After Record Flight

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay salutes an honor guard at Ezeiza Airport in Buenos Aires, Argentina, after a flight from Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts. His flight of 6,330 miles was a record nonstop, non-refueling flight in the KC135 jet tanker in the background. At his right is U. S. Ambassador Willard Beaulac. Argentine air force officers walk on either side of the two men.

Lemay Takes Off For U.S., Seeks Still Another Record

ABOARD KC135 (P)—This huge jet tanker-transport streaked past the equator just over five hours out of Buenos Aires on the way to a possible Inter-American record.

With Gen. Curtis LeMay in command and most of the time at the controls, the Boeing plane set a jet distance record yesterday on the southbound run of more than 6,300 miles from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., in 13 hours and 2 minutes.

LeMay, vice chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force, lifted the four-jet plane off the runway about 4:28 a. m. His goal was National Airport at Washington on a nearly straight course of about 5,000 miles.

Accompanying the flight are three news correspondents; Vern Haugland, Associated Press, Brig. Gen. Robert Ginsburgh (Ret.) of the United States News and World Report; and Peter Bird Martin, of Time Magazine, along with the es-

Senate Turns Down Insurance Appointment, Reasons Secret

AUSTIN (P)—The Senate's reasons for turning down William Harrison as top executive officer of the Insurance Board remained an official secret today, but the uproar of speculation went on.

Harrison, 47, one of the top in-vestigators in the collapse of U. S. Trust and Guaranty and of the ICT Insurance Co., was rejected

Inmate Of Reform School Sought In Child Slaying

LOS ANGELES (P)— Sheriff's deputies acknowledged today that they have no definite clues to the whereabouts of an armed reform school boy sought in the slaying of 22-month-old Laura Helen Wetzel.

But they said they were leaving "no stone unturned" in the hunt for elusive John Lawrence (Larry) Miller, 15, who ran away from his parents Sunday as they were taking him back to the Fred C. Nelles School for juvenile delinquents at nearby Whittier. He had been home on a pass.

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz said the Miller boy was linked to the Monday afternoon killing by a palm print found at the murder scene in a Rolling Hills Estates apartment. The beach community is about 20 miles from downtown Los Angeles.

Authorities quoted the teenager's father Harold Miller of Long Beach as saying: "I hope they catch my boy before he hurts anyone else."

Coroner Theodore J. Curphey said an autopsy showed no evidence that Laura had been sexually assaulted. He said there was hemorrhage in the lungs, common in asphyxiation. The exact cause of death will be determined by laboratory studies, Dr. Curphey said.

The blue-eyed, blonde daughter of Air Force Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Wetzel was found dead Monday in the home of neighbors, who were away. Her nude body, badly bruised, lay in a tangle of blankets.

Laura disappeared while playing. Her parents were looking for her when a youth was seen at the murder scene. He disappeared in defiance of Little Rock neighbors who spotted him. They said he was armed with a pistol and a large knife.

Large Area Combed For Couple Who Took Child At Gunpoint

LINCOLN, Neb. (P)—The Midwest and Southwest were searched today for a girl, 5, and the woman and man who took her from a Lincoln children's home at gunpoint.

Chief Deputy County Attorney Dale Fahrbrück said the woman had been identified as Mrs. J. O. Huddleston of Little Rock, Ark., a paternal grandmother of the child, Marilyn Henry.

The man was not identified. It was he who flashed the gun and, said Mrs. Alberta Kuklich, superintendent at the Cedars Home for Children, warned "don't move. I'll shoot and I'm not kidding."

The pair hustled the child into a car and drove off. They are believed to have headed south.

Marilyn has been the object of a custody fight between her moth-

Daniel Asks Passage Of School Closure Bill

Public Hearing Set For Monday

AUSTIN (P)—Gov. Price Daniel today asked the Texas Legislature to pass a bill to close public schools under troop threat, and House and Senate committees set it for public hearing Monday.

The House State Affairs Committee first voted 7-0 to send two versions of the school closing proposal to the attorney general for an opinion on their constitutionality. That automatically cut off possibility of quick House study and voted on the proposal.

Daniel told the Legislature as it began its second called session that Texas can maintain peace and order in its schools "without the use of military force."

The Legislature met on the dot at 10 a. m. to take up the sole topic of a law Daniel urged to close schools that may be occupied by state or federal troops.

The Senate state affairs committee called for public hearing on the governor's bill (SB1) at 10 a. m. Monday. That also had the effect of stopping any immediate final action.

Hard Feelings Not Apparent In Play Accident

MILWAUKEE (P)—Two ten-year-old boys talked on the telephone yesterday, and they talked of serious things, but they were not sad.

The lad who made the call is Timothy Kearns, who the night before had undergone a delicate operation in which a team of brain surgeons removed a steel-tipped arrow from his left eye.

The call was placed to his pal who had fired the arrow.

"Hello, this is Tim," the conversation began.

"Ooo, Tim. How-how are you?"

"I'm fine. That's why I called. Don't you worry about me. I'm all right."

"I'm glad," the playmate answered. "Well-take care of yourself. Maybe I can come to the hospital and see you. I didn't sleep a wink all night. Well-goodbye."

"Bye," Timothy said. "Don't you worry."

Tim's friend turned to his mother and: "Honest, mom, I don't have to worry any more. Tim was hurt as the boys played 'Indian fighter' Monday."

Tim's physician explained that the arrow, imbedded four inches in the lad's head, was removed without apparent brain damage. And it was hoped the vision in his left eye could be saved.

Injured In Game Of 'Indian Fighter'

Got Bills Passed

The new session came on the heels of a first which in 30 days gave the governor substantially all that he asked for on lobby and influence control laws, a water planning measure, and a commission to study crime and law enforcement.

Gov. Daniel's brief message opening the second session was read to the House and Senate.

"If violence or the threat of violence should ever occur to the extent that peace and order at a public school cannot be maintained without the use of military forces, or if federal troops ever occupy a public school in this state, I believe it would be best for the school to be closed until such time as peace and order can be restored and maintained," Daniel said.

"I recommend that such actions be left to the local school boards, and that state aid, accreditation, attendance records, salaries of school officials, teachers and employes should not be affected thereby."

Vital Objectives

Daniel said there were four vital objectives in connection with the troop-school bill: protection of the school system, preservation of good relations among all citizens, maintenance of law and order, preservation of rights and responsibilities of state and local governments.

All four have been endangered "in a neighboring state by the occupation of a public school with military forces," Daniel said in an obvious reference to the Little Rock situation.

Along with his message Daniel offered the lawmakers a bill to close schools under military threat. Among other things, it would forbid the governor to call out the National Guard "except as a last resort." This was a change from an earlier draft which would have barred the governor from calling out the National Guard in a school violence situation.

"Final action on the controversial lobby law came last night at 11:52, just eight minutes before the first called session ended at midnight."

The House approved a conference committee report on the lobby law 125-15 after the Senate accepted it on a voice vote at 20 minutes before midnight. Daniel said it was a good bill and he would sign it.

Earlier last night, the House and Senate sent to the governor a water study measure that fit neatly into his pattern drawn for the special session. Daniel said he would sign it.

The legislators had already sent to the governor the crime study bill and a measure designed to bring under sharper controls persons who practice for pay before state boards. It and the lobby bill

Downtown Paving Is Postponed To End Of Christmas Season

The City Commission at its meeting Tuesday night voted to ask for bids on paving the downtown area and to wait until after the first of the year to have it done.

The action came after it considered giving the job to W. D. Caldwell.

Caldwell quoted the city a price for the work on a block-by-block basis. At his price, some of the downtown blocks would have fallen below $2,000 while others would have been above it. The city is required by law to contract any work costing more than $2,000 at the lowest price. City Manager H. W. Whitney said he and Bellamy would prepare plans and specifications and send them out to contractors.

Date of opening the bids will not be known until the plans were complete.

In any case, the commission felt it should wait until after Jan. 1 to start the work, so as not to impede the downtown during the Christmas shopping season.

The city plans to rip up the existing surface and repair the base. Then the contractor could lay the hot - mix and the street would be closed only a day.

Money for the project was provided in the bond issue of August, 1955 but the city has delayed fixing the streets until now.

In another paving matter, a committee of citizens presented the city a petition bearing 156 names of persons interested in seeing 6th paved from Goliad to Holbert. Also, property owners' petitions were presented in two groups, from Goliad to State and from State to Holbert.

The committee said that recent rains had made travel to and from East Ward School almost impossible.

The city manager explained that the city would not okay the paving until every property owner agreed to pay his share of the costs in

Industry Urged To Support 'More Guns, Less Butter'

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks called on industry today to support a "less butter and more guns" federal budget to meet the challenge of Soviet science.

Weeks strongly suggested the budget which President Eisenhower will hand Congress in January will call for greater military and foreign aid spending and curtailment of civilian programs.

