Boys Due Charges In Juvenile Court

Sterling County officials said Thursday morning that cases of four young Big Spring boys, involved in the fatal shooting on Tuesday night of Taylor Garrett, Sterling City filling station operator in an abortive holdup, will be handled "exactly as other juvenile cases are handled."

several days in the boy's locker at school. Their plan, the four related, was "to go to Mexico." They had only $3. Most of this they spent in Big Spring after they had stolen the car, "riding around Washington Place where the rich folk live."

did not have enough gas to go on to Angelo. We turned around to go back and see if we could find some place where we could get some money. "We were going to Mexico," he explained, "no - we didn't intend to come back home."

The four boys—Mike Martinez, 13, who allegedly fired the fatal shot; Nicky Rocha, 13, Herman Lee Wright, 13, and Doyle Hall, 12—were still in custody at San Angelo on Thursday. Officials indicated they would be kept there for a few more days. Then they will be surrendered to Sterling County officials.

They had no ammunition, Martinez reported, and because of their age, could not buy any. They persuaded a 17-year-old boy acquaintance to take a dollar of their money and buy nine cartridges. "They cost 99 cents," said the boys.

Call out the FBI! Or mebbe the weather bureau. Texas Electric Company has a problem. "Two of our rain gauges are missing," said a spokesman. "There is every reason to believe they have been stolen."

Meantime, here in Big Spring, Father William Moore, St. Thomas Catholic church, had returned from an out-of-town trip. The boys had told San Angelo officers that they took Father Moore's car and that they robbed his residence of a quantity of beer which they drank here before setting out on their wild and bloody journey to the south.

Flash floods threatened to sweep over low-water crossings in Uvalde, some 150 miles to the southwest, where rain continued after dropping an inch of water in an hour at Leakey. Flash flooding was expected to extend southward from there to Uvalde.

There were no other reports of injuries. On Wednesday, April 24, Dean (E. W.) Doty called me into his office. He told me that I would not appear in the opera. He explained that I would not sing in it because complaints had been made about my having the role.

Man Shoots Self While On Hunt

A resident remained in a local hospital for treatment of a bullet wound sustained early today. In Malone-Hogan Hospital is F. D. Fortune, 39, of 904 Bell. Fortune told officers he accidentally shot himself while rabbit hunting on the Old San Angelo Highway about 1:30 a.m. today.

When I chose the university I realized that I would face problems other than those the ordinary university student encounters. I had no way to know what to expect when I came. I only knew that I was one of the first Negro undergraduates to enter and I was concerned about how I would be received by my fellow students and my teachers.

Fortune was shot with a 22-caliber bullet which entered his left breast and lodged near his waist. Officials at the hospital said the bullet passed about an inch from his heart. Fortune's brother reported the incident to the police this morning and officers reconstructed the story.

My original purpose in coming here was to obtain further education. As I thought about it, I realized, too, that not appearing in the opera would not appreciably restrict my educational advancement. My first reaction was one of great hurt. However, after the first shock and hurt had passed and I began to realize that the ultimate success of integration at the university was much more important than my appearance in the opera.

received other anonymous calls—sometimes as many as three a week. On Wednesday, April 24, Dean (E. W.) Doty called me into his office. He told me that I would not appear in the opera. He explained that I would not sing in it because complaints had been made about my having the role.

Police said powder burns were on his shirt. He went to his residence on a Bell, notified his wife of the accident and then went to Malone-Hogan for treatment.

They were engaged within four weeks. But this week there was word they had split and Univac's stock went down faster than it could figure out the square root of each other.

LATE BULLETIN

FORT WORTH — The Weather Bureau issued this severe weather warning today: Thunderstorm activity is expected to develop and intensify in western Oklahoma and the extreme eastern portion of the South Plains of West Texas this afternoon and move slowly eastward this evening.

Rain Gauged At .3 To Inch In Big Spring

A thunderstorm which rolled in at 8 p. m. Wednesday loosed a rain which fell for an hour and half and dumped from 3 inch to as much as an inch on Big Spring. U. S. Experiment Station reported official rainfall at the station of .58 inch. This brings the year's total to 4.04 inches at that point.

Heavier downpours occurred in other parts of the area and at the same time, some sections of the county received no rain at all. Knott community, according to reports, had nothing. Walker Bailey, whose farm is 17 miles northwest, said that rains in varying amounts extended 10 miles northwest and then stopped.

Senate Gives Approval To Slum Clearance

AUSTIN — The Senate in 30 seconds gave final approval today to the slum clearance bill by voice vote. The measure was amended and must now go back to the House for action. One amendment provides for the rehabilitation, clearance and improvement of blighted areas in cities. It won tentative approval yesterday.

Ex-Solon Due At Payoff Probe

AUSTIN — Former State Rep. Henry Lehman of Giddings was called before the Travis County grand jury today as a witness in the legislative payoff investigation. Lehman, now a Giddings mortician, said yesterday he had no comment to make on the subpoena.

Costello Sentenced

Frank Costello, right, listens to his attorney, Edward B. Williams, as they leave General Sessions Court in New York after Costello was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse for contempt. He refused to tell a grand jury the meaning of a cryptic note found on him when he was creased by an assassin's bullet. Costello will be transferred to the Hart Island workhouse.

By a vote of 22-7, the Senate passed a proposed constitutional amendment requiring annual sessions of the Legislature and yearly salaries for the lawmakers. The House-approved measure will have to return to the House for agreement with Senate changes or it will be sent to a joint committee.

Fine Italian stuffed dolls and animals are tour companions of Renata Tebaldi, the Metropolitan Opera star.

Opera Star Seeks Carefree Vacation

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—Renata Tebaldi repeated my question: "What will I do on vacation?" and then answered:

"I will not think of newspapers or be bothered by newspapermen." But she smiled when she said it, and she said:

"It will be fun not to have a telephone to answer, not to have to keep appointments with dressmaker or lawyer, or for rehearsals."

"I will not have to be on trains. I will not have to watch the watch"—tapping her wrist where at the moment, in the hotel apartment in which she lives during the New York season, she had no watch at all.

It is nearly vacation time for singers, though not quite for Miss Tebaldi. Now on tour with the Metropolitan, her first cross-country trip with it too, she appears in 13 performances, mostly before audiences that have not heard her famous voice before.

Isn't 13 unlucky?
"Not for me," she said. "I don't like 17, though. I am of course superstitious."

She travels with a basketful of stuffed animals and dolls, made by Lenci in her native Italy, and usually strings a dozen of them up across the top of her dressing room at the opera house.

She is always accompanied by her mother, here and in other American cities, at her home in Milan, at her place in the country, on vacation, on shopping trips. On tour Miss Tebaldi's mother spends much of her time hunting through local markets for the foods she knows her daughter likes, and whenever they can manage, even if it is only on a hotplate, she cooks for the singer.

Will Miss Tebaldi read? Not on vacation.

Will she sew or knit? No time for that.

Go to dances? She likes to watch, and according to her pretty secretary and companion, Linda Barone, "she is a very good dancer," but she doesn't indulge in it much now.

Go for walks? Yes.
Lie abed in the morning? Ah, that, yes!

A couple of years ago when I first talked to her, she had hardly mastered a "yes" or "no" in English, but now, "learning, by ear," she said, she understands most of what she hears and can speak for herself on most occasions. For sticklers Miss Barone, who learned her fluent English in Florence, is always at hand to help.

"When I sing, I see people all the time, at the opera, at parties, and so when vacation comes I like to be by myself."

"I love New York department stores," she said, "even when I can't buy anything, I am too big. The sizes are not right."

Miss Tebaldi is in fact a lot of woman, as audiences see almost as quickly as they hear she is a lot of voice. Her fingers are long, pointed, expressive, graceful. Her jet black hair brings out the pallor of her face, as though she needed a vacation. In repose her features, though they are as beautiful as her photos show, nevertheless are severe. It's as if she never really got her mind off such serious and hallowed things as her music. Yet when she does relax, and break into a smile, it's as lively and interested as a child's.

"I'm tired after I sing," she said. "I'd like to go home and have a small supper and get into bed. But on tour there will be parties, and here there are always a dozen or more gathered in my dressing room after the last curtain, and then perhaps 50, or several times as many asking for autographs on the walk outside. I like to sign for them."

After her summer in the mountains when her work will be only to prepare two recordings for the fall, she will be back here to open the Chicago season, and then come to the Met for the rest of the calendar year. After that there will be Spain, Austria, Florence's Maggio Musicale, another restful summer, and then Caracas—that accounts for her next 15 months.

Miss Tebaldi made her Met debut as Desdemona in January, 1955. Perhaps her most popular interpretations have been in "Traviata," "Boheme" and "Tosca."

U.S. Protestants Reach Agreement On Social Policy

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Representatives of major American Protestant churches today agreed for the first time in history on a common policy for social welfare. About 400 delegates to a policy conference of the National Council of Churches overwhelmingly approved a broad charter to govern the billion-dollar welfare enterprise of 30 denominations.

Delegates to the conference represent almost 37 million Protestants.

Approval of the policy statement by the conference means it now must be adopted by the Council and its member churches before it can become effective. The policy statement sets forth these points:

1. Protestant churches have a duty beyond preaching a gospel—the duty to protect the well-being and social justice of all people.

2. The church must move into the social and political action fields to bring about needed social change.

3. Churches should encourage better schools, better housing and help overcome racial discrimination, take social and political action to influence community decisions and maintain close ties with nonsectarian social agencies.

School Compromise Bill Churned Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Education Committee showed today a freshly pruned compromise 1½-billion-dollar school construction bill which backers hoped would please Congress and the White House.

Final approval of the federal aid measure was expected soon after the committee met.

It calls for a five-year program of 300 million dollars a year in grants, to be matched by the states, to help build needed classrooms.

Recognizing the talk of economy in Washington these days, the committee voted 23-3 yesterday to cut 500 million dollars off the two-billion-dollar program recommended by a subcommittee.

Rep. Bailey (D-W.Va), chairman of that subcommittee, told a reporter he had no doubt that the cut in the bill "helped it at the White House" and bettered its chances in Congress.

Bailey said he went along with the cut "in order to preserve harmony and go out on the floor with a united front."

He called the measure a "real-bipartisan" compromise. The administration had asked for a four-year program of 325 million dollars a year of grants in aid—a total of $1,300,000,000. A bill by Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), generally called the Democrats' bill, called for a six-year program of 600 million a year—a total of $3,600,000,000.

The administration had asked that distribution be on the basis of need; Kelley's bill was on the basis of school age population. The committee bill, which will bear Kelley's name, would distribute the funds half on the basis of school age population and half on the basis of need.

The measure also would authorize 750 million dollars in federal funds for purchase of school construction bonds* from local districts—unable to find markets at reasonable interest rates. It would authorize further 150 million dollars for state school financing agencies to help assure payment of their obligations.

Bailey said he was "inclined to think" the bill would pass the House.

Talk of economy, dangers of federal control and segregation in the classrooms are expected to be debated on the floor.

The House killed a school construction bill last year after attaching an amendment denying federal aid to districts practicing segregation in the public school.

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP)—Courtesy pays, says the slogan. Mr. and Mrs. James Laverty, Beaumont, Calif., aren't so sure.

Driving down Highway 66 yesterday, Mr. Laverty was asked by his wife to snuff out her cigarette. He did, but somehow burned his hand and lost control of the car. It went tumbling into the ditch.

The Lavertys escaped without serious injury, but their dog was hurt. They both knelt down to offer him help, but the pooch bit Mrs. Laverty on the cheek and Mr. Laverty on the hand.

They were hospitalized today, and doctors said the dog bites caused more trouble than the accident.

'No Gaps' In Defense, Reich Told

BONN (AP)—British Prime Minister Macmillan said today he promised West German Chancellor Adenauer that Britain will leave "no gaps" in Western defense because of its plans to cut troop strength.

But Macmillan, at a news conference winding up his two-day visit to Bonn, would not say flatly whether he had Adenauer's agreement to the British shift to atomic-armed forces with less troops.

