Ken Roberts, Noted Author, Is Dead At 71

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP)—Author Kenneth Roberts, whose best-selling novels brought the drama of the nation's history to millions of readers, died yesterday in this seacoast village of his birth. He was 71.

Roberts, who had been in bed for a week, fell victim to coronary thrombosis. He recently had completed proof-reading "Water Unlimited," a book for October publication.

Roberts first hit the best seller list in 1937 with his "Northwest Passage," a story of French and Indian War days.

Prior to this he had produced a series of romantic novels dealing with the Revolution and the War of 1812. These started with "Arundel" and were followed by "The Lively Lady," "Rabble in Arms" and "Captain Caution."

Recently a special Pulitzer citation went to Roberts for creating "a greater interest in early American history."

Death came to the novelist at his seaside farm which he called Rocky Pastures. Here in a book-crammed studio, Roberts did much of the painstaking research and writing for his novels, the latest of which was "Boon Island." Here too he dabbled in what he called "off-beat agriculture," specializing in vegetables.

Roberts was a hard, eager worker and a stickler for accuracy and detail. "Northwest Passage," he said, required three years of the hardest kind of research "for the reader to understand in two days."

Roberts was born Dec. 8, 1885. He was graduated from Cornell in 1908 and three years later married Anna S. Mosser, who survived him. He was a staff member of the defunct Boston Post for eight years.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Cambridge, Mass. Burial will be in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Miss U.S.A. In Tears

Leona Gage, who won the Miss U.S.A. title at the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif., is in tears as newsmen question her about rumors that she is married. She first denied the charges but later admitted she had been married and had two children. The beauty contest rules require that entries be single. The Texas-reared Miss Gage, who won the title of Miss Maryland to enter the national contest, is being comforted here by her chaperone, Mrs. F. S. Crum. A new Miss U.S.A. was named.

Miss Universe Pageant Boils Over In Chaos

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—In any language, this year's Miss Universe pageant boils down to a translation of one word — chaos, sheer chaos.

It developed Saturday night that Miss Peru, queen of the entire pageant, was really only 17—under age by contest rules.

This came not too long after the disclosure that Miss U.S.A. was very much a missus, working on her second marriage, in fact, and was a mother of two — violating another entry rule that contestants must be unmarried.

Officials banished Miss U.S.A.—right into a whirlwind of publicity—but allowed Miss Peru to keep the title she won over beauties from nearly three dozen countries.

Miss Peru, statuesque Gladys Zender, accepted her diadem graciously. However, her father, Eduardo Zender, a wealthy Lima industrialist, threw contest officials into another tizzy when he at first refused to allow his daughter to accept promotional trips sponsored by a bathing suit manufacturer and cosmetic firm.

Finally, Zender consented, provided his raven-haired daughter be chaperoned by her mother.

Then Miss Universe settled down to a quiet reign that included a quiet reign that included Mass yesterday at St. Anthony's Catholic Church here followed by a dinner-dance with other contest lovelies at the swank Beverly Hilton Hotel in nearby Beverly Hills.

There was also solace for Miss U.S.A.—Mary Leona Gage Ennis of Maryland, who was showered with offers for television appearances and showgirl jobs.

In Baltimore, Mrs. Ennis admitted her marriage to Air Force Sgt. Gene H. Ennis, 28, was her second. Her first, at the age of 14, was annulled, the 18-year-old beauty said.

She appeared on the Ed Sullivan television show last night and said her ambition is to become a dramatic actress.

Contest officials, meanwhile, promised no such snafus at next year's pageant. Rules will include specific dates between which a contestant must be born in order to enter, officials said, and complete records will be kept on all girls competing.

War Bride, Convicted Of Killing Children, Goes Free

ALDERSON, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Eunice Brillhart, convicted of killing three of her children by dropping them on their heads, walks out from under a life prison sentence today to rejoin her soldier husband and their one remaining child.

Apparently she and Sgt. Robert W. Brillhart hope to pick up a normal life again on a New Mexico Army post.

"Do you still love her and does she love you?" a reporter asked the 26-year-old sergeant when Brillhart visited her yesterday.

"Yes, yes," he replied. "Our feelings toward one another have not changed."

Mrs. Brillhart, 30, is a British subject. She was convicted in 1954 by a U.S. Army court-martial in the deaths of their three youngsters.

Her case was reviewed after the Supreme Court recently ruled that military courts have no jurisdiction over civilians who accompany U.S. servicemen abroad. She was ordered released after serving

Senate Panel To Open Probe Of Racketeer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee, already forecasting trouble, will open next week its long-planned probe of New York gangster Johnny Dio's labor union connections.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark), announcing last night a July 30 start for the new hearings here, expressed hope they will "aid and assist Congress in dealing with the problem of hoodlum control of labor unions."

He said they "will center around the activities of Johnny Dio and the use of his followers in the power struggle for the control of the Teamsters Union in New York City and the East Coast."

The committee arranged to resume today its current hearing into alleged misuse of funds of the United Textile Workers by the union's President Anthony Valente and Secretary Treasurer Lloyd Klener.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, was summoned to testify. McClellan has said that Meany, then secretary treasurer of the AFL, caused Valente and Klener to return to the union money used to purchase homes for themselves. Both have denied any irregularities.

The UTW Executive Council met here during the weekend and said the union itself previously had investigated the charges against the two top officials and had found them to be "erroneous."

The council also formulated what it called a "widespread and constructive" ethical practices code for the union.

McClellan has said the name of James R. Hoffa, Midwest Teamsters Union boss, probably will figure in the New York City probe and that Hoffa himself may be called as one of the more than 100 witnesses to be summoned.

Episcopal Bishop Orders Feud-Ridden Church Closed

NEW YORK (AP)—An Episcopal bishop ordered the closing of a feud-ridden Brooklyn church yesterday to prevent its "being used as a battleground."

Bishop James P. DeWolfe called for the closing of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity until the courts settle a bitter struggle within the congregation.

For nearly a decade the church has been divided over the alleged pro-Communist activities of the Rev. William Howard Melish, its former rector.

He has denied any Communist link.

The closing of the 110-year-old church "until further notice" was announced at the 11 a.m. service by the present rector, the Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener. The 107 persons at the service were stunned by the news.

A dozen Brooklyn police detectives were at the church. There were no untoward incidents, however.

A court order recently removed the Rev. Mr. Melish from the pulpit and upheld Dr. Sidener as rector. The ousted cleric is appealing the decision.

During Dr. Sidener's first service July 7 pro- and anti-Melish church members contested over collection plates. And at a "coffee hour" in the parish office that followed the July 14 service, Dr. Sidener was reported knocked to the floor by a pro-Melish member.

Meg's Friend Gets Transfer

LONDON (AP)—The current favorite of Princess Margaret is being transferred to Cyprus within two weeks.

The War Office labeled the charge a routine assignment but friends called it a surprise.

Lord Patrick Beresford, 23, a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards for four years, has completed his tour of duty in Britain and is now due for overseas service, the War Office said.

Rumors last week had his engagement to the 26-year-old princess in the offing. The Daily Express said, "The constant association of his name with the princess has caused the (palace) officials acute embarrassment."

A palace aide, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, was transferred to the British Embassy in Brussels when his name was romantically linked with Margaret's.

Officers at the London barracks of Lord Beresford's regiment said they were surprised at the transfer. He originally wasn't supposed to leave until October, they said.

Plane Passengers Wait Out Bomb Search

Air France passengers wait in the lobby of the Boston Airport after police hustled them off the trans-Atlantic plane when the craft was reported carrying a bomb. The plane carried about 70 passengers, bound for Europe from New York, landed in Boston for the search. No bomb was found.

British Forces Prepared To Aid Hard-Pressed Ally, Oman

LONDON (AP) — British forces from Kenya to Cyprus were prepared today for possible aid to an ally hard pressed by rebellion in the potentially oil-rich eastern tip of the Arabian Peninsula.

Reports from Oman, an over-looked, rugged country of sandy plains and towering mountains, indicated the rebellion against the Sultan of Muscat and Oman was uncheckered in some 5,000 square miles of remote land.

British officials in the region conferred with the Sultan, Said bin Taimur, but said no forces had yet been sent into the region. The traditional symbol of British support, two Royal Navy frigates, were reported standing off the town of Muscat on the Gulf of Oman to help protect British residents if necessary.

British Middle East army headquarters on Cyprus said three infantry companies now in Kenya will fly back to their Persian Gulf base at Bahrain and can be moved to Muscat if needed.

