Begins Pilgrimage

Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon, 46, of Texas City, checks a newspaper account of the 387-mile trip she will make on foot from Galveston to San Juan, in the lower Rio Grande Valley. Mrs. Carreon is making the trip to fulfill a vow she made during prayers for her son's acquittal on a murder charge. She started the trip alone, carrying a paper bag containing medicine and 25 cents, a half hour after the jury returned a verdict freeing her son.

Mother Continues Coastal Pilgrimage

ALVIN, Tex. (AP)—Undaunted by showery weather, slight Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon hoped to walk another 21 miles today on a religious pilgrimage down more than two thirds of the Texas coastline. Her arrival here at dusk completed the second leg of a 387-mile hike started Wednesday at Galveston, 32 miles east and a little south of Alvin.

She appeared unperturbed at foregoing a Thanksgiving Day dinner with her family.

"My boy is free—that is enough turkey for me," she told a reporter. Besides, she explained, the Carreons had their holiday feast last week in the expectation she would be trudging down the highway later.

Immigration Laws Blamed For U.S. Lag In Missiles

ROME (AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) today said strict U.S. immigration laws are partly to blame for a shortage of trained scientists in the United States.

In answer to a news conference question, Celler declared: "There is a reasonable connection between restrictions on immigration and recent U.S. shortcomings in the missile and satellite race."

Meters Here For Parking Lot, But Lease Not Signed

The city now has 52 parking meters (set at three hours for a dime) and no place to put them. Roy Anderson, city purchasing agent, was notified today that the parking meters for a proposed downtown parking lot had arrived, but today at noon, the city didn't have the parking lot.

Robb returned its contract signed, but Basden did not hear from the other two owners, Fred Polacek and an out of town, W. B. Potton. And until the contracts are signed, the city will not start stabilization of the lot.

Technically, Senate Ends Its Holiday Today; House Is Out

AUSTIN (AP)—Part of the Legislature officially ends its Thanksgiving holiday at 3 p.m. today when the Senate goes back into session—technically, at least.

There was a general understanding Wednesday when the Senate voted to recess until today that not enough members would be on hand to constitute a quorum—the two-thirds necessary to transact business.

was one factor. Others insisted it was nothing but the known determination of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and other East Texas senators not to let the session end without sending a final remaining segregation bill to the governor.

Scientists Set To Watch Fall Of Red Rocket

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—History's first rocket-satellite may tumble to its doom Sunday morning. The final stage rocket, that thrust Sputnik I into an orbit last Oct. 4 over Russia in its last hours, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reported today.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, emphasized that it is impossible to predict at this time where and when the rocket satellite might make its flaming plunge toward earth.

The Smithsonian sticks to its prediction of several days ago that Sunday, Dec. 1, is the most likely day for the descent of the rocket.

Sunday morning the rocket makes three sweeps across the United States, from southwest to northeast. The first passage Sunday morning begins about 6:45 a.m. and roughly parallels the East Coast from Florida to Maine, passing near New York and Boston.

The next sweep across the nation starts in southwest Texas at about 8:13, crosses the Midwest going near Kansas City about 8:16, leaving the United States over northern Michigan three minutes later.

The third morning sweep begins at 9:43 a.m., as the rocket comes in from the Pacific, crossing the California coastline about midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, then proceeding over Nevada and Idaho to leave the United States over central Montana five minutes after entering the Gulf of Mexico.

The rocket was sighted last night by moonwatch teams in Tucson, Ariz., and Sacramento, Calif. Most other parts of the United States were blotted by clouds.

SNOW IN PANHANDLE

New Cold Front Knives Into State

By The Associated Press
A new cold front knifed deep into Northwest Texas Friday, touching off light snow in the Panhandle.

Cold wave warnings were issued for the central and northern plains.

The Weather Bureau forecast freezing weather in nearly every part of Texas Friday night.

Light snow fell at Amarillo Friday morning. The cold front was on a line from Wichita Falls to Abilene to Midland and northwestward to New Mexico.

The temperature dropped to 32 degrees at Dalhart and 34 at Amarillo. Winds whipped the Panhandle areas with gusts clocked up to 34 miles per hour.

Skies were clear except partly cloudy on the coast and cloudy in the Panhandle.

An apparently milder front moved out of Texas into the Gulf of Mexico only Thursday and still hung stationary off the coast. It brought a light drizzle in the Brownsville vicinity Thursday afternoon. Thanksgiving Day was clear and nippy elsewhere about the state.

Top temperatures Thursday varied from 49 at Dalhart to 71 at Brownsville and Presidio.

Shifting winds ahead of the new cold front sent the mercury down to 34 at Dalhart early Friday. Other Texas readings at the same hour ranged up to 56 at Brownsville.

Northerly winds were raking West Texas from Lubbock and Childress northward.

No moisture fell in the state Thursday night and none was predicted with the latest touch of winter.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures Friday night would dip as low as 15 to 25 in the Panhandle and upper South Plains. Readings of 35 to 40 were forecast in other parts of West Texas except for 35 to 40 in the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area, 35 to 36 in North Central Texas and 32 to 40 in the northwest part of East and South Central Texas.

Strong Winds Whip Up Dust, Drop Mercury

November, which has provided Big Spring with magnificent fall days with rain, snow and sub-freezing weather, demonstrated its versatility on Friday by adding a sandstorm to the list.

A chilling north wind moved in around mid-morning bringing dust as its post-Thanksgiving weather offering.

Thursday, as an aid to holiday celebrants, was a fine autumn day—bright sunshine, clear skies, enough chill to be in harmony with the occasion but all in all, a delightful example of ideal weather.

The temperature early Thursday morning dropped to 29 degrees but during the day the sun warmed things up until the mercury stood at 56. Last night, the low was officially 34 degrees.

Weather forecast for today and Saturday promised a continuation of the chill, the strong north winds and partly cloudy skies which took control early Friday.

The low temperature tonight may drop as low as 25. The forecast said Saturday should be a little colder than today.

Police today were investigating a series of three burglaries which occurred Wednesday night. All three were on the east side of Big Spring.

WAR WITH SPAIN

Moroccan King Turns From Sightseeing To Home Front

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco turned his attention today from an American sightseeing tour to an irregular war back home over the Spanish colony of Ifni.

The King was to confer on the fighting with the chief aide of his son, who has been running the Moroccan government since Mohammed fled to Washington on Sunday. The aide, Col. Moulay Hafid, flew in from Rabat.

The King and his party motored in this restored colonial capital of Virginia to nearby Patrick Henry Airport where his plane left at 8:21 a.m. for the 5-hour-44-minute flight to Dallas.

There Mohammed will make the second stop of his 16-day tour of the United States. Later he visits Los Angeles, San Francisco, Omaha and New York City.

A flat tire had caused a two-hour delay in departure of the second plane, carrying other members of the party.

There was no statement concerning Mohammed's talks with Hafid before the party's departure.

Mohammed flew here on a special Air Force Constellation after Vice President Nixon bade him a warm farewell in Washington.

Aides said the 48-year-old monarch was immensely pleased with results of his talks with Secretary of State Dulles.

Hafid, aide to Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, arrived later to brief the King on fighting in the tiny Spanish colony of Ifni facing the Atlantic and surrounded by Morocco on three sides.

The fighting broke out last weekend. Moroccan officials spoke of revolts in Ifni, implying uprisings by the Berber tribesmen who live in the 741-square-mile enclave. The Spanish said the fighting arose from raids by the Moroccan Liberation Army, an irregular force not directly controlled by Rabat. The strongly Nationalist liberation army spearheaded the military campaign that won Moroccan freedom from French control last year. Since then it has sought to add to Morocco some territory claimed as Spanish Sahara and French Algeria.

Hassan charged in Rabat that Spanish forces had launched attacks from Ifni on Moroccan territory. He said the royal army had been ordered to fight back. This was the first indication that official Moroccan forces might become involved alongside the irregulars.

The Spanish Foreign Ministry in Madrid denied "any aggression against Moroccan territory."

Spanish troops, war planes and paratroopers have been pushed to Ifni and Spanish Sahara, south of Morocco.

Moroccan nationalists say 50 Spanish troops have been killed and several small towns in the enclave captured. Madrid says five of its soldiers have been killed and attacks repulsed.

Some Spanish officials said unofficially the Ifni trouble began about the time Hassan took over the government. They suggested the crown prince was more inclined to permit military adventures than King Mohammed.

In diplomatic circles in Madrid, Spain is reported to have asked the United States to intervene with the King in an effort to end the fighting.

Trouble Mars Dallas Visit

DALLAS (AP)—Border trouble in Africa marred a visit today to Texas by Mohammed V, King of Morocco and a good friend of the United States.

The King will be in the state three days, mainly sightseeing but with a speech sponsored by the Dallas Council on World Affairs planned for tonight.

His schedule called for a full day in Dallas, then a trip to the King Ranch in South Texas tomorrow and Sunday. He will go next to Los Angeles.

Reports from the royal visitor's homeland indicated the trouble on the southern Moroccan border resulted from attempts by the Spanish government to put down a rebellion in the small Spanish colony of Ifni. Some Moroccan villages were bombed. Moroccan authorities charged. Spain has accused Moroccan irregular troops of raiding Ifni.

Spaniards Kill 180 In Bombings

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Spanish bombers have killed at least 180 persons in the rebellious colony of Ifni, the newspaper Al Alam said today. Spanish forces launched attacks by land and sea yesterday in their effort to crush the uprising, it added.

The paper, organ of the Moroccan Istiglal (Independence) party, said 50 persons were killed by bombs in the village of Fomar and 130 in Sidi Hamed Larousa.

Planes and ships yesterday bombarded the Moroccan village of Chira, north of the Ifni enclave, and the villages of Oum Ifissin and Shoukhat, in the southeast corner of the enclave, were bombed and machinegunned, causing many casualties, according to Al Alam's account.

Crown Prince Moulay Hassan charged yesterday the Spanish were attacking Moroccan territory, which surrounds the enclave on three sides. He ordered the Moroccan army to shoot back. Spain denied the charge. But Madrid continued a buildup of forces in Ifni in its efforts to crush the rebellion.

Recovers Fast From Stroke

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower set out by automobile today for a weekend or more at their Pennsylvania farm in a striking new demonstration of his speedy recovery from a mild stroke.

They arrived at the Gettysburg farm after an 80-mile trip of two hours and ten minutes. The weather was warm and sunny.

The President, piling the move on top of yesterday's burst of activity which included surprise attendance at a Thanksgiving church service, went with full approval from his doctors, the White House said.

The plan for the trip to Gettysburg, announced yesterday on a "hope" basis, was made firm earlier today on the basis of a new medical report of continued "excellent" recovery progress.

"The doctors have agreed it is perfectly all right for him to make the trip," press secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Some 150 to 200 persons waited near a White House gate to watch the Eisenhowers leave.

The President and First Lady smiled and nodded to the onlookers.

The presidential auto was followed by a Secret Service car and another White House limousine carrying Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and some staff members.

Eisenhower wore a rust colored jacket and tan slacks. He removed his hat just before the car reached the gate, having spotted the crowd waiting outside.

Eisenhower had a long sleep, from 8 o'clock last night until 6 this morning, Hagerty said. It was not that he was overly tired, Hagerty said, he had a busy Thanksgiving day, going to church and presiding over a family dinner. Hagerty said Eisenhower retired shortly after dinner.

Hagerty said he probably will be unable to announce anything more definite about the stay at the farm until Sunday.

A Cabinet meeting is scheduled Monday. And on Tuesday, congressional leaders of both parties are coming to the White House for a briefing on military and defense matters and the legislative program for the new congressional session.

There has been no change, Hagerty said, in plans for the session with congressional chiefs. But whether Eisenhower personally will sit in still is up in the air.

Hagerty read this brief—8:30 a.m. bulletin from the White House physician, Dr. Howard M. Snyder:

"The President had a good night's sleep. He slept almost continuously from early last evening until 6 o'clock this morning. His progress continues to be excellent."

While Hagerty was speaking, Eisenhower was conferring with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, and Brig. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, White House staff secretary, on official business.

Hagerty said that he and Dr. Snyder were the only White House officials also making the trip to the farm.

The new medical progress report and the firming up of plans for the Gettysburg run, together with yesterday's surprise burst of activity, added up to a signal of a faster recovery pace than has been indicated by Eisenhower's doctors.

The White House continues to emphasize that the road to complete recovery still stretches a good distance into the future. His physicians are pictured as believing Eisenhower must have several weeks of rest before he can return to his job full time.

SIGNS PAPERS
Eisenhower spent half an hour with Adams and Goodpaster, signed 11 papers and initialed another, Hagerty said.

The President received his aides in the living room. He had not been in his office since he became ill on Monday.

Hagerty said Eisenhower briefly discussed with Adams and Goodpaster some phases of the legislative program to be sent to Congress when it convenes in January.

Hagerty indicated the papers signed today were of a routine nature and would be made public later after they have been returned to the agencies concerned, in accord with executive routine. They dealt with aeronautics, tariffs and some other matters, Hagerty said.

Messages voicing hope for Eisenhower's speedy and complete recovery have arrived from the heads of many countries, Hagerty said. They included messages from both Nikolai Bulganin, Soviet premier; and Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party head.

Tunisia Presses For African Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Tunisia pressed an Arab country campaign today to urge the U. N. General Assembly to call for negotiations between the French and the Algerian nationalists to settle their three-year war in Algeria. An Arab diplomat also said an Asian-African resolution for such negotiations probably will be introduced Monday in the Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee. Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the U. N., was scheduled as the first pro-negotiationist speaker in the committee's debate on Algeria. French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau opened the debate Wednesday. He pleaded with delegates to steer clear of "internationalization of the Algerian conflict" and let France go on seeking a "peaceful, democratic and just solution" by crushing the rebellion and introducing electoral reforms to benefit Algerian Moslems. In a vague resolution adopted last Feb. 15, the Assembly expressed hope that "a peaceful, democratic and just solution" would be found in conformity with U. N. Charter principles. While the U. N. debate was going on here, France's Parliament was preparing for a vote of confidence demanded by Premier Felix Gaillard on a partial home rule bill for Algeria. King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia issued a communique last Friday offering their help to France and a nationalist organization, the Algerian Front of National Liberation, for negotiations toward a "just solution" based on the sovereignty of the Algerian people and safeguards for French interests. The front, in a Rabat statement, welcomed it and said negotiations "undertaken on the basis of independence" would end the Algerian war. But word circulated among Arab delegations here that the front had dropped its condition that France must recognize Algerian independence before talks could start. A joint Washington statement from King Mohammed and Secretary of State Dulles said that in their talks on Algeria the King expressed hope for a "peaceful solution . . . through friendly negotiations." Dulles also stated the United States favored "a peaceful, democratic and just solution."

