Miss U.S.A.'s Wed; Pageant's In Uproar

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The stately, stunning Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest was disqualified today for being married.

The Maryland girl who gave her name as Miss Leona Gage but actually is the wife of an airman and mother of two sons, will be stripped of her title and prizes worth thousands.

Heir to the crown as fairest in the land is beautiful Miss Utah, runnerup in the Miss United States finals last Wednesday night. However, Charlotte Sheffield, 20, of Salt Lake City, can't be among the 15 finalists in Miss Universe judging tonight.

Contest officials said this is because she did not compete against 32 foreign beauties in the preliminaries last night, and thus could not be compared with them in official judging.

Leona was one of the 15 to enter the finals. Her place will be taken by the girl who was 16th. Officials were meeting this morning to determine which girl that is.

Leona denied tearfully last night and again this morning that she was married—even in the face of reports from relatives and friends that she was. Finally, this morning, she broke down and sobbed out the story to contest officials. Then she went into seclusion.

This is the first year contest rules have required that entrants be single.

Leona, who gave her age as 21, actually is 18. She was married in Wichita Falls, Tex., Feb. 3, 1954, to Gene Norris Ennis, 28, Air Force sergeant now stationed at Friendship International airport at Baltimore. They have two children, David Nathan, 2, and Gene Jr., 3.

Her winnings would have included a $1,000 wardrobe, an $1,100 trailer, a $2,000 contract with a cosmetics firm and a trip to Europe.

Miss Utah inherits all these, with the possible exception of the wardrobe, which Leona already has picked up.

"We don't know what to do about that," a contest official said.

Another official added: "She's young and pretty and once she got into this thing, one thing just led to another."

Oscar Meinhardt, director of the international beauty pageant, said:

"She swore to us that she is not married and her sponsor insisted she is single."

LEFT CHILDREN

Mrs. Clarence Long of Cristfield, Md., Leona's mother-in-law, told newsmen that the girl came to her three weeks ago with the children and said she was going to try for the contest.

Mrs. Long kept the oldest child and the other was turned over to a family on a farm near Baltimore. Mrs. Long said Leona told her contest officials she was married.

After winning her title, Leona told a story of rags to riches path to the contest. She said she and a cousin with whom she lived near Baltimore pooled $45 in savings to buy a dress to enter the Maryland contest. After winning that, she and the two of them split her round trip ticket and came here together, with practically no money.

She won the title in a dress borrowed from a Long Beach merchant and said afterward she had but $2 in cash.

A girl who gave her name to newsmen Wednesday night as Barbara Gage said she was Leona's cousin and told part of the rags to riches saga. She could not be located today and officials expressed doubt she is related to Leona.

Confirmation of the marriage came from the Air Force and Leona's mother, Mrs. Walter Biggs of Dallas, Tex.

SCENE OF CONFUSION

Last night there was a scene of confusion after the rumors started flying.

The reports caused a backstage uproar unparalleled in the history of the contest. Newsmen, photographers and television cameramen closed in on the dark-haired Glen Burnie girl the moment last night's pageant—the selection of 15 semifinalists—drew to a close.

"I have never been married, absolutely not," she said. "I can't understand how such a rumor ever got started."

The rumor originated in an anonymous tip to a Baltimore paper, even naming as her husband a G. N. Ennis of Manhattan Beach, Md.

In Manhattan Beach, Md., newsmen phoned Ennis. "I am not married to Leona Gage," he said. "I wish her all the luck in the world."

A Los Angeles reporter, just before tonight's pageant and judging began, asked Miss Gage about the rumor and she exclaimed: "Absolutely not! Who would say such a horrible thing?"

She burst into tears and had to retire to a dressing room to repair her makeup before going on stage.

Whether the evidence is sufficient to prove guilt, Taylor said, is not for his decision. That is in the hands of the all-white jury. But he held that the evidence does exist.

Defense Ends Its Case In Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—In a dramatic legal maneuver, Southern attorneys abruptly ended their case today in the trial of 11 segregationists who sought to keep Negro students out of Clinton High School last fall.

They then renewed motions for a judgment of acquittal.

U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor overruled the motions again today. Following summation arguments by both sides, the landmark civil rights case will go to the all-white jury.

Attorneys said after a huddle with Taylor that both sides will argue the case Monday and the judge will charge the jury on Tuesday. Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis is chief defense counsel, and U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. heads the prosecution.

Each side will be allowed four hours.

The court adjourned at 11:33 a. m., until Monday with Taylor giving the jury a final, solemn warning not to discuss the case, listen to radio or TV programs which might refer to the case or read newspapers.

The swift maneuver came after a conference of defense attorneys that lasted more than an hour.

The only defense witnesses today were Ted White, a Clinton fireman, and Guy M. Jones, foreman in a knitting mill at Clinton.

White's testimony was that the restraining order, prohibiting interference with integration of Clinton High School, was not fully read by U. S. Marshal Frank Quarles.

Jones testified that everything was quiet around the high school prior to Dec. 4. That was the day when the Rev. Paul Turner escorted six Negro students to school and was beaten immediately afterward.

Crawford, however, brought out the fact that Jones began work every day at 7 a. m. Jones said he was on vacation Dec. 4, a Tuesday.

Government witnesses have described mounting tension in the week before Dec. 4. They said four defendants regularly stationed themselves near the school.

Jones said, however, that he "made it a point to know what was going on at the school."

The defense battery professed not to be disappointed over having lost their hard-hitting plea for a directed verdict to acquit the 10 men and one woman.

After hearing hours of argument from both sides, Taylor made a long analysis of the case. At the end of it, he said gravely, "I am constrained to overrule the defense motion."

He said evidence exists to support the major sections of the government's accusations—that the 11 knowingly, and with common purpose, acted to circumvent a federal order to integrate Clinton High School last fall, and that "overt acts" followed.

Whether the evidence is sufficient to prove guilt, Taylor said, is not for his decision. That is in the hands of the all-white jury. But he held that the evidence does exist.

Liberace's Mom Brutally Beaten

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The mother of Liberace was brutally beaten and kicked by two hooded men who attacked her last night in the garage of the Liberace home in nearby Sherman Oaks.

Police said that Mrs. Frances Liberace, 65, went on an errand into the garage adjoining the home she shares with her pianist son. She tried to return to the house when she saw two men in the garage.

Mrs. Liberace said they pushed her to the floor and began kicking her.

"Hit her again, we'll have something to laugh about," she quoted one of the men as saying.

After they left she crawled into the house and telephoned a friend before she lost consciousness.

A physician treated her for multiple bruises and a possible back injury.

Liberace was not home when the attack occurred.

Police said there was no apparent motive for the attack.

First Aerial Atom Rocket Exploded

New Defense Weapon Under Air Force Test

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The first air to air atomic rocket fired from a plane burst over the desert today with a flash that paled the morning sun.

The Air Defense Command's newest and most powerful weapon exploded at 7 a. m.

The vivid fireball flared in the target area at an altitude of more than 15,000 feet and sent up a pink doughnut-shaped cloud.

The nuclear rocket was launched from a Northrop P89 Scorpion jet fighter.

As the rocket's cloud rose in stately fashion into clear blue sky, the vapor trail of an airplane, probably the launcher, cut sharply away to the north.

The cloud assumed somewhat the shape of the usual atomic mushroom, but the crown quickly separated from the filmy stem and floated regally with a creamy white foam expanding from the pink center.

The burst was more than 13 miles from News Nob where observers were stationed.

The launching plane was the leader in a formation of three Scorpion jets. The rocket was the Genie, manufactured by Douglas Aircraft Co.

Power of the weapon was announced only as "well below nominal." A nominal bomb is rated as the energy equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT. From the size of the fireball and the noise of the explosion it seemed likely that it was far down in the range of kilotons.

Col. J. H. Atkinson, commander of the Defense Command, disclosed before the test that air to air rockets with atomic warheads already are in the inventory of his force. The weapons are designed to knock down invading bombers.

Col. Atkinson said defense command planes do not carry these weapons but they could be put into use in a matter of minutes.

The program to develop the nuclear air to air rocket has been in progress since 1949 and many tests have been run on the atomic device and the rocket. Today, however, was the first time one has been launched from a plane at a stated target.

The target in this test was a pre-designated point in space, the exact latitude and distance from the launching plane of which were not disclosed.

Within 10 minutes after the detonation the cloud was only a faint misty smudge in the sky over the hazy blue mountains rimming Yucca Flat.

When the rocket exploded, five defense command officers were on the ground directly beneath it to study blast and flash effects. They had no protection, and were not expected to need any.

The officers are Lt. Col. Frank Ball of Washington, D. C., Col. Sydney Bruce of Durango, Colo., Maj. Norman Bodinger of Ridgefield, N. J., Maj. William Hughes of McKeesport, Pa., and Maj. Donald A. Luttrell of Justin, Tex.

$1.6 Billions In Surplus Reported In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—A surplus of $1,645,000,000 was recorded by the federal government for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The Treasury and the Budget Bureau reported the amount today.

The balance for fiscal 1957 was the second successive black-ink showing. A third balanced budget recommended by President Eisenhower now is pending before Congress.

The statement issued by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Director Percival Brundage of the Budget Bureau showed federal receipts of $70,989,000,000 and expenditures of $69,344,000,000 for the 12 months ending June 30.

Expenditures were 444 million dollars higher than were estimated in January when the fiscal year was half over, while receipts were 361 million dollars higher than the January estimate.

The public debt at the end of the bookkeeping year was $770,634,309,846, a reduction of $2,190,292,278 from the level a year earlier.

The statement said the increase in outlays was "mainly due to larger expenditures for the Department of Defense which were not fully offset by lower expenditures in other departments."

In fiscal 1955 the government had a deficit of $4,200,000,000. Buoyed by rapidly rising tax collections, receipts exceeded spending in the following year, fiscal 1956, by $1,600,000,000, or approximately the same size surplus as was reported for the year which ended June 30.

The budget which Eisenhower sent to Congress in January, covering fiscal 1958, calls for receipts totaling $71,800,000,000 and expenditures of $73,600,000,000, for an anticipated surplus of $1,800,000,000.

Railroad Commission Keeps 13-Day Oil Producing Pattern

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission retained its rare 13-day statewide producing pattern today for all August setting the daily oil allowable at 3,069,923 barrels a day.

There was no change in the allowable figure for the present month which was the first month in which the commission ordered a 13-day producing pattern. Almost all major oil companies nominated 13 days and representatives of the independent oil association agreed that it would be unwise to set an allowable above market demands.

Stocks of Texas crude are 4,200,000 barrels higher than they were four weeks ago. U. S. stocks are 10½ million barrels higher than a month ago despite the big drop in production from Texas fields which supply almost half of the nation's oil.

"It is our bitter experience that when the allowable is above the market demand selective buying becomes prevalent. We think a reasonable allowable should be set," testified Bruce Street of Graham, representing the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn.

Ralph Harvey, representing the North Texas Oil and Gas Assn., reported that there was becoming a "real difficulty in moving oil by truck in North Texas, especially in Knox, Baylor and Throckmorton counties."

"There is no one that I know of having secured a connection for a new well in the last two weeks," said Harvey, explaining that the truckers couldn't find buyers for the crude.

Other testimony was offered by Will Odum of Austin that a new field in Pecos county was not able to secure a pipeline connection. He reported that the buyer, an importer, said that the company couldn't sell crude, that they had "plenty of oil." Odum blamed the high rate of imports for cutting off the new field in Texas and said such steps would discourage wildcatting.

Shamrock Oil Co. told the commission it would continue 75 per cent of pipeline proration on all its Panhandle wells during August because it could not secure enough outlets. Shamrock said it was forced to cut off 2,000 barrels daily of crude from the Cactus Petroleum Co. and effective Aug. 1 would discontinue taking 1,500 barrels a day in southwest Kansas.

Nominations by companies: 15 days, Sun; 14 days, Shell; 13 days, Atlantic, Gulf, Sinclair, Humble, Texas, Phillips, Cities Service, and Indiana Oil; 12 days, Magnolia.

The current 13-day producing schedule was set at last month's hearing—the first 13-day pattern in the history of oil proration in Texas.

Many segments of the oil industry blamed the heavy cut on excessive imports. There have been repeated demands from them and from oil regulatory officials for definite action by a presidential committee to hold down the flow of foreign oil to permit home domestic production.

To regulate production, the Railroad Commission permits wells to flow only a certain number of days a month.

Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson said yesterday Secretary of Commerce Weeks had told him the federal government was "working aggressively" on the imports problem.

"Even if they acted now it would be October before the order's effect is felt here," Thompson said. "The grapevine is that something is going to be done."

He said that despite the current cutback in production, the long range picture for the Texas oil industry was good. He predicted crude production this year would exceed a billion barrels.

Special Session Quiz Sent Out

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker Waggoner Carr asked all representatives yesterday about Gov. Daniel's plans to call a special legislative session.

Carr wrote, asking each House member to answer as soon as possible:

"Do you think a special session of the Legislature is necessary?"

He also asked them to say if they thought a special session could be limited to one week, if they would be willing to work without pay, and if they favored a special tax to cover the session's expenses.

Carr promised to keep the replies confidential, except to announce the general results of the poll.

City, School District Will Join In Property Tax Survey

The Big Spring Independent School District will join the City of Big Spring in a general "taxable property equalization survey."

Trustees voted last night to accept an invitation from city commissioners that the school district join in the project which received city approval last week. Trustees also voted to join the city in inviting county commissioners to participate.

Plans for the survey will have to be worked out jointly by city, school and county officials, if the latter decide to participate. No further action is expected until after county commissioners accept or reject the proposal.

The school board last night also authorized Supt. Floyd Parsons and Business Manager Pat Murphy to attempt to locate a suitable site for an elementary school in the neighborhood of the Webb AFB housing development, approved terms of an agreement with the city for widening and lowering Goliad Street near College Heights School, and approved employment of seven new teachers.

Parsons and Murphy will seek a tract of about 15 acres in the area along the old San Angelo Highway southwest of the city. An elementary school to accommodate children of military personnel from the Webb housing reservation and other families living in the area will be constructed.

Trustees said they would like to have the school ready for operation by the time the 460 military homes are occupied, but probably will be unable to do so. Federal aid will be sought on construction, but the superintendent pointed out that last night the district "has absolutely no assurance" that the U. S. assistance will be available.

