'Enemy' Bombers Wing Toward American Cities

NEWSPOINT, Operation Alert (AP)—Air raid sirens screamed a warning of approaching imaginary "enemy" bombers at noon today to set in motion a nationwide civil defense and mobilization exercise, Operation Alert 1957.

The alert was flashed to 200 possible target points by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, already operating under a make-believe "unlimited state of national emergency and threat of invasion."

Within a few hours, simulated nuclear attacks will have "blasted" more than half these industrial centers and defense installations out of existence with tens of millions of hypothetical casualties.

President Eisenhower and key aides were ready to leave Washington in a fleet of helicopters for a secret emergency White House. Already, in his imaginary proclamation, the President has declared an emergency, alerted military and civilian defenses, and created a top-level home-front war agency called the Office of Emergency Resources to supervise price, wage, rationing, priority and manpower controls.

Key officials supervised the test operations from other secret headquarters and already this news operations center, dubbed "News-point" and located in a city to the south of Washington, was in operation.

RELOCATION CENTERS
Next week, after three days of emergency civil defense tests, more than 5,000 government officials and key subordinates will seek to re-establish normal government operations from 80 safe relocation centers in half a dozen states.

This is intended to be a preview of substantially what would happen if this country actually were plunged into war after a surprise assault that left millions dead or wounded, more millions homeless and penniless, and a great part of industry obliterated.

The simulated actions so far taken in addition to the creation of the Office of Emergency Resources under Gordon Gray, the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, include:

1. Creation of eight subordinate agencies in the fields of production, economic stabilization, manpower, transportation, minerals, housing, food and communications and energy.
2. Drafting of a "freeze" order to nail down prices, wages and rents at current levels. Individual price orders would come later.
3. Fixing policies for the rationing of consumer goods and foods.
4. Preparation of a sweeping but voluntary system of manpower controls to steer workers into essential jobs and keep them there.
5. Establishment, by the production agency, of a priority and

NEW HANDBOOK DESCRIBES DEVASTATION OF THE H-BOMB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today released the first comprehensive picture of the sprawling devastation from a hydrogen bomb attack.

Issuance of a bulky handbook, "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons," coincided with the beginning of Operation Alert 1957.

The 579-page book, issued by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission, details the blast, heat and radiation effects of high-yield bombs ranging up to 20 megatons—the power of 20 million tons of TNT and a thousand times more powerful than the atom bombs dropped on Japan in 1945.

The book makes no mention of developments toward the production of "clean" H-bombs, those free of radioactive fallout.

In fact, a section of the book deals with possibilities of using fallout as an effective weapon in wartime.

The book says in the aerial detonation of a 20-megaton bomb there would be these effects:

1. Wood frame houses would be almost completely destroyed out to about 12 miles in all directions from the point of the blast, and there would be some damage to such buildings out to 20 miles.
2. People could suffer third-degree burns out to nearly 30 miles in all directions from the heat flash of the bomb, and first-degree burns out to nearly 50 miles.

With weapons in the megaton range, the report said, "the damaged region may cover a hundred or more square miles."

Initial radiation from the blast would kill virtually every exposed person out to a distance of 2 1/2 miles from the point of an air blast, the book said.

allocations system to feed vital materials into war production.

6. Setting up a mandatory system of priorities on communications.

7. The licensing of all businesses. The licenses of firms violating controls could be suspended or revoked, putting them out of business.

8. Setting up a wage stabilization board with public, industry and labor members, also an agency to settle labor disputes.

SURVIVAL PROBLEMS
Meanwhile, other officials were busy with the problems of helping the people survive the supposed immediate effects of the mock attack.

A secret headquarters for the exercise, called High Point, was ready to evaluate the mythical death and disaster toll as reports trickled in from presumably blasted cities. High Point will coordinate the relief, reconstruction and civilian mobilization measures.

It will not, however, make its casualty reports public. It was decided that such reports would be "seriously misleading," since they will not be based on any authoritative estimates either of enemy capability or of this country's ability to defeat the enemy.

In most cities the general public will not participate. The White House described this exercise as a test of the ability of the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the state and local units to deal with nuclear assault, and to evaluate the ability of the federal government to solve the problems that would arise under such an attack.

The civil defense phase will run through Sunday. Then, on Monday, more than 5,000 government officials and key subordinates from Washington will report for mock "emergency" duty in about 80 safe relocation centers in half a dozen states.

UNTIL FRIDAY
Although Eisenhower will spend only a day or less at his hidden headquarters, the other officials participating will remain at their relocation sites until noon next Friday.

An elaborate buildup for the exercise has been carried out. For three weeks officials in charge of mobilization affairs in each agency have been asked to assume that world tensions were mounting and international relations "deteriorating."

They have dispatched skeleton crews to the relocation sites to prepare them for operation in case of "hostilities." Arrangements have been made for food, transportation, communications and working facilities.

Not until the reports begin to trickle in from the supposedly "blasted" cities will the government people know the exact nature of their problems of restoring order, sheltering refugees, restoring a shattered economy.

The Defense Department will participate, but not to the extent of a military maneuver. The ODM said the Pentagon's participation will not involve any test of this country's retaliatory power or offensive capability.

CENTER UNGUARDED
Crudeley lettered signs saying "Authorized Personnel Only" were posted.

This reporter walked into the control room of the center and was greeted by a secretary who mistook him for a Federal Civil Defense official from Denton because "you are a brunette."

The cities were unknown except to top Civil Defense officials. The "primary targets" are part of the mock nationwide catastrophe opening the fourth nationwide Civil Defense training exercise.

Here at Austin, the Texas Civil Defense Control Center personnel are crowded into a map-walled room next to the Department of Public Safety's communications center. Its occupants apparently are safe from the make believe nuclear bombs under 2 1/2-foot reinforced concrete ceilings and walls.

Under a real attack, the same room would be the home of a control center which would coordinate relief, rescue and evacuation programs throughout the state.

Basis for the hypothetical attack is simple: Prepare citizens and government officials alike for conditions of nuclear war.

Texas and the rest of the Southwest is playing a curtailed part in the nationwide exercise. The imaginary attacks in Texas will end by 5 p.m. Sunday while most of the nation continues to fight "the enemy" for seven days.

The rash of floods, tornadoes and hurricanes that are being caused the Southwest to cut its exercise to three days.

Mrs. Shelburne was a native of Angelina County and was reared in Runnels County where she was married in 1911 to G. B. Shelburne. Together they moved to Stanton in 1918 and had made their home there continuously since.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, G. B. Shelburne Jr., Amarillo, and Cledie Shelburne, Gulfport, Miss.; two daughters, Mrs. Nola Belsch and Mrs. Tommy Foreman, both of O'Donnell; five brothers, Tom Caudle, Ted Caudle and Earl Caudle, all of Ballinger, Fred Caudle, San Angelo, E. B. Caudle, Odessa; five sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Thompson, Stanton, Mrs. Lucy Smith, Lubbock, Mrs. Vida Bell Campbell and Mrs. Almedia Hardiman, both of Abilene. Nine grandchildren also survive.

Dixie Senators Agree To Vote On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democratic senators tentatively agreed today to permit a vote the middle of the next week on a motion to take up formally the controversial civil rights bill.

Their spokesman, Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), said he was authorized to work out details with Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.), sponsor of the motion, and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

Earlier Johnson told newsmen he hoped agreement could be reached by all sides for a vote either late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Johnson said he thinks 20 additional senators want to speak before the question of taking up the civil rights bill can be brought to a vote in the Senate. He said he hopes such a vote can be reached Tuesday or Wednesday.

Johnson evidently expects the Senate to vote by about 2-1 in favor of the motion by Knowland to call up the bill.

"We're not trying to delay or procrastinate in this situation," he said.

Russell told reporters "there is no possibility of a vote on Sen. Knowland's motion before Tuesday." He added, "I'd prefer to delay it until Wednesday, or even Thursday."

Knowland had said before at a breakfast meeting at the White House with President Eisenhower that he favored a vote early in the week—by either Monday or Tuesday.

Knowland left the White House without seeing reporters. Later, however, he told newsmen on Capitol Hill there is no change in the administration's position on the civil rights bill.

"Their recommendations are still their recommendations," he said. "They have never taken the position, however, that there are amendments."

Some congressional Democrats including Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) and Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.), have urged Eisenhower is wavering in support of the bill which the House passed last month.

Asked if this is true, Knowland replied: "No."

"There are going to be no amendments agreed to," nor any negotiations or agreements looking toward amendments until after the bill becomes the pending business in the Senate," Knowland said.

Nearly all Southern Democrats attended the 45-minute meeting in Russell's office.

"We felt we have been fully justified in our debate on the motion to take up," Russell said.

"This bill has pursued a very unusual course. There is no committee report on it. We feel justified in putting into the Senate record, at least, an analysis of this bill."

"It's my personal feeling, if something can be worked out, we can conclude discussion on the motion in the middle of next week. I want to discuss it with Sen. Knowland and Sen. Johnson. I have no doubt something can be worked out."

Eisenhower Signs U.S. Housing Bill

COL. CHARLES M. YOUNG

INSPECTOR GENERAL

Webb Commander To Take ATC Post

Col. Charles M. Young, commander at Webb Air Force Base for the past two and a half years, will report for new duties with the Air Force Training Command on Aug. 5.

A major unit of the ATC, the Flying Training Air Force, is moving its headquarters from Waco to San Antonio, and this is due for completion Aug. 1. Crew Training Air Force, another ATC unit, has been at Randolph, and all Training Command operations now will be centered there.

There has been no official word as to Colonel Young's successor at Webb. Col. Kyle Kiddie recently was assigned here for service as the base executive officer.

Measure Lowers Down Payments

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower today signed a housing bill authorizing lower down payments on FHA-insured homes and making an additional $1,990,000,000 available for various housing programs.

In approving the measure, however, Eisenhower said that "unfortunately" it contains a number of "very serious defects." He called for repeal of some provisions at the next session of Congress.

He noted that the sum made available for housing programs is "more than double the amounts requested for these programs."

"Accordingly, I have given instructions to limit the use of the new authority provided by this act during the fiscal year 1958 (which started July 1) to amounts consistent with the over-all budget program," he said.

Eisenhower's January budget proposal called for only $1,025,000,000.

The bill's provision for lower down payments on housing carrying FHA-guaranteed mortgages is only permissive, and there was no indication in the presidential statement that Eisenhower was taking any action to put them into effect.

The National Assn. of Home Builders had asked the President to give FHA orders on that point.

The lower down payments made possible by the bill are a minimum of 3 per cent on the first $10,000 of appraised value, 15 per cent on the $10,000-to-$16,000 segment, and 30 per cent above that.

The present law requires at least 5 per cent on the first $9,000, and 25 per cent above that. Thus the down payment on a $15,000 home could be cut from $1,950 to $1,650.

The $1,990,000,000 carried in the bill is new obligational authority for housing that the Treasury might have to meet. Expenses in the Housing and Home Finance Agency say that actually it will provide $1,675,000,000 of new funds for housing construction.

The discrepancy comes in the funds for secondary market mortgage purchases by the Federal National Mortgage Assn. These purchases provide lending agencies with new funds to enable home building to continue even when private sources have dried up.

The bill increases the capital stock of FNMA by 65 million dollars, stock of which is subscribed by the Treasury.

However, FNMA is able to buy $10 of mortgages for each $11 of capital stock, so the bill actually will increase its mortgage purchase authority by 650 million.

The measure carries 900 million dollars in Treasury backstop money for FNMA. This means the agency could draw on the Treasury for that amount to buy mortgages if it cannot for the moment raise money in the usual way through sale of private debentures.

Thus the total impact of the bill on the Treasury could be 965 million—the 900 million backstop plus the 65 million of new capital stock.

