Evidence Mounts In Wisconsin Butchery

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Ed Gein, 51-year-old bachelor, appeared to show no remorse, a state criminologist said last night, after more than five hours of questioning in connection with the slaying of a widow and the finding of 10 human skulls in his farm home.

Charles Wilson, head of the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, said he could not detect any remorse, "just a sort of detachment."

Gein, brought to Madison for interrogation in connection with the butchery of Mrs. Bernice Worden of Plainfield, Wis., faced further questioning today.

As Gein's grisly story was being investigated, Sheriff Herbert Wangerski of Portage County said he recognized one of the skulls found on Gein's farm near Plainfield as that of a long-missing woman.

Wangerski told newsmen that he did not believe Gein's story that he had taken the assortment of skulls and grisly human remains from cemeteries.

The sheriff said: "We have found the faces and head of Mary Hogan among the objects in Gein's farm home." He said Mrs. Hogan was a 54-year-old Portage County divorcee who disappeared in December 1954 from the rural tavern she operated at Bancroft, about six miles from Gein's farm.

Wangerski said he had taken part in the investigation since it started Saturday night after the discovery of Mrs. Worden's butchered body. Gein has admitted butchering the 58-year-old widow after dragging her bloody corpse from the hardware store she operated in Plainfield. He insisted, however, he did not remember actually killing Mrs. Worden.

Gein was equally emphatic in saying that he didn't know anything about Mrs. Hogan's disappearance.

Gein, a handyman and sometime baby sitter, has maintained that the skulls and other human relics found in his house had been looted from graves "while I was in a daze-like."

Gein's attorney William Belter said he had not verified reports that parts of 15 female bodies had been found in Gein's house. He said an officer at the Gein farm, whom he did not name, had told him there were some "extra" human noses found. Belter added the officer told him "they didn't seem to go with the faces."

Sheriff Wangerski told newsmen that the heads found in the farm house had been skinned. The detached portion, he said, made up "faces of a regular size, well preserved, with hair, ears, lips and nose." The sheriff said he examined 10

Carrying Evidence

James Hailigan of the Wisconsin state crime laboratory enters the lab's mobile unit with what he said were bits of bone and skin found on the property of Edward Gein, 51-year-old Plainfield, Wis., bachelor. Gein is being held in connection with the death of Mrs. Bernice Worden.

such objects, apart from the skulls found in the building, and that "all but two of them are faces. The others are only scapulae. The ones with the faces have no eyes, only holes." He confirmed that other items fabricated of human skin were found.

Belter said that he will enter a plea of innocent by reason of insanity when Gein is arraigned in Waushara County Court Monday on a charge of armed robbery. He is being held under $10,000 bond on the charge in connection with the theft of a cash register in Mrs. Worden's store.

Wilson has recommended that any inquest into the death of Mrs. Worden be delayed unless charges are pressed immediately. Officials fear that an open inquest would arouse public opinion at Wautoma, where the county jail is located.

"They'll lynch me too, and all my deputies first," Sheriff Arthur Schley has said. "This man is innocent until proven guilty. Mrs. Worden's son Frank is a deputy, so I don't have anything to worry about on that score."

Meanwhile, a mounting pile of evidence confronted law enforcement officials. There are the crime detective books, a medical anatomical volume, chairs covered with human skin. There are skulls found under chairs in boxes in the home.

There are also 10 whistles and toys similar to those found in cereal boxes.

There are even cans of used chewing gum.

Gein lived alone on the family farm and is without known relatives.

His mother, Augusta W. Gein, bought the 160-acre farm for $3,500 in 1914. His father died of cancer in the early 1940s. His brother died in 1944. His mother died in 1945 of a stroke.

Gein did not farm the place, but worked for the town of Plainfield, doing odd jobs such as clearing debris from town road ditches.

Senate Plans Floor Action On Troops Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Senators prepared today for floor action on a bill allowing school boards to close schools and transfer students when there is a threat of violence.

Debate likely will be broken with an address by Gov. Daniel to a joint session in connection with the tidelands situation where federal officials have made a new move to seize the oil-rich submerged lands.

The House may run with the Senate bill tomorrow if the upper chamber passes the proposal pushed by Sen. Wardlow Lane.

Hearings were completed yesterday on similar bills by the House State Affairs Committee which were sent to subcommittee with no instructions when to report back.

J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, sent a letter to the committee declaring school boards already have authority to close schools anytime "extraordinary circumstances make this a wise choice."

Edgar also said schools would not lose state aid if they were forced to close but later completed the required 175 days of instruction.

Witnesses opposing the proposal before Senate and House committees have charged passage of such a bill would allow boards to close the schools under the pretense violence existed in order to keep Negroes out and allow state aid to be spent educating the other students elsewhere.

There was no transfer section in the bill presented by Gov. Daniel who called the second session to pass such a bill. Lane's bill authorizes and provides for the transfer of pupils to another school upon petition of the parents.

After closure of such a school, the bill declares that the "school board and the Board of Education shall use all personnel, funds and facilities necessary to provide out-of-classroom instruction."

The committee recommended bill would not require, the board to close the school if the governor or board "finds that violence or the danger thereof cannot be prevented except by resort to military force."

Sen. William Fly of Victoria told the committee the bill "is the greatest threat to Texas school education ever presented in this Legislature." Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin said "The state does not meet its responsibility under this bill. . . . We are putting the cloak of local control around us and passing the buck to local districts."

Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo failed in trying to pass an amendment knocking out the provision for "out-of-classroom instruction" after saying he didn't want his children taught in a barn.

Rep. Marsha Bell of San Antonio suggested the House subcommittee expand the bill "to allow full payment of funds when schools must be closed because of epidemics or other disasters."

"much advertising of alleged shortcomings" in the Pentagon information policies.

Despite this effort, Snyder said, the subcommittee had "failed to produce a single instance of illegal withholding of news or withholding of information for the purpose of concealing error, inefficiency or embarrassment" during Snyder's eight months in the top information post at the Defense Department.

Moss said his subcommittee is beginning to document for the first time that what he called a "highly hush-hush agency within the White House" apparently is calling signals on what the American public will be told in the scientific competition with Russia.

A DIM VIEW

He identified the agency as the Operations Coordinating Board, the operating arm of the National Security Council. The OCB, he said, is headed by Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter. The vice chairman, he said, is Cutler, who "takes a dim view of the public's right to know."

The congressman listed five ways in which he believes "we are cutting off our proverbial noses."

1. Scientists are cleared for secret work on an agency-by-agency basis so that one of them working on a Navy missile project can't discuss his problems freely with another doing similar work for the Army.
2. Different standards are used, so that a scientist cleared by one agency may be rejected by another.
3. Even when cleared by another agency, a scientist can't get information from it until it has been established that he has all he "needs to know."
4. Not only are direct military applications of scientific principles being stamped secret, but also the principles themselves—"the laws of nature, open to discovery by any scientist in any nation."
5. An adequate system is lacking for taking the secrecy tags from scientific information after they no longer are needed, so that scientists constantly are wasting time rediscovering principles learned long ago but concealed by classification.

Plants Studied For Anti-Cancer Serum

AUSTIN (AP)—More than 1,000 plant extracts are being studied by University of Texas researchers seeking a possible anti-cancer vaccine.

Dr. Alfred Taylor, biochemist and his assistants hope to find some substance that will retard or destroy growth of cancerous tissue, the university announced today.

The research is following the lead that cancer may possibly be caused by a virus—a theory developed from research findings a decade ago.

If cancer is caused by a virus, then it follows logically that a vaccine would be the method to use in attacking it, Dr. Taylor said.

Mahon Charges Missile Fund Cut

New Long-Range Radar

A new long-range radar for Canadian-American research in ballistic missile defense at Westford, Mass., is now in operation and has been used already in detecting the Russian satellite at remote distances. The 90-ton network of metal—shaped like a huge cereal bowl 84 feet in diameter—is built by Lincoln Laboratory, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology facility associated with the Army, Navy and Air Force. The unit is mounted on top of a white-painted tower 90 feet high on the crest of Millstone Hill at Westford, 35 miles northwest of Boston. It can sweep the entire sky. Coupled with the radar is an electronic brain which supplies data on trajectories at a rate of thousands of characters per second.

Three Firms Left In Running For Tax Equalization Survey

The number of firms being considered for a tax equalization survey here was booted down to three Tuesday after members of a city-county school committee interviewed representatives of five agencies engaged in such work.

Left in the running for the work, if and when it is undertaken, are Erik Ehrenborg Appraisal Co. of Dallas, Southwestern Appraisal Co. of Stamford and Pritchard & Abbott Co. of Fort Worth.

Eliminated after the interviews were P. L. Marquess & Co. of Wharton and Stoner Appraisal Co. of San Antonio.

With the exception of the Stoner firm, which didn't propose to provide land maps at the conclusion of the survey, bids ranged from $67,650 to $75,500. Joseph H. Stoner said his firm would perform the equalization survey and furnish records for $46,500. He said that preparation of maps might cost that much more.

The interviews consumed nearly five hours and came to a climax near the end of the talks when committee members questioned Edward S. Pritchard and Edward S. Pritchard Jr. about a statement alleged to have been made by a representative of their firm relative to valuation of farm and ranch land.

NEWS STORY

Showing the Pritchards a clipping from The Herald, Omar Jones, school trustee, asked for comment.

"We never made such a statement," said the senior Pritchard after reading the story. "No one in our organization has any authority to make such a commitment and if I can find anyone who did, he won't be on our payroll."

Jones' clipping was a story dealing with a county commissioners meeting Monday. At the meeting, the story said, Commissioner G. E. Gilliam questioned Commissioner P. O. Hughes about a meeting with and Commission Earle Hull and Hudson Landers attended with a representative of a valuation firm.

In response to Gilliam's questions, Hughes said that the valuation representative stated that land values would be left unchanged except in the case of big houses, according to the story.

