Farmers Vote For Continuing Wheat Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers voted yesterday to continue federal marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

The count from 36 states gave 143,333 for and 28,833 against the Agriculture Department's control program.

That was a favorable majority of 83.3 per cent—far in excess of the necessary two-thirds. It compared with a majority of 87.5 per cent given quotas a year ago.

The department had said that if quotas were approved, it would support the 1958 crop at an average of $1.78 a bushel, but would drop this to about $1.19 if quotas were rejected.

With granaries carrying a full year's supply from previous crops, growers thought market prices would drop to the lower support level if controls were abandoned.

In approving controls for the fifth consecutive year, farmers will limit sales to the amount grown on a 55 million acre allotment—the same as on the past four crops.

Other crops being grown under quotas this year—likely to be subjected to them again next year—are cotton, rice, peanuts and major types of tobacco. Surpluses exist in all of them.

Traffic Fatalities

HOUSTON (AP) — Two traffic accidents yesterday killed a Baytown woman and a Houston man. Mrs. Corinne Strickland, 20, died in a two-car collision. Elijah Laster, 30, was killed when his car hit a culvert.

President's Status Left Up To Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today "the burden" is on the Bakers Union now to say whether its president, James G. Cross, abused his office and misused funds.

The Senate Rackets Committee, headed by McClellan, yesterday completed hearings into alleged misconduct by Cross.

A Bakers Union hearing board, meanwhile, notified Cross' chief accuser, suspended union Secretary-Treasurer Curtis R. Sims, it would meet today to consider the charge that he has brought the union into disrepute with his public denunciations of Cross' conduct.

Sims, suspended March 8, said he will be surprised if the hearing board, which he contends is run by Cross, fails to make his suspension permanent.

The Senate committee wound up its public hearings on the Bakers Union with Cross denying yesterday that he approved "substandard" wage contracts between his union and a baking company official whose father loaned him $97,000.

"It was doing me a favor and getting nothing in return," Cross said after acknowledging the loans from Martin L. Phillipsborn Sr., whose son is the labor relations chief of Zion Industries, Inc., Zion, Ill.

In four hours of questioning, Cross acknowledged payment of between $6,000 and $7,000 of union funds—some of it from a secret bank account—to a convicted Los Angeles prostitute, Mrs. Kay Lower.

But he said she was paid solely as an "undercover" union organizer. Cross denied he had beaten Mrs. Lower, used union funds to pay her rent or buy her a wardrobe. He also denied allegations that he had hired "goons" had beaten anti-Cross delegates, and one delegate's wife, at the union's international convention in San Francisco last year.

Dahse Funeral At 5 P.M. Saturday

Body of C. A. Dahse was to reach Big Spring from Tulsa this afternoon, and funeral for the plane crash victim is to be held at 5 p.m. Saturday in the First Christian Church.

Rev. Clyde E. Nichols, First Christian pastor, is to officiate. He will be assisted by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist minister.

The body will lie in state at the church, where young Dahse had been a member since childhood for one hour prior to time for the services.

The Big Spring flier was killed last Friday when his small airplane crashed in a plowed field in the midst of a wooded area near Lamar, Okla. A five-day air and ground search ended with discovery of his body at 7 a.m. Thursday.

Clement Alfred Dahse Jr. was born Oct. 23, 1925, in Fort Worth. He graduated from Big Spring High School in 1942 and from Texas A&M College in 1947, earning a degree in electrical engineering. After working for a time with Sinclair Oil Company as a geophysicist, he joined his father in operation of the H. W. Smith Transport Company here about three years ago.

He was en route to Tulsa last Friday evening when his plane apparently was caught in a thunderstorm near Lamar.

Inspectors and others who viewed the wreckage of the plane in the field near Lamar, Okla., were inclined to discount initial reports that Dahse had exhausted his fuel and was attempting an emergency landing. The left wing tank had not been recovered. Based on time and tailwinds, some observers estimated he probably still had ample fuel. They theorized that he may have been heading back to McAllister to escape a thunderstorm when the elements hurled him down.

Several local prizes were posted for winners of the races this afternoon. The cars were to take off down the incline from the Baptist Church corner.

On July 4, the 15 Mitchell boys will join 27 from Howard County in competition for the trip to the All American Derby at Akron, Ohio, and other valuable prizes.

Soap Box Derby Racers Will Get First Inspections

Soap Box Derby boys should know by Saturday night how much work they'll have to do to complete their cars for the Fourth of July races.

Preliminary inspections of all race cars will be conducted Saturday on the Tidwell Chevrolet Company lot at 1500 E. 4th. Avery Falkner, chief inspector, said all boys should bring their cars in, whether they're finished or not.

The inspectors will supply each boy with a list of corrections or other work to be completed in order to qualify them for the annual Derby. Boys then may return the cars to their homes to put the finishing touches to their work.

Final inspections are scheduled for July 2-3. The cars will be impounded at that time until time for the big races at 2 p. m. July 4.

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—A group of New York scientists have developed a simple test—requiring only one drop of blood—to show whether a child is immune to polio.

The blood sampling, described yesterday to the Society for Pediatric Research, is aimed at making it possible to find not only those children immune to polio but those whose polio immunity is waning off.

Preliminary results were reported by Drs. Horace Hodges, Helen Zepf, Walter Hennes and Ruth Berger of New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital.

C-City Derby Slated Today

Colorado City (SC) — Mitchell County Soap Box Derby boys were to stage their local races at 5 p.m. today.

There are 15 boys in the lineup from Colorado City and surrounding area. All will be eligible to compete in the Big Spring Soap Box Derby July 4.

Several local prizes were posted for winners of the races this afternoon. The cars were to take off down the incline from the Baptist Church corner.

Simple Test Developed To Show Immunity To Polio

Their method is based on the tendency of polio virus particles to crawl up a strip of moist filter paper and on the ability of immune blood serum to block that migration.

A strip of paper is marked off into 12 spaces and dipped into a solution containing polio virus. The blood serum to be tested is placed on spaces 3 and 4.

If the child is immune, the serum will completely block the migration of the virus particles beyond spaces 4 and 5.

But if the child is susceptible, the virus particles will continue to climb.

S. Korea Granted Weapons Buildup

UN Decision Is Protested By Commies

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command today voided the Korean armistice ban on new weapons to match the Communist buildup in North Korea.

Murray Snyder, U.S. assistant secretary of defense, said in Washington that the new arms would include jet aircraft which can carry atomic arms, but "at this time no atomic weapons are being given to ground forces."

He refused to say whether atomic armament would be stored at Korean bases for use against an attack.

The U.N. side declared it would continue to observe "fully" the cease-fire provision and all other points in the 1953 armistice agreement.

"NEW WAR" The Communist command promptly charged the U.N. with "attempting to make South Korea an atomic base and prepare for a new war."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rook declared impassively: "We are vehemently opposed to equipping U.N. forces with new types of weapons, wrecking the armistice agreement and perpetuating the U.N. occupation of South Korea."

U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Gen. Homer L. Litzenberg, senior member of the U.N. Command, notified the North Korean and Chinese Communists of the U.N. decision at a meeting in the truce hut in the demilitarized zone. Litzenberg said the Red reply was "milder than I expected."

"I did not interpret it as a Red threat to resume the fighting that ended with the July 27, 1953, truce," he said.

TO BE FLOWN IN SOON Litzenberg told reporters "modern and effective weapons" will be flown into Korea soon, but said he knew of no final decision on types, quantity or a timetable for bringing them in.

The U.N. Command's statement again accused the Communists of "flagrant, repeated and willful violations" of the armistice agreement and said the U.N. action was being taken because of the Reds' "complete disregard" of the arms ban.

TO RESTORE BALANCE Litzenberg declared the U.N. Command considered it is entitled to be relieved of obligations under the armistice provision covering replacement of weapons "until such time as the relative military balance has been restored and your side, by its action, has demonstrated its willingness to comply."

The voided provision of the agreement banned the introduction of all arms into North and South Korea except duplicate replacements for those already there at the time of the cease-fire in 1953.

Charging that the Communists have continued to violate this ban, the U.N. statement set out these specific points:

"1. You have introduced reinforcing combat equipment . . . in contravention of the provisions allowing only piece-for-piece replacement of equipment worn out and destroyed after the date of the armistice."

"2. You have also introduced combat equipment and weapons of entirely different types and capabilities from any you had in Korea at the time of the armistice."

"3. You have failed to report introductions of such equipment."

"4. You have introduced such equipment at ports of entry other than those specified in the armistice agreement."

The U.N. said it had observed the arms ban scrupulously and still is equipped with the same type of weapons it had at the time the armistice agreement was signed.

DEFINITELY A SNAKE DANCE

In his minstrel days, Byron Wolfe had done some pretty fair jiggling, but Friday morning—without an audience—he gave his master performance.

Wolfe had a rattlesnake hung on his pajama leg and was trying to shake it loose.

He had stepped out into his yard a mile east and half a mile north of Coahoma early Friday morning. He noticed a sudden movement and realized a rattler had implanted its fangs in his right pajama leg near the knee. The snake couldn't seem to get loose—but Wolfe did his best to help him.

The rattler, which was vivid black and white near the tail, had three rattles. It measured about 3 1/2 feet in length.

Civil Rights Bill Advanced After Senate Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House expressed hope today for action at this session of Congress on the civil rights bill which was forced onto the Senate calendar last night through a parliamentary maneuver.

Asked about White House reaction to the move, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, smiled and said: "Well, that's our bill."

Then Hagerty added, "we sincerely hope there will be action on the bill in this session of the Congress."

Earlier, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said the maneuver had "enhanced" the outlook for civil rights legislation. But he stopped short of predicting passage at this session.

Knowland, Senate GOP leader, engineered a victory over Southern foes of the House-passed bill last night, but it was only a preliminary skirmish in what promises to be a prolonged battle.

By a 45-39 roll call vote, the Senate put the measure on its legislative calendar without referring it to the Judiciary Committee, where a similar civil rights bill has been bottled up for months.

Thirty-four Republicans and 11 Democrats voted to put the bill on the calendar and keep it out of the hands of the Judiciary Committee, which is headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), an avowed opponent of the measure.

Thirty-four Democrats, including Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and five Republicans voted in favor of sending the bill to the Judiciary Committee, which is headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), an avowed opponent of the measure.

Knowland, jubilant over the outcome, said "it cuts out one prospective filibuster" against the bill, a key part of the legislative program urged by President Eisenhower. The bill is aimed generally at protecting voting and other civil rights.

Had the bill gone to committee, a motion to take it away from the committee and put it on the Senate calendar would have been subject to a filibuster by Southern opponents.

As it is, however, two prospective filibusters still lie in the path of the bill—one on a motion to take it up for debate and another on its passage.

To break a filibuster takes the votes of 60 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership. Past attempts to muster the necessary votes have met with defeat.

Knowland said an effort would be made to get action on the civil rights bill before Congress adjourns. But he said that if this fails, the bill still will be on the calendar at the start of the next session in January.

He told reporters he may not move to call the bill up for action until after the Fourth of July weekend.

President May Act On Crude Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said today he had been advised that President Eisenhower is intervening to curb oil imports "threatening national security."

He said he understands "action is under way."

Johnson told the Senate he had just received the report from Gordon Gray, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization. His statement to the Senate followed an earlier one in which he said Texas oil producers have been "left in the lurch" and have been dealt a severe blow by what he called excessive imports.

Johnson said: "Since I made my statement earlier today, director Gordon Gray has assured me that action is under way. I hope that it will be followed through."

"Mr. Gray advised me that the President is in agreement with his preliminary findings that there is reasonable ground to believe that excessive oil imports are threatening the national security."

"Mr. Gray also said that the President indicated he was ready to initiate the investigation under Section 7 of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. Such an investigation is a necessary preliminary to action."

"The President has also asked Mr. Gray to explore the feasibility of making voluntary arrangements which will help solve the situation, if he concludes that import reductions are necessary."

"It is good news that action is under way. I have already discussed some of the latest developments which threaten our domestic producers."

"The ODM director assures me that he is taking expeditious action. I hope that a conclusion is not too long delayed."

Bomb Wings Are Being Transferred

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force plans to send the 11th Bomb Wing from Carswell Air Force Base to Altus, Okla., AFB and transfer the 96th Bomb Wing from Altus to Dyess AFB at Abilene.

The Air Force said yesterday it plans to transfer the 11th, equipped with B24s from Carswell to Altus after Dec. 1. Involved will be 244 officers and 1,600 airmen.

The 96th Bomb Wing, equipped with B47s, will move to the Abilene base at the "earliest practicable date" after Sept. 1. Involved will be 325 officers and 1,330 airmen.

No reason was given for the transfers.

On more than one occasion has Speaker Duffalo in opposition to such resolutions.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts reported there was no discussion of business whatsoever at his table. As at the two previous breakfasts, Eisenhower moved around the dining room and chatted with the President at the White House. House members seated at four different tables.

Several of the GOP lawmakers reported that Eisenhower was in a jovial mood at today's breakfast. One—Rep. Michel of Illinois—remarked that the President was "light of heart enough to appreciate rock 'n' roll" music.

That was an allusion to rock 'n' roll numbers Eisenhower heard at the Republican rally last night. Michel also was present at the rally.

The Eisenhower definition of Republicanism came in informal remarks at that meeting, before a cheering audience of about 1,500 at the 10th annual convention of the Young Republican National Federation in Constitution Hall.

11 Jurors For Washburn Case

DALLAS (AP)—The 11th juror was seated today in the murder trial of Harry Washburn. Attorneys were running out of challenges.

Mrs. J. U. Simoneaux, mother of four, was the third woman member of the jury. Eleven veniremen were questioned during the morning.

Washburn, 41, Houston contractor, is charged with the murder of his wealthy former mother-in-law in San Angelo Jan. 19, 1955. Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver was killed when a bomb rigged to her car exploded.

Opposition to the death penalty has prevented lawyers from seating the two remaining jurors needed.

Many prospective jurors, mostly women, disqualified themselves because of the death penalty. Others were dismissed after telling Judge Frank Wilson they objected to a case based on circumstantial evidence.

Washburn was convicted on circumstantial evidence in Waco in December 1955. The conviction was reversed.

New Regime Takes Reins In Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — The Conservatives, under Prime Minister John Diefenderfer, took over the government of Canada today for the first time in 22 years. The party defeated the Liberals of Louis St. Laurent in an upset June 10.

Ministers of the new cabinet are: Works, Howard Green; Finance, Donald Fleming; Veterans, A. J. Brooks; Transport, George Hees; Solicitor-General, Leon Balcer; and Defense, Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes.

Killed In Mishap

WAELEDER, Tex. (AP)—An overturning car killed a San Antonio man and injured his companion early today just west of Waeleder on Highway 90.

Constable Lester Ham said the driver, Jesse De La Rosa, about 30, apparently dozed.

Ike Not Too Upset Over Budget Cutting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was pictured today as "not too disturbed" at what Congress has done in reducing his budget.

