A Big Spring FFA group directed by Edward Seay will enter 15 head of livestock in the Southwestern Livestock Exhibition at El Paso scheduled Feb. 3-9.

Tommy Buckner will show two lambs and two hogs; Robert Carr, two lambs and hog; Jimmy Engle, lamb; Ronnie Richardson, lamb and hog, and Jimmy Whitefield, one hog.

A total of 1,600 animals are expected for the show.

The Fairview Gin is still working around the clock, according to W. C. Fryar. The gin is not only leading all others in Howard County, but probably has more cotton left in the fields.

Fryar said the ginning had reached 3,414 bales at dark last night, and farmers still had approximately two weeks pulling left. He didn't estimate the number of bales yet to gin, but said the season's total should pass the 4,000 mark.

Most of the braceros are gone now, and 75 per cent of farmers in that area are using strippers. This

Polio Victim Home For Yule

TULSA — "Christmas will be a lot better this year."

From her hospital bed, Mrs. Carolyn Norris, 23, a Harlingen, Tex., mother stricken with polio, spoke those words last night. She had flown to Tulsa aboard a Military Air Transport Service hospital plane a few hours earlier from Texas to be with her mother, Mrs. Gerald Manley of Watts, Okla., her husband, Carl, 23, and their daughter, Clare Faith, 2½.

The young mother took it all in stride although she never had flown before.

Waiting at the airport here yesterday was her mother. She embraced her daughter, stricken with polio Aug. 3, with tears in her eyes. The husband met her later at the hospital.

The hospital plane was equipped with a portable "chest type" respirator but was not used. "I didn't need it," Mrs. Norris said. "Sometimes I can go all day without help."

She was strapped to a stretcher. Mrs. Norris was placed in an ambulance here and taken to a hospital.

Depressed by events—her husband had recently lost his job in Brownsville, Tex.—and wishing to be with her folks for Christmas, Mrs. Norris asked for and received aid from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in arranging transportation.

cotton is being graded just as high if not higher than the hand-pulled bales. One difference is that the strippers knock out much of the sand, which gives the grower a better turn-out.

On a community-wide basis, the fields west of Fairview probably lead the county in yield.

The Co-Operative Gin and Supply of Big Spring is second in number of bales ginned, but they don't expect as many to come in. Gordon Hodnett said he had ginned 3,161 last night, but thinks 400 to 500 more will finish the season.

The big rush is already over, he says, and the gin has been shutting down before midnight. Several customers are finishing their crop now.

Do farmers have fewer automobile wrecks than average drivers? The figures seem to indicate it.

Joe Dunn, insurance man with the Farm Bureau, says this company paid back a 40 per cent dividend this year. One curious thing, though, is that when they were involved in wrecks, farmers were to blame more than two-thirds of the time.

Dunn says they drive less in town, which would cut down on wrecks, but he doesn't know why they caused so many wrecks.

The insurance is available to farmers and farm owners, regardless of whether they live in town or rural areas.

A little figuring on this year's maize crop will convince anyone why farmers fight for increased cotton acreage. There is no money in grain sorghums, even with a better than average crop such as was grown this year.

The county yield has been estimated at 1,000 pounds per acre by Ray Winans, Big Spring grain dealer. The last part of the crop was dry enough to meet the government loan specifications, and brought $1.76 per 100 pounds. About 40 to 50 per cent of it sold on the open market at prices approximating $1.40.

If a farmer made 1,000 pounds per acre and sold it at an average price of $1.60, his gross return would be only $16 an acre. But he had to pay $2.50 an acre to get it combined, and another $1.50 to get the maize hauled to town.

This left him $12 per acre. If he is a renter, he paid $4 rent. On 200 acres of maize he would gross only $2,400, with much of it being taken out for growing expenses.

If farmers had to depend on grain sorghums for a living, they would all go out of business before the end of next year.

The TEC probably knows as much about business conditions as any other local agency. Their office is the one that people come to seeking work. And when business dips, this line of job applicants gets longer.

Things don't look good at present, but it's better here than in some places. Several transients wanting jobs say things are much tougher around Fort Worth and Dallas, and also out on the Pacific Coast.

A few weeks ago I heard an old, old man discussing how people had changed. He said the early day settlers were men of great honesty and never signed an agreement of any kind. If one bought a farm or ranch or a herd of cattle, he merely gave his word, and the contract was always carried through. Nowadays, the old fellow said, half the people are crooks.

I lived through the tail-end of that period, and I can't remember people being any more honest then than now. I know of at least two instances to substantiate this belief.

As a boy I worked with a young cowboy whose father had been killed because he wshed on a deal. He had promised to buy some cattle, but the market took a sudden drop and he refused to make payment. When he met the cattle owner, the other man pulled a gun and shot him.

Another time two men got into an argument over fence lines, and each one made threats against the other. Finally a neighbor talked to the men separately and persuaded them to meet at a certain windmill and settle their troubles peacefully.

Both men promised to ride to the site and go unarmed. One of them, however, was either scared or else didn't mean to follow out the agreement. He carried a pistol under his shirt, and a short time later killed his neighbor who had no weapon of any kind.

Both these stories are true, and could be verified by going back to ancient court records. All four men at the time were respected in their communities and were not known as trouble makers.

This is not an indictment against the early day farmers and ranchers any more than it is against merchants, railroad workers and sheep-shearers of that day. The population was more scattered and people depended upon their neighbors more than now.

But human nature couldn't have changed much in such a short period. The oldtimer probably had just as much blackness or whiteness in his heart as there is in the next man you meet on any street in Big Spring.

Admits Burying Abortion Victim

BELLMORE, N.Y. — Police say a married man has admitted burying his girl friend in a trash-covered Long Island grave after she apparently died during an attempted abortion.

The victim was blonde, blue-eyed Arlene Thompson, 17, a bank clerk. The girl had been missing since Dec. 9, after telling her mother she was attending a Christmas party after work and would stay overnight with a girl friend.

Arlene's body was dug up yesterday from an eight-foot-deep grave in a field in St. Albans.

Nassau County police, in seeking clues to the girl's disappearance, picked up Aram Hovnanian, 22, a gas station attendant, of East Meadow, where he lives with his wife, Patricia.