FNMA's Treasury backstop has been $1,350,000,000 while its total mortgage purchase authority has been $1,600,000,000. The 25 million in extra backstop authority in the bill will provide the agency with 2 1/2 billion dollars in both mortgage buying authority and backstop.

Other authorizations in the bill are:

- Urban renewal or slum clearance grants to cities—35 million.
- Military housing mortgages—250 million.
- College housing mortgages—175 million.
- Special presidential FNMA fund expected to be used largely for mortgages on housing for the elderly and families displaced by slum clearance—150 million.
- Cooperative housing mortgages—100 million.

After expressing "concern" over the increases above budget figures Eisenhower said: "However, these amounts do not have to be made available for obligation in the current fiscal year. Hence they do not represent so serious a setback in our joint effort to control federal expenditures as to require that the bill be disapproved."

At that point Eisenhower announced his order limiting use of the new authority in the current fiscal year.

Eisenhower called it "disappointing" that Congress chose "to re-enact discount controls for federally insured and guaranteed mortgages and to require the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to pay prices above those prevailing in the private market for the mortgages it purchases under its federal assistance functions."

Clinton Court Battle Erupts
On 'Life' Photos

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A bitter controversy exploded in U. S. District Court today over pictures taken by Time and Life magazine photographers of the Clinton de-segregation disturbances last fall.

Defense attorneys, questioning a photographer, said: "They (the magazines) slanted their pictures to lower and degrade these people."

Grover S. McLeod of Birmingham, Ala., the defense lawyer, gestured toward the 15 Tennesseeans and John Kasper. They are on trial for alleged criminal contempt of court.

The witness was A. Y. Owen, 41, a free-lance photographer from Oklahoma City. He said he is employed by Time and Life.

When McLeod made the statement about the pictures, U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. jumped to his feet, shouting objections.

Judge Robert L. Taylor sustained him.

The defense contended that the photographers showed the defendants in an unfair light during the disturbances last Nov. 29 and 30.

The government introduced the pictures in evidence to identify some of the 15 defendants.

The outburst came as Crawford moved into the heart of the case—the government's effort to prove conspiracy between Kasper and the "Clinton 15."

A few minutes earlier, in an effort to speed up the trial, both government and defense attorneys had agreed not to call scores of news media representatives to testify.

Crawford prepared to move directly to the heart of the case—whether the 15 Tennessee men and women defendants conspired with Northern segregationist John Kasper to flout the injunction.

"We are getting to the 'acting in concert' part of the story now," Crawford said.

It is a story of animosity and deep-seated feelings about segregation in the pretty highland town of Clinton, population 4,500.

Members of the school board told the all-white jury hearing the case of a six-point manifesto presented to them by segregationists.

It asked them to poll the Negroes in Clinton as to their preferences of a school for their children, to send the Negroes back to an all-Negro school 20 miles away at Knoxville which they had been attending—and said, if they were unable to comply with these and other demands, to resign.

Ancient Aircraft To Cross Nation

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Two ancient aircraft, a German Fokker D7 and a French Nieuport, were to start a transcontinental flight from here today.

The World War I fighters will set down 18 times before landing—the pilots hope—at Andrews Air Base, Md. The planes will be piloted by Clifford Anderson and Frank Paulman of Pomona, Calif.

The flight is a preliminary to the annual Ricks Trophy flight to be made by Air National Guard F4E jets July 28 between Fresno and Andrews AFB.

The old biplanes are expected to take six days for the trip. Stops are planned at Midland and Abilene in Texas.

Stanton Woman Stricken After Death Of Kin

HOUSTON (AP)—Federal Judge Joe Ingraham read a 78-minute charge to the jury today in the George Parr mail fraud charge.

Ingraham then ordered a brief recess, and called for motions for exceptions and additions to his charge before turning the case over to the jury.

The defense planned lengthy motions seeking to make changes in the judge's charge.

The all-male jury has heard testimony and legal sparring for 38 days. They face the prospect of returning verdicts on 161 issues in the 29-count indictment.

In the first trial of Parr and 10 codefendants, a jury made decisions for only 59 out of 220 issues. The trial ended in a mistrial, as did two later trials.

The defendants are charged with diverting more than $220,000 in Benavides School District funds.

Ingraham yesterday denied two motions for a mistrial. Defense attorneys contended U.S. Atty. Malcolm Wilkey inferred in his closing arguments that the defense had failed to produce three important witnesses.

Chief defense counsel Percy Foreman made the motions as Wilkey replied to the former's assertions that the government had failed to call three women as witnesses. The government's attorney indicated all three could have been summoned to testify by either side.

The women were Jewel Mayfield, chief bookkeeper at the defunct Texas State Bank of Alice; and daughters of two defendants, Jesus Garza and Santiago Garcia.

The indictment listed the bank bookkeeper as a co-conspirator and the government alleged the defendants' daughters received $75 a month from the school district while attending nursing school.

Jury To Receive Parr Fraud Trial

In his closing arguments Foreman termed former Gov. Shivers and former Atty. Gen. Shepperd as the defendants' "accusers."

Wilkey replied: "When politics is argued as a defense it is a tip-off there is no defense. These men are not being prosecuted as politicians but because the proof is they are thieving politicians. If the thieving public official ever goes free on the plea it is just politics, then God help us."

Referring to the star government witness, Diego Heras, the defense counsel said, "It is the certified liar that you have to believe to believe that a single one of those men is guilty. Without the testimony of Diego Heras and Willie Benson there would be no case."

Former school district deputy tax collector, Heras testified he had acted on Parr's instructions in preparing numerous fictitious checks, cashing them, and giving the proceeds to Parr. Benson backed up much of Heras' testimony.

Stanton Woman Stricken After Death Of Kin

STANTON (SC)—Mrs. G. B. Shelburne, wife of George B. Shelburne, city secretary, passed away unexpectedly at Ballinger at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

She had gone there to attend the funeral of a cousin, John S. Greenhill, when she was stricken with a brain hemorrhage at 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Rites were being held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Newby-Davis Chapel in Ballinger, and immediately afterwards the remains were to be brought to the Arrington Funeral Home in Stanton where they will lie in state from 3 p.m. until time for the funeral at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Church of Christ. Elmore Johnson, minister, will officiate, and Mrs. Shelburne will be laid to rest in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Shelburne was a native of Angelina County and was reared in Runnels County where she was married in 1911 to G. B. Shelburne. Together they moved to Stanton in 1918 and had made their home there continuously since.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, G. B. Shelburne Jr., Amarillo, and Cledie Shelburne, Gulfport, Miss.; two daughters, Mrs. Nola Belsch and Mrs. Tommy Foreman, both of O'Donnell; five brothers, Tom Caudle, Ted Caudle and Earl Caudle, all of Ballinger, Fred Caudle, San Angelo, E. Texas Alerted For Mock Raids To Take Place This Afternoon

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
TEXAS CIVIL DEFENSE CONTROL CENTER (AP)—Texas was alerted at 10:02 a.m. today that practice "enemy bombers" in the mythical operation alert training exercise would strike within four hours.

The alert came from the Federal Civil Defense Administration Central Warning Office at Colorado Springs, saying the mock "enemy bombers" were sighted over Alaska and Canada and their estimated time of arrival over Austin was at 2:02 p.m. CST.

The alert means this to Texas cities north of Austin, Civil Defense officials from Denton because "you are a brunette."

"There is a good chance that before 2:02 p.m. any city in the area would be 'bombed' in the defense trial by the enemy."

The alert was the first development in the test of civil defense facilities in which mythical atom bombs were to start "exploding" over seven Texas cities today.

Officials emphasized the entire operation was not real, but was for practice purposes only to discover weaknesses in defense organizations.

"LEMON JUICE"
This message was radioed to 16 Highway Patrol district offices in charge of civil defense:

"Fakers over Canada and Alaska. Warning time four hours. This message has been for test purposes only. Warning time is Lemon Juice."

"Lemon Juice" was code for the start of evacuation from target cities in the practice.

The alert to Texas came by radio from Colorado Springs, as points all over the United States checked in with the central warning service. Texas defense also acknowledged receiving the mock warning.

Here at civil defense headquarters in Austin, coordinator William McGill directed the exercise.

Gov. Price Daniel, at his home in Liberty, had only radio communications with defense headquarters. This radio link is via a Highway Patrol car which customarily follows the governor. No special arrangements were made for communication with the governor.

Air Force Accepts Webb Housing Bid

The huge base housing project for Webb AFB apparently had cleared its last major hurdle today.

From Washington, D.C. Sen. Ralph Yarborough advised The Herald that the "Air Force has announced the issuance of a letter of acceptance to the firm of Williams & Dunlap" of Dallas.

Williams and Dunlap last week submitted the low bid of $6,435,000 for construction of 460 housing units on a 115-acre tract adjacent to and south and east of Webb AFB.

The housing would be available to certain grade officers and non-commissioned officers and their families.

Earlier, the Federal Housing Administration had given its blessing to the low bidder, which also has a similar project going at

Surgeon General Says Evidence Links Smoking, Lung Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today, "There is an increasing and consistent body of evidence that excessive cigarette smoking is one of the causative factors in lung cancer."

Burney gave no new proof, but cited results of previous studies, especially one by a special study group made public last March. Burney's statement brought an immediate reply from Dr. Clarence Cook Little, chairman of the Scientific Advisory Board of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee.

Public Health Service feels the weight of the evidence is increasingly pointing in one direction: that excessive smoking is one of the causative factors in lung cancer. The special study group quoted by Burney was established in June 1956 by units of the Public Health Service in cooperation with two private health organizations—the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Assn. The group was headed by Dr. F. M. Stroug of the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

Former CD Director Becomes Priest In Episcopal Church

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, who quit as Michigan's civil defense director to study for holy orders, today became a priest in the Episcopal Church.

The 58-year-old soldier who won medals flying warplanes will be ordained into the priesthood at St. John's Church in this Upper Peninsula community he has served as a humble vicar for the past two years. He was ordained a deacon last December after serving as a lay minister.

to get a small private plane for use in his ministry. He also serves St. David's Church at Sidnaw, Mich., and this means a 100-mile round trip by car each Sunday in preaching at two services. During World War II, Maitland moved U. S. Air Force troops to Bataan after the fall of Manila. He was transferred later to Australia and in 1943 was recalled to the United States to organize and train the 386th Bomb Group. Promoted to colonel, he was ordered into combat in the European Theater. His decorations include the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster. He is author of "Knights of Air," a book about pioneer airmen.

Boy Scouts Officially Open U.S. Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—America's Boy Scouts today officially opened their fourth National Jamboree.

With red rockets bursting in air and a band playing the stirring martial tune "Colors," four Eagle Scouts hoisted Old Glory on a 60-foot pole. Drums rolled as the flag reached the top of the gleaming aluminum pole—and then there was a moment's silence. The 51,000 Scouts and their leaders stood at attention in the grassy valleys and wooded hills of historic Valley Forge. It was the first time the American flag had flown over the encampment. Though thousands had been living for more than three days in tents pitched on this historic land made famous 180 years ago by George Washington's colonial army, the week-long jamboree that ends next Thursday has been unofficial until today. The impressive flag-raising ceremony officially called the jamboree to order. The honor of hoisting the colors went to Robert Dockstader, 17, Kennett Square, Pa.; Charles Ax, 16, Downingtown, Pa.; Neilson Lair, 15, Coatesville, Pa.; and Wayne Brown, 15, Rising Sun, Md., all members of the Chester County (Pa.) council, which is part of the Philadelphia area. Four Philadelphians raised the national Scout flag and four from Valley Forge the official jamboree banner on two 35-foot poles standing on either side of the main staff. Then while the 150-piece band composed of Scouts from Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia continued to play—after the moment's pause—the flags of 62 other nations were raised on 28-foot poles that lined the headquarters quadrangle. Thus the jamboree got under way. Until this evening's mammoth pageant, featuring Vice President Richard Nixon, the day's program will run the gamut of the usual Scout routine: walking tours to historic areas in Valley Forge Park, archery, angling, marksmanship, log-rolling, log-sawing, flagpole-raising and various physical fitness competitions; a day visits by 7,000 to Philadelphia to see Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell.