Rep. Jensen of Iowa made that report on Eisenhower's attitude after Jensen and 39 other House Republicans had breakfast with the President at the White House. The meeting with this latest group came on the heels of a GOP rally last night at which Eisenhower was the speaker. At the party session Eisenhower steered away from specific legislative problems but urged his audience to "carry on the good fight for America."

In last night's speech Eisenhower defined Republicanism as "never-falling control" for every American, "no matter what his religion or the color of his skin."

Eisenhower has had some rough going in Congress in trying to win approval of the administration's $71,800,000,000 budget. The House and Senate already have voted some deep cuts, and the President on more than one occasion has spoken out in opposition to such resolutions.

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts reported there was no discussion of business whatsoever at his table. As at the two previous breakfasts, Eisenhower moved around the dining room and chatted with the President at the White House. House members seated at four different tables.

Houston Man Kills 2 Sons, Then Himself

KERRVILLE (AP)—A Houston father shot and killed his two sons, then fired a bullet into his own brain yesterday at a summer camp near Kerrville.

The victims were Falvius Balliet, 38, a railroad brakeman, and his sons, Robert, 15, and Donald, 12. The boys lived with their mother, Mrs. Virginia Osborne Balliet. Their parents were divorced.

Justice of Peace Virgil Storms ruled double murder and suicide. The slayings were at an archery range 10 miles south of Kerrville. Sheriff Oliver Moore said Robert's body was ripped by six .45-caliber slugs. The younger brother was shot five times.

The brothers apparently threw

Three Receive Minor Injuries In Car Mishaps

Two men received emergency treatment here after an accident Thursday evening, but neither was seriously injured.

Also a woman was checked at Big Spring Hospital Thursday after being in an accident in the city.

River ambulance brought in Tillbert Willman, Inadale, and Noble Dyess of Roscoe after they were in a one-car accident about 15 miles east of here on U.S. 80. Willman was not admitted to Big Spring Hospital, but Dyess was held overnight and released from the hospital this morning.

Mrs. Clarence Bryans, 1401 Johnson, was riding in a car involved in an accident at 19th and Gregg Thursday and she went to the hospital for a check.

She was in a car driven by Jack Newlan of Crane. Newlan's car was in collision with a truck driven by Billy Ward of Tulsa, Wednesday. The driver was injured.

Edgar Boon of Snyder was driver of a Musselwhite Trucking Company vehicle which hit a telephone line at NW 4th and Gregg also Thursday.

Early today, Jim Engstrom, Ellis Homes, told police that a car backed into his vehicle but did not stop.

Highway Board Is Asked For Decision On FM 700

Howard County Judge R. H. Weaver has written letters to Marshall Formy, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and to other officials of that agency, emphasizing that it is urgent some decision on the improvement of FM 700 east from U. S. 87 be made quickly.

In a phone conversation with highway department officials, Weaver was told that the facts in the case should be placed in the hands of the commission as soon as possible.

In his letters, told the officials that developments in recent months are posing a threat to the matter of securing right-of-way for the road and that there is a danger, if action is delayed further, that cost of such right-of-way will become "prohibitive."

Property owners along the proposed road have signified they would give the required land for the right-of-way but this promise was made when it seemed that action on the job would be immediate.

The project proposes to extend FM 700 which now terminates on

Summer Makes Its Start Today

Summer became official at 11:21 a.m. today in Big Spring.

The sun achieved its farthest northward point at that hour and for a fleeting interval, appeared to stand still. It has now begun moving slowly back to the north.

With its arrival also came the "long days." For the next several days, Big Spring will have nearly 15 hours of daylight out of each 24.

The weatherman foresaw normal summer weather for the advent of the season. He gave Big Spring a sample on Thursday when the temperature hit 92 degrees.

The sun appeared above the horizon this morning at 5:40 a.m. and will not vanish in the west until 7:55 this evening.

Registration Closes For Swimming Class

Today is the deadline for registering children for the second and final YMCA swimming school.

There will be classes for beginners, those who have learned to float or barely swim, for intermediates and more advanced ones. Instruction begins Monday morning and it is necessary to close out the registration, said Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the Y.

So far 92 girls and 64 boys have been registered for a total of 156 for the second period. Parents must call or come to the YMCA to register their children for this activity. The only charge is $1, which is entirely for the pool fees.

Cold Front May Touch Off Rain In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms rumbled along the Texas Gulf Coast Friday. The Weather Bureau said a cold front inching down from Colorado would set off isolated thunderstorms in the Panhandle Friday night.

Heavy but scattered rains soaked portions of South and Southeast Texas Thursday and rainfall continued in isolated areas Friday morning. Kingsville received a moderate rainshower and thunderstorms were reported at Beville, Corpus Christi and throughout the Coastal Bend area.

Most of the clouds were located along the middle Gulf Coast, but some low cloudiness extended as far north as San Antonio and Austin.

A few patches of ground fog were reported in the southeast part of the state. Elsewhere it was mostly fair.

The Weather Bureau forecast widely scattered thunderstorms for most of the state through Saturday. A cold front located in Colorado Friday morning was expected to push across the Oklahoma Panhandle into Texas by Friday night, setting off isolated thunderstorms.

Nearly 2 inches of rain fell Thursday afternoon in the Huntsville area. Pettus, near Beville, also recorded a rainfall of 2 inches. Kingsville had 1.17 inches and Redgate in the Lower Rio Grande Valley received 2.05 inches.

Rain totals for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a.m. Friday included Kingsville 2.14 inches, Beville .73, Texarkana .28, Lufkin .12, Brownsville .11, San Angelo and Victoria .04 and Laredo .03.

Agency To Assist UF Is Signed

Howard County United Fund of Dallas for assistance on the 1957 campaign for funds for local welfare and character development agencies.

The professional group will send a staff here Sept. 23 to start preliminary arrangements for the annual campaign. However, actual solicitation won't be started until early in October. Plans call for the work to be completed by Nov. 1.

Local workers will conduct the actual solicitation, as usual, with the Community Services Bureau to supply office management and clerical personnel for the campaign period.

About 10 agencies engaged in charitable and youth development work receive financial support from the Howard County United Fund.

'Parents Night' Is Set At YMCA

Thursday will be Parents Night at the YMCA as a conclusion to the first session of classes offered by the Y this summer.

A program will feature three girls' modern dance routines, two boys' tumbling acts, two boys' trampoline acts, a demonstration by the teen-age figure fashioning class and possibly a production from the summer stock theatre class. An exhibition will also be given by the archery class and an exhibit of the crafts class will be shown downstairs in the Y.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. and the public may attend.

Party Is Cancelled

The Teen-Age Party usually scheduled on Friday Night at the YMCA will not be held tonight, according to Bobo Hardy, general secretary of the Y. The party will continue next Friday beginning at 8 p.m. with a program planned for both dancers and non-dancers.

Robert Dugan Joins City Police Force

The hiring of one new patrolman Thursday still left the city police force four men short of full strength.

Chief C. L. Rogers announced that Robert Dugan, 32, had been hired by the department and went to work Thursday night. He is on the night shift captained by A. V. Brown.

Forthcoming Holiday Toll: A Wreck Every 20 Miles?

CHICAGO (AP)—Fourth of July highway smashups could litter the nation's 3,400,000 miles of streets and highways at the rate of one wrecked or damaged car each 20 miles.

The National Safety Council gave that estimate today of the number of smashups that could occur during the four-day holiday period unless extra caution is observed.

The council estimated there will be 45 million motor vehicles on the streets and highways during the period—an average of about 13 vehicles a mile if they all were on the road at the same time.

The council, supported by 158 national organizations, is conducting a nationwide campaign for a Independence Day celebration.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said: "There are two ways to hold down deaths during a holiday period such as the Fourth.

3 Local Paintings In Citation Exhibit

Paintings by three Big Spring artists are included in the collection of pictures on display effective Sunday in the Second Annual Citation Exhibition in Laguna Gloria Art Gallery in Austin.

One hundred and eight canvases are included in the show.

Local winners, whose pictures are displayed will include Henrietta Ringhoffer's "Old House," which placed first in the Big Spring district competition; "Fire Fighters," by Terry Patterson, which placed second, and "Signs of Spring," by Mrs. Bismarck Schaefer.

John Guerin, well known Austin artist, judged the show and made the selections.

Fort Worth district took first honors, College Station second honors and Lubbock third honors.

Check Signatures Subject Of Testimony In Parr Hearing

HOUSTON (AP)—An FBI handwriting expert testified in the fourth George Parr mail fraud trial today that Parr's signatures on legitimate Benavides School District checks and on checks the government contends are fictitious were written by the same person.

Earl Williams of Washington said characteristics of Parr's signature on the two sets of checks are the same.

"I have reached the conclusion that the signatures on government exhibits 17A through 17P (the alleged fictitious checks) were prepared by the same individual who prepared the known or authenticated signatures," Williams said.

"Do you mean written by the same person?" Federal Judge Joe Ingraham asked.

"Yes, sir."

Parr's signatures on the checks alleged to be fictitious were compared by Williams with signatures prepared by Williams with signatures Percy Foreman, chief defense

Trash Removal Is Ahead Of Schedule

Thirty-five loads of trash were hauled away by the city Thursday, and today the street superintendent said he was running about three hours ahead of schedule.

The 35 loads plus the previous May totals and 43 loads carted away Wednesday raised the total to 194 loads of trash and rubbish.

The city finished the first route Thursday at noon and then started on the second route. This helped the crews gain the three hours on their schedule. However, the street superintendent, R. V. Forsyth, expected to lose the advantage Saturday and Monday when he hits areas not touched when the drive was started May 6.

At that time, the trash trucks covered most of the first route before rains arrived and caused the trucks to be needed in cleaning streets.

Today and Saturday, the trucks were to operate south of First and west of Goliad to Aylford including Parkhill and Edwards Heights Additions.

The route will switch Tuesday to the area south of First and from Goliad east to the city limits.

Any trash placed where the garbage is collected will be picked up and hauled away.

Big Spring Man Found Guilty In Mitchell Fatality

COLORADO CITY — Thaddeus Pershing Aaron, 39, of Big Spring, charged with murder without malice in the accidental death of Mrs. Opal Willingham, 47, of Abilene, was found guilty by a 32nd District Court jury Wednesday and received a five-year suspended sentence.

Mrs. Willingham was killed in a traffic accident four miles west of Colorado City March 2. Aaron was the driver of the other car involved and allegedly was intoxicated, at the time of the accident.

Another district court case resulted in a hung jury. Melvin Lunceford, 17, of Colorado City, was charged with the theft of plow parts from the Heston Redwing farm south of Colorado City on May 19. District Attorney Eldon Mahon said that the jury was out about four hours but failed to reach a verdict.

Two Fire Alarms, But No Damages

Firemen made two calls this morning, but only one was a fire.

At the 1804 residence of M. Younk, a pile of burning trash caused a blaze. Firemen from the 18th and Main sub station answered the call, but no damage resulted.

A water line broke on an air conditioner at Vaughn's Village, W. Hwy. 80, this morning, and the firemen from the main station were called. No fire resulted.

Juvenile Released Following Lecture

Juvenile authorities talked to a boy this morning and then released him. He was arrested Thursday after going through several houses.

Mrs. Simon Terrazas, 1001 Bell, said that a boy had gone through her house and several others in the neighborhood. In a short time, police arrested the juvenile who admitted ransacking the houses.

This morning, the juvenile officer, A. E. Long, lectured the boy and then released him.

Theft Suspects Are Transferred

The police department turned two persons, one a juvenile, over to Sterling City authorities Thursday for investigation of car theft.

The two had been picked up here earlier on vagrancy complaints.

Police authorities found a car there Thursday which they suspected was stolen and abandoned, and their trail led toward Big Spring. As a result, the police department questioned the two who had been arrested previously.

The questioning brought out that the two had stolen the car in Michigan along with $50 from the father of the juvenile. The money was from a coin collection and was in silver. The two drifted south from Michigan buying gasoline in $1 amounts so as not to arouse suspicion since they paid in silver.

After abandoning the car in Sterling City, they hitched a ride to Big Spring, but were picked up a short time near the south city limits.

Defendant Loses Vagrancy Decision In Justice Court

Mike Coronado, who testified that it was his system to work only six months out of each year and remain idle the other six months, lost a decision in the court of Walter Grice, justice of peace, Friday morning.

Coronado, charged with vagrancy, had asked that he be given a jury trial. The jurors were summoned, John Richard Coffee, county attorney, represented the state and Coronado was his own attorney.

After hearing the testimony, the jury deliberated for 10 minutes and returned a verdict assessing a fine of $200—maximum under the state law—against Coronado.

Coffee, on cross examination of the defendant, brought out that he had been arrested many times in numerous states in the past and that he had not worked for the past five months.

Merchants To Plan 'Better Buy Days'

Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will start making plans next Thursday for the second presentation of "Better Buy Days" by Big Spring merchants.

First of the programs was staged last spring, and second in the series is scheduled for Sept. 19-21. The "Better Buy Days" are offered by merchants as an expression of appreciation for patronage of residents throughout the Big Spring trade territory.

Thursday's committee meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Did It Rain Frogs?

Tadpoles are not uncommon in many parts of the country and most pools abound in the little black embryo froggies. Here in Howard County, however, where the drought has been prolonged, the spectacle of tadpoles in a pond is a little unusual. Out at the U.S. Experiment Station, a crop of tadpoles now rapidly developing into tiny frogs appeared almost overnight in one of the two evaporation tanks. The other tank has no tadpoles. Mrs. Catherine Priebe, secretary to the superintendent, inspects a glass full of wee frogs and squirming tadpoles, scooped up from the pond. She planned to take the collection home to show her two young sons to whom tadpoles are sure to be interesting.

Witness Tells Of Seeing Shot Fired Into Body

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A Jim Hog County official testified yesterday he saw Rafael Garza Jr. fire a shot into the prone body of County Judge Francisco Barrera Guerra. Leopoldo Gomez, tax assessor-collector, was the witness. Garza is charged with murder with malice in the shooting outside a Hebronville tavern Oct. 25. Gomez said he had been having a drink with Barrera Guerra and two other men in the tavern when the judge decided to go out to lunch. He said when Barrera Guerra got to the door, he met Garza. Gomez said he soon heard a shot. On his way to the door, he testified, "I heard another shot, and I could see the judge spinning around toward the front of the building." Gomez said he could see the judge lying face down on the ground, Garza, he testified, bent over and fired another shot from a pistol into the judge's back at close range. "Garza looked up and saw me watching so I hid behind the door inside the club," Gomez testified. Adan Yzaguirre, owner of the tavern, testified he heard what sounded like three firecrackers from beyond the wall on the outside. He said he found Barrera Guerra lying on his stomach.

