Canada Govt. Is Ousted By Upset Vote

TORONTO (AP)—A smashing political upset today ended the 22-year rule of Canada's Liberal party and promised the country a minority Conservative cabinet headed by 61-year-old John Diefenbaker.

The Conservatives, campaigning on a "time for a change" platform, won the most seats in the House of Commons elections yesterday but fell short of a majority.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, the Liberal party chief, is expected to resign this week and recommend that Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey ask Diefenbaker to form a new cabinet.

The Tories will have to rule as a minority government, as the Liberals did after the 1945 election. Leaders of both minor parties said they would not join a coalition cabinet, although both indicated they would support the Conservatives if they put forward a satisfactory program.

It was considered likely, however, that Diefenbaker would not want to try governing for very long with the aid of other groups but would bring on another election soon in an effort to win a majority.

With 4 of the 265 Commons seats undecided, the Conservatives early today had won 110, the Liberals 109, the Socialist CCF (Cooperative Commonwealth Federation) 24, the Social Credit party 18 and independents 6.

Diefenbaker promised plenty during his campaign that would appeal to both the CCF and Social Credit party, including increased social services, farm aid, tax reductions and increased foreign trade.

He hit at the Liberals also with charges that they encouraged inflation, curtailed parliamentary and personal liberties and threatened Canada with becoming a one-party state.

The Liberals not only lost the election, but 9 of their 17 Cabinet members were swept out of Parliament.

The only top Liberal leader to remain were the 75-year-old St. Laurent and Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson.

One of those defeated was Finance Minister Walter Harris, frequently mentioned along with Pearson as a possible successor to St. Laurent as Liberal leader.

Another was veteran Trade Minister C. D. Howe, often credited with being the most powerful man in the government.

Other Cabinet ministers defeated were Defense Minister Ralph Campney, Associate Defense Minister Paul Hellyer, Revenue Minister James McCann, Works Minister Robert Winters, Labor Minister Milton Gregg, Justice Minister Stuart Garson and Veterans Minister Hughes Lapointe.

Put out of their jobs by the reorganization were Chairman John Osorio and Mark Wentz, both appointed by former Gov. Allan Shivers. Both tried to resign soon after the reorganization bill passed but constitutional law required them to remain until their successors were named.

Jackson, 57, has been judge of the 18th District since 1944. He began practice in Cleburne in 1924 after graduating from Baylor. He was county attorney from 1929 to 1933, then district attorney for the next four years.

He was president of the state bar judicial section in 1951.

Daniel made the announcement reports of Jackson's appointment were published.

Daniel already has offered one of the three posts on the reorganized board to Joe P. Gibbs of Seguin, the only Daniel appointee on the old board.

Arrives For White House Call

Louis Girard, 28, of Ottawa, Ill., arrives at Washington's Union Station with his wife to call at the White House in an effort to have his brother, William, an Army enlisted man in Japan, tried by American authorities instead of Japanese in the death of a Japanese woman.

Arguments Heard On Girard's Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government argued today that the federal courts have no authority to review a decision ordering that Army Specialist S.C. William S. Girard be tried by Japanese courts.

In a packed courtroom, U.S. Atty. Oliver Gasch urged dismissal of a suit seeking to block a Japanese trial for Girard, accused of the death of a Japanese woman scavenging for metal on a firing range.

An international furor has been stirred up by the case.

Among the courtroom spectators as the arguments started were Girard's brother, Louis Girard of Ottawa, Ill., and Louis' wife.

Before the court is a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to bring the 21-year-old Girard home from Japan for further hearings.

Gasch conceded, in reply to a question by U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy, that Girard killed the Japanese woman while in "performance of official duty."

He contended, however, that under an agreement between the United States and Japan the two countries had concurrent jurisdiction under which either could waive jurisdiction in favor of the other.

"We take the position that waiver is an executive act, not subject to judicial inquiry," Gasch said.

Key issues in the case are whether Girard acted in the line of official duty, and whether he "enticed" the Japanese woman to come closer by throwing out empty shell casings.

Girard has denied Japanese charges that he lured the woman on, insisting her death was an accident.

His attorneys contended he was officially on duty at the time of the incident and that, under a U. S. — Japanese agreement, he therefore is subject to a U. S. court-martial.

The defense Department's view, as stated by its general counsel Robert Dechert in a Miami interview last night, "is that Girard's actions leading to the death . . . represented such a complete departure from his duty at the time that he could not have been considered on duty."

President Eisenhower was represented in authoritative quarters as being determined to stand by the decision to hand Girard over to Japanese courts. He was said to have taken the position that the honor and prestige of the United States are at stake in the Far East.

The harvest already is complete in Texas except a small quantity for local sale.

Total production of oranges in the nation including tangerines was estimated at 138 million boxes in the June crop report. It said the grapefruit crop will total about 44 million boxes.

But a weak cold front moving east of the Rocky Mountains was expected to push cooler air behind it and set off thundershowers when it collides with warm, moist air moving up from the Gulf of Mexico.

There were nine Air Force projects in Texas included in the tentative approval Monday.

There were no details, but the amount is identical with a request submitted to Congress by the Air Force on May 1. At that time there was no announcement as to what the funds would cover, although it was made clear that it was for proposed new work and was not to be confused with the multi-million dollar housing project scheduled to get underway in July or August.

The tentative approval by the Armed Services committee by no means assures the project. Once this committee gives final approval, the request goes to the House appropriations committee for referral to the military appropriations sub-committee. If this group gives approval, the appropriations committee would then be called upon for its final blessing before the measure is acted upon in the House. The matter then would go to the Senate for action, and if favorable would await adjustment in conference committee and finally the signature of the President.

Court Orders To 'Close' Galveston

Johnson Throws Full Support To Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today he will support the $3,637,100,000 foreign aid bill "right down the line."

The Democratic leader's support of the measure was seconded by Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader. Their comments sharply increased prospects the measure will clear the Senate late this week without any substantial change in the totals.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in reporting the measure to the Senate floor, cut administration requests by 27 million dollars.

In a statement, Johnson said, "on the basis of the facts now before us, I am hopeful that the Senate will approve the authorization bill without further reductions."

Johnson held open the possibility the program will undergo some cuts when the appropriation bill is introduced. He said he would provide the actual money comes up for action. The authorization measure simply sets ceilings.

He said he believes the bill in its present form "serves the interests of our people" and that it can be embraced by the Senate "as an important contribution to our national security and freedom."

Subsequently Knowland said he believes the measure will clear the Senate "without substantial change from the form in which it left the committee."

Earlier top leading advocates of sharp cuts conceded they would be lucky to make even small ones in the authorization bill.

47 Establishments Facing Hearings

GALVESTON (AP)—Two district judges today said they will sign the 47 restraining orders sought by the state attorney general's office in a crackdown on Galveston gambling, liquor sales and prostitution.

The decision was reached in the chambers of Dist. Judge Donald M. Markel.

Judge Markel and Judge W. E. Stone both said they would sign the restraining orders.

Hearings on temporary injunctions against the 47 establishments were tentatively set for June 20-21 in Judge Stone's court, and for June 18-21 in Judge Markel's court.

At the hearings today were Asst. Atty. Gen. Cecil Rotch and Dan Gardiner, and Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Jim Simpson, the Texas City attorney who has spearheaded the gathering of evidence for the injunction the attorney general is seeking.

During the hearing, Judge Markel spelled out the law that applied to each of the classes of violation and Simpson and Rotch both urged speedy signing of the restraining orders.

"The violators of the law are doing irreparable harm to the honor and integrity of the state," Simpson said. "For a place to operate in the commission of a crime is an injury to the people of Texas."

Rotch said the reason for asking a restraining order before filing for injunctions was a very practical one.

"We can't have these places being in the peculiar position of saying, 'Oh look, I've closed my doors—there is no reason for a day, but had left open the possibility of his returning to his desk.'"

A few minutes after Eisenhower arrived in the office, photographers and reporters were admitted briefly.

The President greeted the group with a broad smile. He was in excellent spirits and there was little trace in his face of the illness which kept him confined to bed all day yesterday.

The President was natty in a light brown suit, white shirt and red tie with a purple figure.

He asked photographers whether they wanted him to stand or remain seated at his desk. They asked him to stand seated.

"Is your stomach sore?" one photographer asked.

"No, not at all — it isn't this morning," Eisenhower replied with a chuckle. Then he added: "I'd be able to do with a few steaks."

It wasn't until late yesterday afternoon that Eisenhower got his first serving of semisolid food—a helping of milk toast. He had more of that and some chicken broth during the evening, and then breakfasted this morning on prunes, cereal with warm milk, toast and honey.

Entry List For Rodeo Growing; Parade All Set

More than 50 cowboys, including some of the nation's top rodeo contestants, had entered the Big Spring Rodeo by noon today.

Entries will be accepted until 8 p. m. today at rodeo headquarters in the Howard House. First of four rodeo performances is set for 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Among the early registrants were Harry Tompkins, of Dublin, 1923 all-around cowboy champion and four times the world's champion bull rider; Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, seven times champion calf roper; and such other well-known ropers as Troy Fort of Lovington, N. M., Buddy Groff of Bandera, and Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio.

Also on hand this morning was Ira Akers, the 1956 intercollegiate cowboy champion.

Several other leading ropers and riders were expected to arrive during the afternoon. The only rodeo being staged this week with larger purses than the local show is at Gladewater, and next week's top attraction is at Lovington, N. M. As a result, many of the top contestants are due to put in here rather than make the long trek to Gladewater and return to New Mexico next week.

A big parade at 4 p. m. Wednesday will open Big Spring's 24th annual rodeo and cowboy reunion celebration. The procession will include a dozen decorated floats, seven sheriff's posses, and several other entries, including the Webb AFB Band which will lead the participants.

The parade will start at Third and Goliad, move on Third to Rannels, go north to First, west to Scurry, south to Second, east to Main, south to Third and then west to the city limit.

Twelve Die In Grade Crash

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP)—A Santa Fe railroad freight train smashed a truck loaded with farm field workers today, killing at least 12 persons.

Either five or six more were reported injured and taken to a Rocky Ford hospital.

The crash was west of Vroman, a farm settlement, in southeastern Colorado, about six miles from Rocky Ford.

Less than a week ago, a truck loaded with farm workers collided with a van truck and 20 persons were killed. This accident was at an intersection near Fayetteville, N.C., on June 6.

The Queen will be accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip. The royal couple will visit Canada first, then fly on to the United States.

Ike Is Well Again, Goes Back To Desk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, "virtually recovered" from his stomach upset, unexpectedly spent about an hour and 45 minutes at his desk today.

He was far enough along the recovery road to make a wisecrack to newsmen about getting at "a few steaks."

Indiana Land Deals To Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he is sending to the Justice Department testimony linking Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the 850,000-member Carpenters Union, with high land profits on an Indiana highway project.

Evidence presented before a Senate Roads subcommittee headed by Gore also involved two other top officers of the Carpenters Union and two former officials of the Indiana Highway Department.

The three union officials invoked the Fifth Amendment yesterday in refusing to tell about allegedly splitting some $30,000 profits on a quick turnover of right-of-way land near Gary, Ind., for an Indiana expressway, a federal-state project. The two former highway officials had similarly refused to answer other questions earlier in the probe.

"The evidence," Gore told a reporter, "seems to support an evident conspiracy to defraud both federal and state governments."

He said he was transmitting transcripts of the hearing to the Justice Department, the federal district attorney in Indiana, the prosecutor of Lake County, and to Gov. Harold Handley.

Besides possible court prosecution, Hutcheson also may face ouster as an AFL-CIO vice president and Executive Council member.

In his subcommittee appearance yesterday, Hutcheson testified he had never used Carpenters Union funds "for anything except brotherhood business since I have been in office." He has headed the Carpenters for about three years, since death of his father, William (Big Bill) Hutcheson.

The AFL-CIO has an ethical practices code stating that any union official taking the Fifth Amendment on matters of corruption cannot continue in his position.

'Father Of Year'

Ira Irving Isbell, 73-year-old retired school teacher who has taught 5,000 students and lives in Fort Worth, has been selected as Texas Baptist Father of the year. The veteran schoolmaster, who spent 37 years in classrooms and has taught Sunday School classes for 45 years, is now school crossing patrolman and tutors high school students. (AP Wirephoto).

Sheriffs Urged To Publicize Juvenile Names

GALVESTON (AP)—Members of the National Sheriffs Assn. yesterday were urged to make public the names of juvenile offenders.

