Diesel Units 'Shucked' In Collision

Diesel units were damaged in a collision near a switch in the west Texas & Pacific yards here early Thursday. Four units were badly damaged, and one slightly, as the impact "shucked" the siding on some of them (above). How the heavy machinery was twisted and crumpled by the force is indicated in the photograph (below) on one unit which was jarred off the track. (Keith McMillin Photo)

Silverton's Death Toll Stands At 20

Twister Strikes Panhandle Town

SILVERTON (AP)—A wide, battering tornado whipped through this little West Texas town and vicinity last night, killed a score of residents, many of them children, and destroyed or damaged 60 or more homes and business places.

The death toll as reported by state police and other sources stood at 20 in late morning. Debris was searched for possible other victims. State police and residents had difficulty identifying all the bodies. At least one victim died en route to a hospital. One death, state police reported, occurred at the nearby community of Lone Star. "We got no warning at all," said Elbert Stephens "It came down on Silverton out of the rainy night without warning. People died without even knowing what happened." All the bodies and the injured were taken from the town this morning because of a lack of water, electricity, telephone service and other facilities. The hospital is tiny, in a re-

Got A Match, Buddy?

It's been quite damp in Colorado this spring, the wettest in years. At Fort Carson, Army troops sometimes have trouble finding each other, to say nothing of borrowing a match that will light. This trio of bayonet-toting soldiers and a sergeant took a smoke break during training, but gave up for lack of smoke. The Army's Navy training, however, goes on as usual.

Train Engines Sideswipe In Local Yards

Deisel equipment got together in the west end of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company yards here early Thursday, disabling five units and ripping up some track-ages. There were no personnel injuries. It was impossible to estimate the extent of damage to equipment, said K. D. Hestes, superintendent of the Western Division, pending a more detailed study of the wreckage. The collision occurred at approximately 5:35 a.m. at a switch about 500 yards west of the Gregg Street overpass. G. S. Fornshell, hostler, with J. I. Knox, helper, and G. F. Heckler, another aide, were east-bound with eight units. Pat Murphy, engineer, W. O. Grabar, fireman, and T. B. Nix, switchman, were westbound on an adjacent track with 21 cars when the work engine and units sideswiped near the intersection of the tracks. Crews were dispatched immediately to clear the wreckage. Hestes said a precursory examination indicated four of the Diesel units were badly damaged and one slightly. The amount of track loss was not immediately known but it was not regarded as severe. There was no disruption of through service on the T&P main line.

modeled house, with only four or five beds. The town was ankle deep in mud. People slogged around, trying to straighten things out. Around the town, acres and acres of land were flooded from the cloudburst that hit with the tornado. Rains were tremendous. Farms were covered with debris and the fields are strewn with sheet steel roofs that had been ripped to shreds. Along the road, fence posts were pulled up and barbed wire fences are snarled all along the road. Portions of farm fields look like they were plowed with a big plow, but actually flying debris did it. State police were touring towns over a wide area of the Panhandle, North Texas and the South Plains, visiting mortuaries and hospitals, attempting to compile a complete list of the dead and injured. The official list of those requiring hospitalization stood at 58, but many others suffered less severe hurts. State police and the Red Cross issued this official list of physical damage: 22 homes destroyed down to their foundations. 18 homes with minor damage. A cotton gin and warehouse destroyed. Stock pens and a loading ramp destroyed. All communications lines and utilities were knocked out for a time. This stricken community is in the Texas Panhandle, 65 miles southeast of Amarillo. "The people are numb with shock and terror," said Swisher County Sheriff Darrell Smith. "They can't seem to realize what has happened."

National Guard units, nurses, doctors, Red Cross helpers and volunteer rescue workers converged here from almost every point in the Texas Panhandle. Lack of lights, a torrential rain that continued for hours after the tornado struck and unpaved roads hampered rescue work in this town of 857 population. When hospitals at Tulia and Lockney were filled and overflowing with injured, ambulances took other victims to Plainview, Floydada, Dimmitt and Amarillo.

AF Day Show Schedule Set

Schedule of events for the big Armed Forces Day show at Webb AF Saturday was announced today by base authorities. Gates to the base will swing open to the public at 8 a. m. Saturday and everyone in this area is invited to be on hand to watch the show and examine static displays. Activities get underway at 9 a. m. with the wing review, presentation of several awards and a speech by Marshall Formby of Plainview, new chairman of the State Highway Commission. Following this will be the air show, with precision flying to be demonstrated by Webb's five test pilots — Lt. Robert C. Jordan, Maj. Edward J. Hershock, Capt. George H. Veldboom, Capt. Samuel C. Gray and Lt. Richard H. Klumpp. Thrills will be provided by Capt. Robert S. Patterson and Capt. William J. Epperson who will treat the crowd to some sensational aerobatics. Flying high — speed jets, striped of their wing tanks, the two pilots will perform both low — level and high altitude stunts and make a number of high — speed passes across the field. The aerial demonstrations are due to be staged from 10 to 11 a. m. After that, visitors will be free to visit the Army, Air Force and Navy displays which will be concentrated around the big hangar and in the area adjacent to the control tower. No guides will be necessary. Col. Charles Young, base commander, was assured every resident of the area to witness the show Saturday. No passes will be required for admission to the base.

Legislature Finally OKs State's Big Spending Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislature took a major stride toward final adjournment today with both House and Senate finally approving the two billion dollar spending bill. That sent the big appropriations bill to Gov. Daniel. The House adopted a resolution calling for final adjournment at 6 p. m. May 23—a week from today. The Senate would have to agree also to that date. If it is adopted, all remaining legislation must be disposed of before the hour and date set. House approval of the appropriations bill with its general increase on spending for all state services came 38 minutes after debate started. The vote was 107-40. The Senate passed the spending bill 21-8. A minimum of argument sounded against the compromise bill in the House and a barrage of compliments—even from the teachers' bloc that had kept the measure roadblocked for almost a week. Representatives wanting bigger salary raises for state employes and more money for Agricultural Extension Service put up the only appreciable debate against the spending bill in the House. Immediately after passing the appropriations bill the House began action on a sine die motion—a resolution setting final adjournment of the Legislature for 6 p. m. May 23. After a futile attempt by the segregation bloc the House approved the quitting date 86-55. The House was expected to turn next to the proposed teacher pay demands (HB 8) averaging $399 annually. The pay raise also is tagged for swift passage. Just how long it would take the House and Senate to act on the two measures was about how long the 55th Legislature would last. Pay for legislators stopped more than a week ago when the Constitution-suggested 120-day period ended. About 500 teachers, most of them superintendents, swarmed into the Capitol to impress legislators of their power. The Senate quit yesterday after passing a bill (HB 103) which would transfer 12 million dollars from the permanent school fund into funds that would make it available for teachers' raises. The bill goes to the governor. The Senate also approved a House-passed measure (HJR 2) which, if finally approved by voters would eventually raise the state's share of aid to old folks, dependent children and the blind from $20 to $25. The immediate raise would be only to $21. A so-called "good government" bill which would punish public officials for not publishing statements and notices as directed by law was killed 54-73 by the House. Although already passed by the Senate, representatives turned against it when opponents claimed that it was a "special benefit bill" for newspaper publishers. Other final action on bills that sent them to the governor included: House approval of changes to a bill authorizing the construction of a 500-bed mental hospital near either Galveston, Houston or Dallas. The hospital, probably scheduled for the Houston-Galveston area, would include a 60-bed out-patient clinic for treating the mentally ill without hospitalizing them. Senate approval of a House bill requiring newspaper publication of applications for beer permits, not just posting of notices on courthouse doors. Senate approval of a House bill providing guaranty funds for credit unions. Senate approval of a bill letting the Department of Public Safety issue special drivers licenses to teen-agers with motor scooters. Senate passage of a House bill requiring an annual audit of all public schools.

Second Trial For Washburn Slated

DALLAS (AP)—The second murder trial of Harry Washburn, 40, in the auto bomb slaying of his former mother-in-law was set for June 16 by Judge Frank Wilson today. First Asst. Dist. Atty. James K. Allen said the state will seek the death penalty.

Operetta Will Be Presented Tonight

Big Spring's leading vocalists will combine voices this evening for the first of two presentations of Victor Herbert's operetta, "The Fortune Teller." Starring in the production will be Mrs. Don Newsom as the fortune teller, Maj. Vincent Brophy of Webb AFB, as her father, Margie Beth Keaton, as the fortune teller's mother, and George Clark of Howard County Junior College as Count Berezowski, around whom the story develops. Romance, intrigue and adventure fill the plot, including a scheme to substitute brides at the Count's wedding, loss of the ticket with which the King is supposed to win the national lottery, and disclosure of an undercover investigative operation.

Director for the musical is Orland Johnson, choir director at H.C.J.C. He is assisted by Maj. Brophy, who has had considerable experience in some of the nation's leading opera centers. Johnson's college choir will provide the chorus accompaniment and dancers will be from Bingham's studio. The Big Spring Rotary Club is sponsoring the operetta and proceeds will go to the club's fund for underprivileged and crippled children. Tickets, to be available at the door, will sell for $1.50, $1 and 50 cents. Curtain time today and Friday is 8 p. m. The musical will be staged in the Municipal Auditorium.

Third Of Bible Funds Raised

The effort to raise $1,000 to underwrite the high school Bible course had reached the one-third mark Thursday with about half of the allotted time for the appeal elapsed. Contributions reported through Thursday morning amounted to $71, boosting the total so far to $346. Latest donors included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McDaniel $30, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Daily, Jack F. Johnson, R. Gage Wilcox, $10 each; Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, Mrs. Minnie Allsman, $5 each; W. T. McRee $1. Those who would like to have a part in making possible this course (tax funds may not be used for Bible courses) are urged to mail or bring their contributions to the Herald. The sponsoring Big Spring Pastors Association hopes to close the appeal for the special aid by Monday.

Benson Predicts More Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson told House members today that the vote by the full House to kill a big part of the soil bank program carries the threat of more costly farm surpluses. Benson, as a witness before the House Agriculture Committee, had intended primarily to urge entirely new farm legislation. But in a late addition to his prepared testimony he tore into the move, voted 192-157 by the House yesterday, to cut off the $4 billion dollar acreage reserve part of the soil bank program after this year. Benson said the action against his yearling plan represented "false economy" and amounted to "prejudgment based on insufficient trial." "If the acreage reserve is not permitted to function for 1958 crops, there is every likelihood that surpluses will pile up still further, rather than diminish," Benson said. He added that if land retired into the soil bank this year is forced back into production next year, the cost of government price supports "will in all probability be greater than would have been the cost of the acreage reserve for 1958 basic crops." "Surpluses will again pile up at the expense of our taxpayers," Benson said House "prejudgment" was based on partial evaluation of the soil bank as it operated last year. "Last year the Department of Agriculture publicly warned that due to the lateness of passage of the soil bank law (Agricultural Act of 1956), the acreage reserve could not be expected to have its intended effect in full for 1956 crops and that administrative problems were bound to arise," Benson went on. Benson said charges have been made that the soil bank was costly and wasteful last year. "If that is so, why was the Department of Agriculture forced to put it into effect against the department's recommendations?" Benson asked. On the subject he had planned originally to discuss, Benson renewed assertions that the present formulas governing farm production controls and price supports are "obsolete." The secretary said price supports have been generally "helpful" but that they have given the farmer "not too much but too little." "I am not proposing that we scrap farm programs or that we scrap price support programs," he said. "I am saying that we need to revise some of our programs so that they better serve the needs of our farm people."

Fallout Negligible In British H-Test

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said today initial reports from Britain's first H-bomb explosion indicate local fallout was "almost negligible." He also told the House of Commons the explosion will strengthen Britain's hand in further international discussions on nuclear disarmament or control. British papers earlier said it restored Britain's independence of the United States and increased her stature as a world power. Britain fired its first H-bomb yesterday in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific despite wide protests—especially from the Japanese—that its fallout might endanger world health. The bomb was dropped from a great height over the watery wastes from a British bomber. Asian nations quickly expressed regret at the blast, but U. S. officials welcomed the news as contributing to Allied strength by making Britain the world's third full-fledged nuclear power, along with Russia and the United States. Reports from Washington said, however, the British H-blast was considered certain to result in new pressure on both the British and American governments to call off future atomic weapons tests. Such demands were renewed at once in Japan and Ceylon, where government officials asserted it was regrettable that Britain had gone ahead with the tests in the face of widespread opposition. The British press generally assumed the test was successful although a terse announcement from the ministry of supply said merely that the "first explosion of a nuclear device in the present series took place." The ministry added that scientific records are being collected "for accurate evaluation" and that a "further statement will be made in due course." There was no indication how many more test explosions would be held or when they would be set off. The number has been estimated at from three to five. The British government "turned down repeated requests to halt the tests, saying they would be conducted at high altitudes and that the fall-out would not create a radiation hazard.

Youths In Crime Here 'Distressing'

Crime here has at least two puzzlers, District Attorney Gil Jones, told the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday.

One is the fact that repeat offenders seem to specialize in forgeries; the other is that young offenders invariably are involved in thefts and burglaries.

Reporting on the activities of his office, Jones said that about 30 per cent of all indictments here dealt with forgeries. Among the repeat offenders, about 30 per cent of them are forgers who have the "disease of thinking they can make money with a pencil and a check."

Forty-four per cent of all the burglaries were chalked up to defendants 17-21 years of age; 50 per cent of the felony thefts; and 100 per cent of the armed robberies, said Jones.

He was alarmed over the rise in the number of youthful defendants. In 1955 this 17-21 age bracket accounted for 20 per cent of the cases of his office, said Jones. In 1956 they accounted for 30 per cent and this ratio is holding steady this year.

"This is distressing and shocking," he declared, "and is our most important problem in law enforcement. I do not know the answer. I don't know why they get involved, for I have yet to find one who said he did it because he needed money. I have seen some, who, given probation, were back in jail within a week."

Jones paid his respects to law enforcement officers and said that there was the closest teamwork and good spirit among the agencies that he had ever seen here. This is resulting in the apprehension of a greater number of offenders. On the face of it this presented a statistical picture that made Howard County look as though it had more crime than an average county its size, when in reality more are being caught and convicted.

He introduced the new county attorney, John Richard Coffee, to the club and pledged the cooperation of his office to Coffee. In charge of the program was Dan Conley.

Dr. Marshall Cauley, president, expressed the regrets of the club over the death of Jim Daughterty, Midland, past District 2-T-2 governor.

Lamesa Honors Cleanup Leader

Directors of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and the City of Lamesa on a Wednesday presented Early Peltier with a certificate of appreciation for his work in the recent cleanup campaign here.

Peltier headed the Chamber committee which laid out the campaign plans and then followed through on them. Mayor Bob Crowley made the presentation.

Chamber president Walter Buckel reported on the activities of the retailers committee. That panel is making several studies of the community, closing hours, licensing recommendations, etc.

The directors also heard a report relative to the building code committee of the Civic Development Committee is now studying a possible building code, and will make recommendations to the larger committee in the near future.

On the subcommittee are Howard Allen, E. B. Honeycutt, Garner Jones, Bowers Purcell and W. B. Osborne.

DR. LELAND FORREST

Educator, Former City Resident, Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Dr. A. Leland Forrest, 44, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Dr. Forrest was the son of Mrs. James A. Forrest. Other survivors included a sister, Mrs. Nola Whitaker, and two brothers, W. H. Forrest, and C. Forrest, Big Spring. He also left three other sisters and two other brothers.