Senate Page Mourns Loss Of His Swedish Sweetheart

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pretty Swedish girl—just back from a Canadian trip with a Senate page—may return to Sweden. "If she goes, I'm dead," said the boy, who has lost his page's job. The young couple, Huw Williams, 18, and Christina Wennerstrom, 16, turned up yesterday without the marriage license their families had expected. They had run away from home June 2. Since they had been dating steadily before the disappearance, both families assumed the couple had eloped. Early yesterday, the youngsters were picked up for speeding near Montoursville, Pa. They said they were returning home after a trip to Canada. After first maintaining they were married, the teen-agers finally confessed they were not. "I am glad we were caught," Christina told reporters shortly after they were picked up. "and I'm not sorry about any of it." Christina's mother Mrs. Stig Wennerstrom flew to Pennsylvania to get her daughter, and flew the girl back here. Christina arrived clutching teddy bear, but saying nothing. Young Williams drove back in the 1951 automobile he and Christina used on their trip. Huw said he went by Christina's last night before going on to his own house, and that he found the girl resigned to returning to Sweden. "When her mother called us up there (after their arrest in Pennsylvania)," Huw said, "she said she'd fix everything so we'd be happy. I knew she'd goof it." Christina's father, a Swedish colonel, had to return to Sweden for another assignment.

Experiment Station Bid Opening Delayed

Bids for extensive improvements at the U. S. Experiment Station at the north edge of the city will be opened in Washington on Monday instead of on Friday as had been previously announced. The change in dates was announced this week. When it will be revealed what firms were the low bidders was not known here.

C. A. Dahse Eulogized By Fellow Members Of Kiwanis

Big Spring Kiwanians paid respect to C. A. Dahse, a member of the Kiwanis Club, at the luncheon meeting of the group Thursday. Dahse was killed last week when his light plane crashed near Lamar, Okla. Horace Reagan, president of the club, asked that all members of the Kiwanis Club attend the funeral services for the plane victim in a body. Rev. Jack Ware eulogized his memory in the club invocation. Speaker for the day was Col. C. M. Young, commander of the Webb Air Force Base. He reviewed the growing might of the Communist powers and the theme of his talk was the warning that this nation and other nations opposed to communism must never drop their vigilance. Mrs. Harrol Steele, speaking for the Howard County Mental Health Association, asked all Kiwanis members to enroll in the local chapter.

Two Vote On Wheat Quotas

Only two votes were cast at the ASC office here in the state-wide election on adoption of wheat quotas for the 1958 crops. Both votes, the ASC reported, were favorable to the adoption of the quotas. Across the state, the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the program. The 162 wheat growing counties reported that 8,564 growers voted for the quotas and 1,020 against. Referendum committees challenged 164 votes. Howard County has only 15 farmers who grow any wheat and only two of these reported to vote. All farmers expecting to produce 15 more acres of wheat were eligible to vote in the referendum which required a two-thirds majority to make it operative. Government price supports on wheat will average $1.78 a bushel with the marketing quotas. The quota system is devised to hold down production until the government is able to dispose of its present large wheat surplus.

Actress' Husband Denies Separation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Terry Moore's husband says that he and the young actress—who sued him for divorce Monday—aren't separated. There "has been no separation of the parties," claimed Charles Eugene McGrath, 35, in filing his answer to Miss Moore's suit. The actress admitted to a newsman yesterday that she didn't know "what will happen" in her divorce suit, which accused the wealthy Panamanian businessman of gambling and "illicit relations" with women.

Power Company Turns Down Its Tax Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sudden renunciation of tax benefits for two private Hells Canyon dam projects failed today to cool a Senate row over the issue. In a surprise move last night, the Idaho Power Co. announced it is rejecting fast tax write-off certificates granted for its Oxbow and Brownlee dams, two of its three private projects in the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon boundary. The Eisenhower administration and many opponents of public power development are opposing a federal Hells Canyon Dam, which would be authorized by a bill now under debate in the Senate. The federal dam would flood out the Idaho Power Co. sites. The 28 Democrats cosponsoring the high federal dam, which would cost nearly $500 million dollars, say it would add more than a million kilowatts of generating capacity to the federal power system in the Columbia River, with numerous subsidiary benefits. Idaho Power and its supporters contend the three small dams would produce nearly as much power and as many other benefits as the federal project. Idaho Power estimates the three dams—which have been licensed by the Federal Power Commission—can be built for 133 million dollars.

Life Underwriters Receive Honors At Banquet In Midland

Three Big Spring men received recognition at the installation banquet of the Midland Association of Life Underwriters in the Midland Elks Building last night. Dalton Mitchell qualified for the Leaders Round Table for the eighth year, Walter Stroup for the third year and T. A. Thigpen for the first year. Mitchell also was announced as winner of the National Quality Award for the fourth time and Stroup won the NQA for the third time. T. A. Thigpen of Abilene, state representative, was a principal speaker for the installation. John M. Mathis of Austin, managing director of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, was installing officer. Installed were Carl R. Smith, president; Earl Mizell, first vice president; Delbert Burkhart, second vice president; Robert Boon, treasurer, and Carvel Mills, secretary.

Bryner Injured On Movie Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Yul Bryner is back before the cameras after fracturing a vertebra in his back on an MGM movie lot. Bryner was doing some trick riding for "The Brothers Karamazov," and leaned far to one side as he slashed with a sword. A studio announcement said X-rays disclosed the fracture.

House In A Hassle Over TV Broadcasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Continued telecasting of hearings contrary to a ruling by House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) raised the question today of whether the House Committee on Un-American Activities was in contempt of the House. And it brought a demand for a change in House rules, which Rayburn twice has interpreted as not permitting the broadcasting or telecasting of House committee hearings in Washington or elsewhere. An Un-American Activities subcommittee headed by Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) has been conducting hearings in San Francisco this week and they have been televised. At news conferences Wednesday and again yesterday, Rayburn said this was a violation of House rules. But the committee continued the televised hearings, Walter asserting he had received no official orders to stop the telecasts. Walter also said he had nothing to do with the television. Permission to televise, he said, was granted by "whoever runs the building." Rayburn's position was that no official orders were needed because he said the rule against television was clearly spelled out in 1952 and again in 1955 in the records of the House. Asked what he would do if the committee continued to ignore his ruling, Rayburn wouldn't comment other than to say: "There will not be any more House committee hearings or subcommittee hearings, in Washington or anywhere else, televised or broadcast by radio." He obviously was provoked.

Dr. And Mrs. Joe Davis On European Honeymoon

The Douglas Avenue Methodist Church of Springfield, Ill., was the setting of the wedding June 18 for Dorothy D. Marsh and Dr. Joe E. Davis Jr.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. J. M. Lee, Big Spring, and Joe E. Davis, Dodge City, Kan. Ollie Marsh, Peru, Ill., is the father of the bride.

The double ring wedding ceremony was read by the Rev. John Collins, pastor of the church.

Nuptial music was presented by Wendell Kennedy. He accompanied Beverly Shackelford of Trenton, Tenn., as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported sateen batiste over blue satin gown, styled with a sweetheart neckline and Flemish collar. A fingertip veil was attached to a crown of batiste matching the gown. Her bouquet was of sweetheart rosebuds carried on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Inlow, Marion, Ala., and maid of honor was Betie Duncan, Shannon, Miss. They wore polished cotton dresses of blue. Their bouquets were of daisies.

Richard Inlow was best man with the groomsmen being Robert Marsh, nephew of the bride.

A reception was held at the church with the bridal couple, Mrs. Lee, and Leta Marsh, sister of the bride, greeting guests.

The couple left June 19 on the Queen Mary for a two-month wedding trip through Europe.

They will make a home in Marion, Ala., where both are associated with Judson College.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Illinois State Normal University and received her MA from University of Southern California and has studied at Northwestern University. She is assistant professor of speech at Judson.

Davis received his BS, MA and Ph.D from the University of Texas and did graduate work at the University of Mexico. He is assistant professor of Spanish at Judson.

Miss Jones Is Honored At Coffee

Two hostesses entertained friends of Libby Jones at a coffee Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Floyd Mays. Mrs. Vic Alexander was cohostess with Mrs. Mays.

Miss Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones, is the bride-elect of Lt. George H. Jacobus, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jacobus of Caldwell, N. J. The couple will be married in the First Presbyterian Church on July 29.

An arrangement of daisies in a copper bowl centered a refreshment table covered with a turquoise cloth. Copper was used for all serving. About 30 were included in the guest list.

Miss Jones chose a dress of tangerine cotton for the morning affair. She was presented with a gift from the hostesses.

Gift Tea Compliments Recent Bride

GARDEN CITY — A gift tea Tuesday afternoon honored Mrs. George Cleveland, the former Sandra Wilkerson. The affair was held at the Presbyterian Church.

Hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Riley, Mrs. C. J. Cox, Mrs. Ray Hightower, Mrs. Sam F. Cox, Mrs. Clyde Reynolds, Mrs. J. Sawyers, Mrs. Dick Mitchell, Mrs. Kenneth Scott and Mrs. Steve Calverley.

Greeting guests were Mrs. Cleveland; her mother, Mrs. J. E. Wilkerson; Mrs. C. M. Sparkman of Boerne, and Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, grandmothers of the honoree.

The tea table was laid with a white Italian punchwork cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of sweetheart roses with a large pink net heart as the background. Crystal appointments were used to serve the 35 guests.

Mrs. Cleveland wore a white polished cotton dress with rows of lace on the bodice. Her corsage was of pink carnations outlined with silver beads.

Music during the afternoon was presented by Mavis Montgomery and Mrs. Mitchell.

Baby Shower Given As Surprise For 3-6 Club Member

A surprise baby shower for Mrs. Wallace Weimer was part of the meeting of the Three-Six Club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Vincent Best.

Games of bingo were the diversion for the group, and following the play, gifts were presented to Mrs. Weimer.

Winners in the games were Mrs. Harry Helms, high; Mrs. Cletus Piper, second high; Mrs. Weimer, third; Mrs. Thomas McGreevy, low, and Mrs. Eudis Gregg, consolation. Mrs. Lester Pasquale won the floating prize.

The next meeting was announced for July 18, with Mrs. Pasquale as hostess.

Mrs. Piper and Mrs. McGreevy assisted Mrs. Best in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Clements Is Hostess For Circle

Mrs. J. T. Clements was hostess Monday evening for the Ruth Evans Circle of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Robert Rodman opened the meeting with a prayer.

Mrs. A. C. Barnes, chairman, presided during the business session.

The Bible lesson was presented by Mrs. Jay Cunningham with the subject "Want and Plenty." A discussion on Stewardship was given by Mrs. Rodman.

Seven members were served refreshments by the hostess.

Mrs. Barnes was announced as the hostess for July 15.

Mrs. Terpening Heads Committee For OWC Party

Hostesses for the bridge party given Thursday afternoon for members of the Officers' Wives' Club were members of Block Six. Chairman was Mrs. Andrew Terpening.

Dessert was served preceding the games, in which high score went to Mrs. Robert P. Campbell. Second high was won by Mrs. C. T. Nelson, and low went to Mrs. M. J. Barnato.

The traveling prize was stopped by Mrs. T. K. Barton, and Mrs. William D. Castleman won high score in the beginners' division of players.

Presbyterian Circle

Mrs. Bob McClellan was hostess Thursday for the Peggy Potter Circle of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church. The Bible study was presented by Mrs. Herman Smith. The hostess served refreshments to the eight members and one visitor.

Same Face, Different Hair

These wigs of varying styles show the effect that different hairdos have on a face. Merely by choosing the right coiffure, one may take on the appearance of a gamine or a sedate person, at top, or lower left, a glamour girl. Perhaps a casual hairdo suits your attire; then choose the wig at the lower right.

Baldness New Problem Of Today's Women

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Beauty Editor

Thousands of women in this country hide their heads in shame every day. Why? Because for one reason or another they have begun to grow bald. They not only do not venture outdoors, but hesitate to confide in anyone about their problem.

I caught up with this problem recently when I visited a friend, one who had faced the reality of the situation. She greeted me at the door wearing a scarf, with the remark that she was waiting for her wig to be returned from the laundry. I assumed she was being facetious. But no. A man appeared from her hairdressing salon with her wig — newly shampooed and coiffed.

It was dumfounding to realize that her lovely hair was not her own, but more so to see how remarkable a transformation could be. She was typical of women whose hair gets sparser and sparser, perhaps after an illness.

Doris and Joseph Fleischer, brother and sister team operating a hair business established by their great grandfather 125 years ago, have made their life's work building hair pieces. They estimate there are hundreds of thousands of women in America now wearing them. Miss Fleischer explains:

"The reason wigs are not more popular is that they are difficult to detect and the average woman confronted with the problem is likely to think she is unique. Sometimes a girl suffers with half a head of hair, wearing a bandanna or hat most of the time to hide her secret. Sometimes all she needs is a little fullness at the side of her head or a cap of curls at the crown to fill out her own sparse locks."

Problem pieces are planned, she says, so they may be integrated naturally into one's own feathery wisps. The proof of the effectiveness of the operation is that thousands of women wear these false hair pieces without detection.

Sometimes these extra pieces may change the entire look of the wearer. Miss Fleischer suggests that thin-faced types do not need much hair, perhaps just a little height and softness around the face. Extra length, she says, is needed for a long neck. Fatigued girls must avoid the heavy, cumbersome looking wig. It is best to have a wig styled just as you would a coiffure of your own hair.

Bangs are built into nightcaps so that wigs and problem hair pieces may be kept in good condition. There are turbans with built-in locks, especially designed for emergency shopping.

These hair pieces not only look natural but often flatter the wearer more than her original hair, which may have been thin and unmanageable to start with.

MRS. DOYLE RAY MASON

Vickie Fitzgerald Is Bride Of Doyle Mason

The parsonage of the First Methodist Church of Midland was the setting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock for the marriage of Vickie Jean Fitzgerald and Doyle Ray Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, 502 East 17th, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mason of Midland.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Richard Payne, pastor of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length gown of white skillman cloth. The dress was designed with a long torso and low neckline which was outlined with white lace. Her bridal bouquet was of white gardenias.

For something borrowed, the bride wore a string of pearls belonging to her mother; her dress was new; she wore a penny in her shoe and a blue bow attached to her petticoat.

Baptist Class Has Ice Cream Supper

Members of the Faithful Workers SS class of East Fourth Baptist Church entertained their husbands Tuesday evening with an ice cream supper.

Hosts for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Ray. The devotion was given by the Rev. Ernest Stewart on "Love For One Another."

Prayers were led by Ray and Mrs. Roy Hoggard. Sixteen attended.

Bridge Party Given For Mrs. Wiley

A dessert bridge party, given by Mrs. Bob Dean Thursday afternoon, introduced Mrs. Don Wiley to a group of Big Spring women. Mrs. Wiley recently moved here from Fort Worth.

A circular cloth of forest green was used on the table, which held an arrangement of coral gladioli in a milkglass bowl.

Winners in the games were Mrs. Rayford/Gillihan, who made low score, and Mrs. G. F. Cook, who won high.

Attending the party were Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Walter Slatem, Mrs. Ennis Cochran, Mrs. Jess Havens, Mrs. George Bair, Mrs. Melvin Witter, Mrs. Bruce Wright, Mrs. Gillihan, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Akin Simpson and Mrs. Jimmy Calmes.

