Congress Dared On Selective Veto

Ike Says He Could Do Some Budget Cutting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today challenged the Democratic-controlled Congress to give him authority for selective veto of appropriation items. He said that with such power "I could easily do some serious cost cutting..."

Runaway Car At End Of Wild Journey

The 1951 Ford, shown against the pickup-truck, had just completed a 392-foot dash, without a driver, at the time the photograph was shot. The Ford, owned by J. J. Rowe, Coahoma, and driven by Mrs. Rowe, collided Friday morning with an oil transport truck on U. S. Highway 80 at the Cosden Refinery entrance.

New Storms Erupt In State; 2 W. Texans Hurt In Twister

Dallas, Mineral Wells, Amarillo and Lubbock. Thundershowers were reported early Friday at Fort Worth and Sherman. Amarillo, Austin and Mineral Wells were receiving rain.

The twister that hit northwest of Winters narrowly missed buildings on the Pennell farm, damaged a drilling rig and injured Bobby Clark, 19, and J. A. Criswell, both of Ballinger.

Nixon Defends Budget, Calls Cut Dangerous

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon, defending President Eisenhower's defense and foreign aid budgets, says any cuts "will jeopardize not only our own safety but our chance for victory in the world struggle..."

Three Hurt, One Critically, In Series Of Highway Accidents

Two major car accidents at exactly the same spot and just two hours apart sent two persons to the hospital, one critically injured, Thursday night. A third traffic mishap on Friday morning caused heavy damage to four vehicles and resulted in painful but not serious abrasions to one person.

Tops In Pops

New York Yankees' batting star Mickey Mantle, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), and evangelist Billy Graham exchange mutual congratulations after winning Father's Day awards at a meeting of the National Father's Day Committee in New York. Mickey, named Sports Father of the Year, has two sons. Sen. McClellan, top hitter as Father of the Year, has three sons, three daughters and seven grandchildren. Graham, chosen in the religion category, has four children.

Fisher Won't Follow Public Opinion Blindly

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clark Fisher of West Texas has just found out what his constituents think on the day's most vital issues. He does not intend to follow that lead blindly, however.

Twelve thousand returns came in from 45,000 questionnaires he mailed to the San Angelo area. The questions dealt with foreign aid, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, balancing the budget, the soil bank and other subjects.

The returns showed Texans in his district are 3 1/2 to 1 against the foreign aid program, though many indicated a willingness to go along with absolute essentials, including technical aid and some loans. Postal rate increases were favored by a 54-39 ratio, with almost universal disapproval of privileges now enjoyed by "junk mail" advertising. Alaska and Hawaii statehood were favored, as was a trimmed budget and a balanced budget before tax reductions.

"It happens that in most of the issues here, the prevailing opinions are in accord with the views I entertain," Fisher replied. "I think any representative should respect the viewpoint and welcome the counsel and advice of his constituents. He should be guided to some extent by them. But he should not accept them as his own unless he is convinced they are right."

"The knowledge I have on a particular issue, which may not be generally accessible to the public, may control my vote."

He said he is against statehood for Alaska and Hawaii and will so vote.

"People are really very indulgent in this regard," he continued. "Many of those writing said they were glad to give me their views but that they expect me to use my own good judgment."

Around the Capital:
Byron Skelton of Temple, Texas Democratic national committee man, recently presented Speaker Sam Rayburn a life membership certificate in the Ex-Students Assn. of the University of Texas.

Texas figured in the annual show staged by the Women's National Press Club. A main skit was a take-off on the relationship of Speaker Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson. A song entitled "The Togetherness Twins" included such lines as "We run the Hill together, we killed civil rights together, we lost the campaign (presidential) together, we probably will hang together."

Sarah McClendon, formerly of Tyler, correspondent for several Texas newspapers, played the role of Rayburn.

Flying from Texas in their own plane to attend the American Institute of Architects convention, Mr. and Mrs. James Witt of Waco had a few exciting moments as they approached Washington National Airport. Witt tried in vain to contact the control tower but found that wave length data on his charts was incorrect. He was about to let down for a landing when a big commercial airliner almost overran his small twin-engine plane. Then he switched to an emergency radio band and made contact with the tower. He soon landed safely.

Cohen Subpoenaed

Lamesa Baptists To Occupy New Educational Building

LAMESA — The new educational building of the First Baptist Church will be occupied Sunday. The two-story unit is constructed of red brick and covers 23,700 square feet. This makes a total of 58,845 square feet of floor space in the church.

Following the fire which completely destroyed the church building in November 1952, a new auditorium and an education wing were built at the same location, while services were held in the Junior High School auditorium. On Dec. 6, 1953, the auditorium and northwest wing were occupied. The $400,000 building was paid off and the note burned on Feb. 21, 1956, and a fund raising campaign for the additional educational wing was begun immediately. The church architectural design is modified English Gothic.

Allen and Allen of Lamesa were the architects for the building.

Included in the annex are three adult, two young people, four junior, three primary and two beginner departments; a large and small dining room, kitchen, parlor and chapel. The refrigeration system is complete with refrigerated air conditioning.

The structure was built by Bowers Purcell Construction Co. of Lamesa, at a bid price of $182,500. The building and equipment of the 63-year-old Baptist congregation is valued at nearly a million dollars.

Milo B. Arbutckle is the pastor of the church. He moved to Lamesa in January of 1955 from Fredrick, Oklahoma. Formal dedication of the entire structure will probably be in September.

Tim McCoy Tells Kiwanians How He Became Film Star

Tim McCoy, veteran western movie actor and long-time personality in the film world, told the Big Spring Kiwanians Thursday that old timers like himself, Hoot Gibson, Tom Mix and others of that day were "just plain western men who knew how to ride—and not a one of us ever learned to play a guitar."

The actor was here in connection with his appearance in a circus during Big Spring. He is now in television, which occupies his time during the winter months, and he travels with circuses in the summer, he said.

McCoy amused the Kiwanians with a recital of experiences he had in his early days as a film player and told how he accidentally got into the movies.

His first film job, he said, was an order to recruit 500 "wild" Indians from his home state of Wyoming to play in celebrated western movie titled "The Covered Wagon."

Later he was asked to organize a stage presentation featuring 16 Indians as a prologue to the picture. He took his Indians to England and to France and his recital of the misadventures of the American aborigines in Europe was hilarious.

The general formula for successful western movies of his day, he said, was simple.

"Get your characters introduced to the audience as briefly as possible; tell the folk a little about the situation which prevails," he said, "and then get everybody on a horse."

Bad Weather Sweeps Into Eastern Areas

By The Associated Press
Severe weather which has pounded areas in the Southern Plains during the week swept into wide sections East and Northeast of Texas during the night.

Arkansas appeared hardest hit by the violent weather, with tornado winds and torrential rains in many areas. The stormy weather occurred in the hot and humid air that extended from Texas eastward across the Gulf states and northeastward to points south of the Ohio River through the lower Great Lakes to New England and the Atlantic seaboard.

