Cox Draws 2 Years On Bribe Count

AUSTIN (AP)—Former State Rep. James Cox was behind bars today, convicted of agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe to withdraw a bill he introduced in the recent Legislature. A jury convicted yesterday the Conroe accountant and gave him two years. The verdict was the answer to defense contentions Cox was trying to trap "crooked lobbyists" Feb. 20 when he agreed to a $5,000 payoff offer made by Dr. Howard Harmon, then head of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn. Cox clamped his lips together when the verdict was read and refused to talk with reporters later. Court officials said the immediate confinement was necessary because defense attorneys did not have a motion for a new trial ready to be acted upon as soon as Judge Mace Thurman passed judgment. Thurman said a hearing on the motion will be held Thursday. Should Thurman refuse the motion for a new trial, Cox would be eligible for release on appeal bond. Defense Counsel John Cofer said Cox would appeal, using as a basis the countless exceptions and

Dulles Warns Russia Against Turkey Assault

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States must be on guard against the possibility of an attack by Syria and Russia against Turkey. Dulles said that in event of such an attack the United States would not leave the Soviet Union as a privileged sanctuary. Along with his grim warning, Dulles said he thinks an outbreak of war in the Middle East is unlikely, largely because of the United Nations' focus of attention on the area. He said bombing planes are presently the more decisive weapon in modern forces. In five or ten years, Dulles said, missiles may be the decisive weapon and it is important for the United States to push ahead in this field. If the question is one of adequate defense expenditures or a reduced budget and tax cuts, Dulles said certainly security has got to come first. Dulles described Russia's successful launching of the first earth satellite as a useful thing because he said it arouses the whole country and Congress to the importance of the missiles program.

Segregation Bloc Still Pushing For Top Biling

Rampaging River The Colorado River almost surges over the piers for a new bridge under construction on U.S. Highway 67 in the west part of Ballinger after torrential rain sent the stream surging out of its banks, forcing more than 300 persons to leave their homes.

Another Special Session Demanded

AUSTIN (AP)—A resolution was introduced in the Texas House today demanding that Gov. Price Daniel either submit additional state rights and segregation legislation or call another special session. The resolution was offered by Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas. Speaker Waggoner Carr sent it to the State Affairs Committee for consideration. After several routine resolutions, the House adjourned until 10:30 a.m. tomorrow after less than half an hour's session. "Such action as the sending of federal troops with cold steel and fixed bayonets is not conducive to public school education but on the contrary such action incites American people," the Pool resolution declared. It demanded that Daniel either submit to this session the "subject of state rights and segregation or announce publicly another 30-day special session" to consider these matters. A fourth version of a lobby registration act was introduced by Rep. Charles Hughes and Rep. Tony Koriath, both of Sherman. The Legislature began its third day with emphasis on detailed committee study on the top two priority topics of the special session. The Senate quit until tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. after passing a House Bill (HBI) which assures the legislators of receiving pay for the 30-day session. It passed 27-0. Sen. George Moffett introduced another of the measures requested by Daniel in his call. The bill (SB6) establishes a nine-man statewide law enforcement commission to be in effect until Jan. 1, 1959 and would set aside $25,000 for its operation without adequate studies and make recommendations to the governor and Legislature on ways to improve law enforcement and crime prevention. It would work with established law agencies and could investigate any law violation alleged against an individual. This was the most serious objection to this type of legislation when it was introduced in the regular session but was never passed. "We have no idea of pushing bills through without adequate study and discussion, but we want to begin as fast as possible to avoid the last minute rush that characterizes most sessions of the Legislature," declared Speaker Carr. Martin told the State Affairs Committee Daniel "wasn't trying to ram this bill down anyone's throat." But he said he, Sen. Dorsey Hardeman and Daniel worked on the bill which closely tracks the recommended bill submitted by the Texas Legislative Council at the regular session. Martin said Daniel "is satisfied with this bill." Sen. Jimmy Phillips, author of another version, said Martin's "bill doesn't go far enough. It has too many loopholes. Mine doesn't

Syria Makes Plea For U.N. 'Security'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Syria today formally requested the U. N. General Assembly to consider alleged threats to her security. The move will open the way for a full airing of the Turkish-Syrian border tension. Each side has accused the other of threatening peace by massing troops along their common frontier. The proposal for the debate was in the form of a letter asking that a new item be added to the agenda of the 82-nation Assembly entitled "threats to the peace and security of Syria." The title did not refer to Turkey by name. The letter requested the establishment of an impartial U. N. committee to investigate the alleged threats. The action here followed a sharp deterioration of the situation within the last few days. In Damascus yesterday, the Syrian Foreign Ministry summoned foreign diplomats and presented a declaration that Turkey intends to "launch a premeditated action against Syria." Earlier Egyptian reinforcements had arrived in Syria. Turkey handed a letter to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold last yesterday accusing the Syrian government of echoing Soviet propaganda attacks on the Turkish government. Turkish Ambassador Seyfullah Esin denied Syrian charges that troop movements in Turkey were of a threatening nature. Turkish defense measures, he said, "constitute an internal matter and do not call for comments by anyone from the outside." He said recent developments in Syria demonstrate "that Turkey has valid reasons for feeling concerned."

Flu Outbreak Shows Decline

The influenza outbreak is spoiling the best attendance record ever chalked up by Big Spring schools, Supt. Floyd Parsons reported this morning. However, absenteeism appeared to be on the wane this morning, and school officials are hoping for high levels than in the elementary schools. Today, attendance was increasing at high school while the number of absences was increasing at the junior high. Throughout the school systems, absences totaled 622. Parsons said that it is about twice as high as normal.

Headon Crash Leaves 3 Dead

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Two automobiles smashed together head-on in dense fog 5 miles west here on U.S. Highway 84 today, killing three persons and injuring five others. Dead were A. J. Shipley, Evant, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. David E. Sledge, whose addresses were not immediately known. The Sledge car bore a James Connally Air Force Base sticker. Critically injured was a 6-month-old child in the Sledge automobile. Also injured and hospitalized in Evant were R. L. Pool, Arnett; Robert Hamilton, Evant; L. D. Creasey, Evant; and R. T. Cullen, Evant.

Bank Deposits Off Slightly, Loans Up

Deposits were off slightly and loans up markedly in comparison to a year ago, combined statements of Big Spring's three banks showed today. The statements were in response to a call by the U. S. Comptroller of Currency and the State Banking Commission for condition as of the close of business Oct. 11. Deposits of $27,466,121 were down $245,203; loans and discounts of $10,894,072 were up by $988,695.64; cash in the amount of $9,178,106 was off by $1,134,567; and total resources of $29,980,704 were down by $124,320 from the comparable date (Sept. 28, 1956) a year ago. Deposits were up by $875,455 over the last call on June 6, 1957, when the total was $26,590,666. Loans and discounts were up only negligibly from the June call, and cash was up more than a million and a quarter dollars. Total resources were some $900,000 more than in June. The three banks had United States Bonds in the amount of $6,520,078.09 and county and municipal bonds in the amount of $2,830,339, a grand total of $9,351,009.48. The banks also had $25,142.09 in cotton acceptances and $15,863.38 in cotton producer notes. The modesty of these figures graphically reflected the lateness of the cotton harvest. By banks this is the way the figures shaped up: FIRST NATIONAL—Loans and discounts $6,359,808.21; deposits $16,769,530.56; cash $6,209,192.95; total resources $18,154,100.38; U.S. bonds $4,129,761.30; other bonds $1,091,199.47; cotton acceptances $25,142.09; cotton producer notes $5,567.08. STATE NATIONAL—Loans and discounts $3,605,226.45; deposits $9,798,138.18; cash $2,458,088.43; total resources $9,625,945.91; U.S. bonds $1,831,259.38; county and municipal bonds $1,690,482.59; cotton producer notes $10,296.30. SECURITY STATE—Loans and discounts $269,057.79; deposits $1,898,452.41; cash $310,824.68; total resources $2,200,658.56; U.S. bonds $599,057.44; other bonds $49,240.32.

