Captured After Chase

Little Rock city police stand guard over Clarence R. Sander, 29, an airman at Little Rock Air Force Base (in white coat), and Ernest Patrick, 22, of Little Rock after they were captured following a chase by police in the Arkansas city. The two men and three women companions fled from police after a fight with some white youths.

Troopers Draw First Blood At Little Rock Bayonet, Club Wounds Result As Iron Control Clamps Down

Taken Into Custody

Assistant Chief of Police Gene Smith, in suit and coat, escorts one of the five white men taken into custody at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., to a waiting police car. The others follow in the rear. The roundup of apparent leaders in Monday's mob that beat Negro and white newsmen started when the crowd began to gather again at the school Tuesday.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Hard-eyed paratroopers in battle dress and with bayonets at the ready, brought nine Negro students quietly into Central High School today in a new climax to the hate-filled struggle over integration in Little Rock. One man was clubbed and another stabbed in the arm by the soldiers in fights that followed. A few white students left the school after the Negroes entered, but there was no sign of a mass exodus. A school official said 1,250 students were in class today, making 750 absentees. It was 50 more than yesterday when it was known the Negroes would not appear. At 11:20, about two hours after the Negro students entered, the school grounds suddenly filled with students and teachers. Reporters said they were told it was a fire drill, but there was another report that police were investigating a report of a bomb scare. Two Negro girls, Thelma Mothershead and Minnie Brown, came out with the white students. Minnie Brown walked beside a blonde white student. They were talking together and laughing. MAKING FRIENDS A reporter called from across the street: "Are you making any friends, Minnie?" "Quite a few," the girl called back, flashing a smile. Thelma Mothershead was with one of the teachers, talking. The white students were laughing and joking with the paratroopers as they waited on the lawn. In an arc 4th grade in an arc two blocks wide around the high school, the paratroopers kept breaking up clusters of people, moving them back, herding them onto porches, and keeping the area clear. They moved with swift, purposeful action. It was in these operations that the two men were injured. C. E. Blake, 46, a railroad employe, tried to grab a paratrooper's rifle, soldiers said. The trooper, quickly reversing it, struck Blake over the eye with the butt. He fell to the street but did not appear to be seriously injured. Paul Downs of Springfield, Ark., a bayonet cut in the arm apparently when he was too slow in obeying an order. Jess Matthews, principal of the high school, reported "everything is calm inside the school and education is proceeding normally."

Outside, the scene was identical with those that developed in the last two wars of the United States. The high school was the command post. A line of paratroopers, spaced about three yards apart, stood in the street fronting the school. Behind them, jeeps equipped with walkie-talkies were stationed at strategic points all around the school. Four soldiers stood just outside each of the first-floor doors, and others guarded the long, slanting steps leading up from two sides to the main entrance. They were all in olive-green battle dress, carrying rifles with short combat bayonets. The commanders were there, on the school grounds. A "front" began to develop before 8 a.m. The first move came when Maj. James Meyers of San Antonio, Tex. ordered a squad of soldiers to disperse about a dozen boys and men who gathered around the gas pumps in a service station just across the street from the high school. "Move on out," Meyers told the group. Sullenly, but with no word, the men began walking down the sidewalk. They gulped soft drinks first and then dropped the bottles. UNEARTHLY SILENCE For a while, an unearthly silence settled over the school. Only the squawking of the walkie-talkies, as messages came in from other points, broke the morning calm. Then a bigger crowd began to congregate at a corner, a full block from the school. People gathered on a lawn, flowed over into the sidewalk, and were standing six and eight deep down the street. A youth in a pink shirt, glaring defiance at the soldiers, jeered, "Why don't you tin soldiers go home." Meyers picked up the speaker on the public address system of a mobile transmitter unit. "You are again instructed to go to your homes peacefully," he said. "Disperse and return to your homes." The people did not move. They were not menacing. They said nothing. But they did not move. Meyers quietly picked up the walkie-talkie, connecting him with the command post. He called for two platoons. Almost instantly, the helmeted soldiers came dog-trotting down the street, rifles held across their chests. FLANK MOVEMENT Meyers broke the platoon into two groups, and ordered them to approach the crowd from the flanks. Breaking into a run, the soldiers separated. One group headed for the crowd on the sidewalk, the other moved in on the people on the lawn. They did not appear to touch the people with the bayonets, but they forced those on the sidewalk far down the street. Those on the lawn were herded into the porch. Lt. William F. Neff of Cincinnati was saying: "You can go to school or you can leave. You can move out or I'll have you moved out. "Take your choice—now." The people were curiously silent. There was some muttering, but no shouting or real noise. They kept falling back. The same scene, on a smaller scale, was repeated several times between 8 and 9 o'clock. Then, suddenly, at the south end of the school, the barricaded party rolled through, with jeeps ahead and behind. Shouts broke out. "There they come." The Negro students were in the station wagon with an Army officer. QUIET ENTRANCE The car came to a stop opposite the front entrance of the school, inside the line of paratroopers. The students got out quietly. Again, without hurrying, they walked across the spacious grounds toward the steps. The six girls were all wearing summer dresses, gaily colored. The three boys were in open throat shirts. Windows on the second floor of the school suddenly filled with the heads of white students, watching. Then the Negroes mounted the steps and went inside. It was all over in an instant. The only excitement now, by contrast to the wild riot that broke out Monday when the Negroes went through a side door, came from the scurrying of scores of reporters and cameramen, trying to get near the scene. Paratroopers kept yelling. "Back! Back on the sidewalk!" And they enforced it, as they had done with the bystanders earlier.

The two incidents in which Blake and Downs were injured took place later. The soldiers had everything under such iron control that there appeared to be no room for a major incident. Later, the officers warned by-standers over the public address system, "We're going to begin making arrests if more than two people are standing together." NO "LIP" The officers told the soldiers, "Arrest them if they give you any lip." Traffic was diverted a block away from the school. It jammed and appeared to be heavier than usual, but Little Rock police handled it and kept it going. Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, the commander of the troops, addressed the whole student body. He said: "I intend to use all means necessary to prevent any interference with the execution of the school board plan"—for integration. He told the students that neither they nor anyone else had anything to fear from his troops. He noted: "One last word about my soldiers. They are here because they have been ordered to be here. They are seasoned, well-trained soldiers, many of them combat veterans. "Being soldiers, they are as determined as I to carry out their orders." From outside, the school appeared completely quiet. There were no parents this time, nor any adults, trying to get through the line of soldiers. BOYCOTT CAMPAIGN People in Little Rock with children who attend the school said there appeared to be an organized campaign last night to keep as many as possible from going there today. "I had half a dozen calls last night from people telling me not to show up today," a student said. "I told them I did not know what I would do. "They said, 'There's going to be trouble. It won't be safe there today.'" The student, a girl, said she understood some of her friends were going to wait until noon and then, depending on the situation, go to school in the afternoon. It was supremely quiet. But the story is by no means ended. Passing among the people nearby—many of whom had been dispersed by the troops—you heard, over and over again: "Let 'em do what they want now. "But they can't keep those soldiers here indefinitely and the minute they're gone, you'll see—"

5-Inch Rains Raise San Antonio Floods

By The Associated Press Cloudbursts of up to 5 inches hit the San Antonio area Wednesday, sending three creeks out of their banks, closing streets and causing what may be a large scale evacuation of homes. The fire department reported taking 25 to 30 persons from homes or cars and the rescue work was continuing. Another terrific downpour of 6 inches hit Floresville, in South Central Texas, and closed U.S. 181, main highway from San Antonio to Corpus Christi. Traffic was snarled at San Antonio. At least 16 streets were blocked and others ran curb-full. Police also were evacuating families and warning others to leave their homes. Water from flooding Alazan, Martinez and Apache Creeks rose as high as a street sign at one point in the Alamo City. Water was surging within one foot of the edge of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks on the edge of Floresville. Two rural bridges on a tributary to the San Antonio River were washed out.