Their Faith Is Ancient, But Church Is Radically New

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A church with a roof that has been likened to a sail, a bird, a kite and a ship is nearly completed in suburban Elm Grove. Architects and engineers have still another designation for the roof. They call it a hyperbolic paraboloid. But what it amounts to is a surface with a double curve—two diagonal corners are pushed down and the other two are pushed up. One thing is certain, the new home for the congregation of St. Edmund's Episcopal Church is an eye-catcher, and the roof is the thing that will attract the most attention. It soars upward at the altar end. William P. Wenzler, the architect who designed the church, says

Italy Has Second Sputnik Scare

ASTI, Italy (AP)—The object in the field on the Turin-Genoa road had a metallic glow and smoked. Up close it could be heard sputtering. Fearful motorists thought it might be a Sputnik come to earth. Police arrived, gingerly kicked at it, then grinned. It was a fiberboard tube painted with luminous paint and with gasoline-soaked rags burning inside. So ended north Italy's second Sputnik scare in two weeks. On Nov. 12 at Movara, not far from here, someone rigged up a demijohn to look like a Sputnik. Thousands of people gazed at it from a safe distance until a military expert came from Turin and uncovered the trick.

All Signs Point To Best Oscar Show March 26

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—All signs point to the best of the Academy Award telecasts next March 26. First and most importantly, the film industry has kicked in to pick up the tab on the telecast. So the proceedings won't be interrupted by a lengthy display of fleets of automobiles. Also, the Academy has taken action to pare down the number of Oscars. Many observers, this one included, have advocated that the minor Oscars be presented before the show goes on the air. Since that can't be managed because of protests from the various crafts and arts, the Academy is doing the next best thing. Three awards have already been eliminated.

The inevitable protests have been registered. The writers are sore because one of their three awards have been knocked out. Sure, there were more Oscars to pass around under the old system. But many writers realized that three Oscars minimized the importance of the writing award. Many believe there should be only one award for writing. A fired Hitchcock's outspoken comment about Kim Novak, whom he is directing in "Vertigo": "Isn't it strange that she should have all this stardom before she is ready for it? But I've worked with such girls before. Joan Fontaine, for example." Kim should be so lucky. Hitch directed Joan to an Oscar in "Suspicion."

Wonder why Marlon Brando is making appearances to plug "Sayonara." Because he gets 10 cents of every dollar that it draws, that's why. Even her fellow players were surprised at the poor photographing of Rita Hayworth in "Pal Joey." They claim she looks terrific in the flesh. Good news: MGM is cutting 15 minutes out of "Rainbow Valley." It will be a better picture in shorter length. Mrs. William Goetz need shed no tears over being disinherited by her father, the late Louis B. Mayer. Her husband is one of the richest men in Hollywood and will be even richer with "Sayonara." One thing Ethel Barrymore will not talk about: Diana Barrymore's defense of her wasted life. "Too Much Too Soon," now being filmed by Warners. "I scarcely knew the girl," snaps Queen Ethel of her niece. . . .

Mt. Etna Blows Its Top Again

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Mt. Sicily's on-again, off-again volcano, is on again. Vulcanologists at nearby Zafferana reported that Europe's most active volcano is erupting with an explosion about every 10 minutes. The vulcanologists emphasized that there is no immediate danger from this newest eruption. They said ashes from the explosion were falling back into the crater but that a tongue of lava had moved about 1,000 feet down the northeast slope.

New Uncertainties Added As Nation Slips Into Recession

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's latest illness comes as the nation's economy admittedly is sliding into a recession. There is considerable uncertainty as to how deep and how long the downturn may be. And some new uncertainties have now been added. The stock market reacted at once and violently. But most of the first reaction was from professional traders—those who try to make part or all of their living from day-by-day stock trading. The early reaction apparently didn't involve the real investors. Business leaders usually take calmer views than do the stock market pros. Businessmen's first concern now is how much effect, if any, the illness may have on public confidence, since it is generally agreed that the great mainstay of the economy in the months of rolling industrial adjustment just ahead will be continued heavy consumer buying. Economists specializing in retail trade doubt that there will be any effect on the Christmas trade just starting and meaning so much to stores whose year's profit record can be made or broken by it. They also see little reason for the economy in general to be affected—if the public's confidence in the economy isn't shaken. But business is concerned over the new uncertainties in Washington. They note that the illness comes in the midst of another of the ever recurring international crises, which it had been hoped the President's scheduled visit to Paris would alleviate. Business too has a stake in the budget and taxation discussions which reach a peak in December and in the legislative proposals that are drafted then. Industry wonders now what effect the illness may have on these. In general hope is expressed that: The President will recover quickly, and his assistants will carry out the international, budgetary and legislative programs without a bobble. It is widely expected that defense spending will rise, aiding a number of industries by the middle of the year and helping to keep the adjustment rolling without too much economic pain. Washington has predicted that unemployment this winter may rise above the four million mark. Employment now is around 66 million. As a percentage of the total labor force four million unemployed wouldn't be considered alarming. But try to tell that to a man out of a job! A Tacoma, Wash., man who says he has been able to find work for only three months this year, challenges the official view that the business boom is leveling off. He writes: "The boom ended in 1956, and when we started in 1957 we had a recession, and now we have a depression and an inflation together." He says there are thousands in the State of Washington "just like me, out of work, and it's getting worse every day." He is bitter about those who call this "a mild recession."

Korean Orphans Arrive In U.S.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Eighty-seven little Korean orphans, four of them ill with tuberculosis, arrived in the United States yesterday. The children, infants to 6-year-olds, came from the Harry Holt Orphanage in Korea. Holt, a wealthy, Creswell, Ore., farmer, has brought 575 mixed-blood youngsters to new homes in this country in a series of baby-lifts. He has adopted eight of them himself. The children, fathered by U.S. troops in Korea, were abandoned by their Korean mothers. Holt has 130 more in the orphanage and hopes to bring them to new homes in this country before Christmas. The four tubercular children were admitted to the United States under special authorization of the immigration service. Holt said earlier that the U.S. Public Health Service would supervise their care and that the new parents would pay for treatment of the illness. Holt and his wife have five children of their own.

Marine Found Guilty Of Murder

OKINAWA (AP)—A Marine court-martial today found Pfc. Wilbur L. Jones, Raleigh, N.C., guilty of murder, conspiracy to murder, two charges of assault with intent to inflict great bodily harm, and conspiracy to assault. Jones was the second of six men charged in the death of Navy Corpsman Adrien R. Nogleby, Wells County, N.D., who died after a beating Aug. 4. The sailor—a white man—was allegedly kicked in the head by Negro Marines. Sentence on Jones, 23, will be pronounced tomorrow at Camp McTureous. Jones, described as the first man to attack Nogleby after a pay-day drinking bout, was described in the trial as "the man who led the vicious, snarling pack" in the attack.

Last Paratroopers Pull Out

The last 225 regulars of the 101st Airborne Division were relieved of their 64-day guard duty at integrated Little Rock Central High School. The final contingent is shown preparing to board a transport for Ft. Campbell, Ky., from which many will get Thanksgiving passes. Left guarding the nine Negro students are Federalized National Guardsmen.

Testimony Shows U.S. Missile Status Bad, Kefauver Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today three days of testimony on the status of the U. S. missile program shows the situation "is worse than I thought it was."

Kefauver, a member of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee conducting the missile-satellite probe, said in an interview the testimony by defense officials, intelligence specialists and scientists added up to "shocking evidence of how the country has gotten behind" Russia in certain scientific-military fields.

But the Tennesseean said "the picture is not hopeless," adding: "We've got to give more money and attention to missiles, satellites and scientific development."

Cold Wave Rides 50 MPH Winds Into Midwest Areas

By The Associated Press

Cold air pushed by winds up to 50 miles an hour moved into the north and central Plains early today and the Weather Bureau warned that temperatures would take a nose dive to 10 to 15 degrees below zero.

The worst of the cold wave is expected to concentrate in northern Minnesota and northeast North Dakota, where temperatures are forecast to drop to -10 and -15. Zero readings are in prospect for points as far south as northern Iowa and South Dakota by tomorrow morning.

Northerly winds of 35 to 50 m.p.h. accompanied the freeze. Temperatures also were expected to drop to 10 to 15 degrees and education. We can catch up and get ahead if we only put our will to it."

In saying testimony showed the U. S. missile position in relation to Russia is worse than he thought it was, Kefauver refused to go into detail.

Other subcommittee members who sat in on a closed-door intelligence briefing Wednesday said afterward they heard a "sad and shocking" story on Russian military-scientific progress. The briefing was given by Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

These senators, too, declined to say just what they learned from the CIA chief. But it was reported last night the subcommittee was told Russia now has a few submarines, possibly four, capable of firing a missile with a nuclear warhead up to 700-900 miles. Other vessels in Russia's sub fleet, estimated at about 450 boats, were reported being readied for such missile equipment.

One informant said the reported Soviet sub-missile capability "means they are practically in a position to wipe out any major city on the eastern seaboard." He did not say, however, that any of the Russian subs now are stationed within missile range of the East Coast.

The CIA was quoted by one source as reporting the Russian subs could launch missiles while still submerged. The weapons were described as of the "cruise" type—presumably a guided missile slower than a ballistic missile.

The U. S. Navy has a small number of submarines equipped with the Regulus, a subsonic missile capable of carrying a nuclear warhead up to about 800 miles. In addition, the Navy is developing the Polaris, an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile designed to be fired from beneath the surface of the ocean. However, development of the Polaris has been described as being behind that of the Army's Jupiter IRBM and the Air Force's Thor. IRBMs have a planned range of up to 1,500 miles.

Secretary of Defense McElroy announced Wednesday that orders had been issued for production of the Jupiter and the Thor. He did this while testifying before the subcommittee which later recessed its hearings until Dec. 13.

Kefauver said he was encouraged by McElroy's announcement, but he said the action should have been taken a long time ago.

In another action aimed at speeding missile work, McElroy was reported by officials to have ordered resumption of overtime pay for work on the Thor and two Air Force ICBMs, the Atlas and the Titan. Both ICBMs still are in the development stage.

Before the hearing recessed late Wednesday night, subcommittee Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said the order to produce both the Thor and the Jupiter made it clear McElroy is the "real czar" in the missile program and that he has "the power of decision."

Johnson said McElroy announced other decisions to come, adding: "I hope they will come just as soon as possible."

Press Rallies To British Atom Stand

LONDON (AP)—While Laborites continued to express misgivings about U. S. bombers making training flights from Britain with H-bombs aboard, the British press rallied to the Conservative government's stand today.

The most widely read paper in the country, the Daily Mirror, said today East-West tensions fully justify arming the bombers with nuclear weapons. The independent newspaper usually supports the Labor party.

The carrying of bombs was revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday when Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he "should think" they do. Prime Minister Macmillan stepped in to allay some of the apprehension raised. Macmillan said U. S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast should a bomb-carrying plane crash. He explained that the planes carry bombs in separate parts that have to be expertly assembled before a nuclear explosion is possible.

"Can you give an assurance," he was asked by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, "that there is no danger, if one of these aircraft were to crash, of a nuclear explosion resulting?"

"Yes, sir," the Prime Minister replied. "I am told there is no danger of an explosion."

"... The American government forces make it a practice to keep always ready, when one of these patrols is in the air from our bases, a special tanker machine which can go up and help refuel an aircraft so that, if there was a question of it not being able to land in this country, it could fly back to its own base in America."

Some Labor groups reacted to the news with resolutions opposing the practice of flying H-bombs around over Englishmen's heads.

The Daily Mirror said in a front page editorial that "in the state of the world today this desperate precaution is—unhappily—justified."

"Until there are better relations between Russia and the West, it would be wrong, perhaps fatal, to let sentiment and simple emotion weaken our defenses," the editorial said.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said Laborite concern "is not only misplaced, it also shows ignorance of the basic fact of contemporary deterrence." It said the threat of Soviet missiles made it necessary to keep armed planes aloft that could retaliate even if airfields were knocked out by a surprise attack.

Bergman's Friend Travels To London

LONDON (AP)—Lars Schmidt, Swedish businessman friend of film star Ingrid Bergman, flew here today from New York to spend the weekend in London on what he said was private business.

Miss Bergman, who recently separated from husband Roberto Rossellini, is making a film in England.

Asked if he would meet her, Schmidt grinned and said: "I may bump into her in the street." They dined together when Schmidt was here earlier this month.

Woman, 4 Children Drowning Victims

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP)—Mrs. Charles Woods, 26, and her four children apparently drowned yesterday when their car went out of control and plunged into the Yellowstone River.

At first it was believed the 28-year-old husband and father also was in the car, but Woods notified the Livingston sheriff's office late last night he had gone to Luthers, Mont., to seek employment.

The Woods' children were Betty, 6; Bruce, 4, and identical twins, James and John, 3.

U.S. Test Satellite Won't Be Visible, Rocket Will

BALTIMORE (AP)—The tiny test satellite the United States hopes to launch Dec. 4 will not be visible to the naked eye, but its five-foot-long brightly painted third-stage rocket will be seen.

It should provide plenty of opportunities for visual tracking as it trails the little beeping satellite across the heavens.

The third-stage rocket has been the most classified of all components of the 73-foot-tall, 22,000-pound Vanguard launching vehicle. But the Martin Co., which built and will fire the rocket, gave a peek at it in pictures it released today showing the 6.4-inch, four-pound test sphere mounted on the rocket.

