Young Father Sentenced To Die

Edgar Smith, 23, cigarette dangling from his lips, leaves Bergen County courtroom, Hackensack, N. J., after being sentenced to die in the electric chair. Smith was found guilty of the bludgeoning slaying of 15-year-old Victoria Ziellinski. Smith's 20-year-old wife, Patricia, holds their five-month-old daughter, Pat, in court anteroom, where she had gone to comfort the infant only moments before the sentence was pronounced.

Ike Leaves For Atomic War Show

ABOARD USS SARATOGA — President Eisenhower cruised off Florida's East Coast today for a demonstration of atomic warfare tactics by jet aircraft of this 350 million dollar supercarrier. The President was accompanied by three Cabinet officers and other high ranking officials on the cruise scheduled to end shortly after noon tomorrow. They flew here this morning from Washington. Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III, landed at Mayport Naval Auxiliary Air Station at 9:28 a.m. and taxied within 50 feet of the Saratoga's gangplank. The President and his party immediately went aboard the 60,000-ton carrier and it put out to sea. Before landing, the President's plane circled the carrier, where 2,000 sailors spelled out "Welcome Mr. President" on the flight deck. The President greeted Secretary of the Navy Gates and Secretary of Defense Wilson, who came on a plane a few minutes earlier. Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey were on Eisenhower's plane. One minute after the President's plane landed, an order rang out aboard the Saratoga "start the jets." As Eisenhower stepped from the Columbine, two jets were catapulted off the ship with a mighty roar. Navy sources said the catapult launching was arranged to show the President how quickly planes can be put in the air, even when the carrier is tied up in port. The jets were Skyray fighter interceptors. The Skyray holds the world speed record of 753 miles an hour over a 3-kilometer course and its turbojet engine with a booster afterburner gives the plane a phenomenal rate of climb.

Methodists To Vote On Alcohol Issue

HOUSTON — The Texas Methodist Conference scheduled a vote today on a resolution asking Congress to prohibit the serving of alcoholic beverages to airline passengers. It also requests Congress to prohibit interstate transport of advertising material for alcoholic beverages.

Red River Threat To Three States

By The Associated Press The flooding Red River threatened bottomland farmers in three states Thursday, but Lake Texoma was falling and torrential rains on the Red watershed had stopped. Texoma, which sits astride the Texas-Oklahoma border, crested at 643.15 feet above sea level at 7 p.m. Wednesday, held that level until midnight, then started falling. It was down to 643.11 at 8 a.m. It was still sending 95,000 cubic feet of water per second roaring over the spillway at Denison into the Red River, however. The U.S. Engineers said that rate would continue until the lake was down to 640, the level of its flood pool. Scattered rain and thunderstorms lashed the Gulf coast Thursday, with 1.02 inches falling at Corpus Christi. But the Weather Bureau offered the prospect of a letup in the torrential rains that have pushed the Red River out of banks along

Suicide Is Ruled In Youth's Death

Suicide was the verdict of Walter Grice, justice of peace, in the death Wednesday of Leslie William White, 17-year-old eleventh grade student. His body was found at 4:30 p.m. slumped on the front seat of an Oldsmobile in the rough caliche hill country south and east of the city limits off the extreme southern tip of Birdwell Lane. The boy had been dead for several hours when his body was found by Lanny Hamby, 17, a cousin who had spent some time seeking the youth. A garden hose attached to the exhaust of the car led into the car. All glass in the car was closed. Hamby told Miller Harris, sheriff, that the engine on the car was still running when he came upon the car. He shut off the ignition and went to the Big Spring Hospital where he thought he could get an ambulance. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie White, operators of a dairy farm in the Silver Heels addition, was last seen by associates sometime Wednesday morning. Hamby told Harris he had seen Leslie early in the day in a car but had not spoken to him. Other youths were said to have talked to the

Meg's Tootsie Makes Headlines

LENDON — Not since Adlai Stevenson got caught with a hole in his sole has a foot been such news. Princess Margaret was photographed yesterday easing her foot out of a tight shoe at the Epsom Derby. This morning every London newspaper except the Communist Daily Worker and the daily Times published the picture with rapt comment. In five of the six other papers Meg's tootsie made page one. The Queen's sister was standing at the paddock rail with Lord Porchester when an alert photographer spotted her aching right foot emerging from a snug white pump. "Oh, they're killing me!" was the slightly irreverent caption in the Daily Sketch.

Low Bid

TULSA — R. E. Refrigeration Co., Amarillo, Tex., yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $3,300 on a contract to modify heat and air conditioning units in a hospital addition at Amarillo Air Force Base.

boy at the stock pens Wednesday morning. A note, addressed to a Big Spring high school girl, was found back of a survivor in the car. The note was brief and merely expressed the regret of White at the "way things turned out." He asked the girl to "tell the gang goodbye for me." Officers believed that the youth had been dead for at least five or six hours when Hamby found him. Nalley-Pickle Funeral home ambulance removed the body to their establishment. White was born in Big Spring on Oct. 15, 1939. Funeral services were scheduled for 4:30 p.m. today at the Nalley-Pickle Chapel. The Rev. Ernest Stewart of East Fourth Baptist Church was to officiate and interment was to be in Trinity Memorial Park. He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, two brothers Billy Ray and Freddie, all of Big Spring; two sisters Mrs. Bobby Leonard of Silver and Miss Emma White of Big Spring; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams of Hico and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White of Big Spring. Pallbearers were to be Larry Hamby, Bruce Moore, Jimmy Whitefield, Tommy Buckner, Perry Lee White, Randal Hamby, Ronald White, and John Roy Phillips.

16 Workers Killed in Flaming Traffic Crash

Fire Said Cause Of Most Deaths

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. — A flat-bed truck filled with migrant farm laborers and a tractor-trailer truck slammed together in a fiery crash at a road intersection today and killed 16 persons, the State Highway Patrol reported. The Highway Patrol said 21 persons were taken to hospitals of this area and 14 of them were in critical condition. Fire that broke out caused most of the deaths, the patrol said. "It looked like a ball of fire," said Joe Lozak of Berwick, Pa., who saw the crash in the rearview mirror of his potato truck. "Men, women and children were lying all over the highway." The patrol said 41 laborers, from several states, were aboard the truck which pulled into the path of the tractor-trailer at the intersection of Highways 301 and 102, nine miles north of Fayetteville, at 7:15 a.m. "I didn't count them, but one of the boys said he counted 37 (victims) at one time, all laying down some dead and some injured, some squirming around," said W. H. Covington, operator of a country store near the road crossing. One laborer said the workers, after camping overnight near Mount Olive, N.C., were en route to Dunn, N.C., to harvest beans. Gilbert Robert Peters, 25, of Route 2, Watwalopen, Pa., the tractor-trailer driver, was slightly hurt. The flat-bed truck driver was among those killed. Covington, who said he went to the site after "a couple of fellows came to the store to call an ambulance," added: "There was plenty of blood. Some of them (victims) were mangled all up. It was a terrible sight."

The scene, about 50 miles south of Raleigh, was one of utmost confusion as the truck blazed, injured groaned and wailed, and ambulances sired in among patrol cars and traffic to pick up the victims. In Chicago the National Safety Council said the crash did not set a record in number of deaths in a collision of trucks. Nineteen persons were killed in Texas in August 1947 in a similar crash.

Engineer Group Chief Lashes High Schools

DALLAS — The president of the National Society of Professional Engineers declared today the nation's high schools are lax in the subjects they require students to take. R. J. Rhinehart of Pine Bluff, Ark., said the situation could put Russia ahead in the race to develop the best engineers. He told the society the United States is getting more engineers but they may not be the best. "The engineering enrollment's in the nation's colleges this past year are the largest in our history, but many are inadequately prepared for college courses because of their high school education," Rhinehart said. He said high schools are operating on the basic principle that a high school diploma is vital, but they are more inclined now to let the student select his subjects. "Mathematics and science now, in many schools, are no prerequisites to a degree," Rhinehart said. "If a boy decides later he wants to study engineering, he simply does not have the proper educational background."

Quiz Due Over Anti-Test Drive

WASHINGTON — Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize scientist, has been subpoenaed by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee for questioning about a campaign to halt H-bomb tests. Robert Morris, the subcommittee counsel, said today the subpoena calls for Pauling to testify at a public hearing here on June 18. Pauling is head of the biochemistry department of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, Calif., and is among scientists who have warned of radioactivity fallout dangers from H-bomb testing. Morris said the subcommittee is interested in trying to find out if any Communist organizations are behind efforts to halt the testing of H-bombs and other nuclear weapons. Pauling prepared a document calling for an end to nuclear tests, and he said at Pasadena yesterday that the 2,000 scientists who signed it are thoroughly qualified to speak as experts on the subject.

SAN ANTONIO — Patrolman P. S. Nichols lost his pants yesterday. A thief took his trousers, watch and pistol while Nichols was away from home.

Suit Seeks To Block Trial Of Girard By A Japanese Court

WASHINGTON — A federal judge refused today to order William S. Girard brought home from Japan, but set a hearing for next Tuesday on a suit seeking to bar trial of Girard by a Japanese court. U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghay rejected a request that Girard be "produced in this court" immediately. The judge signed, however, an order directing that Girard not be turned over to Japanese authorities for trial in connection with the death of a Japanese woman scrap collector until he hears further arguments. These were set for 11 a.m. Tuesday. Technically, the hearing will be for the government to "show cause" why Girard should not be brought here. The United States has agreed to permit trial of Girard, an Army Specialist 3.C., in Japanese civil courts. McGarraghay said he was not persuaded by arguments of attorney Earl J. Carroll of New York that he should direct the return of Girard immediately. In the event that Girard should be ordered home, presumably no court could try him. Since his enlistment has expired, it is believed he could not be subjected to a court-martial. McGarraghay conducted a brief hearing shortly after Carroll and Dayton M. Harrington of Washington filed a habeas corpus action in District Court contending that Japan has no jurisdiction to try Girard for the offense with which he is charged. Carroll told the judge the base on which the shooting occurred was under United States sovereignty and that any offense Girard committed was "only against the United States, not against Japan."

Woman Gives Birth To Her 17th Child

DALLAS — Mrs. Susie Ramer, 41, gave birth last night to her 17th child. Fifteen of Mrs. Ramer's children, ranging from 1 to 21, are living. The new baby, a boy, is "doing fine," hospital officials said. So is Mrs. Ramer, who said she likes children. Her husband, Mervin, is a machinist.

