Runaway Truck Smashes Car, Building

Police Sgt. Alvin Hiltbrunner guides Fred W. Nichols as he moved his semi-trailer truck from the front of Gregg Street Cleaners (top photo) after the vehicle tore most of the front out of the building. Mrs. Sally Meadows of Sweetwater (lower scene) takes a look at damages caused to her car by the truck. Nichols said the truck was parked in the 2000 block of Gregg. Brakes failed and the vehicle rolled more than three blocks down the street, knocking the parked car into the yard of the Mort Denton home, 1704 Gregg. Bouncing off the car, the truck veered across a vacant lot and hit the cleaners. Loaded with 28,000 pounds of fertilizer, the truck received only minor damages. No one was injured.

Del Rio Bank Closed Washburn Jury In Wake Of Suicide

DEL RIO (AP)—The Del Rio National Bank, whose president killed himself near a daughter's grave last week, closed today. Officials said efforts were being made to organize a new bank. Spokesmen for the 53-year-old institution said the Del Rio National was being liquidated to conserve its assets, and insured deposits up to $10,000 would be paid off through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. They declined to say whether the bank was insolvent, asserting only that an audit was incomplete and the information was not available yet. Examiners started a periodic examination of the bank books June 10. President Audrey Walker, 59, was found dead in a cemetery three days later. Doors of the bank were closed at 2 p. m. yesterday, and it did not reopen this morning. B. G. Wilson, chairman of the board, said in a statement: "All efforts of the former board along with other citizens of Del Rio are being directed toward establishment of a new bank with the view in mind of purchasing acceptable assets and liabilities of the old bank. "It is the hope that such a bank can be organized and functioning within 10 days. If such is the case, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. will pay off insured deposits up to $10,000 through the new bank. We have been informed in all probability such payments will commence in about 10 days." Walker, 59, with the bank since 1916 and its president since Feb. 27, 1955, was found dead of pistol wounds June 13 in his car. It was parked near the grave of his only daughter, Mrs. Gayle Langly, who died of polio June 28, 1950. Justice of Peace O. J. Vineyard ruled suicide. Bank associates said Walker had been in poor health and had grieved over his daughter. His widow and a grand-daughter survive. Walker had been executive vice president of the bank earlier. He was a former treasurer of the Texas Bankers Assn. and had been active in civic and church affairs.

Senators Hear Tokyo Premier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Japan's Prime Minister Kishi told Congress today his nation is determined to play a constructive role, particularly in Asia, in meeting the challenge of communism. In a speech prepared for the Senate—and to be delivered later before the House—he said Japan already has shown that "economic and social progress can be achieved without the Communist short cut." The Japanese leader made no mention of trade problems with the United States which have aroused frequent congressional outbursts. Neither did he mention the case of Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard, accused in the firing range death of a Japanese woman. Kishi scheduled his appearances at the Capitol between morning and afternoon conferences with Secretary of State Dulles. He arranged to spend a total of six hours at the State Department in talks today.

Man Should Know When He Has A Hole In His Head

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals has ruled that a man does not have to be an expert to know if he suffers a "hole in his head." As a result, the court upheld the conviction and one-year prison sentence given Quinton J. Rawlinson for whipping Henry Mills with a bullwhip outside a tavern. Mills complained that one of the injuries he received was a "hole in his head." Rawlinson's attorneys objected there was no expert medical evidence to support such testimony. The court said Mills didn't have to be an expert and upheld the sentence.

Body Is Recovered

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The body of Ronald Kuhley, 5, who disappeared in the ship channel here Monday, was recovered yesterday. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kuhley. Divers had sought the body for 36 hours.

Military Slash Offered By U.S. If Reds Join

LONDON (AP)—Harold Stassen told the disarmament conference today the United States is ready to cut back its armed forces to 2 1/2 million men as part of a limited East-West disarmament treaty—if Russia does the same. The American delegate's statement at a session of the United Nations disarmament group here made it clear the United States was attaching no political preconditions to the proposal. He said, however, it must be related to an agreement providing for a suspension of nuclear weapons tests. The Stassen proposal was the first of a series of statements on the U.S. proposals to the conference. This cut would mean a reduction of about 300,000 under the estimated 2,800,000 now in the U.S. armed services. Meanwhile, in Washington, officials said the United States is prepared to accept suspension of atomic weapons tests only under a first-step disarmament agreement providing also for halting production of nuclear weapons. President Eisenhower had created the impression at a news conference yesterday that the United States might have reversed its policy on banning tests and might be about to accept a Russian proposal for a test moratorium separated from other major disarmament proposals. A few hours later, however, the White House explained that the President "did not imply and it was not intended to imply that we would consider suspension of tests in isolation" from other disarmament considerations. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said there had been no change in policy. The President's replies to questions on disarmament caused a stir because two weeks ago he had said the United States could not accept a test moratorium unless atomic weapons would not be used in future warfare. The measure of this assurance has been widely regarded here as an agreement to stop the production of such weapons and to begin the reduction of atomic weapons stockpiles.

Jury Named For Murder Trial

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The last two jurors were selected yesterday for the murder trial of a South Texas constable accused of killing a county judge. Rafael Garza Jr. is charged with the gun slaying of Judge Francisco Guerra of Jim Hogg County Oct. 25. The victim also was a defense attorney in the trial of a man accused of killing the constable's brother, Juan Garza. The trial was transferred to San Antonio on a change of venue. Five jurors were named yesterday to try the Houston contractor, 41, accused of the auto-bomb slaying of his former mother-in-law. Four veniremen said they opposed capital punishment. The state has used nine challenges and the defense used its 10th challenge. The defense still hoped to get a jury in time to open its case tomorrow. Washburn is accused of the slaying of Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver Jan. 19, 1955. She was killed when an auto bomb blasted her car as she stepped on the starter in San Angelo. Investigators said 10 sticks of dynamite were wired to the ignition system.

Thrift Conviction Of Morris Harrell Affirmed By Court

Morris Harrell, under a 10-year sentence for car theft, who appealed the conviction on the grounds that he had been indicted under the wrong name, has lost his appeal. His conviction was affirmed this week by the Court of Criminal Appeals—the report of the affirmation, incidentally, asserting that the appellant was "Morris Harrell." The indictment under which he was convicted here on March 5 gave his name as "Harney." Gil Jones, district attorney, said that Harrell has 15 days in which to ask for a rehearing. If he does not do this or if the rehearing is denied, commitment to the penitentiary follows. Harrell has been held in the Howard County jail since his conviction. Bond had been set at $7,500 which he was unable to post.

Dies Of Wasp Sting

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—Ray J. Hill, a 45-year-old farmer, was stung beneath the left eye by a wasp and died 15 minutes later. A doctor said he probably died from a violent allergy to the wasp's poison.

C. A. Dahse Found In Plane Wreckage

Craft Went Down Near Lamar, Okla.

The body of C. A. Dahse, 32, was found at 7 a. m. Thursday in the wreckage of his light plane four miles east of Lamar, Okla. Lamar is 89 miles almost due south of Tulsa, his destination on a flight from here last Friday evening. T. J. Sanders, Holdenville, Okla., sheriff of Hughes County, said that Dahse apparently had been attempting an emergency landing in a field on the A. T. Sanders ranch east of Lamar. Wheels of the green Piper Super-Cub bogged in the field and pinned Dahse in the cockpit. His features were not mangled, said Sheriff Sanders. Wreckage of the plane was discovered by Garland Huff, a farmer, when he went to work in the soft, sandy field he had carved out of a wooded area for a peanut patch. Sanders said that a rainstorm had broken about the time Friday night that Dahse presumably ran out of fuel and attempted a landing. Because the field was too wet to work, Huff, who lives some five miles away, had not been back there. The site of the crash is about a mile and a half from the nearest house. The plane was badly wrecked, but it was not shattered. When the wheels drove back under cockpit, the wings peeled back against the tail section. AT SLOW SPEED Dahse had the radio microphone clasped in his right hand when found, said the sheriff. "I figure he couldn't have been going much over 40 miles per hour or so when he hit," said Sheriff Sanders. "The plane didn't skid but a short distance." The young pilot, who was enroute to Tulsa to spend the weekend with Miss Anne McLaughlin, apparently had veered eastward from his direct course due to stormy weather. Reports gathered yesterday indicated he was on time and on course over Krox City, southwest of Wichita Falls. Somewhere in southern Oklahoma, he apparently was obliged to take a more easterly course. Under ordinary circumstances, he would have had enough fuel to take him to Tulsa, but by being forced to swing wide of his mark the supply was exhausted. SOFT SOIL BLAMED Sheriff Sanders said that he and two deputies hurried to the scene at 7:15 a. m., immediately after Huff reported the wreckage in the plowed, unplanted field. The plane was still pointed east and Sheriff Sanders said that, he felt that the landing would have been consummated safely except for the soft texture of the soil. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, parents of the missing man, accompanied by a daughter, Nancy Smith, and by Miss McLaughlin, left at noon for Oklahoma City and Holdenville. Miss McLaughlin, who is a sister of Ralph McLaughlin of this city and who is a hostess for American Airlines, has been here since Monday. It was she who called the Smiths Saturday at 1:30 p. m. when Dahse, whom she thought to be flying up Saturday morning, did not arrive. Cecil Hamilton then flew immediately to Wichita Falls to get the CAP to initiate the search. MANY PLANES SEARCHED Since that time, scores of airplanes have flown back and forth across a corridor on a route from Big Spring to Tulsa, but with no sign of the missing craft. The remains of the young pilot were taken to the Hudson Funeral Home in Tulsa. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home dispatched a funeral coach to Holdenville at noon Thursday. Col. W. H. Shockey, CAP com. South Korea May Get More Weapons To Match Commies

WASHINGTON (AP)—South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang said today he understands the 16 Allied Powers have agreed on a program for modernizing weapons in South Korea. Yang said in an interview that the United Nations Command is expected to notify the Communists of the Western alliance's intentions at a meeting called in Panmunjon tomorrow. "I believe the reason for the meeting is to change the armistice agreement in order to let the United Nations Command build up to the strength of Communist forces in North Korea," the ambassador said. "Certainly that should be done," he added, "we should not repeat the 1950 tragedy which allowed the Communists to build up the Nth degree while we were sitting there like clay pigeons." He said the Communist build-up in North Korea is "not a fantastic dream." "Under these circumstances I am sure the right decision has been made by the allied powers," Yang added. "I congratulate those people who see danger ahead. If we weaken ourselves we are inviting trouble." Yang returned last week from a European visit which covered all the allied powers that participated in the defense of Korea. He said the consensus from his talks was that the free world can not continue to ignore Communist violations of the armistice agreement. The Communist air force in North Korea has been reported at more than 800 planes, all introduced since the cease-fire agreement was signed. In addition modern weapons and additional tanks and artillery also have been added to the Communist strength. The armistice expressly forbids modernization of weapons. It permits replacements only. Both Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson, as well as President Eisenhower, have indicated in recent weeks that the question of modernizing arms in Korea has been under active consideration. Yang said the modernization program will apply to Korean forces as well as to Allied troops in Korea.

