," he said.

The importance of helping the patient to adjust emotionally to any situation which will handicap him, was stressed as a part of the whole rehabilitation program.

Dr. Driscoll urged his audience to support the employment of handicapped, pointing out that national studies had shown that the efficiency rating of the handicapped had been as much as 25 percent higher than that of other employees.

Afternoon sessions included legislative meetings and section meetings.

Thursday evening the Student Nurses were guests of the TGNA at a barbecue held at Cosden Country Club. The students presented a variety show.

Jury Service Discussed For Altrusa Club

James Little was guest speaker at the Altrusa luncheon meeting Thursday at the Howard House. He explained how a jury is selected and told the qualifications a person must have before being chosen for the service.

Exemptions were also discussed by the speaker, who answered questions for the group after his explanation.

Mrs. W. J. O'Neal and Mrs. Willard Sullivan were in charge of the program. Mrs. O'Neal introduced the topic for discussion and Mrs. Sullivan showed a film. This dealt with the importance of jury service.

Nineteen attended the meeting, with Mrs. A. C. Bass introduced as a new member.

Philathea Class Marks 30th Anniversary Date

A 30th anniversary was observed Thursday evening by the Philathea Sunday school class of the First Methodist Church. In honor of the birthday, the class held a banquet at the church Fellowship Hall.

An honored guest was Mrs. C. P. Watson, Dallas, the first teacher of the class 30 years ago. She taught the class for eight years.

Mrs. Fred L. Esker, the first president of the class, was present and gave the history of the group.

Mrs. Roy Carter, Sterling City, was also present. She was a former teacher.

There were five ex-teachers and 11 ex-presidents also in attendance. The class has had only 9 teachers in the past 30 years. Most of the 28 class presidents are still members of the class.

Mrs. James H. Fryar, president, served as mistress of ceremonies for the banquet. The head of table bore arrangements of red roses and featured a large birthday cake decorated with red roses. A red candle was lighted by each member and then the group sang the class song, "Living For Jesus."

A program was presented by students of Fred E. Short, drama teacher at H.C.J.C.

Fifty-eight members were present with seven guests. The class prayer closed the occasion.

Good Paint Brush Will Save Money

Never, never try to save money when buying paint brushes! An inferior brush will mean inferior work, waste of time and waste of paint. Pure bristle brushes or brushes of such synthetic fibres as nylon are a little more expensive, but worth many times their price to you!

For general use, a home-owner may do well to keep on hand a four-inch flat brush for interior surfaces, a three or four-inch oval brush for large or exterior areas, a two or three-inch varnish brush and two flat sand-and-trim brushes — one three-inch and one one-inch, for finer work.

Do you know how to spot a good brush? Split ends are essential to retain paint and spread it evenly. Bend the bristles to test elasticity. Buy a brush that tapers down toward the bottom. See that bristles are well set into the ferrule.

Before using your paint brush, dislodge loose bristles by revolving the handle rapidly between your palms or tapping bristles sharply on your hand.

Soak a new brush in linseed oil for two or three days, then squeeze out the oil and comb the bristles straight. Dip your brush two inches into the paint — don't overload it. Tap out excess against the inside of the can. Apply paint with bristles flat against the surface, and don't poke ends into corners. Never stand a brush on its bristle ends!

Now your are ready to paint. If a brush is to be in use for several days, suspend it in linseed oil overnight using special hooks to keep bristles from touching the bottom of the container. Never let it stand in water.

Sudsy Switch

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Announcing that it will market a beer made in Nuremberg, Germany, a Milwaukee brewer, A. Gettelman Brewing Co., said:

"In view of the national importance of Milwaukee as a beer-producing center, this move probably could be likened to carrying coal to Newcastle—or more appropriately, 'carrying suds to Milwaukee.'"

Start From Scratch

It's a good idea when furnishing a home to stick to first things first. Consult a store decorator or buy a decorating book so that you do not make some fatal errors that will be costly in time and money.

Mrs. Wiginton Is Honored At Shower

A pink and blue shower Thursday morning was a compliment for Mrs. J. B. Wiginton. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Boyd Bryans. She was assisted with hostess duties by Mrs. Troyce Robertson.

Fifteen guests were served from a table laid with a pink linen cloth and featuring a centerpiece of a stork twined with ivy. Crystal appointments were used for serving and the refreshments were of pink and blue.

Visits Parents

Bobbie Hohertz is currently visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hohertz, here. Hohertz is on vacation and will stay here until next week when he will go to Fort Worth and thence to Oklahoma City before returning to work.

Daughter Born

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hooper, 105 West 8th, are parents of a daughter, Sheryl Faye, born Sunday at Big Spring Hospital. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tindol, Gail Route; paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hooper, 1407 East 6th.

Baptist Temple Fetes Junior-Senior Students

Honoring the juniors and seniors of Baptist Temple Thursday evening, a banquet was given at the church.

Guests entered the hall through an archway of roses and greenery and flanked by hurricane lamps in tall standards. A silver Maypole in the center of the room bore streamers in pink and violet shadings which extended to the foursome tables.

On the tables, laid in pink and white cloths, were small violet baskets of spring flowers. Programs and menus were in the shape of tulips and tulip nut-cups marked places for guests.

Mrs. Robert Hill was at the tulip-shaped register, which was on a table decorated with an arrangement of roses.

The speakers table held an arrangement of roses and greenery in a basket flanked by hurricane lamps and placed before a background of red curtains.

Safe Buy In Socks Is Stretchy Type

Perhaps the safest purchase a newlywed can make at a man's sock counter is the new type of stretch sock. One size fits every foot, and if you're not sure of his size, you can't possibly go wrong!

However, many men prefer standard-sized socks, and wives who are veteran sock-buyers have a wider range. Ribbed spun nylon socks look and feel like wool, last through washing after washing.

Pure wool hose in garter and ankle lengths should be nylon-reinforced at heel and toe for maximum wear. This is a good rule to follow for patterns and solids, imports and domestics.

Argyle fans may appreciate the new Argyle-cloak hose, knit of solid color wool with a narrow clock of Argyle plaid. All-over pattern need no longer be ostentatious. Ivy League block plaids, stripes and tone-on-tone checks are handsome and conservative.

Cashmere-blend socks are a luxury, but a practical one. Higher-priced than pure wool, Chinese cashmere-nylon hose in all colors are warm, soft and incredibly long-lasting. They will not shrink and almost never wear thin when hand-laundered. There are scores of patterns and fabrics available for every taste.

Foot Comfort

A pair of these quilted slippers will lead your feet into a life of ease and comfort. No. 161 has pattern pieces; full directions. Send 25 cents in coins for this pattern to MARTHA MADISON, Big Spring Herald, 367 W. Adams St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Pilot Is Named For Flight At 4,000 M.P.H.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A pilot who looks more like a banker than a space man may be the first human to fly 4,000 m.p.h.
Scott Crossfield, 35, was named yesterday to pilot the rocket-powered North American X15 on its maiden flight next year.
"Almost anybody would take this conservatively dressed, 150-pound family man for a quietly confident businessman or an aeronautical engineer, which he is.
He is the man who first flew twice the speed of sound—1,327 m.p.h. in the Douglas Skyrocket in November 1953—and he is the man who may pilot the X15 higher and faster than any other manned aircraft. The Pentagon in Washington has said the X15 may achieve such unbelievable marks as 4,000 m.p.h. and 200,000 feet altitude.
"This is my business, my life work," Crossfield said matter-of-factly when newsmen asked how he felt about approaching this project.
"The X15 is a flying research laboratory. It is simply an airplane with a rocket engine and accomplishments of the X1, X2 and X3 series.
"There is no concept that requires a superhuman to fly this aircraft. There is no extreme requirement on the pilot. I will require no 'training' as such. I am living with this aircraft, from the concept through the drawing boards, the mockup, the actual construction, the testing, and, finally, the flight.
"This thing will not be a piece of cake, of course. But the whole thing is developed step by step so that there will be no unknown phenomena."
Many of Crossfield's own ideas are being engineered into the X15. It is being fabricated by North American and its liquid propellant rocket engine will be built by Reaction Tors, Inc., Denville, N.J. Nearly all of its details are security secrets.
Presumably it will be dropped at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., as were the X1 and X2 research speedsters which ran the records up to better than 2,300 m.p.h. and 90,000 feet altitude.
"from the pilot's standpoint," Crossfield said, "we are not restricted to your theoretical 4,000 m.p.h. and 200,000 feet. Mechanically, we can put a pilot at any altitude and speed we want."
He said he was permitted to disclose that the X15 will have "better emergency (bailout) provisions for the pilot than any previous rocket aircraft."