Police quoted Hovnanian as saying he hid the girl's body in the trunk of his car after she died of an abortion in a Long Beach hotel last week. They said Hovnanian told of burying the girl that evening.

Authorities were seeking the suspected abortionist, described as a woman who posed as a practical nurse.

Tokyo Coffee Shops Offer Music, Art, Sexy Waitresses

By JAMES CARY

TOKYO — The music blares raucously. Hip-swaying waitresses in split skirts and low cut gowns shuffle by in time to the beat. Students, businessmen and passersby crowd booths along the garishly painted walls, relaxing over cups of pungent, dark brew.

They are enjoying one of the modern crazes of this traditional land of tea—the coffee shop.

Coffee has been drunk in Japan for decades in tea rooms and milk bars. But the 72,412 coffee shops now licensed in Japan — 6,632 of them in Tokyo—are largely a postwar institution.

They offer almost every conceivable appeal to customers — jazz, classical music, fashion shows, art and pretty girls.

These unique establishments are a strange combination of the American soda fountain, street corner, pool hall and record shop where Japanese gather to gossip, talk business or meet a date. Their advent in Japan produced many problems.

Coffee And Sex

Japanese girls in split tunic tops and low-cut tops serve patrons of the "Albion," a Tokyo coffee house that features hi-fi jazz, sexy waitresses and, incidentally, a good cup of coffee. The coffee shops are a craze in postwar Japan.

able type of coffee in an Old English atmosphere.

A recent, typical program included records of Arturo Toscanini leading the NBC Symphony Orchestra in Rossini's Cenerentola Overture, Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 and Wagner's Siegfried funeral music.

Other coffee shops specialize in Latin music, display art objects or present movies and several offer patrons freedom to scribble on blackboard walls.

Some even specialize in nothing but coffee, and have developed it into a highly evolved cult leaving the average Westerner in slack-jawed amazement. Check this advice by Tokyo expert, Ichiro Sekiguchi:

"Know your coffee and pick your blend. Weigh each part exactly. Mix. Weigh again. Place in a filter (drip arrangement), add near boiling water, slowly...drop by drop at first...then more rapidly.

"Weigh cream and sugar, too. Sugar in first. Stir. Cream next. Don't stir. Sip. Don't gulp. Let the cream and coffee mix in your mouth to get the full flavor. That's the only way to get a good cup of coffee."

What you come out with is a heady, potent brew that will crinkle the hair of the average American and send his stomach into rumbling, gastronomic flip-flops. But it's coffee that will give you drive for many hours if you can take it.

Demos Surmise Ike Got Only 'Face-Saving' Result At NATO

WASHINGTON — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today President Eisenhower got only "face-saving" results in the NATO agreement on establishing missile bases in Europe and exploring possible new disarmament talks with Russia.

Humphrey's skeptical reaction to the Paris summit conference developments was shared in part by Senators Fulbright (D-Ark) and Sparkman (D-Ala). But all three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee joined in urging the administration to put its full weight behind renewed disarmament efforts.

At the same time, Sen. Curtis (R-Nebr) said it would be a waste of time for the United States, Britain, France and Canada to discuss arms limitations with the Soviets. These were the Western countries that took part in London disarmament talks that ended in failure last fall.

"I think any agreement with the Russians could not be relied on," Curtis said in a separate interview. "We wasted a lot of time and energy in the London disarmament talks and I see no value in renewing them."

The NATO conference agreed in principle to the U. S. plan to set up European bases to be equipped with intermediate (1,500 - mile) range missiles capable of hitting Russia with nuclear warheads.

Several countries are leery of accepting such missile bases for fear they might be prime targets for Russian rockets.

Coupled with the agreement on bases was American assent to cautious overtures to Russia aimed at finding out whether any new disarmament talks might be fruitful.

Terminating this compromise a "face-saving" move, Humphrey said: "Acceptance in principle does not mean fulfillment in details."

"What is more, because this administration has methodically—if unwittingly — permitted our military position to be weakened, we do not have the missiles to furnish them."

"President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles went to Paris with only one objective, to establish missile bases in Western European countries to strengthen the military alliance. They did not go there with any objective of further negotiations with the Soviets, but our allies insisted on it.

"I hope they (Eisenhower and Dulles) will now reconsider their flat refusal, even if that letter was a propaganda effort, to take a good look at Bulganin's letter. We must at all times be prepared to negotiate with Russia. We must re-examine our disarmament proposals and make up our mind what we want."

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin proposed new East-West talks in a letter to Eisenhower on the eve of the NATO conference.

Fulbright said he thinks Eisenhower and Dulles erred at Paris in trying to "overemphasize the military aspects" of the NATO alliance.

"There is no reason why we can't negotiate while we continue to build up our strength," he said.

"I think it is worthwhile to discuss the Bulganin proposals to find out if the Russians really mean it."

Sparkman said he was glad the Western Allies had insisted on linking the missiles base agreement to further disarmament talks.

FOR 56 YEARS OF FRIENDLY RELATIONS
J. R. Hensley, R. T. Piner, Murray Kyger and John H. Geis with special plaque

Business Relationship Of 56 Years Noted In Program Here

A business relationship of 56 years was noted in a brief informal program Wednesday.

Occasion was presentation of a bronze plaque, from the First National Bank in Fort Worth to the First National Bank in Big Spring, in recognition of a correspondent-bank relationship that has existed since 1901. This started with the West Texas National Bank, and continued on after the merger of that institution with the local First National.

Two officials of the Fort Worth institution, Murray Kyger, executive vice president, and John H. Geis, vice president for the correspondent bank division, came to Big Spring to present the plaque.

Receiving it for the Big Spring bank were R. T. Piner, president, and J. L. Hensley and R. V. Middleton vice presidents. The group, joined by a few others, had lunch at the Cosden Club, and the presentation was made there. Kyger, in presenting the plaque to the Big Springers, said "our accomplishments at Fort Worth

Negro Sought In Automobile Death

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police today hunted for a 35-year-old Negro who they said killed his girl friend by running her down with an automobile. The man was identified as Ellis Riley of New Orleans.

