Ike, Adenauer Agree To Seek Arms Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agreed today to press for a limited disarmament agreement with Russia "under an effective system of international control."

The two men proclaimed this in a communique summing up three days of intensive talks on urgent international problems. Eisenhower and the 81-year-old German leader agreed, the announcement said, that if initial East-West disarmament steps succeed they should be followed within a reasonable time by a comprehensive disarmament agreement.

Flier's Body Found

ARNETT, Okla. (AP)—Searchers found last night the body of a missing Air Force lieutenant whose plane crashed near here Friday. He was Lt. Robert McIsaac, 24, of Seattle. His parachute had not opened. The other crew members, Capt. James Holden and Lt. Coximo Mallozzi, parachuted to safety.

10-Kiloton Device Exploded As U. S. Opens Nuclear Tests

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The United States exploded a brilliant device into the desert darkness today, opening its summer series of Nevada tests. The 10-kiloton device flared an unearthly light over the test center. A tremendous mushroom cloud erupted into the predawn sky. Shot time was 4:55 a. m.

clustered on a sloping hillside to watch the test for which they had been waiting more than two weeks. On the rocky side of News Nob, photographers deployed behind their cameras and below them news reporters spotted themselves about the observation area. This was the 46th shot fired from the United States began its series of atomic experiments in 1951. This shot was delayed longer than any previous test because of the adverse winds. The AEC had announced that it intended to make this the safest of all test series as far as fall-out was concerned. There have been demands from some nations for an end to testing of atomic and hydrogen weapons by the major powers. The cloud ultimately rose to 35,000 feet. Within 15 minutes after the blast it broke up and drifted northwest. Test officials said they were extremely pleased with the results because the fall-out was limited to the test area and an adjacent Air Force bombing range.

AWFUL LOT OF COFFEE IN BRAZIL—BUT NOT AS MUCH

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Latin America still provides the world with most of its coffee but Africa is coming to the fore. That is the conclusion of the U. N. Economic Commission for Latin America (ECLA), which winds up a meeting in the Bolivian capital tomorrow. Hugh Trivelli, secretary of the commission's agriculture committee, says Africa has been making slow but steady gains in the world coffee market since World War II. French Africa and Madagascar, British West Africa are among the chief coffee producers on that continent.

Berserk Navy Man Slays Officer, Holds Captives

Hostages Escape In Frisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Navy enlisted man went berserk on a cargo vessel at Treasure Island today and shot one man to death and wounded two others. Then he held four other men hostages on the bridge of the attack cargo ship Uvalde for more than two hours. They finally were able to slip away unhurt.

The Navy identified the berserk man as Jimmie Henderson, a tall Negro. Navy officers said that at a court-martial yesterday he was convicted of stealing a watch and was sentenced to four months in the brig. He was classified as a "prisoner at large," awaiting confirmation of the sentence.

The dead man was reported to be Ens. Arthur Lusk Morris. Listed as wounded were Ens. Harrison R. D. Lee, shot in the abdomen and arm; and Jake H. Verdek, metalsmith 3rd class, beaten with a hammer. The killer, armed with a 45 caliber pistol, still was on the Uvalde's bridge. Cmdr. Herman J. Schurr, chief chaplain at the Navy installation, went aboard the Uvalde in an attempt to talk the man into surrendering. Marines kept everyone at a considerable distance from the ship. Treasure Island is a man-made island in San Francisco Bay, dredged from the bay bottom to form the site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. It has since been a Navy facility.

Wrist Watch Recorder Used By Confidential

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Francesca de Scaffa used a hidden wrist watch recording device to help her collect information and tips on folk for Confidential Magazine, the county grand jury was told. A 142-page transcript of testimony—sprinkled with such stellar names as Ava Gardner, Kirk Douglas, Kim Novak, Desi Arnaz, Herb Jeffries, Sonny Tufts, Lizbeth Scott, Mickey Rooney, Anita Ekberg and Marilyn Monroe—became a public document yesterday. Filed in Superior Court, the transcript of secret hearings which resulted in indictment of 11 persons, included testimony that Confidential publisher Robert Harrison bought a recording device disguised as a wrist watch so Miss de Scaffa could record conversations and that the Venetian-born actress, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, earned $30,000 to $40,000 for her tips.

Major Flooding Ebbs In N. Texas

By The Associated Press

Torrential rains lashed scattered parts of South and Southwest Texas Monday, but tapered off Tuesday. Major flooding subsided in North Texas. Cloudbursts dumped up to 8 inches of rain as thunderstorms plagued South Texas and the southwestern part of the state for a second day. At least three tornado funnels were reported sighted, but there were no damage reports. John Syring, 7, was feared drowned near Kenedy after a wall of water swept him off the pickup truck he was riding. The truck bogged down in a muddy creek bed before a torrential rain described as thunderous dumped 3 1/2 inches of rain in 40 minutes at Kenedy. The boy's father, R. J. Syring, and his other two sons, 5 and 9, escaped, but John could not be found. Rain fell during the night at Doherty in the Panhandle, at Houston, Laredo and Cotulla. Skies were generally cloudy to partly cloudy. The Weather Bureau forecast scattered rain and thunderstorms Tuesday and Tuesday night, as warm Gulf air moved over the state. The Weather Bureau said rains on the middle and upper Neches rivers, the Leona River, upper Frio River and Turkey Creek were expected to cause some flash floods in Southwest Texas as well as to close lower water crossings.

Lowlands were expected to be flooded by the Colorado River at Columbus by Wednesday. Brownfield police reported a tornado funnel sighted Monday. No damage was mentioned. Turbulent weather again swept the South Plains with Levelland getting more than 2 inches of rain in a short period. At Abilene, a creek still was flooding parts of the northwest section of the city, where residents fled for the fourth time this year. All lakes in the area were over spillway levels. A number of roads remained closed by high water. Low sections of Nuevo Laredo, across the Rio Grande from Laredo, were flooded after 18 hours of heavy rain all along the frontier in Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas. Cotton fields in many areas were flooded. A big crop loss was predicted if rains continue. The Medina River was up 7 to 8 feet at Medina in South Texas. The Comal River was up 8 feet at New Braunfels. Cibolo Creek rose 3 feet at Boerne and a rise of 16 to 18 feet was expected at Gonzales on the Guadalupe by Wednesday morning.

Bond Issue Election On City's Agenda

Bond issue matters will occupy the city commission tonight at its regular bi-weekly meeting. Two fiscal agents have been asked to meet with the commissioners tonight to discuss a $50,000 bond issue. The city will need the sum to finance its part of the water and sewer lines to serve Webb's housing unit.

One of two men will be selected to handle the issue. No date has been set for the election, and none will be made until the fiscal agent completes the legal procedure.

Bill For Alaska Statehood OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Insular Affairs Committee today approved an Alaska statehood bill by a 24-6 vote.

Before acting, the committee knocked out of the bill a provision that Alaskans hold a general referendum on the question of whether they wished the territory to become a state before any of the admission machinery went into effect. Also removed from the bill was another provision which would have delayed for five years after statehood the transfer of jurisdiction over fish and wildlife resources to the new state.

Both provisions had been written into the bill by a subcommittee which approved the measure 17-5 last week.

In other matters tonight, the commission will consider a request for another tax franchise. Should the request receive favorable consideration, a public hearing will be held to show a need or necessity for additional tax service. A list of traffic recommendations from the Citizens' Traffic Commission has been submitted and will be handled tonight. This list includes requests for stop and yield signs. Discussion will also be given to curb and gutter work for East Fourth Street from the top of Coleman Hill to the Birdwell intersection.

Permit Issued For New Mitchell Lake

The State Board of Water Engineers has granted a permit for impounding of a new lake on Champion Creek south of Colorado City.

Action came quickly on an application by Texas Electric Service Company Monday after a hearing in Austin on the request to hold more water for Colorado City and TESCO.

The permit covers an appropriation of the unappropriated waters of the Colorado River not to exceed 6,750 acre feet per annum. Of this 2,700 would be for municipal requirements and 4,050 for industrial purposes. Location for the dam has been spotted 7.2 miles south of Colorado City, about 4,000 feet southwest of the northeast corner of section 90, block 26, T&P. This is about a mile and a half directly east of a big horseshoe bend in the Colorado River and four miles northeast of the TESCO dam on Morgan Creek.

Morgan Creek reservoir. This would enable TESCO to stabilize the level of Morgan Creek to meet the demands for Colorado City, Westbrook and Lorraine, and also for the generation of power. By stabilizing the Morgan Creek reservoir, TESCO will be able to enlarge its generating facilities at Morgan Creek still further. Borings already have begun at the damsite. The Colorado River Municipal Water District, which had Champion Creek under study as part of its presentation, granted by the State Board of Water Engineers, had yielded in favor of Colorado City and TESCO on this portion of the watershed, since Champion Creek is a tributary of the Colorado. The CRMWD is studying the feasibility of another large dam across the Colorado River near the southern Mitchell County line. Besides TESCO officials, a delegation from Colorado City was on hand to attend the Austin hearing. E. V. Spence, general manager, represented the CRMWD.

Missile Tracking Vessel Ordered

EL PASO (AP)—A government electronics contractor yesterday said his firm has a rush order to deliver ships to track intercontinental ballistic missiles. James Wynne, Jr., vice president of Century Electronics Co., said his company is outfitting five ships for such use. The range of an ICBM is reported at 1,500 to 5,000 miles. Wynne said the sea-going tracking stations will operate in the missile range off Florida. He said two ships will be delivered "by the end of the summer" and the other three by the end of the year.

Daily Average Oil Production Drops

TULSA (AP)—Daily average oil production dropped 55,550 barrels to 7,429,900 during the week ended May 25, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The bulk of the loss was in Oklahoma, down 29,200 barrels to 607,200. The Journal estimated 1957 production at 1,101,206,573 barrels compared to 1,048,940,536 a year ago. Colorado was off 3,900 to 153,600. Advances were reported in Arkansas, up 300 to 85,500; Louisiana, 100 to 926,300. Production was unchanged in Texas at 3,160,800 barrels and New Mexico at 269,250.

Equalization Session Opens

Representatives of oil companies, manufacturers and other businesses classified as industrial were on hand Tuesday morning for the annual meeting of the Howard County Commissioners Court as a board of equalization on tax values for their properties. Pritchard and Abbott, tax engineers, had a half dozen engineers on hand to confer with the oil company and industrial firm representatives. Most of the conferences were between these two groups. All of the county commissioners were on hand but up to noon were taking little or no part in the actual discussion. Pritchard and Abbott representatives told the commissioners court a week ago that their preliminary studies of valuations on the oil and industrial holdings in this county indicated at least a million dollar increase over the total for last year.

Decoration Sign-Up For Rodeo Started

Contacts were started Monday by the Freeman Decoration Company of Dublin for street and store front decorations for the rodeo June 12-13-14-15. The American Business Club, which previously booked the decorations and then engaged a decorating company to erect them, decided this year not to undertake the project. The Rodeo Association, which will share in the proceeds as did the club, has authorized the Dublin concern as the official decorator for the occasion. Hence, said E. P. Driver, secretary of the association, those contacted by the company representatives may know that this is the service previously undertaken through the ABC Club, but which the club has turned back to the association.