George B. Burton, agent stationed at Houston, said he echoed a belief of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"We no longer can tolerate the 'tender years' policy in dealing with juveniles," he said. Burton said names of juvenile delinquents should be published except in first offenses or minor delinquencies.

H. P. Gleason of Alameda County, Calif., president of the association, urged a continuity in jobs for deputies and advocated higher professional classification for a sheriff's office.

He said it was a waste of manpower and money to train deputies, and then see them ousted with a change in administration. Gleason said without a professional staff, "we cannot convince newly incorporated areas that we are to be trusted with policing of their cities."

The convention continues through tomorrow.

Parable Technique Used By Graham In Sermons

NEW YORK (AP)—To put across his points, Billy Graham relies on the parable.

Each night at his big-scale New York crusade, which today rounds out its fourth week, he weaves little tales of modern life to illustrate ancient lessons.

It's a preaching technique used by Jesus. Graham rings in up-to-the-minute facts and concrete events to portray the old ideas.

He puts classic parables in modern dress, and adds new ones of his own.

Last night, for instance, in maintaining that you have to have the right attitude toward Christ—not just a sincere attitude. Graham told some stories:

One was about the football player who ran 65 yards with the ball—"with complete sincerity"—but he lost the game because he ran the wrong direction.

Another was about the mother who "in all sincerity" gave her son medicine to cure him—but made him even sicker because she mistakenly gave him iodine.

"Many people that are sincere are desperately wrong when it comes to the matter of going to Heaven," he told a crowd of 16,500 at Madison Square Garden.

"Following the conscience can be wrong because the conscience may be seared and dead if it's not in Christ. You choose either to follow Christ, or you go your own way . . . the way of self, of pride, of ego."

To choose Christ's way, he added, is a "bending of the will, a subjugation of the ego" by which Christ sensitizes the conscience.

To help keep Graham supplied with fresh allegories, his wife Ruth does her reading on the lookout for episodes that might provide new material.

Last night, 384 persons responded to Graham's plea to "accept Christ," raising the total to 16,229. So far, attendance at the crusade totals 483,500.

Phone Books Are Due Soon

Telephone users can expect a new look on their directories for the coming year when they arrive near the end of the month.

Cliff Fisher, manager of the telephone office, reported that the books this year would have a picture of HCJC instead of the county courthouse which has adorned the directory the past few years.

Fisher said customers could expect their new directories about a day or so before July 1. The books will be slightly larger this year, because of the addition of new customers. The Luther and Lomax extensions will again be in the Big Spring book.

Customers through May 29 will be listed in the book which only went to the printers last Friday, Fisher said. The number of pages, both in subscribers and in the Yellow Pages, will not be known until a proof is returned.

I AM NO LONGER RESPONSIBLE FOR MY WIFE'S ACTIONS

(Since she got her new kind of Ford)

"If she is unbelievably happy at 7:00 A. M. every morning, I now hold her 1957 Ford responsible. If she is off for the day at 7:02 A. M., I suggest that it is the power of her new 'Inner Ford.' If she's just a bit more spoiled, don't blame her. With optional power steering, power brakes, power windows and seat—who wouldn't be?"

"And if she is constantly raving about the savings her new car brings her, she's merely confirming what I've been telling her about Fords for years! Sure, we're a two-Ford family now. But even having one Ford in the family was more fun than you can imagine! Try a new '57 Ford at your house. It's Terrific!"

MRS. CLIFTON GERALD SMITH

Miss Mallow Is Bride Of C. G. Smith

Double ring wedding vows were repeated Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Cotton Flat Baptist Church of Midland by Mary Ann Mallow and Clifton Gerald Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coates, 1111 West 3rd, are parents of the bridegroom; the bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Graham, Midland.

Pre-nuptial wedding music included "Til Be Loving You Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white lace with a short lace jacket. Her bridal bouquet was of pink carnations carried atop a white Bible.

Attendants were Mrs. Alice Porter and Lewis Wayne Smith, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were hosts for the reception in their home.

The bride's table featured a white lace cloth and the tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

After a wedding trip to Trinidad, Colo., the couple will make a home at San Diego, Calif., where Smith is stationed in the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Smith attended Midland schools and is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fulcher, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coates, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coates and Esther and Louise Coates, all of Big Spring. Others attended from San Angelo and Monahans.

Whites Have Guests

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. White have been their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stipp of Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams and Max and Mrs. Tina Williams, all of Abilene. Williams and Mrs. Tina Williams are the brother and mother, respectively, of Mrs. White. The Stipps also visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stipp.

Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Petty, A. Petty and Mrs. Faye Johnson attended the Tonroy family reunion at Leuders Sunday. This is an annual affair, which is held as near as possible to June 5, the birthday anniversary of Mrs. S. E. Tonroy. She celebrated her 84th birthday this year, with between 40 and 50 relatives and friends attending.

Wesleyan Service Guild Meets In Fred Eaker Home

Members of the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Fred Eaker Monday for study and a covered dish supper. Cohostesses were Mrs. R. L. Penney and Mrs. Otis O'Barr Smith.

The group gathered on the patio, where the dinner was served from a table covered with a white linen cloth.

Mrs. C. L. Rowe was in charge of the program, which dealt with the Philippines.

The devotion was brought by Mrs. Irene Dempsey, with the closing prayer by Mrs. Ruby Martin.

Thirty-one members attended with three guests.

Loves Will Make Home In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Love Jr. will be at home in Midland following their marriage Friday evening at the home of F. F. Conley, minister of the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ.

Conley read the ceremony for the exchange of vows.

The bride is the former Marilyn Elizabeth Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Key of Forrest City, Ark. She is the sister of Mrs. D. W. Hobson of Big Spring.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Love of Gorman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobson attended the bridal couple.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Love was employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company; her husband is an employee of the Lone Star Gas Company in Midland.

Foam-Sticks Find Varied Home Uses

A strip of adhesive-backed foam rubber can find many uses around the home.

It may be used to prevent furniture from marring walls; lamps, flower pots, knickknacks from scratching tables. Can also be used to keep pictures straight, shirts inside waistbands and dresses on hangers.

These foam-sticks come in three handy peel-as-you-go rolls.

Ella Vogler Repeats Vows With M. Caule

LAMESA — A double ring ceremony read Saturday evening at six o'clock in the chapel of the First Baptist Church united in marriage Ella Vogler and Miles Caule of Pasco, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Vogler of Lamesa and Brownwood are the bride's parents. He is the son of the late James E. Caudie, Lamesa.

The Rev. Milo E. Arbutckle read the ceremony before an archway tied with white satin streamers and flanked by baskets of white stock and blue daisies.

Alfreda Kiefer played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Bobbie Menix as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and, as the couple knelt, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length dress of white cotton satin, fashioned with a princess panel in the front with fullness set in over the hips. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline which came to a low scoop in the back.

She wore a pearl necklace and earrings for something old. Her veil of illusion fell from a bandeau of seed pearls and sequins. White rosebuds and feathered carnations formed her cascading bouquet.

Mrs. M. L. Standefer Jr., Lamesa, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Mrs. Cecil Burger, Midland, sister of the bride, was the bridesmatron. They wore identical dresses of blue cotton satin fashioned after the bride's gown. Their bouquets were formed of pink carnations with white satin streamers.

George Hansard was the best man, and Gene Campbell, usher.

Following the exchange of vows, a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Vogler. The table was laid with an imported white cut-work linen cloth over blue. The attendants' bouquets and white tapers in crystal holders formed the center arrangement for the bride's table.

Sharon and Lillian Vogler, served the tiered wedding cake and punch. Bobbie Menix registered the guests. The feminine attendants, the bride's parents, and Mrs. E. J. Boothe, sister of the bridegroom from Abilene, assisted the couple in receiving the guests.

For traveling the bride chose a two-piece suit of silk and cotton blend, with pink accessories. The couple will visit points of interest on their trip to Pasco, Washington, where they will make a home.

Mrs. Caule is a graduate of Klondike High School and for the past two years was employed as receptionist at Lamesa General Hospital. Her husband was graduated from Dawson High School and Texas Tech. He is employed with the US Department of Agriculture in Pasco.

The rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party was held Friday evening at six o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Standefer Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Burger assisted with the dinner.

Start War On Those Moths Now

This is the time of year to give attention to your wooleens before storing them for the winter. It is estimated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that moths and beetles cause from 200 to 500 million dollars worth of damage to clothing and bedding each year.

Here is the treatment for woolen fabrics as given by the department. First, be sure that each garment or blanket is clean. Moths prefer dirty wooleens to clean ones, it has been found.

Use a mothproofing spray and see that it is applied thoroughly to all surfaces, seams and folds. Be sure to spray pockets and cuffs, both of dresses and those of trousers.

Allow the garment or blanket to dry before storing.

Beauty Culturists See Two Stylists

Unit 24 of the Beauty Culturists met Monday evening at the Hair Style Clinic to see the work of two Midland stylists. The guest artists were Clovis Fisher and Russell Driscoll.

Hostesses for the session were Mr. Bill Bell and Mrs. Harold Bentley. Mrs. Fred McGowan reported on the recent state convention held in Corpus Christi.

They voted to dispense with meetings until September.

Decorate Pie Edges For Fancy Finish

Finish your pies with fancy edges and they'll taste even better!

It's easy to decorate with leaf, fluted and fancy fork designs, said the recent issue of a magazine, which instructs teenage girls on pie "dress-up" techniques. Even more experienced pie-makers should find the tips helpful.

Fancy edges can be made only when the pastry is rolled out perfectly. Lightly flour your pastry board and rolling pin, and lightly roll the dough from the center outward, but never going to the very edge. If cracks develop, roll dough toward the crack from each side. To transfer the dough to the pan, loosen one half gently with a spatula and fold it back on the other half. Then fold it in half again to form a fan shape and place in pan with the point of the fan in the center. Unfold without stretching and pat out air bubbles.

Standing Rim: This is one of the first steps in making many of the fancy pie-crust edges. Roll dough one inch larger than pan. Fit pastry loosely into pan. With scissors, trim overhang one-half inch beyond rim of pan and fold it under to make a half-inch stand-up rim.

Fluted Edge (for one-crust pie): Make a standing rim. Place your left index finger on inside of pastry rim. Then, working from the outside, press the pastry rim against your left finger with the right index finger and thumb. Repeat every quarter-inch until the whole pie rim is fluted.

Leaf Edge (for one-crust pie): Fit pastry into pan. Trim overhang even with edge of pan. Make a paper cutout of a leaf, three-quarters inch long and one-half inch wide. Roll out remaining pastry. Using pattern, cut out pastry leaves. Brush rim with water; top with overlapping leaves. Press.

First Presbyterian Women Meet At Church, In Homes Of Members

Women of the First Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon in various groups in members' homes. The Business Women's Circle met at the church for a covered dish supper.

Hostesses for the supper were Mrs. Sam McComb and Mrs. Lee Porter. Mrs. Porter presided for the meeting and offered the prayer, preceding the program.

The invocation for the dinner was given by Dr. Gage Lloyd. The devotion was brought by Mrs. Jim Engstrom. This was based on the fourth chapter of Luke and the sixth chapter of Matthew with the title, "Plenty and Want."

Fifteen were present; five guests were Mrs. Frank Knous, Mrs. Tom Rosson, Mrs. Albert Davis, president of the association, Dr. Lloyd and Gage Jr.

Dulles Reassures U.S. Allies On Disarmament Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States attaches first importance to its relations with its allies and will not throw their views into the discard just to make speed with the Soviet Union on a disarmament agreement.

Dulles told a news conference that some aspects of disarmament probably can be talked about with Russia on an informal basis.

But he said emphatically that present arms control negotiations are not simply two-way talks between the United States and Russia.

Dulles made these points when questioned about the sudden return here Saturday of disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen.

Stassen was still in Washington today — which means a delay in the scheduled reopening of disarmament talks in London. These had been set for this afternoon.

Dulles' emphasis on the importance of Allied cooperation seemed to bear out reports that Britain and France have complained about Stassen's private talks with Soviet representative Valerian Zorin in London about 10 days ago on new U.S. disarmament proposals.

While Dulles left the way open for some direct Stassen-Zorin contact, his words strongly indicated that he disapproves of any negotiations directly with Russia unless U.S. Allies approve.

Dulles told his news conference on other topics:

1. He assumes that the newly elected Canadian government may want to take a new look at the question of an arctic disarmament zone involving Canadian territory. That might involve further delay in the London negotiations.