A building of 18 to 24 classrooms probably will be required to serve the area.

The Goliad Street agreement which Parsons said he and other school officials reached with City Manager H. W. Whitney and Engineer Clifton Bellamy provides:

1. That the city will make a four-foot cut on Goliad in front of the new junior high school south of College Heights.

2. That dirt removed from the street will be transferred to the junior high site.

3. That the school district will dedicate approximately 30 feet of additional street right-of-way.

4. That the city will initiate the work immediately in order that the fill dirt will be available when junior high construction is started. Trustees endorsed the agreement.

Shady Gag

Pretty Leigh Feele, a "Miss Washington" contestant, adds an umbrella to the time-honored gag photo formula of a well-filled bathing suit plus the Capitol-in-the-background as she poses in Washington, D. C. She claimed, with all the civil rights controversy and debate, the Capitol needed cooling off under the shade of the umbrella. The temperature was around 80 degrees when Miss Feele went into her act. The Senate chamber where the civil rights legislation occupied the senators, is air conditioned.

Twin Girls Hurt In Motorcycle Mishap

Two girls were injured and hospitalized as a result of a motorcycle collision this morning. Two persons also received slight injuries in a two-car accident Thursday evening.

Injured this morning were Marjio and Carjio Thixton, 16, twin daughters of Cecil Thixton, 1602 E. 15th. They were taken to Big Spring Hospital by a River ambulance and treated for cuts and bruises.

Hospital officials said that no fractures were immediately noted, but both were hospitalized. Carjio had a head injury in addition to the cuts and bruises, officials said.

The accident occurred in the 600 block of East Fourth, as the motorcycle on which the girls were riding collided with a car driven by Horace Stephens, 1007

W. 8th. Marjio was steering the motorcycle.

The motorcycle hit the right fender of the car and was thrown partially under the fender.

Thursday evening, cars driven by Mrs. Gloria Hardison, 2211 1/2 Rannels, and George King, 101 Oak, were in collision at 15th and Goliad. Mrs. Hardison and her two-year-old son, James Rex Hardison, were rushed to Big Spring Hospital by a Valley-Pickle ambulance for treatment, but were not admitted.

The boy sustained a slight cut on the chin.

Brother Of Lomax Woman Parachutes From Stricken Jet

Capt. George H. Slover, brother of Mrs. Ray Russell Lomax, was pilot of a plane from which the crew was forced to parachute on the west coast of Japan Thursday.

The Associated Press said Capt. Slover, of Temple, and two other crew members escaped with only minor injuries. Their plane, a twin-jet reconnaissance, crashed near Tototori, Japan, after developing engine trouble. Mrs. Russell said she had received no other information on the crash or her brother's injuries.

Other members of the crew were Capt. Max Ruderman, Brooklyn, navigator; and T-Sgt. Wilburn G. South, Selmer, Tenn., crew chief.

'Moonwatch' Class Slated

Participants in the "operation Moonwatch" will meet this evening at HJCC for their initial period of instruction.

Later, broader periods of instruction will be scheduled in August and September in anticipation of the launching of the experimental satellite which will be followed by such stations as the one located on the Howard County Junior College Campus.

Tonight's session may involve the tracking of a plane-towed light.

Methodist Youth Activity Week Is Slated At Lamesa

LAMESA — "My God and I" is the theme for the Youth Activity Week to be held at the First Methodist Church beginning Monday, July 22, and continuing through Friday, July 26. Youth from the First Christian Church, First Presbyterian, Clark Methodist, and the First Methodist will take part.

On Monday evening, Dr. Jordan Grooms, of Big Spring, will speak on the subject: "My God, Who or What Is He." Tuesday evening, Superintendent of Sweetwater Public Schools, Olaf G. South, will speak on "My God and I Concerning Vocations." Wednesday the group will hear G. L. Trice on the subject "My God and I Concerning War." Thursday evening the speaker will be Keith Wiseman who will talk on "My God and I Concerning Prayer" and Friday the Rev. Rush Barnett, pastor of the First Christian Church will speak on "My God and I Concerning Myself."

The project period at 5:30 p. m. each day will open the meetings. At 7:15, following the evening meal, the guest speaker will be heard. Discussion groups will be held from 8:00 to 8:45 and following a worship period, recreation will complete the activities for the evening.

All young people of high school and college age in the area are invited to attend.

Barbecue Scheduled By Lamesa Lodge

LAMESA — The Berta H. Porter Rebecca Lodge has scheduled a barbecue supper for 7:30 p. m. today at the Lamar Forrest Community Center. Proceeds are to go to the Children's Home at Corsicana and the Home for the Aged in Ennis. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. The public is invited to attend.

Seminar Is Held For Optometrists

Optometrists in the West Texas area participated in a seminar on contact lens therapy at Odessa, Dr. Richard Reuther, Gainesville, conducted the seminar which dealt principally with the smallest type of lens, the spherico-Cons, which fit over the cornea of the eye. For many years the larger type, the scleral-contact lens, have been employed and are still indicated for those with vigorous activity such as athletes. Attending the seminar from here was Dr. Marshall Cauley.

Meetings Slated

The Disabled American Veterans and the DAV Auxiliary have scheduled regular meetings for Monday at 7:30 p. m. The sessions will be held on the Settles Hotel mezzanine.

Lamesan Is Sought

LAMESA — A former Lamesan, Otho Cotton, is being searched for in New Mexico, after his car was found Tuesday, wrecked and abandoned in Santa Fe. Investigating officers there found blood stains inside the vehicle. Cotton is an employe of the NOCOA Chemical Company.

Girl Transferred

Police turned a 13-year-old girl over to the juvenile officer Thursday. She was suspected of being a runaway, and was apprehended on the northside.

Knowland To Offer More Rights Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he plans to offer "further clarifying amendments" to the controversial Section of the civil rights bill before the Senate recesses tonight.

He said "no specific language has been worked out as yet" but that he expected this to be done during the course of the day in consultation with Northern Democratic leaders.

The Senate Republican leader gave this word to reporters after a meeting of GOP senators which he said was given over to "general discussion" of the bill.

There were indications, however, that there had been some warm words in the closed-door session.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) left in an obviously irritated mood, and told reporters: "Some of these people don't want a civil rights bill. They want a campaign issue for 1958 and 1960."

Aiken has joined with Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern opposition, in an effort to amend the House-passed bill so that it be limited to assuring voting rights for Negroes and other minority groups.

"If they really want a civil rights bill they could get one in three days—by the middle of next week," Aiken said. "But some of them don't want a reasonable bill."

Aiken said some civil rights sponsors are "asking powers for the attorney general that even Franklin D. Roosevelt never even thought of asking."

"They are not satisfied with something that could be approved," he said. "They want to go into the whole field of human relations."

There is dissatisfaction among Democratic backers of the bill, too, over what they contend is the lack of clear position by the administration.

Abilenian Hurt Near Coahoma

Jefferson Haney of Abilene suffered possible chest injuries and cuts on his head and face shortly before noon today when his automobile left the roadway and plunged into a draw about a mile east of Coahoma.

Haney was brought to Big Spring Hospital in a River Funeral Home ambulance. Examination was still under way at 1 p. m.

The Abilenian was the only person in the automobile.

House Slashes Third From Foreign Aid Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted 155-74 today to slash a third off the economic aid fund President Eisenhower asked to support defense programs of America's allies.

The standing vote, subject to a later roll call, amounted to a reversal in a see-saw battle as the House began a day of showdown voting on Eisenhower's multi-billion-dollar aid bill.

The House action would slap a ceiling of 600 million dollars on the defense support fund for the coming year. Eisenhower originally sought 900 million for this fund which he says is needed to shore up economies of poor, anti-Communist countries like Korea and Formosa which border the Iron Curtain.

At one point, the House had cut the figure to 500 millions.

Then on an earlier vote today it voted to add 300 millions, bringing the fund up to 800 million dollars. This action was taken on a 172-154 tally of moves and counter-moves today. Eisenhower supporters then lost 101-149 a vote to hold the figure at 600 millions. Then the final cutting move, by Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio), trimmed the amount to 600 million.

Tranquilizers Uses Explained

Tranquilizers have made considerable contribution to the treatment of emotional and mental disturbances. Dr. Preston Harrison told the Big Spring Personnel & Management Association Thursday evening.

Dr. Harrison, acting superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital, addressed the group at its meeting at the Officers Club at Webb AFB.

He warned, however, against the indiscriminate use of the tranquilizing drugs. Frequently they are specific and when improperly used can produce side effects. Used under close supervision, the drugs are enabling hospitals to release five of six patients (except the seniles) within six months, and an increasing percentage do not have to return.

Cliff Fisher, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Plow-Up Deadline Extension Denied; Date Is Still Aug. 1

Farmers in Howard County are being urged to dispose of all the surplus sorghum crops planted on Cotton Acreage Land. This must be done by Aug. 1, according to Gabe Hammack, county office manager of the ASC.

The local office had requested that this plow-up date be extended until Sept. 15, so the young sorghum crops could make enough growth to prevent wind erosion. Since they planted so late in the season, most growers felt that the plowed-under residue would afford very little protection from the winter and spring winds.

The request by the state office was denied, Hammack said, so farmers must dispose of crops on Cotton Acreage Reserve Land by Aug. 1.

David Wade Is Promoted

It's now Maj. Gen. David Wade, chief of staff for the Strategic Air Command.

During World War II, he was stationed here as a lieutenant colonel when the field was activated and later had extensive overseas war service. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Soldier's Medal for rescuing a pilot from a burning jet, the Legion of Merit and Air Medal with oak leaf cluster.

Among his assignments after the war was command of the Fifty-Seventh Air Division at Fairchild AFB in Washington. Later he was commander of the Twenty-First Air Division at Forbes AFB at Topeka, Kans., leaving there in May 1955 for Offutt AFB as inspector-general of the Strategic Air Command. He worked directly under Gen. Curtis LeMay, then the SAC commander. For more than a year he has served as chief of staff for SAC.

He received his first star in 1953.

Search Continues For Missing Girl

The search continued today for Ella Mae Johnston, 15, who disappeared Wednesday night.

The girl was reported missing by her father, Joe Johnston, 1106 E. 4th, after she did not return from church. A check revealed she was picked up by a man who later told officers he brought her back to the Trinity Baptist Church in time to catch a bus home. Bus drivers denied seeing her.

Non-Farm Worker Placements Increase

LAMESA — Figures released by Dayton Carrell, manager of the local employment office, shows that non-farm employment in the area picked up more than 15 per cent during the first half of 1957 over the same period in 1956.

During the same period placement of citizen farm workers was up about 30 per cent over last year and the use of bracero farm workers, for a six-county area office, has averaged about 15 per cent above the first six months of 1956.

Water Usage Shows Increase At Lamesa

LAMESA — A report from the water department of the City of Lamesa indicates that Lamans are using more water since the new supply has become available.

During the first 15 days of July, they used 38,212,000 gallons, a daily average of about 2,550,000 gallons. However, since the new supply was added to the system, the daily average has been about three million gallons.

Split Vote Favors Paying Schoolman's Doctor Bills

The Big Spring Independent School District will pay medical bills incurred by E. B. (Bennie) Pierson, counselor and assistant high school principal, in an automobile wreck last winter.

Pierson suffered a severe arm injury in the collision that took the life of Gene Davidson, Seymour, near Cross Plains Jan. 24, 1956. Pierson and his wife, also injured were returning to Big Spring from Austin where he participated in a public school counselors' conference.

The couple was traveling in the school district's driver education car. Insurance on the vehicle paid for Mrs. Pierson's treatment, but insurance company officials refused to pay for Pierson's expenses because, they said, the policy provided no protection for employees of the school district.

New Try For Production Is Made On Glasscock Wildcat

Operator reoperated in the Wolfcamp at the Shell No. 1 Currie wildcat in Glasscock in an attempt to make a producer.

The venture is about six miles north of Garden City. The new Wolfcamp perforations extend in five sets to 8,454 feet to 8,665.

Lario Oil & Gas Company has located a venture in the East Vealmoor field of Howard County. It the No. 1-C Branon, about seven miles west of Vincent, and will drill to 7,800 feet.

Harve Clay Hurt In Fall While On Visit To Oregon

Harve Clay, Big Spring dry cleaning plant owner, is recuperating from a fractured pelvis in a Corvallis, Ore., hospital, it was announced here Thursday.

Clay and his wife were visiting at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vance, who live near Corvallis.

Clay, according to reports here, fell from a ladder while he was picking cherries. He is making satisfactory progress but is confined to his bed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bohannon, 1701 Kentucky, left Friday for Corvallis. They will visit relatives there and join the Clays. When Clay is able to return home, he and Mrs. Clay will be accompanied home by the Bohannons.

HCJC Enrollment Closes Saturday

Deadline for registering for the last six weeks summer term at Howard County Junior College is set for Saturday noon.

B. M. Keese, registrar, said 124 had enrolled so far, and some few others may be added. The total is down considerably from the initial six-weeks period, but that is entirely normal.

About two-thirds of those enrolled are daytime students taking "solid" subjects for college credit, and most of them are students enrolled in colleges elsewhere. By summer standards, several classes in history, English, government, etc. are large.

About $50 in merchandise lost by Fred Eaker has been found. Eaker notified the police department today that $50 in roller casters stolen Wednesday had been found. Each was valued at $12.50.

Former Defendants Here Escape Brownwood Jail

Two men, who drew five-year prison sentences here on pleas of guilty on July 1, and who are under sentence or indictment in a half a dozen other counties in Texas, broke out of the Brownwood jail Thursday night, Sheriff Miller Harris was notified today.

The men are Thurman E. Kennemer and Marion Francis McGillis. They were arrested here on June 8 by deputy sheriffs who were advised they were attempting to cash a check at the Hull & Phillips food store.

Check revealed that they were wanted in a number of other counties for forgery. They were first taken to Brownfield, where they made an unsuccessful attempt to break jail. They were indicted

Gasline Prices Fall Another Cent

Gasoline prices dipped another cent a gallon at many stations in Big Spring Friday.

Last postings in which operators for most major companies joined showed regular gasoline at 24.9, which is down four or five cents from the original scale when the recent downward adjustments started.

The first drop was two cents a gallon, followed a week ago by one cent. Some stations are holding to the price ranges originally in effect. While there is a degree of uniformity on cuts on regular, the pattern on ethyl and premium grades is erratic.

