Honor Graduates For '57

Bobby Grant, right, was valedictorian of the Big Spring High School class which graduated last night. His high school grade average was 96.3. Barton Grooms, left, was salutatorian with an average of 95.27, and Janell King Blalock, center, was highest ranking girl with an average of 94.17.

162 Seniors Receive Diplomas, Bobby Grant Is Valedictorian

The last of the smaller-sized senior classes was graduated from Big Spring High School on Tuesday evening with 162 qualifying for diplomas.

For the second consecutive year, a member of the same family set the scholastic pace. This year he was Bobby Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Grant, who posted an extremely high average grade of 96.30 for his high school career. Last year his sister, Patsy Grant, was valedictorian.

The salutatorian, with an average which ordinarily would have won top spot, was Barton Grooms, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms, with an average of 95.27. Twenty members of the class averaged 90 or more during their high school tenure.

and Mrs. Ray McMahan, and to Patrick Fisher, son of Sgt. and Mrs. E. J. Heise, went the $1,000 scholarships posted by local former students of Texas A & M College.

Scholarships to Howard County Junior College were awarded to three young women: Denis Honey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Honey, the scholarship given by the City Council of the P-T-A; Francis Davie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Davie, the scholarship given by the Altrusa Club; and Anita Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gardner, the scholarship given by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Certificates awarded by the American Legion Post for the outstanding boy and girl went to Sue Boykin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zoille Boykin, and to Bobby Grant.

A crowd which all but filled the municipal auditorium heard student speakers call for a full measure of faith in God, themselves, others and their nation.

Graduates are emerging into a world with a choice between a better life and obliteration, said Dan Green, one of the student speakers. Faith in God is a fundamental of successful living, he said, and this faith must be manifested in public as well as private life. She urged graduates also to have faith in their own ingenuity.

Ronnie King, another speaker, reminded seniors of their responsibility for basic freedoms and said that when "we stop worrying about these freedoms we start to lose them." He made the personal application of responsibility.

Jerry McMahan, in the senior president's message, said that graduates will be called upon to face new situations and to learn the business of living by adjusting to these situations. In this undertaking the setting of high goals will be tremendously important, he declared.

Graduates were certified by Roy D. Worley, high school principal, and the class was declared graduated by Supt. Floyd W. Parsons. Clyde Angel, president, and Omar Jones, vice president of the school board, distributed the diplomas, and awards were announced by Bennie Pierson, assistant high school principal.

Invocation was by Janet Hogan, the benediction by Bud Hill. Darlene Agee played the processional, and Laan White the recessional, while Billy Evans accompanied the seniors in singing the alma mater, "Graduation Day" was sung by the Sportsmen trio composed of John Janak, Walter Dickinson and Ronnie King, accompanied by Freida Donica.

Those who averaged more than 90 during their high school careers were Bobby Grant 96.30, Barton Grooms 95.27, Janell King Blalock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. King, Forsan, ranking girl graduate with 94.17, Walter Dickinson 93.59, Patricia Bradford 93.26, Sue Boykin 92.97, Jacqueline Smith 92.77, Denise Honey 92.25, Billy Evans 92.11, Tommy Pickle, 92.06, Carol Rogers 91.46, Janet Hogan 91.00, Paula Hon 90.79, Nancy King 90.71, Jean Robison Young 90.61, Terral Turner 90.53, Patrick Fisher 90.43, Anita Gardner 90.38, Darlene Copelin, 90.27, and Donnie Bryant 90.09.

$1.25 Million Gain In Tax Values Seen

Tax evaluation engineers who were here Tuesday to conduct the annual conference with oil and industrial property owners on valuation of such properties for tax purposes completed their public hearings Tuesday afternoon.

It was estimated that the valuation of property for tax purposes in the county will be increased by approximately one and a quarter million dollars for the next year. The tax engineers explained that this increase is brought about by expansions in existing industrial properties, by new production in oil fields and by additions to utility equipment.

No change was made in the basic formula for tax evaluation determination.

This will possibly bring the total county valuation for tax purposes to near $48 million in the opinion of county officials.

This will be an all-time high in this county. The official report of the tax engineers on the oil and industrial valuations will not be submitted for several weeks, it was said. A number of minor details are yet to be settled and the report itself must be completed.

The $48 million total is based on the addition of the anticipated one and a quarter million from oil and industry, plus a sizable increase anticipated from new residential properties which have been added to the city in the past year.

Navy, Martin Co. Reveal Rocket To Carry Satellite

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Navy and the Martin Co. peeled back their curtain of secrecy yesterday and gave newsmen a "live" look at the rocket designed to carry the first earth satellite into space.

The completely assembled giant Vanguard rocket—72 feet from base to nose—was shown to more than 100 members of the press, radio and television for the first time at the Martin plant just east of Baltimore.

Dr. John Hagen, director of the earth satellite launching project, said a completed test vehicle will be fired before "too long."

Resembling a big rifle bullet, it tapered to a sharp-nosed cone tipped with titanium, one of the strongest and most heat resistant metals.

The cone, built in two pieces, will be jettisoned about 130 miles above the earth, exposing the satellite and leaving it ready for firing when it reaches the desired 1,300-mile orbiting altitude.

Psychiatrists Study Case Of Berserk Sailor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Naval psychiatrists tried to determine today what sent a normally mild seaman on a murderous six-hour armed mutiny yesterday aboard ship.

One officer was killed and another seriously wounded. The sudden burst of gunfire turned the attack cargo transport Uvalde into an armed camp.

Negro seaman Jimmie L. Henderson, 21, Marine City, Calif., said he killed because he was convicted of stealing a $30 watch. Apparently without remorse, he talked freely to newsmen of his resentment, his planning and the killing. Then he was taken under guard to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland.

The bespectacled sailor slugged guard Joseph H. Veerba, 22, on the Uvalde at a Treasure Island dock in San Francisco Bay, seized his automatic and killed Ensign Arthur L. Morris, 26, Stow, Ohio. Morris was shot in the head as he sat on the edge of his bunk at 6:15 a.m.

"He caused all the trouble," Henderson said.

He said Morris had reported Henderson stole a watch. The Negro said he found it. Henderson was convicted at a court-martial Monday, sentenced to four months at hard labor and demoted from disbursing clerk third class to Seaman. He was confined to ship pending review of his case.

Shot three times through the stomach and arm, because "he was in the way," was Ensign Richard D. Harrison, 22, Grand Rapids, Mich., Morris' cabin mate, he was Henderson's defense counsel.

The seemingly mild-mannered killer said, "I feel like Mr. Morris needed it."

For eight months he had worked directly under Morris, who was both the ship's paymaster and leader of the mutiny.

After the shooting Henderson fled to the bridge. There for more than six hours he carried the cocked and loaded pistol in his hand while trying to make up his mind to surrender or shoot.

Humphrey Resigns As Treasury Chief

Texan Anderson Named To Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—George M. Humphrey today resigned as secretary of the Treasury. Robert B. Anderson, former deputy secretary of defense, was picked to succeed him.

Humphrey's resignation was announced by the White House through release of a letter from him to President Eisenhower asking to be relieved "no later than the close of the current congressional session."

At the same time, Eisenhower formally sent to the Senate a nomination of Anderson to the government's top fiscal post.

Anderson, a Texas Democrat, has served as secretary of the Navy in the Eisenhower administration as well as deputy secretary of defense.

Eisenhower left the effective date of Humphrey's departure up in the air.

In a letter accepting the resignation, the President told Humphrey "there are a number of critical problems to be considered during this session" of Congress.

"Until the bulk of these have been satisfactorily resolved, I deeply believe that your experience and the confidence that you enjoy everywhere in government will be great assets in reaching the best answers," he added.

DATE UNSURE
 "Consequently, the date you turn over your duties to your successor, within the limits indicated, be dictated somewhat by circumstances."

Humphrey's decision to leave the Cabinet and the choice of Anderson to succeed him were generally expected.

Humphrey's friends have been saying for months that he was anxious to return to the business world that was nearly his entire life for 40 years until he took the Treasury post in 1953.

The Ohio industrialist gave up a $300,000 annual income when he went to work for the government at $22,500 a year, but his aides insist this had nothing to do with his decision to step down.

"He has made his fortune," one of them said recently, "he doesn't need the money that private enterprise can give him. On the other hand, he has an intense loyalty to the people and the corporations with which he was associated."

"They have convinced him he can do something for them. That's why he's going back."

Similarly, the report has been widespread that Eisenhower wanted Anderson to take over the Treasury job when and if Humphrey insisted on leaving.

REPORTS BOLSTERED
 These reports were bolstered when Anderson accompanied Humphrey to a meeting earlier this month of a congressional committee concerned with government expenditures.

Anderson will be 47 on June 4. Humphrey was 47 last March 8, and his age is one reason he is understood to have felt he should give up the Cabinet job.

Humphrey reportedly told friends he has long been convinced it was time to step aside for a younger man. Otherwise, he has said, the Eisenhower administration would end up with "a lot of doddering old men, and there's no future for the Republican party in that."

Anderson was a high-salaried—reportedly $60,000-a-year—manager of a big Texas estate with varied interests when he came to the administration in 1953 as secretary of the Navy. He had been a Texas Democrat for Eisenhower in 1952.

But White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said today that in 1956 Anderson changed his legal residence to New York and "registered and voted as a Republican."

Since leaving the Defense Department in 1955, Anderson has been associated with Ventures, Ltd., a Canadian mining and mineral firm which has headquarters in New York.

GEORGE M. HUMPHREY

ROBERT B. ANDERSON

President and Humphrey and added: "I will do my best to conduct the office of secretary of the Treasury in the continued best interests of all our people."

At a recent news conference Eisenhower said Humphrey had been talking to him about resigning for the last two years. The President said at that time he did not know how long Humphrey would be able to stay on, but that he had yet to submit a formal resignation.

ANOTHER TO LEAVE
 In submitting one today, Humphrey at the same time notified Eisenhower that Randolph Burgess, now under secretary of the Treasury, "is planning to leave his present post to accept another government appointment."

Humphrey said, however, that at Eisenhower's request Burgess "has also agreed to remain with the Treasury for the transition period."

Hagerty said he was unable to provide any information at this time on the nature of the new government expenditures.

63 Stitches

Three-year-old Kenneth King clutches his teddy bear in a hospital after surgeons took 63 stitches on his face, neck and left ear to close a nine-inch gash inflicted by the family dog which turned on him suddenly on their farm near Fairmont, Miss. Doctors said the bite just missed the boy's jugular vein. The dog is being kept under observation for possible rabies.

Memorial Day Closings Set

The City of Big Spring, following the Chamber of Commerce's authorized holidays, will be closed Thursday.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, said it is the city's policy to close on holidays listed by the Chamber of Commerce.