Only the nose of the rocket which will be completely cloaked in an apron of the bigger second-stage rocket, is shown in the photograph. But it reveals a white spherical shape, about 12 to 15 inches across, on which the tiny satellite is mounted.

After about 40 miles of ascent, the seven-foot-long asbestos-plastic nose cone of the rocket will split in two and fall off, leaving the satellite exposed for the rest of its climb.

The nose cone will protect the satellite from aerodynamic heating expected to reach 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit through the earth's dense lower atmosphere.

The photograph also shows four rods which brace the satellite to the walls of the second-stage rocket apron.

At about 287 miles, just short of orbital altitude, a spin table, propelled by tiny jets, will start the entire third stage with its still attached satellite rotating. After the first complete spin, the supporting rods will snap out of the way and leave the shiny aluminum sphere ready for its spring into space.

Huge Sound-Swallowing Pipes Quiet Screams Of Jet Testing

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Lean times are ahead for ear plug merchants hereabouts.

No longer will the loud roar of jet engines being ground-tested assault the eardrums of the local citizenry if the maintenance engineers of nearby McClellan Air Force Base have their way.

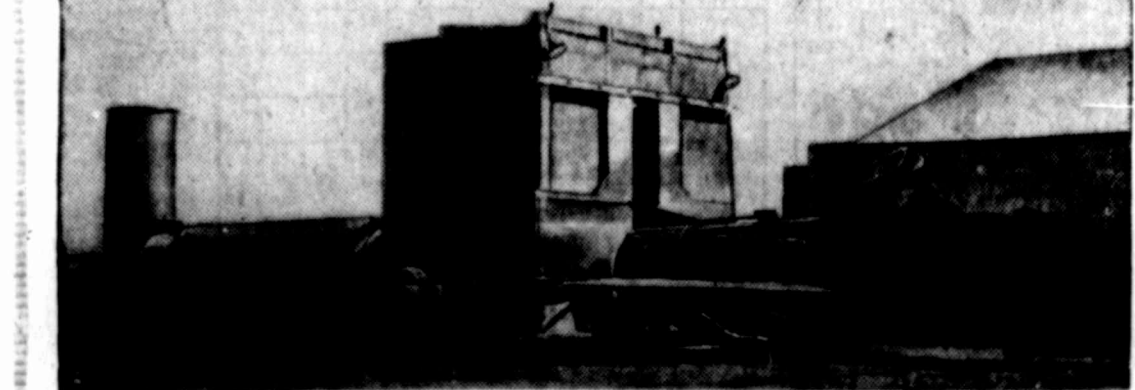

The base has installed new type noise suppressors to be used on the line where the powerful engines are tried out.

Big, pipe-like devices, the suppressors swallow the roar, soften it and deflect it skyward.

William L. Steele, maintenance foreman, said the sound-softening part consists of a perforated fiberglass chamber and a curtain of water, used mainly to reduce exhaust temperatures ranging up to 2,000 degrees.

A recent demonstration showed the massive L-shaped mufflers could all but eliminate noise at a distance of 250 yards.

Mrs. Armstrong Dies Thursday

Mrs. Katie B. Armstrong, 75, of Coahoma died in a hospital here Thursday. She had undergone surgery on Nov. 12.

Services have been set for 3 p.m. Saturday at the River Funeral Home with the Rev. C. P. Owens, First Presbyterian pastor in Coahoma, officiating. Burial will be in the Coahoma Cemetery beside the grave of her husband, A. L. Armstrong, who died Sept. 19, 1955.

Mrs. Armstrong came to Coahoma with her husband in 1925. For 43 years she had been a member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving her are one son, W. W. Armstrong, Truth or Consequences, N. M.; two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Miller, Coahoma, and Mrs. Vance Davis, Ft. Sumner, N. M.; three grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Mrs. Armstrong also leaves one sister, Mrs. Jim Sparks, Glen Rose. Pallbearers will be Bill Brown, Bennett Hoover, K. G. Birkhead, Dewitt Shive, Smith Cochran, and Carl Bates.

Petty Thievery Is Holiday Highlight

Big Springers either stayed at home or stayed out of trouble Thursday; the police department had very little Thanksgiving Day work.

Stolen hub caps furnished most of the holiday business, and only two accidents occurred.

Police officers at the Nabors Washorama, in the 1700 block of Gregg, also Thursday. It belonged to Mrs. Wendall Swann and contained $5 plus identification and two credit cards.

This morning, Mrs. Mabel Campbell, 400 Abrams, reported that a coat had been stolen from her son's car. The car was parked at Ray's Drive-in at the time of the theft.

4-H Exhibitors Meet Postponed

Scheduled meeting of 4-H club stock exhibitors, at which plans for the county participation in area shows were to be considered, has been cancelled from its original date.

The meeting had been set for Monday night at the courthouse. Plans now are to hold it either on the night of Dec. 6 or on the night of Dec. 9.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, said that conflicts make it difficult for youngsters to attend night gatherings and that the meeting will be scheduled when there are fewer distractions.

The meeting will be devoted to a final determination of just what part of the county 4-H clubbers will have in shows and what shows will be entered.

Leopard, Reared As 'Cat,' Goes To Zoo

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A Siamese jungle leopard named Ike, who thinks he's just an ordinary cat, took off by plane for the National Zoo in Washington today.

Ike was raised from a tiny, furry cub to his present 30-pound bulk by Mr. and Mrs. Max Ullrich. Ullrich is project manager for Hycon Page Telecommunication Engineers here.

The leopard is now 8 months old and is more than two feet long. It has lived in the Ullrich house more or less like any other cat.

Heart Official Doubts Ruling On Ike Illness

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official of the National Heart Institute expressed the opinion today that no one can say whether President Eisenhower had arteriosclerosis — in the particular blood vessel affected by his attack this week.

The doctor said that under existing methods of diagnosis he does not believe it possible to arrive at a definite conclusion.

He added that the medical reports thus far have not told whether a spasm or a blood clot caused blockage of the particular cerebral blood vessel.

The President's own doctors said in their one detailed report Tuesday that they had not been able to decide.

The Heart Institute official was asked for comment on statements by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, Hagerty said yesterday there is no indication of general arteriosclerosis in the President. Hagerty said "the President's general arterial condition gives no evidence and has never given any evidence of sclerosis, which means hardening of the arteries."

There is a difference in the constipation of what a physician calls general arteriosclerosis in the meaning of an over-all change in the blood vessels.

"Whether or not there was arteriosclerosis, which caused the blockage, has not been reported. That is a kind of alteration in the lining of a blood vessel locally.

"When a clot is present the usual circumstances are that there is some underlying atherosclerotic change in the vessel.

"Arteriosclerosis is the family name for three different kinds of blood vessel disorders.

"The particular type more commonly associated with blood clot disorders is atherosclerosis. It may be very spotty, a localized disturbance producing a spotty kind of involvement of blood vessels."

The other two kinds of disorders is the arteriosclerosis family are Monckeberg's sclerosis, in which there is a true hardening or calcification of the large vessels; and arteriosclerosis, a type that affects smaller vessels in general and is often associated with high blood pressure or kidney disorders.

The doctor said he had never heard of any medical report showing that the President has general arteriosclerosis.

FINE TAILORED TO FIT MAN?

"How tall are you?" queried Judge R. H. Weaver, county court, of Raymond McKeever, defendant in a liquor transportation case.

"Six foot six," replied McKeever.

"How much do you weigh?"

"Two hundred and fifty six," replied the defendant.

"I fine you $100," stated the court.

McKeever was one of three defendants to plead guilty to charges in Howard County Court on Friday.

James Mays pleaded guilty to DWI and drew $75 and 3 days in jail.

Gilberto Leal, charged with transporting liquor, was fined $100.

Miss Yule Seal To Be Chosen

LAMESA — A Dawson County schoolgirl will be named Miss Christmas Seal of Dawson County, 1957, in a county-wide contest which will close on Dec. 10. Each school in the county is being asked by the School Sale Committee to participate in the contest which begins Monday.

Under the contest rules, each home room elects a student from that room as a candidate for the honor. Miss Christmas Seal will be the candidate whose home room contributes the largest amount per student to the seal sale. She will be crowned in ceremonies suitable to the officials of the school on Friday, December 13.

The chairman of the Seal Sale Committee, Hal Fees, reports that in order that rivalries not be over-emphasized, no announcements as to the amount raised by any room will be made until the contest is closed.

Members of the school committee include Fees, Mrs. Janice Bradford, Ackery, Dawson, Klondike and Union Schools; B. M. Turner, Blackhawk; and V. Z. Rogers, Rogers Schools; Ray Culp, North Elementary and Lamesa High Schools; and Mrs. Alice Flenniken, Central Elementary and Lamesa Junior High Schools.

Decorations Up Around Square

It's officially the Christmas season now.

Workmen spent Thanksgiving rigging the traditional silver stars and festoons of glistening aluminum foil from the courthouse roof to the lawn.

All of the decorations are now in place and the lights will be turned on following the pre-Christmas parade next Tuesday.

Contractor Due To Lower Line

A Midland contractor will probably arrive next week to lower a 20-inch water main at 21st and Goliad.

City Engineer Clifton Bellamy said that Everett Copeland, a Midland pipe line contractor, had been held up on other jobs and was unable to arrive earlier to lower the water line.

The city agreed to lower the street at the intersection and put the excess dirt on the school's property where the new junior high school is being built. The city, however, didn't have equipment to lower the water line, so Copeland was employed.

The city has lowered the street except around the line so school could have the dirt and the school job not be held up for lack of dirt. H. W. Whitney, city manager, told the City Commission this week. Also, Whitney said that the city had given additional dirt to the school.

'Tag Day' Chairman

Janie Griffin will be chairman of "Tag Day" activities for the Howard County Tuberculosis Association this year, officials of the agency announced. Tag Day, set for Dec. 14, is a part of the Christmas season fund raising program of the TB Association.

Baptist Executive Board Will Meet

DALLAS—Two Big Spring Baptists are members of the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas which will meet in Dallas Tuesday to recommend the distribution of $1 1/2 million for state missionary work.

They are the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and G. G. Johnson, layman.

The $1 1/2 million in state mission funds is included in a record $10 1/2 million cooperative program missions budget approved earlier this year. It earmarks $228,400 for Latin-American work in Texas.

Part of the board's business will be to hear reports from a Six-Year Progress Committee engaged in a study of an advance program for every phase of Baptist work to culminate in a jubilee celebration in 1964.

A $1 1/2 million Lottie Moon Christmas offering goal for 3,807 churches will be presented to board members.

Aussies Cool To Jap Premiere

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—The first visit of a Japanese premier to Australia was met today with solemn faces and a cool, sultry air.

The usual flag-flying reception was missing as Premier Nobusuke Kishi landed to begin a seven-day visit. Kishi is touring Southeast Asian nations.

He was met here by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, Victorian State Premier Henry Bolte and Trade Minister John McEwen. Japanese consular officials expressed disappointment that no official welcoming flag was flown for Kishi at the airport.

As the representative of an enemy in World War II who was stopped from short of invading Australia, Kishi was the target of many muttered remarks.

Their's Not To Reason Why; Their's But To Wrap And Tie

By HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Before the last drop of cheer drains from the wassail bowl, won't someone please propose a toast to those unsung supermen of the holiday season—the Christmas help.

Through thick and thin, cash and credit children lost and parents found, address unknown and C.O.D., bargain and exchange, they've managed somehow to move the mighty mass of Santa's cargo out of the warehouse, under the tree.

Customers abuse them, knowing their transitory status. The regular crew shuns them, like searvants on a summer cruise. Floor walkers and supervisors browbeat them. Small children, most of all, sense their disciplinary inadequacies and mark them fair game for harassment.

But when the rush is over, when the commissions and bonuses have been handed out to the permanent staff, when the Old Man makes his inevitable Christmas speech, they'll be left standing alone and unwanted, like a broken ornament fallen from the tree.

Come, is there none to sing them a carol, send them a card or even wish them a Merry Christmas?

How could there ever be a Christmas without them? Who would wrap the gifts, tote that gnarl, drive the trucks and man the cash registers?

Who would push the ludicrous line of Christmas ties, hold back the savage attackers at the bargain counter, get the Madison Ave. types into their trench coats by Christmas?

Who could be enlisted, on such short notice, to trim the town tree, bough deck the lamp posts in the business district, tinkle the charity bell or laugh like an idiot for eight hours a day so some unknown and hitherto unseen child can carry his belief in Santa Claus into another year?

None but the Christmas help.

True, there may have been a few hapless souls among them who brought dishonor on the regiment, but by and large they were a marvelous lot.

Perhaps one over-zealous Santa did besmirch his bearded dignity and wind up in court with tottering step and suspicious breath.

Perhaps one part-time postal carrier, weary of death of barking dogs, unreadable addresses and penny postage dues, had the unfeeling temerity to dump a bag of Yuletide mail down a sewer and spend the remainder of his shift recumbent under a tavern table.

Maybe one toy train salesman, woefully weary of saying "don't touch please" and constantly putting cars back on the track, was moved to end it all with management by deliberately dispatching a fast freight down a track already occupied by the Panama Limited.

Perhaps somewhere in this favored Christmas land, one neophyte clerk dared to find the customer wrong, trample on the floor walker's carnation or boldly return the fire when somebody's darning advanced on him with a water pistol.

But what are these among so many dedicated denizens of the December payrolls?

Won't someone please find it in his heart at this happy time of the year to wish the best and many more to all those unnamed heroes who signed up for a short hitch in Santa's part-time army?

If there is none, then please allow me:

Before the last drop
Drains from the cup
Please allow me
To humbly stand up
And taking my glass
Hold it aloft
In honor of those
Who'll soon be laid off.
From each permanent employe
Each walker of floors.
From each of the bosses
With names on their doors.
From each sassy shopper
Each mischievous whelp
We bid "Merry Christmas."
To all Christmas help.

Lamesa, Big Spring Students Honored

PLAINVIEW — Eleven Wayland Baptist College juniors and seniors have been selected for the 1957-58 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," according to Dean Cecil Cooper. To qualify the student must be a leader in both scholarship and extracurricular activities.