Israel Warns Egypt Against Use Of Subs For Blockade

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel warned Egypt last night against trying to blockade the Gulf of Aqaba with three submarines newly acquired from the Soviet Union. A government broadcast beamed to Egypt said use of the subs to cut off ships from the southern Israeli port of Eilat, at the head of the gulf, would be "lighting the fires" leading to Egyptian suicide. Egypt confirmed Tuesday she had bought the submarines and they had joined her fleet in Egyptian waters. They are believed to be the first undersea craft acquired by any Middle Eastern country. Israel feared they would be used to reimpose the blockade of Eilat, which Israeli troops ended last fall by destroying the Egyptian shore guns overlooking the Gulf of Aqaba. The gun positions are now occupied by troops of the U.N. Emergency Force. Ships now operate through the gulf to and from Eilat without interference, despite protests from Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan that the gulf is Arab territorial water. Saudi Arabia protested to the U.N. yesterday for the fifth time in less than 10 weeks that Israeli ships and planes had violated what it claims is its territory in the gulf. "This peaceful navigation will continue," last night's Israeli broadcast said. Without giving details, the director general of the Israeli Defense Ministry said in a speech at Haifa that Israel is taking measures against possible submarine action. The official, Simon Peres, added that Israel will defend the open seas and will not "sit on folded hands" when its enemies are being equipped with arms to destroy Israel.

Woman Beaten And Robbed

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Fort Worth mother, 29, told police two men beat, raped and robbed her during a three-hour invasion of her apartment yesterday. She told officers the thugs, both about 20, slit a screen to enter the place on W. Belknap St. and awoke her and a daughter, 5, threatening her with a knife. The woman said one of the men raped her five times. Detectives reported she was bruised and bore tooth marks. The attackers took a billfold containing $53, she told officers.

Byrd Points To Dangerous Status Of Gov't Finances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) today wound up his cross-examination of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey with a 500-word "question" in which the Virginian asserted the government is "certainly skating on very thin ice" from a financial standpoint. Byrd did not ask Humphrey to comment at once. Humphrey promised to give his best judgment later. Byrd said the nation's fiscal situation as he outlined it in his question "presents to me a picture of the most dangerous implications." Humphrey is the opening witness in the broad probe of the nation's financial condition opened Tuesday by the Finance Committee. Byrd, the committee chairman, quizzed the secretary throughout yesterday's session and for an hour today. In reply to one Byrd question, Humphrey said "I'm convinced that you cannot over a long period take 31 per cent of the national income in taxes to be spent by public authorities, and still maintain the kind of system we have had." Byrd had told the secretary that federal, state and local taxes now take about 110 billion dollars an-annually, or almost one-third of all personal income. Humphrey said he agreed with Byrd that the nation would "get into serious difficulties" if such tax rates "are continued over a long period." After firing his four-barreled question, Byrd yielded the inquisitor's role to Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) who got in only 10 minutes of questioning before the hearing was recessed until tomorrow. But Kerr had time to belabor Humphrey with demands that he explain why the Wall Street Journal recently said the government is in a "fiscal mess" and that the Treasury of the United States is short of money." Humphrey insisted there is no financial jam. Outside the Senate chamber, Gore said the increase in the value of Humphrey's stockholdings illustrate "who has benefited" from administration monetary policies. "I said before the Finance Committee investigation started that one of our objectives should be to find out who has benefited from these monetary policies," Gore said in an interview. "Here in the secretary we have a notable example." Humphrey voluntarily submitted a list of his January 1953 stock holdings to the Senate Finance Committee yesterday. He did not say whether he has retained his major stock holdings of four years ago, when he entered the Cabinet. Humphrey's statement showed that the time he entered the Cabinet he owned 67,500 shares of M. A. Hanna Co. stock as well as 46,100 shares of other securities, largely in coal and steel. He formerly was president of the Hanna Co. A computation showed most of the holdings were worth just under seven million dollars in January 1953 and had a quoted value of about $13,000,000 based on yesterday's closing prices. This was an increase over four years of 85 per cent. In addition, there was a block of stock Humphrey held in Hanna Coal & Ore Corp., but no information was available on the value of this stock in 1953. According to information from brokers, this stock was worth more than two million dollars last April.

Farmers Vote On Wheat Quota Legislature To Take A Look At Errors In All Those Bills

WASHINGTON (U)—Farmers voted today on marketing quotas on the 1958 wheat crop in a referendum that could affect the future of federal crop controls. The quotas, now in effect for the fourth consecutive wheat crop, require approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting. Polling places were provided by the Agriculture Department in local areas in the 36 states. Quotas would limit sales to the amount of wheat grown on a farm's acreage allotment. Excess sales would be subject to a penalty tax of around $1.05 a bushel. The referendum comes with government crop controls are under attack by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He has told Congress, farm and city audiences that the controls and price supports for major crops are not working to stabilize production and prices.

AUSTIN (U)—Did you ever run a red light and have a policeman say "ignorance of the law is no excuse?" Texas lawmakers seemed to hit similar trouble—but don't expect a judge to give them a fine—as more errors have cropped up in bills passed. Rep. Louis Dugas of Orange said he would propose at the special session—which Gov. Price Daniel said he would call in October—that the Legislative Council "screen all bills coming before a committee." He said bills which should be watched more closely are those coming from conference committees, which usually do the final writing of the proposed law. Errors varied from conflicting provisions as to the effective dates of numerous acts to the wrong amounts of money listed to be paid by the state to persons with claims. "These are not all the errors for this session," Dugas said. "As an example there was a figure '3' erased from the final bill filed with the secretary of state," Dugas said. "There are not supposed to be any erasures." The secretary of state is the official filing place of the legislation finally approved. The bills in that office are supposed to be the official new laws. Dugas said the "3" was erased before the claim figure of $7,641 which would be paid to John Spies, former dean of the University of Texas Medical School, for travel expenses. It was one of the numerous claims under Senate Bill 115. Had the "3" not been erased, the figure would have been $77,641. Spies also will get another payment of $183 for air travel when he was dean, even though it was listed on the "official bill" as $783. Jake Jacobsen, aide to Daniel, said the mistake was caught and that portion of the bill would have been vetoed. The governor did not veto it, he said, because the law provides no claim would be paid until approved by the attorney general, state auditor and state comptroller. Other bills with errors, Dugas said, included: HB 103, where the effective date could cost the state some four million dollars toward the paying of teachers' pay raises. The bill transfers 1 per cent of the money in the school permanent fund to the available fund. No ruling has been made whether eight or 12 million dollars will be transferred. HB 4, the new mental health code, also has a conflict in its effective date. SB 45, dealing with minors who drive while intoxicated, Dugas said "it unconsciously repealed a quail hunting law in Wood County."

WORD FROM COMMITTEE

Post Office Told To Cut Services

WASHINGTON (U)—The House Appropriations Committee told the Post Office Department today to curtail some of its mail services and live within its reduced funds to avoid repetition of "the fiscal debacle of the spring of 1957."

It cut 16 1/2 million dollars from the department's request for an extra 10 1/2 millions to supplement a previous appropriation of $3,192,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Indications were the House would go along with the committee's recommendations when it considers the new money bill next week.

Postmaster General Summerfield told the committee some service curtailments would be put into effect if the entire request were not granted. The committee said some of the curtailments seem to be "very desirable" and should have been ordered before now.

It said it could see "no substantial reason why second-class publications and third-class bulk mailings should not be required to be zoned in the face of a stated savings to the government of five million dollars."

Under the postal zoning system, rates increase as the delivery distance increases. The committee said it saw no reason why star route service should not be reduced to once daily where practicable at an estimated saving of $700,000.

On star points, mail is transported by contractors between some post offices and rail terminals, or between larger postoffices and small postoffices.

Other savings, the committee said, could be made by suspending money order sales in some offices and by cutting down on some Saturday services.

The committee said the department should re-examine city delivery service in the light of the trend to a five-day work week and "effect such reductions in Saturday service as are in keeping with the pattern of business, industry and suburbs generally."

Some committee members have said in the past there is no reason for numerous business-mail deliveries on Saturdays when most business houses are closed.

Gunshot Victim Is Satisfactory

M. C. Mitchell, operator of a second-hand store at 1011 W. 3rd, was in satisfactory condition this morning in Medical Arts Hospital where he is under treatment for a bullet wound.

He was shot in the left arm Wednesday afternoon when a pistol discharged accidentally. Mitchell was showing the weapon to a customer when he dropped it. The 22-caliber gun fired when it struck the floor, sending a bullet into Mitchell's forearm. The slug emerged near the elbow, apparently missing the bone.

The injured man was taken to the hospital in a Nalley-Flecks ambulance.

Speeding Ticket Locates Missing Honeymoon Pair

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (U)—State police said today the pretty blonde teen-age daughter of a Swedish air attaché and a U. S. Senate page boy who disappeared from Washington June 2, were taken in custody today for speeding.

Christina Wennerstrom, 16, and the 18-year-old page boy, Huw Williams, were the objects of a widespread search. The girl's father, Col. Stig Wennerstrom, since has returned to his homeland on official business while Christine's mother remained in Washington to await word of her daughter.

Troopers Robert Gorman and Clifford O'Neill said they stopped the 1951 convertible driven by the girl on U. S. 15 near Montoursville, Pa., about 5 a. m. The car was going 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone, the policeman said. The girl was quoted as saying they had been married in West Virginia shortly after leaving Washington and spent their honeymoon in Canada. They were on their way back to Washington when stopped.

Jolice Sgt. Leroy Faulkrod said the youngsters were given breakfast at the Montoursville barracks while the sergeant telephoned the State Department in Washington for instructions.

Faulkrod said the girl stopped as soon as she spotted the police car in chase and the two young people accompanied the police car back to headquarters without argument. They readily admitted their identity, Faulkrod said, but were not questioned fully pending further word from Washington.