Army Said Eager To Join Earth Satellite Program

WASHINGTON — The Army encouraged by the "completely successful" test firing of its Jupiter guided missile — was reported today to be eager to move into the earth satellite program. If true, the service would be entering competition in the controversial missile field not only with the Air Force but with the Navy as well. Army spokesmen preserved official silence. But one high ranking scientist contended the Army has been forced for two months to sit on a completed missile capable of launching the 295-pound baby moons which the United States wants to send hurtling around the globe. This scientist staked out the potential Army claim after one of his colleagues reported that last Friday's test firing of the Jupiter sent that Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile 1,650 miles over the Atlantic Ocean. Insisting on anonymity, the scientist said the Jupiter soared 700 miles into the atmosphere and was aloft for 17½ minutes — giving the missile an average speed for the distance of slightly more than 5,000 miles an hour. He called the test "completely, 100 per cent, successful." The firing, from Cape Carneval, Fla., was the third involving the Jupiter. Two of the previous tests were short-lived. One burned only 30 seconds and the other 90 seconds. Last September, a device developed as part of the Jupiter program, traveled some 3,000 miles at an undisclosed speed. The scientist who told today of the Army's potential capability of launching an earth satellite said the new missile was developed after the September firing. It is a special mission type not yet given a name. Like the Jupiter, it was assembled at the Army's Ballistic Missile Agency Laboratory at Huntsville, Ala. The new version the scientist said, is fully capable of hurling the earth satellite into an orbit around the earth.

Investigate Girard Case

Sen. Samuel Erwin (D-NC), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, poses with Sen. Ralph Flinders (R-Vt.), right, and Robert Dechert, center, Defense Department counsel, prior to an executive session of the committee in Washington, D. C. The committee started closed hearings on whether the "facts justified the action taken" in the U. S. decision to let Japan try an American soldier, William C. Girard of Ottawa, Ill., on homicide charges in connection with the death of a Japanese woman.

Four Hurt In Sterling Wreck

STERLING CITY (SC) — Four Clovis, N.M., baseball players were injured when their station wagon overturned last night at the intersection of U.S. 87 and the Garden City Highway near here. Only one of the quartet was hurt seriously. He is Jack Mehl, who suffered a vertebrae fracture. He is in Sterling County hospital. Others injured and who have been discharged from the hospital were Jim Bailey, Gus Carmichael and Gerald Johnston. All four of the players are pitchers for the Clovis team in the Southwestern League. They were en route to Midland from Ballinger where they played baseball last night. There were four other players in the vehicle, but they were not hurt. The station wagon overturned on a curve right after it had turned onto State 158, the road from Sterling City to Garden City. Bert Haas, team manager, blamed the accident on an equipment trailer the car was pulling. Mehl was thrown from the car and landed on his back. Passengers not injured were Doug Kassay, Don Heidorn, Irv Sharp and Dick Dickey.

Smith Elected To TCCM Post

Wayne B. Smith, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce manager, was elected vice president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association at the group's annual meeting in Mineral Wells this week. Howard Hicks, Beaumont Chamber manager, was named president of the TCCMA, and Bill McCaleb, Oak Cliff C-C manager, was chosen as secretary-treasurer. Smith said date and place for the association's 1958 convention will be set by directors at a meeting during the Southwestern Chamber of Commerce institute in Dallas next month. Smith will attend. The Big Spring man is serving on the TCCMA board of directors previously.

Experiment Farm Bid Openings Set

Bids will be opened in Washington, D.C., June 21 on construction of a new office and laboratory building for the Department of Agriculture Experiment Station here, Dr. Earl Burnett, station superintendent, reported today. The building, to cover 4,320 square feet, is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $66,000. It will be of masonry construction, one story high, and will include six offices, soil physics laboratory, soil chemistry laboratory, seed processing and soil erosion laboratory and shop facilities. Bids already have been opened on three auxiliary buildings, but no contracts have been awarded, Dr. Burnett said. These are all steel structures for storage of equipment, tools, hay and grain. Low bids on the three totaled $15,423. Contracts are expected to be awarded in the next few days. The new facilities will replace structures destroyed by fire early last year, as well as provide more adequate office and research space for the experiment station. Dr. Burnett said most contractors have been sent copies of the plans and specifications for the work. Additional copies may be secured from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Research Service, Administrative Services Division, Contracting Section, Room 6115, South Building, Twelfth and Independence Aves. SW, Washington 25, D.C.

Jury No-Bills Mrs. Stripling

FORT WORTH — The Tarrant County Grand Jury refused yesterday to indict Mrs. Lois Stripling for the slaying of underworld character George (Jack) Nesbit. Nesbit, 52, was shot to death in Mrs. Stripling's apartment May 21. She admitted the shooting, police said, because she was afraid Nesbit was going to kill her when she suggested they stop seeing each other.

Ike Says Nuclear Bombs Are Cleaner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Into the great debate over radioactive contamination has come the statement of President Eisenhower that American weaponeers are cleaning up much of the fallout in smaller nuclear bombs and that the big H-bombs are clean for their size.

At his news conference yesterday, the President made two points:

1. The fallout (the by-products of fission and the activated debris, dust and mist) from the smaller weapons has been reduced by nine tenths.

2. The H-bomb, in proportion to its size, is probably one of the cleanest.

Eisenhower did not explain how this had been done.

However, in the instance of the H-bomb, there has been widespread speculation that the manner of producing the fusion process has been changed since the first devices were tested at the mid-Pacific proving grounds in the Marshall Islands.

The tremendous explosion in March 1954 — the "dirty bomb" which spewed contamination over thousands of square miles — presumably was a fission-fusion-fission setup. The original method of bringing about fusion entirely through the use of multimillion-degree heat from atomic fission appears to have been modified.

In no subsequent tests, including the latest thermonuclear series of 1956, did the amount of contamination approach that of the 1954 explosion.

A change in the components and structure of the H-bombs, however, was not altogether responsible. Subsequent bombs were smaller. The 1954 explosion is generally supposed to have been of about 15-megaton force, or the equivalent of energy released in the explosion of 15 million tons of conventional TNT. Subsequent tests did not exceed about 10 megatons.

Dependent Citizens Got A Helping Hand

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' dependent citizens got a helping hand from the 55th Legislature, but the voters who pick up the bills will have to ratify the proposed increased benefits.

In November, a special election will be held which could give the 226,000 persons on the old age rolls an automatic $2 a month more. At the same time voters will decide on broadening retirement and disability benefits for state employees.

A proposed constitutional amendment to allow the state to set up a medical care program for the old age pensioners will be submitted in November, 1958.

Another amendment giving a pension to the oldtime Texas Rangers who retired before 1938 will be offered then.

Effective Sept. 1, individuals 19 to 65 who are permanently and totally disabled will be eligible for a maximum monthly payment of $58. The law was adopted by the legislators after the proposal was approved at the polls last November.

John Winters, director of the State Welfare Department, said if the proposed constitutional amendment is okayed, a $3 increase will be paid beginning Dec. 1 to the needy aged, blind and dependent children. He said the average payment now was about $45 a month, with a maximum of $58. The new law would increase the top to $60 and average payments to $47.

It would boost the state cost from 42 million dollars a year to 47 million to allow Texas to take advantage of available federal money.

Actually, the amendment provides that the state may spend up to $25 a month—now $20—for each eligible person but only $21 is contemplated. This will eliminate any additional election if federal coffers are tilted later. Now the federal government cuts off its state matching program at the $60 level.

Present law limits state employee participation in a retirement plan to 5 per cent of the first $300 a month. This was drafted in 1945 when wages and prices were lower. The proposed amendment would knock out the $300 restriction.

It would enable the state to broaden retirement fund investments into corporate bonds such as permitted the university and teacher retirement systems. The proposal also would allow participation by elected as well as appointed officials, although there is now no plan to draft such legislation to cover elected officials.

Gordon Lloyd of the state employee retirement system said it was planned to reduce participation later to 4 1/2 per cent and would make the total state cost about the same. He said anyone who retires within 10 years after Sept. 1, 1958, may use either the new or old systems in calculating maximum payments.

The medical care amendment will apply only to those on the old age rolls who already have been screened as in need of outside assistance. Federal money totaling $3 a person would be matched equally with state money.

The $6 would not go to the individual. Instead, the total amount for all participants would be used in an "insurance type" fund in which whatever was needed could be drawn out to pay for medicine and doctor's bills.

A measure effective Sept. 1, 1958, provided the state retirement amendment is passed, will liberalize disability and death compensation benefits to employees hurt or killed in line of duty. At present a state employee, for instance, who gets drunk and is injured while driving a state vehicle gets the same benefits as a highway patrolman shot chasing a bank robber.

lected and appointed officials to have a retirement system. The lawmakers also voted to increase pensions for widows of Confederate veterans by $50 a month to $100 a month, and to lift from $200 to $300 a month the pension paid to the state's only surviving veteran of that war, Walter Williams of Franklin.

Salvation Army Building Is Refuge During Tornado Alert

By NITA HEDLESTON

In the event a tornado or flood strikes Big Spring, one of the first organizations to arrive at the scene would be the local corps of the Salvation Army.

This group, whose main purpose after a disaster would be to provide food, clothing and shelter, has already thrown open the doors of its building to furnish shelter for over 100 persons during two recent tornado alerts in Big Spring.

During the first alert, which began in the afternoon, a small number of mothers and children gathered in the basement of the Salvation Army headquarters. As the afternoon wore on and the alert was lifted, some of the mothers were still afraid to return to their homes so Mrs. Dexter Brazzale, wife of the captain of the local corps, prepared meals for 25 persons.

Later that night when another storm alert was issued, over 100 persons gathered in the basement which is able to hold from 150 to 200 occupants. During this time coffee and cocoa were served to the group, most of them mothers and children. The men waited outside scanning the skies for possible tornadoes.

Mrs. Brazzale said that the steel-reinforced basement would probably have been a reasonably safe place to be in case a tornado had hit.

"At least it would have been safer than the frame homes most of the people live in," she added.

If a tornado did hit, workers would be dispatched immediately to the disaster area to survey the damage and to find shelter for those made homeless. Once in a shelter they would be given something hot to eat.

In the event the Salvation Army building itself was destroyed, emergency kitchens would be set up near the destroyed area. Food would come from donations or be purchased from local funds. If the disaster covered a large area, food would have to be purchased by state funds. Some aid could probably be secured from Odessa when there is a regular canteen.

At the local Salvation Army an emergency supply of coffee and sugar is available and ready to go at a moment's notice. A portable device for making coffee is carried by workers when they enter the disaster area. Besides aid to storm victims, they see that patrolmen guarding the area are provided with hot coffee.