Police said witnesses told them Riley chased Alma Modica, 27, also of New Orleans, onto the sidewalk with his car and crushed her against an iron fence. Riley fled on foot.

The incident, officers said, apparently followed an argument that caused the victim to leave the car.

are owing in great part to the fine relationship we have had with correspondent banks such as the First-National in Big Spring. This relationship, which means staying in close touch with another and exchanging important views, goes beyond the mere transfer of funds. It represents all that is best in our American banking system—the best in the world. We are grateful for the long-time friends who have worked with us."

Other guests at the lunch were R. L. Tollett, and two guests from Boston, Gordon B. Jones and R. E. Hartford of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co.

Fifth Graders Entertain Lions With Yule Program

Fifth-grade pupils from East Ward School delighted the Downtown Lions Club with their Christmas card tableaux and music Wednesday.

Using the theme of a Christmas card salesman pressing his wares upon a family, the various cards were shown in tableau by costumed players while other members of the class sang Christmas carols paralleling the cards.

Among them were the shepherds in the field, the three wise men, the manger scene, the adoration, and some others such as watching out for Santa, old St. Nicholas himself, a Dutch boy and girl getting their presents, and a modern type greeting. Changes between the card scenes were made in the time it took to end one song and start another.

The children were pupils of Mrs. Thelma Medley and William Irwin, and Mrs. Mary Christiansen, elementary music teacher, was accompanist. Plans for the Lions (Downtown, Evening, Coahoma, Stanton and Snyder) Christmas party for patients in MRH-1 are ready for Thursday evening, Jack Y. Smith, chairman, announced.

No meeting will be held next week but the club will shove up its date for the last meeting of the year to Tuesday, Dec. 31, said Carl Smith, president.

Good Advice

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State Bar Assn. President Virgil Seabery had this advice on courtroom decorum for a group of newly licensed lawyers: Never indulge in useless fisticuffs. Always wear a coat, avoid flashy clothes. Never holler at the judge unless he is a little deaf and then holler mildly. Be brief.

IN WEST TEXAS $1 Million Spent Daily On Building

ABILENE — Sixty-eight West Texas cities spent more than $1,000,000 per day during 1957 on construction, a survey by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce reveals.

In addition to the record breaking construction, new highs were set in population and bank deposits, the survey shows.

The survey, published in the December issue of the WTCC's monthly magazine West Texas Today, shows that population has almost tripled since 1940 and that bank deposits have practically doubled since 1947.

Cold Front Blows Into West Texas

By The Associated Press
A cold front with gusty winds of up to 61 miles an hour blasted into West Texas Thursday.

The front roared rapidly eastward and was expected to cover the state by Friday. It was on a line from Amarillo to near Wink early Thursday.

A squall line was expected to form ahead of the front in East Texas. Thunderstorms were forecast late Thursday for East Texas with scattered showers in East Texas and along the coast.

Cooler weather was forecast for all of the state, with lows in the lower 20s predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday night.

Skies were cloudy in the east and clear in the west early Thursday. El Paso reported blowing dust with winds of up to 61 miles an hour in gusts.

Predawn temperatures ran from 33 degrees at Dalhart to 69 at Alice.

The 67 cities, a cross section in both size and location of the cities throughout the WTCC's 132-county area, had metropolitan construction through Nov. 1 of $370,468,760.

Residential construction accounted for the largest percentage of the construction dollar. A total of $159,199,534 was spent on the construction of more than 10,000 new homes.

Commercial construction totaled $115,880,932 during the year and school construction amounted to $38,402,970. The new schools represent an investment of approximately $100 per pupil.

The survey also shows that since 1947, the number of students, in the cities surveyed, has more than doubled. Scholastic enrollment in 1947 totalled 152,149, in 1952 the number of students was 301,670 and in 1957 there are 365,093 students in the reporting cities.

Construction of new churches during 1957 cost $11,409,249 and federal and state buildings totaled $11,795,599. In addition, the cities spend $33,780,456 on construction of new streets, sewers and other civic improvements.

The WTCC survey shows bank deposits at an all time high of $2,260,380,151, a billion dollars higher than in 1947. Deposits in the 67 cities in 1952 amounted to $1,865,294,349.

Combined population for the cities through November is estimated at 1,803,497, an increase of more than one million over the 1940 census population figures.

The estimated 1957 population is also considerably above the 1950 census figure of 1,183,000.

Information provided the WTCC for the survey was developed by the chamber of commerce in each of the participating cities.

'Family Candle' To Shine Again

The church family candle will burn again next week in the First Methodist altar.

In keeping with a tradition established three years ago with the first massive candle, the flame will be lighted Sunday—the first Sunday that young people are back home from school for the holidays. It will burn through the succeeding Sunday.

The candle gets its name from the practice of getting families in the church to bring remnants of candles left from special occasions. These are melted down and fashioned to, or added to, the special Christmas candle for the church altar.

At last weighing, the candle was listed at 52 pounds and growing.

Mrs. T. J. Walker and Mrs. V. E. Jones, who have directed this activity since its inception, are engaged now in preparing the candle and in redecorating the setting for Sunday's kindling.

Negro, White Man Held In Conspiracy To Rape Wife

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Two Wichita County men, one a Negro, were charged yesterday with conspiring to have the Negro rape the white man's wife.

Jailed in lieu of $1,500 bond each were Robert Haney, 39, of Iowa Park, a white man, and Willie Bailey, 41, of Wichita Falls, Negro.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gene Riche said the woman was molested but not raped. He said the offense allegedly occurred in the Haney home Dec. 7 but that the woman did not report the incident until Saturday.

Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. (Romans 8:26)

Safety Is A Personal Matter

While the Sputniks, the whutniks and the flopniks have been capturing the headlines for weeks now, there are a few other little problems ordinary citizens come in contact with almost every day of their lives...

James Marlow The Kind Dulles Didn't Want

WASHINGTON — No matter how much of a success it is called now, the agreement reached in Paris between this country and its NATO allies yesterday was the very kind Secretary of State Dulles previously said he didn't favor.

