Police Break Up Mobster Convention

APALACHIN, N.Y. — State police and U.S. Treasury agents yesterday broke up what an investigator said was a convention held by mobster Vito Genovese and 64 pals. The 65 men were picked up yesterday at a hilltop retreat near this south central New York community. All were released after identifying themselves. "We haven't a thing on them," said Sgt. Edgar Crowell of the State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation. "But we made it clear we wanted them out of the area." Crowell said the men were armed only with fat wads of cash — no guns. They came from New York, New Jersey, Ohio, California, Texas, Colorado, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico and Cuba, he added.

"We broke up the meeting because we were convinced it was being held for an unlawful purpose," he declared. "They're all hoodlums; there's no doubt about it."

Crowell said several such meetings had been held in this area in recent years. The last one of comparable size was in November 1956, he added. The men began filtering into the area Wednesday, he said. Troopers became suspicious when they saw large numbers of expensive cars, many with out-of-state license plates, parked at motels. Crowell said police set up roadblocks and partly surrounded the house on the hill before the men started to break for it. Thirteen were picked up in a field, the others at the roadblocks. Genovese, 59, of Atlantic Highlands, N.J., once was described by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as "King of the Rackets."

Ruling Awaited On Liability Of Guard

FORT WORTH — A ruling is awaited from the U.S. Fifth Circuit of Appeals here on whether the federal government can be held liable for acts of National Guardsmen while in summer training at Army installations. The court will give its decision in a $100,000 damage suit brought by survivors of two El Paso men killed in a highway accident Aug. 28, 1954.

Myron Praeger, accountant, and William C. Snow, attorney, were injured fatally when their car struck a 90-mm. anti-aircraft gun being towed by a truck. The unit had halted below a crest on a highway south of Roswell, N.M. At the trial in El Paso, witnesses testified the truck and gun were blocking half the highway and no warning flares had been placed. Cpl. Antonio Montano, driver of the truck, also was killed. He was a member of Battery C, 120th AAA Battalion of the 11th AAA Brigade of the New Mexico National Guard. His unit was winding up a two-week summer encampment at Ft. Bliss. The trial court awarded $100,000 in damages to survivors of the El Paso men, and the government appealed.

British, U.S. Begin Delivery Of Tunis Arms

TUNIS — Despite strong French objections, Britain and the United States started delivering 920 guns and ammunition for them to Tunisia today. Officials in Paris warned a serious break in the Atlantic Alliance was threatened. Two British transport planes landed at Tunis airport after London announced it would send 350 submachineguns, 70 Bren guns and ammunition. American planes were expected later with 500 semiautomatic M1 rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition promised by Washington.

The decision to send the token shipments was taken to forestall President Habib Bourguiba's accepting an Egyptian offer of arms from the Soviet bloc. The United States and Britain had held off after a French appeal in September but apparently decided Bourguiba would turn eastward unless he got help from the West. Paris fears that the "guns will be turned over to the rebels in French Algeria, western neighbor of this former French protectorate. Bourguiba gave "most explicit assurances" that the arms would be used solely for Tunisian defense, the U.S. State Department said.

FRENCH WARNING
French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau warned that U.S. and British arms deliveries to Tunisia would be "contrary to the conception of Atlantic solidarity." Although the shipments threatened harmony among the Western Big Three shortly before next month's important NATO meeting to seek closer Western cooperation, there was a feeling in Paris the gesture to Tunisia might actually strengthen the wobbly French government. Observers in Paris thought the new blow to French prestige would unite the National Assembly behind Premier Felix Gaillard's nine-day-old government.

Representatives of Bourguiba, the Tunisian army general staff and Defense Ministry and the British Embassy were on hand at the airport when the British planes arrived. Tunisian army trucks were waiting to carry the guns away. The deliveries followed 36 hours of feverish diplomatic activity in Paris, London and Washington which climaxed lengthy efforts by Bourguiba to arm his young nation of some four million people.

ARMS PARLEY
After Tunisia won independence from France in March 1956, the strongly pro-Western Bourguiba approached London and Washington to supplement the guns left the Tunisian army and police by the French. France let it be known it would supply Tunisia, but dragged negotiations over French demands for strict control over the arms to keep them out of Algeria. Communist Czechoslovakia and Soviet-armed Egypt meanwhile volunteered weapons, putting Bourguiba on the spot.

On Sept. 4 Bourguiba appealed for any government to sell him arms, but let it be known he preferred to deal with Western nations. Pineau warned that other nations should stay out of the continuing negotiations. Then the French Cabinet crisis during October held things up.

On Wednesday a U.S. note was handed to the French saying Washington intended to go ahead with arms for Tunisia. An emergency meeting of the French Cabinet was followed early yesterday by a meeting of Gaillard with the U.S. and British envoys in Paris and Pineau's renewed warning. Pineau will fly to Washington tomorrow for talks that had been arranged before the U.S. note arrived. He is expected to see Secretary of State Dulles and possibly President Eisenhower early next week.

No Redskin Found For Indian Dance

OKLAHOMA CITY — Guy Fraser Harrison, conductor of the Oklahoma City Symphony, had a problem that no other baton-waver has had to face.

In this state that has more Indians than any other, he couldn't find a redman who could dance in full regalia to the stately strains of an Indian dance played by a full symphony orchestra. Harrison's problem began more than a year ago when he commissioned Oklahoma-born composer Jack Frederick Kilpatrick to write a major work to be performed at the semicentennial of the symphony next Sunday to celebrate musically the 50th anniversary of Oklahoma statehood. Kilpatrick wrote the work "Oklahoma Symphony" in three movements. The second movement, called "Indian Land," included a short, authentic Indian dance.

Kilpatrick's Symphony No. 8, "Oklahoma" is the first work of its kind using a state's name in the title. Will Rogers Jr., son of the late humorist, will narrate the three movements. Harrison sent out calls for an Indian who could handle a symphonic tom tom but to no avail. Finally, right in his home grounds here he found someone to fill the spot—but he wasn't an Indian. It was Jim Bodine, a University of Oklahoma graduate who has made a study of Indian dancing. Bodine became interested while visiting in Taos, N.M., with his parents while a child and has been dancing regularly at Indian pow wows since he was 16.

Residents Flee Threatened Homes

A huge hole in a Seattle, Wash., boulevard, caused by a broken main trunk sewer, threatens to swallow homes on either side. About 50 persons were evacuated from the houses when the hole grew to about 150 feet long and 75 feet wide.

Seattle, With Hole In Street, Awaits Events

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle marshalled its reconstruction forces, counted the probable costs and worried anxiously today whether a great gaping hole in the North End's Ravenna Boulevard had ceased growing.

The size of the huge opening, upon the lips of which a dozen houses crouched perilously, didn't change materially after it reached dimensions of 200 feet long, 120 feet wide and 60 feet deep. But engineers said the stoppage might not last long.

Fighting to relieve the danger and to restore something akin to normal sewer services to a heavily populated area several miles square, engineers and construction workers toiled around the clock at widely separated places.

Virtually nothing was being done at the site of the hole. The break in a great main sewer line was 85 feet beneath the bottom of the 60-foot hole and attempting to approach it directly was considered too perilous.

Efforts were being concentrated on relieving pressures against connecting storm sewers clogged to the manholes with water-soaked mud and debris.

Engineers also worked on a bypass sewer line around the yawning crater. The bypass will divert the flow now building up in the broken main line 85 feet below the surface in a pit and permit sinking of shafts to the break which caused the hole to form.

After the street first caved in Monday, engineers said they would need $50,000 in an emergency appropriation to repair the damage. Yesterday they increased the figure to $200,000.

Many homes in a low-lying section half a mile to the southeast were damaged when backing sewage, dirt and water spurted out of manholes and soon covered the area to a depth of several feet.

West Texas Gideons To Hold Rally Here Saturday Evening

Gideons—Christian businessmen who take their name from the leader of a small select band of godly men—will rally here Saturday evening.

Members from the West Texas area, from Abilene to El Paso, from San Antonio to Amarillo, will gather for a banquet at 7 p.m. in the Settles Hotel.

At a breakfast prayer meeting Sunday at 7 a.m., participants will be assigned to churches whose pulpits they will supply in the morning worship hour.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, will be the featured speaker at the Saturday banquet affair. He is a member of the local Gideon camp.

Most churches in this vicinity are asking for Gideon speakers, and after the services offerings will be received on the open Bible for furthering the Gideon work.

While Gideon work is two-fold—witnessing Christ and spreading the word of God—all funds given are applied directly to the purchase of Bibles and New Testaments.

Gideons supply these to hotels, motels, hospitals, prisons, passenger trains, airliners, to men in military service and to school children.

While the Gideons date their betestaments in hospitals, to servicemen, nurses, youths.

Distribution of the Scriptures in (1-2 million copies) foreign languages is comparatively recent, but the newest expansion of the work is in seeing that every motel room has a Bible.

Local Gideon camps and Gideon headquarters in Chicago, Ill. have numerous letters testifying to miracles wrought by the Scriptures. They have prevented suicides, rectified drunkards, regenerated sinners, prevented adultery, and have saved entire families.

Two traveling men were brought together in a crowded hotel in Wisconsin. John H. Nicholson and Samuel E. Hill, obliged to share a room, found that each other was Christian. While having their devotions and praying, the thought struck them that there could be an organization of Christian traveling men. The following year they were joined by a third and together they prayed for a name. One of them arose and read from Judges 6 and 7 and said, "We shall be called The Gideons."

