Dr. Edward Teller, a University of California scientist who has been called the father of the H-bomb, testified as the first witness as the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee opened hearings in Washington on missile development.

Doolittle Says Russians Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. James Doolittle (ret.) testified today that Russia "certainly is ahead of us" in all land-fired missiles. He said the United States is ahead in the air-to-air types.

Doolittle, who heads the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that this country fell behind Soviet Russia because it had no coordinated program until 1953.

He said the Russians started missile developments in 1946 and "they have been working harder at it than we have."

Doolittle's testimony was in direct contradiction of contentions by former President Truman. Truman has said that he organized a unified missile program while in the White House but that it was allowed to deteriorate under the Eisenhower administration.

Doolittle, a famed flier who led the first World War II air raid on Japan, was the first witness of the Senate subcommittee's second day of hearings on the U.S. missile situation.

ONLY A SYMBOL
Based on the first day of hearings, when a group of scientists were heard, Chairman Lydon Johnson (D-Tex.) said he regards the Russian lead in missiles as "only a symbol of an even greater danger" that the United States may fall behind in the weapons of the future.

Johnson expressed this view in an interview.

Similarly, Doolittle said that unless the United States steps up its rate of progress the Soviet Union will surpass this country in all phases of military effort.

The one bright spot now, Doolittle said, is in American development of air-to-air missiles. He said he does not believe the Russians have a missile equal to the Falcon, which can be fired from a plane at another plane.

Nor, he said, does he believe the Russians can match the U.S. nuclear warhead air-to-air missile.

Doolittle said one reason the Russians are ahead is that they have a "double incentive."

"Under their system — and I recommend it — you either are rewarded for excellence or you are destroyed if you don't do a good job."

He said Russia is sacrificing more than the United States, putting about one-fourth of its production into military hardware, while the United States is spending only about 8 1/2 per cent of its production for defense.

In addition, he said Russia has "a definite, clear-cut objective — communication and domination of the world."

"They have long range flexibility," he said. "They have a consistent plan to achieve, militarily, industrially and educationally."

AF Experiment Cloud Spotted In Wide Areas

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—The Air Force early today released a cloud of sodium vapor more than 80 miles above the earth and the resulting orange cloud was spotted over wide portions of the Southwest.

Spokesmen at the Air Force missile development center near here said the experiment, to determine certain factors of radio communication, was called "Operation Smokepuff."

The sodium was shot up in an Air Force Aerobee rocket, Lt. Virgil Domenic of the Holloman Air Force Base Public Information Office said.

He said hundreds of ham radio operators had been advised of the experiment and were tuned into the Air Force blockhouse where the firing was controlled for an hour before the rocket left the earth.

The Aerobee sped 3,600 m.p.h. to a point 80 to 100 miles above the earth before releasing the sodium, Domenic said.

The sodium, when released from the rocket, formed "an ionized cloud" which was visible hundreds of miles.

The purpose of the test, Domenic said, was to determine what effect such a cloud might have on radio transmissions.

He said the ham operators across the Western United States attempted to beam their radio waves at the cloud. He said reports from the ham operators will be filed with authorities at the missile development center.

Ham operators participating were spread from California to the Mississippi River and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, Domenic said.

The Stanford Research Institute was a participant in the experiment along with the Air Force.

Earlier today the house voted overwhelmingly to suspend all rules necessary to speed final passage of SBI and SB2, another segregation bill.

The troop-school bill was the basic reason given by Daniel for calling the second special session, now in its 14th day and perhaps nearing adjournment before Thanksgiving.

The House accepted the motion, 102-21. Sadler is one of the leaders of the House segregation bloc.

These two segregation measures and another moved closer to final passage as the Legislature showed signs of wanting to finish the second special session before Thanksgiving.

The House refused 81-56 to remove a controversial section from the Senate bill which would guarantee that state aid would continue for a closed school in order to finance "out-of-classroom instruction."

"If we change this bill we might not get home in time to hang up our stockings for Santa Claus," Sadler warned. "All we want is

Doctors Describe Ike's Condition 'Satisfactory'

President Put In Bed By 'Chill'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower is "progressing satisfactorily" but that doctors are making "a further evaluation of his illness."

Associate White House press secretary Anne Wheaton said at 10:22 a.m. a report of the doctor's findings would be made "as soon as possible"—meaning later today.

Eisenhower suffered what the President's condition might be described as a "chill" yesterday shortly after he returned from the airport where he welcomed King Mohammed V of Morocco.

The latest White House announcement raised the question whether the illness might be more serious than originally thought.

Asked if indications were that the President's condition might be more serious than originally indicated, Mrs. Wheaton declined any comment. She refused, despite repeated questions from reporters, to go beyond her brief announcement.

That announcement said: "The President is progressing satisfactorily. However, his doctors are making a further evaluation of the case at this time. A report of this evaluation will be made as soon as possible."

The illness forced Eisenhower to cancel his plans to attend last night's dinner for King Mohammed V, and a conference with the King today. Secretary of State Dulles sat in for him today.

Mrs. Wheaton made no comment when a reporter suggested that her terse announcements were "a very unusual treatment of a presidential illness." The spokesman recalled more detailed announcements were made when the President suffered his heart attack and the later intestinal disorder.

In her first report of the day Mrs. Wheaton said Eisenhower earlier announcement, at 8:55 a.m., that the President "is progressing very well."

Concern over Eisenhower's condition was heightened by his 1953 heart attack and last year's operation for ileitis.

Asked why it is necessary to make a further evaluation of a chill, Mrs. Wheaton said "I can't discuss that."

She also said she did not know if there was any indication the President's illness amounted to more than a chill.

She would not say who drew up the statement beyond saying it was the work of "two or three people."

Likewise Mrs. Wheaton declined to say whether any doctors besides the two who ordinarily attend the President have been called in. Eisenhower's doctors are Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder and Lt. Col. Walter Tkach.

Mrs. Wheaton said no thought was being given to the President's delivering the speech on international cooperation which he originally planned to deliver at Cleveland tonight.

"There is nothing along that line at all," she said.

The Cleveland speech was canceled last night after the President became ill. So were all of today's appointments.

Illness Cancels Plans For The Day

The illness forced Eisenhower to cancel his plans to attend last night's dinner for King Mohammed V, and a conference with the King today. Secretary of State Dulles sat in for him today.

Mrs. Wheaton made no comment when a reporter suggested that her terse announcements were "a very unusual treatment of a presidential illness." The spokesman recalled more detailed announcements were made when the President suffered his heart attack and the later intestinal disorder.

In her first report of the day Mrs. Wheaton said Eisenhower was resting comfortably and ate a good breakfast.

That report said: "Later in the morning there will be a medical statement on the condition of the President."

"He is resting comfortably, had a good breakfast and is progressing very well."

Mrs. Wheaton declined to say why the medical statement was held up. She also refused to elaborate in any other way on her announcement, beyond saying in answer to a question that all the President's appointments for today had been canceled.

The doctors' orders kept Eisenhower from attending a White House dinner last night for the King. Vice President Nixon substituted for him. A scheduled Eisenhower conference with the King today was canceled.

While the dinner was going on, associate press secretary Anne Wheaton told a news conference the President had no fever—then or earlier. She said further that his pulse and respiration were normal and that he was sleeping "quietly and comfortably" under what she termed mild sedation.

Word of the 67-year-old President's latest illness brought questions from newsmen as to whether he might be developing the flu.

"I stand by my statement that he has had a chill," Mrs. Wheaton replied.

Eisenhower was inoculated against Asian flu physical check-up Nov. 10-11 and his doctors at

House Sends Troops Bill To Governor

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill giving the governor full power to close schools threatened with occupation by troops was passed by the House today and sent to Gov. Price Daniel.

The vote was 115-28. The measure passed in the Senate last week after overcoming a grueling filibuster.

"We have a governor who can maintain order without the interference of the president of the United States," said Rep. Jerry Sadler of Pecos in a final plea for passage of the bill.

Rep. Bob Wheeler of Tilden, opposing the measure, told the house that "by passing legislation such as this we are unwittingly aiding the Communists."

Earlier today the house voted overwhelmingly to suspend all rules necessary to speed final passage of SBI and SB2, another segregation bill.

The troop-school bill was the basic reason given by Daniel for calling the second special session, now in its 14th day and perhaps nearing adjournment before Thanksgiving.

The House refused 81-56 to remove a controversial section from the Senate bill which would guarantee that state aid would continue for a closed school in order to finance "out-of-classroom instruction."

"If we change this bill we might not get home in time to hang up our stockings for Santa Claus," Sadler warned. "All we want is

SPUTNIK II AND ROCKET ARE SPOTTED BY 'MOONWATCHERS'

Sputnik II and its companion rocket fragment from Sputnik I whizzed high over Big Spring Monday evening under the watchful gaze of 16 members of Big Spring's Satellite Observers Corps.

The first Russian satellite experiment, appeared in the northwest at 6:32:43 and swept across the skies about 60 degrees above the horizon, disappearing in the east at 6:35 p.m.

J. T. Clements, vice chairman of the corps, said that the satellite was bright — he estimated it equal to the magnitude of Venus — with a slightly reddish tint. It was sighted by the observers without optical aid and only one telescope of the observers unit setup was trained on it. The satellite was easily followed by the observers.

The second satellite — which was the artificial moon itself — made its appearance at 6:47:07. It was as bright as its predecessor but had a yellowish cast where the first was red. It tracked a course northwest to southeast high enough into the heavens that it was almost directly overhead the observers.

Observation of this object was entirely without optical aid. A radio tuned to the Navy Observatory provided time to check the instant the satellites appeared.

E. B. McCormick, chairman of the observers unit, immediately wired the details to the Smithsonian Institute.

The Moonwatch team has been alerted to be at its post on the Howard County Junior College campus on Wednesday evening. The team is asked to be on hand at 5:30 p.m. The schedule for that date is earlier than last night.

Burglars Get Little Loot In Five Raids

Five burglaries, four of which are known to have occurred last night, were being investigated by police and sheriff's deputies this morning.

Establishments raided by the Jet Drive-In Theatre concession stand, Otis Grafe gravel pit plant at the end of 11th Place, Grantham Bros. Implement Co., 804 Lamesa, and Gandy's Creamery at 408 N.W. 8th.

The other burglary was at the National Guard Armory west of town. It is not known if this occurred Monday night or earlier.

Relatively little loot was netted by the burglars for all of their activity.

At the Jet Drive-In, the burglars gained entrance by opening a 12 by 14 inch ventilator. They took a cigarette vending machine out of the stand, broke off the upper portion containing the cigarettes and the cash. The lower portion was left at the theater.

Amount of money and cigarettes stolen could not be immediately ascertained. Nothing else appeared to have been disturbed by the thieves, said Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff.

At the Grafe Sand and Gravel plant, the burglars entered a tool shed, pried the lock off a gasoline storage tank and took an undetermined quantity of gasoline. The owners of the place said the one storage battery is also missing. There was no report of any other damage or prowling, said Deputies Jack Shaffer and Fern Cox.

A screwdriver stolen from the implement firm during the night was used in another burglary. The second break netted them only $3, however.

Officers learned that Grantham Bros. Implement Co. was entered by a window on the south. The only thing taken was a large

Rocket May Fall Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The final-stage rocket that launched Sputnik I, history's first man-made satellite may make a flaming plunge to its death next Sunday, Dr. Fred L. Whipple director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said today.

Dr. Whipple said Sunday is the most likely day, although it may be a day earlier or a day later.

The calculations were based on new moonwatch sightings reported last night and the day before from more than 65 stations in the United States. The new calculation advances the expected day for the death of the Russian rocket by more than a week. The observatory had originally estimated it to be within the period of three days either side of Dec. 11.

Dr. Whipple said the rocket should burst into flames when it hits the denser atmosphere about 35 to 40 miles above the earth and will make a spectacular sight if the final plunge comes at night.

Since the low point of the rocket-satellite's orbit around the world is in the Northern Hemisphere, there is a greater possibility that it will fall in the upper half of the world, Dr. Whipple said.

U. S. observers have an excellent opportunity to see the rocket-satellite after sunset tonight, and for the next two or three days. Tonight's third passage begins near Bellingham, Wash., about 6:48 p.m. (CST) passes near Boise, Idaho, and Gallup, N.M., and leaves the country near El Paso at 6:53, (CST).

'Agri-Business' Meetings Are Set Here, At C-City

Two days of "agri-business" conferences, to be held next February in Big Spring and Colorado City, were approved Monday by representatives of the two communities, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the T&P Railway Co.

The meetings will be held either Feb. 17-18 or Feb. 20-21, depending on when speakers will be available, said Wayne Smith, local Chamber of Commerce president.

Agricultural department of the T&P Railway Co. is to provide the speakers. C. B. Senter, department manager, said they probably will be Ty Timm, agricultural economist at Texas A&M College; J. C.

Porter, vice president of the First National Bank in Wichita Falls; C. B. Spencer of Fort Worth, educational director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers Association; and Paul Marion, who is on the staff of the U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station at Spur.

Chambers of Commerce in Big Spring and Colorado City will serve as hosts for the conferences and will serve barbecue luncheons. Farmers from throughout the area will be invited.

Topics to be covered include cattle feeding, preparation and use of ensilage, cotton breeding and production, grain sorghum production, the agricultural outlook and agriculture finance.

Dulles Sitting In For Ike In Talks With Morocco King

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles reviewed North African problems for two hours today with the King of Morocco and said their initial talk went "very well."

Dulles, who was substituting for the ailing President Eisenhower, told newsmen one and possibly two additional such conferences will be held before Mohammed V leaves Thursday.

"It was a preliminary friendly review of problems of mutual concern," Dulles said after escorting the King through the White House lobby to his waiting limousine.

Problems due to come up for major attention included the future of U.S. air bases in Morocco, the amount of U.S. assistance to the North African nation, and the King's hopes for an end to the two-year-old battle between French and Algerian rebels.

Dulles told reporters he had not seen Eisenhower today.

He did not reply when asked whether he intended to give Eisenhower a personal report on his conversation with the King.

The site of the Mohammed-Dulles meeting was the White House Cabinet room.

In a dinner toast last night, Vice President Nixon lauded the 48-year-old Moroccan ruler as "a great statesman" for his efforts to turn his nation into a bridge between the Arab countries and Europe.

On behalf of Eisenhower, Nixon presented the Legion of Merit to the Moroccan King and read Eisenhower's citation, which said of Mohammed: "No friend of the United States has shown himself more dedicated to the perpetuation of peace, and more perceptive of the necessity of safeguarding the ideals of all peaceful nations."

