Compromise Water Bill Up To House

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel's special legislative session was handed today a compromise long-range water planning measure to debate this third and most critical week of the session.

Labor Expert Faces Quiz On Sears Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the key men who helped Sears, Roebuck & Co. resist a 1953 unionizing drive faces senatorial questioning today about the tactics used.

The special Senate committee investigating improper labor-management activities a month ago called James T. Guffey, one of the Nathan W. Shefferman representatives assigned to assist Sears in combating efforts of the Retail Clerks Union to organize its Boston area stores.

Last Big Push Set For UF Campaign

United Fund workers who will be unable to complete their assignments this week were asked today to turn in to UF headquarters all prospect cards.

lar session of the House, Speaker Waggoner Carr told representatives he hoped all House committees would complete work by tomorrow afternoon.

"This will allow the House to act as it desires before the end of this week on all the matters at hand," Carr said.

"If we all work together this should be a momentous week in Texas history, the decision is yours," the speaker said.

The House then heard U.S. Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) of Texas speak.

Routine motions were handled in the Senate.

The committee adopted by voice vote amid some confusion and objections a second substitute bill by Rep. W. N. Woolsey of Corpus Christi, who sponsored the original measure.

Rep. Paul Pressler of Houston asked to be shown as voting "no" after the committee refused to accept two of his amendments asked for by the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

Reps. Bill Stroman of San Antonio and Bill Shaw of Freney asked to be shown as voting present.

The final writing of the bill came after three other minor changes, but remained substantially the same as the subcommittee bill.

It will provide for a planning division to be put under the State Board of Water Engineers to do basic data research and formulate a statewide plan.

Woolsey said the House may act on the bill tomorrow.

Shaw, an original sponsor of Daniel's bill, split with Woolsey. Shaw wanted the measure sent back to subcommittee for further study.

The committee tabled his motion.

"We failed to have a bill that all can agree on," Shaw said.

He said the planning division should be authorized to do research but put off planning until the regular Legislature meets in January 1959.

First Snow Arrives

Freeze Damage To Crops Not Known

First freeze of the 1957 fall season struck Big Spring and Howard County Sunday morning.

U. S. Experiment station reported that the temperature dropped to 30 degrees at 7 a.m. Sunday—two degrees below maximum freezing.

Farmers expressed the view that the biting cold may have damaged late cotton but it will depend on the kind of weather which follows to determine accurately how much hurt was done.

The chill alarmed a great many motorists who had delayed providing anti-freeze for their cars and a mild boom in this commodity developed Monday.

Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said he had not had an opportunity to check fields. He planned to survey cotton and grain areas in an effort to assay exactly what the cold may have done.

It is possible, he said, that grain crops may have been nipped and that some loss will stem from this.

holds, it may be that the damage will be light.

In some parts of town, skims of ice were seen on ponds and shallow pools. Flowers looked "sick," some reports said.

Higher parts of the city seemed to have had less damage.

The temperature rallied Sunday from its low of 30 to a high of 56. Last night the official low was 37.

State Scandal Probes Go On

AUSTIN (AP)—Two-way inquiries into state scandals and woes of the insurance industry continued today.

Judge Mace Thurman said he would ask another grand jury to continue the three-year old inquiry into allegations of misconduct by state officials or employees.

The grand jury met today.

The Senate General Investigating Committee, looking again into the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co., called Pierce Brooks of Dallas to appear at 2 p.m. and tell what he knows about ICT affairs.

Also called was Lester Hall of Dallas.

Brooks is chairman of National Bankers Life insurance Co. Hall is president of the Dallas firm.

Witnesses who have already testified said that ICT stockholders lost up to two million dollars in an exchange of National Bankers Life stock between Brooks and BenJack Cage, ICT promoter given 10 years last week on conviction of embezzling ICT funds.

Gov. Price Daniel wrote Thurman Saturday asking a continued grand jury effort to expose "the few persons guilty of violating the law" in conduct of state business.

Dist. Atty. Les Procter said the grand jury doors would be open to anybody who has a charge to make. Daniel had urged further action, he said, in order to clear up "wild and unwarranted charges."

Sobell Loses New Appeal To Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today rejected a new bid for freedom by Morton Sobell, convicted of atomic espionage with Ethel and Julius Rosenberg.

Sobell, sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment, is serving his eighth year in Alcatraz Penitentiary. The Rosenbergs were executed in June, 1955.

On applications of one sort or another, Sobell's case has been considered by the Supreme Court six times—always with the result that the conviction remained undisturbed.

Governor Hits U. S. Oil Import Policy

Will Appoint State Panel To Make Study

DALLAS (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel said today he would appoint a state commission to study excessive oil imports.

He spoke to the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America meeting here and criticized the President's voluntary oil import limitation program, saying it has not produced the needed results.

The speech was read by Daniel's executive assistant, Jake Jacobson.

"I would appreciate the cooperation of every segment of the oil and gas industry in this study, including representatives of the major companies which are importing so much foreign crude," Daniel said.

"I particularly want them to get an up-to-date look at what excessive imports are doing to the state—the rigs being stacked, the people losing employment, the businesses being damaged and the individual and state revenues being reduced."

Daniel said more statesmanship on the part of importing companies could have averted much of the trouble.

"I regret the oil industry has not solved this problem within its ranks," Daniel said.

"Conflict between segments of the industry benefits no one, and often drives many small operators out of business."

He said he hopes President Eisenhower will make it clear that mandatory restrictions will be applied to all imports if the voluntary program fails.

The administrator of the government's voluntary oil import control program told the convention the petroleum industry must strike a reasonable balance between imports and domestic production.

Daniel spoke welcoming the convention.

"I will appoint a commission to study the effect of excessive foreign oil imports on the economy of Texas, and to make recommendations as to whatever measures are possible and practical at the state level," Daniel said.

He said it will be necessary for the states to make such studies "if industrial statesmanship and federal action continued to be ineffective" in curbing imports.

Daniel said he hoped the federal government will "make it clear that mandatory restrictions will be applied: if the voluntary program instituted by Eisenhower fails."

It is too late for halfway measures, he said, if some importers agree to cooperate while others hold out.

Envoy To U. S. Might Be Place For Zhukov

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY AP Foreign News Analyst

If the Kremlin wants to do something almost as sensational as launching Sputnik, and simultaneously solve its problem of what to do with Marshal Zhukov, it could name him ambassador to the United States.

This is by no means as far-fetched an idea as it sounds at first. It might be just the sort of thing which would appeal to the vivid imagination of Nikita Khrushchev. After all, he thought up the assignment of V. M. Molotov as ambassador to Outer Mongolia.

ZARUBIN LEAVING In Washington recently Soviet sources have indicated that the present Soviet ambassador in Washington, Georgi Zarubin, will be departing soon for good.

Much of the world would in all probability interpret assignment of Zhukov to Washington as a peace gesture by the Russians.

This would in no wise conflict with Khrushchev's plans. It is Soviet custom to accompany threats and bluster such as the world has been listening to in recent days on the Syrian question with some startling olive branch.

A speech Zhukov made in Leningrad July 15 may provide some clues as to why he has been ousted as defense minister.

The day before the speech the Leningrad people had given the Soviet war hero a tremendous ovation—a fact of equal importance.

In his speech Zhukov emerged as a powerful political personality. He spoke out with great freedom against party leaders guilty of trying to prevent investigations into the crimes of the Stalin era.