At the time of his daughter's disappearance, Col. Wennerstrom said he suspected she and young Williams had eloped. He said the couple first met at a school dance a year ago and had been "keeping company" for several months.

Truman Scores GOP's Lack Of Leadership

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harry S. Truman said last night that the Eisenhower administration had abdicated its international responsibilities and lost the confidence and respect of the rest of the free world.

"We now seem to be slipping backward as the forces of communism advance in the Middle East and Far East and the alliance of free nations is beset by differences and doubts," the former President declared. He spoke at a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner in this state capital.

"The fault lies in the lack of leadership in the State Department and the White House," he said. "Our allies have come to the conclusion that they cannot trust our foreign policy, and our foes have decided that most of the time our leaders are bluffing and they need not fear them."

Truman called for continued support of the United Nations, of the United States defense program and for expansion of economic aid to poorer countries.

He said pressure must be put on President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles "to do their jobs right" and that "the only way we can do this is through the Democratic leaders in Congress."

He added that the administration was "not satisfied with bungling our foreign policy" and had also "balled up our domestic finance."

"If the country doesn't go bust after these Republicans put labor in its place, ruin the farmer and put little business—real free enterprise—on ice, maybe the Democrats can bring the government back to the people in 1958 and 1960," he told an audience of nearly 5,000.

Marine Reservists To Leave For Camp

Twenty-eight Big Spring Marine Corps reservists will leave Saturday morning for Coronado, Calif., where they will receive 15 days of active duty training.

Leaving Howard County Junior College at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, the group will go to San Angelo by bus. There they will board a Marine Corps air transport for the trip to Coronado Island, near San Diego.

The men, members of the Third Platoon, 91st Special Infantry Company, will board a ship at Coronado for amphibious training, including "wet net" drill, abandon ship drill and a beach landing at 3 a. m. on the last day of the training.

Studies will cover beach movement, squad, platoon and company tactics, survival in water, helicopter training and the firing of all Marine weapons such as rifle, machine gun, pistol, flame thrower, bazooka, hand grenade, and automatic and recoilless rifles.

In all, more than 5,000 reservists will participate in the summer training. Big Springers taking part will be Sgt. R. J. Knoche Jr., Cpl. K. T. Faulkner, Pfc. R. J. Alexander, E. F. Barnett, H. L. Uncle Ray: English Pioneered In Climbing Dolomites

By RAMON COFFMAN
A country with small mountains has produced some of the famous mountain climbers of history. I am thinking of England.

It is hard to think of England as having any mountains at all. There are low ranges in the Lake District and the Pennine Region, but only a few peaks rise more than half a mile above sea level.

A resident of the Rocky Mountain area would call those peaks "high hills" rather than mountains.

Perhaps that is the very reason why Englishmen have taken special interest in the mountains of other countries.

During the past century, hundreds of British subjects—chiefly Englishmen—crossed to the mainland of Europe with a special purpose. They went to the Alps Mountains and climbed the Wetterhorn, the Monte Rosa, the Matterhorn and other peaks. Later they climbed high parts of the Pyrenees Mountains.

On the list of their conquests, we should place the Dolomites. Dozens of peaks in the Dolomites were climbed first by Englishmen between 80 and 90 years ago.

Q. What and where are the Dolomites?
A. They are parts of the Alps, and are in the district known as the South Tyrolean Alps. This district includes land in southern Austria and northern Italy, also a small corner of Switzerland.

The Dolomites were given their name because they contain masses of rock called dolomite. This hard, dense rock is known for its beauty; it is streaked with colorful veins.

Mishap On Carrier Kills Two Seamen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt limped into port early today, the victim of its second accident at sea in two months.

On board were two dead and five seriously injured crewmen. They were sprayed by live steam which spewed out when a pump exploded deep inside the 45,000-warship yesterday.

Twenty-nine other crewmen were stricken with heat prostration or exhaustion, many of them in efforts to rescue trapped comrades.

Capt. T. W. Hopkins credited heroism and the fine training of U. S. Navy men with holding down the number of casualties. He said "I can't pinpoint one single man" for heroism; "all are equally deserving of praise."

Fifty to 60 men entered the fierce steam for rescue work or to help confine damage.

A board of investigation met to determine the extent of damage. The explosion blew pieces of the pump through two bulkheads as well as the steam lines. Hopkins said, however, he did not think the ship would need drydocking for repairs.

The vessel is scheduled to join the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean in July.

The Roosevelt reduced speed "to secure the boilers" immediately after the explosion and six or seven planes in the air were diverted to land fields at Jacksonville.

One plane, a twin-jet A3D Skywarrior attack bomber, was unable to lower its landing gear and crashed near the carrier basin at nearby Mayport. The three crewmen parachuted and were picked up unhurt.

Hopkins listed the dead as Bobby E. Hyder, 22, boiler attendant third class, Spartanburg, S. C.; and Sidney R. Wall, 20, fireman, Norwood, S. C.

Angelo Project Before Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize a 30 million dollar reservoir at San Angelo is expected to be taken up next week by the House Interior Committee.

Approved earlier this week by a subcommittee, the bill was on the full committee's agenda to be heard yesterday but the group adjourned before it came up. A House roll call forced the interruption.

Women Fliers Head For Cuba

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Twenty-four women fliers in 14 planes were poised to take off today on the 280-mile flight to Varadero, Cuba, in the Women's International Air Race.

They were to rendezvous with the Coast Guard before heading for Cuba. Most of the flight will be over water.

The ladybirds began arriving here Monday night after a flight from McAllen, Tex., start of the race. Jane White, Wayzata, Minn., and her co-pilot, Jean Scheffley, Rochester, Minn., were first to arrive.

The others came in at intervals Tuesday and yesterday. Two of them, Virginia Schumacher, Uhrichsville, Ohio, and her co-pilot, Helen Weatherill, Detroit, were slightly hurt when a nose wheel collapsed during a landing at Crestview, Fla.

Southerners Fight For 'Rights' Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators protesting what they called "a legislative lynching" fought today against a parliamentary short-cut in handling the House-passed civil rights bill.

But Republican leader Knowland of California predicted the Senate would back him in a move to bypass the Senate Judiciary Committee, where a companion measure has languished for months, and vote to put the bill directly on the calendar.

If this maneuver succeeds, the legislation will be in a position where any senator can move at any time to call it up for a vote.

Knowland plans to employ a seldom-used Senate rule under which he contends a House-passed bill can be placed on the Senate's legislative calendar without being referred to committee.

But Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern Opposition, maintains that under the congressional reorganization act all House bills must be sent to committee before being brought up for action in the Senate.

Russell and other Southern senators have protested that, if successful, the bypass move would mark the start of a "legislative lynching."

Knowland said he didn't know whether Vice President Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer, would make a ruling on the issue or simply put it before the Senate for decision. In any event, any ruling by Nixon can be appealed to the Senate itself.

While Knowland said he saw no reason why the issue could not be disposed of during the day, Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said in a separate interview "it's anybody's guess" how long the matter will take.

Attorney To Seek Bail For Wright, Rocha

Sometime within the next week, the Supreme Court of Texas will be asked to set bail bond for two young Big Spring boys now being held in the Tom Green County juvenile ward.

Clyde Thomas, attorney for Nicky Rocha and Herman Lee Wright, who Wednesday lost an effort to secure a new trial for his clients in Sterling County, said that he would personally appear before the high court to ask that bond be allowed his clients.

"Judge G. C. Murrell (Sterling County Judge) turned down our motion for a new trial," Thomas said. "He also refused our request that the boys be allowed liberty on bond pending appeal."

"We intend to appeal the case. A transcript is now being prepared. The statement of facts is ready."

"I will go to Austin next week to seek bond for the boys, and I will lodge my appeal as quickly as the transcript is ready."

The three boys and a companion are held in connection with the fatal shooting of a Sterling City filling station attendant on last May 7. Rocha and Wright are in the juvenile ward at San Angelo under orders to be transferred to the State Training School at Gatesville.

Doyle Hall, one of the quartet, was probated by Judge Murrell to his parents in Big Spring at the hearing on June 11 at which the three boys were ruled delinquent by a county jury.

Mike Martinez, the fourth boy in the case, is already in Gatesville. He was taken to the school soon after the original hearing for the boys on May 17.

Home For Girl Found Quickly

A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, who Wednesday needed a home for a 14-year-old girl, Thursday had a new problem.

He has to decide which of some 50 offers of homes is the one to select.

Long published a short appeal on Wednesday asking that some one provide a home for the girl who can no longer remain in her own family.

"My phone began ringing even before I thought that the paper was out," said Long. "It rang until 11 p. m. This morning it is still ringing. At least 50 different families have offered to take the girl."

"I've put her in one family for the time being. If it works out satisfactorily, she's settled — at least for the present."

Tarbox, Associates Buy 12 Acres At City's Edge

Elmer Tarbox, Big Spring automobile dealer and his associates, have bought 12.02 acres of land on U. S. 87 at the south edge of the city limits, and, according to Tarbox, made the purchase strictly as an "investment."

A deed filed in the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk, Wednesday revealed that Tarbox and others had purchased the tract from R. L. Tollett and M. H. Bennett.

The tract begins just beyond the children's amusement place on the south edge of the city limits. It extends for 740 feet southward on the west side of U. S. 87 to the boundary of the Cosden property.

Tarbox said Thursday that he and his associates have no plans for the tract. He said they believe that the land was a good investment in view of the expansion of the town and that they acquired it for this reason.

He pointed out that plans to build a bypass road extending FM 700 westward and north to tie into U. S. 89 near Cosden Refinery would open up a new area for development.

The price paid for the land, according to the deed, was $30,000.

ON HIGHWAYS

Dual Standard Of Conduct Is 'Killer'

A double standard of social behavior is killing on the highways, James Eubanks, Citizens Traffic Commission secretary, said Wednesday.

In an address before the Downtown Lions Club, Eubanks said that men wouldn't think of rushing to deprive a lady of the only vacant seat in a room would run her off the highway to beat her to a spot on the road or a parking place.

This is symptomatic of a mental attitude which has led some to call such drivers "highway hypocrites," he said. There is no place where consistency is so desperately needed as on the highways and streets, he said.

Men may upbraid women for being bad drivers, Eubanks continued, but the fact remains that in 90 per cent of the major accidents during 1956, men were at the wheel.