Ike Passes Word On Budget Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has passed word to Cabinet members and other top government officials to beat the drums at every opportunity for the administration's 71.8 billion dollar spending program. And following the President's lead, they already are pounding away with zest. "What's more," says a White House official, you haven't seen anything yet. How much good it will do toward changing the mood of an economy-minded Congress remains to be seen. But Eisenhower aides contend the budget-cutting tide is already stemmed, at least for the time being. Eisenhower reportedly is determined now to hammer at the idea that the Republican party is committed in its 1956 platform to support the kind of program which his critics—some of them within the party—say will cost too much. The approach involves an appeal to Republicans in Congress to close ranks behind the President and then direct fire at the Democrats, who control both the Senate and House, if the Eisenhower budget and legislative program founder. The President set the tone in his two nationwide television-radio speeches in defense of his spending program, and—on the political front—in a series of telephoned messages to regional GOP rallies held around the country. "And I would imagine that every time the President talks from now until Congress adjourns you will find him talking about some section of the budget or about his legislative program," says White House press secretary James C. Hagerly. As for enlisting the help of key administration officials, the latest example came late yesterday after Postmaster General Summerfield and his department's Civilian Advisory Board had conferred with Eisenhower. At a White House news Conference, Summerfield said Eisenhower was in full agreement with him and the advisory board that mail service will have to be curtailed drastically starting July 1 unless Congress comes through with more money. He put the figure at 140 million dollars. A few minutes later Eisenhower followed up on his own in signing an appropriation bill carrying $3,192,000,000 for the Post Office Department for the new fiscal year. He said in a statement that additional funds are needed to avert substantial reduction of postal service, and added he wants the people "to continue to receive the postal service to which they are entitled." In a Washington speech yesterday, Secretary of Commerce Weeks swatted hard at "budget butchers, whose latest proposals go far beyond sound economy and now threaten peace and prosperity." Such other top officials as Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and his deputy Donald Quarles have spoken out publicly against budget cutting in their fields. In perhaps the most significant talk of them all, chief presidential aide Sherman Adams told a Republican party rally in Trenton, N. J., Friday that "repudiation of our party promises and programs will end in nothing but political suicide."

USIA Receives Back Portion Of Cut Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Information Agency emerged from a congressional give-and-take conference today with six million dollars more than the Senate wanted to grant it.

A joint Senate-House conference agreed last night to allow the overseas information agency $96,200,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1, but only at the expense of sharp cuts in the State Department budget.

The total is still $9,980,000 below the amount the House allowed and $47,900,000 less than President Eisenhower asked.

The money is included in a compromise $562,391,293 State-Justice-Judiciary appropriation bill which must go back to the Senate and House for approval. However, some final details must be taken care of first.

The administration's partial victory for USIA was offset by the cuts for State Department salaries and expenses and for its educational exchange program, and by an over-all reduction in the bill's totals.

The entire appropriation was $194,000 less than the Senate voted, and the Senate bill was $714,000 under the House total. All in all, the measure carried $102,758,000 less than Eisenhower asked.

Rarely does a compromise appropriation bill represent a reduction below the totals originally voted by both houses. This bill reflected the economy mood in Congress.

The conferees are yet to work out language on the Senate demand that USIA be denied any funds for overseas operations which compete in any way with private news agencies. Also, exact figures are being worked out on allotments for each of the departments.

Ex-Con Held In Woman's Death

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A 40-year-old paroled convict admitted today he beat to death the wife of a prominent Huntington contractor. Detective Chief Herman Frazier said.

The nude body of Mrs. Ruby H. Miller, 58, was found yesterday in a blood-spattered bedroom of her fashionable South Side home. A blood-stained hammer lay nearby.

Frazier said Elmer David Bruner made a statement admitting killing the woman but hadn't signed it yet. Frazier said the statement came after four hours of questioning Bruner, who was also sought in connection with an armed robbery.

Frazier said Bruner had keys to a car stolen from the Miller home in his possession. He was arrested at his home and charged with murder a few hours after the body was found.

Bruner admitted breaking into the house by cutting a screen in a window, Frazier said. He was ransacking a bedroom when he heard someone come into the house. Bruner said he opened the bedroom door and was confronted by Mrs. Miller holding a shotgun. He wrested the gun from her and "picked up something and began hitting her with it," Frazier related.

The husband of the victim, J. E. Miller, returned from work in late afternoon to find the house in disorder. He and a neighbor found Mrs. Miller's body beneath a pile of clothing on the bed.

The Millers lived alone in the sprawling one-story house. Their two children live outside West Virginia.

A Bible Thought For Today

But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace. (James 3:17-18)

Economizers' Way To Balance Budget

As even a school child knows the way to economize is to cut down on spending, even if it calls for doing without something one wants very much.

This session of Congress has gone in strong for economy, but we gather it hasn't been too diligent in depriving itself of things it wants very much.

The House, for instance, decided it needs more room—three rooms for every member versus the two now available in two huge House office buildings. So it was proposed to build a third office building bearing a price tag of $64 million.

That $64 million, of course, is only an estimate. By the time it's finished the new structure may run to $100 million or more. Take the case of the earth satellites to be launched into the empyrean sometime next year as part of the Geophysical Year deal. The physics boys who dreamed this up said it would cost no more than a million dollars to build all six of them; it was just a little bit of old time hardly larger than a basketball.

But when it came to producing these gimmicks the costs started to rise, and soon the figure stood at $10 million—and at last account the final figure was thought to be nearer $100 million.

Voices were raised in the House against the new office building. Some members said they had plenty of room already. The economizers were extremely vocal in denouncing this new extravagance. But as one Washington correspondent pointed out, the professed economizers will enjoy the new luxurious quarters just as much as those who dreamed up the idea and promoted it. He said the boys who fought the proposed hike in congressional pay a few years back were among the first in line when the sergeant at arms started handing out the swollen new paychecks.

We Americans are not the people to deny ourselves anything we think we need and can pay for. But as private citizens our wants are limited by our ability to pay.

It's different with law-making money-dispensers. When a hot idea for something new hits them, they can always call on the taxpayers to foot the bill. Senators in particular enjoy their own private barbershop; it saves senatorial time, and therefore is of indirect benefit to the taxpayer—or so the argument runs.

Both branches have their own restaurants where they can buy food cheaper and handier. The Senate restaurant has been operating at a deficit, but the honorable gentlemen found a quick and painless way out of that little difficulty. Instead of having restaurant prices raised against themselves, they voted to pass the deficit along to the taxpayers.

All the traffic will bear.

New Look At Formosa Relations

Communist underground agitators in Formosa are believed to have had a hand in the rioting in Taipei, the capital, that climaxed with the wrecking of the U. S. Embassy and the offices of the U. S. Information Agency a few blocks away by from 20,000 to 30,000 demonstrators.

If not, the incident was made to order for Communist propaganda purposes, and Red agitators will pull out all the stops to make it appear U. S. forces have become so obnoxious the Formosans can't stand them, and even Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government never lifted a hand to protect U. S. lives and property. (They didn't either, until the damage was done.)

The animus behind this startling outburst was the same that U. S. forces have met with in Japan and to some degree almost everywhere else U. S. troops or military installations are found. It concerns trial and punishment of U. S. troops for alleged offenses against the natives, a very delicate and vexatious problem indeed. Quite properly Uncle Sam reserves the right to try his military personnel for all offenses which occur in connection with military duty, but in certain off-duty offenses the local courts have jurisdiction.

under the watchful eye of Uncle Sam.

On Formosa, the spark that set off the demonstration—the ostensible spark at least—was acquittal of a U. S. sergeant by a U. S. court martial on a charge of shooting and killing a native Peeping Tom who invaded the premises of his home.

Among Anglo-Saxon peoples in particular a man's home is his castle, and it would be hard to find a jurist that would convict and punish a householder who shot a Peeping Tom in defense of his home and family.

The uproar over this incident reflects perhaps more than popular feeling against our forces in Formosa. Certainly it was about Red agitators and they will make the most of it throughout the world.

The truth is, of course, that we are protecting a military position of vital importance to our Pacific defenses, and our continued backing of Chiang is merely incident thereto. Perhaps it would be cheaper and safer in the long run to have U. N. neutralize Formosa and declare it a ward of the U. S. under U. N. mandate. In any event the riots may cause us to take a new appraising look at Chiang's place in our future.

More Leisure, More Pie—Too Many Cooks

At the risk of being on the wrong side of history, I want to say I've been brought up by backward parents. They bred into me the notion that to get anything in this world, you've got to work for it.

I'm in favor of the 35-hour week, the 30-hour week, and the 25-hour week.

I'm also in favor of more schools, more teachers, more roads, more hospitals, more social services. But I'm puzzled as to how to get more leisure and more schools simultaneously.

Which brings me to Leon H. Keyserling, a man I've come to admire for his ardor and persistence in behalf of what he thinks is best for the common man and America. Keyserling, who was Chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers, is now director of research for the conference on Economic Progress, whose membership includes Thurman Arnold, a former member of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and author of the brilliant book, "The Folklore of Capitalism"; Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers; William H. Davis, former chairman of the War Labor Board.

The Conference on Economic Progress has published a report, "Consumption — Key to Full Prosperity," in which impudence is a cardinal virtue and bold vision superabundant. The United States, the report says, possesses the "resources and machines, the sciences and skills to expand production and consumption at an accelerating rate. . . . But we are not setting boldly this historic opportunity.

We have anti-depression programs, but almost no pro-prosperity programs.

"Our rate of economic growth . . . has slowed down during recent years to only about half our best performance in peacetime. Yet we press ourselves . . . like a child who has grown one inch when it should have grown two. . . . We are complacently accepting a far smaller national production pie than we could readily bake."

The Conference supports the Eisenhower budget plus! The budget hardly meets "requirements for full prosperity and needed services." The Conference urges expanding Social Security benefits, increasing health facilities, building 24 million new homes a year (versus present levels of less than a million), doubling educational capacity by 1960, lifting national per capita income to $1,000, increasing per cent above the current level, boosting income of farm operators by 72 per cent, greatly enlarging our economic and technical assistance to strengthen the free world, and upping federal outlays by 25 per cent in two years — from $160 per capita in the 1958 budget to $200 in the 1960 budget.

My sympathy runs over for these objectives, provided I can put them on somebody else's expense account. I don't want my taxes to increase. And I think most persons feel the same way about their taxes.

So, naturally, I'm intrigued by the Conference proposal to raise exemptions at least $100. This would take 5,000,000 taxpayers off the federal tax rolls and would cut taxes of 75,000,000 other taxpayers, including the Fords, Rockefeller's, and me. Simultaneously, tax receipts would drop by $2,750,000,000. You might think this would cause a deficit. The Conference on Economic Progress thinks otherwise.

Its members belong to what I'll call, for want of imagination, the Let-'em-eat-more-pie School of Economics. Put more money in the hands of consumers (by lowering taxes or raising incomes), and that money will be spent. That will generate increased demand. Increased demand will raise production (increase the size of the pie). Greater production will boost employment and profits. Therefore, there'll be more income to tax. In that way, higher tax exemptions will generate increased federal revenues.

But it takes more cooks to bake bigger pies. And at the very time the Conference urges bold expenditures to increase home-building, hospitals, schools, natural resources, and economic assistance abroad, one of its members, Walter Reuther, urges a shorter work week with increased pay for his United Auto Workers. Which is why I am puzzled. Want-ads indicate there aren't any spare cooks—surplus workers—around.

Maybe Thurman Arnold can explain it in another book, "The Folklore of the French Revolution," which naturally would encompass the mis-attribution of "Let them eat cake" to Marie Antoinette.

Like A Rowboat On Broadway

WASHINGTON — Both the Democratic and Republican campaign platforms of 1956 backed a civil rights program to protect Negroes' voting rights. Now that program is like a rowboat on Broadway.