His remarks were pointed ostensibly at Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, who a few weeks before had been fired from their high government and party posts.

But Zhukov's remarks in the minds of his many Leningrad listeners could easily be extended to cover other Stalin associates who remained in the Kremlin—Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Bulganin and others.

CITES ABUSES Zhukov in essence was calling for continued investigation into abuses under the "personality cult"—under Stalin—and for punishment of those to blame.

The Soviet press quoted Zhukov thus: "... They stubbornly opposed measures carried out by the party for liquidation of the consequences of the personality cult, particularly in the area of exposure and punishment of those chiefly to blame for the violations of legality which took place in their time. Now when their deeds which are far from having a party character have been exposed it has become clear why they were against exposure of committed illegalities. They feared responsibility to the party, to the people for exceeding their rights and illegal actions."

It is known that Zhukov, ever since Stalin's death, has been one of the leaders in pressing for exposure of the crimes committed under Stalinism. He himself was a victim of Stalin's intrigues after World War II when he was demoted, much as he has now again been demoted apparently, because the party leadership feared his prestige and potential political power.

FOR JUSTICE At a reception not long after Stalin's death Zhukov raised his glass in a toast to "justice." It was believed at the time that he was making an open demand for punishment of those who aided Stalin in his purges and misdeeds.

Demands for continued investigations into Stalinist crimes threaten the position of Khrushchev and certain other party leaders. These men did not mind exposing the crimes of Beria, Molotov, Malenkov, Kaganovich and others among their rivals for power so long as this got rid of these rivals. But they don't want the investigations to touch on their own role in the Stalinist leadership.

Zhukov, who had no part in Stalin's purges, has no fear of them. Every time more exposes come out, his stature as a worthy and unblemished national hero is enhanced.

JUST CALL IT 'OSVOBODIL'

LONDON (AP)—London monitors of Moscow radio issued the following statement today on the Moscow announcement of Marshal Georgi Zhukov's removal as Soviet defense minister:

"To clear up any possibility of misinterpretation of the official Soviet announcement 'relieving' Zhukov of his post, the Russian word used was 'osvobodil'."

"This may be translated either as 'relieving' or 'releasing.'" It is worth noting that the term 'osvobodil' was also used in the announcements concerning Molotov, Kaganovich, Saburov and Pervukin in the course of the past few months."

Reds Propose New Arms Committee

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that the U.N. replace its present disarmament commission with an 82-nation body which would remain in permanent session.

The Soviet proposal would abolish both the 12-nation Disarmament Commission and the five-nation subcommittee which has been carrying on private talks since 1954.

It also would open the disarmament debate to the public, except in specific cases in which private talks were agreed upon.

In effect, the Soviet proposal would set up a sort of special "little assembly" since it would include all members of the U. N. in the proposed commission.

A Soviet note to the U. N. said: "The discussion on disarmament in the General Assembly testifies to the fact that many states are not satisfied with the present procedure of secret negotiations on disarmament carried on in the subcommittee."

The note said a new approach was needed because of recent developments.

"The necessity to solve this problem as quickly as possible," it declared, "is prompted at present particularly by the fact that the armaments race is being stepped up, that new types of weapons, especially atomic and hydrogen weapons and intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM), the use of which for military purposes makes vulnerable any part of the world, are being added in increasing numbers to the armaments of states."

Longtime Area Farmer Dies

Services were to be held at 2 p.m. today for Oscar A. Moore, 63, retired farmer, who died in a hospital here at 7:45 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. Moore, who resided at 1624 E. 17th, was born Aug. 7, 1894, in Cooper, but he had lived in and around Big Spring for nearly 60 years. He was a member of the Trinity Baptist Church and a veteran of World War I.

Surviving him are a daughter, Miss Dawn Moore, Houston; three sisters, Mrs. Rhoda Hurs, Big Spring, Mrs. R. L. Southland, Livingston, Ky., and Mrs. Omie Hibner, Redwood, Calif.

The Rev. Cecil Rhodes, West Side Baptist minister, was to officiate at the rites Monday afternoon, and the body was to be shipped to Pleasanton for burial beside the grave of his wife.

Mrs. Zarafonetis, Native Of Greece, Succumbs Sunday

Mrs. Harry Zarafonetis, 71, a native of Greece and a resident of Big Spring for nearly three decades, died suddenly at the family home at 426 Dallas Sunday at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Zarafonetis had suffered a stroke about two years ago but had made good recovery. She slumped as she was leaving her house Sunday.

Arrangements are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Zarafonetis was born Aug. 5, 1886, in Sparta, Greece. She and Mr. Zarafonetis were married in Sparta in 1903 and came to Texas in 1905. They moved their family here in 1929.

She was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church, and her membership was at Fort Worth.

Surviving are her husband; four sons, James Zarafonetis, Crane, George Zarafonetis, Houston; Nestor (Neb) Zarafonetis, Albuquerque, N. M.; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Darrow, Big Spring, Mrs. Christene Smith, Dallas, and Mrs. J. R. Huckabee, Snyder; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Seamen On Strike

TOKYO (AP)—Some 9,000 Japanese seamen started a five-day strike today, tying up an estimated 70 oceangoing liners and freighters and 20 tankers in 45 ports throughout Japan. They want $16 a month added to present monthly pay averaging $77.

Lifetime Grant

Dr. James M. Price, 36, cancer research specialist at the University of Wisconsin Medical School, has been awarded a lifetime salary grant, valued at $352,296, by the American Cancer Society to support his work in cancer research for the remainder of his active medical practice.

Crosby To Buy Into Detroit Club

DETROIT (AP)—Bing Crosby, honeymooning with his Texas bride of four days, is planning to buy a substantial share of the Detroit Tigers baseball team, the Detroit News said today.

The News said Crosby's share is expected to cost $300,000 to $400,000. When the American League club changed hands last year the sale price was $14 million dollars. Estimates of its 1957 profits run as high as $500,000. It finished fourth.

General Cites Progress With A Defense Against Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today that a countermeasure against the deadly ballistic missile already has its beginning in the Army's Nike Zeus project.

Such a defense can be provided at acceptable cost, the Army chief of staff added in an address prepared for the third annual meeting of the Assn. of U.S. Army.

"We can have an antimissile defense and indeed we must have one if we are to retain our nuclear retaliatory deterrent capability, which is indispensable to the prevention of general atomic war," Taylor said.

address to the reportedly successful launching by Russia of an intercontinental Ballistic Missile Taylor said.

"In the light of recent events, we are becoming increasingly impressed with the need to press forward in the development of the antimissile missile.

"The Army project in this field is, as you know, the Nike Zeus which already partially exists in the form of research and development components. All our efforts in this field have been crowned with success appropriate to the stage of the program."

that is within reach," he continued. "I am sure many of you have heard the statement that the dollar requirements for this kind of defense are astronomical and that the whole concept is beyond consideration. I can assure you that the studies which I have seen lead me to a different conclusion."

He made no estimate of the cost, however.

The technical problem in developing an antimissile missile is to design a system which can detect an ICBM traveling at speeds of more than 10,000 m.p.h. in a trajectory several hundred miles high and then direct an intercepting missile to destroy the ICBM before it can reach the target area.

