At the hospital Mrs. Wright was described as in fair condition with multiple head and body fractures.

Khrushy Pushing His New Advantage

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Tough-talking Nikita Khrushchev evidently has decided to use Russia's newly won position in missile and satellite development to pressure the Western Powers into a defensive position in the cold war. That is the implication seen by at least some officials here in Khrushchev's latest outburst—his speech to the East Germans. In that speech Khrushchev coupled a clear warning to Turkey not to try to push Syria around, with a demand that the United States accept peaceful coexistence with all the Communist countries including Red China.

Following up that line, the Soviet Communist party boss implied in an interview with James Reston of the New York Times that the coexistence would be pretty much on terms laid down by the Red bloc.

Khrushchev and his colleagues have complained for years that U.S. leaders were building policies on "positions of strength." The Reds seemed to be saying that with its Strategic Air Force, a chain of air bases and atomic weapons, the United States was trying to get its way by using superior power to browbeat the Communist countries into submission.

NAKED POWER
The Kremlin bosses talked about this enough to suggest more than the adoption of a propaganda line. They gave the impression they were fascinated by the real policy implications of a diplomacy based on naked power, as they saw it. Against the record of this past behavior it appears that Khrushchev and perhaps others in the Moscow ruling group are now convinced that they have the power to undertake some heavy-handed maneuvering themselves in atomic age diplomacy.

One point under particular scrutiny here was Khrushchev's expressed willingness, set forth in the newspaper interview, to have international control over space flights, satellites and the like.

One initial reaction here was that this and everything else Khrushchev said should be carefully analyzed to see whether the Soviets are working themselves into a position for real negotiations behind a smokescreen of bluster. However, some early evaluations put the international control statement down as a kind of diversionary move to cover the Soviet position defensively while Russian diplomacy strikes out hard on the offensive side.

Khrushchev may feel that Russia's claim last month of the successful firing of an intercontinental missile, plus the launching last week of an earth satellite—itsself evidence of Soviet power in rocketry—has put Moscow in the "position of strength" which Moscow had accused the West of using for so long.

NEW RELATIONS
If this is a correct analysis it suggests that the Soviet government will try to employ its real or assumed physical power to change the shape of diplomatic relations between the Communist and Western blocs and wring concessions from the West.

Khrushchev's statement that the United States must accept the existence of the Communist countries, including Red China, falls into line with that idea. So does his talk about international inspection or control of rockets and earth satellites, which carried no intimation that agreement could be achieved through concessions by the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev seems to stand firm on Russia's disarmament proposals which have heretofore been rejected by the Western Powers. The United States had already called for bringing rockets into an arms control system as part

'Why' Of United Giving Is Explained By Welfare Leader

Fred Lange stood on a street corner in San Antonio 24 years ago, ringing a Salvation Army bell. Since then he has played a key role in the raising of more than $40 million for welfare and character building agencies. "I did it because I wanted to please my heavenly Father by doing something to help my fellow man," he said humbly as he addressed a combined service club luncheon here Tuesday. Then he went on to lay on the hearts of all who are having a part in the United Fund campaign here to have a mind to do the job—and do it well. "When the Hebrew children returned to Jerusalem, they were defeated and downcast," he declared, but Nehemiah tells how they said "Let us build the wall—those of us who have a mind to." Once in Dallas, he said, prospect cards in a Community Chest campaign were found in a gutter. Brought back to headquarters they were traced immediately to a volunteer who had thrown them away. The volunteer's employer happened to overhear Lange when he went to see about it and suggested the three of them go to the children's hospital. There they found an emaciated youngster being fed by tubes through the nose. The employer turned to his associate and said: "Jerk the tubes out!" The worker recoiled at the suggestion, said Lange, and demanded: "Do you think I'm crazy?" "Why not?" asked his employer. "That's what you did when you threw the cards away." Lange spoke of the participating agencies in Big Spring and said that the United Fund appeal boiled down simply to the "business" of talking "with him who has about him who has not." He warned against taking economy of a community or its prosperity as a gauge of its needs. The measure of needs is in the people themselves, he said. Giving in an united, federated way is a peculiarity of our nation, Lange declared, and "taking care of our own without governmental compulsion is strictly an American invention. "If we give up this hallmark, we shall be back where they (the old countries) are. Soon the government will be taking care of everyone; next it will take care of the church and then finally of all our liberties." A city with a road beside a high cliff would be foolish to buy ambulances to haul off people who fall from the cliff rather than to build a wall around it, he said. After all, giving to the United Fund is the simple way to build the wall around our young people. Charles Weeg, Rotary president, presided at the meeting and introduced heads of other clubs. R. W. Whipkey, chairman of publicity for the UF, introduced officers and also presented Lange, who is executive vice president of the Dallas Community Chest's trust fund. Besides the clubs, there were more than a dozen volunteers in the Texas & Pacific Railway Company employees division.

Beauty Shrinks From The Title

LONDON (AP)—Reluctant Miss Ireland declared today she hopes to be roundly beaten in the forthcoming Miss World beauty contest. Victory, she explained, would cost her her boy friend. Miss Ireland is 19-year-old Nessa Welsh, a poker-faced but comely brunette. "They did not tell me until I had won the title Miss Ireland that I would have to wear a bathing suit," she told a reporter. "If my parents had not scrimped to buy my clothes for the trip, I wouldn't have come. If I win the contest, my boy friend will never speak to me again. He did not like my entering in the first place. It is a sin," he said to me. My priest did not like it either."