Dr. Forrest had been chancellor at Nebraska Wesleyan at Lincoln since 1954.

He had undergone surgery on April 28 and was regarded in fair condition until May 6 when he took a sudden turn for the worst and died the next day.

Dr. Forrest was a 1928 graduate of Big Spring High School and received his AB degree magna cum laude from Abilene Christian College in 1932. He took his M. A. degree from Michigan State in 1940 and his Ph. D. from the University of Southern California in 1948. He also did graduate work at Ball State in Indiana and at the Universities of Chicago and Indiana. He taught at Anderson (Ind.) College and at Taylor University at Upland, Ind., before going to Wesleyan.

During his administration as chancellor, a new physical education building and two dormitories were constructed. Plans were completed for construction of a new campus student center. A 16-year $6 million development program also was mapped.

Dr. Forrest was a fluent and forceful speaker, much in demand in the Lincoln area. He was a member of many professional, scholastic, and church organizations including the general board of education for the Methodist Church.

He left his wife, one daughter, Mary Frances; two sons, Aubrey and James.

Turner Stakes Graburg Test Eight Miles South Of City

C. D. Turner of Big Spring has staked a Graburg explorer about eight miles south of Big Spring, and in Sterling, a San Angelo firm announced location of a Spraberry test.

The Turner venture is the No. 1 L. I. Stewart and is between the Howard-Glasscock and Moore fields. Drilling depth to try the Graburg is 3,400 feet.

In Sterling, Blue Bonnet Oil Company of San Angelo located the No. 1 S. M. Hildebrand 13 miles south of Sterling City. Operator will drill to 5,000 feet for Spraberry tests.

Borden

Tidewater No. 1-B Clayton-Johnson prepared to take a drillstem test today after finding oil shows on a core. Operator cored from 9,701-20 feet and recovered tight dolomite with oil shows. The wildcat venture is 660 from south and 2,019 from east lines, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey, and 10 miles southwest of Gail.

Shell No. 1-A Miller constructed tanks today while waiting on a pumping unit. This wildcat is 646 feet from south and 1,972 from east lines, 275-97, H&TC Survey, eight miles east of Gail.

Continental No. 2-39 Good deepened to 5,702 feet in lime and shale. Location is in the Arthur field, C SE SE, 39-33-4n, T&P Survey.

Dawson

Humble No. 1 Britt made hole at 8,449 feet in lime and shale. The wildcat location is 660 from north and west lines, Labor 16, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey, and five and a half miles northwest of Lamesa.

Fourteen miles west of Lamesa, McRae No. 1 Landers made hole at 11,985 feet in chert. The location is 1,984 from north and 2,348 from east lines, Labor 4, League 200, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

Texas Crude No. 1-79 Lindsey deepened to 7,135 feet in lime. Location of the wildcat is 1,650 from south and 2,310 from east lines, 79-M, EL&RR Survey, 18 miles northwest of Lamesa.

Glasscock

Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark is still testing Fusselman perforations without gauges on production. The test is in the Garden City field, 1,983 from north and 2,318 from west lines, 8-32-4s, T&P Survey.

Shell No. 1 Currie, a wildcat six miles north of Garden City, deepened to 6,728 feet in lime and shale. Drilling site is 665 from north and 851 from east lines, 24-34-3s, T&P Survey.

Howard

Turner No. 1 L. I. Stewart is a Graburg wildcat eight miles south of Big Spring, 320 feet from south and 2,338 from west lines, 46-33-1s, T&P Survey. It is between the Moore and Howard - Glasscock fields. Drilling depth is 3,400 feet.

In the Big Spring field, Phillips No. 1 Gilligan was still building tanks today. It is C NW SW, 18-31-n, T&P Survey, and five miles northeast of Big Spring.

Mitchell

Col-Tex No. 1-A Graeber pumped 73 barrels of 24-degree oil on 24-hour potential. The well is in the Westbrook field, 2,336 from south and 2,156 from west lines, 22-28-1n, T&P Survey. Perforations extend from 2,952-60, 2,968-76, 2,984-90, 3,019-52, 3-062-74, and 3-098-108 feet. Total depth is 3,150 feet.

Flamingo No. 5 Strain completed for a daily potential of 49.75 barrels of oil and 23 per cent water, producing from perforations below 1,645 feet. Total depth is 1,686 feet. The well is in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field, 1,650 from north and 2,310 from east lines, 64-97, H&TC Survey.

Flamingo No. 7 Strain pumped 82.94 barrels of 23.5 - degree oil and 29 per cent water in 24 hours. Perforations extend from 1,642-56 feet, and total depth is 1,676 feet. Operator treated with 10,000 gallons of fracture fluid before taking potential. Drillsite is 2,310 from north and east lines, 64-97, H&TC Survey.

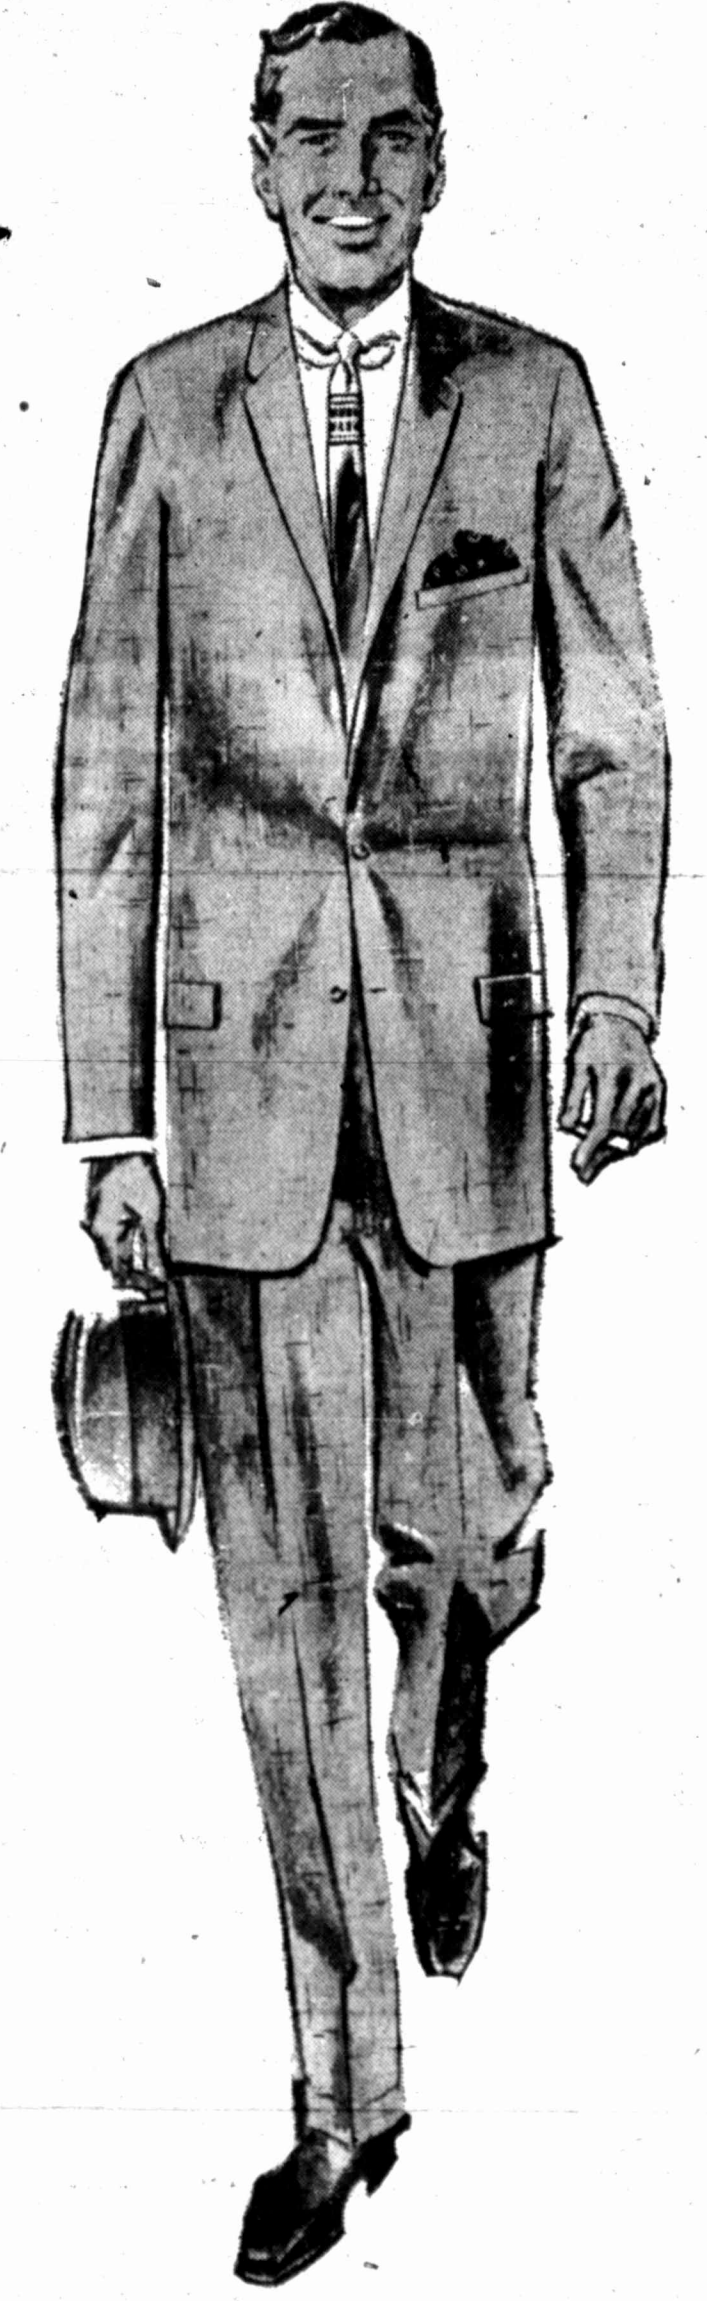

Donnell No. 6 R. J. Byrd, also in the Sharon Ridge pool, finished 57.36 barrels of oil and five per cent water in 24 hours. The oil tested 31 degrees. Location is 990 from east and 320 from south lines, 196-3, H&GN Survey. Total depth is 1,685 feet, and top of the pay section is 1,588. Perforations interval is 1,599-626 feet.

Sterling

Blue Bonnet Oil No. 1 S. M. Hildebrand is a Spraberry wildcat 13 miles south of Sterling City. It is 660 feet from south and 2,008 from east lines, 31, GC'SF Survey. Rotary drilling depth is 5,000 feet.

All Of Stolen Loot Claimed

The city relinquished the last part of the burglarized loot confiscated in a big raid at Webb AFB about a month ago.

On the night of April 16, city and Webb authorities confiscated approximately $3,500 in loot taken from eight firms here and one at Midland. The gear was hidden in lockers of three men and under their barracks.

Since then, the city has held the stolen equipment, but slowly the firms have claimed the gear. Wednesday, the last group of items was removed from the police building.

Among the items were cameras, TV sets, radios, knives, guns, and clothing. Three airmen were charged with burglary following the raid.

Mike Martinez Attorney Not To Ask Continuance Of Case

George Thomas, attorney for Mike Martinez, one of four Big Spring boys involved in the gun death of Taylor Garrett, Sterling City, said Thursday that he is "not particularly interested in any continuance of the case" insofar as his client is concerned.

Martinez, with Nicky Rocha, Doyle Hall and Herman Lee Wright, are scheduled to be brought before the juvenile court in Sterling City at 9 a.m. Friday for trial.

Clyde Thomas, who represents Wright and Hall, has indicated he will ask for a continuance and also ask for a change of venue. He intends to seek a jury trial for his young clients, he has stated, and also questions the validity of the current jury panel in Sterling County.

Wayne Burns, attorney for Rocha, has said he probably would go along with Clyde Thomas in his efforts for a continuance and venue change.

George Thomas said that he would be at the hearing to make certain that his client is afforded of all his legal and constitutional rights. In reply to a question that it had been rumored he would let his client plead guilty, Thomas observed that the trial of a juvenile is a civil matter and that he was not aware of any way in which a guilty plea could be made in such a case.

Martinez, who allegedly fired the fatal shots which killed Taylor Garrett, 54, night attendant at a filling station on the night of May 7, is only 13 years old. Rocha and Wright are the same age and Hall is only 12.

Insofar as could be learned, no change has been made in plans for the hearing on Friday in Sterling County courthouse. Efforts to contact County Judge Murrell of Sterling County this morning were futile.

The four boys were apprehended in San Angelo an hour after Garrett had been slain in what officers describe as an abortive holdup attempt. They have been in custody there since that time. Rocha, Martinez and Wright have been in the juvenile ward of the Tom Green county jail. Hall has been in Shannon hospital. The boys were captured after they had wrecked a car in which they were riding in an attempt to avoid a road block. Hall suffered injuries to his shoulder.

Theft Suspect Freed On Bond

Lewis Adams, one of three Webb Air Force Base airmen held in connection with a series of burglaries last month, has been released from the Howard County jail on $2500 bond.

He is the only one of the trio who has been able to post bond. The men were placed in the county jail on April 18 as aftermath to an investigation by Air Force and city police into a series of break-ins.

A large quantity of merchandise allegedly stolen was recovered. The others held are Richard Fappas and Richard Fringer.

Their cases will be placed before the next grand jury scheduled for late in June.

Y-Club Officer Installation Set

Parents are invited to the Junior High School Y clubs installation and Rededication service at the First Methodist Church tonight.

The program will be held at 7 p. m., with Truman Jones installing the officers.

Four Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y organizations will be involved.

Officers to be installed include: Eighth Grade Hi-Y - president, Coy Mitchell; vice president, Jerry McDaniel; secretary-treasurer, Dick Ebling; and chaplain, Jerry Younger.

Eighth Grade Tri-Hi-Y - president, Kathy Johnson; vice president, Karen Koger; secretary, Frankie Morgan; treasurer, Sharon Starr; and chaplain, Paula Sledge.

Ninth Grade Hi-Y - president, Carey King; vice president, Tim Williamson; secretary, Robert Carr; treasurer, Jerry Dunlap; and chaplain, Emmett Morgan.

Ninth Grade Tri-Hi-Y - president, Beth Scarber; vice president, Modesta Simpson; secretary, Wanda Boatler; treasurer, Vicki Foster; and chaplain, Cleo Thomas.

Ex-Webb Airman Killed In Wreck

Funeral services for Bill Postier, former Webb Air Force Base airman and husband of the former Miss Janelle Gaye Jones, Big Spring, are to be Friday in Garber, Okla., friends here have been advised.

Mr. Postier died of injuries received May 5 in a car accident near Stillwater, Okla., in which four persons were killed. He was a student at Oklahoma A&M College.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Postier, Garber. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife and one daughter, Vickie, aged 1 1/2 years.

He was at the WAFB from 1952 through 1955.

Airman Is Injured In Auto Mishap

State Highway Patrol Officers investigated a car wreck reported to have involved but one vehicle around midnight Wednesday in the 1800 block of West Third.

A-2 Claude Cohee of the AACCS, Webb Air Force Base, was injured in the accident. He was treated at the base hospital but was released this morning.

No details of the accident were available. Nalley-Pickett Funeral Home ambulance was called to the scene to take the injured man to the hospital.

City police said the mishap was just outside the city limits.