A Bible Thought For Today

Our heart shall rejoice in Him, because we have trusted His holy name. (Psalms 33:21)

Anniversary Of Ruthless Example

With nine Russian divisions to back him up, Dictator Janos Kadar saw it that the people of Hungary observed the first anniversary of their rebellion against Communist tyranny in Moscow that holds a bayonet in their backs and forces them to kneel when the masters say kneel.

But many of them, whether justified or not, expected help from the free world in their life and death struggle to throw off the yoke of foreign servitude.

They got the sympathy of the free world and some practical help in the way of relief and relocation for the tens of thousands who fled. Their courage and sacrifice evoked from the United Nations one of the bitterest denunciations of a government and a system of philosophy ever spread on the minute books of a world organization.

But little else. Those who died were the fortunate ones. Those who lived and remained in their native land have undergone humiliation and physical and spiritual punishments that totalitarian governments know only too well how to inflict.

Russia made an example of the hapless Hungarians as a warning to other restive peoples under their sway that aspirations of freedom lead only to bayonet, rifle, grenades, machineguns, tanks, and the galls.

loving people of Hungary feel about the rest of the world. There is no doubt about their feelings toward communism and the evil power seated in Moscow that holds a bayonet in their backs and forces them to kneel when the masters say kneel.

Second-Term Cabinet Jitters

In becoming the sixth member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet to resign, Attorney General Herbert Brownell seemed to imply that he was not quitting under fire when he said that the school integration policy as established in Little Rock left him feeling free to return to private law practice.

It could also give his Southern foes the opportunity, if they chose to accept it, to infer that Brownell was taking responsibility for Little Rock, since Southerners had the feeling he acted on his attorney general's advice in sending in troops.

His stepping down now averts the stiff congressional questioning of him reputedly planned by members of the Southern bloc when Congress reconvenes. He had earned their displeasure by insisting on a much stiffer civil rights bill than a congressional coalition finally enacted, as well as by allegedly taking the lead in "establishing" a pattern for integration at Little Rock to serve the whole country.

Unreluctant as they may be to see Brownell go, Southerners will find small comfort in the naming of his deputy, William P. Rogers Jr., as his successor, expected momentarily. Mr. Rogers sees eye to eye with Mr. Brownell in integration and civil rights matters.

The rather large turnover in the presidential Cabinet may be a byproduct of the 22nd Amendment, making two terms the limit for any President. Under that amendment a Cabinet post has no future beyond the second term, and since members usually serve at a sacrifice of personal affairs, they may be anxious to pull out before they normally might.

I can't get that Mike Todd. Around the World in 80 Days, anniversary party out of my mind. I keep tying it into the stock market. I ponder about the tag ends of great eras and inglorious finales.

Rome had its decadence, when nobles gorged themselves on food and drink and used stomach pumps to permit regorgement. In World War I, workers in shipyards, bloated with high pay and overtime, sported silk shirts—a distasteful departure from common sense. Soon came the 1919-20 commodity price and stock market bust.

The boom of the 'twenties busted in its own spectacular way. The stock market, itself, was the excess-ence. Bootblacks, barbers, elevator boys, and five-and-ten-cent-store clerks talked knowingly of the pool in Radio, the shorts caught in Air Reduction, and America's New Era of Never-Ending Prosperity. They were in the market on 10 per cent margin, which for them was as safe and sane as free speech and free assembly are today for citizens of Soviet Russia.

Could it be that the Mike Todd party for some 18,000 movie stars, newspaper men, TV performers, radio and TV announcers, and numerous others, all referred to as "friends of Mike Todd," puts the period at the end of an era of Advertising Uber Alles in the U. S.?

The executives of Madison Square Garden, New York, in which the party was contrived, were so unswayed by Mr. Todd that they insisted on rent for their gladiatorial arena. Not so Columbia Broadcasting, which was persuaded that Todd and his assorted party-goers would make money for Columbia advertisers and stockholders.

Columbia allowed Todd the $100,000 production budget for the "Playhouse 90" show, which normally would have gone on during those 90 minutes. And Bristol Myers (Vitalis, Ipana toothpaste, and Bufferin), jointly with Kimberly Clark (Kleenex) absorbed the cost for the time over a full 159-station network at $116,000 gross, something less after discounts.

Boastfully and unabashedly, Mr. Todd and his press agent let it be known that the party was paid for by others—Columbia, with its 100 grand, and corporations that contributed gifts and food parcels in the belief that their names, mentioned in the program and placarded on jeeps (furnished by Willys), would return dividends in sales. Todd might even have made a profit.

Among the believers in Todd as Santa Claus were Kraft cheese, Pabst beer, Chase & Sanborn coffee, Sunshine, Burry and Weston (my, the competition!) biscuits and crackers, Hygrade pretzels, and Food Fair, Inc., which got a special mention for providing such tasties as fruit and potato chips.

This was one of the first times in history that advertising was offered as entertainment. Unfortunately for the advertisers, the trade names didn't come clear on TV screens. Jeeps whizzed by too fast, as drivers tried to get away from blackie and evening-dress party-goers, who, except for dress, were 20th-Century Attila invaders sacking a town after the decline of Rome as a center of culture and power. One jeepster used a stick to keep the "mob" from grabbing.

This effort to create something gracious out of advertising, using news commentaries to describe the garish rite as if it were a political convention, could only happen, to my way of thinking, when prosperity had lost its head and hard-headed business men had lost a sense of values.

This same loss of sensibility made for tulipmania in Holland, John Law's Mississippi bubble, and the stock market crash in 1929. If Todd's party does nothing but call to the attention of Americans that there ain't no such thing as a free lunch, a free advertising ride, or a sure profit in the stock market, it will have been an economic success.

The recent declines in Wall Street are nothing more than a renewal of contact with reality. For too long, Americans have been living in the wonder world of inflation. Everything must go up. Business will continually expand, because the government can't permit unemployment. Common stocks are the road to riches.

Well, earnings in 1957 are not following the line of least reflection. Higher costs of production, higher costs of sales, higher costs of advertising have squeezed profit margins. Happy-happy projections of earnings power, which justified the rise in stocks, now fall as flat as Todd's party. Let that be a lesson to us.

Truly The Devil

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—In juvenile court for stealing milk and fruit juice from a delivery truck, an 8-year-old boy blamed it on the devil and described him as "short, all covered with hair, big balls of fire in his eyes, three horns, a long tail and four hooved feet like a cow." Court Referee E. Wade McBride accepted the description, but advised the boy to make contact with an angel.

All Shook Up

Just A Ripple In A Whirlpool

WASHINGTON (AP)—Zhukov may come and go. But the facts of the world situation go on. Maybe not forever, but at least long enough to make the replacement of a Soviet defense minister not much more than a ripple in a whirlpool.

It is tempting to speculate, of course. Is Marshal Georgi Zhukov simply getting the bounce, or is he being kicked upstairs?

Is he, maybe, being groomed for the top job? Or for a special "the nice to America" assignment, in view of his onetime close association with President Eisenhower?

Or should he break out his wartime fur-lined boots and parka for a spell in Siberia?

The simple answer is that nobody in the West seems to know.

Some of the Communist newspapers in Europe say with an air of Moscow-fed authority that Zhukov is in line for an important new assignment. That could mean anything or nothing. Zhukov could wind up running Russia's whole show—or with a title befitting his war eminence—shuffling papers in an outer Kremlin office.