Anti-Reds Plan To Take Over In San Marino

SAN MARINO (AP)—Confident anti-Communists today expected to take over undisputed rule of San Marino by nightfall, ending a 12-year Communist rule of this tiny mountain republic. Anti-Communists who set up a provisional "White" government on Oct. 1 gave the Reds until 6 p.m. to answer an ultimatum demanding "complete surrender." The leader of the rival Communist regime, Domenico Morganti, indicated last night that his side was ready to give in.

of a general disarmament treaty. At the same time that he raises these questions—which directly involve Soviet relations with the United States, Khrushchev warns Turkey against pressuring its pro-Soviet neighbor, Syria, by maneuvering troops on the Syrian border. He menacingly mentions that Turkey's own border should be better defended, thus suggesting the idea of a Soviet attack without bluntly threatening it. Perhaps the most serious danger in that kind of talk is that it increasingly engages Soviet prestige in support of Syria and makes it more difficult to think of Russia holding aloof from a Middle East conflict should even local trouble break out there.

'Fight Or Talk,' Is Khrushy's Idea

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev wants a top-level conference between U.S. and Soviet leaders because he thinks the two countries must either fight or talk things out, the New York Times said today.

Soviet leaders were said to desire a meeting of Khrushchev or Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev indicated that the launching of the Soviet earth satellite last week may bring the two countries closer to high-level talks, reported James Reston, chief of the Washington bureau of the Times, who is visiting Moscow.

Reston interviewed Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist party chief, Monday. The interview is being released daily in three parts, the second of which appeared today.

"Everyone here," Reston wrote, "has the same answer to complaints about United States-Soviet differences in the Middle East or Germany, high-level talks by Marshal Zhukov, whose name and picture seem to be more and more prominent; or by Mr. Khrushchev."

Informed diplomats in Moscow believe that after the current U.N. Assembly session the Russians will try to set up disarmament talks involving Zhukov, Reston reported.

"Mr. Khrushchev said that the two major nations either had to fight things out or talk them out," Reston wrote. "While he said that apparently Washington did not think the time was ripe for serious new conversations on disarmament, he did indicate that the launching of the Soviet earth satellite last week might produce a new approach."

The last top-level talks between the United States and the Soviet Union were at Geneva in July 1955. Zhukov attended those meetings, but in a secondary capacity.

"The influence of the marshal, with whom Eisenhower established a close relationship in Germany immediately after World War II, has increased since the Geneva conference," Reston said. "There is now an evident attempt here to bring him into negotiations with President Eisenhower."

Khrushchev said in the interview that the United States had rebuffed Soviet attempts to arrange a visit by Zhukov to Washington last summer after Eisenhower said at a news conference July 17 that it might be useful for the marshal to meet with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The Soviet union in a note July

2, offered to send Zhukov to Washington, Khrushchev said, but was told Eisenhower's remarks had been wrongly interpreted. No invitation was issued.

"That is a bad thing," Khrushchev said. "We are a proud nation and we do not want to go down on our knees to arrange these things."

Reston reported that Khrushchev seemed resentful about the matter and commented with feeling.

"We evaluated that press conference very carefully indeed. We believed when we heard those words that they (the Americans) sincerely wanted Zhukov, taking into account that it was important from our point of view for him to go."

"We felt that this would contribute to an understanding. We wanted Zhukov to go. We have the greatest respect for Eisenhower. His words should not be used in this way."

Hits Pentagon

Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of Fels Planetarium, Philadelphia, said the U.S. could have launched its huge Jupiter C guided missile into outer space a year ago. He said the Pentagon explained this "astounding piece of stupidity" by asserting the Jupiter was designed as a missile, not as a satellite launcher.

Polish Students Back In School

WARSAW (AP)—Students trooped back to Warsaw Polytechnic School today for the first time since their demonstrations last week against censorship and police methods.

Rector Wladyslaw Araszewicz told them they must maintain absolute quiet in the school and their hostels.

Warsaw was quiet last night. It was the first night free of clashes between demonstrators and police since last Thursday.

However, unrest was reported among students at Wroclaw, the former German city of Breslau. The youth newspaper Sztandar Mlodych said the university faculty had to call a meeting to head off a strike of students disturbed by rumors that their scholarships would be cut.

The report made no mention of any connection with the Warsaw protests against the ban on the student paper Po Prustu and the methods of the police who broke up demonstrations.

Prosecuting authorities continued investigation of scores arrested during the demonstrations and the riot which followed.

Trial are expected to start by the weekend. It was reported the majority would be charged under a section of the legal code providing sentences of from six months to five years.

District Legion Convention To Be Held Here On Weekend

Legionnaires and Auxiliary members of the 19th Congressional District will convene here on Saturday and Sunday for their annual American Legion fall convention. J. V. Gregory, commander of Post No. 355 has reminded.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Crawford Hotel and will continue until 6 p.m. Gerald Turner, VAC service officer from Lubbock will have charge of a rehabilitation program at 4 p.m. for post officers in the Elks ballroom.

Entertainment for the evening will begin at 6 p.m. with a social hour for all registered legionnaires and auxiliary members. The annual convention dance will get under way at 9 p.m. in the Elks Ballroom of the hotel.

Registration will open at 8 a.m. Sunday in the hotel. The commanders' and adjutants' breakfast will be held at the Wagon Wheel Cafe, East Highway 80, at 9 a.m. This will be a "dutch" breakfast.

The joint session of The American Legion and Auxiliary will convene at 10 a.m. in the Elks Ballroom at the hotel. Nineteenth District Commander Raymond L. Andrews, Big Spring, will call the session to order. The Web Air Base color guard will post the colors. Wilfred Stoerner, 19th district chaplain, will give the invocation. The "Preamble" will be led by Wayne Bybee, 19th District vice commander. The address will be given by Wayne Smith, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and the response by Andrews.

The principal speaker will be Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock. Vice Commander C. B. Cathey of San Angelo will also appear before the convention. Commander Andrews will introduce the guests to the convention. Past Department Commander E. L. "Stone-wall" Jackson of Cisco will conduct the Memorial Service at 11 a.m.