County offices had previously announced they would be closed. Many retail stores have made plans to close for Memorial Day, but the banks will operate. The same is true with Cosden.

School Bid Opening Scheduled For Today

Bids on construction of a six-room addition to North Ward school were to be opened at 2 p. m. today.

Nine general, six electrical and five mechanical contractors were expected to submit proposals. The bid opening was set for the high school cafeteria. Architects are Puckett & French of Big Spring.

Muddle

Elayne C. Bessman, 31, helped attorney Sheldon C. Bessman get their marriage annulled in Los Angeles. But she's still married. Bessman, 35, married her twice—in 1943 and 1956. He claimed, however, the second one didn't count because she wasn't legally divorced at the time. The judge agreed and suggested she untangle the marital record by getting a second divorce from her second husband—Jerome Marks.

City Employs Agent To Handle Procedures Of Bond Election

City commissioners Tuesday night selected a fiscal agent, passed four recommendations from the Citizens' Traffic Commission, and called for a public hearing to determine necessity of another tax increase.

The city hired Municipal Securities Company of Dallas to perform legal work connected with calling an election on issuance of $50,000 in sewer and water bonds. The firm reported it would handle the work and print the bonds for $445. This is $30 cheaper than the price quoted by First Southwest Company of Abilene.

No date was given when the work would be prepared or when the city would be in a position to call the election.

The money will be needed to help finance the water and sewer lines to serve Webb AFB's new housing area.

The CTC presented the commission with seven requests for traffic safety, and the commission approved four of them. The four include placing "Yield Right of Way" signs at Lancaster for Second, at 18th for Lincoln, and at Dallas for Pennsylvania, and allowing churches to put up signs in streets to urge slow traffic during church services.

The commission tabled two requests and returned one to the CTC for action.

A public hearing was called for the next commission meeting on June 11 to discuss need on additional tax service. The city has received an application for a taxi franchise from Lee Bowman. Bowman proposes to use two vehicles with headquarters on the Northside.

Before the city can authorize the firm, a need and necessity must be shown for additional service.

The commission considered a bill from T&P for $1,486 for labor connected with work on a drainage channel in the western part of the city about a year ago. However the group declined to accept the bill.

The city and T&P entered into an agreement to help remove water that perennially stacked up in the western part of the city when big rains came. The railroad agreed to construct a trestle beneath the tracks if the city would dig a channel to carry water to the trestle and thence into Beal's Creek.

However, the railroad reported it went on and constructed the channel and the city owed it the $1,486 for that labor. The city, in refusing to pay the bill, contended that the work done by the railroad was construction excavation rather than channel excavation. The city dug a channel from First to the railroad, officials said.

A request from the YMCA for reduced rates for a special golf class this summer received favorable consideration. The commission agreed to let the golfers play for 25 cents per day provided they cleared the course by 3 p. m. The special rates apply only for this summer and for the ones in the YMCA classes.

O. W. Laws, a former fireman, came to the commission and asked for reinstatement as a lieutenant in the fire department. However, the commission felt that since he resigned from the department that he lost his right to his old position. Laws was reduced from a lieutenant to a hoseman and later quit the department. He questioned the chief's authority to reduce him in rank, he said.

2nd Confession Battle Looms

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—With a signed confession of one defendant read to the jury, state attorneys tried today to introduce a signed statement by the second white man on trial on a charge of bombing a Negro church.

The confession signed by Sonny Kyle Livingston Jr. was read after a sharp battle with the defense. Another struggle was developing over the statement by Raymond C. Britt Jr. when court recessed yesterday.

The two are charged with dynamiting the Hutchinson St. Baptist Church early Jan. 10. Livingston's confession, as related by a detective, said he tossed the bundle of dynamite. Within a few hours of that bombing, three other Negro churches and the homes of two ministers were bombed. Seventeen days later a Negro taxicab stand was dynamited.

Ends Visit

LAREDO (AP)—Mrs. Maria Izaguirre de Ruiz Cortines, wife of Mexico's President, returned to Mexico City yesterday after a visit to Nuevo Laredo, across the Rio Grande from this city. While there she visited her son, Mauricio, a captain in the Mexican Air Force.

Huge Lake Posing City Flood Threat

City and county officials were to meet today at 2 p. m. to discuss possible flooding should a large salt lake on the H. H. Wilkinson ranch overflow.

The lake, in such a case, would drain into Big Spring.

Today's meeting was slated for the county courtroom. The large lake, comparable in size to Lake Colorado City, is held in check by a natural dam. Old settlers claim the lake has never been as full as it is now. Tuesday, city engineering crews checked and found it 1.9 feet below the top of the dam. It is about eight miles west of Big Spring and due north of Morita.

It has no outlet, thus its size will remain constant except for evaporation and seepage. The lake receives its water from Sulphur Draw and Buzzard Creek.

At the city commission meeting Tuesday night, officials looked at the possibility of the lake overflowing in case of additional rains northwest of Big Spring. The heavy rains Friday caused the latest rise.

lamy, told the group that the natural dam was constructed of sandy clay which would easily wash should the lake ever go over the top. The lake would drain into a series of salt lakes between it and Big Spring and finally into the city. In case of a break, he estimated it would take the wall of water from one to two hours to reach the city.

Then it would take about 10 to 12 hours to completely drain should the entire dam give way, he said.

The commission asked to meet with the county commissioners court sometime today to discuss the matter. This morning, H. W. Whitney, city manager, contacted county officials and made arrangements for the meeting at 2 p. m.

Bellamy told the commissioners Tuesday night that the problem would be to find suitable material to build the dam higher. The surrounding soil would wash too easily, he said.

Whatever is done will have to be with the full consent of the owner of the land, H. H. Wilkinson.

At STOCK MEETING

At the time his nomination was announced by the White House Anderson was in Toronto, Canada, attending a stockholders' meeting.

It was reported recently Anderson was completing a financial deal for Ventures, Ltd., which involved some 38 million dollars. It is likely that no date for his taking the Treasury post can be announced until that deal is completed.

In a statement, issued through the Treasury here, Anderson expressed appreciation for the great honor he said Eisenhower was conferring on him, and made a reference to Humphrey's "suggesting me as his successor."

Judge To Talk At DWI Trial

BROWNSVILLE — County Court-at-Law Judge Clarence Bennett was due to take the stand today in his trial on charges of driving while intoxicated. A dozen witnesses yesterday gave conflicting testimony on Bennett's condition after he was involved in an automobile accident here last October. Dist. Atty. F. T. Graham, taking the stand as a witness, said he could not say whether Bennett was drunk or not. Asst. Dist. Atty. Adolph Betancourt testified he smelled alcohol on Bennett and Bennett offered drinks to those at the accident scene. Graham disqualified himself after Bennett was indicted by the grand jury and asked State Atty. Gen. Will Wilson to provide a special prosecutor for the case. Two employees of a drive-in and three police officers, presented by the state, testified Bennett appeared to be drunk. Dr. Nestor Scanton, who examined Bennett about 30 minutes after the accident, said he smelled no alcohol on Bennett's breath. Another defense witness, Asst. Dist. Atty. Juan Gavito, testified Bennett did not appear to be drunk.

AIRMAN ALBERT KOSTAL TALKS TO PILOT
... he's watchman for lost, 'souped-in' fliers

FRIEND IN NEED Control Tower Operator Keeps Planes On Course

Flying cross-country, a pilot settles down for the home stretch. He's passed the halfway point. Lots of gas and the weather is clear; suddenly on the horizon a thin black line appears. As he watches it widens and grows into what is now quite obviously a storm front. Moments pass and he's in the "soup." Then, without warning his radio compass goes crazy. He realizes two things simultaneously, he is lost and unable to get his bearings. Somewhere in the vicinity, a highly trained airman is perched in a tower, his ear tuned to the radio as the storm rages around him. A-IC Albert Kostal, tower control operator, 1937-1 AACCS Detachment, picks up the first emergency call. An F-86 is in trouble, the pilot states that his radio compass is out; requests a bearing. Airmen Kostal was trained for this moment, when he attended control operator's school at Keeler AFB, Miss., went on to radar approach control, and air route traffic control school at that base, and stacked up many hours of time in the control tower. Now he must put that training to use: "take the pilot in." A man's life was in his hands; at the very least a million dollar airplane was his to save. Long training and discipline served him well, as just nineteen minutes later the F-86 was oriented over Webb, and was to proceed on course. A "cup of coffee later" and a Navy TV-2 was in trouble. The pilot requested a DF (Direction Find). Twelve minutes of careful instructions and Kostal had him over Webb, where he gave him a heading to Midland for another "save." On his next shift Airmen Kostal was prepared for an evening of "listening watch" on the airways. Shortly, however, a Marine flyer trying to circumnavigate the storm lost his position. Again, Airmen Kostal went to work and in 12 minutes vectored the F7F over Webb. Short of fuel, the plane landed safely. Airmen Kostal was assigned to Webb upon his return from a tour of duty at Pepperrell Air Base, Newfoundland. He was married during that time to a Canadian girl. He and his wife, Doris, have a son, Richard, nine months of age.

Judge Hits Verdict In Kidnaping Case

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — Jurors who acquitted two women charged with kidnaping and attempting to murder Mrs. Ruth E. Latham drew a sharp rebuke last night from Judge John A. Hewicker. Acquitted were Mrs. Beatrice Winn, 57, and Mrs. Lucille Whisenand, 36. "I heartily disagree with your verdict in every respect," Judge Hewicker told the six men and six women jurors adding that "you must have had preconceived ideas before you came in here." The jury had deliberated since Thursday and had sat through 50 days of testimony and argument — the longest trial in San Diego County Criminal Court history. Defense attorneys contended Mrs. Latham's testimony was "fantastic" when she said she was kidnaped from her San Diego home Sept. 12 and buried alive under rocks in the desert. She declared she had freed herself and survived through "prayer-given" strength. This was the two women's second trial. The first jury deadlocked 7-5 for acquittal. Mrs. Winn, a housewife who dabbled in business and politics, and Mrs. Whisenand, divorcee and U.S. Customs Service clerk, were released from the county jail where they had been held since Sept. 14. Saying they had been kidnaped themselves, the two had turned up bedraggled and dirty the day after the year-old Mrs. Latham disappeared. They said that they had been released at the Mexican border by three men and a woman, whom they did not know, and told to keep going. While FBI agents and police were looking into their story, Mrs. Latham was found crouching completely naked beside U. S. Highway 80 on the desert 20 miles from El Centro. Mrs. Latham, wife of investment company owner George Latham, told police that Mrs. Winn, whom she knew, and Mrs. Whisenand, whom she identified later, had beaten her, stripped her and buried her. Mrs. Winn, she said, had put another rock on her face when she asked: "Bea, why are you doing this to me?" The prosecution maintained that Mrs. Winn was doing it to eliminate Mrs. Latham from a business lawsuit and thus gain a default judgment. Mrs. Winn and the Lathams were contesting control of a building materials company. Mrs. Winn, who said she had invested her home and all she owned in the company, testified that Latham had threatened her. Mrs. Whisenand testified she became involved only because she happened to be visiting Mrs. Winn Sept. 12. Henry L. Godfrey, one juror, commented after the jury was excused that "it was the only verdict we could reach and live with our conscience." Mrs. Winn said: "I always hoped justice and the court would be on my right and innocent." Mrs. Whisenand said: "I'm so happy. I knew I was innocent." The Lathams were not in court to hear the verdict.