UF Prepares To Open Drive

United Fund campaign leaders have approved a five-week schedule for the 1957 funds drive which opens next Monday. "We believe we can get the job done in that length of time—if everyone works his assignment promptly," said K. H. (Chub) McGibbon, general chairman. Workers in the Advance Gifts Division will open the 1957 campaign next Tuesday. Other divisions will start their efforts a few days later. Goal of the campaign this year is $89,100. Leaders of the various divisions are completing organization of their teams this week. John Taylor, Special Gifts chairman, told a group of his workers this morning that their goal will be $20,000. United Fund offices have been established on the mezzanine of the Settles Hotel.

Highway patrolman at Floresville, R. L. Hutchins, said there was a "tremendous cloudburst" with rain falling in sheets in that area about 20 miles south of San Antonio. Investigation will continue today into circumstances surrounding the shooting of a resident here Tuesday night. Hospitalized at Big Spring Hospital was M. O. Roberts, who was shot in the left arm. Doctors could not be reached this morning for a report on his condition. Roberts was shot by a gun held by his wife at their 618 Ridgelya residence with a bullet from a .38 caliber pistol, police said. Mrs. Roberts told police that she did not think the gun was loaded nor did she think the gun was pointed at her husband. After the incident, Roberts was rushed to the hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance.

Street Repair Bid Requests Postponed

After a long discussion, the City Commission elected to contact local contractors concerning repaving the downtown area before asking for bids on the work. The city engineer, Clifton Bellamy, told the commission at its regular meeting Tuesday night that the repaving job would probably cost close to $50,000. He figured $43,000 would be needed for the hotmix and laying it and $5,000 would be necessary to remove the present surface and repair the base. Since the streets will be blocked off for a time for removing the old surface, repairing the base, and laying the hot mix, the city planned to do the work only a few blocks at a time. The city plans to pave from 1st to 4th and from Scurry to Runnels. The highway will not be affected however. Walton Morrison, city attorney, said it would be hard to turn the work to Caldwell since the city must ask for bids on anything costing more than $2,000. He said it would be working close to the line to give it to Caldwell on a block-by-block basis since the cost would be close to $2,000 or possibly over that. Caldwell recently installed a hot-mix plant and is capable of handling the job. Commissioners debated tearing up the streets during the coming season. Mayor G. W. Dabney remarked that business men were looking forward to the next three months as their best season, and he said he was personally against blocking off the streets for any time at all during the season. Dr. Lee Rogers concurred. Roy Bruce said the city had waited long enough on the paving. Whitney mentioned that the hot mix could be laid in almost any weather except during wet times, should the commission decide to lay it in the winter months. As a result of the deliberation, the commission agreed to speak to Caldwell about the possibilities of his surfacing it block at a time before asking for bids. Forms Good Habit

Singer Jill Corey found that forming a habit of eating sensibly is the solution to an overweight problem. Jill is a new addition to the NBC-TV's "Your Hit Parade."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Keeps Weight Down With A Sensible Diet

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD — I first met Jill Corey when she was a singer with the Johnny Carson show. This attractive brunette, who is a new addition this year on NBC-TV's "Your Hit Parade," made her professional debut when she was eight years old.

"But long before that," she told me, "I was singing at church and at school."

Jill is of Italian heritage, but for beauty's sake she refrains from eating too much Italian cooking.

"I have to face the fact that I'd be on the plump side if I didn't count calories. And I do. I limit my breakfast to between 50 and 175 calories. Every morning I have black coffee, orange juice and dry, whole grain cereal with skim milk and a bit of sugar.

"I keep my lunch down with ground round, cottage cheese or eggs and skim milk. Dinner is a good meal for me, but I don't have any meat that isn't lean. I keep away from anything fried and rich sauces, and I never have bread and butter or dessert, except fresh fruit or gelatin.

"Actually," Jill said as we chatted, "this is a sensible way to eat, because it is high in nutrition and low in calories. The hardest part is cultivating a taste for simple food, lightly seasoned and forgetting how much I enjoy spicy Italian and Spanish cooking.

"I am five-feet-four," Jill confessed, "and I like to weigh 106. This is a little low, but I look better on TV when I'm thin and that is where I'll be working for some time."

I admired the simple, black dress Jill was wearing.

"I didn't start out with good taste," she admitted, "but my sis-

U.N. Bars Door To Red China Again

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly has barred the door to Red China for another year over bitter opposition from India and the Soviet bloc.

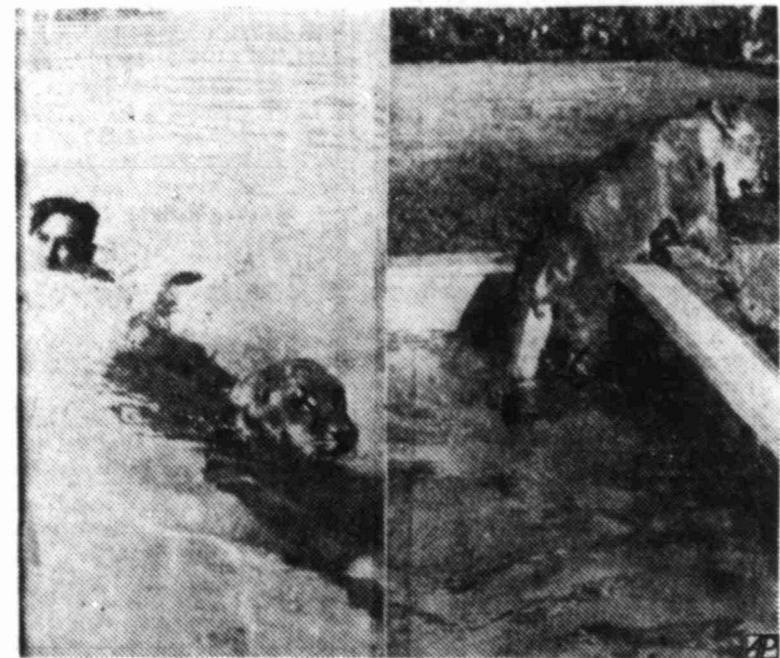

The Assembly voted last night in favor of a U.S. resolution to shelve the seating issue for the current session. The vote was 47 in favor, 27 against and 7 abstentions—virtually the same lineup that defeated Peiping's bid for a U.N. seat last year.

With the perennial Chinese question out of the way, the Assembly resumes its general debate. India spearheaded the Peiping campaign with a proposal to place the issue on the Assembly agenda for formal debate. While failing, India succeeded in getting plenty of debate on the record—the main thing the U.S. resolution sought to avoid.

Several Scandinavian countries supported the effort to stage a China debate. So did Ireland, although it condemned Peiping for aggressive policies. Advocates of seating Red China actually picked up three votes over last year, when their bid was defeated 47-24 with 8 abstentions. They were Ireland and Morocco,

North, South Split Opinions On Ike Action

By The Associated Press
Most Southern officials hit hard at President Eisenhower's decision to use federal troops to enforce school integration in Little Rock while Northerners backed his action as necessary to preserve law and order.

"Federal force must be used in this situation to put down force," said Adlai Stevenson, twice beaten by Eisenhower for the presidency. Stevenson termed the Little Rock situation a national disaster, but he said the President had no choice. He said Gov. Orval Faubus behaved irresponsibly in using the Arkansas National Guard to thwart integration.

A Southern governor, A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, agreed that Eisenhower had no choice. Chandler, an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960 said, "We can't have anarchy and mob rule."

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) talked of armed resistance. "If I were governor and he (the President) came in, I'd give him a fight such as he has never been in before."

"I'd proclaim a state of insurrection and I'd call out the National Guard and then we'd find out who's going to run things in my state."

IKE BLAMED

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York said the President had "contributed to the making of the present situation" in Little Rock by not taking strong action at the outset of the school crisis.

"Any trouble we have from now on can be laid at the door of the President's complacency and policy of appeasement of Gov. Faubus while this crisis was developing," the New York Democrat added.

"This sort of totalitarian rule may put Negro children into the white schools of Little Rock, but it will have a calamitous effect on race relations and the cause of national unity," Russell declared.

At Sea Island, Ga., where Southern governors are in conference, Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee proposed a committee of seven governors from the conference to confer immediately with Eisenhower to seek a solution to the school problem without recourse to federal troops. Some of his colleagues welcomed the suggestion, but Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland said he was opposed to the idea.

