Daniel To Rule On Segregation Session

AUSTIN (AP)—The House debated today a resolution asking Gov. Price Daniel to call a second segregation session to take up segregation. The Senate passed the administration-backed crime study measure.

work first on a House-passed bill creating a crime and law enforcement study commission to make recommendations to the next Legislature. The bill was re-written by a Senate subcommittee to eliminate the closed door sessions and to cut the proposed appropriation from $25,000 to $7,500.

Both houses passed widely different approaches to lobby control and unless one adopts the other's it will take a push-and-pull conference committee to work out a bill both houses will go for. The Senate was scheduled to

Cafeteria Worker Painfully Burned

Mrs. W. E. Eggleston, 1202 Gregg suffered painful but not serious burns this morning when an accumulation of gas ignited as she prepared to light an oven in the junior high school cafeteria.

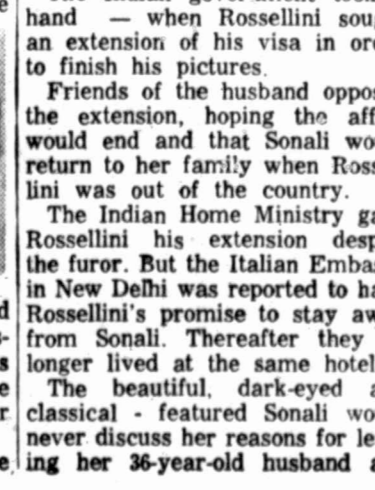

The House continued debate on a bill which would require anyone appearing before a state board or agency to register his name, whom he represents and whether he is being paid.

Bergman, Rossellini Call It Quits After 7 Stormy Years

ROME (AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini separated today, bringing to an end seven tempestuous years of married life. Their attorney said the actress and director separated because of incompatibility.

The first rumors of a serious rift between her and Rossellini came in May 1956 when she was making a series of documentary pictures for the Italian government. Miss Bergman was in Paris playing a stage role in "Tea and Sympathy."

home. She arrived in Paris last Oct. 6 when Miss Bergman was still appearing on the stage there. It was reported she had gone there in an effort to get the actress to give up Rossellini.

Rossellini previously was married to the former Marcella de Marchis. They had a son, Renzo, now in his teens.

Soviet Union Shows Off Tactical A-Weapons

Occasion Marks Red Anniversary

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union showed off a bristling array of tactical weapons of atomic capability today in the parade marking the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. There was no display of missiles.

They were stumped by the big guns. "They just don't add up," one of the best informed said. "The guns appeared too heavy for their carriages and recoil."

Zhukov's Nowhere In Sight

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, who replaced Marshal Zhukov as defense minister less than two weeks ago, read his order of the day opening the ceremonies. Zhukov was nowhere in sight.

A Moscow radio commentator describing the parade said it included a "new type of artillery based on the principle of jet propulsion." The commentator described a new "capillary amphibian tank" which he said could "surmount floods, barriers of any kind."

U.S. Scientists Watch For New Russian Space Venture

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Soviets celebrated their 40th revolution anniversary last night, with another fabulous space venture, there is no sign it was a trip to the moon.

This was the word this morning from the U.S. Naval Observatory, where scientists kept an especially close watch through last night. "We had the moon under observation all night," said Cmdr. W. M. Robinson, acting superintendent of the observatory. "Nothing showed up on it."

heart action, blood pressure and breathing. Tass said Sputnik II completed its 54th trip around the earth last night. This satellite was launched last Sunday. The Soviet news agency said the first Russian space vehicle, a small sphere, had completed 500 circuits and its carrier rocket had finished 520 rounded trips. Sputnik I, accompanied by the rocket that pushed it aloft, has been in orbit since Oct. 4.

Actually the American astronomers had their scopes trained on the moon anyway in connection with studies relating to the multiplication of International Geophysical Year program. Last night being full moon and particularly clear, Robinson said, the scientists had a busy time with their regular program.

The Russians themselves have given no indication of immediate plans to reach the moon, some 33,000 miles away. But with the Reds pouring out one scientific achievement after another, the naval moonwatchers kept a sharp lookout—just in case.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Observatory, said there still had not been enough accurate U. S. observations to permit American (See SATELLITES, Pg. 9-A, Col. 3)

Sun Burns Through Clouds After Frost Threat Fizzles

A Weather Bureau prediction of possible frost on Wednesday night fizzled by 8 degrees and the drizzle which has prevailed unbrokenly since last Saturday night was pushed from the scene in Howard County this morning.

Bright sunshine, broken only now and then by a few drifting clouds, returned to the picture. Muddy streets which have had no opportunity to dry for four days began to turn from black to gray.

November for the first half year of this century and is three times the normal rainfall the month has produced for the past seven years. It will take a number of days of sunshine and drying wind before farmers can accurately estimate the loss the moisture has caused their crops. Bright sun and wind, many farmers feel, will greatly diminish the damage. In the meantime, fields are still far too damp to permit resumption of the interrupted cotton harvest. Dirt roads in the county, which had taken a severe beating from the rains, were drying rapidly. School buses were back on their regular schedules.

Elmer Lay Rites Set For Friday

Elmer Lamar Lay, 78, longtime Howard County farmer and prominent Coahoma, died in a Big Spring hospital last night. He had been ill since last May.

Ike Calls Expanded Security Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower held a second expanded National Security Council session today. He called in the greatest attendance of outside experts ever brought into one of these top policy-making meetings.

The NSC has five members by law—the President, the vice president, the secretary of state and defense and the director of the Office of Defense Mobilization. Customarily, other top officials from the White House and executive agencies also are brought in, so that some 25 persons are present.

Big Webb Boost Sends UF Total Up

A final-stage boost supplied by Webb Air Force Base today showed the United Fund almost into its 1958 orbit.

The Webb check increased contributions to a total of $85,230.42 at noon today. Other gifts were expected to roll in during the afternoon and Friday as campaign leaders continued to urge division chairmen and team captains to wrap up the drive this week.

After estimating late gifts he expects from the various divisions of the campaign, the chairman said he is confident the goal of funds will be distributed among nine welfare and youth development agencies for their 1958 programs. "What a shot in the arm!" General Chairman K. H. McGibbon declared. "We needed an extra push and you have provided it." McGibbon told Downey and Pettus. "This is another example of the wonderful contribution to Webb Air Force Base to our community. We just couldn't get along without you."

Mr. Lay was born Jan. 28, 1879, in Caldwell County. He and Miss Edna Wilson were married Nov. 6, 1901, in Fredonia. They moved to Howard County from Mason in 1916. Until his retirement, Mr. Lay operated a farm a mile north of Sand Springs on the Salem Road. That is still the family home. Surviving are Mrs. Lay, one son, Alvin Lay, of Coahoma; one sister, Cora Lay of San Marcos; and four grandchildren. One son, Bernard Lay, died in 1952. Pallbearers will be Carl Bates, A. D. Shive, Leroy Echols, Elbert Echols, Jimmy Books, Bennett Hoover, Charlie Wolf and Burl Crutner.