'GOING GOPHER II' READY FOR TAKEOFF
Lt. MacBurnie shows plane to Frankie Bledsoe

'DUCTED FAN' Pilot Trainee Designs Plane

Lt. Peter A. MacBurnie, student pilot at Webb AFB, has designed and built a radical model aircraft which flies on the "ducted-fan" principle. Lt. MacBurnie now is a member of Class 57-0, due to graduate at Webb June 13. He and Mrs. MacBurnie and their daughters, Wendy and Deborah, reside in OK Trailer Court. A 1955 graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, MacBurnie worked out design for the new plane while working for Lockheed Aircraft Company, Burbank, Calif. He was awaiting assignment to the Air Force pilot training program at the time. First model of MacBurnie's plane was dubbed "Going Gopher" by a friend who thought it would never leave the ground. A later version has been christened "Going Gopher II." "Going Gopher II" has the overall appearance of a jet type aircraft, but in reality it is of the conventional class. The plane gets its "thrust" or power from a reciprocating engine, located inside the fuselage, by means of a high speed, 14,000-rpm, super-type propeller. The air enters through the forward air scoops and is channeled back through the hollow fuselage where it is compressed and accelerated by the propeller and expelled through the tail pipe. Thrust is attained through two principles: the first being jet and the other through lift of the propeller in a horizontal or forward direction. The all-wood model weighs about three pounds, and develops about 1 1/2 pounds of thrust. It is radio controlled with the radio equipment located in the nose section. The wings have a 48-inch span, the length of the fuselage is 46 inches and it stands about 10 inches tall. The first model had an extensive radio mechanism, which controlled landing gear, throttle, rudder and elevators; thereby making it capable of the most complex air-borne maneuvers. Control over the craft is maintained by transmitting signals to the plane's receiver which in turn actuates the control surfaces, a pair of ventral fins located on the aft portion of the fuselage directly below the vertical and flying horizontal stabilizers.

Evangelist Sparks Religious Interest

NEW YORK — New York City already is experiencing a sharp upturn in religious interest as a result of Billy Graham's crusade, the citywide Protestant church council said today. New organizational steps are being taken to capitalize on it. In an evaluation of the effects of the evangelist's preaching on this metropolis, Dr. Phillips P. Elliott, president of the Protestant Council of New York City, said: "People are talking about religion with a freedom they have not felt for many a year. Billy Graham has become a symbol of a re-thinking of one's convictions, a re-dedication of one's life." The report, based on information from pastors, said "religious hunger" of New Yorkers to "hear and heed the Master's call" has been shown as a result of the effective preaching of the evangelist. The council, at whose invitation the evangelist is conducting the drive, includes 1,700 churches, of all major Protestant denominations. Last night's Madison Square Garden service, attended by 17,500 people, marked the end of the second week of the crusade. Graham told his huge audience: "I have seen the blessings and sensed the presence of God more here in the Garden than any place I've ever been anywhere in the world. I've never seen two weeks like it." To date, attendance at the 14 nights of Graham's meetings totals nearly a quarter of a million and 6,733 persons—529 last night—have responded to his plea to "accept Christ as lord and savior." "I want to stand here and give the glory and praise to God," Graham said at the close of the service, his voice tight with emotion. "It is he who is doing it and it is marvelous in our eyes."

Rossellini Pledges To Halt Romance

NEW DELHI — The Italian Embassy today said Roberto Rossellini has promised to keep away from Sonali Das Gupta, the married Indian beauty he reportedly has been romancing with. An embassy spokesman said the Indian government had asked the Italian film director to "avoid anything which might produce a scandal" and Rossellini had "promised to do this and to stay away from Mrs. Das Gupta." A relative of the 28-year-old woman in Bombay said she and her Indian movie director husband Hari might reconcile in a few months when the excitement occasioned by her "episode" with Rossellini is over. Das Gupta reportedly had asked the Indian government not to extend Rossellini's visa, which has expired. The embassy spokesman said when Roberto's pledge to be good filtered through government channels to the Home Ministry, it probably would renew the visa so he could finish the documentary films he is making in India for the Indian government.

Nation Readies For Holiday

By The Associated Press
As they have for four score and nine years, Americans tomorrow will summon reverence and remembrance for the dead of the nation's wars. Memorial Day was established May 30, 1868, by officers of the Grand Army of the Republic. The savage Civil War that racked the young nation for four years was fresh in their minds. Now the day has come to mean a time to pause and remember those who gave their lives in all our wars, from the Revolution to Korea. Veterans groups, Boy Scouts and others will march in parades. They will hear rifle-crack salutes fired over graves, some almost fresh, some very old. They will hear Taps blown on a bugle. Many will feel fresh grief as they lay wreaths and flowers on graves of soldiers they had loved. For millions of others the holiday will signal a great exodus on highways and trains, heading for a picnic or a visit. The weather forecast is fair and mild for most of the nation.

A Bible Thought For Today

Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the LORD, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the LORD. (1 Corinthians 15:58)

Dr. Kimball's Money Snowball

A good many years ago a gentleman by the name of Justin Ford Kimball, who once served as superintendent of public schools in Temple (later at Dallas) brought forth an idea that will result this year, 1957, in the payment of more than $3 billion — or nearly $10 million a day — for health care through voluntary health insurance programs. So says the Health Insurance Council in a press release yesterday.

Not that the release mentions Dr. Kimball by name, but the fact is that he was made a life member of the American Hospital Association for having originated the American plan of group hospitalization.

By a projection of the 1956 figures the Council estimates that by May 1 this year some 118 million persons were protected against the cost of hospital expenses through voluntary health insurance programs, 103 millions were covered for surgical expenses, 67 million had policies covering regular medical expenses, and 10 million were insured against major medical expenses.

These figures, the Council points out, mean that over 70 per cent of the total U.S. civilian population today is protected by some form of voluntary health coverage.

The survey covered the period from January 1 through December 31, 1956, based on reports of health insurance programs conducted by insurance companies, Blue Cross-Blue Shield and other health care plans.

Dr. Kimball, the educator and civic worker, really started something.

The Lessons Of Record Floods

The Corps of Engineers at Fort Worth last Saturday issued a startling bit of information: twice as much water flowed through the streams in and around that city as a result of April and May rains than ever flowed through there before.

The office of the Brazos River Authority in Mineral Wells also had a real piece of news: April and May rains had provided enough runoff to fill Lake Possum Kingdom three times over had it been completely empty when the rains started. Capacity of the lake: 700,000 acre-feet.

A great deal of that surfeit of water through Possum Kingdom came from the creeks around Abilene whose waters flow eventually into the Clear Fork of the Brazos and on into Possum Kingdom.

How many times over three municipal lakes and the one owned by West Texas Utilities Company have been filled and refilled by April-May rains is anybody's guess. But WTUC engineers release a figure the other day, before Friday night's downpour, that was even more startling than those relating to Fort Worth and Possum Kingdom: they said the runoff over their Lytle Creek spillway amounted to 13 billion gallons. Lytle Lake, the smallest of the four reservoirs around Abilene, holds only 400 million gallons, as against the combined capacity of the three municipal lakes amounting to around 30 billion gallons.

What a pity so much water should go racing to the Gulf, leaving damage and destruction behind!

Well, it needn't. There is a remedy, tried and proved. It consists in the development of upstream flood detention dams to hold back floodwaters so they can be released in an orderly manner with a minimum of damage downstream. In Texas one of the first of these was along Brady Creek and its tributaries. One of the largest is Sandstone Creek in Oklahoma.

This type of flood prevention work runs into a lot of money and takes time, but it offers the best solution yet envisioned.

As to the cost, flood damage in Texas in the last 60 days has amounted to hundreds of millions of dollars in one form or another, and that would build a lot of upstream detention works. Whatever the cost, excessive rainfall in Texas in April and May has demonstrated the folly of wasting money by not spending money to prevent the waste.

We have had our lesson, and if anything we've been rather lucky. Let's not crowd our luck too far with delay and inactivity.

The Need To Spread U.S. Information

WASHINGTON — It is not too soon to appraise the place in history that the Congress of today may achieve if it pursues its present course. It could become known as the Congress of narrow vision, the Congress without a heart and without a spirit — the Congress that strained at a gnat and swallowed a camel.

For the biggest concern of the world today is war. To prevent war the American people are willing to make many sacrifices now to avoid human sacrifices later on. The way to prevent war is to reach the hearts and minds of the people behind the Iron Curtain and to be adequately prepared on the military side. Armament costs us around $40 billion a year and is necessary to deter impulsive action by dictators. Yet propaganda to influence and persuade the peoples in Eastern Europe, Asia and Africa to withhold from dictators the power to make war is relatively inexpensive.

Soviet Russia today spends many billions a year on propaganda. America spends just a few millions. But the President's request for $144,000,000 for the U. S. Information Agency may, under proposals now pending in Congress, be cut down to $90,200,000. The myopic reason given for this is that the latter sum is more than the average spent by the U. S. Information Agency in the last few years. This is to say that the world has stood still, that the importance of reaching the hearts and minds of people behind the Iron Curtain and in the so-called "uncommitted" areas of the world can be averaged mathematically by looking backward instead of forward.

Judging by the statements made by the leaders in Congress, they have cut appropriations for the U. S. Information Agency to some extent because of a fear that American news services might be deprived of opportunities to sell their wares abroad. This is understandable materialism but at the same time it is shortsighted Americanism. For Soviet Russia doesn't permit the daily reports of the American news services to be printed behind the Iron Curtain.

Nor are there any radio broadcasting stations inside the United States that can reach behind the Iron Curtain without effective relays abroad. It takes a special kind of equipment and transmitters, located in strategic places around the world, to get the messages across to the peoples in vast areas of the globe where either the normal commercial channels are barred or media are unavailable through which to present news dispatches from outside the country.

The Soviets are spending billions — for documentary films, for participation in exhibits and fairs everywhere, for "cultural" exchanges. They send their ballet and other artistic groups to "neutral" lands but, when America tries to counter this with our jazz orchestras — which have recently won wide acclaim, especially in certain parts of Europe and in North Africa and in Southeast Asia — the critics in Congress ridicule it all as a "boondoggle." Thereupon the Democrats cut the U. S. Information Agency's budget to pieces, with the aid of an equally narrow-visioned segment of the Republican party.

