Lyndon Leads Demo Attack On Spending

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) has launched a sharpshoot attack on President Eisenhower's budget that promises to make governmen...

Right-To-Work Rider Dooms Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland said today that adoption of a "right to work" amendment would "clearly kill" the administration's civil rights bill.

The Californian also told newsmen that if the bill is not reported out of the Senate Judiciary Committee by the latter part of May, steps may have to be taken to bypass the committee.

The measure, a key part of President Eisenhower's legislative program, has been bottled up in the Judiciary Committee by Southern opponents since its approval by a subcommittee last March 19.

At the committee's meeting last Monday Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) added fuel to the controversy over the bill by offering a right to work amendment to bar labor agreements requiring employees to be union members.

Several states have passed right to work laws, but such legislation is opposed by leaders of organized labor as vigorously as most Southern senators oppose the administration's civil rights bill.

Southern opponents have denounced the administration civil rights bill as an invasion of states' rights and have assailed the authority it would give the attorney general to go into federal courts for injunctions to enforce voting rights and other civil rights.

In addition to arming the attorney general with new enforcement power, the bill would create a presidential commission to investigate complaints of civil rights violations and establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Legislators Soon Go Off The Payroll

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—The Legislature starts working overtime with no pay after Tuesday, with final action still pending on such of its most important business.

A filibuster this week in effect rubbed out two full days of action on many major bills clogging its calendar. It took the Senate 23 minutes to pass its first segregation bill after the record filibuster against it ended.

Still awaiting final decisions are such major questions as the general spending bill, the water-saving program, the Insurance Commission reorganization, a lobby registration bill, teachers pay raises, and others of highly controversial nature.

There was hope that a conference committee putting the finishing touches on the two billion dollar spending bill would be ready to report early next week.

Sen. William F. Victoria, chairman of the joint committee, said he believed it could be wrapped up this weekend.

Senators on the committee worked while the filibuster by Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio and Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo rolled on and on.

The stubborn although apparently futile opposition by a small group of senators arguing that the segregation bills will be knocked out in court could add more payless days to the Legislature's calendar. They have pledged themselves to use the same delaying tactics on each of the eight remaining House-passed segregation bills.

The House passed an insurance regulation plan backed by Gov. Daniel, providing for a three-member fulltime board in a clean-sweep reorganization. The original Senate bill called for a part-time board. The Senate now must decide whether it will accept this House change.

Executive departments—and not on such widely popular items as flood control dams and power projects—none of his colleagues will be greatly surprised.

Unlike his opposite number, Republican Leader Knowland of California, Johnson is making no predictions on how much Congress will be able to cut in Eisenhower's proposed $71,800,000,000 spending program.

Knowland has called for a three billion dollar slice in actual spending. To reach such a goal, Congress would have to cut about five billion dollars off the more than 73 billion dollars in new money Eisenhower seeks.

Some of these appropriations are proposed for the future and won't actually be spent in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Eisenhower has a backlog of spending authority granted by previous Congresses and the current session's control of actual spending thus is limited.

The indications are that Johnson has in mind no such definite figure as that picked by Knowland. It is not part of the Democratic leadership's strategy to enforce economy at the expense of housing, health services, farm benefits and power projects.

These are issues which the Democrats generally agree helped them keep control of both Houses of Congress last year while Eisenhower was sweeping to a landslide victory.

Another Texas Democrat, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, said today that Congress hopes to cut the President's spending budget by three to five billion dollars "without hurting the country."

Without setting a timetable, Rayburn said this would give the people a tax cut that would help everybody.

Besides the Democrats who will go along with him, Johnson will have some solid support from Republicans who express shock over the size of Eisenhower's spending program.

The first test of how far the Texas senator is willing to go toward economy is likely to come shortly when a Senate appropriations subcommittee he heads gets down to figures on a bill containing money for the State and Justice Departments and the judiciary.

Well prepared in advance, Johnson gave Secretary of State Dulles a sandpapering when the Cabinet member appeared before the subcommittee last week to ask for restoration of 29 million dollars of the 47 million the House already had sliced off State Department requests.

Beck, Teamsters Face New Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The beleaguered Teamsters Union and its President Dave Beck face a series of new showdowns next week on corruption charges.

Beck and other officers of the 1 1/2-million-member union, the nation's largest, continued to be defiant and avoided any commitment that a cleanup is needed or will be undertaken.

The Teamsters Executive Board, including Beck and several other indicted leaders, plan a strategy meeting Sunday afternoon on AFL-CIO order proceedings and hearings before the Senate Rackets Committee.

The union's entire executive board, including Beck, is due to go before the AFL-CIO ethical practices committee Monday to face charges that the Teamsters are substantially dominated by corrupt influences.

The five-man ethical practices group, headed by AFL-CIO Vice President Al Hayes, president of the Machinists Union, is expected to enlarge on this broad charge with a detailed listing of reasons why the Teamsters should be ousted from the AFL-CIO unless the union conducts a clean-up drive.

Beck is to appear again before the Senate Committee Wednesday to answer what Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) has said is new evidence of alleged misuse of Teamster funds.

The committee has already charged that Beck took at least $320,000 of the union's funds. He refused in hearings before the committee a month ago to answer the charge, invoking the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination. Beck has told newsmen he repaid the money.

It was reported that the committee's new charges will touch on Beck's handling of construction of the palatial $1/2 million dollar Teamster's marble and glass headquarters building here. The building, adjoining the U. S. Capitol grounds, will be the site of tomorrow's meeting of the 13-man Teamsters executive board.

Beck, free on $50,000 bond on an income tax evasion indictment, continued to defy all who have brought charges against him.

PARLEY ON BONDS
ORANGE, May 4 (AP)—Three days of conferences with rating service organizations, bond brokers and New York banks will start Wednesday in an effort to gain a high rating for revenue bonds of the Sabine River Authority of Texas.

MAY SEEK REGULATION OF RADIOACTIVE MATERIALS
HOUSTON, May 4 (AP)—Mayor Oscar Holcombe indicated today the long delay in reporting a laboratory accident in which four men were contaminated may lead to local regulations on use of radioactive materials.

Holcombe said the M. W. Kellogg Co. laboratory, where the March 13 disintegration of iridium-192 pellets was not disclosed until Thursday, is one of 20 civilian firms using radioactive materials here.

The mayor said city officials know nothing of the accident until they read "about it in newspapers."

Holcombe said he could not understand why officials of the Kellogg firm, a New York City company specializing in building oil processing facilities, did not report the March 13 accident to the Atomic Energy Commission until April 19.

New Floods Add To Texas Damage

Wichita Falls Area Point Of Danger

By The Associated Press
Texas rivers, aroused again, swept more floodwaters Saturday toward cities and areas which still hadn't recovered from earlier damaging high water.

The critical points were at Wichita Falls, a stretch of the Brazos River in Central Texas and an area on the lower Trinity. Heavy rains, some of cloudburst intensity, fell in these areas Friday and overnight.

Far to the east, on the Louisiana border, the Sabine was lapping at Deweyville but the river had steadied there. Water was within two feet of the highway between Deweyville and Evangeline, La.

The state estimated the 17 days of floods had caused five million dollars damage to government facilities alone. President Eisenhower allocated a million dollars for repair of public property, such as roads, public buildings and sewer lines.

The Red Cross estimated 9,000 persons have fled homes because of high water, and that 2,000 homes have been destroyed or damaged. Loss of crops and livestock has been heavy but no estimate was possible.

Some 51 families who evacuated their homes in Wichita Falls started moving back in Saturday night. A total of 77 families living on Holiday Creek in the center of the city of 125,000 in North Central Texas had been warned to move out but 26 elected to remain.

Civil defense officials said they thought the biggest danger was past. They said water actually got up into only two homes.

The peak of the flood at Wichita Falls was some 15 to 18 inches lower than the one in 1955, which sent 60 families from their homes. The river's maximum elevation was 18.77 feet.

BRIDGE CONDEMNED
The Highway Department was reported to have closed and condemned a million dollar, 2,000-foot concrete bridge at Kimball Bend across the Brazos in Central Texas.

Rain Made The Difference

Whiteside, Concho County Agent, is shown in top photo looking over a dried-up maize field on the Smith Ranch near Paint Rock, Tex., last January when the area was suffering from prolonged drought. on the Bosque River, were opened to relieve upstream pressure. Residents of Deweyville were going about their business as if no flood was lapping at their town. The river was expected to rise slowly for the next 5 to 10 days from Logansport, La., on the border, to Orange, at the mouth of the river.

Earlier flooding far up the Brazos in the Possum Kingdom Dam area eased considerably. The river fell 20 inches overnight and was 11 inches below the crest of Monday, which first drove many residents from their homes.

The Brazos dropped 2 feet overnight at Dennis, but water on the roadway approaching the bridge at Dennis still was 6 feet deep.

At Tin Top, the river dropped 3 or 4 inches below the Monday high, but it was spreading out and covering more territory, thereby reducing the level.

At Bennett, in the same area, the floodwaters receded at the brick plant, which had been under water twice in a week.

Airmen Help Flooded Town

SHREVEPORT, La., May 4 (AP)—Three hundred fresh volunteer airmen today arrived at East 30 miles south of here, to help the small town in its battle to keep back rising floodwaters of the Red River.

Maj. William L. Baldwin, disaster control officer at Barksdale Air Force Base, said new groups of volunteer airmen would replace the latest additions every eight hours.

Every unit at Barksdale was taking part in the effort. Ft. Polk, La., engineers units also are lending a hand. Other civilian and military volunteers are fighting back rising waters along some 100 miles of the big river.

William McLelland of Coushatta, 19th District levee board commissioner, earlier today described the flood situation in Red River Parish as "still desperate" while water continued to seep through levees.

"Water is lapping at the top of the levees and is seeping and boiling through," he said. "The levees are getting softer by the hour."

Paris officials estimated 65,000 acres of rich Louisiana cotton and pasture land lay under water.

Sit-Down Striker Now Sits In Cell

BALTIMORE, May 4 (AP)—Robert Smith, the 42-year-old lifer who staged a 16-hour sit-down strike 100 feet up a prison chimney to air his complaints, was sitting it out today in an observation cell.

Smith, a convicted rapist, climbed the scaffolding halfway up a 200-foot chimney at the Maryland Penitentiary about 10 a.m. yesterday. He climbed down about 2 a.m. today after guards wet him down with a fire hose. The temperature was about 40 degrees.

Skeleton Found, Murder Checked

LAREDO, May 4 (AP)—Laredo police Capt. Tom Gallagher said today a skeleton found near here has been definitely identified as that of a Brooklyn man and "in my opinion he was murdered."

Harry Lambasts President For 'Bunk With The Budget'

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Harry S. Truman accused President Eisenhower tonight of a failure of leadership and said he has "played political bunk with the budget."

And the former President told fellow Democrats that what he called the "tight money" policy and high interest rates "can bring on a depression."

"This," he said, "is a reversal to the trickle-down theory that has guided the Republican party from the time of its inception. It is a means of transferring income from the poor who need it to the rich who don't. The results are increasing maladjustments in our economy, with danger signals rising higher on every hand."

Truman's remarks, given out in advance in excerpt form, were prepared for a Democratic dinner at the National Guard Armory starring himself and Adlai E. Stevenson in oratorical roles.

The $100-a-plate affair, to help fill the party's more than empty coffers, was the climactic event of a three-day party rally in which Democratic leaders from over the country tuned up for next year's congressional and gubernatorial elections.

They did it with predictions of budget and tax cuts—and perhaps unemployment—and with swats at Eisenhower and the administration's financial policies.

And tonight's dinner party spokesmen went on the kind of blasting binge at the GOP which is customary for one of these political affairs.

Truman said he foresees "a great showdown" coming in the next few years on "the most critical domestic issues—the budget, fiscal management, high interest rates, economic growth, the exploitation of resources, the spread of monopoly."

"I foresee," he said, "a last great onslaught by the manipulators of special privilege who work behind the popaganda smokescreen of the present administration. They are going to make a last great effort to take over the economic control of the country before they are thrown out of office in 1960."

"But I have hope and faith in the Democratic party and in the Democratic leadership I have seen in Washington. I believe they are going to resist this concerted offensive of private greed and, with the help of the people, I believe they are going to resist it successfully. The Democrats, once more, are going to preserve and expand the resources and opportunities of the American people."

Flood Disaster Fund Granted

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower authorized one million dollars in federal disaster funds today for use in areas of Texas hit by heavy rains, hail, tornadoic winds and other severe weather.

The White House said Eisenhower has authorized the federal civil defense administrator to make the initial allocation of funds for federal assistance authorized by the President's disaster proclamation of April 29 for Texas.

A telegram has been sent to Gov. Price Daniel notifying him. The money may be used to restore damaged public property, such as roads, public buildings and sewer lines.

Daniel wired Eisenhower yesterday, saying the damage exceeds five million dollars and suggested a one-million-dollar allocation for the present.

No specific geographical area of the state in which the money may be used was specified. Eisenhower on April 29 had declared affected areas of Texas disaster areas and said relief money would be made available following a survey.

County Goes Dry

ANAHUAC, Tex., May 4 (AP)—Chambers County citizens rejected a countywide referendum Saturday to "dry" up the county by a vote of 1,867 to 1,142.

Unusual 'High-Low' Battle Has Brought All That Rain

NEW ORLEANS, May 4 (AP)—A "remarkable" set of circumstances in the old Western battle between high and low pressure areas caused the recent heavy rains over parched Texas and much of the Southeast.

R. H. Kraft of the Weather Bureau said today it was a case of the weather trying to be winter at high levels and summer at low levels.

The Bermuda high, which got its name from dwelling during most of summertime over the south Atlantic, was a blockade against air movement in the western United States.

It locked horns with a somewhat continual series of relatively low pressure areas over the southern Rocky Mountains.

Between the two, moisture laden tropical air was forced from the Caribbean Sea area into a swing over Texas and northern Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and onward to the South Atlantic states.

Unusually heavy rain fell onto these areas when the cold high winds squeezed moisture from the moving warm air masses.

One result was high water and flooding in a large portion of Texas last week and brimful rivers streams in most of Louisiana this weekend.

Kraft said, "It is remarkable through this period how the pressures continued relatively high over the Southeastern states and sort of continued low over the southern Rockies."

During the week beginning April 15, Kraft said, the high stabilized over the Middle Atlantic states with the high already sitting over the Rockies.

The situation remained the same until about April 20—The lows broke through April 23 and swept out over the western part of Texas.

The Bermuda high broke down to some extent over the eastern portion of Texas around May 1, Kraft said, and since there has been a relatively low pressure area over the Gulf of Mexico and a high inland.

This resulted in an eastern flow of air over the northern portion of states from Texas eastward, and to an extent, the stalemate still exists.

Kraft said the Weather Bureau is not predicting when the stalemate will ease up. Possibly to agitate the situation, he said, a large high is moving off the Great Lakes and Canada, and there is a chance it will move into position and re-establish the Bermuda high's strength.

No break in the showery weather over the effect strip is foreseen for a few days, he said.

C-C Directors To Study Funds Transfer Proposal

Chamber of Commerce directors Monday will hear a recommendation that $2,000 of government securities be liquidated for general operating purposes.

The recommendation will come from the organization's executive committee which has been studying the Chamber's financial condition.

A membership and dues increase campaign has been in the discussion stage since early this year, but so far has failed to materialize. Leaders had hoped this would fill the gap between operating costs and income.

The directorate also will hear reports on the Better Buy Days program staged by local merchants recently, on the fire inspection field days conducted through-

Wants Crack-Down On Bureau 'Leaks'

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) today urged legislation providing tough penalties for leaking information about decisions of quasi-judicial agencies. He said the punishment should "go beyond the mere dismissal" of the employe responsible.

The senator expressed hope that an inquiry by the Senate investigations subcommittee would lead to legislation placing the judicial functions of these agencies, as distinguished from their administrative functions, "under the same high standards that apply in courts of law."

"This is a reform that is long overdue," said Jackson who is acting as chairman of the subcommittee in its investigation of what he has described as the leak of a major Civil Aeronautics Board decision last August.

The CAB made a secret 3-2 decision the night of Aug. 2 giving Northeast Airlines authority to fly the profitable New York-Miami route. The decision was not announced until Aug. 10, but Aug. 3 a rash of trading broke out in Northeast stock and the price jumped up.

The subcommittee has not yet pinned down in its hearings how word of the decision got out. But Jackson has said that Raymond Sawyer, associate director of the CAB's bureau of air operations, "has a lot of explaining to do."

Laurance Henderson, a Washington consultant and one-time Senate aide, testified Thursday that Sawyer could have been the possible source of information about the decision which Henderson telephoned to a Boston investment banker Aug. 3.

Clouds of angel hair lighted by white candles decorated side tables. Blue carnations with silver foilage formed the head table ornamentation. Guests served themselves buffet style and seated themselves at a "U" shaped banquet table.

Milton Mow was toastmaster. Mr. Murphy pronounced the invocation and Bobby Fisher delivered the welcome. Doug Gray made the response. Special music was provided by Doylene Little.

Guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. Travis LaDuke of Calvary Baptist Church of Midland. Gerald Oakes pronounced the benediction.

McCarthy Was At Work On Book On Investigations

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Friends and associates of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) disclosed today that he was completing work on a book dealing with congressional investigations when he was stricken with a fatal illness.

McCarthy, who died Thursday, also had collected a vast amount of material for another book, they said, which was to have dealt with "communism and subversion of policy."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a long time friend, and Ray Kiermas, McCarthy's administrative assistant, said the senator's book on congressional investigations is planned for early publication.

Mrs. Patrick Miller, a lawyer and researcher who had been helping McCarthy with the book, told a reporter it is "about ready for publishing after a little editing."

Lamesa Maps Big Clean-Up Program

LAMESA, May 4—Plans for the annual week-long clean-up campaign here are rapidly jelling, according to Early Peltier, general chairman of the clean-up campaign.

While Thursday, May 9 is the "big day" in the campaign, Peltier urged that Lamesans not lose sight of the larger goal, that of a complete week-long effort to clean-up and fix-up yards, garages, closets, fences and gardens.

The canvass of the city for dead trees that might be removed 22 has continued to bring in calls from residents. Each tree slated for removal by the crew composed of scouts, members of the Lamesa Volunteer Fire Department and the road maintainers from all four commissioners precincts, has been marked by nailing the bottom of a can on the side of the tree.

After the trees are cut down, they will be hauled to the northwest edge of the rodeo ground where they will be burned. The firemen will be in charge of the bonfire, scheduled for 7:00 p.m., May 9, closing out "Operation Deadwood."

Mrs. J. H. Adkins, general chairman of the plant exchange, urged that plants be brought to the exchange headquarters, and that those who have no plants, but desire some, look over the selection. All the civic clubs are passing

Credit Problems Are Aired At Forum

A discussion of various problems dealing with granting of credit highlighted a forum conducted at the Settles Hotel Friday evening. It was given under auspices of the local Retail Merchants Association, with members of the Big Spring Credit Women's Club assisting. A panel of merchants, bankers and credit firm managers discussed questions covering a wide range of credit issues. Business people from Big Spring and Midland joined in the discussion. The forum was preceded by two talks. Kenn Eastin, vice president of the Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Midland, pointed to credit as the system enabling this country to use its vast productivity, and said this phase of our free enterprise system was a point of envy of the rest of the world. He pointed out how good credit can stimulate business, while abuses can break down the whole system. Eastin said conventional financing programs might be concerned with the rising popularity of credit unions and of "revolving credit" plans. He said some unions were in the hands of people not properly experienced in granting credit; and he felt that the revolving systems could lead to abuses of "convenience" — or short time-credit. District Attorney Gil Jones gave a discussion on handling of bad checks, and discussed phases of the state's new check law. Major James M. Vogel, legal officer at Webb Air Force Base and Carr was elected president of the organization at the final session Saturday afternoon, after John Kennedy of the YMCA Southwest Area Council, spoke to the group on development of a Junior Hi-Y council. Other officers elected were Chuck Surf, Midland, vice president; and Cesar Flores, Abilene, chaplain and recording secretary. Junior high students from Big Spring, Midland, Abilene, and Qdessa attended the sessions. The day's program started Saturday morning with registration, followed by a period of singing, and a devotional.

At 405 Dallas, Joseph Jones, 404 1/2 Dallas, was driver of a car which was involved in an accident with a parked car belonging to Robert McCrary of Tahoka. Thomas Harris, 700 Ayford, and Shirley Pratt, 706 Main, were drivers of cars colliding at Eighth and Main.

The Y members then broke up into five sessions for conferences: financing Junior Hi-Y led by Margie Baker, making Junior Hi-Y work led by Mary Anna Jones, Junior Hi-Y program planning led by Betty Gray, sports in Hi-Y led by Richard Engle, and Christian emphasis in Hi-Y led by Tommy Hammond. After a barbeque served at the YMCA by Big Spring Hi-Y parents, a series of sports events and a movie were held. Jimmy Ray Smith was in charge of a track meet, won by Big Spring with 69 points. Abilene scored six and Midland five. Freddy Brown of Big Spring was high point man with 20 points, and Donnie Everett had 11. Winners of the events included broad jump—Brown; high jump—Everett; shot put—Everett; 50-yard dash—Brown; 100-yard dash—Brown; 200-yard dash—Brown; 440-yard dash—Engle; and 880-yard relay—Big Spring (Dorsey, Engle, Bristow, and Everett).