At noon lunch will be served to all registered delegates and guests in the Elks Ballroom.

The American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their separate business sessions, beginning at 1:30 p.m. At this session the group will hear an address on membership, committee reports, and the next convention city will be decided on.

George Zachariah, Jack Pearson, and O. W. Sparks have been named to head up the convention arrangements committee.

Larger Satellites To Carry Animals

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union will send larger satellites into outer space with live animals to study the possibilities of interplanetary travel, Pravda said today.

The man-made moons now circling the globe is the first step toward "winning cosmic space," the Communist party newspaper said in a long account of its construction and launching.

Pravda confirmed that the satellite has been transmitting reports on temperatures and other outer space conditions by coded radio messages which presumably only Soviet observers can decipher.

Some Soviet scientists previously have denied that any code was being used.

Pravda gave no indication that the information from the satellite will be given other nations participating in the International Geophysical Year. The nations previously had agreed to share such data.

Neither did the account indicate when satellites carrying animals might be launched.

Soviet scientists claim to have sent live dogs on rockets to heights of 62 miles without injury.

"A satellite will be launched with animals as passengers and there will be detailed observations of their behavior and physical reactions to cosmic flight," Pravda said.

The satellite story, which covered two pages, did not mention that the baby moon might be losing altitude. British scientists have reported that it is.

Pravda said radio transmissions from the satellite are likely to end soon, because its battery power will be gone. But the newspaper said optical and radar observations will be continued "for a long time."

The story said lack of knowledge of outer space makes it impossible to predict when the satellite and its two fellow travelers—part of the rocket which took it up and a protective cone—will fall into the atmosphere and be burned up.

Eleanor Says U.S. Has Iron Curtain

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says it is the United States rather than Russia which now has an "Iron Curtain."

Speaking yesterday on her impressions of a recent three-week visit to the Soviet Union, she said American tourists now are able to know more than ever before about conditions in Russia.

Russians, however, are not allowed by the U.S. State Department to enter this country unless the State Department thinks their visit would be valuable to the United States, she said.

"Let the Russians come here and see what it means to live in a free country," she said at a luncheon held to raise funds for the Wiltwyck School for Problem Boys at Esopus, N.Y.

Geologist Takes Stand In Trial On Statutory Charge

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP)—Dr. Thomas Stoelting testified in his own defense today at his trial on charges of carnally abusing a girl, 15.

Prosecutor Herbert Heisel closed the state's case against the geologist, 52, yesterday.

Defense counsel Jules St. Germain sought dismissal of the case. The motion was denied by Judge Edward Gaiklin.

St. Germain said "blaring improbabilities in the state's testimony which astound the imagination" were the basis of his motion. He cited testimony concerning the pistol which police said Sandra Hauck, the girl Stoelting is alleged to have had relations with, used in shooting the geologist at her parents' home last April 3. Stoelting is recovering from the wound.

The girl's father, prominent attorney Anthony Hauck Jr., and Stoelting were associated in a mining venture with Ralph Meuer, 50, Stoelting and Meuer were guests in the Hauck home when the shooting took place.

The state has charged that the geologist had intercourse with Sandra many times in two years.

St. Germain contended that Meuer—not Stoelting—was involved in an affair with the girl. He said he planned to call at least five witnesses in an effort to prove that Meuer and Sandra plotted to kill the geologist.

Meuer testified yesterday he once told Stoelting that he had sexual relations with Sandra. He added that this was not true and that he had only said it "because I wanted to regain his (Stoelting's) confidence."

He told the jury Stoelting had told him he had been having relations with the girl and had urged Meuer to do likewise.

Guard To Get Nike Weapons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Army announced today that National Guard units which have been manning conventional anti-aircraft guns guarding the nation's cities will be equipped with Nike guided missiles as soon as training of guardsmen can be completed.

At present, National Guard units man 101 batteries of World War II gun equipment in 10 states—California, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Washington—and the District of Columbia.

Nike installations now are operated by regular Army units.

The Army said the majority of members of National Guard Nike units will receive training at Army Nike sites in their home areas. Before a National Guard battalion takes over a Nike site, about 140 of its officers and men will receive additional missile training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., for periods ranging upward from 12 weeks.

Defense Opens In Rape Trial

TULSA (AP)—The defense opened its case today in the second degree rape trial of Dr. John Rhine, 35, Tulsa physician charged with drugging and raping one of his patients.

The prosecution rested yesterday after presenting 10 witnesses, including the complaining witness, four doctors and three other women who were former patients.

Dr. Rhine is accused of raping Mrs. Flora Moore, 20, after injecting her with an anesthetic.

The doctors testified the drug could be used to put a patient in a state ranging from mild sedation to a complete coma. Dr. Harry Stewart said the drug does not affect the muscles of the body but affects the desire to move and inhibits clear thinking.

Two former patients, Mrs. June Coffey and Mrs. John Flies Jr., testified the physician sexually assaulted them after first administering the drug. Details of the alleged assaults appeared similar to those related to the jury by Mrs. Moore Monday.

Another former patient, Mrs. Norma Chrysler, said the doctor molested her after sending her husband on a prescription errand.

Number Of Texas Flu Cases Double

By The Associated Press

The number of flu cases more than doubled in Texas last week. Scattered outbreaks were reported over much of Texas, striking hard at schools and school activities.

The Beaumont area in Southeast Texas was especially hard hit Wednesday. A parochial school closed in Beaumont, another in Port Arthur, and public schools were closed in Sillsbee, Kountze, Warren, Hemphill, Sour Lake and Chance-Loeb.

A State Health Department spokesman said 74 counties reported 37,753 new cases of illness resembling influenza, boosting the total to 62,319 for the year.