While southwest Arkansas was under a severe weather alert last night, tornado winds lashed Monticello, in the southeastern part of the state. The winds tore the roof and steeple from a church and stripped roofs from an orphanage dormitory and a downtown business building.

Eighty persons in the church attending a music recital escaped injury. Fifty orphan boys left the wrecked dormitory shortly before it was unroofed.

Most areas in Texas were hammered again by violent weather, with tornadoes, heavy rain and hail. Three twisters were reported near Winters, Marshall and Mt. Pleasant, with two persons injured at Winters. Winds up to 73 m.p.h. whipped the Dallas-Forth Worth area. Drenching rains and hail pelleted the region.

Thunderstorms rumbled across the Southeast and heavy showers were reported in the Lower Mississippi Valley. More than four inches of rain fell at Mobile, Ala., in six hours.

While the cooler air was stalled over Texas and the Mississippi Valley, it continued to move southeastward and eastward into the northern Appalachians and through the Ohio Valley. It was felt in western New York State but moist warm air covered the Atlantic Coastal states. Temperatures during the night were mostly in the 70s from New England to Florida. Showers fell in scattered areas in New England.

Showers and thunderstorms were forecast for parts of the Central and Southern Plains westward over the Rockies and over most of the inter-mountain region. Similar weather was the outlook from the Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic and northward into the Ohio Valley.

Opening Of Secrets Proves Hard Job For Adm. Hoskins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Adm. "Uncle John" Hoskins is way behind in his work even before he starts on his new job.

Ahead is the task of deciding what should be done about removing secrecy labels from a mountain of documents, records, reports, histories and personal files. This material began to accumulate at the start of World War II and has been piling up since.

No one, including Hoskins who has been named director of the Pentagon's new Office of Declassification Policy, has much of an idea how many such items exist.

He says he has heard one guess that the volume is equivalent to something like 1,700,000 filing cabinets. Someone else estimates that just to go through the Army's classified material would require 400 man years of work.

Hoskins made it plain in an interview he doesn't intend to add to the volume.

"You certainly can't get rid of that backlog by making two copies of everything you destroy," he said.

The 58-year-old admiral, who is retiring from active duty after 36 years, is preparing to move to the Pentagon from his present office as president of the Naval Examining and Physical Disability Board.

The order by Secretary of Defense Wilson creating the Office of Declassification Policy, that agency will be responsible for developing uniform standards and procedures for removing secrecy tags from documents no longer needing them.

There is no precedent for a job of this size—"we'll just have to play it by ear," Hoskins said.

Policy probably will be established for categories of documents, the admiral said, adding:

"If you tried to do it by individual papers, you wouldn't get through by the year 3000."

At the outset, a staff of about 20 persons will work under Hoskins. Most of them will be civilians, with representation from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. Consultants or advisers from the State Department will work with the director.

It is going to take a long time to get this going," Hoskins predicted. "I told them (Pentagon officials) that I have been sea for a long time but still can't walk on water, so don't expect any miracles."

A veteran of some of the fiercest air-sea engagements of the Pacific campaigns in World War II, Hoskins is a cheerful, middle-aged, round-faced man on whom the nickname Uncle John fits nicely.

He was aboard the carrier Princeton in September 1944, preparing to take over as captain, when Japanese planes attacked, blasting the ship with bombs. His right foot was severed above the ankle, and he now wears an artificial foot.

After his recovery, he returned to sea and became the skipper of the new carrier Princeton.

Until recently he has played golf, fishes and roams around in sailboats for recreation.

Hoskins had only one year of high school when he was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy from his Pineville, Ky., home. He failed written examinations twice and the physical exam three times (trouble with an ear) before he got the appointment.

The admiral said "I had to work pretty hard" after he went to Annapolis. He recalled he was low man in his plebe class.

Hoskins has been a Navy man in three wars—World Wars I and II, and Korea. He was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1917, commissioned in 1921, and climbed to rear admiral in 1944.

In 1925, Hoskins entered naval aviation, and has remained in that service throughout his long career. His combat service has brought him high decorations, including the Navy Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star and the Purple Heart.

Glass Substance Stronger Than Steel

CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—A research chemist has developed a new range of basic materials that start out as glass but wind up as a radically different substance.

They're harder than steel, lighter than aluminum and 15 times as strong as plate glass. Pyroceram, as the new substance was named, can be manufactured opaque or transparent, milky white or in any color you please.

The non-porous substance was tabbed immediately for radomes, the nose cones that protect the delicate directional instruments of guided missiles.

The creator of Pyroceram is Dr. S. Donald Stookey, manager of the fundamental chemical research department of the Corning Glass Works. The company announced Stookey's discovery yesterday.

The chemist's 42nd birthday. He is a native of Hay Springs, Neb.

The materials are melted and formed just like glass. But each supply so-called nucleating agents— invisible, sub-microscopic "seeds" that cause the formation of crystals.

It's much the same process you find in cloud-seeding, or in the formation of sugar crystals in a jar full of jelly.

By controlling the chemical composition and growth of the Pyroceram crystals under heat treatment, a wide range of properties can be developed.

While still barely out of the laboratory stage, Pyroceram products are expected to find many industrial applications. Corning President William Decker mentioned architectural uses. Particularly in curtain walls, jet engine manufacturing, and chemical and oil industry equipment as likely fields for the new materials. Even the home, he said, may eventually see a Pyroceram range top.

More than 400 different compositions have been developed in Corning's laboratory, the company said.

The announcement marked the opening of a four-day celebration marking completion of a Corning research and administration center.

These young ladies have been announced as the valedictorian and salutatorian of Garden City High School. With an average grade of 93.4, Jacquelyn Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, has set the pace for the senior class. Close behind was Marceline Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Gill, with an average of 92.

Unchanged, Ike Foreign Aid Program Marks A Milestone

WASHINGTON — If President Eisenhower's new foreign aid bill becomes law without major change, it will mark a turning point in the history of the program. The pivotal issue today is not the amount of money; it is how much year-by-year control Congress will continue to exercise over U. S. assistance to foreign countries.

Philadelphia's Police Amid Courtesy Drive

PHILADELPHIA — Let the gag-makers and the aspiring comics have their fling, the courtesy campaign of the Philadelphia police is on in full fervor. And it's not going to be relaxed when the publicity wears thin. So say the top men in the department, and behind their resolution is the authority of the mayor and his cabinet.

None of these men, it was confident today, intend to be put off their high purpose by jests about "prettifying the cops" and "gardena gendarmes" or by exaggerated pantomimes of Philadelphia policemen as pirouetting 18th century gallants. Police Commissioner Thomas Gibbons has little patience with the notion of a policeman's having to be uncouth to be worth his badge.