McKeldin defended Eisenhower's action as necessary and he was joined by Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia. Both are Republicans.

ASK COMPROMISE

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, conference chairman, proposed a compromise under which the President would not use federal force "so long as state and local authorities are able properly to perform this function."

Faubus, who returned yesterday to Little Rock from Sea Island, said state authority would have settled the integration problem in the Arkansas capital without violence if the President had left "law and order to us."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) agreed with Russell that the action was "without authority of law." He said, "It may precipitate more trouble than it will prevent."

Governors Marvin Griffin of Georgia and James Folsom of Alabama called the action political. Griffin charged that Eisenhower "is a captive of the Republican political strategists, who are more interested in the minority Negro vote than the welfare of the people."

Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) agreed that the President did the right thing. "The situation left him no alternative, under the Constitution and the laws of the land," said Bush. Ribicoff called the move "right and proper in order to guarantee our constitutional rights and prevent mob rule."

Sandburg Interview

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Sandburg is to appear on "Meet the Press" Oct. 27.

Ike Explains Action As A Counter To Rule By Mob

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says he ordered federal troops into Little Rock, Ark., because "mob rule cannot be allowed to override the decisions of the court."

In a hastily scheduled radio-TV address to the nation, he appealed to the American people last night to unite in understanding that he had no choice but to dispatch the troops.

"Unless the President did so," he declared, "anarchy would result."

And he emphasized that the troops are there "solely for the purpose of preventing interference with the orders of the court" which directed the admission of nine Negroes to Little Rock's Central High School.

Eisenhower said he personally knows that "the overwhelming majority of the people in the South—including those of Arkansas and Little Rock—are of good will, united in their efforts to preserve and respect the law even when they disagree with it."

But he said at another point that "certain misguided persons, many of them imported into Little Rock by agitators, have insisted upon defying the law and have sought to bring it into disrepute."

ENEMIES GLOATING

In other nations, he said, "our enemies are gloating over this incident" and seeking to undermine the nation's prestige and influence around the globe.

He told why he flew from his Newport, R.I., vacation headquarters to the White House — "the house of Lincoln, of Jackson and of Wilson"—to explain the action. "I felt that... my words would more clearly convey both the sadness I feel in the action I was compelled today to take and the firmness with which I intend to pursue this course until the orders of the federal court at Little Rock can be executed without unlawful interference."

Today he scheduled a return flight to Newport.

As he spoke last night 1,000 paratroopers flew to Little Rock. The 9,900-member Arkansas National Guard prepared for its first day under Eisenhower's orders federalizing it.

Their mission: to make sure by force of numbers of arms, if necessary, that "demagogic extremists, disorderly mobs" do not again prevent the seating of Negro children in the high school. Eisenhower deplored the beatings and riots Monday, and the lack of sufficient action by local and state authorities to prevent them.

OLD IKE GONE

Gone was the Eisenhower who told a news conference last July 17 he could not imagine any circumstance requiring federal troops to enforce a court order because "common sense of America will never require it."

The Communist press wasted no time in affirming his reference to gloating enemies. In cartoons and editorials, Rome's L'Unita and Paris' L'Humanite raked Eisenhower with the same line: he acted with too little too late.

Criticisms came from elsewhere in the political spectrum of the foreign press. And reaction was not slow among leading political figures in the United States, although it varied from praise to protest.

Eisenhower started slowly in the address from his oval-shaped office at the White House. Picking up heat, gesturing with his spectacles, he argued his case: "It is important that the reasons for my action be understood by all our citizens."

"Our personal opinions about the (Supreme Court's school integration) decision have no bearing on the matter of enforcement."

"We are a nation in which laws, not men, are supreme. Both the law and the national interest demanded that the President take action."

Once resistance to the federal court ceases, the troops will be recalled, he said, and then: "The city of Little Rock will return to its normal habits of peace and order and a blot upon the fair name and high honor of our nation in the world will be removed."

The safety of America and of the free world it leads already is badly damaged, Eisenhower said, because: "Our enemies are gloating over this incident and using it everywhere to misrepresent our nation. We are portrayed as a violator of those standards of con-

Calls Out Troops

President Eisenhower leaves his office at the Summer White House at Newport, R.I., after signing an executive order calling for the use of U.S. Armed Forces in Little Rock, Ark., where a mob of pro-segregationists swarmed around Central High School preventing its integration in compliance with federal court and Little Rock school board orders. James C. Hagerty, right, White House Press Secretary, carries the executive order, which is titled "Providing Assistance for the Removal of an Obstruction of Justice within the State of Arkansas."

Public Hearing Required For Change In Zoning Regulation

A public hearing will be held before the City Commission which will consider or reject zoning ordinance changes. The hearing will be Oct. 18.

At the meeting of the commission Tuesday, the group learned from legal authorities that a public hearing would be necessary after which four readings of the ordinance on different nights are needed to pass it.

The city is considering a change to the E (community business) zone of the code. Recently a five-acre zone in the E-zoned Eleventh Place shopping area and a court order later closed it. However the commission felt that cafes should be added to the zone, so the legal staff was instructed to prepare a proposed change.

Tuesday night, Walton Morrison, city attorney, and his assistant, Wayne Barden, presented the proposal.

Listed as businesses authorized to operate in E zone were: barbers, beauty shops, cafes, cafeterias, drug stores, stores selling ice and dairy products and sundries, dry cleaning, dry goods, grocery stores, service stations, stationery and school supply stores, variety stores, studios, offices for professional people.

Strictly forbidden was sale of alcoholic beverages, loud speakers outside the buildings, and drive-in establishments. Morrison said service stations would not be classed as a drive-in facility since it was specifically listed among the allowable businesses.

The commission voiced no objections to the proposed change and authorized the city manager to call the public hearing for Oct. 15. Since that is not the date for a regular meeting of the commission, that will probably be the only matter handled.

The commission accepted Tid-

Man Confesses Three Break-In Attempts Here

Charges will probably be filed today against a Negro who confessed to breaking into or trying to break into three residences on the Northside during the night.

This morning, Detective Leo Hall said the man had signed a statement admitting the entries.

The first call came from a Mrs. Larez, 306 NW 3rd, at 1:29 a.m. today. She reported that a Negro had broken into the house and was sitting on her daughter's bed when the girl screamed. The Negro then ran.

At 1:45, a call came from a Mrs. Rhone at 303 N. Scurry, about someone trying to enter her house by way of a window.

While officers were investigating this call, Mrs. Morales reported that someone was trying to break into her house at 206 NW 4th.

At 1:50 a.m., police officers arrested a Negro between NW 3rd and 4th in the 300 block and he later confessed to the burglaries and attempted entries.

He denied any connection with the series of burglaries which occurred last Thursday night. Seven calls about window peepers and burglaries came to the police department that night. One of the seven was the Larez residence.

Immunizations Schedule Altered At Health Unit

Day for obtaining immunization shots at the City-County Health Unit has been changed, the health unit reported.

Previously, the health unit gave shots to indigent persons on Friday afternoons, but the time has been changed to Thursday afternoons. Hours are 1 to 3 p.m.

The change will be effective immediately. Reason for the change was to coincide with Dr. R. E. Johnson's schedule. Dr. Johnson is new director of the Ector-Midland-Howard Health District and will be in Big Spring on Tuesdays and Thursdays each week.

Since Dr. Robert Hale resigned March 1, local doctors have alternated on Friday afternoons as consultants when the health unit gave shots.

Bo Bowen, health nurse, emphasized that shots would not be given except on Thursday afternoons in the future.

Joe Clark Named Elks Lodge Ruler

Joe Clark was elected grand exalted ruler of the local Elks Lodge last night. He succeeds M. T. Kuykendall, who submitted his resignation last night for reasons of health.

Glenn Gale was elected executive, replacing Maj. Edward Schlieter. Schlieter recently was transferred from Webb AFB to San Antonio.

Nomination and election of a three-year trustee was scheduled for Oct. 8.

Clark served as exalted ruler of the lodge two years ago.

Ted Vinson To Get Promotion

Ted Vinson, interviewer for the Texas Employment Commission here for the past four years, has been transferred to the Corpus Christi District of the TEC.