Appealing for support of the "slow down and live" campaign, he pointed out that speed is the controlling factor in 42 per cent of the fatalities on the road. A few seconds saved by cheating on the speed limits can't be so important as compared with eternity, he reminded.

Dr. Glenn Allen was in charge of the program and Carl Smith, vice president, presided in the absence of Dr. Marshall Cauley, president, presided in the absence of Dr. Marshall Cauley, president.

More service awards were presented, including a 10-year pin to W. A. French, 15-y-e-a-r pins to Clyde Thomas and Bob McEwen, and a 20-year pin to R. R. McEwen. The first ones were given last week when J. H. Greene received one of the rarest of such pins—the 35-year service chevron.

That means he was a Lion only about four years after the International association was organized.

Cleanup Resumed, 43 Loads Hauled

The city went into the belated Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up Week trash haul Wednesday and hoped to finish the first route this morning.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, reported that the city hauled away 43 loads of trash Wednesday from Route 1 and expected to complete the route by noon. If so, the trucks would start on the second route this afternoon.

The reason for going through the area in record time was because 116 loads of trash were picked up when the original Clean-Up work was started May 6. Heavy rains delayed the cleanup work since then.

The route covered Wednesday and this morning was the entire Northside and the area west of Ayford south to Eleventh.

The city plans to work the area south of First and west of Goliad to Ayford including Parkhill and Edwards Heights Additions on a Route 2. In addition to this afternoon, the city plans to spend Friday, Saturday, and Monday in this section. The additional half-day today would probably be needed to keep on schedule, the city predicted.

Final route will be worked next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. It will be the remainder of the city, or the areas south of First from Goliad eastward.

Citizens are asked by the city to leave their trash in the spot regularly served by the garbage trucks. All types of trash and rubbish will be hauled away during the cleanup drive, city officials reported.

Observatory in Paris, France, said spectroscopy also offers a possible way of finding water on Mars. He suggested a balloon-borne spectrometer to get the instrument above the water vapor of the earth's atmosphere for a direct look at the atmosphere of the red planet. Mars supposedly has some water but the amount is not known.

Mars 'Explored' For Water And Oxygen

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Astronomers preparing for the age of space travel are prospecting for water and oxygen in Mars. The search has barely started and has yielded little in the way of results. But two researchers today expressed optimism that these two life-giving elements can be found on the red planet. The only way of finding these elements on a planet 60 million or more miles away is by spectroscopy. This technique detects chemical elements by the wave length of the light they produce when lit up by the sun or some other strong source of illumination. A possible way of finding oxygen on the planet with a spectrograph was suggested to the International Mars Committee and the Astronomical Society of the Pacific by Dr. Robert S. Richardson of Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories in California. It could be done by mounting the instrument on a rocket and sending it up above the earth's atmosphere, Dr. Richardson said. This would eliminate the problem of separating earthy oxygen and Mars oxygen in spectrograph recordings made at the earth's surface, he reported. Dr. Audouin Dollfus of Meudon

Ship Collision Fatal To 13

BREST, France (AP)—The death toll in the flaming collision of an American-owned tanker and a Greek freighter off Brittany mounted to 13 today. Another sailor was listed as missing. Two sailors died in a hospital here of injuries suffered in the collision yesterday during a blinding fog of the 15,000-ton tanker Stony Point and the Greek freighter Ioannis. The French Maritime Service had previously identified the Ioannis as a tanker. More than 50 crewmen were rescued despite the fog which hampered operations. The tanker and the vessel collided near the Isle of Ushant.

Private Power Attacked On Hell's Canyon Dam Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) today accused the Idaho Power Co. of "misleading" and "misrepresenting" its plans for three dams in Hells Canyon. Jackson said in a speech prepared for the Senate that Congress should "right the wrong at Hells Canyon" by authorizing a federal dam which would flood the sites of the three private utility projects in the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border. He spoke in debate on a bill which would authorize construction of one of the highest dams in the world in the deepest canyon on the continent. The Senate debate is the latest clash in the private vs. public power fight. The Eisenhower administration opposes the bill. Jackson said a federal Hells Canyon dam would produce twice as much power as the three dams

Five Perish As Car Rams Into Parked Truck

DAYTON, Tex. (AP)—Five persons were killed early today in the crumpling collision of a car and a parked truck on U.S. Highway 90 about 2 1/2 miles west of here. A sixth passenger in the car was critically injured. The truck driver was not hurt. The car careened into a huge flatbed truck operated by the Anderson Trucking Co. of Port Arthur, flattening itself against the large vehicle. The driver was Harold Joseph Bertrand, 31, of 1335 7th St., Port Arthur. Two victims were pinned inside the crushed auto and had to be pried out by wrecker's winches and tools. State Highway Patrol dispatcher A. C. Haley at Beaumont said all the victims and the injured man were Negroes. One of the dead could not be identified immediately. The others were identified as: Samuel Williams, James Williams, 31, and Eugene Brooks, all of Houston. The other two victims were women. The truck driver, Harold Joseph Bertrand of Port Arthur, was not injured. The wreckage did not catch fire. The truck was a huge flatbed vehicle used to haul heavy equipment. It was empty at the time of the collision and was reportedly parked at the side of the road.

Nine Solicitors Fined In Lamesa

LAMESA — Nine employees of a Lubbock firm were charged with soliciting without a license here Tuesday, and two of the 11 arrested were released after the police department determined they were actually not selling. The nine charged all paid $15 fines in city court and were released. Six of the group were retained as salesmen by the firm distributing encyclopedias and purchased solicitation permits. Among the homes on which they called were the homes of Police Chief Bill Morgan and Sheriff Henry Mayfield. The group insisted they were merely leaving the encyclopedia sets in homes. However, the recipient of the encyclopedia was to pay for upkeep on the set for the next ten years. The American Legion Auxiliary of Monahans will have a bingo party for patients of the VA hospital at 7 p. m. today. They will provide entertainment and refreshments. Legion Auxiliary To Host Hubbies At Supper Tonight

Legionnaires will be guests of the American Legion Post Auxiliary tonight at a pot luck supper to be served beginning at 8 p. m. in the Legion Hut on the San Angelo highway. The joint social meeting will mark the end of the current terms of officers serving the post and auxiliary, according to Mrs. Candy Andrews, auxiliary president. A special invitation has been extended to the members of the Howard County Post to attend by Mrs. Jack Pearson, who is serving as chairman of the arrangements committee. No business session is scheduled at the meeting, according to Post Commander George Zachariah. Business sessions will resume with the meeting of June 25, Zachariah said, when members of the Post will elect a slate of officers to serve for the ensuing year. Several committees have been named to arrange for the election meeting including nominating and election and a special group whose goal will be aimed at attendance of all the post members. New officers for the Auxiliary have been elected, Mrs. Andrews stated and a joint installation ceremony is being planned for the two groups following the Legion election.

Court-Martial Legality To Be Challenged

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Attorneys for Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. said today they will ask a ruling on the legality of a U.S. Army court-martial regulation when the officer comes to trial June 25.

Nickerson is accused on 18 counts of allowing secret missile data to fall into the hands of unauthorized persons.

Atty. Robert Bell said he and Atty. Ray Jenkins would ask a ruling pertaining to a section of the Army court-martial manual which specifies that defense witnesses and evidence must be approved by the prosecuting agency before being brought before the court-martial.

In this instance, the prosecuting agency is the 3rd Army, which yesterday refused Bell and Jenkins permission to question four high-ranking officers. It also denied the defense certain documents because they were "irrelevant."

Bell said the Army regulation came into being as the result of an executive order signed Feb. 8, 1951, by former President Truman.

"This regulation certainly does not conform to the basic principals of American jurisprudence," Bell said.

"It is going to make it awfully easy to convict Nickerson."

The 3rd Army yesterday notified Bell that it would not permit a "broad and blind search" through various documents for evidence in the defense of Nickerson.

Bell told newsmen he had a "pretty good idea which documents we wanted to see, and specified them in the request to the 3rd Army."

Bell said he was told that the 3rd Army had determined the officers he asked as witnesses could add nothing to the defense.

Nickerson is charged with disclosing classified military matters on rocket research and development at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, where the Army ballistic missile agency is located.

The charges grew out of a memorandum in which Nickerson criticized Defense Secretary Wilson. The memorandum reportedly was critical of a Wilson order which assigned primary responsibility for intermediate range ballistic missiles to the Air Force.

Ackerly Lions To Install Officers

ACKERLY — Installation of new officers for the Ackerly Lions Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. on June 27 at the regular meeting place.

David Ellis, vice president of the Midland Lions Club and immediate past district public relations director, is to be the installing officer.

Lester Brown will succeed Lonnie Kemp as president of the club.

Deramus Named By Texas Central

WACO (AP) — Directors of the Texas Central Railroad, a subsidiary of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, today elected W. N. Deramus of St. Louis president to succeed Donald Fraser, chairman of the Katy board.

Deramus said good rains and industrial growth should help Katy earnings but flood washouts from St. Louis to South Texas had been costly.

Fraser continues as a director.

Bids To Be Asked On Webb Utilities

Bids will be asked on or about July 1 for construction of utility facilities to support the Webb AFB housing project.

Referring to the release of $395,000 by the Air Force, Col. Ivan H. Impson, Dallas, the Air Force installations representatives for the Southwest region, said that a bid opening would be set approximately 90 days after the invitations are announced.

These funds will provide for expansion of the base electric, gas, water, sewage and storm drainage systems to provide sufficient capacity to support the utilities requirements of the proposed 460-unit Capehart housing project.

Bids for the housing development are due to be opened July 2.

Lightning Fells Nat'l. Guardsmen

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Lightning struck twice within 10 minutes, killed two National Guardsmen and knocked over soldiers "like bowling pins" on this Army paratrooper base last night.

The base hospital called in off-duty personnel to handle the 48 patients who poured in for treatment for five or six hours after the fierce electrical storm swept across Ft. Bragg. Field aid stations gave first aid treatment on the spot.

The Army identified the victims as Sgt. L.C. Walter Lee Milam, 26, and Pfc. Arthur Belton Norris Jr., 19, both of Kannapolis, N.C.

Units of the 30th (Old Hickory) Division of the North Carolina National Guard bore the brunt of the storm's attack. The 6,000 Tar Heel guardsmen were encamped for summer training in a wooded area 10 miles west of the main portion of the base.

Striking at supertime, the lightning skipped around the bivouac area as many of the soldiers stood in chow line, mess kits in hand.