Why didn't you tell me what this was, Mom? I'd never have eaten it if you told me what it was.

U.S. Said Ahead In Space Medicine

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The chief of the Department of Space Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base here said yesterday "in the field of space medicine, we're not behind anyone. The same things the Russians are finding out with their dog, we're finding out with men."

Dr. Hubertus Strughold, head of the department at the School of Aviation Medicine, said the stationary cabin used in testing man's reaction and ability to endure space flight has provided a tremendous fund of information.

"We're ready now for space flight, insofar as space medicine is concerned," he said in an interview.

He said there are some questions which can't be answered until a satellite is actually placed in flight, "but we could be ready to day, or tomorrow, for such a step. All we need is for the technology to get ready."

Strughold has been working for the U.S. Air Force on space medicine projects since 1947. He said the work of the Russians possibly could eliminate some minor experiments by Americans necessary to launching of their own satellite.

As for the medical end of the problem, the doctor said Russian efforts thus far had confirmed many of the Randolph experiments.

Strughold said the space cabin simulator at Randolph is the "only one of its type in the world—that we know about."

In the sealed cabin, men are subjected to conditions that presumably would prevail in space with the necessary aids and protective devices that have been perfected during the school's experiments.

The experiments here, Strughold said, have been testing men in conditions which would be found in satellite flight for more than a year.

"We're not so far behind as people think," Strughold said.

Asked about the strange flying objects reported in West Texas, Strughold smiled and said, "No, I don't think these could be space ships from another planet."

"I wouldn't call them hallucinations. I would call them illusions, created by misinterpreting something seen," he said.

Missile Experts Talk At Conference

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Missile and satellite experts addressed some 150 scientists, businessmen and educators today at the Southwest Research Institute's Next Decade conference.

Col. Benjamin Blasingame, USAF, director of the Titan missile program; C. C. Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo; and Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, are scheduled to talk.

Five university presidents will discuss the shortage of trained scientists.

Parr's No Longer The Duke Of Duval

By E. L. WALL
Houston Chronicle Staff
Written For The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Tex. Nov. 7 (AP)—George Parr no longer rules Duval County, where he and his father, the late Archie Parr, reigned supreme for more than 40 years.

Bankrupt, under prison sentences totaling five years, and with other indictments hanging over him, George Parr lives here in seclusion in his Spanish-style mansion. This is about all that remains of his extensive property holdings. He is seldom seen at the Windmill Cafe or other former haunts, where he was surrounded by an admiring retinue.

Parr's political foes, victorious in last year's elections, control the county government which used to underwrite his power at the polls.

Duval Countians no longer fear George Parr, but a fear remains of what he might become again if he finds a way out of his troubles.

A few say he is finished as a political power. Others cautiously point out the possibility that the 10-year prison sentence given him at Houston on Benavides School District mail fraud charges and the five years he drew in state court at New Braunfels for conspiracy to commit theft might be nullified on appeal.

The shadow of Parr still broods over the scene. Next year's election, observers say, will decide whether it is to be banished forever.

It is accepted history that the cornerstone of the Parr political empire was cemented in blood at a court house massacre in 1912 when three Latin American citizens were killed by Anglos who wanted to run the county to suit themselves.

Archie Parr, for many years a state senator, took the part of the Latins. Their gratitude through succeeding decades was expressed in almost solid majorities for Parr candidates. The elder Parr, who died in 1942, first bore the title "Duke of Duval."

George Parr has said his own power rested only upon a helping hand for the needy and a shared conviction that South Texas needed solidarity at the polls to strengthen its influence in state politics.

Others tell a different story.

Just when Parr's power began to wane is a debated question. Probably it reached its peak in 1948, when accusations of ballot box stuffing in the Democratic senatorial race which Lyndon Johnson won tagged him as a power in national politics and taught Texans a lesson in the potentialities of local political bossism.

From then on the cause of a desperate and dauntless handful in Duval and nearby counties began to interest many Texans. Dents began to appear in Parr's armor in 1950 when an anti-Parr candidate was elected sheriff of adjacent Jim Wells County.

In 1952 the college-student son of Jacob Floyd, Alice attorney and anti-Parr leader, was killed one night in the driveway at the family home. This appeared to have been an attempt to kill his father, Mario Sapet, a San Antonio bartender who carried a Duval County deputy sheriff's card, was sentenced to 99 years as an accomplice. The man indicted for the actual murder fled into Mexico and has defied extradition.

The Freedom party was organized in 1952 and began the first serious revolt against Parr in his own county. It didn't win at first, but it cut deeply into the 40-1 majority Parr candidates had been accustomed to poll. What finally toppled Parr from his throne was the discovery he had been instrumental in looting the Benavides School District for several years.

The Benavides case put Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and federal authorities on the trail. Their efforts, aided by Dist. Atty. Sam Burris of Alice, led to the sentences now on appeal and several indictments awaiting trial.

Emboldened by these events, Duval County voters took control of the county government from Parr in last year's election. Victory was achieved by a coalition between the Freedom party and the "Tobin party," a group headed by County Judge Dan Tobin Jr. and consisting largely of defectors from the Parr camp. The two parties are united in opposition to Parr's return to power but tensions could disturb the coalition in the 1958 elections.

It is conceded many votes in past elections were cast willingly for Parr candidates. Conditions have changed.

Anyone who wants to run for office can, as County Clerk Ralph Garcia puts it, "get on the platform and speak his piece" without fear of economic or physical reprisals.

Youthful Co. Atty. Walter Purcell added that as a result of the long struggle to secure these rights, "We've got about the best educated people on the election laws you'll find anywhere in Texas."

Of 6,000 qualified voters, 5,900 voted in 1956.

Tobin, a former Parr supporter, says "Next year will determine our political solidarity."

County Auditor Donato Serna, one of the original Freedom party members, says any two factions could combine next year to win

2-A Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Nov. 7, 1957

but that none of the factions is sure of the vote it could deliver. "The people are more independent now," he said. "Many don't belong to any political party."

Aside from civil liberties, what have the people of Duval County gained from overthrowing the Parr regime?

County finances are improving slowly. The county tax rate has been reduced from $3.20 to $1.80 in two years.

Both funds are in good shape. "For three generations no progress was permitted," said Karl Williams, vice president of the First State Bank that replaced

Parr's liquidated San Diego State Bank. "There is still a lot of dust in the air, but if progress continues at the pace of the past two years, I see nothing but good for Duval County."

Pays For Fire

DENVER (AP)—A Boulder County rancher was ordered to pay $5,095 as the cost of battling a 1954 fire which destroyed 63 acres of timber. George Barnes was accused in a federal suit of improperly starting a brush fire at his Caribou Ranch.