The secretary addressed 1,200 members of the National Defense Executive Reserve, opening a two-day conference here. The reserve is made up of businessmen who have served in government.

"The Soviet Union's sensational exploits in satellites have posed the most serious challenge of this tension-wracked age," Weeks said. "As President Eisenhower steps up the campaign to mobilize scientific and military resources, American business must move up into the front line of defense."

Naming ways by which industry can cooperate, Weeks headed the list with the exhortation: "Support a budget adequate for national security."

The secretary called on the reservists also to "stimulate a sense of urgency" on weapons development and production, and to lend technicians to Washington.

"More scientists, engineers, business executives and other experts from private industry are needed for advice and service," Weeks said.

Weeks reported that ever since Russia sent aloft the first Sputnik, businessmen "have told me that no effort is too gigantic, no scientific goal too imaginative and no sacrifice too great where survival is at stake."

Concerning the budget proposals now being drafted within the administration, Weeks noted that "spending huge sums by itself does not guarantee a miracle."

Carrier Enters Search Area

HONOLULU (P)—The Philippine Sea and its covey of planes today enter the critical area in their search for a Honolulu-bound Pan American airliner which vanished last Friday with 44 persons.

The big carrier, with 22 radar-tracking planes and 12 helicopters, completed the first full day of participation in the widespread search yesterday without a clue.

Shower, Fog Greet Dawn

An early morning shower dumped .04 inch additional moisture on already saturated Big Spring today. The shower which fell without many Big Springers being aware of it, came just ahead of a dense fog which greeted early risers.

By midmorning the sun had burned the fog away, but the Weather Bureau map for the day foresaw additional rains for the area.

The shower on Wednesday was the eighth this month in which measurable precipitation has occurred.

It brought the month's rainfall to 1.64 inches and the total for 1957 to 22.52 inches.

Many More Soviet Pups To Go Into Space Before People

MOSCOW (P)—Izvestia said today the Soviet Union will shoot many more dogs into space before risking human life in such experiments.

The Soviet government newspaper said the first human space travelers would not be adventurers but "the best people to be found in Soviet society."

Scientific methods of protecting future pilots and passengers from harmful effects must be created beforehand by means of experiments with animals in space, the paper added.

Pravda, the Communist party paper, in a long review of the Soviet earth satellite program, gave what appeared to be the first authentic report with pictures of the structure of the Sputniks themselves.

But neither Pravda nor Izvestia made any direct mention of Laika, the dog passenger on Sputnik II.

Prof. Vladimir Chernigovsky, a member of the Soviet Academy of Medical Science, said in the Moscow News today there was no intention of returning the dog Laika to earth. The professor participated in the preflight training of the dog.

Pravda reported that the second satellite was rocket - shaped with a pointed nose. It was actually the last stage rocket of the carrier. Inside was a sphere patterned after Sputnik I. The sphere contained the dog, radio transmitters and other equipment.

Pravda's pictures and drawings indicated no provision had been made for catapulting the dog back to earth.

The picture showed a spherical container with a periscope for the dog, and containing instruments for measuring the sun's rays.

The paper said the air in the dog cabin was subjected to chemical regeneration and that a system of forced ventilation overcame weightlessness.

Pravda predicted that Sputnik I would continue in its orbit around the earth for at least three months before burning up in the earth's atmosphere.

Sputnik II will continue its revolutions much longer, Pravda said.

So much data had been received from Sputnik, the paper said, that they have only partly been analyzed.

Heart Ailment Kills Czech Red Leader

VIENNA (AP)—Antonin Zapotocky, one of the leaders in the Communist seizure of Czechoslovakia and its president since 1953, died early today in Prague after more than two years of heart trouble. Radio Prague announced the death. The veteran Communist would have been 73 next month. He had been in poor health since August 1955. Nine days ago he had another heart attack and the Prague Sanatorium said last night his condition had deteriorated. Zapotocky was one of the founders of the Communist party in Czechoslovakia. That was in 1921, a year after a meeting in Russia with Lenin which began a lasting loyalty to the Soviet Union. Conservative in his communism, Zapotocky did not go along with the policy changes of Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov after Stalin died in 1953. Under his influence as president, Czechoslovakia retained the memory and symbolism of Stalinism after Nikita Khrushchev began to chip away at them in Russia.

Despite some arrests of youths, Czechoslovakia under Zapotocky remained quiet when Poland on one side and Hungary on the other were inflamed last fall with anti-Soviet feeling.

Zapotocky was born Dec. 19, 1884, into an atmosphere of revolution. His father, a tailor, in an industrial area near Kladno, was one of the founders of the first Socialist party in that part of what was then the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Confidential Charge Dropped

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A conspiracy charge against 11 individuals and three corporations connected with the publication of Confidential magazine has been dismissed. The dismissal motion by defense counsel Arthur J. Crowley was granted yesterday by Superior Judge H. Burton Noble. The prosecution raised no objections. A two-month trial of the case ended last summer with the jury deadlocked 7-5 for conviction. The defendants were accused of conspiring to commit criminal libel. Still before the court is the question of whether Confidential and Whisper magazines were guilty of conspiracy to publish obscene matter. This was another of the charges in a grand jury indictment.

Judge Noble has indicated he will rule on this Dec. 1. Among those involved in the dismissal action were Confidential publisher Robert Harrison of New York City and Fred and Marjorie Meade, who operated Hollywood Research, Inc., a listening post on the West Coast for Confidential and Whisper.

Kasper Contempt Appeal Sated

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Arguments for new contempt of court trial were planned today for Northern segregationist John Kasper and six east Tennesseans in U. S. District Court here. Kasper and six residents of the nearby Clinton, Tenn., area were convicted by an all-white jury last July of criminal contempt in violating Judge Robert L. Taylor's injunction against interfering with desegregation at Clinton High School. Taylor ordered the defendants to be present for the oral arguments today. He was expected to pronounce sentence immediately in the event the new trial motions were denied. Maximum sentence for each is six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

N. Texas Area Sees Strange Harvest Season

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Probably the strangest cotton growing season in history for the North Texas area was concluded with the freeze of two weeks ago. Rain, fog, and generally miserable weather for harvest since the freeze also is resulting in the strangest harvest season in history.

The harvest prospect picture is not bright. Most of the cotton should be out of the fields. But harvest percentages range from 5 in Archer and Jack counties, 10 in Clay, Childress, Cottle, King and Collingsworth, 20 in Baylor, 25 in Wilbarger, 35 in Foard, 40 in Haskell and 50 in Throckmorton.

Cold, wet weather has slowed the gathering of the lint. In Wichita County, for example, information from Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Office Manager Bob Crocker indicates the freeze lowered yields by about 20 per cent. Only 15 per cent of cotton is out of the fields.

Condition of labor is "spotty," according to Crocker and B. T. Haws, county agent. Weather is interfering with harvest, and laborers may move on to other areas if clearing weather is not seen soon.

C. W. Wilhoit, county agent for Archer County, said the county's 1,100 acres were planted about three weeks late, and frost damage may be compounded by the moist weather.

According to ASC Office Manager Ermon Williams, farmers with acreage in the soil bank are happy with their decision to lay out of the cotton producing game this year.

O. L. Cook, Wilbarger County ASC committee chairman, said moderate insect infestations, late planting and the early freeze all took their toll. Loss to adverse weather was estimated by Cook at about 25 per cent.

Pleads Not Guilty To Assault Charge

Gonesindo Diaz, charged with aggravated assault in connection with the knifing of J. W. Harding last Thursday night, pleaded not guilty to the charge against him when arraigned in Howard County Court this morning. His bond was fixed at $500 by R. H. Weaver, county judge. Tommy Larez, arrested in the same case, has already been released on bond in the same amount. Harding was knifed in the chest in a fight at a place on the north-west side of town. He was in the Cowper Hospital until Monday when he was released to his home.

Trustees Earmark $60,000 For Junior High Remodeling

Remodeling of the Big Spring Junior High School building to the extent of about $60,000 was authorized last night by school trustees. The school board authorized its chairman, Clyde Angel, Supt. Floyd Parsons and Business Manager Pat Murphy to confer with architects on plans for the project. The authorization was given after Parsons and Murphy reported the $60,000 was available for the work. The money includes $38,000 which has been earmarked for the remodeling project for several months and about $22,000 expected to be available out of the fund for construction of Goliad Junior High.

Commie Planning Goes Haywire

BERLIN (AP)—Communist planning went haywire in the Christmas tree department yesterday. For weeks East Berliners have been waiting for the erection of a promised Noel tree—a 100-year-old, 110-foot giant—on Marx-Engels Platz, the city's Red Square.

Finally, out of the forest of Thuringia the shimmering pine was hauled into the square. Enthusiastic citizens gathered to watch complicated cable machinery raise the tree.