Uncle Ray: Major Money Fell With Balloon Into Sea

By RAMON COFFMAN

News of the early balloon flights in France traveled far and wide. Soon there were flights in Great Britain, Italy and Austria.

The first British balloon to make a successful flight was the property of a Scotsman, James Tyler. He had studied to become a doctor, but had turned to the work of writing.

During his free time, Tyler worked on a balloon. He prepared a hot air balloon which had the general shape of an upright barrel. After two failures, he managed to rise to a height of several hundred feet.

Another pioneer British balloonist was Major John Money, an Englishman. One hundred and sixty-two years ago he made a solitary ascent in front of a large crowd.

The air was calm enough near the ground, but as the major rose, he found a strong breeze blowing. Within a few minutes, he saw that he was nearing the eastern coast of England. Unless he made a quick descent, he would be blown over the North Sea!

He pulled at the cord which should have opened a valve to let out gas, but the device failed to work. When the gas had been put in the bag, a cloth had been placed

Jr. Colleges May Be Answer To The Crowded Universities

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—"How immense the gain if a youth could begin his higher education in his home town at a point near the end of the university sophomore year, to go over all the studies a boy ought to study. Then let the boy, grown to be a man, emigrate to the university."

President William Watts Folwell of the University of Minnesota said that in 1889.

So the "modern" idea of the junior college isn't so new as you might think.

Even before Folwell spoke, in fact—in 1852—Lasell Junior College at Aburndale, Mass., was offering two years of standard college work.

In 1900 there were eight junior colleges in the United States. By 1950 there were 200. 10 years later nearly 500. Today the number approaches 650. Three out of five are public institutions, charging modest — if any — tuition fees.

With no end in sight to the hordes of youth clamoring at the gates of America's higher education plant, the junior college seems to many educators to be the way out.

"A life preserver for higher education," says G. Robert Koopman, Michigan's associate state superintendent of education.

Bolstering Koopman's view is the surging enrollment of the junior colleges, far more spectacular than their growth in numbers. Public institutions, which account for nine-tenths of the nation's nearly 600,000 two-year students, have seen enrollments increase nearly 150 per cent since 1939. In the same period public four-year colleges and university student bodies increased only 81 per cent.

Since half of all those who start college work never get beyond the sophomore year, the weed-out service performed for the four-year institutions by the hometown junior college is obvious. The saving in the upper division schools in terms of dormitories alone is tremendous.

Junior colleges are quick to deny; however, that their main function is to relieve pressure on the four-year schools.

"What the rise of the junior college really means," says Jesse P. Bogue, executive secretary of the American Assn. of Junior Colleges, "is that more people than ever before will have an opportunity to take college work. The junior college is not an emergency institution."

Surveys in New York state and Florida indicate that 60 per cent or more of high school seniors who had not planned to go to college (finances were the biggest single reason) would change their plans if

The cotton gins are probably as busy as they've ever been, with most of them going 24 hours a day. Gordon Hodnett at the Co-Operative Gin & Supply in Big Spring said they lacked six bales catching up Tuesday night.

Hodnett says the biggest part of the crop will be harvested in another week or two. He expects a week or 10-day rush, providing the weather stays dry and not too cold, then there won't be much left but the scrapping.

Hodnett thinks he has already ginned half the year's total.

"We've got around 2,000 bales now," he said, "and I doubt if we reach the 1955 record when we ginned over 4,300. If we do, we'll have to pick up some new customers."

There is a strip of cotton out near the Albert McKinney farm northeast of Big Spring which will average well over a half bale per acre. McKinney's might have been a lot better, except for a hail that stripped part of it early in August. On part of the field not reached by the hail he picked a half bale per acre the first picking.

He said Harvey Fryar had an exceptionally good crop, and should make three-quarters of a bale per acre.

Farmers in that area have had very few crop failures, even during the driest years.

"It seemed that every time a rain got to that part of the county we received part of it," McKinney said.

County Agent Jimmy Taylor says the ranges were never in better condition, at least not in several years. Winter weeds and grass are growing steadily and should furnish quite a lot of grazing. Not many cattle are on local ranches, however, Taylor said. They are scarce and high-priced, so there hasn't been any big rush to re-stock the pastures.

Two of the main winter grasses found on most ranges are rescue grass and wild rye.

In speaking of the cotton crop, Taylor thinks the county yield should be between 24,000 and 25,000 bales. The first estimate made by the Texas Employment Commission was 32,000, but this was scaled down to 24,000 after the early freeze and wet weather.

Taylor says Howard County farmers had 76,000 acres to plant in cotton, but 19,000 went into the Soil Bank. Of the remaining 57,000 acres, he thinks the yield will be nearly a half bale to the acre.

One Howard County couple doing quite well with caged layers are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Marshall of Coahoma. About a year ago they bought their poultry houses from Frank Burkholder.

Since then they have made several changes. They have replaced most of the hens with Hy-lines, and added extra pullets until they now have 1,500. No extra cages were needed; they simply put two biddies to the cage.

The recent snow caused a drop in production, but before that it was extremely high. From one group of 124 hens that they had been gathering around 110 eggs a day.

In producing eggs, one of the big problems is marketing. A lot of poultry owners are forced to sell to produce houses and egg dealers have found the profit margin quite thin. In order to get the highest possible price for their eggs, the Marshalls have developed two retail routes in Big Spring.

"We also have customers who come here for eggs," said Mrs. Marshall. "Some of them come from as far away as Goldsmith, Odessa and north of Lamesa. Our main trouble is in getting enough eggs. Right now we can't supply the demand."

Sometimes our sweetest memories are of things that were not so pleasant at the time. Perhaps the distance of time lends an enchantment that could not be appreciated when the incidents happened.

After my Dad passed 80, he often spoke of Portales, N. M., and the years he spent proving up on a government claim.

Back about 1898 my parents, two uncles and my mother's father and mother started out in covered wagons from Montague County, Texas, to get some of the free land being opened for settlement west of Portales.

In New Mexico they put up half dugouts, plowed the short-grass sod, and tried to make a living from the soil. The rains never came, though, and crops that sprouted in the spring withered and died before the hot winds of summer. In order to survive, Dad and one uncle developed a cedar post business.

They would take two wagons, spend a day driving westward to the "breaks," cut posts for two days, and come home the fourth day. The posts were then sold to ranchers and settlers who lived nearby.

But after three years of drought, the folks were down to their last nickel. All spring they had watched the sky for rain clouds that never formed. Instead the west wind blew day after day to parch the grass and dry out the fields.

Finally by the middle of June, they knew the homestead gamble had failed. Another year would have meant hunger, so the group regretfully decided to go back to Texas.

They loaded part of the goods on the wagons, abandoned the rest and drove slowly away from the homesteads about noon one day. That night they made a dry camp 15 miles from home. Sometime along about midnight they were awakened by a heavy-thundered cloud that dropped nearly three inches of rain.

Next morning a conference was held. The drought seemed to be broken, at least for awhile, and they debated whether to return or continue their journey on to Montague County. Finally one uncle decided to try again, while the others kept driving eastward.

About a year before he died, my Dad told me of those frontier experiences and spoke so wistfully of Portales that I knew he would like to see the place once more.

I resolved that the first time I had a few days off, I'd take him and Mama back up there and let them re-visit all the places they had once known.

But I waited too long. Time ran out, for not long afterwards he was hurt by a fall and was never able to make another trip anywhere. I've regretted that he never got to see Portales again, but perhaps it was just as well. Seeing all the changes that have taken place during a half century could not have been nearly so pleasant as the memories he carried away with him.

O'Brien Speaks On Thanksgiving

By GRETCHEN BRIDEN

School was dismissed Wednesday for the Thanksgiving Holidays, but not before the season was observed with a joint assembly.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave a talk to the student body on Wednesday. The speech class, under the guidance of Miss Louise Williams, and Mrs. Lynn Storman's English class gave a choral reading. The choir, directed by Mrs. Forrest Gambill, sang two songs.

Classes will resume Monday morning.

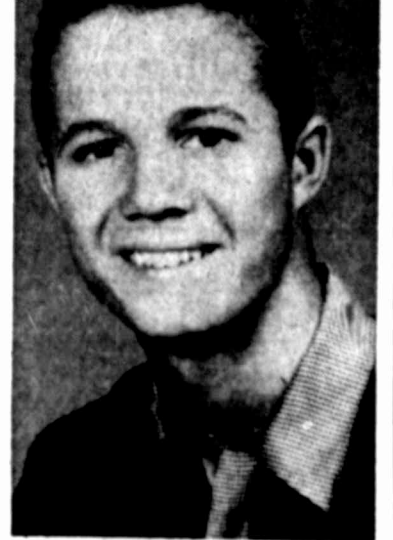

On Monday evening Judy Foster, ninth grade candidate, was crowned Harvest Queen. Judy was escorted by Tommy Whatley. Katie Bess Morgan, eighth grade candidate, was escorted by Jimmy Hinds, and Dianna Harris, seventh grade candidate, was escorted by Joe Don Musgrove. The carnival was a great success, financially as well as otherwise.

Among the many couples attending the harvest dance were Gloria Greenwood and Don Drake, Joan Jordan and Jim Burk, Dorothy Wheeler and Jackie Piper, Telie Grooms and Joe Ewing, Linda Bell and Jimmy Hinds, Gretchen Briden and Gil Jones, Kenny Kat Stephens and Skipper Driver, Mary Read and Emmett Morgan, Gail Potter and Dexter Pate, Carol Burks and Johnny Freeman, Cleo Thomas and Richard Atkins, Diana Harris and Joe Don Musgrove, Judy Gillian and James Naper, and Dixie Dement and Leahmon Bryant.

Our Freshman of the Week is Carey King, president of the student council. He has served on the student council all three years he has been in junior high. He was president of the seventh and eighth grade classes, and in the seventh grade he was elected class favorite. Carey has worked on the year-book staff all three years in BSJHS and he is an all-around athlete. He has been in junior high. He was president of the Hi-Y Club in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. He is a member of the First Methodist Church.

U.S. Traffic Toll May Drop

CHICAGO — The 1957 death toll on the nation's highways might be 1,000 less than last year, the National Safety Council estimated today.

Council officials said their optimistic estimate of 38,600 deaths was based on three factors:

1. Some 31,350 highway deaths during the first 10 months, about 800 less than 1956.
2. During the first eight months of 1957, 5.6 persons died for every 100 million miles of highway travel. Last year, the figure was 6.
3. Twenty-nine of 46 states reporting showed traffic records for the first 10 months of 1957 which were improved over last year. Montana and Idaho showed 20 per cent improvements.

In October, 455 of the reporting cities had perfect records. The three largest were Richmond, Va., Jacksonville, Fla., and Salt Lake City, Utah.

There were 135 cities which had perfect records during the first 10 months. The three largest were Lynn, Mass., Rock Island, Ill., and Ann Arbor, Mich.

In 1956, 39,628 died in highway accidents.

The council said deaths in October totaled 3,490, approximately the same as in October 1956.

Leading cities in the 100,000 to 200,000 population group at the end of the first 10 months, ranked according to the number of deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles, were Montgomery, Ala., 0.2 and Lubbock, Tex., 0.3.

Danes, Germans To Aid Norway

OSLO, Norway — A high Norwegian military source said today that Danish and German naval forces will take over the joint naval defense of southern Norway.

Norway's tiny navy will be concentrated in the far north, the informant said. He asked not to be identified.

Naval defense of the rest of Norway's long coast would be limited to coastal artillery, he indicated. The informant said it is expected that the NATO summit conference in Paris next month will ratify the decision.

Danish - German cooperation would be counted on to bottle up the Danish Straits in case of war, leaving the Norwegian navy free to act as a shield in the strategically important north Norway area.

Strange Death

DALLAS — Mrs. Gertrude Gattis, 37, was found dead in her home yesterday. An inquest was ordered. A girl, 14, told police she found the woman lying on the floor with one leg of a heavy cedar chest pressed against her throat.

Ghost Breaks Happy Family

SUNDERLAND, England — Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dixon say their happy family was broken up by a ghost.

The Dixons, arrested on a charge of neglecting their three children, told a court the ghost invaded their home in a city housing development last March.

"We saw a shimmering coil on the wall," Norman, 27, said. "We heard footsteps on the stairs when there was nobody there. At night cold hands pulled off the bedclothes and clutched us."

The Dixons finally called in the Rt. Rev. John Ramsbotham, bishop of Jarrow, who tried to exorcise the specter by walking through the house in his robe and mitre and carrying his staff. The ghost refused to cooperate.

"I asked the Council for an exchange of houses," Dixon said. "I was told I could try to arrange a private exchange, but when people learned our house was haunted they wouldn't trade."

In an effort to force the City Council's hand, Dixon said, he decided to quit paying the rent. The Council merely evicted the Dixons from the house.

Police witnesses said they found the young father and mother and their three sons, ranging from 18 months to 4 years, wandering around in the rain.

The court put the Dixons on probation for 12 months. "You acted stupidly," the judge said, "in leaving the house without making proper arrangements for your children."

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are staying at the home of a brother. The children are at a city child center. The haunted house is still empty.

Frats Fight Integration

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The nation's college fraternities set out today on what may be an organized fight to preserve racial and religious discrimination clauses in their constitutions.

A committee of the National Interfraternity Conference in progress here issued a report naming 63 U. S. college campuses on which it said antidiscrimination "agitation" is practiced.

The report criticized what it called "planned attempts to reduce Greek-letter societies to a position of impotence, if not to eliminate them entirely."

It was to be submitted for approval or disapproval today to the General Assembly comprising more than 700 college students and alumni who represent 61 national fraternities. The three-day conference opened yesterday.

Francis S. Van Derbur of Denver, conference chairman, said the report prepared by a committee on fraternity autonomy was "a well-considered document by some of the finest minds in the fraternity system."