"That just isn't true," commented one of the commissioner's staff. "Some of the world's best policemen are as polite and affable as a college professor. If a policeman behaves like an oaf, how can we expect the public, and especially the younger people, to have the proper respect for the law?" The question of police etiquette was brought sharply and dramatically into public focus last week with announcement that henceforth the city's policemen would be expected to abide by regulations and suggestions embodied in a new manual. Emphasis is upon the amenities — the use of "please" and "thank you" and "sir" and "madam," instead of grunts and bellows and "hey bud" and "where's the fire, kid."

The courtesy campaign is necessary, authorities said, because of complaints that many motorists were being tagged without good reason and that police were, on numerous occasions, insulting and otherwise abusive. In a talk to graduates at the Police Academy last night, Deputy Commissioner Howard R. Leary bore down on courtesy. He said the major complaint against the Philadelphia police force was not what he called its "light touch" with a citizen's rights, but its sneering tone.

Formosans Stage Anti-American Riot

TAIPEI — Thousands of Nationalist Chinese, infuriated by the acquittal of a U.S. Army sergeant who killed a Chinese window-peeper, went on an anti-American rampage through downtown Taipei today. The mobs sacked the U.S. Embassy, tore down its American flag and shredded it, and besieged more than 100 Americans in a military headquarters. The latter were reported in no imminent danger.

Money Lender Gets 6 Months

PHILADELPHIA — A money lender who gave trading stamps must serve six months in prison. He was fined $2,500. David Fogel, 41, pleaded no defense to charges of violations of the Small Loans Act. Judge Leo H. McKay imposed the sentence in city court and ordered Fogel to refund to his clients all interest in excess of 6 per cent.

Lost 18 Pounds With Barcentrate

"I strongly recommend Barcentrate for taking off ugly weight quickly and easily. I lost a total of 18 pounds, reducing from 148 to 130." This is from a letter of Mrs. R. D. Palmer, Gladewater, Texas, Box 1101. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe, for taking off weight. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, without starvation or calorie counting, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mixed Motives Bring Crowds To Hear Preaching Of Gospel

NEW YORK (AP)—Mixed motives today are bringing thousands of New Yorkers to hear the gospel preached—many of whom haven't been inside a church in years.

The man behind the pulpit is Billy Graham, but he himself says his only message is the Bible, and every minister has one. So what is it that brings those who usually aren't interested in the subject?

You get all kinds of answers from the assorted people flocking to Madison Square Garden tonight—18,000 of them last night.

Diann Cyr, a Manhattan striptease dancer: "I'm in show business, and I just wanted to find out why so many people come to hear about a story that's 2,000 years old. Is it showmanship or what he says?"

Harry Roskolenko, of Manhattan, a novelist: "I'm spiritually interested. I have my own private sort of religion, and I'm wondering what this man's appeal is. Is it a personality thing, or are the people starved inwardly and trying to find out what's what?"

Mrs. Edythe Hammel, a church-going Brooklyn housewife: "I came because I think it's going to do me some good. I think this man is going to bring religion back to the country, and that's what it needs."

Harry Johnson, a gray-haired Brooklyn gas station attendant, not a church member: "I've been down in the dumps lately and I thought maybe this man might tell me what's wrong."

Arlene Bodnof, 17, one of four pretty Bronx teen-age girls who said they belonged to no church or synagogue: "We heard so much about it, we just wanted to see it for ourselves."

W. F. Fisher, of Peterborough, Canada: "Graham is admired very much in Canada, and I was in England last year, and found that it also is the seat of malice, fornication, envy, hate, brutality and pride.

"More people will stay out of the kingdom of God because of pride than for any other reason," he said. "All they have is self. S-e-l-f!" He spelled it out.

He said the "heart of Christ in compassion on the cross bled for our sinful hearts"—Christ, with the pure, perfect, tender heart, "loved you so much" he died to blot out the errors of your own heart.

"We deserve death and judgment and hell," Graham said, jabbing his finger toward the floor. "But Jesus Christ went to the cross and died in our place."

Through that mysterious atonement, he said, "God will give you a new heart. God says I'll take out the old heart and put in a completely new one. God doesn't just patch you up."

Heart ailments, he noted, are the nation's No. 1 killer, but the spiritual disease is "far worse than the physical disease. It has infected everyone. Everyone has a bad heart."

"We can't have a better world as long as we have bad, deceitful, stony hearts," he declared.

Quoting the Bible extensively, he said the heart is the seat of emotions, love, courage, faith, but

Eleanor Urges A Firm Policy

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last night called for a firm United States policy in dealing with Egypt's Premier Nasser and the Arab world "even at the risk that the Soviet Union might offer them aid."

Speaking at an observance of Israel's ninth anniversary, the former first lady advocated a strong policy in both words and deeds.

Mrs. Roosevelt outlined two things for which she said the United States must stand as a nation and as a leader in the United Nations: (1) Adoption of a policy to make the Suez Canal an international waterway, and (2) Peaceful acceptance of Israel as a state by Middle Eastern countries.

U. S. Proposes Limit Of Atom Arms To Those In Possession

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is trying to negotiate with Russia a disarmament treaty which would ban atomic weapons for all except the three powers that already have them. They are the United States, Russia and Britain.

This was reported on excellent authority today as Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament negotiator, carried toward conclusion a round of Cabinet-level conferences on the next American move to be made in the London disarmament talks.

Stassen takes part later today in a meeting at the State Department with Secretary Dulles and top officials of the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission and other key agencies.

He plans to leave Sunday afternoon for the resumption of London negotiations Monday. In succeeding days there, he will put forward the new U.S. decisions to the representatives of Russia, Britain, France and Canada, who make up the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee.

Stassen took part yesterday in a meeting of the National Security Council under President Eisenhower's direction. He and Dulles later reported to Senate leaders on the status of negotiations and on the developing United States policy.

Stassen told the senators this country is involved in a "serious negotiation" on what he called a "first step agreement" for limited disarmament.

If such an agreement succeeds, presumably later negotiations could broaden it, perhaps to include limitations on nuclear weapons for the big powers.

One of his aims in talking with Senate leaders obviously was to seek support for the administration's plans as they develop so that if and when a treaty is actually achieved it will have a good prospect for winning the two-thirds Senate vote necessary for American ratification.

Meanwhile, reports available here disclosed the following key points among provisions which the U. S. government would like to see in any such pact:

1. While the basic agreement would be worked out by the five countries meeting at London, provision should be made for other nations to adhere or join the pact. The more countries adhering, the more effective the treaty would be.
2. All the countries joining which do not already have atomic weapons would pledge not to develop or otherwise obtain them.