He probably will be assigned as manager of the TEC office at Raymondville, said Leon Kinney, manager of the local office. No replacement has been assigned here, but an appointment is expected in about two weeks.

Vinson was president of the Big Spring Evening Lions Club before his departure Monday for Corpus Christi.

Ford Salesman Is Contest Runner-Up

Robert W. Brock, salesman for Tarbox-Gosssett Motor Co., is among the 33 runners-up in the Ford division's spring selling sweepstakes.

Top winner in the area contest was taken by Dan J. Steuber of Young Motor Company, Tyler, who will receive a color television set or $500. There were 955 salesmen from 209 dealerships participating in the contest.

Farm Placement, Wage Survey Workers Added To TEC Staff

Three temporary workers are being added to the staff of the local Texas Employment Commission office to assist with farm worker placement and cotton harvest wage surveys, Leon Kinney, manager, announced today.

Jack H. Hatch, Fairview, is being assigned as the TEC's farm placement representative for Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties, Kinney said. He will work in the placement of native crews during the cotton harvest in the three counties. He has performed similar duties for the past two years.

Roscoe Gillette, regular member of the TEC staff, also is engaged in farm worker placement activities.

Collision Sends Man To Hospital

Injuries to William O'Dell, hurt in a car accident this morning, did not seem to be serious, doctors at Malone-Hogan Hospital said today.

O'Dell was rushed to the hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance after the accident at 3rd and Galveston. O'Dell's car, a 1952 Plymouth, was parked at the time of the accident, police reported. The other car involved was driven by James Bell, 1107 W. 3rd.

Officials at the hospital said they found no fractures after X-raying O'Dell but that he would remain in the hospital for observation.

Tuesday, a car owned by Mrs. Maurene Ferguson, 500 Birdwell, rolled into a telephone pole at 8th and Lancaster. She told officers that the emergency brake had failed to hold. No damage was reported.

At 12:14 W. 3rd on private property, John Grigsby, 602 Abrams, and Edward Robertson, 811 W. 8th, were drivers of cars colliding. Ben Faulkner, 1415 Wood, and Tona Evans, 1005 E. 21st, were in collision at 4th and Main.

Joseph Harding, 1308 E. 3rd, and Jack Bennett, 701 N. Gregg, were operators of vehicles in an accident at W. 3rd. Police said the Bennett truck was parked.

well Chevrolet's low bid for a 1957 model car for the police department. Tidwell bid $772.94 for a new Chevrolet with trade-in of a 1956 model Ford now in use. Other bids were received from Tarbox-Gosssett on a Ford and from Lone Star and Jones on Plymouths.

In a strict formality, the commission approved the tax roll and officially set the tax rate for this year at $3.08. This was the same rate as last year. The city manager, H. W. Whitney, reported the total tax roll showed a $19,662.34 valuation. This is $162,340 more than the city estimated when setting up the budget last March. Figuring 90 per cent collections, the city is to collect $362,770.17 in taxes, Whitney said.

Of the total tax, 61 cents goes to the interest and sinking fund and the remaining $1.44 goes to the general fund.

Whitney was authorized to have the fire station roofed. He told the commission that it was in need of repair and said the work should cost about $725. The city is now having the city hall roofed as work is going on remodeling.

Second of three readings required to pass the ordinance concerning removal of gas-bill discounts was passed. Empire South-eastern Gas Co. asked the commission for permission to remove the discount on payment of bills within 10 days, but the ordinance requires three readings. It will affect all bills mailed after Nov. 1.

Gil Jones, district attorney, set about paying the state's picture of the slaying—a picture of a man being knifed to death as he backed away from his assailant.

He also established through his witnesses that the slayer and the slain were personal friends of several years standing and that they had been companions at the dance hall on the night of the fatal slaying.

Johnny Subia was the first state witness. Edward Reyna, who also testified, told of watching the knife of Corrallez. They were not companions of the two Corrallez brothers and Gomez at the dance hall but were on the parking lot where the incident occurred.

Albert Gonzales was a star witness for the defense.

He testified that he had known Gomez for three years and also knew Corrallez. He was standing about 20 feet from where Ramon and Moses were standing. The two men, he said, were in an argument.

Ramon was trying to fight Moses, the witness testified.

"Ramon said, 'Let's fight,' and Moses said he did not want to fight," the witness related. "Johnny called (Johnny is Moses' brother) and Ramon lashed out at him."

Moses hit at Ramon with his fist, the witness related. Moses picked up an empty beer can off the ground and threw it at Gomez, he testified.

Moses began backing away from Ramon. Gonzales told the jury with the former following. He saw Corrallez stagger and fall and Ramon, he testified, got into a car and left the scene.

"Moses had backed away from Ramon for 40 feet," said the witness, "before I saw him fall."

Yasael Lara, 18, also a friend of all the principals in the case, was the next witness. He told a similar story to that recited by Gonzales.

"When Moses had fallen," he said, "Ramon came up to me. He tried to hand me a pocket knife. 'Throw this away,' he told me. I would not take the knife."

Johnny Corrallez, 22-year-old brother of the slain youth, said that he and Moses had come out to the dance hall together. They were good friends, he testified. They spent the evening dancing and drinking beer, he related.

When the dance ended, he said, he left Moses and Gomez inside and went out the south door of the place. Later, he walked around the building to the parking lot. Gomez and Moses had come out from another door and were standing facing one another.

"They were arguing," said the witness.

DAV Gets Lease On Old Terminal For $1 Per Year

The Disabled American Veterans were given a lease on the old Airport Terminal Building on W. Highway 80 by the City Commission Tuesday night.

The DAV and two individuals decided to lease the old building for $1 per year for office space and a radio tower on city property. Sinclair wanted to lease 2 1/2 acres out of Section 17, Block 32, on which to build a tower. The land is leased to the Wilbanks brothers, however.

As a result, the commission decided to lease one acre per year on a yearly basis if Wilbanks approved.

Sinclair had desired a five-year lease at $15 per year.

ASC Committee Is Named For County

Cecil Phillips was elected chairman of the Howard County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee Wednesday morning.

He was named to head the committee at a meeting of the county convention, to which the chairman of the five zone or community committees had been named as delegates.

Remainder of the committee personnel are Harvey Adams, vice chairman; L. J. Davidson, regular member; E. W. Lomax, first alternate; and Clay Reid, second alternate.

The committee, which takes office Oct. 1, will be responsible for supervision of the ASC program in Howard County and will work with Gabe Hammack, the administrative officer.

Distillation Kit For Salt Water Found

If you have lost three salt water distillation kits, you can probably claim them at the police department.

A group of boys found some equipment on the southeastern edge of Big Spring and called the police department. The equipment was picked up at 1215 E. 16th and identified as Air Force gear.

This morning, AF officials said the three plastic bags were salt water distillation kits which are parts of life-raft kits carried aboard some AF planes. Officials at Webb AFB reported the items were not taken from them, but probably had come from a SAC (Strategic Air Command) or MATS (Military Air Transport Service) plane.

know whether I cut him or not," the witness said. Moses, the witness said, then threw rocks at him, one of which inflicted a cut on his eye. He said he had taken his knife out of his pocket, opened the blade, and had it in his hand when he lashed at Johnny.

He admitted that Moses began to back away from him. He insisted, however, that the man had two knives in his hand. The witness said he followed Moses and "poked" at him with the knife. He said the man fell.

"I hit him with the knife because I was scared," he said. "He had hit me with a rock... When he fell, I started walking fast to my car."

"I did not intend to kill Moses. I did not want to kill him. I was afraid."

On cross examination by Gil Jones, district attorney, the witness admitted that he and the Corrallez brothers had been drinking together all evening from the case of beer they had in the ballroom.

He also admitted that an hour elapsed after the first incident at the beer tavern before the dance hall and that in the interval, he was with the brothers and drank two more cans of beer.

The state began presenting its evidence soon after 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Gil Jones, district attorney, set about playing the state's picture of the slaying—a picture of a man being knifed to death as he backed away from his assailant.