"The men in front of me were knocked down like bowling pins," one soldier said. "My metal mess gear was wrenched from my hand and bent all out of shape."

Another recalled, "The ground shook something terrible and my feet felt like the ground was sizzling—just burning up."

After the first flash, one guardsman removed his boots to see if his feet were injured. "I just put my bare foot on the wet ground when another bolt struck like the first one," he said. "I was knocked to the ground along with other people in the tent."

An Army spokesman said four of the injured were admitted to the hospital as patients, none seriously hurt. The other injured remained in the hospital overnight to catch up on their sleep before returning to their units.

More than three miles from the center of the storm damage one soldier was talking on a field telephone. A jolt of electricity threw him completely across a large tent.

Maj. David Wilkinson, unit chaplain from Charlotte, credited action of the men in the field with keeping any of the injured from being seriously hurt.

He said, "within seconds after the first shock men who themselves had been knocked down, and those who felt no effects from the jolts, were on their feet helping their buddies."

"The way those guardsmen kept their heads is a real credit to them and their unit."

It's Tough Year On Watermelons

GHOLSON, Tex. (AP)—The annual Juneenth Watermelon Festival wasn't held yesterday because the melons won't be ripe before July 4.

It's been postponed in recent years because of drought. This year it was too wet in McLennan County for them to ripen.

Showers Fall Along Coast

By The Associated Press
Light rain showers fell along the southern Texas Gulf Coast Thursday, but skies over much of the state were clear.

The Weather Bureau forecast only isolated thundershowers through Friday. Predawn showers were reported at Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

The Weather Bureau said no measurable rain fell during the night.

Heavier rains earlier in the Rio Grande Valley posed new problems for farmers. Agricultural officials said the rains erased insecticides and provided good conditions for spreading insect trouble in the Valley's big cotton and grain sorghum crops.

Rains up to 5 inches soaked the lower Valley Tuesday night and lighter falls were reported Wednesday.

Mild temperatures prevailed over most of Texas Thursday with the high predawn reading 78 at Galveston and the low of 59 at Amarillo.

Presidio had the high of 99 degrees Wednesday. Beeville reported the low maximum of 80 degrees.

Rail Abandonment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission was asked by the Missouri Pacific Railroad yesterday for authority to abandon a 10-mile line linking Georgetown and Round Rock, Tex. The company claimed the line has been operating at a loss for four years.

Oil Independents Attack Dependency Upon Imports

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas independent oil men today claimed the United States now is dependent on "unreliable foreign oil" and the national security has been undermined by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Immediate steps to cut crude oil imports were urged by four independent oil producers' associations in telegrams to three U.S. senators after the commission's monthly proration hearing yesterday.

The commission whacked the July oil allowable by 390,449 barrels a day, apparently the largest monthly cut ever ordered here. The permissible flow from the fields which produce about 45 per cent of the nation's oil was dropped to 3,027,786 barrels daily.

Production was based on 13 days, the fewest number of producing days ever set. This means wells will be shut down for 18 days during July under the commission's policy of conservation. Senators receiving the wires were Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, and Texas Sens. Lyndon Johnson and Ralph Yarborough.

"Today's action underscored the fact that imports now supplant domestic production, making the United States dependent upon unreliable foreign oil," read the wire to O'Mahoney. "It amplifies the urgency for immediate action for the curtailment of excessive imports."

State revenue will drop about 1 1/2 million dollars in July as a result of the big cut. The tax is 4.6 per cent on the price of a barrel of oil.

State Comptroller Robert Calvert said the reduction would not materially affect his estimate of state revenue submitted to each session of the Legislature. "We don't let one high month or low month worry us in making our estimate. We have to figure about two years in advance," Calvert said, adding that an average schedule of 15 to 16 days was used in making an estimate to the 55th Legislature.

Most oil observers figure the production pattern will bounce back up by fall when the heavy consuming season begins.

The commission unsuccessfully asked witnesses for the solution as to how to hold up the allowable yet keep a ratable take. Most witnesses said a reduction in state revenue was inevitable since there was not enough demand for domestic crude to take the supply. The independents preferred the ratable take method which apparently assures a market, although a smaller one, for all the crude allowed to be pumped.

Coahoma Church Sets Homecoming

COAHOMA (SC)—The only living charter member of the Coahoma Presbyterian Church will be honored during "Homecoming Day" at the church Sunday.

Dr. S. C. GUTHRIE

She is Mrs. R. V. Guthrie, who is now visiting in the home of one of her sons, Glenn Guthrie of Big Spring. Another son, Dr. S. C. Guthrie, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Kilgore, will be guest minister for the homecoming.

Church leaders hope the homecoming will be an annual event for the 59-year-old church.

There will be no Sunday School and the morning worship hour will begin at 10:30 a.m.

In addition to Dr. Guthrie's sermon, the program will include "The Lord's Prayer," to be sung by Louis Loveless, grandson of two other charter members of the church, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shive, Mrs. C. P. Owen, wife of the present pastor, will be at the organ.

Elder and Mrs. C. H. DeVany will present a brief story of the church's history, and letters and greetings from former ministers and members will be read.

A large number of guests have been invited.

Pioneer Presbyterian families who settled in eastern Howard County organized the Cohoma church in 1898. The charter roll includes the names of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shive, Mrs. A. E. Shive, Miss Alice Shive and Mrs. G. L. McQuerry. Little else is known of the early history of the church because many of the records have been destroyed, but Mrs. Guthrie is the only one of the original seven now living. Her name is still on the church roll.

Rev. C. P. Owen first became pastor of the church in 1942 and served until 1945 when he resigned to become director of church extension for the Paris Presbytery. The church issued a call for his return in May, 1956, and he has served as pastor since then.

Also to be honored during the program is Leroy Echols, who has served as an elder since 1924.

Handicapped Children Get Special Toys

AUSTIN (AP)—A colorful selection of mechanical toys has been designed by a group of future engineers, just for handicapped children.

The toys have drawn the attention of a San Antonio manufacturer who has indicated he may put out a line of toys for the cerebral palsied.

The project was created by Dr. William Amstead, associate professor mechanical engineering at the University of Texas and a director of the Austin Cerebral Palsy Center. He was dismayed to find there are no toys designed to fit the needs of the handicapped child and decided to do something about it.

He assigned this problem to his sophomore class: Design and build a toy with therapeutic value for children with cerebral palsy.

The 27 students set to work and most any child would be happy with the results.

Included are boxers that start fighting when you press a button; a motorcycle that starts running when you turn a knob (this teaches a simple skill as opening a door); a strength developing device that lights up when the child completes the exercise; and a turning carousel with different kinds of toys which a child can call by name, a device to improve speech therapy.

City Managers Set Scholarship Fund

Dr. W. J. LANGLEY

Due To Start Internship

WESTBROOK —Welborn James Langley, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Langley of Westbrook, will begin his internship at Baylor Hospital in Dallas July 1.

He received his MD degree early this month from Southwestern Medical School, a branch of the University of Texas at Dallas. He is a 1943 graduate of Westbrook High School.

Langley entered the Army Dec. 12, 1944, and served with the medical corps in the Philippines and Japan. Re-enlisting for a second hitch, he was stationed in Vienna, Austria, where he was married to Evelyn Hill.

While in Austria, he received several months of pre-medical training at the University of Vienna. Returning home, he studied one year at Texas Tech before entering Baylor University from which he graduated in May, 1953.

Dr. and Mrs. Langley have one child, Brenda Diana, one month of age.

In an effort to promote its own profession, the Texas City Managers Association has set up a $600 scholarship fund for college seniors.

The scholarship will be entitled the TCMA Ridley Scholarship Fund. H. W. Whitney, city manager, said the group had been trying for several years to set up such a scholarship but finances had held it back. However, the money is now available, and the program has been initiated.

The scholarship will be left in the hands of a three-man screening committee to select the recipient and carry out other necessary functions in connection with the award, a letter to Whitney stated. The award will be limited to students taking courses which the committee believes will qualify the applicant for a career in public administration.

This does not mean that the student must be taking a course definitely labeled "public administration."

Only seniors or graduate students at Texas colleges or universities will be eligible for the aid, which will be $300 or $600. This amount will be given until the TCMA's fund has grown, the committee recommended. Students will not be required to repay the money.

Students desiring to apply or learn more about the scholarship should contact H. P. Clifton, city manager at Lubbock, who is chairman of the committee, Whitney said.

The award was named for Clarence E. Ridley, a Texan, who recently retired as executive secretary of the International City Managers Association. The international headquarters is located in Chicago.

MRS BAIRD'S BUNS

Mrs. Charles Daubs Contributes Three Favorite Family Recipes

Mrs. Charles Daubs has contributed for today's food page a recipe that she makes at least once a week because it's so popular around their home. The recipe is for creamy pralines and is a simple and quick way for such a delicious candy.

The greatest admirer of the praline is the younger member of the Daubs household—Charles Davis (Chuckie), who is 17 months old. When little Charles runs to the refrigerator and starts begging, Mrs. Daubs knows just what he wants—a praline.

Ingredients:
 3 cups granulated sugar
 1 cup brown sugar
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 3 cups pecans, broken

Method:
 Combine sugars, milks, butter and salt. Bring slowly to full rolling boil over medium heat. Add pecans and continue boiling until mixture reaches soft-ball state (232 degrees). Remove from heat and stir only until mixture is creamy looking. Spoon out on buttered baking sheets. Cool. Makes 8 dozen.

Straight from Sweden comes this recipe Mrs. Daubs shares with readers today. Her grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Carlson of Berwyn, Ill., was born in Sweden and Mrs. Daubs has acquired this recipe for Swedish meatballs from her. Mrs. Daubs certainly recommends this recipe.

SWEDISH MEATBALLS

Ingredients:
 3/4 pound ground beef
 3/4 pound ground pork
 3 tablespoons chopped onion
 1 egg
 1 tablespoon flour
 2 slices of bread
 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cups milk
 2-3 tablespoons butter
 Salt and pepper

Method:
 Sauté onions until golden brown. Soak bread in milk; add meat, egg, onion salt and pepper; mix until smooth. Shape into small balls and fry in butter, shaking skillet continuously to make them round and well browned. When fried, remove the meatballs to deep serving dish and keep hot. Mix flour and one cup of cream or milk; add to pan juice. Simmer mixture for 10 minutes, stirring constantly, pour gravy over meatballs and serve hot with boiled or browned potatoes.

With the summer months meaning entertainment to many, Mrs. Daubs has given a recipe that would be perfect to serve those next guests or to surprise the family.

