

Leukemia Victim Gets Transplant Of Bone Marrow

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 20-month-old girl, suffering from acute leukemia, has received what doctors say may be the first successful transplant of human bone marrow.

The child is Laura MacDonald of suburban Drexel Hill and the transplant was made from her twin sister Mary. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald.

Laura was released today from Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital in nearby Darby with the leukemia no longer evident though doctors say it could return. She was admitted in mid-June in poor condition from the disease, a cancer of the blood cells which is almost always fatal.

"Because little hope was held for her survival," a hospital spokesman said, "heroic measures were agreed upon when it was discovered that Laura's twin Mary had the same blood type as hers. The decision was made to try and transplant Mary's healthy bone marrow to her sister."

"On July 11 Laura underwent a massive dose of total body irradiation in an effort to destroy the diseased marrow immediately before the transplant."

"The following day the children were taken to an operating room where marrow was drawn from Mary's shin bone and hip bone into syringes treated with anticoagulants. This marrow was then injected into Laura's bloodstream."

"The youngster responded steadily to the transplant and had no violent reaction. In the ensuing days, there has been an encouraging improvement in the condition of her blood."

The attending physicians, who declined to be identified, stated: "This is not to be construed as a cure for acute leukemia."

"This possibly may be the first probable successful transplant of marrow from one twin to another with the preliminary use of new antileukemic medicines and irradiation, and there has been a favorable effect upon the leukemia, the end result of which will require a much longer period to evaluate."

Cagey Customers

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Howard Shaver put a dollar bill in an envelope on display outside his clothing store and marked it down to 77 cents. He said scores of passers-by looked at the sign and 27 picked up the bill and examined it, "but not a soul would buy it."

Bone Marrow

Jagan Meets With Guiana Governor

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — A dentist whose Communist-line party won control of this British colony's Legislative Council on a minority of votes prepared today to ask the governor for a virtually free hand in running the government.

Dr. Cheddi Jagan was called yesterday to meet with the British governor, Sir Patrick Renison. Jagan said he is "fully prepared to cooperate" with Renison. The leader of the colony's residents of East Indian descent warned, however, that "much depends upon how the governor uses his elastic powers."

Jagan was ousted from power four years ago when the British accused his government of communism. A new colonial constitution written by Renison now gives the governor powers to control or dismiss the Council. Jagan made it clear that he intends to initiate steps to change the constitution of this South American colony. He called it "mostly unsatisfactory to the people of British Guiana."

Complete returns from Monday's election showed Jagan's Red-dominated Peoples Progressive party received 48 per cent of the 117,000 votes cast out of 212,000 eligible voters. Supporters of anti-Communist Linden Forbes Burnham, a 1953 ally of Jagan who later split with him, received 24 per cent of the vote.

Judge, Freed Of Ouster, Reclaims Seat

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Circuit Judge George E. Holt, jubilant over his acquittal on impeachment charges and with his back pay in his pocket, left for Miami today to reclaim his seat on the bench.

The Senate, winding up the first impeachment trial in Florida's history, restored Holt to office yesterday when 14 members voted to acquit and 20 to convict. Holt needed only 12 votes for acquittal under the two-thirds majority rule. A conviction required 23 votes.

"It's good to get that monkey off my back," Holt said at the end of the trial, which lasted five weeks "I intend to return to my office and continue to do my duty."

He was accused by the Florida House of Representatives of bringing his court into scandal and disrepute by his judicial and personal conduct. He was automatically suspended from the office he held since 1941 after the House action May 27. His pay of $18,500 per year was stopped.

Accompanied by Mrs. Holt, the judge went almost immediately to the state comptroller's office and drew $2,221 due him in back pay. In addition, he will draw $961 from Dade County in supplemental pay.

State prosecutors called for Holt's removal from office for actions they said violated the judicial code of ethics. His defense counsel said Holt was innocent of any wrongdoing.

The articles of impeachment charged that Holt accepted gifts and favors from attorneys practicing before him, permitted friendship to improperly influence his judicial appointments and the allowance of fees, borrowed money from an attorney practicing before him, awarded excessive and unnecessary fees and flagrantly violated the code of ethics for judges.