16 Men Convicted In Tulsa Of Breaking U. S. Liquor Law

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Tulsa Police Commissioner Jay L. Jones, suspended Police Chief Paul J. Livingston and 14 other men were convicted early today of plotting to break a federal law against bringing liquor into legally dry Oklahoma.
A U.S. District Court jury also adjudged two of the defendants—both long-time bootleggers—guilty of conspiring to sell the whisky wholesale and retail without paying special taxes.
Six of the convicted are suspended policemen, all former members of the vice raiding squad.
The jurors, more than six hours in reaching their verdict in the eight-day-old trial, acquitted a 17th of both charges in the two-count indictment against all the defendants.
Earlier, Judge Royce H. Savage had acquitted three of the original 20 accused, including the Tulsa Tribune's Pulitzer Prize hopeful, reporter Nolen Bulloch.
Judge Savage set sentencing for May 3 and continued $1,000 bond for each of the convicted men.
Those convicted on both counts were Martin Edwards, 36, and John Hood, 50, who could be sentenced to a total of six years imprisonment and $11,000 in fines.
The charge of importing whisky to the state, dry for all its 50 years of statehood, is a misdemeanor punishable by a $1,000 fine and a year in jail. The tax evasion count is a felony carrying a penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.
Others convicted were:
Policemen Jack Gott, 45; Jim Harp, 30; Tommy Peterson, 37; Johnny Cole, 38; Leo Jackson, 48; and Oliver Stephens, 49; bootleggers Fred A. (Little Griff) Griffing, 41; Elmer Oakley, 44; Don (Tex) Rucker, 47; and Lee Johnson, 43; John McAfee, 49, a billiard parlor operator; and Don Gray, 66, Joplin, Mo., liquor store owner.
Acquitted on both counts was Tehopolis Scoggins, 47, a grocer and political worker.
Edwards is the brother of Bill Edwards, the prosecution's star witness. The brothers, members of a whisky-dealing family, are implacable enemies.
Bill Edwards, on the stand several times during more than six days of government testimony, involved many of the defendants in his story that he helped hatch a scheme to collect money from the city's vice operators.
Those who paid, he testified, were assured protection from police molestation and their money was to be shared by himself.

Business Opposes Union Funds Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's call for government supervision of employe welfare funds apparently faces more opposition from business than from organized labor.
Business organizations contend that whatever scandals have occurred have been in respect to union-operated and not to management-operated funds. The latter type, however, compose some 90 per cent of all employe benefit funds.
The National Assn. of Manufacturers favors stiff regulation of union-run welfare-pension funds and union finances, but not for employer-run funds. Organized labor wants both types covered—
AFL-CIO President George Meany reiterated yesterday.
President Eisenhower, in a statement issued yesterday at Augusta, Ga., after conferring with Secretary of Labor Mitchell, urged quick congressional action on long-pending administration proposals to supervise "union health and welfare funds."
But the administration's pending legislation he talked about would apply to both union and nonunion employe funds. So until he says otherwise the President must be presumed to mean that he, like Mitchell, favors a law requiring filing and financial disclosure covering both types of funds.
The NAM's opposition to government supervision of management-operated employe benefit plans was stated in a recent report which spoke of the red tape involved and of possible dangers of disclosing the nature of welfare-pension fund investments. It mentioned also the possibility that unions might try to get a voice in running employe funds now handled entirely by employers.

Local Hospital To Take Part In Mental Health Observance

Open house and guided tours are planned at the Big Spring State Hospital for three days next week as a part of the observance of Mental Health Week. Dr. Preston Harrison, acting superintendent, announced today.
The program will start next Friday afternoon (May 3) and continue through Sunday (May 5).
Dr. Harrison said open house will be observed on Friday afternoon and all day on Saturday and Sunday. Members of the hospital staff will be on hand to conduct visitors through the various buildings, display facilities and give explanations of treatment and progress of patients.
Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed April 28-May 4 to be Mental Health Week in Texas. He called upon all citizens to join in the crusade against mental illness, which he classed as the No. 1 health problem in the state and nation.
"Mental illness is no longer hopeless, as evidenced by the increased rates of improvement and recovery in our mental hospitals. We can help the mentally ill of Texas to be restored to their families and communities by concerted citizen action," the governor said.
Pointing to the fact that 16,000 Texans are in state hospitals now and it is estimated that one in 12 Texans will be hospitalized for mental illness sometime during his lifetime, Daniel stated, "It is the personal concern of each one of us to work for improved care and treatment of hospitalized patients, more intensive research, and for the creation of more community mental health services aimed at prevention. Experience has shown that recovery from mental illness is dependent on early and proper treatment.

Mental Health Week is being sponsored by the Texas Society for Mental Health in cooperation with the nationwide observance led by the National Association for Mental Health. With twenty-two local affiliates located throughout the state, the Texas Society for Mental Health is a voluntary, non-profit organization which devotes itself exclusively to the fight against mental illness and to the advancement of mental health.
Commending the Texas Society for Mental Health for its program of information, action and service, the governor added, "Texas has good reason to be proud that 90 per cent of all first admissions to our mental hospitals are now discharged within a year.
A constitutional amendment, allowing a waiver of jury trial in commitment proceedings of the mentally ill, was overwhelmingly approved by the voters in November. These are important gains in the fight against mental illness."

A new Mental Health Code, sponsored by the Texas Society for Mental Health, was recently passed by the House of Representatives and is under consideration in the Senate as S. B. 193.
It is designed to provide a humane modernization of all Texas laws relating to the mentally ill and at the same time protect the constitutional rights of every citizen, he said.

Farmers Get Older, Farms Get Larger

By JESS BLAIR
The average age of farmers in this area is getting older and older and older, according to a survey by the FHA.
The survey was conducted by Milton H. Stinson, area supervisor of Colorado City, who has jurisdiction over an 11-county area.
Stinson found that the average age of farmers borrowing money from the FHA was 57 years. This was not only a surprise to Stinson but also a matter of deep concern.
"This means that in a few years these farmers will be past the age for active work," he said, "and we're wondering who will take their places. Not many young men are entering farming, and any industry that cannot attract capable young men is in a troubled condition."
Stinson thinks there are two reasons why young men do not want to become farmers. One is that they prefer to seek jobs in industry where they can be assured of a regular pay check. The second reason is that one must either possess a small fortune or be able to borrow one in order to buy the equipment needed for farming these days.
Most of these elderly men are not only near the end of their active careers, but they are also deeply in debt. Stinson says the FHA is concerned about all the debtors, but more especially the older men.

"We feel that if the younger farmers can get credit, they will eventually pay out when normal rainfall returns," Stinson said. "We're not so sure about the older men, for they certainly cannot continue to do the hard work of running a farm many more years."
Stinson says the average age of the irrigation farmer may be somewhat younger. The survey didn't include many irrigation farmers, because many of them can borrow money from banks and other agencies.
The hardest hit place has been Howard County and surrounding dryland farming areas. He says farmers in Mitchell are in a little better financial condition than in Howard, and that Dawson County farmers are the most prosperous of any in his district. They made fair crops in 1955 and '56 and most of them have been able to meet a need even get ahead on their payments.
Another thing revealed by the survey is that farms are steadily growing larger, as small farms are being consolidated into larger units. Stinson does not have any figures on the number of farm families moving to the cities, but says the rural population continues to dwindle each year.

A Bible Thought For Today

And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt. (St. Matthew 26:39)

Editorial

Stop This Before It Starts

Too frequent for the peace of mind of people concerned with a wholesome community are reports of friction and conflict between an irresponsible youthful element in the community and some young airmen at Webb Air Force Base.

On the whole, the record of relationship between civilian and military here has been good, but a few isolated incidents can go a long way toward spoiling such a record. It is unfortunate that a small minority can create a potentially major problem.

The exuberance of young people being what it is, there probably will always be some evidences of "town boys" and "military boys" tangling. Some times, playful taunts lead to harsh words and combat. Sometimes there is jealousy and resentment over dating. At times, too much to drink is a factor.

A continuing recurrence of scrapes can only lead to something more serious. It could get so serious that the military could be forced to declare "curfews" for its own personnel, or even declare an "off-limits" ruling for the city. It happened, unfortunately, in Wichita Falls. It would be most deplorable if conditions here even approached the situation that erupted there.

Officials, both military and civilian, are cognizant of incipient trouble in Big Spring, and are attempting to nip trouble in the bud before it blossoms into serious violence.

The authorities have power to clean up "trouble spots"—if there are definite places where the gang warfare always breaks out. The military can control its own personnel to great degree, but the supervision of civilian young people is more difficult.

Alertness can be maintained a gainst sale of intoxicating beverages to minors; strictness can prevail in breaking up dubious gatherings; suspects can be picked up for investigation.

All these actions by authorities, in the last analysis, are not wholly effective unless adults—and principally parents—are willing and forceful enough to see that the younger people are not out at late hours, or congregating at places where temptations are strong to create trouble.