The speakers for the Democratic party in the last campaign used to talk a lot about the need for "challenging ideas" abroad and kept hammering away at the "mistakes" of our foreign policy. But success cannot be achieved by the State Department through diplomacy alone if the ground is not cultivated among peoples abroad by effective information programs telling continually about America's disinterested purposes and her true concern for the freedom and independence of all those peoples now enslaved.

The U. S. Information Agency's budget should have been doubled instead of being cut by almost 40 per cent. It is certainly a reversal of the trend when from the so-called "humanitarians," the "forward-looking," the "broad-visioned" Democrats comes the sabotage which has all but wrecked America's effort to expand her information programs to reach the hearts and minds of people abroad. It is a crushing blow to the broad concept of preventive warfare so necessary to prevent the warfare of death and destruction. It is a defeat for America in the "cold war," inflicted not by Soviet Russia but by members of the Congress of the United States.

Public Versus Private Power

WASHINGTON — This is an ABC on the second big fight between the Democrats and the Eisenhower administration over public vs. private power.

Last time the administration surrendered after backing Dixon-Yates, a private company. This time it's backing the Idaho Power Co. It's showing signs of retreating, at least a bit.

There are two parts to the present fight: (1) over letting the Idaho Power Co. build three dams in the Hell's Canyon area of the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon and (2) letting it have a fast tax write-off.

The Truman administration was against letting Idaho Power move in as long ago as the late 1940s. Truman agencies proposed one big government dam. Particularly opposed to the Idaho Power was the Interior Department, then under Secretary Oscar Chapman.

He protested to the five-man Federal Power Commission, which would have final say on whether Idaho Power could build. On Nov. 10, 1952, a few days after President Eisenhower and his Republicans won the election, Idaho Power asked FPC for permission to build the three dams.

Chapman went out of office with the Truman administration in January 1953. In May of that year the Interior Department — with Republican Douglas McKay as secretary — withdrew its protest to the FPC. The FPC held hearings.

On July 27, 1955, it ruled in favor of Idaho Power. But it didn't say so publicly until Aug. 4, 1955, two days after Congress adjourned. This infuriated some Democrats. Nevertheless, the decision by the FPC, in which Republicans now dominated, was unanimous.

This brings the story to the problem of the fast tax write-off. During the Korean War, as an encouragement to businessmen to build plants needed for defense, Congress authorized the Office of Defense Mobilization to let them write off in five years, instead of the normal 20 years or more, part or all of the cost of plants considered necessary for defense purposes. That would mean lower income taxes for the five years, but higher taxes after that.

On Oct. 25, 1955 — while the Interior Department was still under McKay — it recommended to ODM that Idaho Power should be given the fast write-off on taxes. While the case was pending in court, no decision was made on this.

But on March 14, 1957, Gordon Gray became director of ODM. A few days after the April 1 decision of the Supreme Court refusing to intervene, Gray granted Idaho Power the write-off.

The Land Is Green Again

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Leaves from a roving reporter's notebook:

Here where God makes the weather and weather makes the man there is national news — the land is green.

After five dreadful years of drought that put a parching curse on nearly a fourth of the nation, the blessed rains have revived the earth into a new dream of Eden.

The Great Plains, serene and crisp for so long, now roll in endless waves of green so bright on a clear day it almost hurts the eye. And the drought-borne spirit of man climbs like a morning glory. The feeling of relief and renewed hope runs right on out to the Rockies, down through Texas to the border.

A fellow sees a small mud puddle, and chirps, "Hey, what's the name of that new lake? It wasn't here last year."

Said E. T. Lovther of the Emporia Gazette: "Now every prospect — farm, city, business — is pleasing."

Said Arthur F. Duncan of the Kansas City Star: "Most authorities seem to agree the drought finally is broken; and if it is, those same authorities agree agriculture and business in this area are anticipating a good year. Industrial expansion in some parts of the state may forecast a trend."

Another editor, Clyde M. Reed Jr., of the Parsons Sun, even suggested it might be time to turn off the heavenly faucet: "The only danger now is too much moisture."

Amid the chorus of jubilation throughout Kansas, where historically politics and the weather are two most important topics of conversation, there has sounded one disturbing note.

The rains came during the reign of a Democratic governor, and the Republicans are mortally afraid that, come election time, the Democrats will claim they have a better pipeline to the Almighty.

The long drought dramatically called national attention to the plight of the farmer in the Midwest and Southwest. Less well-known is the fact that the falling water table, crumbling the foundations of homes, plants and stores, caused millions of real estate damage in the towns and cities.

A man paid $20,000 for a small brick home in Kansas City less than five years ago. The drought caused the foundations of his front porch to sag, opened wide cracks in its pillars.

He called for bids to repair the damage. The bids ranged from $1,900 to $7,000.

Multiply this example by scores of thousands and you'll have some idea of the financial plight of small homeowners, many of them already mortgaged to the hilt.

Around The Rim

The Arithmetic Of Water

Of all the terms that have been bandied around with the return of heavy rains to this area, none is probably more confusing to the average layman than that of acre feet.

This is the general measurement used to describe the amount of water any reservoir has caught. There is nothing mysterious about it, for an acre foot of water is simply one acre of area one foot deep in water. The mathematicians have figured out that an acre foot of water is the same as 43,560 cubic feet. Without getting too involved, it takes approximately three acre feet to make a million gallons.

So for a rule of the thumb, you can divide the number of acre feet in a lake by three and multiply by a million and you will have the number of millions of gallons of water. For instance, Lake J. B. Thomas now has about 174,000 acre feet of water, which divided by three leaves 58,000. This multiplied by 1,000,000 gives 58,000,000 (billion gallons). You can readily see that it is much simpler in dealing with a string of figures like that to simply say 174,000 acre feet.

Conversely, if you want to convert the gallonage of a reservoir into acre feet, simply multiply the gallons by 3 and then mark off six places. For instance, the capacity of Lake Colorado City is listed as 10.6 billion gallons at spillway level. Multiply this by 3 and you get 31,800,000,000. Mark off the six places and you come up with 31,800 acre feet. Of course, these figures are rounded out — just rough approximations for quick estimates.

Another reason for using the term acre feet is that contents of a surface reservoir are computed on the basis of the acreage of area plus depth (allowing for the angle of slope). In over-simplified terms it would be like figuring the cubic content of a cone.

How can officials and other experts estimate the amount of water which might flow into a certain reservoir? Of course this is a very rough guess (but generally amazingly accurate) based on the number of acre feet flowing per second by a given point on the main channel or channels feeding the reservoir. This can be accurately established by certain mathematical formulas. Then by checking rain and flow reports from the watershed, it is possible to estimate how long the flow will continue.

There is no substitute for experience, however. If a hard two-inch rain produces 10,000 acre feet of runoff on one acre, it is apt to do the same again under similar conditions (of cover, crops, etc.). After a while, it is possible to estimate pretty closely by feel.

This calls to mind the formula by which an engineer is said to compute the size of a bridge. First he ascertains the area of the watershed above the bridge. Secondly, he notes the topography of the land — whether steep, rolling or flat. Next he notes the kind and extent of vegetation. Then he checks the rain records as far back as he can find them, looking for the biggest rainfall at one time. Finally, he checks with the old timers in the area and gets them to peg the all-time high water mark during their memory — and then builds the bridge twice as high as that mark.

Let The Indians Win Once In Awhile

It's a good thing we Americans have devoted friends in far places to protect us from ourselves. President Syngman Rhee of Korea has just banned all American movies that show the poor Indian getting the worst of it in pitched battles with our early settlers, the mountain men, Forty-Niners, cowboys and U.S. troops.

President Rhee — and he's probably 99.44 per cent correct — says such moon pictures put this great nation in the wrong light. They characterize us as cruel imperialists and colonialists, mistreating the only and original Americans, who are also men of color.

In brief, such pictures do us great harm in the Far and Middle East, he says. We are too darn tall in the saddle and quick on the trigger for our own good.

Obviously, if this reform spreads, Hollywood will be on shorter rations than ever and moviegoers will have to close down entirely. But in the meantime, if it will make for American popularity and prestige in the world's far-off and touchy places, why not make a few pictures showing the Indians whaling the tar out of the palefaces?

Hollywood won't be put to the inconvenience of rewriting history, either. All it has to do is record history — the Battle of the Little Bighorn, for example, where no paleface, including General George Armstrong Custer, the George Patton of his day, lived to tell the tale.

Despite Hollywood and teevee, the Indians didn't always lose by a long shot — or more properly, a long bow. By and large, they were great warriors, overwhelmed in the long run by numbers and superior equipment.

For two and a half centuries they harassed the white man and struck terror in his heart. (They were cruel and their tortures were fiendish, but no more so than S.S. troops and concentration camp guards under Hitler.)

If Hollywood is looking for the reverse switch, let it film Pontiac's Rebellion of 1763 when the Indians fell upon and massacred such outposts as Sandusky, Mackinac and Presque Isle.

Or let the movie moguls tell the life story of Joseph Brant, principal leader of the Iroquois during the Revolutionary War. He threw in his lot with the British and walked up the dread Cherry Valley and Wyoming Valley massacres.

A century later, the allied tribes were still able to lick the socks of General George Crook at the Battle of the Rosebud. And I can supply the scenario writer with a few details of the scalping of my ancestor, Colonel Richard Callaway, who went from Virginia to Kentucky with Daniel Boone and there lost his hair and his life.

Or let Hollywood film the saga of the Sioux, who mastered the art of cavalry warfare in no time at all after they acquired horses, first brought to this continent by the Spanish.

It's about time the American Indian got a square shake both in history and in contemporary American life. He could use it in the meantime, perhaps audiences in other parts of the world can be persuaded to do as did the smart Indian, who said he always left in the middle of any cowboy-Indian saga "while my side's ahead."

If it'll make for world peace, let the paleface bite the dust for a change. (Copyright, 1957, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Proof That Foreign Aid Has Paid Off

When you and I get to reflecting ruefully about the billions spent each year on foreign aid and wondering how much of it is misapplied, we might think on an unheralded, unpublicized financial event that took place on April 1, in Frankfurt, Germany — an event which on the surface meant much to bankers, dealers in foreign currencies, and importers and exporters, but little to the average American Jane and Joe.

The Frankfurt gold market reopened. Germans are able to turn in their marks for gold — if they want to. But they don't seem to want to. No rush to take money out of German banks occurred. No stampede of business men to get hold of the precious metal took place.

This utter lack of excitement is the big news. It ought to reassure every American, every Congressman, on the good sense — on the success — of the European phase of our foreign aid. And, by extension, it ought to suggest that what worked in Europe could well work in other parts of the world.