It looks high and dry and not likely to be going any place. The House will probably pass it, in some form. But there's a good chance the Senate won't even consider it until 1958.

The House begins debate next week. Unless, Republicans and other Democrats are willing to stop them, Southern Democrats will tack on amendments which will render President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals meaningless.

Southern Democrats have stalled civil rights legislation in both houses. They did it in committee. On the House side, the Judiciary Committee — headed by Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) — approved what Eisenhower wanted weeks ago.

Then it went to the House Rules Committee, where the chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), is a long-time foe of civil rights legislation. It was finally freed loose there and now awaits full House action.

On the Senate side the same bill is still tied up in the Judiciary Committee, which is headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), an even more outspoken foe of civil rights legislation than Smith.

If the bill is brought out, the Southern filibuster. A filibuster can be stopped only by a constitutional two-thirds — 64 — of all 96 senators. That's hard to get any time. No Southern filibuster on civil rights has been broken in more than a generation.

It could be broken, of course, any time enough of the non-Southerners, Republicans and Democrats, wanted to break it.

Senators Lyndon Johnson of Texas and William Knowland of California, the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders, earlier this year talked of changing the Senate rules to make it easier to break a filibuster.

Eisenhower's proposal would set up a special commission to investigate reported violations of civil rights — create a civil rights division in the Justice Department, with a new assistant attorney general, and let the government get a federal court injunction before an election to halt any illegal interference with voting rights.

Anyone — say a registrar of voters — who violated this injunction could be tried by a federal judge, without a jury of his neighbors who might share his views and therefore be lenient with him.

Southerners particularly are against this provision for trial by judge. If they manage to substitute trial by jury, they will have knocked the most pointed part of Eisenhower's program out the window.

Wide Education At St. John's Aided Van Doren

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 28 — Twenty years ago St. John's College took a thoughtful look at the field of education, found it wanting—and then took a long step backward.

The little college on Dorsey Creek jugged the standard system of electives and specialized study and returned to liberal arts as they were taught two centuries ago.

All St. John's students were required to take the same general course — four years of mathematics, languages and laboratory science—with the great books of Western civilization as textbooks.

The scholastic revolt raised academic eyebrows. Some criticized it as radical. Others thought it conservative. Many educators applauded. Many doubted it would succeed.

After the initial flood of publicity, the college that graduated Francis Scott Key was left to work out its problems by itself. To the general public, it became "that place where they read the great books."

Now, 20 years and many crises later, an enduring and prospering St. John's is back in the spotlight, due largely to a personable young alumnus named Charles Van Doren who won $129,000 on a television quiz show.

St. John's does not claim responsibility for the success of Van Doren (class of '47) as an answer man. But it does feel that the broad nature of its program could have been a factor.

Army Practices Atom War

FT RILEY, Kan. — Here on vast rolling plains where it trained some of its greatest military heroes, the U. S. Army is engaging in mock battles of a new kind of war—atomic war.

The experiments going on here would amaze some of those past cavalry heroes—Jeb Stuart, George Custer, George Patton and Jonathan Wainwright.

The experiments are also a bit confusing to some of the present heroes here—infantrymen, tankmen and artillerymen trying to puzzle out the role of ground forces on an atomic battlefield.

As one officer put it: "No one ever really fought on an atomic battlefield. We have to feel our way."

But enthusiasm and morale are high among the soldiers of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division, "The Big Red One," which was picked to lead the Army's new pentomic organization.

The division, now led by Maj. Gen. David H. Buchanan of Marion, Va., an officer with a fine combat and staff record, still has on its rolls 26 veterans from the World War II, during which it was in action 443 days and took more than 100,000 prisoners.

The division has been streamlined down from a peak of 17,500 men to about 13,000. Its three regiments, under the new pentomic organization, have been succeeded by five heavily supported battalions.

Some of the oldtimers wept openly a few months ago during a colorful ceremony at which the colors of the division's three famous old regiments—the 16th, 18th, and 26th—were struck, perhaps forever. Those regiments had fought all the way from Algers to the Elbe, and 43,743 men had served under them. Half had been wounded, 4,325 had died.

But under the new organization we have gained a lot in terms of firepower and great mobility," said Col. William O. Cunningham III, who once commanded the 18th Regiment and is now division chief of staff.

Recently a public demonstration of the new tactics was put on before a group of impressed Kansas editors by troops commanded by Col. Howard B. St. Clair of Beckley, W. Va. The visitors were flown to the scene in helicopters, which seem to have taken over many of the jeep's roles in the new army.

A sudden cloud suddenly mushroomed from a small hill, symbolizing an atomic explosion launched against the entrenched enemy. After a heavy bombardment by artillery and mortar shell, the scattered tanks and Doughboys began to converge on the objective.

Flickers of red flame flared in the distance. Under the immemorial sun, sweating tiny figures of men moved forward in the immemorial way of infantry—running in a crouching, falling, rising, running again—little dots of purpose on the immense uncaring earth.

This Is Going A Little Too Far

I have a friend who has a phobia against putting nickels in parking meters. This friend will drive and drive, using up quart after quart of costly gasoline looking for a parking meter where the full time has not been expended.

It becomes rather provoking, sometimes, when you are with him and have an appointment at a certain hour. The scheduled meeting hour arrives; my pal is still aimlessly circling blocks looking for a meter where the red flag is still out of sight. It also results, I have observed, in our finally parking blocks from our destination.

The gasoline he has wasted in his search for free parking; the fact that the time one was supposed to have been at the destination has passed and the extra blocks of walking in the hot sun — none of these things matter.

The issue is — he has managed to get an opportunity to park his car on a meter and have the satisfaction of knowing that he is using someone's else's nickel. If destiny intervenes and there are no unexpired meters, he will sometimes reluctantly pull into a parking space and gingerly fish out a penny to put in the slot.

It's not that my pal is close with money. He is not in any other way except this inherent aversion he has for feeding the parking kitties.

I have news for him. I read in the papers (which is about the only place I ever manage to pick up miscellaneous information) about a new device which is now being placed on the market. It is a product of that wonderful world of electronics.

The device will be sold exclusively to municipalities. It attaches to a parking meter and is rigged to cause that meter to automatically change to red the moment a parked vehicle drives out of the space.

In other words, if a driver parks in a slot, deposits his five cents and stays only 10 minutes, there should be 50 minutes of unused time left. This little gadget will put an end to this stuff — when our prodigal parker who has shot his nickel for only 10 minutes use of the space drives out of the place, flick! Up comes the red flag.

There is no more free riding — rather free parking. The next guy who drives into the spot has to pay up.

Now I have no love whatever for these parking meter things. And I, too, have the habit of locating a still-operative clock if there is one available.

(There's been one near where I have to park every day which has been out of order for several days. The hand is stuck on 60 minutes; you can park in the space and stay and stay. When you come back, the hand still says 60 minutes. I have been going around with my fingers crossed. Mebbe they won't find it and fix it.)

No, I do not like parking meters and it sort of irks my Scotch conscience to contribute nickel after nickel. However, I also have an ingrained allergy to walking and I will grit my teeth and pay off always rather than have to pick-'em-up-and-lay-'em-down any extra distance if there is a parking area near by.

My friend doesn't seem to mind the walking. It's the satisfaction that he gets from rooking the city out of a nickel that warms the cockles of his heart.

What if the city decides to buy these new devices of which I spoke? These things which put an end to the chances of finding a meter with unused time?

What will my friend do? He'll drive himself to death — Endlessly circling block after block, straining his eyes as he peers at the meter clocks. His only chance to get a costless park is for one of the meters to be out of order.

Sometimes I think that modern scientific progress is going just a little too gold-durned fur!

Bob Anderson Facing A Big Job

NEW YORK — With the calm, almost detached manner that is one of his chief characteristics, Robert B. Anderson is completing an intricate business negotiation. When it is wound up, he will be free to take on a far more complex financial problem.

Anderson, it is now taken for granted, will succeed George M. Humphrey as Secretary of the Treasury. Out of government less than two years, he has been summoned back to Washington by President Eisenhower, who became greatly attached to him when he was Deputy Secretary of Defense.

As head of Ventures, Ltd., a company with a number of mining subsidiaries in Canada and Africa, Anderson has been working out an exchange of shares with McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Ltd. The transaction will provide Ventures with $20,000,000 in much needed development capital in the immediate future and another $18,750,000 within the next few years.

In little, this is just what Anderson will be faced with in the Treasury — the need to carry out extensive refinancing to improve the government's cash position.

A self-made man who earned his way through school from start to finish, an Eisenhower Democrat out of Texas, Anderson will be 47 on June 4. He has moved fast and far to come to the top in both business and government. Yet there are no outward signs of the intensive drive that is the requisite of such a rise.

Talking on one long distance telephone call with two others waiting and his secretary hovering over him to say that a car is ready to take him from his mid-jury office down to Wall Street, his speech has the deliberate, unburied quality of the native Texan.

He resembles Humphrey in some ways, especially in a kind of rugged external simplicity beneath which is a determined and fairly complicated individual. And if Humphrey did not pick his successor, as some have said, he was highly in favor of the choice.

Anderson will not discuss the Treasury post beyond saying that there has been no firm commitment on either side. But he appeared in Washington this week with Secretary Humphrey at a closed meeting of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures.

It was assumed by other committee members that this was part of his indoctrination into the duties of his new of-rice. And Humphrey has been telling recent visitors he is sure they will take to Anderson in the office in which Humphrey has served for more than four years.

The next Secretary of the Treasury faces a formidable task. He must resist the mounting pressure to raise the interest rate on the government's $272 billion debt. Yet at the same time he must refinance short-term indebtedness as it comes due.

In the late summer about $14 billion of short-term notes must be refunded and recent refinancing has indicated that this cannot be done without holding out the bait of an interest rate so much higher as to threaten to start a new upward spiral of all interest rates, both government and private. Recently the Treasury offered $4 billion of short-term notes at higher interest rates to holders of maturing notes paying lower rates. It was necessary to pay out more than $1 billion in cash to those who did not want to take the new certificates.

This attrition, as it is called, has been going on for several months and some observers have regarded it with alarm as a crisis of confidence in government credit. While recognizing the difficulties ahead, the Treasury takes a less serious view of the problem, seeing it as a struggle to hold down interest rates so that a sharp rise, occurring at about the same time as a sizable price boost in steel, will not jeopardize the present high level of prosperity.

But no one would minimize what lies ahead for Humphrey's successor.

In the business deal he is carrying out, Anderson negotiated the sale of 400,000 shares of Ventures to McIntyre Porcupine at $35 a share. Another half million shares will be sold to the other mining company in the next five years. One of the market letters commenting on the transaction observed that it "will undoubtedly speed up the development of their vast projects in the fields of mining and hydro-electric energy in Canada and throughout the world."

The Ventures common stock moved up eight points in one day as news of the financing was released.

This may be a good portent for the infinitely larger financing which it seems certain Anderson will have to undertake in Washington. He is going to need every bit of luck, along with his undeniable capacities, to steer a safe course through the perplexing times ahead.

Reporters Are A Bunch Of Heels

Lo, how are the mighty fallen! It is all but impossible to pick up a novel these days without discovering no later than the second page that the villain — and what a heel, what a cad, what a scoundrel he! — is an unscrupulous, Machiavellian, amoral newspaper reporter. Dirt mean, and not to be trusted as far as you can toss a tomato — which he strongly resembles — by the tail.

