Daniel Ready To Submit School Segregation Bill

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (P) — If quick action comes Monday on a bill to close public schools where federal troops were summoned to enforce integration, Gov. Price Daniel is expected to offer a bill to close public schools guarded by federal troops. This piece of segregation legislation has had the unofficial attention of most legislators since the special session began Oct. 14. Now Daniel says he wants the bill passed at the earliest possible time, giving him the authority together with local school boards to close any school where federal troops were summoned to enforce integration. Reports circulated today that if senators who oppose a lobby bill filibuster the proposal, Daniel will submit the troop bill anyway. Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio argued for almost an hour Thursday on a minor amendment to the water planning bill apparently to delay action on the administration's lobby bill. The measure is considerably different from the one he submitted which was ignored by a Senate committee. Another measure may be submitted to allow the Legislature to give the go-ahead to the state attorney general in assisting school districts who want help in defending lawsuits stemming from segregation. Some believe the lack-lustre session is moving so sluggishly that additional bills will not interfere with progress of his program but will serve as a stimulant. Some 50 members have local bills to pass if and when Daniel's four-point program has moved near enough to final passage to warrant special interest bills.

VIOLENCE PROBED

Workers Return To Lone Star Steel

DAINGERFIELD, Tex., Nov. 2 (P) — Peace returned today to this striketrone area as hundreds of strikers lined up to get back their old jobs at the Lone Star Steel Co. plant. Long before dawn workers in the 7-week-old strike began lining up at a company rehiring center after their union and Lone Star agreed upon a truce last night. Many who clung to the center hoped the bitter labor dispute, punctuated by bombings and shootings, was over except for peaceful arbitration. Some joked and laughed, obviously relieved that the tension was over. Texas Rangers moved in the morning to keep order. The first to register at the center was Joe Irby, 25, of Lone Star. He said he drove all night from Anadarko, Okla., and stood in line four hours. He had taken a temporary pipeline job because he had a family to support. At one time up to 800 workers were lined up. Lone Star shortly after the walkout began notified employees after they would be fired unless they returned to their jobs by a certain time. About 2,000 refused to heed the company warning. Investigations continue into the wave of bombings and other violence during the wildcat strike. Three strikers accused of being part of a gang which beat up two non-strikers were freed under $3,000 bond. A Morris County grand jury meets Friday to consider charges. The third man already has been indicted. Texas Ranger Captain Jay Banks said today that a fourth man had been arrested in connection with the beatings. Banks identified him as Charles Spencer, 25, of Lone Star. An adjoining Uphur County, J. W. Duffy, 43, of Simpsonville was held on a charge of firing shotgun blasts into a non-striker's home. His bond was set at $50,000. The Grand Jury will investigate Tuesday. One striker, who declined to be quoted by name, blamed the violence on "some of the more hot-headed individuals who walked off their jobs because they felt they had been betrayed by their brother union members who didn't join them."

Crime And Baseball Among Issues In N.Y. Mayor Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (P) — A political campaign that touched on topics ranging from murder, income tax to baseball reaches its climax Tuesday when this city will choose its next mayor. Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, is seeking a second four-year term against the challenge of Republican Robert K. Christenberry, who carries President Eisenhower's endorsement. The city is normally Democratic, and political pundits generally expect Wagner to win handily. A victory for Christenberry would be a distinct upset. Wagner, 46, is the son of the late senator who sponsored the Wagner Act and other New Deal legislation. He has been in politics almost steadily since being elected a state assemblyman in 1937. Christenberry, 58, born in McLemoresville, Tenn., is a hotel executive and former chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission. This is his first bid for elective office. The recent mobster shooting of Albert Anastasia, old murder, Inc. executioner, in a midtown hotel barbershop, was used by Christenberry as an argument that the administration was lax against crime. (Wagner: There is no organized crime in New York despite the Anastasia slaying. There are fewer gang murders in the city than during the administration of the late Fiorello La Guardia, a Republican. Six thousand police have been added to the force in the past four years.)

Cool Wave May Send Mercury To 32 Tonight

A cold front, described as weak, toppled temperatures sharply here on Saturday afternoon and brought in banks of clouds to obscure the sky. A light rain was falling at 10 p.m. Saturday. The forecast for Sunday promised the same sort of outlook with colder weather in store. A low of 22 degrees was predicted for Sunday night. The high today will be around 52 and Monday will not be warmer than 55, the Midland Weather Bureau anticipated. In addition to the chilly temperature, the Bureau foresaw occasional light rains and drizzle on tap for the Big Spring area. Rains up to two inches were reported Saturday in parts of Central Texas. Corsicana reported two inches of rain and showers continued in that area. Other rainfall totals reported to the weather bureau Saturday included San Angelo, 1.9, Alpine .03 and a trace at Abilene, Waco and Houston. Maximum temperatures Saturday ranged from a high of 89 degrees at Laredo to a low of 51 at Dalhart. The cloud blanket behind the front extended northward to the Canadian border. Rain fell in Kansas with snow from Nebraska northward. Early in the day, ground fog dropped visibility to zero at Kennedy and Karnes City in South Central Texas.

Psychotic Pooch?

Padre is a pony-sized Saint Bernard who doesn't mind climbing stairs but won't go down. Owner Lee Richard Jones of Baltimore, in this tender scene, is making one of many trips downstairs lugging his 160-pound pooch. When Jones took the dog to the veterinarian to find out about the fear of stairs, he had to carry Padre down from the vet's office. (AP Wirephoto).

Commies Say He Failed To 'Fulfill Trust'

MOSCOW, Nov. 2 (P) — The Communist party has ejected Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov from its Central Committee and ruling Presidium because, it charged tonight, he tried to eliminate party control over the armed forces. This demonstrated "insufficient party spirit" and "rudely violated the Leninist party principle for direction of the armed forces." "The Central Committee has established that the cult of comrade Zhukov's personality was cultivated in the Soviet army with his personal participation," a party resolution made public tonight said. "With the help of sycophants and flatterers, he was praised to the sky in lectures and reports, in articles, films and pamphlets, and his person and role in the great patriotic war were overglorified." NO HINT OF FUTURE Thus was the popular World War II hero thoroughly downgraded. There was no hint as to what his future would be. He was dismissed as defense minister a week ago today and tonight's announcement said only that the party secretariat had been instructed to find him other work. The party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, said last Tuesday that job would fit the 60-year-old marshal's training and experience. The formal announcement said the resolution condemning Zhukov had been "adopted unanimously" by members and candidate members of the Central Committee. The resolution said Zhukov's conceit caused him to consider himself "a single hero of all victories achieved by our people and their armed forces under the leadership of the Communist party."

State Dept. Sees Stress In Russia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (P) — The United States said tonight that the Soviet ouster of Marshal Georgi Zhukov, coming on top of the shakeup last June, gives evidence of "stresses and strains that must be present within the Soviet bloc." The comment was made in a State Department statement which referred to Zhukov as "a distinguished military leader." It also challenged the Soviet Communist party line that it was Zhukov who was responsible for "adventurism" in Soviet foreign policy. The statement said it was "difficult to reconcile" the accusation of adventurism against Zhukov with the fact that Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev recently wanted to send Zhukov to Washington "with a mission of high trust and confidence." Khrushchev, in the view of Washington officials, is riding the crest of Soviet power after his victory over Zhukov. But it may be a costly triumph for him in the long run. U. S. officials said privately it is impossible to see how a man of Zhukov's prestige and influence could be thrown out of authority, as announced officially in a Moscow statement today, without arousing resentment and hostility. The State Department statement was issued after hours of consideration by high department officials, following the report of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow. The U. S. comment reflected a lack of concrete information as to the precise reasons why Zhukov was removed from his position as defense minister in the Soviet government and a member of the Presidium and Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party. The Zhukov mission to the United States, which the statement referred to, would have involved talks between Zhukov and President Eisenhower, taking advantage of the fact that the two men worked together briefly as victorious commanders in defeated Germany at the end of World War II. Referring to the Communist party charges against Zhukov—that he tried to build a "cult of personality," "attempted to eliminate party control of the armed forces and was guilty of 'adventurism' in foreign affairs—the U. S. statement declared: "There has no doubt been 'adventurism' in foreign policy as witnessed the recent Soviet threat to Turkey and the fabricated charges disseminated by Soviet spokesmen regarding the Middle East. "However, the placing of responsibility of this 'adventurism' upon Zhukov is difficult to reconcile with the recently expressed desire of Mr. Khrushchev to entrust Marshal Zhukov with a mission of high trust and confidence to the United States. "This ouster and attempt to disgrace a distinguished military leader so quickly following the similar actions against Georgi Malenkov and Dmitri Sheplov, evidence of the stresses and strains that must be present within the Soviet bloc."

Dulles Examined, Gets Clean Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (P) — Secretary of State Dulles left Walter Reed Army Hospital today after an overnight examination which, doctors said, showed him to be in "excellent shape." The secretary, 69, entered the hospital yesterday for a 12-month post-operative checkup. One year ago tomorrow he underwent an operation for removal of an intestinal cancer. Dulles, a target of charges by the Senate Rackets Committee, said he had obtained pledges of support from 12 unidentified members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. But when the show-down came, he said, "not a single one stood up."

Textile Union Chief Resigns

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (P) — Anthony Valente resigned today as president of the United Textile Workers Union today with a blast at AFL-CIO officials he said had reneged on promises to support him.

Civil War Vet's Wife Dead At 87

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (P) — Mrs. Ella Missouri Williams, 87, the second wife of the oldest surviving Civil War veteran, died today at the home of her daughter. Her husband, Walter Williams, will be 115 years old Nov. 14. They had been married more than 60 years.

Texans To Vote Tuesday On Changes In Constitution

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (P) — Texas voters Tuesday on three changes in the Constitution, one authorizing a 200 million dollar water bond plan. No organized opposition has developed against any of the amendments in the face of a strong "vote yes" campaign sparked by Gov. Price Daniel and other politicians. The propositions appear in this order on the ballot: 1. HJR 37—To establish a more adequate retirement, disability and death compensation fund for officers and employees of the state. 2. HJR 2—To increase the old age assistance fund by five million dollars to allow the state to spend 47 million dollars a year for old age pensions and aid to other needy persons. 3. HJR 3—To authorize issuance of up to 200 million dollars in bonds by the state for financial aid to certain political subdivisions for water conservation and development. While the water development amendment has received most of the publicity because of the drive to conserve Texas' prodigious waste of water and at the same time harness the usually lost flood water, the other two suggested changes in the basic law are vital to two large groups of Texans. The first proposal revises and broadens the present retirement system for state officers and employees established by an earlier constitutional amendment. It is linked with an enabling bill approved contingent upon adoption of HJR 37. The net effect of the two was designed to provide a stronger incentive to longer active service by state employees and thus improve the quality of services rendered to the state. A minimum annuity of at least $30 a month for covered employees would be guaranteed, plus more liberal provision in cases of disability retirement, and more generous death benefits. The second proposal in effect would make possible an increase in pension payments to the aged and to the blind, and dependent children to keep abreast of the ever-increasing cost of living. For example, it would boost the maximum per-person payment for old age assistance from $20 to $25 a month from the state funds, with excess of $21 be made without a provision that no payment in federal matching money. The third proposal would add another section to the Constitution, inaugurating a new financial program for water development. It provides the basic legal authority for creation of the Texas Water Development Board and issuance of up to 200 million dollars in general obligation bonds to help local water projects. HJR 3 contemplates issuance of one of 100 million dollars in bonds which could be increased to 200 million upon a two-thirds vote of a future Legislature, to be placed in the Texas water development fund. The money would be used to buy bonds or other securities issued by cities, river authorities or water districts for water control and development.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle
 Webb AFB was recognized last week for an outstanding safety record. Planes from the base here flew 4500 hours with only four major mishaps. The factor was 8.9, which compares with 20.4 for the Air Training Command and 14 for the Air Force as a whole. Appropriately, Lt. Gen. Charles T. Myers, who made the presentation of a trophy, which he presented to the men on the line as well as to flying personnel. The real payoff on a record like this is lives. We shall, for a short interlude, refrain from further prognostication about the weather. Last week, speculating on frost, we ventured that we would escape without a heavy one and make a good crop. Before the papers were laid at your door, it looked like snow had fallen. Fortunately, this early freeze seemed mostly to have killed leaves and to have helped the bulk of cotton rather than hurt it. Don't forget that Tuesday is the day you are obligated as a citizen to go to the polls. The occasion will be to pass upon constitutional amendments which provide for (1) update the state retirement system, (2) add about $2 a month to welfare payments, and (3) create a $200 million loan fund for local water projects. For the most part our town and area got by with a minimum of damage on Halloween. Leave us face it—young people are a lot (See THE WEEK, Pg. 4-A, Col. 6)

STONE AMPHITHEATRE IN PARK A WPA PROJECT
Idle hands put to work on depression programs such as this

Public Works Agencies Found Task In Big Spring

By JOE PICKLE

It has been almost a quarter of a century now since CWA, the first of the major public work agencies, flourished and faded.

Conceived as an emergency make-work program, it came into official standing Nov. 9, 1933, and within a few months had given way momentarily to direct relief, and then to its more famous successor—WPA.

Coincidentally and subsequently, there were CCC, PWA, NYA, FWA and in a sense CAA.

All of these agencies in some degree touched Big Spring and Howard County. Some left no marks, for they were designed more to occupy labor than to build. At the outset it was more a case of getting dollars into hands and food into mouths.

$1 MILLION SPENT HERE

Depression Programs Used As Means To Distribute Relief

While Civil Works Administration was the first of the major public works programs, it was by no means the only device for aiding localities in disbursing relief or putting idle hands to work.

In all, Big Spring and Howard County received approximately a million dollars of federal funds which achieved construction estimated at twice that amount.

Even while CWA was mushrooming, Public Works Administration came into being. Whereas CWA (and its heir, WPA) were cooperative enterprises between the local political subdivisions and the federal government, PWA was a grant-in-aid program whereby local units contracted the work through private channels.

Usually, the local sponsor furnished materials, supplies, tools, etc. and the federal funds were used mostly for payroll.

Among WPA programs which the city undertook were: $20,000 for paving of city streets; $50,000 for city park developments including the amphitheatre and many of the picnic units; $100,000 for miscellaneous projects that involved some additional park work and paving, wading pools, crushing rock for other projects, etc.; $119,000 for airport paving and other improvements in 1937. Howard County got $50,000 for permanent lateral roads such as the first stretch in the oilfields and from U. S. 87 to Knott. The Big Spring Independent School District got $23,000 which enabled it to move the athletic plant from north side to 10th and State.

Under the PWA program, another $305,000 came to this locality, $80,000 of it toward the junior high gymnasium and original construction of College Heights elementary school; $225,000 for the construction of Moss Creek and Powell Creek dams; and $22,000 for a municipal swimming pool. Howard County got an allocation for $135,000 for a courthouse but never used it.

Out of PWA allotments, schools got nearly $200,000 worth of new plants by adding their funds. The city floated $275,000 in its own bonds and got Moss Creek and Powell Creek lakes, which were literally to save its life; 10 miles of 14-inch cast iron main; a filtration plant; and quarter of a million gallon elevated storage tower.

The swimming pool was unique. PWA made a $10,000 grant toward the project, and E. V. Spence, city manager, made a flying trip to Washington to sell a bill of goods. He succeeded in getting the PWA to finance the remaining $22,000 by revenue bonds to be paid out of tax revenues — if and when there were any. This was the only project in the United States where this was done. (The project paid out eventually.)

One of the first things which shaped up under the first administration of Franklin Roosevelt was

Homecoming Queen Rules At Sherman

SHERMAN, Nov. 2 (AP) — Clare Schlegel, a junior from Orange, ruled as "Queen of the Homecoming Court" at Austin College today after being crowned at a student dance last night.

Miss Schlegel was selected for the homecoming court last week and was honored with other court members and the school's football team.

some sort of a payment.

Howard County undertook some road work, and the Texas Highway Department stepped in with CWA programs on U. S. 80 and U. S. 87.

At the peak in January of 1934 there were 723 men on the roll, drawing $5,722 a week. Obviously, no one was getting rich out of being on the CWA rolls. The approximately $8 a week per individual about paid for groceries and utilities.

The City applied for $25,944 in CWA funds for improving the airport, but before the transfer of the port could be made from private hands to the city, the government cancelled airmail contracts. Naturally, the city balked until the airmail situation was cleared and it was certain Big Spring was still a stop. By the time that had happened, CWA had expired and WPA had risen on its ashes.

By early March, the CWA rolls had been reduced to 625. Successive 10 per cent cuts were made as a target date of May 1 was fixed for CWA demobilization. Workers had been cut to 310 by March 25, and these were only on the highway projects. At the end of March CWA was dead, but its reflexes reacted for a couple of months. Those on the rolls were transferred to direct relief.

R. H. (Home) McNew, who had been county CWA administrator, took over the distribution of direct relief, from the old Fisher store location on lower Main, but soon he was drafted into service as district WPA director here, and the new agency set up for business in the Petroleum Building in 1936-37, the years the district unit served here, it handled approximately a million dollars of federal aid to cities, counties and school districts in the area.

connection with Webb AFB. But these were latter day business deals to reach a common objective and not in the category of rewards to stimulate public work.

New Luxury Features Mark The Imperial Line For '58

Longer and more luxurious, the 1958 Imperial cars are now being shown to the public, with a local display at Lone Star Motor, 600 E. 3rd.

Available as optional equipment for the first time are an Auto-Pilot pushbutton driver assist, a dual air conditioning unit, a new type of electric door lock and a limited-slip differential.

Body lines of the 1958 Imperial create the shape of a sleek wedge. A new six-section grille dominates the front of the car above a massive bumper which includes insert parking lights.

Dual horizontal headlights are set under front fender projections. High rear fins flow forward into a low left line to the tips of front fenders.

Imperial's exclusive curved side glass and bigger bubble windshield, combined with curved side metal, create a sleek image. A new Flight Sweep deck featuring a chrome spread eagle edged in gold, is optional equipment.

The cars are available in a choice of four series. The Imperial series is offered in a four-door sedan, two-door hardtop and four-door hardtop. The Imperial Crown series is available in a four-door sedan, two-door hardtop, four-door hardtop and convertible.

The Imperial LeBaron series is offered in a four-door sedan and a new four-door hardtop.

The cars are available in a choice of 20 solid colors and 56 two-tone combinations. Luxurious interiors in shades of blue, green, gray, beige and red are offered in Diamond Glow and Monaco Jacquard interior fabrics and natural leathers or metallic vinyls.

New integral front seals on all models provide greater legroom for rear-seat passengers and gain an inch of headroom for front seat passengers. The cars are two inches longer.

TorqueFlite automatic transmission pushbuttons are located to the left of the steering column. A new rotary turn signal switch is below the pushbutton.

The 1958 Imperial has a 345-horsepower engine. It has a 302-cubic inch V-8 engine with a 10-to-one compression ratio. With a bore of 4.0 inches and a stroke of 3.92 inches, this Economy-Run Sweepstakes power plant is exceptionally quiet.

Glasscock Road Program Set For Next Two Years

GARDEN CITY, Nov. 2 (SC)—Construction of a new farm-to-market road and $300,000 for improvement of one already in service in Glasscock County are provided in the new two-year F.M. road program announced by the State Highway Department.

The $300,000 is earmarked for improvement of Ranch Road 33 from Garden City to the Reagan County line, a distance of 14.7 miles. J. A. Snel, district engineer at San Angelo, said the work probably will be under way by spring.

Construction of the new road is planned between FM-1800 and State 158, a distance of six miles. Work will start as soon as planning is completed and right-of-way is secured, according to H. L. Bailey of Sterling City, resident engineer for the Highway Department.

Rug Making At State Hospital

Patients in the Big Spring State Hospital find outlets for their energy as well as receiving vital "therapy" in projects such as these. These men are operating looms and carding device in the manufacture of rugs. Numerous other crafts are performed by the patients under the direction of hospital staff members.

'THERAPY'

Work With Hands Helping Patients

Therapy is a term frequently and loosely used in referring to treatment of illness, but perhaps nowhere is occupational therapy so aptly applied as in the case of helping-mental patients. Helping disturbed people work with their hands and concentrate on simple projects has been an effective means of restoring confidence and finding the way back to reality. In some instances it has opened up a modest vocation or certain avocation.

At Big Spring State Hospital approximately 40 men and women take part in the morning sessions for occupational therapy, and during the afternoon session some 35 participate. This program is offered five days a week. Patients are given a choice of the type of work they want to do. They may elect to embroider, crochet, knit or weave. They may prefer to make simple toys, or to fashion rugs in sizes from 28x36 inches up to 9x12 feet. Or they may take up sewing or leathercraft, ceramics, china painting, copper tooling, wood work, or even making plaques from plaster and aluminum sheeting. Instructors patiently help the patients master simple routines, but in some cases the patients already are adept or even expert. This is particularly so in some of the needlecrafts, and here occupational therapy gives the patient an opportunity to exercise dormant skills.

In rug making, patients learn to cut and sew strings to be used in the work. In ceramics, they may pour the materials into moulds to make the greenware for subsequent glazing, painting and baking. Visitors at the hospital inevitably ask: "What do you do with all these things?"

They are placed on sale, and the proceeds enable the program to expand and also to put spending money at the disposal of the patient. One item a patient makes will be put into the pool to provide funds for more occupational supplies, materials, tools and equipment. Proceeds from sale of the second article go to the patient, or if the patient prefers, the item may be given to a friend or relative. At any rate it is the patient's to do with as he or she pleases, and this helps to fan the spark of initiative and independence.

Base Planning Teen-Age Club

Webb's new Teen-Age Club, which has been in the planning stage for the past two weeks, will take a long step toward formal activation Wednesday night. Teen-Agers of the base and their parents will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the base hospital dining hall to get the organization under way.

Purpose of the club is to promote leadership in young adults, the "teeners" running their own organization with a minimum of supervision and assistance from parents serving as adult advisors. Along with leadership qualities, the club will encourage fellowship—friendship and understanding between teen-agers and between them and their parents—and to provide wholesome and varied recreation. Membership is open to military dependents 13 through 19 years of age.

Proposed activities will include weekly dances; sports, such as bowling, golf, tennis, archery, etc.; monthly meetings of club officers for planning activities; and such special events as holiday celebrations, speakers, club dinners, and trips to interesting spots in this area.

The following comprise the Adult Teen-Age Club Committee: Lt. Col. David Lovelace, Maj. M. L. Nurnberg, Maj. James V. Gilliland, Capt. Allen R. Robertson, Chaplain Verline E. Mikesell, W. O. James M. Green, and M. Sgt. Noel D. Marsalis, Thomas McGreevy, and Harris Clemow Jr.