Today there are 11,898 Gideons and 2,413 associates (Christian laymen other than businessmen). Texas has 484 Gideons and 104 associates.

Uncle Ray: Would First Elizabeth Have Feared An Auto?

By RAMON COFFMAN

Turning the clock back again to the Elizabethan Era, how might we suppose "Queen Bess" would have reacted to a ride in an auto similar to President Eisenhower's bubble domed limousine, used recently by young Queen Elizabeth?

Queen Bess probably would have taken keen interest in the automobile, as she did in all new ideas during her lifetime. However, her chauffeur would be well advised to proceed slowly at first with his royal passenger out of the past, because the usual speed of Queen Bess' fastest conveyance was about five or six miles per hour.

Q. What advent in royal transport occurred in the first Elizabethan Era?

A. Although ornate, jeweled coaches have carried Europe's crowned heads to affairs of state for more than three and a half centuries, they first made their appearances on the roads during the eventful reign of Elizabeth I. The coronation coach of Queen Elizabeth II is 196 years old. It weighs four tons and is 12 feet high, 24 feet long.

Q. How have fashions changed for queens?

A. Queen Elizabeth I was hardly a beautiful woman, but she adorned herself with one of history's most elaborate wardrobes—which included more than 3,000 dresses. In quiet contrast, Britain's charming young monarch of today wears her royal attire in conservative good taste.

A section of the royal state coach.

Q. Are there other famous "Elizabeth's" in history?

A. If you happen to be an "Elizabeth" yourself, you can trace your name to at least a dozen famous noblewomen whose names are now found on the pages of history. They include Saint Elizabeth, who lived in the Thirteenth Century, Empress Elizabeth of Austria, Tsarina Elizabeth of Russia, Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and Elizabeth of Bohemia, daughter of England's King James I.

Wintry Air Aims At Texas

By The Associated Press

Another mass of wintry air is moving southward into Texas off the Rockies, the Weather Bureau said Friday.

Clouds overhung most of the state Friday morning, but the nearest thing to moisture was a little fog in the lower Rio Grande Valley around Laredo and Cotulla. Temperatures remained mild.

Forecasters looked for scattered showers in all sections except West Texas by night, but they predicted clearing and colder weather by Saturday. Snow fell along the eastern slope of the Rockies early Friday as the cold front headed southward, but none was forecast in Texas.

Top temperatures Thursday varied from 65 at Amarillo to 81 at Kingsville.

Pre-dawn readings Friday covered a range from 43 at Dalhart to 70 at Brownsville.

Wet Weather Persists In North

By The Associated Press

Wet weather persisted over most of the northern sections of the country today but rains ended temporarily in many areas east of the Mississippi River.

The storm in the Great Lakes region, which lashed Midwest areas yesterday, brought some heavy rainfall and gusty winds in the Northeastern region. Wind gusts of more than 40 m.p.h. were reported near the center of the storm in Lower Michigan. Earlier winds of 69 m.p.h. whipped the Toledo, Ohio, area. They were clocked at 60 m.p.h. at Akron, Ohio, and Lansing and Battle Creek, Mich.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

How Firm a Foundation

The favorite hymn of Andrew Jackson

IT TOOK A HARD-BOILED fighter to bring the Creek Nation to its knees. And Andrew Jackson was that. After conquering the Indians in the South in 1812, he marched into New Orleans in 1815, and with an army of only 6,000, slashed into British Gen. Pakenham's 12,000 veterans. Burning with vengeance for ill treatment in his youth while a prisoner during the Revolution, Jackson cut down 2,000 English troops with the amazing loss of only seven killed and six wounded. But, hard-boiled as "Old Hickory" was, he held in tender respect the religious devotion of his wife, whose favorite hymn was "How Firm a Foundation."

Nobody knows who wrote the old hymn. It was first published in 1787, a year before Jackson settled in Nashville as a young lawyer and two years before George Washington was made president. As the hymn was printed under the initial, "K," its authorship has been attributed to both George Keith and Thomas Kirkham. It is doubtful that either wrote it. More likely the author was one

Robert Keene, an assistant to London's Baptist Minister Dr. John Rippon, in whose book the hymn first appeared under the title, "Exceeding Great and Precious Promises."

On the grounds of the Hermitage, just off the Lebanon Highway 12 miles out of Nashville, lie the remains of President Andrew Jackson. On the same grounds the general once built a little church and hired a preacher so his beloved Rachel could worship and sing her hymns and he promised her many times that he would join the church. But Rachel Jackson died before "Old Hickory" got around to fulfilling his promise. Of her he said, "Heaven will not be heaven for me unless I find my wife there."

In 1845 a group of friends called at the Hermitage. The old warrior was dying. He had forgiven his enemies—"collectively" at least. And he had joined the church... the Presbyterian Church in Nashville. All his bitterness was gone and he wanted only to join his wife. He asked the group to gather around his bed and sing the favorite hymn of his wife... and his.

"How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord, Is laid for your faith in His excellent Word! What more can He say than you to His holy Word, Who once unto Jesus for refuge have fled?"

"In every condition, in sickness, in health, In poverty's vale, or abounding in wealth; At home and abroad, on land, on the sea, As your days may demand, shall your strength ever be."

"E'en down to old age, all My people shall prove My sovereign eternal, unchangeable love; And when hoary hairs shall their temples adorn, Like lambs they shall still in My bosom be borne."

"The soul that on Jesus hath leaned for repose, I will not desert to its foe; That soul, though all hell should endeavor to shake, I'll never, no, never, no, never forsake!"

The Resurrection and Our Faith

BE STEADFAST IN WORK FOR CHRIST WHO DIED FOR OUR SINS, BUT WAS RISEN

Scripture—1 Corinthians 15.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
OUR LESSON today is about Christ's death on the cross and His resurrection. In it Paul devotes the entire chapter 15 of First Corinthians, reminding the people of the church of Corinth that he had preached the Risen Lord to them when he was founding their church, and they had received and believed it. He recalls the appearances of our Lord to the Apostles and brethren after the Resurrection.

The first of the Apostles to behold the Risen Lord was Cephas, which, translated means stone, or petros, from which word comes Peter. Next He appeared to the "12," the official name for the Apostles, but now 11, as Judas was dead. We are told nothing of the details of this meeting, only that it occurred on Easter Day.

Then the other Apostles saw

Him, probably on Easter night in an upper room. Five hundred brethren are mentioned by Paul as seeing Him, but we do not know how or when, and some of them were dead when Paul wrote this Epistle between 57 and 59 A.D. Those who had seen Him after His resurrection were the event, says A. T. Robertson.

Paul then says James was the next to see Jesus, and he is thought to have been the Lord's brother, then again He appeared to all the Apostles, 10 appearances in all before the Ascension. Last of all was Paul himself, formerly called Saul, who saw his vision of Jesus when he was on his way to Damascus planning to persecute the Christians. Paul writes humbly that he is the "least of the Apostles, that I am not meet to be called an

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

If there is one affair working women will eat their sandwiches at their desks and others don't eat at all, in order to attend, it's a coffee. The one Thursday morning was no exception. There having been several weeks since such a one had been held, everyone who could possibly attend was there. We were happy to meet MRS. H. L. GUNTER who has recently moved here from Pampa.

Although I have had several telephone conversations with MRS. C. R. FROST, I had not met her until Thursday morning. She is a comparatively new resident, having moved here from Abilene. I have it on good authority (Mrs. Anthony Hunt) that she is an excellent speaker.

Everyone was so dressed up in their fall finery, and one of the most attractive young women was MRS. JIMMIE TAYLOR, who wore a tweed suit of brown with an orange fleck. Her hat, the "kerchief" at her throat and jewelry were matching orange. MRS. BEN McCULLOUGH was most attractive in a winter white outfit. The heavy cable knit sweater took my eye.

MRS. JOE HARDESTY and MRS. J. D. ELLIOTT had just returned from a business trip to Lubbock and just kept coming out the highway to the Cosden Club, where the coffee was held.

There were several out of town friends and relatives who received invitations; however, only MRS. ELMO MCKEE and MRS. ROY MCKEE of Midland had arrived before I left.

MRS. HENRY FEHLER and Tommy, MR. AND MRS. EUGENE LONG, and MRS. PAUL BISHOP visited with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Long, in Odessa Sunday and attended the Ice Capades.

MRS. FRED NEBRIG, mother of Mrs. Bob Dean, and MRS. JAMES SHEBIE, a family friend, both of Wichita Falls left today after spending several days in the Dean home.

If we didn't go to the grocery stores almost every day we'd miss seeing so many people. Of course there's a chance of saving some money, but that's secondary. Thursday we saw MRS. N. L. SNEED who with her husband is irrigating a farm in Gaines County. They make their home in Seminole. Mrs. Sneed is the former Purdie Mason. Cookie Sneed, their youngest daughter, is attending H.C.J.C. and living with her grandmother, Mrs. Ellie Mason.

The group voted to take a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family.

Twenty-nine attended with two guests, Dorothea White and Mrs. Edmund Roeder of St. Louis, Mo.

Heading the group will be Mrs. Morris Jarratt with Mrs. C. A. Boyd, Mrs. Robert Mason, Mrs. Fred Beckham and Edith Gay, plans to attend all meetings.

Saturday morning Joyce Howard will sing at the opening session which will be held at the Paul Moss Ranch home. Mrs. Moss is a national officer. Miss Howard will sing Menotti's "The Telephone." Mrs. Boyd will accompany her at the piano.