The price of insurance apparently is going up. I've just received from the Eastern Underwriter Association a little folder entitled "Why Insurance Costs Are Going Up." So I guess our next premiums will be higher.

Inez Robb Case Of Polite Community Blackmail

It isn't every day that I outline, as a public service, a subtle blueprint for community blackmail, even in a good cause. But then, it isn't every day that the old American firm of Broadley, Voorhies and Day rewards civic blackmail, either.

Walter Lippmann The Soviet Peace Offensive

In what was evidently a well-oiled automatic response, brought off without the expenditure of any brain power, the State Department dismissed the whole elaborate Soviet peace offensive as propaganda designed to influence the NATO conference.

There is a certain similarity, which may have a useful moral, between the condition of the NATO alliance today and the condition of the Allied alliance in 1917. That was the year when America was drawn into the first World War and revolutionary Russia was withdrawing from the war.

THE LEGACY OF LUKE

Apostle Sets Out On Search For Birth Story

EDITOR'S NOTE: Until Luke wrote the gospel bearing his name, the story of the Nativity had not been committed to print. Here is a recounting of how the systematic physician may have set out to erase the unknowns about Christ's arrival on earth.

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
Wonder is the spur to knowledge.

This was the compelling call that drew Luke into the greatest reporting assignment of all time.

He was out to prove a divine mystery—the advent of his Lord.

During a period while his comrade and spiritual mentor, Paul, was a prisoner in Caesarea on the Mediterranean east coast from about 57 to 59 A.D., Luke had the time to pursue his monumental inquiry.

There would be no better chance, and he was near Jesus' home territory.

There was a store of documents for his preliminary scrutiny. Many persons, as he wrote, had "undertaken to compile a narrative" of Jesus. But to Luke, a doctor trained in factual analysis, they were far from complete.

None gave a precise description of the Lord's arrival — no adequate explanation of an occurrence that would amaze men ever after.

METICULOUS RESEARCH
Luke, the polished, observant physician, went to work. What he was to learn would be caroled through the centuries at Christmas.

In earnest prayer, devotion and with a clinical scrupulousness to get, as he said, an "orderly account," he set about to examine the records, and to consult surviving witnesses who had firsthand information.

To start his research, the bits of scrolls and parchments that circulated guardedly among the congregations were a help, even though fragmentary and meager.

And by cross-checking, he found, some could be ignored as colored inventions.

Two of Luke's best sources were certainly the aging apostle, Matthew, and John Mark, both authors of gospels. The earliest gospel was Mark's. Both Luke and Matthew made use of it.

But it didn't satisfy the questing Luke.

While he lived in Caesarea, Mark came there briefly to renew his service in Paul's far-flung missionary work. Mark had timidly withdrawn from the risky venture before, but in Paul's present trouble, he returned.

Luke then was staying at the hospitable stone house of Philip, a seasoned evangelist with four spirited, cultured daughters. Like Luke, they spoke Greek and Hebrew.

The young convert, Timothy, and other co-workers also were there.

It was an ideal opportunity for Luke to confer with Mark, who had been closely associated with the saintly, bighearted old Peter. Mark, for his literary assistance, was called the chief apostle's interpreter.

Surely, Peter had related all manner of things about Jesus. Could not Mark pass on some clarification of the early period?

As they conversed — the clean-shaven Greek and the bearded Jew — they strolled, perchance, along the paved promenade beside the city's man-made harbor.

Luke rubbed his chin, glancing sidewise at Mark. Had he obtained no details about the birth of Jesus? For truly, this was the core of the whole movement, the incarnation of God as man.

NO ASSISTANCE
Mark's brow furrowed, his gaze on the sea. No, no he was not certain. Peter did not dwell on those first things. Perhaps he had mentioned it. But . . . Mark shook his head.

Luke persisted. But have you not asked the first apostle about this wonder? Can you offer no light on our Lord's infancy and childhood? Being a man as well as our redeemer, he must have grown up, even as you and I?

Mark spread his hands. No, alas, he had nothing, nothing definite.

Shortly thereafter, Mark was sent by Paul to work in Colossae. From his cell, Paul dispatched an introductory letter for him.

Mark, who had been a lad, the son of a wealthy widow of Jerusalem when Jesus was crucified there, recounted in his short gospel only the days of Jesus' adult ministry — the phase stared and known well by Peter — nothing else!

Luke used much of this material—350 of Mark's 661 verses — some of it condensed and improved in phrasology and medical particulars, all with exacting accuracy. But Luke also sought the fuller record.

Through the apostle, Matthew, the one-time tax collector, Luke secured considerable guidance, obtaining data from an old "collection of sayings" by Jesus, which Matthew had, and which now is often called the "Q" document (for the German "quelle" or source).

The result is reflected in 238 verses common to the gospels of Luke and Matthew. Matthew also provided some insight into the beginnings of the holy visitation, the mystical aspects which had fascinated Luke.

The apostle told of Joseph's worried perplexity in Nazareth when Mary became heavy with child, and of his eventual understanding of her condition as an act of God — that she had conceived "of the holy spirit."

But in terse, restricted passages that cry out for amplification, Matthew specifies only that Jesus was "born in Bethlehem," and promptly, skips a year or two ahead — to the visit and gifts of the wise men.

He also sketches King Herod's panic at reports of the Eastern magi about the display of a great star; and tells of the Herod-ordered massacre of Bethlehem children, of the baby Jesus being spirited to Egypt, and eventually back to Nazareth.

Nothing on the Nativity That is all. Of the majestic, supreme moment, when God took on the disguise of a human infant, of the instant when heaven and earth met, there was nothing else.

Luke's dissecting mind thirsted for a more thorough picture of it all.

Why was the birth in Bethlehem when the couple lived in Nazareth? What was the year? No hint was given — only that it was sometime in the 37-year-reign of Herod. The record of such a prodigious event was all too scanty.

Was the birth altogether normal? Who was there? Was it in a palace or a hovel? Had the mother known of the miraculous circumstances — and consequences? What secrets did she bear? What did she do? What was the child like?

In the guest chamber of Philip's house, where Luke maintained a small, temporary infirmary, he packed his supplies in a leather pouch, and prepared for a journey.

