Girard Denies Jap Enticement Charge

Prosecution Enters New Accusations

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—William S. Girard today denied Japanese charges that he lured a woman brass scavenger to her death on a U.S. firing range.

CONFIDENTIAL

Texas Radio Man Aided Elvis Check

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A defendant in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial testified today that he gave a Texas radio station executive a $2,300 check for help in checking information involving singer Elvis Presley.

Fred Meade, on cross examination, identified the check. It was made out to Ralph Cerey, identified by Meade only as "an executive of a radio station in Texas."

Meade, former operator of the defunct Hollywood Research Inc., which gathered information for Confidential, said:

"Someone had furnished some information that an appalling situation existed concerning Elvis Presley. Cerey arranged for me to confirm some material. He himself never confirmed anything."

Meade also testified a $200 check issued to a Mitchell Lewis was in payment for confirmation of information about Presley. Meade said Lewis was "a dice jockey or in public relations in Texas."

Names of Hollywood Research informers continued to spill from the witness stand as the trial went into its fourth week.

Defense counsel Arthur Crowley objected to continuation of reading the names of recipients of Hollywood Research payments.

CRAWFORD STORY Meade testified he paid $100 to George Shaw, a freelance publisher.

Girl, 5, Missing On Family Outing

SILSBEE, Tex. (AP)—Search continued today for a girl who disappeared during a family picnic on a river sandbar yesterday.

Albert Burch of Evadale said his daughter, Dianne, 5, was afraid of water. She was last seen returning from the picnic area, 6 miles east of here, to his auto in the woods and Burch doesn't think she returned to the river.

Other search parties combed the wooded areas near this East Texas town. Dragging operations along the Neches River also were being conducted. The hunt went on throughout the night.

Army Investigates Brutality Charge

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The Army clamped a secrecy lid on its investigation today into alleged brutal treatment of 10 recruits at nearby Ft. Carson.

MaJ. Gen. Harry P. Storke, commanding general, said information as to the nature of the mistreatment and extent of the injuries would be made public when investigators completed their work.

Receivership Ordered For Lamesa General Hospital

LAMESA — Lamesa General Hospital has been placed in receivership as a result of a lawsuit growing out of a dispute among the four owners of the institution.

District Judge Louis B. Reed Saturday ordered the hospital into receivership and named C. A. Hollingsworth as receiver. The action came at the conclusion of a hearing on a petition of Drs. J. V. McKay, Norman W. Staker and Sam Z. Frazier, three of the owners who seek to dissolve a four-man partnership which also includes Dr. F. E. Seale.

Testimony of Drs. Seale and Frazier was taken during the hearing Saturday. Both said that the rift in the partnership is impairing operation of the hospital.

Cost for the project would be $500,000 to $1,000,000, all of which Daniel promised could be made available without new taxes.

The Water Engineers are now calling in river authorities, to present their watershed master plans. From this, the board seeks a better look toward formulation of a statewide plan, for which no money has been appropriated.

The board had asked the Legislature for more than a quillion dollars a year budget. It now gets less than $500,000.

Daniel said the 100 members would be named this week. "It is time to act or abdicate," Daniel said.

Entry

South Texas, with its King Ranch, has long been noted for its fast horses, and certainly it should be noted for its pretty girls as well, if there are many more like Dawn Nolan, an Aransas Pass entry for the title of Miss Shrimp-O-Ree in the Jayceeette contests to be held through the three-day Shrimp-O-Ree fiesta in Aransas Pass through the Labor Day weekend.

Budget Is Okayed With Two Changes

With only two minor revisions, the 1958 Howard County budget was approved at a listless session of the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday morning.

A request filed by Guilford Jones, district attorney, asking that compensation for his investigator, Bobby West, be adjusted to absorb a $25 cut imposed by repeal of special legislation by last legislature, was granted.

Compensation for the justice of the peace at Coahoma, set up in the budget at $50 per month was increased to $75 a month.

Otherwise, the budget will go through as it was presented by Lee Porter, auditor.

West's case developed when it was revealed that a new law eliminates him from serving longer as county adult probation officer—a task for which he had been allowed $25 additional pay.

Appointment of a probation officer, on a full time basis, if such an officer is to be designated in this county, will have to be made by the district court.

The commissioners, after discussing the matter, adopted a motion by Earl Hull, seconded by Hudson Landers, that travel compensation for West, now $35 per month, be increased to $60 per month.

This will bring his total compensation to the same amount it was this year when the $25 probation officer allowance was included. The vote was three to two for the motion with Red Gilliam and P. O. Hughes voting no.

Gilliam moved that the compensation of the justice at Coahoma be increased from $50 to $75. Hughes seconded the motion and it was approved unanimously.

Only one guest was present at the budget hearing, John Coffey, with Cosden Petroleum Company, sat through the session. He said he had no questions to ask nor recommendations to make.

Denies Charge

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP)—Eugene Harper, fired as Brighton's police chief, said today he is innocent of a gambling charge brought by two dismissed patrolmen.

"When he reached into his coat pocket, I had to tap him with slapjack," Boatright said. Esin later told the city judge he was reaching for his passport.

Boatright said he returned a short time later and found the student had moved back to the middle of the bus and took him to city hall.

H. O. Hooker, superintendent of Continental's Houston division, said he had no report of the incident and could not comment.

Agga Khan Romance Rumors Denied

GENEVA (AP)—Reports of a romance between the 20-year-old Agga Khan and a Mexican heiress were denied here today.

Fernando Casablanca, Mexican businessman, said his daughter Sylvia, 17, is just a teen-age friend of the rich young ruler of the Moslem Ismaili sect.

The Agga Khan's family spokesman said the young Moslem religious leader was too busy to marry.

Rights Bill Cleared For House Action

HALF A BILLION DOLLARS

Senate Panel Okays Foreign Aid Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted today to restore $500,000,000 of the $800,000,000 that the House slashed from President Eisenhower's foreign aid money bill.

The committee voted 14-7 to recommend to the Senate $3,025,000,000 in new funds. It also approved the reappropriation of $667,050,000 in carryover funds for a total of $3,692,710,000.

By the same vote, the committee rejected a motion by Sen. Ellender (D-La.) to hold new funds for military aid to the $1,250,000,000 allowed by the House.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson said earlier he would support a boost in aid funds of about half a billion dollars.

The Texas Democrat made this announcement after an hour-long breakfast meeting with President Eisenhower. It was the first time they met privately with no others present.

Johnson said he told the President he was prepared to support "a substantial increase" over the 2 1/2 billion dollars in new aid money voted by the House.

Asked to elaborate on the amount he would support, Johnson told newsmen it would be "in the neighborhood of a half billion dollars" above the House figure.

He said the President was "very much concerned" with getting adequate funds for the mutual security program, and added: "I've been concerned about it for some time."

Eisenhower has voiced hope the Senate will vote the full $3,367,000,000 provided in the authorization bill passed previously by both Houses. The President also has said he hopes senators will make the best deal they can in reaching agreement with the House on a final figure.

African Theology Student Beaten In Texas Race Fuss

HENDERSON (AP)—A Negro ministerial student from Africa was hit with a blackjack, jailed several hours and fined $25 here as a result of an altercation with a policeman trying to make the student move to the rear of a bus.

The student, Essin Essin of Nigeria, West Africa, was released Saturday night, a few hours after the incident.

Roosevelt Sams, dean of Southwestern Christian College in Terrell, where Essin has been a theological student for a year, said the fine and said he planned a full investigation.

City Judge Barton Giles levied the fine after Essin pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. The 20-year-old Negro continued his journey from Terrell to Houston where he planned to visit friends. He could not be reached for comment.

Patrolman L. L. Boatright said he found Essin sitting in the middle of a Continental Trailways bus after the driver complained a Negro refused to move to the rear.

Boatright said when Essin told him, in a crisp British accent, that he had not understood the driver's order, he grabbed the student by the arm and escorted him to a rear seat.

He said Essin refused to sit down.

"When he reached into his coat pocket, I had to tap him with slapjack," Boatright said. Esin later told the city judge he was reaching for his passport.

Boatright said he returned a short time later and found the student had moved back to the middle of the bus and took him to city hall.

H. O. Hooker, superintendent of Continental's Houston division, said he had no report of the incident and could not comment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee today voted 10-2 to clear the long-blocked civil rights bill for House action.

The committee vote overrode Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) and Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) last-ditch opponents of the compromise measure, and paved the way for House action expected tomorrow.

Speedy House passage is expected for the measure which had been bottled up in the Rules Committee since Senate passage Aug. 7.

The meeting of the Rules Committee was forced by seven members because Chairman Smith had refused to call a session of the committee.

Under House rules, a majority of a committee can force a meeting when the chairman does not call one.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) signed at 9:30 a.m. a call for a meeting previously signed by six Democrats.

Clues Sought In Mutilation Slaying

CHICAGO (AP)—Detective squads combed a West Side neighborhood for clues today in the mutilation slaying of a 15-year-old schoolgirl, whose dismembered body was found floating in Lake Michigan in two separate oil cans.

Police said the body of Judith Mae Andersen had been chopped and saved, and was waterlogged. Police said identification was definitely established last night when fingerprint experts made their report. Crime laboratory technicians said a series of 20 prints taken from the girl's personal belongings matched those on a severed hand.

Earlier, police had assumed the girl to be Judith Mae, missing from her home since Aug. 16. Their assumptions were based on a dental chart identification of the severed head. The head contained a single, small caliber bullet hole, police reported.

The can containing the head was found Saturday in Montrose Harbor. Two days earlier, two men in a boat found the butchered torso in an oil drum near the same North Side lakefront harbor.

The girl's father Ralph Andersen, 43, disputed police fingerprint identifications and the report of two dental surgeons on charts taken from the office of the family dentist.

"There's still some doubt in my mind," Andersen, a foreman at a bookbinding company, told newsmen. Then he added, in a voice choked with emotion: "But... but they say fingerprints never lie."

Andersen had viewed segments of the body at the county morgue. Judith Mae was last seen about 11 p.m. Aug. 16 when she left a girl friend's house to return to her home, about a mile away, on the far West Side.

The case of Judith Mae was the third sensational and apparently motiveless slaying of youngsters—homebound-bound from night time trips around the city. All the crimes are unsolved.

Zachary And Sheriff

Edgar Ray Zachary, 45, left, is shown with Dallas County Deputy Sheriff O'Byrne Cox in Dallas after Zachary surrendered on a charge of attempting to rape a 25-year-old mother of three children. She accused Zachary of beating her during the alleged rape attempt. Officers identified Zachary as the former Denton cab driver who was the last person to have seen Mary Virginia Carpenter, 21, Texas State College for Women student, who disappeared in 1948.

Last-Ditch Opposition Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee today voted 10-2 to clear the long-blocked civil rights bill for House action.

The committee vote overrode Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) and Rep. Colmer (D-Miss) last-ditch opponents of the compromise measure, and paved the way for House action expected tomorrow.

Speedy House passage is expected for the measure which had been bottled up in the Rules Committee since Senate passage Aug. 7.

The meeting of the Rules Committee was forced by seven members because Chairman Smith had refused to call a session of the committee.