U.S. Looking For Better Rocket Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP)—American military scientists are pressing broad research in a quest for new, improved fuels to power big missiles and satellites. But any bid in the near future to recapture the lead which Russia has taken in rocketry probably will be made with existing tested types of power. A Russian broadcast claimed the use of "improved new instruments and sources of power" in the launching of Sputnik II last weekend, but the broadcast gave no details. At present, fuel for the large missile and for the primary engines of planned satellite launchers are liquid—a combination of forms of hydrocarbons (which burn) and an oxidizer, usually liquid oxygen, called "lox," which enables them to burn at altitudes where there is little or no natural oxygen to support combustion. These liquid fuels have disadvantages. Their use requires a maze of plumbing in rocket engines. Liquid fuel is heavy for the amount of energy it yields; it is difficult and dangerous to handle. There is a tendency toward solid fuels. William M. Holaday, special defense assistant for guided missiles, said recently that the performance of solid propellants have been improved "to the point where they are nearing that of liquid propellants now used in current large liquid rockets." He made those remarks at an address dedicating a rocket engine plant built by the Thiokol Chemical Corp. at Birmingham City, Utah. That plant, he commented, includes a chamber for testing rockets producing two million pounds of thrust. Holaday did not say that such rockets, using either liquid or solid fuel, are in existence now, but cited it as an example of goals in rocket development.

Woman Judge Would Use Brothel As Jail

NEWCASTLE, England (AP)—A British peccress who also is a magistrate says "sexually precocious" girls drifting into prostitution should be sentenced to "nice brothels" run by the state. The peccress is Ursula, Viscountess Ridley, 53 and a grandmother. During years on the bench hundreds of wayward girls have passed before her. She suggested sending such delinquents to state-controlled brothels in an address this week to a district meeting of the National Council of Women. She said: "I often wish when I have these difficult girls before me who have not responded to probation and who have escaped from approved schools that I could commit them to nice brothels. "There I know they could settle down and at the same time be properly looked after—fed, clothed and protected from disease and pregnancy. "They are going to become prostitutes in the end. Licensed houses could be far better to my mind than girls roaming the streets in all weather, offering no security from disease to clients, and pestering all passersby. "I cannot understand the rabid objection to brothels," her ladyship added. "If society tolerates prostitutes as it does, why shouldn't the state license premises for them to practice in?" Prostitution has become a major issue in Britain because of its flagrant practice in sections of London. Mrs. Margaret Bligh, a spokeswoman for the National Council of Women, was quick to oppose Lady Ridley. "This would be a form of slavery for these unfortunate women," Mrs. Bligh said. "The government should not give assistance in any shape or form to vice. "And anyway, men are morally responsible for vice as women," she added.

Area Contractors May Bid On Jobs

One Big Spring contractor, Jones Construction Company, is an indicated bidder on the junior high school building and a cafeteria addition at Olney. Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. Nov. 13. Two Lamesa contractors are tabulating proposals for a Church of Christ plant at Lovington, N. M., for the bid opening at 2 p.m. on Nov. 12. They are Bowers Purcell and G. A. Jones. A. P. Kasch & Sons of Big Spring was a relatively close second in general bids on the Odessa Medical Center building, being only $24,000 off the pace with a $1,591,432, which was about $52,000 lower than the third bidder on the project.

Surety Checker Says Probe Was Hampered

ASTIN (AP)—A former insurance examiner said last night his investigation of Preferred Life Insurance Co. was hampered by lack of cooperation from both the firm and state insurance officials. Merrill Tinkler, who examined Preferred Life Insurance Co. and Preferred Life Underwriters Inc. last spring, completed his second night of testimony before the Senate Investigation Committee, which recessed indefinitely. Tinkler said Largent Parks, a majority owner of both the Dallas firms, interrupted the examination "a good many times to tell me I didn't know what I was doing." He said the prominent Dallas businessman and Baptist layman once lost his temper over Tinkler's investigation of Parks' personal stock dealings. "One day he lost his temper over an argument concerning his personal stock sales," Tinkler said. "I told him there was one way to settle the argument and that was to send out letters of verification to stock purchasers but he didn't agree to that." Tinkler said he finally agreed not to send out the letters of verification until he received authorization from the Insurance Board and the authorization was never given. Sen. Charles Herring, committee chairman, said the committee was not concerned about the solvency of Preferred Life Insurance Co. "As far as this committee is concerned the reports to the Insurance Board show that as far as we know Preferred Life is solvent," he said. "Our investigation is directed toward the stock manipulations of its president, Largent Parks, and others. And we want to know if prompt action was taken by the Insurance Board when informed of the stock situation." Committee counsel Gene Fontenot questioned Tinkler about a series of complicated stock transactions between Preferred Life and Preferred Life Underwriters. Tinkler said his examination of the firms' books indicated that Parks owed the life insurance firm $194,000 from the sale of personal stock made in the name of the firm.

ANATOLIA, Tex. (AP)—Flu has forced Anatolia schools to close for the rest of the week and Supt. Cecil Willis said yesterday his high school football game with Confort, scheduled Friday, has been postponed. STANTON (SC)—Allen Singleton of Ralls has been employed as the manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. He will take the place of Jack Arrington, who resigned a few weeks ago in order to devote more time to his own business. Singleton, who is unmarried, finished high school at Ralls, then took a BA degree from Texas Tech where he majored in government, with a minor in history. After finishing at Tech in 1956, he worked with the Columbia General Life Insurance Co. a few months, then enrolled at Sul Ross College. He received his MA degree from there in August of 1957. Singleton has also had experience in Chamber of Commerce work. He spent some time with these organizations at Alpine, Marfa, Santa Fe, N. M., and at St. Joseph, Mo. In his letter of application, Singleton said he wanted to devote his career to this type of work. He is highly recommended by the townspeople of Ralls and by the officials at Texas Tech and Sul Ross.

Jess Talkin by Jess Blair

This has been a week of idleness for farmers, ginners and cotton pickers, as they wait for the drizzly, nippy weather to change. The extent of damage to cotton and feed crops will depend upon what comes after this. An early freeze might prove disastrous to the maize. County Agent James Taylor took a long drive through the north part of the county yesterday and thinks the feed stalks will hold up until a hard freeze. Farmers will be in a hurry to get it combined, once the fields dry out. Taylor said that so far as he knew there was no shortage of combines in this area, though calls have come in from Hereford and other places for combines to help with the harvest. "One bright spot in all this rain is the grass and weeds coming back to the ranges. Taylor says the winter weed crop is thick and abundant, and that ranges are probably better than in several years. "Not many ranchers are buying stock, however. There are reports that the Panhandle has more grazing than it has cattle. There are also several other areas where a cattle owner could find cheap grazing if he had the livestock. Taylor talked with C. B. Senter.