Building Collapses

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 2 (AP)—An eight-story building collapsed today in a Cairo residential district and police said 14 bodies were taken from the debris. At least 100 persons fled the building before it fell.

Hunt Memorial Is Dedicated At McMurry

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, participated in dedication of the new Hunt Memorial Dormitory at McMurry College Saturday.

The building was named in honor of Dr. James W. Hunt, founder and first president of the college. He was the father of W. A. Hunt.

The H.C.J.C. official spoke in response to the dedicatory address by Dr. Marvin L. Boyd, Lubbock, district superintendent for the Methodist Church.

The new women's dormitory is equipped with central heating and air conditioning and will accommodate 150 students.

Completion of the structure is a portion of "Operation Big 'M'" for McMurry. The dedication ceremony was a part of homecoming and Dad's Day activities on the campus.

The late Dr. James W. Hunt founded McMurry College and served as its first president from 1923 until 1934. His children include J. W. Hunt Jr., Odessa; Dr. W. A. Hunt, Big Spring; David Hunt, Dallas; Mrs. Lance (Elizabeth Hunt) Webb, Columbus, Ohio; and Mrs. R. J. (Margaret Hunt) Jones Jr., of Abilene.

Six Big Springers Injured At Ranger

A Webb Air Force Base lieutenant and five members of his family were injured but not believed seriously in a crash Friday in Ranger when their car was rammed by a second vehicle.

The airman's car was parked in front of a drive-in sandwich place at the time of the collision.

According to information received here, Lt. Robert Bells, WAFB, his wife, his mother, Mrs. Eloise Hintz, his aunt, Mrs. Ida Mae Sanders, and his two children, Cheryl Leigh, 3, and Lee Ann, 2, all of Big Spring, were in his car.

Lee Ann was the most severely injured. She was unconscious for a time and suffered bruises about the head. Bells' Lincoln was rammed by a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Glenn Ford, Abilene. Ford was not hurt. He is an employe of a drilling company and was en route to Fort Worth.

He had stopped at a traffic light about 2 1/2 blocks from the point where the crash occurred. The highway curves to the right after leaving the traffic light. Ford seems to have continued straight ahead and plowed into the parked car.

Mrs. Sanders was painfully cut about the face and required an hour in surgery to close the cuts. Mrs. Hintz was cut severely on the back of the head. Mrs. Bells had a deep cut over the right eye. Both cars were demolished. Others were less seriously hurt but Mrs. Sanders and Lee Ann were hospitalized overnight.

Bulk Of County Taxes Collected

The first full month of tax payments in Howard County saw a grand total of $845,692.37 collected. Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor, said the figure represented most of the collections for October but that a sizeable batch of mail which arrived as the month ended still had to be opened and the checks added to the amount.

She pointed out that the figure includes all ad valorem, poll tax, personal tax, delinquent tax and aluminum sheeting. Instructors patiently help the patients master simple routines, but in some cases the patients already are adept or even expert. This is particularly so in some of the needlecrafts, and here occupational therapy gives the patient an opportunity to exercise dormant skills.

Effective Monday, the discount which is allowed for prompt tax payments drops from 3 per cent (which has been in effect throughout October) to 2 per cent. This will continue through Nov. 30. In December the discount rate will be 1 per cent. After December there is no discount and those who wait too long after that date will find a penalty assessed to the bill's total.

Two Spanish-American girls, each 14 years old, who ran away from their homes in Dallas, were on their way back home Saturday. They were picked up here and turned over to A. E. Long, juvenile officer. Their parents were contacted and one of their mothers came to Big Spring to take the girls in charge.

AMNESTY FOR WEST POINTERS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Approximately 100 U. S. Military Academy cadets had all disciplinary measures pending against them wiped from their records today because of an old grad.

Following tradition, President Eisenhower asked for amnesty for all cadets except those under court-martial during a reunion visit to the Academy.

There is an informal tradition at the Academy that a visiting head of state asks for amnesty for cadets under discipline.

Officer Recovers Stolen Motorbike

Painting a stolen white motorbike green and keeping it hidden is not enough sometimes to enable the thieves to keep possession of their loot. Two 14-year-old boys are meditating this proposition.

They were arrested by A. E. Long, juvenile officer, who said the pair had admitted they stole a white motorbike owned by Don Mays, 806 San Antonio, on Oct. 30 from its parking place at the Junior High School.

The bike was painted green by the two boys. It was kept hidden near the Church of Christ at 14th and Main. The boys rode the repainted bike occasionally but had kept it out of sight most of the time.

They had hoped, they told Long, that if they could keep it concealed long enough they would be able to retain possession of it. The two will be taken before the juvenile court sometime this week. The bike has been returned to its owner.

Airport Job May Start By February

Construction on the long-delayed Howard County Airport should be under way by Feb. 1.

This date was fixed when the county officials were notified Friday afternoon that the Civil Aeronautics Authority regional office in Fort Worth has officially approved the master plan.

This action by the CAA, announced by Bob Allen, with the Fort Worth office of the CAA, means that the agency is ready now to set up $214,000 of federal money for the project. It also means that the engineers who are working on the job must speed up the preparation of all final plans and specifications.

Louis Jean Thompson, engineer, said these plans would be completed in 30 days. He said he estimated the CAA would need at least 30 more days to study the plans. When they have been finally approved—estimated as possible around the end of December—advertisements for bids will be made.

A 30-day interval is required for this phase of the program. Therefore, it was estimated that first actual construction work should be under way on the airport about Feb. 1, 1958.

Local Cotton Estimates Fall

Cotton production estimates for Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties have been lowered by several thousand bales following last weekend's frost and most weather of the past fortnight.

Howard production is now estimated by the Texas Employment Commission at 26,350 bales. Leon Kinney, manager, reported Saturday. So far, 4,635 bales have been ginned. The earliest estimate of production was 31,000 bales.

In Martin County, the crop is now expected to total 57,400 bales. It had been estimated earlier at 63,750 bales. So far, 6,423 have been processed.

Glasscock's crop is now expected to total 13,600 bales, where it formerly was expected to amount to 16,000. Ginned have been 1,662 bales.

Abandon Search For Texas Pilot Lost Over Sea

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The U.S. Air Force called off tonight its search for a Sabrejet pilot who bailed out over the stormy North Sea three days ago.

Lt. David Wayne Johnson, 27, of Quannah, Tex., was briefly sighted drifting through the choppy seas on a rubber dinghy Thursday morning, 12 hours after he parachuted out 30 miles off the eastern English coast.

Since then day and night searches in bad weather by more than a score of planes and ships have failed to spot him again. One ship spotted a distress flare late Thursday but there was no sign of the dinghy when it got to the spot.

Urge Support Of Water Amendment

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—A telegram sent to Houston's three newspapers by 30 South and Central Texas mayors urging support of the water constitutional amendment was publicized today by Gov. Price Daniel's office.

The amendment is No. 3 on the ballot Tuesday.

Signers included W. F. Newton of Conroe.

PUEBLA, Mexico, Nov. 2 (AP)—Every week for 30 years Emilio Tamas has played the national lottery, buying the same number each time. It finally paid off this week, the first prize of $30,000.

Favors New Curbs On Union Busting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the Senate rackets investigation has shown a need for tougher laws to punish union busting tactics by employers and their agents.

Postal Receipts Fall In October

Postal receipts for the month of October sagged from the figures for the same month in 1956.

Elmar Botler, Big Spring postmaster, said that the total receipts for the month were $21,632.28. This compares with $24,147.28 in October 1956—a loss of $2,514.98.

The year's total for the first 10 months also shows a slight decline over the same period last year. The total for the current year through October is $221,813.13 as compared with $222,043.60 in 1956. This is a drop of $230.47.

Botler said that he blamed the $2,000 decrease shown in October mostly to the abolition of postal meters at the Webb Air Force Base and return by that installation to widespread use of "franked" mail.

Up to Oct. 1, he said, the air base has used postage on its mail and on that date began sending official communications on "free" rating. The base postal expenses prior to Oct. 1, he said, had averaged more than $2,000 a month. This was included in the revenue of the local office.

Grants Made To Law Enforcement

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—A grant providing scholarships to the Institute of Law Enforcement was made today at the Southwestern Legal Center.

Billy Crum of Kilgore said a $750 grant had been made to the Texas law enforcement foundation, earmarked for the recently established police school. He said funds for full-tuition scholarships to the institute's forthcoming two weeks course on police administration were given by the Diamond M. Foundation headed by C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder.

Librarians Elect Angelo Women To District Posts

Ruth Gray, librarian at the San Angelo Junior College, was elected chairman of the District III Texas Library Association at the annual meeting here Saturday.

She succeeds J. P. Vagt, Howard County Junior College librarian.

Mrs. T. C. Tunnell, San Angelo High School librarian, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Next meeting of the district group will be in San Angelo. It was also decided at the meeting to have a workshop session, probably to run for two days, sometime in 1958 and that this will also be in the Tom Green County seat.

The association appointed a committee to investigate the feasibility of the district sponsoring an annual scholarship for some youngster to enroll in college to study library. The committee will determine what can be worked out and report later on its findings.

Forty librarians and their assistants from half a score of West Texas counties were in Big Spring for the meeting.

The morning business session heard an address by Bess Ann Motley, director of the Texas Rural Library Association. She reviewed the program the state is carrying out with the federal agencies to implement library services in counties where such facilities are now limited or lacking.

At the noon luncheon, F. E. Hightower, public relations man for the General Telephone Co., was the speaker. He discussed public relations as it applies to the libraries.

Ira Shantz and Jack Hendrix of the Howard County Junior College, were presented in a musical feature at the luncheon.

Mayor G. W. Dabney welcomed the visitors to Big Spring. Invocation at the morning meeting was by Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of H.C.J.C.

At 2 p.m. the libraries in the courthouse, the junior college, the junior and senior high school, the Webb Air Force Base and at the Veterans Administration Hospital opened their doors to the visitors for inspection.

$360,000 Posted For Howard Roads

Six road projects in Howard County involving expenditure of $360,000, are calendared by the State Highway Commission in its new program.

Mike Roberts, district engineer, Abilene, advised R. H. Weaver, county judge, on Friday that the program for the county has been approved.

Four of the jobs tabulated are on the 1958 farm-to-market agreement which that $189,000 is immediate start, provided right way is insured and planning completed.

One of these is the much discussed FM 700 project in south Big Spring.

Weaver said that Roberts informed him that $189,000 is immediately available for the building of this 4.3 mile road.

The only contingent standing in the way is the requirement that right of way be secured and donated to the state.

The county has pledged that it will provide right of way. The road will extend eastward from U. S. 87 along a route which will take it through the south and east edges of the town to connect with U. S. 80 to the east of the city.

Obtaining right of way for this job, Weaver pointed out, must be pushed at top speed. Official route for the road has been staked by state highway engineers. Some discussion has been under way between the state and the county on this route—the county having suggested an alternate route which would have made right of way less costly. The state insists that the road follow the route which has been surveyed.

"This is one of the most important road jobs the county and city has had in several years," Weaver declared. "It is imperative that we move at top speed to provide the needed easements. It is possible that we can acquire the land at less cost than had at first been expected but regardless negotiations with the landowners will have to be pushed at top speed."

This project calls for a total $286,000 expenditure by the state, Roberts told Weaver that the additional money above the $189,000 already earmarked would be available when it is needed.

The state originally asked for a 300-foot right of way but has since agreed that 200 feet will be adequate. The state will build a two-lane paved road on the route at this time and has agreed to build a parallel two-lane slab in the future.

HYMAN ROAD EXTENSION

The second road job which is now on the "green light" under the new schedule announced by Roberts is on the so-called "Hyman road." This is described officially as 2.6 miles of grading, structures and paving south of U. S. 80 11 miles on the Chalk road, and extending east to the Mitchell County line. A total of $47,000 is earmarked for this job. Officials said that this segment of highway is important in that it will tie into a Mitchell County road which is already paved. Officially the route is designated as FM 2183.

The four FM jobs docketed for the county on the 1958 program—Roberts said there was no reason these could not be started in early spring—include 6.5 miles of rehabilitation work on FM 846 from the Martin County line to U. S. 87. This is a road originally built by the county and then taken over by the state.

It is popularly known as the Knott road and the state has set up $94,000 for its reconstruction. The state has earmarked $15,000 for drainage structure and new approaches on FM 2032, at a point four miles east of Luther. Also on FM 2032, the state proposes to spend $6,000 on a mile of road for Luther for reconstruction of grade, structures and paving.

On State 87, near the Martin County line at the Sulphur Draw, the state will spend $19,000 for drainage structures and approaches.

SMOOT IN CHARGE

Joe H. Smoot will be in charge of the work in this area, Roberts announced. Roberts also said that the new projects announced are in addition to regular construction and maintenance activities in the county.

The jobs are part of a program involving 183 Texas counties and requiring $20 million slated for farm-to-market road improvement in 1958.

This money is to be spent for shoulder widening, seal coating, additional surfacing and for widening of structures and roads.

County officials were alerted at the announcement Howard County is to be so generously favored by the state in the 1958 program.

However, in view of the urgency of the issue, major attention is to be concentrated on speeding up acquisition of right of way for the FM 700 job above all others. It is likely that most of the meeting of the Howard County Commissioners on Monday will be devoted to discussion of this problem.

National ABC Officer Speaks At Club Meeting

Duffy McKeel of Odessa, whom Clyde McMahon introduced as "the next president of the National American Business Club," was a guest at the ABC luncheon held here Friday at the Settles Hotel.

McKeel is now first vice president of the organization. In a short talk, McKeel lauded the local club for its work in the Living Endowment program and cited the nationwide American Business Club growth. He revealed six new clubs had been organized since the national convention, the latest of which is in Albuquerque, N. M., where two former members of the local ABC—J. B. Winton and Sherman Cowan—are active in a membership drive.

Capt. Lloyd George of Odessa and Lt. Fred Overton of Big Spring, both of the Salvation Army, were among other guests at the luncheon.

Knight Keeps Silent About Senate Race

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP)—A complete blackout settled today over the political whodunit revolving around Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and his role in California's turbulent 1956 election campaign.

Gromyko Says Syria Still Is Under Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said today Syria is still in danger from Turkish troop concentrations on her border.

He also declared, in a statement issued by his U. N. delegation, that "Syria would not be alone in her struggle if she were attacked."

The statement broke the silence Gromyko had kept since Soviet Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev Tuesday night went to a Moscow Turkish Embassy party as a "gesture toward peace" and said, "There will be no war."

Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar told a news conference yesterday Khrushchev's remark did not put his mind at ease. He said Turkish troops on Syria's border still endangered her.

Bitar spoke a few hours after the U. N. General Assembly laid aside Syria's complaint that Turkish forces were massed on the frontier for imminent attack.

Gromyko, echoing Bitar's thoughts, said, "The danger which Syria faces has not yet been removed. The Turkish troops concentrated near the border are not withdrawn."

Another Soviet delegate said Gromyko, who has been heading the Soviet delegation to the Assembly, probably would leave tomorrow for Moscow.

MEN IN SERVICE

Army Pvt. Gerald Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deen Davis, Lamesa, recently completed six months active duty under the Reserve Forces Act program. Davis took his training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

He is a former student at Lamesa High School.

George McNallen, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. McNallen, 1700 Purdue, returned to San Diego, Calif., last month aboard the destroyer, USS Ingersoll, after a six-month tour of duty in the Pacific and Far East.

He is an interior communications electrician, 3rd class. During the cruise, McNallen visited Pearl Harbor, the Fiji Islands, Australia, Guam, Hong Kong, Formosa, Midway, and Japan.

Panel Will Screen Revaluation Offers

A special committee representing the city, county, and school board will meet next week to study proposals received from three valuation firms. The proposals concern a general tax revaluation survey for Howard County.

On the committee are two representatives from each of the three governing bodies.

Over a month ago, six valuation firms in Texas were notified about the survey here, and H. W. Whitney, city manager, who has been acting as corresponding secretary for the committee, asked that the firms submit a proposal by Nov. 1 (last Friday).

Only four have replied — three submitting proposals, and one reporting it had too many commitments to handle the job.

G. E. Gilliam, county commissioner, is chairman of the committee, and others on it are County Commissioner Hudson Landers, City Commissioners Curtis Driver and Roy Bruce, and School Trustee Robert Stripping and Omar Jones.

Gilliam said Saturday he would try to get the committee together early this week to screen the proposals.

After the committee screens the three offers, the matter will be referred to the three governing bodies for separate ratification.

Then when and if the three approve the firm—a complete valuation of property and land values will be taken.

The city and school board first decided to undertake the survey, and then the county elected to join in preliminary investigations.

Before the county came in on it, the city and school board had worked out an agreement for equal payment of charges inside the city limits and the school would handle all fees for the remainder of the work.

Some of the leaders of the United Fund employe solicitation at the Cosden refinery hear a report from Otto Peters Jr. of one of the most successful UF efforts ever conducted there. Cosden employes have contributed more than $6,000 to the fund, helping the Employee Division of the campaign to be the first to reach its quota. Seated, left to right, are Peters, C. C. Ryan Jr., W. H. Patterson, A. W. Reed and Phillip Palmer. Standing, from left, are Floyd Young, C. E. Gressett, B. B. Smith Jr., J. C. Cox, Kenneth Howze and Charles Bailey. Sees All-Out Battle Over Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today he fears the next session of Congress may be practically immobilized by pressing domestic and foreign problems by renewed controversy over civil rights.

Fulbright, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and chairman of the Banking Committee, said in an interview he looks for introduction of a series of bills aimed at enforcing racial integration in the schools and public places throughout the South.

"I am afraid that if this course is followed Congress is going to be practically immobilized while we have another battle over civil rights," he said.

"We have some vastly more important things to do than to spend our time wrangling over civil rights, including catching up with the Russians' Sputnik and their missile developments."

"I would hate to think that such important chairmen as Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) would be forced to divide their attention between the nation's military needs and the civil rights controversy, but it looks as if that is what might happen."

The two Georgians head the Armed Services Committees of their respective houses. Both are all-out opponents of civil rights legislation.

Fulbright did not comment on President Eisenhower's use of federal troops in the Little Rock, Ark., Central High School integration dispute. But Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said that situation was one that would have to be reckoned with.

"I hope we'll digest our present position," he said.

Council Calls For Changes In Immigration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Demoskratis Advisory Council today urged a "broad new program of immigration laws and policies."

It also called for laws to clear up the status of Hungarian refugees in the United States.

The Council said the refugees were brought here "by uncertain fiat and left to an uncertain future" by the Eisenhower administration.

It accused the President of failure to furnish any real leadership on the immigration question and said "nothing of real consequence" has been done during his administration.

The Council statement was authorized at its Oct. 19-20 meeting and made public today. It was prepared by Gov. Averell Harrison of New York; Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee; Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's presidential candidate in the last two elections; Gov. A. Glenn Williams of Michigan; and former Solicitor Gen. Phillip B. Perlman.

On the question of Hungarian refugees, the statement said: "There are still refugees in the camps who have not found permanent homes. Our fortunate country should gladly do its part in taking care of the comparative small number of worthy refugees who remain unsettled."

The Council called for a magnanimous national refugee policy to prepare this country for crises similar to that arising from the Hungarian revolt. It said the United States has lost much of the credit due for what it has done for the refugees "because of our piecemeal and inadequate approach."

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller said today he will not be surprised if the Russians hit the moon on Nov. 7 and "they may even put a red star on it."

Dr. Teller, nuclear scientist called the father of the hydrogen bomb, said the Russians may shoot a missile at the moon on the 40th anniversary of the Red Revolution.

"They may put a red spot on it. They may even put a red star on it," Dr. Teller told a conference of elementary school science teachers at San Francisco State College.

"We are so behaving that without any doubt we shall stay ahead of the Russians in football," he declared.

Check Blanks Are Stolen In Midland

Business operators here were warned Saturday to guard against acceptance of checks stolen from two Midland firms Friday night.

Check blanks were stolen from the Jack Landern Construction Co. and the Producers Salvage and Supply Co. of Midland. Landern's "check protector" machine also was taken.

Numbers of the printed checks were not known, but all named the First National Bank of Midland as paying agency.

16 Brave Explorers Taking One Of Last Land Adventures

The South Pole, of course, has been conquered before. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian, was the first, getting there Dec. 14, 1911.

Adm. Richard E. Byrd's arrival Nov. 29, 1929—by plane.

For the British Commonwealth expedition there is no old-time mush-mush-mush on snow shoes and dog sleds. Behind Fuchs and Hillary are years of planning and modern equipment.

The men are making the trek in snowcats and weasels, names of modern machines designed to beat the snow, bogs, glaciers, howling winds and crippling cold. Two airplanes are aiding the undertaking.

Dogs and sleds are going along as cargo to be used in side trips.

"No particular drama is planned for the arrival at the pole," said Rear Adm. C. R. L. Paery (ret.), secretary of the expedition.

"Our chaps will probably stop off and drink a drink with the American chaps there. I doubt if there'll be anything more."

Hillary's trip was the first since 1911 to retraced Scott's steps, known to explorers as the "worst journey in the world."

It took Hillary and his companions about 48 hours to reach the stone shelter in tractors. It took Scott several months.

While the first aim of the expedition is to cross Antarctica, important scientific objectives also are sought.

The men in charge expect to complete topographical and geological surveys as well as physiological and meteorological exploration that should prove highly valuable to shipping, aviation and whaling in the Southern Hemisphere.

It is hoped that their glaciological program—which includes measurement of the thickness of the ice cap—will throw further light on the conflicting theories about this great land mass.

One theory is that the Weddell Sea and the Ross Sea are joined by water beneath the ice cap and the South Pole is in reality not one continent but two.

Another theory contends the Andean mountain chain continues through South America to re-emerge as antarctic mountains and thence up into the polar plateau.

The route of the great trek has already been plotted by air reconnaissance in two long-range flights.

Supply depots have been set up at two spots along the great trek. One is between Weddell Sea and the South Pole.

The other is between the pole and Ross Sea.

Tremendous heights lie along the plotted route. The Fuchs group will pass beside 14,826-foot Mt. Kirkpatrick on the Queen Alexandra Range before getting to 15,100-foot Mt. Markham.

Clothes Are Stolen From Base Laundry

A large supply of clothes disappeared from the Air Base Laundry Friday night.

Barbara Lewis, 1623 E. 3rd, told police she washed her clothes, put them in a dryer and went outside to get a soft drink. When she returned, the clothes were gone.