A Bible Thought For Today

For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: (Colossians 1:16)

Most Of The Train Squeaked In

The special session of the Texas Legislature expired just 23 minutes after the lawmakers completed enactment of legislation on which Governor Daniel based his call.

It was a narrow squeak—indeed, the whole 30-day session had been of the cliff-hanger type, and it looked at times like some of the boys were more anxious to hit back at the governor than to enact the new laws they were called in to pass. But they finally made it, in the nick of time, and while the new laws weren't all he'd asked for, and not exactly what he asked for, the governor was showing no pain.

This was just the locomotive, baggage car and smoker of the legislative train, however. Apparently to get any action at all on his four bills, of which the anti-lobby and water development measures were the most pressing, the governor had to call another special session to consider the touchy question of integration in the public schools. The theme: How to go about closing down Texas public schools if and when any troops, state or federal, are sent in to enforce integration.

What some interpreted as an indirect slap at the governor was Senate rejection of the nomination of William A. Harrison to direct reorganization of the state's scandal-bedecked insurance industry. Harrison's experience as first assistant state auditor for 10 years, during which he directed some fruitless insurance investigations, would seem to qualify him peculiarly for the post, but the Senate swung its snickersnee. It might be recalled that some of Harrison's probes put some senators in mighty embarrassing spots. Maybe they have long memories.

One senator, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, permitted himself to be quoted: "I can say this. They busted an awfully good man and they did it without my help."

Said Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton in the most cryptic comment of the session: "I am not going to tell how I voted but I am for Harrison."

Another One On The Waiting List

Texas has the rudiments of another state park—that is, the land and the necessary legislative approval.

A bill accepting transfer of title to certain lands in El Paso County embracing what are known as the Hueco Tanks has been signed into law by Gov. Daniel, ultimately destined to become another state park. (Thought: Why not declare a moratorium on new state parks until the old ones are developed? Every time a new one is created it makes a drain on the old ones.)

Hueco Tanks lie about 30 miles east of El Paso, not far from the highway to Carlsbad, N. M. They are depressions worn by time in limestone formations, and until about 50 years ago they were the chief source of water between El Paso and the Pecos. Early Indians camped about these waterholes and drew pictographs in some nearby cañons. The old Butterfield Trail established a station there in 1858, and emigrants, rangers, hunters and explorers found the tanks a convenient place to rest.

The Handbook of Texas tells us "hueco" means hollow or hole in Spanish, as applied to the tanks; but it also says in the case of the nearby Hueco Mountains "hueco" means notched.

Incidentally, the pronunciation is mighty close to that of Waco, which was named for a tribe of Indians bearing that name, part of the Wichitas. The early Anglos also spelled Waco Weko, Wacco and Quainco. (There is more interesting darn stuff in the Handbook of Texas than you can shake a stick at.)

David Lawrence Integration In Private Schools

WASHINGTON—Are the private schools next on the list for "integration"? Can many of them persist in their practice of discrimination in denying admission on the basis of race or color or religious affiliation?

Will the so-called "quota" system, reported to be in vogue at various colleges and universities with respect to limited admission of certain minority groups, come up for investigation by the new Civil Rights Commission whose membership was recently announced by the White House?

The theory is widespread in America that the Supreme Court has banned all forms of segregation or discrimination in an institution to which the government grants any of its benefits.

The usual argument advanced offhand against this is that private schools, for example, are not supported by public funds and hence are not subject to governmental regulation. But Professor Arthur S. Miller of Emory University, in a new book, "Racial Discrimination and Private Education," published by the University of North Carolina Press—spells out in detail just how some states have been exercising control over private schools through the threat of a denial of tax benefits and other state-given privileges. Professor Miller, a native of Oregon, originally wrote his views in "The Minnesota Law Review."

"Is there any likelihood," asks Professor Miller, "that the doctrine enunciated in the segregation cases can be extended to apply to the admission policies of the nonpublic schools? . . . Is the conduct of nonpublic education 'state action' within the reach of the proscriptions of the Fourteenth Amendment?"

Professor Miller, who conducted his legal research partly with a grant from the "Fund for the Republic," undertakes to show that a problem is presented for those southern states which now have laws compelling private schools to maintain segregation. His thesis obviously constitutes a warning to such states that they cannot any longer continue the practice of enforced segregation in private schools, as required by their laws.

Ike Has Yet To Get Down To Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—How much

President Eisenhower has made two speeches to tell the country that it is not in immediate danger and that his administration will act to meet the Soviet threat.

Although he and his aides had several weeks to work on these speeches, which were fairly long, he gave little specific information on what he intends to do or how. He still has until January, when he sends his messages to Congress to get down to cases.

One of his foggiest points was on how he thinks this country can educate more scientists and engineers to keep up with Russia, which he acknowledged is ahead in this educational field.

Like a man looking into a clouded future, Eisenhower was grim at his second inaugural last January. He was right if he saw troubles ahead although this year they were spaced fairly well apart.

His first big jam was on his budget. He fumbled around on whether it could be cut. Congress took this as a cue to cut. To put a brake on this, he had to make two nationwide appeals for public support.

On the day he started his second term, his popularity was at a high point. It isn't now. It dived in the South when he faced his second big headache of 1957—Little Rock integration—by sending in troops to back up a court order.

That whole situation might have been avoided if he had warned long beforehand he would use troops whenever necessary. On top of all this came increasing criticism of his leadership, or lack of it.

It jumped after the Russians fired their two Sputniks. They put him more on the defensive than anything that has happened in his White House years.

For it was clear—as his post-Sputnik promises of action showed—that his administration hadn't been doing all it could to keep up with the Russians.

But, even though the Sputniks shocked Congress into a sort of general agreement on spending more money or doing whatever is necessary, he will have a fight on his hands—when Congress comes back in 1958.

The fight will be over the details of his programs. For example: on sharing atomic secrets with allies; economizing on domestic programs; helping get more scientists and engineers educated.

Only yesterday at National Council of Chief State School Officers decided to send a committee to him to talk about education after he suggested nationwide testing of students to get more scientists and engineers.

New Jersey's commissioner of education, Frederick M. Raubinger, called this the "most dangerous suggestion ever to come out of Washington."

That's a taste of what he's in for.

The Day Of The Hired Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the hired man? A generation ago he began to disappear from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation who lived in a small, cluttered apartment in a tenement, and whose family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

Most wives were glad to feed him—and for several reasons. For one thing, he was different from their husbands. He was male and independent as their husbands were, and solitary. But at least, if he wouldn't obey a woman, he would listen to her, or appear to.

Whatever happened to the hired man?

He did like everybody else has tried to do in the middle of the 20th century. He specialized. He married and had his own offspring. His ears belong to his own wife, his play time to his own children.

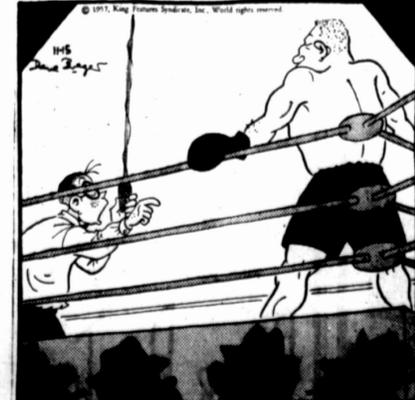

Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem. A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

In an age of specialization the only true all-around hired man in a home is the housewife herself. This is why, if a husband came home at midday, he might find his wife in the kitchen all alone and talking to herself.

Who else is there to listen to her? The hired man has become so specialized and expensive she can't afford to hire him merely as an audience, even if he sits there eating free food.

What happened to the old-fashioned hired man? He went that way.

Around The Rim 'Gold Mine In The Sky'

Much has already been written about the fantastic advantages that would come from putting a manned satellite into orbit about the earth. But there are some other advantages that have not been written about, apparently because, even with the Soviet satellite circling the earth, these ideas are just too fantastic for the public to swallow.

So, I'll stick my neck out. Most of these items have already been thought of long ago, and many were being propounded publicly back in 1951 by Dr. Werner von Braun, developer of the V-2 and now directing the Army's missile effort. A few of them, however, are my own brainstorm.

It has already been publicized that a space station would provide the first overall view of the world's weather, and would advance forecasting into the ranks of the exact sciences; that it would provide a spy platform for a military power or the U. N.; that it could act as a flying battleship, armed with nuclear missiles that could be aimed with pinpoint accuracy; that it could act as a TV relay station, making possible instantaneous and worldwide television; that it could serve as a way station for exploration of the solar system.

Less publicized have been the developments that would eventually come out of establishment of a space station—mining of the asteroid belt; settlement of the moon and of Mars, and possibly some of the other planets; and establishment of an astronomical observatory and other research laboratories.

The asteroid belt lies between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter, a circling line of broken rocks that, scientists believe, contain untold billions of tons of iron-nickel alloy. To get to the asteroid belt would require only a little rocket power from the space station, and a similar station orbiting Mars, plus a possible colony on that planet, could serve as development center for the asteroid mining. Pure metal would be refined there, from whence it would be rocketed in mountain sizes to the earth orbit. From there, it would be dropped bodily into some bay opening on the ocean, in a region without heavy population.

The asteroid belt would not be the only place where valuable minerals might be found—they might be had on the moon or any of the other planets. Thus, the need for colonies, which could eventually become self-sustaining. Uranium, for one, is a mineral we'll be needing in carload lots, and there'll be others, such as some of the rare earth metals.