$2.5 Billion Taxes Paid By Texans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texans paid $2,567,390,000 in federal taxes during the year ending June 30, the Internal Revenue Service said yesterday. This was 6.2-3 per cent more than the $2,406,858,000 collected in the state the year before. The Texas figure represents slightly more than 3 per cent of the total $80,172,000,000 U.S. collections, mostly in income taxes. Mrs. Nellie McMorris, Tarzan postmistress, is an oddity among federal workers. Instead of asking for more money, she actually turned back 41 hours of clerical help this last quarter that could have been used. Mrs. McMorris is probably busier at this time of year than any of the farmers. On some days, especially Mondays, she writes out and sends as many as 100 money orders or certified checks for the braceros. After cotton-picking gets in full swing, the workers will start thronging the post office to send money back to their families. Taking over the job about eight years ago, she has seen the office upgraded from fourth to third class. She says there are 72 boxes, with none of them ever empty for more than a few weeks. She doesn't think the post office will be abandoned like so many other, small offices have been. There is too much business to justify it.

No Honor

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas man told police sadly yesterday the old saw about no honor among thieves is only too true. He admitted walking out of a drug store with a radio and electric fan after telling a clerk he wanted to show them to his wife waiting in the car. Down the street, the man, 37, told officers, he stopped at a tavern for a couple of beers. While he was inside, someone thief stole both the radio and fan from his car.

Farmers are not the only ones taking a financial loss from the weather. The gins are also losing money every day. Even before the clouds dropped to the ground, the damp mornings were causing some uneven runs at the gins. "Now just when we start making a little profit," she said, the old hens stop laying and we're faced with a $2,000 replacement bill. "Despite all the publicity given it, the project has never been profitable, at least not for the producers. J. H. Yater, farming west of Stanton, thinks the dampness and frost might have damaged the cotton crop a little. However, he still isn't lowering his estimate of 125 bales on 47 acres. This figure has been set by several farmers who looked at the crop. Yater attributes much of his three-bale-to-the-acre yield to the use of cotton burrs. He says the land doesn't crust over, requires from one to two less irrigations, and makes higher yields. Each year he tries to treat from 10 to 15 acres with the burrs, spreading them on six or eight inches thick. Yater double crops much of his land. Last spring he pulled his cattle off an oat and barley pasture in June, then planted it to maize. Last week he combined it to get around 3,500 pounds to the acre, then started making plans to plant it again to oats and barley. On some of the earlier feed, Yater will get over 4,000 pounds to the acre. The maize will be fed to cattle this winter. Each fall he buys calves weighing from 400 to 500 pounds, runs them on pasture and feeds them until Mar. 1 when they will weigh from 650 to 750 pounds. He also keeps a few cattle all through the year. "Then whenever I need money, I can sell a steer or two," he said.

STEERS RATED 2-TD FAVORITES FRIDAY

In Midland, Big Spring is being boomed as a two-touchdown favorite to defeat the Midland Bulldogs Friday night.

The two teams clash Friday night in Midland and the loser may have to resign himself to a finish in the District 2 AAAA cellar.

The Steers are regarded as favorites despite the fact that (1) they have never won a conference game in 2-AAAA and Midland, whacked the locals but good last year, 46-0.

Midland observers base their picks on this data:

(1) Andrews ran all over the Bulldogs in a pre-season scrimmage, whereas Big Spring defeated the Mustangs in an early season contest, 26-12.

(2) Lamesa decided Midland, 7-6, whereas the Longhorns pummeled the Tornados, 21-7.

(3) Snyder flogged Midland, 40-14, but beat Big Spring only by a score of 19-7.

(4) Odessa routed San Angelo, 27-6, and then edged Big Spring, 27-18. Midland and San Angelo played a 90 tie and San Angelo made the only scoring threat.

Football Scholars

On the gridiron or in the classroom, guard H. G. Anderson, left, of LaMarque, Tex., and end Maurice Duke of Wichita Falls rank among the top performers at the University of Texas at Austin. Both are scheduled for first-string duty this Saturday when the Longhorns tackle Baylor at Memorial Stadium. Anderson replaces Don Wilson, out with an injury, while Duke retains his left end spot. The two sophomores are honor students in engineering. Duke attaining summa cum laude rating last spring.

Two Texas Aggies Being Boomed For All-America

DALLAS (AP)—Back in 1938 Texas Christian had two men on the All-America football team—quarterback Davey O'Brien and center Ki Aldrich.

Except in the two-platoon era, when there were both offensive and defensive teams picked, the Southwest hasn't equalled that.

Well, the All-America regional board for the Southwest thinks it's time for a repeat and they are booming Texas A&M as the team to do it.

John David Crow, the big halfback who likes to "run over people," and Charley Krueger, the man who anchors the line, are the guys being promoted by the regional board for All-America honors.

Coach Paul Bryant of A&M thinks Crow is All-America in every way Bryant also considers Krueger the finest lineman anywhere.

bell, Waco News-Tribune, and Bill Van Fleet, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, while endorsing these two for places on the All-America, also think there are plenty of other potentials in the conference.

Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas fullback; Clyde Lettner, Baylor tackle; Roddy Osborne, Texas A&M quarterback; Larry Hickman, Baylor fullback; King Hill, Rice quarterback; Buddy Dike, Texas Christian fullback; John Tracey, Texas A&M end; Jay Donathan, Arkansas center; Buddy Dial, Rice end; Louis DelHomme, Texas center; and Charley Moore, Texas Tech's great guard, are others getting a favored nod from the committee.

Abilene Meets Odessa, Breck Tries Graham

District championships will be falling right and left this weekend as the schoolboy football rascals thunders into its final stages.

Headline games are Abilene at Odessa in Class AAAA, Graham at Breckenridge and Nederland at Port Neches in Class AAA and Stamford at Seymour in Class AA.

Abilene, with a 44-game winning streak and hot on the trail of its fourth state championship in a row, runs into what appears to be the only difficult barrier to a district title, Odessa looks capable of giving the champions a real fight.

The Nederland-Port Neches fracas matches the only undefeated teams in AAA and will set up what should be the state finalist from the lower bracket, Nederland is slightly favored.

Graham, the highest scoring team in the state—308 points in seven games—gets the acid test against the Bulldogs, one of the favored outfits in the upper bracket. But if the Steers can win this one they'll have a clear shot at the district title.

Graham's only loss was 29-31 to Sweetwater, a team Breckenridge fought to a 14-14 tie in early season.

Stamford, defending champion of Class AA, meets undefeated, unified Seymour with the district title on the line. Stamford's lone loss was to Class AAA Sweetwater and the Bulldogs look powerful enough to return to the playoffs. They have won the championship two years in a row.

Only 25 teams in the four divisions have undefeated, untied records and more than half of them will be in grave danger of falling since games now are crucial battles for district titles.

But only Abilene and Austin seem to face trouble in Class AAAA. Austin plays Waco.

Kubek, Sanford Rookies Of Year In Big Leagues

NEW YORK (AP)—Versatile Tony Kubek, who wasn't even on the New York Yankees' roster in spring training, and Jack Sanford, a pleasant pitching surprise to the Philadelphia Phils, today were named major league Rookies-of-the-Year for 1957.

Kubek was selected as the American League's outstanding freshman and Sanford captured the National League rookie award. A 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, composed of three from each big league city, participated in the annual poll.

Kubek was a unanimous choice.

receiving 23 votes. Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox was named on one ballot. Malzone, however, had been previously declared ineligible by the board of directors since he had 103 official at bats in 1956.