Foster Youth Is Unchanged

Condition of Bob Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Foster, formerly of Big Spring, continues unchanged in St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas. Bob suffered a broken neck and skull fracture and was left paralyzed from his neck down when the car in which he was riding was knocked from the highway near Paris on Friday evening. Physicians have not been able to ascertain if the spinal cord was severed or permanently damaged. Bob and a companion were on the way to a football game when a car swung from a line of approaching traffic and sideswiped them as they took for the ditch. This spun their car into a bridge abutment. The Fosters lived here when he was T&P Western Division superintendent, and they now reside at 1903 W. Colorado Street, Dallas 8, Texas. He is general superintendent of transportation for Texas & Pacific Railway Company.

W. Texas Rains Follow Violent, Killing Storms

By The Associated Press Heavy showers fell in the western half of Texas Wednesday in the wake of three days of killing, violent storms. The Weather Bureau forecast more rain for the state. Showers formed west of Fort Worth and moved eastward. The Guadalupe River lapped over lowland farm areas in South Texas Wednesday as heavy runoff water surged down from upstream. The river hit the flood stage at Victoria and Cuero. The U.S. Weather Bureau said the river would rise 10 to 11 feet above flood stage at Victoria next weekend, posing a threat to Victoria's baseball park and municipal park. Wednesday morning the river reached 23.8 feet at Cuero and was expected to crest at 27 feet tomorrow. Flood stage is 23 feet. It was expected to crest at 26 to 27 feet upstream at Gonzales early Thursday. Meanwhile, Ballinger residents who were forced to evacuate Sunday were all back in their homes Wednesday. The Red Cross said a few field workers would remain on duty there to assist those who suffered heavy clothing and food losses. The upper Colorado River, which roared out of its banks Sunday night at Ballinger, was back down to normal. The Weather Bureau said flood threats in Houston were over. The Houston area had up to 10.48 inches of rain in three days. The rains tapered off Tuesday night and early Wednesday, but more moisture was forecast for the entire state. Weathermen said a low pressure area pulling west air off the Gulf hung over West Texas. Rainfall reports for the 24 hours ending at midnight Tuesday included Wichita Falls .01, Waco .62, Austin 2.09, San Angelo .20, Midland .04, Alpine .01, Houston 5.06, Galveston 1.64, Abilene .04, Fort Worth .40 and Dallas .70. Much higher totals were reported away from official Weather Bureau stations. At least seven deaths were blamed in the violent weather which started Sunday. Four died in auto crashes on rain-slicked highways and three others drowned. Tornadoes Monday injured three. Tuesday's rainfall hit hardest in Southeast Texas around Houston and Beaumont and in South and East Texas. Rivers spread over lowlands.

Radar Catches 78 Speeders

Citizens found Tuesday that the city does use its radar unit occasionally. The police department worked the radar set on E. and W. 4th Tuesday and this morning and issued 78 tickets for speeding. Officers on the morning shift Tuesday set up the unit on W. 4th for about 30 minutes and issued seven tickets. Then Tuesday afternoon, officers gave 43 tickets in about two hours on W. 4th. The set was in operation about an hour this morning in the 1400 block of E. 4th, and 28 tickets were issued. In the 30 m.p.h. zone, drivers were clocked as high as 54 m.p.h., policemen said. The set had not been used in several months, but the department warned that it would try to use the radar every day in the future if possible in an attempt to cut down on speeding. The department does not intend to limit its use to the highways, however.

Grid Game Rescheduled

The Big Spring-Kermit football game, originally slated to be unreeled here Friday evening, has been rescheduled for a 6 o'clock Saturday night. The postponement was forced upon Big Spring due to a flu epidemic which struck the Steer camp. This morning, only four of the 18 local gridlers who had been confined to their homes due to illness were able to return to class. Al Milch, head coach of the Steers, said he would have to cancel the game had the Kermit officials not agreed to the postponement.

United Fund Total Climbs To $39,230

Another $7,643 in contributions to the United Fund were reported Tuesday, boosting total gifts to $39,230—just 44 per cent of the $89,100 objective. Drive leaders were disappointed with the reports which indicated the campaign is lagging slightly behind schedule. However, another report meeting is slated for Thursday, and K. H. McGibbon, general chairman appealed for every worker to press immediately to complete his canvass. "I promise you that if you'll go out and make these appeals we'll be over the top next week," he declared. Ted Groehl, a former campaign chairman and who reported in the Advance Gifts Division for Chairman Marvin Miller yesterday, also urged prompt action on the part of workers. "I have found," Groehl said, "that there is only one way to get the money to meet these needs and that is to go out and ask for it." Reports yesterday included $3,841 from Advance Gifts, boosting that division's total to $31,137 or 67 per cent of quota; $2,177 from Special Gifts, making a $4,337 total, 32 per cent of quota; $1,280 from Employee Gifts, making total of $3,305, or 13 per cent of quota; and $295 from the General Gifts Division, giving that group a $401 total, 9 per cent of quota. A donation of $50 also was reported by the Area Division. Entertainment at the report meeting included vocal solos by Ronnie Phillips and Arnold Marshall, each accompanied by Jack Hendrix. Reports from all divisions will be heard again at noon Thursday.

Water Hearings Set; Key Issue Still Up In Air

AUSTIN (AP)—A key portion of Gov. Daniel's water planning bill remained unanswered today, as committees prepared for public hearings. The House Water Conservation Committee heard yesterday a governor's aide, Joe Carter, explain the measure. Committee members bounced back with what some called "friendly questions" but Rep. W. A. Stroman of San Angelo said he was against it as now written. Unanswered was: "What is a statewide water plan?" It is not defined in the 15-page bill and was not questioned in the hearing. Daniel said the development of such a plan is the one new power being given to the Board of Water Engineers. It would be carried out by a planning division under the Board, but the bill doesn't tell the engineers what the plan should be. Water experts disagree as to what the plan should be. Generally, such a plan could be described as the ultimate development of a water shed or stream. Water Engineers Board Chairman R. M. Dixon told a newsmen lawyers and engineers are in disagreement. The question may be answered tomorrow when the Senate and House Water Committees start public hearings. Stroman said he would not vote for the bill as written, claiming: "You call this a plan. They're (the board) writing a law. We'll have to live under it. This plan can't be anything but a law... Maybe I don't get the gist of it, but you are creating a board with legislative powers." The bill says the planning division will gather basic data, do research, work with river authorities in developing what it calls a statewide water plan. It requires the planning division to incorporate in this plan portions of master plans which river authorities have prepared.

