Here's How New County Airport Will Look

A revised sketch of the Howard County Airport, made necessary when Civil Aeronautics Authority funds totalling $213,700 were provided for its construction, was released Saturday by Benson-Thompson and Nash, engineers. The sketch shows the two runways, both to be hard surfaced with bituminous cement, as they will be extended under the new plans. The north-south runway will be 5,000 feet long and 100 feet wide. The east-west runway will be 3,500 feet long and 75 feet wide. The narrower strips on either side are surfaced taxiways. The small circles indicate landing lights to be placed along the runways and taxiways. The shaded rectangles in the lower left corner are the car parking areas, the airport apron and the "T" hangers. The two highways at the bottom of the map are the Snyder Highway, running southeast-southwest. The road running almost east and west is the old Colorado City road which is now being paved by the county. To accommodate the extended runways now possible due to CAA financial cooperation, the county will be required to acquire 500 additional feet of land on the south end of the runway area. The county has bought approximately 400 acres of land four miles north and east of Big Spring. This site has been formally approved by the CAA, the U.S. Air Force and other agencies. R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that every effort to speed up start of actual construction will now be made. Total cost of the airport as it is now proposed will be $713,700. Five hundred thousand of this cost is provided by the county.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

It was a bright and shining week for the younger generation.

For one thing, chests were thrust far out with pride over the records made by young Big Spring baseballers. The "Bums" are headed for the state Junior Teen-Age tournament at Pasadena, after winning two masterful games in the District 5 meet in Odessa. The National All-Stars went all the way to the state playoffs, only to bow before Waco Friday night. These Little Leaguers played a fine game, and had gone farther than any other LL outfit. The hope is now that the Junior Teen-Age group can go even farther.

And Big Spring's champ Soap Boxer, Blake Talbot, is on his way to Akron to represent the city in the All-American event next Sunday afternoon. A win there could bring him a fat college scholarship and a two-weeks tour of Europe.

The 4-H Club and FFA young people are out beating the drums for their annual junior rodeo, coming up Thursday. It's another clean sport for wholesome youths.

And a young lady on Tuesday evening will be chosen as the Howard County Farm Bureau Queen. As for young ladies, local folk are proud to know that Helen Blount, a singer of talent who grew up here, has landed a permanent place in the cast of one of Broadway's big musical hits, "The Most Happy Fella."

And did you take note of the amazing results achieved by the city-wide summer recreation program? The various activities un-

Hardy, 65, the rotund half of the Laurel and Hardy comedy team, died Wednesday. He had suffered a stroke nearly a year ago and never fully recovered.

Ike Aides Seek More Power For Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Eisenhower administration officials launched a final effort today to pump more power into the civil rights bill, which the Senate rejected to a voting rights measure.

With the backing of Vice President Nixon, Justice Department attorneys worked on proposals they expect Republican House members to offer if the legislation which passed that branch in broader form is sent to a Senate-House conference committee.

There was no decision on the final form of these proposals or how far they might go in seeking enforcement of court orders in the general field of civil rights. It was emphasized, however that no attempt was being made to include school integration.

The administration's move was regarded in congressional circles as a tactical maneuver aimed at putting President Eisenhower in a position to compromise on a measure closely resembling the Senate's version without seeming to surrender abjectly.

Obviously speaking with Eisenhower's approval, Nixon has told friends he wants a bill enacted in this session of Congress if possible. He has made it clear the administration would like to avoid a stalemate that would leave the legislation frozen until the next session convenes in January.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California has raised the possibility of a special session in November if Congress fails to act now. But Nixon was said to be opposed to what might be looked upon as a political session calculated to produce a Southern Democratic filibuster.

Nixon was represented as favoring a fight in conference now for a broader bill, and if that is unsuccessful, acceptance of a measure limited largely to the protection of voting rights, with jury trials restricted to such cases.

Knowland agreed generally with Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that Congress can get along without advice on legislation from the national political committees and other outside agencies.

Criticizing a statement by GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, Johnson said "backroom politicians" are trying to kill the bill rather than accept the Senate's version.

Alcorn said in a statement yesterday that he had conferred by telephone with House Minority Leader Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) and they were "in complete agreement that the bill must be strengthened in every possible way before final passage."

Johnson said this represented a boast by Alcorn "that he is on the telephone laying down the line to the elected representatives of the people" in what Johnson described as an effort to "kill the bill."

"Legislators working together conscientiously can come to an agreement upon the merits," he said, "but when the backroom politicians move into the picture, there can be nothing but chaos."

"The Senate has passed the only civil rights measure to be approved by this body in 82 years. It is a workable, enforceable measure. It goes far beyond anything that the proponents of civil rights even requested two years ago."

RIGHT TO VOTE
There is room for differences of opinion as to items in the measure. Those differences can be adjusted easily—if only the political partisans will stop thinking about votes and turn instead to the question of the right to vote.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said the Senate had passed a stronger bill than the House. He said Eisenhower had advocated a right to vote bill.

views, they can take a hand in the Queen's public utterances after she crosses the border and sees that they have more of the common touch.

One heavy duty the Queen is likely to escape is having to address a joint session of Congress, which would be in order for a visiting monarch. It doesn't look as if Congress will be in session in October.

But, there are several other spots apparently wide open for speeches in the program announced Friday by the White House.

Also the Queen will have a chance to get her personality across at such planned events as a ride through colonial Williamsburg in an open carriage, a Washington parade, a ticker tape reception and ball in New York, and

Death Claims City Pioneer, Mrs. Walker

Death Friday night claimed one of the early pioneers to Howard County and member of a family which has figured in business affairs here since before the turn of the century.

She was Mrs. Maude Frances Walker, widow of the late A. C. Walker, Mrs. Walker succumbed at 11:30 p.m. Friday in a local hospital, at the age of 88. She had been ill since last April.

Born in Jefferson, Texas, Oct. 15, 1868, Mrs. Walker came here with her husband in December, 1883, just two years after the coming of the T&P Railroad. They made their home at what is now 601 Scurry, and that has been the family home ever since.

The couple moved here so Mr. Walker could help his brother, J. M. Walker, who was second clerk of Howard County. Later, A. C. Walker served as county clerk for more than a decade.

Mr. Walker, until his death June 13, 1948, had operated the Howard County Abstract Company which he established in 1906. The firm has continued to operate under Mrs. Walker's ownership, with a daughter, Andrea Walker, in charge.

Besides the daughter here, other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. H. A. Glover of Dallas; a granddaughter, Mrs. Sam P. Davenport; and two great-grandsons, Johnny and Jimmy Davenport, all of Dallas.

Mrs. Walker was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. Funeral services are to be held at 5 p.m. today at the River chapel, with the Rev. L. Allen Holley of York, Ark., temporarily filling the pulpit at the First Presbyterian, in charge. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Palbearers will be Loy Acuff, Robert Nunn, Temp Currie, Robert Currie, Raymond Dunagan and Dalton Mitchell.

Butler Claims 'Boring Within' Party Attempt

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said today a little group of "saboteurs" is at work within the party trying to capture control so they can dictate the 1960 presidential ticket. Without naming names, Butler said this group for selfish reasons would attempt to "wreck our programs and halt our progress."

"So long as I am privileged to be national chairman of our great party," Butler added, "I will resist vigorously any and all attempts made by any clique or small group to gain control of our national party for the furtherance of their own selfish aims."

Butler's remarks were in a speech prepared for a caucus of the Southern California Democratic Executive Committee. Efforts to get him to identify his targets were unavailing.

A story was published a month ago that a small group, including former National Chairman Frank E. McKinney, met with former President Truman and discussed the replacement of Butler as national chairman.

The group, also reported to have included Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate majority leader, was said to have talked of making Earle C. Clements, former Kentucky senator, the national chairman. Clements is now executive director of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee.

All the principals in this published account denied such a meeting took place.

Leading up to his "saboteur" accusation today, Butler reviewed committee efforts to strengthen the party in a financial and organizational way.

The group, also reported to have included Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate majority leader, was said to have talked of making Earle C. Clements, former Kentucky senator, the national chairman. Clements is now executive director of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee.

Accident Injures Resident Saturday

One woman was hospitalized and three automobiles were damaged in a traffic accident at Tenth and Goliad at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Nora Bell Hoggard, 1604 E. 17th, was in Big Spring Hospital last night suffering from bruises and lacerations as a result of the accident. It was not believed she had suffered any serious injuries. She was taken to the hospital in a River Funeral Home ambulance.

T. C. Burkett, 30, of 306 E. 20th, was issued a ticket by city police, who investigated the three-car crash, for failure to yield right-of-way.

He was driving a 1954 Ford. It was involved in a collision with a 1953 Plymouth, driven by Harry Alton, 42, of 405 State St., and with the 1952 Studebaker which Mrs. Hoggard was driving.

The cars were all damaged but no one, other than Mrs. Hoggard, was injured.

Robert Fulton's Steamboat Made History 150 Years Ago

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Most of the 100 or so persons gathered on the West 10th St. pier were loafers or curiosity seekers. A few came to scoff; a few friends prayed for success.

They all saw history made that day in August, 1807.

The crowd had gone to watch the launching of one of the strangest boats ever to ride in the Hudson River. The first look was terrifying enough—for clouds of black smoke and sparks shot from the skinny smokestack in the center of the 150-foot craft.

"She'll never make it," said one sideline skeptic. "Who ever heard of a ship that big driven by steam?"

"The way that boiler is acting up she'll explode before she leaves the dock," said another. "It's a crazy scheme. Fulton's folly."

But Robert Fulton was confident his boat, the Clermont, would succeed where so many others had failed. Conspicuous in a tall beaver hat and a blue-skirted coat, he hurried busily about the boat, giving the crew last minute instructions and trying to allay the fears of his 40 passengers, most of them friends and relatives.

Finally, he gave the order to cast off, and the Clermont's bulky and formidable engine shuddered violently as it built up steam for the 150-mile run to Albany.

Slowly the odd looking craft pulled into midstream and churned north against the current. And as the bright vermilion paddles of the side wheels bit repeatedly into the water on this warm Aug. 17, a few persons cheered lustily. Those who had predicted failure stared in disbelief.

The cheers were stilled quickly as suddenly, only a few hundred feet upstream, the Clermont's engine shook furiously and stopped. The current caught the crippled boat and carried it downstream—past the dock where the crowd hooted and jeered. Fulton ordered the anchor dropped.

He told his nervous passengers "I do not know what is the matter, but if you will be quiet and indulge me for half an hour, I will either go on or abandon the journey."

The passengers sat restlessly as Fulton worked feverishly over the engine. Then, with the half hour running out, he discovered what he described later as a "slight maladjustment in the machinery which in a short time was obviated."

More wood was fed to the fire, the engine was started and the Clermont chugged and splashed her way upstream. The passengers and the crowd on the pier let loose a mighty roar. The seagoing world was on the eve of a tremendous revolution.

Why had Fulton only 42, succeeded where so many others had failed?

The answer is that Fulton had a special genius for turning the mechanical idea of other men into a practical finished product. He had done this in inventing many minor machines and he had nearly converted the plans of others into a successful submarine.

Income-At-Home Gimmick Is Latest In Swindle Methods

By ROGER GREENE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—It sounds so easy. Earn anywhere from $50 a week to $20,000 a year as your own boss. No selling. No risk. Just work a few hours a week and rake in the profits. . . .

That's the come-on in a new multimillion-dollar wave of swindles, keyed to the theme of making extra income at home, now sweeping the country from coast to coast.

Whether it's a scheme for raising mushrooms in the cellar or investing in automatic vending machines that peddle everything from lipsticks to hot meat pies, federal authorities warn:

"Look for the hook before you swallow the bait."

America's fastest-growing racket—and one of the cruellest—is reflected in a rising clamor of outcries from victims who have fallen prey to fly-by-night artists operating on the fringes of legitimate business.

The national Better Business Bureau says doubtful earn-at-home ventures are gouging the U.S. public to the extent of 500 million dollars a year. Chairman John W. Gwynne of the Federal Trade Commission calls it "particularly vicious" because the victims are usually in desperate need of a few extra dollars to pad out skimpy incomes.

Many risk—and lose—their lifetime savings in the hope of finding security. With subtle variations, the catalogue of shady promotions runs the gamut from that old familiar standby, the envelope-addressing

Rodeo Caravan Is Welcomed In Neighbor Towns

Members of the booster caravan which made a 200 mile loop of the West Texas area on Saturday to advertise the Howard County 12th Annual Junior Rodeo, were delighted with the interest displayed in the towns visited.

The caravan, which included eight cars and a sound truck, had some 35 persons along. Sheriff Miller Harris was leader.

The group visited in Stanton, Lamesa, Snyder and Colorado City on their route. Stops were made in each town and entertainment presented by Jim King and his band. Announcement was made of the rodeo and the spectators invited to be present.

Harris said that in each community sizeable crowds were on hand and manifested much interest in the rodeo.

Dates for the rodeo are Aug. 14, 16 and 17. Most of the boosters on the trip were members of the Howard County 4-H clubs.

racket—which the sucker undertakes, at his own expense, to sell the gyp firm's sleazy merchandise—to raising bullfrogs for cash in your own back yard.

"There's big money in bullfrogs! We buy what you raise." The joker says the BBB: After you pay for instructions on how to breed and raise bullfrogs, the promoter refuses to buy. Your home-grown croakers, he says, are "not in a healthy condition for marketing."

For pure gall, however, it is hard to beat the get-rich-quick genius who offered to sell his secret formula for "renovating" neckties as a way to earn extra money at home.

For $2, he advised: Take a pair of scissors, cut out the soiled section of the necktie, then sew the two pieces together. Simple?

But the latest trend is toward bigger money that flows from these simple artifices. With prices on the upswing, the $2 swindle is beginning to fade out of the picture as greedy tricksters reach for higher brackets.

One of the answers, it seems, is vending machines. "It's the biggest racket confronting us today in the field of earn-at-home swindles," said FTC Atty. William S. Hill.

"Unscrupulous promoters sell junky vending machines for $50 to $100 apiece with a promise they'll be installed at sure-fire sales locations. That's what the promoter says," Hill continued.

Economy Pinch Hits Guard Unit

The pinch of economy has hit the local unit of the Texas National Guard.

T. A. Harris, captain, commander of Battery B, 132nd FA, said that in compliance with a general order, the local unit is to cancel three regular drill periods as the third quarter of the year comes to an end.

Capt. Harris said the battery will drill Monday night at 8 and then not drill again until Sept. 9. This will mean that for three weeks, the armory will be dark on Monday night.

It will also mean that members of the unit will forfeit three drill session pay checks. However, it was said that opportunity to make up the cancelled drills will be offered in the April-June period of next year.

The Army's National Guard Bureau in Washington has recommended that each unit hold four drills in the July-September quarter. The unit here will drop three instead of four.

A spokesman in Washington explained the Guard is pinched for training funds in the current quarter because it must finance active duty training by the many units which attend summer encampments.

Mr. Carson, who has been in ill health for some years, died at Wallace, W. Va., at 3:15 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Robinson has been at his bedside for the last five months.

No other details than the announcement of his death and the time of the funeral had been received here.

11,752,000 Texans Predicted For 1970

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Texas may have a population of 11,752,000 by 1970 and California may end New York's long reign as the nation's most populous state by 1970.

That was the cautious word from the Census Bureau today after a long hard look at recent trends across the country. The bureau shied clear of any definite predictions, and sprinkled its report with ifs, buts and however's.

Texas, which ranked sixth in the 1950 census with 7,711,000, may climb to 5th place in 1970. Other Texas population estimates: 8,748,000 in 1955; 9,724,000 in 1960; 10,697,000 in 1965.

By 1970, the population of California may, or should or ought to be anywhere from 18,655,000 to 20,296,000. By that time the population of New York figures to be anywhere from 18,746,000 to 20,023,000.

The bureau indicated a total population of 200 million by 1970. All states except Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi are joining in the boom.

Arkansas, by even the highest estimate, will drop from 1,892,000 in 1955 to 1,747,000 in 1970. The low estimate for 1970 is 1,435,000. Oklahoma, with 2,210,000 in 1955, is expected to drop to at least 2,135,000 in 1970, and possibly to 2,039,000. Arkansas had 3,910,000 in 1950. Other estimates are 1,787,000 in 1960 and 1,750,000 in 1965.

The Oklahoma 1950 total was 2,333,000 with other estimates 2-

189,000 in 1960 and 2,151,000 in 1965.

Mississippi's 1955 population was 2,133,000. The bureau says it may go to 2,323,000 in 1970, or it may drop to 1,999,000.

Arizona, Maine, New Mexico and Utah are expected to pass the million mark for the first time.

The New Mexico 1970 figure was set at 1,126,000. It had 681,000 residents in 1950. Other estimates: 739,000 in 1955, 806,000 in 1960 and 1,004,000 in 1965.