The commander of the Sultan's 400-man private army, retired British Col. Pat Waterfield, flew to Muscat from leave here. The temperature at Muscat was reported at 130 degrees.

The rebellion by about 1,500 tribesmen broke out in the interior three days ago. The religious leader of Oman, Imam Ghaleb bin Ali, was reported heading the revolt.

The Imam was driven out of the area in 1955 by the Sultan. He has since been reported in Saudi Arabia, which has no clearly defined border with Oman. Unofficial reports say he returned to Oman to lead the rebellion.

The Imam's representative in Cairo, Mohammed el Harsy, claimed that his forces had gained control of Nizwa, Oman's ancient capital. It lies in a mountainous area about 100 miles southwest of Muscat that is almost inaccessible to modern ground forces.

Britain has both a treaty with the Sultan and oil rights in the territory, which is believed to be potentially productive in oil. The treaty does not automatically commit Britain to provide military support but diplomatic sources in London felt that forces would be offered if necessary to prevent the Sultan's overthrow.

Some British newspapers have claimed the rebellion is backed by Saudi Arabia in order to gain control of oil concessions in the area. American interests handle Saudi oil concessions.

Youths Heading To Moscow For Red Festival

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of youths from points around the world headed for a festival in Moscow today but some of those who stayed home attracted more attention.

The Communist party youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda criticized some nations that it said had discouraged or even forbidden attendance at the youth festival.

The festival, one of a series in odd-numbered years, begins next Sunday and ends Aug. 11. The U.S. State Department has called it "an instrument of Communist propaganda."

A party of 400 French young people sailed from Le Havre yesterday on the Soviet steamer Baltika. A surprise late addition to the party was Maurice Thorez, veteran Communist strongman and secretary general of the French Communist party.

A group of 15 students, teachers and musicians flew from New York after defection of another member, 16-year-old San Francisco pianist Maureen Lundroth.

Miss Lundroth said, "I made my decision when I found out all about the festival." Her mother had telephoned her not to go after reading the State Department's comment.

The secretary of the U.S. Youth Festival Committee, Barbara Perry, 24, said before departing that she was not a Communist. "If we want peace and understanding with the Russians, how are we going to understand them without meeting them?" she said.

The Communist youth paper was quoted by Radio Moscow as saying Pakistan, Japan, West Germany, Argentina, Thailand and the Sudan "are afraid" to send youths.

Uncle Ray: Cannon Were Fired To Stop Waterspouts

By RAMON COFFMAN

Twice during the past few months, waterspouts have appeared along the coast of Florida, between Fort Lauderdale and Palm Beach. In each case the "twister" part of a tornado cloud sank down to the surface of the ocean and picked up water.

Neither of those waterspouts caused any loss of life. One boat, whose pilot wanted to get out of the way, was helped along by waves and wind.

Q. Are waterspouts dangerous?
A. They are a danger to boats of small or medium size. The captains of large ocean liners don't like them, but their vessels could cut through an ordinary waterspout without harm.

Some sailing vessels have been wrecked by waterspouts, and there has been loss of life. The whirling wind in a waterspout, however, is less rapid than a land tornado wind.

Q. Were sailors fearful of waterspouts during past times?
A. Yes, they believed that demons or monsters were trying to harm them. Sometimes the waterspouts were described as dragons.

Cannon were fired at some waterspouts, and it became the custom to read a passage from the Bible as a protection. A French writer who lived 300 years ago set down words with this meaning:

"One of the vessel's company knelt down by the mainmast and (while holding in one hand a black-handled knife) read the gospel of St. John. When he came to the words 'et verbum caro' he turned toward the waterspout and cut the air as though to cut the demon . . ."

William Dampier, a British sea captain, lived at the same time, and made a note that men at sea would "fire shot out of their great guns" in the hope of destroying waterspouts.

9th Atomic Shot Postponed Again

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — Detonation of the ninth atomic shot of the summer test series was postponed again today, until Tuesday, because of unfavorable weather conditions.

The postponement has caused something of a scheduled problem because a different nuclear device was due to be exploded tomorrow. The Atomic Energy Commission said a meeting would be held later today to figure out which device will be set off next, and when.

The weapon scheduled to be tested today is below nominal in size, or less powerful than the atomic bombs dropped on Japan during World War II.

Passes Own Plate At Graham Revival

NEW YORK (AP) — A former Los Angeles liquor salesman has been charged with passing his own collection plate at evangelist Billy Graham's rally in Yankee Stadium.

Police said Louis Silver, 46, posed as an usher and collected about $500 in the huge throng Saturday night. He was nabbed as he left the stadium and was charged with grand larceny.

Silver was held in $1,500 bail for a hearing Thursday.

Graham Will Resume Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham resumes his New York crusade in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Graham took yesterday and today off for rest.

The crusade, which had been due to end last Saturday night, has been extended through Aug. 10. The campaign started May 15.

On Saturday night the evangelist drew a crowd of 100,000 to an outdoor meeting at Yankee Stadium.

The rally was the largest ever held by Graham in the United States.

The crowd was also the biggest ever to attend an event in the stadium.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was Graham's guest of honor. Nixon spoke briefly in a portion of the meeting telecast over a local station.

The vice president said the progress and strength of the United States have come about because the nation has always had "a deep and abiding faith in God."

Graham told the throng that the nation is in danger of destruction and that only prayer and faith can pull it through.

He listed communism and a push-button, hydrogen-bomb war as two great external dangers. Racial tension is a great internal source of trouble, he said.

He put most emphasis, however, on a fourth danger—"moral deterioration."

A Bible Thought For Today

I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep; for thou, LORD, only makest me dwell in safety. (Psalms 4:8)

Man With Ticklish Tastebuds

Mr. Frank Grimes, editor of the Abilene Reporter - News, is a sagacious soul of pundit proportions. But when he unequivocally takes a stand on food, he invites both approbation and violent dissension. Observes Mr. Grimes:

"Maybe it's the way we were raised, but no meat dish is complete unless it has gravy in some form, from the red-spiced gravy that comes with ham to the rich cream gravy that goes with fried chicken. That goes for steaks, roast and barbecues. Of all gravies, fried chicken is the best."

"By the same token, no sausage, no chicken or turkey dressing, is fit to eat unless it has gravy in it. Forty and fifty years ago almost every home cook leaned heavily on sage, but nowadays this pungent condiment is overlooked or deliberately relegated to limbo. And it grows so well in Abilene."

"Everyone as he grows older learns to like, or at least to tolerate, many comestibles which as a youth he actively despised or simply refused to eat. We have had to cultivate a taste for okra, squash, bananas, cheese, pork and beef fat, boiled beef and oatmeal . . .

"The best pie is a cobbler."

"We still can't take raw cucumbers, tea in any form, pumpkin in any form, or any kind of cantaloupe. But our attitude toward the latter has undergone a change; as a boy we couldn't stay in the same house with a cantaloupe; now we can, with a supreme effort of will . . ."

"The only kind of watermelon we ever really appreciated was a swiped one. The queen of fruits is the peach, and the marmalade of the dried bean family is the baby lima, cooked with hog jowl. But the supreme mistress of the vegetable garden is the blackeyed pea, caught young, snapped and cooked with part of the hull in place."

"Well-seasoned food is a delight; poorly seasoned or unseasoned food is a travesty on cookery . . ."

There you have it! You may take issue with his tastebuds, but you'll have to agree on one thing. Mr. Grimes knows his way around a dinner table.

The Big Revival To Continue

The revival led by Billy Graham in New York City is to continue into August, according to an announcement on Friday. Already attendance has soared past the million mark and the various forms of Christian dedication had reached 35,000.

One religious writer (the AP's George W. Cornell) wrote:

"A religious current that didn't exist before is moving through New York City as a result of Billy Graham's crusade. And it's not just in the churches."

He quotes Peter Kriendler, manager of the 21 Club, one of New York's plushier night spots: "There's no question about it. He (Graham) has made religion a major item of table talk. He's touched many of the people that come here. They have dinner and then go over and listen to him with bated breath. A lot of them now have got their minds on something worthwhile."

A Broadway columnist reported "a reaction back stage that is amazing" to Graham's sermons. "Quite a number of chorus girls and show people have been going over there to hear him. It's remarkable to me."

Among those most amazed by the scope and depth of the interest aroused in religion by the Graham crusade is Billy Graham himself. The businessmen-sponsors of his New York campaign, big men in the business world, have been equally free in expressing their amazement, and so have the pastors of many of the 600 Protestant churches which joined in the crusade.