The cables went berserk. One pulled one way, the other another way, and the tree snapped in two. As the pieces were being hauled away, Neues Deutschland, the Communist party newspaper, rushed into print with the comforting news that the Red regime has sent an urgent order to Thuringia: Get another tree quick.

High Court Slaps Down Movie Censor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today struck down Chicago's ban against the French movie, "The Game of Love." The high tribunal in a brief order reversed a decision by the U. S. Circuit Court in Chicago which had upheld the Police Censor Board's prohibition. Times Film Corp., distributor of the movie, appealed to the high tribunal, which acted unanimously today.

A Chicago ordinance requires censorship of movies prior to their showing and bars the exhibition of films declared to be immoral and obscene.

3 Florida Men Die In Plane

MARSHALL (AP)—Three Florida men died late yesterday in a single-engine plane which plunged out of a foggy sky and smashed into a muddy cotton field.

Killed were Alfred Harp, 56, of Miami, who was at the controls early in the day when the ship left Broward County Airport in Florida; and Donald Jackson, 23, and his father, Wesley Jackson, 50, both of West Palm Beach, Fla.

Farmer Dave Wilson said he heard the engine falter but the sound of the impact presumably was muffled in the mire. He said rain had stopped falling for the moment but there was only a 100-foot ceiling and ground-level visibility was limited to 15 yards.

Says Space Dog May Be Alive

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The dog aboard Sputnik II probably has been brought back to the earth alive but the Russians aren't talking about it because of military implications, the president of the International Astronautical Federation said last night.

Andrew G. Haley of Washington, D. C., said he based his belief partly in the difference in the radio code pattern of the two Russian satellites.

Sputnik I gave out signals until its battery wore down, he said. The beeping from the larger Sputnik II ended sooner and suddenly, as if connections were broken or instruments destroyed by the election of the dog.

Haley, who spoke at Gonzaga University on a lecture tour, did not spell out the military implications.

Reds May Set Up Cosmic Institute

MOSCOW (AP)—F. Y. Zigel, a member of the Soviet Astronomical Geodetic Society, said today Russian scientists were studying the possibility of establishing "cosmic institutes" in outer space for study of the moon and stars.

Zigel, writing in the trade union paper Trud, said it was within the realm of possibility to send up "hundreds of rockets to heights of 2,000 to 3,000 miles and from their frames establish giant Sputniks—cosmic institutes."

From these space stations, he said, it would be possible to make observations of celestial bodies. He suggested that giant telescopes, with a magnifying power of more than 10,000 times, could be suspended in space for these studies. The space stations also could be used as filling stations for the refueling of interplanetary space ships, he said.

Stewart was retained to perform the audit again in 1958. Trustees voted to permit the West Ward P-TA to install two outside water fountains at West Ward School provided the work is done according to school district specifications.

Cooperation with the city in a program to collect delinquent taxes also was approved.

Ike Outlines Science Plans To U.S. Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower outlines to the nation tonight his program for training more American youths as scientists in the space era struggle against Russia.

Some key scientific advisers to the President reportedly have suggested to him that the federal government grant scholarships to promising students as an incentive.

For tonight's coast-to-coast television-radio address, the second in a "chins up" series, the President travels by plane to Oklahoma City.

The speech will be carried live at 10:30 p. m. EST, by NBC-TV and all four major radio networks.

Eisenhower will speak at Municipal Auditorium in connection with Oklahoma's "Arrows to Atoms" 50th anniversary of statehood.

The President's drive to overtake and surpass Russia in development of missiles and other weapons of the future started formally last Thursday night.

He also set forth several other steps in a program of immediate action designed to put the United States ahead of the Soviet Union.

At the same time he mentioned briefly certain long-range requirements which he said he would discuss in more detail tonight.

In his talk last week he said: "According to my scientific friends, one of our greatest, and the most glaring, deficiencies is the failure of us in this country to give high enough priority to scientific education and to the place of science in our national life."

He said SAC's aim was to keep a third of its planes on this status, although the aim had not yet been fully achieved.

American officers, after the first day of the Assembly meeting, disagreed strongly with an initial report to the group that the NATO military force was in danger of disintegration.

The report was filed by the Belgian and Dutch members of the Assembly's Military Committee.

Strongly critical of the American policy of putting major dependence on nuclear retaliation, they called for a strengthening of conventional forces.

American sources said that while strong differences had come up in the initial discussions, there had been no evidence of "disintegration."

On the contrary, these sources said, the healthy verbal fighting among the legislators would clear much underbrush before the NATO summit conference next month.

U.S. Already Laying Plans For A Manned Space Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force general says the United States already is doing some preliminary thinking about a manned space ship — although such a project still is a long way off.

Brig. Gen. H. F. Gregory, commander of the Air Force Office of Scientific Research, said in a speech yesterday: "Although it may be somewhat early to be building manned space ships, it is not too early to be thinking about exploratory research in this area."

Gregory described the Air Force project Farside, a recent series of rocket tests, as "one of many high-altitude scientific research efforts that will be required for the successful conquest of space."

The Air Force has said previously that six rockets were fired in the Farside tests in the Pacific and there have been unofficial reports that the sixth shot went more than 4,000 miles into the sky.

Gregory said there was no foundation for reports that Farside personnel had been pressured to speed up the project as a result of Russia's first satellite launching Oct. 4.

It was that event which touched off a general clamor for accelerating the U.S. missile and satellite programs.

The second Soviet satellite, one carrying a dog was hung in space Nov. 10.

Former President Harry Truman, in Washington to attend a luncheon in his honor, told newsmen: "We had a missile program before I left the White House — it was broken up after I left."

He said the program was devoted primarily to research from 1946-51, and that it was headed by K. T. Keller, former Chrysler Corp. president who later left government service.

"Somebody ought to institute a specific policy and see that it is carried out," he said.

But about the same time, Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) issued a statement saying the Truman administration must be blamed "for our lag behind the Russians in the ballistic missile field."

"The record of the Truman administration on missiles reveals a monstrous neglect bordering on the criminal," Bennett said.

"The Truman legacy was so deplorable that the Eisenhower administration had to start virtually from scratch to begin to catch up with the Russians."

There was one indication that government purse-strings may have been loosened somewhat for missile development.

At El Paso, Tex., the Corps of Engineers said it will seek bids soon for building new facilities at McGregor range, where Ft. Bliss does guided missile work.

A spokesman said the money "is now available," but did not indicate when it was made available.

Moscow reported last night that Sputnik II would complete its 13th orbit of the earth at 6 a. m. today, but it gave no information on what had happened to the dog riding in the satellite.

Tass news agency also said that by this morning, Sputnik I would have circled the earth 591 times, and that its carrier rocket would have made 595 revolutions.

Radio Moscow, meanwhile, predicted that the first satellite would drop into the atmosphere and burn in late December or early January, and that the carrier rocket would come down somewhat sooner.

"Sputnik II will remain in orbit considerably longer," the radio said, quoting the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

NATO Panel Looks At Ocean Defenses

PARIS (AP)—NATO's Advisory Assembly turned today to a study of the Atlantic Alliance's defenses at sea. There was some expectation it might learn whether the United States is willing to share some of the secrets of its atom-powered submarine.

The Assembly, made up of congressmen or Parliament members from the 15 NATO nations, scheduled a closed session to hear from U. S. Adm. Jerald Wright.

Wright commands both the U. S. Atlantic Fleet and NATO forces in the Atlantic.

The Russian submarine fleet is known to number about 500 ships, for coastal or long-range operation, and is increasing by 75 to 100 subs per year.

This growing threat jeopardizes Western control of the Atlantic shipping lanes and the Mediterranean.

Wright would welcome additional naval contributions from the European powers. A sharing of American atomic shipping secrets might spur the Allies to great activity. The Assembly's spotlight shifted to naval power after a day of reports from leaders of the air and ground forces.

American Air Force Gen. Thomas Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, stiffened NATO spirits with the report that many of his planes were on 15-minute alert, armed with nuclear weapons.

He said SAC's aim was to keep a third of its planes on this status, although the aim had not yet been fully achieved.

American officers, after the first day of the Assembly meeting, disagreed strongly with an initial report to the group that the NATO military force was in danger of disintegration.

The report was filed by the Belgian and Dutch members of the Assembly's Military Committee.

Strongly critical of the American policy of putting major dependence on nuclear retaliation, they called for a strengthening of conventional forces.

American sources said that while strong differences had come up in the initial discussions, there had been no evidence of "disintegration."

On the contrary, these sources said, the healthy verbal fighting among the legislators would clear much underbrush before the NATO summit conference next month.

B66's Fly To Islands Nonstop

MANILA (AP)—Three U. S. Air Force twin-jet B66 bombers swept into the Philippines today after nonstop flight from the U. S. West Coast.