Florida is another state busting out all over. In 1950 it ranked 19th with 2,771,000. By 1970, it may rank 9th with 5,912,000.

The leading states in the 1950 census were New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts and North Carolina.

On the basis of the high estimate for each state, the 1970 lineup will read California, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Texas, Illinois, Michigan, New Jersey, Florida and Massachusetts.

In 1950, New York led California by 4,244,000. By 1955 that lead was cut to 3 million.

In making its projections, the Census Bureau used variations of migration, birth rate and death rate.

Revival Starting Today At Knott

A ten-day revival meeting starts today at the First Baptist Church at Knott, with the Rev. C. F. Frazier, missionary to the Pima Indians at Coolidge, Ariz., conducting the services.

There will be day worship at 10 a.m. and evening services at 8 o'clock, each day through August 21. The public is invited to attend.

The Rev. Mr. Frazier has been a missionary for the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention for many years. He has spoken in hundreds of churches in behalf of missionary work among the Indians. Mrs. Frazier will work with young people during a 30-minute period preceding each of the evening services.

The pastor at Knott, the Rev. Haskell D. Beck, will conduct music for the revival, assisted by Gene Haston, regular music director of the church.

Fines Assessed On DWI Charges

Tommy R. Davidson, Snyder resident, was fined $75 and sentenced to serve three days in jail when he pleaded guilty to DWI Friday in Howard County Court.

Donald Green, charged with the same offense, was assessed a fine of $100 and his jail time set at five days.

Joe Hackett, Post, charged with transporting liquor, pleaded not guilty. His bond was fixed at $1,000—the court boosting the surety when it was related that Hackett had been previously connected with similar offenses.

Charges were filed against Verner W. Carey Saturday morning alleging DWI. John Richard Coffee, county attorney, announced.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

A whole-clutter of new books, including some of the current best sellers and a number which, while not on the best seller list, have been often requested, are now on hand at the Howard County Library.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that this new shipment of some 35 books is now duly catalogued and filed and ready for the patrons.

The shipment runs the gamut. There are westerns, who-dun-its. There are books on language, studies in religious subjects, popular novels—nearly anything that may suit the adult fancy. To the best of my knowledge this particular shipment seems to be made up entirely of tomes for the grown-ups.

The list should be broken up, I suppose, into categories but it's summer and so I won't undertake to arrange them in that fashion.

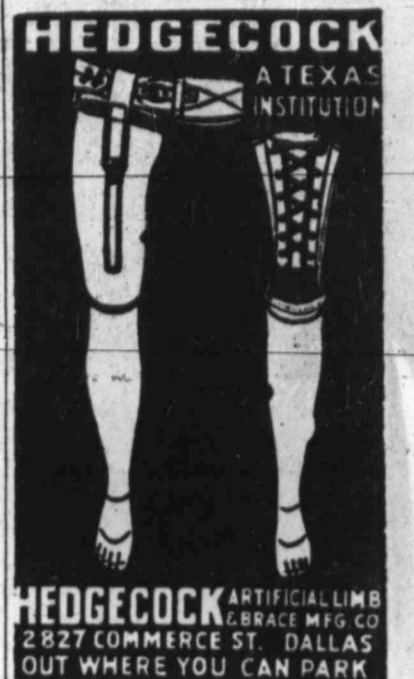

MUCH IN DEMAND

'Suffice it to say you'll find, among other interesting volumes, the amazingly popular "The Day Christ Died" by Jim Bishop and "Letter from Peking" by Pearl Buck.

There is also an interesting looking book which should be of interest to the members of the Big Spring Satellite Observers Corps—"The Making of the Moon—The Story of the Earth Satellite Program." Arthur C. Clarke is the author.

John Gunther's "Days to Remember: America 1945" is also in the group as is the "Gay Mon-Pharaoh," by Joan Grant. "The Curving Shore," by Leonard Ormerod; "A Haunted Land," by Randolph Stow; "Desperate Man," by Wayne D. Overholser; "Hard Man," by Leo Katcher; "Challenge to Venus," by Charles Morgan; "Wild Geese Flying," by Cornelia Meigs; "From a Dark Tower," by Ernest Pawel; "House Party," by Virginia Rowans; "The Awakened," by Zoe Oldenbourg; "Ill Wind," by W. L. Heath; "A Man Ten Feet Tall," by Helen Topping Miller, and "Look to the Stars," by Loving.

Other books entitled to a special paragraph might include William Faulkner's "The Town"; James A. Mischner's "Rascals in Paradise" and Andre Castelot's "Queen of France—A Biography of Maria Antoinette."

Still other titles in the new book list:

"Case of the Extra Man," by Christopher Bush; "Health and Hygiene for the Modern Woman," by Leonard H. Bisping; "Winged

Broadway Hit, 'Tender Trap,' To Play This Week At HCJC

Thursday, promptly at 8:30 p.m. the curtain at the Howard County Junior College Auditorium will rise for the first act of "The Tender Trap," one of the most delightful comedies to appear in the New York stage in many years—and certainly one of the more successful.

Cast in the romantic leads are Jim Hennigar and Darlene Sneed. Jim, as Charlie Reader—a New York sales representative of a national pharmaceutical house—is thoroughly at home among the bevy of New York socialites who stream in and out of his luxurious apartment.

Darlene, who plays opposite Jim, and who is the only one of the sexy beauties who really understands the handsome bachelor, never abandons the hope that someday her playboy will settle down.

The fun really begins when Charlie Reader's pal, a chemist in the same company, develops a "cure-all" pill, resigns from the company and comes to New York to interest Reader in joining up with him to market the wonder drug. Joe McCall, the young chemist, played by Norman Sant, is a serious sort of fellow, married and desperately in love with the wife he left in the little manufacturing town up state. But the atmosphere of his friend's apartment, the lovely ladies, and the round of parties soon bring to the young chemist the realization that he has been "missing something."

This something that Joe thought he missed, is just the tremendous success that it is.

Other members of the Big Spring Civic Theatre group who appear in the production are: Mary Archer as Sylvia Crews; Richard Bates as Earl Lincoln; Mary McClellan as Poppy Mason; Frankie Bledsoe as Jessica Collins and Rod Bowman as Saul Schartz.

Wilma Rudesel is responsible for the costume and John Austin is the stage manager. The entire production is produced and directed by Jim Fulk under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc.

The Big Spring Evening Lion's Club is handling ticket sales and advertising in the program. Big Spring Theatre president, Dr. Wesley Magee reports a full scale dress rehearsal is scheduled for Wednesday.

Fulk, a veteran of the theatre group, said he was "very pleased with the professional-like handling of the various roles and that he was thoroughly satisfied that they would give a good account of themselves come Thursday.

The play comes to HCJC Auditorium for a two night stand next Thursday and Friday.

Turning On The Heat

Mary Archer, seeking first place in the life of a popular playboy, puts her snare into action in this scene from "The Tender Trap." Lt. Jim Hennigar, as the playboy in question, seems too preoccupied to be aware of the trap. Miss Archer is cast as top competition to Darlene Sneed who, with Airman Norman Sant, shares top billing.

Senate Rackets Probers To Spot Hoffa Background

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Senate rackets investigators plan to spotlight James R. Hoffa's background as well as his alleged grab for power among New York truckers and dock workers. Hoffa, 44-year-old Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, is the heir apparent to Dave Beck as president of the union, the nation's largest.

Under subpoenas by the special Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, Hoffa is slated to testify late next week or early in the following week. Hoffa said he couldn't conceive that this would be Hoffa's appearance before the committee—that he expects him to be recalled later for further questioning.

While McClellan, the committee chairman, declined to say so definitely, indications were that this later appearance of Hoffa would precede the Sept. 30 convention of the Teamsters Union in Miami Beach to elect Beck's successor. McClellan has charged a corrupt alliance between Hoffa and

Conditions Of Texas Farms Are Favorable

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 10 (AP)—Farm conditions are favorable in much of Texas after a few days of scattered showers and cooler weather, the Agricultural Extension Service said today.

"Ranges in general show the greatest need for moisture—for growth of grass now struggling to recover after years of drought. Dryland crops in some sections need rain for maturity and to increase yields," Director G. G. Gibson said on reports from district agents.

Where showers fell primarily in the Plains, East Texas, Gulf Coast and the far tip of West Texas, crops and pastures improved with the amount of rain. All the state would benefit much from a good soaking rain.

"Cotton prospects in the South Plains are for a slight increase over last year, and above the five year average of about 1 1/4 million bales," W. H. Jones said at Lubbock. "A wet spring has crops from 2-4 weeks late and an early frost can lower yields. Cotton in some dryland sections needs moisture badly. Grain sorghum growth is good except in some dryland areas. Ranges, where rain has not fallen, are deteriorating."

In the Panhandle dryland sorghum is in critical growing stage for rain while mtmmammammum is in critical growing stage. Scattered showers have helped some. Wheat land is plowed, grasses and weeds are dying, giving native grasses a better chance to grow for winter. The potato, cabbage and onion harvest continues in the Hereford area.

Scattered showers fell in the tip of far West Texas, but moisture is inadequate, keeping ranges in poor to fair condition. Irrigated crops are excellent and half grown bolls on cotton in the Ft. Stockton-Pecos area indicate at least 1 1/2 bales an acre.

The Edwards Plateau needs rain as crop yield prospects decrease, and ranges become drier. V. G. Young said at San Angelo. Yields from early sorghum are very poor. Livestock is holding up very well.

North Texas is taking a setback. When it rained it rained too much in spring, and when it quit it quit. Crops need moisture for maturity. A few light spotted showers helped some. All top moisture is gone and ranges are in bad condition.

At Vernon James Simmons said all crops, pastures and ranges need moisture. Cotton is making fair growth with some insect damage. Sorghum is yielding from 500-1800 pounds per acre in Jones County. Ranges are drying, but cattle marketing is normal.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

"Tammy," as sung by Debby Reynolds in the movie "Tammy and the Bachelor," is taking a back seat to the preferred version of the number by the Ames Brothers. An instrumental version by Dick Haymond is a local favorite.

Breaking through with some forte is "With All My Heart" by Jodi Sands. Available on Chancellor label. "More Than Only Friends" is the flip.

Sal Mineo, a current young artist in the limelight, is currently resting in a very comfortable position in the record circles. His Epic record, "Our Love Affair" and "Start Movin'" is in its prime.

A promising number recorded on ABC label by George Hamilton IV is "High School Romance." "Rose Lee" backed with "I'll Never Fall in Love" is a up and coming bid recorded by a new group, the Mellowtones. So far, they have been received with much enthusiasm.

"Stardust" has been knocking around for countless years. Only once in a great while does an artist have the success in arranging the number as has been the case with Billy Ward. A new name for Liberty records, he has set the word lyrics to a faster beat.

In the world of rock and roll Johnny and Joe have followed today's music pattern with much success. Their current, "Over the Mountain" seems made to order to popular taste.

One of the best arrangements and collections of Cole Porter tunes that we have come across in a long time is one recorded by Cyril Orndel and his Westminster orchestra of London. Called "You'd Be So Nice to Come Home To," the album is made up of such standards as "Easy to Love," "Begin the Beguine," and "Night and Day."

If instrumental numbers are more to your taste, the new Jackie Gleason album will appeal to you. Presented by Capitol, it is titled "Music to Make You Misty." Two solo portions by the trumpeter of Bobby Hackett add much to included numbers "It All Depends on You," "Say It Isn't So," "You Were Meant for Me," and "The Man I Love."

Be looking for great things to come from the new Johnny Mathis album, "Wonderful, Wonderful" on Columbia. The young singer has a style that's made to order for today's younger audiences.

Happy Landing

Maj. Samuel Tyson sets his C97 military transport plane down to a smooth, safe landing in Hilo, Hawaii, happily ending a tense 6 1/2-hour flight across 1,000 miles of sea with two dead engines. Sixty-seven passengers were aboard the flight from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Hickam Field, Honolulu, when the plane developed engine trouble just after it passed the point of no return. The plane flew at an altitude of less than 100 feet during most of the last 1,000 miles.

City Plans Sale Of $50,000 In Revenue Bonds

The City Commission will sell $50,000 in revenue bonds Tuesday night at its regular bi-weekly meeting.

The bonds were passed in July to help pay for the water and sewer lines to serve Webb AFB. The $50,000 will go with a maximum of $175,000 from the government on loan to construct the lines.

The meeting of the commission will be held in the classroom of the police building, and all later meetings will be held there until completion of the remodeling of the city hall. Meeting time Tuesday is 5:15 p.m.

In addition to sale of the bonds, the commission will discuss problems concerning right-of-way for the sewer line. The line will go directly from the city disposal plant to Webb passing around the southern part of the city. The problem concerns where the proposed Farm Road 700 extension will be.

Formal approval will also be given to the three members of the board of tax equalization. The men were tentatively approved before they were appointed, but the formal action is needed. The three are Worth Peeler, George O'Brien, and Carl Strom. They also serve as the board for the school district.

One proposal is being presented to the zoning board Monday night, and if this recommendation is sanctioned by the zoning board, it will be submitted to the City Commission. The change is from a B (two-party residence) to an F (business) zone. It is the east half of the block bounded by Johnson, Nolan, Ninth, and Tenth.

Major G. W. Dabney has received a letter from the county judge concerning a joint city-county school re-valuation survey. The commission Tuesday night will consider a meeting with the other groups. The school and city originally proposed the survey and asked the county to come in on it.

The city and school plan to initiate the survey, even without the county.

Soviets Call Wall-Scaling Youth 'Spy'

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Soviet newspaper Literary Gazette charged today that Stanley Mumford, wall-scaling theological student from Walnut Creek, Calif., came to the Moscow Youth Festival as a spy for the United States.

The paper suggested in a satirical vein that Mumford should go back to school and study up on the art of espionage.

Mumford was twice detained by Soviet police for allegedly photographing a Moscow factory. The Gazette said the factory involved was a defense installation and added that the film in Mumford's cameras was a special kind usually given to intelligence agents.

Mumford was first questioned by Soviet police for four hours July 28 when he was allegedly caught by two factory workers as he climbed a fence into the factory grounds. Mumford said he had lost his way en route to the opening festival ceremonies at Lenin Stadium, and was taking what he thought was a short cut. His film was seized.

Mumford said he took no pictures of the factory but returned Aug. 6 and snapped a souvenir photo of the scene where he was detained. He was caught again and questioned five hours.

Mumford's account of the second incident was that when he had reported his first detention to the consular section of the U. S. Embassy he could not give the factory address for his official report. So, Mumford said, he went back to the factory to find it out. An embassy spokesman confirmed this version of the account.

Wants To Follow Law On Office Help, Says Gilliam

G. E. "Red" Gilliam, county commissioner, declared Saturday that the impression he was "gunning" for the county attorney in elective officials taking advantage of their positions to make use of county-paid employes for their own benefit.

"I wasn't aiming at that office or any office in particular," he said. "I have nothing at all against Mr. Coffee, (the county attorney) and I am sorry that the impression developed that I was making his office a target for my remarks."

Gilliam declared that he was merely pointing out that he was unalterably opposed to what he called "the old Spanish custom" of elective officials taking advantage of their positions to make use of county-paid employes for their own benefit.

"I mentioned the county attorney's office, the district attorney's office and the county judge's office as an illustration of how opportunity offers for an official to make use of county help for his own affairs," he said. "All three of these gentlemen are all officers and in addition to their official duties are privileged to practice law. Secretaries in their county offices can be of big help to them in preparing documents and in handling correspondence."

He said that he also questioned whether or not the county commissioners had acted within the law some months ago in granting a request of the two justices of peace in Big Spring for part-time help in their offices in keeping records.

"I know we voted for such help and that the persons so employed are now working and are being paid by the county."

"I have tried to find out, since the action was taken, if there is a law by which we could legally have provided such employes for these officials. I have found no such law," Gilliam said.

"I said that I found authorization for the county to provide the county judge and the district attorney with secretaries. I also said I did not know of any general law that justified the employment of a secretary in the county attorney's office.

"What I wanted to impress on my fellow commissioners was that if we were in error in creating jobs and paying for those jobs out of county funds without legal authorization we were in danger of getting into trouble."

Jury Seeks To Quiz BenJack If He Should Return To Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Travis County grand jury and Dist. Atty. Les Procter added their bids today to those who want to question ICT promoter BenJack Cage if he returns to Texas.

Two legislative committees are also likely to take their place in the growing line of those who would like Cage to give details of the collapse of his huge labor-backed insurance and investments empire.

The Dallas County grand jury was first in line with Dist. Atty. Henry Wade in Mexico City trying to persuade Cage to return.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr said in Lubbock the possibility of Cage's return to Texas made appointment of an interim General Investigating Committee "imminent."

Gov. Ben Ramsey said at San Augustine he would also name the Senate between-sessions General Investigating Committee within two weeks.

Resolutions creating both committees were considered broad enough to continue investigations started by separate House and Senate committees.