Fire Extinguished

No damage resulted from a small fire at the 1102 1/2 E. 5th residence of K. C. Harrison Thursday. Firemen from the main station made the call and extinguished the small blaze which resulted from a water heater being set too high.

WEATHER

NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS — Clear to partly cloudy Thursday with a few isolated showers and evening drizzlers. Little change in temperature.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy through Saturday. Slight temperature increase after night time thunderstorms. Little change in temperature.

SUNDAY FORECAST

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy near normal in Panhandle and El Paso areas and 2 to 4 degrees above elsewhere. Minor daily drizzlers. Little or no rain except a few isolated night thunderstorms.

Judge To Hear Arguments For Reversal Of Miller Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The judge who convicted playwright Arthur Miller of contempt of Congress heard argument today on a new motion asking a reversal of Miller's conviction. If the motion is denied, Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin indicated he would impose sentence on the 41-year-old New York writer, husband of actress Marilyn Monroe. The motion asking for a verdict of acquittal is based on the June 28 action of the U.S. Court of Appeals here in reversing the contempt of Congress conviction of Marcus Singer, Cornell University zoology professor. In overturning Singer's conviction, the appellate court merely cited the Supreme Court's June 17 decision striking down the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor organizer of Rock Island, Ill. That opinion put limits on the questions that can be asked by Congressional committees. McLaughlin convicted Miller May 31 of unlawfully refusing to answer two questions before a House subcommittee on un-American Activities in June 1956. The questions dealt with the identity of persons with whom Miller said he attended meetings of Communist writers in New York in 1947. On June 28, McLaughlin, acting on the basis of the Watkins decision, threw out one of the two counts upon which he had convicted Miller. He rejected Miller's plea for acquittal on the other count on the ground Miller failed to question the pertinency of the question. After the court of appeals upset Singer's conviction, Miller's lawyers for a second time asked Mc-

Laughlin to reconsider. They said Singer, in refusing to name persons with whom he attended Communist meetings while he was on the Harvard faculty in the 1940's, did not raise the issue of pertinency.

Wholesale Gasoline Prices Reduced

HOUSTON (AP)—Four major oil companies cut wholesale gasoline prices two-tenths of a cent a gallon yesterday. The reductions by Continental, Shell, Texas, and Gulf erased increases posted a month ago. Texas and Gulf spokesmen said the cuts applied to all of Texas east of the Pecos. Shell said its reduction covered the state. Continental said its cutback also applied to kerosene and diesel fuels. Service station operators indicated the cuts, in some areas at least, would be passed on to the consumer. Company spokesmen said the cutbacks were for "competitive reasons." Increased costs, especially labor, were blamed for last month's price hikes.

Reaction Mixed To Dulles 'Trial' Lifting Of China Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' offer to allow a "limited number" of American reporters to visit Red China for a trial period got a mixed reaction on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) called it "the first break in the paper curtain" and "better than no American coverage at all of Red China." He commended Dulles for proposing it, but news representatives who received the offer yesterday balked at the limitations it contained. Mansfield expressed hope the limits would be "sufficiently large to insure a square deal for all elements of legitimate communications media."

In a separate interview, however, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) objected to the idea of the State Department saying "who could, and who could not report."

"Under a free press a government official is not permitted to say what segments of the press should be permitted to cover the news anywhere," he said.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said in another interview that neither the Red Chinese government nor the State Department should "hand-pick the reporters who would visit Red China."

The State Department, which controls passports, now bars all Americans from going to Communist China, which this country does not recognize.

Dulles proposed a six-month trial of his limited plan yesterday at a meeting with five representatives of American news organizations. But they disagreed with his proposal that the number be limited to perhaps 12 or 15 newsmen.

The result was a decision to determine how many newsmen actually would be interested in going.

The State Department will poll newspapers, news services, magazines and radio and television companies shortly to find out how many want to send correspondents to Red China.

Asst. Secretary of State Andrew Berding said Dulles argued that unless the number was controlled, a very large group of reporters might go to Red China and he is opposed to that.

But William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and one of the five who conferred with Dulles, said the cost of sending a reporter to Red China and maintaining him there, will provide "an automatic check" on the number.

Dwight and the other news organization representatives told Dulles that no arbitrary limitation should be placed on news gathering operations by the government.

Berding made clear in discussing the conference later with reporters that Dulles already had made the policy decision to let some reporters go in, assuming that details can be worked out. The problem is how many should go.

Aiken told a reporter that if the Red Chinese officials aren't insisting on specifying what American reporters could enter the mainland, the State Department should not limit their number. He said he liked the idea of a six-month trial period to test the sincerity of the Chinese invitation.

Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander of the Continental Army Command, said, "I have visited 14 divisions this summer and I haven't seen any such advanced tactical problems as this at any of them."

"You're way ahead," he told their commander, Maj. Gen. Carl Phinney of Dallas. "I would rate the 36th Division very, very high," Wyman said. "Of the 14 divisions I have visited, the 36th is the only one that has had the long forward look to get the division as a whole out into the field."

The exercise marked the first peacetime division-wide maneuver in the history of the division.

36th Division In-From Field

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—Units of the 36th Division moved in from the field today after winding up their summer training exercise highly praised by a high Army official.

Some 10,000 National Guardsmen from 70 Texas communities were mustered for pay call during the day. They will return home this weekend.

Gen. W. G. Wyman, commander of the Continental Army Command, said, "I have visited 14 divisions this summer and I haven't seen any such advanced tactical problems as this at any of them."

Court Studies Haircut Styles

FUCHU, Japan (AP)—Haircuts, the description and definition thereof, today claimed the solemn attention of a four-judge court-martial trying a young American airman who said he didn't want to "look like a shaved jackass."

The charge of disobeying an order against Airman 3. C. Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., didn't say anything about haircuts. The Air Force says it's all a matter of routine military discipline, involving disobedience of a "lawful order of his superior officer."

But Wheeler and his lawyer say he was charged after refusing to get a "white sidewall" haircut.

The fourth session of the court-martial today brought the admission from the airman's commanding officer, Lt. William N. Shortt of Seattle that he couldn't define a "white sidewall." He added that the only description he could give "is what is in the newspapers—a type where the hair is shaved from ear to crown with only a fringe on top."

Under cross-examination by Murray Sprung of New York, Wheeler's civilian attorney, Shortt said the 20-year-old airman had told him: "I don't want to look like a shaved jackass."

It was brought out that the members of the honor guard company, to which Wheeler formerly was assigned, were under order to have a "uniform haircut that is short." There was no definition of how short is short.

Wheeler was among six airmen transferred last week from the honor guard at U. S. Forces Headquarters in Tokyo to the Air Police detachment at Fuchu Air Base.

Staff For The TSO Office Here

Here are members of the Texas State Optical staff for the Big Spring office which now is open. At left is Odell Cook, administrative manager, Mrs. Betty Rickman, frame stylist, Dr. D. H. McGonagill, optometric manager, and Mrs. Denver Dunn, receptionist. In the background, set against walnut paneling, are the frame boards which make it easier for patrons to choose exactly what they want in the way of frames for their lenses. There are more than 500 choices available.

55TH FOR FIRM

Texas State Optical Opens New Office Here

Dr. S. J. Rogers and Dr. N. Jay Rogers, optometrist and directors of Texas State Optical, have announced the opening of their office in Big Spring, the 55th in Texas for the firm.

Its location is 120 E. 3rd Street, in the same office space occupied for many years by Dr. Amos R. Wood, local optometrist.

The office has undergone a complete remodeling, and the directors considered it to be one of the most modern optical offices in the state.

According to the directors, the TSO office has been installed in Dr. Wood's location through a satisfactory arrangement between the two interested parties. Texas State Optical will maintain Dr. Wood's establishment patient prescription and case history files and continue his practice. Dr. Wood's health was given as the reason for this action.

In keeping with the beautiful interiors of all lately constructed TSO offices, the Big Spring office features contemporary furniture and fixtures; the walls are decorated with a combination of walnut paneling and gold textured wallpaper, and the floors are covered with a rich-piled, golden carpet.

"Every possible consideration for the comfort of our patients has been taken into account while planning the renovation and the remodeling of this office," Dr. S. J. Rogers related. "Only the most modern of optical equipment and eye examining instruments are installed. For patients to select from, hundreds of the latest designs and colors in frames are on display in the office at all times."

Texas State Optical was established in Beaumont in 1935 by S. J. Rogers, soon after joined by brother, Dr. N. Jay Rogers. Today, the firm employs approximately 500 personnel, including doctors of Optometry, opticians, frame stylists and a host of credit and clerical personnel. The officials of the firm attribute the tremendous growth to making fine quality eye care available at reasonable cost.

"When we opened 22 years ago,"

Dr. S. J. Rogers said, "we were determined to offer the very finest quality service and glasses at a cost anyone could afford... and we proved it could be done. During these years, TSO Doctors of Optometry have examined 3 million pairs of eyes and given good vision to thousands of persons at nominal cost. Credit terms, too, have been a big factor in our growth." Dr. Rogers went on to say, "Down payments are the very minimum and persons who desire can take time to pay for their glasses."

There are 13 TSO offices in Houston, four in Dallas, six in Fort Worth, six in San Antonio, two in Corpus Christi, and one each in the following cities: Beaumont, Orange, Port Arthur, Lufkin, Garland, Arlington, Grand Prairie, Cleburne, Sherman, Denison, Wichita Falls, Waco, Temple, Victoria, Galveston, Baytown, Pasadena, Austin, Bryan, Gainesville, and Denton. A second office at Beaumont is under construction at the Gateway Shopping center.

Democrats Call New Treasury Securities Offerings Immoral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress today fired charges of "immoral" and "inflationary" at new Treasury offerings of government securities bearing an interest rate of 4 per cent — a new post-depression high.

But a Republican, Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, said the government must "compete for money just like a corporation or an individual."

A flurry of partisan criticism built up in the wake of public announcement by the Treasury yesterday that it will pay 4 per cent interest on 24 billion dollars worth of debt refinancing coming due in August and October.

Not since October 1943, when it refunded an issue of the Fourth Liberty Loan, has the government paid an interest rate on its debt as high as 4 per cent.

A Treasury spokesman said this was the lowest rate "at which we thought we could sell government securities of these maturities."

The 4 per cent rate was offered for one-year and four-year securities, with an alternative of 3 1/2 per cent for a four-month certificate maturing Dec. 1.

Martin commented that "if these are the best terms the Treasury department can secure, I don't see anything else it can do."

But Congressional Democrats, already critical of the administration's "tight money" policies and high interest rates, were quick to attack the Treasury move.

Rep. Muller (D-N.Y.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was "leaving a great heritage behind — the heritage of the greatest increase in the government debt since the depression."

Muller said the hike in interest rates now "sets the trend for all private lending," and declared:

"I can't think of any one thing that would be more inflationary." Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), also a banking committee member, called the new interest rate "terrible" and "immoral."

Patman charged that Humphrey, soon to leave his Treasury post to enter private business, "set the pattern" when he first took office by "arbitrarily" upping interest rates on long-term bonds from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent.

"The interest has been going up ever since," Patman said. "It just helps the banks and the investment people."

Across the capitol, where Humphrey has been on the hot seat before Senate Finance Committee Democrats in recent weeks, the reaction was equally vigorous.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) and other Democrats said the higher interest rate will hit particularly at states and local communities attempting to sell bonds for local improvements because of higher financing costs.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), Humphrey's sharpest critic at the Finance Committee hearings, said the refinancing operation "will release the throttle on another round of increases in the cost of living."

Treasury officials said the impact of the financing will be less than indicated by the 24-billion-dollar size of the offering because all but about 9 1/2 billion dollars worth of the maturing issues are held by the Federal Reserve Board and other government funds.

Back Where They Started From

DETROIT (AP) — When Walter M. Dunham, 61, and Selma Mae Back, 57, exchange marriage vows Monday his first wife will become his fourth and her first husband will become her fifth.

Dunham and Selma were first married in Hot Springs, Ark., when he was 21 and she was 17. They were divorced 11 years later.

Dunham moved to Detroit where he married twice. Selma remained in Hot Springs where she married three times.

Last month Dunham went to Hot Springs on vacation and looked Selma up for the first time in 30 years. He proposed and was accepted.

TSO Offices 'Striking' In Design, Color

Texas State Optical's new office in the Howard House here is striking, both as to exterior design and interior appointments.

The picture windows are trimmed in slate blue stone and aluminum strips set along imposing modern lines.

Inside, walls make use of walnut panel, set against pastel shades and turquoise upholstery. The carpet is light gold and the illumination is from striking incandescent fixtures as well as from strip lights.

On one side of the office are the frame boards which will display types that will enable patrons to choose from more than 500 frame styles.

On the other side is the reception desk, surrounded by numerous, comfortable chairs for those waiting. Lines of this wall are accentuated by a pleasant planter, and a planter also shields the office space set between the two larger areas.

On either side of the office area are two private offices—one for the actual examination and which is equipped with the latest optometric instruments, and the other for workroom purposes in adjusting glasses, or if needs be, for making changes and repairs.

Runoff Due For FFA Presidency

FORT WORTH (AP)—Dickie Rosenthal of Pasadena and Billy Penn of Lufkin faced a runoff today for the presidency of the state Future Farmers of America.

The winner will succeed Kenton Harvey of Azle.

Delegates yesterday eliminated eight other aspirants.

The convention ends today after election of the new president, public speaking finals and the state sweetheart election.

Roger Grantham, 17, a Whitney turkey grower, was cited last night as Texas' top Future Farmer. Harvey handed Grantham a special citation designating the Hill County youth's farming program as best of all the state's degree winners.

Lone Star Farmer degrees were received by 721 farm boys at the Lone Star Farmer Banquet last night. Nearly 2,000 FFA members and guests saw honorary Lone Star Farmer degrees conferred on 14 outstanding friends of the organization.

They included Nat Williams, superintendent of Lubbock schools; Clovis Pinion, farm director of Radio KSST, Sulphur Springs; Bob Murdoch, radio farm director at KTTB, Tyler; H. L. Gantz, southwest editor of Farm and Ranch Magazine, Dallas; L. J. Cassell, special representative of Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, Galveston; and Guy Buchanan, vice president and general manager of Santa Fe's Western Lines, Amarillo.