The Air Force said the flight from George Air Force Base, Calif., made in just over 17 hours, was part of an operation to show it can deliver a tactical striking force to help nip brush-fire wars anywhere in the world.

A spokesman said the 8,000-mile nonstop trip was a record for B66s, which can carry atomic weapons. The flight refueled in the air off Hawaii.

A fourth plane in the flight stopped at Wake Island and was due tomorrow.

The B66s are the vanguard of 47 jet fighter and bombers being moved from various U. S. bases to Pacific points in an operation called "Mobile Zebra."

Thirty-one planes are coming to the Philippines and 16 others will stop at Guam.

The flight was led by Col. R. J. Clizbe, 42, of Centralia, Wash., who now lives with his wife and two children at Eglin, Fla.

The average speed was about 530 miles an hour, Clizbe said. The three-man light bomber is rated in the 600-700 mile an hour class.

Solon Charges GM Repayment Offer Is Plea Of Guilty

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) says an offer by General Motors to repay the Air Force more than half of $17,459,200 constitutes a plea of guilty to misrepresentation and excess profits.

Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services subcommittee on special investigations, said yesterday a large part of the $9,701,458 offer was conditional. It depended on a refusal by the Justice Department to press charges of fraud against the huge automobile firm.

The contract involved the construction of 599 F84F jet fighter planes by the company's Buick-Oldsobile-Pontiac divisions.

General Motors made a profit of 11.6 per cent before taxes, Hebert said. He termed two million dollars of the profit overpricing by the corporation.

Hebert released two letters by John F. Gordon, vice president of General Motors. Both were sent to Maj. Gen. William T. Thurman, deputy director of procurement and production for the Air Force.

One letter, he said, described the overpricing as based on a misunderstanding of figures by the Air Force and offered to refund $4,701,548.

The second letter concerned excess profits, he said, and it contained a check for $2,400,000. This check, added to $2,600,000 which General Motors paid in taxes on that part of the contract, Hebert said, would make a refund of five million dollars in excess profits.

At Detroit, General Motors declined comment on Hebert's statement, but also made public the two letters sent by Gordon to Thurman.

Stapp Denies Pig Test Death

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A military physician-scientist denies a pig was killed yesterday in a demonstration to show U.S. auto makers how safety devices save humans.

About 100 representatives of car manufacturers are at the Air Force Missile Development Center, attending the third annual Automotive Crash and Field Demonstration Conference.

They saw two men and a bear undergo tests of violent deceleration, such as humans undergo in auto collisions.

An earlier report was that a pig was killed in one of the tests, but Col. John P. Stapp, head of the Aero-Medical Field Laboratory at the missile center, denied that. In a formal statement, he said: "It has been erroneously reported that a lap belt experiment was conducted . . . using an anesthetized pig."

"The facts are two volunteer human subjects, Capt. Eli L. Beeding and A.I.C. Gerald Johnson, were subjected to 27 to 15 times their body weight respectively with a lap belt or safety belt as the only restraint."

"In addition, one bear was decelerated at 20 G's, or 20 times its body weight."

"None of the subjects, human or animal, was adversely affected." The scientists explained a bear was used because its bone structure—particularly the back bone—is similar to a man's.

Garcia Widens Lead In Philippines Vote

MANILA (AP)—President Carlos P. Garcia widened his lead in Philippine presidential election returns today, but his running mate trailed far behind a popular former congressman and diplomat.

Garcia, 61-year-old Nacionalista party candidate and political heir of the late Ramon Magsaysay, moved well ahead of Liberal party candidate Jose Yulo, 63-year-old sugar king. Garcia was winning almost 40 per cent of the votes in the five-man race.

In the vice presidential race, Diosdado Macapagal, a Liberal, piled up an overwhelming lead over House Speaker Jose B. Laurel Jr., the Nacionalista nominee and member of one of the Philippines' leading political families.

With Garcia and Macapagal victorious, the Philippines for the first time would have a president and vice president of opposing parties. Both favored continued strong cooperation with the United States.

Returns from nearly all 53 provinces, representing about 20 per cent of yesterday's vote, gave: Garcia 409,214; Yulo 301,367; Manuel P. Manahan, Progressive 250,828; Sen. Claro M. Recto, Nacionalista-Citizens, 110,209; and Antonio Quirino, Independent Liberal, 22,804.

Macapagal had 573,213 votes to 307,101 for Laurel. Garcia's Nacionalistas appeared likely to dominate Congress again. The Philippine News Service said the Nacionalistas apparently would take at least 70 of the 102 House of Representatives seats. Five Nacionalistas, two Liberals, and a Progressive led the field in the eight senatorial races at stake. Senators are elected on a nationwide basis.

The President's party held 86 House seats and 23 of the 24 Senate seats in the last Congress.

With the 54,000-man Philippine army on the alert to prevent violence the election was one of the quietest on record. Only one political killing was reported.

But nine persons were killed yesterday in a clash between police and bandits in Cavite province south of Manila. And 11 persons were reported dead or missing as a result of Typhoon Kit.

Victorious in every election of his 31 years in public life, Garcia succeeded to the presidency last March when Magsaysay was killed in a plane crash. He immediately set out to win a four-year presidential term, pledging to continue Magsaysay's pro-American foreign policy.

Need License

AUSTIN (AP)—Egg handlers were warned yesterday by the Egg Marketing Advisory Board to get a license. Violators can be fined up to $500, the board said. Although enforcement or all phases of the new law does not go into effect until Feb. 17, handlers must have licenses now.

Witnesses Appear At Galveston Jury

GALVESTON (AP)—A series of witnesses, including three newsmen, the mayor and the police chief went before the Galveston County grand jury yesterday.

The jury, investigating vice conditions, was believed searching for possible violations overlooked by an earlier grand jury which returned 117 felony indictments several weeks ago.

Nuclear Power Lights Up Town

MOORPARK, Calif. (AP)—The atomic age came to Moorpark last night, when, for five minutes, the community of 1,500 was lighted entirely by means of nuclear power.

The power, transmitted over Southern California Edison Co. lines, came from a nuclear plant for generating electricity in the Santa Susana Mountains, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Engineers said it marked the first time an entire town was lighted in this manner.

Tuck, news director of Radio KGBC, and Tom Lewis, news director of Radio KILE, have written recent stories saying hotels and gambling establishments were open.

Also testifying were Mayor George Clouth, Police Chief O. E. Henson, Texas City Police Chief Rankin Dewalt, Asst. Atty. Gen. James Simpson and J.D. Givens, who helped gather information used by the attorney general's staff in earlier investigations.

Aggies, Sooners And Auburn Are Favored

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Traditional games dot the college football map. But background means little in picking the winners. Getting the right backfield would be a much bigger help.

So, off we go: Texas A&M over Rice; Bear Bryant's Aggies are No. 1 in the nation. Rice is only second best in the Southwest Conference. Oklahoma over Notre Dame: In belief that the Sooners have recovered from their mid-season siesta. You can see for yourself on your TV screen. Auburn over Georgia: The Auburn defense is one of the best. Ohio State over Iowa: In the past 10 years the home team always has won, in this crucial series. The Buckeyes do the entertaining this time and hope to clinch the Rose Bowl bid.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Ex-Washington Place students and boys who have moved in from other cities represent a prominent part of the youngsters now playing football here from the 7th grade level on up through high school.

A chart prepared by Bernard Rains and Harold Bentley, two local coaches, shows that 32 of the athletes on the five teams (7th, 8th, 9th, B and A) attended school in places other than Big Spring.

Thirty-two others played their elementary school ball at Washington Place, 30 at College Heights, 15 at East Ward, 13 at Park Hill, 11 at Central Ward (no longer in existence), seven at North Ward, six at West Ward and five each at Airport and Kate Morrison.

Kate Morrison is the lone school in the city not represented on either the A or B team. Coaches have a hard time convincing the Latin-American youths they should remain out for football but perhaps Dan Bustamante and the junior high school mentors can change all that.

Of the A and B teams, four never went out for football while in ward school. Fifteen others had only one season of elementary school grid experience. Nineteen went out two years and three for three seasons. Twenty-one played 7th grade ball, 23 of them 8th grade ball and another 28 in the 9th grade only.

Of the boys now on the varsity, four moved here after leaving elementary school. Four each attended Park Hill and West Ward. Three each went to College Heights, two each to East Ward, North Ward and Airport while the old Central Ward has only one performing on the A squad. Another went to two different schools.

Park Hill graduates now on the A squad include Frank Williamson, Donnie Everett, Roger Flowers and Bill French. West Ward exes include Bud Bridges, J. B. Davis, Kenny Johnson and Scotty Ellison. Washington Place representatives on the squad include Chubby Moser, Bobby McAdams and Buddy Barnes while College Heights exes include George Peacock, Billy Bob Satterwhite and Lanny Hamby.