Some shelter could be provided in the Salvation Army Building and lodge which only has accommodations for 22. Additional shelter would probably be set up in large buildings such as a church.

Relief workers would be sent in from surrounding areas just as soon as word of the disaster reached them. A worker would be sent immediately from the Dallas headquarters.

Soviets Propose Nuclear 'Pledge'

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union has proposed to the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee that a first step toward disarmament include a "solemn pledge" not to use atomic weapons.

The official Soviet news agency Tass today reported the proposal was made by Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin during a closed meeting of the five-nation subcommittee here yesterday.

Informants said British Delegate Allan Noble countered that it is not "realistic" to try to abolish the use of atomic weapons through a simple pledge. He was said to have told the meeting such pledges are likely to be worthless unless they are backed by appropriate control and enforcement machinery.

The sources said Zorin then charged Noble with "going back on the words uttered by representatives of the Western countries in the subcommittee."

Storage, Pipeline Facilities For Odessa OK'd By CRMWD

Preparation of design and cost estimates on additional storage and pipeline facilities to serve Odessa was authorized by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District here Wednesday.

The board instructed S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, consulting engineer, to draft details for a second 50 million gallon terminal storage reservoir at Odessa. It was anticipated that this might be ready for construction by the first of 1958.

An additional pipeline from the Martin County pump station to transport water from Lake J. B. Thomas to Odessa also will be designed as a parallel to the existing 27-inch line. E. V. Spence, general manager, said that additional capital financing would be necessary to support this project.

Pumps and equipment for booster stations at Big Spring and in eastern Martin County are on hand and bids may be asked this month on construction of the pump stations, said Freese.

Spence was authorized by the board to negotiate with representatives of operators in the Reinecke oil pool for sale of surplus waters for repressuring purposes. The water would come from Lake J. B. Thomas and presumably be pumped through a separate pipeline some six miles to the pool. The district currently has repressuring contracts with SACROC and Sharon Ridge in Scurry County is entering into one with Monsanto (Lion). The Reinecke project, should it materialize, might call for a maximum of 750,000 gallons per day.

The final draft of an ordinance prohibiting the permanent anchoring of rafts or other floating devices more than 50 feet offshore was approved. This also included a ban on the use of metal, wooden or glass floats to mark the location of trolines, etc. Another section prohibited the dumping of trash on the lake. The ordinance would become effective five days after the date of the second publication of the regulation.

A resolution was adopted which would authorize the trustee to accept direct transfers from the operating revenues into the contingency fund, from whence they could be applied to the construction fund. The resolution covered an amount not to exceed $100,000. Such funds would be used, in effect, to replace construction funds expended for extensions and enlargements of the system not originally planned. The transfers would bring the construction fund back up to $440,000, the amount estimated to be needed for the installation of the booster pumping facilities between Lake J. B. Thomas and Odessa.

The land committee was authorized to continue studies concerning supplemental supplies to ground water reserves. Freese reported on the washout of the main supply line west of Big Spring on Buzzard Draw and of the near washout at Sulphur Draw. He said that a trestle might be constructed to guard against a recurrence of this but that such a project might cost $50,000.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Urges Disaster Warning System

Dear Editor:

It is my hope that you will not consider this letter as indicative that I am to be considered an alarmist, but it seems to me that there should be some "alert" signal devised to warn all the inhabitants of Big Spring that disaster is impending.

I am referring, of course, to the general warning which was given over the television and radio stations last Friday night, that a tornado was headed toward Big Spring. Fortunately, there was no calamity but had there been, I am certain that many people would have been unprepared.

The principles of Civil Defense, about which we have heard so much and have seen in operation in some of our coastal areas in Texas, might well be observed in Big Spring during the tornado season each year.

Sirens Are Suggested

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regard to the formation of a tornado warning system for the Big Spring area. I sincerely believe that the public should have some way of being warned of the existence of tornadoes other than by radio and television.

It is my belief that such a system could possibly be worked out by the use of sirens such as were used during the war for air-raids. This could be very effective as well as inexpensive, and could possibly save a great many lives.

Your consideration of this letter would be greatly appreciated by this writer as well as many others I am sure.

Very truly yours,
Bert Affleck

Wants Action Against Vandals

Dear Editor:

I own my home here at 410 Willa Street and have lived there for the past 27 years. I thought I was living in a nice neighborhood until over a year ago.

I found out differently, for prowlers have been molesting me once a week. They have ruined my cement porch floors, poured some kind of stain on the floors. Also they sprayed something on the columns and on the walls and washed the paint off.

They sprayed something on the trees and shrubs and killed them. I think something should be done about it. I'm a widow and I tend to my own business and bother no one.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Glenn Whitis, the Howard Payne College coach, has turned down an offer to become the basketball mentor at Midland, even though it meant a raise in pay.

The coach of the highly successful Buna team, whose name escaped me at the moment, has also passed up an opportunity to become the Midland mentor.

Ray Robinson, the boxing champion, is called Le Sucre (The Sweet One) in France and His Sugarship in England.

Chuck Davey, the one-time fisticuffer, has made a mint of money selling insurance, they say.

Attendance and betting records continue to be set at Ruidoso Downs in New Mexico, which opened its 1957 season recently.

More than 4,000 persons showed up opening day and they shovled $159,496 through the windows, compared to $127,000 for opening day last year.

More and more Big Springers are finding Ruidoso a welcome place to spend a weekend.

Robert Delgado, a promising eager in the local high school, has moved back to Ohio. He was a sophomore last season.

Jerry Barron and Charles Johnson, the local athletes who attended Schreiner Institute last season, don't know where they'll land, now that the Mountaineers have abandoned football.

Pat McMurry, a heavyweight who rarely fights out of his native Washington, may get a chance in the ring with Floyd Patterson if the champion knocks off Tommy Patterson.

McMurry's only loss has been at the hands of Willie Pastrano.

Curtis Kelley, the newest coach on the Big Spring football staff, twice won the heavyweight boxing championship in the Regional tournament at Amarillo while in college at West Texas State.

Time, the robber, wings ahead.

Do you realize it's been 16 years since Lou Gehrig, the famed Iron Horse of baseball, exited from this world?

Though professional baseball is experiencing rocky going in West Texas this year, I still think it would be a success in Big Spring and other cities where it has failed if the promoters would get their feet on the ground.

An all-rounder circuit would stand a good chance of succeeding. The major leagues seem inclined to back such ventures quicker than they do the B leagues, which use too many "over-the-hill" players.

Such a circuit could begin its season no sooner than June 1 and play no more than 100 or 110 games.

And the fans should be given a break — gaining admittance for no more than 20 cents.

The public still likes the game but not on the terms some of the promoters are trying to dictate to them.

Tom Eastland, the Odessa scribe, said Eugene Walker, the former Big Spring, was the best player on the field although his Pecos team lost to Snyder, 4-3, in that all-important bi-district game in Pecos last week.

Pecos lost, with Walker on the hill, but five errors betrayed him.

IMPROVE ON FINISH

Wichita Club Out To Double Gate

By FRANK TIFFANY

WICHITA, KAN. (AP) — Lynn Stone, general manager of the Wichita Braves, cheerfully reports the parent Milwaukee Braves have two goals for Wichita's second season in Triple-A ball.

"First, to improve the seventh place finish of last season and, second, to at least double the 1956 attendance of 107,000."

And Stone figures Wichita stock took a big jump with assignment of manager Ben Geraghty, "one of the winningest managers in the minor leagues."

Milwaukee officials estimated at the outset it would take 300,000 fans yearly to make Wichita a success at the gate. Now, after a year's operation, the break-even estimate is 250,000.

About 103,000 fans turned out for the 1956 season — the last for Wichita in the Class A Western League.

The parent club barely missed the National League pennant and drew more than two million fans last year. Except for Wichita, Milwaukee's farm system had baseball's best record. Seven of 15 farm clubs won pennants.

That's good news for Wichita fans, says Stone, because "it means player help is on the way."

"On our roster are such fellows as Harry Hanerink, third baseman who hit 20 homers and batted .307; Joe Koppe at short and Bob Malkmus on second.

For pitchers we have Corky Valentine, a 16-game winner at Atlanta, Joe Jay, Phil Paine, Carl Wiley, Charlie Gorin and Don McMahon.

"Added to this is Geraghty. He brings to Wichita a winning habit. In the past four years as Jacksonville, Fla., manager in the Class A Sally League, Ben won three pennants and finished second. Last year his team won the playoffs and the All-Star game.

"We want Wichita 1-2-3 all season. We won 21 of our first 30 games to reach the top, and that's where we think we'll remain."

LYNN STONE

SAN ANGELO (SC) — San Angelo's city recreation department will sponsor a three-day eight-team softball tournament beginning Thursday.

Entries include the Cosden Oilers of Big Spring, Sterling City, Midland National Bank, Ozona, and four San Angelo teams — Corner Rexall Drug and the Church League All-Stars. Three players from each of the five church league teams compose the all-stars.

The All-Stars and Salvato kick off the tourney at 7:30 p.m. Thursday while Smith's and Corner Rexall follow at 9:15 a.m.

Friday night Sterling City and Big Spring meet in the first game with Ozona and Midland tangling in the 9:15 nightcap.

Semifinals are set Saturday afternoon with the third place and championship game ticketed Friday night.

All games will be played at Rotary Field on North Van Buren Street.

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas League was down 52,889 in attendance for the first quarter, president Dick Butler announced today.

For 140 games in the first six weeks of the campaign this year there were 200,220 in attendance while a like number of games last year drew 253,109.

Dallas was up 1,456, Oklahoma City 3,264, and San Antonio 1,215 but Austin showed a loss of 18,689, Fort Worth 22,661, Houston 2,244, Shreveport 9,518 and Tulsa 5,582.

Garrett Shatters Corpus Record

CORPUS CHRISTI, (AP) — John Garrett, sandy-haired ex-Rice golfer from Houston was the talk of the Texas Amateur Golf Tournament here today as he shot a seven-under-par 64 to break the Corpus Christi County Club record in first-round action.

Garrett defeated Jimmy Greenwood, also of Houston, but was a hitting so well he tried for the course mark of 64 and succeeded. Garrett scored seven birdies and no bogeys. A missed 18-inch putt on No. 16 would have given him a 63 but his final score was enough to establish him as a favorite in the tournament.

CABOT CARBON BUMPED OFF THE FLICKS, 6-0, in the only American Little League baseball game played here Wednesday evening.

The contest between the Cubs and the Pigs was called off due to a power failure.

The Cabot team got all its run in two innings — the second and the fourth.