Negro Changes Plea To Guilty In Rape Case

DALLAS (AP)—Thomas Bell, 17, a Negro on trial for the rape of a white Denison girl, changed his plea to guilty yesterday and asked the court's mercy. The case was expected to go to the jury today. Bell changed his plea from innocence after a jury was selected and the victim was on the stand, ready to testify. He walked before Judge W. C. Dowdy of McKinney and admitted the April 7 assault at Denison. Prosecutors Jim Bowie of Dallas and Boyd Newman of Denison, who qualified jurors on the death penalty, refused to stipulate testimony. The state rested its case after the victim and her teen-age male companion at the time and Denison Police Chief Paul Borum testified. The pretty girl, 17, said she and a male companion were parked in a park when Bell and four other Negroes walked up to their car. "Three Negroes were charged. Sammie Louis is awaiting trial and a 15-year-old has been sent to the State School for Boys."

Bank Robber Gets Out With Loot, Then Troubles Begin

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 27-year-old man robbed a downtown bank of $1,785 and got out with it yesterday, but then his troubles began. He was chased by bankers, citizens and police officers, creating quite a commotion among afternoon shoppers. He frightened the posse off once with the plastic pistol, but failed in an attempt to board a bus when the unidentified driver slammed the door in his face. Patrolman Herald Ward and Deputy Sheriff Jack Middleton finally collared the man in a five and dime store basement. He had escaped his pursuers and was discussing purchase of a pair of pants with a clerk. Don Moody Jones, 27, identified as a New Orleans auto salesman, was charged before U.S. Commissioner Billy Costa with violation of the federal bank robbery statute and was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Jones declined to talk about his past, but said he arrived in Houston Wednesday, registered at a downtown hotel and impulsively decided to rob a bank. He walked into the Bank of Texas just before closing time and up to Mrs. Virginia Murphy's window. Mrs. Murphy said he handed her a note saying: "Put the money in the bag and be quiet. There is a gun under this coat." Mrs. Murphy said she could see he had some kind of pistol under his coat. She started handing over $5, $10 and $20 bills and the man stuffed them in the paper bag. Then he turned and ran. "Mr. Jones, stop that man," Mrs. Murphy shouted. "He held us up."

Harold Jones, 35, a bank vice president, gave chase. So did Ralph Graves, 38, comptroller, and John Gaunt, 28, a collection teler. Pursued by the bankers and random volunteer citizens, the

First-Bale Contest Is Again Approved For Dawson County

LAMESA — The Agriculture Committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce has voted to continue the first bale of cotton contest this year as it has been conducted in the past. W. B. Beeson, committee chairman, and Pat Ryan, chamber manager, explained to the committee the program as it stood. To qualify, the cotton must be produced normally on a Dawson County farm by a bona fide resident of the county. The committee also voted to act as the first bale committee. County Agent LeRoy Colgan was named head of the qualifications committee, which decides whether or not a bale qualifies. It must weigh at least 450 pounds. The committee also discussed participation in a "Maid of Cotton" contest, but took no action.

Man Of Iron, Kaganovich, Symbol Of Red Tyranny, Finally Finds Himself Betrayed

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

Purged Lazar Moiseovich Kaganovich is a symbol of all in the Soviet political system that appalls the Western mind.

The Soviet history of bloody repression, treachery, betrayal and persecution can be summed up in his career. And now, the crowning irony, he finds himself betrayed by the men who owe him their political lives.

By any moral standards except the Communist, the current party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, and the present Premier, Nikolai Bulganin, should have been eternally grateful to Kaganovich. As iron commissar of the Ukraine, he started Khrushchev on his way to the top. As boss of Moscow, he raised Bulganin out of obscurity.

For years, surviving purge after purge, Kaganovich was the highest-ranking Jew in the Soviet Union and the only one in the top ruling group of the Communist party. But he was a Jew-hating Jew, who concurred in Stalin's persecutions of them.

Yet, for all his excesses in the name of "building socialism," Kaganovich probably did as much for the struggling U.S.S.R. as any other one man. He was Stalin's faithful servant, one of the few old Bolsheviks to survive the master's blood purges. Shrewd, able and hard as nails, he was almost a political carbon copy of his boss.

WOULDN'T RETREAT

This correspondent got the impression, watching Kaganovich staggering drunk at a post-Stalin party in Moscow, that he was relieved the dictator was dead—but would retreat not an inch from his own rock-bound Stalinism. His thick-tongued cascade of boasts sounded like editorials lifted directly from the Pravda of Stalin's day.

It was common gossip for a long time that Kaganovich was Stalin's brother-in-law. His sister, the comely Rosa, was said to be Stalin's third wife, though there is some question whether the dictator bothered with the formality of a marriage ceremony. But Kaganovich did not owe his position of power to this. He was and still is an iron man, and probably will remain a man of iron to the end.

Only 5 feet 7, Kaganovich gives one the impression of bulk. He has soft, liquid eyes, but there is nothing soft about him.

He was born of poor parents in a village near Kiev in the Ukraine in 1893. At 14 he was a cobbler's apprentice, at 17 a Bolshevik revolutionary.

TALENTS OBVIOUS

After the revolution he became mayor of Tashkent in Uzbekistan but his talents were obvious, and at 27 he was recalled by Stalin to become president of the All-Russian Leather Workers Union.

In 1925 he was sent to the Ukraine as party boss there. He built the giant Dneprostroi Dam, the Soviet Union's first big hydroelectric power project. For this he became a member of the ruling Politburo. He also became party boss of Moscow province. Under him was Bulganin, who served as mayor of Moscow.

When Stalin decided on forced collectivization of farms, Kaganovich plunged into the job. The result was famine in the Ukraine, but by 1933 Kaganovich had crops coming in again and had created a vast chain of collectives and machine-tractor stations.

As commissar for railroads in 1935 he made the trains run on time by a simple solution—invoking the death penalty for interrupted schedules. Stalin then made him commissar for heavy industry as the U.S.S.R. smelled war in the offing. In 1942 he joined the inner war cabinet. In 1945 he was head of the Ministry of Building Materials, accomplishing a huge reconstruction job.

AIDED KHRUSHCHEV

In 1946 he had to rescue Khrushchev from a tight spot. The Ukraine, where Khrushchev was boss, was in devastation from the war. Inside a year, Kaganovich ruthlessly stamped out seething opposition to Moscow, whipped farming and building into shape, reopened mines, rebuilt the Dnieper Dam. Then he went back to Moscow and let Khrushchev take over again.

"Kaganovich," said Walter Bedell Smith, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, "is the best administrator in the Soviet Union."

In mid-1955, Kaganovich was back at his old specialty—trouble shooter for labor problems. He became head of the Soviet Wages and Labor Committee.

This unreconstructed revolutionary clung to his position longer than any of the other original Old Bolsheviks. V. M. Molotov lost the job of foreign minister in June. A week later Kaganovich lost his Wages and Labor job.

The most successful of Soviet industrialists, he is now accused of sabotaging production. The last of Lenin's corevolutionists, he is now accused of being anti-Leninist.

Inflation Problems Split U.S. Thinking

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflation is damned by almost everyone today. But what to do about it, if anything, splits American thinking wide open.

The nation's money managers say tightening the screws on credit and making money costly to borrow is about to do the trick. But home builders and small businessmen say this threatens to ruin them and could trigger a recession. Some others hold that expensive borrowing just pushes up business costs and helps inflate prices.

Many economists say a natural correction of inflation is already in sight. Let 'em alone, they say, and soaring prices will cure themselves because consumer resistance will shrink demand. That will cut back work in the factories and service trades and take a lot of steam out of labor's wage demands.

The business expansion boom also means that in time there will be even more capacity to produce—maybe too much for awhile—and that will increase competition and check price rises.

Statesmanship on the part of management and labor could end inflation, President Eisenhower says. But others ask: Who is going to start this? And if there are unstatesmanlike holdouts, how can the conformists meet this competition?

The President reminds industry and labor now and then that another solution would be to reinstate direct wage and price controls. Many economists, however, challenge the effectiveness of these in practice, and Congress is definitely hostile to any such unpopular move in peacetime.

A few insist that a cut in taxes could help halt inflation. They argue that it would produce more risk capital, leading to more production of consumer and capital goods to match the amount of money and credit now in circulation—which they say is higher than ever, no matter how tight money may seem. It's the swollen demand for credit they blame now. More risk capital would take some of this pressure off the credit supply.

There is a sizable and vocal group who believe that the creeping variety of inflation won't hurt us—so long as it doesn't stand up and run.

They argue that if prices and wages rise only 2 or 3 per cent each year, the effect will be slight, and preferable to running the risk of a business slowdown and unemployment which deflation might bring.

At the opposite extreme are the economists who think the money managers should make money much tighter than it is now and drain off a sizable amount of the money and credit that has built up since 1940. They argue this would not only halt inflation but even restore some of the purchasing power of your dollar.

Grounded Liner Pulled Off Reef

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Helped by a mighty yank from ground tackle, the British cruise ship Reina del Pacifico slid backwards off Devil's Flat Reef last night three days after running aground.

Ground tackle equal to the power of 10 tugs moved the ship off the reef, eight miles north of Hamilton, where it had perched since Monday night with 566 passengers en route home to England from Bermuda holidays.

Girard Ruling Spells Troubles For Ike As Storm Stirs On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's decision in the Girard case spelled potential troubles for President Eisenhower in Congress today even as it smoothed the path for his dealings with foreign countries.

Administration officials beamed over the court's 8-0 verdict in favor of their pledge to Japan to allow Japanese trial of Army Specialist S.C. William S. Girard for the shooting of a Japanese woman.

The Japanese too voiced pleasure over the ruling. And Japanese Dist. Judge Juzo Kawachi, who will conduct Girard's trial for manslaughter, set Aug. 26 as the starting date for the proceedings. He promised they will be fast and fair.

But on Capitol Hill, there were loud outcries against the decision and a blossoming of moves to bar any "Girard case" from happening again.

An Eisenhower-opposed resolution by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) and foreign trials of G's gathered fresh support in the House and loomed as a threat to Eisenhower's foreign aid bill.

The House Rules Committee yesterday cleared the $3,242,333,000 aid bill for House consideration starting Monday but left the Bow resolution in the deep freeze. Bow promptly started studying the aid measure to see when he might offer his resolution as an amendment.

AID BILL TROUBLE

Rep. Leo Allen (Ill), the senior Rules Committee Republican, said the House "without any question" would lack Bow's amendment on the aid bill if it comes to a recorded roll call vote.

If the aid bill passes Congress in that form, Eisenhower would be faced with the choice of vetoing aid legislation which he says is vital to free world security or signing it with the Bow amendment in it. And the Bow resolution, say defense chiefs, could collapse the global security system by forcing America to withdraw its troops from around the world.

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee announced today he will vote against tying the Bow amendment to the aid bill even though he supports the resolution as a separate measure. That boosted chances for success of a move planned by the House leadership to kill the amendment of an unrecorded vote short of a formal roll call.

In other congressional moves:

1. Bow introduced a new bill, as a result of the Girard decision, to change the U.S. Uniform Code of Military Justice which applies to all servicemen so that no serviceman "shall be subject to the criminal laws of any foreign nation."