At yesterday's committee meeting, Landers denied that such a statement was made to the commissioners. He also said that Gilliam was told of the meeting and was invited to attend. He described the meeting with Truett Pritchard as a routine session such as takes place frequently between county officials and representatives of firms which provide the county with various services. Pritchard & Abbott Co. handles oil and industrial valuations for the county, he pointed out.

"SPEAKS TO GILLIAM"

"Mr. Gilliam," said Edward S. Pritchard Sr., "we never try to ascertain who our friends are on a court, and I can't conceive of anyone in our organization who would attempt to set up a meeting and leave you out."

"We have about 300 contracts and our annual retainers run to about $1.5 million. We couldn't afford to make such a statement. We'd rather not have this job than to operate like that."

Pritchard said his firm "would present our facts to the taxing agencies, and they could do what they like with them."

R. H. Weaver, county judge who was on hand for part of the Pritchard interview, said no one had ever told him land values would be treated differently in a survey.

"I asked Mr. Hughes at the meeting the other day if anything went on that either I or the public should know about. He said 'No,' but that wasn't reported in the paper."

PROCEDURE EXPLAINED

The Pritchards explained that if they undertook a survey the value of all property would be determined impartially. Factors to be considered, they said, would be the property's market value, and the income it could produce.

Residences would be valued on the basis of size, and type of construction. Other factors to be considered would be location, and nature of their lots.

"We would ascertain their replacement cost less depreciation, with the market values and other factors considered in fixing valuations," the senior Pritchard said. He estimated that a home in a rural area would be valued a third less than an equal dwelling in an urban area, due to the fact that its actual selling value would be less.

Similar methods of evaluation were outlined by representatives of the other firms. All agreed to furnish records of values and descriptions of each piece of property to the three taxing agencies. With the exception of Stoner, all agreed to supply ownership and valuation maps with the other data.

Bids for doing the work were Ehrenborg, $75,500; Marquess $69,973; Southwestern Appraisal, $67,650; Stoner, $46,500 (plus cost of maps); and Pritchard & Abbott, $70,000.

Ehrenborg, Southwestern and Pritchard & Abbott were chosen for further consideration when committee members agreed to vote for three of the five.

Southwestern was a unanimous choice, Pritchard & Abbott received the votes of all but Gilliam, Ehrenborg received votes of all but Robert Stripling and Hudson Landers. Stoner received the votes of Stripling and Omar Jones, and Marquess was favored only by Gilliam.

The city-county school committee, which is to report its recommendations to the three taxing agencies, is composed of Stripling and Jones from the school board, Landers and Gilliam from the county commissioners court, and Roy Bruce and Curtis Driver from the city commission.

Gilliam, who was first chairman of the committee, turned in his resignation to county commissioners last week. However, he showed up for yesterday's committee meeting after Landers had been named to serve as chairman.

Daniel Likens Tides Fight To Russian Roulette Game

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel warned the Legislature today that the federal government's new Texas tidelands suit is "like a friendly game of Russian roulette."

Nobody knows what might happen in such a risky game, the governor said, asking the lawmakers to urge President Eisenhower and his administration to recognize Texas' claim to 10 1/2 miles seaward in the Gulf of Mexico.

Daniel spoke to a joint session of the Senate and House, formally submitting the question of passing a resolution to be sent the President calling on him to demand that Atty. Gen. William M. Rogers uphold the Texas position.

Daniel noted that President Eisenhower has repeatedly backed the Texas claim but that the Department of Justice under his administration has not.

Daniel was referring to a new lawsuit in the U. S. Supreme Court to fix finally the boundaries of the Gulf coastal states in the long conflict over the oil-rich tidelands. Congress has given the states ownership and the new litigation was instituted to finally draw the boundary lines.

Texas' claim of three leagues or 10 1/2 miles is based on the agreement under which it joined

Defense Chiefs Called For An Accounting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) accused the administration today of withholding money appropriated for missile development. He called in defense officials for an accounting.

Mahon heads a House appropriations subcommittee which handles defense money allotments.

Summoned before that group for a quickly called closed-door session were Secretary of Defense McElroy and William Holiday, assistant to the secretary for missile development.

That action put the House one jump ahead of the Senate on an inquiry into where the United States stands with relation to Russia in the race to develop space-traveling weapons. A study is planned by the Senate preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), but it has not gone beyond the staff inquiry stage. Hearings start next week.

Shortly before Mahon's move was announced, Johnson had said the Senate group's course will be determined by the facts, not any political considerations.

"We want to know why the lag (in U. S. missile development) and what can be done about it," Mahon told newsmen just before the House hearing started.

Asserting that the situation presents the executive department with "some of the gravest decisions of our time," Mahon said money appropriated by Congress in the past "was withheld by the executive from expenditure."

Declaring the subcommittee wanted to find out if funds are still being withheld, Mahon added: "There will have to be some increase in expenditures, particularly in the ballistic missiles and satellite fields."

Mahon said Congress is not going to "mount a charger and ride off in all directions—but we do intend to mount a charger and ride."

Asked if Congress is in a mood to increase spending, Mahon replied that Congress has always been in the mood to vote all the funds necessary for national defense.

"The sky has been the limit, particularly in the missiles field," he said.

Mahon was asked if he thinks there will be any substantial increase in defense appropriations as a result of missile requirements.

He indicated there will be some increase but said: "There won't be a spending spree. What is required is decisions and better planning."

Mahon's group recently went to the Pacific Coast for a first-hand study of missile developments and to talk with scientists.

He said committee members plan to go next to the Missile Flight Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and to the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., where the Army is developing the Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile.

The Union. The Department of Justice has argued that Texas is entitled to no more than three miles.

Daniel emphasized the apparent conflict between the President's view and that of former U. S. Atty. Gen. Brownell and the present attorney general.

He suggested a resolution calling on President Eisenhower to demand that his attorney general recognize the integrity of the historical documents that long supported the Texas claim.

"A President who respects that obligation should see to it that his own attorney general does likewise," Daniel said.

The governor said the U. S. suit seeks to roll back the boundaries of Texas, chop off 1,738,183 acres of its territory and cost the public school fund millions of dollars.

Daniel did not ask the Legislature for additional money to finance Atty. Gen. Will Wilson's defense of the suit. It is already being provided from the governor's departmental funds.

Daniel, who originally spearheaded the Texas tidelands fight that wound up with congressional recognition of state ownership, also volunteered to help Wilson carry on the new battle over the specific boundaries.

Secrecy Prober Charges AF Held Back Data On Satellite

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The top congressional investigator of government secrecy said today the Air Force got information of Russian satellite launching plans months ahead of time but "the American people were never forewarned."

Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) also said Robert Cutler, President Eisenhower's adviser on national security affairs, imposed a "blueprint of secrecy" on America's "missile-satellite deficiencies until Sputnik sailed across the skies."

Moss, chairman of a House subcommittee which rides herd on federal information practices, referred at one point to what he called "public-be-damned information policies" and said they must be eliminated.

Moss' views were sharply challenged by the Pentagon's information chief, Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder, who said the congressman "apparently subscribes to the myth that, for some reason, your defense officials spend all their spare time knitting paper curtains of secrecy around the facts of our military activities."

Both Moss and Snyder made their comments in speeches prepared for the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., which continues through Saturday.

ARROGANT OFFICIALS

Shortly before Moss and Snyder appeared, Frank Eyerly of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and president of the APME defined freedom of information as "simply an assertion of the individual's right to know."

Eyerly's definition came in the annual report of the APME president, a report largely concerned with restrictions on information.

"You and I," Eyerly told fellow editors, "know that there is a built-in propensity on the part of public officials, appointed or elected, at the level of the county or parish and ranging all the way up to Washington, to set up new barriers with the bland and sometimes arrogant assumption that a governmental servant knows better than the American people what is good for the people."

For two days this week, Snyder was a witness before the Moss subcommittee at Washington hearings in its continuing study of government information practices.

Moss said the fight for the public's right to know must be unrelenting, as new threats arise continually. He appealed to the editors to help lift what he termed "the smug smog of secrecy."

SHARPLY CRITICAL

Snyder, sharply critical of Moss, said that he found it "difficult, and so did newsmen covering the hearings of his committee this week, to reconcile freedom of information objectives of this committee with Mr. Moss' refusal to permit" the Pentagon general counsel to "refute an unsubstantiated indication."

At a subcommittee session Monday, Robert Dechert, chief counsel of the Defense Department, tried to get in a statement disputing Moss' allegations of stifling secrecy.

Officials banded his gavel, however, and said Dechert "is not going to inject himself at will into these hearings."

Snyder subsequently got in the gist of Dechert's objections.

Snyder said the implication appeared in Moss' opening statement at the hearing Monday "that there was agreement among American scientists that secrecy was stifling our technical development."

Discussing the advance word on Russia's satellite plans, Moss told the editors his subcommittee has learned that on June 21, a private corporation gave the Air Force an analysis of dozens of freely distributed Russian technical publications adding up to a report that the Soviets planned to send up a satellite as early as Sept. 17.

"PUBLIC-BE-DAMNED"

What the Air Force did with this information, Moss said, the subcommittee doesn't know yet.

"We do not know," he said, "whether the military establishment ignored these facts—or, appreciating their value, chose to keep the American public in the dark."

"We do know, however, that until such 'public-be-damned' information policies are eliminated, such incidents will occur again and without end."

Snyder said that Moss "has not been negligent in his efforts to collect ammunition" and that his subcommittee has engaged in

They were taken to the hospital in the same ambulance. There was a bright side to the accident, however. "We don't have to go to school for a week," Tommy said.

Hollywood May Be Changing Its Way Of Thinking

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Abbe Lane swore she wouldn't return to Hollywood until the combined studio heads bore her through the streets like an Egyptian princess, with the "tesser" officials strewing rose petals in her path.

Well, she's back, and no such demonstration occurred. However, there are indications that Hollywood is coming around to her way of thinking about Abbe Lane.