Perhaps one of the secrets of the New York success story was the attitude of Billy Graham toward New Yorkers. He took the attitude that they were ordinary people like anybody else, with the same hunger for spiritual comfort and comforts as the people in the hinterlands. In general he preached the same type of sermon he had given elsewhere in this country and in Europe — no sensationalism, no arm-waving and pulpit-pounding, no deliberate attempt to arouse emotionalism in the audience.

This must have been a profound shock to his detractors who expected him to put on a wild-dervish show. Nevertheless, writers of letters-to-the-editors of magazines and newspapers, who never got within miles of Madison Square Garden, continued to "deplete" the "unrestrained emotionalism" of the crusade.

Billy Graham's next port of call will be San Francisco, a nut many people believe even Graham can't crack. On his own he can't, but so far he has given all the credit on one who can.

David Lawrence

The Timing For Philosophical Debate

WASHINGTON—There was something characteristically human in President Eisenhower's bit of reminiscence concerning his talks with General Zhukov in 1945. It raises this question: Must a man who happens to be discussing current affairs during a social evening with someone from another country keep on a level of politeness and courtesy and refrain from citing facts that would reflect on the other man's government? especially if the other individual is an important diplomatic or military representative of that very government?

As told in the press conference here this week, the President admitted he was somewhat flustered when he was arguing with Zhukov on the subject of Communism. The two men had just emerged from a joint military operation that ended World War II, and they spent a lot of time together in Berlin. Here is how the President tells the story:

"I must say that during the years that I knew him (Zhukov) I had a most satisfactory acquaintance and friendship with him. I think he was a confirmed Communist. We had many long discussions about our respective doctrines. I think one evening we had a three-hour conversation. We tried each to explain to the other just what our systems meant, to the individual, and I was very hard put to it when he insisted that their system appealed to the idealistic, and we completely to the materialistic, and I had a very tough time trying to defend our position, because he said:

"You tell a person he can do as he pleases, he can act as he pleases, he can do anything. Everything that is selfish in man you appeal to him, and we tell him that he must sacrifice for the state."

"Zhukov said: 'We have a very hard program to sell.' So what I am getting at is, I believe he was very honestly convinced of the soundness of their doctrine and was an honest man."

But the reporters at the press conference felt that this might leave an impression that the President had been devoid of arguments against Communism, so James Reston of the "New York Times" asked:

"Do you want to leave the inference that it is difficult to defend the proposition that Democracy is a more idealistic system than Communism?"

To this Mr. Eisenhower replied by explaining further Zhukov's claims about idealism and "sacrifice for the state—giving to the state," and then the President added this comment:

"In other words, he (Zhukov) takes the attitude that they don't force this contribution, they are teaching a people to support that contribution. So, when you run up against that kind of thing—look, Mr. Reston, I think you could run into people who would have a hard time convincing that the sun is hot and the earth is round. I don't say that I don't believe it. I am merely saying that against that kind of a belief you run against arguments that almost leave you breathless, you don't know how to meet them."

Mr. Eisenhower is a kindly man and, even when shocked by misstatements, doesn't speak words of criticism to persons he is meeting socially, especially in the diplomatic world. He doesn't question their motives or imply they are supporting secondaries in government. Theoretically, Mr. Eisenhower might have said:

"Look here, General Zhukov, you know you have been deceived. There isn't any 'sacrifice to the state' in the Soviet Union. It's a forced sacrifice of individual liberty to satisfy Stalin—a power-hungry dictator—and you know it. Look around you—see how people are torn from their homes and denied any trial. See how many are killed for expressing dissent. See how the worker is robbed of the food he produces on his farm. Can the word 'sacrifice' ever cover up or excuse tyranny and cruelty? Hitler also argued that what he was doing was for the benefit of the people, but he killed hundreds of thousands of innocent persons inside his own country who disagreed with him."

"In America we believe that 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' is what the individual must be guaranteed, and lawfully take away the rights of the individual. We believe that the amount of 'sacrifice' the individual makes for the nation must be determined by him through his representatives chosen in a free election, which is something you don't have."

But Mr. Eisenhower was too polite to say anything of this kind. He was truly up against it—trying to be courteous and listen at the same time to the argument that idealism rather than absolute materialism is the basic philosophy of Communism. If the proposed meeting between our Secretary of Defense and Marshal Zhukov is held soon, there is no reason why the blunt-speaking Charlie Wilson can't say a few things of this sort when the discussion takes a philosophical turn. For the free-wheeling Mr. Wilson has learned somehow to make conversational indiscretion a virtue.

Bitter Pill But Still A Gain

WASHINGTON (P)—It would be a bitter pill for them, but Negroes would like to see if President Eisenhower's civil rights bill wound up with nothing left but a watered-down bit to protect their voting rights.

Southern Democrats, shooting to kill all four sections of the bill, will fight it piece by piece. They say they won't succeed entirely. But they've already done it damage. It seems certain whatever is passed will be less than Eisenhower asked.

It must be remembered that in this fight, when the Southerners say they want to amend and soften one section of the bill, they have already said their aim in the end is to destroy altogether. They have been banging away at Section 4, which specifically applies to the protection of voting rights. This section says:

When an individual's voting rights are violated — say by a Southern registrar of voters who won't let a Negro register — the attorney general can step in and ask a federal judge for an order telling the registrar to stop.

If he disobeys then he can be brought into court, tried for contempt by the judge without a jury trial, and jailed. Southerners protest at the thought of anyone in such a situation being tried without a jury.

The Eisenhower administration and the bill's supporters in Congress argue for trial by judge, without a jury, in a case like that and for these reasons:

It's faster. It could stop a voting right violation while it was still happening instead of waiting until it was all finished. For if a registrar disobeyed a judge's order he could be tried and jailed before the election, thus making it possible for the Negro to vote. If a jury trial was held, it might not take place until after the election.

These are good reasons for trial by judge are given:

It's questionable—if a registrar reflects the attitude of his townpeople in keeping a Negro away from the polls—that his neighbors on the jury would convict him.

Further, there are 28 laws on the books under which a judge by himself can try persons for contempt of his orders and, the reasoning goes, a judge ought to be able to back up his orders with action and punishment.

It's possible the Southerners—if they can't destroy the whole bill—will get Section 4 toned down by an amendment providing for trial by jury instead of by judge.

Senate Starts Third Week Of Rights Debate

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate starts a third week of debate on the administration's civil rights bill today with supporters vowing to keep its right-to-vote provisions intact.

The expressed determination on this point coincided with mounting indications that only a last-minute compromise could save another section aimed at strengthening the enforcement of all civil rights.

All sides seemed to be in agreement, however, that an old Reconstruction era law permitting the President to use the armed forces to carry out court orders in civil rights cases should be repealed.

Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Humphrey (D-Minn), leaders in the fight for the civil rights bill, joined in offering an amendment to do this. The amendment is expected to be voted on during the day.

Adoption of this amendment would be the first Senate change in the bill passed by the House. It also would represent a concession to Southern senators who protested that, under the wording of the bill, the old troop-authority law could be used to force school integration and other mixing of the races on the South "at bayonet point."

The bill's supporters replied that President Eisenhower had made clear there was no intention of using troops to enforce the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

They accused the Southerners of throwing up a "smoke-screen" argument, but they said they had no objection to repealing the old law.

In the Senate debate so far, the principal controversy has centered about Part 3 of the bill. This would authorize the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of civil rights in general.

Similar authority is provided in another section for the protection of voting rights. Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court with a jury trial.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have offered an amendment to strike out Part 3 of the bill, and present indications are that the Senate may vote on this tomorrow. If adopted, it would tend to limit the bill to enforcement of voting rights.

Administration leaders and Northern Democrats tried, and failed last week to find some mutually acceptable substitute for Part 3 of the bill, but both Knowland and Humphrey said there was a possibility that a basis for agreement might yet be found.

Advice On Vacations, And Other Things

One thing and another: I have never entered an automatic elevator but what I was possessed with the concern that the doors would reach out an grab me.

The first time I dined out, when more than one fork was made available, I had to wait until I saw someone else reach for the proper one. Until that moment, I munched on my crackers.

Ray (Shorty) Snyder, the retired merchant, says the way to enjoy a vacation is "take fewer clothes and more money than you think you'll need."