The King responded that his state visit and conferences "will further strengthen confidence and respect between our two peoples and open the way to a close and fruitful cooperation."

The Mohammed-Dulles talks seemed likely to focus mainly on three issues—the future of five American military bases in Morocco, the amount of American aid and the King's hopes of ending the battle between French forces and Algerian rebels.

Top American authorities were reported confident that during his three-day stay the King would give solid assurances of continuing long-term leases on the U. S. bases originally negotiated with France in 1950.

In return, Mohammed was expected to press for stepped-up American economic aid, and possibly military assistance, to back up the help the French government has pledged for his newly independent land.

He was understood to be eager to win American assurances that technical as well as development assistance would be substantially increased over the 20-million-dollar level maintained last year.

Dr. Whipple said Sunday is the most likely day, although it may be a day earlier or a day later.

The Pilgrims: Some Saints, Servants, One Was Hanged

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP News Features
Did your ancestors come over on the Mayflower?
So many people make the claim, especially around Thanksgiving, when imaginations—like waistlines—are apt to grow expansive, that one would think the sturdy 180-ton vessel was the size of the Queen Elizabeth and the USS Forrestal welded together and loaded like a troop transport.
Actually, the Mayflower was pretty well packed, but only 102 passengers set out from Southampton, two were born and two died at sea, and of those landing at Plymouth in 1620, less than half survived the first winter.

In the interest of settling Thanksgiving arguments before they arise, the original passenger list of the Mayflower is hereby printed. If you can claim descent from any of these families, then you can rightfully call yourself a true red blooded—but not a blue blooded—American.
"PILGRIM" MODERN TERM
There were no bluebloods among the Pilgrims who alighted on Plymouth Rock. In fact, the term Pilgrim did not come into use until the early 19th Century and it is doubted if the Mayflower passengers actually used the famous rock as a stepping stone to history.

Only 41 of the 102 colonists came to the New World for religious reasons. These were called Separatists, or more properly, Brownists, followers of Robert "Trouble church" Browne, a famous dissenter from the Church of England. They referred to themselves as "saints."
The rest of the Mayflower complement was made up of "strangers," mostly members of the Church of England who came from London and southeast England and were hired by the Merchant Adventurers, sponsors of the voyage, to settle in the colony. Myles Standish, John Alden and Priscilla Mullin, three of the most famous Mayflower passengers, thanks to Longfellow, were numbered among the strangers.

Before puffing up your chest too much at the thought of being a Mayflower descendant, you might remember that there were no aristocrats, no bankers, no lawyers or college professors among the Plymouth settlers. Their ranks included 18 indentured servants and such occupations as tailor, blacksmith, cooper, weaver, hat maker, soldier and sailor.
FIRST HANGING
One of the colonists, John Billington, was hanged in 1630 for killling John Newcomen with a blunderbuss, and his wife, Ellen Billington, was fined five pounds and made "to sit in the stocks and be publicly whipt" for slandering Deacon John Doane. Gov. William Bradford called the Billingtons "one of ye profanest families amongst them."

Another colonist, Isaac Allerton, was forced to leave Plymouth in disgrace for shady dealings as business agent. Edward Dotey and Edward Leister, both indentured servants, had the distinction of fighting Plymouth's first duel almost as soon as the Mayflower landed, for which they were "tied together heels and heads."
These incidents notwithstanding, the Mayflower voyagers managed to write a glorious record of industry, self government and ability to get along with the Indians in the New World and their names are worthy of being remembered.

Another Switch On Tax Returns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Switching signals again, the Internal Revenue Service now says taxpayers may ignore the line on their 1957 income tax returns which calls for their business expense accounts.
But the announcement yesterday by Commissioner Russell C. Harrington emphasized that the decision "does not change the long-standing rules which the revenue service has been following with respect to substantiation of deductions when a taxpayer's return is audited."
The law has required since 1921 that the money an employe draws on his expense account be listed as income. He then is allowed to deduct his actual expenses. But the law has been regularly ignored, especially by small taxpayers whose reimbursement only equaled their expenses.
These expenses and deductions were supposed to have been listed on a separate sheet. Then last month the service disclosed that the 1957 forms—which taxpayers will get early next year—call for the totals on the returns themselves. This was done to make it easier to check on big expense accounts in which there may be some tax fraud, but the law made it applicable to expenses of any amount.
Harrington said the decision to ignore the change in the tax form for 1957 was made because the addition of the new line was not made public until after 10 months of the tax year had already gone by. Thus, he said, it had a retroactive effect.

Chapel Burns At Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE (AP)—A flash fire destroyed Behrens Chapel at Hardin-Simmons University Monday with the loss estimated at $250,000.
Many band instruments were lost but music which the school's famous Cowboy Band will use on a tour of Iceland during the Christmas holidays was saved.
University Vice President Truett Walton estimated the damage. The fire was believed to have started in the southwest corner in the hallway. No one was in the building at the time.
The loss also included dramatic department furnishings, scenery and lights. The band instruments were in the chapel, where the band practiced.

Pope Okays Halt Of Reanimation

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII says a doctor may halt artificial respiration and other methods of reanimation in certain cases if the patient's family desires.
He spoke yesterday to several hundred doctors and anaesthetists at an audience in Consistory Hall.
The Pope said the family might feel the attempt at reanimation "constitutes for the family a burden which in conscience they cannot accept."
This would not be euthanasia, or mercy killing, "which would never be legitimate," the Pope said.

DA Convinced Gein Grave Story True

WAUTOMA, Wis. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen says excavation of two graves convinces him that Edward Gein actually did raid cemeteries for parts of nine bodies found in his farm home. Wausara County authorities reopened two graves in the Plainfield Cemetery to check the story of the 51-year-old bachelor. Gein, who is undergoing 30 days of mental observation, admitted killing two women and robbing the graves of nine other women. He is charged with first-degree murder in the death Nov. 16 of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a hardware store operator. He also admitted killing Mrs. Mary Hogan, a tavernkeeper, Dec. 9, 1954. Authorities opened the graves of Mrs. Eleanor Adams and Mrs. Mabel Everson, both buried in 1951. Their names were on the list of women whose graves Gein said he looted. Mrs. Adams' casket was empty. The other coffin also was empty, but Kileen said a few bones and a small prying bar were found in the dirt above the empty casket. "As far as I am concerned, the opening of these two graves verifies Gein's story," Kileen said. "I won't open any more if I can help it." He said any further excavations will be "a state matter," adding that if Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck "believes that opening the others is necessary, we will open them all. This deal is

Daily Oil Average Production Rises

TULSA (AP)—Daily average production of crude rose 15,475 barrels to 6,838,325 during the week ended Nov. 23, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The Journal estimated 1957 production at 2,250,710,825 barrels compared to 2,338,720,935 barrels a year ago. Other advances were in Arkansas, up 2,650 barrels to 82,750; Colorado, up 2,250 to 147,000; Oklahoma, 1,700 to 571,200; and New Mexico, 50 to 254,350. Louisiana fell 700 barrels to 816,800. Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,721,400 barrels.

British-French Talks Reach An Inconclusive End

PARIS (AP)—British-French talks intended to ease strains on the Atlantic Alliance wound up today—apparently without great success.

British Prime Minister Macmillan told newsmen "I think we have made great progress" but added "of course there are a number of problems for the future."

French Premier Felix Gaillard stood at his side at the Hotel Matignon where the two days of hard talks took place.

Both were almost stony faced. Macmillan made his statement in French and refused to repeat it in English.

Gaillard is to make a report on the talks later to the National Assembly.

At the top of the list of touchy topics they discussed was the recent shipment of British and U.S. arms to Tunisia over angry French protests. The protests exploded yesterday in demonstrations near the U.S. Embassy by about 300 youths. Police broke up the group without trouble.

French anger at the arms shipments—because they fear the guns will be used by Algerian rebels—again turned attention to the three-year-old rebellion in North Africa.

Public sentiment in France would hardly be satisfied with anything short of complete backing for the country's position in North Africa. Complete backing is something that Britain and the United States have not been willing to extend to changing French governments in the face of Arab demands for independence.

French sources indicated that advisers of the two national leaders were weighing Britain's refusal to give Gaillard a pledge on future arms ships.

French informants also said the British reiterated that they had no intention of forming an "atomic aristocracy" with the United States to dominate NATO.

France is not an atomic power. France's Defense Ministry announced, however, that France is now among the world's missile owners. It disclosed two experimental missiles had been successfully fired from the Algerian Sahara Desert to heights of 160 miles at speeds of 3,300 miles an hour.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Artie Starks told officers he believed someone had buried something on a vacant lot near his home. Police dug up 10 cases of beer, still cold. They presumed the beer, $48 worth, had been stolen.

Science Helps In Public Nutrition

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists are thinking up new ways today to help out those who eat what they like or can afford rather than what would be a nutritionally ideal diet. The food and chemical industries are joining hands in the drive.

A newcomer is the fortification of cereal products with vitamins B6 and B12 and the amino acid L-lysine. This is aimed at giving bread and other cereal products a protein content to offset the diet

Tommy Manville Quits 10th Wife

RENO (AP)—Millionaire Tommy Manville and his 10th wife were divorced yesterday. Then they made a date for Thanksgiving dinner.

Former showgirl Pat Gaston, a tall, 27-year-old blonde, obtained a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty. She married him only last May.

She wouldn't discuss her financial settlement from the asbestos heir. Previous divorce settlements have cost him 1 1/4 million dollars.

The Thanksgiving date was arranged when Pat telephoned Tommy, now in his 60s, to thank him for the traditional orchids he sends his wives on divorce day.

Seeks Atom Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) is plugging for assignment to the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy. Hosmer said he wants the committee seat vacated by W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), who resigned from Congress to become an executive of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Stations To Sell For $7,600,000

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Star has contracted to sell its radio and television stations, WDAF and WDAF-TV, to National Theaters, Inc. for $7,600,000.

The transfer still must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

The sale will put the Star in compliance with a federal court order issued Nov. 15 requiring it to divest itself of its broadcasting interests.

The newspaper and its advertising director, Emil Sees, were convicted under the antitrust laws in February 1955 on charges of monopolizing and attempting to monopolize the dissemination of news and advertising in the Kansas City area.

The government also filed a civil action along with the criminal prosecution and it was settled by the consent decree of Nov. 15 which provided for sale of the broadcasting stations.

Fire Burns

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It may be several more days before the devastating fire in Angeles National Forest is brought completely under control, a Forest Service official said today. The fire, now five days old, has eaten up about 25,000 acres of precious watershed northeast of Los Angeles.

Shell Oil Makes Personnel Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—Shell Oil said yesterday three assignment changes were made among executive personnel.

Production Manager R. W. Bond was appointed vice president in charge of the Tulsa exploration and production area effective Jan. 1. He succeeds C. P. Bristol, who will become vice president of the Midland, Tex., area.

J. E. Clark, now vice president in Midland, will move to New York as vice president in charge of production, replacing Bond.

THE BIG M FOR '58... FIRST WITH SPORTS-CAR CONTROL AND THE SOLID, LUXURIOUS RIDE OF A LIMOUSINE

AND FEATURING EVERYTHING NEW FROM SELF-ADJUSTING BRAKES TO A NEW HILL CONTROL

Awaiting you at your Mercury dealer's is a car that, in many ways, makes driving a new experience. Here are four examples:

Big new brakes that adjust themselves automatically!
Mercury's new brakes are self-adjusting for the life of the brake lining. They automatically adjust for lining wear during the course of your daily driving—save time and cost of frequent brake adjustments.

A chime that warns you when you exceed the speed limit.
Mercury offers a Speed-limit Safety Monitor which can be set at any desired speed. A warning chime sounds when this speed is reached—saves having to watch the speedometer.

A power feature that automatically lubricates your car every time you start it.
Mercury offers you power lubrication. It works automatically whenever you start the engine, or push a button on the dash. And each lubrication costs less than one-half cent—cuts down on trips to the service station.

A separate push-button that gives you engine braking on down-hill grades.
All Mercurys equipped with Merc-O-Matic

Keyboard Control have a new Hill Control. Just push a button for the extra safety of engine braking. (Your brakes last longer, too.)

Equally important are Mercury's new road-hugging size and weight—and revolutionary Cool-Power Marauder engines. Teamed with Mercury's wonderful new driving aids, they result in a car that can't be matched anywhere for control, handling ease, performance and comfort.

We invite you to try Mercury's new sports-car spirit with limousine ride. Just stop in at our showroom. See how much more your money buys in a Mercury.

Commission Going Back To City Hall

The City Commission will return to the city hall for its meeting today for the first time in over three months. The commission meets at 5:15 p.m. for its regular bi-weekly session and will gather in the new commission room for the first time. Since remodeling of the city hall began, the group has been meeting in the classroom of the police building. The new commission room is the old corporation court room of the second floor of the city hall. A short agenda is planned for tonight. The commission will consider removal of parking on 11th Place from Goliad to Settles. The matter arose in October when the group considered zoning changes along 11th, but the parking problem was tabled until Furr's could complete its building and parking lot. Trinity Baptist Church would have been knocked out of parking space if the city had canceled parking at that time before the Furr lot was finished. In addition, the group will hear a report from City Manager H. W. Whitney on talks with Cecil Hamilton about operation of Hamilton Field. The city canceled its contract with Hamilton at the airport Nov. 15, but it is being operated until Dec. 1. Hamilton refused the city's offer to rent the airport on a monthly basis. In another matter, a new car will be purchased for the police department. A 1957 Ford will be traded in.

Reports Here On 3 Concerns' Valuation Work

Two cities have already replied to a query concerning tax revaluation surveys, and the city manager said another was to report orally to him. Whitney, city manager and corresponding secretary for the special city-county-school committee studying a possible revaluation survey here, said that two nearby cities, Lamesa and Snyder, had replied to his request about surveys taken recently. The committee is considering three firms, and it asked that the firms be investigated. Whitney last week wrote 16 cities. In addition, the tax assessor from Midland, who was to be in Big Spring today on other business, planned to meet with Whitney to orally report on a survey taken there recently. The committee is investigating jobs done by Pritchard & Abbott of Fort Worth, Erik Ehrenborg of Dallas, and Southwestern Appraisal of Stamford. The Midland job was done by Pritchard & Abbott. Southwestern worked in Lamesa and Snyder. When Whitney hears from most or all of the cities, he will contact Hudson Landers, county commissioner and chairman of the committee, and another meeting of the group probably will be held. Last Tuesday, the committee met and narrowed the field from five appraisal firms to three.