2. The United States would not present a first-stage disarmament program involving European territory without the unanimous agreement of all the countries involved. Dulles indicated some difficulties which he described as procedural on how to work out a zone proposal.

3. The United States would probably get more protection out of any disarmament agreement than Russia would because this country fears that under certain circumstances the Soviet Union might attack while the Soviet Union has no reason to fear an American attack.

4. The United States is prepared to join in an exchange of TV-radio programs with the Soviet Union but is not much interested in what Dulles called a one-shot reply to Nikita Khrushchev's recent appearance on a panel program. An American proposal for an exchange of 30-minute programs once a month is still open, Dulles said. It was first put forth at the Geneva foreign ministers meeting 18 months ago.

5. Dulles does not think it is proper to suggest — as Senate Republican Leader Knowland suggested a few days ago — that Norway might withdraw from the North Atlantic Alliance if Russia would pull its troops out of Hungary. Any free country which wants to participate in a free world mutual security system should have every opportunity to do so, Dulles said.

6. There is still a slight possibility of negotiating with Britain for limitation of its expanded trade with Red China. Dulles said that some of the new goods which the British may trade as a result of abandoning certain restrictions may be limited by quotas which are still to be worked out.

One Zoning Change Refused By Panel

One of two proposed zoning changes was rejected by the planning and zoning board at a public hearing Monday night.

Between 30 and 40 citizens attended the meeting held for the purpose of deciding on the zoning changes. Citizens within 200 feet of the proposed changes were asked to attend the hearing and air their views.

Rejected was the proposal to change the area bounded by Birdwell, 18th, Richmond, and the alley south of Morrison. The area is zoned A (one-party dwelling) and the change — if passed — would have made the area a commercial zone.

From the entire delegation attending the meeting concerned with the Morrison area, no one favored the zoning change.

Areas in the College Park Estates were recommended for changes from A to B (two-party dwelling), D (multiple-party dwelling), and E and F (both commercial) zones. The areas are located between Purdie and Fourth and east of HCJC to Baylor Boulevard.

John Little, representing the College Park developers, met with the group and explained his firm's plans. He volunteered to file deed restrictions on any property sold by his firm for commercial areas. These restrictions would provide for only brick, brick veneer, or stone masonry buildings, he said. He said he could not divulge his firm's specific plans, but they are to expand the Birdwell - Fourth area into a large shopping center.

The recommended changes in the College Park Estates will be by his firm for commercial areas. The planning and zoning board can only recommend; the final decision is in the hands of the commission.

'Baby Christians' Answer Revival Call

NEW YORK (AP) — "Baby Christians," that's what the Billy Graham crusaders call the hundreds of New Yorkers who come forward nightly at the evangelist's plea to "give your life to Christ."

There was an average of 604 each night in the first three weeks of the big religious drive at Madison Square Garden. It's the greatest response Graham has ever had.

What happens to them, once they've made their decision and stepped to the front?

"It is the big moment of their lives," Graham said. "They're spiritual babies, and they need all the encouragement and love and guidance we can give them."

Each night, as the service closes, the newly won believers form two long, broad processions as they divide at the platform and move out two exits, down two curving corridors into a basement auditorium.

Even before then, counselors distributed about the main floor have left their seats and moved forward with the newcomers. Each counselor singles out one of them and joins him at the front.

In the basement auditorium, the new group takes chairs, each one side by side with a counselor.

Graham usually speaks to them briefly, telling them of the significance of their step, of the "radical transformation" in peace and inner strength Christ brings those who yield fully to him.

Then, the Rev. Joseph Blinco, an Anglican from London and a member of the Graham team, advises them about aids to spiritual growth — daily Bible reading, daily prayer, forthright "witnessing" for Christ, regular church attendance.

You are "baby Christians, beginners," he tells them, but "it is only a beginning." Then he gives a prayer, in short phrases, having them repeat each phrase after him.

"Gracious God . . . I confess my sins to Thee . . . I am a sinner . . . I need salvation . . . and I believe Thou dost offer it me . . ."

Then the Rev. Mr. Blinco adds a few other pointers about Christian development, and the group repeats together another short prayer: "Thank you . . . Lord Jesus . . . for coming into my heart as my savior . . . amen."

Will the decision last? Graham said that in a "vast majority of cases," studies show it does.

"It will take some of them a year to blossom into faith," he said. "Some come along faster, some slower, but within a few months, they will start coming up as the new leaders in the churches."

Work Progressing On New Pipe Line For Repressuring

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the construction of a 18-inch pipeline to serve the Mousanto (Lion) repressuring project in Scurry County.

Operators are estimated to be about halfway through in laying the 16,000 feet of line. The pipeline will parallel the present 27-inch supply line of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and will extend from the Sharon Ridge repressuring water plant to where the SACROC line takes off from the main supply line.

The Monsanto utilized project, has been served through the SACROC treatment plant, and the new line will insure adequate supply of water for it to the treatment plant.

Operators are financing the cost of lines and pumps, which will be refunded through three-cent per thousand gallon credit until the cost is amortized. The line will belong to the district.

Second Pennsylvania Test Not As Successful As First

A second drillstem test in the Pennsylvania at the Shell Oil No. 1 Currie in Glasscock Monday failed to produce as heavily as did the one over the weekend.

Whereas the weekend Pennsylvania test brought 3,100 feet of free oil and 200 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, the test Monday produced only 160 feet of slightly gas-cut mud. No water accompanied either test, however.

The venture is about six miles north of Garden City. Previous tests showed oil in the Wolfcamp.

FORGERY CASES SET AT LAMESA

LAMESA — Three forgery cases are due to be heard in 196th District Court before Judge Lewis B. Reid, Wednesday morning.

T. E. Kennamer and Francis McGuffee, both of Comanche, were indicted Monday and bond set for $1,500. However, they will go immediately before the court.

Ben Briggs, Lamesa, was billed for forgery and had his bond fixed at $500, but he also will go before the judge Wednesday.

The fourth man named in forgery counts was John L. Overman, who has a previous record. He also is facing charges of forgery at Dimmitt, burglary at Brownfield, and car theft at Odessa. His bond was pegged at $2,000.

Robert Lee Sims, Slaton and Ruby Renfro, San Antonio, were indicted for the burglary of the Piggy Wiggy store here last week. Their bonds were fixed at $2,000. No - billed in this case were Eva Mae Sims, Slaton, and Gaylon Mitchell, San Antonio.

City Bond Election May Be Scheduled

An election to vote on $50,000 in water and sewer revenue bonds will probably be called tonight by the city commission.

The city's fiscal agent, Ransom Galloway of Municipal Securities of Dallas, will meet with the city commission at its regular meeting tonight. Galloway has prepared the legal work necessary before calling an election.

The city will need the money to finance its part of water and sewer lines to serve Webb AFB's proposed housing unit.

Under a contract signed by the city and the Air Force, the government would loan the city a maximum of $175,000 and the city would furnish all over this. The estimated total cost is $225,000.

In addition, the commission will discuss water matters, and take bids on two police cars and seal-coating work.

The city's policy is to trade in police cars when they reach the 50,000-mile mark, and two are now in this category.

The sealcoating work is an annual job which this year is being contracted. Previously, the city has done the work.

Representatives from Coaden and Cabot are expected to meet with the commission tonight to discuss a water contract. At the present, the two firms purchase raw water from the city for 174 cents per 1,000 gallons. The city proposes to leave the rate as it is unless the price for the city changes.

Should CRMWD increase the city's rate, the Coaden-Cabot rate would increase accordingly, but should the city's rate be decreased, the city proposes to leave Coaden's rate at the present level.

Commissioners will also discuss hiring a city attorney full time. A spring graduate of the Texas Law School, Wayne Basden, applied for the job and has been interviewed by the commission.

At the present, Walton Morrison is paid as a part-time city attorney, but the commission felt the need for a full-time employee when the budget was considered in March.

Webb Sets Bid Dates

Webb AFB has issued invitations for bids on repair of a taxi strip, alteration of a base fire station and for pouring concrete slab at the refueling and maintenance station.

Bids on the taxi strip work will be opened June 19, and on the fire station and concrete work June 20.

Several other bid opening dates also have been set, including June 21 for modification of the Link trainer building, June 24 for repair of Building No. 35, and June 25 for purchase of a power lawn mower.

Contract for 154 easy chairs, to be used in base housing, has been let to Erwin Lambeth Corp., Thomasville, N. C. The firm will supply the chairs for $10,972.50.

Three Accidents On Fourth Street

In the past two days, four accidents have occurred, and three of them were at Fourth Street intersections.

This morning, Herman Morris, 106 E. 17th, and Jack Martin, 511 N. Benton, were drivers of cars colliding at Fourth and State.

Billy Gillard, 407 Owens, and Willie Dillard of Abilene collided at the corner of Fourth and Gold Monday. Earlier Mary Greenwood, 1201 Douglas, and Bobby McMillan, 402 Lancaster, were involved in a minor accident at Fourth and Gregg.

In the only accident not on the highway, Robert Cook and Joyce Yarbrough of Aubrey were drivers of cars involved in an accident at 1200 Austin.

Huge Shortage In Cook County Official Funds

CHICAGO (AP) — Auditors checking records in the Cook County treasurer's office yesterday announced a shortage of funds that may exceed a million dollars and involve the entire tax foreclosure structure.

State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski said of the discovery: "It is our understanding that this case dates back into the entire tax foreclosure picture."

"In our opinion we have the makings of a scandal which far exceeds what was called to our attention two weeks ago," he added.

At that time, Treasurer Herbert C. Pleschen reported that at least $44,000 was missing in a case "with overtones of similarity with the Hodge scandal."

Orville Hodge, ousted Illinois state auditor, is serving a state sentence of 12 to 15 years in prison after his plea of guilt to charges stemming from the theft of more than two million dollars of public funds.

Adamowski said the new shortage has nothing to do with the first one. The second shortage was discovered by auditors checking interest and penalties on real estate taxes.

"The pattern we are certain of now, covers the period from 1947 up to and including 1956," Adamowski said.

A preliminary investigation covered two periods. The first was in 1954 when Republican John Brennan was in office and the second in 1955 when Paschen, the present Democratic office holder, was treasurer.

Two employees were suspended by Paschen in the wake of the first investigation. They are Ernest E. Peterson, 57, head bookkeeper and treasurer's office employee since 1939; and Milton Baer, 55, supervisor of the foreclosure department since 1932.

New Pettus Electric Plant

This is the modern, new home of the Albert Pettus Electric Company of Big Spring. Situated on the Snyder Highway just northeast of the city, the all-steel building provides adequate space and all modern equipment for electrical work. Pettus also maintains a large stock of replacement parts as well as a supply of new motors, switches and other equipment. Outside trouble shooting is a specialty of the concern.

Philgas Makes Rural Living More Pleasant

Philgas, a servant that makes life easier and more enjoyable for the rural housewife, can also be of great use to the farmer himself. Many a farmer waiting to get into his fields can put the idle time to good use by converting his tractor to the use of Philgas, butane that is safe and economical.

Employees of the McGibbon Oil Company, local agent for Philgas, can convert the farm implements to the use of the butane in short order.

The entire home can be modernized with the use of Philgas. A modern Philgas range gives one perfect heat control for baking, roasting and top-of-the-range cooking.

The speed and convenience of an up-to-date range using Philgas gives the user more free time away from the kitchen.

Philgas can also be used for clothes drying, home heating and hot-water heating. Fact is, it's like having an extra hand around the house for everyday household tasks.

McGibbon Oil Company and the Phillips 66 Service stations are also the area distributors for the famous Phillips 66 ammonium sulfate fertilizer, guaranteed to make lawns and shrubbery, if applied correctly.

The ammonium sulfate, possessing nitrogen, is the key to satisfactory growth of fruit and shade trees.

A 50-month road hazard guarantee is being offered on the Lee tractor tire, sold locally by the McGibbon Oil Company and its Phillips 66 outlets.

The rear farm-service tires boast an open center, flex-action tread, which speeds work and cleans and bites as it rolls.

The Lee tractor tire has gum lining, which guards against chemical action from liquid weighing.

Save time, work and money by using Phillips 66 Lee tires on your farm implements.

Pettus Electric Opens New Plant

Albert Pettus Electric Company is now operating in a new plant on the Snyder Highway just northeast of Big Spring.

Completely modern equipment is utilized in the new plant into which Pettus has moved from a smaller building at 202 1/2 Benton. The new facilities also provide for adequate parking space as well as a large amount of equipment storage area outside the main building.