This wouldn't matter, outside of Russia, except as a possible tip-off to Russia's intentions toward the rest of the world in the months ahead. And there is no reason to believe those intentions have been changed by Zhukov's being relieved of his duties, as the Soviet government puts it, any more than U. S. foreign policy was affected by the voluntary retirement of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

The broad outlines of the immediate future should be plain to anybody who reads the newspapers.

1. Russia is stirring up trouble, maybe even a war, in the Middle East. The Russians feel full of beans over the success of their Sputnik and the progress of their longrange missile program. They may or may not be calmed down by the recently announced power of American missiles—which, chances are, would not yet have been announced if the Russians hadn't launched the first satellite.

2. On both sides of the Iron Curtain a defensive beefing-up is being attempted. Eisenhower confers with Britain's Prime Minister on ways to strengthen the Western Alliance. The President may go to Paris in December to lend his personal prestige to the buildup effort. China's Mao Tse-tung definitely is going to Moscow next month for a talk with the Kremlin brass. And all signs point to a rebirth of the Cominform, the old Red mutual aid association, or something very like it.

Nazi Slave Camp Survivor Writes Of Experiences

By TOM BENTON
KENMORE, N.Y. (AP)—The house at 350 Hazeltine in Kenmore is typically American and typically suburban.

The home appliances, the two little girls racing around and the baby boy in the playpen—even their parents' attitudes—all are American.

But the mother, a dainty, well-groomed brunette with a charming German accent, has a background far from American.

She was a victim—one of the few who survived—of the infamous Nazi slave labor camps of World War II. She was starved, shot at and beaten.

Her family was destroyed. With other young Jewish girls in the camps, she spent the long war years prayerfully clinging to life, almost without hope.

This, in capsule form, is the real-life horror story of Mrs. Gerda Weissman Klein. The story, "All But My Life," was published this week in book form and may well be the start of a literary career Mrs. Klein has dreamed of since childhood.

She has that most important of writing skills—the ability to "watch" her own experiences from a third person view. She began her book in English less than five years ago after discarding an earlier start in German.

"Actually," she says, "I wrote it when it was happening. I lived it all, but at the same time I seemed to be thinking of it in the past tense—as if I was writing it."

Mrs. Klein's book inevitably will be compared with "The Diary of Anne Frank." The big difference, of course, is that Mrs. Klein lived for her happy ending. She married a German-born U. S. Army lieutenant, Kurt Klein, who was the second American soldier she saw in the Czechoslovakian village where her captors had abandoned her, gray-haired, gaunt and starving on V-E Day.

Her husband now runs his own printing firm in Buffalo.

Mrs. Klein was 15 when the Nazis swept into the Polish town of Bielitz, where she lived with her family. First her brother, then her father disappeared in the maelstrom of occupation as the Nazis systematically annihilated the Jews. Finally she was separated from her mother and swallowed up in the faceless army of slaves that manned a part of Germany's wartime industry.

"It's difficult to explain the un-speakable feeling of safety about America," she said. "I know I never could spend a peaceful night in Europe again."

She has never been back to Bielitz and never intends to go.

New Road Surface

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Tests are being made here of a non-stretchable rubber coating for highway surfacing. Road officials say the cost is five to six cents a gallon more than conventional asphalt but the rubber is supposed to be more durable, easier to lay and maintain and will provide more traction.

Around The Rim

Take It Easy And Avoid Indigestion

Parents spend four or five years teaching their offspring to stab their food with a fork and not gloat it with their fingers but they end the education of eating too soon.

So says Lord Boyd Orr, a British authority on vitamins.

"You colonialists float your food on a sea of alcohol," insists the internationally recognized authority on nutrition and medicine and winner of the Nobel peace prize eight years ago.

Apparently the mere thought of watching Americans eat leaves the good doctor with a case of indigestion and a strong urge to go to the medicine cabinet for a couple of Tums.

Americans partake of their meals on the run or else they belt the booze too often and too long before meal-time. Either one is bad, Lord Orr points out.

If the Americans want to slow down and shape their eating habits after a race of people who know and relish the art, look to the Chinese, the British peer suggests. When it comes to chow, the Orientals are cultured, it seems.

They drink very little before meals but sip wine with various menus, then finish off with a glass of fine port.

Alcohol, Lord Orr states, aids digestion. . . if consumed with food.

Stretch out the ritual, the good doctor suggests, too. In other words, don't gulp down your coffee and chew your toast as your wife is dealing them off the arm while you're rushing toward the door to go to work.

If you take your time downing a meal and do it amid pleasant surroundings and chat amiably with your wife and kids, your chances for getting by without an attack of indigestion are improved.

If Junior won't eat his spinach, bat him one, maybe. . . but no arguments. "Better not to eat, than eat under strain or in anger," says the good doctor. "You in America either must slow the pace or go over the precipice. What's your hurry, anyway? Why don't you start enjoying your enormous wealth?"

Incidentally, Lord Orr doesn't abuse the good name of the non-dieters, as do some authorities.

"We're overdoing it," is the way he puts it. "I don't believe in eating to excess but a woman can become too thin for her health's as well as her beauty's sake. Each individual is different. . . some people are healthy with a little fat."

That New Jet Plane Beats A Taxi

SEATTLE—More or less by inadvertence, I am now a full-fledged member of the authentic Jet Set, a distinction for which I owe as much to an unsung taxi driver as to a jetockey.

When the telephone rang in my hotel room, a voice at the other end said I could have a ride in the prototype of America's first commercial jet transport, the Boeing 707, if I could get to Boeing Field in 20 minutes.

"If you can make it, you can go up on the last test flight before she's put in the hangar for three weeks of ground work," the voice said.

I made it, all right, but there were moments when I feared the taxi driver would be arrested for low flying and buzzing intersections.

By comparison, the test ride in the jet seemed real cool, even when, a few moments after take off, I casually glanced leftward out of the cockpit of the giant jet and saw the horizon way off yonder tilted at a 90-degree angle. Well, maybe it was only 89 degrees. But to all practical intents and purposes, there was a perpendicular horizon, a sight not calculated to soothe the ganglia.

I was scared to death my slipstream would show, but I managed to be real cool, too, when the jet keeled over in another rock-and-roll maneuver and the horizon, still cocked at 89 degrees, showed up on the right.

"Handles like a fighter, eh?" crooned Boeing Chief of Flight Test A. M. ("Tex") Johnston, at the controls, to Ernest Cutrell, senior test pilot of American Airlines, who was in the co-pilot's seat.

"Yeah," said Ernest happily, and over we went again, while I wondered in passing if my stomach was still with me. Perhaps, I thought, a safety belt would be a comfort to it if Tex and Ernest were in a safe rock-'n-roll mood. Then I discovered that the jump seat immediately behind Tex, where I was perched, didn't have a safety belt.

However, at this point, I made a much more interesting discovery. While we rocked and rolled and turned tight corners, I hadn't stirred an inch in that little jump seat. Obviously, I was in a real steady and stable airplane.

"We're rocking her to demonstrate available lateral control to Captain Cutrell," said Tex. "And we're demonstrating both with 'spoilers' operative and inoperative."

To the uninitiated, a spoiler is a flap-like element on top of the swept-back wings which serve either as air-speed brakes or as lateral control elements, or both.

"We moved well up toward a vertical bank," Tex confided, and, remembering the souped-up horizon, I muttered under my breath, "You're telling me!"

I heard that there was no vibration in a jet, and this turned out to be true, and also that, after take off, there is little noise. This, too, is as touted. As a matter of fact, the take off had not been as noisy as I had expected. It seemed no more clamorous than that of propeller-driven planes.