The gold market dramatizes Germany's economic resurgence. It symbolizes what could not possibly happen in an Iron Curtain country. If gold were freely offered in Moscow, Warsaw, or Bucharest, block-long queues would form to swap rubles, zlotys, or leva. The currencies can buy so little! The volume of consumer goods for sale is limited. And prices are exorbitant.

In contrast, in Western Europe, standards of living have risen steadily and persistently everywhere, including a France beleaguered by political crisis after political crisis — the war in Algiers and the Suez debacle. Today the French government is trying to limit imports, hold the lid on economic expansion. This economic well-being is statistically demonstrable.

Since the start of the Marshall Plan in 1948, industrial output in Western Europe has increased from 60 to 129, according to an index compiled by the Organization for European Economic Cooperation. That's 87 per cent. And the trend's still up.

The greatest argument for American foreign aid comes from Wladislaw Gomułka, hard-bitten First Secretary of the Communist party in Poland. In a recent address, he praised the high standards of living in the Western world with the loudest of damns: "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Bluebeard."

not blind us with high living standards. For capitalism means not only the United States, Britain, Germany, and several other countries; capitalism also means the countries of Latin America; their living standards are lower than ours. Half of this population does not even know how to read and write, and 50 per cent of the children of school age do not know what a school means."

Thus, Mr. Gomułka apologizes for life in Poland. He confesses that life in Great Britain, Germany, and the United States is far superior. And he carefully does not refer to Russia — not only because the Russian standard of living is low but also because the esteem in which the Poles hold Russia is even lower.

"Only Socialism," continued Gomułka, "is leading and will lead the people out of backwardness and misery. Poland is a country building Socialism. We still do not have enough industrial establishments. We still have a backward technique and a backward agriculture. We still do not have enough housing and our wages are too low. We still have a difficult life."

"No one has or could have all the means to remove all these deficiencies and difficulties. There is only one road . . . toward a better tomorrow. This is the road of further industrialization . . . This road requires selflessness in work, social discipline, inner composure and peace with foreign countries."

When Gomułka has to grovel so before the success of the Western world, we can only conclude that our Western policies have paid off, that U. S. foreign aid has not been money misspent. The Polish people, seeing success all around them, had to have an explanation. Gomułka sought to give it to them. He tried to tear down but, instead, praised the ways of the west.

Rush For Summer Jobs Finds More Workers Than Positions

The big rush is on for summer jobs. And from all indications, there are more persons seeking work than there are jobs.

Leon Kinney, director of the local Texas Employment Commission office, said that the number of persons checking with his office for jobs far exceeds the number of jobs listed.

He urged employers to call if they have places for summer or full-time employment. In the past, a local civic organization helped youngsters get summer jobs through publicity to employers, but this year, Kinney said the group had made no moves to help.

Naturally, he said, it is easier to place youngsters graduating from high school who do not plan to go to college or other persons looking for permanent employment than persons just needing work for the summer. He said that he had a place now for a person interested in the banking industry, but the employer wants a person permanently — not until September.

Among the jobs for the summer, Kinney said a seismograph company needed about four young men 18 or over for three months at about $1 or $1.25 per hour. This work will be from 48 to 52 hours per week, with time and a half for all over 40 hours weekly.

Kinney said that boys getting summer work could expect from $1 to $1.25 per hour, while needing work could look for from $40 to $45 per week for secretarial work, where they had no experience. This would be a 40-hour week.

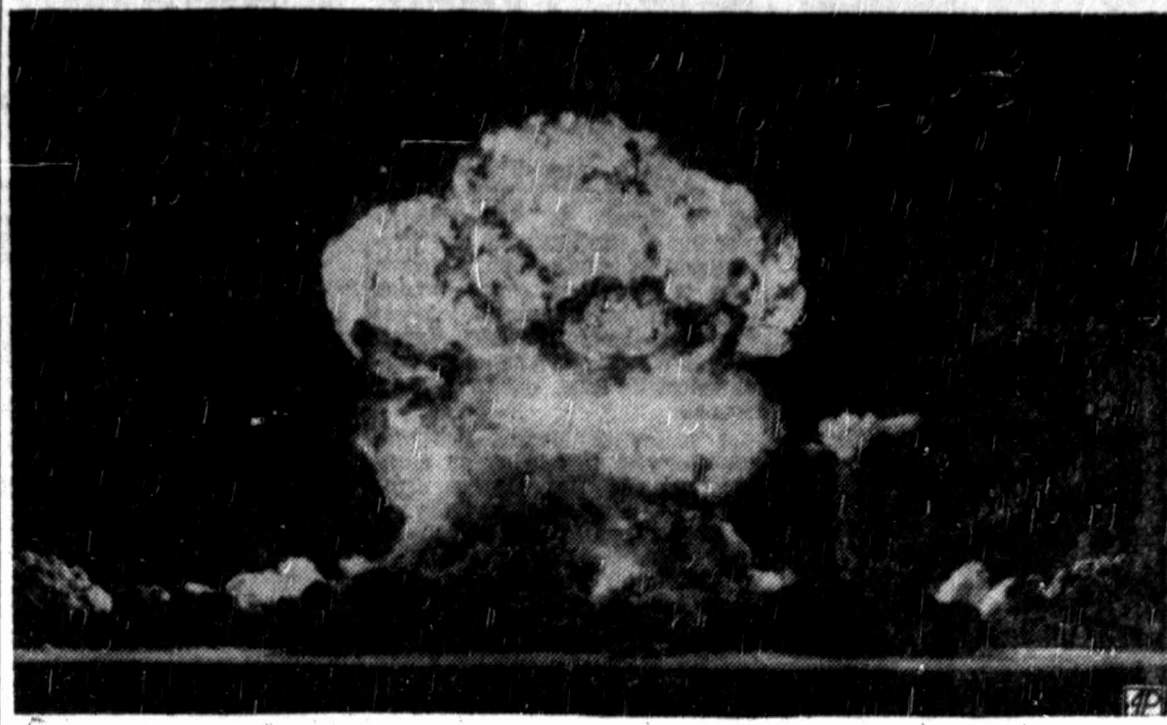

There is very little work for youngsters under 18, Kinney said, unless it was for a short time or maybe yard work. He said most employers shied away from using boys or girls under 16.

Boys interested in yard work can find plenty of jobs, the employment office reported. Kinney said there were usually half a dozen calls each morning from persons looking for yard help. He said there are also plenty of jobs available of the short-duration variety — two or three days.

He said that one boy last summer kept busy the entire three months and never worked on one job more than 10 days. This work ranged from yard jobs to painting.

Regardless of the type of work wanted, Kinney urged teen-agers to come by the TEC office and fill out an application blank. Then when jobs become available, the office can call persons qualified and place them. This will make it easier on the prospective employees as well as the personnel of a Kinney's staff. There is no charge for applying through TEC.

In the same line, Kinney asked employers to call in their job openings. Not only will the job be filled quicker, but it will give more persons a chance to work.

Cuban Federal Forces Admit Rebel Opposition On 3 Fronts

HAVANA — President Fulgencio Batista's forces have admitted rebel opposition on three fronts. The government nabbed 35 plotters in central Cuba and claimed 16 casualties in the northeast.

A large part of the capital remained without electric power as a result of yesterday's underground explosion, which blacked out much of Havana's electric system. A second blast went off last night near the home of Cabinet Minister Andre Domingo Morales, but no damage was reported.

Batista issued a warning that all the dynamite his enemies could muster would not be enough to interrupt our patriotic plans to assure the people their progress and their liberties.

Batista forces clashed with insurgents yesterday near Holguin, in northeast Cuba; near Manzanillo, in the southeast, and at Cienfuegos, in the central province of Las Villas.

An army communique said the Holguin action involved a rebel group which landed at Cabonico Bay last Thursday from the Florida-based yacht Corinthia. It said there were 16 rebel casualties and the rest of the band was being pursued.

Original reports said 25 men had landed from the Corinthia and five had been captured within a few hours. The remainder were said to have been heading for the Sierra Cristal Mountains of northeast Cuba. Farmers in the area indicated the band was growing, saying they had seen more than 100 well-armed men.

The Manzanillo skirmish reportedly involved forces of insurgent leader Fidel Castro, who has been operating in the nearby Sierra Maestra range since landing from Mexico last December. The army said both sides suffered casualties.

The 35 plotters were reported arrested at Cienfuegos. Interior Minister Santiago Rey said they had been surprised at a secret meeting and taken after a gunfight but that there were no casualties. He opined that they were preparing to move into the central Cuban mountains, emulating Castro's guerrillas.

The Cuban Electricity Co. worked furiously to restore service in Havana but said power service might not be restored until tomorrow. Authorities blamed the explosion, which occurred eight blocks from the national capitol on saboteurs.

Asst. Fire Chief Sinesio Cuesta said a tunnel had been dug from an uninhabited house to an electric and gas main and dynamite placed under the electric cables. Police sought an electric company employee who reportedly had rented the house.

The explosion left about 1,000 blocks of houses without electricity. Telephones also were cut and electric pumps supplying much of the city's water could not be operated.

Government and opposition parties have agreed to move presidential elections up five months in June 1, 1958, in an effort to bring political peace to Cuba. Batista is not eligible for re-election and has announced he would retire on completion of his term.

Boy Unaware Family Died In Traffic Mishap

GAYLORD, Mich. — A 5-year-old boy, bruised and cut, lies dazed in a hospital bed here today unaware that the tragic accident in which he was hurt has left him an orphan.

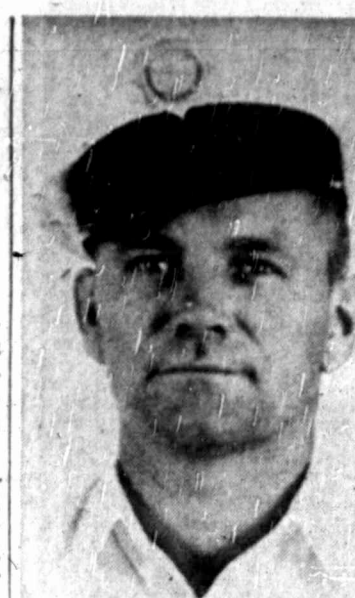

His father and mother, a brother and a sister, all were killed last Friday evening when their car was hit broadside by a freight train about 100 feet from their tiny two-room cabin.

Only young Michael Ostrander survived. "The boy still doesn't know about his family," said an uncle, Myron C. Ostrander. "I guess I'll have to break the news to him in the next few days when the doctors give me the okay."

"He still doesn't seem to recognize anybody," the uncle said. "He hasn't asked for his mother or any of the others. He doesn't even answer when I call him by name."

The boy's continued listlessness has proved puzzling. Doctors say Michael suffered no internal injuries... no fractures... no severe shock... just a bad cut where a piece of wood pierced his flesh.