Americans are migrating to Europe, South America and Australia to begin new lives and Britains are fleeing to Canada but it takes a heap of doing to lure a Frenchman from his native land. Temptations of higher wages and an easier way of life influence the Americans into making the big change. The English pull out because of welfare state disillusion, bureaucracy, shortages and lack of opportunity for aggressive young people. The French have even more welfare and bureaucracy than the English but they still think life is better, less hectic and more idealistic in their own country.

Most of those who do leave would like to go back.

Did you know babies have a keen sense of smell and relish all odors until they reach the age of five years? That is the claim of a psychiatrist, who studied 300 children between the ages of three and 12 years before drawing his conclusions.

Do you recall the first midnight matinee you ever attended? Mine was "Charley's Aunt," starring Charles Ruggles. My thoughts at the time: What a long, long time to stay up for entertainment.

Sawdust mixed with oatmeal makes a much better "soil" for mushrooms than a compost laced with straw, science has found. For that reason, they can be produced so cheaply and plentifully that they may become a staple foodstuff rather than a luxury garnish.

One of the best times I ever had at a birthday party when I was a kid occurred when I bit into a dime while eating a piece of cake. I thought it had been dropped in by mistake and offered it back to the honoree's mother, who smiled and told me to keep it.

President Too Willing To Compromise

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(Writing for Marquis Childs, who is on vacation)

WASHINGTON.—One of President Eisenhower's qualities that seems to be most conducive to his personal popularity is his desire to be liked. And out of this comes his studied avoidance of controversy and his most urgent willingness to compromise, sometimes before it is even necessary.

He so wants everybody to be friends with everybody else that he has been known to do things that have helped him in his two victorious election campaigns. He maintained his role of aloofness above party and above partisanship. He eschewed the wearing of a party label. Seldom did he speak of the Republican party. All of that contributed to his big vote in the South, as elsewhere, in both 1952 and 1956.

This excessive amiability, while helpful to him individually, can nevertheless be frustrating to Republican party leaders in Congress, as well as to party leaders and supporters outside of Washington. That has become apparent on several issues arising in his second Administration in which the President now takes this position. This compounds his leaders' problems in trying to get "the Eisenhower program" through Congress.

The latest example is the way he began to back down on his civil rights program when it turned out — as anybody would have known — that it was bitterly disliked in the South. There, some of his former supporters, including newspapers, have turned on him in criticism, which is unusual as well as unpleasant for the President.

From what he has said at news conferences, it was clear that he was ready to compromise even before the bill actually had been made the Senate's business. That is hardly the way to win a legislative fight, for it discourages those trying to get what they thought the President wanted.

This throws some light on the repeated insistence lately by the Republican Senate leader, Senator William F. Knowland of California, when asked about the President's latest statements on the civil rights bill, that it is the Senate which is going to write the measure. It also explains perhaps the plaintive cry from Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, leader of the Northern Democrats who are trying to help the President in this civil rights fight, that the President is pulling the rug out from under his own supporters.

It is clear, if you follow closely the course of legislative and executive developments here, that the President is so in the habit of delegating authority that he is not always informed of what his staff is doing in his name on specific policies and legislation.

Earlier in his second Administration there was his $71.8 billion budget, supposedly representing his views and his policy. He began to back away from that after Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey had expressed misgivings about it and after important Republicans in politics and business had complained about it. For weeks, you will remember, the President was now for his budget, now uncertain about it.

Similar was the case of the natural gas bill, which he had vetoed after its passage in the previous Congress because of the "arrogant" oil and gas lobby that had promoted it. While expressing support for the bill in his budget message in January to the present Congress, he insisted that the consumer must be protected.

On his behalf, two amendments to protect the consumer were submitted to the House Interstate Commerce committee that was considering the bill. Immediately powerful oil and gas interests protested the amendments. Whereupon President Eisenhower wrote a letter to the committee chairman, Representative Oren Harris (D., Ark.), saying he had suggested the amendments only as of "possible desirability" and they did not represent his "fixed conclusions."

Congress, he said, should pass a bill, whether they were included or not. You can guess what happened. Yes — the amendments were defeated in committee before the measure was reported recently to the House.

You may recall how, after Harold E. Stassen had offered in the disarmament negotiations at London a proposal for a 10-month suspension of atomic bomb tests, the President was visited by two Atomic Energy Commission scientists who told him about experiments to get a "clean bomb" and urged that tests not be suspended for five years so a completely "clean bomb" could be devised.

In a news conference thereafter, the President, after repeating their story, was not so sure that we should agree to a suspension of tests.

If you are puzzled about what has gone on here in Washington in the last few months — maybe this will help a bit. (Copyright, 1957, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Well, It's Another Generation

"Constant Reader," full of fire and brimstone, has been writing in from all corners of the compass since the death of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

And just for a change, Constant Reader isn't mad at me this time but at my editors up and down the land. Constant Reader, obviously middle-aged or better, is sore as a boil because — at least in HIS hometown — the story of Mrs. Coolidge's death was buried on an inside page while pictures of Ingrid Bergman, Elizabeth Taylor, Mike Todd and Aly Khan smirked from Page One.

Well, sir, I am on the side of Constant Reader. But then, I, too, am middle-aged. To me, too, the death of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who illuminated the White House in the days of the stringent Cal, was a far more important story than the fact that Ingrid Bergman had tearfully embraced her oldest daughter at a Paris airport.

The death of this former First Lady also seemed far more important than the latest communique in the running battle that is apparently the pattern of domestic life for Elizabeth Taylor and her bridegroom, M. Todd. And I rated the death of this gracious First Lady, who caught the eye of the admiration of the American public from the moment she stepped into the White House, as more newsworthy than the fact that Aly Khan might or might not succeed to the title of his father, the Aga Khan, then on his death bed.

So when letters from Constant Reader began to arrive, expressing his discontent with this news evaluation, I was sympathetic, or on his side. But when I began to diagnose the situation, I came up with an explanation that made me even more gloomy. I was forced to realize that Mrs. Coolidge, who made such a forceful and lasting impression on millions of Americans, has been out of the White House and the limelight for a full generation.

It has been almost 30 years since Cal chose not to run and he and Mrs.

Coolidge had lived in quiet retirement. A generation, even now approaching middle-age, grew up with scarcely any knowledge of this great lady.

It was unaware of her reputation for kindness and gaiety, for the leavening role she played during the Administrations of laconic Cal. It probably has never heard that in those far-off days, before inflation got moth-like into everything, her smile was regarded as a million-dollar asset to the Republican party. (By today's monetary standards, it would rate a cool trillion.)

But the generation that had scarcely ever heard of Mrs. Coolidge knows Ingrid Bergman, Elizabeth Taylor, Mike Todd and Aly Khan like old shoes. They LIVE on the front pages and, for all I know, could be fictional characters. They are the most intimate details of their lives are public property.

They head a little list of persons I have long nominated for oblivion. I am sick unto death of the whole kit and caboodle, and I suspect a lot of other persons are, too.

But they are photogenic and, by hook or crook, they keep themselves in the public eye. Public Kunder No. 1, 2, 3 and 4, so to speak. How can a lady, even a First Lady, compete with any of these? Why, she never even had a press agent!

Sic semper gloria. Ave atque vale. Constant Reader and I are licked. What's worse, we're dated.

While the number of top-flight Paris high fashion houses continues to shrink (latest fatality: Fath), smart boutiques flourish and multiply. Latest to open is Jean Lefebvre, a former partner of Henry la Pennee for some 30 years. The Lefebvre salons feature mostly day dresses and suits, described as "high luxury ready-to-wear." Prices run from about $60 for a simple jersey dress to about $200 for a washable kid leather coat. Knitwear is a specialty, and has a wonderfully casual air. The owner's wife helps to design the clothes. Original costume jewelry, bags and little hats also are offered, some for a few thousand francs.

UNIVERSAL PROBLEM How To Avoid Going Broke On Vacation

AP Newsfeatures Writer Vacations would be wonderful if you didn't get back home broke. This is a common plight of the returning vacationer, but, say the nation's bankers, it needn't be. Bank statisticians note that 85 million Americans will spend more than 12 billion dollars on holidays this year. And those are figures big enough to arouse the keen interest of bankers, who have got together and issued the following tips on how to have a carefree but solvent vacation: 1. If you haven't enough money for the trip you want, you can get a vacation loan at your bank. 2. It's more foresighted to start saving for your vacation a year ahead, working out a vacation plan, which banks also will handle, just as they do Christmas savings clubs. 3. Don't carry large sums of cash while traveling. Travelers' checks are safer—if they're stolen or lost, you don't lose the money. 4. It's a comfortable feeling to carry a letter of credit from your bank, in case you run out of funds in a strange place. This certifies your credit up to a certain amount, and makes a great difference in the attitude of creditors. 5. Don't leave valuables lying around the house while you are away. You can store jewelry, furs and paintings in bank vaults. 6. Some banks will help you plan your trip and make reservations for you. 7. Before you leave, make a vacation checklist so you'll remember to stop milk deliveries, arrange for lawn care, leave a light burning and notify police to keep an eye on your home while you're away.