Big Spring ninth grade girls won the volleyball tournament, besting the Big Spring eighth graders in the finals. Arah Phillips was in charge of the tournament. Ann Green handled the ping pong tournament, and Ann Robinson copped the singles. In doubles, Jean Hammond and Carolyn Thompson were winners.

Tech Exes To Hear Lindsey

Jim Lindsey, vice chairman of the board for Texas Technological College, has promised to disclose some unpublicized developments in the Tech athletic department when he addresses a group of ex-students and friends of the college here Tuesday evening. Lindsey, managing editor of the Midland newspaper, will speak at an ex-students meeting set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Settles Hotel. Much of his talk is expected to deal with plans for enlargement of the athletic stadium at the Lubbock College. Arrangements for the program are being handled by Doug Orme of Big Spring, also a member of the Tech board.

Hopkins who was also chairman of the board, died yesterday in Washington. He was 61. The long gray silhouettes of the Nautilus and Seawolf will be visible from the yards of the corporation's Electric Boat Division, where they are moored across the Thames River at the New London submarine base.

Big Nuclear Punch Is Ready For Reds

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—The United States probably could hit Russia swiftly with more than two billion tons of nuclear explosive force if the Soviets attempted an attack on the Western European nations before those countries build up their own atomic defenses. Russia must reckon with this probability in pursuing what the North Atlantic Council describes as a campaign "to insure for Soviet forces a monopoly of nuclear weapons on the European continent."

Two School Bands To Present Annual Concert Monday Night

Approximately 150 young musicians will be presented in concert Monday evening when both the Senior High and Junior High bands will play their annual spring concerts at the Senior High auditorium.

The event will be the first major item on the observance of the National Music Week program in Big Spring. All proceeds from the concert go to the Band Boosters Club fund for band activities. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Immediately after the concert, there will be a brief business meeting of the Boosters Club in order that officers may be elected for the next year.

Tuesday evening the Boosters will honor band members and their parents at a banquet at the Cosden Country Club at 7 o'clock.

Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Ruth Burnam, social chairman for the club, and Don Anderson, band captain, will preside as toastmaster. There will be an informal program featuring presentation of awards and announcement of new officers and band queen for next year. After the banquet there will be a dance, to which band members may bring guests.

The Junior High band, under the baton of Bobby Robbins, will play the first portion of the concert. Included will be the "Santa Cecilia" march by Radaelli; the "Black Knight" overture by Gruneman; "The Little Brown Jug Goes to Town," a Bergelin novelty featuring the piccolo; "Appalachian Suite" by Kenyon; and the "Blue Bells" march by Buchtel.

With Clyde Rowe conducting, the Senior High band will open with "El Caballero," a Spanish march by Olivadotti, and then follow up with "Czech Rhapsody" by Weinberger. There will be an American folk song suite by Walters, and then "Caprice" by Schlabach. This will feature a clarinet quartet composed of Billy Evans, Julius Glickman, Vincent Friedewald, and Mike Jarratt. "Slippery Gentlemen," a Walters novelty, will spotlight a trombone trio of Bud Hill, Pat Flynn, and Billy Roger. The concluding number will be a concert march, "Fiesta Flambeau" by Sturchio.

Freighter Goes Down At Sea, 28 Crewmen Saved

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Twenty-eight crewmen were rescued today from the sinking Finnish freighter Bornholm 1,200 miles east southeast of New York within eight minutes after the crew boarded the Coast Guard cutter Duane, the freighter sank.

The 3,200-ton freighter, en route from Spain to Wilmington, Del., with a cargo of flour, sent out a distress message at 9 a.m. yesterday. The Duane, on weather patrol 100 miles south, reached the stricken Bornholm at 9:45 last night and stood by until rescue could be made in daylight. The crew boarded the Duane at 10:03 a.m. The Bornholm sank at 10:11.

What caused the Bornholm to sink was not known. In her distress message the Bornholm said she was leaking badly, her holds were flooded and she could not stand heavy weather.

Borrowed Auto Rolls Off Scenic

A 1953 Ford, driven by William C. Gregory, 21-year-old WAFB airman, ran out of control and left the highway on Scenic Mountain at 1 a.m. Saturday morning, the sheriff's office was advised.

Gregory was not injured. Damage to the car was estimated at $400. The report at the sheriff's office said that the car was not owned by Gregory but was one that he had borrowed from a friend.

Police Say Costello Knows Assailant

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello had won a huge sum by betting on Sugar Ray Robinson in a boxing bout the night before the shooting and that Costello, unable to raise the cash, paid off with a bullet.

Robinson, a 3 to 1 underdog, knocked out middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

Another theory was that new elements in the underworld meant the bullet as a challenge to the "old guard," symbolized by Costello.

Costello still was known as the "prime minister of the underworld" although he is 65, ill, and has been beset in recent years with court and deportation troubles.

An offshoot of the "new elements" theory is that profits from some juke boxes and other coin machines are at stake. Costello, when he appeared before the Ke-fauver Crime Committee in televised hearings in 1951, was described as the "slot machine king."

Stabbed To Death

HOUSTON, May 4 (AP)—Clyde Kerry, 30, was stabbed to death last night in an apartment where he and his wife had gone to visit friends. Police sought a man 27, who was said to have barged into the room, fought Kerry and then fled.

India Wants Billion Dollars, Looks To U.S.

NEW DELHI, May 4 (AP)—India's finance minister said today his country needs about a billion dollars in foreign aid to complete its second five-year plan. He would like to borrow as much of this as possible from the United States.

India will fall short "about a billion dollars to complete the plan comfortably on the basis of present imports, exports, loans and credits," Finance Minister Tattai T. Krishnamachari said in an interview. "If we cannot obtain this from the U. S. government we will try to borrow smaller sums through commercial loan markets in the United States and elsewhere."

He said India has not yet formally applied for a new loan from the United States.

"I don't know how we will go about it. I don't know the Americans very well. At present we are feeling out the situation in an attempt to see how the proposal for a loan would be received," he said.

Asked if he planned to raise part of the money from Russia, the finance minister replied: "Russia has offered us a loan of 100 million dollars for some projects which are not yet under way."

Reds Put Youth Into Labor

BERLIN, May 4 (AP)—Communist East Germany today clamped down on its restive youth by drafting prospective university students for labor service on state-run farms and factories.

At the same time the Communist newspaper Ostsee-Zeitung complained of "rotten liberalism" among high school students' apathy about serving in the armed forces and declared: "People hostile to socialism should not be tolerated in our high schools."

Allied experts said conscription of potential university students obviously was aimed at screening out anti-Communists before they reach the politically sensitive college campuses.

Agitation against East Germany's Stalinist regime has centered in the high schools and universities since the flaming example set by students in the Hungarian and Polish uprisings. Police crackdowns have only served to drive the anti-Communist underground.

CAA Affirms Suitability Of Airport Site, Pushes Aid Plea

Civil Aeronautics Authority officials in Fort Worth have assured Howard County officials that no second hearing on the suitability of the Howard County Airport site will be necessary.

The CAA also said that every effort to expedite the county's application for federal assistance in building the airport will be made and that final decision of the CAA will be forthcoming "within a matter of weeks."

Hudson Landers, county commissioner, and R. H. Weaver, county judge, had a long conference on Friday in Fort Worth with L. C. Elliott, regional CAA administrator, relative to the status of the Howard County airport project.

Elliott assured the two officials that no need will arise for the air space subcommittee to reconsider the site selected. It had been reported that a re-evaluation of the site would be made by the committee. The site has been previously approved by the CAA.

Elliott said that the delay in decision on the county's formal application for CAA financial aid in the airport has been brought about by need for a refiguring by the agency to ascertain the exact requirements of general aviation operations on the county airport.

Landers said that Elliott assured him and Weaver that the matter would be pushed as rapidly as possible. Landers feels that the situation, in regard to the county's position with the CAA, is good and that no complications will arise to delay the project unduly.

"Mr. Elliott," Landers said, "was most sympathetic and cooperative. He is well informed on the plans of this county to build an airport and he explained that the delay which has been disturbing us is a natural development in a project in which the federal agency plans to invest money."

Both Landers and Weaver were highly enthused over the reception they received at the hands of the CAA, Landers said.

"It seems certain," Landers explained, "that the CAA will participate in the financial cost of the airport. The full extent of this financial cooperation will be determined by the outcome of the experts' study of the needs of general aviation here."

"There seems to be no doubt that within a very short time—just a few weeks, perhaps—the hurdle will be cleared. We will know exactly how much money will be available and then we can give the architects and engineers the green light."

Howard County voted a bond issue of $500,000 to finance construction of an airport. At that time, it was indicated rather sharply there was no need for the county to ask for federal grant to supplement its funds. Later, however, conditions altered and it became evident that the CAA could come into the picture with money.

Application for CAA funds was filed by the Howard County Commissioners Court for CAA participation. This is the matter which is now before the regional CAA office and it is on this issue that the CAA is refiguring its possible cooperation.

It is quite possible, officials

Parr Facing A New Trial This Week

HOUSTON, May 4 (AP)—For the fourth time in five months George Parr and eight Duval County associates go on trial Monday on mail fraud charges of diverting over $200,000 in Benavides School District funds to personal use.

The first trial ended Dec. 18 with a hung jury. Trials were declared March 12 and 20 because ineligible jurors had been seated. U. S. Atty. Malcolm Wilkey had hoped the panel of prospective jurors for the fourth trial could be checked by the FBI before the trial begins Monday before Federal Judge Joe Ingraham.

The first trial lasted 42 days. Wilkey called 81 witnesses then Defense attorney Percy Foreman called 12. Wilkey has indicated many of the government's first trial witnesses will not be called. Foreman advised Ingraham he might call 25 or 30 who did not testify at the first trial.

The jury will have to determine 161 verdicts. The indictment returned March 6, 1956, named each of the 11 defendants—Parr, the eight associates, and two banks formerly headed by the Duval County politician—on each of 20 counts. The first jury returned verdicts of innocence on 59 counts involving 4 defendants but was unable to agree on the remaining 161 counts.

No verdicts were reached on all 20 counts against Parr; D. C. Chapa, former tax assessor-collector of the Benavides district; B. F. Donald, former cashier of the district Texas State Bank at Alice; Jesus Garza, former school board member; Octavio Saenz, former school board president; Oscar Car-rolls Sr., former school board secretary; and the Texas State Bank of Alice.

Santiago Garcia, former board member, was acquitted on 10 counts. Jesus Oliveira, a former director of the Alice bank, and O. P. Carrillo, former attorney for the school district, were set free on 19 counts. The defendant San Diego State Bank was found innocent on 11 counts. Garcia still faces 10 counts, Oliveira and O. P. Carrillo one each, and the San Diego bank 9 counts.

The trial was transferred to Ingraham's court after Federal Judge Allen Hannay heard the long first trial.

Midlander Elected District Governor Of Lions Clubs

Carl Hyde, member of the Downtown Club of Midland, was elected governor of Lions District 2-T-2, at the closing sessions in Lubbock Saturday.

The district voted to divide into two parts with the division line passing between Midland and Odessa and westward to the district talent contest. The vocal instrumental combo got a big reception but finished behind a boys' vocal ensemble from Odessa.

The Sportsmen, entered by the Downtown Lions Club of Big Spring, won second place in the district talent contest. The vocal instrumental combo got a big reception but finished behind a boys' vocal ensemble from Odessa.

Arthur Little, farming northeast of Ackery, got about two inches of rain and was rigging up a tractor to plant cotton. Little has a cotton-livestock program that has taken the sting out of the droughts.

Each year he grows all the feed possible and either puts it into his silos or else sells it green to ranchers who have their own silos. In 1955 he put up nearly 600 tons of silage, and still has about a third of it.

When the market is cheap, he buys from 80 to 140 head of calves weighing from 400 to 500 pounds, feeds them silage and cottonseed meal and sells them at about 650 pounds.

"I don't see how a dryland farmer can make a living with cotton," he said. "Last year I cut about five tons of green feed to the acre and sold it for $8.50 a ton. This is not big money, but it beats combining the crop and selling the grain."

Buck Green, former county agent of Midland County, says most of the ranges in that county are completely bare and cattle are thin as antelope. He said that not long ago a feeding agency conducted a survey and found that over 75 per cent of the livestock had been sold.

Green mentioned a half dozen prominent Midland ranchers who have sold their areas. He said the areas around Odessa, Monahans, Pecos, Iraan and Fort Stockton were in the same condition. Ranchers are a little better off in the Van Horn and highland areas around Fort Davis and Marfa. They haven't had so many dry years and are holding onto more stock. Green said Midland didn't benefit much from the recent rains.

Experienced tractor hands are a scarce commodity in Dawson County, says Mrs. Robert Poete, manager of the Dawson Cattle Club. She said that native drivers could not be found, and most of those coming up from Mexico were halted in the Eagle Pass area where there is plenty of work.

She said there was a big demand for workers, and it would perhaps be greater than ever before if the crops get off to a good start. She said farmers had the best moisture in nearly 10 years, and would be shooting for one of the biggest crops on record. There are now so many irrigation wells in the county that a bumper cotton harvest is almost assured.

The Howard County 4-H Club boys and girls are getting ready for the livestock shows next fall. Assistant Agent Bill Sims says they already have several steers on feed which will be shown next fall, starting with the State Fair in October.

They also have some capons which will get nearly a year's growth for the shows next March. It doesn't take so much time for lambs, and the ones put on feed about June will be ready for the show rings in the fall. Pigs also grow fast, and little shoats put into pens this spring will be blue ribbon porkers in time for the local pen show in October.

Sims says the large number of 4-H Club members remains about the same. A few older ones quit or become too old every year, while younger boys and girls come into the organization.

Man Arrested In Extortion Plot

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 4 (AP)—The FBI said today it had arrested an Oklahoma City man for attempted extortion of Robert S. Kerr Jr., son of Oklahoma's senior senator.

Arraigned on a charge of violation of federal extortion laws was William Ross, 32.

Agent R. Bryce said Ross had mailed a letter to young Kerr demanding $5,000 under threat of harm to his family.

Ross said he was discharged from the Texas prison at Huntsville last weekend after serving 18 months for sending an extortion note to a wealthy Texas man.

Balloons To Act As Hurricane Watchers

MIAMI, Fla., May 4 (AP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau's newly developed "hurricane beacons" will be given their first tryouts as storm forecasting tools in the hurricane season opening officially June 17.

The beacons are balloons equipped with radio transmitters which will be dropped from high-flying airplanes into the "cabin" eyes of hurricanes.

If all goes as expected, the balloons will travel along with the hurricanes, staying within the eyes and transmitting radio signals which can be used by receiving stations to pinpoint locations of the storms.

There is no reason why it should not work if it will stay in the center of the storm," said Chief Storm Forecaster Gordon Dunn of the Miami Weather Bureau.

He added observers also may try putting tinfol into some of the beacons to provide a radar target. This would enable an airplane flying on the outskirts of a storm to keep track of its eye.

Williams Girl's Rites Pending

Funeral services are pending for Gwendolene Faye Williams, 16, who died here after a short illness Friday.

Miss Williams resided at 209 N. Nolan. Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home is handling arrangements. A sophomore in high school, Miss Williams was a member of the Theta Rho Girls Club, chapter No. 37, sponsored by the Rebekahs.

Survivors include her father, M. J. Williams of Coahoma; her mother, Mrs. Leon Mitchell of Big Spring; three brothers, Glen Williams of the Navy, and Bobby and Terry Williams of Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. Bobby Wize of Big Spring, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Williams of Coahoma; and Mr. and Mrs. James Benfield of Glenrose, and an uncle, Joe Benfield of Big Spring.

THE WEEK

Last week produced five crashes, another four.

Hughie Jack Pitts was sentenced to a month in the pokey last week for an assault on Airman John Snook, who suffered a broken jaw in the melee. This was the case in which wild rumors had Snook dead, which may have generated the heat which led to Pitts' eventual arrest and return.

Building picked up in April to the tune of $274,045. This was the largest of the year and ran the four-months total to $865,350, which was sadly off last year's corresponding period of $1,639,750. Postal receipts stood at $17,229,75, a decline of $327 for the month, but left the year $7,075 ahead of the same time in 1956.

We note that Walter Plunkett, Academy Award winning clothing designer, has been named by Paul Gregory to design costumes for Norman Corwin's play, "The Rivalry." This is of interest because Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead and Brian Donlevy are to be seen here this autumn in the play, a Big Spring Concert offering.

Rep. Obie Bristow got the play momentarily last week when he spoke against the insurance commission reorganization bill which would cost Mark Wentz, a fellow Big Spring and member of the commission, his job. Obie knew he couldn't plug the dick with his finger, but he wanted folks to know Mark's services on the commission had never been questioned.

Texas Tech exes are being rallied here Tuesday for a parley at 7:30 p. m. in the Settles. Jim Lindsey, Midland, vice-chairman of the Tech board, will be a featured speaker. Doug Orme, Big Spring, also a Tech director, will be on hand to talk with Tech boosters about a stadium enlargement campaign to provide larger facilities now that Tech is in the Southwest Conference.

Last week a quarter-million dollar snit against the United States was filed by survivors of victims of a private plane — jet crash over Midland last autumn. About the only surprising thing was the suit was only now being filed.

The Defense Department asked more than $4 million for new construction at Webb AFB, but there was no announcement as to the purpose of the funds. Anyhow, such a request has to run the gamut of the armed services committee, the appropriations committee, the House, Senate and the president.

The American Business Club was honored by the official visit of its national president, Joe Prola, Springfield, Ill., who was accompanied by Hal Edinburg, Danville, Ill., national secretary.

The CAA announced that it would reconsider the airport's location. This was, said the announcement, because no federal aid was contemplated when the first approval was given and that a review is more or less perfunctory. Nevertheless, reopening cases can give you the shivers.

Hospital Supporters Visit

A group of Big Spring women, representing the State Mental Hospital Development Association, took advantage of the open house invitation at Big Spring State Hospital during National Mental Health Week. Friday afternoon they made a tour of the hospital, and Dr.

Preston Harrison, acting superintendent, showed them the daily census count at the hospital and conducted them on a tour. Open house will be observed again today from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. as part of the program. Everyone is invited to visit.

NATO Thinks West Power Will Curb Red Ambitions

BONN, Germany, May 4 (AP)—Western planners evidently are banking on Russia's own common sense to bring about eventual reunification of Germany and liberation of the satellite empire of Eastern Europe.

This emerged today in the wake of North Atlantic Treaty council sessions.

The 15 Allied nations are reasonably convinced the prospects of atomic devastation are so terrifying to Moscow—as well as to the West—that the Kremlin will refrain from trying to do things the hard way, if armed conflict is ruled out, then what?

Informants with access of NATO's deliberations gave this picture of Allied political strategy on major questions:

Events such as the Hungarian revolt have transformed the satellites into a liability for Russia. Soviet troops are tied down in occupation duties and Moscow realizes it could count on little help from these Communist allies in event of war.

Meanwhile, Russia must keep the economies of Eastern Europe afloat to head off mounting pressures there.

In the long run—thought not in the foreseeable future—Moscow might well decide it is in Russia's own self-interest to turn the satellites into a group of neutral but independent states such as Finland and Austria.

Intelligence reports tell of dissatisfaction among the people of Russia itself which might help encourage such a decision.

In the Middle East, the Eisenhower doctrine has had a profound effect in improving the situation and fending off possible Soviet penetration. Much of this is attributed to the courage and acumen of young King Hussein, who has taken a long step to real independence for Jordan.

The United States shortly will join Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq, and Pakistan in planning for this area through the military section of the Baghdad Pact. The U. S. Fifth Fleet stands ready to support any Middle East nation which asks help to counter Red aggression.

Thousands of Hondurans gave the mission from the Organization of American States a noisy welcome when it arrived in a U. S. Air Force plane from Panama. Hondurans lined the highway from the airport to Tegucigalpa cheering and shouting, "Justice!"

Chairman Ricardo Arias of Panama said his mission sent out from OAS headquarters in Washington, will try "to restore peace between the two countries."

The five lunched with members of the three-man military junta ruling Honduras, then met privately with Honduran officials at the foreign ministry. The mission is expected to go to Nicaragua Monday.

No clashes were reported during the day along the frontier, but armies of both countries were on the alert after skirmishes earlier in the week.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr., chief of the Nicaraguan army, said in Managua he expected the Hondurans to attack Tecoteacate, a Nicaraguan town on the frontier.

Official comment was lacking in Tegucigalpa. But sources close to the government said Honduras had no intention of attacking. Nicaraguan army claims that it occupies Mocoron, a village in the disputed coast zone, were denied in Tegucigalpa.

Dayton Baby's Rites Scheduled

Graveside services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. for Cinca Louise Dayton, the daughter still-born to Sgt. and Mrs. Daniel Dayton, 1311 W. 5th, Friday evening.

Rites will be conducted by Chaplain William Ludlum, Webb AFB. Arrangements are in charge of River Funeral Home.

Besides the parents, the baby leaves one sister, Danika Lynn; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dayton, Shawnee, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Blagg of England.

TEXAS' DROUGHT IS WASHED INTO GULF

COLLEGE STATION, May 4 (AP)—Torrential downpours have washed Texas' drought into the Gulf of Mexico, but only for the time being, the Texas Extension Service said today.

"The final appraisal on this two weeks of rain must await harvest season before evaluation," Director G. G. Gibson said. "It's too early to tell how much damage has been caused to washed and flooded fields and pastures, but across the state prospects are bright."