"Hollywood!" she exclaimed, seething. "Don't mention Hollywood to me!"

I took a chance and did so, and she continued: "I left here two years ago because nobody in Hollywood could see me as anything but a band singer. I went to Italy, where they have imagination about a person's talent. When they see a girl sing, they realize she could be able to act too."

Uncle Ray: Joan Of Arc Became Burgundian Prisoner

By RAMON COFFMAN
Joan of Arc hated war, but she wanted to make France free. Time and again she rode into battle, and at length she was wounded. When she grew well, she was ready for the next step which she declared the "voices" had ordered her to take.

That step was to bring about the crowning of the Dauphin. He was a young man with a weak nature, and allowed others to manage his life. He feared trouble if he took the throne.

After Joan's victories in and around Orleans, the belief in her grew so strong that the Dauphin agreed to follow her plan. He traveled to Reims, and there he received the crown. The peasant maid from the village of Domremy watched with happy eyes while the event took place.

That, she thought, would be the end of her work. She had done all the "voices" had told her to do, and she wanted to go back to her home.

By this time, however, the French leaders felt she could be of value to them in their later battles. They pressed her to stay with the army and at last she agreed.

The capture of Joan of Arc.

Many Frenchmen were fighting alongside the English in the war. The duke of Burgundy and other French nobles felt that the Dauphin was not the rightful heir to the throne.

It was the Burgundians who brought about the downfall of the Maid of Orleans. In fighting which took place outside the fortress in Compiegne, they captured her.

So was broken the spell of her victories. No longer the all-conquering heroine, she was to suffer as a prisoner.

Poor Joan! From the height of fame and success, she was brought down. She was cast into prison by the Burgundians.

Afterward she was tried by a church court. The court judged her guilty and she was taken back to prison. On May 30, 1431, she was burned at the stake. She then was only 19 years of age.

6 Children Die In Tenement Fire

DETROIT (AP)—Six little children died yesterday in the smoke and flame of a fire that swept the second-story flat occupied by a Negro family of 8.

About 15 minutes before the fire broke out, Mrs. Lucille Sanders, 33, mother of five of the children, went to a neighbor's house to use the phone. Other members of the family were away.

Returning to find her home ablaze, she screamed, "Oh my God! My babies!"

Prevented from entering the house, she collapsed and was treated for shock. Dead on arrival at Receiving Hospital were Brenda, 6; LaDonna, 4; Calvin, 3; Algertha, 12; Carlton, 6 months; and a 6-month-old grandchild, Ronald.

Firemen said an explosion of gas from a coal stove in the small parlor started the flash fire.

Daniel Holds Off On Water Bill For Now

DALLAS (AP)—Gov. Daniel told Texas Farm Bureau Convention yesterday he would not submit the controversial 200-acre-foot water reservoir proposal to the special session of the Legislature. "It would be futile to present it now in this short special session," he said, "because enough senators have already indicated they would filibuster it to death. Nothing would be accomplished except a bigger controversy than now exists."

The House added an amendment to the water planning bill in the first special session, allowing farmers to dam up to 200 acre-feet of water a year without getting a state permit. But the section was removed.

Daniel said he thought "the proper course is for you and me and the Legislature to request the Board of Water Engineers to cut out the red tape and expense involved in obtaining a permit to put to use for additional beneficial purposes the water impounded in reservoirs up to 200 acre-feet." John Lynn of Washington told the 1,700 delegates at the opening session yesterday proposed guaranteed payments to farmers would cost too much, result in increased production, lower market prices and limitations on the amount of money each farmer could receive. "The most efficient farm operators would be squeezed between the low market prices induced by guaranteed returns and the limits on the amount that might be paid to any individual," the legislative director of the American Farm Bureau Federation said.

Fliers Escape In Collision

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Two Air Force fighter pilots escaped miraculously last night when their Sabrejets collided on a night training mission from Scott Air Force Base at Belleville.

"I don't remember much of what happened," said Lt. William R. McDaniel, 23, Fort Worth, Tex. "I think my plane hit another and exploded. I must have fallen from five miles up."

Lt. James H. Metz, Poplar Bluff, Mo., also managed to take to his parachute and landed in a plowed field barely hurt.

Mrs. Roland Scheutz, who lives on a farm at Mascoutah, Ill., found McDaniel lying on her back porch, bloody and nearly frozen. "He was shivering and nervous and looked terrified," she said. The base hospital reported McDaniel had several cuts and a possible back injury but did not seem seriously hurt.

The two fliers are members of the 85th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at Scott. They collided about five minutes after taking off. Parts of their planes fell six miles from the point of impact.

Nehru Pushing Out 'Cow Dung Age'

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament today India must forge ahead with its 15-billion-dollar, second five-year plan to get out of the "cow dung age."

Nehru said more than 75 per cent of India's power is now produced by burning cow dung. His government is planning to start more atomic research centers "so as not to be left behind in this Sputnik age," he said.

The launching of the second Soviet earth satellite "has affected our thinking on planning," Nehru said. "We have to look ahead beyond the second plan period and think in terms of the third and fourth five-year plans yoking atomic power for peaceful purposes."

Surety Official Claims Dispatch In Stock Deals

AUSTIN (AP)—The deputy state insurance commissioner testified yesterday he thought reports of alleged illegal stock deals by a Dallas life insurance firm were handled "with as much dispatch as we could under the circumstances."

Paul Connor, deputy commissioner since Sept. 1, told the Senate Investigating Committee he saw no urgency in handling a critical examination report on Preferred Life Insurance. "Last week we typed up 111 examination reports," he said. "Probably each one has some critical finding from an examiner."

The committee has made a lengthy investigation into alleged illegal stock manipulations was not sent to the attorney general although the examiner had addressed a copy to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

"I am the one who decided on not sending the report to the attorney general from knowing about it. He could have sent me up there (to Dallas) with the examiners if he wanted to."

Previous testimony said the examination was made in March of this year but no action was taken by the Insurance Board until a Sept. 11 conference in Austin. Connor said William Harrison, insurance commissioner, did not know about the case until a reporter asked him about it in September.

Sen. Frank Owen of El Paso wanted to know if the Insurance Board had done anything in the case since the investigation began. "Is the Insurance Board waiting for us to prod them into action?" he said. "Are they waiting for us to go home and then let this whole thing slide over?"

Connor said he understood the attorney general and the state auditor still had investigators going over certain Preferred Life books in Dallas. He said the Insurance Board had done nothing more because by law the firm was given 60 days in which to answer allegations made officially on Sept. 18.

U.S., France Agree To Plan To Solve Tunisian Arms Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France reportedly have agreed to a plan for supplying Tunisia with Western arms in such a way that French tempers can cool and they can catch up the Atlantic Alliance. Diplomats said Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau reached the agreement during a three-hour

2 More Prisoners Caught In Illinois

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—Two more of the seven prisoners who escaped from the Lake County, Ind., jail Monday were captured early today after some 60 police virtually clamped a lid on this town. State, county and city police had thrown up roadblocks at every exit from this central Illinois community after the pair abandoned their car last night when police closed in on them at the southern edge of Mattoon.

George R. Brown, 25, East Gary, and Mack Dow Keith, 28, Gary, were captured a short time later. Keith on foot and Brown in a car he admitted stealing from a Mattoon cafe operator. Both surrendered without a struggle.

Three of the escapees were captured Monday, and two others remain at large. State police expressed doubt that the remaining two came to the Mattoon area. The manhunt converged on this area last night after a car bearing Indiana license plates was found abandoned with two flat tires near Tolono, some 40 miles north of Mattoon. In it was a shotgun.

Brown, a former mental patient, was to have gone on trial Monday for one of two sex murders police say he has admitted. Keith was accused of theft.

Still at large were Houston E. Smith, 18, and Wallace Mohammed, 18, both Chicagoans accused of theft.

The seven escaped from a 75-year-old section of the Indiana jail at Crown Point by using a metal table leg to break through a cell wall into a corridor, where they pried apart window bars.

Motions To Quash Gaming Charges Filed In Galveston

GALVESTON (AP)—Motions to quash gambling indictments against 20 defendants were filed yesterday and an attorney said he was setting the stage for a test of all 101 indictments returned Sept. 24 against alleged vice conditions in Galveston County.

Attorneys Richard Thornton and Walter Johnson, a former Galveston police commissioner, prepared the motions. Thornton said the motions to test the indictments are based on allegations the grand jury was not selected according to law, that the grand jury held illegal meetings outside the jury room and without a quorum present and that, contrary to law, the grand jury met secretly with Dist. Judge Donald Markle.

Also filed in each of the same cases were motions to require the state to produce all documentary evidence against the defendants.

Meanwhile, the present grand jury continued its probe into alleged vice activities. J. D. Givens of Texas City, who acted as undercover agent for the state in raids here earlier this year; Ranger Capt. Johnny Klevenhagen, who led raids against gambling establishments, and Asst. Atty. Gen. Riley Fletcher.

Police Recruit Help For Girl

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—Athens has recruited some help for its one girl police force. Veteran Officer Johnny Flatt, 30, of Lancaster, Tex., was hired yesterday as police chief. Mayor A. R. Cox said he would be given authority to hire two additional male officers.

Former Police Chief Joe McGee and two patrolmen quit last week in protest over the hiring of pretty Miss Jessie Sweeten, 23, leaving her as the only officer on duty for a day.

McGee said the Henderson County sheriff's office warned that if Miss Sweeten were hired, they wouldn't let the city police use their radio transmitter or jail. Mayor Cox refused to fire Miss Sweeten, daughter of former Sheriff Jess Sweeten, a political foe of Sheriff J. W. Brownlow. "She will remain on duty," Cox said. Miss Sweeten is a 5-10, sturdily built blonde who learned to shoot under her father's tutelage.

Cox said he hoped the sheriff would reconsider and patch up his feud with the city.