Shallow Wildcat To Be Drilled In Southwest Howard County

A Lamesa operator announced today of a shallow wildcat in the southwestern part of Howard County. The venture, slated for a 3,500-foot bottom is D. O. Huddleston No. 1 Guinn. It is about eight miles southwest of Big Spring and two miles southwest of the Moore field. In Dawson County, Texas Co. No. 1 B. E. Miller found sulphur water on a drillstem test from 11,725-880 feet Monday. It is a wildcat four miles southwest of Lamesa.

ed 138 barrels of 32-degree oil and only a trace of water in 24 hours on potential. It is 1,650 from north and 2,310 from west lines, 121-29, W&NW Survey, 10 miles east of Forsan. It is plugged back to 1,475 feet from 3,050, with production reached at 1,371. Perforations extend from 1,371-376 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 337-1.

Martin

Hunt No. 1 Flynt Ranch, a wildcat 8 1/2 miles northeast of Tarzan, waited on cement today to set surface casing at 327 feet. It is a Devonian test 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 11, League 247, Hartley CSL Survey, and six miles south of the Breedlove field.

Husky-Pano Tech No. 1 Yates, a 12,200-foot wildcat half a mile north of the Husky-Pano Tech No. 1 Breedlove discovery, prepared to run surface casing at 351 feet in redbeds. The wildcat is 10 miles southwest of Patricia, 660 feet from south and west lines, Tract 22, League 263, Kent CSL Survey.

Two miles northeast of Stanton, Plymouth No. 2 Millhollon deepened to 3,606 feet in anhydrite and lime. Location of the Spraberry wildcat is C SE NE, 7-39-1s, T&P Survey. Zapata No. 1 Strain drilled through sand and lime at 7,798 feet today. It is a Devonian wildcat eight miles north of Stanton, C NW NW, 14-36-1n, T&P Survey.

SCIENCE TEACHING

Suggestions Made On School Changes

AUSTIN 26 — Hundreds of suggestions aimed at improving Texas' schools were received yesterday by the Public Schools Study Committee.

Members cited improvement in language and science teaching as one of its main targets. Charles Simons of Dallas told the 24-member study group "a crash-type program in science" is Texas' major need. The group will complete at its Jan. 18 meeting various questions and reports for study by local committees. It set Oct. 1, 1958, as a deadline for its final report which will be presented to the Legislature with suggestions on how to improve schools. Simons, vice president of Texas Midcontinent Oil and Gas Assn., made his statement after Ed Ray of San Antonio called attention to President Eisenhower's appeal for more science students and teachers. The President made the plea in answer to Russia's scientific claims and its launching of satellites. Others questioned the need of education courses for persons who would otherwise be qualified as teachers, but cannot do so without a teachers' certificate. Created earlier this year by the Legislature, the committee said it aimed for reports in these four fields: Program — Whether the school year should be expanded from nine to 10 months; should schools go on a quarter system, keeping the nine-month schedule but allowing use of school buildings through the year; should districts be reorganized to meet higher standards; what should be taught and at what level. Teacher supply — Should there be merit pay for teachers; how to make the field more attractive; are education courses necessary for a person seeking to become a teacher. Finance — Should the state allow more liberal investing of the permanent school fund; should the distribution of state funds be changed; should direct state grants be made for school building construction. School construction — Are new school buildings "too frilly with excessive accessories" putting an excess tax burden on the public.

IKE ILLNESS

that time pronounced him in excellent health. After last night's state dinner at the White House, Nixon—who escorted Mrs. Eisenhower to the affair—said of the President's illness: "It is exactly what the White House has announced—a chill."

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT The first White House announcement came shortly after 8 p. m. Mrs. Wheaton issued this statement:

"The President will be unable to attend the dinner tonight in honor of His Majesty the King of Morocco. On return from meeting him at the airport and escorting him to the President's guest house the President suffered a chill and the doctors have ordered him to bed."

Mrs. Eisenhower will attend the dinner. The vice president will escort her.

"I will have no further report on the President's condition until the morning." But Mrs. Wheaton did put out a bit more information later in the evening after reporters swarmed her with requests for more. She is sitting in as acting press secretary for James C. Hagerly, who is in Paris making arrangements for Eisenhower's scheduled Dec. 16-18 Paris meeting with the NATO Council.

In Paris, Hagerly said he would start back to Washington late today as scheduled, after a day of conferences with Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO commander.

PREVIOUS ILLNESSES Eisenhower's "chill" freshened memory of the heart attack he suffered in September 1955, and of the intestinal illness which required major surgery in June 1956.

Last January he developed a hacking cough which persisted for weeks. And last June he suffered a severe stomach upset which put him down in bed for a day—and caused a general stock and another stock market slump.

Thieves Take $35 From Local Home

About $35 was taken from a residence here Monday. Vina Corman, 1704 W. 4th, reported the money taken between 1 p.m. and 3:30 Monday night. Taken were two rolls of dimes, plus $5 in dimes from a small box. Another $21 was in a bank, she said.

2 Wrecks Occur In City This Morning

Police investigated two accidents this morning. At 3rd and Scurry, vehicles driven by Daniel Westlund of Odessa and James Johnson, 800 Main, were in collision. Nadine Hodnett, 1001 E. 16th, and Elizabeth Johansen, City Park, collided at 16th and 10th. Monday, Larry Morgan, 1711 Harvard, was on a motorcycle, when in an accident with a car driven by Beryl Richardson, 122 Mobile, at 16th and Johnson.

Local Firms Bidding On Job At Blackwell

Four Big Spring firms are named on the bidders' list for construction of a cafeteria-gymnasium and remodeling a building for the Blackwell school district. General contractors listed include Pioneer Builders and Jones Construction Co. of Big Spring. The plumbing and heating list includes Tucker Plumbing Co. of Big Spring, and electrical bidders list shows C&D Electric of Big Spring. In all, 17 general contractors, eight plumbing firms and seven electrical concerns are studying plans.

Scrap Iron Missing From Junior College

Officers today were investigating a report of theft of scrap iron from HCJC. The scrap iron was taken sometime Monday afternoon from the welding shop at the Junior College. No value was placed on the lost metal. This morning a junk dealer thought he recognized it when someone brought in a load for sale. Police were checking on it today.

Cancer Unit Makes Plans For District Meet Here

Members of the Howard County unit of the American Cancer Society last night named Mrs. Clyde Angel to serve as host chairman for the district meeting of the organization here next Jan. 14. The group also chose Mrs. H. W. Smith to serve as chairman of the county service committee. She succeeds Mrs. Raymond River. Plans for the annual district meeting, to be held at the VA Hospital, were discussed and the group heard a report from Dr. C. B. Markham on educational activities, such as the showing of

DWI Charge Follows Wreck

Charges of DWI will be filed against Eligio Gutierrez Jr., identified as a resident of San Angelo, as result of a car-truck accident in Garden City at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

It is alleged that the Latin-American rammed his car under the rear of a load of pipe on a truck. A tip had been received by Buster Cox, sheriff of Glasscock County, a few minutes earlier to be on lookout for the man and his car. Gutierrez suffered painful cuts and bruises about the head. He was brought to Big Spring by River ambulance for medical examination. After he had been given emergency treatment he was placed in Howard County jail where he spent the night.

A deputy from Glasscock County took custody of him at 11 a. m. today and returned him to Garden City. The officer said that the car in the accident was practically demolished.

ON HOLIDAY

Highway Patrols To Be Reinforced

If you plan a motor trip on Thanksgiving be advised that it would be most wise to adhere strictly to the rules of the road and to drive according to the legal speed limits. Highway Patrol officers here and across the state have been alerted to be particularly vigilant during the holiday season. Additional patrol officers are to be assigned to duty including officers from the License and Weight and the Motor Vehicle Inspection details. All available men of the patrol will be on full duty assignment. More radar units will be on duty both day and night in an effort to control speed violations which continue to be a major causative factor in rural fatal and injury accidents. Capt. Ray Butler, of the Department of Public Safety, has informed local patrol officers to be particularly vigilant in preventing speed violations, drinking drivers, and all hazards of moving traffic throughout the holiday. The patrol will be augmented in many areas by other law enforcement officials. Butler pointed out that Nov. 24 last year was the blackest day of 1956 in the matter of traffic mishaps. Twenty-nine persons died in Texas on that date from highway accidents. There were 16 accidents in which lives were lost. This year,

Full Insurance Probe Urged

AUSTIN — An Atlanta representative has offered a resolution requesting the House Interim General Investigating Committee to make a full probe of the operations of the Insurance Liquidator's office.

Rep. Abe Mays introduced the resolution and it was sent to the committee on rules.

The resolution said the administrative cost of the office has been "extremely high" and "it has been almost impossible for the stockholders and creditors of these companies in receivership to collect any of their assets or to receive a report of the status of the same."

Mays' resolution also said that "too much time and money have been expended in the liquidation of these companies and undue delay has been caused by the state insurance liquidator."

The liquidator's office is responsible for refunding money to policy holders of companies which have gone into receivership from the companies' valid assets. Liquidator J. D. Wheeler has dozens of such companies under his direction, including U.S. Trust and Guarant and ICT Insurance Co.

Changing Sex

Frank Little, right, 40-year-old scientist and father of three children, poses with his wife at his Rosythe, Scotland, home after telling a news conference that he is changing sex. He said he would continue his work as chief of an electronics research team and will live with his wife "as a sister" to keep their family together. He will dress as a man to meet official requirements, he said, but the rest of his life will be lived as a woman.

Southern Demos Will Vote On Rights Nominee

WASHINGTON — Southern Democratic senators were assured today of an opportunity to vote on President Eisenhower's choice of Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White to head the new Civil Rights Division in the Justice Department.

The White House announced that Eisenhower will give White a recess appointment to the new post. White, 51, now is in charge of legal counseling for the department. He told newsmen he might be sworn in for the new job next week.

Anne Wheaton, associate presidential news secretary, said White will resign from his present position and that he will be nominated formally for the new post when Congress reconvenes in January.

This scotched speculation that since White already had been confirmed as an assistant attorney general, Eisenhower might shift him to the new job without sending a nomination to the Senate.

Such speculation brought an angry protest during the weekend from Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) who staged a record one-man filibuster in an unsuccessful effort to block passage of the civil rights bill in the last Senate session.

Mrs. Wheaton said both Eisenhower and White felt the appointment should be considered by the Senate because of the importance of the job.

Nominations of this sort are handled by the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), an avowed foe of civil rights legislation.

There have been reports that White had a hand in the legal work leading up to Eisenhower's moves in the integration dispute at Little Rock, Ark. Southerners have strongly criticized Eisenhower's action in sending federal troops to Little Rock to enforce court-ordered racial integration in that city's Central High School.

Questioned by newsmen about his basic philosophy on civil rights White told newsmen he does not think "it would be proper to go into this at this time," adding: "I think the Senate Judiciary Committee has the right to ask the questions and get the answers first."

White said Budget Bureau plans for the new Civil Rights Division provide for a starting force of about 60 persons, half of them lawyers.

A Philadelphian, White was named U.S. attorney for eastern Pennsylvania in August 1953 and became an assistant attorney general last March.

Marine Acquitted On Cruelty Count

YOKOSUKA, Japan — A U.S. Navy court-martial today found Alabama Marine Sgt. Tommy G. Flint innocent of charges of cruelty to U. S. prisoners in a Navy brig.

A five-man officers' board cleared Flint, 23, of Silas, Ala., of four counts of maltreatment after the accused Leatherneck admitted yesterday he roughed up two sailors and a fellow Marine "to try to run a better brig."

Flint, former warden at the Sasebo naval jail in south Japan, was one of 16 Marine ex-guards charged with maltreatment and facing court-martial. He told the court roughing up inmates was standard brig policy.

The court gave no explanation of its verdict or how Flint's acknowledgment of rough treatment was considered in the decision. The court-martial officer, Marine Lt. Col. John P. Newlands, Los Angeles, declined to comment.

Flint had testified the brig officer, Capt. Milton C. Kramer, Harvey, Ill., was aware of the situation. He said Kramer told him, "I know what's going on here. If it is going on, don't let me know about it." Kramer denied the testimony from the witness stand.

Two sailors and a fellow Marine testified they were beaten by Flint. They were Jon J. Taylor, 19, Phoenix, Ariz., rookie Marine; Seaman Carlos E. Vota, 18, Amarillo, Tex.; and Seaman John Reed, 19, Cleveland, Ohio.

Flint's civilian defense lawyer, Frank H. Scollins of Tokyo, contended in final arguments that the prisoners in the brig were "juvenile delinquents. They have to be straightened away in order to understand regulations. Law and order means nothing to them."

"That's all Flint was trying to do—to instill discipline into these prisoners."

Six men have already been tried by summary court-martial on the charges, and four convicted. Seven others besides Flint are to be tried by stiffer special courts-martial and two face trial by general courts, the strongest the Navy can call.

Princess' Displays Of Independence Stir Palace Talk

LONDON — Buckingham Palace informants today described as nonsense reports published abroad that Princess Margaret has made a tearful new appeal to Queen Elizabeth for permission to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Sources at the royal court suggested similar reports could be expected in anticipation of Townsend's expected return to Europe. Some informants here expect Townsend to visit London again within the next several weeks at the end of a round-the-world trip which he started after Margaret renounced him two years ago.

A London paper said displays of independence by Margaret were causing a stir in Buckingham Palace.

The Sunday Express reported that Margaret is determined "to establish that not only is she a princess but a woman of personality in her own right."