Under House rules, a majority of a committee can force a meeting when the chairman does not call one.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) signed at 9:30 a.m. a call for a meeting previously signed by six Democrats.

LIMITED POWER

A proposed compromise bill was worked out last week by Democratic and Republican congressional leaders. It would give federal judges limited powers to punish for crimes a contempt in voting rights cases tried without a jury.

The Senate will act next. Southern senators apparently have no intention of staging a filibuster, but plan to voice again their objections to the legislation.

It was not certain how much time these speeches will require, but the leadership goal is adjournment of Congress by this week-end.

In its final form the bill is expected to contain:

1. Provision for a bipartisan civil rights investigating commission and for a special section of the Justice Department to handle civil rights matters.

2. New powers for the attorney general to seek U.S. court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of voting rights.

3. A special provision—the heart of the final compromise—that a judge shall decide whether a person charged with criminal contempt for violating an injunction shall be tried by himself, or by a jury.

If the judge tries the case himself and levies a penalty of more than 45 days in jail and a $300 fine, the defendant would have the right to a new trial before a jury. The maximum penalty for such injunction violations would be six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Under the compromise, civil contempt cases would be tried without a jury. Criminal contempt proceedings are those designed to punish violations of court orders. Civil contempt cases are aimed at getting compliance.

The compromise also is expected to include a section making clear that a ban, backed by criminal penalties, on releasing testimony received by the investigating commission in closed-door session does not apply to newsmen.

Vice President Nixon said it is important to get a civil rights bill passed because of the impact on peoples in Africa, Asia and the Middle East. He said there are a billion of these people who are contented would have a decisive part in the struggle for world freedom.

"Now as far as these people are concerned," he said, "virtually all of them are not white and they have a great resentment, and justifiably so, against any feeling that we in the United States... do not treat people of a different color on an equal basis."

Midland, Mars Or Orson Welles?

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Jesse Ungari and his wife, Helen, heard a background voice swell through a KPIX television commercial last night.

"We are calling you from outer space. We are going to destroy your city in 24 hours," they heard it say.

Ungari, oil company marketing specialist and naval reserve radioman, reported this to the San Jose Mercury.

A spokesman at KPIX said a freakish signal bounce from a distant station possibly filtered a space adventure program into the Ungaris' set.

Midland, Tex., television station's signal has been heard here previously.

Daniel Plans 100 - Member State Water Commission

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel determined to solve Texas water problems at a proposed special session of the Legislature, said today he will appoint a 100-member Statewide Water Planning Committee.

Daniel also called the first meeting for the group here at 10 a.m. Sept. 9.

The governor said the State Board of Water Engineers and the defunct Texas Water Resources Committee also will be asked to sit in.

Daniel said the committee will have two major objectives: "Assist in the preparation of legislation which will provide the state with the leadership in developing a statewide master plan for water conservation and flood control, in cooperation with local and federal agencies."

"Organize a statewide campaign for approval of the 200 million dollar water bond amendment which the people will vote on Nov. 5."

Daniel repeated his views of Saturday when he said he would ask the Legislature to set up a statewide planning agency. He said it would be either within the present state board of water engineers or a new agency.

Cost for the project would be $500,000 to $1,000,000, all of which Daniel promised could be made available without new taxes.

The Water Engineers are now calling in river authorities, to present their watershed master plans. From this, the board seeks a better look toward formulation of a statewide plan, for which no money has been appropriated.

The board had asked the Legislature for more than a quillion dollars a year budget. It now gets less than $500,000.

Daniel said the 100 members would be named this week. "It is time to act or abdicate," Daniel said.

Daniel said. "The federal agencies stand ready to do their part if Texas will furnish the leadership and some day they will act without us and perhaps contrary to state and local interests if we continue to delay action."

The governor asserted if Texas fails to act, the federal government will write its water plan for the state "on a take it or leave it basis, or there will be no water plan at all."

Daniel said the statewide water planning program gives Texas its greatest opportunity to go forward.

On-The-Spot Report From Paris Concerning Designers Fashions

PARIS — "Lady Longlegs"—or, "short and getting shorter"—epitomizes the skirt lengths in Paris this season. True enough, Dior's are only calf-revealing BUT hemlines at most other houses are running a climbing race, with some skirts showing as much as 19 inches in front, with panel trains or stiffened sweeps trailing the ground in back.

The aura of the twenties surrounds the collections with Balenciaga, Givenchy and Dior giving a 1957 twist to lowered, loosened waistlines and presenting modern versions of the fringed beaded Charleston dress. Other reminders of this defunct era are fingertip length shaped jackets at Balmain and Heim. Late day dresses at Dior with wide, loose belts at hip level above long, straight skirts.

Wrap-around coats—trimmed with long-haired fur at Patou and Balmain, sleeveless and tightly caped—colored at Lanvin-Castillo. Cloche hats at Patou, closely draped turbans at Balmain.

Coats in Paris are deliberately bulky, truly beautiful in best picture if you think of an inverted triangle. Wide through the shoulders and narrowed at the hem.

Many coating fabrics have a homespun look and are heavy beyond belief—others such as Ascher's mohair and nylon blends are immensely supple, almost weightless but with a look of extreme bulk.

The loose coat with shoulder emphasis is important this season—new—longer—trimmed with shaggy fur, Balmain with wondrously cut stole-sleeves, Heim with barrel-shaped backs, Castillo and Dessea with bulky cape-tops, Guy Laroche's bulky coats made new—longer—trimmed with shaggy fur, but were in fact one, with top cut like a box jacket and allowed to hang loose above low-belted, full or pleated skirts.

Long jackets made news in suits, with wristlength and semi-long ones in suits—can be d. but straight and belted ones shown as well. Skirts are mostly narrow, sometimes tapered. Dior's jackets bloused into the hipband and those with long, jutting peplums seem prophetic. Shaggy collars, collarless necklines with fabric fill-ins and fly fastenings typify the season's suits.

Emerging from all of the clothes chatter in Paris is the word "chemise", currently being used by the fashion world to describe the season's newest dresses. They are entirely simple in line, with just the barest suggestion of the figure beneath.

many at Dior, Balenciaga, Givenchy and Dior fall straight and loose from the shoulder line—others are fitted in front and loose in back—still others have the barest indication of a waistline, often marked by seaming or set-on fabric belts. Necklines are most often plain and round, sleeves are tiny—if used at all.

The only other dresses in the news are those that bypass the natural waistline (often with self fabric belts starting at the waist and curving downward) but still shape the body a bit. Dior showed some dresses with soft, semi-bloused tops caught in at the hips above tight skirts.

The fabric story is two-fold this season. On one hand you have the "soft touch" group—the smooth, sleek pile fabrics, velours, broadcloths, flannels and literally multitudes of crepes (satin back crepes, pebble crepes, georgettes, as well as the Maharani and Romaine types). On the other hand you have the rustic tweeds, nattes, serges, imitation hand knits with surfaces resembling classic knitting stitches, the "frankly homespun" look-into weaves.

The elegant simplicity of the "chemise" has placed greater emphasis on dress fabrics than in many seasons. Fabrics that are most often smooth to the touch and drape with supply fluid beauty. Fabrics which are a skillful blend of natural with man-made fibers, combine the best attributes of both. Typical of this group is a beautiful two and a half ounce silk and Acrilan textured chiffon—developed by continental fabric designer Miki Sekers and used by such fashion maestros as Pierre Cardin, Jean Patou, Chanel in Paris—by Simonetta and Fabiani in Rome. Nattes, basket weaves, firm handle crepes, rustic tweeds—all combining Acrilan acrylic fiber with silk, wool and mohair are other luxurious mixtures which have been designed by Miki Sekers for his Haute Couture Fabric Collection.

By night fabrics look newest featherweight and sheer. Chiffons have a slightly crinkled surface for winter—some resemble a semi-sheer satin. Never before have there been so many gauzy fabrics in the collections—every house has at least two or three ballgowns of nylon net or tulle. Mateleses, brocades, chiffon velvets, grosgrain and ottoman ribs and the usual magnificent warp print satins around the evening dress fabric picture.

All lengths are shown for evening, but daytime length is predominant, registering in dresses with strapless tops and barrel or dome shaped skirts. Dior showed several overskirts that touch the floor or trail at the back over narrow sheaths. Evening gowns are either immensely wide and stiff—where—deep back vees are still prominent. Dior shows breathtakingly low necklines for cocktail and short evening dresses—shaped wide to the shoulders from a deep cleavage—and always worn with large brimmed hats!

Ensembles stronger than ever, in this season they are generally three pieces for daytime (dress and jacket and coat or two-piece dress with a longer jacket). Most evening gowns have their own "go with" wraps.

It's certainly the furriest season ever witnessed in Paris. A "catty" one at that, with long-haired furs used in abundance for collars, coat linings, giant muffs and—at Lanvin, Castillo used opposum for a cloche with their press officer christened David Crockett. Turbans at Balmain—broadtail like fabric for a tailored suit—also used white ermine to fashion the most elegant evening skirt in Paris.

Hats are pretty well covered up—run the gamut from: hoods of felt shaped into Phrygian caps by Svend. Turbans at Balmain—shallow crowned sailors at Dior. Antelope berets at Larche. "Fuzzi-Wuzzi" hats at Lanvin which hug the head like a wig, look for all the world like a hedgehog made of nylon tulle.

If "black and white and color all over" in Paris for winter. Numerically speaking black leads the color parade, with an exciting range of vivid blues running a close second. Black and white tweeds were everywhere. Dior and Patou endorsed a "navy green"—bitter yellowed greens scored frequently elsewhere. Reds are geranium tones. Only Guy Laroche presented a controlled color scheme—a magnificent range of amber tones from palest honey to deepest orange.

Additional things to note: Westchester County look at Dior, hats and often handbags made of dress or coat or suit fabric—tone-on-tone is the order of the day in accessorizing here. bows in abundance throughout Paris. long multi-strand necklaces register, some with tear drop pendants hanging from them. Lasso drapes on coats and suits at Pierre Cardin. day and late day jumpers in tweed, flannel or velvet, worn over jersey or satin blouses at Guy Laroche; also cowlied drapes repeated like so many double chin.

On the whole its another season of beautiful-to-behold, beautiful-to-touch, beautiful-to-wear clothes in Paris. A season of truly exquisite fabrics fashioned by the master designers of the world into elegant clothes women everywhere would like to wear.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

August is beginning to give June a run for its money when it comes to weddings. In fact July didn't do such a bad job. The young people in Big Spring have certainly been much in the news this summer with the numerous showers, parties and big weddings.

The weddings this month have been so pretty with the attractive use of fall colors. One recent bride wore copper, green and gold for her attendants' dresses and the effect was beautiful.

Talking with MRS. REX BAGGETT we learned that her daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Richard Deats are now in Boston and have set up housekeeping. The couple has recently returned from Europe and had the honor of being invited to eat at the captain's table en route home.

The two played hosts to vacationing Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baird and Stephen with a picnic supper in the new home. The Bairds are due back here this week from the trip that took them through the New England states.

