Ike, Mac Reach Pact As U.S. Gains In Weapons

Experts Assigned On Pooling Science

LATE BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan today reached basic agreement on pooling scientific and weapons development work.

They named two groups of experts to work out specific recommendations, in the atomic and missiles fields.

A joint statement issued at the White House disclosed: Lewis L. Strauss, U. S. Atomic Energy Commission chairman, and Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of the British Atomic Energy Authority, were designated to make "recommendations in the field of nuclear relationship and cooperation."

Sir Richard Powell, British permanent defense secretary, and Donald Quarles, U. S. deputy defense secretary, were instructed "to make recommendations in the field of military defense, particularly those problems dealing with missiles and rocketry."

"Under the directive of the President and the Prime Minister," said the joint statement, "it was emphasized that the work of these two groups should be guided by the underlying principle of the meeting: namely how our two countries can be of greater service to the free world."

This section of the statement was paralleled by another paragraph saying that Eisenhower, Macmillan, Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Secretary Lloyd had reported this morning on the essence of a dinner discussion they had last night.

This summary said they were in full agreement on finding ways to harness their nations' resources to meet the challenge of growing Soviet power.

This was the second day of conference between the President and the British Prime Minister on the subject of Russia's scientific-military challenge.

"All four," the statement said, "stressed the fact that this meeting was being held to study ways in which our two countries can be of greater service to the free world, and towards that end, how our resources can be pooled and utilized to maximum efficiency."

The dinner session followed a two-hour meeting between Macmillan and Dulles and their advisers at the British embassy. A statement released by the State Department said that they "began a general review of world affairs and an appraisal of the political and military considerations involved."

It was understood that in the afternoon conference and presumably again in the White House dinner discussion they came to grips with the two central problems of this gathering — how to overtake Russia's apparent lead in long range missiles development and how to coordinate their policies in dealing with the fre-

Rockets, Atom Sub Killers Head Parade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today it has made a successful firing of an experimental rocket designed to reach out into space 1,000 miles or more.

And there were unofficial reports that a second apparently successful firing had been made in scientific experiments conducted at Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific.

However, Air Force headquarters here gave no immediate details on the first reported firing. Nor did it confirm reports of a double success in the effort to hurl an object further out into space than any man-made device had gone before.

The reports of the Air Force "Project Farside" rocket shoots came as the United States claimed other new gains in science and weaponry to recover some of the prestige lost to Soviet technology in recent weeks.

The United States chalked up these developments yesterday: 1. Fired a rocket from a balloon floating 100,000 feet above the Eniwetok Atoll. The Air Force said it was successful. While technical records of the shot were lacking, the claim that the firing was a success seemed to mean the rocket had shot up not less than 1,000 miles.

AT LEAST 1,000 MILES The original announcement on the project said the objective was to launch rockets to an altitude between 1,000 and 4,000 miles. A successful launching would mean it rose to at least 1,000 miles. One officer familiar with the tests said it's possible the rocket may have soared beyond the 4,000-mile goal.

Unofficial reports said a second apparently successful shot was made from another balloon. However, these reports said, automatic metering equipment in the second rocket didn't function properly and that insufficient information was received to determine the rocket's altitude and other data.

2. Fired to a 109-mile altitude a prototype of the launching mechanism for the American earth satellite Vanguard, testing the first stage of the three-stage rocket engine by which it hopes to launch a small test satellite in December and a fully instrumented one by next March.

3. Announced perfection of nuclear depth charges for blasting enemy submarines, saying that these atomic weapons already are aboard some carriers of the Atlantic Fleet. The swiftly expanding Soviet submarine fleet is a source of grave concern to American strategists.

These followed closely the third successful test, on Tuesday, of an Army Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile. The Air Force has fired two successful Thor IRBMs. But to date, the only two attempts at full-scale tests of the Air Force intercontinental ballistic missile have been failures.

HIGHER THAN SPUTNIK The Pacific test rocket far exceeded in height but hardly matched the popular appeal of Russia's Sputnik, the earth satellite which was nearing its 300th trip around the globe since it was launched Oct. 4. Sputnik was sent to a height of 560 miles as it was directed into an orbit.

The Air Force declined to claim any specific height for its rocket, which was sent aloft to gather scientific information. An officer said it's possible the rocket soared well beyond the 4,000-mile goal set for it. Four previous efforts failed.

Secretary of Defense McElroy told newsmen last night he was encouraged by the demonstrated accuracy in the latest Jupiter test, but said there was need for "progressive, favorable experiences" in the competitive tests of Jupiter and Thor before a decision is reached on what IRBM would go into production. He indicated that such a decision might be up to six months away.

The Navy announced it has doubled the amount of money put into its own IRBM project, the Polaris. This missile, considerably farther back in development than the Jupiter or Thor, uses solid instead of the liquid fuel favored by the Army and Air Force. A new award of $62,100,000 was made to Lockheed Aircraft Corp. for continuing development of Polaris.

Outer Space

This is a Vanguard missile poised on a launching platform at Cape Canaveral, Fla. This missile, known as the TV2, was the third in the series of tests now being conducted by the Navy at the Florida base. It has a dummy third stage rocket inside the second stage with a nose cone attached. The Vanguard's real launching into outer space is scheduled for next March as the U.S. answer to Russia's Sputnik.

DANIEL WINS POINT

House Postpones Segregation Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The House voted 82-46 today to postpone action on a resolution demanding that Gov. Price Daniel say now whether he will submit integration as a topic for the special session of the Legislature.

The vote came after Rep. Joe Winfree of Houston told the House such a demand now would be an "insult" and a "slap in the face" at the governor. Winfree urged the House to give the governor more time to consider whether he would submit similar matters to this or a later special session.

Committee action gave the governor's specific program for the session one major boost. His crime study commission measure was recommended for passage by the House Committee on Civil Jurisprudence.

Daniel also moved to shove another vital point in his special session agenda forward. He indicated he was willing to give up a controversial section of the water planning bill. Daniel appeared before the Senate Water Committee to urge that it endorse a statewide water planning measure.

A House subcommittee a few minutes earlier had approved a bill under which a controversial section on buying storage space in federal reservoirs would be eliminated.

Fast action today came after the House sent to the Senate yesterday a resolution asking President Eisenhower to keep federal troops out of Texas integration matters.

The proposal must be approved by the Senate before it could become the official expression of the State Legislature. The House passed it 112-24 after hours of sometimes heated argument yesterday.

The troop resolution by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs said President Eisenhower disregarded "every principle of law" and the Federal Constitution in sending U.S. soldiers to Little Rock. It declared that Arkansas was deprived of its constitutional rights "at the point of federal bayonets."

The Chapman resolution says Texas does not ask the use of federal troops and calls on the President to "desist and refrain from sending federal troops into Texas for the purpose of enforcing modern sociological concepts."

Some of the sharpest debate centered on Gov. Orval Faubus' calling out of the state troops at Little Rock.

Rep. Bob Wheeler of Tilden, opposing the Chapman resolution, said he thought Gov. Faubus had not called out troops to preserve order, but to prevent integration.

CITY ORDINANCE

Citizens Council, NAACP Slapped

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—The Longview city manager said today he is awaiting replies to letters he sent to one Negro and one white organization directing them to comply with a new city ordinance by producing their membership lists.

Harry Mosley sent the letters yesterday to the Longview Citizens Council and the Longview chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The two groups also were directed to furnish such other information as places of business, agents, salaries paid them, financial statements, dues and assessments, contributions paid by whom and to whom, total net income and "whether the organization is subordinate to a parent organization."

The letters warned that failure to comply within seven days "makes each member of your organization guilty of misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than $50 per day for each day of non-complying."

The City Commission adopted the new ordinance unanimously at a special meeting Tuesday morning. Commissioners said it was designed to keep city officials informed about the makeup of any organization which might exist in Longview now or in the future, regardless of its character.

Asked if the ordinance could be applied to civic clubs, lodges, the American Legion or churches, Mosley told The Associated Press "it could be used for any of them."

Abercrombie told of stopping a car driven by Mrs. Kiser in Snyder about three weeks after her husband's death. He said she appeared to be intoxicated and he advised her to let a male companion operate the auto.

Heard Wednesday afternoon were four members of the Minneapolis, Minn., police department. Each said that Jack Kiser had a Mosley said the Citizens Council, a group advocating stringent segregation, had been "quite active" in Longview.

The schools of Longview, a city of some 40,000 located in the great East Texas oil field, are segregated. The NAACP has made no attempt to bring about school integration here.

Mosley said other organizations will be directed to supply information prescribed by the new ordinance.

reputation in Minneapolis as a "dangerous, violent, quarrelsome and abusive" man.

The four were William Quigg, detective; Mary Maid, Quigg's wife; and Ornell Peterson and Louise Shumway, patrolmen.

Kiser was arrested by Barker and Don Seales at Starr's Drive-In, following a disturbance. Mrs. Kiser had driven into the open door of a cellar near the drive-in and according to Mrs. Kiser, her husband had entered the car to seek help.

According to Bill Parrott of Breckenridge, former manager of Starr's, Kiser had entered the kitchen, grabbed Parrott by the arm and had said "You've got me in a hole, you and Seales, the latter a part time dog catcher and patrolman, were drinking coffee in the front of the building and as they rose to leave, Barker went back toward the kitchen. Barker asked Parrott if Kiser was giving him trouble, said Parrott:

The three then went out to the stranded car to see what could be done to get the car wheel out of the cellar door, Parrott said. "He kept cussin'" Parrott said, "and Barker told him a number

Bing Crosby To Marry

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bing Crosby and Olive K. Grandstaff, better known as actress Cathy Grant, obtained a marriage license today.

Crosby's first wife, the former Dixie Lee, died Nov. 1, 1952. The crooner started keeping company with comely Cathy two or three years ago. About a year ago their romance seemed to have cooled, and Crosby started dating others.

Cathy is the daughter of a Texas government official. Her mother is a school teacher.

Crosby gave his full name as Harry L. Crosby and his age as 53. Miss Grant said she is 23.

Defense Witnesses Heard As Barker Trial Nears Finish

COLORADO CITY — Four defense witnesses were heard this morning as the trial of Roy Barker on murder without malice charges moved toward an end. The jury is expected to get the case Friday.

Barker, former Colorado City policeman, is charged in the death of Jack Kiser last June 29. It is alleged Kiser's death was due to a blow from Barker's police "slapper."

Heard this morning were Joy Seale, police dispatcher, and Jessie Bunch, patrolman, both of whom were in the police station at the time of Kiser's death; Tom J. Goss II, local news reporter and photographer who identified pictures he made of the Kiser car and its contents shortly after Kiser died, and Sheriff Earl Abercrombie, Snyder.

Abercrombie told of stopping a car driven by Mrs. Kiser in Snyder about three weeks after her husband's death. He said she appeared to be intoxicated and he advised her to let a male companion operate the auto.

Heard Wednesday afternoon were four members of the Minneapolis, Minn., police department. Each said that Jack Kiser had a of times to quit and he didn't."

By this time Seales had come up from the police car in front of the building, and Barker told Kiser he was under arrest, according to the witness.

Parrott said that Kiser had attempted to pull away from the men but had not attempted to hit anyone, as he was being taken to the car.

Seales testified to events at the police station. He said that Kiser continued to curse and Barker had slapped Kiser in the face, and that Kiser had struck the other officer and that the two had grappled.

"He had Barker by the throat and I grabbed his arm," Seales said. "He swung me off and I slipped and fell to the floor. Then they went to the floor and I saw Barker getting up with his slapper in his hand. I knew he was going to hit Kiser and I looked away. When I looked back, Kiser was down."

Kiser died a few minutes later, Dr. Ken Cowan, who pronounced Kiser dead, had testified Wednesday morning that the "medical cause of death was hemorrhage at the base of the brain." He also testified that the police slapper could have caused the injury

Judge Refuses Mistrial In Cage Embezzlement Case

DALLAS (AP)—The defense moved unsuccessfully for a mistrial today in the embezzlement trial of Ben-Jack Cage, former insurance promoter.

Defense Atty. Ivan Irwin asked the mistrial after a statement by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bill Alexander. Dist. Judge J. Frank Wilson refused the motion.