And an astronomical observatory would solve many of the problems now besetting our astronomers, who must look upward through a dense and temperamental atmosphere. It should be remembered by those who would cry out at this point against spending money for "impractical" projects that astronomy opened the way directly into many of the more spectacular gains in atomic research.

And now for some of my own ideas: the establishing of "tropical shades" in an orbit such as would keep the shade permanently over a designated spot on the earth's surface. This shade, because there is no air in space, could be constructed of fantastically light materials—just strips of plain paper on inflated plastic frames would do the trick. And cutting down a mere fraction of the sun's energy would cool the tropics so as to make them habitable.

And that brings up the polar mirror, which also could be constructed of light materials, such as extremely thin aluminum foil or a thin plastic sheet coated with aluminum paint. Use of the tropical cooler would bring about another ice age unless steps were taken to warm the poles. A huge mirror in orbit about the earth could be aimed at the poles. It would mean the release from ice of more land than is now arable in the entire world—that is, it would double our present supply of land.

There obviously will be a need for more than one space station, and those things are costly to construct and take up to their orbits. So why not use some of the larger asteroids, like Ceres? With the application of a little rocket power, they could be set into any desired orbit about the earth, and could be hollowed out to fit designers' specifications. And last but far from least would be establishment of a space and gravity research laboratory. The problem of the nature of space and gravitation must be solved before we can hope to bypass one of the physical laws discovered by Einstein, that nothing can exceed the speed of light. With this knowledge, the way to the stars themselves will be opened.

Demo Leaders Fearful Of Third Party

(Mr. Stokes' column replaces that of Inez Robb, who is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON—You could have heard a third-party ballot drop in the eerie silence from important Southern Democratic party leaders at the sacrificial offer of Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas to become the Presidential candidate of a States' Rights party in 1960.

There were no takers among regular party leaders. Traditionally regular Southern party leaders, with rare exceptions, have hied away from third parties and bolts to the Republican party. But there now are other compulsions and diversions which bolster this attitude, even though the incentive is perhaps stronger today than at any time since the Civil War.

For one thing, Southern Democratic leaders, anxious to forget Little Rock of which Gov. Faubus is the symbol, now luckily find other issues that have eclipsed that in the public mind. They are making sure that these issues are kept to the fore.

These issues, notably the Russian satellite exhibitions, require little tending. This is a dramatic climax to long-observed grievances now being reflected in polls of voters and in the recent elections—the increasing high cost of living, reduced farm income, a slowdown in some areas of our economy.

Another compulsion to keep down political revolt in the party is that the party now controls Congress and is responsible for its record, with southerners dominating its leadership and being constantly on exhibition. The technique now, as a means of giving an appearance as close as possible to party solidarity in time of crisis, is to shush voices of dissent, such as talk about a third party.

and concentrate on the ready issues offered by the Eisenhower administration.

It was, for example, with almost a joyous leap that Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas broke out of the cloud of embarrassment over Little Rock and rushed here at the call of the Eisenhower administration for help with its rockets and missiles emergency. With appropriate gloomy observations about the seriousness of the situation in language, though solemn and sonorous, to which the administration could hardly object, he nevertheless made the most of the Republican dilemma.

Words no longer fail him, as they failed him and other Southern leaders at the Little Rock outcry. This, it was feared, might mean costly defection of Negro votes to Republicans, and it was that fear that had impelled Johnson to push through the Senate a few weeks before Little Rock the first civil rights bill since Reconstruction.

But this fear was assuaged by last week's elections which showed that Negroes voted Democratic in big city Eastern districts in about the same proportions as in recent years. Obviously, other issues were more important to the Negroes, and the high cost of living would be a good surmise as to one of them.

This election demonstration and the polls showing rising Democratic strength, even in the Middle West, again have induced party leaders to believe that, after all, they may be able to weather civil rights differences and keep the party intact without a southern revolt. So southern leaders would like for Gov. Faubus to get out of sight, and out of mind.

Who Is To Produce What Missiles?

WASHINGTON—Whatever else President Eisenhower's first "chins up" speech might have achieved, it has not begun to put an end to the rivalry for control of weapons systems, nor can this be done through the new position given to Dr. James T. Killian as special assistant to the President for science and technology.

The rivalry extends beyond the three services into big industry and politics. It will aggravate the political dispute over where the blame lies for America's lag in missile and satellite development. Each of the three services has its advocates in Congress and they will battle for their favorites when the time comes to divide the defense budget.

Already a new dispute is foreshadowed which could make the conflict over the Thor and Jupiter intermediate range missiles look as innocent as a squabble at a Sunday school picnic. This is the rivalry over whether the Army or the Air Force will develop the anti-missile missile, the defensive weapon meant to knock down the intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Army today has a mission to develop this vital defensive weapon, and Army spokesmen say that considerable progress has been made in component parts that will eventually—four to five years from now—go into the anti-missile missile. It is considered by the Army to be an extension of its Nike series developed for anti-aircraft defense and other related purposes.

But relating the missile to piloted aircraft, the Air Force lays claim to all programs in this field. With the help of former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, one of whose last acts was to cut off all funds for the project, they nearly succeeded in killing the Army's Jupiter developed at the government's Redstone Arsenal in Alabama.

The suspicion is that they will try the same maneuver with the anti-missile missile, and feeling in the Army over this goes much deeper than over the Jupiter.

A different light is put on the whole missile controversy by the action of Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy in authorizing the Army to launch at least six earth satellites with the Jupiter. While the Jupiter's advocates say this has come at least six months late, they believe it is an opportunity to demonstrate the missile's capacities and thereby silence those who would like to kill it or drastically limit its function.

One source of opposition to the Jupiter was the fact that it was developed at a government arsenal by scientists and technicians on government salaries. Foremost among these was Werner von Braun, the former German rocket expert who developed the V-11 rocket in World War II. Industry, with other major rocket and missile programs, resented this competition by government. It was strongly felt in industry circles that the development of the Thor, fired out by the Air Force to a number of companies to develop its complicated components, must take precedence over the Jupiter. Yet test firings of the Jupiter were successful while the Thor repeatedly misfired.

Where the authority rests to resolve this kind of dispute is not yet evident. (Copyright 1957, United Features Syndicate)

Preparing For A Night Of Harmony

The gentlemen above, members of the local barber shop singers, were hard at work in rehearsal Tuesday night. They are seen practicing a number to be presented at the Roundup of Harmony show Saturday evening in City Auditorium. James Gambino of Odessa, conductor for the barber shoppers, is seen at extreme left. On the

Harmony Roundup Show Is Saturday

It's Roundup of Harmony time at 8 p. m. Saturday at City Auditorium. The occasion is the annual show produced by the Big Spring chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, and co-sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Admission is one dollar per person, and proceeds will go into the Kiwanis crippled childrens fund. In addition, there will be a whole night of song following the main show. The public is invited to the Cosden Country Club for the "afterglow," the traditional nighttime songfest that follows regular programs. Besides the local performers, choruses will be here from Lubbock, Odessa, Lamesa and San Angelo. Championship quartets will include the Four Pesos of El Paso and the Madcaps of Dallas.

Visiting groups will hold a mass rehearsal at 4:30 p. m. Saturday, including rehearsal for the massed chorus which will include all the show's participants in the finale. The afternoon rehearsal will be followed by a barbecue at 6 p. m. in City Park for the show's participants, weather permitting. Otherwise, the feed will be in the Settles Hotel ballroom. Members of the audience will be welcome at the "afterglow," in which the barber shoppers let their hair down for some real singing. Requests from listeners are allowed during the "afterglow." An early breakfast will be served at the after-show performance. Those who love good singing will enjoy the barber shoppers' show. More than 100 voices will be represented.

Cooperation Helps Mental Patients

AUSTIN (AP) — Mental patients benefit when there is a spirit of cooperation between administrators and other employees at a state hospital, State Auditor C. H. Cavness observed today. Cavness, in a report to the governor and Legislature, said such a spirit was evident in a study of the Terrell State Hospital.

"This is conducive to economical operations and benefits the patients as well," his report said. The auditor found all operations in first class shape and said the state could be proud of the hospital.

Leopold Wins New Chance

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Nathan Leopold, the much publicized thrill-killer of the 20s, won a new chance yesterday to bid for early freedom on parole.

The Illinois Pardon and Parole Board, in a split decision, granted a rehearing on his parole application and set the hearing for an unspecified date next February.

Leopold, now 52, has been in Stateville Prison 33 years for the 1924 slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

The brutal killing and efforts to extract ransom from the victim's well-to-do Chicago family shocked a nation.

Leopold first sought parole in 1953. Parole was denied and the board rejected two subsequent petitions for a rehearing of the denial.

He filed the current rehearing petition in July, after Gov. William G. Stratton denied his plea for executive clemency.

Leopold and Richard Loeb pleaded guilty to the killing in 1924 and were sentenced. Loeb was stabbed to death in a prison fight in 1936.

Reds Call Abel Case 'Invention'

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet newspaper Literary Gazette charged today that the FBI case against Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel was "pure invention" and "typical police provocation."

Abel was convicted by a Brooklyn federal court Oct. 25 of stealing American military and atomic secrets for Russia and is now awaiting sentencing. The maximum sentence is death.

The Literary Gazette article was the first mention of Abel in the Soviet press since he was arrested and charged last June. The paper also mentioned for the first time Boris Morros, a Hollywood movie producer whose 12-year activity as a U. S. counterespionage agent against Russia was made public last August.