Procter said that while the Travis County grand jury — still deep in its look at ICT — had issued no subpoena for Cage, he expected that it would if he returned to its jurisdiction.

Cage has been out of the reach of Texas law in his Latin American travels since the firm he founded with support from the Texas State Federation of Labor collapsed.

"There certainly are some things I would like to ask him about," said Procter. "I know the grand jury wants very much to hear him."

Cage has said ICT failed when he was ousted from its management more than a year ago, and that he has been made the scapegoat.

The Senate committee sharply criticized both Cage and ICT's new management, including topflight labor leaders who were among its directors. It said they had not given the proper supervision to some of Cage's money-making schemes while he was operating ICT.

Big-Spring Maintains Low Fire Loss Rate In July

Big Spring maintained its low fire loss rate through July with only $311 in insured losses during the month.

This low figure was the second straight monthly total less than $500. The June loss was only $155.

July's total brought the year's loss to $17,737.20, which compares favorably with the $29,117.77 for the first seven months of 1956. The July, 1956, total was $13,249.29 the largest monthly total of the entire year.

The past month, only two fires caused insured damage.

On July 7, $65 damage was sustained at Mrs. Smith's Tea Room at 1301 Scurry. The other $246 damage was at the M. L. Malouf residence at 1305 Michael on July 11. All the damage was to buildings.

Sixteen fires were reported to the fire department in addition to two false alarms, during July.

Three of the fires developed from faulty wiring. Two each fires started with gas lines, fireworks, lightning, trash and unknown causes. One started with a hot water heater, another from gasoline and at one, children were playing with matches.

The monthly comparisons:

Snyder Highway Job Up For Bids On August 20

The long urged improvement program on State Highway 350—the Snyder Highway—is scheduled to get under way in the relatively near future.

The Texas Highway Commission has announced that it will open bids on Aug. 20 on a project calling for 11.2 miles of grading, structures and paving from Big Spring northeast to Wild Horse Creek.

The Snyder Highway, heavily travelled, is to be widened to approximately 40-feet of paved surface, repaved where needed and brought up to modern standards.

This is the initial start of a program which envisions the complete rehabilitation of the entire road from Big Spring to Snyder.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that he understands the present slab is to be widened to 24 feet and that shoulders, each 8 feet wide, are to be paved on either side. Bridges and crossings will be reconstructed to match the new width of the highway.

There was no estimate in the report on the probable cost.

The project is one of a large number on which the State Highway Commission is to consider bids on Aug. 20 and 21 at Austin.

Total jobs involved in this letting call for the building of 290 miles of state highway. The low bids will run close to 12 million dollars it was estimated.

With this new project soon to start, road building in Howard County is soon to become a major activity. Already work is being done on crossing and intersections jobs on U. S. 80 west of town.

Easements are being obtained for similar improvements on the east segment of U. S. 80.

Engineers are to be in Big Spring on Monday to select the official route for a new four-mile segment of FM 700 to extend eastward from U. S. 87 to connect with U. S. 80 west.

County highway crews are now working on a paving project on the Old Colorado City Road which is the start of a scheduled 20-mile county road building project booked for this year.

Door Left Open, $50 Is Missing

Leaving doors and windows open has its consequences, the management of B-J Well Service, Inc., found out Friday.

A door to the B-J building at 1009 Lamesa was left open when employees quit Thursday. Sometime during the night, a person walked into the building and left with the cash drawer.

In the drawer was $50.

HIGHER PRICE TAG ON POPULAR ITEM AT COURTHOUSE
Fees for marriage licenses going up along with other services

Many County, District Fees To Be Higher After Aug. 22

It's going to cost more to get married in Howard County after Aug. 22.

Deputies in the office of Pauline Petty, county clerk, are pondering whether this development may have been responsible for the unusually heavy demand for marriage licenses in July.

At any rate, prospective bridegrooms who buy those romantically designed documents entitling them to say "I do" in front of some minister will have to dig a little deeper in their jeans after Aug. 22.

The cost of a marriage license will go up from $2.50—standard price for those many June months—to $3.

By the same token, it will cost you more to file a petition for divorce.

You can file the petition with Wade Choate, district court clerk, between now and Aug. 22 for a cost of only $1.00. After that date, it will cost you $2.50.

It's all a part of the revised schedule of fees now authorized by the Howard County Commissioners Court which will be charged by the county clerk and the district clerk for services rendered by these two offices.

The 50 cent upward surge of the cost of marriage licenses is but one of a long, long list of charges which have been ordered increased by the commissioners.

The county clerk's office averages selling around 300 to 400 marriage licenses each 10 months. Therefore the increase in the charge from $2.50 to $3 will add only a few hundred bucks to the revenue of the offices.

Other services, however, are more common and increased fees across the board in the county and district offices will probably boost the county's annual revenue by several thousand dollars.

It all comes out of an act by the recent legislature which authorized increases in civil fees in these two offices in any county where such increased charges were ordered by the Commissioners Court.

Such order was voted by the Howard County Commissioners recently.

The office of the county clerk has 47 different services which it is called upon to perform. There are fees for each of these, ranging from a dime to as much as $2.50 under the present schedule of charges.

The new rates increase fees on 23 out of the 47. The increases range from 10 cents to as much as 50 cents. Twenty-four of the service charges are untouched by the new schedule.

The district clerk's office has 39 operations for which fees are assessed. Seventeen of these remain unchanged. One has been reduced from 25 cents to a dime; majority of others have been increased approximately 25 per cent. Some few remain as they have always been. Most of these charges will touch relatively few persons. Engaged couples who want a marriage license will have to ante up a little more; lawyers who file cases will have to assess a few dollars additional fees from their clients.

Costs of a trial in court will go a little higher; the usual mass of papers essential to the filing of any sort of litigation will be a little more costly to get in the official dockets.

In general, however, the increased fees will mean nothing to the lay citizen. Only a few ever have any occasion to file documents in the two county offices. And the occasions when these activities arise are generally so rare that very few persons will even be aware there has been any change in the rates at all.

'10 Commandments' Brings Varied Comment

By NITA HEDLESTON

The showing of the movie, "The Ten Commandments," which ended locally Thursday after a two-week run, brought many different comments from many different people.

Many approved wholeheartedly of the movie and felt it was very inspiring. Others who felt the movie was too glamorous and strayed too far from the Bible version felt exactly opposite about the showing.

Some of the local pastors were asked how they felt about the movie, how their congregations reacted to it and how about the parts which were filled in.

Most seemed to agree that they enjoyed the movie but some disagreed and said they felt the movie didn't coincide with the scriptures and there was "only one class of people" who made the movie.

One local pastor, who although he had not yet seen the movie and felt he couldn't fairly criticize it, said he believed "anytime we can get the teaching of God's Word before the public it is a good thing."

He added that he had heard some of his Bible school children talking about the movie and they all seemed "thrilled."

Another felt that the movie was very good. However, he believed there were some things in the Bible that were left out which might have added to the picture. He also felt that the story had in some places strayed from the Bible.

Another commented that "Outside of the movie 'King of Kings' this was one movie that was about tops."

This pastor felt that there were some places where the story veered from the truth and a lot that we don't know about that had to be filled in. He felt, though, that much of it could have been what happened.

"We have to look at human nature as it is," he said.

One who had not seen the movie declined comment on this particular movie. He felt that it was one way to reach the people but he also felt that the movies of this type are sometimes too glamorized and the makers are not too careful.

One pastor asked the members of his church to see the movie. When he first went in, he said he hadn't heard that the movie was to be so long. He thought that this would be one he would leave at the intermission. He ended up seeing all of it. He said he could have been a lot longer because quite a bit about the Pharaoh was left out. He was satisfied that some things were left out and some things added that were not true.

Another said the title was wonderful but he had not yet seen the movie so he didn't want to offer any criticism. He added that the movie had been made by one of the greatest people in that line.

Others who had not seen the movie declined any comment at all. Many of the people who did attend the movie seemed to feel that, even if the story did stray from the scripture, they were glad to have seen it.

Prowlers Invade Homes At C-City

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 10 — James Stewart of 628 East 20th Street, Colorado City reported an unidentified prowler at his home about midnight Thursday night.

Stewart told police that he woke to find a man standing over him. He reached for a gun and fired three shots at the intruder, who escaped in the darkness. Stewart said that the prowler had entered through a screen door, which he had opened by slitting the screen.

This was the second such occurrence this week—Virgil Brown of 1136 Oak Street had reported to police that a man had entered his home in the early morning hours on Wednesday morning and that he woke as the prowler had entered his children's room. He shouted "Hand me that gun" and the intruder broke and ran. This prowler had also slit a screen and opened a latch.

LOGAN, Utah—This is a little farming and college town of 12,000, and lies about 70 miles north of Salt Lake City. The road map shows it to be 25 miles from the Idaho border and about 175 miles northwest of Jackson Hole.

For the last two days I've been working along the eastern rim of Great Salt Lake, and many times was in sight of it. The highway left it at Brigham and wound through the hills into Logan, which is at the foot of some tall, smooth mountains, almost completely treeless but with sage brush growing nearly to the top.

Great Salt Lake is like no other body of water except the Dead Sea. It's a quiet, dead place that shimmers like snow when seen from a distance. I visited the southern part yesterday and walked out to some boat docks that seemed to be deserted.

There was nothing but salty water, salt-crusted beaches and a molten sun that sent the temperature up to 100. Everything was deathly still, with no life of any kind except a few weary sea gulls that walked along the shore.

They are much bigger than gulls on the Gulf Coast and they seldom fly. What they were pecking in the mud I don't know. There is no kind of fish or shell creatures living in the water.

The big lake is not as peaceful as it looks, according to the natives. It's dangerous to get out in a small boat because the water is like melted metal.

The waves can slap the side of a boat with the force of a sledgehammer. A feed dealer in Brigham said that during World War II Henry Kaiser built some huge pontoons for ocean use, and the government decided to test them in Great Salt Lake. When they got out several miles from shore, a strong wind blew down from the mountains and the giant waves smashed the pontoons into scrap metal.

"The water is so heavy you can't sink in it," said the feed dealer. "You can get your feet to the bottom, but you just can't get your head under."

"Couldn't a person dive head first into it?" I asked him.

"Sure," he laughed, "if he wanted to commit suicide. Anyone diving from a 12-foot height would break his neck when he hit the surface."

Not all the lake is salty. Along the north end the state has built a high dike and pumped the salt water out. Now the fresh water coming from melted snow has filled the area and farmers use it for irrigation. They are also planning a similar project for the south side.

The feed dealer, whose name is Tyson, carried me on a two-hour tour of the farmland between Brigham and the Great Salt Lake. In some of those fresh water swamps we saw hundreds of wild ducks, geese, and many long-legged birds like cranes and egrets.

The sign at the city entrance to Brigham says this is the largest bird preserve in the nation. Millions of water fowl nest here during the summer, raise their young, then fly south when the October snow comes.

We saw some of the most fertile farmland in America, according to the feed dealer, and I didn't doubt it. It was all once a part of the lake, but during the centuries the water receded to leave a barren salty plain. Farmers drained the land, grew great crops of greenery to be turned under for soil improvement until the land was raised to a high degree of fertility.

He showed me the farms of three Japanese who have lived a Cinderella sort of life since being chased out of California during World War II.

They went out on the tule flats near the lake and bought some worthless land for $15 an acre. For several years it was a joke among the local farmers. Those poor Japs would certainly starve to death.

Today we saw some of that poor land. One field of barley was threshing 110 bushels per acre. Sugar beets were making twice as much as those of the Mormon farmers, and other crops were the finest I ever saw.

The Japs put in drainage canals to drain the salty water that rose in the field, worked like slaves and now own several hundred acres priced at $500 per acre.

In many ways Utah is different from other states. The Mormon influence has been tremendous. Almost 100 per cent of the smaller villages and the country south of Salt Lake City is Mormon. Up here it's about 80 per cent.

I've found the people nice and friendly everywhere. They are nearly all plain Anglo-Saxon, with very few dark-skinned people. You notice it especially among the kids. It seems the country is filled with little blonde girls and boys romping on the lawns and in the parks. If a young man prefers long-stemmed blondes, this should be a happy hunting ground.

Today at a fruit stand I was talking to a young man from San Antonio when three girls passed by. They were blonde and pretty and looked as fresh as the mountain cherries we were eating.

The boy stared at the girls until they were out of sight, then turned and said: "You know, with something like that around, it wouldn't take but one sermon to make a Mormon out of me."

The days have been warm, but as I swing farther north the nights are getting chilly. I just walked across the street for a cup of coffee and found that a short-sleeved shirt is almost too thin.

Tomorrow night I hope to bed down at Burley, Idaho, on the banks of the Snake River. That's overcast country eight months of the year, and even in August the night winds are cold.

But the enjoyment will be brief. Today I talked to a livestock feeder who had a phone call from a business friend down in the Imperial Valley. At Blythe, Calif., yesterday the temperature climbed to 115 degrees. It's that kind of news that makes me like the Northwest.

Weather-Battered Southwest Again Scans Treacherous Sky

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP)—The weather-battered Southwest, whose parched scars are being slowly covered by the first real crops and grass in years, is again anxiously scanning its treacherous skies.

There has been no happy medium to the Southwest's weather. In the past seven months the region has been swept from one of the worst droughts in its history through a succession of destructive blizzards, dust storms, tornadoes, cloudbursts and floods to what some fear may be the hint of another drought.

Many crops in Southwestern states are again feeling the water pinch. It is beginning to look remarkably like the Southwest of last year—a land of famine and debt.

When President Eisenhower flew to the Southwest in January he found vast areas devastated by drought in a region extending from Arizona and Utah eastward into Missouri.

Twenty-nine million acres—nearly twice the area of the old dust bowl of the mid-1930's—in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska had suffered wind erosion damage.

CATTLE SOLD

Many ranchers had been forced to sell all cattle except a few foundation head. Farmers told of going three and four years without making a single crop. Some farms were abandoned. Reservoirs shriveled to muddy puddles.

Then in March, a blizzard that lasted nearly a week swept across the Southwest. Between 60,000 and 70,000 head died.

The first rains were welcomed.

STOCK SHORTAGE

Ranches in Colorado became so good that an shortage of cattle was noted at the Denver stockyards as stockmen were able to hold their animals longer than in previous years. On July 1, the condition of all range and pasture feed in Texas stood at 86 per cent, the highest for that date since 1949.

While damage from excessive moisture, hail and wind took the edge off the highest hopes of growers, the wheat crop in most of the Southwest was considerably better than in previous years.

The soaking rains did more than revive pastures and crops. They filled stock tanks and municipal reservoirs and restored badly depleted subsoil moisture. Southwest farmers and ranchers, for the first time in years, were able to stop borrowing and to start buying.

But high temperatures, hot summer winds, fast disappearing surface moisture—and no recent rains—are taking the bloom already from the Southwest's improved agriculture.

Some areas, especially New Mexico and far West Texas, did not receive enough rain to revive the drought-ridden land. In other sections, pastures and crops that were verdant a month ago, have begun to turn brown for lack of moisture.

C. G. Gibson, director of the Texas Extension Service said in a recent report, "late crops, delayed by wet fields during spring planting season, now are willing under the strain in many areas. Pastures and ranges are becoming brown."

Alfred C. Brittain, United States Department of Agriculture crop and marketing statistician for Missouri warned that corn, soybeans, cotton, hay and pastures are going to need more rain during August.

Even Nebraska, which "got off easy" in the drought and has had good rains this spring, reports additional moisture needed in some sections.

Farmers and ranchers in the area have a saying: "There's nothing wrong with this country that a good rain won't cure."

But in the Southwest, there's a mighty fine line between disaster from too little water and catastrophe from too much water.

Polish Subs Head Back Into Ocean

LONDON (AP)—An Admiralty spokesman said today the British Navy was no longer keeping track of two Polish submarines last reported heading out into the stormy North Sea.

"The last we saw of them," the spokesman said, "they were heading straight out and were about 50 miles due east of Newcastle."

Asked if there was any word as to their whereabouts this morning, the spokesman replied: "No, we haven't been looking."

The Royal Navy tailed the subs with minesweepers yesterday after they edged fairly close to the Scottish coast, but outside the three-mile limit.

Big Spring High School will have three left-handed pitchers on its 1958 baseball club and they should be three of the finest in the state. They are Chubby Moser, who'll be a junior, and the LeFevre twins, Zay and Jay, both of whom will be sophomores. The '58 graduates from Teen-Age and Little League baseball here should have a greater impact on the Steer varsity than ever before.