Abel Witness Tells Of Taking Money Intended For Mrs. Sobell

NEW YORK (AP)—Confessed spy Reino Hayhanen said today that he had dug up and kept for himself a cache of $5,000 allegedly intended for payment to Mrs. Helen Sobell. Hayhanen gave the testimony as trial resumed today in Brooklyn Federal Court of Rudolf I. Abel on charges of masterminding Russian espionage in this country. The witness previously testified the $5,000 in cash had been secreted in the ground at Bear Mountain, N. Y. Mrs. Sobell, the wife of convicted spy Morton Sobell, has called Hayhanen's testimony concerning her a "smear." Sobell is serving a 30-year term in Alcatraz for his part in the Rosenberg atom spy ring. MONEY AS BRIBE? In testimony yesterday Hayhanen said the $5,000 came to him with secret instructions to determine whether Mrs. Sobell would serve as an agent. Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were convicted as atom spies and executed at Sing Sing Prison in 1953. Hayhanen has turned government witness at the espionage trial of Abel, which continues today. If convicted, the 55-year-old Abel could be executed. Mrs. Sobell issued a statement immediately upon hearing of Hayhanen's testimony. The statement, made at the Manhattan office of the Committee to Secure Justice for Morton Sobell, said in part: "This meaningless testimony is just a way of smearing me at a time when my husband's case is before the Supreme Court in a request for a new trial. Neither my husband nor I have ever committed espionage or conspired to commit espionage... "It is no accident that these baseless charges are made at this particular time. I'm going to consult my lawyers to see if there is not some way in which this person (Hayhanen) can be held responsible for these malicious, irresponsible statements." Hayhanen testified that he and Abel buried the $5,000 in Bear Mountain Park, a state resort on the Hudson River above New York City, because Mrs. Sobell's Manhattan apartment was guarded by police. The witness said he falsely reported to Moscow that he had given Mrs. Sobell the money. Hayhanen said a second payment of $5,000, again ordered by Moscow, was deposited by Abel in a bank. The witness did not say why the Soviet government wanted the money paid, nor did he tell of its final disposition. According to Hayhanen, the government's star witness in the Abel case, Mrs. Sobell was known to Abel as "agent Stone's wife." The portly, 37-year-old Hayhanen swore Monday that he was sent to the United States in 1952 to act as Abel's assistant. Yesterday he told of his defection to the free world last May, a prelude to Abel's arrest and indictment last Aug. 7. He said Abel returned from a visit to Moscow in July 1956, and expressed dissatisfaction because Hayhanen hadn't followed a suggestion that he set up a photographic shop in Newark, N.J., as a cover for his operations. GAVE HIMSELF UP Abel, he said, told him he might as well go to Moscow for a vacation. Hayhanen said he left the United States last April, went Paris, walked into the American Embassy last May 4 or May 6, and "explained I am Russian espionage officer, with rank of lieutenant colonel." "I have some information I like to give American officials," Hayhanen quoted himself as adding. He said he was flown here last May 11 to tell his story to the FBI. Hayhanen's second day of testimony also dealt with contacts he claimed he and Abel maintained with other Red agents in this country. The witness identified one of these as Roy Rhodes, whose code name, he said, was "Quebec." Hayhanen said he took a trip to Salinas, Colo., at Abel's direction, failed to locate Rhodes, but found he had a mail address in Tucson, Ariz.

U.S. Scientist Says Satellite May Fall To Earth In A Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government scientist says Russia's Sputnik—which has circled the earth for 12 days—may plunge from its orbit and burst into flames within a week.

That view, expressed by Robert Jastrow of the Naval Research Laboratory here, generally runs counter to other Western predictions that the satellite might remain aloft for several months, possibly a year.

Jastrow, a theoretical consultant at the laboratory, also said last night there were indications Sputnik was losing altitude. On a recent pass over Washington, he added, the satellite's altitude was estimated at 147 miles.

Most previous estimates have had the orbit ranging from 170 miles up to about 560 miles.

"Based on its altitude, the way it looks at the moment the satellite might burn out in a week," he said. "It most probably will disintegrate and burn up, depending on its design and altitude."

A report broadcast by Moscow Monday night also indicated Sputnik likely would fall from outer space in a week.

Jastrow said in an interview that electromagnetic forces might possibly explain variations in Sputnik's orbit which have baffled some scientists.

There have been references to an "unknown" force which apparently was causing a slight sideways drag on the sphere, creating difficulty in electronic computations of the orbit.

But in Cambridge, Mass., the director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said he is not yet convinced that any mysterious force is acting on the satellite. Dr. Fred L. Whipple said: "We don't intend to call on novel forces to account for the variance when we haven't exhausted the standard forces, that is, the combination of gravity and atmospheric drag."

"We can't say novel forces don't exist, but we prefer not to consider them until we have exhausted normal procedures and methods of analysis."

Sputnik apparently still was maintaining its speed of about 18,000 miles an hour as it circled the earth, accompanied by a section of its carrier rocket and a protective nose cone.

Whipple said he figures the rocket section now is circling the earth once every 95.7 minutes, about half a minute faster than on the launching date.

He said there are few reliable visual sightings of Sputnik, but that sightings of the rocket section, which is larger, are pouring in.

Whipple added that at the present time, the observatory is concentrating entirely on the rocket.

Moscow radio said last night the rocket is running 11 minutes, or 3,222 miles, ahead of Sputnik.

Services Held For Lamesa Carpenter

LAMESA — Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today for L. A. (Shorty) Holland, about 75, who was found dead in bed at his home here Monday morning.

Mr. Holland, a retired carpenter, had lived alone for about 10 years. He was found by Fred Mitchell who checked when Mitchell's wife failed to see any movement in the house during the day.

A resident of Lockney from 1905 to 1937, Holland had been ill for several weeks. His survivors include two daughters, Mrs. D. A. Morgan, Fort Worth; and Mrs. H. E. Crabtree, Red Bluff, Calif.

Report Method Of Controlling Fusion

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Express said today British scientists have found a way to harness the energy of the hydrogen bomb for peaceful use.

The newspaper quoted an unnamed scientist at the government's Harwell nuclear laboratory as saying H-power for homes and industry "will certainly be available for this generation."

Without giving details, the paper said a way to control the fusion of hydrogen atoms has been discovered by Drs. Donald Fry and Peter Thonemann.

Khrushy Aims To Conquer Mid-East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Using fear of world war as a weapon, Nikita S. Khrushchev has launched an offensive whose aim ultimately is to blast the United States out of the Middle East.

The Soviet Communist chief's propaganda letters to the Socialist parties of Europe are aimed not at the leadership of those parties, but at the rank and file, in an attempt to build a fire of dread which will eat away at Western political solidarity.

The object appears to be to gain a free Soviet hand, first in Syria, and then progressively in other areas of the Middle East, without the danger of energetic Western opposition. In a sense, Khrushchev is attempting to revive the popular front idea which bought time for the Soviet Union a few years before World War II by inducing political paralysis in Western European nations.

In those days Stalin used fear of fascism as the spur to lead Socialists into a common front with the Communists. Today, Khrushchev is using the fear of a Middle East explosion which could lead to a dreadful World War III.

Khrushchev chose his moment well. His threats and cajoleries come directly after the U.S.S.R. dramatically announced its success in launching Sputnik, the earth satellite, and in firing an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Both these events represent propaganda setbacks to the United States and can lead to further dissipation of the rapidly waning American prestige in the Middle East.