The committee chairman is Herbert L. Brown of Philadelphia, an alumni member of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Christmas Schedule Set At Post Office

Starting on Dec. 9, the Big Spring Post Office will begin its Christmas schedule of keeping its receiving windows for packages and mail open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Postmaster Elmer Boatler, announcing the schedule, pointed out that it is inevitable the grand rush each day at the windows will be during the lunch hour. Therefore, he suggests that everyone who can do so make an effort to mail his packages before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Boatler said that early appeals to mail early have already begun to bear fruit and that he was most appreciative for the cooperation being shown by the post office patrons. However, the crisis is just beginning. From now on through the holiday season, the volume of letters, Christmas cards and parcels will mount steadily.

He suggests that all persons send all Christmas cards which must travel the greatest distance ahead of those which are for local distribution. By staggering mailing of Christmas mail in this manner, the task of the post office will be materially lightened and the sender will have a much better assurance that his greeting messages will arrive and be delivered well ahead of the holiday.

A good deadline for all out-of-town parcels, letters and cards is Dec. 10. For nearer points, the deadline is Dec. 15.

Boatler also urged that all business firms cooperate by postponing any heavy catalogue or circular mailing program until after Dec. 25. This will aid materially in keeping the mails clear for the holiday rush.

Boatler also recommended, when a patron dispatches a package to a friend or relative, that, in addition to the label attached, a second label be wrapped inside the package.

Thus, if the parcel should lose its label and have to be opened to determine its destination, it can be readily sent on its way.

He reiterated his appeal for all persons to make certain all addresses on Christmas mail are complete. He likewise again pointed out that a 3-cent stamp on a Christmas card is double insurance that the message will reach its destination in quicker time.

He also said that it is definitely "good taste" and socially correct to place a return address on a Christmas card and he heartily recommended that this be made a general practice.

A Bible Thought For Today

If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. (1 John 1:9)

Two For Smooth Transaction

Now with Thanksgiving out of the way we can concentrate our energies and attention on Christmas, and the sooner we get our shopping attended to the better.

You can help yourself and the cause of Christmas shopping in general by shopping as early in the morning as possible, and as early in the week and month as possible. Also, do your mailing early, and if you are one of those generous souls who sends out a good many presents by mail, don't wait until you have accumulated a large pile of them to be dumped on the postoffice all at once; make frequent mailings as you go along.

As an invited guest in retail establishments, you have a right to expect courteous and attentive service. But you should remember that a great deal of extra help is put on for the holiday shopping, and it is not always possible to find experienced and dependable salespeople and wrappers. You could not expect to be waited on instantly and with utmost efficiency.

So enter the spirit of Christmas, and make allowances. Be as patient with the salespeople as you expect them to be with you. If your feet hurt and you're harassed and confused with the crush at the counters, remember their feet may hurt too and they probably are harassed and a bit confused.

We believe every retail establishment appreciates your patronage and makes a real effort to earn it. But a boss or manager can't be everywhere at once, and now and then a shopper may meet with what he considers a discourtesy, so don't hold the entire establishment responsible for a single miscue. Of course if the thing is so often repeated as to become a pain in the neck, you've got a case, and you take your purse and your presence elsewhere. But stores which incur a reputation for discourtesy and inattentive or sloppy service don't stay in business long, unless they turn over a new leaf.

We believe our retail establishments will stack up with the best. From what we see in the paper they are ready with the goods and are anxious to serve you. As a potential buyer, you can help them maintain a high degree of service and satisfaction by shopping early and being a courteous and considerate shopper. It takes two to make a smooth and satisfying transaction.

Just What Is The South?

When somebody speaks of "The South," exactly which states does he have in mind? Here the Census Bureau is of little help, for it groups states like Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia with others like South Carolina and Georgia in the same geographical category, "South Atlantic."

The term, "Solid South" once was common to designate those 10 states that always voted Democratic (except for Alfred E. Smith in 1928). Others like Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma that sometimes voted Republican for President were then termed "Border" states. But Eisenhower carried three "Solid South" states in 1952 and four in 1956, while certain states outside the "Solid South" were voting for Stevenson—Kentucky and West Virginia in 1952, Missouri in 1956.

Sometimes the South was defined as the 11 states that seceded from the Union in 1861. But three other slave states,

Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky, may well have been kept from seceding only by the federal troops controlling them, and Missouri also was a slave state.

You can't do it, either, by percentage of Negro population, because Delaware, seldom called a Southern state, has a larger proportion of Negroes than Texas (1950 Census). Baltimore had a larger non-white population percentage in 1950 than Little Rock, and Philadelphia than Miami or Fort Worth.

Perhaps the best that can be done is to use "Deep South" for a belt of six states—Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina. Even so, the Negro percentage of the total population is about the same in Virginia, North Carolina and Florida (1950), outside the Deep South, as in Arkansas. And by that yardstick eastern Arkansas would belong in the Deep South while western Arkansas wouldn't.

Country Needs A Presidential Council

WASHINGTON — Every illness of the President, however slight, teaches a lesson that apparently the American people have not been willing thus far to take seriously. It is that one-man government in the United States is dangerous and that the alternative—cabinet government—cannot long be delayed if America is to avoid a damaging emergency.

Almost everyone familiar with governmental operations knows that the present structure of the executive branch has long since become obsolete. Yet the presidency, as a functioning office, rarely gets attention. The tendency of the electorate is to blame all the ills of the country on the chief executive. He would have to be a superman to satisfy all the popular conceptions of what he should do in public policy. He is the victim today of a mass of work foisted on him by an ever-growing bureaucracy and an ever-expanding set of functions imposed on him by law because Congress doesn't know where else to delegate authority.

The fashion now is to blame Sherman Adams—the man who stands between Mr. Eisenhower and the demands of many congressmen and senators to have the President shake hands with their constituents or hear personally the grievances affecting their respective districts back home. Mr. Adams himself has a superhuman task, and it is no wonder that he is lambasted by congressmen who are not given access to the President when they want it.

In recent years the chief executive has been given by law many presidential assistants, but the habit nowadays is to lump them together and visit upon them exaggerated ideas of power and the title, often referred to with subtle implications in the press—of "palace guard."

Nor is the answer to appoint an executive vice-president as has been sometimes suggested. For the real problem is not in administering the duties of the office but in policy-making. There are plenty of officials and staffs to carry out orders but not enough time to decide what the orders shall be.

The simplest solution lies in the formation of a presidential council, which would be created by law and would give the chief executive, to sit at his side, at least five persons who have been nominated by him and been confirmed by the Senate. These five men would be freed from the responsibility of administering any of the departments of the executive branch, as cabinet secretaries do today. They could have their offices in the executive building alongside the President. Since they would be men of stature and would be chosen presumably because of their eminence, they would be able to advise constantly on questions of foreign or domestic policy, conferring in advance with cabinet officers and then arranging for them to sit in with the President when final decisions are to be made. This would save time and avoid two-man decisions by the President and one cabinet member.

The present cabinet members could be made eligible for the council if it was found desirable to put an executive manager in charge of each department. Today the secretaries of the Navy, the Army and the Air Force are not statutory members of the cabinet, but they are heads of their respective departments. They rank with cabinet officers and can attend cabinet meetings.

What is needed is a small group to help the President make policies. The meetings of the present cabinet and of the National Security Council are too large and include many officials from executive agencies who are not cabinet officers. These two large groups could still meet periodically, but a presidential council could meet every day and function very much like the board of directors of those large corporations which confine membership on the board largely to operating vice-presidents.

The nations of the British Commonwealth have a cabinet government in which decisions are made by the group, which, in turn, is responsible to the majority party in Parliament. While America may not be ready for such a change, the principle of fixing responsibility for policy-making in an executive group, rather than in a single man, is sound enough to be applied in America. The executive branch of the United States government is today a distended, top-heavy mechanism. It is not suitable for "the atomic age" or, as the phrase now goes, for "the missile age," either. When will Congress spend a little time on the problem and come up with a plan to give the American people a presidential council that will remove the dangers of one-man government and assure continuity of action at all times, irrespective of the illnesses of a president? There aren't enough hours in the day, even for a President with the most robust physique, to do all that's expected nowadays of the elected head of the federal government.

The Wages Of Story Telling

WASHINGTON — After each of President Eisenhower's three illnesses, the White House first gave wrong information or only part of the truth and let it stand for hours. Later it told the full story.

This happened after his heart seizure and ileitis attack and now again after his mild stroke. But this time, when the White House attempted to tell the real story at last, it made a mess of it.

Eisenhower had his heart attack in Denver early Sept. 24, 1955. At 2 a. m., the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was called to Eisenhower's side.

At 8 a. m. Snyder announced the President had a "mild digestive upset." At noon that day Snyder said the President's condition was "good" and again said he had a "digestive upset."

At 2:35 p. m. Murray Snyder, then Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, told newsmen the President had suffered a heart attack. Press secretary James C. Hagerty on vacation, flew to Denver and took over. He did a masterful job thereafter.

Eisenhower had a history of ileitis inflammation in the small intestine. He felt a stomach upset at 12:45 a. m. June 8, 1956. Over the phone Dr. Snyder prescribed a "slight dose of milk of magnesia."

Eisenhower didn't improve. At 2 a. m. Dr. Snyder went to the White House and stayed all night. At 8:30 a. m. Hagerty announced Eisenhower had an "upset stomach and headache this morning."

Again at 10:30 a. m. Hagerty described the President's condition as "not an illness but an upset" and said he had a "hunch" Eisenhower would go to his Gettysburg farm for the weekend.

At 2:25 p. m. Hagerty said Eisenhower was being taken to the hospital as a "preventive measure" and that the President's illness had been diagnosed as ileitis. Eisenhower was operated on the following morning.

When Eisenhower suffered a "blockage of a small brain artery" last Monday, Hagerty was in Paris. The assistant press secretary, Mrs. Anne Wheaton, announced at 6:30 p. m. that day that Eisenhower had had a "chill" and had been ordered to bed by his doctors. One of these doctors was Snyder.

Mrs. Wheaton said it was Dr. Snyder's decision to withhold any medical details until the following morning. She had a prepared statement when she talked. She refused to say who drew it up.

She met with reporters several times again that night and the following morning, Nov. 26, but provided no more detailed information. At 2:55 p. m. Tuesday she appeared before newsmen with a medical report.

This report revealed that Snyder and other doctors had examined Eisenhower the previous day and diagnosed his condition as a blood clot or occlusion (closing) in a blood vessel of the brain.

Nevertheless, the report given out Monday said Eisenhower had had a chill and made no mention of the doctors' findings.

Mrs. Wheaton was emphatic in saying it was not a stroke. She made a mistake — which had to be corrected later — by saying she thought the President's illness was a form of heart attack.

Hagerty flew back from Paris on Wednesday he was asked why the truth on the President's condition had been held up 24 hours. Hagerty replied that the doctors wanted to be sure of their diagnosis.

When he was asked if he would have handled White House announcements on Eisenhower's illness differently than Mrs. Wheaton, Hagerty said: "No, I don't think so."

New York's A Lonely Town

NEW YORK — This is a lonely town for people who are alone. I have made sort of a study of the loneliness in this town—along the public parks, in the restaurants, and the case studies which follow have the single virtue of fact. They are real. No novelist dreamed them up.

To the library at 42nd St. — that's the one with the lions in front — a man called Harold came almost every night after work. He made a slight pretense of consulting technical journals but mostly Harold came to talk to the ladies at the information desk.

They came to know him as gentle, well-spoken, well-dressed, cultured, and as a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Harold also was a hunchback.

He came to talk, but he came also to feed the pigeons on the front steps. Especially, a lame pigeon.

He talked about his aunt and uncle in Boston. He lived alone in New York. Then one day he told the girls at the desk that his aunt had died. Then his uncle died, and Harold went up to look after their personal effects.

Two weeks later, the girls at the information desk read that Harold had died. It was one of those stories. He had jumped or fallen from his 12th-floor apartment.

The sharpest etching in loneliness you'll find in New York is at the Automat, the coin cafeteria. Mostly people who come in to eat at an Automat are out in 20 or 25 minutes. The widows and the old maids take longer.

I have it on the word of one Automat manager that, having nothing else to do having sat in the park or caught a movie or watched the afternoon TV in their room, they can't resist coming to the cafeteria for dinner as early as 5 p. m. Then they try to stretch it to 9 or 10.

Around The Rim

Possible Future Industries

This is being written on Saturday night, while we wait for the presses to roll with Sunday morning's paper. Before my regular day with the "Rim" column (Friday), someone might second-guess me on this idea. Some brilliant scientist may already have done so, which seems most likely.

The subject of this treatise is an idea I had years ago, soon after the atomic bomb first came into the news, an idea I forgot in the later rush of events. Now, this afternoon, an article has come over the wire telling of an experiment which apparently verifies a theory devised by a young fellow who, 12 years ago, was just graduated from high school.

The item described the explosion of a nuclear device deep in the bowels of the earth, a blast that lifted a mountain half a foot. The article said scientists were now trying to devise ways of tapping a huge pool of magma (molten rock) created by the explosion. It did not spell out exactly what they were trying to tap, nor why, but it is obvious that power is referred to. Thus, it may not be long before those experimenters have sunk shafts down to the magma, pouring in water to tap the available heat and using the resulting steam to run a power plant.

This, essentially, was the brainstorm I had 12 years ago. I even remember how I got the idea. There was an article describing how steam vents opening into the air on a hillside in Italy had been incorporated into a power plant. The steam came from pools of magma deep down under Mt. Etna, pools to which an underground stream of water had found its way. Knowing that an atomic bomb releases tremendous amounts of energy, I conceived the notion of running shafts far down as it is possible to drill and setting off a nuclear charge to create a pool of magma. If the explosion is deep enough, I reasoned, the very weight of the rock above it will keep most of the heat of the blast from being transmuted into a shock wave.

Not that such a blast would not move a mountain. It already has. But even the tremendous amount of energy needed to lift a mountain half a foot is but a fraction of the total released. I have no idea just how long a power plant could operate from the energy of one bomb set off underground, but it would be some considerable time, you may be sure.

Just think what might be possible in generation of power if a hydrogen bomb should be set off at an even deeper level.

But the generation of power is not the only possibility from underground explosions of nuclear devices. It is believed by some geologists that, many miles below the earth's surface, there exist pools of molten metals. Several shaped charges might be able to penetrate way beyond the limits of present drilling equipment to tap these metals, and other types of charges would force the metals to the surface, where they would lie upon the ground free for the taking.