East Ward graduates include Wayne Fields and Knox Pitzer. Doug Eastman went to Central Ward, George Lowke and Roy Deel to North Ward and Gale Kilgore and Gerald Davidson to Airport.

Don Payne attended both West Ward and Airport, where he played football.

Danny Birdwell and Jimmy Evans did not play in the elementary school program. Maxey Carey, Billy Bob Lewallen and Jan Loudermilk went to school some other place than Big Spring while in grade school.

Kilgore had but one year of elementary school ball and then was not able to play in junior high school.

Following is a breakdown on the makeup of the five teams from the 7th grade through the high school A squad, as prepared by Rains and Bentley:

School	7th	8th	9th	B	A	Total
Washington Place	12	9	2	2	2	27
College Heights	7	7	4	4	4	26
East Ward	4	4	2	2	2	15
Park Hill	4	4	4	4	4	20
Central Ward	0	0	0	1	1	2
North Ward	2	0	0	0	0	2
West Ward	4	0	0	0	0	4

Airport	4	0	0	0	0	4

INJURY FAILS TO STOP LAD

FORSAN (SC) — A determined young man is Travis Schafer, fullback of the Forsan six-man football team.

Travis is a senior and the Buffs are scheduled to play Christmas in their final District 8 game here Friday night.

Schafer says he'll play against the Cogars, even though he's now on crutches. He suffered a bad sprain in last week's game against Garden City.

His coach, James Blake, said he wouldn't be surprised if Travis does discard the crutches and takes the field against the Cogars. He's been that kind of player all year, according to his coach.

Crow's Laurels No Surprise To His Coach

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—When John Crow was named Back of the Week in the nation's college football it was no surprise to his coach, Paul (Bear) Bryant of Texas A&M.

Bryant was already talking about Crow being All-America before this honor was announced and he also declared that "if John Crow doesn't win the Heisman Trophy—whether we win another game or not—they ought to quit giving it."

Crow hasn't played in a game this season that he didn't get credit for winning it or making winning it possible. And his defensive feats have been as great as offensive. In practically every game he has killed the opposition with a pass interception at a crucial point—witness Arkansas and Southern Methodist.

Against Texas Christian he "stole" the ball from Dick Finney, the Horned Frog quarterback, who was on the way to a touchdown. And he also intercepted a pass to stop a threatening TCU drive in the last minute.

Crow was injured early in the opening game of the season and didn't play any more until the fourth game. But in five games he has averaged 90 yards rushing per contest. Most of the big yardage gains are three, four and five yards—just what's needed—but he can make more when necessary.

Crow got his Back of the Week designation for what he did Saturday—29 yards rushing, 64 yards returning punts and kickoffs, 30 yards returning two intercepted passes, sparked two touchdown drives and made one touchdown himself, kicked an extra point, "killed" an SMU hope by "stealing" the ball from a fellow who was catching it and blocked like a demon.

TICKET GOOD FOR 2 GAMES

The box office at Memorial Stadium will be opened at 5:30 p.m. Friday, in order that fans can see both the Ward School All-Star game and the returning contest pitting Big Spring against San Angelo.

The Ward School game starts at 6:15 p.m. and the varsity contest at 8 o'clock.

One ticket will cover the price of admission to both games and only those with tickets will be admitted for the first game.

Reserve seat duets sell for $1.50 each.

Rockets Open Play Friday

The Lakeview Rockets launch their 1957-58 basketball season here Friday night, at which time they tangle with the Lamesa Yellow Jackets.

Two games are on tap, with the B's playing at 7:30 p.m. and the A teams taking the court immediately thereafter.

Probable starters for Lakeview include: Willie Myles, who stands six feet; Robert Allen, 6-2; B. F. Newton, 5-11; Luther Brown, 5-10; and H. T. Baker, 5-11.

Others who are apt to play for Big Spring include Rogers Evans, T. J. Kennard, Holston Banks and Steve Hopper.

Admission prices have been set at 50 and 25 cents for the game.

Frick Close-Mouthed About PCL Planning

NEW YORK (AP) — The currently indisposed Pacific Coast League won't know what shape it will be in next season for another three weeks—if then.

That's what the second meeting called by Baseball commissioner Ford Frick to discuss the situation achieved here yesterday.

Frick said the group of major and minor league officials, their original suggestions in the problem vetoed by the Texas League and American Assn., had put together a new plan for the realignment of the PCL, but he doubted there would be a final decision until next month's winter meeting.

IN COMEBACK TRY Jackson Pitted Against Machen

By JACK STEVENSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Boxing followers discover tonight if Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson has dropped from heavyweight title challenger to trial horse within the short space of two fights.

The tireless warrior with the not-too-potent punch battles the No. 1 challenger, undefeated Eddie Machen, in a 12-rounder at the Cow Palace.

It's the first outing for Jackson since July 29 when, as the top-ranked challenger, he was stopped by champion Floyd Patterson in the 10th round. Jackson went to a hospital.

Machen, a 25-year-old from Redding, Calif., is undefeated in 23 bouts. He says he wants to "win big" to gain the right to battle Patterson.

"If I can knock him out, I will," says Eddie. "If not, I'll go for the decision. I'm not going to let desire for a knockout go to my head and throw all caution to the winds."

In-fighting of the boxing game that doesn't go on in the ring influences some of Machen's desire for a big win.

Cus D'Amato, who manages Patterson, has said Machen has forfeited any right to fight the champion. D'Amato feuds with the International Boxing Club and declares Machen's plot, Sid Flaherty, has IBC associations.

HERALD'S 'PUBLIC SERVICE' VALUED AT $1,200 FOR 'FUND'

Nobody asked, but The Herald decided to tally up its "public service" gift to the recent United Fund campaign.

It added up to slightly more than $1,200.

That's not including the regular cash contributions of the paper and its employees — merely the space it gave supporting the drive and reporting its progress. It's all public service, just like the time and energy devoted by all volunteer workers in the campaign.

Tabulations showed that 1,149 column inches of space in The Herald were devoted to the UF drive from its beginning early in October until its conclusion last weekend.

Included in the tally were 42 stories and 15 photographs for a total of 557 column inches of space and 12 display advertisements covering an aggregate of 592 column inches.

At standard advertising rates, the space would have cost the United Fund a little more than $1,200 — if the agency had been required to pay.

Delinquent Tax Roll Ordered By County

C. R. Law, a specialist in tax work, has been assigned contract to prepare a roll of delinquent taxes for Howard County for the years 1954, 1955 and 1956.

Viola Robinson, county tax assessor, has appeared before Howard County Commissioners Court on two occasions asking that such a list be prepared. Law had submitted a bid sometime ago. The commissioners accepted the bid by a unanimous vote Tuesday.

The state law requires that such records be made and kept and also specifies the charge a specialist may make per entry for preparing such a service.

Mrs. Robinson told the commissioners that the state was pressing the county to compile such a record. Originally, she asked that such a record be made covering 1919 through 1956. The state comptroller also said that such a record was preferred by his office.

Relatively few other matters came before the commissioners at their Tuesday session.

Tom Berry, who had some land taken for right-of-way for U. S. 80, appeared before the board with a plea that he be paid $437.50 — an increase from the amount awarded by a special commission assigned to appraise the land. Berry had asked $500 and offered to split the difference.

P. O. Hughes moved that he be paid that amount. There was no second to the motion.

Wet, Mild Weather Outlook For U. S.

By The Associated Press

Wet and fairly mild weather was the outlook for broad areas of the country today.

Rain continued to drench the far northwestern part of the country from northern California northward into Washington. Showers, with snow at higher elevations, sprinkled the northern Plateau and in the Rockies. Snow falls in some areas measured about an inch.

Southerly winds carried moist air from the Gulf of Mexico northward through the Mississippi Valley and adjacent areas. Rain fell in sections as far north as southern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

A Bible Thought For Today

But to him that worketh not, but believeth on Him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. (Romans 4:5)

Well, Let's Go Ahead Regardless

It seems very evident at this juncture that there is little chance for Howard County to become a participant in any general property revaluation for tax purposes.

This should occasion no particular surprise among those who have watched the situation developing, but it is a disappointment among interests who have felt that, if one or two taxing agencies should attempt an up-dating of values, it would be good business for all to join together.

The city and the school district have waited on the county officials to reach some sort of decision for a couple of years. Several meetings have ended either in stalemate or in indecision. Finally, by a 3-2 vote the Commissioners Court voted to have representation in preliminaries looking toward employment of an engineering firm that would handle the revaluation.

Now, one of those in the slim majority, Commissioner G. E. Gilliam, has publicly announced not only his withdrawal from a joint negotiating committee, but also his intention not to vote for any revaluation program. Commissioner Gilliam disagreed with others on the committee over procedures in engaging a revaluation firm, letting it be known that one aspiring company would never be acceptable to him. This is certainly his right, but it is difficult to follow the logic of his decision to refuse any participation in the program, when there exists the possibility that another firm might offer the most advantageous proposal. Commissioner Gilliam is one of those who for some time has publicly declared his support for a county revaluation program. In changing his mind he apparently has joined with another commissioner, Mr. P. O. Hughes, who, as a candidate, told many people he favored a revaluation program. As a commissioner, however, he has consistently voted against county participation.