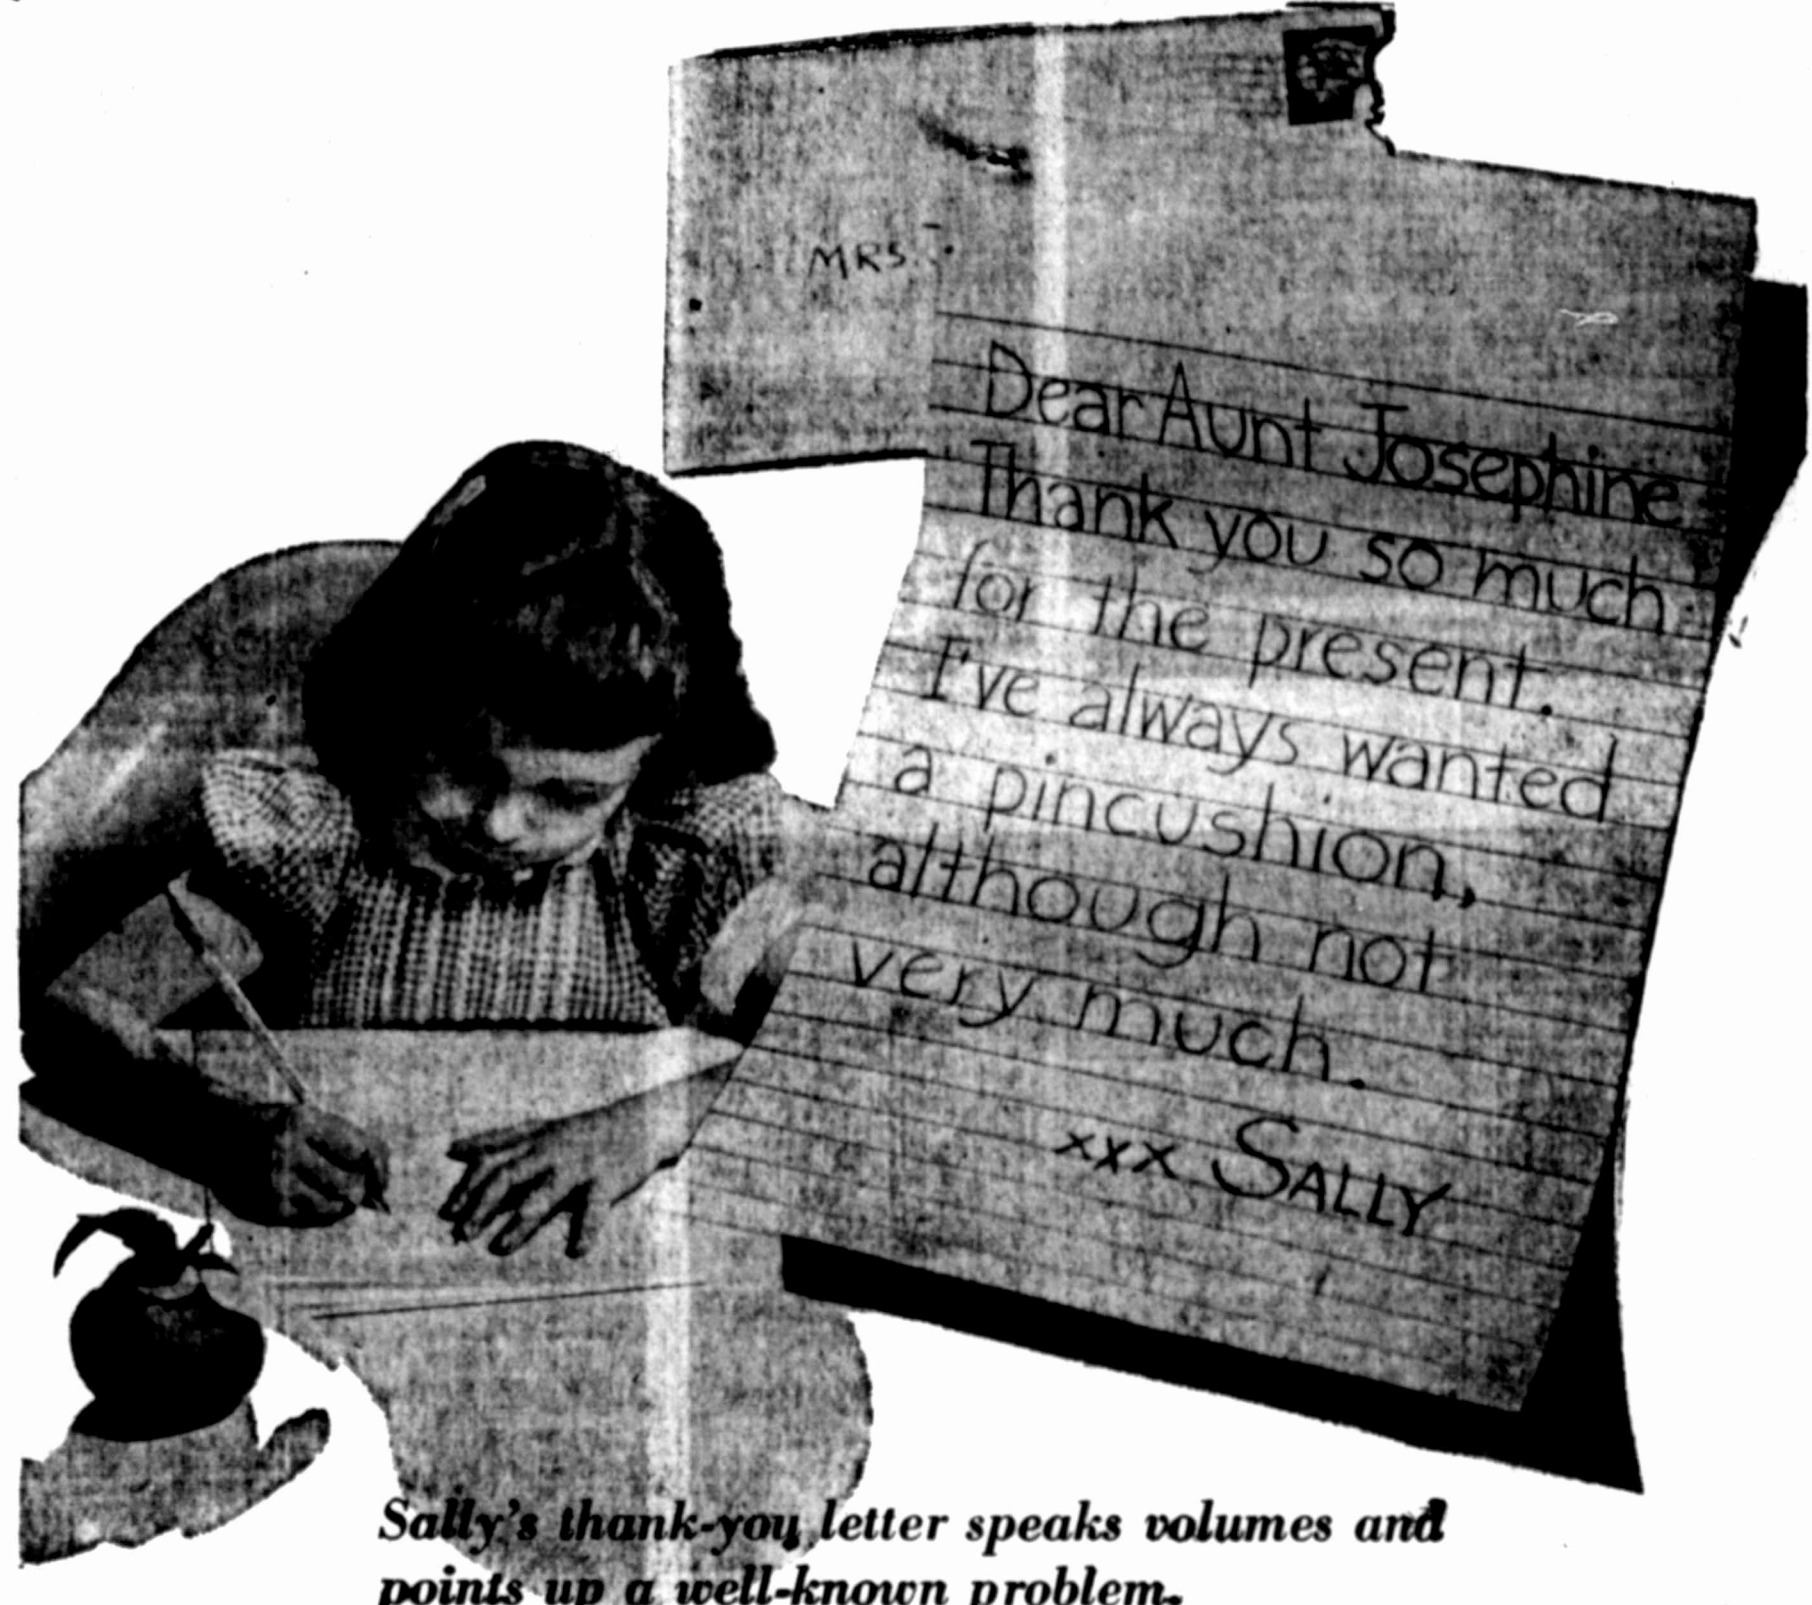

The newspaper said the princess shocked Queen Elizabeth II by going out on the town last Wednesday instead of staying at the palace to celebrate the 10th wedding anniversary of the Queen and Prince Philip. Other close relatives attended the palace party.

Margaret was invited but changed her mind at the last minute, the Express said. Instead, the Queen's vivacious 37-year-old sister went to the theater with friends and then dined at the fashionable Savoy Hotel.

She showed up at the palace just before the party ended.

The Express gave this account: "Her midnight arrival at the anniversary party came as a particular shock to the royal family when they found that, in addition to going to the theater, she had gone on to supper, and that she had gone to a public restaurant for this."

Margaret failed to attend the royal showing of "Les Girls" two weeks ago with the Queen and Prince Philip, despite the fact that she reportedly had no other engagement. She saw the movie last Thursday with her own friends.

Sayre JC Vies With Hawks

An easy winner its first time out of the chute, the HCJC basketball team hosts Sayre, Okla., JC in its second game at 8 o'clock tonight. Early callers can catch a scrimmage between Coach Harold Davis' B team and Big Spring High School. That one goes on around 6 p.m.

Sayre is making its first trip to Big Spring in several years and is a new outfit, from the coach on down. Rene Huckaba is in his first year as mentor of the Yellow Jackets and his club will be making its first start here. Huckaba informed Davis via telephone yesterday he would bring ten boys here, including two regulars back from last season and four lettermen, in all.

The Jackets aren't very tall. Their biggest starter is Dudley Freeman, 6-3, from Bram, Okla. Others who will probably open for Sayre include Flip Cosby, 5-8, Grandfield, Okla.; and Ronald Winn, 6-2, Sayre, both of whom were regulars last year; Jerry Williams, 5-11, Butler, Okla.; and Billy Pitts, 5-11, Rosemont, Okla. Another letterman who will accompany the Oklahomans here is John Gambill.

Trotter foe

Bill Scott, 6-2 Tennessean, will be in the lineup of the Washington basketball club which faces the famed Harlem Globetrotters in the high school gymnasium here Thursday night. Action starts at 7:30 p.m. Admission prices are $2 adult and 50 cents student.

UCLA Footballer Goes To Pokey

LOS ANGELES — While his teammates got heroes' welcomes at UCLA yesterday for a 20-9 victory over Southern California, guard Clint Whitfield was starting a three-day jail sentence for speeding.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
MURRAY WARMATH, Minnesota coach: "Running the ball when it is fourth down in midfield and a yard to go is one of the most foolish plays in football. If you go for it and make it you have not gained much. If you go for it and miss you are in trouble. You have given up the distance of a punt, you have given your opponent real encouragement and shaken the confidence of your own team. I've checked this and I've learned that the team which tries and fails in this situation almost always is scored on as a direct result, whereas the team which tries and succeeds in making a first down does not, in consequence of that, go on to score very often."
BOWDEN WYATT, Tennessee coach, on why he doesn't junk the single wing formation: "I'll change when I'm convinced I'm riding a slow mule."
TRIS SPEAKER, all-time baseball great: "Ted Williams is the outstanding hitter in baseball history. I can't rate Ty Cobb. I'm speaking of hitters with extra-ordinary power. Cobb bunted too often, and legged too many hits to be among the great hitters. I was in that class, too."
THE BOXING AND WRESTLING magazine: "Probably the most under-rated fighter in the world today is lightweight champion Joe Brown. He is a real pro, which means he can control and make the other fellow do what he wants him to do. Brown has the knack of making an opponent look good when he wishes him to and like a novice when he calls it that way."
AL MILCH, Big Spring coach: "What a shame Danny Birdwell doesn't have another season of eligibility. I think he'd be the finest lineman ever developed in the Southwest. Danny never gave us a bit of trouble. He hustled, and he always stayed in shape. And his attitude was the best."
WADE WALKER, Mississippi State coach: "I was fortunate to play on a good football team in college (Oklahoma), and they told us a champion was ready every week. Sometimes, it was real hard, I assure you."
JOHNNY LUJACK, former Notre Dame gridder: "The Oklahoma teams with Billy Vessels and other greats rank with the best football teams of all time. And Oklahoma can always come up for the real big game. . . . But playing a Big Ten schedule can't give a hurt player time to rest his injuries. There's always a tough game coming up next week. There is a similar schedule situation in the Southeastern Conference and in the Southwest. Oklahoma often has three weeks to get ready for a big game, and sometimes ten."
DUKE SNIDER, Los Angeles outfielder: "I don't care if they never build a ball park in Chavez Ravine. I've only played a couple of games in Wrigley Field, but I still remember those short fences."
JON ARNETT, former USC star back, now a Los Angeles Ram: "Pacific Coast football will have been ruined by the failure of educated men to resolve a few simple problems that any ditchdigger would work out in his lunch hour. All because of the sickening hypocrisy on the part of the leaders in the PCC, some kids have been publicly embarrassed and made to look like cheap crooks. . . . their college lives have been messed up and their families humiliated."
Sports writer JIMMY CANNON, after hearing that Sugar Ray Robinson—like Henry Armstrong and Jersey Joe Walcott—had decided to "go into business with the Lord": "If he has, the Lord will be vice-president of the company."

Spokane, Wash. May Get Angel PC Franchise

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League may be playing in Spokane next season if the local governmental "angel" can be found with $200,000 or more to fix up the baseball park here. Mayor Willard Taft and a six-man committee started looking today for some way to get the money after Dick Walsh, president of the Los Angeles club, indicated the Angels were ready to move here. The committee agreed at the outset the cash would have to come from the city, the county or a combination of both, that "private enterprise" couldn't do it. "No matter what, don't let this opportunity pass," said Clyde Perkins of the Portland Beavers, president of the PCL's Realigning Committee. "It may not come again."

Three Shutouts In Mixed Loop

Team 5 bowled over Cauble's Garage, 3-0; Park in shut out Nutt Drive Inn, 3-0; Team 1 smacked Dibrell's Sporting Goods, 3-0; and Hester's Office Supply lashed Mitchell Van and Storage, 2-1. In Clover Mixed bowling league competition here earlier this week, Team 5 racked up scoring honors with 956-2831 while Park in was second with 954-2794. E. B. Dozier of Team 5 had a 229 game high among the men. White of Park in registered a 219 for runnerup laurels. In total scoring, Harold Brown of Team 5 fashioned a 891 while Norman Kelly of Nutt Drive Inn posted a 599.

Cellar Dwellers Upset Leaders

Cellar-dwelling Gillihan's rose up to swat the pace-setting Carlos Restaurant team, 3-1, in feature play in the Webb Chicks bowling circuit at Clover Bowl last weekend. In other matches, Coker's Restaurant won over Fireball Muffler, 3-1; while Continental Trailways played a 2-2 tie with the 7-Up Bottlers. Seven-Up and Continental shared scoring honors, getting 689-1891 and 689-1924, respectively. Marie Raughley of Continental had the top aggregate of 516. Wilma Shepherd of Seven-Up posted 195-504 while Lois Shaben of Continental registered a 189.