Fred Juskerson of Ferris was elected official delegate to the national convention at Kansas City.

Anderson Clayton scholarships were presented to Bobby Johnson of Olton, Jimmy Whitfill of Silverton, Bill Connutt of Lorraine, Avon Floyd of Brownfield, and Donald Honsz of Harlingen.

Keton Harvey was awarded two scholarships, the Texas Farm Bureau Federation's Leadership Award and the Santa Fe Railway scholarship.

Only 2 Wet Spots In Texas

By The Associated Press

Rain fell at El Paso and San Angelo Friday.

The Weather Bureau said the points received the only moisture in the state Thursday night, however.

Temperatures ranged from 69 degrees at Amarillo to 81 at Dallas at dawn.

Partly cloudy skies with scattered thundershowers were forecast.

Rainfall Thursday included Alpine .38 of an inch, Beaumont .20, Galveston .02 and traces at Houston, Midland, Van Horn, Lufkin, Salt Flat and Dalhart.

Most highs were in the 90s.

A midsummer hot spell in most of the central and southern sections of the country showed no indication of a general breakup today.

Showers brought temporary relief from the hot weather in some parts of the swelter belt yesterday as temperatures again climbed into the 90-100 plus range.

The season's highest readings were reported in some of the central states with marks of 100 and higher from Texas to South Dakota and Iowa.

Heart Of The Operation

Dr. D. H. McGonagill, optometric manager for Texas State Optical, demonstrates part of the technique in making thorough, complete and expert examinations in determining whether a patient needs glasses, and if so, precisely the prescription required to restore maximum vision to the patient. All of the optometric equipment is of the very latest design to assure utmost precision in examinations.

Four On Staff As TSO Opens In City

Four individuals comprise the staff of Texas State Optical as it opens for business in the Big Spring area, and all are experienced in their specialty.

Dr. D. H. McGonagill is the optometric manager while Odell Cook is the administrative manager. Mrs. Bette Rickman is the frame stylist and Mrs. Denver Dunn is the receptionist.

Dr. McGonagill is a native of Melvin and a graduate of San Angelo High School. After attending San Angelo Junior College for a year and a half, he entered the U. S. Navy.

He did his study in optometry at Northern Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago and has been in practice since February of 1950, the last 2 1/2 years in association with the TSO organization. He practiced for five years in San Angelo.

He and Mrs. McGonagill have three children, Dennis, 9, Karen, 4, and Barry, 2, who have moved here from Dallas, to be at home at 1200 Sycamore.

Cook is a veteran of 15 years experience in the optical field, much of the time being spent in Fort Worth. For the past seven years he has been at Midland and for the last five and a half years he has been a member of the TSO staff. He and Mrs. Cook have four children and for the time their residence is in Midland.

Frame stylist is Mrs. Bette Rickman, who has spent some eight years in optics. She came here from Fort Worth where she was assigned by TSO. Virtually all her experience has been in the field of selection and fitting of frames.

She has two children, Michon, 10, and Malinda, 9. Currently she is staying at the Howard House.

Mrs. Dunn, of course, is a long-time resident of Big Spring, and for many years has been the receptionist in Dr. Amos R. Wood's office, which is being succeeded by TSO. She is remaining on to help local folk get acquainted with the new service.

Pipe Line Contract

TULSA (AP) — Midwestern Constructors, Tulsa, has been awarded the contract to build a 165-mile crude oil pipe line for Muskegon Pipe Line, it was announced yesterday. The 10-inch line will be built from Griffith, Ind., to Muskegon, Mich.

Colorado Land Rush To Start

NUCLA, Colo. (AP)—Law officers took positions in full view today of more than 400 uranium prospectors, armed and eager to dash for possession tomorrow of nearly 100,000 acres of land.

Their claims to the land, being returned to public domain by the Atomic Energy Commission after nine years' exploration, can be filed after 10 a.m. It's the largest land opening in Colorado history.

The rocky terrain in southwest Colorado is barren and thick with sagebrush but high-grade uranium ore deposits have been reported in varying amounts. Although the AEC has drilled without success in several areas, Chamber of Commerce Manager Ed Nelson said, "there are reports of some good stuff out there."

The big majority of prospectors were well equipped, Deputy Sheriff T. J. Franks said, with Geiger counters, drilling rigs and trucks. He said many also tote six-guns.

Franks said, "they've been fairly orderly, and there's no law against them carrying guns—unless the weapons are concealed or they try to use them."

The rules call for every truck, jeep or car to race off together at 10 a.m. No claims can exceed 600 by 1,500 feet.

Civic Leader Here To Quit Air Force

Lt. Robert R. Grew, assistant staff judge advocate at Webb AFB and active in Big Spring Civic Theatre, Evening Lions Club and Jaycees, will leave the Air Force next Friday.

He will move from Big Spring to New York to become associated with the law firm of Carter, Ledyard and Milburn, No. 2 Wall Street. His replacement in the WAFB legal office has not been selected.

A native of Metamora, Ohio, Lt. Grew, 26, graduated from Blissfield High School, Blissfield, Mich., serving as president of the student council and participating in basketball and track while there. He graduated from the University of Michigan in 1953. At the university he was affiliated with Young Republicans and was a member of Beta Theta Phi.

He passed the Michigan bar examinations in April, 1955, and was admitted to practice in June of the same year. He received his Air Force commission through ROTC and went on active duty at Webb AFB on June 27, 1955. In Big Spring, he resides at 2000 Donley.

Perhaps the organization with which the lieutenant has spent the majority of his off-duty hours here is the Big Spring Civic Theatre. A charter member of the group, he served as president for over a

RIGHT: Here is the ophthalmometer, another of the many scientific instruments used by TSO in their thorough eye examinations.

DO YOU KNOW When you have your eyes examined at Texas State Optical...

1. The interior and fundus of the eye are examined with the ophthalmoscope for any disease or defects.
2. The cornea or front of the eye is measured with the ophthalmometer to determine the amount of astigmatism present.
3. The retinoscope is used to determine the amount of myopia (near sightedness) or hyperopia (far sightedness) that is present; and also to determine
4. the tonicity of the intrinsic muscles (ciliary muscles) of the eyes.
5. The eye muscles which turn the eyes in various directions (extrinsic muscles) are tested for any possible muscle imbalance with the use of the rotary prism, to determine if a muscle correction is needed.
6. Plus numerous other tests needed to make a really thorough and accurate examination. Yes! At TSO you are assured of a thorough and accurate eye examination.

NOTICE TO PATIENTS OF DR. AMOS R. WOOD

Largest Land-Based Plane To Be Sold

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The XC99, world's largest land-based plane, has been declared excess and will be sold to the highest bidder, the Air Force said today.

The cargo plane will be put on sale after it goes through reclamation at Kelly AFB for the removal of classified equipment. Rising operating costs and difficulty of logistical support were given as reasons for retiring the XC99. It is 180 feet long, has a wingspread of 230 feet and stands 57 feet high.

Firefighters Hold Texas Brush Fire

SAN SABA, Tex. (AP)—Weary, blackened firefighters contained a roaring brush fire in all but "two or three places" in the tinder dry ranchland southwest of here today.

The fire, which broke out Wednesday night, burned hundreds of acres and endangered livestock. Mayor J. W. Shook of San Saba said the blaze was confined to the Yates Ranch, about 6 or 7 miles east of Cherokee.

He said the fire was out of control at "two or three places," but was being fought with 25 or 30 pieces of equipment. "The Army has been called in but we haven't received any help yet that I know of," he said.

Fl. Hood had been asked for help. The mayor said high winds fanned sparks over the parched area, the heart of the drought area in Texas and a section that received a minimum of rainfall during the storms this spring.

"There are lots of cattle in there—sheep and goats, too," Shook said.

"We put the riders ahead of the fire to cut the fences in case the cattle are trapped, though. The grass is dead and the tall weeds—even when they're green—contain oil and burn easily."

The rugged terrain and lack of water hampered the firefighters, he said. He said water was being hauled from San Saba in large trucks.

Since the blaze broke out it has covered "maybe a thousand acres—but I'm guessing now," Shook said.

No injuries were reported. Towers of smoke were visible in San Saba all yesterday.

Sought

Vincent Gigante, former professional boxer, is being sought as the gunman who attempted to assassinate racketeer Frank Costello. It was learned at New York City police headquarters. Police sources said Gigante, 30, is the prime suspect in the May 2 wounding of Costello.

Senate Probe Sets Sights On Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators, looking beyond the buying of a $32,500 house, check today into allegations that a labor union official used $40,000 of union money for other purchases.

Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers Union was recalled before the Special Senate Rackets Investigating Committee to testify about what Counsel Robert F. Kennedy called "the alleged use of union funds in other transactions."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) used the $40,000 figure in a statement at the start of the hearings. Klenert faced further questioning also about testimony that he and President Anthony Valente used $57,000 in union funds to help buy homes for themselves. Valente's home cost $42,500, Klenert's $52,500.

Alphonse Calabrese, a committee investigator, testified that after a series of transactions, the $57,000 was listed in a union audit report as going for "organizing expenses."

Kennedy said Valente will be quizzed later.

Klenert and Valente have issued statements denying any wrongdoing.

The well-groomed Klenert promised the committee yesterday under some sharp prodding to endorse a "clean union" amendment of UTW rules that would outlaw any loans of union money to UTW officials.

Klenert did not say whether he would propose an end to the system under which, he said, he audits and approves his own expense accounts. The committee contends he "misused" this privilege to buy thousands of dollars worth of goods for himself, his family and friends.

50,000 Scouts Homeward Bound

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—Some 50,000 Boy Scouts were homeward bound today from their week-long fourth national jamboree at historic Valley Forge Park.

But for some 1,700 picked scouts and leaders representing every state and U.S. possession, there was still another adventure ahead.

This is the jubilee contingent—the group which leaves now for Sutton Park near Birmingham, England, for the international jamboree.

They leave in two groups, the largest from Ottawa on the S.S. Fairsea on Monday and a spill-over of 186 who leave today aboard the S.S. Castel Felice from New York.

Golden Age For Liars

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—The sudden rise of mass communications has made this a golden age for liars, says Author-Critic Bruce Bliven.

The former editor of the New Republic Magazine spoke to the Pacific Coast English Conference on "How to Lie and Get Away With It."

Bliven said there is about the same proportion of liars in all centuries but modern mass communications—radio and television—"make it possible for liars to reach an audience thousands or millions of times larger than in the past."

The worst liars, he said, are the Communists, but few outside Red countries believe them.

'Inspector' Pays A Call

For a time Wednesday it looked as though the replacement for Col. C. M. Young, left, as Webb AFB commander, would be Shire Phillips. But it turned out that Shire was simply resuming his unofficial duties as "inspector" of the base and paying a call on Col. Kyle L. Riddle, right, wing executive officer and who will succeed Col. Young on Aug. 3. Young will become inspector general for the ATC. Phillips has been inactivated for many months but now is beginning to move about a bit.

UF Budget Of $89,100 OK'd

A budget of $89,100 for this fall's United Fund campaign was approved by the UF board of trustees in a special meeting Thursday afternoon.

The figure submitted by the budget committee, which had met with participating agencies and had given close study to welfare needs as well as community potential, was accepted without dissent.

The budget for 1957-58 is up only 1.8 per cent from last year's figure of $87,550.

But nine participating agencies will share in an increase of allotments by 4.3 per cent. The Servicemen's Center, which is being discontinued, will not be a member of the United Fund this next year.

The budget made provision for general campaign expense, year-around clerical costs, and for shrinkage in pledges. Dan Krausse

Farm Bureau's Queen Contest Date Changed

Date for the annual Howard County Farm Bureau queen contest has been changed to avoid conflict with the junior rodeo to be held Aug. 15-17.

The queen contest, originally set for Aug. 16, has been rescheduled for Aug. 13, Farm Bureau officials reported today.

So far, eight girls have entered the contest to succeed Natha McMinn of Coahoma as Farm Bureau Queen. Entries will be accepted until Aug. 11, the sponsors said.

The contest will be staged in the Howard County Junior College auditorium, starting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 13. Any Howard County girl who is a close relative of a Farm Bureau member may enter, provided she is unmarried and between the ages of 16 and 21 (inclusive).

Girls entered so far are Mary Ella Bigony, Lou Ann White, Patricia Iden, Jean Sample, Colleen Grant, Jane Blissard, Lavelle Conway and Ann Williams.

Miss Iden was runner-up last year when Miss McMinn won the 1956-57 queen title.

Preliminary Date Set On Housing

Sept. 18 has been fixed as the deadline for completing all necessary paper work and other arrangements for starting the Webb AFB housing project.

Floyd Henderson, project officer, said that the contractor, Williams & Dunlap, 7722 Elm Ave., Dallas 9, Texas, would be expected to proceed within a reasonable time on or after that date.

The contractor indicated that insofar as possible, labor forces will be recruited locally, and only key personnel of the organization will be sent in. Suppliers and prospective sub-contractors can contact the prime contractor at its Dallas address.

Commander

First Lt. Gerald D. Sjaastad, 1952 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is the new commander of the installations squadron at Webb Air Force Base. Sjaastad holds a master's degree in civil engineering from Purdue University. Prior to coming here last October, he was stationed at Great Falls, Mont., and Thule, Greenland. In addition, he has held the post of commander, he is base fire marshal, installations group executive officer and director of shop operations for the group.

Salk Vaccine Reduces Cases At Gonzales

Ralph Murray, field representative for the Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Foundation, said here Thursday that the effect of Salk polio vaccine already is apparent in the patient load at the institution's hospital.

Reduction in the number of polio victims needing treatment is expected to result in intensified fundraising activities by the foundation, since the polio patients are now being replaced by non-polio patients who do not have the financial backing of such institutions as the March of Dimes, Murray said.

The field man said it is a "general misconception" that the Gonzales hospital treats only polio cases. The treatment also benefits victims of all types of accidents resulting in cord injuries, as well as sufferers of cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, arthritis and other disorders.

Murray said the foundation has never denied needed treatment because of lack of finances. Revenues for patient care are received from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, insurance, two state agencies and from individuals able to pay for their care, he said.

Even when customary charges are underwritten by some outside agency, the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation pays part of the bill because the rate charged is always less than the actual cost, he said.