Budget Punch Easily Made For Wedding

Take a tip from one father who found he couldn't afford traditional champagne wedding punch. You can make a very good refreshing punch with rum, and get more mileage out of it. Serving the right beverage to wedding guests becomes a problem of good taste, appropriateness and economy. This punch should fit in nicely with the Caribbean music that many a guest will dance to at this year's weddings. Here is the recipe for a wedding punch: To the juice of 10 large lemons and 2 large oranges add 1 pound of sugar or more or less to taste. Add 1 quart of club soda and 1 quart of rum. Pour this over a large block of ice in a punch bowl. Garnish with fruit in season. This mixture makes about 20 drinks and can be increased proportionately. An added touch may be a slice of strawberry or pineapple in each of the punch glasses in which it is served.

Dior Has Opened Paris Shoe Salon

The spreading fashion empire of Christian Dior has just gone a little bigger with the opening of a Dior ready-to-wear shoe shop at the same time the first non-custom-made Dior shoes went on sale in America. This new boutique specializes in pumps and sandals in white satin, to be dyed in any color the customer wants. Evening shoes run to demi-Louis XV heels, while afternoon footwear appears with pointed toes and tall thin heels. Both American and French fittings are available. This may be partly an answer to the Paris shops which have started importing Italian, American and English shoes of late.

Court Declines To Split Pct. 1, May Divide No. 2

A small delegation of Negroes, seeking a special voting box for their race in Precinct 1, appeared before the Howard County Commissioners Court on Monday morning. Their appeal was heard but they were told that the vote in their box — No. 1 — was not heavy enough to merit any division of voting places at this time.

Damage Verdict Is Upheld By Court

Civil Court of Appeals has affirmed the finding of the 118th District Court in the suit for damages brought by Joe Wood against Ellis Eubanks and J. C. Godwin, it was learned Monday.

The 118th District Court here awarded Wood $8,500 damages against the two defendants in a trial last Nov. 12.

The suit grew out of a traffic accident on March 16, 1956 at the intersection of Fourth and Johnson streets.

Eubanks and Godwin, city policemen, were in a patrol car which collided with a passenger car. Joe Whitefield was driving the second car. Mrs. Wood was injured and the suit sought damages for the injuries which she sustained in the collision.

Suit Over Accident Goes To Trial Here

Trial of a $46,300 damage suit is under way today in 118th District Court. It is styled J. C. Weir et ux versus W. B. Hestand and resulted from a car accident on North Scurry Street on Oct. 6, 1956.

House Panel Sets Hearings On Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee started hearings today on 1954 storage of government wheat in huge plastic tents in Missouri and Texas.

A committee statement said "tremendous amounts of wheat deteriorated, and the losses may run to 10 million dollars or more. The matter was publicized last fall when Sen. Scott (D-NC) said in a speech in North Carolina that "the government may have to pay a pretty price to bail out the banks" participating in the storage plan.

Scott said the Burrus Mills Co. of Dallas "concocted a very novel scheme for storing wheat" in tents and "sold" the idea to the Agriculture Department. He said he had been told the department decided to enter into contracts involving 13 banks.

son, about 10 miles southwest of Gail, pumped 28 barrels of oil and 35 barrels of water in 24 hours. Testing continued today from Canyon perforations. The project is 660 feet from south and 2,019 feet from east lines, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey.

The commissioners implied that two small rural boxes — Soash and Morris — will probably be eliminated this year and that box No. 2 in Big Spring will probably be divided into two segments. Voting has become so heavy in No. 2 that it is expedient to set up another voting place to control the situation.

Walter Parks, county engineer, suggested that five miles of county highways should be given seal coat treatment soon to preserve the pavement. He recommended such treatment on 2.75 miles of road from the cut-off on Gail highway to the Snyder highway and a mile and a quarter in Forsan be given immediate sealing.

The commissioners agreed with his recommendations and authorized him to proceed with preparations for the job.

Agents Break Counterfeiter 'Family' Ring

AUSTIN (AP)—Secret Service agents broke up what they called a "family venture" in counterfeiting here last night, seizing more than $2,400 in skillfully made bogus greenbacks.

The first successful raid on a counterfeiting plant in Texas in more than 20 years.

Secret Service agent Louis Benavides said charges of conspiring to manufacture counterfeit money were filed against James Morrison, 28; his wife, Carolyn, 25, and his brother, Howard Morrison, 24. The Morrison brothers were arraigned before a U. S. commissioner. Mrs. Morrison was in jail at Brady where she was arrested Saturday on suspicion of passing a phony payroll check.

After long questioning the pert brunette spilled the story of the Morrisons' print shop in Austin, Benavides said.

Benavides and his associates pounced on the greenback factory last night.

"They called it a print shop but all the printing you could see inside was counterfeit money," said Benavides, a soft-talking, sharp-eyed veteran with 26 years experience chasing illegal money makers.

Inside the North Austin shop Benavides said they found 54 twenty-dollar bills and 68 more twenties in the James Morrison home nearby.

There also was a large stack of unissued twenties in the shop," Benavides said. "They needed the edges trimmed or the serial number needed to be added."

"They also made $10 bills but there weren't any of those passed."

"And there was a whole bunch of counterfeit pay roll checks, and money drivers' licenses and other identification cards used in getting the checks cashed."

Benavides estimated about 45 to 50 of the $20 bills had been passed in nearby cities. The first bill to come to light was palmed off on a variety store in San Antonio.

The Secret Service agent said James Morrison worked nights as a linotype operator in the print shop at the University of Texas.

The agent described the product of the hidden offset press as "medicore."

"It was a pretty small operation," Benavides said, "but it was important."

Pipe for the Buzzard Creek crossing is due Saturday and the tie-in will be made immediately, said Ivie. Around five million gallons of lake water a day will be put through the line at this stage.

Mostly European, Harvard Student Is Suddenly Thrust Upon Moslem Throne

By STANLEY JOHNSON
GENEVA (AP)—A handsome Harvard undergraduate with an athletic build, a serious turn of mind and three-quarters European blood has suddenly become leader of 20 million Asian and African Moslems.

He is the Aga Khan IV, now 20. His followers are the Ismaili Moslem sect, whose leadership sprang from the Prophet Mohammed in the 7th century A.D.

The job of Imam, the Prophet's vicar on earth for the Ismailis, carries with it great wealth, enormous prestige and — it appears by the will of his predecessor — the command to lead his Asian and African people safely and prosperously through the adolescent years of the atomic age.

Aga Khan III, before he died in Switzerland last week, apparently chose his handsome grandson to succeed him because of basic good character, the prospect of long life ahead and the young man's East-West heritage and education. The new Aga Khan is half English, a quarter Italian, a quarter Persian.

The old Aga passed up both his princely sons — 46-year-old Aly and 24-year-old Sadruddin — to name Prince Karim.

As Aga, the youth has no territory, no official political position. But in addition to the religious leadership, Karim's grandfather during his long and fabulous career set up the equivalent of a vast charitable and educational foundation and exerted great political influence on his followers scattered over two continents.

The new Aga has a winning manner. Over six feet tall, muscular, with slightly wavy chestnut brown hair and soft hazel eyes, he was considered a good dresser in his three years at Harvard.

He is generally smiling and speaks in long tones with a hesitant manner. He hasn't been hesitant in school, however, and earned acclaim as a bright student and all-around boy at his Swiss preparatory school, Le Rosey, and in Cambridge.

The one positive point Karim was willing to make in his cautious public statements after his grandfather's death, besides dedicating his life to service to his followers, was his earnest wish to finish at Harvard. His new duties may prevent it.

Unlike his 24-year-old uncle, graduate student Prince Sadruddin, Karim lived an inconspicuous life at Harvard, where he was known as "K". A Radcliffe girl he frequently dated said he often wore London-tailored suits, was frequently dated said he often wore and Moorish history studies and became excited at football games.