Associated officials believe that other countries would be willing to accept this restriction in the interest of ending the arms race and devoting their resources to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

3. The powers would undertake to reduce their present armaments—except for nuclear weapons—between 10 and 15 per cent or by some specified number of types of weapons. The cut would include such weapons as airplanes and missiles capable of delivering atomic or hydrogen bombs, submarines or other warships, tanks and heavy artillery.
4. The weapons to be taken out of the national arsenals would be turned over to one or more international controlled disarmament depots where inspectors of the disarmament control system would be stationed.
5. Manpower in the case of Russia and the United States would be cut to 2½ million men each in the armed forces. Their military expenditures would be reduced in keeping with the cutbacks in arms and manpower, and all reductions would be subject to policing by international inspectors.
6. The United States, Russia and possibly a number of other countries would undertake to set up one or more zones which would be subjected to aerial inspection as well as ground inspection.

he had made a lasting impression there, too. I was just on my way back to Canada from the south, and stopped over to hear him."

So it goes. As for the varying motives, Graham tells the crowds:

"It makes no difference why you came. If it was curiosity that's all right. Many people came to Christ originally out of curiosity."

Out of Graham's huge congregation last night 765 filed to the front in his concluding appeal to "humbly surrender your life to Christ."

Legislators Fail To Pass Lobby Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Legislators were still yelling "it's your fault!" at each other today for not passing a lobby registration bill.

The bill flopped in the final minutes of the Legislature yesterday when Senate and House conferees could not agree.

Fiercy speeches by three representatives accused the senators, led by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, of not wanting a lobby control bill.

Hardeman replied he would be glad to vote for a "good lobby registration bill" and added that present law was better than any of the versions considered by the conference committee.

Control of lobbyists was a big argument in many political campaigns last summer and promises of reform increased after alleged bribery offers were uncovered early in the session. Gov. Daniel demanded such a measure several times.

When the House Bribery Committee made a final report yesterday it was so sure that such a measure would be passed that it listed lobby registration as one of its accomplishments.

"I regret to inform you that the House Bill 10 calling for lobbyist control is dead," Rep. Frates Seeligson told the House in midafternoon.

"We want to tell you who killed this bill," Rep. J. C. Zbrank said in a personal privilege speech. "Hardeman didn't want a bill that would reveal anything that the lobbyists did."

"The lieutenant governor and some influential senators do not want a lobby registration bill," said Rep. Charles Hughes of Sherman. "They just did not want any bill at all."

Hughes cited grand jury reports from McLellan and DeWitt counties naming several senators as getting payments during legislative sessions.

Local Woman Praises Tranq-wal

To My Friends:

I have always been nervous or high strung, anyway I could not sleep at night. Some nights I would go to sleep when I first went to bed, but wake up from twelve to one or two or three, then I could not go back to sleep. Sometime I could not sleep at all.

I saw where Tranq-wal was recommended to make a person sleep and still not be habit forming, so I tried a box. They were just wonderful. I do not take them every day or night now, because I do not need them. Now I am not nervous as I was. I gave my husband, daughter and aunt some and they like them too.

Tranq-wal is a new scientific aid for the relief of insomnia that contains no narcotics or habit forming drugs. It helps you to relax and get your regular refreshing nights sleep. Tranq-wal is sold at the Collins Brothers Drug Store and The Walgreen Agency Drug in Big Spring. (Adv.)

Most Churches Cancel Evening Services For Baccalaureate Rites

The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the baccalaureate message Sunday at 8:15 p.m. for the Big Spring High School senior class.

His topic will be "Rhapsody In Blue."

Most local churches will discontinue their evening services because of the baccalaureate. There are 162 students in the senior class who have applied for graduation. The service will be held in Municipal Auditorium.

Rev. Nichols was chosen as speaker by vote of the senior class.

Baptist

The Rev. D. R. Phillely, pastor of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will speak Sunday morning on "Jesus is Coming - Does it Matter?" The evening message will be "A Model Church."

"The Objects of the First Transitive Verb" will be the Rev. A. R. Posey's message Sunday morning at the Baptist Temple Church. There will be no evening service.

The sermon Sunday morning at the Airport Baptist Church will be "Salvation from Sin." The Rev.

W. A. James will deliver the message. There will be no evening service.

Christian

The KTXC radio broadcast Sunday at 9 a.m. for the Hillcrest Baptist Church will be "So Near, Yet So Far," Mark 12:34. The morning sermon will be "Reaching the Safety Zone," I Peter 1:5. Both will be delivered by the Rev. H. L. Bingham. During the evening worship hour several men of the church will speak.

Floyd Parsons will be the guest speaker Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church. His subject will be "I Know What You Want." There will be no evening service.

Christian Science

The spiritual basis of true grace and beauty will be emphasized at Christian Science service Sunday. Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" include the following from Psalms (90:16,17): "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us; and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

Catholic

Mass will be said by the Rev. Fr. William J. Moore at 7 a.m. and 11 a.m. at St. Thomas a Catholic Church. Confession will be heard from 5:30 to 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Saturday. Benediction will follow the last Mass.

At the Sacred Heart (Spanish-speaking) Church, Mass will be held at 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Confessions will be heard on Saturday from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Benediction will be at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Mass will be said Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in Coahoma at St. Joseph's Mission by the Rev. Fr. Adolph Metzger, O.M.I.

Spiritual IGY

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baptist publication, Missions, has called on 55 denominations to join in an intensive investigation of "spiritual enigmas" of the age—similar to the work of scientists of 55 nations on natural enigmas during the International Geophysical Year.

"We might find that the basic concerns of man are not physical, but spiritual, and that his future on this planet depends not so much on his knowledge of science as on his understanding of himself and his fellow men," says the Rev. Dr. John C. Stimp, editor of the Baptist organ.

Presbyterian

"Keeping the Vision Bright," will be Dr. R. Gage Lloyd's message Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church. The choir will sing "Pray When the Morn is Breaking." The morning message will be broadcast over KBST.

WHY I BECAME A MINISTER To Help Achieve Lord's Objectives

By CHAP. HENRY C. WOLK

During the first month of my life my parents brought me to the Lord, and Jesus then accepted me as a redeemed child of God by means of His wonderful gift, Holy Baptism.

CHAP. HENRY C. WOLK JR. WEBB AIR FORCE BASE

This gift of salvation at such a tender, helpless age has always reminded me of my total dependence upon the love and mercy of God who bestows salvation upon those who in nowise deserve it. At that time He sheltered me under the blanket of His forgiving love and placed the seeds of faith in my heart and soul.

My Christian parents taught me to pray as soon as I could speak, and the stories of the Bible were the first stories I ever heard. From the time I was three years old I regularly attended Sunday school and church services, and frequently imitated my father's preaching during playtime. I was certain that the old hymn "Dear Old Church, My Church, My Dear Old Church, My Father's and My Own," was written just for me. I frequently accompanied him on his rounds, sitting beside him on the front seat of our Model T Ford.

At the age of 10 years, I entered a parochial school where we studied religion daily and had regular devotional periods. During this period I also took a two-year course of special instruction which prepared me for confirmation and church membership at the age of 12.