The boy's father, Ernest Ostrander, 36, a sawmill worker, was taking his wife Jean, 32, his 9-year-old son David, his 7-year-old daughter Patricia and Michael to town when the accident occurred. Michael apparently won't go begging for a home. Two close relatives say they want to adopt him. And the John Berrys family of Beatrice, Neb., wrote to offer the youngster a home.

Postman Arrested For Mail Dumping

UNION, N.J. — A mailman who allegedly believed in putting extra loads of mail to rest in Hollywood cemetery was arrested by postal inspectors here yesterday.

Albert Mueller, 28, dumped circulars, magazines and postcards from his sack on three occasions when the load was especially heavy, the inspectors said.

They quoted Mueller as saying, "I failed to deliver the mail only on days when it was heavy." He was charged with destruction of mail.

Untold Stories Of Highway Accidents

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — You may never have heard of Taylor Britnell. But he has a story to tell, and it's not a pretty one.

On a normal Thursday, about 75 persons die in auto accidents across the nation. Tomorrow, Memorial Day, the National Safety Council estimates that the toll will be 120.

Last year, traffic fatalities reached an all-time high of 40,200, 109 of them on Memorial Day. Such statistics tell a grim story. But even more grim are the stories of those affected by a highway crash. Like Taylor Britnell.

They are stories of suffering and heartache and economic hardship that could have been avoided. They are stories that Alabama's public safety director Bill Lyerly says the world should know, because "if more people could see the human misery like we see it every day it would help stop this slaughter."

To Taylor Britnell, 72, the memory of Saturday night, Nov. 17, 1956, is painfully clear. It isn't easy to forget the mangled bodies of a son and daughter-in-law, their heads sliced off.

The couple left a son, 13, and daughter, 10, for their grandparents to care for on an old age pension income of $71 a month. Offie L. Britnell, 39, was a farmer who enjoyed taking his wife Connie and the children to gospel meetings.

There was an all-night community sing last Nov. 17 and the Britnells left their rural home near Hackleburg, Ala., to attend.

They sang happily as they rode along U. S. Highway 278. Ahead, a tractor pulled onto the highway without lights. Britnell didn't see it in time to stop.

Horrified neighbors found the father and mother dead and the two Britnell children badly injured along with a woman and child on the demolished tractor.

Britnell's father and his 73-year-old invalid mother took the orphaned children to care for, and thus began a weary struggle to feed four instead of two on $71 a month plus a small rental from part of their land.

"This has put a big burden on us all right," Britnell said uncomplainingly, "but we'll get by the best we can."

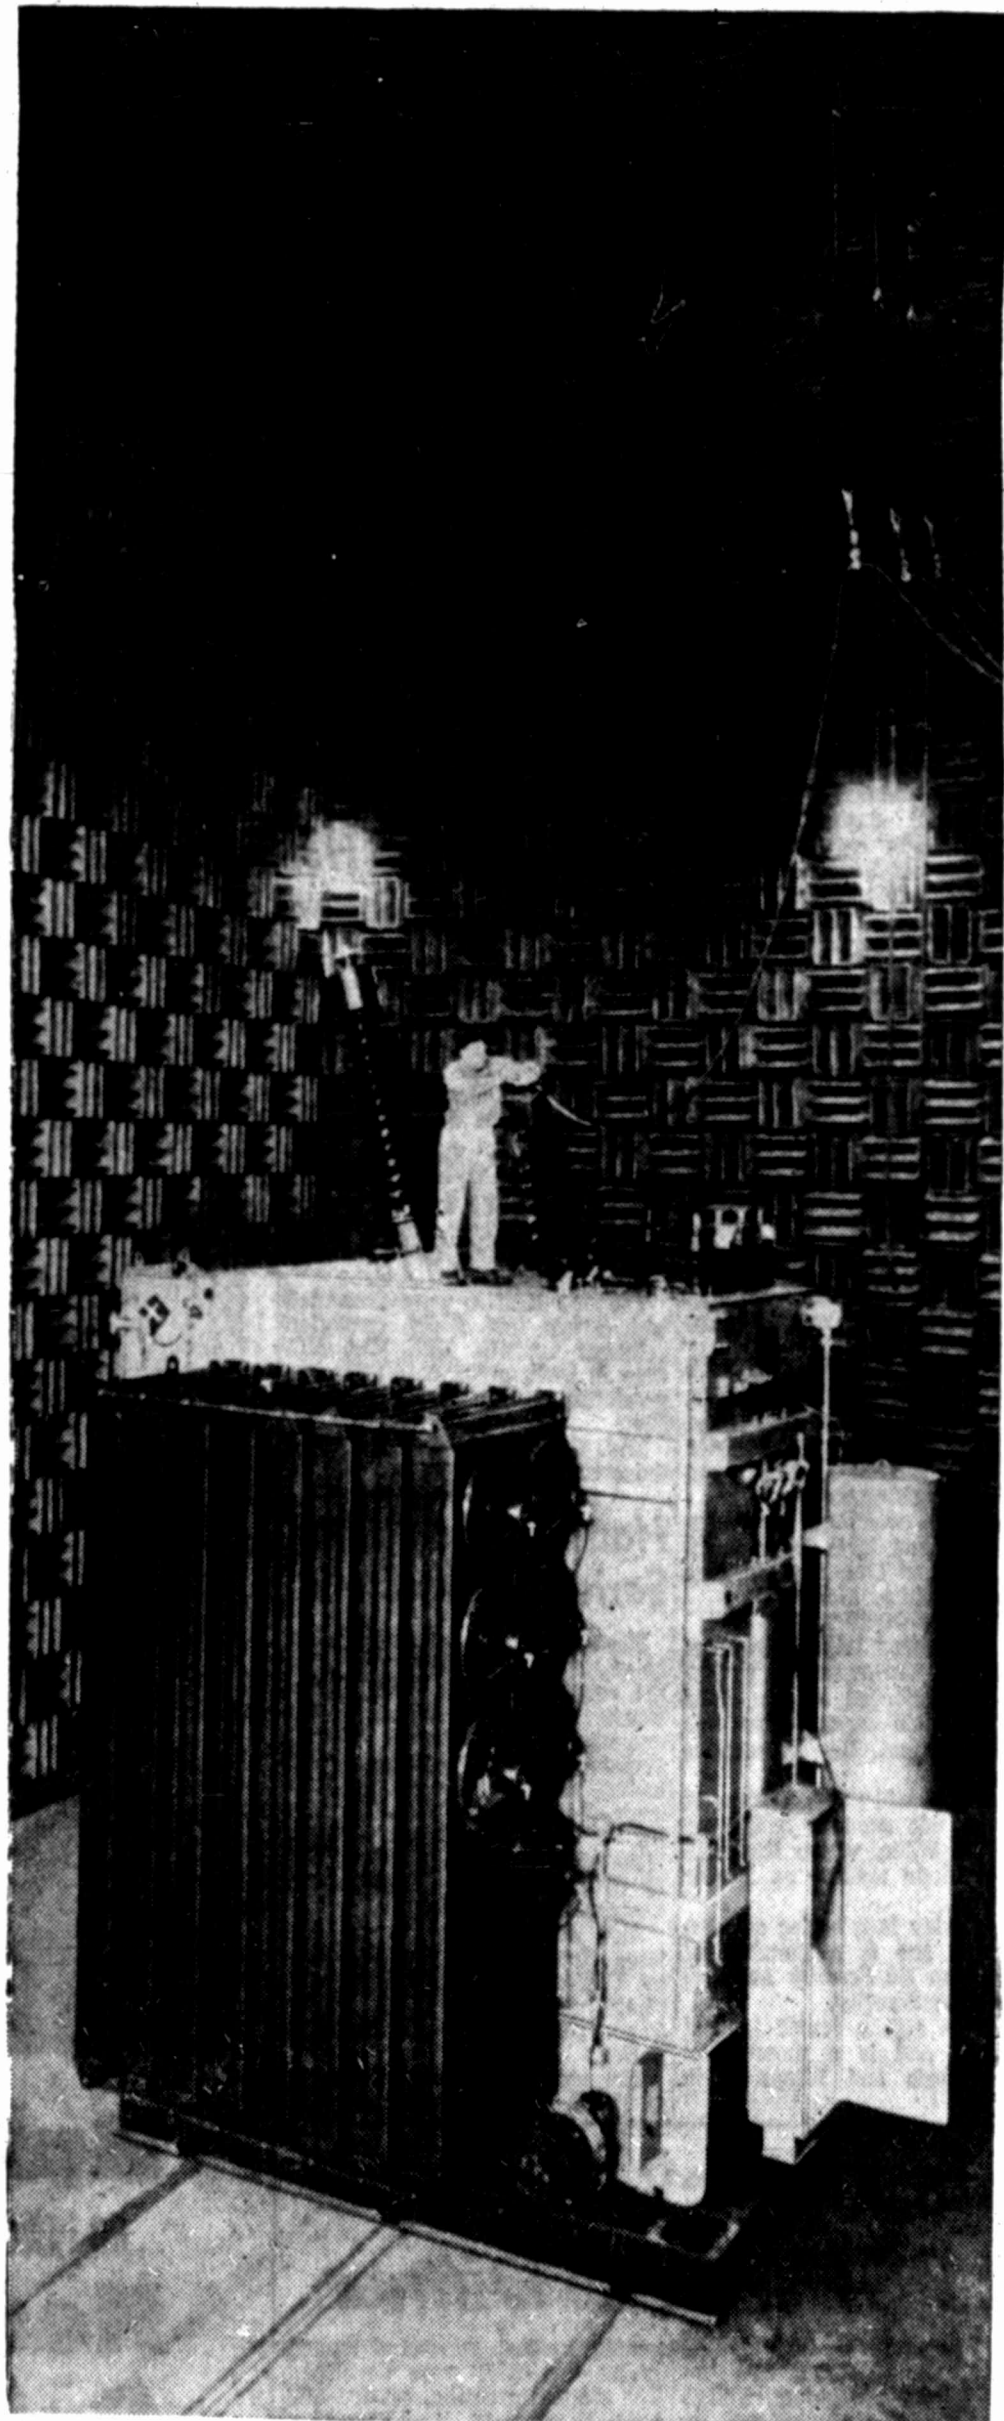

"If I just knew I'd live until the children are grown I wouldn't worry. But that's a long time and time is running out."

Perhaps even more tragic is the plight of Mrs. Susie Roach, who lives in a drafty, two-room house near Florence, Ala., with six children aged 2 to 14.

They manage to exist on a $74-a-month welfare check and whatever else the frail widow and older children can scrape together from seasonal jobs like picking cotton.

William L. Roach, 33, a sawmill worker, died Aug. 27, 1954; in the head-on collision of a car and truck.