He said, instead, that Adenauer accepted his views "with understanding and full realization of the strong and continued purpose of the British people to play their part in defense."

Macmillan and Adenauer signed a joint communique announcing they are "in full agreement on the main aims of their policies."

Britain already has started carrying out its plan for withdrawing nearly 30,000 men from its army in Germany and trimming the supporting tactical air force by nearly half.

The move resulted from Britain's desire to reduce defense expenditures and at the same time streamline its forces for the nuclear age.

Adenauer urged a halt to any more troop withdrawals until NATO makes a detailed review of the European defense position.

One top German military planner insisted that what is wanted on Germany's attack-vulnerable northern plain is manpower now and not atomic weapons in the future.

Squall Line Sweeps Over West Texas

By The Associated Press
A squall line swept across West Texas late Wednesday, kicking off tornadoes, hail and hard rains, but it was losing its punch as it moved into North Central Texas Thursday.

Flood waters of the lower Brazos River continued to threaten parts of Southeast Texas and the Trinity also started on a new rise south-east of Houston.

The Weather Bureau said the squall line developed out of a trough of air extending down from a Canadian cold front. The same situation was likely to develop again Thursday, the Weather Bureau said.

The State Highway Patrol said one of its units spotted a tornado about two miles west of Trent, Tex., late Wednesday night. The patrol said the twister hit the ground, but no damage was found.

The Ground Observer Corps said it spotted two "tornado clouds with tails" near Merkel. There was no indication of whether the funnels hit the ground.

Hard rains, hail and winds up to 67 miles an hour hit San Angelo late Wednesday. The Weather Bureau reported almost an inch of rain.

A downpour dumped 1.27 inches of rain on Abilene, ending early Thursday.

The Weather Bureau said radar picked up a "large rain area 60 miles in diameter north of Mineral Wells" early Thursday. The squall line was located 20 miles north of Denison to Fort Worth, to Lake Whitney. It was moving eastward at 15 to 20 miles per hour. Rain-showers extended behind it into Northwest Texas, but the thunderstorm activity slackened.

The Weather Bureau lifted a severe weather forecast at 5 a.m., but said more thunderstorms probably would develop Thursday.

Pounding hail and rain battered an area from Chillicothe to Estelle in Northwest Texas late Wednesday, raising fears for the bumper wheat crop.

Hundreds of acres of cotton were beaten down by heavy hail and showers in Hudspeth County in far West Texas. Across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Juarez was drenched by torrential rains. Water ran knee deep in streets for a time. Only showers fell in El Paso.

Hailstorms also pelted an area northeast of Amarillo and Andrews and Seminole southwest of Lubbock.

The flood situation appeared slowly stabilizing on the most critical spot on the lower Brazos.

A 100-square mile area remained flooded around Angleton. High water had driven 125 families from their homes in the area. The flood area centered around Angleton and East and West Columbia, about 50 miles southwest of Houston and about 25 miles from the Gulf of Mexico.

Prison authorities planned to inoculate all convicts if doctors decided it was necessary to prevent an epidemic of typhoid fever.

The Weather Bureau predicted a near record 29-foot crest on the Trinity at Liberty by Friday or possibly as late as Monday. The river stood at 28.72 feet late Wednesday night.

State Highway engineers ordered a dike built along U.S. 90 between Liberty and Dayton to keep the main route open between Houston and Beaumont.

Latest Park Is Near Monahans

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP)—A late addition to the state park system, Monahans Sandhills, is open. It is a place of moving sand where the wind sometimes uncovers Indian artifacts and occasionally a pioneer's gear.

A caliche topped road leads from Highway 80 to a parking area about two miles within the park. A picnic shelter has been built and a windmill erected over a newly drilled well. Work on the park's administration building is under way.

The park contains six sections of dune sands—a part of the immense corridor of moving sand that runs from the north part of Crane County into New Mexico.

The shifting dunes—sometimes towering 50 feet above the "blowouts" at their feet—from a dry land and inhospitable picture to the usual traveler along the busy U.S. 90—which bisects the dunes—on its way from Dallas to El Paso. Permanent waterholes are hidden in this unlikely place and Indians once found this spot a friendly one.

Water lies just under the surface in low spots in the sand hills, and small oaks grow.

In pre-historic times, it is believed the site was one of small lakes and tall grasses and that elephants fed there.

Costello In Jail, Assailant Is Free

NEW YORK (AP)—At about 10:55 p. m. last Thursday, racketeer Frank Costello's skull was lightly creased by an assassin's bullet.

Although Costello is one of the nation's most notorious underworld figures, there was no evidence that at that moment he was any less law-abiding than his eight million fellow New Yorkers.

And yet, today, a week later, Costello, who was set up, is behind bars. And the thug who shot him is free.

It was an unexpected denouement in the life of the man the underworld knows as "Uncle Frank"—a man whose swarthy face is seamed like a warrior's and whose taste in fine clothes is offset by a rasping voice that still pronounces coin as "kern."

Last Thursday was a quiet day in the life of the 66-year-old racketeer, who came here as a boy from his native Italy.

At noon Costello spent some time with gambler Frank Erickson and racketeer Little Augie Pisano in a favorite hangout, the men's bar of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Later, Costello spent three hours in the Hotel Biltmore's Turkish bath.

In the evening Costello and his wife were dinner guests of Al Miniaci, a cigarette and juke box machine man, at L'Aiglon restaurant on the East Side. Others in the party included Generoso Pope, owner of a weekly newspaper; his wife, John J. Miller, a columnist for Pope's paper, and Philip Kennedy, manager of a modeling agency.

Later, the party moved to the nearby Monsignore restaurant. Costello left shortly before 11 p. m. to take a telephone call at home from his Washington lawyer.

Costello left a cab and entered 115 Central Park West, where he has an apartment. As he did so, he heard what sounded like a firecracker and felt a moistness above one ear.

He said he did not hear the gunman nor see him as the thug fled out of the building after the single shot and escaped in a black sedan. Costello's head wound proved trivial.

"I'm sure it was a punk," Costello said, "who wanted to be feared by saying he was the one who shot the boss. But I'm not the boss. I'm out of action."

sin alive. It was assumed that Costello's trigger-quick cohorts might get to him first.

The district attorney's office gave the police a hand by putting Costello before a grand jury Tuesday. When the racketeer refused to answer questions, he was sent to the workhouse for 30 days for contempt.

Out of these proceedings came an intriguing facet of the investigation. In a pocket of Costello's jacket after he was shot, police found a note which read:

"Gross casino wins as of 4-26-57 $651,284. Casino wins less markers $434,695. Slot wins $62,844. Markers $153,745. Mike $150 per week. Jake $100 per week. L $30,000. H $9,000."

The note apparently had something to do with a big gambling operation. "Markers" are the gambling term for IOU's. "Slot" could mean slot machines, in which Costello long has been interested. "Casino" could refer to a gambling center—or it could be a private code word for almost anything.

The note seemed to contradict Costello's claim that he is out of the rackets. Police think that if they can decipher it, they may have a clue in the assassination attempt.

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Hayne Ellis Jr., 47, got a divorce yesterday, plus a monthly allowance pegged to the cost of living index compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington.

Ellis, 42, is an officer of the International Paper Co., with an income estimated in his wife's divorce papers at $35,000 to $50,000 a year. She accused him of neglecting his marital duties. He denied her allegations but did not contest the divorce.

Judge Earl E. O'Connor ordered Ellis to put $1,300,000 worth of his International Paper stock into a trust fund. From its earnings, Mrs. Ellis will get a monthly payment based on the cost of living index—in no case less than $1,000 a month. He can keep the remainder. If she remarries the trust is dissolved.

The court also awarded her another $25,000 and a station wagon. Ellis keeps the family home in Mission Hills, a high-toned Kansas City suburb.

Willing Cooks Can Help Mom On Her Day

On the word "holiday," Mr. Webster's dictionary is clear, specific and... from Mother's point of view... somewhat contradictory. Among its several definitions are: (1) a feast day, and (2) any day of exemption from labor or work. The catch is that Mother is usually responsible for the feast, and that means work. She surely should enjoy both feast and exemption from work on Mother's Day, her very own holiday and here's a simple prescription for making this possible. The following feast can be assembled with a minimum of fuss, bother and skill. It's tailor-made, too, for willing amateur cooks (pop and the kids).

- Chilled Fruit Juice
 - Oven-Fried Chicken
 - Buttered Asparagus
 - Baked Potatoes
 - Brown 'n' Serve Rolls
 - Lemon Crisp
 - Coffee, Milk
- Here are the recipes for the above menu:
- CHIVE CHEESE BALLS: 2-3 cup (1 1/2 - oz. jar) chive cream cheese, 1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal, Paprika, if desired. Beat cheese until slightly softened. Shape cheese into small balls, using about 1 teaspoon cheese for each. Roll in oven-toasted rice cereal. Serve at once on toothpicks as an appetizer with
 - LEMON CRISP: 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 2 cups corn flakes, 1/4 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup hot water, 2 eggs, well-beaten, 1/2 cup lemon juice. Blend butter and brown sugar. Crush corn flakes into medium fine crumbs. Combine egg, milk, salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces into egg mixture; roll in corn flakes crumbs. Place in greased shallow pan or casserole. Sprinkle with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Turn chicken and bake about 30 minutes longer or until tender.

Washing, Drying Made Easy With Modern Machines

CHICAGO—Many a young mother will be celebrating Mother's Day May 12 for the first time this year. And with an automatic clothes dryer to help with baby's laundry, she can celebrate her day 365 times a year! An automatic dryer can be as helpful as a Saturday night babysitter, by following the tips for laundering baby's things: Diaper shortages are solved when diapers can be washed and dried daily. After washing, just toss newly-washed diapers into the dryer, and dry at high heat. When diapers are removed, they'll be soft, fluffy and have an extra absorbency that helps prevent diaper rash. With an automatic dryer, baby's bedding can be washed and dried in between waking and afternoon nap time. When drying wool, or a wool blend, remember to pre-heat the dryer for approximately five minutes. Dry small blankets with three or four Turkish towels to act as buffers. Use high heat, and remove blanket while still slightly damp. Pull into shape, and hang in a warm place to remove the last traces of moisture. Mattress pads should also be dried at high heat and removed when damp-dry. Then place pad on a flat surface to finish drying—the top of the dryer will do. It can be replaced on the bed the same day, and will be fluffier and have straighter edges than when line dried. Even baby's "Sunday Best" can be successfully dryer-dried with a minimum of effort. To dry nylon, orlon, or dacron sweaters, set dryer for low heat and dry separately from other loads. Synthetic fibre garments, such as a nylon christening dress, are dried in the same way. Care should be taken to remove these items while damp dry so wrinkles won't have a chance to set. When doing baby's laundry, don't forget the cuddly animal that shares his crib. Stuffed toys may be washed, then tossed in the dryer. The type of fabric and size of the toy will govern the heat setting and length of drying time. If the toy has button eyes or similar trimming, place it in a pillowcase before drying.

Garden Clubs Work On Pilgrimage Plans; Have Officer Installation

Members of the Oasis Garden Club made plans Wednesday morning for the tea, which they will host during the Garden Pilgrimage, May 19. They will serve in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Beale, 112 Canyon Drive. The group met in the home of Mrs. H. F. Jarrett. Mrs. W. F. Taylor gave a report on the recent meeting of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs. The council is the sponsoring group of the pilgrimage, and participating clubs will sell tickets at various times in stores. The time assigned to the Oasis Club is May 18 at Hemphill-Wells. The time is from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Mrs. Norman Furlong gave a discussion of vines and told the club of the many uses for vines, such as shade, for screens and ground covers. An advantage of vines, she told the members, is that they are not fussy about the kind of soil they grow in. She recommended that gardeners buy wisteria vines from those that had already bloomed. Some of the vines which are suited for this section are trumpet vine, silver lace vine, queen's wreath, clematis and the various vines, according to Mrs. Furlong. Mrs. Norman Read, a member of the Big Spring Garden Club, speaking on the topic of roses, told the club of the 10 commandments for growing roses: She told of the varieties best suited for growing in this locality and recommended buying roses chosen by the American Rose Society. Mrs. Read gave directions for preparing the soil for roses, which should be done in the fall and left for spring planting. She emphasized that pruning should not be done until the third year except for improving the shape of the bush. Feedings about six weeks apart from spring until fall should be sufficient, members were told, and Mrs. Read recommended the use of the commercial fertilizer, 16-20-0. Cultivation should be shallow and irrigation deep and thorough, she stated; spraying should be done once a month. Mrs. W. R. Douglass was introduced as a new member of the club, and Mrs. C. B. South and Mrs. Hugh Duncan were elected to membership. Mrs. Jarratt was elected to represent the club at the Garden Center at Howard County Junior College.