W. Lovell, B. Lovell and Dick Spier each collected two hits for Cabot.

Neal Robinson, Cabot's hurler, set the Flicks down with one hit.

SUL ROSS WONNER IN NATA OPENER

ALPINE (AP) — Western Illinois State, Rollins College, Buena Vista and Sul Ross won opening round games in the NATA Baseball Tournament here Wednesday.

Western Illinois nosed Southwestern Oklahoma 13-12, Rollins downed College of the Ozarks, 9-7, Buena Vista eliminated Lincoln University 9-8, while host Sul Ross whipped William Jewell 9-2.

In the semifinals today Western Illinois State meets Rollins while Buena Vista battles Sul Ross.

Yankees Lose Berra But Bounce Indians

Is it only Cleveland's beat-up pitching staff that makes the New York Yankees look good, or have the world champions finally decided to cut the comedy and get down to business in the American League pennant race?

It wasn't until they quit home and pulled into Cleveland that the Yankees managed to regain any kind of an attack, running up 20 runs on 28 hits in two games. The champs had scored only 20 runs in the previous six games—against tallenders Baltimore and Washington—and had lost four of them.

Then they started swinging against the Injuns' weary staff, over-worked with the loss of injured Herb Score and Bob Lemon and without a complete game since May 26. Manager Kerby Farrell has used rookies and relievers as starters in an effort to find help for veterans Earl Wynn and Mike Garcia, but without much success.

Wynn has had as much as a three-day rest before only one of his last four starts, and he got that only because of a day off in the schedule. And Garcia, scheduled to face the Yanks this afternoon, has made three of his last four starts with only two days in between.

Wynn lost his sixth last night as the Yankees unloaded four home runs and 16 hits for a 13-3 breeze. It was their third in a row, but left them five games behind the first-place Chicago White Sox and also left them without catcher Yogi Berra, who suffered a fractured nose when a foul tip broke his mask.

The White Sox kept their surprising pace, winning 19 of 24—with a 6-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Detroit moved into a fourth-place tie with Boston by defeating Washington 3-2 in 11 innings. Kansas City defeated Baltimore 3-2.

In the National, Cincinnati's Redlegs cooled off Philadelphia 4-2 in 11 innings for a two-game lead. The Phils slipped to third, 2½ back, as Brooklyn took over second with a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Fourth-place Milwaukee, three games behind, beat New York 9-8 in a game that had nine home runs, six by the Giants. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 5-1.

Ed Furgol, 1954 National Open champion and winner here last year, played 30 holes today and pronounced the 6,820-yard, par-71 Firestone Country Club layout in perfect shape for the four-day medal play test.

Missing from the field were such stars as Jack Burke, Sam Snead, Ben Hogan, Dr. Cary Midcoff and Jim Demaret, all of whom are at Toledo for practice rounds preceding next week's National Open.

On hand, however, were such stars as Tommy Bolt, the hot-tempered club-thrasher who won three years ago with 265; Henry Ransom, who triumphed in 1955 with 272; Lloyd Mangrum, former National Open champion; Doug Ford winner of the Masters; and Denny Shute, 52-year-old Akron veteran.

Shute, who won the PGA championship twice and the British Open once in the early '30s, fired a 62 last week over his home course at the Akron Potrage Country Club.

Three Field Producers Added For Eastern Howard County

Three new wells have been added to two fields in the eastern part of Howard County.

Two of them are in the Snyder pool and the other in the Lamesa East Howard field. Fleming, Fleming, and Kimball opened the Snyder wells, the Nos. 22-E and 33-B Snyder. Magnolia finished the Lamesa well, the No. 2 Georgia Bell.

Borden

In Dawson, Humble No. 1 R. E. Britt, a wildcat five and a half miles northwest of Lamesa, plugged back from 10,584 to 8,240 feet for tests. Operator found slight shows of oil on tests from 8,196-227 feet.

Wednesday's bright sunshine was welcomed by scores of Howard County farmers who are eager to get into their fields and plant their crops.

Thursday's bright promise of drying weather when the day dawned were diminished to some extent by noon when clouds rolled in, but farmers were still hopeful that the rains will take a respite long enough to permit the fields to dry out enough to work.

The deadline for planting is near but not dangerously so, Taylor said, but the farmers are naturally impatient to plant and take advantage of the current season in the ground.

The five-day forecast by the U. S. Weather Bureau, however, was not one to encourage any immediate prospects of possible planting activity.

These individuals contributed the bulk of the prison population during the month.

The sheriff reported that five burglaries were investigated by his deputies in May and two were listed as solved.

Four aggravated assault cases were handled by the office and one case involving theft over $50 was investigated.

The Pennsylvanian discovery is 646 from south and 1,972 from east lines, 275-97, H&TC Survey, eight miles east of Lamesa. Gravity was 42.3 degrees instead of 38.3.

Only a few farmers were able to get at the work and these were in areas where rain was slightly lower than in the bulk of the county.

FHA Farm Loans Exceed $446,000

More than $446,819 has been loaned to farmers in Howard and Glasscock counties during the 10 months ended April 30, 1957 by Farmers Home Administration, the agency's county supervisor, Fred T. Ross, has announced.

The heaviest demand has been for credit to finance the purchase of seeds, fuel, repairs, labor, family living expense and other necessary farm operation expense. One farm housing loan is included in this total, and one soil and water loan for irrigation equipment was insured by the FHA in the amount of $20,875.

During this same 10-month period, Farmers Home Administration extended operating, emergency and real estate loans to some 18,500 Texas farmers and ranchers for a total of $54,773,000, the state director, Walter T. McKay, reported. This is an increase over the same period last year of about $6,500,000.

"This increase is due primarily to the demand from family-type farmers for credit needed to place their farming operations on an efficient basis," McKay explained. "In fact, agency records reveal that there has been a slight decline in the demand for emergency credit so far this year. Long-term credit, to develop balanced systems and make full use of resources available, has been extended to a number of operators of family-type farms who previously obtained emergency loan assistance."

McKay and members of his staff are meeting this week with National Administrator Kermit Hansen, to go over agency operations for next year. This meeting is preparatory to training meetings to be held for county office staffs throughout the state.

LAMESA — A suit asking $30,000 damages has been filed by W. A. Ward, Andrews, against Cactus Drilling Corporation of Texas. Ward, an oil well driller, maintained in his petition filed in the 10th District Court, that he had been discharged by Cactus for union activities.

The suit named D. Frank Garrett, Midland, as co-defendant. Ward's petition claimed that Cactus, a well known oil well driller, had hired him to drill a well for Cactus. Ward claimed that he was discharged because he (Ward) was a member of the union. He asked $10,000 actual damages and $20,000 punitive damages.

The litigation grew out of incidents surrounding the May 5 attempt to shut down three rigs in southwestern Borden County. At that time, Garrett said that a number of cars, driving bumper to bumper, encircled one of the Cactus rigs on the T. J. Good lease in Borden County. Occupants of the car came upon the derrick floor and mouthed curses and threats at crew members, he continued.

O. W. Clark, Odessa, a district organizer for the International Union of Operating Engineers, denied this. He said the people were protesting "unsafe" working conditions. Later, some 17 pickets, said to be union members, carried signs at entrances to the road for several days. Rangers and Borden County officers were on the scene to prevent trouble.

Ward contended, according to his petition, that three of the crew members left when the incident first occurred, but that he had stayed by himself until the morning crew came on. He alleged he was discharged later.

Suit Results From Oil Field Dispute

LAMESA — A suit asking $30,000 damages has been filed by W. A. Ward, Andrews, against Cactus Drilling Corporation of Texas. Ward, an oil well driller, maintained in his petition filed in the 10th District Court, that he had been discharged by Cactus for union activities.

The suit named D. Frank Garrett, Midland, as co-defendant. Ward's petition claimed that Cactus, a well known oil well driller, had hired him to drill a well for Cactus. Ward claimed that he was discharged because he (Ward) was a member of the union. He asked $10,000 actual damages and $20,000 punitive damages.

The litigation grew out of incidents surrounding the May 5 attempt to shut down three rigs in southwestern Borden County. At that time, Garrett said that a number of cars, driving bumper to bumper, encircled one of the Cactus rigs on the T. J. Good lease in Borden County. Occupants of the car came upon the derrick floor and mouthed curses and threats at crew members, he continued.

O. W. Clark, Odessa, a district organizer for the International Union of Operating Engineers, denied this. He said the people were protesting "unsafe" working conditions. Later, some 17 pickets, said to be union members, carried signs at entrances to the road for several days. Rangers and Borden County officers were on the scene to prevent trouble.

Bar Speaker

Herbert Brucker, editor of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant, said to be the oldest newspaper of continuous publication in America, will address the Texas Bar Association's annual meeting July 4-8 at Fort Worth. Bar President Newton Gresham, Houston, said Brucker will speak on "The Free Trial versus the Free Press." His address will be at the annual banquet the evening of July 5. Brucker is chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Two Rifles And Bookcase Lost

A rifle and a bookcase were stolen here Tuesday night. Lloyd Henry, Murphy Trailer Courts, told police that a .22 caliber rifle was stolen from his car sometime Tuesday night. He said the car was parked on Lamesa Drive at the time.

Henry said he ran out of gas and left the car for a short time while going after some gas. When he returned the rifle was gone. Wayne Griffith, 1303 Mulberry, said he loaned a rifle to a man Wednesday but did not know where the man lived. Officers were asked to try to help locate the man.

A bookcase, measuring four and a half feet high, was taken from the 1103 W. 5th residence of Mrs. Leon Greenhill Tuesday night.

Weather Control May Come Out Of Geophysical Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scientists around the world soon will begin to collect information that will permit an intelligent approach to weather control, says the U.S. spokesman for the International Geophysical Year.

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, the spokesman, told the National Editorial Assn. last night. Dr. Kaplan is a professor of physics at the University of California at Los Angeles and U.S. chairman for IGY.

IGY is a cooperative effort by 39 nations to study simultaneously the surface and depths of the earth and the air above it. The project, which begins July 1 and lasts for 18 months, is far too big for any one nation and its aims can be carried out only by a united effort of all the countries involved. Russia and her satellites are co-operating.

The possible means for controlling weather will come from global studies of how the earth receives and gives off heat from the sun; how great air masses move from one area to another; how cosmic rays and other powerful forces affect the atmosphere and in turn work their influences on all living things.

The Big Spring A&M Club will hold its annual barbecue tonight at 7:15 p.m. The affair will be held in the amphitheatre in City Park.