A shaped charge is made with the explosive material wrapped around three sides of a cylinder of material to be expelled, with one end open in the direction in which the blast is to be directed. It was bazookas firing shaped charges that stopped Red tanks in Korea after conventional anti-tank shells had failed. The shaped charges forced streams of metal through the thick walls of the tanks. Inside, the metal particles penetrated everything, including fuel tanks and artillery shell casings. Results were fatal. It was a shaped charge, also, which sent the Air Force's artificial meteors streaking into outer space recently.

A nuclear shaped charge directed downwards would send a stream of metal particles deep into the rock at speeds faster than sound. It would be drilling with a vengeance. As for "pumping" the pools of molten metal once they are tapped: A shock wave, if powerful enough, will cause material backed up by solid rock to bounce. If made to bounce with sufficient power, a pool of molten metal could be forced upward through the shaft and onto the surface. This could be accomplished by a nuclear device wrapped about with a substance, such as water, which will expand as a gas with great pressure in the presence of heat.

Long before I'm an old man, I expect to see at least two new industries develop: An electric power industry which generates pools of magma from which to draw power; and a mining industry which drills for and pumps to the surface all manner of metals.

That Expense Account And The Tax Man

WASHINGTON — To the ordinary American and, particularly, to citizens of my vintage, the Cohan rule refers to the first four decades of the 20th Century when George M. Cohan owned Broadway as a song and dance man, playwright ("Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Miracle Man," "Hello Broadway," actor ("Ah, Wilderness," "I'd Rather Be Right," in which he impersonated Franklin D. Roosevelt), and composer of such hits as "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy," "You're a Grand Old Flag," and "Over There." The World War I marching song for which he was voted a special Congressional Medal of Honor in 1927.

George M. Cohan freely entertained actors, editors, drama critics, directors, producers, etc. And one year when he deducted $22,000 for entertainment, the Internal Revenue Service asked substantiation. When he couldn't produce records, he was denied the deduction.

Cohan appealed to the Board of Tax Appeals and lost. But he was a determined man. (When Actors' Equity came in, he refused to recognize the union and closed all the plays he had running.) He appealed to the U. S. Circuit Court. That court held that entertaining is part of the theater, that some allowance should be made for such expenses even if every dollar spent couldn't be accounted for.

The Department of Internal Revenue made a stab at what a man in Cohan's position in the Broadway whirl would spend on entertainment, came up with $11,000, and Cohan's lawyers agreed to the 50-cents-on-the-dollar settlement.

So, when taxpayers get their 1957 tax forms which require itemization of expenses paid by employers, they can rely on the Cohan rule. Approximations, if reasonable, will be permitted. It won't be necessary to prove by voucher outlays for meals, hotel rooms, airplane, rail and other transportation, for entertainment and for whom, and miscellaneous.

However, looking ahead to 1958, taxpayers who are allowed expense accounts would do well to keep records. The Internal Revenue Service then will ask for detail. Fancy-free estimates will be subject to increasingly critical examination.

The Treasury proceeds on the assumption that when a corporation or firm okays an expense account, it does so for business reasons only, and not to improve the standard of living of the employee. Thus, tickets to the theater, yachts for entertaining customers, even the hiring of female companions have been allowed. If a man takes a customer out to a $12 dinner—when his usual standard on his own money would be $3.50—well, the Treasury won't quibble. The Treasury doesn't try to standardize or canalize business morals or practices.

But cases have been discovered in which owners of closed corporations have built swimming pools, jungle gyms for their youngsters, houses for themselves out of the corporate till. Closer scrutiny will stop this.

Grim Days Ahead For Expense Account

The Internal Revenue Service, in the finest Perils-of-Pauline tradition, has just staged the greatest rescue act of modern times. At the last minute, literally at one minute to midnight, the service galloped to the rescue of the taxpayer by reversing its hideous decision to require citizens to fill in the new expense account proviso when filing their individual income tax returns for 1957.

This decision to let John Q. off the hook for another year will do more to preserve the new American way of life than lowering the rediscout rate or putting another chicken in the pot. Indeed, that extra chicken is already simmering in innumerable pots, thanks to the fact that more and more Americans are living high, wide and handsome on the corporate expense account.

The greatest fringe benefit ever invented for the white-collar and executive classes is the office or corporate expense kitty. Since World War II, the business expense account has enabled countless citizens to realize the old American dream of maintaining a champagne appetite on a beer income.

The postwar boom, which poured money into businesses both great and small, led to a management decision at least on a par with such innovations as the coffee break and Muzak to sooth the savage business breast. The bosses obviously decided that they and their employees might as well dissipate the golden horde as to hand it all over to Uncle Sam.

And so the corporate expense account was born and, with it, a new American aristocracy living it up on the corporate cuff. It is impossible to estimate the number of citizens who, in these trying and inflationary times, have been able to make both ends meet by grafting them onto the office till.

I cannot but rejoice in the sensible decision of the Internal Revenue Service to preserve the status quo in this sensitive area of American public life. For example, there are a dozen resplendent restaurants in New York whose interiors I would never glimpse except for the expense account nabobs among my acquaintances. Indeed, without these bigger and-expense men, such restaurants would probably collapse.

It is easy to spot this new aristocracy. It carries a fountain pen in lieu of cash. It signs for everything, including the waiter's tip. Money, obviously, is for menials! When the bills come in each month, they are paid out of the corporate expense account and stashed away as proof positive, when income-tax time rolls around, that nowadays it costs a fortune to do monkey business.

It is also proof that the pen is not only mightier than the sword but more potent than the pelf.

To be forced, however to document and justify each of these signed tabs would create havoc in the business community across the land. Then, for sure, the battle between fact and fiction would be joined. The fallout from the gravy train could be catastrophic.

So the Internal Revenue Service is wisely refraining from asking for proof positive in the expense account division in 1957. But that cloud no larger than a restaurant tab, could be ominous. For more than a decade a corporate expense account has been as good as a license to steal, but a grim time may not be far off when the money a man spends must be his own.

Nail Home Is Scene Of Wedding Of Miss Walker, S. R. Flournoy

An 11 o'clock wedding on Thanksgiving Day united in marriage Frances Elouise Walker and Silas Ray Flournoy at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nall 1305 Scurry.

The bride is the daughter of George P. Walker of Oxford, Miss., the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Flournoy of Fluvanna.

An improvised arch over a large mirror reflected the background for the wedding party as the double ring vows were read by Thomas E. Cudd, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ.

Twined with greenery and white gladioli, the arch was centered with white wedding bells and flanked by arrangements of white gladioli.

Mrs. J. W. Lewis of Ira, pianist, played "One Alone," "Walk Hand In Hand With Me" and "Theme" from "Concerto in B Flat Minor" as well as the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by R. L. Nall.

Her bridal gown was of imported lace lined with tulle and worn over ice blue taffeta. The strapless bodice, covered with a cutaway bolero, joined a full-waltz length skirt. Sleeves of the bolero were shirred just below the elbows and its stand-up collar and edge were outlined with seed pearls.

A tiny hat of two pearls and rhinestones held a seed-pearl veil in place. On a white testament, the bride carried a white orchid showered with lily of the valley.

Following the wedding tradition, she wore the wedding band of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Owen Walker. Something borrowed and blue was a garter, which belongs to her cousin, Mrs. Wayne Truxal, and in her shoe she had a penny for good luck.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Charlene Wasson, who was attired in a sheath of pink lace, styled with a cummerbund of pink chiffon in a lighter shade. This looped in the back and floated to the hemline. Miss Wasson carried a Colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums with silver and white streamers.

Delwyn Dee Phillips of Garden City served as best man.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the Nall home, to the bridal party, the father of the bride, and the following guests from out of town: Jimmy Castleberry of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Griffin of Lovington, N. N.; and Mrs. Nan Salzer of Odessa.

The bride's table was spread with a white organdy cloth and bore the bouquet of the maid of honor as a centerpiece. The three-tiered wedding cake, placed on a large reflector, was trimmed in silver droplets and white mums. A miniature bridal couple stood atop the cake.

At a table decorated with a single long-stemmed rose, guests were registered by Mrs. Truxal of Roswell, N. M. Two other cousins of the bride, Lou Ann Nall and Betty Ray Clifton, did the serving. Connie Crow displayed the wedding gifts.

Mrs. Nall and the mother of the bridegroom were both frocked in navy crepe and both wore corsages of white carnations.

For a trip to San Antonio, the bride chose to wear a blue velvet sheath with a white lace collar. The sleeves were three-quarter length. Her velvet hat and gloves were white, and her shoes and bag were black shantung. On a black fur cape, she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. Flournoy is a graduate of Big Spring High School and of Howard County Junior College. During her college days, she was Best All-around Girl, Aggie Sweetheart and a member of Who's Who. She was a member of the Lass-O Club and was editor of the yearbook "Jayhawker."

The bride has been a teacher in Maedgen Elementary School, Lubbock, after taking her BA degree from Abilene Christian College. In that college, she was a member of the Cadette Social Club, the "W" Club, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Rho Alpha and the Future Teachers of America.

A graduate of Fluvanna High School, the bridegroom also attended H.C.J.C., where he was secretary of the Aggie Club and was a member of the basket ball team. He was graduated from Southwestern College of Commerce in Fort Worth and is now attending Texas Tech. He is majoring in horticulture and is also doing television and radio service.

The couple will make a home at 2107 Avenue L, Apt. 3, Lubbock.

The bride is the former Barbara Joyce Hillger, daughter of Ed Hillger, 1801 State. The bridegroom is the son of A. D. Kohler of Houston.

Double ring rites were read by Chaplain Carl Mabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sheath of mauve lace over taffeta. Her white hat was sprinkled with rhinestones and pearlized sequins, and she wore white slippers.

Homemade Fancies Are Welcome Yule Gifts

You can do a bit of Christmas "shopping" while you're preparing delightfully different dishes for company or the family. Homemade jellies, preserves, cookies, candy or fancy relishes make cherished gifts with a personal touch.

These fancies are easy to prepare because the hard work can be taken over by an electric meat grinder. This holiday helper handles all grinding and chopping jobs, not only for spreads and patties, but for chopped nuts, dried fruits, cheese, and mince meat. These recipes have special gift-giving appeal.

(Makes about 20 pieces.)
TUTTI-FRUTTI CANDY
1 lb. raisins
1/4 lb. walnuts, shelled
1 lb. pitted dates or apricots
1 lb. figs
1/2 lb. prunes
Confectioner's sugar
Soak the dates until soft. Remove pits. Put the fruit and nuts through the grinder, using the fine disc. Save a portion of the nut meats to put through last. Sprinkle confectioner's sugar on a mixing board and with the hands work the fruit and nuts until well blended. Pat out about 1/4 inch thick. Cut in desired shapes, roll in sugar, pack in a tin box, using waxed paper between the layers.

RAW CRANBERRY RELISH

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 whole orange
1/4 cup sugar
Quarter the unpeeled orange. Remove seeds. Grind in meat grinder with coarse disc. Add cranberries and grind. Stir in sugar. Let stand at least 30 minutes before serving or putting into jars. (Makes 2 cups.)

PINEAPPLE-APRICOT MARMALADE

11 oz. package dried apricots
2 1/2 cups fresh pineapple, chunked
Sugar
Chop apricots with coarse disc in grinder. Put pineapple chunks through meat grinder, using coarse disc. Combine apricots and pineapple in heavy saucepan. Boil for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Measure the mixture and add an equal amount of granulated sugar. Boil, stirring constantly, until a small portion dropped from a spoon is thick when cool (5 to 7 minutes). Pour into sterilized jars to seal. (Makes 2 pints.)

RUM BALLS

1/4 lb. vanilla wafers
1/2 cup pecans
1/4 cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons rum or rum flavoring
1 tablespoon cocoa
Run wafers through grinder with fine disc, until 1 cupful is crumbed. Grind pecans and combine with crumbs and cocoa. Stir in syrup and flavoring. Coat hands with powdered sugar and shape the mixture into small balls. Let stand on waxed paper for an hour. Roll in powdered sugar or very finely ground nutmeats.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

O God, Our Help in Ages Past

A rebellious youth revolutionizes church singing

The clerk read a Psalm. Everybody sang. That is, everybody except young Isaac Watts. After church that Sunday in 1729 when his Puritan father called him to the carpet Isaac said flatly that there was no music in the Psalms. Whereupon the outraged deacon suggested that the young upstart write something better. The result of that challenge was a revolution in church singing.

Staid, old Enoch Watts must not have been thinking when he hurled that remark at his teenage son. For at his boarding school in Southampton the deacon himself had taught Isaac five languages before the boy was 14. That is, the deacon taught when he wasn't in jail for acts against the Established Church. And for 12 years Mrs. Watts had tutored her oldest son in the writing of verse. At 7 he had won a medal for writing rhymes. He waxed so poetical that when Enoch threatened to thrash him for rhyming even in his everyday conversation he cried out, "O father do some pity take, and I will no more verses make!"

Ministers List Topics For Sunday's Sermons

Sermon topics and program schedules for Sunday have been announced by local ministers. Rev. Thomas Lynn will deliver his "farewell sermon" Sunday night at the North Side Baptist Church. He plans to move to Levelland where he will serve a church as music and education director. These other services were announced:

The Hillcrest Baptist congregation will hear their pastor, the Rev. H. L. Bingham, preach on "Sowing and Reaping" Sunday morning. His evening subject will be "What Will Happen at the Great White Throne." Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist Church, will have as his morning sermon "Christian Enthusiasm" based on Acts 26:24. In the evening he will preach on "Who Can Be Saved?" with scriptural text from Luke 8:23.

"The Church that Jesus Established—Was It Local, Organic, Universal, or Invisible—Which?" This will be the subject for both morning and evening messages of the Rev. E. G. Newcomer at Burdwell Lane Baptist Church.

Catholic

Drys Accused Of Minority Rule

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma's United Drys were accused of seeking a "minority rule" in their attempt to win county option on beer.