LIKES SPORTS
Karim participates in several sports himself. He stroked a single scull, skied in the Alps and in Vermont, swam and played tennis at prep school and Harvard.

During the parts of the year spent in Europe, he has not had any special girl friends nor has he squired many in public.

A date at Harvard noted that "he is very much devoted to his religion."

He is the 99th spiritual leader of the Ismaili sect of the Shia Moslem denomination.

A family servant says that even when driving a fast sports car, the new Aga stops at the prescribed hour for Moslem prayers.

The most profound emotional experience he had early in life, the family said, was his father's divorce from his mother.

Karim is the son of Prince Aly Khan, the late Aga's elder son who inherited the family's prosperous estates instead of the title, the former Joan Yarde-Bulfinch, a British heiress through whom he is related to much of the English aristocracy.

"The youth was 12 years old when Aly divorced his mother to marry movie star Rita Hayworth. Karim has always been very close to his mother and spent most of his vacation time with her."

LIKES HIS FATHER
Karim and his father also have shown an affectionate public regard for each other, and Aly was quick to express accord with his father's action in passing him by. Syrian Ismailis had expected Aly to become Aga and announced allegiance to him as soon as the old man died; Aly has announced plans to go to his father's funeral to Syria to cement his community's allegiance to Karim.

What Karim will do with the title, its responsibilities and the influence inherent in his position is a question of concern not only to his followers but also to governments of nations where Ismaili Moslems are commercially and otherwise important. The sect is spread from deep in Red China across Asia and the Indian Ocean littoral to South Africa. Some are in the Soviet Union.

Of immediate concern to Karim is his sect's educational and charitable work. When the old Aga took over, this was a spur-of-the-moment thing. He built up a vast network of maternity homes, educational establishments, hospitals and charitable trusts. These are supported by contributions, by investments and even by the stables.

SEEK GUIDANCE
The old Aga asked Karim to seek guidance in running the vast organization from the Begum, his French-born widow. The question now must be decided where she will live and where Karim will make his headquarters.

The family said the late leader found it best to delegate responsibilities in the East and maintain personal contact in Europe and the United States with financial backing leaders for the benefit of the Ismailis.

The new Aga may eventually make the same decision. He said this week, however, he feels that he should spend the near future getting to know those who venerate him as a direct descendant of the Prophet Mohammed by spending more time among his people.

Fugitives Elude Police, Believed Across Border

RAYMONDVILLE (AP)—A pickup truck, stolen in Harlingen by two men who eluded scores of police all night, was found near the Mexican border today.

The truck was found about seven miles southwest of San Benito.

One was believed seriously wounded by Harlingen policemen.

Although the men have been heavily armed, police said they have not fired a shot at the pursuing officers.

Harlingen police, asked to cut off the men as they were being chased south from here, fired as the two men ran from their stolen car to a cotton compress.

Four bullets were believed to have hit one of the men. Police said the man was thought to be in bad shape and might bleed to death if he didn't get to a doctor soon.

Patches of blood were found on the ground near the compress.

Up to 19 police units from Wilbacy, Hidalgo and Cameron counties and Harlingen were in the chase at times during the night. The search was being continued today by state and county policemen. Three airplanes were sent up at dawn.

The two men, one about 5 feet, 9 inches tall and stocky, the other about 5-6 and slender, stole a car near San Perlito early today. Earlier, a home and a store at Raymondville were burglarized of several weapons and some ammunition.

Two Hurt In Car Collision

Two Lamesa Negroes were hospitalized and two automobiles seriously damaged in a collision at noon Sunday at the intersection of State Highway 176 and Farm Road 1718 — 26 miles west of Big Spring.

Highway patrol officers who investigated the accident said it happened at 12:30 p. m.

They said that Mrs. Wanda Maddox of Sweetwater was en route to Europe, N.M. in a Mercury. She was accompanied by her two daughters.

Dan Williams, Lamesa, with George Johnson and Charlie Johnson, also of Lamesa and not related, were in an Oldsmobile coming off the farm road.

The patrol said that Williams, who is being held in county jail at Stanton, ran a stop line and ran in front of Mrs. Maddox's car.

The Mercury rammed the Oldsmobile, which overturned.

The two Johnsons were injured sufficiently to be hospitalized in a Stanton hospital.

Charles Johnson had brain concussion and painful lacerations. George Johnson has a broken rib.

Neither Mrs. Maddox nor her daughters were injured in the crash.

3rd Pharmacist Added To Staff Of Gound Firm

New pharmacist on the staff of Gound Pharmacy, 419 Main, is John R. Oates Jr., formerly of Haskell.

Oates joined the Gound firm last week and works with Wayne Gound, owner, and Paul Keele in filling all drug needs of the concern's many customers.

In addition to the three pharmacists, of course, there are several other courteous attendants to help satisfy sundry needs. A complete line of drugs and medicines, cosmetics and the hundreds of other items making up a modern drug store's stocks are found at Gound's.

Gound Pharmacy also provides either rental or sales service on a complete line of hospital beds, wheel chairs, walkers and other sickroom and convalescence equipment.

The new pharmacist is a native of Haskell. He graduated from high school there and then attended Texas A&M College.

Oates served in the armed forces for four years during World War II, and completed his college work after the war, earning his degree in pharmacy at the University of Texas in 1950.

Since that time he has been engaged in practice of the profession.

"Addition of Mr. Oates to our staff will enable us to continue to serve our customers efficiently and promptly," Gound said on announcing employment of the third pharmacist for the store.

Gound has made it a policy to fill all prescription orders as quickly as they are received. Delivery of the drug orders is provided at no extra charge, so Gound patrons know that the doctor's telephone call to the pharmacy means the prescription will be available for use in a very short period.

OLD BECOMES NEW Upholstery Work Is Gilliland Art

Upholstery work is a fine art. A good piece of furniture, old, perhaps, but still serviceable and valuable, may be made like new if it can be properly upholstered. New covering can change its drab and colorless appearance into something eye-catching and attractive.

However, it takes more than a sturdy framework and suitable material to do a good job of upholstery. It takes skill, training, the right kind of tools and the "know how" of years of doing the work to turn these elements into a high grade completed job.

Upholstery is an art with Gilliland Household Repair, located at 111 Utah Road.

The workmen are skilled, they have a love for good furniture and they know how to restore it to its full beauty. A job done by Gilliland is a job done in the way to make you proud to have the article in your home.

Gilliland also refinishes all types of furniture. Repair work on furniture is a specialized feature of the Gilliland establishment. Something you treasure, perhaps, but which may appear hopelessly damaged, can be restored so completely that you will be amazed — if you will trust the

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I look for Mexico City to land a major league franchise before any city in Texas does.

Local coaches are encouraged by the improved attitude of Harold Wilde, the tall youngster who moved here last winter from Eula. The talented cager, who becomes eligible to play with the varsity in December, has made it known he fully intends to go to school this fall. There was doubt for a time he said he was going to work and forget about classes. The young fellow is good enough and tall enough that he can just about write his own ticket, if he spends a season with the Steers. And with a healthy, happy Wilde in the lineup, the sky's the limit with the Steers. They could come up with the best team in the school's history.

Lt. Leo Bombard, the Webb AFB officer whose enthusiasm for yachting was recited in a recent Daily Herald feature story, plans to take a leave shortly in order to engage in some pre-Olympic training in Sweden.

The boat which he would use has already been shipped to Stockholm, near where the races will be staged. Bombard is due to enter into competition there during the first week in August.

Lt. Bombard came very close to rating a place on the last U.S. Olympic team.

Mike Forneiles, one-time Big Spring mound ace who is with the Boston Red Sox, is now a married man. He took a Cuban girl as a bride not long ago. Mike used to go with the sister of Al Valdes, the Cuban who settled here and took out naturalization papers.

Big Spring's other representative in the big leagues, Camilo Pascual, has already won more games for Washington than he did during the 1956 season.

There is some talk 17-year-olds will be phased from the Senior Teen-Age baseball league program here next year.

Enthusiasm in such an organized program seems to wane in a boy when he attains that age. At least, it has here.

The Senior Teen-Age circuit hasn't functioned nearly as well here as has the Junior circuit this year.

Bill Frank, president of the Teen-Age Baseball Association here is becoming quite fluent in the Spanish language. He's been taking lessons.

Friends are asking Lulu Perez, the featherweight boxer, to quit the ring. He's only 24 years of age but his co-ordination and his reflexes seem to be gone. He's been at it six years.