Austin schools had as high as 25 per cent absenteeism from respiratory ailments. Dallas schools had a steadily climbing flu incidence. At Italy, Tex., grammar schools closed Tuesday with 55 of the 243 students absent.

The Hemphill High band canceled Tuesday its appearance in the State Fair Music Festival at Dallas because of flu.

Southwest Texas State at San Marcos had another outbreak of flu. The school closed for a time two weeks ago. Tuesday 250 students were ill. San Marcos High had about 104 students absent.

Atlanta and Holiday also closed because of flu.

Several football games over the state were cancelled.

The Health Department said the reports of new cases last week did not indicate how much of the flu was Asian.

Nine counties reported more than 1,000 persons stricken last week and while 46 reported more than 50 new cases. They included: Anderson 100, Bee 85, Atascosa 78, Bell 136, Bexar 7,000, Blanco 50, Brazoria 233, Brazos 127, Brooks 50, Cameron 84, Cass 540, Childress 200, Comal 170, Dallas 335, Deaf Smith 60, Duval 128, El Paso 1,261, Fort Bend 164, Guadalupe 300, Hamilton 125, Harris 5,000, Hidalgo 139, Hunt 168, Jasper 65, Jefferson 2,943, Lamar 275, La Salle 463, Limestone 300, Lubbock 128, McLennan 7,000, Maverick 205, Maverick 65, Milam 242, Nacogdoches 65, Nueces 1,500, Navarro 79, Potter 204, Randall 350, Red River 300, Reeves 600, Shelby 1,000, Smith 166, Tarrant 1,500, 1,500, Travis 2,450, Webb 659 and Wood 140.

Rouosting

Robert King, 19, pokes his thumb through a hole in his shirt he says was torn by the bayonet of a paratrooper outside a dance at a high school field house in Little Rock. King said he and several others were outside the field house smoking and that he was also knocked down during the rousing after they politely refused a request of two paratroopers to move on. The Army said the group was shouting taunts at the soldiers and that King grabbed at one soldier's rifle.

Dulles Believes We're Still Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson today credited Russia with turning "a nice scientific trick" in launching the first earth satellite. But he said he believes the United States still is ahead of the Soviet Union from an over-all defense standpoint.

Wilson, who is retiring from the Cabinet tomorrow, held a sidewalk news conference at the White House after a farewell call on President Eisenhower.

Faubus, For Better Or Worse, Has Won A Place In History

By RELMAN MORIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 9 (AP)—Two months ago, the name of the governor of Arkansas, Orval Eugene Faubus, was hardly known outside the state.

Today, Faubus is assured for all time of a place in American history.

He may be regarded now with admiration or contempt, as a statesman or an opportunist politician, as a man who did the right thing in the right way, or the wrong thing in the wrong way.

But in any case, so long as the wracking story of integration is recalled, his name will be an indelible part of it.

For Faubus stands in the center of the events that have dramatized this struggle. From them have arisen a hard dilemma and a painful choice for millions of people — Negro children in the schools or the possibility of federal troops in the streets, whether to try to preserve a well-loved way of life or to respect the law as it now stands.

Given time, the law might be changed. Avenues of compromise may be discovered. Faubus, by precipitating the showdown between the federal government and the states, probably has narrowed the possibilities.

He has raced the wheels of evolution.

A few reporters, with calculated rudeness, sometimes try to needle Faubus. His benign mildness, in reply, is devastating. Nothing seems to ruffle him. He is a shrewd pleader.

For example, he describes U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota—the man who ordered Faubus to stop interfering with the integration of Central High School — as an "imported judge." That evokes the picture, held by many Southerners, of the rich and powerful North "cramping integration down our throats."

Faubus replies that Mann is a "discredited politician," and says, "I wouldn't believe anything Virgil Blossom says."

Why didn't he call out the state troopers instead of the Guard?

"I don't have enough state troopers," he says.

Then why didn't he use the Guard to protect the Negroes instead of to bar them from the school?

"Because that wouldn't have removed the cause of violence," he says. "The cause is inside the school."

Could it be that he is running for a third term?

"Nobody knows that," he says, "because I don't know myself."

Nevertheless, many people in Little Rock are convinced that Faubus will be a candidate again next year. The theory is that he hopes to postpone integration until then.

He knows, better than anyone else in the state, the depth of feeling against integration.

NATIVE OF STATE

But he overlooks the point that U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller — the man who first approved the Little Rock school board's plan for integration — is a native Arkansan.

He has accused the FBI of tapping his telephones, and holding high school girls incommunicado during hours of questioning. When FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover denied both charges, Faubus said Hoover used "lawyer's language," and did not, in fact, deny them at all.

He says he will not have "my people bludgeoned and bayoneted." But he will not say whether he will guarantee the safety of Negro students at Central High if federal troops leave Little Rock.

These and other aspects of the astonishing Little Rock story grew out of the train of events set in motion by Faubus the night of Sept. 2.

On that night, he ordered the Arkansas National Guard to encircle Central High School and to turn away Negro children when they came there to enroll the next day.

What were his motives?

To preserve peace and order, he says. He insists he had information that violence was brewing, time to explode when the children appeared.

What was that information?

FEARS SUIT

He says he can't disclose it publicly without violating a confidence, and "possibly jeopardizing myself in litigation."

Woodrow Wilson Mann, mayor of Little Rock, and Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of schools, say they never heard of any planned violence at the school.

BOOSTED STOCK

In so doing, he seems to have boosted his own political stock immensely in Arkansas.

His mail indicates it. So do letters to newspapers around the state, and the soundings taken by reporters.

He probably has alienated the entire Negro vote, estimated at 60,000. The moderates in Arkansas are outspokenly critical of him. And the people who don't want integration but do want law and order and prestige for the state are against him.