From Fort Rucker, Ala. comes a batch of beautiful post cards sent by MRS. C. L. HETHCOAT and her sons who are visiting Capt. Hethcoat who is stationed there. During the summer Mrs. Hethcoat and the boys have visited in New Orleans, La., Biloxi, Miss., and Panama City, Fla. Mrs. Hethcoat says she would like to spend two months painting scenes from Louisiana.

The new city directory has done the Daily Herald a great wrong. On one address it is listed as Daily Harold and that seemed bad enough but in another place it turns up Daly Harold and the address is this address, 710 Scurry.

MR. AND MRS. SAM BAKER will have as their guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Parchman of Dallas who have been touring the northwestern states. Mrs. Parchman is a sister of Mrs. Baker as is Mrs. T. O. Gilkey of Forney who has been the guest of the Bakers for the past two weeks.

Weekend guests in the BOB WREN home were her cousins, MR. AND MRS. LONNIE IRVIN of Akron, Ohio and MRS. S. BOYER of Arlington.

Dinner Party Is Given Miss West

A dinner given Sunday in the L. G. West home was a compliment for Shirley West, bride-elect. Miss West will be married Saturday evening in the Ackery Methodist Church to Donald Dick, son of Haskell.

Those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Rob Mabry and Miss West's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. West of Ackery.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rossion and Harold is Janet Boardman of Fort Worth.

AAUW Meeting

The organizational meeting for members of the American Association of University Women will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Elizabeth Daniel, 203 Princeton. Miss Daniel is president of the group. All members are urged to attend.

Garners To Attend Anniversary Party

FORSAN — The Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Garner, Bob and John David, plan to be in Henderson next week with their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Garner, who will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The Junior Garners other son, Gary, will return to Forsan after spending the summer with his grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith and Sandra are vacationing in Frazer, Colo. with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brown and sons.

Mrs. Idella Alexander of Andrews has returned to her home after visiting Mrs. Vera Harris. Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Byrd and Delano of Texas City were recent guests of friends. He is a former pastor of the Forsan Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Kyle and daughter who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Riffe, have returned to their home in Shephard.

Arlan and George White spent the weekend in Dallas where they attended the wedding of a friend.

Teen-ager Hobbies Lessen Trouble

Parents relax! According to recent surveys, juvenile delinquency is on the downgrade and "juvenile delinquency" is a more apt label for the current crop of "jeanagers." Less than 3 per cent of the country's 15-million teen-age youth population is now included in the delinquent group. More and more of them are taking an active part in the life of their communities. They're also the greatest and most enthusiastic hobbyists of any population group in the country!

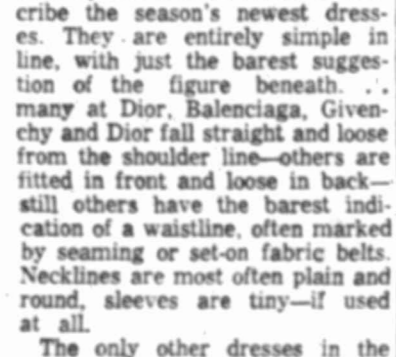

Over the past summer, jeanagers had plenty of time to ride their hobbies, which rank roughly in this order: Dancing, music, sports, photography and pets.

Attention Bowlers

Must Have The Desire

Diane Brewster believes that any diet will be effective if the will to reduce is there. In today's Hollywood Beauty she describes how she lost 15 pounds. Diane will soon appear in "Black Patch" with George Montgomery for Warner Bros.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Best Diet Is One That Shrinks The Stomach

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Diane Brewster came here from Kansas City two years ago and has kept busy in TV and pictures all that time.

"I have no complaints with Hollywood, except one," she exclaimed, "and that is that the screen adds weight to one's appearance. I have been dieting constantly."

"At home I was a model and managed very well by just watching sweets. But here I set myself a goal of taking off 15 pounds, and that was a struggle."

"I went to the doctor and he gave me some reducing pills," she went on. "They had worked with some of my friends, but I think it was psychological because they were not successful with me."

"Someone raved about the type of diet where you practically starve yourself, but this gave me such a feeling of frustration that as soon as it was over I gained back what I had lost."

"I decided then that the diet you choose is not nearly as important as your attitude toward it. You have to be emotionally prepared to lose weight. If you are resisting this inside, you are doomed to failure."

"Then I fell in love, and dieting became easier. Food seemed less important to me. I told myself that if I wanted a career in Hollywood I had to be sensible about keeping my weight down, and the only thing to do was to completely change my eating habits. I realized that going on a diet and going back to bad habits was ridiculous, so I made a plan to eat less all the time."

"I changed to black coffee, eliminating cream and sugar. I allowed myself dessert only once a day. Instead of sweet rolls for breakfast I had toast. For lunch I limited myself to a salad, hamburger patty, eggs or some other protein dish, but for dinner I ate whatever I wanted but in smaller portions.

"When I ate this way I had no frustrations. I was slowly shrinking my stomach so I could be satisfied on less, and I was limiting my sweet tooth. It took 15 weeks to lose those 15 pounds," Diane revealed. "But I am sure what I have lost will stay off."

We were chatting on the 'Cheyenne' TV set at Warner Bros. As Diane was called back to the camera she said, "I am constantly cast in Westerns. I play opposite George Montgomery in 'Black Patch,' too. They tell me I don't look like an actress. Maybe this isn't a compliment, but I take it as one because I prefer naturalness to artificiality."

SHRINKING THE STOMACH
Shrinking your stomach is the key to losing weight. Once you have controlled your appetite and no longer have that in-between-meal craving, half your battle is won. In Leaflet M-51, "Shrinking the Stomach Diet," are suggestions for appetite-control. Also offered in this leaflet are two important exercises to help slim waist, hips and thighs. For your copy of this vital leaflet, send 5 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

ALEXIS SMITH says: "AYDS help me LOSE WEIGHT WITHOUT DIETING"

"Take Ayds," says Alexis. "I enjoy one or two Ayds candies, as directed, 15 minutes before meals. My appetite fades, I eat less, lose naturally." Doctors praise the Ayds Plan best, safest at New England clinic. Prove it yourself! $3.00. Money-back guarantee.

Uncle Ray: Many Kinds Of Cells Are Found In Skin

By RAMON COFFMAN
The skin of a human being has two main layers. The first of these is the epidermis (pronounced EP-ih-DER-mis). The other is known as the "true skin."
The word "epidermis" came from the Greek language and means "over-skin." It is the surface skin. Almost every child does a little testing (perhaps when taking out a splinter) and finds that the epidermis may be pricked without pain. If the needle point goes past the thin layer, however, pain is felt. The dermis or true skin, has a large supply of pain cells.
Q. Is the skin of the same thickness all over the body?
A. No. It is extremely thin in some places, as in the eyelids. The skin covering is very thick over the back, and even thicker in the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet. The skin is from eight to 10 times as thick in the palm as in an eyelid.
Q. How does the epidermis compare in thickness with true skin?
A. The true skin is from three to four times as thick as the epidermis.
Despite the fact that the epidermis is thin, it has special layers which can be seen under the microscope. One of these contains the pigment which gives a dark color to the skin of a Negro.
Q. What kinds of cells do we find in the skin?
A. Many kinds, including fat cells. Some cells make up the so-called "warm spots," others the Diagram of the skin.

"cold spots," still others the pain spots.
The point of a lead pencil is colder, as a rule, than the surface of the skin. In many places, however, you may touch the skin with a pencil without feeling any coldness.
At other places, on the contrary, the pencil point will touch cold spots, and the brain will say, "Ah! The point is cold!"
The skin of a human being has about 200 thousand cold spots. In addition the skin has about 30 thousand warm spots. If an object is warm (with a thermometer, a temperature of 125 degrees Fahrenheit), it will give a "warm" message to the brain as soon as it touches a warm spot.

Top Teamsters Chiefs Mapping Union Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Top leaders of the Teamsters Union go into a secret session here today to map out a defense against charges of corruption and the possibility of the brotherhood's expulsion from the AFL-CIO.
Also expected to be assessed during the union's Executive Board meeting are James R. Hoffa's chances of attaining the presidency of the 1,400,000-member organization.
The closed conference in a hotel suite may last three days or longer.
President Dave Beck, after lengthy investigation by the Senate Rackets Committee, announced he would not seek reelection.
Hoffa late last week finished a four-day period of questioning by the same committee, whose members accused him of missing union funds and of allying himself with gangsters and hoodlums to enhance his own union power. He faces more questioning later.
Most local Teamsters' officials said they felt the Executive Board would determine whether Hoffa's investigation by the Senate committee would impede his chances of advancing from a vice presidency to the brotherhood's top spot.
Hoffa appeared jovial and unperturbed on his arrival yesterday. He scoffed at a suggestion that he might bow out of the race for president.
"I will be a candidate," he declared. "Members will make their own decision."
Beck's successor is to be named at the Teamsters' convention starting Sept. 30 in Miami Beach, Fla.
Hoffa, who was castigated by Senate investigators about the vagueness of his answers regarding his past associations with New York labor terrorist Johnny Dio, defended his position by asking a newsman: "Can you remember everything you did three years ago?"
Beck answered with "No comment" a barrage of questions from newsmen on his choice for a successor.
When asked directly if Hoffa was his choice, he replied: "He (Hoffa) would make a fine president."

Texas Average Income Up, But Still Below National Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Per capita income in Texas last year was $1,586, but still was nearly $300 below the $1,940 average income for the nation as a whole. The figure was up from the $1,621 average in 1955.
Total personal income in Texas for 1956 was $14,179,000,000, seventh highest among the states.
Personal income in the nation last year reached a record $24 billion dollars.
The figures came out today in a Census Bureau report that showed, among other things: Delaware's $2,858 was the highest per capita income in the country, 38 per cent above the national average. Mississippi was low with $964, less than half the average. Indiana hit the average almost on the nose with per capita income of $1,946.
Fifteen states and the District of Columbia were above the average; 33 states and Hawaii were below.
The reports covered all sources of personal income, including wages and salaries, net income of unincorporated enterprises (including farms), net rental income, dividends, interest and such items as social security benefits, direct relief and veterans' pensions and benefits.
The 1956 total income of $24 billion dollars was 7 per cent higher than the $22.5 billion of 1955. The per capita income of $1,940 was 5 per cent higher than the $1,847 of 1955. (Separate reports indicate that per capita income this year is running over $2,000 a year.)
Connecticut followed Delaware in per capita income with $2,673. Then came New Jersey, $2,443; California, $2,419; Nevada, $2,413; New York, $2,393; Illinois $2,383 and the District of Columbia, $2,371.
Nevada was the only state to show a decline in per capita income—from $2,451 to $2,413. That dropped Nevada from third in 1955, behind Delaware and Connecticut to fifth in 1956.
Delaware also showed a 14 per cent increase, largest in the country, in total income from 1955 to 1956. Arizona was up 12 per cent and Florida 11 per cent. The government report said these three states showed sizable advances in all major income sources.

An upturn in the coal-mining industry helped boost West Virginia's total income by 11 per cent last year. Louisiana rose 10 per cent over the year, mostly from nonagricultural sources.
The report showed the average income level of the Far West is the highest in the country and about 20 per cent above the national average. The Great Lakes states were about 10 per cent higher than the average. Most of the rest of the country was below average.