Having gained these distinct propaganda victories, Khrushchev and his party evidently intend to push their advantage to the edge of the limits they consider safe.

Any attempt the United States makes now to recoup its deteriorating Middle East position will become a new weapon in Kremlin hands. By playing on the fear of war, Moscow seems to aim at paralyzing American and Western policy so the Communists can proceed with what they appear to regard as a slow but sure drive to economic, military and ultimately political domination of the area.

If the Russians could do this, the day would not be far off when Western Europe would be at their mercy. Already they have intruded significantly in the two most sensitive countries — Syria, astride the pipelines, and Egypt, on the Suez Canal carrying oil to Europe's economic vitals.

Khrushchev is copying Stalin. His threats are open and bold. Like Stalin, he apparently hopes fear will serve as a glue to unite Europe's Socialists and Communists in blocking Western countermeasures to the aggressive Soviet drive.

Stalin enjoyed some success before the last war. But after the war, his threats served only to unite the West more strongly.

Possibly the threats will boomerang again. At any rate, European Socialist leaders are not biting at the bait.

City Operated Parking Lot Plan Approved

Downtown parking came in for discussions at the City Commission meeting Tuesday night, and the group authorized the city manager to negotiate with downtown merchants for a metered parking lot.

The commission met for a public hearing on zoning changes, but after this matter was disposed of, the group mentioned downtown parking. The city manager, H. W. Whitney, was instructed to contact merchants who would lease the property between the Ritz Theatre and Empire Southern Gas Co. on Main for a metered parking lot.

Whitney told them he would have some proposals for consideration for the meeting of the group Oct. 29.

The regular meeting of the commission is set for next Tuesday, but the group has agreed to recess until Oct. 29 since the city manager will be out of town next week.

Under the proposed plan, downtown merchants would lease the lot and the city would install parking meters with three-hours-for-a-dime settings. The city would receive all revenue, and about 60 cars could be handled.

Dr. Lee Rogers said the city needed the parking area downtown, and that if such a lot were added, it should be ready before the Christmas season.

The matter came up at the last commission meeting, but the group tabled discussion because of legal problems. Walton Morrison, city attorney, told the group last night that other cities had parking lots without assuming any liability and he would write these cities for their ordinances concerning these lots.

Parking meters for the lot would cost the city about $3,700.

12 School Districts Form Study Council

Homecoming Plans Dropped For 1957

There will be no homecoming of Big Spring High School this year, but Student Council members yesterday voted to stage such a program in 1958.

Council representatives said they decided against sponsoring a homecoming this year because so little time is left in which to make arrangements. Another factor was the lack of a football game here on Thanksgiving, usual time of homecoming. Council members said they hope a game can be scheduled here for Thanksgiving, 1958.

Plans are being made by the student group for the Autumn Carnival, to be held Nov. 16, and the Thanksgiving Semi-Formal Social, to be staged Nov. 27. The council also is planning the Thanksgiving Assembly for Nov. 27, with Dr. P.

D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, to be the speaker.

It was decided to elect an Autumn Queen to be presented as a highlight of the carnival. Class meeting will be held two weeks prior to the carnival, with each class to choose a queen nominee.

At the carnival, seniors will operate a side show, juniors a cake walk, sophomores the bingo game, Spanish Club the marriage booth, and Latin Club the slave auction. Other organizations are asked to submit their choices of booths to Wesley Grigsby of the Student Council.

Stephen Baird is to make tentative arrangements for the Thanksgiving Assembly program. Bill French and Judy Reagan are to secure refreshments for the social.

Change In Zoning Rules Authorized

The City Commission Tuesday night changed part of the zoning ordinance and looked ahead to the time when the entire zoning code can be revised.

Only three persons outside of city personnel attended the public hearing, two of them representing the schools. Attending were School Supt. Floyd Parsons, Clyde Angel, president of the school board, and Albert Gilliland.

Under consideration was the E zone, which governs community businesses. The proposed change broadened usage of the area which is the first grade business district, falling just behind residential areas. After the discussions, the commission passed first reading of the ordinance and mentioned an overall revision of the code in the future.

Three readings are required for the change to take effect.

Parsons stated the school's position in submitting the idea of another lettered district to permit most E zone businesses except cafes, hamburger stands and record shops across from the school. Parsons said the school's disciplinary troubles took a sharp jump when such establishments were in the near vicinity of a school.

He asked that the city notify the school when anyone obtains a building permit for such an establishment in the area in front of the high school. At the meeting of the commission Oct. 8, the group authorized changing the half-blocks in front of high school between Goliad and Young to an E zone from a residential area.

Later Commissioner Curtis Driver said he was in complete agreement with Parsons and he said he wished he had thought of the problem last week when the group was considering the matter. He was in favor of adding another zone to apply to school areas when a zoning revision is considered.

Gilliland was present for personal interests, but when he heard the ordinance explained, he had no objections.

Under the changed ordinance, cafes are permitted along with drug stores, variety stores, dry goods stores, service stations, studios, offices, barber shops, and beauty shops. No outside loud speakers or sale of intoxicants is permitted.

In other matters which came up after the public hearing, the City Commission voted to purchase a set of law books for use of the city legal staff and subscribe to a legal service to keep the books up to date. Cost of the books is $250.

SHE'S PART AMERICAN

Washington, Lee Queen's Kinsmen

LONDON (AP)—Buckingham palace confirmed today that Queen Elizabeth II is a blood relative of two great Americans, George Washington and Robert E. Lee.

"Yes, it seems to be true," said a palace official. "The College of Arms says so and that's good enough authority."

Emphasizing that the relationship is a distant one, the official added: "You know, we are all related to Adam, too."

More definite, however, was Patrick Montague-Smith, assistant editor of Debrett, the authoritative guide to royalty, the peerage, and other folk of quality.

He said when the Queen sets foot on U.S. soil today for the start of a six-day trip "she becomes the first reigning monarch to do so with American blood in her veins."

The man responsible for the astonishing discovery that the Queen is part American was Dr. Anthony Wagner of Britain's College of Arms. This is the repository of all information on heraldry and the ancestry of them.

He unearthed the fact in studying all the lines of descent of the Queen Mother.

Wagner dug up the fact that the young monarch is one of the nearest relatives now living of the first president of the United States. She is Washington's second cousin, seven times removed.

Elizabeth is nine generations in descent from Washington's great aunt, Mary, the wife of John Smith of Gloucester County, Virginia.

Elizabeth is also the fifth cousin, five times removed, of Robert E. Lee, commander of Confederate forces in the Civil War.

The relationship between the Queen, Washington and Lee goes back to a Col. Augustine Warner, a wealthy Virginia planter who died in 1674, Wagner said.

Warner had lots of granddaughters. One was Mary Washington, Washington's grandmother.

Another of the colonel's granddaughters was Mary Smith, mother of a Mrs. Porteus. The Porteus line leads directly to the Queen.

Philanthropy Raises $64,000 Question

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—James Bricker awoke to begin his 88th year of life today faced with a $64,000 question.

He owns that much in real estate and some people are curious to know what he intends doing with the properties.

Questions began coming in to the retired blacksmith bachelor three weeks ago from the United States and some foreign countries when it was learned he had sold 11 Harrisburg homes for $10 each to families occupying them on a rental basis.

But the queries really began pouring in when international newspaper accounts of his generosity also noted that he still owned 16 properties which he valued at about $64,000.