Sanford was named on 16 ballots. Teammate Ed Bouchee, a solid-hitting first baseman, was next with four votes. Pitcher Dick Dratt of the Chicago Cubs received three votes and outfielder Bob Hazle of the Milwaukee Braves one.

Kubek, 22 last month, is the rangy left-handed swinger who batted .297 in 127 games. The Milwaukee native finished ninth among the league's leading batters and was the third highest hitter on the Yankees.

In the World Series against the Braves, he hit .286 and slugged two homers.

Sanford, a durable 28-year-old right-hander, spent seven years in the minors and two years in the Army before he came into his own in 1957, posting a 19-8 won-lost record for a .704 percentage—second best in the league. His 19 victories also were the most he had ever compiled in any season.

The 6-foot, 175-pound resident of Hattboro, Mass., also topped both the majors in strikeouts with 188. He compiled 15 of his 33 starts, including three shutouts. His earned run average was 3.08.

Texas Baptists Adopt New High Budget

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas adopted an all-time high budget last night of 10 and one-half million dollars for 1958. Treasurer R. A. Springer said in the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, a total of $10,378,720 was channeled by Texas Baptist churches through Springer's office. He said the report "makes me a 10 million dollar treasurer and although the budget for next year is 10 and a half million dollars, I'm asking you to make me a million-dollar-a-month treasurer."

Of the 1958 budget, 63 per cent of the first seven and a half million will be given to state missions (which includes hospitals, schools, Latin-American work, Wisconsin-Minnesota, retirement and administration) and the other 37 per cent will go to world wide causes through the Southern Baptist Co-operative Program. The next three million will be divided on a proportionate basis to various causes.

The executive board voted to defer action on a proposal to take over a hospital being built at Texarkana. The Wadley Memorial Hospital will be completed in a year. Opposition to taking the hospital as a gift was raised because of the executive board which precedes the convention. Another constitutional amendment to be voted on today would limit membership on boards. Much of yesterday's session was given over to state missions, with emphasis on work being carried on in Wisconsin and Minnesota which the convention is sponsoring.

Dry Weather Prevails In U.S.

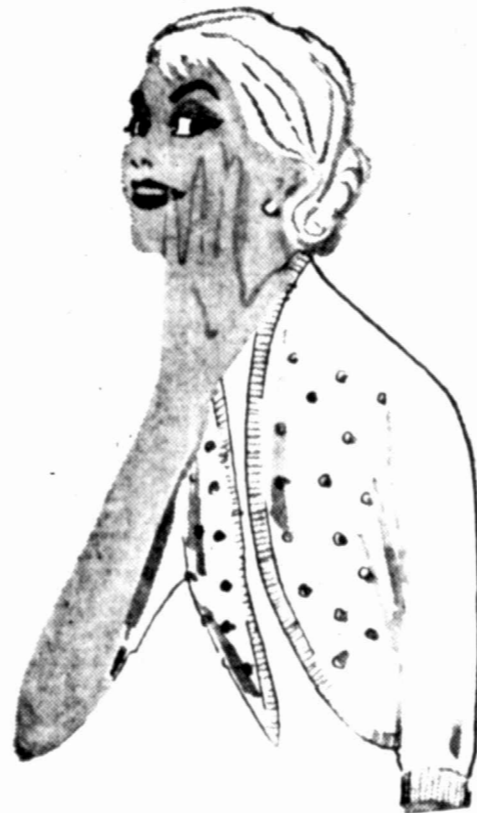

By The Associated Press
There were wet spots in scattered areas of the mid-continent and the West Coast today but generally dry weather prevailed. Wide areas of rain and scattered thunderstorms continued throughout northern and central Texas. Floods threatened in sections of northeast Texas. The wet belt extended into Oklahoma and parts of Kansas, Louisiana and Arkansas, but falls were mostly light. Isolated drizzles were reported in the Mississippi Valley. Southerly winds from the Gulf of Mexico fanned northward over the Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region, bringing a rise in temperatures. In the middle and upper Mississippi valleys, readings were as much as 18 degrees higher. Fair and a little cooler weather was reported in the Ohio Valley and in most areas east of the Appalachians. Biggest cooling was reported in the mid-Atlantic states and parts of New England. Scattered showers were forecast in extreme northern New England.

Plainview Lawyer Claims To Be Oldest Practicing In State

Editor's Note: The following was written for The Associated Press by Marshall Formby, president of the Plainview Bar, and chairman of the Texas Highway Commission.
By MARSHALL FORMBY
PLAINVIEW (AP)—Judge E. Graham of Plainview believes he can lay claim to being the lawyer in Texas who has been licensed the longest. Graham, 90, still goes to his office every day. He was licensed Sept. 17, 1889, or 68 years ago. He came to Texas from Tennessee in 1889, married Miss Minnie Henry who was teaching at Buffalo Gap College in Taylor County, and in September was licensed to practice law. He practiced in Abilene four years, but since the population of West Texas was small and fees were slim, the judge spent most of the next several years teaching in Abilene and ranching near Plainview. He moved to Hale County in 1899. In 1904 Graham opened his law office in Plainview, where he has been practicing ever since. That same year he was elected county attorney. He held this position for four years and during part of that time also was city attorney for Plainview. Two sons were born to the Graham family and at times both were associated with their father practicing law in Plainview. The older, Gamelle, died in an oil fire in 1932. The younger, W. Z. Graham, is with the engineering department of an aircraft firm in Los Angeles. Plainview, now 21,000 people, is known as a city of church going folk. Most of them are exceedingly law abiding people. Graham says many a man didn't exactly obey all the laws when he was county attorney. There were many folk from the North, looking at the raw plains land with hopes of either living on it or "promoting" something. Some rough cowboys were around, too. During one grand jury session about 1905, Graham got 72 indictments for gaming. He became unpopular among certain men and some threatened to run him out of town—on a rail if one could be found on these bald plains. Many carried guns in those days. The county attorney's office was in the old wooden courthouse. One day one of Graham's friends called his attention to three tough characters walking on the wooden sidewalk across from the courthouse. "Those men have threatened to kill me the first time they see me," Graham's friend told him. "Now watch this." Graham's friend walked across the street and toward the three. When they met, he squeezed between them, but they never bothered the man they had threatened. This satisfied Graham's friend and he never worried about being shot any more. Graham once owned considerable farm land and drilled the third irrigation well in the county. Graham quit taking new clients in 1954, but still represents a railroad and still does work for a few individuals, all of whom he has served for 40 years. He lives at a hotel and spends several hours each day in his law office. He has occupied the same corner office in the Skaggs Building in Plainview for nearly 30 years. He took his Blue Lodge and Royal Arch Masonic work in Abilene in 1893. He is the only living member of the group that organized the Plainview Commandery. He is a member of Khiva Shrine Temple at Amarillo. "If I had my life to live over, I'd still be a lawyer," Graham says.