Kiwanis Installs State Hospital Air Conditioners

Announcement was made by Horace Reagan, Kiwanis Club president, on Thursday that a project to provide evaporative air conditioning units for the aged persons ward at the Big Spring State Hospital was making good progress and would probably be achieved in a few days.

The Kiwanis Club allocated $150 to the project and Reagan said that at least one other civic club had manifested its intention to join in the program.

Two women's clubs are also interested in the plan and will participate, he said.

A Kiwanis committee, which made a survey of the needs of the State Hospital, reported some weeks ago that officials recommended the air conditioning as a badly needed facility.

The aged inmates' rooms are now without any form of air conditioning and state funds do not permit such installation.

The Kiwanis committee suggested that two large evaporative coolers—one installed in each end of the long narrow floor on which the ward is located—would do a great deal to improve conditions.

A minimum expenditure of approximately $300 was suggested by the committee.

If the athletic program of the Big Spring High School is to achieve the real purpose for which it is operated—development of character, teamwork and physical betterment—the cooperation of the community is a basic essential, Al Milch, coach, told the club.

The new coach, speaking before the club for the first time, was presented by Floyd Parsons, city school superintendent.

Also present and introduced to the club was Curtis Kelly, who is Milch's assistant.

A Bible Thought For Today

Nevertheless for thy great mercies' sake thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them; for thou art a gracious and merciful God. (Nehemiah 9:31)

Threshing Hands Gone Modern?

For months the Saturday Evening Post has been running a weekly photograph in color showing "The Face of America," mostly bucolic scenes of surpassing beauty and appeal. This week's number presents a "threshing crew" eating "lunch" on a 5,200-acre Kansas wheat farm, and they are huddled in, on and around several "combines" while doing justice to the feast.

The good lady of the farm and her children have brought to the workers, in vacuum jugs, iceboxes and other modern appliances, a creditable feast, no doubt; but somehow the ensemble fails to thrill us.

For one thing, the men are eating off paper plates, apparently drinking out of paper cups. They are either standing up, leaning against something, or sprawled on or around the combines.

Now in the old days mother and the girls put in three solid days cooking against the coming of the thresher crew. Two or three extra tables were borrowed from neighbors and placed end to end, covered with borrowed tablecloths. No standing up, no paper plates and cups, for those thresher hands. The tables almost literally groaned under the weight of everything in the way of an eatable one could think of, for each housewife prided herself on outdoing her friends when it came to feeding the workers—most of whom, incidentally, were merely swapping work with their neighbors.

Of course we intend no invidious comparisons, but we think the Post layout missed the real spirit of a thresher-crew dinner by a country mile. Sorrowfully we admit you can't turn back the years, so these moderns have to make out the best they can. Fortunately most of them don't know any better; modernity has had them.

Appreciation For An Important Road

Our commissioners court has demonstrated again what can be accomplished by cooperative enterprise with the State Highway Department.

The Texas Highway Commission has ordered the eastward extension of FM 700 from U. S. 87 south to intersect with U. S. 80 somewhere east of town. The order is subject to the county's acceptance of the responsibility of obtaining right-of-way for the project, something that is a foregone conclusion since the court has been pressing for this road and has repeatedly said it will obtain the required roadway.

We wish to commend the court for its perseverance as well as its foresight, and the State Highway Commission for its understanding and boldness. In years ahead, this step will, in our opinion, not only save Howard County great sums of money for right-of-way (for ultimately some sort of road of this type would be constructed) but will actually be the means of creating thousands upon thousands of dollars of new tax revenue. Moreover, the time is not too far distant that the road will not only divert and transport great volumes of traffic, but when it also will fit into the State's highway planning for by-passing crowded cities and towns.

And thanks are due those, too, who have given the project new life and hope by offering roadway. Of course values will be increased, but except for their initiative and generosity, the opening wedge would have been difficult.

Finally, we have a sentimental attachment for the route, for it is, in a sense, a sort of memorial for the late George White. This was the last route to which this disciple of more and better roads addressed himself. And here it is coming to pass.

Demos Find Scapegoat For Inflation

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
(Writing for Marquis Childs, who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON.—While the Senate was marking time before the vote to take up the Eisenhower Administration's civil rights bill, a Southern Democratic leader, Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, changed the subject to attack the Eisenhower financial policy from which, he said, his business chiefly benefited.

This diversion was not accidental. The selection of the subject was deliberate and so was the timing, indicating thereby a dilemma of Democrats. They recognize that their party split on civil rights, now being blazoned daily to the world, is certain to hurt them in some big urban areas. They see an offset, at least partial, in inflation and the rising cost of living. Furthermore, this offers an issue upon which the party can unite, from extreme liberal to extreme conservative.

This is demonstrated in two current developments. One is the investigation of Eisenhower fiscal and monetary policy by the Senate Finance Committee under direction of the most conservative Democrat of all, Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, committee chairman.

The other is that Senator Fulbright, another conservative Southerner who like Byrd is fighting the Northern wing of his party on civil rights, was the first to explore publicly on the Senate floor the initial chapter of the Byrd investigation. This inquiry, as we know, was devoted to the 10-day grilling of retiring Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

The Humphrey testimony is a mine from which Democrats will dig constantly to develop the inflation, high-cost-of-living, and big-business issue which was the reason for the day-after-day cross-examination which seemed dull and, at times, almost pointless.

Some Democrats have for a long time argued that the high cost of living was the party's best issue, coupled with the influence of big business and finance on Eisenhower Administration policy. Others in Congress now are convinced of the potency of the cost-of-living issue from their increasingly heavy mail from complaining constituents.

Now they find another incentive to stress the cost-of-living issue in the political threat inherent in civil rights.

A cue for the Democratic line of attack came last week in a speech by Paul

Butler, national Democratic chairman, at Clarksburg, W. Va., in which he declared that, despite the Republican-advised prosperity, "the average American citizen is caught in the inflationary, tight-money, high-price squeeze, while big corporations and banks are reaping the harvest of this Administration's policies."

We saw more evidence on the Senate floor this week. Once Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, had begun to assail the Eisenhower Administration's financial policies, a number of his Democratic colleagues rallied to commend and encourage him and to make contributions to the case he was attempting to build. They represented every shade of opinion in the party.

The Arkansas Senator pointed out something being emphasized more and more by publications directed to labor and consumer groups when he said that tax cuts made during the Eisenhower incumbency have gone to "big business and big banks."

This, he said, was in keeping with Humphrey's policy to encourage an increased flow of funds into expansion of business and industry. And now, the Arkansas Senator added, the Secretary attributes the increase of prices to the increased flow of money into industrial expansion.

The cost of living is getting increased attention in labor newspapers and magazines. They resentfully deplore attempts to lay the blame for the increased cost of living on wage increases for labor. They argue that wage increases could be absorbed by industry without raising prices by pointing to the record profits of industry.

Seeking to make common cause with farmers, labor organs are constantly pointing out that, though the price of food to consumers has increased, the income of farmers has been going down. In June an all-time peak was reached in the prices the farmer had to pay for operating expenses, family living costs, interests, wages and taxes.

Proverb Enacted

MAGNOLIA, Ark.—A cat's curiosity plunged an area from this south central Arkansas town to the Louisiana border into darkness one night.

The cat crawled atop a main electric power circuit breaker here. Power company officials said a charge of 13,800 volts killed the cat.

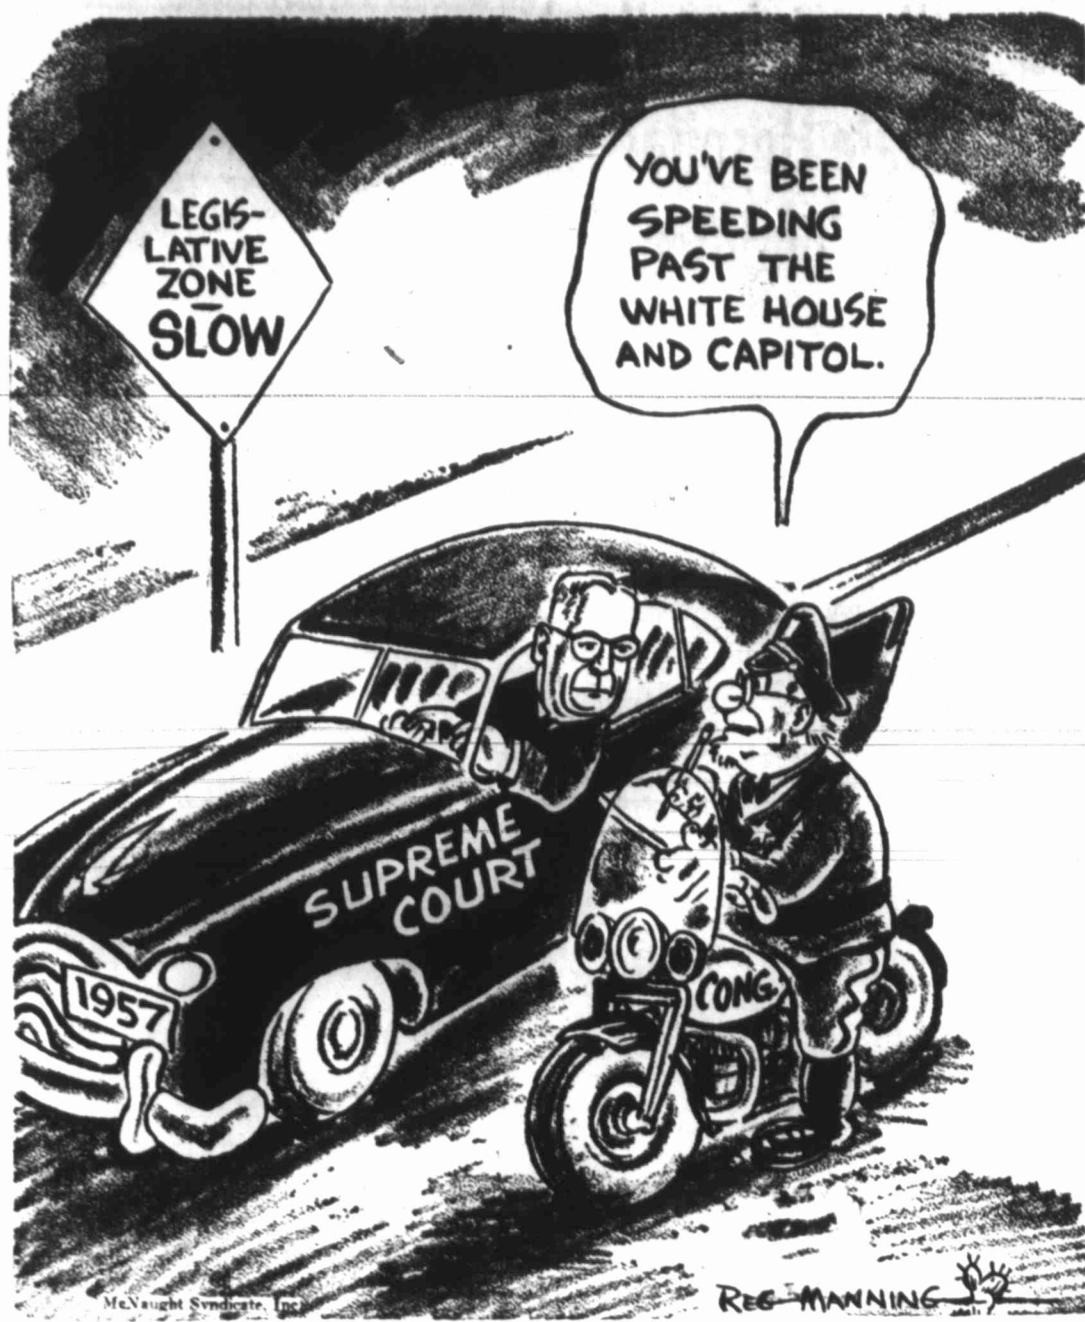

Power workers were stumped by the electric failure until someone spotted the dead cat.

Good Bargain

SALEM, Va.—John H. Tingler was high bidder at $125 for an old house which this town wanted razed to make room for an addition to the water plant. Tingler, in dismantling the house, found a tin box in the attic containing a lot of old money, United States bills of the old wide size now taken out of circulation, which he disposed of for $500.

They're Ready

DENVER, Colo.—If another war comes, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hannum will be prepared. The Hannums are having an air raid shelter built in the backyard of their north Denver home. The shelter, 10 by 14 feet and six feet high, is being built beneath six feet of earth and reinforced concrete. Two entrances will lead into the room, to be stocked with distilled water, canned goods and other necessities. Hannum is a trucker.

Who Gets What In Civil Rights?

WASHINGTON.—There is an almost topsy-turvy air about the Senate fight over the civil rights bill which President Eisenhower's administration backed.

And like offstage music one question hovers over all that's being done: who gets what out of this—Negroes, the Republicans, the Democrats?

The administration put the heat on House Republicans last June to pass this bill intact, as the administration wanted it. They got behind it in big numbers.

The Republicans are conscious of the growing importance of Negro votes in the North. With passage of this bill, they could expect a show of political gratitude from Northern Negroes in the next elections.

And if the bill, as passed, had any real teeth in it and enabled more Southern Negroes to vote, the Republicans could expect benefits there, too.

The degree of Negro gratitude, however, may be in direct relation to (1) whether the bill passes and (2) whether it has teeth.

No matter what happens the Republicans can claim that Eisenhower and Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, led the fight for it. But when the House-passed bill got over to the Senate, and Southern Democrats began their real fight against it, Knowland felt pressure to weaken it. Together with Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), he proposed a softening amendment. And Knowland has further changes in mind, although the House went down the line to pass almost exactly the kind of bill the administration wanted it.

But there is a complicated situation in the Senate.

There the Republicans can hardly be called all Eisenhower Republicans. But because of the circumstances—a bill backed by Eisenhower and Knowland—those who follow Eisenhower will back some kind of bill, and so will those who like Knowland.

The Democrats, North and South, have their own problem: with Southerners against it and some, if not all, Northerners for it, the Democrats have the task of preserving some kind of party unity.

Behind the scenes Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate leader of the Democrats, is working to produce a compromise which Northern and Southern Democrats, and perhaps Republicans, can accept.

Johnson, whose Democrats have a majority in the Senate, is in the strange position of watching Knowland, leader of the Republican minority, put up the fight for civil rights which the Democrats had always promised.