He also established through his witnesses that the slayer and the slain were personal friends of several years standing and that they had been companions at the dance hall on the night of the fatal slaying.

witness. "I walked up to them to try and get them to stop. Just as I reached them they were standing. Ramon struck at me."

"He cut me with a knife just over the left eye."

"Moses then struck at Ramon and I saw Ramon hit at Moses, who had begun backing away. Ramon yelled he could whip both of us. I did not hit Ramon. I did not try to get into the argument at all after I had been cut over the left eye. I kept standing where I was all of the time."

He denied on cross examination that his brother threw a rock at the defendant and he also denied that the trio had quarreled because Gomez had no money and what he had been consumed was bought by the Corrallez brothers.

He insisted that he knew of nothing that could have started the argument and declared that he and Gomez were friends and that Moses and his slayer had also been friendly all evening.

W. E. Eubanks, city police officer; Bill Cartwright, deputy sheriff, and E. C. Ryan, city policeman, told of being called to the scene. They arrested Gomez at his home and found he was bleeding from a cut over the left eye.

He was searched and a pocket knife with a blade about three inches long was taken from him, they said.

The defense stipulated that this was the knife used in the fight.

Janie Gomez, mother of the defendant, was the first defense witness. She said that her son was 18 years old; that he has no employment. He lives at home and lived there all of the time. He was a "good boy," she said. The mother related she worked in beer taverns in the northwest part of town.

Leanda Gomez, the father of Ramon, was second defense witness.

On direct examination, he echoed about the same testimony his wife had given. The only time, he said, that Ramon had ever been arrested was for driving a car without a license and he had paid a fine for that violation.

Jones, on cross examination, asked the father if he did not know that his son had been fined $50 on July 13, 1957, for fighting.

The father denied that he knew of such an instance.

The last witness for the day was Jesse Cortez, who identified himself as an unemployed bartender and an odd-jobber.

Cortez was a character witness and merely said that he had known Ramon and that he believed he was a good boy and a truthful one.

New-Type Water Permits Issued

AUSTIN (AP)—New-type water permits designed to protect neighboring cities, towns and downstream users were issued yesterday to Fort Worth.

The Board of Water Engineers approved Fort Worth's applications to take 385,000 acre feet of water annually from tributaries on the Trinity River. When completed, the multimillion dollar projects are expected to provide Fort Worth and the surrounding area with enough water until the year 2000.

A special venire of 175 men had been summoned for the trial. The slaying occurred at Orient Tavern, five miles north of here.

Defense contention is that the shooting was in self defense. The defendant claims that the trouble developed when he refused to serve one of the women in the tavern—Nore's wife—another round of beer.

A continuance had been granted in the case in October, 1956, when the defense pleaded that important out-of-state witnesses could not be contacted.

Rhoton Trial Moves Slowly

SAN ANGELO — Selection of a jury to try Shirie C. Rhoton, 54, former bartender charged with the slaying of a woman in the Feb. 2, 1956, death of Paul D. Noe, 34-year-old Bronco railroad man, moved slowly forward in 51st District Court this morning.

Payments Halted On Shoemaker Policy

AUSTIN (AP)—Judge Charles Betts ordered payments discontinued today on a million dollar term life insurance policy for A. B. Shoemaker.

Shoemaker was head of the defunct U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co. of Waco. He fired a bullet through his brain shortly after the collapse of the banking-insurance firm.

State receiver-liquidator J. D. Wheeler said he had studied alternatives on converting the policy from term insurance to full insurance but decided there would be no advantage to this step. He recommended dropping the payments.

Pleasant Weather Outlook For U.S.

Pleasant autumn weather was the rule in most all parts of the nation today.

Only a few areas reported wet weather and amounts were generally light. Showers sprinkled northern Michigan and parts of southern Florida and southern and western Texas.

It was a little cooler in most of the Atlantic Coast region except Florida.

Chicago Helps Santa's Burial

CHICAGO (AP)—A police captain acted speedily yesterday when he learned Santa Claus died and his body was destined for potter's field.

He wasn't really Santa Claus to everybody. But William Moss, 65, was St. Nick for the last half dozen years to the kids around 79th and South Halsted streets, where he donned beard and bright red suit for the merchants' association.

Capt. William Hennessey of the busy South Side Gresham district said Moss was a friend to a lot of folks. He liked children and he had a hearty laugh.

Hennessey, Moss' landlady and a friend, Sam Kaplan, in whose restaurant Moss dined daily, never did learn any information about his family.

"They live out East," Moss would say. "I've been here 22 years. This is my home."

When Hennessey was told Moss had no money for burial he ordered the body taken to an undertaker — and then spread the word. Businessmen, policemen, the waitresses in Kaplan's restaurant dipped into their pockets. "We've got enough for a fine funeral," Hennessey said.

When it was learned Moss was Jewish, Rabbi Jacob S. Rich agreed to officiate at today's services.

"Sure he'll have flowers," said Hennessey, "and a motorcycle escort to the Beverly cemetery with some quad cars too."

"It isn't every day you lose Santa Claus."

Remainder of the committee personnel are Harvey Adams, vice chairman; L. J. Davidson, regular member; E. W. Lomax, first alternate; and Clay Reid, second alternate.

The committee, which takes office Oct. 1, will be responsible for supervision of the ASC program in Howard County and will work with Gabe Hammack, the administrative officer.

Distillation Kit For Salt Water Found

If you have lost three salt water distillation kits, you can probably claim them at the police department.

A group of boys found some equipment on the southeastern edge of Big Spring and called the police department. The equipment was picked up at 1215 E. 16th and identified as Air Force gear.

This morning, AF officials said the three plastic bags were salt water distillation kits which are parts of life-raft kits carried aboard some AF planes. Officials at Webb AFB reported the items were not taken from them, but probably had come from a SAC (Strategic Air Command) or MATS (Military Air Transport Service) plane.

Southern Governors Seek Way To Preserve States' Rights

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Southern Democratic governors, alarmed by the historic movement of federal troops into Little Rock, Ark., sought means today of preserving states' rights.

The governors found scant comfort in the assurance by President Eisenhower in his televised speech last night that the presence of federal soldiers in the Arkansas capital would turn out to be advantageous and that the bayonets are not there to force integration.

Several possible courses of action were topics of immediate discussion by the heads of states in the last outpost of legal racial segregation.

Of the three Republicans attending the Southern Governors' Conference, two endorsed Eisenhower's stand and his action in sending armed federal troops into Little Rock. The third declined to comment.

The Democrats gave serious consideration to proposals by Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee that they name a committee to meet with the President and discuss the Arkansas situation.

They also considered a proposal by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina that they adopt a resolution asking the President to leave the maintenance of law and order in Arkansas up to Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas as it "is considered to be the primary responsibility of the governor."

DECLINES COMMENT Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, a Delaware Republican, is chairman of the Resolutions Committee, which would act on the two proposals. He declined to comment on the President's address and had no comment on Clement's and Hodges' plans.

Another Republican on the Resolutions Committee, Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, said he would not approve any resolution "which even suggests the possibility of President Eisenhower's improper or unwarranted exercise of federal power."

The third Republican among the Southerners, Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia, said he was unalterably opposed to the resolutions.

Clement made his proposal after, he said, losing sleep over the

Girard Chase Of Scavengers Told

SOMAGAHARA, Japan (AP)—A prosecution witness testified today that minutes before William S. Girard fatally shot Mrs. Naka Sakai he chased other Japanese brass collectors on a U.S. firing range.

The witness, Hidetsugu Onezaki, said Girard pursued six or seven Japanese for more than 50 yards on the range near Somagahara.

Girard, of Ottawa, Ill., is charged with placing an empty cartridge case in a rifle grenade launcher and killing Mrs. Sakai.

Testifying at the final outdoor session on the range, Onezaki gave this account:

After chasing the scavengers, Girard returned to his foxhole and threw cartridge cases toward the Japanese. Mrs. Sakai approached and Girard called to her in Japanese:

"Old woman, there's really a lot of brass, isn't there?"

Mrs. Sakai went to a foxhole to which Girard pointed and climbed in, Onezaki said.

Girard fired at Mrs. Sakai and she tumbled to the ground, he said.

The testimony was taken as rain fell on the firing range. Presiding Judge Yuzo Kawachi was dressed in a raincoat and a large straw hat.