A wholesomeness can exist, on every front, if the adults of the community want it to exist. It would be shameful if parents, by inaction, showed that they just didn't care.

It's Daylight Saving Time—Elsewhere

Approximately half the population of the United States lives under daylight saving time, which goes into effect for six months next Sunday, April 28, at 2 a. m. At that hour in fifteen states and numerous cities in other states the hour hand of the clock will be moved ahead one hour.

This procedure is disturbing to farmers, railroad schedule makers and radio and TV programmers. They will fret and fume as usual, but there isn't much they can do about it. Dairy farmers and truck farmers will be about the only ones in rural America who will have to conform to "fast time."

All of the six New England states plus nine others operate under daylight saving time. Those outside New England are California, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Nevada, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. Most of them are primarily industrial, and daylight saving is designed particularly for the industrial population.

Until sometime in the 1880s not much attention was paid to "standard" time. Railroads especially were a law unto themselves, and confusion reigned supreme until they finally got together in universal conformation to standard time. The advent of daylight saving time upset that apocryphal more than somewhat.

The U. S. Navy had operated on the 24-hour clock system for many years before the U. S. Army finally got around to adopting it on July 1, 1942. The 24-hour clock originated in England. The day starts at midnight and the hours are numbered around the clock. Seven a. m. is written 0700 and 5 p. m. is written 1700.

Texas sticks to standard time the year round. The only difference after Sunday at 2 a. m. is that there will be two hours' difference between New York Time and ours instead of one.

Dulles' Emphasis On Moral Force

WASHINGTON — The world knows today that the United States intends to give no quarter to international Communism but will resort only to moral force to win back to freedom's side the dozen nations which "the men in the Kremlin stole, one by one."

But, if any military attack should come from the Soviets in the meantime, "moral retaliatory power" will be used by the free world to defend itself. Mr. Dulles warns in his latest address that this envisages atomic weapons in local wars, too, where the "mobile striking power" of land, sea and air forces will be employed.

But the emphasis by Mr. Dulles was on the real battle. It's the battle for men's minds which when won can overthrow dictators. The secretary gave a succinct exposition of the way moral force can be applied in the world today. In what is perhaps the most significant passage in his speech, Mr. Dulles says:

"Let us provide an example which demonstrates the blessings of liberty. Let us spread knowledge of that around the world. Let us see to it that the divided and captive nations know that they are not forgotten; that we shall never make a political settlement at their expense; and that a heartfelt welcome and opportunity await them as they gain more freedom."

"Let us also make apparent to the Soviet rulers our real purpose. We condemn and oppose imperialism. We seek the liberation of the captive nations. We seek this, however, not in order to encircle Russia with hostile forces, but because peace is in jeopardy and freedom a word of mockery until the divided nations are reunited and the captive nations are set free."

"We revere and honor those who as martyrs gave their blood for freedom. But we do not ourselves incite violent revolt. Rather we encourage an evolution to freedom."

The secretary of state pointedly reminded his hearers that the "Voice of America," our information programs and cultural exchanges do spread throughout the world "knowledge of what freedom is and does."

Is there progress on the moral force front? Mr. Dulles thinks so and says "events of the past year indicate that the pressures of liberty are rising." He adds:

"Within the Soviet Union there is increasing demand for greater personal security, for greater intellectual freedom and for greater enjoyment of the fruits of labor. . . . The satellite countries no longer provide a submissive source of Soviet strength. Indeed Soviet strength, both military and economic, has now to be expended to repress those who openly show their revulsion against Soviet rule."

As for the Middle East, Mr. Dulles argues for moral suasion there, too. He counsels against impatience and impulsive action. He says that when passions run high the task is hard and that "the only durable solution is one which comes by patiently, resolutely and resourcefully seeking justice and the rule of law."

While the secretary of state stressed the importance of "finding ways of peaceful change," this doesn't mean appeasement. He said on this point:

"Our foreign policy accepts change as the law of life. We seek to assure that change will be benign, and not destructive, so that it will promote not merely survival but freedom and well-being."

This certainly doesn't mean rewarding the aggression committed by Red China or assuming that the enslaved people of that country are any different from other captive peoples and must be condemned to remain under the rule of a dictatorship. Nor does it mean that the United States will demand a complete severance of ties with Soviet Russia before furnishing economic aid to the people in satellite countries in Eastern Europe.

The essence of American foreign policy, as Mr. Dulles outlines it, is that no "political settlements" will be made which recognize the results of aggression. He would follow the American concept of past history which he declares has always reflected a desire "to stimulate liberating forces throughout the world and create a climate in which despotism would shrink."

The address which Mr. Dulles delivered in New York City before the members of the Associated Press was approved in advance by President Eisenhower. It is a brilliant and inspiring statement which will satisfy all except those who are more politically partisan than American and those newspapers abroad which still are aggrieved that the United States didn't join Britain and France in making war on Egypt last October. Indeed, the Dulles speech is a pronouncement of the hopes and aspirations of a free people who still rely on military force to deter an aggressor and moral force to win the support of peoples everywhere.

Hussein Has Dizzy Problems

WASHINGTON — King Hussein of Jordan, a young man in a hurry to keep from being thrown out on his head, has some dizzy problems. That explains why some of the things he says

He needs Western help, but he can't afford to look too pro-Western, at least right now. He's an Arab Nationalist, all for a strong Arab world, but he has to watch out lest some of his supposed Arab friends cut his throat.

Above all else he rules a land where foreign Arabs far outnumber his own native Arabs. Jordan has about 1 1/2 million people. About 900,000 are Palestinian Arabs who became Jordanians in 1948 during the Arab-Israeli war when Hussein's grandfather King Abdullah grabbed part of Palestine or because they fled to Jordan from Israel.

The remaining Jordanians—the natives—are mostly Bedouins, mainly shepherders, less educated and sophisticated than the Palestinians. But the Bedouins are the backbone of Hussein's army. It's on this army he must depend to keep his throne. At the same time, in order to avoid civil war and perhaps his own ruination, he must try to pacify the Palestinians in Jordan.

What Hussein and his Bedouins share with the Palestinians is a hatred of Israel and a desire for a strong Arab world. It's because of their hatred for Israel that so many Arabs are anti-Western since the Western Powers created Israel.

But this feeling of anti-Westernism varies among Arabs. It's strong among the Palestinians. That is why many of them, even the non-Communist, want links with Russia. They need help. They don't want it from the West. They can get it from Russia, or they think they can.

For many of the Palestinians Egyptian President Nasser—who has made himself a symbol of anti-Westernism and has led the way in turning to Russia—is more of a rallying point, a more spirited kind of leader who promises action, than their newly acquired King, Hussein, who until recently acted like Nasser's yes-man.

But Jordan can't support itself. It needs outside money. Particularly, Hussein needs money to pay his army. Nasser promised Hussein money but double-crossed him by giving him nothing. There was no place else to get it except from the United States.

And Hussein knew that the closer Jordan moved toward Russia, and Communist domination of its government, the shorter his life would be. He had no choice except to turn to the United States.

Meanwhile, and for months leftists and pro-Nasserites had been infiltrating the army, the government and the schools.

So when Hussein's Prime Minister Suleiman Nabulsi—a pro-Nasserite ally for closer ties with Russia—spurred American help, the King threw him out. That started the crisis.

Land Of Indoor Peasants

NEW YORK — The man with the hoe has given way to the man with the white collar.

All great civilizations have sprung from a sturdy peasant class.

The United States one day last year silently reached one of those turning points from which there is no going back.

It became a land of indoor peasants, probably the first major power in history in which the white-collar worker makes up the largest element in its labor force.

What are the implications behind this startling fact? What does it mean for the future?

In pointing out that white-collar workers are now the most numerous type of wage earner in America, a U. S. Department of Labor expert warned that some are in still short supply.

"The shortage of skilled, technical and professional manpower is now general throughout the nation," Brunswick A. Bagdon told a conference at Louisville, "and will get worse unless we move swiftly to improve our training and employment policies and strengthen our educational system."

This is only one aspect of the quiet revolution over the last half-century during which the machine hired hand has gone to the farm and the old question of "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm?" has received a final answer. You ain't gonna. In 1910, America's farm population totaled 13,550,000. In 1955, it was down to 6,341,000.

The farm family and the family farm seem to be slowly going the way of the horse—if not the dodo—as agriculture becomes more and more a big business, and the small operator becomes less and less important.

"When's the ol' fat-headed windbag gonna be in, Myrtle? I wanna ask that ol' tyrant for a raise . . ."

Around The Rim

New Twist On An Old Trick

During the long Democratic tenure in the White House, there developed a system for getting around budget-cutting Congresses. Government bureaucrats, cabinet members and the President soon learned Congress had a penchant for paring almost every portion of the budget. They began to pad each section of the budget by the amount experience had shown would probably be cut, so the government still came up with the amount of money needed.