And if the Southerners want no part of compromise, even for party unity, they face the possibility of defeat by a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats.

300,000 Youths

Enter Siberia At Harvest Time

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

In the Soviet Union 300,000 young people are packing their bags and boarding trains for central Asia and central Siberia to help get in the harvest.

They'll return in the fall to their schools or jobs—but not until the grain has been reaped and delivered to government procurement stations from millions of acres of new lands put to the plow under Nikita Khrushchev's virgin lands scheme.

The mobilization from European Russia is becoming an annual event. Success of the eastern harvest depends on it in large degree.

The youths, drafted through the Communist party and particularly the Young Communist League, are called volunteers. Most of them actually have little choice about going. The party tells the Young Communist League to deliver 300,000—and they're delivered.

A lot of them may enjoy it. The work is hard and continuous, but it's in the fresh air and only for the summer. That makes these young people luckier than the youths drafted in 1954 and 1955 to go east and settle.

The young farmhands get free transport out and back and board and lodging. They also get paid extra in grain and cash. Some who work on state farms, as distinct from collective farms, receive a minimum of 12 rubles cash—equal at the official exchange to $3 a day.

Those young people who get leave from jobs to go east also receive 50 per cent of their base pay at home all the time they are gone.

Rainey Taught Conservatives A Lesson

The firing of Prof. Abernethy at Texas Tech, which some experts ascribe to political machinations, has stirred speculation that the incident might grow into another bitter fight such as was once fought over Dr. Homer Price Rainey, deposed as president of the University of Texas. Later as a freshman at Texas U., I was active in his campaign. I do not think the Abernethy case is a repetition, for the vital issues of Rainey's day are no longer vital nor as emotional. Dr. Rainey's position made him a statewide figure; Dr. Abernethy would need time to build a large personal as well as political loyalty.

The Rainey campaign taught conservatives a bitter lesson, and they are for the most part more moderate today. Milder conservatives were repulsed by the nauseous manner in which Dr. Rainey's character was assassinated. The Rainey controversy got started in the early 1940's when the regents fired him. He had resisted attempts by some regents to muzzle some of the more outspoken professors and perhaps reshape the university's educational policies toward a more conservative viewpoint. Dr. Rainey upheld the traditional issue of academic freedom under which a professor has the right to teach a course as he thinks it can be taught best. The president had most of the faculty and the vast majority of the student body with him. Nearly 5,000 students marched solemnly down Congress Avenue, pulling a caisson on which was borne a black casket bearing the inscription: "Academic Freedom."

I will remember another mass march from the campus in the spring of 1946. Some student support for Dr. Rainey had died down by that time, but there were still several thousand willing to march to Woodridge park where he was to make a major campaign talk.

It was my freshman year, and I was full of nobility and love of justice. With a lump in my throat I joined with the massed students in singing a parody of that famous Teasipper anthem, "The Ayes of Texas Will Be For You."

I also will remember the adulation of a minority among Dr. Rainey's supporters for their candidate. It was these nitwits the campus Commies went after. Strangely, only a handful were converted. It might have been because Dr. Rainey himself detested communism. Said he: "I hate communism; it is brutal; it is atheistic; it is un-Christian; it is un-American."

The campus Commies tried and failed to infiltrate or take control of the student Rainey movement. Having failed, they gave us the kiss of death. A few days before the run-off election, the Daily Worker printed a front page article praising Dr. Rainey as the Communists' fair-haired boy, and made more than a million reprints, available to some of Dr. Rainey's opponents. These reprints were put in mailboxes over the state the night before the election.

A war veteran later admitted a regent had talked him into writing and signing a slander sheet in which he labeled Dr. Rainey a Communist, a "nigger-lover," a drunkard and an atheist. Actually he was anti-Communist, believed in separate but equal schools for black and white, was a leetaler and an ordained Baptist minister. On the other extreme, opponents were telling liquor store operators that Dr. Rainey planned to "make the whole state dry."

I was placed on scholastic probation after the August 1946 run-off election. This was not because of reprisal; I had put too much work into the campaign and not enough into studying. I also got fired from a state job running an elevator in a government building—was doing too much politicking on the job.

I consider myself lucky in having learned something out of the bitterness of the Rainey campaign.

How About Gum-Chewers Anonymous?

This curmudgeon has just read some statistics that have set her blood pressure leaping through her S. Victor chapeau like Old Faithful. Read 'em for yourself and weep:

The National Health Education Committee, Inc., in a handbook just published, cites figures to prove that this great, fantastically rich nation of ours spends more than twice as much annually on chewing gum as it does on medical research!

The National Institute of Health received from Congress for the fiscal year of 1957 a total of $102,224,000 for research grants, fellowships and intramural research in the major killers or diseases that carry off young and old. Add to this, at most, another $18 or $20 million for research anted up by the voluntary health agencies that have to scratch for every cent they raise.

And then know that in 1955, the latest year for which these figures are available, American gum-chewers spent $282,360,000 for the cud that keeps their jaws wagging in the nearest approximation of perpetual motion known to man.

This figure of $282,360,000 accounts only for the across-the-counter expenditure for the stuff. It does not include the sum, at least equal in magnitude, spent on cleaning bills by innocent bystanders who accidentally sit or step on an abandoned quid.

Nor does it include the sums, probably a billion annually, spent for psychiatric help by those other innocent bystanders who have been driven off their rockers by fellow-workers who, in the gum sweet-stakes, are snappers, poppers and—or wet-smackers.

Since the beginning of time, man has been slowly, surely and painfully dragging away from the animal kingdom in his determination to differentiate himself from it and prove he is a higher type creature. Man just about had it made in his move away from the apes and toward the angels when chewing gum came on the market. He voluntarily set himself back several millennia when he acquired the habit of chewing a cud, a trait that has marked the cow as a lesser beast since time immemorial.

At least, the cow has an excuse. Nature made it a ruminant with a big, four-part economy-sized stomach that requires that extra, added chewing. But man has no such vindication. He imitates Elsie the Cow, Elmer the Bull and Ferdinand the Florist for no good reason.

I doubt if any single American trait has given this nation a blacker eye or her citizens a more unfortunate reputation abroad than our addiction to gum-chewing. There is a thesis ripe for the plucking, by an aspiring Ph.D., in the harm that gum-chewing has visited upon United States' foreign relations and the derogatory prestige it has earned American citizens.

In many parts of the world "gum-chewing" American tourist is one word. And they don't mean it kindly! How could they?

"The habit of chewing gum is perhaps peculiar to the United States," says the Encyclopedia Americana. "Peculiar" is the right word. We have parlayed a nervous habit into a degrading national trait.

Isn't it possible to break ourselves of this noxious habit, to organize for gum-chewers a compassionate group similar to Alcoholics Anonymous?

And perhaps, in the near future, to devote of medical research as to an insupportable habit?

Need For Brains, Or Fear Thereof?

WASHINGTON.—Senator Kerr, Democrat, of Oklahoma, raised a very delicate issue in the Senate the other day—the subject of "brains." He said that President Eisenhower doesn't have "brains" in matters of government finance.

This brings up the question of who really has "brains," anyway, on fiscal policy today. Senator Capahaw of Indiana, Republican, said that Senator Kerr should be "ashamed" to say what he did about the President. Mr. Kerr retorted that he was applying the remark solely to financial matters. As for those who have "no brains at all," the Oklahoma senator declared he was reserving that "broad and sweeping accusation" for some of his colleagues in the Senate.

The average man may possibly derive from this the impression that perhaps there are some men in the Senate without "brains." This would be a regrettable inference. For it does take a good deal of brain power, after all, just to get elected nowadays, though cynics argue, of course, that it doesn't require much "brains" to fool the public in an election campaign.

Various senators, to be sure, have in their speeches from time to time in history hinted that maybe some of their colleagues didn't have "brains." So Mr. Kerr's size-up of some present-day senators has precedent on its side. In fact, there have been senators who frequently have gone so far as to let it be known that they really didn't think the President of the United States, when he happened to be a member of an opposite political party, possessed any "brains."

When it comes to the "brains" of a chief executive, it must be conceded that discussion has never been inhibited. With unbecoming modesty, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt once confessed to a nationwide radio audience that whatever errors he had made were "mistakes of the mind rather than of the heart." Nor did he hide the shortcomings in his knowledge of various public questions. He let it be known that he was popularly known in the 1930's as a "brain trust."

As a matter of fact, what is most needed currently is a new kind of "brain trust"—one that believes in the simple truth that it isn't right to rob Peter of his wages to pay Paul a subsidy out of the government treasury.

The trouble really is that the people as a whole haven't any "brain trust" to help them ferret out the deficiencies of some of their elected representatives. There is, of course, the press, which in the main can be helpful, but even here it will be gladly conceded that omniscience is not attainable. Strange as it may seem, there are still many questions on public affairs to which nobody has as yet found the answers.

But even when "brains" are definitely discovered and isolated, what can be done in matters of fiscal policy, for instance, to persuade various senators, especially the Democrats, to accept as disinterested the policies laid down by such a body of brainful experts as the Federal Reserve Board?

Notwithstanding the fact that the Federal Reserve Board has, on its own initiative, put into effect the so-called "tight money" policy—the natural operation of interest rates in a free economy—marking the emancipation of the board from the political influences of 20 years of New Dealism, there are Democrats in Congress who hold the President responsible for whatever the Federal Reserve Board does.

The particular subject under debate in the Senate when the "brain storm" occurred was whether an independent commission should be appointed, as requested by the President, to make a comprehensive study of all aspects of monetary policy—a scientific study such as has not been made in 40 years.

But the confessed effort to put the "brains" of the country to work in a new study has met only with characteristically partisan comments from the Democrats. Must it be sadly recorded that it is not the absence of "brains," but the fear of "brains," which inspires the opposition to the appointment of a national commission on fiscal policy?

WATERLOO, Neb.—Several years of drought turned a lot of Nebraska farmers to irrigation.

This year the shoe has been on the other foot and abnormally heavy rains have caused flooding and left water standing in many fields.

A number of farmers, like Clarence Clover who lives south of Waterloo, had the ready-made remedy: They simply use their irrigation equipment in reverse and pump the water out of their fields.

T. C. Pattersons To Celebrate 60th Anniversary With Open House

It all began at an old-fashioned singing some 65 years ago. From that first meeting, until five years later when they were married, has led to 60 years of happily married life for Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Patterson, 1215 West 6th.

When young Liddie Mayes first saw T. C. Patterson he was the leader of a singing being held at her house.

"I had never seen him before that time, but all the girls and I called him the pale-faced singer," Mrs. Patterson recalls with a chuckle.

Five years later, on July 18, 1879, they were married in her home near Mt. Pleasant by the Rev. Bud Riddles, pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church.

"It was just a wedding for the family, and I even had to borrow a dress to marry in," Mrs. Patterson remembered.

Recalling the job that Patterson got the day after they married brings a smile to both of them.

"I hauled bricks for several miles and got paid 75 cents a day," Patterson smiled. "In those days that was a lot of money though," he added.

Things were just not as easy in those days as life today. When one of their children was seriously burned, there was no doctor to call upon, so Mrs. Patterson mixed up a salve of syrup and soda, which healed the burns. Not that it wouldn't have been nice to have a doctor near, but as Mrs. Patterson says "you just had to get by on your own then."

The Pattersons moved from their home near Mt. Pleasant to Howard County in 1909 and have lived in Big Spring since 1933.

During that time, until he retired, Patterson was engaged in the farming business and did some carpenter work.

GREAT CHANGES
The greatest change that Mrs. Patterson thinks has come about since their move to Big Spring are the concrete sidewalks to replace the old plank sidewalks.

Patterson thinks the biggest change is the school system which has grown to many schools from the one-community school building that was located where the Post Office now stands.

They both recall with pleasure their first ride in a "motor car." Mrs. Patterson wasn't at all sure it would get them to church on time and kept leaning out the window to see if the tires were moving!

To celebrate the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary the Pattersons are holding an open house Sunday afternoon from 4-6 o'clock in their home. They are inviting all their many friends to attend.

EIGHT CHILDREN
On hand for the affair will be six of their eight children. To assist them Sunday will be their sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Patterson of Oildale, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Miss Williamson - F. Hunt Feted At Final Parties

Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church was the scene of the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening honoring Tommie Jo Williamson, Frank Hunt and members of their wedding party.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt, parents of the prospective bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coffey were host couples for the dinner attended by 28.

The honored couple's table was decorated with an arrangement of blue and white shasta daisies. Other tables held floral centerpieces of pink and white.

Places were marked for members of the wedding party with gifts from Miss Williamson and Hunt.

Miss Williamson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Williamson, and Hunt will be married this evening in the First Methodist Church.

For the dinner the honoree was attired in a dress of lilac polished cotton and she wore white accessories.

BRIDESMAID LUNCHEON
Mrs. K. H. McGibbon and Kendra, and Mrs. Roscoe Cowper were hostesses today at 1 p.m. for the bridesmaids luncheon held in the McGibbon home.

For the luncheon Miss Williamson wore a dress of rose cotton trimmed in white and she wore white accessories. Her corsage was of blue and white.

Guests were seated at quartet tables which were covered with white cloths and held nosegays of blue and white flowers.

At the bride's table places were marked with miniature white wrought iron chairs covered with blue satin.

The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue carnations with a large blue and white net parasol over the arrangement.

Special guests at the luncheon were the grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. H. F. Williamson and Mrs. J. W. Canyon of Austin.

Twenty-eight guests were present at the luncheon.

Designers, Architects In Dilemma: They Want New Look In Homes

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (U.S.) — Undecided about the type of house to build or the style of furniture to put in it? Think nothing of it. You're in the company of architects and designers of furniture who have reached a sort of crossroads in their search for a new look.

In fact, it seems they don't know which road to take because they confess they don't know what YOU want.

This appeared evident during the international summer furniture market where designers, manufacturers and buyers of home furnishings gathered and discussed today's discerning homemakers.

They find that the homemaker is budgeting her desires because she wants to be sure she's up with the fashions and the Joneses.

Gen. Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, says that one-third of all women in the United States are now employed and well over half of them are married women, not single or widowed.

"They work for that extra money for clothes, car, furniture and they want style," he says.

WHAT NEXT?
This is the area that stumps the designers. They don't know which road style will take, so they have created a sort of contemporary design that is a blend of many cultures.