Majorities For Amendments

DALLAS (AP)—Solid majorities were reported by the Texas Election Bureau for all three constitutional amendments approved by voters in Tuesday's special election. Its final unofficial tabulation last night gave these totals for: State employe benefits, 42,148 to 52,264. Increased pensions, 168,253 to 29,331. Water bond plan, 142,993 to 51,937. The employe benefits amendment guarantees a minimum pension of at least $30 a month to state employes and liberalizes retirement, disability and death benefits. The pensions amendment increases payments to the aged from a maximum of $20 a month to $25, with a provision that no payment over $21 be made without matching federal funds. The water bond plan sets up the Texas Water Development Board and authorizes it to sell up to 200 million dollars worth of bonds for use in water development and control by local groups. to its home at Fallon Naval Air Station in Nevada from Alameda Naval Air Station. Son-In-Law Of Big Springers Has Role In 'No Down Payment'

The movie opening at the Ritz Theatre today will carry a familiar touch for many Big Springers. One of the stars—Pat Hingle—has visited here frequently with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dorsey, 507 Washington.

Hingle married Alice Dorsey in 1947, two years before he got his bachelors degree from Texas. They went to New York after he finished school where they stayed until he was called back to active duty with the Navy during the Korean conflict.

He resumed his New York career after being released from active duty. In 1953, he played in "End As a Man," which had the late James Dean as one of the bit players. Two years later, he had the second lead to Ben Gazzara in Tennessee Williams' famous "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Complex Problems Found In Texas' Water Situation

The Texas water problem is nothing new, it is certainly not simple nor will it be easily solved. This was the opinion expressed to the Downtowner Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles by Joe Pickle, who is a member of the governor's water committee.

annually, three-fourths of this comes from the east one-fourth of the state's area, he continued. The problem, particularly in the semi-arid reaches of West Texas, is to hold what water can justifiably be held, both as surface supply and as a source of possible recharge for ground water reservoirs, he declared. This involves another element, that of finance, for water development is costly as well as necessary.

Leaving the stage, he went to Florida for a part in the movie, "The Strange One."

Dr. Hunt Tells Of Growth Of Junior College

Growth of Howard County Junior College was the subject of Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, when he spoke Thursday to Big Spring Rotarians.

Dr. Hunt pointed with pride to the fact that the college's practical arts building is one of the most modern in the country; a new addition to the gymnasium has added 400 seats; and the school has a modern new music building. He added that the size of the library has been doubled and that it now rates in the upper 2 per cent of libraries in the United States.

20 Stranded In Antarctica

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica. (AP)—Two Navy planes and 20 men were stranded at outlying U. S. antarctic stations today by engine failures. The Air Force commander ordered an investigation of troubles plaguing his aircraft.

The Neptune was carrying 10 persons on a flight to deliver five other men to the South Pole. One engine went bad during a landing there Oct. 26.

March Of Dimes Posters Feature Air Force Family

NEW YORK—For the first time in the 20-year history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, a family, rather than a single child, has been chosen to appear on its nationally distributed March of Dimes poster and coin collectors.

A young Air Force officer's family, the Joseph L. Solomons of Warner Robins, Ga., has been named 1958 March of Dimes Poster Family, according to Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation. Their picture will appear on millions of pieces of campaign literature and posters.

in 1953, and they have been fighting the effects of the crippling disease ever since. The father of the family, Maj. Joseph L. Solomon, was away on temporary duty with the Air Force at the time.

"As the Salk vaccine makes 'new' polio more and more invisible, the Solomons are a visible reminder that the polio problem does not end with the wonderful headlines on declining polio incidence," O'Connor said.

Joe and Sandy require daily physical therapy and will need operations when they are 12. Cindy was left with a slight spine curvature, and Mrs. Solomon was left with no paralysis. Plus MOD aid of $5,000, the family has spent several thousand and many thousands more will be needed for treatments and operations.

Mexican Meal Has Soup, Beans And Tasty Chicken Enchiladas

A complete menu of truly Mexican dishes is given food readers today by Mrs. Akin Simpson, who got them from a Mexican domestic when the Simpsons lived in Mexico from 1948 until 1950.

While some of the dishes served in Mexico are far too hot for the tastes of the Anglo Americans, if they are tempered a bit they can be most delectable.

From the kitchen of Ana Lopez Blumoz came the following recipes. The sauce used in the enchiladas, originally made by grinding the hot peppers into a pulp and adding fresh tomatoes crushed in the same manner, can now be bought in a convenient bottle. It is listed as a hot Spanish sauce.

While this soup has a French name it is served with the Mexican company dinner. The original recipes were measured out in grams, but Mrs. Simpson has finally got them down to teaspoons, cups and pounds.

JULIENNE SOUP
1 lb. fresh tomatoes
1-10 lb. bacon
1-10 lb. butter
1-5 lb. fresh peas
1-1/2 qts. chicken broth
1 cup water
4 carrots
4 tender squash
1 large ear fresh corn
2 medium potatoes
2 garlic cloves
1 onion
1/2 small cabbage
1 turnip
1 leek

Dice the onion and garlic very fine and make a purée of the tomatoes. Cut the bacon in large squares and fry in tablespoon of lard. When bacon is brown remove from the fat. Simmer onion, garlic and purée for several minutes in fat then add water, broth and salt to taste. Simmer 10 minutes. Add diced vegetables to broth and when vegetables are tender, add butter and bacon. Make croutons of small squares of bread browned in fat. Drop several in each serving of soup just before serving.

ENCHILADAS MEXICANAS
An outstanding main dish is the one made of chicken and rolled into tortillas to make enchiladas.

1 large hen
1 pt. sweet cream
1 lb. grated cheese
8 onions
24 tortillas
1-1/2 lbs. fresh tomatoes
4 small hot peppers
(The commercial hot Spanish sauce will do as a nice substitute for these two latter items.)
Cover the hen with water, and stew until tender together with chopped onion. Remove chicken from breast and slice or shred, browning in a small amount of fat. Chop small onion and some of the garlic and brown in a small amount of fat; add sauce and simmer together about 10 minutes, adding salt to taste.

Mix grated cheese with diced onion; beat the cream slightly with a little salt. Place tortilla in skillet, which has small amount of grease, just long enough to soften the tortilla. Remove from fat and dip into tomato-chili mixture. Remove from sauce and fill with cheese, onion, a teaspoon of cream and browned chicken. Roll the tortilla and lay in casserole dish.

When all enchiladas have been rolled, place dish in hot oven and when heated through serve immediately. Any leftover sauce may be poured over the top of the enchiladas before heating.

To complete the meal, a suggestion is to mash cooked pinto beans or use canned bean dip, add a large onion finely chopped and 1 cup grated cheese, pat into rounds and fry.

For the 'dulce' that just tops the meal off, serve lemon sherbet.
1/4 cup sugar

Old Favorite Dons New Dress, Flavor

Here's a new combination for an old favorite. A macaroni and cheese casserole dish with onions, mushrooms and tomatoes added.