When the Republicans finally gained control of the White House, they tried the old trick with a new twist. The Republican administration pads the budget, but instead of fighting every inch of the way for the full amount, the bureau chiefs advise Congress that their budgets may be cut by certain amounts. This amount is, presumably, equal to the amount of padding.

The benefit of such maneuvers is that it makes it possible for the President and his aides to get the money they want and still claim credit for economizing. And Republicans still claim economizing is something the Democrats never did. Also, this budget-juggling puts the blame on the Democrats if the budget should be cut too much. The Republican miscalculation on postal funds will undoubtedly be turned into anti-Democrat ammunition in the next election.

Confucius or somebody once said "politics makes strange bedfellows." Truth of this old adage may be found in the fact that Fascist Spain is now our friend and ally against Communist Russia which, a few years ago, was our friend and ally against Fascist Germany. Remembering a noted patriot's words about eternal vigilance being the price of liberty, we might do well never to repeat the error we made with the Kremlin—that is, picturing an undemocratically as freedom-loving and peaceful.

Dictator Franco condemns himself with his own words. In recent very candid statements, Hitler's bosom buddy, in saying he was granting more "freedom" of expression in Spain for "loyal and constructive" criticism, made the point that such criticism could not include the "negative" characteristics of Spain's short-lived parliamentary era. He even admitted Spain does not understand American institutions of freedom.

Let's not make a hero of one dictator simply because he opposes another dictator.

Rep. Norblad, Republican of Oregon, has questioned whether taxpayers should foot the bill for a $9,400 study of the prehistoric living site of Acheulean man in central Tanganyika. The National Science Foundation included this study in recent grants of some 13 million dollars.

Some of the other subjects that aroused Norblad's ire included: "Biology of the Florida Deer Mouse," $6,000; "Behavior Patterns in Wild Ungulates" (hoofed animals), $9,100; "Present Status and Future of Darwinian Evolution," $13,000; and "Analysis in Vitro of the Developmental Effects of Genetic Factors in the Mouse," $13,500.

What Norblad overlooks is that, with our vast expenditures in purely physical science, especially that of a warlike nature, we are in danger of becoming unbalanced. The Biblical statement that men cannot live by bread alone has a meaning in science, too. Our philosophy is greatly affected by trends in science, and it is generally admitted that we already are too materialistic as a nation.

If we are going to spend billions on developing missiles and nuclear weapons, we will be foolish not to spend at least a few thousands on apparently useless non-physical research that often, in the end, benefits us more than all the nuclear reactors in the world.

There's Communism In Golf Reports

Every time I pick up a paper these days and read that President Eisenhower has played another round of golf at the Little White House in Augusta, Ga., I shudder convulsively at what that printed word is doing to my profession.

Until four weeks ago, I was innocent enough to suppose that any report of the President's golfing was no more than a routine news item. Now I know better. Mention of the President's golf games in the public prints is an overt Communist plot, designed to destroy him and the republic.

This plot, in all its nefarious convolutions, was fully exposed to me by a positive and alert woman whom I met at a party in Palm Beach last month. This lady, whose husband is head of one of the nation's largest steel corporations, boxed me in a corner and said flatly that all newspaper writers were Communists.

Well, anything can happen in Palm Beach. So, using the sedative tones of a director to an overwrought child, I asked the attacker to specify.

"Every time the President goes away for a little vacation," the angry female said, "all that one reads in the newspapers is that Mr. Eisenhower is out on the golf course! Golf, golf, golf, and not another word! You can't tell me that this isn't the work of Communists!"

"I guess we don't read the same papers," I said soothingly. "The ones I read always say that the President spent such-and-so many hours at his desk on official business before going out to play golf."

"I read the papers from all over the country," countered the steel tycooness, "and all they ever mention is golf. Never work. And that is subversive, obviously the work of Communists writing for the papers."

"Well, gee whiz," I said, hoping to gee-whiz the lady out of her delusions. "Mr. Eisenhower does go South to play golf because it's good for him, doesn't he? The papers are only telling the truth, aren't they?"

"That's no excuse!" snapped the press's stern critic. "They just write about the golf because they're Communists. They want to embarrass the President and arouse the little people against him."

I counted 10 and then lowered what I confidently believed to be the boom.

"But in the last two Presidential campaigns, and particularly in the 1956 campaign," I pointed out, "the opposition party cried to the high heavens that the United States was served by a one-party or Republican press. An overwhelming percentage of American newspapers actively supported the Eisenhower candidacy. So why would that so-called one-party press sabotage its own boy?"

"That's all very well and I admit it," said this latter-day Mme. de Steel. "The owners may be Republicans, but their writers are Communists."

"So you don't think the owners read their own papers or are smart enough to prevent subversion of their own presses?" I asked.

"The lady fixed me with a baleful eye and shook the dust from her diamonds as she departed.

And that is how I came to learn that golf is just another dirty, four-letter word that ought to be strictly confined to the locker room.

Chart Shows Business As Ought-To-Be

Not too long ago, I thought that Col. Stoenpog had developed the perfect economic chart for Americans. It was triangular in shape. The bottom sloped at a 45-degree angle. Sales, production, profits, and stock prices, whatever you graphed on it, had only one way to go—up.

But, alas, Col. Stoenpog must bow to progress and C. Canby Balderston, vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who courageously uses a chart which the English language is impotent to describe. Fortunately, the Russians have a word for it, nee-kog-da, which literally means no-when (never). The Balderston chart goes from no-when to no-when.

This timeless artifice shows that the price level in America can never be perfectly stable. The Consumers Price Index is bound to fluctuate up and down. But by careful management of money and credit, by intelligent coordination of government spending with private spendings, prices can be confined to narrow ways or deep. Sharp inflationary forays or deep deflationary retreats unnecessary.

The Balderston chart's a hypothetical vision. It concerns itself not with what has been but solely with what might have been and ought to be. It depicts a depressionless America. Setbacks occur, but they're short and shallow, and lead happily in every instance into another upward progression.

"Only in America could such economic 'euphorism' steal into the high-domed confines of the nation's central bank!"

Dave Beck, head of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America—to give the union its titular due—is not the only person who has ever borrowed money interest-free in a tight money market.

260 to the company on June 30, 1956. The year previous the Senator's debt was 30,615. The company's proxy statement says no interest "has been paid or charged."

Also, Kerr-McGee stockholders have put their credit behind the Republic Supply Co., the capital stock of which is owned by five officers of Kerr-McGee, including Sen. Kerr, by guaranteeing a loan of $1,375,000, which, as of June 30, 1956, had been reduced to $453,352.

Sen. Kerr received $32,600 for his services as board chairman in the company's last fiscal year.

According to a news release by Doremus-Eshleman Co., financial advertising and publicity firm, this year's Invest-in-America week, from April 28 to May 4, will be the biggest ever. Philadelphia, the founding Invest-in-America city, has crowded in a series of five name days.

Monday, April 29, for example, is Freedom to Invest Day (which also implies that it's Freedom Not to Invest Day). Then will follow in order: American Consumer Day; Labor and Industry Day; Youth of America Day; and Women Investors in America Day.

At the rate name-days are proliferating, numeration of the Gregorian calendar will soon be superfluous: "Meet you for lunch, Jim, on Freedom to Invest Day."

LEXINGTON, Ky. — An elderly man approached the receptionist at St. Joseph Hospital and asked if E. C. Jones could have visitors.

"No," replied the receptionist. "Well, how is Mr. Jones getting along?" the man asked. "His condition is much improved." "I'm glad to hear it," the man said. "I've been here 10 days and couldn't get that much information out of any of the doctors or nurses. I'm E. C. Jones."

WHY I BECAME A MINISTER Had Conviction Since Childhood

By REV. H. W. BARTLETT
 The call to the Ministry is a marvelous thing. A study of the Bible and the experiences of others in God's service reveals that the call of God comes in various ways; yet in each there is always the overwhelming conviction of heart and soul that God has spoken, and the ministry is the result of a Divine Commission.

This must always be so if we apply Romans 10:15, "And how shall they preach except they be sent?"

In the Old Testament we find Isaiah's experience recorded. (Isaiah 6: 8, 9a)

First, God seeks a man — "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?"

Second, Man surrenders to Call of God — "Here am I, send me."

Third, God commissions the man who surrenders and accepts the call — "Go and tell the people."

Such is the divine order of a call to the ministry in the mind and heart of the writer. Such a pattern is found in my own experience. With this commission from God, a man becomes God's Man, with God's message for humanity.

REV. H. W. BARTLETT
 COLLEGE BAPTIST CHURCH

As I look back across my life I find it difficult to set in order and on paper my heart's emotions and my father's meditations around this theme, "Why I became a Minister." Simply stated I am a minister because God called me to be one.