In the list of clothes were six sheets, four pillow cases, a dress, three shirts, four blouses, and a pair of pajamas.

Merger Under Consideration By Two Largest Railroads

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—The two largest railroads in the United States, buffeted by economic storms, are huddling on a possible merger. The Pennsylvania and the New York Central electrified the railroad industry yesterday by announcing they had initiated studies pointing toward consolidating into one system. Behind that blunt announcement were several economic facts which have plagued the two giant rails with increasing intensity since the end of World War II. Air, barge and auto competition is increasing. Earnings are declining. Tight money has made it difficult for the roads to borrow to acquire needed new equipment. Further, the future is hazy. The nation is embarking on a vast national highway program. The St. Lawrence Seaway, offer-

Westmoreland of Houston will call the main meeting of the week, the Baptist General Convention of Texas, to order at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. The BGCT sessions will continue through Thursday night, with evangelist Billy Graham giving the closing address.

Russell Blasts USIS Reports On Race Issue

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—The U.S. Information Service has been charged by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) with failing to give the colored peoples of Asia and Africa the true story of Negro life in America. The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee claimed in a speech to the Georgia School Board Assn. last night that instead tax money has been used to create antagonism toward this country. He urged that the service concentrate on showing that American Negroes have good schools, well paid teachers, automobiles, television sets and other luxuries.

Report That Gomez Back In City Fizzles

Sheriff Miller Harris said Saturday that a report that V. A. Gomez, under indictment here for an embezzlement, had returned to Big Spring Friday night failed to pan out and the search for the widely-known Spanish-American resident continues. Harris said that relatives of the man have been reported as having been in contact with him, but officially his whereabouts is still unknown. Gomez was indicted by the grand jury last week on charges that he embezzled merchandise allegedly stolen from the Saunders Co., a wholesale plumbing and building supply firm. He disappeared before the grand jury reported. A warrant has been issued for his arrest and a statewide search has been launched. Bond was set at $5,000 in his case by Judge Charlie Sullivan, 18th District Court, when the grand jury returned the indictment against him. Gomez was one of three persons indicted for a long series of alleged thefts and embezzlements perpetrated against the Saunders Co. The two others, LeRoy Wright and Hubert Dyer, are at liberty. They posted bonds when the indictments were returned against them.

Miller Harris, sheriff, is to get his stolen hub caps back. Rather, let it be said, he is to get four Ford hubcaps which he insists are the ones that pranksters lifted off one of the official sheriff's cars on Halloween night. Miller said that the four hubcaps in a sack were unceremoniously dumped in a yard near Coahoma. The resident reported it to officers. Grover Coates, constable, picked up the four hubcaps and brought them to the city jail. Harris planned to claim the articles. Harris said that somehow he suspects that the whole thing is a "put up" job but that, just so he gets the hubcaps back, he doesn't intend to investigate any further.

B-E Day Planning To Be Completed By C-C Board

Plans for observance of Business-Education Day Nov. 13 will be completed Monday at a meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors. The group will meet at noon in the Permian Building. Wayne Smith, C.C. manager, said directors also will hear a report from their nominating committee and a discussion of county road and airport programs from County Judge R. H. Weaver.

Sheriff 'Recovers' Stolen Hub Caps

Business-Education Day is sponsored by the Chamber in cooperation with schools of Howard County as a feature of American Education Week. Throughout the day, teachers from all of the schools in the county will be invited to be guests of businessmen for a look at the operational side of business and industry. Plans now call for a briefing session for the business hosts on Nov. 12. Schools will be dismissed for the observance on Nov. 13. Holdover directors of the Chamber make up the committee to choose candidates for 1958 places on the board. They have drawn up a list of 45 persons they will propose as director candidates. If the list is approved, it will go on a ballot for distribution to Chamber members for election of 15 directors.

Clergymen Appeal For Racial Peace

ATLANTA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Seventy-four Protestant Atlanta clergymen joined today in a statement on race relations calling for obedience to law, preservation of public schools, protection of free speech and maintenance of communication between white and Negro leaders. The ministers, all white, also vigorously decried the idea that school integration would lead to physical amalgamation of the races—a key argument of the segregationists. The group advanced a sweeping declaration of principles in an interdenominational action without close parallel since the Supreme Court's outlawing of segregation in public schools showed racial relations painfully to the fore in the South.

TOP MAN ON THE TOTAL POLE

A total of almost $10,000,000,000 was spent for advertising last year... and nearly a third of it was spent in daily newspapers. $3,235,600,000, to be exact.

That's more money in newspapers than ever before... more than in any other medium... more than in TV, radio, magazines and outdoor combined. And 1956 wasn't unusual.

Every year, newspapers are on top of the total pole. The reason is simple. For results, newspapers can't be topped. Use the daily newspaper as your basic advertising medium. Most advertisers do. The final totals for 1956:

Newspapers ... $3,235,600,000
Television $1,209,900,000 | Magazines $794,700,000
Radio $570,700,000 | Outdoor $199,600,000

NATO May Free Germany To Construct A-Weapons

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The NATO summit meeting in Paris next month will consider releasing Germany from a pledge against making atomic weapons, according to reports circulating in Britain today. The reports said the 15 government heads, including President Eisenhower, will also debate whether Germany—maker of the dreaded V-rockets of World War

II—should be permitted to go back to making guided missiles. Both atomic weapons and guided missiles were forbidden under the 1954 Paris treaty which brought Germany back into the Western defense plan as a member of the Western European Union. Diplomatic informants said both pledges will now be re-examined in the light of the Western theme of interdependence against Russia's growing war potential as demonstrated by Sputnik and the intercontinental ballistic missile. (ICBM). The first indication of Germany's possible role in the Western drive to catch up with Russia turned up in the British press today in what seemed a deliberate government leak apparently aimed at testing public reaction in Britain. Diplomatic sources confirmed that the defense role of Germany as well as those of all other NATO nations will be re-examined in the unprecedented summit meeting in Paris. They said the meeting will have two primary purposes: 1. To ensure the maximum cooperation of all members in the drive to catch up with and surpass Russia's military achievements. 2. To agree on a formula of shared responsibility which would guarantee against any misuse of nuclear and atomic weapons. Informants said the ticklish matter of fitting Germany into this program was discussed in Washington by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Although Germany would have access to atomic secrets in return for her contribution to the scientific effort, these sources said it was not expected that Germany would be permitted to become a nuclear power in her own right.

It's Campus Homecoming For Old Grad Eisenhower

WEST POINT, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—An old grad named Eisenhower relived happy days of his youth today by rooting for the Army team and visiting his old quarters at the U.S. Military Academy. The President of the United States was here largely to see the Army-Colgate football game but he took the occasion also for a nostalgic tour of scenes he knew as a cadet in the Class of 1915. Prior to the game, he dropped in on a class of military history for 30 minutes. The President sat at a front row desk and listened intently as cadets argued the campaigns at Antietam-Sharpshurg and Harper's Ferry. He occasionally whispered comments to officials. The President also visited the old north barracks where he lived as a plebe in 1911—46 years ago. He looked into a first-floor room just inside the doorway and remarked that he had occupied those quarters when he first arrived at West Point. Eisenhower exercised an informal prerogative accorded visiting heads of state by asking—and getting—amnesty for cadets facing disciplinary measures. Approximately 100 cadets benefited. Those under court-martial were not included in the request. He also attended a ceremony in which a $14,000 granite monument and drinking fountain was presented to the Academy as a gift from the Class of 1915. His wife, clad in a mink fur coat, wine-colored dress and a small hat of matching color, unveiled the monument.

Farm Bureau Leader Backs Bond Proposal

Ralph White of Coahoma, president of the Howard County Farm Bureau, Saturday issued an appeal for all Farm Bureau members to vote for Proposition No. 3 on the general election ballot Tuesday.

The proposal involves a constitutional amendment which would permit the state to issue bonds, proceeds of which could be loaned to communities to help finance water development projects.

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation supported the proposed amendment in the last Legislature, White pointed out. "We opposed the state ad valorem tax plan, but felt that the bond issue arrangement would be fair to everyone," the local farm leader said. "I want to urge all Farm Bureau members to go to the polls Tuesday and vote for the amendment."

The Howard County Farm Bureau now has 653 members. White said the group closed out their fiscal year Thursday, exceeding the 650-member goal which had been established for the period.

College Branch In San Antonio

BELTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Mary Hardin-Baylor College has been invited to establish a branch in San Antonio, Dr. A. R. Tyson said today.

The junior college branch will open in 1963 and be under the jurisdiction of Mary Hardin-Baylor. It will be named Bexar Baptist College.

Dr. Tyson is a Baptist leader in San Antonio.

Charles Myers, Air Training Command chief, came here to present the base with the Air Force's top flying safety trophy. Gen. Myers also commended Webb personnel for an outstanding ground safety program.

Second AF World-Wide Honor Won By Webb AFB Personnel

A third top Air Force honor came to Webb AFB Friday (1 November) only a few days after the base received a trophy for the Air Force's best Flying Safety record and the Ground Safety record was a subject for commendation by the commanding general of Air Training Command.

A plaque denoting first place, world-wide, in the "Department of the Air Force Achievement Award for the Civilian Suggestions Program for 1957" was presented to Col. Kyle L. Riddle, base commander, by Maj. Gen. Henry R. Spicer, commander of Flying Training Air Force. The general flew to Webb Friday in an F-86 from his headquarters at Randolph AFB, San Antonio. Along with the engraved silver trophy, he brought warm letters of congratulations from all higher levels of Command.

The cover-letters of appreciation and attached certificates also lauded Webb as top in both Flying Training Air Force and Air Training Command, as well as in the capping category of "Air Force, World-Wide." The letters were endorsed, at base level, to Warren A. Farrow, civilian personnel officer, whose energetic efforts have been in large measure responsible for the suggestions program's success.

All civilian workers are urged constantly to submit all ideas which may possibly make for efficiency and saving of money in performance of their jobs. Those made by Webb civilian personnel, and approved as feasible during the period of this award, will save an estimated $82,620 in government funds during the first year they are in effect.

A remarkable 95.07 per cent "participation rate" was achieved among Webb's civilian workers, in winning this first place; the next highest score in the Air Force was 81.13 per cent.

The certificates received showed that Webb actually won in two categories: (1) Highest rate of participation during Fiscal Year 1957, and (2) Greatest increase in participation during that period.

Farrow said that he wished to pass along the credit to the personnel whose suggestions made the winning total, and to the members of the Base Incentive Awards Committee. This group is composed of:

Maj. Robert W. Wilcox, chairman; Capt. Lewis E. Smith, WVO; James W. Farris, WO; Thomas J. Bauch, James W. Moring, Joseph F. Hinton, Joe B. Neely, Frank C. Perry, Anon D. Jones, Hugo G. Campbell, Gilbert Webb and Mrs. Vada I. Perring, executive secretary.

No Interest Is Shown In Election

Even the precinct judges are apparently not interested in Tuesday's election.

The Howard County clerk's office, normally closed on Saturday, remained open all day yesterday. The object was as a convenience to precinct judges from the 16 voting boxes who might be in town and want to pick up their election supplies for next Tuesday's voting.

One judge—E. L. Bynum, Center Point—showed up. He took charge of Box No. 11. Two deputies remained on duty all day, looking gloomily out of the windows and hoping for some business to develop.

Only five absentee votes were cast when the absentee voting period came to a close on Friday afternoon.

Three constitutional amendments are at stake on the ballot Tuesday. All of the county's 16 regular voting places will be open for business. Five thousand ballots have been printed.

Election judges are warned that they must pick up their boxes and supplies on Monday. The election boxes must open at the scheduled hour on Tuesday.

Five Injured In Mitchell Mishap

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 2—Five Snyder youngsters were injured in an accident five miles east of Colorado City Friday afternoon when their pickup truck was struck by an automobile and overturned. Dewey Reap, 15, suffered a concussion and multiple abrasions and is hospitalized in the Root Memorial Hospital. Shaken up, scratched and bruised, were Jesse Kelley, 14, Ollie McKeown, 15, Calvin Davis, 15, and Travis Morgan, 17. Lacy Charles Purcell, 33, of Abilene, the driver of the automobile, was shaken up.

Lamesa Church To Celebrate Golden Anniversary Today

LAMESA, Nov. 2—The Lamesa Church of Christ will observe its Golden Anniversary with homecoming services Sunday.

In addition to the regular morning and evening worship services, O. H. Tabor, a former minister, will be the special speaker at services at 3 p.m. Former members and friends of the church are invited to attend a luncheon at Lamar Forest Community Center at noon Sunday.

The Lamesa Church of Christ first met here in the Frank Corner home, then moved to the courthouse and the school before purchasing its present property in 1907. In 1911 a 28 by 50 frame building was constructed. At present, the membership is about 650.

D-Day For Davis

J. B. Davis, hard-running sophomore of the Big Spring Steers (No. 23), is shown being congratulated by his teammates after arriving at the bench following his sensational 92-yard touchdown run following a kickoff return against Odessa here Friday night. Odessa won the game, 27-18. J. B. also distinguished himself in running from formation for the locals.

Rice Owls Walloped By Auburn Slams Florida, 13-0

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Harvey White, 200-pound sophomore quarterback from Greenwood, S.C., threw two fourth down touchdown passes tonight in leading the ball-controlling Clemson Tigers to a 20-7 intercollegiate football victory over the Rice Institute Owls.

Clemson, a 12-point underdog, spotted Rice a touchdown lead and then struck back with long scoring drives that covered 71, 72 and 89 yards. The three drives consumed over one-third of the game's playing time. White, operating with Clemson's second unit, struck with ground plays until the Rice defense threatened to stop Tiger scores in the second and third period.

RAZORBACKS LOSE 7-6 THRILLER TO AGGIES

By KEITH FULLER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 2 (AP)—Massive John Crow, Texas A&M tank-like halfback, tore through a determined Arkansas line on a 12-yard touchdown run to give the Nation's No. 1 football team a slim 7-6 victory over the die-hard Arkansas Razorbacks today.

Christians Tip Baylor, 19 - 6

WACO, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—Texas Christian's huge line beat the Baylor Bears into the ground 19-6 today in a battle of last January's Sugar and Cotton Bowl champions.

It was an upset of sorts—Baylor had been favored by a timid single point to win.

Jim Shofner, the hard running senior, was the star for Texas Christian, scoring twice.

One Shofner dash was for 27 yards with only 2 minutes 8 seconds remaining, and that ripped up any chances Baylor might have had to pull the game out of the ashes.

Baylor's Larry Hickman tore holes in the Horned Frog line, but frustrating fumbles stopped all the Baylor drives except one.

Hickman tallied on that, going over from one yard out in the third quarter after helping set it up with a bruising dash of 29 yards.

The other TCU score was made by quarterback Dick Finney over the backs of his own line from one inch from the scoring stripe. Shofner made the first run for TCU—and of the game—when he took a Finney pitchout and skirted end for 6 yards.

Jack Spikes made the game's only conversion—following Finney's one-inch leap.

Both teams earlier suffered two conference defeats and were out of competition for the title. Texas Christian now has a 4-2-1 record and Baylor 3-4-0.

It was a particularly disappointing defeat for Baylor—believed by most experts as the top contender for the conference crown before the season opened.

The contest was played in hot, humid weather until the beginning of the fourth quarter, when a strong, cold norther blew in. Rain started falling as the timekeeper's final gun sounded.

Sooners Squeeze By K-State, 13-0

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Oklahoma Sooners, anything but mighty today, sweated out a 13-0 victory over a souped-up Kansas State football team that battled its heart out for an upset.

The Sooners, rated second nationally, struck for a touchdown in the second quarter and another in the third as they racked up their 40th consecutive victory before a slim gathering of 15,000 on a cold, cloudy day.

Kansas State, with a mediocre 2-4-1 record, played Oklahoma to 0-0 first quarter tie and refused to let the roof fall in at any time.

Syracuse Upsets Panthers, 24-21

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2 (AP)—Sophomore tackle Al Gerlick kicked a 22-yard field goal with less than 3 minutes remaining for an upset 24-21 football victory by Syracuse today over highly rated Pitt. It was the first field goal by Syracuse in nine years under Coach Ben Schwartzwalder.

Gerlick, an 18-year-old from Campbell, Ohio, also kicked three conversions. The field goal was the first ever attempted by Gerlick in either high school or college.

Kansas State frequently moved the ball between the 35-yard stripes and reached the Oklahoma 27 late in the third period before the Sooners, led by guard Bill Krisher, blanketed the attack.

Oklahoma picked up 232 yards rushing but, as in the case of Kansas State's 120 yards, most of the ball moving was well away from scoring territory.

There were no long splarkers in this one.

Okla. State Defeats Tech First Time Since '45, 13-0

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 2 (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Dick Soergel passed to one touchdown and plunged for another to give Oklahoma State a 13-0 homecoming victory over Texas Tech today.

The triumph was especially sweet for the Cowboys, who hadn't defeated Tech since 1945. It also was OSU's fifth game without a defeat after losing its opener this season to Arkansas 12-0.

Tech's deepest penetrations came in the second half. Twice the Red Raiders moved to the OSU six-yard line but were held on downs both times.

OSU held a slight edge in statistics but Tech kept the pressure on throughout the game and even as the clock ran out was trying to keep from being blanked.

The Cowboys, second in the nation in total defense, allowed Tech 153 yards rushing and 98 passing.

OSU made 220 yards on the ground and 79 through the air.

In the middle of the last quarter, Tech's Bentley recovered Jim Wiggins' fumble on his 34 and the Red Raiders marched 60 yards before being held on downs on the OSU six. A minute later Tech got the ball again on the Cowboy 44 and moved again to the six but OSU's line stiffened on fourth down.

State had several scoring opportunities that were turned back by the hard-hitting Tech line. The Red Raiders fumbled on the first play after the opening kickoff and OSU's John Calvin recovered on the 26. The Cowboys moved to the 13 but missed a first down by one inch.

At the start of the second quarter, State moved to the Tech 26 where the teams exchanged fumbles. Soergel then unfurled a pass that was intercepted by Tech quarterback Jerry Bell on his 12.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring will play seven home football games in 1958, and could have booked eight. The Steers open against San Antonio Edison here the night of Sept. 12, play Ysleta here Sept. 19. Snyder here Sept. 26, visit Sweetwater Oct. 3, come home with Lamesa Oct. 10, meet El Paso Austin here Oct. 17, then head into conference play Oct. 24. Edison replaces Andrews on the Longhorn schedule while Ysleta takes the spot vacated by Levelland and El Paso Austin steps in for Kermit. Edison is a perennial toughie who went to the AAA finals last year, is now an AAAA school. Either San Antonio Brackenridge or San Antonio Hillcrest will replace Edison on the Bovines' 1959 schedule. The seven games are the most home contests ever booked for a local club. Sweetwater was obligated to come here but Coach Al Milch volunteered to take the Steers back to Mustang Bowl. The District 2 AAAA executive committee meets at the Police Building here Tuesday to draft a 1958 schedule and Milch is going to argue against his club opening against Abilene every year, as well as the other clubs picking their Thanksgiving Day opponents. He contends the fact that the Steers being made to close the second weekend in November gives the other teams ten more days of practice a year than the locals get. In Abilene's case, it amounts upwards to six weeks' more football a year, since the Eagles usually hit the playoffs. Some fellows carry horseshoes in their pockets. Like Johnny Vaught, head coach at Ole Miss, recently willed $21,000 by a deceased benefactor of the school, Robert Carrier. John Krider, president of a Class D baseball league in Florida, says he'll campaign to have the batter given two strikes rather than three and reduce the "ball" calls by one in efforts to speed up the game. The Midland race horse enthusiast, Ralph Lowe, will send part of his stable to New Orleans next season.

ROGER FLOWERS

Malouf 11th Leading HSU Rusher

Look for some grappler named Joe Sputnik to make his appearance in an American ring soon. The wrestling crowd, ever on the lookout for angles that will attract people through the box office, are seeking a person who will agree to wear such a handle. . . . Mitchell Malouf, the assistant football coach here, is the 11th leading ground gainer in Hardin-Simmons football history, having picked up 668 yards in 155 carries during the 1952 team. . . . First is Midland's Dunny Goodie, who gained 1,399 yards in 270 tries in '51. . . . Carmen Basilio's doctor, who keeps a count, says the middleweight boxing champion has been administered no fewer than 100 stitches during his ring career. . . . Bill Scott, the HSU basketball coach here, is a former Mexican A&M on Charles Clark, the Big Spring czar. It's not too early for local officials to start shopping around for football play-off games this year. . . . Big Spring played host to the Merkel-Sundown contest last year. If Merkel cops its district title, as it is expected to do, the Badger mentor.

Carroll Benson, probably would be receptive to a proposal to play here and he's got the kind of ball club that should draw in the fans. . . . The Midland High School basketball team is going to have to get along without 6-foot-5 Mike Marsh, a sophomore who paced the Midland freshmen to an undefeated season last year. . . . Mike and his family moved away during the summer time. . . . New York City will have no July 4 big league baseball booking in 1958, the first time that has happened in the sport's history. . . . James Hofa, the controversial head of the International Teamsters' Union, is supposed to have offered ex-champion Joe Louis a lucrative public relations job within his organization. . . . Did you hear about the coach who said his team was so slow it probably wouldn't catch the Asian flu until December? . . . Nick Pletyosante, one of the Irish's better ball carriers, has been performing for Notre Dame for six seasons. . . . He played his prep ball at Notre Dame High in West Haven, Conn.