"I sure left us in bad shape," the ghostly thin widow said. "I haven't been able to work much because of my health, but I have to work some to get the kids' clothes. Seventy-four dollars a month ain't much to live on."

It takes a GIANT to step up electric power

It takes a giant transformer to step up electric power, and it takes a giant medium to step up sales power. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The amount of sales power you get out of an advertising medium depends on its coverage, availability, readership (or listenership or viewership), flexibility and believability.

Ingredients like these can transform an ad campaign into a profit for the retailer, wholesaler, distributor, or manufacturer. And newspapers have these ingredients in abundance.

With newspapers, you can reach just about every prospect for your merchandise. You can gear your advertising to the weather, to readers' special interests, to time, to place — to suit your own convenience. And best of all — newspapers are the action medium.

That is why all advertisers invested more than $3,305,000,000* in newspapers last year — more than in TV, radio, magazines and outdoor combined.

Step right up and step up your sales power. Use the daily newspaper.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

Texas Flood Waters Ebb

By The Associated Press

Flood waters ebbed in Texas again Wednesday in the absence of torrential rains and violent weather that has plagued the state almost without letup for six weeks.

The Weather Bureau said the only rain during the night was a trace at Dalhart.

South Texas rivers and streams, however, were running at high stages after drenching rains Tuesday.

The Trinity River fell a foot during the night to 33.2 feet at Dallas where 500 persons remained in emergency shelters waiting for flood waters to subside. At nearby Fort Worth, cleanup operations were under way in suburban Richland Hills. Some 500 persons still were under way in suburban Richland Hills in Fort Worth, although the water has slowly receded for two days.

Up to 3 inches of rain fell in South Central Texas, the Rio Grande Valley and along the middle Texas Gulf Coast Tuesday.

Burning Mother Saves Son's Life

MEXICO CITY — A pregnant mother, part of her clothing in flames inside a car, threw her body across her one-year-old son yesterday and saved his life.

But Mrs. Angelica Cueller died in a hospital of grave burns while doctors tried futilely to save the unborn child in an operation.

The son was burned but not severely. The father, Fortino, burned his hands helping to pull his wife and child out of the car.

The three were taking a small can of gasoline to a relative who had run out of fuel. Mrs. Cueller carried it on her knees to keep it from sloshing out.

A&M Woes Due To End: Prexy

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—President D. W. Williams of Texas A&M was confident today the probation hanging over the college for recruiting violations would be removed now that basketball Coach Ken Loeffler is out.

Loeffler, center of four charges involving basketball, resigned yesterday with a year to go on his contract. He will be paid $7,214.46.

Texas A&M has been on probation since May 1, 1955, for violating the recruiting rules in football. The NCAA, which had forbade the Aggies playing in a football bowl game or competing for national championships in other sports, meets at Chicago Friday. At this time the removal of the probation will be considered.

Loeffler first got the Aggies into trouble last winter when he was reprimanded by the Southwest Conference for allegedly providing an overnight trip to Houston for Jackie Moreland, a basketball prospect.

Then May 11 when the conference met at Austin it brought charges that Loeffler had attended a tryout for basketball prospects; provided transportation for Alex Roberts, a basketball prospect, to come to A&M and enroll, and that transportation was given Roberts for a Christmas trip.

Loeffler denied there was a tryout, said A&M alumni provided the transportation, and he didn't know it was against the rules. He said he didn't know who gave the boy transportation for the Christmas trip.

President Williams called the first two charges technical and said the third had not been proved sufficiently to warrant his believing Loeffler had paid the Christmas trip money. He therefore declined to relieve Loeffler of his duties as basketball coach but said he would remain until the expiration of his contract. He did, however, say Loeffler would do no more recruiting. "This is in no way a confession of guilt of charges which have been made against me by the conference. I am voluntarily taking this action as the best solution of a situation which can be unhappy for all concerned," Loeffler said.

Williams commented that "now that neither the student involved in this matter nor the coach whose activities were questioned are at the college, I confidently expect the conference and the NCAA to clear the college in every way at the first possible opportunity."

Loeffler came to A&M from La Salle, where he had compiled a great record. In 1955, he set about to rebuild the Aggie basketball fortunes that had fallen to the depths. In 1955 A&M had won only four games out of 24 and only one conference game. In Loeffler's first year the Aggies had a 2-9 record in the conference and 6-18 for the season. Last winter A&M won seven and lost 17 and again had a 3-9 record in the conference.

GLENN MIDDLETON, WITH TROPHY OUTLAY

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

His diploma in hand, Big Spring's Bobby Hayworth departs McMurry College this month in search of a coaching job.

The one-time Steer quarterback may go to work at a junior high school in Lubbock. He's been recommended for the post by Wilford Moore, who used to coach him at McMurry. Moore is now the head teacher at Monterey High in Lubbock.

Hayworth intends to enter the coaching profession next fall, if his hour of duty with the Armed Forces doesn't come up. Otherwise, his plans to pursue a coaching career will be shelved for a couple of years.

If Hayworth does hire out in Lubbock, he'll be the second ex-Steer to go to work there. Culin Grigsby Jr., who played both basketball and football here, has already been named an assistant at one of the Junior high schools in Lubbock.

When Bill Russell, the former basketball All-American, enrolled in school at San Francisco University, he took the only athletic scholarship offered him.

Willie Hartack, the jockey, has already been aboard $661,875 worth of stake winners this year, of which he pockets ten per cent. And the year isn't even half gone.

Forsan Man Is Model Plane Hobbyist

FORSAN (SC) — Glenn Middleton, employe of an oil company in Forsan, has just added his 12th, 16th and 17th award to his trophy case.

Glenn, who lived in Borger until recently, is a model plane enthusiast. He entered two of his craft in a contest at Lamesa last weekend and returned home with three trophies.

One represented victory in the hand-launched glider class, the other in the one-half A free-flight engine division.

The two successes combined to give him high point honors with the meet, good for the biggest trophy in the top of his television set at Forsan and jokingly allows as how he is going to have to get a bigger set, if the trophies keep coming his way.

In Lamesa, his planes were in competition with craft owned by 150 other contestants.

GROSS' GREAT SHOW GOES FOR NAUGHT

By ED WILKS

Some days you can't make a nickel. And yesterday was one of those days for the Cincinnati Redlegs and Don Gross.

Gross, a 25-year-old left-hander, pitched one of his best games ever, walking one, striking out two and allowing just two hits. But he lost to the Milwaukee Braves 1-0—his first defeat since Sept. 8, 1955.

The Philadelphia Phillies, off on their biggest scoring binge since 1953, walloped the New York Giants 16-6. St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 5-1.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox stayed two games in front, defeating Kansas City 3-1 while the second-place New York Yankees went 10 innings to beat Boston 8-5.

Cleveland nudged Detroit 4-3 on Eddie Robinson's two-run pinch homer in the ninth.

Gross, who had won eight since his last loss, had faced only 22 men before Bobby Thomson opened the Milwaukee eighth with a triple and came home with the clincher on a single by Frank Torre.

Spahn didn't walk a man while gaining his 38th career shutout with his fifth victory of the season.

The Dodgers missed their chance to gain ground on PeeWee Reese's throwing error at Pittsburgh. The Cubs shelled Don Newcombe, who had six consecutive complete games, with two singles and an intentional walk that filled the bases in the 11th.

Then Bob Clemente greeted Clem Labine with a sharp grounder to Reese who threw high to the plate.

Richie Ashburn had four of the Phils' 17 hits off six Giant pitchers, and Rip Repulski, Willie Jones, Stan Lopata and winning reliever Bob Miller each drove in three runs. Johnny Antonelli lost his sixth.

Larry Jackson, a 25-year-old right-hander, allowed five hits, struck out eight and walked none while the Cards made nine hits off loser Moe Drabowsky and two relievers.

Rookie Bill Fischer snapped the A's winning streak of four games with a six-hitter for his third victory. An RBI single by Sherm Lollar, a double steal and a wild pitch by loser Rip Coleman gave the Sox two runs in the first inning, breaking a two-game Chicago slump.

Ted Williams' lone hit, his 11th home run, brought the Red Sox a 5-5 tie in the ninth at Boston, but the Yankees socked it away with three in the 10th, two on a Hank Bauer double. Art Ditmar won it in relief with Ike Delock the loser in relief.

Don Mossi made his first start to help Cleveland's injury-weakened pitching staff. He gave three hits in eight for his second victory. Ray Narleski worked the ninth, but had to escape a bases-loaded jam to save it. Two of the Tiger hits were homers, a solo shot by Ray Boone and a two-run job by Bill Tuttle.

The first reaction of O'Malley and Stoneham to the National League vote was: "The league has given us a chance to explore all possibilities."

IN NAT'L LEAGUE

Door Is Opened For Club Shifts

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The National League has opened the door to the Golden West for the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Each of the eight baseball club officials yesterday gave approval for this procedure.

"If New York and Brooklyn request consent before Oct. 1 to relocate their franchises in San Francisco and Los Angeles, respectively, the league president is authorized to grant it."

A reported proposal that the Cincinnati Redlegs shift to New York was not considered at the league meeting.

It is not known when or if Presidents Horace Stoneham of the Giants and Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers will shout "Westward ho!"

But it could be very tempting to do so.

There was a $39,500,000 bond issue election in Los Angeles yesterday which could provide means to build a new city-owned stadium seating 60,000 in a 600-acre play of the Caves-Ravine area within easy distance of the downtown district.

San Francisco has a five-million-dollar fund earmarked for a new stadium to entice the Giants.

This is in contrast to the National League's pioneering front-line of the New York area consisting of outmoded Ebbets Field of the Dodgers and the Giants' Polo Grounds—both plagued by inadequate parking facilities dwindling attendance, a 5 per cent amusement tax on admissions and soon-to-expire leases.

All this would seem that the pressure is on the New York fathers to do something pronto in the way of providing new playing sites if they don't want to lose their National League teams.

The Dodgers have a clearer path to move West than the Giants because last February they bought the Los Angeles franchise of the Pacific Coast League and all its facilities from P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs and National League vice president.

The Giants will have to dicker with the Boston Red Sox for the San Francisco franchise.

Webb Dusters Host Clovis

Now boasting a 4-4 won-loss record, the Webb Air Force Base baseball team tackles the Clovis, N. M., AFB contingent in a 3:30 o'clock engagement this afternoon in Steer Park.

The engagement will be the first of three billed on successive days between the two clubs. The service contingents meet again tomorrow in a holiday special at 3 p. m. and on Friday at 3:30 p. m.

Jim Zapp, Webb manager, said ticket prices have been set at 50 and 25 cents.

The Dusters beat Clovis in Clovis last week behind the five-hit pitching of Lefty Wayne Teimeier. Zapp indicated Teimeier would pitch again Thursday, in all probability.