The Day of Confirmation was one of the most unforgettable days of my life. In my father's large and beautiful church in New York City, kneeling before the altar, surrounded by a thousand people, we candidates for church membership gave our hearts and our hands to the Lord, promising to be faithful unto death. When the beautiful service was over, I was too moved to accept the congratulations of the many well-wishers, and ran to our car where I could conceal the tears of joy which would not be restrained. This occurred on Palm Sunday, 1930.

The following September I left home to start my pre-theological training at one of our Lutheran ministerial training schools. I must say that although I took the pre-ministerial course, and really had no other profession in mind, I was not absolutely certain whether God had called me to serve Him in the ministry. I was no more nor less religious than my Christian contemporaries, got into the usual difficulties because of my childish behavior and unexpended energy. At school my class mates and I had a well-rounded program including sports, music and dating. In addition to the academic and spiritual side of our training, my parents rarely discussed my future career unless I referred to it, hoping thereby to avoid undue influence in the making of my decision. The possibilities of my entering West Point or a medical school were both considered, since opportunities along these lines were open.

Both of the careers had a certain appeal for me. However, as my theological training progressed the ministry became more and more dominant in my thinking. The work of the parish ministry became my objective.

Later, at the seminary, a broad view was fostered in me, so that by the time of graduation I offered no request for any specific type of service—preferring to enter any phase of the ministry into which the Holy Spirit should call me through His church. My first call was to serve a congregation in New York City. When the war broke out I applied for military service as a chaplain (fulfilling my West Point aspirations) and during service have spent much time in hospitals as chaplain to patients (fulfilling my medical inquisitiveness), but serving primarily as a Christian pastor to human souls which require the pure Word and Sacraments as given us by our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

I have enjoyed every minute of my service in the church. In the 17 years since my ordination I have travelled three-fourths of the way around the world, have preached in tents and cathedrals, have ministered to downcasts, outcasts, prisoners, patients, professors, generals and privates, rich and poor. The thought of quitting has never once entered my mind. I believe that God has called me into His Service, that He has certain objectives to accomplish through me, and I am thankful that He allows me to enjoy my work so thoroughly.

A Man of Peace

ISAAC, SON OF ABRAHAM, SET A GREAT EXAMPLE

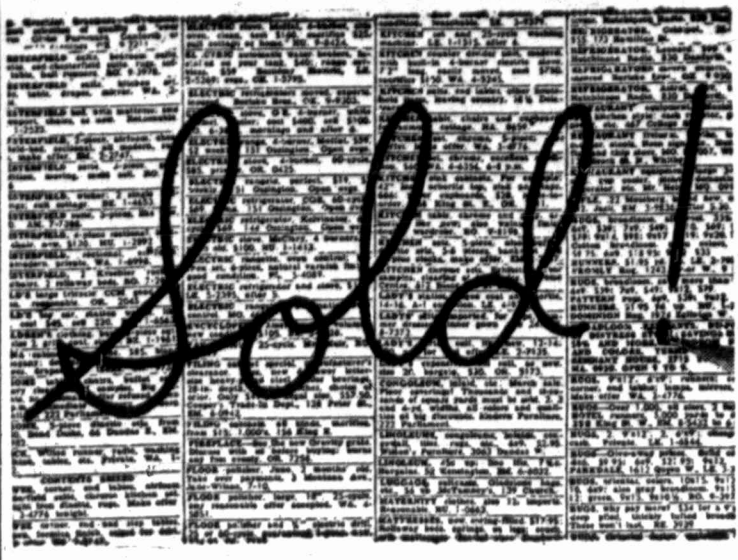

Scripture—Genesis 26:1-5; 18-33.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

OUR LESSON begins with a famine in the land where Isaac, son of Abraham, dwelt. Isaac went to the land of King Abimelech of the Philistines in Gerar. The Lord had told Isaac not to go to Egypt as his father had, but to stay where he was and He would prosper him greatly, for his father Abraham's sake.

Isaac sowed in this land and his harvests were plentiful as the Lord blessed him. He grew so rich in possessions—flocks, herds, many servants, that the people became jealous, and the king, Abimelech told him to go away as he was "much mightier than we."

Isaac was a man of peace, and without disputing Abimelech's order, he went to the valley of Gerar, pitched his tent and dwelt there. After Abraham's death, the Philistines had stopped up the wells he had dug, and Isaac dug closed wells. Even in our time the wells are of prime importance, especially in parts of a country where there are deserts.

Then Isaac went to Bethsheba, and the Lord appeared to him there, saying, "I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee, and multiply thy seed for My servant Abraham's sake."

There Isaac built an altar, called upon the name of the Lord, pitched his tent and his servants dug another well.

King Abimelech came to Isaac there with a friend, Ahuzzath, and Phibol, the chief captain of his army. He had not come to complain this time or to drive Isaac away. Isaac asked "Wherefore come ye to me, seeing ye hate me, and have sent me away from you?"

And the king answered: "We saw certainly that the Lord was with thee; and we said, let there

Federal Judge Begins Studying Miller Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge today began studying more than 700 pages of testimony and legal arguments to help him decide whether playwright Arthur Miller is guilty or innocent of contempt of Congress charges. But U.S. District Judge Charles E. McLaughlin did not plan to announce his verdict until after he examines still another defense brief, due next week. Miller's six-day trial ended yesterday. McLaughlin heard the case without a jury. Miller's attorney, Joseph L. Rauh Jr., was given until Wednesday to file a brief supporting his contention that the House Committee on Un-American Activities had no valid legislative purpose when it questioned the playwright last June. Rauh insists the committee called Miller as a witness "to punish him for his criticism of the committee" and to cash in on the publicity incident to his romance with actress Marilyn Monroe. Miller married Miss Monroe shortly after he testified before the committee. Asst. U.S. Atty. William Hitz, the prosecutor, argued that Miller "lured the committee" by refusing to identify Communist writers with whom he admittedly attended meetings in New York in 1947. In his appearance before the committee, Miller acknowledged supporting Communist causes in the past, but said he wouldn't have done so in recent years. He denied ever having been under Communist discipline. He cited his "conscience" in refusing to name the Communist writers.