Houston Man Succumbs Here

Samuel J. Barnett, 46, of Houston died in a hospital here last night.

Remains will be sent this evening to Mineral Wells where funeral arrangements are pending. River Funeral Home is in charge.

Mr. Barnett was born Nov. 25, 1910, in Maysville, Okla. He had lived in Houston since 1954, but prior to that was an oil well driller residing in Midland. He was a member of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Frances Ann Barnett of Houston; two brothers, Jack Barnett of Wink and Tom Barnett, address not known here; and two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Whaley of Eastland and Mrs. Jessie Metz of Hobbs, N. M.

Shots Are Given Only On Fridays

Immunization shots are provided at the city-county health unit only from 1 to 3 p. m. on Fridays, Bo Bowen, public health nurse, emphasized today.

Miss Bowen said she has received numerous calls recently from persons seeking the inoculations. The shots are provided free to children of indigent families. A local physician provides his services in supervision of the vaccine for polio and other infections.

The doctor is available only from 1 to 3 p. m. on Fridays and that is the only time the vaccine can be administered, Miss Bowen stressed.

Deputies Arrest Forgery Suspect

M. A. Wallace, charged with attempting to pass a forged check, has been arrested by deputy sheriffs and is being held in the Howard County jail.

He was arrested Wednesday afternoon a short time after he allegedly attempted to pass a $30 forged check at the C. R. Anthony store. Charges have been filed against him in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace.

CHESTER ABERNATHY

Scout Leader Here Honored

Screening the nation for 36 of their finest leaders, the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, chose S-Sgt. Chester Abernathy, Headquarters Squadron Section, Maintenance and Supply Group, as one of these distinguished men.

He has been invited to attend a camping and training meeting at Philmont Scout Ranch Aug. 3-11. Selection of men for the Wood Badge training is based on the capacity and willingness of each to serve his council as a trainer of instructors for basic training.

Sgt. Abernathy has been a guiding light of the 146th Air Explorers that are sponsored by the base. The troop will have a booth in the hangar, Bldg. T-1, on Armed Forces Day.

Federal Bank Gets Hot After Old Currency

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Money to burn isn't the slogan of the Federal Reserve sub-branch bank in San Antonio, of course, but it's what they do with old currency that reaches the bank's vaults.

Recently officials burned 100 thousand dollars in currency.

Dollars don't last long, just a few spendings. As member banks send in their deposits and money shipments to the bank, currency sorters sift out the aged currency and those bills which have been defaced.

The bank here burns only U.S. currency issued by the Treasury Department. Federal Reserve Bank currency is burned by the Treasury Department.

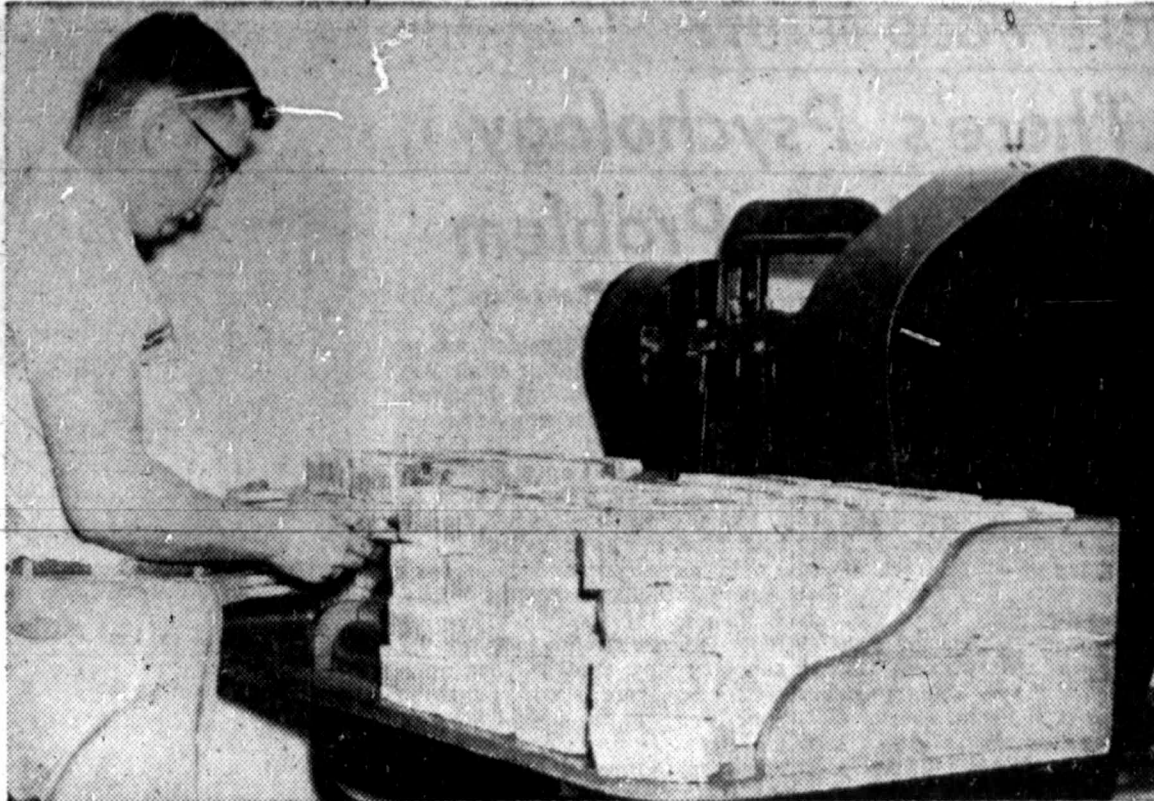

A few years ago a big batch of money was taken by the Federal Reserve Bank to the Post Office for destruction. Precautions were taken, but some bills floated out on the heat, through an unnoticed flue. Passersby began picking up the bills that rained down.

The furnace in the new building has grills and screens to keep all bills in place for complete burning.

If your own money is burned, you can perhaps be repaid by the government if any parts of the bills are still intact.

Take the case of the farmer whose calf ate his wallet. The farmer cut open the calf and retrieved his purse. Enough was left for the farmer to get $25 from the government for the mutilated evidence.

Then there was the wife who baked her husband a cake. She didn't know he had hidden his snap-top purse containing currency in the oven. The husband with the baked cake and money managed to establish the amount and recover.

Money To Burn

Coin Teller Marvin Stehling of San Antonio, an employee of Federal Reserve sub-branch bank in San Antonio, prepares to punch four holes in the currency stacked before him. This is the first step in preparing old or defaced money after it has been taken out of circulation. The money is then cut in half and burned.

Rare Entertainment In Wylie Interview

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—That was a rare half-hour of television when Mike Wallace interviewed Philip Wylie on his ABC-TV Sunday evening program recently.

It was to begin with, a good idea to select as the subject for Mother's Day Philip Wylie, that excellent American writer who 15 years ago belabored the most obnoxious form of mom in "Generation of Vipers."

Why Wylie was willing to go under the scorching lights is understandable. He's a courageous guy, ever willing to tilt a windmill when no knight in armor is around.

Why Wallace was willing to tackle Wylie is less understandable. Writers make difficult interviews. They're complex people, inclined to be diffuse. The better

Jap Envoy's Wife May Now Correct His Perfect English

By GENE KRAMER
TOKYO (AP)—At last, Koichiro Asakai said with a smile, his wife is going to get a chance to correct his flawless English.

Asakai is leaving in a week to become Japan's ambassador in Washington. He speaks what he calls the Queen's English, having studied at Edinburgh University and served as Japanese minister to Britain. His wife Takako, went to college in the United States and speaks the American brand.

"I say shey-dule instead of ske-dule and tramcar instead of streetcar," Asakai continued during an interview. "My wife at last will have a right to correct my pronunciation."

Asakai, 51, is the first of Japan's younger crop of postwar diplomats to reach the highest level in the Foreign Ministry. He dealt with the U. S. occupation forces as a liaison officer during the occupation of Japan.

He was Japan's first postwar minister in London before this country regained its independence and served seven months as ambassador in Manila getting the coveted Washington post.

Asakai has made only two brief visits to the United States, both since the war.

"I'm a sportsman, and not on the brainy side," Asakai said. "I was a rowing champion in school and fairly good in tennis—No. 1 at the Manila Embassy. Fairly good in swimming and a good bridge player—well, medium."

Asakai shoots golf in the 90s. He hopes to play at the Burning Tree Country Club in Maryland, where President Eisenhower golfs.

Mrs. Asakai attended Trinity College in Washington from 1930-33 and is looking forward to seeing her college friends and teachers.

Mrs. Asakai, who prefers kimono to Western dress, and their three teen-age children are Roman Catholics. Asakai is a Buddhist.

The ambassador is regarded as one of Japan's top economic experts. He said he will try to impress on Washington officials that Japan needs trade much more than aid from the United States.

Singer Yma Sumac Wins A Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Peruvian singer Yma Sumac, 35, won a divorce by default from composer Moises Vivanco yesterday after testifying he subjected her to repeated verbal abuse.

The interlocutory decree ended a marriage that lasted 14 years and recently produced one of Hollywood's most spirited braves.

A property settlement provides that the 38-year-old Vivanco will continue as Miss Sumac's manager and will receive 50 per cent of her earnings for his services. He will pay $200 a month for support of the couple's 8-year-old son Charles, who will be in his mother's care.

Cops Find Pistol Hidden In Diaper

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police took 8-month-old Debra Harris to the Juvenile Hall after booking her mother Mrs. Lorraine Bell, 19, and two men on suspicion of robbery. Officers said a pistol holster was tucked into the baby's diaper. They said the mother told them a gun had been hidden there.

Monkey, Loose For 2 Months, Nabbed

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—They finally caught Mike the monkey yesterday after he had been annoying North Philadelphia residents for two months.

Richard Guions was eating breakfast when Mike came bounding in through an open window. Police were called. In the chase the monkey knocked over crockery, started an automatic washer and opened the refrigerator. They finally trapped him in a kitchen cabinet.

they are, the more complex they are — and Wylie is one of the best.

The best thing about it was hearing controversial opinions freely expressed on television without fear of the Madison Avenue Mafia. Here, for example, are some of Wylie's opinions:

On birth control — "Why not? We try to control death, don't we?"

On Israel — "I've always opposed building one more righteous group of religionists as a political state. We should have taken them into our country."

On mercy killing — "That's okay."

On Liberace — "I've often thought of getting a gang of the last males left and stoning him to death with marshmallows."

Review Wedding Festivities

Having been married only seven months, the Bill Wilsons really don't need a book of pictures to remind them of the beauty and gaiety of the wedding activities. It's always fun, though, to reminisce and look at pictures, especially when they are of as lovely a bride as Mrs. Wilson. The couple is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., while he is on a two-months vacation.

'Much Lonesomeness' For Native Land Is Feeling Of Brazilian

Just imagine yourself over 5,000 miles from home, among strangers whose language you neither speak nor understand! Then you'll know why Mrs. Bill Wilson has "lots of lonesomeness for Brazil."

The pretty Brazilian is the bride of Bill Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., 203 Mt. Vernon. The couple will spend about two months in the United States before his next assignment with the company for which he works, the Geophysical Service Co. Headquarters of the company is in Dallas, and when he reports for the assignment, both he and his dark-haired wife are hoping it will be Colombia.

At least that will be closer to her former home, Rio de Janeiro, and to the new house, which was given to them as a bridal gift from her family. It was completely furnished, and that just might have something to do with that "lots of lonesomeness."

The younger Mrs. Wilson speaks very little English, even though her parents and brother are quite fluent conversationalists in our language. Probably one reason for the lack is that she was in boarding school most of the time from six years

Lions Auxiliary Entertained With Coffee Wednesday

Mrs. Larson Lloyd and Mrs. Carl Coleman were hostesses to members of the Lions Auxiliary Wednesday morning for coffee at the Lloyd home.

Mrs. Charles Havens, president, served coffee from the table that was laid with a cloth of red bur-lap. Deep red roses were used as a centerpiece for the table. The coffee table was decorated with an arrangement of rock orange blossoms held in a milk glass container.

Twenty-five called during the morning.

Mrs. Louis Carothers and Mrs. Joe Pickle were announced as hostesses for the June entertainment.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

There's Psychology In Weight Problem

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—When I visited the "Ten Thousand Bedrooms" set at MGM I had to look twice before I recognized Lisa Gaye because she had slimmed down so much.

"I've lost 25 pounds," she confessed. "When we met at UI, last year, I was miserable about my weight and so self-conscious. They had put me under contract on the provision that I would reduce and I was determined to do so. No matter where I went or what I did this was on my mind. I know now that this was a big mistake."

"There is a mental side of dieting and I was worrying so I kept myself from achieving the very thing I wanted most. I went on a protein diet—eggs three times a day, which is supposed to reduce you a pound a day but all I lost was three pounds in 10 days. So I decided to stop eating. I drank coffee, lemon juice, and lots of water. I became so weak that I passed out at work and they made me see a doctor," Lisa explained.

"He gave me shots and I lost weight but before that I came close to permanently ruining my health. I never did get as thin as I wanted. This is a frustrating feeling. I was discouraged and I used to go on binges of secret eating. I wanted most of the night I would slip ice cream from the freezer and eat it. I even would stuff myself with cold potatoes, which I don't like. I felt as though everyone was discussing my size and I wouldn't go anywhere," she continued.

"But a friend persuaded me to sell tickets at a charity affair and it was there I met my husband. We went steady for a year before we were married and he taught me to have confidence in myself and to stop worrying. As soon as I fell in love I dropped twenty pounds without even trying."

"If you are overweight, don't make a problem of this," Lisa cautioned. "If you don't lose as much as you should, look for the cause in your emotions, not your diet. When there is unhappiness in your life, it is the easiest thing in the world to turn to food as an emotional compensation."

"My mother is a fabulous cook. She loves to cook and it is difficult to sit at a table and see plates of spaghetti, garlic bread, pizza, and all those fattening things without wanting them. But out of sight, out of mind. Now that I am in my own home I plan sensible meals and I have no trouble keeping my weight down," she concluded.

10-DAY DIET

Planned menus for breakfast, lunch and dinner with plenty of variety in the items are what you'll find in Dale Evans' 10-Day Reducing Diet, M-29. To get your copy of Dale's own diet, Leaflet M-29, send 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Worry And Weight

Actress Lisa Gaye tells how she struggled and conquered an over-weight problem. She believes that when you stop worrying, your weight will return to normal. Her current picture is "Ten Thousand Bedrooms" for MGM.

Mrs. Bryant Hosts Baptist Circle

Mrs. Neal Bryant was hostess Tuesday morning for the Horace Buddin Circle of the Baptist Temple Church. The devotion was presented by Mrs. Tom Buckner from Psalms 48.

Mrs. Bryant Hosts Baptist Circle

Mrs. Neal Bryant was hostess Tuesday morning for the Horace Buddin Circle of the Baptist Temple Church. The devotion was presented by Mrs. Tom Buckner from Psalms 48.

The list of missionaries with birthdays this month was read by Mrs. John Lucas, who offered a special prayer for them.

It was announced that the circle would assist with refreshments to be served this evening at the YWA coronation ceremony.

Mrs. Lucas, prayer chairman, reviewed the first five chapters of "A Practical Primer for Prayer," by Dorothy C. Haskins.

The seven attending were dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Pete Sheppard.