Injured Mountain Climber Rescued

LONGMIRE, Wash. (AP)—A 32-year-old Bremerton, Wash., mountain climber who shattered a leg in a 12-foot fall into a crevasse high on Mt. Rainier was rescued in a hazardous, 17-hour operation yesterday.
George Sainsbury fell into the crevasse Saturday while attempting to scale the south face of 14,408-foot Mt. Rainier with two companions, Arnold Bloomer, 26, and Ray Barker, 29.

Hunger Sends Cons Back To Work

HOUSTON (AP)—An estimated 300 Latin American convicts resumed normal prison life yesterday after a short-lived sitdown strike against a six-day work week.
O. E. Ellis of Huntsville, general manager of the Texas Prison System, told them they would get neither food nor water until they returned to work.

Bricklayers Named In Teacher Death

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two bricklayers were identified yesterday as the attackers of Earl Thurman, Tyler Junior College professor who died Aug. 17 from a blow on the head.
Police identified the bricklayers as Silvano Martinez and Lorenzo Hernandez. They said the two men were questioned Aug. 16 after a policeman reported they struck a man on the head with a shovel in the San Angel section. Investigators said they were released at the time because the victim could not be found.

Reports Again Note Danger Of Fallout

WASHINGTON (AP)—The peril of atomic fallout has been emphasized again in separate reports from opposite ends of the nation.
In Washington yesterday, the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee released a cautiously worded summary of testimony suggesting that continuance of nuclear tests at present rates could endanger future generations.

In Palo Alto, Calif., a group of experts said the peril point could be reached in 1970, and may already have been reached in some parts of the world.
The reports pointed up the continuing controversy over the known and unknown dangers of fallout—the deadly shower of radioactivity thrown out by nuclear explosions.
Members of the American Institute of Biological Sciences, meeting in Palo Alto, said American, British and Russian nuclear tests now are spreading about 10 million tons of radioactive material over the earth every year.
The figure was given by Dr. H. Bentley Glass, a Johns Hopkins University geneticist, in a news conference in which several other specialists participated.
Dr. Curtice L. Newcombe, of the Navy Radiological Defense Laboratory in San Francisco, said it has been calculated that about 50 million tons of fallout material has been released in U.S. bomb tests to date.
Newcombe said it also has been calculated that 70 million tons is the theoretical safety limit.
The congressional committee's report was hedged with many scientific reservations expressed in conflicting testimony taken in fallout hearings last May and June.
The committee expressed reservations about the limits of human resistance to radioactive strontium, one of the most dangerous elements in atomic fallout.
The committee said there is no such thing as a "clean" nuclear weapon—a subject of some discussion during the hearings.
Administration spokesmen and some scientists have said the United States can produce an absolutely clean weapon—one without fallout—if testing continues for four or five years.
The committee report said, however, that much could be done to control the amount of radioactivity produced in a nuclear explosion.

Asiatic Flu Not Germ Warfare, Medic Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U.S. surgeon general, said today the presence of Asiatic flu in this country is not the start of germ warfare by the Communists.
"Is there any possibility that the Communists have planted these germs?" Burney was asked in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report, a weekly news magazine.
"No," he replied. "I don't believe that is a possibility. We have epidemics occasionally, and have had them in the past."
"Could the entry of Asiatic flu into the United States have been prevented?" he was asked.
"No," Burney replied. "In the first place, there are many unapparent infections. In other words, you may have the influenza virus carrying it around here now, and I couldn't detect it in you. That's No. 1."
"No. 2—There are about 1,800 people who disembark on the West Coast from the Pacific areas every day from planes, ships and otherwise. You can carry the virus and there's no way of detecting who has it and who doesn't have it."
Burney, asked whether he was quite certain the disease was going to come in epidemic proportions in this country, said: "Yes, on the basis of experiences with past epidemics and with its tremendous spread thus far throughout the world."
Burney estimated there are now 20,000 to 25,000 cases in the United States and that between 25 to 34 million persons ultimately may be affected.
"Would you say an individual should be alarmed about the outlook for Asiatic flu?" he was asked.
"No," Burney said. "As long as the virulence of the strain does not change—the disease does not become more severe—I think the individual does not have too much of a problem. I think the tremendous impact upon our community life and economy, by having a 15 to 20 per cent attack rate, is the important part."
Burney said the supply of vaccine is now relatively limited but that it is hoped enough vaccine for 60 million Americans will be available by Feb. 1.

Local Woman Praises New Medicine

Dear Mr. Collins:
I read in the Big Spring Daily Herald about a tablet for rheumatism called Citru-Mix, so I decided to try it as I have what the doctors call spinal rheumatism. My back hurts sometimes until I just can't stand it. I have taken most everything for it. I have been to Hot Springs and Mineral Wells—but I only got relief while I was there.
I am glad to tell you that one bottle of Citru-Mix has given me help and relief than any other thing that I have taken in all my life.
I am on my second bottle now and I am sleeping all night sound and up doing all my housework for a family of six.
I live at 819 West 4th St., and I will recommend it to anybody who has suffered as I have.
Respectfully,
Mrs. Ralph Harvey

Officer Charged In Youth Beating

WAGGONER, Okla. (AP)—A Broken Arrow constable who doubles as a dog catcher has been charged with pistol whipping a teen age boy who barked at him.
Co. Atty. Max Findley said Jess Ridge, 50, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon and released on $750 bond. Findley said Ridge admitted striking Oscar Medlin, 18, but said he hit the youth for cursing him and not for barking.
Ridge said, "It's getting so I can't even go to a baseball game anymore without somebody garking at me."

A Bible Thought For Today

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord. (2 Peter 1)

Industry—It's Wonderful!

Like God, home mother, soil conservation and water, almost everyone is in favor of more industry.

While beautiful in abstract, these subjects can be a little difficult to grasp in the specific—particularly new industry. Just how do you go about interesting industry in looking over your community as a potential site?

The Chamber of Commerce, while following the conventional avenues of advertising, briefs, brochures, broadside and specialized mailings, hit upon the idea of seeking leads through local businessmen. Almost every businessman is a customer of several to many manufacturers.

So the Chamber sent out letters asking businessmen to list (on the reverse side of that letter) the names and addresses of individuals or firms to whom personal letters might be sent over their signature. The Chamber would prepare the letters and do the mailing—all the businessmen would have to do is sign the letter.

Response to this simple request, which might conceivably mean more customers and more business for everyone if even so much as one lead materialized, was unique.

At last reports, response was 100 per cent. No one sent in a reply.

This calls to mind the axiom that the way to get industry is build it yourself. But if local people lack enough interest to fill in three or four names and addresses, how could you expect them to invest their dollars?

Stretching The Life Span

It is no new thing that females in the United States outlive males, for they have been doing it consistently since the turn of the century. But this margin of longer life for females has been widening for the last 57 years.

Life expectancy tables compiled by the Institute of Life Insurance for its Fact Book of 1957, based on vital statistics provided by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare show that in 1900 the average male American lived 46.6 years while the average female lived to be 48.7. Average for both sexes, 47.6 years.

Every decade since that time the life expectancy of Americans has lengthened steadily, until by 1955 the average male died at 67.3 years, the average female at 73.6, and the average for both sexes stood at 70.2 years.

Thus, whereas in 1900 women were outliving men an average of 2.1 years, in 1955 the difference stood at 6.3 years. Undoubtedly a reduction in the rate of deaths in childbirth accounts for much of this widening gap, but there may be another powerful factor: Women take better care of themselves, particularly in seeking and taking medical advice.

There is a marked difference in the life expectancy of whites and non-whites. In 1900 non-white males died at the average age of 32.5 years, females at 33.5, and both sexes at 33.0.

But non-whites, too, have shown a steady progression in the art of living longer. By 1955 non-white males were living to 61.2 and females to 63.9 years, for an average for both sexes of 62.5.

Whereas among whites the females outlived the males an average of 6.3 years, among non-whites the difference was only 4.7 years. This could be accounted for by a more prolific birthrate and higher infant mortality among colored people, or by difference in the economic status.

Expectation of life at various ages runs as follows: At 20 a white male may expect to live 50.1 years more, a female 55.8 years more. At age 30 a white male may look forward to 23.2 more years, a white female to 27.7.

While colored people trail behind in survival expectancy up to age 75, a curious thing happens after 70. At age 70 colored folks move out in front, so that these figures apply: White male, 10.3 more years of life, white female 12.2 more years; colored males 11.7 more years, colored females 13.8 more years. The respective figures at 45 years of age are: For white males 27.3, for colored males 24.8; for white females 32.1, for colored females 27.9.

Racial Dilemma Outlined In Film

WASHINGTON — The news dispatches told the other day of an orderly demonstration by Ku Klux Klansmen in front of a theatre at Jacksonville, Florida, where a movie entitled "Island in the Sun" was playing.

The inference was that this was a way of expressing objection to the showing of the film. But, unwittingly or not, the theme of the picture is the most effective argument for the Southern viewpoint that has yet been made against "integration" in the public schools.

For the movie emphasizes intermarriage of Negroes and whites and does it with a technique of plausibility that makes the whole production perhaps the boldest portrayal of color-mixing that has ever been put on the American stage on a national scale.

This correspondent, who saw the movie recently, was impressed by the skill of those who directed it. The action takes place in a British colony in the Caribbean. Though three couples of Negroes and whites are shown in dramatic situations of mutual attraction, not a single love scene of the passionate variety is included in the whole thing.

Indeed, in one of the romantic episodes, the Negro leading man rejects the direct proposal of marriage made to him by a blonde white woman. He says proudly that the people of his color would resent it and that he could not go back on the feelings and ideals of his own folks.

This argument might as readily have been made by a white man in refusing to enter into marriage with a Negro woman. But in another part of the plot, the very opposite occurs. A white man—a highly educated young diplomat in the British colonial service—falls in love with a Negro girl who is employed as a secretary in the office of the governor. The two characters are not often shown together and, when they are, it is with a certain standoffishness not customary for Hollywood technicians to use in modern movies. But in the end the two go off together, married, and sail for England.

In the third phase of the plot there is much ado about a girl in a prominent white family whose grandfather, it is suddenly alleged, was a Negro. The girl's father is at first distressed to learn about the hitherto unknown relative, but nevertheless becomes a candidate for local office and goes on the stump professing a high regard for the colored voters, who are, of course, numerous. His hypocrisy is attacked by the Negro leading man. Finally the father, at a public meeting, having been provoked into an outburst of anger, frankly admits that he doesn't like colored people and rushes away from the political platform.

Whether all this makes sense isn't the point. Southerners in this country have been striving for years to convince the North that the real danger in mixed schools is that it develops social relationships which can lead to intermarriage. The movie tends to bring out in the open the subject of intermarriage and does it with good-looking people as actors so as to minimize as much as possible the element of revulsion which might have been felt by viewers as a result of less subtle treatment of the whole subject. There is, on the other hand, the possibility that youthful persons—whites and Negroes—now will regard the movie as sanctioning, if not encouraging, intermarriage. Oddly enough, while censors have arisen in the theatrical world during recent years who changed the words of Stephen Foster's songs so as to cater to the sensibilities of Negro groups of the North, no comparable solicitude for the sensibilities of the white people of the South is exhibited in "Island in the Sun."