Ortiz Is Favored Over Frenchman

Vet Drivers Predict New Records At Indianapolis

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Auto racing fans, already lined up for miles around Indianapolis Speedway gates today, were assured that tomorrow they'll see one of the greatest 500-mile races since Ray Harroun beat Ralph Mulford in the 1911 inaugural thriller.

Thirty-three drivers were set for the start.

Veteran drivers predicted a record of about 132 miles an hour.

Lee Wallard, who set the modern pattern of full-bore driving in the long grind, asserted, "It's the most wide-open race in history."

Wallard charged from the start in winning the 1951 race and wiped out the old idea of guessing the winning speed and then trying to maintain that average.

The 41st field is full of charging drivers who won't settle for anything but the lead as long as they're on the track. There are three of them in the front row—Pat O'Connor, who led 58 laps last year before his radiator burst; Eddie Sachs, a hot-driver from the dirt tracks making his first Indianapolis start; and Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner.

Last year's "500" was run without a fatality but drivers Tony Bettenhausen and Jimmy Day were injured. Both recovered and will start tomorrow. Preliminaries to this year's race already have claimed one life—Keith Andrews, killed May 15 in a practice run.

Maximum engine sizes were cut the yearly increase in speed. The reduction, or rainy, windy weather of this year's time trials, gave tomorrow's field an average qualifying speed of 141.444 m.p.h. compared with last year's record of 142.507.

They're on the track. There are three of them in the front row—Pat O'Connor, who led 58 laps last year before his radiator burst; Eddie Sachs, a hot-driver from the dirt tracks making his first Indianapolis start; and Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner.

Cosden Oilers Shade 61st Maintenance Team, 9 To 1

Their runs coming in clusters, the Cosden Oilers coasted to an easy 9-1 victory over the 61st Maintenance Squadron of Webb AFB in a softball exhibition at the city park last night.

The Oilers broke the barrier first, scoring three runs in the first. They added their other six in the seventh, with the help of only four hits.

A home run by Billy Paul Thomas highlighted the Oilers' big sixth, the drive coming with a mate aboard. Thomas had two of the Oilers' eight hits, along with James Tidwell.

Daniel Asks Ethics Law Be Clarified

AUSTIN — Who and what should be filed under the new code of ethics law should be clarified, Gov. Price Daniel said yesterday.

Answering questions at a news conference, Daniel said he thought "it would be proper for the secretary of state to ask the attorney general for clarification. I suggest he do it if necessary."

Many state employees have listed "none" for their memberships in corporations or companies under state control.

About 200 public officials and state employees had filed sworn statements with the secretary of state. Among these were six senators and 27 representatives.

Daniel said he did not think it necessary for him to file, since the Constitution set out the same restrictions for the governor as carried in the code of ethics.

Legislators also are covered by the Constitution. However, no filing was required until the 55th session passed the so-called "good government" measure. It provides employees and officials—including legislators—must file sworn statements for being an officer, agent or member of a firm or corporation "under the jurisdiction of a state regulatory agency."

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley said the regulatory agencies are the Board of Insurance Commissioners, Banking Department, Railroad Commission and Liquor Control Board.

He said the new law could be legal grounds to remove state employees who do not file but his office lacks policing powers to enforce compliance of state officials or employees.

Senators filing statements included: Hubert Hudson of Brownsville; Director and stockholder of the First National Bank of Brownsville.

Crawford Martin of Hillsboro; "None."

Representatives filing included: Tom Joseph of Waco; Director of the Bellmead State Bank at Waco and Oak Forest State Bank at Houston.

Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont; Owner of Flash Transfer and Storage Co. of Beaumont.

Jerry Sadler of Percilla; Oil producer, lawyer, owner of 686-acre farm and one hound dog, all at Percilla; Sadler Building and Speegle Building, both at Palestine.

Harold Coley of Conroe; "None."

Jesse Osborn of Muleshoe; "None."

Representatives filing included: Tom Joseph of Waco; Director of the Bellmead State Bank at Waco and Oak Forest State Bank at Houston.

Rufus Kilpatrick of Beaumont; Owner of Flash Transfer and Storage Co. of Beaumont.

Jerry Sadler of Percilla; Oil producer, lawyer, owner of 686-acre farm and one hound dog, all at Percilla; Sadler Building and Speegle Building, both at Palestine.

Proposals For Recreational Facilities At Lake Approved

Groundwork was laid Tuesday night at the city commission meeting for expanding the recreational facilities at Moss Creek Lake.

Ben Asbury, chairman of the Moss Creek Sportsman Committee, came to the commission with a list of recommendations from the committee. His list was tentatively approved, and the city attorney, Walton Morrison, was instructed to draw up an ordinance including the changes.

The ordinance then would be the official guide and would provide for punishment for failure to follow the rules.

The list of requests included changes in fishing rates and addition of boating fees. The changes would make daily fishing permits 50 cents — they are 25 cents now — and the boating fee would be the same.

In addition, an annual permit for $5 would allow a man, his wife, and children under 12 to boat or fish.

Thus a person fishing from a boat would be charged $1 or have to purchase $10 in annual permits.

The list also included minimum size limits on fish (bass 11 inches, channel cat 12 inches, and crappie seven inches) erection of eight metal signs showing the restricted

T&P Promotes A. G. Mitchell

The appointment of A. G. Mitchell to the position of assistant superintendent of special service for the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, with headquarters at Big Spring, was announced today by L. C. Porter, vice president of operations for the railroad.

Mitchell, a native of Denton, entered service with the Texas and Pacific as a special officer July 17, 1947. On May 16, 1952, he was appointed special agent for the carrier, which position he held until his recent promotion.

Coming here from Denton more than a decade ago, Mitchell joined the police force and later was named chief, succeeding J. B. Bruton. He subsequently resigned this place and later joined the T&P employ.

Hayworth Joins Staff For Summer Recreation Program

Bobby Hayworth, who graduated Monday from McMurtry College, has accepted a place on the city-wide Summer Recreation staff.

Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the YMCA and director of the summer program, said that Hayworth will supervise part of the Fun Club program for youngsters.

A great deal of his time, however, will be in the teen-age field where he will coach special sports and activities.

Hayworth, a graduate of Big Spring High School, was quarterback for the McMurtry football team and was named outstanding boy student at the college prior to his graduation. He is a physical education major.

Hardy said that registration had picked up for the teen-age summer program, but he urged young people to call this week to the YMCA to enroll in activities which include tennis, golf, softball, basketball, volleyball, one-act plays, figure-fencing exercises, teen-age social affairs, and others.

DOCTOR BILL? PAY IT WITH $720 CASH AT S.I.C.

No, doc, we know a doctor bill but very seldom goes that high. But a lot of other expense can sure go with a doctor bill. Hard luck bunches up lots and lots of times. Do we know? We sure do, brother. It's happened to every one of us. But LOOK: $34.68 a month for 24 months repays that $720 S.I.C. loan. Must apply the usual credit requirements, naturally—that's expected. But, take care of the doctor, he took care of you! Come down and—SOS-S.I.C.

OFF INTO SPACE

Three-Car 'Train' To Speed
Upward In Quest For Data

by ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the artificial moons speeding through space will wear a little hat.

And for a time it will be a three-car space train—composed of the satellite ball, a big inflated balloon, and part of the rocket that shoots it up. They'll whiz by, one-two-three, in the same orbit.

Such are the plans, coming along well, for the third group of experiments with man-made moons.

Like all others, this moon will be round and shining. But it will contain a magnetometer, a device to measure magnetic currents. Part of the equipment will stick up out of the top like a round pipe, resembling a hat.

When this moon separates from its rocket, a plastic balloon wrapped around the connecting stem will be released, and be inflated by a little cylinder of gas. The balloon — 2½ feet wide — will become another satellite.

This will probe the secret of how much air or gas there is in space.

Speeding 18,000 miles per hour, the little moons will bump into numerous air molecules, and this drag will slow them down.

How much the satellites will be slowed will tell scientists about the volume of gases in space. Every one of the little moons can be observed for this information.

But even more will be told by releasing the lightweight balloon, for it will be 200 times more sensitive to air drag than the metal ball. The third-stage rocket becomes a satellite too, for a while, but is affected by air drag more than the moon itself, because of its bulk. Only for a while will each "car" in this train keep the same orbit. Air drag will change their paths significantly.

Each one of the little moons will help answer another significant question: What is the exact shape of the earth, and its mass composition?

The earth is not a perfect sphere. Variations in its pull of gravity, due to differences in its mass, will affect the orbits of the satellites. By special computations, much can be learned about the shape of the earth, relative position of land masses, and even the composition of the earth's crust.

Once the orbit of a moon is known, scientists can take sightings on it and more nearly pinpoint the exact location of any spot on earth. Right now, distances between continents, or points at opposite sides of our globe, are in error by a number of feet.

In a main task, the moon with a hat will report new data about the deep mystery of magnetism. Great magnetic currents appear to exist out in space. Are they really there? And what causes variations in the earth's magnetic field? What's the significance?

This moon can get answers, will have batteries to radio reports for 50 days.

Projects being considered for later moons could produce vital information concerning weather and climate. One moon could plot the amount and motion of clouds over the earth. Another could measure how much radiation comes to and escapes from the earth. Decisions should be made shortly on just what the fourth and subsequent moons will do.

Finding the moon after it's launched could be difficult—an object the size of a bushel basket, flung hundreds of miles into space. It might escape detection altogether.

But scientists are confident they can find it. Amateur observers, carefully trained and located, may see it first, and get data to learn its true orbit. Radio monitoring stations will hear its voice.

Twelve special telescopes, manned by professionals and strategically placed around the world, will focus on the moons and learn what air drag and gravity are doing to them.

With luck, you may glimpse the moon yourself, just after sunset, or just before sunrise. You'll probably need binoculars.

Your daily newspaper very likely will carry timetables and maps showing you when and where to look.

Once in the void, a moon may live for days, weeks, or possibly even years, depending on altitude and speed, and what it meets.

But inevitably, this precious messenger must die. Air drag will bring it closer and closer to earth until it whips down into the earth's thick blanket of air. Friction will turn it into an incandescent torch, burning it like a shooting star.

Martin Announces
New Light Missile

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. announced today development of the Bullpup, a new air-to-surface missile designed for use by light attack planes against such targets as tanks and truck convoys.

Developed by Martin and the Navy, the Bullpup is about 11 feet long and weighs 600 pounds. It is to be suitable for both carrier-based Navy operations and shore-based Marine Corps use.

Vice Adm. William V. Davis Jr., deputy chief of naval operations for air, outlined development of the Bullpup today in a speech at Kansas City, Mo. He said it is now undergoing Navy evaluation and will be introduced to the fleet as a service weapon.