Steers To Be Thin Again In 1958

Johnny Johnson, the Big Spring High School basketball coach, has lost at least one player of first string potential every year since he arrived on the scene. . . . The latest, of course, was Harold Wilde, the 6-foot-6 lad who went into the Armed Forces. . . . Before that, it was Jimmy Bice (1956-57), Jim Kimbrell (55-56), and Charles Saunders (54-55). . . . Spec Gammon, the Odessa writer, says Buddy White is the finest fullback he's ever seen perform for the Odessa Bronchos and Spec has been in Odessa since 1950. . . . About the best compliment I ever heard passed on Paul (Bear) Bryant, whom I regard as the finest football mentor ever to work in the Southwest Conference, was rendered by a one-time Aggie regular. . . . Said he: "He can take his boys and beat your boys or take your boys and beat his boys." . . . The Big Spring Steer graders will be bothered with a lack of depth again next season. Coach Al Milch plans to move back Roger Flowers to end in the spring. . . . Flowers in 11 cases would team with Benny McCrary at the terminal posts. . . . Chubby Moser, Kenny Johnson, Dennis Holmes and Roy Deel will be back to play tackle. . . . It'll probably be Bud Bridges and Franklin Williams at guards, Bobby McDonald at center, Bill French at quarterback, Buddy Barnes or Ronnie White at tailback, J. B. Davis at wingback and Wayne Fields at fullback. . . . White, by the way, is a fine track prospect, can really zip in the sprints. . . . When the transplanted Texan, Jim Davis, inhaled a pass for Oklahoma against Texas recently, it marked the first time he had ever turned the trick, either in high school or college. . . . He's a one-time all-state center for Tyler, where he and his boys and beat your boys or take your boys and beat his boys." . . . The Big Spring Steer graders will be bothered with a lack of depth again next season. Coach Al Milch plans to move

Up And Over For Jan

Big Jan Loudermilk (44) is shown helping himself to his second touchdown in the Big Spring-Odessa football game here Friday night, though he has to play 'ante-over' to get it. Knox Pitzer (20) and Benny Edwards (80) help clear the way for him and James Ingram (15) and David Purser (59) of Odessa try to apply the brakes. Odessa won, 27-18.

Steers Scare Hosses Before Losing, 27-18

Only to have Ingram return the ball to Big Spring's 28. White again made good on the point try and Odessa led, 27-6. It appeared all over but for

DUKE VICTIM OF ENGINEERS
ATLANTA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Striking by land and air, Georgia Tech slammed Duke on the unbeaten franks today with a 13-0 upset victory over the nation's seventh ranked football power. The Engineers pounced on one touchdown on the ground against the Blue Devils' vaunted defense, and took to the air for the other. Sub fullback Jim Benson dived over from the 1 for the first score, ending a 59-yard march helped along by a 15-yard personal foul called against Duke. The clincher came in the third period, when fullback Lester Simerville took a screen pass from quarterback Fred Braselton and scurried 15 yards to score. But the touchdowns were almost anticlimactic. What had the 40,000 spectators amazed was the way Tech rammed the ball down Duke's throat. Duke's defense against rushing was third best in the nation until Simerville, Benson, Stan Flowers, Floyd Faucette and other Techsters cut loose for 232 yards rushing. And almost as surprising was the determined manner in which Tech's defense, led by All-American center candidate Don Stephenson, stopped the dreaded Duke attack. The Engineers, old hands at upending unbeaten teams from Duke, held Wray Carlton, George Dutrow and Phil Dupler to 19 yards and one first down in the first half. And the visitors' total offense came to only 109 yards. Duke didn't get into Tech territory until midway of the third period, when the ball was down Duke's throat. H-Glasscock Reports Two Completions

Completion of two wells in the Howard-Glasscock field in Howard County was announced this week-end. C. W. Guthrie No. 2 Sarah Hyman completed from the Yates section for a daily potential of 11 barrels of oil and two per cent water. Gravity of the oil is 30 degrees. The well is 330 feet from north and 2,310 from east lines, 69-29-

Texas Co. To Deepen Dawson Wildcat Test

The Texas Co. has received permission to deepen a Dawson County wildcat to 12,000 feet. The project is Texas No. 1 B. E. Miller about four miles southwest of Lamesa. Original contract depth was 10,100 feet, but authorization was given Saturday to explore another 2,900 feet. Saturday, operator drilled to 10,692 feet. Location of the try is 1,979 feet from south and 660 from east lines, 17-36-5n, T&P Survey.

Twelve miles southeast of Lamesa, Texas Crude & B. L. Nic-Farland No. 1-24 Riggan drilled through lime at 3,520 feet. It is a wildcat 660 feet from north and 2,210 from west lines, 24-34-5n, T&P Survey. It is slated for a 9,000-foot bottom.

Reagan-Lanphere No. 1 Barrett, about 8 1/2 miles northwest of Lamesa, drilled through lime and chert Saturday at 12,600 feet. The venture is 660 feet from south and west lines, 44-M, EL&R Survey. In the Welch field, Tidewater No. 3 Ed Gaines has been located. It is 467 feet from north and 2,227 from east lines, 15-C39, PSL Survey, and two miles north-west of Welch. Drilling depth is 5,000 feet.

Surface Casing Set In Westbrook Try

Operator set surface casing Saturday at the Col-Text No. 5 H. W. Butler in the Westbrook field of Mitchell County. The project is 330 feet from north and west lines, 36-20-1n, T&P Survey, and three miles north of Westbrook. At the end of the week, operator set surface casing at 278 feet. Also in the Westbrook field, TXL No. 3 Mitchell Fee drilled at 2,444 feet. It is located 4 1/2 miles west of Westbrook, 2,330 feet from south and 330 from east lines, 37-29-1n, T&P Survey. C. D. Turner has drilling contract.

Near its contract depth, WWH Drilling Co. No. 1 Foster in Sterling County waited on orders at the end of the week.

Stirling Try Is Awaiting Orders

Construction will begin early next year on a 16-inch crude oil line between Hawley in Jones County and Comyn in Comanche County. The line will have a capacity of 99,000 barrels a day and will replace the 10-inch system between the two towns. Capacity of the present line is 62,000 barrels a day, with daily throughput averaging 58,500 barrels. Humble said the project will cost $3,500,000.

Cosden Deepens Gaines Venture

Cosden Petroleum deepened a wildcat in Gaines County below 10,000 this week Saturday, the Cosden No. 1 Jones Ranch drilled at 10,720 feet in line. It is practically on the New Mexico border and south of the Tex-Pac field. In Ector, Cosden No. 1 A A Cosden drilled through lime at 4,204 feet. It is a wildcat 14 miles north-west of Goldsmith. Drillsite is 800 from north and 550 from east lines, 9-45-2n, T&P Survey. Contract depth is 6,000 feet.

Oil Men's Barbecue Planned At Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 2.—Lamesa businessmen will host representatives of the oil industry in the area to the second annual Oil Appreciation Barbecue Friday. Members of the Roundup Club of the Chamber of Commerce will serve the meal which is arranged by a sub-committee of the Oil Committee of the Chamber. Jeff Shipp is general chairman of the Oil Committee and W. C. McCarty is chairman of the Appreciation Barbecue. The Lamesa Barbershop Chorus, under the direction of Richard Crawley, and a Barbershop Quartet, will furnish music for the group. All representatives of the oil industry are invited to attend.

Two Lucky People!

Spending this weekend in Dallas, at the expense of local oil men, are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Reid, 1614 Cardinal, winners of the Oil Progress Week "Lucky Folder" prize. Jerry Worthy, right, chairman of the project, hands Mrs. Reid the couple's tickets to the SMU-Texas football game, played Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Reid also received weekend lodging in the Statler-Hilton Hotel and other holiday expense money. Both Mr. and Mrs. Reid are civil service workers at Webb AFB.

Drilling Activity Lowest Of Year

Rotary drilling activity was at its lowest point of the year last week, according to the semi-monthly report taken by Reed Roller Bit Co., in the Permian Basin. The report taken Oct. 25 showed only 431 units in operation, lower by 18 rigs than the previous minimum. The lowest prior was on Sept. 25 when 449 were registered.

The past report is also well below the 456 active units shown on the Oct. 10 report. On Oct. 25, 1956, the total was 585. Lea County, N. M., led all other Permian Basin counties. The county boasted 75 active rigs, more than twice the total working in any other county.

Would Change Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—If the government's voluntary program for cutting crude oil imports fails to satisfy independent oil producers, they may ask Congress to amend the trade agreement program next year to provide for mandatory curbs. But Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA), said today that thus far the IPAA likes the way the voluntary program is going.

"The voluntary program," he said, "is bringing oil imports pretty close to the figure recommended by the cabinet committee, which was about 1,030,000 barrels of imports daily of which some 766,000 is east of California.

"Only a few companies are not now actively participating in the voluntary limitation program and the position of these companies has not yet been determined finally. We like the way the program is working up to now."

The entire trade agreement program will be up for review in Congress next year. The law giving the president authority to enter into trade agreements will expire next June unless extended.

5th Pay Zone In Andrews' Bakke Field

Assurance of a fifth flowing pay zone in the prolific Bakke field of Andrews County was given when the Honolulu Oil Co. No. 5-J Parker found oil on a drillstem test in the middle Clear Fork.

The venture is on the north side of the pool and about four miles south of Andrews. At the present, flowing production in the field is from the Wolfcamp, Pennsylvanian, Devonian, and Ellenburger formations. The exploration cored at the end of the week to check the full thickness of the Clear Fork zone. After that, it will drill ahead to its original objectives, the Wolfcamp and Pennsylvanian zones.

Operator tested the Clear Fork for two hours and 28 minutes from 7,569-635 feet. Gas surfaced in four minutes, and oil came to the top in 10 minutes. It flowed to pits for 14 minutes and was then turned to tanks.

During the first hour, it produced 80.7 barrels of oil, and then it made 87.7 barrels of new oil during the second hour. After tool was closed, operators reversed out 11.6 barrels of oil in the drill pipe. It recovered 220 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud below the circulating sub, and no sign of formation was found during the test.

The Honolulu No. 5-J Parker is 660 feet from north and 1,787 from east lines, 21-A44, PSL Survey.

Oil All Wound Up In U.S. Red Tape

HOUSTON, Nov. 2.—Oil operators were told this week their industry is becoming increasingly involved with policies of government. Robert Wood, retiring president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said many technical and practical problems still exist but the industry also needs to meet far more complex and difficult problems involving relationships with government and the public.

Oil Men Named To Help Protect Water Supplies

DALLAS, Nov. 2.—Thirteen oil men to assist state authorities in protection of underground fresh water supplies were named today by Charles Alcorn of Houston, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

The association was invited by the State Board of Water Engineers to form the advisory group. Robert Strief of Dallas was named chairman and Roy Guffey of Dallas vice chairman. A committee member was named for each Railroad Commission district.

Others appointed were District 1, W. W. Hammond, San Antonio; 2, Emil Bowers, Corpus Christi; 3, A. L. Draper, Houston; 4, J. Hopson, Corpus Christi; 5, O. L. Gragg, Palestine; 6, Watson Wise, Tyler; 7, B. James Lauderdale, Abilene; 7C, Thomas Cox, San Angelo; 8, Tom Culbertson, Midland; 9, Jim McCutchen, Wichita Falls; and 10, Tom Clopton, Amarillo.

Crude Production Slumps Again

TULSA, Nov. 2.—The free world's oil production slumped again in August, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The journal said output averaged 15,431,500 barrels daily, compared with 15,697,900 in July. Venezuela had the greatest decline, oil to 2,751,500 barrels daily. United States production also was down to 6,796,000. The Middle East had a decline to 3,956,400 barrels daily.

Indonesia production was at an all-time high of 328,000 barrels daily. The Communists bloc, including Russia, Rumania, and other countries, produced an estimated 2,245,000 barrels daily.

To Run Casing On Martin Test

Operator prepared to run casing this weekend at the Husky-Panotech No. 1 Breedevie wildcat in the northwestern part of Martin County.

The venture is 10 miles southwest of Patricia and a mile north and west of production in the Breedevie (Devonian) field. Total depth is 12,144 feet, and operator ran logs and prepared to set casing at an unreputed depth. The exploration hit Devonian production at 11,995 feet, and until reaching 12,112, no formation water was recorded. Drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines, Tract 92, League 256, Briscoe CSL Survey.

Gulf Stakes New Borden Venture

The Gulf Oil Co. has staked another venture in the Jo-Mil (Spraberry) field of Borden County. It is the No. 21 C. C. Canon and is about 13 miles west of Gall. Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and 660 from west lines, 34-33-5n, T&P Survey. Drilling depth is 7,700 feet.

IPAA in the past has favored increased tariffs as a weapon against oil imports but the 1,400 independents at the Dallas convention endorsed the current voluntary program. "We commend and enthusiastically support the government for its firm and constructive administration of the import control plan to date," a resolution said.

PAUL F. SHEEDY

MEET THE 'seniors'
OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

This is the 15th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Paul F. Sheedy, distributor gauger in the pipeline department, was born in 1902 in Montpelier, Ind. He attended grade school there and in Sapulpa, Okla., and was a student at St. Joseph Academy at Muskogee.

Before joining Cosden on Sept. 1, 1942, Mr. Sheedy had been associated with a number of firms, either in their production or pipeline departments, including Empire Oil & Gas, Prairie Oil & Gas, and C. L. Sheedy Oil & Gas, all of Oklahoma, and Superior Oil Co. at Forson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheedy, the former Aurelia Gressette, a native of Comanche, were married at Breckenridge in 1925 and have three children. Their daughter, Mrs. Frances McKinney, 29, is the wife of a Cosden electrician, and their son, Paul Van Sheedy, 25, is married to a Cosden secretary. Another son, Jackie O'Neal Sheedy, 20, is married and lives at Coahoma, where the elder Sheedys also own their home. There are three grandchildren — Mrs. McKinney's boy and girl and Paul's son.

Mr. Sheedy is a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church. In his spare time he likes to hunt and fish.

NAACP To Scrap For More Rights

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Washington representative of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today said any racial troubles in the South could be cured by "registration of three million more colored voters and additional federal civil rights legislation."

All Those Foreign Gifts Will Get To See The Light

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The State Department evidently decided today it was silly to guard with the deepest secrecy a storage room full of gifts made to U. S. officials by foreigners over the years.

The department announced that arrangements are being made for reporters and photographers to go into the storage room—probably early next week—and report on the articles held in trust there by the department's protocol division.

Among other things newsmen expect to see are watches and robes presented to Secretary of State Dulles, Undersecretary Herter, Dep. Undersecretary Loy Henderson and Asst. Secretary William Rountree by King Saud of Saudi Arabia when he was in Washington early this year.

In addition to announcing its new policy decision through the press office, the State Department said it is not really correct to think about the warehouse as containing 6,000 gifts, which U. S. officials had turned over after receiving them from foreign governments or leaders.

The actual fact, said press officer Lincoln White, is that there are between 5,000 and 6,000 decorations and medals, which go back 40 or 50 years and only about 20 or 30 gifts. He thus made a distinction which department officials previously had not made when they talked of a warehouse full of around 6,000 gifts.

The whole subject was achieved nationwide interest in the last few days because of disclosure that the department's former deputy protocol chief, Victor Purse, had received an automobile from King Saud last summer. Purse, who insisted he saw nothing wrong in accepting the gift, is being reassigned to another job in the department.

Saud gave gifts to a number of people who helped out during his state visit to Washington. Money which he provided for security officers who guarded him was turned over to the State Department and is still in the safe.

Buyers Of Ford Stock Doing Average Well

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—"Ford stock to go on sale."

Those words streamed across front pages of newspapers throughout America two years ago this week, heralding one of the most exciting business stories of the 20th Century.

Two years later, the question arises—how have those original 350,000 public shareholders of the giant Ford Motor Co. fared?

Generally speaking, they've done just about as well as the nine million other Americans who own common stock in other corporations.

They have pocketed regular dividends of $2.40 per share a year, a steady yield of 3.72 per cent on their original outlay of $64.50 a share.

He also pointed to some sappy bolls which he said would not open wide. Others mentioned that some of the cotton is not opening evenly. Some of it will have two or three locks open, while the rest of the boll shrivels.

Baize says the estimate of over 60,000 bales for Martin County is too high. He thinks it will be between 40,000 and 50,000 bales, but could drop lower if there is a lot of wet weather.

He said the county's cotton allotment was around 94,000 acres, with 16,000 acres of this in the soil bank. Of the remaining 78,000 acres, about 20,000 acres is in irrigation.

This is the part that doesn't come up to expectations. He said the average irrigated cotton might reach a bale and a half per acre, while other observers think it will be even lower.

Baize said the dryland cotton should average a third of a bale per acre, though there is much variation from one community to another.

Smokey Greenhaw at Lenorah says his gin will lack quite a few hundred bales reaching its mark of nearly 7,000 in 1957. The cotton was planted too late, which was about the middle of June, and too many things have happened since then.

Thus far he has ginned nearly 550 bales, but said it was coming in much slower than usual. Most of the crop is still locked inside the bolls.

Greenhaw said the Walcott community northwest of Lenorah had a fair dryland crop, though not much is open yet. A three-day sandstorm wiped out much of the cotton in June, and farmers did not re-plant until the last 10 days of the month.

The Tarzan farmers have had the worst luck, when one compares cost of production and what they will get for the crop. Lois Madison said he planted some of his cotton six times. None of it is a good as last year. In fact, he said there was hardly an irrigated field with a crop as good as last year.

"Nearly all our cotton suffered from hail," bolls worms or leaf spot," he said, "and some have a combination of all three."

Jesse Tamm

by Jesse Blair

No one knows exactly how much frost damage the cotton crop suffered during the two nights of cold weather. The only thing apparent is that most of the leaves were killed. Some farmers say it may have helped, but perhaps two-thirds of them think there was some damage.

Tom Romine said the flatland cotton was killed, while the upland still had a few green leaves. He thinks some of it might leaf out again with a week's warm weather, and says a few tiny leaves are already beginning to appear. He said this happened in 1950 when a light freeze got the leaves, only to cause a sort of second growth.

At Stanton, gin manager L. E. Baize was showing some cotton stalks that had mildewed. The cracked bolls had a black lacy growth much like that of mildew present on many bolls, it would definitely lower the grade.

He also pointed to some sappy bolls which he said would not open wide. Others mentioned that some of the cotton is not opening evenly. Some of it will have two or three locks open, while the rest of the boll shrivels.

Baize says the estimate of over 60,000 bales for Martin County is too high. He thinks it will be between 40,000 and 50,000 bales, but could drop lower if there is a lot of wet weather.

He said the county's cotton allotment was around 94,000 acres, with 16,000 acres of this in the soil bank. Of the remaining 78,000 acres, about 20,000 acres is in irrigation.

This is the part that doesn't come up to expectations. He said the average irrigated cotton might reach a bale and a half per acre, while other observers think it will be even lower.

Baize said the dryland cotton should average a third of a bale per acre, though there is much variation from one community to another.

Smokey Greenhaw at Lenorah says his gin will lack quite a few hundred bales reaching its mark of nearly 7,000 in 1957. The cotton was planted too late, which was about the middle of June, and too many things have happened since then.

Thus far he has ginned nearly 550 bales, but said it was coming in much slower than usual. Most of the crop is still locked inside the bolls.

Greenhaw said the Walcott community northwest of Lenorah had a fair dryland crop, though not much is open yet. A three-day sandstorm wiped out much of the cotton in June, and farmers did not re-plant until the last 10 days of the month.

The Tarzan farmers have had the worst luck, when one compares cost of production and what they will get for the crop. Lois Madison said he planted some of his cotton six times. None of it is a good as last year. In fact, he said there was hardly an irrigated field with a crop as good as last year.

"Nearly all our cotton suffered from hail," bolls worms or leaf spot," he said, "and some have a combination of all three."

Madison is farming 400 acres, but has gathered only eight bales. Some of the fields will make a fair yield, but won't compare with other years when he has picked two bales to the acre.

The country is filled with idle bracers, and some are getting impatient. They can't understand why they shouldn't be allowed to pick cotton.

One farmer said a bracer motioned him out to the field, then reached down, cupped both hands around a cotton stalk, and stripped off leaves, bolls, limbs and all.

"I got the idea he was ready to pull bolls," said the farmer. "Trouble was, we had a heavy dew, and that cotton was wetter than the bathroom floor after our four-year-old daughter gets through washing her doll clothes."

Uncle Ray: Salt Is Added To Raise Boiling Point

By RAMON COFFMAN
The boiling point of fresh water at sea level is 212 degrees Fahrenheit. The point is lower the higher we go. At a height of two miles, an egg takes one and a half times as long to become hard-boiled as at sea level.

Q. Is there any way to raise the boiling point of water without using a pressure cooker?
A. Yes. We may place sugar or salt in the water. In making syrup we put in a good deal of sugar. The boiling point of the "sugar water" rises to about 300 degrees Fahrenheit.

Q. What makes a teakettle "sing"?
A. Before water reaches the boiling point, bubbles rise. Not being strong enough to get all the way to the surface, the bubbles break. The noise of their breaking causes the teakettle to "sing."

Q. Are pressure boilers safe?
A. The answer is "yes," in general, but certain conditions must be met. The boiler must be properly made and in good condition. When people use it, they should follow directions carefully.

The fact that accidents can happen was brought before me forcefully two years ago. A friend of mine, a doctor, suffered injury from a blast of steam which came from a pressure cooker and struck his face. Fortunately he shut his eyes so rapidly that they were saved from harm. After weeks in a hospital, he came forth with the skin of his face "back to normal."

Wreck Victim Has Meningitis

Jo Ann Watkins, clerk in the Big Spring office of the County Health Clinic Unit, was believed Saturday to have beaten off an attack of meningitis, which developed last week as aftermath to grave injuries she sustained two weeks ago Monday in a car accident near Tahoka.

Jo Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Watkins, 605 Owens, is in the hospital at Lubbock. Her condition was regarded as better Friday but she still continues in an extremely serious condition, her father said Saturday.

There is no indication when she will be able to be removed to Big Spring.

Miss Watkins and Bo Bowen, Howard County health nurse, were enroute to Lubbock to a meeting of health unit personnel when their car was involved in a crash near Tahoka. Miss Bowen is recuperating from a broken ankle in the Big Spring Hospital.

Industrialist Dies

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 2 (AP)—William Coffin Coleman, 87, retired industrialist and founder of Coleman Co. Inc., died today at Wesley Hospital. His physician said death probably was caused by a heart attack.

Duplication In Missile Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Behind the demand in some quarters that the government appoint a missile "czar" is the fact that the armed forces now have almost 30 types of missiles either in use, in development or in design.

The main argument of those who say there should be a czar, armed with high authority—instead of leaving control to Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and his assistant for guided missile development, William M. Holdaway—is that there now is duplication in time, effort and money.

The Air Force has 10 projects, including:

The Atlas and Titan intercontinental ballistic missile programs. The specification for both missiles is a 5,000-mile range with an accuracy close enough to bring the target within the destructive blast of a hydrogen warhead. On the basis of nuclear weapons tests to date, this would mean a circle of about five to ten miles for a weapon fired 5,000 miles away. The Air Force has attempted two tests of an Atlas-type device.

The Thor: An intermediate range ballistic missile which is designed to hit a target with a nuclear warhead at 1,500 miles, but which in at least one test has gone about 2,700 miles.