On balance, however, his position looks very strong today, possibly stronger than before the incredible events of September. The consensus is that if he runs for a third term, he will be elected.

Personally, Faubus is a rather engaging man. He has a mild, easy-going way about him. He comes into a conference room with a smile, his "press conference smile," as the Little Rock reporters say.

Jack Benny Quits While $64 Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Jack Benny climbed just one rung on The $64,000 Question financial ladder last night and decided it was a dizzying height. He quit—and left the show just $64 richer.

Benny, whose closeness with a dollar is one of his theatrical trademarks, insisted on stopping with $64 even though quizmaster Hal March told him such a thing had never been done before. Traveling expenses alone for Benny to come from California had cost $300, March said.

But the dry-witted comedian insisted. And since the show was not prepared with a check, March and other members of the cast dug up $64 from their own wallets.

Benny won the money on the one and only question in his category, the violin. He gave the first name of the violin maker Stradivari (Antonio) and his birthplace (Cremona, Italy).

Voice Of Sputnik Reported Faltering

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—The beeping voice of the Russian moon-Sputnik—is reportedly faltering. It fell silent at least once, although it gave out strong signals later.

Moscow says the moon's radio voice may not last long. This suggests its batteries are going dead even as it spins out just its fifth day of life.

This could be significant for several reasons.

If Sputnik claims up completely too soon, Americans and many other citizens of the world may never get a good chance to see this first bold explorer of space.

Sputnik has to keep talking long enough for scientists to get enough radial "fixes" to predict its orbit. Only then can they give you a timetable of precisely where and when to look in your locality for a glimpse of the baby moon.

The Russians, with advanced knowledge of Sputnik's expected orbit, may have determined its orbit accurately. Scientists elsewhere have not reported complete success or precise predictions.

At Ottawa, a government spokesman said last night Canadian scientists had defined the orbit of the satellite, apparently to an accuracy of 50 miles.

At first, Russian scientists said a large part of Sputnik's astounding 184-pound weight was batteries to keep its radio voice talking. They indicated it would keep talking about two or three weeks. This would give time enough for a number of other nations to spot it accurately by radio.

Now, Moscow says the moon voice may not last more than a few days.

With no Soviet explanation detailed, this indicates Sputnik's batteries are a conventional, heavy chemical type having a short life when kept continuously very busy.

Last night Sputnik was silent over this country for six hours, reports the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington. Then it came back on again.

Electrical disturbances in the high atmosphere could have blocked its radio signals. Or, perhaps the Russians intentionally turned it off for a time to conserve its power. This could be done by the wheeling moon from earth.

Sputnik could keep circling the earth for days or years after its radio falls silent. But then it would be hard to find and track precisely unless its path had been pretty well predicted before that.

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian reports now suggest that their moon carries several eyes and ears to explore secrets of space and earth.

It would be radioing back in code what it learns.

Various Soviet reports indicate Sputnik is measuring temperatures in space, meters, changes in magnetism, and perhaps cosmic rays.

At first Sputnik was said to carry only batteries and radio equipment so it could send out signals needed to learn its path or orbit. A Russian rocket scientist, Dr. A. A. Blagonravov, attending a meeting in Washington said he thought it was a simple moon, doing only that job.

But he said Russia had two moons ready to shoot at the time. And it's possible the first Sputnik to go aloft was the more complex one.

Now Dr. Blagonravov says he thinks the moon is measuring temperatures in space.

Earlier a Russian scientist in Moscow said it was counting hits by meteors in space.

It would have to radio such information back in code.

U. S. scientists say Sputnik's signals seem to contain a code, known only to the Russians.

This code seems to be broadcast continuously. The Russians could also send a command signal for Sputnik to talk to earth only when it is passing over Russia.

Now Russia radio says Sputnik is learning new things about the electro-magnetic South Pole.

How this information is being learned by Soviet scientists tracking Sputnik in the Antarctic is not explained.

Sputnik might carry a magnetometer to measure changes in the earth's magnetic field. A planned U. S. moon will do this.

said the advertisements, would Negroes and whites use the same toilet facilities in the schools?

Supt. Blossom replied publicly, point for point.

So the fires began to burn. Segregationist speeches in Little Rock added fuel.

Faubus called out the Guard. The federal government took legal action to force him to let the Negroes enroll. On Sept. 20, Faubus' lawyers told Judge Davies the U.S. District Court had no jurisdiction over the governor, and abruptly left the courtroom.

Davies handed down the injunction against Faubus. That same night—a Friday night—Faubus recalled the guardsmen.

The following Monday saw the beginning of three fantastic days, and the events that put the name of Orval Faubus forever in the pages of history.

Tomorrow: Three days that shook the nation.

Garden City Offensive Regulars

scheduled to return to action Friday night, Oct. 18, meeting Sterling City in Sterling. Coach Delnor Potts' team has won four of five starts this season, losing only to Gail.