This brings the situation up to the city commission and the school district, whose members must have felt all along, that the program, if undertaken at all, would have to be between these two agencies.

We believe that it would be in the interest of good public business for the city and the school to continue, and if they can work out a satisfactory method of revaluation, go right ahead.

Granted that the county setup is completely outmoded and inequitable, there is no point in letting the city and the school property rolls get any deeper in the same shape. The rolls ought to be brought up to date, a uniform method of valuing for tax purposes ought to be evolved, and tax rates correspondingly adjusted.

As for the county's status, that apparently will just have to wait until the people themselves want to hand down a mandate.

The Challenge For Us To Catch Up

In his speech last week the President had a long introductory section (over two columns of newspaper print) which was addressed to the irrational fears of the least informed part of our people. This is the notion that with the Sputniks the Russians have achieved a decisive military superiority. To knock over this straw man the President marshalled a long array of facts which show that as of today we have a powerful military establishment.

Then at last, but with the utmost understatement, he came to the outer edge of the real problem: "I must say to you in all gravity that in spite of the present over-all strength and the forward momentum of our defense, that it is entirely possible that in the years ahead we could fall behind. I repeat: We could fall behind—unless we face up to certain pressing requirements and set out to meet them promptly."

To call this an understatement is itself an understatement. For the indubitable fact is that in the field of the longer range missiles and in the penetration of space, we have fallen behind. The question is not now whether "we could fall behind." It is when and how we can catch up, and the President will never restore the confidence of the people until he gives them the confidence that he is telling them the full truth.

The speech shows that the President has recently been listening to scientists and educators. But the main concern of the authors of the speech was to dampen down and to soothe, rather than to awaken and to arouse, our people. That is why they emphasized the false issue of our present strength and minimized, if not worse, the far-reaching significance of the growing strength of the Soviet Union.

What the Russians are demonstrating is that in the science and the technology which determines the balance of power they have achieved a greater forward momentum than our own. In the race of armaments they have come from behind and are now out in front. This does not mean that they now have a decisive superiority. But it does mean that we are threatened with a growing inferiority, which will be registered and discounted in advance in all the Foreign Offices of the world.

In these technological matters, it is like running to catch up and to pass someone who is in the lead and running faster than you are.

This can be done. But it cannot be done by government as usual, by business as usual, and by playing all the usual records about how rich and how free and how invincible and how efficient and how lovable we are. We are in a situation which, for us, is entirely unusual, that we may become, as compared with our rival, the weaker power.

As long as this is the prospect, we shall have to learn how to defend ourselves in the world by a wise diplomacy. We must prepare our minds not so much for what

Adlai's Walking On Glass

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson sounds as cautious about helping the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy as a man walking barefoot through a field of broken bottles.

Stevenson, a little like Hamlet sometimes in trying to make up his mind to do or not to do, issued a very carefully phrased statement on the help he'd give.

He stated his position only after the White House erroneously said he had turned down a suggestion that he help.

But since Stevenson is a handy man with the English language, his phrasing is hardly an accident. Translated into very simple English, it sounds like: "I don't want to stick my neck out too far."

At the same time President Eisenhower, who wanted Stevenson's help, played just as cautious about asking him. In fact, he didn't ask him. He had secretary of State Dulles do it.

When Eisenhower goes to Paris next month to try to glue American alliances tighter, he'll be in a ticklish spot. He'll need as much solid American backing as he can get, from Democrats as well as Republicans.

Dulles asked Stevenson for help in working out a policy for Paris. Stevenson, although he lost two presidential campaigns, still is titular head of the Democratic party.

But he can't speak for all Democrats, least of all for the most important Democrats between elections: The Democrats in Congress. If they don't like the policy produced at Paris, they'll be free to criticize.

In Search Of Life Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Marlon Brando at 32 a figure of world recognition, is an actor in search of his life role.

He has been phenomenally successful. He says this about the impact of success on him:

"I have not been so impressed so much by how I have changed as I have been by other people's attitudes toward me."

Brando is a full-lipped, short-haired, wide-hipped man who in a few short years has become perhaps the most acclaimed actor since John Barrymore, gifted with a talent as recognized among fellow actors as by the public.

In his latest film, he plays a young American jet flier who discovers, for him at least, that it is better to marry the Japanese girl he loves than to leave her behind. He is a Southerner. The theme of the film is how love can rise above race prejudice.

The picture is based on the novel by James Michener. There are rumors around that Brando himself may make a million dollars from the film.

He says, aside from money, that Hollywood has done itself and America a disservice because too often it is potentially the best possible instrument of communication with foreign people—but has failed to communicate.

"It behooves us to do what we can to improve our relations with other people who, in a short time, we may find our lives interdependent with," he said.

"I grows like coral does. You don't see it until the tide of circumstances goes out and reveals a whole network."

"I think I have learned, as a result of being successful, how frighteningly important it is to most people to be regarded as successful. Not many people care about your growth, or lack of it, as a person."

"People hate you for no other reason than that you are successful, and they like you for no other reason."

Pickle Stock Falls Like Zhukov

Ever since Sputnik II we've been having trouble with Stubby.

Stubby happens to be a coal black mongrel, a somewhat mixed-up descendant of POCO DEL DIABLO whose forte was fidelity and progeny in his 15 years at my father's farm. One of Pop's last acts before leaving the farm was to bequeath Stubby to our youngest boy, Wiggy.

We have fought hard to keep him a dog. I'll admit our discipline melted gradually, but we held the line about letting him come into the house and take over. Once in a while when he would find the door held open too widely, he would scoot in and then tremble for the inevitable "Stubby!" Obediently, he would tuck his tail, lay back his ears and reluctantly slink outside.

Almost by the hour he would run after whatever object you would throw, bring it back and eagerly wait for you to toss it again.

Also, he would eat everything put before him—from dog food to watermelon. But the other day when Mama put out some chicken livers and neck, did he gobble them up? Indeed not! I first learned of this when Mama asked how the chicken was. All right, I said, and she observed something about she had always heard that if a dog wouldn't eat meat, it was spoiled and she just wondered.

When we didn't come down with ptomaine, I began to wonder. How come Stubby didn't eat that liver?

Hard on the heels of this has come an epidemic of bolting into the house whenever anyone opens the door even so much as to let a sliver of daylight in. At first we thought that Stubby was just so happy to see us because of a weekend spent in another town, but I have come to doubt this. You can shout Stubby until you whistle on your S's, but he just gives you that haughty look like "Did you address me, sir?"

And finally, he has taken to playing with an old rubber ball and an old glove. He prances around, showing off like everything, shaking the living daylight out of them and whining something in dog language, but he doesn't bring them up at your bidding. He has a sort of "to whom do you think you are speaking?" look.

Not until I arose early one morning and looked out the window did I catch the drift. I thought I detected Master Stubby peering in the northwest and watching as though something was aching to the south-east.

I tapped on the window and caught his eye with a questioning look. He seemed to shake his head patronizingly as if to say: "Brother Pickle, you will take note that it is a noble dog, who is first to set foot into the brink of space. What has mere man to match that?"

Well, frankly, nothing. I'm wondering if I should invite Stubby to sleep with us.

Our 'Freedoms' And Our Education

(Mr. Stokes' column is replacing that of Inez Robb, who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON—A couple of incidents come back about Soviet Russia in the midst of the Second World War that seem apropos now.

They were related by the late Wendell L. Willkie when he got back from his morale-boosting trip to our allies all over the world, a mission approved by President Roosevelt who had defeated Mr. Willkie for President in the 1940 election.

One incident involved the head of the great National Library in Moscow which Mr. Willkie visited during his stay in Russia. The library director led the American tourist to a balcony outside of the library building so the two could talk without possibility of being snooped upon or picked up in recording devices. Mr. Willkie inquired of the Russian how he could live in such conditions where he was, in effect, under constant surveillance, and was surprised that this was secondary to a compensating pride in something else.

The Russian told Mr. Willkie that he was the first person from peasant stock who ever had been head of the great National Library.

Identical was another incident during the American's visit to the front where Russian armies were then in a death grip with Nazi armies. There he talked with a 38-year-old lieutenant general in charge of one sector of the front. Proudly the officer told Mr. Willkie that he was the first peasant who ever had such a high rank in the Russian army.

This pride in new-found opportunities and the emphasis on material things impressed the American good-will ambassador who compared it to our similar emphasis during our expanding era of the 1880's, but in the case of the Russians, unlike ourselves, it completely subordinated interest in individual liberty and freedom of speech.