Rice Is Favored To Wind Up In Cotton Bowl Jan. 1

By The Associated Press
The confusing Southwest Conference football picture gets cleared up this weekend and the odds-makers have it Rice will go to the Cotton Bowl, Texas A&M will tie Rice for the championship, and SMU will have a good chance at a bowl bid. A&M is a 74-point choice over Texas at College Station Thursday. A victory will clinch a tie for the championship for the Aggies. But Rice is a 9-point pick over Baylor at Houston Saturday and if the Owls win, they get the Cotton Bowl bid by virtue of their victory over the Aggies. If they lose and the Aggies win, A&M gets the championship and the Cotton Bowl game. TCU Coach Abe Martin said the workout Monday was "very encouraging." Center Jim Oze and Bobby Murray, guard Cecil Carter and quarterback Hunter Enis, who missed the Saturday game with Rice, returned to practice.

Auburn Assumes Lead In Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. The Associated Press
Auburn, unbeaten and untied Southeastern Conference leader, advanced to the top of the national football rankings today in the season's semifinals Associated Press poll as Michigan State fumbled away its hold on first place. The defensively stubborn Plainsmen from Alabama, a close second a week ago, polled 1,850 points on the ballots of 227 sports writers and broadcasters. Michigan State, leader by only nine points a week ago, dropped third after a fumbling performance against Kansas State last Saturday when Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Big Ten champions moved into second. The national college football championship will be decided next week in the final Associated Press Poll. Since the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy was retired by Oklahoma last year, The Associated Press will present a new championship trophy, to be held by the team designated as champion in the final poll. Only one of the three top contenders for the championship is scheduled to play this week. Auburn, an easy 29-7 winner over Florida State Saturday, takes on its old rival Alabama, in the season-ending game. All three ranking teams from the Big Ten—Ohio State, Michigan State and Iowa—completed their regular seasons last week. The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:
1. Auburn (85) 1,850
2. Ohio State (65) 1,769
3. Michigan State (41) 1,713
4. Texas A&M 1,370
5. Oklahoma (8) 1,212
6. Iowa (7) 1,130
7. Mississippi (6) 967
8. Navy 799
9. Rice 384
10. Army 349

THIS EVENING

Forsan Buffaloes To Host Coahoma

FORSAN (SCI)—Boys' and girls' basketball teams representing Forsan open their 1957-58 season here tonight in games with Coahoma. The girls' game starts at 7 p.m. Probable starters for the boys are Thomas Willis, 6-2; George White, 6-1; Charles Skeen, 5-11; Kenneth Ruffner, 6-3; and either Milton Bardwell, 5-8; or Roy Newsum, 5-11.

Abner Haynes Wins Grid Rushing Title

DENTON (AP)—Abner Haynes makes North Texas State's football prospects for 1958 quite bright. Haynes, first Negro to play on a senior college team in Texas, wound up the season last week as the night that McMurry 14-7 and he took the ball-carrying championship of the Missouri Valley Conference with it. The 160-pound sophomore from Dallas rolled up 639 yards on 112 carries—an average of 5.7. But he's not just a runner, Coach Odus Mitchell found him great on defense—so good the opposing team quit trying to complete passes in his territory. And they also tried to kick away from Haynes because he averaged 39.3 yards taking back punts. The secret of Haynes' success is that he's quick, Mitchell says. Not a speed demon, but quick with his feet, with his hands, with his whole body.

Luis Chavez Scores First Round TKO On Fight Night

By BOBBY HORTON
Over 200 spectators viewed the ten bouts reeled off in the Steer Gymnasium last night, climaxing Physical Education fight activities sponsored by the Key Club. Robert Fritchard, weighing in at 109 pounds, won over Leslie Connor, 101, in the flyweight division to begin the evening's action. Luis Chavez, bantamweight contender, came through with the only technical knockout over Joe Rodriguez. Chavez, at 115, stunned the two-pound-under Rodriguez with a right smash to the jaw. Referee Pete Jenkins stopped the bout late in the first round. In the featherweight division, judges Hugh Hamm and Sam Bell gave a three-round decision to 124-pound Viloso Garcia over Freddy Wilson, 126.

Winner By TKO

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Miteff banged out a third-round TKO last night over heavyweight Tony Gagliardo. The enthusiastic crowd cheered on the match between two football mongers, 215-pound giant Danny Birdwell and Knox Pitzer, 208. The muscular couple pounded away, Pitzer charging in low and furiously for body blows, and his opponent taking it slow and easy with steady head jabs. The ring was almost too small for the two, who fought much of the time on the hardwood floor before Referee Jenkins could separate them. Birdwell, showing more stamina, took the decision over Pitzer. Timekeeper was John Yates.

White Second In TD Derby

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—They'll be playing for more than tradition here Thursday when Virginia Tech meets Virginia Military Institute in football's "Military Classic of the South." This 53rd meeting between Virginia's two old rivals was supposed to be the clincher for Tech's fourth consecutive state title and perhaps the game that would give the Techman a chance to replace West Virginia as Southern Conference champ. Instead, it's the big game for VMI—with the Keydets' first unbeaten season since 1920, the conference championship and a bowl bid riding on the outcome. VMI, the state title already in the bag, has suffered nothing worse than a 21-21 tie with Holy Cross through nine games this season. An impressive victory over Tech could push the Keydets into the Tangerine Bowl opposite Mississippi Southern at Orlando, Fla., New Year's Day. The bowl committee announced its list of candidates down to VMI, ranked 17th in today's Associated Press poll, and East Texas State, 18th. A victory would give VMI its first Southern Conference title. The Keydets are 5-0 in league play while West Virginia, the kingpin for four consecutive years, is 3-0.

Admission Prices Are Set For Game

Admission prices for the Baird-Wink Class B Regional football championship here Thursday have been set at $1 adult and 50 cents students, it has been announced. The game starts at 2:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium. The Chamber of Commerce, which is handling arrangements for the game, will provide ticket sellers and takers, arrange to see that the contest is policed, print programs and keep an ambulance at the field. In addition, the CC will give a trophy to the winning team. This will be the final game for each team, since Class B clubs do not advance beyond regional.

Not a speed demon, but quick with his feet, with his hands, with his whole body. The young halfback first claimed attention when he ran for 110 yards as the Eagles nearly upset Oklahoma State.

Winner By TKO

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Miteff banged out a third-round TKO last night over heavyweight Tony Gagliardo. The enthusiastic crowd cheered on the match between two football mongers, 215-pound giant Danny Birdwell and Knox Pitzer, 208. The muscular couple pounded away, Pitzer charging in low and furiously for body blows, and his opponent taking it slow and easy with steady head jabs. The ring was almost too small for the two, who fought much of the time on the hardwood floor before Referee Jenkins could separate them. Birdwell, showing more stamina, took the decision over Pitzer. Timekeeper was John Yates.

White Second In TD Derby

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—They'll be playing for more than tradition here Thursday when Virginia Tech meets Virginia Military Institute in football's "Military Classic of the South." This 53rd meeting between Virginia's two old rivals was supposed to be the clincher for Tech's fourth consecutive state title and perhaps the game that would give the Techman a chance to replace West Virginia as Southern Conference champ. Instead, it's the big game for VMI—with the Keydets' first unbeaten season since 1920, the conference championship and a bowl bid riding on the outcome. VMI, the state title already in the bag, has suffered nothing worse than a 21-21 tie with Holy Cross through nine games this season. An impressive victory over Tech could push the Keydets into the Tangerine Bowl opposite Mississippi Southern at Orlando, Fla., New Year's Day. The bowl committee announced its list of candidates down to VMI, ranked 17th in today's Associated Press poll, and East Texas State, 18th. A victory would give VMI its first Southern Conference title. The Keydets are 5-0 in league play while West Virginia, the kingpin for four consecutive years, is 3-0.

Abner Haynes Wins Grid Rushing Title

DENTON (AP)—Abner Haynes makes North Texas State's football prospects for 1958 quite bright. Haynes, first Negro to play on a senior college team in Texas, wound up the season last week as the night that McMurry 14-7 and he took the ball-carrying championship of the Missouri Valley Conference with it. The 160-pound sophomore from Dallas rolled up 639 yards on 112 carries—an average of 5.7. But he's not just a runner, Coach Odus Mitchell found him great on defense—so good the opposing team quit trying to complete passes in his territory. And they also tried to kick away from Haynes because he averaged 39.3 yards taking back punts. The secret of Haynes' success is that he's quick, Mitchell says. Not a speed demon, but quick with his feet, with his hands, with his whole body. The young halfback first claimed attention when he ran for 110 yards as the Eagles nearly upset Oklahoma State.

Dam Completed

TOKYO (U)—Oguchi Dam, which Japan claims is the world's largest reservoir, was formally completed today in a colorful ceremony. It is 447 feet high and 8 miles long. The 60-million-dollar dam in the northern suburbs of Tokyo can hold 189 million tons of water and supply 990,000 tons of water daily.

Khrushchev Reminds Youths That Party Is Supreme In Russia

MOSCOW (U)—A month after Russia's top military officer was sacked for resisting Communist party controls, Nikita S. Khrushchev warned the nation's lowest-ranking officers not to buck the party.

The Communist party boss spoke at a reception last night for the graduating class of Moscow's military academies, reviving a custom that lapsed with Stalin's death in 1953.

Like Stalin, Khrushchev used the ceremony to remind the young officers that the party is supreme in Russia. He also called upon them to increase vigilance against "the threat of war whipped up by imperialists."

Khrushchev said Marshal Georgi Zhukov was ousted as defense minister Oct. 26 for opposing political control of the army. "The decision of the Central Committee (to expel Zhukov) aimed at a fundamental improvement of party political work in the armed forces," Khrushchev said.

The party boss declared the party is "leader, organizer, educator and main source of power" of the Soviet armed forces.

Khrushchev repeated recent public statements that Soviet armed forces are equipped "with all types of modern arms, including atomic and rocket techniques" and said Russia has launched an international ballistic missile.

"The international situation demands that we maintain the defense of our country on the highest levels of modern military techniques and science," the party secretary said.

"The policy of the U. S. ruling circles," he charged, "is aimed at undermining peace. So long as imperialism exists, a situation of war may arise."

U.N. Chief Has Good Chance Of Easing Mid-East Tensions

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—Diplomats said today U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has a good chance of easing border tensions on his visit to the Middle East and may tackle two other big problems: Palestine refugees and charges that Turkey threatens to invade Syria.

He announced last night he will leave Friday for Jordan and will go to other countries in the area if his one-week schedule permits.

U. N. officials indicated that visits to Damascus, Cairo and Jerusalem may follow the trip to Amman, Syria, Egypt, Israel and Jordan all have been involved in recent flareups threatening a new crisis.

Hammarskjold's decision to go to the Middle East apparently was spurred by Jordan's rejection of U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary as a U. N. mediation officer. Jordan said Sunday it considered Leary biased for Israel and would no longer accept his recommendations. New exchanges of gunfire on Israel's borders with Jordan and Syria also appear to have played a part in the decision.

Shooting was reported on the Syrian-Israeli border yesterday. Israel charged that Syrian troops fired on settlers and on a car near the Israeli village of Dan, close to the area where an Israeli field worker was reported killed Sunday.

Another version came from Damascus. A Syrian military spokesman said a five-man Israeli unit entered the demilitarized zone and fired on Arab shepherds near Daret el Maghaweer. The spokesman said the Israelis withdrew to Dan, but he mentioned no gunfire there.

The latest clashes along Israel's borders with Jordan were touched off by a recent dispute about an Israeli motor convoy which was prevented by Jordanians from passing through Arab territory to Mt. Scopus.

The Jordanians said gasoline carried in the convoy was not allowed in the demilitarized zone. Israel replied that the gasoline is necessary for a generator at Israeli establishments on Mt. Scopus.

Acting as U. N. mediator, Leary informed Jordan of an Israeli claim in the dispute and Jordan immediately demanded his replacement. A Jordanian Foreign Office spokesman said the colonel had shown bias "plainly" (doubtless). Hammarskjold notified Jordan Sunday he still has full confidence in Leary.

Texas Skies Clear Again

By The Associated Press

The weatherman, who dealt to Texas from the bottom of the deck over the weekend, went back to flipping them off the top Tuesday as skies cleared and temperatures rose.

Fair and mild weather was forecast through Wednesday.

Highs Monday ranged from 72 degrees at Childress to 60 at El Paso. Snow that piled 14 inches deep in West Texas melted rapidly under a bright sun.

The Lower Rio Grande Valley narrowly missed a general frost Sunday night which would have seriously damaged the tender fall vegetable crop.

Clearing skies brought predictions of a freeze for most of the lower Valley early Monday. But winds of more than 10 miles an hour helped avert the frost.

The lowest reading was 34 degrees at Rio Grande City and Monte Alto.

Cold weather prevailed over most of the nation early Tuesday with the Eastern Seaboard registering sharp temperature drops as cold Canadian air seeped southward to central Florida.

From Maine southward along the Atlantic Coast, colder weather was recorded at most points. Tallahassee, Fla., went from 70 degrees at midnight Sunday to 47 degrees. At Tampa the chilly air caused a 10-degree temperature drop.

The cold air along the Eastern Seaboard came from an air mass from northwest Canada which Weather Bureau experts said was three days in moving across the country.

The Great Lakes, with many readings below 20, was the coldest section of the nation.

Thanksgiving Will Be Real 'Turkey Day' Here

By SAM BLACKBURN

Big Springers will conform wholeheartedly with the American nation at large on Thursday—in that turkey will form the principal item on nearly every family dining table at the traditional fall feast.

There are numerous good reasons why such should be the case. In the first place, it will be Thanksgiving Day, legendary date when turkey is supposed to comprise the piece de resistance of American menus.

In the second place, there is a plentiful supply of turkeys of the highest quality in the food stores of the town.

And in the third place, unlike many other food items, the price of turkey this year is from 5 to 10 cents per pound less than it was last Thanksgiving. Turkey, according to store operators, is about the best possible of all meat buys—more for your money from every angle.

Stocks of turkeys on hand are mountainous in the food stores. The price is 39 cents per pound for 8 to 12 pound hens—the choice of a vast majority of home makers. Toms, ranging in weight from 14 to as much as 24 pounds are even cheaper—33 to 35 cents a ound. However, more hens are being sold despite the difference in price. There are few families or even family dinner parties where a 24-pound turkey is practical. Cooking, too, poses a problem in many kitchens for such a sizable bird.