In addition, when we began the final descent at a rate of 12,000 feet a minute, the jet rode so smoothly that I was unaware of this precipitous drop. It had been all shook up, all right, but it was in the taxi, not the jet.

A Bigger Sputnik Coming Next Month?

WASHINGTON—The tranquilizing approach to the Russian moon is still the official line, with speech-makers trying to belittle the Soviet achievement as a stunt.

But the tranquilizers administered by spokesmen for the Administration to the public will hardly suffice if the worst fears of some insiders are confirmed. The date ringed on many calendars here in Washington is November 7, the anniversary of the Red Revolution. Repeated hints have come out of Moscow that on that 50th anniversary the Soviets will advertise to the world another and even more spectacular proof of their scientific-technological ability.

Some of the hints suggest that Russia will send up a much larger sputnik with a direct military usefulness of a high order. This larger sputnik would contain newly perfected photographic devices capable of recording the entire earth's surface every 72 or 96 hours.

What this would mean for the ultimate weapon—the intercontinental ballistic missile—is evident. One of the greatest unsolved problems in aiming the ICBM—unsolved presumably for the Soviet Union as well as for the United States—is that accuracy depends upon exact knowledge of the earth's perimeter, and over large areas that knowledge is simply nonexistent.

Take, for example, the major Soviet objective of destroying the Strategic Air Command bases in this country. An ICBM with a nuclear warhead causes total damage in a radius of about seven miles. Trying to pinpoint an air base as a target with a missile traveling 5,000 miles means that an extremely small margin of error, measured in fractions of a degree in the aiming, will cause a miss.

Now suppose Moscow announces on November 7 that the new and bigger sputnik is photographing the earth's surface and transmitting the photographs back to Moscow. A few days later Pravda prints what it purports to be a photograph of the SAC base near Omaha as taken by Sputnik II.

The odds are heavily against this being actually possible. The United States has developed an electronic device that can take 10,000 pictures in three hours from a very great height. What is more, these pictures can be stored on a magnetic tape and then transmitted to earth when the airplane carrying the equipment passes over a receiving device.

While an earth satellite sufficiently large to carry this extraordinary photographic equipment is conceivable, American experts say no one has yet solved how to guide the satellite back to the point at which it must discharge the pictures it has stored electronically. This, at any rate, is the assumption, since American scientists and technicians have not worked this one out.

But what those setting the tone of America's reaction seem to fail to realize is that in the current psychological warfare being waged so aggressively by the Russians, an announcement that they had this capability would be just as effective whether they actually had it or not. A faked photograph of the big SAC base near Omaha would cause as much public consternation as the real thing.

In other words, with the sputnik a visible fact in the sky, the Soviets still have the offensive in the war for prestige and place. There are several other things they might do on November 7, Willie Ley, the distinguished authority on space travel and earth satellites, believes it is quite possible for the Russians to fire a four-stage rocket that will explode on the moon.

What Washington lacks, above all, is a positive rather than a negative news policy. When Aviation Week magazine broke the story of American radar bases in Turkey, there was indignation in the Administration, the reaction being that even though the Russians knew this, they could now go to the Turks with an official complaint.

The defense in psychological warfare is always under a grave handicap. It is not too late to accent the positive, but time is slipping by.

Honey Keeps Foods Moistened Longer

Today's efficiency-minded homemakers use honey in baking, for this natural sweetener, in itself a wholesome food, provided double economy. Because honey whatever the weather, has the ability to absorb and retain moisture, it retards the drying out of baked goods.

Coconut And Rice Good Combination

Combine coconut and rice for a different flavor the next time you plan to serve rice.

COCONUT RICE
Ingredients: 2 tbsps. butter or margarine 1 1/2 cups loosely-packed flaked coconut 2 cups hot cooked drained converted type rice

METHOD: Melt butter over low heat in 9-inch heavy skillet; add coconut and toast until lightly browned, stirring often. Add rice and stir with fork so coconut is well distributed. Makes 4 servings. NOTE: If you start from scratch, you'll need to cook 2 1/2 cups rice to get the amount called for. If you use leftover rice, rinse it with boiling water and drain thoroughly before adding to skillet.

Bacon Substitute
Bacon may be substituted for salt pork when you are preparing baked navy beans. And dry lima beans may be used instead of the navy beans.

Members of the Toastmistress Club will have their regular meeting at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant Tuesday evening at 7:30. The group alternates its meeting at the Officers' Club at Webb AFB and at a local restaurant.

Girl Scout Training Course Set Tuesday

A training session for leaders of Girl Scouts has been scheduled for Tuesday at the Girl Scout Little House, it was announced by Mrs. William J. Mason, scout leader, this morning.

The course is primarily for workers who have at least a year's experience in the work or those who have had the group leadership training; however, anyone interested in having the training will be welcome. Mrs. Mason stated, Mrs. Mason will assist with the course and Mrs. Buster Reed of Lamesa, field director, will be in charge of activities.

The session will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. It will include such subjects as long range planning for troop program planning and flag etiquette and ceremony. Nursery facilities are planned for the children of the women attending, Mrs. Mason said.

She Lost 20 Pounds

Actress Joan Weldon, who has a 22-inch waistline, tells how she gained and lost 20 pounds. Her current picture for Universal-International is "Durango."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Housework And Diet Remove Extra Pounds

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Joan Weldon started her career with operatic aspirations but she accepted a term contract in pictures instead. I met her shortly after she came to Hollywood, but she looked so different on the "Durango" set at U-I that I didn't recognize her. "It happens to me all the time. I'm 20 pounds thinner and I'm no longer a little girl."

"What is your secret for reducing?" I asked her. "Solving my problems," she admitted. "When I was at Warners, I did six pictures in two years and wasn't allowed to sing in one. All my life had been devoted to music, and here I was playing leads without ever having a dramatic lesson. "I hate not being prepared so I turned to food when I was emotionally disturbed and put on weight. Then I started to diet but as always when one is unhappy it didn't work. But when my contract was over, I went on a concert tour and in two weeks I lost 20 pounds."

We lunched in Joan's dressing room and she ordered avocado salad and two chocolate eclairs. "I have had a craving for these two things, but I am not going to be frustrated about it," she announced. "However, I'm going to pay for it by having nothing but a bowl of soup for dinner."

Joan was enthusiastic about everything she had learned from the make-up men at the studios. "They are so clever that they can make one look very natural. When I am dressing for a date I always see how much of my make-up I can remove and still have the effect I want. I brush my lashes after mascara, and blot my make-up with a little astringent." Joan revealed, "and this keeps me from looking artificial."

GOOD NEWS!
Diet and make-up information are only two of the many subjects covered in Lydia Lane's brand-new 12-page beauty booklet called "Discover Your Type."

Have Sweet Tooth? It's Honey Time

Once a year beekeepers in United States and Canada take off their bee veils, douse their smokers, and pause long enough to tell their fellow Americans about the wonders of honey.

This "once a year" is fast upon us. To-day — November 3, is dedicated to giving honey the place it so richly deserves beside the other bountiful foods of fall. It calls attention to this year's supply of golden honey, now being placed on the grocers' shelves.

Maintaining popularity with family and friends is easy for the homemaker who has the honey habit. Honey is invaluable for mealtime or party-time fare as a spread on toast, pancakes, waffles, and hot biscuits, or to sweeten cereals and beverages, or to use in cooking and baking.