Defends Budget

President Eisenhower emphasizes a point in his speech from the White House in Washington, D.C., as he appealed directly to the public to help him salvage his $71.8 billion budget from the congressional economy ax. In a nationwide television and radio broadcast, the President told the nation it would be a "fearful gamble" to cut defense spending in the face of Soviet might.

Only 14 Senators Join Ike Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower counted only 14 Republican senators on his side today in the first Senate test of his nationwide appeal against sharp cuts in his budget.

Twenty-three Senate Republicans, including the top four party leaders, joined with 38 Democrats last night in slashing appropriations for the U. S. Information Agency $53,800,000 under his request.

One Democrat, Sen. Neuberger of Oregon, supported Eisenhower, who a few hours earlier followed up his TV-radio speech Tuesday night with a new defense of his budget at a news conference. Eisenhower said it would be a "mistake" to cut USIA heavily.

The Senate went on from that 61-15 defeat for the administration to pass by a 77-0 roll call vote a State-Justice Department money bill slashed a total of $102,564,000 under the Eisenhower budget estimates. It was $714,500 under House allowances. The money is for use in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Adopted by voice vote was an amendment, recommended by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), Senate majority leader, which would deny use of any USIA funds for any overseas information service in competition with press associations or other private news agencies.

The bill went back to the House for adjustment of differences with a unanimous Appropriations subcommittee recommendation that the USIA be turned back to the State Department through separate legislation.

Johnson dominated debate as he got exactly what he asked for in the $563,085,293 bill which allowed USIA $90,200,000.

This was $53,800,000 less than the propaganda agency originally sought, and $15,900,000 less than the House voted it.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) strongly supporting the President, said it appeared to him that USIA Director Arthur Larson "has been made the whipping boy."

Larson won prominence as an exponent of "Modern Republicanism" and as author of a book titled "A Republican Looks at His Party."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), assistant GOP floor leader, pleaded with his colleagues to be "a little generous" with Larson. He said Larson was only confirmed in February and "inherited" the budget of his agency.

But Dirksen joined with Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.); Sen. Bridges (NH), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee; and Sen. Saltonstall (Mass), chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators, in supporting the Appropriations Committee recommendation.

Protests Trash Fires

To the Editor:
I wonder if there are some in our town who do not know that there is a city ordinance forbidding the burning of trash in the city limits?

Today (Tuesday) was the first pretty day in almost a week. A perfect day to catch up on the washing (with a tiny baby it doesn't take long to fall behind with this unsettled spring weather). Well, I caught up, but all the beautiful, fluffy clothes smell like a burning city dump. If you think it doesn't go against the grain to pick up a cuddly little baby and find she smells like that, try it sometime.

One thing to be thankful for, we live in an age of "ready-dressed chickens" and my baby doesn't smell like burning chicken feathers.

'Senior Assembly' Set For Friday At High School

The traditional "senior assembly" will be held at Big Spring High School at 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Ronnie King, student president, will serve as master of ceremonies and during the program will turn the gavel over to Wesley Grigsby, president-elect.

The program, sponsored by the student council, will include recitation of the class history by Janet Hogan, songs by Amelia Duke and the Sportsmen, variety numbers, the farewell speech by Jerry McMahon, senior president, and a number of class songs.

Junior High Plans Ready For Study

Preliminary plans for the city's second junior high school will be submitted to the school board at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

Clyde Angel, board president, called a special meeting for consideration of the plans prepared by Atkinson, Atcheson and Fox, Lubbock architects. Supt. Floyd Parsons said the plans probably will be ready for contract letting in a month or six weeks if trustees approve the preliminary drawings.

Panel Is Named To Study Tax Project

Omar Jones, Joe B. Neely and Robert Stripling have been named to a school board committee to confer with city officials concerning the re-appraisal of taxable property in the city and school district. The city requested appointment of the committee. No date has been set for the conference.

Europe Seeking U.S. Tourists

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Europe is looking for 600,000 "unofficial American ambassadors of good or ill will" to visit its shores this year. They can be a bigger source of Yankee dollars even than the U. S. government.

A sort of composite picture of the touring American has been taken by the European Travel Commission, a group representing the official tourist organizations of 21 Western European countries. It questioned 4,000 Americans traveling in Europe to get its sampling of what to expect this year.

Its findings show that Americans will hand over about 315 million dollars to transatlantic carriers, will spend about 140 million dollars in retail shops in Europe, and more than 280 million dollars on hotels, catering, entertainment and transportation while there.

The commission thinks this could be increased smartly if Europe would make an effort to entice two million Americans a year. It says that many are able to go and are interested.

If this year runs true to form, 56 per cent of all American visitors will be over 45 years of age, and about 10 per cent under 24. Two-thirds will be married. More than half will have a college education.

Only 14 per cent will come from families whose heads have manual occupations, such as factory workers or farmers. Nearly half of the visitors have been in Europe before.

Well over a third have annual incomes of more than $10,000. The 18 per cent who have incomes under $5,000 spend, on average, $600 while there. Those with better than $20,000 family income average $1,486.

New York furnishes a fourth of all travelers. California 10 per cent and Texas 2.4 per cent.

About one third of the visitors aren't native Americans and mostly are on visits to friends and relatives in Europe. The average tourist sees four countries, the most popular in order being France, Italy, United Kingdom and Germany.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

You can expect to hear a blast against Texas athletics like you've rarely heard before, when Ken Loeffler leaves Texas A&M for another coaching job. And Loeffler is supposed to be "looking" right now, although his contract has another year to run.

All around District 2-AAAA, Coach Al Milch of Big Spring is being used as a whipping boy by writers critical of the local school's decision to forfeit its conference baseball game to Abilene.

One of the most ridiculous blasts was leveled by Ted Battles of Midland. Write he:

"Midland and Abilene had better start scouting around for another football opponent next fall. If Big Spring is out of the 2-4A race when it comes their turn to travel to Midland and Abilene, they may just forfeit, instead. San Angelo goes to Big Spring, so presumably the Steers will suit up for that one as well as the Odessa game.

Battles goes on to refer to baseball as a "major sport" at Midland, Odessa, Abilene and San Angelo and suggests that "since Big Spring is reluctant to play out its schedule, it might be better if the Steers either abandoned baseball or went free-lance."

Coach Al Milch bristled when he found out he was credited with the statement, in reference to the Steers' game with Abilene: "We couldn't have beaten 'em, anyway."

He insists he was misquoted. "It would be a miracle if we beat them in Abilene," is the way he says he put it.

"Where did these guys get the idea I am against baseball?" he asks, as an afterthought. "Sal Ross didn't have a baseball program when I went down there. I installed the program there and I think you'll agree it's one of the best in the country now."

Battles, who makes quite a case against Big Spring, suggests that other 2-4A schools might influence the Texas Intercollegiate League to pass legislation permitting Snyder to join the baseball conference.

"For that matter," writes he, "Snyder would have more to offer than Big Spring in football, as well."

Snyder, as Battles states, did make an effort to get admitted to the 2-4A baseball setup before this season started but I think the feeling ever there is that they're quite willing to wait in other sports until their growth forces them into the top bracket.

True, the Tigers have had two good years in football and basketball but that doesn't prove much. Big Spring was double tough in football in 1953 and again in '54.

I don't recall Midland having gone to the state finals in any sports endeavor in my time.

As for getting the Intercollegiate League to pass legislation admitting Snyder to the 2-4A baseball setup, Battles might succeed where entire conferences have failed—but I doubt it.

The TIL went to great pains to stop that very thing a couple of years ago.

At that time, a rule was adopted for all schools to remain in their athletic classification, regardless of how ambitious they might be or how much success they had experienced against bigger schools in the past.

The decree was enacted primarily to stop Breckenridge from competing on a district level against schools rated two classes higher than it was. It, however, applies to all schools and all sports.

Big Spring, no doubt, would be happy to be included in the same district with Snyder. But the decision is not for officials here to make.

If Battles has his doubts, I can assure him: Big Spring will show up in Midland for its football game next fall.

STERS WIN 6TH Moser Shuts Out Snyder Bengals

The sun broke through the clouds for the Big Spring Steers in their final baseball game of the 1957 season here Wednesday. Lefty Chubby Moser, who, however, bore down all the way to blank the Snyder Tigers on three hits, 2-0.

The Longhorns batted both their runs in the fifth inning, when Gene Penco hit a two-run homer past the first baseman to score Bobby Suggs and Ricky Terry surged home on a throw to second base by Catcher Milton Ham.

Big Spring had numerous other chances to get some runs, but superior pitching on the part of Tim Roberts, Ronnie Baker and Norman Glendon kept the Steers away from the plate.

Moser was tough in the clutch. The Tigers never got more than one hit off him in any one inning. He struck out nine and walked only three.

In the second inning, the Tigers almost scored when Ham flied to Jackie Tucker in right field with Lee at third base. Lee tried to leg it home but was thrown out at the plate.

In the seventh, Tommy Prichard hit a two-out double over Danny Birdwell's head in right field but Snyder recovered in time to arrest the runner at third.

Suggs had hit a scratch single to open Big Spring's half of the fifth and Terry had walked. The win snapped an eight-game losing streak for Big Spring and enabled it to finish with a 4-10 won-lost record. Snyder's record is now 14-11.

In the five-game series between the two clubs, Snyder succeeded in winning three decisions.

Case In Lap Of Williams

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—President D. W. Williams of Texas A&M College may decide today what will be done in the latest charges of rule violations that could put the Aggies back on NCAA probation.

But indications are that he will hear the voice of the student body and the ex-students urging that he retain Ken Loeffler, the basketball coach who is alleged by the Southwest Conference to have gotten A&M into its latest trouble.

Jim Carroll, sports editor of the Battalion, the student newspaper, said the students were coming out very strongly in favor of Coach Loeffler and that leaders in the corps of cadets as well as civilian student leaders will attempt to meet with President Williams.

"They will supply a petition to Mr. Williams in an attempt to have him retain Loeffler," Carroll said in the Battalion.

Also tonight a school-wide yell practice and massed rally will be held for the benefit of Loeffler. "They will demonstrate that they back Coach Loeffler and ask that President Williams stand behind him," Carroll declared.

He said in talking to members of the athletic department and to those in key spots on the campus, he had arrived at the conclusion that Coach Loeffler is "the best man in an effort to have the NCAA be more lenient when it meets May 31 at Chicago."

A&M was put on probation May 14, 1955, by the Southwest Conference for violating the recruiting rules. A year later the conference removed the probation and asked the NCAA, which also had slapped a probation on A&M a few days before, to remove it. But the NCAA declined and the probation ran out May 14 this year.

However, at Austin Saturday the conference faculty committee rebuked A&M for its basketball coach having attended a try-out for basketball players at Pawtucket, R. I., in April, 1955, and for a prospective student athlete, Alex Roberts, being furnished transportation to College Station to enter A&M in September, 1955, and for being given an airline ticket to go to Providence, R. I., at Christmas, 1955.

The latter two occurrences violated the rule prohibiting excessive financial aid to student athletes. The conference passed the charges on to Williams for action.

SHORTY GIDEON GIVING CITY COURSE NEW LOOK

G. F. (Shorty) Gideon and Mother Nature have combined to give the Muni golf course here a "new look."

Gideon took over recently as manager of the 18-hole course. He's installed a sprinkler system on all but three of the tees (which can be watered by hose), repaired and painted all the tee-box sheds and polished the fairways and greens.

Nothing benefited more from the recent rains than the city-owned course. The fairways, bald as Yul Brynner before, now have lots of vegetation. Willy flowers and colored the fairways a riot of color.

The greens are now in better shape than they've been in a long time and Gideon intends to keep them that way for what may be the course's busiest year.

The job of managing the course isn't new to Gideon, long one of Big Spring's more active amateur linkers.

Shorty worked in that capacity during and immediately after World War II—from 1943 to 1946. He didn't have the water or the weather to do what he's trying to do now, however—give Big Spring a first-rate public golf course.

Bad weather, the thing that got the Southwestern League in the mess it is, wiped out three games Wednesday night and in the one that could be played, Carlsbad moved into fifth place with a 10-3 victory over Midland.

But most of the talk was about what's going to happen to the league anyway.

When one leak is diked the financial stream breaks out somewhere else. Now it's Hobbs, the club floundering in last place, that needs help to keep going.

Pampa sang its swan song Wednesday night when its game with Plainview was rained out. The Oiler franchise was handed back to the league and President W. G. Green of San Angelo said it would be operated as a road club at least until the Hobbs situation breaks one way or the other.

Green expects to know by Friday whether Hobbs folds or continues.

Clovis, the club that's leading the league but having a hard time staying afloat, appeared to have gotten its problems straightened out.

Meanwhile, Green was negotiating with Eddie Gilliland, representative of the major league radio and television fund to help the minors. Gilliland talked with Green Wednesday but said he could make no report to his home office until the Hobbs situation was cleared.

If Hobbs quits, Southwestern League will go with six clubs. However, there's a possibility that the league will play the Big State League and enter the Southwest. That could mean shifting either Pampa or Hobbs to San Angelo to preserve an 8-club league.

Carlsbad limited the Indians to six hits, only one of which was for extra bases. That was a double by Carlos Pascual, Coddington fanned 10.

Eddie Reed and Glen Rediger hit back-to-back homers in the third inning.

Champ Wants Jackson As Foe

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson stands ready to defend his world heavyweight title in a New York ball park in July against "anybody in the world," preferably Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

Emil Lence, former Brooklyn promoter, has been designated by Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, as the independent promoter to break the International Boxing Club's grip on the heavyweight throne.

D'Amato named Lence as the first of many independents who will be able to use Patterson as he made his formal break with the IBC.

"Patterson will not have one defense—but at least several and not in the New York area alone," said D'Amato yesterday at a news conference.

Les Arries, a television consultant, is making the rounds trying to sell a heavyweight defense to the TV networks. The asking price is $200,000 with no opponent yet.

Arries was associated with Lence when the New York dress manufacturer ran weekly TV shows at the Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn.

There was more than a hint last night that Jackson, the No. 1 contender in both Ring and National Boxing Assn. ratings, would be tough to sign.

"No offer has been made," said Lippe Breidbart, Jackson's manager. "In my opinion the match, properly promoted, should do a million dollars, plus $200,000 for television. My fellow in the attraction. He'll draw the people. His end should be about $200,000 and we want some kind of a guarantee."

So Thursday Abilene leads Port Arthur by 58 points and a half game.

A new pitcher, Mike Mazzamorra, put Abilene out front. Brought in on a 5-day loan from Class A Columbia, Mazzamorra made his start an auspicious one. Chances are Abilene will want to look him over more than any five days.

Mike held the Spudders to six hits and was in complete control of the game. In only one inning could the Spudders bunch enough hits to push a run across.

Beaumont, which rests in fifth place but doesn't appear destined to stay that long much longer, won its fifth straight game in the triumph over Port Arthur. The Pirates pounded three runs across in the eighth for victory. A triple by Earl Fackler, a double by Wayne Emaar, a single by Elder White and a pair of walks brought the important scores.

Dave Wickersham came on in the ninth with the bases loaded to get Port Arthur out. He relieved Hillary Stanton.

Third place Corpus Christi also lost, taking a 5-2 licking from Victoria. Bill Hunter held Corpus Christi to four hits but was in trouble constantly because of his wildness. He walked 11 but struck out the same number and was tough in the clutch. He left 15 Clippers stranded on the base paths.

Victoria got to Jim Kuykendall for three runs in the third and led all the way.