SAME INTENT

This would be a companion measure to Bow's pending resolution which has the same intent. The resolution would go about by ordering the President to seek revision of or denounce the status-of-forces agreements which provide for foreign jurisdiction over some offenses committed by G's stationed abroad.

2. Rep. Keating (NY) senior House Judiciary Committee Republican, announced he would introduce today a resolution to set up a special committee to study possible revision of the status-of-forces agreements, the Uniform Code of Military Justice and other arrangements for trial of U.S. citizens abroad.

3. Sen. Holland (D-Fla) predicted the Senate will give serious attention to some form of the treaty-limiting amendment proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio).

4. Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) said he would press for adoption of his resolution against surrender of any U.S. servicemen for foreign trials.

5. Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) introduced a bill calling for a "full and complete" investigation of the Girard case.

NOT SURPRISED

Girard commented in Tokyo that he was "not surprised" at the decision. Later, through his Army legal adviser, he expressed confidence he will get a fair trial and will be acquitted.

But back in his home town of Ottawa, Ill., his family was shocked and saddened by the court's decision.

William's older brother Louis said, "I sure thought they (the court) were going to be fair about it. I didn't know anything like that could go on in this country."

Joseph S. Robinson, one of Girard's lawyers, said in New York that the case may become a political issue next year. He said that now the Supreme Court has spoken the only way to make a change is through congressional action.

Girard was accused of killing Mrs. Naka Sakai Jan. 30 while he was guarding a machine gun on an Army firing range in Japan and Mrs. Sakai was scavenging for empty cartridge cases.

In overturning a U.S. District Court decision that allowing Japanese trial would violate Girard's constitutional rights, the high court said that neither the U.S. Constitution nor American law barred the United States from waiving its jurisdiction over Girard. Therefore, it said, the decision is up to the executive branch.

"We find no constitutional or statutory barrier to the provision as applied here," the unsigned opinion said, adding: "In the absence of such encroachments, the wisdom of the arrangement is exclusively for the determination of the executive and legislative branches."

Czech Denies Red Propaganda Claims

HOUSTON (AP) — "I no say that," a Czech-born Texan said last night, a Communist propaganda story which quoted him as saying he wanted to go back and live in Czechoslovakia.

"I no say that," Joe Zvolanek, 73, a shoe repairman from Temple, told reporters. "This country best in world. No one can find a better country in world."

Zvolanek arrived here by air from New York after a month's business and pleasure trip to Czechoslovakia. It was his first trip there in 25 years. He planned to drive to Temple today.

He was met here by his son, Joe Zvolanek Jr., 38, who helps his father operate the shoe repair business. Young Joe insisted that while his father's English is a bit imperfect, his patriotism isn't.

The elder Zvolanek said there were "100 many reporters" in Czechoslovakia, and they must have misunderstood him. He said he actually told reporters in Prague only that he might come back for a visit again some time.

The Czech News Agency in Prague claimed yesterday several Czech-born Texans had returned for visits and then decided that their homeland was so alluring the visits should be made permanent.

A Joe Zvolanek was among those listed and he was quoted as saying:

"Like it here (in Czechoslovakia) so much that I shall only settle my affairs in America and return in the spring for good."

Zvolanek said he came to the United States in 1909 and became naturalized a little later. He said he had been operating the shoe repair business in Temple for more than 48 years.

He said he made previous trips to his homeland in 1921 and 1932.

This time, he said, he went to see his sister, Mrs. Annie Debeck, 80, a retired school teacher, and to try to settle a small estate.

He said his family owned a house worth about $10,000 and that he tried to transfer its title to his sister. He was unable to settle the estate because of government red tape.

Asked what he thought of life in Czechoslovakia, Zvolanek shrugged and said, "People work they make good living."

He said Czechs are "natural people" and that Czechoslovakia is a "free country, not owned by Russia."

The Czech News Agency also named Mrs. Fuzena Prochazka of Crosby, Tex., and a person identified as Frantisek Randuch as sharing purported desires to move back to their native lands.

Neither could be located.

VARIED REACTION

Congressional comment on the Supreme Court decision ranged from hot criticism, mainly from those who favor the Bow resolution or dislike other recent high court rulings, to quiet support from those who side with the administration on the issue.

Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) told the House the decision was "another assault on the Constitution of the United States and an undermining of the rights of the individual."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Southern fight against the administration's civil rights bill, said Girard "has been cast in the role of a sacrificial lamb."

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) said, "It is sorry indeed to think about the concern the court has recently demonstrated for the rights of criminals, traitors, witnesses before congressional committees and contrast it with their lack of concern about American service men's rights."

On the other hand Rep. Judd (R-Minn) said, "I think the decision will clear the atmosphere and the results will be helpful around the world."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said terms of the status-of-forces agreements are "unfortunate" but "you can't

Education Program On Alcoholism Set

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas is offering help to the businessman who drinks bourbon instead of coffee.

And to the housewife who sneaks a snifter when the kids leave for school.

Within a few weeks the revitalized Texas Commission on Alcoholism will begin a careful campaign to educate Texas to the problems of alcoholism.

For the first time since it was created by the Legislature in 1953 the commission will have an appreciable amount of state money to deal with a problem that some medical experts say is as threatening as cancer and heart disease.

"We know how to handle the problem if the people will just come to us early enough," said Nelson Brown, the executive director. "Our big problem now is to get that word to those who need help."

An estimated 155,100 alcoholics were in Texas in 1953, about 3 percent of the adult population. One-sixth of them were women. The total was almost double the 1940 figure.

"We have no idea how many alcoholics there are in Texas now," Brown said.

During the 1956 fiscal year six state institutions admitted 1,017 alcoholic patients, more than half of them on commitment orders from the courts.

"We are discharging better than 100 a month now," Brown said. "The average treatment period takes four to five weeks. The diagnosis of alcoholism is difficult due to many complex factors."

"It often takes a long time to tell whether the excessive drinking was the cause or effect," Brown said. "Alcoholism is a progressive illness and trouble plus alcohol always equals more trouble."

Reports of the treatment in state mental hospitals emphasize the problems of alcoholics.

Less than half of those who once had wives or husbands were still married. The ratio of those divorced or separated was more than six times the national average.

A Bible Thought For Today

But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin. (1 John 1:7)

More Openness Might Have Helped

The ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the Girard case settles this particular matter. The Army specialist third class must stand trial in a Japanese court on charges of manslaughter in connection with the death of a Japanese woman. The allegations in the case are familiar. The government said it turned Girard over to the Japanese civil authorities because of the firing of an empty cartridge case, which struck and killed the woman, was not in the performance of duty. Moreover, it was contended Girard had actually enticed the woman into range in order to fire the case. The defense argued that Girard was indeed on duty and therefore was deprived of his constitutional rights in being turned over by the military to the Japanese. Back of this were the contentions that failure to uphold the military ruling would jeopardize the position of U.S. forces on all foreign soil, because most of them are there by treaty. The countering allegation was that turning Girard over to the Japanese in effect cut the ground out from under the rights of all men serving on foreign soil.

Project Moving With Promptness

Apparently the base housing project adjacent to Webb AFB now has clear sailing ahead. Sen. Ralph Yarborough advised the Herald Thursday evening that the Air Force had announced the issuance of a letter of acceptance to the firm of Williams & Dunlap of Dallas. At the time the bids were opened here last week for 460 family units, it was announced that the FHA would first give its recommendation concerning the low bidder (and other low bidders), then the Air Force would be privileged to issue the letter of acceptance. Apparently what remains to be accomplished is the issuance of notice to proceed (the work order). This could be held up by a legal device by which a pair of corporations would be created to handle the construction and operation of the housing project.

New Methods For Naming Justices

WASHINGTON—From one end of the country to the other, many members of the bar are unhappy over the destruction of longstanding precedents and the wreckage of historic principles by the Supreme Court of the United States in recent decisions. When the American Bar Association meets in New York City next week, it will have before it some important resolutions which question the present system of appointing Supreme Court justices. For the existing system, whereby a President appoints justices to satisfy certain political influences, not only is resulting in the selection of men without judicial experience but it has brought about a loss of confidence in the high court as a judicial institution. It is an open secret that, in the last several decades, appointments of Supreme Court justices under both Republican and Democratic administrations have been largely political. Instead of finding the most capable men of judicial experience, the tendency is to pick those who fit certain political requirements. Some of these "requirements" are sectional, some of them are religious and some of them are palpably ideological—an attempt to find conservative or liberal justices to fit preconceived viewpoints. One suggested reform, sponsored by the bar association of Houston, Texas, was submitted to the attorneys, the general and the courts of last resort of the 48 states, and a favorable response was noted. It proposes a constitutional amendment that would take the appointing power away from the President altogether and place it in the hands of a "representation" from each of the 48 states. Each state would have one vote, divided equally between the members of the highest court in each state. The only prospective appointees to be considered, according to the Houston plan, would be members of the U. S. Circuit Courts of Appeals and judges in the highest state courts. Only those with five years of consecutive service on either the Circuit Court of Appeals or the highest state court would be eligible. The American Bar Association Journal in a recent issue is revealing that "a far-reaching proposal" is being considered by the association's committee on the federal judiciary. It urges that all federal judicial appointments be "completely removed from the area of political patronage." The Journal says the resolution is "more comprehensive in scope than any previous association policy declaration as to federal judicial selection."

What Others Say

The fellow who used to sing, "I want a girl just like the girl who married dear old Dad" had better revise his plans. For the girls have revised theirs—at least according to a survey taken for the Girl Scouts through the University of Michigan. The interviewees, having talked with girls from 11 to 18 in many states, find that only 3 per cent want to become housewives. There is, however, some discrepancy since 94 per cent expect to marry "some day." Moreover, eight out of 10 girls were found to want to grow up to be like their mothers, teachers, or female relatives. And the percentage for housewives was at least a notch above the 2 per cent who aspired to be motion picture or television stars. Maybe the girls merely have their own definition of a husband, not as the "head of a house" (that one, even the dictionary says, is obsolete) but as a man bound to a house. Boy Scouts had better get those merit badges for cooking and sewing—and for dishwashing, if there is one. —CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

For all the frantic attempts to explain what President Eisenhower said or meant, the fact remains that the chief executive said recently that he would be "perfectly delighted" to agree to a temporary suspension of tests of H-bomb and other nuclear weapons. How bitterly Adlai Stevenson could smile, if he chose! For when Stevenson carefully suggested suspension only of H-bomb tests during last fall's campaign, Republicans accused him of almost everything but child beating. Eisenhower, in a series of angry statements, said the Stevenson proposals were useless, reckless, frivolous, wishful thinking, pie in the sky promises and a "theatrical gesture" showing "unawareness of the facts." Vice President Nixon claimed that the Stevenson suggestions increased chances for world war. Thomas E. Dewey termed them "an invitation to national suicide" and Henry Cabot Lodge called them "foolhardy." My, what a difference between October of an election year and the following June! —MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

Riding Up With It

James Marlow Court Didn't Rule On Morality

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court ruled only that the government had the right—and not on whether it was right—to let the Japanese try GI William S. Girard for shooting a woman to death. The court reached its decision in four steps. More background is necessary to understand them: Every foreign country, being a sovereign power, has the right to try an American, civilian or serviceman, for a crime committed within its borders unless, by agreement with the United States, it willingly gives up its right to do so in certain cases. The United States worked out the following agreement with a number of countries where it has troops stationed, including Japan: 1. If an American, civilian or serviceman, commits a crime while not on official duty, as in the case of Japan, the Japanese are free to try him. 2. But the United States has first claim—or primary right—to try him for a crime committed in performance of duty or in certain other circumstances. 3. In cases where the United States has the primary right to try—but Japan insists on bringing him to trial—this country will give "sympathetic consideration" to the Japanese claim. In short, in such a case this country could turn a serviceman over to Japan even though the crime he committed was "in performance of duty." The Japanese did not deny that Girard was on duty when he killed the woman while she was picking up empty shells on a maneuver area. Girard had been assigned to the area by his commanding officer to guard a machine gun. But the Japanese did argue his shooting the woman was not "in performance of duty." They asked to try Girard on a charge equivalent to manslaughter. Eventually, this country agreed to turn Girard over to the Japanese. Girard's lawyers appealed to the Supreme Court. They said turning Girard over to Japan was a violation of his constitutional rights as a citizen. The Constitution guarantees a citizen in this country a right to trial by jury. In Japan judges do the trying.