MACARONI AND CHEESE CASSEROLES

Ingredients:
1 pkg. (8 oz.) elbow macaroni
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. finely grated onion (pulp and juice)
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika
1 cup milk
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 cup sharp cheddar cheese (1/2 pound)
2 tomatoes (skinned and halved with stem ends removed).

Method:
Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile melt butter in medium-sized saucepan over moderately low heat; add onion.
Stir in flour, salt, pepper, mustard and paprika. Add milk and mushrooms (including liquid in pan) all at once; cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and boils.
Add 1/2 cup of the cheese and stir over very low heat until melted. Mix sauce and hot drained macaroni well; turn into 4 individual casseroles — each holding 2 cups.

Press a half tomato into the center of each dish; sprinkle tomatoes with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Broil slowly until tomato is hot through and top of macaroni is lightly browned. Makes 4 large servings.

Party Snack

Party snack: wrap bacon around water chestnuts (canned) and broil; serve with a thin chutney sauce for dipping.

This Is The Old Way

Mrs. Akin Simpson shows the old way of preparing hot sauce for enchiladas, for which she gives the recipe today. In Mexico, the native cooks make their sauce by crushing hot peppers and fresh tomatoes in vessels with a masher similar to the pharmacists' mortar and pestle. The place service is of Mexican blown glass. The bottle holds the commercial Spanish hot sauce.

1 cup water
Dash salt
1/2 cup top milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
Combine 1/4 cup sugar, salt and water; cook five minutes. Cool egg whites into mixture. Return Add milk, then lemon juice and freeze to firmness. Gradually add remaining sugar to egg whites, beating until stiff and sugar is dissolved. Turn frozen mixture into chilled bowl; break into small pieces and beat with electric or rotary beater until smooth. Fold egg whites into mixture. Return to tray and freeze.

Almond Cake With Cereal Base Is Different Fare

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What sort of cake eater are you? Do you enjoy the fluffy light-as-a-feather variety? Or do you like cakes that may even be a little on the heavy side?

If you are for cakes with substance, you'll probably enjoy this recipe. Although as American as can be—its base is ready-to-eat crisp rice cereal—it reminds you of European confections such as honey cake.

We like this Almond Cake served warm with a fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream. If there's any left over, cut it into small diamonds or finger shapes and store in a tightly covered container; serve the next day because it doesn't keep well any longer than that.

ALMOND CAKE
Ingredients:
3 cups oven-toasted ready-to-eat rice cereal
4 eggs (separated)
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 pound (1/2 cup) butter or margarine (melted)
1/3 cup light cream
1/4 cup finely ground or rotary-grated blanched almonds
Fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream

Method:
Crush the rice cereal into extremely fine crumbs. With a rotary beater (hand or electric), beat the egg yolks until they begin to get thick and are lemon-colored; gradually beat in the sugar, then vanilla. Fold in slightly cooled melted butter, cream, rice cereal crumbs and almonds. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into crumb mixture. Turn into buttered bak-

Ever stuff a neat loaf with a layer of mushrooms that have been cooked in butter? Nice surprise for eaters!

Aid For Future Scientists

When four Dallas area high schools reported they were unable to find qualified physics teachers, Temco Aircraft Corp. devised a plan which could alleviate the engineer shortage if copied throughout the country. Temco supplied experienced aircraft engineers to teach one physics class each day at each school. Reliability Engineer H. X. Brown is shown teaching at Cedar Hill, Texas, before going on to his job at Temco.

Aircraft Workers Make Effort To Fill Teaching Gap

DALLAS (AP)—With the nation worried about the shortage of scientists—and people who can teach science—a Dallas aircraft plant's workers are doing something about it.

For a few hours each day Temco Aircraft Corp. farms out four of its engineers to Dallas area high schools. They teach physics at schools where qualified instructors are not available.

Charges Are Filed

Felony charges alleging illegal removal of mortgaged property have been filed in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace, against N. T. Winn. The charges were filed by the office of the district attorney.

Some of the engineers have considerable atomic energy commission experience. Temco's aim: To see that ambitions of a few junior scientists won't have to die on the vine.

Flower Grove To Have Homecoming

FLOWER GROVE (Sci)—Flower Grove High School students will close out their home football season with a big homecoming for ex-students Friday.

Homecoming activities will include a bonfire at 7:30 p.m., coronation of the football queen and hero at halftime of the hall game, and the registration and reception of exes in the school cafeteria following the game. The night's football game will pit Flower Grove against Loop.

Effects Of Red Flying Dog A Big Worry To Wall Street

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't the Soviet flying dog that's worrying the stock market.

It's what the effect will be on business and consumer thinking: 1. Of the Russian boast of new sources of power for space rockets; 2. Its simultaneous withdrawal from the United Nation's disarmament talks; and 3. The dumping of Marshal Zhukov with its implication of one-man rule of Russia by a person whose emotional stability, judgment and sense of responsibility is questioned.

While it fervently hopes that peaceful counsel will prevail, American industry is always sensitive to talk of war, threats of war, or worse—the chance of war.

The widespread belief that business as a whole fattens on war doesn't hold water.

True, industries closely tied to defense production get government orders. To fill them the companies often must drop civilian production on which they say they have a chance of better profits.

For business as a whole, international disturbances even short of war threaten the cutting off of sources of materials, the loss of skilled workmen to defense plants or the armed forces, and usually sharply curtailed consumer spending, when the government moves to halt any war scare buying of the first days.

The goods the defense plants turn out don't raise the nation's total wealth. They are made to be destroyed, not to raise standards of living.

The great prosperity of the last two years has been a prosperity of peace. The Defense Department, spending about 38 billion dollars this year. To be sure, this has helped boost total production. But the nation's total output of goods and services is expected this year to hit 430 to 435 billion dollars.

Even if defense spending were doubled next year—most unlikely short of all out war—it would still be but one sixth of the civilian segment of the gross national product.

What worries businessmen now is what could happen to this civilian segment if business and consumer nerves are overly jangled by all the missile rattling by the Kremlin.

The stock market's reaction to the first Sputnik illustrates this. The missile makers' stocks went up in price, but the great majority of stocks went down. Increased world tension doesn't help, business, stock traders hold. When unrest in the Mideast grows, for example, oil stock prices tend to dive.

Direct United States investments abroad top 22 billion dollars. The less tension in the world the better they thrive.

Commodity traders take a different slant. When world supplies and distribution of commodities seems threatened, the commodities readily available look more valuable. Any flareup in the Far East tends to send up the price of rubber and tin. Stoppage of the flow of oil through the Suez Canal sent up the price of oil here as well as in Europe.

What the United States does about its defense program as a result of the Soviet advances in rockets and missiles and its new tough talk will be decided in Washington between the administration and the Congress. That will unquestionably affect the industrial picture. But while the uncertainty continues, Wall Street will swing back and forth trying to guess what's in the cards for specific industries.

Corporate executives will debate how their firm stands to come out in regard to supplies, to production schedules, to consumer demand.

Merchants will watch to see whether the public is worried or indifferent or perhaps resigned. That's how many business observers decode the beep-beeps from outer space.