Sooners, Duke Picked To Win Over SW Teams

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Flu germs, moving franchises, man-made satellites, home runs, blocked punts... it is enough to send a football prognosticator inside his crystal ball for protection.
Last week's efforts resulted in 36 correct choices and nine disappointments. That's an .800 average. The season figures are 96 correct, 27 wrong for 781.
This week's picks:
Oklahoma over Texas: Bud Wilkinson has the reserves to bring about Oklahoma's 43rd straight victory.
Michigan State over Michigan: Should be even closer than last year's 9-0 Spartan victory.
Minnesota over Northwestern: Bobby Cox and Co. have the physical edge.
Duke over Rice: The Dukes have a great two-man backfield in halfback Wray Carlton and fullback Hal McElhaney. However, a tie wouldn't hurt.
Auburn over Kentucky: Auburn gaining stature as possibly the best in the Southeastern Conference.
Army over Notre Dame: This venerable series is being revived. Army's 34-man squad is healthy. Notre Dame has several line casualties.
Baylor over Arkansas: How tough can these get? Baylor by a point.
Navy over California: Ned Oldham to get in gear again for the Middies.
Princeton over Penn: Johnny Sapoch, Tiger quarterback, as good a back as there is in the East.
Skipping over the others:
FRIDAY NIGHT
George Washington over Air Force Academy, Miami over North Carolina, Southern Methodist over Missouri, Tulane over Georgia, The Citadel over Wofford.
SATURDAY
EAST: Boston College over Dayton, West Virginia over Boston University, Colgate over Rutgers, Syracuse over Cornell, Dartmouth over Brown, Harvard over Ohio University, Penn State over William & Mary, Pittsburgh over Nebraska, Yale over Columbia.
MIDWEST: Iowa over Indiana, Cincinnati over Xavier, Kansas over Iowa State, Holy Cross over Marquette, Ohio State over Illinois, Oklahoma State over Tulsa, Detroit over Wichita.
SOUTH: Mississippi over Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech over Louisiana State, North Carolina State over Florida State, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, South Carolina over Furman, Tennessee over Chattanooga, Virginia Military over Davidson, Virginia Tech over Villanova, Virginia over Clemson.
SOUTHWEST: Texas A&M over Houston, Texas Christian over Alabama, North Texas State over Abilene Christian, Texas Western over Texas Tech.
FAR WEST: Oregon State over Idaho, Denver over Montana, Oregon over San Jose, Kansas State over College of Pacific, Arizona State over Hardin-Simmons, Colorado over Arizona, Utah State over New Mexico, Utah over Brigham Young, Wyoming over Colorado State, Stanford over Washington State, UCLA over Washington.

Big League Growth Seen By NL Prexy

By ED WILKS
NEW YORK (AP) — With the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants now officially headed for the West Coast, National League President Warren Giles today said expansion, to 10 or 12-team leagues, is the next logical step for further changes in the major league baseball map.
"I don't know of any club now considering relocation," said Giles. "If any cities not now included in the major league baseball makeup are to have major league baseball it would seem to have to come through expansion, not additional franchise transfers."

IN AP POLL Gophers' Larson Is Back Of Week

By The Associated Press
Minnesota's Dick Larson, a second string quarterback who has been overshadowed by talented Bobby Cox for two years, today was named Back of the Week by the Associated Press for his spectacular feats in leading the unbeaten Gophers to victory over Purdue.
The 21-year old 5-11, 175-pound senior stepped into the breach when the inspired, underdog Boilermakers were giving Cox and the Gophers fits. Cox had been shackled on the ground and in the air.
Larson ran back a punt 72 yards for one touchdown, passed 16 yards to Bill Chorske for another,

Gophers' Larson Is Back Of Week

and ran five yards for the third and winning touchdown in the last quarter, for a 21-17 victory. He set up the final TD with a 52-yard pass play to Chorske.
He was "simply sensational," said Minnesota coach Murray Warmath.
There were plenty of other contenders for the honor in the weekly AP poll.

Anthony's And Cosden Pull Away In Bowling Circuit

Two teams—C. R. Anthony's and Cosden—are now outdistancing the other clubs in the battle for first place in the Ladies Classic bowling league and they clash next week.
Last night, Anthony's kayoed Pinkie's 3-0, to remain one game ahead of Cosden with a 14-1 record. Cosden blanked Good Housekeeping by the same tab.
In other matches, Texaco Star edged Neel's Transfer, 2-1; the same margin by which Rite-Way Motors got by Hodges Hobby House.
Anthony's dominated team scoring with 841-798-2353. Cosden had the next best series, 2217.
Thelma Geers of Cosden posted 199-224 for individual laurels. Angie Merrill of Pinkie's had a 481 aggregate while June White of Hodges Hobby House registered a 194 single game effort.

Anthony's And Cosden Pull Away In Bowling Circuit

Splits were converted by the following individuals:
Audrey Piper, Bedwell Texaco, 3-10; Margo McGreevy, Harwell Texaco, 3-10; Jean Fink, Neel's Transfer, 5-10; June Sprosser, Good Housekeeping, 5-7; Angie Merrill, Pinkie's, 6-7-10; Frances Glenn, Pinkie's, 3-10; and Mary Ruth Robertson, Pinkie's, 3-10.
In addition to the Cosden-Anthony clash next week, Pinkie's tries Good Housekeeping, Hodges Hobby House opposes Neel's Transfer and Rite-Way Motors squares off with Texaco Stars.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With Tommy Hart