The trial will resume tomorrow. There will be no further outdoor hearings.

The testimony of Onezaki agreed in part with that of soldier

Victor Nickel, of Inkster, Mich., who was with Girard just before Mrs. Sakai was shot Jan. 30.

Nickel testified yesterday that Girard called to Mrs. Sakai shortly before firing the shot that killed her. Onezaki gave the same testimony.

Nickel, the only American witness for the prosecution, said he believed Girard fired at Mrs. Sakai as a joke. Nickel said he did not believe Girard intended to hit her.

Cancer Society Names Chairman, State Delegate

Mrs. Garner McAdams has been named chairman of the Women's Service Clubs Division of the Howard County Cancer Society.

The organization also has chosen Bo Bowen, city-county nurse, as its delegate to the state Cancer Society meeting to be held in Austin Dec. 5-6. Mrs. Neil Norred will be alternate.

The selections were made as the local unit resumed its schedule of activities Monday evening. Nineteen persons, including Barbara Liggett of Midland, new field representative of the American Cancer Society for this area, attended the initial meeting of the fall.

A motion picture, "The Other City," dealing with cancer problems, was projected at the meeting.

Plans also were made for the district meeting which will be held here Jan. 14.

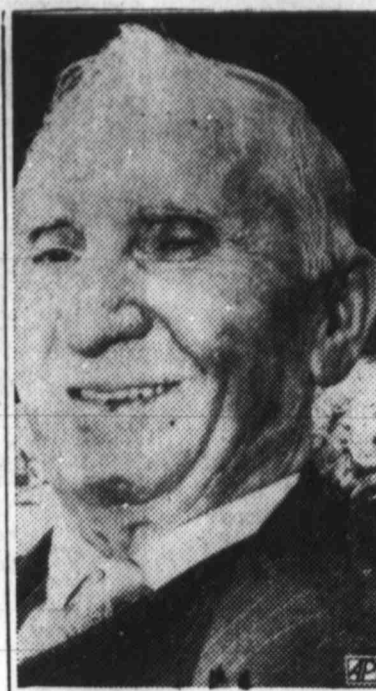

Next meeting of the local unit will be Oct. 28.

Joan Watkins New Health Unit Clerk

Joan Watkins is the new clerk for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit.

A graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, she worked at the U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station before joining the health unit staff.

Employment of Miss Watkins and the arrival of Dr. R. E. Johnson this week to take over duties of health unit director gives the agency a complete staff for the first time in several months.

Knott Opens Ginning Season

KNOTT (SC)—First bale of 1957 cotton was ginned at the Farmers Co-Op Gin here Tuesday afternoon. L. R. Smith, who lives three miles south and a mile east of Knott, was the grower. He had 1,900 pounds of seed cotton from which was ginned a 515-pound bale of lint cotton. He sold for 35 cents a pound to the gin, according to Joe Welborn, gin manager.

The ginning, marking the first time the gin has swung into operation this year, began at 1 p.m. At 1:20, the finished bale was rolled out on the dock.

Welborn said cotton generally is late in the Knott community but that the crop is looking good and there will be plenty of fields which will yield as much as three-quarters of a bale per acre.

"A bowl of rice, and the bended arm for a pillow—a man can be happy with these," said Confucius. But today the majority of our citizens need more than the arm for a pillow for, to induce sleep, a Niagara of sleeping pills and aids pour into drugstores, in New York a shop is devoted entirely to sleep aids; pills, ear-plugs, eye-shades—even special records to play. All this for what should be the normal process of restful sleep.

The first sleep aid is a simple philosophy which impresses that most worry is useless. This, plus a quiet, relaxing atmosphere before bedtime, with a warm, non-stimulating drink, will help, especially if the bedroom is well ventilated and not too warm. Eating of heavy, indigestible foods before bedtime is a major cause of sleeplessness.

A modern sleep-killer is the horrible and terrifying motion picture shown as a night-cap by television. This is the stuff of which nightmares are made, as is fast, jerky, dance music, written to spur physical action. However, ballads and symphonies are restful and conducive of relaxation.

A firm mattress and the art of "thinking of nothing at all," with a neutral mind, and an absence of worry about whether or not sleep will come, will help to achieve restful sleep. Your doctor of chiropractic, with his soothing treatment, can do much to relieve the nerve tension which often causes sleeplessness.

A Bible Thought For Today

Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation. (Mark 14:38)

We're Mr. Hydes Behind The Wheel

Not long ago Town Marshal Fred Jennings Jr. put up stop signs at street intersections at the schoolgrounds in Vevay, Ind., where he operates.

One day last week Marshal Jennings ran through one of the stop signs before he realized what he was doing. He went directly to Justice of the Peace John Baird, pleaded guilty and forked over $15.25 in payment of the fine.

"When I put up those street signs, I said they were meant for everybody, and that includes me," said Fred Jennings.

Almost all of us violate a traffic rule now and then, without thinking, and some of us do it consciously—especially if no traffic officer is looking.

But few of us are as conscientious about it as Marshal Fred Jennings Jr. was. Even if caught red-handed we put up an argument with the arresting officer, and some of us try to argue the peace justice or the magistrate out of an arrest or a fine.

Some motorists even tell whoppers to avoid a fine. They wouldn't think of pushing over a bank, or robbing the poor box, or shooting out a street light, or swiping somebody's garden hose. They wouldn't stoop to lying in ordinary social or business intercourse, or try to waltz out of an honest debt. They are honest, conscientious, law-abiding citizens in every respect except one.

Put them at the wheel of a motor vehicle and their resistance to temptation becomes very low. If they think nobody's watching they'll cheat. They'll run stop signs or red signal lights. They'll ignore speed laws. They'll cut in and out of traffic just to get ahead, or perhaps save a few seconds.

The more diligent a cop is in making everybody toe the line the more enemies he accumulates. Those who hate him most are the ones who have committed the worst offenses.

We Americans are a funny breed. Consciously or unconsciously we resent official restraints of any kind. We seem to resent most of all the rules and regulations designed to protect us and all others in vehicular traffic. Something happens to us when we get hold of a steering wheel—something ugly, unreasonable and unreasoning. We go berserk. We flip our lid. We become potential killers. And boy how we burn when somebody calls our hand-

A Major Hurdle Has Been Passed

A major hurdle in the long journey toward a general revaluation of all property within Howard County has been negotiated as a result of Monday's majority vote by which the Howard County Commissioners Court decided to participate.

While this settles the matter as a general policy, it leaves a lot of details to be worked out before such a resurvey could be undertaken. A committee has been set up by the three participating agencies (the county, the City of Big Spring and the Big Spring Independent School District) to deal with the preliminary mechanics.

The first step is to contact firms who specialize in this type of work and to conduct interviews. Ultimately the committee is to make recommendations.

When this time comes, the next critical test will occur, for the proposal will have to be acceptable to the cooperating agencies because funds for the work must come from the participants.

However, a significant start has now been made toward a realistic, uniform and equitable table of values. We needn't think that the path will be rosy or popular, for there will be plenty of repercussions from those who will be asked to take a more proportionate bite of the total tax pie. Those who will be relieved of some of the load will be happy but they won't show up to pat anyone on the back or make any noise about it.

But if out of all this every property owner is treated fairly, no one can have any justifiable complaint. The fundamental idea of revaluation is fairness and completeness under today's conditions.

Force That Abridges A Free Press

WASHINGTON.—"Book burning," interference with free speech, censorship of radio and television so that American history and old folk songs are inaccurately presented to the people—all this goes on in freedom-loving America nowadays without much protest from the so-called "liberals" or their "civil liberties" organizations.

ingmen to enter a plant when there's a strike.

For many years now, the unions have denounced any use of the National Guard to protect citizens in labor disputes. Yet today there are calls for the government here to "federalize" the National Guard and use such troops to "enforce" desegregation.

Strange inconsistencies emerge. Thus, Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Douglas of Illinois, Democrats, have joined in suggesting that President Eisenhower should "personally take those colored children by the hand and lead them into school" at Little Rock, Ark. But did any of the so-called "liberals" ever suggest or would they venture to recommend that the President of the United States take workmen by the hand and lead them into plants and factories where their right to work—a basic constitutional right—is denied them?