Further postponement of planting and replanting will be required in most of the eastern half of the state. Conditions in the Panhandle and most of West Texas now appear ideal for crops and ranges.

"North Plains wheat producers should harvest their best crop since 1949 as moisture conditions are equal or above normal, and said to be 50 per cent above normal in Donley and Wheeler counties," Knox Parr reported at Amarillo. "However, much fall-sown wheat suffered during winter months from drought and resulted in poor stands. Weed trouble is anticipated. There's some greenbug damage reported in wheat in Castro. Grass is short but green and growing fast. Cattle are gaining strength fast and feeding is about over."

Far West Texas is on the upgrade even though more moisture is needed in the extreme western part. Moisture conditions are excellent in Val Verde, Edwards, Kinney, Sutton and Crockett counties. Stock ponds are full and grass is growing. Further west it's dry and feeding of livestock continues.

Eastward in the Edwards Plateau, V. G. Young at San Angelo said good rains throughout promoted range growth, especially weeds. Livestock is improving, but that there is little grass. Very little moisture has penetrated bare pasture land and submature still is inadequate. Some grain sorghum is being replanted, and very little cotton has been planted.

Destruction of about 150,000 bushels of wheat was reported in the Chillicothe area of the Rolling Plains when high wind, rain and hail invaded fields. A tornado damaged about 500 acres of wheat and killed several head of livestock in Cottle County. Prospects are very good for an average or better grain crop and ranges and pastures are improving. Grain sorghum and cotton planting starts when fields are dry.

Plenty of moisture is in Central Texas. Torrential rains caused floods and considerable damage. Oats are heading out and should produce a good harvest. Some corn was planted earlier and planting grain sorghum and cotton, now two weeks late, will begin when fields are dry. Cool season grasses and weeds are making excellent growth for livestock grazing.

Central American Dispute Negotiated

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 4 (AP)—A five-man peace mission of diplomats arrived today to seek a settlement in the smoldering border dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua.

Thousands of Hondurans gave the mission from the Organization of American States a noisy welcome when it arrived in a U. S. Air Force plane from Panama.

Hondurans lined the highway from the airport to Tegucigalpa cheering and shouting, "Justice!"

Cage Listed In Alabama Suit

BIRMINGHAM, May 4 (AP)—Federal Court hearing is scheduled May 22 on charges that state Sen. Garet Van Antwerp III, of Mobile, mismanaged and made personal gain from four Alabama companies he heads.

Two New York stockholders are asking a temporary injunction to restrain Van Antwerp, Stewart Hopps and Ben Jack Cage from further alleged harmful acts, and also are seeking appointment of a receiver.

The complaining stockholders are Robert Leonhardt and J.S. Lederer Co.

Hopps and Cage were identified as California and Texas financiers, who are founders or controllers of the four firms in varying degrees, according to the complaint.

Also as defendants are the four companies, Consolidated American Industries, Montgomery Alabama General Shares, Redstone Securities and Atlas Insurance Co.

Van Antwerp was listed as president of the companies.

Henry Gasser, Noted Artist, To Speak Here

How an "old pro" paints a picture will be demonstrated here Wednesday evening when Henry Gasser, noted artist, writer and lecturer, is presented under the sponsorship of the Las Artistas Club, at HCCJ auditorium at 8 p.m.

Gasser, whose travels are made possible by the Research Laboratories of M. Grumbacher Inc., one of the major producers of fine colors, will give a lecture-demonstration on "Casein Painting."

This type of painting dates back to the 11th century when used by a monk. During the middle ages, many of the famous church murals were painted with casein colors. Now that a new preservative has been discovered, casein paints are coming back into great popularity.

With them it is possible to paint the most delicate transparent washes, or use it much as one would use oil paints. Casein paints are regarded in some circles as more versatile than oils.

Gasser is the possessor of more than 90 special awards, among them some of the highest given in the nation. He is represented in practically all the major museums, is a member of several long-established and well-known art clubs. He also is an accepted authority on techniques and is said to especially enjoy his role as teacher.

His appearance here is for the layman as much as the painter and it is without charge. Prior to the program, he will be honored by club members with a dinner at Carlos' cafe. Reservations for this should be made by calling Mrs. E. A. Jones, AM 4-6824.

Today's Forecast For Light Rains

Occasional light rains or drizzles are on tap for the Big Spring area early Sunday, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast Saturday night.

Saturday brought no measurable rain or drizzle, although intermittent drizzle fell during the afternoon and on into the late evening.

The temperature was uncomfortably cool due to the humidity. High for Saturday was 62 degrees. Low for early Saturday morning was 50.

Light rains fell in parts of this district on Friday. TESCO reported that its station at Colorado City measured 15 inch. Eskota, farther east, had .56 and Sweetwater, 27. At Morgan Creek, the gauge showed .27 inch.

Locomotives Sound Warnings
With Trumpet, Whistle, Horn

By JACK MAGUIRE
For 124 years, locomotives have been tooting their way along the railroads of the world. In 1833, an English farmer, unable to hear the warning wail of the tin horn that was then standard equipment for railway engineers, drove his cart into the path of a train. The cart, plus 90 dozen eggs and 50 pounds of butter, was smashed. To reduce the possibility of similar accidents in the future, George Stephenson, the builder of the locomotive, invented a new device. He attached a pipe to the locomotive boiler through which steam might be expelled with a shrill note, and this soon became standard equipment on all engines.

Stephenson's device was called a steam "trumpet" until it came to America in 1836. In that year, the Long Island Rail Road asked George Washington Whistler, father of the famous painter and a well-known engineer, to build a warning device for one of its new passenger locomotives. After its installation, Long Island railroaders began calling the noisemaker "Whistler's trumpet." Soon passengers had dubbed the locomotive simply "the whistler." As the gadget spread to other engines, it became known as a "whistle" and the name has stuck.

One of the most famous whistles in the annals of railroading belonged to the Illinois Central's No. 322, the locomotive on which engineer Casey Jones rode to glory on a curve near Vaughan, Miss., on April 30, 1900. After Casey's death, the railroad gave the famous whistle to his widow. Later, she loaned it to her brother, an engineer on the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio, who used it on his own locomotive until he retired. Later, it was installed for awhile on Missouri-Illinois Engine No. 7. Today it can still be seen in a museum in Bonne Terre, Mo.

Whistle posts are a rarity today, but once they could be seen at danger points, busy traffic centers and road crossings along every railroad. They were large, wooden posts painted white and bearing a large "W" in black. Below this was painted a series of long and short lines, indicating the appropriate whistle blasts. Today most railroads use simple guides like a large "X" to indicate to the engineer that he is approaching a crossing.

The low, melodious whistle of the steam locomotive was almost musical and the railroads were criticized heavily when diesels began thundering their raucous air horns about the countryside. Many a non-railroader demanded that the old steam whistle replace the harsh honking of the new locomotives. This, of course, was impossible because diesels can't manufacture enough steam or air pressure to produce the artfully lonesome wail of the old whistle. However, the railroads have compromised by hiring experts to coax musical notes from the diesel horn. Musicians say that the result is a blend of C-sharp, E, G and A at different frequencies, resulting in a soothing A major 7th chord. It still isn't the old-time train whistle, but it seems to please the public.

Moose like the diesel air horn too well. To a bull moose, it sounds exactly like the mating call of his lady-love. In the north woods, every time a diesel tooted within hearing of a bull moose, he bounded happily out of the forest to further the acquaintance. Naturally he felt a bit frustrated when he found a steel monster instead of an appealing lady moose, and he frequently vented his frustration by charging the diesel. This often had disastrous results for the moose and created no little wear and tear on locomotives. The new musical horns leave the moose untouched, romantically and physically.

An obsolete air horn of a Boston and Maine diesel is being used by the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department to rescue hunters lost in the north woods. Mounted on a jeep equipped with an air compressor, the horn can be heard for a radius of three miles in the still air of New Hampshire winters. When a hunter is reported lost, the horn is transported to the vicinity and sounded intermittently to serve as a beacon to the lost and to aid searching parties to keep in touch with their base of operations.

In 1953, when Japanese railroad engineers wanted a pay raise, they went on a gigantic toy to get it. At high noon on an appointed day, they blew the whistles on 5,000 locomotives for a full minute. The National Railway Workers Union figured that this letting off of steam cost the Japanese government, which operates the railroads, 130 yen (about 30 cents) per engine, or the equivalent of $1,500. They got their raise.

On August 9, 1955, the Southern Pacific let loose a blast of train whistles that could be heard over much of the western U. S. To celebrate a century of railroading in the West, SP officials ordered more than 1,000 locomotives on duty at 11:30 a. m. that day to let go with a 10-second toot that began in Louisiana and extended to Oregon.

In the old days engineers put blocks of wood in their whistles to give them a distinctive note. One engineer played "Polly Put the Kettle On" at his home crossing; another played "Home Sweet Home" at midnight every New Year's Eve. City ordinances helped kill off the art.

He's 'Railroader' Now

Chaplain William T. Ludlum of Webb AFB discovered he'd been a "captain for several days when he opened an official-looking envelope at the base last week. Fellow officers here equip the Catholic chaplain with a set of the parallel bars. Admiring the "tracks," left to right, are Chaplain Verlin E. Mikese, Miss F. Letricia Weir, S-Sgt. Parr Jailed
For 8 Hours On Assault Count

SAN DIEGO, Tex., May 4 (AP)—Politician George Parr was released from the jail today after being imprisoned eight hours and 40 minutes, awaiting bond on an assault and battery charge.

He was freed after San Diego lawyer O.P. Carillo and Benavides merchant Jesus Olivera posted $1,500 bond.

Parr was arrested at 12:45 a. m. today at an Alice driven theater by Ragner Walker, Russell and Highway Patrolman Don Fiel on a complaint signed by Ramon Ganguna, 18, an honor student at San Diego High School.

County Atty. Walter Purcell said the student was with a group of boys in midtown San Diego last night when Parr passed them in his car, flashed a light on the boys, parked his car and returned to the group.

Purcell said Parr held a pistol on Ganguna and struck him with his fist. No reason was given.

After Ganguna signed a complaint, Russell was given a warrant for the political leader's arrest. Russell said he waited at the Parr residence here until he got a tip that Parr and Mrs. Parr were watching a movie in Alice.

Purcell said the case against Parr would be refiled in Duval County Court Monday.

No Action In Sight On Naming County Attorney

Who is to be Howard County's new county attorney? When will he be named by the Howard County Commissioners Court?

No one seems to know the answer to either of these two questions which are asked dozens of times each day in the Howard County Courthouse.

Harvey Hooser Jr., county attorney, has officially resigned. He has insisted in his letter to the commissioners that he be relieved of his official duties not later than May 15.

Two applications for the post have been filed with the county judge — those of Tracy Smith and Carrol Smith. These two attorneys have informed the commissioners that they would like to be considered for the post.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, is out of town and will not return to the office until Thursday. It was not believed the commissioners would want to take action on the appointment unless the judge was in attendance at the meeting.

Record Budget Is Voted For Lamesa

LAMESA, May 4 — The largest budget in City of Lamesa history has been approved by the city council.

Outlays total $557,000. Revenues are expected to amount to $576,665, which will leave a $19,500 surplus at the end of the fiscal year which ends Mar. 31, 1958.

Revenues are expected to include $235,000 from water and sewer charges, $164,000 from taxes, $46,000 from fines and parking meters, $40,000 from garbage collection charges, $17,700 from street rentals (for utility lines), $16,150 from permits, and $13,966 from miscellaneous sources.

Budgeted are $111,274 for the water and sewer department, $89,648 for the police department, $62,290 for streets, $56,207 for health and sanitation, $110,000 for debt service, $37,264 for fire department, $37,364 for parks, $26,750 for administration, $10,960 for the board of city development, and lesser sums for miscellaneous expenses.

Practically all departments received increased allotments. Exceptions were the street department where the cutting out of the seal-coating program and the curtiling of the paving program this year have allowed a slash of almost $18,000; and the park department, where new equipment is expected to lower maintenance and repair costs by about $500.

The addition of Social Security coverage for personnel of all departments caused several departments to have a small increase. Departments up over last year an appreciable amount include the water and sewer department where the purchase of a billing machine, maintenance and capital outlay for meters and lines is expected to increase the expenses by almost $17,000; the tax bond sinking fund, where the voting of $800,000 bonds in 1957 will bring about an increase of $31,000; police department, where the employment of additional personnel and the purchase of new uniforms is expected to increase costs in the department by a little over $11,000.

An increase of $12,500 in costs of the fire department will be brought about by the employment of five additional men for nine months and the cost of operation of two stations for part of the year.

In other action, the council took into the city the north one-half of Blocks 11 and 12, all of Blocks 13 and 14, and five lots in Block 7 of the Main Street Addition, and ordered closed an unused street in the same addition. It turned down a request from C. V. Boldin for payment of $500 for the city's use of his yard and lot in the collection of garbage.

The nearly 200 golfers will be divided with half playing one course and the rest another on Saturday. The next day, they will switch courses.

Both courses are par 70, and the lowest competitive scoring record on each is 61. Ed Oliver, winner of last year's open, set the old White Course record in the 1952 tourney and Sam Snead shot the Greenbrier low in West Virginia's 1938 Open.

Small Discovery Is Finaled At Vincent

A wildcat in the northeastern portion of Howard County has been completed in the Spraberry zone as a small discovery.

It is Standard of Texas No. 1 Willis Winters, about a mile north of Vincent. On 24-hour potential, it pumped 21 barrels of oil free of water from perforations in the Spraberry from 5,649-98 feet. Gravity is 34 degrees.

The well is spotted in the Coronet field as a Spraberry strike. Previous production in the field was from the shallow San Andres section. Drill site is 1,980 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines, 6-25, H&TC Survey.

Total depth is 5,690 feet, and five and a half-inch string is set at 5,690 feet, and five and a half-inch string is set at 5,665 feet. Top of the Spraberry zone is 5,349 feet.

VARIABLE PRODUCERS

Meanwhile three new wells were finished in the Varel (Sag) field and new locations were announced in the Snyder and Howard-Glasscock pools.

It recovered 200 feet of mud-cut oil, and 100 feet of oil-cut mud. Saturday, operator deepened, since contract depth is 10,600 feet to try the Canyon.

The venture is 660 feet from north and west lines, Labor 16, League 3, Taylor C&L Survey, a mile and a half northwest of the East Mangerville (Canyon) field.

About 18 miles northwest of Lamesa, Texas Crude No. 1-79 Lindsey projected to 5,785 feet in lime. Location is 1,650 feet from south and 2,310 from east lines, 79-M, EL&RR Survey.

It is projected to 9,100 feet as a Pennsylvanian explorer.

Another Natural Gas Bill Is Introduced

BY CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Another natural gas bill has been introduced in Congress, this one by Rep. Staggers (D-W.Va.).

He says the natural gas act now on the statute books gives an unfair competitive advantage to natural gas and has resulted in serious damage to the coal and oil industries.

Swaggers had wanted his bill to be considered along with the Harris-O'Hara bill on which the House Commerce Committee opens a hearing Tuesday. A committee aide said the hearing will be confined to the one bill.

The West Virginian said he had not intended to introduce a bill if the new gas measure included amendments to the gas act he considered in the public interest.

OPPOSES CONTROL

In principle, Staggers said, he opposes federal controls over production of any natural resource fuel. But, he said, he does not believe in freeing producers of gas from burdens of regulation unless the other interstate segments of that industry "meet their full national obligations and responsibilities as industries subject to utility-type regulation."

He pointed out last year, he said, that there was a "loophole"

LOW PRICE OF Crude Talked

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, May 4 (AP)—Talk of inadequate crude prices figures prominently in discussions within the oil industry.

Numerous industry leaders have indicated another increase will have to follow the January general hike in crude prices to assure adequate exploration and drilling activities.

The cost study committee of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America reported a sharp decline in drilling activity the first three months.

"Sufficient time has not elapsed to determine to what extent that needed adjustment may stimulate exploratory and development effort," said James Brown, the committee chairman.

RATE LAGGING

"The record of well completions so far this year appears to indicate the adjustment was not sufficient to encourage the search for oil and gas."

D. L. Connelly of Houston told a Casper, Wyo., convention requirements for domestic crude in 1955 are expected to be one and one-half times those of today.

"The need to find and produce larger quantities of oil in the future confronts the industry with a terrific financial burden," said the senior vice president of Warren Petroleum Co.

"A favorable economic climate is essential in providing the free world with an adequate supply of oil. We'll continue to find and produce the oil required. We must, however, have the essential incentives, namely, high enough price per barrel, plus high enough allowables."

Exploration Parley Slated For May 17

The Permian Basin Geophysical and the West Texas Geological Societies will sponsor their second annual exploration meeting May 17-18 in Midland.

Invitations have been mailed to oilmen throughout the Southwest, and a record-breaking turnout is expected. The program will feature many phases of geological and geophysical work, presented by some of the oil industry's top geologists and geophysicists.

Twenty speakers will take part in the two-day program, which will be divided into morning and afternoon sessions, with the morning technical programs getting underway at 9:30. Evening sessions will start at 2.

Refiners Technical Sessions Are Set

E. L. Kent, president of Wickett Refining Company, will preside at the technical session of the Southwest regional meeting of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association. The two-day technical-industrial relations meeting will convene at the Hotel Paso del Norte in El Paso, May 23-24.

Sinclair Reports Record Net Income

Earnings of Sinclair Oil Corporation and its subsidiaries in the first quarter of this year broke all records for any three-month period in the company's 41-year history. P. C. Spencer, president, announced.

Consolidated net income in the first three months rose to $26,302,900, representing an increase of 8 1/2 per cent over the $24,245,569 earned in the comparable period of 1956, Spencer stated.

Earnings per common share, computed on the basis of the average number of shares outstanding during the respective periods, increased to $1.72 per share against $1.65 a share in the same three months of last year.

Total net production of crude oil and natural gas liquids aggregated 174,336 barrels per day in the quarter ended March 31, compared with 167,453 barrels in the same three months of last year.

Total sales, domestic and foreign, in the first three months amounted to 1,989,000 gallons, a gain of 1.8 per cent.

IN NATIONAL INTEREST Gulf Oil Official Defends Oil Import At A Reasonable Rate

CLEVELAND — The United States is becoming a "have not" nation in the relationship of many raw material sources to demand so it's time to be realistic about the oil import situation.

That message was one of the highlights in a talk by William L. Naylor, senior vice president, Gulf Oil Corporation, to the Cleveland Security Analysts Society last week.

Naylor, who described his company as the second largest oil company in the United States and based on the volume of crude oil production in 1956, the third largest in the world, said national defense policy must be shaped to encompass the problem of these essential "have not" items, one of which someday will be oil. In addition, he added, the time may come when the American consumer will be forced to sacrifice a slice of his hard-earned living standard by reducing his consumption of oil unless domestic output is supplemented with a growing quantity of imports.

"We certainly want no flood of

Rotary Drilling Is In Slower Tempo

Rotary drilling continued to show a decline in the United States and Western Canada last week, according to latest reports of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors.

As of April 29 there were 2,475 rigs going, whereas the week before there had been 2,531, the month before 2,508, and a year ago 2,767.

The United States had 70 less rigs turning, but Canada picked up two to reach 103. Only notable changes in the U.S. were loss of 26 rigs in Oklahoma, 39 on the Texas Gulf Coast, 18 in West Texas and 28 in North Texas.

RATE LAGGING

"The record of well completions so far this year appears to indicate the adjustment was not sufficient to encourage the search for oil and gas."

D. L. Connelly of Houston told a Casper, Wyo., convention requirements for domestic crude in 1955 are expected to be one and one-half times those of today.

"The need to find and produce larger quantities of oil in the future confronts the industry with a terrific financial burden," said the senior vice president of Warren Petroleum Co.

"A favorable economic climate is essential in providing the free world with an adequate supply of oil. We'll continue to find and produce the oil required. We must, however, have the essential incentives, namely, high enough price per barrel, plus high enough allowables."

LONEY BUNGER TOM SLAUGHTER

Slaughter, Bunger Begin Retirement

When Loney Bunger retired, Wednesday, Cosden Petroleum lost one of its long-time employees.

Bunger worked his last day for the firm in the tank car maintenance shops Wednesday, rested a day, and then headed for Arkansas and a 10-day trip filled with fishing.

When he left Cosden, Bunger handed over the job as leadman of the maintenance crew to Walker Read.

SINCE 1936

Bunger had worked just short of 21 years with Cosden when he retired. He started to work for the firm in September of 1936, and most of that time was spent in the tank car work, as a repairman and lately as an inspector.

Born in Ohio County, Ky., on May 11, 1887, Bunger came to Texas at the age of 21 and lived for a time at DeKalb. In 1914, he moved to Fort Worth. He worked there for the Frisco railway.

M. M. Edwards in the Snyder field several miles southeast of Coahoma. Drill site is 330 feet from north and east lines, 32-30-15, T&P Survey, on a 160-acre lease. Saturday, it drilled at 1,375 feet in anhydrite.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Yeaman drilling Company No. 1 G. C. Stewart is located half a mile west of Forsan, 330 feet from south and east lines, 130-29, W&N Survey, on a 40-acre lease. Contract depth is 2,700 feet to try the San Andres.

Spraberry perforations extend from 7,258-352 feet, and the hole bottoms at 7,920. Prior to finishing, operator treated with 1,000 gallons of acid and 20,000 gallons fracture fluid.