J. H. Mairs, secretary of Unitek Industries, Inc., formerly ICT Corp., was on the stand. The state sought to have introduced as evidence an alleged balance sheet showing alleged losses sustained by ICT Corp. in its settlement with Jack Cage & Co.

Alexander said in the presence of the jury the sheet reflected ICT lost $100,000 plus more than one million dollars more in its dealings with Jack Cage & Co.

That was the statement to which Irwin objected and asked the mistrial.

Former State Insurance Commission Chairman J. Byron Saunders was called to the stand yesterday.

Saunders refused to testify yesterday on grounds he might incriminate himself. He made the statement in reply to the first question put to him by prosecutors after identifying himself on the witness stand.

"I think this (court appearance) is for the purpose of embarrassing me before this court and this jury," Saunders said when he was asked by Alexander how long he had known Cage.

Cage, 40-year-old promotion wizard, is on trial on a charge of embezzling $100,000 from a subsidiary company of the giant ICT Insurance Co. which he promoted with labor backing and built into a vast network of businesses.

Saunders pleaded a section of the Texas Constitution similar to the 5th Amendment of the Federal Constitution.

United Fund Gains $9,700

Another $9,700 was reported for the United Fund today, boosting the total contributions to $66,218 or about 75 per cent of the $89,100 goal.

Most of the gifts reported today came from the Employee Division, which, with Advance Gifts, is leading the way in the campaign. Employee Gifts now total 78 per cent of their quota and Advance Gifts 82 per cent.

With less than half their quotas raised are Special and General Gifts Divisions.

This was the last scheduled report meeting for the campaign, but K. H. McGibbon, general chairman, said the drive will continue until the goal is attained.

Sunshine Spurring Harvest Of Cotton

Bright sunshine Thursday sent farmers back to the cotton fields in large numbers as harvest of the crop, delayed by heavy rains earlier this week, resumed.

Cold weather promised for last night brought a low reading of 44 degrees Thursday morning but the chilliness did not hold when the sun rose.

Some damage to cotton due to spotting is believed certain to develop from the rains but it was hoped that the loss would not be material.

Most of the gins which had been shut down during the rainy weather were back in action. Some pickers were in the fields on Wednesday afternoon.

Summations Due

NEW YORK (AP) — Summations take place today in the trial of Russian Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, accused of spying for the Soviet Union.

Knife Bandit Slays Church Secretary

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A bandit slashed to death a church secretary today after kidnaping her and her pastor as they left their Canal St. church.

The pastor was slashed and beaten during a wild ride in his new car, gift of his congregation, then left bound and gagged.

Dead is Miss Maud Lind, 57, secretary of St. John's Lutheran church.

The Rev. Martin W. H. Hollis, 69, was treated at a hospital for knife wounds of the throat and head injuries. Attendants said he would recover.

Police said a dark-skinned man forced his way into Hollis' car as the pastor was preparing to drive Miss Lind to her home after night services at the church.

The man pushed into the front seat alongside them, officers said. He thrust a gun onto Miss Lind and told Hollis to drive "where I tell you."

mandated that the minister hand over his money.

"I hate to do this to you," he said, "but I need the money. My little boy is sick. My family comes first."

Hollis surrendered about $7,000, officers said.

The bandit forced Miss Lind into the back seat and made her remove her stockings. He used the stockings to bind and gag Hollis, then demanded Miss Lind's purse and diamond ring. It was not known how much money Miss Lind's purse contained.

Hollis told officers the bandit crawled into the back seat by the fear-crazed secretary. "The minister said she pleaded for her life and told the bandit she couldn't breathe."

Miss Lind screamed several times, Hollis said, then there was silence.

The man slashed her across the neck, Hollis said, and struck him across the head three times. He fled, apparently believing both were dead, officers said.

Double Favorite

Donna Martell, who divides her time between pictures and TV, names olive oil as her favorite for cooking and beauty. She is a frequent guest on many of the network shows for CBS-TV.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Olive Oil Is Magic Potion For Beauty

HOLLYWOOD—I wandered onto the "Lineup" set at CBS-TV and had a visit with that attractive brunette Donna Martell. When I first met Donna she was a strawberry blonde. Now she has long, black, silky hair.

"Don't remind me of being blonde. That was a big mistake and my friends were the first to tell me. I was unhappy until it grew back to its natural shade," she exclaimed.

"I cut my hair short once and I liked it very much. Although it was becoming, men didn't like it, especially my husband," she commented. Donna is married to Gene Corso, who plays pro football for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Gene has a great deal to say about what I wear and he buys most of my clothes," she said with pride.

Donna looked at me and laughed. "Don't be so surprised. His mother was a designer at one of the major studios, and he has great style sense. It is wonderful for me that he is clothes conscious because he is always buying me dresses.

"I wear my own clothes on TV and since my husband has been shopping for me I have more compliments than I have ever had. I used to wear full skirts, but my husband prefers tailored suits and sheaths so now I'm a sophisticated type."

"You certainly have a figure for clothes," I remarked. "Do you have to work at it?"

"I used to dance and I am very active. I have no trouble if I stay away from too many Italian dinners. Both my parents are from Italy and my mother is a wonderful cook."

"Does she use lots of olive oil in her cooking?" I wanted to know.

"She buys it in five-gallon tins, fresh from the press, and she never uses animal fats for cooking,"

Man-In-The-Moon Cake Pretty To Serve With Tadpole Tea

Every one looks forward to the games, fun and traditional parties that accompany Halloween, a festival that began over 1,200 years ago as "All Hallows' Eve." Now, of course, this delightful time is associated with harvesting and the joyful celebration of bounty, with children making it their special event. Games and gatherings such as bobbing for apples or putting faces on pumpkins or apples have developed into traditions over the years.

The Tadpole Tea is wonderfully healthy and in Halloween colors, and the Man-in-the-Moon Appearance Cake, a favorite, has orange tinted icing.

MAN-IN-THE-MOON CAKE
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon soda
 1 1/2 cup flour
 1 cup chopped raisins
 1 teaspoon cloves
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 cup applesauce
 Cream sugar and shortening, add egg and spices. Mix applesauce with soda and combine with first mixture. Add flour last. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F., for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 2 8" layers.

TADPOLE TEA
 2 quarts gingerale

1 quart apricot nectar
 1 1/2 quarts apple juice
 1/4 cup lemon juice
 6 sticks cinnamon
 12 cloves
 Raft of ice with apple slices frozen in.
 You may prepare the ice raft ahead, simply by lining an ice tray with freshly cut apple slices dipped in lemon-juice, and barely cover with water. Freeze thoroughly. Complete filling of tray with water and return to freezer. When unmolded apple slices will appear to "float" on top of the ice raft.

 Combine chilled juices and cinnamon sticks. When ready to serve, add gingerale and ice raft. Float cloves on top of punch, for a colorful orange and black "Tadpole Tea."

According to Mr. Mort's publicity, his new designs for women's clothing are designed with fluid flattery for the youthful figure. The creations are also designed so that they appear to be the same, whether the wearer is coming or going. Somehow I just can't believe American women are going to be simple enough to wear such unflattering clothes. If women are still fortunate enough to have a good figure, there seems to be little reason why they would want to hide it under a sack.

U.N. Feels Syrian Crisis Not At Serious As Its Background

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —

There is a widespread feeling here that the Turkish-Syrian crisis itself is not as important as what is behind it.

Few delegates believe that war is imminent — unless it should come by accident, touched off by some unplanned clash against the background of inflamed passions.

Many delegates see the crisis as a situation manufactured in Moscow to further an all-out Soviet drive for domination of the Middle East.

They are worried because Soviet leaders in words and action make it clear that the cold war is back at its worst — with all its pressures, threats and subversion.

The situation is undeniably serious. But because the delegates feel the crisis is not really genuine, it has not produced the same sense of urgency as was prevalent last year when the Assembly dealt with the invasion of Egypt by Britain, France and Israel.

There was real fear of a global war when the Soviet Union threatened to send volunteers, as it called them, to Egypt.

This sense of urgency was present also during the crucial days of the Korean War, when it threatened to explode into a third world war.

NO HASTE

Today the Soviet Union is trying hard to make out a convincing case that war is near and that the United States is promoting it. But the General Assembly has shown no inclination toward haste.

Delegates are aware that while the issue was brought before the U.N. by Syria, it was done so in close cooperation with the Soviet Union. Western diplomats even speculate that the crisis is a smokescreen to cover a Soviet takeover in Syria.

It is obvious that the Soviet Union intends to use the General Assembly as a forum for new attacks against the West, particularly against the United States. The Russians attack Western imperialism, Zionism, NATO, the Baghdad Pact and the Eisenhower Doctrine as causes of Middle East tension.

At the same time they praise Arab nationalism and urge noninterference in the internal affairs of Arab countries.

This line, coupled with the Soviet propaganda attacks on Western countries in the Middle East, apparently is intended to woo Arab support while turning the people against any governments which remain friendly to the West.

MASTER STRATEGY

The main problem of the United States and other non-Communist countries at the moment is to master a strategy which will turn the tables on the Russians and show their real role in the Middle East.

Several possible courses of action have been suggested. Syria has indicated it wants a U.N. commission to investigate the massing of Turkish troops along the Syrian border.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia is trying to mediate the dispute.

Canada's Lester B. Pearson and British Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell have suggested that the U.N. send a border patrol, similar to the Middle East emergency force, to the troubled area.

There are other possibilities which might be used either independently or in combination with each other. For example, the U.N. might:

1. Offer military, financial and economic aid to any country in the area that becomes the victim of an attack.
2. Call on all member countries to stop sending arms to the area and to avoid interfering in the internal affairs of any country.

3. Urge a meeting of the heads of the governments of the United States, Britain, France and Russia to seek a solution.

This last is being urged by the Soviet Union. The United States and Britain are cool toward it.

Some U.N. diplomats have expressed private views that the present Turkish-Syrian crisis may have been initiated by the Soviet Union at least partly to demonstrate a need for big power talks.

Heart Attack Kills Dior, Fashion King

MOUETECATINI, Italy (AP) — Christian Dior, 52-year-old king of the postwar fashion world, died early today of a heart attack while on holiday in his north Italian resort 25 miles west of Florence.

The quiet, balding and slightly paunchy creator of the revolutionary "New Look" had come to Montecatini a week ago with four friends.

He dined last night at his hotel with Mrs. Raymond Zennacker, his chief assistant, and after dinner retired to his third-floor room. At 11 p. m. he called for a doctor. Subsequently the local priest, the Rev. Giulio Celli, was summoned.

Also at the bedside of the famed designer when he died were a local doctor, a French physician and his dinner companion.

Dior was the second of French fashion's major postwar designers to die after a brief but meteoric career. Jacques Fath succumbed three years ago, at the age of 42, to leukemia.

Dior was virtually unknown until 1947, when he burst to the forefront of the bitterly competitive fashion trade with the revolutionary longer, full skirts of his New Look. In that one season he became the dictator of high style, and never since had anyone come close to toppling him from his pinnacle.

The rain stopped all boll pulling and grain harvest, but farmers were preparing to get back into the field today. Several bales were pulled yesterday afternoon. One farmer bringing a load to the gin said the cotton was dry but he didn't know about the burrs and seed.

Opinions differ concerning the amount of damage caused by wet weather. One gin manager, G. C. Broughton, said there might be a slight stain for awhile, but he thinks it will still be graded as white cotton.

He estimated that only five per cent of the county's cotton had been ginned, and that not over 10 per cent had opened.

One result of a large cotton crop has been a decrease in the cotton seed price. Gordon Hodnett said his gin was paying $54 per ton two weeks ago, but yesterday the price was down to $49 a ton. Last year the price reached as high as $63.

The outlook for higher prices is dim. Ranchers have more grass than in three or four years, there are less cattle, and the mills have a big carryover of cottonseed meal from last year.

Since a larger crop than usual will be picked this year, the price of cottonseed may drop even more. On a 2000-lb. bale, the seed will usually amount to about 300 pounds, at least during the early part of the season.

Most of the cotton crop will be harvested by bracer labor, according to the present trend. At the Texas Employment Commission, manager Leon Kinney said there would probably be fewer native pickers than usual, at least in proportion to the Nationals.

He gave two reasons for this: The crop downstate, usually already finished by this time, lacks several weeks being over. Also the cotton north of here is opening almost as fast as it is here.