He himself, before it was too late, would have to track down the facts.

The Four Evangelists

Master E. S., a German painter known only by his initials, established himself as one of the great masters with sketches like these of the four evangelists, done about 1460. Matthew is at top left, Mark at top right, Luke at bottom left, and John at bottom right.

Hors D'Oeuvres Are Popular For Colorful, Tempting Party Fare

In Europe it is the custom to serve hors d'oeuvres as a first course for luncheon or dinner. But in this country hors d'oeuvres have become popular mainly for party refreshments.

Varying from simple tidbits easily prepared to the more complicated recipes, hors d'oeuvres will be grabbing the spotlight at many a party table this holiday season.

For an assortment of these treats, several recipes are given here:

PETITE CHEESE PUFFS
 1 cup grated (1/2 8-oz. package) Wisconsin Sharp Natural Cheddar Cheese
 1/4 cup fine bread crumbs
 1 egg, separated
 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
 1/4 tsp. paprika
 1/4 tsp. salt
 Combine cheese, bread crumbs, egg yolk and seasonings; blend well. Beat egg white until stiff; fold into cheese mixture. Shape into small balls about 1/2-inch in diameter; then roll into 1/2-inch long fingers. Roll in additional fine bread crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat (375 to 385 degrees F.) about 30 seconds or until browned. Serve hot.

CHAIN CHEESE TIDBITS
 (Makes about 21 puffs)
 1 (8-oz.) package Wisconsin Natural Sharp Cheddar Cheese, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
 24 Spanish olives, sliced into thirds
 36 pickled cocktail onions
 Alternate ingredients on toothpicks or cocktail picks in the following order: Cheese cube, olive slice, pickled onion, olive slice and cheese cube.
 (Makes about 36)
STARLIGHT CANAPES
 2 tbsps. butter
 3 tbsps. fine bread crumbs
 1/2 cups sour cream
 1/3 cup (1/4 8-oz. package) finely shredded Vera-Sarp Process Cheese
 1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
 3 eggs, separated
 2 1/2 tps. horseradish mustard, optional
 Cream butter; blend in bread crumbs. Add 1/2 cup of the sour cream, cheese, ham and egg yolks; mix thoroughly. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; fold into cheese-ham mixture. Pour 1/2 of the mixture onto each of two well-buttered baking sheets. Do not spread mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until set and golden brown. Blend mustard with remaining sour cream; quickly spread over entire cheese mixture. If desired, sprinkle with paprika or finely chopped parsley. Cut into 1x2-inch finger-shaped pieces or cut with a star-shaped cutter. Remove from baking sheet. Serve hot or cold.

 (Makes about 72 canapes)
ROQUEFORT TRIANGLES
 1/2 cup (1/4 lb.) butter
 1 (3-oz.) portion Roquefort Cheese
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 4 Natural Swiss Cheese Slices
 OR
 Swiss Cheese Slices
 18 pimiento stuffed olives
 Let butter and Roquefort cheese stand at room temperature until softened. Combine butter, Roquefort cheese and Worcestershire sauce; blend well. Spread each cheese slice with Roquefort-butter mixture. Cut into small triangles (1/2-inch at base). Cut each olive into about 4 slices. For each hors d'oeuvre, alternate on toothpick, 1 olive slice, cheese triangle and olive slice.
 (Makes about 3 dozen)

A Holiday Treat

Mrs. H. C. Stipp is pictured as she prepares to serve one of her famous cheese balls. The antique silver butter dish, graceful as it is utilitarian, is her favorite container for the delicacy. The dainty Christmas tree, of her own making, is fashioned of green net with tiny balls and a golden star at the top.

Mrs. Stipp's Cheese Ball Is A Piquant Delicacy, Prized Gift

Every Christmas there is one gift which special friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stipp eagerly await. It does not need to be gaily wrapped, for its agreeably pungent aroma would only give it away. It is a gift to be savored and enjoyed leisurely, for it is Mrs. Stipp's own blend of ingredients which make the holiday cheese ball a gustatory treat of the highest order.

With its rich intermingling of cheeses and subtle piquancy, the ball is not guaranteed to be calorie-free. But it is also a creation of beauty, with its touch of green parsley to add a note of holiday color. Mrs. Stipp serves it from a lovely antique silver butter dish, footed and covered. The antique, which belonged to Stipp's family, is a prized possession.

Another favorite of the family and their friends is hot cheese balls which she serves with either hot tea or coffee and, sometimes on a cold evening after football games, with hot apple cider laced with lemon juice and spices.

The Christmas season will actually begin for the Stipps when their son Louis, who is a senior at Texas A&M College, and his wife Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White, arrive Sat. They will be here until the first of the year.

There is still another concoction of Mrs. Stipp's which they will probably be requesting. It is a chili con queso dip, particularly good with corn chips. All of these recipes Mrs. Stipp is sharing with the readers today:

HOLIDAY CHEESE BALL
 6 oz. blue cheese
 2 5 oz. jars cheddar cheese
 6 3 oz. packages cream cheese
 2 lbs. grated onion
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate
 1 cup pecans chopped fine
 1/2 cup parsley chopped fine.
 Mix well and add 1/2 cup of the chopped parsley. Shape into a ball. Chill overnight. Roll in remaining mixture of pecans and parsley. Makes 2 1/2 lbs. which may be formed into 2 balls.

HOT CHEESE BALLS
 1/2 lb. grated sharp cheese
 1/2 lb. butter
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1 cup flour
 Dash of cayenne
 Mix cheese and butter. Add flour and cayenne and mix well. Form in small balls. Bake on a cookie sheet 12-15 mins. at 400 degrees. Serve piping hot.

CHILI CON QUESO DIP
 1 lb. cheddar cheese, grated
 1 small can tomatoes
 1 small onion, chopped
 4 lbs. green chili peppers, chopped
 Simmer onion in 2 tbsps. butter until tender. Add peppers and tomatoes. Stir in cheese which has been softened in a double boiler. Season to taste with salt. Serve hot.