Also in the Jo-Mill, Texas No. 9-A-NCT-2 M. L. Miller, 15 miles southwest of Gail, pumped 251.62 barrels of 38.2-degree oil on potential. Twenty per cent water accompanied the test, which was preceded by 800 gallons acid treatment. Gas-oil ratio is 400-1.

PERFORATIONS

It produces from perforations 7,512-92 feet, with the upper line of perforations at the top of the pay section. The well extends to 7,645 feet, but it is plugged back to 7,953 feet.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 from west lines, 3-33-4n, T&P Survey.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines, 28-33-4n, T&P Survey. The hole bottoms at 8,092 feet, and five and a half-inch casing is set at 8,074. Top of the production zone is 7,475 feet, and perforations extend from 7,475-520 feet in the Spraberry.

At the Wilbanks-Rutter No. 1 McDaniel, about nine and a half miles southwest of Garden City, operator lost drill cones while reaming core hole from 5,945-95 feet and was fishing Saturday. It produced no oil shows on the core.

Operator plans to core again after completion of the reaming and fishing jobs.

Around Cronies, Joe McCarthy Relaxed And Displayed Humor

Editor's Note: This is the second of three articles from the recollections of a newspaperman who knew the late Sen. McCarthy well and who covered many of his activities.

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joe McCarthy's belly shook with laughter as he told the story. There he was out in La Jolla, Calif., getting a "little rest," and came this telegram signed by a girl he'd met. Said she was coming to see him and wanted to get a hotel reservation for herself and her mother.

"Well, I had the hell of a time," Joe chuckled. "The hotel was full and the manager finally had to throw somebody out to make room. Then the girl didn't show and I got suspicious. Sure enough, it was a gag. The telegram was sent by that so-and-so, Roy Cohn."

This was Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy talking at a time when he and his top aide, Roy M. Cohn, were figures of burning controversy throughout the nation and much of the world.

Joe, the bulky Irishman, and Roy, the intense Jewish lad from New York, were pictured as saviors of their country from communism, on the one hand, and as villains out to destroy American freedom on the other.

They didn't scorn the hero role—in public, especially.

But a lot of their time was spent in jollity that would have amazed both their admirers and their detractors. Oddly, to those learning about it for the first time, Joe and Roy and their friends were jokers, regular, live-it-up, boys, when they got the chance.

"The Rover boys—armed with machine guns," was the way one unfriendly newspaperman put it. "People who saw him only on television formed an image of McCarthy. As a grim prosecutor sometimes remember his 'ummmmm' with its mass raring in lection and its "don't-think-you're-kidding-me-bub" ring? Then again he was the badgered leader at bay, growling and snarling at his tormentors.

That was the public Joe McCarthy—not the relaxed host who would hoist his feet to a footstool, lean back in his easy chair and say "Drinks in the kitchen, boys. Everybody mixes his own in this house."

There was the night in 1954, a few hours after the Senate had condemned two aspects of McCarthy's conduct. A couple of reporters dropped in and found McCarthy rumbung with laughter at a joke cracked by his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams.

"Did you hear that?" McCarthy grinned. "Eddie says Eisenhower was committed my sentence to life imprisonment."

McCarthy took his rap lightly, from every outward appearance. But he also was a man who bore grudges gladly.

Joe was fond of kids. He'd pass up an influential politician any time if a youngster was trying to get the attention. When a child asked for his autograph he'd not only sign his name but present the youngster with the pen.

He was a boy himself in some ways. He collected things like posters offering rewards for outlaws of the old West.

And like a teasing child, he loved to torment people—sometimes in fun, sometimes with an undertone of unboylike grimace.

For days in the course of the Senate hearings on his fight with Pentagon officials McCarthy made it a point to produce with an air of releasing a trump card, a piece of paper from his pocket and demand permission to read it.

He did this for the sole purpose of of Missouri, who lived in constant expectation that McCarthy was about to tell the nation something from the paper—that Symington had a police record.

Actually, the paper might be blank or might be a reminder to call his wife.

But Joe knew that Symington, years ago, was involved in a boyish escapade in which a car was borrowed without the owner's permission. Symington knew that McCarthy knew, and expected the Wisconsin senator at any time to produce "evidence" of a "criminal record" and blow it up into something heinous.

Actually, McCarthy never did mention the borrowed car. But lest he should, Symington had armed himself with a statement from the car's owner absolving the Missouri senator of any wrongful intent. McCarthy gave Symington occasion to finger the statement nervously many a time during the hearings.

Joe McCarthy was a man of hearty appetites. He loved steak, lots of it. He put away a powerful amount of whisky at times, but could ration himself or quit entirely when convinced he should.

He had his moments of self-pity.

He'd come home from a long speaking tour, for instance, and wonder aloud as he sank into a chair if he was giving too much of himself in what he called his "fight for America."

"It's msking an old man of me," he would complain.

But five minutes later a joke would occur to him and he'd be the old McCarthy, full of his particular variety of fun.

"For blotting copy book, two lashes."
"For giving each other ill names, three lashes."
"For boys and girls playing together, four lashes."
Probably not even the most yearful of those who yearn for "the good old days" in American education would want to revive this quaint set of rules that was in effect in a North Carolina school 100 years ago.

But there are those who wonder whether in these days of juvenile delinquency headlines the schools may not have gone too far in relaxing the threat—and practice—of corporal punishment (CP), as the professional educators refer to it.

Certainly both threat and practice have been relaxed in the century since seven lashes, the North Carolina school's maximum penalty, were prescribed "for doing any mischief."

Some blame this on the ideas of modern educational theorists. They are only partly right.

CP began to wane in American schools with the sweep of a great wave of humanitarianism that brought with it the end of flogging in the Navy, the savage treatment of convicts and the insane—and the abolition of slavery.

Equally important was the development of practical psychology. Modern educators did not invent this either but have adopted much of it.

Educators today are more interested in preventing a bad boy than in punishing one. To hand out a licking, they feel, is to admit they have failed in their job—which they see as not only to teach but to make school so interesting that discipline is no real problem.

"Increasingly during recent years we have become more democratic in our approach to discipline," William M. Ustard, Rapid City, S.D., told a national principals' conference recently.

"Authoritarian techniques do not provide desired outcomes in the process of teaching and learning acceptable behavior."

Use Of Water Rises In April

Despite cooler, damp weather, production eased up for the Colorado River Municipal Water District during April.

Total of water metered to customers stood at 77,946,000 gallons, said O. H. Ivie, production superintendent.

Deliveries were proceeding at a substantially higher rate than the total would indicate until the last week in April. Showers cut the demand sharply in the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder.

Breakdown for the month showed SACROC repressuring unit taking 249,627,000 gallons, the Sharon Ridge unit 57,191,000 gallons and Texas Gulf Producing 3,266,000. Odessa had a total draw of 229,833,000 gallons, Big Spring 151,208,000 gallons and Snyder 44,821,000 gallons, said Ivie.

New Bills Signed By Gov. Daniel

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—Gov. Daniel signed several bills today. They include measures to:

- Create a conservation and reclamation district to be known as Jefferson County Fresh Water Supply District No. 2.
- Provide for creation of a hospital district in Amarillo.
- Limit the business of banking to corporations.
- Authorize the 34th, 65th and 41st District Court judges to get more pay.
- Grant the Willacy County Navigation District power to lease and sell land.
- Create the Athens Municipal Water authority in Henderson County.

43 Lunacy Cases Set For Hearing

Forty-three lunacy cases will be tried on the afternoon of May 9 at the State Hospital it was announced at the office of the county judge Saturday.

This is the regular monthly lunacy court session. The applications for admission to the state hospital are from most of the counties in West Texas.

The 43 cases are about on a parity with the number of applications handled monthly at these hearings.

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag —yet none give you Any of Pontiac's Advantages PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the most docile package of might you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving the smaller jobs can't possibly equal.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Here's extra length that brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass... and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER—BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Stroak V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete fact-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now!

So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

Favor Extending Minimum Wage Law

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) predicted today a labor subcommittee he heads will approve a bill to bring more than twice as many additional workers under the minimum-wage law as President Eisenhower asked.

The subcommittee, which held extensive hearings on the legislation, plans to meet in closed session next week to act on it.

Kennedy's bill would extend the $1 an hour minimum wage to about six million workers not now protected by the law.

The administration's proposal, presented to the subcommittee by Secretary of Labor Mitchell, would bring in an additional 2,500,000. This recommendation never has been offered in the form of a bill.

The Massachusetts senator told a reporter he was confident his measure would have the support of at least all the four Democrats on his subcommittee. He said that he also was sure it would win the backing later of the full labor committee.

Sen. Allott (R-Colo.), a subcommittee member, said he felt all of the proposals for increased coverage would result "in further stretching federal powers under the interstate commerce clause."

"I'm not going to be a party to that," he declared. "I feel that the states will enact minimum wage laws if they are badly needed.

The six million who would be brought under the law by the Kennedy bill would include 3,640,000 in retail stores, laundries and hotels, 1,400,000 in construction, 230,000 in wholesale establishments, 150,000 in finance, insurance and real estate, 117,000 seamen, 190,000 in mining and manufacturing, and 8,000 in local transportation.

The Kennedy bill proposes to extend coverage to retail stores and service firms doing one million dollars of gross business annually.

Mitchell's proposal is to bring in stores handling a million dollars or more of incoming merchandise or supplies moving across state lines. Kennedy said such merchandise would be figured at wholesale prices, so that to be covered a firm would have to do about $1,650,000 worth of business in a year.

Sen. Allott (R-Colo.), a subcommittee member, said he felt all of the proposals for increased coverage would result "in further stretching federal powers under the interstate commerce clause."

"I'm not going to be a party to that," he declared. "I feel that

Good Time To Clean Garage

Has your garage shrunk lately? Do you have piles of discarded household items, children's toys, wood stacks and other non-descript items have narrowed the car space?

Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week is the ideal time to re-do the garage, discarding, organizing, cleaning, painting inside, planting outside.

First of all, remove everything from the garage and then give it a thorough sweeping. A good hose down, or scrubbing if necessary, is next on the agenda. You may wish to give the interior a coat of light hued paint so that night-time searches for garage items are easier.

In returning items to the garage, there are doubtless several that can be eliminated. Get rid of old greasy rags. Gasoline and other flammable liquids should be disposed of. Unused and outgrown toys should be given away to an orphanage or other charitable organization.

The ceiling space of the garage is a good source of storage and simple nail insertions to the beams will hold rakes, hoes, and shovels. Bushel baskets can be stored aloft. Too perforated beaver board can be fitted to one wall to hold miscellaneous small items.

Local Man's Sister Is Car Wreck Victim

Mrs. Estelle Darby, 48, killed instantly in a car mishap three miles west of Snyder Thursday, was a sister of Snyder and Jim Hartley, Big Spring.

Mrs. Darby was a passenger in a car that was in collision on the highway. The car spun around, throwing her from it as it collided with a utility pole. She was dead on arrival at the Cogdell Hospital in Snyder.

Farmers Hopefully Eyeing 30-Day Weather Forecast

West Texans, particularly in this area, are anxiously wondering if the 30-day forecast released last week by the United States Weather Bureau will prove accurate.

The long-range guess of the weather men said that May would bring normal rains to the southwest and the northeast states and a tapering off in other parts of the nation.

OFFICIALS HOPEFUL

High officials in Washington, in the Weather Bureau and in other governmental departments concerned with water and agriculture, have been cautiously commenting on the probability that the searing costly eight-year drought which has had the western and southwestern plains in its grip may now be broken.

In Howard County and in adjacent counties, there is no contention that rains of late April have shattered the drought. Rains which fell have been most beneficial and will permit farmers in most sections to proceed with planting operations but there is no one optimistic enough to regard the precipitation as sufficient to have broken the back of the long dry spell.

"It would take a great deal more rain over a long period of time," observers say, "to restore local conditions to normal."

In the Weather Bureau, the U. S. Geological Survey and in the U. S. Agriculture Department officials are quoted in Washington dispatches as believing the worst of the drought is over in much of the hard-hit areas—at least for the moment. At the same time, these officials are agreed there is no clear-cut or simple answer to the question of future prospects for drought areas.

In some areas, the Weather Bureau asserts that the drought is over but not in other areas. For some crops it is far over and for others it is far from over.

30-DAY FORECAST

Meantime, the Weather Bureau came out on the last day of April with its 30-day forecast. This forecast is neither all bad nor all good insofar as the West Texas area is concerned.

The experts forecast a "tapering off" of the heavy rains which prevailed during most of April. At the same time the Bureau stood firm on its position that the drought won't be back this year at least.

The 30-day forecast—which covers the period April 29 through May 29—calls for below normal rains in much of the country.

The exception where heavy rain may be anticipated is in the northeast and southwest. Central and Eastern Texas which had abnormally heavy rains for the past two or three weeks is expected to drop off to normal or perhaps below normal during May.

It is interesting to recall that the deluges which swept parts of Texas began very soon after the Weather Bureau reported that upper air circulation indicated heavier than usual rainfall in the Central and Southern Plains.

BEGAN IN FEBRUARY

The Weather Bureau experts, as long ago as February, first noted significant changes in the circulation patterns of the troposphere—upper air. These changes are described as being "truly massive" and reflect readjustments in weather outlooks not only over the United States but far out over the Pacific and Atlantic oceans.

It was based on these unusual factors that the Weather Bureau came out with a long-range promise of a wet March. The promise came true.

The records were searched and the climatologists found that after previous droughts, a rainy March signaled a change toward normal precipitation in three out of four cases in the past 70 years.

The changes which the experts are studying form the basis, the Weather Bureau says, on which the current 30-day forecast is determined. If it is an accurate prediction, May should be a good month for the southwest.

Whether the general designation of "southwest" will include the Howard County area is a moot question.

Certainly the rains of April were a little above average for the past 10 years but they lacked a great deal of being what local farmers would call drought breakers. Other areas, within 100 miles, did get deluges but this particular section was not included.

The Weather Bureau added one observation which seems pertinent. Rainfall in Southwest Texas, say its experts, is not determined by what happened or is happening in the skies high over the area. The weather depends on what may be transpiring 25,000 to 40,000 feet up over most of the world.

In other words, if Howard County and this part of Texas is to benefit materially from additional moisture this month,—as its share of the promised normal rains for the southwest,—what is stirring a thousand miles from here and high in the skies may be the key that will unlock the rains.

Meantime, farmers, grateful for what rains fell in April, are endeavoring to make the best of what they have received. They are hopefully eyeing the weather maps, reading the 30-day forecasts and keeping their fingers crossed.

Measles Heads Diseases List

Measles came to the top of the communicable disease report for Big Spring last week.

According to the weekly report made by the City-County Health Unit, there were 53 cases of measles, with the next largest total being 29 cases of mumps.

There were 28 cases of gastroenteritis, while 15 were bothered by diarrhea. Ten had tonsillitis, and nine influenza. Eight suffered from strep throat, and there were seven cases of pneumonia. Eleven had chicken pox.

Two cases of trench mouth and one each of gonorrhea and pertussis completed the report.

Seal Total Near $4,000

The Easter Seal drive edged toward the $4,000 mark this week. Bo Bowen, city-county health nurse, said the total through Friday was $3,816.29. Of this, $55 was collected Friday. All the store containers are in except one, but a few contributions are still coming in, she said.

The drive is sponsored by the local and state Crippled Children and Adults groups.

Former Ackerly Schoolman Hurt

CORSICANA (SC)—A former Ackerly school superintendent was hospitalized here last week after a three-car collision near here.

J. Fred Dahneke, 54, was treated and confined to Corsicana Memorial Hospital for head injuries and possible internal injuries.

Dahneke, who now lives at Lubbock, was returning from a funeral in Tyler at the time of the collision Wednesday.

Collision In Rain

DENISON, May 4 (AP)—A collision of two cars in driving rain killed a 16-month-old boy and injured five other persons last night. The crash killed Charles Evans, son of Sgt. and Mrs. James Evans. His parents were injured along with Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Wisnom, all from Ferrin Air Force Base here, and Clifford Jarvis, driver of the other car.

BSCT Adds Trio To Board, Will Choose Play Friday

The next play to be presented by the Big Spring Civic Theatre will be chosen by the organization at a meeting Friday night.

The group was to have selected the play last Friday, but postponed the decision to give additional study to some of the productions under consideration.

Three members, all airmen, were named to the BSCT Board of Governors, to fill vacancies created by resignations. New board members are A-2C Norman Sant, A-2C Richard DeWentz, and 1st Lt. Jim Fulk.

The drama group also discussed plans for the parade entry it will sponsor jointly with the Evening Lions Club for the rodeo parade June 12. The organization also is sponsoring an entry in the Soap Box Derby to be staged July 4 and studied plans for that project.

Next Friday night's meeting will

Kennel Club To Conduct Dog Handling Class Today

Tips on how to get a dog ready for showing and how to handle him in the show ring will be given at 2:30 p.m. today at the City Park.

The West Texas Kennel Club is sponsoring the handling class at the park, but any person with a purebred dog is invited to participate in the classes regardless of membership.

The only reason a restriction is placed on purebred dogs, explained Bob McClelland, president of the West Texas Kennel Club, is that only such dogs would be permitted to show in sanctioned events.

It is possible that several breeders from Midland and Odessa will bring dogs over for the classes this afternoon. A wide variety of breeds is expected, and among them may be boxers, cocker spaniels, collies, bulldogs, chihuahuas, types of terriers and others. In the club membership there are breeders also of schipperke, afghan, pub, saluka, wire-haired dachshund, and many others.

The West Texas Kennel Club is sanctioned by the American Kennel Club and the 11th annual show will be held in October in the Coliseum at Odessa.

Regular monthly meeting of the club will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Howard House with dinner at that hour. The business session starts an hour later.

LIFE MEANS MORE WITH MUSIC is not only the theme of National Music Week, which begins today, but it is the belief of the Music Study Club committee members who arranged the activities marking the period in Big Spring. Various service clubs will hear musical selections at their luncheon meetings; just to be sure that there is a reserve program ready for presentation, Joyce Howard, standing at left, and Mrs. Jack Ware rehearse a duet, as Mrs. Bill Griese accompanies.

NOW I'VE CAUGHT YOU BOTH! says the giant, Weldon Martin, to Jack, Jimmy Ray Lockhart, and his mother, Gwen Proctor (photo above). The three are part of the cast of "The Magic Beanstalk" to be presented Friday at Gay Hill School. The operetta is under the direction of Mrs. Robert Mason, instructor at the school. A member of the Music Study Club, Mrs. Mason has scheduled the play as part of National Music Week festivities.

CHECKING THE YEARBOOK of the Big Spring Music Club are Mrs. H. M. Jarratt (left in photo at right) and Mrs. Fred Beckham, president of the club. Mrs. Jarratt is general chairman of National Music Week, which begins today. From the yearbook, members are being selected to present musical programs for each of the service clubs as they meet for their regular luncheons during the week.

HI--TALK

By CAROL ROGERS

ANITA GARDNER

If you asked for the most responsible student in BSHS, many would suggest Anita Gardner. This senior of the week has been a vital part of many of the class's activities and projects during the past three years. Known for her artistic ability, Anita has directed such projects as door decorations, floats, dance decorations, and bulletin boards to success.

Anita is an active member of the Rainbow Organization for Girls, Spanish Club, and the Feta Tri-Hi-Y Club. She will continue her work in the First Presbyterian Church, of which she is a member, next year as she is going to attend HCCJC.

"We, the 1957 El Rodeo staff, dedicate this annual to Mrs. Rita D. Weeg." These words announced the arrival of the yearbooks to impatient BSHS'ers Friday morning. The BSHS' annuals are the first to arrive in Big Spring this year.

Centered around the inspiring theme of the BSHS Senior Ring, the annuals show the various phases of school life as represented on the ring. Color in yearbooks, new to BSHS, is found on the division pages, which are gold, white, and black. The senior ring emblem is on the white covers of the 1957 El Rodeos.

The arrival of the annuals began the yearly fun of signing yearbooks. Much of this was done at special parties, the first being held Friday night in the cafeteria.

Webb Air Force Base is honoring the 1957 Seniors of BSHS May 18. If you plan to attend A I R

Forces Day, sign the list in the office as soon as possible.

Petitions for 1957-58 junior and senior student council representatives were turned in Friday. On the same ballot, will be the names of the BSHS students campaigning for 1957-58 junior and senior cheerleaders. Tryouts will be held Tuesday.

The annual BSHS Honor Assembly will be held Tuesday. Students will receive recognition for accomplishments and honors during the year.

Senior students are busy selling ads for the yearly KSTT Senior Radio Day, which is May 23. Students will manage all phases of the broadcasting on that day. Committee chairmen are Gerald Lackey, Johnny Janak, Ronnie King, Jacqueline Smith, Dennis Jones in charge of the activity.

Barr Photoenter is presenting each senior with a 6x7 graduation picture. The caps and gowns will be furnished, so call now and make your appointment. Pictures will not be made later than June 30.

Secretarial training students are having a chance to put their knowledge to work as they are taking dictation from the faculty as a part of their outside work. The girls are planning to take their civil service tests Thursday.

Nita Jones was chosen as the Big Spring delegate to Girls' State in Austin next summer. The activity is sponsored annually by the American Legion. Lane Edwards is the alternate delegate.