My conviction that God wanted me to be a preacher has been with me as long as I can remember. My fourth grade school teacher quizzed me as to telling her, "I must learn to speak and write correctly, for God wants me to be a preacher."

Later, when I was only 13 I felt God speak to my heart in such a definite way that I knew that I must surrender my life to Him. The occasion was a revival meeting in the Forsan Baptist Church and Rev. R. Elmer Dunham was doing the preaching. During one of the night services he stressed

Book of Beginnings
 GOD CREATES THE EARTH, HEAVEN AND ALL LIVING THINGS

Scripture—Genesis 1—2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
 IN THIS LESSON we go back to the beginning of the earth and its creation. The Bible does not give any date of the creation. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith says scientists think it was between eight and ten billion years ago.

There are two accounts of the creation of man. In the first chapter, we are told that "God created man in His own image, male and female created He them." In the second chapter, we read that God made woman later for a helpmate for Adam.

Dr. Smith says, "I believe that verse 1 is an introduction to the entire chapter, and verse 2 describes a condition of chaos prevailing around the globe ultimately to be called the earth. All geologists agree that a heavy vapor originally surrounded the earth, what is known as chaos, unformed matter."

"The earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters."

MEMORY VERSE
 "God saw every thing that He had made, and, behold, it was very good."—Genesis 1:31.

"And God said, Let there be light; and there was light." God then divided the light from the darkness and called them day and night, and that was the first day of creation. On the second day God made the firmament and divided the waters and called the firmament heaven. The third day He gathered together the waters under the heaven into one place and let the dry land appear. And He called the land earth and the waters He called the seas. Then He made the earth bring forth grass, herbs and the fruit trees bearing fruit after their kind.

On the fourth day He created the sun to shine by day and the moon by night, and the stars, which He set in the firmament to give light to the earth. On the fifth He caused the seas to be filled with fish — from the great whale to the smallest of the fishes and other inhabitants of the waters, and all the fowl of the waters, and God blessed them saying, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas and let fowl multiply in the earth."

those were to be their names. God having decided that it was not good for man to be alone, He put Adam into a deep sleep and from his rib He formed a woman and "brought her unto the man."

And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man.

"Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife; and they shall be one flesh."

The teacher of the younger classes could bring a live plant to class and ask the children about its origin. Dr. Smith suggests: Did it come from a seed or a kernel, a bulb, etc.? God made the lovely flowers and all the beauties of the earth. Only man, because of his disobedience to God's laws, his hates and fears, makes our world sad. Love would conquer all. Not only love for those near and dear to us, but love and respect for all of this beautiful earth, regardless of race, color or creed. That would bring peace.

I did not make my surrender that night even though I felt so definitely I should do so. Later the same week death visited our home and my father was taken. Out of this experience God became so very real and the call of God weighed so heavily upon me that I surrendered without further delay.

I first told my pastor, Rev. Marvin Leach, of my decision and on the following Sunday I made my decision known to the church. From that time back in April, 1941, until now I have sought to prepare myself to preach and to do God's will in everything.

God has blessed by giving me opportunity to do that which He called me to do. For the past 14 years, almost half my life I have been pastoring Baptist churches. God has been good and has blessed in every way in everything.

That God always enables one to do the work that He calls them to do, has been my experience each step of the way.

I have not found the ministry an easy life, but I have found it a glorious one that has its eternal, God-given compensation. I am happy that God called me to preach, and it is the purpose of my life to serve Him whenever and wherever He directs as long as He gives me life.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SURRENDERING AND YIELDING TO GOD'S CALL. It seemed that he was speaking directly to me.

Promote Fire Inspections

These fire demons were credited with a great deal of the success of the fire inspection field days here Wednesday and Thursday. Buddy Hutson is the "fire devil," Hugh Harbert "Stupid Carelessness," and Lester Roberts "Death." With them are Fire Chief H. V. Crocker and R. E. Talbot, Lubbock, president of the West Texas Field Men's Association.

Inspectors Leave 760 Tags On Big Spring Fire Hazards

Insurance company fieldmen left here Thursday afternoon, leaving a trail of red tags to remind Big Springers of their two-day visit. In all, there were 760 of these tags issued to pinpoint fire hazards.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said business people here indeed would be reminded for the city fire marshal, F. W. Bettle, and members of the fire department will make calls on business establishments to see what corrective action is taken toward eliminating fire hazards.

R. E. Talbot, Lubbock, president of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association, termed the inspection here the smoothest ever undertaken in the state. This, he added, was due to the advance work done by Chamber of Commerce committees and school authorities, as well as by city fire department officials.

Moreover, reports show that fires are still happening from the same causes - smoking and matches leading the parade. The two-day survey of Big Spring was climaxed with a luncheon at Couden Country Club with the Big Spring Insurance Agents Association as host. R. E. McKinney, president, introduced Parker, Norris, Roy Ratliff, assistant state fire marshal, and others. He recognized the role played by Jim Lewis, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which handled pre-arrangements, and Supt. Floyd W. Parsons for work in getting more than 2,000 homes checked for fire hazards.

So far as records revealed, every business firm in town had been visited by the fieldmen, in company with a member of the fire department and Boy Scouts. Parker, who said that Texas had escaped a 17 per cent increase in the rate of fire losses so far this year, said the inspection could make Big Spring still safer. Last year its insured losses were about $41,000, which entailed the city to a 20 per cent fire rate credit.

Among those recognized at the luncheon for singular contributions to success of the venture were Buddy Hutson, who played the role of Fire Devil, Hugh Harbert who was Mrs. Stupid Carelessness, and Lester Roberts, who played the role of Death. They were planning to attend the Dr. W. B. Hardy, Dr. E. O. Ellington, Dr. Lee O. Rogers, Dr. C. W. Deats, Dr. Dick Lane, Dr. Glenn Allen, Dr. H. M. Jarratt.

Dr. and Mrs. Hardy and Dr. and Mrs. Deats will visit with sons and their family in Houston, and Dr. Jarratt will go by the way of Austin to visit his 104-year-old grandmother Mrs. A. J. Holmes, who has been ill of late.

working before his arrest as foreman in a Brooklyn tea and spice company. His decision to change his plea from not guilty to guilty came after prolonged consultation with his attorney, Harold O. N. Frankel.

The three were arrested by FBI agents last Feb. 25, Soble and his wife in their home on Manhattan's West 78th st., and Albam in his apartment on Riverside Drive.

The arrest climaxed a 10-year investigation of a spy ring, whose activities allegedly included clandestine meetings in hotels and restaurants in New York, Paris, Geneva, Lausanne and Vienna.

The FBI said Soble took over control of the ring from Vassili Zubilin, former third secretary of the Russian Embassy in Washington, who drank himself out of favor with his Kremlin masters.

Prober Sees Economy Of 'Gangsterism'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) says Senate probers have turned up evidence of racketeering in labor and industry which could lead to a "gangsterism economy."

McClellan, chairman of the bipartisan Senate Rackets Committee, spoke last night before the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. The ANPA's 11th convention ended early in the day.

The senator said the work of his committee, after a yearlong investigation, has "barely begun."

"Racketeering is a threat to liberty," he said. "It is criminal, and it has no place in our civilized society."

"If left alone, unchecked and unrestrained, with the momentum it has already gained, we could be heading for a gangsterism economy in America. That must not occur. The responsibility rests upon all of us to prevent it."

"I believe that it can be prevented, and I have an abiding hope and faith that it will be done."

McClellan said the committee will continue its exposure of wrongdoing in both labor and management fields until Congress has enough information to "clean up the mess."

Evidence thus far, he said, has revealed a "close pattern" of graft, corruption and ties to the underworld.

"The principal area of interest to our committee... involves collusion between management and union officials to their mutual advantage and to the detriment of union members," he said.

Jury Panel For Week Is Excused

Jurors who have been serving in the 11th District Court this week have been dismissed and allowed to return to their homes.

Judge Charlie Sullivan will have a new panel of 60 jurors on hand Monday morning to assist him in the trial of several civil cases, which have been docketed for the week.

Gulford Jones, district attorney, said that he has one remaining criminal case he desires to try and that he has arranged with Judge Sullivan to sandwich this case into the civil docket week when an interval develops in the schedule.

Jones said the lone criminal case remaining ready for trial is an indictment against Pablo Flores, charged with car theft under a habitual criminal rating.

Judge Sullivan was an uncertain just how many civil cases would be ready for trial when he sounds the docket on Monday and that as a result, he believed the criminal case would be heard sometime during the week.

'Lost Week' Ends As Man Finally Sobers

A man went on his way today after partially sobbing up from a long drunk during which time he forgot who he was.

Early this morning, a man walked into the police station and wanted policemen to help him remember who he was.