Thieves Take Boat, Trailer

Thieves took a 12-foot boat and a trailer from 1313 E. 4th sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Sheriff Miller Harris said that Ben McCullough, operator of the establishment, discovered that the boat was gone when he opened his place for business Thursday.

The boat was a Lone Star model painted white. It's value was $365. To cart the boat away, the thieves took a Tee-Nee Trailer, painted yellow. The trailer was valued at $126.

Leon Smith, U.S. Chamber of Commerce representative from Dallas, was back in Big Spring today to resume his efforts to sell subscriptions to the magazine, "Nation's Business."

Smith was arrested by police after he was reported soliciting funds to "lower the national debt" early this week. He was released, however, after police checked with local Chamber of Commerce officials and the U.S. C-C office in Dallas.

Wayne Smith, local Chamber of Commerce manager, explained today that the salesman's sole objective here is the sale of subscriptions to the magazine.

The local manager said the project is approved by the Big Spring Chamber.

He explained that all solicitors or salesmen which receive local sanction are registered at the Chamber. Residents who have doubts concerning the activities of such persons should contact the Chamber to see if they are registered, he said.

No identification or "authorization" papers are issued by the Chamber, for fear that they might fall into unauthorized hands, Smith said.

However, city ordinances require that vendors secure permits from the police department for place-to-place solicitation.

Uncle Roy:

Mississippi-Missouri Ranks First In Length

By RAMON COFFMAN

The Nile River was flowing through Egypt 5,000 years ago, when people of that land led the world in the arts of life. The Nile still flows today, and no doubt it will live for thousands of years to come.

Another mighty river, the Amazon, exists in South America. It has the largest basin of all rivers on earth. But it is not the longest. Rising in the Andes Mountains, and flowing clear across Brazil, it pours a vast amount of water into the South Atlantic. On the average it gives 527 cubic miles of water to the ocean each year!

Geographers do not agree about the exact length of the Nile or the Amazon. An average of their figures would place the length of the Nile at about 4,000 miles and the length of the Amazon at about 3,900 miles.

The Mississippi River is at the center of one of the great drainage systems of the earth. To the east it has the important arm known as the Ohio River. To the west it has the still mightier Missouri. No one has ever added up the lengths of all the rivers and creeks which belong to the Mississippi system. If that were done, the total would run into tens of thousands of miles.

Each creek, each tiny brook, carries water to a larger stream, also hits of soil. Rain comes down, snow melts, and the water sinks into the ground, or flows down hill on its way to a river, lake or ocean.

The load which the Mississippi carries is almost beyond belief. During a single year, it dumps 300 cubic miles of sand and mud into the Gulf of Mexico! If this material could be shaped into pyramids, it would form 360,000 like the Great Pyramid of Gizeh in a year!

The Missouri River is the longest branch of the Mississippi, and the true length of the mighty river may best be found by measuring from the headwaters of the Missouri. Often the river is called the Mississippi - Missouri, and its length is about 4,250 miles.

Family Is Hidden From Extortionists

KAMAKURA, Japan (AP)—An American has hidden his two sons with friends and erected a barbed wire barricade to protect the rest of his family from extortionists he says threatened to cut his children "into little pieces."

Douglas F. Scott of Los Angeles, former child movie actor and now a civilian employe at the U. S. Navy base at Yokosuka, said in a public appeal for police protection today that the extortionists are demanding 3,120,000 yen—$8,350.

Navy investigators and Japanese police in this resort town adjoining Yokosuka said they have been trying without success to track down the culprits since Scott reported a threatening phone call to his Honolulu-born Japanese wife May 27.

Scott, 33, said he appealed to the Japanese police for protection as soon as the threats began. The police guarded the home he rents here for the first few days, but now only send patrols by every hour.

two weeks ago," said his distraught wife Midori, 31.

Mrs. Scott said a letter the next day demanding the money, another phone call and the sound of footsteps outside the couple's bedroom window followed the first threat. She told this story to newsmen:

The first telephone call was made by a man speaking English in a low voice "like some Japanese trying to act like a foreigner."

"My name is Graziano," the man told her. "Your husband knows me. You will get a letter tomorrow. Unless you comply we will cut your children into little pieces."

The letter was addressed in Japanese characters clipped from a newspaper. Inside were two pages ripped from an old copy of an American news magazine. Mrs. Scott said words had been underlined to make a message reading: "Prepare 3,120,000 yen in cash. Put ad in Japan Times (an English-language newspaper) stating you want to buy a zirate on June 14."

The word Zirate appeared to have been chosen indiscriminately. It was from an article on the magazine's music page telling of the appointment of Bruno Zirato as managing director of the Philharmonic Symphony Society of New York.

"We haven't been able to sleep since the telephone rang almost

Salk Vaccine Plentiful, Few Calls For Shots

For those who look, Salk polio vaccine is not hard to find, but there are not too many looking. This is the consensus at local hospitals. A check of hospitals showed that the stream of persons to the hospital for polio vaccine is steady but not large. Only at one hospital, Big Spring, has there been any increase in the number of persons desiring shots lately. At Big Spring Hospital, officials reported that an increase had been shown during the past three weeks. Otherwise, the hospitals reported the Salk business very steady. Officials at Cowper Hospital reported that the medical profession was still urging every eligible person to take the shots. By eligible is meant anyone under the age of 40. Some persons above this age have taken shots here. Especially urged to take the shots are persons under the age. The City-County Health Unit had a large group to take shots the last Friday before the end of school, but it was because boys and girls were getting out of school and wanted to take their shots before start of the summer. On that day, May 24, a total of 154 shots was given. The health unit gives shots free to members of indigent families. None of the hospitals here reported any trouble getting or keeping Salk vaccine. Malone-Hogan Hospital reported its supply had gotten low on one or two occasions, but the supply had never run out. Price of the vaccine has remained constant since it was placed on the commercial market here. Each shot is $5, and three injections are recommended, the second a month after the first, and the third six months after the second.

Pre-Race Runs Set For C-City Derby Entrants

COLORADO CITY — M. N. Caddell, Colorado City Soap Box Derby chairman, has announced that Colorado City's 19 entries in the Big Spring Derby will be given a pre-race tryout on June 21.

The races, sponsored by the Colorado City Lions Club, will be held on Fourth Street, north of the Methodist church, Caddell said.

"All entries in the Colorado City Derby are eligible to participate in the Big Spring Soap Box Derby July 4," Caddell said. "The Colorado City races will not be official but the winners will get local prizes."

The winner of the Big Spring races will be eligible to enter the All-American Soap Box Derby at Akron, Ohio, and the winner of the national Derby will receive a college scholarship and free vacation in Europe.

The entrants are sponsored by merchants or organizations who supply part of the construction expense of the racing vehicle.

Webb Toastmasters Will Attend 5-State Conference

Members of the Big Spring Toastmasters Club are making plans to attend the five-state Conference and Speech Contest of Toastmasters International in Oklahoma City June 8. Attending from here will be Maj. Edward M. Schlieter, (president of the Webb club and area governor), and Maj. James Vogel. A full day's schedule of officer training sessions on conference techniques, parliamentary procedures, and panel discussions, is set for Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. Dr. R. M. Craton of Oklahoma City is chairman of the meet.

The Big Spring Toastmasters Club is one of 101 throughout the state. Oklahoma has 40 clubs and New Mexico is the seat of 20. Several additional clubs from Arkansas and Louisiana are also affiliated in the five-state zone.

Scheduled to be held in the Central YMCA at Oklahoma City, a feature of the meeting will be the speech contests that will send winners to the national convention at Dallas 22-23-24 August.

The international director, J. O. Grantham of Waco, will give the educational keynote talk, followed by officer's training sessions. While the noon break will be highlighted by a "fun luncheon" interspersed with humorous speeches.

At the evening session, international director George J. Mucey, Washington, Pa., will serve as toastmaster. The program will conclude with the final speech contests and judging.

Toastmasters International is a non-profit, educational organization with 2,425 active clubs in the U.S. and 26 foreign countries. The first group was organized in 1924 at Santa Ana, Calif.

Graham Lashes Race Prejudice

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who looks down on another human being because of his color, Billy Graham says, is sinning against God.

"The heart of all men is the same in God's sight, despite the shape of their physique or the color of the skin," he told a crowd of 18,000 at Madison Square Garden last night.

He said God spurns the "prejudice and bigotry that I fear many often have even in the churches today."

Jess-Talkin

by Jess Blair

Ernest Box was in town yesterday morning hunting cotton seed for a third planting. He is working two farms in the Elbow community and said his cotton had come up twice to a good stand, only to be washed out. Water is still standing on some fields and will be several days in drying out, even if no more rain falls.

Hardly anyone has a crop started in that area, with the exception of C. V. Hewett, who managed to plant at just the right time to get a stand on his irrigated field.

Box says cotton planted the middle of June may make a crop and it may not. If we get rains in October a lot of it may never mature.

Mitchell County is wetter than Howard and Martin counties, if that is possible. Milton Stinson, area supervisor of the FHA with offices at Colorado City, says the county is probably muddier than it has ever been.

Stinson gives an interesting sidelight on the early day farming in Mitchell County. The idea of each family living on 160-acres which was brought here from farther east and never proved workable.

"The oldtimers in Mitchell County say that 640 acres was considered an economic unit at one time," said Stinson. "They would have a 100 acres or so in cropland and the rest in pasture."

Incidentally, not many 160-acre farms are left in this 11-county area, and families living on these small farms usually supplement their income from outside sources.

At least two county agents, Gerald Hanson of Stanton and Don Fields of Lamesa, say the extenslon service is expecting a heavy insect infestation this summer. They say the first pests out will be thrips, lice and fleashoppers. Ordinarily these tiny insects attack cotton in the four-leaf stage, but Fields says he has seen them out in large numbers as soon as the plants emerge.

He says a lot of farmers often pay little attention to these insects and as a result lose part of a cotton crop. The Lubbock Field Station has found that early season control will save enough cotton to pay for several years' of poisoning.

Midland County is nearly always drier than Howard and Martin, but this year it may be a blessing. Farmers in east Midland County have most of their cotton up, particularly in the Valley View community.

Also some crops were reported in northwest Glasscock County in the area south of Stanton. Until a day or so ago, some of that area had received only four or five inches of rain.

The cantaloupe project for Martin County has been delayed but won't be stopped, according to several people in Stanton. Quite an acreage has been planted and some of it is up to a stand.

Woodford Sale has 90 acres in the old Hadacol community southeast of Midland, with about 60 acres already in bloom. Bernard Houston has 30 acres. He said that cantaloupes are a hardy crop, and the seeds came on through several inches of washed-in sand, and even pushed through a surface crust. Everyone is planting the same kind of seed, he said. It is called No. 45 and is supposed to be resistant to honey dew.