Rocky Colavito drove in Gene Woodling with the tie-breaking run and the Indians added two more on singles by Chico Carrasquel and George Strickland to score three runs in the 16th. Cleveland had scored three runs in the 14th to break a 5-5 tie, but the Orioles roared back with three runs of their own to tie it up again.

All three Yankee runs were scored in the first inning. The victim was Ned Garver, who gave the Yankees only three hits in six innings.

Veteran first baseman Mickey Vernon drove in four runs and Jackie Jensen threw in Boston's victory over Detroit. George Susce, third Boston pitcher, was the winner. Frank Lary lost it.

Tom Sturdivant's five-hitter featured the Yankees' 3-0 shutout over Kansas City. Cleveland cracked five singles in the 16th inning off Mike Foye to score three times and defeat Baltimore 11-8 in a 4 1/2-hour marathon that involved 38 players, including 11 pitchers.

Boston's Red Sox unleashed a 16-hit attack, their heaviest barrage of the season, to outslug the Detroit Tigers 11-8. George Crowe, subbing for the ailing Ted Kuszewski at first base, drove in two runs in Cincinnati's victory with a pair of singles, but it was Smokey Burgess' second-inning home run that put the Reds in front.

Zimmer's game-winning home run for Brooklyn came off Lew Burdette, who had relieved Milwaukee starter Gene Conley in the eighth. The Dodgers tied the score in that inning. Gil Hodges homered for Brooklyn.

A three-up and three-down three-inning relief effort earned Larry Jackson his fourth career victory for the Cardinals.

It is strange that Wilson and Lawrence, despite generally effective pitching usually with mediocre ball clubs, rarely have impressed veteran observers.

Lawrence won his fourth game of the season last night, pitching Cincinnati to a 7-1 victory over Philadelphia. The win boosted the Redlegs back into a tie with Milwaukee for the National League lead. The 22-year-old right-hander permitted only five hits and fanned 11.

Wilson pitched Chicago to a 5-0 triumph over Washington, enabling the White Sox to retain their first-place lead of half a game over the New York Yankees in the American League. The 35-year-old right-hander yielded only four hits en route to his second successive shutout and third of the season. Left Lawrence, his record is 4-1.

Effective pitching by Don Drysdale and Clem Labine and Don Zimmer's 10th-inning home run combined to give Brooklyn a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee. St. Louis defeated the New York Giants 6-5 in 14 innings when Hal Smith singled home Del Ennis from second.

cording to Richard Crow, who is half-owner of a large poultry farm southeast of the city. He said this competition had made rough going for local poultry men.

The eggs from Seagraves are proving tough competition, as this huge project was started without an assured market. Now the owners are selling eggs wherever they can.

Crow thinks producers may be able to make a profit this fall and winter, because hatchery orders on baby chicks were cut by 20 or 30 per cent from last year.

"You never know in this business, though," he said. "They predicted dollar-a-dozen eggs for last winter, but they lacked a lot reaching it. Right now with hot weather just a few weeks away, eggs are supposed to be selling for more. But you can't prove it by our sales records."

Crow and his partner have about half their hens in cages and the others on the floor. He likes the floor plan much better, as he thinks the hens will last longer. He said that recently a poultry expert predicted that in 10 years there wouldn't be a caged hen left in the country.

A trip through Dawson County last Sunday showed the county to be fairly wet, and another rain fell that night. North of Lamesa in the heavy irrigation section, nearly every farmer was forced to plant over.

It was the same story in Gaines County. One farmer had planted cotton twice and was waiting for the field to dry so he could start over a third time.

"Prospects look good for a crop," he said, "but it's going to be a mighty expensive one. He is also expecting the insects to be out in full force by the time cotton reaches the four-leaf stage."

Noble Reed said he had received some mighty good rains on his ranch east of Coahoma. The weeds are growing faster than the grass, but the grass is also coming along, particularly the tobacco.

Part of Reed's place extends to the Latah Flats country where the red clay soil is thickly covered with tobacco. He said that if it hadn't been for this grass he wouldn't have had a cow on the place by now. He is about half-stocked and doesn't intend to put any more cattle on the pastures for awhile.

"A few ranchers are already looking for cattle," he said, "but a little green grass never scared me. I'd like to give it a chance to grow more before getting any more livestock."

G. Tunnell, who owns a couple of farms in east Martin County, says the flooding of Sulphur Draw should be a help to the land. Some of the soil in the bottom of the draw has been ruined by salt, and the water will wash it off.

He started the operation brought the salt water to the surface and left a layer of salt on top to ruin the land. The last big rain sent water rushing over the salty areas, so he shouldn't have any more trouble for a few years.

Lucas Whitehead, farming south of the Slaughter Ranch in north Martin County, says he hasn't made a crop since 1949. Last year was so dry that even the careless weeds failed.

Whitehead owned a farm on the east side the Stanton-Lamesa Highway for nearly 20 years and once had some small irrigation works to help beat the drought. He found a small amount of water but it was so salty the wells had to be abandoned.

The irrigation boom in Midland still goes on, but it slowed down a little this year. Perry Collins, feed store owner, said about 3,000 new acres would be irrigated this year.

Most of the wells are small, and the expense of putting them down and buying a sprinkler system has kept many farmers from going in to the irrigation business.

He said there might be a very slight increase in vegetables this year. Two farmers near Midland will grow cantaloupes and market them at Stanton.

Being a gypsy can be a handicap for a family man. Every spring when school comes to an end, I get the urge to take a long trip. If I can't go, I just get some road maps and travel butties and start wishing.

Since I started writing, travel has been much easier, because I can usually pay expenses wherever I go by selling articles to magazines. This helps finance the trips, but it is also too much of an investment to pack a suitcase and take off for the faraway places.

A few weeks ago I received an offer to drive through California, Oregon and Washington this summer and write stories for a magazine. The offer is tempting, though I would probably make a few just as much or more money by staying in Big Spring.

However, I've always wanted to go to Oregon and visit Crater Lake and see the mighty Columbia roll down to sea. I'd like to hear the foghorns on Puget Sound, walk under the giant redwoods, and maybe hole up in some little village and pound out stories while the rain splatters in time with the typewriter keys.

Being a gypsy, I've always been curious about other people a d how they live. I like to visit strange places, keeping my eyes and ears open, and then try to put down on paper some of the impressions. I can't make up my mind about the Northwestern trip. If I don't go there, I'm bound to go somewhere for a few weeks. Some people can stay in one place and be

Never before... this great triple-tough 3-T Nylon Tire at such a sensational low price!

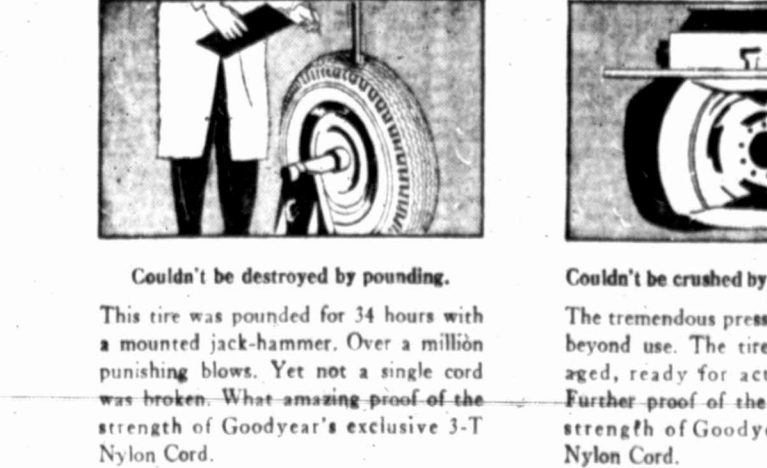

3-T NYLON SALE! DeLuxe Nylon Super-Cushion by GOODYEAR $19.95

Exclusive for this sale! Goodyear's famous 3-T Nylon Cord Tires, the best value ever, at record low prices. You get maximum strength and resiliency from 3-T Nylon Cord that's triple-tempered in an exclusive process involving precisely controlled Tension, Temperature and Time, making this tire stronger and safer.

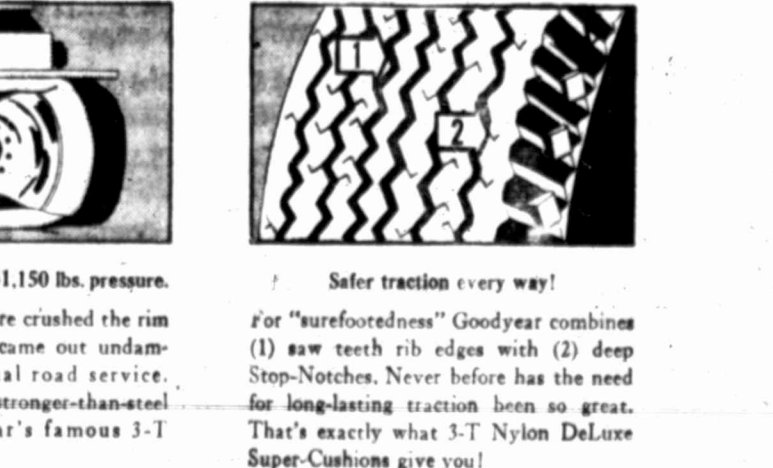

However, I've always wanted to go to Oregon and visit Crater Lake and see the mighty Columbia roll down to sea. I'd like to hear the foghorns on Puget Sound, walk under the giant redwoods, and maybe hole up in some little village and pound out stories while the rain splatters in time with the typewriter keys.

All sizes including Whitewalls and Tubeless at special reduced prices!

Proved better by dramatic tests!

Couldn't be destroyed by pounding. This tire was pounded for 34 hours with a mounted jack-hammer. Over a million punishing blows. Yet not a single cord was broken. What amazing proof of the strength of Goodyear's exclusive 3-T Nylon Cord.

Couldn't be crushed by 31,150 lbs. pressure. The tremendous pressure crushed the rim beyond use. The tire came out undamaged, ready for actual road running. Further proof of the stronger-than-steel strength of Goodyear's famous 3-T Nylon Cord.

Safer traction every way! For "surefootedness" Goodyear combines (1) saw tooth rib edges with (2) deep Stop-Notches. Never before has the need for long-lasting traction been so great. That's exactly what 3-T Nylon DeLuxe Super-Cushions give you!

Easy terms, too! As low as $17.5 a week puts you on 3-T Nylons!

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!

Big Recreation Program Set For Youngsters This Summer

Big Spring is going to be hopping with activities for youngsters this summer.

The YMCA has mapped its summer recreation program which will keep youngsters here busy the first two months of the summer.

Bobo Hardy, director of the YMCA, reported that the activities would be divided into three general phases—the fun clubs, swimming, and special classes. The YMCA has about $4,000 to spend on the summer program, with $2,000 of this coming from the United Fund. Another $1,000 was given by the city and the School System gave the other $1,000.

To acquaint the parents with the overall program, the Y has planned a "Parents Information Night" for May 23 at 7:30 p. m. All parents are invited to attend the session, Hardy said.

Members of the Y will explain the entire program as well as show slides of the activities last year. Registration for all work will also begin that night.

This year, boys and girls fun clubs will be held at five places. The work will begin June 3 and continue through the last day of July.

One fun club site will be the West Side ABC Park. Classes for both girls and boys will be held from 9 a. m. to 12 noon Mondays and Thursdays. The work here will start June 3.

On Tuesdays and Fridays, the Junior High Fun Clubs will meet at the Junior high gym. The hours will be the same as at West Side, and the work at Junior High will start June 4.

The Washington Place club will be on Wednesdays and Saturdays starting June 5.

Three days of work will be held each week at both the Lakeview and Kate Morrison Fun Clubs. At Lakeview, the days will be Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from 9 a. m. to 12, and at Kate Morrison, the same hours will be in effect on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

Bobby Zellars will direct the boys' work at West Side, Junior High, and Washington Place, and he will be assisted by Gary Tidwell, Joan Young, of Fort Worth, will handle the girls' activities.

Johnny Johnson will direct the Kate Morrison and Lakeview boys, but the girls' director for these clubs has not been selected.

Zellars will have his boys for nine hours of swimming, eight hours of crafts plus archery, movies, softball, tumbling, tag football, basketball, horse shoes, and trips to Moss Springs, Webb AFB, the Police and Herald buildings.

At Lakeview and Kate Morrison, 25 hours of swimming will be held and eight hours of crafts, plus the activities of the other boys.

All the boys will conclude their work July 31 with an Olympic Day at the old football field.

The girls will have swimming, archery, and other activities practically the same as the boys. The concluding program for the girls has not been completed, however.

Charges for swimming will be $1.50 for boys and girls at Kate Morrison and Lakeview and $1 for the others. Hardy said the difference was caused by the additional swimming for the North-siders.

Roosevelt Brown will handle all Kate Morrison and Lakeview swimming classes.

Johnson and Tidwell will be in charge of night programs at Kate Morrison and Lakeview. Three nights of play at each place will probably be scheduled.

The first of three classes of swimming will begin at the municipal pool June 3. It will continue through June 14. Ten lessons will be given in each class, and registration is $1, or 10 cents per lesson.

The first class will be for beginners. Boys will swim from 9 a. m. to 10, and the girls will take over from 10 to 11. Intermediate and advanced swimmers will have the second and third sessions, from June 24-July 6, and July 15-26, respectively.

This phase of the summer program will end with the annual aquatic meet, but this date has not been set. Instructor for all swimming will be Mrs. G. W. Dawson, certified Red Cross instructor. She will be assisted by 15 helpers.

Special classes for both boys and girls will be held in trampoline, tennis, archery, golf (tentative), and model building. The boys alone will have tumbling, while girls will have modern dance and gymnastics.

The archery will be held in Birdwell Park, and the tennis at the high school and park courts. Remainder of the activities will be held at the YMCA building. Charles Hodges will direct the craftwork.

Hardy has not set the times for these activities. This will hinge on the number wanting each class, he said.

Tentative plans have been made for a teen-age program which will include a basketball league, a girls' figure fashioning class, a party night—each Friday night—and tennis classes.

The basketball would be two nights each week, and the figure class would be in the mornings. A volleyball league for girls is also in the process.

Registration for all of the activities will begin with the Parent Information Night next Thursday, and it will continue each day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. until May 31.

Hardy emphasized that parents must accompany elementary age youngsters when they register.

Also to be held this summer is the Indian Day Camp, which was originated last year. It will be from June 17-23 and July 8-19. This is for boys from 7 to 11 years of age. Each day, boys will take part in activities from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Cost is $7.50 per boy.

The cost includes transportation, insurance, art supplies, and a family cook-out. The program will include Indian lore, hikes, swimming, games, worship services, and trips to Moss Creek Lake and Moss Springs.

Hardeman Hits Lee 'Sacking'

AUSTIN (AP)—President Eisenhower, England in general and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in particular absorbed a stinging verbal lashing in the Texas Senate yesterday.

The incident that touched off the hour-long personal privilege speech by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman was a meeting of the President and Montgomery in Gettysburg, Pa., last Sunday in which both agreed that the Union and Confederate commanders should have been "sacked."

After touring the famed battlefield, Montgomery was asked whether he thought Gen. George G. Meade and Gen. Robert E. Lee, the rival Union and Confederate field leaders, should have been replaced.

"I would not have fought the battle that way myself," Montgomery was quoted as replying and Eisenhower: "If you had, I'd have sacked you."

Eisenhower, said Hardeman, 54, "was not worthy to unlace the shoes" of Lee. He called England a "socialistic parasite living off foreign aid" and said its government was being "liquidated by its adherence to socialistic policies."