TOMMY JACKSON

Milton Ham, Snyder High School's star all-around athlete, revealed to scribe Buck Francis recently that he preferred basketball over all other sports. Ham says he'll give the cage game a try at TCU, even though he's reporting on a football scholarship. John West, the Negro trackster who is leaving LSU to enroll at Kansas University (because of Louisiana's racial bars) first said he would switch to the University of Houston. They're now referring to that heavyweight championship fight between Floyd Patterson and Pete Rademacher in Seattle Aug. 22 as "The Massacre of the Century." It couldn't be any worse than that Patterson-Tommy Jackson brawl, however. Jackson must be one of the worst fighters ever to crawl between the ropes. He should fight with his feet, he telegraphs every punch he throws with his hands. Witty Quintana, the ex-Big Spring infielder, missed a week of action with the Havana Cubans of the International League due to a hip injury. They put the tape measure on that home run John (Red) Schwarzenbach hit against Colorado-City in Snyder's district Little League playoffs recently and found it went 358 feet. However, the local lad is supposed to have had an even longer belt in an Area tournament game played here. Joe Rector, who'll be a candidate for the right end post on the University of Oklahoma football team this fall, is the son of a prison guard at the Oklahoma state prison. H. R. (Bob) Hayes, who blocked the extra point try that gave Texas Tech a 45 football victory over SMU back in 1944, is now a dentist in El Paso.

Maxwell Planning To Stay On Coast
Bill Maxwell tells his friends he'll spend about four months in California playing in the small meets after the Tam O'Shanter tournament in Chicago. A prominent West Texas coach told a Lubbock audience not long ago Al Milch was one of two coaches in all the state who would have had the courage to accept the Big Spring coaching job. He didn't identify the other but obviously he meant Joe Kerbel, the Amarillo mentor three years. Gil Guerra, the former Big Spring pitcher, has a 9-3 won-lost record in the Class AA Mexican league, best in the circuit. He's with the Mexico City Reds. Shed no tears for Bobby Bragan, recently deposed as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He'll draw his full year's salary with Pittsburgh and earn $10,000 plus all expenses for himself and his family for bossing Almadars in the Cuban Winter League. The University of Oklahoma's football schedule in 1958 won't endear itself to the pollsters. The Sooners play West Virginia, Oregon, Texas, Kansas, Kansas State, Colorado, Iowa State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma State, in that order. OU has Army booked at home on Nov. 14, 1959. Lee Sneed, an entry in the Stanton Golf tournament held recently, played professional baseball for Big Spring several years ago. Fred Harrington, Coahoma football back, has been working on a pipe line in Arizona this summer. Earle Halstead, the Milwaukee Scout who signed SMU's Larry Click here recently, has predicted the Par-sons youth will hit the majors in two years. Halstead made this same kind of forecast for Earl Caldwell Jr., the former Odessa catcher, and young Caldwell is now out of baseball.

Kokernot Is Miffed At Wichita Body
N. E. Stephens pitched Midland National Bank to a 1-0 victory over Lorenzo in the finals of the ISL State Softball tournament at Wink recently but he proved no mystery to Harold Berry, the ex-Big Spring. Berry solved his offerings for two hits. Flop Parsons, one-time Odessa High School and Odessa JC footballer, is the new basketball and track coach at Post High School. Parsons graduated from Sul Ross College. The Searchers, local sandlot baseball nine, have announced they'll try to book a game here with the powerful Alpine Cowboys. Incidentally, Herbert Kokernot, sponsor of the Cowboys, reportedly won't take his team back to the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kansas, because he is still ranked over the NBC committee's decision to bar Johnny Podres from last year's tournament. Pau Claire of the Class C Northern League has shown a ten per cent decrease in

AAU Swim Meet Slated At Houston
HOUSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A field that includes many of the world's finest swimmers is entered in the National Women's AAU swim meet here Aug. 13-16.
Altogether, 150 to 200 of America's top stars, plus entries from Australia, Canada, Hawaii and Mexico will compete.
The meet is considered second only to the Olympic Games in the quality of its performers. Crapp and Dawn Fraser, the Australian Olympic champions and record holders.
Such members of the U.S. Olympics Team as Shelley Mann, Cairn Cone, Sylvia Russka, Nancy Ramey and Nancy Simons as well as Molly Botkin, a national champ at 13 and considered a fine Olympic prospect, are scheduled to appear.

Webb Dusters, Cosden Oilers Divide Two Softball Games
Webb's Dusters and the Cosden Oilers divided a doubleheader softball card Friday night, the Oilers taking the first game 11-3 and the Dusters grabbing the second 1-0.
Power hitting of Billy Paul Thomas provided Cosden with its big edge in the opener. Thomas hit three home runs and a single, driving in five runs in his five trips to the plate.
Troy Wetsel held the Webb team to seven hits in the contest, and also hammered out a solo homer in the fourth inning. Webb gained a two-run lead in the first inning and picked up another in the third, but after that it was all Cosden.
In the second game, the Dusters gained their winning run in the seventh inning. Bruce Sweeney

The lineup includes the first place award for the local YMCA Industrial League, second place at the San Angelo Invitational Tournament, second place at the Odessa Invitational, and third in the state tournament of the International Softball League. Individual trophies won by Cook, Troy Wetsel and Billy Paul Thomas of the Oilers for all-star performances at Odessa and in the state tournament at Wink also are displayed.

Future Players For SMU, TCU, Texas Show Power

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP)—Rebuilding programs at Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas Tech should receive strong impetus from what their future footballers did in last night's 28-0 victory by the North over the South in the all-star game of the Texas Coaching School.
Frank Jackson and Glynn Gregory, who are going to SMU, put on quite a show in leading the North to a complete humiliation of the South for the week. Thursday night the North beat the South 43-42 in basketball, making the series record nine victories against four losses. The football triumph was the third in the past four with one tie and brought the all-time standing to 11 victories for the North, 9 for the South and 3 ties.
Texas could rejoice over its Tommy Newman of Phillips who threw passes for 120 yards and one touchdown and looked like a million as the man under in the split T taught by Chuck Moser of Abilene, the North coach.
And TCU could be happy over getting Harry Moreland of Fort Worth Arlington Heights. Moreland was the game's leading ground gainer with 86 yards, making 50 on a touchdown jaunt that drew a 28-0 victory for the North over the South in the all-star game of the Texas Coaching School.

Pros' Passing Defeat Stars
CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars were supposed to teach the pros a lesson in passing, but the New York Giants used just that weapon in spanking the campus grid kids, 22-12, at rain-drenched Soldier Field last night.
Two aerial shots by 33-year-old Charley Conerly, 10-season Giant veteran from Mississippi, to 28-year-old Ken Mac Afee, swung it for the National Football League champions.
The All-Stars, hanging their hopes on the arms of Stanford's John Brodie and Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, performed extremely well but the college pass patterns just didn't develop as well as those of the Giants.
It was a rugged victory for the Giants. The collegians who most made them hustle, besides Brodie and Hornung, included a crackerjack back from Wake Forest, Billy Ray Barnes, Southern California's Jon Arnett, Michigan State's John Matsko, Syracuse's Jim Brown, Illinois' Abe Woodson, and Mississippi's Paige Cotren.

Tech To Play Tulane
LUBBOCK, Aug. 10 — Texas Tech and Tulane will play a football game in New Orleans Oct. 30, 1959, according to R. O. Baumback, Tulane athletic director, and DeWitt Weaver of Texas Tech. It will be the first grid meeting between the two schools.

Webb's Dusters and the Cosden Oilers divided a doubleheader softball card Friday night, the Oilers taking the first game 11-3 and the Dusters grabbing the second 1-0.
Power hitting of Billy Paul Thomas provided Cosden with its big edge in the opener. Thomas hit three home runs and a single, driving in five runs in his five trips to the plate.

Boxing King Pin To Battle Ruling

By TED SMITS
NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Jim Norris, king pin of American boxing, said today "I'm going to play the hand out as far as I can."
He is under federal court order to dissolve the International Boxing Club and break up his sports holdings. A motion for a new trial has been made and it may be months, even years, before the outcome of the case is known.
Norris would not and cannot defy the federal courts, but until there is a final determination, he is doing business. But not entirely as usual, because the heavyweight championship fight between Floyd Patterson and Hurricane Jack Johnson here July 29 was the first staged by an independent producer in two decades.
Weather and other factors kept Emil Lence's promotion of the Patterson-Jackson fight from being an unqualified success. But the New York dress manufacturer has made his big time debut and has no intention of stopping. The gross gate was $156,936.
Norris will throw everything he has into the promotion of the fight in New York Sept. 23 for the middleweight crown between Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio, as undoubtedly the public will compare the two fights. Norris is hoping for a gate between $750,000 and $1,000,000.
"Sports are my whole life," says the big, ruggedly handsome multimillionaire with the curious affinity for the Broadway boxing world. "I have neglected my other interests in order to devote time to boxing and hockey. Financially there is no question that it would be easier to take another path in life."
Regardless of legal opinion, Norris feels he could not have managed things any differently than he did. In the past eight years, since IBC pick up the reins of

PRECEDENT SAYS

Tech Should Best Baylor Or Aggies

LUBBOCK, Aug. 10 — Although the Texas Tech Red Raiders are being given virtually no chance of beating either Texas A&M or Baylor this year, they have one ally—precedent. History shows that in the five previous years Tech has played two Southwest Conference teams in Lubbock the same season, the Red Raiders have won at least one of the games. Before Coach DeWitt Weaver and his Raiders gain too much solace from that, however, it could be pointed out that those five Tech teams never met a pair as rugged as the Aggies and the Bears, currently picked one-two in the conference race. In 1932, for example, the Raiders won a pair in Lubbock, over fifth place Baylor 14-2 and sixth place Southern Methodist 6-0. Second place Baylor was 13-0 victim in 1933, but Tech faltered before sixth-finishing SMU 14-0. Another split was chalked up in 1934, Tech winning from cellarite Baylor 14-7 but bowing to runner-

Emotions Mixed As Girl Hooks Big Bass

By DION HENDERSON The Associated Press There are things you can get away from, like in-laws, and things that you can't, like the advancing years for dentures. If you are a fisherman there are things that fall in between somewhere and one of them is the day you take your first-born on the first real, surething, no-help-from-daddy fly casting trip. The party of the second part in this case was a charming and articulate young lady of 10, who rejoices in what dog-wary society refers to as the "call name" of Butch. The day had a pleasant haze, pleasant-for-not-having-the-sun hammering at you and pleasant too for knowing the big ones would not shy from your shadow. The locale was one of two small private lakes provided by a rich and open hearted friend who worked himself to the verge of utter poverty acquiring and maintaining the private lakes. One of the lakes was rippled by fat trout making lazy passes at wayward grasshoppers. The other was a calm pool of weedy water inhabited by volunteer bluegills and a few black bass matrons. We were going to fish the blue-gill pond. "You try sneaking a cast over into the trout pool," the generous host said cheerfully to Butch's father, "and I'll wing you with a thuddy-thuddy from the house." Butch didn't hear the affectionate playboy. She was busy setting up. Past now were the weeks of studious application, the concentration on the private lives of aquatic insects and their artificial counterparts and the backyard practice laying down smooth and accurate casts at paper targets on the grass. "Don't help me," she said. "The fertile waters of the blue-gill pool were rimmed with algae, so we put out a few feet in a skiff. Butch selected a spouting judiciously. No action. She took another from the fly book. No action. Father dozed, pleased that that host peering suspiciously from between two bushes should find naught but innocence on the blue-gill pool. Suddenly there was action. The placid waters erupted, Father

Texas Squad For Oil Bowl Game Short But One Player

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 10 (AP)—A star-studded Texas squad for the 20th annual Oil Bowl benefit football game Aug. 23 at Midwestern University Stadium was virtually complete Saturday. Abilene's powerful Glynn Gregory and Stuart Peake, Mike McClellan, Stamford's great half-back; talented George Johnson of Sonora, Wichita Falls' versatile Harold Morgan and Tyler's plunging Newell McCallum head the 23 member squad. Another player will be added later. Most of the Oklahoma squad will be chosen next week at the

Pitchers Warm To Job In Hot Texas League

By The Associated Press Only three regulars in the Texas League were hitting above the .300 mark last week as the pitchers got as hot as the August weather. Tulsa's Jim Frey continued to lead the pack, pounding the ball at a .318 clip. Catcher Nelson Burbrink of Houston was hitting .312 and Ed Irons of Oklahoma City was the third member of the triple .300 in games through Wednesday. Frey, making a strong bid for player-of-the-year honors, also led in total runs with 72, in hits with 130 and in doubles with 36. San Antonio's Chuck Oertel was second in runs, having scored 69 times, while Bobby Winkles of Tulsa was runner-up in the hits department with 135 to his credit. Benny Valenzuela was second to Frey in doubles with 29. Oertel's nine triples was tops in that bracket while Frey and Willie McCreary of Dallas both had eight. The Houston home-run twins, Keith Little and Valenzuela, out-classed the field in circuit blows with 24 and 20 respectively. Spencer Robbins of Oklahoma City led the league in runs batted in with 77, trailed by Venezuela and Mike Lutz of San Antonio, each with 66. With Dallas' Murray Wall having departed for Boston and big league competition, the Eagles' No. 2 and 3 moundsmen were the class of the league in victories. Tommy Bowers boasted a 16-4 record and Ernie Broglio followed with 15-4. Bowers also was the workhorses pitcher in the loop, having toted 194 innings to 190 for Dave Newkirk of Shreveport. Strikeout artist Nelson Chittum of Houston had 121 whiffs to his credit and Fort Worth's Larry Sherry had 97. League-leading Dallas also boasted the strongest team batting average, .261, with Oklahoma City belting the ball at .251.

Dodgers Blast Pirates, 3-0

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10 (AP)—Pitcher Don Drysdale shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates on seven hits today and Duke Snider hit his 28th home run as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Pirates 3-0. Snider, hit his homer in the fourth. Gil Hodges followed with a double and scored on Cino Cimoli's single for another tally. In the fifth Junior Gilliam tripled and scored on an out.

Jeffcoat, Homers Win For Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds bolstered by a complete game from pitcher Hal Jeffcoat and home runs by Frank Robinson and George Crowe, defeated the Chicago Cubs today 7-2. Jeffcoat, tight in the pinches, allowed the Cubs nine hits for his ninth victory as against eight defeats. Walt Moryn homered for Chicago. The Reds wasted few of the 10 hits they accumulated off three Cub pitchers. First Inning Blast Knocks Big Spring Out Of Battle

FORT WORTH, Aug. 10 (SC)—Waco Little Leaguers used a big first inning to defeat the National All-Stars from Big Spring, 6-1, in the semifinals of the state Little League tournament here Friday. Big gun in the Waco attack was Dell Doan, catcher, who blasted a three-run homer out of Riverside Park in the opening stanza. Pitcher Randy Behringer also homered for the winners, a solo clout in the fifth. Ricky Wisener, Big Spring pitcher, did his part for the All-Star effort. He held the Wacoans to five hits and also smashed a one-run homer in the second inning.

LAMESA, Aug. 10 — The entire Lamesa Lobo baseball team has been voted associate memberships in the Lamesa Rotary Club. The Lions and Rotary will meet next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in a benefit ball game at Lobo Park. Proceeds of the game will go toward the Lamesa Girl Scout Hut building fund. The Lamesa Lobos, slated to play Carlsbad that night, have stepped aside to permit the benefit ball game and will make up the game at a date to be announced later.

Baylor Picked By Writers For S'West Flag

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP)—Southwest Conference sports writers made their annual trip out on the limb yesterday and selected the Sugar Bowl champion Baylor Bears to win their first football title in 33 years next fall. The balloting came as members of the press met with conference coaches. The Bears were heavy favorites in view of their New Year's Day victory over Tennessee in New Orleans. And Baylor Coach Sam Boyd did little to discourage the placing of his team on the hot spot. "There couldn't be anybody more hungry for a championship than we are at Baylor," he said. Boyd said the Bears could be even stronger this year than last if it gets speed and defense from replacements for such standouts as the departed Del Shofner. The Bear mentor said more experience would be available in his line next season. Quarterback Doyle Trayler, he said, is sound again after missing most of the last three seasons. Coach Paul Bryant, whose Texas Aggies were picked for the runner-up position, told newsmen that center and guard positions were his big headache. He said he had fewer proven boys than at any time since he came to A&M in 1954. A&M got only four votes for first place, Rice drew three, Arkansas one and Texas Christian one. Texas, which won only one game last season, drew 10 votes. A new coach, Darrell Royal, was picked no higher than second and Southern Methodist, which won only four games and also has a new coach—Bill Meek—was rated no better than third. Texas was picked for sixth place on nine ballots, while SMU was picked last on 13.

Collins Plans To Shift Two

EL PASO, Aug. 10 (SC)—Football still is a month away, but the wheels already are in the motion at Texas Western College, where the Miners will defend their Border Conference Championship. With an eye on September, Ben Collins, new TWC head coach, has announced two major shifts in personnel in an effort to strengthen the Miners' graduation-weakened guard ranks. Collins said that Bill Hannon, promising 185-pound transfer from Midland, Texas, and Bill Lewis, 215-pound squadman from Carlsbad, N.M., will be shifted to guard. Hannon, ineligible last season after transferring, had been an end, and the powerful Lewis was a tackle. Texas Western lost three of their top four guards via graduation. Hannon is strong, agile and extremely fast. He will play linebacker on defense. Listed at first team spots are Billy Ray Morgan, a 190-pound senior from Wink, Texas, and Doyle Watkins, 190-pound junior from Monahan, Texas.