The native crews usually come into this area, work awhile and then go on north. This year Kinney says they will probably pass through Big Spring without stopping. This part of the country has never attracted as many workers as Lamesa, Lubbock and Levelland.

Farmers are between a rock and a hard place concerning the grain sorghum crop. It's too wet to combine, and it's been standing too long to stand much longer.

E. T. Tucker, local grain dealer, says several farmers are almost holding their breath, hoping a strong wind won't sweep across the fields. He said one man had 150 tons in the field and the stalks are already leaning. A hard, driving rain or just a strong wind could push the stalks on down to where a combine couldn't reach them.

Tucker says the maize market is too low at present. He thinks farmers should store it on the farm if they have granaries, then let it dry enough to meet the government loan.

The government is allowing farmers to store grain on the ground, but Tucker says this seldom pays. A lot of it will get sandy, and all that touches the damp ground will sprout. Once it starts growing, it will keep right on, because the first frosts will not reach some of these protected sprouts.

He says grain that is wet because of rain will keep in a barn or granary without spoiling. It is not nearly so apt to heat as grain that has never cured out.

Every once in awhile you read of some kid who suddenly goes berserk and kills a member of the family. Then everyone wonders who it happened. Was the boy a potential murderer all the time, or had his behavior been warped by some early circumstance which changed his entire personality?

I never knew but one such boy, but I knew him quite well. When I was about 15, we used to go to town every Saturday where I would see this boy. He was two years younger than I, and lived with his mother, younger brother and step-father on a farm about a mile from town.

We often paired off together as boys do, and had quite a lot in common. I never knew of his having a fight or getting into trouble of any kind. He was a good-natured kid, always smiling, and willing to join in any kind of fun.

One day four of us were sitting on a wooden corral down near the railroad where some horses were being unloaded. There was to be a rodeo that afternoon, and we planned to see it.

Then suddenly the boy's face turned pale and he started to climb down. Looking around, we saw his step-father coming at a half-trot, pulling off his belt as he walked.

He was an eagle-beaked little man, short and scrawny, but with the reputation of being dangerous when aroused.

He jerked the boy away from the fence and drew back the belt. "Didn't I tell you not to come over here?" he demanded.

The boy's lips were quivering as he looked one way then another, as if trying to decide whether to stay or make a run for it.

"I asked mother," he finally gasped. "She gave me a quarter and said I could see the rodeo."

The man slapped him with his left hand then swung the heavy belt with all his strength. He must have hit the boy 15 or 20 times before the kid finally stumbled off toward home, rubbing the seat of his pants and trying to choke back the sobs.

Not long afterwards the family moved to a ranch nearer another town, so we saw them no more. About two years later, though, there was a killing at the ranch house. Early one morning the boy and his younger brother took the Winchester from its hiding place and shot the old man while he slept.

The younger boy went free, but the older one was sent to the reformatory. I never heard of him but one time after the trial, and that was when they finally released him a few years later.

There was a lot of talk during the trial. Some people thought the boy should have been put away for life. He's a natural born killer, they said, so let's lock him up and throw the key away. If he gets out, he'll kill again.

I might have agreed except for one thing. My sympathy was with the boys, because I had witnessed that whipping, which was worse than any mule or horse ever got. Some people, I'm convinced, invite murder by the way they treat others.

Familiar Forwards

Steers Look Good In Heavy Workouts

If attitude means anything, the Big Spring Steers are going to be tough customers for the Abilene Eagles to handle Friday night. The two teams clash at Fair Park Stadium in Abilene in an 8 p'clock battle, first conference contest of the season for the elevens.

The Steers have just completed three successful workouts and, judging from their attitude, one would think they were favored in this game.

The name "Abilene" doesn't appear to scare them in the least. They appear eager to pitch in and go to work on the W. Birds.

The Steers have been rocking and socking in practice all week. They see no reason why they themselves can't put an end to Abilene's 43 game winning skein.

Last team to beat Abilene was Breckenridge, in '54. Since that time, the Eagles have won three straight state championships.

The Steers should be at near-peak physical condition for the Eagles. All of the boys out with the flu have returned and appear to be in good condition.

Minor adjustments have been made in the Steer lineup, as Coach Al Milch figures to lead with his best.

Today, the Longhorns will taper off by rehearsing plays and engaging in punting and passing drills.

From Abilene came reports that Georis Galbraith, regular quarterback who has been out with the flu, is back in uniform and will be ready to go the full distance, if needed, tomorrow night.

There was never any doubt here that he would play against the Steers.

Chuck Moser, the Abilene coach, said yesterday that Bill Sides, regular Abilene fullback, would not be able to play Friday due to a hip injury he suffered in the Waco game last week.

The belief here is that he will be used if needed, however.

In event Sides isn't available, end Charles Flynn will do the punting for the Eagles while Tony Martinez, Stan Cozy and Ronnie Conklin will divide time at the fullback slot.

Chuck Colvin is not only the leader scorer for the Eagles but the top ground gainer, as well. In 90 carries, he has averaged 7.7 yards per carry. Sides is next, with 5.8 in 90 tries. Cozy has averaged 5.5 yards.

Singing Wingman

Buddy Dial, Rice Institute end, whose sensational pass receiving has put Rice on the comeback trail, has been dubbed the "Singing Wingman" by his teammates. Possessing a fine set of vocal chords, Dial has had offers from several record companies to cut discs for them.

Porter, Campbell Tops In Circuit

The pace-setting Couble Cleaners nudged Team 6 by a 2-1 tab in Housewives' Bowling League competition here Wednesday morning.

In other matches, Zale's prevailed over Truman Jones Motor, 2-1, while the match between Girdner Electric and Gandy's Creamery was not played.

Couble's led team scoring with 635-634-1854. Zale's had an 1804 aggregate.

Betty Porter of Wason and Trantham posted 181-439. Toby Bumgardner of Zale's had the next best single game, 171; while Nell Campbell of Zale's came through with the second top total, 444.

Next week, Zale's takes on Girdner Electric. Good Housekeeping opposes Gandy's, Couble Cleaners faces Wason and Trantham while Team 6 tests Truman Jones Motor.

Grigger To The Rescue

Filled with modern version of the spirit of '76, football player Richard Buchholz marches down the field with a snare drum while the rest of the Morton, Minn., high school team takes a halftime breather. The school band, lacking enough members to fill out its drum section, called for help from the football team. Buchholz responded by trading his helmet for a hand cap but didn't have time enough to change uniforms.

IN TOKYO PLAY

Americans Take 5-Stroke Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY
TOKYO (AP)—A course record 67 by Sam Snead and a 69 by Jimmy Demaret sent the United States off to an imposing five-stroke lead today in defense of the international Canada Cup golf championship.

Putting the Kasumigaseki Country Club's rough koral grass greens as if they were marbled, the two veteran Yanks outclassed handicapped professionals from 29 other nations in the opening round of the 72-hole medal play tournament.

Five strokes back in second place came the surprising Japanese tandem of Torakichi Nakamura and Koichi Ono.

Nakanura, 42, a teaching professional, shot a 68, second only to Snead's record round. Ono fired 73 for 141.

The competitive course record for this picturesque 6,895-yard layout was 69, held by Tokyo players. Par is 36-36-72.

Snead, 45, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., recouped with dead-eyed putting after straying from the fairway on six holes.

The tournament's English championships in both individual and team competition, the latter based on combined scores of the two representatives.

Two strokes back of the Japanese at 143 came the young South African team of Harold Henning and Gary Player, who shot 71 and 72, respectively.

Australia's twosome of Peter Thomson, the three-time British Open champ, and Bruce Crampton, all-around young athlete from Melbourne, was nine strokes back at 145, tied with Canadian Stan Leonard and Al Baiding.

The best of the British forces, the English team of Peter Alliss Jr. and Ken Boufield, followed at 146 on a par of 73s.

Texans A Big Help To OU

By HAROLD RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

When Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma said he couldn't get along without those Texas boys on his national championship Sooners he wasn't just filling in on the conversation. Check up and see who's doing the big job for Oklahoma.

Take the game with Texas, Jackie Sandefur of Breckenridge is the leading ground-gainer, scored the winning touchdowns, intercepted a pass to set up the insurance touchdown. Bobby Boyd of Garland intercepted two passes to stop Texas drives. Dick Carpenter of Breckenridge helped in the winning drive. Jim Davis of Tyler intercepted a pass on the Oklahoma 4-yard line to halt a Texas surge that appeared touchdown bound. Bob Harrison of Stamford played the best game in the line for the day.

There are 18 Texans on the Oklahoma squad, which is galling to some folk hereabouts who are tired of Oklahoma beating Texas teams with Texas boys. There's nothing can be done about it. Oklahoma has a perfect right to get Texas boys to play on its football teams. Texas colleges can get Oklahoma boys if they want to—and can snare them away from the Big Red.

There's only way to keep Texans on Texas teams—beat Oklahoma on the field. When the Sooners lose they'll find the boys less eager to join them. The athlete usually wants to be on a winning team, a natural desire.

Wilkinson is negotiating with the Southwest Conference for a mutual recognition of the letter of intent. If the deal goes through Oklahoma will not try to get boys who have signed a letter of intent at a Southwest Conference school. Southwest Conference schools will not sign boys that have already signed with Oklahoma.

This plan would appear to be the disadvantage of Oklahoma more than to the Southwest Conference but Wilkinson wants it to relieve the criticism that Oklahoma has received because of signing Texas boys who already had signed letters of intent in the Southwest Conference.

Frame-Ups Retain League Advantage

In the Officers' Wives' Club League bowling Monday night the Frame-Ups maintained their lead over the Split-Tails.

In the matches, the Frame-Ups won over the Pockettes 3-1; the Split-Tails over the Cotton Pickers 3-1; the Good Offers trounced the Bowlers lost three points to the Sittin' Ducks.

Lorraine Lahr came in with a single game score of 174, while Kay Leighty rolled a high three game series of 474. A high average of 155 is held by Ruth Makris.

Dodger Officials Get Royal LA Welcome

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This city gave big league baseball a tumultuous welcome last night. Hundreds of spectators strained against ropes as a chartered plane carrying the vanguard of the Los Angeles Dodgers set down at International Airport.

Cheers blended with jazz and band music as the plane taxied into the glare of television lights. A U.S. senator was jostled unnoticed in the crush.

President Walter O'Malley was the first of the 28 Dodger officials off the plane. His beaming Irish face was greeted with a loud roar. He waved his arm at huge leaping on the side of the plane—"Los Angeles Dodgers." Another roar from the crowd.

City Councilwoman Rosalind Wyman stumbled through the tangle of television and radio wires. "Welcome to Los Angeles," she shouted into a microphone.

The crowd surged forward from behind the roped-off area. Someone recognized a husky fellow befriended in the stamped.

He was Sen. William Knowland. The California Republican was pushed to the front, where he extended the state's welcome to O'Malley and his Dodgers from Brooklyn.

Junior Gilliam was the only ballplayer aboard the twin-engine plane. But slugger Duke Snider, who lives in suburban Compton, was on hand to greet his associates.

O'Malley held a 15-minute news conference in the plane, and then the group left—with police escort—for a downtown hotel.

Bobby Boyd Scores Victory Over Germany's Suzina

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Onetime top middleweight contender Bobby Boyd of Chicago scored a 10-round unanimous decision over Franz Suzina of Germany last night in a bout that saw only the referee hit the deck.

Suzina, who weighed 159, sent Referee Joe Palmer to the canvas after the seventh-round bell as the official was trying to break the fighters. Boyd was a pound over the middleweight limit at 161.

Boyd, on the comeback trail after suffering a broken jaw last September, scored early and without Suzina's desperation punches.

It was Boyd's fifth victory since Joey Giardello cracked his jaw in a fight in Cleveland. He now has a record of 46-7-1. Suzina, the favorite of the local crowd but not the bookmakers, has a 41-19-13 record.

"It was a right hand that caught me on the back of the head," Palmer said. He said he thought it was more surprise than power. "I've been hit harder than that," he laughed.

Judge Dick Albino gave Boyd 7 rounds to 3 and Judge Harold McGrath scored it 6-3-1 in favor of Boyd. Referee Palmer also favored Boyd 54-1. The Associated Press card saw Boyd the victor 5-3-2.