Construction of the all-steel building has climaxed a period of growth that started almost as soon as Albert Pettus opened his business here three years ago, on Feb. 15, 1954.

Pettus has lived most of his life in Howard County and has nearly 21 years of experience in the electrical field. He was born Feb. 2, 1917, in White County, Ark., but lived there only until 1928.

In that year, W. W. Pettus purchased a new Model-T Ford truck, installed a tarpaulin over the back, covered wagon fashion, and with his family lit out for Texas on a vacation trip. The family liked Texas so well that Mr. Pettus decided to stay.

They settled in the Knott community where Albert grew up as a West Texas farm boy. In September, 1936, he went to work as an apprentice electrician for Masters Electric Service of Big Spring.

Finishing his apprenticeship, Albert went to work for Taylor Electric here, holding that job until he enlisted in the Air Force in 1942. After spending four years in the Pacific Theatre of Operations, he returned to Knott where he operated a farm for two years. In 1948, he decided to return to electrical work and joined the Sweetwater Electric Company of Sweetwater. Later, he was employed by K&T Electric in Big Spring until he opened his own business early in 1954.

One of Pettus' former associates in Sweetwater recently joined the Pettus Electric staff here. He is Bill Powell, who held only one job — 11 1/2 years with Sweetwater Electric — before coming here. He is an electric motor specialist and Pettus describes him as "extremely competent."

Others on the Pettus staff are Eugene Brown, who has been with the company ever since its establishment, and Billy Bryant, a high school diversified occupations student.

Pettus also has one man stationed permanently in Colorado City. He is Jerome (Shorty) Sirus. The Pettus Electric is staffed and equipped to handle any type of electrical problem. Outside trouble-shooting work is a specialty. A complete line of motors, all types and sizes, is stocked, along with a full line of automatic switches, belts, pulleys, and parts for repair and service of any piece of electrical equipment.

Generator, starter and magnet repairing is featured, and Pettus operates a generator exchange. Air conditioner motors, pumps, floats and belts are sold.

Gilliland Supplies Upholstery Fabrics

Marvin Gilliland, owner and operator of Gilliland Household Repair, 111 Utah Road, has announced that his firm has one of the largest selections of upholstery fabrics ever offered here. Availability of the fabrics makes Gilliland's establishment the logical place to have your upholstery work done. For Gilliland and his employees are skilled in every phase of upholstery work. Customers are invited to choose their fabrics from the firm's wide selection, then turn the furniture over to Gilliland Household Repair for complete repair and renovation. Gilliland said he will be happy to make free estimates of cost in advance on any job. His firm also provides a free pick-up and delivery service, which is available to anyone wishing to have furniture re-upholstered. Gilliland also announced he has acquired the distributorship of "Sta-Clean," a revolutionary new silicon compound that protects upholstery from all types of stains. Sta-Clean can be sprayed on new or old fabrics, making them impervious to coffee, tea, alcohol and other types of stains. An entire suite of furniture can be treated with Sta-Clean at minimum cost, Gilliland said. The work can be performed in the living room, in a short period of time. The upholstery expert said the compound works equally well on new and old material. It is long-lasting and invisible. Gilliland may be contacted at his shops at 111 Utah Road, in the Airport Addition, or by telephone, No. 3-2338.

Talented Tennis

The three Big Spring girls pictured above picked up first place trophies in the Midland Jaycees' junior tennis tournament held last weekend. Layla Ann Glaser, left, and Betty Ellison, right, teamed to win the "15 and under" doubles crown, defeating two other local girls in the finals. Nita Farquhar, center, captured the "18 and under" singles championship. Nita is also holding the Dibreil Sportsmanship Trophy, an award she won in volleyball the past school year. The girls are coached by Billie Clyburn.

Bob Buhl's Mastery Over Bums Endures

By ED WILKS
 The Associated Press

Milwaukee's Bob Buhl still has the Brooklyn Dodgers on a string. Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall is still "all goofed up"—and the National League pennant race is still a tight little sprint, with only a three-game spread covering the first five teams.

Only two games were scheduled in the NL last night. Buhl, who beat the Dodgers eight times last year, wrapped them up for a second time this season with a 4-hit, 3-1 win that left Brooklyn and the Braves in a tie for third place, 1/2 game behind first-place Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh and Vern Law took care of the Redlegs, 5-2. Law pitched a four-hitter that left the leaders only one game ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

GABE PAUL, president of the Cincinnati Reds: "Ted Kinszewski was benched with the misery in his back. It was a tremendous decision to make and a momentous thing out there. But as news, it barely made the wire. In New York, if Mickey Mantle comes down with a hangnail, it's critical."

DICK SISLER, comparing the Southern Association, where he now manages a club, with the Pacific Coast League, where he pitched in 1956: "I find a difference in the pitching. I believe the Coast League has a little more experienced pitching. Their older fellows can pitch the ball to a spot better and they work on you a little more. Otherwise, the Southern, from what I have seen, is just as good. There are many players in this league who can make it in the Pacific."

WILLIE HARTACK, champion jockey: "There is no such thing as 'style' in riding horses. When the gate opens and you're up on this dude, you do whatever you have to do to win. I just hope the trainer has him fit to run."

GEORGE ZAHARIAS, husband of the late Babe Zaharias: "I've noticed a difference in people the last few months. Without the Babe, nobody seems interested in Big George anymore. It saddens me to realize how many of my so-called friends were merely celebrity-happy . . . I have worked hard on the Babe Zaharias Cancer Fund and we've raised over $130,000 through voluntary contributions. But I have to be pessimistic about its survival. I'm only an amateur at this fund-raising business and no one has offered to give it a professional touch . . . Me and the Babe bought a golf course in Tampa. But now that she's gone I've sold out the course. It was a joint thing and the Babe was too much in it for me to go on. I'm even selling our 'dream house' that we built together."

JOE GORDON, manager of the San Francisco Seals, wondering aloud about fans who sit in the extremities of the baseball parks and boo themselves bug-eyed at ball and strike calls: "How can they, where they're sitting, tell a ball from a strike? The hitters don't know half the time, and they're standing right there where the traffic is the heaviest."

EDDIE BORDEN, famed boxing authority: "I have seen middleweight champions from Harry Greb up to the present day, and it is doubtful if you could say with any degree of accuracy that the old-timers outclass the present generation. Ray Robinson would have held his own with any of the old guard and I would have to include such classic names as Stanley Ketchel, Mike Gibbons, Billy Paepke, Mickey Walker, Tiger Flowers, Harry Greb or any middleweight champion that you can name. Robinson is the epitome of perfection. He has shown to the satisfaction of many skeptics that he has finally arrived in the charmed circle. If there were any lingering doubts that he ever belonged in that fancy regime. He is the essence of grace, courage, dignity and fighting skill. Every possible requisite is at his command. Were he to retire tomorrow, the plaudits would reverberate without cessation. He is truly a marvel of present-day fistcutters."

AL LOPEZ, White Sox manager: "What would I be doing if it were not for baseball . . . Why, I suppose I'd be rolling cigars in a cigar factory. That's what my brothers are doing. That's what all the kids in my neighborhood are doing. That's all there was to do around Tampa when I finished high school."

California Cracking Whip In NCAA Baseball Meet

OMAHA (AP)—California was cracking the whip today in the NCAA College World Series with three straight wins after having handed Penn State its first defeat in 22 starts 8-0 last night.

The Bears from the West were to go against Iowa State, 2-1 in the double elimination tournament at 7 p.m. EST after Penn State and Notre Dame battled for survival at 1 p.m., EST. Both Penn State and Notre Dame are 2-1 in the series.

California, getting fine pitching and hitting the ball hard, beat Iowa State 8-2 in the second round Sunday.

The Bears got four hit pitching from Kim Elliott last night and scored five times in the first two innings against Penn State.

Five hit pitching by Chuck Symeon marked Notre Dame's 9-0 win over Texas, the pre-tourney favorite because of strong pitching. It was wildness of Texas hurlers that played the biggest part in the sidling of the Longhorns.

Sportsmen And DAV Triumph

Two big innings propelled the Sportsmen to a 31-21 National Minor League victory over the Red Sox here Monday afternoon.

In the other contest, the Disabled Veterans club humbled the Cleaners, 9-3.

The Sportsmen started off with a 12-run first inning and ganged up on Sox again in the third with a ten-run outburst.

B. Turnage paced the 22-hit attack against Sox hurling with four safeties. The Sox managed ten hits off Sportsmen hurling.

The number, four came off the bat of Wells, catcher.

The DAV scored in every inning in blasting the Cleaners. The high point in the Vets' attack came in the second, when they chased 12 runs across the dish.

Rocky Nelson had five hits for the winners.

Andy Anderson picked up the win, limiting the Cleaners to five hits. He struck out five but walked 13.

Changes Are Made In YMCA Schedule

Ladies Here For Tourney

A one-day women's golf tournament, which has attracted players from throughout the area, got underway at the Big Spring Country Club this morning.

The ladies were to play nine holes this morning, quit for lunch and then complete their round this afternoon.

Winners will be determined by medal scores. Pro C. A. DeWees arranged the handicaps and is serving as the starter.

Ballinger Halts Losing Streak

Ballinger halted a 4-game losing streak Monday night and tightened up the Southwestern League race although Clovis still is three games ahead.

Youth Movement Fizzles In Major Tournaments

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The 57th National Open Golf Tournament shaped up more strongly as a probable battle of the time-hardened oldsters and provided the pointed query: "Whatever became of the celebrated 'youth movement'?"

"These kids just don't have the shots yet," said Jimmy Demaret, 37, whose putting touch has made him one of the pre-tournament choices for the record $7,200 top prize money in the event starting Thursday.

"They're all fine players but they haven't had their games sharpened by tough championship courses and stern competition."

Gene Sarzen, 55, who won his first Open in 1922, and another a decade later, said he felt that the default lay in the vanishing caddies.

ROY HARRIS, WILLIE PASTRANO COLLIDE TONIGHT IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Roy Harris and Willie Pastrano square off tonight in a 10-round heavyweight bout that promises to be a test of eagerness versus experience.

It will be the biggest boxing show ever seen in this Gulf Coast city.

Ticket sales were soaring near $40,000, a Houston record. The previous high was $23,500 paid for the Bob Baker-Harris fight last month.

Harris, 23, a mild-mannered school teacher from Cut and Shoot, Tex., about 35 miles from Houston, faces the biggest test of his promising career in Pastrano, ranked third in the nation.

The New Orleans and Miami heavyweight also needs a victory to bolster his bid for a future title fight with champion Floyd Patterson.

Experience against a string of top fighters makes Pastrano a favorite. He has whipped such formidable opponents as Bobby Dykes, Al Andrews, Joey Maxim, Chuck Spelzer, Joe Rowan and Rex Layne in compiling a 41-4-3 record.

Pastrano's six-year pro career saw his last defeat in 1953. "He has never lost as a heavyweight. This year, he's scored over Johnny Holman and Neil Welch."

Harris is ranked ninth among heavyweights. He is expected to weigh in at 190. Pastrano at 186—a figure his trainer calls "our best weight."

Vets Kayo Owls, Yanks Triumph

The VFW kayoed the Owls, 15-5, and the Yankees used a big inning to belt the Gold Sox, 10-7, in National Little League games unraveled here Monday evening.

The Veterans started off with a three-run first round, added six in the second and their other six in the third in the first game.

Tony Lotis pitched and batted the Vets to their win, cutting loose with two triples and a single. He set the Owls down with seven scattered hits.

Ronnie Crownover had a triple and a one-baser for the losers.

The league-leading Yankees rode out a rough third inning, at which time the Sox scored all of their runs, then surged for five tallies in the fourth to rack the Golden Hose.

Ricky Wisener crashed out a home run with the bases loaded for the losers. Randy Herrington produced the other big blow, a double that produced three runs.

Bums And Optimists Rack Up Wins In Junior Loop

The Bums and the Optimists got off to fast starts in Junior Teen-Age baseball league play last night.

Joe Ramirez pitched the Bums past the Rotarians, 11-0, setting the losers down with two hits. H. Ramirez clubbed a double for the winners.

Joe Martinez crashed out a three-batter for the Bums. Joe Ramirez struck out six of the Rotarians.

The Bums collected three runs in the first, two in the third, three in the fourth and three in the fifth, after which the ten-run rule was put into effect.