George Fisher, chairman of the Oklahoma United Counties, representing the beer industry, said yesterday:

"The United Drys have carefully avoided the primaries and general elections because they wish minority rule and know that they would not have a chance in primary and general elections."

He said that under the proposed constitutional amendment, a minority of voters could force an election in a county every two years and that each election would have to be a special election.

Dr. T. B. Lackey, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Oklahoma, urged Oklahomans to vote against beer in the special election Tuesday.

"Remember, we are not voting on beer," Lackey said. "We are voting to give the people the opportunity of voting by counties." Gov. Raymond Gary will make a statewide television talk Sunday night on county option. Gary, a personal dry, favors county option.

Baptists Told Hope Depends On God

TYLER (AP)—A Dallas minister told the Texas Baptist Training Union convention last night that "our salvation, our hope, our assurance is founded upon the unchanging word of God."

Dr. W. A. Criswell told delegates that "the whole responsibility of the world is in our hands."

"We can be saved only by meditation of the word of God," he said. "Preach the word of God. Our only hope of Heaven to come is from the word of God."

Paul's Triumphant Witness

IN PRISON PAUL LIVED, PRAYED AND WORKED TO EXTEND THE GOSPEL

Scripture—Philippians I.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
PHILIPPI was a city situated in the northern part of Greece, and the congregation there was the first in Europe, as narrated by Luke in Acts 16. Of all the churches established by Paul, this Philippian congregation seems to be nearest his heart.

Paul wrote from his prison in Rome, where later he was confined in a most humiliating manner for a man of his abilities and prominence. H. C. G. Moule is quoted in our notes as describing the condition in which Paul was confined. He describes it thus:

"We gather here, with reasonable certainty that life-guards were supplied, one by one . . . mounting guard over him in turn, and fastened to him by the long chain which clasped at one end the wrist of the prisoner, at the other that of the sentinel."

Thus Paul was chained day and night, but as we read his letter to the Philippians, we are thrilled by his courage, love and hopefulness in these distressing circumstances, for the cause of Christ and His gospel.

Paul begins his epistle by sending greetings to the Philippians from himself and Timothy. "Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ."

He remembers them always in his prayers, rejoicing in their fellowship and good work, and in full confidence that they will continue in them.

Then he writes that while he is in bondage the work of the Gospel goes on because "many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear," although there are some, he writes, who because of envy and jealousy, try to preach to stir up strife.

THE QUEST FOR NEW TRAILS

The history of man is a story of progress. Each of its thousands of volumes could bear one common title: The Quest for New Trails.

Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none have ever been.

But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper needs.

For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement.

Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging—and ever more essential—as we seek new trails into the Unknown.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By TOMMY HART
Frustrated in the first period by a hard-charging Baird line, the Wink Wildcats converted a blocked punt and an intercepted pass into touchdowns on their way to a convincing 20-6 victory over the Baird Bears in the Region II-B football finals here Thursday afternoon.

Baird scored first but the Wildcats pulled out in front by half time, 7-6, and added insurance touchdowns in the third and fourth periods.

Trailing, 6-0, the Felines counted their first touchdown with 2:55 to go in Round Two when the right side of their line crashed through to block Jimmy Barnes' attempted quick kick at the Baird 30.

Wendall Farga scooped up the ball on the 25 and raced unimpeded to the goal. Wink shot ahead to stay when Harold Russell accounted for the point on a kick from placement.

Only five seconds remained of the third quarter when Bill Allen intercepted a pass thrown by Terry Joy on Baird's 35 and scooted to the payoff window.

The score remained at 13-6 when Russell failed in his try to kick the point but Wink moved 63 yards in the final quarter for the clinching touchdown.

Charles Wilhelm sparked the drive with some brutal power runs up the middle, then went over from three yards out. Only a minute and 48 seconds of the game remained when Wilhelm crashed over. Russell again bisected the uprights with his kick.

Baird scored its lone TD with 8:08 to go in the second period when fullback Norman Smith banged across from three yards out, culminating a 60-yard drive.

A pass from Smith to Barnes, good for 25 yards, moved the ball into Wink's territory for the first time and Buddy Maxwell set up the touchdown when he grabbed a pass from Joy and snaked 15 yards down to the three.

Wink advanced as far as Baird's five-yard line the first time it got its hands on the ball only to yield the ball on downs. Fumbles probably kept the score from mounting higher. Truman Nix's Tabbies yielded the ball three times on bobbles.

Wink's top ground gainer was Wilhelm, who picked up 121 yards in 20 carries. Farga gained 57 paces and Cleve Robinson 21 for the winners.

Baird was limited to 104 yards rushing by the hard-charging Wink line. Of that aggregate, Smith accounted for 55 in 17 lunges.

Smith was very effective as a ball carrier until he reinjured his leg shortly before the first half ended.

The crowd was estimated at slightly in excess of 1,000. Near perfect football weather prevailed.

Score by quarters:

Royal's Trap Play Big Factor In Upset Win

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A trap play, created by Coach Darrell Royal of Texas just this occasion, and the kicking of sophomore Bobby Lackey and veteran Walter Fonden brought the Longhorns a 9-7 victory over Texas A&M yesterday.

It knocked Texas A&M, the 1956 champion, out of the Southwest Conference race, shoved Texas into second place and made it possible for the Longhorns to win the championship should Rice lose to Baylor Saturday. Rice is an 8 1/2-point favorite.

It also gave Texas, which won only one game last year, a 6-3-1 season—a sensational showing for Royal, who took over the sagging fortunes of the Longhorns this campaign.

Lackey, playing against Texas A&M for the first time—it was the 64th game in the Southwest's oldest football rivalry—scored all the points.

He made the first-quarter touchdown that was set up by a 62-yard quick-kick by Fonden and he booted a 28-yard field goal in the third period that put the Longhorns out of reach.

Halfback John Crow finally tallied for the Aggies in the fourth quarter. He grabbed Roddy Osborne's pass for a 57-yard gain and smashed over from the 2.

The trap play, which Royal credited with furnishing the power for the victory, had the Aggies baffled almost every time. It consisted of the quarterback—Lackey or Fonden—faking, then handing off to a halfback, who would go through a hole at guard or tackle created by the trap.

And to make it more exasperating for the Aggies, the quarterback at times would fake the trap, then turn and pitch out to the fullback, who would ignore the hole created and run around end.

It was a bitter defeat for Paul Bryant, coach of Texas A&M.

whose team was rated No. 1 in the nation a few weeks ago when it had won eight straight games. Then the Aggies lost to Rice 7-6 and fell to fourth place.

But Bryant stressed that the loss of this game wasn't influencing him in going to Alabama as coach—if he does. After the game yesterday, he said in the dressing room.

"There is one and only one reason I would consider it. Some think I could help. Alabama is my school, and if I was convinced I could help I certainly would consider it."

Bryant has been mentioned frequently as successor to J. B. Whitworth at Alabama, the school where Bryant played his football and once was an assistant coach.

The Aggie coach has seven years to go on his contract here.

Texas struck early in yesterday's game.

The first time it had the ball Fonden stepped back on second down and kicked, with a 12 m.p.h. wind at his back, to the Aggie three-yard line. A&M couldn't get out of the hole and Osborne, A&M quarterback, punted into the wind the kick carried only 22 yards. Fonden took it on the Aggie 32.

With Fonden directing the drive the first 14 yards and Lackey taking over with the Texas second team on the A&M 18, the Longhorns smashed to a touchdown in eight plays. Lackey made it by crashing over from the one-foot line. A bobbled passback kept Lackey from kicking the extra point.

A&M never threatened until the fourth quarter. In the meantime, Texas had scored its field goal.

The Aggies finally cashed in on the great play of Crow, both the top offensive and defensive star of the game.

A 57-yard pass play set up the touchdown. It was from Osborne to Crow, who ran from the Texas 40 to the 9 after catching the pass. Crow lost five yards the first time he tried to run. Then he powered to the 2. Osborne made one and Crow pulled over for the score. Loyd Taylor converted.

A crowd of 42,000—all that could get into the stadium—saw the game played in cold, clear weather.

Texas can win the conference championship if Rice loses to Baylor Saturday, but Rice can take it by beating the Bears. But should Rice be tied by Baylor, then Rice and Texas would deadlock for the title. In that event Texas would become the Cotton Bowl host team since it defeated Rice in season play.

Middies, Cadets On Hand For Traditional Battle

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army and Navy football teams arrived here today in the midst of a strategic battle of wits between the rival coaches.

"We expect to use a new formation," Army coach Earl Blaik told newsmen. "Something we haven't tried before."

Blaik, who normally doesn't go in for the cloak-and-dagger stuff, may have come up with something when he predicted earlier this week that the Middies might spring a double-wing attack in tomorrow's game.

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz admitted, "We can run our whole attack from the double wing. I wonder what made Blaik think of that."

Erdelatz was scheduled to lead his team into Municipal Stadium for a brief workout later today after the Cadets also had limbered up there.

A victory for the Midshipmen almost certainly will nail down a Cotton Bowl berth.

Obviously Blaik feels the need for a surprise striking force as a compensation for his thin manpower. He expects that Jim Kernan, center; Stan Slater, guard; Bill Melnik, tackle; Bill Graff, end; quarterback Dove Bourland; and two halfbacks, Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson, will play most of the game.

3 Elevens Bid For Bowl Trips This Weekend

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Navy, Mississippi and Rice can claim bowl berths with victories tomorrow while Auburn, boasting a pure record but barred from post season play, shoots for college football's national championship.

Neither Navy, Mississippi nor Rice have easy jobs ahead despite their national rankings.

The Middies (7-1-1), favored by three points, have to defeat Army (7-1-0) to go to the Cotton Bowl. Navy is ranked No. 8 in this week's Associated Press poll. Army is 10th.

Navy has lost only to North Carolina and was tied by Duke. The Cadets have been beaten only by Notre Dame (23-21).

Mississippi (8-1) ranked No. 7, can finish second in the Southeastern Conference by defeating Mississippi State (6-2) and get the Sugar Bowl berth Auburn will have to pass up because of NCAA probationary action. State, a three point underdog, also could get the Sugar Bowl bid with a victory, but even with a not-too-bad defeat could be a Bowl candidate.

Rice (6-3) needs nothing short of a victory over Baylor (3-5-1), goes against an undisputed Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. A loss or tie would send Texas to the Dallas classic New Year's Day now that the Longhorns have disposed of fourth-rated Texas A&M (9-7) on Bobby Lackey's 38-yard field goal yesterday.

Should ninth-ranked Rice get on by a deadlock against Baylor, Texas would be for the title and advance to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 19-14 decision over the Owls. Both are virtually assured bowl berths, however, since the runner-up likely will wind either in the Sugar Bowl or Gator Bowl.

Auburn (9-0), bidding to remain No. 1 in next week's final AP poll that decides the national title, goes against Alabama (2-6-1). The Tigers naturally, will be SEC champs with a victory—but even the upset of the year probably won't save Coach J. B. Whitworth's job with "Bama. Paul Bryant, Texas A&M coach, indicated after the Texas defeat that he may switch to his alma mater.

Ohio State and Michigan State, both 8-1 and ranked second and third in this week's poll, have completed their regular seasons and only a shabby game by Auburn appears likely to boost either one to the national title.

Arizona State (9-0), the only other major unbeaten, untied team left, plays Arizona (17-11). Oklahoma (No. 5) is the only other member of the nation's top 10 teams still in business.

Sooners (8-1) play Oklahoma State (6-2-1).

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Georgia-Georgia Tech games also will attract bowl committee notice tomorrow (Vandy 15-2-1, Tennessee 6-3-0 and Tech 4-3-2), are in the running for the Gator, Cotton and Sugar bowls too.

The only major bowls filled are the Rose in Ohio State vs. Oregon State and Orange (Oklahoma vs. Duke).

Virginia Military turned down bowl bids from the Tangerine and Sun committees after defeating Virginia Tech 14-6 yesterday for the Southern Conference title.

Utah won the Skyline Conference title by defeating Utah State 21-6.

Cy Young Award Goes To Spahn

HARTSHORNE, Okla. (AP)—Warren Spahn, ace left-hander for the Milwaukee Braves, said the winning of the Cy Young Award yesterday gave him a warm feeling of knowing he helped Milwaukee to its first world championship.

"It's awfully nice to win an award of the caliber of the Cy Young Award," Spahn said. "And when you win it with a championship club, you feel you contributed to it."

The veteran southpaw received all but one vote of the 16 baseball writers who participated in the award poll. Dick Donovan, Chicago White Sox right-hander who had a 15-6 record, received the other vote.

Spahn was the major leaguer's winningest pitcher this year with 21 victories. It was his eighth season of winning 20 games or more.

Amarillo Tries Paschal Today

By The Associated Press
The Associated Press

Amarillo plays Fort Worth Paschal Friday in the headline game of the first big weekend of Texas schoolboy football playoffs.

Ablene, defending Class AAAA champion and winner of 48 straight, crushed El Paso Austin 60-0 Thursday in bidistrict warfare. Either Amarillo or Ablene is expected to go to the finals from the north.

Wichita Falls downed Texarkana 24-14 Thursday in another first-round AAAA match.

San Antonio Edison crushed Del Rio 47-7 to open bidistrict play in Class AAA. McCamey beat Ranger 28-13 in AA and Mart clubbed Gaston 32-7 in Class A. Both were second-round games.

Houston Sam Houston and Houston Bellaire meet, Port Arthur goes to Galena Park and San Antonio Jefferson clashes with San Antonio Burbank to round out Class AAAA games Friday.

Lions Wake Up, Smack Packers

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions had gone five quarters without a touchdown when Coach George Wilson told them — "in words you can't print"—that it was high time they woke up and started playing football.

Whether Wilson's halftime speech brought it about or not, the Lions "woke up" in the second half yesterday and dealt the Green Bay Packers an 18-6 defeat. It was the only game scheduled in the National Football League.

The triumph kept Detroit in the scramble for the Western Conference championship, half a game behind the Baltimore Colts, who tangle with the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

"We had been flat for five quarters, and for no good reason," said Wilson. "So I told 'em—in words you can't print—that they had better wake up and act like a big league football team."