He referred to the British commander as that "no account Montgomery" and said he was "a peanut type military commander" in comparison to great English military men of the past.

He said the "British subject went out of his way to make unwarranted and ill advised remarks" about Meade and Lee. "And the President of the United States stood by unabashedly, taking the criticism of this great American general, Robert E. Lee," Hardeman said.

Hardeman was warmly applauded after the speech and several of his colleagues rushed over to shake his hand when he took his seat.

New County Attorney Tries Out Desk

John Richard Coffee, left, appointed as Howard County attorney last Monday, confers with Harvey Hooser Jr., retiring county attorney, on some of the myriad details of the office he now fills. Coffee look over his duties on Thursday morning but spent Wednesday in the office talking over the duties with Hooser who worked his last day on that date. Coffee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coffee of Big Spring, is a graduate of Baylor University. He received his license as an attorney early this week. His wife and 7-month-old child will move to Big Spring after school is ended in Waco. Mrs. Coffee is a school teacher. Hooser resigned the office of county attorney to take a position with the Reed Oil Company.

Rites For Daughter Of Wealthy Negro Rancher Set In Loraine

LORAIN, (SC) — A Negro minister Friday afternoon will stand in the pulpit of the First Methodist Church here — a church for white members — and pay tribute to the memory of a pioneer Negro school teacher.

Hearing his words will be a congregation of both Negro and white listeners, expected to pack the little church to capacity.

The occasion will be the funeral rites for Mrs. Mary Wallace Fowler Jackson, daughter of the colorful and almost legendary "Eighty John" Wallace who came to this section of the country with the first cattlemen. This was in the 1870's.

"Eighty John" used cattle profits to acquire land and became a wealthy man. He died 18 years ago and his wife in 1950 but some 80,000 acres of land which he assembled is still held by his family.

Mrs. Jackson died in Dallas on Sunday. She taught school in Colorado City — where she had been born — for many years. She retired as an active school teacher in 1950. She had been ill for a month at the home of a daughter at the time of her death.

A handsome new Negro school in Colorado City bears the name "Wallace School" in honor of her family. The land on which an old Negro school was built had been donated for that purpose by "Eighty John." This building serves as a community center for Negroes in Colorado City.

The minister to officiate at the services for Mrs. Jackson is Rev. A. E. Rogers, Abilene, who is pastor of a Negro church at Roscoe in neighboring Nolan County. The services are to be at 3 p.m. Friday but the body of Mrs. Jackson will lie in state at the church prior to the ceremonies.

Burial will be in the Wallace family plot on the ranch four miles southwest of Loraine. Her relatives declined to give Mrs. Jackson's age but friends estimated she was between 65 and 70 years old. Kiker and Son Funeral home will be in charge.

Although the Wallace family controls 80,000 acres of land, no oil has ever been discovered on the property. However, it is said that the members have benefited materially from oil lease rentals.

When the old Wallaces died, their wills placed the Wallace lands in trust for the benefit of their heirs and the property is not due to revert to the surviving descendants for some years to come.

Mrs. Annen To Be Cafeteria Director

Mrs. Nancy Annen, high school homemaking teacher, has been elected cafeteria supervisor for the city's school system.

She will take over the new duties Aug. 15, with her contract to extend for 10 months. Salary will be $4,000 per year, and Mrs. Annen will receive a $300 annual car allowance.

The post of cafeteria is a new one in the Big Spring Independent School District.

Coahoma Slates Graduation Rites

COAHOMA (SC) — The 22 candidates for graduation at Coahoma High School begin ending the school careers Sunday with the baccalaureate.

This is set for 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium with W. I. Wilkerson, Church of Christ minister, officiating. The graduation is set for Thursday evening in the auditorium with Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, the speaker.

Depository Picked For School Funds

State National Bank has been selected as depository for school funds for the next two years.

The funds will be transferred from the First National Bank. The school district rotates the deposits among the various banks.

Teacher Resigns

Resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Odum, sixth grade teacher at the Airport school, has been accepted by the school board. The resignation is effective at the end of the current school year.

Charges Are Filed

Charges of passing a worthless check have been filed on James N. Griner, in a complaint lodged in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace.

Salary Schedule Is Set For Principals

A salary schedule for Big Spring elementary school principals has been approved by the Board of Education.

The schedule has the approval of all eight of the city's elementary school heads, said Supt. Floyd Parsons. It is effective with the beginning of the next school year. At present, there is no base schedule for the principals' salaries.

The new plan calls for a base salary of $3,800 per year. In addition, each principal will receive $225 if he or she holds a master's degree, $60 for each year of teaching experience, $400 per year as the local district's increment above state pay, and $100 per year for each 100 pupils in average daily attendance above 200. The final increment becomes ineffective when attendance exceeds 1,000 pupils.

The schedule also will put the principals on a 10 1/2-month work year.

The eight principals and the salaries they will receive (with increase in parentheses) are W. C. Blankenship, $6,085 ($303); M. R. Turner, $5,085 ($303); John Hardy, $6,485 ($803); Mrs. Ruth Rutherford, $5,020 ($242); Mrs. Eloise Beaird, $4,840 ($590); L. D. Spradling, $5,020 ($512); Mrs. Oma McGahy, $6,085 ($671); and R. J. Walker, $4,920 ($441).

Combined, the salary increases amount to $3,996 per year.

Utah City Buzzed In Mock Bombing

TOOELE, Utah (AP) — A B25 bomber and three jet fighters buzzed this northern Utah community yesterday and dropped smoke bombs in a test of civil defense preparedness.

There were 100 mock "casualties."

And there was a man who cut his hand, a boy who fainted when he saw realistic "wound" makeup, a young war widow who fainted as the jets buzzed overhead, and the man who thought the smoke was caused by a fire on his property.

Trustees Will Consider Sale Of School Property

School officials have said they will consider the sale of a two-block strip of land along State Street between Eleventh Place and 10th Street—"if enough is offered" for the property.

Two firms had inquired about prospects for purchasing at least a portion of the land. They are Hull & Phillips Food Stores and Gulf Oil Corporation.

School trustees said they might be interested in selling all of the tract, but that they would not consider sale of a portion of the land. Trustees said that a lot the school owns on West Fourth Street is for sale priced at $10,000.

Tuesday night, Worth Feeler, local real estate agent, offered to trade the school district 15 acres in an unplatted area southeast of the city for the Fourth Street lot. Trustees said they will consider the offer, but requested that the area be platted.

The school board asked Pat Murphy, business manager, to investigate L. R. Mundt's offer to sell a tract 315 by 125 feet immediately south of the West Ward elementary school.

Uncle Ray:
Virginia Indians Gave Feast For Whites

By RAMON COFFMAN
Indians of the James River valley were keenly interested in the sailing vessels which took the settlers upstream. None of the small boats of the natives had sails.
The Indians paddled out on the river to have closer views. The Englishmen were invited to visit a native village, and some of them were taken to a place where several oblong huts had been built. The walls were made of young trees which had been bent to provide the framework. Skins and bark had been used to cover the framework.
The visitors were greeted by a tall chief. He wore two feathers in his hair, and around his neck was a string of shell beads. A small red bone hung from one of his ears, and the claw of a bird dangled from the other ear. Warriors, armed with bows and arrows, stood behind the chief.
A feast was prepared and eaten. In addition to venison, dried mulberries were served, along with a strange grain which had been grown in Great Britain up to that time. In due course it was given the name of maize or Indian corn. People today usually speak of it simply as corn.
In addition to corn, the Indians

Maple sugar was made by the Indians of Virginia.
of Virginia raised beans and pumpkins. From maple trees they obtained a sweet juice; this juice was heated and turned into maple sugar. Grapes and plums were among the wild fruits eaten by the Indians.
At the feast the Indians provided the Englishmen with a pipe containing a sweet juice; this juice was lighted and the pipe was passed around. The white guessed nothing about it at the time, but tobacco was to become the most profitable crop in Virginia.

Las Vegas Tour—
Without The Body

HOLLYWOOD — Marie McDonald signed a $60,000 Las Vegas contract last night that prohibits the use of her famous label — "The Body."
The curvaceous victim of Hollywood's most publicized kidnaping case staged a gala contract-signing party at the Moulin Rouge night club here.
The contract — marking her debut in the Nevada resort — calls for four weeks at Las Vegas' Desert Inn, beginning May 28.
Wilbur Clark, operator of the spa, told a reporter: "She absolutely refuses to be billed as 'The Body,' even though she's got such a beautiful one."
Marie explained: "That title haunts me. I hate it. It practically ruined my movie career."
She said the title was dreamed up years ago by a press agent who "wanted to sell a stinker of a movie I was in."
As she signed the contract, her first record album played over loud-speakers. Ironically, the album is called "The Body Sings."

OKLAHOMA CITY — A police radar report lost out to a trucker's tacograph in Traffic Court.
Judge James Demopolis favored the tacograph record that showed truck driver Charles Ray Dyer, 20, was not speeding. A tacograph is a gadget attached to vehicles that records speed and time.
Demopolis said the radar check showed that Dyer was traveling 45 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone could have been wrong and dismissed the speeding charge.

U.S. Farm Controls
May Be Tightened

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, May 16 — The Eisenhower administration may be forced to tighten farm production controls next year if it gets any good from the $1,200,000,000 annual soil bank payment program.
Such action would be galling to administration leaders, particularly Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He wants programs that will move in the direction of complete production freedom for farmers.
But the administration is confronted by the fact that the soil bank program did little good in its initial trial last year in reducing production of surplus crops.
Agriculture Department officials agree that most of the quarter of a billion dollars paid to farmers under this program last year was for rental of land which, because of drought or other factors, would not have produced much anyway.
The administration is confronted by the further possibility that this year's soil bank program — likely to cost around one billion dollars — will be less than 50 per cent effective in reducing production.
Farmers may retire around 25 million acres of land from such crops as wheat, cotton, corn, rice and tobacco.

But a department planting survey indicated recently that the actual reduction in the acreage of all crops may be only 12 million acres. Many farmers are taking land out of some crops but increasing acreages of others.

Benson said last week farm production control measures — now limited to cotton, wheat, rice, tobacco, and peanuts — are not working. He said they are failing because of action of farmers of selecting their best land for use and of intensifying operations and increasing acre yields, and a tendency of farmers to shift from controlled crops to uncontrolled ones.

The failure of present control measures to operate effectively was shown clearly by last year's production. Farmers reduced plantings nearly 5 per cent to the smallest crop acreage in 20 years, but the harvest equaled the record.

Any reduction in surpluses of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts — principal crops directly affected by the soil bank as well as rigid marketing quotas — could easily be offset by creating new or larger surpluses of other crops, such as soybeans, oats, barley, flaxseed, dry beans and the like.

In other words, the whole operation may do little more than transfer burdens of surpluses from producers of the five soil bank crops to producers of other products.

This shift of production from the big surplus crops to others could be limited if not prevented if the administration cared to take the step. In fact, Benson first started out to prevent just such a thing in 1954, but later changed his mind.