Exam Given Members Of Credit Club

Members of the Credit Women's Club took an examination Thursday at their luncheon meeting. Sixteen were present for the work, given in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

This was a check-up over the study of the past six months when the group has heard lectures designed to help them with their credit work. Subject of the study has been "You, The Better Credit Woman."

Mrs. Raymond River won the capsule fund. A new member, Mrs. Varnell Johnson of Lynn's Jewelers, was introduced to the club.

Date of the next meeting was set for July 3 because of the holiday occurring on the regular meeting day. The group will meet at the conference room.

Spaghetti Supper Served For Class Thursday Evening

A spaghetti supper was served to members of the Philathea First Methodist Sunday School Class Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. D. Jones.

The group gathered in the backyard where tables were covered with pink cloths and centered with small arrangement of flowers in blending shades. The supper was served buffet.

Mrs. Jordan Grooms gave the invocation. Mrs. J. H. Fryar presided for the meeting after the supper, when Mrs. Albert Smith brought the devotion. Her topic was Alms, Prayer and Forgiveness.

Forty-four attended the supper, which was served by the members of Mrs. Jones's group, Mrs. Fred Eaker, Mrs. Fryar, Mrs. Haley Haynes, Mrs. Lorin McDowell, Mrs. Kenneth Manuel and Mrs. Roy Penney.

TEL SS Class Has Luncheon Thursday

A covered dish luncheon was held Thursday at noon by the TEL SS class of the First Baptist Church. Nine members and two visitors, Mrs. W. W. Cason, Minden, La., and Mrs. Theo Andrews, superintendent of the adult department, were present.

Mrs. M. E. Harlan opened with meeting with prayer. The devotion, "Precious Promises," was given by Mrs. Andrews. She also gave a review of the life of William Carey.

The life of David was presented by Mrs. Pearl Cauble.

The class voted to have the meetings at noon at the church instead of the regular evening meetings.

Mrs. Cason gave the closing prayer.

The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals finally have the National League lead in hand. With a .750 winning percentage over the last month, they've risen all the way from sixth place while the rest of the contenders were playing musical chairs with first-division berths. They were 8 1/2 games off the pace when they started to move. Since then they've won 21 of 28 games. Murry Dickson, a 40-year-old right-hander, held Pittsburgh in check yesterday on seven hits before firing and giving way to relief help in the eighth while the Cards built a 7-4 victory. New York's Giants opened the door for the Cardinals, ending Milwaukee's seven-day stay in first place with a 12-inning, 4-3 victory for the Braves' fourth defeat in the last five games. Cincinnati regained third place, 1 1/2 games back, by belting Brooklyn 6-1. Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-2. In the American League, New York's second-place Yankees look to be on the threshold of first place. Detroit while Baltimore trimmed Chicago's first place lead to 1 1/2 games with a 4-1 decision. The White Sox open a four-game series in New York tonight. Boston defeated Cleveland 9-7 and Washington beat Kansas City 9-4. The Cardinals, swinging for nine hits and getting two RBIs from Al Dark, scored three in the third against ex-mate Luis Arroyo on singles by Dark and Ken Boyer and a double play. They scored the two that clinched it in the fifth without a hit — on a walk and two errors. Stan Musial doubled to extend his hitting streak to 20 games. Johnny Antonelli, Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson, all ex-Braves, each drove in a run as the sixth-place Giants, who have won seven of their last nine, took the series 2-1. Ray Croen, the opener. Antonelli's sacrifice fly beat Taylor Phillips in the rubber game. The Redlegs clumped five runs in the fourth inning to beat the Brooks and Roger Craig. Gus Bell homered to open the big frame and Wally Post socked a grand slammer to cap it. Brooks Lawrence won his sixth. Southpaw Harvey Haddix won his fifth for the Phils, driving in two runs. He struck out seven, walked only one. Gran Hamner hit a bases-loaded triple in a clinching four-run sixth inning. Singles by Bob Boyd, Al Pilarcik and Jim Busby counted two first-inning runs for the Orioles, who added two more in the second against loser Bill Fischer. Billy Loes won his seventh. The Yankees, who had won only two of eight from Detroit before the three-game series, handed Frank Lary his eighth defeat, scoring the clincher in the sixth on Bill Skowron's double and Gil McDougald's single. Bob Turley won his third. Dave Sisler made his lifetime record 6-1 against Cleveland as Boston's Billy Klaus, Jackie Jensen and Sammy White backed him up with two runs batted in each. Early Wynn lost his eighth. The Senators came from behind with five runs in the seventh against losing reliever Maury McDermott. Art Schult hit a two-run pinch double and Pete Runnels had a two-run single in the rally. Pete Ramos won his fifth.

Al Kloven, whose value as a basketball player for both Big Spring High and HCJC was largely overlooked, will go to Howard Payne College on a full athletic scholarship this fall. Al and Mike Powell were the steadiest performers on the Jayhawk team last season. At HPC, Kloven will be playing alongside David Wall, who is a nephew to George Steakley, the local bowling impresario. Wall also quarterbacks the Yellow Jacket football team. Coach Johnny Johnson, who was saddled with the job of lining up boys for the YMCA Summer Basketball League, arranged the rosters in such a way that most of next year's high school cagers will be playing together. At the same time, there doesn't appear to be an over-abundance of power on any one club. A number of former high school stars and college lads are also active in the circuit. Among them are Mike Mangrove and Jesse McElreath, along with Albert Oglesby, ex-Forsan standout and later a player for North Texas State College; Don Anderson, Bobby McAdams and others. Kloven heads one team that also includes Ray Crooks, ex-HCJC regular; Frank Hardesty, Bobby Hayworth, who played for McMurtry College; and others. Charley Caraway and Hugh Hamm, the junior high coaches; Charley Johnson, Charles Clark, Kenneth Harmon and Johnson himself are active in the circuit, along with a host of high school boys. The Lafayette Oilers, who have been leading the Evangeline League in Louisiana, have averaged only between 325 and 375 paying customers a game at home starts this season. Houston may next try a fight featuring their pride and joy, Roy Harris, against Nino Valdes, the oft-beaten Cuban. Don't be too surprised if New Orleans loses its Southern Association franchise to Baton Rouge. One has to admire the determination of Lefty Karl Spooner, the hurler who fashioned two shutouts after leaving Fort Worth to join the Brooklyn Dodgers several years ago. Spooner's arm went back on him and it still gives him trouble, but he's determined to stay in baseball. He was sent to Macon, Ga., recently. Karl was asked if there was any chance he'd get to go back to the Dodgers. "There are all sorts of chances when you don't believe you're through," replied he. "I pitched over in Jersey before coming down here. I think I was as good as ever. But my arm turned up sore again. When I move in my sleep sometimes, the pain wakes me up. But I just can't believe I'm through. "I have all the confidence in the world in my doctor. But when he gives up hope, I'll go to another doctor. If I go to every doctor in the world and they give up hope, I'll go to an Indian medicine man. If he gives up hope, I'll keep on believing I'll pitch again and that I'll pitch for the Dodgers. You have to hand it to a fellow like that.

YANKS INCREASE LEAD IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

The Yanks increased their lead in National League standings by belting the second-place VFW club, 10-4, here Thursday night. The Yanks spotted the Veterans a run in the first and then rebounded for five tallies in the last half of the inning. Billy Andrews pitched the win, although he gave up nine hits. The Veterans got to him for four hits in the first inning but could only get one run. DeeRoby Gartman and Tony Loftis each crashed out two hits for the losers. Fletcher, Goodlett and Lamb each clubbed two blows for the winners. Lamb hit a two-run homer in the first frame that put the Yanks ahead to stay. In the other game, the Owls clubbed the Gold Sox, 17-7, chasing ten of their runs across the plate in the fifth inning.

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Fudgy Bob Rosburg, who passed up professional baseball in favor of the golf and made enough money so he wouldn't regret it, held a two-stroke advantage today as a balmy field entered the second round of the $37,000 Flint Open.

Rosburg's 65 — 6 under par at the 6,625-yard Flint Golf Club layout — was accomplished in yesterday's first round largely on the strength of his unerring putter. He used only 22 putts as he fired rounds of 33 and 32 over the par 36-35-71 course.

The touring pros found the course generally easy and 38 of them matched or bettered par. Two of the three previous winners of this tournament who could pick up an extra $5,000 for another victory here were within striking distance of Rosburg. Dow Finsterwald, who has finished in the money in all 53 tournaments in which he has participated, was bunched with eight others with 68s, just four strokes off the pace. Doug Ford, the 1955 winner and current Masters champion, had a 72 while Julius Boros, the 1954 victor, had a 75.

Two strokes behind Rosburg entering today's second round are Johnny Foltz, Shreveport, La.; Stan Leonard and Al Balding of Canada, and Arnold Palmer, La Trobe, Pa. Seven others were another stroke behind.

The Bankers own a 7-3 won-lost record. The Broncos are 5-5.

Bankers Wallop Broncos, 34-11

First National Bank walloped Big Spring Hardware, 34-11, in an American Minor Title League game here Thursday afternoon. Broke hurriers helped the Bankers cause by issuing 11 walks. Ward Stevenson coasted to his fifth straight victory behind the 24-hit attack of his mates.

The Bankers own a 7-3 won-lost record. The Broncos are 5-5.

Enraged Calhoun Faces Giambra

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Husky Rory Calhoun, still burning over a disputed, one-point loss to Joey Giardello, hopes to take it all out on Joey Giambra in the clash of middleweight contenders at War Memorial Auditorium tonight. Calhoun, a 22-year-old belter from New York, is a 7-5 underdog however to the slick boxer-puncher from San Francisco by way of Buffalo. They collide in a television — ABC, 8 p.m., CST — 10-rounder.

Gulf Oil, Lamesa Tangle Saturday

Gulf Oil of Big Spring will play host to the Lamesa All-Stars in a softball doubleheader at city park Saturday night. The first of two seven-inning games will get under way at 7:30 p. m. Lamesa has informed Marvin Healey, manager of the local team, it is bringing three of the best pitchers in Lamesa for the action. Healey has indicated he will pitch Jim Ward and Speck Franklin against the visitors.

Milo Savage Wins

EL PASO (AP)—Milo Savage of Salt Lake City won a split decision last night over Mel Barker of Austin in a dull fight booted for the lack of action.

Turley Credits His Recent Successes To New Pitch

NEW YORK (AP)—"I've added another pitch. Now they can't toy with my fast ball." That was Bob Turley's personal reaction to his impressive six-hit 3-1 triumph over Detroit yesterday, giving the New York Yankees a sweep of the three-game series with the Tigers and elevating them to within a game and a half of the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

"I've finally come up with a good curve," the fireballing right-hander said. "Oh, how I've worked and worked on it. I knew I had to have it to be a winning pitcher. I knew I couldn't rely on my fast ball alone. "Actually, I've developed a pretty good slider too. I used it a lot today, especially against right-handed hitters." To press box observers, the slider appeared to be Turley's most effective pitch. As he pointed out, he threw it mainly to right-handed batters, from a

Giambalva And Powless Clash In NCAA Tennis

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tall John Powless of Murray State had the rough job today of trying to beat Sam Giambalva of Texas in singles play at the National Collegiate Tennis Tournament. The Giambalva-Powless match was one of eight quarter-finals in the 73rd annual NCAA championships. Giambalva, who played for the United States in last year's Davis Cup challenge round against Australia, is seeded No. 1. He lost only two games in reaching the quarter-finals. Powless, on the other hand, won matches by scores of 6-4, 6-3 and 6-4, 9-7 in advancing that far. He's seeded No. 8.

Second-seeded Barry MacKay of Michigan was scheduled to play David Harum of Miami, No. 5, in another top-flight match; Art Andrews, No. 3 against Crawford Henry of Tulane, No. 7; and C. Maxwell Brown of Notre Dame, No. 4, against Ron Holmberg of Tulane, No. 6.

The doubles matches yesterday went strictly according to the rankings. MacKay and Dick Potter of Michigan, No. 2, beat John Lawhon and Jim Trice of Houston 6-3, 6-4, 6-1. Henry and Holmberg of Tulane, No. 1, defeated Andrews and Bob Potthast of Iowa 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

Ronnie Sawyer and Cliff Vickery of Houston, No. 3, beat Larry Becker and Gene Fisher of Texas, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1. Giambalva and Dick Keeton of Texas, No. 4, beat Dave Freistadt and Carl Bucks of Maryland 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Michigan and Tulane were tied for first place in team standings with six points apiece. Texas, with five points, and Iowa, with four, stayed in contention. Then came Houston, with three; Miami, Murray State, Notre Dame and Maryland, two, and Los Angeles State, Stanford, Oklahoma and Yale, one apiece.

Now where are some of these boys going to get the money? Mungler said back when he was playing tournament golf regularly he had his expenses paid at times although he didn't need it. "What do you do when you try to pay your hotel bill and find somebody has already taken care of it?" he asked.

The Dallas links veteran, an official of the Western Amateur, said he had told Joe Jey, executive secretary of the USGA, all this and given his views regarding the USGA's amateur rule.

Comets, Coasters Win League Tilts

The Comets, composed in the main of boys who will be playing regularly for the Big Spring Steers next season, defeated the Poppers, 43-27, in the YMCA Summer basketball league last night. In the other game, the Coasters thrashed the Geese, 64-57. Jimmy Evans led the Comets, with 17 points. Jan Loudermilk had ten for the winners while Chuck Wolk popped in the losers.

Charles Clark led the Coasters attack against the Geese, scoring 28 points. Frank Hardesty had 20 for the Geese.

Dumpy Lendermon scored the winning run after reaching base on an error. She advanced to second on a single by Gwen Rogers, stole third and advanced toward the plate when Gail Neill's tap to the shortstop.

The infielder threw to the plate in time to trap Lendermon but the catcher threw the ball away at third base in the rundown. Helen Witt hurried for Coahoma, striking out five. Bronte found her for 11 hits.

Gwen Rogers hit a home run and two singles for Coahoma. Winnie Dodson had two singles, as did Gail Neill. Helen Neill had a one-baser.

The Coahomans play Sweetwater in Coahoma July 2. Bronte 201 300 0-6 11 Coahoma 241 000 1-7 9 Mollie Vaughan and Caroline Bryan; Helen Witt and Gwen Rogers.

USGA's Stand Is Criticized By Texas Star

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Mungler, who has been playing amateur golf for 30 years, says rules of the USGA which forbid a golfer getting expense money are "stupid."

Munger also said, "If we follow the letter of the rules only a rich man can play amateur golf."

"Let's be honest," declared Mungler, who is helping put on the Trans-Mississippi tournament here. "How can some of these boys play any other way than have somebody pay their expenses? Some coming to tournaments are even hungry. I've picked up quite a few checks. I saw one golfer who looked weak for lack of food and I bought him some roast beef. Yet that, actually, violates the USGA rule."