Few live turkeys are sold on the local market. Gone, for the most part, is the grim last mile march in the family back yard for a bird who has been a sort of family pet for several weeks. No longer does the master of the house, stern-faced, axe in hand, stalk the big gobbler and bring him down.

Now the mother of the family sizes up the tasteful display of fat, frozen dressed birds on display and the job's done.

Many turkeys have already been bought for the holiday, but stores anticipate that the real rush will develop today and continue through Wednesday.

This year, according to most store men, no demand is being received for a specially prepared "stuffed" frozen turkey which was placed on the local market last year. Sale of this superduper bird was not good and the stores dropped the item from their 1957 list.

Store operators point out that while turkey is still a major item on Thanksgiving and again at Christmas, the American buying public has now developed a habit of buying turkey throughout the entire year.

Hundreds of dressed turkeys are sold here each month—housewives no longer wait until November or December to serve turkey dinners.

Improved processing methods, which guarantee a constant supply of grade A birds the year around is largely responsible for this change in buying trends. Not too long ago, about the only times in the year when one found turkey for sale was either at Thanksgiving or at Christmas.

There is no shortage of turkeys but one store meat department manager said that he had been advised that stocks of 8-pound hens are low and reorders cannot be filled. Most of the stores here, however, stocked heavily in advance and estimates Tuesday were there would be ample to fill all needs.

As to the established accessories which go with turkey dinners—there's plenty of everything. Cranberries, pumpkin for pies, sweet potatoes, oysters, sage and all of the other fixings are abundantly on hand.

State License Renewals Due

All merchants required to hold state operational licenses are reminded to renew these taxes before Dec. 31. E. R. Trego, district supervisor of the comptroller's office, said today.

These taxes are payable at the local comptroller's office, now located in Room 17 of the Acme Building, 5th and Runnels. The office was moved from the 6th floor of the Permian Building in September to the new quarters.

Trego said that all licenses except for sale of cigarettes are renewable annually at the first of the year, and penalties will be added to costs if they are not paid by Dec. 31. Cigarette licenses, though good for only one year, extend from the date of issuance.

Trego added that the local office would accept the fees in any payment form.

As in the case with all state offices, Trego said his office would be closed Thursday.

Big Spring FFA Boys Capture Most Honors In Area Contests

Big Spring Future Farmers of America are home elated over the victories they scored last week in the Leadership competition at Odessa.

Members of the local chapter walked away with first honors in all events in which they were entered.

Modesta Simpson, Big Spring junior high school student, was elected sweetheart of the meeting over seven competing sweethearts.

The Big Spring FFA entered the senior chapter, conducting, farm radio, FFA quiz and Junior Chapter conducting.

Local members won top honors in senior conducting, judged by Dick Weekly, state advisor, Austin, Odessa was second, Ector High also of Odessa, third, Coahoma fourth, Midland fifth, and Stanton sixth.

Big Spring won the junior conducting contest, judged by Billy Bob McMullen, vocational agricultural teacher at Snyder, Odessa was second; Midland third, Ector fourth.

Big Spring took first in farm radio, judged by Raymond Holt, with Stanton in second place, and Odessa in third place.

Big Spring won the quiz contest, with Stanton in second spot, Coahoma, third; Garden City, fourth; Odessa, fifth; and Stanton, sixth.

Midland won the senior farm skill competition—an event not entered by Big Spring boys. Midland also won the junior farm skill contest. Only three teams competed in this event.

School Officials To Attend TSTA Meet

Big Spring City School System closes down for the Thanksgiving holiday at 3 p.m. Wednesday and will not resume class work until 8:30 a.m. Monday, it was announced Tuesday.

7th Graders Hear Thanksgiving Talk

Seventh grade girls Tri-Hi-Y heard an address by Dr. P. D. O'Brien on Thanksgiving at their meeting on Monday.

Twenty-two members were present at the meeting. Social activities for the year were reviewed by the group after Dr. O'Brien had spoken.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent and S. M. Anderson, assistant superintendent, accompanied by Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Anderson, will go to Dallas on that date to attend the annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association.

The meeting will extend through Saturday. It is anticipated that more than 5,000 teachers will be present at the meeting. The conference is held each Thanksgiving holiday.

What Cracked The Roof Ledge?

Two weighty cornice stones which top the roof ledge of the Howard County Court House have suddenly shown a strange tendency to drift. Shown in the photograph is the crack which has developed between two of the blocks on the northeast corner of the building's roof.

CRACK APPEARS

Coping Stones On Courthouse Drift

Curtis Choate, custodian at the Howard County Courthouse, has a mystery on his hands.

Why, he wants to know, are the ponderous cornice blocks which top the roof ledge rim on the northeast corner of the county building pulling out of line?

Choate discovered the problem on Friday. From the ground, looking upward, he noticed that the block on the east side at the north corner was out of line. The portion nearer to the corner was an inch further extended than at the south end of the block.

He climbed to the roof and discovered that a crack more than an inch wide had appeared at the union of the first and second coping blocks on the north wall. There was no cracking in the brick underneath and there is no evidence of any settling of the building.

These two blocks alone have shifted. Each will weigh several hundred pounds and what force could have moved them to the extent now shown has not been identified.

The mortar has fallen out where the widest parting has occurred and the block lacks over an inch of touching its companion to the west.

Choate has reported the matter to members of the commissioners court.

There is no particular danger from the development, it is felt, since neither of the huge stones has drifted far enough to put them in any danger of falling from the height they now occupy.

Choate is more puzzled over what caused the trouble than he is alarmed over any threat it may pose.

A Bible Thought For Today

Blessed is the man that endureth temptation; for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him. (James 1:12)

Any Way Would Be Better

What we have to say won't bring back any cherished family pets nor will it mend the ways of poisoners, but we cannot refrain from deploring a revival of the barbaric practice of putting out poison. Of course there is always the possibility that a baby, whose prime characteristic is putting anything loose in its mouth, might get hold of some bait. The greater likelihood, however, is that the intended victims will lap up the poisoned material. Surely anyone who would stoop to such a means of getting rid of pets has ever watched a cat or dog going through the tortures of strychnine death. The memory of hideous, convulsive effort to shake off a devilish trembling rigidity is something that can't be put aside easily.

Thus, those who distribute poison to pets must do so out of ignorance of its inhumane consequence, or else they must be utterly heartless and spiteful.

We have said before that we can hold no brief for pets that are allowed to inflict damage upon the property and peace of others. But there are better ways to solve the problem than by moving under the cloak of darkness with poison in hand. Anything would be better.

New Shadow Over Tidlands

Part of the political maneuvering that put Texas in the Republican column in 1952 and again in 1954 revolved around state ownership of tidelands. Adlai Stevenson came out flat-footed for federal ownership, Dwight Eisenhower for the states. Well, Eisenhower came across by supporting the tidelands legislation which gave ownership to the states—"within their historic boundaries."

That meant three miles for most states. Under the resolution of Texas' annexation, it meant leagues, not miles, about 10.5 miles.

Now the U. S. attorney general's office has filed suit to define the watery boundaries of the states, and Texas is alarmed, for the suit seeks to fix it at three miles. Governor Price Daniel, then attorney general, and the then Governor Allan

Shivers, led the fight for Eisenhower, re-lying on his promise that the tidelands would be preserved to the states; and Texas' 10.5 miles most of all.

But now Governor Daniel, along with members of the Legislature, are perturbed at the latest federal assault on the tidelands. Governor Daniel addressed the second special session of the legislative body last week in support of a resolution calling on President Eisenhower to keep his promise by calling off his Justice Department dogs. They think he should go all the way to protect his promise that the tidelands would not be molested, and they can see no justice in the President permitting his attorney general to undermine and destroy the President's own solemn word.

Thomas L. Stokes

Sherman Adams' Role Supporting Ike

WASHINGTON—In long observation of politics and politicians, one become familiar with the type known as a behind-the-scenes operator or, if you want to add lustre, "the man behind the throne."

He enjoys power and draws more and more of it to himself unless restrained. He likes it known to those who are under him and carry out his orders how powerful he is, and he likes that fact to get whispered about. But he dislikes to be accused of it publicly, as Sherman Adams has been lately, because someone that spoils the mystery and because it is not entirely complimentary to the man on the throne whom he serves.

We must, therefore, choose to regard it as an excess of modesty, when Sherman Adams, the powerful assistant to President Eisenhower, tries to belittle his authority and denies publicly there is anything such as a "palace guard." On top of that, he said in a speech at the Republican forum in Chicago that he and his staff see that President Eisenhower "is the best informed man in the country today."

We may note, as a sign of these particular times, that in view of adverse developments that have affected the Eisenhower Administration and the President, a suspicion is spreading—openly only in Democratic organs—that the President has not been kept as well informed as he should be. Or else, those who have faith in him inquire, how could we get behind Russia in scientific progress in outer space, and how could the cost of living keep going up and, at the same time, the stock market act up and the economy slow down?

In trying to build up the President as a man who has everything at his finger tips—and how could any President or anybody else do that?—Adams obviously is trying to perform a service for the President and his Administration in its current setbacks and to demean his own importance.

But the effect is to pin responsibility more directly on the President where, of course, it should be pinned. That is the burden that any President must bear, but which our currently popular President hitherto has escaped until things began to go sour of late.

The first time in recent history that the term "palace guard" was used in our government was in the Franklin D. Roosevelt regime. At that time we saw quite a corps of bright young men—and some not so young—who were necessarily busy on the President's chores.

There is, however, a difference to be noted by a close observer of the Roosevelt and Eisenhower eras. President Roosevelt, who was a more confined figure because of circumstances, himself directed the manifold operations of those days, whereas in this Administration Adams directs the corps of helpers in the White House in a more independent manner. There was no single figure with so much power in the Roosevelt Administration as Adams enjoys. It was Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, who ran that show.

He was in the midst of things. President Eisenhower sets himself apart, is more aloof, delegates more powers. He is at the top of a chain of command, so that many things are necessarily weeded out and handled by others without ever getting to him.

That is because the present President wants it that way. His two illnesses also removed him from affairs for a considerable time, and he limits himself on account of health. This is a more passive role, while Franklin D. Roosevelt was more positive, active and creative.

So, too, was Harry Truman, who had an almost infinite knowledge of details of government, domestic and foreign. Both Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman loved their mess. Politics and government had been their whole careers.

So does Adams love his job. Of the men in the White House in recent years, his penchant for details more closely approaches that of Harry Truman.

Do not let anyone fool you, either, including the gentleman himself, that Adams is not a powerful figure. He assumes the power of decision in many matters. And as for Adams' boast, we have found the President uninformed on important matters at his news conferences.

Adams cannot get away with downgrading himself with anybody who is constantly around Congress. Adams' tracks are all over the place, not literally, of course, but through private conversation of those who have been given a hand—or have been thwarted—by the quiet, indefatigable "man behind the throne."

Of him, it truly can be said that on matters of this Administration, it is he who "is the best informed man in the country today."

Frustration

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—It didn't take Detective Ed White long to figure that the burglar who broke into an office was angry.

The would-be robber had cut the hinges off the company's safe, knocked off the knob, beaten the handle and pounded away in general without getting it open.

Then apparently outraged, the thief poured a pot of glue over a typewriter and left empty handed.

How's That Again?

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—When operating manager Howard Erickson of the Nebraska Public Power System learned that a piece of electric transmission line was lying across a railroad track he promptly reported to the railroad in correct power terminology:

"There's a conductor lying across your tracks."

The railroad people, who have a different meaning for the term conductor were considerably more concerned about the report.

Free Show

CINCINNATI (AP)—How about a home with a drive-in motion picture theatre thrown in?

Home owners in one block of the Oakley section of Cincinnati have one just off their back yards.

They complained when the drive-in theatre opened just behind them. Their complaints turned to joy, however, when the theatre operators provided each home with a sound box so they could hear the show as well as see it from back porch or yard.

Time To Share Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas E. Murray wraps up the problem the Eisenhower administration and Congress must face next year and later: What to do about atomic secrets?

Murray used to be up to his neck in those secrets. He was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Now he's consultant to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Expressing his own views in a report to the committee last night he took this position:

The huge blanket of secrecy thrown over nuclear development has all right so long as this country monopolized the field. It doesn't now. Russia is abreast of us for all practical purposes. Now it's time to share secrets with allies.

But not all secrets, Murray said. Not, for instance, those on the huge atomic weapons of annihilation. Murray thinks this country could hold on to them at least four or five years and retain exclusive right to decide when or whether to use them.

But he believes it's time to exchange information with allies on

How To Fool The Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the little things in life that try a man's soul is finding the courage of a sudden conviction or, more precisely, an explanation for his wife.

For example, it is 6:16 p.m., and our hero is out of the office but still downtown enjoying some spontaneous, unplanned relaxation. He has just had two drinks with the boys and the problem now is, not whether he will have more but how to tell his wife.

He moves to the phone uncertainly. How does he tell her? How does he break the lyric news that between the two biggest pressure groups in his life—his office and his home—he has discovered a wonderful world of limbo in which nothing is demanded of him except the courage to linger?

Can he tell the simple truth? He cannot. Not at 6:16 p.m., when in his mind's eye he can see the roast in the oven, the kids fighting over the TV set and his wife desperate for a male bugler to blow taps in the snake pit.

So, what does he tell her? The paradoxical career man — "Isn't it nauseating, sweetie? Eight hours a day, five days a week, the boss doesn't even say hello to me. And now, tonight, he wants to have a conference over a couple of drinks."

The self-diagnosed leper, who is saving humanity from infection — "Look, doll, the whole day has been one long ulcer. I'm in a lousy mood, horrible, just horrible. No need for you and the kids to see me this way. I think I'll stay downtown awhile and."

The exclamation-mark explainer — "You'll never guess who dropped into town! Talk about a small world! Talk about coincidence! Remember the one-armed life guard up at the lake who is so nice to the kids? Well, he's in town! The least I can do is buy him a couple of."

The timid bookkeeper, or cold calculator — "Love, what kind of a day did you have?" Then 10 minutes later: "How awful! You must be exhausted. Why don't you just have a bowl of soup and go to bed now. No, don't worry about my dinner. I'll pick up something in town."

The reverse psychologist — "Look, Ethel, you're simply going to have to do something about our three-party line. I've been trying to get you for an hour, before you fixed dinner, because I'm staying."

The double-reverse psychologist — "You can't know how I envy you. I'll bet you were just putting little Tommy into his crib. I'll bet he was making that funny little noise again. How I wish I could be there! Kiss that freckled nose for me, darling. I won't be able to."