Naturally, many persons in the South will object to anything that lends even a remote degree of plausibility to intermarriage between whites and Negroes, but at the same time, viewed solely as a controversy in the court of public opinion, the movie is bound to focus attention on the Southern argument against school "integration." For the Southerner in the current debate has been handicapped by the refusal of many Northerners to regard intermarriage as one of the inevitable results of school "integration."

There are many states in which laws exist that prohibit intermarriage of colored people and whites. The constitutionality of such laws is still in doubt, as the Supreme Court of the United States over the years has not rendered a clear-cut decision and has often side-stepped the issue by deciding the case on other grounds.

Judging, however, by the trend of the rulings of the present Supreme Court, it seems likely that legal barriers to intermarriage will some day be removed. When that happens, the South will become doubly determined to avoid "integration" in the schools. The movie "Island in the Sun" publicizes a delicate phase of the whole color problem. It's a dilemma which is bound to cause many anxious moments for the American people in the years to come.

What Others Say

We doubt that the American people will hang back or be disposed to re-enact the tragedy of the League of Nations, if a real beginning of disarmament is reached in London. The terror that lives with us in the atomic age was incomparably far away in 1919, and we Americans have traveled many thousands of light years since then.

Civil Rights Supporters Win Victory

WASHINGTON — Negroes and the supporters of civil rights have won a clear-cut victory. Southern whites have suffered a definite defeat.

This is clear after an analysis of the compromise civil rights bill which is expected to be passed by Congress this week.

It's been called a bill to protect Negroes' voting rights. It goes far beyond that. It would have gone further, by letting the attorney general step into all kinds of civil rights cases.

But Southern senators were able to get that part of the bill knocked out. As it stands, the bill would let the attorney general step into voting right cases only.

That's plenty. So is the rest of the bill. And for the first time in this century, the Southerners were unable to block civil rights legislation.

That may mean more chance for more civil rights legislation in the future.

The bill calls for a commission to investigate all kinds of civil rights violations. The commission would have no powers to act against such violations, as the attorney general could have done under the knocked-out part of the bill. But it could expose.

For example: The commission could investigate the Ku Klux Klan and the White Citizens Councils set up in the South to resist public school integration and integration in general.

The more the commission may reveal—particularly about harassment of Negroes—the more could be the pressure for more legislation. And the commission would have power to hold hearings anywhere in the South.

Because it could issue subpoenas, it could force witnesses to appear and testify.

Under the bill, the attorney general could ask a federal judge for a court order to stop a voting rights violation. Again, there would be exposure. For once a judge issues such an order, he would hold a public hearing to bring out the facts in the case.

And the bill leaves untouched the judge's traditional power to try and jail—without a jury—anyone in civil contempt of courts for disobeying his order.

Real Test Of Will Power

NEW YORK — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Sen. Yarborough Encourages Boy To Be A Senator

WASHINGTON — Sen. Ralph Yarborough has sent a letter of encouragement to a young Texan who some day might be seeking a senator's job.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Shelton of Wichita Falls visited the capitol this summer with their son, Steven. Returning home, Mrs. Shelton wrote Yarborough they had a reaffirmed faith in the American system after seeing the wheels turn.

"We were impressed to such an extent that I firmly believe paying income tax is going to be less painful this year," she said.

"Our son, Steven, was so impressed he has announced he is going to grow up to go to Congress instead of becoming a cowboy or jet pilot—which is a revolution in a 6-year-old mind."

The senator's response was a letter to Steven saying:

"I am writing you because the news has come to me that you now aspire to be a United States senator.

"Steven, you have flattered me more than all of my other constituents, and I shall watch your career with added interest. I want you to know as the years unfold that you will have a friend in me, and whenever I may help you, I hope you will let me know."

MR. BREGER

Around The Rim

Compliments Are Appreciated

Recently a Big Springer ran a stop sign and was shortly stopped by a police patrolman. The patrolman politely explained the danger of accidents or injuries on running stop signs—both to the driver and other motorists. The patrolman did not give the motorist a ticket but politely urged him not to run any more stop signs.

That Big Springer wrote the department and thanked the patrolman and the department chief for the politeness. He said he deserved a ticket, but he added he was more impressed by the courteous manners of the patrolman than he would have been by the ticket and a rude sermon.

About a month ago, the department and Mayor G. W. Dabney received letters from a man in Ohio who wanted to compliment the police on how he was helped one night. When Chief of Police C. L. Rogers asked members of the force who had helped the man, none of them could remember who he was or how they aided him.

Over the past four months, the police department has received more such compliments than at any previous time, city officials estimate. For this, the city should feel proud.

The men who work accidents, take cuts out of trees, prevent youngsters from getting run over as they leave kiddie shows on Saturdays, and hunt criminals receive far too few compliments for their work.

When something goes wrong, the protests are loud and abusive from every corner. But on the other hand, when the department accomplishes an extraordinary feat, the great majority of citizens takes it in stride and feels that it is all part of the job.

Of course, policemen are paid (possibly underpaid) to do their duty, and handle every situation but the few pats on the back they receive make the going easier. They also make the policemen a little prouder of their jobs.

When tourists pass through Big Spring, they judge the city by what they see. However, should they have trouble or be stopped for a traffic violation, they see Big Springer reflected in the actions of the patrol officer who is courteous, who is polite and courteous, who will feel that Big Springer is the same way. But if he is brusque and rude, Big Springer will stand out in their minds as the same type. They don't realize that he might have been detained for an hour by some griping citizen or wrestling with a drunk in the flats.

The police department officers admit that members of the patrol force occasionally treat the public impolitely, but it is a constant job of the department to weed out this rude segment and also to impress upon the rest of the force that it is the duty of the patrol officers who will be polite whether their 'clients' are minor traffic violators or some other offender.

The two persons—one from Big Spring, and the other from out of town—who wrote complimenting the department felt like showing their appreciation. Most people do not.

Like the men not remembering helping the Ohio man is indicative of how many they aid in the daily schedule, so is the fact that very few letters received is indicative that very few persons appreciate a public service.

Time To Do Something About Inflation

While the economists, the labor experts and the moguls of management cautiously circle Walter P. Reuther's proposal to halt the wage-price spiral, old John Q. Public sits hopelessly cheering on the sidelines.

Any suggestion that sounds as if it might turn the damper down on inflation is sweet music to the public's ears.

It is hard for the innocent bystander to assess the true merits of the plan put forward by the president of the United Auto Workers. But Reuther's intimation that the union would temper its demands if auto makers would slash prices of 1958 cars by $100 per model has a siren sound to the likes of John Q. and me, who are punch drunk from battling inflation.

Since all the government seems willing or able to do about soaring prices is tamper with the rediculous rate, John Q. and I have about given up our belief in the law of gravity, i.e., that everything that goes up comes down. Inflation appears to have repealed Newton's law.

The last and most unlikely out, short of a miracle, seemed an agreement between management and labor to call a halt to the never-ending spiral of wage increases and higher prices. And let's don't quarrel now about whether the chicken or the egg came first. It's the effect John Q. and I want to undo.

For years there's been more talk about inflation than the weather, and less done about it. And now Reuther comes forward with a suggestion that will surely seem sensible to a vast number of Americans.

Whether the labor leader is sincere or grandstanding, whether there is a catch in his suggestion or a hidden ball trick to catch management, the experts will have to decide. But it is one woman's hunch that the experts had better take a long, earnest look and come up with sound, rather than off-the-cuff, opinions. For the suggestion that labor and management get together to do something about inflation is going to sound powerfully attractive to the public.

And the public isn't going to care who gets the credit for the first suggestion, management or labor. Old John Q. and his tribe will dearly love both if the two of 'em can come up with a plan that is fair to the public and themselves. Inflation is the licensed thief that has robbed everyone of us for years and threatens to have an extended franchise to continue into the unforeseeable future.

There are kudos aplenty for both management and labor if they collaborate in a sensible program to put the lid on rising prices and wages. The public, helpless in the cross currents, will bestow adequate bouquets on both rescuers.

It has become trite to say that the worst sufferers from inflation are the old, the ill, the pensioners, those on fixed incomes and the white-collar worker. But it's nonetheless true and it hurts more and more all the time.

Our greatest internal enemy is inflation. If the auto manufacturers and their employees can get together and set an example for the rest of industry, they will be doing their nation-to say nothing of themselves—the greatest favor within their power.

Let's not fight about who gets the credit. Just rush up the oxygen tank and I, for one, shall kiss both parties.

Nixon Top Choice Of GOP Voters

PRINCETON, N. J.—With President Eisenhower constitutionally barred from running for a third term, what man do the nation's Republican voters most want to see nominated for President by their party in 1960?

As of today, the odds-on favorite of GOP voters is Vice-President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon also runs far ahead of any other Republican in popularity among the nation's independent voters.

The next most popular choice today among Republican voters is Sen. William F. Knowland of California, followed by former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and now serving in the Eisenhower administration as a disarmament advisor, and Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

In its first test of Republican candidate popularity since last year's election, the American Institute of Public Opinion conducted a "presidential primary" by submitting a list of names of men who have been mentioned as possibilities to a cross-section of the GOP rank-and-file.

The list included: Sen. Clifford E. Case of New Jersey, former Gov. Christian E. Herter of Massachusetts and now Under Secretary of State; Gov. Goodwin Knight of California; Sen. William F. Knowland of California; UN Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge; Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Sen. Leverett M. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Skilled Workers Set For Battle With Auto Union

FLINT, Mich., Aug. 26 (AP)—A comparatively small, group of skilled tradesmen, banded together in a "Little AFL," is ready to do battle with the powerful United Auto Workers.

They call themselves the Society of Skilled Trades.

With many unions gravitating toward the huge AFL-CIO, the society, parent of nine small craft unions, intends to remain independent, at least for the present.

The international president is a 37-year-old tool and die man, Joseph Dunnebeck of Flint.

At the society's one-room headquarters in Flint, Dunnebeck talks confidently of what the society intends to do next spring when new contracts are negotiated in the auto industry.

Craftsmen, Dunnebeck says, are dissatisfied with the small spread between the wages of a skilled worker and an unskilled worker. It takes 3 to 10 years to become a journey man in the various crafts. Skilled workers say a spread of 30 to 35 per cent is not sufficient to reward craftsmen or provide them incentive.

An unskilled production worker makes an average $2 an hour in the auto industry. The all-worker average is about $2.36.

Skilled workers point to higher wages paid in job shops to craftsmen for the same kind of work done in auto plants at less money. A tool and die man, for instance, makes about $3.25 in job shops, compared with only $2.85 in an auto plant, the skilled trades say.

Dunnebeck is counting on taking at least 100,000 skilled workers away from the UAW and forming them into separate craft unions.

VOTE OF INDEPENDENTS

Nixon	35
Stassen	10

One important factor that must be taken into account is the extent to which the potential candidates are known to the public today. Other things being equal, a widely known man has considerable advantage over a less well known man in a bid for the public's preference.