The University of Florida football team suffered a blow this summer when it was learned a 158-pound Texan named Don Deal had flunked out of school. He was running at second string right-halfback in the spring. He has run the 100 in 9.7.

Bert Baez, the former Big Spring hurler who moved from this area to New Jersey, reportedly resides in Miami, Fla., now.

The wheel of fortune has turned for Dick Mayer, the new National Open golf champion.

There was a time last winter when friends in Southern California thought he was through as a front line linkster. He spent too much time trying to pick long shots at the races at Santa Anita (and never doing it) and bending the elbow too frequently. He bounced back in a hurry, however.

Crowd Of 10,000 Expected For All-Star Go Tonight

DALLAS (AP)—A capacity crowd of more than 10,000 was forecast today for the Texas League All-Star game.

A brisk ticket sale indicated that last year's attendance of 9,996 would be surpassed Wednesday when Dallas, the league leader, meets a team recruited from the other seven clubs.

There's a small chance, however, of the record being beaten. The all-time high was set at Fort Worth in 1948 when 12,636 crowded into the park.

Harry Walker, manager of second-place Houston, will head the All-Star team. He has indicated he will start his own Billy Muffett, a 14-game winner. Manager Salty Parker of Dallas is expected to counter with Murray Wall, his ace right-hander who has notched

BACK IN FIRST PLACE FIGHT

Lawrence, Crowe Lead Reds Past Philadelphia Twice

By JOE REICHLER

The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe have the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four National League contenders. They said Lawrence, acquired by the Reds in a trade with St. Louis the winter before last, was lucky last year when he won 19 games. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow and too weak with the stick.

Today the Redlegs, after a 4-2 and 6-4 double-header sweep over Philadelphia, are only two games behind the pace-setting Milwaukee Braves, largely because Brooks turned in his 11th triumph of the season and Crowe walloped his 22nd home run.

In other National League games Milwaukee split with New York, winning the second game 7-4 after the Giants had won the opener 5-4. Brooklyn gained a split with Chicago, winning 7-2 after a 5-4 defeat.

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-3 in 10 innings of the opener and led 11-2 with one out in the top of the ninth when the second game was halted by Pennsylvania's curfew law.

Chicago's White Sox pulled within 4 1/2 games of the American League-leading New York Yankees, shutting out the Boston Red Sox 3-0. The Cleveland Indians came from behind to down the Yankees 7-4 after losing the opener 4-3.

Detroit nipped Washington 6-5 in 10 innings when rookie pitcher Jim Heise of the Senators walked across the winning run with the bases loaded. Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-2 after the Orioles had won the opener 7-2.

Lawrence gave up five hits to the Phillies before he was relieved by Raul Sanchez in the eighth of the opener. Crowe's two-run homer and a four-bagger by Gus Bell was enough to hand Robin Roberts his seventh straight defeat and 13th of the season. A 16-hit attack, including three hits each by Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Roy McMillan, moved the Reds up into fourth place past the Phillies.

Lawrence, 32, has been the workhorse of the Redlegs, relieving in 10 games besides starting 19. Crowe, 34, hit four home runs in the last five days, the Reds winning five of the six games.

Johnny Logan got 5-for-5 and Del Crandall drove in two runs with a home run and two singles as the Braves scored all their second-game runs in the last three innings to come from behind a 4-0 deficit. A two-run single by pinch hitter Hank Sauer in the ninth won the first game for the Giants.

A five-run fourth, highlighted by Duke Snider's pinch hit single with the bases full, helped the Dodgers gain their split with Chicago. Clem Labine won his fifth game, pitching five innings of scoreless relief after replacing starter Don Newcombe. Home runs by Walt Moryn, Chuck Tanner and Lee Walls gave Chicago bonus right-hander Moe Drabowsky his sixth victory.

Second baseman Don Blasingame drove in four runs with a two-run homer in the third and a two-run single in the 10th in St. Louis' first game victory over Pittsburgh. Bonus right-hander Lindy McDaniel hurled a six-hitter and contributed four hits himself before the second game was halted.

Right-hander Jim Wilson gave Chicago pitchers two straight shutouts when he held the Red Sox to three hits. Dick Donovan hurled a one-hitter against the Red Sox on Saturday. Larry Doby singled in one run for the White Sox and scored another after a double.

Bobby Avila's three-run triple highlighted a four-run Cleveland rally that overcame a 4-2 Yankee lead in the second game and gave Ray Narleski his sixth victory against one defeat. Gil McDougald and Elston Howard homered for the Yankees in the opener but it was a bases-loaded walk to Mickey Mantle that pushed over the winning run. The loss was charged to Bob Lemon.

Sports Decision Ballinger, 7-1

By The Associated Press
Action was limited in the Southwestern League Sunday with only Hobbs and Ballinger able to play—and it came out just right for Hobbs.

The Sports beat the league leaders 7-1 and moved within 7 1/2 games of the top.

Carlbad at Midland was postponed by weather.

It was Hobbs' second straight triumph over the front runners and it came because of a three-hitter tossed by Roy Sorenson.

Hobbs rolled up his seven runs before Ballinger could score. The Westerners got their lone tally in the seventh on a homer by Frank Cafone.

Hobbs scored twice in the fourth on John Spizura's triple and Dick Hogan's sacrifice fly. Then the Sports swept five runs across in the sixth with a grand-slam homer by Gene Taylor furnishing the impetus.

Dusters Split With Sheppard

WICHITA FALLS (SC)—Webb AFB of Big Spring and Sheppard Field of Wichita Falls split a baseball doubleheader here over the weekend.

Sheppard came back to win Sunday, 10-3 after Webb captured the Saturday engagement, 6-3.

Nick Farkouh pitched the win for Webb, giving only three hits.

He fanned 12.

Bobby McDonald drove out three hits in five trips for the Dusters, who now have a 14-11 won-lost record.

Charles McNew, on the mound Sunday for Webb, contained the Sheppard power fairly well but was wild.

Willis Knowles clubbed a home run for the Big Spring club.

The Dusters visit next Sunday for a game with the Sun Oil team.

State Will Help

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight says California will do everything possible, short of giving financial assistance, to encourage the shift of Major League baseball teams here.

Mrs. Baker Wins

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. Elaine Baker of Fort Worth yesterday piled up 1,400 points to win the women's division in the second annual Hot Springs Water Ski Tournament.

Webb And Walker Split 2 Softball Games, 7-6, 6-8

Softball teams representing Webb AFB of Big Spring, and Walker AFB of Roswell, N.M., split two games here last weekend.

Webb won the opener, 7-6, after repelling a serious Walker threat in the last inning. Walker came back to win Sunday, 8-6.

Mackey hit a two-run home run for Webb in the first inning of Saturday's game. Bell, the opposing hurler, drove one out for four bases for Walker in the seventh.

Bruce Sweeney paced Webb's attack Saturday, with three hits. Walker outthrew Walker, however, 7-4.

Webb went hitless through four innings of the Sunday game. Bob Elsberry finally broke through for a single in the fifth. Jack Long clubbed a sixth inning home run for Webb and Ed Strah answered in the seventh. Mackey connected for the circuit again for Webb after Len Kelly had doubled and scored on an error.

Webb visits Roswell for games next weekend.

Lionel Hebert Wins PGA Golf Crown Over Ohioan

By HUGH FULLETON JR.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Lionel Hebert, a chunky, keen-eyed product of Louisiana's Evangeline land, emerged from under his brother's protective wings during the 39th PGA championship and now stands by himself as a golfer of first magnitude.

Up to a few days ago, Lionel was best known as the younger brother of Jay Hebert, one of the leading golf pros. He was pretty well satisfied and complained only because Jay didn't have the killer instinct to win more often.

Then, in a dramatic finale, the kid brother came through with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dow Finsterwald, the young moneybags of the golf tour, and the tables were turned.

Jay never has won a national title; Loney now has one. Lionel is almost certain of the place on the Ryder Cup team, which will play Britain's top pros in October. Jay probably won't make it.

From 49th place on the PGA money winning list, Lionel moved up to 15th. His $8,000 first prize gave him a year's total of $10,968. Jay, earning only $1,500 for seventh place, still is seventh, about $4,000 ahead.

The younger Hebert, a surprise finalist in a tournament where such stars as Sam Snead, Jackie Burke, Doug Ford, Gene Littler and Ed Furgol couldn't even make the quarter-finals, came out boldly at the finish.