CHICKEN BREAST SAUTE WITH NEW POTATOES

Ingredients:
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 4 to 6 large chicken breasts
 1 sliced onion
 1 minced garlic clove

Method:
 Sauté chicken on both sides until browned. Add onion and garlic; cook about 5 minutes. In small bowl, combine flour, salt, pepper; slowly stir in bouillon cube that has been dissolved in hot water; pour over browned chicken. Cook slowly, covered, about 30 minutes or until chicken is tender. Add potatoes and wine; heat thoroughly. Garnish with parsley sprigs. Serves about four to six.

Curried Rice Salad Is Colorful

Curry powder has often been called, "the salt of the Orient." Its intriguing flavor gives this rice salad a delightful taste and colors the rice an attractive yellow. The bits of green pepper and the tomato wedges add more color.

Ingredients:
 1 cup uncooked white rice
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 2 cups water
 1/2 cups mayonnaise
 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper

Method:
 Put the rice, salt, and water in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Mix together the mayonnaise and curry powder. Stir into the hot rice. Add the black pepper. Cool slightly. Stir in the green pepper. Cover well and store in the refrigerator until time to serve. Salad is delicious served cold or at room temperature.

To serve, place the curried rice on salad greens on a large platter. Arrange the tomato wedges around the salad. Garnish the top with green pepper rings or strips of green pepper placed in a criss-cross design. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Quick Shortcake Version For Fruit

Our favorite quick way to bake strawberry shortcake.

DOUBLE DROP SHORTCAKE

Ingredients:
 Two cups prepared biscuit mix,
 1/2 cup light cream, 5 teaspoons butter (soft), 1 quart strawberries (aliced and sugared), 1/2 cup heavy cream (whipped and sweetened and flavored with vanilla).

Method:
 Stir together biscuit mix and cream with a fork until well mixed. Drop half the dough in 5 mounds on cookie sheet. Flatten slightly with back of spoon. Spread each biscuit with a teaspoon of butter. Drop another mound of dough on top of each and spread again with back of spoon. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until browned. Remove top biscuit and place bottom biscuits in individual serving dishes. Spoon berries over biscuits, replace tops and spoon on more berries. Top with whipped cream. Makes 5 servings.

Who 'Dat Mommie?

Home state for the Daubs family is Illinois.

DARK CHOCOLATE CAKE

Ingredients:
 One and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup shortening, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup boiling hot strong coffee.

Method:
 Grease 2 round layer-cake pans (each 8 inches across and 1 1/2 inches deep); line bottoms with waxed paper; grease paper. Sift together the cake flour, baking soda and salt. Fresh Vegetables

Experiments using dry ice with water ice to improve refrigeration of fresh fruits and vegetables have been carried out by the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Quick Corned Beef, Vegetable Skillet

This is a delicious meat and vegetable meal. It's easy because most of the ingredients are canned, and it cooks in a hurry using just one utensil. There's golden whole kernel corn, white rice, red tomatoes and the convenient canned corned beef which adds a delightful flavor.

Onions cook several minutes in fat. Then rice, canned corned beef, corn and tomatoes are added.

CORNED BEEF, VEGETABLE SKILLET

Ingredients:
 1 tablespoon cooking fat
 1 medium onion, chopped (about 1/2 cup)
 2-3 cup uncooked white rice
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
 1, 12 oz. can corned beef, broken up
 1, 12 oz. can whole kernel golden corn
 1, 303 can tomatoes and juice
 1 cup water

Method:
 Melt the fat in a skillet. Add the onion. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the onion begins to turn yellow. Add the rice, salt and pepper. Add the corned beef, corn, tomatoes and water. Bring to a boil. Turn the heat down. Cover with a lid and simmer 25 minutes. Add water if necessary. Serve from the skillet if desired. This recipe makes 10 servings.

Low Water Cookery

The modern trend in preparing most vegetables is the use of as little water as possible and rapid cooking.

Variety In Strawberries For Summertime Meals

How many gala guises has the scarlet sweet strawberry! Strawberries mean shortcakes, sundaes, and salads. They are the crown jewels of such show-off party desserts as the baked Alaska, and they are the flavor heart and color of the homemade ice cream served at socials on the lawn.

What's more, the glamorous berries mean a good ration of sustenance. They are especially high in health-giving vitamin C and contain significant quantities of vitamin A, and of other needed nutrients and minerals.

The strawberry, which has been annually scoring as America's best loved berry for more than 100 years now, had to make the round trip to Europe, and a marital alliance in France, before it made

Prunes Are Plums

A prune is a variety of plum which can be dried without fermenting when the pit is left in.

Prunes grown in California are mostly dried, while prunes grown in Washington and Oregon are sold fresh — usually as "Italian prunes."

Raw Fruits

Nutritionists generally agree that for most persons it is beneficial to eat some fruits and vegetables raw, as in salads, and from the fruit bowl, because in that way all the nutritional value is obtained.

good in its native hemisphere. In 1714, a French soldier carried home five wild strawberry plants from Chile. In France these plants which bore big, pale red fruit, were crossed with the smaller, more vivid and flavorful North American meadow variety already grown there. Result: The large, lusciously red, flavor-rich fruit we know today.

Superb varieties are now grown commercially in 39 of our states. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests these beautiful, flavorful and beautiful ways to bring strawberries to your June table.

Makes Housework Pay Off

Lovely Inger Stevens finds that she can get a lot of exercise by just doing housework, and that making the bed can give you a good stretch. Inger will be Bing Crosby's leading lady in "The Man on Fire," for MGM.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Exercise A Way Of Releasing Tensions

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — Inger Stevens has so completely lost her accent that she would never know that she couldn't speak a word of English when she arrived in this country seven years ago. When I chatted with this blonde beauty from Sweden on "The Man on Fire" set at MGM she was aglow over making her screen debut as Bing Crosby's leading lady. "I've done a lot of TV and Bing saw me and asked me to make a test. And here I am," Inger said with a smile, showing a dimple in each cheek. "How do you like living in Hollywood?" I asked. "I discovered I couldn't get along without learning to drive everything is so scattered. I do a great deal of walking — it's my favorite exercise and great for my figure but every step I take here two or three kind motorists want to give me a lift. "I find you can do a lot of exercise around the house," Inger continued. "Just making a bed done the right way can give you a fine stretch and good bends." "Any beauty problems?" I asked. "I am inclined to be impatient and get wrought up when things do not happen as fast I would like them. I recognize that this is a fault of mine and I am trying to become less tense."

'ROUND TOWN With Lucille Pickle

It takes more than a seven-course meal and a siesta to overcome a Mexican taxi ride according to MRS. C. R. RHOADS, who with her husband and daughter, Regina, has recently returned from Mexico. The Rhoadses spent 15 days in Mexico City and Acapulco and had a wonderful time, the climax of which was a taxi trip across Mexico City on a Sunday afternoon just after a blizzard. Their driver knew no English and their knowledge of Spanish consisted of Buena Dias. Their discomfort grew when they realized the Mexican not only didn't speak their language; he also took no heed of traffic lights or intersections. The local family enjoyed the market days when everything from mountain lizards to tropical fruit was put out for sale. Hacienda Vista Hermosa which has been converted into a resort from a former sugar plantation. Mrs. Rhoads said if she had seen it first, they would have spent the entire time there. The surrounding area is beautiful with tropical fruit growing all around. They also spent some time in Cuernavaca, south of Mexico City, but the prettiest sight of all was the good old Texas soil when they got back to the border. Just true Texans at heart.

A Bible Thought For Today

And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars for ever and ever. (Daniel 12:3)

Drawing A Very Fine Line

In a sensational opinion handed down this week the Supreme Court ordered freedom for five of 14 California Communist leaders who had been convicted under the Smith Act for plotting to teach and advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government by violence. The other nine were granted new trials.

The 14 defendants had been convicted in August of 1952—almost five years ago. At that time we were at war with communism in Korea, so in a sense these were wartime crimes of which the 14 had been convicted.

The decision to free the five was 6-1. Justices Douglas and Black felt all 14 should be freed, while Justice Tom Clark, the Texan, dissented outright all the way. He agreed with the trial court and the court of appeals that the evidence against all 14 defendants "showed guilt beyond reasonable doubt."

But the majority held that the trial judge failed in instructing the jury to properly "distinguish between advocacy of forcible overthrow as an abstract doctrine and advocacy of action to that end."

This is a very fine point indeed. It means, in effect, that an enemy of the U. S. government, at a time the government is at war with the death with governments whose philosophy and cause he embraces, may rise in a crowd and shout, "Down with the United States of America and all its works" and go unscathed of the law as set forth by the Smith Act. But if he says, "get a club and wham the first American soldier you see," he is guilty under the Smith Act.

If the subversive merely condemns the U. S. government and all its works while that government is fighting for its life against the subversive's pet ideology, he's on safe ground, even though his words might inspire others to go out and assault Uncle Sam.

One wonders if the court would have taken this action had the issues reached it at the time we were at war with world communism. Does a sort of Statute of Limitations run on the feelings of the court?

Truth (And Love) Stranger Than Fiction

George Gordon Lord Byron, who said so many things so well in Don Juan, avers in Canto XIV, Stanza 3:

"'Tis strange, but true; for truth is always strange—stranger than fiction."

So, to get away from the customary sad discussion of sin and the tumult of the times for a moment, let us report a bit of truth from Melbourne, Australia, as set forth by the veracious Associated Press no longer ago than last Monday.

Aboard the liner W. C. Langfitt when she docked in Melbourne last Thursday was a pretty Greek emigrant, Vasiliki Mastrogiannopoulou, 18. She spotted at once the man she had come to marry, George Tsipiras, 36, standing on the dock beside a tall, dark and handsome young man.

When the last passenger had come down the gangway, George was still standing there, looking for his bride-to-be. After a while he gave up and left, and later still he reported to the police in case anything had happened to his intended.

Well, as it turned out, something had happened to Vasiliki. A naked little Roman god with a bow and arrow had taken unerring aim and shot her straight through the heart.

The following Monday the girl walked into the police station and this is the tale she told:

"When I saw my fiance on the pier I was disappointed and didn't want to meet him. Then I saw this other man and I felt something inside me. It was love. He is so young and handsome."

Well, that's about it, except that Vasiliki M—(and so forth—) and tall, dark and handsome George Ignatiades were writing their parents in Greece for permission to marry.