Snark: A guided missile, actually a pilotless bomber, with a designed range of 5,000 miles, capable of using a nuclear warhead. The Snark is subsonic in speed, and thus is far more vulnerable to interception than the projected ballistic missiles which travel at speeds of thousands of miles per hour and altitudes of hundreds of miles. The Snark is in production and is described as intended for use by the Strategic Air Command.

Matador: Another pilotless bomber, in this case designed for tactical ranges of 600 to 700 miles.

Jet-powered and subsonic, it too has nuclear warhead capability. The Air Force has more than a half-dozen Matador missile groups deployed overseas.

Rascal: Designed for launching from a B47 medium bomber from outside a defended area, capable of carrying an atomic warhead, range over 100 miles.

Three missiles for air defense: M1B "Genie," a rocket fired from jet interceptors, carrying an atomic warhead for destruction of formations of planes or bombers outside the destructive area of conventional explosive, it can be launched from distances of up to 10 or 15 miles. Bomarc, an interceptor missile launched vertically from the ground, traveling at supersonic speed toward enemy planes up to 200 or 300 miles away at high altitude. Falcon, a supersonic missile with target-seeking capability, using a heat-seeking, infrared device. Several can be carried by a single interceptor plane.

low altitude aircraft against which the Nike series would not be used, and the Nike Zeus project, a program intended to develop a super-form of Nike for working against a ballistic missile.

Also in the Army arsenal, but not classed as missile because there is neither initial nor in-flight guidance, are the Honest John and Little John rockets, for battlefield use beyond the ranges of normal artillery.

NAVY PROJECTS

The Navy also has nine missiles or development programs.

Like the Air Force and Army, the Navy has its IRBM project, the Polaris. This is intended to reach the same distance, 1,500 miles. The difference is in propulsion. The Polaris will use a solid rocket fuel; the Jupiter and Thor use liquid fuels. The Navy originally joined with the Army in the Jupiter program, but withdraw to develop an IRBM using the less dangerous solid fuel favored for use aboard ships and submarines.

Regulus: Similar to the Air Force's Matador, with approximately the same range. This bomber-like missile is launched from surface ships and submarines against targets afloat or ashore and has nuclear capability.

Three surface-to-air anti-aircraft missiles: Terrier, with a range of about 20 miles, presently the armament for anti-aircraft missile cruisers; Talos, with an approximate 70 mile range, to be used on cruisers now being modernized.

AIR-TO-AIR

Three air-to-air missiles for fighter planes: Sidewinder, Sparrow I and Sparrow II.

Bull Pup: A missile for firing from Navy and Marine planes in support of ground or amphibious forces in battle. Normal targets for this tactical support weapon include tanks, pillboxes, bridges, truck convoys.

In the surface-to-surface field, the Army, Air Force and Navy each has projects.

In anti-aircraft missiles launched from the ground, the Army and Navy each has its own missiles or projects.

In plane-against-plane missiles the Air Force and Navy each has its own.

In plane-to-ground, both the Air Force and Navy have missiles.

Sea Water Conversion Brought To Lower Cost

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Maxim Silencer Co. said today it has developed a system of converting sea water to fresh water which could be delivered to an urban water system "at something around 20 cents a thousand gallons."

Maxim is a leading supplier of sea water distillation equipment to the Navy and to many U.S. and foreign shipping lines.

The company described the system it says it can set up for community water production as an evaporation process with flush evaporators and vacuums designed to make the fullest use and re-use of every bit of heat furnished by the energy-producing boiler or other heat source.

An important development, the concern added, is a method of snapping salt scale from the equipment. Otherwise, the formation of salt scale quickly impairs the efficiency of any sea water treating process.

William Williamson, Maxim's chief engineer, said the system could compete with any fresh water production—except in the relatively few areas where the population is small, rainfall abundant and land for reservoirs cheap and available.

Taking as an example the Hartford area, situated 40 to 50 miles from Long Island Sound, Williamson said sea water could be distilled at the shore and piped to Hartford as easily as it is now obtained from the city's reservoir system. Hartford's natural water resources are about used up, he said, land for reservoirs is scarce and expensive and both and population and industrial water needs are on the increase.

Maxim criticized the Office of Saline Water, a branch of the Department of Interior, which is opening a three-day international symposium on salt water conversion in Washington Monday.

"We have received no invitation to participate in the discussions," said Maxim's president, Francis O'Leary.

Contending "We have a fully tested and workable system," Williamson said:

"On three recent occasions we have invited Director David Jenkins of the Office of Saline Water to visit our laboratory at Millstone Point in Waterford. He has been to other demonstrations, but he has never appeared here."

ARMY HAS NINE

Wizard, a project to evolve an antimissile to counter the intermediate range ballistic missile. It is in the early stages of study and design, with no hardware built.

The Army has nine missiles or missile projects, including:

Jupiter: An IRBM with the same range characteristics as those of the Air Force Thor. The Army has made several test firings, including one ranging to about 2,200 miles. The Jupiter is intended to tote a nuclear warhead.

Two shorter range bombardment missiles: The Redstone, a ballistic missile with a range of about 200 miles, and the Corporal, another ballistic-type missile with a range of about 75 miles.

Lacrosse: A guided missile of about 15 miles range, designed to replace conventional artillery.

Dart: An anti-tank missile of close-in range. The Army says it mounts a warhead "capable of defeating the heaviest known enemy armor, and delivers this warhead with pinpoint accuracy."

Four anti-aircraft or antimissile missiles: The Nike Ajax, designed for use against enemy aircraft up to distances of about 40 miles, using a conventional explosive warhead; the Nike Hercules, with a range of about 75 miles and an atomic warhead; the Hawk, designed for use against Christian youth workers of Big Spring, their ranks thinned by sickness, raised $217.33 for the Christian Rural Overseas Program Thursday night.

The young people made the rounds of the residential areas in the wake of Halloween trick-treaters, soliciting gifts for food relief for the needy in other countries. The Rev. Wesley Deats, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, said that each penny will be sufficient to send one pound of food overseas.

Rev. Deats said the sum raised would have been much higher had the young folks been able to cover the entire city. However, since some who had planned to assist were ill, the canvass missed some areas.

He said that anyone who was not contacted may send gifts to CROP, in care of the First Methodist Church. The CROP program now touches some 30 countries throughout the world.

Solicitation was conducted from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday. Workers then returned to the church where the funds were dedicated to Christian service.

TAGGED, DISPLAYED, RECORDED and then selected by a patient at the Big Spring State Hospital is the history of garments in the Fashion Shop at the hospital. Originated by members of the Woman's Forum, the shop supplies extra clothing, free, for the patients. So successful has it been that more clubs are assisting the original group. Among them are the Officers' Wives' Club at Webb AFB, represented by Mrs. Kendall Clement, at left above, and the City Home Demonstration Club, represented by Mrs. Ervin Daniels, at right. In the center, Mrs. Carl Benson, president of the Woman's Forum, holds the blouse to be tagged.

AN INDUCEMENT FOR READING is given patients at the Big Spring State Hospital by the neatly arranged book shelves in the library. Library care is one of the divisions with which volunteers at the hospital will work when the program is really begun. Mrs. Fred Stitzell, a member of the 1953 Hyperion Club, one of the local federated clubs, works at keeping the books in order. According to Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services at the hospital, this will be the "pet project" of the City Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Business Club. About 16 women's clubs make up the federation.

OPERATION ROSEBUSH is one of the activities being planned by volunteers at the Big Spring State Hospital and, at left in the photo above, Mrs. Norman Read and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien discuss the best kinds of bushes to plant. The work will be done in the early spring, with the patients assisting. The garden will then be used as a phase of therapy gained from the care of the rosebushes. Mrs. Read and Mrs. O'Brien are representatives of the clubs in the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs, which is sponsoring the project.

CHRISTMAS PARTY PLANS will be made for the ten wards at the state hospital, if the wishes of the planning committee are followed. The patients will assist in decorating trees to be placed on each ward, and various organizations will be responsible for refreshments and the distribution of gifts. Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, a member of the 1930 Hyperion Club, and representing the local study clubs which will participate in the parties, looks over Christmas decorations in preparation for the volunteer work.

POINTERS FOR GIVING DANCES at the Big Spring State Hospital are discussed by Mrs. Mary Ragsdale, at left, and Mrs. C. R. Rhoads. As chairman of the BPO Does dance committee, Mrs. Ragsdale is an "old hand" at entertaining the dancing group at the hospital, since this has been one of the projects of the Does for some time. Mrs. Rhoads is a member of the dance committee for the Altrusa Club, which is planning a dance for Monday evening at the hospital. Both organizations are cooperating with the citywide project of volunteer work going on at the hospital.

tion of gifts, as well as any entertainment given.

Volunteers are being recruited for work in various phases of the service at this time, and a course in orientation is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at the hospital.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Monday and Tuesday, with classes at 9:30 to 2:30 p.m. Workers will be served a luncheon with about an hour and fifteen minutes for the meal. In the evenings, registration will be held at 6:30 p.m. with classes at 7 o'clock. A half-hour coffee break is planned for 8:15 p.m. during the evening sessions.

Besides the special holiday festivities, there will be occasions for volunteers to assist in various ways at the hospital, Mrs. Thurman stated.

Members of the Woman's Forum are the originators of the Fashion Shop, where patients may obtain additional clothing at no expense. The shop is opened on Thursdays, and the forum members are now being assisted by the members of the Officers' Fives' Club and members of the City Home Demonstration Club. The Eager Beaver Sewing Club has volunteered to repair the garments donated for use in the shop.

Plans are in the making to enlarge the library facilities, and it is hoped by the committee that volunteer workers will serve in that section so that books may be checked out and in with more regularity. Plans are under way for the formation of discussion groups under the direction of volunteers.

There is a need for musical groups in the hospital, Mrs. Thurman said, with glee and choral groups and other musical organizations formed, under leadership.

Sewing clubs have been given the suggestion that some of their meetings be held at the hospital, so that members can help supervise the sewing work of the patients.

Mrs. Thurman has said that informal visiting with the patients is one of the most important of volunteer services, and there is also a need for workers who will write letters or read aloud to various ones; assistance with their personal grooming is appreciated by patients, she said.

A help for the Sunday services would be song leaders and directors to assist with the music.

For volunteers to gain an insight into the carrying on of the program, Mrs. Thurman has suggested a list of books which workers might be interested in reading. It includes "The Self You Have to Live With" by Winifred Rhoades; "Understand Yourself" by Ernest Groves; "Emotional Problems of Living" by Olive S. English and J. J. Pearson Gerald; "A Few Buttons Missing" by James T. Fisher and Lowell S. Hawley, and "So You Want to Help People" by Rudolph Wittenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Chandler were in Houston a few days last week.

Earl Hollis had an operation at Temple, Friday morning at 8 o'clock. His son, James Hollis, is with him, and he reports his father is doing fine. Roy Bennett, Ray White, Bill Stone, W. W. Nichols and L. E. Young recently went to the Memorial Hospital at Midland to donate blood for the elder Hollis.

Bill Gale went to Durant, Okla. last Thursday night to visit his mother, who is seriously ill.

Joe Roberts, C. A. Flint, and Vernon Webb are going to the coast fishing this next week.

Paul Holden has returned from a hunting trip to Colorado, and reports he had very good luck.

Workshops Are Announced For Home Demonstration Members

Workshops for the home demonstration clubs of the county were announced Friday at a meeting of the Home Demonstration Club Council.

Mrs. Shirley Fryar, Texas Home Demonstration Association representative, told the group in the HD agent's office, that the first workshop has been set for Nov. 11. Dealing with health and safety, the session will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. On Nov. 25, a workshop on recreation will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m., and on Dec. 2 members will meet from 2 to 3:30 p.m. for a workshop on civil defense. Work with 4-H clubs will be discussed in a workshop slated for Dec. 11 from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

Mrs. Neil Norred discussed the orientation course to be given at the Big Spring State Hospital Monday and Tuesday, and members were urged to take advantage of it.

The devotion Friday morning was given by Mrs. W. F. Shannon of the Forsan HD Club. A Christmas party was planned for 2 p.m. Dec. 14, at the Texas Electric auditorium. Each member is to bring a gift for exchange; each club is to prepare a selection to be presented as part of the program. Evelyn Melton was introduced as the new secretary for the HD office. The exhibit was given by the clubs of Knott and Vealmoor and included trays, dried arrangements of flowers and pictures, log planters, tiered plates, ceramics and handbags or plastic. Nine clubs were presented with 17 members attending; six guests

Do you have an interest in Shakespearean works? If so, you will enjoy the non-credit course in plays of Shakespeare, which the college is offering. The course consists of four films, "Richard III," "Richard V," "Hamlet," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The fee is $2, but HCJC students will be admitted on presentation of their activity cards.

A film will be shown each night of the course, 4, 7, 14, 18. A short lecture will also be given. All Y club members are urged to pay their dues as soon as possible. The treasurer of this group is Julie Rainwater.

Cheerleaders Barbara Shields and Julie Rainwater are in Lovington, N. M., this weekend, where they are learning new yells and motions. They will be taught to the other cheerleaders.

Mary Sue Hale, HCJC ex. is in Big Spring this weekend. Mary Sue is now attending school at North Texas State College in Denton.

Jerry Forsythe is another North Texas student who is an ex of HCJC. Jerry is also visiting at home this weekend.

Two very successful performances of Phillip King's "See How They Run" were presented last week. The three-act comedy was directed by Fred A. Short, of the HCJC drama department.

Many Jayhawkers seem to enjoy the local high school football games each week. Some of the kids seen at the dance following the game Friday night were Michael Musgrove; Kathleen Thomas, a BSHS junior; Donald Lovelady; Brenda Gordon, another BSHS student; Don Anderson, Rodney Sheppard, and Brick Johnson.

Rendell Hamby, Donald Hewett, and Jimmie Forrester are home from Tech this weekend.

Jimmy Burkholder was elected president of the Sigma Delta Phi Club of HCJC. Those assisting him in the business of the club will be Ricky Phinney, vice president; Ronnie King, secretary; and Joe Hill, treasurer. Sigma Delta Phi is an engineering organization.

San Angelo To Host AAUW Meet

Local members of the American Association of University Women have received an invitation to attend the area meeting to be held in San Angelo on Saturday. This was announced Friday by Elizabeth Daniels, president of the local chapter.

The morning session will begin at 10 in the Town House, with Dr. Gladys Hicks in charge. She is president of the Texas division of AAUW.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.; the featured speaker at this affair will be Mrs. Ervin Ochsen of Amarillo, who is vice president of the Southwest Central Region.

Fisher Home Scene Of Halloween Party

Members of the fifth grade at Washington Place School were given a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Fisher Thursday evening.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. E. Bredemeyer, Mrs. G. C. Coates, and Mrs. W. L. Burns; Mrs. Fisher supervised the evening's activities.

Games were played by the 36 attending, and prizes were awarded for costumes. Kay Bredemeyer was voted the winner of the prize for the best costume; Candy Bacus for the prettiest, and Nancy Thomas for the funniest costume. The class teacher, Mrs. B. M. Keese, and the music teacher, Joyce Howard, were special guests.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

The time has come around again when we go to Waco and Baylor University to see the Bears play and to reminisce with the alumni of the class of '32. This too, is the year of that class's silver anniversary of its graduation and guess who is among 'em. The head of our house, of course. We were among the many Big Spring people who were rooting for a win in the game.

Others who were there included MR. AND MRS. GARLAND SANDERS and Derrell, Ronnie Sanders, who is a Baylor graduate, came up from Houston to join his family for the weekend. He is working for Eastern States Chemical and Petroleum Co.

Also attending were MR. AND MRS. JOHN ASKEW COFFEY and NELL BROWN.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES BONNER and son of Artesia, N. M., are here for the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bonner. Mr. Bonner has recently been dismissed from the hospital.

Seems that RUTH ANN ABAT must be a versatile young lady. Not long ago I reported that she had won the Story of the Week contest at Texas Women's University, Denton, where she is a sophomore journalism major. Now comes word that she has been selected as a member of the 1957-58 Modern Choir of that school. Director of the group is Dr. J. Wilgus Eberly, head of the department of music.

Included in the program for the choir are appearances at the traditional Thanksgiving assembly, the Terrell Rotary Club, the Terrell State Hospital and the Dallas-Oak Cliff Kiwanis Clubs.

Ruth Ann is the daughter of MR. AND MRS. WALLACE A. ABAT, 105-NW 12th Street.

MRS. J. E. HOGAN and JANET spent Friday and Saturday in Lubbock. Janet, who is to be married Saturday to Lt. William H. Brigman, will be the honoree at a gay series of parties planned for this week. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brigman of Brunswick, Ga.

MR. AND MRS. HUDSON SANDERS are mighty lucky to have such a candy chef in their family—their daughter, SUSAN. She made all the candy which was passed on the dessert trays at the Ladies Golf Association luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club Friday, and the air was full of "ohs and ahs."

Newly Married Pair Make Forsan Home

FORSAN—Mr. and Mrs. William Hoard are making a home near Forsan after their marriage in Roswell, N. M., on Oct. 25. Mrs. Hoard is the former Mrs. Bonnie Strickland of Big Spring. Hoard is employed by the Continental Oil Company.

Classes from the first through the sixth grades were entertained Thursday afternoon at Halloween parties given by the room mothers of the various groups.

Telephone Payoff

CLAREMORE, Okla. — Mrs. S. N. Bell, while househunting, got the wrong number when she called about a place. However, she struck up a conversation with the party at the other end, and the stranger got her a place to rent.

Safe Distance

HOBERT Okla. — Does eating onions really keep a cold from becoming severe? Clara Neal wondered, asked two doctors. They replied it is helpful only by keeping people at a safe distance from the person who eats onions as a cure.

Mrs. James Johnson To Head St. Lawrence Club

Mrs. James Johnson was elected president of the St. Lawrence Home Demonstration Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Isidore Hoelscher.

Mrs. Sidney Hirt was chosen vice president; Mrs. Walter Jacob, secretary; Mrs. Hoelscher, treasurer; and Mrs. T. I. Green, council delegate. Mrs. Millard Saunders was named reporter.

The members drew names for the exchange of gifts at the Christmas party, for which the date was not announced. They also ordered Christmas cards.

Roll call was answered with "A Sewing Problem," which was in line with the program on patterns Mrs. Mildred Eiland, Martin County HD agent, showed patterns and discussed the kinds best suited to certain types.

A family night party was planned to be held in the home of Mrs. Hirt on Thursday evening.

Two new members, Mrs. Alfred Schwartz and Mrs. Bernice Miller, were introduced to the club, and refreshments were served.

Deadline Set For Secretaries To Get Exam Forms

The deadline for securing application forms for the examination given by the Certified Professional Secretaries Association has been set for Dec. 1. This has been announced by Mrs. Johnny Dismuke, publicity chairman of the local chapter of the secretaries' organization.

Secretaries may secure the forms by writing to the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, 222 West 11th Street, Kansas City 5, Mo.

Sponsored by The National Secretaries Association (International), the annual CPS examination is open to qualified secretaries who are 25 years of age or older, men as well as women; members or nonmembers of the association. It is held in selected colleges and universities and covers skills, techniques and basic knowledge of six phases of secretarial work.

The first CPS examination was held in 1951, and to date, 1,227 secretaries have been certified. Purpose of the examination is to give secretarial work professional status.

The National Secretaries Association reports that executives have been quick to recognize the value of CPS to the business world, since it eliminates the costly and time-consuming trial and error method of hiring a secretary and assures greater office efficiency. Indicative of management's recognition, many secretaries who have passed the test report increases in salary, job offers, and promotions.

T&P Ladies Safety Council Plans Membership Coffee For Thursday

Plans are in the making for a festive affair to be given Thursday in the home of Mrs. K. D. Hestes, when the T&P Ladies Safety Council entertains members and their guests.

Calling hours have been set for 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Hestes home, 433 Hillside, with the object of the coffee to introduce new members and bring the group together.

Eligible for membership in the council are not only wives of T&P Railroad employes, but the women employees of the company; wives of retired employes, and widows of workers.

Mrs. J. W. Forrester, in announcing the party, stated that it is the wish of the members that all eligible newcomers will attend the coffee.

Organized in May 16, 1952, the council had as its first chairman, Mrs. R. D. Urey. Present at the first meeting were 108. There are still about that many on the roll, Mrs. Forrester said, but the personnel has changed slightly, with additions and transfers.

Purpose of the organization is to promote safety in the home, at school and in the community, and the group cooperates with the railroad company in promoting the safety program of that organization.

Working in cooperation with the Citizens Traffic Commission, the council has been instrumental in showing films dealing with safety in the schools. In 1952, the women had a safety sign erected on East Third Street.

Meetings, to which visitors are always welcome, are held at 2 p.m. at the Settles Hotel on the second Thursday of each month. Programs include various speakers on safety factors and some kind of social hour. There are no dues.

At present, officers are Mrs. R. F. Fallon, president; Mrs. Forrester, vice president; Mrs. Buster Binson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Skalicky, corresponding secretary.

Past presidents include Mrs. Urey, 1952; Mrs. W. H. McCannless, 1953; Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, 1954; Mrs. C. L. Richardson, 1955; and Mrs. Arthur Paschall, 1956.

Party Preparations

Just to see how it will look, Mrs. R. F. Fallon, at left, and Mrs. Albert Smith work up a flower arrangement in preparation for the membership coffee set for Thursday. Members of the T&P Ladies Safety Council will entertain members and prospective members from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. K. D. Hestes, 433 Hillside. Mrs. Fallon is president of the group.

Teachers Meet In Sweetwater

Local members of the Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority were in Sweetwater Saturday for the regional meeting which was held at the Bluebonnet Hotel.

Planning to attend from Big Spring were Mrs. Frank Vandell, Mrs. Cass Hill, Leitha Amerson, Lorine Williams, Mrs. B. M. Keese, Mary Newell and Velma Blagrove.

The sessions began at 9 a.m. with coffee and registration, followed by an initiation service. The program dealt with "An Informed Participating Membership" and touched on the levels of national, international, state and local work.

Luncheon was served at the hotel to members from Big Spring, Colorado City, Abilene, Cisco, Eastland, San Angelo, Ballinger, Stanton, Midland and Odessa.

Miss Nichols Elected Sweetheart Of FFA At Stanton Meeting

STANTON—The Stanton chapter Future Farmers of America elected Yvonne Nichols as sweetheart of the chapter at a meeting held Tuesday at the agriculture building.

Nominees for sweetheart were Paula Rawls, Sherley Nowlin, Linda Glaze and Joetta Franklin. Yvonne, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nichols, will succeed Becky Smith who served as sweetheart last year.

A chili supper was served to 22 members and two guests, Bill Stephenson and Garland Polson.