Twenty-five years ago, newsmen were the blithe-hearted darlings of fiction and of stage, screen and radio. "Young Man of Manhattan," "Five Star Final" and "Front Page" established the members of my profession as gay, harem-scarem scamps, full of stratagems and gin. Irresponsible, maybe, but lovable, witty, dashing and full of derring-do and scotch.

Well, sir, the only point of resemblance between the fictional newsmen of a quarter of a century ago and the fictional newsmen of today is his irresponsibility. Only there is nothing lovable or gay about the irresponsibility of reporters, circa 1957. The fictional newsmen of today is an irresponsible incendiary willing to set the world on fire for a fast buck and a big headline.

Well, yes, there is another resemblance between the 1930 and the 1957 model, to hear the fictioneers tell it. The reporter will still drink anything, including varnish with a naphtha chaser.

In this harsh decade, reporters are definitely "out of suits with fortune." I have just finished Alec Waugh's "Island in the Sun" and find that once more an American reporter is the perfidious deus ex machina whose inflammatory and unreliable screeds lead to murder, bloodshed and hell-to-pay in a British colony.

Carl Bradshaw, Waugh's reporter, is about as lovable as a boa constrictor. But he isn't anything, really, compared to the snake pit of newsmen invented by Nicholas Monsarrat in "The Tribe That Lost Its Head." Indeed, Bradshaw is an Eagle Scout juxtaposed to the corrupt and rascally knaves that Monsarrat has invested with police cards in his opus.

Land sakes, after reading Monsarrat's book, in which newsmen invent, inflame and goad to unspeakable Mau Mau horrors a primitive tribe in a backwash of Empire (British), I almost resigned and got a job as a respectable shoplifter.

Then it occurred to me that in 25 years of traveling around the world on news assignments, I had never met anyone who even slightly resembled any of Monsarrat's caricatures.

But then, in the era in which the fictional reporter was a charming, devil-may-care type, always leading the gills and always winning Pulitzer prizes, I never knew a reporter in my life to write a Pulitzer prize story while crooked.

Indeed, I have never worked in a newspaper office where it wasn't a firing offense if the boss caught a reporter carrying a loaded bottle into the office. Probably authors confuse us with the Madison Avenue advertising agency boys and their charcoal-gray tongues.

Oh, well, maybe if we just ignore the matter, the reporter as conspirator and malefactor will disappear as did the antecedent charm boy and his bourbon. (Copyright, 1957, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Telephone Queen

Try to imagine the surprise of Mrs. F. O. Allen Monday afternoon, when she answered her telephone, to be told that she was the winner of a washing machine. The gift is coming to the lucky Big Spring woman from the TV program, Queen for a Day, because her daughter, Mrs. R. O. Miles of O'Donnell, requested it.

Miles of O'Donnell, daughter of Mrs. Allen, was calling to tell her mother of the award. "I've often said and wished that I might be queen of something," exclaimed Mrs. Allen. "But I never did dream that I would really make it." Mrs. Miles, who is visiting her daughters in California, was allowed to wish for a gift for someone and a washing machine is what she asked for.

She displayed a poster of clippings reporting troubles caused by the use of liquor and told how the women of the society might help combat the problem. During the business meeting, Mrs. Gilbert Webb read the names of the missionaries with birthdays this week, and Mrs. B. D. Rice offered a special prayer for them. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Clearman of Lamesa, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Mounts of Lookeba, Okla. The Rev. J. White tapers, used in branched candelabra, were lighted by Judy Clearman, sister of the bride, and Wayne Derstine, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Tracy Campbell presented the program of wedding music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of ice blue sheer cotton which featured a shirred bodice with an elongated waistline and full skirt. A white lace capelet and white feather bandeau with a nose tip veil completed her attire. She carried a white Bible, borrowed from Mrs. Harry Rhoades of Midland. It was topped with an orchid showered with satin streamers. Paula Angle of Midland was the maid of honor, and Konnie Clearman, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Both wore dresses of pink cotton satin styled after the bride's dress. They carried bouquets of white daisies. Like Mounts of Odessa, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. ## Senate To Vote On Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate starts voting today on the omnibus 1957 housing bill with both Democrats and Republicans predicting a compromise measure will result.

Some Republicans and a few Democrats planned to join in an effort to cut the $2,850,000,000 total down to the $1,925,000,000 asked by President Eisenhower in his fiscal 1958 budget for housing.

But this move, sponsored by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and backed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), appeared likely to be stalled by a bipartisan compromise drive.

Under the proposed compromise the bill sent to the floor by the Banking Committee would be cut back in some respects, liberalized in others.

Leaders hoped to get the bill passed by the Senate tonight and into conference with the House, which already has acted on its version of the annual housing legislation.

Byrd said that the Senate committee bill, if passed without amendment, would increase the budget by four times the savings the Senate has been able to make in all 1958 money bills so far.

Sen. Williams (R-Del.), also supporting the Bricker proposal, told a reporter "this is the real economy test."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), floor manager for the measure, strongly defended it as debate opened yesterday, declaring it contained a variety of tools to revive a slumping home building industry.

Two complaints were voiced that the men had gained entry into homes by representing themselves as men sent to check gas appliances. On completing their "inspection" they presented a bill and would accept nothing but a cash payment.

Empire Gas Company officials said emphatically they were impostors; that the gas company sent out servicemen on such missions only on request and that there then would be no charge.

The two men were using a black pickup, whereas the gas company uses only red pickup trucks. They urged that they or the police be notified promptly if unauthorised persons represent themselves to be checking appliances and then ask for a fee.

Airman's Assault Trial Postponed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Pint-sized Airman William Roberts Jr. was granted a postponement today of his court martial on charges of assaulting trainees at Lackland Air Force Base.

The hearing was rescheduled for Monday upon request of Roberts, 22, of Key West, Fla. His attorney was tied up in a civil case in San Antonio.

He is accused of tossing a trainee out of his bunk and of kicking another. Airman Robert Dissenbacher of Brooklyn was alleged to have been tossed from his bunk.

Dissenbacher later was hospitalized and died. The San Antonio Express said the cause of his death was listed at the time as heat exhaustion complicated by a kidney ailment.

Roberts, a member of the 3728th Training Squadron, was released yesterday from the base hospital where he had been held for psychiatric observation.

Michael Rizik of San Antonio, civilian counsel assisting in his defense, said the charges against Roberts were based on what he called "military fears" following the court-martial last year of Matthew McKoon, a Marine drill instructor at Parris Island, N. C. McKoon's court-martial came after he led a night disciplinary march on which six recruits drowned.

The airman's father, William E. P. Roberts Sr., a retired Army major, also was to assist in his son's defense along with an Air Force officer.

The unit to which Roberts is assigned is one formerly commanded by Col. James A. Smyrl, who was reassigned last March to duties as an assistant operations officer after he said he disagreed with a new base policy of allowing basic trainees to take 10 to 28 required hours of physical training by going horseback riding or roller skating at civilian-owned concessions.

Smyrl later was given an unsatisfactory efficiency rating. Under Air Force regulations, officers receiving such ratings must appear before a board of officers which determines their fitness to continue in the service. Smyrl reportedly was waiting a review of the rating and possible board action.

His own county of Hidalgo, with nearly 200,000 people and adjoining Mexico, offered real problems. It has many low-income families where home life is not always attractive to youngsters. And, like everywhere else, there sometimes is conflict between first or second generation Americans and parental authority.

Plan In McAllen Stops Juvenile Delinquency

McALLEN, May 28 (AP)—Bill Whalen has practically stopped juvenile delinquency here.

He has figures to prove it. He's trying to persuade all Texas to adopt his plan.

In McAllen, near the Mexican border where juvenile delinquency could be expected to zoom, Whalen says, "We had two teen-agers sent to Gatesville (the reform school) for short stays last year."

"As I recall," he said, speaking of the time before his plan started, "We used to average 15 or 20 kids up there and I think we've had as high as 25."

"El Paso which is about the same size or a little larger than county population, had 30 last year."

How does Whalen and the men working with him do it?

The plan is simply this: Give problem kids the opportunity to model their lives after that of a successful, respected man rather than a flashy hoodlum or a fast talking, tinhorn sport.

"The switch comes fast," says Whalen, when community leaders take time to talk and work with boys and girls in trouble.

"It's almost unbelievable the way kids react to it. After the councils of civic leaders get into operation, we don't have enough kids going haywire to keep the councils in practice."

"It's just like a fire department. If you don't have a fire, you don't call out the fire engine."

Whalen is no blue-nosed reformer. He went into juvenile work knowing about it, he admits, but served seven years on State Youth Development Council.

What he saw there and what he did in his town and county convinced him that the professional approach to delinquency is not the full answer.

Test Of Wildcat In Borden Shows More Water Than Oil

Tests in the Pennsylvania at a Borden County wildcat, Shell Oil No. 1-A Miller produced more water than oil. The same is true for the Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark, in the one-well Garden City field of Glasscock County.

At the Shell No. 1-A Miller, about eight miles east of Gail, operator pumped 16 hours and recovery was about 90 per cent water. Later, operator tested for 24 hours and made 60 barrels of oil and twice as much water.

In Glasscock, Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark pumped fluid cut only 11 per cent oil. The Fussellman is being tested.

Barrels of fluid, seven per cent water and three per cent basic sediment.

This flow was through various chokes ranging in size from 10-64 to 13-64 inch. The wildcat is 660 feet from south and 2,019 from east lines, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey, 10 miles southwest of Gail.

Shell No. 1-A Miller, eight miles east of Gail, continued to test today in the Pennsylvania. Operator pumped 16 hours and made 152.75 barrels of fluid, cut 90 per cent water. Then in 24 hours, it made 88.18 barrels of water and 40.46 barrels of oil. The venture is 646 feet from south and 1,972 from east lines, 275-97, H&TC Survey.

Continental No. 2-39 Good, an Arthur field venture, ran electrical logs today after setting five and a half-inch string at 7,900 feet, two feet off the bottom of the hole. The location is C SE SE.

McRae No. 1 Landers, 14 miles west of Lamesa, cored today at 12,261 feet in shale. The wildcat is 1,984 from north and 2,348 from east lines, Labor 4, League 280, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 Britt deepened to 10,050 feet in lime. Location of the Canyon test is 660 from north and west lines, Labor 16, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey, and five and a half miles northwest of Lamesa.

Eighteen miles northwest of Lamesa, Texas Crude No. 1-79 Lindsey made hole at 8,288 feet in shale and lime. Drillite is 1,150 from south and 2,310 from east lines, 79-M, EL&RR Survey.

Daivison, Pembrock & Way No. 6 Burket Estate is staked 1,980 feet from south and west lines, 14-C-39, PSL Survey, on a 320-acre lease in the Welch field. It is approximately two miles north of Welch and will project to 5,000 feet.

Shell No. 1 Currie, six miles north of Garden City, was circulating and conditioning hole today at a depth of 8,513 feet in lime and chert today. The wildcat venture is 665 from north and 951 from east lines, 24-34-38, T&P Survey.

Hamilton - Zapata No. 1 - 8 Clark pumped at a rate of 100 barrels of fluid per day cut 11 per cent oil. Operator is testing the Fussellman. Location is 1,985 from north and 2,318 from west lines, 8-32-4s, T&P Survey, and seven and a half miles east of Garden City in the field by that name.

J. Roy Derrick staked the No. 1 Frysak in the Spraberry Trend Area about 21 miles southwest of Garden City. Plotted site is 1,320 feet from north and east lines, 27-35-58, T&P Survey. Drilling depth is 7,500 feet.