PLANTERS GARDEN CLUB Installation of new officers was held Wednesday afternoon at the Planters Garden Club meeting. The group met in the home of Mrs. C. R. McClellan. Mrs. J. W. Dickens was installing officer. She used miniature garden tools to represent the duties of each officer. Installed as president was Mrs. C. W. Neefe; first vice president, Mrs. Dick Collier; second vice president, Mrs. R. P. Nicholson; third vice president, Mrs. S. P. Jones, secretary, Mrs. Sonny Rose; treasurer, Mrs. Gilbert Webb, and council delegate, Mrs. R. L. Collins. A report on the City Council meeting was given by Mrs. Collins. She also reported on the Garden Pilgrimage, scheduled for May 19. Discussion was also held on the fall flower show. Plans were made for the beautification project of the club. For this project the club will beautify some particular public ground in Big Spring. Mrs. Billy Smith was appointed as a committee member to represent the club at the Garden Center at HCJC. Mrs. Frank Wilson, retiring president, was presented with a gift from the club. The next meeting place will be in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones, 1206 Sycamore. FOUR O'CLOCK CLUB Mrs. Sam Thurman was installed as president of the Four O'clock Garden Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dan Lewis. To serve with her are Mrs. Jack Taylor, vice president; Mrs. L. D. Grace, secretary and reporter; Mrs. Marvin Wright, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Adams, librarian, and Mrs. Jack Haptonstall, parliamentary. Mrs. Aubrey Armistead was elected delegate to the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs. In preparation for a placement show, club members brought arrangements, which were judged and criticized by the sponsor, Mrs. John Knox, a member of the Big Spring Garden Club. May 22 was the date set for the club's placement show, with calling hours from 3 to 7 p. m. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Armistead, 1805 Morrison Drive. Twelve were present for the meeting with a new member, Mrs. E. C. Smith Jr.

Housewarming Fetes R. L. Lebkowsky

A housewarming Wednesday evening honored Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lebkowsky, 1733 Purdue. Twelve of their friends attended, bringing gifts for their new home. The buffet table was laid with a pink cloth and was centered with an arrangement of bells of Ireland and red roses. Crystal holders bore pink candles. Crystal appointments were used for serving. Home for Mothers' Day will be the daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rayburn, 1506 Sunset; they are Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Armond and Susie of Springfield, Mass.

Polio Patients

HARLINGEN — Valley Baptist Hospital admitted two more polio patients yesterday. Authorities said Gloria Marroquin, 3, of Mercedes, and Ricardo Lopez, 3, of Rio Grande City, brought the total admitted since Saturday to 6.

Scholarship

MALLEN — A group of oilmen has offered a summer scholarship for a high school science teacher. The Rio Grande Valley Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute said yesterday the $500 scholarship will be given to some science teacher from Edinburg, Mission, McAllen or Pharr-San Juan-Alamo.

Prison Romance

Mrs. Martha Stachura, 27, and Hernando C. Cotton, 49, who became lovers while both were serving sentences in the Kansas State Penitentiary, are shown at police headquarters in San Francisco after they were arrested on charges of robbery, auto theft and kidnaping. They told police they arranged meetings in a prison tunnel and finally made their escape "for the baby's sake" after Mrs. Stachura learned she was pregnant. The child is expected in September.

Psychotherapy
Helps Man Who Lost Memory

DETROIT — The world is beginning to clear up again for 26-year-old Harry Warner Applegate of Asbury Park, N.J.

"Emergency psychotherapy" is credited for this. Applegate was found asleep three weeks ago in a bus depot. Upon being awakened, he could remember hardly anything of his own identification.

"Who am I?" he asked a policeman. Thenceforth, at Receiving Hospital, psychiatrists worked from day to day with the young man. They asked many questions, picking up the smallest clues here and there.

Yesterday came success. Applegate was identified as the son of Mrs. Anthony Gentile of Asbury Park, who had no word of him for 11 months.

Next week Mrs. Gentile expects to come to Detroit, possibly on Mother's Day. The doctors say her presence may help to restore more of her son's memory.

For three weeks Dr. Henry Krystal, a staff psychiatrist, and Dr. Vige W. Jensen, clinical director, worked with Applegate.

Little by little he came to remember items—a name, Gentile; a phrase, airway branch; a number exchange, Prospect. Also, he recalled distinctly the interior of a restaurant.

All this added up, eventually, to Asbury Park. There is an Airway Branch Corp. A call to a Prospect number found Mrs. Gentile.

"That's my son," she said. Applegate, it turned out, was former manager of the restaurant. The heavy cruiser on which he served at one time had the number CA148.

Dr. Krystal said the process of examination used with Applegate is called "emergency psychotherapy."

Applegate's examinations are to continue. Dr. Krystal said, "There is something in his mind that makes him afraid to remember."

Russia Ready For
Atomic Test Ban

TOKYO — Russia told Japan today it is ready to agree with the United States and Britain on ending nuclear tests. The Soviets asked Japan to join them in urging a ban on the West.

Soviet Ambassador Ivan F. Tevovyan delivered the Kremlin proposal in a 15-minute meeting with Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi. The Russian proposal replied to a Japanese request April 15 for suspension of Soviet nuclear weapon tests.

Kishi promised to study the proposal. He said in a speech last week, however, that Japan would not be interested in joining Moscow in an appeal to Britain and America until "after the Soviet Union ends its nuclear tests."

Enlisted Specialists
Get Salary Boosts

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Wilson has ordered pay boosts for 350,000 enlisted specialists. But they may not start getting the added cash until the first of next year.

Officials said it would take several months for the Army, Navy and Air Force to decide which of their technicians are eligible for pay increases ranging from $12 to $50 a month. The boosts would be limited to about 15 per cent of enlisted strength.

Wilson signed the pay increase order yesterday after receiving formally the report of a committee he had named to study the military pay structure.

The committee, headed by President Ralph Cordner of the General Electric Co., also proposed a general overhaul of the military pay system with a view to weeding out the less capable personnel and encouraging the better men to remain in service.

Wilson took no action on this proposal, but said study of major recommendations of the Cordner report would continue.

Besides the pay increases for enlisted technicians, Wilson adopted a recommendation for lump sum bonus payments to reserve officers who remain on active duty beyond their normal tours. This would become effective in the 1906 fiscal year starting July 1, 1959.

Unlike the technician pay raise, the bonus plan requires congressional approval.

The major features of the Cor-diner recommendations would cost an estimated 249 millions the first year. Those portions adopted so far by Wilson would account for only about one fifth of that amount.

The pay raise for technicians would cost about 49 millions the first year. Wilson said the reserve bonus plan would cost about $220,000 the first year and would rise to more than 5 1/2 millions in the third year.

The technicians' pay boosts would be distributed among the services this way: Air Force, 19 millions; Navy, 15 millions; Army 11 millions; and Marine Corps, 4 millions.

Warring States To Get Truce Details

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — Honduras and Nicaragua were to get a plan from the Organization of American States today providing for withdrawal of troops from their disputed border areas within four days.

The OAS peace mission was to go from Tegucigalpa to Managua to continue talks on the withdrawal proposals. It was expected that a four-day truce, which expires today, would be extended since it was not believed the talks on troop withdrawals could be completed today.

It wasn't an exaggeration to refer to the 1920's as the Golden Era of sports, when such giants as Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth, Walter Hagan, Earl Sande and Big Bill Tilden walked the land.

There's more money being thrown around now and an infinitely greater army of athletes are around to benefit from it.

This is the time when a ball player who hung on in the big leagues as a coach longer after his time because a kind-hearted employer preferred to live in the past can draw $500 a month for life from a pension fund to which he contributed very little.

McMahon, Craig Head Up Leagues

If you love a bargain, climb aboard the Teen-Age Baseball Association and get a package deal.

So says Bill Frank, live-wire president of the association, who points out that you can combat juvenile delinquency and have a lot of fun, too.

A number of adults are doing that very thing and others are needed, Frank stated. There are openings for eight business managers (one for each team in the two leagues), official scorers and umpires.

All will be given instructions that are sure to be beneficial to them later in life.

Frank has completed the managerial lineup for teams in the Junior League, and all have had experience in professional baseball in the past.

In the Junior League, Tom Farrow will again head the Burns while Charles McNew will lead the Big Spring Herald team.

Clarence Suggs has been appointed vice-president of the association itself while V. A. Whittington has taken on the position of association secretary-treasurer.

Thousands of baseball fans everywhere hope and pray with him. Phone calls about him light out the hours today.

Houston Slumps To 3rd Place In Texas Loop

It never falls. Start talking about somebody going to dominate a league and they immediately hit a slump.

Houston was riding on top of the Texas League Monday night. The Buffs had taken six in a row.

The question arose: Who's going to stop the Buffs? Well, Fort Worth, from down around the cellar, accepted the challenge.

The Cats promoted the skid Wednesday night when they lashed the Buffs 5-3. At the same time Dallas was again beating Shreveport and San Antonio was wallowing in Tulsa.

Dallas edged Shreveport 5-4 as Wilcy Moore and Don Tausig hit homers. Moore's brought in three runs while Tausig's—a solo affair—produced the winning run in the fifth.

San Antonio was winning its sixth straight, batting the Tulsa Oilers 5-2 as Bob Ehrke allowed just six well-scattered hits.

Austin clipped Oklahoma City 4-0 with Terry Fox pitching a 3-hitter. He had trouble only in the eighth inning when the Indians loaded the bases. But he pitched out of it.

Death Takes Famed Singer, Ezio Pinza

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Ezio Pinza, who became a Broadway matinee idol as the middle-aged lover of "South Pacific" after a quarter century of international opera fame, died in his sleep today at the age of 64.

Death came at 2 a.m. His wife and children were at his bedside. Pinza's physician Dr. David H. Fogel said he "passed quietly in his sleep."

The doctor said death followed a stroke suffered here April 30, after which he "gradually went down hill."

Pinza had suffered two heart attacks. One was at Vervia, Italy Aug. 26, 1956, which kept him in an Italian hospital for a short time. The second came at his home here last Dec. 3. He was in critical condition for about three weeks then at Greenwich, Conn., hospital.

EZIO PINZA
His voice is stilled

voice no special care. But he also exhibited none of the opera star's customary temper and tantrums.

After 25 years atop the opera world, he successfully made a difficult transition into popular music and became a matinee idol of Broadway musical comedy.

As a matter of fact, his name wasn't even Ezio.

The seventh child (the only one to live beyond infancy of a poor couple, he was born in Rome May 18, 1892).

His father, a carpenter from the village of Vercelli, was a parish priest, horrified that his son had become a pagan general who persecuted early Christians, insisted the babe be baptized Fortunino, instead. But everyone always called him Ezio.

Soon after Ezio's birth, the family returned to Ravenna, an ancient city on the Adriatic of medieval mood with the look of an operatic set.

Young Ezio worked in his father's shop years later, in a $60,000 home in Stamford, he indulged in woodworking as a hobby — but his ambition was to be a professional bicycle racer.

It was soon apparent that the idea wouldn't work. He kept the bike all his life, however, and he looked for some other career.

There is a story that some friends heard him singing "O Sole Mio" while bathing and suggested he try a vocal career.