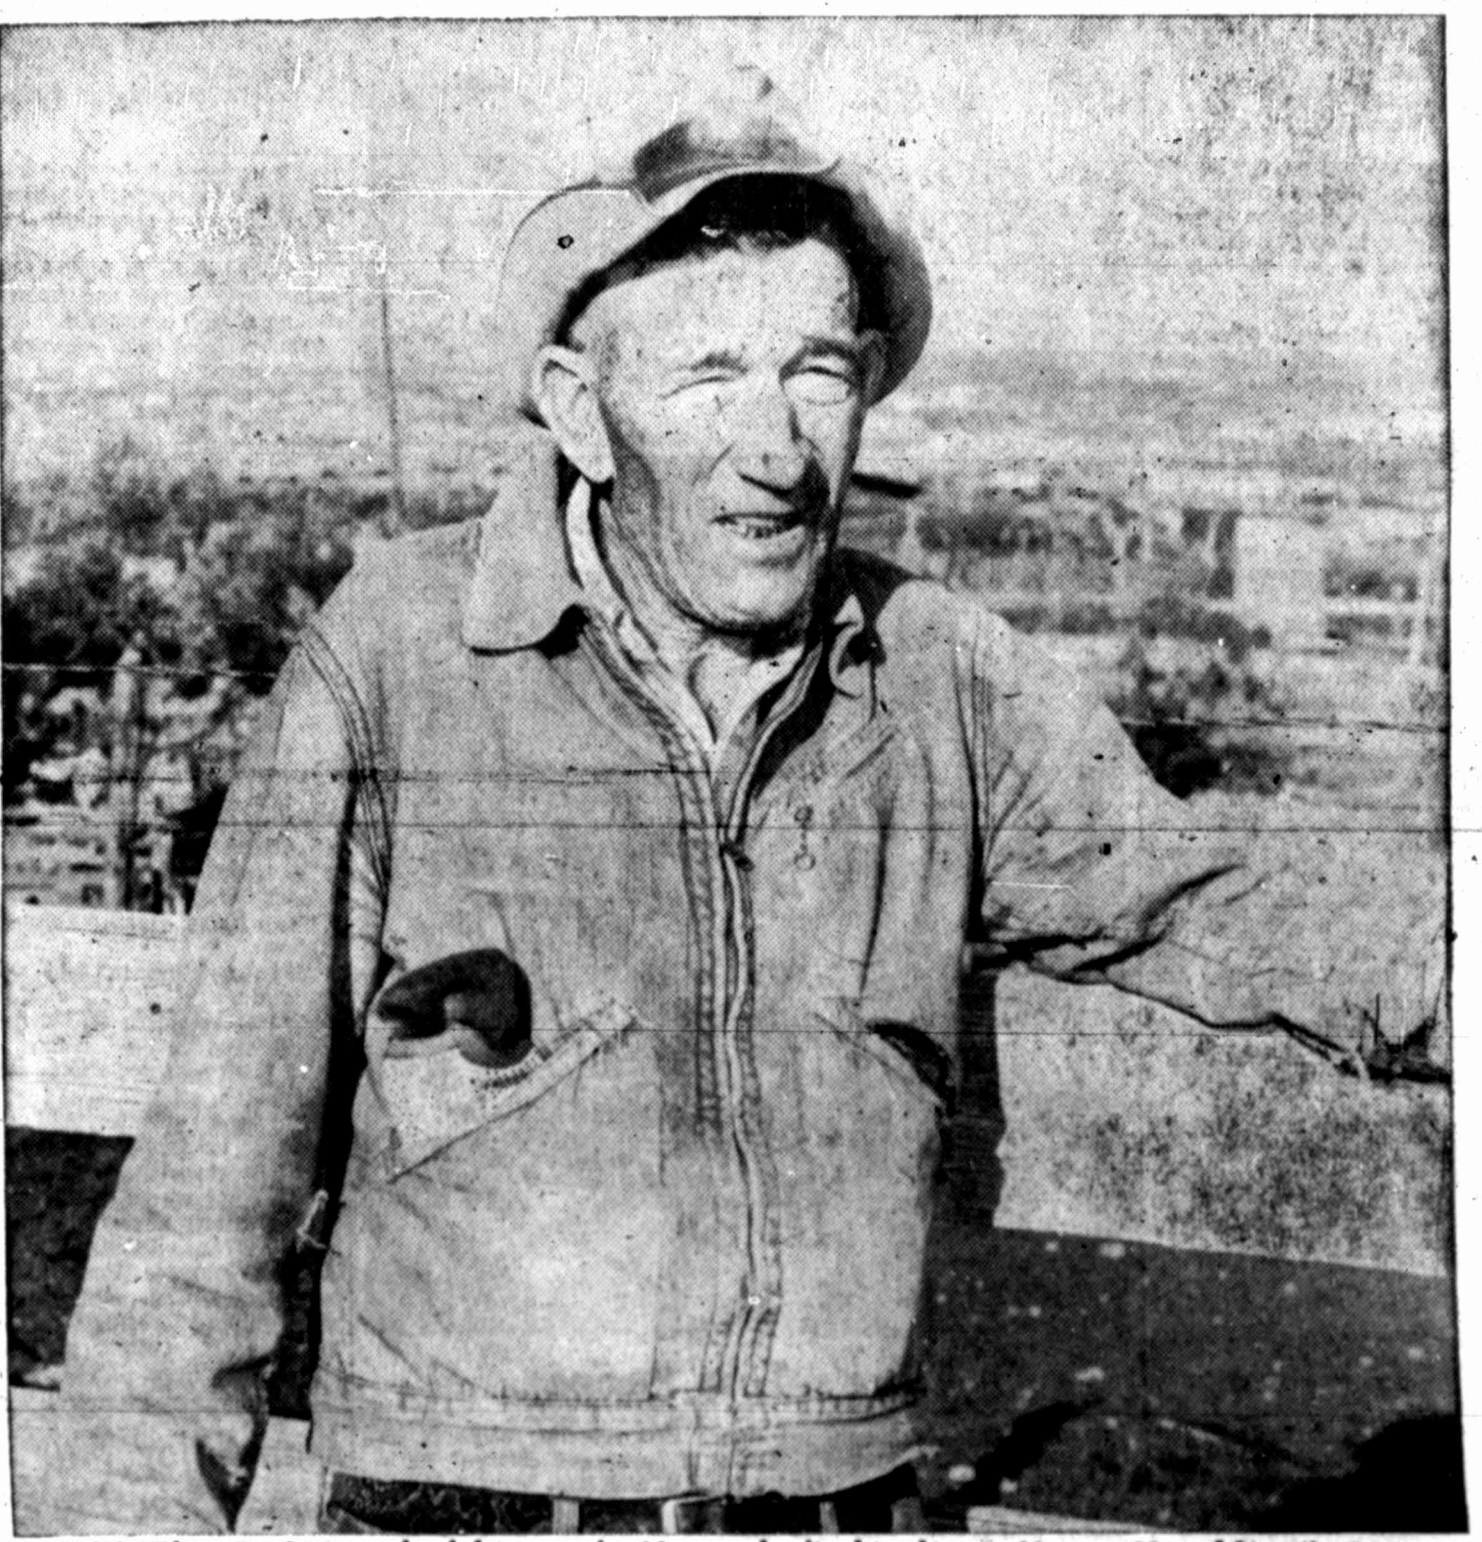

In setting up broad production controls on the major crops in 1954, Benson issued a regulation which would have limited the crop acreage of all except the very small farms. The department issued planting allotments for the major crops and on top of that an over-all crop planting allotment. This later allotment would have held farms to recent levels of plantings of uncontrolled crops.

The device he planned to use to enforce this over-all allotment was the price support program. Price support aid on any and all products would have been denied farms which planted in excess of their over-all allotments.

But before planting time, Benson rescinded this regulation. He acted after some 30 Republican members of Congress from farm states complained that the program would be too restrictive and would be unpopular with many farmers.

Since then, officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation — which has expressed many farm program views similar to that of Benson — have stated that the present farm surplus program would be much less serious now had the secretary stood by his program.

WILBURTON, Okla. — Mrs. John Lucas, a 46-year-old grandmother, was graduated with top honors from Wilburton High School last night.
Now she's going to college on a scholarship hoping to become a teacher.
Her daughter LaDawn witnessed the graduation ceremony. She won't graduate until next year.
Mrs. Lucas, three times a grandmother, won her cap and gown as co-valedictorian. She had a grade average of 7.3 out of a possible 8.
The wife of a miner, Mrs. Lucas said she always wanted to complete her high school education. "So, I decided to go back to school," she explained. She had quit school after the seventh grade.
"Everyone seems to like Mrs. Lucas and she fits in well here," said the Wilburton High School principal.
Mrs. Lucas said she wants to become a schoolteacher. She will attend Eastern A&M College here. Her husband said he had no objections.

Scout Takes Too Much For Granted

VENTURA, Calif. — When Mrs. Edythe Lowe finished her washing she took it from the dryer and set it out for pickup by an ironing service.
A Boy Scout spotted it on the front porch. He picked it up and took it downtown by mistake. The scouts were having a clothing salvage drive. He presumed Mrs. Lowe was cooperating.
When her laundry didn't come back she called the ironing service. They said they had called but found no laundry on the porch.
Mrs. Lowe ran an advertisement in the Ventura Star-Free Press. The scoutmaster read it, found the laundry and returned it personally to Mrs. Lowe.

Long Stretch To Get Cop's Badge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — William B. McClaran had to do a long stretch before he was accepted on the police force.
The 21-year-old candidate led 20 applicants in the written tests but was rejected because he was a quarter-inch under the 5-foot-10 minimum height.
He said he exercised at a health clinic to stretch his vertebrae, had his sister and brother-in-law stretch him on a homemade rack and hung from an overhead pipe with weight tied to his waist.
He made the minimum height after two days of exercising.

A Bible Thought For Today

And this know, that if the Goodman of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not have suffered his house to be broken through.
Be ye therefore ready also: for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not. (St. Luke 12:39-40)

Visit Webb AFB On Saturday

On Saturday Webb AFB will be thrown open to the public in order that people of this area may see how a military installation is operated.
The biggest business in the United States today is that of maintaining our defense establishment. Aside from the fact that it requires more money and generates more business than any other industry or business, the defense of this country is the most important of all because of the precious quality of our liberty.
Machines, which become increasingly complex by the day and antiquated the next, are costly beyond imagination. Their seeming ingenuity transcends the ability of the human mind to receive, assimilate and act upon information which controls the functioning of these machines.
Yet for all the uncanny achievements of electronic devices, the premium is still on the human mind, and upon human skills. People must create these marvelous machines, and people must maintain and repair them. People must conceive refinements and innovations. They must envision tactical applications and for every new weapon developed against us they must quickly dream up an effective defense mechanism.

Thus, the training bases such as Webb AFB are vital links in the mighty defense chain of the country. The fate of the free world still rests to a great degree upon the competency of our pilots.
We think it will be well worth your time Saturday to spend a few hours at Webb to see what our folks at the base are doing here to bulwark the priceless heritage of liberty.

Anniversary Of A Hearty Group

Last Monday, May 13, was the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first English settlement on the North American continent—a date that touches off commemorative activities that are to continue through November 1 and around the site.
The group that was to land at Plymouth some 15 years later were premeditated and hopeful seekers of a new life in a new world away from the religious persecutions that had been their lot in England.
More than 100 men who followed Capt. Christopher Newport ashore to found Jamestown were adventurers. Among them were a scant handful of real colonists, a few mechanics, a dozen laborers and four carpenters. Half the number were designated as "gentlemen," whose hands had seldom or never been soiled by plain work. In contrast to the Plymouth colonists, they were adventurers in search of an outlet for their restless energies.
Their ships, the Susan Constant, the Godspeed, and the Discovery, had spent four months at sea when the expedition dropped anchor on a swampy island 32 miles up the James River. Not far off, some eighty years before, the first real colonizers of the Western World, the Spaniards, had spent part of 1526.
A crude fort was set up, none too soon, for the Indians attacked almost immediately. In the first skirmish the settlers lost one killed and eleven wounded.

Truly an inhospitable country, in more ways than one. Rude cabins clustered around the fort, and some wheat was sown on a rise of ground nearby. Then Capt. Newport and his three ships departed for home, leaving 104 "colonists" behind.
Constant bouts with the Indians, dysentery and malaria and semi-starvation dogged the men. The winter of 1609-10, which came to be known as the "starving time" among them, decimated the harried little band. What was left of the "settlement" was ready to start back to England, but were met by Lord De la Warr with a relief expedition.
In the following 18 years 5,650 colonists came over to the new land, but at the end of that period just over 1,000 remained. Those who had not fled the country had died of disease, starvation or Indian action.
Not until John Rolfe, who became celebrated as the husband of Pocahontas, showed the colonists that tobacco could be made a profitable crop did it become certain that the first English settlement in America was a sure thing.
The Pilgrims on the Mayflower were slated for Jamestown, but were sidetracked on the way.

Is There A Negotiation On Arms?

It seems to be just possible that an agreement of some sort will be reached at the London conference on the regulation of armaments. Mr. Stassen and the administration in Washington are talking hopefully, and there has indeed been considerable evidence on the Soviet side, as well as on our own, of a desire to negotiate a limited and experimental agreement.
From years and years of talk about "disarmament," we have all learned to be very skeptical—indeed, to suppose that neither side is willing to pay the price of an agreement, and that the conferences are for propaganda and not for negotiation. But somehow, or other the give-and-take between Mr. Stassen and Mr. Zorin has begun to look as if a genuine negotiation might actually be in the making.
We can say, I would suppose, that both military conditions are finding that the competition in armaments has reached a point where they cannot stand the strain. Neither, of course, is willing to abandon the competition. Both are however finding that the pace is too severe, and there are important signs that both the NATO powers and the Soviet bloc need a breathing spell.
We are, we know, in the midst of one of the greatest of all revolutions in the technology of war. For the military planners this poses a perpetual dilemma. Shall they arm with the weapons that exist, and take the risk that these weapons will soon be obsolete? Or shall they get ready for the weapons of tomorrow, and leave themselves helplessly armed for warfare today? The dilemma is posed because neither coalition can afford to arm fully with the weapons of today and at the same time to invent, develop, and produce the weapons of tomorrow.

This dilemma is producing economic and military consequences which both sides—each in its own way—find alarming.
In the West, there is a strong tendency to resolve the dilemma as the Soviet Union has decided to resolve it. That is to say by concentrating on the deterrent power of the new weapons, and in fact to accept the idea of a radical transformation of the orthodox and conventional military services.
The Soviet Union is also subject to heavy pressure to reach some kind of pause or slow-down in the race of armaments. For the time being, and probably for some years to come, the Soviet Union is at a military disadvantage in the race of new armaments. The Soviet government is showing a great deal of anxiety, and most probably the cause of this anxiety is that the United States has a substantial strategic lead in the field of the guided missiles of intermediate range. Launched from NATO bases in Europe, these missiles can strike the heart of the Soviet Union whereas Moscow has no missiles of sufficient range to strike back at the United States.
Both sides, therefore, feel vulnerable and threatened at this stage in the evolution of armaments. Western Europe is, as the British White Paper said with such brutal candor, indefensible in a modern war. The Soviet Union has become vulnerable to a devastating attack by missiles against which there is no defense and no corresponding power of reprisal.
These are not all the considerations which there are now such strong inducements to negotiate. But they are the main considerations. Within this context, we can see too what each of the two parties is most concerned about.
From our point of view, the principal strategic asset of the Soviet Union is that, being a closed country and a dictatorship, it can act by surprise. The United States, which will not soon forget Pearl Harbor, is supremely sensitive to the danger of surprise attack, and American policy in these disarmament talks is in the main addressed to the problem of surprise.
As seen by the Russians, the greatest strategic asset of the West is the productive capacity of the United States. They have not forgotten how under war conditions the American economy can produce weapons. What the Russians are always seeking, therefore, are agreements which would prohibit or would limit the production of weapons, especially of the new nuclear weapons. Whereas we would like to open up to view the closed system of the Soviet Union, the Russians would like to stop or at least to slow up the military output of American industry.
The crux of the negotiations which may have begun is an attempt to strike a balance between these two strategic elements—between the Russian capacity for surprise and the American capacity to produce.

Now 3 Nations Have H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now three nations—the United States, Russia and Britain—can sit back and finger the trigger of their hydrogen bombs as they'd finger a first-world note.
With the explosion of its first hydrogen bomb high over the Pacific yesterday, Britain has moved into that new age where people may learn to be good because they're scared to death not to be.
No bets are being taken on the outcome of this new age because it still has to be proved that people have enough sense not to start something that's going to get them killed.
It's comforting to the United States that its ally Britain now has both atomic and hydrogen bombs. It's one more bit of discouragement to the Russians against starting a hydrogen war since they can be hydrogenized themselves.

But it's going to be just a little harder on the nerves of all three countries, requiring them to stay constantly on the alert against a surprise attack which would be not only catastrophic but might be conclusive.
The Russians accuse the West of wanting war. The United States and Britain say the only reasons for their bombs is to prevent the Russians from starting a war.
Britain's development of the atom and hydrogen bombs States that its ally Britain now has both atomic and hydrogen and brains and ability and resources enough to make them and (2) they weren't kidding when on April 4 they announced a startling change in their defense setup.

On that date the British, convinced they can't defend their small island in the era of hydrogen bombs in the nose of intercontinental missiles, said they'd depend for defense on their ability to dish out equal catastrophe on anyone—meaning Russia—who started a war.
For the next three to five years Britain's ability to retaliate will depend on bombers carrying atomic and hydrogen bombs manufactured in Britain. Then they will be sticking the bombs in the nose of missiles provided by the United States.
And, since the British are going to depend for safety against nuclear attack on the power of nuclear discouragement, they will reduce their army, navy and air force.

Chemist Is Dust Collector

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever hear of a professional dust collector? Well, there is one. He's Dr. Nathan Weiner, friend of the American housewife, who collects two tons of house dust a year, purifies it and concentrates it.
The concentrate is then used to immunize hundreds of thousands of persons allergic to dust.
Take it from Dr. Weiner, a former Harvard faculty chemist who now is research director for Endo Laboratories. "The problem of house dust isn't to be sneezed at."
"About 70 per cent of people who are sensitive to house dust," he said, "it can be positively dangerous to them."
Some 16 million Americans are allergic to one or more substances.
"Allergy is as nearly a universal affliction as I can think of," said Dr. Weiner. "It is a bond that links mankind."
"I doubt if there is a large percentage of people who aren't allergic to a degree to one substance or another," he said.
"There even have been cases of women who were found to be allergic to their husbands' dandruff."
"House dust is one of the commonest causes of allergies," he said, "at least as common as any other well-known agent, such as goldenrod and ragweed pollen during the hay fever season."
"The housewife usually thinks of dust as dirt—the particles of soot and ash that float into her home."
"That is not dust to us. The dust we are after is decomposed proteins from the breakdown of wool, cotton and other organic materials in the home—such as pillows and upholstery stuffing."
The foreign proteins in this dust, breathed into the body, cause the allergic reaction.
Dr. Weiner gets his dust from mattress manufacturers and upholstery firms. If you have any idea of sending your boy through college by selling Dr. Weiner the dust from your old sofa, abandon the thought.
"As of now," he said, "we are satisfied with our present sources of supply."
The 4,000 pounds of rough dust he uses each year go through eight purification stages and emerge as 10 to 20 pounds of pure house dust concentrate, enough for two million inoculation shots.
"No matter how dust-free a woman keeps her own home," said Dr. Weiner, "she can do nothing about the dust in other places she goes, such as restaurants, movies, hotels, and other people's homes."
"The only other solution I know would be to walk around in a space helmet."