It costs money for a fellow to play in an amateur tournament, Mungler pointed out. "I would say that a boy would be lucky to get out with only $25 a day if he paid his transportation, lodging, food and caddy fees. Some of the boys have to carry their own clubs. A boy must figure on about a week's expenses to play in a tournament. Now where are some of these boys going to get the money?"

Munger said back when he was playing tournament golf regularly he had his expenses paid at times although he didn't need it. "What do you do when you try to pay your hotel bill and find somebody has already taken care of it?" he asked.

Just Talkin'

Dawson County has the best crop prospects since 1949, according to County Agent Leroy Colgan. He said good crops were found in all parts of the county, though some cotton in the Patricia and Sand communities was blown out last week.

Colgan estimated that the 70 per cent of the cotton standing had been planted in May, twenty-five per cent in early June and only about five per cent put in the ground within the last week.

Some fields are rather weedy, and hoe hands are finding work in increasing numbers. North of Ackery a few miles, Ralph Rogers was plowing on a 30-acre field and said his hoeing bill would cost $10 an acre.

One nice feature about the rains, Colgan said, is that the 600 irrigation wells have been given a long rest. They will soon be put into operation again, though, as several farmers plan to start irrigating the first week in July unless more rain falls.

The county agent says most of the early cotton will make a third of a bale to the acre without any more moisture.

There has not been many signs of cotton insects thus far, but he says they could start building up at any time. One pest that is giving trouble over west in the shinnery sand country is the kangaroo rat. These long-legged hoppers have been eating down a lot of feed crops.

There is also an epidemic of wharf, or "eat-your-leg-off-rats," as Colgan calls them. He didn't say what they had been eating. One farmer in Gaines County, however, found they liked poultry. He brought home several dozen baby chicks one afternoon and put them in an old shed for the night. Next morning the floor was littered with dead chicks. He figured that five or six rats had killed over 60 chickens that night.

Earl Maddin, agricultural teacher at Flower Grove for the past two years, is accepting a similar position at the Cooper School, which is south of Lubbock. He reports for duty on July 1.

Madding is a native of Snyder and finished at Texas Tech in 1930. He taught one year at Courtney until the school was consolidated with Stanton, then moved on to Flower Grove.

He has made a good record at Flower Grove. His judging teams have scored high in area contests, and have also won many prizes with their livestock. Probably the highest honor to come to the class was when John Paul Cave showed the Reserve champion Duroc hog at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show last year.

Madding says the nearness to Lubbock will enable him to complete his master's degree by attending night classes at Tech.

Being too busy to farm may have saved O. R. Crow some money this spring. His place is located about two miles southeast of Gay Hill, but has been so dry the last few years that he picked up a couple of outside jobs. During the winter he drives a school bus, and this summer has been driving a water truck.

"I haven't had time to do much farming," he said, "and the fields got rather weedy. But some farmers who spent full time at it don't seem to be much better off. We just had too much rain."

Crow planted again last week and the cotton was just beginning to come through.

The Brown community northwest of Knott gets a lot of wind. It has been in the path of tornadoes two or three times, and when tornadoes are not in season, the sandstorms are.

Joe Froman, who farms west of Brown, said the big wind last weekend took out a lot of cotton in his area, but most farmers have got the fields planted again. Froman is county commissioner of the northeast portion of Martin County.

West of Knott most farmers were almost finished with replanting. Dan Davis lost all his cotton on the south place, but already had it planted again. Yesterday afternoon he had started on the feed.

He said the farm a few miles to the north went through the sandstorm without much damage.

The Old Flower Grove community a few miles west of Ackery has three different ages of cotton. Farmers started planting early, got washed out but saved some cotton. They planted again and another big rain got part of the crop. The third, and what they hope is the last one, is just being finished now.

Mrs. C. J. King said prospects for a crop were better than they had been in many years, even though some of the cotton will be late. King farms back southeast of the store a few miles and had to replant nearly all his crop because of the sandstorm.

This community has been about the driest area in West Texas the last six years, but 1957 prospects are much brighter than they are in the Valley View, Lenora and other Martin County communities.

Fred Kennamer of Vincent has moved the store and post office building around to the east side of the lots so he can face the traffic going to Lake Thomas. He now has a fish bait stand and says business has picked up a lot.

Kennamer came to Vincent with his parents about seven years ago. They had owned a ranch near Junction, and he says he would like to go back some day. There are no sandstorms down in the hill country, but there is a lot of hunting and fishing.

The main drawback to the country, however, is that there are no industries or payroll. When a farmer or rancher gets in a drought, he can't get out and find an outside job. He either tightens his belt and survives, or else leaves the country. During the drought a lot of them left.

Humphrey Stopped In Radar Zone

CLEVELAND (AP)—A traffic policeman who stopped Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey in a radar speed zone kept him waiting for 20 minutes while he ticketed other cars without knowing who the secretary was, it was learned last night.

Sgt. Sam Dinardo of the Cleveland Heights Police Department, checking the speed zone earlier this week, had stopped two offenders when a call came from a radar car that a limousine with Washington license plates was clocked at 35 miles an hour in the 25-mile zone.

The sergeant stopped the big car and then proceeded to ticket the first two cars. Twenty minutes later he walked over to the limousine and asked the distinguished man behind the wheel for his driver's license. The man explained that in changing trousers at his home in nearby Mentor the night before he had left his wallet with the license in the other trousers. He then identified himself as the Secretary of the Treasury.

Humphrey's chauffeur confirmed the story and explained the secretary was hurrying to catch a plane. Sgt. Dinardo let Humphrey drive on.

Protest Before U.S. Embassy

TOKYO (AP)—About 150 leftist Japanese students tried to storm past a 400-man police guard in front of the American Embassy today to protest against U.S. nuclear tests, the Girard case and American occupation of Okinawa.

Forming a human wall, the armed Japanese police turned back three waves of shoving, elbowing and shouting students. No one appeared hurt in the scuffle, but four students were arrested for slugging police.

Finally the police allowed a five-man student delegation into the main embassy building. The group spent nearly an hour voicing their demands that the United States quit testing nuclear weapons, give Okinawa back to Japan and let Japan try GI William S. Girard. First Secretary William E. Coolidge and Second Secretary Richard L. Sneider heard them out.

After the delegation's return, the demonstrators marched off to police headquarters to seek the release of their four arrested companions.

Egypt Holds Archaeologist As Smuggler Of Antiques

CAIRO (AP)—An American archaeologist who uncovered a 40-century-old royal tomb was held by Egyptian police today after customs officials accused him of trying to smuggle four bags of antiquities out of the country.

Charles A. Muses, 38, of Indian Hills, Colo., was arrested at the Cairo International Airport last night as local newspapers published reports of his American team discoveries.

U.S. Consul Larry Roeder, present while police questioned Muses, said the case hinges on whether the archaeologist was guilty of criminal intent or just ignorant of the Egyptian law requiring a special license to export relics found in Egypt.

Roeder said the embassy was not planning any protest or intervention at present. The law makes all antiquities the property of the state. Every find is carefully registered and put under control. Conviction of smuggling such relics could bring a penalty of two to three years in prison.

An Egyptian official said the most important items in Muses' bags were covers from four jars found in the tomb.

Police said a search of Muses' home turned up other relics, an unlicensed pistol and $4,000 which had not been declared as required by currency regulations.

Muses was being held in a compound at the Cairo police station. He is editor-publisher of the Falcon Wing Press, a firm he organized three years ago in Indian Hills to publish technical and religious books.

Cairo papers reported that the expedition he heads had discovered a 150-foot-square pyramid base at Dashour and beneath it

Storm Hits Fargo, 9 Dead, Many Hurt

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—A tornado, striking from a cloud tower more than 10 miles high, smashed through 100 blocks of a Fargo residential area last night, bringing death to nine persons—six of them the children of one family. At least 85 more were injured, some critically.

The massive, black funnel lashed a swath of devastation 20 blocks long and 5 block wide.

The dead included all six children of the Gerald Munson family. They ranged in age from one to six.

The ninth victim died early this morning. She was Lois Ann, 2, second youngest Munson daughter.

Walter Olson, Fargo police chief said the death toll might go higher as volunteers probed the wreckage of more than 200 homes.

In Minneapolis, 245 miles southeast of here, the Weather Bureau said the cloud formation that spawned the awesome twister showed on radar screens as a mass 60,000 feet high and with a diameter of 50 miles.

North Dakota Gov. John Davis declared the stricken territory a disaster area and ordered in 200 National Guardsmen.

Fargo, with 40,000 residents, is the largest city in North Dakota. It is located in the flat Red River Valley, noted for its rich farm crops.

The twister wrecked immense Shanley High School and the nearby American Lutheran Church.

Richard Rasmussen, Associated Press staffer who lives near where the twister struck, said he and neighbors watched the black cloud forming an estimated 10 miles west of Fargo.

"It looked like an elongated triangle lying on its side," Rasmussen said. "As it came closer, we could see the funnel begin to form. From a mile away it looked like a huge, flexible tube waving in the air."

Thus forewarned, Rasmussen, his neighbors and many others in the area got into their cars and drove away from the storm.

A hysterical mother, Mrs. Gerald Munson, identified five of the dead as her three daughters—Phyllis Louise, 6, Jeannette, 5, and Mary Beth, 3—and her two sons, Darwin, 12, and Bradley, 10.

Mrs. Munson, at work away from home when she heard radio warnings of the approaching storm, called her house in time to hear the oldest daughter say: "It's hitting." Then the phone went dead.

Searchers recovered the bodies of the five children. Their father was absent on an out-of-town job. Mrs. Munson was hospitalized for shock along with Lois Ann, 2, their sole surviving child, who suffered as yet undetermined injuries.

The other three dead, all adults, have not yet been identified.

Leonard Hildebrand, Detroit Lakes, Minn., truck driver, was approaching Fargo from the north when he sighted the twister.

"I stopped my truck and watched," he said. "That awful black cloud came onto the city slowly—about five miles an hour—but steadily."

"At first there were just clouds of dust. Then the base of the funnel began to flash and sparkle as it whipped over boards and metal."

Olsen, the police chief, said the slow pace of the tornado, plus radio warnings of its approach, saved a possibly greater casualty toll.

After lashing Fargo, the storm dumped debris in the northeast section of Moorhead, Minn., immediately to the east across the Red River. There were no casualties nor reports of damage.

Penn Jackson Stepping Into Insurance Job

AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge Penn Jackson of Cleburne qualifies today as a member of the new Board of Insurance in a step aimed at speeding the selection of a commissioner of insurance.

Without the commissioner the board cannot legally function, the attorney general has ruled.

Gov. Daniel said he would accept the resignations at once of present chairman John Osorio and Commissioner Mark Wentz. The third member, J. P. Gibbs, was appointed by Daniel and retained.

Gibbs and Jackson apparently will select a commissioner soon. The third member, David Irons, of Fort Worth and Washington, will take office July 1.

Daniel had accepted the resignations effective July 1 but decided on a new course less than an hour after Osorio and Wentz made public a letter to him urging him to take "any action...in order for this department to operate."

They suggested he accept their resignations now and allow the new board to appoint the commissioner or to have either Daniel or the new board members submit a choice for commissioner so they could make the nomination.

The new law went into effect June 12 and required that the Board of Insurance name a commissioner. No salary will be available for the position until Sept. 1.

In their letter to the governor, Osorio and Wentz, both appointed by former Gov. Allan Shivers, said:

"We do not feel that it would be proper for the outgoing members of the board to participate in the selection of a commissioner inasmuch as your announced purpose in sponsoring the reorganization act was to place the future affairs of the Board of Insurance in the hands of your appointees."

350 Expected For Program Honoring Obie

A crowd of at least 350 persons is expected this evening as Big Springers join in a tribute of appreciation to their state legislator, Obie Bristow.

The affair will be a barbecue supper, served at the Cosden Country Club at 7 o'clock. Sponsors said this morning that a checkup of ticket sales last night indicated that food will be prepared for from 350 to 400 people.

The program will be informal. Due to make brief addresses are Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, Speaker of the House of Representatives, who has been a colleague of Bristow during the latter's three terms in the Legislature; and Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church and a golfing companion of Obie. Master of ceremonies will be the Rev. Bill Boyd, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Western Union In The Role Of Cupid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—It took the Western Union to bring about a union of a young Missouri couple.

Richard Lee Meyer, 19, St. Louis, and Betty Lynch, 17, St. Ann, Mo., appeared at the Sangamon County Clerk's office seeking a marriage license.

They were told they were too young. They would need parental permission, a deputy clerk said. They left, but reappeared an hour later bearing telegrams from their mothers agreeing to the match.

Benny Hooper Rescue Story Has A Chapter Of Dissension

MANORVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Five weeks ago the Benny Hooper story was one of unity and heroism—neighbors joining in tireless labor to free a small child from an earthen prison. Today it was a tale of division, dissension and worry.

The parents of 7-year-old Benny told newspapermen yesterday they were "stunned" to receive a bill for $1,500 from Dr. Joseph Kris, the physician who attended their son while he was trapped in a well for nearly 24 hours May 19 and 17.

The man who supervised rescue operations, Mike Stiriz, said there is bitterness over the heroic role assigned to Sam Woodson, a Negro employe of his construction firm who brought the boy out of the well. Stiriz said other men actually did more but were overlooked.

Rumors have circulated in this rural community on eastern Long Island that the Hoopers have profiteered from the sensational rescue of their son, and that all the publicity has made them snooty. The Hoopers say the rumors are untrue, they aren't snooty, they haven't received much money, and mainly they're just worried because the near-tragedy caused them financial trouble.

"We haven't got the money, that's what's worrying us," said the father, Benjamin K. Hooper, in commenting on the doctor's bill. He takes home $62 a week as a highway work foreman. His wife makes an after-tax $43 a week as a telephone operator, but has taken a month off to take care of Benny and rest up after her ordeal.

Benny received $1,000 each for two television appearances. The Hoopers gave one check to the Manorville Fire Department, which played a big part in the rescue, and put the other in a trust fund for Benny's education.

"We're going over to see Dr. Kris. He must have been misled somewhere along the line that we received a lot of money," Hooper said.

He emphasized that he was grateful for the doctor's efforts, but said he can just about make ends meet now.

Dr. Kris, an anesthesiologist, maintained constant and apparently tireless watch over the 24-foot hole in which Benny was trapped, and supervised the successful efforts to keep the child supplied with oxygen. He attended Benny at nearby Bayview Hospital after the rescue.

He said his colleagues had told him he would be foolish not to submit a bill.

"The time I put in was eight full days and close to 100 hours," he said. "My time is worth $30 an hour. I think the bill is a fair amount to charge."

He called the bill "about one half of the amount to which I am entitled."

"I don't practice medicine for money," the gray-haired specialist said. "I practice because I love medicine. . . . If they have the money they should pay their honest bill."

"A man from Brooklyn telephoned me and offered to send a check and settle the bill. I said no. It's not a question of money, it's a question of principle."

If the Hoopers felt the bill was too high, he said, "they should have gone to the grievance board of the county medical society. What they did instead was go to the newspapers."