Houston has been over quite a lot of the area between Stanton and Garden City and says one reason the lakes are not filling up any faster is because the pastures are beginning to hold up the water. "They're covered with weeds," he said, "and have formed such a mat of vegetation that the water doesn't run off as fast as it did a few weeks ago."

Houston says the grass is coming along fine now, but not many ranchers in his area are in a hurry to have it grazed down. He thinks that it will be at least fall before there is any general increase of livestock on ranges. There will be quite a lot of cattle put on sudan and other planted pastures, though, if farmers can get the animals.

I've been told that sorghum alum seed couldn't be found anywhere. However, Floyd Smith, manager of the Stanton Chemical and Seed Company, says he has been able to locate all the store

The Texas calf ropers have nailed down the first three places in the latest R. C. A. Point Award Standings. Herchel Romine, a Howard County boy, is in third place with 5,494. He is led by Don McLaughlin of Smithville who has 9,709 points and Ray Wharton of Bandera in second place with 6,296.

Jim Shoulters of Oklahoma is far in the lead as the best all-around cowboy with 11,000 points. Casey Tibbs, several times a world champion, took off enough time from his TV and movie appearances to nail down first place in the saddle bronc riding with 4,952 points.

Several of these top performers are expected to be on hand for the Big Spring Rodeo, according to Charley Creighton. Since it comes on the heels of the Midland show, many of the boys will enter both rodeos.

The rains have been coming often enough for a few wet-weather jokes to start circulating. Here are a few I heard recently: The roads are so muddy that some farmers can't get to town to pick up their drought relief checks. . . One man had been having trouble with his feet and finally went to the hospital. The doctor found the man's toes were growing webs. . . Another man reported seeing a toad frog learning how to swim.

A farmer near Lenora had found some strange weeds growing in the field. He carried them to an expert who said they were rice

Phone Company Names New Manager For District

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has announced the appointment of a new district manager for Midland.

J. D. Chowning, division manager for the company, announced that Fred D. Kester, district commercial superintendent, will be the new district manager for the Midland area.

He succeeds Floyd C. Reed who has resigned to enter business. Kester came to Midland in June of 1956, from Wichita Falls where he was district commercial superintendent. Reed has been in Midland since June of 1954, and has been district manager since 1956.

Kester attended schools in Lawrence, Kan. and is a graduate of the University of Kansas where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

That same day a salesman was in Stanton selling positions to be installed on tractors. A farmer who hadn't got a rain for awhile told a friend in Big Spring: "Up in my neighborhood, we've been in a four-day drought." And a rancher commenting on the condition of his pasture said: "The cows had never seen any green grass and refused to eat it. For the first two weeks I had to put brown glasses on them to keep them from starving to death."

New School To Be Finished Aug. 15

STANTON — The high school building and gymnasium will be completed sooner than expected, according to Ed Robnett, president of the Stanton school board. Robnett says that at the present rate of progress, the entire plant will be finished by Aug. 15, and be ready for classes in September. The school will be operated on an eight-four basis, with the four high school grades to be housed in the new building. The grade school will occupy the old building. Included in the new school is a separate agriculture building, which was at first deleted from the plans.

REFRESHMENT TIME
... B. Broadrick Family

Mrs. Broadrick Gives Refreshing Desserts

Quantity is required when there are three growing children around, but quality hasn't been disregarded in the brownie recipe Mrs. B. Broadrick gives for today's readers.

It's certainly a favorite with the three Broadrick children, Ronald, 6, Linda, 5, and Ingrid, 2. According to Mrs. Broadrick "this recipe makes enough for the west end of town." And it's probably needed!

BROWNIES

9 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 bars of butter (¾ pound)
1½ cups sifted flour
3 cups sugar
6 eggs, well beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
1½ chopped walnuts or pecans

Method:
Melt chocolate and butter in large double boiler and stir until blended. Remove from fire and add sugar; when mixed add flour, eggs, vanilla, salt and walnuts. Stir until mixed thoroughly.

Pour into three well buttered 8 by 10 pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until edges begin to come away from side of pan. Cut in squares.

Summer wouldn't be summer without delicious, light and fluffy desserts featuring strawberries. Here's the nominee with the Broadricks.

Iced Tea Plays Nutrition Role

During the summer iced tea plays an important role in health and nutrition.

According to Dr. Norman Jolliffe, Director, Bureau of Nutrition, New York City Department of Health, the body loses from 2½ to 4 quarts of water daily during the hot summer months; and as much as 10 quarts in cases of extreme heat.

It is Dr. Jolliffe's opinion that on hot days, most people eat less and drink more. That's why it is important to know just what you can nutritionally afford to drink. Most 6-oz. glasses of sweet or carbonated beverages contain from 65 to 100 calories. This may not sound like a lot, but if you drink 6 to 8 glasses of such a beverage daily you add 400 to 600 calories you could ordinarily do without.

Among the summer beverages Dr. Jolliffe recommends are those that do not impair the appetite or add unnecessary calories to your daily requirements. Water, carbonated water with a dash of lemon and iced tea are non-filling, non-fattening, thirst-quenching beverages, and are at the top of the list.

It is interesting to note that not only is iced tea among the few selected beverages, but also one of the most economical—next to water.

½ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup shredded process cheese

Method:
Broil steaks according to directions given on package. While steaks are broiling, pan-fry green pepper in butter. Stir in the chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and cheese. Heat slowly and stir until cheese is melted. Top broiled steaks with hot sauce.

Steaks Are Favorite Fare For Dad's Day

Climax Dad's Day with Dad's favorite feast; a steak dinner.

Whether your family celebrates indoors or out, sirloin strip steaks will surely please the head of the family. Choose the frozen variety of steaks, and you can count on results that will do you proud.

Sirloin strip steaks sometimes appear on fine restaurant menus as "New York" cut steaks. Now, through the modern miracle of frozen foods, it's possible for the average shopper to buy the same cut of steaks formerly available only in special dining establishments.

Beef tenderloins, or "filet mignons," are also available in the frozen form for elegant feasting at home.

Frozen strip steaks, like all frozen meat items packaged by the world's leading meat packer, are selected from only top quality beef and then aged for tenderness. To further insure tenderness, representative steaks are panel-tested before they are frozen.

There are two thicknesses of frozen strip steaks available, one weighing one-half pound each, and the other, three-quarters of a pound each so that you can shop according to the heartiness of the family's appetite. So that even the novice can prepare frozen strip steaks with assured results, complete cooking directions for the frozen or thawed state are given right on the package.

A Bible Thought For Today

Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. (Romans 12:20)

In Whittling, Who Gets The Shavings?

It is no secret that the trend in the last two decades has been toward bigger and bigger aggregations of industrial power, contrary to the spirit if not the letter of the anti-trust act. Some have held that this was an evil per se, in that it choked competition and encouraged monopolistic practices. Even where no direct effort was made to freeze out and absorb competitors the effect was the same, for it is the nature of business, like the heavenly bodies, to be attracted to larger and larger industrial and financial solar systems.

The Supreme Court's decision this week that Du Pont violates the anti-trust laws by control of 23 per cent of GM stock may constitute a landmark in this type of judicial determinism. In doing so it reversed a U. S. District Court in Chicago, but it will be up to the district court to say how much GM stock Du Pont must sell to purge itself of the charge.

Wall Street was interested primarily in this aspect of the case. How must stock be disposed of, and into whose hands will it go? Will the stock simply be distributed among Du Pont stockholders or thrown on the general market? Will the transferred stock then be subject to taxation as dividend income? Would Du Pont recipients then be subject to a capital gains tax?

In any case these and many other questions won't be cleared up until the district court implements the high court's decision, and there was a feeling that this might take considerable time.

How the decision will affect other great aggregations of industrial wealth and power also is a matter of speculation and uncertainty. Offhand it seems odd that ownership of a mere 23 per cent of a corporation's stock constitutes control of that corporation, but control is not a matter of stock ownership merely, it is a matter of interlocking directorates, management practices and concealed manipulations.

The sheer size and potential influence of the Du Pont corporate aggregation are staggering in their implications. Although it owns only 23 per cent of GM stock, that ownership involves more than 64 million shares valued at almost two and three-quarter billion dollars.

But if the power of Du Pont is so great, how about the enormous breadth and scope of the corporation it allegedly controls with less than a 25 per cent stock ownership?

There, verily, is an industrial solar system all by itself.

We Can't Complain Of Rain

Then there was the earnest young preacher who, in his prayer, acknowledged how grateful the people were for the breaking of the drought, but offered the suggestion that a succession of sunny days would be thankfully received.

How right he was. If he had attacked the raining, it wouldn't have been worth the farmer's time to plant anything, not to mention the waste of seed and labor.

But a super-plus of moisture is holding up the planting and causing the weeds to flourish. The saying, so familiar for seven years past, that if it doesn't rain tomorrow everything is lost has now given way to one of equal validity — if the sun doesn't shine tomorrow and the day after and a couple of weeks on top of that, everything is lost.

Well, not everything. The range is coming along great, including many millions of acres that some people thought would not come back for two or three years, and some feed crops will survive and make a big yield even if the rain continues longer.

But the continual rains are beginning to pinch, not to mention what they are doing by way of floods and overflows. Things may start to mildew, and all the windows are stuck and all the doors have to be readjusted to shut.

Creeks and rivers have reached record flood stages, and as of even date here with Abilene has received more rain this year than it received in any full year since 1950. But the overplus of rain isn't universal throughout Texas.

Still, who can be so short of memory as to forget our earnest prayers for rain and more rain. If it pleases the Lord to send more of it, let us receive it with gratitude. If, on the other hand, He sends sunshine, that will be a blessing probably far more than we deserve.

J. A. Livingston Anderson Inherits Treasury 'Mess'

George M. Humphrey may go down in the history of Republican administrations as a great Secretary of the Treasury. Certainly, President Eisenhower regards him as such. Yet, in cold statistics of Treasury finance, Humphrey will leave behind what some irreverent Wall Streeters call a "financial mess."

To say that Humphrey failed as Secretary of the Treasury is too hard. A failure is a person who has the tide with him and doesn't use it. The tide was against Humphrey.

When he first took office, he made it clear that too much of the federal debt was short-term—under five years. He was going to "lengthen it out." He selected W. Randolph Burgess from the powerful post of chairman of the executive committee of the First National City Bank of New York for that intractable task.

Here are the results:

Five years ago, in December 1952, just before President Eisenhower took office, 34.9 per cent of the marketable debt owned by banks, insurance companies, and other non-government investors was due in less than a year. Today (in February 1957), the percentage of debt due inside a year is exactly the same—34.9 per cent. No improvement there.