His father took him to Bologna. A voice teacher there turned him down. The maestro changed his mind later and gave Pinza lessons but with the help of the mayor, the hopeful youth got a scholarship to study music at the university. He studied there two years, working at carpentering and as a railroad brakeman to eke out an income.

His career as a singer began secretly. He sang in a small company at Soncino, near Milan. The year was 1940 — and almost immediately Pinza found himself drafted for war duty. He spent the next five years in uniform, emerging as a captain of artillery.

His postwar debut was in the role of King Mark in Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" in the royal opera at Rome. He became an overnight sensation. Two years later Toscanini had him singing at La Scala in Milan. In 1926 he was lured to New York's Metropolitan Opera.

There—and in the opera centers of Paris, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and London — he was the undisputed monarch of song for two decades. Besides the Met, he sang regularly with the Chicago and San Francisco opera companies.

Possessed of the rare "grandezza" style of the superartist, Pinza sang his way through the villain and hero roles of virtually all of grand opera's repertoire. Perhaps he was most famous in "Don Giovanni," as Mephistopheles in "Faust" and the magnificently mad "Boris Godunoff."

His recordings of classics, and of American folk tunes—marked though they were with the heavy accent he never lost—became long-run best sellers. His annual income was estimated at $125,000.

Physically as well as vocally he was exceptional. A six-footer with a barrel chest, curly locked, with an aquiline nose and twinkling eyes, Pinza moved with an athlete's instinctive grace.

His main delights were two—fine food and beautiful women. Sometimes, too, he liked to hunt. He was an inveterate fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Soon after he established his American opera career, his first wife, Augusta — from whom he had long been separated — instituted a $250,000 alienation of affections suit against Wagnerian soprano Elizabeth Reiberg.

It was withdrawn later — as was the $200,000 breach of promise action against him by a San Francisco woman.

"It is just his Italian background," an attorney claimed. "Sometimes people think he is being romantic when he is just being gentlemanly."

Augusta Pinza went home to her father's house in Italy.

Pinza suffered his first heart attack (first described as a slight paralytic stroke) while vacationing at a villa 15 miles from his boyhood home, Ravenna.

Immediately, his plans were canceled for his first nonsinging part in a Broadway drama, "A Very Special Baby," a United States in September, commenting "It's depressing not to work."

Three months later, he suffered the second heart attack as he sat down to lunch with his wife at their Stamford home.

While convalescing from the first attack, Pinza announced his singing days were done.

"It is my desire and my intention not to sing any more," he said.

Instead, he declared, he would continue to appear before the audiences who kept calling for him; in straight, dramatic roles.

The Pinza career was a dazzling mélange of popular triumph, artistic acclaim, exceptional versatility — and bewildering paradox.

He never thought of singing as a life work until 18 — an age when most opera fledglings have amassed a decade of sober study.

He had little training, could scarcely read a note — yet flawlessly sang 78 operatic roles to critical acclaim in the world's music capitals.

He rarely practiced, gave his

Italy with their daughter Claudia. She divorced him and the bassist did not see Claudia again for 11 years. In 1947, when she was 25, she made her operatic debut opposite him in "Faust" at San Francisco.

Pinza was married a second time in 1940 to Miss Leak. They met when she was dancing in the Metropolitan Opera ballet.

In 1949 he became a Broadway popular star by creating the role of the middle-aged planter who won the heart of Mary Martin in the Rodgers-Hammerstein smash hit "South Pacific."

"Pinza has given middle age men a new lease on life," one commentator said.

Fourteen months later, Pinza went to Hollywood for a series of films — "Mr. Imperium," "Tonight We Sing," "Strictly Dishonorable." None were outstanding, however, and Pinza felt he was getting in a casting rut.

In 1954 he returned to new Broadway acclaim in the musical "Fanny."

He spent the next five years in uniform, emerging as a captain of artillery.

His postwar debut was in the role of King Mark in Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" in the royal opera at Rome. He became an overnight sensation. Two years later Toscanini had him singing at La Scala in Milan. In 1926 he was lured to New York's Metropolitan Opera.

U. S. May Resume Aid To Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reported today ready to resume military aid, including jet planes, to Yugoslavia after banning any weapons shipments for nearly a year.

A top-level decision to end the existing embargo is understood to be near, subject to President Eisenhower's final approval.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.), a vigorous foe of major military aid to Yugoslavia, is reported to have been advised by administration leaders that they are sympathetically considering such a move.

Under the ruling now taking shape, however, Yugoslavia would not get the full backlog of about 300 American jet fighters previously earmarked for delivery.

The Yugoslavs would receive an undisclosed number of them, a few at a time, over a period of several years. Shipments of American tanks, howitzers and other heavy military hardware would be renewed pretty much according to previous delivery schedules.

Under congressional pressure, the administration banned all military aid to Yugoslavia last Aug. 15, mainly because of suspicion that Marshal Tito might be patching up his eight-year-old quarrel with Moscow.

Congress itself banned use of new foreign aid funds for major military aid to the Yugoslavs, but did not make the ban apply to items previously approved but not delivered.

On Oct. 15, President Eisenhower decided to resume full economic aid to the hard-pressed Yugoslavs, but continued the ban on military assistance except for small quantities of small parts needed for equipment previously supplied.

Authorities said Marshal Tito's policies now show he intends to remain independent of Kremlin domination.

One of the prime factors influencing the administration in its aid ban was Tito's surprise flight to Russia last August for highly confidential talks with Soviet leaders. This aroused suspicion that the Yugoslavs and Russians might end the bitter differences which caused Tito to split with the Kremlin in 1948.

Coed Says Ouster Was 'For The Best'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A 19-year-old coed removed from the lead in a University of Texas student opera because she is a Negro says the action may have been the best to insure harmonious integration at the school.

The coed, Barbara Louise Smith of Pittsburg, Tex., said Dean E. W. Doty of the College of Fine Arts told her she would not appear in the opera because complaints had been made about her having the role.

She was ousted from the production "Dido and Aeneas," State Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs said he had asked she be removed for the betterment of the university.

Two powerful campus groups—the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans—announced they were considering asking for an investigation.

In a signed story in today's Daily Texan, the university's student newspaper, Miss Smith quoted Doty as saying university President Logan Wilson made the decision "to insure my personal well-being... and... there was a possibility my appearance would precipitate a cut in the university's appropriation by the Legislature."

She said she was shocked by the action, but later "I began to realize that the ultimate success of integration at the university was much more important than my appearance at the opera."

"I believe they (Wilson and Doty) want the same things I do, and are working for superior education for Texas and are trying to achieve the most harmonious fulfillment of integration at the university."

"I have tried to put myself in Dr. Wilson's place and I believe that had I been in his position, I might have done what he did," Wilson and Doty could not be reached for comment.

The university began accepting Negro students on the undergraduate level for the first time this year. Graduating classes have been integrated since 1950.

David Shapiro, president of the Young Democrats, said his group and the Young Republicans discussed a resolution asking the university student assembly to investigate.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Climbing out of his late-model, low-slung car, actor Peter Lawford suffered a sacroiliac displacement that will keep him out of the CBS television program Climax May 16. The producer is looking for a substitute.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nectar Calajian, 27, cafeteria cashier, told police a gunman who had just eaten took $100 from the cash register. She said the man wore a grey uniform, without any insignia, carried a gun in one hand and wore a money-changer on his belt.

Forest Fires Threaten Woodlands Of Northeast

By The Associated Press

Forest fires continued today to threaten parched woodlands of the nation's northeast area.

In Michigan, fire fighters kept an anxious eye on the state's tinder-dry sections after a winning fight over one of the worst timber blazes in years.

Thirty new fires broke out in New York state yesterday. Before that, the state's monthlong dry spell spanned nearly 350 blazes.

Massachusetts declared a state of emergency and Maine clamped restrictions on its forests last night as fires gutted thousands of woodland acres in those states.

New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut and New Jersey.

In Michigan, a 750-acre fire in the big Huron National Forest near Lake Huron was brought under control last night after a full half-day's battle by 400 persons.

In Maine a wind-whipped blaze roared through 3,200 acres of forest in Jackman last night. The fire isolated a sporting camp owner and his wife, but forestry officials expected to get them out.

A fire raging through Manchester Mass. woodlands, threatening fashionable residences, appeared under control last night. Manchester is about 20 miles north of Boston.

Several homes were destroyed in the Plymouth-Carver area in southeastern Massachusetts.

In New York State, three houses and a barn were destroyed. A woman pleaded guilty to violating Gov. Averell Harriman's forest-closing order and was fined $75.

For a time yesterday the Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda, Mich., lay in the path of flaming timberland.

'No Politics' On U. S. Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today Democrats are not going to "play politics" in considering President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

"We are going to prudently review that program and all of the other items in his spending budget and cut out every dime of it that is nonessential," said Johnson.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday the money that goes into foreign aid, State Department and information service activities is aimed at easing world tensions. He reiterated his belief there can be no "real cuts" in federal spending until such tensions are reduced.

a $4,400,000,000 program of general foreign aid in the year beginning July 1. Subsequently, he suggested possibly lowering this amount by half a billion dollars. This saving would come out of the $2,600,000,000 military air portion of the program.

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said it is his judgment that congressional leaders almost unanimously will support an additional half-billion-dollar reduction in the over-all program.

He and Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, are on record for slicing Eisenhower's original request by a minimum of a billion dollars.

More Colombia Trouble Seen After President 'Re-Elected'

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—More turbulence appeared in prospect today for Colombia after the re-election of President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla by the government-picked Constituent Assembly.

Ignoring widespread demands for a popular election, the assembly voted 76-1 last night to give Rojas another four-year term beginning in August 1958.

Violent protest demonstrations led by students and business strikes have kept the country in an uproar since Friday. Troops and armored cars guarded the capitol as the assembly met.

The assembly, which Rojas named to rewrite the constitution, voted two days earlier to suspend constitutional articles requiring popular election of the chief executive and forbidding a president to succeed himself. Rojas took power in a military coup in 1953.

meeting, police broke up several scattered demonstrations with tear gas. Reports reached Bogota that from 15 to 50 persons were killed and more than 100 injured Tuesday in anti-Rojas riots in Cali, 185 miles southwest of here.

Unconfirmed reports said police used bayonets and gunfire against the crowd.

Five persons were officially reported killed in Bogota and Cali over the weekend.

About 1,000 poorly dressed pro-Rojas demonstrators took to the streets before the assembly meeting and demanded the reopening of all banks and industries.

The government radio claimed "some agitators are coercing stores to obligate them to close" but declared police "will guarantee property with force." Another broadcast said banks that participated in the business strike would be punished by having the interest rates on their deposits reduced.

There was no indication the bankers, businessmen and manufacturers who have led the strike intended to back down. There were food shortages in Bogota as shops remained closed through a second day.

Only banks operated by the government were open. A list of closed commercial establishments made public by the government showed at least 30,000 employees were affected in this city of 325,000 population.

Bogota and Cali were under military rule. Loud-speaker trucks toured the streets calling on merchants to open their stores.

Rojas blames the unrest on a conflict between labor and stand by labor. Leaders of a dozen important unions in Bogota have announced their support for him.

Bracero Use Group Forms

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The Texas Conference of Agricultural Employers was formed here yesterday to represent farmers and ranchers in the use of Mexican laborers.

The main function will be a statewide voice for agricultural users of bracero labor, a spokesman said.

George Spence of El Paso was selected temporary chairman.

Spence said the conference would give farmers and ranchmen a more solid front in negotiating with the Department of Labor on rules.

He said the ultimate aim of the department is to kill the entire bracero program by bringing out new and unreasonable regulations. Many farmers and ranchers have complained of new housing regulations recently issued by the Department of Labor.

Temporary board members selected included H. W. Gearhart of Plainview, Bob Potect of Lubbock and Clinton Smith of Raymondville.