Ferguson Top Aggie Rusher

STATE COLLEGE, N. M. (AP)—Quarterback Joe Kelly and fullback Wally Ferguson continue to lead New Mexico A&M College's football statistics after four games.

Ferguson, a senior from Capitlan, N. M., is top rusher with 285 yards, an average of 5.3 per carry. Kelly is second with 179 yards and an average of 4 yards a carry.

Kelly is also top passer with eight completions in 20 attempts for 180 yards, an average of 22½ yards per toss. Kelly, a junior from Carlsbad, N. M., leads in total offense with 359 yards in 66 plays. Ferguson is second with 290 yards in 56 plays.

Top pass receiver for the Aggies is Louis Kelley, a sophomore from Abilene, Tex., with four catches for 77 yards. Best punter is George Meider with five boots for 180 yards, an average of 36 a punt.

Kelly leads in scoring with two touchdowns and kick conversions for 14 points. Ferguson has scored two TDs for second place.

In A&M's four games to date the Aggies have netted 626 rushing to 792 for the opposition, picked up 286 yards passing to 168 for the combined opponents. In total offense the opposition has compiled 960, A&M 912. A&M leads in first downs 56 to 52.

Merger Of Two Leagues Talked

WACO — Merger of the Big State and Southwestern Leagues to form an 8-club circuit was considered likely today. Heads of the two Class B circuits Hal Sayles of the Big State and Grady Terry of the Southwestern will attend a meeting here Sunday as will representatives of the clubs interested in forming the league.

Sayles, at Abilene, expressed confidence the combination would be formed. Terry is from Midland. Corpus Christi, Victoria and Beaumont are ready to field teams from the Big State with either Waco or Port Arthur furnishing the fourth. Carlsbad, Hobbs, Odessa and Midland are to be represented from the Southwestern League.

The Big State League wound up with Corpus Christi, Victoria, Beaumont and Abilene last season but the latter isn't expected to be back because it lost its ball park. Carlsbad, Hobbs, Lamesa and Ballinger finished in the Southwestern, Lamesa having replaced Midland late in the season.

By The Associated Press
Fifty-seven undefeated teams, headed by Abilene, eye the field warily this week as the Texas schoolboy football campaign reaches its highest point of the season.

Abilene, after its fourth straight Class AAAA state championship, opens district play Friday night against Big Spring. But the main point about that game is the fact that Abilene will be after its forty-

HPC Team Hits Road Saturday

BROWNWOOD (SC)—After being idle last week, the Howard Payne College Yellow Jackets take to the road this week for a conference engagement with the Lamar Tech Cardinals in Beaumont.

The Red Birds are currently co-leaders of the Lone Star Conference, sharing the top spot with Sam Houston State, while the Jackets are winless in three conference starts.

Comparative scores strongly favor the Cardinals. They stopped Stephen F. Austin 27-12, while that team defeated Howard Payne 20-7. Lamar Tech defeated East Texas State 7-6, a team which had beaten the Yellow Jackets earlier in a 31-12 rout.

Though not discarded, the Jackets' injury list is noticeably shortened. Don Dendy, HPC center who sustained a severe hand cut 10 days ago, had the stitches removed today, and will see limited action against the Cards.

Walls, Murphy, Gilger and Thompson did well with the week of rest, and are ready for play Saturday night. Dayton Whitehurst is still experiencing trouble with his back, but will see part-time action this weekend.

Don Fuqua and John Baskin missed work-outs Monday. Baskin suffered a light sprain last week, and Fuqua is laid up with the flu and Brown L. Smith, leading Jacket ground gainer, is still troubled with a weak leg muscle, but is not expected to be completely sidelined Saturday evening. Aury Crawford, right guard, is out of the line-up indefinitely with pulled knee ligaments.

The Lamar Tech forward will out-weigh the Jackets seven pounds per man. They average 207 to Howard Payne's 200 pounds per lineman. The backfield of both teams weighs in approximately 173 pounds per player.

This will be the first meeting of the two teams, and Howard Payne will enter the fray in a decided underdog role. Lamar Tech is the lone school in the LSC which did not play HPC in football last year.

DIKE AGAIN IS INJURED

By The Associated Press
Fullback Buddy Dike reinjured a hip Wednesday and won't be able to start for Texas Christian against Marquette Saturday.

Most other Southwest Conference football teams took because of rain and injuries.

The loss of Dike was a blow to the Frogs, who figure as a favorite over Marquette. Trainer Elmer Brown said he probably will be able to return in the Baylor game Nov. 2.

The injury-riddled Bears concentrated on pass defense and passing at Waco. The Bears are fighting for a crucial tilt with defending champion Texas A&M, a game that already is a sellout. More than 42,000 fans will jam

Kyle Field for the contest which could dash Baylor's hopes for the conference title.

The Aggies ran through a brief drill. Coach Paul Bryant wasn't pleased with their showing.

"We didn't look like a team that's in the middle of the season," Bryant said. "We're slow as molasses."

Baylor quarterback Doyle Trayler heads the list of doubtful starters for the Aggie game but may see limited duty.

The Rice Owls, however, appeared in top physical shape for their game against Texas. Fullback David Kelley is still bothered by a back injury but will play Saturday.

The Longhorns ran through a light drill at Austin. Coach Darrell Royal expects his squad to be in top shape for the game.

Rain hampered the Arkansas squad in Fayetteville. But the Porkers had what Coach Jack Mitchell called a "good session," despite the dampness.

Starting end Bobby Childress and guard Billy Gilbow were back in uniform after a bout with the flu. Southern Methodist worked on offensive drills although the Mustangs have an open date.

Texas Christian University defeated Alabama 28-0, and Tennessee won its game 14-0.

Prominently mentioned to succeed Whitworth are Wade Walker of Mississippi State and Paul Bryant of Texas A&M. Bryant said he wouldn't consider such a proposal.

Williams, Ariz. — "It's a surprise to me," Fred Haney said last night when informed he had been named National League Manager of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Haney, who led the Milwaukee Braves to their first pennant and world championship, was resting in his motel room in this northern Arizona community. He asked for details. A few paragraphs of an Associated Press story were read.

"That's terrific," he said. "Naturally I'm honored and very happy about it. We are on our way to Los Angeles and just stopped here for the night. I hadn't heard a thing about it."

Haney won in a close vote over Fred Hutchinson, pilot of the second-place St. Louis Cards.

Haney received 90 votes and Hutchinson 84 of the 180 cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies was named on five ballots and Bill Rigney of the New York Giants on one.

Alabama Seeks New Mentor

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — Alabama's Crimson Tide, once one of the nation's most powerful football teams, is in the market for a new coach.

The Alabama Athletic Council announced last night that it would not recommend that Coach J. B. Whitworth's contract be renewed after it expires Dec. 1.

Whitworth came to Alabama from Oklahoma A&M in 1955, and his record for the 24 Tide games he has coached is 2 victories, 20 defeats and 2 ties.

Whitworth replaced Red Drew, who produced a 53-27 record. Before him were Frank Thomas (115-25-7) and Wallace Wade (61-13-3).

That's what the Alabama alumni can't forget—those Wade and Thomas teams.

Alabama opened the 1957 season with a 28-0 shellacking at the hands of Louisiana State, and then trounced up to Nashville to tie Vanderbilt 6-6. Those six points are all the Tide has scored this season.

Texas Christian University defeated Alabama 28-0, and Tennessee won its game 14-0.

Prominently mentioned to succeed Whitworth are Wade Walker of Mississippi State and Paul Bryant of Texas A&M. Bryant said he wouldn't consider such a proposal.

Williams, Ariz. — "It's a surprise to me," Fred Haney said last night when informed he had been named National League Manager of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Haney, who led the Milwaukee Braves to their first pennant and world championship, was resting in his motel room in this northern Arizona community. He asked for details. A few paragraphs of an Associated Press story were read.

Haney won in a close vote over Fred Hutchinson, pilot of the second-place St. Louis Cards.

Haney received 90 votes and Hutchinson 84 of the 180 cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies was named on five ballots and Bill Rigney of the New York Giants on one.

The Braves manager said, "I'll be honest. Up until a couple of days ago, I was too busy thinking about other things to even consider I would get this honor."

He wouldn't take all the credit. He said, "The fellows on the ball club do the work. It just takes some effort to guide them."

Game With Coast Eleven To Count

SAN JOSE, Calif. — A couple of teams on the upgrade clash here Saturday night as North Texas State meets San Jose State in a Missouri Valley Conference game—for North Texas State.

North Texas just entered the Missouri Valley League this year and without enough conference games to compete for the championship chose to count this one with San Jose State.

It will be the third time the two teams have met. In 1953 they fought to a tie. In 1954 San Jose won 27-20.

STILLWATER, Okla. — Texas Western College has been added to the Oklahoma State University basketball schedule.

Athletic director Hank Iba said the Cowboys will meet Texas Western here Dec. 7.

Yearling 11's To S'twater

Seventh and Eighth Grade football teams representing Big Spring hit the road this evening, visiting Sweetwater for a double-header.

The first game, involving the 7th Graders, will be played at 6 p.m. The 8th Grade contest goes on at 8 o'clock.

In action last week, the 7th Graders lost their first game of the season to Snyder, 13-0. The local contingent couldn't be faulted, however.

A flu epidemic practically wiped out the starting backfield of the Yearlings. In addition, two regular linemen were missing.

This week, the situation is improved. Coaches Hugh Hamm and Jimmy Marcus have most of their regulars on hand.

Coach Bobby Zellars of the 8th Graders has his problems, however. Only half of his boys have been working out this week and yesterday no fewer than 11 didn't report for practice.

The 8th Graders have yet to lose a game—they were tied, 0-0, by Snyder last week—but they're in danger of doing that very thing tonight because of the illness outbreak.

To date, the 7th Graders have beaten Andrews, 20-7; Odessa Ector, 6-0; and Lamesa, 37-7, while losing to Snyder.

The 8th Graders haven't been as busy but they beat Andrews, 27-6; and Lamesa, 13-12, before the Snyder tie.

During a hot hitting streak in May (1957), Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals hit safely in 24 straight games.

A Bible Thought For Today

I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. (Phil. 4:11)

Tips On Attire And The Tongue

The Associated Press Managing Editors' Association holds its annual convention in New Orleans November 19-23, and President Frank Eyerly got to wondering what the weather is like in the Crescent City at that time of year, so he quizzed George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune about it in a polite way.

We may be violating official AP secrets, for which we apologize in advance, but Brother Healy came through handsomely. He said the temperature in New Orleans around November 19-23 gyrates between 50 and 60 degrees, that November is generally dry, but don't be surprised if it rains occasionally. Calling for the expert advice of Ann Audubon, the Times-Picayune's fashion editor, Brother

Healy then lists the kinds of clothing the visiting nabobs and their ladies should bring along to the convention.

Then, deadpan, the T-P editor offers this bit of advice:

"Our city," he says, "is pronounced Nu-Awlyuns, our parish is pronounced Orleans and the Orleans Club here is pronounced Orleans."

He might have added, "Don't say Loozy-ana," but he refrained. He missed a chance to do a little missionary work for the benefit of speakers in general and announcers in particular who persist in mis-pronouncing bayou. On Texas tongues it is simply by-oh, though we can't vouch for the Louisiana version. With furnicers it comes out variously bay-oh, by-oo and bayouou.

Diversion Would Defeat Purpose

The effort of certain East Texas legislators to inject the school integration issue into the current special session of the Texas Legislature could only result in smothering the two prime objectives for which Gov. Price Daniel called the session in the first place.

The session was called to act upon proposed statewide water planning legislation, and to devise a stronger and more workable anti-lobby law which the Legislature failed to enact at the regular session.

The water planning legislation is something of an emergency, as the calling of a special session would indicate. The bill drawn up by the governor's special commission for that purpose, endorsed in principle by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and other groups, has already begun to attract amendments like the bungee of a molasses barrel attracts flies.

In short, the Legislature will need every minute of the special session to write a statewide water bill of any kind, and the fight over the anti-lobby measure isn't going to be any bed of roses.