He told night captain A. V. Brown that he remembered leaving El Paso Sunday. Somewhere between here and El Paso, he remembered hitting a pickup that was parked in the middle of the highway. Later checks by policemen failed to reveal any hit-and-run in the area.

Later, he remembered his name and said he owned a 1955 Oldsmobile. He was taken to Big Spring Hospital for checkup of an arm and leg injury and then was held in custody for self protection.

This morning, police said he was sober enough to remember everything and was released. He admitted starting a "drunk" about two weeks ago. During his lapse of memory, he also forgot time. He said he left El Paso Sunday, "which was yesterday wasn't it?"

Lester Paul Moncrief, wanted here to answer charges of theft, and who has been in Arizona where he refused to waive extradition, is back in the Howard County Jail.

He was arrested in Big Spring by Jack Shaffer, chief deputy, Thursday afternoon.

His arrest here came as officers were making preparations to go to Arizona to attend hearing set for Monday on Moncrief's refusal to come back to Texas voluntarily.

Sheriff Miller Harris said that he had made preparations to ask extradition of the suspect who had been picked up on local orders by Arizona officers and released on bond pending the hearing.

Jeff Cross Dies Today

Jefferson Davis (Jeff) Cross, 48, resident of Howard County for the past 20 years, died unexpectedly at a hospital here Friday.

Having been bothered by pain while en route home from a visit in South Texas, he entered the hospital Thursday evening for an examination. He died suddenly with another attack at 7 a. m.

Arrangements are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. He was born Dec. 24, 1908, at Greenville and came with his family to Howard County in 1917. The family farmed in the Center Point community and after his marriage to Helen Griffith on Jan. 1, 1929, he operated a farm and dairy until 1952. In that year he purchased the Air Castle Cafe at 1012 East 2nd Street and had operated it since that time.

He was elected to that office Thursday night by his fellow club members. He has been serving as vice president of the association for the past year.

Robinson succeeds Rodney Brooks as president.

Other officers elected included Johnny King, Forsan, vice president; Wanda Boatler, secretary; and Melvin Frya, reporter. Both of the latter officers are residents of Big Spring.

Adult leaders elected by the meeting are Lloyd Robinson, Knott; Hamlin Elrod, Forsan; J. W. Overton, M. H. Boatler both of Big Spring and Ellis Iden, Vealmoor.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Tackles, or a lack of them, seem to be Coach Al Milch's big troubles in the spring football camp at the local high school.

The Steers seem to be fairly well stocked with guards and Milch will be forced to move some of his interior linemen to the tackle spots.

Railbirds here have been impressed with the zeal of Coach Mitchell Malouf, newest member of Milch's staff, who appears to have the endurance to go with his enthusiasm.

Malouf obviously intends to earn that record high salary for a first assistant here.

Gordon Speer of Rice Institute, who twice has been clocked in 9.7 in the 100, will — no doubt — be the fastest football back in the Southwest Conference next season.

If you can put credence in the remarks of Phil Cutchin, coaching assistant at Texas A&M, Maryland's Terrapins will return to the football heights in 1957 (and possibly meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl again).

Cutchin scouted the Terps in spring training and says they looked great.

Jim Blasingame, the Big Spring boy who enrolled at North Texas State College in September, has been running in varsity competition for the Eagle track and field team.

Blasingame was first told he would have to 'lay out' a year due to Missouri Valley Conference eligibility rules but his coach checked with the conference office and the powers-that-be gave him their blessings.

Jim has been responding with some fine times in the 90 and the relay races.

Snyder's fine young track star, Bobby Pollard, is looking for a junior college offer for next year.

The word is that Bobby will lack three credits to graduate this spring. The only way HCJC could take him — and everyone at the local school would like to get him here — would be for him to attend summer school and the fall semester in high school.

Once he gets his high school diploma, however, some senior college is apt to grab him. He's a hot prospect.

Sid Hudson, the Boston Red Sox scout, looked in on the Snyder-Big Spring baseball game the other day. Hudson is on the prowl for pitchers.

Look for Frank Smith, the Sweetwater ex, to come onto his own as a Southwest Conference football star next fall.

Smith caught the eye of Bill Meek, SMU's new coach, in spring workouts. He was playing first string at the end of the drills while several of the better known players were relegated to the bench (for failure to develop on defense as fast as Meek thought they should).

Smith is being compared favorably with Jackie Crain and other great SWC rabbit backs of the past.

Another note on SMU: The Dallas school hopes to land a 6-foot-7 cage star from Collingsville, Ill., named Joe Bethel.

He says he'll attend either Vanderbilt or SMU and Coach Doc Hayes hopes to lure him down Texas way.

One SWC school is said to have offered nine scholarships to the 1956 Abilene football team alone.

It was generally agreed that the Eagles had six really outstanding boys last fall. The other help was regarded as mediocre.

CRANE GAME CALLED Steers And Cats Tangle Saturday

The exhibition baseball game between Crane and Big Spring, which was to have been played here starting at 4:15 p.m. today, was moved back to next Friday due to moving showers.

The Longhorns have now dropped five games in a row. Crane is one of the three teams the locals shut out early in the season.

However, Big Spring is fielding a weaker team than at that time. Seven of the local players have exchanged baseball toggers for football suits.

Coach Roy Baird indicated he would have sent Billy Rogers or Billy Blum to the pitching rubber today. Roger looked exceptional.

Sime Missing In Drake Show

DES MOINES — A Drake Relays field gilded by an Olympic time started after a new set of facts and figures today.

With Olympians sprinkled throughout the cast, the 48th track and field show was expected to blossom out with numerous new records if weather conditions are satisfactory.

Seven final events, including five which have entries considered capable of establishing new marks, and a host of preliminaries were on the opening day program.

The preliminaries include the 100-yard dash which has the potential for furnishing an even more spectacular finale than last year when Dave Sime of Duke nipped Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian in a record 8.4 seconds.

COACH ANNA SMITH

BS Girls Bid For Net Title

The Steerettes of Big Spring High School launch their campaign for the State girls' volleyball championship in Rose Field House on Hardin-Simmons University campus at 2 p.m. today, at which time they meet Pampa.

Two straight wins can do it for Anna Smith's team, since only three teams are entered in the Class AAAA division of the meet.

Other teams include the Pampa and Irving complete the round-robin by mixing at 11 a.m.

Big Spring carries a record of 28 wins and five losses to the tournament site. The Steerettes won both district and regional honors.

Coach Smith is taking 13 girls to the tournament. They are Nita Farquhar, Lynda Glenn, Barbara Hale Blizzard, Peggy Isaacs, Freda Donica, Elaine Russell, Pat Hinson, Barbara Burchett, Barbara Porch, Carol Self, Barbara Coffey, Frances Davee and June Johnston.

Five divisions will be presented at the tournament. In all, 42 sextets will be entered. The largest group — 15 teams — is in Class B. Class A boasts 11 clubs, AA nine and AAA only four.

The tournament is independent of the Texas Interscholastic League and has grown by leaps and bounds. Last year, only five teams from throughout Texas competed for the laurels and Big Spring finished as runnerup.

TIL rules are followed, however, in order to make the sponsorship change-over easier when the change does come.

Trophies will go to the first, second, third and consolation round winners in each division — where the case permits. In addition, miniature golf basketball will go to the 12 members of the all-tournament team.

J. L. Sherman, principal of the high school at Buena Vista, is chairman of the tournament.

Arah Phillips of HCJC is director of the meet.

In Class AAA, Sweetwater plays San Marcus at 8 a.m. Saturday while Phillips tries Graham at 9 a.m. in the other bracket. The winners tangle at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

Bill Casper Out Front In Louisville Tourney

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bill Casper Jr., a roly-poly, likeable Californian, was tagged today as an up and coming campaigner among golf's touring professionals.

Having definitely recovered from a mild slump that beset him after winning the recent Phoenix Open, Casper was called the man to beat in the Kentucky Derby Open.

This was so even though he held a slim one-stroke lead over Australian Peter Thomson and Jack Fleck of Rochester, Mich., a couple of proven stalwarts.

Both Thomson and Fleck added 56 to opening round 65 to trail with 121. Only six of the 116 entries were under par.

Behind Casper, Thomson, a 6-foot-6 Fleck came Art Wall Jr., of Pocomo Manor, Pa., with 138; Walker Inman Jr., of Bolton Mass., with 139 and Howie Johnson of Houston, with 140.

The leaders:

Thursdays night was a good example. There were 68 runs in four games — an average of 17 per contest. It took 94 hits to produce all those tallies.

The unusual situation of all being tied for first was broken up at least temporarily but it's only halfway. Now four of the eight clubs are tied for the lead — Carlsbad, Plainview, Clovis and Ballinger.

Carlsbad whipped Hobbs 19-8. Plainview nipped Midland 6-5. Clovis blasted El Paso 15-2 and Ballinger trampled Pampa 12-1.