The following question was asked of GOP voters in today's survey to determine how widely known each candidate possibility is at this stage of the race:

"Which of these men have you heard or read about?"

(An earlier Institute survey found that among Republican voters who knew both Nixon and Knowland, 63 per cent would favor the Vice President if the convention choice narrowed down to the two men, while 28 per cent would favor Senator Knowland and 9 per cent were undecided.)

One interesting aspect of the survey is the fact that, despite the constitutional two-term limit, many Republicans said they would like to see Mr. Eisenhower nominated again in 1960.

Republicans were asked:

"Is there any other person NOT on the list whom you would like to see as the Republican candidate in 1960?"

Besides President Eisenhower, former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Chief Justice Earl Warren received frequent mentions.

Others included Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Gov. Harold W. Handley of Indiana, and Erle

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

There's an old and respected adage which states that, if you want the world to beat a path to your door, you've got to build a better mousetrap.

The advice holds true in sports, as well as in any other endeavor. The many golf courses here, for related reasons, will never be the course it should be nor attract the business it should get until the city government decides to relent and spend some money on improvements to the layout.

Right now, the many courses—even though it is Big Spring's only 18-hole course—is regarded as a rockpile.

Linksters who approach the course often shy away from playing the front nine because the fairways themselves boast hazards which aren't often found in the rough on other courses.

Fact is, there are golfers who have moved here from other areas who won't even play the course because of the condition of the fairways.

The situation won't improve much until the course is given an irrigation system that can reach each of the 18 fairways. It is estimated by responsible people that the watering system would cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. For another $10,000, perhaps, all the dirt needed to fill in the rough places could be hauled in.

The water, the grass and the dirt would, in time, bury all the rocks.

Why should the people as a whole pay in such a project, you ask, when only a portion of them play golf? That's a good question.

Look at it in this light. The $50,000 needed would be an investment rather than an out-and-out expenditure, in which the city could expect to get its money back in added fees inside of four or five years.

If you need proof of such a claim, look to Abilene. The many courses over there was in much the same condition as the local layout is now when the city council decided to add an irrigation system. Once the irrigation system was installed, business began to improve, and it has reached the point over there where golfers have to be turned away on occasions.

The Abilene course has become so popular, it's taking trade away from the Abilene Country Club.

Most other municipally-owned courses in West Texas are considered in much better shape than the city course here simply because city officials decided that it was worth the money to invest money in their upkeep.

It's quite probable Webb Air Force Base never would have undertaken the job of building its own course if Big Spring had been able to offer its personnel the use of a first rate course, although that is pure conjecture on my part.

Champ Tunes Game For Upcoming Meet

Luke Thompson of Big Spring will try and defend his laurels in the Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, which starts Friday and continues through Labor Day at the Country Club.

Thompson has been practicing religiously several weeks for the big meet, which is due to attract in excess of 100 players from all over the state.

He faces stern competition from such linksters as Big Spring's own Bobby Wright and Bobby Bluhm, Bill Craig of Colorado City and Ben Alexander of Lamesa, among others.

Wright and Craig are among ex-champions who will be in the field. Thompson, playing steady golf tournament in last year's meet, reached the pinnacle by trouncing Fort Worth's Binky Mitchell in the 36-hole finals, 1 up.

WINS BY 5 STROKES

Venturi Pockets Milwaukee Cash

MILWAUKEE — For a golfer who maintains money is secondary, boyish looking Ken Venturi of San Francisco is doing all right for himself.

The 26-year-old pro pocketed a $5,000 check yesterday for winning the $35,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament by five strokes with a 13-under-par 267 at the 6,355-yard Tripoli Golf Club.

The victory, his second in a row in tournament play, catapulted him from 30th to 15th place on the PGA's money list with earnings of $14,211 in less than four months.

Venturi turned pro Nov. 28, 1956, but he didn't become eligible for money in PGA sponsored events until May 28. During that six-month probationary period, he won $4,249 in non-PGA sponsored tournaments, plus about $1,000 in pro-am events. In the last nine months his winnings add up to around $20,000.

Not bad for a guy who says, "My main purpose is to see how much I can win tournament wise, not money wise. I figure if I play to win and not for money, the money will take care of itself."

Venturi carded rounds of 68-66-65-68 in the 72-hole event over the par 35-35-70 course. Last week, he won the St. Paul Open with a 22-under-par 266.

He beat 16 of the top 18 PGA money winners here, including Al Balding, Ontario, Canada and Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., who tied for second place with 272s. They collected $3,500 apiece.

In a tie for fourth place, were Howie Johnson, Houston, Tex.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco; and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass. They had 276s for $1,866 each.

- The money winners: Ken Venturi, $6,000; Al Balding, $3,500; Sam Snead, $3,500; White Sulphur Springs, $3,500; Howie Johnson, $1,866; Paul Harney, $1,866; Bob Rosburg, $1,866; Paul Harney, $1,866; Jim Turco, $1,175; Ernest J. Erle Thompson of Hale Center termed his weekend trip to Big Spring a success after winning two trophies in the August drag races held at Webb AFB by the Big Spring Timing Association Sunday afternoon.

Thompson won the Class A Open Gas award, driving a dragster with a 1956 Chevrolet engine and then earned the Top Eliminator trophy in competition with Dan Rightsell of Pampa.

Rightsell, whose dragster was equipped with a 1951 Chrysler engine, twice spun out on the quarter mile strip and thus was eliminated. Rightsell had the top time for the day in his victory, having been clocked in 11.96, short of the track record. The Pampa sprinter had too much power in the Top Eliminator race.

A total of 94 entries, several more than competed here in the July races, took part in the events here yesterday. The paid turnout was in excess of 600, also up from the July figure.

The next round of drag events will be conducted here Sunday, Sept. 29.

Personnel for the teams in the Hall and Bennett trophies has not been announced.

Dick Johnson, the local captain, says those seeking spots on the eight-man local team, must complete their 72 holes of play by Thursday.

Lloyd French of Odessa, the visiting captain, has revealed Lamesa's Alexander, Barney Barnard of Odessa, and Craig will compose part of his lineup.

The Hall-Bennett matches start at 1 p.m. Friday, official qualifying day of the tournament. A number of players in the matches are due to qualify at the same time.

Match play will get under way Saturday morning, with two matches down for that day, two on Sunday and the 36-hole finals on Monday. The championship flight will be composed of 32 players.

Players can qualify anytime this week but only those who play 18 holes Friday for the record will be eligible for the medal.

Shirley Robbins, general manager of the course, revealed 21 players had already paid entry fees. Only four of those have qualified, however.

Lamesa is represented among the early entries by Bob Van Wie, Bob Hawkins, Virgil Addison and Alexander. Alexander has been playing stellar golf all summer.

Those trying for places on the Hall-Bennett team here are Bill Crook, R. H. Weaver, J. R. Farmer, Burl McAllen, Jack Cook, Earl Reynolds, Son Powell, Weldon Bryant, Sunny Edwards, Obie Bristow and Bobby Wright. None had completed more than 54 of their required 72 holes of play Sunday, however.

Dr. Floyd Mays of Big Spring leads early qualifiers with an 83. That may be good enough to put him as high as the second flight.

Walter and Lee Sneed, both of Midland, are listed among early entries. Neither has qualified, however. Ace Jenkins of Anadarko, Okla., has his qualifying fee but hasn't toured the course officially.

Entries are due from as far away as Houston and Longview. The course benefited a lot from the recent rains and is in fine shape.

Wharton Wins At Lubbock

LUBBOCK — The amateurs, particularly Frank Wharton of Dallas, had the glory and the professionals consoled themselves with the money today as the aftermath of the Texas PGA golf tournament.

Wharton, the University of Houston star, becomes the second amateur in three years to win the tournament yesterday. He sank a 130-yard approach shot on the eighteenth green for an eagle that gave him a 1-stroke edge over professional Earl Stewart Jr. of Dallas.

Wharton wound up with a par 72 on the final round for a 72-hole total of 280—eight under par. Stewart also shot a 72 and finished with 281, being the low pro and winning the $1,000 first prize. Wharton got the Dr. Alden Coffey trophy.

There were six amateurs among the top 16. John Cain of Sweetwater, Bill Roden of Odessa and Marcelino Moreno of Midland shot 290 to tie for twelfth.

Byron Nelson of Roanoke and Ed Carpenter of San Antonio had 283 to tie for second among the professionals, each winning $500.

Moe Iba Decides To Attend OSU

FORT WORTH — Basketball star Moe Iba has changed his mind about attending Texas Christian University and said he plans to enroll at Oklahoma State University.

His father, Hank Iba, is the famous basketball coach of the Oklahoma school.

Young Iba starred on the Stillwater, Okla., high school team. He had signed a letter of intent to go to TCU, but Frog Coach Buster Brannon said he told him family ties were too strong for him to play for anyone other than his father.

Panthers Decision Hawks, 6-2, In Skirmish Here

In a battle involving two Big Spring baseball teams, the Panthers slammed the Hawks, 6-2, in Steer Park here Sunday afternoon.

The Panthers got off to a fast start, banking two runs in the first round and one in the second. They withstood a sixth inning out-break on the part of the Hawks and won going away.

Gus Fierro hurled the win, giving up only six hits. He also contributed to the win by cracking three singles.

Pat Martinez wielded the big stick for the Panthers, who now have an 8-4 record, by driving in three runs with a double and sin-

Rookie Bob Hazle Stars In Milwaukee's Surge

PHILADELPHIA — A discouraged minor league outfielder who decided to give baseball one more fling today is one of the big reasons why the Milwaukee Braves are leading the National League by 7½ games.

The youngster, who only a few months ago was contemplating quitting baseball because of a troublesome arm and an aggravated batting average, is hitting a blazing .526. He started hitting practically the day he joined the Braves about a month ago and hasn't stopped. In 57 times at bat since his promotion from Wichita, where he failed to hit .300, he has accumulated 30 hits, including five home runs.

He smashed homers 5 and 6 yesterday and drove in six runs as the Braves defeated Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 for their 14th victory in the last 18 games.

During that stretch Hazle has driven in 21 runs. He also singled and walked yesterday for a perfect day at the plate.

"The kid can really rip the ball," said Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder who has been assigned to tutor Hazle. "Next to Henry Aaron he's got the strongest wrists I've ever seen. And he doesn't swing at too many bad balls either. That's rare for a youngster."

The apple-cheeked 25-year-old Carolina youngster now making his home in Columbia has become a favorite among his teammates. Nicknamed "Hurricane" for rather obvious reasons, Hazle has provided the Braves with the left-handed punch it lost when Bill Bruton was forced out of the lineup with a damaged knee.

The Braves cranked yesterday for a perfect day at the plate. "The kid can really rip the ball," said Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder who has been assigned to tutor Hazle. "Next to Henry Aaron he's got the strongest wrists I've ever seen. And he doesn't swing at too many bad balls either. That's rare for a youngster."