Morros was called "a provocateur who started his shameful career as a bootlicker in the court of Nicholas II and as a friend of Rasputin and ended up in the American secret service."

Morros, a naturalized American citizen, was a child when Nicholas was czar and the monk Rasputin was a power behind the court scenes. The Communists executed Nicholas.

Budget Men Race Rollback Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government budget makers are racing a Dec. 15 deadline trying to implement President Eisenhower's call for a rollback in nonessential spending so that more money may be poured into the search for new weapons. "This far, an administration official said today, there has been no solid agreement on just where the government can cut its multi-billion-dollar costs. Eisenhower said in Oklahoma City Wednesday night: "Some programs, while desirable, are not absolutely essential... Savings of the kind we need can come about only through cutting out or deferring entire categories of activities."

Where can the cuts or deferrals be made? It's a complex question, calling for many answers. And the answers must be forthcoming soon. For purely technical reasons, the budget for fiscal 1959 — which begins next July 1 — must be in the hands of the printers by Dec. 15 so it can be sent to Congress early in January. The administration is a nifty hopes to revise the country's agricultural programs to save some $500 to 600 million dollars. It hopes Congress will pass a postal rate increase that will save the government about that much more. Beyond that, administration officials see little hope of any real substantial savings—unless the Defense Department itself can come up with a shift of emphasis within the military establishment. "Maybe it's time to ask ourselves," one official said, "if we really need all those bows and arrows now that we have gunpow- er. As we move forward in the field of rocketry and nuclear weapons, do we really need — just for instance — the same amount of field artillery we have considered essential before?"

There has been speculation that military spending may go up about a billion dollars next year, to a total of 39 billions. The Defense Department's top finance man, Asst. Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil, gave what he said was a guess that the increase "would not be great, percentage-wise." A billion-dollar boost would be an increase of less than 3 per cent of the present figure. McNeil told the National Security Industrial Assn. "I don't see any signs that the basic military policy of the last few years is going to change." Whatever other cuts are made are not expected to affect the foreign aid program, which ran to $7.5 billion dollars this year. The administration feels that foreign aid is an integral part of the defense program. For the next four weeks, the budget makers will be taking a new and harder look at all areas of federal spending. They hope to chop some off the money being spent on the country's natural resources, and some from the nation's housing, labor and welfare programs. The question of federal grants to states is under close scrutiny.

AFL-CIO Ousts Bakers Union For Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO today suspended the Bakery Workers Union from the federation.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said actions of the Bakery Workers executive board constitute "failure and refusal to comply" with an Oct. 25 order of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

The council had ordered the union to clean house or face ouster, and listed certain specific actions to be taken by today to eliminate what it termed corrupt influences.

In the executive board action which Meany criticized, the union agreed to hold a new convention to elect officers. But it refused to debar President James G. Cross from running for a new term, and to reinstate Curtis R. Sims, ousted secretary-treasurer and opponent of Cross.

Cross refused to bow out of the picture, announcing that he would seek reelection as head of the 142,000-member union.

Although the Bakery Workers' board contended its action met terms of the AFL-CIO edict, a well-placed source in the labor federation said, "This certainly is not compliance."

The federation was expected to issue a statement on the subject today—deadline date for the union to make amends or be suspended. All signs were the AFL-CIO would reject the board's effort as inadequate.

The Bakery Workers are on a spot also occupied recently by the United Textile Workers and the United Textile Union after countering charges of corruption before the Senate Rackets Committee. The Teamsters already have been suspended. The Textile Workers have moved to comply with AFL-CIO reform decrees.

Four of the 17 board members at yesterday's closed meeting voted against the convention arrangement and for Sims, who in the interim charges of misconduct against Cross and was later tossed out of office.

Sims told reporters he would run for election to his old post as secretary-treasurer.

Survivors include her husband; four sons, A. C. Redman and A. J. Redman of Big Spring, Jack of Farmington, N. M., and J. H. Orin Holden of Hobbs, N. M., 10 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

Webb Receives Achievement Award

In connection with the plaque which was recently presented to Webb AFB commander, Col. Kyle L. Riddle, by the Commander of Flying Training Air Force, Maj. Gen. Russ Spitzer, denoting first place in the world-wide Air Force civilian suggestion program, the actual certificate of achievement was received yesterday from headquarters, United States Air Force.

The engraved certificate, signed by Air Force Chief of Staff, Gen. Thomas D. White, states specifically, "Department of the Air Force awards this Certificate of Achievement to Webb Air Force Base for attaining a civilian suggestion participation rate of 95 per cent."

All civilian workers are urged to make all ideas which may make for efficiency and economy in the performance of their jobs. Those made by Webb civilian personnel and approved as feasible during the period of this award, will save an estimated $82,620 in government funds during the first year they are in effect.

City Hall Offices To Be Moved During Weekend

A moving job was to begin this afternoon at the city hall.

Pioneer Builders were to finish work on the second floor of the building today, and the city planned to start moving immediately. The contractor is remodeling the building, and work on the second floor was to be completed before anything was done on the ground floor.

The south end of the second story was completed first, and what moving was to be that section.

Work was still going on in the northern half of the building.

All work moving offices to the second floor will be completed over the weekend, and the contractor will start tearing out partitions on the first floor Monday.

The city plans to leave the south end of the first floor open until the north section is finished and then move those offices. At present, the water and tax departments have offices on the south end of the building, and they are the ones most used by the public.

Contract for the work is $52,714.

Student Panel Shows Concern Over Education Opportunities

Big Spring high school students are definitely concerned in the quality of educational opportunities they are being offered in the local schools and, in their opinion, there are improvements in curriculum which should be made.

This was demonstrated to the Big Spring Kiwanians at the club's luncheon meeting on Friday by five boys and girls from the school, the issue of the attention given to juvenile delinquents and its impact on teen-agers as a group and the needs of an expanded educational opportunity for the better preparation of boys and girls for college and adult life.

The four young "experts" acquitted themselves in remarkable fashion. Their arguments were logical and their presentation would have done credit to any group of adults.

The issue of extra-curricular activities, the panel believed, is largely one of individual determination—that is, a student can do more or less than he chooses to do. The youngsters feel that excess attention is focused on the misdeeds of a small percentage of teenagers—popularly tagged delinquents—to the detriment of all boys and girls of the same age group.

Soil Conservation Conference

West Texas Soil Conservation agents gathered at the Settles Hotel today to learn about a new program. In the group were J. L. Richmond of San Angelo, W. S. Goodlett of Big Spring, M. A. Kelly of Pampa, A. H. King of Vernon, H. A. Taff of Temple, Jack Belvin of Temple, C. A. Tidwell of Temple, J. A. Abbott of Lubbock, and M. C. Pennington of Abilene. The new program is built around long-range soil conservation practices.

SCS AGENTS MEET Great Plains Conservation Program Is Explained Here

Soil Conservation agents from a wide area of West Texas gathered here today to be briefed on a new system of farm soil and water conservation practices.

Heading the personnel here is Homer Taff of Temple, assistant state conservationist in charge of the Great Plains, and C. A. Tidwell, Temple, assistant state conservationist in charge of operations.

Also here was Jack Belvin, Temple, who is head of the budget section in the state SCS office.

Soil Conservation agents from San Angelo, Pampa, Amarillo, Lubbock and Abilene were also present in addition to W. S. Goodlett, from the local office.

The new program being presented centers in the Great Plains and was authorized by Congress in August of 1956. The new law made available $10 million for conservation practices. Previous to that time farmers were limited to the amount of money they could receive from the government per farm, but under the new law, the amount is limitless, Taff said.

The farmer enters into a contract with the government for a soil and water conservation practice through the local SCS office. At present, 56 counties in Texas are authorized for this program, including Glasscock, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Dawson, Borden, and Scurry in this area.

The farmer selects the type of practice, and if it is authorized, the program is initiated. This conservation practice will take from three to 10 years to complete and

Russians Announce Laika Suffocated

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist announced today that Laika, the dog in Sputnik II, suffocated when the oxygen regenerative equipment aboard the earth satellite stopped working.

The scientist, Alexei Pokrovsky, told a news conference here never had been any plan to bring Laika back to earth. He said she died painlessly of oxygen deficiency when equipment designed to regenerate oxygen had completed its program.

There had been reports that Laika died of a drug or poison administered with her last food; that the Russians intended to bring her back to earth; and even one report that she had been parachuted back.

Today's news conference apparently was intended to set at rest all reports about the first living thing to get into outer space.

One scientist said yesterday Laika would be immortalized on a plaque near Leningrad honoring Soviet dog heroes of World War II.

Soviet scientists told the news conference:

1. The Russians have not solved the problem of Sputnik re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.
2. The Russians will launch several more Sputniks.
3. They eventually plan to send a rocket to the moon.
4. They are working on a new fuel to power future rockets and Sputniks.

The scientists would not say what fuel was used for their first two Sputniks but maintained the same fuel was used for both.

Seven top Soviet scientists, headed by academicians Ivan P. Bardin, Anatoli Blagonravov, Pokrovsky and Eugene Fedorov, spoke. The three-hour affair was attended by 200 Communist and Western reporters and photographers.

Blagonravov said the Soviet Union so far has had no unsuccessful launchings.

Bardin declined to answer directly when asked if the Soviet rocket and satellite program was under scientific or military direction.