A new location in the Iatan East Howard field is Magnolia No. 4 W. W. Watson about 10 1/2 miles southwest of Westbrook. Operator staked it 330 feet from north and east lines, 19-29-15, T&P Survey. It will project to 3,200 feet.

'Inspectors' Bilk Housewives

Police Monday afternoon searched for two men who reportedly bilked housewives under the pretext of being servicemen for the gas company.

Two complaints were voiced that the men had gained entry into homes by representing themselves as men sent to check gas appliances. On completing their "inspection" they presented a bill and would accept nothing but a cash payment.

Empire Gas Company officials said emphatically they were impostors; that the gas company sent out servicemen on such missions only on request and that there then would be no charge.

The two men were using a black pickup, whereas the gas company uses only red pickup trucks. They urged that they or the police be notified promptly if unauthorised persons represent themselves to be checking appliances and then ask for a fee.

Tests in the Pennsylvania at a Borden County wildcat, Shell Oil No. 1-A Miller produced more water than oil. The same is true for the Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark, in the one-well Garden City field of Glasscock County.

At the Shell No. 1-A Miller, about eight miles east of Gail, operator pumped 16 hours and recovery was about 90 per cent water. Later, operator tested for 24 hours and made 60 barrels of oil and twice as much water.

In Glasscock, Hamilton-Zapata No. 1-8 Clark pumped fluid cut only 11 per cent oil. The Fussellman is being tested.

Barrels of fluid, seven per cent water and three per cent basic sediment.

This flow was through various chokes ranging in size from 10-64 to 13-64 inch. The wildcat is 660 feet from south and 2,019 from east lines, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey, 10 miles southwest of Gail.

Shell No. 1-A Miller, eight miles east of Gail, continued to test today in the Pennsylvania. Operator pumped 16 hours and made 152.75 barrels of fluid, cut 90 per cent water. Then in 24 hours, it made 88.18 barrels of water and 40.46 barrels of oil. The venture is 646 feet from south and 1,972 from east lines, 275-97, H&TC Survey.

Continental No. 2-39 Good, an Arthur field venture, ran electrical logs today after setting five and a half-inch string at 7,900 feet, two feet off the bottom of the hole. The location is C SE SE.

McRae No. 1 Landers, 14 miles west of Lamesa, cored today at 12,261 feet in shale. The wildcat is 1,984 from north and 2,348 from east lines, Labor 4, League 280, Hutchinson CSL Survey.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: EDDIE ARCARO, the jockey, discussing his training under the late Clarence Davidson:

"Usually, it takes me two strides to switch the whip. But, three lengths ahead in the stretch (in the late Preakness) I was so careful I took me four strides. I used to hate Davidson but now I know how much he taught me. He taught me how to whip. He would sit me down and make me whip a bale of hay. On Sundays when I wanted to go to a show, he'd make me go out to the track. He'd say, 'what am I wasting my time with you, for? You'll never make it.' When I did something wrong, he'd kick me in the tail. You kick a kid nowadays, they'd put you in jail."

TONY KUBEK, New York Yankee rookie:
"When I played shortstop, I'd grab the ball and flip it a lot of ways. Hard and quick from the hole. Maybe sidearm, if I had time. Throw it underhand for a force at second base. In the outfield, you do it the same way each time. Make the catch, bring it up and then throw with some loft to it. Not just a liner. Sometimes I forget and start to breeze it in. Then I remember that it won't carry so I bring it up again and then throw. That's the big thing I'm trying to get down."

JOE WILLIAMS, New York scribe:
"The other day Paul Hornung signed a three-year contract to play professional football with the Green Bay Packers, who didn't give up a quarter for the privilege. If young Mr. Hornung, on the other hand, had excelled in baseball, he would have been able to command a substantial bonus, $50,000 or so, for signing."

JOHNNY PESKY, former Boston infielder, trying to reach the big leagues again as a manager:
"If I could combine the simplicity and sternness of Joe McCarthy, the courage of Joe Cronin and the graciousness of Bucky Harris and Mickey O'Neill, I'd be the greatest manager in baseball."

BILL RUSSELL, the former All-American cager for San Francisco University:
"I have wondered at times if it was worth it. Going to the Olympics, and touring beforehand, cost me $7,000. The Globetrotters offered me $4,000 for one tour and I also lost $3,000 in salary, since I couldn't join the Boston Celtics until the season was a third gone. I almost didn't play on the Olympic team. When that form, asking you to declare whether you were or ever intended to become a professional, came out, I knew I'd never sign it. Fortunately, the idea was dropped. The Olympic experience was sort of like the Army. The order sheets said you WILL do this and you WILL do that. It was as though they were doing you a favor by letting you come along."

BROOKS LAWRENCE, Cincinnati hurler:
"I'm not messing with my motion this year. I'm going along with what I was doing when I was winning last year. If I happen to go bad, I might think about doing something different. Last year, Birdie Tebbets told me to pitch the way I felt the most comfortable. I got into a relaxed groove and winning came easy. If I win 19 games again, we can finish on top."

CASEY STENGL, manager of the New York Yankees, discussing Sammy White, catcher for the Boston Red Sox:
"He's just like all those catchers who can't hit; he don't want anyone else to hit."

EDDIE EAGAN, former boxing commissioner in New York state:
"Intra-mural sports are more important than varsity sports in U.S. colleges."

Carr Ousted At Formby

FORMBY, England (P)—Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia and Frank Strafaci of Miami Beach, two time-tested veterans, led two other Americans into the third round of the British Amateur Golf Championship today.

The performance of a little-known American serviceman and the defeat of 1953 champion Joe Carr of Ireland furnished the big surprises of the early second round matches.

Harold Ridgely, 43, Air Force sergeant from Haverford, Pa., shot a brilliant 32 on the front nine, and defeated Peter Flaherty of England, 5 and 4.

Carr, a top contender in this tournament every year since the war, lost out to Gerald Micklen, British Walker Cup captain, by a surprising 3 to 2 margin.

Going into the third round this afternoon, the American delegation included McHale, Strafaci, Ridgely, another serviceman, Lt. Gene Eyer of Olean, N.Y., and two players who won their second round matches yesterday, Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., and John Selby of Rye, N.Y.

Dale Morey of Indianapolis, one of the favorites, and Bob Roos of San Francisco, drew byes through the first round and were late starters in today's second round matches.

McHale, former U.S. Walker Cup player, routed Lt. Col. W. B. Armstrong of England, 7 and 6. Strafaci defeated Cecil Beamish of Ireland, former British Walker Cupper, 3 and 2.

One other American, Lt. Bob Magee of Boston, was eliminated by Alan Bussell, Scottish sharpshooter, 4 and 3.

Strafaci and Bussell meet in the third round this afternoon.

Eleven Americans were left in the tournament when play began today.

Jim Mahon, a stocky Irishman, won the last three holes to defeat Robert Staats, an American serviceman from Bloomington, Ind., one up.

his off Andrews, both singles. Andrews fanned three, walked two and hit a batter.

Red Schwarzenbach clubbed a triple and a single for the Yankees.

In the first game, limited to four innings by agreement, the Sox enjoyed major outbreaks in the third and fourth innings to come from behind and rack up the win. The Sox pushed eighth runs across the dish in the third and eight more in the fourth.

The Owls outthrew them, 13-8, but the Sox benefited from 13 bases on balls.

W. Roberts drove out a triple and two singles for the winners while Johnny Farquhar had three singles for the Owls.

Sistony Runs At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N. M., (SC)—As opening day of the new Ruidoso Downs racing season looms closer, excitement stirs in the little town of Ruidoso, New Mexico and everywhere there are racing enthusiasts in the Southwest.

The feature race for the first day of racing, Decoration Day, is the "Inaugural Handicap" at Five and One Half Furlongs. Heading the list of possible nominees for the opening day's feature is last year's winner of this race, Sistony.

Owned by Joe Bassett of Globe, Arizona, this five-year-old daughter by Two Ton Tony won seven of nineteen starts during the 1956 racing season, and was a recent winner at the Turf of Paradise in Phoenix. Sistony now holds the track record for Five and One Half Furlongs and is co-holder of the track record at Six Furlongs.

A newcomer to Ruidoso Downs, Expletive, may be the dark horse of the race. Owned by Bill Luke of Phoenix, Arizona and trained by Oral Pickard, the hard running son of By Jimmy won a total of $9,000 during the 1956 season on the California circuit.

On one occasion last year, he ran in the excellent time of 1:10.2-5.

Other possible nominees for this opening day feature are Smooth Tony, Old Chap, Livetup, Abba's Bull, Kansas Cyclone, Drip and Spanish Fly.

Several new horses are expected to be named for this year's opening day handicap, and there may be some other newcomers to make their initial Ruidoso Downs start.

The co-feature on the opening day card will be a quarter horse handicap at the distance of 350 yards. Expected to make their initial 1957 Ruidoso Downs appearance are Brigand, Tee Beau, Miss Myrna Bar, Ridge Butler, Vandy's Flash, Pap (Los Alamitos Derby winner) and the sensational Double Bid.

General Manager Gabe Paul of Cincinnati said: "I would not dignify such rumors by even commenting on them."

It was reported that television and broadcast contracts for the three clubs in their new sites already had been approved.

To this, Paul replied: "If this is true, someone besides Mr. Crossley Jr., (president of the Redlegs) and myself must have signed the contracts for the Redlegs and Dodgers to Los Angeles, the New York Giants to San Francisco and the Cincinnati Redlegs to New York."

"No request has been made by any club to move any franchise anywhere at any time," said Warren Giles, National League president.

He added that if any such changes were suggested and approved by the necessary eight clubs, there still would remain the formality of drafting the needed territory, a procedure which league rules permit only during the month of October.

Cincy Licks Milwaukee To Remain Atop League

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

Winning on the road and hanging on to pocket extra-inning games may not guarantee Cincinnati a pennant—but it doesn't figure to hurt them either.

The Redlegs, looking more and more like champs, combined those two knacks to finally knock off Milwaukee's slipping Braves last night, twice shrugging off blown leads for an explosive, five-run 10th inning that produced an 11-6 victory.

It was the first of the season for Cincinnati against the Braves—who had beaten the Redlegs seven in a row. Cincy has now won 15 straight on the road.

The extra-inning victory, the fourth of the season for the Redlegs who have won every overtime session they've had to play so far, kept Cincinnati two games ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat Philadelphia 5-1 on Don Drysdale's two-hit pitching.

The St. Louis Cardinals, with Stan Musial 3-for-5, belted Chicago's Cubs 6-2.

In the American, the pesky Kansas City Athletics thumped first-place Chicago 7-1. The second-place New York Yankees walloped Boston 17-8, and Detroit pushed Cleveland into third 11-5. Washington defeated Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings in completing a game suspended April 21, then shelled the Orioles 10-6 in a regular scheduled contest.

An eighth-inning home run by Hank Aaron and a ninth-inning shot by Del Crandall tied it at 6-all for the Braves.

But Cincinnati hustled back to rock reliever Ernie Johnson, who had taken over from Lew Burdette. A pinch single by Smokey Burgess scored the clincher. Hersh Freeman won it in relief.

The Phillies got just two singles off Drysdale, both in the second inning as Ed Bouchee and Joe Lonnett connected for the run. Duke Snider's two-run homer broke a 1-1 tie and Gino Cimoli's two-run jolt wrapped up Drysdale's fourth victory—and Robin Roberts' sixth defeat.