Kris said he did not volunteer his services, but was called in by police.

Dr. Frank Calabro, head of Bayview Hospital, said, "There's no question of any bill from us."

Stiriz said he felt the doctor's bill was justified. "Just because I don't want to get paid doesn't mean the doctor shouldn't be paid. He also said he didn't think the Hoopers were "very snooty."

A Bible Thought For Today

For every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and of things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed of mankind:
But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. (James 3:7-8)

Considerable Weather Everywhere

The eastern seaboard and its western counterpart chalked up new record high temperatures for June on Wednesday, and in Southern California where Los Angeles recorded 104 degrees, forest fires broke out in several scattered places.

On the same day the temperature moderated somewhat in the central states, where thunderstorms and tornadoes had been at work for a couple of days.

This belt of hot and stormy weather seemed to jump the Atlantic and play around over a great deal of Western Europe. Northern Italy not only registered some record-breaking high temperatures this week but suffered flood damage running into the hundreds of millions of dollars. Parts of Germany were gripped by a heatwave, and so was Paris.

Rainfall early Tuesday in this general section did no particular harm, except to delay farm work a day or two. In the case of some farmers it was a positive benefit, as we hear cotton already in the ground when the rains came could not break through the crust that had formed after the rains ceased. Cotton that was already up to stand, on the contrary, was given a boost.

The misbehavior of the weather covers most of Western Europe as well, but this is not an unusual situation. The same factors that make the weather what it is in one part of the world operate in other parts. This at least gives some support to the sunspot theory of weather-making. Sunspot activity reached pretty close to the peak of its eleven-year cycle this year.

The over-all benefits of the rain in the drought belt are simply beyond computation, even after deducting for the damage caused by storms and floods.

And the prospects for a good crop in the Southwest have not been better in the last seven years.

Fight The Flies And Mosquitoes

Now that the pressure has been taken off city trucks, which were tied up in emergency street repairs, the clean-up campaign pickup of trash has resumed. Initial reports indicate that considerable volumes of refuse are being hauled away.

Not that we expect the city to double back and do it all over again, but we do believe that a special community-wide clean-up drive is in order even after this short interval.

Already the mosquitoes have come out in force and doubtless will present a problem for two or three months to come. They can get to the point of a real nuisance or menace unless efforts are taken to destroy possible breeding places. There are enough of these in natural surroundings to afford real trouble, and health authorities doubtless will seek them out and apply chemicals to stop them short. But there are so many countless sources for mosquito production around homes and vacant lots that fringe efforts of the health department would prove fruitless unless individuals do their part.

What can be said about mosquitoes can certainly be repeated — and doubly emphasized for flies. Unless we take extraordinary precautions now to control flies, we will be overwhelmed by them.

So please check your garbage disposal and make sure there are no objects left to furnish places for flies to breed and feed. Check your air conditioner, cut away rank grass and weeds. Puncture or overturn any object that contains water. Spray around any dense collections of shrubs or other plants.

Ball Players, Like Oil Wells, Deplete

Sports lovers will offer garlands to Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R., Calif.), who has discovered the law of human attrition and desires to incorporate it in an Act of Congress to protect baseball, football, hockey, and basketball players from sclerosis of coordination and displacement by youth.

Congressman Hillings has not come up on the elixir of youth. He offers no panacea to preserve the pitching skills of a Christy Mathewson, Lefty Grove, or Robin Roberts; he cannot perjure the batting eye and base-stealing cunning of a Ty Cobb or a Willie Mays. But, because he is a member of the House of Representatives, he can offer financial assuagement of physical depletion.

So, Rep. Hillings has introduced H. R. 8022, which declares, in effect, that a throwing arm is like an oil well. "Any individual... who derives a substantial portion of his income from active participation as an athlete in baseball, football, basketball, or hockey... shall be allowed as a deduction an allowance for depletion of physical resources equal to 15 per cent of the gross income" so derived.

My heart commands me to support Rep. Hillings. But my mind tells me that all Americans ought to chip in a fair share for a strong military establishment, roads, schools, hospitals, and post-offices. So I fear Hillings' bill.

I revered Christy Mathewson when he dined with "Three-fingers" Mordcaid Brown in the days when the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs were perennial battlers for first place in the National League; I was sad when Matty was benched after 17 years.

I saw Helen Morgan in "Showboat." Wasn't she wonderful! This Helen who launched a million heartbeats ultimately lost her entertaining skill. I read with fervor Michael Arlen's "Green Hat," and before that Edward Noyes Westcott's best seller, "David Harum." The Arlen and Westcott ink wells ran dry early. Ought not artists and writers get special depletion allowances?

Politicians too have depleting assets. As wisdom replaces physical stamina, as baby-kissing becomes a burden, the Senator who faces the voters every six years, might get disinterested. Is losing one's appeal to voters any different from missing a basket, a puck, a double play, or a forward pass?

The young woman who starts as a stenographer or secretary faces the constant danger of falling in love and losing interest in her work. Horrors! She might

What Others Say

In mid-1955 the United Nations estimated world population at almost 2.7 billion. The population of the United States has more than doubled since 1900. In the decade 1940-50 it increased at the rate of almost 2 million a year. So far this decade it is running way ahead of that.

Most of us can remember when population experts were predicting, in fear and trembling, that world population would some day reach 2 billion. Some predicted widespread famine as a result; the world simply could not feed that many mouths, they claimed. In hindsight that sounds silly; the U. S. has given away or destroyed almost enough foodstuffs in the last two decades to sustain at least a hundred million people, and still we have surplus problems.

By continents, Asia (minus Russia) accounts for 1.5 billion of the 1955 population of the earth. Most of it subsists on short rations—rations so short that the average American could not keep alive on them.

Last week an interesting thing happened. Red China, according to a Hong Kong dispatch, reversed its attitude toward birth control completely. Only three years ago the Peiping People's Daily, reflecting the Communist line, all but outlawed talk of birth control, denouncing it as "a means of killing people without shedding blood." It long had been a proud Communist boast that the superior technical knowledge of the Marxists could easily provide food for any number of people.

Now, the word is, Communist China has legalized abortions and sterilization and ordered a sweeping campaign to introduce contraception among its 600 million people. The order was introduced three weeks ago, the report said, "solely as a health message," meaning Red China can no longer feed all its hungry mouths.

All a Chinese couple has to do to be sterilized is to ask a doctor for it, and barring complications it is carried out. The only limitations on abortions are that the doctor must be convinced the woman can undergo it, and that she must not have had a previous abortion within a year.

A series of crop disasters last year led to the changed attitude of the People's Republic regarding these matters.

Filibuster Expected On Civil Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—This looks like a hot and noisy summer. Southern Democrats were short-circuited last night. A sudden Republican-led maneuver put President Eisenhower's civil rights bill on the Senate calendar where it can be called up any time.

No doubt it will. When it happens, the heat and noise begin. Southern Democrats will start a filibuster to kill it. They can't be stopped except by exhaustion or a full two-thirds of the Senate: 64 votes. That's tough to get.

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader who engineered the move to get the House-passed bill on the calendar, said the only way he knows to break a filibuster is to keep the Senate in continuous session. That's the exhaustion route.

However, the test won't come immediately. Knowland said he may not call the bill for action until after the Fourth of July weekend.

The civil rights bill is, among other things, intended to protect Southern Negroes' right to vote. On June 18 the House passed the kind of bill Eisenhower wanted. It can't become law without approval of both houses. It was sent over to the Senate. Ordinarily it would be sent to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

There it would be considered and, if approved, would be sent to the full Senate for action. But the Senate committee is headed by Sen. Eastland, Mississippi Democrat and all-out foe of civil rights legislation.

Further, in Eastland's committee Southern Democrats have managed to bottle up a similar bill so thoroughly that it showed no signs of ever getting to the full Senate for action.

The House bill, if it landed in the Judiciary Committee, could expect the same fate. To get around this, Knowland moved last night to put the House-passed bill directly on the Senate calendar for calling up any time.

He won. The vote was 34 Republican and 11 Democrats for, and 34 Democrats and 5 Republicans against. If the bill comes up and a Southern filibuster is broken, the Southerners then will try to talk on amendments making it ineffective.

What Eisenhower wanted and the House gave him was a bill to set up a commission to study civil rights problems for two years. The measure also would create a special division in the Justice Department to handle civil rights cases.

But it was the next provision that the Southerners fought against hardest. This said: If anyone interfered with a Negro's voting rights — say a Southern registrar of voters — the attorney general could ask a federal judge for an injunction ordering the registrar to stop.

If he ignored the injunction, he could be taken into court and tried for contempt by the judge, without a jury. Contempt of court trials in injunction cases are normally held by a judge without jury, except in labor disputes.

Southerners protested in civil rights cases there should be jury trial. This would be crippling to the point of making the bill useless, in the eyes of the Eisenhower administration and other supporters of the President's measure.

If a person who ignored an injunction and blocked Negroes from voting was tried by a white jury in a community which shared his views, he could hardly expect severe treatment or perhaps even a guilty verdict.

In the Senate Judiciary Committee, Southerners lacked a jury trial amendment to the Eisenhower bill, but then continued to bottle it up. The House passed the kind of no-jury trial bill Eisenhower wanted.

If the House bill is brought up in the Senate before it has almost finished its work later this summer, it will make hash of legislation for weeks.

For Adventure, Have Teeth Pulled

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you lonely? Is it difficult for you to make friends: When at a party, do you find it hard to strike up a conversation?

If your answer to these questions is "yes," by all means go to your dentist, have him pull some of your teeth and put in a denture.

When word of this gets around, you will be amazed at the change in your life. Overnight you will find you have acquired a new and more winning personality. People who overlooked you before will look up to you now. After all, now you are a man with a denture. You're a somebody!

A man whose hair falls out usually is rewarded with jibes and jeers and small sympathy. But a man who loses his teeth — for some reason I still can't figure out — is regarded as a kind of hero, a wounded veteran in the battle of life. The world is suddenly on his side.

When I had four front teeth pulled out for Father's Day last week, I feared that when I showed up at the office with my new false choppers I'd be a figure of public ridicule.

Well, sir, it was just the other way. I couldn't have got a more heart-warming reception.

It seems the greatest secret society in the world is the society of people who wear false teeth. Once you join this elect group you can never be lonely again. You are henceforth and forever a member of the elite. You belong. You leave the lowly steak mob and join the chicken a la king set — a group apart from the gum-chewing herd.

The password of this elect society is, "You show me your denture, and I'll show you mine."

In the last several days at least 50 dignified men have come up to me, inspected my new teeth, murmured "Hmmm, not bad," then clapped at their face, pulled out their own dental hardware, and said, "What do you think of mine?"

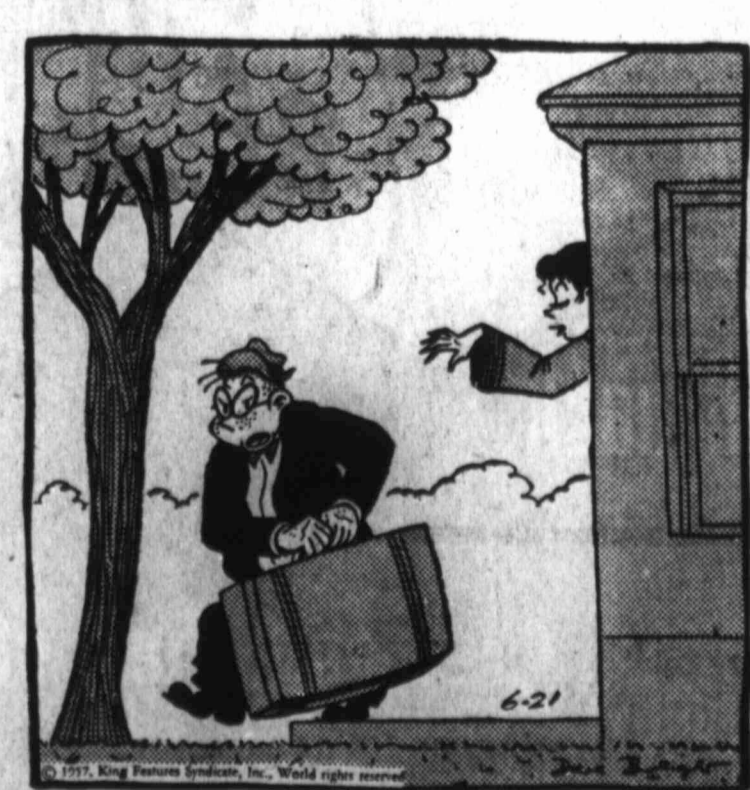

Lifelong enemies, after we have compared dentures, have suddenly announced, "Pal, if you're too strapped to pay your dentist, I'll be glad to lend you any amount you need. I have been through it myself."

Several girls, overcome by my new dazzling porcelain smile, have confided that anytime I want to run away from home they will drop their present jobs and beaux and gallop off with me.

Of course, there are minor drawbacks. At first you feel like you have a mouthful of marbles and you develop a lisp. The lisp then gives way to an unexpected whistle.

Take a tip from me. If you want to know real adventure, get yourself a denture. Have your teeth pulled now. My only regret is I didn't have my own pulled out at can never be lonely again. You

Marks Of Something Or Other

I see that the new water reservoir recently constructed in Edwards Heights has been christened by the seniors of 1957.

This is quite an honor for the members of the senior class of Big Spring High, being able to be the first ones to put their mark on the new structure. Anyone can paint his name and latest loves on the large reservoir, but only one group can start the process.

Not only should the senior class be complimented for industriousness, agility, and speed in getting the structure marked in less than six months from the time it was completed, but they showed very good taste in the colors they used. Rather than using some loud shade of paint, the artists used a pleasing shade of green which blends well with the sand color of the concrete.

How proud the senior class should feel in later years in knowing that it got to mark the public structure before anyone else got to it. They should have preceded the "seniors '57" wording with BSHS or some other identifying mark, however, because Forsan or other surrounding classes could lay claim to the 'famous first.'

This paint job should provide quite a challenge for the junior class. Of course the city has two new swimming pools and corresponding bathrooms which can stand a contrasting color of paint. And the best time to paint up these city structures will be after the pools close for the season next September. It seems that people get too curious and want to help when a group starts painting a building. Besides most of the onlookers cannot paint and they just stand around and offer advice or call the cops.

Too bad there aren't any new underpasses about completed around here. They make wonderful backgrounds for "Beat So and So" signs. It seems underpasses make better "beat" backgrounds than they do for senior and soph signatures.

I was just thinking maybe the juniors could call upon their dads to talk the city commission into repainting the metal water reservoir on the northside this summer and make it clean enough for a new painting next winter. This is actually a better idea than the swimming pools, because water reservoirs, whether they are elevated or located on a mountain as is the one in Edwards Heights, prove more of a challenge.

Anybody can walk up and smear a beautiful blemish on the side of a swimming pool or bathroom, but it takes an industrious group or individual to climb a tower or a mountain armed with paint.