Attentive homemakers concerned about the need that the oldesters in the family have for a mid-afternoon energy-lift serve them each a glass of milk sweetened with liquid honey. It's refreshing and nourishing.

Dr. Norman Furlong Elected To Head West Texas Art Association

Dr. Norman D. Furlong was elected president of the West Texas Art Association at a meeting of the group held in Sweetwater Saturday. The session was at the Sweetwater Country Club.

Mrs. Richard Patterson was elected secretary of the association and Mrs. Ennis Cochran was named as one of six directors. All are members of the local art group, Las Artistas.

Nedra Jenkins, an editor for the Fort Worth Star Telegram, was guest speaker and judge for the show titled "Operation Boot-strap." Ninety-six painters displayed 120 examples of their work. Twenty-five pictures were selected for citation to be shown on the circuit, held annually in Texas, when an exhibit is shown in various Texas cities. There is to be a display of paintings held at Laguna Gloria, Austin, following the circuit.

Open House Held By Newly-Weds

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Belton held open house Saturday afternoon at their home at 1724 Purdue for more than 100 friends.

The affair was held to display their wedding gifts, which they received when they were married in New Braunfels recently.

Mrs. Kelley Lawrence Jr., assisted in serving the guests. The tea table was covered with a cut-work cloth, which was made especially for Mrs. Belton by nuns in Italy, who were sent clothes by Mrs. Belton's family during the war.

Tea was served from a silver service, which is a wedding gift. Mrs. Belton wore a red wool sheath with white knit collar when she received the guests.

Chosen for two of the paintings to be shown were pictures by Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Bismarck Schaefer. The collection will be displayed locally at Howard County Junior College on Dec. 1.

Big Spring was selected by the group as the host city for the association meeting in the fall of 1958.

Attending from here were Mrs. Patterson, who was a member of a discussion panel, Dr. Furlong, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. D. W. Conway, Mrs. Lonnie Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Blair, Mrs. Jim Skalicky, Mrs. Schaefer and Rex Browning.

Oil Import Chief Demands 'Balance'

DALLAS (AP)—The administrator of the government's voluntary oil import program said today the nation's security demands that the petroleum industry strike a reasonable balance between imports of foreign oil and domestic security.

hibiting imports entirely...would be equally unrealistic," Carson said. "Barring some fabulous and unexpected discovery of additional oil reserves in this country, it seems that to supply our ever-increasing demand some imports of crude oil will be required to supplement our own production."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ahylene can be had. That impression came into focus for me as I watched the proud Eagles maul the Big Spring Steers in Ahylene last weekend.

Granted that the War Birds were not and didn't have to be at their sharpest and the weather wasn't conducive to good football, I think the Eagles by no means measure up to Chuck Moser's last year's ball club.

Ahylene's strength this year is in its line. The boys in the trenches are fast and react quickly. They block almost like a college ball club.

The backs are something else again. They're willing but they can't begin to compare with last year's great backs, individually or collectively.

Ahylene is going to be tough until it runs into a line which can combat its primary on even terms. The big test could come in the Odessa game a week from Friday night. And don't sell Odessa short.

Odessa has developed slowly, is now playing tremendous ball under Hayden Fry. This is "next year" for Hayden, who realizes he must "go for broke" this year. Next year, his chances to produce a champion will have diminished. And the situation will worsen after that, for by 1959 Odessa will have three high schools.

In efforts to bolster his lineup for the impending conference struggles, Fry has pillaged his B team.

Odessa will have this in its favor in its game with Ahylene. It catches the Eagles at home and the Bronchos have always been rugged customers in their own back yard.

Ahylene may get by Odessa, even in Odessa. All other things being even, the Eagles can call upon "chips down" experience and championship know-how. That's hard to beat.

Farther on down the road lies Amarillo, however, and the Sandles aren't fooling this year. Joe Kerbel has the horses and he doesn't care who knows it. Fact is, he prefers that it be broadcast around as much as possible. Nothing like scaring a team into defeat before it ever takes the field.

An Ahylene-Amarillo game would be a titanic struggle but Moser and Company probably have won their last state battle for a while. Or perhaps the signs are very deceptive. Time alone will tell.

By the way, Time magazine is doing an article shortly on Moser and his team's phenomenal winning record. The weekly news periodical has had stringers in the field compiling information on him for some time now.

The silliest rule in the schoolboy football books has to do with lifting 20 yards from the punter who is bold enough to boot the ball over the opposition's goal line. In other words, take 20 paces away from his aggregate as if it never happened.

Big Spring's Wayne Fields quick-kicked 75 yards against Ahylene the other night, yet it wound up in the papers as a 55-yard boot because the ball didn't die short of the goal.

The pros are wise enough to give a punter all the yards he can get on a punt. The Texas Intercollegiate League may come around to that line of reasoning in a decade or two.

It is also silly to give a team a first down on plays where touchdowns occur, whether the attacking team is farther than ten yards from the goal or not.

A first down is nothing but a renewal of downs and how can a team earn a renewal of downs if it goes all the way?

Ryan Is Sacked By Brave Club

MILWAUKEE (AP)—In a sweeping housecleaning of its coaching ranks the Milwaukee Braves have fired three of Manager Fred Haney's aids, only 17 days after winning the world championship.

Dropped Saturday were Charley Root, Connie Ryan and Johnny Riddle. The only survivor was Bob Keady, 41, bullpen coach who has been with the Braves since 1946.

The management refused to comment on the shakeup, except to say the action was taken on a decision by Haney and General Manager John Quinn. There was no comment from the trio involved.

Whitlow Wyatt, late of the Philadelphia Phillies, was named to replace Root as pitching coach, and John Fitzpatrick will take over for Riddle at first base.

The club said Ryan's successor at third base will be named later.

Figures May Lie In Case Of Texas A&M Grid Team

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Texas A&M, which hasn't lost a game since 1953 and was Southwest Conference champion last year, isn't as good as last season according to the statistics. But look at the scoreboard.

Last season at this time the Aggies had rushed for 1,444 yards to 875 for the opposition; they had 91 first downs to 69. This campaign they have rushed for 1,355 yards and given up 940 while making 35 first downs to the enemies' 76.

Yet, last season the Aggies had won five and tied one while this year they have won six out of six. And they've rolled up 119 points while allowing the opposition 19

Colorado Faces Stern Test This Week In Tiger Clash

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Editor On the face of it, a team like Colorado should be looking forward to its game with Missouri this Saturday with no particular concern.

The Buffaloes already have shown they are made of the sternest stuff by barely losing to mighty Oklahoma, 14-13. Missouri, on the other hand has four victories, a loss and a tie on its record.

But there is a peculiar history connected to this Big Eight rivalry. In the past 16 years, Colorado—probably the only team that does not roll over and play dead when Oklahoma shows up—has beaten Missouri just once. That was a 34-13 decision in 1951.

Whatever happens, though, if any team ever was entitled to break the Oklahoma winning streak (if that day ever comes), it is Colorado. Over the years, Colorado has given Sooner Coach Bud Wilkinson legitimate cause to see figures in the shadows.

Look at the record for the past four years: the Sooners got by 27-20, in 1953, in 1954 it was 13-6, in 1955 it was 56-21 and last year it was 27-19. That last one was the only real ball game on the Sooners' '56 schedule.