The Optimists had things going their way in their game with the Kiwanis, winning, 14-4.

Dewey Phillips authored the win, limiting the Kiwanis to five hits. He fanned four and issued only two bases on balls.

Verbon Rigby clubbed a double for the Optimists while Jay LeFevre had three hits for the winners.

Defending Champ Rallies To Win

HOUSTON (AP)—Top seeded Bernard Bartz of Dallas plays his first match today in the 44th annual Texas Sectional Tennis tournament.

Defending champion Richard Schutte dropped the first seven games, then rallied to beat Terry Todd of Austin 6-6, 6-2, 6-2 in opening rounds yesterday.

Hearing By Green

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Hal Haddican, Plainview infielder who got into a tussle with umpire Al Martin at Carlsbad Sunday, gets a hearing today on a temporary suspension handed him by Southwestern League President W. J. Green.

Musial Equals Gussie Suhr's Mark Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan Musial, perhaps the National League's all-time No. 1 player, reaches another milestone tonight when he plays in his 3222nd consecutive game. That will equal Gus Suhr's National League "Iron Man" record set 10 years ago.

The great St. Louis Cardinal star already holds the league record for most extra-base hits. He is almost certain to add to the runs scored, runs batted in, total bases and two-base hit titles before he finally lays aside his bat. He began the season with 774 consecutive games played since the start of the 1952 season.

He has played in all his team's 47 games so far for a grand total of 321, a figure which would have been much higher had he not agreed to his manager's wish to sit out the final game of the 1951 season.

Musial's endurance mark is all the more amazing because of his insistence on playing despite assorted injuries, illnesses and compliance to his manager's wishes to divide his duties between first base and all three outfield positions during the past 10 seasons.

A star without temperament, the pride of Donora, Pa., ranks second to the late Lou Gehrig with nine complete seasons. Gehrig, who rolled up the major league high of 2,130 games from June 1, 1925, through April 30, 1938, took part in all his club's games for 13 consecutive years.

Tigers Turn Back Broncs, 15-11

Glenn Whittington's Tigers upended the Big Spring Hardware Broncs, 15-11, in an American Minor League game played here Monday afternoon.

The Bengals now boast a 4-3 won-lost record.

Tom Phillips crashed out three hits for the winners while Ricky Robertson came in for the Tigers. The Bengals scored in every inning but the second.

Church Circuit Opens Thursday

The six-team YMCA Church Softball League opens its 1957 season Thursday night, with contests scheduled for 7:30 and 9 p.m. at the city park.

Opening round engagements pit Temple Baptist against Wesley Methodist at 7:30 o'clock and the West Side Baptist against East Fourth Baptist at 9:00.

Games will be played Mondays and Thursdays of each week through the summer.

Other teams entered into competition include First Methodist and First Baptist.

Argentine Shades Willi Besmanoff

NEW YORK (AP)—With just one year of experience behind him, Argentina's handsome, husky Alex Miteff, 22, appeared headed today for a ranking among the world's top ten heavyweight contenders.

The undefeated, 6-1, invader decisively whipped Germany's Willi Besmanoff at St. Nicholas Arena last night to chalk up his ninth victory in as many fights.

Water Freed From Falcon Reservoir
 McALLEN (AP) — Releases of water from Falcon Reservoir were cut yesterday and the water level in the reservoir rose slowly.
 John Clare, deputy water master, said that 50 cubic feet per second was flowing past lower Brownsville due to the effects of recent rain on the lower river. He said that due to the rains, water users did not divert the water which had been requested for their use.

Baptist Group Asked To Look Into Midland College Plans

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Baptist Education Commission yesterday recommended establishment of Baptist junior colleges in Dallas and Houston and asked its coordinator to discuss establishing one in Midland.

The commission, headed by Dr. James H. Landes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wichita Falls, approved plans for the Dallas and Houston schools which would be branches of Baylor University.

Bette Davis Is Quitting Gary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie star Bette Davis has sued her fourth husband, actor Gary Merrill, for separate maintenance.
 Her complaint charges that since their marriage July 28, 1950, in Juarez, Mexico, he has treated her with "extreme cruelty" and has "wrongfully inflicted . . . grievous mental suffering."
 The actress' suit was filed last Friday in the suburban Santa Monica Superior Court with the plaintiff's name as Mrs. Ruth Elizabeth Merrill. It came to attention upon reaching court headquarters in downtown Los Angeles yesterday.

Matusow Ordered To Start Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvey M. Matusow lost a new bid Monday to remain free on bail and was ordered to start serving immediately his 5-year prison sentence for perjury.
 The turncoat government witness appeared before U. S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri while his counsel, Stanley M. Faulkner, sought to have him continued in bail.

Mayflower Arrival Time Dependent Upon The Wind

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — Mayflower II today was reported about 200 miles off the mainland, but just when she would arrive at her Plymouth destination was purely speculation.
 Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the bark recreating the original Plymouth sailing in 1620, radioed the Plymouth reception at midnight that there is little prospect of good sailing winds, adding, "We could be here for days."
 Mayflower II was reported yesterday about 60 miles west southwest of Nantucket lightship. The lightship is about 13 miles from Plymouth.
 There has been no further word of the vessel's position in Villier's messages to the mainland.
 Mayflower II was scheduled to arrive at Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, at noon today to commemorate the signing of the Mayflower Compact.
 Members of the Provincetown committee say they have no idea now when the square-rigged bark will arrive for her brief stopover about half a mile offshore.
 Ronald Fort, chairman of the Plymouth reception committee, said early today, "The Mayflower could arrive as late as Friday. She'll be in Plymouth by Saturday, you can count on that."
 Mayflower II is scheduled to proceed to New York Harbor after 12 days at Plymouth to be used as a tourist attraction for the summer. She will be permanently berthed in Plymouth in the fall.

Non-Union Men Have New Appeal

ATLANTA (AP) — Twelve railroad employees have won another superior court hearing in efforts to hold their jobs without joining a union.
 The Georgia Supreme Court ruled yesterday that while a 1953 "closed shop" agreement between railroads and unions is legal, another avenue of appeal is open.
 No worker can be forced to join a union whose dues are used to "support ideological and political doctrines and candidates," Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth wrote.
 He ordered a rehearing in the case, which was dismissed by Superior Court Judge O. L. Long of Macon.

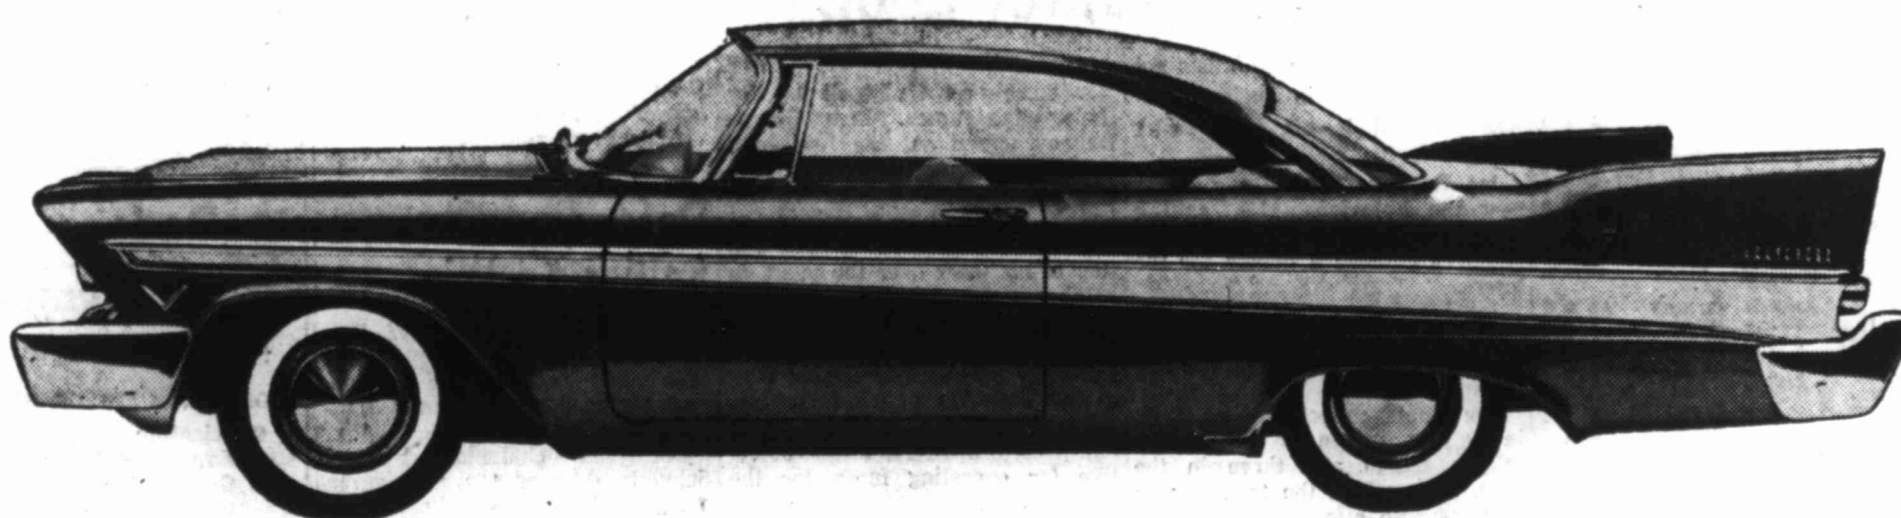

Matusow Ordered To Start Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Harvey M. Matusow lost a new bid Monday to remain free on bail and was ordered to start serving immediately his 5-year prison sentence for perjury.
 The turncoat government witness appeared before U. S. District Judge Edmund L. Palmieri while his counsel, Stanley M. Faulkner, sought to have him continued in bail.

Police Told Of Crime Increase

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson scheduled a speech today to delegates to the Texas Police Assn. convention.
 Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, predicted in a talk yesterday law enforcement officers in Texas will face a bigger problem in the future.
 Garrison told the opening session that at the present rate of increase there would be 180,000 major offenses in Texas in 1962. He said these would include an average of three murders, four rapes and 30 aggravated assaults every day.

 The chief law officer also said traffic deaths per 100 million miles traveled were decreasing. However, he said, increased mileage probably would bring the yearly

Yarborough Hits Policy In Girard Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Yarborough (D-Tex) said yesterday the United States surrendered its national sovereignty when it turned over William Girard for trial in Japanese courts.

Girard became the center of an international controversy after U.S. authorities decided to allow him to stand trial on charges of killing a Japanese woman on a U.S. Army firing range.

"Girard was not out on a tourist's jaunt for his own fun," Yarborough said in a statement. He was a soldier of the United States on duty at the time. When the United States government determined to surrender Girard to a foreign power, it surrendered national sovereignty.

"This may well raise the question: Whom should Girard and other American soldiers in Japan obey in carrying out military orders, his military superiors or the instructions of a Japanese civilian court?"

Yarborough said the decision places an intolerable burden on the soldier on duty. I will work to remedy it.

Rep. Kilgore (D) of McAllen recalled that he introduced a resolution two years ago to wipe out portions of agreements which put American servicemen overseas under jurisdiction of some foreign nations for prosecution of some criminal offenses.

"I do not believe in drafting our young men into the military and sending them to bases located in foreign lands, only to be stripped of the protection of the laws of this country," Kilgore said.

Rep. Poage (D) of Waco said in a newsletter to constituents that he had protested to President Eisenhower. He said he was "shocked" by the decision to turn Girard over to the Japanese for trial.

Rep. Rutherford of the Odessa-Midland-El Paso district wrote in his newsletter that Girard was turned over to Japan under "the technicality that he was 'at ease' and thus off duty on the military range."

Two Drowned In Galveston Bay

HOUSTON (AP)—Two persons drowned in Galveston Bay yesterday.

New Premier Sought For Italy's Political Puzzle

ROME (AP)—President Giovanni Gronchi today started a search for a new Christian Democratic premier to lead Italy out of the most bewildering political jungle in its postwar history.

Gronchi scheduled a series of consultations with party leaders after the resignation last night of 69-year-old Adone Zoli, who refused to remain in office because his 22-day-old minority government was dependent on Fascist votes in Parliament.

There was no indication who might get the nod, but 55-year-old Giuseppe Pella, a former premier, was mentioned frequently.

Over $2,000 In Jewelry Is Stolen From Lamesa Store

LAMESA — The Dawson County Sheriff's Department and City of Lamesa Police are investigating the burglary early Sunday morning of the McCall Drug here.