BSHS'ers are certainly proud of their 1957 Girls' Volleyball State Champions, the Steerettes. The girls will journey to Memphis, Tenn., May 8-12 to participate in the national tournament.

By the way, do you have your date yet for the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom? It's less than two weeks away, so you better begin thinking about it!

Also, have you signed up for the Senior Breakfast, which is to be sponsored by the parents of seniors? The list is in the office.

The BSHS Choir will return today after four fun-filled days in Corpus Christi. They were accompanied by Bill Dawes, choir director.

Leslie White, Tommy Buckner, and Bruce Moore, accompanied by Mr. Truit Vines, are attending the state livestock judging contest at Texas A&M this weekend. The group will return late today.

Don't forget the annual Seniors vs. the Exes football game Friday night. This will climax spring training.

Gay Bownds and Mike Jarratt received medals from Miss Colleen Slaughter at the Spanish Club banquet last week. They were designated as the students having the highest average in the second year classes.

The Big Spring Senior High Band will present a spring concert Monday night in the auditorium. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

BSHS students enjoyed the religious assembly given by a group of Baylor students Friday morning. It was in connection with the youth revival held at the First Baptist Church.

A final youth rally will take place at the church this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

1957-58 officers of the H Y Club were elected last week. They are Johnny Roy Phillips, president; Stephen Baird, vice president; Julius Glickman, secretary; Billy Bob Satterwhite, treasurer; Bob Leach, chaplain; George Peacock, parliamentarian, and Robert Stripling, reporter.

At the final meeting of the parents sponsoring the after-Prom activities, it was announced that a $100 HCCJC scholarship would be awarded to some lucky senior.

Several other prizes will also be awarded at the midnight show, "Spring Reunion," which stars Betty Hutton and Dana Edwards. Several gift certificates from leading stores will be included in these prizes.

Nina Rice Is Crowned May Queen

MRS. JAMES ROBERT CHANEY

Miss Hardy Wears Grandmother's Dress For Her Wedding Saturday

Wearing the wedding dress of her grandmother, Anne Hardy became the bride of James Robert Chaney in a double ring ceremony in Dallas Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Vows were exchanged in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church before the Rev. John Anderson, pastor of the church. White tapers in tall candelabra with greenery formed the background for the semi-formal ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roy Holland Hardy of Dallas and the late Mr. Hardy; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Chaney, 1910 Rummels.

Mrs. Charles Baker of Dallas, organist, played the traditional wedding selections preceding and during the ceremony; she also played the wedding marches.

Thomas Warren Luce of Dallas gave his cousin in marriage.

WEDDING DRESS

The bridal gown, worn in 1906 by the bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. A. W. Hooper in Winchester, Va., was fashioned of 365 yards of off-white duchess braid, in combination with 600 buttons. Originally sewed on a cambric pattern, the braid formed a flower design with the centers being made of buttons. The low neckline of the dress followed the scallops of the flowers; a wide belt, coming to a point in the front, marked the waistline between a full blouse and a gathered skirt. The hem of the skirt, which was worn over the starched petticoats, was scalloped to give the same effect as that of the neckline, while a tulle ruffle on the slip extended below the bottom of the skirt. This all swept into a chapel train.

Long full sleeves were worn in a push-up fashion and were complemented with short white kid gloves.

The bridal veil, of silk illusion, was elbow length and was attached to a crown, sparkling with iridescent sequins. A cascade of off-white gardenias made the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. William Paul Van Pelt of Big Spring attended as matron of honor; Mrs. Daniel B. Howell of Fort Worth, a cousin of the bride was bridesmaid.

Both attendants were gowned in identical frocks of ice-blue silk made on princess lines in the front. The back of each skirt was fashioned in a bouffant style. They wore blue headdresses and carried bouquets of deep blue carnations.

Dwaine Williams of Colorado City was best man, and Robert Coffey of Big Spring was groomsman. Guests were seated by Robert Rice of Midland; Leonard Bryans of Dallas, a cousin of the bridegroom; and George Amos of Big Spring, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

The couple received guests at the reception in the home of the bride's mother. Serving was done by Mrs. Hardy Luce of Dallas, an aunt of the bride, while her two cousins, Martha and Miriam Hardy, were at the register.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Robert B. Hardy, Mrs. Fred C. Seals, Mrs. Jack M. Hardy, Mrs. Ben E. Hardy and Mrs.

Claude Beesley. All are aunts of the bride.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Chaney chose a dress of grey silk, polka dotted, with a jacket. Her accessories were grey; her gloves, white.

Upon their return, the couple will make a home at 1500B Sycamore. Both are employed by Cosen. Mrs. Chaney is a graduate of Austin College, where she was president of Alpha Delta Chi Sorority. The bridegroom was a student at Howard County Junior College.

From out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Peppy Bloom of Longview, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Paul Washington of Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Williams.

FAMILY DINNER

The bride's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hardy, were hosts for a dinner Friday evening, when they brought together the members of the couple's families and attendants in the wedding party. The affair was held in the Hardy home.

Changing Needs Met In New Homes

Closets act as walls...an electric system designed around movable walls...portable ceiling fixtures... homemakers can expect these and many more conveniences to meet changing moods and needs in the house of tomorrow.

Featured in a recent issue of a business publication for the building industry in an electric-living model built by builder-designer, John Dornes in Monroe, N.Y.

General practice today is to use permanently installed storage walls to divide up the space. The only permanent walls in tomorrow's house are the plumbing core walls and those enclosing the baths. Floors are laid in quarry tile, which provides an excellent base for the roller-mounted storage walls.

Dornes' electrical thinking went beyond providing for a fully equipped electric kitchen. The house shows the many uses of electric power feasible for a moderately priced home.

A range unit pivots to any desired position. A remote control system for lighting is used except for two master control panels, each of which has 12 color-coated buttons controlling all lights in the house.

Annual May Breakfast Is Given Saturday

In a spring garden setting Saturday morning, members of St. Cecilia Guild of the Episcopal Church served their annual May Breakfast.

Groups gathered in the parish house, where the breakfast was served from an early hour till mid-morning. The affair is a benefit, given for the purpose of adding to the guild fund.

Under a false ceiling of rose and pink paper streamers, a small garden served as a background for the gaily colored table cloths on the foursome tables.

Spring flowers, in various arrangements and in bird cages, and canaries were used as room decorations.

Members of the guild served as cooks, receptionists and waitresses for the breakfast.

Golf Group Plans Work On Room

Members of the Ladies Golf Association of Big Spring Country Club met Friday at noon for a luncheon and business session. Under discussion was the possibility of acquiring a room for use by the club members' children.

A committee was appointed to confer with the board of directors to work out a plan for this. Serving on the committee will be Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mrs. Charles Tompkins, Mrs. H. S. Gwyn Jr., and Mrs. T. L. South.

It was decided to wait until the June meeting to take action on plans for a carnival to be held in the fall of the year.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. R. E. McKinney, Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., Mrs. Jasper Atkins, Mrs. Gus Barr and Mrs. Raymond River.

'Kid-Glove' Care Is Aid To Skin Beauty

You don't have to be a magician to recognize your skin as sensitive. You've lived with its reactions long enough to know that everything effects its "disposition" — from a change of diet to a hay fever attack. It's likely to blush furiously at the slightest emotional disturbance or burn madly when washed with soap and water.

To help keep your sensitive skin's "equilibrium" give it the kid-glove treatment. Pamper it morn' and night with the finest creams and lotions, the softest towels and powder puffs that won't pull, drag or irritate its delicate texture.

The gentlest kind of program that has the sensitive skin practically purring under its soothing care begins with carefully selected cosmetics that are in lotion form. They are thin-textured, bland and creamy — yet never stimulating or too rich and heavy for the complexion to take. When these special preparations are combined with a regular daily beauty routine, the sensitive skin soon thrives happily.

Sharon Lewis-Lt. Kenton Waechter Repeat Vows In Friday Ceremony

White tapers held in graduated candelabra, palms and baskets of pink and white gladioli formed the altar before which Sharon Lewis became the bride of Lt. Kenton G. Waechter Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the First Christian Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Lewis, 701 West 18th, and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Waechter, La Mesa, Calif. Double ring wedding rites were read by the Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the church.

Pre-nuptial wedding selections, played on the organ by Betty Earley, included "Nocturne in E Flat" by Chopin, "Traumerei," "Wonderful One," "No Other Love," "Clair de Lune," Joyce Howard sang "O Promise Me," and "With This Ring." As the couple knelt, Miss Howard sang "The Lord's Prayer."

WEDDING GOWN
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waist-length gown of white organdy. The bouffant skirt featured alternate rows of ruffled organdy and embroidered organdy. The low rounded neckline was accented with flower-lets of seed pearls. The bride wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. A shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a white lace hat that was sprinkled with seed pearls.

The bride's cascade bouquet was of white gardenias and stephanotis. The bouquet was carried atop a white Bible.

Serving as maid of honor was Anna Belle Lane. The bridesmaid was Shelby Lewis, sister of the bride.

They wore identical dresses of pink embroidered organdy over pink satin fashioned on sheath lines. The bateau neckline extended to short sleeves. The empire waistline featured an inset of pink chiffon and extended to the back where chiffon panels floated to the hemline.

They wore pink velvet headbands which were trimmed with pink flowers. Miss Lane carried a cascade bouquet of pink and rose carnations and Miss Lewis carried pink and white carnations.

Dr. Waechter served his son as best man. Groomsman was Lt. Fred Zimmat of Sioux City, Iowa. Seating guests were Lt. Robert Tuck, Homer, Mich., and Ernie Johnson, Detroit, Mich.

Sara Ruth Manuel lighted the candles.

RECEPTION
The reception following the ceremony was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Receiving guests were the bridal couple and the parents of each.

The hall was decorated with baskets of pink gladioli and palms. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over pink satin. Crystal holders held pink candles. The maid of honor's bouquet was used as the centerpiece.

Guests were served from a family heirloom crystal punch bowl. Serving was done by Belva Wren and Miss Earley. Registering guests was Rita Rae Gale.

Others in the house party were Mrs. Bill Earley, Mrs. W. B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Manuel, Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Donald Anderson and Mrs. Harvey Wooten.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mrs. Jewell Underwood, Ballinger, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Underwood, Waco.

WEDDING TRIP
For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N.M., Mr. Waechter wore a mauve colored linen sheath dress trimmed with small lace appliques. Her accessories were grey and she wore a white gardenia corsage.

The couple will make a home here where the bridegroom is a student pilot at Webb AFB. He is a graduate of Alton High School, Alton, Ill., and San Diego State College, San Diego, Calif., where he was a pre-med major.

Mrs. Waechter was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. At HCJC she was secretary of the Lass-O Club and a member of the choir. She is a majority member of the Rainbow Girls and has had several offices in that organization. Until her marriage she was employed at Webb AFB.

MODERN BIG SPRING HOUSEWIVES KNOW THAT GAS COOKING MEANS COOL COOKING

- NO HANGOVER HEAT
- SMOKELESS BROILING
- NEW, IMPROVED PILOTS AND BURNERS

Every day, more and more Big Spring housewives are discovering that the new, automatic Gas ranges give them more modern advantages than any other type range. Instant on-off heat makes cooking both faster and cooler. The heat is there when you need it, and gone when you no longer require it. And there's smokeless broiling—possible only on flame-fast Gas ranges. New pilots use less gas and reduce heat. New burners make gas cooking faster than any electric range, and much cooler! So be modern—Go Gas. You'll be glad you did!

Coat-Dress Easy To Don

Leave it to Harvey Berin to design the dress that will undoubtedly become your summer uniform whether it's made up in city colors with crisp white contrast or in country gingham with organdy.

Buttoned all the way down, the front pieces are cut in one with the belt which fastens in back. Tiny gathers just above the waistline ease the bodice and give shape to the bust.

For this designer-sized pattern, which is custom-made and perforated for simple and fast matching, choose linen, chambray, novelty weave cottons, shantung, wool crepe with pique, linen, organdy or taffeta trim.

From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size 10 bust 34, waist 24, hips 35 inches, length from nape to neck to waist, 16 1/2 inches; size 12 bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches, length from nape to neck to waist 16 1/2 inches; size 14 bust 36 1/2, waist

HAROLD HOLMQUIST
... with Julius

California, Florida, Texas, Live In Peace In Harold Holmquist Family

A California husband, a Florida wife and a Texas cat, compose the Harold Holmquist family, recent newcomers to Big Spring. In opposition to the "never the twain shall meet" theory, this couple can still be classified as a bride and bridegroom, since their first wedding anniversary is still a month away.

Despite the span from coast to coast, Lt. and Mrs. Holmquist first met on neutral soil, Washington, D. C. At the time Holmquist was attending West Point and Mrs. Holmquist was working in the capital.

Following his graduation from West Point last June the couple was married and began the Air Force life. They came to Webb AFB from Tucson, Ariz. where Lt. Holmquist received his primary jet training.

Los Angeles, Calif. is Lt. Holmquist's home. He was graduated from Hollywood High School and attended UCLA for two years before entering West Point.

Mrs. Holmquist calls Gainesville, Fla., home and unlike most Floridians her family has been in Florida for three generations. She attended business college for three years in Tampa before entering George Washington University in Washington, D. C. After attending George Washington for two years she returned for Florida, where she worked in executive training for Montgomery Ward.

Modeling and TV advertising in Florida gave Mrs. Holmquist the background for a job she held while they were stationed in Tucson. In Tucson, she was mistress

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

The merry, merry month of May began Wednesday, introducing a hectic, busy last round of activity that will be climaxed by the ending of school late this month.

Teachers seem to have taken this into consideration, however, because many have made convenient terms that meet with student approval. If this keeps up, college may not be too unpleasant, after all.

Speculation is going round and round concerning plans for converting the area just east of the library, confined between the administration and science wings. Just the other day we were shooting the breeze with one of the administrators and were enlightened that the boxed area may be converted over. Thus the college would have an ideal spot in which to sponsor socials and dances. Another source told of plans for installing a juke box, tables and chairs.

As nothing constructive is being done with the area at present, we were more interested to learn that the following installations are being considered: An orchestra pit, stage construction with spray from water fountains to serve as curtain. Nice! Especially with colored lights playing on the spraying water.

What nicer location is there for a combination recreation center and auditorium? Every-night rehearsals are a "must" for members of the Howard County Junior College Chorus in preparation for their soon-to-be presented operetta, "The Fortune Teller." Sponsored in connection with the Rotary Club, the campus singers are being prodded by Mr. Orland Johnson, director of the chorus, in an effort to make this a spectacular production.

Efforts thus far lean in that direction, although the deadline for production is nearing. The two-act presentation will be held in the college auditorium May 16-17. Tickets are on sale at the college in three price ranges: student tickets, $5; adult, $1.00; and reserve, $1.50.

Joined by outstanding vocalists from the community, the members of the chorus will perform in gypsy costume. Cast in roles of ballet dancers, soldiers, gypsies and servants they will join with soloists in singing "There's No Charm Like Laughing Blue Eyes," "Always Do As People Say You Should," "Tramp, Tramp," "Livonian Hussars," "The Lily and the Nightingale," "Ho, Ye Townsman," "Romany Life," "In This World of Fashion," "Serenades of All Nations," "Gypsy Love Song," and "Gypsy Jan."

With music by Victor Herbert, revised by Don Wilson, lyrics of the show were written by Harry Smith, and revised by Edward Bradley.

The plot of the operetta is one of fast-moving sequence, and at this early date, polish is visible, on the part of the acting, spelling out a bang-up show.

Julie Rainwater, Laverne Cooper, Lovelle Fletcher, and JoAnn Watkins were on hand at Amarillo last Monday to witness the Jayhawk track team establish their standing of first place in the Zone Track Meet. The Hawk team totaled up 108 points, with the next team in line scoring a mere 18. Each entry from Howard County placed in at least one event, and some placed in as many as six!

Next track meet coming up is the last one — State. It will be held Monday and Tuesday at Texas A&M. With our boys having their caps set for victory, just watch their smoke.

Bruce Frazier's agriculture class toured the Experiment Farm with members of a visiting Kermit garden club on Thursday. The trip was made to study plants grown there, to inspect special equipment, and to make a general tour of facilities.

This group of ag boys, under Mr. Frazier's supervision is currently engaged in the project of drawing landscape plans for types of houses. A future project is to submit a planned landscaping for the proposed patio just east of the library.

After reading this far, you, in all probability have dismissed the idea of the proposed recreation center and auditorium (complete with spraying water curtain) as one of sheer fantasy. Perhaps, then, you were not one of the 350 guests who attended HCJC's open house last Sunday. Not just a small percentage expelled oh's and ah's upon seeing the expansion and improvement that has been completed this past year.

Members of the baseball team are now able to forget their sport and get down to brass tacks — mainly lesson cramming — now that the season is completed.

Iota Beta is what the local chapter of Phi Theta Kappa will be named. Receiving their charter at the national convention at Lawton, Okla., April 17-19, the local honor society will be formally initiated by the chapter from Odessa Junior College at a later date.

Proofs of the Jayhawk annual arrived this week for the local staff to make corrections and return to the publishing company. May 20 is the date when the yearbooks are due to arrive.

Best wishes to Eddie Don Harris and Jean Peters who were married in March.

Member Of Play Cast May Lay Egg

There's one member of the cast of an operetta, soon to be presented, that everyone hopes will lay an egg!

That's Henrietta, the hen who lays the golden egg, (they hope) in "The Magic Beanstalk," which will be presented at Gay Hill School Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Henrietta, owned and "directed" by Frank Farrar is being trained to overcome her stage fright and sit quietly with no clucking during her appearances in the "production."

In years to come, she can modestly tell her grandchildren how she had a part in the observance of National Music Week, which is sponsored locally by the Music Study Club.

Men Look For Wear, Comfort Over Fashion According To Expert

What makes a fashion idea popular?

The answer depends on which fashion field you search. In women's apparel, a fad, a color or line that flatters, just the idea of change, or even the espousal by the mysterious and powerful "they" of the fashion world can put a style idea in the limelight. In the men's wear field the answer is quite different, according to one of the country's leading apparel manufacturers, for most men are primarily concerned with such practical matters as wear and comfort. Thus, the popularity of a masculine fashion idea must be founded upon the style's practical, down to earth points, tested and proven in the wearing. The suit that has real fashion importance today must win first and most important laurels on its practical performance, as must all men's clothing. To the stronger sex, fashion is as fashion does — in a highly literal sense.

Howard County HD Council Plans Hat Workshop For Clubs May 31

The Howard County Home Demonstration Council will have a hat workshop May 31, it was announced at the council meeting Friday morning in the HD office.

Two representatives from the clubs of the county will meet with Ellnor Hardy of Colorado City to learn the fine points of making, redesigning and decorating hats. These will serve as instructors for their respective clubs.

Mrs. R. N. Adams of the Coahoma HD Club gave the devotion Friday morning. The Lomax Club was responsible for the recreation, a game to test the memories of the players.

Mrs. F. W. Burkholder and Mrs. D. S. Phillips of Coahoma displayed an exhibit of gadgets, including an ice-crusher, a saw for cutting frozen meats and a "bake and tote" pan.

Letters of appreciation for scholarships were read from Sharon Thompson and Barbara Thornton. Club reports were given, with the Elbow Club telling of giving ten minutes of each meeting for work with the 4-H Club.

The Coahoma Club reported having a hat sale, and the Luther Club reported sending 25 stamped greeting cards for use of the patients at the State Hospital. The Fairview Club recently held a bake sale.

The Vealmoor Club has been studying the details of jury service, and the Forsan Club has heard W. M. Romans discuss safe driving; this newly-organized club will meet Monday at 2 p.m. in the clubhouse and all HD members are invited to attend the meeting.

It was voted to let the clubs decide on the kind of entry to be arranged for the rodeo parade, set for June 12. The 4-H Club Round-up is to be held June 12-14 at A&M College, it was announced.

Announcement was made of a recreation workshop to meet in Levelland July 24-25. Four representatives will be sent from the council.

A committee was appointed to confer with the county commissioners about the possibility of getting an assistant HD agent. Mrs. Ray Shortes is chairman, with Mrs. Ray Swan, Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and Mrs. H. S. Hanson members.

Twenty-four were in attendance, which represented all the clubs of the county.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Baum of Stanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nella, to A-C Raymond A. Bertolasi, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bertolasi of Rockford, Ill. The wedding has been set for July 13 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Stanton.

Plans June Wedding

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, 1702 Main, of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Dean Harrison Porter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porter, Old San Angelo Highway. The couple will be married in the First Baptist Church on June 28.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

It's a good thing it was October when the late Mrs. A. W. Hooper was married back in 1906 in Winchester, Va. If it had been a summer wedding she probably would have expired under the weight of her undergarments. The new Mrs. JAMES ROBERT CHANEY, who was married last night in Dallas, wore her grandmother's wedding dress but without all the original trappings.

This dress was made on a cambric pattern of Duchess lace braid. It consists of 265 yards of braid, 600 buttons and the stitches were put in with No. 300 and 500 Battenberg thread. It took nearly three months to complete the garment, which was originally styled with a high neck that reached the tip of the bride's ears.

Beneath this elegant dress, she wore a matching short knit skirt, a knitted shirt and camisole and open drawers, which were never worn by unmarried girls; then a cotton and a lace petticoat. As a special covering for the more ordinary garments, there was a cream satin slip, then a chiffon slip next to the lace. All of the lingerie was elaborately ruffled and was handmade.