Russia still is in this surging era, yet without the freedoms that Wendell Willkie thought they might acquire in time. They are still under the compelling drive of the personal pride he saw 15 years ago, however, with great stress on material accomplishments to which we are waking up again in the swirling sputniks and missile development and scientific advances which have left us behind, and which the Soviets quite naturally made the centerpiece in the 40th anniversary celebration of the Revolution.

We cherish our freedoms, which we intend to keep; but unless we get up and about and prove that we can do as well as Russia, we won't make a very good example before the world. Nor can we nourish a lot of nonsensical notions about freedom that include reluctance to use our Federal government, which belongs to all of us, and bury ourselves and our initiative in something called "state rights."

An example is education, in which Russia is making her greatest strides. While she is literally performing miracles in extending her 10-year primary-secondary school system so that its enrollment now is 30 million compared with 11.5 million 30 years ago, we have been arguing, fussing and fuming about whether it is all right for the Federal government to use tax money provided by all of us to build sorely needed school houses. One of the foremost conservatives of this era thought so—the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, 70 years ago, back in 1947. He sponsored and got through the Senate a bill authorizing $300 millions a year for education—not only for buildings but for teacher pay, or whatever else the states needed it for.

How Russia is forging ahead in education is revealed in a 226-page volume published today by the U. S. Office of Education, representing two years of work, an eye-opener which should give us pause. In a foreword emphasizing how much Russia is doing, especially in science and technology, U. S. Commissioner of Education Lawrence G. Dertlich cautions against any change in our basic concepts of free education, which he says are unsurpassed, because of the Russian example. Then he adds:

"Rather, it should challenge every American to re-examine the extent to which we as a people support our democratic system of education. It should, in fact, challenge Americans to take new interest in meeting the needs of our schools, colleges and universities as they serve the purpose of our society: freedom, peace, and the fullest development of the individual."

People Must Be Informed For Peace

WASHINGTON—November 11 was a fateful anniversary—just 39 years ago World War I ended. People everywhere breathed a sigh of relief on November 11, 1918. They thought war had ended for all time. Day by day the casualties at the battlefronts had been recorded in the tens of thousands. Passenger ships had been torpedoed without warning. Never again, everybody said, would this happen.

Indeed, as President Woodrow Wilson toured the country in September 1919 in behalf of the League of Nations, he made a speech outlining the inventions and new weapons which were being designed and which would make "the next war" so terrifying as to be unthinkable. He described how tons of bombs could be dropped on cities. It was frightening news.

But 20 years later the second world war broke out. Mr. Wilson had urged American entry into the League of Nations, and many of us who had supported this concept of 1919 found ourselves in a minority by the year 1932, when Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat, deserted us and persuaded the Democratic party to join with the Republican party in an era of American isolation.

By 1937 Mr. Roosevelt had changed his mind, and by 1939 the awful truth was beginning to percolate that the sacrifices of World War I had been in vain and that the Wilson slogan of the war—"to make the world safe for democracy"—had not been fulfilled. Collective security through new alliances of free nations became the only answer.

Today the world isn't safe for democratic government. Again—as in 1914 and in 1939—a totalitarian government reigns in the land of a powerful military rival. Instead of the Kaiser or Hitler, today it is the unscrupulous Khrushchev, successor to the unscrupulous Stalin. One-man rule can suddenly plunge the whole world into war. The People of Germany in 1914 or the people of Germany in 1939 would not have voted for war in any national referendum. The will of the people was not consulted before, and it is not being consulted in Soviet Russia today.

Is the world at the mercy of an autocratic ruler? Hitler used to talk as Khrushchev does today. He would argue for peace and, with the appearance of the utmost candor, express his desire to avoid war. Every agreement—even the statement issued after the "summit" conference in 1938 between Britain's Chamberlain and the Nazi "Fuehrer"—was proclaimed as "peace in our time."

Human nature doesn't change much. One-man rule throughout the chapters of history turns out much the same, though the century or the geographical location may change.

Today the Communist regime carries on its "peaceful co-existence" propaganda, and this gains considerable acceptance in the western world as the Soviets penetrate country after country, raising periodically a war threat as they did recently in Syria and previously in Indo-China and before that in Korea. The pattern is the same even to the repetition of "disarmament conferences" like those empty gestures of bygone days.

What is the answer? Man has invented ways of spinning iron balls around the world but not a single device as yet that enables peoples to talk to peoples. Scientific research in this field is needed far more than instruments which will reach the moon. The radio does some broadcasting now across international boundaries in Europe but radio waves can be jammed to impair listening and, besides, relatively few persons behind the Iron Curtain have radio sets.

Wives Can Help A Man's Morale

Mayor R. W. Dabney has proclaimed Saturday as "Harmony Day," in honor of the Roundup of Harmony show scheduled for Saturday evening in City Auditorium. This proclamation gives added prestige to the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

It also brings up an important point concerning barber shoppers. Around the turn of the century, long before the SPEBSQSA came into being, there were hundreds of small groups meeting for quartet singing. Meetings were often held in barber shops, which in those days were gathering places for men only; many had beer on hand, and thus became a sort of private club. The name of barber shop singing stuck even though other groups met elsewhere.

It wasn't long before the wives of some of the more imbibing members conceived a hearty dislike for barber shopping, and this old American institution, in some cases, came into ill repute.

But it isn't like that any more. SPEBSQSA membership today requires a man to be a steady influence in his community, and I know of no chapter whose members turn a meeting place into a tavern. Barber shopping today is good clean fun.

Thus a note to the wives: You well know that a wife has an influence on her husband that practically nothing else has. If your weaker half likes singing and sociability, by all means urge him to attend the meetings of his local chapter. It helps a man's morale to get away from his easy chair one evening a week and hob nob with the boys, and as long as you know where he is, you have nothing to worry about.

In fact, wives are more than welcome at SPEBSQSA meetings. And there is no better critic of a man's singing than his own better half.

Sorghum Crop Estimate Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas' 1957 grain sorghum crop estimate was revised downward yesterday by the Agriculture Department to 213,249,000 bushels.

It represented a drop of 241,000 bushels from the department's forecast a month earlier. The figure compared with a crop of 124,202,000 bushels in 1956 and a 10-year average of 91,620,000 bushels. The rice crop was forecast at 10,982,000 hundredweights, up 174,000 over last month.

The department estimate of the corn crop remained at 39,169,000 bushels.

Texas corn production last year was 27,465,000 bushels while rice production was 11,000,000 bushels. The 10-year rice average is 10,788,000.

A record-breaking grain sorghum crop of 526,528,000 bushels was forecast for the nation, compared to 513,935,000 forecast last month. 205,065,000 produced last year and 155,980,000 for the 10-year average.

Choir Famed For Madrigals

There has been quite a bit written about the Pamplona Choir, coming here Wednesday evening as the second in the Concert Assn. series. The consensus of European and American music critics seems to be that the choir, which hails from Pamplona, Spain, is one of the greatest of small choirs in the world.

Pamplona, incidentally, is also famous for its bullfight fiestas. The choir's repertoire is varied, including classical selections, but it is perhaps most famous for its rendition of the traditional European madrigals which date well back into the Dark Ages.

Membership in the Concert Assn. is, of course, closed for the season. But if you have your membership card, be sure and plan to attend the concert. It will be an evening you'll not soon forget.

Probe Due On Debts Forced By Navy Ruling

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The first U.S. congressman to set foot in the antarctic said today he would investigate reports that many Navy men here are being forced into debt by a Navy ruling.

Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.), a member of the House Interior and Insular Affairs and Veterans Affairs committees, landed at the McMurdo Sound base from New Zealand with Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Saylor, a Navy veteran, said a ruling by the Navy comptroller's office had created a pay situation that apparently was in urgent need of correction.

Saylor recommended that the United States plan to continue operations in the antarctic after the International Geophysical Year ends Dec. 31, 1958.

Dufek, the naval commander in the antarctic, said a delay in settling the pay question may interfere with planning for future antarctic operations. Dufek said he favored extra compensation for men serving in the antarctic.

Saylor heard reports that some Navy men might have to appeal to the Navy Relief Society to get them out of financial holes after serving voluntarily for a year or more in the antarctic.

Widespread bitterness among Navy personnel here stems from two contradictory Navy rulings. In addition to regular pay, their travel orders entitle them to per diem payments ranging by rank from $1.85 to $5 or more. They were allowed to draw in advance the money, which totaled from several hundreds to more than $1,500 a man.

Subsequently the comptroller ruled that Navy men stationed in the antarctic are not entitled to per diem payments. Some who have gone home have been required to repay advances out of their regular pay.

Wealthy San Antonians Treat Basic Science Like Culture

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—Down here in one of America's oldest cities, the milk-and-millions society set possesses a fresh outlook—basic scientific research should be financially supported for cultural reasons, just like the opera and symphony orchestra.