Don't feel too sorry for George Tsipiras, you sentimentalists. He was lucky, after all; it's a terrible thing to be married to someone who doesn't love you and never did.

As Byron said, truth is stranger than fiction, but it isn't always as pleasant as it turned out to be for Vasiliki and her tall, dark and handsome George—George Ignatiades, that is.

And don't get the notion of trying this truthful story on the mats of stage, screen and video. They want fiction, not truth.

Senate's Role In Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON.—Another example of the hypocrisy of modern politics and the tendency of some legislators nowadays to eschew the role of statesmanship for the easier role of the politician is emphasized by the refusal of the Democratic party in the Senate to let any of its members participate in the United States mission on disarmament now meeting in London.

If the Eisenhower administration happened in the past to make a decision a few days before it had a chance to inform the Senate, a hue and cry arose that the executive was "abandoning bipartisanship." If the Secretary of State makes a comment, as he did last week, praising the Democratic leaders for advocating an exchange of radio or television programs with the Soviet and mentions that this has been the department's policy all along, caustic statements are issued by prominent members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee saying this is a supercilious way to treat a Democratic leader.

All this merely illustrates the pettiness of the controversies that are initiated in the name of "smart politics." To make a partisan football of the nation's foreign policies is nothing new. The Republicans did it with the League of Nations just after World War I ended and contributed to the very weakness of Europe which brought on World War II.

But history is repeating itself now with the Democrats in the saddle. Despite pious professions of interest in world peace and disarmament and great concern for the making of a foreign policy that will reduce the burdens of national defense, the Senate's Democrats have declined an invitation to become informed at first hand on what is going on between the Soviet government and the Western Allies on the subject of disarmament.

If ever there was justification for the old saying that "party politics should end at the water's edge," it is today with the world facing the terrifying problems of a nuclear age.

But the instances in which the opposition party should be cooperating with the party in control of the White House and State Department, and in which such cooperation is being scorned, are multiplying daily. Politics and the selfishness of the party struggle seems to be superseding American idealism.

The American people are rightly worried about disarmament talks. Will these talks get anywhere? Will America take chances and agree to disarm and trust the enemy's pledges? This isn't a problem for one political party but for all Americans. If ever there was a time when the vigilance of the Senate's leaders, Republicans and Democrats, was a necessary it is in such a conference as is going on in London now.

When the nation's safety is at stake, the American people do not want their senators to run away from their responsibilities as outlined in the Constitution. This document says it is the duty of the Senate to advise and consent before a treaty or agreement is finally ratified. But this certainly cannot be done as effectively if the Senate is dependent on what is printed in the press or if the Secretary of State has to outline it all after the agreements are signed.

The United States Senate found in 1919 that it could not change the Versailles Treaty without starting a new peace conference to renegotiate the changes desired. The time to negotiate and make changes to conform to the will of the Senate is before a treaty is signed. This is what has given rise in recent years to consultations with senators in advance of the signing of treaties. President Truman recognized the importance of the principle when he named the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican, to be a member of the delegation which formulated the United Nations Charter at San Francisco in 1945. Mr. Vandenberg in fact made some important contributions to the writing of that very document.

But now the Democrats, who have cried out loudest in recent years against the alleged lack of consultation with them by the Eisenhower administration, are refusing an invitation to sit down with the members of the American mission which is attempting to negotiate a disarmament agreement. Could the reason be that the Democrats think the mission may be doomed to failure anyhow and they want later to be able to criticize that failure and make partisan capital of it? They wouldn't be able to do so if they happened to have participated in the negotiations themselves. Whatever the reason, it doesn't reveal a sense of statesmanship at a critical time. It seems to nullify the solemn pledges uttered by the Democrats in the 1956 campaign when they promised to cooperate with the administration in the making of foreign policy and praised "bipartisanship" as really a Democratic party virtue.

Court Protecting Rights Of Individual

WASHINGTON (AP)—The main point in the Supreme Court's history-making decision on civil liberties has been the widening of protection for individuals against intrusion by the government: federal, state or local.

The court has been pretty consistent in guarding the right of an individual to refuse to answer congressional committee questions by invoking the Fifth Amendment, which says a man can't be compelled to tell anything self-incriminating.

But this week the court went far beyond that by ruling in favor of a professor in one of its colleges for using the Fifth Amendment before a congressional committee.

True, the court said, he had no constitutional right to the job. But he did have a constitutional right to use the Fifth Amendment when he was questioned about past membership in the Communist party.

The court said: "The privilege against self-incrimination would be reduced to a hollow mockery if its exercise could be taken as equivalent either to a confession of guilt or a conclusive presumption of perjury."

"The amendment serves to protect the innocent who might otherwise be ensnared by ambiguous circumstances."

But this week the court went far beyond that by ruling in favor of two men who had been convicted of contempt when, without invoking the protection of any amendment at all, they refused to answer questions.

The men argued the answers would not serve any public purpose and that the questions themselves were simply an intrusion into private beliefs.

One was John T. Watkins, a labor organizer, who balked at questions by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The other was Paul M. Sweezy, lecturer and author, who would not answer questions by New Hampshire's attorney general.

The majority opinion of the Supreme Court said in effect that when a congressional committee asks questions they must have a purpose connected with the business of congress and, therefore, the public welfare.

Chief Justice Warren said this in the majority opinion: "Investigations conducted solely for the aggrandizement of the investigators or to 'punish' those investigated are indefensible. . . . There is no congressional power to expose for the sake of exposure."

"The public is, of course, entitled to be informed concerning the workings of its government. That cannot be inflated into a general power to expose where the predominant reason can only be an invasion of the rights of individuals."

Model Knows All About Wolves

NEW YORK (AP)—A young mother here who well may be the world's highest paid model—she earned $35,000 last year—also is a leading authority on wolves—Manhattan wolves.

"I have a lot of trouble with wolves," sighed Lois Collins, a former Denver receptionist.

"I'm seeing an analyst about them now. He tells me I'm too naive about men. But I can't help it if I'm too trusting."

"I can't help liking men. I find them much less difficult to get along with than I do other women."

The blue-eyed, convent-reared brunette came here in 1952 to attend a merchandising school but began to pose for magazine illustrators after she went broke.

"I wouldn't go back home for my bride's sake," she said.

She soon turned to modeling, and found a quick success in the field. Slender and unusually photogenic, her trade measurements—if we must give away trade secrets—are 36-22-33.

Lois gets from $40 an hour for fashion modeling, to $150 an hour for full figure studies for photographic magazines or ads showing her stepping out of a bathtub clad only in a towel.

"A few girls do better than I do in fashion modeling," said Lois, who has been featured in most of the leading magazines. "But no one makes more than I do in the figure field."

She married and divorced a young actor shortly after arriving here. Now she supports a 3-year-old son, Michael, and shares an East Side apartment with her younger brother, who attends Columbia University.

Like Jayne Mansfield, Marilyn Monroe and Marie Wilson, Lois hopes to graduate from modeling to film work. She is studying acting at nights.

On the subject of wolves, she observed: "In the business I'm in I have to be very careful. The wolves in Manhattan come in all ages. Some are nicely treacherous—and some are just treacherous."

"First, there are the older wolves—20 to 70 or more. They are usually married millionaires who try to recapture their youth by capturing a model," she said.

"Then there are the perennial playboys—actors and wealthy businessmen—who make a game out of trying to date every new girl who comes to town."

"Then there are the middle-aged wolves on expense accounts who use a girl as if she were a watch charm. They are insecure in themselves, and think being seen with a pretty girl will help them make a big impression."

Chicken Stealing A Thing Of The Past?

Chicken stealing must be strictly a hard times occupation. You hardly ever hear of any of it going on anymore.

Things are too inflated nowadays, I guess. Chickens are hardly worth the trouble of picking up.

Back in the depression, though, it was different story. Chicken thieves used to make regular visits to our hen house. Seems like they'd drop by every month or two.

We never lost too many chickens, on account of our old hens quickly caught on to what was happening to them. The hen house doors and windows were always open, and the least movement or noise in the vicinity would send the old biddies flapping and squawking out of there.

That apparently didn't discourage the thieves, though, for they returned time after time in their efforts to clean the roosts.

We heard the commotions in the hen house regularly, usually somewhere in the vicinity of midnight. It was the same old routine every time.

Dad would get up and rummage around in his dresser drawer, hunting in the dark for his shotgun shells. Mom used to say he made so much racket he scared the thieves off before he ever got the gun loaded.

Finally, though, he would locate the shells, slip one in the scattergun and step out on the back porch and, if the noise was still going on, he would fire a blast from the long-Tom, single-shot twelve-gauger into the air.

I used to think chicken thieves would be legitimate targets for some serious shooting, but Daddy didn't think so.

"I wouldn't want to hurt anybody, just over a few hens," he explained.

The thieves must have known he wouldn't cut down on them, for they got pretty bold at times, even to the point of coming around during the full moon when it was almost as bright as day.

I saw one guy try to jump the barbed wire fence just back of the chicken house one night. He got over, but broke the top wire in the process. We found a tow sack containing three hens just under the fence and concluded he was too heavily laden to clear the top strand.

That would be a hard way to make a living, even in a depression. Hope it doesn't ever come to that again.

Choice Between The Quick And The Dead

In the 40 years since the Bolshevik revolution, the Russian regime has managed to wag along without soliciting advice, suggestions or communications from me.

So when Radio Moscow recently solicited my opinion, as well as that of hundreds of other American writers, journalists and public figures, on the prohibition of nuclear tests for a "June Forum" for Russian consumption, I felt (1) surprised and (2) leery rather than flattered.

In a cable from Moscow, Igor Bestuzhev of Radio Moscow asked for either a two-minute script or a two-minute tape recording. My mixed reactions were, first, old-fashioned American pride in my unalienable right, as an American citizen, freely to speak my piece any time, anywhere. And, second, caution, lest anything I write or say be skillfully used for propaganda purposes to the detriment of the United States.

After considerable soul-searching, I have decided that what I have to say on the subject of control of nuclear tests and war I shall say right at the same old stand where I have done business for a considerable period. If Mrs. Bestuzhev wishes then to broadcast this column to the home folks, he is welcome to it, just as he was to a half dozen previous columns on nuclear control in recent weeks.

Just 11 years ago, Bernard M. Baruch said all there is to say on the subject of nuclear control in one poignant and terrible sentence. When Baruch presented the American atomic energy proposals to the United Nations in June, 1946, he said, "We are here to make a choice between the quick and the dead."