Despite Recent Losses, Irish Are 25-Year Grid Champions

By BOB HOOBING The Associated Press Notre Dame lost as many games last fall as Oklahoma did in a decade—yet the Fighting Irish are the national collegiate football 25-year "champions." Despite the worst season in Notre Dame history, eight defeats in 10 games, and Oklahoma winning streaks of 40 and 31 games, the South Bend crew stands atop the gridiron ladder. Tennessee, unbeaten during the regular 1956 campaign, rates the No. 2 position ahead of the Sooners whose current 40-game victory string is an all-time record. Duke, Michigan State, Army, Ohio State, Michigan, Alabama and Southern California round out the top 10, in that order, according to the Associated Press 25-year survey. From Edward "Moose" Krause's days as a strapping Irish tackle in 1932 to his present position as athletic director, Notre Dame has won 178 games, lost 46 and tied 14. In the best Irish performance of 1932, Krause led a punt-blocking charge on the Army two with guard Jim Harris—now an assistant coach at Holy Cross—recovering to the touchdown. Notre Dame beat a strong Cadet team

21-0 that day and finished the season with seven victories, two losses. Coach Frank Leahy was at the helm for each of Notre Dame's six unbeaten clubs in the era—1941, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949 and 1953—and directed the Irish to an unbeaten string of 39 games from 1946 to 1950. His overall record at South Bend was 87-11-9. Powered by its crunching single wing offense, Tennessee posted a 184-53-12 record to earn runner-up honors for the quarter century. Achieved mostly under the direction of Gen. Bud Neyland, the Volunteers have a .776 percentage compared with Notre Dame's .795. Since the arrival of Coach Bud Wilkinson in 1947, Oklahoma has lost eight games while winning 94 and tying three. On the strength of this tremendous surge, including three national titles, the Sooners nailed down third place. The last blotch on the Oklahoma record was a 7-7 tie with Pitt in its second game of 1953. All Americas Ernie Smith, Johnny Vaught and Harry Newman were in the headlines in 1932. Thoroughbred Futurity Is Slated Today At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M., Aug. 10 — The eighth annual running of the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, at six furlongs, goes postward at Ruidoso Downs Sunday, with the top 10 two-year-olds slated to contest for an estimated purse of $14,000. This is the largest purse offered at the current meeting to date. The probable co-favorites for this event will be Tabmac and Glyndon L. Tabmac, both undefeated in earlier starts at the meeting. Tabmac, winner of Futurity Trials, appears to be the horse to beat. Glyndon L., however, has been victorious in his only two starts at the local meeting, and could be tough. Trainer A. J. Denton will be well supported in this race, with three of his Futurity hopefuls qualifying. Miss Noble, Ever Been Broke, and Air Tornado will be running. The Box, owned by E. H. Lane, is gifted with early speed, and should be considered in this heat. Double L Farm's, The Laird, finished a strong second behind Docks Wink, in his last appearance. He should run well at this distance. Also to run will be A. W. Baker's Diamond Dipper, Duane Ellsworth's Hana Chief and Hal C. Bogle's Banga Victory. The "Curragh Stock Farm Purse" brings together Double Hygro, Romp And Play, Abba's Bull, Mesa H., Dream Mint, Little Quaker and Quick Thrust, at the six furlong distance. Named in honor of one of the leading Stock Farms in California, they produced Stone Free, last year's winner of the Futurity, and Tabmac, this year's hopeful for the big race. Fires Perfect Score RENO, Nev., Aug. 10 (AP)—Titus Harris of Galveston was one of four gunners to hit perfect 100 scores yesterday in the national all-gauge skeet championships. Others were John Dalton, Chevy Chase, Md.; Capt. George Young, Paris Island, S. C.; and Alex Kerr, Beverly Hills, Calif. The four duplicated their performances of Thursday giving them 200s as they approached today's final 50 targets.

Committee To Look Into Oil Supply, Demand

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A House small business subcommittee, reporting "many indications of basic instability in the entire petroleum industry," proposes to study the oil supply and demand problems next year.

The subcommittee said in an interim report this week it has reached some conclusions about oil.

Many complaints are symptoms of more basic causes that possibly arise from a current overabundance of oil, the report said.

The subcommittee said it planned no further oil investigations this year and expressed hope the industry would consider carefully recommendations made in its report.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif.), conducted hearings this year in various parts of the country on practices of distributors, jobbers and retailers of petroleum and allied products, including automobile tires, tubes, batteries and accessories.

It reported a need for speedier government action against unfair distribution practices recommending a congressional study of means of stepping up procedures of the federal trade commission.

It also recommended that major suppliers reexamine their policies on sales with a view to eliminating unfair competition within the same marketing area.

Ford Agency Moving Into New Location

Tarbox-Gossett Ford will open in a new location Monday morning. During the weekend, the agency is moving from its old quarters at 4th and Bell into facilities leased from the Dora Roberts Estate at 3rd and Johnson.

"Sole purpose of the move is to cut our overhead in half," said Elmer Tarbox, one of the owners of the Ford agency. "It won't cut our efficiency one iota, and we plan to pass the savings on to our customers."

New car sales, parts and service departments, and a portion of the used car sales operation are being moved to the new location. Tarbox said that bulk of the used car business will remain on the lot at 4th and Bell, however.

Eight service stalls will be opened in the new building. All of the latest automotive service equipment which was a part of the establishment on 4th Street is being moved to the new location. The complete stock of Ford parts also is being transferred.

Customer parking will be provided at the new business site on the big lot at 4th and Johnson where some sales operations also will be centered.

Tarbox and Ralph Gossett have operated the Ford agency here since February, 1955. The business has been in the 4th and Bell location since their acquisition.

The partners said that a "removal sale" during which new automobiles are being sold at factory invoice prices, is a feature of the move. This will continue as long as the present stock of automobiles lasts.

Associated with Tarbox in operation of the business are Gossett, general manager; H. L. Gunter, parts, service and office supervisors; Al Long, new car sales manager; Robert Brock, used car sales manager; George Gilbert, parts manager; J. L. Farris, service manager; and Jessie Pharris, business manager. No staff changes are being made, although Tarbox said he, Gossett and Gunter will be in a position to provide more intimate attention to the needs of customers.

Doubtful Shoemaker To Ever Face Trial

WACO, Aug. 10 (AP)—A Veterans' Hospital spokesman indicated today it is doubtful if A. E. Shoemaker, indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday in the collapse of the U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., ever will go to trial.

Shoemaker and six others formerly connected with the Waco firm were indicted on mail fraud and federal securities laws by the jury at Houston.

Shoemaker put a bullet through his head after his firm collapsed nearly two years ago. He lingered near death for weeks.

His physical condition was described as good today but his mental age varies from day to day and parts of his personality are more childish than others, his memory was called the most unstable portion of his mind.

The spokesman said there are no plans to discharge him in the foreseeable future.

Milk Bowl Recognized With Freedoms Foundation Award

The only community program in Texas to be honored by The Freedoms Foundation this year, The National Milk Bowl, annual bowl classic for "little" football played at San Antonio, will receive the George Washington Medal for "distinguished service to American democracy." J. Edgar Hoover, as honor guest, in a meeting of 500 civic and sports leaders at San Antonio on August 21 will make the presentation.

The announcement was made Saturday by Mrs. Elizabeth Weaver pretty young country housewife and mother of five children, who founded and is associate director of The Milk Bowl. Elizabeth and her husband Eugene are visitors in Big Spring on a program of personal contact.

The Milk Bowl has all the fanfare of The Rose Bowl and The Cotton Bowl: pre-game parties, queen contest, parade, visiting celebrities, half-time ceremonials, and post-game awards banquet. The event has national play by play radio broadcast for the fourth year, and is scheduled for nationwide telecast: TV film, movie, press, magazine, and syndicate coverage.

On the board of directors are eminent Texans, including Conrad Hilton, R. L. Thornton Sr., Price Daniel, Allan Shivers, and Glenn H. McCarthy.

Announcement was also made that the milk industry plans to underwrite the game by $50,000 annually, in order to provide a field staff. The Milk Bowl is self-operating and solicits no donations. All revenue is given to The Lions Club Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville. The game is operated by The Alamo Heights Lions Club, San Antonio.

Information on Milk Bowl football may be obtained by writing

National Commissioner, The National Milk Bowl, 808 Majestic Building, San Antonio.

Small-fry teams eligible for consideration are those playing in after-school programs for orphanages, recreation associations, neighborhood clubs, private and parochial schools, churches, civic groups, and other non-profit associations. Players must weigh no more than 120 pounds and must not exceed the age of 14. Birth certificates are checked and players weighed on the day of the game.

"The purpose of The Milk Bowl," says Mrs. Weaver, "is to dramatize the fact that millions of children are turned loose to the streets when the schools close, with the resulting character erosion. Society must take responsibility for the after-school period, with work projects, sports and recreation—or pay a horrible toll in the breakdown of our free institutions and the physical, moral and spiritual decline of our people."

Police Recover 2 Stolen Autos

Police officers found two stolen cars here Friday. One had been stolen in Lamesa and the other here.

A 1951 Ford that was stolen in Lamesa Wednesday night was located about five miles south of here on U. S. 37 about noon Friday. A bilfold which was stolen at the same time as the car Thursday was found at Masters Drive-in here early Friday morning.

The car is owned by Winford Lofton of Lamesa.

B. W. Decker's 1951 Chevrolet, stolen here Monday night, was found abandoned at 2100 Main Friday afternoon. The car was taken from behind the Tex Hotel Monday, Decker told police officers.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION C BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 11, 1957 WOMEN'S NEWS

INTERIOR DECORATING of her room in a new home was the project of Arlinda Grifford, who participated in the summer work of the Future Homemakers of America. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Jones, she has recently moved with the family to the Western Hills Addition. Using a brown and white polka dot chintz, Arlinda has made draperies, pillows and lamp shades for her room, which has walls and carpet of a soothing gray green, a perfect foil for the fabric. A polka dot dust ruffle on the bed is topped by a quilted white chintz spread.

BETTER THAN A DOLL is a real baby to take care of is the opinion of Patsy Coe, who has the responsibility of her brother, one-month-old Melvin Earl Coe Jr. Following her project, Child Guidance and Care, she bathes and feeds the baby, preparing his formula and performing the many services which babies require. In addition to this work, she has had experience in another line, that of meal preparation and home care of the sick. All the work is done under supervision from her instructor in the Future Homemakers of America summer project.

Future Homemakers Have Busy Summer

Ending just in time for the participants to catch a good long breath before starting in all over again is the summer project which the Future Homemakers of America have been working on.

Under the supervision of the FHA instructors of both senior and junior high schools, 104 girls have each piled up 100 hours of work to secure one-half credit in the school. This is the equivalent of a semester of regular attendance.

High School instructors are Edna McGregor and Mrs. John Annen; Junior High girls have Mrs. Grover Wiley as their teacher.

Usually, the project which a girl selects is one which is a continuation of her study during the regular school term, Miss McGregor said. Included in the list are child guidance and care; housing; interior decoration; food preparation and preservation; clothing selection and construction, and consumer buying.

The pupils are encouraged to take an active part in community life both in the summer and in the regular FORWARD-LOOKING Louise Plew is already planning to enter some of her capons in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America Stock Show in March, 1958. For her summer project in the Future Homemakers of America, she has chosen to work with chickens and has a flock of 10. The capons which do not rate a trip to the show will land in the family's freezer. Louise is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Plew, East Highway 80.

BEDROOM DECOR is the idea of Genie Smith in dressing a group of dolls with which she played when she was a little girl. This is being done in addition to the sewing that she has accomplished in the summer project for the FHA girls. Included in the garments which she has made for herself are pedal pushers with an accompanying shirt, a blouse and a skirt with a cummerbund. Genie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Smith, 507 West Highway 80.

A VERY AMBITIOUS YOUNG WIFE is Mrs. Ross Roberts who is also doing summer FHA work. For the summer project Mrs. Roberts has been sewing for herself, her 8-month-old son, Ross Jr., and her husband. For the credit Mrs. Roberts must complete 90 hours of sewing. The FHA program is nothing new to Mrs. Roberts since she has taken part in it for three summers. The first summer her project included making a formal and the next summer a suit. This summer she has been doing more advanced sewing. For herself she has made a tweed suit, an aqua corduroy jumper and a new wool skirt.

CLEVER DETAIL

Fit Of Bodice Made By Cut Of Material

Harvey Berin influences fall 1957 with one of the most elegantly detailed wool dresses in his collection.

Clever use of bias cut inspires exceptional fit through the bodice and achieves an even more interesting effect when the fabric is an over-sized check, plaid or herringbone pattern.

Since the entire back of the bodice is on the bias, the pattern of the material is matched and mitered along the center seam. The front is on the straight except for the two side pieces that flank the buttoned panel. Also on the bias, these lend a subtly shaped curve to the bustline.

The skirt with a center back pleat is slim and trim with a minimum of darts over each hip.

Good News For People Who Suffer Hay Fever

Shortly after their wedding, M. G. Gray discovered his wife was allergic to dust and pollen. This prompted the Grays to search for dustproof products. After considerable effort, they found a dust-free fabric and they made pillow and mattress covers for their own use.

The doctor who treated Mrs. Gray's allergies, requested that they make dustproof covers for other patients. The news spread to other allergists and the Grays had to use a sisters' home to handle the orders.

Upon request of other allergists they added to the list of products a latex foam box spring, hypo-allergenic insecticide, non-fuzz cotton blankets, blanket covers and dustproof cuddly toys that allergic children can safely take to bed.

Today, Mr. and Mrs. Gray have moved their hobby to a small factory in Springfield, Mo. and operate under the name of Allergy Free Products For the Home. Upon request, they will furnish a free pamphlet.

school sessions. Many have helped in various vacation schools of the local churches. Some have assisted with activities at the YMCA.

Clothing has been collected, repaired and remodeled for use by the State Hospital patients. Also for the patients are the magazines collected by the junior high girls; this group was instrumental in obtaining quilt scraps to be used by the Salvation Army in their work.

An oil painting, done by the high school pupils, hangs in the sitting room of the homemaking rooms and a small chair, which was covered by the girls, completes a reading unit of the room.

The social side of the training is not neglected for the groups, either. In June, there was a swimming party; in July, the future homemakers attended a theatre party, and a watermelon feast was given at the beginning of August.

Many of the girls have not only carried the regular project during the summer; they have also combined it with one or maybe two related activities.

Dress Revues Scheduled For Contestants In 4-H Club Work

District 4-H Club dress revues are being held throughout the state to determine the participants for the annual State 4-H Dress Revue to be presented Oct. 5 at the 1957 State Fair of Texas.

Girls who are entering from the Elbow Club include Rosemary

Wall, Bonnie Simpson, Jeanne Sherman, Gayle Jones, Sherry Kirkpatrick, Sherron Johnson, Glenda and Jeannette Rutherford, Darla Sue Dunagan and Judy Banks. Names of entrants from other 4-H Clubs were unavailable, as were the time and place for the local contest.

Contestants will model dresses they have designed and made.

Approximately 45 state finalists will be selected through contests in the twelve districts of the Texas A&M Extension Service. More than 6,500 4-H club girls are taking part in community, county and district revues this year.

Contests will be held in Amarillo and San Antonio on Tuesday; College Station, Wednesday; Abilene, Thursday; Stephenville, Aug. 21;

Lubbock, Aug. 24; Wichita Falls, Sept. 6, and Dallas, Sept. 14. Winners have already been named in district revues held in Laredo, Gilmer, Kermit and Nacogdoches.

There are four contest divisions: school, dress, party and tailored outfits. Judging will be on the basis of poise, grooming, garment construction and the over-all effect of the outfit.

First prize in the statewide competition will be an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress awarded by Simplicity Pattern Company.

Other prizes will include for second and third place, console electric sewing machines donated by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation; fourth, fifth and sixth place, electric steam irons given by Texas Power and Light Company; seventh, eighth and ninth place, electric irons given by Gulf States Utilities Company.

Two $50 awards will be given by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and the Plains Co-operative Oil Mill for the best wool and best cotton garment, respectively.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Joyce Horne, Dickie C. Milam

Double ring wedding vows were exchanged Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church by Joyce Horne and Dickie Clyde Milam. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Horne, 1906 Main, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pearce, 1902 Sunset.

The bridal party stood before a large candelabrum holding white tapers in graduated heights. On each side were three white columns swathed in fern and holding candles. Emerald fern and large arrangements of white gladioli and stock completed the altar.

Fews were marked with tailored bows of white satin ribbon.