Wilson admitted it was his loudest explosion since he took over as head coach last summer when Buddy Parker resigned. The Lions' second-half comeback produced 15 points.

The Detroit defense threw Green Bay backs for a net loss of seven yards rushing in the second half, recovered two fumbles, intercepted a pass and scored a safety when Darris McCord tackled quarterback Babe Parilli in the Packer end zone.

A 62-yard rumble through the mud by fullback John Henry Johnson on the first play of the second half sent the Lions into a 10-6 advantage they never relinquished.

Gene Carpenter, Big Spring's gift to the National Industrial Basketball League, has retired from the game but will remain with the Goodyear people in Akron, Ohio. He's in sales training.

Only Texan now with the Goodyear Wingfoots is Joe Durrenberger of Rice Institute.

The Wingfoots had a 19-10 won-lost record last season.

Moose Krause, the Notre Dame athletic director, was asked, not long ago:

"Which is more important, the line or the backfield on a football team?"

To which he replied:

"To the best of my knowledge, various surveys have been taken among those who played the game and the result has always been the same—seven to four in favor of the line."

The Santa Fe, N. M., Ski Basin has a ski lift capable of transporting 1,200 persons an hour.

The basin opens this weekend.

President Dwight Eisenhower has suggested he might not be able to make it to Philadelphia tomorrow for the Army-Navy football game but the White House ordered 438 tickets for the classic, anyway.

You can believe what you would about the service teams considering bowl bids. Army may pass up any and all bids, even if it wins tomorrow. But Navy will surely be in the Cotton Bowl, if it wins.

Consider the recent statement of Capt. Slade Cutler, the Naval Academy's athletic director:

"We're going to a bowl game and the bowl knows it. We'll beat Army to clinch it."

Reflecting on the developments of the past year, I think the Cotton Bowl committee was lucky in having to wait a year for the Middles. The committee tried to get them last year and failed, remember.

Navy has a better team than it had a year ago and, by taking the Sailors last Jan. 1, the Southwest fans would have been deprived of the chance to see Syracuse's Jim Brown, who could be the greatest ball carrier ever to perform on Cotton Bowl soil.

Rev. Bob Richards, the Olympic pole vaulter who had to turn down an invitation to speak to a YMCA dinner gathering here due to the press of duties in California, informed Bobo Hardy of the Y he had 60 invitations to deliver speeches during the month of December alone.

Quite probably the Lions' Club football banquet here will be held next month.

At this writing, no arrangements had been made for a speaker, however.

The Boston sports writers can insist Teddy Williams got robbed in the balloting for the Most Valuable Player award in the American League if they want but I'm of the opinion that Mickey Mantle was and is a more vital cog in the New York Yankee machine than is Williams to Boston.

With Mantle out of the lineup, the Yankees simply didn't go. With or without Williams, the Sox don't go.

I don't blame Tom Yawkey for putting up a beef, however. There's no doubt about it Yawkey's most valuable chattel is in Beantown.

Time-Honored Tricks Pay Off Again For Trotters

Robert (Showboat) Hall and his fellow conspirators on the Harlem Globetrotter basketball team fractured a crowd of around 900 paying customers in the local high school gym here Thursday night.

The Trotters beat the Washington Generals, 76-63, but that was incidental.

The famed Negro troupe came to tickle the funny bone of the crowd and they did just that. The Generals, with manager Red Klotz working hard at the chore, proved able straight men for the Harlem gang.

Practically all of the Trotters' highjinks were old but they are timeless and for those who have never seen them before they're the funniest thing since laughing gas.

Tree-top tall J. C. Gipson, more vocal than his teammates, took the play away from Hall at times. His rousing feud with the referee, all done in mock seriousness, got its share of bellylaughs.

Joe Bourn, watch-fob sized guard, twice assumed the spotlight with dazzling dribbling acts. He may not be the equal of Marvyn Hayes at that chore yet but he's learning fast.

The Trotters, with Gipson stuffing the ball in the basket whenever he inspiration struck him, shot to a 39-24 lead at half time and were never pushed.

Gipson scored 23 points. Hall was not far behind with 17, all but two of which were registered in the second half.

For the Generals, Klotz and Tom Scott each responded with a 16-point effort.

ABILENE (AP)—Quarterback Ken Ford led in the NCAA passing statistics today and Hardin-Simmons owned a 50-50 record for the football season.

Ford threw 33 passes and connected on 22 to gain 194 yards and two touchdowns yesterday as the Cowboys came from behind to whip New Mexico A&M 29-20 in a Border Conference game.

Longhorns Host Plainview Bulldogs At 8 Saturday

The Big Spring Steers face an early season basketball crisis here Saturday night, at which time they host the powerful Plainview Bulldogs in an 8 o'clock exhibition.

Plainview, paced by all-star Billy Taegel, is the favorite in the rugged District 1-AAAA.

Coach Bob Clindaniel has four regulars back from last year and has both the height and the experience to give any team a bad time.

Hopes are high around here for a winning season. The Steers are taller and deeper than they have been and Coach Johnny Johnson was cheered by the team's performance against the HCJC B team in an exhibition earlier this week.

A 33-point performance by 6-foot-6 Jan Loudermilk spurred the Steers to an 11-point victory in that contest.

Big Spring finished in a tie for second place with Odessa in District 2-AAAA last season. Abilene copped the bunting, although the Steers handed the Eagles a bad licking when the two teams collided here.

Two losses to Odessa cost the Longhorns dearly in the district race.

The Steers set all kinds of team and individual scoring records last year and appear capable of doing even better this season.

Probable starters for the locals tomorrow night include Loudermilk at the post, Jimmy Evans and Benny McCrary up front and Billy Bob Satterwhite and Bill Thompson in the back courts.

Johnson is especially pleased with the development of Thompson and Satterwhite.

As first line reserves, Johnson can call upon such boys as Preston Hollis, 5-10; Eddie Kenney, 6-1; and Joe Bob Clendennin, 6-2, among others.

Probable starters for Plainview, in addition to Taegel, include Lee Richards, 6-4; Bobby Grace, 6-5; Jay Laird, and Bill Reeves. The latter was the top scorer on the Plainview B team last season.

B teams of the two schools play at 6:15 p.m.

UTES BEAT UTAH STATE DESPITE LOSS OF ACE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Utah's star passer, Lee Grosscup, was knocked out and sidelined part of the game but the Utes beat Utah State 21-6 ending the season on top of the Skyline Conference yesterday. And Grosscup set a national pass completion percentage record.

Stuart Vaughan of the Utes ended his four years of college football as the No. 1 pass catcher in the country. Overton Curtis, a Utah State junior halfback, added 65 yards to his 630 in kickoff returns and finished tops in that category.

And Utah, by four-hundredths of a percent, topped California's pass completion percentage record of 60.98.

Grosscup got a knee in the face on an attempted tackle with little over one minute to go in the first period. He was out for a few minutes and had to be helped from the field. He returned with about two minutes left in the half and was in and out for the rest of the game completing eight of 13 pass attempts.

But Coach Jack Curtice turned on his ground attack led by senior Merrill Douglas of Salt Lake City who got 144 of Utah's 195 yards rushing.

It was Curtice's fourth Skyline crown in eight years.

Grosscup finished the 10-game season with 94 completions in 137 attempts. That's 68.6 per cent. California's Paul Larson hit 125 of 195 in 1954-64.1 per cent.

Larson's yardage was 1,537. Grosscup's 1,398. Both threw 10 touchdown passes. Larson had eight intercepted, Grosscup two.

In total completions, Grosscup finished third to Washington State's Bobby Newman with 104 and Ken Ford of Hardin-Simmons with 115.

Grosscup's passing yardage this game was 71 yards. The Ute quarterback, who will be 21 on Dec. 27, completed four passes to his favorite receiver, halfback Stuart Vaughan, 21. That gave the Texan from San Angelo a total of 53 catches this year, best in the nation but four short of the record set by Fordham end Ed Brown in 1952.

Hill And Owls Seek SWC Title Saturday

HOUSTON (AP)—The host spot in the Cotton Bowl will be settled here tomorrow as King Hill and the Rice Owls seek to clinch the Southwest Conference championship by defeating a Baylor team that hopes to end a disappointing season with an upset.

A Rice defeat would give Texas clear claim to the title and the Dallas trip and drop the Owls into a tie with Texas A&M, and possibly Southern Methodist, as conference runner-up.

Baylor, a preseason favorite in the Southwest, comes to town with a 3-5-1 record that includes four conference losses and a tie with Texas.

Hill, a 205-pound quarterback, has led Rice to a late season comeback after breaking even in its first six games. The offense-minded Owls had their troubles on defense in early season but conference victories over Arkansas, A&M and Texas Christian the past three weeks have seen the Owls give up only two touchdowns.

A crowd of about 50,000 will see the Southwest's top team on offense meet the area's third best on defense.

The Rice attack in nine games has averaged 357.6 yards, including 243.1 on the ground and 114.5 on passes. Baylor has given up an average of 264 yards, including 117.6 rushing and 85.8 passing.

As the conference's individual leader on offense, Hill has completed 43 of 80 passes for 787 yards and added 387 yards in 83 carries for net gains totaling 1,174 yards.

The Baylor attack is led by Doyle Traylor, the third-ranking passer, and fullback Larry Hickman, the No. 3 ground gainer. Traylor has completed 43 of 88 passes for 482 yards. Hickman has gained 555 yards in 131 carries.

It will be the fourth time in nine years for the championship to ride on the season-ending Rice-Baylor game. In 1949, 1953 and 1954 Baylor had a chance to win or tie for the title but lost each time. The 1953 victory sent Rice on its last Cotton Bowl trip for a 23-6 decision over Alabama.

Mitchell Forsakes Job At Arkansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Jack Mitchell, named head football coach at Kansas yesterday to no one's surprise, is the second in three years to forsake Arkansas for a coaching job in his home state.

He followed Bowden Wyatt to Arkansas after the 1954 season, when Wyatt returned to his alma mater—Tennessee. Wyatt's Razorbacks won the Southwest Conference championship that year and went to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day 1955, losing to Georgia Tech.

Mitchell, who will be 33 Tuesday, is an Oklahoma product, although a native of Kansas. He played under Coach Bud Wilkinson, quarterbacking the Sooners in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

He said yesterday money was no object in his leaving Arkansas. He was being paid $15,000 yearly there under a contract that had nine years to go. He will get the same here for five years, the highest salary ever given a Kansas coach.

"My wife, Jeanne, and I were born in Kansas, raised in Kansas and plan to live our lives in Kansas," he explained. The Mitchell call Arkansas City, Kan., their hometown.

Kennedy Calls For Scientist Training

DALLAS (AP) — This country's hopes for the future rest on its success in educating scientists and political leaders, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) told Texas school teachers last night.

"We can no longer complacently believe that the educational and scientific capabilities of this country cannot be duplicated elsewhere," he said.

Kennedy, often mentioned as a possible candidate for president in 1960, addressed the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers Assn. His audience filled the 10,000 seats in Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) introduced the Massachusetts senator.

Kennedy told the teachers that federal, state and local governments share responsibility for solving a U.S. shortage of skilled scientists and engineers. He called for federal action to help build schools.

"In recent years the output of new engineers and scientists in the U.S.S.R. has surpassed that of the total United States and Western Europe graduating classes in these fields," the Massachusetts senator said. "It is apparent too that this lead is not merely one

Lost Battle, Not War, Says Lyndon

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson said last night the United States has "lost a battle but we haven't lost a war" with respect to recent rocket and missile development by the Russians.

He termed the setback a shock similar to the Pearl Harbor attack.

"We are faced with a great challenge but I think we are equal to it," Johnson said in an interview. The Senate majority leader was here to introduce Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.), who addressed a convention of the Texas State Teachers Assn.

Johnson said Russia has not yet tipped the world balance of power, however. The Texan currently conducting an investigation of the U.S. missile program in Washington.

"The information we have received so far indicates clearly that the Soviets have not altered the balance of world power," he said. "But the base upon which we maintain our position is not forthcoming."

"Our power rests upon the Strategic Air Force, the surface ships of the Navy and nuclear weapons. The Soviet power rests upon rapidly developing ballistic missiles. We are strong in the weapons of the past. Soviets are strong in the weapons of the future. The weapons of the past are still sufficiently potent to maintain our position. But the future is just over the skyline — only a few years, possibly even months, away."

Johnson said that "This is the greatest challenge we have ever faced and we must meet it now — there is nothing our defense program needs so badly as a strong dose of urgency."

He added that "Our urgency

Innocent Scene Fools Burglars

NEW YORK (AP) — Only a couple of lovers spooning on a nearby stoop. And a couple of drunks asleep on the sidewalk.

That was the scene as it appeared to four thieves driving up to the Meridian Knitting Mills in Brooklyn early yesterday morning. So for two hours, they looted the plant of $2,500 worth of sweaters and loaded the loot into their truck.

While they worked, the shabbily dressed drunks went on sleeping, the lovers went on spooning.

But just as the robbers were about to drive off, the lovers unwrapped their arms from each other and the drunks sprang to their feet. There stood detectives Paul Reilly, Pat Kelly, Steve Wall and Frank Shannon. With pistols.

The four surprised robbers surrendered immediately.

Charged with burglary and possession of burglar's tools were Ernest Rodriguez, 27, the Bronx, and Domingo Riviera, 24, Serafin Quintana, 27, and Jesus Rodriguez, 35, all of Manhattan. Police said they arranged the trap after spotting the men looking the mill over Tuesday.

Accidentally Shoots Friend, Suffers Heart Attack

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The coroner's office said a young bridegroom from Louisiana was accidentally shot to death last night by his best friend, who later suffered an apparent heart attack.

Joseph Petre, 21, died after he was wounded in the upper chest by James Holland, 28, deputy Coroner William Dykes reported.

Dykes said the shooting took place as the men examined a German automatic in the home they shared with their wives here. Holland collapsed after telling his story to officers and was taken to a hospital for treatment of a heart condition.

Authorities said Petre and his wife, Gloria, 14, came to Riverside from their home in Houma, La., with the Hollands after an elopement to Woodville, Miss. They had been here only a week.

Dykes said he was satisfied the shooting was accidental.