The '57 edition was the closest yet with the Sooners coming from behind in the last quarter to chalk up their 45th straight victory by the margin of point-after-touchdown.

But Oklahoma, ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, has weaknesses. The Sooners should not have any trouble with Kansas State this week or Missouri the

Big State, SWL Planning Merger

WACO (AP)—The Big State and Southwestern Baseball Leagues will merge next year into the Southwest Assn. of Class B.

Directors of the two Class B leagues met yesterday, voted the change and predicted a strong eight-class league.

Hal Sayles, Big State president from Abilene, and Grady Terry, head of the Southwestern League, will be co-chairmen of the new loop until officers are elected in December.

Prospective members are Abilene, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Victoria and Port Arthur of the Big State League; Wichita Falls, which was voted in yesterday, and Carlsbad, Hobbs, Ballinger and Lamesa of the Southwestern League.

However, all aren't expected to start. Abilene, Ballinger and Lamesa are probable scratches. Midland, Odessa and McCombs are other prospective members.

Erle Thompson Hogs Laurels

Erle Thompson of Hale Center again proved the big winner in Sunday's drag races staged by the Big Spring Timing Association at Webb Air Force Base.

Thompson, whose best speed was reported at 103 m.p.h., won both the Top Time and Top Eliminator trophies.

A $35 bond was offered to the super stock car entry who could beat James Butler's 1957 Ford Ranchero but no one did, so the prize carries over. Butler hails from Morton.

Only one mishap marred the afternoon's program, which was watched by an estimated 400 people. A coupe driven by Teddy Groebel caught fire about 40 feet from the starting line when he choked up and backed fire. The blaze was extinguished immediately, however, and neither driver nor car were harmed.

Samples were taken of gasoline from all cars. Those with mixtures will be penalized.

following week, but Nov. 16, they run into tough Notre Dame.

The Sooners are eligible for the Orange Bowl since Colorado represented the league there last Jan. 1.

It appears that Oklahoma's rival in the Orange Bowl will be Duke, which would be a change for the Sooners who beat Maryland in their last two appearances.

The Blue Devils were tied by North Carolina State, 14-14 Saturday, but they still are undefeated. While the Big Eight and ACC already have taken shape, the same can't be said for most of the other major conferences.

In the Big 10, with the campaign more than half over, Iowa, Ohio State, Michigan and Michigan State all still are in the running for the championship. Iowa, the defending champion, can't play in the Rose Bowl again, so it's a three-team race.

If Iowa defeats Michigan this week, the Wolverines would be just about out of it, for they already have one defeat.

On the other end of the country Oregon has become the favorite to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl. The Webfoots are the only undefeated team in the league and need only get by Stanford this week to make it all-but-certain.

Washington State still has a chance, too, but to make it concrete, Stanford will have to beat Oregon State, a large order.

In the Southwest Conference Texas A&M still the favorite to become host team in the Cotton Bowl. The Aggies smashed the preseason favorite, Baylor, Saturday.

Auburn and Mississippi are tied for the Southeastern Conference lead each with a 3-0 mark.

Princeton and Dartmouth share the Ivy League lead with 3-0 marks.

The nine major schools which still held perfect records in an Associated Press survey are Texas A&M with six victories, Oklahoma, Auburn, Dartmouth, Iowa, Arizona State (Tempe), Texas Western and Drake, with five each, and Notre Dame with four.

49ers in GOOD SHAPE TO MARCH TO CROWN

By The Associated Press

The San Francisco 49ers, who do their winning in streaks, are at it early this year and, coupled with the flip-flop fortunes of their rivals, it might just be enough to give the Prospectors their first National Football League division title.

Victory No. 4 since an opening game loss was a comeback 21-17 capping of the Chicago "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Bears" Sunday that enabled San Francisco to open up a full game Western Conference lead over Baltimore and Detroit.

The Colts and Lions, sharing the top spot with the 49ers at the start of play, cooperated nicely—Baltimore blowing a tidy lead for the second straight week to go down, 24-21, to Green Bay, and Detroit fell under a Los Angeles rout, 35-17.

Ben Mooring Wins Medal In Tourney

Ben Mooring, surprise of the last Big Spring Invitational Golf Tournament, captured medalist honors in the 1957 Cosden golf tournament with a three-over-par 75 at the Country Club last week.

Of the 16 players in the championship flight, five were in the 70's. It required an 83 or better to rate the title flight.

In all, 85 players will line up for the annual meet, which is sponsored by Obie Bristow and staged at the Big Spring Country Club. Matches in each flight must be completed by Saturday, tournament director W. E. Ramsey has announced.

James Edwards, the defending champion, has drawn J. E. Brown as a first round opponent while Mooring plays Joe Peay in his opening test.

Charley Bailey offered a threat to Mooring for medalist laurels but wound up with a 77. He is paired against Richard Grimes in his first test.

Pairings:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT
James Edwards vs J. E. Brown; Sam Thurman vs Joe Stocks; Richard Grimes vs Charles Bailey; J. C. Seif vs Marvin Miller; Ben Mooring vs Joe Peay; Allen Orr vs Claude Ramsey; Bill McComb vs Speedy Nugent; Phil Gressett vs Mike Pheasant.

FIRST FLIGHT
Jake Johnson vs Ben Seindell; Ray Miss vs Marvin Holton; Bobby Ashbury vs Bob Battershite; Wesley Shouse vs Bill Gibson; J. T. Morgan vs Knox Knox Chad-Ladd Smith vs Bill Sandridge; Dick Johnson vs J. D. Gault; Max Coffey vs Dan Greenwood.

SECOND FLIGHT
Marvin Williams vs Arch Raliff; Milton Brown vs C. C. Bell; Sonny Fuller vs R. C. McDaniel; Skeet West vs Rayford Liles; Charles Herring vs Johnny Hill; Walter Bond vs Frank Goodson; Homer Willford vs J. Y. Smith; Lynn Webb vs R. E. Dobbins.

THIRD FLIGHT
Trevor Crawford vs William Mitchell; Paul Meek vs Carroll Nelson; Chub Jones vs Paul Solden; Don Freeman vs D. M. Bardsell; Kenneth Howell vs E. K. Dodson; E. B. Bouillon vs Jerry Allen; Dewey Mark vs Kelly Lawrence; Bill Bradford vs Jeff Brown.

FOURTH FLIGHT
Jack Gully vs Charles Brown; Wendell Mays vs C. W. Wilbanks; A. M. Porter vs A. Valdes; Jack Turner vs Omar Hill; D. G. Gastman, bye; Bill Tate vs Ken Perry; John Kelly, bye; Bob Kennedy, bye.

FIFTH FLIGHT
George Zachary vs Hooper; Ray Shaw vs Roy White, bye; Warren Wilson vs Floyd Young; Raymond Tollett vs J. M. Williams; Ed Moxie, bye; Dotie Bynum, bye; Stormy Thompson, bye.

Deadlocked in third place after firing 70s yesterday were Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y.; Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and Ken Venturi, San Francisco.

"On the last hole I hit an eight iron shot just a little strong and it carried over the green into the side of a hill," said Maxwell.

"Dow hit one on the green about 20 feet away, for the chance of a birdie."

"But I made one of my best shots of the day—a wedge going downhill. I saw the ball hit the lip of the cup and stop two feet away. I knew then I had him beat."

"Finsterwald missed by about an inch and I knocked mine in."