Jet Mystery Was Interservice Snag

NEW YORK (AP)—The mystery of unidentified jet airplanes over Manhattan turned out today to be a case of interservice confusion. A Navy plane from a Brooklyn field flew over the city on a photographic mission for an hour Tuesday night. An Air Force fighter-interceptor searched for an hour and a half, but couldn't find who was making the noise. Scores of residents telephoned police for several hours that jets were screaming overhead. The Navy and Air Force planes were both jets.

New Postal Funds Fight Is Brewing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another big fight over Post Office Department funds was brewing on Capitol Hill today, with renewed cuts in postal services a possibility starting July 1.

Postmaster General Summerfield told Congress yesterday such cuts probably will have to be made unless the lawmakers give him 70 to 90 million dollars more in fiscal 1958 than was asked in President Eisenhower's budget.

This statement was made to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee just before it voted to restore 32 million dollars of the $8 millions sliced by the House from the 3 1/2 billion dollars requested for the postal agency in 1958.

On the House side, meanwhile, the Post Office Committee considered rate increases for newspapers and magazines as part of a bill to reduce the postal deficit. But a boost in rates would not affect the request for bigger appropriations. Congress fixes the ceiling on Post Office expenditures, and the department cannot send directly the money it takes in. Summerfield said that he would need full restoration of the $8 million in extra funds. He said a "phenomenal increase" in mail volume in recent weeks makes the additional request necessary, and added that apparently the flood of mail would continue.

The action of the subcommittee was expected to be upheld by the full Senate Appropriations Committee today.

The subcommittee voted a total of $3,917,000,000 in the bill—$3,224,000,000 for the Post Office Department, $691,500,000 for the Treasury, and $1,460,000 for the tax court. The only restoration was in postal funds; the 22 million House cut in the Treasury allotment was allowed to stand.

This was the first of the fiscal 1958 money bills to be acted on by a Senate subcommittee. So far eight have passed the House. In this instance, the subcommittee action was to restore about 40 per cent of the over-all House cut in the bill.

Advanced Chemistry Courses Approved For Junior College

Howard County Junior College trustees took steps Wednesday to be ready with advanced chemistry facilities by autumn. They approved the purchase of two laboratory tables, equipment and also the remodeling of room S-10. Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said that the sign-up for advanced quantitative and qualitative analysis courses obliged the college to prepare for the offerings. This step came sooner than anticipated on sufficient demand for the advanced study facilities for two or three more years. The equipment was quoted at $5,377.65 in the order confirmed by the board. Remodeling costs were pegged at $3,800, a total of $9,177.65 which will be charged to next year's budget.

One indication of the new irrigation wells can be taken from the REA records, showing wells hooked to electric lines. In Martin County the Cap Rock Electric was servicing 124 wells at the end of 1954. By March of this year the number had increased to 255. This is not a complete total of wells in the county, however, for many wells in the Tarzana area are being powered with butane. In Midland County the Cap Rock Electric was servicing 30 wells and now furnishes power for 179. There was also an increase in Glasscock County, jumping from 12 to 69. And during the same time Howard County's wells moved from 21 to 57.

Carl Lockhart was watching the clouds from his farm house late yesterday as a rain cloud swept north of Vealmoor. He said he got only an inch and a half during the rainy period, which isn't enough to plant on. Some farmers are planting, but the soils are not really wet. Lockhart said the rains were much heavier to the east a few miles, and over on the Smith and Wilson ranches, as much as three inches fell. To the west it was still dry.

The best dryland maize ever developed is being put on the market now, according to James T. Dunn, certified seed grower, who lives southeast of Lamessa. The new maize is called Redbine 58, and is supposed to be drought resistant and early maturing. Dunn has about 300 sacks of it which he is trying to sell. So it may be only natural that he praise it. However, I read an account of the maize put out by the Lubbock Station and also a newspaper article about it. Several experiments with Redbine 58 were conducted at the station, where it was found to bloom in 58 days, and was three or four days earlier than Redbine 66. They said it was better adapted to higher altitudes and drier climate. It makes a bright reddish-yellow grain, has long heads and dries out as the grain matures. It proves superior to 7078 in that the heads do not break before the grain matures. The seed was released to certified seed growers last spring, and is now becoming fairly plentiful.

Larry Shaw, farming just north of West Knott, says he has tried a little of everything in order to live through the drought. Some of those things have paid off. Not a big lot, but enough to add to the meager income a dryland farmer gets during dry years. At present Shaw has several Duroc brood sows, and there are 15 little red pigs running all over the place. He will top the pigs out by early fall, and thinks they will bring a good price. Shaw started raising hogs several years ago but the spicing sandstorms of 1954 and '55 completely covered up the pens and almost buried the hogs alive. He went out of business until the dust sort of settled, but now has more hogs than ever. Sometimes he grows his own grain, but says he can make more money raising cotton and buying feed. He recently bought some maize for $2.15, which he grinds at home and mixes with a supplement. He says with hogs at 18 and a quarter which he received a

Retail Sales Exceed Income

Retail sales in Big Spring exceeded effective buying income by nearly $1 million in 1956, according to Sales Management's national survey of buying. The survey showed effective buying income of the city last year was $47,692,000. Retail sales amounted to $48,496,000. Per capita income of the city averaged $1,854 and per family income came to an average of $6,141 during the year, the survey showed. Thirty-six per cent of the population were in the $4,000 to $6,000 income bracket, 23.3 per cent were in the $2,500 to $4,000 bracket, and 7.4 per cent were in the exclusive "above $10,000" level. Retail sales included automotive, $13.4 million; food, $11 million; gasoline, etc., $5.5 million; cafes and similar establishments, $2.5 million; clothing, $2.5 million; and lumber and building supplies, $2.8 million. Effective buying income for Howard County, including Big Spring, was $57,463,000, Sales Management reported.

Specialty Act Announced For Rodeo Here In June

Among the specialty acts lined up for the 24th annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion is the performance of Jay Sisler and his Australian Shepherd dogs. Sisler and the three dogs—Stub, Shorty and Queen—will be returning to Big Spring after missing the last few rodeos here. Added to the dog act is a jumping and balancing demonstration by Sisler's educated greyhound, Blondie. Wilmer Pfeiffer will again be the rodeo clown. This year's show is to be produced by Everett Colborn and Gene Autry. The 1957 rodeo will be staged June 12-15. A big parade will open the activities at 4 p.m. June 12. Several floats, sheriff's posses and other riders, including the new Big Spring Mounted Patrol, will participate in the procession.

Dallas Rites Set For Hargrove Baby

The remains of Gregory Park Hargrove, the infant son stillborn to Lt. and Mrs. A. R. Hargrove here Wednesday, will be flown to Dallas this evening. Graveside rites will be said at Restland Memorial Park in Dallas by the Rev. Luther Holcomb, pastor of the Lakewood Baptist Church in Dallas, at 10 a.m. Friday. Local arrangements were in charge of Nalley-Pickje Funeral Home.

Leader In Mental Health Work Will Speak At Meeting Here

Mrs. Leland Croft, Odessa, founder and a director of the State Mental Hospital Development Association of Texas, is to address a general public meeting here at 7:30 p.m. today at the Howard County Junior College. She will explain the workings of the organization and its aims toward influencing legislation that would aid in curing more mental patients, and in offering direct physical assistance to the patients themselves. All interested persons are asked to attend. Mrs. Croft is this year's recipient of the Hog Foundation award for outstanding work in the field of mental health. She also was honored by the 56th Texas legislature for her outstanding contribution to the people of Texas in the field of mental health. A lifeless and enthusiastic worker, Mrs. Croft is frequently referred to in Most of the association's work has been centered on and around the Big Spring State Hospital for it was nearest the center of its activities in the early days of the organization.

32 Attend Kennel Club

Thirty-two persons attended the meeting of the West Texas Kennel Club in the Colonial Room of the Howard House last night. Six new members from Odessa were voted into the organization. Mrs. Betty Porter of Midland spoke on the care and training of puppies. Bob McClellan of Big Spring, president of the organization, was in charge of the program. It was announced that a dog handling class will be held in Crier Park, Midland, at 2:30 p.m. next Sunday. The class will be similar to one held here last Sunday, and the public is invited. Next meeting of the club also will be in Midland, at the Diamond Horseshoe on June 12.

Huge Temples Were Cut From Solid Rock

By RAMON COFFMAN
In west-central India, about 175 miles from the coast, are 34 remarkable temples. They center around the village of Ellora, and are described as the 'Temples of Ellora.'

Stone elephants in one Ellora temple.

Most of those temples were set up in honor of Hindu gods, but some honor the Buddha. They exist at high levels, and were carved out of rock on the side of a mountain. Trenches were cut in the rock until, at last, enormous stone blocks stood forth.

Q. When was that done and what happened afterward?
A. The first trenches were cut 12 centuries ago. After the blocks were made (with enough space between them) their sides were carved. The labor must have been almost beyond human understanding. Gigantic stone pillars were cut, also doorways and the images of elephants.

90 feet high, and contains many rooms and hallways.

Q. Why were images of elephants made at Ellora?
A. Elephants have been (and are) deeply admired by the people of India. This is true among the Buddhists, as well as the Hindus. A Buddhist legend says that the spirit of the Buddha lives (at least sometimes) in a white elephant. The elephant statues at Ellora have been battered during the centuries, but they still look sturdy enough. Faithfully the big beasts hold up, or seem to hold up, the masses of rock above their backs.

Architecture Tells U.S. Conservatism

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States is becoming quite conservative, says Mexico City architect Felix Candela, and this is reflected in its architecture. Candela has been pioneering for five years in thin, reinforced concrete shell structures, mainly for factories, warehouses and idea," says Ross Roy.

Flooding Sabine's A Peculiar River

ORANGE (AP)—The Sabine, which flooded some areas upstream and scared downstream residents during Texas' siege of rain, is a peculiar river.

By highway it's about 275 miles long. By the river itself, it's 578 miles. For about half that time a boater would be traveling along the Louisiana-Texas boundary. Louisiana claims the boater would be in that state for all of this stretch of the river.

By Texas claims, the boater might be in either state, depending on the side of the river he was on.

This dispute has been going on for over 100 years. To carry on a joint watershed development program, the two states decided to forget the controversy, and officially agreed that as far as the division of water is concerned, the boundary is in the middle of the stream. These things are not all that make the Sabine peculiar. A major flood in the upper watershed does not necessarily mean a major flood in the lower river.

tereded does not necessarily mean a major flood in the lower river. A ridge called the Sabine uplift crosses the river about midway of its course, a few miles south of Logansport, La.

The river opening through this ridge is much narrower than the rest of its channel. Floodwaters from the upper basin thus are partially dammed up and slowed there.

This helps protect the lower watershed from upstream flooding.

The downstream area gets its feet wet only when it has excessive downstream rainfall on top of a peak volume of water pushing through the opening in the ridge. That happened in 1945 and again in 1953 and both times Orange, just above the river's mouth, had to summon volunteers for emergency levee building.

Deveville did not exist in 1945 but in 1953 it was inundated.

Both Orange and Deveville now are watchfully waiting because a near-record volume of floodwater from the upper reaches is backed up against the Sabine uplift and will be pouring through until about mid-May.

Any time between now and May 15 that the lower basin has as much as 6 inches of rain within a 48-hour period, the Weather Bureau warns, there could be a serious flood.

Orange and Deveville hope for a drought through mid-May.

Capone Friend Dies In N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The racketeer who gave Scarface Al Capone his start is dead.

Johnny Torrio, first of the big-time bootleggers, died after a heart attack in a Brooklyn barber's chair April 16. So obscure had he become that his death went unpublicized until his will was filed for probate yesterday.

He left his widow Anna an estimated $200,000.

At one time Torrio was the kingpin of New York and Chicago racketeers. He was credited with setting up Chicago's first big illicit liquor syndicate during prohibition. Torrio originally established himself in Chicago as bodyguard to the notorious Big Jim Colosimo. Then Torrio sent for Capone. The two were boyhood pals in the tough old Navy yard section of Brooklyn.