Dips Are Favorites With TV Fans, Holiday Guests

She who prepares tasty dips and delicious morsels for guests who call during the holidays is a knowing hostess. At this season of the year there are so many platters of candy and cake thrust upon one that a welcome variation would be refreshments that de-emphasize the sweet note.

It probably was television which promoted the dip. But there are no signs that its popularity has diminished and many intriguing innovations have been concocted.

For some different taste treats, try these recipes:

"SMOKY" CREAM CHEESE DIP
 1/2 oz. pkg. cream cheese
 2 tbs. lemon juice
 1 tsp. "Hickory" liquid smoke
 2 tbs. coffee cream
 1/4 powdered garlic
 Mix well with mixing spoon or electric blender.

FLUFFY COCKTAIL DIP
 1/2 cup ketchup
 1/4 cup lemon juice
 1 teaspoon grated onion
 1 tablespoon finely chopped chives
 1 tablespoon finely chopped celery
 1 tablespoon well drained, prepared horseradish
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 cup (1/2 pint) Borden's heavy cream, whipped Combine all ingredients except cream; beat with rotary beater until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Chill. Serve with hot fish hors d'oeuvres.

 (Makes about 2 1/2 cups)

CREAMY COCKTAIL DIP
 1 cup Borden's sour cream
 1/2 cup ketchup
 2 teaspoons grated onion
 2 teaspoons finely chopped chives
 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 Combine all ingredients; blend well. Chill. Serve with hot fish hors d'oeuvres.
 (Makes about 1 1/2 cups)

My palate delights where my palette fails... it's IRELAND'S CHILI!

A pure taste delight, Ireland's blends delicious spices and juicy lean beef into a treat for any taste!

Taste-Teasers

TASTE-TEASERS
 For something good with a different twist, here is a new idea.
 1 cup mashed liverwurst
 1 cup chopped beef
 2 tbs. minced onion
 1/2 tsp. salt
 Pepper to taste
 Fat for deep frying
 Combine all ingredients. Shape into balls one inch in diameter. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) one minute or until browned. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve on toothpicks. Enough for 24 balls.

Set A Resplendent Buffet

Entertain holiday guests with a constellation of tidbits. A tempting cheese mold, tomato dips, petite sandwiches, and a variety of bite-size delicacies would make this buffet the center of attraction at any party.

New Type Frozen Rolls Gaining In Popularity

For a delightful "old-fashioned home cooking" touch, modern home makers all over Texas are adding famous Frozen-Rite brand Parkerhouse and Clover Leaf rolls to their daily menus.

Made from the finest ingredients, these delicious rolls are quick frozen and packed two dozen to a bag in reusable polyethylene refrigerator bags.

This enables the housewife to make her own hot rolls with a minimum of effort. She simply removes the rolls from the bag, lets them rise and then bakes in a hot oven.

This time saving innovation in "home baking" is a product of Frozen-Rite Products, Inc., of Dallas. Since their inception, these rolls have been a welcome addition in many of the nation's leading restaurants and school lunch rooms, as well as in the home.

Frozen-Rite rolls are recognizable in all frozen food counters by their blue and white package. Other Frozen-Rite brand products in the frozen food cabinets include Danish all-butter sweet rolls, date nut cake, coffee cake, butter pound cake, cream cheese cake and corn bread.

Good With Beef

Good with boiled beef: whipped cream mixed lightly with grated raw (peeled) apple and bottled drained horseradish. Add salt to taste.

Want To Try New Recipes For Tidbits?

A helpful booklet of recipes for cheese dips and hors d'oeuvres has been published by the Borden Company. If you would like a free copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Big Spring Herald, Attention Woman's Department.

Electric Skillet

Electric skillets come in three shapes—round, square or rectangular. Covers may be metal or glass.

Mixing Tip

Use a bowl with straight sides when you are mixing a cake for efficient blending.

Meat Roll-Ups

Try this mixing of cream cheese and luncheon meat for a savory tidbit.
 2 pkgs. (3 oz. ea.) cream cheese, softened
 3 tbsps. grated onion
 1/4 tsp. horseradish
 2 tbsps. minced black and green olives
 1 lb. ready-to-serve meat, sliced (such as salami, bologna or ham)
 Beat cream cheese until fluffy, then beat in onion, horseradish and olives. Spread each slice of meat with cream cheese and roll up tightly. Skewer with toothpicks; chill in refrigerator at least two hours. At serving time, cut into one-inch slices. Arrange on platter garnished with lettuce leaves and cherries. Makes about fifty slices.

*america's number one action medium . . .
the daily newspaper

1. Every weekday an average of 57,000,000 copies of newspapers are sold in the U. S. — more than packs of cigarettes, quarts of milk, or loaves of bread.

2. People in the U. S. spend for their newspapers $3,-120,000 a day, $25,851,000 a week, $1,344,236,000 a year.

3. According to a Market Research Corp. of America study, on a typical day 88 per cent of America's homes receive one or more daily newspapers.

4. There is no "summer replacement" for newspapers. Monthly variations in circulation show virtually no change in newspaper circulation from season to season.

5. People like to read newspaper advertising. According to the Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading, men rank advertising third (just ahead of sports news); women rank advertising first.

6. The Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading also reveals that the average newspaper page, with both news and advertising on it, enjoys a median readership of 64 per cent by men and 73 per cent by women.

7. More than one-third of all ad money spent is invested in newspapers. In 1956 newspapers got $3,305,000,-000 —more than was received by radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined — according to McCann-Erickson, Inc. Preliminary Estimate.

8. TV in the homes does not affect newspaper readership. Cunningham & Walsh's continuing study of "Videotown" reveals that newspapers alone of all major media remain unaffected by TV's arrival in the home.

9. Since 1940 newspapers have maintained a constant level of popularity. Newspaper circulation has virtually paralleled growth in U. S. households.

10. Newspapers are keeping modern. Over $700,000,-000 has been invested by newspapers in recent years to improve plants, equipment and product.

11. One of the most exciting innovations is color. As of February, 1957, 819 newspapers offered advertisers Color. The combined circulation of these papers exceeds 41,000,000.

12. The daily newspaper is the Number 1 Advertising Medium in America from every standpoint. It leads in revenue. It leads in audience. It leads in results!