Cox said Miss Sweeten will check downtown parking meters, patrol Highway 175 during school hours and might also do some secretarial work for Chief Flatt.

Dulles said such "most explicit assurances" were enough for him. Pineau also proposed yesterday a pooling of scientific resources among NATO nations.

Pineau said he looks forward to the NATO meeting in December to propound a French thesis that NATO cooperation should be on "as broad as possible" a basis.

Theft

Max Monderer, 47, a New York diamond salesman told Detroit police he was robbed of an estimated $500,000 worth of diamonds in Detroit, Mich. Monderer said a lone bandit fired a teargas shell at him as he entered the lobby of a downtown building and then fled with his briefcase full of diamonds. Police Lt. Earl Miller said three or four persons who witnessed the holdup corroborated Monderer's account of the theft.

Baptists Slate Dance Debate

RALEIGH, N.C. — Debate was scheduled today on whether dancing will be permitted on campuses of Baptist colleges.

The president of the North Carolina Baptist Convention, Dr. J. C. Canipe of Hendersonville, also suggested the group meeting here "take a look at the fraternities" at the Baptist-supported institutions.

Canipe, an avowed foe of a move to permit supervised dancing at Wake Forest and Meredith, told the convention the problem is one that "should be solved, once and for all."

The dancing issue came to the fore recently when trustees at the two four-year colleges voted to permit supervised dancing on campus. The order was recalled, however, at the suggestion of a group who wanted it brought before the convention.

Dr. Canipe called the order to permit dancing a "deviation on the part of some of our colleges from our historic Baptist New Testament faith and practices."

He also said the matter of "social fraternities" should be discussed by the convention "because they (fraternities) have given the colleges in many instances bad reputations, particularly in moral matters, and many believe them to be un-democratic, un-Baptist and un-Christian."

Auto List Prices Up 3.4 Per Cent

DETROIT — Factory-suggested list prices for 1958 automobiles are up roughly an average of 3.4 per cent over 1957 listings. This is about one-half the increase announced a year ago.

In dollars and cents, most factory-announced increases range from $35 to as much as $225. The prices announced by the car makers are the "suggested" list prices. They are not binding on the retailers. They do not include federal excise, state and local taxes, extra-cost accessories, shipping charges, dealer preparation and dealer handling charges.

Texas Weather Is Fair, Cool Again

By The Associated Press. Texas was fair and cool again Wednesday.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 30 degrees at Dalhart to 65 at Corpus Christi, Lubbock and Amarillo had 32.

Skies were clear and temperatures seasonal Tuesday after the mercury plunged below freezing over the upper part of the state early in the day.

Afternoon highs ran from 53 at Amarillo and Dalhart to 75 at Brownsville, Cotulla and Laredo Tuesday.

Fair and cool weather was forecast with some colder air moving into the Panhandle and South Plains Wednesday night.

The nation's weather appeared back to near normal Wednesday, cold in most areas and a little wet in a few sections. Skies were partly cloudy to fair in most of the country.

This was in marked contrast to the three days of tornadoes, rain, snow and windstorms and floods in the Midwest and Southern areas.

The blustery weather since the weekend was blamed for at least 40 deaths. Damage to property and crops was extensive in Southern sections hit by tornadoes and floods. The heavy snowfall in the Midwest paralyzed highway travel, closed schools and damaged unheated crops.

But the snow tapered off to only flurries during the night in the Home Of Author Of Race Paper Hit By Blast

GAFFNEY, S. C. — An explosion here last night shattered windows and cracked a wall in the home of a white woman who wrote part of a publication urging a moderate approach to racial problems.

Police found evidence indicating a dynamite time bomb caused the blast, which shook the neighborhood shortly after 9:30 p.m. Dr. James H. Sanders, a native South Carolinian and resident of Gaffney for 31 years, said no one was injured in the explosion at his home, occupied by himself, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. McLaughlin, visitors from Louisville, Ky.

"You possibly could relate it (the blast) to the publication," Dr. Sanders said.

"Three sticks of dynamite and a fuse did not explode," Sanders said. He said the explosion tore a hole about 12 inches deep and about 18 by 18 inches square beside the chimney of the house.

The explosion also knocked out six windows the doctor said. "It cracked a wall in the living room."

Mrs. Sanders, a native of Charleston, S.C., contributed material to a publication entitled "South Carolinians Speak—a Moderate Approach to Race Relations." The Rev. John B. Morris of Dillon, S.C., one of the publishers, reported today that former Rep. James P. Richards (D-S.C.) praised the publication as a "real contribution" to freedom of expression.

"She had two or three telephone calls—no, about five—about the publication," Sanders said, "and one unsigned letter."

He termed the communications "protests, rather than threats."

Quarantine On Fire Ants Due

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — The Department of Agriculture is expected to put a South American fire ant quarantine into force in about a month.

The proposed quarantine passed a public hearing yesterday with little opposition.

The area involved includes all or parts of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Texas.

The fire ant of Argentina got into this country in 1920 through the port of Mobile, Ala., and spread, especially since 1950.

All states and commercial associations at the hearing urged a uniform federal quarantine in preference to the varied regulations likely in state quarantines.

L. F. Curl of Washington, assistant director of the plant and pest control division of the USDA, said it apparently will take at least three years to kill off the fire ant.

He declined to estimate the cost, but said Congress has appropriated $2,400,000 for the job. He said a three-way split of expenses would be ideal.

"Federal funds would cover a third, the state would pay a third and the land owner would pay a third," he said.

The quarantine, for the most part, would deal with balled and burlapped plants from nurseries, and such transplants as the thousands of tomatoes shipped annually into northern states.

Missile Rumor

NEW YORK — The New York Times said today the administration is being urged by the Army to make an all-out effort to produce an operational antimissile missile by 1961 at a seven-billion cost of between six and three-billion dollars.

Solon Says U.S. Needs 'Less Golf'

WASHINGTON — Rep. Passman (D-La.) said today the country's foreign aid program needs more thinking, planning and hard work and "less golf."

"I am opposed to the theory that we can cure all ills with money," said Passman, chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles the foreign aid money bills.

Noting reports that next year's budget request for foreign aid might again be in excess of four billion dollars, Passman said in an interview, "There is absolutely no justification for an increase." The administration last year asked about $4,400,000,000 for foreign aid, but Congress voted only about 3 1/2 billions. There have been reports that the request for next year has been fixed tentatively at $4,200,000,000.

"I am a long-time foe of extensive foreign aid spending, contended that 'appropriations are not the answer. We could confiscate all the wealth of the country for foreign aid and still not have enough to finance all the desirable projects around the world."

"We need more thinking, hard work and less golf."

"I believe that elected officials should give more attention to the duties they're elected to do and that golf and recreation should be

Airlines Bucking High Financial Wind

NEW YORK — The airlines say they are bucking heavy head winds today that are cutting down their profit speed. Wall Street agrees and has marked their stocks down sharply.

This comes at an embarrassing time for the carriers, who must find money for costly jet planes. Without profits in sight you can't sell stock. It's hard to borrow.

So the airlines want to hike their fares. The staff of the Civil Aeronautics Board, on the other hand, denies that this is needed. A staff report holds the outlook much better than the lines paint it and calls their present troubles mostly temporary.

The airlines are putting their case before the board now and stressing many other things in their plea for higher fares — defense needs, general rise in costs in industry, need to improve service, growing competition.

The 12 trunk lines have ordered or plan to order 257 jet and turbo-prop aircraft at a cost of two billion dollars.

T. Carl Wedel, vice president of the transportation department of the First National City Bank of New York, believes "more than 1 1/2 billion of the amount needed for equipment must be obtained from outside financing either in the form of loans or the sale of equity."

James P. Mitchell, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, says it's probable that "a definite downward trend in earnings, increasing costs, poor dividend expectations and the tremendous capital programs have led to discourage the investor from seeking opportunities in this industry."

White-Collar Race Problem Greater Than Trades Area

WASHINGTON — Job discrimination against Negroes by government contractors is greater in white-collar areas than in production tasks and skilled trades, a presidential committee says.

In its fourth annual report to President Eisenhower, the committee on government contracts yesterday said such "discriminatory situations" may be on the way out.

The committee, headed by Vice President Nixon, seeks to eliminate job discrimination because of color, race, religion or national origin in work done under government contract.

The committee said a survey of 506 plants doing government work showed that Negroes held nearly nine per cent of the jobs in plants surveyed in detail, but their representation in the white-collar work was strikingly lower.

It said Negroes had the best representation in white-collar work in Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia and the New York City-northern New Jersey area.

Nixon said he believed the committee has developed "new and effective tools for identifying and correcting discriminatory situations where work is being performed under government contract."

He said the committee is making annual examinations of employment practices of principal government contractors, and has asked government contracting agencies to consider these practices before awarding contracts.

pushed to the background until the present crisis is resolved," he said. Passman recently returned from a trip around the world during which he inspected workings of the foreign aid program in 17 countries. "I am more firmly convinced than ever that this is not the approach to our problem," he said. "I've seen enough to convince me that the way the program is operating is rather like pouring water down a rat hole."

"With all our spending I don't think we have made a friend. In fact, in some places they're even mad because we don't give them more."

Sign Missing At Train Wreck Site

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—A union chairman and a state official agreed today a sign warning of track construction was missing yesterday after a speeding Montreal-Boston express train derailed and wrecked.

Two crewmen were killed and 23 persons injured in the smashup of the Boston & Maine's Red Wing at an overpass.

W. Paul Duggan, general chairman of the B. & M. Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said he has photographs of "a hole in the ground where the sign was supposed to be" at a point, some 4,000 feet north of track construction near the overpass.

Duggan said he walked the track a mile back shortly after the wreck. He said he saw police and railroad engineering department men marking the rail at the point where the warning sign should have been.

Duggan said that, under the rules, an 18 to 20-inch sign should have been there. Rules, he said, call for it to be painted yellow, with the speed limit—15 m.p.h. in this case—black.