Following is a letter written recently by Floyd R. Parsons, superintendent of schools here, to Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, who fills a like capacity in Snyder, concerning the mixup in dates of a junior high school football doubleheader there last weekend.
Buck Francis of the Snyder Daily News wrote what purported to be the facts in an inflammatory article last Friday. Here is the rebuttal, as offered by Mr. Parsons:
Dr. Cecil Yarbrough
Superintendent of Schools
Snyder Public Schools
Snyder, Texas
Dear Cecil:
I think it is a mistake ever to allow what appears to be an honest misunderstanding on someone's part, result in flagrant statements being made by parties from both of our communities. I feel that when the fine friendly relationship of two neighboring cities is threatened, the citizens of both communities are entitled to a fair and impartial report of the actual facts.
A consolidated football schedule covering all games scheduled for our A team, B team, all junior high teams, and Lakeview Colored School was handed to me during the month of August, 1957. This mimeographed schedule shows that our 7th grade team was scheduled to play Snyder there at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 5. It further shows that our 8th grade team was scheduled to play Snyder there at 8:30 p.m. on October 5. In order to verify this matter, our penciled copy or working copy of the schedule was examined. This is the copy from which the mimeographed copy was made. The working copy carried the date of October 5.
During the early part of last week, our junior high coach mailed to the Snyder coach a letter giving the color of the jerseys to be worn by our team in our game scheduled for October 5. This letter was received, read by the Snyder coach and the date noted. This was reported to me during our conversation by telephone Friday morning. During this conversation you further stated that the coach assumed that the date given, October 5, was a typographical error but thought it of not sufficient moment to check up on the matter by telephone.
At approximately 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 3, our junior high school principal received a telephone call from Snyder inquiring if our junior high school teams were coming as scheduled. Our junior high school principal informed the Snyder inquirer that he was at home, did not have a football schedule before him but if our teams were scheduled to play them that night he was sure that they were on their way. In my opinion, this reply under the conditions was logical, just, and reasonable.
It seems to me that this case is a striking example of the inadequacy of oral agreements. The games were originally scheduled by telephone and it is possible that, upon concluding the telephone conversation, the Snyder coach noted a game with Big Spring for October 3 while our coach noted the game for October 5.
If we were in error on this date originally, our deepest apologies are extended to the Snyder school officials and the fifteen hundred odd fans who anxiously awaited the arrival of our teams on October 3rd. If Snyder were in error, we feel that statements already made should be retracted and/or corrected to correspond with the facts. It is possible that we shall never know who was in error in recording the date; in that event, the matter should be dropped immediately. There is nothing to be gained by continuing to re-hash a problem for which there is no solution; it will only result in dragging more skeletons out of the closet. Regardless of which school was in error, we in Big Spring are indeed sorry for the inconvenience caused our friends and neighbors. The games were not played on the date as it appeared on the Snyder calendar and were they played on the date as it appeared on the Big Spring calendar. In the final analysis, the football players from both schools were the losers; let's make it up to them with clean-cut, avid sportsman-like conduct in the future.
It is our hope in Big Spring that the matter can just be forgotten, Cecil. Let's start from where we are, make every effort to eliminate the flagrant statements based upon hearsay, and begin building a relationship that will be a credit to District 2-AAA where we hope you will be next year.
Yours very truly,
Floyd W. Parsons
Superintendent of Schools

Post-Season Tests Often Tough For Grid Kingpins

By ROB HOOBING
The Associated Press
Occasionally, a national football champion receives its sternest challenge in a postseason trial of the right to rule the gridiron. Such was the case with the mighty Texas Christian Horned Frogs of 1939.
Not once during the regular schedule did TCU trail an opponent as quarterback Davey O'Brien, the amazing 150-pound Heisman Trophy winner and sophomore fullback Connie Sparks struck crippling blows from behind a massive line.
Going into the Jan. 2, 1939, Sugar Bowl game against eastern champion Carnegie Tech the Frogs were top heavy favorites. All America center, linebacker and defensive signal-caller Kl Aldrich had been declared ready despite an eye ulcer.
However, TCU Coach Leo

he could hardly raise his right arm, was whisked to a hospital. X-rays showed there were no breaks or bone damage in his right shoulder but that he suffered a torn cartilage in his collision with Schoendienst in the third game.
"I don't think it will be okay for the series, no matter how long it goes," he said. "Those things take a long time to heal."
Schoendienst also said: "I don't think I can play any more in the series."
With Mantle and Skowron out and Yogi Berra without an extra-base hit or a run-batted-in during the entire series, Yankee Manager Casey Stengel sought desperately to inject some more punch into his lineup. He finally settled for one new face, thus presenting six different batting orders in the six games.
Casey benched Harry Simpson with another left-handed hitter, Joe Collins, at first base. Simpson has had only one hit in nine times at bat.

BS Girl Wins Racing Award

Gwyn McCullough, who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCullough, went to Corpus Christi last weekend to take part in and witness the National Outboard Association World Championship races, returned with a third place trophy and $40 in prize money.
The 17-year-old girl's award came in the B Hydro class. Tommy Christopher of Grenada, Miss., won the event while Ken Sorenson of Los Angeles finished second.
Gwyn's A Hydro entry was disqualified because it weighed in three pounds too light, even after it had qualified in the trials.
Ben McCullough did not get to race in the D Runabout Class due to the fact that his gas tank feeder line broke.
Gwyn was the only woman entry in the meet, which attracted about 200 entries from all over the country. The races were held at Sunset Lake in Corpus.

Frame-Ups Build Lead In Circuit

The Frame-Ups jumped from one to a three game lead over the Split Tails in the Officers' Wives League at the Clover Bowl Monday night.
In the matches, Frame-Ups won over the Cotton Pickers, Boleroos edged the Goof Offers, the Pockettes trounced the second place Split Tails, while the Duds dumped the Sittin Ducks; all by a 3-1 margin.
Charlotte Townsend achieved the high game for the night with her 194 game, while Ruth Makris was second with 192.
Ruth Makris continues to maintain the individual high average with a 157.
A three-game series of 515 was rallied by Ruth Makris, while Dottie Wyatt rolled a total of 445 and Evie Malott 441.

Rockets Seek First Win In Game With Plainview

By BOBBY HORTON
Coach Roosevelt Brown's Lakeview Rockets have had their share of troubles this year. Besides being weakened throughout the season by invasions of virus, the Rockets have been victims of two formidable foes, Midland and Odessa.
As in the case with most coaches, Coach Brown is a bit dubious about the outcome, but it is evident that his chances will be strengthened with the recovery of three standout performers. Still on the doubtful list are fullback Robert Allen, left guard Rogers Evans, and right guard Nathaniel Lynn.
In their first two outings, the Rockets fell before an onslaught of Midland backs and a stubborn Odessa crew. Next week they face Plainview in a game that could mean a great deal to the local athletes. Plainview defeated Odessa previously. All depending on recovery from physical ailments and spirit, the boys from Lakeview look forward to winning ways.
Against Plainview, Coach Brown plans to start:
In the backfield, starters will be, left halfback, Danny Traylor; fullback, Robert Allen; and right half, Harvey Foster.
Standing by for Coach Brown are two other valuable backfield reserves, Luther Brown, and Luther Davis, whom he hopes can carry a full load of responsibility when the occasion arises.