Before a sunburst arrangement of the chosen flowers, the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu as Mrs. Warren Wilbur of Louisville, Ky., sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Wilbur sang "I Love Thee," by Gies. She was accompanied by Mrs. Champ Rainwater, organist whose wedding selections included "Liebestraum," Nevin's "Love Song," "Intermezzo" and "Ave Maria."

BRIDAL GOWN
Imported French hand-clipped lace combined with a froth of nylon tulle over de-lustered satin to fashion the formal length gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father.

The sweetheart neckline was edged in scallops, and tiny lace-covered buttons extended down the back of the fitted bodice. Long sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands.

The bouffant skirt, stemming from a pointed waistline was made of alternate panels of lace and tulle ruffles cascading to the hemline. In the back, lace paneling extended into a chapel train.

Tiers of imported French illusion formed the bridal veil which was held in place by a scalloped crown of seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a white orchid showered with Stephanotis and placed on a white Bible.

In the wedding tradition, she wore an heirloom pin belonging to Mrs. Alta King, grandmother of the bridegroom. For something borrowed, she had the wedding band of her sister, Mrs. Noel Hull; she wore a blue garter, and her dress was new. In her shoe, the bride had a penny.

Mrs. Hull attended her sister as matron of honor. She was attired in light blue chiffon, as was the maid of honor, Evangeline Loessin of Eagle Lake.

Bodices were fashioned with a shirred effect of soft gathered chiffon to the lightly dropped waistlines. Panels of sheer chiffon floated from the low-cut backs to the hemlines.

Skirts were street length and formed of chiffon over net and taffeta. The attendants wore hats of net in matching colors, encircled with a single strand of pearls. They carried arm bouquets of Rome Glory roses tied with matching ribbons.

Bridesmaids frocks, made in a style identical to that of the honor attendants' dresses, were of romance blue. Serving as bridesmaids were Julie Rainwater, Kay Hanna of Quanah, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Randy Hickman and Mrs. Lynn Thames.

Jackie Milam of Roswell, N. M., served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Noel Hull, Bobby Blum, Jerry Graves, Sonny Choate and Walter Wheat.

Guests were seated by Glen Hancock, Freddie Blalock, Doyle Mason and Don Reynolds.

Jan Forrest, flower girl, wore a floor length dress of blue polished cotton. A net overskirt was solid ruffles and she wore a bandeau of tiny sweetheart roses. A white satin and tulle basket, which she carried, held red rose petals.

A white satin pillow, carried by Phil Ferguson, bore the rings. Tapers were lighted by Frances Reagan and Mrs. Doyle Maynard.

who wore identical dresses like the other attendants. Their wristlet corsages were of red sweetheart roses.

RECEPTION

At the reception which followed the rites, the couple received guests, assisted by their parents and the feminine attendants. The bride's table was covered with a floor length white satin cloth with overlay of white net.

The central arrangement was a silver epergne holding roses and silvered fern flanked by silver candelabra. The three tiered cake with tiny columns between tiers, was decorated with white frosting roses dotted with red centers. A miniature bridal couple topped the cake.

Guests were registered by Judy Pearce, sister of the bridegroom. Others in the house party were Mrs. James Tibbs, Mrs. Wayman Clark, Mrs. J. B. Apple, Mrs. S. Jack Hanna of Quanah, Mrs. S. M. Sain, Mrs. H. B. Reagan, Mrs. S. N. Smith, Mrs. C. L. Lumpkins, Mrs. A. C. Kloven, Mrs. Ed Black, Mrs. A. D. Harmon Jr., Mrs. T. B. Atkins, Mrs. Zula Reeves, Mrs. Henry Carpenter and Mrs. B. F. For Daytime Nymph hairdo may be center-parted, dipped at temples and turned under the ears for daytime fashions. Hair at the back is twisted into loop curl at top of center back.

Evening Glamour

Brushed high and back, the side and top of nymph hairdo is supported by the back coil, pinned securely at back center. This style is especially good for evening wear.

Shot Hairdo Ready To Make Quick Change

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeature Beauty Editor—New hairdos are short, cool and collected. The latest coiffures are designed to keep hair off that hot spot, the nape of the neck. "But if you wear the new hairdos," cautions Ruel, stylist for Coiffures Americana, "avoid the tight look, harsh and unappealing, resorted to by girls trying to look and feel cool." Ruel has designed "nymph" hairdos, coiffed in wide shadowy waves that give dignity and allure to statuesque types in particular. These fall simply and sculpturally with no curls, tightness or fussy detail. It's not the only hairdo Ruel advises, but it is typical of the gentle hairdos that may be given full play without cluttering the back of the head. For daytime wear, the nymph hairdo is center-parted, deeply dipped on the temples, and is combed downward into two whisper waves, turned under at ear length. To achieve this effect the hair is fluffed at the sides and then brushed under. The nape hair is picked up and cleverly twisted into a big looped curl at the top of the center back. For evening the hair may be swooped up into a high coil that leaves the neck gracefully free. The nape hair is turned over and pinned to support side and top hair which rests about it. The effect is real cool.

Historic Stripes
Among new denim fashions are coats, skirts, jackets, jumpers, shorts and work-alls for women. These are made in blue or dramatic stripes that have a romantic history which adds extra dimension to the fashion excitement. Every stripe was created, over 100 years ago, for a special type of work, and today's workmen still stay strictly with their own stripes. In addition to rail-roads' Engineer and Express stripes, there are pin-stripes for dairymen and an outstanding goldminer stripe—simply blue denim with a stripe of gold added in honor of the first goldminers!

New Dictionary Is Help For Young Readers

Why Johnny can't spell is a problem which perplexes parents and teachers almost as much as why Johnny can't read. Parents, annoyed at being asked to spell half of the words their junior high school age children write, ask, "Why can't you use the dictionary?" Johnny replies with logic, "If I can't spell a word, how can I find it in the dictionary?" A valid question when you consider words like cello and pneumonia.

However, a junior dictionary which will be published this month is designed to meet the specific problems of young people. The introduction is devoted to such problems as how to find a meaning, how to use the pronunciations, and how to use the dictionary for spelling. There is even a chart which gives the various spellings of sounds.

Therefore, when Johnny looks under "nife" and finds nothing, he can look at the chart and see that the N sound can also be spelled GN, PN, KN or MN. If he can not find feud by looking under fu, he can find that the long u sound can also be spelled eu, ou, ieu, ue, you or yu.

Parents are becoming increasingly aware of the necessity of having in the home, not just a dictionary, but a good dictionary designed specifically for children of a certain age. Dictionaries are now published specifically for chil-

To Be September Bride

September 28 has been selected by Sandra Taylor as the date for her wedding to Bill Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hanson of Luther. This has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor of Big Spring. The couple will exchange vows at 6 p.m. in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Each book is designed so that children can and will use it and contains the words they read and speak. Each contains an introduction which explains dictionary use.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Mary Sue Hale

Surprising Joyce Horne yesterday, her wedding day was a breakfast given in her honor by a few members of her wedding party. Thought of and executed by Joyce's bridesmaids and candlelighters, the breakfast was given in the home of Mrs. Doyle Maynard, the former Lavelle Wasson, one of Joyce's bridesmaids.

After arousing Joyce in the weeks, the following girls attended the breakfast: Lavelle, Julie Rainwater, LaRue Hickman, Sandra Thames, Kay Hannah, cousin of the bride, and Vange Loessin of Eagle Lake, who was Joyce's roommate at Baylor last year.

Bruce Frazier and members of his biology class left for Big Bend Park Friday at 4 a.m. The 20 people were loaded on the HCJC bus along with provisions to cook and to use in camping out under the stars. They are expected to return some time today.

Mrs. J. T. Clements, sponsor of the Jayhawk, HCJC's yearbook, met with editor Julie Rainwater and members of her staff last Monday night to lay out plans for the coming season. The group made plans for visiting local merchants concerning the placing of ads in the 1958 yearbook.

Freddy Stuart, sophomore of HCJC last year, visited the campus and friends in other parts of Big Spring on a visit this weekend from his home town, Roby.

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt returned from a vacation in Colorado just in time to go to Austin last week to preside over the meeting of junior college presidents.

Special attention is focused this week on preparations for the five-day Physical Education Clinic set for Aug. 19-23, under the direction of Miss Arah Phillips. Volleyball, badminton, and trampoline will be spotlighted in this, the first clinic of its type to be sponsored by the college.

Coach Harold Davis has been attending the coaches' school in Dallas this past week.

Bob Dyer, who is attending school at Denton this summer, was in Big Spring last weekend. He is doing graduate work at North Texas State College.

Don't miss "The Tender Trap", a play in three acts, which will be presented in HCJC auditorium Thursday and Friday. The curtain is scheduled to up at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $1. Again local talent will combine with that of Webb Air Force Base with the result being an evening of entertainment.

Tuition must be increased at the college from $40 for the minimum of 12 semesters hours to $52, with $1 charge for each hour over the minimum as a result of legislation passed by the Texas State Legislature last spring.

Carsons Have Guests

Guests in the Arch Carson home are her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Moore and a sister, Mrs. Joe Kreklow, both of Eldorado. Mrs. Carson underwent surgery Thursday in Cowper Clinic. She is reported doing well, but no visitors will be allowed for a while.

Excitement Has Dogged Steps Of Dance Teacher

For one with so gay an occupation, Mrs. Ruth Clayton seems to have a penchant for getting into exciting situations.

When her studios were closed in pre-war Germany, she was obliged first to work in an ammunition factory. Later, she had a choice between entertainment and a concentration plant and eventually landed in the latter anyhow. Once she was wounded, and last year while back in Europe for a visit she was caught in Hungary during the revolution.

Mrs. Clayton is opening a dance school here Sept. 3. She already has schools in San Angelo, Iran and McCombs. Before going into this field in 1953, she taught language in San Angelo Junior College.

Mrs. Clayton is a native of Dresden, Germany, and began dancing at age 3 under Ana Pavlova, later studying under Tatjana and Victor Gsovitsky for about 12 years. She earned her first scholarship in the Dresden Opera at 15 and a second one at 18.

When her studio was closed and she was sent to the ammunition factory where she refused to work, the Gestapo threatened. At Christmas she put on a show with other displaced persons and this earned her an opportunity to organize a troupe of entertainers in lieu of a term in a concentration camp.

This work took her as near as two kilometers from the front lines, and once she was wounded by the strafing of a Spitfire. Rebels in Yugoslavia held her troupe for 48 hours. The last 4 1/2 months were spent in a concentration camp before Americans liberated it. Miraculously, she was reunited with her parents.

Not one to be idle, she taught dancing in a Red Cross Club while awaiting marriage to Mr. Clayton. She arrived in the United States on Feb. 13, 1948, and in April of 1950 she received her citizenship papers. Now she considers herself "an old Texan."

Mrs. Clayton's greatest ambition is to get her parents from behind the Iron Curtain into the U. S. Last year during her trip to Europe, she succeeded, on a half hour's notice, in getting a brother out of East Germany.

Murrell Family Back To 'Natural Habitat'

West Texas is "natural habitat" for recent newcomers to Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Murrell and son Kelley, three.

At least they say the shock wasn't too bad since Murrell calls Monahan's home and Mrs. Murrell says Plainview is her home. Their mutual meeting place was in Midland.

Since that meeting time they have lived in several other Texas towns, done three years with the Air Force, and most recently came to Big Spring from Fort Worth.

Murrell is an engineer with Continental Oil Company and hopes that Big Spring will be a permanent home, for three or four years at least. He graduated from the University of Texas in 1953. At the university he studied engineering.

A variety of outdoor sports appeals to Murrell. He enjoys fishing, anyplace, according to Mrs. Murrell; hunting, golfing and bowling.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Murrell are looking forward to trying the new bowling club in Big Spring and maybe, with a junior size ball, young Kelley might even take up the sport!

The Murrell family is making a home at 1700 S. Monticello.

Hot fashion news for the blue-jean set is the Ivy League look in rugged, blue-jean denim. Ivy styling, tapered trousers, back-belt are being made by many denim manufacturers.

Big Spring Man Is Chairman Of WTCC Panel

Wayne B. Smith, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, is to head the community services committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to B. E. Godfrey, president.

In his first official action as chairman of the committee, Smith Saturday announced selection of a program committee for the WTCC's sixth annual Short Course for Chamber executives, with Charlie R. Young, manager of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, as chairman.

The Short Course, scheduled for Big Spring Sept. 13-14, is one of the two primary objectives of the community services committee, Smith said. The committee also has charge of the WTCC and local chamber-sponsored community clinics, where the program of work for the local chamber is written by towns people in a series of meetings.

Smith, who was recently elected vice president of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association, has served as manager of the Big Spring Chamber for approximately six months. Prior to that, he served as manager of chambers in Plainview and Brownfield. He is a graduate of Southwestern Institute for chamber executives.

He is the fourth man to be named chairman of the committee since it was formed in 1951. Registration for the short course, Smith said, would begin at 3 p. m. on Sept. 13 and will be followed by a dinner and entertainment at the Cosden Petroleum Corporation's Country Club in Big Spring.

Headquarters for the Short Course will be the Settles Hotel. Previous short course sessions have attracted more than 125 chamber managers, office secretaries and staff personnel.

Smith said the program for the short course will be developed in a meeting of 15 chambers managers in Big Spring next Saturday. The program will include work shop sessions to develop improvement in operations and techniques of organization operations.

The program committee, as released by Smith, include Young as chairman; Pat Ryan, manager of the Lamesa Chamber; Mrs. Margaret Templeton, office secretary of the Sweetwater Board of City Development; Lenia Gilbert, manager of the Fort Stockton Chamber; H. J. Tanner, manager of the Eastland Chamber; Bill Thompson, manager of the Childress Chamber; Walker Owens, general manager of the Odessa Chamber.

FOR POSTMEN, A NEW EXPERIENCE ... Fortson drives from the right side

NEW STYLE TRUCK

Postman Driving From 'Wrong Side'

By DON HENRY
Ray Fortson would feel right at home if he were driving in England.

For Ray is the driver of the local post office's new delivery truck with the steering wheel on the right side. This is for convenience and not an attempt to copy the English, E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said.

All English cars have the steering wheels on the right side, and the cars drive on the left side of the street.

The truck is an American model, however, and is made by Chevrolet. The local post office has two of the red, white and blue-painted trucks, but only one of them has the wrong-sided steering wheel.

When the truck first arrived about four months ago, Fortson, as well as others who drove it, had trouble getting used to the vehicle. Fortson said the main trouble even now is learning to judge distance on the left between cars, when turning left, and also how to drive through a narrow space.

Of course, it is a help when trying to get near a curb, he added. Shifting is the same as on a regular truck and the truck has an automatic shift.

The Post Office Department went to the new style of steering after extensive tests, which proved that time was saved by not having to stop the truck in delivering mail.

Fortson delivers mounted mail routes and does not have to get out of the truck to open any mail box. Fortson said that it also removed the need of having to get out of the truck on the street side in traffic.

Safety and time factors considered, he said he still gets quizzical glances from people who think they are seeing things.

Assistant Named

AUSTIN (AP)—State Auditor C. H. Cavness yesterday named Claude Tate as his first assistant. Tate succeeds William Harrison, who resigned to become State Insurance commissioner.

Road To Open

AUSTIN (AP)—State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer yesterday said a 38-mile stretch of State 73 will be open to traffic by Dec. 31. The multilane highway eventually will link Houston and Beaumont.

State Engineer Due To Map General Route For FM 700

Official route for the proposed new east leg of FM 700 will probably be determined Monday, R. H. Weaver, county judge, said Saturday that Joe Smoot, assistant resident engineer for the state highway department, has advised him that he will be here on Monday.

His visit is to inspect the proposed road and to "walk out" the general route the new highway will follow. Weaver said that he would accompany Smoot on his check of the area. The state highway commission has approved a two-lane highway extending from the present intersection of FM 700 west on U. S. 87, southeast of the city. It would terminate east of town on U. S. 80. The route the new road will follow is of great interest to the county commissioners since they have assured the state the county will acquire right-of-way for the road. The right-of-way is to be 300 feet wide. The route it follows will be of importance in that it may materially affect the cost of acquiring easements.

DeMolay Boys To Operate City Government Tuesday

DeMolay boys will take over Big Spring's city government for a day Tuesday.

That will be DeMolay Day here and nearly a score of the boys will spend the working day at the city hall posts to which they have been assigned.

A breakfast honoring regular city officials will start the observance. Plans for the program were mapped at a meeting of the local DeMolay chapter last Tuesday night.

Julius Glickman will take over duties of mayor during DeMolay Day Tuesday. He will be joined in the city commission by Jan Loudermilk, Kelsay Meek, Jerry Robinson and Maxie Carey. David Dibrell will be an honorary commissioner.