Howard Avery was the honoree at a birthday party given recently by his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Ross. Twenty-one attended.

Candlelight Used For Bennett-Lowery Rites

LAMESA — Standing before an archway of greenery flanked by baskets of white mums, Eleanora Pearl Lowery became the bride of Johnny Carrol Bennett Friday evening at the Grandview Baptist Church, in a candlelight service.

The Rev. Vernon King read the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lowery, 1204 North Avenue E, Lamesa, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bennett of O'Donnell.

Mrs. Royce Gleghorn was the pianist for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length wedding dress of white lace over taffeta. Fashioned along princess lines with a V neckline, the dress was accented by matching gauntlets. She wore a white satin headpiece from which fell a veil of illusion. Her bridal bouquet was formed with white carnations.

Sharon Smith was the maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Laqueta Stokes. They wore identical dresses of ice blue cotton featuring a Peter Pan collar. Their headpieces were of white velveteen and they carried white carnations.

Lighting the tapers were Janice Pearson and Sharon Bennett.

Roy Bennett of O'Donnell was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Clinton Smith and Johnny Chapman, both of Lamesa.

HI--TALK

By Brenda Barr

The inevitable has happened! Nine weeks exams have come and gone. Next Wednesday we will know how much we have gathered in the harvest. In many cases this harvest will be light. Some of us will not be satisfied, but out of dissatisfaction can come a better harvest at mid-term. We should all take stock and get to work seriously. Remember we will not pass this way again.

Mrs. Murphy, we certainly envy you! Not many of us get such a nice vacation in New Orleans after school has started.

Several couples who celebrated Halloween early last Saturday night by attending the midnight horror shows were Susan Landers and Bruce Moore; Judy Carson and Wilson Bell; Punky Boyd and Gary Tidwell; Charlene Campbell and Donnie Smith; Kathleen Thomas and Mike Musgrove.

Enjoying the HCJC Players in "See How They Run" this week were Gloria Coker and Dennis Holmes, Linda Leonard and Royce Walker, Malinda Crocker, Doug McEvers, Jimmy Tucker, and Tony Starr.

Some of the kids cheering the Steers on against Odessa Friday night were Betty Lou Jones and Larry Knight; Shirley Patterson Bernard McMahon; Juanella Sparks and Dick Fort; Becky Gebert and Jimmy Tucker; Beth Scarber and Bugs Wright.

Two dances were held Saturday night. The Seba Tri-Hi-Y sponsored a masquerade ball and the Cosden Club held their traditional Saturday night dance. Some of the couples seen at these were Charlene Campbell and Jackie Touchstone; Camille Hefley and Clarence Percy; Judi Shields and Bobby McAdams; Judy Perdue and Don Anderson; Marilyn Bigham and Bill French; Lynn Anderson and Bill Parsons; Carolyn Phillips and Alton McCarty.

Donald Hewett and Stormy Edwards were home from college.

WESLEY GRIGSBY

weekend. That explains the big smiles from Judy and Malinda all week! Not to be outdone, Janet Carpenter went to Baylor this weekend supposedly for Homecoming, but Dennis Jones was to be there to see her. San Antonio was the destination of Opal Hancock this weekend. She went to visit her brother.

Say kids, don't forget the Harvest Carnival this week! There will be the Senior Side Show, a cakewalk, bingo, Hernandos Hideaway, a marriage booth, food, and many other fabulous attractions. We hear Hernando's Hideaway is featuring a very famous singer, but they won't reveal his identity. Wonder who?

The first Senior of the Week this year is our student council president, Wesley Grigsby. Wesley served as vice president of the student council, Who's Who representative, and Boys' State delegate in his junior year.

During high school, he has been a member of the Spanish Club, Key Club, Debate Club, Hi-Y, and DeMolays. He is past master counselor in DeMolays and participated in football and track in his sophomore and junior years. Wesley plans to attend Baylor next fall, but hasn't decided on his major yet.

Remember the carnival and be sure to say Joe sent you!

Top Beef Sandwiches With Tasty Relish

A different way to prepare broiled beef sandwiches is given today and should add a little variety to a quick evening meal.

BROILED BEEF SANDWICHES

Ingredients:
1 egg
1-3 cup mayonnaise
1-3 cup finely chopped sweet mixed pickles
1 tsp. finely-grated onion (pulp and juice)
8 slices rye bread
8 thin slices cooked roast beef
Salt and pepper

Method:
Beat egg with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and pale colored. Mix well but gently with mayonnaise, chopped pickles and grated onion. Spread half of mixture on bread slices. Top with beef; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top with remaining pickle mixture. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat for 5 to 6 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 8 servings.

Jeanne Crain with her four children typifies glamorous motherhood. She believes that the important thing is to be organized; believe it can be done and work at it. Her last picture before retiring temporarily to have her baby is "The Tattered Dress," for Universal-International.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Jeanne Crain Reveals How To Hold Figure

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Jeanne Crain looks so fresh, young and glamorous it's difficult to believe that she is the mother of four. And she's expecting her fifth child this fall.

"It takes a little doing, but glamour can become a habit," she told me. "This does not mean it is limited to actresses. I had four children before the first one was five, and I never doubted for a moment that I'd get my figure back," Jeanne confessed. "But I was inspired by a schoolmate who has six children and keeps a divine figure."

"The belief that it can be done is helpful and even if a woman does not have a career there is the incentive of looking lovely to please her husband."

"It is always a source of satisfaction to me to see the glow in Paul's face when he is told, 'Your wife doesn't look as if she's had four children.'"

"It is dangerous to procrastinate, so as soon as the doctor gave me the go-signal I got to work. I find it a challenge to see how quickly I can return to normal, and I can truthfully say that one month after having a baby I have a better figure than before, because I concentrate on getting back into shape."

"I go to a gym six days a week and get the works: Exercise, steam and massage. But if one is budget-conscious one can get this at the YWCA. When I really want to get back in condition, my determination will cut through any obstacles."

Jeanne feels that many people often make up excuses out of laziness.

"How much weight do you have to take off after pregnancy?" I asked. "Ten pounds," Jeanne told me. "I don't believe in dieting to extremes, but I do try not to over eat."

"To me it is a wonderful feeling to be in condition again—to be lean and solid, and to have firm stomach muscles."

"Exercise is important," Jeanne declared, "because the part of your body that is not being used will go to pot. Fat accumulates where the circulation is sluggish. An office worker who sits too much gets a secretary's spread. And people who slump continuously get fat around the middle. 'It doesn't take much to keep

Ladies Golf Group Has Thanksgiving Luncheon

A Thanksgiving luncheon was served for members and guests of the Ladies Golf Association Friday at the Big Spring Country Club. Hostesses were Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, Mrs. Travis Reed, Mrs. Tom Ashley, Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. E. L. Powell.

Thanksgiving decorations included a turkey, made of chrysanthemums in appropriate shades, which graced the foyer of the club.

The buffet table was in a yellow gathered netting, floor length and topped with a cutwork cloth. A bronze urn held an arrangement of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, and copper was used for serving. Tables for six held runners of chrysanthemums and ivy.

Mrs. Gus Barr was awarded the flower arrangement as a special prize. During the business meeting, the club voted to purchase additional flatware for serving.

Date of the next teen-age party to be given by the group was announced as Dec. 27. It was decided to have a committee to plan social events for the pre-teen group of club members.

PRESENTS

"CYCLE CREDIT"

A TRULY MODERN... CONVENIENT CREDIT PLAN
... THAT GIVES YOU THE OPTION TO ARRANGE YOUR PURCHASES AND PAYMENTS TO SUIT YOUR CONVENIENCE.

Your "CYCLE CREDIT ACCOUNT" will be the "ONE" account that embodies ALL the features and advantages of a 30-day charge account, as well as the convenience of extended terms when you want and need additional time to pay your account.

THE OPTION IS YOURS

To pay your account in full each 30 days, just as you have been doing in the past, OR if you wish, you may make a partial payment of 1/2, 1/3 or as little as 1/4 of your balance. If you choose to use your "CYCLE CREDIT ACCOUNT" a small SERVICE charge will be added, but only to the unpaid balance of your account as of the 25th of each month.

FOR EXAMPLE

If your statement on the 1st is $100.00 and you choose to pay $40.00 instead of the full amount, the unpaid balance carried over would be $60.00, to which a service charge of 79c would be added. All cash payments made before the 26th of each month will be deducted before service charge is computed.

BOOKS CLOSE ON THE 25TH OF EACH MONTH

Our books close on the night of the 25th of each month. All charges and credits made beginning the morning of the 26th will appear on your next month's statement. Service charges are added only on the unpaid balance as of the 25th.

ADVANTAGES TO YOU

You may desire to pay in full one month and use the "Cycle" feature the next month... or you may use the "Cycle Credit" terms month after month.

Once you have signed a request that you wish to take advantage of our "Cycle Credit Plan," it will not be necessary to make any other arrangements. When you desire "extra" credit or "extra time," simply adjust your payments to as little as 1/4 of your unpaid balance for that month. The choice is yours to adjust as you wish.

REGULAR AND NEW ACCOUNTS

We know that this new "Cycle Credit Plan" is appealing to our regular customers and feel that it will be of special interest to many of you who have not seen fit to use our regular 30-day accounts. We cordially invite your inquiries in our Credit Department.

Q. MAY I TAKE LONGER THAN 30 DAYS TO PAY MY ACCOUNT?

A. Yes... that is the point. You may take advantage of our extended terms any month or months that you desire. You may use cycle terms or regular 30-day terms according to your current needs, the choice is yours.

Q. MUST I CALL THE CREDIT OFFICE WHEN I WANT "EXTRA TIME" ON MY ACCOUNT?

A. No... Your Cycle Credit Account is automatic. Never any "Special Arrangements" to make once you have signed a "Cycle Credit" request.

Q. MAY I INCREASE MY ACCOUNT EVEN THOUGH IT HAS NOT BEEN PAID IN FULL?

A. Yes... that is why we believe you will find your "Cycle Credit Account" a convenience. You may purchase as you desire and pay as you enjoy your purchases.

Q. WHAT IF I WISH TO MAKE EXTRA LARGE CHRISTMAS PURCHASES?

A. Sure... you may select your entire Christmas purchases at one time and pay for them over a period of months. You may also add your regular monthly purchases and use the extended terms... That is why your "Cycle Account" at Hemphill's is the Charge Account of all Charge Accounts. You can pay as little as 1/4 or more any month you desire.

Your "Cycle Credit Account" is a 30-day account when you want it as such OR an extended term account when you desire. The option is yours.

WE HOPE YOU WILL FIND THIS MODERN NEW ACCOUNTING SYSTEM MORE CONVENIENT FOR YOU...

THANKS

'Milk Break' Planned For Big Spring Pupils

Any Big Spring pupil who wants a glass of milk will find it available Monday—at bargain prices. He can have a pint of milk for a nickel. Or, if he prefers a half pint, that will be available, too, for three cents.

The Big Spring Independent School District Monday is expanding its milk program to a system-wide basis. Up to now, the milk has been available only in schools with lunchroom operations.

The milk will be offered in all schools during the lunch hour, and Supt. Floyd Parsons said some principals are planning to make it available for morning and afternoon "milk breaks."

Sale of the milk at 2½ cents a half pint is, of course, a non-profit operation of the school system.

"The program is designed purely with the health of our pupils in mind," said Supt. Floyd Parsons.

Actually, the school district will just about break even, financially, on the program, thanks to assistance from the federal government.

PURCHASED LOCALLY

The milk is purchased locally from Foremost Dairies for five cents per half pint. The federal government reimburses the school district at the rate of four cents a half pint, so net cost to the school system is a cent per pint.

Selling the product at 2½ cents a pint, the school realized a "profit" of 1½ cents per unit—just about enough to cover handling costs and breakage, Mrs. Nancy Annen, lunchroom supervisor, said.

To make the milk program as attractive as possible to pupils, Mrs. Annen said a flexible means of payment has been arranged. The pupil can pay for the milk he wants by the week, by the day or by the glass, she said.

For example, if a student would like two half-pints a day, he can turn in 25 cents on Monday and be credited with a week's supply of milk. Or he can pay for it as he drinks it, at three cents per half pint or five cents for two half pints.

Parsons announced that the Big Spring Kiwanis Club plans to supplement the milk program to the tune of $50 per month, if that much financial assistance is needed.

ICE BOXES

Foremost is furnishing an ice box for each school and will deliver the milk at the times and places designated by the various principals. Each principal will determine location of the milk center in his school, as well as times the milk will be made available to pupils.

This is the first year milk has been sold in the local schools at the current prices. Last year, it cost 10 cents per half pint, but school officials decided that more benefits would result from a low cost, high volume operation.

During September, 30,000 half pints of milk were consumed in the five schools with cafeteria operations. With the expansion of the program this week, officials think consumption may soar to 80,000 or more half pints per month.

Parsons said that any other service clubs or organizations interested in supplementing the program for the aid of underprivileged children, as the $50 monthly Kiwanis contribution is intended, will be welcomed into the program.

Assistance on the milk program is only a portion of the lunchroom aid received from the federal government. Quite a large quantity of government surplus foods go into the cafeteria lunches served in Washington, Airport, Park Hill, high, junior high and special education schools.

LUNCH STANDARDS

The meals, which sell for 35 cents, include a minimum of two ounces of meat, a green or yellow vegetable, fruit, dessert, butter, bread and milk. There also are hot dog and hamburger substitutes for the meat and bread rations.

In addition to a federal reimbursement of five cents a meal, the cafeteria received the surplus commodities free of charge, except for transportation costs from San Angelo, distribution center for this area.

Commodities received so far this year include 600 pounds of corn meal, 31 cases of powdered milk, 144 gallons of green beans, the same quantity of peas, 37 packages (50 pounds each) of flour, 31 cases of cheese, 31 cases of butter and 1,200 pounds of rice.

Counting the government contributions, Mrs. Annen estimates it costs from 31 to 36 cents per meal to serve the food. So the entire cafeteria operation lacks a little of breaking even when labor costs are added.

Participation in the cafeteria program has almost quadrupled since last year, when an average of 286 meals were served daily. During September of this year, 1,026 meals were served daily in the cafeterias.

Mrs. Annen said it is hoped the lunchroom program can be expanded eventually to all of the schools. With no cafeteria facilities at present are the Lakeview system, North Ward, Kate Morrison, East Ward, College Heights and West Ward.

KNOTT, Nov. 2 (SC)—Knott High School will stage its annual homecoming celebration next Friday and Saturday.

Starting at 6 p.m. Friday, a pep rally and bonfire will be held as a warm-up for the Knott-Klondike football game.

On Saturday, registration for the homecoming activities will start at 9 a.m. Entertainment and presentation of special awards is scheduled for the remainder of the morning, along with a business meeting of the ex-students association. Lunch will be served at noon.

Checking United Fund Receipts

Campaign workers at Webb Air Force Base tally up contributions as the base prepares to wind up its part of the Big Spring and Howard County United Fund campaign. The drive at Webb will be closed next Wednesday evening. So far, more than $3,000 has been counted. Going over records, left to right, are M-Sgt. Dudley C. Carroll Jr., A.I.C. Robert W. Paul, T.Sgt. Dewey Magee Jr., 1st Lt. Robert E. Brown and M-Sgt. Vincent Best.

A Bible Thought For Today

Therefore will not we fear though the earth be moved, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea. (Psalms 46:2)

Tuesday Is Election Day

Tuesday is election day.

Three proposed amendments to the state constitution will be left to you to decide. Good citizens will take the time to exercise this civic and democratic responsibility.

One of the amendments would alter the state retirement system by removing the present limit of $180 per year contribution by employees. The rank and file will pay in 4 1/2 per cent rather than 5 per cent as now, but the presence of some state employees in the higher brackets which go up to $15,000 could call for more matching state funds in the aggregate. Still, we feel that the system is probably in need of overhauling to be realistic and that the relatively small rise in cost is a reasonable price to pay for this.

Another amendment would liberalize the welfare payments by raising the present ceiling from $42 million to $47 million per year. Actually, the individual raises would not be striking—only about $2 per month to old age pensioners, and proportionately to needy blind and dependent children. Actually, with a $2 increase, the pension check will buy no more than it did a year or so ago. The elderly and needy are caught in the economic squeeze, and the amendment seems to be the best hope of immediate relief. Perhaps the imposition of a relative responsibility law would make all welfare funds go even further.

Third, and for the over-all implications, we think the most important for Texas, is the water bond amendment. Briefly, this would enable the state to issue bonds up to $200 million to establish a loan fund. Local political subdivisions could apply to the state for supplementary loans up to one-third the cost of their projects and not to exceed $5 million for any one project.

Because this money might be in the nature of "second lien" loans and thus permit the safe handling of the bulk of the project cost through regular private channels, the loan fund could vastly encourage the conservation and distribution of water in Texas.

Lending would not be infallible, but there are several safeguards to require these loans to be reasonably sound.

Some try to confuse this amendment with a statewide water policy, now being considered at a special session. This is a plan for helping Texans finance their own development of their own water resources. It does not make policy; it does not disturb water rights.

It does offer a means of the state giving effective help to localities with the prospect of it costing the state very little. We heartily endorse amendment No. 3.

What Is Happening Is To The Good

While avid sports fans have considered our season less than bright, they have but to look to another facet of our overall community life to see that the cycle is on the upturn.

Performances by two organizations at Howard County Junior College have brought into focus some definite advance on another front. The H.C.J.C. choir, in its premiere last week, showed itself to be capable of outstanding quality in performance. The college players did themselves proud in their first offering of the season.

While nothing is taken from those directing these programs, the accomplishment is at least in part the product of good training down in the high schools.

Soon the high school players will be giving fresh evidence of this in their first offering of the season. And then there will be music from the choir and the band.

Meantime, we have budding a Civic Music Association, which is a federation of the individuals and groups interested in the arts. From this we may get ensembles, choirs, orchestras and other groups. We also will have productions by the Civic Theatre, and over and above all this the remaining programs on the Big Spring Concert Association series. We won't use the word culture, because it disturbs some people, but we will say that what is happening is a good thing.

David Lawrence

John Bull Happy With John Foster

WASHINGTON — John Foster Dulles, secretary of state, is getting along very well with the British. This is meaningful news. For whenever he doesn't get along very well with any foreign government, the number of inspired criticisms on this side of the water, implying that the Secretary of State ought to resign, begins to multiply.

There are, of course, Democratic party politicians who keep issuing statements for partisan reasons in the hope of bringing about the elimination of Secretary Dulles from the scene. But actually this unwittingly serves the purposes of the Kremlin very well. For it keeps the free world leaders apart and exaggerates their normal differences of opinion in handling complex questions of world policy. They reason abroad that, if the Secretary of State is to be changed, it may be better to wait and see what his successor may propose.

Two weeks ago Secretary Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd had a long conference here that lasted most of the day. The two men made such excellent progress that they decided perhaps the time was ripe for a meeting between Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower. This was the way the meeting of the two heads of government arose.

The conference between Selwyn Lloyd and Secretary Dulles was an unexceptional affair and the kind of thing that doesn't get much publicity. But word came afterwards from British sources that the two men had gotten along very well indeed. Yet not so long ago there was a barrage of dispatches and comments from Americans abroad that the British "don't trust Dulles." Some of this, of course, is an overhang from hurt pride in the Suez crisis. Some of it stems from the so-called "internationalist" crowd which has been steadily striving to get more money out of the U.S. Treasury for foreign-aid programs. It is curious that to no small extent the opposition to Mr. Dulles emanates from certain quarters in Washington with ties abroad.

Basically the present Secretary of State is an American first, last and all the time. He has sternly refused to forget that his main job is to protect the interests of the United States and that the Congress consists of men in both parties who are American before they are international.

No leader in the Western world, moreover, has labored as conscientiously as Secretary Dulles to bring about an effective alliance of free countries or to forge special bilateral treaties with governments around the globe that are truly friendly to this country.

The fact is that British-American relations are taking a new turn and the alliance between the two countries will provide inside NATO more effective leadership in the world hereafter precisely because Mr. Dulles has been able to define the proper limits of collaboration. It is a partnership of equals with a dedication to the same ideals.

President Eisenhower has never fallen for the bunkum that John Foster Dulles has "reduced American prestige abroad" or that "our allies don't trust him." Mr. Eisenhower knows the sources of such irresponsible comments and has himself been familiar with every step taken in American foreign policy so that it is as much his as it is that of Secretary Dulles.

The partisan critics keep pounding away, however, to such an extent that the propaganda sinks in and makes even some Eisenhower supporters wonder if something is wrong. There is, for instance, a constant and purposeful reiteration of the rumor that Mr. Dulles will resign. Certainly if he does, it will be only because of ill health. Just now he is in excellent physical condition.

There is no man in America who knows more intimately the ins and outs of foreign policy questions than does Mr. Dulles. The policies of the United States abroad would suffer a setback if anything did happen to him. Maybe it is a mistake to vest such responsibility in one man. This correspondent wrote an article in 1952 advocating that foreign policy be conducted by a council of the five foremost Americans of a nonpolitical type. The Secretary of State would be the chairman, and the members—appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate—would give their whole time to policy making and none to administrative tasks. The council would confer at times with the President, and the members' written opinions on major questions would be directly available to him.

Some day a plan of this kind will have to be adopted if American foreign policy is to be continuous and is not to be subjected to the hazards of a changing personnel.

Detroit Not Its Boisterous Normal

DETROIT, Nov. 2 — What do you think of the business situation? The question was put to an economist of one of the major auto companies. "I don't know," was the prompt answer. "Tell me first what happened this morning."

That's Detroit at this time of the year. When the stock market goes up, Detroiters are optimistic; when it declines, Detroiters are down in the mouth. When a rumor comes from Washington that the Federal Reserve Board is thinking, perhaps, of loosening credit, Detroiters become cheerful. Then when they reread the speech of Alfred Hayes, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in which he said it would be a mistake to relax credit, they go into the doldrums.

Detroit has become a credit-conscious town. No use fancying up cars, adding gadgets, or zinging horsepower. If people can't get credit, tight money is as much a crown of thorns to Detroiters today as the rigid gold standard was to William Jennings Bryan in 1896. The Federal Reserve Board, therefore, becomes an enemy of the economy, the consumer, and, perhaps, a progenitor of unemployment.