Her hose were embroidered white silk and her slippers and the elbow length gloves were of white kid. The veil was of illusion with a tiara of orange blossoms that had been sent from Florida.

This dress has attracted many viewers when it was displayed at various fairs and was awarded many prizes for the elaborate stitching and braid. It has been used in two other weddings as bridesmaids' dress.

DR. CHARLES BUSHNELL of the VA Hospital in Amarillo, who was a featured speaker at the Gold Star Mother's convention is an uncle of Big Spring's JACK WALLACE.

Oh to be a senior again! Just imagine having all those nice things planned for the sole purpose of entertaining the graduating class all night long! I have no doubt the seniors and their dates can stand up just fine... it's the parents who will be serving that I have my doubts about, but I think it will be fun to see if we can...and still have a kind word for everyone concerned.

There's always a time when we say, "Why didn't I think of that?" and most of the women were thinking that Thursday at the coffee at the Cosden Country Club. We're speaking of the three serving tables instead of one. It was a wonderful way to serve a number of people. I understand it was the inspiration of MRS. NORMAN READ.

Everyone had such a good time and I sat for a while with MRS. J. W. DICKENS, MRS. CHARLES NEEFE AND MRS. J. W. HUGHES, who had found a good spot and were watching all the pretty women and the lovely

MR. AND MRS. DALE DOUGLASS have received word that their daughter and her husband LT. AND MRS. ZORO E. FOSTER AND SON, CRAIG, sailed May 1 from Okinawa for Yokohama, Japan. From Yokohama they will sail to Seattle, Wash., and then fly to Midland. The Douglass family is counting the minutes until their arrival in Midland, because they have never seen their only grandchild, Craig, eight months old. Mrs. Foster is the former Barbara Douglass.

After visiting the Douglasses the Fosters will journey to Harmony, N.C., to visit Lt. Foster's parents. After an extended visit Lt. Foster will report to Sheppard AFB in Wichita Falls for a 15-week special training course. Their permanent base will be Scott AFB in Illinois.

Mrs. Foster and Craig will probably spend much of the summer visiting in Big Spring and in Dallas with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frosty Robison.

Beauty-From Character

Actress Hedy Lamarr feels that being born beautiful is not all it appears to be. She believes that the kind of beauty that comes from character and awareness of others is far more precious.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Inner Charm A Factor For Outward Beauty

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Hedy Lamarr is one of the world's most beautiful women. When she was first working in Hollywood, all the young hopefuls dyed their hair black and copied her make-up just as this town is now filled with pseudo-Marilyn Monroes. Hedy's beauty was so breathtaking that she started her career in Vienna by merely asking a director for a part. Later, in London, Louis B. Mayer saw her and signed her for his studio, and those pictures that she made at MGM are now being released for TV. But when Miss Lamarr appeared on "Shower of Stars" recently it was gratifying to her many fans that she was still very lovely. When I visited her on the set at CBS, I fortunately arrived just as a production break was being called. There was a chuck wagon in the patio and Miss Lamarr suggested that we have a cup of coffee. As the sunlight caught her closely cropped hair I noticed it was auburn. Hedy showed me a snapshot of her young son and daughter and chatted about them. But I switched the conversation flow to how it feels to be a great beauty. "All the conversation about it always surprised me," she said quietly. "This was hard to believe. Early impressions stay with us," she explained, "and as a child I was never made aware of beauty. I never can remember being told by my family during my formative years that I was good-looking. But," she added, "I am always telling my daughter she is pretty. At one time I used to resent all this fuss about it. I felt I had other things to offer. There is an inner beauty built with character, charm and a good deal of kindness. Beauty," she added, "is in the eyes of the beholder." We chatted about the difference between European and American women. "I think the cling-to-youth women age themselves. Any time you try too hard, you fail. As a whole, the American woman tries too hard to make her point, and this gives the impression she's aggressive. The European woman appreciates the value of the power of suggestion and achieves her goal without demanding it. I think this makes for a more de-stable relationship between the sexes. The American woman seems more lonely to me." "Some say that the American woman demands what the European woman achieves with charm," I commented. Miss Lamarr nodded her approval. "Charm," she observed, "is a difficult quality to define, but to me sensitivity is its essence. It is the human quality of the person that means the most. Egotism makes you boring." Miss Lamarr turned her chair to get the full benefit of the sun. "I admit that the sun is not good for your skin but I like it. I used to be called Snow White at school but how I get tanned, freckles and all." Her skin is lovely and I asked her how she kept it that way. "I clean it regularly with a grainy substance that helps to roll off the accumulation of dead cells. I think this is good for your skin, but my friends were amazed when they found out I used what mechanics use to get the grease off their hands." I admired a fabulous, square cut diamond on Miss Lamarr's left hand. "I used to think it was charming to collect jewels — lots of them — but since most of my valuables were stolen in a robbery, I realized my jewels are my children." "You have a new sense of values," I told her. "I have suffered I admit much of this was because of my own doing, but you mature with suffering and that is good," Hedy concluded. GLAMOUR Did you know there are three sides of glamour? Every girl can have sex appeal and can be beautiful if she follows the basic rules for glamour. In Leaflet M-45, "Elaine Stewart's Rules for Glamour," is information every girl should know to be lovelier. For your copy of Leaflet M-45, send only five cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Holding Brads

There are gadgets on the market to assist you in driving brads which cannot easily be held in one hand while wielding one hammer with the other. If you do not have one of them, try placing the brad in a bobby pin with the head down close to the pin. Held in this manner, the brad then can be driven into place.

Girl of the year awards went to Mrs. Tom Wade of the Iota Kappa Chapter and Mrs. Bruce Moore of the Lambda Phi Chapter. Mrs. Glen Hanson and Mrs. Billy Miers made the presentations. Yellow roses were used to form the floral arrangement on the speakers table. Approximately 40 attended the banquet, from three chapters. First Post Office Bermuda's first post office was opened in 1812 in the capital city of Hamilton. Annual Clean-Up Drive Officially Opens Monday

Big Spring's annual Clean-Up, Paint-up, Fix-up Campaign officially opens Monday.

Actually, the drive already has been started by many residents, and the formal opening of the campaign will mean the start of trash removal by city street department trucks.

The campaign again is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the City of Big Spring and the City-County Health Unit. City firemen are backing the drive in the interest of fire prevention.

Winners already have been announced in a poster contest sponsored by the Chamber's Clean-Up Committee, of which Jim Lewis is chairman. Prizes totaling $60 were awarded for the three top posters in each of the city's elementary grades, and the winning posters will be on display this week in a show window at the C. R. Anthony Company store.

In addition to cleaning up their property, Big Spring residents are being urged to join in a concerted effort to fix up and paint up their homes and accessory buildings.

The little improvements mean money in the pockets of homeowners, Lewis pointed out. Minor repairs made now are sure to forestall more extensive repairs which will be required if buildings are allowed to deteriorate.

Investment in a few pieces of lumber and some paint could mean a saving of hundreds of dollars later on, Lewis pointed out.

Biggest problem facing the clean-up effort is, of course, that of vacant lots. While no one is expected to go to a great deal of expense or work in cleaning up neglected property of that type, vacant lots may cooperate in scraping off the worst of the weeds and rubbish, it has been suggested by the Chamber of Commerce.

City trash trucks will start making the rounds for removal of the year's accumulation of rubbish early Monday morning. The schedule calls for the trash to be cleared away by May 15—a week and a half later.

City Manager H. W. Whitney urges residents to place the waste they want removed in their usual garbage disposal areas. If possible, the refuse should be placed

Medicine Cabinet Needs Inventory

During Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Week is the ideal time to make an inventory of your medicine cabinet to remove threats to health and to check whether you are equipped for emergencies.

Out should go all unlabeled bottles, broken pills, any medicine that has changed in color, form or smell, old bottles of iodine, once-sterile dressings that have lost their protective coverings. Even medicine which appears in good condition should be destroyed if it is over a few months old.

Safety experts advise that each medicine cabinet should contain a clinical thermometer, aromatic spirits of ammonia, cotton, bandages, antiseptic, burn ointment, rubbing alcohol, medicine dropper, tweezers, adhesive tape.

Postal Savings In Sharp Decline Here

There was a time when the postal savings department of post offices the country over were highly important and very busy adjuncts of the postal service.

That day is gone.

Time was when hundreds and even thousands of Americans deposited their savings with the post office, — relying on the sturdiness of the federal government to guarantee the safety of their money.

That was in the days before safeguards to protect bank deposits had been set up as securely as they are today and in a time when banking facilities were not as widespread as they are today.

Postmaster General Summerfield is campaigning vigorously to liquidate the Postal Savings system. He contends that the agency has outlived its usefulness and no longer is required.

Postmaster Elmer Boatler, checking into the records, comes up with some rather convincing local evidence which seems to support the theory of the postmaster general.

Boatler was asked to get figures on today's volume of deposits in the postal savings department of the Big Spring Post Office as compared with the totals for five years ago.

"I had known," commented Boatler, "that we were doing much less business in the Postal Savings division than we used to do but I did not know that the drop-off had been so marked.

"At the present time, we have only $171,110 on deposit in the department. This represents the holdings of 355 depositors.

"I checked the records and on July 1, 1949, our deposits were $492,110. And we had 602 persons availing themselves of the postal savings facilities of the office.

"We have lost $320,736 in deposits and 267 customers in the span of five short years."

Summerfield has stressed the decline in the use of postal savings facilities in urgent appeals to congress for legislation to permit an orderly liquidation of the operation.

He cited national figures for 1947 and 1956. The 10-year interval, he says, shows a decline in deposits from $3,393,000,000 to only $1,765,000,000. Declines are continuing, he insists, at the rate of $20,000,000 per month.

He pointed out that banking facilities have so improved and expanded that the need for postal savings agencies has disappeared. He also cited that thousands upon thousands of American now invest their savings in government bonds. Congress has not as yet acted on his recommendation.

Clean-Up Posters To Be Exhibited

Winning posters in the Clean-Up Week contest sponsored in local elementary schools will be on display next week in the C. R. Anthony Company store.

There were three winners in each of the six grades, and all 18 winning posters will be exhibited. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 were given winners in each of the grades. The Chamber of Commerce is sponsor of the contest as well as the Clean-Up campaign which opens Monday.

Plans Being Completed For Big Masonic Party Saturday

Big Spring Lodge No. 1340, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, is completing plans this week for what it hopes will be the most important Masonic event the city has ever seen.

It has invited Masons from all of the lodges in the state of Texas to come here next Saturday to attend the full-day event termed the "first annual party of the 30th Masonic District in honor of the Most Worshipful Grand Master."

The Grand Master of the Texas lodge is Paul Turney, Sonora.

Local Masons declare that the local lodges have not had a visit from the grand master in more than 35 years. They are hopeful that as many as 1,500 Masons and their wives from all parts of the state will gather here for the annual party in Turney's honor.

Personal invitations to 166 individual lodges in the general West Texas area have been dispatched and general invitations extended to every Masonic lodge in the state.

Indications are that many lodges will send delegations, according to Dr. T. C. Tinkham, worshipful master of Big Spring Lodge 1340.

"We have word from a number of lodges," he said Friday, "that they are sending representatives to our party. We believe that every lodge in this part of the state and that many others all over Texas will want to have some representation here to pay honor to Grand Master Turney."

An elaborate program has been worked out to fill the day.

All activities for the day will be centered at the Howard County Junior College where ample facilities for the large number can be provided. Special activities for the wives of Masons who accompany their husbands here have been planned.

Laura B. Hart Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star is working hand in hand with Lodge No. 1340 in preparing for the visit of fellow members.

Activities actually begin at 1 p. m. Saturday. Masons will register at the Howard County Junior College Auditorium. The same registration center is set up for the wives of visitors. Registration will be started early Saturday and be closed as soon after 1 p. m. as possible.

At 1:30 p. m. the visitors will be taken on a guided tour of the college. Later they will go to Cosden Refinery for an opportunity to inspect that installation. The tours will begin at the auditorium.

A big event at 5 p. m. will be a mammoth barbecue dinner. This is to be served at the football stadium. Local Masons are making plans for a great abundance of barbecue and all trimmings for this phase of the program. Masons and their wives will be taken to the stadium after the tours of the college and refinery for the dinner.

At 9:30 p. m., the wives will go to the College Auditorium where a program of entertainment has been arranged. Lt. Charles Webb will provide organ solos. Mrs. Don Newsom and Lt. Harvey Dice will provide vocal selections. A book review by Mrs. Clyde Angel will close the program.

In the meantime, the Masons will assemble at the College Gymnasium. At 7:30 p. m. the lodge will be called to order. G. W. Dabney, mayor of Big Spring, will officially extend the town's welcome to the visitors.

Big Spring Lodge will then present a special play for the occasion. This play is titled "A Rose Upon the Altar" and is presented in two acts.

The cast includes George Bass, Gordon Hughes, J. E. Felts, J. C. Douglass Jr., Dr. T. C. Tinkham, H. L. Morris, M. K. Moelling, W. O'Neal, E. A. Fiveash, William L. Lane, J. C. Eudy, R. B. Covington, D. J. Moelling, Verlin Knouse and M. B. Horne. Horne is the director of the play, written by Carl H. Claudy.

O. G. Hughes, Big Spring, who is deputy district grand master of the 80th Masonic District, will then introduce Turney.

Turney will deliver his formal address as worshipful grand master of the Masonic Lodges of Texas.

Other guests will be presented. It is anticipated that several grand lodge officers in addition to the grand master will be in attendance.

Most of the delegations, it was said, will leave for their homes immediately on adjournment. However, for those who desire to spend the night, the Big Spring lodge is making housing arrangements.

Dr. Tinkham, speaking for the lodge here, expressed appreciation to the many agencies and individuals who have cooperated with the Masons in their preparations for the first annual party.

Beautiful Lawn By Reseeding, Fertilizing

Your lawn and yard is the entrance hall to your property. It should create a warm and pleasing impression for your visitors. By following a few simple rules, your brownish-green yard can be transformed into an attractive green lawn.

The first step in starting a new lawn is to choose a grass seed suited to your soil, sun or shade conditions, and climate. A few minutes' talk with your nurseryman or hardware dealer will give you all the aid you need for your selection.

Spade the ground to a depth of at least six inches, breaking up the dirt clods. A good humus, such as peat moss, should be mixed in. Plant food should be applied next. Two pounds of lime and four pounds of plant food should be applied to each 100 square feet of lawn. This mixture should be worked in the soil with a rake.

Next, seed your lawn carefully. Usually one pound of grass seed is used per 200 square feet of lawn. Sow the seed in one direction first and then in the other for even distribution. Cover the seed with a light coat of soil about one-eighth of an inch deep. Then use a board or roller to press the soil.

Frequent watering is essential during the first few weeks. A sprinkler is most effective, especially when the grass is young.

Once the grass begins to grow, cutting should be carefully considered. For the first cuttings the mower blades should be as high as possible. Be sure the blades are sharp.

If your lawn is established but needs a little rejuvenating, you should rake it with a long-tooth rake to loosen the soil to a depth of an inch or more, then sow one pound of lawn seed to each 300 square feet of lawn, using more in the thinner areas. Use a short-tooth rake to cover it and then roll it or tramp it with a flat board and sprinkle lightly. Top it with fertilizer, four pounds to each 100 square feet.

Obie Went Down Swinging

There are some boxing matches whose outcome can be determined after a few rounds—when one of the combatants is badly mauled and bloodied while his opponent is still strong, fresh and equipped for the kill.

Even when the loser knows this, good sportsmanship dictates that he not give up, but at least go down swinging.

Rep. Obie Bristow, as an old sports participant, is pretty well indoctrinated in this philosophy.

For the past few weeks, he has been engaged in a legislative bout of wide state interest—the method of reorganizing the State Insurance Commission. Obie knew as well as anybody else in Texas that some corrective legislation is required and must be enacted. He just didn't see quite eye to eye with the administration forces on its methods of the "clean sweep."

Particularly, Obie felt that his fellow townsmen on the Insurance Commission, Mark Wentz, should have a voice raised in his defense. There is no item of record that Wentz has been involved in any of the insurance scandals, and his name has not appeared in any of the investigative procedure.

Obie felt that the spirit of fair-play ought to prompt a public expression of confidence in Commissioner Wentz. So, he let loose with a blast down at Austin this past week, a colorful speech that at least got his convictions in the record. He wasn't born yesterday and knew the decision was all but in, but he came out for the round.

There is room for disagreement with Obie's interpretation of the way to correct the insurance situation. One could question his tactics. But there is no ground to challenge Obie's sincerity of conviction, or his heart, which home folks know to be as open as a summer's full moon.

Obie was following his sportsman's instincts. And undoubtedly has garnered a great deal of respect from his colleagues in the House, from the people at large, and even from administration forces who felt for a time that Obie was a principal obstructionist—but respected none the less. He was due to lose the fight, but he went down swinging.

Our Challenge For Youth Development

A revival of interest is noted over the state in developing formal organization for youth betterment. The state will have a new statute setting up a Youth Council to study this problem. Dallas is one of the major cities looking to the formation of a municipal board for similar purpose.

Many towns have organized the "Youth Centers." At times, sentiment has well-ed up in Big Spring for this type of approach to the youth subject.

Well, we have a Youth Center, and we have the governing board that can function as a Youth Council. It's our YMCA.

Big Spring's history could record few organizations which have developed so solidly in creating and operating wholesome programs for youth. The YMCA is doing a splendid job.

It could be such a vastly better one with the provision of adequate new facilities that it would seem one of the greatest challenges before this community is to proceed with financing the new building.

A sound start has been made on this, with the city participating, and a few generous people creating a "nest-egg" for the new building fund. This fund is open to contributions—now. People who are considering ways and means where they can give this community one of the greatest gifts possible, for solidifying future citizenship, would do well to examine the need of the YMCA. The need exists now.

Tasks Ahead For Ike And His Party

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has a big job to do right away as the leader of the Republican party in the nation. There are some fundamental truths in politics that are inescapable — and they apply to the Republican party as a whole as well as they do to the President. They may be outlined as follows:

1. The Republican presidential nomination in 1960 will not be worth much to any Republican if the record of the Eisenhower administration cannot be supported by Republicans generally. If the administration proves to be a success, all Republican candidates will want to ride on its coattails.

2. Differences of opinion between a President and members of his party in Congress should be thrashed out at the White House in a series of conferences with plenty of copies of the 1956 platform handy for reference. It was unanimously adopted only ten months ago. There are ways that Republicans can express their differences on particular issues without deserting their party leadership.

3. No political party which produces a division during its incumbency wins the subsequent election. The Republican party today, for example, hasn't enough votes to spare in the pivotal states, so it cannot afford the luxury of feuding within its own ranks.

4. The Republican party needs to mobilize all its energies to meet the challenge of the radical Democrats who would stifle the system of free enterprise. Most of the Southern states will vote Democratic anyhow in 1958, but the election of more radicals from the North will lessen the strength and influence of the conservative Democrats in Congress. The crucial battle is in the North and West.

5. The Republicans, inside and outside Congress, have not organized their defense of their defense to date. They have allowed six months to go by since the November election without unifying their forces and without meeting the day-in-day-out sniping by the radical Democrats and their allies in the press. In fact, too many Republicans, instead of being spokesmen for the defendant, have joined the prosecution.

6. Every incumbent administration is on the defensive because it has the responsibility of taking action each day, whereas its opponents need not say what they would do — they merely attack what is being done. The late FDR was one of the few Presidents who recognized that as party leader he should never let down on the attack. His "fireside chats" on the radio kept going throughout his tenure in office the fight against his political opponents and sustained the morale of his own party workers. Mr. Eisenhower has both television and radio available. He doesn't use them enough between campaigns.

7. Every administration has troubles with its own members in Congress. There are always patronage difficulties and difficulties and failures to consult senators and representatives about matters vital to them, especially appointments. A presidential staff that neglects its homework on politics can wreck a party's chances just as fast as can those members of Congress who attack a President of their own party and stir up dissension publicly.

8. The "strategists" who inspired the President and members of his entourage to publicize the "modern Republican" concept played into the hands of the common foe — the radical Democrats. For when the White House says, in effect, that the Republican party needs "modernizing" without applying the same term to the Democrats, it gives the Democrats the chance to label the Republicans as outmoded and obsolete.

9. The Republicans, both in Congress and in the executive branch, have been clumsy in handling the controversy over the budget. Instead of fixing the blame on rising costs — the inflation which their opponents fostered in their 20 years of rule — the Republicans unwittingly give the impression that the enlarged budget is due to frills desired by the administration.

10. The President is a harmonizer by nature. What his administration needs is an "Eisenhower doctrine" for domestic problems. It needs Republican allies on Capitol Hill as against its political foes. This means more conferences on party strategy to help members of Congress to win elections, but it also means a better system of communicating the facts to the people about how the administration is trying to meet the challenges of the times.

11. All this reveals the importance of an announcement now that Mr. Eisenhower will take the stump for his party in both the 1958 and 1960 campaigns. He is the elected leader of his party, and the fact that he isn't to be a candidate himself for re-election should strengthen his position in the country. What he says will be believed because he comes before the people as a man without political ambition and as a disinterested exponent of the maximum good for the maximum number. He is still the Republican party's biggest asset.

Here's A Defender For The Value Of Today's Dollar

Now is the time for somebody to become the Public Defender for the miserably maligned American dollar.