James Howard Stephens will serve as city manager. Other boys and the positions they will hold for a day are Haley Haynes, chief of police; John Puckett, police captain; Jake Glickman detective; Ray Alexander, assistant detective; Bill Engle, radio dispatcher; Joe Conrad, fire chief; Charles Rice, assistant chief; Mike Jarratt, city attorney; Charles Arnold, corporation judge; and Bob Leach, James Harris, Ronnie Burnam, Jimmy Simmons and Danny Fiveash, police patrolmen.

The breakfast honoring regular city officials will start at 7:15 a. m. Tuesday at the Wagon Wheel restaurant. After dining, each boy will go with the official he is to represent to spend the day on the Shrine night was observed at the DeMolay meeting last Tuesday and several Shriners were on hand. In addition to mapping DeMolay Day activities, the youths started planning for a back-to-school dance to be staged Aug. 31, and discussed the state conclave to be held in El Paso.

At least 20 local DeMolay members and their "sweetheart," Edith Freeman, plan to attend the state meeting, M-Sgt. and Mrs. Kenneth Austinon and Oscar Glickman will serve as sponsors.

The state has agreed to build the first two-lane road this year and pledged itself to construct a second two-lane companion strip of road in the future.

County commissioners have been eager to have the state highway department designate the route and make the necessary survey. Until this has been done the commissioners are powerless to proceed with their task of acquiring right-of-way.

Social Security 'Freeze' Date Is Extended

The Social Security Administration has called attention to new social security rights for persons who have been disabled for some time and veterans with service-connected disabilities. Amendments recently passed by Congress and signed by the President extend the deadline for persons severely disabled before Jan. 1, 1955, to file an application for a "freeze" to protect their social security benefits. The amendments also provide that veterans with service-connected disabilities may receive a full disability benefit under social security along with their full disability compensation from the Veterans Administration.

The original deadline was set at last June 30. The new deadline is June 30, 1958.

Social Security benefits are based on the average earnings of the worker. Under the disability "freeze" provision, years of no earnings because of disability may be dropped in computing the average earnings. This retains full benefits for disabled workers, based on their period of actual employment.

Previously, for disabled veterans, the social security payment was reduced by the amount of compensation received for service-connected disabilities. The offset continues to apply in cases involving veterans' pensions which are paid for non-service-connected disability and certain other public disability payments.

Until the recent change in the law, a disabled person who failed to make his claim before the end of June, 1957, and who had become disabled before January 1, 1955, would have lost his right to have his social security record frozen. Also, he could have lost future rights to any social security benefits for himself or his family.

August Vital Time To Start Cover Cropping

August is an important month in the forward progress of soil conservation operations, according to officials of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

There are numbers of specific jobs the office recommends be done in this month.

Cover crops, for example, should be planted on Conservation Reserve lands. Redtop or other forage sorghum should be planted during the first half of the month. These will make good cover if planted on good moisture. Millet should be employed in this work after Aug. 15. Planting of cover crops should be accomplished with a grain drill for the best results, the office stated. A cover crop payment is available under the Soil Bank Program for cover on Conservation Reserve lands.

The office also pointed out that the same crops are suitable for planting on Acreage Reserve land where winter protection is needed. There is no cost share payment, however, for cover crops on this type of land.

Cotton land which is subject to blowing can be provided with important protection by planting a cover crop of millet. Seed of this crop may be broadcast just before the last cultivation. For those who prefer, broadcast seeders are available which can be mounted on the front of a tractor for seeding as the crop is cultivated. This type of cover crop will also be needed on Acreage Reserve Land which is a soil improving crop such as guar or peas.

Farmers will do well, it was warned, to arrange immediately for any cover crop seed needed as the supply is limited and rains for fall planting could occur at any time. If millet or the forage sorghum mentioned are not available, rye or other small grain can be substituted for September planting or as soon as favorable rains are received.

It was also pointed out by the Soil Conservation office if tillage becomes necessary for destroying grain sorghum cover crops the use of sweeps or tandem disc will leave most of the residue for protection from wind erosions.

36th Division Reunion Stated

T-Patchers the nation over are due to gather in San Angelo September 6-7-8, for the 32nd annual reunion of the 36th Division Association.

The reunion is for veterans of the 36th Division who served in the unit at any time, including World Wars I and II, and also present members, as well as those who belonged to units that were attached to the 36th.

Registration will begin the afternoon of Sept. 6, at the Town House Hotel, convention headquarters. Committee meetings, business session, dinner and dancing are scheduled for Sept. 7. Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, wartime commander of the 36th, will also address the delegates on that day.

A memorial service will be held on Sunday morning honoring the memory of T-patchers who lost their lives in service.

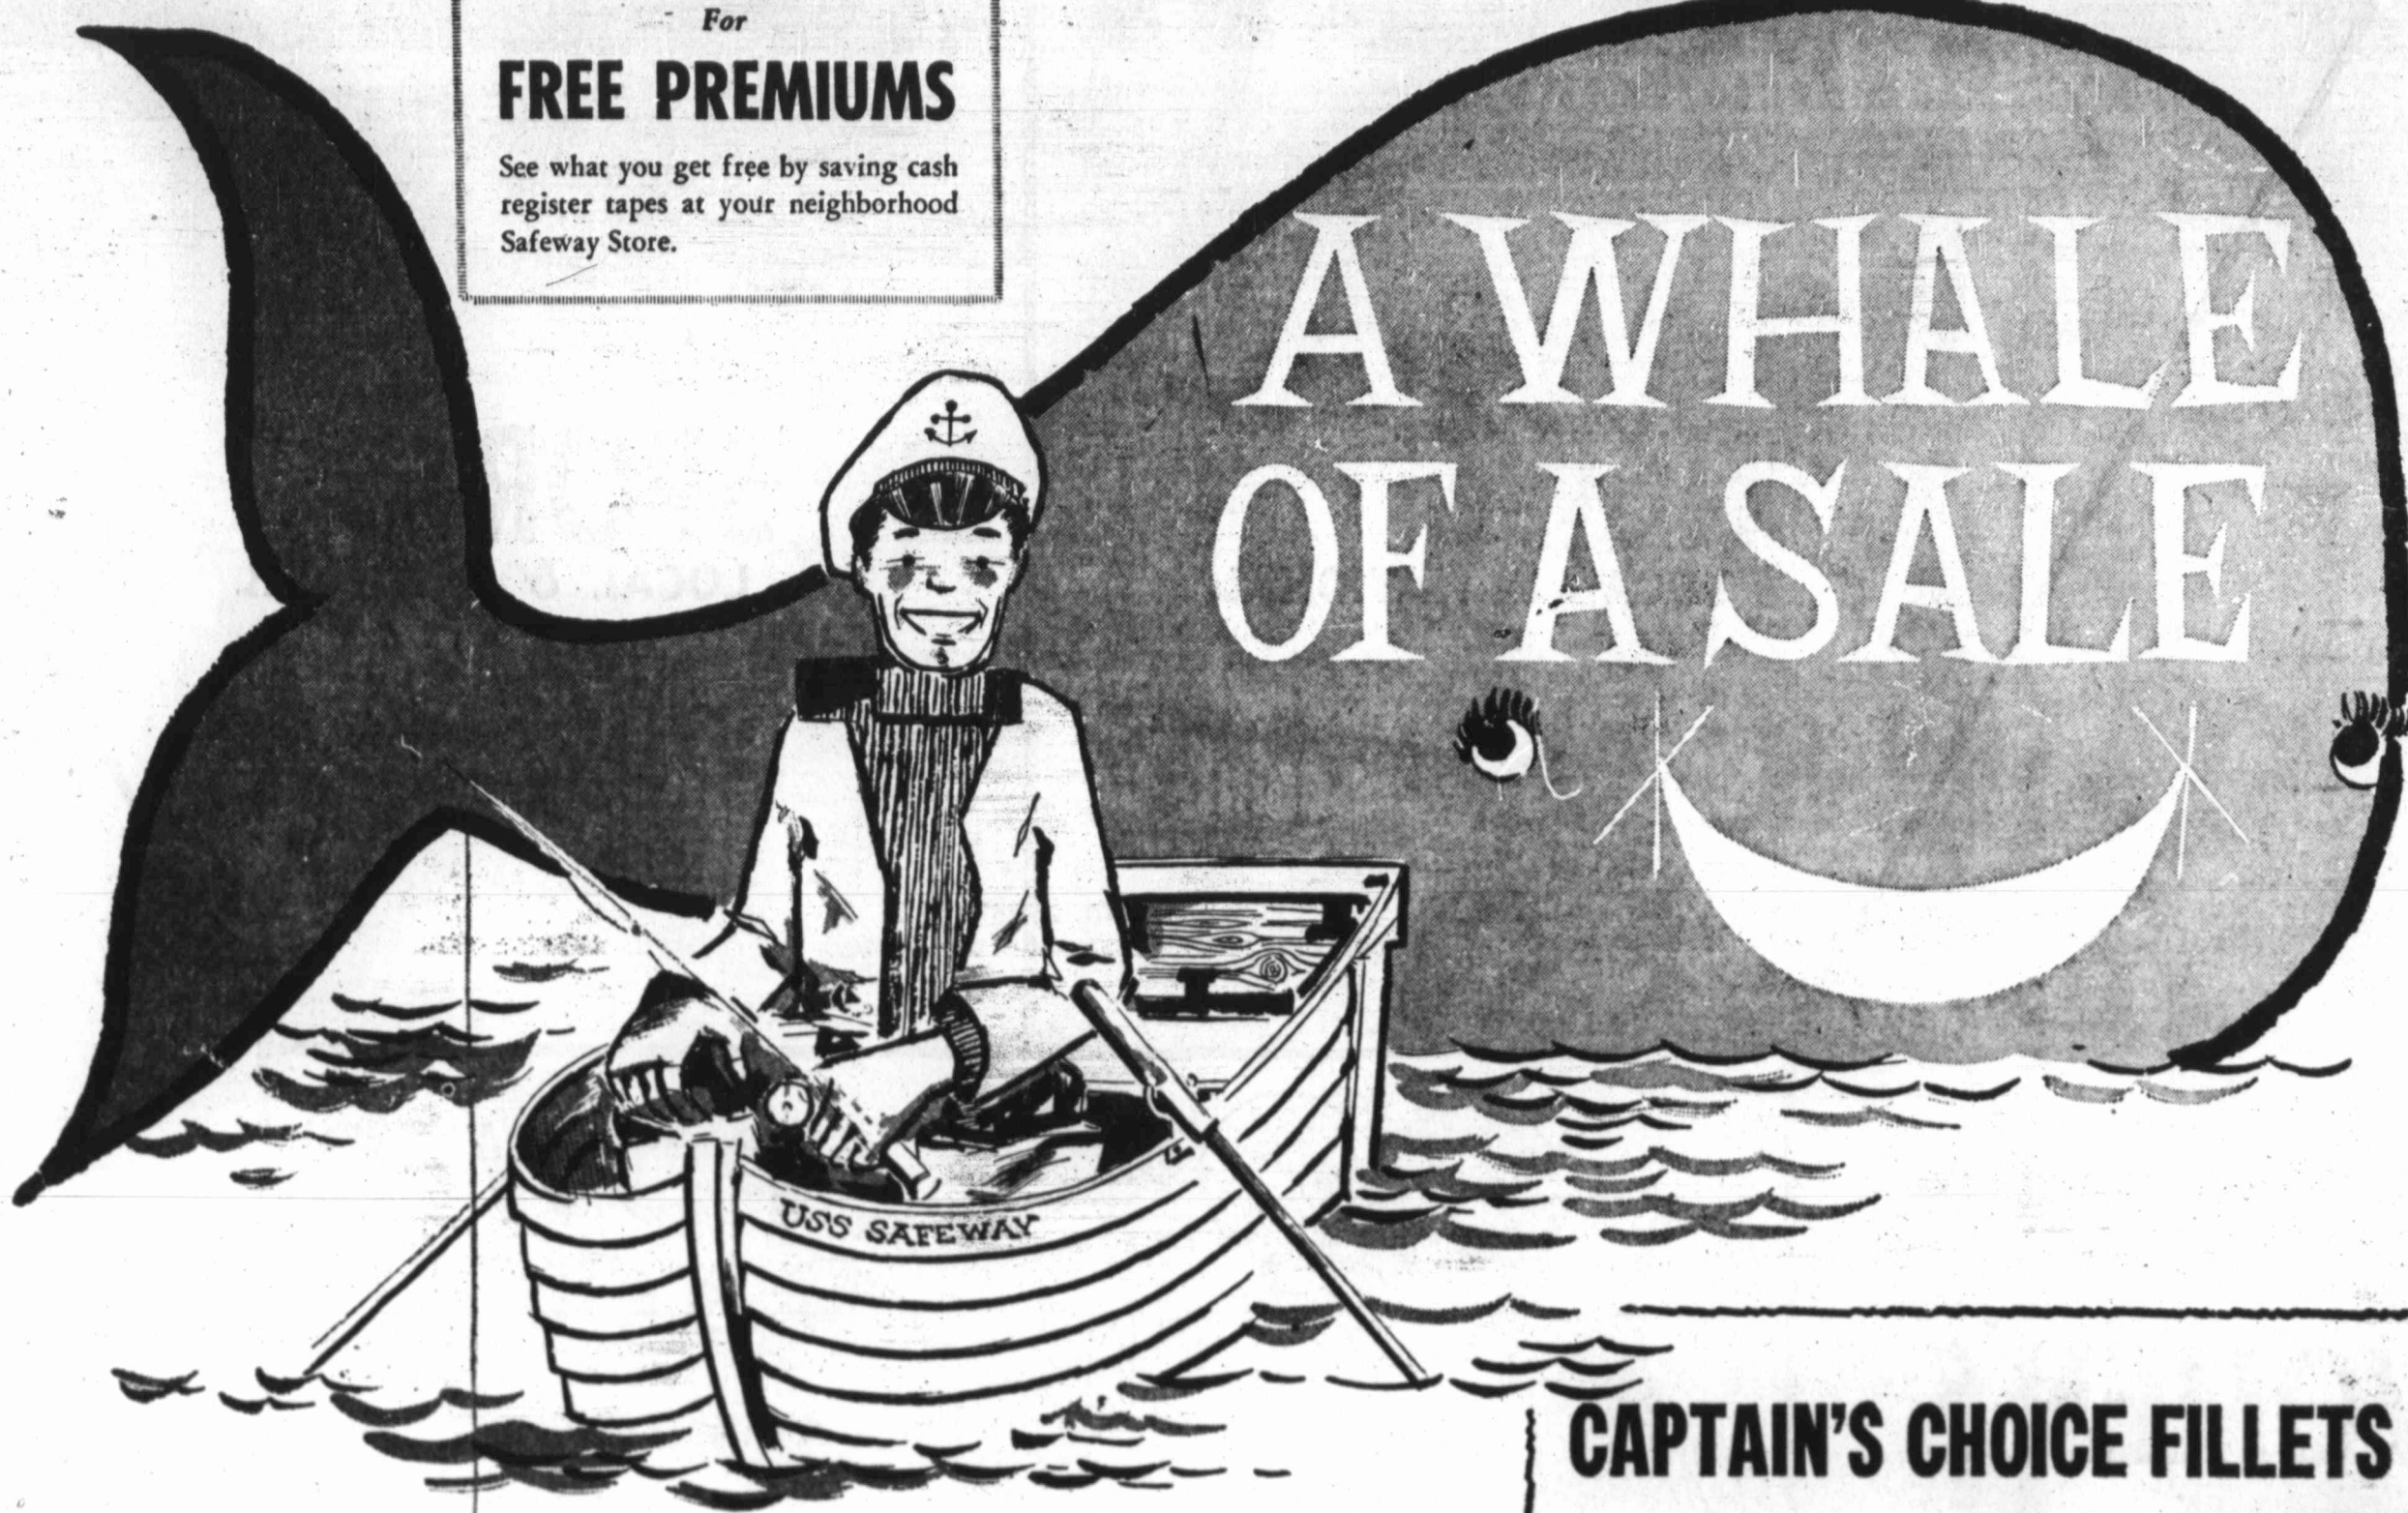

The ladies auxiliary of the 36th Division Association will sponsor various activities for women guests at the San Angelo convention.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

Would you like to be able to go to a retreat like this when you are worried—a place where you could be alone with your thoughts—a place where you could untangle your problems?

If you would, then you are like most people. Everyone needs a retreat, at moments. And everyone has one! It isn't a mountain cabin or a seaside cottage—but it is a place far better suited to prayer and contemplation, a place to sort out old errors and make new resolutions. It is your church.

Let your church be your sanctuary. Go to it when you are troubled. You will find within its walls your moment of peace, and you will walk out into the street again far better able to make the most of your life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

In And Out Of Trouble

Burgess Meredith, in the role of a Japanese interpreter, gets Audie Murphy in and out of trouble with Army brass in the hit comedy, "Joe Butterfly."