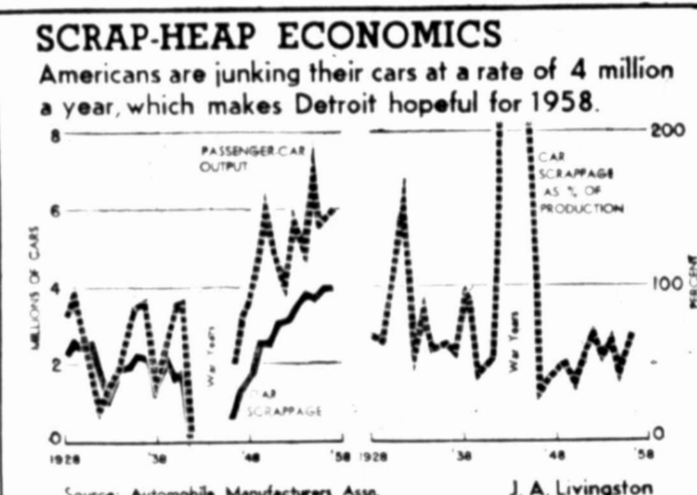

And so Detroit isn't its boisterous, optimistic normal—with every work and restore a sales brochure. Forecasts for 1958 are being held back. The industry, caught over-optimistic in 1957, doesn't want to be wrong again.

The stock market, itself, is worrisome. Not only does it raise fears of bad times ahead, but it has a direct impact on automobile sales. When stocks go down, people feel poorer. Husband and wife now wonder, "Ought we make our 1956 deal for another year?" Jewelers, furriers, and furniture dealers go through similar merchandising tortures whenever Wall Street spazzes.

It's now accepted here, as in Washington and Wall Street, that the country is having another readjustment. It seems to happen every four years, like Presidential elections.

Immediately after the war, in 1948, there was the reconversion readjustment. America got over that quickly.

Then, in 1949, business slid off. Interestingly, investors seem un-

Unemployment rose to more than 4,000,000 briefly in early 1950.

In 1953, right after President Eisenhower took over, business had another dip. This was blamed on the Federal Reserve Board-Treasury policy.

Now, in 1957, prosperity is moving sideways. Once again, money is blamed.

If credit were easier, Detroit would feel easier. Yet, a statistical case can be made for a 1958 as good as, if not better than, 1957 with estimated sales of 6,000,000 cars.

First, Americans are great car scrappers. About 4,000,000 passenger cars a year are junked (see chart). That replacement demand props the market.

Second, an increasing number of car-owners are getting out from under installment debt. R. J. Egger, an economist at Ford, figures that at the beginning of 1957 only about 100,000 debtors were completing installments on old cars. Today, 250,000 per month are tearing up their final notes, and by mid-'58 more than 300,000 families per month will enjoy that out-of-debt feeling.

To be sure, people won't turn around and go into debt immediately. But they're prospects for new cars after six months or so. Automobile analysts see this as a sales impetus in the second half of 1958. They think that's when many people who borrowed to buy in the boom year of 1955 will be ready to borrow again.

Then, in 1949, business slid off. Interestingly, investors seem undismayed by the stock market break or the shift in industrial sentiment. You'd expect that after a 20 per cent drop in stock prices, small investors—especially purchasers of mutual funds—would become uneasy. Apparently not.

The National Association of Investment Companies spot-checked 28 mutual funds for me. In the five days from October 21 through October 25—or during and just after the worst of the stock break—investors bought $18,000,000 of mutual fund shares, and turned in only $4,500,000 for redemption.

Nor do these same trusts—and they represented more than 50 per cent of the industry—except redemptions to rise. They actually added to their common stock holdings by purchasing $10,000,000 of stock in the same five days and sold only $6,000,000. On balance, then, they optimistically supported the market.

Of course, there's one important difference between Wall Street and Detroit. Wall Street is marking down prices. Industrial stocks today yield better than 44 per cent, according to Standard & Poor's Corp. A year ago they yielded less than 4 per cent.

In contrast, car prices are edging up. General Motors has announced a boost of from $35 to $225 in its 1958 models. Studebaker-Packard also marked up the list quotations.

The automobile salesman—just like the mutual fund salesman—argues the purchaser gets more for his money. But the mutual fund salesman, after a stock drop, can put it down on paper clearly. The automobile salesman hasn't that kind of a case. And so President Eisenhower's advice to housewives to purchase less when prices go up did not evoke huzzas here in Detroit.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:9,10—"If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." (RSV)

In this unforgettable picture of the omnipresence of God, the Psalmist is saying that no matter what life deals out to him, he will always be adequate. Like Sidney Lanier's marsh hen "who builds a nest on the watery sod," he has built his home "on the greatness of God." He has true peace of mind, not because he thinks he lives in a bomb-proof shelter where no evil can reach him, but because of the far-flung horizon of his soul.

There is a word here for us as we seek to live victoriously amidst the tensions of an increasingly de-personalized civilization, and the fears of an atomic age. Many a person threatened with mental illness or nervous breakdown might be spared if he could gain the assurance of the Psalmist. When life gets toughest we can be saved from frustration and hopelessness by our faith that "even there thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

Around The Rim

Santa Claus And The Farmer's Almanac

If you think tempus isn't fugiting, I can give you a rude awakening.

First thing, The Herald has already received its first letter for transmittal to Santa Claus. This comes from a young gentleman of this city who writes as follows:

"Dear Santa: I would like an chemistry set with a microscope for Christmas if you arnt ran out. Would you please send me one R.S.V.P."

Chances are, this early in the season, that Santa has not run out of chemistry sets. I rather doubt, however, that he will R. S. V. P.

Second thing, The Old Farmer's Almanac(k) has reached the desk again, for one of the real delights of the Fall season. This is for the 166th year—not the years I have received it, but the number of years it has been printed.

Even the Almanac, darn it, has had to bow before the tides of modern pressure. It apologetically has raised the price this year — to 35 cents — pointing a meaningful finger at inflation.

"And worse shame, it carries this paragraph:

"At the suggestion of the American Meteorological Society, to which we belong, year ahead forecast is labelled 'without value.' We reserve the right, however, to our opinion that the formula used will produce better forecasts than some the AMS would label 'accurate.'"

Fie on the meteorologists, I say. Let them use their calibrated instruments and take their world-wide soundings. I know not what the process used by the Old Farmer and his Almanac, but give me his weather estimates.

Well, for the winter of 1957-58, he sums it up this way:

"Ferly and surly—a real hundering." That, I can understand. It means that we're in for some rip-snothing northers, with blizzards and sleet and snow and ice, and goodness knows what other kind of bluster—and it's high time we had a winter like that.

The Almanac, of course, is much more than a weather prediction volume, and for an evening of sheer pleasure, I recommend you sit down and start thumbing through its pages of intelligence. It originally was a farmer's calendar, but through the years it has added various moral and prudential observations, some worthwhile philosophy, and not a little whimsy.

In 1809 the publication included such as this: "Either the body or the mind must be engaged in honest industry; for idleness is like grog—take nothing else, and you're gone, man."

And in 1803: "If man moves in the orbit assigned him by the Father of Nature, the calm sunshine of domestic and political happiness will be enjoyed this year."

If you're interested in things of a quasi-scientific nature, there's a new article in this year's Almanac which tells you how to tell time by the fiddler crab. I don't know how essential this is, but the time may come when the world is reduced to the need of such lore.

If you want calendar or charades, feast days or frost tables, pleasantries or puzzles, temperatures or tides, you can find it in the Almanac.

And just for record, full moon dates for 1958 are as follows: Jan. 5, Feb. 4, March 5, April 3, May 3, June 1, July 1, July 30, Aug. 29, Sept. 27, Oct. 27, Nov. 26, Dec. 25. This gives us something to look forward to.

Attitudes In Enduring Affliction

Early in September of this year, the Massachusetts Medical Society named Dr. Philip F. Fortin of New Bedford their "General Practitioner of the Year." Dr. Fortin had attracted national attention some six months earlier when he announced his retirement from practice after 24 years because he had diagnosed his own illness as an inoperable and incurable cancer of the liver.

Fellow sufferers from all over the United States wrote to Dr. Fortin, sharing their experiences. Some of them told him that they had been the victims of misdiagnosis and, although expecting the end long before, were still alive. They urged him to keep his courage up because he might be wrong about himself just as other doctors had been wrong about their patients.

Other cancer victims asked for advice. They wanted to know how they might keep their courage up, just as the newspapers reported he was doing. This is what he wrote back:

"Carry on in your family circle as though you know you'll be healed."

"Develop an inner sense of satisfaction from having done as much for your fellow men as many others who may live longer than you will."

"Decide that the Creator has a life pattern for each of us. Others have endured your particular affliction. You can, too."

Dr. Fortin took his own advice. It was a good thing that he did. He was a fine doctor and his diagnosis of his own disease was a careful one. He died only a week after the medical society had honored him.

Illness and affliction somehow brings out the best in people. Day after day, in my work, I talk with people who are sick, or weary, or suffering, and I am repeatedly amazed by their goodness and strength. I have seen them meet and stand up to their pain, to the disappointments and difficulties of human life. And I have wondered what it is that enables them to see it through, to live with pain.

As a result of my observations, I have come to the conclusion that, as tough as it is, one of the simplest solutions to the problem of pain is simply to make up your mind to lick it. One thing that will help you do that is to invoke a rugged statement from the Bible: "Quit ye like men, be strong." The effect of pain is very great indeed; but the effects of strength of mind and soul can be even greater.

An important factor in your program of overcoming pain is the practice of prayer. I believe that you have the right to ask God to take away or reduce your pain. Ask Him and believe that He will grant your request for, as we have been told, "according to your faith be it unto you."

Then, having made the request, put the pain in God's hands and leave its disposition to Him. If it is His will that you are to endure it, He will fortify you with sufficient understanding and strength to do so. Perhaps the great blessing of healing may be granted you. Keep that hope alive while living with your pain, even while accepting it.

Whatever He does, surrender yourself to God. Pray that His will be done. Make yourself expert in the art of acceptance, and you will find inner peace and a sense of Divine love that makes it possible to endure any affliction. Moreover, this relaxed attitude will often stimulate healing forces. Set four glorious words against affliction and you can win your battle. These four words are: Patience, acceptance, faith, hope.

Looking At Future In The Middle East

On Tuesday Khrushchev went to a cocktail party at the Turkish Embassy, and there he toasted peace exuberantly and repeatedly. So it looks as if for the time being the heat has been let out of the Turkish-Syrian crisis. This will confirm the opinion of those who have been saying that nobody has been planning to make war on any one else, and that it was a misreading of the game of power politics to suppose that Turkey or Syria, that Russia or the United States, was getting ready to move.

It would, however, be a serious mistake to conclude from this that because war is not impending, the Syrian situation is not a very serious one. Syria is a dangerous place for the world because so much is at stake for all the great powers at a time when the Syrian government is weak, unstable, and not the master in its own house. The controlling fact is that the Syrian government cannot be depended upon to maintain its independence and to hold to a policy of neutrality. If it could be depended upon to do this, Syria would break out of the vicious circle of great power politics. Because the government is weak, the great powers have all concluded that Syria will fall either into the orbit of the Soviet Union or into the orbit of the United States.

This being the basic problem, the Syrian plots and counterplots, abroad and at home, are full of dynamite. They should not be monkeyed with by anyone who is not sure that he can control the consequences.

If, as Khrushchev's gestures at the Turkish Embassy indicate, there is to be a lull in the cold war over Syria, would it not be the part of wisdom to regard it as an opportunity to attempt a fresh start in the Middle East? If this is to be done, Mr. Dulles will have to overcome his own obsession, which is reflected in the Eisenhower doctrine, that most of the Arab countries can be, or at least should be, aligned in a common military front against the Soviet Union.

Mr. Dulles will have to open his mind to the idea that most if not all of the Arab countries do not wish to expel either Russia or the United States from the Middle East. It is evident to them that they have much more to gain from the two great powers competing than from the exclusive influence of either one of them. If this is correct, and I have no doubt it is, Mr. Dulles has no chance to succeed in the Middle East if he refuses to accept the fact that the Soviet Union is a principal power—a power which cannot be expelled and excluded, which must be balanced and negotiated with.

We should, it seems to me, have it clearly in mind that we are on the threshold of a new situation in regard to the oil in the Middle East. This is often taken to mean that the Arab countries, infiltrated by the Soviet Union, may attempt to ruin Western Europe by depriving it of access to the oil.

Theoretically, that could happen if we take the simple view that Russia may conquer and occupy the oil countries. But in fact this is not likely to happen since it would precipitate a world war. What is likely to happen is that the Arab countries, using Soviet influence as a lever, will attempt to force the Western oil companies to a radical revision of the existing contracts. The Middle Eastern countries have no interest in cutting off the export of oil to Europe. On the contrary, it is their vital interest that the trade should continue. What they will seek, both the oil-bearing countries around the Persian Gulf, and the transit countries like Syria and Egypt, is a bigger share of the profits of the oil business.

The time is not far distant when we should be well prepared, first intellectually and then in our diplomacy, for what lies not far behind the current events.

Ford Money Improves Hospital Facilities Here

Back in mid-December, 1955, two of Big Spring's hospitals received a telegram which was equivalent to a very fine Christmas present. The telegrams were from the Ford Foundation. They were almost identical in wording but there was a slight difference in the figures in the respective messages.

The Big Spring Hospital's wire read that the Ford Foundation had selected it to receive a grant of $24,600. That received by Malone & Hogan Hospital was the same except the amount was $21,700. There was a delay to May 21, 1956. On that date, the Big Spring Hospital received a check from the Ford Foundation for $12,300 and the Malone & Hogan Hospital got a check for $10,550. These represented the first half payments of the total grant. The second checks in the same amounts arrived on Mar. 18, 1957.

Meantime, the hospital managements had not been idle. Letters which followed the initial telegrams informed the institutions they might use the money for any activity they might elect provided that it was expended for some enterprise which would expand and better hospital facilities in the community. It was specified the money could not be used for administrative expenses. It had to be spent for improvements in the hospital service.

FUNDS USED

Twenty-two months have passed and the funds have now either been expended by the two hospitals or steps have been taken by which the money will be used. D. S. Riley, administrator for the Malone & Hogan Hospital, said that some of the money was used to buy new developing tanks and install a refrigerator unit in the X-ray department. Lavatories were installed in 23 of the hospital's patient rooms where such facilities were not previously available. A new bathroom and better plumbing was installed in the obstetrics department. A tile floor was laid in the basement. A new bookkeeping posting machine was added to the business office. A new aluminum and glass front door system was installed. An electric dumb waiter has been put in operation.

A contract has been let and work will soon be started to install aluminum windows in all rooms of the building. This is the final item on the program at Malone & Hogan Hospital, Riley said.

He added that the $21,700 was not enough to cover all of these improvements but, he declared, "it was a tremendous help."

WOULD ACCEPT MORE

"If the Ford Foundation wants to do the thing over again," he said, "We'd be happy to accept any checks they might send."

C. A. Weeg, administrator for the Big Spring Hospital, echoed the same sentiments.

"It was a remarkable piece of work," he pointed. "The grants were free of encumbering strings

Ford Foundation Bought This

Shown above is the X-ray equipment added to the Big Spring Hospital facilities in the last year. This valuable device was paid for with a part of the funds the hospital received in its grant from the Ford Foundation. The Big Spring Hospital and the Malone & Hogan Hospital were given grants by the foundation and each has expended the money in installing additional services and facilities. The technician shown in the picture is Mrs. Deanna Rogers.

U.S. Soldiers To Serve As Santa Claus In Korea

Soldiers in the 7th Infantry Division are laying plans to play Santa Claus in Korea again this year.

Members of the division are writing U. S. newspapers for assistance in their project. A similar undertaking last year was a "huge success." Sp. 3.C. Edman McMurray wrote The Herald this week.

"This year, again, we would like to celebrate Christmas in the true Christmas fashion by injecting some of the joy, spirit and good will which we know so well into the lives of the many unfortunate youngsters here in Korea," McMurray wrote.

"The members of the 7th Infantry Division contribute generously to Operation Santa Claus. The reward is a shy smile of gratitude and the feeling that in some small way we have helped to make a child warm and happy. To most Korean children, Santa Claus wears a fatigue uniform and combat boots.

"Won't you help us make a child happy? That old coat or dress you have packed away with intentions of throwing out some day will warm a child this Christmas. Nothing is too old or worn out. Although clothing suitable for chil-

Buck Rogers Finds Few Followers Here

The younger generation around Big Spring either doesn't know of Sputnik's existence or it doesn't care for space travel.

A check this week revealed that the sale of space toys, guns, and suits has not picked up in the past four weeks since the Russians fired their first world satellite. In fact, very few toys dealing with the future have been sold here before or since the coming of Sputnik.

Most stores handling toys have space gear, but kids have overlooked Sputnik—the ball causing so much trouble in mom's and dad's world—and cast their eyes toward Wyatt Earp, the OK Corral et al. Store managers find that their sales of space equipment, including suits, is very small.

The managers said that western clothes and equipment are the big sellers here, followed by military equipment.

This has been attributed to the locale, the growing number of westerns on TV, and the fact that many of the people living in Big Spring are connected with the Air Force at Webb.

Whatever it is, Buck Rogers would have trouble getting a crew of followers in Big Spring.

TU System 4th In Size

AUSTIN, Nov. 2—The University of Texas system is now the fourth largest in the nation, President Logan Wilson today told the faculty.

In a progress report covering the five-year period ended 1956-57 Dr. Wilson said that although no merit attaches to sheer size, the institution can take legitimate pride in physical growth as one gauge of its success in meeting enlarged responsibilities in a rapidly growing region.

"Despite the expenditure of large sums of money for buildings during the past five years, our physical plant is not now adequate for our needs and cannot be for some time to come," he added.

The proportion of Main University graduate students declined steadily from 18.3 per cent in 1952-53, to 13.1 per cent in 1956-57, he said. The 4 to 5 ratio between upper and lower division students in undergraduate work remained constant "giving no indication, as is sometimes charged, that we are becoming predominantly an institution for advanced students only." The number of entering freshmen last fall was almost identical with that in each of the preceding three years.

Shakespeare Course Popular

Shakespeare bids fair to win the popularity poll of the Howard County Junior College adult education program.

Of course there isn't any such poll, but indications are that enrollment in the short course in Shakespeare will far outnumber other courses. In fact, Dr. Marvin Baker, director of the adult education program, said he is expecting a sizable number from Snyder, Lamesa, and Stanton for the series of four films and lectures.

The first one is Monday at 7:30 p.m. when "Henry V" will be shown. For those who have not pre-registered, the doors will be open at 7 p.m. Fee for the four productions is $2.

In each instance, Elizabeth Daniels, member of the English faculty, will give a brief interpretative lecture prior to the presentation of the sound movie. The films are feature length and are done by such outstanding actors as Sir Laurence Olivier.

Other plays on the course are "Richard II" on Thursday evening, "Hamlet" on Nov. 14 and "Midsummer Night's Dream" on Nov. 18.

Homecoming Is Slated At Tech

LUBBOCK, Nov. 2—Hundreds of Spanish luminarias — paper bags with candles imbedded in sand—will light the Texas Tech campus Friday night as the institution opens major festivities at its 28th Homecoming.

Other features will include coronation of a Homecoming Queen at 7 p.m. in the Science Quadrangle and numerous class reunions. More than 20 colorful floats are expected to form the backbone of a downtown parade Saturday morning. Exes will be guest for lunch in the old gym. That afternoon Tech's Red Raiders will meet Tulsa University in football in Jones Stadium.

Climaxing the program will be a Homecoming Ball at 7 p.m. in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum, with music by Charlie Barnett and his orchestra.

On the business side, the Tech Ex-Students Assn. will hold its annual meeting from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday in the Tech Union Building ballroom. Current association officers are Culver Hill of Lubbock, president; Curtis Sterling of Brownfield, vice president; Bob Dean of Midland, second vice president; and L. C. Walker, Lubbock, executive secretary.

TOPS ON TV

Production To Dramatize Development Of The FBI

"FBI," the story of a revolution in crime enforcement and its chief, J. Edgar Hoover, will be this afternoon's "Twentieth Century" presentation on Channel 4 at 5:30.

The program will show how the historic case of criminal John Dillinger focused national attention on the FBI in the early thirties, and how Hoover, who became acting director in 1924, built an incorruptible law enforcement agency in a time when mobsters, violence, torture, bribery and organized murder reigned supreme.

Murder shatters the quiet of a college campus and a 14-month-old baby leads to the killer's surrender, as "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" another mystery on his show on KEDY TV tonight at 8:30.

"Lucy Takes A Cruise to Havana," premiere program of the new "Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz Show" which debuts Wednesday night at 8, will be the first 75 minute telecast ever seen on the CBS TV network.

Johnny Desmond, Marisa Pavan and James Dunn co-star in Thursday's "Climax" production "Keep Me in Mind." Desmond plays a publicity-hungry singer who finds that his self-engineered "stunts" backfire, as he is stalked by a relentless killer.

Margaret O'Brien will co-star with Jack Lemmon, Herbert Marshall and Gladys Cooper in "The Mystery of Thirteen" on "Playhouse 90" Thursday night at 9:30 on KEDY TV.

The production is based on Robert Graves' recent novel "They Hanged My Sainly Billy," the story of Dr. Billy Palmer who actually lived about 100 years ago. He was reputed to have been responsible for 13 murders when he was finally hanged for the killing of a close friend.

Grew Out Of Part

NEW YORK (AP)—Jenny Hecht, who used to be a child actress on Broadway, finds growing up can cause career problems.

Sill in her early teens, Jenny was signed a white back for a role in "The Rope Dancers." But when the show went into production, it was found she had outgrown the part, and it has been reassigned to 11-year-old Beverly Lunsford, a Broadway newcomer.

Sullivan Unworried By Singing Hosts

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP)—How does the grand old man of TV variety shows feel about the avalanche of same-hosted singers this season?

Ed Sullivan isn't worried. "A good number of them will fall by the wayside," said the great stonemason, indicating that Sullivan will keep rolling along.

That's the question that has been asked in and out of show business since Sullivan started his Sunday night clam bake 10 years ago. He himself offered some reasons.

"I think my show has succeeded because it's a newspaperman's show. I don't sing. I don't dance. I don't tell jokes. But I think as a columnist I've sat through enough attractions to know what it takes to put together a good show. And I can do it without any feelings of a performer myself."

"I can routine the acts without having the performers feel I'm saving the time for myself. I've cut big-name acts from their usual 26 minutes to 4. "But if I were a singer or a comic myself, I'd have trouble doing that. Performers are jealous. But nobody's jealous of me as a performer."

Another hazard, he pointed out, is the practice of singers exchanging guest shots on each other's shows. Such over-exposure can be dangerous, said Sullivan.