'Crime' Erased For War Bride

WASHINGTON—A San Antonio major at long last may now continue his military career, too. Legislation by Rep. Paul Kilday just signed by President Eisenhower waives technicalities of immigration laws. In 1944 when her home was in shambles she was convicted in a German police court of stealing a pound of cube sugar and received a 3-month prison sentence. That is the record against Lisbeth Lohr, 32, and now working for the U. S. Army in Munich. It has kept her from coming to the United States to marry Larry Cahoon, 39, of San Antonio.

Hal Boyle The Art Of Jalopies

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hunting out and restoring antique autos has become the hobby of thousands of Americans who seek to revive the windblown joys of the days when motoring was young. Charles and Kenneth Coulter, brothers who operate a florist business here, have traveled more than 10,000 miles in the last few years to build up one of the largest collections of old model Ford cars in the South. There was one car the brothers didn't get to buy—for an unusual reason. Learning that a woman in a small town had a 1922 Ford, Charles went to see her about it. She willingly led him out to her barn and showed him the cobweb-covered vehicle, but balked at selling. "But rats are already nesting in the upholstery," pointed out Coulter. "Soon they'll destroy it completely." "Oh, that's all right," replied the aging lady, confidently. "Daddy will fix it when he comes back. He'd never forgive me if I sold his car while he was away." Charlie silently closed the barn door and left the car and faithful daughter. "I happened to know," he recalled, "that her father had been dead 15 years." The brothers at first were able to buy the old cars as junk. Now they pay from $100 to $500 up, depending on its condition, may spend $2,000 more restoring it. One of their best bargains was a fully restored 1909 model T which the Ford factory sold when new for $850. They paid $950 for it. "This is no way to get rich—it's purely a hobby," said Charles. "But on the other hand a restored antique car is like money in the bank. If you take care of it, its value won't deteriorate." Antique car collectors know no class lines. Other local hobbyists in this field include three Oak Ridge atomic scientists, two lawyers, schoolteachers, students, farmers and factory workers.

Around The Rim Things To Make Driving Safe

A recent Gallup Poll indicated most drivers are safety-conscious, and it's a good thing, naturally. But then, almost everyone is in favor of safe driving, just as most everyone is against sin. Even drivers who are safety-conscious while being interviewed sometimes make errors, often fatal. The Gallup report listed the drivers as being willing to accept drastic measures to cut down on the highway death toll, then listed the driving public's own suggestions, in order of frequency of mention. These are: 1. Stricter law enforcement. 2. Improvement of highways. 3. Lower horsepower in cars. 4. More severe punishment for offenders. 5. More patrolling of highways. 6. Reduce speed limits. 7. Better driver tests. 8. Better driver education. 9. Mandatory use of uniform driver signals in the various states. 10. Curtail teen-age drivers. But the public has some of its points backward: 1. Stricter enforcement is fine, but almost always it is aimed wholly at speed, not at the careless actions that cause accidents. Speed merely makes an accident worse, and is not in itself a cause. Stricter enforcement will avail little if it is aimed only at speeders, to the exclusion of careless drivers, such as slowpokes and those who make sudden turns without warning. 2. A cap on horsepower won't keep people from passing on hills and curves, and it will take away that extra reserve power needed to get out of the way when some idiot aims his car at you. 4. More severe punishment for offenders is okay, so long as careless drivers as well as speeders are caught and prosecuted. It is difficult but not impossible for patrolmen to catch drivers in the act of, for example, pulling onto the highway in front of oncoming traffic, whereas the catching of speeders with the help of radar, is a simple matter. Good drivers could help here, too, by noting license numbers of other drivers who pull maniacal tricks and giving the information to the highway patrol. 8. Reducing speed limits, as I have pointed out above, won't keep people from being careless. The speed limits as they now stand are designed as safe, provided people obey the rules of courteous and sane driving. Connecticut's speed limit anywhere in the state is 45 m.p.h., but their accident record is nothing to brag about. 10. There are always those who fuss at teen-agers, then drive out and play hooky with the traffic. Teen-agers who are taught how to drive in regular driver education courses are generally better drivers than their elders. I might make the suggestion that all offenders, instead of being fined, be made to take a full driver education course, and pay tuition for it. We're never too young to learn, and it's better to learn than to die. —BOB SMITH

Being Stricter On Driving Licenses

Just how dangerous does a driver have to prove himself to be in this country before the law decides to lift his license? This is surely a pertinent question as the nation totes up the fatalities in the annual Fourth of July highway massacre. Just a week ago a minor Hollywood actress with a record of arrests on drunk and hit-and-run charges was once more arrested on "suspicion" of drunken driving after flunking a police sobriety test in Los Angeles. In this instance, she was picked up after her careening car sped out of control, barely missed another automobile and then plowed through the plate glass front of a cafe where it felled the janitor and broke his leg. Why this woman with such a record on the highways was still permitted a license to drive a car, which in her hands could only be a deadly weapon, is something for the Los Angeles city and county police and California state authorities to explain. If the injured janitor sues all three for every cent in the city, county and state treasuries and collects, they'll have asked for it. One of the reasons the United States is distinguished by the world's most gruesome highway statistics is that a license to drive is regarded as an inalienable right, and not as a privilege. Drivers are fined, lectured and semi-occasionally jailed in the U.S.A., but the most effective punishment, suspension of the driver's license, is seldom invoked. Thousand of pious words are written and spoken annually about the fatal affinity of alcohol and gasoline, but nothing much is done about it. It is possible that we Americans are so hardened to slaughter and maiming by automobile that we are indifferent to one of the basic cruces, the suspension of a license on proof of drunken driving? The Scandinavian countries tackled this problem years ago with laws that sound harsh to American ears only because the Finns, Norwegians and Danes had the courage to make the punishment fit the crime. In these countries, a jail sentence is mandatory for driving a car after drinking more than one highball or two bottles of beer, coupled with loss of a driver's license for a year. In Finland the jail sentence for a first offender is three to six months and, in a flagrant case, a license can be rescinded for life. (One of Finland's favorite jokes is that her civilian airports are built by the scions of her first families. The law lets 'em work out their sentences on the runways, out of doors, out of trouble and out of cars.) In Norway and Denmark the first offender is judged for two to three weeks, plus loss of license for a year, if his blood count reveals more than the legal limit of alcohol, i.e., one highball or two bottles of beer. Indeed, the laws are so strict that if a would-be driver, awash with more than the legal libation, even slides behind a wheel and reaches for the ignition key, he is as guilty as if he had been caught driving at 80 miles an hour through a red light. Harsh laws? Well, death is harsh, too. And it is one woman's opinion that a would-be driver should be willing to take the pledge and swear off alcohol with a gasoline chaser. Marquis Childs Gruenther As A Possible Candidate?

WASHINGTON.—In his six months as head of the Red Cross, General Alfred M. Gruenther has traveled nearly 40,000 miles. He has made at least 300 speeches throughout the United States. He is now in Europe on a two-and-a-half-week tour of inspection of Red Cross services to the armed forces. Before audience after audience Gruenther has made the same impression of clear, precise, disciplined knowledge and ability that he has made again and again in talking to Congressional committees and NATO groups. Women, who carry on so much of the work of the Red Cross, are particularly impressed with Gruenther's air of calm confidence, his unflinching willingness to put himself out for the big and little chores. To say that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1960, using the Red Cross as a forum, would be both inaccurate and unfair. But to say that Gruenther would like to be President is, according to those who have followed his career through the years, close to the truth. Before World War II such an ambition by a professional-military man would have been unthinkable. But today there is a general in the White House who won a second term by carrying all but five states of the Union. Something like this happened in the aftermath of the Civil War when Ulysses S. Grant became President and, after him, a succession of men who, while they were not professional soldiers, had won their claim to national attention by the part they played in the four years of the War Between the States. A number of America's generals and admirals have taken positions at the top of industry and finance. General Lucius B. Clay, the President's close friend and adviser, is chairman of the board of the Continental Can Company. Admiral Alan Kirk, one of General Eisenhower's close wartime associates, is president and chairman of the board of the Mercant Corporation. The list is a long one. In the months before he resigned as supreme commander at SHAPE and retired from the military service at the age of 58, Gruenther had offers from industry that topped what most of his former associates were getting. They ran to $100,000 a year and above, with stock options, generous pension provisions and other perquisites. But Gruenther chose the Red Cross job at $30,000 a year with the recent addition of an official residence. There was speculation at the time as to why he had

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—St. Augustine High School, which had an all-male faculty for its all-male student body since it was founded 35 years ago, now has a woman teacher. Mrs. Ann Petlewski received the appointment just by being on the scene and available when the emergency arose. One of the instructors was transferred. Mrs. Petlewski was doing volunteer filing for the school. She was willing, she was qualified, and she was hired.

Dry Staggers

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—The mocking bird, official bird of "dry" Mississippi, staggered, sang an off-key tune, fluttered to a boat under a persimmon tree and then repeated the performance. John Fox, retired manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and a bird lover, was curious. His investigation showed several fermented persimmons floating in a couple of inches of water in the bottom of the boat.

Methodists Set Evangelistic Plan For 1958

DALLAS—Quay Farmer, Fort Worth, has been elected director of a state-wide evangelism campaign to be conducted by Texas Methodists in 1958.

His election took place at the first meeting of the campaign's steering committee in First Methodist Church, Dallas, this week. Goal of the campaign, which was approved at sessions of the six annual conferences in the Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston-San Antonio Areas, The Methodist Church, during their May and June sessions, is to reach every inactive Methodist and every unchurched person in the state and present them with the challenge of active participation in some local church.

Conferences taking part in the campaign are Northwest Texas, North Texas, Southwest Texas, Central Texas, Texas and the Rio Grande Conferences. Rio Grande Conference includes the Latin American Methodists.

Farmer has been serving as a full-time evangelist and is a member of the Central Texas Conference. He entered the evangelistic field after serving in the Army for five years during World War II. Eleven years in the field have taken him throughout Texas and into 18 other states. Most of his evangelistic preaching has been done in Texas and the Southwest, but he has conducted revivals as far east as West Virginia and as far west as Wyoming. He has averaged about 22 revivals a year. Bishop William C. Martin, Dallas, was named chairman of the steering committee, which will meet again on Sept. 18 at Lakeview Methodist assembly near Palestine. All Methodist district superintendents of the state are slated to meet with the committee at that time. Charles Chadwick of Fort Worth, was named secretary and Charles W. Williams of Beaumont, treasurer.

MOSES' FATHER-IN-LAW IS KIND AND HELPFUL

Scripture—Exodus 2:15b-22; 4:18-20; 18:1-27.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THIS LESSON deals with a little known, but very fine character, in the Old Testament, who was the father-in-law of the great Hebrew lawgiver, Moses.

Moses is 40 years old at the time our lesson begins. He has been brought up in Pharaoh's palace, enjoying many privileges, although he is a member of the then despised race of Hebrews. He loved his own people, however, and when he saw an Egyptian mistreat an Israelite, his anger was such that he killed the Egyptian. The Jews were treated as slaves in the building of Egypt's great temples and palaces.