GOOD...so good it's remarkable
Notice that Early Times is the main ingredient of this Grand National Champion, the prize-winning drink of this year's national-wide Professional Bartenders' Competition. It is so good that in Kentucky—where the world's finest whiskies are made—Kentuckians themselves overwhelmingly choose Early Times over all other straight whiskies. Make it your whisky, too.
HERE IS THE RECIPE FOR THE 1957 GRAND NATIONAL CHAMPION
1 1/2 oz. Early Times
1/2 oz. Strega
1/2 oz. Bols Anisette
Stir with cracked ice. Pour into cocktail glass. Add the oil of a twist of orange peel.

U.S. Cotton Crop Forecast Tumbles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agricultural Department estimated today this year's government-restricted cotton crop at 12,401,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This figure is 312,000 bales less than last month's forecast of 12,713,000 bales. It compares with 13,310,000 produced last year and 13,669,000 for the ten-year (1946-55) average.

The Texas crop was estimated at 4,100,000 bales. It was estimated at 83 per cent of normal. The Texas acreage was indicated at 83,332.

Because of the accumulation of surplus supplies of 11,223,000 bales from past crops, the department had imposed rigid marketing quotas on this year's crop. In addition, some additional land was taken out of production under the soil bank payment program.

Today's estimate will be used by the department in determining provisions of next year's cotton control program. The program will call for acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Announcement of the program must be made by Oct. 15.

REFERENDUM

Marketing quotas require the approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum, which will be held early in December. Quotas have been in effect since 1954.

The department said the condition of the crop Oct. 1 averaged 80 per cent of normal compared with 77 per cent a year ago and 73 per cent for the ten-year Oct. 1 average.

The yield of cotton was expected to average 435 pounds on the harvested acre basis compared with 409 pounds last year and 300 for the ten-year average.

Production of American-Egyptian type cotton was estimated at 92,500 bales compared with 50,300 last year and 36,800 for the ten-year average.

The condition of the crop Oct. 1, the indicated acre yield and the production, respectively, of cotton by states included:

Alabama	70,357	and	550,000;
Mississippi	70,498	and	1,400,000;
Arkansas	78,543	and	1,285,000;

Thunderstorms Cross State

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms boomed over parts of Texas again Wednesday as a cold front lay along a line through Lufkin, Junction and Del Rio.

Skies were mostly cloudy north of the front with temperatures ranging in the 50s and 60s early Wednesday. South of the front it was partly cloudy with readings near 70 degrees.

Scattered showers and a few thunderstorms were reported near Corpus Christi and west of San Antonio from the Junction area to near Cotulla.

Light drizzle fell over much of the Panhandle and South Plains and along the Red River. Light rain was reported at Texarkana, Tyler and Longview.

A .37 inch rain at Lamesa stopped the farm workers from picking cotton and the braceros were on their way to town from the N. B. Leatherwood farm when the lightning hit.

Rainfall in the 24 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday included Wichita Falls 1.08 inches, Mineral Wells .30, Fort Worth .22, Dallas and Van Horn .12, Dalhart .09, Sherman .04 and Waco .03.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 60 at Dalhart to 95 at Presidio.

Atom Technician Need Growing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today a survey has indicated the need for scientists and engineers in privately supported atomic energy activities will almost double in the next three years.

The announcement said an estimated 7,000 to 7,500 scientists and engineers were employed in September 1956, either full or part-time, in all types of atomic energy activity supported by private industry. It was estimated this number increased to 9,000 in July 1957.

"By 1960 the demand is expected to increase to an estimated 16,000," the announcement said.

Uncle Ray:
 Virgil Guided Dante During Inferno Visit

By RAMON OFFEMA N

A great man often turns sorrow and misfortune into stepping stones for important deeds. Surely that was so with Dante. For 19 years he was an exile, a homeless wanderer, but in that period he wrote his best poetry.

Standing above all else which he composed is the narrative poem now known as the "Divine Comedy." The poet called it simply "The Comedy." The name was changed 200 years after his death.

The poem takes the reader on an imaginary journey to heaven, hell and purgatory. In his poetic story, Dante said he had been led in a forest, but was found by the spirit of the ancient Roman poet, Virgil (also spelled "Vergil").

Along with Homer, Horace and other good men, who had lived before the Christian era, Virgil was placed in Limbo. These spirits, it was declared, lived without suffering, but they were forbidden to enter the gates of heaven.

Virgil became the guide, and took Dante through the inferno, or hell. Different depths of suffering were shown. In one place the spirits were pelted with hail at the same time that a fierce dog was biting them.

Other spirits had been turned into stunted trees which bore evil fruit. Still others were forced by black-winged demons to dive into hot pitch. In the lowest pit was Lucifer, ruler of the demons.

Later parts of Dante's poem are less dismal. Souls in purgatory carried boulders on their backs or

Italians Bilked By Old Snow Job

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Bound for Venezuela, the 10 Italians loaded their luggage on the boat and kissed the friends and relatives from their home village farewell.

An hour later the voyage was over. They were on the ferry between Naples and the Isle of Capri, just across the bay from the city.

The story was told in court yesterday and Pasquale Corvino, a fugitive, was sentenced in absentia to 10 months in prison on a charge of cheating. He had collected the equivalent of $300 from each of the 10, promising them passage to Venezuela and jobs when they arrived. Instead he put them on the Naples-Capri ferry and then disappeared.