Nor has the governor of any state come forth with such a solution for the problem created when labor unionism does what Congress is forbidden to do—abridge the freedom of the press under the color of law. "Collective bargaining" rights and picketing powers are, of course, derived from federal law. Yet none of the so-called "liberals" has risen to protest the closing down of newspaper plants in many cities through the establishing of picket lines which labor unions do that are not themselves parties to the dispute refuse to cross. This is a concerted action that deprives many thousands of workers of their opportunity and right to work and just as effectively denies freedom of the press as if Congress had ordered it.

Where were the exponents of the doctrines of American constitutionalism when, during the recent strikes at various Westinghouse plants, violence broke out and many workers had their cars overturned at the factory gates and were otherwise bodily prevented from having access to their jobs?

The California Federation of Labor is so stirred up over the Little Rock situation that it has just urged impeachment of President Eisenhower for not taking forceful action of some kind to get the colored children into the high school in Little Rock. But that same organization would hardly favor any forceful measures to enable honest, law-abiding white or colored workmen to enter a plant when there's a strike.

Time was when the late Senator McCarthy was condemned by the so-called "liberals" for having suggested that books written by Communists and Communist sympathizers be taken off the shelves of official United States libraries maintained abroad by American taxpayers.

But today a book by Mark Twain, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn"—read by the youth of America and of the world for many generations—is dropped by the board of education from the textbook lists of the New York City schools because one of its central figures is a Negro and the work allegedly contains "some passages derogatory to Negroes." That never seemed to cause controversy before.

Likewise, some American folk songs are being changed to eliminate such words as "massa" (master), "darkies" and "mammy," as if the rewriting of American history is now a function of radio and television censors. How can the Soviet rulers be criticized for rewriting their history to suit the political whims of the times when American censors now are trying to do the same thing with America's songs born of its past history? Will anybody have the same faith in the scripts of today's broadcasts and telecasts of historical events when it becomes recognized that truth is suppressed as literary works are censored?

Worst of all is the sudden infringement of free speech and freedom of assembly, which heretofore have been widely championed as guarantees written in the First Amendment to the Constitution. A federal court order issued in Nashville, Tenn., last week—duplicating ones previously issued at Hoxie, Ark., and Clinton, Tenn.—forbids not only a "boycott" of the public schools but any picketing in the vicinity under penalty of jail without jury trial. This intimidates parents who fear they cannot get together even to discuss with others the sending of their children to private schools.

Yet, if these citizens were to assemble to espouse the philosophy of communism or even advocate doctrines that favor the overthrow of the government by force, they would be immunized from prosecution according to recent decisions of the Supreme Court. That's "the law of the land" today. And such are the hypocrisies of the times.

Wrong But Right

RICHMOND, Va. — The report to police on watches pawned showed one that had been reported stolen. A visit to the pawn shop showed they had a watch number 6000860, but the watch police wanted was 0980009. The number had been read upside down. But police found number 6000860 also was on their stolen list.

Ed Creagh

A Troubled, Reluctant Man

WASHINGTON — He was not the stern old soldier. He was not towering figure of wrath. Dwight D. Eisenhower was a troubled, reluctant man as he addressed the nation last night. He spoke at the outset of his sadness over the action he had just taken. He voiced deep confidence the whole unpleasantness would be over quickly.

But in the meantime: The President served notice that troops under federal authority will be stationed in Little Rock, Ark., until law and order have been restored—until "agitators" and their followers stop trying to keep a handful of Negro children from attending a white school.

Soberly, like a father chiding an errant son, Eisenhower addressed himself to the mob and the whole populace of Little Rock and Arkansas. He told them the eyes of the world were upon them. And he must have known that the world's eyes were on him too.

Eisenhower was on trial as never before in his presidency.

He is a man who strives always for harmony. He made his reputation in war and peace as one who smooths out difficulties. But on this issue he couldn't please everybody. Whatever his course, he would be damned if he did and damned if he didn't.

Suppose he let matters drift farther in Little Rock. He'd have been accused—as he already has been—of golfing while Rome burned. Said Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.), after Eisenhower called out the troops: "It's damn near time he took some positive action."

On the other hand, after Eisenhower took the most positive action in his power, the uproar from many elements in the South was tremendous. Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) came out for virtual war in his state if the same situation should occur there—as it very well may. Johnston, a former governor was all for calling out the National Guard (under state control, that is) and fighting it out.

What Southerners say Northerners don't understand—among other things—is this: "federal," especially when used in connection with "troops," is all but a dirty word in most regions south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Yankees may have forgotten Reconstruction days, but the Southern memory hasn't. For 10 bitter years most of the South was under Northern military rule. Untrained Negroes and Northern carpetbaggers ran what amounted to an occupied territory.

Ike's A General Again

NEW YORK — President Eisenhower has doffed his Homburg hat and reluctantly put on again Gen. Ike's old garrison cap.

The President's angry reactions to events in Arkansas show he is not ready, willing and able to assume a role more aggressive than any he has assumed since he was victorious commander of the Western Allied forces against Germany.

This is a man who commanded millions of men in a war against an outside enemy, and was most effective in creating unity to win that war. He has been stirred to anger, never to panic.

A man who has been a victorious general and is presently commander in chief of the armed forces of the United States cannot indefinitely sit idly by when his chain of command is challenged. Nor can a corporal.

as a compliant president, it may be pertinent to point out that the foregoing statement is the promise of a general, not unaccustomed to violence, not unused to challenge, not strange to trial, not foreign to victory.

"I will use the full power of the United States," he said, "including whatever force may be necessary, to prevent any obstruction of the law and to carry out the orders of the federal court."

This is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, speaking.

The commander in chief, explaining to the nation last night why he ordered federal troops to Little Rock, said "mob rule" threatened the safety of the United States and the rest of the free world.

In a TV-radio broadcast from the White House, he solemnly called upon citizens of Arkansas to help bring an end to all interference with legal processes. "Mob rule cannot be allowed to override the decisions of the courts," he declared.

The President pledged: "If resistance to the federal court orders ceases at once, the further presence of federal troops will be unnecessary."

He said the safety of the United States and the free world had been menaced because "gloating" Communists abroad were using the school integration riots to misrepresent this country and undermine its prestige and influence around the globe.

Around The Rim

Lend A Hand To The United Fund

If you haven't been urged to have a part in the United Fund, either as a contributor or as a contributor-worker, you probably will be. It takes both to get this job done—and it's not an easy job.

Too often we take the attitude that the United Fund is "their" responsibility. And too often the same ones of us wonder why "they" don't have more funds for Salvation Army transient aid, or why "they" don't do something about more professional staff for the Girl Scouts, or why "they" don't provide enough budget for Red Cross home services, and so on.

And when we slip into that refuge of distance and aloofness, we are prone to hint that "they" run things or "they have a clique."

My humble opinion, from some close observation, is that "they" step in and run a campaign or "they" accept appointments to committees and boards because "we" don't do our part. I know a hundred "they's" who would gladly yield their place of honor and responsibility to any honestly sincere person who would volunteer to help. Better still, "they" would probably remain in the harness in any capacity, however modest, to help support the worthy causes.

We ought to realize the importance of these jobs and that high places aren't just sports for sounding off or getting the headlines. Let me tell you that over the years some of the most terrific workers in the ranks around here have been the generals.

Examples are so numerous that I can mention but a couple—but I could list many, many more.

More than a decade ago when we had bunched all the local agencies into a "war chest," we got fair cooperation and participation. Then came the post-war period and somehow we got a Community Chest going. Ted O. Groebel headed up one of these efforts as general chairman, and push and shove as he and others might, the effort stalled out with a couple of thousand dollars to go. He had already worked scores of cards personally, but just before Christmas he literally pounded the paving, begging, pleading and even bamboozling individuals and firms (many of them already had given generously) until he was able to announce "over the top."

Again, I call to mind a tremendous contribution by Dick Simpson as general chairman. There had been a shift in personnel on the professional staff at the last minute and things didn't jell just as planned. I couldn't give the exact number of cards that Simpson worked himself besides directing the over-all campaign, and I don't know that I would if I could. You simply wouldn't believe it because the total was way, way over 100. And he didn't let up until the quota was over-subscribed.