Five years ago, 25.3 per cent of the debt matured in one to five years. Today, 31.2 per cent. Deterioration. More debt is coming up for early refinancing.

Five years ago, 17.2 per cent of the debt matured in five to ten years. Today, 12.5 per cent. Again, deterioration. The proportion of longer-term debt is lower—exactly contrary to original intent.

Finally, five years ago, 22.5 per cent of the debt matured in more than ten years. Today, 21.4 per cent. A slight deterioration in the per cent of long maturities.

That's Robert B. Anderson's heritage as the incoming Secretary of the Treasury. Government maturities are closing in at a time when industrial corporations, public utilities, and state and local governments are calling for money. And the money market isn't exactly overflowing with cash-laden investors.

And Treasury financing costs are up. In December, 1952, government bonds were selling to yield 2.74 per cent. Today, if the Treasury had to borrow, it would have to pay about 3.5 per cent for long-term money. Interest costs, over six billion a year five years ago, now run to about 7 1/2 billion, a 25 per cent rise.

Humphrey was a dedicated servant to orthodoxy at a time when orthodoxy was costly. He was unwilling to pervert the Federal Reserve System into a Treasury handmaiden. He did not press the Reserve to buy Treasury bonds and so support the government market. That would have enabled the Treasury to sell long-term issues and thus elongate its maturity schedule.

But that would have amounted to monetizing the debt, creating money by government fiat. It would have increased demand for goods and services, added to inflationary pressures. It would have undone the victory of former Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe over former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder in the Truman administration.

Humphrey sacrificed ease of financing, cheap financing, to what he regards as the greater good—"sound money." All the while, his ambition was to pile up government surpluses in the manner of Andrew W. Mellon and pay off the short-term debt.

But peacelessness—the war of nerves with the Kremlin—permitted no big surpluses. The debt he leaves behind is bigger than the debt he started with. And Treasury maturities come tumbling over one another in critical bunches.

That's the Humphrey failure—a failure that's a monument to his courage, character, and unflinching loyalty to his own and President Eisenhower's belief in a "sound dollar."

Puttin' Teeth Into It

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Too many airmen shirked their dental appointments so Brig. Gen. Paul S. Emrick, commander of the Sixth Air Division at MacDill AFB, hinted strongly at a guardhouse remedy in a letter which pointed out that missing a dental appointment "is tantamount to failure to report for a scheduled military formation."

MCKEE, Ky. (AP) — Four prisoners who broke out of jail had a breach of peace charge filed against them after their recapture. They got out of jail by saving bars, then entered the sheriff's office by smashing a glass door.

The prisoners then found 15 cases of confiscated beer and two pistols.

'Battle Of The Bugs' Mankind Enlists Insect Allies

By JACK LEFLER RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A "Battle of the Bugs" — with the nation's food supply at stake — is being fought in fields and orchards across the country.

Agricultural scientists are pitting "good bugs" against "bad bugs" to preserve the balance of nature and achieve permanent control of innumerable species of mites, nematodes and insects which inflict millions of dollars in damage each year on vast and valuable acreages.

The battle sends entomological explorers roaming the world seeking natural enemies of plant pests which have become established in this country.

Most of the pests were imported inadvertently into the United States in shipments from other countries. Unbathed here by their natural enemies, these pests mites, nematodes and insects which inflict millions of dollars in damage each year on vast and valuable acreages.

HEADQUARTERS The University of California's Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside is headquarters in the fight against insects, fungi and virus.

Its bug hunters are constantly seeking species that can be thrown in as reinforcements in the unceasing battle.

To attain biological control, beneficial insects have been

Hal Boyle The Child And The Book

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the more desperate ordeals of parenthood is listening to a child read who can't read.

Now and then a small local female member of my own tribe comes up to me, carrying a heavy volume upside down in her hands. "Read it to me," says Tracy Ann, who is almost 4 now.

This probably is a heart-warming picture to a man selling subscriptions to the book-of-the-century. It may even brighten the view of an anemic professor of literature with bright hopes that the culture of yesterday lies securely in the brave small hands of tomorrow.

But to me it creates another prospect.

The situation usually goes like this. I have a library that emphasizes the long human reach toward perfection. It catalogs man's endless search for a word that will give a better answer than the sword. A lot of people's libraries are probably like that.

But my daughter, who leeringly refers to herself as "Cuddle Bug" in the presence of strangers, isn't as yet interested in what books say they say.

She's a story girl herself. Her idea of reading is that any book ought to say what pops into her mind.

She tugs out a valuable old political volume showing twelve different ways Williams Jennings Bryan could have beaten McKinley in 1900 if he had talked less about gold and used brass knucks. "Read me this, Daddy," she orders.

On Our Side

A green lacewing larva considers the aphid a choice lunch. The lacewing is one of many bugs being used to hold down populations of insects which feed on crops.

brought in from such far places as Japan, China, Australia, Hawaii, Argentina, England, Austria and the Netherlands.

Billions of these insects are being mass-produced in rearing rooms at the Experiment Station. Then they are released to do their work in the fields.

There are two main categories of beneficial insects — predators and parasites.

Predators feed on pests, flying or moving from one colony to another. An example of the predator is the ladybug, which eats approximately 50,000 aphids in a lifetime.

Parasites are hatched within a colony of pests. Young parasites feed on the destructive insects. A highly regarded parasite is the tiny golden wasp from China. It is a promising new weapon against red scale which has blighted so many southern California orchards.

HELPFUL PARASITES Parasitic fungi are being used with success against the spotted alfalfa aphid which in two years has become the most destructive pest of the widely grown forage crop. The alfalfa aphid has spread from New Mexico east to Missouri, west to the Pacific Coast and north to Idaho. In California alone, the yearly damage is estimated at 13 million dollars.

The 250 scientists working at the Experiment Station have won a commanding lead over the plant enemies through biological control and other means. But they can't relax the struggle against pests whose objective is to beat man to their common food supply.

Of the battle against plant enemies, Dr. Herman T. Spleth, provost of the Riverside Campus of the University of California, says:

"United Nations reports show that world population is rising 10 per cent a decade. If there is any hope of keeping up with the new food demands of some 80,000 daily births, it must come by keeping ahead in agricultural research, as we are attempting to do."

MR. BREGER

Around The Rim GOP To Give 'Fish' Treatment

Senator Joe McCarthy's successor in the U.S. Senate will get the real "freshman" treatment from his selfish Republican colleagues — in case he's a Republican.

The Republicans in the Senate already have gobbled up the choice committee assignments McCarthy held. About the only things left, on the Republican side of the house, are seats on the District of Columbia, and Post Office and Civil Service Committees of the Senate.

Both panels are considered minor, and a place on the District of Columbia Committee is about like being alderman for a good-sized town. The committee's chief responsibility is the internal administration of Washington.

Right now, that group's most pressing problem is what to do about the starlings which go right on defacing federal buildings — and capital sightseers.

Now if Wisconsin chooses a Democrat to succeed McCarthy, their senator will get better treatment. It's a policy of the Democrats to give freshman lawmakers a place on one major committee, along with the undesirable jobs.

Republicans who got McCarthy's old jobs are Sen. Capahart of Indiana, on the Government Operations Committee, and Sen. Ives of New York, on the Appropriations Committee.

Ives got the Appropriations seat by a flip of the coin, winning over GOP Sen. Watkins of Utah. The two had equal seniority. It was the ninth coin-flipping loss for Watkins, in similar situations.

The election of a successor to McCarthy will still place late this summer. So far, only Republicans are in the race. Whoever wins will have one advantage. He will have a head start toward seniority over any new senators elected in 1958, provided he wins re-election at that time.

Maybe he won't have to serve in the Washington aldermanic post for too long. —WAYLAND YATES

Inez Robb Inflation: The Two-Dollar Slot Machine

In these trying times, when the average citizen sits up nights trying to figure out ways and means to keep pace with inflation, it is nice to report that at least one segment of the economy has it made.

Thanks to American ingenuity and know-how, the slot machine rack... industry, that is — has perfected a $2 one-armed bandit, a tremendous technological as well as financial advance in this field.

Thus the slot machine boys are enabled to collect at one pull of the handle the two bucks that it now takes to make up in purchasing power the value of the prehistoric or Coolidge dollar.

Such machines are now widely installed in the great open spaces where men are men and money is a sometime thing. A friend, touring the West, first encountered this double-dip bandit in Reno. He proudly reports that his fellow citizens, fully hep to the evils of inflation, were queued up in front of such machines, impatiently waiting their turn to get rid of their 50-cent dollars at the 100-cent rate.

Heretofore, I had always felt that the $1 slot machine represented the ultimate in dangerous living and high-octane gambling. But this merely shows the time-lag and fool's paradise in which I live. I have always hoped that sometimes I could get up the money and the courage to drop a dollar in the buck machine. But I have waited too long, and now I must double my goal and my fortitude if I am ever to savor the reckless heights with Nick the Greek and Fatsio the Farouk.

This new bandit is not played with a $2 bill — although I now foresee a time when the Bet-a-Million Gates of the future will be able to drop a $5 bill in a bandit and, if he wins, get an IOU for the Brooklyn Bridge.

The player or investor uses the regulation silver dollar or Western cartwheel as ammunition. He merely drops two in the slot before he pulls the lever. Indeed, this $2 money Moloch is so geared that it is impossible to get any action out of it until the two cartwheels have been fed into its maw.

Then, in traditional fashion, the player pulls the lever, and there is a rich and splendid sound of clanking dollars and whirling machinery. It's double or nothing, and that's what the player usually gets. Occasionally, however, there is lush klunk of a few dollars landing in the payoff till. And if, by chance, the player is shot with luck and hits the jackpot, the management provides free truck transport with armed guards.

A sourpuss economist, viewing such a scene, probably would feel impelled to write a treatise on "The Rise and Fall of Money," or "What Price the Swag in Grandpa's Sock?" He could drag in the fable of the ant and the grasshopper, who didn't believe in a rainy day.

But to that pessimistic economist I say, "For shame, sir! It is the grasshopper who is the true blue American and you who are subversive! Everyone knows that we have entered in this country an era of perpetual sunshine and the $2 slot machine is its glorious symbol."

It is impossible to contemplate this new and improved bandit and not be filled with proud confidence that we Americans can keep pace with inflation. Mark my prophecy: The $2 bandit is just around the corner. Easy come, easy go and a yo-ho-ho.