In 1929 gang bullets wiped out Colosimo. Torrio took over as Chicago's vice lord. He lasted five years. After two attacks on his life, he fled to New York.

Businessmen Told To Keep An Eye On National Politics

FORT WORTH (AP)—The West Texas businessman had better pay more attention to national politics if he doesn't want to wake up some day and find his operations crippled by a law he never knew existed.

That's the warning voiced here today by F. W. Hamner, of San Angelo, industrial relations director for the General Telephone Company of the Southwest, at a Congressional Action Conference sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The San Angelo man, one of three main speakers for the conference, emphasized the importance of proposed labor and minimum wage legislation.

TV Man Deplores Free Time For Ike

DETROIT (AP)—The new president of the Detroit Board of Commerce, an avowed Republican, says free radio and television time for President Eisenhower to explain his budget "could contribute to eventual dictatorship." "It smacks too much of the great leader and the big brother idea."

Old Fashioned Cheese Spread Is New Taste Thrill From Old Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Enormous pleasure comes when you try a dish enjoyed in your childhood and find it measures up to your memories of it.

This was our own recent and delightful experience when we reconstructed a cheese spread, dreamed up by mother many years ago, and it was just as delicious as we remembered it.

In our home, when I was a little girl, this spread was used mainly as a filling for sandwiches for large and small "teas." By the time I was a teen-ager I was serving it at high-school and college parties when there were lots of healthy appetites to satisfy. We usually combined it with fresh white bread and bought extra-long loaves, cutting them into thin horizontal slices. In this way the cheese mixture, left at room temperature long enough to soften, could be spread quickly on the slices and dozens of sandwiches made in a short time. One of our sisters usually helped and we both prided ourselves on our professional approach.

A persuasive feature of this spread is its keeping quality. We've had it on hand in a covered jar in the refrigerator for a couple of weeks and found it endlessly useful.

The original spread was always made with homemade boiled salad dressing; but if you haven't any of this old-fashioned ingredient at hand, use mayonnaise as suggest-

MOTHER'S CHEESE SPREAD

Ingredients:
One pound natural cheddar cheese, 1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos (drained), 1/2 cup sliced pitted green olives, 1/2 cup broken walnut meats, 1-3 cup mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing to taste.

Method:
Put cheese, pimientos, olives and walnuts through food chopper using fine blade. Mix in mayonnaise or salad dressing. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. (Makes 3 1/2 to 4 cups.) Use as a sandwich filling alone or with sliced ham, turkey or tomatoes.

Note:
This spread may be made with a soft-type cheddar cheese and the pimientos, olives and walnuts knife-chopped in fine or medium-fine pieces.

RECIPE NOTES
If you want to take a little of this spread as a gift to a friend, pack the empty pimiento jar full and re-cap.
Besides using this spread as a filling for sandwiches, my mother liked it as a stuffing for celery. After the celery ribs were spread with the cheese mixture they would be cut into short lengths and served as nibbles. Or they would be arranged on a salad greens and served as a salad.
My mother also liked to use the spread with fresh pears. The pears would be pared and halved and have their stem structure removed. Then the cavities would be filled with the cheese mixture. The stuffed pears would be served with crisp greens and salad dressing as a salad.

Tomato Salad: Cut a thin slice from the bottom of each tomato, if necessary, to have them stand straight. Cut out the stem ends. Slice tomatoes into wedges but not all the way through. Spoon a mound of the cheese spread into the center of each tomato and serve with salad greens and salad dressing.

Frankfurter Topping: Split frankfurters lengthwise but not all the way through; grill just before they are finished cooking, spread a little of the cheese mixture over their cut surfaces and put back under the broiler to melt the cheese. Use foil under the frankfurters because some of the cheese mixture will probably run down. Place the frankfurters on buttered rolls, spooning up any of the good gooey cheese that has run down.

Hamburger Bonus: Put a dollop of the cheese mixture on a grilled hamburger and put back under the broiler just until the cheese melts.

Lemon Juice Brings Out Salmon Flavor

Lemon juice points up the flavor of this simple salmon loaf.

LIGHT SALMON LOAF

Ingredients:
One egg, 3/4 cup milk, 3/4 cup fresh bread crumbs, 1 can (1 pound) pink salmon, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, paprika, parsley sprigs.

Method:
Beat eggs in medium-sized mixing bowl, enough to combine yolk and white; add milk and beat enough to combine. Stir in bread crumbs, empty salmon, including liquid in can, over mixture; remove salmon skin and any large bones. Add onion, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly with a fork. Butter bottom and sides of a loaf pan (about 8 by 4 by 2 1/2 inches); turn salmon mixture into pan; pack down and level top. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until liquids are absorbed and loaf looks set—about 1 hour. Loosen loaf from sides of pan with knife; turn out on serving platter. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and insert parsley sprigs in top. Makes 4 servings.

Cheese Sauce Is Used For Asparagus

Pantryshelf vegetable dish!

WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Ingredients:
One can (14 1/2 ounces) asparagus, milk, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 3/4 cup lightly-packed grated cheddar cheese, paprika.

Method:
Drain asparagus; add enough milk to the liquid to make 1 cup. Melt butter over low heat in 1-quart saucepan; stir in flour. Add asparagus liquid and milk mixture. Cook and stir constantly until thickened; remove from heat. Add cheese; stir until melted. Meanwhile heat drained asparagus in 8-inch covered skillet over very low heat; add a teaspoon or so of water if necessary. Pour hot cheese sauce over drained hot asparagus; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

Sponge Cake Is Full Of Nutrients

Extra nutrients in this tall sponge cake.

GOLDEN SPONGE CAKE

Ingredients:
One-half cup sifted flour, 1/4 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder, 5 large eggs (separated), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup sugar, grated rind of 1 large lime, 1 tablespoon lime juice.

Method:
Sift together the flour and nonfat dry milk powder. Beat egg whites and salt with rotary beater (hand or electric) until stiff enough to form peaks that slop over slightly when beater is slowly withdrawn; beat in sugar thoroughly, 1 tablespoon at a time. Without

Spanish Eggs For Unexpected Guests

Good recipe to keep in mind when you aren't sure who is showing up for lunch because you can bake only as many servings as needed.

BAKED SPANISH EGGS

Ingredients:
For each serving—3 tablespoons tomato sauce, 2 green onions, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese.

Method:
Put the tomato sauce into a buttered individual shallow baking dish—a heat-resistant glass pie plate that is about 6 inches in diameter and 1 inch deep is fine. Cut olives from pits in thin strips, chop and add to sauce. Break eggs over tomato sauce, without breaking yolks. Sprinkle with Romano or Parmesan cheese; each are covered with it. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are firm—about 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Note:
Canned meatless tomato-mushroom spaghetti sauce is fine to use in this recipe.

Intriguing Fruit Is Garnish For Meat

Easy and tasty - intriguing fruit garnish for meat.

CURRIED PEACHES

Ingredients:
Four to six drained canned peach halves, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/4 teaspoon curry powder, grated rind of one-half of a lemon or lime.

Method:
Arrange peaches in shallow pan or on heavy aluminum foil with edges turned up to form a container. Blend butter and curry powder together; put a dollop of the mixture in the cavity of each peach half. Broil several inches from heat until hot through and tops are touched with brown. Spoon any juices that have run down back into cavities; sprinkle with grated lemon rind. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings as a meat garnish.

Black Bean Soup For Those Guests

This quickly put together soup has good flavor and a pleasant thin consistency.

COMPANY BLACK BEAN SOUP

Ingredients:
One can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed black bean soup, 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) bouillon (beef broth), 1/2 cup water, 2 tablespoons cooking sherry, thinly sliced lemon, sliced hard-cooked egg.

Method:
Mix black bean soup, bouillon and water together in a saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring occasionally. Stir in sherry. Float a slice of lemon and one of hard-cooked egg on each portion after serving. Makes 3 one-cup servings.

washing beater, beat egg yolks in flour mixture, sifting about 1/4 cup at a time over the surface. Turn into ungreased tube pan (9 by 4 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until top of cake is quite brown and springs back when touched lightly with finger. Invert pan on rack and let stand until cool—about 1 hour. Loosen cake from sides of pan and from tube with sharp knife; ease from pan.

Fancy Decorations For Cake

James Beckham, 10, has just about finished decorating this cake he made for his mother, and is assisted by his father, Fred Beckham, who takes a turn at kitchen duties, too. James has been making and decorating cakes for about a year, but has been cooking and helping his Mom in the kitchen for several years. When the two Beckham men get in the kitchen, Mrs. Beckham knows that the results will not be amateur products, but the result of the two men's talents. James also made that fancy cook's cap and apron.

Fred Beckham And Son, James, Will Give Mom A Rest On Her Holiday

Mother's Day doesn't come just once a year for Mrs. Fred Beckham.

With the two men in her life, Beckham and son, James, Mrs. Beckham is often treated with a meal prepared by the "chief cooks."

James, 10, seems to be following in his father's footsteps as far as cooking is concerned. Beckham says he began cooking when he was just a small boy. "My brother and I used to swap duties of cooking breakfast and washing dishes," Beckham recalls.

A cookbook compiled especially for the junior set is a prized possession for James. In this cookbook, suggestions are given for entire meal preparations and are often tried by James.

When quizzed about his favorite recipe James replied "I don't have a favorite recipe; I just like to fix everything." James has been puttering around in the kitchen since he was just a small kid. He says he just can't figure out why more kids don't like to cook.

His latest achievement, which started about a year ago, is cake decorating. Maneuvering a cake decorator takes lots of practice and a deft hand, but James is well on the way to becoming a skillful operator.

Many of the time Mrs. Beckham has been surprised by a beautifully decorated cake, and Mother's Day will be no exception because James has been practicing this week.

A ham, baked the Fred Beckham way, will give Mrs. Beckham a rest from the kitchen and will make for real good eating on Mother's Day.

Beckham makes a basting sauce of brown sugar and honey. Equal parts of the ingredients are used. She begins preparations by scoring the ham. The ham is then basted with the brown sugar and honey, and pineapple slices are added before baking. In the middle of the pineapple a cherry is placed.

Beckham says to bake the ham about 30 to 40 minutes per pound, basting every 30 minutes. The juice from the ham will combine with the other basting sauce for a flavorful treat.

A delicious and colorful gelatin salad is also prepared by Beckham. This can be prepared well in advance of serving.

Method: Dissolve one package of strawberry gelatin with one cup hot water. Add one package of frozen strawberries. This will make the gelatin congeal enough for you to fold in one half pint of whipped cream. Pour in mold and place in refrigerator until serving time.

Men, take heed; about the most appreciated gift you can give that mother in your family is a quick trip out to the kitchen. Surely the intricate workings of the kitchen can't baffle the American male!

Baked-On Topping For Meat Loaf

No sauce is needed for this meat loaf because it has a baked-on topping.

DIFFERENT MEAT LOAF
Ingredients:

One egg, ¼ cup milk, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 small onion (finely grated), ¼ cup quick-cooking rolled oats, 1½ pounds ground beef, 2 eggs, ¼ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon bottled horseradish.

Method:

In a medium-sized mixing bowl beat 1 egg enough to combine yolk and white; mix in ¼ cup milk, 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper, curry powder and grated onion (pulp and juice). Stir in rolled oats. Add ground beef and work in thoroughly with fork or fingers. Pack mixture into baking pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 30 minutes. Beat 2 eggs, ¼ cup milk, and ¼ teaspoon salt until combined; stir in horseradish. Pour over meat loaf after it has baked 30 minutes; return to oven for 30 minutes longer. Let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Makes 8 servings.

Frying Tip
Fry slices of Canadian bacon lightly or they will be dry and hard.

Spring Asparagus Offers Tasty Delight To Eaters

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Spring can show no brighter sight to a cook's watchful eye than asparagus piled high in food-market stalls. What could taste better than those first green stalks, cooked lovingly and sauced appropriately?

Pay no attention to recipes that direct you to tie the asparagus in a bunch and lower it into the bottom of a double boiler or a coffee percolator. The idea behind this advice is to have the bottom of the stalks and the tender tips cook in the same length of time. Unnecessary bother, we say!