Death Of 75 Whales

About 75 whales came on shore at Ormond Beach, Fla., to die. Apparently they were driven on the beach by a brisk northeast wind blowing off the Atlantic. The whales thrashed about for some time before they died. Mrs. Norma Oury was one of many persons who waded out for a close look at the mammals, which ranged in length from 19 to 20 feet.

African Warrior's Kinsmen Sitting Atop Rich Oil Field

HOUSTON (AP)—Ino Hudgins came to Texas in the days of the Republic, a proud Mandangan warrior with markings of his African tribe on his shoulders and chains of a slave on his wrists. He was sold to a plantation owner in Matagorda County. Ino proved a good worker, but no master could break his pride. "My father is a great man in my country," Ino told his master. "He is richer than you."

Ino Hudgins shed his chains in 1865. He bought part of the land where he worked as a slave. And other land. He left it to his children. And they to theirs.

Today, Ino's grandchildren, their neighbors and the descendants of the white men there who once regarded slaves as property, are on the verge of wealth that no man wants to even estimate.

There's a "black gold" bonanza in the Caney Creek bottoms.

No producing oil well has been drilled in the area. None that has been announced, anyhow. Oilmen are lighted on that point.

But several weeks ago an oil company "jumped" the fault on the southwest side of Old Ocean Field, and reports trickled out that the company cored several hundred feet of oil sand.

Indications were that the rich sands would spread for miles and perhaps dwarf Old Ocean.

It set off the biggest and hottest oil lease play on the Texas Gulf Coast in 25 years.

No man or woman in the area who owns an acre of land has been neglected by lease agents.

Ino's descendants live in small homes scattered across a section of land called "Hudgins' Settlement."

None knows exactly how much land Ino acquired in all—maybe 300 acres.

Each descendant has a bit of that land.

"I got 31 1-3 acres," said Mrs. Mathilda Scott, 73, sitting on the stoop of a niece, Mrs. Evelyn Hudgins, 57, who lives across the road.

"I was birthed on this land," said Mrs. Scott. "Not this one, exactly. Further back in the field. But when I got grown, they gave me this land."

She has leased her land for $35 an acre. She is hazy about royalties, and somewhat unconcerned. Her eyes lighted and she smiled when asked about her grandfather.

"The land is all we've had. Oil would be good, but I'm too old to worry about oil. I'm satisfied with the land."

Mrs. Hudgins has not leased her 56-acre "heritance." She would. "Lease man said he'd be back for me not to lease it," she said. "I been waiting, but he ain't come back."

Ben Alexander, a cheerful, gap-toothed man of 63, sitting on a pretty red mare with the agility of youth, leased tracts of 60, 50 and 26 acres. He is "a nephew I guess" of Ino.

He has plans for the $4,740 he received last week.

"I'm going to fix my house, fix my barn, fix everywhere it will reach," Ben laughed.

Cancer, Virus Drugs Found

GALVESTON (AP)—Two compounds which may prove helpful in treating cancer and virus infection have been reported by Dr. Gerald Seaman, University of Texas Medical Branch physiologist.

Some of this work has been published in scientific journals, but Seaman reported the entire four-year study in a seminar.

He said the next step is preparation of enough of the compounds to go into clinical testing.

Both compounds are considered new members of the vitamin B12 family.

Since 1948, Vitamin B12 has been known to be the necessary cobalt-containing vitamin to halt pernicious anemia. When humans lacked enough B12, obtained principally from the consumption of liver, the deadly anemia developed.

Seaman reported one of the compounds, described as a B12 "like" compound, is a potential anti-tumor and anti-virus agent because it is believed it will block the growth of cancer cells and multiplication of viruses.

In his other work, he isolated a new group of compounds which are similar to the B12. However, instead of having to be produced in a laboratory, these new compounds were found to occur naturally in many micro-organisms, such as bacteria.

Paints Way Out

QUINCY, Calif. (AP)—Jack D. Self painted wooden angels for Christmas decorations while serving 20 days in jail in lieu of a $100 fine for traffic violations. He gave them to the County Employees Assn., which was so impressed it collected $20 for him. Self used the money to pay the remainder of his fine.

Gifts Aplenty For The Pup

DALLAS (AP)—What to get Fido for Christmas?
Your girl dog might be enchanted by a red nylon negligee trimmed in rhinestones. Only $19.95.

"The negligee has been a very popular number," said Elaine Jenkins, who runs a pet shop. "We did have it in black, too, but we're out of that color."

Evening dresses? Suggestions include pearl and rhinestone in blue, $11.98, and blue velvet and ermine, $16.98.

A leopard skin coat is only $12.98.

For sport, there's a tweed coat lined with red flannel, with a red hanky in the pocket. Or a collar studded with rhinestones. Colors are pink, red, blue and green at $14.

Plastic raincoats, reversible, sell for $2.98 if you have a Chihuahua and considerably more if you own a boxer.

For the Christmas tree there's a stocking with a rubber Santa that squeaks, a small leather slipper, a cry-baby doll and sugarless candy.

And if Fido has a complex you don't have to be rich to bolster his ego. For 25 cents he can be the only dog in the block with an imported bone, from Argentina.

Boy Gets Blood For Christmas

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cahalane, 8, already has received a precious Christmas present—40 points of blood.

Young Cahalane suffers from hemophilia, bleeding uncontrollably because of the inability of his blood to clot.

He needed 40 pints of the rare type O RH negative blood so doctors could perform an operation on his deformed foot. Only six per cent of the population has the youngster's blood type.

News of his need for the rare blood type was carried yesterday by The Associated Press.

Almost as soon as the news reached the newspapers, Dr. Mario Stefanini of St. Elizabeth's Hospital reported he had received more offers of blood than requested. Offers came from many points in the country.

Indiana Loses Its 'Santa' Monopoly

SANTA CLAUS, Calif. (AP)—For a long time Indiana had a monopoly on the title "Santa Claus" as the name of a town.

In fact Congress said that no other post office in the United States could use the name.

But in Southern California is this coastal hamlet with the name Santa Claus. How did they get away with it?