If any anti-integration bills get in there, it will be impossible to produce any sort of legislation on anything. The regular session put through some bills of that nature about whose constitutionality there is widespread doubt, and in view of what happened to Virginia's keystone effort to interpose "massive resistance" to integration, the prognosis for any effective and workable anti-integration measure being produced at this special session is very poor.

So the squabbling is a test of Gov. Daniel's ability to force through an emergency water bill and to get an anti-lobby bill that would be sufficiently strong to restore the people's faith in a Legislature that had signally failed to do anything worthwhile about a smelly situation reflecting on its own integrity.

Of course, nothing at all may come of the water and anti-lobby issues, if the troublemakers have their way, but in that case the responsibility will clearly rest on the legislators involved and not on the governor.

Direct Grants To Parents For Schooling

WASHINGTON—A certificate plan of direct state educational grants to the parents of the individual child for education in schools of their own choice has been proposed by a Catholic educator, the Reverend Virgil C. Blum, assistant professor of political science at Marquette University.

While Father Blum does not in any way discuss the current controversy over segregation, his plan is plainly applicable to such disputes because it directly supports "freedom of choice" and "freedom of association" in education.

"The plan," writes Professor Blum in a magazine article, "does not violate state constitutional prohibitions against aid to denominational schools. The grant is a subsidy of the individual child to enable him, under the direction and control of his parents to purchase his education in the market place of elementary and secondary education. In this respect the certificate plan incorporates the same constitutional principles that underlie the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

"The federal government did not subsidize America's nearly 474 Protestant colleges and universities and her nearly 265 Catholic institutions of higher learning through the direct subsidization of the education of veterans.

"The proposed plan applies the principles of democracy to education. No child is forced to conform to a mass pattern. Each child is individually considered, and his parents, in whom the prime responsibility for his education rests, can choose the kind of education best suited to develop their child's character and talents.

"...enforced conformity creates an undifferentiated mass. Such a mass is the foundation, not of democracy, but of the totalitarian state.

"For the state to demand conformity as a condition for sharing in welfare benefits is to negate the whole intent and purpose of the equal-protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment."

"The Marquette University educator says, furthermore, that the plan "would ensure freedom of choice in education" and thus would reduce "the power of government over the minds of our nation's children." He adds:

"Today a relatively small group of officials are in the position to determine the political, the economic, the philosophical and the theological orientation of government schools throughout the nation."

But would such a plan be constitutional? In his article—reprinted in "U.S. News & World Report" from the October issue of "The Homiletic and Pastoral Review"—Professor Blum cites various decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States as upholding the principle of "freedom of choice" in educating the nation's children. Incidentally, this correspondent noted the other day a case known as Meyer vs. Nebraska, decided in 1923, in which the Supreme Court of the United States said that the right of parents to educate their children according to their convictions and wishes is "within the liberty of the Fourteenth Amendment." While this case was applicable to private schools, there was a subsequent decision, known as the Zorach case, in 1952 in which the Supreme Court buttressed this view by applying the same principle to public schools.

It would appear that a government subsidy to the parents rather than to the school is within the rights of the states and that, so long as the aid is given equally to parents, irrespective of color or creed, there can be no constitutional challenge on grounds of discrimination. In fact, today private schools which require segregation get federal benefits in the form of tax exemptions.

Although Professor Blum was obviously making a plea for the relief of Catholic parents in America from the double burden of paying taxes for public schools and paying tuition for their children in parochial schools, the principles involved in his proposal could also become the answer to the difficult problem which the Southern states face in dealing with the desegregation problem. It could develop that the public schools would become the mixed schools, while the private schools would become the institutions in which the color line or the religious line is drawn. Since state aid would be given through the individual certificate plan, any discriminating done would be by the parents and by the schools they chose to support. It might even turn out that the local school boards would grant leases to private schools to rent unused public school buildings at proper fees. This method of approach could be of help in solving amicably the segregation-integration controversy.

Just Something I Picked Up—

Ed Creagh The Sputnik Session

WASHINGTON—The next session of Congress may well be known as the "Sputnik session."

Lawmakers have been traveling far and wide during Congress' off-season. The word is seeping back that they find the Soviet satellite a prime topic of public concern, right behind such local and more immediately pressing problems as jobs and prices.

This naturally will encourage the Democrats—not that they need much encouragement—to hitchhike on the satellite, so to speak.

as an issue to raise against the Eisenhower administration.

They can count on some help from Republicans. Only yesterday Sen. Bridges (R-NH) lit into the President's foreign economic adviser, Clarence Randall, for calling Sputnik "a silly bauble."

Bridges said the Randall comment was "grossly misleading and irresponsible." The New Hampshire senator is one of the legislators who wants a Senate investigation of the country's satellite and missile program.

President Eisenhower himself has indicated concern over public reaction to Sputnik. He plans a series of speeches—rather urgent in tone, it appears—to reassure the American people about their country's scientific and military progress among other things.

The President has said that while Sputnik shows the Russians have a mighty rocket it doesn't increase by "one iota" his concern for the country's security. Apparently he now feels it necessary to explain why he feels this way, in the light of evidence that his confidence is not too generally shared.

Sputnik's effect on Congress will be far-ranging. It will influence foreign affairs and defense strategy discussion. It already is being cited alternately as evidence that (1) more money should be spent on development of weapons and less on foreign aid, and (2) more money should be spent on foreign aid to counteract the effect of Sputnik.

Hal Boyle More Potatoes, Please

NEW YORK—Every happy fat man has a major problem in life—how to put up with the envy of his dieting friends.

They begrudge him each mouth-watering calorie he consumes; each pound by which he outweighs them they take as a personal insult.

If a fat man were to take seriously all the jibes thrown at him, he would quickly worry himself to a skeleton. At this point, of course, his friends would start exclaiming solicitously, "Gee, pal, you don't look good—you took off too many chins."

The fat man has been the target of medical concern since Hippocrates, the father of medicine, observed 400 years before Christ: "Fat men are more likely to die suddenly than the slender."

But throughout all history the fat man also has been the butt of slanderous attacks that are based, not so much on concern for his welfare, as upon envy of his well-being.

It is true that Shakespeare did point out some of the virtues of the portly when he quoted Julius Caesar as saying, "Let me have men about me that are fat, sleek-headed men, and such as sleep o' nights."

But Shakespeare dealt from the bottom of the deck, too.

He had Hamlet say, "Oh, that this too solid flesh would melt, thaw and resolve itself into a dew!" And in "Love's Labor Lost," he wrote: "Fat paunches have lean palates, and dainty bits make rich the ribs, but bankrupt quills the wits."

Here are a few other famous and unfair attacks on the fat man: "The fatter the sow, the more she desires the mire—John Bunyan.

A fat man has a thin soul—Welsh proverb.

Nobody loves a fat man—American proverb.

A fat man is no good in war; he can neither fight nor run away—another American proverb.

Has the fat man no answer to the barrage of insults he meets except a cheerful smile? Yes, happily, he has literary friends.

Washington Irving, who threw a wide shadow himself, pointed out that the fat man is of an essentially peaceful nature.

"Who ever hears," he asks "of fat men heading a riot, or herding together in turbulent mobs?"

The tolerance of the fat man is proverbial. He takes his philosophy from Ecclesiastes: "A man hath no better thing under the sun than to eat, and to drink, and to be merry."

The fat man can console himself also with the fact that, unlike the skinny man, he is no hypocrite. As Bernard Shaw pointed out, "There is no love sincerer than the love of food."

Heaven itself is held out as a hope to the fat. In 1609 William Lithgow wrote: "He that eateth well drinketh well, he that drinketh well sleepeth well, he that sleepeth well smetheth not, and he that smetheth not goeth straight through purgatory to paradise."

And where does that leave for skinny people to go? There is an old Italian proverb that aptly describes the fate of dieters who make a religion out of counting their calories. This is it:

"Who fasts but does no other good saves his bread but goes to hell."

Please pass the potatoes.

has indicated concern over public reaction to Sputnik. He plans a series of speeches—rather urgent in tone, it appears—to reassure the American people about their country's scientific and military progress among other things.

The President has said that while Sputnik shows the Russians have a mighty rocket it doesn't increase by "one iota" his concern for the country's security. Apparently he now feels it necessary to explain why he feels this way, in the light of evidence that his confidence is not too generally shared.

It already is being cited alternately as evidence that (1) more money should be spent on development of weapons and less on foreign aid, and (2) more money should be spent on foreign aid to counteract the effect of Sputnik.

Quite a flurry, all in all, to be stirred up by what the President has called "one small ball up in the sky."

Next Sputnik Will Stay Up Forever, Maybe

DALLAS—A publisher of aviation periodicals said today the Russians probably will have a second Sputnik in the sky before the first one disintegrates.

"And the second one will be bigger," said Wayne W. Parrish of Washington.

"It will contain more sophisticated instrumentation. It will be sent to a higher orbit and will possibly stay up there forever."

Parrish is president of Missiles and Rockets magazine, American Aviation magazine and Aviation Daily. His remarks were prepared for a joint luncheon meeting of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

Parrish, who visited Moscow two years ago, said the Russians will be able to launch satellites of direct military significance in a fairly short time.

Such satellites, he said, will contain television cameras and infrared spotting equipment, and can be used as part of missile guidance and launching systems.

"And then will come the manned satellite with Ivan himself on board," he said.

Parrish added that there was "only a chance" that the United States could beat Russia to the moon.

But he said that if this nation wants to catch up, it should press its efforts in the direction of a manned satellite.

"Dear, I wish you wouldn't call me about your home problems — you simply dial the operator and say 'I wish to report a fire'..."

Smithy Falling

ABILENE—The once thriving blacksmith business in this West Texas town may be a dying trade.

There's plenty of business, but says John Conklin, who owns the largest of three blacksmith shops in town, "You just can't get young men to go into 'smithing'."

Ringer

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Paul Wheeler was stung by a wasp—and had to be hospitalized for a head cut.

The wasp stung Wheeler while he was holding a tire rim over his head.

Wheeler dropped the rim—around his neck.

Smashing Good Time

ALLEGAN, Mich.—Motorists with an urge to smash cars instead of dodge them were given their chance at the Allegan County Fair. For 25 cents they could rent a sledge hammer and take two swings at an old car.

Around The Rim. Plight Of The Hitchhiker

My nomination for the group that's getting the rawest deal from this enlightened age are the legitimate hitchhikers.

And I'm just like nearly every other driver out on the highway—afraid to give a man a lift.

The murderers, robbers, rapists and other thugs who occasionally waylay kind-hearted motorists have fixed it where a driver is foolish to offer a ride to any stranded traveler, no matter how innocent or needy he may appear. So the innocent suffers. If he hasn't the price of a bus or train ticket to wherever he's headed, he either stands on the roadside for weary hours just hoping for a ride or he simply starts out afoot.

It puts twinges in my conscience to pass one of those stranded travelers.

Rolling past, you can see weariness, bitterness and just a bit of hope on his face and in his eyes. No telling how desperate his mission—what's waiting for him at the other end of the road. Perhaps, you think, letting up on the gas a little, your help could reunite him with family or friends, get him to that job he needs so desperately, or restore his faith in humanity.

Then you remember those newspaper stories you've read, about people robbed of their cars, their money and even their lives after befriending some lonely-looking hitchhiker. So you step back on the gas, leaving another one looking up your exhaust pipe.

I'd rather it wasn't that way. One reason is the fact that I've caught so many rides in my time, and I'd like to return the favor.

Hitchhiking wasn't an uncommon practice when I did it, and I had pretty good luck. Went to school via the thumb route, about 50 miles round-trip, every day for one term once. Also spent a summer hitchhiking to and from work, the same distance. I guess there weren't so many thugs on the road then, or at least their ravages weren't so well publicized.

I'll always be thankful for the rides I caught. They made it possible for me to go to school that year, and they took me to a lot of other places I couldn't have gone to alone.

I hope the thugs will lay off for awhile now. I'd like to work up enough courage to be a Good Samaritan of the road.

—WAYLAND YATES

Inez Robb No Scientists To Dine With The Queen

It begins to look as if I dusted off the egghead prematurely and was a mite hasty in my prediction that the intellectual, particularly in the sciences, is about to be dusted off and given an honored place in the community.

My optimism was presaged on President Eisenhower's and Queen Elizabeth's ringing call for an egghead of the best technological, scientific and cultural brains in the Western world to beat the Russians. What their words envisioned was a Brain-Truster or Buster NATO.