When his deed became known to Pharaoh, Moses fled to Midian to save his life. Coming to a well, he sat down to rest. It happened that the seven daughters of the priest of Midian, Jethro, came to

RUPERT RICKER

Successful Businessman Works As Lay Preacher

A successful business and professional career already to his credit, a Big Spring man these days is at work on another enterprise. And this can take him out of town, any day, for any length of time, to make public appearances.

Rupert Ricker will be out speaking for the Lord. Educated in the law and operator of ranch and oil interests, Ricker in recent years has devoted more and more time as a lay speaker for the gospel. He calls it the "business gospel" and directs his efforts primarily to men. "I try to show them how to reconcile a busy life to Christianity," he says.

And his efforts are rewarded. At least, he is in demand as a speaker in many places. And he fills all the engagements he possibly can. "I've had an agreement with God," says Ricker. "That if he'll take care of my business, I'll try my humble best to help take care of his. It's working fine."

Right now, Ricker has pending speaking dates at such places as Tyler, Coonroe, Beaumont, Texas City and Houston. He'll be making a swing through South and East Texas before long to meet these engagements.

His tempo as a lay speaker has stepped up regularly in the past five years, when he set out in earnest to spread his business gospel. For five years he taught the Businessmen's Bible Class in downtown Big Spring, and this activity led him more and more into lay missionary talks. He speaks before church congregations, before church men's groups, such organizations as the Gideons. He will appear in a rural church on a remote ranch, or in a big sanctuary in a city. Just within recent years he has appeared in cities and communities that in-

WHY I BECAME A MINISTER Accepted Call To Preach Gospel

By Rev. WESLEY HUTCHINGS
"Woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel!"
These are the words of the apostle Paul and they express my own feelings in regard to the ministry. I did not choose the ministry as a vocation but was called of God to preach the gospel in the year 1933.

I had other plans for my life, but when I was converted I promised God I would do His will so when the call came I accepted — and God sent me out to lead men to Christ.

He also supplied the motivating power, "Love shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Spirit" (Rom. 5:5).

This love of Christ must find expression and so we persuade men to turn from their sinful ways and to accept Christ as their savior and lord.

The years I have spent in the ministry have been most rewarding. Not perhaps in a financial way, but in the knowledge that many precious souls, both young and old, have been changed by the power of God through the preaching of His word.

Rev. WESLEY R. HUTCHINGS
First Church Of God

That to me is the greatest of all rewards except that which will come when we have finished our course in this life and we hear Christ say, "Well done. Enter the place I have prepared for you."

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

He Leadeth Me

A Governor's son discovers a hymn he wrote

In the spring of 1865 a young minister took his seat on the pulpit of the Second Baptist Church at Rochester, N. Y. About to preach his trial sermon before a new congregation, he thumbed through a hymnal to select an impressive song. Over in the book his hand stopped. His eyes widened. Then he smiled. His wife must have played a prank on him. His thoughts went back to a night three years earlier.

It was March 26, 1862. The nation was in turmoil. The War-Between-the-States had swung into its tragic stride. Abraham Lincoln had not yet issued his Emancipation Proclamation and nobody knew what the bloodshed was all about — nor where the struggle might lead. Everywhere people were praying for Divine guidance. In Philadelphia the son of the Governor of New Hampshire made a talk before a group that had gathered at the First Baptist Church for prayer.

He leadeth me! O blessed tho'!
O words with heavenly comfort fraught!
Whate'er I do, Where'er I be,
Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me.

Sometimes 'mid scenes of deepest gloom,
Sometimes when Eden's bowers bloom,
By waters still, o'er troubled sea,
Still 'tis His hand that leadeth me.

Lord, I would clasp Thy hand in mine,
Nor e'er murmur nor repine,
Content, whate'er lot I see,
Since 'tis my God that leadeth me.

And when my task on earth is done,
When, by Thy grace, the victory's won,
E'en death's cold wave I will not flee,
Since God thro' Jordan leadeth me.

Wildcatter To Seek Devonian In Northern Martin County

Hudson Oil Company has announced a location for a Devonian wildcat in northern Martin County. It will be the No. 1 Bredlove, north and west of present Devonian production.

Drillstem tests on two Borden County explorations failed to return anything but drilling mud, and operations were continuing.

Borden
Lario Oil and Gas Company of Midland No. 1-C Collins, 662 from the south and 1.971 from the east lines of section 32-31-3n, T&P, six miles northeast of Luther, took a drillstem test from 6,379-6,515 with the tool open one hour. Recovery was 10 feet of mud with no shows of oil or gas. Operator resumed drilling and was at 6,533 in sand and shale.

Texas No. 1-E Clayton, 2,083 from the north and 613 from the west lines of section 44-32-4n, T&P, penetrated to 6,205 in lime and shale after taking a drillstem test from 6,110-6,205. Tool was open for two hours and recovery was 10 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Tidewater No. 1-B Clayton & Johnson, 660 from the south and 2,019 from the east lines of section 9-32-4n, T&P, continued swabbing but there were no reports. At last account, it was recovering 100 per cent salt water from the Canyon Reef.

Dawson
Cosden and Caraway No. 1 Lillie Wortham, 660 from the south and 412 from the east lines of section 2-3, Cunningham Survey, nine miles northwest of Lamesa, drilled below 4,150 in anhydrite and dolomite.

Humble No. 1 Britt, 660 from north and west lines of labor 18-3, Taylor CSL, 1 1/2 miles northwest of the East Mungerville pool, was installing pump to test yield from perforations from 7,396-7,410.

Glasscock
TXL Oil Corp. No. 1-B Glasscock, 660 from the east lines of section 3-32-4s, T&P, swabbed eight hours and recovered 5.5 barrels of oil and seven barrels of water from perforations at 9,614-52. Currently the test is shut in to release swabbing unit.

Martin
Pan-America No. 1 Ofutt, 660 from north and west labor 3-259, Borden CSL, was at 4,822 in lime. Texas No. 1 Hatchett, 1,650 north and 2,310 west of section 23-36-2n, T&P, was still waiting on cement to set on the 9 1/2 string at 4,330.

Hudson Oil Company No. 1 F. D. Bredlove will be located 660 from the south and west lines of tract 92, Leade 258, Briscoe CSL, for a 12,000-foot venture to test the Devonian. It is located a mile north and slightly west of the Bredlove Devonian field.

Mitchell
Ambassador No. 1 Wallace, 660 north and east of section 36-12, H&TC, a mile northwest of the depleted Silver Creek (Strawn) field southwest of Mitchell, was down to 6,443 in shale.

THUNDERBIRD FILM HERE

Most people in Big Spring are familiar with the Thunderbirds, that crack acrobatic flying team of the U. S. Air Force whose aerial shows rank at the top in dazzling thrills.

The Thunderbird team has performed here on several occasions, always evoking enthusiastic admiration from crowds.

The Thunderbirds' formation-flying exhibitions have been put on color film, and the resulting thrill show is a two-reeler now playing in theatres over the country. The Thunderbird exhibition film is one of the features at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre tonight and Saturday.

Three Youths Win Eagle Scout Award

Three youths qualified Thursday evening for the highest award for a Boy Scout—that of Eagle. They successfully passed the board of review, composed of the district advancement committee, at a barbecue affair held in the City Park.

Qualifying for the Eagle badges were Larry Moore and Lerman Bryant of Troop No. 9 and Randy Kattner of Troop No. 146.

All Scouters were guests of Maurice R. Koger, district chairman, for a wild game barbecue. Contributing meat along with Koger were George Thomas, Truman Jones, and Luke LeBlau. Those attending feasted on venison, elk and moose. Delegations

The general crop and weather conditions for the whole area may be summed up by saying: Cotton still doing all right; feed holding true for nine-tenths of the fields in nearly any of the surrounding counties, however tightland areas are feeling the dry weather most. Some of the deep sand can make it through July without more moisture.

Mitchell County crops may be growing in wetter fields than the ones in Howard. Farmers, but the biggest part is late, having been planted during the June 17-20 period.

It's making good growth, says County Agent Jack Burkhalter, and doesn't need much rain. The alfalfa crop is getting different pictures. Early feed is heading out and getting dry, Burkhalter says the feed yield will be decided soon. If the weather stays dry, there won't be much made.

East of Colorado City the early corn is burning up. E. Enyart, farming southeast of town, said cotton crops were doing fine, but his early corn which is now beginning to tassle won't make anything without a rain.

After the only wet irrigation wells were in operation, but farmers would soon be using them unless they get rain.

The jumbo grasshoppers are still making their three meals a day on the cotton. When the Colorado waker reaches spawley level, the water backs up within a few yards of Gressett's house.

He said the community had lost a lot of people. To the west there is a 10-mile stretch that doesn't have a cow or hardly a person. It is almost a no man's land, except for the birds and wild animals.

Right now Gressett is taking things easy. He draws a pension from World War I, and drives a school bus for the Westbrook School where his wife teaches. This summer he has organized a ball team among the smaller boys and is busy handling them.

Gressett was quite a ball player in his day. He played three seasons from 1924 through 1926 for Rochester in the International League, a fine professional ball some time longer.

"I've chased around and done a lot of things," he said, "but always had a hankering to come back. It was on this farm that I spent my younger days, so now I'd like to live out my older ones on the same spot."

As I drove off, Gressett was sitting barefooted on the porch, completely relaxed and at peace with the world. The trees whispered to the south wind, and high on a top limb a mocking bird was singing a tune that sounded like "Home Sweet Home."

A right peaceful scene. Wouldn't mind having such a place and a little pension of my own.

Khrushchev Urges East-West 'Marriage Of Convenience'

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev last night proposed a marriage of convenience between the Communist and capitalist worlds to avert war.

He also claimed Yugoslavia as a loyal member of the Socialist (Communist) camp.

The stocky Soviet Communist party chief put forward his suggestion of marriage without love in the glittering ballrooms of Prague's 14th century Hradany (pronounced Rud-Chunny) Castle, once the home of Bohemia's kings.

Turning to the envoys of capitalist countries attending the reception given by Czech President Antonin Zapotocky for the Kremlin leaders, Khrushchev said capitalists do not like the Communist system "but I like it."

"But there are many cases," Khrushchev continued, "of people not in love getting married. They get along very well without love but with understanding."

"Let's try it. Let us compete and see who is better, but let us do it peacefully."

Still aiming his words at the Western diplomats among the more than 1,000 guests, Khrushchev said: "I know you don't like our system but we were not born with church bells ringing but with the sound of gunshots. Let us stop considering each other as enemies and try and get on. I believe there is no other way."

Khrushchev boasted that Soviet relations with this Communist nation are so good they cannot be improved upon.

"But we want improved relations with other countries—with the United States," he said. "The United States is a strong and big country. We also think that we are not a small, weak country. I think we can be considered equals."

He said the Soviet Union wanted an end to the arms race because "with modern developments of arms this race could become catastrophic."

"Either we fight for peace or we have war," he said. "We must mobilize all our efforts and all nations for peace."

Later he appealed for complete unity of all Communist countries, saying: "I know Yugoslavia doesn't like the word camp. They prefer something like community. But Yugoslavia is a Socialist state. Are there no socialisms or ones?"

That question has been raised on several occasions.

"We want to strengthen the Socialist camp, not in any aggressive way but to defend peace. We came here for that reason."

Khrushchev took time to praise Czech Premier Vilem Slomky, whom he had ignored in earlier speeches on his Czech tour while lavishing praise on President Zapotocky and Czech Communist boss Antonin Novotny.

He also told a Polish correspondent: "Our relations with Poland are very good now. We had that episode (last October's demand by the Poles for greater independence) but it was like a pimple on your face. It disappeared completely and left no trace."