What, if anything, is he going to do with the other 16 homes? Will they be sold at "cheap prices" to the tenants renting them now?

"I have no plans at all for those homes... not one single plan," Bricker quipped.

The homes he sold at $10 were valued by Bricker at about $2,300 each—based on 1918 assessments. Bricker was still a little excited about a surprise birthday party given him by his former renters turned landlords when he confided to a newsman last night that the whole thing has taken him by storm.

"I have received 602 letters and 152 cards," he said. "And I don't know how many phone calls and personal visits since this all began."

"Many of the people ask me what I intend doing with the 16 other homes and I can say frankly I just don't have any idea," he added.

He confessed, however, that he has hopes of keeping them so that he will have some security to live out what he is confident will be quite a few more years of life.

"I even had some women write and ask me to marry them," he disclosed, blushing slightly.

"Now what do you suppose a woman would be foolish enough to do a thing like that for. And I'd be just as foolish if I were to get married."

"I sold those homes simply because I felt these people living in them were good, honest, hard-working people who would appreciate the sale," Bricker said.

Scientists Face Orbit Problem

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — An authority on satellites said today scientists are faced with a tremendous computational problem in trying to establish the exact orbit in which the Russian satellite is traveling.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said, "We are dealing with a new celestial mechanics problem never solved before."

Dr. Whipple said scientists at the Smithsonian observatory are not yet convinced that a mysterious force is pushing the satellite and its rocket escort out of their predicted orbits.

"We don't intend to call on novel forces to account for the variance when we haven't exhausted our standard forces, that is, the combination of gravity and atmospheric drag," Dr. Whipple said, adding:

House Funds Panel Members See No Need For Money Hike

WASHINGTON — The top two members of the House Appropriations Committee said today that Russia's launching of a satellite doesn't necessarily require increased U.S. defense spending.

What it does mean, said Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) and Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), senior GOP member of the committee, is that the United States must cease being complacent, stop underrating Soviet progress and concentrate on missile programs.

The two men who probably have more to say about appropriations than any two other members of Congress expressed their views in telephone interviews from Elmsbury, Mo., and Auburn, N. Y.

They agreed that the success of Russia's home-made moon had boosted Soviet prestige throughout the world and made it imperative that this country bolster its own defenses and the defenses of its foreign friends.

"I don't think it means that we must appropriate more money for defense, but rather that we must allocate our defense spending better," Cannon said. "The emphasis must be on the missile programs, for which we have appropriated liberally."

Taber agreed, saying, "There should not be too much difference between next year's defense budget and this year's."

NOT BACKWARD
"The Soviet satellite is not something to get too excited about," Taber added, "but it should wake us up that Russia is not as backward as some people seem to think."

The comments from Cannon and Taber differed from those of a number of Democrats, who, without specifically calling for increased defense spending, have criticized the administration's economy efforts in that area.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today the administration's defense plans appear to be based on "meeting the enemy at the seacoast with a balanced budget," and he added in an interview: "The administration has let fiscal considerations determine our defense, when it should be just the other way around."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) told a news conference yesterday that the United States should initiate at once an emergency program to overhaul the Soviets in the missiles and satellite fields. He spoke out 24 hours after Sen. Symington (D-Mo) had expressed similar views, and about the same time as Rep. Brooks (D-La) urged appointment of a missile program czar to end what he called "service bickering, waste, overlapping of authority and inefficient management."

Both senators indicated larger expenditures would be needed, but neither stated specifically what he believed a revised defense budget should total.

Humphrey was asked whether the program he wanted could be handled without breaking the 275-billion-dollar national debt limit.

"If it's a choice between raising the debt limit or staying behind the Russians on national security matters, I think the American people would say, 'Raise the debt limit,' every time," he commented.

WILSON BLAMED
O'Mahoney blamed former Secretary of Defense Wilson and former Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey for what he said was the priority given budget considerations in defense planning.

In another fiscal sector, Vice President Nixon dropped a strong hint last night that the administration is showing aside any plans for a tax cut in the 1958 congressional session.

Speaking in San Francisco, Nixon said the launching of Sputnik "will have rendered a signal service to the cause of freedom if only we react strongly and intelligently to its implications."

Then he declared: "Let us resolve once and for all that the absolute necessity of maintaining our superiority in military strength must always take priority over the understandable desire to reduce our taxes."

Two Pleas Heard In County Court

One defendant pleaded not guilty to transporting liquor and a second defendant pleaded guilty to writing a worthless check in the Howard County Court Tuesday afternoon.

Isiah Williams, arrested by the officers of the Liquor Control Board, pleaded not guilty. His bond was fixed at $500.

Paul Morgan, accused of writing a worthless check, drew a fine of $15 for his plea of guilty.

I was told to reduce and come back for another check-up after I had lost 20 pounds or more. I started taking Barcetrate and after six weeks, I was down to 173 pounds, my blood pressure was normal and I feel fine. It has now been two months since I stopped taking Barcetrate and I have not gained back the old fat."

Receiver May Save Teamsters From Expulsion By AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility was raised today that the scandal-tainted Teamsters Union may escape a threatened AFL-CIO suspension if the union is put in charge of a court-appointed receiver.

James R. Hoffa has been elected president of the giant union, succeeding Dave Beck. But his plans to take over the 1½-million-member organization right away have been stopped by a federal court order.

The court order remains in effect pending a hearing Monday before Federal Dist. Judge F. Dickinson Letts on the legality of the convention which elected Hoffa. The court has been asked to name a receiver to take charge of the union temporarily.

Well-placed sources in the AFL-CIO said it is unlikely to make much difference to the powerful AFL-CIO Executive Council, when it meets to deal with the Teamsters situation Oct. 24, whether Beck or Hoffa is nominally the union's boss.

With either man as Teamsters president, the council led by AFL-CIO President George Meany is expected to suspend the Teamsters from AFL-CIO membership and recommend that the AFL-CIO convention next December expel the federation's largest affiliate.

Both Hoffa and Beck have been formally labeled by the council as corrupt and unfit to remain in organized labor. This decision was based on testimony involving both men developed before the Senate

Rackets Committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark).

But the council might postpone any suspension action if the court took the union's affairs out of the hands of both Beck and Hoffa and put them in charge of a court-named receiver charged with running a clean union.

Noble Critic Cut Off Air

LONDON (AP)—Lord Altrincham, the nobleman whose criticism set off the current running controversy over Britain's royal family, said today he also has been barred by the British Broadcasting Corp.

The reported blacklisting of the 33-year-old critic of Queen Elizabeth II followed cancellation Monday of a BBC television appearance by journalist Malcolm Muggeridge, author of an article in a current U.S. magazine entitled, "Does England Really Need a Queen?" Muggeridge called the monarchy "a kind of royal soap opera."

Altrincham, who made remarks about the Queen and her court circle in a British magazine last August, had been scheduled to appear on a TV panel Nov. 1. He said a BBC official telephoned him and "pointed out that as they had prevented Muggeridge from appearing, they would have to extend the ban to me."

Altrincham said the action was "damn silly" because "after all these things must be discussed."

Flu Blamed For 2 School Shutdowns

By The Associated Press

Two more school shutdowns were charged against flu Wednesday.

Classes were halted until Monday for white pupils at Gilmer and at the New Diana school in the same Northeast Texas vicinity.