Age will improve the importance of the senior's signature and in about 20 years, members of the class can point with pride to their trademark when they show friends and out-of-town visitors the outstanding attractions of the city. That light green paint on the reservoir may not be the brightest, but the '57 senior can proudly remark that that was the first on the structure.

What a mark of progress.

Taxation Breaks Down The Spirit

Whatever became of that old-fashioned American villain of song and story, the door-to-door tax collector?

Did he ever really exist, or is he a figment of fiction? At one time in our history, did the tax collector actually go from house to house, demanding cash on the barrel head and threatening to whistle up the sheriff for action against any poor wretch in arrears?

It occurred to me the other day when I wrote a check for the June tax installment owed Uncle Sam that to my generation, now hollering up a storm about taxation, a tax collector is just a disembodied vacuum cleaner going through its pockets and not even scorning the lint.

There is a real tax rebellion in depth stirring in this country. Yet there has been no overt act to date save a tepid restaging of the Boston Tea Party. So far there has been no report of hostile or belligerent acts committed against the person of any tax collector. In short, not a single one has been roughed up.

I can't figure out whether this meek and lawful record is traceable to the fact that no American taxpayer ever sees or gets his hands on a tax collector or whether the old American spirit has been broken by ever-increasing taxation. Or it could be that the three-cent postage stamp (going, going to three) is the greatest safety invention in history for the continued health and well-being of tax collectors?

At the height of the Poujade tax rebellion in France about 18 months ago, the Poujadists often took out their resentments over assessments on the person of the poor tax collector, who was only doing what the sovereign state had hired him to do.

When the Poujade movement was at its peak, the French tax collector was frequently man-handled by mobs and run out of town. Not that I advocate tar and feathers for this servant of the state — perish forbid! But at this distance in time and space, it is interesting to contemplate whether we are a more law-abiding people than the French or merely lacking in opportunity.

No fiery leader has emerged to head an anti-tax rebellion here, as happened in France, and no segment of the population has refused to ante up the tab, whether Federal, state or local. This is all to the good. The last thing we need is a demagogue. Senator Harry F. Byrd, leading the current economy crusade, is a good, solid man with a fact, but it is hard to imagine the Virginian setting fire to a tax collector.

It is probably just as well that American taxpayers mail their payment to city, county, state and Federal collectors. It is doubtless wise to keep the matter on an impersonal basis, with the post office as the intermediary. Thus standing between the protagonists. Thus the frustrated taxpayer does not have to keep eternally in mind the possibility that the tax collector is somebody's father or, in these times, somebody's mother.

Death and taxes are the fate of all of us, and the chief reason you can't take it with you when the former calls is because the latter has already got it.

Conservatives Dubious Of Stassen

WASHINGTON — Any disarmament agreement signed with the Soviet Union must be ratified by the Senate to become effective, and it is here that Harold Stassen's role as chief negotiator for the United States is most dubious.

Among conservative Republicans, he is an object of scorn and distrust. These conservatives—Senators William F. Knowland, Styles Bridges, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, John W. Bricker—could, with the help of conservative Democrats, block any arms treaty they disapproved of.

Their distrust of Stassen antedates his attempt last year to displace Vice President Richard M. Nixon as President Eisenhower's running mate. But that public challenge of one whom the conservatives felt was their man stirred the old resentment to new anger.

Stassen's blunder in sitting down with Soviet Representative Valerian Zorin before he had cleared the American disarmament proposal with America's allies has produced an "I told you so" attitude in his Senate critics. This, they are saying, is exactly what you could expect from that eager beaver. With reports of Stassen's "reprimand" coupled with the word that Julius Holmes, a senior career diplomat, will go to London to serve with Stassen, the distrust and the suspicion have been compounded and thereby the barrier to Senate approval has been heightened.

A month ago, when Stassen went to London against the background of "cautious hope" raised by what seemed to be a basic change in the Soviet approach to disarmament, news stories were written to the effect that Stassen now had a splendid opportunity to rehabilitate himself politically.

These stories were a distinct disservice to Stassen, since they revived memories of his unrelenting presidential ambition. He came very close to winning the Republican nomination in 1948. Stassen is 50 years old, and even if he had utterly and completely renounced all further political ambition—which is more than can be asked of human nature—this public revival of his hopes was bound to renew old jealousies.

The question being asked today is whether President Eisenhower was wise in sending a non-political assignment. And this question is being raised not by Stassen's opponents and critics, but by those who believe it is desperately important to make a start toward disarmament if this can be done while at the same time America's security is safeguarded.

A subcommittee on disarmament, of which Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) is chairman, has performed a useful service in hearings and reports that seek to put the problem in realistic perspective. The Humphrey committee will shortly issue an overall report appraising the prospects for disarmament under a system of international inspection and controls.

There will likely be "minority views," since on this committee are Senators Knowland, Bridges, Bricker and Hickenlooper. This is the Republican faction, along with Senators George W. Malone, William E. Jenner, John M. Butler, Henry C. Dworshak and Barry M. Goldwater, close to powerful forces in the administration opposed to any agreement with Russia—and particularly to one that Stassen might negotiate. Admiral Arthur W. Radford, retiring chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in an interview denying the value of any agreement reached with the Soviets, expressed a view widely held in the Pentagon.

Stassen still has, so far as one can determine, the confidence of the President, who believes in his deep sincerity and his dedication to peace. Perhaps, as the negotiations continue—and Stassen himself has said that any agreement will require months of patient effort—the recent unfortunate episode will be forgotten and the handicap the American delegate has been put under will be overcome.

Short of his replacement, this must be the hope of any agreement coming out of the current negotiations—for it cannot be denied that his handicap is very great.

Captive Audience

MILWAUKEE (AP)—William Anderson, manager of Milwaukee County Stadium, has urged his 121 parking attendants to be kind to motorists who might get caught in heavy traffic leading to the stadium where the Milwaukee Braves hold forth.

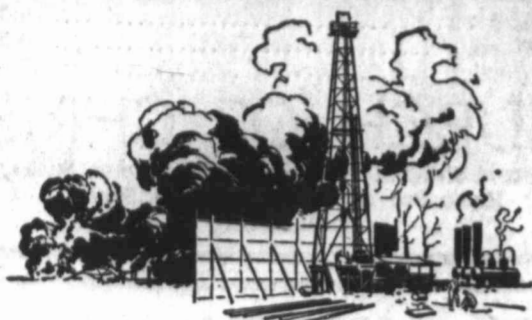

Last year, he explained, there was a driver who couldn't get his car out of the middle lane leading directly to a parking lot.

Asked for his 25-cent parking fee, the man replied: "Listen, bud, I'm just trying to get to Minneapolis."

Safety Measure

BARNWELL, Ala. (AP)—Terry Pickett, 5, fell and bent his arm so badly doctors put it into a cast. Then he tripped and broke the arm. In the hospital, he knocked it against the bed post and broke the cast. Now the doctors have put the arm in a wire cage.

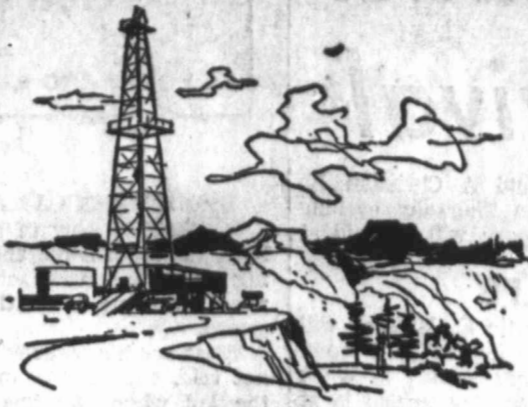

DRILLING AND PRODUCTION

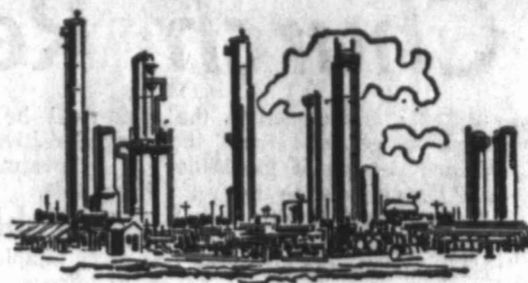

In 1933-34, Humble pioneered in the killing of a "wild well" by forced injection of fluid through a directional well drilled to the producing formation. This was in the Conroe oil field.

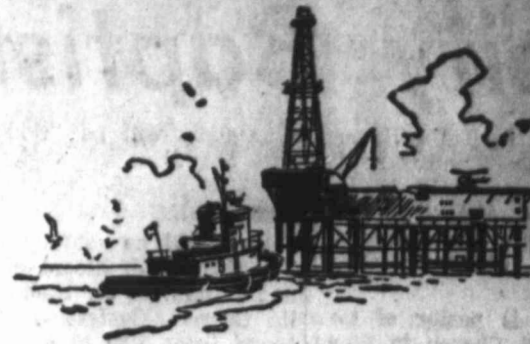

The submersible barge rig, developed about 1940, enabled Humble and the oil industry, to develop major oil reserves in the shallow bays and inlets of Texas and in the marshes of Louisiana.

The first commercial oil well in Arizona was brought in by Humble in 1955 in the Four Corners area. Humble also drilled the first producing well in Florida. Its production extends from Florida to California.

Humble takes an active interest in the conservation of petroleum resources. Gas conservation was a major post-war program. Within five years, the Company spent $43 million in gas conservation and processing facilities.

Humble produced its first oil from the Continental Shelf in the Gulf of Mexico in 1948. The drilling platform cost over a million dollars. The second well drilled was a producer.

These Forty Years!

EXPLORATION

In March, 1918, Humble employed its first geologist, and began the search for oil on a scientific basis. This was the beginning of one of the Company's major functions.

The Company entered the field of geophysics in 1924, and its first seismometer and photo recorder were placed in use in April, 1925. Equipment and methods have been greatly improved.

Humble uses helicopters in its search for possible oil-bearing formations. These expedite exploration operations in hard-to-reach areas like the marshes of Louisiana.

REFINING

Construction on Humble's Baytown refinery began in 1919. In less than two years, a rice field was transformed into a 10,000 barrel a day plant. Today, Baytown refinery has a crude oil capacity of 282,000 barrels per day.

Baytown changed rapidly in the early 1940's, to add facilities for the manufacture of a variety of products, including synthetic toluene for TNT, and high-octane gasoline for military airplanes.

Humble has been active in the development of petrochemicals. Baytown refinery is a large producer of synthetic rubbers, and manufactures petrochemicals from which synthetic fabrics are made.

TRANSPORTATION

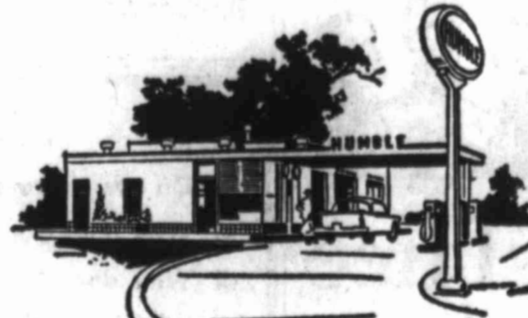

Humble Pipe Line Company's crude oil and product transportation system has grown from 40 miles of pipe in 1917 to over 9,000 miles of trunk and gathering lines.

SALES

Gasoline from Humble's first small refinery at Humble, Texas, was delivered in a Model T tank truck to sidewalk-pump filling stations in downtown Houston in 1917.

Humble markets its products in Texas and New Mexico, emphasizing product quality, service and cleanliness. The Company is the No. 1 retail marketer of gasoline in Texas.

EMPLOYEE RELATIONS

The Joint Conference Plan for collective bargaining was established at Baytown refinery in 1920. In the same year, many of the Company's present Employee Benefit Plans were started. Paid vacations for all regular employees were in effect from the Company's beginning.

An organized company-wide safety program was started in 1929. Later in that year, an Employee Relations Department was organized to combine the administration of annuities and benefits, and the work of safety, medical, and personnel activities.

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry: R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

The full story of "These Forty Years" is told in the anniversary edition of The Humble Way. If you would like a copy, it is yours for the asking. Address Humble Oil & Refining Co., Room 1158, P. O. Box 2180, Houston 1, Texas.

Alcohol-Narcotics Talks Scheduled In Local Churches

Twelve Big Spring churches will observe Civic Righteousness Field Day Sunday.

The event is sponsored by the Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education organization of Dallas.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, president of Southwestern Baptist Seminary of Ft. Worth, heads the organization as state president, and Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president of McMurry College of Abilene, a Methodist institution, serves as chairman of its 120-member board of directors.

Rev. M. S. Chanut, director of the organization's program in West Texas, will speak at the Nazarene Church Sunday morning at 9:45 a. m., and at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church at 11 a. m.

Dr. O. F. Dingler, associate executive secretary in charge of the legislative office in Austin, is to speak at the First Baptist Church. Dr. E. A. Hunter, former Methodist district superintendent and editor of the Texas Christian Advocate, will speak at the First Methodist Church.

Other guest speakers for Big Spring churches, include Dr. Charles Edwards, East Fourth Baptist; Rev. A. D. Caraway, College Baptist; Lester Carr, West Side Baptist; George Montgomery, Wesley Memorial Methodist; Bill Woodard, Airport Baptist; Ken Quaid, the Church of God, Fourth at Galveston; and Jack Dunaway, First Church of God.

Participating in the observance at the same time are three churches in Coahoma. Joe Taylor will speak at the Assembly of God at 10 a. m. and at the First Baptist at 11 a. m.; and R. R. Holton at the First Methodist.

God's Steadfast Love

IN EGYPT AND PRISON THE LORD WAS WITH JOSEPH

Scripture—Genesis 39-42

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
JOSEPH is now in a strange land, far from home and his loving father; a servant sold to Potiphar, a captain of the king's guard.

What are his feelings? We are not told, but he is changed from the lad whom we knew in our last lesson who made his brothers hate him because he was not only their father's favorite, but considered himself superior to them? His master, Potiphar, found him as a lad whom the Lord favored, and was so trustworthy that Potiphar "made him overseer over his house, and all that he had he put into his hand."

Potiphar couldn't have believed Joseph tortured and killed, he put him in prison. However, the Lord place and waiting on his master again.

The baker, encouraged, then told his dreams, of holding three white baskets on his head. In the top basket there were all manner of baked foods, but the birds did eat them. Joseph told the poor fellow that the three baskets were three days, and that after them the baker would be executed by Pharaoh.

And it so came to pass; the butler was restored to favor and the unfortunate baker was killed. Then, Pharaoh had a dream of seven well fed, fat kine feeding in a meadow. But seven hungry, lean kine came after them and ate up the fat ones. Pharaoh awoke, then slept again and dreamed that seven ears of corn came up upon one stalk and they were good ears; but seven thin ears sprung up after them and devoured the good ones.

No Egyptian soothsayer or wise man could interpret the dreams for the king. Then the chief butler remembered how Joseph, the prisoner, had told him was with him, and the keeper of the prison, recognizing that Joseph was a fine, trustworthy young man, put the prisoners under his command. So he was able to be useful even there.