Well, something of a technicality was used. More than 100 years ago a town in Indiana was named Santa Claus to give children a thrill when they got letters with that postmark at Christmas time. Congress decided the Indiana town was entitled to exclusive use of the name for a post office.

But here the village is not classified as a full-fledged postoffice. The sign above the office reads: "United States Post Office" and underneath that "Santa Claus Rural Station." And the stamp cancellation reads: "Carpinteria, Calif., Santa Claus Rural Station."

In other words Santa Claus is a branch of the post office at Carpinteria, five miles from here.

Frank Simpkins, a Santa Barbara College student who is the entire manpower for the tiny post office, says it wasn't easy to get the name but it was finally worked out. The idea was started by Gene Augur back in 1948 when there was just a mailing station in an orange juice stand.

Simpkins said the mail rush begins here about Dec. 1. During the weekends before Christmas about 2,000 letters are mailed out bearing the "Santa Claus" postmark. On weekdays there are about 400 letters per day. Many

Citizens Council Chief Acquitted

HOUSTON (AP)—The chairman of the Citizens Council of America in Texas, Inc., was acquitted of a drunk charge yesterday.

The charge against Robert Milner, Houston oil operator, arose from a Nov. 19 alleged disturbance on a National Airlines plane between New Orleans and Houston.

Patrolmen D. B. Snow and William Hill, who arrested Milner at the airport, both testified. Snow said Milner was belligerent and smelled of alcohol. Hill said Milner was "very uncooperative and drunk."

The only defense witness was Mrs. Sam Davis, secretary of the Citizens Council. She testified she made the trip with Milner and said he was sober.

Corporation Judge W. F. Bell interrupted her testimony to say, "That's enough—I find the defendant not guilty."

George Archer Heads County P-TA Council

George Archer, president of the Gay Hill P-TA, was elected president of the Howard County Council of P-TA at an organizational meeting Tuesday evening. The gathering was held at Gay Hill.

Mrs. Tom Kirkpatrick of the Elbow P-TA was chosen vice president, and Mrs. N. J. Seward, Foran, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald of Sterling City was present to assist with the organization; she is vice president of the district.

The group decided to have four meetings a year, in January, March, May and September on the third Monday. The January meeting will be at Gay Hill.

persons send whole boxes of cards and letters to be mailed from here. Quite a few letters come from small folk who hope to get an answer. A special arrangement has been made to answer such letters in an optimistic vein.

From an orange juice stand Santa Claus, Calif., has grown into a small cluster of shops. There is a Santa Claus shop, a toy shop and a miniature train to give the kiddies rides.

But when Christmas comes around there is no place busier than the post office, even if it is just a rural branch.

It takes a GIANT to stretch from coast to coast

Just as an enormous oil pipeline carries petroleum from producer to consumer, so does a giant medium carry goods from advertiser to consumer. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

The newspaper pipeline is the shortest distance between advertiser and buyer. It functions without letup, carrying sales messages to an average 100,000,000 people daily.

The complete and constant coverage that newspapers guarantee every advertiser is one of the reasons that prompt advertisers to place an overwhelming emphasis on newspapers. Last year all advertisers spent $3,235,600,000 in newspaper advertising—more than they spent in television, radio, magazines and outdoor combined!

If you want a steady flow of your products to your consumers, use steady advertising in the daily newspaper. It's the most efficient and direct pipeline.

Fire Losses At Two-Year Low

Not since September of 1955 have fire losses been as small as last month. During September, 1955, no losses at all were reported, and during November of this year, the loss ledger showed only $30.67. The loss was to the Ranchburger building at 511 W. 3rd. The fire causing the damage occurred on Nov. 22. The small total raised the year's loss to $33,262.68, or slightly below the $34,237.39 for the same time of last year. November was the 7th month of the year where the loss was less than $1,000. The city's record would be even smaller except for the $15,000 loss during August. In January, February, June, July, September, October, and then November the city lost less than $1,000 in fires.

Hope's Off Again To Entertain GIs

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There goes Bob Hope!
He's off and flying again. It's the sure sign that Christmas is here when he takes off for foreign parts in search of some lonely GIs.
This time it's the Far East. I caught up with him before departure as he was rumbling around his Toluca Lake mansion trying to get ready to go.
"I can't find my passport," he groaned. "I looked everywhere, turned the house upside down."
He said he had gone down to the passport bureau for a duplicate and would get off on schedule.
As he changed from golfing duds to a traveling outfit, he outlined the trip he had planned. He was taking his troupe to play before troops in Hawaii, Midway, Okinawa and Japan.
"Then on Christmas Eve we will go to Korea and play a show in Seoul. Then we fly right back."
The need is really great over there for entertainment. Nobody goes any more. And I think we'll have a show the boys will really like. I'm taking along dolls like Jayne Mansfield, Erin O'Brien and Carol Jarvis, the rock 'n' roll singer. The boys really go for that, you know. Most of them are teen-agers and they're really hep."
I asked him how long it had been since he was home for Christmas, and he reckoned it was about five years. Doesn't his family object?
"Oh, they're used to it by now," he said. "Our celebration is just postponed a little, that's all. And this year we'll have a real ball when I get back because Ohio State is playing in the Rose Bowl. All my brothers will be coming out from Ohio."
Hope is taking along a big troupe, including Jerry Colonna and the Les Brown band, and is paying the performers out of his own pocket. He'll film an NBC TV show over there for release in January. He's also taking along his 17-year-old son Tony. End advance Pms Dec. 19

New Trial For Alcorta Ordered

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today ordered a new trial for Alvaro Alcorta, 29, of San Antonio, who had been sentenced to die in the electric chair for the fatal stabbing of his wife.
The court reversed its previous decisions upholding the death sentence. It said the reason was that the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the judgment Nov. 12.
The U.S. Supreme Court held that Alcorta was denied due process of law in the San Antonio trial. The ruling was based on a contention that the prosecution withheld information that Alcorta's wife had been intimate with the state's star witness.
Today's ruling sent the case back to Bexar County for a new trial.
Alcorta has been in death row at Huntsville since December, 1955. He was convicted of killing his wife Herlinda on July 19, 1955.