The friend of man — "Lord, I wish people wouldn't pile their troubles on me! Yeah, it's Charley and Jane again. Seems serious this time—Charley even used the word divorce. Insists I meet him tonight for a couple of drinks. Thank Goodness, darling, you have a better understanding."

Around The Rim

All Kinds Of Talent Required

If I were a student in high school today, I would certainly make a desperate effort to qualify myself to become an engineer. You will kindly note—I said I would make an effort to so qualify myself.

In addition to any patriotic motive which might impel me to follow such a course, today's employment picture for the young man or young woman setting out in life is such that the person with technical training in any of the myriad engineering brackets seems most likely to land the best paying job.

However, let's be frank about this thing—not every boy and girl has the capacities to become an engineer. Some of us are just not mentally equipped for that particular profession. And this is not to be interpreted as contending that we are not as intelligent as our companions. Talent in the human mind tends, I sincerely believe, to follow certain definite patterns.

I wonder if a Shakespeare could have been made into an effective Michel Angelo—had the proper push at the right time shunted him in that direction.

Or if Herschel would have been a successful bridge builder had he been shifted from astronomy to construction engineering?

Suppose that Sir Percy Wren had been encouraged to apply himself to physics in his youth and had never been encouraged to try his hand at architecture? Would he have been a great physicist? I doubt it seriously.

Furthermore, let's be quite frank about this thing.

Let us admit that we need technically trained men and women—a great number of them.

But would an army of engineers, regardless of how skilled they may be, be the final answer? Who would finance the laboratories and plants in which they worked? Who would supervise and direct the course of their efforts?

We'll need some business geniuses, I take it—some men and women, not engineers in any accepted definition of the word, who are possessed of that peculiar skill for making big businesses work and pay off.

We'll need other men and women in the role of bookkeepers, policy makers, efficient and practical utilizers of the accomplishments of the engineers.

And, overlooked though they generally are, we will need millions of very ordinary men and women, capable of using their hands and their brains to operate the marvelous machines and devices which the engineers devise.

I contend that all of the finest engineering and technical talent in the world cannot solve the problems of the universe without the colorless and undramatic assistance of these other people.

They say that tomorrow's war, if it comes, will be a "push button" war. They said the last war would be a war of machines with men relegated to secondary position.

Air power, we were told, would crush our foes.

Yet I noticed, as perhaps you did, in the final fading scenes of that conflict, the men who completed the job were very ordinary foot soldiers, slogging through wrecked and battered streets, blasting to silence the last fading opposition of individuals just like themselves on the other side.

Space ships which may soon span the immeasurable wastes between this and other planets cannot be built solely by engineers. There will have to be ordinary folk who have no real talent for engineering but who can efficiently operate a machine, effectively figure a cost sheet or skillfully organize the financial backing which has to be provided for the enterprise. And when these fantastic vehicles of tomorrow roar off on journeys to distant stars they surely will not be manned from stem to stern with no one but engineers.

There'll have to be quite a few fellows along who couldn't define "pi" if you asked them—yet the journey cannot be accomplished without their contribution.

Space need engineers—hundreds and thousands of them. But we must not be deluded into the illusion that we can mass produce such individuals and we must not forget that even if we could, their talents and genius would be useless without an even greater army of strictly "non-engineers" to push the switches, fuel the tanks and write the paychecks.

Don't Bother To Send Cures For Cold

Well, sir, I had it all pinned down, way in advance. Today's column was to be devoted to the wonders and joys of a vacation spent at home, in the old home town, New York City, that is.

I was going to do and chronicle all those things that, for 30 years, I have been forcefully and/or masterfully encouraging visiting uncles, cousins, a sister, a brother, old college chums and assorted out of town firemen to do and see in this endlessly fascinating metropolis.

Let's see: I was going to take that oft-postponed boat ride around Manhattan island that grateful visitors tell me is the best sight-seeing investment in New York. There was to be an expedition to that medieval marvel, The Cloisters (the uptown division of the Metropolitan Museum), to see what new beauties have been added since my last visit 10 years ago.

I planned to renew my acquaintance with the Planetarium, the United Nations, Brass Town, Chinatown and Fourteenth Street, and the most fascinating and diverse shopping center in New York (it's latest emporium is a "Cut-Rate Five-and-Dime," which may or may not be an ominous economic omen).

There was a list of fascinating new restaurants to try, and tickets for half a dozen new plays. And I was going to address the Christmas cards and do all the Christmas shopping. But —

"The best-laid schemes o' mice and men Gang aft' a-gley,
An' lea's us nought but grief an' pain,
For promis'd joy!"

Because a funny thing happened to me on my way to my vacation. I was slugged at the very beginning by an outsized cold. Just an old-fashioned head and chest cold. No virus, no Asiatic flu, nothing new and fancy. Just that curse of mankind known as the common cold that baffles men of science who can do anything except cure sniffles.

So I am right where I started two weeks ago, minus a half-dozen large boxes of paper handkerchiefs and plus a tanker of fruit juice.

The one aspect of the situation that really infuriates is the fact that I have violated one of the cardinal rules of successful employee-employer relations, to wit: Never be sick on your own time! That is just plain insanity, not to mention poor planning and worse timing. What a swindle to practice on one's self!

Now, may I ask a favor of the congregation? Please, ladies and gentlemen, do not send me any sure-fire cold cures, unless 90-proof and bottled-in-bond.

The American people, God bless them, labor under two gigantic delusions. Every man jack of us believes he has (1) a 100 per cent efficacious cold cure and (2) that he is a poet. In my time, I have been snowed under with both. And, on occasion, the two have been combined in a guaranteed cold cure written in rhyme.

Goodness knows, I don't want to hurt anyone's feeling. But I am a connoisseur, at best, and in this delicate state, a sudden onslaught of regional cold cures or home-grown poetry might prove too much.

Decisions Beyond The Armament Race

WASHINGTON—In all matters having to do with cooperation in the use of new weapons, those planning the NATO meeting in December are making much progress, and this is so widely known that in this department there may be nothing to reveal at Paris.

Agreements to put launching sites for intermediate range ballistic missiles in Western European countries are so far advanced as to be all but ready for formal signing.

The way in which specialized tasks are to be shared has been thoroughly explored, with the likelihood that broad agreement can be reached. It may be possible, for example, that ultimately the United States will concentrate on the intercontinental ballistic missile and Britain on the IRBM. The goal is to concentrate and specialize so that each power will not feel that it must have a navy, an air force and every other prestige arm of the military.

NATO will have a stockpile of atomic weapons, and the key to their use will be in the hands of the NATO commander in Europe. The commander is an American, General Lauris Norstad, which should make Congressional approval of this arrangement much easier.

This progress is, in large part, due to the Soviet spunk. The sense of urgency they created has spurred the resolution of differences that have been a drag for months, if not years, on NATO planning.

But what the planners are discovering once again is that it is much easier, in the face of new dangers, to take essential defensive steps than it is to come up with a new and constructive approach on the political-economic side.

And at the same time there is a keen awareness of the need to develop a positive approach above and beyond the arms race. Peoples everywhere, the evidence indicates, are more and more resistant to the concept of the two scorpions in a bottle ready to fight to the death.

The Soviets, in the meantime, go on peddling their peace line — peace, it is hardly necessary to add, on Soviet terms. The immediate danger—and it came close to preventing France—from forming the present government after six weeks of no government at all—is a revival of the "popular front" between Socialists and Communists on the imperative of peace.

Simultaneously, Russia is greatly expanding a program of economic aid and the political penetration that goes with it. In country after country, from India to the new African nation of Ghana, the Soviets are distributing their bets where they believe they will do the most good — in conspicuous projects visible to hungry, barefoot people.

So within the Western community the plaguing question is: How can what was designed as a defensive military alliance, made up of sovereign nations, be expanded into a constructive political and economic union?

At the meeting of the NATO council last December the report of the so-called "three wise men" committee on how to cooperate in non-military ways was presented. That report makes odd reading today, for it spells out—in generalities, at least — many of the prescriptions now being sought in specific terms.

The report called for much closer political consultation so that incidents such as the shipment of American and British arms to Tunisia would not upset the NATO apple cart. It called for consultation on economic problems; it recommended much greater technical and scientific cooperation to improve the quality and increase the supply of scientists and engineers; it urged a closer working agreement in other fields.

Some small steps were taken to carry out these recommendations. But now, in the post-Sputnik era, this is not enough. It is widely realized that a way must be found to pull together all the resources of the Atlantic community.

Helen Hurt Becomes Member Of Staff In Woman's Department

HELEN HURT

Have you noticed a new voice answering the phone when you call the Woman's Department of The Herald? It's Helen Hurt, who joined the editorial staff on Monday.

Miss Hurt, for two years editor of the Big Spring Weekly, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford Hurt, 500 Scurry.

She is a native of Big Spring and was graduated from the local high school. Miss Hurt is a graduate of Texas State College for Women, which is now Texas Woman's University.

Following her graduation, she was in Dallas, where she was associated with a firm of cotton merchants.

Later, she became secretary to E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMWD. During her editorship on the Weekly, Miss Hurt wrote the column, "To the Four Winds," which featured members and histories of local families.

In the spring of this year, she was first place winner in a contest sponsored by the Texas Tech chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, honor society for newspaper women. Her winning entry was a feature based on the gemboxes made by Mrs. Spence.

Miss Hurt is a member of the American Association of University Women, for which she is publicity chairman; she is a member of the First Baptist Church, and is pianist for the Adult One Department of the Sunday School. Miss Hurt is an honorary member of the drama group at Howard County Junior College, which is a chapter of Delta Psi Omega, national honor dramatic society.

'ROUND TOWN

Wm Lucille Pickle

Family gatherings are more fun than anything and Thanksgiving is a good time for having them. There is so much to be thankful for and certainly we should be thankful, among many things, for our families and our friends.

This weekend many Big Spring people will have company in their homes or will visit with friends and relatives in other cities and states.

Arriving Monday morning from Emporia, Kans., were MR. AND MRS. SAM GAGE, who are the parents of Mrs. Carl Benson. They plan to be with the Bensons until next Monday.

This morning MR. AND MRS. J. W. PURQUERON and their three children left for Arkadelphia, Ark., where they will spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McCaskill.

From Colorado Springs, Colo. will come BARBARA ELMORE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Elmore. She is attending X-ray school in a Colorado Springs hospital.

MRS. W. C. HENLEY is expecting her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Henley and Pat of Garland. Pat is a student in Southern Methodist University and plans to bring a college friend along with him.

MRS. ZIRAH LEFEVRE, accompanied by Lorene Mears and Wilma Lane, will leave Wednesday afternoon for Bryan and College Station. They plan to attend the A&M-Texas game with LeRoy LeFevre, who will accompany them home for the remainder of the holidays. Gary Haughland of Galena Park will also be a house guest of the LeFevres.

A guest in the LeFevre home at present is Leroy Bible Jr. of Shreveport, La., who is visiting Zay and Jay.

MRS. OMAR JONES, Larry and Jontaylor left this morning with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parsons for Dallas. The Joneses will continue on to Sulphur Springs to visit Mrs. Jones's mother, Mrs. W. L. Taylor. Mr. Jones plans to join them in Dallas for the SMU-Notre Dame game.

The Parsons are to attend the State Teachers meeting in Dallas.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT CLARK and daughters, Jackie and Barbara, will leave Thursday morning for Plains, where they will spend the day with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Pellusch and daughters.

Guests in the home of MRS. B. L. LEFEVRE Thanksgiving day will be her sister, Mrs. Leon Churchill, LeAnne and Kent, and their mother, Mrs. W. J. Mathews, all of Abilene. Also expected are Mr. and Mrs. John Odom of Midland.

SGT AND MRS. W. L. ROSSER have returned from a visit in San Antonio with their daughter and her family.

CAPT. ALLEN ROBERTSON hopes to be in College Station Thursday for the big game and to give his support to the Texas Longhorns. He plans to continue on to Houston for a visit with his mother before returning here.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY FEHLER will have Thanksgiving guests their son, Gerral Fehler, who is a student at Texas A&M College. Also Mildred Elfert, Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Fehler of McGregor. The group will arrive Wednesday and will return to their homes Sunday.

DR. AND MRS. I. G. WILSON, 610 George, are expecting their son, DAVID, home for the Thanksgiving holidays. David plays freshman football for Texas A&M College. He was all-district fullback in district No. 2-AAAA while attending Beaumont High School. He plays guard for the Aggie frosh.

Speaker, Quartet Heard At Dinner Of Indoor And Good Sports Clubs

A guest speaker, R. L. Tollett, and songs by a male quartet were the entertainment for members and guests of the Indoor and Good Sports Clubs Monday evening. The group met for a Thanksgiving dinner at the Girl Scout Little House.

Chaplain C. O. Hitt of the Veterans Hospital gave the invocation. Dinner was served by members of the Bykota Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church and the Good Sports.

Guests were seated at tables marked with runners of pyraantha berries interspersed with gilded and glittered dried okra pods and gourds, along with small arrangements made with gilded driftwood. Places were designated with cutouts of turkeys as programs.

The speakers table held an arrangement of white carnations and chrysanthemums. On a side table was fashioned a display of colorful garden vegetables, stems of persimmons, pumpkins and grain.

Dollie Ward, president of the Indoor Sports, introduced guests and surgery Monday morning in Baylor Hospital in Dallas. The operation was originally scheduled for Wednesday but was set up on Monday. Mr. Berry is with her. She is in room 405, according to Mrs. G. H. Hayward, her sister.

Thanksgiving may be a sort of homecoming for the family of MR. AND MRS. HOLLIS LLOYD. Mr. and Mrs. James Bostick are bringing their two children from Jefferson City, Mo., where he is in the insurance business. Coming over from Odessa will be the families of Alton Bostick, Bud Bostick, Ernest Bostick; and from Snyder, Horace Bostick. Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Lloyd Jr. may also come down from Lubbock, there they are attending Tech.

MR. AND MRS. J. R. HENSLEY, Handy, Bill and Candy, and Mrs. Hensley's mother, Mrs. H. D. Mual, left Tuesday for Memphis, Tenn. They will be the holiday guests of Mrs. Mual's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Chase. The family will return home Sunday.

presided for the program. She also showed the seals now put out for the club and priced at a penny apiece. This is the first year for the club to use seals for fundraising. Miss Ward told the group.

Members of the quartet included Carl Morris, Keith Brady, Jim Brecker and Bill deHart. Their selections were "Yona From Arizona," "Cecilia" and "Sugar Case Jubilee."