Oil Industry Aids Atom Development

HOUSTON (AP)—Dr. Paul Aebersold, assistant director of the Office of Civilian Application of the Atomic Energy Commission, said last night the petroleum industry has contributed significant ly to rapid progress in the industrial use of nuclear energy. Aebersold said the oil industry has been aggressive in the development and application of radioisotopes. He said radioisotopes are the single area of the atomic energy program now yielding a good dollar return to industry.

Distinctive Styling In '58 Olds

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers a completely restyled body. The lines of this Super "88" emphasize length and low silhouette. Dominant in the styling are striking twin blades that sweep down the rear of the fender crown. The enlarged window extends into the new thin-line roof. The massive rear bumper has unique twin back-up lights at each extremity. Choice of three Rocket engines with improved economy is offered in the 1958 Oldsmobile, which has a smoother Jetaway Hydra-Matic transmission, and a new air suspension ride, available as options. The '58 Olds models will be seen Friday at Shroyer Motor Co., 424 E. 3rd.

BEING SHOWN HERE FRIDAY Oldsmobile For 1958 Boasts Entirely New 'Mobile Look'

Sweeping styling changes that affect the appearance from every angle mark a completely new Oldsmobile for 1958. In addition, Olds is introducing an air suspension system, new efficient and economical Rocket engines and an improved Jetaway Hydra-Matic drive.

The 1958 Oldsmobiles go on display Friday, and are ready for public viewing here at Shroyer Motor Co., 424 E. 3rd.

Oldsmobile's new "mobile look" is evident in the entirely redesigned body, new rear quarter panels, a new front end with recess-type grille and four-beam headlights, one-piece rear window with greater glass area and new rear deck and roof. The decorative trim on the side panels accentuates the length, flowing lines and low silhouette of the new Oldsmobile.

Oldsmobile for 1958 offers three different Rocket engines in its three series of cars. The economy-priced Dynamic "88" series is powered by an engine with the new "Econo-way" dual carburetor and is rated at 265 horsepower. The Super "88" and "98" series both have the Rocket engine with quad-jet carburetor and developing 305 h.p.

Available as an optional extra on all series is the J-2 Rocket engine with three dual carburetors and generating 312 h.p. Compression ratio is 10 to 1 and displacement is 371 cu. in. in all three engines.

The "98" series has four body styles in 1958—two hardtops, Holiday sedan and Holiday coupe, a four-door sedan and a convertible. There are five body types in the Super "88" Series—Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, a four-door sedan, convertible coupe and Fiesta station wagon. The budget-priced Dynamic "88" Series offers a wide range of seven body selections—Holiday sedan, Holiday coupe, two-door sedan, four-door sedan, Fiesta sedan and convertible. In all there are 16 body styles.

Two Oldsmobile accessory innovations for 1958 are available to customers—a Trans-Portable radio that can be completely removed from the car for use elsewhere and a Safety Sentinel speedometer warning that utilizes both a light and buzzer to warn when any pre-set speed is being exceeded.

Oldsmobile's new 1958 styling starts at the four-beam headlights in the front and extends to the new and larger taillights. Two headlights are recessed and placed side-by-side in each front fender. Horizontal trim strips sweep the length of the front fenders and through the rear quarter panels and fenders. A thin roof line accents the low silhouette. The rear window is a single pane of glass with up to 28 percent more area. Distinguishing the long rear fenders are flowing twin blades of chrome atop each fender crown. The restyled rear bumper has twin back-up lights at each end, flanking each bumper guard, an extra cost option on the Super "88" and "98" series.

Oldsmobile's New-Matic Ride is optional at extra cost on all series. This true air suspension system cushions the car on four chambers of compressed air, one at each wheel, to create an ultra-smooth ride, with less driver and passenger fatigue. It eliminates completely any conventional leaf, coil or torsion-bar spring units with metal-to-metal contacts.

An outstanding feature about the Oldsmobile designed New-Matic Ride is the variable rate air spring system which cushions the shock of bumpy road conditions without excessive movement.

Winter Clothing Needed To Keep Youngsters In School

Cool, damp weather has brought on an appeal for winter clothing for youngsters and for serviceable bed clothing.

Clyde Rowe, visiting teacher for the Big Spring Independent School District, said that coats, jackets, etc. for children were urgently needed to enable some to attend school.

The homes of a number of these needy youngsters are in dire straits for bed coverings of some sort, he added. Many of the homes do not have enough bed clothes ing to call the Salvation Army. This agency will make a pick up each Friday and will handle the placement of the materials.

"People of Big Spring have responded wonderfully to our appeals," said Rowe, "and the Salvation Army has been eager to help. Several of our churches have aided in the collection in a most generous way. These other items, however, are needed so much now that it more or less constitutes an emergency."

'No Evidence' Saucers Exist

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says its investigations of 5,700 reported sightings of flying saucers in 10 years have produced "no physical or material evidence" that such things exist.

The Pentagon issued this report last night after sightings of mysterious flying objects were reported this week from various parts of the country. Some of the reported objects were said to glow with a strange light and to have caused auto engines to stall.

Sightings of flying saucers have been reported from time to time over the past decade. Investigation has been handled by the Air Technical Intelligence Center at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio. Previous Air Force reports on saucers have been along the lines of the one put out last night.

There have been suggestions that the new rash of sightings was inspired by Russia's launching of earth satellites.

In its report last night, the Air Force said "there is no physical or material evidence, not even a minute fragment, that a so-called flying saucer was ever found."

It also said there is no evidence that the alleged objects are interplanetary space ships, that they indicate developments beyond the range of current scientific knowledge, or that they pose any threat to the nation's security.

MacArthur Gets New Army Flag

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been presented with the new United States Army flag.

The flag, officially adopted by the Army last year, was presented to MacArthur yesterday by Secretary of the Army Bruce. Former President Herbert Hoover was a guest.

In accepting the flag on Governors Island, MacArthur said: "In these, my twilight days, I shall wrap myself in its folds with a reverence and devotion which surpasses all understanding."

The flag has 145 battle streamers commemorating campaigns from Ticonderoga to Korea.

Uncle Ray: Nebula Has Shape Of North America

Among the nebulae in the sky is one which is of special interest. It has the shape of North America.

Known as the North American Nebula, it is in the region of the bright star Deneb.

The North American Nebula can be seen only through a telescope. It is different from nebulae of spiral form. Scientists believe it gives little light of its own. The light we see is probably the glow from stars which are in midst of the nebula.

If we ask what this nebula is made of, the best answer seems to be "a thin gas which contains dust."

There are dark nebulae as well as those which glow. They hide the stars on the other side of them. Probably they are made of gigantic clouds of dust.

Stars sweep through space at great speed. Some are known to go hundreds of miles in a single second. It has been estimated that one star cluster makes 12,000 miles in a second, but the estimate has not been proved.

If we could travel on a rocket which went that fast, we could get to the moon in 20 seconds. It would be a mighty fast trip, and I would not care to be abroad