BILLS DUE? PAY 'EM with $620 CASH from S.L.C.!

Car payments, store payments, refrigerator payments, house payment, department store bills—and THEN is when some member of the family has to have an appendix out! Sure, we know all about it. Man, it's happened to every one of us. But LOOK: can you repay $29.87 a month? Well, $29.87 a month (24 months) repays that $620 S.L.C. loan. Subject to usual credit regulations, of course, but that's only good business. Get it all off your mind, man! Come in and see for yourself and—SOS—for S.I.C.

State Hospital Personnel Attend Austin Workshop

Four staff members of the Big Spring State Hospital have returned from Austin where they participated in the annual workshop for rehabilitation therapy personnel. The week-long session, which ended Saturday, was held at the central office of the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools. It pointed to helping the patient recover as quickly as possible. Among the topics were "Use of Self," "Use of the Group," and "Use of Media." Among those on the program were Dr. Ira Iscoe, Dr. Philip Worchel, Austin Grigg, Jerome Miller, professors of psychology at the University of Texas; Charlotta Welles, OTR, visiting professor from the University of Pennsylvania, and Mary Alice Coombs, OTR of the central office at Austin. Attending from here were Mrs. Annie Simpson and Mrs. Barbara Van Dyke of the occupational therapy department, John Knoles, recreation department, and Chaplain Marvin Berkeland.

Heartless? Look Out For Douglas

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP)—At the very beginning of The General Motors 50th Anniversary Show (NBC-TV) I squirmed uncomfortably when Kirk Douglas looked directly at me and said: "There are some persons who are embarrassed by sentiment; there are those who do not like to be detected in the possession of a heart. . . I suggest that such persons . . ." He made the sign of the twisted dial.
 Well, heartless fellow that I am, I stuck out the program for its full two hours, admiring the beautiful production, the host of talented performers, and enjoying some of the sequences in the show's theme of the pursuit of happiness. Yet I'm still baffled as to why I didn't thoroughly enjoy this program which brought ecstatic praise from so many viewers. Certainly I'm a sentimentalist. Earlier on Sunday evening I passed 90 misty-eyed minutes thoroughly enjoying that highly sentimentalized study of death, "On Borrowed Time," which was brilliantly produced and acted on Hall of Fame (NBC-TV). So what was wrong with the General Motors big show? Nothing, according to most viewers I've heard discussing it. The script by Helen Deutsch was excellent, the production by Jess Oppenheimer superb, the performances of virtually everyone fine indeed. The fault, dear Brutus, must lie in me that I get my back up when the narrator of a television show comes on and says, in effect, "Look, we're going in for sentiment tonight and if you can't enjoy it you're a slob." That, of course, is a picayune criticism of the program and a big criticism of me. Besore I turn in my reviewer's badge, however, I'd like to say that I believe there is genuine happiness to be found in a solid marriage, in parenthood, in remembering the past, in listening to a singer like Dinah Shore and hearing Helen Hayes speak in verse. But the show was pressing me too hard in its pursuit of such forms of simple happiness. I don't know when I've been ecstatically happy for two solid hours. So credit the show for trying—and me for failing again to grin for two hours. Speaking of that illusory emotion called happiness, I was pretty unhappy throughout most of the 90 minutes of "On Borrowed Time"—yet ended by being extraordinarily happy with the show. "On Borrowed Time" fathomed the nature of happiness more profoundly than the General Motors show because it took into account the nature of human unhappiness.

Only Member Of Police Force

Miss Jessie Nell Sweeten, 23, is the only member of the Athens police force. She is shown in a patrol car, checking out the radio. Miss Sweeten, daughter of Jess Sweeten, a former Henderson County sheriff, has had no police experience. The town's three-man police force resigned in protest of the hiring of Miss Sweeten.

Busy Firebug

NEW YORK (AP)—A busy firebug apparently kept pace with busy firemen in a Manhattan hotel last night. As they put out one blaze, another flared in a different part of the 15-story hotel Brierfield, 215 W. 83rd St. Nine fires in all were set.

Mission's End

A Navy fighter, its wings folded, returns to its nest deep inside the USS Forrestal. In its two years of service, the huge carrier has launched and recovered more than 14,000 aircraft.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1957 SEC. B

Big Carrier Is A Noisy, Floating City

By ELTON C. FAY

The captain and executive officer of the 60,000-ton USS Forrestal are administrators of the biggest, busiest and noisiest "city" afloat.

Almost 4,000 men live and work in this sea-going city.

Everything for living, entirely cut off from land, is at hand on the supercarrier. . . stores which sell everything from cashmere sweaters and jewelry to soap and cigarettes. . . laundries. . . a tailor shop. . . a library. . . a hobby shop. . . places for church services of all faiths. . . a dozen different movies every night.

MEET THE MAYOR

On this ship, the men responsible—the "mayor" and his principal aide—are Capt. Richard L. Kibbe, native of Sullivan, Ill., and his executive, Cmdr. George C. Duncan of Arlington, Va.

The captain almost never leaves the area of the bridge while the Forrestal is at sea. The "exec" divides his time between the bridge and the multitude of big and little problems of "Forrestal City."

All hands—the officers and men—live at sea in a constant world of clamor, of noise and hurrying that would mean sleeplessness for any but those hardened to the life.

Except for the Forrestal's experienced crew and airman, a night operation is a nightmare.

Elevators rumble up to the flight deck, carrying aircraft. The night is pitch black until the eye adjusts and can detect black shapes moving about against a blacker background.

Here and there the glowing red eye of an electric torch flashes briefly. Air crews come topside, swathed in immersion suits, helmeted, life jackets buckled on, carrying notebook knee pad boards. They climb up into cockpits.

From high aloft, the "bullhorn" bellows commands into the dark. Jet engines start. They whine first, then scream as the planes taxi to position over the steam-powered launching catapults.

NO MISTAKES

Flight deck men, with the eyes and nimbleness of cats, scurry in the black night, dodging jet blasts, crawling under fuselages, hooking up the plane to the catapult.

Up near the top of the "island" structure, the men in the control room watch, give the signal. The minute for launching is at hand. Down on the right hand side of the waiting jet an officer waves an electrically illuminated wand in a tight circle, telling the pilot to run up his engine to full power. The jet's scream grows deafening. The aircraft, still held in leash, shakes even the stout steel flight deck. Hot, blue flame streaks from the tailpipe. Suddenly, the officer crouches, points his wand to the end of the flight deck. The catapult snaps the multi-ton plane into flying speed in three hundred feet of run, hurling it out beyond the end of the deck. Almost instantly, the aircraft flashes from sight into the night. And another follows hard on its heels. The mission is off.

Death Penalty For Private Enterprise

VIENNA (AP)—A Bulgarian Communist court has sentenced two former merchants to death for the private production and sale of dye materials.

The Sofia newspaper Otzchestven Front, received here today, said Lambri and Atanas Lambrev (two brothers, owned a dye firm which the Communists nationalized. However, the brothers continued with their own production and sales, the paper said.

Union Raising Defense Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tribune said today that a legal defense fund which may reach two million dollars is being raised by officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters for the use of James R. Hoffa, the union's president-elect and other Teamster officers.

The Tribune said this was disclosed by Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis, a Teamster international vice president.

Gibbons, who was not immediately available to confirm the Tribune story, was quoted as saying he hoped to receive $1,000 contributions from 2,000 union officers in 800 Teamster locals throughout the country and in Canada.

"This money could be used by Hoffa and any other Teamster who finds himself in trouble with the federal government and the Senate investigating committee," the Tribune quoted Gibbons.

Investigated and none of us has enough money to finance a legal defense."

He said the defense fund would be raised through promissory notes for $1,000 and a $40 interest payment that would be "made available" to all Teamster officers. The notes, to be paid at the rate of $44 a month for two years, are made payable to a St. Louis trust headed by Gibbons and six other Teamster officials, the St. Louis vice president said.

Gibbons said Hoffa never was consulted in the preliminary discussions about setting up the fund after the union's convention in Miami last month. He declined to disclose the names of the trust officers who would approve disbursements from the fund to Hoffa and other Teamsters.

Home Demand

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Labor Department official said today migration of people from farms to urban areas is helping create a demand for new dwellings. Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics told the Agriculture Department's annual Outlook Conference the pressure will provide a market for at least 1,100,000 new homes in 1958.

Gamble For Time Paid Off

WASHINGTON—The 12 tormented years since World War II fall into focus if you look at what the world faced and faces. The Russians gambled for time and won.

They could blackmail their neighbors, use intrigue, subversion, economic penetration, propaganda, everything in the book.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA—A record coffee harvest in Cuba's easternmost Oriente province is progressing rapidly. All of the crop is expected to be garnered by the end of November.

The harvesting is proceeding under the watchful eyes of Cuban troops. But there has been no interference with the work by supporters of rebel leader Fidel Castro, who is hiding out in the Sierra Maestra Mountains bordering the coffee-growing lands.

Audience Routed

NOGALES, Ariz.—Patrons at a Nogaes theater ducked for cover as guns boomed on the screen during a showing of a British naval war picture.

A water pipe in the ceiling had broken, sending a fine spray of water over the audience.

Delayed Medal

NORFOLK, Va.—Joseph DeCosi got his medal, the Army's Bronze Star, but nobody seems to know why it reached him 13 years after the award was made.

He also isn't quite sure just what combat incident brought him the medal. He was fighting in Italy when the award was made on May 13, 1944.

Rescuers Fail To Find Boat

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (AP)—Seamen from the freighter Bricolod battled high waves in a lifeboat last night to reach tiny Hawk Island but failed to find a tug reported aground around there or its four crewmen.

The four Canadians aboard the 45-foot tug D&C radioed that the vessel had gone on the rocks in a snowstorm early yesterday and that they were seeking safety on the uninhabited island in Lake Superior.