Musial's eighth home run, with a man on, capped a four-run Cardinal fifth that broke a 1-all deadlock.

The A's got started against the Sox and Jim Wilson with Lou Skizas' seventh home run, added a pair of unearned markers and then bagged it with a four-run sixth that included a two-run single by Vic Power.

Bill Skowron hit a two-run homer and two-run single for the Yankees, who had 13 hits.

A double by Al Kaline, three walks, a squeeze bunt and a two-run single by winning reliever Paul Foytack brought the Tigers four runs in the seventh against loser Early Wynn.

Jim Lemon's home run won the April 21 completion for the Senators, who had led 2-1 when the lights failed last month. Lemon then drove in four runs in the 10th inning after the Braves tied the score at 5-5.

Johnson came out of the bullpen with an earned run average of 0.56 and two victories without a defeat. The Redlegs promptly wrapped up the game 11-6 by scoring five runs off him on four hits. He took the loss.

Haney has been forced to throw in second line players at several positions in the last few games, particularly in the ill-fated Chicago series, because of the inadequacies in left field and at second.

Chuck Tanner, now holding down left, has been coming along slowly, but he is hitting only .230. He replaced Bobby Thomson, who is mired at .164.

O'Connell, who drew raves around the league on the Braves' first tour, has turned sour both at the plate and in the field of late. He is batting .235—92 points higher than his understudy, Dick Cole.

Haney's pinch hitters have falled miserably—four hits in 35 trips for a collective average of .114.

Club Shifts Are Denied

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHICAGO (P)—Directors of the National League, meeting today, were surrounded by a welter of rumors, all of which were tagged by official denials.

One report was that a three-way switch of franchises was in prospect, shifting the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles, the New York Giants to San Francisco and the Cincinnati Redlegs to New York.

"No request has been made by any club to move any franchise anywhere at any time," said Warren Giles, National League president.

'Troubled Souls' Of Broadway Seeking Out Graham For Help

NEW YORK (AP)—"Troubled souls" of fast-paced New York City—night club dancers, stage actors and desk-chained career men—are seeking out Billy Graham these days to bare their tales of frustration.

"They're sick inside," Graham said.

They catch him at many times, at many places, and they grab his arm, and start pouring out their stories. He's found them waiting outside his hotel room, or they snag him in a lobby or corridor.

Each is a case history in human disillusionment, and they form a poignant sidelight to Graham's New York crusade, where thousands are listening to his advice nightly—16,500 of them last night at Madison Square Garden.

Graham insists their names be kept confidential, but will describe their plights in a general way. Here are a few:

1. A bartender was held up, tied and threatened with death if he moved. While he lay there, frightened, a noon radio program told of the "Morning Bible Hour" Graham is conducting in a Times Square auditorium. The bartender showed up there next morning and "accepted Christ as his savior."

2. A leading male actor telephoned Graham, said he felt as if his success was leading nowhere, and wanted help. Graham

GOP Snaps Chance To Corner Demos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans snapped up a triple-play opportunity today to support President Eisenhower, to stand for economy and to maneuver the Democrats toward a tight political corner.

A housing authorization bill, in the Democratic-controlled Congress, pumped Eisenhower's $1,025,000,000 budgetary request up to $2,850,000,000, offered GOP members a happy chance to display a kind of political unity with the White House notably lacking in the last few months.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, who has called for a three-billion-dollar reduction in Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget, made it clear the GOP will take advantage of its three-fold opportunity.

"I regard this bill as a test of who is for economy and who is not," he said.

Daniel To Call Special Session Of Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—Still groggy legislators who wound up the 55th Legislature last week, today faced a return trip here for more law making before the year is over.

Gov. Price Daniel said yesterday it was his intention to call a special session "later this year so the Legislature will have an opportunity to finish up" several measures which did not pass during the 138-day session.

He said the position of Democrats who have advocated economy but who vote for an expanded and more costly housing program will be pointed out "at the proper time."

Most of the Democrats who faced this political dilemma didn't want to discuss it publicly. Some made it clear they hope compromises can be reached to avoid record roll call votes.

The lobby registration law, state law enforcement commission, registration of those who practice before state agencies, and a plan for conservation storage in federal reservoirs were measures which were not passed and were cited by the governor.

There was some argument over this point. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) one of the sponsors of the bill, told his colleagues that the housing program has paid its way and possibly made a little profit over the last 20 years.

The Texas will have a strict lobbyist registration act before the next regular session of the Legislature," Daniel declared.

He said the Legislature "enacted some of the most constructive legislation in the history of Texas... however, time ran out before it could complete action" on several issues.

Not all the Republicans were in favor of cutting the authorization back to the Eisenhower figure. But Knowland and others seemed confident the majority would welcome a chance to line up with the President without sacrificing their economy record.

Daniel said the date would depend upon other matters including action and reports of the Travis and Dallas County grand juries investigating alleged legislative payoffs.

"I hope he calls it during football season," said Rep. Murray Watson Jr. of Mart, one of the few legislators still here. Speaker Waggoner Carr said he had no comment.

"I have hopes also of a statutory plan by which the second phases of our water program, conservation storage in federal projects, can be accomplished without a constitutional amendment. This proposal is now being studied," the governor said in his prepared statement.

Some observers believed the "statutory plan" reference implied a direct appropriation bill or possible new taxes.

Sen. George Parkhouse, who introduced the proposed amendment, had considered a property tax, a water-users tax, a direct appropriation by cutting part of the farm to market roads funds and even a tax on pleasure boats and motors. However, these proposals were abandoned and a plan was substituted in which the state would issue up to 100 million dollars in bonds to buy the storage space. Both houses passed the measure in different forms and the compromise conference report failed to be adopted before time expired.

In his sermon last night, Graham used Exodus 20:1-5, concerning the First Commandment: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." It was the first of a series of Graham sermons on the commandments.

He said there are "thousands of gods in America. There are gods all around you. You've got to choose between Jesus Christ"—he raised his arms upward—"or one of these other things." His arm swept in a circle.

At the end of the service, 529 persons came forward in response to Graham's plea to "commit and surrender all" to Christ. This raised the total of such decisions to 8,242 in 12 nights.

Correct cleaning methods have seemingly been a mystery and controversial, even to carpet manufacturers. After much research a product is on the market that cleans and fluffs up beat down carpet paths plus removal of spots thereby maintaining the new look.

Rossellini, Pretty Script Girl To Be More 'Discreet'

BOMBAY (AP)—Roberto Rossellini and his pretty Bengali script writer reportedly have decided not to live so close to each other.

Count Vittorio Lavison, the Italian consul, indicated Rossellini plans to be more discreet in his relations with Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, whose kin have been raising a cry over the reported romance.

have only a business arrangement and has denied reports he plans to divorce Miss Bergman, who is in Paris.

A relative of Mrs. Das Gupta commented: "Rossellini led Sonali up the garden path and now probably will leave her in the lurch."

Sonali, 28-year-old mother of two, left home nearly a month ago to be near Rossellini. She asserted she would never return to her husband, Hari Das Gupta, an Indian movie director.

As a start, Lavison hinted, they will give up their adjoining quarters in Bombay's Taj Mahal Hotel.

Lavison discounted reports the Italian producer, husband of actress Ingrid Bergman, has been given a week to get out of India. "I expect Rossellini will complete his film shooting schedule before he leaves," he said.

A spokesman for India's Home Ministry said the government is still debating whether it should extend Rossellini's visa so he can finish his film series.

Hearing Set On Abortion Count

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A district court hearing has been set for June 4 on a request to revoke the suspension of the license of Dr. Luther Parnell, 70, charged by the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners with performing illegal abortions.

The hearing was ordered by Judge Graham B. Purcell Jr. Attorneys for Parnell also asked for a permanent order after a final hearing.

The physician's attorneys claimed that no competent evidence was presented at the state board hearing, that he was denied the right to subpoena witnesses, and that he was denied the right to cross examine a medical investigator.

Parnell's attorneys also claimed the board's complaint was amended without notice to Parnell and that he was not informed of it until the board revoked his license May 22 in Fort Worth.

Summer Session Registration Slated Monday At High School

Registration is scheduled next Monday for the summer session at Big Spring High School. Principal Roy Worley said summer school classes will begin next Tuesday and continue through July 26.

Courses to be offered will be determined by requests filed during registration. The principal said about 15 students will be necessary before a course can be offered.

However, Worley said he is confident that junior and senior English, both literature and grammar, will be offered. He also expects sufficient demand for classes in government, algebra and typing.

Worley said that every student planning to attend summer school should be on hand when registration opens. If it is impossible for anyone to attend registration, he should make a point to notify school officials of the courses he desires since a difference of one pupil might result in a course being offered, Worley added.

Summer students will be limited to two half-credit courses. Classes will meet for two hours daily — from 8 to 10 and from 10 to 12, Monday through Friday.

The principal said it will be necessary for pupils to attend practically every class session in order to receive credit for the course. Eighty hours of instruction will be offered, and there can be no "make-up" for work missed.

Teachers will cover the same material involved in a regular semester of instruction.

Worley said plans call for courses to be offered in the ninth through 12th grades. However, if sufficient demand is received for seventh and eighth grade courses, they will be scheduled.

There will be no pre-registration for summer school this year, since experience has shown that pre-registration seldom shows the true demand for courses, Worley reported.

Tentatively scheduled to instruct the summer school are Colleen Slaughter, Tommie Hill and Barbara Maves.

However, several other teachers have applied for summer work and will be called into service if registration warrants their employment, Worley said.

The principal stressed that students shouldn't enroll for summer school unless they plan to attend virtually all of the class sessions. The only holiday to be observed will be Independence Day, July 4.

Highway Units Open Membership Effort

LAMESA — Fifteen Lamesa men Monday began contacting Lamesa firms in the joint membership drive of the U.S. 180 and 47 Associations. In a kick-off meeting held at Liddell's, the group received kits containing travel strips folders of both highways and the Texas Highway Department's 1956 report of the Texas Tourist Industry.

The membership goal here is $800, according to Bernie Holt, drive chairman.

No Decision Made On Sheriff's Radio

No final decision has been made by the Howard County Commissioners relative to a suggestion that the county purchase and operate its own radio communication station in the office of Sheriff Miller Harris.

The county commissioners instructed R. H. Weaver, county judge, to determine if a suitable site on South Mountain for erection of a transmitting antenna can be found and to look further into the proposal.

The commissioners were told Monday that a 60-watt transmitter, powerful enough to keep the sheriff's office in touch with all patrol cars and with all communities in the immediate Big Spring area could be purchased and installed for around $1,500.

A station of 250-watt power, recommended by the radio men, would cost about twice that amount. In either case, the county would have to pay but half of the cost — the Civil Defense agency will provide funds for the balance, it was explained.

The county now has and has had for several years a working agreement by which the sheriff's office utilized the Big Spring police radio transmitter. For this service the county has been paying the city $100 per month.

It was pointed out at the meeting Monday that the county could buy and operate its own station and pay for the equipment in a year's time in lieu of the rent it now pays to the municipality.

Lamesa Officers Get Suspects

Francis M. McGettis and T. E. Kennemer left Howard County jail on Monday afternoon on the first of what will probably be a long list of trips to various communities in many parts of Texas.

Their first jaunt will be to Lamesa where they will face a grand jury to answer charges of forgery. When the Lamesa authorities have finished their business with the pair, they will be returned to Howard County.

They are charged here with forgery and will be before the next grand jury late in June.