Between $2,000 and $2,500 worth of watches and rings were stolen, and a few narcotics. The loot included 37 watches and 45 rings.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A friend dropped into real estate agent William A. Capozzi's office, saw him in conference with two men, assumed they were customers, just said "Hello" and walked out. Shortly afterward Capozzi was found bound and gagged in the office. The "customers" had taken $1,480.

Farm Agent's Aide Replaced At Lamesa

LAMESA — The Dawson County Commissioners Court Monday accepted the resignation of Don Fields as assistant county agricultural agent, and named Jesse Tackitt of Dublin to replace him.

Fields, assistant here since Feb. 15, 1956, will begin farming and sheep raising near Robert Lee.

Tackitt, a spring graduate of Texas A&M College, will assume his duties next Monday. A Methodist, he and his wife have one daughter.

Appearing before the commissioners with Tackitt were County Agent LeRoy Colgan and District Agent W. H. Jones of Lubbock. The court set the county's portion of his salary at $2,060, of which $840 is travel pay.

The court accepted the treasurer's report, showing cash on hand in all county funds at $296,152.61 on June 1.

Resident Highway Engineer A. W. Partain met with the court to discuss House Bill 260 in which the state will pay one-half of the cost of obtaining right-of-way for state and federal roads, not including farm-to-market roads.

The court took no action on asking for state funds on projects, desiring to learn more about the working of the new regulations.

A Family Affair

LOVINGTON, N.M. (AP)—Police said Crescencio Gonzales, 37, made a left turn and ran his car head on into another vehicle. Driver of the second car was Mrs. Janey Gonzales, his wife. Neither was hurt. Gonzales was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Drainage Problems Studied At C-City

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Council Monday night heard complaints from property owners in the northeast section of town concerning water damage to Eastover Street and adjoining property.

The property owners, including Wendell Thomas, Weldon Husky, Hubert Harris, Travis Strickland, and John Russell, asked that a lake at the intersection of Eastover and 15th Street be drained and that action be taken to prevent the water from flooding adjoining property during rains.

The group was told by city manager R. K. Sneath that it is not feasible to call a bond election to provide storm sewers for one section of the city and the city planned to drain the pond and would pave a drainage ditch on Eastover as soon as emergency repairs to other streets are made.

The council also voted to give Rowley United Theatres a 25-year non-exclusive franchise to pipe pictures and sound from one of their downtown theatres into homes. The theatre company will pay the city $100 per year and 2 per cent of the gross income from the project. The theatre company reserved the right to delay the project for two years.

The council heard R. W. Akridge of the Houston firm of Matkin and Fitch explain new laws regarding slum clearance. Akridge explained that the state Legislature had passed a bill to allow a city to declare an area a slum, condemn it, and resell it to private developers. He said that his architectural and engineering firm would be glad to assist the city in drawing up plans for slum clearance, public housing and "urban renewal."

The council also offered for sale seven acres of city owned land near the Colorado Sand and Gravel Company about a half mile southeast of Colorado City. The council will consider bids at its meeting on July 8.

A Bible Thought For Today

Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty. (Job 5:17)

Less Grants And More Loans

In his weekly newsletter from Washington to his Texas constituents Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson notes that the administration's foreign aid bill will come to the floor of the Senate soon. He suggests that "the entire record of the foreign aid program should be studied carefully in order to find the best course for our country."

Senator Johnson points out that two types of assistance have been included in our foreign aid programs since the end of World War II — direct grants, meaning straight-out gifts of money or goods; and loans for which we expect repayment.

In his opinion, while recognizing that grants are sometimes necessary in cases of actual suffering and distress, "generally speaking, people who are in trouble prefer a loan that helps them get back on their feet."

In San Antonio last April 6 Sen. Johnson had said: "We are not seeking to buy friendship or to create a system of satellite nations... We seek rather to help people become self-supporting. And gifts, however well intentioned, rarely accomplish that end."

This thought was embodied also in President Eisenhower's explanation of his aid program, so we may indulge the hope that in the future there will be fewer grants and more loans. Johnson notes that the Treasury has already collected $127 million in interest payments made to different countries in 1948. Interest has been collected on these loans when due, almost without exception, and Johnson feels sure those countries feel better about it in the long run, however quickly they may forget the outright gifts. There will be some losses but prudent lending will reduce these.

It was ten years ago June 6 that General Marshall outlined the Marshall Plan in a speech at Harvard. Some passing note was taken of that anniversary in this country, and in Britain the Chancellor of the Exchequer paid tribute to the general for proposing it, "for it is too easy to forget that General Marshall then threw a lifeline to Europe."

The Independent Glasgow Herald put it this way:

"Without American aid, and especially important, American encouragement the liberalization of European trade and its remarkable growth could not have reached their present-day proportions."

And the Financial Times of London wrote:

"The Marshall Plan was very much more than an act of American generosity. Its essential idea was that the various countries of Europe should work together in overcoming their common problems and determine for themselves where American help could be most effective... This fundamental idea has outlasted the Marshall Plan and is more vigorously at work today than ever before."

'P'like Pegs Temper Of The Times

Most little boys of our generation, in play, identified themselves with locomotive engineers, firemen and occasionally some famous frontiersman like Buffalo Bill or Dan'l Boone. Seldom did they choose to "p'like" notorious gunmen and outlaws, for their parents had reservations regarding such characters, whether they were "law-men" or outlaws.

A boy could hang out the kitchen window, pretending it was a locomotive cab, imitate locomotive noises and "p'like" he was Casey Jones for hours on end. Those bell-ringing, whistling, fire-breathing monsters of the rail conjured up all sorts of adventurous thoughts and actions. The modern diesel is far more efficient and powerful, to be sure, but its sound as inspiring as a flatbed wagon loaded with cedar fence posts.

In France, the French Public School Parents' Federation has completed a poll to find out what French kids pretend to be when they play "make believe." Eight thousand parents responded, and Napoleon held first place in the kids' pretending, with 804 votes. Victor Hugo was next with 594, with Pasteur and Joan of Arc close behind. Our own Davy Crockett ran eighth, with 190.

Could you imagine Mark Twain running second in a similar American poll, as Victor Hugo did in France? The adventures of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer are, we suspect, virtually unknown to modern American youngsters. They go for Wyatt Earp and the Lone Ranger type. Even the mighty Davy Crockett enjoyed a rather brief vogue — worn out by incessant repetition.

Kids ordinarily don't outgrow their make-believe ambitions as fast as you might suppose. We were a man-grown before we quit yearning to be a locomotive engineer.

in the continuation of his remarks, as follows:

"Now, if the President of the United States should go to Russia and ask for full time, let's see what he would get. First of all, there are 14 television stations, and there is radio coverage. I would say that if the Soviet Union—in return for that courtesy—of themselves wanted to ask an American, no matter who it might be, because, after all, you know Khrushchev is not the head of the state—except in power—but if they should invite an American to come, and guarantee that there would be no jamming, that there would be no interference, that they wouldn't put up counter-attractions to take people away from their radios, and all that sort of thing, for that time—if you can believe that, that will happen—I can tell you this, that somebody in this government would be glad to accept."

Now, the big news in that answer is that the American government really does want a chance to reply and yet doesn't feel that it should beg for radio or television time, but that the facilities should be offered on the initiative of the Russians.

There was an ambiguity, too, in the President's answers about trade with Red China. He said:

"Now, frankly, I am personally of the school of thought which believes that trade, in the long run, cannot be stopped. You are going to have either just authorized trade or you are going to have clandestine trade. You can stop the shipments from here, that is in the law, and that will be continued as long as it is in the law."

The President went on to discuss the "differential"—which means letting shipments go to Soviet Russia and not to Red China—and said that, while he doesn't see as much advantage in maintaining the differential as some people do, "he terms 'the complete elimination' of the differential. That's the British view which came persuasively from the lips of Prime Minister Macmillan at the recent conference with the President at Bermuda.

This, however, is an ambiguous and inadequate exposition by the President of a delicate problem. For, if it is logical to trade in non-strategic items just to make money, it's as logical for the same trade with Red China to be pursued in strategic articles. It's one way to build up potential enemies. The democracies have done it twice—before two world wars—only to see their own sons killed with the bullets and shells fashioned from such prewar trade.

These are subjects that call for more cautious and unambiguous treatment in press conferences. This will come only when questions are submitted by the reporters in advance and the President is briefed with written replies that have had the previous approval of all members of the government concerned with the different policies involved, as is the wise custom of the British cabinet.

Court Has New Concept On Military Trials

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the sheer confusion that could result, the Supreme Court's decision — freeing two American women who killed their soldier husbands overseas—may become a legal classic.

The two women—Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, who knifed her husband in Japan, and Mrs. Clarice B. Covert, who axed her husband in England—were tried by American military courts-martial and convicted.

The court yesterday said it is unconstitutional for the dependents of servicemen overseas to be tried by courts-martial for a capital offense, like murder. Why? The court ruled, in a majority opinion written by Justice Black: "Under the Constitution an American civilian is guaranteed the right to trial by jury. Therefore it is unconstitutional to try a civilian—at least for murder — by a military court."

Two of the six justices voting with the majority specifically limited their concurrence to capital cases, so whether a civilian could be court-martialed for an offense less than murder may require another ruling someday.

But Justice Clark, dissenting from the majority opinion, raised questions which, for brevity, are paraphrased here.

"If a serviceman's wife kills her husband overseas but can't be tried by court-martial — because the court rules she's entitled to jury trial—who will try her? A court in the country where the crime happened?"

If it happened in Japan, she couldn't get a jury trial because Japan has no jury system. Trial there is by judges. Should she be brought back here for trial? Congress would have to pass a law to provide for that.

But Clark doesn't think that would work. If—say it happened in Japan—there were Japanese witnesses, this country couldn't force them to come to the United States to testify. It has no power to. They're Japanese citizens.

And Clark noted that the Constitution, in guaranteeing jury trials, doesn't distinguish between murder and lesser crimes.

It's possible this decision will affect all the status-of-forces agreements this country has with other countries. The background on that will provide the background for the majority decision.

Quits Banking For Toys

NEW YORK (AP)—Many a kid, after losing interest in toys, has gone on to win success at investment banking.

Warren Gochenour Jr. is a man who reversed the field. He dropped investment banking 10 years ago to take up toys.

Now, after a number of years in which he thought he'd wind up in the poorhouse, he sells 80,000 toys a day. He owes much of his success to his daughter, Gail, now 16.

In 1947, Gochenour, a well-to-do young St. Paul investment banker, gave Gail two playthings — a toy bank and an expensive electric train.

"She played with them a few days, then would have nothing to do with them," he recalled. "That got me to thinking that maybe a lot of parents were like me—wasting money buying children toys in which they quickly lost interest."

"Why couldn't something be done to see that kids got reasonably priced toys suited to their age level and play needs?"

After a survey, Gochenour gave up investment banking and launched his world toy house firm. He had three basic goals. To pre-test toys, plainly mark on them the age levels for which they were most suitable, and to distribute them through mass outlets, such as chain drug and grocery stores.

"I met a lot of opposition," he said, "I ran through all my own money, and all the money I could borrow."

There were many mornings when I went to work not knowing whether I'd still be in business at nightfall. But every time I'd feel like quitting, I'd get enough encouragement from teacher and parent groups to keep trying a little longer."

The tide turned a couple of years ago with the development of low-priced durable plastics.

Here's how Gochenour operates: "There are some 5,000 toy manufacturers in the United States who turn out about 150,000 toys a year. We test about 10,000 of which we finally market some 1,500."

"We pick them by having them tested by children in kid juries in 24 nursery schools, play centers and kindergartens. The teachers grade the toys on their durability, play value, safety and educational value."

"If the teachers reject a toy, we don't handle it. We think teachers are better judges than a child psychologist in picking toys, because they know their children better."

His toys range in price from a dime to $1.50, average 49 cents. The most popular items are balloons, squeeze toys, stick horses, magic sets, plastic auto and airplanes, and household kits for little future mothers.

Wants Scientists To Oppose H-Tests

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Linus Pauling said today he is considering calling the scientists of all nations—Russians included—to join his appeal for an agreement to stop testing nuclear weapons.

"I should like to see the signatures of thousands of Russian scientists, of British and French scientists, of scientists of all the countries of the world, to this appeal," he said in an interview.

Pauling is a Nobel Prize-winning California biochemist.