Delinquency In Paris Is Now Juvenile Decency

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Paris youngsters, hearing too much of "juvenile delinquency," have formed "Juvenile Decency at Paris High School."
Three worth causes profited an average of $253.27 each.
Paris High School student council launched a month-long drive to get money for the March of Dimes, Heart Fund and "Texas Tribute to Freedom," a student-supported Hungarian relief program. They labeled this effort: "Juvenile Decency at PHS."
After expenses of "Operation Decency" were deducted, the student council had $739.91 to divide between the three causes. Gross profit was $812.45.
The event which provided most fun for students and most funds for the pot was inter-class competition to select "Mr. and Mrs. Heart Throb of PHS."
Each class selected a boy and a girl to run on a straight ticket. Votes were a penny per device. To help individual class candidates win the title added up to $660.60.
Other enterprising ventures undertaken were curb hopping, pizza suppers, soft drink parties, Saturday breakfasts, ribbon, coat hanger, chewing gum, pencil and candy sales, white elephant parties, dances, pie and cake walks—and even an expurgated variation of the spin-the-bottle party.

Celebration For A Court Decision

WASHINGTON—Groups which were among the beneficiaries of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States of May 17, 1954, upholding "integration" or "forced association" in the schools, as it sometimes is called—are planning to celebrate it on the third anniversary next Friday.
But the public demonstration, which is to be staged at the Lincoln Memorial here, may have effects opposite from those intended. It may start a series of annual demonstrations on the other side of the issue. For if approval of Supreme Court decisions is to be made the basis for emotional displays, then those who disapprove have an equal right to express their emotions.
What form might such disapproval take? It could result in annual meetings to pay tribute to the memory of those Supreme Court justices who for 52 years—from 1896 to 1948—upheld the long-established right of the states to conduct their educational processes under what was known from 1849 on as "separate but equal" school facilities.
Many of the greatest of the justices of the past—including Holmes, Brandeis, Stone, Hughes—upheld the "separate but equal" concept, and they respected what had been decided many years before. Eulogies of these and other justices today would no doubt center on the homage these men paid to the famous principle of "stare decisis." This Latin phrase means, in effect, that what has been decided shall stay decided. There have occasionally been reversals by the Supreme Court of previous decisions but only when the fallacy or mistake in the original decision in a matter of law was plainly presented.
In the segregation case, however, the nine justices did not point to any fallacy or mistake in the legal reasoning of the justices who wrote the 1896 decision but merely said, in effect, that sociological considerations now justify a reversal. The controlling argument presented was that colored children feel psychologically inferior when separated from whites in the school years.
Unfortunately, this is not too firm ground even for the beneficiaries of the decision. They cannot be too sure that they have won something permanent. For, some day in the future, another set of Supreme Court justices may be persuaded to believe that "forced association" or the mixture of the two races in the schools has an injurious effect psychologically on the children of both races, and hence it

Around The Rim
Something South Would Like To Forget

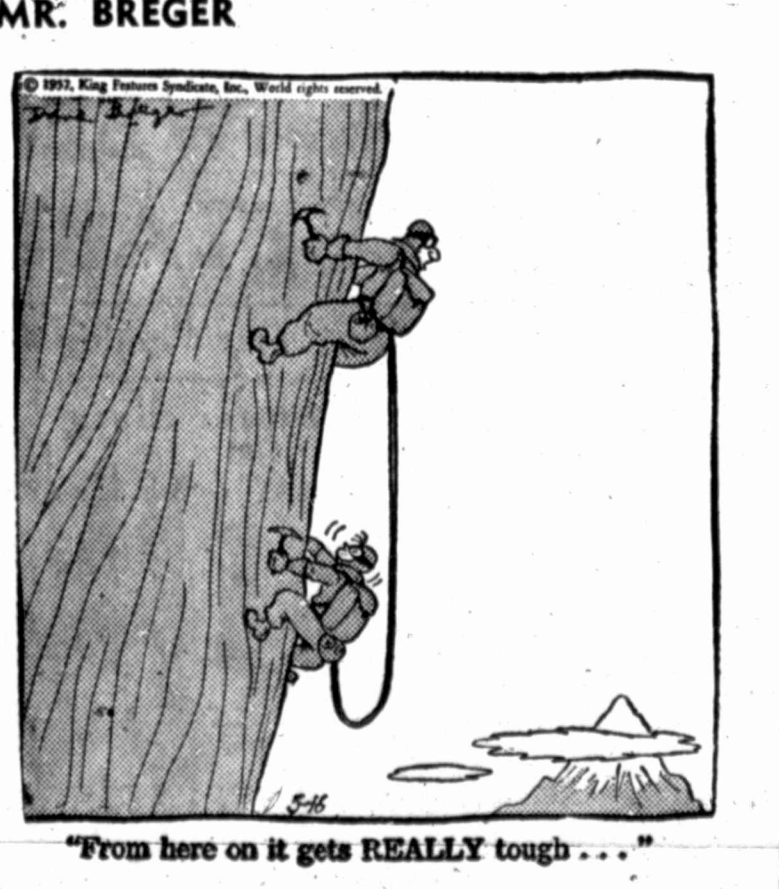

Reading "Andersonville," by MacKinlay Kantor, I was surprised to learn that "war crimes" trials aren't something relatively new.
Andersonville, in case you haven't heard of it, was the name of a notorious Civil War prison. It was operated by the Confederates, but I expect most Southerners would be happy to forget about it.
The institution had a lot in common with Dachau, Buchenwald, and others of modern vintage.
Until I ran across "Andersonville" in the county library, I thought the official recognition of war crimes originated at Buchenwald and the other Nazi prisons and concentration camps of World War II.
Kantor, who wrote "Andersonville" only after a quarter of a century of research, set me right.
The good old United States, with liberty and justice for all, took formal notice of "war crimes" as long ago as 1863. That's about the time the Andersonville prison was established. At the end of the War Between The States, Andersonville's commander, Confederate Capt. Henry Wirz, was tried and hanged for his performance.
Wirz probably was the fall guy, because he wasn't provided with too much to work with by his Rebel colleagues. But during the 13 months the prison was operating, 13,737 Union soldiers died of starvation, filth, disease and gunshot wounds. That was more than a fourth of the 49,485 who were confined in the stockade at one time or another during the 13 months.
Andersonville was a unique prison. It consisted of a pine log stockade about 15 feet high surrounding about 27 acres of land. It was built across a creek, so that the prisoners would have a water supply.

However, in constructing the stockade, workmen dumped dirt and tree branches in the spring that fed the stream, causing it to stop flowing. The creek turned into a bog, and the inmates were without water except for the slime they could collect from the swamp.
There were no sanitary facilities, the creek quickly became a stinking hole filled with bodily waste. There was no shelter for the prisoners, except for the holes they dug and the makeshift tents they fashioned out of their clothing. A handful of doctors ministered to the sick, but only a couple cared whether the prison was kept or not.
There wasn't much food—an occasional spoonful of peas and almost-daily rations of cornbread. The bread was made of corn which had been ground cob and all. It cut the insides out of many of the men.
Right-thinking Georgians who lived in the vicinity of the stockade once were chased away from the prison when they drove up with wagons loaded with fresh vegetables for the prisoners.
The Rebel general who was in charge of Southern war prisons and lived at Andersonville died of a heart attack shortly before the revolt was quelled. Otherwise, he and not the ambitious Capt. Wirz may have become one of the first war criminals executed by the United States.
Perhaps a greater Justice decided it was time to put an end to some of the atrocities.
—WAYLAND YATES

Inez Robb
Oh, Women! Now With Sideburns!

In my salad days, my elders frequently took recourse in an old saw to the effect that boys will be boys and girls will be girls. But you never hear it mentioned nowadays, probably because you can't hardly get that kind no more.
We have reached a point in time where in girls, without so much as an assist from radioactive fallout, will be boys or bust, and sometimes both. Blue jeans and the crewcut, once the stigma of the hell-fellow from Pocatello, are now strictly from sissy. Since World War II my sex has taken to the hatchcut and bitches, with the result that most women look like permanent residents of the Fun House or Hall of Crazy Mirrors at Coney Island.
I can't say that I have ever become reconciled to this mode. I was becoming case-hardened, however, bit by bit. But, by golly, the girls this time have gone too far in snitching from the opposite sex, if such it still is. I have just learned that the newest hairdo for summer is a crewcut "with Rudolph Valentino sideburns"—newest, that is, for my sex.
A crewcut with sideburns would be bad enough for men, but for women—the Rev. Billy Graham has arrived in New York not a moment too soon!
This new cropped locks-sideburn sensation was created, as we say in the trade, for Miss Kay Kendall, a British actress long resident on these shores. On her, this combination may look good. But did Cleopatra wear mutton chops? Did Helen of Troy sport sideburns?
Venus, rising from the sea, may not have worn much. But the betting in my book is six, two and even that what little she wore didn't include a Dunderbary.

Who wants to go to the theatre to see a Juliet or a Camille who is a dead-ringer for the late William Great Gladstone? He may have been an event Prime Minister—but what sideburns!—but even Queen Victoria didn't think him pretty.
For that matter, what eligible bachelor wants to run around with a girl who is a double for a crewcut Rudolph Valentino? Or for an Elvis Presley with a haircut?
But at this point my whole argument falls down. For Miss Kendall runs around with Rex Harrison, known in the Hollywood columns as "Sexy Rexy" (but simply as Mr. Harrison in a conservative pillar such as this). From my perusal of the theatrical news, I understand that Miss Kendall and Harrison are betrothed, which is certainly nice work for a girl with a crewcut and incipient mutton chops.
In fact, if anything will inflame American womanhood to adapt this insidious hairdo, it is the knowledge that the woman for whom it was created is engaged to the man who inhabits the desert isle on which every sensible woman dreams of ending up as a castaway.
The Valentino cut is inevitable. So I am prepared to brace myself when I encounter it in the supermarket, supported by levis and flapping shirtsails, spike heels and dangling earrings. It is cold comfort, but I suppose the nation should be thankful that the hairdresser who invented Miss Kendall's new coiffure was an admirer of Rudolph and not of Charles Evans Hughes. set agate

On The Eve Of His New York Crusade

Billy Graham speaks at the dedication service in Madison Square Garden, the day before beginning his 47-day evangelistic campaign in New York City. The 38-year-old evangelist told some 6,000 volunteer workers he believed the nation is "on the verge of a spiritual awakening such as we have not seen in our time."

Graham's New York Crusade Gets Off To A Rousing Start

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham's New York crusade got off to a rousing start last night. He said it could be the "beginning of a spiritual fire that will sweep this nation and ignite the world."

A crowd of 18,500 filled Madison Square Garden as Graham drummed at the "moral sickness" he said was loose in the land, and pleaded for a change of heart.

"We have lost God," he declared, his voice stern, his arms outstretched. "We have lost our anchor, our moorings, our moral direction, our spiritual sensibilities."

At the end of the sermon, when he appealed for those who would "give your life to Christ" to come forward, 485 people came.

He said it was "the largest first-night response I've ever seen from the pulpit in America."

They filed up the aisles, and down from the bunting-draped galleries. They crowded the escalators, moving to the ground floor, and clustered around the speaker's platform, a few of them tearful.

"As you come," Graham said, "many of you are not quite sure what is happening to you. It is a new birth. It is something God does for you supernaturally."

A mass of greenery encircled the pulpit—potted ivy, ferns, cedars and other shrubs. Above it stretched a long blue banner, lettered in white: "Jesus, said, 'I am the way, the truth and the life.'"

American flags hung from the ceiling.

The crowd began gathering hours before the meeting. When the doors opened, they jammed the ground-floor chairs, and filled the three tiers above to the eaves, except for a few places high behind the pulpit.

For his sermon, Graham took an Old Testament text, Isaiah 1:1-20, which goes in part: "Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquity. . . They have forsaken the Lord, they have provoked the Holy One of Israel into anger, they are gone backward."

In one verse, "Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom; give ear unto the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrah," Graham declared.

"We have done away with the Ten Commandments, with the Sermon on the Mount. . . Now we are reaping the harvest in dishonesty, lying, cover-up and hypocrisy."

Pacing back and forth, gesturing, often picking up his Bible and tapping its pages with his forefinger, Graham exhorted the assembly to "surrender your will to Christ."

He said millions of people, frustrated and disillusioned by trying to live without God, are resorting to alcohol and tranquilizing pills and "running up one blind alley after another."

"Psychiatrists are so nervous that they are now going to each other for help," he said. "The soul is hungering, straining for God, but people throw another aspirin in, and say, 'Be quiet, soul.'"

The answer, he said, can only be found in "an encounter with the living God."

As he spoke, the huge crowd sat hushed, rapt. And when he gave the invitation for new believers to come forward "reverently and quietly" they did so, moving along silently.

There were gray-haired, elderly people, teen-agers and young married couples. All were ushered into a basement auditorium for individual counseling.

"The response was overwhelming," Graham later told a packed roomful of more than 100 reporters.

"It was beyond anything I had anticipated."

He said it usually takes several weeks for a crusade to generate the influence to affect people in such numbers.

The first-night audience was made up almost entirely of New Yorkers, although one chartered plane-load of people was on hand from Chicago.

About 7,500 seats had been reserved in advance. Delegations from 112 New York area churches were there.

Graham said millions have united in prayer for success of the crusade, to an extent probably unmatched by any event in history.

"We need prayer now more than ever before. After victory is often when Satan strikes," he said.

In the invocation, the Rev. Dr. Phillips Elliott, president of the New York Protestant Council, asked God's blessings on the city, saying, "As Thou has made her great in stature, so make her great in soul."

Roger Hull, an insurance company executive and chairman of the crusade executive committee, said he believed "God is going to richly bless this city as a result of this crusade."

In the preliminaries, one official introduced Graham's wife, Ruth, sitting in one of the side galleries. She stood up, smiling, to a roar of applause.

Graham said some strange things have been suggested as to his motives for coming to New York.

"Some have said I want to keep the Republicans in power," he said. "Others have said I want to clean up New York. Still others have said I want to make Baptists out of everybody."

"I have come to New York for the one express purpose of winning men and women to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ."

Drive For Chapel At McKnight Opens

A campaign to raise $75,000 from a 148-county area to finance construction of a chapel at McKnight State Tuberculosis Sanatorium has been launched.

Kickoff for the effort was Thursday at San Angelo with M. D. Bryant, San Angelo oilman, as general chairman. Among the 18 prominent West Texans on the board is Marvin M. Miller, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

No Texas State hospital has a place reserved solely for religious service, but in West Texas sentiment has developed to provide a facility which could be used by all faiths.

The patient need for chapel facilities at McKnight is more acute now than it was in the days when a patient could stay only six to nine months. Some patients now at McKnight have been there six years.

Almost half of the patients discharged from state TB hospitals are those who leave against medical advice while they are still active carriers of tuberculosis. Many hospital desertions are caused by hours of daytime bed rest which allows patients' minds to dwell on their problems with little spiritual help to guide their reasoning.

Chapel facilities will help reduce this number of desertions.

Coupled with the chapel is the installation of a program distribution system which would allow those in bed to attend church services via radio. This system, including 650 pillow speakers, will have many uses in patient health education, entertainment, patient broadcasting parties, and as an alarm voice in case of an emergency.

Currently, there are seven Howard County patients in this institution.

Contributions are tax deductible. Checks should be made payable to McKnight All-Faith Chapel Fund, Mrs. Sam Grayson Jr., 1222 Paseo de Vacca, San Angelo, is bonded treasurer.