"The audience is bound to get tired of seeing performers all the time," he added. "That's what happened to Milton Berle."

The emcee said he had trouble in his early days convincing critics he knew what he was doing. One took him to task for putting an act like the Ink Spots on first.

"But I knew TV wasn't like vaudeville, where you always put on the acrobats first," he said. "I put on the Ink Spots first so the audience would stick with me to see what I could top them with."

Fortunately for Ed, his ideas have proved their value. Hence his record as the dean of TV variety.

LIFE WITH MUSIC

Music's Real Test Whether It Wears

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

It seems surprising that the majority of popular music listeners are hot after anything new, while the bulk of classical music lovers are afraid of new music of any kind. The net result is a rapid succession of popular "hits" whose only value is newness, on the one hand, and a constant repetition of solid, yet sometimes stolid classics on the other.

Good music can stand repetition, while bad music can not. A great symphony, a beautiful art song or a fine piano work reveals new charms at every hearing. But a shallow work — regardless of whether it is intended to be "classical" or popular — discloses its faults at every performance and soon palls upon even the least expert ear.

THE REAL TEST

The real test of any piece of music is how it wears. It may be pleasant and entertaining at first hearing, or even at the second. But if it loses value in the listener's ear after that, it soon will be discarded, and rightly so. Another work may not seem particularly attractive at first, yet grow in appeal with subsequent hearings and eventually become a favorite.

For this reason, if for no other, any piece of music worth hearing once should be heard twice or Beethoven or Mozart, but dare not comment on a new opus by Bennett or Piston, lest the very words expose their ignorance.

HEAR IT AGAIN

Yet if they were wise enough to say of a new work, "I'd like to hear it again before deciding, to see how it bears up," they could develop their tastes and achieve a reputation for sagacity, as well.

The young people's concert series by the Little Orchestra Society of New York proved so popular that a duplicate series has been announced to satisfy the overflow of parents and children too late in subscribing to the first one.

The California Chapter of the Accordion Teachers Guild is bringing the Palmer-Hughes Accordion Duo from their Houston habitat to the West Coast for a concert and workshop. . . . Radio Britain's charming song, "Withered Flowers," has just been published.

The devastating satires on TV, composed for the occasion by several members of the Composers and Lyricists Guild of America, had the auditors in stitches at the organization's second annual banquet. They never will be published. Definitely.

'Kate' Due For Poland

NEW YORK (AP)—Theater fans in Poland are going to see "Kiss Me Kate," one of America's most popular musicals abroad, as the result of special royalty arrangements.

The writers of the show, Sam and Bella Spewack have assigned their percentage to Jewish relief work in that country.

CRITIQUE Of The Local Entertainment Scene

By BOB SMITH

Let's Not Forget Our Own Culture

Last week, I had something to say about the propagation of culture in a city like Big Spring, a community whose people are still somewhat of a frontier frame of mind. I used the theatre as just one example, but actually, there are four main areas of culture: Theatre, music, art and literature.

These four must all be developed at the same time, and it is impossible to foster one without materially aiding the other. Components of cultural life cannot be boxed separately like manufactured items.

But, for most people, an awakening interest in literature, for example, quickens an interest in art.

This principle applies equally inside each major cultural area. If the local college players give a lousy performance, it hurts the chances of the civic theatre at a later date.

It works the other way: A good performance by the college players, for example, will mean a better turnout later at a performance by the civic theatre.

This is not to say that there cannot be politicking and division within an organization—in fact, if the group numbers more than a dozen people, there's no way to avoid it.

I hope there'll be little of this sort of foolishness as Big Spring crosses that critical line from the mediocre to the truly cultural.

The purpose of this column has been to foster the various arts in Big Spring. So far, I have been concerned mainly with theatre and music, but there will be space available also to literature and

Readings Being Held For Play

The Civic Theatre is holding readings now for roles in "Bell, Book and Candle." The lead role calls for a good-looking young woman with loads of talent. It is the part of a witch. There are other roles for would-be witches, too. This promises to be an evening of real entertainment.

The readings are being continued this afternoon at 2 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce offices, and all people interested in any phase of theatre work are invited to attend.

'Glass Menagerie' Next For College

I didn't get to see the College Players' production, "See How They Run." Had a tussle with the flu. But I did get to see the last half of the last act during the last performance, enough to see that the play was well done. And I also checked out something that had been plainly evident during rehearsals: That the star performer was Danne Green.

It is difficult to compare the players beyond that point, however; they were all good.

An unusual facet of the college performances is the introduction of the reception following the performance.

Adapting Novel

NEW YORK (AP)—Pulitzer Prize Playwright Maxwell Anderson is adapting the Brendan Gill novel, "The Day the Music Stopped," for Broadway production. Sponsors of the enterprise are the Producers Theatre and Stanley Gilkey.

formance, a tactic of getting players and audience together that is seldom used. Punch and cookies were served to those who wished to meet the cast.

Possibly the greatest shock to the untutored was the appearance of the players under the heavy makeup — they looked fine on stage, but at point blank range they looked slightly inhuman. I noticed several unsuspecting theatre fans doing double takes at the reception.

Next play for the college theatre will be "Glass Menagerie," which director Fred Short plans to produce "in the round."

Interest Shown In Music Assn.

A continuing interest is being shown in the Civic Music Assn., with members of the board of directors having been contacted by interested residents. And in addition, several civic groups have already asked the CMA to provide ensembles for entertainment at their meetings. And all this before Auditorium.

the charter has been issued. Thus, interest in a local musical organization seems to have been here all along—all it needed was a push in the right direction. And all it needs now is someone to continue pushing.

Barber Shoppers To Stage Show

Nov. 16 is the big night for our local barber shoppers, for that is the night they stage their big annual performance with the aid of the Kiwanians. The show will include a 100 voice choir and several quartets.

There will be groups from Lamesa, Odessa, San Angelo, Lubbock and Big Spring, in addition to three champion quartets; The Four Pesos of El Paso; the Madcaps of Dallas; and the Cavern City Four of Carlsbad—all members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. The show is planned for City Auditorium.

No Down Payment

Tony Randall and Sheree North have their first non-comic, non-musical roles in "No Down Payment," showing Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz Theatre, a screen version of the novel that peeks into the lives of four young married couples in a postwar housing development. Also starring are Joanne Woodward, Jeffrey Hunter, Cameron Mitchell, Patricia Owens, Barbara Rush and Pat Hingle.

Jailhouse Rock

Elvis Presley plays his longest love scene to date in "Jailhouse Rock," with blonde Jennifer Holden on the receiving end. Judy Tyler and Mickey Shaughnessy also star in this musical drama which plays Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Something of Value

Dana Wynter comforts her husband, played by Rock Hudson, in this scene from "Something of Value," screen dramatization of Robert Ruark's hard-hitting and bloody tale about the Mau Mau uprising in Africa. The film plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. Sidney Poitier is co-starred as the young native, boyhood friend of Hudson's, who is forced by white cruelty to become a leader of the fanatical Mau Mau.

Bachelor Party

A good time was had by all — up to about midnight, that is, and then the piper comes around to collect his pay. But the guys in the scene above are just getting started on their night of carousing. There are many humorous and many dramatic situations they find themselves in before the party's over. "Bachelor Party" shows Sunday and Monday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre.

Proud And Profane

Deborah Kerr is seduced by William Holden in the highly emotional drama, "The Proud and the Profane," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre. It is the story of what happens to many people during, and as a result of World War II.

Race To Reach Moon Begins

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—The race to land on the moon is on.

There are Russian hints they may do it soon—even speculation that this may be the important announcement Russia has promised for Thursday, on the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

U. S. civilian and military scientists are being urged to get an American rocket there first, to soothe somewhat the national pride hurt by Russian success in putting the first satellite aloft.

The Air Force already has sent a rocket to an altitude estimated by one of the experimenters at more than 4,000 miles. The firing was made from a balloon, floating about 100,000 feet over Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific. The Air Force added that somewhat the same balloon-rocket system might possibly be used to send a rocket to the moon within a year.

Victory in the race will go to the nation whose skill simply sends a rocket plowing into a dusty crater or a dry "sea" on the moon's silent, pockmarked face. But it could do more.

It could explode a brilliant magnesium flare, signalling its arrival. It could carry a nation's flag, and thus file a first claim to owning the moon.

It might talk back by radio with the first news of what the moon is actually like.

But the quest to the moon is an inevitable consequence of Sputnik the First, Russia's man-made little moon hung in the heavens just four weeks ago. Sputnik opened the space age.

It brings hardening reality to the when, how, and why of reaching the moon.

Scientifically, an unmanned rocket to the moon is near, rocket experts agree.

The rocket must reach a speed of seven miles per second—25,000 miles an hour. Then it can escape the earth's insistent "pull" of gravity.

BALANCING SPEED
Sputnik travels five miles a second, just fast enough to balance the earth's gravity and go circling around us.

Sputnik weighs 184 pounds, the Russians report. Its last rocket kicked it up to a speed of five miles per second.

Suppose Sputnik were itself a rocket, which could fire off to add the needed two more miles per second? Or suppose it was fairly light, and the last in a series of rockets that fired off in perfectly timed stages.

Then it could escape from the earth. When it reached a point some 200,000 miles above the earth, it might be travelling only a few hundred miles an hour.

It would have been slowed by the earth's gravity, unless it could turn on bursts of extra power later to boost its speed.

Now the coasting rocket is pulled in by the moon's gravity, only one-sixth as strong as the earth's. It could go slamming into the moon's face.

Or, depending on its speed and direction and controls, it might just circle around the moon and head back to earth. Given rocket braking controls, it could settle gently on the moon's surface.

Precise navigation and guidance are big problems even just to hit the moon.

For the moon is travelling about

2,300 miles an hour. With a mass or weight only one-eighth that of the earth, it counterbalances an orbit an average of 239,000 miles away. The moon, in total, is made of lighter material than the earth, for it is about one-fourth as big as the earth in size.

Russian spokesmen hint of a surprise surpassing Sputnik on Nov. 7 to mark their proudest anniversary. One guess is they could be planning to hit the moon with a rocket.

Most experts think the human moon trip will start from space platforms circling high around the earth. Cargo rockets and human taxirockets could be launched by delicate timing, in an orbit, and humans then assemble living quarters and a rocket launching station.

With your space platform traveling 5 miles per second, it would be easier and cheaper than to shoot off the moon rocket fast enough to go to the moon.

Why go there anyhow? Partly because it's our nearest neighbor, and easiest to reach. And what's there. The answer to baffling mysteries. The moon is pitted with craters, the biggest apparently nearly 150 miles across, perhaps half a mile deep. It has mountains reaching four to five miles high. It has vast dry plains or "seas."

CRATERS ORIGIN
Were its craters formed by long-dead volcanoes set off by hot lava? Or were they formed by meteors and chunks from an exploded planet? Or did the moon when it was more plastic, act like a great broom sweeping up debris in outer space?

There are scientific proponents of both theories, evidence for each view. Trained human explorers could learn.

And what's on the other side of the moon—the face that never turns toward us because of the moon's speed of rotation? Just more of the same thing? Or something unusual? A rocket with TV eyes circling the moon could do the spying.

The moon has no air, or so little as apparently to be meaningless. There would be no sound, even when a 40-mile-per second meteor blasted in, melting a bit of the moon as it hit.

Without air, you couldn't fly a helicopter or airplane, or parachute things from a rocket. You'd need special kinds of vehicles to roam over the moon's surface.

Jumping, you could shame a kangaroo. You could leap six times higher than on earth with its stronger gravity. At 150 pounds you'd weigh only 25 pounds.

MOON DUST
Most scientists guess the moon is covered with dust, from less than an inch to several yards thick. Dust from volcanic action or meteor blasts, or caused by successive freezing and heating of the moon's rocks. By day, the moon temperature is 235 degrees, by night 148 below zero.

There's no water, or precious little.

Yet the moon beckons. The moon could be a priceless observatory for great telescopes exploring the universe. On earth, even on mountain-tops, the earth's shimmering air makes starlight tremble, makes seeing difficult.

From the moon, telescopes could solve the mystery of Mars' "canals" and questions about other planets and stars. From the moon, our earth would be a huge brilliant ball in a black sky.

The moon could be a way station perhaps to other planets. Or, militarily it could have uses. Even, by one suggestion, a safe place for H-bomb testing.

When will humans go? Some space and rocket experts think it could be soon, perhaps 10 years. Others put it far, far off.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

The week's viewing in capsule form:
"Jailhouse Rock." Elvis Presley musical in which co-star Mickey Shaughnessy steals all awards for acting.

"No Down Payment." Screen version of a novel that claims to look inside young married America for the first time. Lord help us if we're like this.

"Bachelor Party." A group of regular guys out on the town. A lot of fun, capped by a little realistic preaching.

"The Proud and the Profane." A highly dramatic tale of what war can do to people, both good and bad.

"Whispering Smith." A rousing Western saga of a man who spoke softly but carried a big boomstick.

"The Prince and the Showgirl." A harmless little fairy tale that features the curves of Marilyn Monroe and the talents of Lawrence Olivier.

"Something of Value." A sympathetic and rather bloody look at East Africa's recently quelled Mau Mau uprising.

The Week's Playbill

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

The real test of what folk are reading, I suppose, is to find out the books they are buying.

If a bookworm is sufficiently interested in a book to plank down his cold cash for a copy, you may rest assured he is really interested and intends to read the book in question.

He may go to a library and ask for some currently popular book and find that some earlier applicant has already nabbed on to it.

He will do one of two things—ask that his name be placed on the list to get the book next; or forget all about it and pick out some other volume.

If he is truly interested, he may go to the book store and buy his own copy.

I wanted to find out what Big Springers were spending their book money for so I went to the Book Stall in the Crawford Hotel and asked a few questions.

Local readers have a number of current favorites, I was told. Keeping supplies of these on hand sometimes becomes quite a problem.

Take a book called "Atlas Shrugged" by Ayn Rand, for example. Or "To Live Again" by Katherine Marshall. This book, I am told by the Book Stall is a follow-up on "A Man Called Peter."

The Book Stall has difficulty keeping enough copies of these to supply demands.

Another one in high favor with local folk is the new volume by Art Linkletter, veteran radio and television performer. This book "Kids Say the Darndest Things" is illustrated by the same artist who draws the inimitable "Peanuts" of the comic page.

For the semi-serious reader, the Book Stall says that its customers recommend a brand-new one "The DA'S Man"—a report on the work of the district attorney's staff under Thomas Dewey. Danforth and Hogan are the authors.

Jim Bishop's long time favorite (it's no longer on the best seller list but it is still in high favor) "The Day Christ Died" is another popular seller locally.

Garden club members and folk who like to potter in the yard growing things have taken a fancy to "All the Plants of the Bible" by Winifred Walker. This is an interesting little book. It cites the passage from the Bible in which the plant is named, describes it and provides an illustration to show the reader what it looks like. Miss Walker did the illustrations, too.

Books about health are always popular. Charles F. Haywood's "You Need A Complete Rest" is a good example. And the Book Stall has to reorder "How to Live 365 Days a Year" by Jo John A. Schindler, over and over again.

Another book, getting wide attention generally is the one with the unusual title Robert Paul Smith's "Where Did You Go?—Out; What Did You Do? Nothing."

This one is currently on the best seller nonfiction list.

Amateurs Get Television Scripts

NEW YORK (AP)—Television is joining Broadway as a source of scripts for amateur theatrical groups.

The Dramatists Play Service included four TV originals in the latest batch of plays released for such use. Single video scripts occasionally have been released previously.

Included are "Amicable Parting" by George S. Kaufman and Leueen McGrath; "The Staring Match" by Jerry McNeely; "Your Every Wish" by Clifford Goldsmith, and "The Drop of a Hat" by Dick Berg.

Publisher, Lawyer Run For Governor

By MEYER LURIE
NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 2 (AP)—A lawyer who delivered newspapers as a boy to help the family finances and a young publisher who inherited a prosperous magazine are running for the New Jersey governorship in Tuesday's election. The outcome will be watched by political pulsetakers plotting their 1958 and 1960 charts.

The one-time newsie is Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner, handsome 49-year-old smalltown lawyer who four years ago scored an upset in this normally Republican state and won national attention as a potential White House occupant. He is running as the favorite this year despite President Eisenhower's three-quarter million vote plurality in New Jersey in 1956.

Staging a sunup to midnight handshaking, doorbell-ringing, speechmaking tour is Republican State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, affable 38-year-old publisher and editor of Forbes magazine of business and finance. He is an Eisenhower Republican.

President Eisenhower himself gave Forbes a warm endorsement this week.

"I believe he is a man of fine character," the President told his news conference. "He has a fine family and I think he would make an effective governor, so I am for him."

This year 2,783,315 New Jerseyans are eligible to vote. The New Jersey Poll and one conducted by the pro-Meyner Newark Star-Ledger have shown Meyner leading.

The New Jersey Poll, conducted by Kenneth Pink, gives Meyner 50 per cent of the total vote to 43 for Forbes, with 7 undecided.

The Star-Ledger has predicted on the basis of its mail poll's results that Meyner will win by a plurality larger than his 153,000 margin in 1953.

The Republicans are counting on two intangibles which a poll may not necessarily reflect—the impact of the Little Rock school integration struggle on Negro voters and a Democratic intraparty battle in Hudson County, where the late Frank Hague once delivered decisive pluralities.

Addressing a group of leaders of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, Forbes contrasted the actions of Republican President Eisenhower and Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas in the school integration controversy. Meyner replied by pointing to the list of Negroes he has named to high offices.

In Democratic Hudson, registration dropped by 29,000 since 1953. In the same period registration went up nearly 33,000 in the banner Republican county of Bergen—a suburban area west of the George Washington Bridge.

Meyner disclaims any national ambitions but politicians noted his availability as speaker at Jefferson-Jackson dinners and Democratic clambakes throughout the country the past four years. He played an important role in the swing to Adlai E. Stevenson at the Democratic National Convention in 1956.

45 Per Cent Of School Taxes Are Paid In October
About 45 per cent of the Big Spring Independent School District's tax levy was collected during October, first month the 1957 taxes were payable, Tax Assessor J. O. Hagood reported.

Collections totaled $310,099.15. The roll is $670,143.96.

Hagood said personnel in his office now are engaged in writing receipts for the vast sums that were paid by mail during the month. These will be dispatched to taxpayers as quickly as they are completed.

Collections during October included $307,460.31 on the current roll, $2,603.34 on the delinquent roll, and $35.50 in miscellaneous fees.

Discounts, granted at the rate of three per cent for current tax payments in October, amounted to $9,223.51. Two per cent discount will be allowed for November payments.

Of the sums collected last month, $245,154.62 went into the maintenance and operations fund and $53,082.18 was put in the interest and sinking fund.

Army To Display 'New Look' Here Next Saturday

What the Army calls its "new look" will be exhibited in Big Spring next Saturday by the mobile display unit of the Fourth Army Recruiting District.

The displays will be set up in a converted passenger bus, recognizable by its red, white and blue paint job. M. Sgt. Robert L. Martin, Army recruiter from Lamesa, said the bus will be parked near the courthouse square from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday. There will be no admission charge.

Combat concepts of the modern army stressing mobility and greater fire-power and the latest fire control systems, will be shown, Martin said.

The Army's counter-mortar system, which combats enemy artillery, and the action connected with the Army's famed Airborne troops are displayed in three-dimensional settings on the exhibit. These displays point out the training received by today's soldier and his technical skills.

Common Schools Operate On Revenues Totaling $319,000

Howard County's five dependent schools reported current operation and debt service receipts for 1956-57 of $319,031.41 and expenditures of $279,056.35, a check of the financial statements released Saturday by Walker Bailey, county superintendent, reveals.

Instructional costs were $97,704.67 in the five schools. The schools in the county system are Vealmoor, Elbow, Midway, Center Point and Gay Hill.

GAY HILL SCHOOL
Gay Hill School District No. 6 shows that a total of $156,991.82 receipts for operation and building, State per capita income is $7,869.30; federal school lunch program, $1,066.08; current taxes $47,356.78; bond sales during 1956-57 $100,195.28.

The school reports under current receipts for debt service: Current taxes, $11,839.19; delinquent taxes $25.26; interest on investments, $1,064.92 for a total of $12,929.37.

The school showed the following balances in the bank: State and county fund, $525.24; local maintenance fund $8,224.05; interest and sinking fund $790.20 for a total of $9,539.49. This brings total receipts to $179,430.66.

Under expenditures for the 1956-57 year, Gay Hill reports administrative costs $1,409.65; instructional costs, $27,025.07; other school services (transportation and food) $16,047.10; plant operation $5,437.83; plant maintenance $2,748.25; rent and tuition, $2,953.81; bus and new addition (capital outlay) $44,945.45; debt service (bonds and interest) $7,031.50. Total $107,598.66.

Balances in the bank to the credit of Gay Hill School District, Sept. 1, 1957, were $71,852.02.

CENTER POINT
Center Point School District No. 7 reported total receipts received for operation at $14,565.13. These were derived: State per capita $5,168.75; salary and operation aid, $4,330; county available $5.36; federal school lunch, $379.81; current taxes $4,472.50; delinquent taxes $221.96; non-revenue receipts $6.75. Current receipts for debt service: Current taxes $394.48; delinquent taxes $44.39; total $938.87. Balances on hand Sept. 1, state and county fund $998.68; local maintenance fund $1,227.17; interest and sinking fund $652.73. Total $2,878.58.

This brought the current receipts and balances to $18,402.58.

Current expenditures for 1956-57 total $15,790.21. These are broken down: Administration $101.45; instructional costs $10,599.70; other school services $471.73; operation of plant, $1,071.29; maintenance of plant $2,389.30; insurance $181.40; capital outlay $443.34; bonds and interest (debt service) $532. The school had bank balances on hand

Sept. 1 of $2,612.37.

Abilene Hospital Dormitories To Be Dedicated Monday
AUSTIN, Nov. 2—The Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools will meet Monday morning at Abilene State School prior to dedication of two new dormitories. Dr. Raleigh R. Ross of Austin, chairman, said today.

Among other business, the board will consider a report from its committee on selection of a site for the new school for mentally retarded children to be located in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area.

The Abilene institution was designated as a school for mentally retarded persons during the past legislative session. Previously it had been known as Abilene State Hospital for Epileptics, although, according to the board chairman, the primary handicap of almost its entire population was mental retardation.

The school now serves as an admission and diagnostic center for mentally retarded persons in the western portion of the state. Austin State School is the other admitting institution.