Solon Pays Call At Surety Probe

AUSTIN (AP)—State Rep. Andy Rogers of Childress made an unannounced visit to the Travis County grand jury yesterday. After talking with the grand jury more than an hour he spent another 30 minutes in a closed door conference with Dist. Atty. Les Procter. Neither would say whether Rogers' appearance concerned the grand jury's probe of alleged legislative payoffs or the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co., both of which were inherited from House and Senate investigating committees. "I came to talk to Les," Rogers said. "I was happy to go before the grand jury." In answer to questions, Rogers said he was author of a Senate bill in 1953 which would have corrected portions of the State Naturopathic Act which had been declared unconstitutional. The bill was not passed. About the same time Rogers was in the grand jury room the House accepted yesterday afternoon a final report from its specially appointed nine-man Bribery Investigation Committee. The committee reported once before, recommending censure for former Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe, charged with agreeing to take a $5,000 bribe. "Your committee is unanimous and emphatic in its disapproval and censure of any and all persons who may have violated or breached the public trust," the final report said. "Whether or not further action by the interim committee will be necessary to seek out and expose any such persons should not be decided at this time, pending the report of the Travis County grand jury." The committee recommended that all its findings be delivered to the interim committee, which will be appointed soon, for any additional investigation. Also appearing before the grand jury yesterday were Albert Brown, former executive secretary of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn.; and J. Byron Saunders, former state insurance commissioner. Brown had been subpoenaed to bring all his income tax records from 1951 to 1956. Harold Springer, Tyler banker, showed the grand jury bank records of an account assigned to Saunders, who had asked to talk with the grand jury. In legislative investigations Saunders was named in testimony as receiving payments from BenJack Cage, founder and promoter of ICT Insurance Co.

BenJack Cage Indicted In Surety Probe

DALLAS (AP)—BenJack Cage, promoter of the collapsed ICT Insurance Co., and 12 others were indicted yesterday. Cage was charged with embezzlement for using a $500,000 ICT check to buy National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock without authorization. The Insurance Commission ordered the firm into receivership early this year. Five officers of Physicians Life & Accident Co. were accused of using $225,000 in company funds to pay off personal notes with which the state claims the firm was incorporated. The officials are R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth, Dallas Parnell of Waco; and George McGhee, G. B. Hamman and James Valentine, all of Dallas. Physicians Life is in temporary receivership. Parnell, McGhee, Hamman and Valentine were original incorporators. Cage was last reported in Brazil. In response to a request by a Legislature investigating body that he appear before the group, Cage said he may return to the United States if his business permits. Sheriff Bill Decker said Brazil will be asked to deport Cage as an undesirable alien. Decker said even if Cage were deported from Brazil, there was no assurance that he could be returned to the United States.

55th Legislature Leaves A Long Trail Of Broken Records

AUSTIN (AP)—The 55th Legislature that left a trail of broken records and a big book of new laws after an overtime session of 136 rugged days has finished its work and gone home. Last-minute efforts to salvage a strict lobby registration law and a prime measure in Gov. Price Daniel's water conservation program failed in the final frantic seconds of the session last night. But the session voted approval of many of Gov. Daniel's suggestions in an unprecedented two billion dollar budget, balanced without a new tax bill. Including many spending items, Daniel's own box score showed approval for 47 of 51 recommendations—a 92 per cent batting average. The session was deaf to the governor's recommendations for a statewide law enforcement commission to watchdog activities of officials on all levels; the lobby registration act; control and registration of persons representing others before state agencies; the proposal to use 100 million dollars to buy flood control space in reservoirs to be constructed. But it gave the governor, facing his biggest test of leadership in the first term of a brand new administration, the insurance regulation reform bill he wanted, the 200 million dollar flood control and water saving program and dozens of other laws he urged when the session began early in January. The 55th closed down in angry exchanges between House members and senators over who was responsible for the death of the lobby-control law—one of the proposals that grew out of governmental scandals involving legislators. House members such as Rep. J. C. Zbrank of Daisetta and Charles Hughes of Sherman said it was Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and other "influential" senators. Hardeman retorted heatedly that he would have been glad to vote for a good lobby registration law, but that the ones offered by both House and Senate were not as potent as present controls. While the Legislature that investigated its own members on charges of bribery and unethical fee-taking was furiously debating on Capitol Hill, a Travis County grand jury continued its look into bribery charges and the failure of the ICT Insurance Co. It had indicted Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress as a surprise witness. The session provided for interim investigating committees in both the House and Senate, which may carry on some of the unfinished business left by those of the 55th session. The lawmakers enacted one conduct bill—a code of ethics for state officials, legislators and employees whose critics said did nothing but underline present law. The Legislature raised the pay of public school and college teachers, boosted appropriations for scores of state services, passed numerous bills seeking to aid pensioners, parolees, wards of the state, and to curb crime, juvenile delinquency and highway deaths. Here are some of the major actions taken in its closing hours: Passage of a bill increasing motor vehicle license fees 10 per cent to pay for state highway right-of-way purchases. Enactment of a law raising tuition fees at state-supported colleges and universities. Approved a bill repealing part of the state insurance code under which the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. and similar firms were operating. Changed the Workman's Compensation Law to boost the weekly payments from $25 to $35 and give unlimited medical expenses. Approved a bill requiring school districts to file annual audits with the Texas Education Agency. Passed a bill providing for labelling of "hazardous substances."

Texas Still Loved In Spite Of Storms

DALLAS (AP)—Texans still love Texas—although they've been battered by tornadoes and just about drowned by flash floods. "Leave Texas because of the weather?" asked Ed Jolesch, a rancher near Midlothian, southwest of Dallas. "Why the weather would never get so bad that I'd leave. This is the best place in the world, there's no doubt about it." He agreed that the more than 70 tornadoes in Texas since April had caused considerable property damage and deaths. But, he said, "I haven't seen any place else in the country I like better than Texas." At least 33 persons died in tornadoes in Texas since April and property damage has mounted into millions. More than 250 persons were injured. About 10,000 families were forced from their homes by flood water. Other Texans agree with Jolesch. Mrs. Glenna Berry summed it up. "I still like Texas better than any other state and I've lived in a lot of them. They have had weather in other places also." Texans have seen enough flash floods and tornadoes to know that ground hogs and grandmaw's corns have nothing to do with either. But they're at a loss to explain the recent violent weather. "It's those silly old atom bombs they've got," said 16-year-old Nina Sharp. "Everytime they test one of those bombs something happens." Mrs. Alta Guinn disagreed. She said "I imagine the Lord sends it as he sees fit. You can pray, but if it's God's will we have to accept it."

It takes a GIANT to speed up traffic

It takes a giant highway to speed up automotive traffic and it takes a giant medium to speed up sales traffic. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town. Reader traffic through the daily newspaper is greater than ever. According to Sindlinger & Co., statistical analysts, newspaper reader traffic reached an all-time high of 100,000,000 on an average day in January. More people read newspapers than viewed, listened to or read any other medium. Reader traffic leads to sales traffic. The greater the traffic the greater the opportunity for retailers, wholesalers, distributors and regional manufacturers to sell more goods to more people. Your daily newspaper gives you that opportunity every day throughout the year. Your daily newspaper makes it easier and faster for you to reach more prospects in your trading area. Use the direct route to speed up your sales. Use the daily newspaper. All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

Don Gross Sure Thing For Reds

By ED WILKS The Associated Press One thing about Don Gross, the young Cincinnati lefthander may not win 'em all, but he hasn't lost one for the Redlegs since 1955.

The 25-year-old southpaw has been the pitcher of record only eight times in his last 29 appearances in the majors—and each decision was a victory. He last lost one Sept. 8, 1955, to Philadelphia.