Tollett drew a comparison in life in this country and in Russia, and he reminded the gathering of the opportunities for service that we have which others do not have. About 35 were present for the dinner.

Mrs. Gibbs Gives Lesson On Africa

Mrs. L. C. Gibbs taught the third chapter of the study book, "Continents in Commotion" when members of the Westside Baptist Church WMS met at the church Monday afternoon. The study is based on Africa, with the chapter dealing with Ghana.

Participating in the discussion were Mrs. C. L. Kirkland, Mrs. Garland Land and Mrs. J. O. Murphy.

Two guests, Mrs. Loraine Abernathy and Mrs. Louise Birt, brought special music for the members. Spirituals were sung by Mrs. Abernathy, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Birt. They are members of the Mt. Bethel Church and Bakers Chapel, respectively.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. Kirkland, and refreshments were served to 13 members and the guests.

Park WSCS Sets Dates For Bazaar

At a meeting of the Park Methodist WSCS Monday afternoon at the church, the group set the dates and hours for a bazaar.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Anderson, San Angelo Highway.

To be set up at the home of Mrs. G. C. Graves, 1601 Gregg, the bazaar will open early enough for the working women to shop before going to work, it was decided. It will also be open late enough for the convenience of workers. Dates were slated for Dec. 6 and 7.

Also planned was a party at which all the women of the church and their husbands will be guests. Date for the affair was set for Dec. 16 at 7 p.m. A baby sitter will be provided. Place for the party will be announced later.

A report was given on the district conference held recently in Lamesa. The local group will host a spring meeting.

Mrs. Jack Griffin was in charge of the program and based her discussion on the Status of Women. She used passages from Luke and Psalms and articles from the Methodist Woman and Together Magazines.

The group of 11 was dismissed with the benediction.

Bible Study Given By Presbyterian Women

The Women of First Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon at the church for Bible study, with Mrs. Arthur Pickle as leader.

Mrs. Gage Lloyd opened the meeting with a prayer, and a discussion was based on "The Coming Lord" and "The Prophecy." Scripture was from Zachariah.

Mrs. Cecil Wasson brought out the points of God's watchfulness and the fact that He is the Ruler. She spoke of God's plans in faith and His forgiving love, and told the group that the people must fulfill His promise. Mrs. Wasson stressed the fact that iniquity must be taken away, and the nations will receive the blessing promised.

It was announced that the Bible study on Dec. 30 will be conducted by the Rev. Gage Lloyd. The next meeting of the group will be a general session at the church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Estes Leads Study

Sixteen attended the meeting and were dismissed with Mizpah. Mrs. Bill Estes led the final chapter of study of "Christ, The Church and the Race", Monday evening for the Wesleyan Service Guild of Wesley Methodist Church.

The women met in the home of Mrs. Joe Kitchen, 902 Gregg. During the study period, Mrs. John Appleton discussed "The Kingdom Beyond Caste". Mrs. C. W. Farmer reviewed "Faith Leads to Action" and Mrs. Kitchen spoke concerning "Testimonial of Scripture and Church." The devotion, "One Lonely Man", was brought by Mrs. J. T. Gilmore who offered the closing prayer.

Immediately preceding the study there was a brief business session. Mrs. John W. Garrison will be hostess to the guild for a Christmas party at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 16, at her home, 807 E. 13th.

Ten members and a guest, Mrs. Douglass Clemens, were present.

1 onion Walnuts, chestnuts (optional)

Cook giblets and drain. Dice giblets. Dice celery, onion and saute in oil. Moisten bread thoroughly, squeeze out excess water. Pour hot chicken broth over bread and let stand until cool. Add giblets, onion and celery with oil. Add poultry seasoning and pinch of garlic if desired, salt to taste. Add nuts (optional).

Left over dressing can be roasted while you are cooking your holiday meal and will make a delicious side dish.

BUZ SAWYER

THEY'RE THE FLOWERS YOU ASKED ME TO GET, SIR.

RED ROSES, HER FAVORITE FLOWER! ... AH, SAWYER! ... I'M HAD TO SEE HER! BUT FEAR GRIPS ME. AFTER ALL THE YEARS, HOW WILL I LOOK TO HER?

I'VE CHANGED! I'M NO LONGER YOUNG!

REMEMBER THAT I'M TOO WILL BE CHANGED, SIR.

PERHAPS SHE'LL NOT WANT TO SEE ME... NO LONGER CARES!... CONFOUND MY TREMBLING HANDS! I'M ACTING LIKE A SCHOOLBOY LOVER.

SO WOULD ANY MAN, SIR, WHO HADN'T SEEN HIS WIFE IN 18 YEARS.

SEVERAL DAYS HAVE PASSED.

DIXIE DUGAN

LOOK, BOB— I'M NOT HURT BECAUSE YOU MARRIED HER— AFTER ALL, YOU THOUGHT I WAS DEAD.

IN A WAY YOU DID ME A FAVOR— I NEVER REALLY LOVED HER.

I WANT YOU TO RELAX AND FORGET ABOUT IT.

HE'S STILL TRYING TO TELL YOU SOMETHING.

AREN'T YOU TWO NEARLY STARVED?

NANCY

SNIFF

TO DRAP HIM!!-- WE GOT OFFICIAL BUSINESS TO ATTEND TO, FUST!!

YAS, M!! AH IS LOYAL TO TH' UNION!!

??--S SUDDENL'Y THEY'S ALL AFTER ME!! B--BUT, LADIES-- AH IS ONLY 15 1/2 YEARS OLD!!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD, WILL YOU GIVE ME A TEN-DOLLAR REDUCTION IN MY WEEKLY HOUSEHOLD ALLOWANCE?

SURE

YOU'RE SO SWEET DEAR-- YOU'RE SO GOOD TO ME

OH, MY GOODNESS-- I DIDN'T MEAN REDUCTION! I MEANT INCREASE-- HOW STUPID OF ME

OF COURSE YOU KNEW WHAT I MEANT-- DIDN'T YOU?

ANNIE ROONEY

I CAN'T HELP WHETHER THE SHERIFF SAYS I'VE GOT T' STAY HERE, OR NOT, ZERO! MISS PINE AN' HER NIECE JEWEL HATE ME CAUSE I'M AN ORPHAN! I DON'T WANNA STAY HERE!

I DON'T KNOW YET HOW I'M GONNA GET AWAY, BUT AT LEAST I'VE GOT A HUNNED AN' THIRTY-FIVE DOLLARS TO HELP PAY MY WAY--

GRORR

OH-OH, IT'S JEWEL-- I'LL BETCHA IF SHE KNEW I HAD MONEY HIDDEN IN HERE SHE'D TELL HER AUNT TO TAKE IT AWAY FROM ME--

SO! LITTLE MISS NOBODY IS GUARDING HER HIDDEN LOOT! I HAVEN'T THOUGHT OF A WAY TO CUT IN ON THAT-- YET-- BUT I WILL!!

SNUFFY SMITH

YE DON'T HAVE TO RUSH OFF IN TH' SHANK O' TH' EVENIN', CALEB

IT'S GITTIN' LATE, SNUFFY, AN' THAT YOUNG-UN O' MINE NEEDS TO BE HOME IN BED

WHAR'S CALEB WORKIN' THESE DAYS, PAW?

HE'S STILL DOWN AT TH' FEED STORE

GRANDMA

H-M!! WELL, I GUESS TH' KIDS ARE RIGHT!

THEY TOLD ME IF I COULD GROW A CHIN LIKE YOURS--

...I WOULDN'T HAVE T' WEAR A BIB!!

BANG! CLANK! THUM!

BANG! CRUNCH!

YOU SHOULD RETURN IT AND GET YOUR MONEY BACK! WHAT A LEMON!

WHAT WERE YOU WASHING?

JUST MY LITTLE OL' ROCK COLLECTION!

JOE PALOOKA

I FOUND THIS BOY COMING OUT OF ONE OF YOUR BEDROOM WINDOWS-- HE WON'T IDENTIFY HIMSELF-- KNOW HIM, CHAMP?

YES, TED... HE'S OUR GUEST-- PLEASE COME IN!

I FOUND HIM PADDLING A RAFT ON THE RIVER... HE REFUSES TO TELL US HIS NAME.

HMM... HIS BELONGINGS MAY GIVE US A CLUE.

$3.28 IN CASH... A VARIETY OF CANNED FOOD... FIRST-AID KIT... A WATCH AND A ROAD MAP ROUTED WITH A RED PENCIL?

GOOD? THAT'S OUR FIRST SOLID LEAD... LET'S FOLLOW IT UP, TED?

MARY WORTH

HEVA... IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR ALMA, SHE'S OUT AS USUAL WITH YOUR ORNAMENTAL M.L.D. FOLD!

THIS HAIN'T BUSINESS, CHUCK! MRS. WORTH ASKED ME TO STOP BY FOR DINNER-- TO MEET A FRIEND O' HERS!

SHE'S A REGULAR "ELSA FIXWELL" THESE DAYS! SAID SHE HAD A REAL DOLL WHO WANTED TO MEET ME!

A BLIND DATE?

I ASKED THAT AND SHE SAID, YES, IT WAS HIGHLY APPROPRIATE IN MY CASE.

HEY!... DO YOU SUPPOSE SHE MEANT FOR US TO--?

REX MORGAN

THAT WAS MRS. BARTON! SHE WANTED ME TO REMIND YOU O' THAT LUNCHEON GAVE'S HAVING IN YOUR HONOR AT HER HOME!

I HOPE THIS EYE IS BACK TO NORMAL BY THEN!

YOU KNOW, CLEO... WE'RE AVERAGING SEVEN HUNDRED A DAY, PROFESSOR! THAT DOESN'T SOUND LIKE CHICKEN FEED TO ME!

WE CAN PICK OFF A DOLLAR FROM MRS. BARTON ALONE IF WE PLAY OUR CARDS RIGHT, CLEO!

Jury Sworn In For Hoffa Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women has been sworn in for the wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa. Selection of four alternate jurors starts today. They will be on tap to serve in event of the death, incapacity or other disqualification of one or more of the regular jurors.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, is on trial with two other men in federal court. There was difficulty in finding jurors who could declare their ability to give Hoffa a fair and impartial trial. Of the original panel of 125, only 44 remain. Many of the rejections were for prejudice.

Hoffa, of Detroit, is on trial with Owen Bernard Brennan, Plymouth, Mich., president of Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, Holmes, N. Y., a professional wiretapper.

The three are charged with conspiring here between 1953 and 1957 to tap telephone wires of subordinates in the Teamsters' Detroit headquarters who might be witnesses in racket investigations.

Uncle Roy: Hole In Bag Caused Huge Balloon To Fall

Hot air balloons — also called "fire balloons" — remained in favor for only a year or so after they were invented.

The largest of all hot air balloons was known as "LaFlesselle," in honor of M. C. Flesselle, the man who paid the cost of having it built. This gigantic affair had a diameter of 100 feet, and a height of 130 feet!

The mighty bag was filled with hot air in only 17 minutes, thanks to a strong fire made with straw. It lifted eight men into the air. One of these was Joseph Montgolfier, who then, for the first time, tried his own invention.

Cannon boomed and a band played as the balloon rose. There were cheers from the throats of the mighty throng which had gathered to watch, but these cheers were to turn into groans.

La Flesselle soared to a height of more than half a mile. Those who had spy-glasses reported that the men aboard were waving their hats. The bold adventurers seemed to be saying, "Here we are, up above the world so high!"

The crowd continued to shout, but suddenly there came a change. Gasping and groaning took the place of cheering.

The balloon was falling! A hole had been torn in its side, and the hot air was escaping.

"La Flesselle," the great hot-air balloon, before start of flight.

Down, down it came! The watchers waited for the dreadful moment when the balloonists would strike the ground and meet their doom.

It so happened, however, that a pocket formed in the balloon bag, a large pocket filled with hot air. The fall was slowed, and a safe landing was made! The men were jarred, but only Joseph Montgolfier was hurt. His injury was described as "hardly more than a scratch."

Tito Revamps Government

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito, 66 and ailing with lumbago, was reported today preparing to revamp Yugoslavia's government and party lineups in a move to lighten his own work load.

Informed Belgrade sources said he plans to make Edvard Kardelj, the leader of the Yugoslav government and Aleksandar Rankovic, the leader of the Yugoslav Communist party.

Kardelj and Rankovic, two of Tito's closest collaborators, are now vice presidents.

The sources indicated Kardelj would become sort of a prime minister, with Tito retaining the post of president.

Rankovic, according to the sources, would take over the job of Communist party secretary-general, now held by Tito.

Main purpose would be to take day-to-day routine work off the ailing Tito's shoulders. But he would still have a decisive say on top-level matters, the sources said.

They emphasized that Tito himself planned the changes and proposed them to the Communist party Central Committee, which reportedly has been examining them at closed meetings over the past several months.

Yugoslavia's Communist party is due to hold its next congress in the spring of 1958. It is considered possible the changes will be announced then.

WAC Commander Sees No Need For Fill-Out Order

TOKYO (AP)—The director of the U. S. Women's Army Corps said today she sees no need for introducing elsewhere a suggestion advanced here that WACs fill out their uniforms with falsies and girdles.

"We like for them to be independent in these matters," said Col. Mary Louise Milligan. "Our commanders are always interested in their women looking well. . . They take pride in setting the pattern themselves."

Col. Milligan, nearing the end of a Far Eastern inspection tour, also told a news conference WACs could be trained for actual combat if necessary; WACs catch few foreign husbands; and pretty ones do not disrupt work in male offices.

WAC Lt. Jeane Wolcott of Kent, Ohio, told her Yokohama WAC detachment in October to shape up with a little padding here and there and they did.

Col. Milligan, apprised of this, noted crisply: "The women are given an allowance for buying their underclothing. We want them to present a neat form of dress."

Artificial Meteor To Moon Possible

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Fritz Zwicky, Cal Tech astrophysicist and former rocket expert in Germany, says a man-made meteor possibly could be fired to the moon within the next three months.

Zwicky told an interviewer a few preliminary tests and perhaps $100,000 might result in landing a pound-and-a-half slug on the moon.

Eventually, he added, fragments of such a slug probably could be made to glance off the moon and return to earth.

Zwicky said the slug could be attached to a shaped charge of high explosive. The charge and the slug would be fired aloft by an Aerobee rocket.

In 1946, Zwicky supervised the firing of a V2 rocket equipped with shaped charges. This attempt failed, but last Oct. 16 such charges exploded meteors into space at the highest velocity achieved by a man-made object—40,000 m.p.h.

Some of these particles, released from charges fired at Holoman Air Force Base, N. M., escaped the earth's gravity and are now moving in an ellipse around the sun, Zwicky said.