And from this outlook stems one of the nation's exclusive clubs—the Argyle.

The club members—about 400 mostly in San Antonio but scattered throughout the nation—are responsible for contributions ranging up to $150,000 a year for basic research. The members themselves donate around $50,000 and campaign for the remainder.

Dr. Harold Vagtberg, president of the Southwest Research Center, told a gathering of the elite during the weekend: "In some cities, the basic scientist is looked on as a curious person. Here in San Antonio he is recognized for the important cultural contribution he is making. This must be developed throughout the United States if we are to regain our leadership in the field of science.

"Community appreciation is essential if we are to develop and keep basic research scientists for the future."

The particular part of the center being supported by the Argyle is the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education, dedicated to basic medical studies.

About 125 oil millionaires, ranchers, businessmen, financiers and their families braved a downpour during the weekend to see where their money is going. They saw exhibits telling of studies in heart and circulatory diseases, glands, cancer and other medical matters.

So far their money hasn't gone into buildings. The research labs now are housed in converted barns.

But they eventually will be moved into a modern structure. The money for it has been donated by Mrs. C. F. Urschel, a wealthy woman in her own right and the wife of the oilman who outwitted a gang several years ago in the famous Urschel kidnaping case. The federal government will provide matching funds.

Aside from the potential military importance of Ethiopia, Point Four is spending about 15 million dollars in the country, mainly for agricultural development.

Americans also are working on the highways, originally splendid roads built by Italy but greatly deteriorated.

A fairly large American military mission is training the Ethiopian army. Much American surplus hardware is arriving in the country regularly.

Emperor Haile Selassie seems to be very pro-American, although some of his young men, educated in America, show signs of anti-Americanism.

Custody Battle

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Custody of a Seeing Eye dog has been contested in a divorce suit here. Mrs. Betty Eshelman seeks custody of the dog in her suit against Henry Eshelman. The suit says the couple owns the dog jointly. Both are blind.

Gems Stolen

TULSA (AP)—Jewelry reportedly worth nearly $9,000 was stolen yesterday from a display window of a department store in the heart of the business district. The bold daylight theft was said to have been carried out by two young men spotted fleeing by store employees.

Elks' Official Pays Visit Here

Jack Petosky of Midland, district deputy for the Elks Lodges, paid his official visit to the Big Spring lodge last night.

Petosky reported that he found records of the lodge in good order and complimented officers of the organization for their work. He also lauded the local lodge for its contribution of $1,749 to charity programs last year. This, he said, included more than $1,000 for assistance to crippled children.

Oliver Cofer and C. C. Ryan Jr. were named to arrange for an Elks Memorial Day Dec. 1. Plans for a dance Saturday, Nov. 23, also were initiated.

New members initiated at last night's meeting were E. R. Patton, Rip Smith, George W. Daniel and C. G. Varnell.

These are the Mad Caps, quartet from Dallas who will be featured at the Roundup of Harmony show scheduled for Saturday evening at the City Auditorium. A champion quartet, they are only one of several quartets and choruses that will be on hand for the evening's entertainment, proceeds of which will go into the Kiwanian crippled children's fund. The show is sponsored by the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. At top, left to right, are Doc Talbert, tenor, and Jack Culpepper, lead; at bottom are Ralph Ribble, baritone, and Darion Fendley, bass.

ALBERT PETTUS CHECKS CONTROL PANEL
Whether intricate or simple, Pettus Electric can handle it

Complete Service Given By Pettus

Complete electrical service, from the home to the oil field, is provided in the Big Spring area by Albert Pettus Electric Co., located just northeast of town on the Snyder Highway.

Pettus has been in the firm's new home there less than a year, after experiencing rapid growth in the past few years. Every facility for providing service to the area is incorporated in the new plant. Albert Pettus, owner and manager, credits growth of his concern to a policy of providing service in virtually every phase of the electrical business, and making the service as speedy as good workmanship and customer satisfaction will allow.

He maintains a staff of skilled electricians to handle the tasks the Pettus firm is called upon to perform. Each worker is a specialist in one field, although all are qualified for all types of electric service work.

Carl Stanley, backed by 15 years of experience, is in charge of outside construction, installation and repair work. Billy G. Powell handles electric motor rebuilding and similar services. He has 12 years of experience in the profession. Eugene Brown is responsible for magneto, starter and generator work and has had seven years of experience, all of it with the Pettus firm.

Pettus himself has accumulated 21 years of experience in all phases of electrical work. The quartet is qualified to handle practically all electrical service problems speedily.

"I believe our combined experience, covering 55 years, holds the answer to nearly any electrical problem that can arise," said Pettus. All types of electric service are provided by Albert Pettus Electric at any hour, day or night. The regular daytime telephone number is AM 4-4189. For night service, Big Spring may call Pettus at AM 4-6795, Stanley at AM 3-2996, Brown at AM 4-8060, or Powell at AM 4-7574.

Funeral Home Is Versatile Institution

The role a funeral home plays in the life of a community covers many facets. It is called upon to render a wide variety of services which are seldom noted and never chronicled.

River Funeral Home, a leading institution in Big Spring, is proud of the high esteem in which it is held by the residents of the city and the counties adjacent to the town.

In the years it has been a part of the life of this community, River has endeavored to perform at maximum efficiency all of the functions of its professional position and to fulfill to the utmost all other obligations that it has as a part of the town.

To all persons, eventually, comes the tragic occasion when the services of a funeral home are required and much of the hardship and suffering that such sad occasions engender can be lessened, by the sympathetic role that the institution is able to play in the tragedy.

River prides itself that it has been of service to many families in this capacity and constantly strives to improve and broaden the ways in which it can help its clients in times of sadness.

However, another function of the modern funeral home of tremendous importance has nothing to do with funeral services and ceremonies. Ambulance service is a featured part of the River operations—it maintains a staff of skilled drivers and a fleet of the most modern ambulances to insure that injured or sick persons are quickly, safely and properly moved from their homes or from the scenes of accidents to the hospitals for needed attention.

How's Your Heat? Check With Smith Butane Co.

Jack Frost has already made several passes at Big Spring. The leaves on the trees are turning brown. The cool weather is bound to get colder. The country will shortly be in the dead of winter.

Those who haven't seen to it that their homes are properly heated should take care of the chore with in the immediate future.

And, if they haven't decided what kind of fuel to use, they should consult S. M. Smith, owner and manager of the butane and propane concern bearing his name. Smith specializes in installing and servicing systems for those individuals living away from urban areas and who can't get natural gas piped into their homes.

Butane and propane are safe, economical fuels which, of course, can and are often used by city dwellers and farm and ranch families alike.

If rural dwellings are as modern and up-to-date as city homes, much of the credit must go to butane and propane fuels. They not only provide wonderful warmth for homes but fulfill other chores around a farm house, like heating water, providing heat with which to cook meals and heating chick incubators, as well as powering farm machinery.

Toyland Offers Wide Variety Of Christmas Gift Choices

Tired of tramping all over town in search of suitable Christmas gifts for all the youngsters on your Santa Claus list?

Then start your shopping mission at the Sportsman-Toyland Center, 1608 Gregg. Chances are, you'll never go any further, for all your gift needs can be filled at that one convenient location.

There's scarcely a toy in the book that can't be found at Sportsman-Toyland Center. The firm has assembled one of the finest, most complete selections of toys that can be found anywhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Talbot and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bunch, owners and operators, are inviting Big Springers to get the bulk of their Christmas shopping out of the way early this season by taking advantage of the wide selection of gifts and the handy, lay-away plan at Sportsman - Toyland Center. Merchandise placed in lay-away can be picked up at the convenience of the purchaser, any time up until Christmas.

Quite a large array of entirely new toys is available at Sportsman-Toyland this Yule season. Among the outstanding items are the "Fun With Electricity" kits with which the energetic youngster can build scores of electrically-operated devices, including flashing traffic signals, automatic bells and buzzers and other pieces of equipment. Power is supplied by flashlight batteries.

There also are new pistol and holster creations, some of which load up with "real" cartridges just like genuine western guns. Pistols and holsters may be purchased separately or in sets. Separate sections enable the customer to choose just the right combination his child would like.

Paratrooper carbines which shoot plastic pellets, rifles which make a loud noise and smoke realistically when fired, and fast-shooting burp guns are stocked. Wheeled toys abound at Sportsman-Toyland, ranging from tricycles, wagons and pedal cars to sidewalk and standard bicycles. Several new types have been added to the popular Tonka Toy line of trucks and construction equipment are stocked, along with complete soldier outfits, including helmet, canteen, and allied gear.

For the young miss, Sportsman-Toyland has a full line of dolls, kitchenware, dining sets and miniature furniture. And for any member of the family, the store stocks a variety of mechanical and table games, including electric pinball machine, and sporting goods of all kinds.