Soviet press chief L. F. Ilyichev told correspondents at the reception ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov, three of the four Kremlin leaders ousted by Khrushchev last month, "won't be unemployed." He declined to say what jobs they would be given.

Moscow radio, in an announcement beamed overseas, has said the other purged leader, ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov, would become manager of a power station in East Kazakhstan.

In Moscow, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said the ousted Kremlin leaders would be employed by the Soviet government "according to their professional abilities."

The statement was taken as confirming reports that the four will not be put in jail.

Traffic Mishap Is Cause Of Suit

Two suits for damages aggregating $142,350 have been filed in 118th District Court against M. G. Gist and the Cage Construction Company as result of a motor car accident on May 5 which took the life of a Howard County woman.

Homer Robison, husband of Ella Robison, seeks $135,750 damages for the loss of his wife and for the injuries which he received. Floyd Statham and Eva Marie Statham ask $6,600 in their petition. Eva Marie was a passenger in the Robison car at the time of the accident.

Robison alleges that he was traveling toward Big Spring at 8:30 p.m. and at the point on U.S. Highway 80 west near the Sahara Drive-In he was forced to change the lane of traffic because of a car accident. The Cage Construction Company had erected on the road.

The company is engaged in road building operations on U. S. Highway 80.

Gist, Robison alleges, was traveling in the opposite direction and crashed with the car. Mrs. Robison was instantly killed. Robison said he was gravely injured. The Statham girl suffered a broken pelvis and other injuries.

Webster said the police station to report the incident last night. He said he had been having trouble with Green and another youth, and asked officers to help them settle their differences.

Police said they investigated, found Green in Big Spring Hospital with minor wounds, and talked with the trio. It was agreed no complaint would be filed.

APPEAL PLANNED Six-Month Term, $750 Fine Levied

Pete Vasquez was found guilty of driving while intoxicated, second offense, by a jury in 118th District Court at 4 p.m. Thursday. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $750 and six months imprisonment in the Howard County jail.

Vasquez's attorney immediately filed a motion for a new trial. The jury deliberated for several hours before returning its verdict. Vasquez was the last defendant to be tried in the court at the current criminal docket. Next criminal court session will be the fourth week in August.

Two other cases docketed for trial at this week's docket were stricken when George Thomas, attorney representing both defendants, notified the court he could not be present.

Three cases were tried during the week. In each case, the defendant was found guilty. Floyd Sherman drew a five-year penitentiary term on conviction of burglary; Pablo Flores was found guilty of car theft, under a habitual offender indictment, and was given life imprisonment. Vasquez was assessed $750 and six months in jail.

There were also five pleas of guilty heard by Judge Sullivan this week. Rubin Smith pleaded guilty to DWI second offense and was fined $250 and given a year's probation sentence; Amando Gonzalez pleaded guilty to DWI second offense. Indictment which was reduced to a misdemeanor. He was fined $75 and sentenced to three days in jail. Donnie McClary, charged with car theft, drew a five-year probation sentence. Laurie Anderson, charged with burglary, was given a three-year suspended sentence.

Nick Trapatsas, director of the pair of one-act plays, announced the completed cast following readings Thursday night. George Clark is cast as Alexis Alexandrovich, governor of a Russia state, in Goodman's "The Game of Chess." Robert Corn holds the supporting role of Boris Sharmayeff and John Lawrence is cast as Constantine.

In Lucille Fletcher's "Sorry, Wrong Number," Miss Billie Freeman is cast as a neurotic invalid, Mrs. Stevenson, who relies solely on her phone for contact with the outside world. Reaching Mrs. Stevenson via her phone and weaving a tale of intrigue and terror, the operator, played by Betty Cain; chief operator, played by Joyce Lankford; hospital receptionist by Jo Ann Watkins; telegraph messenger by George Kozachuk; and Sgt. Duffy by Charles Panagakis. Donald Raab is in charge of sound effects.

Sgt. Robert Martinez will establish the mood for "Sorry, Wrong Number" with an original score which he worked out on his guitar particularly for this production.

BOULDER, Colo. — T-Sgt. Fred D. Green of 9th and Nolan, Big Spring, is attending the Driver Education Workshop at the University of Colorado. Green is a ground safety technician at Laughlin AFB, Del Rio. With him in Boulder are his wife, Mary, and daughter, Peggy.

The annual workshop is sponsored by the university's Bureau of Class Instruction, in cooperation with the American Automobile Assn., the Rocky Mountain AA and the Colorado State Department of Education.

Its purpose is to train high school teachers and others interested to conduct classes in driver training for high school students. About 30 teachers are attending the two-week course, which is divided into "basic" and "advanced" sections.

Screams Fail To Save Rape Victim

HOUSTON (AP)—A slender young mother, eager to see the baby daughter from whom she had been separated for a month, was raped by a Negro early today, within 200 yards of where the child lay sleeping.

Her screams failed to rouse friends with whom she had left her daughter.

Officers quickly arrested a Negro, 33, identified by the victim as her assailant.

The sobbing, brown-haired woman, 26, told police:

She said she has been in Richmond, Va., for a month, on vacation with her husband, who works there, and returned at 1 a.m.

She had left her baby with friends, and she said she could not wait to see the child. She picked up her car and started to her friends' home.

En route, she said, a car with "flashing lights," which she thought a police car, pulled alongside her and forced her to stop. She said a Negro got out with a gun. When she saw the man was a Negro, she took off.

She said the Negro followed, sideswiped her car and forced it into a ditch. The Negro approached her again with a gun, and when she started screaming, pulled her from her car.

After tussling, she said, the Negro finally put her in his car, leading to her friends' home and raped her. After the attack, she ran to the home of her friends and called officers.

A posse of over 20 found the car, and arrested the suspect and four other men as they emerged from the Negro's home. The victim's mother-in-law tried to strike the Negro as he was brought to the sheriff's office.

Uncle Ray: Journey To Venus Might Take Month

By RAMON COFFMAN
One reason why astronomy has become more popular than ever during the past several years is this: Vast numbers of people have become interested in space travel. Among the many questions about that subject is this one from Susan Gordon:

"Could you please tell whether it is possible for people on the earth to reach Venus or Mars?" There is an easy answer to that question—"Not at present!" As to the future, the story may be different. Amazing steps probably will be taken to promote space travel during coming years.

When Venus is about 40 million miles from earth, it looks like a thin crescent. At 160 million miles it looks round.

planet Mars. It should be easier to reach Venus than Mars.

Probably the first object reached will be the moon. Those who first go to, or near, the moon in a rocket may speed around it without trying to land.

Q. How long would it take to go to Venus by rocket?

A. If our rocket moved at an average speed of 10 miles a second, and if we followed a direct line on a 27-million mile trip, we could get there in 31 days and six hours. If we spent 12 hours looking at the surface of Venus, then returned to the earth, the entire trip would take nine weeks.

Q. How long would it take for a rocket to reach Mars?

A. At the same speed the rocket could reach Mars in 42 days. Allowing a day to look around, the round trip to Mars would take 12 weeks and one day.

For SCIENCE section of your scrapbook.

AUSTIN (AP)—An angry woman appeared at City Court to deny a speeding charge made by the police officer who issued her a ticket.

A court official almost was convinced an error was made in clocking her car at 40 miles per hour in a 30-mile per hour zone.

Crane Symbol Of Postwar Germany
By WARREN ROGERS JR.
COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—The building crane has become the symbol of postwar Germany.

Wherever you go in West Germany, the building crane is never far from sight.

It is the symbol of the digging out of destruction. It tides and removes mountains of rubble, helps erect schools and hotels and apartment houses and parking lots and even American-type skyscrapers.

The skyscrapers themselves are a symbol, perhaps, of German faith and hope that the bombs will never fall again.

They tell a story in Frankfurt about the man who came back after the war to his once lucrative hotel, the Savoy, just near the railroad depot.

He found only a heap of rubble. He gathered together what scrap there was and, with his own hands, he built a one-room apartment and rented it out. With the money and his hands again he built another room and rented it out. And so on.

When the currency reform and American dollar aid came in 1949, the bankers were happy to lend money to so good a risk. He rebuilt the Savoy and it thrives.

Few cities in Germany were so thoroughly pulverized as Cologne. Even its gorgeous cathedral, deliberately spared, suffered 40 per cent destruction. The city itself was 70 per cent destroyed.

This reporter, in Germany on a tour of North Atlantic Treaty country newspapermen, extended his stay to talk here with the re-builder.

Eduard Pecks, a courteous and precise man, is in charge. One of his top aides is an English-speaking redhead, Kurt Jatho, an engineer who does the planning for the heart of Cologne. Altogether, Pecks has about 50 persons on his staff.

These are the startling statistics they produced 12 years after the war's end:

Pre-war population of 768,953 reduced to 40,000 in March 1945 and today standing at 732,729 — a 95 per cent recovery.

Pre-war dwellings of 2,534,000 reduced to 630,000 and now at 1,893,000—a 75 per cent comeback.

Sons Follow In Paths Of Truck Drivers

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—It looks as if the truck driver is going the way of the old river pilot, where a son naturally followed in his father's footsteps.

Ernest Roedel of New Franklin, Mo., named No. 1 among the nation's six million drivers, is seeing the sights here today. He has been a driver all his life, so has his father, Herman, and in all that plying down the highway neither ever has had an accident.

"My father started out with an old 'Hug' dump truck," Roedel said, "and worked for construction company. Now he drives for the same company I do, only I got him beat on seniority. I went to work in August, 1950, and he went to work in September, 1950."

How come they both have avoided bumping and getting bumped?

"It's no accident," Roedel said. "You see, most people don't think far enough ahead when they drive. You got to look far ahead, and keep figuring on what might happen and what you could do."

A case in point is a dramatic rescue in which he was involved.

On Sept. 5 of last year he was heading home on Highway 40. About 10 miles east of Boonville, Mo., he noticed an old pickup truck coming toward him, and a station wagon veer out to pass.

When the driver of the station wagon saw he couldn't get around in time, he pulled sharply back. The car went out of control, and plunged down a 75-foot embankment.

Roedel pulled to one side, jumped out, flagged down a bread truck driver, told him to call an ambulance, and ran down the embankment.

Lt. John Van Horn of the Coast Guard had been killed instantly. Mrs. Van Horn was so badly injured that she would die before she could be taken to the hospital, but Roedel managed to grab 2-year-old Rebecca and 3-month-old Nanette out of a drainage ditch in time to save them from drowning.

"The baby had on rubber pants," Roedel said, "and they acted like a life preserver."

Roedel rendered first aid, saw to it the kids got to the hospital and later visited them after they had been adopted by relatives in Ottawa, Kan.

But the point is the accident could have been prevented.

He says truckers stand ready to help any motorist in distress.

"Only the other day I came on a woman in shorts who was stuck in the mud flats. I didn't bother to stop myself. With a grin he explained why. 'She had six trucks stopped there already.'"

Crane Symbol Of Postwar Germany

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—The building crane has become the symbol of postwar Germany.

Wherever you go in West Germany, the building crane is never far from sight.

It is the symbol of the digging out of destruction. It tides and removes mountains of rubble, helps erect schools and hotels and apartment houses and parking lots and even American-type skyscrapers.

The skyscrapers themselves are a symbol, perhaps, of German faith and hope that the bombs will never fall again.

They tell a story in Frankfurt about the man who came back after the war to his once lucrative hotel, the Savoy, just near the railroad depot.

He found only a heap of rubble. He gathered together what scrap there was and, with his own hands, he built a one-room apartment and rented it out. With the money and his hands again he built another room and rented it out. And so on.

When the currency reform and American dollar aid came in 1949, the bankers were happy to lend money to so good a risk. He rebuilt the Savoy and it thrives.