In the meantime, however, Miller Harris, sheriff, said the men may be taken to any of the score or more other Texas towns where forgery charges have been filed against them.

Harris said the pair probably rates as the most widely wanted men to be in the Howard County jail in some time.

They were arrested here some weeks ago.

Lamesa officers were given custody of the men on Monday afternoon.

MAJ. GENEVIEVE THOMPSON

Chief Nurse At Webb Has Had Varied Career

Maj. Genevieve J. Thompson, the new chief nurse at the 3560th USAF Hospital, Webb AFB, has had a varied career in the field of nursing, in both civilian and military life.

She was born and raised in the small town of East Grand Forks, Minnesota. She enrolled in St. Michael's School of Nursing in the same town.

After receiving her N. R. N. degree in 1936, she worked at various hospitals until early in 1941, when she entered the Army Medical Corps. During the years of World War II, she served at numerous assignments, and in March 1946 was promoted to the grade of captain.

Her post war assignments took her to the Pacific, where she served in Hawaii and on numerous other islands. There she worked her way up from nurse to assistant chief, then chief nurse.

August of 1949 brought her an assignment to Moses Lake, Wash., where she was promoted to permanent captain. Subsequently she served a tour at Hamilton, AFB, then went to Alaska, remaining there until her return to Hamilton, following a 27-week course in advanced nursing, at Fort Sam Houston.

She was promoted to the grade of Major in December, 1951.

16-Year-Old Admits Theft Of $121 From Gas Stations

A 16-year-old former inmate of Gatesville Training School for boys has confessed stealing $121 from two Big Spring service stations last week, according to A. E. Long, juvenile officer.

The youth, released only a few months ago from the reformatory, told Long that he went into the 87 Truck Stop on the Lamesa Highway last Friday, bought a cold drink and looted around until the attendant was out of the room. He opened the cash register and took $40.

On Sunday afternoon, he worked the same trick at the Reed

Service Station also on the Lamesa Highway. This time his loot was $81.

Long said that the youth will be taken back to Gatesville to be recommitted. No hearing before the juvenile court is necessary in such cases, he explained.

Long said that he and Wes Patton, constable, would take the boy with two other juveniles ordered committed by the court to Gatesville today.

On the same trip, Long and Patton will take Moses Viera, under two two-year sentences for burglary to Huntsville State Penitentiary.

Stage Set For Opening Of Midland Rodeo Next Week

MIDLAND — "Everything is ready for the 1957 Rodeo," Courtney Cowden, president of Midland Fair Inc., said today.

"This will be the fastest show we have ever produced. Extra help around the arena and the streamlining of our specialty acts will insure a fast show."

Cowden explained that for the first time in several years the Midland show does not conflict with the Ft. Smith, Ark. rodeo.

consequently most of the champion cowhands will be on hand at Midland.

"This is to be the first show of the season for the rodeo stock from the Lightning C Ranch at Dublin. Everett E. Colburn, director and producer of the show, said the animals are in better shape than he has ever seen them. "The rains we've had this year have the animals feeling pretty salty," Colburn said.

The 23rd annual rodeo begins with the opening day parade, Tuesday afternoon, June 4. Five night performances begin that night and go through Saturday night.

County Library Summer Schedule To Be Unchanged

Howard County Library in the Courthouse will continue to operate the same hours during the summer that prevail in the other seasons, Mrs. Opa McDaniel, librarian, said.

Some libraries have summer schedules which vary from the routine operation hours but no change here is planned. The library is open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. except on Saturday when it is open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mrs. McDaniel said that the Howard County Commissioners have authorized her to add one-half day employe. Under this plan, she explained, the result will be one additional full time worker in the library. One employe has been on half-time for some months.

Jones Motor Says Drain Anti-Freeze

How's your anti-freeze now that the weather is not exactly freezing? The question is just as important in the spring as it is in the fall, according to the men who should know—the men who service cars at Jones Motor Company. The mechanics at Jones Motor have the experience in servicing cars that is necessary to give sound advice to motorists. In the spring you have to remember to remove the anti-freeze, unless you want to run the risk of radiator, cooling system, and engine troubles, reported the Jones mechanics. "Millions of cars each spring and summer contain old anti-freeze that the owners neglect to drain out," they explained. "This fluid rapidly loses—especially under the warm weather driving conditions—the anti-rust inhibitor which it contains, and this often causes corroded cooling systems, radiator leaks and other engine ailments."

Jones Motor service personnel said that each spring the old anti-freeze should be drained and discarded, the cooling system flushed, and fresh water and a rust inhibitor added. You don't have to worry about the mechanics not getting the entire water system fluid tight either when you take the car to Jones Motor Company for the work. Jones is Big Spring dealer for Dodge and Plymouth automobiles and Dodge trucks, plus having the best service staff in Big Spring.

Fish Attracted By 'Doodle Oil'

Fishermen of this area are full of praise for "Doodle Oil," an exclusive fish bait appetizer manufactured by Alfred Collins of Big Spring.

Collins reported that many fishermen have told him of huge catches they have made after applying Doodle Oil to their baits. One group of fishermen was especially laudatory about the effectiveness of Doodle Oil. Members of the party had fished for hours in one of the area lakes, without getting so much as a nibble.

Suddenly, one of the group remembered that he had bought a bottle of Doodle Oil at the Collins Brothers Drug, Third and Main in Big Spring.

The sportsmen gave their bait a liberal dosage of the appetizer, and in a short time had hauled in a 42-pound catfish. The fishing trip was a success from that point on, they told Collins. Numerous other fishermen have reported similar effectiveness from use of Doodle Oil on their baits, said the manufacturer.

Collins has been manufacturing the Doodle Oil for many years, but only in the last few years, with the immense revival of interest in water sports in this area, has his fish bait appetizer become so popular and widely known. The drug store operator compounds Doodle Oil from an old Indian formula, hundreds of years old, which was handed down to him. The appetizer was just as alluring to fish in the old Indian days as it is today. Doodle Oil is available at the Collins Brothers and Walgreen Agency drug stores in Big Spring.

R&H Provides Equipment For Well-Kept Lawn

Being the owner of a beautiful, well-kept lawn is the ambition of nearly every home maker in the country. The yen for a smooth green carpet of weedless grass, well kept flower beds and bright colorful blooms is universal. The average housewife wants passersby to stop and look at her yard and she revels in the obvious pleasure that the attractive display give to the spectators. Such yards are not achieved by mere wishing.

Lots and lots of hard work and careful planning has to be expended. The hard work can be lessened by the careful selection of adequate tools and equipment.

As in any enterprise, the workman can do only as good work as his tools and equipment will allow. The better the tools and the more assorted the variety of material with which he has to work, the finer the results achieved.

That's where the R. & H. Hardware can be of great assistance. There is no establishment in west Texas with a more complete line of modern tools for the home gardener than R. & H. Anything that will help to make the lawn and flowers more beautiful can be found at this fine store. The prices are right, the selection of merchandise is wide. There's plenty of free parking at all times. The sales staff is skilled and eager to help. From the fancy-dan high-power super-model lawnmowers to the simplest of garden trowels—you can find them at R. & H.

Harland Services Autos For Trips

Chances are the family car has been called upon to give you lots of service in all kinds of weather the past few months.

If such be the case, it probably is in need of re-servicing—an oil change, lubrication and cleaning. No establishment does automotive servicing better in Big Spring than the Grady Harland Magnolia Service Station, located at 1000 Lamesa Highway.

If you're planning on starting out on that annual explorer trip, the place to go to insure good performance of your vehicle is the Harland establishment, where you meet courteous, friendly personnel prepared to cater to your needs.

Harland's station stocks those time-tested Magnolia products, including premium gasoline and the finest in motor oils. If you need the anti-freeze drained from your car—essential for better performance in the hot summer months—the place to stop is the Harland station.

New tires at bargain rates can also be purchased through Grady Harland, owner and manager of the concern bearing his name. Liberal trade-in offers are made. Starting a vacation with good castings on your car is a sure way of relieving a lot of tension and worry on your part.

Harland's station also maintains a limited supply of other automotive accessories, including guaranteed batteries, filters, gas tank caps and other items. Whether you're going on an extended trip or just returning from one, it's always wise to stop and shop at the Harland station.

SANTIAGO, Chile (U)—The attempt of five men to sail by raft from Tahiti to Chile has ended in the sinking of their craft, the Tahiti-Nui.

The Chilean navy frigate Baquedano, which was towing the raft, picked up French explorer Eric de Bisschop and his crew of four and most of their equipment. The 14x40-foot bamboo raft went down yesterday near the Juan Fernandez Islands, 400 miles from the Chilean coast, after a stormy sea broke the cable.

De Bisschop and his crew sailed last Nov. 6 from Tahiti, hoping to prove that Polynesians could have duplicated in reverse the voyage of Thor Heyerdahl's Kon-Tiki from Peru to Tahiti in 1947. A bad storm last week carried away the Tahiti-Nui's mast and several of her bamboo logs. Her radio appeal for help brought the frigate out to tow her.

OAKLAND, Calif. (U)—All seven crewmen escaped yesterday when a Navy Neptune patrol plane was ditched in San Francisco Bay shortly after taking off from Oakland Airport.

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

One farmer who hasn't complained about the rain is Bud Shortes, who farms three miles east of Ackerly. He hasn't got as much rain as some others, but more than six inches fell on his place during April and May. He planted once and was getting ready to plant the second time when the rain on the field spilled another inch on the field.

Shortes says it is getting a little late for cotton and it will be June before he can start planting, but he isn't tired of muddy fields yet. "I like rain," he said.

Despite the floods in this area, there is still some dry country over in Andrews County and south-west of Odessa. Rexie Caudle made a trip to Eunice, New Mexico, and then down south of Odessa and says the ranges are in poor shape.

Ranchers have had some rain, but not much grass is showing. Caudle said that where mesquite had died up with sand, there was a growth of weeds, but in between the ground was completely bare.

He says the sandyland ranges southwest of Big Spring are also showing a slow recovery. His west pastures have a few weeds but there is no grass for grazing. "It completely disappeared during those six dry years," he said. "One reason the sandyland pastures suffered more is because the sand gets so much hotter than tight land. First there must be a cover of weeds to shade and cool the ground so the grass can come back."

Caudle isn't worrying about the price of cattle for restocking purposes. First, he wants to get some grass cover, which will not happen before October or November.

The Texas Beef Council is urging the passage of House Bill 5244, which has been introduced by Representative Bob Poage. The bill would enable livestock auctions to assess 10 cents a head on all cattle sold, with the money to be used in promoting the eating of more beef. The money would be refunded if the seller asked for it.

The Beef Council says this would correct an injustice wherein only about 4,000 ranchers in the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association have been financing this advertising program, even though every cattle raiser benefits by it.

The Council claims that since

Irrigators Plan Loan Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—Local irrigation districts of the West have served notice that they would like to borrow up to 60 million dollars from the government for the development of small reclamation projects.

The figures were made public today by the Reclamation Bureau. A bill to authorize interest-free federal loans of not more than five million dollars each for construction of small reclamation projects was passed by Congress last year and signed by the President.

President Eisenhower said when signing the measure, however, that he would hold up all such loans until Congress amended the act.

He objected to a provision which would have given the House and Senate Interior Affairs Committees veto power over loans approved by the Secretary of Interior. The President said this would amount to a legislative invasion of executive functions.

Organizations which have filed notices of intent to apply for loans, as listed by the bureau, and the estimated cost, include:

Cameron County Water Control and Improvement District 1, Harlingen, $4,600,000

Reeves County Water Improvement District 1, Balmorhea, $1,875,000.