These declarations for utilization of the best brains or superbrain thinkers to best the USSR were made in toasts by the President and the Queen at the state dinner given by the former in honor of the latter at the White House last week.

But a careful examination of the guest lists at the four glittering dinners attended by Her Majesty and of the two graced by the President during her stay in Washington fail to reveal the name of one single, solitary person distinguished in the arts or sciences.

You will search in vain through the lists for a Nobel Prize winner in literature such as William Faulkner or Ernest Hemingway, or for such distinguished American poets as four-times Pulitzer Prize-winner Robert Frost, William Carlos Williams or Carl Sandburg.

Military brass in enough fruit salad and gold braid to equip the whole Albanian army turned up at the state dinner at the White House and that given in Her Majesty's honor at the Pan American Union by John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, and Mrs. Dulles, and the luncheon given by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But among those not bidden to meet the Queen were such distinguished American as Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, whose persistence over the revolutionary atom-powered submarine (his baby) almost got him fired from the Navy before he could get it approved and built.

High on any potential list of brilliant scientists to be tapped for a brain-trust pool would be Edward Teller, credited as the father of the American hydrogen bomb. But Teller was not summoned to dine with the Queen.

At the White House dinner, the antics of Fred Waring were offered as entertainment to Her Majesty, and the dancing of Marge and Gower Champion and the singing of Jane Powell at the Dulles dinner. As cement for cultural relations, it apparently was not deemed necessary to call on such artists as Leonard Warren, Patricia Munsel or Rise Stevens, to name a few, or such composers as Aaron Copland or Leonard Bernstein.

On every occasion when the Queen sat down to dine in the nation's capital, she was surrounded by diplomats, successful politicians and men preeminently distinguished for success in the marts of commerce.

Well, sir, no one is crazier over money and real rich men than I. But I believe it could have been possible to invite to the royal dinners someone beside diplomats, politicians and interlocking directors, even when they interlock in all directions.

It would have been a boost for that scientific and cultural pool envisioned by both President and Queen if even one artist or scientist of the first rank had been included on any guest list.

Or aren't eggheads—the brains we so urgently need—socially acceptable?

Walter Lippmann Cooperation Is Up To Our Leadership

The Queen's visit to Washington has been, as everyone knows, not only a popular success but it has provided the occasion for the President to show his own interest in the alliance. It was, of course, a mere coincidence that the date of the visit, which was fixed long ago, happened to fall so soon after the launching of the Sputnik. But the coincidence must have had much to do with the prompt and apparently rather sudden agreement on an immediate visit to Washington by the Prime Minister.

All this was reflected in the President's toast to the Queen at the White House dinner in which he called for close cooperation within the NATO alliance. This would not have been said so fervently, were it not for the dismay and embarrassment of the Sputnik affair.

—There is a question which hangs over the talks that are to be held this week between Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Eisenhower. It is not whether "the free world's assets" are as great as the President says they are. Undoubtedly the "assets," as well as the science, the technology and the productive capacity of the non-Communist world are very great indeed. Nor is it the question whether it would be useful and desirable to cooperate in research and development. It is idiotic not to cooperate in research and development. The question is whether the President and the Prime Minister are able and willing to give the time and the energy which it takes to bring about and to keep moving such cooperation among two or more countries.

Both of them have known at first hand during the World War what it took to keep working together the two bureaucracies, the two military establishments, the politicians, the scientists, the businessmen and the masses of the people on the two sides of the Atlantic. It took, to put it briefly, a Churchill and a Roosevelt, in a close and continual contact, each with an eye on every important undertaking, both working long hours every day of every week. They did this, too, in a time of desperate war when the sense of urgency was strong in most men.

The crucial point, it seems to me, is that a true cooperation of the kind the President was talking about in his toast to the Queen, depends entirely on the heads of the governments. The decision to cooperate cannot be made by the heads of the governments and the carrying out of the decision delegated to committees and joint boards. There have, of course, to be committees and joint boards. But unless those involved feel, as did the members of the war-time agencies, the brooding presence of impatient men like Churchill and Roosevelt, they will drift into the doldrums or become snarled up with jealousies.

And so, when the Prime Minister and the President part after their meeting in Washington, the question will be how deeply is each of them engaged personally to watch over and to drive forward the big projects they will no doubt decide upon. If the answer to this question is negative or doubtful, we shall have to infer that the profound significance of the Soviet achievement has not been understood in the highest places, that the proposal to pool our resources and our talents is not a seriously considered project but a device in public relations to quiet popular dismay.

Name Trouble

TUCSON, Ariz.—What's in a name? Don't ask Tucson artist Hurlstone Fairchild. He's likely to tell you.

Fairchild receives mail addressed with every conceivable variation of his first name, such as:

Hairstone, Hardstone, Curbstone, Firestone, Headstone and Hardrock.

Recently, he received an advertising brochure addressed to Bullstone Hurlstone. Annoyed, Fairchild replied with a letter declining the brochure's offer, signing it:

"Yours, Fairweather Bullring."

Theodore Whom?

OKLAHOMA CITY—The police dispatcher alerted all radio cars to be on the look for "a missing 11-year-old girl wearing black tornado pants."

As scout car officers tried to figure out what tornado pants were, the dispatcher came back: "Correction, that's... er, Theodore pants."

The chuckles grew when the final change came: "Correction, she's wearing Toreador Pants."

Soviets Send Top General To Turkish Border

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union is sending one of its top soldiers, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, to command its forces on the Turkish border.

Diplomatic observers in London said the transfer of Rokossovsky, former Soviet consul of Poland, was another Russian propaganda move to keep Middle East tension alive and bolster Syria in its cold war with Western-allied Turkey.

Syria yesterday rejected mediation of the current Middle Eastern crisis by Saudi Arabian King Saud, spurring U.S. delegates to the United Nations to press for a broad inquiry into causes of the Syrian-Turkish tension.

RENEW DEBATE

The U.N. renews debate tomorrow on the Syrian charges that Turkey, prodded by the United States, is planning to attack Syria. Turkey and the United States have denied the accusation, countercharging that Soviet arms and influence in Syria are causing the trouble.

Tiflis (Thilisi) radio, in the capital of the Soviet republic of Georgia, announced the appointment of Rokossovsky to command the Trans caucasian military area, bordering Turkey and Iran. It lies just 200 miles from Syria.

Rokossovsky since his recall from Poland has been a deputy defense minister. The broadcast gave no reason for the replacement of Col. Gen. Ivan Fedyuninsky, last reported commanding the area.

Tiflis is believed to be the location of Soviet military headquarters for the Trans caucasian area, which has an efficient road and rail system along which large forces would be moved quickly.

SECOND TO ZHUKOV

Rokossovsky was second only to Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov as a World War II Russian field commander. Stalin sent the 60-year-old Polish-born soldier to Warsaw in 1949 as commander of Polish armed forces. He became a symbol of Soviet domination to anti-Russian Poles, and in last October's Polish nationalist movement Communist boss Wladyslaw Gomulka got him recalled.

Syria appeared determined to stand fast against mediation. Official circles in Damascus reportedly felt that Syria would lose through mediation because Turkey might win some conditions in return for withdrawing her troops from the Syrian border.

Syrian officials reported two incidents on the Turkish border.

Two Turkish tobacco smugglers in a band of seven that opened fire on a Syrian border patrol were reported captured. And a Syrian farmer plowing a field was injured by the explosion of a mine planted along the border by Turkish authorities to curb smuggling.

Clerics Arrested

BERLIN (AP)—Communist authorities today disclosed the arrest of two Protestant church officials in East Germany on money smuggling charges. They are members of the Evangelical Church Council.

State Won't Compromise On Route For FM 700 Project

FM 700, proposed new highway connecting U. S. 87 and U. S. 80 in a loop to the east, must be built along the route staked out some weeks ago by state highway engineers or it won't be built at all.

Jake Roberts, district engineer for the Texas Highway Commission, here on Wednesday afternoon made it plain the state will not compromise on the route. A suggestion that the road follow a course on the south side of the creek at the south edge of town rather than along the north side was thumbed down bluntly by the district engineer.

He said that building the road on the south side of the creek would frustrate its chief purpose and deprive it of much of its usefulness in relieving the downtown area of heavy traffic.

The Howard County Commissioners Court has expressed the fear that building the road along the north route would involve excessive costs in right of way easements. The court had asked if Roberts come to Big Spring and recheck the route. He was in town on Wednesday and conferred with R. H. Weaver, county judge. His statement that the route staked on the north side of the creek was the only acceptable one to the Texas Highway department followed.

Weaver said that Roberts has

New Appeal Made For Yule Funds

Final mail requests for contributions to the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Fund were being sent out today.

So far, solicitation by mail has brought in about $1,900. The Chamber needs $3,200 to stage this year's Christmas program which opens Dec. 3 with an all-Scriptural parade.

Cain Grigsby, chairman of the Yule activity for the Chamber, said that personal calls will be made on all merchants who don't respond to the mail appeals. Plans now call for the in-person solicitation to start about Nov. 10.

agreed to return to Big Spring on next Tuesday at which time he will meet with the County Commissioners Court and the Highway Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

He will explain the reasons the state has for its position and point out the objections to any change in the routing.

Weaver said that the meeting will be at 10 a.m. He urged all members of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee to make a special effort to attend.

Under an agreement reached about a year ago, the state agreed to build a two-lane highway from the present terminus of FM 700 at the south edge of town eastward and northward from U. S. 87 to connect with U. S. 80 at a point near the Cosden Refinery.

In the future, the state would build a second two-lane road parallel to the first—making the loop route a four-lane connection between the two federal highways.

The county, under the terms of the agreement, agreed to furnish the state with a 300-foot right of way.

New Atty. Gen. Has Risen High At Young Age

WASHINGTON (AP)—William P. Rogers, like his close friend Vice President Nixon, has risen high in a few years and at a comparatively young age.

The boyish-looking Rogers, a 44-year-old New Yorker, yesterday was tapped to succeed the retiring Herbert Brownell Jr. as attorney general. The changeover is expected in about two weeks.

Like Nixon, also 44, Rogers came out of World War II an obscure naval officer. But both young lawyers soon started their climbs. Nixon came to Washington in 1947 as a fledgling Republican Congressman. In that same year, Rogers joined the staff of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

When the Eisenhower administration came to power in early 1953, Nixon was sworn in as vice president and Rogers became deputy attorney general—second-ranking official in the Justice Department. It is from that post that Rogers will step into the Cabinet. His appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

RECORD SEEN

After Brownell's resignation and Rogers' selection were announced, Nixon predicted Rogers "will make an exceptional record."

Nixon and Rogers have developed close ties over the years. In the 1952 campaign, Rogers was one of Nixon's chief political advisers. When President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack in September 1955, Nixon secluded himself that night at Rogers' home in nearby Bethesda, Md. The vice president explained later he did so to avoid telephone distractions while he kept in touch with other officials.

Brownell, nine years older than Rogers, is understood to have recommended Rogers for appointment as his deputy when the Eisenhower administration was taking form.

Brownell generally is affable, but is regarded as being a bit austere. Rogers is on a first-name basis with many persons, and he is known for his quick wit.

Vigorous in action, he nearly always follows the friendly, informal approach.

JUST PLAIN BILL

When reporters came to ask questions about his new appointment, he greeted them characteristically: "Hi, Joe, Hello, Frank," and so on around the room. It's doubtful if anyone in official Washington calls him anything else but "Bill."

Rogers is a native of Norfolk, N.Y. He attended public schools there and in Canton, N.Y., went to Colgate and got his law degree at Cornell.

Before graduation, he married a fellow law student, Adele Langston of Wrenonah, N.J. They now have four children — three sons and a daughter.

Fresh out of college, he was hired in 1938 by then Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Dewey as an assistant in a drive against the New York rackets. It was that drive that made Dewey a national figure.

When World War II broke out, Rogers joined the Navy. He was assigned to the aircraft carrier Intrepid and took part in the capture of Okinawa. He left the service as a lieutenant commander.

CRMWD Planning $4 1/2 Million Project

By JOE PICKLE

In what was described as another "historic" meeting, directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District set the stage here Wednesday for a major expansion.