The Bricolod moved through a 45-mile-an-hour gale to the island, 60 miles east of Port Arthur and a mile offshore. The lifeboat crew found no tracks in the fresh snow but could not get up a steep cliff to search the whole island.

A tug circled the island earlier last night and reported it could not see the missing ship.

Capt. R. W. Forbes of the Port Arthur Marine Division said other ships and the Canadian air force were searching the lake. The Bricolod reported it was continuing on its way east.

"We have no idea where the tug might be but we expect, or hope, that its calculations were off when it sent out the SOS," he said. He added that the crewmen might have mistaken another island for Hawk.

U.N. Endorses West's Efforts To Continue Arms Conference

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has endorsed the West's efforts to keep disarmament talks going, but a new Soviet boycott threat promises complete breakdown of the perennially deadlocked negotiations.

A Western plan to increase the 12-nation Disarmament Commission to 25 members was approved 60-9 yesterday. Four Communist nations and three neutrals would be included under the plan.

The Assembly rejected 38-19 a Communist proposal to enlarge the commission to 32 nations, half of them Communist or neutralist.

A Russian proposal to throw open the arms talks to all 82 U.N. nations drew only the 9 Soviet bloc votes to 46 opposing ballots.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov declared the Soviet Union would refuse to take part in any more meetings of the Disarmament Commission unless its 32-member plan was accepted.

Other diplomats were less optimistic. Some felt the Assembly's action spelled the final collapse of the arms talks, which have been dragging on since 1954 in the commission and its five-nation subcommittee.

The latest disarmament deadlock appeared near solution when the West agreed to a compromise proposal for adding the 14 nations to the commission — Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Burma, Czechoslovakia, Egypt, India, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia. The commission already is composed of the 11 nations on the Security Council plus Canada, which will take a council seat Jan. 1.

Hope faded, however, when Russia notified the Assembly she would agree to the compromise only if another seven nations were added — Austria, Bulgaria, Indonesia, Romania, Sudan, Finland and Ceylon.

Western delegates said it was useless to make any further attempts to negotiate an additional compromise and blocked attempts to postpone the vote.

On the program will be the presentation of a one-act play which the thespians have been presenting for free at meetings of civic groups. The play is titled "If Men Played Cards As Women Do," and is built around an imaginary game of poker in which the men imitate, in mannish style, the idiosyncracies of their feminine counterparts.

Also, the acquisition of a little theatre building will be discussed.

Dewey McGee, president of the Big Spring Civic Theatre, Inc., has called a regular meeting of the group for 8 p.m. Thursday in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce. The theatre group meets the last Thursday of each month.

Won't Order Integration Guard

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas says he will not order state police or National Guardsmen in Arkansas to guard anyone in school.

However, the governor said yesterday, Arkansas National Guardsmen will have to carry out federal integration enforcement orders or "they will be court-martialed at the drop of a hat."

Faubus told the Shreveport News Club the planned withdrawal of federal troops from Central High School at Little Rock was unfair to guardsmen who will be left with what he called the distasteful task of enforcement.

The Army announced all regular Army troops would be withdrawn from the high school and integration orders would be handled entirely by federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen.

Faubus said he wouldn't "take any state police force or National Guardsmen to transport anybody to school and guard them while they are in there."

Soviets Promise New Egyptian Aid

MOSCOW (AP)—Egypt's war minister, Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, today is carrying home a new Soviet agreement pledging economic and technical assistance to President Nasser's government.

Premier Bulganin announced the aid pledge at a Kremlin banquet last night honoring Amer, who has been conferring with Soviet leaders and visiting military installations.

Bulganin gave no details of what Russia will supply Egypt, saying only: "In response to the desires of the Egyptian government and President Nasser, the Soviet government has expressed its readiness to render Egypt economic and technical assistance in the development of her national economy."

It appeared likely that a Soviet mission would be sent to Cairo to work out details with the Nasser regime. This was the procedure followed after Syria's defense minister visited Moscow last August and obtained an aid pledge.

Presumably the Russians will give the Egyptians low-cost loans for development projects and will supply technical advisers. This is the aid that has been announced for Syria. Egypt already is trading a large part of her cotton crop—her major export—for Communist bloc arms.

Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev stood by smiling as Bulganin announced the aid promise.

Bulganin declared that imperialists "continue to exert pressure upon the Arab countries and attempt to inflict the yoke of a new colonial slavery under the guise of the Baghdad Pact, the Eisenhower Doctrine and by other dishonest means."

But Russia's "contributions are selfless, based on the mutual interests of our two countries and on preserving peace and stability in the Middle East," Bulganin declared.

The Premier said the Soviet government regards its friendship with Egypt as inviolable and considers Nasser the outstanding political figure in the Arab East.

Informants said Washington and London at the same time believe it might be possible to build up a new, largely Arab regional political and defensive grouping in the west Mediterranean that could be linked with NATO. Such a group would include Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Spain and Libya.

If France were to come up after inter-Allied talks with some practical proposals which the West generally could support, they might serve to break the Algerian deadlock.

U.S., British To Seek French Talks

LONDON (AP)—American and British leaders have decided to seek early heart-to-heart talks with France over the future of rebel-torn Algeria. Informed allies diplomats reported today.

Top officials in both Britain and America feel such talks are needed urgently because: The Soviet Union is believed preparing a new drive to extend its political and economic influence in Africa and the Middle East.

The load of the Algerian campaign has brought French government finances to the crisis point, and any collapse might open the way for an extreme right-wing, or a "popular front" left-wing, government.

The U.S. and British governments are having nightmares of what might happen to the Atlantic Alliance if the North African situation is allowed to deteriorate further.

The installation in France of an extremist government, right or left, could spell the crackup of the Allied defense system in its present form.

Nuclear Merchant Ship Launching Planned In 1959

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will launch a nuclear-powered merchant ship in 1959. A $20,908,744 contract for construction of the vessel was awarded yesterday to the New York Shipbuilding Corp. of Camden, N.J.

A joint announcement by the Maritime Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission said the atomic propulsion system would be supplied by Babcock & Wilcox Co. under a separate contract with AEC for another nine million dollars.

The ship, to be named the NS (for nuclear ship) Savannah, is to be 587 feet long, have a beam of 78 feet, a service speed of 20 knots and a deadweight tonnage of 10,190 tons, the announcement said.

Congress authorized construction of the vessel in July 1956 after President Eisenhower proposed the launching as a demonstration of U.S. determination to develop peaceful applications for atomic energy.

The announcement said the NS Savannah will be an ultramodern ship with facilities for visitors' tours and "will serve as a floating laboratory to study and experiment in the relationship of nuclear power to the requirements of commercial shipping."

Methodist WSCS Circles Meet For Luncheon And Study Tuesday

In an all-day session at First Methodist Church Tuesday, circles of the WSCS completed study books dealing with the race problem. Meeting at the church Tuesday morning, the group heard Mrs. W. M. Romans introduce the first book, "Christ, the Church and the Race." Mrs. Robert Dyer stated the problem, and Mrs. W. A. Hunt discussed the facts and fancies about race. A panel discussion was held on the topic, "Caste, American Style." Participating were Mrs. C. M. Frost, Mrs. John Hackley, Mrs. Neil Norred and Mrs. J. R. Hensley. Mrs. Clyde Johnston and Mrs. Don Newsom reviewed "The Most Segregated Institution in The World—The Church." The morning program was presented before a worship center formed of a poster answering the question, "Who Is My Neighbor?" and a poster made of newspaper clippings dealing with racial problems. Added to the center was a world globe, an open Bible and lighted candles. A salad luncheon was served at noon, with the Fannie Stripling Circle acting as hostesses. Tables were decorated with clasped hands of various colors and figures of children of different races, all with arrangements of chrysanthemums. The afternoon study was continued with a panel discussion of "The Crucial Matter—The Local Church." On this panel were Mrs. John Riteour, Mrs. Bill Ward, Mrs. C. R. Moad and Mrs. Ed C. Shive.

Baptists Plan Joint Meetings

The Maybelle Taylor Circle of First Baptist Church and WMS will meet with the Ann Dwyer Circle for luncheon and a business meeting on Dec. 17. This was decided at a meeting of the Taylor Circle Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Luther McDaniel. Mrs. McDaniel and Mrs. Pat Murphy showed slides dealing with Nigeria and Ghana. Mrs. Murphy reviewed two chapters in the study book about Africa. Mrs. Bill Reed, community missions chairman, gave a report on the work of that group. Mrs. R. E. McClure dismissed the circle with a prayer, and refreshments were served. The table was decorated with a wrought iron basket of yellow mums with an arrangement of white and golden squash and a pumpkin. Yellow candles completed the decor.

Miss Ryan To Head Center Point Club

Camilla Ryan was elected president of the Center Point 4-H Club to replace the former president, Lillian Baxter, who has moved out of town. The club met at the school Tuesday morning. Selected to replace Miss Ryan as vice president was Elaine Langley. Louise Cockrell brought the devotion from Psalms. Delores Meeke led some of the songs. The program was presented by Elizabeth Pace, Home Demonstration agent, who showed the girls the workings of a sewing machine. The next meeting was announced for Dec. 17 at the school.

Several Celebrated Stories Of Practice Of Cannibalism

Hint that cannibalism may be a factor in the shocking crime in Plainfield, Wis., where officers are digging into sordid activities of a town handyman and erstwhile babysitter, are causing countless thousands of American newspaper readers to shudder in horror.

So far, the suggestion that cannibalism was the motive in the murder or murders in that isolated Wisconsin farmhouse has been but speculation.

Gruesome as the thought may be, records show that this practice of eating human flesh is not unknown in western world.

It is widely known that savage tribes in the depths of Africa are cannibals and it is also proved that natives on many of the far-flung islands of the Pacific Ocean were once man-eaters.

In some of these cases, the eating of human flesh was a tribal ritual, in others, it was inspired by a simple animalistic taste for this most horrid of all imaginable foods.