'Joe Butterfly' Is Occupation Comedy

"Joe Butterfly," showing Sunday through Tuesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre, is a comedy in the tradition of "Teahouse of the August Moon," depicting the troubles that beset the first occupation troops to enter Japan after World War II. "Joe Butterfly" had a long and successful season as a Broadway play.

Audie Murphy takes the lead role as a young staff member of Yank Magazine, which has been given the job of getting out the first occupation issue. Army brass has set a short deadline. George Nader is seen as the sergeant who heads the magazine staff.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

Audie Murphy, the war hero turned actor, has had his ups and downs from his earliest days. World War II's most-decorated soldier began his film career cast in one stock Western after another, and he seemed on his way out. Then he made "To Hell and Back," the film version of his life, and followed with "Walk the Proud Land," one of last year's top Westerns.

It seemed Audie was headed once again for nowhere, until "Joe Butterfly" was released a few months ago. Now, the pink-faced Medal of Honor winner is on his way up again, and he shows an ever increasing maturity in his acting. In "Joe Butterfly," Murphy gives definite indications of a good talent for comedy.

There is an old saw that today is nonetheless true for having been repeated so often: "You can't keep a good man down." Audie Murphy is not the type to be kept down. As a youngster, he quit school and went to work to keep his orphaned brothers and sisters out of an orphanage, and that same determination later won him honors for valor in World War II.

The theatre group is now polishing and professional-like. Any production they present will be well done. Next on the agenda for the local thespians is "The Tender Trap," a comedy about a playboy bachelor that had a long and successful run on Broadway and was made into a highly successful movie. Big Springers who saw the film may recall the amount of laughter the comedy provoked. The Civic Theatre's presentation of "The Tender Trap," you may be sure, will be equally laugh-provoking.

Just can't wait to see Jane Russell in her "Fuzzy Pink Nightgown." Ralph Meeker co-stars, if anyone's interested.

Every newspaperman who is allowed to write a column has a pet project. Mine is the recently organized Community Band, although I had no part in the original organizing procedure.

If there are young vandals in Big Spring who happen to have saved some torpedoes from the 4th of July, it may not be safe to see the science-fiction film, "The Night the World Exploded," on a double bill with "Giant Claw." I dropped in to see these test tube horse operas while in Midland last month, and for a moment I thought the world had exploded. The film's plot has a new element that feeds on other atoms and, like Topsy, just grows—until it absorbs too much and bursts like the vain bull frog Aes-

Murphy Loaded With Jap Gifts
Audie Murphy was loaded with kisses and other gifts when he went to Japan to film "Joe Butterfly." In Japan, movie fans show their appreciation by sending such things as chrysanthemums and crickets in cages, and Murphy had to rent storage space.

Other gifts included 12 pairs of Japanese slippers and sandals, two dozen handmade silk shirts, two silk kimonos, a complete Japanese skin diving outfit, a model of the Mikado's palace in teakwood, five sets of china tea service, an honorary lifetime membership in the Nikkatsu Dragons baseball team, six original water colors by Tokyo artists and a crate of mechanical photographers, taking their cue from their American counterparts.

The young actor also found going to sleep in a taxicab can be costly. He told a Jap driver to take him to the Nohonoma Camera Shop (in Tokyo), went to sleep in the cab, and woke up in Yokohama. Round trip fair was $22.

'Spirit' Returns
"The Spirit of St. Louis," story of Lindbergh's flight, makes a return showing. So does "Secrets of Nature," a Walt Disney feature. Both worth the time.

A little more than two years ago, a reporter for this newspaper, Glenn Coates, spearheaded the organization of what has become a permanent part of the local scene. Coates' efforts, carried on largely through his weekly entertainment column, resulted in the chartering of Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc., and his backstage work combined with the publicity he was able to give pushed the fledgling group through its first and most tedious year.

The theatre group is now polishing and professional-like. Any production they present will be well done. Next on the agenda for the local thespians is "The Tender Trap," a comedy about a playboy bachelor that had a long and successful run on Broadway and was made into a highly successful movie. Big Springers who saw the film may recall the amount of laughter the comedy provoked. The Civic Theatre's presentation of "The Tender Trap," you may be sure, will be equally laugh-provoking.

The theatre group has indeed come a long way in only two years. I think Coates will be glad to hear it.

To The Bitter End

Audie Murphy lies wounded and James Stewart fights at his side in this scene from "Night Passage," showing Sunday through Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. The two are cast as the McLaine brothers who have been on opposite sides of the law until Murphy's conscience gets the better of him. This top Western drama is the first movie filmed in the new Technirama process.

LIFE WITH MUSIC

New Bass Method Can Change Accordion Style

The accordion has been both helped and handicapped by its left hand system, wherein a single button will play basic chords. It is a help to students and to players of limited ability who can achieve harmony with a minimum of effort, even to the extent that chord organs and similar instruments have been built to imitate it.

Another medium waiting to be explored by contemporary composers is that of the accordion band or ensemble. The Palmer-Hughes Accordion Symphony of Houston, Texas, is undertaking such virtuoso selections as Ravel's "Bolero" and the intricate "Polka and Fugue" from Weinberger's opera, "Schwanda." Yet no important music has been composed for accordion ensemble.

But progressive composers have neglected the accordion because of its limitations in conventional harmonic structure. The tonic-dominant-subdominant formula will suffice for underlining popular tunes, but even these have been led along more stultifying paths by the skill of present-day arrangers.

Using the new solo instrument, the symphony's leaders, Bill Palmer and Bill Hughes, recently played Debussy, Bach and Paganini music at the Music Trades Convention in Chicago, demonstrating that much of the vast piano literature is now available for accordion, but an individual literature is both lacking and needed.

Announcement of a new accordion that can switch at will from the conventional system to free bass, on which the performer can select his notes as upon a piano keyboard, opens up some interesting new vistas, of benefit to composers, interpreters and listeners.

Because the left hand accordion keyboard is arranged to take advantage of the circle of fifths, composers will be able to achieve effects obtainable on no other instruments, such as leaps and arpeggios impossible to the piano.

Ancient Films Play At State

Any of you teen-agers want to know what sort of film fare your parents grew up on? And any of you older people want to re-live some of your own popcorn-and-Saturday-matinee days?

Then the double feature playing Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre is the thing for you. There are such stars as Edward G. Robinson, Richard Arlen, James Cagney, Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien and Andy Devine, all looking ridiculously youthful.

Robinson stars in "Tiger Shark," story of a Pacific tuna fisherman whose main sorrow is that no woman will love him. Arlen is co-starred as his close friend who, however, cannot resist his own romantic impulses and ends up making off with the woman Robinson finally weds. O'Brien is seen in the second of these two re-releases, "Torrid Zone," as a Central American plantation headman, and Cagney is cast as his friendly-enemy manager. Miss Sheridan makes the tropics hotter when she ambles along and catches the eyes of her two co-stars. A revolution adds to the fun, but all's well that ends well.

'Secrets Of Life' Returns At Sahara

Walt Disney's latest nature film, "Secrets of Life," is back for a showing at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Disney contracted dozens of naturalist-photographers to put many facets of the world of nature on film. Included are scenes of Nature's formative laboratory, the growth of plants, the life history of the bee, the world of the ants, microscopic life in a drop of water, and the inhabitants of the seashore.

Cheesecake Isn't Required In Japan

There's no cheesecake route to fame for aspiring young Japanese actresses, says Keiko Shima, who is seen in the new film "Joe Butterfly."

In Japan, says Miss Shima, a woman isn't considered a woman unless she can attract a man with her clothes on. The actress, who is quite shapely herself, insists Japanese actresses gain fame through acting ability.

'Lawless Eighties' Indian War Movie

"The Lawless Eighties," playing Tuesday and Wednesday at the State Theatre, is a story of a fighting preacher who heads off an evil white man's plot to stir up an Indian war and have the Redskins driven off their land by the U.S. Cavalry so that he can start a cattle spread.

Starring are John Smith as the circuit rider, Buster Crabbe as a Texas gunman and Marilyn Saris as the romantic interest.

Lost In The Shuffle

"Teen-Age Rebel," story of a girl lost in the shuffle of divorce and re-marriage, plays Friday and Saturday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Starring are Betty Lou Keim, Ginger Rogers and Michael Renie.

William Leslie, Kathryn Grant and Tristram Coffin await the end of the world in this scene from "Night the World Exploded," showing Thursday through Saturday at the State Theatre. Rotary Governor To Visit Local Club

Morris Higley, Childress, makes his official visit with the Big Spring Rotary Club Monday and Tuesday in his capacity as governor of the 573rd district of Rotary International.

His Big Spring contacts will be among the first since he assumed his new position. During the year he will pay similar visits to 42 other clubs in West Texas.

Arriving here Monday afternoon, he will meet with Charles Weeg, president, and Bill McRee, secretary, at 5:30 p.m. Then at 7:30 p.m. he will meet with officials and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

While the club assembly is going on at the Settles Hotel, Mrs. Weeg will honor Mrs. Higley with an informal tea at the Colonial Room of the Howard House. Tuesday noon Higley will address the Club at a ladies day affair.

New Therapist On Staff Of VA

A recent addition to the staff of the VA Hospital is Esther T. Dowd, chief of the occupational therapy section in the physical medicine and rehabilitation service.

Miss Dowd, who joined the local staff only this week, received her BA degree at Oklahoma City University and her MS in vocational rehabilitation from College of William and Mary Richmond Professional Institute, Richmond, Va.

She also had one year of advanced work in psychology and counseling at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo., which she completed in June, 1957. This included three months of field training in vocational counseling at Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center at Fishersville, Va. Miss Dowd also served as chief of occupational therapy at the VA in Oklahoma City from 1947 to 1955.

day noon Higley will address the Club at a ladies day affair.

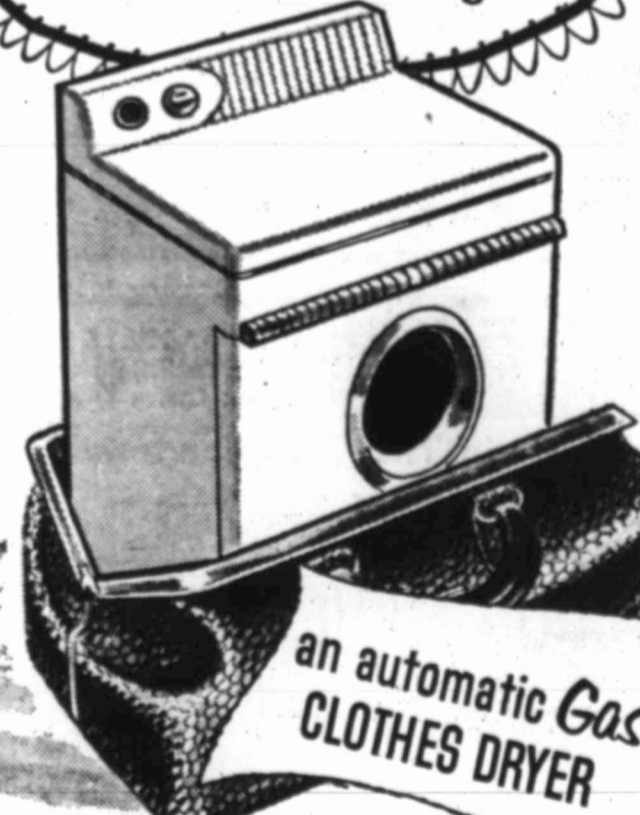

Higley is president and publisher of the Childress Index, a position he has held for approximately 22 years. He is a past president of the Childress Club where he has a perfect attendance record for 22 years.

The Rotary governor is a native of Kansas but moved to Amarillo in 1930 after attending the universities of Missouri and Oklahoma. He became a Rotarian in 1935 when he moved to Childress. Higley served as general chairman of the district conference in Childress in 1954 and as Golden Anniversary chairman in 1955.

In community affairs he has served as a Chamber of Commerce director, has headed the board of city development three times, has been active in Boy Scout work (having received the Silver Beaver award), and in 1952 was named his city's outstanding citizen. He was elected district governor while attending the Rotary International convention in Lucerne, Switzerland, in June of this year.

Applications Being Taken For New Air Force Academy Class

Young men of the Big Spring area who will be at least 17 and not yet 22 years of age on July 1, 1958, can now take initial steps toward competing for appointments to the new U.S. Air Force Academy.

S-Sgt. Jimmy R. Howard, Air Force recruiter stationed here, said he had been advised to assist any qualified young men interested in such appointments and that all such youths are invited to contact him at his office, Room 13, Post Office Building, for detailed information.

MANY OPENINGS
Under the law creating the air academy, each member of U.S. Congress will be privileged to nominate 10 qualified young men. Such nominees will then be qualified to compete for such vacancies as may be allotted for Texas.

George Mahon, congressman from this district, will probably be a busy man selecting his 10 nominees.

In addition to the selections to be made by the congressmen and U.S. senators for the competition, categories are also provided for other candidates including young men who are already members of the regular components of the Air Force and the Army.

The appointments now open are for places in the fourth class of the Air Force Academy which begin training on June 27, 1958, at the Academy's temporary site, Lowry Air Force Base, Denver. The plans as they now stand call for a class of 443 cadets. Dates for acceptance of applications for this class opened July 1 and will close on Jan. 31, 1958.

Because the members of Congress and other nominating authorities will require time to evaluate the many applications which will be lodged with them and then select their nominees, it is recommended that any prospective applicant file his candidacy as soon as possible.

WRITE CONGRESSMAN
A letter can be sent to the U.S. senators or to the representatives in Congress. Such letters should contain the candidate's full name and address; his parents' names and addresses; his high school or preparatory school and the date when he graduated or will graduate. He should name any college he may have attended and his approximate standing in his class; his participation in extra-curricular activities — such as student government, public speaking and athletics. He should also include his height and weight.

Other qualifications than the age — not less than 17 nor more than 22 years — include provisions that a candidate may not be less than 5 feet 4 inches nor more than 6 feet 6 inches tall. He must weigh in normal proportion to his height; he must possess good moral character. He cannot be married and he must be a male citizen of the United States. He must be physically qualified for flying training.

The President of the United States has 18 vacancies which he can fill on a competitive basis for sons of members of the regular components of the armed forces of the United States who may be still in service, retired or who died in service.

Thirty-six vacancies are allotted on a competitive basis to members of the regular and reserve components of the Air Force and Army — including guard units. Information on application requirements are available at air bases, Army bases and from recruiting offices.

SPECIAL VACANCIES
Eight vacancies are set aside on competitive basis for the sons of members of the armed forces who were killed or died of wounds injuries or disease in active service either in World War I, World War II, or on any date between June 27, 1950, and Feb. 1, 1955.

All sons of Medal of Honor winners who meet eligibility requirements may be admitted without regard to the number of vacancies. Such candidates are required to qualify in all entrance examinations but they do not have to compete with other candidates for selection.

A young man, it is explained, may apply in all categories for which he is eligible. This will in-

Adult Leaders Course Is Set

An Adult Leaders Training Course will be held at the YMCA Aug. 26 through Aug. 30. Bobo Hardy, secretary, said a maximum of 40 adults may enroll in the course.

S-Sgt. Howard has all information on this opportunity and would welcome opportunity to assist any qualified man who wants to try for one of the places.

"Leadership in Action"; Tuesday, devotional at 7 p.m. and Lesson 3, "Understanding the Young"; no class will be held in Wednesday, but on Thursday a devotional will be held at 7 p.m. and Lesson 4 will be "Working with the Group"; Friday supper will be at 6:30 p.m. followed by a devotional and Lesson 5, "Developing Club Programs." Don't Fume, Fuss; Fuse Saves House

Don't gripe about that electrical fuse the next time it blows out in the middle of the night; it probably has saved your house from burning.

Also, if you try to save a dime by using a penny instead of a fuse, you might lose a house.

Officials at Texas Electric Service Company emphasized the need of respecting that little fuse which seems always to go out in the most disgusting times.

The electrical fuse serves as a safety valve against overloading a house's wiring, TESCO said. As long as current flows through the fuse in normal or slightly over-normal amounts, the fuse will permit the flow. But when the amount of current reaches a point of overloading the wiring, the wire will get hot.

This heat will then back up to the fuse, and the heat will snap the connecting band, thus shutting off the current.

An over-abundance of appliances is usually the reason for blowing a fuse, company officials said. They added that one of the big reasons for these overloads is air-conditioners.

Although it is a common practice, the utility warned against using pennies in place of fuses. Quite frequently, a fuse will burn out when another is not immediately available. As a result, a resident will insert a penny in the slot in place of the fuse. The penny does not give the safety-valve protection of the fuse, however.

Frequently, also, the resident will forget or intentionally leave the penny in the slot; this is dangerous for both the electrical company and the resident, TESCO warned.

The penny will not provide a stop-gap in case of overloads, and this will endanger the house as well as the surrounding electrical connections.

Should a resident have to replace fuses frequently, an electrician should be called to examine the house's circuits, TESCO officials said. This examination will probably reveal wiring too small for the amount of current required.