"On the place I worked," he said, "the first well was put down about seven or eight years ago. At that time it would pump 1,200 gallons a minute. Then three or four years ago it started dropping, and was putting out only about 700 gallons when I left the place."

Another school year comes to an end tomorrow. Kids of all ages, sizes and grades will go happily off to school to get their report cards. For once they won't be so afraid of the teachers, and will run and yell and pound one another on the back.

"For them a year's work has ended, and a summertime of loafing, playing and having fun has arrived. It may be a period of rest for the kids, but not for the mothers. The battle of no's will just be starting. No, you can't go; no, you're too young to have the car; no, we can't afford it; no, you can't keep the TV on until midnight; and so on and so on—no, no! It will be the summer of a thousand no's.

This is the time of year when I'd like to be back on the farm. Then the kids would have plenty of room and something to do. It may be possible to ship the boy off to a ranch or farm for a few weeks

OFF INTO SPACE

Only 5 Cents For A Look At The Sun

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to shoot up six satellites during the International Geophysical Year. Each will be geared to seek out specific new facts about things in space that affect the way we live.

The first one has a window to look at the sun, and microphones to hear and count thousands of meteors the size of dust specks. Or horribly bigger, puncturing ones to endanger future space travelers.

Instruments for this first satellite are about perfected, a visit to the Naval Research Laboratory shows. Here the complete satellite balls are being assembled.

Congress has granted 39 million dollars so far for the U. S. part of IGY global studies. About half is going for satellites.

The Department of Defense is in charge of developing and shooting the rockets to raise the moon. This involves indirect costs for the Navy, Air Force and Army. Universities also are spending funds designing map satellite instruments.

Even if the total satellite cost were 51 million, that still figures to a nickel a citizen for each satellite, or 30 cents for the set of six.

So far, four different groups of experiments are planned, explains Group 1: Experiments will study rays from the sun, meteors, density of air in space, temperatures and pressures there, and shape of the earth.

Group 2: Cosmic rays and meteors.

Group 3: Magnetic fields around the earth, and its density.

Group 4: How much energy and heat come into and from the earth; or else a study of clouds over the earth to aid in weather predictions. Which study will be chosen is yet undecided.

Due to weight limits, each satellite can be rigged only for one group of studies. If the first per air, could provide seeds for raindrop formation.

Four microphones inside the first moon will count these hits, broadcasting the interstellar score back to earth. Tiny ones won't puncture the shell. Two gas chambers in the moon will indicate any meteors that do puncture the shell.

Temperatures inside and outside the moon will be measured and reported. The moon will also tell about air density and shape of the earth.

The Group 2 moon will have different gizards, rigged to count how many cosmic rays it runs into, and where. It will store the cosmic ray count on a miniature tape recorder, and broadcast the knowledge when it passes over strategically located receiving stations on the earth below.

Tomorrow: A moon that wears a hat.

Cops Probe Acid Attack

HOUSTON (AP)—Officers began checking a theory yesterday that the unknown assailant who threw acid in the face of H. B. Graves, 40, may have been a student who flunked a first aid course Graves taught at Houston Vocational Technical High School.

"I think the injured man may know who threw the acid but so far he hasn't told us," said Detective Frank Crittendon.

Crittendon said Graves told them he was at home with his niece, Sandra Jean Walker, 20, Saturday night when there was a knock on the door. "I went to the door and tried to turn the porch light on," Graves was quoted as saying.

and let him learn that hard work will be a part of his future.

At 14 they're too old to whip and not old enough to have much commonsense. The early 'teens may be a wonderful age to live through, but it's a tough one to supervise.

713 Elementary Youngsters Sign For Recreation

A total of 713 youngsters have signed up for the citywide recreational program for elementary school children.

Registration is just beginning for the teen-age program, and Bobo Hardy, director, urged that teen-agers interested in golf, archery, tennis, one-act plays, trampolines, football, girls volleyball, basketball, figure fashioning for girls to telephone the YMCA as soon as possible.

Fun clubs have received an encouraging response except at West Side Park where the totals are yet too small to justify the program. Unless there is an increase in registration at West Side the program may have to be moved to another area, said Hardy.

Fun club enrollment showed 29 boys and 24 girls at Junior High; 17 boys and 11 girls at West Side; 26 boys and 34 girls at Washington Place; 68 boys and 104 girls at Kate Morrison; and 51 boys and 62 girls at Lakeview. This makes a total of 426 in the Fun Club program, of which 191 are boys and 235 are girls.

In special programs 76 are signed for the trampoline course (and enrollment has been closed for this activity). There are 24 signed for model building, 20 for modern dance and gymnastics, 23 for archery, four for tennis, 39 boys and 48 girls for swimming, 40 boys for the first period day camp (with the enrollment closed) and 13 for the second period.

Airport Site Is Given Final Okay

T. C. Elliott, regional officer for the CAA in Fort Worth, said Tuesday that Howard County's airport site has now been given final approval and no further question remains as to the suitability of the location.

He also said that it was his impression that application of Howard County to CAA for financial participation in the construction of the county airport is "moving satisfactorily and that problems, which may exist, are working themselves out smoothly."

Howard County now owns the site which is four miles north and east of Big Spring on the Snyder Highway.

Jordan Claims Syria Formed 'Political Police'

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan army headquarters charged today Syrian forces stationed in the Hashemite kingdom acted as "political police," intrigued to overthrow King Hussein and hired and armed assassins.

The official statement, broadcast by the government radio, was in reply to Syria's accusations that Jordan violated the Egyptian-Syrian-Jordanian military agreement in demanding the withdrawal of the 4,000 to 5,000 Syrian troops that had been in Jordan since the Israeli invasion of Egypt last fall.

The troop withdrawal was completed last weekend. The Jordan army statement charged Syrian officers had taken an active role in trying to overthrow Hussein's government.

The statement declared that at the height of the crisis last month — when Hussein capped his move to purge Jordan of Communists and extremists with a dramatic appearance before his troops to win their support — Syrian forces cordoned off villages in north Jordan and surrounded a communications center linking the Syrian and Jordan high commands.

Flood Control Issues Loom In Capital Again

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Raging floods in Texas and the Southwest in recent weeks have caused increased flood control discussion that ties in closely with the "battle of the budget."
Even as a congressional committee was making plans to see first hand what the havoc has wrought and to learn what can be done about it, there was debate as to where the line should be drawn between sound economy and a "penny wise, pound foolish" policy.
Fortunately for those who favor more flood control and water storage projects in the Southwest, the two senators with probably the most say-so in such matters agree with them. They are Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee that handles money legislation for such projects.
Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), leading a spirited discussion of the situation, told the Senate that federally financed levees saved Tulsa from the Arkansas River.
He and Johnson both were critical of those who cry "pork barrel" whenever Congress considers bills to appropriate funds for such projects.
Johnson said Army Engineers estimate that dams already built in Texas prevented damage which would have amounted to much more than the many millions of dollars in losses caused by recent floods.
He called for an appropriation of at least as much money as the President has recommended, and noted that last year Congress voted more money than was requested, actually 107 per cent.
"We must build many more dams in Texas," Johnson added, "big dams and little dams."
Criticizing those who would cut down on such expenditures, he said:
"Every dollar we spend for this purpose is an investment in our future, paying definite, tangible returns."
Placed in the Congressional Record was an article from the Kerrville Times of May 12, telling how that West Texas community financed some of its public enterprises.
Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo, who put the article in the Record, said: "In this day and time when so many people look to Washington for money to aid in projects that are purely local, it is refreshing to learn of instances where communities still feel they should find ways locally to finance local programs."
After saying the place was Kerrville, he added:
"Only a year or two ago when it became desirable for small dams to be built on the beautiful Guadalupe, which runs through the city, four of them were built and paid for locally."

Women Not Dumb About Bargains, Says Housewife

Dear Mr. Editor:
I see by your paper an article by one (BOB SMITH) who states the we weaker minded women of this country are always looking for bargains because some store gives trading stamps at a so called bargain and we are so dumb that we don't know a bargain when we see one. I am not sure if Mr. Smith is married and if he is, no doubt he is married to the most brilliant minded woman in Big Spring and he himself is the only person in the world who is not a jerk.
If we married women, are so dumb and our husbands are such jerks how come your paper allows these so called phony stores to advertise in your paper. If wisdom minded (SMITH) would read the adds in the Big Spring paper he would find that there are such things as a bargain in any store that puts such an add in the paper. Let me put Mr. Wisdom straight as far as we bargaining searching women are.
I. If we women shop at certain "market" store we do not go into the store to look at the labels on the can. We look for quality first and then the price of the product. If we think the price is to high we just pass the article by and look for something more reasonable that has the same coloric value regardless if it is vitamin A.B.C. or D. If the price of a rib roast is to high we buy

Actress Dies

LONDON (AP)—Julia Neilson-Terry, star of the London stage in the 90s and a member of one of Britain's great theatrical families, died today. She was 88.

GOP Chiefs Seek To Restore Portion Of Big Defense Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—With some promised help from Democrats, House Republican leaders sought today to restore about 323 million dollars of a 2½-billion-dollar cut in new defense appropriations.
That would give President Eisenhower a 25 per cent victory in his effort to add $1,200,000,000 to the amount recommended by the House Appropriations Committee. He said that amount of the slash would "cut directly into defense."
He has said the other $1,300,000,000 cut from his request represents only a bookkeeping operation, and his administration "will try to live with" it.
The GOP Policy Committee, composed of 30 of the party's top House members, agreed yesterday to back amendments adding the 323 million dollars. Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts predicted the drive would succeed if the party chiefs could woo some Democrats to their cause.
The amendments would give the Army an extra 98 million dollars, the Navy an extra 50 millions and the Air Force an additional 175 millions.
Some Republicans, Martin said, favored bigger increases while others wanted smaller restorations. He predicted that most, but not all, Republicans in the House would support the Policy Committee's position.
Some Democrats indicated they would go along with some of the Republican proposals. Among them was Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee.
But Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the Appropriations Committee told the House after the GOP meeting that "there's too much money in this bill and too much is being spent the wrong way." He was particularly critical of a 300-million-dollar allotment to start building an atomic-powered attack carrier which, Cannon contended, "wouldn't be afloat two hours after war was declared."

Now-see camera-eye proof Dodge trucks lead the low-priced 3!

Actual road tests . . . like the one photographed at the right . . . prove beyond question that Dodge Power Giants outclass all competition. This rugged hill climb is just one of a whole string of tests comparing all three low-priced trucks.

See certified test results of the entire series—actual unretouched photographs—at your own local Dodge dealer's. These tests, plus 15 minutes behind the wheel, will demonstrate to you that today's Dodge Power Giants lead the low-priced three in every measure by which you judge a truck.

You get the most V-8 power of the low-priced three . . . up to 232 horsepower. This gives you snappier performance to save valuable trip time . . . extra power to take steep climbs with less engine strain. And Dodge gives you extra payload capacity, too. For instance, the test pick-up shown hauls as much as 27% more than the other two low-priced makes.

Check today's low Dodge prices. You'll find eleven Power Giant models, in the low-tonnage field alone, that are actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. Why not see for yourself? Your dealer will gladly bring a Dodge right to your door.

DODGE THE WINNER BY FIVE LENGTHS—and still gaining! The Dodge Power Giant outdistanced both truck "C" and truck "F" from the start. This is just one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding leader of the low-priced three.