MEMORY VERSE

"Let us love one another; for love is of God."—I John 4:7.

The prison was one to which those who offended the Pharaoh were interned, and it happened that he was angry with his butler and baker and put them too, in the prison. The two men had strange dreams of which they told Joseph. They had no interpreter of their dreams they said, and Joseph told them, "Interpretations belong to God."

The butler told his dream of a vine with three branches which budded and blossomed and brought forth bunches of grapes. "And Pharaoh's cup was in my hand; and I took the grapes, and pressed them into Pharaoh's cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaoh's hand."

Joseph said that the three branches were three days, and within those three days the butler would be restored to his former what his dream meant, and he told Pharaoh of Joseph.

Joseph was brought out of prison and Pharaoh told his dream, and Joseph said that the seven fine, fat kine meant seven years of plenty in the land; and the seven lean kine were seven years of famine to follow the good years. The seven good ears of corn also meant the time of plenty, and the famine to follow were the poor ears that ate the good ones.

Joseph advised Pharaoh to look for a wise and able man to set over Egypt, to gather food during the seven good years, and take the fifth part and store them for the lean years to come. Pharaoh was so impressed that he chose Joseph to rule over the land, to be second to him in command. So, Joseph, in the next seven years, had men gather huge amounts of food and store them for the coming famine. God is indeed our "very present help in time of trouble," as Joseph found.

WHY I BECAME A PRIEST

God's Will, Grace Explains Calling

By CAPT. WILLIAM J. LUDLUM
To the good Catholic, the most beloved member of his community is the priest. For the priest is the proximate source of the spiritual life of the community.

The priest baptizes the new members of the community, giving them that spiritual birth which makes them children of God and heirs of heaven. He acts as a mediator between God and men, offering to God the sacrifice of the Mass, and bringing to men the divine graces that lead to the vision of God. At the altar rail he gives men the Body and Blood of Christ to nourish their souls with grace.

In the confessional he is God's instrument in forgiving the sins of men and restoring them to the friendship of God. When they are dying, he comes to absolve them for their sins, to give them Viaticum and to anoint them for their journey to heaven. Like Christ—the priest is "another Christ"—he is the center of the spiritual life of the members of Christ's Body, the church.

The priest is a man of power and authority. By his preaching, example, and counsel, he directs the lives of his parishioners in accordance with the revealed wisdom of God and the laws of the church. In the administration of the sacraments and the blessings of the church, he is the human channel through which the power of the Passion of Christ is transmitted to men for their salvation. No man could give himself such power or arrogate to himself such authority. No man could even dare to choose himself for so stupendous a role in the life of men.

Only God can make a man a priest, and He does so in the sacrament of Holy Orders. It is the inscrutable Will of God that explains why I am a priest. And it is His Grace and assistance that helps me to measure up to the great responsibilities of this state of life.

Since a priest must die completely to self to live wholly for Christ, the Church is very solicitous about his training. He must be a well-educated man with a rounded training in the arts, sciences, and philosophy. To achieve this, I matriculated at the University of Seton Hall, South Orange, N. J., for four years. I was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1942. Then, I studied theology for the next four years at Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington, N. J. Upon completion of a one-year residency in Catholic University, Washington, D. C., my last seminary year, I received the degree of Licentiate in Sacred Theology in 1946.

The seminary discipline was so arranged as to give training in the exercise of all the virtues. For a priest is called to give up human love and the family, to give up the love and concern for money, and to give up the desire to be important in the eyes of men so that he might be wholly dedicated to God and God's people.

Finally, I passed all tests proving I was fit to preach the word of God, to offer the sacrifice of the Mass and to administer the sacraments of the church. The rector of the seminary presented me to the bishop for ordination, an acknowledgement of my stability of character and my possession of at least the beginning of a dedicated life. I was ordained on June 15, 1946 in Newark, N. J. For the next seven years I led the varied life of a parish priest in St. Carmel Parish, Ridgewood, N. J. In August of 1953 I entered the Air Force because of the acute need of Catholic chaplains. I served first at Brooks AFB in San Antonio. In May of 1954 I moved for a tour of duty at Thule, which kept me busy for the next 12 months. In July, 1955, I reported into Webb AFB.

The dignity and power of the priesthood are derived from the dignity and power of Christ Himself. The priest receives them, not for his own vainglory, but for the salvation of men. They are a sacred trust, a holy responsibility given him by God. He stands before God and men, a mediator between both. The magnitude of his task appalls him, but the grace of Holy Orders sustains him. He is another Christ, not by his own merit, but by the love and power of Christ. Through the sacrament of Holy Orders, Christ lives in him and acts through him for the salvation of men, for the building up of the church, the Mystical Body of Christ.

My life as a priest has been rich and rewarding in the intangibles of human living, love, affection, gratitude, and sacrifice. I am grateful to God that He has called me to be a priest, to be truly "another Christ."

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

My Faith Looks Up to Thee

A bank clerk and a shoe clerk stop for a chat

Two men stopped in front of a store in Boston. One was Lowell Mason, near middle age and just back from Savannah, Ga., where for 16 years he had been a choir director and bank clerk. The other was 24-year-old Ray Palmer, recent dry goods clerk and graduate of Yale. Three years later Mason was to be awarded the first degree of Doctor of Music conferred by an American college and was to go down in history as perhaps the greatest of all hymn-tune composers. That same year, 1835, Palmer was to be ordained a minister in the Congregational Church and publish several volumes of verse.

Lowell Mason was one of the busiest men in Boston. He was directing three choirs, heading the Board of Education to put a course of music in the city schools and compiling material for his "Spiritual Songs for Social Worship." That's why he had stopped Palmer on the street.

He wanted the ministerial student to write some verses he could set to music for his book.

For 10 years Ray Palmer had burned the candle at both ends and at times had wondered if he could go on. While teaching and studying for the ministry he almost gave up. One night at his boarding house he wrote a poem just to read when he felt down and out.

When Mason asked Palmer to write something for his hymnal, the youth showed him the verses he had carried in his pocket for two years. The composer borrowed a piece of paper and copied the poem. He said: "Mr. Palmer, you may do many good things but posterity will remember you as the author of 'My Faith Looks Up to Thee.' That night in 1835 Lowell Mason set to music Dr. Ray Palmer's first and greatest hymn:

While life's dark maze I tread,
And grief's around me spread,
Be Thou my guide;
Bid darkness turn to day,
Wipe sorrow's tears away,
Nor let me ever stray
From Thee aside.

When ends life's transient dream,
When death's cold, sullen stream
Shall o'er me roll;
Blest Saviour, then, in love,
Fear and distrust remove,
O bear me safe above
A ransomed soul!

My faith looks up to Thee,
Thou Lamb of Calvary,
Saviour divine!
Now hear me while I pray,
Take all my guilt away,
O let me from this day
Be wholly Thine!

May Thy rich grace impart
Strength to my fainting heart,
My zeal inspire;
As Thou hast died for me,
O may my love to Thee
Pure, warm and changeless be,
A living fire!

BIG NEWS!

The Church may not have its name blazoned across every front page, but it is big news just the same.

From infancy to old age, the Church offers many things to each and every individual.

The Church introduces human beings to God.

The Church develops man's spiritual life through experiences of worship.

The Church emphasizes the beautiful through its architecture, its services, whether ritualistic or informal, its music.

The Church develops leaders through its many activities.

The Church broadens man's outlook through its work of sending the gospel to those in far-away places.

The Church exemplifies the brotherhood of man through the welcome it extends to all who believe.

Last, and most important of all, the Church offers salvation and the assurance of eternal life for every believer.

Big news—the Church! Can you afford to miss it?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Calls For Probe Of Air Force Training

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The attorney for a suspended Air Force colonel yesterday called for a full-scale congressional investigation of training procedures at Lackland Air Force Base.

The base also announced the pending court-martial of another instructor charged with abusing recruits.

James F. Gardner, attorney for Col. James Smyrl, wrote Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) demanding an investigation of both training procedures and concessions policies at the sprawling Air Force basic training center.

Smyrl was relieved of duty as commander of a training group last March. He said his reassignment as an operations officer resulted from his refusal to follow orders of Maj. Gen. Herbert L. Grills, base commander, to support a training policy which allowed recruits to take part of their physical training at a civilian-operated roller skating rink and riding stable.

Smyrl is awaiting hearing to show cause why he should not be dismissed.

Public information officers at the base announced that Airman John S. Williams, 20, of Concord, N. C., would be tried by court-martial on charges of assaulting two trainees under his command.

The specifications allege that Williams came into a barracks June 1 "drunk and disorderly" and kicked one airman in the chest and choked another. The victims of the alleged assault were identified as Jerry L. Probst, 17, of Terrill, Iowa, and Louis P. Downs, 18, of Milton, N. Y. Neither suffered injury. No date has been set for the court-martial.

Col. Martin Minter, base staff judge advocate, said four other instructors have been tried on similar charges this year. The most recent case was that of Airman William Roberts, 22, of Key West, Fla., who was reduced one grade after being convicted June 13 of pulling a sick airman out of his bunk.

In the letter to Yarborough, Gardner also charged that basic trainees were "force-marched to a civilian operated photographic studio and subjected to what he called a 'sales pitch' to purchase pictures of themselves in uniform.

Maj. Gen. Grills was not available for comment and Sen. Yarborough could not be reached. But Lyman Jones of Austin, Tex., a member of Yarborough's staff, said letters on the Smyrl case have been received by the senator. He said no investigation had been launched, however.

St. Joseph's Island Carries Legend Of Vinson's Treasure

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP)—Beneath the lonely beaches of St. Joseph's Island, old timers say, lies a hoard of gold and jewels—the lost treasure of Vinson's sloop.

Ted Littlefield has pieced together this storybook tale of shipwreck, buried treasure and murder.

It starts during that misty time between the end of Spain's rule and the Civil War when Texas was almost as thinly populated as in the Karankawa Indian days.

It was then a shipwrecked sailor named Vinson floated ashore on the lonely beach on St. Joseph's Island in nearby Cedar Bayou.

The tall Irishman built a driftwood shack at the lagoon which still bears his name. He lived on the bounty of the sea and an occasional deer.

Littlefield continued: "The storms were Vinson's harvesters. After a blow old timers said he would emerge from his hurricane-battered house in the dunes to comb the beach, littered with flotsam and jetsam."

One September morn Vinson came upon the wreckage of a Spanish ship, its mast gone and battered hull awash. He waded through the surf and found a lone survivor, a Franciscan father, lashed to the mast. Vinson carried the half-drowned priest ashore and nursed him back to health.

The priest told Vinson fabulous wealth lay in the hold of the vessel, then almost buried in the sand. He told of massive golden jewel-studded candlesticks, of crucifixes of precious metals of golden statues of the Virgin Mary and the Savior and of the priceless treasures fashioned by Spanish artists to adorn a new cathedral in Mexico City.

For months the two labored to salvage the precious hoard. There were chalices of pure gold, golden images and a massive golden globe surmounted by a cross.

The priest left for Mexico City for help. Vinson stayed with the gold. Years passed. Tides and hurricanes changed the face of the land while Vinson continued his vigil.

Then the priest returned with Spanish soldiers.

They started digging, taking their bearings from the mainland and excavating where the lines crossed—a great clump of Spanish daggers that had been there had been destroyed by a hurricane. But they found no gold.

Frustration turned to anger. The priest accused Vinson of removing the treasure. Vinson accused the priest of trying to hoodwink him. Vinson struck the priest with a piece of driftwood.

Before he died the priest pronounced a curse that Vinson's soul should have no rest: That he should spend eternity searching for the treasure.

The soldiers, fearing to kill a man accused, buried the father's body and left for Mexico City.

Vinson continued the search. At last he was captured—half wild and old—and taken to a San Antonio convent. He escaped and returned to his desolate home to resume the search. There he disappeared.

Fishermen say the eerie light of Vinson's torch may still be seen, dancing over the dunes and beaches.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Phoenix Gazette printed this letter from 10-year-old Barbara Blake: "I think the ice cream man goes too fast. By the time I go get my money, he has passed my house. What I would do is have the ice cream man go slower, so we can have more time to get our money."

Conservative Demos Girding For Battle

AUSTIN (AP)—The two embittered factions of the Democratic party in Texas are stockpiling ammunition for another bloody battle in 1958.

The State Democratic Executive Committee, made up mostly of conservatives, let it be known officially that J. J. (Jake) Pickle, an expert on strategy and organization, has gone to work full time lining up the voters for next year's contests.

Right now one of the hottest appears to be the usual struggle for convention control between conservative and liberal factions from the precinct level up. And there has been a lot of speculation that Gov. Price Daniel would face stern opposition in his second-term bid for the governorship.

Pickle, who has helped Sen. Lyndon Johnson in past campaigns, was one of Daniel's managers in his hard-fought, closely-won victory over liberal Ralph Yarborough for the Democratic nomination last summer.

Pickle also was active behind the scenes in the combined efforts of Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn and Daniel to win control of the September state convention in 1956. By profession, Pickle is a public relations man.

While it has been generally known that he has been working closely with State Chairman Jim Lindsey in state party headquarters here for months, the Democratic newsletter distributed yesterday gave the first news that he was on a fulltime basis.

Pickle's title is statewide director of organization. The newsletter, official party bulletin, noted that he has worked actively in Democratic national fund-raising campaigns.

"The State Democratic Executive Committee is moving forward vigorously in its efforts to establish and maintain an effective party organization," the bulletin said.

Meetings and rallies will be held during the next few months in each state senatorial district. Sessions thus far have been to talk over preliminary plans for organization in each precinct and county.

The newsletter also took a series of sharp digs at the rival liberal-loyalist organization, "Democrats of Texas," which is headed by National Committeewoman Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston.

She is in open conflict with the state committee, made up chiefly of Daniel's backers.

committee was handpicked to favor conservative Daniel backers. The executive committee retorts that its majority was selected by district caucuses at the state convention last September.

The newsletter said the DOT is a "labor-dominated" group already torn by dissension and that it will not cooperate with the established state organization.

The only time in recent years that Texas liberals and conservatives have shown any semblance of pulling together was when Sen. Johnson achieved a truce long enough to give him control of the Texas delegation to the national convention in Chicago a year ago.

Wichita Falls Girl Is WTCC Essay Contest Winner

WICHITA FALLS — A recent graduate of Wichita Falls High School, Linda Thomason, was winner of the annual industrial development essay contest sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Thomason, who was named winner over approximately 200 other contestants, will receive $250 to be used for educational purposes at any college or university in the 132-county region served by the WTCC. She selected Baylor University in Waco.

The daughter of Wichita Falls' city manager, H. A. Thomason, Miss Thomason is the first girl to win since the contest was inaugurated in 1955. Other winners were Danny Solomon of Tulla in 1955 and David King of Post in 1956.

Contestants were assigned the topic: "What Can My Town Do to Have More Industry?"

Second place winner in the contest was Miss Barbara Schooling, Decatur; David Olson, Lamesa captured third place.