Carlsbad's Potashers crashed out 18 hits in thumping Hobbs with every player except one relief pitcher getting at least one hit and one run.

Carlsbad scored 14 runs in the first three innings. Each side pulled four double plays in the best played game of the evening.

Clovis collected 17 hits and used 10 walks and 3 El Paso errors for an easy triumph. Meanwhile Gus Carmichael was limiting the Texans to four base knocks.

Clovis scored nine runs in the seventh and eighth innings to make it a rout.

Ed Maler gave up seven hits and fanned 11 as Ballinger overwhelmed the Pampa Oilers. Joe Giel and Walter O'Neal paced the Ballinger 11-hit attack with home runs. Kenny Jones also parked the ball for the Westerners.

O'Neal, a rookie outfielder, has clouted three home runs in as many games.

Cameron May Join Pioneer Circuit

ARLINGTON (AP) — The Pioneer Junior College Conference is expected to be expanded to six schools at the spring meeting here tomorrow.

Cameron A&M of Lawton, Okla., has applied for admission to W. C. Weir of Schreiner Institute, president of the conference, and will be voted upon. Already in the conference are Arlington State, Tarleton State, Schreiner, Ranger and San Angelo.

Defending champions are Amarillo in AA, Stamford in A and Hale Center in B, with Abilene and San Angelo expected to give the Sandies a scrap in the higher classification, Canyon to give class A Stamford a good fight and Stinnett to dethrone the Owls in B.

Mike Smith of Big Spring will enter both the pole vault and the high jump in the meet. Smith was one of three boys to set a regional record recently in the pole vault.

Smith is the only Big Springer eligible to take part in the state meet this year.

Geological Survey Says Drought Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—An indication of a recent decrease in the persistent drought in Texas, the Midwest and Southwest was reported today by the Geological Survey.

The survey said there appeared to be no critically short water supplies on April 1.

In a summary of water resources, covering the six months ended March 31, the agency said: "The persistent drought from the Great Lakes to Southern California reached critical stages in some areas but at end of the period showed some indication of decreasing."

"Ground-water levels were below average over most of the United States."

The survey noted that drought has been present in varying intensities for eight years or more over much of the southern Mid-continent region and the Southwest, and added:

"During the fall it grew somewhat in intensity and by winter there were critical shortages of water in Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Southern California."

"As the winter progressed the drought was eased somewhat, although sometimes only temporarily."

"Central Arizona water supplies increased in January, but by end of March they were again deficient."

"There appeared to be no critically short water supplies at the end of March, but with the start of the growing season at hand, water supply shortages could become serious, even though there is ample soil moisture for the production of crops, unless there is abundant rainfall."

A survey spokesman said the agency had no information yet on the effect of April storms in some of the drought area.

Earlier this month, the Weather Bureau said changes in the upper wind currents gave hope that last

Jury Turns To Probe Of ICT Insurance Firm

AUSTIN (AP)—A grand jury turned to the legislative investigation of the collapsed ICT Insurance Co. today. That didn't close the door on the legislative payoff probe.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Carroll was scheduled to appear during the afternoon and tell the jury of findings of the special House ICT Committee which reported April 1 and turned all its evidence over to the grand jury.

A similar Senate ICT Committee is still at work on its report.

The grand jury plans to hear at least one more witness in the alleged bribery of legislators to affect the outcome of naturopathic control bills.

Dr. Calvin Gannbill of Cross Plains, a director of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Ass'n since 1953, said he did not think the bribery investigation would pin anything on any Texas naturopath.

He was before the jury.

The final report of the House committee recommended grand jury study of financial links between ICT enterprises and former Insurance Chairman Byron Saunders and Garland Smith. It also turned over to the grand jury testimony that Max Rychlik, Smith's son-in-law, had received $700 a month from an ICA affiliate for doing nothing. The committee said that money payments from Ben-Jack Cage, head of an insurance-investments empire, to Saunders and Rychlik were "evidence of a gross breach of public trust."

The committee also reported that evidence of what was "probably a violation of the law which prohibits corporations from making political contributions" in connection with funds disbursed by Action Agency, an Austin publicity outfit with AFL Union connections.

The report also said that it had found instances of payments from ICT or its connections to six past and present members of the House. The report said the payments were "highly questionable" but there was no evidence that any money was made for legislative services.

Surprise For A Nurse

It was quite a shock to Nancy Jo Gillis to hear herself named Student Nurse of the Year at a uniform tea Thursday afternoon. Given at Webb Air Force Base, the tea honored student nurses attending the state meeting of Texas Student Nurses Association and the Texas Graduate Nurses Association being held here this week. Bessie Love, chairman of arrangements for the TGNA meeting, presents a gift to Miss Gillis as members of the judging committee beam approval. They are, left to right, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, R. L. Miller, Doug Orme and Mrs. Robert Smith.

In the student council meeting Tuesday, plans were made for the spring formal dance which is to be at the Cosden Country Club this evening from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Committees were appointed to make decorations, for refreshments and publicity. It was decided to have a charge of $1 per couple and $1.25 tag. Also a committee was appointed to make rules, which are as follows:

1. No Senior High Stags; 2) decorations are not to be torn down until the dance is over; 3) Senior High Students may be only with a Junior High date; 4) activity cards must be presented at the door; 5) no one can leave the dance after once getting in; 6) no student will be allowed in the dining room area.

Luan Lawson, Jane Cowper and Mrs. Roberta Wiley left early Wednesday for Dallas to attend the state FHA meeting. They also made plans to attend the Cinema which is to be one of the main attractions. They will attend a round of meetings and banquets.

On Easter Sunday, the ninth grade Kappa Xi Tri Hi-Y girls gave a citywide egg hunt for youngsters under eight years of age. Candy eggs were bought by the girls, prizes were provided, and the project was declared a success.

Wednesday during the first and second periods, there was an assembly on fire prevention. It was very interesting and informative. After the program, a fire drill was held with the pupils being timed on clearing the building.

Wednesday the eighth grade pupils from Gay Hill visited our school. These 12 pupils were each given a big "sister" or "brother" to go with them during the day. They were introduced to some of the teachers and had their meal in the cafeteria.

Monday the ninth grade football boys had their first day of spring training. They have really been working hard and, putting out a lot of work for the sophomore team. The eighth grade spring training ended last Thursday with a successful two weeks of practice. We have a promising freshman team for next season. The spring training was climaxed with an intra-squad game of the seventh and eighth grade players.

New States To Begin Use Of Daylight Time

By The Associated Press

Daylight saving time begins at 2 a.m. Sunday and a survey shows it's spreading.

Several new states will observe "fast time" on a statewide basis this year. More communities are also adopting daylight time.

A movement is growing to continue daylight saving time until the last Sunday in October, instead of ending it the last Sunday in September.

Farmers, the principal opponents of summer fast time, will be horrified to learn that a new movement is under way — to put daylight time into effect the year 'round.

The movement so far has gained little support except in Louisville, Ky., where such an ordinance is being debated.

In Indiana, some communities having year-around daylight time will now have to end it in the fall because of a new state law.

Generally, the Eastern Seaboard south to Washington, D.C., will observe daylight saving time, as will California, Nevada and scattered cities and states in between. Most of the South, Middle West, Southwest and Far West will ignore the time switch.

New states going on daylight time statewide this year are Indiana (spotty in recent years), Wisconsin and Minnesota.

West Virginia will be half and half this year, and central Ohio seems likely to join the northwest, eastern part of the state on daylight time, while other parts of Ohio remain on standard.

The late October closing date, pioneered in New England and adopted in recent years by many Eastern areas, will spread the year to about half of Maryland, including Baltimore; and to areas in lower Delaware that last year were not in stride with Wilmington and the northern end of the state.

Minnesota's new law has brought second thoughts to many communities in neighboring North Dakota, Fargo, and other eastern North Dakota points have indicated they will follow Minnesota's lead.

Aside from these changes, most Americans will either turn clocks up one hour Sunday or ignore the whole thing according to the way they did it last year.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Plans Made For The Spring Dance

By JUDY PERDUE

In the student council meeting Tuesday, plans were made for the spring formal dance which is to be at the Cosden Country Club this evening from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Committees were appointed to make decorations, for refreshments and publicity. It was decided to have a charge of $1 per couple and $1.25 tag. Also a committee was appointed to make rules, which are as follows:

1. No Senior High Stags; 2) decorations are not to be torn down until the dance is over; 3) Senior High Students may be only with a Junior High date; 4) activity cards must be presented at the door; 5) no one can leave the dance after once getting in; 6) no student will be allowed in the dining room area.