Development Of Education Traced

LAMESA (AP)—Members of the Lamesa Lion's Club Thursday heard C. W. Tarter, superintendent of the Lamesa Schools, in a special American Education Week program.

"When I started to school," said Tarter, "my father purchased one book for me to use during the first grade." "Now, in our school system," he said, "first graders use six books." The superintendent of schools also pointed out that his father purchased his first reader at a drug store. Now they are furnished the student by the taxpayers, under the so-called "free textbook" plan.

Tarter told also of the method of selecting textbooks here. Each member of the faculty looks over the books and makes a recommendation to the faculty textbook committee.

The superintendent pointed out that all three types of reading are used in the Lamesa schools. The

Civilian Skywatch Being Relieved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Because of advances in radar warning systems, the Air Force is relieving its volunteer civilian ground observers of their skywatch for unidentified planes.

The Air Force will put the entire Ground Observer Corps on a ready reserve basis Jan. 1.

Col. Owen F. Clarke, COG project officer at Air Force headquarters announced the move at a meeting of the National Assn. of State and Territorial Civil Defense Directors. Civil defense officials have recruited volunteers for the observer corps.

The Air Force stressed it is not disbanding the GOC. It wants the observers to stand prepared for emergency duty and to remain in a trained and ready reserve status.

Many GOC observation posts and 25 filter centers, will be closed.

Effort To Steal Cap Guns Fails

Two boys 9 and 12 were unsuccessful in stealing cap pistols from a downtown store Thursday.

Official at McCrory's told Police Thursday that the boys tried to steal three cap pistols and some caps. Police took them into custody and then turned them over to the juvenile officer, A. E. Long.

In addition to the pistols, McCrory's reported that a clock valued at $9.96 was stolen Thursday. The store had no identification of the person taking the clock.

Two hub caps were taken from a 1955 Oldsmobile owned by Harold Buehler, 1908 N. Main. The car was parked at high school from 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday. Also reported stolen Thursday was a tire from a 1950 Buick owned by E. L. Raiston. The car was parked behind the Wyoming Hotel.

Ward Hall Listed In Good Condition

Doctors at Big Spring Hospital today said Ward Hall, city commissioner and co-owner of Westex Wrecking Co., was in good condition after suffering two heart attacks in two days.

Hall had been confined at home for over a month after a heart attack earlier, but he suffered another Wednesday afternoon and then another Thursday morning. He was taken to the hospital after the Wednesday attack.

This morning, officials at the hospital said he was in good condition. The hospital asked that he not have visitors, however.

Police Hold Reform School Runaway In Slaying Of Girl

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Reno police arrested a 15-year-old reform school runaway at a filling station this morning, and say he admitted the slaying Monday of a 22-month-old girl in Los Angeles.

The boy, John Lawrence (Larry) Miller, was arrested on a tip from a hitchhiker, Police Capt. Daryl Reed said.

Young Miller was being sought in connection with the smothering of Laura Wetzel, daughter of Air Force Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Wetzel, at Rolling Hills Estates near Los Angeles.

Read said Miller dictated and signed a statement saying he called the little girl into the Stafford Thurman home, next door to the Wetzel's residence, and killed her while he was burglarizing the house in which there was a gun collection.

In a signed statement the Long Beach, Calif., youth said he broke into the house about 1 p.m. Monday.

"I felt like I wanted to kill somebody, and she was around so I killed her," the statement said.

"I didn't feel bad about killing her, but afterward I knew I messed up my life."

Miller's statement said he entered through the unlocked back door.

"I knew where the guns were,

WALL STREET
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market surged today as strongly as last Friday, responding to the Reserve Board's easing of credit.

Leading issues, advancing to all divisions, posted gains of 1 to about 4 points. Some individual issues showed big step toward relieving Wall Street of its tight money worries.

The ticker tape ran 3 minutes behind the pace of transactions as a succession of big blocks changed hands.

About the biggest was 30,000 shares of Bethlehem Steel, up 1 1/2 at 39 1/2. Other slow-moving utilities joined in the strong upward move. American Telephone rating advanced 5 points at the opening, then jumped 10 points to 42 1/2.

U. S. Government bonds were strong and bid 1/2 point higher at 104 1/2. U. S. Steel, Kennecott, U. S. Borax and St. Louis, led the advance among 4000 two-point gains were scored by Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, General Dynamics, Dow Chemical, Illinois Central and Royal Dutch. Baltimore & Ohio, General Dynamics, Phillips and New York Central rose a point or better.

AGGIES, FROGS, SMU FAVORED BY WRITER

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
Texas A&M goes after its second Southwest Conference football championship in a row Saturday as a couple of other games pale to insignificance.

The rough, tough Aggies, who haven't lost a game in two years, battle Rice at Houston in the most important contest of the fading season. They can sew up the title and start preparing for the Cotton Bowl if they knock aside the strongest storm warning yet placed in their path.

If Rice should upset the nation's No. 1 team, halting its streak of 14 straight victories, all would become confusion in the conference. A flock of teams would climb back into the championship picture.

Texas will be trying to keep its hopes alive in a scrap with an old enemy, Texas Christian, at Austin. The Longhorns are barely hanging on. Only a defeat for A&M would give them another chance. Meaning little but shaping up as a thriller will be the other game on the schedule—Arkansas vs. Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Arkansas is out of the race and thinking only of a strong finish that might get it a bowl bid. Southern Methodist could get nowhere unless A&M lost both its remaining games and the Methodists won all of theirs. Then they'd have only a share of the title.

About 72,000—the biggest football crowd in Houston history—will witness the booming offense of Rice thrown against the defensive geniuses of Aggie land. The latter are expected to triumph but the statistics can't offer a reason. Rice has looked about as good as A&M in the conference race.

Texas Christian is favored to make it three straight over Texas but here, too, the figures don't back the Horned Frogs.

Arkansas is the choice, although a narrow one, in its conference final with Southern Methodist. But SMU actually has done better against mutual foes.

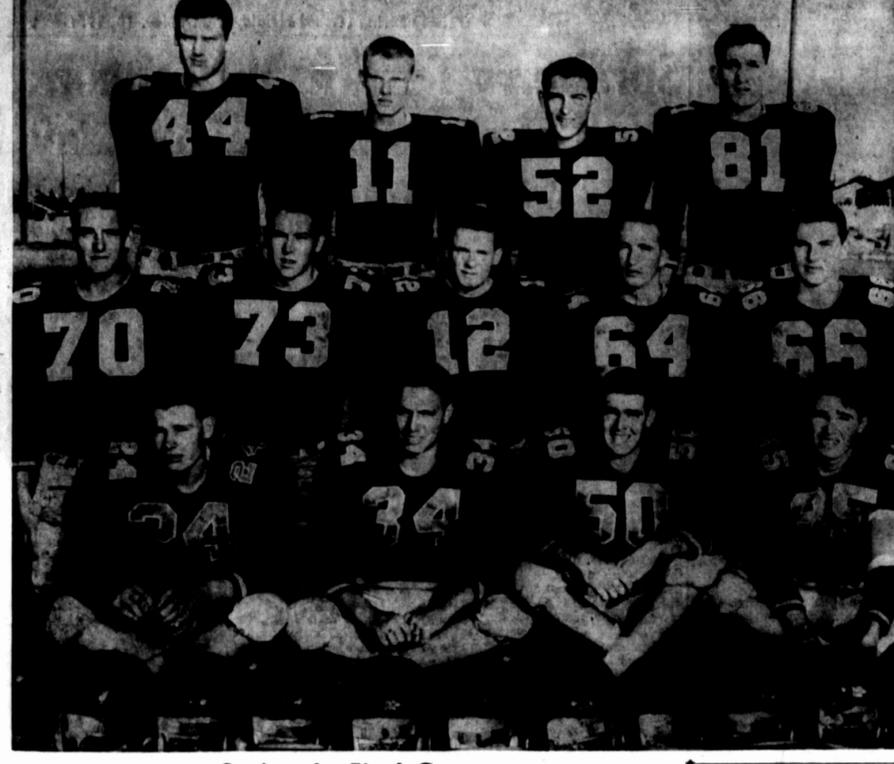

Bruised Baylor, unable yet to beat anybody, has the week off. One right guess, one bad one and one tie left the season average in an anemic condition last week. Maybe these will furnish a little needed blood.

Texas A&M-Rice—The Aggies solid and consistent, Rice is erratic—a vote for Texas A&M. Texas-Texas Christian—TCU may be the second best team in the conference; it'll hurdle Texas. Arkansas-Southern Methodist—Everybody else is taking Arkansas; here's a prediction SMU's passing will give it a narrow victory.

Seniors In Final Game

Pass-Minded Rice Guns For Upset On Saturday

HOUSTON (AP) — Mighty Texas A&M, No. 1 in the nation and with a defense that shows 14 pass interceptions, meets pass-minded Rice tomorrow in a game that could give the Aggies the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl bid.

Rice, a seven-point underdog, has had a shaky defense all season but two magnificent goal-line stands against Arkansas last Saturday indicated sharp improvement.

The Aggie ground power led by John Crow will face a Rice offense that has been geared primarily to the passing arm of King No. 10 in the nation in total offense.

The Rice quarterback has averaged 7.4 yards on 131 rushing and passing plays that gained 968 yards. He has completed 38 of 65 passes for 731 yards and three touchdowns. Three of his tosses have been intercepted.