He announced last week that 2,000 American scientists signed a stop-the-tests appeal that he wrote. It said radioactive elements, put in the air by the explosions already are damaging human health all over the world. It added:

"As scientists we have knowledge of the dangers involved and therefore a special responsibility to make those dangers known. We deem it imperative that immediate action be taken to effect an international agreement to stop the testing of all nuclear weapons."

Pauling said he is now contemplating ways to enlist the support of scientists everywhere for this appeal.

He leaves tomorrow for a lecture tour in France.

"I have made a vow that henceforth in every lecture or address that I give, no matter on what subject, I shall mention peace in the world," he said.

"Circumstances just forced me to write the appeal."

Pauling, 56, is a tall, spare, loose-jointed man with grey hair, searching blue eyes, and a sensitive face. He smiles frequently, breaking the intensity of his expression. While talking, he paces.

From the first nuclear explosion, he said, he has been concerned about the danger of polluting the atmosphere with radioactive material.

"There has hardly been a month since 1945 when I have not made a public statement about nuclear war," he said.

His position, summarized, is this:

1. People already are dying from the effects of fallout, radioactive particles carried by winds from the site of the explosions.
2. The physical danger increases with each added dose of radiation in the atmosphere.
3. This danger is greater than the danger of war today.
4. Therefore, for both moral and physical reasons, the three nations possessing nuclear weapons—the United States, Russia, and Britain—should agree to stop exploding them.

"It is my estimate that the bomb tests are causing now 1,000 additional deaths by leukemia ('a blood disease') each year, and even more by bone cancer." The estimate, Pauling said, is based on a report on leukemia by Dr. E. D. Lewis, professor of biology at the California Institute of Technology, and on Atomic Energy Commission Reports on fallout.

"I am convinced that there will be born in future generations hundreds of thousands of feeble-minded children, with serious physical defects because of the tests that already have been made," Pauling said.

He said he does not believe there is "any significant disagreement" among scientists about the question of fallout damage.

Where is the danger level of radiation in the atmosphere?

"That is something that needs to be interpreted," he said. "Dr. (Willard) Libby (of the AEC) may say, as he does, that there is no detectable damage done by bomb tests. But he does not say there is no damage done by bomb tests."

"I can't point out any single person and say he has leukemia or bone cancer because of the tests. At the present time we do not know how to distinguish between a case of leukemia or bone cancer due to the tests and a case due to some other cause."

"But a one per cent incidence in leukemia would mean more than 1,000 additional deaths by leukemia each year in the world. As to the effects of dosing the atmosphere with more radioactive materials," Pauling's statement signed by the 2,000 scientists said:

"Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world and causes damage to the pool of human germ plasma. . . ."

But what about the danger of war? While it exists, can the U.S. risk a discontinuance in the weapons tests?

"I am convinced that there will not be a nuclear war, that there never again will be a great world war," Pauling said.

He said he believed he understands the practical problems of disarmament, and does not know how to solve them. But he added that if the effort to solve them were commensurate "with the efforts now being made to perfect weapons of destruction, these problems could be solved."

Pauling heads the Division and Chemistry and Chemical Engineering at the California Institute of Technology. He has degrees and medals from many nations.

Outside the classroom, his special project is in the field of mental disease. He is attempting to apply a new concept of molecular disease to the problem of mental health.

The Paulings live in a rambling home in the foothills east of Pasadena. They have three sons and a daughter, all engaged in science or studying it.

Further Hearings On Baker's Union Are Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee has postponed until June 20 further hearings on the Bakers Union. The hearings, recessed last Friday, were to have resumed Thursday.

The postponement was called, the committee said, primarily to permit committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy and possibly other officials to testify at the contempt of Congress trials of two Teamsters Union officials, Frank W. Brewster and Einar O. Moha.

Brewster, head of the Teamsters Western Conference, and Moha, Teamsters executive vice president, refused last January to testify before the Senate investigations subcommittee, and challenged its jurisdiction.

Plant Hits Line, Towns Lose Power

DENISON (AP)—A jet plane crashed into a tower supporting a 132,000 volt line yesterday, knocking out electricity to at least four North Texas towns.

The pilot of the ship was identified as Lt. Gerald Odeman, who parachuted to safety. His home town was listed as Toledo, Ohio.

The F86D jet from Perrin Air Force Base hit the line running from the power plant at Lake Texoma's Denison Dam.

Power was knocked out for 37 minutes at Gainesville, Denison, Sherman and Pottsboro.

Jet Travel Will Put Boom On Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Passport Office is preparing for a boom in foreign travel when jet transports come into full use.

The real impact isn't expected until about 1959, but Miss Frances G. Knight, who heads the Passport Office, said today she doesn't plan to be caught unprepared.

She said in an interview the nation is "entering a new age of travel and speed which is going to make it possible for almost everybody in the country to visit places and see things never dreamed about."

She predicted it won't be long before a million passports a year will be needed to handle America's travel needs.

Her office this year has issued 560,000 of the little green books. Compare that with some 202,000 just 10 years ago.

And April was the most spectacular passport month in the nation's history, with 82,000 applications filed.

Despite widespread publicity concerning cases of persons whose passport rights were challenged on security grounds, Miss Knight said there was just one turnover for security reasons this year.

What it all points to, Miss Knight said, is "a fantastic world of travel ahead."

She said no place in the world will be more than 20 hours away with new jet transports that travel up to 600 miles an hour. Jet transports will carry 150 passengers, compared with the 90-passenger capacity of current commercial airliners. The jets will be able to make three transatlantic trips in the time it now takes to make two, she added.

"It is estimated," said Miss Knight, "that 12 large jets could handle all of the present transatlantic air traffic."

The Passport Office of the State Department has been run by a woman for the past 29 years. Miss Knight, who took over in 1955, has been busily modernizing—with both machines and decor—to keep up with the increasing pace of modern travel.

She said the Passport Office turned four million dollars into the Treasury last year and that its budget amounts to just half its receipts—"I know of no government agency that can make that claim."

She reported that "women are our best customers," taking 56 per cent of the passports issued, and that more and more older people are joining the travel crowd.

Women also provide the most headaches for the Passport Office. Somehow, she said, nail polish, cigarette burns and mutilations appear with "amazing frequency" across the year of birth on their passports. She noted this makes the passport "null and void."

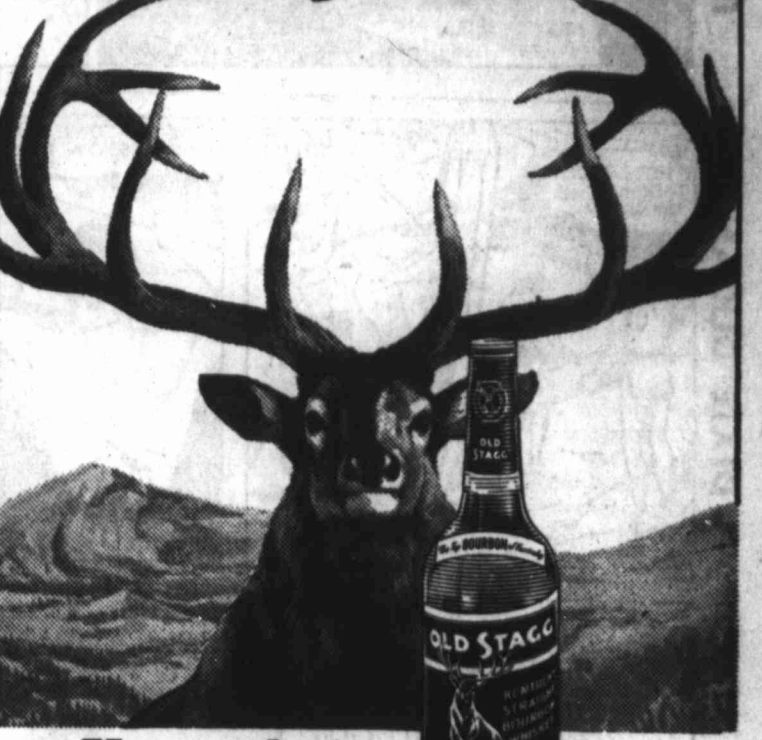

Then there was the young lady who sent in a passport photo of herself in Women's Army Corps uniform. When it was returned with a request for a photograph out of uniform, she submitted a picture of herself—in the nude.

Let's get the picture straight!

Some people have definite misconceptions about advertising. For one thing, they think it adds enormous costs to the products they buy.

Let's get the picture straight!

The cost of advertising a product is but a wee fraction of its total cost. On cigarettes, for example, it is usually less than half a cent a pack. If it had not been for advertising you would be paying more for just about everything you consume. Advertising helped to create the demand for more products. This made for larger and less expensive production—and the savings were passed along to you.

You live in a country with the highest standard of living in the world. Advertising helped to bring about this high standard. You are the one who profits most from advertising.

Advertising Benefits You!

Farmers In Texas Needing Sunshine

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas farmers need sunshine and warm weather, not more rain, the Texas Extension Service said today.

Spring rains, at first a boon, are hurting some crops and have seriously delayed planting or replanting of others, Extension Service Director G. G. Gibson said.

The rains and water-soaked grounds have hurt the 1967 wheat crop, weeds are choking fields and insects are taking heavy toll.

Cotton planting has been delayed in many areas. In other sections farmers were able to plant, only to have the seed washed out by later rains. Many fields were still too wet for replanting.

Where crops were able to get a good stand before the heavy western counties caught the heavy rains. Only a small per cent of the cotton planted was expected to survive the silt and crusting. Continued light rains are preventing replanting, he said, and farmers are facing a critical situation for June 20 is about the accepted deadline for planting cotton. Ranges are improving, he said.

To the east of the South Plains, J. G. Simmons at Vernon reported rains over the entire district. He said grain was being damaged by excessive rain, and dry weather for grain harvest is a must. Early wheat yields of 12 to 30 bushels were reported before May 30 rains. Cotton planted last week will largely have to be replanted, he said, and thus cotton and grain sorghum plantings dropped further behind.

Ted Martin reported from Denton that excessive moisture and insects continue to damage small grains. Seven of the 10 major cotton counties in the district reported only a fourth to three-fourths of the cotton planted. The other three counties have planted none because of wet fields. Condition of livestock and pastures is good, Martin said.

From Northeast Texas, John Surovik reported more than 5 inches of rain since June 1. Cotton, corn and grain sorghum plantings were reported only half complete. Tomatoes which have survived are looking good and heavy settings of sweet potato slips were reported. Surovik added that hay is abundant but farmers were having difficulty getting it harvested.

Scattered showers and rains up to 6 inches were reported by District Agent Ray Siegmund at Fort Stockton. Livestock conditions were said to be improving and grass commencing to grow with the warmer weather. Some damage by hail and insects to cotton was reported while livestock parasites were described as bad in the east part of the district.

End Of Long Ride

Dick Abbott, 21, gets a welcoming kiss from his mother, Mrs. Katharine Abbott, at Pacific Palisades, Calif., after Dick concluded a 20-day bike trip from Akron, Ohio. His comment on the trip: "I could have bought a round-trip plane ticket for what it cost me to ride on my bicycle." Floods, tornados and sand storms proved to be unexpected hazards and forced Dick to travel 400 miles by bus on the 2,445-mile jaunt. (AP Wirephoto).

Girard's Financee Calls On Jap Family For Forgiveness

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP)—GI William Girard's Japanese fiancee today knelt weeping on the doorstep and grave of the Japanese woman he is charged with killing. She begged the American soldier and begged forgiveness.

Wearing a flowered dress, 27-year-old Haru (Candy) Sueyama told the family of Mrs. Naka Sakai the soldier from Ottawa, Ill., "asked me to come here on his behalf and express his regrets."

The Japanese government charges that Girard enticed Mrs. Sakai, a scrap metal collector, onto a military firing range and then shot her in the back. Girard contends the woman was hit accidentally and his family is fighting in a U.S. federal court to prevent the Japanese from trying him on a charge equivalent to manslaughter.

Miss Sueyama appeared today on the doorstep of the poor, two-room house occupied by Mrs. Sakai's 47-year-old husband Akkichi and their six children. Informed of her visit, the widower hurriedly changed from his work overalls to a kimono and came to the door with two of his daughters. The other four children were in school.

"I am the husband of the woman killed by your man," Sakai said coldly.

"I am so sorry, so sorry," mumbled Candy, breaking into tears. She knelt down on the doorstep beside two chickens.