When You Have That Hungry Feeling

The perfect answer to that hankering for a tasty sandwich or a good cold drink or a fine cup of hot coffee is to go to either of the Dairy King establishments. One is located at 2006 Gregg and the second at 1102 W. 4th. M. R. Smith, proprietor, sees to it that the quality of food and service is tops at both places at all times. Try the Dairy King just once and you'll become a regular customer.

Relcerce Jones Has Plenty Of Anti-Freeze

The Relcerce Jones Humble Service Station, located at Fourth and Scurry Streets in Big Spring, not only has plenty of anti-freeze on hand but through periodic checks sees to it that customers' automobiles never run low of the liquid during the winter months.

By purchasing a supply of the anti-freeze, which is the permanent type, motorists can assure themselves that their supply remains constant by dealing with the Relcerce Jones concern.

The recent cold weather would awaken people to the fact that their vehicles need anti-freeze. If you haven't had your radiator checked since last winter, it might be a good idea to drive around to the Jones station and see for yourself if the supply has not been drained off or has weakened.

Employees of the Jones station have the equipment to run a check on your car's radiator and tell you in a hurry whether your supply is dangerously low.

The Jones station, owned and operated for many years by Relcerce Jones, also specializes in completely servicing vehicles — changing crankcase oil, greasing and washing.

Many customers check their cars to the Jones establishment for complete servicing, then walk downtown to accomplish shopping missions, for the concern is within easy walking distance of any section downtown.

Such jobs are undertaken by the Jones concern without undue delay, despite the fact that cars can usually be found on the wash and grease racks.

Relcerce Jones also maintains a pickup truck in order that emergency automotive service can be offered to any motorist who might be stranded within the immediate area.

McMahon Concern Has Full Stock Of Masonry Supplies

Virtually every product — materials and equipment — required for concrete and masonry construction is available in Big Spring at the Clyde McMahon Ready-Mix Concrete Co., 605 N. Benton.

A large array of tools is on display in the McMahon showroom, and the contractor or mason has found that he can fill his every need there.

Some of the reliable manufacturers whose brands McMahon carries are Whitman, Eveready, A. C. Horn, Master Builders, Richmond and Remington. These provide power equipment as well as hand tools for all kind of concrete and masonry work. This equipment supplies contractors and builders with every piece of equipment or material needed in masonry construction.

McMahon has a complete stock of masonry and building materials of all kinds such as concrete tile, Holiday Hill building stone, ready-mix concrete, washed sand, and gravel and "Sac-rete."

"Sac-rete" is very popular with homeowners who need only a small quantity of concrete to take care of those small jobs around the house. It contains all ingredients except water and can be prepared quickly and easily.

Whitman concrete finishers are among the most versatile and reliable ones on the market. The same is true for Eveready brick and concrete saws and Master Builders and A. C. Horn products. Other reliable products to be found at McMahon's are Richmond Screw Anchor Co. devices and Remington stud drivers and cartridges.

Builders and contractors have found that McMahon Concrete Company is built on a reputation for dependability and their ready-mix concrete is of a quality that is second to none.

Let Fiveash Dodge For 1958 Guard Plumbing Features Economy Against Cold

Nippy weather of the past week is ample warning that winter is not far away, and Fiveash Plumbing Company can help you get ready for it.

One of the important things is to check your piping system and guard as much as possible against the hazards of extreme cold. In many instances insulation will help minimize the danger of freezing, and Fiveash can offer other suggestions which will reduce this hazard and inconvenience.

Another thing that most home owners need is a private water cutoff so that in an emergency should arise during the winter they can quickly cut off the water before it can do much damage. Some people use these cutoffs as a precaution where unusually low temperatures are forecast. By turning the water off and letting water drain before bedtime, they avoid the risk of freezing and bursting.

By getting either or both of these jobs done now, home owners guard against costly and unpleasant delays when severe weather comes and plumbers will be so busy that they may not be able to answer all calls instantly, no matter how hard they try.

Another service Fiveash Plumbing can perform now is to help you in getting your heating units in proper operation after a summer of inactivity. A call to Fiveash at AM 4-6111 or a visit to 821 E. 3rd Street is the way to handle this problem safely and efficiently. In fact, a properly regulated and operating heating unit will not only make you more comfortable but they may save you money as well.

A 1958 Dodge broke the Mason Dixon Economy Barrier with an average of 22.9 miles per gallon in a 1,565-mile highway marathon through 132 cities, villages, and towns recently.

The new Dodge can be seen this week at Jones Motor Co., 1st and Gregg, Initial nation-wide showing will be Friday.

The average speed for the marathon was just over 40 m.p.h., yet all traffic rules and speed limits were strictly observed. In a test supervised by the United States Auto Club, the 1958 Dodge started its test run off the assembly line in Detroit.

Deliberately tackling the congested eastern U. S., and leveling the heights of the mist-veiled Great Smoky Mts., the car rolled through Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

Over the mountains, climbing as high as 5,000 feet, the car realized more than 21 miles per gallon from its brand new Ram-Fire V-8 engine. In the citrus countryside from Lake City, Fla., to Miami, its mileage hurred over the 25 mile per gallon mark.

The United States Auto Club's final figure of 22.93 miles per gallon for the entire route was recorded after the sealed gas tank was opened and drained of its last drop of fuel at the conclusion of the unique run.

Economy is just one of the new 1958 Dodge's many outstanding points, however, and the management of Jones Motor Co. urges all Big Springers to look the car over here Friday.

Leave For Honeymoon

Bing Crosby and his new bride, Kathy Grant, leave Las Vegas, Nev., for Palm Springs, Calif., after their surprise marriage at St. Anne's Church in Las Vegas. They both report back to work in Hollywood today.

Age Gap Considered No Big Handicap

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby's wedding to a girl the same age as one of his sons follows the trend in May-December marriages in Hollywood. And, perhaps surprisingly, such marriages have had a good average in a town where divorce is sometimes considered a way of life.

There is 30 years' difference between Bing and his bride, Kathy Grant. Far from being a handicap, the gap is considered an advantage by some observers of the filmland scene. Take a look at the record.

Many of Hollywood's mature leading men have chosen wives decades younger than themselves. It's true that such alliances are often second, third or fourth marriages. But they have stuck where others failed.

William Powell set the pattern in 1940. He chose as his third wife an MGM starlet, Diana Lewis. He was 47; she could barely vote. Hollywood gave the marriage six months. The Powells are still happily wed.

Humphrey Bogart, 45, had a headlined romance with his young leading lady, Lauren Bacall, 21. No one gave her a chance to accomplish what three other women had failed to do—tame Bogart. But she did it, and his last decade.

ade was the happiest of his life. Rudy Vallee was another three-time loser. In 1949, he married a University of California coed, Eleanor Norris. Though he was 29 years older, their marriage has remained constant.

Twice-divorced Cary Grant was another star who fell in love with his leading lady. She was Betsy Drake, with whom he appeared in the prophetic "Every Girl Should Be Married." When they married, he was 46, she was 26. They are one of the town's most devoted couples.

Saddened by the death of his first wife, Fred Macmurray found companionship with June Haver, also unhappy from a series of personal tragedies. They married when he was 45 and she was 28. She seems perfectly content to forget her career and take care of their home and their adopted twins.

Older women were among Clark Gable's first four wives. As his fifth, he chose Kay Spreckels, 20 years his junior.