Gross was in 19 games last season and wound up with a 3-0 record. Last night, he made it 4-0 for '57 in his eighth appearance of the year, defeating the St. Louis Cardinals 6-2. It was the only game scheduled in the majors and pushed the Redlegs back into a two-game lead over Milwaukee in the National League.

Craig Claims Medal Laurels

COLORADO CITY—Fifty-nine players had qualified in Colorado City's 8th Annual Country Club golf tournament by 8 o'clock Thursday evening and tournament officials were holding lists open until Thursday night or Friday morning for late comers expected for the tournament.

Bill Craig of Colorado City, defending champion, ripped the damp course apart Thursday with a four under par 66 for medalist honors. The course was in beautiful condition following recent rains and was dampened by a light shower Thursday morning. Storm clouds faded away at mid morning and a moderately high wind died away to a breeze Thursday afternoon and golfers enjoyed sunshine and perfect golfing weather during the afternoon.

Softball Parley Set For 5:30 P.M.

An effort will be made to organize the YMCA Industrial Softball League in a meeting to be held at the YMCA at 5:30 o'clock today. Five teams have been lined up for the circuit. League promoters would like to have another.

Dusters To Play

Softball teams representing Goodfellow Field of San Angelo and Webb AFB of Big Spring clash in a 6:45 p.m. game at the City Park Saturday evening.

DeWees Medalist

C. A. DeWees, Big Spring captured medalist honors among the pro entries in a pro-amateur golf tournament held at Big Lake Thursday. The Country Club pro finished with a 67, two strokes better than Dick Turner of San Angelo.

Brooke Is Favorite In Saturday Meet

Some of the nation's finest athletes will be in action here Saturday in a four-way track and field meet involving service teams from Webb AFB, Goodfellow Field of San Angelo, Brooke track center of San Antonio and Sheppard Field of Wichita Falls.

HERE SATURDAY Cosden, Angelo Meet In Pair

Cosden's Oilers and the powerful Salvato Drug team of 8 a.m. clash in a softball double header at the city park Saturday night, with the first game scheduled to start about 8:15 p.m.

Salvato Drug has won six of eight starts to date and will bring a hard-hitting lineup here. The Druggists also boast fine pitchers in Clifford Wilson and Ray McLellan.

Probable starters for Angelo include Lynn Davidson, center field; Bill Carville, second base; Hubert Whittley, left field; Chuck Williams, catcher; Martin Lambert, short stop; Don Carper; first base; Alfred Cates, first base; Joe La Martina, right field; Avery Johnson and Pete Langston will sub in for the Angelo team.

In the first game last night, the Oilers picked up a first inning tally when Pete Cook hit safely and made his way around on a walk to Ed Spreesser and a safety by Ted Gross.

Garden May Have To Open Doors To Independents

NEW YORK—Independent boxing promoters today saw a crack of light in what for years had been a very black world. The crack was opened by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan during yesterday's hearings in the government's case against the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden.

He indicated during testimony by IBC Secretary Truman Gibson that he may direct New York's famous Eighth Avenue Sports arena to "open its doors" to independent fight promoters at a fixed reasonable fee.

Swim Clinic May 29-31

A YMCA swimming instructors' clinic will be conducted from May 29 through May 31, 3 to 5 p.m. daily, at the private pool of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, 400 Washington Blvd.

In charge will be Mrs. George Dawson, aquatic director of the local YMCA. Instructions on the art of giving swimming lessons will be given during the clinic.

Webb Team Plays Two In Clovis

Webb Air Force's baseball team leaves tomorrow morning for Clovis, N.M., where it appears in two games over the weekend, meeting the air base team there on each occasion.

Manager Jim Zapp's team will be without the services of Dick Steiner, shortstop; Tom Hill, pitcher; and Jim Anthony, center field. All will be on cross-country flights.

Webb's top entries will include Bruce Sweeney, who will enter eight or nine different events; pole vaulter Hank Nottingham, sprinter Dan Dixon; and weight-man Steve Marcinko, among others.

Brooke, which will bring a team of about 20 to town, is a strong favorite to take the team crown. In all, 18 events are scheduled. Competition is scheduled in the javelin throw, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot putt, discus, hop, step and jump, 400-yard relay, 120-yard high hurdles, mile run, 440-yard run, 100-yard dash, 380-yard run, 220-yard dash, 100 hurdles, medley relay, two-mile and mile relays.

Relay points will count eight for first place, six for second, four for third and two for fourth. Individual events will be the conventional 4-3-2-1.

Jimmy Ray Smith will serve as director of the meet. Fred Sellings will be the starter. Allen Cloud will clerk the course while Harry Coates will serve as head field judge.

Others assisting with the meet include Chuck Welch, official scorer; Bobo Hardy, Stan Green, Buzz Weltman and James Hicks, finish judges; Carl Ott, Luster Vickery and James Tidwell, timers; and Les Bates, Dave Higgins, Bobby Zellars, Jimmy Marcus and L. Crist, field judges.

Webb's entries, and the events in which they will compete, include: Dan Dixon—100, 220, relays. Broad jump. Otis Studdard—100, 200, relays, javelin. Alan Thelin—100, relays, high jump, broad jump, hop, step and jump. Bruce Sweeney—100, high hurdles, low hurdles, relays, javelin, high jump, broad jump and hop, step and jump. Michael Alexander—220, 440, low hurdles and relays. James Sewell—220, 440 and relays. Dick Strickland—440, 880 and relays. Sherrick Washington—Mmule, two-mile. Steve Marcinko—shot putt, discus and javelin. Wilford Volkstad—shot putt, discus and javelin. Charles Curtis—Shot putt, discus. Hank Nottingham—pole vault. Here's the schedule of events:

2:15 p. m. — Javelin. 2:30 p. m. — Pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot putt, and discus. Hop, step and jump. 3:15 p. m. — 400-yard relay. 3:30 p. m. — 440-yard relay. 3:45 p. m. — 440-yard run. 4:00 p. m. — 440-yard dash. 4:15 p. m. — 800-yard run. 4:30 p. m. — 220-yard dash. 4:45 p. m. — Medley relay (110, 220, 330, 440). 5:15 p. m. — Two-mile. 5:30 p. m. — Mile relay.

Local Boy On Team

North Texas State will send this foursome to run the mile relay in the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays tonight. The Missouri Valley Conference champions and one of the top quartets in the nation, the team includes (back) John Cotten, Breckenridge; Jim Blessingame, Big Spring; and (front) Hugh Autrey, Kilgore; and Jimmy Weaver, Fort Worth.

Blissingame is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Blissingame, who lived in Big Spring until recently.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

George Steakley hopes to have his bowling emporium open around July 1. The workers were to start the job of installing the 16 alleys this week. He says the automatic pin-setting equipment will take only three days to install, once it gets here.