David Lawrence Khrushchev Shows Red Duplicity

WASHINGTON—As commanding general for the Communists in the "cold war," which reaches around the globe, Nikita Khrushchev has suffered a defeat of his own making. By his television address, he has retarded rather than forwarded the cause of world peace. For, within the last few weeks, it had been believed in official Washington that the Soviet government was really serious about disarmament and had stopped playing propaganda tunes in an earnest effort to reach some kind of initial agreement.

But the Sunday speech by the Communist leader has restored suspicion and distrust, if indeed they had been entirely dissolved.

To offer, for instance, as Khrushchev did, to withdraw Soviet troops from East Germany, Poland and Hungary, on condition that the United States move its forces out of Europe altogether, is to deal frivolously with a major problem in world affairs. Indeed, for a Soviet dictator to assume that the American people or their government would be so naive as to consider such a proposal is to reveal the shortcomings of the Communist mind itself. It knows so little about world affairs and the simple rules of military protection which free peoples have a right to apply in their own interest.

For if the United States withdrew its forces from Europe, the free countries would be vulnerable to sudden attack. The United States in two world wars has had to send its armies across the Atlantic Ocean to rescue Europe, but there wouldn't be time to do this in a third world war.

What Khrushchev wished the American people to ignore is the importance of the strategically placed air bases overseas which the United States now can use and which are vital to the defense of free Europe. What the Communist dictator is proposing is not merely that American ground forces be withdrawn to this continent, but that all overseas bases manned by American planes—and soon to be equipped with guided missiles containing atomic warheads—should be given up.

The Soviet Union can reach every one of the free countries of Europe—all of which combined are not themselves strong enough to face the Communist forces and would be at the mercy of the Kremlin. What Khrushchev is suggesting is a form of voluntary surrender by the West. Everyone knows, too, that the populace of the Western countries fear attack and that, if there were no defense available with the aid of America, infiltration into all countries by the Communist sympathizers would be made easier.

The next war will have to be fought quickly, and retaliatory action will have to be taken instantly. There will be no time for America to negotiate for the use of overseas bases or to send planes and equipment across the ocean. That's the reason why the Senate of the United States broke precedent a few years ago and ratified overwhelmingly the North Atlantic Treaty. This treaty says explicitly that an attack on any one of the 15 member countries is to be considered the same as an attack on the United States itself. It calls for immediate war—even without a resolution by Congress.

Now the spokesman for the Kremlin wants America to give up this strategic advantage—this deterrent force—in exchange for a paper withdrawal of Soviet troops from East Germany, Hungary and Poland.

Everyone knows that, when the Russian troops stationed in Hungary at the time of last year's outbreak defected, there were other Soviet troops quickly brought in to replace them. Moscow has its generals and its commanding officers in every satellite country and in their local armies. All the premiers in the various satellite states have a Russian training and Communist background. So to say that things will be materially changed just because the Russian armies move back a few hundred miles is to tax the credulity of the leaders of the Western World.

Khrushchev had the audacity to tell the television and radio audience of this country that, if war came, capitalism would be destroyed but communism would survive. This is what Molotov used to say when he was in power and there was talk of a possible third world war in which atomic and hydrogen bombs would be used. Khrushchev is repeating glibly this line of Stalinist argument. He parrots it before an American audience which he thinks will swallow such absurdities.

If an atomic war comes, the blame will be plainly placed on the Communist leaders by the people of Soviet Russia. It will spell the death of communism, because the survivors would bitterly resent the war into which they had been plunged.

What Khrushchev really fears is internal revolution now. He probably wouldn't dare to let an American spokesman talk freely to an audience of Soviet citizens over the television or the radio or in the press of the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev himself has shown how impossible it's going to be for the American government or any Western government to make "deals" or negotiate agreements with the men in the Kremlin—the scheming enemies of freedom. (Copyright, 1957, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

'Friendship Apron' Has Quite A History

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—A "friendship apron" which the family of the late Texas pioneer Albert Latimer traces back to Indian days hangs in a frame on a wall of Mrs. Walter Thompson's home.

The fragile dress apron was given to Mrs. Thompson's grandmother soon after her great uncle, Latimer, rode muleback from Washington-on-the-Brazos after signing the Declaration of Independence on March 2, 1836.

This story is told by the family: It was on his return from the political mission that events developed leading to the apron incident.

Heading across the expanse of unsettled territory to Clarksville, a trading post near the Red River, Latimer rode through a dense growth of trees. He emerged and spotted an Indian village.

Before he could turn back into the thicket, Indian dogs began howling and alerted the tribe. Several young bucks sprang out with bows and arrows. Albert made signs indicating his peaceful intent. The young warriors ignored him.

Not a moment too soon an old Indian chief stepped from his tent and halted them.

After saving Albert, the old chief led him to his tent.

"You not remember Big Foot?" he asked.

The chief then related an incident in which Albert had saved Big Foot's life.

Big Foot and some of his tribe had gone to the Clarksville trading post to swap furs.

While there, Big Foot was approached by two drunken white men who began to hurl insults at the stately chief. Big Foot looked past them.

His dignified air provoked their wrath. Their abuses became more insulting, and one of the ruffians struck Big Foot on the head with his pistol. Big Foot fell to the floor.

As he started to rise, the second drunk came forward with his raised pistol.

He was about to loose another blow when, suddenly, he felt a strong grip on his shoulder. Albert Latimer had walked in, saw the first blow and was in time to avert the second.

He disarmed the bullies, warned them to leave the post and never return—and kicked them out.

Then Latimer invited the chief and his tribe to camp on the creek bank near his house that night.

To seal the friendship between the white man and himself, Big Foot had a squaw of his village make an apron for Latimer's sister—Mrs. Thompson's grandmother.

The apron is of sheer black silk, lined with green silk, on a velvet bell. Pinpoint size beads in brilliant colors form a floral pattern around the border.

The material, Mrs. Thompson was told, was bought at a trading post. The beads are the craft of the Indians—dyed, molded, buffed and kiln-fired.

Vivid hues of the flowers are garnet, gold, aqua, blue, green, pink, white and off yellow. The beaded flowers are reinforced on the back with soft chamois.

Mrs. Thompson framed the apron 27 years ago to preserve it.

Embassy Ransacked

Rioters, protesting the court martial acquittal of U.S. Army Sgt. U.S. Information Service building in Taipei was also ransacked. (Delayed photo.)

Chart For Shrimp Growth Devised

GALVESTON (AP)—Mother has a chart to determine if Johnnie is growing properly. Now a chart for shrimp has been devised.

Until recently science did not have a growth chart to determine if the shrimp consumed all over the world had a certain length, weight or volume at a specific age.

Now the marine laboratory of Texas A&M College here has worked out mathematical equations setting up the first known growth chart for shrimp.

Jerome E. Stein, director of the laboratory, assisted by Frederick R. Roggett, marine technologist, got live shrimp from the Galveston Bay area to work out the equations.

The report has been submitted to "Gulf and Caribbean," a scientific journal for marine studies.

The importance and necessity for a growth chart of shrimp are just as vital as growth charts for humans, Stein said.

Of major importance, Stein said, is that the equations will indicate to the industry and to scientists the rate of growth in the field, and possible reasons for changes in the shrimp population.

By knowing how to measure the shrimp from an established chart, industry and scientists will be able to determine while still at the fishing or landing site how many pounds are in a catch. Now the catch is weighed at port.

The growth chart would aid workers in the processing assembly lines in packaging shrimp of a predetermined size, weight and volume. They would be able to count off how many shrimp make up a pound to the box—instead of taking time to weigh boxes as they do now.

Still another aspect of the importance of a growth chart is the fact a fisherman would know what size net to dip into waters to pick a certain size shrimp.

To attack the problem, Stein and his associates reasoned that if a person uses an established chart to determine whether a child or an adult weighs the proper amount for size and age, the same should apply to shrimp.

Previously shrimp had been measured only in length. As with people, many are the same height, but due to muscle development or other reasons, their weight and volume differs.

So, in the study, shrimp were not only measured in length but also in weight and volume.

The live shrimp, taken from bay waters from March through June, 1956, were weighed by placing them in a preweighted vessel containing sea water.

Volume was determined by displacement, the ancient Archimedes theory that an object placed in water will displace its own volume. A measuring board was used to determine length.

With the data assembled, mathematical equations were devised. Like the charts for little John-

Name Of Italy's Newest Star Is Pronouncable

By RICHARD EHRLMAN

ROME (AP)—A bright new Italian star, only 18, is shooting up in Italy's film sky. And she has a pronounceable name—Giorgia Moll.

Slender, dark-haired Giorgia has just made the big jump from so-so Italian parts to American stardom in a production of Graham Greene's "The Quiet American."

She plays the slinky Oriental girl who gets mixed up in a spy case in war-torn Indochina.

Although Giorgia lacks some of the more noticeable outward attributes of her better-known Italian film sisters, she has plenty of other things to brag about—but doesn't.

For one thing, she speaks Italian, French, German and English—and is learning Russian in her spare time. For another, she's a beauty contest winner from way back.

And, she is about as modest a starlet as ever jumped into a starting part overnight.

In a burst of self-analysis she once said: "What I need are the eyes of Elizabeth Taylor, the nose of Ava Gardner and the mouth of Marilyn Monroe."

"I'm just not a good-looking girl. That's why I'll never get anywhere in the film business."

Apparently this opinion is not shared by very many. Since she started work in the film business four years back she's never been out of a job for a week—and this in a city which boasts thousands of out-of-work actors and actresses.

A close friend said recently of Giorgia: "She's successful enough to live and behave like a star. But she's young enough and unspoiled to want to live and behave like a healthy teen-ager."

Giorgia's biggest film role up to now was in the French-produced "Club of Women" made in nine, these equations show that if a shrimp is 14 centimeters long (or 4 feet tall, as in the case of Johnnie), the shrimp should weigh 21 grams (or 75 pounds for Johnnie); and have a volume of 21 cubic centimeters (the equivalent of which is not known for Johnnie, since even science hasn't gotten around to dunking people to determine human volume).

CAMP WHITE (AP)—GI William Girard today Japanese-enticed a woman to her death with the fatal shooting. Girard's Japanese court trial, expected to start Tuesday, is the first since the Japanese government's victory in World War II. Girard, a U.S. Army sergeant, was arrested in 1945 and held in a military prison in Japan. He was later transferred to the U.S. military base at Camp White in Okinawa. Girard's defense attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, said Girard was a conscientious objector and was not a combat soldier. He said Girard was ordered to guard a Japanese prisoner of war, who was later found dead. Girard was charged with the murder. He is scheduled to be tried in Tokyo next month.