Influenza also was blamed for cancellation of a football game scheduled Friday between Alice and Victoria, where 300 to 400 students were stricken.

At Gilmer flu had kept more than 20 per cent of the high school and junior high students at home.

here next Monday. He is to decide then, after a hearing, whether to convert the present restraining order against Hoffa's taking office into a preliminary injunction.

Meanwhile, it was reliably reported that Teamsters attorneys have decided against going to a higher court to try to upset Judge Letts' restraining order.

They are pinning their hopes on next Monday's hearing, hoping the plaintiff New York Teamsters members will be unable to prove their charges that delegates to the Teamsters' Miami Beach convention were hand-picked to assure Hoffa's election. In that case they expect Judge Letts to drop his order against Hoffa.

Should Letts issue an injunction Monday and name a receiver for the union, the Teamsters attorneys then plan an immediate appeal to a higher court.

PLEADS INNOCENT
Hoffa pleaded innocent in New York yesterday to five counts of perjury in connection with a federal grand jury in connection with other wiretap conspiracy charges against him. Trial dates in both the perjury and wiretap cases are due to be announced Oct. 25.

Hoffa's attorney Sol Gelb, arguing for indefinite postponement of the trials, said Hoffa could not get fair trials at this time. Gelb said McClellan's committee "was doing everything in its power to make him (Hoffa) an outlaw, doing what it can to destroy the defendant."

Teamsters sources here said union attorneys plan to see Sen. McClellan early next week. They want to discuss questionnaires McClellan's committee has sent union locals seeking data on how delegates to the recent union convention were selected and what union funds were spent to get Hoffa elected.

Some union attorneys were said to be counseling union locals to refuse to answer the questionnaires while others favored replies. But the union said no decision has yet been made pending the conference with McClellan.

In another New York development, Beck has appointed a receiver for six phantom locals of the union dominated by Johnny Dio and Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo. The locals' officers have been stripped of all official duties.

Nixon Warns Against Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If freedom loses in the struggle with totalitarianism, it may be a century before it can be regained, Vice President Nixon warned the International Industrial Development Conference in a major speech last night.

Pegging his talk to the Soviet launching of the satellite Sputnik the vice president told a dinner audience of 800 that the free world "must be prepared for an all-out Communist economic offensive to win the allegiance of hundreds of millions of people in the uncommitted world, as well as even some of those in the free world."

If the Soviet "succeeds in extending Communist rule throughout Africa and Asia, the Kremlin will have assured its victory in the battle for the world," he said. "It can use police power to keep these people in subjection. And it will then control their immense wealth in oil, uranium, copper and many other materials essential to the economic life of the free world," he continued.

"The Western world will be forced to surrender without the firing of a shot," he said. "Make no mistake about it. This is a real threat—not so dramatic or spectacular as Sputnik and the intercontinental ballistic missile but, in my opinion, it is potentially more dangerous in the long run."

"We dare not ignore the military threat that these events have posed, but it would be equally foolish to ignore the economic weapons that have been mounted against us. The first—the military—may never be used, the second—the economic—certainly will be used."

Nixon brought strong applause at this point by declaring: "Let us resolve once and for all that the absolute necessity of maintaining our superiority in military strength must always take priority over the understandable desire to reduce our taxes."

Europe Socialists Turn Down Red Bid For Syrian Alliance

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of Western Europe's Socialists turned a cold shoulder today to Nikita S. Khrushchev's invitation for an alliance against alleged U.S.-Turkish threats to attack Syria.

Khrushchev's appeal was the second dramatic move within three days to back up the Syrian charges against Turkey and the United States. Egypt's President Nasser sent troops to Syria Sunday.

Writing as the Soviet Communist party chief, Khrushchev sent almost identical letters to seven West European Socialist parties. He declared "imperialist Western companies" created the Syrian crisis and that the United States and Turkey threaten aggression.

Syria would not be left to defend itself alone if it were attacked, Khrushchev said as he called for the Socialists to work with the Communists for Middle East peace.

Socialist leaders in and out of power received the overture coolly.

British Labor Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell hurried to No. 10 Downing St. to talk with Conservative Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Gaitskell then sent Russia a note saying that it should go to the United Nations if it wished to argue its charges.

NO COMMENT
Danish Socialists withheld full comment until the party's executive committee could meet. But a party statement said the Danish Socialists in the past had "unreservedly" condemned any aggression—including the attacks on North Korea, the Suez action and the Soviet intervention in Hungary.

Norwegian Socialists said they had rejected the Russian bid because the party did not want to conduct foreign policy independently of the government.

Dutch Labor party sources described the Khrushchev appeal as "pure propaganda reflecting the well-known Soviet views on the Middle East."

In Damascus, meanwhile, the Syrian Foreign Ministry summoned foreign diplomats to tell of increased Turkish military concentrations on the Syrian border. He added that Syria is considering taking the matter before the United Nations.

ISRAEL CITED
But an Egyptian Embassy spokesman in Ankara, Turkey, Abdul Settah Mahmud, said he them Turkey plans to "launch a premeditated action against Syria."

Acting Foreign Minister Khalil Kallas said to representatives of 10 nations — including the United States — that he had been notified

Students Cancel Satchmo Date

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas student government last night canceled a scheduled spring appearance of Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong because of what was termed "the unfortunate remarks" made by the Negro trumpeter on the Little Rock integration crisis.

Dr. John T. Caldwell, university president, said the faculty supports the students in their decision.

He called Armstrong's comments and criticism of Gov. Orval Faubus "a blunder which obviously can help no one and just as obviously does much mischief."

Armstrong had said he would be glad to play at the university but sorry that Faubus might enjoy the program. The governor said this week he considers Armstrong "a very fine musician" and hopes he gets "courteous treatment in Arkansas."

Although Satchmo has made frequent acid references about the racial situation in Arkansas it was a statement Monday by Joseph Glaser, his manager, that apparently touched off the furor here.

Glaser hailed Satchmo's date to play for a university prom next March as "a great moral victory."

University spokesmen retorted it was nothing of the kind and should be divorced from the integration crisis. Then the Student Senate met last night and decided to break the contract because of what Student President Jack Davis termed "unfortunate remarks" by the famous jazz musician.

A Bible Thought For Today

Spirit Of Equitable Compromise

The first evidences of the cracks in superficial unity of purpose toward a statewide water policy have begun to show at Austin now that the special session of the Legislature has started.

Some sort of general water policy is going to be necessary sooner or later as a means of maximum, orderly development of our water resources in Texas.

What Others Say

An increasing number of American housewives are reacting unhappily over food prices just now. For they know that wholesale food price indices have been slumping.

Month after month, year after year, endeavoring as best we could to save her from any early searing emotional scars and trying to abide by the book, we have told her she is the absolutely greatest, which she is; the positively absolute and that's for sure; and the real sine qua non, which is a foreign way of saying it.

In the years from 1947 to 1956 the employment statistics show a gain of 20 per cent in the proportion of married women under 35 going to work outside the home.

Those who think prices can continue to be pushed up might well take notice: Not only are housewives displeased; there is not an inexhaustible number of women who could add to family income by taking jobs.

Around The Rim

We'll Find A Way

This seems to be an age of surpluses, but statisticians tell us that before too many years our glut of food and even oil may begin to disappear as the population curve continues to climb.

There is only one limitation to that, and that limitation is water. Should the demand become heavy enough, some means of supplying water will be found because there are few if any sections of the country which hold so much productive potentiality because of the long growing season.