This is one of the world's precious possessions; the currency for which Frenchmen willingly part with francs at a discount; the currency Englishmen, Hollanders, Scandinavians, South Americans, yes, and come to think of it, even scornful, critical Americans strive mightily for.

Yet, members of the Economist's National Committee on Monetary Policy, officials of the National Association of Manufacturers, commentators, politicians, and, well, almost anybody, call it a debased currency, a 50-cent dollar, a piece of paper on the verge of going the way of the French assignat in the 1790's, or the German mark after the first World War.

Don't believe it! Statistical evidence of the dollar's decay is easily gathered—even by the nonstatistician. The Consumer Price Index, a measure of the eminently respected Bureau of Labor Statistics hit 118.9 in March—highest level in its history. In prewar 1939, it was only 59.4. So the price of a BLS package of food, clothing, rent, transportation, utilities, recreation has gone up 100 per cent. Conversely, the U. S. dollar will buy only half that 1939 package of living. Hence the "50-cent dollar." But do we want to buy that?

At a convocation commemorating the 75th anniversary of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, William McCuskey Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, made this astute comment: "There would be little gain in convenience, comfort, or luxury for Louis XIV, or Charles II, or for Antony and Cleopatra, in living today. Our mass production and distribution system would not do much for them."

Cleopatra had slaves to attend her every whim, even to serving her an asp. The finest dancing girls of the time came to her palace. She needed no TV for home entertainment. Servants held lighted lamps wherever she went. She had no pre-cooked foods, but the best cooks were hers to command. Cushioned chariots bore her from here to there and back again.

Modern life offers to many what Cleopatra had. Today, the middle-class family has as much light as Cleopatra with her slaves, or the rich man of Colonial days who had servants to light his tapers. The family in a low-priced Rambler can get caught speeding as easily as the wealthy man in his Continental or Cadillac.

The servantless household today has a store-bought, oven-ready, package of living. It can't capture social alterations in our way of life. Increasingly today, government does for people what, individually, they can't do for themselves. Federal, state, and local government spending is greater than ever. And because our economy has grown, percentage-wise the outlay is less than in 1953 and 1954 (see chart).

We have more and better roads, hospitals, schools, parks, universities, public buildings, lighting, motoring, and an easier, better way of life than in '39. Yet such improvements the "50-cent dollar" pre-cooked dinner for the unexpected guest. Thus have time and man wrought change—change to which the brass, popularized, ultra-abbreviated "50-cent dollar" is indelicately inoperative.

We've kissed the iceman goodbye, thanks to the electric refrigerator. The washing machine has displaced the female forearm on the washboard. In most states, our schools—in spite of all the talk of juvenile delinquency—are infinitely improved, and so are the youngsters. President Eisenhower's program for federal aid to education acknowledges that all American children are entitled to modern schooling.

Unfortunately, the BLS index can't measure these changes in ignores, even as it ignores the TV revolution.

The other day the Robinson-Fullmer prize fight was brought into millions of living rooms. As recently as ten years ago, only a few light fans would have seen it. Baseball, football, parades, great plays—all "come" to the consumer. Yet the value of seeing a distant festival or the Presidential inauguration never intrudes upon the BLS index.

This 1957 dollar gets us central heat instead of coal stoves in the living room, refrigeration instead of the iceman, automatic transmission instead of the horse and buggy (for the comparative few who had horses and buggies), easier housework, improved health and schooling and a discernibly different standard of living.

The BLS index measures prices. It doesn't measure values you and I would never give up. So, the "50-cent dollar" is a half truth. It's half a 1939 dollar with such high plus-plus values that the whole world, including Russia, wants it. So why should we belittle the dollar?

Doctor Likes Hunting With Bow And Arrow

BEAUMONT (AP) — Dr. Albert Love, chief of staff of the Newton County Memorial Hospital, likes to hunt with a bow and arrow.

He had many exciting experiences. Once he was treed by a pack of snarling javelinas in South Texas.

The wild boys were on him before he had time to get an arrow on his bow and he was forced to climb a tree where he waited until the javelinas became hungry and wandered off.

Love has stalked and bagged fox, rattlesnakes, rabbits and fish.

For years this versatile man has divided his life between profession, family and the bow and arrow. He has designed, patented and marketed leather archers' gloves, written and published a book on archery, and has won several championships, including the Texas state field championship in 1951 and 1953 and also the Texas state target championship in 1952.

He recently was presented with a coveted small game award by the National Field Archery Assn. of Redlands, Calif.

Around The Rim

And Who Will Be The First Customer?

Fellow with a column ought not to stay on the same subject all the time. Gets monotonous.

But some things you can't help. The business of trying to get a yard to straighten up and grow right is no longer a pre-occupation, it's getting to be an obsession. Because of the challenge, I suppose. Or because of sneering remarks made by assorted friends and neighbors, who point out that my lawn has brown splotches in it, or that the shrubs aren't flourishing as they should, or that there is a much better way to trim the edges of the grass.

I have tried to meet this problem courageously. I have asked myself if all this concern over a patch of greenery is because (a) I need exercise, (b) I want to satisfy any esthetic sense that might be remaining, or (c) I want to keep up with the Joneses.

Well, exercise is not necessarily appealing, and I have always had a strong tendency to be like the fellow who said the only exercise he ever took was in carrying his exercising friends' caskets. The esthetic business can be passed over lightly, because one may find beauty in the sky, and in the native mesquite and cedar bushes without having to depend upon Bermuda. And as far as the Joneses are concerned, they may be having trouble with their yard, too.

So, the temptation at this particular season of the year is to give up the whole project.

A mood like this is encouraged by a fellow who wrote a letter on the yard situation couple of weeks ago. His letter wasn't signed, so I couldn't give it the full treatment, but he at least had an interesting idea worth passing along.

He found out that a layer of salt under the earth's surface would call a halt to grass growing. Seems the baseball people planned on trying this to keep down grass and weeds where such things aren't wanted. This was news to my correspondent, which indicates he probably is no native West Texan, else he would have observed alkali flats throughout the realm, where growth no green thing.

Anyway, the anonymous friend, who has an apparent aversion to lawn mowers, is taken up with the spread-salt idea. "In-agine," he writes, "the cost and effort that could be spared in a no-weeding, no-sodding, no-fertilizing, no-watering yard situation. On top of that, a grassless surface is much better for marbles, baseball and croquet. Am hoposchich?"

He sees, therefore, a demand for grassless and weedless yards, and advises that he is seriously considering establishing a yard de-grassing service.

It would be called "Wall's Salt-of-the-Earth Yard Plan," and would feature the slogan: "Your lawn's real gone with salt from Wall."

Wall, or whoever, has asked my advice on this projected enterprise. This I am happy to give.

The advocates of concrete-painted-green are going to hate you, Wall, as are the purveyors of seeds, fertilizer and tools, not to mention the waterworks interests.

But, Wall, I am simply a fiend for hoposchich, and if you've got the salt, I've got the advertising, and together we'll make our fortune. Just let me have your name.

Opposing Ideas In Tunisia And Egypt

From Tunisia, which has been celebrating the first anniversary of its national independence, one could see the crisis in Jordan in an interesting and revealing perspective. Here, more clearly perhaps than anywhere else in the Arab world, there exists the will to work out the national future without enmity towards, indeed by accommodation with, Western Europe and the United States. Under Habib Bourguiba, and his party which is called the Neo-Destour, the Tunisian nation is turned away from the road on which Nasser is attempting to take all the Arab peoples. If there is an alternative to the revolutionary movement which precipitated the crisis in Jordan, it is the kind of progressive nationalism, energetic but not fanatical, which the liberators of Tunisia represent.

The critical and dramatic question is whether the future of the community of Arab peoples lies with Nasser or with men like Bourguiba, with the super-nationalists and the revolutionaries working out of Cairo, or with the nationalists and the reformers in the various countries. The answer to that question depends only in some measure on what the United States will contribute to the development of Tunisia. In much greater measure the answer depends on how farsighted and generous is the French policy. In the final reckoning the answer may be determined by what happens next door in Algeria.

Of one general conclusion we can be certain. It is that foreign intervention, be it Soviet, French, British or American, is secondary to the internal conflict within the Arab countries. In all of them, though in differing degree, the issue is raised by two great conflicting tendencies. The one, as exemplified by Bourguiba, is to maintain the existing political and social order of the national liberators, and in some degree to reform and improve it. The other tendency, which is propelled from Cairo, is revolutionary. It aims not only at the overthrow of the existing political order, as was attempted recently in Jordan, but also at the creation of a revolutionary imperialism which would make Nasser in Cairo the master of the Arab world.

In Tunisia the progressive nationalism of Bourguiba provides a genuine and promising alternative to the revolutionary movement which Nasser is leading. Where there is no such alternative, as for example in Jordan itself, there is not much left to do except to suppress the revolutionary forces by martial law, and to sit as long as possible on the lid of the cauldron.

Both the Soviet Union and the United States are involved in the conflict between the revolutionary forces and the established order. Our policy is to support the established order against the revolutionary movements. Wherever we can, we encourage the existing rulers to be progressive and benevolent and to try to raise the standard of life among their people.

The Soviets, on the other hand, support the revolutionary forces wherever a condition whenever they can do so without committing themselves to military action or even to large financial contributions. They support Nasser's revolution not because he is a communist. They support it because if Nasser succeeds, he will ruin irretrievably the Western European and American position in the whole Middle East.

But if nothing has come from Moscow which suggests that negotiations and arrangements are possible, nothing has come from the President and Mr. Dulles which suggests that they have any thought of negotiation and an accommodation which would recognize the indubitable national interest of Russia in the Middle East. Nothing has come from them which suggests that they have anything more constructive in mind than a policy of unconditional surrender.

I think well of what I understand we have done in Jordan. But martial law under a little king is not a durable order of things. We must look ahead, and our position for the long pull will be stronger, so it seems to me, if we make it known that the issues in the Middle East — about the canal, the oil, the bases — are not irreconcilable, and that we do not exclude absolutely and forever an accommodation with the national interest of Russia.

Norman Vincent Peale

A Prescription For Anxiety

At a luncheon recently I was sitting next to a well-known businessman. This man is big, sort of pompous and loud spoken. You wouldn't think he had ever been afraid of anything. But people sometimes reveal their innermost souls.

As we sat there he told me an interesting story. It was about a young boy in bed in a farmhouse on a dark and stormy night long ago. The winds were sighing around the old house and suddenly a clap of thunder awakened the lad. There was more rolling thunder; then lightning tore the heavens and seemed to just miss the house. Rain hurled against the window panes and ran down in streaming rivulets.

And, all of a sudden, there welled up in this boy all those old, primeval, deep fears of the dark and the forces of nature. He leaped from bed, ran into his mother's room and fell to his knees beside her bed, crying out in fear, "Mother, mother!"

A soft hand reached out to pat his head, and a warm arm went around his neck, and a loving, reassuring voice said softly, "Don't be afraid, honey. Mommy's here. There's nothing to be afraid of. God is watching over us." Then she took him back to his bed, pulled the covers up around his neck and sat by his side stroking his cheek until he was asleep once more.

"I was that boy," the executive told me, "and I had forgotten that incident until just recently. I've been having some hard going and don't seem up to facing the decisions which I've been troubled. They're tough ones, involving the futures of a lot of people, and I'm afraid I'm getting a little older. I'm in my fifties, you know."

"Well," he continued, "a short time ago I awoke in the middle of the night at our country home. There was a violent storm, with thunder, lightning and heavy rain. All of a sudden, I felt just as I had on that same kind of night years ago. That old fear crept up inside me and I actually had a strong desire to rush to my mother, to feel her arms around me, and have her comfort me so that I would know everything's going to be all right. But, of course, she's long since gone from this earth. Isn't it strange," he added, "how every now and then you want your mother?"

"Then," he went on, "I remembered what my mother had said that night long ago: 'There's nothing to be afraid of. God is watching over us.' Dr. Peale," he said with an earnestness that touched me deeply, "I want you to know that, at that very moment, I actually felt God's presence and lost my fears."

I looked at his face and it was like a small boy's; it was pathetic, yet it was inspiring. Just then, some other people came up to talk to us. He changed instantly and was his bluff, rather rough self once more.

But, you see, I know him now and I always will. And it's all right. A man has to be a man. He can't remain a boy, even though something inside of him always wants to. The fundamental conflict of our human nature is how to master this weak, fearful, limorous child inside us and become the strong, mature adult God meant us to be.

It is this inner conflict that causes anxiety, and which may remain with us from cradle to grave, unless we get the answer to it.

That mother's consoling reassurance to her son is a good prescription for anxiety. There's nothing to be afraid of. God is watching over us.

Fire Chief Joins Clean-Up Plea

Fire proof your home with cleanliness in 1957, Fire Chief H. V. Crocker urged Saturday as Big Spring's Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up campaign prepared to open.

"Extra good housekeeping plus following certain safety hints will reduce fire's chances of striking home and family," Crocker said. He suggested these protective measures:

Keep leaves and dried grass away from building foundations. Give particular attention to clearing out attic and basement, garage and closets of old clothing, on and can be quickly extinguished.

You guard your safety and eventually reduce your fire insurance rates when you actively and completely support the Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up program, the fire chief added.

Insurance rates are dependent on the number of times a certain event occurs. The more fires, the more money paid out and the greater risk undertaken when fire insurance is granted; the fewer fires, the lower the rates.

"Firemen have a saying, 'A Clean House Seldom Burns.' Safety-wise and financially, the thinking man will clean, paint and repair," Crocker concluded.

Furniture, piles of newspapers and magazines.

Never keep flammable liquids such as gasoline in the house. Oily rags should be thrown away or closed in metal containers. Oily mops should be hung up with plenty of air circulating around them, preferably outside.

Check and clean heating plant. Dust fixtures and lights. Replace frayed electrical cords. Have an electrician check wiring to determine adequacy.

With trash, flammable liquids and oily rags cleared out, spontaneous ignition is practically eliminated, the chief explained. In addition, should fire start from an uncontrollable source, it will not have the ready fuel of papers, rags, old mattresses, etc., to feed

Time-Payment Plans Boost Improvements

Lack of cash no longer means a delay in home modernization and redecorating plans, thanks to the various loan and time payment plans now available.

The simplest form of time payment program is a budget account which some paint, lumber dealers supply and which is an aid to the "Do-It-Yourself" advocate. This is a straight charge account where customers pay a certain amount each month on their purchases.

Revolving credit is also available in the dealer supply business. In this form, a credit limit is established and customers agree to pay a certain amount each month. They may continue to buy up to the limit of the established credit.

F.H.A. Title 1 loans are made through banks and savings and loan companies or associations. Under the new law, F.H.A. insured loans are available up to $3,500 and may be made for periods up to five years. The charge is five per cent in amounts up to $2,500 and four per cent in excess of that amount.

Only alterations, repairs and additions that become a permanent part of the house and substantially protect or improve basic livability or utility are permissible. On the approved list are enlargements, flooring, porches, roofing, plumbing, wiring, painting, plastering, heating systems, fences, driveways, septic tanks, insulation.

Banks and building and loan associations make home improvement loans to consumers. The agent supplying the credit arranges the loan and handles the payment. Not as limiting as Title One either in the loan amount or type of project undertaken, the interest rates are somewhat higher.

Maintaining Home Is Year-Round Job

Maintaining a home in prime condition is an investment in the future. While your house will be gleaming at the end of our Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up campaign, you must keep a year-round vigil if your home is to retain its sparkle.

Choose a date each month to check the spots which are most likely to show wear and tear. Careful attention should be paid to windows at all times. If putty is loose or has already fallen out, replace it at once.

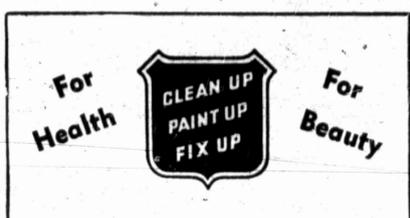

Next, look over your furniture. If light scratches have collected, they may be removed by rubbing them over with boiled linseed oil, turpentine and white vinegar combined in equal proportions.

Linoleum quite often becomes torn or broken at the edges. Such breaks are not only dangerous but will scuff beyond repair unless the cracks are immediately sealed. Furthermore, any water that may find its way into such crevices will cause rot. A satisfactory method of repair is to melt some sealing wax of a color to match the linoleum. Run this carefully into the break and smooth it flat before it cools.

If a fragment of linoleum is broken away, cut a piece of cloth larger than the break, cover it with glue and slip it underneath. Insert the fragment in place and weight it down until the glue dries.

applied. Another spot to watch for re-painting is door hinges. Recoat when necessary. All of these "stitches-in-time" are odd jobs which require only a short time if done when the need arises. In this way you'll not only save yourself large repair jobs, but large repair bills as well.

If your linoleum is badly worn in spots — or if you wish to change its coloring — this is not at all difficult. A base coat of floor enamel dries quickly and is easily

How To Help With Trash Collection

1. The city is requesting that all trash material to be disposed of be piled out before special pick-up trucks start their runs. Since such a large area is to be covered, it will be impossible for trucks to go back over routes to be covered.
2. No restrictions are placed on type of materials to be picked up, so long as it is placed adjacent to the location where garbage is usually picked up. The trash may be in barrels, boxes or stacks so long as it is accessible.

Other student officers are Stephen Baird, first vice president; Valjean LaCroix, second vice president; Sammie Sue McComb, corresponding secretary; and Brenda Gordon, recording secretary.

Seniors will name three council representatives, and juniors and sophomores will choose two each.

Girl Couldn't Live Without 'Jimmy'

MENTON, France (U-P)—Clairette Pinacon, 14, threw herself into the Mediterranean naked last night. A locket containing a picture of deceased American movie star James Dean hung around her neck.

Beside her clothes on Menton Beach police found this note to her parents: "He is my idol. He is dead. I must die, too."

Fishermen pulled her out of the sea and brought her ashore. Hospital authorities said she probably would be sent home today.

CLEAN-UP Sanitarian Cites Health Factors

By LIGE FOX
City-County Sanitarian

The storage and disposal of garbage and other waste is certainly a factor in the cleanliness and appearance of a community.

Proper control of this material is important in a clean-up campaign, and at all times. But, more important are the health factors involved in a rigid control program for all garbage and other organic wastes from our homes and business places.

These substances should be so handled as to prevent odors and nuisance conditions. Piles and mounds of garbage, live and dead animals, and other wastes, thereby spreading disease organisms throughout our community.

This is the prime reason for our city garbage ordinance requirements as follows:

Section 5: Every owner, occupant, or lessee shall provide garbage cans for all garbage and trash of not less than 10 nor more than 30 gallon capacity constructed of galvanized metal with a tight fitting lid, and with handles strong enough for workmen to empty conveniently.

Section 7: The lids of all containers shall at all times be kept secure and fastened so that flies and other insects may not have access to the contents thereof.

This ordinance does not permit the use of cardboard cartons, boxes, tubs, barrels, or any other type containers except regulation garbage cans. The requirements are for the protection of health through the elimination of nuisance conditions; and the prevention of disease.

Our public health is controlled by the type of sanitation practiced in the community. The storage, control and disposal of our garbage is a true index to the beauty, sanitation and health of our City. Open containers and scattered garbage are not only unsightly but also unhealthy.

Most Of Tornadoes, Floods Strike During Spring Months

Arrival of May and what might be regarded as a reasonable assurance of placid spring weather does not mean that the period of tornadoes in this part of the nation is ended, according to Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, Red Cross chapter secretary.

The national headquarters of the American Red Cross has released a study on tornado and weather catastrophe incidents covering a four-year period, she said, and the statistics show that in the spring, 97 per cent of all tornado operations occur. In the same season, 71 per cent of the floods struck and 62 per cent of other catastrophes inflicted by the elements.

spite the turbulent weather conditions which have prevailed. There have been no floods — indeed, the volume of rain which has fallen in this immediate vicinity, has lacked sufficient force to create a flood hazard.

However, the Red Cross warns, the simple statement that no tornadoes have struck is not a guarantee of protection from the destroyers in the future. There are still two dangerous months ahead, the Red Cross reiterated — May and June — before the danger has completely passed.

families who were given assistance in restoring their way of life.

As might be understood, tornadoes — those weird twisting storms which lash with unpredictable ferocity at so many communities — were the big destroyers. They took 792 lives, hurt 3,000 persons, destroyed more than 3,000 homes. In addition to this toll, 4,900 more homes were damaged so badly they had to have immediate and often extensive repair.

The Red Cross spent $5,650,000 in its efforts to cope with the damages these tornadoes inflicted. It provided care for 71,000 persons and arranged rehabilitation assistance to 7,640 families.

FROM MARCH TO JUNE

The records show that the interval when these many disaster disasters hit ran from March through June. This means, the Red Cross pointed out, that there are two full months ahead in which possibility of tornado, flood and other weather troubles are still much in evidence.

Mrs. Sawtelle pointed out that the Red Cross spent an average of $2,500,000 a year from 1952 through 1955, for relief of victims left in desperate circumstances during the four spring months. It has required $10,000,000 to help storm, flood and tornado victims out of their plight during the four years. And, as statistics reveal, the heavy relief demand has been in the months March through June.

No tornadoes have struck in this county so far this spring de-

WIDE-SPREAD SUFFERING

In the four spring seasons from 1952 through 1955, a total of 117,000 families were affected by spring disasters. These disasters occurred in 41 of the 48 states and in Alaska. Death toll for the four springs was 896. There were some 3,600 persons injured.