The furniture designer looks to the architect for inspiration for new creations. The architect looks everywhere for his theme.

Both agree that we live in a machine age of steel, glass and automation. We've lived with these cold things for so long that our furnishings are beginning to reflect this influence.

Edward Wormley, furniture designer, says that there is a noticeable questioning of the square and geometric in what is known as international architecture, which originated in Germany in the early '20s.

The designers feel that it now is cold and unfriendly. They seek new guideposts for American creations. They want a new American design based on the American tradition and its amalgamation of people and cultures.

Wormley says the American idea began to flower at the turn of the 19th century.

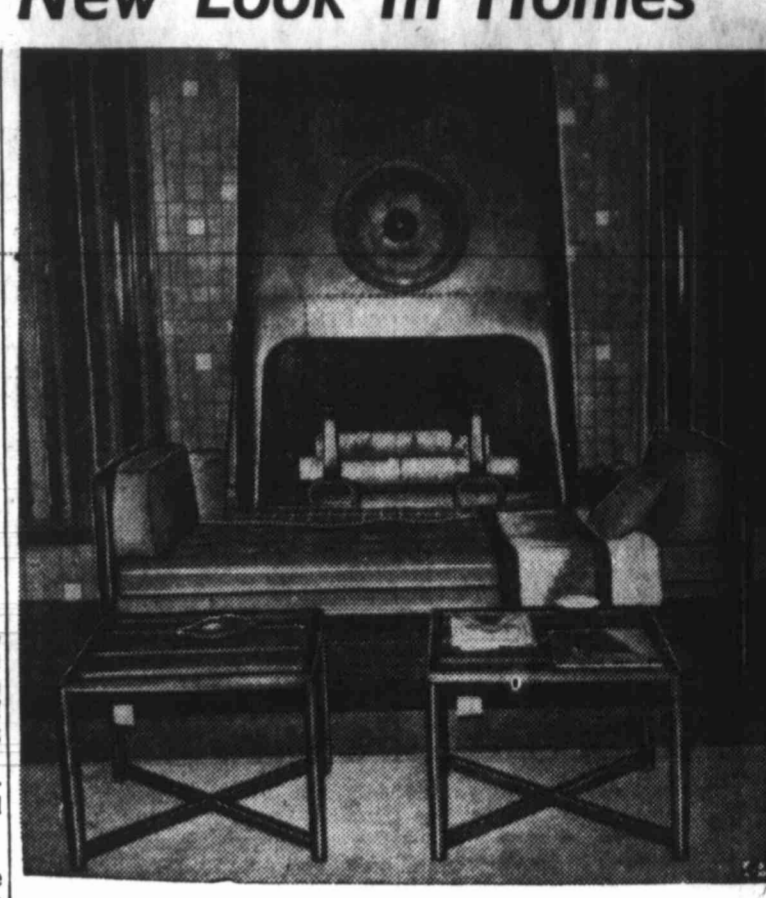

The ranch house of the west, the Newport "cottage," early Frank Lloyd Wright and the bungalow of the Midwest have influenced home designs.

EVOLUTION OF DESIGN
Victorian, early American and Swedish modern furniture have steadily experienced an evolution of design into what now is known as contemporary.

Contemporary furniture has many forms and is scaled to fit into today's small family home. In some cases it is a modification of Colonial, French Provincial, and traditional furniture.

Designer John Van Koert takes exception.

"We are suffering from too much Ivy League look," he says.

New Design
This room setting is an example of Edward Wormley's efforts for something different. The black iron fireplace of original design is the center of interest. A sofa bed rests on the raised hearth and low occasional tables in the foreground show Oriental influence.

There's too much predictability. Although we've produced nicely constructed, utilitarian, light and crisp designs, we've grown a little tired of it.

Larry Peabody, designer, suggests that the sculptured look from Denmark is highly adaptable to American tastes. His formula for home furnishings selection is the use of half antique and half modern pieces.

This seems to be the essence of the new look revealed in terms such as the new humanism, the new romanticism, the new individualism.

But Designer Forest Wilson's approach is more simple. He finds that it's more effective not to follow a distinct style or trend but devise his own style from contemporary design for a mass market.

Still confused?

Young People Of Local Churches Have Variety Of Summer Activities

Although summer months bring a lull in activities for the youth of Big Spring, most local churches are filling that need by giving them the spiritual and social life that they desire.

Some churches have employed ministerial students to direct the summer youth programs, while other church youth directors have planned special activities.

BAPTIST
At the Baptist Temple Church Jimmie Bennett, a student at the Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, is directing the activities of the youth for the summer.

Twice a month a Fun Night for the junior department, ages 9-12, is held. On alternate Friday nights a Fun Night for the Youth, ages 13-18, is held. Every Sunday evening after the regular worship hour, youth fellowship is held.

On Sunday afternoons the Royal Ambassador organization meets to play baseball. Various camp activities are available for both junior and intermediate departments.

Electra Chrane, a spring graduate of Mary Hardin Baylor College, is the new youth director at the First Baptist Church. On Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock Teeners Fellowship is held for the 13-16 age group. Following the Sunday evening worship, the youth fellowship meet.

Planned for Aug. 4-11 is the Youth Week when the youth of the church will take over all activities of the church. Over 300 are planning to participate in this annual activity.

In conjunction with the youth week is the Youth Revival, Aug. 7-11. Four young people will be preaching at the services. They are David Craddock, Thomas Lynn, Richard Tucker and Bob Phillips.

Also being planned is a youth retreat. Several of the young people are planning to attend the Giorietta Baptist Assembly to be held in New Mexico later in the summer.

CHRISTIAN
A special summer activity for the youth at the First Christian Church was the summer camp held at the Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat. From June 2-8, the 11-12 grade group attended; from June 9-15, the 9-10 grade group, and from June 17-22, the 7-8 grade group attended.

Several of the young people will attend the State Youth Convention.

Credit Women Have Social Gathering
Sixteen members of the Credit Women's Club were present at their meeting Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce Conference room when they gathered for a social hour.

The group presented Mrs. Coy Nalley with a bon voyage gift. She will leave soon for a tour of Europe. Mrs. Ralph Baker won the capsule fund. The next meeting will be Aug. 1.

Balsa Wood Is Used To Absorb Shocks

By RAMON COFFMAN

If you saw a man walking along easily with a log on his shoulders, and if the log had a diameter of one foot and a length of seven feet, you might exclaim, "What a strong man he must be!"

Such a sight may be observed, at times, in a Latin-American country inside the Torrid Zone. A man may carry even a 10-foot or a 12-foot log on one of his shoulders without too much effort.

Remember that I have spoken of "logs." You may ask, "What kind of log?" That is a good question!

The logs carried in that manner come from the trunks of balsa trees. A balsa log seven feet long weighs only about 35 pounds! A 10-foot balsa log, one foot in diameter, weighs about the same as the (49-pound) sack of flour which used to be common in city groceries, as well as in village stores.

Balsa is the lightest wood in the world. A block of it weighs half as much as a block of cork of the same size.

In Bolivia it has been the custom for hundreds of years to make boats from balsa wood. Many balsa boats are fitted with sails.

During the present century balsa wood has come into widespread use outside of Latin America. It is popular for model airplanes. Sometimes it is employed in making inside parts of large airplanes.

Another use is as a shock absorber. It is used for packing many pianos.

Several other trees have lightweight wood. One of these is the alligator-apple of the Florida Everglades. Another is the North American corkwood, chiefly confined to swamps of Texas, Florida and southeastern Missouri.

At Forsan

The Rev. M. R. Stanfield, New Boston, will evangelize for the revival meeting which will start Sunday at the Forsan Baptist Church. The revival will continue with 8 p.m. services daily through Aug. 4 with a climaxing church homecoming on that date.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday the Howard County Singing Convention will meet at the church. Singing for the revival will be led by the Rev. L. L. Garner, pastor.

Unquenchable Fire Puzzles Firemen

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sacramento firemen thought they had found an unquenchable fire. At 4:50 p.m. yesterday they were called to Cap's Coffee Shop. They doused a grease fire. At 6:10 there was another call. Cap's grease fire.

Firemen had just returned to their base when a third call came from Cap's.

"It turned out there was a leaking grease drain," explained owner Lois Thompson.

Caleb, Man of Faith and Courage

HE FOLLOWED THE WILL OF GOD ALL HIS LIFE

Scripture—Numbers 13; 14:1-10, 24, 30, 38; Joshua 14:6-15; 15:13-19; Judges 1:14-15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE BIBLE references on today's lesson are many, and it may well be that teachers will find it rather difficult to cover them all in one lesson. They can, however, concentrate on the principal character, Caleb, and teach the moral of his courage and faith in his Maker so that it will be a profitable period of both the young and older pupils.

God tells Moses to choose leaders of his people and send them out to spy out the land of Canaan which he has promised them. The names of the men who were chosen by Moses are included in Numbers 13. Caleb and Joshua were included in this group.

So these men "went up and searched the land," and "they came unto the brook of Eschol, a captain to take them back to Egypt, rather than die here in the wilderness. They even talked of stoning Moses and Aaron, who fell on their faces before the multitude.

Caleb and Joshua rent their clothes and told the ungrateful people that the land was good, and if they had faith in the Lord, their God, who had done so much for them, they could inhabit the land He had promised, but to no avail.

Then an angry God appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation before all the children of Israel. He said that none of the faithless, rebellious people should see the land that He had promised them. "But My servant Caleb, because he had another spirit with him, and hath followed Me fully, him will I bring into the land whereto he went, and his seed shall possess it."

All the men who spied in Canaan died from a plague sent by God, only Caleb and Joshua lived to occupy it, although Moses prayed earnestly that God would forgive the others.

The last glimpse we have of Caleb in this lesson is when he was 85 years old. He was telling Joshua that he was 40 years old when Moses sent him to spy out the land of Canaan.

After 45 years Caleb was still strong and well, thanks to God, and he was ready to go to war to conquer the promised land and to come back from war, for "if it so be the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able to drive (his enemies) out, as the Lord said."

MEMORY VERSE

"I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song."—Isaiah 12:2.

and cut down from thence a branch with one cluster of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a staff." This region still produces the largest of grapes, we are told. They also brought pomegranates and figs.

In spite of the fruitful soil their report was most discouraging to their people. The land was truly "flowing with milk and honey" but the people were strong, there were giants among them; their cities were walled, and it would be impossible for the Israelites to conquer the land. Caleb tried to quiet the people, saying, "Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it."

The congregation was not comforted, however. They wept all night, and they murmured against Moses and Aaron, and said to one another that they should appoint a captain to take them back to Egypt, rather than die here in the wilderness. They even talked of stoning Moses and Aaron, who fell on their faces before the multitude.

Caleb and Joshua rent their clothes and told the ungrateful people that the land was good, and if they had faith in the Lord, their God, who had done so much for them, they could inhabit the land He had promised, but to no avail.

Such a sight may be observed, at times, in a Latin-American country inside the Torrid Zone. A man may carry even a 10-foot or a 12-foot log on one of his shoulders without too much effort.

Remember that I have spoken of "logs." You may ask, "What kind of log?" That is a good question!

The logs carried in that manner come from the trunks of balsa trees. A balsa log seven feet long weighs only about 35 pounds! A 10-foot balsa log, one foot in diameter, weighs about the same as the (49-pound) sack of flour which used to be common in city groceries, as well as in village stores.

Balsa is the lightest wood in the world. A block of it weighs half as much as a block of cork of the same size.

In Bolivia it has been the custom for hundreds of years to make boats from balsa wood. Many balsa boats are fitted with sails.

During the present century balsa wood has come into widespread use outside of Latin America. It is popular for model airplanes. Sometimes it is employed in making inside parts of large airplanes.

Another use is as a shock absorber. It is used for packing many pianos.

Several other trees have lightweight wood. One of these is the alligator-apple of the Florida Everglades. Another is the North American corkwood, chiefly confined to swamps of Texas, Florida and southeastern Missouri.

At Forsan

The Rev. M. R. Stanfield, New Boston, will evangelize for the revival meeting which will start Sunday at the Forsan Baptist Church. The revival will continue with 8 p.m. services daily through Aug. 4 with a climaxing church homecoming on that date.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday the Howard County Singing Convention will meet at the church. Singing for the revival will be led by the Rev. L. L. Garner, pastor.

Unquenchable Fire Puzzles Firemen

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sacramento firemen thought they had found an unquenchable fire. At 4:50 p.m. yesterday they were called to Cap's Coffee Shop. They doused a grease fire. At 6:10 there was another call. Cap's grease fire.

Firemen had just returned to their base when a third call came from Cap's.

"It turned out there was a leaking grease drain," explained owner Lois Thompson.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

ONE IDEA OF GOD

At the entrance to the valley where they buried their kings an ancient and industrious people carved the Sphinx.

This was their idea of God: the body of a lion, suggesting power . . . the face of a man, suggesting personality . . . the whole amazing image suggesting their belief in a MIGHTY deity who could be KNOWN.

Today, in our churches, we worship God as Jesus Christ revealed Him: almighty but merciful . . . knowing and eager to be known . . . loving man and seeking man's love . . . saving all who believe in their Saviour—His Son!

Can the ancient Sphinx have any significance for men and women like ourselves who have before us the Gospel and example of Christ?

Only this: As long as it remains, the awesome Sphinx will remind us of man's search for God. Just as our own church bells remind us of our opportunity to know, love, and serve Him!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Nobody Loses Like Leaders In Nat'l

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
If you've got the idea the National League contenders have rolled over and played dead once they made the top, you're right. Nobody loses like the leaders these days.

Loses Match For Ike's Pro

Ted Slesinger, golf pro for President Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa., examines the ball which sank in the 17th green during the PGA tournament at Dayton, Ohio, and resulted in his elimination from the tournament. On the putting shot that followed, Slesinger hit the ball again on the follow through and lost the hole. He then halved the 18th hole and was eliminated by Dow Finsterwald.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Levelland voters recently OK'd bonds ($800,000 worth) for a junior college. That means the West Zone of the Texas Junior College Conference, of which HCJC is a member, will probably include six teams in the not too distant future.

Dr. Tony Hunt of HCJC went to Levelland to help sell the voters there on the bond issue and it carried by a 2-1 margin.