It was Keegan who helped get the sweep over the Orioles, throwing a three-hitter in the opener as a follow-up to Tuesday's no-hit job on Washington. The 35-year-old right-hander, now 9-6, walked none and retired the first 10 before Bob Boyd's triple and an infield out scored one in the fourth. Al Pillard homered in the fifth, but the Braves didn't get another hit until Billy Gardner singled in the seventh.

The Sox, scoring two first-inning runs without a hit and pocketing a pair of unearned runs in the second inning of the opener, were blanked on two hits by Bill Wright until the nightcap sixth. Then Sherm Lollar's two-run single and a wild pitch nailed it. Billy Fischer won his fifth.

Al Kaline had half Detroit's eight hits, including his 15th and 16th homers, both two-run shots. Bob Turley lost it while Billy Hoelt, who won 20 last season, gained a 6-8 record with an eight-hitter.

Yankee Mickey Mantle was 2-for-3, pushing within two points of Boston's Ted Williams, who was hitless as his bat average skidded to .378.

Bob Hazle whacked a pair of three-run homers for the Braves and also singled in three trips for a .526 average in 57 at bats. Warren Spahn also homered while winning his sixth in a row for a 18-8 record. Robin Roberts lost his 18th.

Sal Maglie trudged in from the bullpen and saved it for the Dodgers, fanning Ken Boyer on three pitches with the bases loaded and two runs home in the ninth. Don Drysdale won his 13th. Gil Hodges drove in three runs with his 21st homer and a double off loser Sam Jones.

Don Mueller had four hits, two of them home runs, for the Giants. Ruben Gomez won his 14th with a six-hitter, losing a shutout in the ninth when Ed Bailey cracked a home run.

Ex-Pirate Dale Long had three of the Cubs' hits off Law, who won his 10th, and lined three more in the nightcap. Moe Drabowsky fanned nine while losing the opener.

Vic Power, Hector Lopez and Woody Held homered for Kansas City against Tom Brewer. Tom Gorman won with a six-hitter.

The Indians came from two runs back in both games, winning the opener on homers by Gene Woodling, Al Smith and Jim Hegan as Mike Garcia five-hit the Nats and struck out seven. Ray Nariski saved the nightcap for Cal McLish, retiring the side with the bases loaded in the ninth.

21st C-City Rodeo To Open Thursday

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's 21st Annual Frontier Round-Up and Rodeo gets under way Thursday at 6 p.m. with a downtown parade.

The first of three night performances will begin at 8 p.m. at the Rodeo Grounds. Prize money for the parade has been set at $150, with first prize float taking $75, second $50 and third $25.

Bob Estes of Baird is the rodeo producer. Sponsors of the show are the Colorado City Jaycees. Cowhands will compete for $1,125 in prize money with an additional $900 expected to come via entry fees. The rodeo, approved by the Rodeo Cowboys Association of America, will count toward the world's championship ratings.

The Colorado City Rodeo Association, taking a back seat this year, is furnishing funds to repair the rodeo ground stands. The Jaycees will be in charge of concessions, in addition to their overall sponsorship.

Events to be staged include saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding, calf roping, bull-dogging, bull-riding and Mitchell County calf roping. In the county roping, local cowhands will compete for a handsome saddle, donated by the Rodeo Association.

Grand Jury Is Impaneled, Starts Work

A freshman grand jury — only one of the 13 persons comprising the body having ever served on a grand jury before — was impaneled and began its work Monday morning.

Judge Charlie Sullivan, 118th District Court, named Lee Hanson as foreman. He told the grand jury that Guilford Jones, district attorney, had some 18 or 17 cases to present and that the work should be completed in two days at the most.

He polled the 13 persons in the box and it was revealed that only one member, Fred Beckham, had ever served on a grand jury prior to this assignment.

Members of the jury in addition to Hanson and Beckham are Ross Abernathy, A. W. Moody, Keith G. Henderson, William W. Braune, Mrs. A. H. Shroyer, R. P. Nicholson, Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, Eugene Thomas, Rufus Davidson, and Kenneth Huff.

The grand jurors adjourned to their conference room and immediately began their work. The corridor on the third floor of the court house was lined with witnesses waiting to be called.

Jones said this is the smallest number of cases he has had to present to any grand jury since he has held the office of district attorney.

One murder case is listed in the matters to be investigated.

Ike To Get Vaccine For Asiatic Flu

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will receive a shot of Asiatic flu vaccine today. The White House said he has come in contact with at least two persons believed to have been stricken by the disease.

Inoculation was advised by Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U.S. surgeon general who said persons with a history of heart or lung ailments are more likely than others to suffer side effects from the disease. Eisenhower had a heart attack in September, 1955.

The supposed sufferer from Asiatic flu who has been in contact with the President is Dr. Gabriel Hauge, an economic adviser, and Thomas Craven Jr., a newspaper photographer. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Hauge saw the President Saturday, immediately after returning from a trip to Buenos Aires. On Thursday Hauge was stricken with illness.

Craven, who became ill last Wednesday, had been in a group of photographers making pictures of the President in his office early last week.

Both cases have been tentatively diagnosed as Asiatic flu although a final decision must await laboratory tests. Neither Hauge nor Craven is seriously ill.

In addition, Jack Cliff, an Army sergeant who drives White House cars, has been stricken with apparent Asiatic flu. He is not, however, believed to have been in contact with the President.

Hagerty said the decision to inoculate Eisenhower was made by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, in consultation with the surgeon general.

The doctors reported, Hagerty said, that there is enough vaccine in the Washington area to inoculate all those with heart or lung histories of the kind mentioned in a statement Saturday by the surgeon general.

Eisenhower told a news conference last Wednesday he would be inoculated as soon as the vaccine was generally available.

Hagerty said he assumed that White House staff members likely to come into close contact with the President would be vaccinated as further protection on for the Chief Executive. However, none of the presidential aides has received a shot as yet, Hagerty said.

'Electricians' Try To Work Wiring Inspection Ruse

Two men impersonating Texas Electric Service Company employees were working Big Spring this morning in an attempt to pick up a few loose dollars. The electric company called the police department and said it had received reports that two men were stopping at residences here and asking to check the electric connections. For the inspections, the men asked for direct payment. The ruse is the same as was used by two men earlier this year who were posing as plumbing inspectors. The "plumbing inspectors" examined plumbing fixtures and demanded cash payment for their services.

The police department asked any citizens who have contact with the "TESCO" employes to contact either the police department or Texas Electric immediately.

Residents' Cousin Lost In Mountains

Mrs. J. F. Eaves, 77, lost for two days and nights in the rugged mountain country near Ruidoso, N. M., last week, is a cousin of Mrs. L. M. Horn, 504 E. 4th, Big Spring. Mrs. Eaves was hospitalized for one night after she was located last Thursday, and quickly regained her strength. She was looking for arroyos for a museum she operates at Lovington, N. M., when she became lost. She owns ranches near Lovington and Ruidoso, and was on the Ruidoso place at the time.

Lamesa Legion To Install New Officer Slate Tonight

LAMESA — Roy L. Andrews of Big Spring, commander of the 19th District of the American Legion, will install officers for the Allen-Houston Post here at 8 p.m. Monday. The meeting will be held in the American Legion Hall, according to R. L. Price, adjutant and service officer of the post. Officers to be installed are Leonard L. Bruner, commander; Rex L. Petty, vice commander; R. L. Price, adjutant and service officer; V. Z. Rogers, chaplain; Wade A. Alverson, historian; Joe N. Spikes, child welfare officer; Garvin Randolph, sergeant at arms. Four high school students will give reports. These students were sponsored by the Legion and Auxiliary to Boys' State and Girls' State in Austin early this summer. Jim Martin and Bob Clement were delegates from the local Legion post to Boys' State, and Klata Woodard and Nancy Ray were sponsored by the Auxiliary in co-sponsorship with the Business and Professional Women and the Rotary Club, at Girls' State. The auxiliary will have charge of a fellowship hour at the close of the program and refreshments will be served.

Cosden Plugs Wildcat After Unsuccessful Drillstem Tests

The Cosden Petroleum No. 1 W. A. Langley location eight miles north of Big Spring has been plugged and abandoned.

Operators reported today that the wildcat venture has been plugged in the Reef after unsuccessful tests. Drillstem tests in the section failed to yield anything promising.

Cosden No. 1 Langley has been plugged and abandoned. Total depth is 9,115 feet in the Canyon Reef. The wildcat is eight miles north of Big Spring, 660 feet from south and west lines, 43-32-2n, T&P Survey. Drillstem tests failed to produce any shows of oil in the section.

Nortex No. 1 Shafer, 20 miles northeast of Big Spring, deepened to 5,997 feet in lime and shale. It is C SE SE, 30-25, H&TC Survey.

In the East Vealmore field, Larro No. 1-C Cranon drilled through shale and sand at 7,806 feet. Location is 2,009 from north and 1-31 from east lines, 15-27, H&TC Survey, and seven miles west of Vincent.

Husky No. 1 J. E. Mabey prepared to deepen after taking a drillstem in an unidentified zone. The test was from 4,400-86 feet with the tool open one hour. Recovery was 45 feet of slightly gas-cut mud. The wildcat is 10 miles southwest of Patricia, 660 from south and west lines, Tract 92, League 258, Briscoe CSL Survey.

Eight miles northwest of Leno, Texas No. 1 Lou Ida Hatchett penetrated to 9,496 feet after taking a drillstem test from 9,187-308 feet. Operator opened tool two hours. Recovery was 40 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud with a stain of oil and 80 feet of free gas. The wildcat is 1,626 from north and 2,310 from west lines, 23-36-3n, T&P Survey.

Waters No. 1 Williams drilled through sand and lime at 4,204 feet today. The venture is 21 miles northwest of Colorado, 660 from south and 1,980 from west lines, 64-20, Lavaca Navigation Survey.

Hunt No. 1 Copeland has been plugged and abandoned at a depth of 8,231 feet. It found the Ellenburger barren. Location is five miles northeast of Sterling City, 660 from north and west lines, 253-2, H&TC Survey.

Cecil C. Bell Dies Sunday, Rites Slated

Cecil C. Bell, 58, long-time resident of Howard County, died at 10:15 p.m. Sunday at his home in the Lees community.

Mr. Bell was born Jan. 5, 1899, in Grayson County, Texas, and had lived in Howard County the past 30 years. He moved from Big Spring to the Lees community in 1937.

Survivors include his wife, Lilly; two sons, Carl E. Bell, Colorado City; and Charles W. Bell, San Antonio; two brothers, Floyd and John Bell, both of Sherman; two sisters, Mrs. Della Braswell, Sherman; and Mrs. Minnie Coleman, Lawton, Okla.; and three grandchildren.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church here under the direction of Nalley-Pickles Funeral Home.

Officiating will be Rev. R. L. Bowman of Halfway, Texas, who formerly was Mr. Bell's pastor at Foran. He will be assisted by Rev. James Fitch, now of Foran. Burial will take place in Trinity Memorial Park.

Palbearers will be Gene Huestis, R. Z. Cozart, Willie Hoard, A. W. White, A. M. Whitzell and Ray Baker.