Arrange the stalks in a deep skillet, add a small amount of boiling water, cover and cook 8 to 12 minutes — depending on the thickness of the asparagus. Lift the cover of the skillet several times to help keep the vegetable green.

But one caution. This method of cooking is for asparagus stalks that are peeled. Not to remove the outer covering of the lower part of the stalk is barbaric, in our opinion! Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer for the job and you can do it in no time at all.

Ever since we tasted browned butter with fresh asparagus and artichokes we have known this simple combination was heaven-sent. But recently we came up on a variation of the classic sauce that is a pleasant offshoot. Here's how to concoct it.

BROWN BUTTER SAUCE FOR FRESH ASPARAGUS
Ingredients:

One-fourth cup butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Method: Melt the butter over very low heat in a small saucepan. Just as it begins to take on a pale brown color, stir in the flour. Continue stirring while sauce bubbles and foams and turns to a hazelnut brown color. Remove from heat at once and stir in lemon juice. Stir off heat until foaminess subsides and serve at once over 1½ to 2 pounds of freshly-cooked hot drained asparagus. Make 4 to 6 servings.

GOOD EATING REMINDERS
May we call your attention to some epicurean ways to serve the freshly cooked green asparagus stalks?

1. Brown fine bread or cracker crumbs in butter and sprinkle over the hot drained stalks.
2. Dunk the hot drained stalks in melted butter and sprinkle with bits of crisply cooked bacon and canned pimiento.

3. Cut the drained stalks fine and reheat in a fine cream sauce made with chicken stock. Spoon into flaky pastry tart shells and garnish each with a slice of hard-cooked egg, a sprinkle of paprika and a caper-rolled anchovy.
4. Marinate the drained stalks in a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar and prepared mustard. Serve with slices of tomato.

5. Melt some butter in a big skillet and add a layer of shredded rice cereal squares; sprinkle with garlic powder and brown lightly, stirring often. Remove from heat and stir in a good sprinkling of grated Romano or Parmesan cheese; the cheese should melt a little and stick to the cereal squares. Serve these tidbits with the hot drained asparagus stalks.

6. Serve the hot drained stalks with a lemon-butter sauce plus silvered browned-in-butter almonds.

Fast Chill
Bury a can of evaporated milk in ice if you want to chill it rapidly before beating.

Note To Brides

Buy a canvas cover for your pasty board and a stockinet cover for your rolling pin. These accessories are invaluable aids in rolling it pie or cookie dough.

For Gravies

To brown flour for gravies and other meat sauces, spread a layer of flour over the bottom of a heavy skillet. Stir over moderately low heat until the flour is golden.

Crisp Cookies Are Children's Favorite

Children invariably like these crisp cookies.

EVERYDAY COOKIES

Ingredients:
One cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats, ¼ pound (½ cup) margarine, ½ cup smooth-style peanut butter, 1 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 2 eggs, ¼ cup seedless raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained), ¼ cup snipped pitted dates.

Method:

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in rolled oats. Cream margarine, peanut butter and brown sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Add flour mixture; mix well. Mix in raisins and dates. Drop mixture a tablespoon at a time, a couple of inches apart, on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 13 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. (Cookies spread and will be crisp when cooled). Cool on racks; store in tightly covered container. Makes about 4 dozen.

Prince Has Tonsils Out

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles had his tonsils and adenoids removed today at Buckingham Palace.

A palace bulletin described the condition of the 8-year-old heir to the British throne as "very satisfactory."

The young prince has been bothered by tonsillitis, which kept him away from class for some time shortly after he began school outside the palace last January.

Charles returned to school last week after a long Easter holiday. Now he is expected to stay in bed for about a week.

Surgical equipment was brought to the palace last night from the Great Ormond Street Hospital and a room on the first floor was equipped as an operating theater.

The Queen and Prince Philip were at the palace while the operation was performed. Later Prince Philip left on an official visit to the Royal Maritime Museum at Greenwich.

socialized—Press used this picture after painting some clothes on the man. I never was able to identify him and don't believe he survived.

After taking about 15 pictures I returned to the hangar where the press had set up headquarters. Here I arranged for a plane to carry my film to the Newark Airport and for an Associated Press messenger to pick it up there.

Then I just sat down on the ground outside the hangar with my back against the wall and cried.

I learned the casualty toll the next day: 22 crew members, 13 passengers and one ground crewman dead, scores injured. These were the first passenger fatalities in airship history. Past accidents had killed military or civilian crewmen.

A board of inquiry later blamed the fire and explosion on a discharge of atmospheric electricity near a hydrogen leak. But most experts agreed the real cause never would be known.

The disaster marked the end of commercial airship operation in the world. Not a single paying passenger has ridden a rigid dirigible since May 6, 1937.

Veteran Photographer Recalls Terror Of Hindenburg Blaze

By MURRAY BECKER
Associated Press Chief Photographer

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 9 (AP) — It was a routine assignment. I was to take pictures of the dirigible Hindenburg when it landed at Lakehurst Naval Air Station after a flight from Frankfurt, Germany.

The giant airship was scheduled to land at 6 a.m. on that May 6, 1937. So I was on hand bright and early with several other photographers and a few reporters. But the hours dragged by and there was no sign of the Hindenburg. Those who had covered dirigible landings before said this was typical—they almost always had to wait.

By midafternoon we were getting weary of sitting around. Relatives and friends on hand to greet the ship's passengers were grumbling about the long wait.

Then about 4 p.m. someone shouted: "There she is!" I looked up and saw the huge zeppelin floating majestically overhead, the sun glinting on its silvery sides. Huge Nazi swastikas stood out brilliantly on the tail-fins. I could see passengers moving about in the salon and crew members in the control section. On board were 59 crewmen and 38 passengers.

To the north I noticed some dark clouds piling up. But I didn't pay much attention to them as I prepared to take pictures. Excited friends and relatives pressed closer to the fence near the hangar. But we learned from Cmdr. Charles Rosendahl, commandant of the station, that Capt. Max Pruss, Hindenburg commander, was wary of the storm clouds and had radioed he would postpone a landing until at least 6 p.m.

and caught the ship on an even keel before it crashed to the ground seconds later.

Working almost automatically, I changed picture holders, rewound my focal-plane shutter and within five seconds had a second shot of the huge ship striking the ground with flames pouring from its nose.

I was conscious of a terrific blast of heat and of people screaming about me, but I ran forward, snapping pictures until the heat drove me back.

From a distance I recorded on film the smoking, twisted skeleton of this monster which only a minute before had been master of the air. Exactly 32 seconds after the first explosion the hydrogen had been consumed and only the red-hot metal framework remained.

Miraculously, survivors, many of them in flames, started emerging from the wreckage. Some were running, some crawling, others stumbling.

Rescue workers braved the intense heat to carry the dead, the dying and the injured from the inferno. Hysterical friends and relatives of the passengers added to the confusion by rushing wildly onto the field.

I continued to take pictures, repeating "Oh, my God!" over and over.

I photographed a victim being led away by two Navy men. He was in a daze, his clothes completely burned away, his skin hanging from his arms. The As-

Disaster Cost Counted

Maj. Gen. Holmes E. Dager of the Federal Civil Defense office tells newsmen in an Austin press conference that preliminary estimates of damage in Texas' tornado and flood disasters totals some $5 million dollars. He is making a plane, helicopter and automobile survey of the disaster areas. At left is William L. McGill, coordinator of the State Defense and Disaster Relief.

U.S. Cotton Crop Estimate Is Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated the 1956 cotton crop at 13,310,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight with a farm value of $2,111,000,000.

This estimate—based on final ginning reports for the crop—compares with 14,721,000 bales with a farm value of $2,382,000,000 for the 1955 crop. Production of the ten-year (1945-54) average was 13,098,000 bales.

The reduction from 1955 and from the average largely reflected tighter production control measures and retirement of land from production under the soil bank payment program. The existence of a cotton surplus prompted both the control and soil bank programs.

While no forecast has been made yet, there is a possibility that this year's crop may be even smaller.

Cottonseed production last year was estimated at 5,423,000 tons with a farm value of $29,000,000 compared with 6,038,000 tons in 1955 with a value of $269,000,000. The 10-year average production was 5,260,000 tons.

The department estimated that farmers received an average of 31.7 cents a pound for the 1956 cotton lint compared with 32.4 cents for the 1955 crop. The average price received for cottonseed last year was $53.50 compared with $44.60 a ton in 1955.

Thus the combined value of the 1956 crop of lint and cottonseed was $2,401,000,000 compared with $2,651,000,000 for the 1955 crop.

The acreage of cotton harvested last year was reported at 15,615,000 compared with 16,928,000 in 1955 and 22,060,000 for the 10-year average. The harvested acre yield averaged 409 pounds compared with 417 pounds for the 1955 crop and 283 for the ten-year average.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton last year was reported at 50,300 bales compared with 42,900 in 1955.

The acreage harvested, the yield per harvested acre and the production, respectively, on cotton by states last year included:

Arkansas 1,365,000; 500 and 1,426,000; Louisiana 562,000; 496 and 581,000; Oklahoma 715,000; 175 and 261,000; Texas 6,200,000; 280 and 3,615,000; and New Mexico 181,000; 797 and 301,000.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton by states last year included: Texas 16,600 bales; New Mexico 6,900.

Summerlike Spell Ends

By The Associated Press

Cool Canadian air spread across north central sections of the country today, ending a brief spell of summerlike weather, but it was mild and clear in most of the nation's eastern quarter.

There were many areas of precipitation in the West as well as in the cool belt, while stormy weather hit sections of Texas.

The chilly air moved rapidly southward across the north central region yesterday, bringing showers and thundershowers with the collision with warm air. Heaviest rainfall, up to nearly 2 inches, was in southwestern Nebraska. Moderate to heavy amounts fell in parts of the northern Great Lakes region.

The cool belt extended from Montana through Wisconsin and was expected to move during the day into Lower Michigan and as far south as northern Kansas and Missouri. Temperatures were mostly in the 40s as compared to the 60s yesterday morning.