White Russians, Reds Don't Speak

By DAVID HOTHAM

HARBIN (AP)—They are from the same country, living together in a foreign land, yet they pass in the streets with never a word. They speak the same language, but when they meet, there is no flicker of recognition.

They are the White Russians and the Red Russians of Harbin, in Red China's far northeast.

Who are the Red Russians? They are the Soviet technicians helping the Chinese run their factories and train their industrial workers. The hotels and official places here are full of them.

Who are the White Russians? They are the pathetic remnant of a once prosperous colony of 150,000, who first settled here in Czarist days, and whose numbers were later replenished by refugees from the Russian Revolution. Having fled from one Communist revolution, they found themselves engulfed in another. They fled from Red Russia in 1917; in 1949 Red China submerged them.

Everywhere in this strange city, still Russian in its architecture, and in many of its characteristics, one sees these relics of a former day: They are poorly dressed, and most of them are unemployed. They have little now to do but eke out their lives and dream about the past.

Their numbers have dwindled over the year, and today less than 7,000 remain on the vast colony of former times. Many have departed in recent years, and many more have applied to go. Red China has no use for them, and makes no objection to their going.

A spokesman for the Central Council of the Soviet Overseas Assn. in Harbin said that of about 35,000 Russians living in Harbin in 1949, 25,000 had returned to the Soviet Union at the invitation of the Soviet government. Others, he said, went to Australia, South America, Israel and Turkey.

But members of the White Russian community said only about 7,000 went to the Soviet Union, with 10,000 or more going to other countries in the West. They said there was extreme pressure on White Russians from the Soviet consulate in Harbin to get them to go to the Soviet Union.

Hodge Says He's Punished Enough

By CHARLES WHALEN
CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Orville Hodge took a long look back today on his first year in prison and observed plaintively, "I've been punished enough."
"This year has seemed like 10 years," said Hodge, choking back the tears. "There's only one thing I think about in here—getting out. It's been awful and sometimes I get so lonesome."

The once flamboyant Illinois state auditor shook his head and said, "I still don't know what happened" in the mammoth state check cashing swindle which crashed down on him and sent him to Menard Penitentiary for 12 to 15 years.
"I'm not blaming anyone for my troubles," he added.
Hodge won't be eligible for parole consideration for another six years and three months, leaving executive clemency as the only avenue to freedom before that time. He said, however, he hasn't seriously considered asking the governor for leniency.
Hodge holds a $7.50-a-month job running the prison's radio system, preparing and showing films, and recording a weekly radio program put on by the inmates.

SPINS RECORDS
In disk jockey fashion, he also spins records to meet requests of the 2,300 convicts. Occasionally, he has done some announcing at prison ball games.

Adjustment to prison routine has come hard for the luxury-living Hodge, but he said he began to acquire a new outlook on life after receiving his present assignment 11 weeks ago.
"Before that, I thought I'd go crazy," he said. "If it hadn't been for the Catholic chaplain, I believe I would have gone out of my mind. The inmates and the warden tell me I'm doing good work now."

Warden Ross Randolph agreed. "He gets a lot of compliments and the inmates say he's the best radio man we ever had here."
Interviewed in the third floor radio room where he works alone, Hodge, even in drab prison garb, retained traces of the fastidious, silk-suited appearance that marked his days as a prominent and free-spending Republican politician. His black shoes bore a bright polish and his brown wavy hair, gray at the temples, was neatly combed.

RELUCTANT TO TALK
He was reluctant to talk about the embezzlement which landed him in prison. He uttered harsh criticism of newspaper stories concerning the scandal and disputed reports on the amount he stole.

"Where do they get that 2½ million dollars?" he asked bitterly. "I was sent here for $650,000 and they're getting that back." The $650,000 figure was the approximate amount involved in the indictment to which he pleaded guilty.

"If I ever get out," he went on, "I won't have a dime left. They've taken all my property. But I could get a job. Maybe in Florida."

When he first came to prison, Hodge was the target of inmates' jibes about "What did you do with the 2½ million, Orville?" Later on as they accepted him, the taunts ended.

"I'd tell them, you do your time and I'll do mine and I'll help you all I can."
Hodge said he goes to church every Sunday, often reads the Bible in his cell, but can't sleep well.