Daughter Of Local Woman Succumbs

Funeral services are to be held in the North Side Church of Christ in Odessa at 3 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. Blain Hughes of that city, who died in an Odessa hospital at 10 a.m. Sunday, about 10 hours after she had been admitted.

Mrs. Hughes was the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell of Big Spring.

Other survivors included a daughter, Mrs. Eldon Burns, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Pete Banks and Mrs. Jim Millican, both of Big Spring; two brothers, Leon Hardwick, Amherst; and Ed Hardwick, Houston; and four grandchildren.

Prisoner Kicked, Hit By Cellmate

A man jailed Saturday night was released from Cowper Hospital this morning. He had been injured while in the jail.

Davie Roberts was jailed on a drunkenness charge and placed in the "drunk tank" overnight, police said. Later he was hit and kicked by another cellmate and had to be taken to Cowper for treatment. He was released this morning.

Traffic Fines Are Heaviest

Traffic violations brought in more fines today in corporation center than did the trucks.

A total of $395 in fines was assessed, and $165 of this was for drunks. Except one $35 fine for simple assault, the remainder was for traffic sins.

Eight drunkenness charges were entered, and each of them were fined $15 except one who was fined $60.

Five were fined $5 each for failure to stop at a stop sign, and $15 and $5 fines were assessed for running red lights. Four drew fines for driving without a license. One of the fines was $40, two were for $15 each, and one was $10.

Fines of $15 and $10 were given for speeding, and $15 and $5 fines were assessed for failure to grant right-of-way.

One driving on the wrong side of the street charge brought a fine of $15, while two drew $5 fines each for defective tail lights.

Knott Schools To Open On Friday

KNOTT (SC)—Schools open here Friday with a teachers' meeting at 9 a.m. and the all-school assembly at 2 p.m., Supt. W. T. Bolin announced today.

Buses will leave the school at 12 m., to collect students. They will follow the same routes as last year and are due to return to school by 1:45 p.m., Bolin said.

Classes will start on regular schedule next Monday morning.

Bread Prices To Go Up Tuesday

The staff of life will be a little more costly Tuesday. Bakers are raising the prices of all sizes of bread, effective Tuesday. The hike will be a penny a loaf.

Under the new wholesale schedule, most retail outlets will offer thin-slice loaves at 30 cents, regular large-size 29 and small loaf, 27 cents.

This will be the second increase in bread prices in about two months.

Woman Asks Police To Look For Hubby

Police have been asked to look for a Big Spring man who disappeared Friday.

Mrs. E. F. Thomas, 2005 Runyon, asked the police department to look for her husband. She said he has not been seen since 9:15 p.m. Friday. She reported his disappearance Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas described him as about five feet eight inches and weighing from 160 to 170 pounds. He is 35. She also said he had between $100 and $200 with him when he was last seen.

Speakers Named For C-C Leaders Short Course Here

Melvin W. Sisk, executive vice president of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, will be one of the featured speakers at the sixth annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Short Course here Sept. 13-14, Wayne B. Smith, chairman of the WYCC community services committee, announced today.

Smith, also manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, said that Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring, will be the keynote speaker for the two-day meeting.

The short course, which last year drew approximately 125 chamber managers, staff personnel and local chamber presidents, is designed to provide a better working knowledge of chamber operations, Smith stated.

"Professional Improvement" is the theme for this year's meeting. Sisk is a graduate of Texas Tech and has had more than 20 years experience in chamber management. His first position in professional chamber work was as manager of the Levelland Chamber.

He also served as manager of the Graham, Sherman and Tyler Chambers and was once a member of the Wichita Falls staff.

Sisk became manager of the San Antonio Chamber in 1956. He is a former president of Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers association and is a graduate of Southwestern Institute, a school for chamber managers.

Eldon Moody, program chairman, will be in charge of a film and discussion on family life and recreation will be led by Mrs. Hal Fees.

Dr. Brady Attending Chiropractors Meet

DAVENPORT, Iowa—Dr. K. L. Brady of Big Spring arrived here Sunday as a delegate to the 31st annual convention of the International Chiropractors Association.

During the two-day meeting, Dr. Brady will participate in business and educational sessions, as well as social activities, including the association's annual banquet at the close of the first day's session.

The Big Spring chiropractor also will help conduct nationally known speakers at Dr. John H. Furby of New York City, director of global education for Transworld Airlines; and Dr. B. J. Palmer of Davenport, ICA, president and head of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, the largest such school in the world.

Two Accidents Occur In Big Spring Sunday

Only two accidents occurred Sunday. Police reported that damage from a collision at 409 NW 9th was less than $25. Drivers involved were Robert Branham, 505 W. 8th, and Fayal Gonzalez, 408 N. Gregg. At Second and Main, Kola Grant, Rt. 1, and John Ratliff, Sterling City, were involved in an accident.

Auto Mats Stolen

Thieves stole two floor mats and a swim suit from a car here Sunday. Reid Sweet, 1803 1/2 Settles, said his 1954 Chevrolet was parked atop Scenic Mountain Sunday at the time of the theft.

Three Fires Listed, But Damages Light

Two cars caught fire over the weekend, but damage was light. A 1957 Chevrolet owned by Brown and Scarber Drilling Company developed a fire from wiring Saturday but only small damage was reported. No damage came from a fire in a 1947 Mercury owned by Preston Mason. The car was at 1101 Gregg Sunday when the fire occurred. No damage was caused by a small fire at Heffington Wrecking Yard, 1503 W. 3rd, Sunday.

Business Guidance Materials Available

The Chamber of Commerce has received a complete file on materials the U. S. Department of Commerce offers for guidance in the operation of various types of businesses.

George L. Malherbe of Dallas, business analyst for the Department of Commerce, left the material at the Chamber on a visit here Friday. The bulletins provide information concerning management of virtually every type of business.

B&PW Club Celebrates Women's Suffrage Grant

Members of the Big Spring Business and Professional Women's Club are celebrating Monday the 37th anniversary of the adoption of the woman's suffrage amendment to the constitution.

Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, president of the club, said that the chief observation activity consisted of the club members taking over the operation of Radio KBST for the day. Members of the club are substituting for regular staff members of the station and special programs devoted to the work of the B&PW are being broadcast.

Mrs. Sawtelle listed among other accomplishments of her club the operation for many years of the Howard County Historical Museum at Big Spring City Park; contribution to the city of the land on which is located the park and playground for the Negro people of the town; support of all city betterment for the Negro people of the July 4 beauty pageant for the past eight years; the maintenance of a

Radio Pioneer Still Going On 84th Birthday

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—This is the 84th birthday of Dr. Lee de Forest, the inventor who made radio broadcasting possible. His comment: "Now I'm shooting for 94."

The mere matter of years doesn't impress the man who paved the way for the electronic age by developing the three-element vacuum tube 51 years ago. Still physically active and young in spirit, he spends far more time inventing than he does worrying about his age.

His only concessions to the advancing years are an elevator in his home and—due mainly to a recent, short-lived spell of heart trouble—an early bedtime. He still works four afternoons a week in the research lab he maintains in downtown Hollywood. And he also has a workshop and study at home.

The holder of some 300 patents, he filed for a new one about a month ago and is preparing to apply for another. Both deal with television. The one already in is for a projection tube. Famous "firsts" credited to De Forest include the first wireless transmission over land (1904); the first broadcast (1907); the first use of radio knife in surgery (1907); the first feed-back, or oscillator circuit (1912); the first electromagnetic phonograph pickup (1916) and the first theatrical presentation of sound-on-film motion pictures (1916).

A reporter visiting De Forest's hillside home found the scientist, soldering iron in hand, putting a new turntable in his record player. His records—heavy on the classical side — are played through what probably is one of the first hi-fi sets. Built by De Forest more than 20 years ago, the sound system consists of two inverted speakers mounted in twin cabinets resembling grandfather clocks which stand in opposite corners of his spacious living room.

His chief research project at the moment is an experiment to produce electricity from the light of a gas flame. He has constructed a thermopile of selenium cells and a Wellsbach burner and says of it: "The whole assembly offers some promise of being economical in operation."

Farmer Reaches $84,000 In Quiz

NORTH HEBRON, N. Y. (AP)—Harold Craig set out to win $500. The 26-year-old dairy farmer has reached $84,000 in winnings on the NBC television quiz show Twenty-One and will be shooting for more tonight.

The money is earmarked for improvements on the 400-acre Craig farm in this tiny hamlet in upstate New York. Craig and Charles Van Doren are the best known of the Twenty-One contestants.

Van Doren is the intellectual offspring of an intellectual family. He holds college and university degrees and is a college professor whose life remains steeped in education. Craig is the son and grandson of farmers. He went to high school, spent a few months in a teachers college and returned to the farm. He works a 13-hour day that begins at 6 a.m., when he rounds up 43 cows and herds them into the barn for milking. It ends when he cleans the barn after a second milking at night.

In between, he feeds and cares for calves and—depending upon the time of year—cuts and stores hay, plants and harvests corn and oats, mends fences, clears land, and does other duties he calls chores. Each Monday morning for the past 10 weeks, Craig's life has undergone a sharp transition. When the early chores are done, he changes to a business suit, packs a bag, drives to the nearby city of Glens Falls and boards a plane for New York City. There, he emerges as the current star of a major TV production.

China Reds Reject American Newsmen

HONG KONG (AP)—Plans to send American newsmen into Communist China appeared stalemated today by a Peiping demand for reciprocal U.S. admission of Red Chinese reporters. The State Department simply rejected the Communist demand, by the radio. Radio Peiping announced last night that the State Department's decision to allow 24 U.S. reporters to work in Red China for six months "is completely unacceptable to the Chinese people."

The Chinese government "expects Chinese correspondents to be given reciprocal treatment to go to America to report," the broadcast commentary from the official Peiping People's Daily said. Secretary of State Dulles' announcement in Washington Thursday permitting American newsmen in Communist China for the first time in eight years said the United States "will not accord reciprocal visas to Chinese bearing passports issued by the Chinese Communist regime."

of the government, and 12 American Korean War turncoats also are still on the mainland. "Fundamentally, the U.S. government is not considering the principle of equality and reciprocity at all, but wants to collect intelligence in China through its correspondents, carry out subversive activities and embitter feelings between the Chinese and American peoples," the broadcast said. "Keeping to its consistent policy, the Chinese government will continue to work for contacts and mutual understanding between the Chinese and American peoples."

The earnest young woman said anxiously — almost desperately: "I've lost all touch with the outside world. I feel like I've been cut off."

A man, whose alcoholism had all but wrecked his life, asked the question which had heaped frustration upon futility: "Am I going to spend the rest of my life here?"

Both were patients in the Big Spring State Hospital, both were well on the road to recovery, and both faced what has been a blind alley for so many.

SOME RETURN HOME
Undoubtedly, hospital authorities say, this is one of the chief reasons why the Big Spring State Hospital had only six more patients actually in the hospital at the end of the year than the year before, while 106 more than the previous year had made good enough progress to return home on furloughs.

In this wholesome atmosphere of people of the host city and area wanting to help, the matter of whether to form a volunteer advisory council will be discussed Monday at 10 a.m. at the hospital administration building. Every organization is urged to have at least one representative present, and everyone is invited.