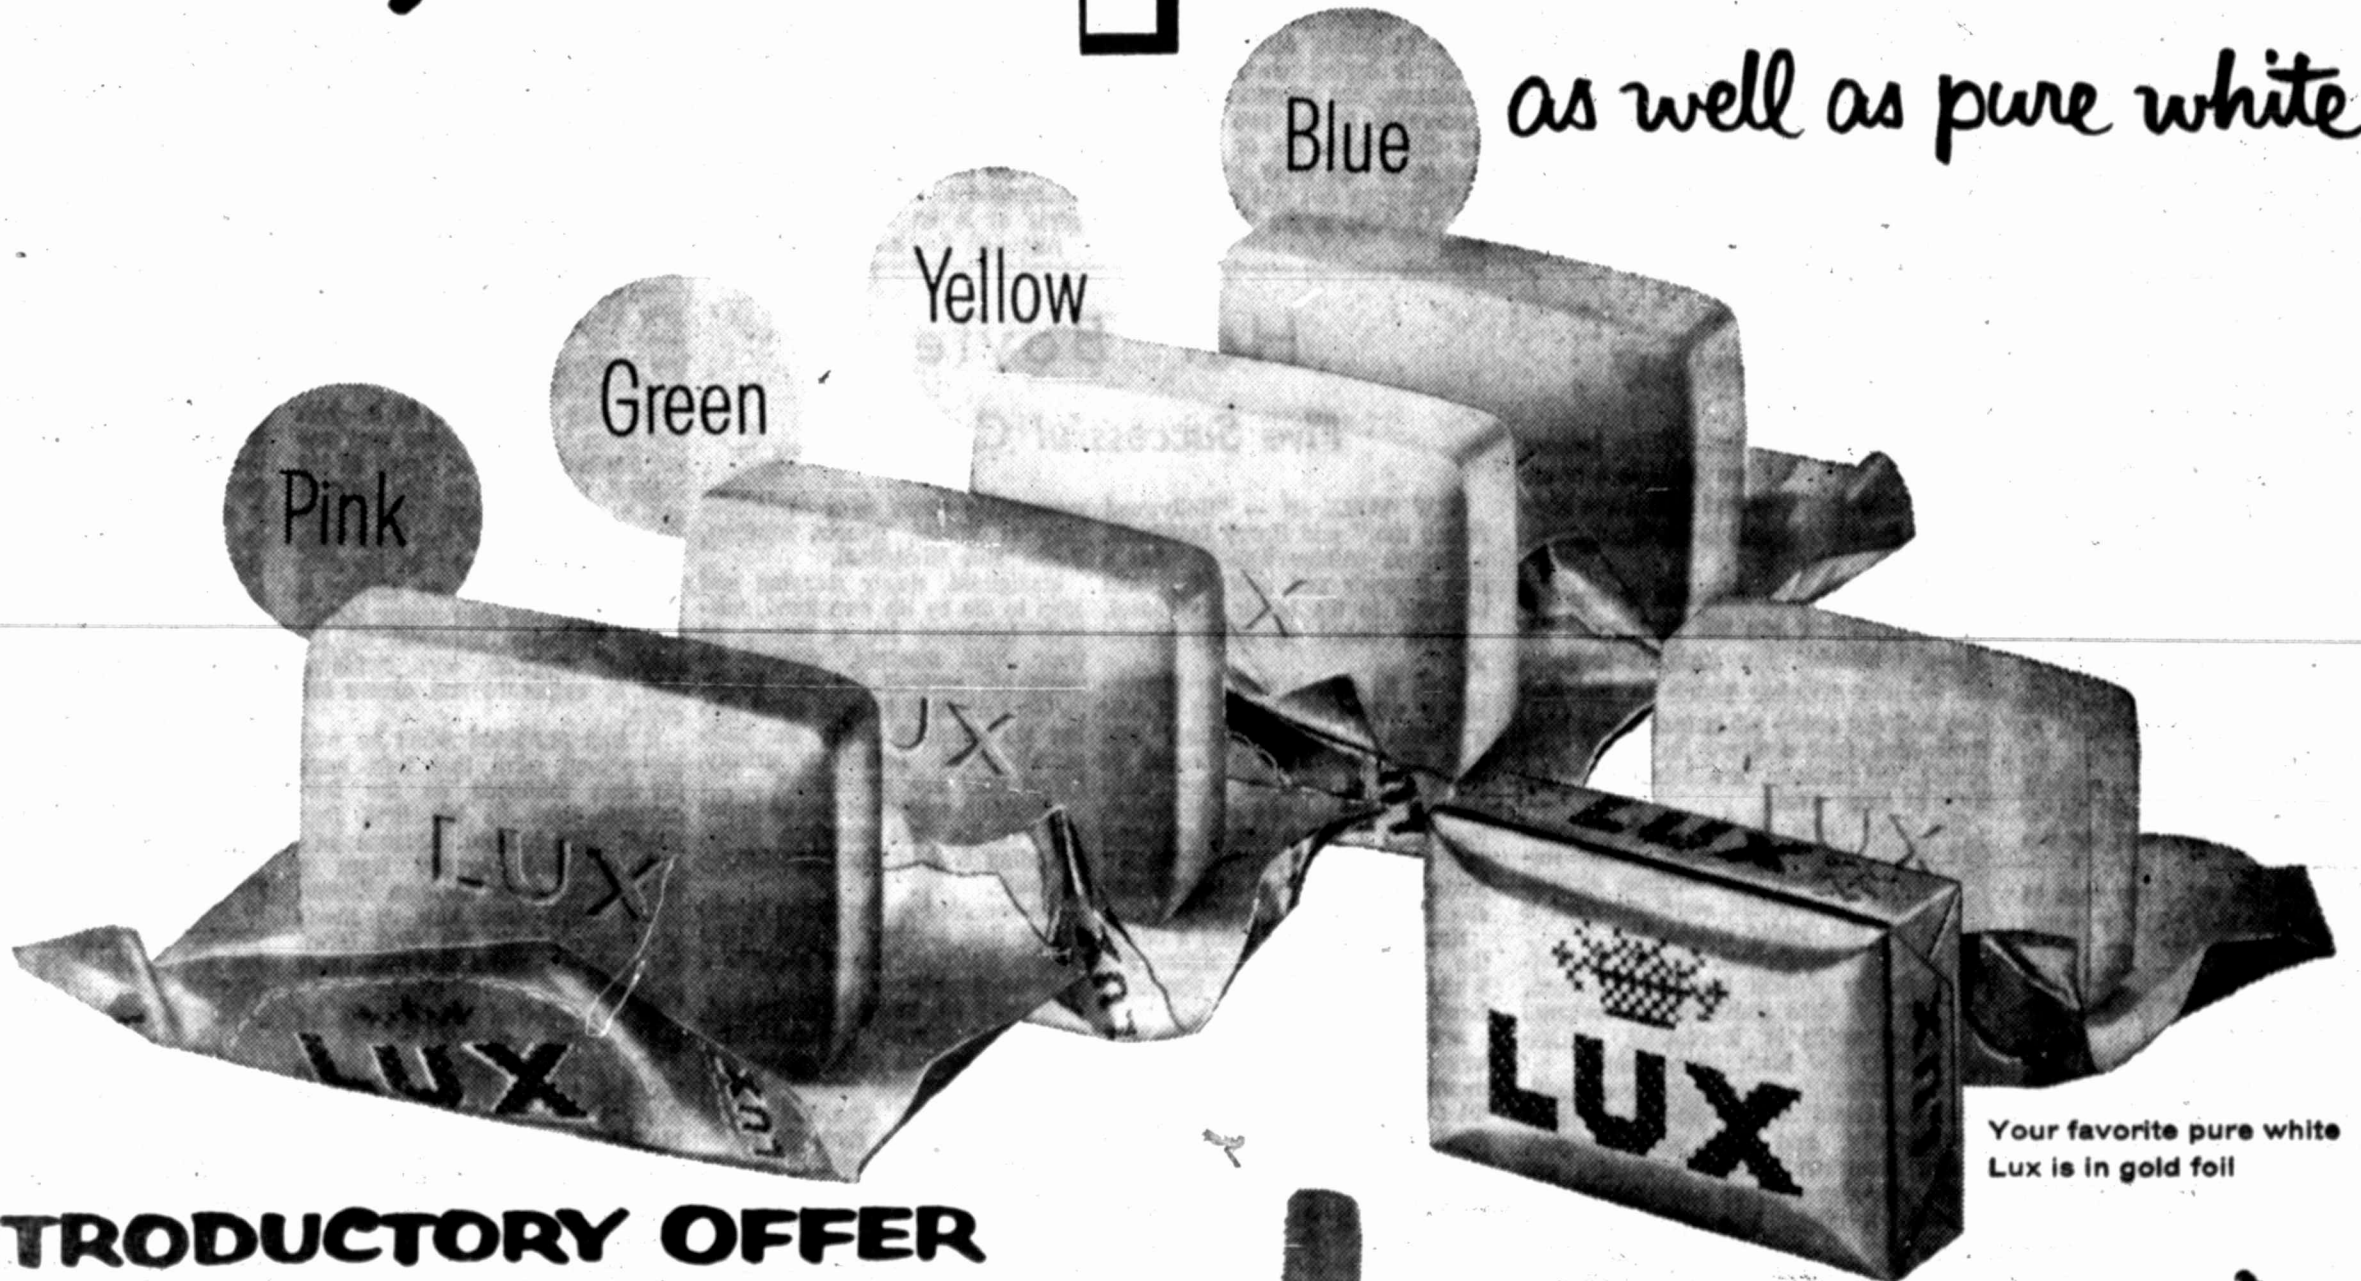

Light showers sprinkled areas from the cool belt westward through the northern and central Rockies to Washington, Oregon and northern California.

Widely scattered showers and thundershowers also hit areas from Louisiana and Texas into southeast Kansas.

Youths Charged In Race Incident

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—Two white youths have been charged with assault to murder after admitting they drove into a yard at a Negro home April 8 and peppered three children with a shotgun.

Sheriff Woody Blanton and Police Chief Paul Borum filed charges shortly before noon today against Robert H. Freeman, 17, and Bobby Curtis, 18, both Denison High School seniors.

They said both youths had signed statements admitting they drove through the Negro residential district, found eight Negro children in a yard, fired two shots, drove around a block and then fired a third shot.

There had been several rock throwing incidents here after a 17-year-old white girl was raped four days earlier by three Negro youths. The officers said Freeman and Curtis related they drove into the district "to see if anybody will throw rocks at us."

Expulsion Of Teamsters Can Result In A Long, Bitter Fight

By RELMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—What action can organized labor take to correct abuses when it finds them in a union?

You are seeing the machinery operating now in the case of the powerful Teamsters Union and its president, Dave Beck. The AFL-CIO has used it before with other big unions.

The AFL-CIO is a federation of unions with 15 million members. The Teamsters, with more than

Watchspring Works As Heart Valve

DETROIT (AP)—A year ago a 34-year-old Detroit mother of five was told she had a life expectancy of six months. Today she is leading a near-normal life—the main spring of a watch serving as a heart valve.

She is Mrs. Mabel Streeter. Wayne State University says on April 5, 1956, she became the first person whose leaky heart valve was replaced by a metal spring.

The artificial valve was developed by a team of doctors from the Wayne University College of Medicine and the Elgin National Watch Co. from an alloy used in watch main springs. The company predicts it could last 300 years.

Mrs. Streeter was considered critically ill 18 months ago, unable to do any housework or walk up steps without aid. Now, her doctors say, she does her housework and some shopping and can climb eight steps without undue fatigue.

"The mitral valve in the left side of her heart had calcified and its flaps turned inward, leaving a hole that never fully closed between heart beats.

Rheumatic fever was blamed for scarring the valve.

... blood from the lungs into the left ventricle—the main pumping chamber—and closes as the heart gushes blood into the aorta or main artery. But Mrs. Streeter's valve permitted the blood to pass both ways between the chambers and the body got only a trickle, so to speak.

Doctors figured her life expectancy at six months when they decided to try the metal valve technique—used in 110 experiments on dogs, but never on humans.

A surgical team at Wayne State had been working for two years on perfection of the metal valve for just such an emergency as beset Mrs. Streeter. One of their first steps was to find an "ideal" metal.

The frame had to be fine enough not to obstruct the aortic flow as the heart pumped, yet elastic enough to flip the valve up to cover the mitral opening during the pumping motion. It also had to be noncorrosive.

A watch repairman suggested a hair spring was too fine, but he thought a new alloy main spring might do the trick. The doctors went to Elgin, which volunteered to work with them.

The valve fashioned by the surgeons is diamond shaped, as large as a penny, with a nylon web across it. It snaps up over the mitral valve opening, snags down the pumping chamber.

The heart muscle works the valve.

The team which did the job includes Drs. James H. Wible, Lyle F. Jacobson, Prescott Jordan Jr. and Charles G. Johnston.

Baptists Choose 'Mother Of Year'

GOLDTHWAITE — A 70-year-old housewife who was married in a buggy, reared 14 children and sent nine of them to college was named Wednesday as the 1957 Texas Baptist Mother of the Year.

She is Mrs. Annie Laura Hale, a member of the First Baptist Church at Goldthwaite, a Sunday school teacher for the past 56 years, and an energetic church worker for more than half a century.

Baptist leaders said Mrs. Hale was chosen for the honor "because of the dedicated motherhood she has exemplified in her home and the consistent service she has rendered as a Christian workman through the years."

Born in Washington County, Mrs. Hale grew up on a farm, married a neighborhood boy (John Harvey Hale) and for years kept her youngest children under a tree while she worked with her husband in the fields.

The couple started out with just one horse, one cow, a buggy (the same one they were married in) and $10. They have never had any great amount of money, but they reared 14 children of their own and three left by a sister when she died. They sent all of