His world now centers almost exclusively on the small radio quarters overlooking the main prison yard. The desk was crammed with canned food and oranges purchased at the commissary from his earnings. Neatly stacked in a drawer was a sheaf of letters from relatives and friends.
16 HOURS A DAY
Each day, the job keeps him out of his cell 16 hours.
When he runs out of something to do, he takes the prison tape recorder apart and puts it back together, just to keep mind and hands busy.
Hodge was proud of the fact he has added 350 records to the prison library, gifts from the outside.

Water Board Loses 5 More Employees

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Water Engineers was minus five more employees today as Gov. Price Daniel came back to work—and maybe with ideas to reshuffle the agency's structure.

Jake Jacobsen, executive assistant to the governor, said Daniel had not made a decision on whether to reappoint H. A. Beckwith, a board member since 1947. Beckwith's term expires Monday, whenever a successor is named.
Asked if Daniel planned to appoint a new man or name Beckwith chairman, Jacobsen said: "The way I read the law, he can name a new chairman." Jacobsen did not indicate what the governor planned.

R. M. Dixon, chairman since his appointment in July 1955, by former Gov. Allan Shivers, was out of town.

Beckwith and board member Otha Dent refused to say whether the former employee quit because of dissatisfaction which has plagued the board. They said two engineers quit to take better jobs.
In the recent resignations two engineers, Chris Gard and Nat Harris, quit to accept better positions, Beckwith said. Another, Joe Avant, did not announce his future plans.

Assistant legal examiner R. V. Loftin Jr., said he quit to become a briefing clerk with the state supreme court. Coupled with chief legal counsel Joe Carter's resignation, Loftin's action left the board's legal offices vacant. The attorney general will still be the board's lawyer.

Also resigning was Ruth Brewster, personal secretary to Dixon, Board Secretary Ben Loyon Jr., would not let reporters see the resignations.

"I don't think it proper," he asserted. "It is not public information."
He also refused to give out the salaries held by the engineers or their ages, claiming it was not public record.

Uncle Ray: Brain Waves Form Electrical Patterns

Electricity makes the nerves work. Take away all electricity, and the nerves would lose their power to operate. The brain would die. The human being would die.

The raising of the hand is made possible by electrical impulses.

Dr. Hans Berger, a German scientist, is honored as the man who first learned a way to measure our electrical brain waves. He carried out tests at the University of Jena and published a paper about brain waves 28 years ago.

A machine which does that work provides X-ray pictures of the brain. Normal human brains have electrical patterns which differ from the patterns made by brains with disease.

Most numbers of X-ray pictures showing brain patterns are now made every day of the year. Some time ago a New York hospital announced that it had passed the hundred thousand mark in making such pictures.

The electrical patterns give doctors facts which help them to decide whether serious trouble exists in the brains of their patients.

When a brain tumor is discovered at an early stage, an operation may save the mind, perhaps the life, of the patient.

In London, England, the brains of more than 100 criminals were tested. Half of their electrical patterns were found to be out of line. These criminals were killers; if they had been tested in advance of their crimes, and had been treated for their illness, many lives would have been saved.

In the same way it has been found that a large number of juvenile delinquents are victims of brain trouble. Tests of such youths in the United States have shown that they commonly have abnormal brain patterns, and ought to be treated before they do more damage to the people around them.

Girard Moved To New Camp

TOKYO (AP)—Under military police escort, Specialist J.C. William S. Girard was transferred yesterday from Camp Whittington to Camp Drew, 10 miles away.

The move was part of a general troop realignment resulting from withdrawal of U.S. Army combat units from Japan. Girard will be taken from Drew to Maebashi for the opening Aug. 26 of his Japanese court trial on a charge of fatally shooting a Japanese woman scrap metal collector.

Hungarian Couldn't Believe It When Told He Was Free

Editor's Note — Endre Marton, Associated Press correspondent in Hungary for 10 years, spent 18 months in a Communist prison in Budapest on charges of espionage. He gained his freedom just a year ago in time to report—often while dodging bullets—the Hungarian uprising. Now a member of the AP's Washington staff, Marton tells here how it felt to learn he was a free man.

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year ago today I was told I was a free man.

I had spent 18 months in the Budapest prison of the secret police, convicted of treason against the Communist regime of Matyas Rakosi, to which as a Hungarian citizen I was then subject.