Sakai's eldest daughter Kayoko, who at 18 has been substituting for her mother in running the household, spoke up: "Your man is a real villain. He murdered my mother in cold blood from behind. He shot my mother twice until his cartridge hit her. How do you think we feel? We are miserable. From time to time we call, 'Mother,' 'mother,' but no one answers."

Try to imagine how lonely we are. Kayoko also broke into sobs. "Forgive me, forgive me, please," cried Candy. "I know how you feel. I also lost my father and mother."

"Be calm, my daughter," Sakai replied. "Don't behave like that. She came a long way to visit us. She is not to blame. We must be gracious."

He ushered Candy into the house.

"Tell me what kind of a man Girard is," Kayoko said, controlling herself.

Candy replied: "I have known him for a year and a half. He has been a nice man to me and my neighbors, particularly the children. He has never been a brute or violent man. I simply cannot understand how it happened."

"Well, I think it was an act of cold-blooded murder," said Sakai, "but I certainly have not been feeling toward you, Japanese like you and I hate crimes but not the persons. I am an ordinary man. Whenever my little girl Yoriko cries at night, 'Mom, Mom,' it breaks my heart. I begin to think it's all a horrible nightmare and that my wife will appear any minute from the next room."

Sakai, also in tears, took the girl to the family altar, which was backed by a large black-topped portrait of the dead woman. Candy began to pray but her voice broke and she crumpled to the floor crying, "Mrs. Sakai, Mrs. Sakai, please forgive me."

Later, after receiving a box of Japanese cakes from Miss Sueyama, the family took her to the mother's grave. It was half a mile walk through wheat and barley fields.

Sakai poured water on the fresh mound and his daughters watched silently as Candy knelt in the dirt. "Forgive me, forgive," she prayed as tears streamed down her cheeks.

Klan Leader Quits Following Uproar Over Marriage

ATLANTA (AP)—The grand dragon of the Alabama Ku Klux Klan has resigned amid the "turmoil and uproar" caused by his marriage five weeks ago to a teenager.

Alvin Horn of Talladega, 45-year-old father of six children by a wife who died several years ago, said he felt it best for the Klan, himself and his family to resign and had done so to "get all this turmoil and uproar off himself and the organization."

Eldon Lee Edwards of Attaga, imperial wizard, U. S. Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., announced Horn's resignation yesterday and said he is in the process of selecting a successor.

Edwards said publicly after the Alabama dragon's marriage to 15-year-old Barbara Richardson was "unfair, unjust and untrue."

Housing Code Is OK'd For M'Allen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole today approved a program for ending slums and blight in McAllen, Tex.

A city plan adopted in 1927 will be brought up to date, Cole said. The city expects to adopt a housing code by next January.

Anesthetist Draws Washington Post

Helen Hill, chief anesthetist at the Big Spring VA Hospital, has been promoted to assistant director of anesthetics in the VA Central office in Washington.

Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, VA Hospital manager, said the promotion is "a well-earned recognition for her excellent services at this hospital."

GETS A LIFT

Vacuum May Boost Water Well Output

Water well production may be increased, sometimes tremendously, by application of vacuum to the casing.

Initial tests by the Colorado River Municipal Water District have resulted in substantial gains in yields, ranging from 18 per cent to as much as 62 per cent.

E. V. Spence, general manager, is enthusiastic about the possibilities of applying vacuum to wells, but he cautioned that the studies are merely in the preliminary stage. In some instances the program may not be effective or economically feasible.

On two wells tested in the District's well field, two air compressors were employed to act as vacuum pumps to reduce the air pressure in the well between the casing and the pump column. Under regular operation, small vacuum pump with automatic controls probably could be used more satisfactorily, he added.

The studies were conducted by William F. Guyton, Austin, consulting hydrologist for the CRMWD.

SHARP GAINS

One well, a larger producer, had its output kicked up by 96 gallons per minute. Another relatively light producing well jumped by 99 gallons per minute, although it actually made 179 gallons per minute more under a greater vacuum.

Spence indicated that other wells would be tested to see how they react to the vacuum treatment. Some technical problems need to be solved, such as the best type of material to produce a seal between the pump base and the top of the casing; the possibility of pump cavitation; the maximum depth and types of formation to which the procedure may be applied. Longer periods of testing will be needed to draw definite conclusions, he said.

Under vacuum, the water column in one well rose 12.7 feet and the output by 96 gallons per minute over the performance at atmospheric pressures. The draw-down was virtually the same—slightly over 16 feet—during the two hour tests. Similarly, the rates of recovery were practically identical.

SAME LEVEL—MORE WATER

On another well an interesting thing occurred. The well could not be produced under atmospheric conditions at more than 285 gallons per minute although the pump bowl was still submerged 25 feet in water. When the rate of pumping was increased, the pump began to suck air.

The vacuum was applied and the discharge valve was opened in gradual stages until the well was making 485 gallons per minute. At this stage, the water level in the well was .2 of a foot less than it had been during the test at atmospheric pressures. Operator then shifted to a smaller unit to maintain vacuum and pumped for hours at 360 gallons per minute and lost only 1.2 feet on the water level during that interval.

In the case of the District, even a 10 per cent increase in production efficiency would be the equivalent of at least two new wells, Spence pointed out.

The big things you want cost less in a Mercury Monterey!

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $88 MORE to get a 4-barrel carburetor as standard equipment in any competitive car. And Mercury's Thermo-Matic Carburetor is the only one that controls temperature of air engine breathes.

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $130 MORE to match the Mercury Monterey's brake size in any other car. The Monterey actually has bigger brakes than most of the highest priced cars—212 square inches!

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $150 MORE to match Mercury's standard 255 horsepower in any competitive car. And the Monterey's power options offer you either 290 horsepower or a blazing 335 horsepower!

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $200 MORE to get any other car with real dual headlamps. No other car at Monterey's price even offers duals. You can get Quadri-Beam headlamps on all 19 Mercury models.

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $500 MORE to match the Monterey's standard compression in any competitive car. Its compression ratio of 9.75 to 1 is close to the highest you can get in any car.

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $1,000 MORE to match the Monterey's hip room and rear seat leg room. Mercury has the biggest size increase in the industry—bigger in every important dimension!

YOU HAVE TO PAY OVER $2,000 MORE to match Mercury's width in any other car. You can match it only in America's three costliest cars!

And no other car at any price offers you Mercury's exclusive Floating Ride, or its Dream-Car Design—styling shared with no other car! Stop in today. Let us show you all the reasons why the Mercury Monterey is the easiest big car to drive, to ride in, to look at, and to buy.

The price comparisons stated are based on factory suggested retail delivered prices.

BIGGEST VALUE INCREASE IN THE INDUSTRY! The Big M is up in size, in power, in luxury, in everything that counts in a car. But the price is still low—just an easy step up from the low-priced three.

6 Nations Join In European Unity

PARIS, June 8 (AP)—Six European nations have declared their intention to abolish all trade and travel barriers between their borders. Their aim: more production and more trade among themselves, more trade abroad — and a richer life for their people.

And along with that in importance is a pledge to join forces to build up black Africa before it goes Communist or tumbles into anarchy.

The treaty providing for a plunge into this exciting new venture was signed March 25 by the six countries — France, Italy, Germany, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and Belgium.

While the treaty is concerned strictly with trade and commerce, the European statesmen who put it across hope to see it take on a political complexion. Its main moving spirit, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, sees in it the seed of a united Europe.

The thing is so enormous in its possibilities that some of the people who helped bring the treaty into being are becoming a little frightened of it. But so far there has been no real indication that any country has changed its mind.

All seem prepared to ratify the treaty and to put it into effect on the agreed date, Jan. 1, 1958. Germany has already started the ratification process.

The problem child of all European movements, France, is expected to take the big step this summer. If France ratifies it, the others seem ready to push it across in a flash.

Some industrialists and many farmers in each of the countries are against the plan, fearful that it will confront them with competition such as they never dreamed of before.

By terms of this treaty all protective tariffs and protective quotas among the six countries disappear. Many a backward in-

His Second Try
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lewis B. Bagby, 60, of Sacramento was stopped from jumping off Golden Gate Bridge a week ago. No one stopped his second effort.

Flu Kills Over 800 In The Philippines
MANILA (AP)—An influenza epidemic, sweeping the Philippines since May, has killed 884 persons, a government official reported today.

Acting Health Secretary Rafael Tumbokon said most of the deaths have been children and aged men and women.

The Philippine Medical Assn., cabled the World Medical Assn. in New York for more medicine in anticipation of a rise in the number of cases.

Tumbokon said the disease already has afflicted 300,800 Filipinos.

Prospective Bride Strangled To Death

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—An intern found his fiancée strangled with a stocking and nearly nude on her bed yesterday.

Dr. Walter Deike, 36, former track star at the Universities of Wisconsin and Chicago, entered a rear window at Marjorie Hipperson's apartment and made the discovery.

Near her were garments she had neatly stacked to be packed for their wedding trip. Dr. Deike said he and the 24-year-old nurse, a shapely brunette, had planned to marry next week in Chicago, his former home.

Dr. Deike went to her apartment in Los Angeles' Los Feliz district to investigate when she failed to report for work or answer her telephone.

Finding the door chained, he said, he crawled in through a kitchen window. He found the

More Storms For Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Another round of afternoon and evening thunderstorms was predicted for Oklahoma today.

Weekend rains which sent rivers rising across the state let up for the most part yesterday, and temperatures climbed. Altus recorded 102 and Hobart 100.

Rains in the Turkey Creek watershed early yesterday sent the stream out of banks at Dover. The north central Oklahoma town was inundated one month ago.

About 25 families left homes in the west part of the town, but no serious flooding had been reported.

In more immediate danger was a Rock Island Railroad bridge at Dover. Its approaches were knocked out by the May flooding.

Earlier yesterday residents cleared out of homes at Enid, but returned as Boggy Creek started to recede.

The Weather Bureau at Tulsa predicted the Cimarron River would be at flood stage at Guthrie and one foot above it at Perkins today.

Foresees Pay Trips To Moon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This country will be able to "send a pay load to the moon" and launch a manned satellite within five years after it fires its first intercontinental missile.

Experts said today. "We will have the know-how and the material, and the whole space program could be ushered in with a contribution of $2 a year from each taxpayer," said Cmdr. Robert C. Truax.

Truax came here to address the American Rocket Society, of which he is president.

Asked when the first intercontinental ballistic missile firing could be expected, Truax said he couldn't talk about it. Reports were published recently that an ICBM launching had been planned in connection with President Eisenhower's visit to the Florida coast a few days ago. The report never was confirmed.

Wheat Yield Put Below Last Year
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's federally-controlled wheat crop at 970,533,000 bushels.

This estimate is the first for the full crop and is 26,674,000 bushels less than the 997,207,000 bushels produced last year. It is considerably below the 10-year (1946-55) average of 1,131,000,000 bushels.

Government controls and the soil bank land retirement program curtailed this year's plantings to prevent production of additional surplus supplies.

Uncle Ray: Swallows Destroy Many Insects

By RAMON COFFMAN
Swallows are warm weather birds. When they appear in a given area, you may feel almost certain that the last cold wave has gone by.

Once in a while one or two swallows come to a northerly place too early—before the end of the cool weeks of spring. That explains the old saying, "One swallow doesn't make a summer."

In general, however, swallows migrate in flocks. Sometimes thousands of them get together in a single flock.

Q. Do all swallows have forked tails?
A. No. Some have tails which are almost straight across at the end. Others (like the bank swallows) have forked tails of moderate size. The most deeply forked tails are those of barn swallows.

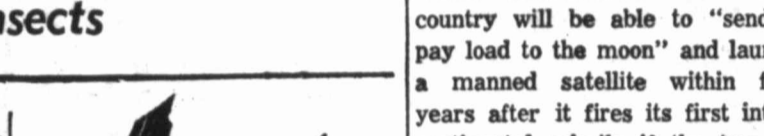

The forked tail of a barn swallow makes up about one third of the bird's length. The total length averages about seven inches.

Q. What is a swallow-tailed coat?
A. It is the coat of a full-dress suit. It has tapering ends, often described as "tails," which hang down at the back and are within easy reach of the floor.

Barn swallows live in Europe as well as the New World. From barn swallows came the name of "swallow-tailed coat."

Q. What do swallows eat?
A. Their food is made up almost entirely of insects. They catch insects on the wing.

Among the insects which they destroy are assassin bugs, squash bugs, tree-hoppers, gnats and mos-

Swallows capture insects on the wing. They also eat wasps at times. To a slight extent they eat seeds and berries.