Where will the water come from? There have been various proposals, including a giant aqueduct or canal from the Great Lakes area. We would not say that it is as far-fetched as it seems from a cost and engineering standpoint, but the big obstacle would be in getting people in the Great Lakes area to turn loose of that water.

In fact, there seems to be but one inexhaustible source of water over which no one will quibble. That, of course, is the ocean. The first problem then is how to convert sea water into water suitable for human consumption or for irrigation and industrial purposes.

Right now we don't have the answers, but some remarkable progress has been made. Product Engineering, a professional publication, says that salt water has been converted to drinking water for as little as 30 cents a thousand gallons.

Cost targets which have been set by experts is 40 cents per thousand for municipal and industrial use; 12 cents for converting brackish water into irrigation water.

There are four basic processes for which the federal government is spending $10 million a year in research, along with large sums invested by private sources, including our own Texas Electric Service.

The first process is distillation or vaporization. Vapor compression seems to be farthest along. Stills used in the process are rotary, solar and nuclear.

Second type of conversion is membrane filtration, an ionic process which electrically filters water through synthetic filters patterned after animal tissue. An osmotic process using synthetic cells instead of electric power is under study.

A third type is flotation, which separates salt or mineral content from frozen water. Three other freezing methods, flash evaporation, refrigeration and zone-purification are being checked.

A fourth means is by extraction, that is, the use of chemical solvents to extract fresh water from the mineral water.

Such progress is being made that it would be foolish to say that practical applications will not be found. Over the long haul, entirely new processes may be found, and the use of nuclear power might be employed many years hence to both change and transport water in amounts and distances which now stagger the imagination. To paraphrase John Paul Jones, "We've just begun to discover."

Nixon On The Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—In some ways Vice President Nixon seems more concerned over Sputnik than his boss does.

Portions of a speech Nixon made in San Francisco last night could even be construed as second-guessing President Eisenhower, not that Nixon would ever do such a thing on purpose.

What Nixon did do is warn against complacency — against brushing off the Soviet satellite as a mere scientific stunt.

Complacency is just what Eisenhower has been accused of by many critics. He didn't, as former Secretary of Defense Wilson did, call Sputnik "a nice scientific trick."

But he also said last week that "A" while he wishes we knew more about missiles he is "not dissatisfied" with U.S. progress to date, and (B) he has given the scientists all the money they asked for and doesn't know what more he can do.

we cannot rest on our past achievements or our present position of military superiority. . . . We must constantly push forward on all fronts.

There is a seeming difference, too, in the two men's evaluation of Sputnik as propaganda weapon.

Eisenhower said last week he had been advised long ago that the Soviets would gain a political or psychological advantage if their satellite was first into space. He did not indicate great concern. He said he saw no reason why this consideration should cause the United States to get into a satellite race which might disrupt orderly research.

Nixon says the Russians will use their "scientific triumph" as propaganda ammunition in their effort to communicate underdeveloped areas. And if they succeed in taking over Asia and Africa, he says, the free world will have lost its fight against communism without firing a shot.

Man Was Meant To Pleasure Self At Table

One of the most pleasant aspects of going abroad and stuffing one's self with all that delicious European gourmet food is returning home and stuffing one's self with all that delicious American gourmet food.

For weeks before I go to Europe I dream about such fattening delicacies as Quiche Lorraine and pressed duck and crepe flambees au Kirsch (not necessarily at the same meal). And then the last 10 days abroad I begin to dream about American coffee, apple pie with a delicate, crisp golden crust, a real Idaho baked potato and country-fried ham and eggs (not necessarily at the same meal).

Among the greatest gifts bestowed by nature and nature's God upon man is the appetite for three meals a day, with additional tolerance for such snacks and coffee breaks as come his way.

In general, I am agin sin. So I am dead set against gluttony, one of the Seven Deadly. But this side of gluttony I am convinced that man was meant to pleasure himself at table. I have nothing but scorn for the man who merely eats to live. Better he should live to eat his three squares with joy and discrimination, giving constant praise where credit is due for his sense of taste.

What routine, daily function offers man such an opportunity for pleasure as eating? If he muffs it, the fault is his. And the man who tolerates had cooking in his home is a mouse who doesn't deserve better. Man is still charged with bringing home the bacon in this changing world, and as long as he does, the least he is entitled to is to have the bacon superbly cooked.

By and large, I am agin wife-beating. But it is one woman's opinion that a wife who can read and still persists in ruining all the food she touches requires a firm hand. Anyone who is willing to follow a cookbook can eventually conquer this art if she is willing.

What bottled essence, what attar of roses, can compare with the luscious, seductive odors wafting from a kitchen in which a talented cook is performing her rites on pots, pans and well-tempered stove? Did any husband ever voluntarily leave such bed and board?

Vittles may be fattening, but it is a major consolation in this wicked world to know that they are not immoral, as are so many of man's other distractions. No man has ever been arrested for loitering near a well-turned pot roast or for pinching a chocolate icebox cake.

In one woman's opinion, it is a sad sign of insanity for an American citizen voluntarily to travel outside the U. S. A. in the green corn season. What substitute can he find one-half so rare, if he seek the world over, for Golden Bantam, the plump kernels filled with snowy milk on the inside and dripping butter on the outside?

The canny American plans his journey away from the U. S. A. between seasons. I was smart enough to wait until the roasting ears had passed their peak before heading across the Atlantic and wise enough to come home in time to feast on Cranshaw melons.

What a jewel among melons—the Cranshaw, with its deep apricot flesh, comes at a time to console man for the gradual disappearance of summer's bounty and to wait for him happily into winter. It is a sometime thing and must be enjoyed in the final days of Indian Summer.

But apple pie! Now there's a year round American delight, always available and always a poem. What about another piece, with a hunk of sharp cheese and a big cup of smoking black coffee?

The Gallup Poll

Adlai Holds Support Of Most Democrats

PRINCETON, N. J.—Despite the fact that he has failed in both of his bids for the Presidency, Adlai Stevenson today still commands the support of many rank-and-file Democrats.

Although hard-boiled politicians would probably discount the twice-defeated Stevenson's chances completely, nearly four out of 10 Democrats interviewed in the latest Institute survey say they would like to see the former Illinois governor be their candidate in 1960.

A greater number of Democratic voters, however, indicate they would prefer someone else to head their ticket next time.

Gov. Stevenson's heavy speaking schedule and extensive travels since his defeat by President Eisenhower last November have had many political observers speculating about his aims in 1960.

Stevenson, himself, has completely counted himself out of the race, saying recently: "I am not a candidate; I will not be a candidate, and I don't want the nomination."

In today's survey the Institute assigned its reporters to ask the same type of question they asked at a comparable point in time after the 1952 election:

"As you feel today, would you like to see Adlai Stevenson be the Democratic candidate for President in 1960?"

The results among rank-and-file Democrats today compared with the vote of Democrats in 1953 when they were asked about their preference for 1956:

Table with 2 columns: 'Democrat—STEVENSON A CANDIDATE' and 'Per cent'. Rows show 'Yes, would like him' (67% in 1957 vs 38% in 1956), 'No, would not' (19% in 1957 vs 49% in 1956), and 'Don't know' (14% in 1957 vs 13% in 1956).

Don't know 21 16

In the latest survey, 41 per cent of those who voted for Stevenson in 1956 say they would like to see him nominated again.