In 11 years, the choice has not changed. And if the atomic powers wrangle over nuclear controls for another 11, or 11 times 11, years, the choice will still be "between the quick and the dead."

The world is faced with the choice of banning nuclear weapons or automatically banning itself. Merely to ban the testing of such weapons is to swat idly at the flies on a mad dog at large in the world.

Man longs for the cross of nuclear war to be lifted from his shoulders. The only real question is how the cross shall be raised. We of the West who believe that the nuclear weapon has represented our margin of safety from totalitarianism since 1945, will never consent to prohibition of nuclear weapons or tests unless accompanied by steel-clad agreements that guarantee thorough international inspection to prevent secret nuclear arming.

This, then, is the crux of the problem. There must not only be a will to ban nuclear tests and weapons, but a foolproof way to enforce it. It would be the height of folly for the Communist world to believe that the West is so hungry for peace and nuclear controls that it would throw away its atomic ace-in-the-hole.

If we must make the dreadful and unthinkable choice, we in the United States would rather die on our feet under a rain of hydrogen bombs than live on our knees in totalitarian subjugation.

One thing is certain: We shall either live together or die together. The "rush-hour" shaped cloud looms as large over Russia as over the West. All of us either escape from this nightmare, or none of us. Surely, it is not impossible for men, no matter how divergent their political beliefs, to work out a modus vivendi.

There has been enough of name-calling on both sides of the Iron Curtain. I have tried in this instance to keep a civil tongue in my head, as men must do if their decision is to live rather than die.

In conclusion, I can only say to Bestuzhev and Radio Moscow that the split atom has put a premium on time in man's ultimate choice between the quick and the dead.

Walter Lippmann

Bringing Arms Race Under Control

"Anyone coming from Europe," said Barbara Ward Jackson at the Harvard Commencement, "must candidly report that distaste for the Atlantic Association is widely expressed. . . . The distrust, the envy, the fear of American power and competition—which are inevitable, given the nation's relative strengths—were uncheked by any opposite sense of working with America to achieve a legal purpose and of experiencing firsthand the energy, the vitality, and the imagination which America can bring to any high task it proposes to itself."

The high task, which Lady Jackson had in mind, would be one like the Marshall Plan ten years ago, in which a free coalition of nations would unite "in time of peace to achieve some great and constructive aim."

Reading her sensitive and eloquent words, I find myself wondering what has happened in these ten years, why it is that Western nations are no longer united in some great, overriding, common enterprise. Have the people and their leadership deteriorated, and are they less high-minded and farseeing and bold than they were when they came together in the Marshall Plan? Or have conditions changed, and are the Western nations confronted with problems which are very different indeed from those which they dealt with ten years ago?

The Marshall Plan was addressed to the recovery of Western Europe from the damage and the dislocation of the war. All the nations participating in it, including the United States which financed the dollar requirements, were jointly and severally, as a community and as separate nations, vitally interested in making the plan a success.

The Atlantic nations were, as Lady Jackson put it, working with America to achieve a large purpose. But that large purpose was the rescue and the rebuilding of the Atlantic nations themselves, and their vital interests were directly engaged. What, we must ask ourselves, is the large-purpose today which might unite them once more in "some great and constructive aim"?

By way of answering this question, Lady Jackson made three suggestions. One would be to develop a low tariff area for the Atlantic community as a whole. A second would be to finance the foreign exchange requirements of the Indian Five-Year Plan in order to prove, by contrast with China, that it is possible in Asia to develop a country without the totalitarian compulsion. A third suggestion was that the Western nations participate in the development of West Africa, which is within sight of national independence.

For myself, all these proposals seem to be excellent. But I cannot believe that lower tariffs or the financing of India or West Africa can generate in the Western World anything like the sense of high common enterprise which existed in the great days of the Marshall Plan.

Can anything develop it today? Or is the Western World spellbound by the great boom that now prevails almost everywhere? Ten years ago it was a vital necessity that Western Europe should be inspired and animated the common enterprise of the Marshall Plan. Is there today any similar necessity, one which is central, which engages all the Atlantic nations jointly and severally, which catches the vital interests of the masses of the people?

I think there is. It grows out of the race of armaments which is fast becoming a critical problem not only in international affairs but in the internal affairs of all the military powers. The great dispute over our own budget is really about the effects on our civilian life of the enormous and the mounting costs of armaments. In all Western countries public life is dominated by the same issue of military versus private and public civilian spending.

We need have no illusions about the difficulty of coming to an agreement among ourselves and with Russia which would limit and stabilize the competition in armaments. But this is the central and overriding task today as was the recovery of Western Europe ten years ago.

The task is certainly not to disarm while the world is so divided. Perhaps it is not even to reduce substantially the present scale of armaments. The task is to bring the competition itself under international control before it becomes intolerably costly, and before the tensions of the nuclear testing and of the threat of nuclear war brings us to some breaking point.

Cotton is coming up fast since the warm days started, and several fields planted the latter part of last week are almost up to a stand now.

County Agent James Taylor visited in several communities yesterday and said most of the cotton blown out last Saturday and Sunday has been planted again. He said a lot of farmers are now planting feed crops.

Taylor and other county agents are expecting the insects to hit the young cotton before long, and are planning to hold some insect meetings with farmers. He said the dates had not been set yet. When they are, the information will be published in the Herald.

Day before yesterday when coming back from Colorado City, I tried to cut across country to Vincent. Finally getting lost in that maze of creeks and tall mesquite, I wound up at the Tom Jackson place six miles southeast of Vincent. His house is right next to the jumping off place, but it's been home to him for 38 years.

Jackson has received over 20 inches of rain this spring, but has a good feed crop started. He lives in what was once the old Carr community. Now it's almost a ghost community, because over 20 families have moved away since World War II started. Some houses have disappeared, while others are vacant. Two or three miles south of him there is a large church house that used to be filled every Sunday.

"Now we get 20 or maybe 25 out for services," Jackson said. "The people have all left. Land that one man farms today used to support five or six families."

Horace Mitchell, soil scientist with the local Soil Conservation Service, has been making some moisture tests on fields since the rains. He finds that water soaked down a lot deeper where there were terraces or some kind of residue on the land.

He says the sandy land in this area will hold 1.25 inches of water per foot, while the clay sub-soil will take up 1.75 inches. The coarse sandy land should be wet eight feet, the mixed land six feet and the tightland four feet, assuming that as much as 10 inches of rain has fallen.

On land that didn't have terraces or some kind of vegetation the soil was wet down only about half this deep. He says it is not always the amount of rain that counts, but rather the available moisture that influences production.

Mitchell made the tests in various parts of the Martin - Howard Soil Conservation District. The district includes Howard, Martin and Midland counties and part of Glasscock.

A cast-off hen is not worth much these days. A few years ago when Howard County poultrymen were using larger hens, these worn-out biddies would bring as much as a dollar and a half at the produce house.

Now they sell for only 15 cents a pound for heavyweights, with light hens bringing only 11 cents. This is the price Lee Burkelow is paying for them at his produce house, which is a cent or two above the Fort Worth market.

Burkelow says caged operators are using lighter birds now, and the culled hen lacks a lot paying for the young pullet that takes her place in the cage.

I used to think poets were amelic-looking people with mournful eyes like a Saint Bernard, and with hair long enough to hide their ears. Last week I met about 50 of the best poets in the Southwest and was surprised to find they looked much like ordinary people.

One is a retired dentist from Kingville, a man who made a small fortune and then quit work in time to enjoy it. He has now had about 500 poems published. Another is a rancher, a very wealthy man from Refugio, who edits a poetry magazine.

Not all poets are wealthy, though. One first-rate poet is a girl who helps run a dairy farm; another is an English professor at Texas A&M College. Several are housewives, who write poetry while the kids are sleeping and the old man is off at work.

I also find writers and novelists an assorted lot. Some have been newspaper men, professors, sailors and cowboys. One of the most successful at the Corpus Christi meeting was L. L. Foreman, a chunky little Irishman, who has written dozens of cowboy novels since he started back in 1932.

At that time he was a tramp and was sleeping on a park bench in Detroit. One night it became so cold that he tore out the pages of a magazine to cover his feet.

Idly he started reading a story by the dim park light, and decided he could write a better one. A lot of people say this, but Foreman went ahead and did it. Finally, when he was half-starved and three-fourths frozen, he decided it would be pleasanter to complete the starving process in a warmer climate.

Using his thumb for a ticket, he made his way to Florida, where a few weeks later an envelope reached him from New York. It contained a check for $150 and a letter asking for more stories.

Since that day he has made his entire living writing Western books and short stories. He now writes from three to four a year and gets a guarantee of $3,000 for each one, with additional money from TV and reprint rights.

Foreman lived in Santa Fe for many years, then migrated to Laredo, where he lived until recently when he moved on to the Gulf Coast.

Youth Killed In Gang Fight

AMARILLO (U)—A gang fight between a group of Latin American and Anglo youths erupted into gunfire today. One youth was killed.

Police identified the victim as Glen E. (Jerry) Cornelius, 19, of Amarillo. He was shot to death shortly after midnight outside a drive-in restaurant during a fight between three Latin-Americans and five Anglo youths, police said.

The death weapon was reported to be a homemade .22 caliber "zip gun."

Lloyd Sheffield, assistant manager of the restaurant, said he noticed the start of the fight and went outside and asked both groups to leave. A few minutes later, he said he heard a shot and rushed outside and found young Cornelius lying wounded. The youth died later at a hospital.

The other youths fled, but were picked up later by police.

Police arrested Gene Fajardo, 19; Ernest Oceana, 17, and Guadalupe Martinez, all of Amarillo. Four Anglo youths reported with Cornelius also were being questioned by Police Chief Wiley Alexander.

Oklahoma's First White-Born Dies

ARCADIA, Fla. (U)—A Texas woman, believed to have been the first white child born in Oklahoma died yesterday. She was Mrs. Mil-tase Holt Lockey, 78. She was born in the Wichita Agency Indian Territory where her father was a missionary.

Britain Explodes Third H-Bomb

LONDON (U)—Britain exploded its third hydrogen bomb yesterday, "successfully" completing its current nuclear test series in the Central Pacific.

Like in the two previous tests, it was dropped from a Valiant jet plane and exploded at high altitude in the Christmas Island area. The Supply Ministry's announcement said radioactive fallout was negligible. Similar statements followed the two previous explosions. The ministry gave no details but said the blast "completes this series of tests."