At the same time the board approved an operating budget which anticipated $1,773,625 in prime revenues and $50,800 in recreational facilities income, a gross of $1,824,425. Estimated operating expenses were pegged at $720,175.92, leaving a margin of $1,104,249.08 which would be used to take care of $486,858.20 in principal and interest payments and $617,390 for other funds set up under the trust indenture.

The decision which was described by Gen. Manager E. V. Spence as a "historic" one was in the form of a statement of intent to issue $4 1/2 million in revenue bonds, possibly early in 1958.

These funds would be used to finance the purchase of additional water rights, a reservoir duplicating Odessa's present terminal storage, necessary pumps, and ultimately a pipeline paralleling the main supply line from the well field to Odessa.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the execution of a contract with E. B. Dickenson for water rights under approximately 3,500 acres of his Martin County Ranch, and which would provide for the initial purchase option payment of $45,000 to Dickenson. Price per acre for water under the acreage, when finally determined, would be $112.

PENSION PLAN

The board also adopted a pension plan for its employees which would call for $5,800 annual initial contribution from the district. Under terms of the trust agreement, employees and the District alike would contribute to the fund.

The budget for 1958 anticipated a gain of $225,416 in revenues estimated for this year and $180,539.92 more expenses than the budgeted disbursements for 1957. One of the reasons for increases in expenditures is in greater operating costs necessary to supply the anticipated increase in water consumption. Another is a relatively expensive crossing at Buzzard Creek for the main supply line. This was repaired temporarily in the spring after washing out three times.

Although the actual fixing of a rate will depend upon a recommendation of the rate committee and action of the board of directors in January, the budget adopted is predicated on a rate increase of some 14 per cent.

RATES TO CITIES

This would make the cost per thousand gallons at Odessa 20.39 cents, an increase of 2.56 cents; at Big Spring 18.46 cents, an increase of 2.31 cents; and at Snyder 17.15 cents, an increase of 2.15 cents. The SACROC repressuring unit rate would be the same as Snyder and represent the same increase. The Texas Gulf rate would be identical with Odessa. (The variation in rates is based on a formula which takes into account the distance which water must be pumped.)

The indenture — the agreement under which the district obtained its original $11,750,000 — stipulates

Homecoming Set At Coahoma High

COAHOMA, SC.—Homecoming activities here this week will extend over two days.

Coahoma High School officials said that a bonfire and pep rally will be held Thursday night with the remainder of the Homecoming programs slated for Friday. Coahoma faces Roby in a football game here Friday starting at 7:30 p.m. Following the game, a reception for all Coahoma ex-students will be held in the school cafeteria. School officials urged all former students of the school to attend the programs.

14th Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Beverly Avery, 48, is suing her 14th husband for a divorce. "I never give up hoping," she said.

that the district carry a reserve of one and a quarter times the annual debt service requirements in the year when these requirements will be the greatest. Thus, in addition to having to provide for the coverage (reserve) on the original bonds, the district would have to provide coverage for any additional bonds, while at the same time increasing its annual principal and interest payments to amortize the additional bonds. The board said these factors weighed heavily in arriving at the budget totals.

In order to provide Odessa with ample water during periods of peak demand next summer, S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, the district's engineer, was authorized to advertise for bids on additional terminal storage, plus the required pumping facilities, for Nov. 26, 1957. Proposals would carry a 60-day closing option for the district, which would allow for the provision of finances for the work.

TIME SAVER

Freese said this would save valuable time and would permit a beginning of construction early in 1958 at Odessa so that the facility would be ready by the time of peak demands. With two huge terminal reservoirs, reserves could be laid in to meet sudden surges in demand at Odessa, he said.

The board authorized the institution of a friendly suit to acquire a few acres of land needed in the Oldham ranch in northeast Howard County for a reservoir site. The ranch is tied up pending settlement of the estate of the late Mrs. Ida Mae Oldham, hence attorneys of the estate and district agreed that a friendly suit to condemn was the most expeditious manner to transfer title.

Norman Downey, New York, representing Dillon Union Securities and who handled the original bonds for the district, was present at the meeting. He told the board that he believed the additional $4 1/2 million required for contemplated expansion would be justified by anticipated revenues. With him on his visit here for an inspection of district facilities, was an associate, Don McFadden, New York.

The board adopted resolutions authorizing the president, R. T. Piner, Big Spring, to execute some miscellaneous easements for right-of-way.

In The Movies

Fireman Thomas Kelley, left, meets Rossano Brazzi between filming of scenes of the forthcoming movie, "South Pacific." Kelley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kelley, 200 Larilla. He is assigned to the Pearl Harbor-based landing ship USS Iron Country. The ship's crewmen were used as "extras" during filming of scenes on the island of Kaula. The filming company completed work on the movie there last week and returned to Hollywood to finish it. Brazzi plays the part of the French planter—the role made famous by the late Ezio Pinza while the production was on Broadway.

More Than 2,000,000 Industrial Workers Benefit From Chiropractic Care

More industrial workers receive chiropractic treatment than are employed in 4 leading industrial states.

Over 2,000,000 patients—the equivalent to total payrolls of metal and machinery industries in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania—are treated annually.

Employers know—workers know—insurance companies know, that chiropractic care saves suffering, saves time, saves compensation and saves health.

The multi-billion dollar insurance industry—550 companies, recognize chiropractic for the policyholders. Leading fraternal organizations, the largest veterans groups, craft and industrial unions, state Industrial Commissions and 41 states under the Workmen's Compensation Act accepted the chiropractic method. Chiropractic is officially classified by the Executive office of the President, Bureau of the Budget, Washington, D. C., as one of the four major healing professions in America.

The Colorado State Industrial Commission permitted a state insurance survey in back injury cases. It revealed chiropractic patients were absent from work about 2 1/2 days—just HALF the time required under other forms of treatment. In Iowa, the Industrial Commission probe found chiropractic patients lost an average 14 workdays—cost the state $62. Patients treated by other methods lost 24 1/2 days—cost the state $79.

Wherever FACTS and FIGURES—wherever the tools of TRUTH are used, chiropractic emerges in full stature. That is why large corporations use chiropractic to maintain steady production—why insurance companies welcome chiropractic to reduce compensation claims—why the workers themselves choose Doctors of Chiropractic.

If there is particular information you want, write us or send for the book, "The Truth About Chiropractic."

3 TRUTHS YOU SHOULD KNOW!

550 Insurance Companies Recognize Chiropractic.

Brownell Resignation Won't Bring Change In Rights Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The choice of William P. Rogers to replace Herbert Brownell Jr. as attorney general apparently will bring no change in the Eisenhower administration's civil rights policies.

declined comment on Brownell's resignation. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said, "I like Rogers very well. I don't know Mr. Brownell very well."

provement over Brownell who, in my opinion, is a conscienceless politician.

Brownell was one of Eisenhower's top political strategists. He managed Eisenhower's campaign for the presidency in 1952. A close friend of former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Brownell also managed Dewey's unsuccessful presidential campaigns in 1944 and 1948.

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga) said he knows little about Rogers but that "I understand he is close to Vice President Nixon and that certainly is not a good endorsement."

Saying he plans to return to private law practice, Brownell disclaimed any ambitions for political office and asserted his intention to "stay in private life."

When a newsman asked whether "the Brownell policy will be the Rogers policy," Rogers replied: "We have worked together for 4 1/2 years, and have gotten along exceptionally well. Any differences we may have had have been very minor. In all major matters, we have seen eye to eye."

Rogers, a close friend and adviser of Vice President Nixon, has been as strong an advocate of civil rights legislation as has Brownell.

Although his confirmation seems certain, the 44-year-old Rogers is expected to face some rugged questioning by Southern members of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which will consider his nomination.

Southerners who commented on the changeover generally applauded Brownell's imminent departure. Some voiced the opinion Rogers would be an improvement.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, a key figure in the federal-state controversy at Little Rock, declined comment on Brownell's resignation. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said, "I like Rogers very well. I don't know Mr. Brownell very well."

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga) said he knows little about Rogers but that "I understand he is close to Vice President Nixon and that certainly is not a good endorsement."

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga) said Rogers "will be a great improvement over Brownell who, in my opinion, is a conscienceless politician."

Death Awaits 'Lion' Killer

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth's Privy Council, Britain's highest appeal court, refused yesterday to upset a death sentence given an African tribesman who kept a beastlike "lion man" as his hired killer.

The African, a 48-year-old native of Tanganyika named Muhandi, was found guilty at Dar es Salaam of the murder of a 5-year-old girl, Nwajuma.

The prosecutor charged that the actual killing was carried out by Muhandi's lion man, which he said "appears to be a human being who has been brought up as a beast to kill on the orders of those in charge of him and to kill with bestial ferocity."

The Tanganyika police said the slaying was the result of a grudge held against the girl's uncle, Gomo, by two old women, Sita and Gio.

They asked a friend to get them a lion man to kill the little girl. The friend hired Muhandi's creature for the equivalent of $14.

Soon after, the lion man seized Nwajuma as she was walking with her mother and carried her into the bush near their village. All that ever was found of the little girl, said authorities, were some articles of clothing and a few bones.

The Tanganyika police were unable to find the lion man. They said Muhandi turned him loose when he learned that investigators were on his heels.

The Privy Council refused Muhandi's appeal for a review of the case. His execution date now will be fixed by a court at Dar es Salaam. The two old women, Sita and Gio, also are under sentence of death. They did not join in Muhandi's appeal.

Population Of Farms Drops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—A big drop of 1,861,000 in the U.S. farm population in a single year was reported by the Census Bureau today.

This meant about one out of every 11 farm dwellers moved to the city between April 1956 and April 1957 when the counts were made.

The census estimate showed 20,396,000 living on farms last spring, down from 22,257,000 a year earlier in what the bureau called "one of the largest (changes) ever recorded."

The Census Bureau recommended caution in interpreting the figures, saying the estimate is made by sampling. Bad April weather may have delayed the seasonal increase in farm population this year.

The bureau noted new factors which might help account for the fact that the farm population has dwindled by almost 4,700,000 persons since the 1950 census, while the total population has increased by more than 19 million.

The farm-to-city movement generally is attributed to the reduced need for agricultural labor because of farm mechanization, and to plentiful job opportunities at better pay elsewhere, the bureau said.

Satellite Weathers Meteor Shower

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian satellite Sputnik has weathered a shower of meteorites from the famous Halley's Comet and has traveled a distance 30 times greater than that from the earth to the moon, the Soviet Union said today.

The meteorite bombardment, which started Oct. 19, reached its greatest intensity yesterday, the Soviets said.

Since it was launched Oct. 4, Sputnik has gone around the earth 277 times and has traveled 7,200,000 miles as of noon today, the government newspaper Ivestia said.

Sputnik is now trailing its carrier rocket by more than 53 minutes or more than 14,400 miles—about half the distance around the earth, the article said.

Ready For Halloween

Kitty Fisher, left, is all dressed up in a witch's costume and her elder sister, Patty, is partly costumed as a mummy ready for the Halloween party the two are planning for the spooky night. Their mother, Mrs. Cliff Fisher, is lending a hand in the preparations by making popcorn balls, which the young ladies are testing.

California Tarts Are New, Good

These tarts are a little more trouble to make but the result is worth the extra work for a tasty dessert.

CALIFORNIA TARTS

- Ingredients:
- 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1/2 cup boiling water
  - 2 tsp. butter or margarine
  - 3 tsp. cornstarch
  - 1/2 cup cold water
  - 1/4 cup cooking sherry
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 tsp. vanilla
  - 7 (3 1/2-inch) baked tart shells
  - 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
  - Whipped cream (if desired).

Method: Heat 1/2 cup of the sugar in a small heavy pan, stirring constantly. When sugar gets lumpy, then melts and is a light golden brown, carefully and slowly stir in boiling water. Cook and stir until all the lumps are melted and syrup is thick. In another pan, melt butter over low heat and stir in cornstarch. Stir in cold water, sherry, sugar syrup and remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Cook and stir until clear and thickened. Beat eggs lightly. Vigorously stir a little of the caramel mixture into the eggs, then stir back into remaining caramel mixture and cook and stir over very low heat 3 or 4 minutes longer. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla; cool. Spoon into baked tart shells and top with walnuts. Garnish with whipped cream if used.