I was a reporter for The Associated Press when Rakosi grabbed power from Imre Nagy, accused me of spying and ordered my arrest.

Aug. 16, 1956, started as every other day. Sitting alone in my small cell, completely isolated from the world, I did not know what was going on outside the thick walls of the prison. I had not heard that Rakosi, an old Stalinist and the man whose fate apparently determined mine, had been ousted a month earlier. I had no reason to hope.

In midmorning I was taken down to the plush office of the secret police officer in charge of my case. Officials of the Ministry of Interior were waiting for me. They said I would be free later that afternoon.

I didn't believe my ears, thought it was a trap. I asked them what they had in mind, what was the condition? They only smiled. "Just go out and see yourself. You will find quite a change, that will explain everything," they said.

I was taken back to my cell. The barber shaved me and I was given back my necktie, watch and all those little things that mean much only when one is deprived of them.

I had to wait till 3 p.m. These were the longest hours of my life.

At noon — I was told later — the Foreign Ministry asked U.S. Charge d'Affaires N. Spencer Barnes to come in. They told him that I would be free in a few hours.

Then the secret police telephoned my wife, herself released only four months earlier. He dictated to her the text of the brief communique.

"You may call your papers and let them know. It's official: It can be released now," he told her.

She took a cab. Before the massive red-brick headquarters and prison of the secret police she asked the driver to wait. "You better pay me and call another taxi when they let you go," the driver said. "I don't like to linger around here. I know of many people who went in here and never came out again."

I was solemnly given into the custody of my wife. High-ranking secret police officers were all smiles and laughed heartily when my wife told them about the cab driver.

ONE REQUEST

"They had only one polite request. 'If you really see yourself the changes we talked about, write about them. Maybe the West will believe you...'"

Before I was finally permitted to leave, one of the officers produced a neatly packed parcel from his safe. "I must apologize," he said. "This was sent for you and your wife last Christmas by the American envoy. One of the secretaries made a mistake and we have had it here ever since..."

It was a pretty clumsy excuse. The truth was that they did not want to know, not even in this indirect way, that the Americans displayed any interest in our case.

Who could care on that day? The parcel was opened. It contained two cartons of cigarettes for my wife and two tins of pipe tobacco for me. Seeing the hungry looks of those who were watching, my wife quickly distributed one carton among them.

The secret policemen were right: I was flabbergasted by the changes I found. Nagy was back in power. Hungary was seething in the fever of the pre-revolution atmosphere. The volcano could have erupted any day.

It was only a year ago... Everything that has happened since is like a kaleidoscope: the fantastic weeks of the revolution, the war on Budapest streets, the months of desperate passive resistance, then our departure, the first breath of the air of the free world on the Austrian border, and finally America...

It was a busy year.

Question If BenJack Will Keep His Date

AUSTIN (AP)—BenJack Cage has a date Tuesday with the Travis county grand jury investigating the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co., but there's a question today whether he'll keep it.

Cage, now free under $10,000 bond on charges of embezzling more than $600,000 from the company he promoted and headed, was subpoenaed yesterday to appear at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday before the Austin grand jury.

But Cage's attorney, M.R. Irion, said in Dallas he didn't know whether Cage would be in Austin Tuesday, Cage's whereabouts were not definitely known.

Irion told the Associated Press Cage was out of Texas and he did not know when he would return. "I don't know where he is," Irion said. "He's not on a vacation. I'll tell you that. He told me he intended to visit his ailing mother." The attorney said Cage's mother lives in Los Angeles, Calif., and added:

"I imagine he will be back by Sept. 2."

It was not known whether a trip out of state might violate the bond under which Cage is free. "We have no desire to be the first or the last," said Dist. Atty. Les Procter after the Travis County grand jury issued the subpoena.

"Our only desire is to see the man and we can't ignore the time limit."

UNFAMILIAR RECORD

The Travis County grand jury closes Oct. 1. The Dallas County special grand jury, also looking into ICT's failure, has the same deadline and has a date with Cage Sept. 2.

Irion said he had talked with Procter about the Travis County grand jury subpoena. He said he told the district attorney Cage should have a chance to become better acquainted with the matter, that there were certain records he had not seen in over a year and that it would be a complete waste of time for Cage to appear without being familiar with certain records.