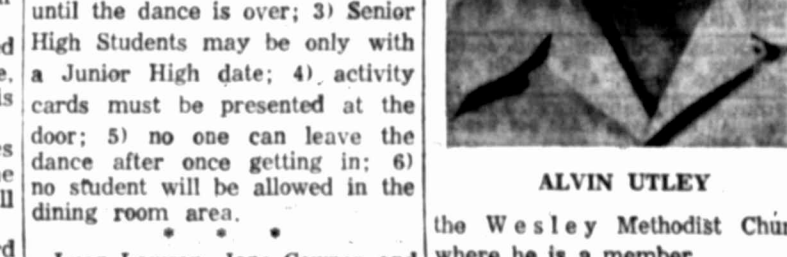

Luan Lawson, Jane Cowper and Mrs. Roberta Wiley left early Wednesday for Dallas to attend the state FHA meeting. They also made plans to attend the Cinema which is to be one of the main attractions. They will attend a round of meetings and banquets.

On Easter Sunday, the ninth grade Kappa Xi Tri Hi-Y girls gave a citywide egg hunt for youngsters under eight years of age. Candy eggs were bought by the girls, prizes were provided, and the project was declared a success.

Wednesday during the first and second periods, there was an assembly on fire prevention. It was very interesting and informative. After the program, a fire drill was held with the pupils being timed on clearing the building.

Wednesday the eighth grade pupils from Gay Hill visited our school. These 12 pupils were each given a big "sister" or "brother" to go with them during the day. They were introduced to some of the teachers and had their meal in the cafeteria.

Monday the ninth grade football boys had their first day of spring training. They have really been working hard and, putting out a lot of work for the sophomore team. The eighth grade spring training ended last Thursday with a successful two weeks of practice. We have a promising freshman team for next season. The spring training was climaxed with an intra-squad game of the seventh and eighth grade players.

Intruder Tries To Choke Girl

A Negro broke into a house on the Northside during the night and tried to choke a five-year-old girl before being scared away.

A Mrs. Franco called the police department early today and said that the Negro, about 18 or 19, broke a window out of a back door. He then reached in and unlatched the door and entered the house.

She said the Negro started choking the five-year-old girl but ran when Mrs. Franco started to call the police. The Francos reside at 101 NW 9th.

Last week, another resident reported that a man broke into her house and choked her.

HCCJ Elects New Instructor

Eugene Powell, Lovington, N. M., has been elected as an instructor at Howard County Junior College.

Hunt, president. Powell holds BS and MS degrees from North Texas State College at Denton. Salary will be $4,900.

Trustees of the college authorized sodding around the new buildings. They also approved a $821 payment to Leslie L. Lewis in payment for service as track coach this spring.

Attend Funeral

Clifford L. Draper, Forsan, accompanied by his two brothers, Miller Draper and Roy Draper, Forsan, were to return Friday from Spiro, Okla., where they attended the funeral services for Vernon Draper. They left Wednesday on learning of his death.

TCU Adds New Bible Professor

FORT WORTH — Dr. Charles F. Kemp, nationally known author and authority in the field of pastoral counseling, has been named "Distinguished Professor of Practical Ministries" in Brite College of the Bible, the graduate seminary of Texas Christian University.

He will assume his new post next September, according to Dr. M. E. Sadler, TCU president. Dr. Kemp will come to Texas from Lincoln, Neb., where he has been minister of the First Christian Church since 1951. A graduate of Drake University (B. A., M. A.), he also holds the Bachelor of Divinity from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School and his Ph. D. degree from the University of Nebraska.

He is the author of several books, some of which are used as texts in leading seminaries. They include "Physicians of the Soul" (1947); "A Pastoral Triumph" (1948) and "Life Situation Preaching" (1957).

Death Makes Trade In Auto Accident

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—A man died and a baby was born in an automobile accident today.

Highway patrolmen said Chester G. Wasmer, 26, was driving his expectant wife, Emma, to a hospital. At an intersection the Wasmer car and one driven by William E. Martin, 51, collided.

A witness helped deliver Mrs. Wasmer's baby, a 9 pound 11 ounce son, on the scene. Both were in good condition at Gardena Hospital. Wasmer suffered only minor injuries, but Martin died later.

Graham Answers Priest: 'Just Simple Gospel'

NEW YORK (AP)—A priest's admonition that Roman Catholics should not attend evangelist Billy Graham's forthcoming New York crusade has led to a statement by Graham's office here that his sermons will be "the simple gospel message as found in the Bible."

The statement yesterday was authorized by Graham at his Montreal, N. C., home where he is preparing for the six-week New York crusade starting May 15.

The Graham office statement said the evangelist's message here will be "the same message that he has always preached," and added:

"It is the message which has characterized Orthodox Christianity through the ages. The doors of the crusade will be open to all who wish to attend."

The new statement to Roman Catholics not to attend the crusade or listen to Graham's broadcasts was made by the Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the Bureau of Information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.

The priest, writing in the current issue of Homiletic and Pastoral Review, said Graham is "a danger to the faith" for Catholics who listen to him.

Warning Sounded On Russ Missiles

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Blunt warning to the nation's industrial leaders that Communist missile development may surpass that of the United States was sounded at Ft. Bliss last night.

The warning came at a three-day symposium for industrial and military leaders.

Brig. Gen. R. H. Weinecke, from the office of the Army's assistant chief of staff for intelligence, said:

"The Soviet guided missile program appears to be ahead of Western development in certain areas. This missile threat is a challenge to our own research and development."

Brig. Gen. T. F. Bogart, from the office of the deputy chief of staff for operations, warned that America must move fast to meet changing conditions.

"Adaptation to environment is a law of life," Bogart said. "Those who adapt most rapidly to change will be most likely to survive."

Secretary of the Army Wilbur Brucker warned no one weapon can serve all purposes.

The secretary remarked that large-yield nuclear weapons might be a disadvantage.

"Under a large variety of circumstances their employment would defeat our purpose of world stability and lasting peace," he said.

The Army, he continued, must have means to apply the exact amount of force required for a specific task—against close-in as well as distant pinpoint targets with extreme accuracy despite any weather condition.

"The scientists and the engineers gave us new horizons of weaponry when they combined the atom with the guided missile," he said. "This gave us something we were told we could not have a short time ago—an atomic army and a conventional army at the same time."

Brucker deplored the idea wholesale destruction is necessary in war.

He said the Army for over four years has had several missiles in operational use with troops in the field.

The secretary said the Army antiaircraft arsenal would soon be augmented by a weapon known as the Hawk. He said the missile could be used by field armies or for protection of cities or industrial areas and vital concentrations of any sort.

Uncle Ray:
Our Solar System Moves Toward Swan

By RAMON COFFMAN

Yesterday I spoke of the fact that all stars are moving. Facts have been learned about the motions of thousands of them.

At first glance people are puzzled because a star can (and does) have more than one motion. When we consider the subject, however, we realize that things of the same kind happens in everyday life.

When a pitcher wants a baseball to curve, he gives it a whirling motion. The ball twists around at the same time it is traveling toward the catcher.

A passenger on an ocean liner is carried forward at the speed of 25 miles an hour, let us say. At any time on the voyage, he can walk or run from one side of the vessel to the other, giving himself a different kind of motion than the forward motion.

In the same way, the stars are "going somewhere." Our solar system is known to be traveling toward the bright star Vega and the star group known as the Swan. The same thing is true of various stars which are described as "neighbors" of our solar system.

The average speed of this star group toward the Swan has been estimated at 180 miles a second. Besides that motion, stars have

Section of sky toward which our solar system is moving.

"proper motions." Instead of moving in tune with other stars, they go crosswise to their neighbors.

Many stars have proper motions of little importance, with speeds of less than half a mile a second. Certain stars move crosswise at five miles a second, and Barnard's Star has a proper motion of 85 miles a second!

If our solar system and the stars nearby are traveling 180 miles a second toward the Swan, the speed is more than three times the fastest "proper motion" known.

Scouts To Mark Dead Trees For Removal In Lamesa

LAMESA—Boy Scout Troop 22 has voted to conduct a survey of Lamesa, in cooperation with the clean-up campaign, to determine the dead trees that can be removed during "Operation Clean-Sweep" on May 9.

The survey will be Saturday, and Scouts will mark the trees to be disposed of in a conspicuous way. They will also denote the deadwood on a city map so that none will be missed.

W. B. Osborne, who with Guy Weekes, is heading up the clothes and toy drive for the same day, reports that more than a dozen trucks are being lined up to pick up the items and turn them over to the Goodfellows. The Lamesa Fire Department will repair and repaint the toys before Christmas.

Don't Let Carpet Cleaning Floor You

Now you can clean all types of wall-to-wall carpets quickly and easily with the new Blue Lustre carpet and upholstery cleaner.

This very gentle foam cleaner is brushed into the carpet with long handle brush without sogging or matting, leaving the pile open and lofty. Original colors spring out like magic.

Blue Lustre removes spots or traffic paths in a jiffy. Works beautifully on upholstery, too. One half gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.