Now neither of these men got any loving cups or had statues erected to them—nor did the many others just like them who have pitched in and helped. I'm sure they got some stars in their crown because they sought nothing out of it but the satisfaction of succeeding in an assignment for their fellow man.

It's not necessary that we put men and women in a position where they are pressed to such extraordinary lengths.

All it takes is for you and me to work our few cards promptly and earnestly, or to give without stint or delay when we are asked. What do you say "we" do a real job this year?

Palatial Living At $17 Per Day

BUSSACO, Portugal—For every castle in Spain there are 10 palaces in Portugal. King, queens, princes, potentates, bishops and rich adventurers built them by the dozens during the days of the Portuguese glory when her overseas empire in the 15th, 16th and 17th Centuries was one of the greatest the world has ever known.

Often the 20th Century traveler may stay in a palace, prudently turned into an inn or hotel by its owner or the government itself. In lovely Sintra, which is to Lisbon what Greenwich, Conn., or Old Westbury, Long Island, N. Y., is to New York, we stayed in the relatively small, perfect Palace of Steals (Seven Echoes), in one woman's opinion the most exquisite hotel in Europe.

And now we are living it up in the Palace of Bussaco, a resplendent hotel that once was the hunting lodge of Portugal's royal family. Indeed, the monarchy ended a little more than a decade after Bussaco was built, and no wonder! Thaw definitely shot the wrong architect.

Bussaco was built in the last gasp of a peculiarly Portuguese architectural style known as Manueline—which is, in three words, gussied-up Gothic. Its early use of marine motifs in decor, ropes, anchors and cable was a logical outgrowth of Portugal's preoccupation with the sea, from which she drew so much of her early wealth.

The Manueline style at the peak of perfection and beauty can be seen in the exquisite Jeronimos Church, begun in 1502, in the Lisbon suburb of Belem. Like the Saint Chapelle in Paris and the royal chapel at Windsor, it is unique. This whitestone church, so full of light, air and grace, scarcely seems anchored to earth. And when I saw it again a few days ago, decorated entirely in white flowers for a wedding, it was more ethereal than ever.

But Manueline, like the monarchy, was in its last decaying gasp when Bussaco was built. The traveler can only look upon it with the same awe in bad taste that he reserves for the Albert Memorial.

I never step into one of Bussaco's florid rooms or terraces without feeling that I am about to intrude on Prince Rudolph pinching the maids or Chasing Audrey Hepburn around the tables.

The palace is situated 2,000 feet up the Serra de Bussaco above the Mondego River in the midst of a great state forest of towering cypresses. It is truly a place where every prospect pleases, with always another series of mountains on the horizon as far as the eye can see.

Below the Mondego cuts its way through a deep, green gorge, terraced everywhere by the thrifty, hard-working Portuguese peasant save where the great granite outcroppings foil him. There are terraces only wide enough for a row of grape vines, or only large enough for a single olive tree, that great benefactor of mankind that can cling to a slope too steep for a mountain goat.

My husband, Add, and I are living in luxury at the one-time royal hunting lodge for $17 per day for the two of us, and that includes three excellent meals. (To this must be added a 10 per cent service and a 3 per cent tourist tax.) And we are surrounded by persons who seem to want to make us happy. By Portuguese standards, such prices are scandalous, if not downright robbery.

But we shall know how to beat this expensive rap another time. Today we stumbled on the tiny and beautiful village of Penacova on a cliff high above the Mondego, with views of its valley that can only be described as breath-taking. There I examined a Grade-A Portuguese pension, immaculate in every detail, where a double room and three meals per day for two ranges from $3.30 to $4. I honestly don't think we can afford to come home.

The Gallup Poll

Public Favors Hoffa Ouster

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 24 — If it were left to the American public to decide, James R. Hoffa would be removed from his job as Teamster vice president.

Nearly two out of three Americans who have followed the Senate rackets hearings say that from what they have heard or read about Hoffa, they feel he should not stay in office.

At the same time, the public is in favor of letting the Teamster rank-and-file decide themselves whether or not they want Hoffa to stay in office by means of a government supervised secret vote.

Thirteen rank-and-file members of the Teamsters union recently filed suit in Federal District Court in New York to block the election of new officers at the union's forth-coming election in Miami Beach.

The plaintiffs charged that the election had been "rigged" to elect Mr. Hoffa as president of the union and asked that it be delayed temporarily until court-appointed special masters could supervise the election of a new group of delegates to the convention.

One interesting finding of the survey is that in both the matter of Hoffa's removal from office and a secret vote of the members, union member families across the country who have followed the rackets probe vote their approval.

In determining the views of the public on Hoffa and the matter of a secret vote, trained opinion reporters from the Institute's field staff asked a carefully drawn cross-section of adults these questions:

"Have you heard or read anything about the Congressional investigation of labor unions?"

Survey results indicate that nearly 74 million people (72 per cent) have followed the Senate labor rackets probe.

All those who were familiar with the probe were asked the following questions:

"From what you know, do you think

James Hoffa—vice president of the Teamsters—should be removed from office or not?"

The results among those adults and union member families who are familiar with the probe:

HOFFA REMOVED?

	Adults	Union	Per cent
Favor	64	60
No, should not	3	5
No opinion	33	35

"It has been suggested that the government hold a secret vote of the members of the Teamsters union to find out if they want Hoffa to remain in office. Would you favor or oppose the government holding such a vote?"

SECRET VOTE?

	Adults	Union	Per cent
Favor	29	51
Oppose	29	28
No opinion	22	21

Mr. Hoffa is the second major figure in the labor probe that the Institute has put before the "jury" of the public opinion. The other was Dave Beck, retiring president of the Teamsters, who was in the limelight earlier this year.

In one respect, Mr. Hoffa fares better with the "jury" than Mr. Beck did. Although surveys show that the public feels both men should be removed from office, there are almost twice as many people in the case of Hoffa than in the case with Beck who—either through lack of evidence or lack of knowledge about the men—are currently undecided on the issue.

Here is how the public voted on the question of whether or not Mr. Beck should be removed from office in an April survey:

Book Tells Of U.S.-Russ Air Battle In Korean War

BOSTON (AP)—One of the most hush-hush phases of the Korean War — the vanquishing of seven Russian pilots by three U.S. Navy fighter pilots—is disclosed in detail by a volume now being published by the U.S. Naval Institute at Annapolis.

Cmdr. Malcolm W. Cagle, who coauthored "The Sea War in Korea" with Cmdr. Frank A. Manson, stated in a Boston interview: "This hitherto secret engagement occurred near Vladivostok, Russia, and was the only time in the Korea War that American pilots fought Russian pilots.

"This episode," continued Cmdr. Cagle, "took place as a result of an American task force moving into far north waters to bombard the military targets in Chongjin.

"The fleet was less than a hundred miles from Vladivostok, and a great deal closer to other Russian territory. The fleet was close enough for long-range radar to pick up aircraft taking off and landing on nearby fields.

"For two days, the fleet bombarded Chongjin targets without interference from the Soviets. We kept our distance and they kept theirs.

"Suddenly, our radar operators noticed a group of Soviet Mig's moving toward the fleet."

The volume gives an exciting account of the ensuing battle—how three pilots from the carrier Oriskany — Lieutenants John D. Middleton, Birmingham, Ala.; Elmer R. Williams, Wilmet, S.D.; and David M. Rowlands, Fort Smith, Ark. — intercepted the seven enemy planes. It was all over in eight furious minutes.

"It is believed," summed up Cmdr. Cagle, a fighter pilot himself and holder of the Navy Cross, "that only one, possibly two, of the MIGs got home, while all of our three pilots made it."

Some Fishermen Don't Compromise

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Bernice Seafeld, 41, testified in Circuit Court yesterday that her husband pushed her into the lake after she lost a big fish while they were fishing together last year.

"I had to swim for my life," she said.

Her husband Calvin, a machinist, did not contest her story. Circuit Judge B. Fain Tucker granted her a divorce on cruelty grounds.