Irion said Procter stated he saw no reason to postpone the matter and that if Cage was not available, their subpoena would be served on Irion.

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he did not think Cage's appearance in Austin would help or hurt his investigation.

Wheeler-dealer promoter Cage returned to Texas Monday from Brazil via Havana and Mexico City promising to tell the truth which would have "people jumping out windows."

The collapse of ICT touched off two legislative committee investigations plus the grand jury inquiries. It also got attention from U.S. Senate committee labor racket prober Robert Kennedy, who asked for transcripts of the Texas legislative committee's hearings.

ICT was heavily backed by labor leaders.

INDICTED TWICE

Cage has been indicted twice by the Dallas grand jury on charges of embezzling $600,000 from the now defunct company. He has claimed he is innocent.

Wade said he talked twice yesterday with Procter and told him he preferred to have Cage appear before the Dallas County grand jury first. However, he said he realized he had no control over the situation.

Wade said he did not know if he would go to Austin when Cage is scheduled for questioning. He starts his vacation Thursday, but Wade said an assistant would be present. It probably would be Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander, who has worked with the grand jury and legislative committees in the ICT investigations.

Early reports were the Dallas grand jury would get first crack at Cage. The jury's foreman accompanied Wade to Mexico City to escort Cage back to Texas.

The 2 1/2 week gap since Cage's return and the Sept. 3 date for the promoter before the Dallas grand jury prompted Travis County to get in its early call, Procter said.

Joe Wells, foreman of the Travis jury, said he thought Cage's testimony would be helpful.

"We are charged with the full investigation of the matter submitted to us," Wells said. "Certain phases of the ICT investigation are among those matters. We feel we would be remiss in the performance of our duty if we failed to subpoena Mr. Cage in time and take full advantage of whatever he may tell us."

Life Normal For U.S. Students In School Behind Iron Curtain

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
BERLIN (AP) — Rifle fire crackled in the distance and a big tank rumbled by, but the kindergarten tots never looked up from their playground games.

The 550 American kids at the Berlin American School don't get excited any more about the warlike sounds and sights around them. It's all part of their life in this Allied-occupied city, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The students worry more about how their Little League baseball team is doing against the Army "brats" nine than about the Russian tank divisions posted around the city.

Old Stuff

The tank rumbling past the library window is such a common occurrence it doesn't rate a glance from these American school students in Berlin.

UNIQUE POSITION
The American school — the only one of its kind behind the Iron Curtain — looks very much like schools in say Boston or Kansas City.

The Army built it in 1953 at a cost of more than a million dollars for the children of servicemen attached to the U.S. garrison. Also enrolled are children of American diplomats, foreign correspondents, missionaries, businessmen and a few foreigners including one Finnish girl who commutes daily from Soviet-run East Berlin. Classes range from kindergarten to high school.

Non-service families pay an annual tuition of 270 dollars.

The Berlin students look a bit odd as American as apple pie and rock 'n' roll, although many of them have been raised in odd corners of the globe.

The North Central Assn. of Secondary Schools, the U.S. examining body, inspects the Berlin school every two years and has approved its curriculum for U.S. college entrance.

Michael Fay, the 36-year-old principal, from Providence, R.I., tries to give the school a normal atmosphere. He heads a staff of 19 teachers.

Fay says many of his pupils realize the significance of Berlin as an East-West hot spot. "But like most adults, after a while they forget what is all around them," he adds.

MANPOWER PROBLEM
At the moment, the big morale problem centers on how to get winning teams.

With only 55 high school students, including only four seniors, the teams have been taking a beating when they came up against the bigger Army schools in West Germany. Last season, the Berlin school lost all of its four six-man football games and 16 basketball tilts.

"It's hard for them to lose all the time," sighs Fay.

But they are not quitting — not the American kids from behind the Iron Curtain.

Injunction Out In Attempt To End Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A temporary injunction was issued yesterday at the request of Atty. Gen. John Patterson which seeks to end the two-month Negro boycott of white merchants at Tuskegee.

It was granted by Circuit Judge Will O. Walton.

The injunction is directed at the Tuskegee Civic Assn., its officers, agents or followers.