STILL BOGS UP

In more modern times, particularly in the western world, civilization has driven this abhorrent custom deep underground. It is only in rare and isolated instances that it is revived and brought to light.

Probably the most celebrated of the stories of wholesale cannibalism in the western world is the tale of Savney Beane. There is good reason to believe that such a dreadful figure as Beane did once live and that the account of the sorry business he followed is founded on some sound basis of fact. Beane is a semi-legendary figure. A good many centuries have passed since he practiced his savage craft. So much distortion has developed it is difficult to differentiate between fact and fiction.

The accounts assert that Beane and a woman as restrictive as himself, established a home in an isolated cavern. Nearby was a well-travelled road. The Beanes, so the story relates, and their children and their children's children lived for years in this den eking out a terrible existence by murdering travellers, robbing that person and then making use of their victims' bodies for food.

U.S. Seeks Prison Fate For Mobster

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government has taken steps to put Vincent J. Squillante, self-styled godson of murdered mobster Albert Anastasia and reputed garbage racket kingpin, in prison for the first time in his career.

The 5-foot-1 silent witness at last week's Senate hearings on gangster control of the garbage carting industry here was hauled into federal court yesterday and charged with violating probation by consorting with known criminals and hoodlums. He also was accused of concealing his 1956 income from the federal probation department.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman set Monday for a hearing on a petition to revoke Squillante's probation. Bail was set at $10,000, which the former fruit peddler posted.

Squillante, 40, has been on probation since 1953, when he pleaded guilty to a 1950 government charge of failing to file 1948 and 1949 income tax returns. He also received a $1,000 fine and a suspended sentence.

While Squillante squirmed nervously in a chair at the counsel table—frequently whispering to his attorney Irving Bush—U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams heatedly told the court yesterday:

"This man is not a small man. He is reputedly the head of one of the biggest rackets operating in New York City, and he is being investigated by the district attorneys of Queens and New York (Manhattan) counties."

"Let us not pretend that we are dealing with a poor little man here in relation to a mere violation of probation. He is the head of one of the biggest carting associations in the city, which have been engaged in shaking down business people."

story to show that cannibalism is not beyond the ken of so-called civilized man.

MODERN SHOCKER

A most recent shocker is that of Fritz Haarmann. Haarmann was, perhaps, not a cannibal himself, there is no record of that. Haarmann was what was even more revolting—a peddler of human flesh to other persons who bought and ate unaware of the origin of the "beef," the "mutton" or the "pork" their supplier sold them.

Haarmann was a product of the chaotic disorder which prevailed in Germany at the end of World War I. He had been a soldier in the war. When the conflict ended he settled in Hanover.

Haarmann, as was shown in testimony at his trial, utilized the general confusion and uncertainty of the times to pursue the most macabre of all professions—luring young, homeless boys into his clutches, slaying them and selling their flesh to impoverished and starving Hanover residents.

How many victims this inhuman monster slew was never shown. There was evidence to indicate he had killed a vast number before he was arrested. His trial was a sensation of its day and he was decapitated for his crime in 1924.

In the United States, occasional isolated instances of cannibalism have appeared at different times. The classic incident, probably, is the Packer case in Colorado. This weird episode occurred in 1873 when Colorado territory was in the throes of its big gold rush.

A group of five prospectors, eager to test a lonely and distant mountain region, assembled supplies and transportation late in the fall of that year. They began to hunt for a guide.

Alfred Packer, who glibly told the five he was intimately familiar with the country they wanted to visit, got the job. Actually, Packer knew little more of the country than did his employers.

The winter season was beginning, but the eager goldhunters insisted on setting out despite warnings of seasoned mountain men. Heavy snows fell soon after the party reached the mountain country.

Nothing further was heard of the group until the following spring.

PACKER REAPPEARS

At that time, Packer showed up at an isolated ranch. He told a harrowing story of suffering and privation which he said had brought death to all of his companions. He alone had been able to survive by his skill as a frontiersman.

His hosts were a little puzzled. Despite the months Packer had supposedly spent in the hills on sparse rations, he was amazing well-fed, they noticed. Further, when he was offered food, he showed a marked repugnance for meat in any form.

A searching party set out when the weather permitted and eventually the campsite where the party had holed up as the blizzard struck was found.

They also found the skeletons and other physical remains of Packer's five companions.

What stunned the searchers was not only the indisputable evidence that all five had been murdered but that their bodies had been utilized as food.

Packer was tried in 1883 in the territorial courts of Colorado and sentenced to be hanged. A technicality developed and he won a new trial. He was retried and this time was sentenced to serve life in prison.

Statehood came on and Packer continued in his cell at Canyon City. Around 1900, the Denver Post, noted for its sensationalism in news reporting, sent Polly Pry, its famous "sob-sister" woman feature writer, into the prison to write drippy stories about infamous felons.

She met Packer and became intensely interested in him. Her stories about him were given prominent display in the Post and the Post launched an all-out campaign to have Packer freed from prison. Upshot of this campaign was his parole by the harassed state officials in 1900. He died years later in obscurity.

There are many other classic crimes in which man-eating played a role. Cannibalism still sticks its ugly head out of a primitive past from time to time to shock modern civilization.

And each time that a hint of this stivism is publicized goose pimples of horror pop out on all ordinary folk.

Lyndon Pledges No Politics In Probe Of Missile Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said today the facts—and not any political considerations—will determine the course of a senatorial inquiry into the nation's missile program.

The Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee will begin a series of hearings next week in an atmosphere charged by efforts of some Republican and Democratic leaders to fix on the opposing party the blame for lagging missile and satellite production.

Former President Truman has charged that the Eisenhower administration permitted a unified missiles program he had instituted ed to disintegrate. Republican National Chairman Meade Aicorn has accused Democrats in Congress of voting to cut missile expenditures.

Johnson, who heads the Preparedness subcommittee, made it clear in a telephone interview from his home in Johnson City,

AMA Opposes Medical Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Assn. has announced its strong opposition to a bill in Congress to pay hospitalization and medical benefits to persons receiving Social Security benefits.

Dr. David B. Allman of Atlantic City, AMA president, said in a statement that "this proposal is clearly 'socialized medicine' for a segment of the American people."

"The enactment of this legislation," he added, "will permit the federal government to withdraw social security taxes on a compulsory basis from almost the entire working population and use those taxes to reimburse hospitals and physicians for services rendered to all persons eligible to receive old age and survivors benefits."

Twelve to 13 million people now receiving Social Security payments would receive the hospitalization and medical benefits under terms of the bill introduced by Rep. Aime Forand (D-R.I.).

Forand says the bill has been endorsed by the AFL-CIO.

Tex., he does not believe the committee will be swayed by the political debate touched off with the Russian Sputnik launchings.

"The committee has operated under Democratic presidents and Republican presidents and we have always called things as we saw them," Johnson said. "Sen. Bridges (R-NH) was one of the first to demand the kind of an investigation we are undertaking."

Bridges is senior Republican on the subcommittee.

"We will review the whole picture of the progress made in missile development, find out the facts and tell them to the country," Johnson continued. "What course the investigation takes will depend on the facts."

In El Paso, Tex., last night, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) contended that Russia is "two full years" ahead of the United States in missiles and predicted it will be two years before this country launches an earth satellite "of any significance."

He added that this country can "put up a little satellite quickly," but that it will be 1959 before one matching the Russian Sputniks is launched.

"They had the intermediate range missile two years before we did," Anderson said. "And they have the intercontinental missile two years before we will get it."

Moonlight Aid To Moon Trip

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—Moonlight itself might be used to guide a lunar rocket to its target, says a scientist whose specialty is instrumentation.

Dr. Ralph Bowersox doesn't know of any such "homing device," but he says it is conceivable that one might be developed. He is instrument development chief for the jet propulsion laboratories at California Institute of Technology.

"It is reasonable that a rocket will be fired around the moon within 5 or 10 years," Bowersox said yesterday in an interview after addressing Whittier College students on space travel.

A homing device to utilize moonlight in guiding a rocket could be similar in principle to equipment which now steers warplanes and missiles to their targets, said Bowersox.

He told the students that they would see men travel safely to the moon and return, pointing out that the dog Laika aboard the Russian Sputnik II proved life can be sustained above the earth's atmosphere.

Bowersox speculated that, with present fuels, a trip to the moon would take nine days.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's inability to keep the opposition's defense honest by throwing the ball the past season robbed it of a chance to improve upon its 1956 2-8 win-loss record.

The Steers showed a reasonably good ground game, having gained an average of slightly better than 200 yards a game (compared to 233.5 for the opposition) but the opposition found it could stop them all too often in close by concentrating their strength in the trenches.

Though he wasn't employed a single time on offense in one game and carried the ball only twice in the finale against San Angelo, Junior Wayne Fields wound up as the Steers' leading ground gainer.

Jimmy Evans gained 294 yards in 90 tries and would have had more had he not been thrown for losses several times while trying to pass.

Jan Loudemilk, in 67 line thrusts, gained a total of 273 yards. J. B. Davis ripped off gains of 142 yards in 27 tries and his sensational 94-yard touchdown run on a kickoff against Odessa isn't included in the total, of course!

Evans accounted for 167 yards passing, with ten completions in 28 attempts.

Head Coach Al Milch turned his thoughts to next year, long before this season became history.

HC Nimrod Gets Hunting Permit

AUSTIN, Nov. 20—Public hunts will begin in Texas Saturday, with 220 deer to be taken, according to the Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

Drawings were held in Austin recently for permits to hunt these areas. There will be 60 bucks allowed on the Kerr Wildlife Management area in Kerr County and 100 antlerless deer on the Engeling Wildlife Management area in Anderson County.

The third hunt will be on the Black Gap area in West Texas, beginning Nov. 20, where 60 bucks will be allowed.

These hunts are arranged to bring the sex ratio into balance, and to reduce the herds to the carrying capacity for the land.

Glenn Riden tossed in 19 points for the Garden City boys, who had benefited from only one day's workout.