In 1953, 78 per cent of those who cast their votes for him in his first bid for the Presidency said they wanted him to be the Democratic nominee in 1956.

In the 1956 election, 85 per cent of Democrats who voted, cast their ballots for Stevenson while 15 per cent voted for Eisenhower.

In addition, Stevenson received 4 per cent of the Republican vote and 30 per cent of the Independent vote.

Despite his two defeats in 1952 and 1956, Stevenson ranks high for his vote-getting ability. In 1952, his total vote of 27,311,327 was exceeded only by the 33,926,524 votes rolled up by his opponent and the 27,751,597 votes cast for President Roosevelt in 1936.

Only two major party candidates in history have run again for the Presidency after two defeats—Henry Clay who tried unsuccessfully three times in 1824, 1832 and 1840 and William Jennings Bryan who was defeated in 1896, 1900 and 1908.

A Smile And A Tug

Prince Philip grins at Queen Elizabeth as they walk through the rotunda of Canada's Parliament building in Ottawa during the Queen's appearance to open the 23rd Parliament. The Queen tugs at the folds of her coronation gown, which she wore for the special occasion.

Queen To Depart Canadian Realm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 OTTAWA (AP)—After four days of regal duties and glittering social events, Queen Elizabeth II bids farewell today to her Canadian subjects and flies for a six-day visit to the United States. The Queen's last full day in Canada was a busy one, climaxed last night by a reception for more than 1,300 persons and a formal dinner party for 20 given by Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker. Ahead of her when she lands at Newport News was another crowded afternoon and evening. She was to tour Jamestown and Williamsburg for five hours, then attend a reception and dinner as part of the 350th anniversary celebration of the first lasting British settlement in the new world. Tomorrow the Queen flies to Washington. She will fly home from New York City early Tuesday.

The Queen's right hand and arm get a vigorous workout at yesterday's reception. The announced guest list had 1,342 names but reporters guessed nearer 2,000 persons showed up. Wearing a cocktail dress in beige and gold brocade with a full, circular skirt, Elizabeth shook hands for more than 30 minutes. It was good preparation for a reception during her Washington visit, for the press corps, to which about 2,400 have been invited. As the guests came in, aides cautioned them in a whisper: "Easy on the handshaking. The queen is a bit tired. Don't shake hands too hard." The guests included nine Indian chiefs. They turned up in business suits. "This is the greatest day of my life," said Chief George Barker head of Manitoba's Hollow Band. William Styres of the Six Nations tribe of Brantford, Ont., told Philip he was wearing a button for 25 years' service in the Post Office Department. Elizabeth changed into a dramatic evening gown of white, embroidered in cascades of silver and gold, for the family-style dinner party. With it she wore the V-shaped necklace of diamonds and rubies and matching earrings her parents gave her for a wedding gift.

Williamsburg Set For Queen's Visit

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The pendulum of time swings back 350 years today for Virginia, America and Queen Elizabeth II of England.

The British monarch chose to open a six-day visit to the United States in a storied segment of Tidewater Virginia, famed in pictures, legend and fact in all the school-boy history books. This is the region of the ivied tower of an old red brick church on Jamestown Island, of the tale of Pocahontas and Captain John Smith, of the founding of Jamestown, in 1607, as the first permanent English settlement in the new world.

It is the 350th anniversary of Jamestown, largely, which brings Queen Elizabeth here today—along with thousands of spectators eager for a glimpse of the dark-haired, blue-eyed majesty and her consort, blond Prince Philip.

Here, too, at Williamsburg the past is present everywhere—in the restorations and reproductions of Virginia's colonial capital. And here on this historic peninsula between the James and York rivers, Britain's 13 American colonies and the Revolutionary War were lost. Another famous date, the 176th anniversary of the sur-

Uncle Ray: Stevenson Made Home In Samoan Islands

By RAMON COFFMAN

While he was in France at the age of 26, Robert Louis Stevenson met an American woman, Mrs. Fanny Osbourne. This meeting led to a warm regard between the two, but Mrs. Osbourne returned to her home in California.

Three years later the young author crossed the Atlantic, then traveled to San Francisco. Soon after, reaching the city of the Golden Gate, he married Mrs. Osbourne.

The couple moved to Scotland, taking with them Lloyd Osbourne, Stevenson's young stepson. The marriage proved to be a happy one.

Several years later, in search of a healthful place to live, Stevenson traveled to the Pacific Ocean with his family. After visiting various places, he went to one of the islands of the Samoan group.

The Samoan natives became fond of Stevenson, and gave him the name of Tusitala, meaning "teller of tales." While on the island, he wrote "Ebb Tide" and other stories about South Sea life.

If you ever visit Upolu, which was favored by Stevenson among the Samoan Islands, you may find a pathway which the natives cut through a forest many years ago. It was called by a name meaning "Road of the Loving Heart," and was made for Robert Louis Stevenson.

Stevenson was an industrious writer. During his life, which lasted only 44 years, he composed material which later appeared in a set of 28 volumes. Among his books are "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Kidnapped," "Prince Otto" and "Treasure Island."

In the same year that the 28-volume edition of his works appeared, Stevenson died. On his tomb, at the top of a Samoan mountain, a poem is engraved, including these lines:

"Dig the grave and let me lie,
"Glad did I live and gladly die."

24th Infantry Now History

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—The valiant U. S. 24th Infantry Division, first American unit to engage the Communists in Korea, passed into history quietly today. The 16-year-old division was redesignated the 1st Cavalry Division at a simple ceremony in the fog within a few miles of the armistice zone separating Allied and Communist troops.

Some 1,200 soldiers and a few hundred Koreans watched, and a band played "Auld Lang Syne," as the division colors were furled and cased to be sent to Washington. Then the famed black and yellow horse patch of the 1st Cavalry returned to Korea.

The tune, "Auld Lang Syne," coincidentally, is also the melody for the Korean national anthem.

Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, last commander of the 24th Division, is new commander of the 1st Cavalry.

Led by Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, the 24th landed in South Korea within one month of the June 1950 Red invasion and engaged in a costly delaying action that slowed the onrush of Communist forces until help arrived.

Dean was captured near Taejon and held by the Reds for three years.

The 1st Cavalry was activated at Ft. Bliss, Tex., in 1921 and is composed of units whose histories extend back as far as 1755. It also fought in the Pacific and Korean wars.

Lt. Elton Wallace Is Named Natl. Guard Commander

First Lt. Elton Wallace, who has been executive officer of Battery B, 132nd Field Artillery, Texas National Guard, will become commander of the Big Spring unit on Oct. 22.

Col. Ross Ayers, battalion commander, Lubbock, came to Big Spring on Monday night and officially notified the battery that Wallace will succeed Capt. Thomas A. Harris as battery commander. Harris, Ross stated, will become a member of the Battalion staff at Lubbock.

Next Tuesday, an inventory of all battery possessions will be made and a ceremony will be conducted transferring command of the unit from Harris to Wallace.

The battery recently was given federal inspection and it has been notified that its score was rated as "excellent."

Harris has been commander of the battery almost all of the time since it was organized. He started as commander in 1948 and continued in the post until late 1950. A few months later, he became commander for the second time, continuing in the role until 1953 when he was assigned to a post on the battalion staff. In 1955 he was back again as commander and now is assigned to the battalion staff.