The Negro organization and its supporters are restrained from "using any force, threats, intimidation and coercion to prevent any person from trading with or buying goods and services from any merchant in Tuskegee and Macon County."

Negroes outnumber white persons about 7-1 in Macon County, of which Tuskegee is the county seat.

C. G. Gomillion, president of the TCA, said he will inform members of the organization about the injunction and "urge all members to comply with or abide by the restraining order."

"As far as I know," he added, "there has been no intimidation or use of force to keep Negroes from patronizing any merchant— certainly not on instructions from the association or any of its officials."

Patterson said last night that his investigation into the boycott indicated that it is "calculated to destroy the economy of an entire city and to destroy the means of livelihood for a large segment of Macon County."

The boycott began June 26 after a mass meeting of the TCA called in protest of a local bill which has since become law revising Tuskegee's city limits to exclude all except 10 of the 420 Negro voters.

Local Actors Turn Out Good Performance Of 'Tender Trap'

Less than 100 people turned out Thursday night for the first night's performance of "The Tender Trap," the hilarious comedy presented by the Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc.

The 200 or so who did not show up missed an entertaining evening. "The Tender Trap," written by Max Shulman and Robert Paul Smith, was highly successful both as a stage play and as a motion picture. An especially difficult work to render, the local thespians nevertheless gave forth with a performance that was unusual for amateurs.

The stage version of the story was changed considerably in detail from the film version, but the basic story is the same. It is the tale of an old friend, Joe McCall, played locally by Norman Sant, who comes to New York to visit with a childhood friend, Charlie Reader, played by Harry Hennigar. Joe finds left-footed Charlie, who used to have a habit of falling out of tree houses, "has it made" in Gotham. Beautiful women parade in and out of his plush apartment by day and by night, and Charlie has had two good years of attention he never got in his hometown.

Among the feminine parade are Poppy Watson (played by Mrs. Mary McConkey) and Jessica Collins (Mrs. Frankie Bledsoe), but chief in Charlie's heart is "a 100 per cent, triple-distilled lady," Sylvia Crews, played by Miss Mary Archer. Joe falls for Sylvia and Charlie, the playboy, finds himself getting jealous.

But along comes Julie Gillis (Miss Darlene Sneed) and Charlie finds himself engaged to two women. The rest of the story is developed around the resolution of this four-cornered triangle.

Richard Bailey is shown as Earl Lindquist, the hot-tempered but weak-muscle laboratory worker who also loves Julie, and Rod Bowman is entertaining as Sol Swartz, the trumpet player who emerges from beneath a living room couch after a wild party.

In the film version, Julie was shown as a hopeful actress, but in the original play, she is a lab assistant. Also, Hollywood found it necessary to "clean up" the play slightly, although the double meanings are not as rough as in some of the paperback novels to be had on the newsstands.

The second performance is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. tonight in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

(Judgment in a nutshell: A bit rough around the edges, but in all, a highly entertaining way to spend an evening.)

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

MY FRIEND

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had. He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he used to say people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks for your good fortune."

The Church, he used to say, had acted as a balance wheel for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times. Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people, who in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to the oncoming generations. I hope I can impress Grandpa Brown's Faith and Wisdom upon others as I was impressed by him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

1957 Sets Record Of 702 Tornadoes

Texas was hardest hit with 162 twisters. Oklahoma had 97, Kansas 80 and Nebraska 47. The previous record for the first half of the year was in 1955, with 654. The Weather Bureau said intensified efforts to spot and report tornadoes may account partly for the higher 1957 figure.

Budget Hearing Set For C-City Schools

COLORADO CITY—The Colorado City school board has set next Tuesday for the public hearing on its new budget, which totals $591,754 and will top last year's record budget of $539,640.

The major increase in this year's budget is in teacher's salaries, with this year's payroll slated to be about $34,000 over last. The proposed budget contains a $6,000 item for social security—a teacher's benefit which was not in last year's budget.

The staff this year will be two more than last, according to Supt. Frank Wilson, the additional two being a special service officer and a junior high band director.

The total school staff will include the superintendent, special service officer, a nurse, a supervisor, five principals, and 75 teachers.

Wilson said that he lacked only a math-science teacher and a teacher of vocal music, as of this week. All other positions have been filled.

New teachers elected this week are: Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr., Mrs. New Deputy Hired