When Dick Mayer defeated Cary Middlecoff in that playoff for the U.S. Open golf crown recently, he was swinging glass-shafted clubs. Aary, of course, was using the conventional steel shafts. Mayer achieved his win, Billy Burke won a U.S. Open playoff from George Von Elm.

Burke turned to the new-fangled steel shafted clubs that day. Von Elm was playing with hickory shafted clubs, universally employed at that time.

Mayer said he got a longer drive with a glass shaft "because there is no torque."

The New York Yankees may be the most highly regarded organization in all of baseball but they display a regard for some of their methods haven't changed in 20 years.

Back around 1939, Big Spring had a loose working agreement with the Yanks and was supplied players through the late Joe Devine, their West Coast scout.

The local club that year was seized with a phobia when it came to dizzying heights. It never climbed out of the second division, despite repeated calls for assistance to the Yanks. The local operators saw fit to terminate the agreement at an early date.

This year, New Orleans of the Southern Association aligned itself with the Yankee organization with disastrous results. The Yankee brass seems to care not a whit whether or not New Orleans remains in business in the AA League. The world champions have turned deaf to any suggestion they help New Orleans financially and, worse still, will give the Pels very little additional playing help.

Obviously, they're interested only in keeping their own hired hands busy.

The overall attitude of the big leagues toward the minors has become insufferable.

An occasional caller at this window, after reading here my comments on the fact that a lot of Texas money is leaving the state and showing up at horse track part-mutuel windows beyond our borders, recalls that Retail Merchant associations around Fort Worth and Dallas helped bury legalized betting at Arlington Downs years ago.

Too many of the gentry were taking the rent money and poking it through the betting window, hoping the longshots would come in and ball them out of hock.

Al Milch, the local football coach, is not long back from Alpine, where he witnessed a baseball tournament won by the host team, the Alpine Cowboys.

Al says the calibre of baseball in the meet was as good as the best, a tribute to the wealthy sponsor, Herbert Kokernot.

One of the Alpine players, incidentally, is Larry Click, an SMU quarterback you'll probably be hearing a lot about next fall.

Sterling's W. L. Young Is West All-Star Coach

ABILENE (SC) — Coaches for the all-star football and basketball games of the 1957 convention of the Six-Man Football Coaches Assn. of Texas have been announced by E. A. Works of Afton, executive secretary of the association.

The five-day coaching clinic will be held here on the campus of McMurry College July 23 through Aug. 2, with hundreds of coaches from about 150 members schools expected.

The West football squad will be coached by W. L. (Diddle) Young of Sterling City, T. L. (Syrup) Jones of China (Texas) has been named to coach the Easterners.

Coaches for the basketball all-stars will be Jiggs Jackson of Cotton Center for the West, and Doyle Jones of Harleton for the East.

Special features of the six-man coaching school will be lectures on football, basketball, track, athletic injuries, rules, and public relations. Twenty-four outstanding footballers and a like number of basketball stars from six-man schools have been invited to play in the all star games on the evenings of Aug. 1 and 2.

Tentative squad rosters for the all-star football game:

WEST — Geoffrey Caldwell, Mobeetie; Marvin Crawford, Guthrie; Maxie Tankersley, Mertzon; Bill Young, Sterling City; Frank Ortego, D-Hanis; Jimmie Luce, Barkdale; Leland Bean, Buckholts; Tommy Ross, Imperial; Pete Lewis, Dell City; Burley Roberts, Enoch; Joe Ike Clay,

Snead, Ford Are Still Favorites At Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sammy Snead, 45, and Doug Ford, 34, continued to rule as red-hot favorites, but each could be cooled off quickly, as 16 survivors surged today into the 39th National PGA championship's fourth round of match play.

Several darkhorses, who surprised everyone including themselves by getting this far in the man-to-man combat, were scattered through the list. But plenty of tournament-tested talent was still around, too.

Dow Finsterwald, 27, of Tequesta, Fla., and Athens, Ohio, one of the brightest of the young stars, was the road block in Snead's path today. Finsterwald hasn't been out of the money in 56 straight tournaments and has $21,447 to show for his 1957 club-swinging.

FOR CITY CROWN

Local 826, Flicks Remain In Scrap

Local 826 and the Flicks 'hung tough' in the city Little League playoffs here Thursday night.

The Locals outlasted Reed Oil 9-5, in a battle of Texas League teams while the Flicks blanked the Cubs, 2-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Tony Herring, who made a surprise appearance on the mound.

In games tonight, the Flicks try the Locals at 6 o'clock while the Yankees oppose the God Sox at 8 o'clock. Championship finals are scheduled for Saturday night.

The Yankees are slight favorites to emerge as the city titlists but face a toughie in the God Sox line. The Sox are, like the Yanks, members of the National League.

Larry Sanders managed both of the Cubs' hits off Herring. The Bruins had plenty of opportunities to score against Herring but couldn't crash through.

Baxter Moore scored the Flicks' first run in the 'hello' inning after singling. He stole second and rode home on a double by Sonny Patterson.

The LeFevre twins, Zay and Jay, dominated the spotlight in Junior Ten-Age baseball league play here Thursday night.

Zay, fanning 11 and walking six, pitched the Optimists past the KP's, 10-4, while Jay fashioned his second no-hitter of the year as the undefeated Bums rapped the Herald, 26-1.

The Optimist-KP battle was fairly close until the sixth, when the Optimists broke through for five runs.

Mike Nelson had three hits for the winners, including a double. Zay himself collected two singles. Tommy Whatley had three singles for the Tigers.

The Bums batted around in every inning but the third in their one-sided victory over the Herald. Jay fanned 12 and issued only two walks.

The Newbies got their run in the third when Melvin Wrightsel reached first on an interference ruling, stole second and came home on an error.

Jay helped his own cause with a bases-loaded home run in the fourth. In all, he accounted for six RBIs.

Bob Andrews hit doubles in the second and the fourth innings for the winners. Jerry Tucker also had three safeties for the Bums.

McCue Stakes Is Scheduled At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M. (SC) — Thoroughbred and quarter horse share top billing at Ruidoso Downs Saturday afternoon, with the "Peter McCue Stakes" for quarter-breds and the "Hollywood Handicap" for thoroughbreds.

"The Peter McCue Stakes," named in honor of Peter McCue, one of the most famous quarter horses of all times, will be run as the eleventh race on the card and brings out a field of eight sprinters.

Corbett's Star, owned by W. W. Wilson, of Amber, Oklahoma, looms as the possible choice in this race. Second to Pap in the "Quarter Horse Championship," last Saturday, this sturdy son of Bill Doolin will have to turn in his best effort to be victorious.

Vandy's Flash and Vanevar, running as an entry for Carl Mercer, will once again match their speed in this 400 yard dash. Vandy's Flash, third his last out to Pap and Corbett's Star, could turn back this band of sprinters with little effort.

Others to contest will be Flash Bars, trying for his fourth win at the current meeting, Ridge Butler, King Lad, Spanish Charge, and Brigid.

Eight Entered In JC Tourney

Number of entries in the Big Spring Jaycee Junior golf tournament had risen to eight this morning. Players who desire to take part in the Saturday tournament have until 5 o'clock today to register.

Tournament director Bruce Sweeney was hopeful at least a dozen boys would tee off in the medal play meet, which will be conducted on both local courses.

The rewards are high. The four low qualifiers get an all-expense paid trip to the State meet at the Ranchland Hills Country Club in Midland. Four low qualifiers there get a trip to the national tournament at Columbus, Ohio, with all expenses paid.

Entries tee off at the country club at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. They'll play nine holes there and another nine at the Muni Saturday afternoon.

Favorites in the tournament here include Richard Atkins and Larry Holmes. Others entered to date include Gregg Gossett, Dave McNallen, Fred Lamun, Allen Dunn, Richard Clark and Gil Jones Jr.

Request from Al Milch, athletic director, that a station wagon be purchased for the high school athletic department was tabled by trustees last night, pending completion of the school budget for 1957-58.

Milch had requested purchase of the vehicle when his proposed athletic department budget of about $54,000 was submitted to trustees last night.

Trustees last night asked Supt. Floyd Parsons to investigate costs of purchasing or leasing a station wagon and operating the vehicle.

White bass are schooling from the Lake J. B. Thomas dam west past the Vincent road.

Hiram Reid, patrolman, said that sometimes it seemed as if there would be an acre of surface covered by the fish flouncing, and that those who managed to get in the midst of one of these schools usually had good luck. Contrary to a natural assumption, surface plugs don't do the job; instead, a deep water type is indicated with best results at five to eight feet below the surface when the fish are running.

The only time of the day that the black bass are doing much biting is early in the morning. Usually at this time of the day they have come up to the brush and near the bank, but once the hot sun is well up, the fish retreat to the deeper, cooler waters to spend the day. Anglers seem to be having best luck wading rather than trolling.

Jack Graham is one fisherman with a touch for the bass. He came in with a string of 12 black beauties ranging from 1 1/2 to 4 pounds, and the entire lot weighed in at 25 1/2 pounds. Last week he landed a whopper, a 5-pounder, which is still a record reported for the lake.

Yellow cat continue to bite well for those who go after them on trotlines. Henry Montes, the old professor of catfishing, had 14 last week, and Henry is getting to where he won't bother to exhibit one unless it is 10 pounds or better.

Reid said that there had been numerous complaints of reckless driving by boaters. Most of these are resulting from just a handful of people, and in almost every instance they are from boats which are over-powered. Fishermen and others have been endangered by the high speed and the heavy wakes, he said.

He also asked water skiers to refrain from going up the channel. Many fishermen have retreated to and past the Willows in the upper end of the lake only to have a few skiers roar down the narrow channel, ruin fishing and slash wakes that threatened to swamp boats or bang them into the bank.

Reid suggested that with nearly 10 miles of surface in the lake property that there was plenty of room for boaters and skiers there without going up the channel.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Rory Calhoun, a sturdy middleweight who has had trouble with two guys named Joe—Giardello and Giamm—hopes to get back on the win path tonight in a 10-round match with Germaine Baillard, the Frenchman with the flowing mustache.

Temple Builds League Lead

Temple Baptist solidified its hold on first place in YMCA Church softball league standings by downing First Methodist, 10-4, here Thursday night.

Derryberry, on the mound for Temple, limited the Methodists to only one hit. That was a sixth inning double by Billy Bluhm.

The Methodists picked up two runs in the first on a walk, a hit batsman and an error.

Temple Baptist couldn't get started against White, the Methodist hurler, until the fifth but it got three in that round, added four in the sixth and its final two in the seventh.

Temple Baptist made the most of four hits, including home runs by Smith and Peay.

Coahoma Loses To Galveston

BALLINGER (SC) — Coahoma knocked into the loser's bracket in the Women's ASA state softball tournament here Friday morning when it lost to Galveston, 6-0.

Galveston, one of the favorites in the tournament, managed only one hit but Coahoma could not solve the offering of Erickson, the Galveston hurler, who also limited the Coahomans to one hit.

Coahoma, an 18-7 winner over the Sweetwater Blue Belles last night, returns to action at 5 o'clock today, at which time they play the Blue Belles again.

In the Sweetwater game, Helen Neill banged out three hits for the Coahomans, including a home run in the fourth. Gail Neill had two safeties, and Pauline Dodson had two blows and Helen Witt, Dumpey Lendersom and Gwen Rogers one each.

The game was called after five innings due to the ten-rule rule.

Hoffa Conspiracy Case Goes To Federal Jury For Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The James R. Hoffa bribery-conspiracy case goes to a Federal Court jury today for its decision.

Federal District Judge Burnita S. Matthews convened court a half-hour early to deliver her hour-long instructions to the jury on legal points.

The crucial question the jury must decide is whether Hoffa hired John Cye Cheasty, 49, a New York lawyer-investigator, as a lawyer or as a spy within the ranks of the Senate Rackets Committee.

Opposing lawyers completed their final arguments to the jury yesterday, assailing and defending Cheasty who provided most of the government's testimony against the 44-year-old Teamsters Union vice president.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Edward P. Troxell described Cheasty as "a good citizen...a patriotic citizen" and said he acted "to protect the legislative processes of this country."

Hoffa's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, called Cheasty "a self-confessed falsifier" and "a man careless with the truth."

Williams said Cheasty's story that Hoffa and Atty. Hyman I. Fischbach of Miami induced him to get a job with the committee, then bribed him to give them its secrets, was "so fantastically incredible that it scandalizes your intelligence."

Troxell, insisting that Cheasty "showed strength and character and courage to do what he did," said Hoffa "wanted a spy and he got one."

Hoffa testified that Fischbach recommended Cheasty as his co-counsel — and for no other purpose — in connection with Senate hearings into labor racketeering. He said that he didn't know until after his arrest March 13 that Cheasty had a job with the committee.

But Troxell argued that the evidence established that Cheasty told Hoffa Feb. 22 that he had been sworn in as an investigator for the committee.

Williams pictured the committee as "hungry to make a case against a man on whom they had no evidence of wrongdoing."

Troxell acknowledged that Cheasty deceived both Hoffa and Fischbach, but said he did so as "a good citizen" to foil a conspiracy to put a spy within the ranks of the committee.

Something To Reflect On

The Navy's new "mirror landing system" reflects the landing of a jet plane on the carrier U.S.S. Saratoga in a demonstration of the device at Patuxent River, Md., base. Lt. Demetree Verick watches his fellow pilots landing. Four strong beams of light are focused on the four-foot square mirror, creating a brilliant spot of light that remains centered when the incoming plane is at correct angle and glide path. The spot moves up if the plane is too high, down if too low. Green lights at top are stationary. The safety device, which has reduced landing accidents, will be installed on other carriers and land stations by the Navy.

Tobacco Hearing 'Loaded' Filter Smokes Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A researcher said today some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarettes which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarettes.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said "a safer cigarette can be made today by using an effective filter plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony prepared for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarettes by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigarettes containing tobacco which yields greater quantities of what he said was cancer-producing tar.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year. He added that at least 80 per cent of these deaths could have been prevented if the patients had not smoked.

A pathologist, Dr. R. H. Rigdon of the University of Texas Medical School, also was invited to testify today.

Recent studies, Wynder said, indicate "the majority of filtered cigarettes currently on the market have a tar and nicotine content which is at least as high, if not higher, than that of standard regular-sized cigarettes."

Wynder defined an "effective filter" as one which would remove at least 40 per cent of the tar