In all, the Red Cross was called upon to lend aid in 312 weather-caused disasters. Emergency mass care was provided for 225,000 persons. There were 24,000

THIS IS DANGER ZONE

The hardest hit area of the nation in the matter of weather disasters is — as can be easily understood from reports published in the newspapers — the Midwest. Fifty-six per cent of all spring disasters fall in this part of the country as compared with 25 per cent in the Southeast and 16 per cent in the East. Only 3 per cent of spring disasters are credited to the West.

There are two morals to be considered.

One — though May blossoms may be on every hand and balmy days abound, there are still potentially dangerous intervals when disaster from the weather can strike this part of the country.

Two — The burden of providing for relief in the increasing number of disasters, mostly of weather origin — makes contributions to the Red Cross increasingly urgent and important.

LIFE WITH MUSIC

Rock-n-Roll Not Popular With All

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS
Edmund Leites, a Yale University freshman, and Robert Cenedella, an undergraduate at the New York Art Students League, really started something when they proposed an "I Like Ludwig" Club as a reaction to Elvis and his ilk. The idea was for club members to wear a lapel button with a picture of Beethoven, just to prove that many music students throughout the country prefer music other than rock 'n' roll.

help to prove the point. And for two years past, the painstakingly accurate Associated Press has carried news stories stating that more money was spent each year for attendance at concert events than for admissions to professional baseball games.

Yes, lots of people like Ludwig! Doubtless including some who like Elvis, too.

TO SHARE PODIUM

Charles Munch, music director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will share his podium with Pierre Monteux and Carl Schuricht during the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, July 3 to Aug. 11. Besides the standard classics, there will be various contemporary works by Piston, Copland, Hindemith, Svirinsky, Barber, Blacher, Honeger and Egk.

Having finished the first act of his new Broadway musical, "Rocket Summer," Leonard Rosenman will score "Lafayette Escadrille" for Warners' before proceeding to the second act one of the youngest (at 21) to try a major film background. Incidentally, he's the son of Gaston Glass, who acted in "Humoresque" and other films of the silent era.

Publicity in several Eastern news columns and on television quickly helped to spread the concept and now, although it is only a few weeks old, chapters have been formed in over 100 schools, and headquarters at 910 Riverside Drive, New York 32, have been besieged by requests for buttons.

Five songs from the original Broadway show of "Pal Joey" and four new Rodgers and Hart tunes will be used in the picturized version by Columbia. There will be an in-room for auditors at the Ojai Festival, May 24 - 26, as a new bandshell will enable three of the five events to be held outdoors.

Radio Week Brings Tribute To Service

The unique services performed by radio are being stressed with the observance this week of National Radio Week. Government officials, civic leaders, and trade and fraternal organizations throughout the country are joining in tributes to the radio industry for services performed, the availability in time of emergency, the contribution to information and entertainment.

Whereas the radio broadcasting industry has consistently devoted itself to the enrichment of our lives by making available to all Americans vast sources of information for education and entertainment, and Whereas radio stations in our own community have taken a very active role in community life, displaying willingness to assist in the promotion of civic projects and to place facilities at public disposal in times of crisis.

Eyes On Italy

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway often makes transatlantic swaps of hit shows with Paris and London, rarely imports the Roman variety of theatrical entertainment. Now "Good Night, Bettina," a musical playing in the Italian capital since January has been signed as a prospective import.

George C. McConaughy, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, in joining in a salute to radio, pointed out the ever-increasing number of broadcasting stations and the steady gain in purchase of radio sets as evidence of the industry's importance in service to the American people.

Sticks To Comedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Evans is sticking to comedy for his third straight Broadway outing as a producer. He has optioned "The Murriner Method," which concerns society hi-jinks in 1908 New England for unveiling next fall. Both Evans' previous managerial enterprises were box office smash hits — the still running "No Time for Sergeants" and "The Teahouse of the August Moon."

Therefore as mayor of the city of Big Spring, I do hereby proclaim that our community will observe May 5-11 as National Radio Week and call upon all citizens to take note of the achievements of the radio broadcasting industry and to salute the men and women associated with it.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

COUNTERFEITING IN COLONIAL AMERICA by Kenneth Scott, Oxford University Press. Ever hear of Frelove Lockport, Ann Lockwood or Mary Peck Butterworth? Or of Owen Sullivan and the Dover Money Club? Probably not.

enough that you can get hold of copies. I have read "The FBI Story"—all the remainder are just titles to me. I may get around to one or two of them sometime but when I do it probably will have no bearing at all whether they are on the best seller list or have merely become another book on the shelf.

Neither had I until I opened a release from Oxford University Press announcing a new book to be published soon. The book is titled "Counterfeiting in Colonial America" and the persons named above, as well as others, are prominent in its pages. They were kings of the bogus money racket in the days when this country was very, very young.

Initial counterfeiting troubles, I read from the release, developed when the Indians dyed the white beads of the lower-valued wampum—which the colonials used as a medium of exchange—to a darker shade. Seems the darker the beads, the more value the wampum.

Later on, when coining was set in operation, a lot of smart cookies engaged in what was a forerunner of the current "do it yourself" fad. They started making their own money. This caused the colonial governments no end of grief and made things pretty bad for everyone concerned except the counterfeiters. According to this release, some of the fake cash producers made a full-time career of the work; others worked at it part-time. It offered the early day colonials with a bent for the business a nice hobby which, if you didn't get caught, was also quite profitable.

This new book is illustrated, I am told, with examples of counterfeit currency of the period and with contemporary engravings. It also recites the penalties the colonial governments adopted in their efforts to discourage the practice.

There is a section in the new book which tells how the wily British government, aided and abetted by the Tories helped make things tough for the Revolutionary fathers by flooding the country with spurious colonial currency, during the War of Independence.

From the release, I'd say this would be a right interesting book to read. If you are one of those folk who feel that you're all out of touch if you haven't read the best-sellers, it is probably consoling to you to note how slowly that list has changed in recent months.

In the non-fiction group, for instance, "The FBI Story" is still on top just as it has been for weeks and weeks and weeks. Don Whitehead, the author, must be all worn out from counting his royalty dollars.

And the other names in this list are also familiar with one exception. "The Nun's Story," by Kathryn Hulme "This Hallowed Ground" by Bruce Catton, and "Men to Match My Mountains" by Irving Stone have been on the list for a long long time. A newcomer—at least to me—is a volume called "Investor's Road Map" by Alice B. Morgan.

Evidently all of the arthritis victims who were forming long lines to get copies of a book on that disease which was on the list for a long time a few months ago have now recovered and are busy finding out how to make profitable investments.

Daphne DuMaurier's "The Scorpion" is still top favorite in the fiction field. Grace Metalious' "Peyton Place" (now being cooked up into a movie) I understand, is in second spot. Frances Parkinson Keyes' "Blue Camellia"; "Compulsion" by Meyer Levin and "The Philadelphia" by Richard Powell complete the list.

So you folk who simply have to read all the best-sellers—if you haven't got around to these yet, you still have plenty of time. They've been around so long now that surely the demand for the library editions has diminished

Sex Appeal

Cleo Moore serves up the sex appeal in the Hugo Haas production, "Hit and Run," showing Sunday through Tuesday at the State Theatre. Miss Moore, in the plot, is caught on the sharp corner of a triangle involving her husband and his best friend—a situation that leads to murder.

U. S. 'Discovering' Mexican Comedian

MEXICO CITY, May 4 (AP) — English-speaking movie fans are "discovering" a comic already so popular in Latin America he is possibly the world's highest paid actor.

Cantinflas is often compared with Charlie Chaplin. Many claim his beguiling panomime stole the show in "Around the World in 80 Days."

His hit in the Mike Todd movie settled his doubts about American audiences not appreciating his style of comedy although his 20 Spanish pictures were smashing successes.

Now he plans more pictures for fans north of the border. He is considering the role of Sancho Panza in "Don Quixote," also for Todd. With American writers he is working on a plot for one of several films in English he intends to make at the Posa Films Studio, a company in which he owns a substantial interest.

Cantinflas writes most of his own plots. The story of his life, though, is too rags-to-riches story-book stuff to be usable. He was born Mario Moreno in Mexico City's slums and raised amid the smell of frying fat and frijoles and tortillas.

Today as Cantinflas—a name he invented to keep his parents from knowing he was in show business in the early days—he is a demigod of Latin America, living in luxury, with Mexican stars battling for the privilege of appearing with him. He is probably a few years older than the 41 he claims to be. But his unlined face, dark hair untouched with gray, wiry 130 pounds packed firmly on his slim 5-foot-7 frame make him look 35.

The critics answered that they need that extra half hour in order to be able to see a complete show—usually about 2 1/2 hours—and still be able to get reviews written by newspaper press time.

Public Picks Portia STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The public has picked Portia in "The Merchant of Venice" for the second role Katharine Hepburn will perform during her tandem appearance at the American Shakespeare Festival.

John Houseman, artistic director, said that drama received 40 per cent more votes in an audience poll than any other on a list of five plays by Shakespeare.

Miss Hepburn previously was announced to appear in "Much Ado About Nothing," opposite Alfred Drake.

Dallas In For Good Week Of Theatre

By MARSHALL COMERER

Dallas is a-buzz with theater talk this first weekend in May. At the top of the list is the visit of the Metropolitan Opera Co. next weekend for its first stop on a tour of the Southwest. The Met will also visit Houston and Oklahoma City.

The Dallas engagement opens with "Il Traviatore" May 10. "La Boheme" is the May 11 matinee show and "La Traviata" will be heard that night.

The big event is the Sunday matinee performance May 12 of "La Perichole" with Patrice Munsel and Cyril Ritchard.

Charles Laughton, Burgess Meredith and Cornelia Otis Skinner headed a party of theatre folk who visited Dallas during the week to help start a fund-raising campaign for the new Dallas Theater Center. The ultramodern building was designed by Harold Lloyd Wright. It will house both professional and amateur playing groups.

The Margo Jones Theater '57 announced a departure from long established custom. The theater's directors voted to give Managing Director Ramsey Burch wide latitude in the selection of scripts.

The celebrated arena theater has presented only new plays or revivals of those at least 50 years old. It will now draw on outstanding modern plays and increase the number of guest actors appearing during a season.

The big "wolf" cry by the Dallas Symphony Orchestra does not appear to have stampeded customers into a buying spree of season tickets to next year's concerts. The orchestra's directors had asked patrons to buy 2,500 season tickets and to contribute $160,000 or warned that the orchestra would collapse. Thus far some 500 of the past season's 1,000 season's tickets have been renewed.

The Broadway people left Dallas to attend last Sunday's performance of Paul Baker's "Hamlet" at the Baylor Theater in Waco. Laughton and Meredith were in last year's "Hamlet" production.

The Baylor School of Music is presenting May 9-14 its performance of Verdi's opera "Otello." This is the fifth full-scale grand opera to be presented by the school.

Jay Dietzer, conductor of the Beaumont Symphony Orchestra since its founding in 1953, gave his farewell concert Tuesday night. He resigned several months ago and will go to Colorado this summer, where he will accept one of several offers.

Aquacades Shies At 13th Season

NEW YORK (AP) — One of New York's longest-running summer-time outdoor shows has decided not to try its luck with a 13th season.

Elliott Murphy said that declining receipts made him decide against a new edition of "Aquacades" this year at the Flushing Meadow Park, which was the site of New York's World's Fair in 1939.

New York's other big outdoor spectacular "Show Boat," will go on again however in the amphitheater at Jones Beach state park.

Trying Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Never say die is the slogan of Fred Finklehoffe, Mark Marvin and Reginald Denham.

Denham recently was director of a drama "Hide and Seek," produced by the other two. The press critics unanimously turned thumbs down and the play stopped seeking and went into hiding.

Finklehoffe and Marvin immediately announced production plans for next season—a play written by Denham and titled "The Obsidian Winds," all about violent deeds in Mexico. Denham will be the director.

Role For Price

NEW YORK (AP) — Gerald Price, a throaty baritone, is going back to the show in which he first won Broadway's attention—but in a different role.

Price appeared in a minor role in "The Threepenny Opera" when it began a fabulous run in 1954 in a Greenwich Village theater. Soon after he was tapped for the Broadway hit, "Fanny," and played in it two years.

"Fanny" has closed now but "The Threepenny Opera" is still running, and Price has been signed to take over the leading role of highwayman Macheath.

Business, Pleasure

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Stevens, Broadway's busiest show backer, recently visited his student daughter at Cambridge University but also kept his mind on theater. Visiting London he acquired rights to three West End shows for staging here next fall.

Story Of Lindbergh's Flight Told In 'Spirit Of St. Louis'

"The Spirit of St. Louis," a film dramatization of Charles A. Lindbergh's historic transatlantic flight, shows Sunday through Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. James Stewart stars as Lindbergh in the film, which was almost two years in the making.

The plot does not follow the life story of Lindbergh — it begins with Lindbergh as a young man, when he's just learning how to fly, and ends with his triumphant entry into Paris after becoming the first man to fly non-stop across the Atlantic Ocean.

The film is based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning book by Lindbergh, who spent 14 years in preparing his fantastic adventure for publication. The picture was filmed over half the world on a location tour that took the company almost 20,000 miles for air and ground shots. Scenes were filmed in New York, New England, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, France, England, Ireland, Italy, Spain, Egypt and Greenland. Three exact replicas of the famous Lindbergh monoplane were built especially for the production and were flown over the original Lindbergh route.

For Stewart, his portrayal is a high spot in his career. A flier both in World War II and as a civilian, he was especially suited to play the role of the world's greatest and most famous aviator. Lindbergh's achievement opened up the airways for major advances in aviation. He started out as a circus barnstormer, tried flying the U.S. mail and finally heard of the $25,000 prize offered the first man to fly the Atlantic non-stop. Lindbergh spent many years trying to round up the financial backing for the venture, which came to mean more to him for its own value than for the prize money.

Undaunted by the fact that two other fliers were killed and two missing in transatlantic attempts, Lindbergh finally rounded up the necessary cash and built his plane. He took even further chances by leaving out the radio and other important equipment to make room for gas tanks, and even pushed the tanks up so far as to block his view in all directions except forward.

On May 20, 1927, he took off from Roosevelt Field, New York, for 33½ hours of punishing flight. His arrival in Paris set off celebrations over all the civilized world.

Mother And Daughter

Ginger Rogers suffers emotional torment at the hands of her rebellious teen-age daughter, Betty Lou Keim, in this scene from "Teen-Age Rebel," showing Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. Michael Rennie is also starred as the girl's stepfather.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

The big show this week is "The Spirit of St. Louis," the story of Charles A. Lindbergh's historic flight across the Atlantic. It comes with high praise from the nation's movie critics, and stars James Stewart as Lindbergh. Stewart is a flier himself, and does a good job of portraying the irresponsible young man who brought about a revolution in aviation.

Ever hear of Hugo Haas? If you have, you're much better informed, movie-wise, than most people. Haas escaped from Hitler's Europe during World War II and came to this country without a penny to his name. A proud genius, he refused offers to work for the established Hollywood studios, and set about turning out his own sagas, which he usually wrote himself, besides being producer, director and actor.

Now, in his latest, "Hit and Run," Haas also becomes financier for his picture. As usual, he stars sexy Cleo Moore in the feminine lead. Miss Moore has been with Haas practically since he first began his U.S. ventures. Haas has a way about him that few directors can claim. He can take poor actors and make them look good. He can take a lousy story theme and make it presentable. He can turn mediocre cameramanship into the sombre moods he uses as background.

In short, if you have never seen Hugo Haas, you've missed something.

Other viewing: "Teen-Age Rebel," a tear-jerker about a family not representative of the average. "The Man Who Turned to Stone," Horror show mislabeled as science fiction, and sporting pseudo-scientific terms to support non-scientific theories.

"High Society," Crosby, Princess Grace and Sinatra in a return bout. "Tribute to a Badman," James Cagney proves he's his old reliable self in a new Western setting. "Pillars of the Sky," One of Dorothy Malone's earlier epics which did not earn an Academy Award.

"Flying Leathernecks" and "Sands of Iwo Jima," John Wayne double bill, two old movies from out of World War II.

Western At State

"Fury At Showdown," playing Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre, is based on the new-fangled Western plot of a man who is not a coward but still does not wish to use his guns to kill. John Derek stars.

TOPS ON TV

Comedienne, Humorist Matched On 'Last Word'

Whether comedienne-singer-author Kay Thompson or humorist H. Allen Smith get in "The Last Word" can be learned only by watching Channel 4 this afternoon at 1:30. Miss Thompson authored the book, "Eloise," which became one of last fall's "Playhouse 90" hits, and Smith has just published his twenty-first book, "Write Me a Poem Baby."

Only hard-headed Jack Benny could live through a holiday trip to Palm Springs in his ancient Maxwell and a "refreshing" dive off a high board into an empty swimming pool. But that's what happens on the "Jack Benny Show" tonight at 6:30 on Channel 4.

Ray Milland returns to "General Electric Theatre" at 7 o'clock tonight in "Angel of Wrath," the story of a famous actor who spends a lifetime evading reality.

Modern Chickens Aren't Chicken

Chickens, accustomed to the noise of airplanes, refused to turn chicken for scenes in "The Spirit of St. Louis." Directors of the film had to search miles away in the hills of California to find old-fashioned chickens willing to be frightened by an airplane.

The Name's Duke

NEW YORK (AP) — After years as a dual musical personality, Vernon Duke has decided he is Vernon Duke.

A collaborator on Broadway shows and the other author of such hits as "April in Paris" and "Autumn in New York," Duke has until now done popular tunes under that name and also written serious compositions under the name of Vladimir Dukelsky. Both swing or symphony henceforth, he says, will be written under the name Duke.

Stewart Injured

James Stewart received back injuries during filming of "The Spirit of St. Louis." Stewart was enacting a scene in which Charles Lindbergh parachuted from a World War I De Havilland during a blinding snow storm. Strong winds dragged Stewart 30 yards across rocky ground before the chute collapsed.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

One of the most refreshing and different of the young singers is Eddie Gorme (pronounced Gor-may). As was the case for quite a few of the currently rising songstresses, she has been in the singing business for a sizable chunk of her lifetime. Right now, she has an LP album, "Eddie Gorme Sings," which is getting attention on ABC-Paramount label. Backed by the music of the Don Costa orchestra, Eddie sings "I'll Take Romance" as the highlighted number, with "This Is No Day" and "Gypsy In My Soul" giving strong support.

The Walt Disney fair-haired boy, Fess Parker, who has been starred in Disney-inspired movies, sings as well as acts. Especially for the kiddies, on Disneyland label, Fess sings his version of "A Cowboy Needs A Horse," "Goodnight Little Wrangler," and "Ballad of Davy Crockett."

If you are a TV fan, you might have seen (and heard) Martha Davis. Just recently she has been appearing with her spouse on some of the most prominent shows. The spouse, who incidentally is really Martha Davis' husband, is Calvin Ponders. He joins with Martha in making her LP record debut on ABC-Paramount in an album titled "Martha Davis and Spouse." Playing the straight man, Pondero fills in while the feminine half of this seasoned team does a superb job with numbers including "Two Sleepy People," "Mine," "Slightly Less Than Wonderful," and "You're Getting To Be A Habit With Me."

Want to know what the music of the future is going to sound like? Predictions have been made on Westminster label, and the style of some well-known current numbers has been altered slightly. "Soundproof" featuring the duo pianists Arthur Ferrante and Louis Tiecher, contains numbers including "What Is This Thing Called Love," "Ed Cumbarchejo," "Greensleeves," "Dark Eyes," "Breeze and I," "Lover" and "Man From Mars."

"Soundproof" album will be of special interest to Hi-Fi addicts, for it is a study in recorded sounds of musical instruments. Notation on the LP record cover: "If you do not have the finest quality audio equipment, don't bother to play this record."

Hm-m-m-m. Something is missing here. Although Elvis Presley is being received with open arms in other areas, local members of the younger generation seem to be losing interest. Even the spectacular success assumed by "All Shook Up" doesn't fascinate them. Elvis still has his staunch supporters, even in Big Spring, but not to the degree as was once the case.

Chuck Berry is one artist whose popularity is soaring due to his recording of "School Days." The saucy, rhythmic and blues tune is fast moving, with lyrics to tickle even the more reserved.

Pat Boone's newest release features "Bernadine" as one side. We understand that the tune will be featured as theme title of Pat's 20th Century movie, his first. Flip side of the Dot recording is "Love Letters In The Sand."

A slow, slow beat is the theme pattern for Fats Domino's latest bid, "Well of Tears." Pace is racy for flip side, "It's You I Love."

Although "Four Walls" is the bid side of Jim Lowe's most recent release, we prefer the flip. "Talking to the Blues" is the style is nothing new in fact. It seems to be patterned after that made famous by Phil Harris. "That's What I Like About the South," and others.

Eileen Rogers, backed by the "Coniff Sound" sings "Everything But Love" with conviction that gets real attention. Another new Tony Bennett release being spun around Big Spring is "No Hard Feelings."

Don Cornell does "Mama Guitar" on Coral with "A Face in the Crowd" as an accompanying number.

Horror Show On State's Playbill

"The Man Who Turned To Stone," playing Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre, is a horror tale about a group of 18th Century scientists who have discovered a way to live forever, at others' expense.

The plot leads the 250-year-old horrors into the present and into control of a women's prison, where they take "biological energy" from beautiful young women, the only source of this energy. The victims pay with their lives, and the monsters are prevented from turning into stone.