8 BUFFALOES IN FINAL GAME AGAINST 'DOGS

STANTON (SC) — Homecoming ceremonies began at Stanton High School with a bon fire and pep rally last night and are to be climaxed this evening with a 7:30 p.m. District 6-A football game between Stanton and Coahoma.

Coahoma is still favored in the contest but Stanton picked up a lot of prestige last week in routing Roscoe, 46-0.

A chili supper will be held in the high school cafeteria, from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m., today. Sponsored by the senior class, duets for the event cost $1.

Half-time activities during the football game will be under the direction of Jack Gray, director of the Stanton High School band.

FAMOUS FOOTBALL GAMES SMU Ponies Smelled Roses After Defeating '35 Frogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
FORT WORTH (AP)—The national college football championship and the Rose Bowl rode on the mighty pass Bob Finley hurled in Texas Christian University stadium that day in 1935.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian unbeaten in 10 games, were fighting for the Southwest Conference title. But it also meant that those roses were waiting for the winner out in Pasadena.

Down the sidelines raced a big-shouldered little man. Bobby Wilson had told Finley back in the huddle: "I'll run down the sidelines and you throw it as far as you can."

Finley faked a punt then faded far back. From past midfield big Bob saw Wilson at the 10-yard line. He threw the ball and it went like a shot. Wilson turned at the 4-yard line and plucked the pigskin out of the air. He stumbled crazily toward the goal line and fell across it with the pass that made Southwest Conference history.

BOBBY WILSON

SMU won the game 20-14 and the band played "California Here I Come." It was the Rose Bowl, the goal of almost every major college football team in the nation.

In the bowl game, Stanford beat SMU, 7-0.

There were some great football players in the Southwest Confer-

SELKIRK HIT OUT OF PARK

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — George (Twinkleton) Selkirk disagrees with those who say that nobody ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium.

"I don't want to get into an argument with anybody about it," Selkirk says. "But I did hit one out and it went up on the elevated tracks which ran out beyond right centerfield."

Knott Girls Win Over Ackerly

KNOTT (SC) — Knott's girls handed Ackerly their first basketball defeat of the 1957-58 season by winning a 44-33 verdict here Thursday night.

Knott has now won three straight games. Ackerly's record is 3-1. The Billies led at the end of the first period, 14-7; at half time, 22-19; and after three rounds, 27-19.

Neal Rivers Gets Shot At Fullmer

NEW YORK (AP)—This is "opportunity night" for young Neal Rivers of Las Vegas, Nev. The unranked middleweight gets a chance to crack the top 10 if he can whip Gene Fullmer, the ex-champ, in Madison Square Garden.

Even Fullmer realizes this is a fight in which he has everything to lose and little to gain. He is gunning for another shot at the title he lost when Sugar Ray Robinson planted a left hook on his jaw May 1 at Chicago. If he loses somewhere along the way, he may never get another chance.

AGAINST YEARLINGS Lamesa Wins Two Of Three Games

LAMESA (SC)—The Seventh Graders got Big Spring off on the right foot in games with Lamesa teams here Thursday evening but Yearling clubs ran into disaster, after that.

The Seventh Grade Yearlings won, 18-0; but Lamesa surged back to win the Eighth Grade contest, 27-6; and then closed out with an 8-6 triumph in the Ninth Grade game.

Big Spring scored all its touchdowns in the first half of the Seventh Grade contest and made numerous other threats in the last half.

Army Will Refuse All Bids To Play In Bowl Contests

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army goes into its football game with Tulane here tomorrow confident of one thing—they won't be playing in any postseason bowl games.

This was reaffirmed today by Lt. Gen. Gar Davidson, superintendent of the academy. He pointed to a nine-year old policy statement which ends the Cadets' football after the final game of the regular season.

Both Buna Teams Suffer Losses

BUNA, Tex. (AP)—The boys' and girls' basketball teams now can start all over.

The Buna boys, Class AA state champions, saw their winning streak snapped at 66 straight recently by Big Sandy of Dollardsville.

Last night the Buna girls, who also boasted a 66-game skein, tumbled before Little Cypress 59-48.

Coahoma Stalwarts

Three boys who have helped Coahoma to a successful football season this fall are pictured above. They are, left to right, Mac Robinson, Lonnie Anderson and Butch Hodson. The Bulldogs will be after their seventh win of the 1957 season tonight, when they visit Stanton for a 7:30 p.m. engagement. Coahoma tied Retan last week, 20-20.

The Big Spring Steers get one, last opportunity to break into the win column in District 2-AAAA football tonight in an 8 o'clock engagement with the San Angelo Bobcats here tonight.

Observers around the state, for the most part, say they can't do. San Angelo brings none too glittering a record here but the Tabbies are favored anywhere from one to two touchdowns.

San Angelo has won only two of eight starts, Big Spring but two of nine. The Steers are destined for a cellar finish, unless they can chill Angelo. Come what may, a victory tonight would be a relief for the many wounds they've suffered.

On paper, the Steers rate a great chance to come home in front. San Angelo tied Midland, 0-0, which in turn nipped Big Spring, 7-0. Few who saw the game, however, doubt that Big Spring would have won over the Bulldogs had they been able to field their regular team throughout.

Odessa pushed San Angelo around, 27-6, after which it was hard pressed to beat Big Spring, 27-18. However, Odessa's best bout with the flu shortly before it played Big Spring and was not in top shape.

Those who saw the ball game say San Angelo gave the Bronchos all they could handle for more than three quarters.

San Angelo hit the heights the night of Oct. 4, at which time it humbled a good Waco High club, 27-21. The Cats have also thrashed San Antonio Harlandale, 21-7.

Two of the finest clubs in the state, Corpus Christi Bay and Amarillo High, helped forge their reputations by thrashing Angelo. Ray kayped the Cats, 27-0, while Amarillo hurdled them, 47-7.

Big Spring played its best ball the first rattle out of the box, drubbing Andrews, 26-12. At that time, the Mustangs were rated the No. 1 AAA power in the state. The defeat seems to have taken something out of the Ponies, however. At least, they have never lived up to expectations.

Big Spring's only other victory came at the expense of Lamesa and that by a score of 21-7. The Steers made few mistakes in that one.

San Angelo will lean heavily upon the nimble wits of Bobby Lowry and the running of Bobby Majors this evening. Lowry only recently won the quarterbacking job in the Concho City. Majors was supposed to team with Jack Thompson and provide the Tabbies with a great touchdown nately, Thompson had to quit before a game was played due to a heart condition.

If Wayne Fields is running at full speed tonight, the Steers will give the Cats a bad time. Fields is considered to be the hardest running back in the district in some quarters.

Buddy Barnes, Jimmy Evans, Jan Loudermilk and J. B. Davis are others who will give Fields a lot of assistance. Billy Bob Satterwhite and Bill French will divide time at the controls for Big Spring.

Early callers at Memorial Stadium can catch an Elementary School league all-star game. It starts at 6:15 p. m.

JayCee Teams Can Make Own Offers
LONGVIEW (R)—Here's a new angle in this bowl business. Longview will put on the Industrial Bowl Dec. 7 and already has chosen Kilgore Junior College as host team.

Now the bowl committee, headed by Gene Nash, is asking the junior colleges that would like to play in the game to come to it. "We don't want to miss any good teams, being new in the bowl business," said Nash.

His group has indicated, however, that it considers Arlington State and Victoria of Texas and Northeastern and the Cameron Angles of Oklahoma leading contenders.

College Clubs To Go Bowling

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
There's a bit of a battle in Norman, Okla., that probably will snare the headlines tomorrow, but most every place else this is the weekend the boys go a-bowlin' in college football.

Unbeaten Oklahoma and twice-beaten Notre Dame have at it in a tangle of intangibles such as the Sooners' 47-game winning string, Irish spirit and—or luck and the booming of the Sooners' bass drum. Here's what will be in store elsewhere:

At Houston, Texas A&M, unbeaten, untied and top ranked national, faces the last threat of its Southwest Conference title and a trip to the Cotton Bowl in a game with Rice.

At Columbus, Ga., tough Auburn, another of the big unbeaten, puts its defense to work for an 8-0 record against Georgia in what should prove another step toward the Southeastern Conference title. With Auburn barred from bowl play, the winner of the Tennessee-Mississippi tussle likely will wind up representing the SEC in the Sugar Bowl. The loser could still be in the running for either the Cotton or Gator bowls.

At Columbus, Ohio, it's Iowa against Ohio State for the Big Ten title. The defending champion Hawkeyes, unbeaten, but once tied, need this one to repeat, although they are barred from a return to the Rose Bowl. Ohio State could get the trip with a victory.

Should Ohio State lose both to Iowa and to Michigan in the Buckeye finale, Michigan State could step into the Pasadena trip, if the Spartans qualify with a victory over Minnesota tomorrow.

Oregon, upset last week by Washington, can nail the Pacific Coast berth in the Rose Bowl by defeating Southern Cal.

Duke could guarantee a trip to Miami for an Orange Bowl encounter with Oklahoma by disposing of Clemson.

Vanderbilt, good enough for a bowl game, plays Florida in an SEC game. Navy, ready to oblige a bowl sponsor, has an easy time ahead with George Washington.

Army, still rejecting bowl bids, goes against Tulane at West Point in a game shifted North because of segregation law.

Aaron Claims MVP Premium

NEW YORK (R)—Henry "Hank" Aaron, who slammed 44 home runs and turned a city upside down with one of them, today held the National League's top honor for 1957—the Most Valuable Player award.