Next to fixing up in costumes, the next best thing is refreshments. One of the most popular sweets for the younger set is popcorn balls which can be just plain vanilla or varied by adding mint flavor and tinting with food coloring.

Popcorn Balls Make Good Halloween Fare

When Halloween comes to Big Spring the young ladies in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Fisher will be ready with plenty of goodies for a Trick or Treat party. Kitty and Patty Fisher will be hosts for a group of their school friends at their home and Mrs. Fisher is helping plan for the affair.

Next to fixing up in costumes, the next best thing is refreshments. One of the most popular sweets for the younger set is popcorn balls which can be just plain vanilla or varied by adding mint flavor and tinting with food coloring.

POPCORN BALLS

- Ingredients:
- 1 cup sugar
  - 1-3 cup white corn syrup
  - 1-3 cup water
  - 1/4 cup butter
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring

Method: Cook all ingredients except flavoring together until brittle in cold water. Pour over popped corn and shape into balls. Buttering hands makes it easier to handle the mixture.

Another tricky recipe offered for the season by Mrs. Fisher is the mock apple pie which one has to taste to believe it doesn't really have apples.

MOCK APPLE PIE

  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1 teaspoon cream of tartar

Use Watermelon Rind For Spicy Pickles

If you are tired of watermelon preserves and would like to have some use for the rind before the frost takes care of them try watermelon pickles. The rind prepared this way is as good as peaches fixed in the same manner. An easy way to prepare the rind is to cut the melon in rounds and remove the meaty part. Trim the green away and cut into pieces 1 1/2 to 2 inches wide or 1 1/2 inches square.

Cover with brine made of 16 cups of water and 4 tablespoons of coarse salt, 5 1/2 pounds of rind. Stir until salt is dissolved and soak overnight. Drain and place rind into fresh cold water. Change the water at least twice as all salt should be drawn out. This takes from two to four hours.

Make an alum solution of 16 cups of water and 2 teaspoons of alum. Dissolve the alum and add the rind and bring to a boil and boil for 20 minutes. The water will be foamy. An enamel or aluminum vessel may be used. The rind color will change from a pale green to slightly yellow. At the end of the boil, drain and wash thoroughly, possibly six times, to take alum from rind. Cover with hot water and boil covered until rind is tender, at least 2 1/2 hours.

When tender add one pound of sugar to each pound of fresh rind, cover and cook again until syrup thickens. Add 2 cups of white vinegar, and cook 20 minutes longer. Add 5 sticks of cinnamon slightly broken, 1 1/2 generous tablespoons whole cloves, 2 tablespoons whole mace. Cook 10 minutes more after spices have been added.

Let cool to handling warmth before packing in jars. Packing by hand will lessen the breaking of the pieces. Add pieces of the spices to the jars.

For Change Try This

Onions, celery and blue cheese are combined in a creamy sauce that adds a different type dish to any meal.

CREAMED ONIONS AND CELERY WITH BLUE CHEESE

- Ingredients:
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine,
  - 4 medium-sized onions (thinly sliced)
  - 1 cup thinly sliced celery crescents,
  - 4 tablespoons flour
  - 2 cups milk,
  - Salt,
  - White pepper
  - 3 ounces (1/2-cup) crumbled blue cheese.

Method: Melt butter over low heat in medium-sized saucepan, add onions and celery; cook gently, stirring often, until vegetables are partly tender but not browned. (Saucepan may be covered for quick cooking). Stir in flour thoroughly. Add milk all at once; cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and bubbles. Add salt and pepper to taste. Turn into buttered casserole (1 1/2 quarts) sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until lightly browned—about 20 minutes.

Anchovy, Parmesan Baked With Eggs

If you are a person who likes to have something different and have a hankering for anchovy and Parmesan here's a dish that is different.

BAKED TOMATO EGGS

- Ingredients:
- 4 medium-large tomatoes (1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds)
  - 1 teaspoon anchovy paste
  - 4 eggs
  - 1/4 cup finely grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Cut a thin slice from the top of each washed and dried tomato; cut out insides in large plug shapes with a small sharp knife; with fingers or teaspoon, remove seeds, juice and inside wall sections. Make sure outside wall of pulp and skin of tomatoes is intact. Put 1/4 teaspoon anchovy paste in bottom of each tomato and spread a bit. Drop a whole egg into each tomato shell; sprinkle egg with grated cheese. Place on foil in shallow baking dish and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 25 minutes when whites and yolks should be well set; if you would like them firmer, raise oven heat to 375 degrees and bake another 5 minutes. Serve at once? Makes 4 servings.

Note: If there are young children in your family, anchovy paste may be omitted from their portions. No salt is added because anchovy paste and Parmesan cheese usually add enough.

Spaghetti Sauce

For gourmets only: Crushed garlic mixed with minced fresh basil and grated Parmesan cheese and tossed with hot drained cooked spaghetti and a little butter or olive oil.

Potatoes Are Stuffed With Surprises

Fall appetites take to stuffed potatoes—well flavored, hearty and full of surprises. Add crab meat, mushrooms and cheddar cheese to them as we do in this recipe and—along with a crisp green salad—they will make a sumptuous main course for a ladies' luncheon.

What else goes on the menu? If you want to be elegant, you can start your luncheon with crescents of melon served with paper-thin slices of ham. The ham should be Italian prosciutto, Smithfield or Westphalian; but in a pinch just plain baked ham will do.

These two courses will be so filling that for dessert we suggest your very best bar cookies with tea or coffee.

BAKED POTATOES WITH CRAB STUFFING

- Ingredients:
- Four medium-large baked potatoes,
  - 1/2 cup butter or margarine,
  - 1/4 cup heavy cream, 1 teaspoon salt,
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon finely-grated onion (pulp and juice), 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese, 1 can (6 1/2 ounces) crab meat (drained and picked over and flaked), 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms (drained).

Method: As soon as potatoes are cooked through and come out of the oven, cut in half lengthwise and scoop out all the pulp; be careful not to break skins. Put potatoes through a ricer or mash smooth. Meanwhile heat butter and cream over very low heat until butter melts; beat into potatoes. Stir in grated onion, 2-3 cup grated

Try Orange Cream For Cake Topping

Here's a topping that can make any kind of cake taste like something very special.

ORANGE CREAM

- Ingredients:
- 3 egg yolks
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - Juice of 1 large orange
  - 1 tsp. grated orange rind
  - 1 cup heavy cream (whipped)
  - 1/2 cup slivered blanched toasted almonds

Method: Beat egg yolks and sugar together thoroughly; beat in orange juice—there should be 1-3 to 1/4 cup. Cook and stir constantly over hot, not boiling, water until mixture thickens—about 15 minutes. Stir in grated orange rind; cool. Beat cream until stiff and fold into custard mixture. Makes about 3 cups. Spoon over slices of angel-food cake and sprinkle with almonds. Or turn into serving-bowl and sprinkle with nuts if cake is cut and served at table.

cheese, flaked crab meat and drained mushrooms. Pile into potato shells and sprinkle with remaining 1-3 cup grated cheese. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until cheese melts and potatoes are very hot through—about 20 minutes. If you want the tops browned you may run potatoes under the broiler for a few seconds but watch carefully. Makes 6 servings.

Air Pioneer Slaps Rivalry

DALLAS (AP)—Ex-Marine Corps Maj. Al Williams, who is credited with devising the technique for dive-bombing, says there's a good reason for a lag in U.S. missile development.
The armed forces and private corporations have been "fighting like hell among themselves" over the program, he said.
"We need a boss, not a negotiator—a boss who would say, 'This is the way it's going to be done,'" he declared.
Williams, now retired to his ranch in Elizabeth City, N.C., is here for ceremonies opening Dallas' new $7,500,000 Love Field Air Terminal.

Honeymoon Over
Eddie Scott, of Colorado City, and his wife Vandy Scott, 17, are in Fort Worth jail as a result of the diary she is holding. The diary he kept since his marriage was found in the seat of an abandoned auto he had stolen, which led to his arrest.

Loses Honeymoon Book, Is Arrested For Car Theft

FORT WORTH (AP)—When Eddie Scott loves a girl, he lets her know about it. He writes it down. He writes in ink, in a dainty honeymoon memory book that has a padded heart on the cover.
Like a lot of husbands, Eddie sometimes is a little forgetful with his tender mementos. He left the honeymoon book in a stolen car he abandoned here last week.
Detectives Herman Cobb and Jack Bennett found the book in the car, and immediately began looking for amorous Eddie. He was well known to officers since he had been to the penitentiary twice before on car theft convictions.
Last night Cobb spotted the 25-year-old Colorado City man and his 17-year-old bride, Eddie and his bride were given separate bunks in city jail.
Cobb and Bennett, a couple of burly cops who can read tender love passages aloud and make them sound like police "wanted" notices, regaled fellow officers with readings from the book this morning as Eddie winced.
"Hey, read that part again how he loves her 'very, very, very much,'" shouted one officer.
Eddie smiled weakly. "It was all my wife's idea to start the diary. If anyone ever mentions diary to me again, I'll . . ."
No one was listening to Eddie. Cobb had started reading another sweet-nothing.
"I wish I had never asked him to start that book," his bride said. "It sure got me caught," Eddie began again.
But he was cut off by Cobb who had found another readable quote: "Listen to this," the detective rumbled. "He tells her here 'Someday I'll have to say adios, but never forever.'"
"Ain't that the truth," moaned Eddie. "I think I'll frame that diary in my penitentiary cell."

Peace Pill Is No Excuse, Judge Rules On Divorce

LONDON (AP)—A judge yesterday voided a provisional divorce decree awarded to a navy officer who admitted intimacy with his estranged wife but claimed she plied him with tranquilizer pills and seduced him.
The man, bearded Lt. Cmdr. Anthony F. Benton of the Royal Canadian Navy, obtained the provisional decree on cruelty grounds in April 1956.
His wife, a 35-year-old blonde, appealed. She said Benton, 39, had sexual relations with her after filing his divorce action.
Benton agreed that the intimacy took place. But he contended his wife persuaded him to take five tranquilizer pills, then undressed in front of him while his inhibitions were in a weakened state.
The court held that Benton knew what he was doing at the time and granted the wife's appeal.

Rain Moves Into Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press
More rain dampened well-soaked areas in the Midwest and moved into Eastern sections of the country today.
Strong northerly winds fanned cold air from the north central region south and eastward, causing a sharp drop in temperatures in some areas. The chillier air extended southward through Texas and eastward through the Great Lakes region and Mississippi Valley.
It was below freezing again this morning from extreme northwestern sections of the Great Lakes westward through the Dakotas, Montana and northern Idaho. As the cold air headed south and eastward, readings dropped to the 40s and 50s in most areas, about 15 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Lyndon Optimistic On Ike's Plan For Oil Import Curb

ABILENE (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson says he is personally optimistic that President Eisenhower's voluntary plan will be successful in curbing oil imports.
"If the voluntary plan breaks down, there is ample authority for direct forms of action," Johnson said last night in a speech before an oil and gas taxation conference at McMurry College.
"There are times when a club in the closet provides very active encouragement to enthusiastic cooperation," Johnson warned that adverse

White, Negro Fight Erupts

DALLAS (AP)—A fist fight erupted yesterday between a group of white and Negro men after a collision involving a car in a Negro funeral procession.
Police Sgt. A. L. Curtis, 40, was beaten. Six Negroes were jailed.
Deputy Police Chief Charles Batchelor said it was not a racial incident. He described the melee as "one of those things that happen every now and then." It was regrettable this had to involve a funeral procession.
Batchelor said a car driven by James Pippin, 25, and one in the funeral procession collided at intersection. He said Curtis, who was off duty, heard the crash and went to investigate.

When he arrived, Batchelor said Curtis found Leonard Terrell, 20, driver of the car in the funeral procession, trying to pull Pippin from the latter's car.
Curtis said he identified himself as a policeman and attempted to pull Terrell away from Pippin's car. Other Negro men began beating the officer, Batchelor said, before white bystanders and other officers in the vicinity came to his aid. He estimated some 25 white and Negro men were involved in the scuffle.
Curtis suffered an eye injury, facial cuts and bruises but didn't require hospitalization. Batchelor said assault charges would be filed against the Negroes.