For the first 18 holes under the steaming sun on the baked Miami Valley Golf Club course, they sparred through some defensive maneuvers. Only four holes in the morning were won or lost; the others were halved in par figures.

Then, at the start of the afternoon, the 5-8, 185-pound Hebert moved like a heavyweight who has seen his opponent's guard drop. He fired three straight birdies—a long second shot for one, a 10-foot putt for another and a perfect approach for a third.

Finsterwald, a calm young shot-maker who doesn't panic, got two holes back in short order and finally squared the match at the 30th hole. Undismayed, Hebert rolled in a long birdie putt at the 31st, then birdied the next two while Finsterwald matched strokes with him. Hebert finally got another hole for a fushion when Finsterwald put his second shot in a ditch at the 34th.

land team, setting Cosden down with three hits. Utility Air Coolers got the same number of hits.

Weeks struck out seven and didn't surrender a base on balls. Mike fanned and had equally good control.

A four-run outburst in the fourth inning of the second game gave Midland the sweep. A home run by Haynes highlighted the outburst.

Cosden got five hits, two of them by Buck Drake.

Then, in a dramatic finale, the kid brother came through with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dow Finsterwald, the young moneybags of the golf tour, and the tables were turned.

Hall of Fame Today Opens Doors To Wahoo and Joe

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Marse Joe McCarthy and Wahoo Sam Crawford formally enter Baseball's Hall of Fame today.

Although McCarthy never made the majors as a player, he left his mark as a manager with nine pennants, eight of them with the New York Yankees. Under McCarthy's rule, the Yanks won seven World Series.

Crawford, 77, has been out of baseball since 1917. He collected 2,964 hits in 19 big league seasons at Cincinnati and Detroit.

Both McCarthy, 70, and Crawford were able to be present to accept the honors piled on all last February by the special 11-man Veterans Committee.

Under the new system of Hall of Fame voting, adopted last year, new members are selected on alternate years by the Veterans Committee and the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Assn.

In recent years, McCarthy has been a regular visitor to this historic community on Otsego Lake where Abner Doubleday is supposed to have scratched out the first diamond with a stick.

The dedication of the plaques to the new members always is the most important business of the day. Later the crowd adjourns to Doubleday Field, where over 9,000 seats have been sold for the annual big league exhibition game.

If they had known the standings in advance, the directors couldn't have picked a better pairing than the 1957 game—St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox.

Midland Edges Panther Nine

MIDLAND (SC)—The Midland All-Stars, relying on a three-run ninth inning, nudged the Big Spring Panthers, 6-5, in a baseball exhibition here Sunday afternoon.

The game actually ended following a force play home plate with the bases loaded. A Ochoa, Midland catcher, was forced at home. The umpire called him safe. Reminded that the tag of the runner was not required, the arbiter refused to change his decision.

Tito Arencibia and Charles Pterro labored on the mound for Big Spring. Arencibia worked until the eighth, gave way to Pterro and then came back to the mound after the first two runners had reached base in the ninth—just in time to get tagged with the loss.

Arencibia had a big day at bat, belting a home run, triple and double.

The Panthers' won-lost record is now 4-3.

Head finishes his first job for Kramer yesterday in the Tournament of Champions. He wound up with a 2-3 record and bowed to champion Pancho Gonzales, 9-7, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Seixas Seeks Title

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP)—Vic Seixas, who won the National Clay Courts Championship in Chicago yesterday, returns to home grounds to seek his eighth Pennsylvania Lawn Tennis crown today.

Pros Are Tougher, Says Lew Hoad

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Lew Hoad, the $125,000 fledgling of Jack Kramer's professional tennis stable surveyed his new world today and decided he needed some immediate improvement.

"You can't afford to miss the easy ones in this league," said the big blonde Australian who signed with Kramer after he won the Wimbledon title two weeks ago. "Miss a couple when you're an amateur and you still can win, not with the pros."

Hoad finishes his first job for Kramer yesterday in the Tournament of Champions. He wound up with a 2-3 record and bowed to champion Pancho Gonzales, 9-7, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Yank, Family Back From China

HONG KONG (AP)—An American businessman and his family were en route home today to a "quiet family" homecoming in Cincinnati after an unauthorized stay of almost four months in Red China. Donald J. Blackwood, his Korean wife and child left by plane this morning for Tokyo, Seattle and home. His father, Cincinnati restaurant operator James V. Blackwood, said there would be no celebration.

The family arrived in Hong Kong July 12 from Macao. They had disappeared from the Portuguese enclave March 28, slipped into China against U.S. government regulations and then been expelled. The father said Donald asked by telephone that his return be kept "on a quiet, homelike basis." He said their plane is due in Seattle at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow but he didn't know when the family would reach Cincinnati.

9 Airmen Die In Navy Plane Crash

TREVISO, Italy (AP)—Italian police made their way slowly down the rocky side of Mt. Pra today with the bodies of eight American airmen killed yesterday when their U.S. Navy plane crashed in flames. A ninth victim had been brought down yesterday. The plane's tenth occupant — the only survivor — was in serious condition in a Turin hospital. Their P2V type plane side-slipped in storm winds and crashed while searching for a sister plane missing since Friday with 11 aboard. Italian mountain climbers saw the search plane crash at 5,200 feet up on Mt. Pra, near the Alpine resort town of Sestriere, between Turin and the French frontier. They pulled two living airmen from the wreckage and flames, but one of the survivors died of burns a short time afterwards. Meanwhile, at a Turin hospital, attendants said that the lone survivor was "recovering fairly well." No identification from him or the dead members of the crew was yet available. The plane crashed at noon, three hours after taking off from the U. S. air base at Aviano, near Udine. American officials said the search plane was from Naval Patrol Squadron 23. They declined to make public the names of those aboard.

8 Youngsters Die On Pleasure Jaunt

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—A day of pleasure riding in a rattletap car ended in death on a railroad crossing for eight youngsters yesterday. The youths had been riding around in the 1941 model car all day. Only minutes before the Southern Railway freight hit them, one boy, scared by what he called "some reckless driving," had left the auto. Dead were Charles Allen, 13; his two sisters, Frances, 14, and Josephine, 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Richards, 16; James Calhoun, 12; Charles Simmons, 16; and Ronald Davis, 17. All were from Somerset. Sheriff Gilmore Phelps quoted 15-year-old Donald Hawk as saying he had been riding with the other youngsters but became frightened when some of the boys began wrestling to see who would drive. Phelps said witnesses told him the car approached the crossing at about 35 to 40 miles an hour with a flat tire and a broken tie rod. The car, dragged nearly half a mile by the train, burst into flames. Five of the youths were pinned inside. Three were thrown clear. Coroner Kenneth Gibbs said the train's crewmen told him the freight was going about 50 miles an hour when it hit the car. Phelps said an investigation will be held Friday to determine if any negligence was involved. The youngsters — all close friends — had gone swimming earlier in the day and spent several hours "just driving around," Phelps said. The three girls had been picked up after a church meeting just minutes before the accident.

Airman Convicted In Case Involving Close Haircut

FUCHU, Japan (AP)—A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor. The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to lose $200 in pay and reduced to the rank of basic airman—private—from airman third class. The Air Force said the action involved only "disobedience of a lawful order of his superior officer." Summing up before the court-martial board, the Air Force prosecutor traced U. S. military history from Valley Forge to Bataan and declared: "If we were to allow every airman to decide whether he should reject or obey an order, we would have a sorry group of people dedicated to our country." The prosecutor, Lt. William D. Prigden of Kingstree, S. C., told the court-martial board he had disobeyed a lawful order in refusing to get the short trim. Murray Spring of New York, Wheeler's civilian attorney, argued that "under our system, he (Wheeler) has a right to question an order . . . including the type of haircut he wanted to get."

Jaunt To Swim Ends In Tragedy

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Three men and a 15-year-old girl, headed for a moonlight swim were killed last night when their automobile hurtled over an embankment, crashed onto railroad tracks and overturned. Two other teen-age girls were injured. Police said another group in another car were also on their way to a swim but had stopped for gas when the accident occurred. Elias Polovchak, 21, Robert Liheracki, 24, Harry Kostic, 32, and Constance Abbott, 15, were killed. The prosecutor, Lt. William D. Prigden of Kingstree, S. C., told the court-martial board he had disobeyed a lawful order in refusing to get the short trim. Murray Spring of New York, Wheeler's civilian attorney, argued that "under our system, he (Wheeler) has a right to question an order . . . including the type of haircut he wanted to get."