Few cities in Germany were so thoroughly pulverized as Cologne. Even its gorgeous cathedral, deliberately spared, suffered 40 per cent destruction. The city itself was 70 per cent destroyed.

This reporter, in Germany on a tour of North Atlantic Treaty country newspapermen, extended his stay to talk here with the re-builder.

Eduard Pecks, a courteous and precise man, is in charge. One of his top aides is an English-speaking redhead, Kurt Jatho, an engineer who does the planning for the heart of Cologne. Altogether, Pecks has about 50 persons on his staff.

These are the startling statistics they produced 12 years after the war's end:

Pre-war population of 768,953 reduced to 40,000 in March 1945 and today standing at 732,729 — a 95 per cent recovery.

Pre-war dwellings of 2,534,000 reduced to 630,000 and now at 1,893,000—a 75 per cent comeback.

They're saying some unkind words in referring to the upcoming fight between Floyd Patterson and Pete Rademacher, but I don't know. True, Rademacher isn't very well known and this will be his very first professional fight. But who is Patterson? A fellow who got himself declared champion of the world after Rocky Marciano had gone into retirement.

Rademacher duplicated Patterson's record by winning the Olympic championship. Outside of that feat, there's very little to distinguish the record of either one.

Patterson knocked Archie Moore side saddle in what was billed as a title fight but who accepted it? They were still chourusing "say it ain't so" to Marciano at the time.

Patterson may, in time, justify his rating as the World's No. 1 heavyweight. Right now, his record is only a little more imposing than that of Rademacher's, his championship claims notwithstanding.

Detroit sports writers are now saying that the hopes of the town's lions in the National Football League this fall will again depend heavily upon the arms and legs of one Bobby Layne, who homesteaded in Lubbock, Texas.

That's an old story. Doak Walker once stated that he believed Layne would play football until the old rocking chair got him and I'm about to believe that. It seems a lifetime since he performed for the University of Texas.

Layne says his alling shoulder has fully recovered and that he expects to match his 1956 record, when he led the NFL in scoring with 99 points and finished third in forward passing, completing nearly a third of his tosses with a total of 1,969 yards.

Bob has inked a two-year pact, which, of course, means he fully expects to play through 1958.

Sam Baugh played pro ball for 16 seasons. If memory serves me correctly, Layne may be intent on breaking Sam's record for longevity.

Young Bill Darrow of Our Town may enroll in Mort Cooper's baseball school at Kerrville, which starts in Kerrville later this month.

Bill jumped from small-fry baseball to Soap Box Derby racing back to baseball recently without breaking stride. His Soap Box entry came close to beating the ultimate champion, Blake Talbot.

Remember Joe Riney, who played first base on the ill-fated Big Spring baseball club back in 1937?

He had a great season for Lewiston, Idaho, in the Class B Northwest entry last year. Hit .317 and blasted 28 home runs while driving in 125 runs.

Dallas (Moose) Wornack, who used to do his first basing for Odessa in the Longhorn League, hit at a .313 clip for Bakersfield in the Class C California League in 1956.

Another Longhorn ex, Raul Dieppa, did even better for Modesto of the same circuit. The agile infielder from Cuba, who wore the colors of both Odessa and Carlsbad when active on this way, hit .326 in 1956.

A group of college kids have formed a baseball team here known as the Searchers and are ready to take on all comers.

They hope to line themselves up a sponsor and play a full schedule by 1958. If all goes well, they plan to bring in some of the better Southwest Conference boys next year.

David Reed, who plans to be a candidate for the Baylor team in '58, is one of the principals. Another is LeRoy LeFevre, who hopes to perform for Texas A&M.

BRONTE DEFEATED

Coahoma To Enter State Tournament

COAHOMA, (SC) — The Coahoma women's softball team will take part in the state women's ASA tournament, which will be held in Ballinger July 18-20.

Galveston will defend its championship in the eight-team, double-elimination tournament. Four games will be played Thursday, July 18, with the first to begin at 6 p.m. Finals begin at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, July 20.

The winner will be given a trip to the regional ASA tournament at San Antonio Aug. 14-17.

In addition to Coahoma and Galveston, Sweetwater will send two teams to the state meet. Bronte Childress, Lake Jackson and Midland will also be represented.

The home of the Ballinger professional baseball field will be used for the tournament.

Coahoma ran its record to seven wins in 12 starts by bowing over Bronte in Bronte Thursday night, 5-0, behind the four-pitching of Gwen Rogers. Gwen fanned four and walked only two.

Coahoma managed five blows off Johnnie Eubanks. Pauline Dodson got three of them, all singles. Gwen Rogers had a double and Helen Witt a triple. The visitors also benefited from four walks.

Dumpy Lendermon reached base on an error for Coahoma in the first and eventually stole home.

In the fifth, Lendermon again climbed aboard on a fielder's choice. Ethel Trotter walked. Rogers doubled home a run. Witt tripled to plate two more, then came home on Dodson's hit.

Ransom Tied For Top Spot

KITCHENER, Ont. (AP) — The American professionals are dominating the 48th Canadian Open Golf Tournament, just as they have for years.

Going in today's third round of the $25,000 test, Doug Ford, Fred Hawkins and Henry Ransom held a one-stroke advantage over the field.

The three Americans had two holes to go in just three Canadian rounds among the 21 professionals in the fight for the $3,500 top day total of 136, six strokes under prize. Only one Canadian — Pat Fletcher of Montreal — has been able to win Canada's top tournament since 1914.

The brisk wind that blew dozens of first-round scores into the high 70s and 80s diminished yesterday and 39 players overcame par. Only 16 were able to do the trick the first day at Westmount's 6,544-yard par 35-36-71 course.

Battling to overcome the third round blizzard that cost him the Canadian National title last year is young Guy Brewer Jr. of Cincinnati, who equaled the Westmount course record yesterday with a 65. He had a first round 72 and was bunched with four others at 137, one stroke behind the leaders.

BILLS DUE? PAY 'EM! with $580 CASH from S.I.C.

How in the name of common sense do we get into these jams? Owing people all over town - sure, we know all about it. Not a soul who works at S.I.C. who hasn't been in the same jam. But man, how we do help folks OUT of that jam! LOOK: It's $27.94 a lot of money? Well, $27.94 a month is what it takes to repay that $580 S.I.C. loan (24 months). Subject to usual credit regulations, naturally. But think how much better your credit over town will be, with those bills PAID! Come in on today and - S.I.C. LOANS

Malenkov's Exile Is Propaganda Bid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev is trying to persuade the people of Russia that the day of the Stalinist blood purge is ended.

That is the significance attached here to the astonishing exile from Moscow ordered for former Premier Georgi Malenkov after his removal from political power.

Ever since the July 3 announcement of the big political purge of Khrushchev's enemies, U.S. officials have been waiting eagerly to find out what the ultimate fate of the purge victims would be.

Moscow radio gave the first of what may be a series of answers Tuesday night with the announcement that Malenkov has been appointed manager of a hydroelectric power station in East Kazakhstan.

This is a terrific comedown for a man who personally served dictator Joseph Stalin at the height of his power and who himself was premier for a time after Stalin's death.

Yet against the background of the decades of terror which characterized Stalin's rule—years in which removal from office was the equivalent of a death sentence—Malenkov's fate falls far short of what it might have been.

The Soviet announcement seemed designed to point that up, saying that Malenkov and others ousted from top posts were not being persecuted, were given "every opportunity" to express their views and were removed in "the most democratic (way) possible."

What seems to be significant about the Khrushchev group's decision on Malenkov's future is that he is being given another job, however unimportant, and he is not being executed.

The experts relate this to the general line of Khrushchev's policy, which seems to require a belief on the part of the Soviet people generally that the penalty for error in the Soviet Union will no longer be excessive—that failure will not mean death.

Such a belief is considered especially important on the part of the thousands of lower level leaders, industrial managers and technicians.

This is regarded as tremendously important to Khrushchev's whole effort to inspire the country to new peaks of industrial and agricultural production by means which call essentially for voluntary rather than for forced labor.

Most officials here think that if Khrushchev can make his methods work he may in the long run prove to be a very formidable foe for the free nations to deal with.

However, it is doubtful whether he can alter the basic conditions of the political system within which he must work. As the latest top-level shakeup has shown, this system lacks flexibility for fundamental differences over policy and personality issues.

Falling Jet Plane Misses Buildings

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Luck was with the residents of a heavily populated district of this suburb of Los Angeles when a pilotless Navy jet bomber came streaking out of the skies.

Skimming trees and apartment buildings in a long, perilous arc, the A4D Skyhawk plunged to earth in the only open space for miles around—a vacant lot 50 feet square surrounded by multiunit dwellings.

Shortly after the single-engine attack bomber crashed and exploded yesterday, its badly injured pilot came floating down in a parachute a few miles away.

"The theory is that in 10,000 years everybody will be bald. Aren't you proud to be so far ahead of your time, Dad?"

THAT'S NO PUN, SON Bosom Business Nears A Bust-Up

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Hollywood's longtime worship of the bosom is showing signs of a bust-up. And that's no pun.

One studio, topper sums it up this way: "Like every other cycle in this town, this one's on the way out. . . . Sex appeal always has come from concealing, not revealing."

Oscar-winning designer Edith Head, whose job keeps her in touch with such trends of dress and undress, comments: "Hollywood has too long been serving bosom on the half-shell. Even the men are tiring of it."

Miss Head and the Paramount publicity department recently were asked by producer Hal Wallis to come up with a new way to exploit French ballerina Liliane Montevecchi, who co-stars with Jerry Lewis in "Sad Sack."

Two years ago, the amply endowed Miss Montevecchi would have been given the cleavage buildup.

However, Miss Head designed a costume that features a dress slit on the side.

Since Miss Montevecchi does some strenuous dancing in "Sad Sack," Miss Head said the costume, which features as much of the actress' leg as the censors will allow, took more engineering skill than designing.

"The problems of stress and strain were basically the same as those used in building the Golden Gate Bridge," the designer quips.

James Cagney, making his debut as a director in "Short Cut To Hell," had to fill a role that would have cried — two years ago — for Anita Ekberg or a Mansfield. Instead, Cagney chose Yvette Vickers, a tiny dancer.

Cagney said Yvette got the nod over the buxom blondes because she knew how to put sex appeal into her walk. She used no cleavage — she just walked.

At the first preview of the movie, the censors ordered a good chunk of her role deleted. It was just too sexy.

Lamesa Is Planning New Fire Station

LAMESA — Plans for the new fire station here have been completed by Allen and Allen, architects commissioned to design the new structure.

Carroll Taylor, city manager, said Thursday that plans will be submitted to the council at the regular meeting on July 18. The council has not definitely chosen a site for the new structure, although it has been considering a site offered by the schools on North 15th Street.

The station will include a 40 by 30 feet truck garage and living quarters measuring 50 by 21 feet. It is to be one story in height and built of brick veneer over concrete tile.

Thompson Quits His Guard Post

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gen. Ernest Thompson resigned today as commander of the Texas National Guard.

Thompson, 65 last March 24, gave age as the reason. "My long service with the Guard has been a source of great pleasure and pride in the officers, non-commissioned officers and enlisted men who make up this fine national security organization," said Thompson, a railroad commissioner, in a letter to Gov. Price Daniel.

Daniel accepted the resignation, expressing "sincere thanks and deep appreciation for the long and distinguished service you have rendered. Your record both in war and peace as a citizen, soldier and official has brought great credit to Texas and will be remembered always by a grateful people."

By special order of the state adjutant general, Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the 36th Division review at North Ft. Hood Saturday will be in Thompson's honor. Thompson will review the division along with Daniel and Berry.

Thompson has been a member of the Railroad Commission 25 years and is an authority on oil and gas conservation.