The 25-year-old outfielder who hit the 11th-inning home run on Sept. 22 that brought Milwaukee its first pennant won the balloting conducted by the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America by a scant nine points over the St. Louis perennial, Stan Musial.

Aaron, league leader in home runs as well as in runs batted in with 132, drew 239 points on the basis of 14 for first, nine for second, eight for third, down to one for tenth place.

Musial, winner of his seventh batting title with a .351 mark, finished with 230. Aaron's teammate, second baseman Red Schoendienst and the acknowledged spark of the champion Braves, was third with 221, followed by the Giants' Willie Mays with 174 and Milwaukee lefthander Warren Spahn with 131.

West Texas Buffs Seek Eighth Win

CANYON (R)—West Texas State goes to Des Moines to play Drake Saturday with a bowl game in mind. Victory in this one might bring the Buffs their second straight post-season bid.

West Texas State has won its last five games in a row and has a 7-3 record for the season, equaling last year. It played in the Tangerine Bowl last Jan. 1, beating Mississippi Southern.

This year the Buffs have been considered by both the Sun Bowl and Tangerine Bowl.

Drake, with a 6-1 record, also is high on the list of teams being talked for post-season attractions.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

The small fry have been equal-ly divided for this one and four. One ticket will admit the fan to both games.

Big Spring's best chance tonight probably lies in the fact that the San Angelo Bobcats will be pointing for Abilene, rather than the Steers. The Cats, coached by Bob Harrell—who believes in hard-nosed football—have been a hot-and-cold ball club, just like Big Spring.

San Angelo might have gone "all the way" in this year's district race, had not Jack Thompson been forced to quit before the season ever started.

Quite probably, he would have been the finest all-around back in the district, if not the state.

Paul Amen, football coach at Wake Forest, whose team has lost seven straight games this season, has the following sign posted on his office wall:

"One day as I sat musing, sad and lonely and without a friend, a voice came to me from the gloom, saying, 'Cheer up, things could be worse.' So I cheered up and, sure enough, things got worse."

Houston coach Hal Lahar, who has watched his club lose to both teams, favors Auburn's line depth and the Texas Aggie backs.

They credit the fact that they have a city park in New Orleans to the revenue the two municipally-owned golf courses there bring in.

Green fees from the original 18-hole golf course were the only source of revenue for the park for a long time. It kept the park going because no money was forthcoming from the city.

Today, the city's two courses provide 75 per cent of the funds needed to keep the park going.

The municipally-owned course here could make money for use in other portions of the park, if the city commission would see fit to provide it with an irrigation system.

Courses in other West Texas cities have proved that point. It would be no gamble.

Willie Gallimore, the Negro back who set local TV observers talking with a performance for the Chicago Bears against the San Francisco 49ers a while back, didn't do so well against the Prospectors the second time around.

The 49ers adjusted their defenses to contain his outside speed and held Willie to a total of 36 yards for the afternoon.

The former Florida A&M star who George Halas thinks is the fastest man in pro ball, didn't do so well against Green Bay in last Sunday's TV feature, either. The ends were crashing to stop him before he ever got started.

A local lad who has shown much improvement since the 1957 season began is Benny McCrary, an end who will be back in 1958. McCrary is the lad who operates at 100 per cent capacity at all times. It may appear he is caught out of position at times when actually he is saddled with the dual job of protecting his flank and dropping back for enemy aerial thrusts, too. That's like trying to go two directions at once.

Nixon Makes Plea For More Foreign Aid

DENVER (AP)—A plea for continuation of foreign aid was made by Vice President Richard M. Nixon during a quick aerial trip to Denver.

He said, in an extemporaneous address last night, that the mutual security program "which the President will ask the Congress to approve . . . is just as important, and could be more important, than the military appropriations he will ask."

The vice president spoke at a dinner meeting of a conference on university contracts abroad, sponsored by the Committee on Institutional Projects Abroad of the American Council on Education.

The vice president said it is necessary to strengthen the economy of newly developing nations throughout the world "so they can be independent of any foreign domination—including that of the United States itself." Independence, he said, is the best assurance the nations will not fall to communism.

These peoples, Nixon told the group, are primarily those who formerly lived under colonial rule and the majority of them are members of races other than the white race.

"They want recognition of their dignity, of their equality as nations and as individuals," the vice president declared.

The United States and its allies, he said, will fail to win them over unless they are convinced they are accepted sincerely.

The vice president said—first at a news conference and then at the dinner—that the Soviet satellite launchings haven't changed the balance of military power in the world. This country and its allies, he claimed, have an over-all superiority.

U.S. Population Now 172,069,000

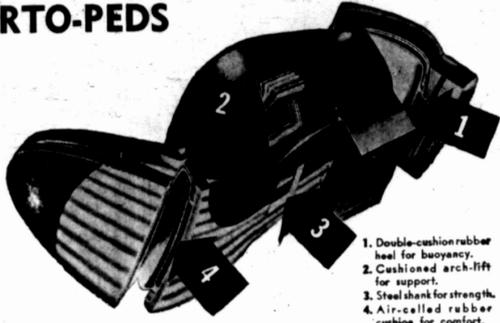

WASHINGTON (AP)—The population of the United States rose to an estimated 172,069,000 as of last Oct. 1, the Census Bureau reported today.

That is an increase of nearly 21 million, or 14 per cent, since the last census on April 1, 1950. It also represents an increase of 3,041,000 or 1.8 per cent since Oct. 1, 1956. The census breakdown showed 857,000 members of the armed forces serving overseas on Oct. 1, compared with 882,000 on the same date last year.

Texas Newsmen Pay Honor To Galveston Daily News

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas members of Sigma Delta Chi paid special tribute to the Galveston Daily News yesterday for its 15-year record of service to the state. A bronze plaque presented to David C. Leavell, vice president and general manager of the News, recognized it for a historic role as the oldest newspaper published continuously in Texas. Staley T. McBrayer of Fort Worth delivered the plaque as president of the professional journalism fraternity, which is holding its national convention here. Inscribed on the plaque were these words:

"For service to the state and its people, and in tribute to its founders and their successors who, with courage and integrity, have worked to maintain our cherished freedoms."

Noting that the News was established April 11, 1842, three years before the Republic of Texas became a state, McBrayer said:

"The attitude of this newspaper has been one of determination and courage. The Galveston News has not faltered in its purpose set over a century ago.

"The newspaper published despite the dark days of the Civil War and Reconstruction, and despite the worst hurricane that ever struck the United States. The hurricane of Sept. 8, 1900, left 6,000 dead but did not deter the newspaper's editors. The News was kept flowing with handbills."

Leavell responded that the plaque was accepted by the News with gratitude and appreciation. "The responsibility of the newspaper of today is greater than ever before. We pledge renewed devotion to our task."

Convention Scores Official Secrecy

HOUSTON (AP)—Sigma Delta Chi members turned to other business today after hearing fresh accusations that federal agencies are cloaking their operations in needless secrecy.

Managing editor V. M. Newton Jr. of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune laid the charges before the 48th national convention of the professional journalism fraternity yesterday. He called for an appeal to President Eisenhower in the group's continuing campaign against suppression of official information.

Separate meetings for delegates from professional and undergraduate chapters were on today's program. Charles E. Wilson, former General Electric Co. president, will address a dinner tonight.

The convention will act tomorrow, in its closing business session, on a resolution proposing definite steps by the President to halt what it labels widespread abuse and misapplication of an executive order permitting censorship in the guise of national security.

Newton, as chairman of Sigma Delta Chi's freedom of information committee, submitted the resolution with a report alleging 93 instances of "needless federal secrecy, under the classification of 'vital defense information.'"

"This is a fight not only for the rights of the press but also for the people of the United States who now, above all, deserve to know the facts," the Tampa editor declared.

His committee asserted bureaucratic secrecy reached a new peak this year. It has been conducting a five-year survey.

"Executive agency heads . . . insist that non-security information should be withheld on grounds of right of privacy, public interest or administrative feasibility," Newton said.

Prior to the committee report, Dallas (AP)—The president of the University of Texas said the would-be science student in Texas public schools is handicapped by many things, including:

1. Lack of proper school staffs and equipment.
2. Community opinion does not stress intellectual development as the main objective of our schools.
3. Too many outside demands on a student's time.
4. Outside pressures on teachers "to try to please everybody."

Dr. Logan Wilson made his statements in a written interview with the Dallas Times Herald. The interview was another of the newspaper's "Issue of the Day" series, conducted in question and answer form.

The "best" public secondary schools in Texas give their students proper background training for careers in science, but many schools lack the staff and facilities to do so, Wilson said.

Sigma Delta Chi president Sol Taishoff of Washington, D.C., read to the 350 convention delegates a telegram in which Eisenhower said:

"The foundations of American democracy are built upon an informed and responsible body of citizens who, in turn, find their strength in truth, thoroughly and widely disseminated. In this great service the fraternity of professional journalists plays a leading role. Our nation owes much to the courage and wisdom of its reporters."

Editor J. Q. Mahaffey of the Texas Gazette and Daily News, another convention speaker, applauded a Sigma Delta Chi program of encouraging college students to study journalism.

Harry L. Waddell of New York, publisher of Petroleum Week, told delegates last night that this country needs more Texas oil millionaires.

"The so-called Texas millionaire is nothing but the surface indication of success in finding oil," he said. "What this country needs, and needs desperately, is more Texas oil millionaires because that means more oil reserves."