The $250,000 facility is going to be a pleasant place to spend an evening. If you have small fry around the house, don't let that worry you. There's an indoor and outdoor nursery. While you bowl, you can leave your heirs and heiressees there free of charge.

And if you've got business elsewhere, the nursery will still be open to you — at a charge of 30 cents an hour. He'll have two full-time baby sitters to look after the children.

There'll be a restaurant for the convenience of the keggers and tables situated so that you can watch the other pin-toppers while you munch on a sandwich. It's all going to be very elegant.

Steakley, incidentally, has rented a villa within walking distance of the bowling center. The house—which looks more like the headquarters for a dude ranch — is situated back in South Mountain.

Efforts will be made to organize a high school pep squad here sometime soon.

Pep leaders have been regularly named in the past but they've led the entire student body (those attending the games) rather than any one group.

The cheer leaders henceforth will be taken from the pep squad and they must serve a minimum of one year in the cheering system before becoming eligible for the cheer leader election.

In Japan, a golfer must qualify to become a professional. The tests are held early each year and a player must score 31 or better on 72 holes to qualify.

Paul (Bear) Bryant of Texas A&M and a former SWC coach, Bowden Wyatt, now of Tennessee, will be featured speakers at Georgia's annual coaching clinic Aug. 12-15.

Jim Konstanty, who seven short years ago was considered the finest relief pitcher in baseball, has apparently reached the end of the trail. He drew his release from the San Francisco Seals recently after failing to produce.

Remember Ezzard Charles, perennial contender for the Heavy-weight boxing championship? He started work in his native Cincinnati recently as an aide to Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz.

He will counsel boys and work with the recreational program. A few years ago, when he was front office boss of the Cincinnati Reds and the club was in the throes of a losing streak, National League Presy Warren Giles was telephoned by a fan at 4 a.m. one day, who asked:

"Are you the general manager of the Reds?" "Yes, I am," replied Giles, trying to get his eyes open. "Why?" the fan shot back, and proceeded to hang up.

Texas A&M has signed a fine Louisiana school boy grinder named Eddie Marks (a quarterback) to a Letter of Intent. The young New Orleans athlete was a star two years ago but was declared ineligible two hours before his team's first game last season. Eddie's brother, Bobby, was on the Aggies' No. 1 defensive unit last fall.

VFW TROUNCES OWLS, YANKEES EDGE SOX

The Veterans of Foreign Wars team kayoted the Owls, 16-9, and the Yankees won their second game of the season at the expense of the Gold Sox, 4-3, in National Little League baseball activity here Thursday evening.

The Vets counted in each of the three innings, chasing six runs across the dish in the second and six more in the third. Tony Loftis hit a home run and a single in VFW's five-hit attack. Owl hurlers stayed in hot water all evening because they couldn't find the plate.

Swim Clinic May 29-31

A YMCA swimming instructors' clinic will be conducted from May 29 through May 31, 3 to 5 p.m. daily, at the private pool of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomas, 400 Washington Blvd.

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M College commencement will be held Saturday in Guion hall. Nine hundred students are candidates for degrees.

The Rt. Rev. Everett H. Jones of San Antonio, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, will deliver the commencement-baccalaureate address at 9 a. m. Maj. Gen. Gabriel P. Disoway, commander, Flying Training Air Force, Waco, will be the principal speaker at the commissioning ceremonies at 1:30 p. m. in Guion hall. He will present 132 commissions to Air Force cadets. Brig. Gen. John A. Berry, Third Army Corps Headquarters, Fort Hood, will present commissions to 201 Army cadets. The final review will be held at 3:30 p. m. on the main drill field west of the Richard Coke building.

As part of the commencement exercise, Cadet William Dorsey of Big Spring, who has been the head cheerleader for the college this year, is to lead the graduates and audience in singing "The Spirit of Aggieland."

Uncle Ray: Copernicus Held Idea Of Earth's Movement

By RAMON COFFMAN

We may wonder who was first to give the world the idea of a moving earth—that is, an earth which travels around the sun. As far as history tells, the man who started the idea was Aristarchus (pronounced AIR-iss-TAR-cus) of Samos (SAY-mos). This man was of Greek descent and was born about 2,200 years ago on an island between Greece and Asia Minor. This island—Samos or Susam-Adais—is off the western coast of modern Turkey.

We have short records of the belief which Aristarchus held. He also has a note about a man who said that the idea was against Greek religion!

Few persons took the idea seriously. Aristarchus was far ahead of his time.

The Middle Ages came in Europe. Columbus lived, and Magellan performed his important work. Then a native of Prussian Poland put forward the idea of the moving earth. His name was Copernicus (pronounced ko-PUR-nee-cus).

As a young man, Copernicus studied at the University of Bologna. He learned about the ancient Greek who had suggested the idea of a moving earth, but he felt that more proof should be obtained.

Copernicus studied medicine, church law and astronomy. Later he earned his living as a doctor, and often gave his services without charge to those who had little money.

In his free time, he made what tests he could to bear out the idea of a moving earth. This work went on during his thirties and forties, but he was sick and near the point of death before a book telling his viewpoint was published. A copy of the book was placed in his hands shortly before he breathed his last.

Some persons have suggested that he was fortunate to die at that point. Otherwise he might have been punished for expressing such a daring thought.

Humphrey's Glad To Leave 'Tight Money' To Successor

By G. K. HOLDENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP)—In West Berlin, in 1952, President Dwight Eisenhower told that same Gen. Clay, by then a civilian, "I need a man used to doing big things, handling big amounts of money."

Clay remembered. "I've got just the man for you," he said. "George M. Humphrey. He'll make you a fine secretary of the treasury."

Interest rates all around and makes rich bankers richer. Defenders insist this is better than cranking up the printing presses every time the government needs money.

Whatever the solution, Humphrey will be glad to be out of it. When he took the job he planned to stay for two years. He is two years beyond that self-imposed limit already.

When the Ohio industrialist accepted the Berlin post on a government mission nine years ago, U. S. policy in Germany was at a crossroads. There were demands that Germany's war potential — what was left of it — be destroyed. There were equally urgent demands that Germany's peacetime economy be restored.

Clay was doing the best he could to make sense of an almost senseless proposition. When Humphrey's group showed up Clay expected criticism—and more problems. But, he admitted later, he liked the way Humphrey tackled the problem.

Clay retired from the Army and became board chairman of Continental Can Co. When Eisenhower

Summer Art School Planned At Midland

Continuing their active art program, Midland JayCees will sponsor a summer art school for students and adults, with Joe Cain of Corpus Christi, noted Southwestern artist, as instructor.

The school will be held in cooperation with the Art Center at Midland Airport. Henry Sarnecki is president of the center, with Mrs. N. A. Lancaster as vice president.

Classes will be offered each afternoon and night, Monday through Friday, for the weeks of June 2 and 9, with makeup classes to be held each morning.

Cain has won many honors with his paintings, is a former Marine, sings baritone and has earned two football letters.