The Bearcats dropped six points behind in the first period but outscored the Hawks in the second and fourth periods.

Jo Calverly led the Garden City girls with 29 points. She hit a dozen shots from the field.

On defense, Mary Ruth Ashbill, Joann Maxwell and Pat Saunders stood out for the Cats.

Wanda Williams counted 15 points, Pat Carr three and Pat Saunders two for Garden City.

For Wall, Norma Galloway scored 13, Tempe Braden ten, Nancy Chasak six and Norma Braden six.

Garden City led at the end of the opening period, 16-8; at half time, 24-14; and after three rounds, 37-22.

The Garden City teams next play Water Valley there on Tuesday.

GLORE, CARVER HC CAPTAINS

Larry Glore of Potosi, Mo., and Benny Carver, Bowie, Texas, have been named co-captains for the Howard County Junior College basketball team, which opens its season here Saturday night against Lubbock Christian College.

Glore, 6-foot-1, is the only returning regular from last season. He improved enough toward the end of the season to win his way onto the first five. Though hand-capped by a lack of height, Glore was recognized as one of the top rebounders on the squad.

In high school, Larry captained his team. In his senior year at Potosi, he scored 530 points for a 20-point average and wound up winning three varsity letters.

Carver is a 5-9 freshman. He captured the Bowie club his last two years in high school.

He made all-district two years, in 1956-57 was on the Wichita Falls Times All-Area team and proceeded to earn a spot on the Associated Press All-State team last season.

He was the leading scorer on the Bowie team as a senior with 531 points and a 15-point average.

Flu Hits Frogs

FORT WORTH (AP)—Flu has struck five TCU players but all but one are expected to be ready for Rice Saturday. Paul Peebles, right end, is expected to be out for the season. In addition to the flu, he has a bruised ankle.

Center Jim Orze, guard Cecil Carter, tackle William Roach and end Bobby Murray were expected to regain top speed this week.

Declared Champion

GALVESTON (AP)—Beaumont St. Anthony High was declared Catholic District 1 champion last night and will play the winner of the Dallas Jesuit-San Antonio St. Gerard game for the state Catholic championship.

Arah Phillips To Enroll In Wayland Cage Clinic

PLAINVIEW (SC)—Harley Redin, Wayland Baptist College athletic director, has reservations for more than 200 coaches and players from all over Texas who plan to attend the second annual Hutcherson Flying Queens Basketball Clinic, Saturday, Nov. 23, on the Wayland campus. The clinic commences at 8 a. m.

Assisting Redin will be Marvin Williams, John Blaine and W. C. Rinsinger. Williams coached the 1957 state champion Roosevelt High team. Blaine has had a great coaching record at Dimmitt. Rinsinger has coached many winning teams at Bula High School.

With the aid of the four-time national AAU champion Flying Queens, Coach Redin will present fundamentals, favorite offenses and defenses, and help to iron out any problems that the coaches may have with their girls' basketball team.

The Queens will present actual court demonstration of the various matters to be discussed. The clinic will close Saturday evening with a game between Roosevelt and Abernathy high schools in the Plainview High School Gym.

Among the 34 coaches who plan to attend the clinic are C. H. Spears, Idalou; Jake Jacobs, Tahoma; Alton "Slim" Warren and Lester Ramsey, Whitharral; Johnny Brumley, Lakeview; Steve Scott, Miami; Leatrice West, Merkel; U. F. Coker Jr. and Bill Queerne, Turkey; Mrs. James Anglin, Dalhart; Freddie Gooner and Sarah Parker, Winters; L. D. Emmons, Gallatin; C. W. Dukes, Sandown; Mrs. A. O. Dennington and W. C. Hodges, Rotan; Charles McClure, Denver; Billy Taylor and Bill Parker, Mulshook; Leon Shank Lockett; B. E. Duggins and Donald Watkins, Friona; L. H. Bertherton, Canyon; Raymond Adam, Estelline; Arah Phillips, Big Spring; W. C. Rinsinger and Melvin Howard, Bula; Pete Wilson and James West, Shallowater; Jerry Helmer, Wolfarth.

Frogs, Hawks Grid Choices

By HAROLD CLAASSEN NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Zupke, famed Illinois gridiron coach of yesteryear, once said the three college sports involving physical contact were football, wrestling and dancing. So off to the junior prom, Algernon, after picking this week's winners:

Michigan State over Kansas State: The door to the Big Ten throne room is locked with Ohio State safely inside. The disappointed Spartans to take it out on lowly Kansas State.

Auburn over Florida State: The odds are against State even getting a score.

Michigan over Ohio State: Strictly on a hunch. The Ohioans won a trip to the Rose Bowl Saturday and a defeat won't cost them the Big Ten title.

Iowa over Notre Dame: Randy Furman over Davidson (N) SATURDAY

EAST: Dartmouth over Princeton, Yale over Harvard, Rutgers over Columbia, Villanova over Wichita, Lehigh over Lafayette, Pittsburgh over Penn State.

MIDWEST: Colorado over Iowa State, Detroit over Dayton, Illinois over Northwestern, Purdue over Indiana, Missouri over Kansas, Minnesota over Wisconsin, Southern over Tulsa.

SOUTH: Mississippi Houston over Alabama, Clemson over Wake Forest, Georgia Tech over Florida, Maryland over Virginia, North Carolina State over South Carolina, Vanderbilt over the Citadel, West Virginia over Syracuse.

FAR WEST: Washington over Washington State, Stanford over California, UCLA over Southern California, Brigham Young over Colorado State University, Arizona over Marquette (N), Arizona State over College of Pacific, Air Force over New Mexico.

SOUTHWEST: Baylor over Southern Methodist, Oklahoma State over Hardin-Simmons, Arkansas over Texas Tech.

Last week's figures: won 37, lost 16 for '700.

Well Of Knowledge In Basic Research

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—We are being urged to spend more tax dollars on research to keep ahead of the Russians scientifically.

Especially we must do more basic research, say President Eisenhower and leading scientists. Just what is it?

Dr. Albert Sent-gyorgyi, a Nobel Prize winner working at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole, Mass., declares: "Research is four things: Brains with which to think. Eyes with which to see. Machines with which to measure. And fourth, money. It is brains and eyes which are most important."

Research can be either applied or basic.

Applied means directed toward finding or developing a specific product, drug or other invention. It usually means applying existing knowledge in new ways.

Basic research is the quest for new knowledge, ideas, discovery of more secrets of nature—solely for the sake of adding to our knowledge.

Basic research feeds the well of knowledge from which great progress and inventions come. Without it, the well goes dry. Applied research then can only keep reworking old facts and ideas.

No one can predict just what fruits basic discoveries will bring or when.

The A-bomb was created in a few years with two billion dollars and all-out effort.

This was possible only because the basic truths about the atom had been found in the preceding 30 years by scientists just curious about the structure of atoms.

Penicillin, the Salk vaccine, plastics, score upon score of our greatest achievements were possible only because of basic discoveries.

Such research is the source of radar, defense weapons, missiles, and future trips to the moon.

It paves the way to entire new industries, more jobs, more leisure time to enjoy the arts.

In basic research lie the keys to preventing heart attacks, and curing or preventing cancer and other diseases.

The Soviets have been putting greater and greater stress on basic research, and this has many scientists worried. Basic research is the road to supremacy in science.

The United States, through government and industry, spends about five billion dollars a year on research, with less than 10 per cent going for basic research, the National Science Foundation estimates.

"The greatest threat to this country—economically and militarily—is lack of fundamental research," declares Col. Benjamin Blasingame, head of the Air Force ICBM Titan project.

Top scientists predict enormous benefits from more funds for basic research in many fields.

Lack of money often hurts, making it hard to attract qualified, imaginative men and women. Another problem is to supply enough money over long enough periods to keep teams working on their projects.

Excellent men frequently leave basic research in universities because they need more income to support their families. Applied research jobs in industry have been paying far better.

As Dr. Vernon Lippard, dean of the Yale Medical School, puts it: "Men who choose basic research or teaching usually need 'a strong incentive, and an understanding wife, or private source of income.'"

The pay and support are improving, and this is an optimistic trend.

Einstein nearly starved in his early years, but kept at his basic research. The goal now is to attract and keep more scientists engaged in basic research.

Benjamin Franklin had an answer when he was asked, "What good is basic science?" He replied: "What good is a baby?"

Tomorrow: Training future scientists—their rewards.

Little Effect Seen In Discount Rate Cut

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—How much and how soon will the cut in the Federal Reserve discount rate help business in general?

Some see the Federal Reserve Board's action as merely confirming a business downtrend already well under way. They doubt if slightly easier credit will have much effect on industrial production for some time to come.

Less costly money in itself need not spur a businessman to step up output of goods unless they're selling nor to build new plants if he already has more capacity than orders nor to build up inventories when most materials are in abundant supply.

The stock and bond markets took a different tack. Traders seemed to feel that the cut in the rate from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent is but the first of several steps that Washington will take to halt the incipient recession.

The stock market's reaction was psychological, built on the belief that pump priming is just around the corner for many industries as well as those making missiles. Traders held that happy days will soon be here again.

Bond buyers, foreseeing a further drop in interest rates, a rise in bond prices and a consequent lowering of yields, jumped in quickly to grab up bargains while they lasted.

Whether the commercial banks will follow the Federal Reserve's lead and lower their charge for loans to business is the subject of much dispute.

Some Eastern bankers say that demand for loans, although slipping, is still high enough to sustain present high interest charges and they plan no action soon. Others say that the money market has already been easing and if the trend continues interest rates must come down in time.

Bankers point out that the drop in the discount rate is less effective in easing the money supply than other steps the Federal Reserve could have taken; such as giving the banks more money to lend by entering the government securities market, or by lowering the reserve requirements of member banks.

All agree that the evident reason for the Federal Reserve action was the indicated downturn in the economy which soothed the board's fear of further inflation.
